Propaganda Is Again Charged In Court Row

Robinson Says Movements Are Afoot To 'Overwhelm' Lawmakers With Flood Of Inspired Communications

FDR Talk Tonight

President Roosevelt To Fire His Next Big Gun In Drive Tonight In "Fireside" Radio Address At 9:30

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 8. (AP) — The tremendous struggle over the Roosevelt court reorganization proposal led to another angry outburst of "propoganda" charges in the senate today.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, administration leader, declared movements were afoot to "overwhelm" legislators with a flood of inspired communications opposing the revamping of the Supreme court.

Clark Waves Statute

A few moments later Senator Clark (D-Mo) figuratively waved a criminal statute at officials of the executive branch of the government who are fighting for the reorganization. He accused some of them of "propaganda" and had a senate clerk read a law prohibiting the use of any government money to influence congress.

The pro-Roosevelt Labor's Non-partisan league put on a demonstration of support for the president's program, as did a group of like-minded farm leaders, who included several state farmers union officials. They visited the White House and assured the president of their support.

Plan To Open Hearings

The senate judiciary committee completed plans to open hearings of the court proposal Wednesday and invited a half dozen witnesses for each side.

Mr. Roosevelt will fire the next big gun in the campaign, however, making a "fireside" radio address to the nation at 9:30 p. m. (cst) tomorrow night. After Mr. Roosevelt

Lubbock Wins Judging Tilt

High School Team Is Winner Over Frenship By Bare Two Points To Take Top Honors At Amarillo Show

Defeating Frenship by two points, Lubbock High school's vocational agriculture judging team won the livestock judging contest which Monday featured the opening of the tenth annual Amarillo Fat Stock show in Amarillo.

New Deal and Abernathy tied for third place in the contests, which included 23 West Texas teams. Members of the Lubbock entry were: Sammy Tate, Billy Martin, Keith Black, and Alternate C. S. Gaddis. Frenship's team was made up of three Liner brothers.

Robert L. Burdette, teacher of vocational agriculture, is coach of the team.

Mrs. Simpson Again Is Hiding Somewhere In Southern France

CANNES, France, March 8. (AP) — Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson was Europe's mystery woman again tonight with her whereabouts hidden.

Servants in the villa of Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Rogers, Mrs. Simpson's American host and hostess, insisted she still was on the estate where she has been since her romance with the Duke of Windsor created Great Britain's great crisis last December.

Reliable reports, however, said she was speeding across France in the direction of Tours.

Virginia Dentist Is Indicted For Slaying Of Young Woman

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., March 8. (AP)—Commonwealth's Attorney W. O. Fife announced this afternoon that an Albemarle county grand jury had indicted Dr. R. G. Miller, Charlottesville dentist for murder of Cleo Sprouse.

Dr. Miller has been held in Henrico county jail, Richmond, on a warrant charging murder since his arrest at Charlottesville Wednesday night, following the finding of the girl's body Tuesday.

House To Tackle Revenue Raising

Members Are To Be Recognized Monday By Speaker For Motions To Start Tax Bills

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Mar. 8.—Sentiment of the house of representatives toward revenue raising at this session of the legislature may be defined more clearly as a result of action by Speaker Robert W. Calvert today.

The speaker announced that, because the senate wanted information on the house's tax intentions before acting on a bill to increase the levy on oil, he would recognize members next Monday for motions to take up revenue measures. The house has passed the bill.

Pending in the lower chamber were proposals to boost the levy on sulphur from $1.03 per ton to $2 and that on corporation franchises to five per cent.

Before beginning long arguments on a bill to liberalize the old age assistance law, a measure which it was estimated would double the cost of pensions and put possibly 160,000 on the rolls, the house passed on miscellaneous matters.

It engrossed a bill remitting to counties state ad valorem taxes for general revenue purposes, and approved others restricting advertising by dentists and limiting the length of trains, but declined to take up a proposal to use $4,180,000 annually of highway revenue for lateral road construction.

Proponents of tax remission urged remissions to all counties on grounds so many special ones had been authorized and many more were being sought. Opponents said it would deprive the state of approximately $8,500,000 revenue yearly.

The house also adopted a resolution requiring reports on the special funds of various institutions and departments after Speaker Calvert said there had been instances of spending more than necessary merely to use all revenues accruing from taxes for such funds.

A senate investigating committee recommended making the office of state superintendent of public instruction appointive, instead of elective, creating a board to supervise public lands and placing administration of the rural aid fund, now in the education department, under the state board of education.

A special message by Governor Allred urged an emergency appropriation of $53,000 for the adjutant general's department with part of the money to supplement works progress administration funds for buildings at national guard camps in Austin, Palacios and Mineral Wells.

Hearings on a house bill to repeal pari-mutuel wagering on horse racing, set for tomorrow before a senate committee, was slated for postponement until it was seen what the senate would finally do on another repeal measure already passed to third reading and facing further action probably Wednesday.

Court Bill Is Killed Monday By Committee

Redistricting Of Judiciary System In Texas Relegated To Legislative Graveyard By Unanimous Action

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 8.—A house committee tonight killed a bill to reform the state's judicial districts.

Without a dissenting vote, the committee on judicial districts sent to the legislative graveyard a bill drafted by a committee acting under a house resolution which declared conditions demanded the reorganization.

A number of district judges attended the meeting but the committee acted without hearing the protests they came to make. The bill would have abolished 15 district courts.

Had No Chance To Pass

Admitting the bill had no chance to pass at this session, Rep. Alfred E. Petsch of Fredericksburg, who explained it, said nevertheless redistricting ought to be accomplished. He cited districts with populations of less than 7,000 and some of more than 100,000 and other inequalities in the present set-up.

"Every unnecessary district court costs the state $10,000," he said. "This bill would save $300,000."

Another re-districting bill has been introduced in the senate.

RELIEF FELT IN LUBBOCK

Announcement of the death in committee of Representative Atkins' house bill to juggle the Texas judiciary recalls the fact Lubbock's 99th district court had been earmarked for abolishment in the bill.

The proposal had aroused a flurry of outspoken discontent. Lubbock County Bar association had gone on record against it, and numerous individuals and attorneys had taken stands against it. Judge E. L. Fitts of 99th and Daniel A. Blair of 72nd district courts had gone to Austin last week to protest the proposal.

Senate Group Approves Move To Add Justices

AUSTIN, March 8. (AP)—The senate constitutional amendments committee today approved a proposal to increase the state supreme court from three to nine members.

The resolution, by Senator Ben G. ONeal of nWichita Falls would eliminate the commission of appeals by replacing members with justices as terms of the former expired.

Senator Weaver Moore of Houston opposed the plan, saying floor amendments might change the method of choosing justices from election to gubernatorial appointment.

The court now has three elective justices and an assisting commission of appeals with six members appointed by the court.

Texas Loses First Effort To Gain Court Decision On Estate

WASHINGTON, March 8. (AP)—Texas lost today its first effort to have the Supreme court determine the legal domicile of Col. Edward H. R. Green, multi-millionaire, for taxation purposes.

Chief Justice Hughes interrupted attorneys' arguments with a statement the Texas "motion will be denied without prejudice" because it was drawn improperly.

Texas asked the court to determine whether Green, son of Hatty Green, was a resident of Texas, New York, Massachusetts or Florida when he died last summer. Texas officials said they could levy taxes amounting to about $10,000,000 against the estate if he actually was a Texas resident.

Freighter Not Able To Make Run For Goal

Spanish Government Ship Mar Cantabrico Which Raced Out Of New York Jan. 6 With U. S. Planes, Arms, Downed

Details Are Brief

What Became Of Crew And If Any Cargo Had Been Unloaded Is Mystery; New Jerseyan Owned Cargo

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, March 8.—The Spanish government freighter Mar Cantabrico, which raced out of New York Jan. 6 just ahead of congressional action to prevent her munitions cargo from reaching the Spanish civil war, met her doom today with her goal almost in sight.

In the Bay of Biscay she encountered the Spanish insurgent cruiser Canarias, unit of the blockade attempting to prevent her from delivering her load of American-made planes and other war supplies from reaching the Socialist government.

TO START BLOCADE

LONDON, March 8. (AP) — Creation of an international patrol to isolate the Spanish civil war moved a step nearer reality tonight when 27 nations adopted a detailed plan of land and sea control.

The four power naval patrol will start March 13 under the plan.

Went Down In Flames

Under bombardment of the cruiser's guns the Mar. Cantabrico went down in flames in the Bay of Biscay about 90 miles off the Spanish coast.

A brief, matter-of-fact report from the British destroyer Echo reached the London admirality tonight to solve a mystery that had puzzled Europe for more than six hours. First reports indicated the vessel that had gone down was a British liner homebound from Africa.

Green Allen Brooks, 82-Year-Old Virginia Mountaineer, Is Returned Monday To Face Charge Of Murder

His homespun philosophy bristling no less than his luxuriant beard, Green Allen Brooks, 82-year-old Virginia mountaineer, Monday morning was taken from Lubbock county jail and transferred on the first leg of a journey to Virginia, where he faces murder charges.

He was in custody of Virginia and Kentucky authorities.

"If they break my neck, take my head off clean at my shoulders, I'll die a gentleman," he told a reporter.

The erect, bearded man had contended his name was "J. H. Jones," that he knew nothing of the death of the two officers.

When Sheriff Robert F. Giles of Jonesville and Sheriff James W. Ridings of Pineville, Ky., confronted him here Sunday, Brooks told them, "Jones is the name."

Identity Is Admitted

Later he signed an extradition waiver, "J. H. Jones per G. A. Brooks," and Monday admitted he was the man sought.

Deputy Sheriff Arch Redmond and County Policeman Robert Bailey were slain as they were leaving Brooks' mountain home with

Mrs. Roosevelt Is Visitor In Texas

FORT WORTH, March 8. (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt mixed pleasure and work on her visit to Fort Worth today.

In the quietness of the country home of her son, Elliott, the first lady, after a morning lecture, visited with her two grandchildren, took a nap and gave dictation to her secretary. Late in the day she put on hiking shoes and went for a long walk over the rolling ranch country with her son.

Tonight Mrs. Roosevelt delivered a lecture on "Peace," in the new municipal auditorium. Her address this morning was before the Fort Worth lecture foundation on "A Citizen's Responsibility to the Community." She had luncheon with foundation members, gave a press interview, and then went to the home of the Elliott Roosevelts.

Tomorrow morning they will drive her to Denton, where she will lecture at Texas State College for Women at 11:15 a. m. on "The Problems of Youth," and at 8:15 p. m. on "Relationship Of The Individual to the Community." She goes from there to Shreveport, La.

Death Strikes Simultaneously In Hospital Room

WASHINGTON, Ind., March 8. (AP)—An 18-year-old wife, her unborn child and an attending physician died today as the child was about to be born.

Dr. E. E. Long of Shoals was assisting Dr. Charles F. Hope at the birth of Mrs. Ray Boyd's baby and said Dr. Hope suddenly fell to the floor. Dr. Long ran to him but the other physician was dead.

Dr. Long said that when he returned to the patient, he found both Mrs. Boyd and the baby dead.

Dr. Long said Dr. Hope and Mrs. Boyd both apparently died of heart attacks.

Cotton's Part In U.S. Farm Plans Sought

Texas Agricultural Association In Session At Temple Goes On Record For Adequate Part In Government Program

(By The Associated Press)

TEMPLE, March 8.—Directors of the Texas Agricultural association, meeting with farmers from all sections of the state here today, took steps toward obtaining proper recognition for the cotton farmer in the government's new farm program.

They voted to raise funds to join with other cotton states to maintain a permanent office in Washington and to campaign for an adequate cotton program. The group started with pledges of $2,000 to this end.

Endorse Reform Proposal

They also adopted without opposition a resolution "unreservedly endorsing President Roosevelt's court reform plan."

The resolution passed after several speakers declared the president's court reform was essential to the welfare of farmer and agriculture. It followed an address by Dr. R. H. Montgomery, University of Texas.

The directors, convened after the general meeting was adjourned, voted to instruct their legislative representatives at Austin to "give and take" on the proposition of drafting a soil conservation bill.

Highly Controversial

This action, considering a highly controversial measure, was taken in the view that the association could cooperate in the framing of a compromise measure agreeable to the U. S. department of agriculture and state agricultural leaders.

"In the past, the cotton farmers of the South have gotten what they have in the way of an agricultural program through the benevolence of agricultural interests of other sections," H. G. Lucas of Brownwood, president of the association, declared.

"Now that a permanent agricultural program is being shaped, under which we most likely will be governed for many years to come, it is vitally important that the South have representation in Washington to see that it has its just share of the new program."

Brownfield Is To Banquet Tonight

(Special To The Avalanche)

BROWNFIELD, March 8. — Last minute preparations for the annual chamber of commerce banquet Tuesday night at the high school auditorium are about complete, J. E. Shelton, secretary, said today.

Harry Hines, member of the state highway commission and former chairman, will be the principal speaker. There will be a short program of music and entertainment by local performers.

New officers will be inducted into office. A report of the year's activities, by Secretary Shelton and by committees, is to be made.

LOCAL MEN TO ATTEND

A delegation of six or eight from Lubbock, representing the chamber of commerce, is expected to attend. Just who will comprise the group had not been definitely decided last night, as several who had tentatively planned to go, indicated they might not be able to make the trip.

Texas Senate Passes Bill To Regulate Professional Group

AUSTIN, March 8. (AP)—The senate passed a bill today creating a state board to regulate professional engineering along lines of the bar, medical and other boards.

The board would be composed of six members appointed by the governor and all costs would be met by license fees.

Foul Play Feared For Missing Man

Bookkeeper Of Local Bank Is Reported Missing Monday

FEAR of foul play spurred efforts Monday of law enforcement agencies to establish whereabouts of a 25-year-old bookkeeper of Lubbock National bank.

From scant clues it was learned the man had not been seen since 10 o'clock Sunday morning, when he went into a drug store and talked with a friend.

"Where're you going?" the friend told police he asked.

"Just fooling around," the missing bookkeeper was quoted as saying.

Police said the man at 9 o'clock Saturday night "picked up" a man friend and went to a residence in 2700-block Twenty fifth street for a steak supper. Afterward, hotel records showed, he and the friend he had accompanied to the supper registered at a downtown hotel.

The friend told investigators the bookkeeper had gone down an elevator early Sunday morning, returned then left the room again. Since, he said, he had not seen or heard from the bookkeeper.

Search was not instituted until after bank officials had informed authorities the man had not gone to work Monday.

Description of the missing man were listed by police as:

Five feet 10 inches tall, black hair; dressed in brown suit, brown kangaroo boots, brown hat, and brown overcoat.

Man's Claims Are Confirmed

Capt. John Churchill, Head Of Salvation Army, Says Man Taken To Galveston Was In Lubbock On Feb. 12

Protests of Bernhoff Bidenkap that he was in Lubbock Feb. 12, date the 43-year-old Norwegan sailor is alleged to have perpetrated an armed robbery in Galveston, are borne out by records held by the Salvation Army here, said Capt. John G. Churchill, corps commander.

Captain Churchill exhibited three customers invoices, one dated Feb. 12 and the other two Feb. 13, wherein "B. Bidenkap" had signed for a piece of baseboard and other material which he used in carpentry work in the residence of Captain Churchill.

The invoices, No. 7193D and 7216D were issued by Higginbotham-Bartlett Co. and No. 12173 was from Lubbock Sash and Door Co.

Issued Ticket On Feb. 6

"I issued him a meal ticket here on Feb. 6," said Captain Churchill, "directing him to go to Tony's place, next the corps headquarters. He was here from about Feb. 4 through Feb. 12, and slept at the Army headquarters. He was in here some after that, as well."

In the meantime, Galveston Chief of Police Tony Messina told the Morning Avalanche over Associated Press leased wire facilities the man taken from Lubbock Sunday to Galveston "is the man charged in the robbery here. . . He was identified by fingerprints as the man sought. Bidenkap's photo in the 'rogue's gallery' was 'almost positively identified' by members of the carpenters union, robbery victims here, as the bandit who took $500 from them and held seven of them at bay. Filing of the charge against him followed."

Message Is Dispatched

Later in the night, Galveston sent the Morning Avalanche this message:

"Bidenkap now in jail here. Arraignment expected Tuesday. Police Sgt. Ira J. Kraus says he saw Biden-

Earth Shocks Felt Monday Over Country

Shock About Half As Strong As Devastating Disaster Of 1906 Is Felt Early Monday In San Francisco Area

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—An earthquake about half as strong as the devastating 1906 shock jarred San Francisco early today, left a trial of minor damage in East Bay cities and sent inspectors scurrying over the two great bay bridges, which were unscathed.

Windows were broken, chimneys toppled and store goods tumbled on floors in some eastbay areas, comprising Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, Albany and Richmond.

There were no injuries, and no estimates were announced of the damage.

No fires were started by the shocks although Berkeley firemen was summoned to one residence to shut off gas from a broken water heater.

Officials of the recently-opened San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge, the world's longest structure over navigable water, said the huge span stretching 8 1-4 miles between the two cities was not the least affected by the quakes.

Bridge Is Unscathed

The Golden Gate bridge, nearing completion at the harbor entrance, likewise was unscathed, officials said.

No inspection was made of the underwater structure of the bay bridge, officials declaring foundations were constructed to withstand much heavier quakes than this morning.

Last week, a slight quake was felt in Salinas, 100 miles south of the area affected today.

FIVE STATES AFFECTED

(By Associated Press)

One or more earth shocks were felt Monday at seven population centers of five states.

Jarred were Detroit, Cincinnati, Huntington, W. Va., Lexington, Ky., Milwaukee, Louisville, and Indianapolis.

Detroit's temblor was felt over a 50-mile radius; hundreds of persons were alarmed and telephoned police at Huntington; the second shock within a week was reported at Milwaukee and at Louisville.

Except for frightening the public and making household furnishings rattle, no effects were noted, one was reported injured.

Senate Bill Would Raise Tech Funds

AUSTIN, March 8. (AP)—The senate finance committee favorably reported a house bill today appropriating $389,347 for summer school in institutions of higher learning.

The proposal differed from a recently reported senate bill in amount allotted two colleges. The senate bill appropriated $8,364 to John Tarleton Agricultural college and $28,680 to Texas Technological college, while the house measure gave those schools $7,000 and $25,170 respectively.

Chrysler And Hudson Plants Are Affected

United Automobile Workers Call Out Members Monday From Two Factories; More Trouble In Offing

Thousands Are Idle

About 50,000 Workers Thrown Into Idleness By Chrysler Situation Which Developed Rapidly; Parleys Are Held

(By The Associated Press)

NEW strikes crippled the booming automotive industry yesterday.

The United Automobile Workers called out members in the Chrysler Motor company plants in Detroit and in the Hudson Motors company plant.

Meanwhile, General Motors corporation, still negotiating final terms in its costly 44-day strike ended Feb. 11, had two new disputes on its hands at Flint, Mich. Workers quit in four plants for several hours, but agreed to resume pending negotiations. About that time a new strike in Fisher Body Plant No. 1 began over a demand for immediate wage increases.

Evacuate Plant Last night

But the sit-downers evacuated the plant last night and agreed to return to work today after a conference between the management and a union leader.

In Washington, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, conferred with 50 organizers on strategy to meet the board organizing drive of John L. Lewis, whose Committee on Industrial Organization will hold a similar strategy session in the capital today.

Sees Contracts Signed

Philip Murray, leader of the steel workers organizing committee, predicted all of the subsidiaries of the giant United States Steel corporation would sign contracts with his C.I.O. union within the next 10 days.

The Chrysler situation developed rapidly, throwing about 50,000 workers into idleness, after corporation officials rejected the UAW's demand for recognition as sole bargaining agnecy for all Chrysler employes.

Conference Continued

Two hours after Chrysler's long statement rejecting the demand was made public, union men began their strike. There was no violence and the negotiations conference continued.

Shortly before the Chrysler strike, about half of Hudson's 10,000 workers struck. Union officials charged the company with "stalling" in negotiations on wage conditions.

New trouble in the Chevrolet factory at Flint, center of the last great strike, began Saturday night with a brief stopping of work, reportedly over discharge of five employes. A truce was reached, but the trouble flared again yesterday morning and four units were affected.

Second Truce Reached

A second truce was announced in the afternoon by Robert Travis, UAW organizer. Trouble arose in the Fisher plant No. 1 as the second truce was reached.

B. E. Hutchinson, Chrysler vice president, issued a statement charging the United Automobile Workers' demand for sole recognition was an effort to "force all our employes to go with the union or go out of our employ."

In the steel industry, employe representative leaders in the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation mills at Pittsburgh made a second bid for American Federation of Labor support in a telegram to John

Bright Colors Predominate As Style Preview Of Easter Fashions Is Held

INNOVATIONS in spring fashions provoked the exclamations of hundreds of Lubbock residents at the annual spring window unveiling of Lubbock stores Monday night.

Brilliant spring colors were in contrast to winter coats worn by many in protection against cold weather, but remarks showed the feminine anticipation of the Easter parade, legs than three weeks away.

Bright color combinations were outstanding in the displays. Even women's hosiery was shown in reddish tints, in keeping with the dashing colors of dresses, coats, and hats. Red, blue, green, and other bright colors were seen in slippers.

A black net dress over a green, black and white plaid petticoats was seen.

Masculine apparel was not overlooked when Lubbock merchants dressed their windows. Spring clothing for men, in the newest cuts and weaves, were seen in many windows.

Music accompanied the unveiling of windows. Texas Tech-

Japan Demands Right To Send Excess Population To Undeveloped Territories

(By The Associated Press)

GENEVA, March 8. — Japan demanded tonight the right to send her excess population to all undeveloped territories of the earth.

Addressing the League of Nations conference which is studying the problem of more equitable distribution of raw materials to all nations, Delegate Yuko Shudo complained foreign nations were closed to emigrants from crowded Japan.

An essential question for Japan, he said, is that of industrial raw materials because his nation possesses only raw silk in that category. Further, he asserted, export restrictions have hampered a continued supply of materials for industry.

"Countries like Japan, being apprehensive, seek to save themselves by self efficiency, although we realize such attempts disturb world economy," he said.

He urged abolishment of all restriction on export of raw materials and contended immigration of all countries and all races into undeveloped countries

CONCERNING REPORTS

"If you don't begin putting our club reports in the paper I don't know what I am going to do to you, perhaps the same punishment the club gives me." This from an exasperated woman who is yearly elected to tell of her club activities, over her protest too, we imagine. She is not the only one. Not long since a reporter of an out-of-town club brought a story to one of the men reporters, with the request that same be withheld from us, "since they never put it in." Of course, as soon as she was down the stairs he brought it over to us.

We're sorry if your reports don't get in the paper. Many times we do not see them; they are left in some other department, are missent (Judge DeWitt Landis brought us a club story not long ago that had been sent to KFYO) or perhaps are resting in the vest pocket of your husband's Friday or Saturday coat. Look before you telephone us.

The society department is anxious to have reports of every woman's club. We do not like to use stories that are withheld and we cannot print them if they are too old. This is a daily paper we have down here, you know. We take into consideration that trains are sometimes late, that buses do not aways make connections and that sometimes illness or other unavoidable matters cause the reporters to be late in their reports.

If you have complaints we will be glad to have you call us, write us or come to see us. A little explanation may iron out all difficulties.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—with every meal in severe cases. Serve as a cereal with milk or fruits, or cook into recipes. Remember—ALL-BRAN is a food—not a medicine. You buy it at the grocery store. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Presbyterians Meet Earlier

Six Luncheons Are Served To Auxiliary Women In Homes Of Members; Four Groups Have Unit Sessions

The First Presbyterian Woman's auxiliary met in circles Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock for covered dish luncheons and studies of "Presbyterian Missions in Brazil." These were the last circle meetings of the year at which time all business was finished.

Circle 1 met with Mrs. Albert Barnett, 1310 Avenue R, with 12 members present.

Mrs. A. D. Denton, 2213 Sixteenth street, was hostess to Circle 2 with 17 women present. Mrs. J. Y. Boyd led the devotional and Mrs. H. F. Godeke taught the lesson.

In Spencer Home

Circle 3 met in the home of Mrs. W. R. Spencer, 2121 Sixteenth street, with 12 women present. Devotional was by Mrs. H. E. Blocker. A round-table discussion of the lesson followed.

Fourteen members and one visitor were present at a meeting of Circle 4 in the home of Mrs. Minerva Pollard, 2619 Twenty-second street. Mrs. S. T. Hodges led the devotional and Mrs. R. D. McDonald taught the lesson. Mrs. Ed Ainsworth presided for business.

Mrs. McKee Hostess

Mrs. A. W. McKee, 1612 Fourteenth street, was hostess to members of Circle 5. Mrs. G. W. McCleary led the devotional and Mrs. Charles Galbraith, program leader, and Mrs. Leroy T. Patton led a roundtable discussion of the lesson. Sixteen women were present.

Mrs. C. J. Wagner, 1614 Broadway, was hostess to Circle 6 with 18 women present. Miss Virginia McLean was a guest. Mrs. P. H. Laverty, chairman, taught a lesson on Brazil and Mrs. Townsen Waddill led the devotional.

Engagement Is Told At Party

Miss Myrtle Porter Will Wed G. P. Cunningham, El Paso, March 21; Tea Is Given By Mother And Sister

The engagement of Miss Myrtle Porter and G. P. Cunningham of El Paso was announced at a tea given Sunday afternoon from 4 until 5 o'clock in the home of Mrs. F. R. Friend, 2005 Broadway. Hostesses were Miss Porter's mother and sister, Mrs. E. Porter, 2409 Fifteenth street, and Mrs. C. M. Sparkman of Littlefield.

The marriage will take place Sunday morning, March 21, at the first Methodist church. A series of parties is planned for the bride-elect, who is a popular young business woman of the city. The couple will live here.

Corsages Are Given

Mrs. Sparkman greeted guests at the door. Others in the receiving line were Mrs. Porter and the bride-elect and little Sammie Jane Battin of Littlefield who, dressed as a miniature bride, presented sweetpea corsages bearing engraved announcements to the guests.

Miss Myrtle Ewell presided at the register, which was placed on a table bearing a tall vase of pink rosebuds.

Two Pour Tea

The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth and centered by a bouquet of lavender and pink sweet peas in a silver bowl. Tall pink candles in silver holders lighted each end. Mrs. Ethridge W. Eagan and Mrs. Wright Kerr presided over the silver service.

Others in the house party were Misses Halcyon Campbell and Ruth E. Ford and Mrs. Sherrill Boyd.

The honoree wore a black chiffon afternoon dress with corsage of white rosebuds.

About seventy-five guests called between 4 and 5 o'clock.

Miss McCarley Is Big Spring Bride

Phone Earnings In '36 Are Enough To Cover Dividends

ST. LOUIS, March 8. (AP) — The Southwestern Bell Telephone company reported to its stockholders today that last year, for the first time since 1931, it had earned enough to cover common stock dividends paid, after meeting all expenses, interest and preferred stock dividends.

Gross operating revenues for 1936, the company said in its annual report, amounted to $80,224,973, while total operating expenses were $50,841,318. After making provision for $8,735,580 for taxes and taking into account miscellaneous items of income and expense, net earnings available for interest and dividends were $20,945,379.

Discussing business condition in the territory served by the company—Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas and a small portion of Illinois adjacent to St. Louis—the report said:

"Despite last summer's drouth, the year 1936 was a favorable one . . . General business activity, beginning 1936 at the highest level in four years, continued the upward movement noticeable since early in 1933, and ended the year at a level comparable to that at the close of 1930.

First Lady Carries Gun, Knows How To Use It

Practice Is Revealed In Interview In New Orleans

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, March 8.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt declares she hates guns but carries one when she motors alone.

Lecturing here on "A Day in The White House," she was ushered about New Orleans by an escort of two armed city detectives, assigned by her hosts—but not at her request.

She explained she never has guards in New York or Washington "where everybody knows me."

"I go about just as anybody else," she said. "However, when I travel there are usually special guards furnished me. But they are not detailed at my request."

In reply to a question, Mrs. Roosevelt said bodily harm "never enters my mind."

"I do carry a pistol with me when I ride alone in my automobile," she added, "but only then."

"Can you use it?" a questioner asked.

"Well," she said with a smile, "I had the same training with a pistol that the New York National guard has. Certainly I can use it."

Hope Of Halting Foreign Capital By Taxation Lost

WASHINGTON, March 8. (AP)—Government fiscal officials said today they have abandoned hope of halting foreign capital inflows through a new system of taxation.

They added, however, the tax burden on American and foreign investors may be equalized.

After studying at President Roosevelt's request possible methods of checking the flight of money to his country, officials said every proposal encountered objections.

They explained most schemes for taxing foreign investments here would be difficult to administer and also might precipitate a sudden withdrawal of foreign funds.

Capital inflows tend to raise prices and expand credit artificially, and a large scale withdrawal might dry up credit and hammer prices sharply downward.

Lead Advances; Steel Scrap Highest In Fourteen Years

NEW YORK, March 8. (AP)—St. Joseph Lead company announced today it had advanced the price of lead $5 a ton to the equivalent of 7.25 cents a pound New York base and 7.10 cents a pound East St. Louis.

At the same time advices to Dow, Jones & Co. from Pittsburgh said metal brokers were quoting No. 1 heavy meeting steel scrap at $22.50 a ton, the highest price in fourteen years.

"Gly-Cas' Merit Is Without An Equal"

Declares Mr. Gonzales; Kidneys Fine, Stomach Regulated; Enjoys Best Health He Has Had In Years

"It is wonderful what a single medicine like Gly-Cas can do," said Mr. F. P. Gonzales, 1118 San Eduaido St., Laredo, Texas. "My back had hurt me terribly for years, kidneys were disordered and I was badly constipated. The poisons which accumulated over my system soon affected, my stomach until I could not eat a single meal without distress afterwards. Attacks of indigestion were awful, there were many foods I dared not eat at all, could not get a good night's sleep, was tired and worn-out all of the time. All my efforts to get relief were in vain and I was terribly discouraged when I learned of this new Gly-Cas and gave it a trial."

"Gly-Cas is the first medicine I ever found to do exactly what it claimed to do," he continued. "My kidneys and stomach were regulated easily—even after all else failed in my case. I now sleep the whole night through, free of those awful back pains nad have new pep and energy. My foods digest properly, eat good, have a fine appetite and never suffer any distress after meals. I know sufferers have been waiting for just such a medicine as this new Gly-Cas for it seems to begin to give results where the ordinary medicines of today leave-off."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug, 1219 Broadway, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns. Adv.

American Entertainers Given Cold Welcome For Coronation

LONDON, March 8. (AP)—American entertainers were given a cold welcome today for the coronation of King George VI.

Looking forward to top billings around May 12, the British Variety Artists federation protested to the ministry of labor against the importation of foreign competition—particularly American.

Calm Living During These Days Is An Offset To Hard Work Of Judges

WASHINGTON, March 8. (AP)—When Chief Justice Marshall was appointed to the Supreme Court in 1810, membership was considered a "sinecure." In that year 10 cases were brought before the tribunal.

Nowadays, the justices must read millions of words a year, listen to hours of lawyers' droning and prepare and write opinions.

The increase in work for the supreme bench since 1810 can be traced in the number of cases handled.

From 1826 to 1830 the yearly average was 58; from 1830 to 1850 it was 71; in 1860 it reached 278.

During the next 25 years, due to questions growing out of the Civil war, there was an enormous increase.

In 1880 the number of cases set for argument was 1,069 and by 1889 it had reached 1,478.

The average number of petitions submitted today is 1,000, of which about 20 per cent are granted for argument.

In important cases, such as AAA, NRA and the Wagner labor relations act, the judges have to trace down hundreds of references as well as digest voluminous testimony of lower courts.

The Bruno Richard Hauptmann appeal filled 12 volumes, each as large as a mail order catalogue. The record of Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt's case, in which she sought custody of her daughter, was almost as large.

"But," Chief Justice Hughes once said, "men who live the protected and regular life of a judge are more likely now to be fit at 70 than were their predecessors at 65 under the conditions of 50 years ago."

Bits Of News Gathered On Oil Development In Area

Unconfirmed reports Monday said the T. & P. Bennett No. 1, Yoakum county offset to the pool opener, scheduled to be shot Saturday with 380 quarts, had considerably increased its production, gauged at 5,236 feet as 570 barrels in 24 hours. Bottomed at 5,305 feet and then plugged back to 5,284 when water came, the test was to have been shot at from 5,090 to 5,274 feet.

No further showings have been recorded in Terry county's wildcat, the W. L. Pickens, et al No. 1 Estella Lewright, believed to be nearing 4,900 feet. A five-foot per tower of eight hours, was reported over the week-end. The test is in section 1, block C-37, public school land and is the most closely watched in the north part of the Permian basin.

Texas company's No. 1 Bob Slaughter, wildcat on the Bob Slaughter tract in southwestern Hockley county, was last reported at 4,483 feet in white lime. It is in labor 83, league 38, Zavalla county school land.

Landreth Production's No. 1 Carroll Cobb, a mile and a half north of the same company's No. 1 W. H. Kirk, was shut down at 3,350 feet for repairs. It is in section 20, block A-21, public school land.

Anhydrite in the Humbles No. 1-B J. S. Means was topped at 1,885 feet, 1,273 feet above sea level, or practically at the same point as the same company's No. 8 J. S. Means, a relatively high well on the Means ranch in Andrews county. It is a wildcat, two and three quarter miles southeast of the southern most producer on the ranch. It is 660 feet out of the north and west lines of section 11, block A-45, public school lands. Drilling ahead at 2,045 feet was last report.

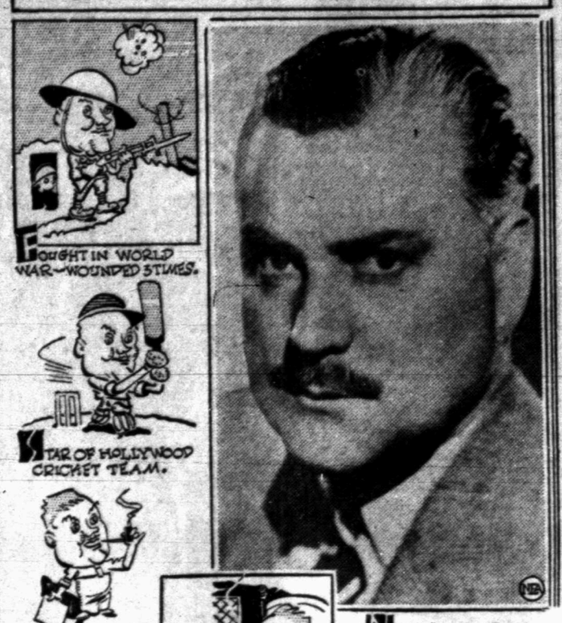

Humble's No. 16 J. S. Means, in the south part of the Means ranch pool, Andrews county, was reported flowing 1,249 barrels of oil in 24-hours, on a proration gauge, for completion at 4,528 feet. Treated with 5,000 gallons of acid, it is in section 19, block A-35, public school land.

Mitchell & Sullivan have been awarded contract to drill the Bond & Harrison et al No. 1 Cameron Lumber co., in labor 1, league 85, Greer county school land, 14 miles north and slightly east of the Cascade-Honolulu-No. 1 Duggan, in Cochran county. Bottom is to be 5,500 feet unless oil or gas in commercial quantity or sulphur water is reached, before that depth. J. L. Sullivan, Odessa, will assemble machinery and the pits and cellar will get under way at once.

Location for the Magnalia's No. 1 Taylor, Yoakum county, in section 21, block D, John H. Gibson survey, has been announced as 330 feet from the east and north lines. It is 11 miles south and east of the Cascade-Honolulu No. 1 Duggan, and 18 miles northeast of the L. P. Bennett No. 1 and Ruth Bennett No. 1, on the Bennett ranch.

Procedure In Trial Is Halted Until Missing Witness Found

To allow the defense to arrange appearance of an "out-of-pocket" witness, procedure in the case of Ernest Dominquez, Mexican charged with drunken driving, at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon was halted until this morning by Judge E. L. Pitts of 99th district court.

State had completed taking of testimony, said Victor H. Lindsey, assistant district attorney.

Waiving trial by jury and pleading guilty of embezzlement, Antonio Lopez received a 2-year sentence from Judge E. L. Pitts Monday morning.

A similar complaint against Opal Jasper was dismissed on motion of District Attorney Burton S. Burks, who said that the woman was necessary as a state's witness in the case.

Cora Matillar, negro woman charged with arson, is to be tried Wednesday, said Judge Pitts.

Rains Last Week Over Wheat Areas Average One-Third Inch

Rains of last week in the wheat belt of the Panhandle-Plains, averaged only a little over a third of an inch, said George Roach, local grain man, Monday, after talking with Amarillo grain men.

Some sections received more, he explained, but the territory as a whole, did not average much over .33 of an inch.

The moisture will greatly aid the growing crop. "I estimate we will have enough to last until about the first of April," he added.

"April and May are the critical months for wheat in this section," the grain man went on. "Our crops will depend upon the rainfall in those months, to top off our underground season. I have personally examined the growing wheat a number of times this winter and it does not look any too good. This rain will, of course, help some."

Helen Jepson tells why she chooses Luckies for her voice

LOVELY PRIMA DONNA OF METROPOLITAN OPERA SAYS:

"A season of opera and concert means my voice and throat must be consistently in perfect condition. Therefore, although most of my smoking is done while I am on vacation, it is all important to me that I be careful in choosing my cigarette. I smoke Luckies because I enjoy their taste and because I feel it is wiser for me to choose a light smoke for my voice."

Helen Jepson

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Miss Jepson verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat.

CARE OF THE EYES is essential to your Health!

A HEALTHY YOUNGSTER

BUT an "Eye-Cripple"

Corrective work for cripple eye sight is one of those things which we cannot see, hear, feel, smell or taste the quality of. It is not a thing to be grasped by one sense—it combines the entire well-being of the human organism.

The value of a pair of glasses does not lie in the glass but in the judgment, integrity and skill of the man who prescribes it.

Only a complete Graduate Clinic routine examination will reveal all this information in a way it can be handled successfully. Only first quality materials will serve a first quality mind and only intelligent orthoptic re-education will correct faulty reflexes and associations.

Can "cheap glasses" and ten (10) minute "tests" do this job? Isn't your eyes, your health and happiness far more important than the price factor? Isn't it better to pay a fair price and hold your job than a cheap price and gradually fall behind in the economic race?

When an appendix bursts, peritonitis usually puts that patient under the daisies. When a tooth aches, there is no other business before the house until the condition is corrected.

Visual defects are rarely critical and do not explode. They slip upon you gradually and you do not realize the vital importance of your eyes, and that they cause sluggishness, nervousness, aches and pains, and not prosperity and happiness.

May I ask that you consider the importance of your eyes and have them examined by a modern Optometrist at least every eighteen (18) months.

MATCHING WITS with the WORLD'S CLEVEREST FORGERS

When arrested he was preparing autographs of Columbus, Washington, Lafayette—and Warren G. Harding.

The man who fakes the signatures and papers of historical figures must have a sound education, some literary ability and great skill as a penman. How he is checkmated makes a fascinating story

The morning-coated announcer told the crowd that "due to startling developments" the genuineness of the diary could not be guaranteed.

By Thomas M. Johnson

IN Sotheby's famous auction room, in London, had assembled an interesting and distinguished audience. The smart world and the art world, palace and studio, were represented.

So were the bookshop and the collector's secluded den, for here were wealthy dilettantes and shabby misers, intermingled with hawk-eyed professional dealers in rarities, books, manuscripts. All were keen for this exciting event.

The world's leading dealers in precious things had announced the sale of the actual diary of Napoleon's second empress, Marie Louise. What a prize, with its blending of history and scandal—and autographed by the empress, too! What a price it would bring; thousands of pounds! Talk buzzed, until a morning-coated announcer stepped forward.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said, in a voice strangely subdued. "Sotheby's owes it you to announce that due to startling developments at the last moment, we cannot guarantee the genuineness of this autographed diary. With that understanding, we offer it for sale."

The scene was dramatic. The world's leading dealers, being impeccably honest, must now announce that this notable audience might have assembled to buy a treasure that would turn out to be dross. Dismayed faces stared at one another; excited voices arose, then subsided, as the auctioneer began.

But his sales talk was a monolog that evoked no response. The priceless diary was sold for a mere £500, to a buyer who remarked sardonically:

"I'm rather gambling—but it'll be worth it to find out whether the thing's real, or another clever forgery."

THAT recent sensation in the collector's world foreshadowed events in this country, where more and more people are paying better and better prices for literary curiosities.

At the first autumn sales of the American Art Association, Anderson Galleries in New York in early November, prices were so much better that the warning is going to the thousand American dealers in rare books: "Watch out for forgeries."

Now is the time for them—when people will buy once more.

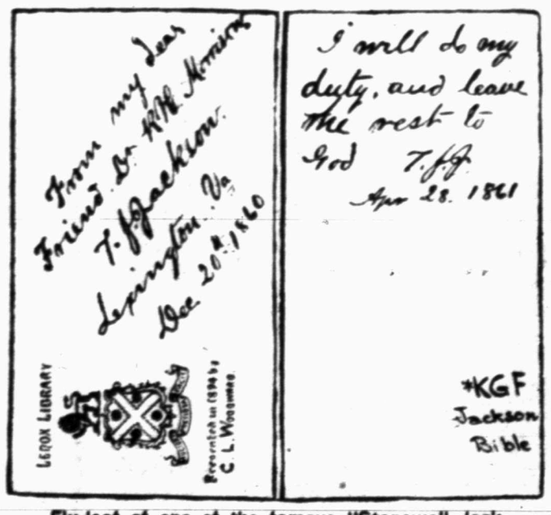

The most intelligent of all crooks is the forger; the most intelligent of all forgers is the faker of "association books," documents and autographs. He must know not only how to imitate handwriting, but something of the background of the books, something even of history. He must not offer, as one forger did, a "letter of a signer of the Declaration of Independence" speaking of that signing as if it were yesterday, on paper watermarked 1796.

He must be painstaking, for of all literary curiosa, "association books" are most highly prized. An "association book" may or may not be a valuable first edition, but it must bear some writing by its author or some other famous person—dedication, presentation, notes or merely autograph. The army of collectors will pay amazing prices for them.

When George Washington wrote his name in four volumes not otherwise fabulously valuable, he made "association books" that brought $7700 at recent auction. At another sale, an unautographed first edition of Hardy's "The Well-Beloved" brought $15; autographed, the same book brought $1200.

A first edition of "The Scarlet Letter" with "Nathaniel Hawthorne" scribbled on the flyleaf, brought $2600. Association books by Bronte, Dickens, Burns, Barrie and Mark Twain have brought recently from $800 to $2100. And those are depression prices.

And manuscripts? The British government recently paid $500,000 for the Codex Sinaiticus, the oldest manuscript; and the thief who stole Scott's original handwritten "Guy Mannering" from Columbia University a year or two ago had to mail it back, so vigilant was the watch for such a treasure.

Fly-leaf of one of the famous "Stonewall Jackson" Bibles—of which ten copies were sent into the world by a clever forger.

THAT recent audacious theft remains a mystery, and so do others. Libraries and wealthy collectors or book dealers are often victimized by crooks who steal real rarities, or offer for sale forgeries "found in the attic."

To trap them, there has been built up a nationwide network of libraries, honest book dealers and even book detectives. Foremost among these last is G. William Bergquist of the New York Public Library, who has not only served longest in his unique profession, but is the leader in this recent development.

With disarming geniality beaming from his ruddy face, he has won confessions from some clever specimens of the little-known species of crooks whose habitat is a dusty book shop or dark chambers suited for a sort of "scratching" that takes unusual finesse. But they get caught, like the forger of Abraham Lincoln's writing and signature.

Trembling, he faced Bergquist and confessed all the wily patience he was putting into forging Lincoln letters. Real Lincoln letters of his days as a lawyer in Illinois were usually written on paper watermarked "Mounier's 1851." Knowing this, the forger ransacked second-hand book stores in Peoria and found an old ledger thus watermarked.

He cut out its leaves, stained them in coffee to make them look aged, and with ink made largely of rusted iron filings he wrote on them what purported to be real Lincoln letters. He had studied Lincoln's handwriting, and imitated it well, but not well enough. The forger's writing was too even and small.

WHEN the expert detective began to study it, other things appeared. Ink can be analyzed so closely that its approximate age and even exact brand can be determined by the spectrophotometer. Or the detective may study a forgery laid upon a glass-topped table with a strong light placed beneath, or with cameras that magnify so that the penstrokes can be measured with micrometers accurate to one 10,000th of an inch.

"And now," asked Bergquist, "what else have you in your pockets?"

The answer was astounding. That forger disgorged faked autographs of Franklin, Gwinnett and John Hancock, of which genuines have brought $10,000 to $61,000.

For the autographs he craves, your really fanatical collector will pay such prices that forgers have made a living supplying them. Only a year ago, a remarkable swindler got two years in prison through the efforts of Walter Toscanini, son of the famous director. This astounding crook had defrauded many Americans including the Library of Congress.

He was Iobia Nicotra, Italian, but in America he posed as Richard Drigo, former orchestra conductor to the czar. Drigo was really dead, but who knew that? Nicotra did a thriving trade in supplying autographs of Mozart, Handel and Wagner, signed to letters composed from his imagination, or on margins of sheets of music or manuscripts stolen from the Milan Library.

When arrested he was preparing autographs of Columbus, Washington, Lafayette — and Warren G. Harding. He rivaled the audacious Frenchman Lucas, who during his lifetime in the last century sold some 27,000 autograph letters.

But even Lucas had a rival among forgers—one Spring, who capitalized on Civil War patriotism to sell "genuine George Washington bank checks" for $10 each. After the war, he presented Stonewall Jackson with a daughter, "Fanny," to whom the Confederate general had written voluminously. And a very fair price his "letters" brought, too.

SO did the Bible that the deeply religious Jackson had in his pocket when he died—all 10 copies of it.

This was one of the most preposterous historical hoaxes ever perpetrated, and the uncaught perpetrator was a bit of a genius. In the gay nineties he came to New York, wearing faded coat, checked work shirt and slouch hat, and with appealing gestures of sunburned, calloused hands, in confiding accents redolent of the "Old South," he told to a leading second-hand book dealer this story:

He was the grandson of the late Melchisidec Chancellor, to whose house on the battlefield of Chancellorsville General Jackson was brought on May 2, 1863, wounded mortally. They laid him upon the narrator's "grandpappy's" bed, after removing his stained gray coat. And from its pocket fell a Bible, worn from being carried on campaign. It's yellowed flyleaf bore a faded inscription;

"From my dear friend Dr. R. H. Morrison. T. J. Jackson, Lexington, Va. Dec. 20th, 1860."

Morrison was Jackson's father-in-law. And opposite, was written;

"I will do my duty, and leave the rest to God. T. J. J."

No wonder the Bible was handed down in the Chancellor family. But—times had been hard; the last of the line must sell even such an heirloom. Would the bookseller buy it? The musical voice broke, and the Virginian wept.

The bookseller was touched; he said so. Indeed he would buy it, to help out the last of the Chancellors—and sell it again to some wealthy unreconstructed southerner or perhaps to the Daughters of the Confederacy. But that he did not tell Chancellor, who thankfully took the money, and bowed himself out.

Then, as he would say, he "put out" for another bookseller. He sold six Bibles in New York, and three in Philadelphia. The tenth dealer had heard of him, but was so intrigued that he warned the southerner; "The chief wants to see you."

"The chief? Wheah does he keep, suh?" asked the Virginian. "Ah suttenly will go right now and call on him."

Once more he bowed himself out—never to return. He was not only a good actor, but a good "scratcher"—a forger who not merely traces over writing, but puts himself into the skin of the great, masters the "rhythm" of their penmanship, and writes pages of it.

These are the most dangerous forgers of rarities. One man faked Christopher Columbus' letter reporting the discovery of America, and did it so well that an Italian-American paid $4300 for it. Another imitated Oscar Wilde, explaining an occasional slip thus; "Ah, Oscar wrote that when he was tight."

Guymon Plans To Celebrate

Bewhiskered Cowhand To Ride Cayuse 350 Miles To Herald 47th Anniversary Of End Of Pistol Rule In Area

(By The Associated Press)

GUYMON, Okla., March 8.—A bewhiskered cowhand will spur his cayuse in a 350-mile dash to herald a celebration here May 3 of the 47th anniversary of the end of pistol rule in "No Man's Land."

On May 2, 1890, congress joined this high-plains strip to Oklahoma territory after the struggle over slavery had left the Panhandle an "orphan" in 1843. May 2 falls on Sunday this year so the celebration was set back a day. Last year sponsors said 35,000 visitors jammed into Guymon. They expect a larger crowd this year.

Cut Off From Texas

When Texas was admitted to the Union as a slave state in 1843, this elongated strip above the Mason and Dixon line was left alone, unclaimed by the United States, cut off from Texas.

Cattlemen began moving on to the high plains in 1875, but the outlaws were ahead of them. Cattle rustlers had made the ungoverned strip a hide-away. Cattlemen formed vigilante committees, "Judge Colt" their law.

Furnished with fresh mounts every 40 miles, the pony express rider of 1937 also will carry mail on a journey that will end at Oklahoma City, said Postmaster Frank DeWolfe.

Whiskers Are Sprouting

Already whiskers are sprouting as Guymon's male population grows its "atmosphere" for the celebration.

Sponsors are checking up on the supply of buckboards and prairie schooners which will be pressed into service for a parade down Guymon's main street.

Myron Gilbert, the strapping Panhandle farmer who won last year's beard contest by a whisker, said he was ready to defend his title.

Contest Chairman Tom McKinely said he would issue by mid-March his usual ban on razors. He said he would wield a paddle on countrymen daring to plow up their chin stubble.

Pioneers To Be Honored

Pioneers who came to this Panhandle country before the close of the Nineteenth century will be guests of honor at the celebration.

They will recount the day in 1903 when a railway laid its ribbon of steel down the center of the Panhandle strip to provide an outlet to Southwest markets.

They will recount how Guymon sprang up beside the steel ribbon, a boisterous frontier town with a couple of saloons, a general store and a post office.

One Of Government's Biggest Jobs Faces New Commission

WASHINGTON, March 8. (AP)—One of the government's biggest jobs—distributing millions in ship subsidies—faces the new maritime commission which President Roosevelt expects to appoint soon.

The commission will take over control of administrative machinery already built by a temporary three member commission.

When the full five-member body is chosen the intricate task of effecting adjustments with ship operators on existing ocean mail contracts may be speeded.

In place of the agreements expiring July 1, the commission will grant cash operating and construction subsidies based directly on the differences between American and foreign operating costs.

About $100,000,000 in cash is available for granting the new subsidies.

Standard Oil Of Ohio Raises Wages For 4,000 Employes

CLEVELAND, March 8. (AP)—Standard Oil of Ohio announced today wage increases totaling approximately $300,000 annually for 4,000 employes.

The increases include a boost of five per cent for 1,600 workers receiving less than $150 per month in the refining and bulk station department, including truck drivers, draymen and other laborers.

In the refining department 1,500 men will receive an increase of 10 cents per hour over a present minimum of approximately 60 cents per hour.

The readjustment also provides for a flat increase of five per cent for all the 979 workers in company owned and operated filling stations.

REFUSE TO TAKE UP BILL

AUSTIN, March 8. (AP)—The house of representatives refused overwhelmingly today to take up a bill proposing to use $4,180,000 annually of highway department revenues for lateral road construction.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Peak are parents of a son born at 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning at their home at 602 Avenue R. The child, who weighed 7 pounds and 12 ounces, was named Prentiss Dewaine.

Improvement and construction of a farm-to-market road north of Slaton on the Acuff road through to McClung was started Monday morning by 34 Works Progress administration laborers, according to information from district WPA headquarters.

A daughter weighing 8 pounds and 8 ounces was born at 8:32 o'clock Sunday morning at West Texas hospital to Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Stennett of route 2, Slaton.

Teachers of the George M. Hunt school will play the third grade boys of that school, a soft ball game this afternoon on the school grounds, starting at 3 p. m. A small admission is being charged, the money to be used to buy suits for the baseball team. Miss Mary Meador, principal, said. A large attendance of pupils is expected, in addition to a number of outsiders.

Two of three white boys and one negro, all juveniles, will be sent to a state correctional institution from Lubbock, said County Attorney Robert J. Allen. All had been charged with theft. The negro is 16 years old, one of the whites 13 and the other 16. The 16-year-old white boy is under suspended sentence for theft in Scurry county, said Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Tapp, 2307 Sixteenth street, are parents of a daughter born at 10:50 o'clock Monday morning at West Texas hospital.

Tickets were mailed yesterday afternoon to out-of-town merchants and their parties who have made reservations for the style show and dance to be held at the Lubbock hotel at 8 o'clock Friday night in connection with the Wes-Tex New-Mex Wholesale Clothing Market association's fourteenth semi-annual market event.

Police said a complaint of theft of an adding machine at the First Presbyterian church had been made Monday.

Crosbyton last week received .83 of an inch of rain, Ralph Howe, county agent, said here yesterday. Crop lands, especially wheat, will be greatly benefitted by the moisture. Wheat prospects are the best in several years, in and around Crosbyton.

Total of 6,225 Social Security numbers have been issued through the Lubbock postoffice so far, Postmaster Amos Howard said last night. Only two white persons, a man and a woman, had to sign with their mark. There were four or five negroes who also had to make a mark. Opening of spring construction work will increase the number of those to come under the law, Mr. Howard added.

J. M. Hill, jr., assistant state agent of the U. S. biological survey, here for a two weeks trip from College Station, left yesterday for Muleshoe with J. Edwin Barker. They will inspect prairie dog poison work on the V. V. N. ranch of W. H. Fuqua, Amarillo. The two men expect to return Thursday.

John K. Crews, Plainview banker, who was here yesterday, said Hale county farmers were more optimistic over the wheat outlook, since rains of last week. Although a little more than half an inch was received, he added, there was enough to relieve the moisture shortage and the crop can be carried along for several weeks more.

Homer E. Thompson, assistant county agent, was confined to his hotel room yesterday on account of illness. He became ill Sunday.

Rush of applications for emergency feed and seed loans has falled off, but there is still a steady demand for loans Fred N. Warren, field supervisor, said yesterday. P. C. Rector is handling the local office during the time Mr. Warren is out of the city.

A two page article, written by Mrs. Josephine Ballenger, second grade teacher in the George M. Hunt school, was used in the "Texas Outlook" official magazine of the Texas State Teachers association in its March issue. "West Texas Centennial" is the theme of the article, which deals with a school room project last fall. A photograph showing all the children in the room and the buildings they built and filled, also was used.

A negro woman who had been slashed about the arms and body Monday complained to county officials of another negro woman. Investigation was under way. She said the asserted assault was Sunday in the Flats, negro quarter.

Testimony will be continued today in the civil action of Carl Claborn and others against Sisters of Mercy, civil action being heard in 72nd district court before Judge Daniel A. Blair and a jury.

Fined $1 and costs when arraigned Monday before S. E. McMillan, justice of peace, H. R. Dodson was remanded to custody. The charge was swindling.

Cadet Hazel Bowley of the Lubbock Salvation Army corps won second in a sermon contest at Dallas, where 575 persons attended a Texas Army convention Friday, Saturday and Sunday, said Capt. John G. Churchill, corps commander. She will go in September to a training college at Atlanta, where after a year's study she will be cited for a lieutenant's rank. Twenty-two from Lubbock, 36 from the Lubbock district, attended the convention.

Chances for recovery of Mrs. Bob Hodges of 901 Avenue L, formerly Miss Clara Nell Martin, apparently were remote Monday night, it was said at West Texas hospital, where she had been admitted for medical treatment.

Don L. Jones, superintendent of the state experiment substation, spoke to R. L. Burdette's evening class in general agriculture at New Deal last night.

A near capacity crowd at the Senior High school auditorium last night went with Alice to Wonderland and later saw 20-inch high dolls in a famous operetta, "Mickado," when Tony Sarg presented his internationally famous marionette show as one of the major attractions of the Texas Tech Artist course.

Eighty-three persons from 16 West Texas cities Monday night attended a meeting of Dodge Bros. Corp., for improving of dealer service departments and to stress safety features of the Dodge automobile. Becton Group Pays Visit To College

(Special To The Avalanche)

LORENZO, March 8. — Twenty-six farmers from Becton community, in Lubbock county and members of an evening school taught by G. S. Dowell, superintendent and vocational agriculture teacher here, attended a meeting here Saturday morning and then went to Lubbock to visit Texas Technological college.

Coming here from Becton in the school bus, the party spent the morning here looking over varieties of cotton and studying seed. After lunch they drove to Lubbock.

Prof. M. E. Heard showed the group through the textile department building. He lectured on marketing and manufacturing of cotton for an hour and a half.

Paul G. Haines, Austin, State director of vocational agriculture; Ray Chappelle, head of the department of agricultural education and Texas Tech; O. T. Ryan, vocational agriculture supervisor and Mr. Brandon, teacher at Wilson, met the party.

This is the second evening school taught at Becton by Mr. Dowell. First course this year was on soil conservation had the second one, now being taught in on cotton. The same group recently went to Littlefield to see the soil erosion work there.

Later the group plans to inspect and test cottonseed and later on, 16 will buy certified seed for the 1937 crop.

In the party were: A. D. Moore, R. A. Powell, W. H. Nelson, James Reid, Pete Dowell, G. K. Bullock, J. O. King, J. B. Becton, Ray Furguson, E. O. King, A. M. Becton, J. R. Snodgrass, Bryant Powell, Oscar Paden, Mon Ridings, Owen C. Powell, E. P. Reeves, George Bullock, C. C. Mull and E. D. Snodgrass.

State Deaths

HORACE G. GLOVER

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 8. (AP)—The body of Horace G. Glover, business and civic leader of Longview, Texas, was sent to his home city today for funeral services.

The 49-year-old real estate operator, in ill health for several years, died in Hot Springs yesterday after a stroke of paralysis.

Glover was a Longview city commissioner.

Besides his widow, he was survived by a son, Davis Glover of Longview, his mother, Mrs. J. G. Glover of Sulphur Springs, Texas, four brothers and five sisters.

WILLIAM FONASH

BROWNWOOD, Mar. 8. (AP)—William Fonash, 71, oldest employe of the Harvey house system in point of service, died here today. He began work for the company in Raton, N. M., in 1887. He had been manager of houses at Fort Worth, Cleburne, Galveston and Houston. He came here from San Diego in 1934.

JAMES PORTER MADDOX

CLARKSVILLE, Mar. 8. (AP) — James Porter Maddux, 20, died in a hospital here today of injuries received Saturday when his car overturned after a casing blew out. Maddux was here on furlough from Fort Sill, Okla.

"BLACK-DRAUGHT IS PURELY VEGETABLE" —What Does That Mean?

A great many things can cause constipation and there are many remedies to relieve it, but possibly none more popular than the "vegetable" laxatives.

Among these, Black-Draught is outstanding. In its manufacture, leaves of a certain plant are used, and the roots of certain others. These are dried so they will keep without preservatives . . . no other chemical change from the way they grew in "Mother Nature's medicine garden." By their being finely ground, the digestive system extracts the active medicine right where it is needed. Constipation is relieved.

Black-Draught is so economical that a 25-cent package averages upwards of 25 doses.—Adv.

Pieces Matched
And Two Go To Jail For Smuggling

NEW YORK, March 8. (AP)—Torn halves of a paper bearing Chinese writing, one in the possession of an Oriental carpenter aboard the Far East steamship Taybank and the other half held by an East River boatman, landed the pair in federal jail Saturday charged with trying to smuggle into New York smoking opium valued by officials at between $200,000 and $500,000.

Federal agents announced the seizure, one of the largest in harbor history. The arrest of six men in all, and the questioning of the Taybank's chief officer, Roland R. C. Jones, and nearly 30 members of his crew.

One half the torn slip was found, the agents said, in Willie Bonanzi's pocket, along with $1400 in cash, when he was arrested. And the other half, the tear fitting perfectly, was in the possession of the carpenter, Ah Man. When fitted together, they said, the ticket guaranteed that the opium was being delivered to the person to whom intended.

Court Writ Is Granted Pool At Plainview; Hearing Is Set

A court writ enjoining Texas Liquor Control board from interfering with the permit of Pope Pool, Lubbock druggist, to dispense liquor for medical purposes has been granted by Judge C. D. Russell of 64th district court at Plainview.

Hearing was set down for March 12, in 72nd district court at Lubbock, said Clark M. Mullican, counsel for Pool. The case and three others were filed last week in the Lubbock chamber. Other applicants were Lawrence H. Redwine, Oran Wilson, and F. E. Carter and Oran Wilson jointly.

No action had been taken on their applications late Monday.

CHARGED IN SHOOTING

HOUSTON, March 8. (AP)—The Harris county grand jury indicted Vincent Vallone, former night club operator today, on a charge of assault to murder Sam Ferrugia, 24, who was critically wounded by pistol shots early yesterday at a main street grill.

Roosevelt Given 99-Grading On His Finny Geography But He's Rushing Season A Little

WASHINGTON, March 8. (AP) — The bureau of fisheries gave President Roosevelt a 99-grading today in his finny geography.

Learning the chief executive is preparing a tarpon expedition off the Texas coast in May, the Fort Myers (Fla.) News Press sought telegraphically to straighten him out on his fishing facts.

"It isn't the west coast of the Gulf over in Texas," read the paper's message, "but the lower west coast of Florida that the tarpon are on."

Snaring an armful of charts, bureau officials cast among them to see if the president had flunked his tarpon course.

The first thing they struck was an illustrated fish map. Right there in the blue gulf off Brownsville, Tex., plunged the likeness of a tarpon with a cowboy astraddle it.

Flicking their eyes to Fort Myers, the experts encountered another portrait. This time the silver king was striking somebody's hook.

"It means," the experts explained, "that tarpon abound in both places. Everybody's right, the president and the Fort Myers people."

The reason the president got 99 and not 100 in his fishing grade was that he's rushing the season a trifle.

Thirty Days And Fine Of $100 Assessed In Liquor Violation

Of two defendants named in complaints filed Monday and charging violation of liquor laws, one was convicted that afternoon in county criminal court.

R. E. Yates was assessed 30 days imprisonment and a fine of $100. Hugh Anderson, assistant to Robert J. Allen, county attorney, said the complaint was an "old one with new facts alleged."

The other complaint named a man who had not been reported arrested.

Mother Blisters Son's Hands

LOS ANGELES, March 8. (AP)—Police arrested Mrs. Kathryn Enright Saturday on charges that she held the hands of her 3-year old son over the pilot light of a water heater until they blistered.

Policewoman Rose Pickerel and Detective Lieut. R. T. Andrews said the mother told them she punished the child because he took a safety razor and pipe from a neighbor's home.

"I would rather burn his hands now than have him sent to San Quentin later," Mrs. Enright was quoted as saying.

Andrews Is Soon To Have Full City Organization Operating

(Special To The Avalanche)

ANDREWS, March 8. (AP)—City officials of Andrews, recently chosen by citizens at the election to incorporate, are preparing their bonds and as soon as these are finished, will begin active supervision of the city affairs.

Wayne Phillips was named mayor. Five aldermen were chosen: Guy McGill, P. B. Grisson, William Blair, V. L. Reed and William Parmer.

YOUTH IS KILLED

RANGER, March 8. (AP)—The body of Harry Neal, 15, will be shipped to Little Rock tomorrow morning for funeral services. The boy, one of the triplet sons of George W. Neal, former Arkansas state land commissioner, was killed Sunday when the car in which he was riding and a truck collided near Strawn.

Shoplifting Activities Result In Charges Against Trio Here

Three Lubbock young men Monday afternoon were charged in county criminal court with theft growing out of asserted shoplifting of hose from two Lubbock stores Friday and Sunday.

Lathan Walkker of 21000-block Fifth street and Robert Southard jointly were charged with taking 20 pairs of women's hose valued at $20 early Sunday from H. W. Wylie drug store, and Glenn Brazil with taking one pair of hose valued at 20 cents from Jeannette Howard, Woolworth store saleswoman, Friday.

In each instance, said police, attempts by saleswomen to stop the men, partly was successful. Miss Margaret McLaury, cashier, grabbed one of the men charged in the Wylie action and held him until Sid Caraway and Owen Boyd arrived to arrest him. William S. Bell nabbed the other in an alley in 900-block Main street, it was reported. Miss Howard attempted to prevent flight of Brazil, said authorities.

Complaints were sworn to by Don Reeder, police identifications officer, before Hugh Anderson, assistant county attorney.

BANK BUYING GOLD

PARIS, March 8. (AP)—The Bank of France began buying gold today at the rate of 21.80 francs to the United States dollar or approximately 4.58 cents per franc.

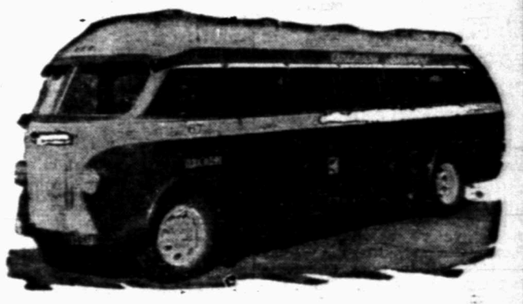

The official quotation at the opening of transactions under the domestic open gold market was 24,509.527 francs for one kilogram of gold. No selling price was quoted.

Boston Bees Nurse No Illusions About Breaking Into National's Top Flight

Beantown Club Stronger; New Hurlers Added

Critics Laughed When Bees First Sat Down, But Sting Brought Them From Cellar And Now They're Better

By EDDIE BRIETZ

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 8. (AP)—The Boston Bees are not shooting for a first division berth this year, but if anything untoward occurs up in the top flight, the bean eaters expect to be right there to take advantage of it.

"It will take almost a miracle to crash into the first division," said Manager Bill McKechnie, who surprised one and all by leading his motley band out of the National League cellar last season, "but it can be done.

To bolster a wobbly pitching staff, the Boston scouts have corralled a bevy of veteran slabsters from virtually every large minor league in the country.

Help For Danny

From this crop, McKechnie hopes he'll glean enough to share the Bee pitching burden with the bespectacled Danny MacFayden, who compiled an earned run average of 2.87, only a fraction under Carl Hubbell's 2.71, in winning 18 and losing 8 for last year's team, and the veteran Guy Bush, another 1936 hold-over.

Some of the best looking of the newcomers are Lou Fette, 30, who had 25 wins against eight losses at St. Paul; Vic Fraser, 31, the one time White Sox who won 14 and lost 7 at Dallas; Bill Harris 27-year-old veteran, with 15 wins and 10 defeats at Buffalo and Bill Perrin, a southpaw, who won 18 while losing only eight for New Orleans.

Catchers Okay

The catching department is well taken care of by Al Lopez and Ray Mueller and McKechnie thinks his infield will be stronger defensively than last year.

Baxter Jordan will be the regular first sacker, if he signs. Otherwise the job goes to Elburt Fletcher, another good hitter, who came up from Buffalo with a .343 average.

Tony Cuccinello has second sewed up, with Earl Larson having the call at short over Louis Menendez, a product of the bi-state league and Bill Urbanski and Eddie Mayo, a youngster the Bees got from the Giants, battling it out for third.

McKechnie has definitely made up his mind to give young Vince DiMaggio, brother of the famous Joe of the Yankees, a starting assignment, either in the outfield or at third or short.

Frenship Cagers Leave Today For State AAU Joust

Frenship High school's goal-shooting basketball girls, winners of numerous tournaments including the Lubbock county and District 3 jousts, are off today for Hillsboro where they begin competition tomorrow in the state AAU tournament for high school teams.

Victorious in something like 40 games, while losing two, this season, the Frenship team is scheduled to play its first game in the AAU tourney at 6 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, it was learned yesterday.

Coach Jeanne Keeton, formerly of Hillsboro, whose success with the Frenship team this season has been remarkable, probably will take the entire squad to the Hillsboro tourney. The players are: Nellie Ann Hitt, Tom Woodson, Jaunita Meyers, Kathyrn Bailey, Hester Hitt, Helen Alexander, Dorothy Casey, Oleeta Graston, Lehia McWhorter, Theda Hinson, Mary Heard, Mattye Oden, Eleanor Moore, Louise Welch and Lillian Johnson. The regular lineup generally is Alexander, Welch and Graston at forwards, Oden, Bailey and Hinson at guards.

John Henry Lewis To Fight In June; Suspension Lifted

WASHINGTON, March 8. (AP)—The National Boxing association virtually lifted its one-year suspension of John Henry Lewis, light heavyweight champion, today when Lewis agreed to fight in Washington in June.

Lewis' suspension followed his failure to box here last summer.

Lewis' opponent in June will be either Dave Clark, Detroit, stablemate of Joe Louis, or Shorty Ahern, Newark.

Here Comes A Real Mickey To 'Pep Up' Gas House Gang; Needs No Orientation

Rookie Catcher Hot And Ready To Mix With Cardinals

BY PAUL MICKELSON

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 8. (AP)—That noisy gas house gang from St. Looey is coming across the tracks with a real Mickey this year.

Mickey Owen, sensational rookie catcher from the Columbus farm, can inhale and exhale those gas fumes with the best of them. In fact, he's whooping up so much noise that such celebrated charter members of the gang as Pepper Martin, Dizzy Dean, and Ducky Medwick will have to shout louder to get any attention.

A Noisy Battery

Not in many a baseball moon has a rookie who can outshout Mickey parked his baggage in a big league training camp. A natural "gas house" man is Mickey and if he makes good, as the Cards are sure he will, the gang will be complete. What a whooping battery Diz and Mickey will make.

Fate just seemed to stick by Mickey until he became a gang member.

When he told Branch Rickey, the big idea man of the Cardinals, that he wanted to get a college education, it looked bad but Rickey told him to go ahead.

"It's such a good idea," advised Rickey, "that the ball club will pay your expenses and tuition. Pick out a good college and we'll back you."

Ideas Didn't Work

Mickey selected the University of Southern California but gave up the idea when he discovered there wasn't such a course as public speaking and gymnasium, which he wanted.

Like all great men, Mickey then decided it would be swell to get married and again the fatherly, shrewd Rickey encouraged him, offering to see that Mickey got a swanky honeymoon as long as he didn't forget the Cardinals needed a catcher like Mickey Owen.

A few days later, Mickey discovered that his "girl friend" had given him the gate.

"Guess I got two good breaks and didn't know it," Mickey confessed to Rickey. "Get me a bat and a ball."

Two New Faces To Shine On Wrestling Card This Week; Nick Bozinis Meets Tremaine; Sailor Watkins In Farewell

Curiosity, a sense of humor and lust for blood should bring the sports fans flocking to the Auditorium tomorrow night for Sled Allen's weekly wrestling show.

Two "new faces" on the card is expected to provoke the curious fans into purchasing tickets. Larry Schaaf, billed as another "Hoosier Hotshot," battles Abie Freeman, New York middleweight, in the curtain raiser. They are said to be main event performers, but it's a "system" in these parts to let all newcomers "try out" on the supporting card before throwing them in as main attractions. They must prove their ability as rasslers or showmen, or both, before they land in top spots here.

Schaaf has been going good in the eastern circuits, according to rumor. The Indiana boy made his debut before an Amarillo audience a few weeks ago and became popular from the start. Freeman has been fighting on the West Coast.

"Short Pants" Returns

To enjoy the wrestling turned out by Nick Bozinis, one must have a sense of humor. The squatty Greek from Elmira, N. Y., is well known in this sector as a main eventer. He has tossed some of the best ones, has injured some of them quite seriously with his "back breaker" applied with a combination hammerlock and crotch hold. With such a hold, he elevates his adversary high and horizontally, then brings him crashing down across a knee and thigh. Two or three of these usually get the job done. They are as effective as Sailor Watkins' "ring post rushes."

Nick returns after a lengthy absence to fight Andy Tremaine, the Tucson thunderbolt who is improving rapidly as he becomes educated to the type of grappling generally done in this league. Tremaine was impressive last week in beating Dale Haddock, the Detroit destroyer.

Sailor Watkins is saying farewell to the local fans tomorrow night. After his main event with Rod Fenton, the Canadian ruffian, Watkins is pulling out for the border. He is booked for several appearances in El Paso and from there will go to Mexico City.

Tickets for the show are on sale at Hotel Lubbock Drug.

Juicy Owens' Home Entered By Robbers; Is 3rd Coach At Electra To Lose Signals

ELECTRA, March 8. (AP)—Electra porch-climbers must know the signals of the high school coaches here.

Last night the home of Truitt Owens, line coach of the Electra high school football team, was entered and clothing, jewelry, and luggage estimated to be forth $250, together with $13 in cash taken.

Feb. 5, the residence of George Blair, head coach was burglarized, and yast year the apartment of Marion Harris, backfield coach was looted.

Objections To Ban Are Heard

Charges Of Discrimination Are Hurled At Southeastern's Move To Lay Off All Bowl Games Except Sugar, Rose

ATLANTA, March 8. (AP)—The official ban placed on "bowl" football games, except those sponsored in Pasadena and New Orleans, stirred widespread controversy today, including charges the Southeastern conference had discriminated against other cities.

Reaction to the conference's move in the forbidding its teams to play post season games controlled partly or wholly by "third parties," aside from the Sugar and Rose Bowl contests, was mixed but for the most part had little approval.

Sees "Sit Down" Strike

Charges of discrimination were made in Florida, where the city of Miami sponsors the Orange Bowl and Georgia, where Atlanta officials made known a movement was under way to present a game next New Year's Day.

A Georgia house of representatives resolution asked that the faculties of the Georgia School of Technology and the University of Georgia "be called on to use their influence" in getting the rule rescinded.

W. Keith Phillips, chairman of the Orange Bowl committee, planned to write conference officials asking that the matter be reopened. Dinty Dennis, sports editor of the Miami Herald, foresaw repercussions in the nature of a "sit down" strike by Florida athletes in other Southeastern schools against the conference "politicians."

Miss. State Approves

"Mississippi State college heartily approves this action on the grounds that the prestige of the conference teams playing in either of these gridiron classics (Rose and Sugar Bowls) will be enhanced rather than lowered," said E. L. Lucas, faculty chairman of the athletic committee of Mississippi State.

Coaches W. A. Alexander of Georgia Tech, who introduced the motion to place a limit on the conference teams playing in the growing list of "bowl" games, and Bob Neyland of Tennessee were gratified at the action.

College Track Stars To Take Week's Lights

Intercollegiate AAAA Titles To Be Decided At New York As Big Time Stars Fold Up For This Weekend

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 8.—The big-time stars who have filled the winter headlines with their indoor track performances have to play second-fiddle this week: The intercollegiates are coming to town.

The annual Intercollegiate A. A. A. A. championship meet isn't the biggest of the season nor is it likely to produce many broken records, yet from the standpoint of keen competition it's about the most exciting meet of the year.

There are 463 athletes entered from 26 colleges. Some of them were good enough to make the Olympic team last year.

Four teams are considered in the running for the collegiate team title, won by Manhattan the last three years. The Jaspers are given a chance for another triumph. Columbia, victor in Princeton's "polar bear" meet, is in the running for the first time in years. Dartmouth and Cornell also have good chances.

Columbian Mile To Climax Winter Tests

NEW YORK, March 8. (AP)—The issue of winter mile-running supremacy is due to be settled on the board track of Madison Square Garden at the annual Knights of Columbus games March 17.

The "Columbian mile," peak event of the indoor season, will pit the king of middle distance stars, Glenn Cunningham, against his three principal challengers, Archie San Romani of Emporia, Kas., Luigi Becalli of Italy and Gene Venzke of the New York A. C. This event, captured four straight times by Cunningham, has been marked by extraordinary performances. Cunningham set the present indoor world mark of 4:08.4 in 1934.

San Romani Rated High

San Romani, a fellow Kansan, who interrupted Cunningham's 1937 winning streak in the Bankers' mile at Chicago, is generally regarded as the leading contender for the throne Cunningham has occupied, with occasional interruptions, for a five-year period in this country.

Threats to the supremacy of Cunningham as American mile king have come and gone during the past five years. Venzke is the ony surviving charter member now, since Tiger Bill Bonthron and Cornell's Joe Mangan have stepped out of the picture.

All have beaten the great Glenn at one time or another but none enjoys the distinction held by New Zealand's Jack Lovelock. Cunningham has never beaten Lovelock in three attempts.

Davis Cup Finals In This Zone Set Last Week In May

NEW YORK, March 8. (AP)—While the first stage of the American Davis Cup campaign was hardly begun, the United States Lawn Tennis association has selected the last week-end of May for the North American zone finals at Forest Hills, L. I.

Confident the home forces will meet Australia in the final, officials picked the big Forest Hills stadium for the matches May 29, 30 and 31.

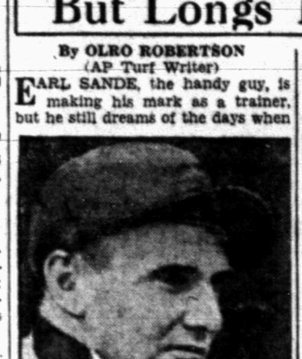

Australia is sending Jack Crawford, Adrian Quist, Vivian McGrath and 18-year-old Jack Bromwich, in addition to a manager. They are scheduled to play Mexico at Mexico City April 30 to My 2. The other first round match sends America's against Japan. The dates and places have not been fixed.

So far only Don Budge, America's No. 1 player, seems sure of his place on the team, but Frankie Parker, ranked No. 2, made a good beginning of his campaign when he won the national indoor title Saturday.

Sande Trains Winners But Longs To Ride 'Em

By OLRO ROBERTSON
(AP Turf Writer)

EARL SANDE, the handy guy, is making his mark as a trainer, but he still dreams of the days when he hand-rode many of America's greatest horses to victory.

Earl Sande—Ex Jockey

"Yes, I get quite a thrill out of saddling winners," said the earl at Hialeah park. "But that thrill is nothing like the one I got out of riding. Those cheers ringing in my ears were sweet music."

Of nearly 1,000 triumphs in 14 years in the saddle, including three Kentucky Derby victories, the thrill that remains freshest in Sande's mind came when he rode Gallant Fox to a nose victory over Questionnaire in the 1930 Lawrence Realization at Belmont park. That was one of the bitterest stretch duels horse followers ever witnessed.

Sonny Workman, the turf's foremost whip rider, was up on Questionnaire, and Sande used all his guile to hand-ride the Fox to victory. The two hooked up in a duel an eighth of a mile from home but the Fox, with his nose in front, stubbornly refused to give an inch.

Once Was Enough

Despite the greatness of Gallant Fox, Sande rates Man O'War the best horse he ever rode. He was up on "Old Red" only once, in the Kenner Stakes at Saratoga, but that was enough to convince the handy guy that Man O'War was all that had been said about him.

The earl, now 38 years old, left the "bush" tracks of Idaho and the Far West in the winter of 1917 to make a name for himself. He rode his first winner on the big time at the Fair Grounds, New Orleans, January 21, 1918. From then on his success was phenomenal. His first year was his best on the basis of winners as he scored with 158 of his 707 mounts.

Sande's contract was bought by Guy Bedwell for J. K. L. Ross, the Canadian turfman, and the earl's ability figured in the victories of that great stable, which included such equine stars as Sir Barton, Cudgal, Billy Kelly, Boniface and Milk Maid.

When Sande severed his connections with Ross after the famous Man O'War-Sir Barton race at Kennilworth, he signed up with Sam Hildreth, who was then training for Harry F. Sinclair's Rancocas stable.

Wins $3,000,000

It was with Hildreth he won his richest purses. In 1923 he rode Zev to more than a quarter of a million dollars' worth of purses, including the Kentucky Derby, Belmont Stakes, Lawrence Realization, the International Special and the match race with In Memoriam. Altogether he accounted for 39 stakes during the year.

That was tops until he staged one of his frequent comebacks in 1930 and won more than $308,000 with Gallant Fox. The earl had a difficult time keeping his weight odwn and retired again. He came back to give the sport another fling two years later but again found weight his bugaboo.

During his riding career, Sande's

Sande—Successful Trainer

mounts amassed the record total of close to $3,000,000. Luck was against him as an owner, however. He paid $25,000 for the promising Nassak on retiring the first time in 1928 but the colt split a hoof and never raced again. Several of his other purchases also were disappointments.

Picard And Revolta Sock Par 9 Times To Lead International 4-Ball Joust

MIAMI, Fla., Mar. 8. (AP)—Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta birdied their way today toward another victory in the international four-ball golf matches with a nine under par 63 before a tropical rainstorm caught them and the rest of the field at lunch time.

The second rounds of the 36-hole quarter final matches scheduled today were postponed until tomorrow afternoon.

Picard and Revolta, two-time winners of the annual classic, had a 2 up edge over Gene Sarazen and Jimmy Hines, whom they trounced 4 and 2 in last year's final.

Two other matches were square—those of Dick Metz and Ky Laffoon against Jimmy Thomason and Harry Cooper, in which the medal scores were 68, and Johnny Farrell and Willie Klein against Lawson Little and Tony Manero, who had 70's.

Oklahoma Cage Team Sets Out For AAU Title

Bartlesville Club Of Hoop All-Americans, Including Joe Fortenberry, Head For Denver And Big Tourney

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., March 8. (AP)—Oklahoma's "dream team," the star-studded Phillips club of Bartlesville, set out for mile-high Denver, Colo., tonight, prepared for a week-end long battle to return the National A. A. U. basketball championship to Oklahoma.

The club was victorious in Missouri Valley A. A. U. league play.

Three members of the 1936 All America five and two members of former All-America selections are included in the formidable array, charged with the responsibility of returning the crown little Bill Miller's Tulsa Oilers gave up in 1935.

Basketball Who's Who

Coach Harold Schmidt's Bartlesville lineup reads like a "who's who" of modern independent basketball—Joe Fortenberry, 6-foot, 8 inch center; Omar "Bud" Browning, forward; Jay Wallenstrom, guard; Chuck Hyatt, forward; Dave Perkins, forward; and George Willis and Raymond Stevenson, guards.

Fortenberry, Browning and Wallenstrom were selected on the all-America last year.

"Chipper Charley" Hyatt, one of the scoring leaders in the Missouri Valley this season, missed making the All-America last year for the first time since 1931. Pickell made it in 1932 and 1934.

OILERS OPEN AT SEGUIN

SEGUIN, March 8. (AP)—The Tulsa Oilers of the Texas League had their first workout of the spring training season today in the new ball park at the Seguin fair grounds.

Art Griggs, president, and Bruce Connatser, new manager, were on hand to watch the players go through a two-hour workout, which included limbering up track work and batting practice.

The Oilers will play their first exhibition game here March 18 with the Minneapolis Millers, who are training at New Braunfels.

MONTE PEARSON HURT

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 8. (AP)—Monte Pearson became the first important casualty of the New York Yankees' training season today when he injured his right ankle by stepping on a rolling ball. Trainer Earl Painter estimated the pitcher would be out of action four or five days.

Marker Plans Are Advanced

Preliminary Work Is Nearing Completion For Installation Of Street Markers In Residence Areas

Plans and preliminary work for construction and location of street markers for the City of Lubbock rapidly are nearing completion, according to information from the office of the city engineer late yesterday.

According to present arrangements four markers are to be placed at each intersection, two naming the street and two naming the intersecting avenue.

Enamel plates 4 by 20 inches with a blue background and white letters 2 1-2 inches high will be placed on concrete bases 16 inches high 5 inches thick and 23 inches long.

Just Behind Curb

They are to be placed in the residential section just behind the curb on paved streets. On unpaved streets they will be placed nearer the property line. They will be buried 10 to 12 inches deep. On paved streets they will rest against the curb.

Markers for the business section have not been planned.

Labor for construction of the projects is furnished by the Works Progress administration and will be under supervision of V. L. Wampler, who was in charge of the water supply project in Yellowhouse canyon northwest of Lubbock.

City of Lubbock is sponsoring the project.

The project is one that will continue in all kinds of weather, pointed out WPA District Supervisor of Division of Operation W. E. Burke.

Construction of the markers is to begin this week, those in charge indicated.

Mother Of W. H. Meador Is Dead

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Meador and daughter, Miss Mary Meador, of 1631 Main street, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Schmidt, of Slaton, will leave this morning for Newlin, Hall county, Texas, where they will attend funeral ceremonies for Mr. Meador's mother, Mrs. Ann Rushing, planned for this afternoon.

Mrs. Schmidt is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Meador.

Mrs. Rushing, age 95, died Monday after a siege of pneumonia and will be buried at Newlin. Death came on her 95th birthday.

Born in Kentucky, Mrs. Rushing came to Texas in 1852, settling in Collin county. Later she moved to Hall county, where she has resided since the Civil war.

She is survived by three sons, Mr. Meador, of Lubbock, B. E. Rushing, of Childress, and Lee Rushing, of Memphis; and three daughters, Mrs. Minnie K. Dunn, of Childress; Mrs. T. R. Garrott, of Memphis; and Mrs. John Rowell, of Newlin. Five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren also survive.

The funeral will be held at 3 p. m. today.

Wheat Section North And West Of Plainview Gets Good Rain

Castro county and the wheat section north and west of Plainview, along the Fort Worth and Denver's Dimmitt branch, received about three-fourts of an inch of rain last week, E. C. Kuykendall, general agent of the railroad, said he was advised Monday.

"The manager of the Castro County Grain company at Dimmitt wrote me that the rainfall was at least three quarters of an inch," he said. "They are very optimistic over the outlook. From all reports I have received, the moisture was general, and satisfactory for the present."

In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1935, the internal revenue tax on playing cards in the United States yielded $4,351,299.40.

Tax Problems Occupy Solons

Perennial Bugaboo Of Nation's Lawmakers In Center Of U. S. Legislative Activities As New Revenue Is Sought

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 8.—The myriad problems of taxation, perennial bugaboo for lawmakers, occupied the attention of many state legislatures today.

Some states made efforts to scale down certain taxes but most were engaged in increasing tax rates or tapping new sources of revenue, a survey showed. Arkansas, Iowa and Georgia were among states which pushed bills for reduction of homestead and general property taxes.

Income Taxes Issue

Income taxes were the issue in Minnesota and North Dakota. The Minnesota house passed and sent to the senate a bill fixing higher tax schedules, particularly in the upper brackets. The North Dakota house was deadlocked on whether a new 3 to 7 1-2 per cent corporation income tax law should become effective July 1 or at once.

The Washington senate approved submission of a referendum on a proposal for a graduated income tax.

Kansas Senate Favors Racing

The Kansas senate, foreseeing $750,000 in increased annual revenue, voted to legalize pari-mutuel betting on horse racing. Arkansas legislators approved and sent to the governor's office bill sanctioning pari-mutuel wagering on races at country fairs.

But in Texas, the senate prepared to vote on a bill outlawing betting after the spring race meets. A similar bill previously passed the house.

In Oklahoma, legislators struck their calendar a bill to hike the gross production tax on oil its biggest source of revenue.

Tech Dean Talks At Grange Meet

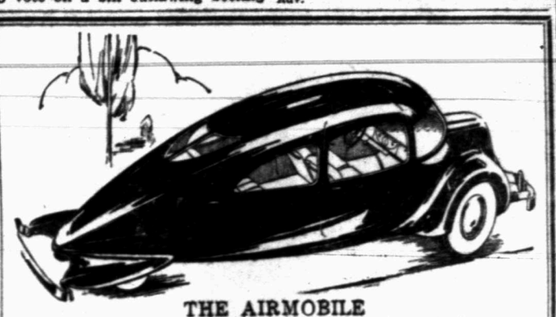

"History and Trends of Agricultural Education" was the topic discussed by Dean A. H. Leidigh of the Texas Technological college agriculture division at a meeting of the Lubbock county Pomona grange in Junior high school auditorium last night. Officers of the grange conferred the degree of Pomona upon 70 members.

Dean Leidigh traced developments in agricultural colleges and influence of the grange upon farming education. He discussed progress of American agricultural colleges as contrasted with European institutions, discussing problems and effects of his division at Tech.

Next meeting of the county grange will be at Shallowater High school April 5. Ralph W. Moore, state master of the grange and chairman of the Texas Rural Electrification administration, will confer with officers and workers of this area at 2 p. m. Wednesday in Hotel Lubbock, said H. W. Gauirapp.

Loxit

FOR STUDY RIMLESS EYEWEAR!

People who take pride in their appearance have preferred rimless eyewear for years. The only drawback to the old style rimless mounting was its fragility. And now Loxit, the modern rimless mounting, has eliminated that. Instead of a screw, Loxit uses a formed metal plug. In assembly this plug is melted and forced into the mounting.

Consult your oculist for a thorough examination and advice in regard to your eyes. If glasses are prescribed then let us show you how graceful and attractive the rugged rimless eyewear can be.

The 'Business Cycle' Again

THAT there are as many theories about the business cycle as there were before the last depression serves to remind us that this periodic destroyer is still a real and earnest fact.

One reason for the lack of agreement possibly is that most of the theories are more or less true. The unconquerable urge to reduce things to a few simple rules authoritatively stated, thus make for confusion on the cause of economic collapse as well as on a great many other human problems.

One of the ever-simplifiers is able Mr. John T. Flynn, who has, from time to time, written authoritative articles on economics for The Morning Avalanche. Writing in a national business periodical, Mr. Flynn informs us that a new depression is on the way because prices are being forced up. Prices have always gone up in periods of recovery, but that does not bother Mr. Flynn, who insists that the price rise at this time surely will dry up purchasing power and halt recovery in mid-course.

What is chiefly interesting about this statement is that its author is disloyal in it to the very theory of the business cycle, to which he himself subscribes. Mr. Flynn belongs to the school of thought which blames the cycle on artificial prices and profits and the consequent failure to distribute enough of the fruits of industry in the form of purchasing power. This maldistribution results in over-saving, which results in a pressure of capital vainly seeking useful investment, which results in reckless financial practices, which bring on the crisis and the collapse of the boom.

However, the collapse, even under this theory, does not last forever. In the ensuing depression much of the surplus capital vanishes in liquidation. Over saving begins again almost at once, but also opportunities for useful investment now commence to open up. In the depression capital goods have worn out and need replacing. Invention has been busy and demand arises for new kinds of goods. Industry expands, and in so doing creates new purchasing power, which, for the time being, overcomes the tendency to oversave.

Apparently Mr. Flynn has overlooked this second half of his chosen theory. Merely because the late collapse and depression were unusually severe is no reason for suspending the theory's operation. Indeed an unusually prolonged depression should argue, under this theory, for an unusually prolonged prosperity to follow.

PAY-AS-YOU-GO COUNTY

Talladega county, Alabama, has got along for 100 years without running into debt—at least without running into a debt necessitating a bond issue. Occasionally the county has had to resort to a deferred payment plan over a short period. An example is its $50,000 jail on which $30,000 remains to be paid in three annual installments without bonds. Talladega has a fully paid-for courthouse and two annexes and 800 miles of all-weather roads free of debt—this, it must be remembered, in Alabama where counties must finance their own road building.

Talladega county had a population of 31,188 in the 1930 census and its largest incorporated community, Talladega City, had only 7,596 inhabitants. Rural Alabama is not among the nation's more prosperous sections; but Talladega's pay-as-you-go system seems to be equal to supporting all the essential services for which some of its neighbor counties run into debt. Talladega, indeed, has embarked on a social welfare experiment which most counties of modest financial resources might regard as risky. The county is building a home for aged persons of small incomes—not to be confused with the county almshouse or poor farm. There Talladega will seek to give the aged of limited means more comfortable surroundings than they could afford individually.

In an age of centralized government wherein smaller units of government constantly are looking to the larger ones for financial aid, it is interesting and encouraging to find a county which has gone through a century—with some years of that century included in the South's Civil war and reconstruction period—on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The older a little girl gets the more her candy costs.

WILLIE 5/8 SMITH - of HOMERVILLE, Ga., HAS A FRACTION FOR A MIDDLE NAME

MRS. MINNIE TUCKER of RICHMOND, Va. WAS BORN IN A CEMETERY AND HAS LIVED IN ONE ALL OF HER LIFE.

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

LIFE IN A CEMETERY

Mrs. Minnie D. Tucker, the present sexton or "sextoness" of the Oakwood Cemetery in Richmond, Virginia, has lived in a cemetery all her life. Oakwood Cemetery is actually the home of Mrs. Tucker and is the only home she has ever known. She was born there when her father was in charge, which job he held for 20 years. When she married, her husband immediately succeeded her father as sexton, which post he held for 16 years. When her husband died, Mrs. Tucker was appointed keeper and is doing her job well, not being a novice by any means. During the flu epidemic in 1918, she took over her father's duties when he was ill, and she sometimes supervised 18 to 20 burials a day.

WILLIE 5-8 SMITH

Willie's father, Frank Smith has been annoyed all his life because of his name, which is particularly common around Clinch County, Georgia. A quarter of a century ago there were four Frank Smiths in that vicinity, and each was getting the others mail every day and there was a general mixup all around. So when Willie was born, his father decided to spare his son the same annoyance and picked the fraction "5-8" for Willie's legal middle name.

HER NAME IN LIGHTS

by MARIE BLIZARD © 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DAPHNE BRETT, charming young New York advertising executive, rents her deceased father's Connecticut estate to LARRY SMITH, attractive bachelor architect, and immediately finds herself liking him tremendously. Daphne has one sister, JENNIFER, six years younger and just out of college.

Jennifer is a vivacious, somewhat selfish sister who resents Daphne's guidance and her first night in New York she dates TUCKER AINSLEY, Daphne's old beau. Then Daphne sees in Jennifer a challenge to herself—a challenge to get a bit more from her own life than a career.

Daphne believes Larry is married until Jennifer announces one night that Larry had called and is NOT married. She says she's going to set her cap for him.

The next Sunday Tuck and Jennifer and Daphne visit Brett Hall and Larry. Larry asks if he may see Daphne again. Back in New York Jennifer tells her sister, "So you've fallen in love." Daphne denies this but a silent struggle between the girls for the same man becomes a fact.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX

Anne Cockerell shook herself and bent her head forward. Water ran in rivulets down the brim of her hat and fell on the carpet as she bent to remove her overshoes.

"Get your lazy bones out of that chair, Jennifer Brett, and give me a hand with these packages," she said.

"Sorry, darling, I didn't know you needed help." Jennifer took Anne's umbrella and coat. "Come over by the fire. I'll bring you some dry slippers. How about a cup of hot tea?"

Anne sighed and then smiled. "Jennifer, when I get ready to scold you, you go and get sweet on me."

"So that's why you came early? Can't you wait until Daph gets here and you can both give me a good combined lecture?" Jennifer tweaked a curl at the back of Anne's head.

"No, that isn't why I came early. I wanted to see Daphne and we had planned to have dinner together tonight but I've got to work so I dropped by on my way home. And I'm a girl who believes in seizing opportunities. Like this one. I just thought maybe we could have a good oldfashioned talk."

"About what, Anne, men or money?" Jennifer was pleasantly impudent.

"Money." Anne was curiously embarrassed. "I mean about Daphne's money. I know you aren't going to like this, honey, but I think you ought to know about it. Daphne's sending you to a secretarial school means that . . ."

Jennifer sighed. "Oh Anne, help me! You're going to say that it costs a lot and you want me to make good. Well, I never will. I simply loathe secretarial school and I can't make those funny little lines bu Daph won't let me give it up. Anybody's think I hadn't tried to earn a living when I had my job in Wall Street. It wasn't my fault that I got fired."

"What do you want to do?"

Jennifer played with the tassel on her belt and sighed. "I don't know. That's the trouble. There are so few careers—"

Anne studied her for a few minutes and bit her tongue to keep back all she knew. She might have said: "The trouble is that you are having a lovely time playing house in Daphne's apartment. You don't want to do anything but stay in bed until noon and stay up all night. You don't want to help." She didn't say it.

She was saved from saying anything more. Daphne called from the other side of the door.

Jennifer jumped up and opened it. "Oh, Daphne, what on earth have you there?" She began relieving Daphne of the packages that weighed her down.

"Hello, Anne. I've been Christmas shopping. Not that I can afford it, but it's got to be done and Christmas is only two weeks away. And what a night to be shopping."

"Winter seems to have come with a vengeance," Anne said comfortably, stretching her toes out to the fire.

"Hasen't it though? It's a night out not fit for man nor beast. It feels like rain and if we have rain over these frozen ruts it will not be any fun getting around New York."

"Speaking of getting around" — Jennifer looked up from the tea she had poured for Daphne—"Tuck is taking me to a party in the Village tonight."

Daphne had not had her tea, her nerves were jumpy and she was tired. "You're not going," she said flatly.

"Come off it, Daphne. Anybody'd think I was an infant in swaddling clothes who couldn't keep her eyes open after 6 o'clock."

"That isn't the point," Daphne went on coldly. "The point is that you've got to get to school in the morning and I know that crowd in the Village. I don't happen to like them. For that matter I don't happen to like your going around with Tuck all the time. I told you that. His friends are entirely too sophisticated for you. You are not going out with Tuck tonight."

Anne watched Daphne blow up with some amusement but she didn't say anything until Jennifer had left the room, swinging out airily and with a disdainful glance at Daphne. The girls in the living room heard the shower running in a few minutes.

"Atty baby!"

"I didn't really mean it, Anne, but . . . oh, I give up! I'm really annoyed at Tuck. He knows she's only 18 and he has deliberately disregarded my wishes. I don't want her running with that Village crowd. She's too pretty, too eager, too prone to fall for that line of living-our-own-lives. She goes out with him and stays late and I worry about her. I wish to goodness she'd fall in love with some nice boy and get married."

"I thought she was going to marry a millionaire?"

Daphne looked up and pursed her lips. "Any minute now," she said laconically.

"Oh, since we're in the romance department, any word from Smith?"

"No word from Smith." Daphne said shortly.

"No harm meant. I just thought that speaking of 'the right man' . . ."

"Anne Cockrell! Will you please tell me why two girls can't get together for more than 10 minutes without talking about men? If we were a couple of men you'd be telling me about what Joe Dokus said in this morning's paper about the hockey game and I would be spouting my trouble over the Georgian Creme account. I've got a problem there that would make your hair stand on end but do we talk about it? No. And why not?"

Anne thumbed the pages of a fashion magazine. "I think Joe Dokus writes drivel and I've business problems of my own. Also, I think women have too much sense to waste their time on such triva. Now this Larry Smith matter is important. He affects your state of mind. You were all blown up with anticipation because he was going to call you. Then he didn't and you began to get that itch to be near the telephone. You didn't know what I was talking about half the time. Then, when you've decided he isn't going to call you, you develop a grouch that affects all your friends. So isn't that and important matter?"

Daphne leaned back in her chair and looked at the ceiling. She sighed. "You women!" she said.

The telephone rang in the bedroom. "I'll get it," Jennifer called back.

"It's for you, Daph. It's Smith."

Daphne bounced out of her chair.

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

POLITICAL economists welcome the 1937 wave of wage boosts, but wiser insiders are watching for an economic undertow in the form of acute price inflation. Fairly immediate result might be to scare buyers at the very moment when their dollars are vitally needed in the latest recovery push.

Higher wages in heavy industries—steel, coal, automobile—will automatically bring a general life in the price level. The increase, as always, will gradually outstrip the extra pay, and production will again exceed consumption. Folks who have been stocking up on a rising market will economize. The tendency has already shown itself in the consumers goods, which have enjoyed a marked spurt on the impetus of government spending.

National planners are sitting up nights to devise checks and balances, but they haven't found the answer yet. Raising the price level from the 1933 low was a comparatively simple matter. Another undiscussed reason is that more thought was given to that problem than to stopping runaway markets. It's the same two-edged weapon that killed the Blue Eagle.

RESCUE: Secretary Ickes recently returned to Washington from a speech-making tour just in time to save his pet P. W. A. from a $10,000,000 funeral with a couple of his own subordinates as pall-bearers. There may still be a funeral, but P. W. A. won't be the corpse.

Mr. Ickes went away with the understanding that the Public Works administration would operate for two more years on its $300,000,000 revolving fund. He had wangled that promise from the president, and he felt rather proud of his salesmanship. But during the absence his aides—Messrs. Burlew and Hackett—assured budget bureau and house appropriations experts that P. W. A. was to be "liquidated promptly," and that the insignificant sum of $10,000,000 was sufficient to wind up its affairs.

Mr. Ickes discovered the scheme only by accident. Death of Appropriations Chairman Buchanan upset committee routine, and supposedly confidential "green sheets" of fund allocations for P. W. A. fell into reporters' hands. They checked with the secretary, and he swung into action. He's talking softly to congressmen for restoration of the original plan, but his remarks within his own official family can be heard for blocks.

BERTH: Alaska has lost a potential governor who might have placed it on the New Deal map in a large way—an achievement F. D. R. hasn't accomplished yet. He is Emil Hurja, former aide to Chairman Farley and the Democrats' mathematical wizard.

Mr. Hurja quit the political payroll soon after election. For a while he toyed with the idea of seeking the Alaskan post. He lived there for many years, knows the country and people, and his wife is the daughter of a famous prospector. Several high officials favored him in the belief that his imagination and publicity instincts might attract colonizers, develop agriculture fishing, mining. But in addition to other obstacles, it was decided to retain Governor John Troy temporarily, despite his ill health.

Mr. Hurja will mine for gold elsewhere. He will quit Washington soon to sign up as vice-president of a New York insurance company at a reputed salary of $40,000 annually. These New Dealers seem to land on both feet when they leap back to private life.

LEADER: Labor politicians forecast that Jhon L. Lewis' recent successes will result in a break-up or reorganization of the historic American Federation of Labor. Another development looked for by insiders is the gradual retirement of A. F. of L. President William Green into obscurity.

Mr. Green does not possess leadership in his own right, and has sat in an uncomfortable spot since Mr. Lewis organized the C. I. O. The A. F. of L.-er endorsed the "one big union" idea some years ago, and is supposed to sympathize with the scheme secretly. But he owes his presidency to the dominant Old Guard which envisaged the Lewis move as a threat to their supremacy—Messrs. Woll, Frey, Tobin, Hutcheson, Rickett. He spoke for them rather than for himself in his duel with the United Mine leader.

Anti-Lewis laborites minimize his achievements, insisting that labor's gains were a natural, necessary by-product of industrial recovery. But the rank-and-file has been crying for a more dynamic, aggressive leadership, and he may be their man-on-horseback. You may look for many unions to desert the Green for the Lewis outfit within the next few months.

TARGET: White House sharpshooters fired from the hip when they pilloried the American Bar association as antagonistic to F. D. R.'s Supreme court enlargement program.

High officials have rushed into the opposition trenches, but the Association has inaugurated a poll of its 30,000 membership on F. D. R.'s plan and the Sumners-voluntary retirement law. Contrary to reports, the lawyers approved the Sumners bill when it was before congress two years ago, though in their official report they declared it "would not be likely to increase the likelihood of voluntary retirement."

New Dealers will be disappointed if the poll doesn't line the lawyers up against the president. Undercover strategy is to substitute the American Bar Association for the American Liberty League in this controversy—to put the barristers in the national hoosegow along with bankers, public utilitarians and "economic royalists."

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

THE private attitude of the department of labor was an important but unmentioned factor in the decision of U. S. Steel and other companies to shorten hours, raise wages and deal with the Steel Workers Organizing Committee.

New Yorkers in a position to know say that Secretary Frances Perkins gave firm assurance to steel leaders that they need not worry about the higher costs resulting from this program because the government would not object to an increase of steel prices large enough to take care of the difference. This virtual guarantee of federal cooperation in making the experiment painless—and perhaps even profitable—went far to overcome whatever doubts and scruples remained among steel big timers.

STABILIZE: Limited recognition of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee by Carnegie-Illinois and other companies confirms our recent prediction exactly. There were a number of cogent reasons for this sudden reversal of a traditional policy that left Wall Street gasping for breath.

1. It puts the steel concerns that have settled with the union on the same footing as General Motors in labor relations without going through the agony of a strike.

2. It does not surrender or compromise the open shop principle.

3. Steel is distinctly in a "sellers' market". This happy phase of prosperity can now be cultivated without fear that labor disturbances might throw a wrench into the machinery.

4. It stabilizes the labor outlook for at least a year to come.

BUILD: On the union side, the settlements are satisfactory in the light of Lewis' change of policy since the General Motors strike.

The keynote of this new policy is that those who deal voluntarily with C. I. O. unions are not troubled by strikes. Lewis and his lieutenants have decided to be content with progress a step at a time. The closed shop in steel and motors can wait.

The next move will be to build up union membership in these industries gradually under stable and peaceful conditions. There will be no more premature showdowns if Lewis can help it. His General Motors experience impressed on him the unwisdom of making impossible demands.

UPHOLDS COURT CHANGE

Editor, The Avalanche: I have just finished reading Dr. Jackson's very well written and interesting article in your paper called "The Judiciary and Its Independence." While one of any balance of thought hesitates to dispute with one of Dr. Jackson's scholastic rank, yet there are many of equal rank who see the matter from an entirely different angle. So this is not a debate between "scholarship" and "ignorance"; it seems, rather to me, a difference between "theory" and "practicability."

Many of us who agree with the President that something must be done in a very short time to bring the practical operation of our form of government into more complete conformity with the present needs and will of our people, also once believed that this could be done if necessary by the amendment process, because we failed to foresee, as we feel the founders of the country failed to foresee, that there could arise in this country so basic and fudamental a difference of concept as to the purpose and proper function of government as now exists. And above all it seemed improbable that so basic a difference of thought could arise among the members of the court themselves.

What Dr. Jackson refers to as the wishes of the political administration in power, we refer to as the will of the American people. And while we recognize that there must be some means of thwarting radical violation of the spirit of the constitution and while we consider the judiciary as we have known it in the past, the best instrument to achieve this balance, we also believe that when a basic difference arises between the will of the people and the interpretation that has been placed upon the constitution, that some means must be found to save the court from the loss of prestige if not destruction that its own acts would precipitate.

The theorist will say that the courts rule acording to the law. But the practical man will say that they rule according to their understanding of the law as it can be made to affect the end that they, as men, judge to be a proper end of government.

If the point at variance at any given time, between the past interpretation of the constitution and the will of a vast majority of the people can be isolated, that, if it applies to a fact and not to a philosophy of government, I would say that amendment would be the solution. On the other hand if it is based on a completely different concept of what government should do then an adaptation of interpretation would seem the only adequate solution. And this is what has always been done. To say that the interpretation of the courts has always been a literal interpretation of the letter of the constitution is to attempt to mislead. Every informed person knows that interpretations have often been to fit the needs of the times regardless of the letter of the law. And that is all that is being asked now. That we save the court from its present members misconception of what government should do and not do.

The different views on this subject, as well as on any other so fundamental, are inevitably colored and modified by the approach that the past experience of the individual gives him to the subject. So every fellow is entitled to his own views, so you have yours and I'll have mine and we will all have a lot of fun.

With all best wishes to you personally and to your papers and their large family of readers I am,

Cordially,
Ira E. Woods,
Littlefield.

Stopped-Up Nostrils

Which is the more pleasant way to clear up the accumulated mucus in your nostrils? To keep on blowing into your handkerchief until your nose is sore? Or to insert a pleasant, soothing ointment that gently breaks up the obstructing mucus?

Surely you prefer the latter, and that is why you should use Mentholatum. It not only breaks up the mucus and enables you to breathe more freely, but also soothes the irritated membranes.

TARZAN AND THE MAYAN GODDESS, No. 44

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Tarzan gave no heed to Tohua's warning. Instead, he plunged his hand into the writhing leaves of the carnivorous plant. The strange foliage closed about his arm as if to clutch and devour it, while the Indians broke into a prayerful chant of terror-stricken awe.

Tarzan jerked his arm; the plant came up by its roots. The leaves fell away, and the imprisoned rodent scampered free. "The plant is called Napentches," Ula explained; "the smaller species catch insects and digest them by an acid secretion. These trap little animals."

Now Tohus ran to Ula and poured out a torrent of dialect. "He says there is a legend among his tribe that a similar plant can eat men," the girl translated; "and if a human interferes with the feast of any Napentches, he will be trapped by this Great Destroyer!"

"Evidently you made a fatal error," Ula laughed; "of course, science knows no such man-eating plant, but it's an interesting superstition." Tarzan, however, did not laugh. Many times in his life he had beheld strange things which were hidden from the eyes of science!

Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT
NEW YORK, March 8. (AP)—Fresh strikes in the automotive industry took some of the starch out of the stock market today, although mines, oils and utilities did more than their part to keep the list on the upgrade.

Industrial news, on the whole, still appeared to be of an encouraging nature.

Although steels and motors suffered an early relapse, their defection was not so noticeable in view of a substantial forward strike taken by the rails.

Trading activity was greatest in the first and last hours, with the ticker tape 6 minutes behind at one time. Transfers amounted to 3,3,175,170 shares compared with 2,831,140 last Friday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .4 of a point at 74.6.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT
NEW ORLEANS, La., March 8. (AP)—The inevitable technical reaction that always follows any sharp price advance appeared on the cotton market today and brought losses of 14 to 18 points for futures.

Final prices of the day were well above early lows, however. At the start of dealings a flood of selling orders that had accumulated over the week-end encountered a light demand, and the market broke as much as $1.50 a bale in the opening minutes.

Trade buying entered the picture at this point and stopped the decline and lifted prices back to within 50 cents a bale of Saturday's final prices.

But another selling movement late in the session cancelled part of this recovery and May finished 17 points lower at 13.36, Oct. lost 16 points to 12.82 while Dec. was off 16 points at 12.86. Spot cotton dipped with futures and the average price of middling at 10 southern markets was 13.75 cents a pound.

AVERAGE PRICE
NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 8. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 13.75 cents a pound; the past thirty days 13.17 cents a pound.

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, March 8. (AP)—The upward climb in cotton was abruptly halted today when early declines of $1.25 to $2.00 a bale were registered under heavy realizing.

May, which broke to 13.26, rallied to 13.55 on covering and closed at 13.45 with final prices 13 to 19 points net lower.

The market opened 25 to 36 points lower in response to easiness at Liverpool and under general foreign and domestic liquidation following last week's advance of about $5.000 a bale. An easier technical position and fears the advance had been too rapid brought in selling but a good trade demand and replacement buying soon caused prices to recover most of their losses.

Grains

CHICAGO REPORT
CHICAGO, March 8. (AP)—Wheat prices today scored general late gains, responsive increasingly to dust storm complaints for domestic crop territory southwest and west.

Adding impetus to the late upturn of value was a material shrinkage shown in the United States wheat visible supply total. Notice, too, was taken of assertions that a trade treaty signed by Italy and Argentina would result in Argentina's exportable surplus of wheat becoming exhausted much sooner than has heretofore been supposed.

At the close, wheat futures were hovering around the day's top, ⅜ to 1½ cents above Saturday's finish, May $1.35⅞@1.36, July $1.18⅛@1.18⅜, Sept. $1.15⅛@$1.15⅜, corn ¼@1⅛ advanced, May $1.09, July $1.04⅛, Sept. 97¾@97⅞, oats ⅛ off to ¼ up, May 46⅝@46⅞, and rye showing ⅞@1¼ cents bulge, May $1.06⅝.

Courts Proposals

talked to the farm group, N. W. Thatcher, their spokesman, said:

"Agriculture's greatest progress has been thwarted by the supreme court and we have found no effective substitute for that lost legislation (AAA). We believe in the president's ability and determination to precerve our democracy, and at the same time, improve the welfare of the masses. We reaffirm our faith in his leadership and will give him our full support."

Warned About Insurance

They came here primarily to endorse proposed crop insurance legislation before a senate committee. There they were warned by Senator McGill (D-Kas) and Pope (D-Ida) that the bill faced "grave" constitutional questions in view of the Supreme court decision which invalidated the AAA.

About 600 labor leaders from nearly every state meeting under the auspices of Labor's Nonpartisan league planned a campaign for the president's court program extending "into every congressional district." Then a group went to the White House, including John L. Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization, and George L. Berry, league president.

After the interview, they said "we have called upon the president to assure him that the working people of the country are with him to a man in his fight to reform the federal judiciary."

The league meeting heard Senator LaFollette (Prog-Wis) assert the Supreme court, not the constitution, needs amendment. He said "The strength of popular government in America once more is pitted against the organized forces of reaction."

Berry told them he doubted the nation could stand another depression and said the president's welfare legislation was essential to "Save America."

Fashion Review

nological college and Lubbock High school bands played.

One window showed "desert colors." Cacti and bright colored rocks were shown beside a bright dress, coat, purse and gloves in harmonizing colors.

No radical fashion changes were shown.

Skirts generally were shown moderately short. Some were slender and some full.

A few "hour glass" styles were shown. The sleeves and skirt were full and waistline small.

"Bust defined; waist confined; hip stream lined"—That may be applied to feminine spring apparel, a department store manager said.

Many dresses were "pretty". Fashion has ordained that "prettiness" shall no longer be sacrificed for smartness. Although mannish suits were shown, the effect was softened by bright, feminine hats and blouses.

Both felt and straw hats were shown. As one stylist has said: "Hats may come and hats may go, but felts go on forever.

Freighter Is Sunk

Vera Cruz, Mexico.

(Her cargo at that time was estimated to be worth $2,700,000. She picked up more munitions at Vera Cruz.)

It still was unknown whether any part of her cargo was unloaded for the Spanish leftist forces before her destruction.

Might Of U. S. Government Failed To Halt Shipment

NEW YORK, March 8. (AP)—The squat freighter Mar Cantabrico, reported bombarded and sunk today, sped from the New York harbor two months and two days ago with a war cargo that all the might of the American government had been unable to keep on this side of the water.

She sailed with a $2,700,000 consignment of airplanes and other war material in the face of the expressed displeasure of President Roosevelt and while congress was desperately trying to amend neutrality statutes in time to keep her from taking out her cargo.

Hardly an hour after she cleared Sandy Hook the house ratified senate embargo action—but it was too late to head off the Mar Cantabrico. The embargo action made neutrality laws applicable to civil war as well as war between nations.

Robert Cuse, a New Jersey arms broker, was the owner of her cargo, which was hurriedly loaded.

Cuse had been given reluctant permission by the state department to ship the stuff. The department explained it had no other alernative at that time.

The Mar Cantabrico's manifest indicated she was bound for Vera Cruz, Mexico, from which she was reported today to have sailed February 19, carrying war materials for the Spanish government.

must be permitted.

Great Britain, through Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, chief economic advisor to the British government, sought to demolish the German theory that possession of colonies solves the problem of raw materials.

In certain cases, he said, Britain has paid more for Colonial supplies than the price obtaining in the world market. He argued that food supplies were more vital to a nation than industrial resources, and announced Britain was ready to encourage production within its colonial dependencies of raw materials desired by consumers throughout the world.

Bidenkap Case

kap here two days before the robbery."

Churchill says he knows Bidenkap well, that he first knew him, "Blondy", at Orange three years ago. "He helped me move to Lubbock," said the crops commander, "and stayed around here quite a while afterward.

"It is impossible for 'Bernhoff Reginald Bidenkap,' the man taken from Lubbock to Galveston, to have pulled the Galveston job Feb. 12, although another person of the same name might have done it."

Aged Mountaineer

Brooks' son-in-law, wanted in Pineville on a fugitive warrant.

Sheriffs Giles and Ridings and Deputy Sheriff J. S. Helton, Pineville, left at 10 o'clock yesterday on the return trip. They were traveling in an automobile.

Sheriff Giles, who said six peace officers had been killed in his home county in the five years he has been in office, declared "it's harder on an officer who kills a man than on a man who kills an officer."

Sheriff Ridings, who has been active in trailing Brooks and who gave to Sheriff Tom Abel of Lubbock the tip which resulted in the arrest, said he feared reprisals if source of his information were learned.

"Two have been killed already, and there might be some more killings if they knew where I got my information," he said.

Has Many Relatives

Brooks, he said, has many relatives in Kentucky and Virginia.

A reward of $100 will be paid by Virginia for Brooks' arrest and conviction.

Hinting "there're many things to come out," Brooks declined to discuss the homicides.

He did say "about 15 minutes" separated the shootings, "and I was begging for peace."

"I'd love to tell you, but I can't; you're not the trying judge," said the 6-foot, 1-inch Brooks when pressed for details.

A news service had been informed Brooks, while a fugitive, had been preaching. He was asked if he were a preacher.

Denies Being Preacher

"You've gone crazy, ain't you?" he shot back. "A preacher! The Lord have mercy on me. Ain't you used to have men talk with sense without being a preacher?"

He has "always been pious and attended church and Sunday school regularly," but he is no preacher, he declared.

He has been a Tennessee justice of the peace—"criminal judge," Brooks termed his office—and a school teacher.

He explained to Sheriff Abel, who arrested him here, why he had been using the name "J. H. Jones."

His mother, he said, died when he was young. "I lived with a family named Jones awhile, and then a family named Brooks," he said.

Has Been Lecturing

Although not a minister, Brooks had been doing some "lecturing" in jail, he said. Sheriff Abel referred to a man in jail "whose fault is drinking."

"He's done had a lecture," Brooks said quickly. "He gave me his hand and he promised me he wouldn't drink any more and that he'd keep out of bad company."

Brooks said he had been thinking of "going back."

"If a baby had come here after me, I'd have gone back with him," he said.

His voice became husky and his eyes damp when he spoke of his three daughters, "as much like Shirley Temple as they can be."

Was Married Twice

Brooks has been married twice. His second wife is the mother of his three daughters.

The aged man was eating breakfast. When he had drunk his coffee, he picked up the dishes and started in the back of the cell. Although he had spoken freely under questioning, he indicated he had finished the interview.

Brooks praised the treatment he had received while in custody of Sheriff Abel and his deputies.

The suspect said he was 21 years old when he was elected "criminal judge." He said he served six years "and never had an appeal from my docket."

Would Return Here

He expressed a desire to return to Lubbock.

Sheriff Giles said Brooks had had no brushes with the law until after his second marriage, about 18 years ago.

The suspect spoke of his wife as a member of "a feudist family of the Kentucky mountains."

"I don't know when I'll see you again," he said when the sheriff and the reporter left.

A long-bladed knife Brooks was carrying was recognized by Sheriff Giles as one he had taken from Brooks when, early in 1935, Brooks had been arrested for possession of illegal whisky. Giles said the aged man received 90 days in jail and a $50 fine for that offense.

No Smoking Or Drinking

Brooks declared he neither smoked nor drank—"except to touch my tongue to the bottle when a friend passes it."

He said he came to Lubbock last November. Since that time he had been washing dishes, doing yardwork, and had painted one residence.

The day after his arrest, he had declared slaying of the two officers "is entirely out of my sight." He said he had never been in Virginia.

Sheriff Giles said Brooks lived within one and one-half miles of the Kentucky border and that immediately after the shooting he had escaped into Kentucky. Bloodhounds, Giles said, lost the trail in the mountains in the vicinity of the state lines of Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee.

Two Other Men Taken From Lubbock Sunday

Two other men, one wanted in Galveston and the other in McPherson, Kas., were taken from Lubbock Sunday.

Bernhoff Bidenkap, 43, ex-sailor and native of Norway, was taken in custody by Galveston officers who want him on a charge of robbery by assault with the use of firearms.

Jack Allen, 20, wanted at McPherson, Kas., as a jailbreaker, was removed by Sheriff Ralph McPhail. Sheriff Tom Abel arrested the youth here Friday. Allen, who signed extradition waiver, surrendered voluntarily.

Bidenkap was arrested Saturday by Don Reeder, identifications officer, and Chas. Chase, assistant police chief.

He is a suspect in the $500 armed robbery of the carpenters' union in Galveston Feb. 12. Bidenkap denied complicity in the holdup, declaring he had been in Lubbock since February 4 or 5.

Pattie's Juby Knows Those 'Birdy' Places

SHARLESTON, W. Va., March 8. — Veterans of the field trails get the jitters when they see that star team of Pattie and Juby on the hunt.

Pattie is 13-year-old Pattie Morford, daughter of West Virginia's chief game protector, E. H. Morford.

Juby is Tips, Jubilee, a winning pointer.

At 10, Pattie was a horsewoman but one day she attended a trial for bird dogs. Then she sold her ponies and bought Juby.

PATTIE AND JUBY

Now they boast a record of eight successes in 11 starts—five firsts, two seconds and a third.

A lot of the credit goes to vivacious Pattie. Her father handled Juby twice last year but the best he could show was one second place. He is just as enthusiastic about Daughter Pattie's success, however, as if he had won the awards.

Pattie has plenty of praise for Juby but is reticent about her own ability.

"He is intelligent, steady to shot and wing, speedy and does he know the "birdy" places!"

But others marvel at the ability of one of the nation's youngest handlers.

Virgil Hawse of Staunton, Va., himself classed as an outstanding handler in the East, lost a Virginia trial after Pattie brought Juby to a quick point in the last minute.

"She's one of the best," said Hawes as he walked from the field.

Now the team of Pattie and Juby is pointing for the national amateur championship trials at Petersburg, Va., March 8.

"We don't know but we're hopeful," said Pattie as she started out over a wintry hillside.

Tech Co-Eds Make Higher Grades Than Men; Grades Slightly Lower This Year

Women students consistently make higher grades than men at Texas Technological college, and women students entering into the greatest social activity make higher grades than their sister students.

Averages of various groups during the fall semester uphold those facts, which have been true in other years.

Men Socialites Lower

Men in social clubs made lower grades than men not in social clubs.

Students making high averages in high school continue their good work in college, the figures, compiled by the registrar, indicate. High school scholarship holders of last year now attending college ranked fourth in the list of campus groups.

Alphi Chi, Tech chapter of a national scholarship society, made the highest average of any campus group. Graduate students were second, the Forum, women's honorary society third, and the senior class fifth.

Women's social club members averaged 2.90 grade points, or almost a grade of 80. They ranked in the following order: Las Chaparritas, Las Vivarachas, D. F. D., Sans Souci, and Ko Shari.

Grades generally were slightly lower than last year, said President Bradford Knapp. The all college average was 2.31 grade points, as compared with 2.41 last year. The average of 2.31 is slightly more than "C".

According to the Tech grade point system, "A" equals 6 points; "B", 4; "C", 2; "D", none; and "F", minus 2.

Varsity football players made only slightly less than all men in the college, with an average of 1.99 grade points. Grades averaged cover the period which included football season.

Chain Letter Epidemic Hits Denver Again; Money Clicks And Postoffice Is Clogged

DENVER, March 8. (AP)—Chain letters again are forging links of dimes, quarters and dollars in Denver.

Two years ago the money-mailing craze, started on a send-a-dime basis, reached epidemic proportions.

Mail service was severely crippled under a flood of letters and before the fad died, nearly every family in the city was involved, despite warnings from federal officials the chains violated postal laws.

William E. Guthner, manager of safety, said today police have taken cognizance of the rebirth of the chain letter here within the past few days.

He called the scheme "a sucker's game that is as crooked as anything could be."

"We have learned four chains sprang up this week," Guthner said. "There will be 44 next week if something isn't done to stop them."

SUFFERS HAND INJURY

J. Luther Blagg, stereotyper for Avalanche Journal publications and who lives at 1314 Avenue F, early today was treated for cuts of the right hand, said West Texas hospital. Sixteen stitches were taken, said a surgeon.

Medical authorities estimate 40 per cent of people who suffer syphilis contract the disease innocently

P. Frey, vice president. Last week President Green rejected a similar invitation.

In the Washington conference, Green said his AFL organizers discussed the federation's work among wage earners in aluminum, gasoline filling stations, flour mills and cereal factories and cement and canneries.

It was understood the conferees also talked over plans to halt Lewis' CIO encroachments on AFL-claimed territory.

Discussions were resumed yesterday in the shutdown of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company plants at Akron, Ohio, affecting 10,000 employes.

Legion Lays Plans For Celebration

Plans for celebration of the 18th anniversary of Allen Bros. post of the American legion were made last night when members of the post and its auxiliary met in the Legion hall, 910 Texas avenue.

The post's safety committee will secure posters for highways and store windows and will show motion picture films in city and rural schools. J. A. Raley, jr., was appointed chairman of the junior baseball committee. The post was invited by Commander Jim Pruitt of the Levelland post to attend services in dedication of a memorial marker there March 12. Invitation also has been extended to local members to attend an anniversary celebration at Plainview March 15.

Approximately 50 persons attended last night's meeting. Bill Brady gave vocal and flute selections.

Earl Averill Still Absent But Named In Indian Lineup

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 8. (AP)—Manager Steve O'Neill picked what may be his regular 1937 batting order today as Cleveland Indian pitchers, catchers, infielders and outfielders went through their first collective practice session of the year.

O'Neill included Earl Averill, outfielder-holdout in his lineup despite the .378 hitter's absence from camp. The skipper placed his prospective regulars in this order; Lyn Lary, Roy Hughes, Averill, Hal Trosky, Julius Solters, Odell Hale, Roy Weatherly, Frankie Pytlak and the pitcher.

Variety Of Clues Pursued In Probe Of Attempt On Official

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 8. (AP)—Sheriff's deputies and investigators pursued a variety of clues today in their inquiry into the mysterious shooting of District Attorney Buron Fitts in his automobile near his Duarte home last night.

Directing the investigation, Fitts remained in a hospital with a flesh wound in his left forearm near the elbow.

Fitts said one of three or four men in a black sedan shot him from the right window of the sedan as it drew up alongside his car. Two shots were fired, he said, but he did not know which bullet struck him. There was a bullet hole in Fitts' windshield above his steering wheel, another in the top of his car on the right side.

General Fund Deficit Is Up $1,957,967; Warrants Called

AUSTIN, March 8. (AP)—The general fund deficit increased $1,957,967 since Feb. 20, the state treasurer has announced in calling for warrants up to and including Oct. 2, 1936.

The deficit stood at $12,091,816. The new call number was 16,243.

The treasurer announced also purchase of Confederate pension warrants through April, 1935. The pension fund deficit was $4,833,058.

Mother Is Held For Beating Her Two Daughters To Death

CLEERFIELD, Pa., March 8. (AP)—District Attorney Carl Belin today held the 41-year-old wife of a coal miner on a charge of beating her two daughters to death with a hammer Saturday.

Belin said Mrs. Jennie Galley killed her daughters, Virginia, 17, and Marie, 5, as they lay in bed.

The district attorney said he was convinced she was "a mental case."

PANTHERS ON SCENE

FORT WORTH, March 8. (AP)—Fort Worth Cats' baseball players began arriving today for spring training.

Only pitchers and catchers were ordered to report but a few infielders and outfielders were on hand.

Six hundred persons died in a fire and ensuing panic in a Tientsin, China, theater, May 20, 1872.

Mrs. Mullins Rites Monday

Resident Of Lubbock County For 21 Years Is Victim Of Illness Sunday; Two Other Deaths In City

Funeral services for Mrs. J. O. Mullins, 58, who died Sunday night after an illness of about 8 months, were conducted Monday afternoon at Calvary Baptist church, with Rev. C. J. McCarty, pastor, officiating.

Mrs. Mullins died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. J. T. Alley of 1811 Seventeenth street at 10 o'clock Sunday night.

Burial was in Memorial Park cemetery, under direction of Sanders Funeral home.

Mrs. Mullins had lived here 21 years. She was survived by two daughters, Mrs. Alley and Mrs. E. M. Elliott, Lubbock; two sons, George Mullins of Plainview, and J. O. Mullins of Lubbock. A brother, Lee Ponder of Alexander, survived.

Pallbearers were E. E. Rodgers, H. D. McMean, Lloyd Williams, A. J. Lee, L. M. Degarmo, and Lowell Witt.

Mrs. Frank Lation To Be Buried Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Frank Lattion, 36, will be conducted at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the Church of the Foursquare Gospel, with Rev. Lloyd Dawson officiating.

Mrs. Lattion, who lived at 1302 Broadway, died in a sanitarium here at 11:15 o'clock Sunday night after about four weeks'-illness.

Burial will be in Memorial Park cemetery, with Sanders Funeral home directing.

Survivors were her husband, manager of the Hotel Kelley at 1302 Broadway; a son, Jesse Austin of 1627 1-2 Seventh street; parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Morris of Lubbock; a sister, Miss Jewell Morris of Lubbock; and four brothers, Clyde Morris of Phoenix, Ariz., and Douglas, J. R., and Elvis, all of Lubbock.

Soil Program Checks Totaling $27,600 Arrive In Crosbyton

(Special To The Avalanche)

CROSBYTON, March 8. — One hundred and twelve checks for performance of soil conservation practices, by Crosby county farmers in 1936, were received here today, County Agent Ralph Howe announced. The checks amounted to $27,600.

"We have notified those who are to receive checks to come in and get them," Mr. Howe said. "Persons who do not receive a notice, should not call at the office, as only those who get checks have been notified. It will delay us in prompt handling the distribution, if we have to look up to see if those who do not get notices, have a check and then find out they did not get one."

Mr. Howe estimated the county will receive, as a whole, about $225,000 to $250,000 in payment for soil conservation practices last year. The checks received are the first to come here. Others are expected shortly.

"This office will promptly notify all those who get checks," he added.

Body Of Dr. Hubbard Taken To Duncan, Okla.

Body of Dr. Alma Hubbard, 61, of 1913 Avenue J, was sent to Duncan, Okla., Monday by Rix Funeral home for burial.

Dr. Hubbard died at 8 o'clock Sunday night in a sanitarium here. He had been admitted to the sanitarium Thursday of last week, having been seriously ill at that time.

He had lived here about 9 months, having moved here from Duncan.

Survivors are six sons, T. R., John, and Rubin Hubbard of Bula, E. L. Hubbard of Conroe, and Buster and Bob Hubbard of Lubbock; three daughters, Eula Mae, Bertha and Billie, all of Lubbock; and two grandchildren.

Crosby Man Is Mishap Victim

T. J. Alexander Struck Down By Car Near Cap Rock School Sunday Night; Death Comes In Lubbock Monday

Injuries suffered Sunday night by T. J. Alexander, 77, Crosby county resident for about 17 years, proved fatal in Lubbock Monday. Alexander was struck by an automobile abaut 200 yards from the Cap Rock school house 12 miles south of Ralls about 9 o'clock Sunday night.

After being taken to the office of Dr. W. C. Snow of Ralls by Mrs. Ralph Lewis of the Cap Rock community, he was rushed to a sanitarium in Lubbock for emergency treatment. After he was admitted about 10:15 o'clock last night, he died early Monday morning. He suffered head and chest injuries.

He had attended church services at the Cap Rock school house and had started to his farm home about two miles north. He was walking in the road when struck from behind by a light sedan occupied by Ed Lamb, about 20, "Red" McDuff, and a Miss Lewis, all of the Cap Rock community, it was reported. The accident, termed "unavoidable," probably was caused by decreased visibility due to a heavy dust storm, it was believed.

He was carried to Lubbock by an ambulance from Marr Funeral home of Ralls.

Funeral services for Alexander will be held today at Bellville, his former home and burial place of his wife who died about 40 years ago, said Rix Funeral home.

He was survived by two sons, A. A. of Enochs, and T. H. of Ralls; two daughters, Mrs. George Cline of Crockett, and Mrs. W. E. Hunt of Lavita.

Anne couldn't hear what she said but she could hear the purr in her voice.

She put on her overshoes and tucked her hair under her damp hat.

"I guess you won't mind if I run along tonight?"

Daphne, with a flush on her cheek, a broad smile, said, "Must you, Anne? He's coming right up. We're going to a German restaurant and to see that ridiculous melodrama, The Drunkard."

"I call that subtle!" Jennifer said. "The first time he calls up and asks for a date, she accepts. Keep 'em dangling. That's my method."

"Anne, shall I wear the black taffeta?"

"I think a little Tyrolean costume would be cute," Jennifer proffered.

"Oh, Jennifer, what will you do about dinner?" Daphne asked, suddenly contrite. "There isn't anything in the house but stuff for toast and eggs."

"Who me?" Jennifer asked brightly. "Why I think I'll have the cook fetch a bit of caviar and some pheasant and serve it in my room. Don't worry about me, darling. I'll just pursue my learning."

Then, when Daphne went to the door with Anne, Jennifer slipped into the bedroom, closed the door behind her, and took the telephone from its stand. She was going to pursue her learning her own way.

No sister was going to tell her what to do. Keeping her in like a school girl. She was a woman who had a right to do as she pleased!

She dialed her number and bit on her lower lip.

"Hello . . ." she said after a moment. "I can't talk now but . . . I'll meet you later . . . yes . . . I told you I would . . . I've been good too long."

She put the receiver back on the hook.

WHY HEADLINERS IN WINTER SPORTS MAKE IT CAMELS

FAMOUS SKI EXPERT. Sig Buchmayr says: "I smoke with my meals and afterwards, 'for digestion's sake.' And I'll pick Camels every time for flavor."

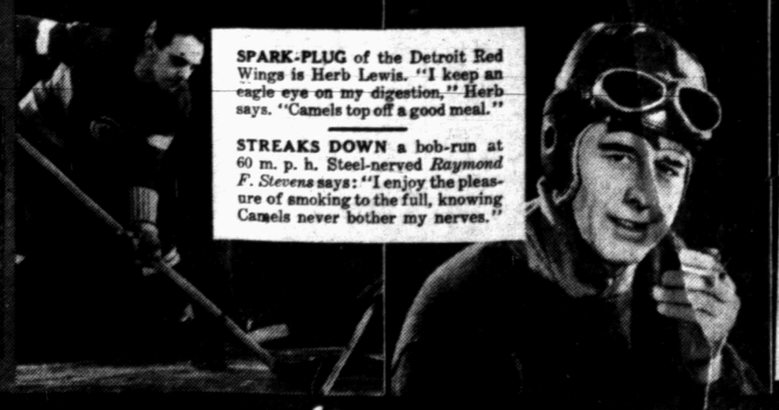

Modern life often pushes us to the limit. At such times especially, smoking Camels is an aid to digestion. Camels help to ease tension and speed up the flow of digestive fluids—alkaline digestive fluids—that play so vital a part in the way you enjoy food and in the way food agrees with you. Camels are milder—an important point with steady smokers. With their finer tobaccos, Camels are gentle to your throat.

COSTLIER TOBACCOS

A fact of interest to smokers: Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

SPARK-PLUG of the Detroit Red Wings is Herb Lewis. "I keep an eagle eye on my digestion," Herb says. "Camels top off a good meal."
