France, Facing War Ogre, To Double Her African Forces

Second Warship Is Dispatched To Djibouti

Italians Maintain They Have Cast Aside Hopes Directed Toward Land Annexation

By HENRY CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Dec. 28.—France prepared virtually to double her military and naval forces in Somaliland today with orders for new reinforcements to face any threats from Italy's East African empire.

A second warship was assigned to the East African port of Djibouti, named in Italian agitation for French territory, while the 1,969-ton dispatch boat d'Iberville, mounting three 5.5-inch guns, proceeded from Beirut, Syria, back to Djibouti, her base during the Italian-Ethiopian war.

Faster Boat En Route

The second vessel was the 2,441-ton destroyer Epervier and was expected to reach the Somaliland port before the slower d'Iberville.

Navy Minister Cesar Campinchi conferred with Erik Labonne, French resident general in Tunisia, who has been in Paris conferring on the colonial situation.

(A dispatch from Rome said Italian sources indicated that Italy virtually had abandoned any hope of territorial gains at France's expense and said the Fascists had no intention of invading French Somaliland.)

Two passenger ships were held at Marseille to carry 1,000 Senegalese sharpshooters to Somaliland to bolster a garrison of 1,500 troops already there.

Reinforcements Satisfy Demands

The two warships and the battalion of troops were understood to be all the reinforcements contemplated for the present by the French government, although that is only a handful against the 80,000 troops which Italy was estimated here to have in East Africa.

The reinforcements satisfied French press demands for strengthening colonial defenses.

Colonial ministry officials said frankly that "the eventuality of Italian invasion of French Somaliland has not been envisioned."

The inference was left that any Italian demands or actions in this direction were part of a campaign to win colonial concessions when Prime Minister Chamberlain of Great Britain visits Rome Jan. 11-14.

Abandonment Of Aims Claimed By Italians

ROME, Dec. 28.—Italian sources indicated today Italy virtually had abandoned any hope of territorial

Longtime Resident Of Crosby Dies

RALLS, Dec. 28. (Special)—Mrs. Callie Russell, 64, longtime resident of Crosby county, died at her home here about 6:30 o'clock tonight after an illness of several months. Her condition became critical about 10 days ago.

Funeral services will be conducted at her home at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon with Rev. W. R. Derr, pastor of the First Baptist church here, officiating. Burial will be in Ralls cemetery under direction of Marr Funeral home.

Mrs. Russell, wife of "Uncle Tom" Russell, was born Feb. 7, 1874, in Redland parish, La., and has been a Crosby county resident 32 years.

She is survived, in addition to her husband, by the following nephews and nieces: Ellis, Everet, and Leslie McCauley of Lorenzo, Dennis McCauley of Ralls, Claude McCauley of Kingsbury, Calif., Mrs. Herbert Smith of Los Angeles, Calif., Jim and Alva Russell of Dallas, Edna Morris of Dallas, Bertha Duggan of Seattle, Wash., Lisha and Tom Chambers of Dallas, and George Chambers of McKinney. No children survive.

Kerrville Youth Is Critically Injured; Accidentally Shot

KERRVILLE, Dec. 28. (AP)—Earl Baker, 15, was injured critically today by a bullet fired accidentally from a .22 rifle in the hands of his cousin, Blanton McCaleb, 16. They were on a camping trip.

The bullet passed through Baker's abdomen.

Three Arraigned In Sensational Blackmail Case

By WILLIAM S. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—The government today arraigned three accused blackmailers of the late F. Donald Coster-Musica under a federal act, passed in the flurry of legislation following the Lindbergh kidnaping, which provide maximum penalties of 20 years imprisonment.

Walter H. Cragg, a disbarred lawyer, and Joseph Brandino each were held in bail of $7,500 and Brandino's sister, Mary, in bail of $5,000, on complaints charging extortion through threats made in interstate commerce—across state lines.

Threatened Baring Secret, Charge

Specifically, they are accused of holding over the head of Coster-Musica—the indicted president of MeKesson and Robbins, Inc., who committed suicide Dec. 16 after leaving a note blaming "Wall street plunder" and blackmailers for an $18,000,000 overstatement of assets in his company—the threat of exposing his criminal past as Philip Musica.

"These defendants," said assistant U. S. District Attorney Irving R. Kaufman at the arraignment, "threatened Coster over a period of years and mulcted him of large sums of money, the exact amount of which I am not ready to disclose."

The three first were charged with mail fraud, for which the maximum penalty is five years as compared with 20 under the present complaint as it was described by assistant U. S. Attorney General Brien

More Tickets Are Inducement For Those To Ride Special

One hundred tickets for the Cotton Bowl game Monday were placed with the Santa Fe ticket office at the passenger station Wednesday night by Hugh (Bo) Williams, graduate manager of athletics of Texas Technological college, Ralph Troilinger, traveling passenger agent, said.

"Tickets are the regular $3.30 kind and are on the 35-yard-line," Troilinger added. "They will be sold only to persons who buy tickets on the Avalanche-Journal special train. First come, first served."

The special is to leave at 9:45 o'clock Sunday night.

Death Causes On Texas Highways Pointed Out

Instances Cited To Prevent Recurrence Of Needless Fatalities In 1938

By WILLIAM E. KEYS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Dec. 28.—State police thumbed through 1938's book of traffic accidents today, pointed to the "worst" seven and blamed four of them on failure to observe right of way rules.

Three others were attributed to speeds too high for conditions prevailing at the location and time.

In all, 30 persons perished and 33 were injured, some severely.

"Wrong Place" Factor

This sample section of the year's record, which, incidentally was heading toward a 22 per cent reduction in fatalities under last year, reflects the number one cause of roadway mishaps—too many cars in the wrong place on the road.

Contrary to popular opinion speed in itself is not the primary cause of highway crashes, said Homer Garrison, jr., public safety director.

It figures in many accidents, but a majority of them—all preventable—go back to the driver who has his vehicle in the wrong place.

Excessive Speed Element

Second in this list of grisly "honors" is driving at a speed excessive for conditions of time and place. (At another time or place the identical speed might be safe).

Police say these accidents might not have taken these tolls had drivers realized in time they were not exactly where they belonged on the highway:

Four dead, four injured in Rusk county when two cars crashed at an intersection.

Five dead in Midland county in head-on crash of two cars—one on the wrong side of the road.

Many Needless Victims

Six dead, three injured in Dallas county in two-car crash—one car rolled onto an intersection before looking for advancing traffic.

Three dead in Dallas county when a car stopped in front of an approaching train.

Likewise these might not have been in the record if some of the cars involved had been going slower.

Two pedestrians dead in Aransas

Halfway Mark Of [illegible] Nears

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—President Roosevelt turns the half-way mark of his second term January 20 next with one major objective of that term largely realized.

It is a much altered supreme court membership that will deal with the legislative grist of the 76th congress. A third of the judges will be of Roosevelt selection. And there is wide speculation as to whether, before the end of his present term, President Roosevelt may not have named a full majority of the nine-man court.

Liberalism Factor Infused

Even as it is, there is little doubt that the president's selection of a successor for the late Justice Cardozo is being decided with rejuvenation of the court in mind. Through elevation to the bench of such relatively youthful men as Justices Black and Reed, Mr. Roosevelt has reached already beyond the span of his two terms, or even of a possible third-term incumbency, potentially to affect the attitude of the supreme court for many years to come. Moreover, there is speculation in court circles that both the dean of the court in age, Justice Brandeis, and its dean in service, Justice McReynolds, will have pass-

Tech Grid Stars Help Out

Physically deformed youngsters at the Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children got a cherry laugh from the visit of Texas Tech grid stars, who will play St. Mary's of California in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 2. Shown here with two of the little unfortunates are Frank Guzick of Sherman (left), husky center for the Red Raiders, and A. B. Murphy of Beaumont, star tackle. Funds to provide treatment for infantile paralysis victims, crippled as are these little fellows, will be raised Jan. 30 at celebrations throughout Texas of President Roosevelt's birthday.

Screaming Sirens Prelude To Noisy Welcome Tech Cotton Girl Will Get

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Dec. 28—The screaming sirens of a police escort and a 25-car parade will welcome Miss Opal Hill of Post, Cotton Girl of the Nation, to Dallas at 8:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

Civic leaders have spared no pains to make the stay here of the 23-year-old personification of the south's major agricultural crop a glamorous whirl of exciting events.

When Miss Hill, only girl student of Texas Tech's textile engineering department, steps off the train at the union terminal, with her chaperone, Mrs. Edna Anderson Lyles

COTTON GIRL LEAVES

A small crowd of Lubbock persons braved the cold Wednesday night to bid farewell to Miss Opal Hill, the Nation's Cotton girl, as she left for Dallas from the Santa Fe station at 10:10 o'clock.

Miss Hill, who is accompanied by Mrs. Edna Lyles, assistant professor of clothing and textiles at Texas Technological college, will arrive in Dallas at 8:30 o'clock this morning where she will reign at the Cotton Bowl jubilee.

Friends of the Post girl, who has been made famous as the only woman textile engineering student in the nation, presented her with a corsage as she stepped on the train.

of the Tech faculty, 100 persons will be on hand to greet her. Whisked into the leading car of the parade, the two, with Mrs. William H. Jones and Fairfax Nisbet, offical companion for Miss Hill, will start up Main street behind a guard of motorcycle police.

In the second car will be Mayor George Sprague, W. Z. Hayes, chairman of the committee arranging Miss Hill's entertainment, William H. Jones, chairman of the Cotton Industries committee, Manuel DeBusk, president of local Tech exes and Miss Hill's official escort, and J. Ben Critz, general manager of the Dallas chamber of commerce.

Raiders To Join Parade

Five GOP Men Are "In Line"

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.— Sen. Arthur Capper (R-Kan) listed five possible candidates for the 1940 Republican presidential nomination today, and predicted that any one of them could be elected.

He mentioned Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, Michigan; Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, jr., Massachusetts; Sen.-Elect Robert A. Taft, Ohio; Rep. Bruce Barton, New York, and District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Capper said the prospects for a Republican victory in 1940 were bright.

Recommendations Made

"The trend is that way," he said. "The November election results were most encouraging."

Capper suggested that the 76th congress should overhaul the farm act to raise the price level of basic commodities, amend the reciprocal tariff act to require senate ratification of trade agreements, modify the social security act, and adopt a more rigid neutrality policy.

He said he voted against a third term for President Coolidge in 1928, and indicated that he would support a proposed resolution to put the senate on record against a third term for President Roosevelt.

Woman Believed En Route To This Area Reported Missing

Officers of this area Wednesday were authorized to be on the lookout for a St. Louis, Mo, woman missing since Dec. 21 and who was supposed to have been coming to Lubbock, Abernathy, or Hereford

The missing woman, Mrs. Mildred Cochell, 50, was described as being 5 feet 7½ inches tall, having large blue eyes, gray hair, and false teeth with the lower plate missing.

Any information relative to her whereabouts should be given to Mrs. R. C. Jamison of 5347 Itasca street, St. Louis, according to police memoranda here.

Descriptions of the woman were broadcast over police radio station here.

West Texas Farm Operator To Take Grid Teams To Bowl

MORTON, Dec. 28.—F. O. Maston, who operates a 6,000-acre ranch west of here, announced he would arrange for transportation to and from Dallas, and admission to the Cotton Bowl football game Monday, for the Morton high school football team.

The volunteer fire department has arranged for funds to pay for the meals and for hotel rooms on the trip.

Maston said he was making the same offer for Wellington, where he has other extensive farm interests.

Ten Blocks Of Paving Added In 3 Minutes

City Commission "Steps On It" Wednesday; Paving Ordinance Is Second Found Necessary

A THREE-MINUTE session of the city commission Wednesday afternoon added 41 blocks of residence streets to those scheduled for pavement next spring.

It was the second paving ordinance to be adopted by the commission in anticipation of the surfacing program which will be started the latter part of March. Together the two ordinances provide for approximately 10 miles of paving.

Program Listed

Streets listed in the new ordinance, which will come up for second and final reading at the commission meeting Jan. 12, are: Avenue W from Sixth to Nineteenth; S from Seventh to Nineteenth; Twentieth from R to X; Thirteenth from Q to G; Fourth from J to O; and O from Sixth to Seventh.

The paving of Avenues S and W is regarded by officials as being of relief they are expected to give on Avenue Q where congestion is becoming a serious problem.

Familiarity Means Dispatch

Wednesday's business before the commission was expedited by the fact that members already were familiar with the ordinance. Action could not be taken on previous occasions, however, because of the requirement that at least 10 days published notice must be given before such an ordinance can be passed.

City Manager W. H. Rodgers read the ordinance, Commissioner W. G. McMillan moved its adoption, Commissioner J. A. Fortenberry gave the second and Mayor Carl E. Slaton called for the vote, which was unanimously in favor. Commissioners W. B. Price and Hub Jones were absent.

Insurgents Make Further Gains

(By The Associated Press)

HENDAYE, France (At the Spanish Frontier), Dec. 28.—Generalissimo Francisco Franco's offensive in northeastern Spain appeared tonight to have developed into a broad double-flanking movement designed to capture Barcelona's outlying steel and concrete defense line without frontal assault.

Dispatches from the Catalonian front indicated the generalissimo was concentrating the greatest force on the southern flank of the 31-mile line which guards main approaches to Barcelona.

Reports Are Divergent

The flanking maneuver had been developing more slowly on the south than on the north where the textile town of Artesa today was the object of a bitter contest between insurgent and government artillerymen. The government still held Artesa.

Insurgent newspapers said the six-day-old offensive had brought capture of more than 1,000 square kilometers (386 square miles) of territory, at least 16 towns, scores of villages and 7,000 prisoners and the destruction of 39 government planes.

(The Spanish government press agency, in a dispatch to London from Barcelona, however, asserted that insurgent forces were being held well in check.)

M. B. (Red) Sutton Charged With Slaying Clerk Maxie Woodroof A Year Ago

(Special To The Avalanche)

LAMESA, Dec. 28.—The case of M. B. (Red) Sutton, charged with murder of Maxie Woodroof after the hijacking of a Lamesa haberdashery more than a year ago, will be launched Thursday morning, Truett Smith, district attorney, announced today.

Woodroof, young clerk in Hu[illegible] haberdashery, was shot the n[illegible] of Dec. 11, 1937, after he had o[illegible] taken a bandit who had, at s[illegible] point, taken approximately $500 in money from a cash register in the haberdashery. He died in a hospital here the next morning.

Special Venire Called

Judge Louis B. Reed of 106th district court called a special term of court here, out of the regular Yoakum county term, to hear the case against Sutton. Sutton recently was transferred here from the Lubbock county jail.

District Attorney Smith said the state had subpoenaed "eight or nine" witnesses and that the state would be ready for trial Thursday morning.

A special venire of 60 men will report. Most of the day probably will be devoted to selection of a jury, Smith said. The court appointed Carl Caden, county attorney-elect of Dawson county, to assist in representing Sutton. Sutton also has employed a Big Spring attorney.

Relatives Under Charge

W. P. Brown and D. C. Brown, brothers-in-law of Sutton, Smith said, were indicted as accessories at the same time Sutton was indicted on a charge of murder. It was indicated their trials probably would be called upon completion of Sutton's trial.

Sutton was charged with murder in Dawson county after an investigation by Frank Mills and other Texas rangers, Smith, Dawson county officers, and Lubbock county authorities about the middle of October. Sworn statements were taken from witnesses.

Sutton was transferred to the Lubbock county jail after he was convicted on a felony charge in South Texas. He has served three penitentiary sentences, Smith said.

Sutton, when faced by investigators in Lubbock, staunchly denied any connection with the shooting and contended suspicion of him was a case of mistaken identity.

He talked freely to investigators,

Some Relaxation Of Cold Wave Is Reported

(By The Associated Press)

A new cold wave was forecast for ice-sheated plains states Wednesday while freezing weather engulfed most of the nation.

The frigid belt extended from the Rockies to the Atlantic seaboard and from New England to the Florida border.

Fatalities attributed to the wintry onslaught and treacherous highways reached 27. Exposure deaths were reported from such widely scattered centers as Parsons, Kan., Waterbury, Conn., and Birmingham, Ala.

Some Relief Experienced

Rising temperatures brought a measure of relief to residents of many states in the west, midwest and south during the day. At the same time a fresh cold wave was predicted for parts of Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and the Dakotas. Snow, fleet or rain were in prospect for Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota and Ohio.

A bright sun warmed the cotton belt after a frosty morning.

Upstate New Yorkers shivered in temperatures ranging from 10 below in the Adirondacks to 18 above at Albany. In New York City the mercury dropped to 19 above. It

Cattle Theft Indictment Is Returned By Plains Court

PLAINS, Dec. 28.—A regular term of the 106th district court of Judge Louis B. Reed was opened here early this week with impaneling of a grand jury and calling of dockets.

The grand jury returned one indictment charging cattle theft against Jim Beach and S. R. Bourland, said Truett Smith, district attorney. He said the indictment was based on theft of a cow from W. T. Hester of Lubbock.

Smith said the defendants had been apprehended and that the case against them was set for Wednesday of next week.

School Building And Stadium Under Construction At Lamesa

LAMESA, Dec. 28. (Special)—Construction was begun this week on a new elementary school building and physical education plant for Lamesa. The building program is financed by PWA and is to cost $148,000.

Construction is being done by C. S. Cates & Son of Abilene.

A football stadium also is under construction. The building program has been necessitated by rapid increase in enrollment in the schools and all buildings are to be completed for opening of school next fall.

Permits Total Hits $3,519,443 Top

Lubbock building permits zoomed past the three and a half million mark Wednesday when authorization was given at the office of Jim Reid, city building inspector, for construction estimated at $130,007.19.

Aggregate for the year was boosted to $3,519,443.93. December total is $483,859.19.

All-time record for Lubbock permits was broken last week.

Largest of two permits was to the city for extension of water and sewer systems. Largest item included in city improvements is connection of new water well in northwest part of the city to standpipe on Nineteenth street.

A small permit was issued R. B. Gilson, owner, and J. L. Christian, contractor.

WACO, Dec. 28 — Two men flying to Randolph field at San Antonio were forced to desert their plane in parachutes tonight when the pilot became lost in murky weather, but each landed safely about 15 miles south of here.

Their ship's supply of gasoline exhausted at 7,000 feet, they flew, ignorant of their location, for about an hour and a half before dropping off into the fog.

The passenger, Private Cecil Wesley, telephoned from Lorena, 13 miles south, that he had landed safely, and shortly afterward the pilot, Sgt. George Holmes, also reported his safety.

The whereabouts of the ship was unknown, and the sheriff's department and state police, who started a hunt, reported it might have crashed 10 miles from where the men leaped.

Holmes reported he had started to Randolph field, the department of commerce radio station here said, but he was

Scientific Discovery Held Of Tremendous Importance

By STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH
Associated Press Science Writer

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 28.—A new method of electrocuting disease germs with light waves was announced today before the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Dr. Harvey C. Rentschler and Dr. Rudolph Nagy of the Westinghouse Research laboratories, Philadelphia, reported they had found one of the weak spots in the lives of bacteria. Apparently, they declared, each different type of germ, of which there are thousands, can be killed by subjecting it to a specific intensity of light for a definite period of time.

The practical value of their discovery will probably be in the hospital operating room where, in addition to the light which the surgeon uses for his work, a special light will be focused on the incision to kill any germs which may be present to cause infection during or after the operation. This use, however, can only be developed by

ON DANCE ETIQUETTE

SOUTHERNER, a newcomer to Lubbock and unmarried (we don't know his name and address so quit reading right here if you're curious) telephoned us recently to express his perplexity about the prevalent custom in these parts of women handing out stag bids for club dances.

He accepted such an invitation last week and has another one for this week. At the party last week he said some difficulties arose among the husband (or husbands) of one (or several) of the hostesses. Innocently, he was involved, he said, and now he is wondering whether or not he did right in accepting such a bid. He says he has no yen for any married woman, nor any trouble with their husbands and he is afraid if he accepts the next stag bid he will not only get himself in trouble but break a social amenity as he has never heard of the custom being socially accepted anywhere else.

He wants to know the origin of the custom of sending stag bids, whether or not it is merely local, whether or not it is socially accepted to send AND accept them and whether or not the stag is responsible if the sender's husband gets jealous.

We told him we were sure the custom was considered socially correct in Lubbock and that accepting the bid depended entirely upon personal judgment, the hostess and her husband being the main points of consideration. But we couldn't give him any information as to whether or not the custom was considered correct in various parts of the country. Does anyone have anything to say on the subject?

BUILDING PERSONALITY

SPEAKING of dancing, have you read Dr. Henry C. Link's new book, "The Rediscovery of Man"? He contends that the wife who takes husband dancing does him a favor. "Dancing is splendid," he writes. "Perhaps the best personality-developer of all. Tennis and golf and hand-ball also are excellent."

The book is an about face from all the personality books that claim you can learn to get along with people by following a formula. Doctor Link contends that the best way to learn to get along with people is to play with them. He believes this is more important than "reading constantly, listening to the radio and going to the movies."

NEW YEAR WISHES

RUTH MILLETT has ideas for women who resolve to give their husbands a Happy New Year. For instance she says: "Let's improve his disposition by:

"Getting up and cooking his breakfast every morning.

"Looking our best around the house.

"Cutting money discussions to a minimum.

"Keeping household problems to ourselves.

"Staying away from his possessions.

"Let's see that he shines socially by:

"Playing him up, instead of poking fun at him.

"Entertaining his friends, whether we like them or not—even pretending that we do.

"Getting him to share the responsibility of entertaining, even if we have to resort to "You see that Mrs. Nitz has a good time. She will if you pay attention to her."

"Cutting our 'Dears' and 'Darlings' to a minimum when there are others—especially attractive women—within earshot.

"Let's see that he stops worrying day and night by:

"Realizing that our children can be healthy and happy without having everything the neighbors' children have.

"Taking enough of the financial responsibility to realize that we aren't putting something over when we end up with a more expensive suit than we should have bought.

"Being good 'managers.'

"Not talking all the time about the things we need or wish we had, or the beautiful new car Bob Brown gave his wife for Christmas.

LET'S make a good companion of him by:

"Being gay ourselves.

"Not ignoring him on the way to and from a party, as though we couldn't be bothered trying to entertain just him.

"Not trying to get our own way all the time.

"Having an answer to his inevitable 'What do you want to do?'

"It won't be easy. But we can improve him—if we work hard enough on ourselves."

Former Ko Shari Members Honored At Dinner Given By Club Actives

As December wanes, the spirit of the Christmas holiday still lingers in the form of various types of entertainments.

Ko Shari alumnae entertained with a dinner at Mexican Inn Tuesday night as a courtesy to former members here for the holidays and other guests.

Attending were Mesdames Winston Brummett of Austin, Emmett and Lewis Kerr, Jack Hankins, Homer Hall, Misses Faye Bumpass of Gladewater, Clarice Hollman of Santos, Brazil, Peggy Carle, Dorothy Allen, Frances Mayhugh, Dorothy and Ruth Mildred Rylander, Katherine Johnston, Sophie Alice Hardgrave, Pauline Barrier, Dr. W. C. Holden and Tom Holden of Sierra Blanca.

Motif Is Scotch

Mrs. James Samson, 2312 Thirteenth street, added an interesting event to the calendar of holiday parties with a thread of Scottish sentimentality woven through the hospitality, when she gave an informal high tea Tuesday afternoon for the Klever Kraft Klub.

English tea was served from a silver set that had belonged to her grandmother and which was sent to Mrs. Samson from Scotland several years ago. Other refreshments of plum pudding, served with hard sauce, fruit cake and Scotch short bread, were Christmas gifts from Scotland.

Guests were Mesdames M. K. Foster, Floyd Honey, C. N. Wood, C. R. Hurmence, J. C. Reynolds, H. F. Lloyd, W. E. Humphries, R. S. Underwood and A. B. Brown.

The club will meet Thursday, January 5, with Mrs. Humphries, 2009 Broadway, at 3 o'clock.

Husbands Entertained

Merry Bidders club entertained with an annual husbands' party Tuesday night at the F. R. Friend home, 2005 Broadway. A three-course dinner was served preceding games of forty-two.

Winter leaves decorated the rooms and bud vases of red and blue flowers centered the foursome table.

Special guests were Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Overton, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Sims, Mrs. C. S. Middleton, Mrs. Oral Thomas, Miss Mary Evans and W. C. Rylander.

Club members and their husbands attending were Messrs. and Mesdames J. B. McCauley, John Austin, J. C. Reynolds, R. H. Tudor, Mesdames K. Carter, Maude Bradley, Minnie Fickas, A. W. Evans, H. W. Stanton, T. E. Crites, F. V. Brown and I. E. Barr.

In Kent Home

Honoring a number of house guests, Dr. and Mrs. Harry L. Kent, 2435 Twenty-second street, entertained Tuesday night. Guests were a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Kent, jr., Austin; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Taggert, Lordsburg, N. M., a son-in-law and daughter; and Richard Kent, a son of State college, N. M.

Kent, jr., is an instructor at Texas university; Taggert is city attorney at Lordsburg and Richard Kent is a senior at New Mexico State college.

Thirty guests called during the evening. The host and hostess were assisted in entertaining by their youngest son, Robert.

Mr. and Mrs. Taggert and Richard Kent left for their homes on Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Kent, jr., plan to remain in Lubbock until Friday.

Ski Party Honored

Margaret Baskin, Zella Riegel, Natalie Tandy, Casey Fine, and Dr. Truman Camp, members of the Lubbock ski party, who are staying at Griener's Tres Ritos resort over the Christmas holidays, enjoyed an evening of entertainment on their second day in New Mexico. The party was sponsored by the Taos Winter Sports club and held at the home of one of its members. Twenty-five ski enthusiasts gathered to enjoy Christmas cookies, singing to guitar music, and seeing two reels of color film taken of members of the local ski club on the Agua Piedra ski course. The party was the climax of a day skiing on the Carson National Forest's ski course, in which members of the Taos club helped the new comers get acquainted. During the day, a ski class was conducted by Renu du Pasquier.

Hunt-Dover Rites Of Friday Told

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Jean Dover of Lubbock, daughter of W. H. Dover of Commerce, and Alvan Hunt, son of A. G. Hunt of 1718 Avenue O, which took place last Friday in Plainview with Rev. Fred R. Rogers, Presbyterian minister, officiating.

Mrs. Hunt, a graduate of Draughon's Business college, has been employed as secretary to Dewitt Knapp, an architect. Mr. Hunt is a native resident of Lubbock.

The couple plans to build.

Silver Wedding Anniversary Observed By Slaton Couple

SLATON, Dec. 28. (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. A. Kessel, who today are observing their silver wedding anniversary, recently anticipated the event by giving a family dinner party at their home. The long dining table was laid with white linen and sterling silver, a gift of Mr. Kessel to his wife. A centerpiece of white carnations was flanked by white candles in silver candelabra.

Attending were the couple's three sons, Julian of Roswell, N. M.; Bertram, University of Texas, Austin, student, and Milton, a Texas Technological college, Lubbock, student, and Dr. Harry Jacobson, Benjamin Arthur and little Thelma Janis of Roswell.

Baptist Society Will Have Luncheon, Business Meet

Members of the First Baptist Women's Missionary union will attend a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon in the activity center. Afterward a regular meeting will be conducted.

Devotional will be by Mrs. R. S. Wilkinson, and Mrs. Frank Barclay will sing, "I Want to Tell the Story." Reports of a recent state convention in Dallas will be submitted and plans for next year will be discussed.

The executive committee will meet at 11:45 a. m. at the activity center.

The couple is at home near Abernathy. Mrs. Medlin has made her home for several years with a sister, Mrs. Frank Lovelace who lives near Abernathy. The couple was graduated from Abernathy High school.

Licensing Of Bikes Set Back Several Days, Announced

Delivery of tags to be issued when registration of bicycles starts early in January will be delayed several days, according to information received at the city hall Wednesday.

The design for which orders was placed called for the spelling out of the word "Lubbock" on the plate. Not more than six letters can be used, however, so the term will be abbreviated to read "Lub." The figures, 1939, and serial number of the plates also will appear.

Registration of bicycles will be required under an ordinance adopted several weeks ago. The registration fee will be 35 cents and Feb. 1 will be deadline for the registration.

Business Has Brisk Outlook

Lubbock's prospects for 1939, as well as the national outlook for business, came in for a comprehensive review before the Rotary club Wednesday noon at Lubbock hotel by W. S. Posey, vice president of the First National bank.

Warren P. Clement, president, presided and turned the program over to C. I. Wall, chairman of the program committee.

"It looks like there is a right healthy outlook for the next year," he said after pointing out that a building program here "looks like it will last from 8 to 12 months more, and might be 15 to 20 months." There was a serious shortage of homes in Lubbock when the building program started, he said. "It is now recognized that Lubbock is a business center."

Gulf Well Cited

Pointing out that the recent Gulf oil well brought in in Garza county was called "the most important oil event in 1938 in West Texas," he said it opened up vast undeveloped and unknown possibilities. Below the Permian basin oil, he added, there are four beds with oil discovered.

Early in the year the nation had its recession. A nation-wide survey of 3,000 business leaders, he said, on May 1 indicated 60 per cent said business was on the decline and only 11 per cent reported it ahead. On December 1, the same group showed a 40 per cent growth, with but 27 per cent showing conditions static or declining.

Signs Of Times Good

Posey said the recent election, which developed a considerable majority against the New Deal, indicated the correcting of anti-business legislation would come. There will be no drastic control of business. The national defense program, in which probably a billion dollars will be spent within the next 18 months, should prime business, even in this section.

Lubbock county has grown 85,000 bales of cotton this year, he pointed out, raised a record feed crop, and has thousands of head of cattle, hogs and sheep on feed. "Business in Lubbock has enough to run on for a good many months," he added.

Cotton Bowl Edition Of Tech Magazine Distributed Here

Distribution of the Cotton Bowl edition of Texas Tech magazine started Wednesday.

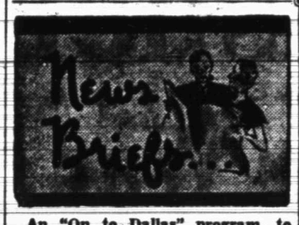

Miss Opal Hill, Tech senior textile engineering student who will be honored at the Cotton Bowl Jubilee as Cotton Girl of the Nation, is pictured on the front cover.

"Clifford B. Jones, President," article in the issue, was written by Judge Marshall Formby of Dickens, vice-president of the Alumni and Ex-Students' association. Tom Miller, member of the Avalanche-Journal staff, was author of "Raiders Prepare for Cotton Bowl Invasion."

"Pulchritude on Parade" presents the eight co-eds recently chosen La Ventana beauties. "Step High, Young Lady", by Elvira Smith, student from Amarillo, is a sketch about Ruth Clark, majorette who will march with the college band in the Cotton bowl.

Texas Tech magazine, of which Calvin Hazlewood is managing editor, is the official publication sponsored by the Alumni and Ex-Students association.

Progress In Rural Schools Is Outlined By Retiring County School Superintendent

An "On to Dallas" program, to bolster support of the Texas Technological college Red Raiders contest in the Cotton Bowl game Monday, is planned for today at the Kiwanis club, said Dude Buster, program chairman. It also will be the last meeting over which the outgoing president, Dr. O. W. English, will preside.

A daughter weighing 6 pounds 15 ounces was born to Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dial of 1406 Avenue W at 11:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at Plains hospital.

Ted Ferguson, employe of Lubbock Coal and Grain company, lost the tip of his little finger and suffered fractures of his ring and index fingers when his left hand was caught in a pulley of a grain grinding machine at the company plant, 2602 Avenue H, Wednesday morning. He was attended at West Texas hospital and taken to his home.

M. P. Vannoy of Haskell, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Vannoy of the Arnett-Benson addition, Wednesday underwent surgery at Lubbock sanitarium. His condition was considered satisfactory Wednesday night, members of the family said.

Elmo Staple and Gussie Lee Staple, charged Tuesday with forgery, Wednesday were arraigned before Walter Davies, justice of peace. Bonds of $1,000 each were set for them. They were charged in separate complaints. Bonds had not been posted that night.

Improvement in the condition of Dean James M. Gordon of Technological college was reported here Wednesday by his daughter, Miss Betty Alice Gordon, who returned from a visit to the hospital in Temple where he is being treated. Dean Gordon underwent major surgery last Thursday. His condition is considered satisfactory, Miss Gordon said.

Dr. Sam G. Dunn of the West Texas hospital staff reported theft of a (Chrysler Royal) coupe between 1:30 and 6:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon when it was parked near the hospital. In it were a "pill bag" and the doctor's hunting clothes, he said. License number is 811-671.

O'Daniel's Advent In Political Saddle Easily Makes Best 1938 Texas News

Speculation For 1939 Is Stirred

By HARRELL E. LEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Dec. 27 — Governmental 1938, insofar as Texas is concerned, was highlighted by the unique, successful campaign of flour salesman W. Lee O'Daniel of Fort Worth for the governorship.

The amazing victory of the smiling man from Ohio and Kansas, who built up a tremendous following through homely philosophies and hillbilly music on the radio removed Attorney General William McCraw from politics, at least temporarily, and turned back the bid of Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson for political advancement.

Garner's Views Watched

The Fort Worth man captured the fancy of the people with promises to give them relief from "professional politicians" and pay $30 a month pensions to everyone over 65 years of age.

There was no presidential election, no legislative session and no campaign for the United States senate to share attention with the colorful governor's race.

The role Texas will play in the 1940 Democratic national convention began to assume importance. The year has seen developments of a home state boom for John N. Garner for the 1940 presidential nomination. Democrats at the biennial state convention at Beaumont indorsed him. It was not yet known whether Garner would be an aspirant for the nomination. Friends were singing his praises in the hope Texas would be represented by a delegation which will vote for someone with views similar to those of "Cactus Jack."

Facts Are Clearly Drawn

In retrospect, these facts about governmental 1938 stand out:

Old age pensions — The average monthly old age pension in Texas has been $13.76 compared with a national average of $19.23. The number on the rolls has averaged 113,000. If the state can pay its maximum $15 a month to the estimated 280,000 Texans qualified, as advocated by O'Daniel, additional revenues of $42,000,000 a year would be needed.

Education—The board of education fixed the per capita allotment to the public schools at $22, the same as in 1937-38. The school fund apparently will lack at least $3,000,000, however, of being sufficient to pay that apportionment. Last year there was a large carryover from 1936-37. The state ad valorem tax rate for school puposes was kept at 7 cents on the $100 valuation. Enrollment in the state's colleges has continued to grow with the result they are asking bigger appropriations.

Federal Aid Slash Promised

Highways—The state highway department took additional strides toward surfacing Texas' vast network of roads. Good roads enthusiasts say progress will be retarded by the federal aid reduction scheduled for fiscal 1940. An encouraging feature of the highway situation is that gasoline revenues have become considerably more than sufficient to retire outstanding bonds issued for state highway purposes.

General finances—The deficit in the state's general fund was $21,235,364 Dec. 20, the highest in history and $3,500,000 larger than at the same time in 1937. The only way to make an appreciable dent in it apparently will be to levy new taxes as any saving in departmental appropriations probably will be largely offset by increases to colleges, public schools, eleemosynary institutions and possibly in some judges' salaries.

Traffic Drive Effective

Miscellaneous — statewide traffic safety campaign aided in cutting traffic fatalities about 20 per cent . . . "Farmer Jim" Ferguson decided against any member of his family running for governor, which probably meant he never again will be seen on the stump campaigning for someone bearing his name . . . Gov. James V. Allred decided against trying to shatter precedent and win a third term, then later was selected by President Roosevelt as a federal judge . . . Elliott Roosevelt, son of the president, began taking an active part in state affairs, which some considered an indication he might seek statewide office within the next few years. . . . The senate's general investigating committee inquired into policies of Land Commissioner William H. McDonald, who subsequently was defeated for a second term . . . A disastrous overflow on the Colorado river despite existence of P. W. A.-financed dams led to a senate committee investigation, which probably will echo in 1939.

Couple Celebrate 67th Anniversary

UVALDE, Dec. 28. (U.P.)—W. A. Bowles, sr., pioneer of this section, celebrated his 90th birthday today, and his 67th wedding anniversary.

Friends and relatives from all sections of Texas gathered to assist the elderly couple celebrate. They were married on the bridegroom's birthday in 1871.

Mrs. Bowles is a native of Texas, born June 4, 1853, at Fort Worth. Bowles was born Dec. 28, 1848, in Mississippi and came to Texas when one year old. He was a Confederate soldier at the age of 17.

They have been the parents of 10 children, eight of whom are still living. They have six grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Movie Actor Faces Two Alternatives In The Disposal Of His Over-Sized $25,000 Yacht

(Copyright, 1938, By United Press)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 28.—The government gave Movie Actor Errol Flynn two alternatives today in disposing of his $25,000 over-size yacht.

He could form a corporation and dispose of a majority ownership to American citizens, or sell the boat and pay the government a fine for violating the regulations.

Flynn has taken out first American citizenship papers but is still a British subject. No alien may own a pleasure boat under American registry of more than 16 tons. Flynn's white sailing yacht Sirocco is of 31 tons.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Norman Neukom issued a libel against the boat and a deputy marshal is in command. Flynn says the trim two-masted vessel caught his eye, and he erred unintentionally in buying it.

PREVIEW IN CHURCH

Paramount Pictures, Inc., said today that arrangement had been made with Heber J. Grant, president of the Latter Day Saints church, for a special preview of the motion picture "Union Pacific" in the famous Mormon tabernacle in Salt Lake City about April 1, 1939.

This will be the first showing of a feature movie in the sound-perfect temple, the studio said. Attending will be Union Pacific railroad executives, state and civic officials, and officers of the church.

SEEKS PROPERTY RETURN

James Cruze, veteran film director, brought suit today to obtain control of property worth $150,000 deeded to his daughter, Julie.

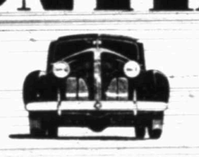

Cruze claimed that at a time when he was critically ill he had the deeds executed to save expense of administration in event of his death. After recovering, he learned the deeds had been recorded and the property passed to his daughter's name. He alleged that she is incompetent. He lost a similar court battle brought several months ago.

Missing Girl Is Located

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Dec. 28 (AP)—Detective Captain William H. Peters said Jane Akowsky, 17, who disappeared Christmas eve, had been found by a posse in a lonely mountain shack, hysterical, but unharmed.

Captain Peters, who led the posse, said the devoutly religious daughter of a junk-yard checker had been taken to her home and would be questioned later. No arrests had been made in the case he said, but added: "We know who the man is."

After the girl's father had reported he feared his daughter had been abducted, Peters said, he received information the girl had been seen in an automobile driven by a man identified as a farmer living in the mountains eight miles north of here.

She Was Unharmed

"We located the girl where we had expected to find her, eight miles above the city line," Peters said. "She was unharmed — nothing had happened to her.

"She was hysterical and we couldn't get much out of her, so we decided to take her home and put off questioning her until she is calmer."

The man suspected of abducting the girl was not at the shack when the posse arrived, Peters said, but his whereabouts were known.

"The girl was not alone," he said. "There was an old woman and a boy about 12 years old in the house. They had nothing to say. The woman gave no information."

None Is Injured In Pile-Up Of Freight Cars Near Portland

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 28. (AP)—A westbound Union Pacific freight train struck a 6,000-pound rock last midnight, derailing a locomotive and piling up 26 cars.

No one was injured. The accident occurred at Oneonta, 32 miles east of here.

Rufe Davis Will Be Honored Here Friday

Friday has been designated as Rufe Davis day in Lubbock.

The young movie actor, "who stole the show from Bob Burns in one of his pictures," will be guest of Lubbock Friday and will make personal appearances at the Cactus theater, according to announcement Wednesday by officials of the theater.

He will be the third number of a series of added attractions at the theater.

Mayor Carl E. Slaton Wednesday announced that he had designated Friday as Rufe Davis day in Lubbock in honor of the actor and comedian, famous for his "sound effects."

Davis has made two visits to Lubbock. He formerly had a brother who was a student of Texas Technological college.

Broadcast Assured Of Grid Battle

The Texas State Network, including KFYO, Lubbock, the Texas Quality network and WFAA, Dallas, will broadcast the Texas Tech-St. Mary's football game from the Cotton bowl in Dallas starting at 1:45 p. m. Monday, according to announcements Wednesday.

Two outstanding sports announcers, Kern Tips of KPRC, and Hal Thompson of WFAA, will describe the game and activities between halves.

Immediately at the conclusion of the Cotton bowl game, WFAA will broadcast the Rose bowl game.

The water buffalo is the chief source of the milk supply in the Philippine islands.

Mattson Case Still Mystery

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 28 (AP) — The most revolting crime of 1936 passed its second anniversary last night — still first on the federal bureau of investigation's "unsolved" list.

At 10 p. m. Dec. 27, 1936, a masked and bearded stranger forced his way into the Tacoma home of Dr. W. W. Mattson and carried away the family's younger son, Charles, 10. A crudely typed ransom demand fluttered to the floor as the kidnaper vanished into the cold, rainy night with his struggling victim.

Two weeks later, the abused body of the boy was found naked in a thicket near Everett, Wash. He had been dead for days, possibly dead even at the moment when his father was making desperate efforts to pay the $28,000 ransom.

In the last year, the case has reached the headlines only once — when the Washington state patrol arrested a man who confessed the crime, only to be revealed days later as an escaped insane hospital inmate who was inside the hospital walls at the time of the kidnaping.

In the past few weeks new suspects have been questioned in several cities but all have been exonerated like the 16,000 persons J. Edgar Hoover, F. B. I. chief, said have been questioned.

Irish Prime Minister To Visit President Roosevelt In Spring

DUBLIN, Dec. 28. (U.P.)—Prime Minister Eamon DeValera will visit President Roosevelt on May 6, 1939, it was announced today.

DeValera, who is a native of New York City, also will visit the New York World's fair and may open the Irish pavilion at the fair on May 13.

While in Washington the prime minister will stay at the White House at the invitation of Mr. Roosevelt. He will remain in Washington until May 7, when he will leave for New York.

Coaches Give Dallas Fans 'Red Raiders On Parade' In Wednesday Workout

Advance Ticket Sale Indicates Record Crowd

By COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche Sports Editor

DALLAS, Dec. 28. — Coach Pete Cawthon of the Texas Tech Red Raiders let down the bars today and played the role of a gracious host to a thousand or so Dallas football fans who braved wintry blasts for a glimpse of their Cotton Bowl idols in action.

The public workout, postponed from Tuesday because of cold, damp weather, brought a hearty response from the Ownby stadium west stands. Although freezing weather precluded an expected crowd of five thousand fans.

Lubbock fans who have witnessed the spring "previews" and the early autumn "Red Raider parades" know what the Dallas fans witnessed and heard today.

With Jimmy Stewart, Southern Methodist university's athletic business manager and Cotton Bowl ticket manager, calling the "signals," over the public address system, the Red Raiders ran through a 45-minute session of drills and offensives for the benefit of the crowd. Under direction of Coaches Cawthon and Smith, the Raiders pulled all sorts of tricks, legal and illegal, from various formations.

They even pulled the "hidden ball" stunt from a kick-off reception—no one knew who had the ball until Dudley Akins pulled it from under his jersey, and at that the ball was deflated.

Get Long Boots

Kicking at "coffin corner," C. L. Storrs, Charley Calhoun, Joffe Marek, Billy Dodd, Bobby Holmes and Ty Bain thrilled the crowd by getting off boots ranging from 50 to 70 yards, aided by a slight wind, and out of bounds inside the 5-yard line. There was a pass defense exhibition, and a regulation pass offensive practice, but this wasn't so hot because the weather was so cold that receivers had trouble with their control. Gene Barnett, who was back in customary style today, recovering from an ankle hurt, was doing the fanciest passing, but Woodrow Ramsey, Billy Dodd, C. L. Storrs and Akins were doing some nifty pitching. The crowd mumbled about the number of qualified passers on the Tech team.

Dallas fans, who have been "sold" on the Texas Techs since their arrival here because of the Red Raiders spirit and desire to work, were impressed by the manner in which the Raiders went hard in football fundamentals, blocking and tackling. It's an every day story to the Lubbock sideliners, because the Raiders never forget fundamentals, but the manner in which they attacked the dummies, the charging sled, the bucking belt, and each other was deeply imprinted. They charged the charging sled all over the S. M. U. field and down the sidelightway, and they tossed blocks at one another that would have looked well in a regulation game.

After the general exhibition—each player was introduced personally by Coach Cawthon—the Tech mentor invited the folks in the stands to come down to the field and mix and mingle and meet the Red Raider players. For half an hour this mixing and mingling continued, for with a wild whoop the spectators accepted the invitation and swarmed on the field. They surrounded the boys, individually and en toto, and introductions lasted for some time.

The Raiders had diked themselves out in their regulation playing suits, many of which have been replaced by brand spanking new ones so as to make a more colorful showing at the Cotton Bowl game, and they presented a brilliant red spectacle as they romped over the Mustang turf.

Fluschе, Webb Out

Two very important Red Raiders remained in their expensive hotel rooms today, sniffing and wheezing with bad colds. They were Raymond Flusche, starting quarterback, and George L. Webb, regular left end. Cawthon was not seriously concerned over their plights, explaining that the sneezing ones probably would be ready to start some hard work tomorrow.

Following the conglomeration of fans and players on the field, most of the spectators left the stadium, in deference to the chilly atmosphere, and the Raiders settled down to some serious work.

"We will now forget all about the public business," Cawthon, in effect, addressed his Cotton Bowlers, "and will do a bit of serious work. Smith, you take the tackles and guards, leave me the ends and centers for a while, and let's go to work."

Line Coach Dutchy Smith accommodated, and the real workout started.

Cold Wave Handicap

The cold wave, while not interfering with the spirit of the ball club, did handicap the workout, particularly the overhead drill. Few passes were thrown, although there was considerable pass defense.

There was no nose-to-nose scrimmage, although one is scheduled for either Thursday or Friday, but the boys got a taste of roughness in the pass defense practice, in blocking and tackling at dummies.

Secret workouts will be the order each day now until the Cotton Bowl game. Sports writers and special friends are admitted to the field by cards only, the cards duly signed by Coach Cawthon. He does not limit the card signing, welcomes the scribes to the workouts, but desires a certain amount of privacy in the rehearsals to follow.

The St. Mary's team, due to arrive here early Saturday with 500 rooters, will be given the same reception tendered the Red Raiders last week. Bombs will be exploded, cotton confetti will be showered down from Main street office buildings during the St. Mary's parade, and all respect will be paid the charges of Slip Madigan and his supporters.

Cotton Bowl fans who have neglected to purchase tickets for the Texas Tech-St. Mary's grid classic in Dallas Jan. 2 may not find just the seat they're looking for, but they'll find a lot of seats anyway—if they act promptly.

The sudden cold wave which struck Texas this week has resulted in a let-up of ticket sales. Cotton Bowl officials said today that tickets would be on sale at 14 box offices just outside the stadium, on the day of the game, at regular prices. Most of the tickets unsold are of the $2.20 variety but "any place in the high-seated Cotton Bowl is a good place to see a ball game."

Until he leaves Lubbock Thursday for Dallas, Bo Williams, at Texas Tech, has the most desirable tickets left. He will bring the remainder to Dallas, and they will be on sale at the box offices and at the Baker hotel before game time. About $4,000 Bowl officials said.

MORAGA, Calif., Dec. 28 (AP)—Thirty-eight St. Mary's football players packed tonight in preparation for their departure tomorrow for Dallas, where they have a date in the Cotton Bowl with Texas Tech's Red Raiders on Jan. 2.

After a lecture today by Coach Edward Madigan, the Gaels designed in a long drill. The coach said "the players are in fine physical shape, but I don't know how they are mentally."

Madigan said he planned to use two separate teams against Tech.

Ace Bowler

GENE GAGLIARDI

Star Pinsmasher Appears Today

The near-perfect in bowling technique will be demonstrated here today by Gene Gagliardi, world's 1937 American Bowling congress champion.

The small maple toppler appears at the Lubbock Bowling club at 4 o'clock this afternoon at which time he will lecture and give instruction to both men and women. An exhibition of his incomparable skill will feature his night performance starting at 8 o'clock.

Gagliardi began his pin-smashing career when only 13 years old as a pin-boy in a Yonkers, N. Y., bowling club. Since then the dimunitive ace has advanced to the stage where he is now touring the nation giving exhibitions. While on the West Coast recently he made a moving picture which included some of the most difficult shots of the trade.

Among his tricks local bowlers will have an opportunity to see will be two strikes with one ball and the best of the game's most difficult splits.

Gene is of Italian parents. The fact that he weighs only 125 pounds makes him the smallest man ever to win a world's A. B. C. title. He says accuracy counts more than speed or size.

On a 20-week tour through the country Gene has averaged 213 for 788 games, also has a 10-game average of 266 in a match and has 12 perfect scores to his credit.

U. S. G. A. APPROVES PAR

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP) — The United States Golf association said today that the plan of the Philadelphia Country club, site of the 1939 U. S. Open championship, to change par for its Spring Mill course from 71 to 69 already had received the approval of the U. S. G. A. championship committee.

Interest Rises In Plainview Tilt Friday

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 28 — Football interest in this city reached mid-season intensity today as Plainview's Bulldogs and Biloxi's Redskins of Mississippi put finishing touches to their attacks for Friday's intersectional clash.

The post-season fray is expected to draw one of the largest crowds this year to the Junior High school stadium.

The Indians boast one of the most colorful squads on the Mississippi Gulf coast and should give Coach Vernon Hilliard's lads a real battle. The Bulldogs have been bolstered by the addition of several recruits that have come up from the Junior High school team and several of them will see service, Coach Hilliard indicated.

Strength of the Plainview team in the District 1 race next season will be indicated as the Plainview mentors probably will experiment to get a combination that clicks.

Opposing the West Texans will be a squad that has a very impressive season's record and lists on its lineup two of the finest backs in [illegible] Coach Pinkel May's Tribe is headed by Captain James Stevens, triple threat field general, and Joe Mattina, 1938 All-Big Eight Conference halfback. Twelve linemen and eight backfielders comprise the traveling squad.

Banaski Uses 'Clutch' For Win Again

Joe Banaski is getting so good with his "alligator clutch" that there seems to be nobody around this circuit who can do anything about his winning streak.

Last night he added the scalp of John Nemanic to his long victory list by clinching the "clutch" in 37 minutes, all told, for two straight falls. The first fall was the long one, 24 minutes to be exact, and "King Kong" had considerable trouble before grabbing a full nelson, swinging Nemanic's arms between his legs and then grabbing his wrists to tie him into a knot and take the decision.

Things were about as interesting in the second period as Nemanic continued to slug and pull hair. Banaski did not like the slugging and hair pulling and he let "Big Train" Clements know about it with an uppercut to the referee's chin. But Nemanic, meanwhile, had got down to business and apparently had Banaski in a bad spot when, suddenly Joe quickly came to life, crawled through John's legs and grabbed the "clutch". It was that simple!

Hill Bests Ludwig

In the semi-final Otto Ludwig went in for a little roadwork, running all over the place for five minutes before his opponent, Frankie Hill, could clasp a headlock on him. For the second five minutes the mad German emitted loud noises of suffering from the punishment his head was receiving. And Hill might have won the match then had not the growling German turned loose several well-aimed fists into his back.

But Hill came back, and after batting Clements all over one corner grabbed Ludwig by the hair and beat his head into the mat until his shoulders were pinned.

Russ Riley retained his reputation of being a real scrapper when he mixed it up with Bill Cazzell in the curtain raiser. The match ended in a draw but Riley got in enough swinging rights and left hooks to please himself and the fans after the final bell had sounded.

Aldrich Has Eye Injury

FORT WORTH, Dec. 28. (AP)—Burly Ki Aldrich, Texas Christian's pepperpot All-America center was treated tonight for a serious eye ailment that may keep him out of the Sugar Bowl game against Carnegie Tech at New Orleans Monday.

Dr. Webb Walker, Fort Worth specialist, examined the big lineman today and advised Coach Leo (Dutch) Meyer not to use Aldrich in practice and added "There is a chance he will be unable to play Monday."

Hot compresses were applied to the ulcer on the cornea of his eye.

Aldrich scrimmaged yesterday and it wasn't until hours later that his eye troubled him.

Second string center on the Horned Frog team is Clarence (Lefty) Alexander, a 195-pound sophomore who may be called upon to fill a gap that Aldrich plugged in incomparable fashion.

"The loss of Ki would damage us badly," said Coach Meyer. "He has the fire and leadership we need. He doesn't need any more practice. All he has to do is get ready for 1:30 next Monday."

Aldrich, in three years on the varsity, has never lost a minute because of an injury.

MUSTANGS WIN AGAIN

PEORIA, Ill., Dec. 28. (AP)—Southern Methodist university dealt Bradley Tech its second basketball defeat of the season tonight, 45 to 33. Bradley trailed, 22 to 9, at halftime.

Watch Him Raiders!

Mike Klotovich, 167 pound sophomore sensation, rated by West Coast experts as the best backfield player in St. Mary's history, will be the big gun in the Galloping Gaels attack next Monday in the Cotton Bowl classic against Texas Tech's undefeated and untied Red Raiders. He averaged 5.8 yards per try during this season, completed 14 of 31 passes, and averaged 41 yards per punt.

Dodgers Announce Mungo 'Not For Sale' As Usual

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—The Brooklyn baseball club has made the approach of the New Year official by issuing its annual announcement that Van Lingle Mungo, the big fireball pitcher with the ailing arm and the sultry disposition, will not be sold or traded "because we expect him to win 20 games for us next season."

This statement, delivered solemnly about this time of year by each succeeding Brooklyn manager, is becoming part of the language, like the Gettysburg Address. Nobody seems to know why the Dodgers feel this way about Mungo, for in eight successive seasons at Ebbets field he has been only an expensive "promise." But they do.

Probably it's because Mungo is a fast-ball pitcher. When his arm feels right and he isn't nursing a grudge against one or more of his teammates, Mungo is tremendously fast—"almost as fast as Johnson." Managers don't like to let a real speedballer ever get away from them.

Others After Mungo

Ever other club in the National league has at one time or another tried to buy or trade for Mungo, and some of the offers have been fantastic. Just a year ago the Chicago Cubs offered $75,000 and four players for the mountain boy, Brooklyn, as always, said no. They held on to their "ace," and so he won four games for them and lost 11.

Mungo's salary for the last several years has been popularly reported at $15,000, and he had been a chronic holdout. He probably will be able to demand and get as much next spring, even though there is no guarantee his pitching wing will be in shape. It's a gamble the Brooklyn club has to take. Mungo still is the team's only hope of climbing to the first division. Here's Mungo's big league won and lost record:

1931—3-1; 1932—13-11; 1933—16-15; 1934—18-16; 1935—16-10; 1936—18-19; 1937—9-11; 1938—4-11. Total, won 97, lost 94.

Since 1936, when his losses began outnumbering his victories, Mungo's temper has been growing progressively shorter. Picking him up on the opening day of the 1936 race, it is noted he observed the occasion by having a fist fight with Dick Bartell and being fined $25.

Gael Visit Here Is To Be Brief One

St. Mary's Galloping Gaels, opponents of Texas Tech in the Cotton bowl in Dallas Monday, pay their second visit of the season to Lubbock Friday night.

No plans for a reception during the 30-minute stop-over had been divulged last night.

The St. Mary's special, bearing the team, Coach Slip Madigan and his staff, and sports writers from the coast, will arrive at the Santa Fe station at 9:30 o'clock. It will leave for Dallas at 10 o'clock.

Approximately 38 players are expected to be included in the Gael roster.

Sparks Praised By Frog Coach

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 28. (AP) He didn't make the All-America honor roll, but John Simms (Connie) Sparks, a sophomore fullback, has done a lot in making Texas Christian's Horned Frogs a great football team.

Sparks will be in there kicking and plunging for Coach Leo R. (Dutch) Meyer when Texas Christian tackles the Skibos of Carnegie Tech in the Sugar Bowl gridiron classic Jan. 2.

Meyer told how highly he regarded Sparks as he sent the Horned Frogs through further drills today in Fort Worth, Tex.

"Sparks, the only sophomore on our starting lineup," said Skipper Meyer, "is the difference between a good football team and a great 1938 eleven.

"He's the heaviest fullback we've had in 10 years and his presence in our backfield has added the real punch that every team needs."

Sparks Leads Scoring

Although his performances were overshadowed by the wide publicity given those All-America aces, Little David O'Brien and Ki Aldrich, Sparks led the Southwest conference in scoring with 60 points as his team walked off with the championship.

Sparks is a six-footer, 193-pounder who went to Texas Christian from Panhandle, Texas, high school where he led his district in scoring with 203 points his senior year.

Texas Christian's hopes received a bad jolt with the revelation today that Aldrich, All America center, was suffering from an eye ulcer that might force him to the sidelines for the battle.

With some five days remaining before the game, the odds stood at 6 to 5 and take your choice. The Mid-Winter Sports association announced all tickets were sold.

The Texas Christian team will reach New Orleans Saturday morning.

Carnegie Tech, which has been holding forth at Bay St. Louis, Miss., 50 miles north of here since arrival early in the week, will come to New Orleans the morning of the game.

KFYO To Air Sportsmen

The nation's leading sportsmen will be brought to the microphone tonight from 8:30 to 9 o'clock by the Mutual Network through KFYO on "The Sports Fiesta," one of the most ambitious programs of its kind ever broadcast.

Among the sports headliners to be heard are Grantland Rice, Bing Crosby, Henry McLemore, Bill Henry, Alfred Vanderbilt, C. S. Howard, Sammy Baugh, Don Hutson, Henry Armstrong, Babe Airsmendi, Walter Hagen, Craig Wood, Sam Snead, Jim Londos, Wallace Wade and his Duke university "Blue Devils," and Howard Jones and his Trojans.

Those are the "big" names in sports today. The program will originate from Mutual's studios in Hollywood.

Houston Open To Draw Nation's Top Golfers

By OLEN W. CLEMENTS
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON, Dec. [illegible] —In raw temperatures more adaptable to skiing than golfing, many of the nation's top-notch professional tournament players went the rounds of River Oaks' narrow fairways today in preparation for the 54 hole $3,000 Houston open which gets under way tomorrow.

After a few warm up shots on the title layout most of them appeared to be about ready for par-smashing efforts.

Sammy Snead, long hitting West Virginian and the nation's top money player in 1938, has been installed as co-favorite with Harold (Jug) McSpaden, winner of the 1938 Miami open.

Dick Metz, the Chicagoan, Bryan Nelson, of Reading, Pa., Ben Hogan of Fort Worth, Don Schumacher of Dallas, and Jack Burke and Jimmy Demaret of Houston, all turned in near par scores in their first trips down the pine studded fairways today.

Snead May Set Mark

Play in the pro-amateur event will begin tomorrow morning with approximately 100 players entered. The first 18 holes of the open will be played Friday and the field will be trimmed to 64 Saturday for the last 36 holes.

When the tournament closes Saturday afternoon, the P. G. A. will write some new marks into its record book. The $3000 open will boost the total tournament prize money for the year to $185,000, Fred Corcoran, tourfiament manager of the P. G. A., said.

Spectators predicted Snead would close out his biggest golfing year with tournament cash in his jeans.

Snead already has earned $19,439 in official competition and his total number of rounds in 1938 establishes a new mark for tournament play, Corcoran said.

Corcoran said Snead's total golf earnings this year, including purses for driving contests, sweepstakes and other events would boost his golf income to $22,000.

Tech Cagers Defeated For Second Time In Tourney

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 28. (AP)—Teams dropped from the championship bracket in the Oklahoma City All-College basketball tournament played among themselves for experience today, but most performed as if the title were at stake.

Chester Bryan paced Oklahoma City university to a 37 to 28 victory over Texas Tech's Red Raiders in a battle between two teams which went to the second round before dropping out of the championship bracket.

Bryan, remembering the 60 to 0 licking Texas Tech handed O. C. U. in football this year, poured six field goals and seven free throws through the loop for 19 points.

Texas Christian University's Horned Frogs looked as if they would be more at home in the Sugar Bowl than on the court as they suffered their third straight defeat, a 46 to 41 setback by Oklahoma Baptist university.

The East Central Oklahoma teachers chalked up their second victory in the losers' bracket by nosing the Flagstaff (Ariz.) Teachers, 35 to 32.

Texas Wesleyan's Rams won their second victory in the losers' bracket by romping over the Southeastern Oklahoma Teachers, 41 to 32.

Sooners, Vols Close Gates

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 28. (AP)—The boards of strategy of both the University of Tennessee and Oklahoma football teams buckled down to final serious training for their Orange Bowl encounter Jan. 2.

Across Biscayne Bay in Miami Beach, ten miles from the Tennessee camp, Coach Tom Stidham of Oklahoma asserted with a grin, "We're going to try to figure out some way of holding the score down."

He smiled as he conceded that the odds making Tennessee a 5 to 14 favorite probably were about right.

Stidham inferred he was not so much worried by Tennessee's sudden interest in passing as in the Vols' ability to make yardage on land.

Tennessee's Major Bob Neyland apparently hoped to use the pass threat as a means of opening the Oklahoma defense, for which he has a wholesome respect.

"Any team that can hold ten opponents to 12 points," he said, "must have something."

PLAY-OFF IN MARCH

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28 (AP) — The Western contender for the National College basketball title will be the winner of a four-team play-off to be held here next March 17-18, as part of the National Collegiate Athletic association's cage tournament.

More than 16,250,000 people toured through the national park system during the year which closed in September, an increase of a million over last year.

Growing Demand For Non-Partisan Boards To Probe WPA Charges Heard

Congress Probe Seen In Offing

By RONALD G. VAN TINE
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28—President Roosevelt is considering today the establishment of non-partisan boards in every county to keep politics out of relief.

The plan, it was learned, was outlined at recent White House conferences. One usually well-informed source said that it was designed to answer congressional criticism of the Works Progress administration and to soften demands for an investigation of that agency.

New attacks on WPA were expected to follow publication of the report of the senate campaign expenditures committee, which investigated charges of political activity among federal employes during the last elections.

Serious Charges Brewing

It was learned that the report, covering inquiries made in 15 states, would contain serious charges involving politics in relief in several states, notably Kentucky, Tennessee and Pennsylvania. A coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats planned to use these charges as ammunition in a fight to prevent senate confirmation of former WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, appointment as secretary of commerce.

A recent White House visitor, commenting on the relief situation in his state, drew from the president an outline of the proposal to create non-partisan boards to investigate complaints of political coercion and other charges, and to advise the federal agency. Actual administration of relief would remain in control of WPA. Members of the boards would serve without salary.

Would Abolish WPA

Congressional opponents of the present relief set-up contended that Mr. Roosevelt, in considering such a plan, was admitting weaknesses in the WPA which, they said, permitted federal employes in many states to play politics with persons on relief rolls.

A strong group of senators, including Carter Glass, D. Va., Arthur H. Vandenberg, R. Mich., Josiah W. Bailey, D. N. C., Harry F. Byrd, D. Va., and Ellison D. Smith, D. S. C., planned to renew attempts to abolish WPA and turn its administrative functions over to the individual states.

These efforts may be strengthened by the findings of the campaign expenditures investigators. Chairman Morris Sheppard, D. Tex., said he hoped to make the committee's report public on Jan. 2, the day before the 76th congress convenes.

Criticism Growing

Although the report may not criticise Hopkins, it is expected to attack severely the activities of WPA personnel in some states. Sen. Wallace H. White, jr., of Maine, only Republican on the committee, indicated that the findings of the Democratic majority would be so "strong" that it would be unnecessary for him to file a minority report.

Some senators found support for their opposition to WPA in the announcement that an appropriation made by the last congress of $1,425,000,000, intended to carry on relief until March 1, would be exhausted by Feb. 7.

Another demand for a congressional inquiry into operations of the relief agency was made by Sen. William H. King, D. Utah, a member of the economy bloc.

"Under all the circumstances, I think that the WPA should be investigated," he said. "I anticipate that the Sheppard committee's report will support my contention."

Bond Of $1,000 Set For Negro Woman Charged With Murder

Margaret Childress, 20-year-old negro woman, Wednesday was charged with murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of Sidney Childress, her brother-in-law, Monday. The man died Wednesday afternoon.

The woman was arrested Monday by Leonard Means, negro officer, and held in the county jail.

Jas. P. Posey, chief deputy sheriff, swore to the complaint which had been prepared by Victor H. Linc assistant district attorney.

Upon arraignment before Walter Davies, justice of peace with whom the complaint was filed, bond of $1,000 was set. It had not been posted that night, said Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff.

Tech Broadcasts Slated Sunday

DALLAS, Dec. 28 (Special) — Texas Technological college, the Tech Matador band and Miss Opal Hill, Cotton Girl of the Nation, will be subjects of two exclusive broadcasts over WFAA, Dallas, Sunday, according to announcement today.

The first, which begins at 12:30 p. m., will tell in dramatic sketches the story of the Cotton Girl's life from the beginning to the present, delineating the obstacles which Miss Hill has overcome in her struggle toward becoming the only one of her sex in the world to hold a degree in textile engineering. The climax of the program will be the appearance in person of the Cotton Girl.

Band To Be Heard

She will share the program with the Texas Tech Matador band, directed by D. O. Wiley, which will be playing its first radio concert since arriving in Dallas for the Cotton bowl game.

The other Sunday broadcast will begin at 10:30 p. m., and will originate in the Grand Ball Room of Hotel Adolphus in Dallas, where a reception honoring the coronation of Miss Hill as the Cotton Girl of the Nation will be in progress.

The broadcast will include the actual coronation of the Cotton Girl with a $50,000 crown by Burrus C. Jackson, master of ceremonies, who is president of the Texas Cotton association and general chairman of the state-wide cotton committee.

During the same program, remarks from outstanding West Texans and officials who participated in the staging of the entire Cotton bowl celebration will be heard.

These speakers will include Clifford Jones, president of Texas Tech; M. E. Heard, head of the textile engineering department of Texas Tech and chairman of the technical and scientific division of the cotton industries committee; Curtis Sanford, director general of the Cotton Bowl Athletic association; William H. Jones, chairman of the cotton industries committee, and J. B. Adcue jr., president of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

Uncle Sam---King Of The Air

THE plan proposed by the Civil Aeronautics authority that aviation instruction be supplied 20,000 college students in the United States is merely another evidence of world-wide recognition of the increasingly potent part the airplane may be expected to play in any future wars.

Since the day that man learned to fly, the mossbacks of the armies and navies of the world have ridiculed suggestions that aviation might become a decisive factor in warfare. But with the passing of time and the development of the airplane, they have shown a marked tendency to qualify their criticisms. They now insist that the airship, at sea and the private on land still are the weapons with which wars will be won or lost, but they admit that the fleet or the army without adequate protection in the air will be facing a fatal handicap if confronted by an antagonist with such protection. They confess that the first class nation of today must have a powerful air fleet.

With that necessity indisputable, it appears that the colleges and universities of the nation are the obvious answer to the question: Where are the men to operate such a fleet to be found? Of course, great numbers of those who are enrolled in such secondary schools will have neither desire nor ability to qualify for any phase of aviation. But great numbers of them will. Most of them, probably, will be eager for the training if it should be made available. And probably a much higher proportion of young men in such schools will qualify as pilots or expert mechanics than would any correspondingly numerous group of young men not in college.

A double purpose would be supplied by making the training available. One is that we would prepare young men to be ready if the national emergency ever should occur. Taken as a whole, they are the type of young men who would be first rallied to the colors anyway should we become involved in war. Another consideration is that, if there should be no war, they will have qualified themselves for employment in an expanding field.

Admittedly, the Civil Aeronautic Authority's suggestion is just a suggestion. It may come to something. It may not. But unless there is a sharp change in the national trend of thought, the mere suggestion is a recognition that the air force of this nation must be expanded, soon and in very large degree. Training for college men well may prove the answer.

Maybe Napoleon Was Right

NAPOLEON BONAPARTE is credited with having once remarked to the general effect that "you can dress the Italian soldiers in blue, or you can dress them in pink, or green, or yellow, they still can't fight."

Napoleon at that time was engaged in chasing Italian armies all over northern Italy and they were said to have adopted their new uniform theorizing, perhaps, that it couldn't make their luck any worse. The fact that French armies continued whipping the Italians is of little moment.

His remark, however, justifies an interesting speculation as to whether the Italian soldiers of today would be of any comparatively higher quality should the test actually come. Perhaps Mussolini has imbued them with will, courage, morale and braverness to justify his declarations that Italians are the best soldiers on earth.

Mussolini may be correct, but the evidence is against his claims. In the World War, the Italian forces suffered defeat after defeat, especially when Austria and Germany could spare a few divisions from other fronts. In Ethiopia they did nothing to justify pride when considered that they possessed the finest of equipment and were opposed by savages virtually without modern arms. In little Spain, a nation divided, the Italian assistance has been unique in a two-year period to swing the decision to General Franco.

As a matter of fact, all of the war experiences of the Italians during the time of Napoleon and since are evidences that the Little Corporal accurately gauged the abilities of Italy's fighting men of today as well as those of his own time.

The One-Minute Sermon

For God is not unrighteous to forget your work and labour of love, which ye have showed toward his name, in that ye have ministered to the saints and do minister.

And we desire that every one of you do show the same diligence to the full assurance of hope unto the end;

That ye be not slothful, but followers of them who through faith and patience inherit the promises.—Hebrews 6; 10 through 12.

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

THE DOME OF THE TOOTH—Mohammed Tughuq, who, as emperor of India (from 1325-1351) exercised the most absolute power over his subjects, finally became a victim to insane vanity, the invariable malady of tyrants.

While passing through Bir (Hyderabad) he suffered from a severe toothache which forced him to extract one of his teeth. Out of vanity, he caused the construction of a magnificent mausoleum over the spot where his extracted tooth was interred. The domed mausoleum stands on a square platform 35 feet on each side and cost about $10,000,000.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

Judy Alcott — admiral's daughter. She faced a choice between two navy suitors.

DWIGHT CAMPBELL—ambitious lieutenant. He faced a choice between his wife and duty.

JACK HANLEY — flying sailor. He faced a test of a patient love.

MARVEL HASTINGS—navy wife. She faced the test of being a good sailor.

Yesterday: Dwight asks Judy to forgive him, to pick up the broken pieces. But she tells him she is engaged to marry Jack!

CHAPTER XXVI

The moment the words left her lips, Judy Alcott lost the triumph that had inspired them. She felt cold, and Dwight's stunned face was not the victory she had thought it would be. It was like a flame had dwindled quickly to ashes.

He said, "I'm sorry, Judy. Sorry I said those things. Of course I couldn't expect a girl like you to sit around and wait while I—while I came to my senses." His mouth twisted. "We all find out there is no Santa Claus. We all discovered we can't undo the mistakes we made. But I wish—God, how I wish—I had seen things clearly. I wish I had married you!" The violence of his words shook him. And then he was reaching for her, pulling her into his arms. "I love you," he said over and over. "Now that I can't have you, it's too cruel to bear. I want you. I need you."

She should have pushed him away. But she had hungered for his arms so long. To be close against his heart, to feel the rise and fall of his breathing, to have his pleading in her ears like this, was so sharply sweet, that for a moment she remained quiescent, still. But then she put her hands against his chest and stirred. "Don't, Dwight. It's no use."

Why must she deny the fire in her own blood? Why must she torture herself and him? Was it pride, exacting its toll? Pride that must be satisfied, that wouldn't let her yield to him, that wouldn't admit those sobs and those tears he had caused her?

Without her own volition, words were tumbling forth. "You were always ambitious, Dwight. You wanted to marry a rich girl, you thought it would help you get ahead. You knew that my father's influence could help you, but you weighed everything carefully and in the end it seemed to you that Marvel's money could help more. Bigger and better parties. Influence in Washington. She spoke of it! Her uncle's a banker, he has friends on the Naval Affairs Committee. You thought that would be an easier, quicker way than the road of merit. Oh, you were cold about it. You considered it from every angle!"

"That's not true!" he shouted.

"Everybody knows it is true. Everybody knows that every single move you ever made, since you came into the navy, has been with the single thought of getting ahead."

"A man's a fool not to want to succeed."

"Yes, but there are ways. And ways."

"I never did anything underhanded. I never used pull—"

"You wouldn't have hesitated, if you had had it."

"Pull is an asset. Why shouldn't a man use it if he has it?"

"You're a climber, Dwight. You were always. Mother tried to tell me. Jack tried to tell me—but I was blind."

That hurt. He cried, "Oh, Hanley told you, did he! Just because he's a hardworking fool who's crazy about some dimwit idea that won't ever amount to a hill of beans. Six and a half million dollars for a dirigible that goes down in any little blow."

"Battleships cost sixty millions," she said. "And dirigibles don't go down in—"

"What do you know about it?" he cried, stung. "Only what he's told you."

She said despairingly, "We've come a long way from what we started with. I didn't mean to—to say what I did. Whether it's true or not, whether you realize it or not, doesn't matter. I'm engaged to Jack Hanley, and—"

"You're too proud to take me because I married her first," he said slowly. "That's all it is. You know so little of life, Judy! People all make mistakes. That's how we find out, in the end, what we really want. If you loved Hanley, you'd have married him long before I knew you. He's been hanging around you ever since he got out of the Academy."

"Let's not talk about it any more." She thought that Dwight had none of the sensibility that Jack had. Jack was always so careful in what he said, so considerate of her feelings. But Dwight barged blindly on, saying the things he wanted to say, not caring how they hurt.

• • •

She turned the key in the ignition. "Shall I drop you anywhere?" she asked.

"I wasn't going any place. I suppose I'll go back to the ship."

She couldn't resist asking, "where is Marvel?"

"On Tennant's yacht, I guess. I don't care."

But that wasn't true. He did care. She said gently, "You turned to me because it was a salve for your pride, Dwight. I think you're still crazy about her."

"A moment ago you accused me of marrying her for her money."

But she knew that though this was true, it did not prevent him from really loving Marvel; from being affected by her beauty and her lure.

"I guess I'll get out here," he said, reaching for the door handle.

"Don't. I'll drive you to the pier." She should have realized that it was better to let him go here. But she had never been one to foresee the sharp eyes, the delightd gasps, of other people. Gossip always caught her unaware.

So when they stopped at the pier, and Dwight got out, she did not notice anyone she knew. Yet the moment she reached home, her mother said to her, "Judy, I've just had a phone call from Mrs. Lane. She says someone on the station saw Dwight getting out of your car a few minutes ago. She says—"

"I suppose people are talking already!" Judy snapped. "Can't I even drop him off at the pier without people leaping to the conclusion that he was making love to me?"

"Was he making love to you?" her mother asked, in a quiet voice.

Damage Of $100,000 Caused In Blaze At Port Arthur

PORT ARTHUR, Dec. 28. (U.P.)—A furnace explosion set fire to the polymerization unit at the Atlantic Petroleum company refinery here last night. Damage was estimated at more than $100,000.

Plant workers miraculously escaped injury. Firemen labored for two and a half hours before the blaze was controlled. The blast was heard for 10 miles.

Frantic relatives of workers and curious spectators blocked highways attempting to reach the scene. Investigators today attempted to determine cause of the blast.

Jackson Committee Members Include Lubbock Men

State Sen. G. H. Nelson and Homer L. Phair, both of Lubbock, have been appointed on the arrangements committee for the "plain peoples" Jackson Day dinner in the Baker hotel Saturday night, January 7, according to notice received here Wednesday from Howard Dailey of Dallas, general chairman.

Both Nelson and Phair said they would serve on the committee.

Jerry Sadler, new member of the Texas railroad commission, will be principal speaker at the dinner. The letter from Dailey said that more than 1,000 reservations have been made and that an attendance of 2,500 is expected. The charge will be $2 per plate.

Word Of Arctic Tragedy In September Received Today

CHURCHILL, Manitoba, Dec. 28. (Canadian Press)—Word of an Arctic tragedy which cost the life of a young British scientist three months ago reached this Hudson bay post today from the wastes beyond the Arctic circle.

A wireless report told of the death of R.J.O. Bray, 28-year-old ornithologist, when his small boat was crushed by an ice pack last September 200 miles north of the circle.

Wind Blows 112 Miles Per Hour Atop Mt. Washington

BOSTON, Dec. 28. (AP)—The most uncomfortable inhabited spot in New England today was atop Mount Washington in New Hampshire where the mercury slipped to eight below zero and the wind reached a velocity of 112 miles an hour.

Joseph Lamonte, 59, of Fitchburg and an unidentified man were found near the town of Mount Washington, Mass., frozen to death.

JAIL HAS WELCOME SIGN

EUGENE, Ore. (U.P.) — The spirit of Christmas was extended even to the county jail here when a "welcome" sign, made of fir boughs was hung over the front door. Judge N. E. Glass and Sheriff C. A. Swartz were so touched by the sight that they dropped in and had a meal. They reported that anyone else taking advantage of it would not be disappointed.

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

SUSPECT: In threatening to demobilize WPA's grand army late in January, Assistant Administrator Aubrey Williams violated, clearly but perhaps unconsciously, the law—also a direct Congressional mandate on how to run his relief shop.

In order to clamp a lid on relief spending, Congress provided in the last appropriation bill that the funds must be allocated so as to last until February 28, 1939. It assumed the form of a rider which almost everybody conveniently forgot. Only in the event of an unforeseen and "extraordinary emergency," to be proclaimed by the President and itemized in minute detail, can the spending system and speed be altered. There has been no such notice, although Mr. Williams uttered his warning after a White House conference.

WPA-ers cite the New England hurricane and other disasters as reasons for their busted bank—and the apparently illegal discharge of reliefers. But Capitol Hill cynics, and so will they say in the debate over an emergency appropriation, suspect that the steady increase in rolls during the primary purge and the election account for the low state of funds.

PROOF: Harry Hopkins must face a man who once threatened to knock his block off when he seeks confirmation credentials as Secretary of Commerce. His challenger—then and now—is Senator Josiah W. Bailey of North Carolina, the religious editor who will head the Commerce Committee as a result of Royal S. Copeland's death.

Some months ago, during the height of the White House-Capitol Hill feud, the two spare and nervous protagonists met under the palms of a hotel lobby here. One hot word led to another hotter one. Mr. Bailey, in effect, assailed the Hopkins spending policies and philosophy. When the excitable Harry retorted, "Oh, you're just a damn tory!" onlookers had to rush in to keep them apart.

Senator Bailey nurses another grievance against the WPA chieftain. He has frequently charged that the single state of Pennsylvania—ancient Republican stronghold—received more WPA funds than all the Democratic South. In the North Carolinian's opinion, the figures furnish conclusive proof that Harry played political poker with his charity chips.

EXPANSION: High naval strategists want to use the Virgin Islands for more important purposes than making Government House grog or establishing night spots for American tourists. Very privately they have approached President Roosevelt and Secretary Ickes with the suggestion that St. Thomas harbor be transformed into a huge naval base.

The navy has an excellent station at Guantanamo—much nearer the Panama Canal—but creation of the new Atlantic fleet may tax facilities there. With Hitler seeking African colonies, which would furnish him with naval and air bases dangerously close to the South American shore line, another jumping-off place for our ships and planes may become a stark necessity by May.

Britain's apparent downfall as "mistress of the seas" also forces strengthenifig of vital defenses in the Atlantic. In view of nazi-fascist resurgence, and their prospective control of the Mediterranean, Uncle Sam can no longer afford to keep his fleet in the Pacific, trusting to England to dominate eastern waters. So the fortification of St. Thomas—ironic name for a naval base—seems a "natural."

REWARD: President Roosevelt's refusal to promote Aubrey Williams to the Hopkins vacancy in WPA has demoralized young New Dealers hoping to climb the ladder of life. The lank Methodist ex-preacher from Oklahoma takes it loyally and philosophically, but associates in nearby agencies are grousing.

Mr. Roosevelt told Aubrey, in effect, that his promotion "wasn't in the cards" he intends to deal from now on. Mr. Williams has been too closely identified with the Hopkins regime—its politics and its radicalism—to fill the new political bill. The President, through the appointment of an army engineer—F. C. ("Pinky") Harrington—expects to stave off a searching Congressional inquiry into WPA practices.

The inside story is pathetic. Aubrey suffers simply because he obeyed Roosevelt-Hopkins orders too well as Assistant Administrator. For many months he argued and protested against perverting the WPA for political purposes. He was overruled and, like a good soldier, he did his bit, making speechs and allocations designed to win votes. For that service he is being passed over—a funny fact which disturbs other Presidential foot-soldiers. For the same reason men like Bob Jackson and Joe Keenan in D. of J. may see an outsider—Frank Murphy—cop the Attorney Generalship.

LUCK: Numerous Senators are thanking their stars that they escaped F. Donald Coster's clutches by pure accident. Otherwise, they would have received the same unfavorable publicity heaped upon anti-chain storer Wright Patman of Texas—whose plight may cost him a seat on the House Ways and Means Committee.

The late McKesson & Robbins executive was fiercely opposed to the Wagner and wage-hour acts. He bombarded certain Senators—perhaps a score—with letters urging them to attack these laws, also offering to sponsor their oratorical efforts as he did Mr. Patman's at $100 a delivery on some 48 occasions. Ordinarily, since Coster was then a respected figure in the business community, the statesmen would have been flattered by his attention—and responsive.

But it so happened that most of the Senators were too deeply engrossed in the Supreme Court or reorganization tussles to answer—or to send anything more than a letter of acknowledgment. One almost fired his secretary for neglecting this important correspondence from an influential capitalist. Now he's going to raise the young man's pay!

PERSONAL: Senator Arthur Capper honored his friends with a very simple Christmas card. It was an extremely flattering photo of the Senator from Kansas.

NOTES: Wage-Hour Administration to bring test cases on constitutionality of minimum wage provisions soon after first of year—probably in textile industry . . . Large dairy stocks and high milk production forecast increased consumption of manufactured dairy products this winter at lowered prices. . . . Training in aviation mechanics urged for CCC and NYA as national defense measure. . . . Hawaiian sugar exports down, pineapple exports up.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

REASON: Argentina's refusal to go along with Secretary Hull's formula for Pan-American unity and her insistence on her own much milder declaration has been widely ascribed, in published reports, to Nazi propaganda and pressure. New York experts on Latin-American affairs, however, find no evidence that German influence has seriously affected Argentina's attitude and cite two other backstage factors as the real reasons for her obstructive tactics.

Hull's promotion of a united American front is of course aimed primarily at Germany, and the Nazis are fighting much more aggressively to block it than the Italians. But the latter are not exactly pleased about it either, and have made this clear to their friends in South America.

Authcrities state that over 30 per cent of Argentina's 12 1-2 million population are of Italian birth or descent. Consequently there is a strong undercurrent of pro-Italian feeling in Argentine public sentiment. Moreover, Italian trade with Argentina has grown enormously in recent years, chiefly at the expense of the United States and Great Britain. The Argentine government doesn't want to do anything to disturb this profitable relationship nor to irritate a very substantial element among its own people.

The Hon. Unity Valkyrie Freeman-Mitford was fined $4.80 for speeding in England. It's worth that much just to write her name in the book.

Texas Topics---By Howard Marshall

AUSTIN, Dec. 28.—Texas is overlooking tremendous possibilities in not going after tourist business energetically and intelligently. This is the theme of an article in the Texas Planning Bulletin, organ of the state planning board.

These points were asserted:

Texas has the most fascinating combination of enticement for holiday seekers possessed by any state but little thought is being given to the advantages of a progressive tourist industry.

Second Most Important

Without directed stimulus, the tourist business was the second most important in the state last year, $446,000,000 being poured by 11,500,000 tourists into tills of merchants and pockets of Texas citizens. Oil was the only source of more dollars.

Other states with fewer attractions are exploiting the universal desire of America to go somewhere and see new things and Texas should fall in line.

Amid the talk about bringing industry to Texas, one of the most practical means of doing this is to provide a market for industry by stimulating travel to and settlement in Texas.

"Some spots there are whose very names, coupled in mind with bygone history, mentioned continually in present day print and lauded year after year by friends who visit them for rest, recreation or sport seem almost like fabled lands," said the Bulletin. "Texas is one of them.

"It never disappoints in its endless variety of charm and its graciousness while entertaining the visitor within its border.

Texas Is Fascinating

"From shimmering white sea sand of gently sloping beach to the rugged crest of inland mountain; from placid lake waters to restless waves beating some off-shore reef on the Gulf of Mexico; from sturdy outline of pine to the delicate tracery of poplar and elm; from romantic trail first trod by Indian moccasin to modern concrete highways; from the bustle of hurrying cities to the tranquility of rural village; in fact, from one end to the other, Texas is a fascinating combination of enticement for the holiday seeker.

"Yet, no official invitation goes out inviting the tourist to enjoy the glories of our state, to feel the warmth of a genuine Texas welcome."

ATTRACTIONS specifically listed include a climate to meet the tastes of every type of tourist; thousands of miles of marvelous highways to vacation spots; [illegible] miles of railroads in traveling over which one may see "a changing panorama of sea-washed shores, mountains mirrored in lakes, stately pine forests and silvery streams," towering cliffs for those who like to scale them, havens for health seekers, 700 species of fish cavorting in fresh and salt waters.

"Yes," said the Bulletin, "Texas has everything to attract the tourist."

In review, it said that before the depression American tourists spent approximately $850,000,000 in Europe, Asia and Africa annually, $200,000,000 in Canada, $46,000,000 in Mexico and $98,000,000 in the West Indies, Central America and the Philippines, but with war and rumors of war disturbing many foreign countries much of this flow of travel will be diverted to little known places in the United States.

In the depression year of 1933 the tourist industry was said to have amounted to $3,000,000,000, and in this was seen evidence that the tourist travels and spends money regardless of depression.

"Last year the American motor tourist spent $4,250,000,000," according to the Bulletin. "These tourists travelled in 12,600,000 cars and this year federal travel experts estimate that more than 47,000,000 tourists took vacations in more than 13,000,000 cars and spent more than $4,750,000,000.

California Advertised

"California is one of the most heavily advertised states and is also one of the three largest oil producing states. Housed within the borders of that state are millions of acres of citrus fruits and the great motion picture industry. Yet, the tourist industry in California is threatening to dethrone oil as the major industry.

"The four ranking industries in California are oil, tourist, motion picture and citrus fruit. The two most publicized industries rank third and fourth in volume of dollars they bring in.

"Last year the four leading industries in the United States were agriculture, textiles, tourists and steel and iron."

THE Bulletin said the Department of Commerce had divided the tourist dollar thus:

26 cents to the retail merchant.
21 cents to restaurant and cafes.
20 cents for gas and oil.
17 cents to hotels and camps.
9 cents for amusements.
7 cents for other forms of transportation.

SMALL FOREST "RUSTLED"

GOLDENVILLE, Okla. (U.P.) — Someone "rustled" a small forest from the W. W. Fargo farm. In a field, the farmer found 56 stumps where his prized cedars should have been. Thieves had chopped them down and removed them.

TARZAN AND THE FORBIDDEN CITY. No. 22 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

At first, Magra was strangely elated over the fact that they were in dangerous country. Now, perhaps, their progress would be slower, and they might not intercept Thome after all. But contrary to her opinion their guide did not slacken his rapid pace.

Once more she was overwhelmed with dismay. She loved this magnificent white giant who strode ahead of her. She knew that if he should encounter Thome, a battle to the death was inevitable. And she knew Atan Thome was a relentless, tricky fighter . . .

. . . At that moment, Thome was pushing on triumphantly into the interior, with Helen as his prisoner. "As long as you keep me," the girl said; "my father will never give up until he finds me." "Hugh," the man grunted; "those tenderfeet will never catch me."

"Tarzan will," Helen declared. Thome went white. "Tarzan!" he exclaimed; "is Tarzan with them?" Helen nodded. Excitedly Thome summoned Lal Taask. "Put out a scouting party, and a strong guard to the rear. If any stranger approaches, shoot to kill!"

Employes Of Implement Company Seek Foreman's Reinstatement

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 28. (AP)—Approximately 500 CIO members "sat down" today at the Hopkins plant of the Minneapolis-Moline Power Implement company, paralyzing plant operations.

The sit-down strike began when the management failed to comply by a 10 a. m., deadline today with a demand of the CIO Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers No. 1138 for reinstatement of a shop committee foreman, recently discharged.

ARMAMENTS BOLSTER MARKET
By FREDERICK GARDNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)—Speculative buying in armament shares helped prod the stock market out of its year-end doldrums today into a brisk upturn.

The aircraft shares got a strong lift. President Roosevelt's proposal for training 20,000 youths yearly for the air services was taken widely in Wall street as a hint the administration was determined to bring before the new congress a big defense program.

Three of the arms favorites in the stock exchange list — Bethlehem Steel, Bendix Aviation and Electric Boat—touched the highest prices recorded this year on advances of around 2 to 3 points.

While U. S. arms spending prospects guided much buying, observers credited the rebound primarily to a let-up in liquidation to establish gains and losses for income tax returns.

Cotton . .

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 28 (AP)—Increased buying rallied the cotton market here today but trading continued quiet. The close was very steady with advances of 11 to 14 points.

Covering by shorts in advance of the year-end and trade and foreign demand induced by rallies in securities met only light liquidation and prices moved slowly on the upgrade during the greater part of the session, reaching the best at the final gong.

Jan. contracts closed at 8.51-bid, March at 8.56, May at 8.37, July at 8.08@8.10, Oct. at 7.77, Dec. at 7.80, March (new) at 7.83-bid and May (1940) at 7.88-bid.

Spot cotton closed quiet but middling advanced 7 points to 8.66, sales totalled 462 bales.

Steady Liverpool cables were partially offset in early dealings by declines in Egyptian futures but after an irregular opening the market firmed up because of a scarcity of offerings.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP)—Cotton advanced today when trade and foreign buying revealed a scarcity of contracts. March advanced from 8.33@8.47 and closed at 8.46, with final prices 12 to 15 points net higher.

The market opened 3 points higher to 2 lower, with the effects of steadier Liverpool cables offset by moderate liquidation and southern selling. A spurt of covering in January carried that delivery up 11 points from an early low when only 3 additional delivery notices were issued. Other months responded to the near month action and later received additional support, especially from Bombay and trade sources. The advance attracted covering late in the session and prices sold at the highest levels for the day in the closing dealings.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 28 (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at 10 southern spot markets was 10 points higher at 8.61 cents a pound; average for pound.

Latin America increased its purchases of United States medicinals 30 per cent in the last year and accounted for 20 per cent of the total shipped from this country.

McMahon.

McMahon said other arrests would be made soon.

Meanwhile, before the state attorney general's inquiry into the McKesson and Robbins scandal, Waddill Catchings, former head of an operating committee set up by the board of directors, testified he resigned because Coster-Musica had refused to give to the committee information about the company factory in Bridgeport, Conn., and the crude drug department, where the $18,000,000 overstatement was long concealed.

"Chaotic Conditions" Discredited

One of the committee's first decisions, the witness added, was to put the corporation under control of its treasurer, Julian F. Thompson, but this order, he said, was made ineffective by Coster-Musica.

"I never saw a situation," he remarked, "where there were such chaotic conditions."

Coster-Musica, the witness said, was "extraordinarily clever in setting one man against another. It was his most effective means of maintaining his position."

fell to 2.5 above in Chicago and six below in suburban Des Plaines—then rose to the 20's.

Marks in the 'teens and twenties were registered in New England.

Hits 51 Degrees Below

At Warroad, Minn., the red line in the thermometer ascended from 37 to 23 below. More than 100 persons were driven into 20 below cold when fire destroyed three frame buildings in International Falls, Minn.

Readings of 18 below at Cutbank and 16 below in Great Falls were the minima in Montana. The nadir was reached at the airport in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada. It was 51 below there.

Grain . .

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 28 (AP)—Predictions that a second cold wave would overspread the United States grain belt by tomorrow night moved Chicago wheat prices up nearly a cent today.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were ⅜ to ¾ higher compared with yesterday's finish, May 68⅛@68⅜, July 68⅛@68⅜, corn ¼ to ½ up, May 51, July 53⅞, oats ¼ to ⅜ advanced, rye showing ⅛ to ¼ bulge, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents jump.

welcoming ceremony here a week ago.

Automobiles bearing Tech alumni will follow. The procession will go up Main to Harwood, south to Commerce and thence to Hotel Adolphus, where Miss Hill will occupy a suite during her stay here.

Miss Hill will rest until 10:30 a. m., when she visits the Dallas Morning News. At 11 o'clock she will visit a college fashion show at A. Harris & Co., and at 12:15 be a guest of the salesmanship club for luncheon.

To Have Radio Interview

Cecil Hale will interview Miss Hill over WFAA at 1:30 p. m. At 2 o'clock, she will be at Higginbotham-Bailey-Logan company, at 2:45 at Neiman-Marcus Co., for a college fashion show, and at 4 p. m. at another at Sanger Bros.

The day will end with a quiet dinner with her official escort and possibly a movie.

Friday, Saturday and Sunday schedules will be crowded with events which climax in the official cotton bowl reception in the hotel at 10 p. m. Sunday at which Miss Hill will be crowned Cotton Girl of the Nation.

Arrangements Colorful

The grand ballroom of the hotel will be decorated like a football field for this event and the talks of the prominent men who take part will be broadcast over WFAA from 10:30 until 11 p. m.

Hayes is being assisted in arranging for Miss Hill's entertainment by B. F. McLain, Cecil Higginbotham, L. B. Stone, Harry Withers, J. Curtis Sanford, James Stewart, Walter B. Moore, Eli Sanger, Jordan Ownby, A. Starke Taylor, William F. Neale and Jones.

But as a result of this pioneering work of the Philadelphia scientists it may soon become possible for the surgeon to push a button which will select and create rays to destroy gas gangrene germs, tetanus bacteria, fever-causing organisms, or the types which cause bone diseases.

Previously scientists at Duke university had introduced a special type of germ-killing light ray but, according to some scientists, it has not had the selective effect on various kinds of germs which the new different kinds of light waves have.

gains at France's expense and said the fascists had no intention of invading French Somaliland.

Four weeks after outbreak of Italian clamor for French recognition of her "natural aspirations" in Africa, diplomats suggested a basis for a settlement between Rome and Paris might lie along these lines:

1—Independence for Tunisia, French North African protectorate mentioned most often in the Italian territorial agitation touched off Nov. 30 by Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano in the chamber of deputies. Under such an arrangement, Rome could maintain control over 90,000 Italians in Tunisia.

2—An Italian share in the administration of the French-controlled Suez canal and lower rates for shipping through that waterway.

3—Improvement of the port of Djibouti, capital of French Somaliland and terminus of the French-controlled railroad to Addis Ababa in Italian Ethiopia, for the benefit of Italian shipping.

4—The possible creation of a free port at Djibouti with lower rates on the Djibouti-Addis Ababa railroad for Italian shipments and a larger Italian share in the control of the railroads.

A trustworthy Italian source branded Paris reports of Italian troop concentrations near French Somaliland as "an invention of the French press."

Fliers Ran Out Of Gas En Route Here, Too

Clent Breedlove, manager of Lubbock Municipal airport and a "buddy" of Sergeant Holmes when they finished Kelly field in 1920, said the two airmen took off from Lubbock between 3 and 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

"They had run out of gasoline coming here," said Breedlove, "running into strong headwinds near Paducah. Sergeant Holmes set down the BT9B (North American basic trainer) and obtained some car gasoline. When they landed here they had about seven gallons of gas left."

Breedlove said they filled their tanks here with 98 gallons of high test aviation gasoline, "which would have been enough had they not been asked to turn back toward Waco."

Lubbock Persons Go To Bedside Of Relatives Injured In Mishap

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Stanton and a Fort Worth daughter and Rev. and Mrs. W. G. Loesel, of Lubbock, Wednesday left for Galveston to be at the bedside of relatives injured in an automobile accident there.

D. G. Stanton, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Stanton and a student of Texas Technological college, and Mrs. Pearl Clark of Plainview, sister of Mrs. Stanton, were seriously injured in an automobile accident late Monday. They were there to visit a son of Mrs. Clark who is a student in the state medical school there.

News Briefs

J. C. Sanders of 1614 Avenue O Wednesday reported a red Fleetwood bicycle stolen from him. Police that night had received no report on the stolen bike.

Dale Robbins of 1802 Avenue K Wednesday told police two tires, two innertubes and two automobile wheels were stolen from him when his car was parked on a lot at 1204 Main street. Officers were instructed to be on the lookout for the missing property.

A blaze in an automobile had been extinguished by the time firemen arrived in answer to a call which came from the 1600-block Seventeenth street early Wednesday.

Santa Fe railway officials Wednesday said a small black shaving kit left on the Avalanche-Journal special train which went to Dallas for the Lubbock-Corpus Christi football game had not been claimed. The owner may get the kit after identifying it at the ticket office of the Santa Fe passenger station, it was said.

A 26-year-old negro who pleaded guilty of an assault charge on a white boy Wednesday was fined $50 by B. P. Millsap, city recorder, in corporation court, according to information from the police department. The negro had been arrested at 11:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at Seventeenth street and Avenue E by Ralph Goldwater and Silas Anderson of the police department.

telling them continued investigations would clear him. He welcomed further investigations, he said.

"I didn't do it," Sutton told questioners. "You have arrested the wrong man."

The 33-year-old suspect told Smith he was at Lamesa at the time of the shooting, but on the night of the holdup he said he was at a gin with a bale of cotton.

Admits Pen Terms

He told authorities he served two penitentiary terms in Texas and one in New Mexico, all on car theft convictions.

The Brown men were transferred here from the state penitentiary for trial, Smith said.

After a lone, unmasked bandit, on the night of Dec. 11, 1937, had taken the money from the Lamesa haberdashery when he held Woodroof at gun's point, the clerk, 27, followed him out of the place and gave chase.

After a block, Woodroof overtook the bandit and they wrestled. A shot was fired, wounding Woodroof. He was rushed to a hospital here and died the next morning. The hijacker escaped.

Officers, in the midst of investigations about two months ago declined to release for publication details which they said led to belief Sutton was connected with the killing, but admitted it was "in a round-about-way."

county because a driver was overdriving the headlights—unable to stop within the maximum range of the lights.

Four dead, 24 injured in Erath county when a bus attempting to pass another bus on a bridge collided with a truck.

National Council Sees Reduction Of Deaths

CHICAGO, Dec. 28. (AP)—The National Safety council tonight predicted traffic deaths in the United States this year would total 31,500 if the favorable trend of the first 11 months continued until January 1.

That would be a reduction of 8,000 from the all-time high of 39,500 ... in 1937.

Should December fatalities equal those of last December, statisticians figured, the 1938 total would approximate 32,000.

That would be the lowest for any year since 1933 and the greatest decline for any one year in the nation's history.

Drop In Fatalities

The November total was 3,110, a drop of 17 per cent from the same month last year. It was the 13th consecutive month of unbroken traffic improvement.

During the first 11 months of 1938 motor vehicle accidents cost 28,370 lives compared with 35,770 during the same period in 1937.

D. D. Fennell, president of the council, attributed the downturn to "a general tightening of the entire safety program throughout the country." He added:

"We have had better enforcement of traffic laws, better traffic engineering, safer automobiles and highways, more and better drivers' license laws and better administration of those laws, more school safety work and a better understanding by the public of the tragedy and economic costs of accidents."

ed from active life before Jan. 20, 1941, the end of the Roosevelt second term. If this is so, the Roosevelt imprint of liberalism may be set upon the court to endure for decades.

Rulings Influenced

The president has contended that even though his move to enlarge the court failed, it strongly influenced the trend of court rulings on important New Deal measures. With three relatively youthful Roosevelt appointees on the bench, that trend, observers agree, may continue to mark court decisions for a long time. And if five men of Roosevelt selection mount the high bench before he leaves office there is little question that the rejuvenation objective of the defeated court bill will have been arrived at in fact, if not by the route the president sought to follow.

And Now Look What Happened: W. Lee O'Daniel Has Poll Tax

FORT WORTH, Dec. 28. (AP) — Governor-elect W. Lee O'Daniel qualified as a 1939 voter today when he obtained a poll tax receipt from tax Assessor-Collector John Bourland.

As he paid $3.50 for poll taxes for himself and Mrs. O'Daniel he declared he still was of the opinion that the levy should be eliminated.

O'Daniel advocated elimination of tax as a qualification for voting in his campaign for the gubernatorial nomination last summer. Later he divulged that he had not paid the tax himself for several years and therefore was not a qualified voter.

Widely-Known Greenville Man, Physician, Victim Of Death

GREENVILLE, Texas, Dec. 28. (AP) —Dr. William Cantrell, 67-year-old physician and charity worker, died here today, ending a career which brought him distinction in the field of surgery.

Dr. Cantrell, a native of Marion county, Arkansas, was graduated from the University of Arkansas medical school in 1897 and started his Hunt county, Texas, practice soon afterward.

Murder Case Takes Twist; Defendant Shows Up

'Wink' Ascribed Walkout Cause

(By The United Press)

HOUSTON, Dec. 28.—Roderick Gates, 26, surrendered to his attorney here today, four months after he walked out of his murder trial in his victim's home town because a juror winked at a prosecutor.

In surrendering to Jo Ed Winfree, Houston legislator, Gates said the winking episode convinced him that he could not get a fair trial for the slaying of Bo Baker in Trinity county in November, 1937.

The trial was called in Livingston, Polk county, home of the victim, after several delays and changes of venue. Winfree failed to obtain a continuance or another change of venue on the grounds of "home town" prejudice and the trial began.

Gnat Is Blamed

"I caught one of the jurors winking at a special prosecutor," Winfree said. "He admitted it but said he got a gnat in his eye."

Gates was in the court room at the time.

"When I saw that, I just walked out—not that I wanted to—but I wanted to stay away until that term of court was over and I could get a fair trial somewhere else," Gates said.

Gates was at liberty under bond. While attorneys argued, he walked out of court unobserved. Officers failed to find a trace of him and the trial was halted.

Neighbors Gave Him Food

The fugitive came to Houston and then returned to Trinity county. During the entire four months, he said, he never was more than two miles from his home while officers searched for him.

"Friendly neighbors saw that I had plenty to eat, so I just had a long vacation."

When the district court term in Livingston expired, Gates came to Houston and went to Winfree's office. Winfree notified Trinity county officers to come get his client.

"I didn't want my bondsmen to lose anything; all I wanted was a fair trial," Gates asserted. "I killed Baker in self-defense and I can prove it before an impartial jury."

Winfree said that he would ask that the case be sent to Montgomery county or San Jacinto county for trial.

Norfleet Candidate For Magazine's Valor Award

A candidate for Liberty magazine's valor award is J. Frank Norfleet of Hale Center, whose chase after the men who fleeced him of $45,000 in 1919 is described in a two-part article that began in the magazine issued this week.

Frederick L. Collins is author of the article. He points out that, "Surely, in any award for valor in citizenship, such as Liberty is sponsoring with the cooperation of Attorney-General Cummings, District Attorney Dewey, and Judge George E. Q. Johnson," the name of Norfleet "deserves front-rank consideration."

Committeemen Known Today

Delegates from the 6 communities of the county are to meet in the county agent's office at 10 o'clock this morning to appoint a county AAA committee for 1939. Each community last night was to name a delegate, as well as a committee of three, with two alternates.

Slaton met Wednesday afternoon. They named Judge C. Smith as chairman; L. E. Park, vice chairman; C. E. Lilley as the committee and C. Z. Fine first alternate and Joe W. Alspaugh, second alternate.

Smith was chosen delegate from Slaton. Meeting was held in the city hall at 2 o'clock and a large and enthusiastic crowd attended.

Names of other community committees had not been reported to W. F. Johnson, secretary of the county committee Wednesday night. He said he expected a complete report this morning.

Meetings Wednesday night were to be held at Monroe, Shallowater, Wolfforth, Woodrow and Idalou.

Throughout the state meetings were scheduled Wednesday to select community committees to handle the AAA program for the new year.

Lubbock's Fire Rating Notable

Only 48 cities among 739 reported in the United States, Canada, Alaska and Hawaii made better fire records during 1938 than did Lubbock, according to information to the chamber of commerce here Wednesday from the National board of Fire Underwriters in New York City.

It is the first year, the chamber was informed, that the national board has listed cities on an internationally competitive basis. Lubbock will receive a certificate in recognition of its achievement, the letter said.

Rating Is Different

The rating, officials at the chamber were informed, is distinct from the inter-chamber competition sponsored by the United States Chamber of Commerce, in which Lubbock has received an "honor" rating in all years except in 1937.

In both contests, officials said, fire loss as balanced against insurance premiums is the chief factor in determining ratings. Other factors are equipment and personnel of the fire departments.

In the international rating, the only Texas cities placing ahead of Lubbock were Abilene, El Paso, San Antonio and Amarillo in that order.

Lubbock's fire loss during 1938, to date, has approximated $41,000. Last year it exceeded $104,000.

Goodfellows End Christmas Work

Finis to the season's work of the Goodfellows was written at a special meeting in the chamber of commerce where preparations for activities next Christmas were begun.

Reports Are Given

From various of the committee reports, they learned that they were instrumental in bringing the real meaning of the Christmas just past to 2,659 children in 872 Lubbock families.

They learned that among all the packages, only seven remained undelivered—either due to the fact that correct addresses had not been supplied or possibly to the removal to new places of residence by the families who had lived there. They were informed, too that a "typical" package contained two apples, two oranges, a quarter-pound each of candy and nuts, fireworks, and at least one nice toy suitable for the particular child.

Among the plans for next year were:

Appointment of a chairman who is to cooperate with the Garden club and other organizations in attempting to arrange decorations contests in the business and residence sections.

Decision to start the Goodfellows' active drive next year several weeks earlier than this year.

Decision to close the list of names of children to be remembered earlier next year.

Authorization of a committee which will check the lists of names for correctness of addresses, numbers and ages of children and the genuineness of existing need for assistance.

More than 1,700 of the 1,900 Red Raider buttons which were obtained by the chamber of commerce for distribution in Lubbock have been sold, according to announcement Wednesday. They are to be the official emblem of Lubbock fans who attend the Cotton bowl game in Dallas Monday.

Officials there added the suggestion that those intending to buy them had best get them in Lubbock. They are available here for 10 cents each. Hawkers who will have the button selling concession in Dallas will be authorized to charge 25 cents, a letter from Dallas said.

The buttons are four and one-half inches in diameter and are white with red lettering. They will be suitable for those who accompany any team of Red Raiders on any future trip.

They are available at Mark Halsey drug stores Nos. 1 and 2, Hub Clothiers, McDavis clothiers, Hilton cigar counter, Lubbock hotel cigar counter and Walton's store.

Brisk demand also has developed for windshield stickers which may be obtained without cost at the chamber of commerce. They are available at numerous filling stations. Operators of other stations wishing a supply of the stickers have been invited to call at the chamber of commerce for them.

Bond Of $1,000 Each Set For Suspects In Burglary Here

On arraignment Tuesday before Walter Davies, justice of peace, bonds of $1,000 each were set for four youths charged with burglary in connection with the crashing of a show window of King's jewelry store early Monday morning.

None of the suspects late Wednesday had posted bond. Named in the complaint were Jack Morgan, about 17, Otto Seaton, about 18, Coleman Paris, jr., about 20, and Aude Vee Dorris Harmon, about 19, all of Fort Worth.
