

Gaines Pay Opener Is Taking Potential

Shell Oil Company, Inc., No. 1 Hawkins, South-Central Gaines County discovery from the Ellenburger, had flowed 711 barrels of pipe line oil in the first 16 hours of a 24-hour official Railroad Commission potential test, and was to continue flowing for the full period, and then complete and put on production as the opener of a new deep field.

The flow was through a one-inch opening on tubing. Gas-oil ratio was approximately 250-1. Gravity of the oil was 40.8 degrees. There was no formation water with the oil.

Natural Production
The production is natural, and is coming from open hole between 12,174 feet, where a 1 1/2-inch casing is cemented, and the plugged back depth at 12,297 feet.

This new discovery is about 15 miles south and slightly west of Seminole, and 1,383 feet from north and 685 feet from east lines of section 8, block A-23, pal survey.

It has shown for heavy flowing production from the Devonian and from the Clear Fork of the Permian. Operator will complete from only the Ellenburger, and will not attempt to produce from either of the upper pays, at this time.

Magnolia Completes Discovery In Scurry

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 H. G. Moore, Central Scurry County discovery from the Canyon line of the Pennsylvanian, three miles southwest of Snyder, and 660 feet from south and west lines of section 207, block 97, H&TCo survey, has been officially completed as a new field opener, with a 24-hour flowing potential of 161 barrels of 41.2 gravity oil.

The oil was accompanied by 35 barrels of basic sediment and water. Gas-oil ratio was 733-1. The flow on the completion test was through a 5/32nd inch tubing choke.

The production is from perforated zone at 6,945-65 feet, which had been washed with 1,200 gallons of mud cake. Total depth is at 6,886 feet. The 7-inch casing is cemented on bottom.

Drilling Continues At Magnolia No. 1 Hicks

Magnolia No. 1 Hicks, Southeast Gaines County wildcat, 12,500 feet, northwest extension to the Tippett field in extreme Northwest Crockett County, and 671 feet from north and 649 feet from east line of section 39, block 31, H&TCo survey, had definitely proven for heavy flowing natural production.

Tippett Extension Proves Production

Gulf Oil Corporation and Byrd-Frost, Inc., No. 2-W, Mayberry northwest extension to the Tippett field in extreme Northwest Crockett County, and 671 feet from north and 649 feet from east line of section 39, block 31, H&TCo survey, had definitely proven for heavy flowing natural production.

It took a drillstem test in the lower Permian at 6,223-55 feet. Gas showed at the surface in three minutes. Oil started flowing out in six minutes. In the first 30 minutes 31 barrels of oil was produced. In the second 30 minutes the flow was 33 barrels of oil. The production was through a one-half inch tubing choke. No water developed. The oil was 35.5 gravity black petroleum. Gas-oil ratio was 1,052-1.

This venture had flowed 82.8 barrels of oil in two hours, on a drillstem test at 6,180-6,223 feet, through a 5/8th inch tubing choke.

Operators have run a Schlumberger survey, and will continue running casing to the top of the pay and complete the new producer.

Swastica Discovery Is Indicated In Fisher

Indications of a new discovery in Southeast Fisher County developed for Lion Oil Company and Exploration Drilling Company.

Those concerns drillstem tested at their No. 2 Hale, wildcat two and one-half miles southeast of the town of Royston, at 4,043-55 feet in Swastica sand.

The tool was open one hour and 10 minutes. Gas reached the surface in 12 minutes. Recovery was 830 feet of clean oil, 90 feet of oil and gas mud and 30 feet of slightly brackish oil and gas mud. There was no free water.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure was 260 pounds. After 20 minutes, shut-in bottom hole pressure was 1,415 pounds.

A Schlumberger survey shows the venture has cut only two feet of the sand making the oil. Preparations were being made to drill ahead.

This prospect, located 1,094 feet from north and 901 feet from east lines of subdivision 37, El Paso City School Land survey, is a one location outpost to the same concerns No. 1 Hale, Flippin lime discovery.

The No. 1 Hale encountered only water in the Flippin when drilled through.

Coffield, Guthrie To Drill Borden Wildcat

An Ellenburger wildcat is to be started soon in Northwest Borden County by Coffield and Guthrie of Big Spring as their No. 1 R. H. Can-

The drillsite is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 22, block 32, 7-2-N, TX survey. Elevation is 2,165 feet. The deep zone is expected to come (Continued on Page 5)

Truman Starts Four More Years

President Pledges Global Crusade For Peace And Freedom

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Truman Thursday pledged a global crusade for "peace, plenty and freedom" in a blistering inaugural speech denouncing the "false philosophy" of communism and war.

The Chief Executive keyed his address to the quickening struggle between the Democratic West and the Communist East.

While he cautioned that America's material resources are limited, Truman promised to draw deeply on the "inexhaustible" resources of this country's technical know-how to help free peoples everywhere.

Communism "holds that war is inevitable," Truman told massed thousands in the Capitol Plaza immediately after taking his oath of office for a four-year term. And even now, he said, it is endangering attempts to keep world peace.

But he declared that as a result of American efforts, "Hundreds of millions of people all over the world now agree with us that we need not have war."

These efforts must now be expanded, he said, to include a gigantic "bold new program" of foreign economic development, aimed at wiping out misery, hunger and despair in backward areas all over the world.

Four Major Courses
Truman listed that as one of "four major courses of action" to be stressed in coming years.

He also called for a security pact with Western Europe, which he hopes to send to the Senate "soon," and he promised to strengthen non-Communist countries cooperating with American security plans by providing "U. S. military advice and equipment."

His proposed new program for improving conditions in the areas which might offer a breeding place for communism amounted to a call for a new front in the cold war. In this endeavor the cooperation of allied nations would be "warmly welcomed," the President said.

"More than half the people of the world are living in conditions approaching misery," Truman declared. To combat those conditions he proposed enlisting American capital investments and industrial skills—plus any assistance which might come from other sources.

"Our aim," he said, "should be to help the free peoples of the world through their own efforts, to produce more food, more clothing, more materials for housing, and more mechanical power to lighten their burdens. We invite other countries to pool their technological resources in this undertaking."

The "Truman Plan" for world betterment constituted the only new point in the President's four main courses of foreign policy action. Under the other three this nation would:

1. Continue "unflinching support to the United Nations" and search for ways to strengthen it.

2. Continue programs for world economic recovery; first, through the European Recovery Program; (Continued on Page 5)

Inauguration Principals

Above, President Truman holds aloft the hand of Vice President Alben Barkley of Kentucky, who was sworn in a few moments ahead of the Chief Executive in Washington inaugural ceremonies at noon Thursday. Right, the President shows how he planned to rest his hand on two Bibles to take the oath of office from Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson. The large Bible is a replica of the Gutenberg Bible which was presented him Wednesday by the people of his home town, Independence, Mo.

HE CAUGHT THE CHECK— Truman Starts Big Day At Breakfast With Old Buddies

WASHINGTON—(P)—For President Truman, inaugural day had a sentimental start—breakfast with famous Battery D, the outfit he commanded in World War I. For that event at the Mayflower Hotel, "Captain Harry" sounded an early reveille. He also caught the check.

These old soldiers, sitting down together at the Mayflower Hotel, ate Missouri ham and hominy grits. And, as old soldiers will do, they got off some cracks about their changed physical condition since their fighting days.

Truman looked them over and opined that despite "the rubber tires around the middle" most of them would be able to walk the mile and one-quarter route of the inauguration parade—that is if they laid off the bottle.

He admonished his old comrades: "After one o'clock or 25 minutes thereafter, I don't give a damn what you do, but I want you to stay sober until then."

Arrangements were to be made for decorations, greeting and registering out-of-city guests, and ushering. Ticket sales also were to be discussed.

Jack Wicker is chairman of the group. Other members are Carl Wevat, Fred Fromhold, Ted Thompson, Jim Noel, R. J. (Doc) Graham, Roy McKee and Ray Lynch.

Tickets for the annual banquet went on sale this week.

A capacity crowd of more than 250 persons is expected to attend the event at which Oswald Ryan of Washington, D. C., vice chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, will be the principal speaker.

Full Recognition For Israel Likely Soon

WASHINGTON—(P)—Full American diplomatic recognition of Israel appears certain sometime next week as a follow-up to a $100,000,000 loan to the new Jewish nation.

The American government took a big step toward this objective Wednesday by granting the loan to the provisional Israeli government—$35,000,000 immediately and $65,000,000 more during the year.

The loan approval makes American money available to develop Israel's agriculture and industry. Also, coming six days before elections are held in the Jewish state, it reflects Israel's future.

"Government" officials told a reporter that, barring an election upset, the State Department will extend full diplomatic recognition to Israel shortly after the January 25 elections.

C. Of C. Nominating Committee To Meet

John F. Butler, chairman of the Nominating Committee of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, said Thursday a meeting of his group will be held at 4 p. m. Friday in the directors' room of the First National Bank.

A slate of directors for this year will be drafted. The committee's report will be submitted at the annual Chamber of Commerce membership meeting and banquet Tuesday night at Hotel Scharbauer.

Members of the committee are Butler, R. M. Reelink, Bill Collins, Barney Greenhouse, Robert L. Wood, A. A. Jones and Jack Wicker.

Women Voters Launch Poll Tax Campaign

In line with the county-wide "Pay Your Poll Tax" campaign, the Midland League of Women Voters this week is launching a building-to-building drive to stimulate interest citizens in poll tax payments.

Payments are lagging in Midland County and the league and the Junior Chamber of Commerce plan stepped-up drives to stimulate interest. Jaycees will contact downtown stores.

The city's office buildings have been assigned to members of the Voters League who will call on all occupants. Tax women will have tax forms which interested persons may sign to obtain poll taxes without going to the courthouse.

Chairmen assigned to the various office buildings are: Mrs. John Rawwe, Magnolia; Mrs. C. E. Bissell, Eastham; Mrs. George Putnam, Wilkinson; Superior and First National; Mrs. L. E. Patterson, Permian; Mrs. C. L. Davenport, Leggett; Mrs. Cecil Yaden, West Texas Gas; Mrs. Earl Johnson, Petroleum; Mrs. F. N. Shriver, McClintic; Mrs. Paul Anderson, Standard; Mrs. Joe Chastain, Honolulu; and Mrs. Coe Mills, The Tower.

New License Plates Arrive; Go On Sale First Of Next Month

Automobile license plates for 1949—about 5,500 of them—arrived at the Midland County Tax Collector's office Thursday morning. Tax Collector J. M. Speed said the plates can not be sold until February 1.

Speed said requests for special numbers will be handled, when possible, again this year as in the past. 1949 tags can be purchased, any time after February 1 and must be placed on vehicles by April 1.

Fullerton Fields Get More Shutdown Days

AUSTIN—(P)—Two additional January shutdown days were ordered Thursday for the Fullerton and other fields in Andrews County as a gas conservation measure.

This brought the total number of shutdown days to six. These fields were also affected: Fullerton 4,500, Fullerton North 2,000, Fullerton Ellenburger, Fullerton San Andres, Fullerton Wichita Albany, Fullerton Wolfcamp.

The directive was necessary to prevent the flaring of residue from the Fullerton gas processing plant pending completion of additional machinery for disposing of it, the Railroad Commission order said.

Inaugural Is Greatest In U. S. History

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON—(P)—Jaunty, confident Harry S. Truman became President of the United States at 12:29 p. m. (EST) Thursday for four more uncertain years.

And for his inauguration, America put together the greatest national pageant in all its history.

Hundreds of thousands of his countrymen, the big people and the little, were on hand to crowd the capital's gaily decked streets and give him a "Hi, Harry," pay him honor and wish him well.

Yet beneath all the gaiety and excitement, the most Washington has stirred up in many a year, there was an undertone of solemnity and dignity.

For at this supreme moment in the story-book career of the one-time Missouri farm boy there rested on him the eager expectations of millions of Americans for more bounteous blessings, and hopes of an uneasy world for peace in our time and peace for all time.

And peace was the theme of Truman's inaugural address.

"That—and a 'Fair Deal' at home—was what he hammered on hardest in a rousing campaign that produced one of the biggest upset victories in American politics."

He repeated it Wednesday night at a dinner given him by the electoral college—an ancient institution he says he wants to preserve unchanged.

Attends Church Service
From all over America, Truman's backers and well-wishers came to share the excitement and glory of inauguration day.

They packed along the national capital's hunting-draped broad avenues to cheer every glimpse of the President.

An air of carnival reigned. For a few moments, Truman turned his back on it all. Two hours before the oath-taking ceremony, he went with Mrs. Truman and their daughter, Margaret, to St. John's Episcopal Church across Lafayette Park from the White House.

There he bowed his head and heard the Rev. C. Leslie Cline pray for him, for the Congress, for social justice, for the family of nations and for "those we love."

A white frame platform with towering columns, built across the front steps of the Capitol Building, was the setting for the inaugural ceremony at noon. Out front there were seats for 17,500 and standing room for another 100,000.

First there was the vice presidential oath for Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky. Then came Truman's turn to hold aloft his hand and repeat after Chief Justice Vinson of the Supreme Court:

"I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States and will, to the best of my ability, protect and defend the constitution . . . so help me God."

The words were carried to all corners of the nation by every major radio network. And for the first time in history spectators at television screens miles away could see the ceremony.

Then, time out for the Chief Executive to snatch a fast snack. After that, the inaugural parade—two and a half hours of it with Truman himself leading the procession triumphantly toward the White House.

Ball Thursday Night
Seven miles of costly, glittering floats, dozens of bands and bugle corps, plenty of famous people, Missouri mules, beautiful girls, a steam calliope.

And by way of showing off America's might in these troubled times: legions of military men, precise West Point cadets, navy Naval Academy midshipmen, tanks, guns, 700 fighting ships, 100,000 troops, 100,000 fighting ships, 100,000 troops, 100,000 fighting ships, 100,000 troops.

Steel cables stretched all the way along renowned Pennsylvania Avenue to hold back perhaps half a million visitors and as many more grand jury.

The fire started on the south side of the Independence square. The Kansas City fire and Police Departments sent equipment to aid the Independence firemen.

President Truman's home was not in the vicinity of the fire.

Truman Deal

It might seem that after winning the election. President Truman is capable of almost any feat—even getting his whole domestic program enacted by Congress. But the program is almost certain to be in for a hard fight. And its supporters in Congress have some hard work in store if they are to get the President substantially what he wants.

One problem for Truman and his Capitol lieutenants is to determine what and how much of those State of the Union requests can be tackled in one session. It will take a long time to consider the presidential want list and get some of the items which Congress may approve into operation.

It will also take money for the projected universal military training, St. Lawrence Seaway development, federal housing and education projects, many parts of the farm program, sundry studies, and so on. Truman has asked $4,000,000,000 increased revenue in new taxes. But that wouldn't pay for all the things he has in mind. So priority will be important.

Many things on the want list have been asked for before. These include a higher minimum wage, standby price and wage controls, the Truman civil rights program, UMT, medical insurance, the St. Lawrence project, housing and education subsidies and extension of the original reciprocal trade law. It remains to see how much better this Congress likes them than its predecessor did.

The Republican-Southern Democrat coalition will probably continue to function. It may well cause Truman continued trouble. The civil rights program is sure to be fought tooth, nail and filibuster—if the filibuster is still in existence.

The so-called "socialized medicine" plan is also due for some strong opposition. If uncontrolled prices continue their decline, the Democratic leadership may find it hard to sell the need for price controls, even to a Democratic Congress.

Of the new proposals, one will cause plenty of fireworks. That is the request to authorize government construction of steel mills if private industry does not expand as much as the government thinks necessary. Aside from the socialistic aspect of the request, which may even cause some of the President's adherents to hesitate, opponents will point out that steel capacity is already high and going higher.

The present capacity, 96,000,000 tons a year, is the highest in our history—including the war years. And production schedules call for a 98,000,000-ton capacity by the end of 1950. That is getting pretty close to the 100,000,000-ton goal that CIO President Philip Murray has mentioned.

Further, it takes steel to build mills to provide more steel. With steel already earmarked by private companies for construction purposes, the Administration could run into difficulties persuading some congressmen that the government should get that steel instead.

Naturally, Truman will find it infinitely easier and pleasanter to work with the 81st instead of the 80th Congress on domestic matters. And a number of his wishes will doubtless be granted without undue trouble. But he may have reason to reflect, from time to time, that in spite of his smashing victory he received fewer votes than the Dewey-Wallace-Thurmond opposition. He may also find that the notion of a "people's mandate" will produce some stormy contradiction on Capitol Hill.

Three speeders went into the same ditch on a Michigan highway. And the chances are some pedestrians were lucky.

The easiest thing to get and the hardest thing to get rid of is a bad reputation.

'Good Luck On Your Four-Year Tour, Harry!'

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1949, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Washington high society sore about inaugural; Harry Truman's greatest strength is that he is one of the people; Truman's obligation to the people is a revitalized cabinet.

WASHINGTON—A lot of Washington high society is pretty sore about this inaugural. They're not being invited to the big parties. This includes quite a few prominent senators, congressmen and lobbyists who take pride in being seen at all the right social functions. This time they have been left out in the cold.

This omission wasn't because they were Republicans—a lot of Democrats were left out, too. It was because Mr. Truman wanted most of the invitations reserved for the folks back home—the little people who came a long way to see the inaugural.

That's why the rental clothes in Washington are swamped right now. You can't rent a dress suit for love or money. All the folks from out of town are in town renting tuxedos and tails to see the man they voted for made President of the United States.

It doesn't make any difference that Washington socialites make snide remarks about the "unwashed" Trumanites. Harry Truman is standing pat and having the folks back home to see him sworn in. Herein lies Harry Truman's greatest strength. A very large segment of the American people love Truman because they consider him one of their own. They admired and loved Franklin Roosevelt because he was their champion. But they did not consider him one of their own. Truman, however, is different. His presence in the White House is a symbol of the fact that a hard-headed farmer or county politician can sit in the White House—in fact, is already there.

That is Harry Truman's greatest strength, and also his greatest obligation. For he cannot let these people down.

Truman's Two Assets—As Harry Truman takes the oath of office today, he has two new big assets which will help him mightily in carrying out his obligation to the people who elected him:

1. He has a new Congress which is vigorously on the whole enthusiastically with him.

2. He has a new confidence in himself.

No longer is he a political accident. No longer does he owe his place to a President who smiles upon him. He has been elected on his own and he intends to operate on his own.

These two assets are important. Also important is a third fact, which is not an asset, but a liability—namely, the general level of mediocrity among the men around Truman.

Actually Truman's program is not new. The state of the union message he sent to Congress was a good message, but it repeated in different words the same important proposals which Truman had sent to the 80th Congress.

The new 81st Congress probably will pass the bulk of this program. But after it is passed will come the difficult, vital task of carrying it out. And getting good men to run the government, in any administration, is a lot harder than it sounds.

Mediocre Men—One reason you can't get them is lack of inspiration. Good men don't work necessarily for money, but because they love their work, because they are achieving goals they believe in. They don't like to work under mediocre men; and some of the Cabinet members in the Truman official family, plus some of the advisers around him just do not inspire enthusiasm.

There is no use mentioning names at this time. If I did, Mr. Truman probably would hit the ceiling and become more determined than ever to keep them on. For he simply hates to have anyone tell him who should or should not be in his Cabinet. Sometimes Truman himself has

Our escape from a general recession in the Spring of 1946 does not mean that no further danger will appear. We have been granted a breathing spell, but we have not been granted lasting prosperity without further effort and vigilance.

McKenney on Bridge

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand from Columbus, Ohio, was played by John Potts, one of the top salesmen for Swift and Company. He has done a great deal for bridge in Columbus. As a hobby, he started the Clintonville Bridge Club about nine years ago. Today it has its own club rooms.

On Wednesday afternoons the ladies hold a special game there, and on Friday nights the club runs a duplicate in which there are twenty or more tables in play.

Mr. Potts does not claim to be an expert player. He just loves to see people enjoy bridge. However, in today's lesson hand, which he defended, he made a play which, although not difficult, is often missed by good players.

The opponents, of course, got into the wrong contract. The correct spot was four spades. When North bid two spades, South was entirely wrong in going to two no trump. He could have bid four spades but certainly should have bid three, and North would have taken him to four. But this is a lesson in defense at no trump.

West opened the ten of clubs. Many East players would have made the mistake of winning this trick with the king, but not Mr. Potts. He played the nine of clubs, letting the declarer win the trick with the king, South made a brave effort. He led the jack of hearts, but West covered with the king, and the trick was won in dummy with the ace.

The queen of spades was led. East covered and South won with the ace. After cashing the four spade tricks, declarer entered dummy with a heart, and led the jack of diamonds. East played low, and South's only chance to make his contract was to take the finesse. However, it lost to the king, and West had a club to return. Mr. Potts cashed the balance of the tricks, defeating the contract two tricks.

Declarer could have saved himself one trick by refusing the diamond finesse and going right up with the ace.

ever, in today's lesson hand, which he defended, he made a play which, although not difficult, is often missed by good players.

The opponents, of course, got into the wrong contract. The correct spot was four spades. When North bid two spades, South was entirely wrong in going to two no trump. He could have bid four spades but certainly should have bid three, and North would have taken him to four. But this is a lesson in defense at no trump.

West opened the ten of clubs. Many East players would have made the mistake of winning this trick with the king, but not Mr. Potts. He played the nine of clubs, letting the declarer win the trick with the king, South made a brave effort. He led the jack of hearts, but West covered with the king, and the trick was won in dummy with the ace.

WASHINGTON COLUMN Steel Industry Prospered In Wartime Boost By Government

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—There may be considerable wasted breath in all the present hullabaloo over President Truman's alleged proposal to nationalize or socialize the steel industry.

Anyone who will go back to the record of the war years will find that the steel industry really ought to be cheering any government proposal to build it more steel plants. The reason is that all wartime activity in this business turned out to be great boon and windfall to private industry.

In all, there were 150 steel-making facilities built at government expense. Fifty-two were iron and steel-making plants proper. Fifty were foundries, 16 were forge plants, and 32 were alloy furnace, mill, coal and coke plants and so forth.

The government built these plants at premium prices. Often the government units were integrated with existing facilities that the private steel companies owned. In short, the government merely expanded their capacity to make money, for free. The government then gave these companies contracts to operate the plants. And when the war was over, the government sold the plants to private operators at about 75 cents on the dollar, or the original cost. To date, roughly 100 plants costing $680,000,000 have been sold for $250,000,000.

If the Truman doctrine for enlarging steel production—or any other industry—should work out that way in the future, it's hard to see how private business can have any complaint. The taxpayers may be entitled to complain, however.

Doesn't Deserve All Credit

In all fairness, the government does not rightly deserve all the credit for today's increased steel-making capacity. Private industry itself did half the wartime job, and is doing more now. The war plants were designed for war production only. Private industry has to spend many millions to convert them for peacetime production.

U. S. steel-making capacity has increased by 17 per cent, or 15,000,000 tons, to a total of 95,500,000 tons during the war. To get this increased capacity, the government invested $1,311,000,000. Private industry invested $1,273,000,000. Total $2,584,000,000.

The government's share of this built 29 complete steel plants costing $5,000,000 or more apiece, for a total of $770,000,000. In addition there were built 121 other plants or units alongside existing facilities of the private steel companies to increase their capacity. These cost less than $5,000,000 apiece for a total of $341,000,000.

When it came to selling or leasing these facilities to private industry for peacetime operation, there were some amazing bargains. Biggest plant of the lot, at Geneva, Utah, which cost $200,000,000, was sold to Geneva Steel for $17,500,000. Carnegie-Illinois got a $22,000,000 plant at Bradock, Pa., for $14,000,000 and an $88,000,000 plant at Homestead, Pa., for $44,000,000, at so on.

Disposal Job About Completed

The War Assets Administration job of disposing of surplus steel plants is now about completed. Bids on purchase of the last big government steel project—the four big Copperweld plants at Warren, Ohio, will be opened January 21. These plants cost $19,000,000 new. After they are sold, WAA will have left a steel foundry at Pittsburgh, Calif., and two open hearth furnaces at Indiana Harbor and Chicago.

That will mark the end of the first big experiment in nationalizing American steel production, save for collecting rents from government steel plants still under lease to private industry.

In all, the government has now

When was the Department of Interior established?

A—In 1849 a new department was added to the executive branch of the government, called the Department of Interior, because everything under its charge is connected with internal affairs.

MOTHER PLUNGES SELF, DAUGHTER TO DEATH

NEW YORK, Jan. 17—A mother kissed her five-year-old daughter on a subway platform, gripped her by the arm and plunged both of them to death under a train entering the station Wednesday.

The victims were Mrs. Mae Baisley, 31, and her daughter, Victoria.

The husband and father, Edward Baisley, a welder, said later his wife had been unhappy occasionally following an operation last year.

Federal property is tax-exempt, but the government does allow taxation of property owned by federal corporations.

with us. Oh, Lizzie, let's go back to Marshallville!" pleaded Merry, excited and eager.

Lizzie's own eyes were blazing with excitement.

"Honey, dat' partment me and Andy had over de garage was de onlies' home we eve' had. Honey, us be too glad to go back wid yo'!" said Lizzie, and her rich, warm voice shook a little.

Merry sprung up and hugged her.

"Oh, Lizzie, I'm so happy!" Carter's voice, curt and sharp, spoke from the doorway.

"I dislike to interrupt this happy little scene," Mrs. Bagby would like some breakfast, if it isn't too much trouble.

MERRY turned and faced him, and Lizzie muttered something and turned to the stove, her thick lower lip stuck out in a sign of her anger and outrage.

"Merry, I'd like to speak to you for a moment," said Carter, and strode away.

Lizzie turned deliberately from the stove, faced the doorway through which Carter had disappeared, brought up her thick, unashamedly work-worn hand, put her thumb to her nose and twiddled her fat fingers. It was a gesture of such superb scorn, such utter contempt, that Merry smothered a small, delighted laugh, hugged her and fled.

In the room that was obviously now to be known as Carter's study, he turned to face Merry and said to her sternly, "Merry, I dislike to seem carping, but I must ask you to behave with a little more dignity, here. Embracing the servants, chattering with them, destroying all semblance of discipline, is something I will not tolerate."

Merry balanced herself on the arm of a chair and smiled at her sister, any longer, Carter," she told him lightly. "I shall be leaving for Marshallville in a day or two."

MERRY awoke in the morning, puzzled at first to account for the wide-open windows through which a golden sun shone, and the tops of palms stirring in the ocean wind, and the sound of surf breaking on the beach beyond the seawall. And then she realized that she was at home at St. Vincent's and sprang out of bed, happy and excited and exulting in her well-being.

She tumbled into play-clothes—a brief pink and white gingham skirt over even briefer pink shorts, a halter confining her young breasts—and thrust her bare feet into canvas-strapped sandals.

She followed the delicious scent of coffee and crisping bacon out to the kitchen where Lizzie welcomed her with an expansive, white-toothed grin.

"Honey, I sho' is glad to see you home ag'in," Lizzie greeted her warmly. "Whe' yo' want yo' breakfast?"

"Where do Mother and Carter?"

"Yo' Maw, she hev' her breakfast in bed. Mist' Carter, he go to a swim, den he eat wid her," said Lizzie, and though the words were innocent enough the tone told Merry that Lizzie disliked Carter as much or perhaps even more than she said.

Small Swagger

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Small-fry coat fashions are also on the bandwagon on which Empire revivals for spring are making a lot of noise.

The highest-chested swagger of Napoleon's day had nothing on little plaid coats designed for young-fry Americans sized one to four. The one of basket-weave woolen tweed (left) of yellow, blue and tan even out-does the Empire's colors. The high-riding yoke which releases extravagant fullness from an inverted back pleat, is fastened in front with a double row of iridescent buttons. Matching Empire bonnet is of brown felt, trimmed with plaid.

More Empire influence is seen on the fitted coat of woolen covert (right) over which cascades three cape collars. Where a row of buttons stop, precision-sharp knife pleats begin. This coat, designed for little fashion plates, size seven to 14, comes in vibrant shades which reflected the glory of the Empire.

The letting-out possibilities of these Bambyr-designed coats—extra hidden fabric lining in sleeves and hems for easy lengthening—are a practical feature which accommodates a child's unpredictable spurts of growth.

Story Behind First Lady's Inaugural Hat

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(P)—Women's hats don't just happen. They are made to happen.

And there is quite a story behind the first hat of the land Thursday—the hat America's first lady was to wear in Washington after husband Harry's swearing-in ceremony.

Bess Truman's inaugural reception hat proves we do live in one world. It is a kind of United Nations hat—wedding together the artistic talents of arid Africa, Italy, France and Hungary. The price—undisclosed—is strictly American.

"There is only one hat of this kind in the world—and there will never be another," said Suzanne Remy, petite French designer.

And it will be worn just once. After that it will be put in the Smithsonian Institution, where they also have a hat worn by Martha Washington.

Ten Ostrich Plumes

Africa's contribution came from an anonymous ostrich, which donated 10 tall plumes. An elderly Italian, the only man left in New York who can do this sort of work, then spent two weeks laboriously tearing the feathers apart and gluing them back together in the pattern of the hat.

He had to try 25 separate dyes before he could achieve the five shades of mauve the hat required to go with Mrs. Truman's grey dress. The hat then was shaped and completed by Miss Remy's Hungarian assistant, Manouchka.

The mauve ostrich feather creation was one of three hats Miss Remy designed for Mrs. Truman to wear during inaugural ceremonies. Daughter Margaret took one—a red hat with a big side bow.

Mrs. Truman was quick and decisive in her choices.

"She knows exactly what she wants," said the little milliner. "I wish more of my customers were like her."

Among Miss Remy's customers are such well-known bargain hunters as Bonnie Henie, Barbara Hutton, Hildegarde, Gene Tierney and Mrs. Harrison Williams.

Mrs. Truman was so pleased with her three hats that she invited Miss Remy to attend the inaugural reception and ball. Miss Remy accepted, of course, but—

"I haven't a decent hat to wear myself," she moaned. "I never do. I don't think I've ever had a good hat in my life."

second, by increasing world trade. 3. Strengthen "freedom-loving nations against the dangers of aggression." Truman flatly promised: "We will provide military aid and equipment to free nations which will cooperate with us in the maintenance of peace and security."

While the President nowhere named Russia outright in his scathing attack on Communism, his words apparently ended any possibility of quick and easy compromise between the Soviet Union and the West.

But "in due time," he said, he believes "those countries which now oppose us will abandon their delusions and join with the free nations of the world in a just settlement of international differences."

Not Possible Now

That he does not consider such a settlement possible now he made clear at the very outset. The United States and other non-Communist nations, he declared, have been balked in their work for "a just and lasting peace" by a regime with contrary aims and a totally different concept of life.

"That regime adheres to a false philosophy which purports to offer freedom, security and greater opportunity to mankind," he asserted. "Misled by this philosophy, many peoples have sacrificed their liberty only to learn to their sorrow that deceit and mystery, poverty and tyranny, are their reward."

"That false philosophy is communism. Then he went on to compare that 'false' philosophy with democracy. He reviewed what the United States has done for peace through the United Nations and by direct aid, and indicated that while much progress has been made, a long, difficult and costly struggle still lies ahead.

U. S. Must Stay Strong

Then with another slap at communism and its claim that it raises living standards, Truman said: "Democracy alone can supply the vitalizing force to stir the peoples of the world into triumphant action, not only against their human oppressors, but also against their ancient enemies—hunger, misery and despair."

To carry out these policies successfully, he added, the United States must keep itself strong and prosperous.

"Slowly but surely we are weaving a world fabric of international security and growing prosperity," he declared. "Our Allies are the millions who hunger and thirst after righteousness."

No Hopes Of Peace Appear In Pro Grid Leagues' Cold War

CHICAGO (AP)—Hostilities apparently still raged between the All-America Conference and the rival National Football League Thursday as the owners of the two circuits continued to go their separate ways.

The All-America owners are meeting in the Stevens Hotel, just across the street from the Blackstone Hotel, where the National League nabobs opened their regular winter meeting. But a truce in the costly box-office war between the two circuits appeared unlikely.

Benjamin F. Lindheimer, chairman of the All-America's Executive Committee, declared after an executive meeting of the ACC's eight club owners Wednesday:

"The All-America Conference will continue."

His statement, which came after a four-hour meeting, apparently ended all hope of any merger or football peace with the National League.

Whether the All-America Conference will continue to operate as an eight-team circuit or with six clubs—minus the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Chicago Rockets—was slated to be decided at another executive session of the ACC Thursday, Lindheimer said.

Owner Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn Dodgers and R. E. (Slim) Gurn, president of the Rockets, had no comment after Lindheimer's statement as to whether their clubs will dig up the cash for a 1949 campaign.

Johnson To Undergo Operation On Knee

DALLAS (AP)—The big event of the operation on Gil Johnson's knee—comes off Friday.

Climet Gil, the passing star of Southern Methodist University's Southwest Conference and Cotton Bowl champion Mustangs, will go under the knife February 3 to correct his "knee."

As a result, Gil may have to come to the Dallas YMCA February 8 at the annual sports achievement dinner, when he is to receive a plaque as "Southwesterner of the Year."

Johnson is hoping it can be with a cane but anyway he'll be there.

Johnson played all last season with his knee tightly bandaged. Often it would "lock" on him and have to be straightened out. Still, he was one of the nation's greatest passers and his pitching won game after game.

It was because he played under such a physical handicap yet succeeded that the Texas Sports Writers Association named him "Southwesterner of the Year," the person who had done most for sports.

Purple To Start Second Round With Lamesa Five

The Midland High Bulldogs begin their second round robin of play in District 3-AA basketball at Lamesa Friday night. Varsity and "B" games will be played in the Lamesa High gym.

Coach Jack Mashburn's Purple won four games and lost two in the first round robin. Midland is in second place of the standings.

In the first round, the Bulldogs lost the opener to Lamesa 44-24. They then won four straight with victories over Odessa 34-23, Big Spring 42-34, San Angelo 42-35 and Sweetwater 36-34. And then lost a "football game" to Abilene 33-32.

Midland has a vastly improved ball club from the one which lost to Lamesa in the first conference battle.

However, the Lamesa Tornados are favorites in the flag race. They were not topped in the first round and took six victories.

Lamesa has four starters, each of whom has been high point maker in at least one game. Scoring ace is big Leon Blair. Other potent Tornado tallmakers are Gene Morris, T. J. Womack and Ronald Chapman.

The heart and soul of the Bulldogs is Larry Messersmith, who has manufactured 134 points in 10 games this season. He is the leading scorer in District 3-AA.

Two teams will be representing Midland in cage play Friday. The varsity Bulldogs will be at Lamesa while another MHS quintet will be playing in the Big Lake tournament.

The "second" Purple quintet is due to play Grandfalls at 1:30 p. m. Friday. If it wins, it will be joined by the "blue ribbon" players Saturday.

Foe of Controls

New chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, which will act on President Truman's anti-inflation program, is Sen. Burton K. Maybank, South Carolina Democrat. Maybank, an avowed foe of price controls, says he doesn't believe controls, even on a "standby" basis, will be needed this year.

The National Collegiate Athletic Bureau's official figures show Cincinnati still the top offensive team among the country's major quintets with an average of 74.4 points a game for nine outings.

The figures, covering games played during January 15, also showed that the individual scoring ranks were led by Joe Noerker, of Virginia, whose 264 points in 12 games give him an average of 22 per contest.

Sectional defense leaders included: Skyline and Southwest—Wyoming 44.4 in 16; Baylor 45.3 in 15; Texas 46.3 in 14.

WACO (AP)—Two first-stringers are on the injury list of the Baylor Bears, who play Texas A&M's basketball team here Friday night.

Pay Raise For Cherry Is Reported

AUSTIN (AP)—The Dallas News said Thursday it had learned from "an authoritative source" that Head Football Coach Blair Cherry of the University of Texas would receive a five-year contract at an annual salary of $15,000.

The Dallas News Bureau here reported that Cherry's contract, which has two years to go, will be torn up and the five-year agreement substituted for it. He received $11,000 last year.

The annual salary will equal that paid D. X. Bible, who was coach 10 years. Bible retired in 1947 but retained the post of athletic director.

Legislative Pre Offers
The News Bureau also said it learned the Washington Redskins had offered Cherry a five-year contract at $25,000 and $10,000 bonus for signing to coach professional football and that, in addition, Washington had agreed to pay the difference in the cost of Cherry's home in Texas and a comparable one in Washington. The news also said "it was understood" the Chicago Cardinals had offered Cherry $30,000 a year and a long-term contract.

Official announcement of Cherry's contract will not be made until the board of regents meets January 28, The News said.

Harold Webb reported Wednesday that more than 75 per cent of all box seats for the 1949 season had been sold.

And they went in three days. Webb was besieged with repeat orders and for new boxes.

The Indian manager-owner went to Fort Worth Wednesday night and will return to Midland next Tuesday. The baseball office will be open Wednesday of next week.

The sale of box seats indicates the addition of new boxes, Webb said.

Webb hopes for some enlargement of the park bleachers by the City of Midland, which owns the park.

Game Commission Quarterly Session Scheduled Friday

AUSTIN (AP)—The Game, Fish and Oyster Commission will consider proposed legislation in the field of game and fish conservation at its regular quarterly meeting Friday.

It also is expected to renew efforts to establish public hunting preserves throughout the state.

One of the proposals it may consider will ask for additional funds for the establishment of these preserves at strategic spots over the state.

Proposed Legislation
Other proposed points of legislation to be considered are:
1. Universal hunting and fishing licenses and a tax law applying to deer and turkey.
2. Regulatory powers for the commission to set hunting seasons and means and methods of taking game and fish.
3. An increase in the number of commission members with appointments to insure sectional representation and experience in wildlife work.
4. A study to ascertain needs and means of accelerating restoration of small game, including quail, in the state.
5. A survey of deer and other wildlife damage and suggested means and methods of financing a compensatory program.

FBI Gives Negative Report On Tests In Millionaire's Death

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—A negative report of the FBI Laboratory at Washington brought a halt Thursday to the investigation of millionaire Greenville Baker's mysterious death.

"It still leaves us with nothing to hold anybody on," said Sheriff Frank Stoutamire in discussing the FBI tests of evidence in the pre-dawn roadside death Monday of the 27-year-old sportsman.

The veteran officer added that he still believed Baker was killed accidentally when his jeep wrecked on a dirt road leading from his mother's luxurious plantation home near here.

"There is no evidence of any criminal liability," Stoutamire said. And State Attorney William D. Hopkins added: "We've done all we can do at this time."

With Baker when he died, a wound in his head, was black-haired Thelma Griffin, 21-year-old divorcee and tavern waitress. She had met Baker for the first time the night before he died and had joined him and two companions in a mild drinking party.

No Evidence Of Shooting
The FBI in a telegram to Stoutamire said it was unable to ascertain from the evidence at hand whether the wound in Baker's head was caused by a gunshot, and that the blood and strand of hair on the barrel of a pistol found near Baker's body were insufficient to be of help in laboratory tests.

The FBI said further it had found no traces of nitrate on paraffin casts of the hands of Mrs. Griffin and Baker's other two companions to indicate that any of the three had fired a gun recently.

A coroner's jury said the wound in Baker's head was made by a pistol bullet fired by an unknown person. Both Stoutamire and Hopkins said they would await the FBI's complete findings before making any conclusive statements.

Horses, Mules No Longer Found On West Texas Farms

COLLEGE STATION—(AP)—The horse and mule, as far as farming is concerned, has disappeared in 40 of Texas' 254 counties.

These figures were released Thursday by H. P. Smith, agricultural engineer of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

With the exception of some hand hoeing and hand harvesting of cotton, crop production in these 40 counties is mechanized completely. Thirty counties, Smith said after a survey, use less than 25 horses or mules, and in another 35 counties, less than 100 horses or mules are used.

Tractor power is used almost exclusively in the production of all crops in a block of 77 Northwest Texas counties.

Old-world peasants believed that goatsuckers—whippoorwills—subsisted on milk stolen from their herds.

Controversy Over Dam Site Develops

ABILENE—(AP)—A narrow gorge on Oak Creek near the Coke-Nolan County border is a coveted spot. Both Sweetwater and the Upper Colorado River Authority claim the right to build a dam and reservoir at that site.

Sweetwater in December voted $2,500,000 in bonds to finance the project.

The UCRA, meeting at Bronte its long-dormant plan for a dam on the same site. UCRA Chairman L. T. Youngblood of Bronte says the project would cost from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 and would provide municipal water as well as water to irrigate from 3,000 to 5,000 acres of farm land.

Sweetwater Mayor J. C. Pace said Thursday the city believes it can obtain the rights to the water.

Youngblood said statutes setting up UCRA gave it rights to water of the Colorado River and its tributaries in Coke and Tom Green counties and that Oak Creek comes in that category. Sweetwater, he pointed out, is in the Brazos, not the Colorado, watershed.

CIVIL SERVICE TO GIVE EXAMINATION

The Civil Service Commission has announced examination for the position of Civil Engineer Trainee. Entrance salaries range from $2,498 to $2,724 per year.

Employment will be with the Department of the Army, Corps of Engineers, Galveston District. Application forms may be obtained at the post office.

Suspect Confesses Vengeance Slaying

EL PASO—(AP) Authorities in this border city have announced that mid-appearing Roy Frank Godbey has confessed the vengeance killing of an Oklahoma City lawyer who once sent him to prison.

The announcement was made jointly late Wednesday by acting Chief of Police J. W. Fitzgerald and FBI Special Agent D. E. Brown. The slightly-stooped, 32-year-old prisoner signed a statement that he shot and killed Earl Pruet on January 11 in an Oklahoma City skyscraper office, the announcement said.

Godbey's full statement was not released. He told newsmen, however, that he threw the gun used in the shooting out of a bus window when he left Oklahoma City after the slaying.

Pruet was prosecutor when Godbey was tried and convicted at Waurika, Okla., for a $5 holdup at nearby Jefferson. Sentenced to 35 years, Godbey was released last November 12 with time off for good behavior.

Until the surprise confession announcement, Godbey had denied he killed Pruet but declared he should have poisoned a town's water supply (apparently Waurika's) and other wise avenged himself for a "framed" robbery conviction. He told reporters Wednesday "I should have put potassium cyanide in the water up there. I should have carved 'em all up into hamburger meat."

Tired and travel-weary, Godbey was arrested here by two rookie policemen who recognized him from photographs. Oklahoma officers were expected to arrive Thursday to take Godbey back to Oklahoma. He has waived extradition.

Two-Year Sentence In Holdup Attempt

GONZALES—(AP)—A two-year penitentiary sentence has been pronounced for James William Seton, 28, Leesville, Texas, one of two men accused of slugging a San Antonio salesman after he gave them a ride. Seton pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of attempted robbery. Larry Dean, 26, Dallas, under a similar charge, did not appear.

Seton and Dean were accused of slugging C. C. Bishop of San Antonio near Smiley August 26 after he gave them a ride from Seguin.

Three visiting bishops, a leading woman church member from Washington, D. C., 800 delegates and hundreds of lay guests are expected here for the centennial.

TB Association Executive Attends Training Session

Mrs. Linnie H. Davidson, executive secretary of the Midland County Tuberculosis Association, is representing this county at a statewide work conference on tuberculosis control in Austin Thursday through Saturday, President John J. Redfern, Jr., of the Midland association announced.

Sponsored by the Texas Tuberculosis Association, the conference brings together professional and volunteer workers interested in raising health standards of Texas communities.

Health Problem
"Tuberculosis is a major health problem here and elsewhere in the state," Redfern said. "Participation in such a program of in-service training will help to strengthen our plans for control of this disease."

Sections of the program will be devoted to such phases of tuberculosis control as medical aspects of tuberculosis, tuberculosis in Texas, methods of control and organization, administration and program of a tuberculosis association. Discussion leaders have been drawn from the fields of medicine, education, public health, voluntary and official health and welfare agencies, and volunteer groups.

Everything's Off In Hollywood: Grable, Crosby Drop 20 Cents

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—Movie stars are being caught in all kinds of economy waves these days. I just discovered that my favorite drug store has marked down plastic figurines of stars like Crosby and Grable from 89 to 69 cents!

Wonder if M-G-M will film a sequel to "Command Decision," only this time about the medical corps with the title, "Command Incision?"

Ann Sothorn's divorce from Bob Sterling is final. Star buildup in reverse: Dan D. Star buildup star billing as the sniveling son in "Another Part of the Forest," but now UI wants the Academy to drop the star after Dan's name in the Oscar derby so he can be entered in the best supporting player classification.

Hollywood has been cutting down on budgets, salaries and the length of movies. But some Hollywood stars say Steve Gibson would be better off if they'd start cutting down on their cutting up. Darryl Zanuck is looking for a series of films to put Alan Young in the same class with Hope and Skelton. He's convinced Young will be the comedy find of '49.

Patricia Morison will get an audition with the New York Met. Frank Morgan's air show, "The Fabulous Dr. Tweddy," is being readied as a video package.

Refreshing note: Barbara Stanwyck, a possible candidate herself, thinks Olivia de Havilland should win the Oscar for "The Snake Pit." Dorothy Shay snagged the initial stanza at Glenn McCarthy's famous $35,000,000 Shamrock Hotel in Houston, Texas, opening St. Patrick's Day.

STEER JUDGING STARTS AT BROWNWOOD SHOW

BROWNWOOD, (P)—Judging of boys' fat steer and open fat steer classes started Thursday at the Brownwood Livestock Show.

Herman Stokes, Jr., Ballinger, exhibited the grand champion fat lamb Wednesday in the district clubs' event. The reserve champion was shown by Glen Bragg of Talpa.

There are almost 500 species of hummingbirds, with the Republic of Ecuador having 148 of them.

WASHINGTON—(P)—Thirty-one casualties of the pre-dawn collision of the Coast Guard cutter Eastwind and the S. S. Gulfstream were announced Thursday by the U. S. Coast Guard here.

Officials would not say if any bodies had been recovered.

The casualty list included:

Critically injured: Stanislaus Colindreau, seaman apprentice, San Antonio.

Slightly injured: Robert H. Wildt, seaman apprentice, Fort Worth.

Navy's Newest Jet To Get Texas Tests

DALLAS—(P)—The Navy's newest jet fighter, an oddy-built plane named XF7U-1, will undergo exhaustive flight tests here.

Otherwise known as the Outlaw, the sleek craft alighted at Hensley Field here Wednesday after its first cross-country flights—from the Patuxent River, Md., Naval Air Test Center.

Built by Chance Vought, the plane has wings which are swept back to the tail, eliminating the usual tail assembly. The two vertical rudders are built into the wing's trailing edge.

IRON PENNIES ARE USED IN STEEL MAKING

PUEBLO, COLO. —(P)—Those confusing gray-colored pennies have an after-life when you finish with them.

After being retired to the Denver mint, the zinc-coated one cent pieces are melted to make them unusable, and then sent here for use in steel making.

The Colorado Fuel and Iron Corporation melts them with other scrap metal and they are used in steel rails, structural steel, fence wire, nails and spikes.

Texas Publisher, Traveler

Corinne Neal Cook of Mesquite, editor and publisher of the Texas Mesquite, is one of the few women who has circled the globe as an accredited war correspondent. But still fewer are those who can claim experiences such as hers. She flew the Air-Lift into Berlin; got behind the Iron Curtain into Czechoslovakia; was in an air raid in Cairo; and had numerous other exciting experiences about which she has been telling audiences since her return to the Lone Star State. She will speak at the mid-Winter meeting of the Texas Press Association Saturday in Austin.

Severe Weather Handicaps Oil Play In Midland Territory

Harsh weather last week in the areas around Midland stalled oil activity to a great extent. Only 28 applications to drill were filed for that territory with the oil and gas division of the Railroad Commission of Texas.

Wildcatting continued at about the same pace, however, as Culberson, Gaines, Pecos, Scurry and Sterling Counties each reported the staking of a venture in unproven territory.

Amended applications to deepen previously established locations were filed one apiece for Cochran, Winkler and for a wildcat in Borden County.

The remaining intentions to drill were listed for field wells.

Of these, Hockley County reported the most with a total of six. Ector County had five, Andrews four and Cochran and Upton County came up with three each.

Locations for two inside explorations were staked in Winkler County.

The remaining field drillsites were spotted one each in Gaines, Garza, Hale, Howard, Mitchell, Pecos, and Ward Counties.

BADGER DANCE NO BUNNY HUG ACCORDING TO OBSERVER

LONDON — (P)—Brian Vesey Fitzgerald, whose hobby is watching mammals, has caught badgers in both somber and gay moods. Badgers, he told a nature study group, bury their dead.

They also gather in deils and dance—something like a quadrille.

SAND FROM 50 BEACHES

PLYMOUTH, ENGLAND. — (P)—Edward Pascoe, 32, has a collection of sand from more than 50 beaches—and can tell where each sample came from.

The danger that racing drivers face, of sustaining serious injury, is greater at 50 miles an hour than at 100 miles an hour.

1948 Construction Just Short Of Peak

WASHINGTON — (P)—Housing construction started in 1948 almost topped the 1925 peak.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor statistics said recently that about 830,000 units were placed under construction in 1948. In 1925 there were 877,000 units started.

Costs rose in 1948, but only eight per cent—compared with the 34 per cent rise in 1947.

The need for a waterproof material around bathroom showers, which first became popular in the United States after World War I, greatly spurred clay tile production and sales.

Isolation Is Best Way Of Controlling Spread Of Mumps

AUSTIN—Commenting on the necessity for individual cooperation in effecting the control of mumps, now widespread throughout the State, Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, emphasizes the fact that the contagion factor is present before any symptoms appear, and strict isolation of all patients is the surest means of controlling the spread of this disease.

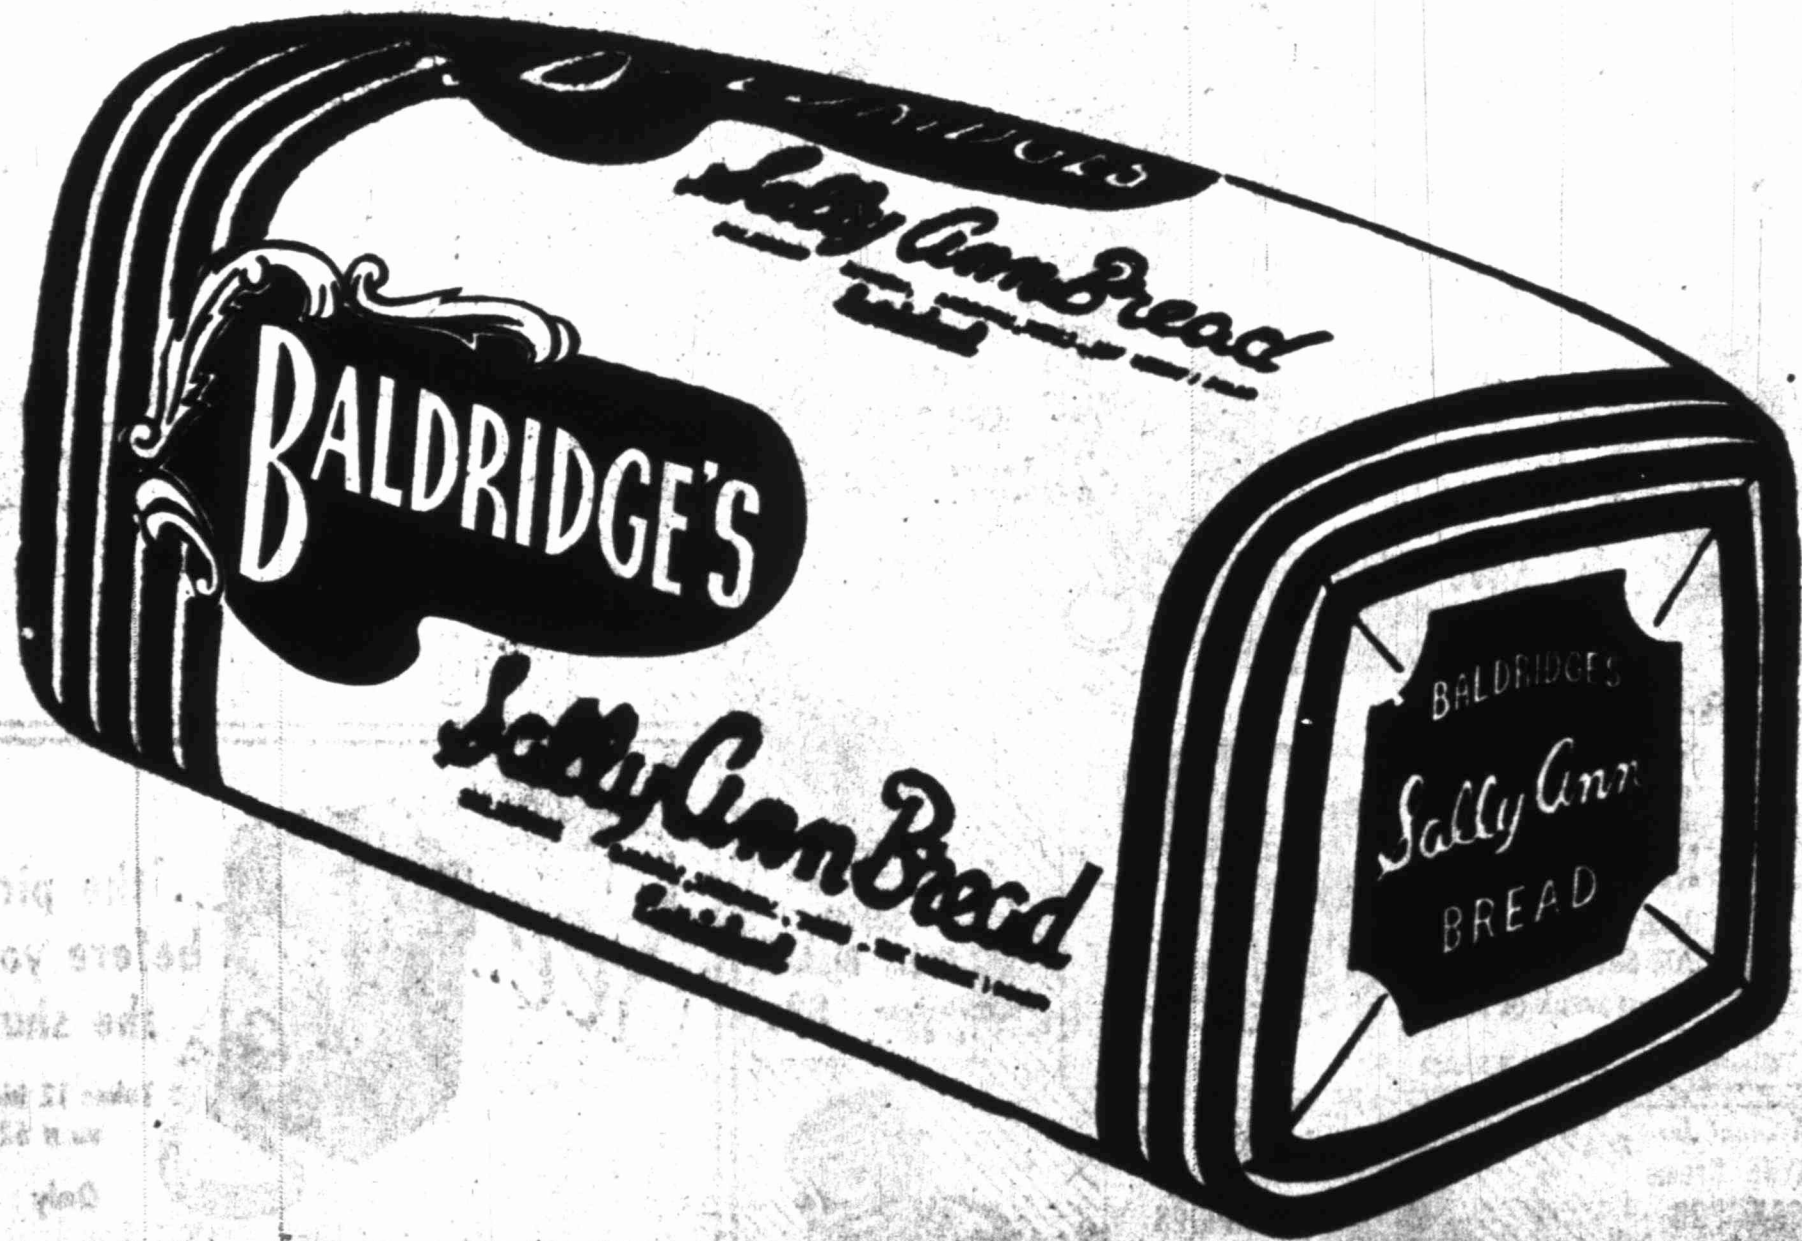

Mumps is transmitted by direct contact with an infected person or articles freshly contaminated by the secretions of the mouth or nose of persons having the disease. It takes from 12 to 26 days for mumps to manifest itself after the infection occurs. The disease can be transmitted easily, but one attack usually establishes permanent immunity and second attacks very rarely occur.

Only 144,000 of the 2,148,000 passenger automobiles produced in the United States in 1946 were exported.

Trucking to Freedom

This family hastily loads its belongings on a truck, as it prepares to flee into the western zone of Berlin from Stope, just turned over to the Russians by the French. The town voted 94 per cent anti-Communist in the last election. Many of the 400 residents escaped to the western sectors before Soviet forces occupied the place. dressing made of equal parts of mayonnaise and sour cream, with a few chopped walnut meats added.

Apple Ginger Sparkle
(6 servings)
Three tart, red apples, 6 tangerines, 6 maraschino cherries, chilled gingerale.

Pare and slice apples. Combine with tangerine sections in sherbet glasses. Top with maraschino cherries. Fill glasses with ice cold gingerale. Serve as a first course.

Applesauce Cobbler
(Serves 3-4)

Two tablespoons sugar, 1 cup packaged biscuit mix, 5 to 6 tablespoons milk, 2 cups sweetened applesauce, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 2 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine. Add sugar to biscuit mix. Add milk gradually; mix to make soft dough. Place applesauce in baking dish. Add next 3 ingredients; mix well. Dot with butter or margarine. Drop dough by spoonfuls over top. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 30 to 35 minutes, or until done. Serve warm with top milk.

Ordinary wooden dress hangers can be padded by wrapping the wood with cotton batting and sliding an old stocking over the cushion. Cut foot and top off stocking and finish off edges by gathering or turning under and stitching flat.

YOUTHFUL MOTHER STUDIES COBBLING UNDER GI BILL

By ELAINE KAHN
AP Newsfeatures

PITTSBURGH—The old saw that the shoemaker's children never have shoes won't hold in the John Smart family.

If Papa is too busy to see that the kids are well shod, Mama John Smart will be equipped to take over. The diminutive Mrs. Smart, a 24-year-old ex-Marine, is learning to be a shoemaker. Studying under the GI bill, Mrs. Smart is the only female in a class of 40 at the shoe repair school of Hopkins Institute.

"I met my husband, Johnny, while we were in the Marines," she explained. "We wanted to go into business for ourselves and decided that a shoe repair shop would be just right."

Neither of them had any previous experience in the work. John now works nights and takes care of the two Smart children, Danny, 2 1/2, and Carolyn, 1 1/2, while June goes to school five days a week from 8 a. m. to 1 p. m.

June will graduate next January. When June graduates John will enroll for the nine-month course. Afterward they will go into business. "I love the work," June said. "I don't think it's particularly hard although I guess men are more adapted to the use of hammers and such. It took me awhile to get on to them."

Murray Gold, director of the shoe repair school, says: "She's on a par with the best of the men. And she's also an excellent influence on them—particularly when someone hits his thumb instead of the nail and would like to give vocal vent to his feelings."

Fix Real Breakfast For Health

Butterscotch oatmeal casserole—something new for breakfast.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

To insure vigor and health in 1949 to yourself and family, resolve to serve more substantial breakfasts every morning. See to it that your family gets from one-fourth to one-third of their day's nutrition in the family breakfast. Also, study ways to make the meal appealing.

Butterscotch Oatmeal Casserole
(6 servings)

Two cups rolled oats, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 cups boiling water, 1/4 cup brown sugar, 1/4 cup chopped nuts.

Place the rolled oats and salt in the 1 1/2-quart casserole. Add the boiling water, cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Top with brown sugar and chopped nuts before serving.

Among the other popular oatmeal variations is Raisin Spice Oatmeal. It's simple to make: stir 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg and 1 cup raisins into 3 1/2 cups boiling salted water. Add 1 1/2 cups rolled oats and cook as usual.

The children in the household will particularly like this one. Toppings other than plain milk perk up early-morning appetites, too. Such combinations as honey-milk, in which 3 tablespoons of honey is stirred into each cup of milk, or marmalade-milk, with a tablespoon of marmalade added to each cup of milk gives the cereal a new taste delight.

Oatmeal Muffins
(Makes 8-16 muffins)

One cup sifted enriched flour, 1/4 cup sugar, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons fat, 1 cup quick-cooking oatmeal uncooked, 1 beaten egg, 1 cup milk.

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Cut in fat until mixture resembles corn meal. Add rolled oats, blending thoroughly. Add beaten egg and milk, stirring lightly. Fill greased muffin pans 2/3 full and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) 15 to 25 minutes, depending on size of muffins.

PARSON'S FAVORITE QUOTES FROM PARISH MAGAZINE

TAUNTON, SOMERSET, ENGLAND—(AP)—The Rev. J. W. Storey quotes these verbal tidbits in his parish magazine.

"The chief end of man is the end with the head on."

"Liberty of conscience means being able to do wrong without bothering about it afterwards."

"An insect has three parts of its body—the thorax, abdomen and doxology."

"Joan of Arc was the wife of Noah."

"Milton wrote blank verse because he was blind."

"Quinine is the bark of a tree; canine is the bark of a dog."

CHILDREN BRING FRENCH GOOD SALARY BONUS

PARIS—(AP)—Frenchmen with families are paid more than single men.

In the Paris region, a man with four children, whose wife does not work, gets 18,250 francs monthly (80 dollars) in addition to his salary. For a father of eight children, the bonus is 319,800 francs (1,060 dollars) a year.

New Studebaker Models To Be On Display Friday

Highlighted by a new interior luxury embodying a strikingly modern treatment of upholstery, appointments and trim, Studebaker's 1949 passenger cars go on display Friday at Broadway Motors here.

Company officials said Studebaker stylists have added to their postwar accomplishments by producing an interior effect in keeping with design innovations representing the best in modern home decoration.

They pointed out this sharp departure from conventional design is intended to do in the field of interior styling something comparable in its modern touch, to the new trend of low, wide, streamlined exteriors that have been so widely acclaimed since Studebaker introduced its revolutionary postwar contours.

The 1949 advancements include the use of new decorator fabrics and trim materials, as well as new design. In some models seat backs and cushions are in different and beautifully harmonized patterns, set off by striking two-tone contrasts between the upholstery and the side-wall and head-lining.

Instrument panels and window reveals, as well as steering wheels, are colored to blend with the new upholstery.

Chassis Changes
Topping the list of Studebaker chassis changes are refinements which provide a notable stepping up in performance in both the Commander and Champion engines.

The steering wheel on the Champion has been increased to 18 inches in diameter. The Commander Regal Deluxe closed models and convertibles as well as the Land Cruiser have a special deluxe three-spoke wheel. As in the past, the position of the steering wheel can be altered to suit the size of the driver by simply changing the mounting bracket.

Space available for luggage has been increased in all Studebaker models. This has been done by mounting the spare tire and wheel vertically.

Massive new wrap-around bumpers have been adopted for all 1949 Studebakers. They are heavier, larger than on previous models, and are completely re-designed. Additional frontal protection is provided by new high-type bumperettes, designed to prevent "over-riding" in tight parking behind older model automobiles.

The attractive basic design of both Commander and Champion radiator grilles has been enhanced by new chrome accents, and refinements also have been made in the chrome finish of the interior trim.

Atomic Duty

Although a member of the Communist Party, Frederic Joliot-Curie, France's high commissioner for atomic energy, says he would quit the party if it ordered him to betray atomic secrets to Russia. He said his first "duty" was to France, regarding atomic secrets, "until the UN succeeded in outlawing all atomic weapons."

Peacetime Atom May Be Displayed

MADISON, WIS. (AP)—A demonstration of peacetime use for the harnessed atom will be made within a year, the civilian head of Argonne Laboratory said recently. It probably will be on a scale of little practical importance, Farrington Daniels told a University of Wisconsin symposium on science and civilization. Security regulations will be raised soon to allow additional information on nuclear research to be made public, said the chemist.

ENGLISH PLAN TEXTILE TRAINING FOR UNIONS

LONDON (AP)—The Cotton Board has announced it will establish pilot schools in cotton spinning and weaving. The board official says the scheme will make "industrial history in Britain." "We shall take nominees of trade unions as well as those selected by individual cotton spinning and weaving firms," he says. "The training will be given free of charge by professional industrial consultants."

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And The Lazy Beaver

By WESLEY DAVIS

Mother Ringtail said, "The beavers always work so hard. There isn't a lazy beaver anywhere. Why don't you take them this nice basket of apples?"

Daddy Ringtail put the basket of apples on his arm, and climbed off through the forest. Pretty soon he sat down to watch the beavers. He sat down in the top of the tree they were cutting. But they didn't see Daddy Ringtail.

Daddy Ringtail didn't say a word, because the beavers were working very hard, and he didn't want to bother them. He decided that he'd give them the apples when they were through with the tree; and then he saw a little beaver that wasn't working at all. The little beaver was off by himself, and doing the queerest things. He would stand on his head. Then he would roll over, and do all kinds of funny tricks.

Daddy Ringtail laughed when he saw the little beaver, and then Daddy Ringtail said to himself, "It looks like there is a lazy beaver after all. I'll have to talk to him."

"Little Beaver," Daddy Ringtail said, when he'd climbed through the tree and down to the ground where the little fellow was, "why don't you help the other beavers cut down their tree? I brought this basket of apples to the beavers who work very hard, and I didn't think there was a lazy beaver anywhere."

The little beaver looked at Daddy Ringtail, and then he looked at the basket of apples. He wanted an apple very much. But just then, the other beavers cut through their tree. It fell down to the ground with a very loud noise. And you know what would have happened to Daddy Ringtail, if he'd still been sitting in that tree. He would have fallen too.

So all the beavers came up and told Daddy Ringtail that the little beaver wasn't lazy at all. He wasn't supposed to cut down the tree. He was supposed to stand on his head, and do his tricks, so that people would come away from the tree to watch him, and be away from the tree when it fell, so they wouldn't get hurt.

Daddy Ringtail thanked the little beaver and gave him the biggest apple of all; and tomorrow he'll tell you about Daddy Ringtail and Greedy Grunt, the pig who acted exactly like the pig he was. Happy day!

BOULAY, FRANCE—(NEA)—The Englishman traditionally claims that his home is his castle but Paul Kodernia, a Frenchman of the Sophie Rolle, "pin-up girl of the Magnot Line," also lives in a wartime bunker.

Atomic Age, has taken a fortress as his home. Paul solved his post-war housing problem by moving from his bombed-out farmhouse into a bunker of the Magnot Line. "I thought I'd pick something solid this time," he said, with a gesture toward the massive concrete fortification behind him. It has walls six feet thick. It probably cost $100,000 when the French were studding their northern frontier with these vast, futile fortifications. Kodernia's kids, geese and sheep seem to be thriving. The sheep graze contentedly among the bunkers and barbed wire.

Kodernia is one of a number of Frenchmen who have converted the abandoned line of forts into peacetime housing. The line is useless today, for Frenchmen realize better than any others how futile was their attempt to build a steel and concrete wall against modern invasion tactics.

Kids play among the bunkers. Cattle and sheep munch the lush grass which grows in fields once sown thick with mines. Thrifty French farmers have made good use of much of the millions of feet of barbed wire.

Ten years of hard work, some 140,000,000,000 substantial pre-war francs, 21,800,000 man-days of work and 900,000 tons of materials became junk when the Germans broke through the line in 1940. All that failed to buy security for France but today it is providing a little shelter for hard-pressed Frenchmen.

Russia Got Jump On U. S. In New Art Of Locating Minerals

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Russia got the jump on the world 17 years ago in the important science of geochemical prospecting, but American geochemists think they may have caught up or even outdistanced the Soviet scientists in giving the pick-and-shovel prospector a new tool—the chemical kit.

They can't be sure, because Russia clamped a secrecy lid on geochemical research a year ago. Since January 1948 no new reports on Soviet work of this type have been available.

It's all very important from a security standpoint because the nation that maps its hidden ore deposits the most thoroughly is in the best position to use those resources in time of war.

The U. S. Geological Survey has made public the translation of six Russian papers on geochemical research. The most important article, by Soviet geologist E. A. Sergeev, summarizes Russia's work up to 1940 in soil analysis as a method of prospecting for mineral ores.

Says youthful, curly-haired Herbert E. Hawkes, director of the Geological Survey's two-and-a-half-year-old project for geochemical research: "Our program got underway in 1946. In addition to laboratory work, we started digging through all the obscure little journals in government libraries, looking for papers on what other countries were doing about soil-analysis prospecting. We found to our complete amazement that the Russians were 14 years ahead of us. They had started the work in 1932."

Some phases of prospecting research were under way in other countries, Hawkes says. Sweden, for example, was making progress on the chemical analysis of vegetation as a clue to the soil's composition.

Workers among the ancient Hittites and Assyrians had a five-day working week 4,000 years ago.

Serve Baked Cabbage Bundles

Baked cabbage bundles provide good eating at budget prices

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer
Solid nutrition at budget prices, plus good eating—that's what most homemakers are looking for. These two recipes fill that bill:

Baked Cabbage Bundles
(6 servings)
Six sizable cabbage leaves, 1/2 pound ground beef, 1/4 pound ground pork, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 cup diced onion, 1/2 cup uncooked rice, 1 can tomato soup (10 1/2-ounce size), 1/2 cup hot water.
Immerse cabbage leaves in boiling water. Cook for 2 minutes and drain. Mix together meat, salt, pepper, onion and rice. Spoon mixture onto cabbage leaves. Fold each leaf over filling, and fasten with toothpicks. Place cabbage bundles in a two-quart heat-resistant glass casserole. Combine tomato soup and hot water; pour over cabbage bundles in casserole. Bake 1 1/4 hours in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Remove toothpicks before serving.

Cheese Omelet With Spanish Sauce
(Serves 4)
One and one-half tablespoons fat, 6 eggs, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/3 cup milk, dash of pepper, 1/3 cup grated American cheese.

Heat the fat in a skillet; then tip the skillet to grease the sides and bottom. Beat the eggs, just enough to blend the yolks and whites. Add the salt, milk and pepper and heat thoroughly. Pour into the skillet and cook over low heat until a film of cooked egg has formed on the bottom of the pan. Lift the edge of this cooked egg and tilt the pan so that the uncooked portion runs under the raised cooked portion. Sprinkle cheese over omelet. Again cook until a film of cooked egg forms, then repeat the lifting and cooking process until the entire mixture is cooked and golden brown on the bottom—this process will take about 10 minutes. Then loosen the omelet with a spatula, fold from handle of skillet to opposite side of pan. Or roll jelly roll fashion and turn onto a warm platter. Serve Spanish sauce as a filling or over omelet.

'Leave Santa Alone In 1949' Is Slogan Suggested For Post-Christmas Campaign

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP News Features Writer

Now that Christmas is decently behind us, maybe it would be a good idea to start a campaign for next December: Christmas, 1949. This campaign will be known as the Let's - Leave - Santa - Claus - Alone Movement.

Personally, I like Santa just exactly as I knew him when I was a child. He's an aged fellow, with a full, pearly beard, red suit trimmed with white and black boots. He drives a sleigh of a type I've seen in museums and it's drawn by reindeer. It flies through the sky from the North Pole and lands on roof tops. Santa comes down the chimney and he has a large bag full of presents, which he leaves to all good children.

I don't think it's funny, even if some cartoonists do, to suggest by signs that there might be more than one Santa.

Charitable organizations ought to be more fussy about the characters they hire to make like Santa Claus on street corners for a couple of pre-Christmas weeks. Even very young children can tell that rheumy-eyed gents with red-bulb noses and mournful, hung-over air are not even half-brothers of the genuine, jovial St. Nick.

Street Corner Santas
While we're on that subject, these same organizations ought to be more careful the way they handle these street-corner Santas. A neighbor of mine with a five-year-old had a really bad time in town the other day. She was talking the boy, who was very, very excited, to a department store for his first interview with Santa. As they walked toward the store an ancient station wagon drove by. Santa, who was in the back seat, looking out the window, saw the boy and jumped in—joining some six or eight other Santas en route back to the headquarters after their stints were over.

The child took a look at the wide assortment of Santas and became understandably confused. The mother's feeble explanation was that these fellows just were sort of assistant Santas, while the real old boy was busy inside the store taking care of specially good little children. She doesn't think it went over so good.

But most of all, I wish every advertiser of products, from whiskey to black silk nightgowns, would cease and desist from using Santa Claus testimonials in selling. In the first place, there should be no implication that Santa is in the employ of any concern or concerns. Santa Claus is a fellow who makes the gifts and distributes them himself, without any middlemen, any assistance. Furthermore, Santa Claus certainly isn't particularly fond of any one cola drink, or a particular brand of cigars.

Piece of Pie
What Santa does like is a piece of pie, one of Father's cigars, or a piece of candy which the children leave especially on the mantelpiece for him. The idea of San-

ROVER'S ANCESTORS HAVE SCIENTISTS PUZZLED

NEW YORK —(AP)—Of all household pets, only the dog cannot be traced to its wild state to the full satisfaction of science. The Australian dingo dog, a wild animal, is probably the closest link between dog and wolf or fox. But in the entire world, says the 1949 Book of Knowledge Annual, there are no other wild dogs from which the dingo could have sprung. Rover's ancestors have completely disappeared from the earth.

Twenty years were required to lay the pipeline which carries San Francisco's water supply from a glacier lake 207 miles away.
