Dirk's Goal: To Make Lubbock Criminals Edgy

By DAVE KNAPP
A-J Executive Editor

BUOYED by what he termed were "the sensational results" of Crime Line Inc. last week, Mayor Dirk West has issued a verbal barrage at the criminal element in Lubbock, saying, "We want to make the city as uncomfortbale as possible" for all criminals.

Since April 1, Crime Line has cleared approximately 50 unsolved felony cases from police files, including a brutal throat-slashing murder last week.

Two vital tips were received on the Crime Line hotline, 741-1000, and the grievance committee unanimously voted to pay both informants $1,000 rewards.

Regarding the criminal element, West also added, "This segment of society needs to know that if they commit a crime in Lubbock, Crime Line will offer rewards for information leading to their capture."

And, the mayor noted, "They stand a good chance of being photographed in the act of committing an armed robbery and other crimes through the use of "Crime Eye" cameras now in place. Once they are apprehended, they will face swift prosecution and maximum sentences through the criminal district attorney's office.

"These elements, combined with the constant and thorough work of the Lubbock Police Department, will make Lubbock a safer place in which to live and raise a family," West said.

Rapidly becoming one of the most successful programs of its kind in the nation, Crime Line is financed entirely through contributions. Following last week's murder case developments, several contributions were made to the growing fund. In addition, The West Texas Homebuilders Association announced it had set a goal of $7,500 from members and associates to add to the fund.

Other donatins may be mailed to Crime Line Inc., Box 2000, Lubbock, Texas79457. They are tax deductible.

In today's "spotlight crime" Crime Line is offering $1,000 for information concerning a murder at the El Tropical Club at 202 Municipal Drive.

Officers were summoned there at 10:03 p.m. on Aug. 19, finding Joe Angel Garcia, a security guard, wounded by gunfire and Ralph Baragal Perez dead of gunshot wounds.

Witnesses said that both men were standing at the bar when a dark car–possibly dark green or black Buick or Chevrolet–drove by slowly, westbound on Municipal Drive. As the vehicle passed, numerous shots were fired from the car. A car parked near the entrance of the club also had been struck by gunfire.

Persons having information regarding the incident are urged to call the hotline, 741-1000, within seven days to be eligible for the reward.

ALL AMERICAN FUTURITY

Ruidoso Downs All Set For Richest Race

By JOHNNY HOLMES
Avalanche-Journal Staff

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. — The eyes of Texas will be on this compact mountain track today like never before as 10 of the nation's fleetest quarter horses compete in the 21st running of the All American Futurity which, with its purse of $1,280,000, is the world's richest horse race.

And with very good reason. Eight of those two year-old sprinters vying for the $437,500 first prize money hail from the Lone Star State, giving Texas a dominance no state has ever enjoyed in any major equestrian event.

Those Texas entries, five colts and three fillies, include the three early betting favorites and the race's fastest qualifier, so the state's chances of winning its third consecutive All American title are nothing if not great. Moon Lark from Coppell took last year's edition while Hot Idea from Estelline won the 1977 running.

The All American is the last of the three futurities comprising the quarter horse Triple Crown and, this year, as always before, there can be no Triple Crown winner. No horse has ever won the Triple Crown — the series is so demanding that only one horse, Pa Pa Wheelie of Houston, even qualified for the Kansas, Rainbow and All American Futurities. Only five horses from the Rainbow are back for the All American, and other than Wheelie, only one horse from the Kansas made the All American.

All Entries From Blue Ribbon Stock

THE 10 FINALISTS reached this impressive point by beating out nearly 350 challengers in a grueling series of qualification heats. The cream tends to rise to the top though and, in this most prestigious of quarter horse events, that is definitely the case. All the horses come from blue ribbon stock and many have very similar pedigrees.

Three of the contestants, including Streakin' Six and Sages Belle Star, the two pre-race favorites, as well as Easy Azuree, were fathered by Easy Six, who won the 1975 Kansas Futurity on his way to becoming Ruidoso's two year-old of the season that year. And 1969 All American champion Three Oh's is represented by offspring Ask The Boss and Manifestoh.

Pioneer 11 To Explore Saturn Moon

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (AP) — Pioneer 11, after whizzing past Saturn and its rings, turned its attention Sunday to the giant moon Titan, which some scientists see as a possible home for primitive life.

The far-ranging little spaceship, veteran of 6 1 2 years in space, gave the Earth its first close look at the pale yellow planet Saturday.

"We can now welcome a new world into our book of knowledge. That's a thrilling thing," said Thomas Young, deputy director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ames Research Center.

Scientists said Pioneer discovered an unsuspected ring beyond the four already known to encircle the planet, and they said it saw what may be a new moon. At least 10 moons, including Titan, bigger than the planet Mercury, are known to orbit Saturn.

Pioneer, meanwhile, was beginning an endless voyage into space as it drifted out of Saturn's exotic realm.

The ship's instruments were not designed to look for life. But they may learn enough about Titan's atmosphere to hint at whether life could form, said Andrew Ingersoll of the California Institute of Technology.

"The question of life on Titan hinges on a number of factors, but mainly on the temperature of the surface," he said. "If it's warm, above the freezing point of water, we could say there's a possibility of life."

Unfortunately, he said, the ship could

Sticky Issues Faced At 'Peace Festival'

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Anwar Sadat makes his third visit to Israel this week, sailing aboard the Egyptian presidential yacht to Haifa for a two-day "Peace Festival" and a summit with Prime Minister Menachem Begin on the tough issues facing their peace drive.

As preparations continued Sunday for the meeting between the two heads of state, Israeli and Egyptian military negotiators met in the southern Israeli city of Beersheba to plan the third stage of Israel's withdrawal from the Sinai. They agreed that two Israeli military teams would be sent to areas in the Sinai already turned back to Egypt to search for the bodies of Israeli soldiers still missing from the 1973 war.

Sadat Arrives Tuesday

Sadat is scheduled to arrive at the northern Israeli port city Tuesday. He will find Haifa decked out in black-white-and-red Egyptian flags, and will meet municipal leaders anxious to point out what they say are good relations between its mixed population of Arabs and Jews.

The Israelis also have arranged a special program for Jihan Sadat, the Egyptian leader's wife, who will be making her first visit to Israel. Officials say the program will be tailored to her special interests in physical rehabilitiation and children's hospitals.

Beyond the pageantry, Sadat and Begin, who have met several times since signing their peace treaty in March, have some sticky issues to discuss when they get down to business at a luxury hotel atop Mount Carmel, overlooking the Mediterranean port.

"There's time to discuss everything," an Israeli official said of the two working sessions scheduled before Sadat's departure Thursday.

Problems Piling Up

Problems have been piling up since since Sadat and Begin met in Alexandria, Egypt, in July. Little progress has been made in Egyptian-Israeli talks on Palestinian autonomy. Sadat has set October as the "psychological deadline" for the negotiations, a time when he hopes to be able to point to some substantial developments.

Besides the autonomy talks, the informal agenda is crowded with such topics as Egyptian oil sales to Israel, continued normalization of relations, an early Israeli withdrawal from the Mount Sinai sector of the Sinai Peninsula, and what to do the next time the Palestinian question comes up in the United Nations.

Israel and Egypt both were unhappy with the Carter administration's recent abortive attempt to write Palestinian rights into the basic U.N. Security Council guidelines for peace in the Middle East. Egypt feared the plan might lead Israel to torpedo the autonomy talks.

Dave Aims Hiked Fury At Florida

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Hurricane David, again picking up strength after cutting a swath of devastation through the Caribbean, battered the Bahamas on Sunday as it headed for populous south Florida. The storm's death toll rose dramatically to more than 630 with the report of 400 killed in a flooded church and school in the Dominican Republic.

With the hurricane expected to hit somewhere in south Florida by dawn today, Gov. Bob Graham ordered the immediate evacuation of low-lying coastal areas and sent National Guardsmen to help.

High winds and rains at the leading edge of David ripped up trees, sent 20-foot walls of water shooting up along the shoreline and sent Bahamians scurrying for shelter inland in Nassau, the capital of the island chain. Forecasters said the southern Bahamas seemed out of danger as David veered away northward, but a hurricane watch remained in effect for the northwestern islands.

First Since 1965

Residents of southern Florida were bracing for the area's first hurricane since Betsy hit the peninsula in 1965. Authorities estimated 80 percent of region's 2.5 million residents had never been through a hurricane.

Late Sunday, David's center was situated near latitude 24.3 north, longitude 78.0 west, or about 175 miles southeast of Miami. It was moving northwest at 12 to 15 mph. Highest sustained winds were

Navy Role In Rescue Of Viet Boat People Praised By Mondale

HONG KONG (AP) — Vice President Walter Mondale, defending the U.S. Navy against complaints it is encouraging the flight of Vietnamese boat people, told hundreds of crewmen aboard the aircraft carrier Midway on Sunday that their refugee-rescue mission was an example of "America at its best."

Mondale, who stopped here after an eight-day goodwill tour of China, also reaffirmed U.S. determination to remain a Pacific power.

Standing on the flight deck of the 65,000-ton USS Midway anchored in Hong Kong Harbor, he declared, "Let no one be mistaken. The United States will remain a Pacific power.

Strengthening Alliances

"Our Asian alliances contribute to regional stability — and we are strengthening them. The freedom of Pacific sea lanes is vital to our security — and we are protecting them. Our trade with Pacific nations is crucial — and we are expanding it. Our relations with China contribute to world stability — and we are advancing them."

Mondale praised the "great humanitarian work" of the 7th Fleet in going to the aid of seaborne Inochinese refugees and told the assembled sailors and aviators they were fulfilling the highest responsibilities of Americans — "saving lives." He added, "What you're doing is America at its best."

At a news conference shortly afterward, the vice president brushed aside recent criticism by some Asian leaders who maintain the Navy rescue operations are acting as "a magnet" to lure more Vietnamese to flee the country.

Notes Exodus Drop

He said there had been a substantial drop in the Vietnamese exodus since ships of the 7th Fleet were deployed to search for refugees in late July — after a U.N. conference in Geneva at which Vietnam said it would try to cut down the flow of refugees. Mondale said he hoped Hanoi makes the reduction permanent.

A spate of sightings and rescues of boat people from the South China Sea in the the past week indicates the problem is not yet over.

But, Mondale said, letting hundreds of refugees drown to discourage others from leaving is not "a civilized response to a profound human problem."

"I personally believe one of the best things our government has done in a long time is to simply do the human thing and use our skilled military sailors and pilots to seek them out, find them, help them — and we've saved a lot of lives," Mondale said.

More Refugees Rescued

Early Sunday, the vice president said, the USS White Plains picked up 18 refugees off the coast of the Philippines who had been at sea for 15 days with only a cheap wrist compass and a crude map torn out of a geography book.

This raised the total number of refugees picked up by the 7th Fleet to 228, he said.

Street People Of China Demand Human Rights

PEKING (AP) — Hundreds of years ago Chinese emperors received humble petitioners who complained about provincial officials. Today the petitioners are not so humble as they sprawl at the Communist government doorstep and demand jobs, bread and justice.

They call themselves the "refugees of China" and they are a motley and increasingly vocal and visible band of human misery. They are known on the streets as the "Masses of Sanfung," those who make a pilgrimmage to the heights.

These paupers and street people are China's third group of dissidents, after the unhappy youth who have been sent to the countryside and the intellectuals and human rights activists who just are beginning to re-emerge. The street people, in fact, were being organized last year by human rights protesters.

For days, these ragged discards from the provinces have pitched camp at the opulent gold gates of Chungnanhai in the red-walled forbidden city where the government sits. About 300 of the protesters began the protest Tuesday, but by Sunday their number had dwindled to about 50.

They have pasted posters on the sidewalk and draped red banners on the imperious stone lions that guard the way.

They demand Chairman Hua Guofeng (Hua Kuo-feng) and Deputy Premier Deng Xiaoping (Teng Hsiao-ping) receive delegates to hear their complaints.

They are men, women and children. They are decrepit and youthful, but even the young look haggard. They come from all over China, placing their petitions at officialdom's door. Some stay days, some weeks. Some have been living in the crevices of the capital for months. Many have made many fruitless journeys to Peking.

Many are crippled and bandaged. Many children are barefoot and dirty. Almost all are in tatters.

"Refugees of China," says a slogan in the encampment where at least 1,000 live. They beg for alms, scavenge for food and sell handicrafts. Some sleep in the street or drift from the railway station to the subway to niches here and there.

"I just couldn't find work and now no one will help me," said 58-year-old Gao Hsuchai (Kao Hsu-chai) of Hebei (Hopeh) province. He said he lost his job 20 years ago when he was branded a rightist and has been out of work since. Now he sells woven tea jar holders and lives with other migrants in a 6-by 9-foot shack.

So far, the government has made no move to forcibly evict the squatters from Peking's main thoroughfare, just up the street from Tien An Men Square. But the people have been urged to leave.

Some observers suggest the recent visit by Vice President Walter Mondale prompted officials to let the people stay. Others point out that the ragged crew also was allowed to remain camped earlier this month.

The government apparently has not made up its mind how to treat the street people. There has been no official statement and nothing on the demonstrators appears in the newspapers.

Most of the protesters complain of persecution and blame the radical "Gang of Four" — China's current scapegoat. And they speak of righting wrongs — a current theme in the newspapers.

It is the second time this month that disgruntled provincials have haunted Chungnanhai, but their petitions are not new.

Last fall the first provincials arrived in numbers in Peking. They demanded food and jobs. They wanted to find vanished loved ones, confront their accusers of the past, clear their good names.

The provincials, impoverished and beaten down, put up wall posters, but did little else. They were organized somewhat by human rights activists like Madame Fu Yeh-hua, who later was arrested in the March and April crackdown on dissidents.

In late December about 200 provincials protested at Chungnanhai. They marched down the tree-lined boulevard to the People's Daily, the Communist Party newspaper, to air their complaints.

In the bitterness of winter, little was seen of them and wall posters later reported that six died of exposure and starvation.

Early this year newspapers were sympathetic to them and Chairman Hua said they were good people whose problems should be solved. He called on leaders in Peking and the provinces to be responsive.

At that time the People's Daily said it was not only permissible but necessary for people to complain. It was full of concern and said they should not be judged by their intemperate words.

It criticized the bureaucracies in Peking and the provinces but said the problems should be solved at the local level, not the highest.

Some protesters later scoffed that Peking officials sent them packing with only a letter to local officials — the very same who had persecuted them.

On Feb. 7, while thousands celebrated the Chinese New Year in the Great Hall of the People, about 300 paupers demonstrated in Tien An Men Square. They shouted into the night: "We want food. We demand to eat."

Black-Led Government Gives Zimbabwe Flag

SALISBURY, Zimbabwe (UPI) — Amid booming gun salutes and the roar of jet warplanes, the country's first black-led government Sunday gave Zimbabwe a new flag in its continuing struggle for support at home and abroad.

The new flag was designed by order of Prime Minister Abel Muzorewa's government to replace the green-and-white banner of Rhodesia's white minority governments.

It will be replaced, however, if the conference starting in London Sept. 10 produces agreement between Muzorewa's biracial government and the Patriotic Front guerrilla alliance on a comprehensive majority rule settlement.

The main flag-raising ceremony was staged in Salisbury at a soccer stadium near a shanty town that houses over 4,000 people who have fled the escalating war in rural areas.

Reaction to the new flag among refugees ranged from indifference to sarcasm.

A withered old woman who spent the morning hawking vegetables said, "Our main concern here is to get food to eat. If we spent the day at the stadium watching this new flag, what do you think we are going to eat?"

One man sitting outside a tent made

Next to the black panel is a thinner vertical white line to symbolize biracial cooperation. It is followed by three horizontal panels of equal width: red, for blood shed in the struggle for majority rule; white, to show the white minority as an integral aspect of life in the country; and green to stress the importance of agriculture.

"We hope that this new flag, representing a new unity under majority rule, will be a rallying point for all who have engaged in the war," said President Josiah Gumede, the ceremonial chief of state, at the Salisbury ceremony.

Gunners greeted Gumede with a 21-gun salute from howitzers when he arrived in his open-top black Rolls Royce and reviewed an honor guard made up of black and white troops from all the armed services.

SNAIL HARVEST UP

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Central Java's snail exports to France for June to August crawled up to 60 tons, officials said, because collecting the animals was easier than in months passed. But the government did not say why the snails were easier to collect, or give previous export figures. A statement did say the French delicacy was fetching $1 per kilogram, or about 2.2 pounds.

AN EDITORIAL:

Today Is For All Americans

ALTHOUGH NOT as singularly American a holiday as, say, Thanksgiving, Labor Day nevertheless has several distinctly American touches which significantly distinguish it from similar occasions the world around.

We, for example, have chosen September for this annual salute to the working man.

Elsewhere, at least in those societies permitting such manifestations, the preferred date is May 1 and the accent, if not always aggressively Marxist, is strongly on class—on social division, not unity.

Internationally, May Day is the proletariat's red-letter day, a time for toiling masses to demonstrate solidarity in an economic contest with more favored classes. Us against them.

HERE, THE emphasis is also on mass, but of a different definition. This is a day for the nation en masse—assembly line worker, manager, those in the professions.

The workingman in the United States is virtually everyman, the entire adult population conceived as laboring together to produce and then sharing in the benefits of the national plenty.

It was not always thus. The first Labor Day, observed in New York on Sept. 5, 1882, was a militant demonstration, a demand for rights and recognition.

The battle was prolonged and often bitter, but American labor has long since won recognition. Its rights, underwritten by a mass of social legislation unmatched in the world, are now integral to the structure of our society.

We still have our clashes of economic interest, bargaining breakdowns and strikes. But the dialogue, sharp though it may be at times, in the context of the American experience has taken on a singularly American character.

AS DEMOCRATIC capitalism has developed in this country, the sense of class, never so strong here as in the various old countries from which we sprang, has diminished.

Laboring commoners can and do speak to economic kings, and in terms of living standards, it is not always easy to tell them apart.

There has been a parallel development in the significance of Labor Day. Not class, but mass solidarity is the message now.

IT IS AN occasion not for demonstrations and militant oratory, but a day for each American—blue collar and white collar—to observe and enjoy in his own way, and through private observance to join in a public affirmation of the American achievement.

In labor and its changing role in society, the American experience is one of paradox. But if it were not, if all were predictable and certain, that experience would not be anywhere near so interesting. Or promising.

AN EDITORIAL:

Soviets Pose Cuban Challenge

A QUESTION POSED recently by this and other newspapers regarding a Russian troop buildup in Cuba has been answered.

U.S. intelligence sources have confirmed the existence in Cuba of Soviet combat troops, perhaps as many as 3,000, according to Senate Foreign Relations Chairman Sen. Frank Church.

In making the Soviet presence on the island known, Sen. Church warned that "the United States cannot permit the island to become a Russian military base, 90 miles from our shores, nor can we allow Cuba to be used as a springboard for Russian military intervention in the Western hemisphere."

CHURCH'S DATA, which he says was furnished him by none other than Sec. of State Cyrus Vance, is most disturbing indeed.

But, quite frankly, no surprise.

We have been warning from the day Russia imported Cuban soldiers to fight its proxy wars in Africa—with no more than a finger waggling from the U.S.—that we would face a much graver threat much closer to home.

Now, it seems, the prediction may have come true.

MOSCOW HAS had military advisers in Cuba, under an agreement with the U.S. since the Cuban missile crisis in 1962.

Such advisers presumably are there for training and communications purposes.

But, this is the first time Russia has placed combat type troops in Cuba, Church noted. Expressing concern over the latest development, Church said: "It is one thing for Russians to engage in such activities in places like Angola and Ethiopia. It is quite another to move into what always has been regarded as our own front yard..."

THE DEVELOPMENT comes in the wake of the Nicaraguan upheaval in which the Sandanistas, heavily influenced by Castro-type Communists, overthrew—with an assist from the U.S.—the friendly regime of President Anastosia Somoza.

It was no secret that both Cuba and Communist-leaning Panama funneled both weapons and training of men into the Nicaraguan operation. Since that time, fears have grown that Cuba's Fidel Castro will export Marxist "liberation" movements to other Latin American nations.

Although the Soviet ground forces do not pose the threat the Russian missiles did in 1962, the U.S. cannot allow them to remain. To do so would be a signal to Latin America that we couldn't protect the area. It also would be opening our back door to the Soviet Bear.

ART BUCHWALD:

Rerun Of Summer News Reads Like Fairy Tales

WASHINGTON—Some people read the newspaper this summer, and some people didn't. Hammacher, who was up in Maine, didn't, so I had to help him catch up on what went on.

"What did I miss?" he wanted to know as he unpacked his rubber raft and outdoor cooking utensils from the trunk of his car.

"It was a very quiet summer," I assured him. "President Carter came back from Vienna and Japan and announced he had a major speech on energy. Then he went to Camp David and decided to go fishing instead."

"Did he catch anything?"

"No, but a lot of people came up to Camp David to tell him he was a lousy President."

"I'll bet he didn't like that," Hammacher said.

"ON THE CONTRARY, he seemed to enjoy it. When he finally came down from the mountain he went on television and told us what everyone said he was doing wrong. Then he revealed the energy crisis was real and he was going to take strong measures to do something about it."

"What did he do?"

"He fired Califano, the secretary of health, education and welfare."

"I didn't know Califano had anything to do with energy."

"Neither did anyone else. It caused quite a stir. The President also shook up the White House. He made Ham Jordan his chief of staff and replaced three girls in the typing pool."

"It sounds like he meant business."

"HE DID. The President said he was very worried about the malaise in the country so he planned to go out every week and meet with the real American people instead of those who work for him in Washington. It was a real shot in the arm for the people in Kansas City."

"What about his energy program?" Hammacher wanted to know.

"Well, Congress had to go home on vacation, so the President said there was no hurry and he'd deal with the urgent energy crisis when they came back."

"That was good of him. What did he do next?"

"He booked himself and Rosalynn and Amy on the Delta Queen, a paddle wheeler, and took a 10-day ride down the Mississippi."

"That was a good idea, especially since there wasn't anything going on in Washington."

"RIGHT. BUT while he was jogging around the deck of the Delta Queen, UN Ambassador Andy Young met secretly with the PLO in the Kuwaiti ambassador's apartment.

"When the State Department found out about it, Andy didn't tell them what had happened, so State got miffed and called the President and said Young had to go. Andy resigned and all the black leaders in the United States got mad at Israel."

"You're making all this up."

"There's more. The Southern Christian Leadership Conference decided to take over the negotiations in the Middle East. The President was very upset about this because he had sent Bob Strauss to the Middle East to see if he could get Egypt and Israel to agree on a UN Resolution.

"Strauss thought he was in charge of the Middle East, but the President passed word from the Delta Queen that Vice President Mondale was in charge.

"SECRETARY OF STATE Vance got mad at this, so Jody Powell, the President's press secretary, said there was a mistake and Vance was in charge.

"Mondale decided he wanted to visit China, and the Rev. Jesse Jackson has offered to meet with Yasser Arafat of the PLO when he comes to New York."

"Isn't there any good news that happened this summer?" Hammacher wanted to know.

"Yes, Carter told his Bible class a few weeks ago that when he went to South Korea in late June he tried to make President Park a Christian."

"Now I know you're pulling my leg," Hammacher said.

I looked at him sadly. "Believe me, I wish I were."

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK:

Coat And Tie-Less

EVANS

WASHINGTON—Alonzo McDonald, Hamilton Jordan's highly regarded new deputy chief of staff in the White House, showed from the start that he is an important new voice there by suggesting privately that President Carter's voyage down the Mississippi was not an unqualified public relations triumph.

The President's politicking aboard the Delta Queen has received rave reviews from the senior staffers who conceived the journey. But filling in for the absent Jordan at a staff meeting, newcomer McDonald offered a dissent.

Instead of Carter in jogging togs and sports shirts day after day on television, McDonald proposed a different image for the chief executive: appearing on TV dressed in coat and tie, thoughtfully considering problems.

"Did Hamilton tell you to say that?" cracked one staffer. Jordan's allergy to coats and ties, though under control since becoming chief of staff, is legendary.

"No," McDonald replied, "it was my own idea." The fact that McDonald, a corporate management expert who at 51 is 17 years Jordan's senior, will be speaking up on his own is the best sign for hope at the reorganized White House.

ANOTHER SIGN of John B. Connally's summer doldrums was a meeting of Chicago area Republican county chairmen who resolved to stay off his presidential bandwagon after having seemed firmly seated there a few weeks ago.

That is bad news for the Connally camp, which has been counting Illinois at the top of its northern list. But some county chairmen captivated by Connally a few months ago have been soured on him by recent visits.

"I'm afraid Connally is just a mean, cantankerous (expletive)," one chairman told us.

Since such Illinois Republican leaders were looking at Connally originally as an alternative to front-running Ronald Reagan, they are now seeking a new choice.

Some are interested in the slowly accelerating campaign of George Bush, but many others are eyeing an old, familiar figure: Gerald R. Ford.

★

PRESIDENT CARTER has invited 1,000 labor leaders and their chief aides to an unprecedented Labor Day party on the South Lawn of the White House.

The President's effort to ingratiate himself with the grandees of union labor, starting with ailing AFL-CIO President George Meany, has a long way to go.

In particular, he faces an uphill fight to reproduce his 1976 backing from the politically active United Auto Workers (UAW).

On his swing down the Mississippi, Carter was greeted by many labor leaders, including the UAW's Iowa chief, Chuck Gifford.

But Gifford and other union leaders made clear that their willingness to take part in the reception of Carter in Iowa (which begins delegate selection for the Democratic National Convention only five months from now) was no endorsement.

In fact, Gifford and other labor leaders strongly lean toward Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

★

JACK WATSON, President Carter's link to governors and mayors, is getting increased clout in the slowly-unfolding reorganization of the White House staff promised by Carter at the Camp David domestic summit.

A buttoned down Atlanta lawyer who never made it into Carter's down-home inner circle, Watson has gotten high marks lately even from his old enemy: Hamilton Jordan, the new White House chief of staff.

Jordan steamrollered Watson's effort to take control of personnel in the fledgling administration shortly after the 1976 election.

Now Jordan tells intimates that despite Carter's prone position in the polls, Democratic mayors and governors continue to give him strong support because of Watson.

Other White House staffers say that if Carter's congressional liaison staff had spent as much time and effort courting Congress as Watson has spent on the governors and mayors, the President would not be in his present dismal condition on Capitol Hill.

With personnel-patronage chief Tim Kraft leaving the White House for the Carter-Mondale campaign committee, Watson may now inherit some of Kraft's personnel powers.

★

A FORTHCOMING announcement will claim for Republican presidential candidate George Bush support from 534 Iowa Republicans.

They include two members of Gov. Robert Ray's cabinet and 24 state legislators (more than one out of every four Republicans in the legislature).

What is impressive about this lineup of Bush supporters for the January precinct caucuses in Iowa is its variety.

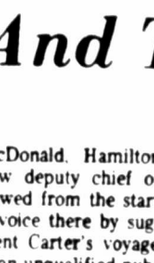
Bush will claim the backing of the Agriculture Secretary Robert Lounsberry, who was a Ronald Reagan delegate in 1976, and the State Treasurer Morris Baringer, who backed then President Ford.

Nevertheless, Ronald Reagan runs ahead of the field in Iowa.

As for John B. Connally and Sen. Howard Baker, there is no visible sign of serious activity.

HENRY J. TAYLOR:

An Image Of Bryan



WASHINGTON—Many of President Carter's traits call to mind those of the late evangelist William Jennings Bryan, three-time Democratic Party nominee for the presidency.

Bryan was called "The Great Commoner," a sobriquet derived from The Commoner, a weekly political journal he edited in Lincoln, Neb. And President Carter, in turn, emphasizes his peanut-farmer image as a shirt-sleeve fellow from Plains, Ga.

Essentially, both are populist symbols—Bryan with his paper-money, debt-defying proposals, Carter with his refusal to admit that his own propositions are inflation personified.

NEITHER BOTHERED to explain that a government is a spender, not an earner. Any wealth produced must be produced by the people. Anything a government says it will give the people must be taken away from the people.

Carter, like Bryan, is as confused as the gypsies who cry at weddings and dance at funerals.

Bryan launched himself toward the Democratic presidential nomination (July 10, 1896) with his masterful oration, including the well-remembered line: "You shall not press down on the brow of labor a crown of thorns; you shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold."

Both Carter and Bryan made their pitch to organized labor. Today, as in Bryan's day, nothing within the Democratic Party has been possible without the support of organized labor.

IN FACT, Carter, like Bryan, is so dependent on organized labor that he counts its votes like a miser tasting banknotes with his thumbs. This accounts for the way Carter woos AFL-CIO President George Meany.

As an orator, Carter shares Bryan's talent for swimming a sea of platitudes, showing the channel swimmer's confident strokes and making his way to the White Cliffs of Dover by saying what he imagines people want to hear.

When Bryan—the greatest orator of his time—first ran for the presidency he made an unprecedented 600-plus speeches and traveled about 18,000 miles through 27 states. But Bryan was overwhelmingly defeated, as he was in his second Democratic nomination.

In 1913 President Woodrow Wilson appointed Bryan secretary of state. But he served barely two years, resigning with a very critical blast against Wilson.

BY 1916 BRYAN was finished. The Democratic Party's three-time presidential nominee could not even win a place as delegate-at-large from Nebraska to the Democratic National Convention.

By July 1925, Bryan was prosecuting John T. Scopes in the famous Dayton, Tenn., "Monkey Trial." Clarence Darrow battled for the defense and lost. But Bryan's was a hollow victory.

Sadly, toward the end, empty, meaningless words cascaded from a face no longer glowing, but merely old.

The legal duel took its toll. William Jennings Bryan died in Dayton, Tenn., on July 26 at age 65, frozen into bitterness by the disappointments that stalked his failures.

President Carter's future is a separate thing, but the comparison with Bryan remains intriguing.

JAY HARRIS:

The Job Ethic...

THE AMERICAN worker today is the envy of the world.

In almost any nation one can name, the "average" citizen would pack up and move to the U.S. tomorrow for one major reason—the opportunity to better himself.

Yet, despite the fact the "average American" is better paid, has more job privileges and "extras," from a five-day or less work week to pensions and hospital benefits, and enjoys at least some of the "good life," millions are dissatisfied.

The "malaise" as President Carter painted it can be traced to a number of things. Unabated double digit inflation eating into workers' paychecks by the week, forecasts that things may get worse before they get better and a feeling that the average person is caught up in a situation over which he has little control.

STILL, ON this day, once celebrated primarily by organized labor, but now taken more or less as a salute to all who earn their way, the mythical John and Mary Doe "never had it so good."

Not that they haven't had it before, and have every right to expect more of the same. But, there are a lot of people around who can remember when they had it worse.

This week, U.S. News & World Report took a hard look at what makes "the new breed of worker" run. What the magazine came up with was intriguing.

"Millions of determined young men and women in America's offices and factories are demanding good pay, sensitive bosses, meaningful work and satisfying careers—and they aren't content to settle for less," the survey surmised.

UNLIKE THEIR parents, contemporary workers do not view their jobs as a simple contract: "A day's work for a day's pay," USN&WR notes.

"Today's workers want...nothing less than 8 hours of meaningful, skillfully guided, personally satisfying work for 8 hours' pay. And that's not easy for most companies to provide."

The article went on to note that America's work force has changed dramatically in the past twenty years, including an influx of women and blacks. The median age is 35. These are the post-World War II babies. They have always known prosperity. Young, educated and ambitious, they have come to expect good wages, fringe benefits and an abundance of job opportunities.

It is no wonder that the attitude of the young Turks among the work force has flabbergasted many corporate bosses who think in terms of another time, another place when jobs, money and opportunity did not come so easily.

ALSO, MANY of today's older workers, who often watch the "grievances" and "demands" of the younger clan in dismay, can think back when times were tougher.

In fact, some can recall the Great Depression and other hard times and are more appreciative of what they now have than those who have always enjoyed a more affluent life style.

For whatever it is worth, there are other "fallouts" from today's new work attitude, if not changed work ethic.

Productivity among American workers has steadily dropped in recent years and is one of the major factors in the nation's inflation headache, as well as jobs to foreign workers.

In fact, the fall-off in what workers produce was a pronounced 3.8 percent during the second quarter of this year, a government report recently noted. It is the sharpest since a 6.9 percent drop in the first quarter of 1974.

IT WAS THE first time for the key indicator to drop two consecutive quarters since 1974 when the economy slid into a recession.

Productivity is a measure of goods and services produced per hour. When output drops, inflation is fueled because business must charge more per unit to pay the costs.

According to USN&WR, the "average" worker of the past 20 years has been sort of a Dagwood Bumstead type. But, the picture has changed.

Today's worker is a more sophisticated type. An all-time high of 41 percent are women, 10 percent black and 23 percent are under 25 years of age. The average worker today is more affluent with the median income set at a record $17,500. In 63 percent of the households, at least two persons work.

Fringe benefits add materially to one's income. In 1978, employers kicked in an average of $2,115 a year to provide the basic benefits for each worker. In 1960, it was only $346 per person.

Today's worker is better educated, although to hear some bosses and older workers tell it, not better trained or job-oriented. Today, more people work in offices than in factories, with half classified as white collar. Today's worker is more mobile and enjoys more leisure time, including an average of 10 paid holidays a year.

SO, WITH SO much going for them, how come so many workers are so unhappy?

The worker himself may be much to blame. Many do not know what they want to do. Many claim they do not like what they are doing. A third claim they are underpaid. Others say their full potential isn't used. And 55 percent want more time off.

But, the job picture is a two-way street. What about the "sensitive boss" who has to worry about meeting the payroll, building the plant, keeping the store, borrowing the capital? What about the consumer—who also is a worker—who runs across shoddy products daily and reads of constant "recalls" on everything from hair dryers to autos? Who did it?

What happened to the work ethic? Some claim it's still around, that most people do enjoy work and want to accomplish more, but feel lost in a world of Big Brother edicts, computers and runaway inflation.

Maybe it all could be better. But it could be worse, too. Just ask the millions abroad, and some at home, who stand in envy of most Americans today.

Fair Skies Expected Through Today

Fair skies and temperatures in the mid-90s are expected on the South Plains for Labor Day, although a slight chance for scattered thundershowers exists in the area through midweek.

The weak frontal system which touched off scattered showers in portions of the region Saturday evening is dissipating. But increasing cloudiness over New Mexico Sunday afternoon was triggering some shower activity along the Texas-New Mexico border area along the Canadian River.

The forecast from the National Weather Service for the rest of the state calls for mostly sunny skies for much of Texas with scattered thundershowers over parts of south, east and southwest Texas, especially the coastal areas.

Thunderstorms also were developing Sunday in portions of Oklahoma. Some of that shower activity may move into Texas but no precipitation of any consequence is expected today.

The low tonight will be in the upper 60s and the high on Tuesday, again, will be in the mid-90s.

Embassy Takeovers Celebrate Khadafy Regime Anniversary

(UPI) Libyan students have taken over their country's embassies in Washington and at least four other major capitals at the urging of strongman Col. Moammar Khadafy, ousting the diplomats and establishing "peoples' bureaus" to celebrate his regime's 10th anniversary.

There were no reports that Libyan embassies in Paris, Madrid, Bonn or other capitals were also overrun as the Libyan leader suggested during a speech Saturday to commemorate his coming to power by a coup in 1969.

A Libyan official reached at home in London said he knew of nothing amiss at his embassy, although embassies in London, Athens, Rome and Malta were reported to be occupied by Libyan university students and workers living abroad.

The head of the takeover committee in Washington said the major embassies "are considered key embassies and eventually it's going to affect all the other embassies."

The embassy occupations coincided with the recall of Libyan ambassadors in Rome and Valetta, Malta and a leave taken by the ambassador in Athens. The present charge d'affairs in Washington will reportedly be reassigned there.

The official Libyan News Agency said Sunday Khadafy called for the popular takeovers because of numerous complaints by his countrymen about "what actually takes place in those embassies."

The complaints, Khadafy said, "revealed the gap existing between the masses and their embassies, the fact that elements of the deposed regime (of King Idris) continue to be employed in the embassies and the existence of nepotism and extravagance."

He said the only solution was to turn the embassies into "peoples' bureaus."

Salem Schewedi, leader of the student takeover committee, said in Tripoli that "as our revolutionary leader says, power, wealth and arms should be in the hands of the people."

The leader of a five-man committee occupying the Libyan Embassy in Washington, Ali el-Houderi, said the takeovers represent an attempt to deal with Libyans directly instead of through regular channels and other formal methods.

"We consider it an internal matter to match what's happening in Libya," he said. "Normal business will be carried on as usual. We are not expecting any disruption of daily activities."

The occupied embassies were immediately renamed by the student committees. The only other changes to be made in the embassy in Washington will be "in philosophy and structure of the office, not a change in personalities," el-Houderi said.

In Athens, a group of young Libyans took over the embassy, formed a five-member popular committee and said Ambassador Omar El Jeleidi, now on leave in Tripoli, would not be permitted to return to his post.

Marshall Predicts Unemployment Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor Secretary Ray Marshall said Sunday he would ask President Carter to take special action to stem rising unemployment if the jobless rate got as high as 6.5 percent, a level he said is possible sometime next year.

But Marshall said the special action for which he would ask would not include a general tax cut, a remedy proposed by many economists. Marshall said a tax cut would be an inefficient means of creating jobs, and that he prefers direct job creation and job training with federal money.

Marshall made the comments on the CBS interview program "Face the Nation."

Unemployment in July stood at 5.7 percent, still in the stable 5.6 to 5.9 percent range it has maintained for the past year. But with the economy cooling and believed to be approaching a recession, economists say higher unemployment rates already are overdue.

Cheap Mortgage Rates Draw Parishioners Into Long Lines

NEW ORLEANS (A) — Andrea Lemoine, 22 years old and eight months pregnant, has been in line in a suburban parking lot since Thursday. She plans to stay there, taking turns with her husband, until sometime Wednesday, hoping to get a bargain home loan.

Mrs. Lemoine and hundreds of people standing in 61 lines scattered throughout Jefferson Parish are trying to get a chunk of the $86 million raised for low-interest home mortgages through a bond sale. It is expected to cover 1,700 to 2,000 loans.

"My husband and I have figured that every hour we spend out here is worth $270 to us," she says.

She figures the 7.625 percent interest rate — one of the nation's lowest — will save her family about $100 a month on a 30-year loan.

So does Richard Miller, first in Mrs. Lemoine's line at Jefferson Savings and Loan Association's office in Metairie. The going interest rate is about 11 percent.

The maximum loan is $75,000, and loans are limited to people with adjusted gross annual incomes of $30,000 or less.

Thirty-six lending institutions are participating in the Jefferson Parish program. And lines of anywhere from 50 to more than 130 people with lawn chairs, coolers and shade umbrellas have formed at their 61 offices.

Several of those in line with the Lemoines and Millers wear T-shirts, sold by an enterprising sporting goods store, with "Loan-a-thon '79" on the front and the figure "7⅜" on the back.

"If somebody said two months ago that we'd be doing this, I'd have said they were crazy," Miller says.

He got in line at 1 a.m. Thursday. Under rules set by the Jefferson Home Mortgage Authority, only people with purchase agreements signed after midnight Wednesday could qualify for the loans.

Mrs. Lemoine, 29th in line, said she and her husband drove out early Thursday morning to scout the area and saw Miller's wife sitting in line.

"I thought she was a nut," Mrs. Lemoine said. "I couldn't believe it. But about noon that same day, we saw about 20 people out here. A few minutes later, we were in line."

The mortgage authority tried to break up the lines later that day with an order saying no applications would be taken from anybody who got in line before the close of business Tuesday.

But, faced with protests from the early birds in line and loan company officials with vivid mental pictures of a stampede of applicants jostling for position Tuesday afternoon, the agency backed down Friday.

Eight people ahead of Mrs. Lemoine is Rodney Rice, 31.

"We've got to wheel and deal as much as we can," he says.

"We thought of coming at 6 a.m. next Tuesday, but our realtor passed by Thursday morning and called my wife."

Rice plans to borrow $50,000 for a $62,500 home and estimates he will save $35,000 to $40,000 on the deal.

"I don't think anybody anntiicipated this. At this rate, we're going to stay in our new house for quite a while," he said.

COSMONAUTS RE-ADAPT

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet cosmonauts who recently set a record for space endurance are readapting to life on Earth after their 175 days and 36 minutes in space, the Soviet newspaper Trud reports. The report said Vladimir Lyakhov, commander on the Salyut 6 space station, lost nearly nine pounds during the journey but engineer Valery Ryumin was reported to have maintained his pre-flight weight. Trud said the men were taking as many as 10,000 steps a day, compared to the 300 to 1,000 they were limited to immediately after landing.

Pope Paul Plans Stop In Ireland On Way To U.S.

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Pope John Paul II will visit sites steeped in religion and folklore on his trip to Ireland Sept. 29-Oct. 1 on his way to the United States.

On the day he arrives the Polish-born pontiff is scheduled to celebrate Mass in Dublin's Phoenix Park, and officials say they expect about a million people — one-third of the Irish Republic's population — will attend.

Because the republic is about 95 percent Roman Catholic, the pope is expected to get a reception comparable to the one given him last June when he went home to Poland, also a predominantly Catholic nation.

Phoenix Park, 1,760 acres of greenery three miles from the center of Dublin, is more than 150 years old. But even before municipal authorities made it a park, the area had been a recreation spot for Dubliners for generations.

The park takes its name from the Gaelic words "fionn uisce," meaning fair water, a reference to a well on its grounds. The water was once believed to have curative powers. The Gaelic words were anglicized over the years to Phoenix, an English corruption of "fionn uisce."

The practice of going to the well for cures died out in the 20th century as modern medicine became available to the Irish peasantry.

In the park are residences of the president of Ireland, the U.S. ambassador and the papal nuncio, the Vatican's local representative. The last will be the base for Pope John Paul II during his Irish visit.

The evening of his arrival the pontiff will go by helicopter 30 miles north of Dublin to the city of Drogheda to visit the shrine of St. Oliver Plunket, a martyr of the Catholic Church.

The Irish-born saint, canonized four years ago, was appointed archbishop of Armagh and primate of Ireland in 1669, when Ireland was ruled by the king of England. He later was accused of involvement in a "popish plot" and conspiring to bring a French army to Ireland.

The archbishop was brought to London, convicted of treason and on July 1, 1681, was hanged, drawn and quartered. The preserved head of the saint has been venerated as a relic in Drogheda Cathedral for generations.

On Sept. 30, a Sunday, the pope is expected to visit a Dublin parish, the most likely being the Church in Sean McDermott Street, where the remains of Matt Talbot are buried. But this has not been confirmed by church officials.

Talbot, a Dublin workingman who lived in the early part of this century, is now regarded by the Catholic church as "venerable," a stage toward canonization.

Talbot renounced drink, dedicated his life to God and became an object of scorn and hatred when he refused to take part in Ireland's general strike of 1913. But toward the end of his life he was generally regarded as a holy man.

The afternoon of Sept. 30, the pope is to fly 160 miles west to Galway, considered the most Irish of cities. In fact, in some parts of the surrounding countryside, only Gaelic is spoken.

The pontiff is to celebrate another outdoor Mass at Galway, this time on a race track before thousands of people with names like O'Connor, O'Flaherty, O'Bryne, O'Shea, O'Sullivan, Doyle, O'Loughlin and O'Reilly.

The visit reaches a climax that Sunday evening with a pilgrimage to the Marian shrine at Knock, in the middle of the bleak and misty Mayo countryside about 150 miles northwest of Dublin.

It was at Knock in 1879, exactly a century ago, that a group of Irish peasants claimed to have seen a vision of the Blessed Virgin, John the Baptist and St. Joseph against the limestone gable of the local church.

According to local legend, the apparition was first spotted by the housekeeper for the parish priest and she alerted other villagers but neglected to inform her employer.

For several hours, the story goes, about 20 villagers watched the motionless figures against the gable. One old woman put her hand out to touch the Virgin's gown, it is said, but her hand passed through the image and touched the wall.

The villagers eventually went to help an old woman who had fallen out of bed coming to see the apparition, the story goes. But when they returned the images were gone.

Catholic authorities in Ireland at first played down the reported apparition. But when thousands of pilgrims from all over the country began arriving at Knock an inquiry was held.

The panel looked into various theories, such as that the images were projected by the newly invented magic lantern, a primitive slide projector. But after rigorous questioning of the villagers, the panel decided that something without explanation had been seen at Knock.

On Oct. 1, the final day of the pontiff's visit before flying to the United States, he will stop off at the southern city of Limerick. If Galway claims to be the most Irish, Limerick contends it is the most Catholic in Ireland.

From there the pope travels about 20 miles down the road to Shannon Airport and on to America. His first stop is another city where lots of people are named O'Connor and O'Reilly — Boston.

Measles Declining Dramatically In America

ATLANTA (UPI) — Federal health officials say measles is declining dramatically in this country and could hit a record low this year.

The Center for Disease Control said that if known cases of measles "continue to decline at the current rate, the projected 1979 total will be between 13,000 and 14,000 reported cases, an all-time low for the United States."

The big drop apparently was the result of a national effort announced last year to try to eliminate the disease in America except for imported cases.

Since then, many states have begun strict enforcement of immunization laws, excluding unvaccinated children from school until they have proof of inoculation. Federal health officials say this action has played a key role in reducing the number of measles cases.

As of August 25, the CDC said 12,000 cases of measles had been reported since the first of the year.

"This is a 48.8 percent decrease from the number of cases reported for the comparable time period in 1978 and a 40.3 percent decrease from the total cases reported in the first 34 weeks of 1974, the year with the lowest total number of recorded cases — 22,094," the CDC said.

The drop in measles cases actually began in 1978 when the provisional total for that year was listed at 25,859, compared to 57,345 for the year before.

"Significant decreases in incidence rates were noted for all age groups," the CDC said.

HEARTLINE: Does my age (between 62 and 65) have any bearing on the amount of money my dependent wife will draw from wife's benefits from Social Security? I do know that her age (62 to 65) does affect her Social Security benefits. She will be 63 when I hope to retire at age 62. If I were to wait until I am 65 to file for Social Security retirement benefits, would she get more on my age AS WELL as hers? — J.T.

No, your age at the time of your retirement would not affect the amount of benefits your dependent wife would receive, as her benefit will be based on your age 65 unreduced benefit.

However, if you wait until age 65 to retire, you both would receive higher benefits. You would receive 100 percent of your own benefit, and because your wife would be age 65 or over, she would receive 50 percent of your benefit. In other words, you would receive a combined total of approximately 27 percent more money per month than if you retired at ages 62 and 63.

HEARTLINE: My husband was recently incarcerated. He may be in prison for two years or longer. He was just about to receive a VA pension before this trouble started. A friend told me that while he is in jail, he is not a citizen and not entitled to any government pensions, including Social Security or VA benefits, nor can his dependents receive same. Is this true? — K.V.

Not true! Ex-servicemen who are imprisoned after return to civilian life for offenses not related to military service do not lose their eligibility for veteran's benefits.

The Veteran's Administration has, since World War II, made a special effort to acquaint incarcerated veterans with their rights to VA benefits. Efforts have been stepped up for Vietnam-Era veterans.

The VA has produced a pamphlet specifically designed for incarcerated veterans called Inside...Outside. The pamphlet briefly explains how and where to apply and what benefits incarcerated veterans may be entitled to. It is being mailed to all penal institutions and to veterans on parole or probation.

For information on receiving your husband's Social Security check, contact your local Social Security office.

HEARTLINE: I noticed the headline on your column one day — 'Pension Less in Early Retirement.' I've often wondered if pensions and Social Security are practical jokes. I was informed by an R.N. in 1957. She asked me how much Social Security I was getting. I told her that was the first I'd heard of Social Security. She replied that I had been eligible for it since about 1937. I told her then that I had never seen any of it yet, and I still say they must be political jokes of some kind. I've known persons who received pensions at age 57, but I am almost 72 and have never seen any penions or Social Security as of now. I keep seeing pieces in the daily paper about each and the changes that have taken place, but still never receive either of them. If that R.N. was right, why have they waited 53 years and still I receive nothing? — M.C.

We have found that there are quite a few senior citizens who have never really known what Social Security is. Our best advice is to look in your telephone book for the number of the Social Security Administration and call them or visit their office and have it explained to you. Also ask them to check their records to see if you are eligible for a Social Security benefit.

Plains Activities Close Vacation For President

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — President Carter touched base at three churches in Sunday morning rounds of his hometown, sampling Bible class at one, worship service at another, and a potluck luncheon at a third.

Carter planned later in the afternoon to join a team of local minimum security prisoners from the Sumter County Correctional Institution in a softball game against reporters.

Deputy White House press Secretary Rex Granum said the game had been scheduled earlier and once Carter decided he wanted to play softball, "instead of disappointing them (the prisoners), we decided to let them play with the president."

Granum said that the most serious offense with which any of the prisoners have been charged is burglary.

Carter encountered two demonstrators — one from Washington and one from Georgia — who frequently shadow his church visits.

The president and his family are returning to Washington Monday, ending a two-week summer vacation during which they rode a steamboat down the Mississippi River and spent several days at Camp David.

The service at the white frame Plains Baptist Church was also attended by the Rev. Clennon King, a black, non-denominational minister whose attempt to integrate the church three years ago just before election day divided the congregation and led to the formation of the Maranetha Baptist Church.

King is once again seeking membership in the Plains Baptist Church.

As he has on previous visits to Plains, the president divided his time between the two churches.

He attended the Bible school at the new brick Maranetha church about a mile up the road from the old and said in the opening prayer: "Let us at least for these few moments put aside petty, materialist thoughts."

The lesson, taught by Frank Whitley who directs a local nutrituion progam for the elderly, dealt with the application of God's laws with "fairness and justice for all."

The president's next stop was the Plains Baptist Church, where he heard the Rev. Donald E. Wilson preach that God "loves every man...he loves that native in darkest Africa."

With his voice rising to a near-shout, Wilson said, "We're miserable until we can repent...and get right with the almighty God."

The president, as has been his custom, sat in a pew on the right a few rows from the altar, with his family.

King, who is from nearby Albany, Ga., entered the church for the service a few minutes before the president, took a seat on the left side and chatted with the minister after the service.

Carter spent about 10 minutes shaking hands with tourists in front of the church. He posed for a picture with one young child after telling the father — with a smile — "Hurry up. I don't have all day."

The president and his wife were followed on their walk to the Methodist Church by Concepcion Picciotto, who shouted throughout the walk: "Mr. President, Mr. President."

The woman is seen frequently outside the White House and Carter's church in Washington, telling all who will listen that she has been sprayed by poisonous gases and attacked with electronic devices.

She wears a beehive wig of hair that reaches more than a foot above her head.

With a horde of reporters, television crews and tourists hovering, the president was asked on his walk how it felt to be home. "Nice, quiet, restful...solitude," he said sarcastically.

Mrs. Carter said that the woman was "outside the church (in Washington) every Sunday."

The president, as is his custom on Sunday church mornings, refused to answer questions dealing with substantive issues.

Asked if he had anything new to report on the Soviet ground troops in Cuba, he responded, "Not that I want to talk about."

At the Methodist church, where he and Mrs. Carter were married, the president walked alongside a buffet table with his shirtsleeves rolled up, picking up lunch from platters of roast beef, chicken, beans and rolls.

Salt Linked To High Blood Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP) — For many Americans, the hazards of high blood pressure are leading to increased awareness of the amount of salt they eat.

Routinely eating too much salt raises the risk of high blood pressure, according to experts at the Department of Agriculture, particularly if you have relatives or ancestors with hypertension.

Ordinary table salt is sodium chloride and department nutritionists say the key is avoiding sodium.

But that's not always as easy as it sounds. Hiding the salt shakers so you use less salt will help, but there is also plenty of salt and other sodium in prepared foods, so watch the ingredient labels when you shop.

Agriculture Department nutritionists provided the following list of high-sodium items:

•Processed foods, such as certain cheeses, instant and other ready-to-eat cerals.

•Canned and instant soup and bouillon cubes.

•Catsup, mustard and prepared horseradish, barbecue, soy and Worcestershire sauce.

•Salty or smoked fish: anchovies, caviar, salted or dried cod, herring, sardines, smoked salmon.

Q. I have received and read literature from my stock broker about "managed commodity accounts." A minimum of $25,000 is required to open such an account and a fee is paid to the manager of the account.

What is your opinion of managed commodity accounts? I know, of course, that there is risk involved. But what is the typical percentage record of the professionals who handle other people's money in such accounts?

A. Your letter is realistic in that you never once used the word "invest." All too many readers write in and claim to be investing in commodities. That's hogwash. Commodity trading isn't investing. It's speculation, pure and simple.

There's nothing wrong with that, as long as you are willing to take big risks in hopes of reaping big financial rewards. Just remember that you might lose some or all of the money you put up — in this case $25,000.

Because commodity futures trading involves buying and selling contracts for delivery of commodities at a set price at a specified date in the future, producers and users of commodities use the futures market to "hedge" against price changes.

For instance, in June Farmer Jones might sell a contract to deliver his wheat crop in December and XYZ Flour Mill might buy that contract for delivery of the wheat. The farmer then knows the price he will get and the flour mill knows the price it will pay.

Prices on contracts for future delivery of wheat and other commodities can fluctuate. Because speculators buy and sell futures contracts they provide the commodity futures markets with "liquidity" — making it easier for producers to sell and users to buy.

You asked my opinion. It is that the average person is almost certain to lose money trying commodity trading without professional help. The pros in the trade can pluck the individual pigeons.

With a managed commodity account your money would be handled by a professional and that would make the odds more reasonable. You might make money. You might not. Unlike at the race track, there's no "form sheet" on managed commodity accounts.

Q. Enclosed is the Form 1099 for the year 1978 I received from the mutual fund in which I own shares. It shows that I received $1,976.01 in "total dividends and other distributions," $1,390.53 in "income dividends," $585.48 in "capital gains" and $876.03 of the income dividends as "qualifying for exclusion."

I have not been able to get a satisfactory answer — from a certified public accountant, a tax consultant or the Internal Revenue Service — as to what is tax deductible and what I have to pay tax on. Do you know?

A. You may get strange answers from different people at the IRS and some of the characters who set themselves up as tax consultants, but I can't believe that a CPA couldn't give you a quick and straight answer on this one.

You can't "deduct" any of those numbers on your tax return.

You are required to report all of your income dividends as dividends, using Schedule B of your federal income tax return. You report your capital gains, using Schedule D.

Because each taxpayer is allowed to "exclude" and not pay tax on up to $100 in dividends — $200 for a married couple filing a joint return — you take that exclusion on line 10a of Form 1040.

As your Form 1099 points out, the exact numbers were sent to the IRS by your mutual fund. If you didn't report your dividends and capital gains properly, you had better file an amended return.

You may need a CPA to help you do that.

Woman Accidentally Throws Away $1700.

NILES, IL—A major art exchange here reports the tragedy of a Madison, Wisc. housewife who sold a collector's plate worth $1700 for just $40. In her letter to J. R. MacArthur, Director of the Board of Governors, The Bradford Exchange, the world trade center for collector's plates, the woman wrote: "I had a Lalique 1965 plate . . . which I sold to a friend for $40. I had not heard of you then."

MacArthur points out that while the $1700 market value of this plate is exceptionally high, many owners are unaware of how quickly limited edition collector's plates appreciate on the market.

To aid in identifying these plates, the Exchange issues a free report. It contains current prices of more than 900 plates and guidelines on what to look for, when to buy, news of opportunities in promising plates still at low prices and the plate evaluation checklist used by the Exchange.

To get your free report with no obligation, send your name, address and zip code before Saturday of next week to: The Bradford Exchange, 9301 N. Milwaukee, Dept. 85436, Niles, IL 60648. A postcard will do.

Burglary Rash Hits City On Weekend

Debra Perry said she returned to her 1514 8th St. residence early Sunday to find her TV set, stereo sound system and some jewelry removed from the apartment, said police. The missing items were valued at $2,563.

Intruders apparently entered through a window and left through a door, said police.

Intruders broke into the Luther North American Van Lines warehouse at 520 33rd St. early Sunday, said police.

The burglars ransacked the warehouse, breaking into several packing boxes full of personal belongings being stored. Warehouse officials told police they were not sure what, if anything, had been taken, but would conduct an inventory to find out.

Entry to the warehouse was made through an overhead door, according to police reports.

Vandals shot into a wall and through a door of the Hi-Fidelity stereo store at 2217 34th St. early Sunday. Police reports indicate the damage to the storefront may be about $300.

Two juvenile girls were arrested for shoplifting at the Fashion Conspiracy clothing store in South Plains Malls late Saturday. A store employee said she noticed the two girls leaving the store with clothes they had not paid for, and followed them outside, where security gaurds arrested them. The girls were taken into custody by Juvenile Division officers, and $140 worth of clothes returned to the store.

An employee at Yesterday's Restaurant at 3602 Slide Road told police someone removed $255 in cash from her purse while she was working at the restaurant Saturday. Police said Linda Borks told them she thought the money might have been taken while she was working.

Oscar Coleman told police someone destroyed two roses bushes and a cactus plant that were in front of his 210 Cherry St. residence Saturday. Coleman said he heard noises outside his house Saturday night but did not discover the damage to the plant until early Sunday.

A TV set, valued at $100, was removed from Allen Gibson's residence at 2707-A Weber Dr., Saturday. Gibsons said he found the set missing when he returned there about 7:30 p.m.

Mideast Initiative Detailed

JERUSALEM (AP) -Prime Minister Menachem Begin gave a report to his Cabinet Sunday on a mysterious meeting with a Romanian diplomat amid reports that Romanian President Nicolae Ceausescu is trying to bring Syria into the Mideast peace negotiations.

No details of the report were released and Cabinet Secretary Aryeh Naor said it lasted "just a few minutes."

In another development, Israeli and Egyptian military negotiators met in the Israeli city of Beersheba and began planning the third stage of Israel's withdrawal from the Sinai Peninsula, set for Sept. 26. Two Israeli search teams began hunting for the bodies of Israeli soldiers still missing in the desert from the 1973 Mideast war.

Also, Egyptian Oil Minister Ahmed Ezzedine Hilal accused Israel of heavily over-producing oil wells offshore from the Sinai. The Alma field wells are scheduled to be returned to Egypt in three months. In a statement to the Middle East news agency, Hilal said the Israelis are pumping out almost double the amount of oil the wells can sustain for prolonged life.

Few details of Begin's meeting Friday with a Ceausescu aide have been released, and Begin, gave no details of Sunday's cabinet session.

A senior Israeli official was quoted in the newspaper Yediot Aharonot as saying that Ceausescu's envoy, Vasile Pungun, told Begin that Syria would make peace in exchange for Israel's complete withdrawal from the Golan Heights.

Isreal has occupied the stretegic heights since it took them from Syria in the 1967 Mideast war. Israeli leaders frequently assert they will never retreat from the heights, which overlook towns and farming settlements inside Israel. Syria insists on full Israeli withdrawal and recognition of Palestinian rights to self-determination as prerequisites to negotiations.

After the cabinet session, a top aide said Begin had previously proposed a meeting with Syrian President Hafez Assad and the offer remained open. Israel in the past has maintained there can be no preconditions to such a meeting.

A Kuwaiti newspaper said Romania sought to arrange a Begin-Assad meeting at the request of the United States. Syria leads hard-line Arab opposition to the U.S.-sponsored Camp David accords that resulted in the Israeli-Egyptian peace treaty.

Sources here said Begin welcomed Ceausescu's latest effort, but rejected the Romanian leader's offer to mediate a meeting that would include Palestine Liberation Organization chief Yasser Arafat.

Israel refuses to deal with the PLO.

Missing Body Located On Charred Tanker

DEER PARK (AP) — A search team found the body of one man Sunday aboard the the charred hulk of the Chevron Hawaii, but found no trace of two other men missing since the oil tanker exploded in the Houston Ship Channel.

At least twelve other persons were injured, none seriously, in the blast Saturday afternoon at Shell Oil Co. Dock No. 1.

The explosion of the tanker Chevron Hawaii — loaded with 50,000 barrels of petroleum — also ignited a nearby storage tank and three barges.

The major fires were extinguished by late Saturday night. Firefighters were allowing a small transfer pipeline containing oil to burn out early Sunday, said Coast Guard Lt. Harry Lee.

Shell Oil spokesman Bill Lafield said two of the missing persons were technicians working on the ship's radar at the time of the explosion. One tanker crew member also was reported missing.

The missing technicians were identified as Daniel W. Beemer, 33, and David Strout, 28, both of Houston. The name of the crew member was not immediately released.

A check for possible oil pollution in the harbor was scheduled Sunday, Lee said. Officials were to fly over the port to look for pockets of oil.

Lee said navigation at the port would not be affected by the wrecked tanker.

"The Chevron Hawaii is not a hazard to navigation because it was tied up," Lee said. "The ship was torn in half by the fire and explosion and a couple of hundred feet (of the ship) burned to the waterline."

The initial explosion and fire ignited secondary explosions in two barges, which contained gasoline and crude oil. Docks on which the tanker and barges were tied also were destroyed.

Heavy rain and flooding brought by Tropical Storm Elena delayed emergency vehicles en route to the scene, said Shell media relations director Lyn Johnson. But the rain apparently aided in keeping the fire from spreading.

An investigation team was being assembeled Sunday to determine the cause of the explosion and estimate damages, Lafield said. Coast Guard officials earlier said lightning may have triggered the initial blast.

"Initial reports from investigators are that lightning struck the vessel or the tank nearby with the resulting explosion and fire," said Coast Guard Commander J.J. Wicks, after receiving initial reports from two marine inspectors.

Wicks estimated the loss at $10 million.

The secondary explosions aboad the barges occurred about two hours after the initial blast.

"The barges are compartmentalized and as the fire reaches each compartment there is an explosion when the pressure is released," Mrs. Johnson said.

The tanker pulled into Shell docks Saturday morning with 110,000 barrels of refinery feedstock, a heavy oil and other distillates, she said.

The burned-out storage tank contained ethyl alcohol.

Lone Ranger Loses Mask In Courtroom

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Clayton Moore, pledging that he will "fight to get that mask back," says he will unveil a new court-approved mask for the first time when he appears here Monday.

Moore, 64, lost the first round of a court battle over the right to wear the "Lone Ranger mask" that helped make him famous when a judge ordered last Thursday that he not appear in public again while wearing it.

In a telephone interview Saturday night with Louisville radio station WINN, Moore said that Los Angeles Superior Court Judge Vernon Foster's order does allow him to wear a mask in public and to be billed as "Clayton Moore, the man who portrayed the Lone Ranger."

"My appearance in Louisville will be in a new-type face mask. You folks will be seeing the new-type face covering for the first time in the country," Moore said.

But the veteran actor stressed he would appeal the ruling.

Largest Summit Of Non- Aligned Countries To Open Today

HAVANA (AP) — The largest summit of the world's non-aligned nations opens Monday and up to 60 heads of state and government, mostly from the Third World, are expected to wrangle over what some see as an effort by Cuba to edge the neutral movement toward Soviet influence.

The host government of President Fidel Castro, regarding this sixth summit conference of the non-aligned movement as a high point of Cuba's international prestige, has offered a draft resolution vilifying the United States — and which critics say implicitly portrays the Soviet Union as a natural ally of developing nations.

Castro's government, which depends heavily on Soviet aid, denies that this is its intention, but if Castro attempts at the five-day summit to direct the non-aligned movement toward the Soviet Union, he will have strong opposition from Egypt, India, and Yugoslav President Tito, a co-founder of the movement.

The movement was established 24 years ago as an alternative for developing nations during the Cold War. Since then, it has steered a middle course between the United States and the Soviet Union and maintained its unity, despite the diversity of its membership, which includes some of the richest and poorest nations in the world.

Since the non-aligned movement largely views itself as a victim of big-power politics, the leaders and Cabinet ministers from some 100 nations will focus a great deal of attention on the United States, the Soviets, and China. None of the three major powers is represented at the conference, although all are watching closely.

Cuba's draft resolution assails U.S. "imperialism" around the world and accuses Washington of supporting "Zionist aggression" in the Middle East, interfering in the liberation struggles of southern Africa and aggravating tensions in Korea.

The draft asks the summit to demand that the United States halt "all political or repressive maneuvers that tend to perpetuate the colonial status of Puerto Rico" and urges solidarity with Puerto Ricans and their "inalienable right to self-determination and independence."

The resolution also asks the conference to decide:

— Whether to accept an Arab call for the suspension of Egypt from the movement for signing a peace treaty with Israel.

— Whether to seat the pro-Soviet government of Cambodia or the government of Premier Pol Pot, ousted by the Soviet-backed Vietnamese last January. This pits Chinese supporters against pro-Soviet governments.

"In no portion of the document (the Cuban draft) is the non-aligned movement subordinated to any outside force," Cuba's Deputy Foreign Minister Jose R. Viera told the official Cuban news agency, Prensa Latina.

Nations pressing for a middle course between the superpowers say that although the resolution may not mention the Soviet Union as mentor of the non-aligned movement, the implication is unmistakable.

Will To Aid Salvation Army

A-J Correspondent

BIG SPRING — The freedom of choice allowed the executrix in the will of Guion Pool Keating of Big Spring will enable the Salvation Army post here to continue serving the area for the remainder of the year.

Mrs. Keating, who died earlier this year, left it up to Mrs. Reba Baker, the executrix, to decide which agency would benefit from the remaining $12,000 in the estate.

Under provision of the will, the eligible agency would have to qualify under Internal Revenue Service regulations. Furthermore, the money was not to be shared with any national organization with which the local charitable institution was affiliated. These terms were met by members of the Salvation Army board, with the help of an attorney.

Lt. William Thrasher, who recently arrived to assume command of the Salvation Army citidel here, discovered demands had been so heavy on the local agency that its financial account had been depleted of funds.

Earlier it was announced that Mrs. Keating, wife of the former Superintendent of the U.S. Experiment Station here had bequeathed $50,000 to the Rotary International Foundation.

Nazi's Memoirs Detail Hitler-Stalin Exchange

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — Adolf Hitler furnished Josef Stalin the "evidence" he used to convict Red Army commanders of plotting with Nazi Germany to overthrow the Soviet premier-dictator, according to the former head of the Nazi intelligence service.

Walter Schellenberg said in his memoirs the information cost Stalin 3 million rubles.

Schellenberg, the intelligence chief of Heinrich Himmler's S.S., the Nazi elite organization, wrote that he never discovered Hitler's motives, but he might have wanted to weaken the Soviet army.

Schellenberg, one of the most powerful men in Nazi Germany, died of cancer at the age of 42 in 1952. The West German newspaper Welt am Sonntag began to serialize his memoirs Sunday.

In the first installment he wrote that a White Russian general named Skoblin who lived in Paris in 1937 gave the S.S. a report that Marshal Mikhail Nikolayevich Tukhachevsky was plotting with the German general staff to overthrow Stalin.

Skoblin could not substantiate any German army participation in any plot and the S.S. knew this part of Skoblin's report was untrue, Schellenberg said. But the memoirs indicate the Nazis did believe Tukhachevsky might have been plotting against Stalin and they gathered evidence to convince Stalin of it.

"Skoblin's information was relayed to Hitler," Schellenberg wrote. "Hitler had a difficult decision to make. If he decided in favor of Tukhachevsky (by suppressing the report), it could mean the end of the Soviet regime. The unmasking of Tukhachevsky on the other hand could only strengthen Stalin's position.

"Hitler decided against Tukhachevsky. Perhaps he believed a weakening of the Red Army by decimating its military leadership would protect his rear for a while."

To substantiate Skoblin's charge, Hitler had real general staff documents on earlier noncriminating cooperation between the Soviet and German armies stolen from the German army archives and "treated to fill some gaps," Schellenberg wrote.

The Nazis contacted Stalin through Czech President Eduard Benes and an envoy of Stalin's arrived in Berlin with an offer to buy the evidence.

Schellenberg said the Nazi leaders had not expected to be paid for the evidence but as long as payment was offered they asked for and received 3 million rubles.

Juveniles Charged In Torture Case

ROCKVILLE CENTRE, N.Y. (AP) Two teen-agers were being held Sunday on charges of juvenile delinquency stemming from the torture of 6-year-old Timothy Rodgers.

Police said they arrested a 12-year-old boy on Saturday, a day after a 13-year-old was taken into custody in the incident. Their names were withheld because of their age.

The two boys allegedly dragged Timothy from a playground near his Lakeview home on Wednesday, then beat him, burned him with cigarettes and sexually molested him at Hempstead Lake State Park.

The suspects were expected to go before a judge Tuesday, and they are to be tried as juveniles, officials said.

Timothy remained in satisfactory condition at Mercy Hospital on Sunday. Officials said "he's doing fine and he's recuperating" from four broken ribs, a sprained arm, burns and bruises over much of his body and cuts around his genitals.

DEAR HELOISE:
Some time ago, you ran an article on how to make a table pad to use underneath a tablecloth, thereby saving the expense of buying one.

Could you please put in your column a repeat of the article on what could be used? I would like to make my own if possible. — Neva Eggleson

There are several things you might use which would serve your purpose. I'm not sure which particular column you had in mind, so perhaps you could choose one of the following that suits you best.

The most commonly used "around the house" item is an old quilted mattress pad. Most of us have one or more of those stashed away. Drag it out and trim it, if need be, to fit your table. It works really well and all you have to do is bind the edges with wide bias tape.

Leftover foam-type carpet padding can also be made into table pads. If you don't happen to have any on hand, scraps can sometimes be bought very inexpensively at carpet stores. Some have a plastic film on top which keeps spills from going through.

One dear lady used her old cardboard cutting board (a sewing notion found in fabric shops) though I found I had to use a thin sheet of foam underneath the board to keep it from slipping.

Another suggestion we've had is to use an old quilt or quilted bedspread. These also would need to be bound with wide bias tape after trimming to fit your table top.

Indoor-outdoor carpeting scraps make an adequate pad, too. Mrs. Beth Callis said the colorful pattern looked lovely showing through a white lace tablecloth.

So you see, luv, there are several possibilities you might want to consider. The main thing is to always sufficiently protect your wooden table top from spills and hot dishes.

A pad alone is not usually thick enough to do this so always use trivets of some kind. It's also wise to use a sheet of plastic film under the cloth to protect the table from moisture.

Hope I've been of some help and that one of these suggestions is just what you have been looking for. — Hugs, Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
We have found a safe way of storing medicines away from our active 2-year-old.

We purchased an inexpensive metal box with a key and placed all our medicines in the box and looked it. Placed the box on a high shelf in the linen closet and put the key out of his reach.

We have peace of mind knowing he can't get into that locked cabinet. — Mrs. Linda Lawrence

DEAR HELOISE:
For those who like the heel of the bread toasted but have trouble with it getting stuck inside the toaster where it either burns or gets torn up trying to remove it, try toasting the slice upside down.

I've done this for years and find that the toast comes out much easier. Also, I think the bread heels make the best toast in town and so many people never use them. — Jack Griswold

• • •

DEAR HELOISE:
Since most of us hate to change colors of thread on our sewing machine, just snip off the thread close to the spool you are removing, leaving all stations threaded.

Place the new spool on the spindle and tie the end of the thread onto the thread left in the machine.

At the needle, catch the thread and gently pull until the new thread is at the needle. You may be able to work the knot through the needle but may have to snip it off and rethread it with the new color.

Even so, to me, it's easier than "starting from scratch." — U. Reader

GOREN ON BRIDGE

Q.1 — Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K954 ♡65 ◇K1072 ♣A93
Partner opens the bidding with one spade. What do you respond?

A. — Your hand is too strong for a simple raise to two spades but a bit underweight for a jump to three spades. Make a waiting bid of two diamonds, then raise spades at your next turn.

Q.2 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠42 ♡KQJ1075 ◇A742 ♣7
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	2 ♠	Dble.	Pass

What action do you take?

A. — Our tendency is to respect partner's penalty doubles, but not with this holding. Our hand is offensively oriented, with a self-sufficient suit and little in the way of defense. We would bid two hearts. Any other action earns a fat demerit.

Q.3 — Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠4 ♡QJ8763 ◇AK5 ♣J76
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	2 ♠	Dble.	Pass

What action do you take?

A. — As we remarked above, we do not pull partner's doubles except on rare occasions. Here we have two sound defensive tricks, three cards in the opponent's trump suit and a singleton, so there is every reason to expect a juicy penalty, and none to suppose that we have any better spot. Another factor in favor of this decision is the likelihood that partner is short in hearts, which makes a retreat to two hearts less appetizing.

Q.4 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠QJ74 ♡532 ◇A1094 ♣62
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 NT	2 ♠	?

What action do you take?

A. — Strike while the iron is hot. Since your side can probably make no more than a partial, double and collect what should be at least a 300-point penalty, and what could easily be 700 or more.

Q.5 — As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A965 ♡52 ◇KQ75 ♣632
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	2 ♡	2 ♠	3 ♡
4 ♠	5 ♡	?

What action do you take?

A. — With full values for your first bid, your hand is suited to both offense and defense, but you don't know which to choose. Therefore, pass! That doesn't mean that you are frightened of further competition. You are simply giving partner the courtesy of the road. Whether he elects to bid on or double, you will abide by his decision. With a weaker, less offensively oriented hand, you should double to warn partner that your hand is not suitable for five spades.

Q.6 — Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A74 ♡AK1095 ◇AQ107 ♣5
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	Pass	2 ♡	Pass
3 ◇	Pass	4 ♡	Pass

What action do you take?

A. — Even though partner made a mild response at his first turn, there is still a possibility of slam. Partner liked your diamonds enough to jump to game, so the hands appear to fit well. Since eleven tricks should be safe, we would make a slam try by cue-bidding four spades.

Q.7 — As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠KJ94 ♡AKQ94 ◇AJ7 ♣5
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	Dble.	Pass	2 ♠

What action do you take?

A. — A competitive bid of two hearts not only does not do your hand justice. It also rules out two other perfectly playable suits. The correct action is to double. Since partner has not yet spoken, this double is for takeout, while allowing partner the option of passing for penalties. The fact that West made a takeout double doesn't prevent you from taking similar action.

Q.8 — East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠104 ♡1097 ◇KQ9 ♣AJ642
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 ♠	2 ◇	?

What action do you take?

A. — If partner has a minimum opening bid, game is doubtful for your side. However, on defense against a diamond contract, your hand should produce at least three tricks, so the odds are that you will be able to defeat the contract. Double; you could net up to 800 points — more if East is a free spirit. But even if the contract is fulfilled, no major harm will have been done.

Have you been running into double trouble? Let Charles Goren help you find your way through the maze of Doubles for penalties and for takeout. For a copy of his Doubles booklet, send $1.70 to "Goren Doubles," P.O. Box 259, Norwood, N.J., 07648. Make checks payable to NEWSPAPERBOOKS.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

BY
BY DR. PAUL G. DONOHUE

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please explain what a bilirubin count means. I know it refers to the liver, but how dangerous is a high count, and what is done about it? — Mrs. E.J.E.

Bilirubin (BILL-ih-ROO-bin) is the chief ingredient of bile, the liquid substance produced in the liver and stored in the gall bladder for use in the intestines as digestion needs demand.

Bilirubin takes on its yellowish color from the breakdown of old red blood cells, a task the liver performs for the body. When there is an over production of bilirubin or an obstruction to its normal flow to the gall bladder or intestines it may "back up" and be absorbed in the blood. This produces a yellow cast to the skin and eyes (jaundice). Thus any sign of jaundice prompts a blood test for bilirubin content. In jaundice, it is, of course, high.

Causes range from liver inflammation, which may block the tiny bile ducts, to gallstones, which might block the bile flow to the intestines. Another cause might be excess destruction of red blood cells, which creates excess bilirubin and its potential absorption into the blood stream.

You don't "treat" jaundice. The idea is to search for the cause of the excess amount of bilirubin in the blood causing it. Common causes are hepatitis and cirrhosis of the liver.

• • •

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am on medicine for high blood presssure and this is working reasonably well, as my pressure is now down to normal. I am a senior citizen and would like you to tell me if, in your opinion, sexual intercourse would cause a person's blood pressure to rise. My doctor did not tell me one way or another. — F.C.

Sexual activity does cause a rise in blood pressure and heart rate, but the rises are temporary. In fact, most heart-related episodes associated with sexual activity involve guilt and other pressures of extra-marital affairs.

• • •

Dear Dr. Donohue: Is cracking your neck dangerous? I can crack my neck like some people crack their knuckles. — M.M.

No, unless it's annoying to the people near you.

• • •

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can you tell me where I might find out more information on narcolepsy (the sleeping problem)? I was interested in the recent comments in the column, but wish to learn more, since a member of our family is afflicted. — J.A.

You can write to the American Narcolepsy Association, Inc., Box 5846, Stanford, Calif. 94305. They have printed material.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

At Wit's End...

By ERMA BOMBECK

You hear a lot of talk these days about the marriages that don't last.

One of my favorite parts of the newspaper is the section devoted to couples celebrating their 50th wedding anniversaries.

Some of the photographs reflect embarrassment over the fuss being made. Some show them standing three feet apart. Some husbands and wives even look alike.

But the part I like best is where they sum up their lives together. The other day I read where one couple said, "We've hauled water by horse and wagon, coped with the cold and the deep snow, raised and educated a family of ten, and lost a daughter, Virginia."

That's 50 years of living — condensed in 27 words.

You have to wonder. Were there other moments? Did they hang wallpaper together? Argue about who slept next to the wall? Toast a no-baby month? Become jealous over a guidance counselor?

Did she get sick of his same joke year after year? Did he tire of hearing about her arthritis? Did they wonder about their future together the year he taught her how to drive?

The year his mother babysat and cleaned her oven? Was he cheap? Was she boring?

Did he have an annoying habit of picking his teeth with his tongue and making a clicking noise that drove her up the wall? Did she say every night for 30 years when he walked through the front door, "Is that you?"

Did they really love one another through fevers, flu, fatness, nausea, irritability and sarcasm — or did they just hang on?

Did they disappoint one another when the baby died, when he lost his job, or when she felt neglected?

Did she ever know he hated peppers in his meat loaf and she had put peppers in the meat loaf for 50 years? Did he ever suspect she hated house slippers without heels, but buy them every Christmas?

Ten children... that's a lot of shoes, a lifetime of overbites, an eternity of "Can I's?"...endless evenings of PTA's, an uninterrupted span of "We've got the children to think about."

Golden anniversaries — like the metal — are very precious in this country. Pound for pound, they outclass everything else.

How do they do it? Different ways. As one golden celebrant replied when he was asked how he held on so long, "I have hopes of getting in the last word."

Oswald: "Somehow or other, you will take your nine tricks in the other suits. I assume that no one throws a spade and that each defender is left with the three spades he was dealt."

Alan: "Exactly so. Also you have found that West led his diamond from 10 9 8 3, which would be a normal lead irrespective of the rest of his hand."

Oswald: "I assume that you found the queen. Experts aren't supposed to go wrong when the have an even chance to succeed."

Alan: "I did and I got a little help. On the fourth club, East discarded a diamond with no problem. West also chucked a diamond, but only after a lot of soul searching. Then I cashed diamonds. On the third diamond, East threw a heart after long thought. So, I decided to play him for the spade queen and was right."

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: I've been married four years to a man I thought was decent. I have two children by my first marriage — a boy and a girl. When my husband takes a shower, he walks from the bedroom to the bathroom with a small, short towel wrapped around his middle — like a sarong.

I thought this was OK, but my daughter, who was 14 when I married him (she is 18 now), said she didn't like to see him like that. So I got after him. He didn't stop.

Now it has gotten worse. I work evenings and he works days. When I came home the other night, my daughter told me he had been sitting in the living room almost completely exposed in front of her. She immediately went to her room.

The three of us talked about it. My daughter made it plain she feels uncomfortable when he sits around like that. She feels he should have more respect for her. He apologized and said he would find something else to wear.

Three days later he was wearing the sarong again. I know now he will not stop. So she stays in her room while I'm at work and comes out only when it's necessary. He doesn't sit this way in front of my son. What should I do? — Disgusted

Dear D.: You're right. He's not going to stop. It sounds as if your daughter is managing the situation well, but if I were you, I'd get off the night shift, dear.

Dear Ann Landers: If you read highbrow literature, you'd know Manu, the Hindu prophet. He said, "The father protects woman in her childhood as something precious and delicate. The husband protects her after marriage. The son protects her in old age. Woman should not be left alone to take care of herself."

I wish every women's-libber in the world would think about this. Life would be simpler, and the American family would not be falling apart if they listened to Manu. I am — Concerned

Dear Con.: I never heard of Manu, so I looked him up. I find he declared himself the Supreme Being and Creator of the Universe in 1200 B.C. So much for that cat's credibility.

A few things have changed since Manu pontificated. If he could come back and see the world as it is today, he'd probably have a stroke.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a security officer in a department store who has something to say about shoplifting.

What surprises me most is the reaction of people who get caught. They are shocked when the police are notified and they are charged with theft. (Stores now realize that prosecution is the only weapon they have against people who steal.)

I'd like to say to any person out there who is tempted to shoplift: please think twice before you slip that merchandise into your shopping bag, your pocket or under your coat. Nothing in the store is worth the consequences if you are caught.

And don't be so sure nobody is watching you. Almost everyone I apprehend says, "There's no way you could have seen me." But they WERE caught — so someone must have seen them.

Please print this letter, Ann. It might prevent a few people from making the biggest mistake of their lives. — Minnesota Friend

Dear Friend: Here it is — and I'm sure you did some good today.

Tech Offers Two Family Courses

By FRANCES LOWE
Family News Editor

Two courses being offered this semester in the Department of Home and Family Life of the College of Home Economics at Texas Tech University will focus on child development and parenting.

Both courses are open to interested persons without professional training. They are taught in conjunction with the two TV series "Footsteps," and "The Growing Years."

June Read, a doctoral candidate with experience in family and marital couseling, will teach the course Family Relationships 2324. It will be a practical course, offering insight into several approaches to parenting which are popular today, such as positive self regard, social learning, and development skills.

Classes will be small in order to feilitate interchange among students who may be parents or future parents, teachers or other lay persons interested in working with children. One aspect of the course will be a project in which the students will "adopt" a child with whom to practice their skills.

The course is offered through the Division of Continuing Education and students may register through the Division or at the first class meeting Tuesday at 6 p.m. in Home Economics 230.

Another course, "Child Growth and Development," (CD 2303) will betaught by Dr. Paul McGhee. The television series for this course is "The Growing Years," and students will attend two class meetings a week in addition to their viewing one of the whole class and one with smaller groups.

According to Dr. McGhee, this course is not designed to give advice on how to raise children but to provide background information to help students be aware of the important dimensions along which children develop.

Historical, sociological and other aspects of child development will be called upon for the course. It will consider the basic aspects of the child's intellectual, physical and personality development at different age levels and explain why developmental patterns occur as they do.

Students may register for the course up until the meeting of the first class Tuesday night. More information may be obtained by calling Dr. McGhee at 742-2892, or the departmental office.

BOARDING UP — Merchants on Miracle Mile, a popular shopping area in Coral Gables, Fla., make preparations for the attack of Hurricane David Sunday. German Terrorists Linked To Murder

HAMBURG, West Germany (AP) — German terrorists helped plan the killing of Lord Louis Mountbatten and 18 British soldiers, a West German newspaper said Sunday.

There was no immediate comment from West German, British or Irish authorities on the report by the newspaper Bild Am Sonntag, which did not identify the source of its information.

Earl Mountbatten of Burma, uncle of the Britain's Prince Philip, was killed Aug. 27 when a bomb blew apart his boat in Donegal Bay, Ireland. Three other persons were also killed in the boat. The same day, 18 British soldiers were killed in another bombing incidents. Irish Republican Army guerrillas, fighting to end British rule in Northern Ireland, claimed responsibility for both attacks.

"Since February 1979, German terrorists helped prepare the bomb attack on the uncle of the queen and against English soldiers in the North Irish Warrenpoint (18 dead), experts of the Federal Criminal Office established," Bild am Sonntag said.

"At that time 'RAF' (Red Army Faction) terrorists Rudolf Raabe, Christian Gauger and Rudolf Schindler met with members of the IRA terror group Flanagan and Connor Wicus in Wiesbaden's Taunusstrasse. The Irish had previously met in Belgrade with German terrorist Clemens Wagner and in Zagreb with Brigitte Mohnhaupt," the paper said.

Ignition Plans Found

"Construction plans for long-distance ignitions used in the attacks on Lord Mountbatten and the British patrol near Warrenpoint had been discovered in the secret apartments of Christian Klar (at large) and Willy Peter Stoll (shot dead), in Duesseldorf, Nuernberg and Wiesbaden," the paper said.

The Red Army Faction has been the most active terrorist organization in West Germany.

A Sunday duty officer at the Federal Criminal Office in Wiesbaden, reached by telephone by The Associated Press, said "I know nothing about it and I have no statement to make."

The paper said a similar ignition system was used in the abortive explosives attack against Gen. Alexander Haig in Mons, Belgium, on June 25, just days before he retired as NATO supreme commander.

Designed For Copters

It said the system was worked out by German terrorists for use against helicopters of the crack German anti-terrorist commando unit.

In Dublin, Ireland, meanwhile, a Catholic senator urged Pope John Paul II to denounce the Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army and its supporters. The IRA is an almost exclusively Roman Catholic organization.

Sen. Patrick Cooney, a former justice minister, said the pope should make a decisive effort to awaken Irish Catholics to the "extreme immorality of the IRA" when he visits Ireland Sept. 29-Oct. 1 on his way to the United States.

Cooney leads the opposition Fine Gael party in the Irish Senate. He said in a statement Saturday: "I am hoping that the pope's visit may achieve something to bring an end to violence here. We would all like to think so. But the men of violence are so callous and indifferent that it is unlikely.

"But I think it would be helpful if the pope was to say clearly that the IRA and those who support it or condone it had no place in his church. This might not have any effect on such people because of their essential callousness, but it might make the rest of us in his church feel a bit cleaner.

Pope Denounces Killings

The pope, who has denounced the killings of the soldiers and Mountbatten, again Sunday assailed the recent outbreak of violence in Ireland as "an insult to human dignity."

During his noon blessing at his Castel Gandolfo summer residence outside Rome, he said he hoped his trip to Ireland would enhance "reconciliation and mutual understanding."

The IRA, outlawed in both north and south, is fighting British rule in the Protestant-dominated north with the aim of uniting it with the Catholic republic.

A Catholic man was shot to death in Belfast Saturday by gunmen believed to be Protestant extremists, increasing fears of a new outbreak of sectarian violence.

Richest Race Unwinds Today

ing the 1969 Kansas and All American Futurities, produced this year's fastest qualifier in Pie In The Sky. And All American speed record holder and 1973 champion Timeto Thinkrich is represented by a daughter, Denim N Diamonds.

Back Of 10 Race Participants

HERE'S A DETAILED look at the 10 participants in today's race:

— Pie In The Sky, a colt owned by Dan Urschel of Canadian, qualified first with a time of 21.66 seconds over the quarter mile distance. For the year, Pie has won three of his seven races and placed third in the other four while winning $83,918. This is his only Triple Crown start.

—Sages Belle Star, a filly owned by J.H. Crouch, Jr. of Midland, ran a 21.87 to qualify second. She has won five times and finished second three times in her eight starts to win $133,190 this year. She placed second in the Rainbow Futurity five weeks ago.

— Pa Pa Wheelie, a colt owned by B.N. Adams of Houston, qualified third with a 22.02 and is the only horse to run in all three Triple Crown events this season. He plaeed second in the Kansas and ninth in the Rainbow on his way to winning five times and $131,920 in eleven starts — an enviable record for a colt that cost only $1,200.

— Streakin' Six, a colt owned by the Tom Burnett Cattle Co. of Fort Worth, ranked fourth with a 22.05 but, after winning the Rainbow, is the pre-race choice to win the All American. Streakin' Six has four wins and two seconds in six outings this season — and while he has the fewest starts of any horse in the field, he has won the most money, a whopping $182,551.

— Afternoon Surprise, a filly owned by Ben McCutchin and Bill Walker of Dallas, qualified fifth with a time of 22.06. The horse has run 13 races this season, the most in the field, but has won only $14,514 in her eight victories, indicating her wins may have come in relatively insignificant races. This is her first Triple Crown start.

— That's Raney, a colt owned by Hugh Tucker and Bill Reed of Stamford, also qualified with a 22.06. In nine season starts, Raney has five wins and two seconds and has won $54,252. He placed third in the Rainbow after missing the Kansas.

— Ask The Boss, a colt owned by R.C. Howell and V.H. Poarch of Cypress, Calif., ran a 22.38 to qualify seventh. The horse has won three of its seven races this season in piling up $45,634. This is his only Triple Crown start.

— Manifestoh, a colt owned by Dan Strole of Abilene, has won only once in eight tries this season for $7,615. Despite possessing the worst track record in the field, Manifestoh qualified eighth with a 22.39.

— Denim N Diamonds, a filly owned by R.D. Hubbard of Wichita, Kan., has won five of her eight races this year, but finished sixth in the Rainbow. Denim has won $29,720 this year and ran a 22.40 to qualify ninth.

— Easy Azuree, a filly owned by John May and Mack Yates of Fort Stockton, was the slowest qualifier with a 22.45 clocking. The horse has won six of nine races this year for $31,866 and is the only horse other than Pa Pa Wheelie to qualify for the Kansas and the All American. She finished eighth in the Kansas.

The horses qualified Aug. 23 and 24, with five of the top six qualifiers running the first day, which track officials said was the more conducive to speed. But differences of days aside, all 10 horses ran the quarter mile within eight-tenths of a second of each other, so certainly any horse in the field can win the race.

The All American Futurity will be telecast live in Lubbock and across the South Plains beginning at 7 p.m. central daylight time on Channel 28.

Plush Hotel Row Evacuated As Killer Storm Approaches

MIAMI (AP) — With Hurricane David roaring toward Florida, Gov. Bob Graham on Sunday ordered residents to leave low-lying south Florida coastal areas and called up the National Guard to assist in the evacuation.

The evacuation order included the tourist areas of Miami Beach and its Hotel Row district, Key West and Palm Beach.

The storm, which already had killed nearly 650 people, hit the Bahamas Sunday and was expected to strike somewhere along the south Florida coast before dawn Monday.

People living on the Florida Keys north of Marathon were advised to evacuate north into Dade County and those south of that point were told to move farther south to Key West.

"We are dealing with an unpredictable situation but it is our responsibility to deal decisively with the potential danger," Graham said.

Red Cross agencies established evacuation centers in the affected counties: Dade, Broward, Palm Beach and Monroe, Graham said.

Specific areas affected by Graham's order would be pinpointed by county managers, officials said. But they said the Keys, Miami Beach and the Perrine area of southern Dade County were included. Also affected were the low lying areas and coastal areas north to Palm Beach.

Police Given Broad Powers

Authorities said the governor's order gave police the right to physically remove anyone refusing to evacuate.

Many of the 91,000 permanent residents of the Florida Keys fled their homes during the pre-dawn hours after Graham suggested Saturday night that they take precautions.

The killer storm is the first hurricane aimed at south Florida since Hurricane Betsy in 1965.

"There was a panic situation (on the Keys) from about 11 p.m. to 3:30 this morning," said Sgt. Lee Pinder of the Monroe County sheriff's department. "When the governor's office called for a voluntary evacuation, they overreacted and there was bumper to bumper traffic for four hours."

Pinder said traffic was moderate by Sunday afternoon and forecasters warned that low parts of the Overseas Highway, in most places only two lanes wide, could be under water by midnight.

David has been churning through the Caribbean since early last week. By midday it was about 230 miles southeast of Miami moving northwest at 12 mph to 15 mph.

Hurricane Warnings Issued

Hurricane warnings were issued early Sunday from the Keys at the tip of the state north to West Palm Beach along a section of Florida coastline filled with transplanted Northerners living in condominiums crowded on beaches of the Atlantic. A warninx means a hurricane is expected within 24 hours.

Graham's evacuation order was effective for the same area.

As many as 80 percent or more than 2 million people on the south Florida coast have never been through a hurricane.

"They don't respect the devastation that can occur," Dr. Neil Frank, director of the National Hurricane Center, said Sunday.

Flights Canceled

Eastern Airlines canceled all flights to or from Miami, Fort Lauderdale and West Palm Beach after 8 p.m. EDT Sunday.

Nearly all south Florida gas stations, crowded Saturday, were closed Sunday. Lines were more than a mile long at the few that were open.

Grocery stores that remained open reported a second straight day of hurricane preparedness shopping.

"There's a lot of people. They're buying mostly emergency foods ... items like canned meats, distilled water, beverages — very little fresh products. They're excited, but not really panicked," said the manager of a Pantry Pride supermarket on Key Biscayne.

"Date With Disaster" Prepared

Frank started a preparedness campaign several months ago trying to get people ready to meet a date with disaster.

Too many residents ignored the warnings and migho have waited too late to make preparations that should have been made months ago, he said Sunday.

Dozens of lumber stores Sunday were out of plywood to board windows; storm shutters could not be purchased.

People had to search to find a loaf of bread.

not get its long-range thermometers to the surface and temperatures at the thick cloud tops seemed to be several hundred degrees below zero. So Pioneer sought indirect evidence about whether the atmosphere is thick enough to trap the sun's heat on the surface.

"If it has a thick atmosphere, there is hope that below the clouds there is ... a warm temperature on the ground," Ingersoll said.

"If it's a thin atmosphere, then there's not much hope."

Of the encounter with Saturn, Tom Gehrels, head of the imaging team, cited "the discovery of a very beautiful and important feature: an outer ring" that had never been seen before.

The thin, visible rings of Saturn stretch some 48,000 miles from the planet. A Pioneer photograph and subsequent tests convinced scientists "that 2,200 miles outside the known edge of the rings, there is a very narrow ring that has just been observed by Pioneer," said Larry Esposito of the University of Colorado.

"We know this feature exists," he said.

Scientists said the ring was not the one that was previously suspected but for which Pioneer turned up no evidence.

Gehrels also said Pioneer photographed a moon out past the rings, but further study was needed to determine if it was a new discovery.

He said it could be the previously identified moon Janus, a recently reported but unconfirmed 11th moon or an altogether unknown body.

–Handley Cabinets in Carlisle were burglarized on Aug. 25. A lock had been broken on a door on the west side of the building, but no forded entry was found at a building on the east side. Stolen were: a Speedair compressor, Model 12724A, with an 80-gallon tank; three Senco headless primers, serial numbers 756910, 76A1026 and 773398; and a Senco stapler, serial number unknown. The items were valued at $2,693.

Hurricane's Fury Aimed At Florida

90 mph and gales extended outward 150 miles north of the center and 100 miles to the south.

Hurricane warnings were in effect for southeastern Florida from Marathon in the Florida Keys halfway up the state to Cape Canaveral. A warning means a hurricane is expected to arrive within 24 hours.

Location Undecided

"We expect it will have winds between 95 miles per hour and 100 miles per hour when it makes landfall (in Florida), but we don't have a firm feel yet of where that will be," said forecaster Jim Gross.

Hurricane Frederic, which became the Atlantic season's third hurricane on Saturday, was following David's trail. At midafternoon, it was 180 miles east of Guadeloupe, in the northern Leeward Islands, traveling west with winds up to 75 mph.

With the more than 600 reported deaths, David has become one of the six deadliest Atlantic-area hurricanes of this century and the worst since Hurricane Fifi killed 2,000 in 1974.

Casinos Crowded

As residents of the Bahamas took cover, officials said tourists were "doing what they normally do on a rainy weekend." Gambling casinos on Paradise Island were jammed. "There's not an open seat in the game," said Jimmy Lesinksi, in charge of black jack at Britania Beach.

Communications with the Bahamian Out Islands were spotty and government officers met with Prime Minister Lynden Pindling to decide whether to order residents to abandon their homes and go to gvernment shelters.

National Hurricane Center Director Neil Frank in Miami said David was expected to gain strength Sunday. "When it gets over the Gulf Stream where the water is quite warm we could experience some fairly rapid increases in strength," he said, but added there was no chance it would regain its former strength of sustained winds of up to 150 mph.

Buying Rush Reported

Florida grocery stores that were open reported a buying rush for the second straight day. Lumber stores were out of plywood to board up windows, and the few gas stations that were open had lines more than a mile long.

Airlines canceled all flights to or from Miami, Fort Lauderdale and West Palm Beach after 8 p.m. EDT.

David had winds of 150 mph when it roared across the tiny island of Dominica last Wednesday, killing 22 people and devastating the tiny island's banana crop. After skirting Puerto Rico, where 16 people died, David swerved over the Dominican Republic on the island of Hispaniola causing widespread damage Saturday.

Dominican authorities had reported 58 deaths by early Sunday, then dramatically raised that to 600 Sunday afternoon and said the toll might increase as rescue workers sifted through rubble. They said worst damage was the town of Ocoa, where a rain-swollen river flooded a church and a school, killing 400 people.

"The waters kept rising and rising until everything was flooded and so dozens of persons drowned. The few who saved themselves had to climb to the top of the church steeple," a local official said.

New Korean Tunnel Believed Detected

WASHINGTON (AP) –It is "highly probable" that North Koreans have been digging a new tunnel under the demilitarized zone separating their territory from South Korea, administration sources said Sunday.

However, the Defense Department issued a cautiously worded statement indicating that the existence of a new tunnel -the fourth in the past five years -has not yet been confirmed, but is still being investigated.

All previously discovered tunnels were blocked after they were detected by the use of listening devices.

"The United Nations Command continues to search for suspected North Korean tunnels under the demilitarized zone," the Pentagon statement said.

"There are a number of suspected areas currently being investigated. Tunnels were discovered in 1974, 1975, and 1978," the statement said.

The Pentagon said the U. N. Command in South Korea "does not disclose details of counter-tunneling operations" by U. S. and South Korean forces "to protect the security and safety" of those doing that work.

"When and if additional tunnels are confirmed, they will be publicly announced in keeping with past policy," the Pentagon statement said.

The discovery of the first North Korean tunnel attempt in 1974 jolted U. S. officials, but administration sources who asked not to be identified said, "We aren't surprised at finding new tunnels because we know they have been working at various sites."

Along with a North Korean military buildup detected over the past year, the suspected tunnel work from the north side of the demilitarized zone is taken as further indication that the leadership in Pyonyang still harbors intentions to strike some day into the south, despite U. S. security guarantees to South Korea.

At first, administration sources said the signs of the new tunnel-digging appeared several weeks ago and confirmation was obtained recently. Later, however, they indicated their first assessment may have been premature. But they said it is "highly probable" that a new tunnel is there.

This suggests that President Carter may not have been aware of the new tunneling when he announced on July 20 cancellation of further planned U. S. ground withdrawals.

Criticism Of Kerosene Deal Draws Iranian Ire

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iran's oil chief said Sunday his country might cancel a controversial purchase of U.S.-refined kerosene and heating oil and send two Iran-bound tankers carrying the products back to the United States.

Hassan Nazih also reiterated a warning that Iran might seek to revise contracts for selling crude oil to the United States if American congressmen persist in their criticism of the kerosene-heating oil deal.

The National Iranian Oil Co. chairman, in an interview with The Associated Press, said the $47 million sale of 1.5 million barrels of kerosene and heating oil had "no significance" compared with the amount of crude oil Iran sells to the United States.

Since the refined supplies are available from other sources, he said, "we might even cancel the transaction and send the two tankers, which are on their way, back to the United States."

Iran, hard-pressed to refine enough oil for its own needs since the revolution that ousted Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi last February, bought the products from a U.S. supplier, with U.S. government approval, as insurance against a cold winter.

Disclosure of the sale, termed a goodwill move by the White House, touched off a flap in Congress last week. Critics said the sale could cause a shortage, further driving up prices in America. But Nazih said Congress was "aggrandizing the situation."

"If these attacks continue, internal pressures will increase and we may be forced to revise our agreements with American oil companies," he said. Nazih made a similar warning in an interview published Saturday in the Tehran newspaper Kayhan.

Iranian officials estimate Iran sells the United States about 850,000 barrels of oil daily, about 5 percent of America's imports. Contracts with 18 American firms buying Iranian oil expire Dec. 31 and renegotiations begin in October or November.

Nazih, when asked whether his government would use oil as a political weapon against the United States, said, "Iran has no intention of doing so because the United States is our best customer."

But he said that "ultimately the people who are likely to suffer will be the American people" and "I recommend to the U.S. senators that they stop this debate because it would not be in the interest of the American people." Before the revolution, Iranian oil production dropped from 6 million barrels daily — 5.4 million of that for export — to almost zero. Since the Islamic government of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini took over, production resumed in March, but is limited to about 3.8 million barrels daily, 3.1 million for export, Nazih said.

Nazih said Iran had no plans to increase production for 1980 and disclosed projected gross income for 10 months of this year would be $22 billion, the same earnings as in 1977, when Iran pumped 5.8 million barrels a day, 5.1 million for export.

In another development in U.S.-Iranian relations, troubled since the Islamic revolution earlier this year, Iranian Foreign Minister Ibrahim Yazdi was quoted as saying that any American military operation in the Persian Gulf region would be doomed to failure.

Various U.S. officials have spoken in recent months of the potential need for U.S. military involvement in the region to protect American oil sources.

"We are not scared of these threats," Foreign Minister Ibrahim Yazdi was quoted as saying in an interview with Havana radio reported by the Tehran newspaper Kayhan International.

"If the Americans want to engage themselves militarily with us, millions of our people are ready to take up arms and with all their force make war with that nation or any other that might try to invade our soil."

Referring to the Americans, Yazdi added, "I don't think they have yet forgotten the scandalous results of the Bay of Pigs," the CIA-organized invasion of Cuba in 1961.

Prince Commands 'Last Expedition' Ship

GREENWICH, England (UPI) — Prince Charles took command of the Transglobe Expedition ship Benjamin Bowring Sunday, sailing it off on an arduous globe-circling journey via the north and south poles.

Charles is not making the trip — he is patron of the expedition, which Sir Ranulph Fiennes plans to lead around the world the hard way — on the surface across both the north and south poles.

"It's the last great expedition on this earth," said the third baronet Twistleton-Wykeham-Fiennes in a recent interview. "It has never been done before."

Charles, dressed in mourning for his great-uncle Lord Montbatten, murdered by Irish terrorists last week, kept his promise to take personal command of the Benjamin Bowring for the first 12 miles of its 55,000-mile journey.

To the skirl of a bagpiper he was ferried across the River Thames from Greenwich to the red-painted ship, which as the "Kista Dan" has been used in earlier Antarctic exploration.

"She's a bit grotty on board still since we haven't had time to clean her up," said Fiennes, 35, just before boarding. "But otherwise everything's all set."

"Ran" Fiennes is taking his wife Lady Virginia to areas on this earth where no woman has been before.

Lady Virginia, called "Ginny," is in charge of base camps, particularly when Fiennes and a three-man "ice party" cross 900 miles of unexplored terrain from coast to coast in Antarctica, and again on the north pole crossing from Canada to Norway.

The round-the-world journey will take three years. If mishaps occur, Fiennes said, the journey will be stretched to five years.

"But if all goes well we'll be back in Greenwich by August, 1982," Fiennes said Sunday.

There is every chance all may not go well.

Fiennes and members of his 19-member expedition have to cross the Sahara and east African jungles, spend a winter in Antarctica and another in the Arctic. The Transglobers were given a magnificient sendoff. The Welsh Guards band played for guests of 631 sponsoring companies, the sunlit Thames blazed with a flotilla of accompanying craft whose decorative flags whipped in a stiff west wind and Charles sailed the ship as far as Tilbury at the river's mouth.

Just before boarding, Fiennes was presented with a flag of the Explorer's Club of New York — he is required to return it after the journey.

"I give you my personal promise," he said, "to photograph it at both poles."

On the back of the Great Seal of the United States, which appears on the $1 bill, is an unfinished pyramid, a symbol of material strength, an enduring foundation for future growth and a goal of perfection.

UAW Might Cut Demands, If GM Cuts Prices

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers union would consider scaling down its contract demands if General Motors Corp. agreed not to raise car prices, UAW President Douglas Fraser said yesterday.

Interviewed on the ABC News program "Issues and Answers," Fraser said a recent price increase for some 1980 GM cars is inflationary.

GM has frequently described UAW contract demands this year as contrary to the national goal of reducing inflation.

"We would moderate our demands if we could get a commitment from General Motors Corporation that they would not raise prices" in the life of the contract now being negotiated, Fraser said.

GM last week boosted sticker prices on some 1980 models by an average of $244. Union officials said price increases by GM in the past year have amounted to more than 11 percent.

Negotiating teams for the UAW and GM delayed the start of bargaining Sunday to watch the telecast interview.

Discussions of Supplemental Unemployment Benefits were scheduled as negotiators worked through their first weekend since GM was singled out as the UAW's strike target in bargaining to renew contracts for 750,000 U.S. auto workers.

The contracts expire Sept. 14.

Fraser also provided a few additional details of a radically new strike strategy the UAW is considering this year if no agreement is reached by that date.

Earlier, Fraser said the union would consider selective strikes aimed at disrupting production of GM's hottest selling models.

Those strikes, he said, would involve no more than 30 percent of GM hourly workers at any one time. The strike pattern could change from week to week as car inventories change.

Traditionally, the UAW has called national walkouts against the target firm if there is no agreement on a contract.

Fraser repeated his optimism — also voiced by GM bargainers —that a strike can be averted.

"A strike is a very serious event," Fraser said, "and could have a dampening effect on the overall economy. That's why we're going to try with every means at our disposal to avoid a strike."

The UAW has flagged inflation protection for retired workers as its No. 1 demand, and is also seeking wage improvements and additional paid time off.

Fraser acknowledged the union may have a "responsibility and obligation" to tone down its demands later this year when it bargains with the financially ailing Chrysler Corp.

"We foresee a contract that could be different and could be less," he said. "In collective bargaining it would be a mistake for me to say how much."

Labor Leaders Split Over Carter's Bid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor Secretary Ray Marshall predicted Sunday President Carter will have "overwhelming labor support" if he runs for re-election, but two union leaders said Carter is in trouble with the rank and file.

"I think if Carter announces for re-election, he will get overwhelming labor support," Marshall said. "He's got one of the best labor records of any president in recent memory."

However, Douglas Fraser, head of the United Auto Workers union, hedged on whether he would back Carter.

And William Winpisinger, head of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, a strong supporter of Sen. Edward Kennedy, said, "I have said all along I'm an ABC guy — Anybody But Carter."

The three were questioned on Sunday's network interview shows.

Asked on ABC's "Issues and Answers" program whether he could support Carter, Fraser said, "Well, of course it depends on who his opponent is. As each day passes, I think there is a question of whether or not the president will be the nominee of the Democratic party."

Asked if he thought Kennedy was a more attractive and electable candidate, he replied, "I think it is fair to say that is the mood and opinion of our local union leaders. Our official position is one of neutrality."

Winpisinger, who is leading an effort to coax Kennedy into the presidential race, told interviewers on NBC's "Meet the Press" program his organization has set up committees in "over half of the 50 states" and hopes to send out 2 million pieces of mail promoting Kennedy and soliciting contributions by January 1980.

"There is nothing he (Carter) can do to redeem himself with the machinists union," Winpisinger said. "He has gone to the well too many times on issues of importance to us and come up dry."

Marshall, asked about unemployment, said it was possible the jobless rate would go as high as 6.5 percent in 1980, but that he did not expect it to reach 6 percent this year. The rate has been in the 5.6 percent to 5.7 percent range for the past several months.

He reiterated his opposition to either a general tax cut or to mandatory wage and price controls to hold down inflation. "What we need to do is stimulate output and improve productivity, not put the economy in a straightjacket," he said.

Fraser, asked about UAW Negotiations with General Motors Corp., said, "The atmosphere is right" to avoid a strike. He said key issues were additional time off for workers and increased pension benefits.

Boone, Ferrer Say Vows In California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Debby Boone, who won a Grammy for the hit song "You Light Up My Life," and Gabriel Ferrer, son of Rosemary Clooney and Jose Ferrer, have been married.

Miss Clooney sang "I'll Never Say Goodbye" during a Saturday ceremony at Hollywood Presbyterian Church that was attended by more than 500 guests. A solo harpist and string quartet provided background music.

The couple plans a brief honeymoon in California to be followed by a longer one during Miss Boone's upcoming concert tour in Japan. She won a Grammy for "You Light Up My Life" in 1977.

Best man was Gabriel's brother, Miguel, and maid of honor was Donna Freberg, daughter of comedian Stan Freberg.

Miss boone is the daughter of singer Pat Boone.

Group Calls For Right To Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — On the eve of the last Labor Day of the 1970s, spokesmen for the working people of America called on Sunday for a week of rallies, parades and discussions to proclaim the right of every American to a job.

"The message must be made clear," said a group composed of labor, civil rights and religious leaders. "The way to solve America's problems is to put Americans to work."

The group, which also includes representatives of public interest organizations, is called the Full Employment Action Council. The council's plans for the week include public hearings in Washington and Detroit, a rally in Des Moines and parades in San Antonio, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Omaha and Erie, Pa.

"As we celebrate Labor Day, we celebrate the importance of work," said Coretta Scott King, co-leader of the council. "We know that having the right to a job, to earn a living, is a fundamental human right. Too many of our citizens will spend this Labor Day denied that right."

Other leaders, including President Carter, issued statements in observance of Labor Day.

"Today, almost 100 million men and women have jobs in our nation — 8½ million more than when I took office," Carter said. "Nevertheless, we still face difficult challenges that threaten to erode some of these hard-won gains. The most serious challenge is inflation."

President George Meany of the AFL-CIO urged support for human rights around the world, saying freedom of association, assembly and expression are the building blocks of trade unions.

He said only in a climate of respect for human rights can labor fight for a fair share of the wealth it produces. "Unions are formed precisely to give workers their own instrument in the struggle over the distribution of the national income," he said.

Secretary of Labor Ray Marshall said it is more important than ever to enforce laws that protect people from exploitation in pay and working conditions.

"Working men and women are the greatest victims of the economic problems this nation faces today," he said. "Let us not compromise or hold back in our pursuit of decency or justice for working people."

Douglas Fraser, president of the United Auto Workers, called attention to nearly 80,000 auto workers laid off and said his members have a special stake in the solving of the energy crisis.

"When people can't find gasoline, when they have to pay outrageous prices for the gas they do find, our jobs are in danger," he said. "There is no clearer evidence of this than the autoworkers who are out of work today."

Fraser said working people are "fed up with the parochial politics of pragmatism" and want a return to politics "in which elected officials do in office what they said they would do when they were out campaigning for votes."

The National Right to Work Committee, a group opposed to compulsory unionism, distributed Labor Day statements from other well-known Americans:

—Rep. Philip M. Crane of Illinois, a Republican candidate for president: "To the extent that it requires a worker to decide betwen losing a job or joining a union, freedom of association is eliminated."

—John B. Connally, a Republican candidate for president: "Today, as in 1776, Americans deserve the right to chart their ongoing lives — in our marketplaces, in our schools and labor unions, in all the areas which influence our families and affect our nation's course."

—Reed Larson, president of the National Right to Work Committee: "Whether free or a slave to compulsory unionism, every American worker knows in his heart that the right to work is a fundamental right."

Others, however, spoke in praise of the American labor movement.

"Today there are forces working actively to weaken and destroy unions," said David J. Fitzmaurice, president of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers. "These individuals and groups believe they can convince the public that unions are unnecessary."

But, said Fitzmaurice, "most of the work-related benefits Americans enjoy are direct products of Labor's long struggle to force human values on profit-oriented management."

Lane Kirkland, secretary-treasurer of the AFL-CIO and Meany's heir-apparent, criticized the administration guidelines that set a 7 percent limit on wage increases.

"After all the wage increases and cost-of-living adjustments, the average worker's buying power is 3.5 percent lower than it was a year ago," he said. But, Kirkland added, "corporate profits are booming. In the first quarter of this year, they rose 37 percent above the same period last year. They increased 19.6 percent in the second."

Congressional Panel Reworks Ration Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional sources said Sunday the House-Senate conference committee working on gas rationing is likely to approve a bill allowing the president to declare rationing even without extreme fuel shortages.

Sources on both the House and Senate staffs said there are many ways a compromise could be reached on the so-called "trigger" issue that would not risk losing any substantial bloc of congressional support for the rationing measure.

When Congress returns from its August recess this week, the conference committee will try to come up with a compromise on the legislation acceptable to both the House and Senate.

During the recess, congressional staff members discussed rationing with White House aides and found there is a possibility President Carter would veto any rationing bill that included a strict trigger provision.

A trigger would determine when the president could declare rationing. The trigger passed by the House would not allow rationing unless there were a 20 percent shortage in fuel supplies for 30 days, or the threat of such a shortage.

While the House declined to pass a rationing bill without that trigger, the provision is considered extreme in the House-Senate conference committee and has little support, aides said.

"The administration calls that one of the evil parts of the bill," an aide said. "The House conferees are probably in a mood to leave the trigger out. The Senate conferees do not like that tough a standard. So, it is highly unlikely it will stay."

Rep. Phil Gramm, D-Texas, talked the House Commerce Committee into accepting the tough trigger. Now, Gramm recognizes he will have a fight in the conference committee.

He said last week that if the conference committee tampers with the trigger he will try to kill the bill altogether.

Gramm, a first-term congressman, is not a major figure, but he does represent a sizable group of House members who would not have voted for rationing without making it a last-resort step.

One House staff member suggested the language of the trigger is not as inflexible as it seems, since rationing could be triggered with merely a "projection" of a deep shortage for 30 days.

"That makes it a guideline. Anybody can make a projection," he said. "That should mollify some House members who think the bill has too tough a trigger."

The conferees must also decide whether to put a similar trigger on other mandatory conservation measures in the legislation.

Other parts of Carter's energy program still have a long way to go in Congress. His plan for federal subsidy of synthetic fuel is still in committee, as are bills for a bureaucratic "fast track" for high-priority energy projects.

The House-approved windfall profits tax on domestic oil is still in the Senate Finance Committee. Sen. Russell Long, D-La., the panel chairman, once promised to have a bill to the president by October, but that schedule seems unlikely now.

Miss America Pageant Returns To Boardwalk

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The grand old seaside hotels are making way for slick new casino palaces, only a few rolling chairs sneak down the Boardwalk nowadays and even the famous Diving Horse is out to pasture.

But, wait! There she is! Miss America!

"They do their thing, we do our thing. Miss America will always be a major attraction on the Boardwalk," says Albert A. Marks Jr., chief executive officer of the Miss America Pageant.

On next Saturday night, as on every first Saturday night after Labor Day, 49 disappointed all-American contestants will outwardly cheer and inwardly weep as the lucky 51st Miss America is crowned.

The new Miss America is guaranteed a $20,000 scholarship, at least $50,000 in bookings during her reign, the chance to go around the world and, most likely, fleeting fame. Few will remember Miss America next Monday morning.

But no one doubts that the institution's institution, Bert Parks, will be back in his ageless tuxedo crooning his 25th "There She Is" to the new Miss America.

Parks at 64 is as smooth and loose as ever to the pitfalls of live television and 50 nervous women.

The swimsuits (never say "bathing suit" at the pageant) still will be one piece, although last year's pageant survived some "French-cut" styles with hardly a stir.

It even survived a nationally televised belly dance from Miss Ohio, Sher Lynette Patrick, who reached the finals.

But the new wrinkles at this year's pageant will not take place on stage or television.

With controversy at Miss Black America, a collapsed stage at Miss Universe, an unhappy Miss Orient USA and disputes at two Miss America state contests, even Marks admits that it has been a bad year for feminine pageantry.

"With 80,000 women entering our pageant each year, there's bound to be a little controversy," Marks shrugs. "You have a little trouble with 80,000 of anything."

A second-choice Miss Illinois, Elizabeth Russell, will take the place of Shanna Jean McNeill, who put her arm through a plate glass door and cannot play the piano this week. Miss McNeill briefly cried foul when state officials who called her emotionally unstable, took her title away.

Last year's Miss North Carolina, Debbie Shook, contended that the sponsoring Jaycees did not give her all the prizes she was promised.

North Carolina's 1979 state queen, Mona Maki, endorsed an automobile in a television commercial that appeared on the night of the state pageant. The runner-up said she should be disqualified, but the Jaycees stood behind Miss Maki.

Yielding to the pressures of casino gambling here, pageant officials this year will house 22 contestants in casino hotels, but they won't be going near a craps table.

"They will stay at the hotels, but they absolutely will not be allowed in the casinos," says Marks, a local investment banker who is the undisputed king behind the queens.

Most critical to this year's pageant, however, will be its television ratings. Last year's two-hour television show made a comeback from the slump of the Vietnam era, but it still was well behind the glory years of the early 1960's.

Marks needs a solid ratings performance to keep his major sponsors -Gillette, Campbell's and Kellogg's -pumping in the revenue that serves as the core of the record $2.1 million in scholarships offered nationwide this year.

"It's an astounding figure to be available to one part of the citizenry, the women who compete each year," Marks says. "It has no comparison to any other source of scholarship money."

The first pageant, a "bathing beauty" contest, was held on the Atlantic City beach in 1921 as a gimmick to extend the summer season to the weekend after Labor Day. It still does.

Most of the early contestants were showgirls. Today, nearly all are college women seeking the scholarships that have legitimatized the pageant since Bess Myerson won in 1945.

Last year's winner, Kylene Barker, 23, of Galax Va., is expected to retire to her dream dress shop with her $20,000 scholarship -which she gets though she has no plans to go to school -and $75,000 in personal appearance fees earned during the past year.

She plans to marry a man whom she has been dating for the past two years in October. They have already bought a house and have leased a shop in Palm Beach, Florida.

"She was a very fine Miss America," Marks said. "She's been very articulate. She's carried out all of her assignments with dignity and charm."

TAKING IN THE SUN — Miss America contestants Deanna Fogarty, left, of California; Marti Phillips of Florida; and Jill Elmore, right, of Oklahoma, pose for photographers on the beach in Atlantic City, Saturday. Portion Of Lower Spine Replaced With Metal

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jessie Thomas who underwent 19 hours of surgery to have her lower spine replaced with a piece of metal, had a good night but remained in guarded condition Sunday, a University of Maryland Hospial spokesan said.

Mrs. Thomas, 33, of Baltimore, lost a portion of her spine when doctors removed a malignant cantaloupe-sized tumor in July. The 6-inch gap in the lower spine was replaced with a prosthesis during the operation that began Friday morning and lasted until 1:30 a.m. Saturday.

It was believed to be the first operation of its kind.

Dr. Charles C. Edwards, head of the surgical team, is not optimistic about Mrs. Thomas chances of walking again, but he said the operation "should permit the patient to sit and move around in a wheelchair."

If the tumor had not been removed, Edwards said, "over the next several months or a year, the tumor would have continued to grow" until it eventually would have killed Mrs. Thomas by cutting off her circulation.

He said if the tumor had been removed and the replacement had not been possible, she "probably would have died ... as a result of skin breakdown, pneumonia and psychological problems."

Edwards said the procedure "is not an operation for anyone ... but for someone who has a (fatal) tumor for whom no other treatment is possible."

Mrs. Thomas underwent chemotherapy and radiation therapy treatments on-and-off for seven years prior to the surgery. Chemotherapy also was administered several months ago in an effort to reduce the size of the tumor. "It was reduced by about 20 percent," said Edwards.

After the tumor and lower spine section were removed July, Mrs. Thomas was confined to a stretcher that kept her motionless to protect her spinal cord until surgery.

Russian Dancer Glad To Be In U.S.S.R.

MOSCOW (AP) — Ballerina Ludmilla Vlasova says she is pleased to be back home in Russia.

"I am happy that now I am within the walls of the Bolshoi theater again," she said, without mentioning a word about her husband, Bolshoi star Alexander Godunov, who defected to the United States Aug. 22.

Interviewed on Soviet television Saturday night, Miss Vlasova said she was now concentrating on preparing for her new role in the Bolshoi ballet, "Love for Love," which is a choreographic version of Shakespeare's play "Much Ado About Nothing."

"This is the biggest role I am performing in," the ballerina said as she was interviewed in a red brocade-covered room at the Bolshoi.

She said the three days she spent aboard an Aeroflot jetliner grounded at New York's Kennedy Airport until she convinced U.S. authorities she wanted to return to Moscow "seemed like an eternity for me."

Space Age Fitness Center Popularized By Isokinetics

Space Age Fitness Center, Lubbock's newest fitness center, uses isokinetic equipment to provide individualized fitness programs for all ages.

Located in Monterey Center, with a south entry adjacent to Super M, Space Age Fitness Center is open from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m., Mondays through Fridays.

Everyone is encouraged to come by and try out the unique equipment, or one can call 793-8775 for further information.

(Space Age Fitness will be closed today in Labor Day observance.)

"Women and other busy people like the Space Age Fitness Center," its local owner reports, "because it was designed to meet the needs of people who do not have the time other fitness programs demand. Only 15 minutes a day, three times a week, is all the time it takes, and this 15 minutes a day is equal to 1 1/2 hours of tennis or swimming."

Limited-Time Offer

Both six-month and 12-month programs are available, and for a limited time a special offer is in effect, with memberships at $50 off during this offer. So don't delay; check now for savings and new satisfaction.

"The most advanced form of strength building today involves a newly discovered principle. Top coaches, trainers, athletes, doctors and physical therapists agree that this one is superior," Space Age management emphasizes.

"It is called isokinetics, and it is the basis of an extra-ordinary new line of strenth-building equipment for athletics, physical therapy and consumer use.

Principle Explained

"Because of the simple principle of accomodating resistance, it is virtually impossible to accidentally exceed the user's physical limitations. When a true isokinetic exerciser, such as the Mini-Gym, is used, resistance equal to the force being exerted is instantly and automatically developed throughout the full range of the exercise being performed.

"There is no eccentric contraction and no sore muscles. With isokinetics, muscles relax momentarily between repetitions. This gives the blood time to clean the lactic acid from all the cells that make up the muscles. When an isotonic unit is used, muscles do not relax between repetitions. The weight must return and this muscle contraction continues to restrict the flow of blood and the natural cleansing process.

"Isokinetic resistance creates no erratic or unstable muscular movements. All muscles are worked in direct proportion to each other."

Doesn't this make sense? Then become acquainted now with the unique Space Age Fitness Center, locally owned and opened in May, enjoying enthusiastic reception at its Monterey Center location.

"Call now, at 793-8775, or come by the facility and learn how Space Age Fitness Center can fit into your own fitness program."

Finish-Off Stripping Center Serving At Avenue E Address

The do-it-yourselfer no longer need endure the fumes, mess and time-consuming labor of stripping down articles for refinishing!

Finish-Off Stripping Center is introducing to the Lubbock area a unique process that quickly and thoroughly removes layers of paint, stain and varnish. The process is safe for wood, metal and other materials, and does not damage the original surface like harsh commercial products and related methods can.

Finish-Off Stripping Center is new to Lubbock, established by long-time Lubbock businessman L.K. Lankford. Operating businesses here for about 20 years, Lankford is still associated with House Clinic. He was the founding owner of Arcadia Stone Manufacturing. Long involved in the home improvement field, Lankford has secured for Lubbock and Finish-Off Stripping Center, the exclusive rights to the Houck's process for professional stripping. The nearest comparable facility specializing in this unique process is located in Dallas.

Explains Need

Lankford commented that he "felt there was a definite need in this area, since many people enjoy refinishing but don't like the messy part." Now at a reasonable cost, Finish-Off Stripping Center can accomplish the hard work, leaving the do-it-yourselfer the fun part.

Even the largest furniture pieces can be completely stripped without having to be dismantled. Glued joints, formica insets or thin wood veneers are not damaged. The process is safe for even marble or stained glass.

Advantages Cited

Antique dealers and other individuals involved with restoration of treasured heirlooms have already discovered the advantages of the service offered by Finish-Off Stripping Center. Pieces with ornately carved designs, curved spindles or other hard-to-reach places can be the at-home refinisher's nightmare. At Finish-Off Stripping Center, the most unreachable cracks and crevices are cleared of the old finish or stain. The most delicate of details is safely preserved, and valuable antiques protected from stripping hazards.

Grease, grime and rust are dissolved away, making the process useful for cleaning tools and equipment. A rust preventative coating is applied to protect any metal surface until the item can be refinished. Among articles already processed by the recently opened business have been antique car parts for restoring and a Mercedes trunk lid in need of repainting. Other interesting collector's items and decorative pieces received at the Center have included old milk cans, kitchen scales and a hand drill press, in addition to an assortment of chairs, tables, cabinet and antique wardrobes.

'Know-How' Assured

Owner-operator Lankford and his wife, Barbara, who assists in the business, attended sessions last May in Atlanta, Georgia, to receive their specialized training in the exclusive stripping process. Since then, they have been setting up equipment and assembling materials for the Finish-Off Stripping Center. A representative from the company's home office in Stamford, New York, joined them initially when they began operating on Aug. 9 to oversee the beginning and to train shop foreman David Corder.

Lankford and his staff plan to expand their services to offer replacement hardware and refinishing supplies in the future.

"What have you got that you've been "intending" to refinish but have put off because of the dreaded mess and hassle of stripping? Call customer relations director Kenan Curry at 747-3938 or bring your articles to be stripped by Finish-Off Stripping Center at 1922 Avenue E. Achieve completely professional results for your refinishing work by using the quick, thorough and safe process offered exclusively in Lubbock by Finish-Off Stripping Center."

CHILDRESS OPEN IN NEW, DISTINCTIVE, FUNCTIONAL QUARTERS

Childress Hardware Serving From New Home, New Address

Meet an old friend . . . but with a new address and a new functionally-beautiful building to serve even better!

It is the Fred Childress Hardware, now at 10th & H (915 Ave. H), just a block north of the former 902 Main Street location that has been home of hardware since way back in 1917!

It is no idle statement that hardware needs of the area have been met for decades by the Childress Hardware and its predecessors. As a bit of history, it is recounted that the old Cole-Myrick Hardware was established at 902 Main in 1917. Within a few years ownership passed to the Nislar interests, with Fred Childress in 1924 going to work for that ownership. Then in 1934, just a decade later, the firm was purchased by Childress and O.A. Terry. Then in 1959, Terry disposed of his interest.

The Fred Childress Hardware, Inc., is owned by Dick Jay and Leslie Duncan who have long served at this time-proven and time-honored establishment that prides in stocking needs of the day for every year, every season.

The former Main Street building has been razed to make way for other use of the property, and the new and beautiful building at 915 H marks even greater capacity for service.

Away from the congested area, more and easier parking is enabled, yet the business still is on a major traffic artery to conveniently serve city and area. The new building was specifically designed for Childress Hardware, and the open displays and other built-in conveniences certainly do not detract from the traditional Childress image of "we appreciate you as a customer and friend, and we're glad you came to see us."

Whether one's immediate concerns and needs involve winter preparation (even need of fireplace accessories, etc.), security via quality mortise locks, or even the unusual hardware items, likely still the first and only place necessary to check is Childress Hardware, now at 10th & H.

Childress for years has stocked the finest in security hardware, and possibly at no time has "security" been more in the minds of most people than today. And properly so. It would be foolish, then to consider security for the home of business without attention to the locks, such as dead bolts etc., that are among the products stocked at Childress.

Correct tools and equipment can be the big item in convenience and accomplishment in numerous home operations or by the professional builder throughout the year, and for these tools, one can rely with certainty upon the Fred Childress Hardware.

For those who appreciate good hand tools, there is a wide stock, including the respected name of Stanley, Crescent, Thorson, Nicholson, Bluegrass, Disston, Lufkin, Plumb and others long associated with quality and integrity in toolmaking.

On and on the list could go in enumerating the lawn and the building needs provided at Childress Hardware; but suffice it to say that "if it is in the hardware line, you can get it there."

Thousands of Items

One can purchase an old-fashioned sprinkling can or a lawn watering device that negotiates your yard; a well pulley or a lamp chimney; actually more than 10,000 items.

Childress Hardware continues as a popular place with carpenters and craftsmen, who make it headquarters for nails of all sizes, as well as a wide range of other fastenings including stove bolts, capscrews, carriage bolts, machine screws, metal screws, wood screws and brass screws, chain, rope — you name it, for home, industrial or farm use.

Cabinet Hardware

The Fred Childress Hardware also stocks one of the most extensive line of cabinet hardware in the city, with latest designs in hinges, pulls and latches attractively displayed. Here again brands such as Stylecraft, Christensen, Phylrick and Pfanstiel are indicative of top quality and design.

"May we have the pleasure of serving you soon . . . and often . . . at our new home, 10th at H?"

Enrollment Possible In Several Mrs. B's Classes

Openings still are available in a number of the classes beginning at Mrs. B's Arts, Crafts and Gifts, 5105 29th Drive, phone 797-5850.

This good news means that one still can have fun, achieve and progress in the variety of art and craft pursuits fostered by the popular southwest Lubbock shop.

To be sure of inclusion in one or more of the classes, early arrangements including pre-registration is necessary.

Appreciated Instructors

Canvas oil painting instruction again will be by Frankie "Pee Wee" Lanier.

Sarah Storrs continues as a very popular and capable tole painting instructor.

One of two newest additions to the teaching group at Mrs. B's is Connie Anderson whose tole classes have been eagerly awaited. Connie graduated in 1975 from Stephen F. Austin State University, majoring in art, and she has pursued art related endeavors since that time. She will instruct at Mrs. B's at both the beginning and intermediate levels.

The other new instructor is Jerry Carper who will conduct once-a-week classes in calligraphy. Mrs. B's Arts, Crafts & Gifts is especially glad to provide this unique opportunity.

Special Workshop

Special workshops and demonstrations have been arranged for forthcoming weeks, and one is invited to inquire for details regarding these "Specials" featuring Charl Egeland, popular Lubbock tole instructor; Charles Lyles, widely recognized artist from Hereford; Jeanie Lewis of Houston (and always popular here), and Jo Daugherty, local artist hardly needing introduction.

Aside from instruction, Mrs. B's has much to offer.

Owner-operator Margie Berryhill has just returned from market, and new merchandise already is arriving in anticipation of fall project and Christmas preparation needs.

Special On Frames

A good assortment of sizes and styles in picture frames is stocked, with a current "25 per cent off" effective.

Mrs. B's stocks oils by Grumbacher, Rembrandt, Windsor Newton, Shiva and Permanent Pigment, together with the newly-added Louvre oils. Studio and table easles are stocked, as are numerous other supplies.

Inclusion In Comprehensive Program Still Enabled At Hamilton Gymnastics

As new-term classes are starting at Hamilton Gymnastics, further reminder is given:

Enrollment still is possible.

There are openings for pre-school participants.

A new aerobics exercise class is offered and proving popular.

So why delay; check now with Hamilton Gymnastics, phone 793-1013, at 4811 W. Loop 289 (corner of 50th and the Loop).

A comprehensive curriculum, top-grade instructors, team achievement and facilities that excel are among factors that have made quite a name for Hamilton Gymnastics.

Wide Program

Instruction is afforded in pre-school gymnastics, the regular gymnastics program including tumbling and apparatus; dance, beginner to advanced ballet, jazz and adult ballet; the new aerobics dance class primarily for adults, affording a most desirable dance/conditioning program; cheerleading and baton.

Johnny Hamilton, director of Hamilton Gymnastics, instructs in many classes, together with a blue ribbon team.

Wayne Downing is assistant and has had four years training under Hamilton and has directed gym camps in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Hamilton is a former NCAA All-American, Big 10 champion and in 1967 ranked fourth in the world professional champions (gymnastics). He has lived in Lubbock some six years and has earned quite a following in his gym program. He is an Amarillo native.

Sharon Storey, in her third year with the Hamilton organization, is an internationally certified director, along with Elizabeth Gillas. Sharon and Elizabeth have developed a ballet program based on classic ballet techniques and also developing the student along the lines of the performing artist. Both have had extensive training under national artists of the dance world.

Elizabeth Gillas has performed in the American Ballet Theatre School in New York and at the North Carolina School of the Arts, attending each on full scholarship. This is her second year with Hamilton.

Baton instruction will be by a new addition to the Hamilton staff, Terrie Caffey who marks 12 years baton experience and coming here from the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

"We are really excited about the addition of Terrie and the super job anticipated in this department," Hamilton adds.

Karen Cleveland again is on hand as Class III gymnastics team coach, always doing a super job.

Add to this that large, ultra-modern facilities are provided, and one understands the popularity of Hamilton Gymnastics. Don't be left out in the forthcoming programs; come out and visit the big Hamilton Gymnastics School, 50th Street at Loop 289, becoming acquainted with the super staff and facilities, or phone 793-1013 for added details.

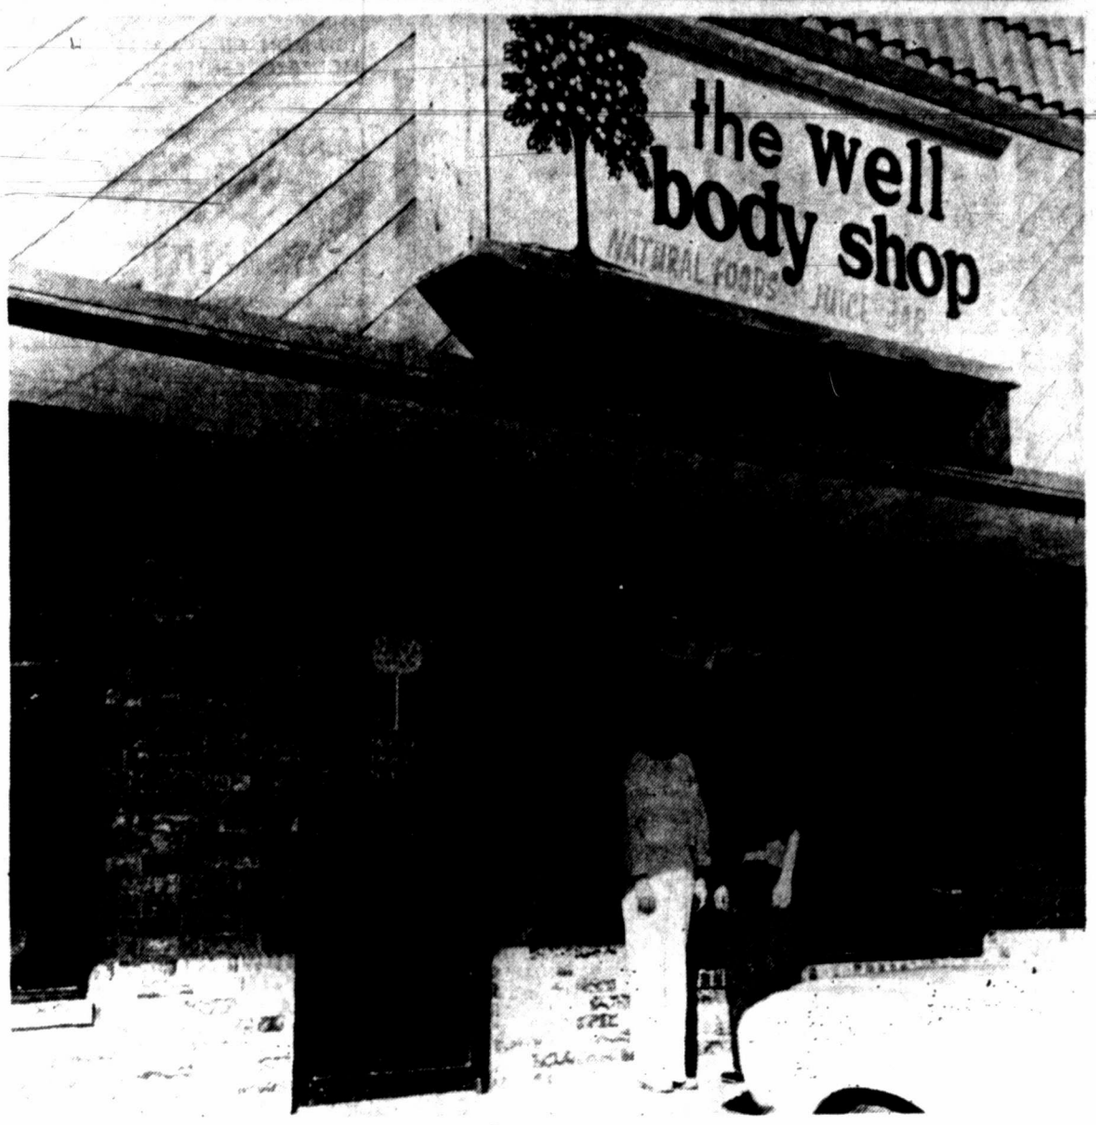
Business & Industrial Review



IN SECURITY PARK — Connie Gregory and daughter Dee Justice, owners-operators of the Well Body Shop, are shown in front of the establishment that has understandably been quite well received in Lubbock. Check the accompanying report for revelations regarding the unique store's stock, purpose and innovations.

Well Body Shop's Uniqueness, Benefits Specifically Listed

There must be a reason when so many Lubbock and area residents turn to the Well Body Shop for leadership in natural foods (and the juice bar)!

To fathom the popularity of this unique establishment at B-21 in Security Park, 3602 Slide Road, phone 793-1015, the following question-answer approach is presented to outline "what is the Well Body Shop, why does it exist, and what it can do for you."

Q. In short, why is the Well Body Shop unique in Lubbock?

A. Possibly five factors make it so. We have the only juice bar, the only grain grinder, customers tell us we have the greatest selection of natural foods, and we stock bulk grains (19 on hand presently), and we have what we believe the best herb selection in the area.

Q. Why was this shop established?

A. Well Body Shop was opened in June '78 by Dee Justice and mother, Connie Gregory. Dee's interest in natural foods could be dated from her first pregnancy, and Connie became acutely interested during an illness; both became aware of wrong eating habits, did something about it in their own situations, and then decided to assist in the health and well being of others. They report the store was opened after they discovered many of their natural food and related needs were unavailable elsewhere.

Q. What is meant by natural foods?

A. Natural foods are not processed or preserved; our life style has become so fast that we often just open a box — that may have more preservatives than food value! We help circumvent this practice.

Q. What are customer and doctor reactions to your type store?

A. Many customers come in with a list of needed natural foods from their doctor. Pregnant women seem especially interested in the right diet. (Diets for hyper-active children are available here . . . the Dr. Feingold special diet as publicized on the Donahue show, etc.) Dee can assist in vegetarian diet recommendations, and Connie is especially adept with diets and vitamins in low blood sugar instances.

Q. What is the juice bar?

A. The popular juice bar provides nutrition and goodness and really appealing modest prices . . . great for mealtime, snacktime or for school students lunchtime, for sure. Discover in the bar the honey ice cream and milkshakes, each without sugar; the fresh orange juice, fresh carrot juice, high-energy drinks, blended fruit drinks, the highly acclaimed "Smoothie" with protein and lecithin and even yogurt, etc., and the children's Super Kid drinks that are nutritious but still money-saving.

Q. Are there other items within the shop?

A. definitely so! Everything in the shop is related to natural foods, however. We suggest you check for exciting arrivals at all times. There are the sprouting seeds, as example, to be grown indoor for fresh vitamins and proteins, a complete and natural food ready in three to seven days. And the Arrowhead Mills all-organic foods from Hereford. And juicers and grain grinders stocked for sale. We believe a fantastic stock and an attractive, beneficial store is provided, open from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m., six days a week.

Edwards & Abernathie Offers 'All Points', Other Services

"Edwards & Abernathie, Realtors, stands tall in the field! Don't just take our word for it; check the record; discover how this Lubbock firm recently won second award out of 700 offices in all points for conversion of referrals with this recognition conveyed at a Washington D.C. meeting."

"Total real estate service" is the picture at Edwards & Abernathie, 3217 34th St., phone 792-5166, with insurance and even arrangement of financing.

Staff Excels

"Edwards & Abernathie Realtors is fortunate in having an outstanding staff headed by veterans in the business. Bernice Turquette is real estate director; Pat Hobbs in relocation director, and Everette Abernathie and Jimmie Edwards are partners in the firm.

Various phases of the firm's services are pinpointed from time to time on these pages, and this week attention is especially directed to the All Points Team that gives you total relocation.

'Total' Relocation Service

Among advantages of this Edwards & Abernathie service are:

"We'll help you sell your old home, we'll help you find a new home; we'll even arrange to get you there; we'll make your stay enjoyable (when you arrive at your destination, there'll be a clean, new Avis car waiting for you, if you wish); we'll help move you; and arrangements for all these extra services are free!

"Through us, you can have your next move completely taken care of for you.

'For Best Move You'll Ever Make'

"Yes, at the same time we're lining up prospects to buy your present home, we'll be finding you a new one to move into. Our experienced All Points member in your destination city will be screening possibilities according to your requirements and budget; he'll make a thorough check of zoning, schools, shopping and future trends in the areas which he investigates. He'll even send photos of several choices.

"Naturally, you'll want to make your final choice in person, and we'll help you take care of that, too . . . first class, all the way! We'll arrange for your plane reservations, and all arrangements will have been made in advance . . . such as Holiday Inn reservations, etc."

"We mean it, through us you can have your next move completely taken care of; it can be the best move you'll ever make."

They want to assist in every way possible, and especially at this time when they are convinced that "now is the time to buy a home", what with the median sales price of existing homes projected to appreciably increase even by end of the year.

Selection in Lubbock at this time is such that any conceivable demand can be met, speedily and most satisfactorily. Whether the primary concern is upgrading one's living accommodations, in securing a home for immediate occupancy upon a possible transfer across the country, or if desiring a fine home seemingly "just built for you", Edwards & Abernathie Realtors is one the job to meet the need. Contact us now at 3217 34th St., phone 792-5166 and let us go to work for you in one or all of our several departments. Capability for service and a genuine interest in your welfare is assured. So why delay?

Business & Industrial Review

LOTS OF NEWS BEING MADE — Mrs. Sonja Jones of Jones Ornamental Decor is shown with units included in the special sale values arranged today (Labor Day) as part of the Store-wide End-of-Summer Sale. Mrs. Jones also reveals name changing of the firm to 'Jones Patio & Casual' as a concise description of its products.

Labor Day Specials, End-of-Summer Sale Highlight Firm's Announcements

The store-wide End-of-Summer Sale is underway at Jones Ornamental Decor, the "different" store at 3403 34th St., in Indiana Gardens.

And Jones Ornamental Decor is open today, staying open throughout the day to enable those with a holiday to come in and take advantage of the savings.

Specifically, items are reduced from 20 per cent to 50 per cent in price from the already-low pricing policy of the firm!

Specifics Given

Imagine . . . 50 per cent off on Woodard wood-top dining sets.

And 25 per cent off on all outdoor furniture including new shipments. (Still other shipments are due, and anything received before today will be marked down as a Labor Day special!)

Added markdowns are scheduled for today in every merchandise category at the Jones firm.

See the many new occasional tables, eterges, plant stands and more that were bought in abundance at recent markets.

New lines have been added, such as the Lyon-Shaw fine wrought iron furniture.

Announcement Made

Something else of exceptional interest:

In order to most truly convey the type store provided, Jones Ornamental Decor is in process of a name alternation, to be known as "Jones Patio & Casual". It is the same great store, the same exceptional selection, same ownership and operation but with a name that more correctly defines the offerings of the big store. (Watch for our new sign soon to be displayed.)

"We at Jones Ornamental Decor (or Jones Patio & Casual as we are becoming known) are most appreciative of the trade accorded us during the more than two years at this location, enabling our growth in stock and service. As a very concrete gesture of our appreciation, we call your attention to the current End-of-Summer Sale and the special Labor Day markdowns."

Featuring indoor-outdoor, all-season ornament elegance for timeless charm and beauty, Jones Patio & Casual is really a "showplace", and a visit there can be of added benefit during the sale.

The big showroom (with more than 5,000 sq. ft. space) is chock full of selective merchandise, and the open display, the easy access, off-street parking and other advantages make shopping here a real treat.

Name brands in home furnishing are attractively and profusely stocked, together with a wide variety of decor items.

For new elegance in home or office, let Jones enter the picture!

The firm is home-owned and home-operated, essentially as a family operation. Wilburn Jones and wife, Sonja, are owners, with Mrs. Jones active in the management, assisted by children Jana, Mark and Randy, and other staffmembers.

Wilburn Jones owns Greer Iron Works, and custom construction of barbeque units, fireplace screens and log holders, fences, gates, etc., are among the specialties there, as is wrought iron and cast aluminum furniture.

Village Craft Corner Expands Class Schedule

Long-familiar and also added instructors at Village Craft Corner enable a new-season schedule of classes and workshops sure to be appreciated. But hurry: enrollment is fast filling the classes!

Classes start as early as Sept. 10, so immediate arrangements should be made for participation. Details on all workshops and classes will be gladly given at Village Craft Corner where examples of the instructors' work are displayed.

Jean Green, Olton, a specialist in oils, landscapes and florals, will teach oil classes Thursday mornings and afternoons beginning Sept. 3. Though she has taught extensively in the area, this is her first Lubbock schedule.

Barbara Bilberry will conduct classes in Beginning Oils and in Intermediate Oils starting Sept. 10. Day classes (10-1) will be conducted at beginning level, with evening (6-9) classes for both beginning and intermediate.

Barbara begins classes on Sept. 11 in Beginning Tole (10-12) and Mini Canvas Painting (1-3) and Tole (6:30-8:30).

Jane Hodgkins will begin Tole Painting classes Sept. 10 from 6:30 p.m. until 8:30 p.m.

On Sept. 11, J.D. Keel Jr., new to Village Craft Corner, will begin Oil Painting Instruction in morning and afternoon classes. Keel is a multi-media painter from Seagraves. He is an avid painter of landscapes, expecially the Hill Country with its bluebonnets.

On Sept. 12, classes begin under direction of ElWanda Ketron and Mac Carow.

ElWanda will teach beginning and Intermediate Oils from 10 a.m. until 12:30 noon, and beginning oils on Tuesday nights. Mac will teach an all-level still life course beginning Sept. 12, from 6 to 9 p.m. Students will learn how to paint the effective light a la prima technique on small canvas.

ElWanda will place emphasis on basic techniques relevant to the oil medium.

Mac Carow will begin classes in portraits (oils, pastels or charcoal) on Sept. 13 in an evening schedule, and on Sept. 14 daytime (10-3).

Barbara Lindner, another newcomer to Village Craft Corner, instructs in Bread Dough Art. Her work is most unusual. Barbara comes from Montgomery, Ala.

Though her first class is filled, enrollment is being taken for the Oct. 11 beginning of the second series.

Forthcoming workshops include Georgia Bartlett (oil painting, florals) Oct. 13, Nov. 10 and Dec. 8; and Bill Huffaker oils, Sept. 22, Oct. 27 and Nov. 17.

Aside from instruction, Village Craft excels in supplies . . . picture frames, "how to" books, art supplies, craft needs and all.

WHERE SERVICE IS A MEANINGFUL PLEDGE — Among those on hand to render finest service at Town & Country Chevrolet are (from left) Vic Rogers, Doyle Fowler, Gale Rose and Charles Schneider, all keyed to area needs and preferences by virtue of long association with South Plains folks; they pride in being 'folks you have depended upon for a long, long time'.

Town & Country Chevrolet's Many Advantages Impressive

"Check the facts, one by one, and you'll discover that 13 miles is a very short distance to drive to receive the best in automobile care . . . from Larry Corbell's Town & Country Chevrolet, Hwy. 84 By-Pass in Slaton!"

Outstanding in its every department, attention this week is focused, however, on the Service and Parts capabilities of Town & Country Chevrolet.

Long On Scene

Key personnel are "folks you know, folks whom you have learned to trust through the years. Vic Rogers is service manager, with Doyle Fowler serving in shop and service. Charles Schneider is parts manager, with Gale Rose as assistant. Familiar names, aren't they? In fact, these four men alone have a combined experience of 94 years in their field right here in Lubbock, Slaton and immediate area!

Consider these facts:

Convenience Factor

"If your repair bill at Town & Country Chevrolet is more than $60, then a lease car is yours without charge while your own vehicle is being repaired! Isn't this a thoughtful consideration?

Experts On Trucks

Truck work, for both gasoline and diesel units, is one of the areas in which Town & Country Chevrolet takes special pride. Complete engine replacements are available, with the department specializing in Target gasoline engines, both 366 and 427. Any make or size truck gets top service at the big Slaton facility.

Larry Corbell's Town & Country Chevrolet is an authorized Caterpillar dealer, too, some may not realize.

And "big wrecker" service is available for customers.

Road service for both cars and trucks is available.

The service "flat rate" invites comparison, whatever the job.

Fully staffed, the Service Department can readily meet any truck service need . . . whether for brake, front-end, 13-speed motors, or whatnot.

And the same expert service can be emphasized for the business or family auto, too, with wheel balancing, transmission repairs, tune-ups, undercoating . . . whatever the need . . . just as near as Larry Corbell's Town & Country Chevrolet, Hwy. 84 By-Pass, Slaton.

Equipment is top-notch . . . such as the two "super good" new scopes for engine analysis.

Master Charge and Visa use is welcomed.

"It all adds to this . . . when your truck or car needs work, take it to a real pro at Larry Corbell's Town & Country Chevrolet where you can rightfully expect town service and country friendliness!"

Scholarships, Registration Remain Available At Winfrey Private School

Two significant announcements are made by Winfrey Private School, 83rd Street at Salem Avenue, phone 793-0845, in Lubbock:

(1) Registration still is enabled throughout the school that serves children from age 18 months through the 7th grade;

(2) Twelve scholarships are available, for first registrants in grades 2 through 6, with each scholarship worth $228!

"We want you to get full information just as soon as possible. We want you to learn of the comprehensive program, of the outstanding physical facilities provided on the big 3.2-acre campus, with 40,000 square feet under roof. We believe you will find the school and its curriculum an eye-opener, and we hope you'll find how its program can be of service within your own family or scope of acquaintances."

Dedicated Leadership

Dorothy Winfrey is founder and director of the school entering its second school year. She had conducted a school on Broadway for three years before personally designing and establishing the present facility involving 18 self-contained classrooms, all adjacent to a huge 60 ft. by 235 ft. gymnasium accommodating over a dozen sports!

All classrooms are air conditioned, independently heated and opening to they gym.

Construction is functionally attractive, of concrete and steel, and the building is reported completely fire safe. A heat detecting system is installed.

Winfrey Private School is designed to accommodate over 500 students.

Dorothy Winfrey holds Bachelors and Masters degrees from Texas Tech in the field of Elementary Education; she is certified in three special education areas, certified in learning disabilities and physically handicapped, and has completed 40 hours study on the Doctorate level.

'Plus Factors'

Discover at Winfrey Private School how "the best in education" is afforded.

Directions Given

Just turn off 82nd Street on Toledo; the school is two blocks west and one block south of the Quaker Avenue-82nd Street intersection. You can't miss it!

Student-teacher ratio in the grade school age is one instructor for 20 students or less; for ages 3 and 4 it is one instructor for 15 students, and in the nursery, 18 months to 35 months, the ratio is 1-10.

Modest Charge

Rates are said most reasonable, with youngest children "generally accommodated at less than baby sitting charges".

Many parents are surprised to find that their children can get the best in care and in educational opportunities at such modest fees — at Winfrey Private School.

Aside from the comprehensive curriculum, after-school private instruction (for ages 3 and up) is available in baton, gymnastics, tap, ballet and piano.

Every teacher in the school is "degreed" and certified (even those associated with the nursery).

To give a hint of the school's concept and opportunities . . . and quality, a special sheet applicable to age 3 and 4, a suggested curriculum content for early education, points out the school's assistance and leadership in social development for the child, art and music opportunities, nature study units, writing readiness, number concepts and math readiness, and language arts and reading readiness helps.

Montgomery Ward Beauty Salon Specializes In Hair Styling

"Fashion is from the tip of your toe to the top of your head, and the right hair style completes the total look."

This is the message and correct observation from the highly talented staff at the Montgomery Ward Beauty Salon, 50th & Boston, phones 795-8221 and 795-0557.

Sharon Denton is manager of the salon and marks 11 years experience and achievement in cosmetology.

Staffmembers include Nellie Johnson and Lucy Hernandez, both most adept in their field. Lucy enjoys hair cutting and conventional styling, and Nellie prides in the art of pin curls for the controlled set.

Most perms at the Montgomery Ward Beauty Salon are guaranteed for 30 days! There are many times that areas "do not take" for many reasons, or one finds it is a little too tight, and these can be easily taken care of.

The salon staff also finds it important for each customer to know how to take proper care of their hair style at home. The staff can give every important pointer.

Men are always welcome for their hair cutting and perm needs.

Senior Citizen Offer

Also, a 10 per cent discount to senior citizens is offered on Mondays through Wednesdays.

"What you and your hairdresser should take into consideration when you are looking for a new style" is listed here, and should convey the expertise and interest of the Montgomery Ward Beauty Salon staff in every customer's beauty and hair style.

Styling Considerations Given

A large-framed person with a half inch of hair all over her head looks as out of proportion as a petite who has the appearance of all hair! It is the amount of hair you have, not the thickness of each single hair, but the total amount on the head that must be considered.

Hair texture, the coarseness or fineness of each individual hair, must be considered, as is the natural curl, wave direction or straight.

Natural growth pattern is considered (how the hair grows at the neck line, bang area, crown area, and cowlicks. Head and facial structure comes in for attention, too, in style selection and corrective make-up.

And length of hair; is the hair long enough to complete the desired style or is it too long and needing to be cut?

Hair that is weak from dryness tends to break and split and often will not respond properly during chemical processing.

Individual life style enters in, too; how much time can you spend on your hair each day?

Chemical processing and coloring must be considered, also, as well as . . . will I feel comfortable in this style?

"These are what we look for and consider when styling.

For A Quick Change

"We suggest that above all else that the operator and customer be able to comunicate, being sure that both are talking about the same thing! Many styles are known by different names. You should be told three different ways to wear your new style . . . you may feel like a quick change one morning!"

"Your hair growth comes from within; general health, diet and medication have a great deal to do with how your hair responds not only to chemical processing but how well sets hold."

"Check the Monday ads of the Montgomery Ward Beauty Salon for other helpful hints, of the many services to help one find the right style at the right price. Feel free to call us or drop by and talk about your particular needs."

Optical Store & Boutique Extending Student Welcome, Explains Services

"Doesn't the new school term call for renewed awareness of the correct optical needs?"

"Then, we wish to direct your attention to the Optical Store & Boutique, 5202 Slide Road, phone 792-0901, where we know that we can serve you within one or more of our departments . . . where we welcome your visits and believe you will appreciate the professional yet friendly service and the truly relaxed atmosphere traditional here."

"Here's something of special interest that we want you to consider, regardless of your eyewear situation, especially if you have too often found yourself in this predicament . . .

"Upon selecting new frames for your eyewear, hoping of course to get those frames that look the very best on you, desiring frames with which you would be pleased day in and day out, you have found that selection was difficult because in trying them on, with your present glasses 'off', you just couldn't see to select intelligently?"

The Optical Store & Boutique, just south of 50th & Slide, has done something about this!

New video tape equipment has been installed to enable one to be photographed with the various frames, then the tape is played back through a color television set to enable one to see exactly how the frames look upon him or her!

Doesn't this make sense?

"We at The Optical Store & Boutique think so, and we believe we are the first optical company in Lubbock to offer this brand new innovation to optical dispensing.

"We believe it is general knowledge that quality lines in frames and glasses are just as near as The Optical Store & Boutique.

"Our Boutique is Unique" actually is the motto but nevertheless an understatement of the services and products of the Optical Store & Boutique, phone 792-0901.

Thoroughly in keeping with the firm's consideration of the customer's welfare, the folks there emphasize:

(1) Children should have an eye examination annually,

(2) Adults should take the same step every two years;

(3) Even if one does not wear glasses, eye examination on a systematic schedule is recommended;

(4) See your eye doctor and then when glasses are advised, bring his prescription to us at The Optical "Store & Boutique, and we'll prove our uniqueness and capabilities, with you benefitting.

(We want to see you keep your frames in good repair; and we'll help if you simply give us the chance!)

"And did you realize that The Optical Store & Boutique stocks the complete spectrum in frames, including a utility selection combining style with surprisingly low price?"

A departmentalized arrangement of rooms and areas provides four distinct categories in our service: (1) utility selection, (2) another where quality is the sole consideration, (3) designer frames, and finally (4) the Boutique.

So, whether the attractively priced lines in frames and glasses for the student, as example, or the very finest in choices from the Designer collection or the unusual and expensive lines within the Boutique are preferred, this Lubbock facility is outstanding, in a class by itself.

Upon entry into The Optical Store & Boutique, one is impressed with the pleasing but striking decor (such as the art deco in the Designer Room carried out in mirrors, pictures and fixtures), a customer consideration that exemplifies the firm's uniqueness.

One may first discover the Designer Collection where an area is devoted entirely to designer frames by Ralph Lauren, Givenchy, Diane Von Fustenberg, Oscar de la Renta and other top designers.

Then there is the Children's Corner in another segment of the complex.

And who could not help but be most intrigued by the Boutique where antique decor deominates and where the unusual and expensive lines are displayed. Some glasses are set with diamonds, some with 18k gold settings, some with real cultured pearls. Custom design with special precious stones, etc., is a specialty.

Lines are out-of-the-ordinary, with some exclusive in Lubbock to the Boutique, such as the Martin Creations from West Germany.

"See what we mean when we say that 'Our Boutique is Unique,' providing a product and service seldom experienced anywhere?"

EVERYTHING FOR BAND AND ORCHESTRA AT JENT'S, ON 34TH

Jent's House Of Music Affords Rent, Lease Plans Among Aids

Whether as a beginner, advanced band student or a professional, one finds Jent's House of Music a worthy source of supply and service.

Jent's, at 2646 34th St., can be of special benefit as the new school terms commence throughout the area.

In addition to Jent's regular rental plan, for example, musical instrument leasing for the entire school year has been arranged, economical and otherwise advantageous.

Under this lease program, Jent's provides a name-brand instrument in perfect playing condition. As a purchase option, one will receive a full 100 per cent of the lease fee paid towards the purchase of a brand new instrument of one's choice. This option is available at any time during the lease and 20 days after expiration.

Examples of the economy of lease until end of the term, May 31, include flutes and clarinets, $50; piccolos, $60; alto sax, $75; tenor sax, $90; and oboes, $100. Violins are $50, and violas are $65. And cornets, trumpets, trombones and drum kits are just $50!

A service policy is available at Jent's, with 20 per cent of lease fee covering all maintenance on instruments and cases.

Jent's, marking its eighteenth year in business on the same 34th Street block in Lubbock, makes everything as easy as possible in student band and orchestra needs.

Staffed To Serve

Ray Jent takes pride in the merchandise and staff. Two area band directors recently have joined the firm. Rusty Sherman, former band director at Floydada, is one of these band instrument consultants, and Ralph Smith comes from the band directorship at Dimmitt to be the other valued fieldman addition to the Jent's family.

John Skouloudis is another new firm member, specializing in percussion and band instrument sales. John is a five-year Lubbock resident, a professional drummer, and marks 12 years in the music business.

A complete repair department is one of Jent's best known services, with Lealon Staley, long-respected repairman, heading this service.

A complete stock of accessories for all instruments in provided.

For leadership, for the correct instrument at an affordable purchase or lease plan, for service that is unexcelled, one can do well to rely (as in the past) upon Jent's House of Music, 2646 34th St., phone 795-5579.

'High Volume, Low Profit' Contribute To Don Crow Used Car Sales Records

Customer-oriented in its every department, this business concept of Don Crow Chevrolet, Inc., is likely nowhere more evident than in its Used Car department.

In searching for a quality previously-owned car, one can easily discover that the Don Crow selection enables "one-stop shopping."

Whatever the make, whatever the model, most likely one can inspect and compare and select at the big Don Crow Chevrolet, Slide Road at South Loop 289.

Under direction of Rick Kitchens, used car manager, special attention has been directed to stocking of late-model '78 and '79 autos — purposely, not by accident! Even though older cars are stocked, too, the effort has been made to secure quality, late-model vehicles, wherever they have to be found, and placing them on the lot for Don Crow customers.

Graphically proving this statement, it is revealed that a $750,000 inventory now is involved in the Used Car department at Don Crow Chevrolet!

Programmed To Serve

Kitchens, coming here from a highly-successful tenure in Houston, has initiated a 3-point program to which each of his eight staffmembers is dedicated:

(1) High volume;
(2) Low profit; and
(3) Treating the customer in such manner that repeat business is invited, expected and earned!

The energetic staff members know their cars, whether selection is from the compacts, intermediates or big 'uns. From the youngest member to Howard Whitfield with his more than two decades of serving in Lubbock and area, professionalism and friendly interest is evident.

For specific prices and special opportunities, one is invited to check the Don Crow ads in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

"Small wonder that the Don Crow Used Car Department makes it a habit to set records (with last month no exception), what with the huge selection of better used cars and with a team that aggressively prospects but never oversells."

"Isn't it time you considered a purchase from the Used Car Department at Don Crow Chevrolet, 5211 Loop 289 Southwest?"

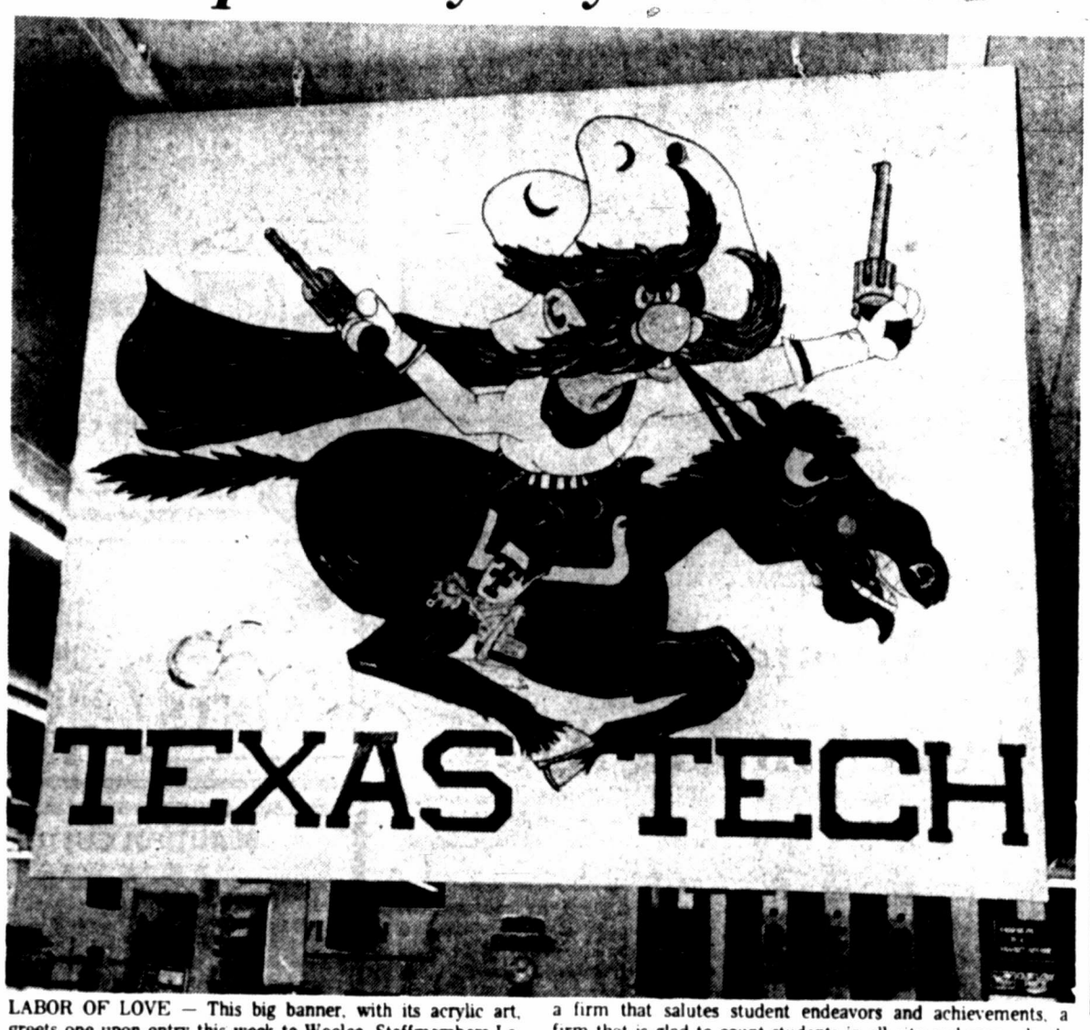
Banner, Storewide Values Graphically Say 'Welcome'



LABOR OF LOVE — This big banner, with its acrylic art, greets one upon entry this week to Woolco. Staffmembers La-Nelda Gordon and Laura Lindsey created the banner as a visible and sincere appreciation gesture from Woolco and its staff, a firm that salutes student endeavors and achievements, a firm that is glad to count students in all city and area schools as its special friends.

Early Bird Specials Continue

APPROPRIATE FOR SEASON — The Early Bird Special this week at Woolco is effective from 9:30 a.m. until 10 a.m. today and Tuesday, and features the pictured TV at just $69. It is a quality Capri 12-in. diagonal black/white model, 100 per cent solid state and complete with ear phones for private listening! The unit is shown here by Jim Robie, major appliance manager at the Lubbock Woolco center. Robie is a six-year veteran with the company, originally joining the organization in Kansas City, Mo., and coming to Lubbock from Texas City. Robie comes especially well recommended, and customers find that his knowledge of the products and his adherance to the Woolco policy of customer service prove again that 'Woolco Wants to be Your Favorite Store'.

NOTICE OF FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT EFFECT ON THE ENVIRONMENT
TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN
The City of Lubbock, P.O. Box 2000, Lubbock, Texas 79457, Tel. 762-6411 proposes to request the Department of Housing and Urban Development to release federal funds under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (PL 93-383) to be used for the following project:
Renovation of Mae Simmons Swimming Pool — $40,000.00
Construction of Yellowhouse Canyon Addition Access Road — $36,000.00
It has been determined that the request for release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and, accordingly, the City of Lubbock has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (PL 91-190).
The reasons for the decision not to prepare a Statement are as follows: (a) overall effects of the projects are beneficial. (b) beneficial effects are long term and the adverse effects are short term and environmentally ... nsignificant being related primarily to activities necessary to construct the projects, (c) since the projects will occur at the neighborhood level, the short term adverse effects will be confined to limited numbers of people. (d) historic and environmentally critical areas will not be affected. (e) no viable alternatives to the projects including the no action alternative exist.
An Environmental Review Record for the projects has been made by the City which documents the environmental review of the projects and more fully sets forth the reasons why the Statement is not required. This Record is on file at the Municipal Building, 916 Texas Avenue, and is available for public examination and copying upon request, Room 207, between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m.

Kurdish Guerrilla Fighting Increases

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — Kurdish guerrillas launched attacks on government positions or troops in five major towns Sunday, killing at least 25 people in an apparent attempt to slow an Iranian army attack on the rebel-held city of Mahabad.

Kurdish guerrilla commanders in Mahabad, 518 miles west of Tehran, split their men into small groups as a way of beating the superior firepower of the encircling government forces.

In the worst of several incidents, guerrillas attacked a minibus and killed 15 government volunteer troops, near the mixed Kurdish-Turkish town of Naqadeh. Three other people were wounded in firing from the hills along a mountain road, but seven passengers survived the attack, which took place as the vehicle headed toward Naqadeh.

Later, as relatives of the dead were transferring the bodies to the cemetery, a bomb exploded inside the crowd injuring six people.

The Kurds also ambushed and killed six national policemen and wounded two others in an outpost between the towns of Jaldian and Miandoab, the scene of bitter fighting last week.

Two members of a medical team were attacked and killed in Saqqez, which had been recaptured by the army eight days ago, after Saturday's unsuccessful raid into the Islamic Revolutionary Court based at the Saqqez army garrison.

The Kurds admitted the battle for Mahabad was getting closer. A combined force of the military armored units and the Pasdars, Ayatollah Khomeini's staunchly Moslem guards, occupied Bukan, 26 miles south of Tehran.

Another mixed column led by army tanks swept through Miandoab, 31 miles northeast of Mahabad, and blitzed a Kurdish position at Mahabad. Fighting was continuing Sunday night, reporters in the area said.

West of Mahabad, sporadic but intense fighting continued Sunday after army troops entered Piranshahr to break the Kurdish hold on an area key to their route of supplies from Kurds in Iraq.

The rebels besieged about 200 soldiers between Baneh and Marivan and seized an unspecified number of troops, their heavy 166-mm guns and commandeered several vehicles.

In Mahabad, posters went up on the walls urging residents to prepare for battle "or face Khalkhali."

Hojjatoleslam Sheikh Sadeq Khalkhali is the chief Islamic judge currently touring Kurdistan on orders of Khomeini. His trials in other cities so far have resulted in nearly 80 executions of Kurds charged with insurrection.

Bus services between Mahabad and other cities were suspended Sunday afternoon. Drivers said the army had totally blocked all roads. Incoming traffic was also stopped, they said.

State radio reported attackers belonging to the outlawed Kurdish Democratic Party attacked villages around Naqadeh and beheaded two men. A woman was carried away by them as a hostage, the radio said without giving details.

Moderate Shiite Moslem leader Ayatollah Kazem Shariatmadari Sunday strongly criticized the military campaign and called for a ceasefire and immediate talks between the government and Kurdish leaders.

But Interior Minister Hashem Sabbaghian said the army would enter Mahabad as announced and ruled out further talks after the collapse of last week's Tehran agreement with the Mahabad Kurds.

Mahabad, swollen by tens of thousands of Kurdish refugees from surrounding villages, is the largest single town still in Kurdish hands. Last month the Kurds lost Paveh and Saqqez, south of Mahabad.

In the fighting so far in the Kurdish region more than 600 men have died on both sides, newspaper estimates say, with civilian casualties not known.

OPEC Member Seeks Natural Gas Price Hike

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — A Leading member of the Organization of Petroleum Expoting Countries said Sunday the price of natural gas should be raised to make its economically attractive for OPEC nations to export gas from their vast methane reserves.

Nordine Ait Laoussine, executive vice-president of Algeria's state oil company Sonatrach, said OPEC gas reserves — Estimated at 5 trillion cubic meters, or the equivalent of 140 billion barrels of oil — Represent the "biggest readily available source of new energy potential for the future."

"I strongly believe it is essential and inevitable that gas prices should rise to a point where the mobilization of the immense gas resources in the OPEC area — particularly in the (Persian) Gulf — becomes a feasible proposition," he told the authoritative oil publication Middle East Economic Survey.

He said prices for Algerian liquefied natural gas exports, which have risen 56 percent in a year to $2.50 per million btu, are still not high enough to make exports of liquefied natural gas from the Persian Gulf economically attractive.

"There is a big prospective unsatisfied demand for gas in Europe and the United States, and unless something is done on the supply side the resulting gas shortfall could lead to a dramatic situation," Ait Laoussine said.

"Sooner or later these resources are going to have to be mobilized," he said. "Also we have not yet really begun exploring for gas alone, apart from oil. When we do, I am sure a lot more gas will be found."

Ait Laoussine said the gas price hike of about 90 cents per million btu "would work out in terms of crude oil equivalent at something like $14 per barrel, so the price of gas is still substantially below that of the crude."

Ait Laoussine also said he did not think there would be an OPEC meeting this month and predicted oil prices "probably will remain stable until the end of this year.

Solution To Gas Problem Taxing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. John Anderson, R-Ill., a candidate for president, said Sunday he has a solution to both the gasoline problem and the Social Security dilemma, but few people are listening.

He has proposed a 50-cent tax on gasoline, with revenues from it being used to cut Social Security taxes.

Anderson outlined the proposal last week, but said he has not put together legislation on it because he sees no groundswell support for the idea so far.

He said he asked factory workers recently if they favored a cut in Social Security taxes.

"Oh, boy. Hooray. I would have had the election won right there," said Anderson, who is seeking the 1980 Republican presidential nomination. But then he explained the money would come from a 50-cent gasoline tax.

The cheers faded.

"I know, it is a politically unorthodox thing to do," he said. "Any new and revolutionary idea takes a lot of selling."

Afghan Insurgents Increase Control

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (UPI) — Afghan Moslem insurgents attempting to overthrow the pro-Soviet regime in Afghanistan have extended their control of provincial areas and cut an important highway north of the capital of Kabul, Radio Pakistan reported Sunday.

The report also said the rebels had captured large quantities of Soviet-made weapons in successful strikes against government troops in several parts of the mountainous nation.

The official Pakistani radio detailed a number of victories by the Moslem insurgents, who claim to be conducting a "holy war" against the pro-Communist policies of President Noor Mohammad Taraki.

Taraki was reported to have left Kabul enroute to the non-aligned summit meeting in Havana, Cuba.

The report said a rebel victory in the Panjser Valley, about 75 miles north of Kabul, cut the strategic Kabul-Mazar-sharif Highway leading almost to the Soviet border.

The loss of the highway would be a serious blow to Taraki's embattled government, which depends on the road link to re-supply its forces in northern Afghanistan.

Months of fighting have placed control of much of the countryside in the hands of the rebels, with government forces holding out mainly in provincial capitals and garrison towns.

Fighting has been reported in all of Afghanistan's 28 provinces and the government's efforts to maintain control have generally been successful only in the major population centers.

Thousands of Afghan soldiers have defected to the rebels rather than fight against fellow Moslems, bringing with them ammunition and arms, including tanks and helicopters.

The Kabul government has countered with massive air strikes by Soviet-built fighter airplanes, many of them reportedly piloted by Russians.

The Pakistani radio report said the insurgents now control the entire Plains of Maidan in Pakytia Province, bordering Pakistan, and have tightened their seige of an Afghan garrison in the same province.

The current conflict in Afghanistan has been called the Soviet Union's "Vietnam" by Western observers.

The Moscow government is deeply committed to Taraki's regime, which so far has been unable to reverse the tide of the struggle for control of the landlocked nation despite the presence of an estimated 5,000 Soviet advisers and massive military aid.

However, the Moslem rebel forces are not united and there reportedly is considerable political infighting among the leaders of the various tribal groups who have joined in a tenuous alliance against the Kabul government.

Polish Dissident Groups Avoid New Political Party

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Poland's two major human rights dissident groups disassociated themselves Sunday from an unprecedented and illegal political party set up by other dissidents in defiance of Polish Communists, the nation's sole legal party.

Dissident members said the party, called the Confederation of Independent Poland, was established to safeguard the "freedom and independence" of Poland.

But Marian Golebiewski, spokesman of the Committee for the Defense of Human and Civic Rights — five members of which were arrested before the dissident "party" was announced Saturday — said, "It is not a serious thing."

The Committee of Social Self Defense, another dissident group, said it had "nothing to do" with the new party.

Dissident Jozef Janowski, speaking at the rally where the new party was announced but before its declaration was read, attacked the Soviet Union and Germany as the "two totalitarian" states that crushed Poland in 1939.

He was arrested, dissident sources said. Public criticism of the Soviet Union is unheard of in Poland.

The establishment of the Conderation of Independent Poland was announced at Poland's most revered secular shrine, the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Warsaw's Victory Square.

It came after part of the congregation at a Warsaw cathedral mass, marking the 40th anniversary of the beginning of World War II, filed to the tomb, laid a wreath and listened to speeches by several dissidents.

Then the party's formation was announced and its statutes read out to the crowd. It was promised that further details of the party would be spelled out in a leaflet to be distributed soon. Its initial declaration said the new party had opened offices in Warsaw, Lublin, Cracow and Wroclaw.

Communist Party Chief Edward Gierek marked the anniversary a few hours earlier by appealing to the U.S. Senate to ratify the SALT II treaty with the Soviet Union.

"It is in the interest of the signers of the treaty and in the interests of the whole of mankind," Gierek told a rally of some 200,000 people at Gdansk, where German dictator Adolf Hitler launched his drive into Poland on Sept. 1, 1939.

Poland's only legal political party is the United (Communist) Party, with a membership of about 3 million of Poland's 39 million people.

The new party's declaration said membership in it would be secret and it said without elaboration that the new group would not have to be registered as a political party.

League Rates Congressmen On Voting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Members of Congress from the northeast had a much better voting record on environmental issues last year than those in the southwest, the League of Conservation Voters concluded Sunday.

The organization compiled charts showing how each House member voted on 30 energy and environmental issues ranging from parks, dams and pollution to nuclear power.

The average member of Congress got a 49 percent "correct" score from the league, but regional differences were considerable — an average 69 percent for New England compared to 18 percent for members from the southwest.

House Democrats averaged 58 percent, Republicans 32 percent. In state delegations, Vermont was highest with an average 84 percent, followed by Massachusetts with 82 percent. Alaska and New Mexico tied for the lowest score, 8 percent.

This year, for the first time, the league plans to distribute the charts door-to-door, beginning in Philadelphia.

"Public opinion polls consistently show much stronger public support for the environment than you would expect from a 49 percent average," said league Director Marion Edey.

No House member received a perfect score of 100 in the league's survey for 1978. Rep. Jim Weaver, D-Ore., had the highest score with 99 percent, followed by Rep. William Brodhead, D-Mich., with 98 and four members with 97 — Bob Carr, D-Mich., Joseph Early, D-Mass., Andrew Maguire, D-N.J., and Gerry Studds, D-Mass.

Five members scored 0 — Reps. Robert Badham, R-Calif., Bob Stump, D-Ariz., and former Democratic Reps. John Flynt Jr. of Georgia, Dale Milford of Texas and Joe Waggonner of Louisiana.

If President Carter were a House member, his score would have been 86 percent, based on his administration's official positions on the 30 votes, the league said.

However, Miss Edey said the score probably overstates Carter's commitment to the environment, because the administration sometimes did not lobby effectively to back up its views and the president has since taken some less favorable stands on energy issues.

Environmentalists won 17 of the 30 votes on the 1978 chart, a gain over 1977 when they lost more than half the major votes.

So far this year, the league said, conservationists have won a majority of the key votes in the Senate, but not the House.

Armstrong Deputy Killed At Roadblock

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — An Armstrong County deputy sheriff was killed late Saturday when he was struck by a Department of Public Safety unit pursuing another vehicle, DPS spokesman Jim Robinson said.

Two 16-year-old youths were being held in Amarillo pending the filing of formal charges in connection with a high-speed chase that resulted in the accident, Robinson said.

Authorities identified the victim as Larry Wayne King, 28, of Claude.

Robinson said the accident occurred as officers were attempting to stop a Cadillac bearing Ohio plates that was believed stolen. King's unit was blocking an access road to Interstate 40 near Groom at the time of the accident.

The Cadillac swerved to avoid the roadblock, but the DPS unit struck King as he stood near the roadway. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

After manuvering around two other roadblocks, the Cadillac was finally run off an access road near the Amarillo city limits. Robinson said the capture followed a high-speed chase on Interstate 40 at speeds up to 130 mph.

STRETCHING FOR PAYDIRT — Dallas Cowboy running back Robert Newhouse (44) dives for a touchdown in the second quarter of Sunday's game with the St. Louis Cardinals. The Cardinals' John Barefield (58) could not get a grip on the diving fullback. The Cowboys won 22-21. (AP Laserphoto)

Clutch Kick Lets Dallas Win Opener

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "I said to myself, 'They're going to hate me,'" recalled tiny Rafael Septien of his thoughts before trotting on the field to attempt a third field goal Sunday for the Dallas Cowboys.

Moments later, the Mexican-born Septien's 27-yard kick sailed through the uprights to hand the Cowboys a 22-21 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in an action filled National Football League opener.

"The hold was good," Septien said of the placement of the ball on Busch Stadium's artificial turf by Glenn Carano, a third-string quarterback drafted to receive the center snap less than a week earlier.

"The only thing I was worried about was my timing. It was off," Septien said. "We came on the field late. I saw the snap and just kicked it. If you start thinking negatively, you're going to miss."

Septien's field goal represented the second time in 10½ months the third-team field goal specialist had beat St. Louis with his foot.

Last October, Septien booted a 47-yarder which clipped the Cardinals 24-21 in overtime.

"Preston Pearson was kidding me about it as we were coming off the field," said Septien. "It's not just St. Louis I pick on. It's just my job — kicking to win games."

Preceeding Septien's winning field goal with 1:16 left, the Cards had battled back from deficits of 10-0, 19-14 to grab a 21-19 lead with 3:44 remaining.

Free agent Wade Manning, previously best known as an All-Big Ten baseball player, started the Dallas comeback by returning the ensuing kickoff 47 yards to the St. Louis 48 yardline.

Robert Newhouse clicked off gains of nine and five yards and Roger Staubach passed even yards to Tony Hill to set up Septien's deciding kick.

In extending their NFL record to 15 straight season-opening victories, the Cowboys overcame a 76-yard touchdown gallop late in the final quarter by St. Louis' Ottis Anderson, who gained 193 yards on 21 carries.

Anderson's sprint, the sixth-longest from scrimmage in Cardinal history, gave the Cards their final edge.

Earlier, St. Louis' Jim Hart whipped two scoring passes that were off set partially by Dallas rookie Ron Springs' 30-yard halfback option pass to Hill.

Staubach notched 20 completions in 34 tries for 269 Cowboys yards. Newhouse, who scored on a 4-yard run in the first half, bolted 108 yards on 18 carries.

A fumble deep in Cowboy territory by Doug Cosbie was recovered by the Cards' Roger Wehrli to set up the second St. Louis touchdown.

Hart whipped a 14-yard aerial to Mel Gray and an 18-yard touchdown peg to Pat Tilley with Mike Wood's extra point, sending St. Louis ahead for the first time at 14-13.

A 79-yard Dallas drive followed. Staubach connected on passes of 12 and 21 yards preceding the Springs-Hill payoff. Springs was filling in as a substitute for injured Tony Dorsett.

Oilers Rally To Defeat 'Skins

WASHINGTON (AP) — Running back Earl Campbell, the league's leading rusher as a rookie last season, plunged over from the 3-yard line with less than two minutes left for his second touchdown of the game Sunday as the Houston Oilers beat the Washington Redskins 29-27 in a National Football League opener.

Campbell's wining touchdown came eight plays after Houston safety Bill Currier recovered a John Riggins' fumble on the Redskins' 29, aiding the Oilers in overcoming a 27-13 deficit in the fourth quarter.

With 10:56 remaining in the fourth period, Houston's Dan Pastorini tossed a 14-yard touchdown pass to Billy "White Shoes" Johnson who was unguarded in the end zone.

However, Toni Fritsch's extra point attempt bounced off the right upright and was no good. Later in the period, Fritsch put the Oilers in striking distance with a 26-yard field goal.

Campbell, who gained 166 yards in 32 carries, scored earlier in the game on a 13-yard touchdown run in which he bulled his way into the end zone.

Fritsch put the Oilers into an early 6-0 lead with field goals of 41 and 46 yards but the Oilers suffered from three interceptions thrown by Pastorini in the early periods.

Washington quarterback Joe Theismann took advantage of the Pastorini miscues to direct the Redskin offense into the lead, connecting on touchdown passes of 30 and 8 yards to tight end Jean Fugett.

The Redskins also got a 1-yard touchdown from running back Benny Malone and field goals of 27 and 39 yards by Mark Mosley.

In the final second of the game, the Redskins' Mosley attempted a 70-yard field goal but the ball had no height and bounced to the ground far short.

The Oilers got the first break of the game in the first quarter when Washington's Buddy Hardeman, replacing return specialist Tony Green who was cut last week even though he made the Pro Bowl as a rookie last year, fumbled a punt which was recovered by Houston's Carter Hartwig. The Oilers could gain only Fritsch's 41-yard field goal for a 3-0 lead.

Houston again stopped the Redskins on four downs but offensively had to settle for Fritsch's field goal of 46 yards.

In the second quarter, Hardeman returned a punt 52 yards to set up Mosley's 27-yard field goal to put the Redskins back in the ball game.

On the ensuing series, Ray Waddy, one of the Redskins' eight rookies intercepted a Pastorini pass to set up the Theisman to Fugett eight-yard touchdown, threading the needle over the middle of the end zone.

On the next series, Pastorini's pass was tipped by tight end Mike Barber and intercepted by Lamar Parrish to give the Redskins the ball on the Oilers 36. Malone got his one-yard touchdown on that drive.

Connors, McEnroe Advance In Open

NEW YORK (AP) — Defending champion Jimmy Connors celebrated his 27th birthday Sunday by advancing to the fourth round of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships with a 6-3, 6-0, 6-3 victory over unseeded Bruce Manson.

Other winners Sunday included third-seeded John McEnroe, whose opponent, John Lloyd of Britain, defaulted because of a stomach ailment, and No. 5 seed Roscoe Tanner, who beat Nick Saviano 6-4, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Chris Evert Lloyd, John's wife, who is seeking her fifth straight Open title, was scheduled to meet Renee Richards in a night match. In other night action, seventh-seeded Harold Solomon was to face Ray Moore of South Africa and No. 14 Tim Gullikson was to meet Buster Mottram of England.

Manson was no match for the second-seeded Connors, who has won all three of his matches here in straight sets. Whenever the 23-year-old Californian tried to approach the net to attack, Connors beat him with strong passing shots.

Connors took the lead in the first set with a service break in the third game and led 4-3 before breaking the match open by winning nine consecutive games. Manson then won three in a row to lead the third set 3-1, but Connors held service at love to start a string of five straight games that closed out the match.

The default by Lloyd postponed the return of the 20-year-old McEnroe to the stadium court, scene of his tumultuous encounter with Ilie Nastase Thursday night. McEnroe won that match 6-4, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2, but the tennis was overshadowed by unruly crowd behavior that finally led to the replacement of umpire Frank Hammond so that the match could continue.

Lloyd had advanced to the third round with a 5-7, 6-7, 7-5, 7-6, 7-6 victory over Paul McNamee Friday. That match, which lasted nearly four hours, was the longest ever played — 63 out of a maximum 65 games — since the Open adopted the tiebreaker system.

In women's action, third-seeded Tracy Austin whipped Kate Latham 6-3, 6-0; No. 6 Dianne Fromholtz of Australia dropped a first-set tiebreaker 7-4 but came back to beat Leslie Allen 6-7, 6-3, 6-2; No. 8 Kerry Reid of Australia outlasted Mary Lou Piatek 4-6, 6-3, 6-4; No. 10 Greer Stevens of South Africa beat Terry Holladay 6-4, 6-0; and No. 11 Kathy Jordan defeated Wendy White 6-2, 6-1.

Five seeded women have been eliminated: No. 7 Wendy Turnbull of Australia, No. 13 Sue Barker of Britain, No. 14 Pam Shriver, No. 15 Ann Kiyomura and No. 16 Betty Stove of the Netherlands.

Lubbock Trainer Expects Pie In Sky To Win Race

RUIDOSO DOWNS (AP) — Trainer Leo Wood admits he was surprised at how well Pie In The Sky ran in the All-American Futurity trials last month. But now he says he'll be even more surprised if his big colt doesn't blast down the 440-yard straightaway in today's 21st runninng of the All-American.

"I didn't look for him to run that big. It did surprise me," said Wood of Pie In the Sky's 21.66-second clocking that was not only the best time in this year's trials, but also stands as the second best qualifying effort in the history of the All-American.

"I expect him to run back for us very good. He's just like a bottle of wine — he improves with age. He gets better every time out I think he as another big race in him," said the veteran trainer from Lubbock.

"I'm well satisfied with our draw. I couldn't be happier," he added in referring to the No. 10 hole that Pie In The Sky received. "I didn't expect it would be that good. We had the outside in the trials so I think he'll be running right where he likes to be."

Wood also said his colt likes the sandy surface of the track at Ruidoso Downs where the final leg of quarter horse racing's Triple Crown is annually run on Labor Day.

And he said the switch from night-time racing in California, where Pie In The Sky had been campaigning, to afternoon racing here seems to have improved the colt's running.

"I think we've got a good chance," he said. "The colt's healthy, he's ready."

Wood, like most everyone else, is pointing at Streakin Six and Sages Belle

Oakland Rebounds To Scuttle Rams

By The Associated Press

Recalcitrant quarterback Ken Stabler threw three touchdown passes to complete a trio of short scoring drives, boosting the underdog Oakland Raiders to a 24-17 victory over the Los Angeles Rams.

Two of the scoring passes went to Raymond Chester, covering 27 and four yards, respectively, and the third was a one-yarder to Derrick Ramsey as the Raiders overcame a 14-0 Los Angeles lead by taking advantage of multiple misplays.

The Raiders intercepted quarterback Pat Haden three times, recovered one fumble and blocked two punts against the favored Rams.

Trailing 14-3, Oakland scored on the Stabler's pass to Ramsey in the second quarter on the first play after Reggie Kinlaw blocked Ken Clark's punt from the end zone out of bounds at the one-yard line.

Eagles 23, Giants 17

Quarterback Ron Jaworski threw two touchdown passes to Harold Carmichael and rookie barefoot kicker Tony Franklin booted his first professional field goal in a 23-point second period as the Philadelphia Eagles beat the New York Giants 23-17.

The Giants, who managed only a net 12 yards in the first half, rallied in the final two periods to reduce their deficit to 23-17 with 7:11 remaining in the game.

New York had a golden chance to win when with 6:50 to go defensive end George Martin recovered a Philadelphia fumble at the Eagles' 31. But the Giants could gain only five yards and turned the ball over.

Chiefs 14, Colts 0

Ted McKnight scored two touchdowns, including a 70-yard burst in the final quarter, and Kansas City's fuzzy-cheeked defense stymied Baltimore quarterback Bert Jones to give the Chiefs a 14-0 victory.

The Chiefs were nursing a 7-0 lead with about eight minutes left in the game when McKnight, a fullback, broke over left tackle at the 30 and raced unmolested for his second touchdown.

McKnight scored his first touchdown in the second quarter on a 1-yard plunge set up by Gary Green's interception of a Bert Jones pass and a 57-yard return.

Bears 6, Packers 3

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Thomas booted a pair of field goals and Walter Payton rushed for 125 yards on 36 carries in 80-degree heat to lead the Chicago Bears to a 6-3 victory over the Green Bay Packers.

Thomas, who had a field goal attempt blocked by Mike Hunt in the first quarter, converted from 25 and 19 yards in the second quarter and the Bears banked on an aggressive defense which was credited with five sacks for the triumph.

Chester Marcol, who had a field goal attempt blocked by Virgil Livers, later connected on a 28-yarder for Green Bay's only score.

Cleveland's Don Cockcroft, whose 35-yard field goal with four seconds left in regulation time tied the game, kicked a 27-yarder with 14:45 elapsed in the extra period, giving the Browns a 25-22 victory over the New York Jets.

Until the final minute of overtime, the Jets had the only serious scoring chance of the extra period. But as the seconds ticked away, cornerback Oliver Davis intercepted a Matt Robinson pass and returned it 33 yards to the Jets' 31-yard line. On first down, Brian Sipe hooked up with wide receiver Dave Logan on a 21-yard pass to the New York 11.

Falcons Surprise Saints

By The Associated Press

Reserve running back James Mayberry picked up a desperation pass after a snap on a punt sailed over the head of Russell Erxleben and ran it in for a touchdown nine minutes into sudden death overtime to give the Atlanta Falcons a 40-34 victory over the New Orleans Saints.

With the Saints lined up to punt from their own 32-yard line, the ball sailed high over Erxleben's head and bounced at the five-yard line.

Erxleben scooped it up and tried to shovel a pass back over his head, but Mayberry grabbed the ball out of the air and raced in for the winning score.

It was Erxleben who tied the game at 34-all with 44 seconds left to go in regulation time.

Chargers 33, Seahawks 16

Clarence Williams ran for two touchdowns and Rolf Benirschke kicked four field goals to lead the San Diego Chargers to a 33-16 victory over the Seattle Seahawks.

Seattle quarterback Jim Zorn had perhaps his worst day as a professional, personally accounting for five of the Seahawks' six turnovers. He had three passes intercepted and two fumbles recovered by the Chargers.

Dan Fouts, the Charger quarterback ranked third in NFL passing last year, hit 21 of 30 passes for 224 yards, and was intercepted once.

Williams, a third-year running back from South Carolina, scored on the last play of the third quarter to put the Chargers ahead 23-10, and safety Pete Shaw intercepted a Zorn pass with 4:22 gone in the final quarter on a fourth and two play on the San Diego 9.

Bernirschke booted field goals of 31, 42, 22 and 23 yards as San Diego posted its eighth victory in its last nine regular-season games over two years under Coach Don Coryell.

Broncos 10, Bengals 0

Norris Weese fired a 6-yard scoring pass to running back Dave Preston and the Denver defense consistently made the big play powering the Broncos to a 10-0 victory over the Cincinnati Bengals.

Weese, designated Denver's starting quarterback after a pre-season battle with veteran Craig Morton, rifled a 47-yard pass to wide receiver Rick Upchurch to help set up the game's only TD.

Scrambling out of the pocket to escape a pass rush, Weese's TD pass capped an 88-yard, 9-play drive for the Broncos, who mounted an effective ball-control offense all afternoon.

Burly Larry Csonka bulled for 87 yards, including 45 in seven carries on a crucial fourth quarter drive, to pace the Miami Dolphins to a 9-7 victory over defense-minded Buffalo in the National Football League opener for both teams.

The Bills missed a chance to defeat the Dolphins for the first time in a decade when Tom Dempsey's 34-yard field goal attempt flew wide to the left of the uprights with no time remaining. The game extended Miami's NFL record to 19 straight victories over Buffalo.

Vikings 28, 49ers 22

Sammy White recovered a fumble in the end zone with 17 seconds remaining to lift the Minnesota Vikings to a 28-22 National Football League victory over San Francisco in the season opener for both clubs.

San Francisco had taken a 22-21 lead on a 4-yard run by Lenvil Elliott with 3:47 left to play, but Jimmy Edwards returned the ensuing kickoff 43 yards to give the Vikings field position for their final drive.

Kramer, who threw three second-half touchdown passes to Ahmad Rashad covering 52, 32 and 8 yards, hit Rashad at the 15-yard line. Rashad was almost in the end zone when he fumbled the ball at the 2-yard mark, following a hit by Tim Gray. But White, who was trailing Rashad, fell on the ball for the winning touchdown.

Trevino Wins Canadian PGA

WOODBRIDGE, Ontario (AP) — Lee Trevino, the cool veteran who has won the Canadian Open three times, added the Canadian PGA title to his list of accomplishments Sunday with a steady final-round score of 1-under-par 70.

The victory in the 72-hole tournament was worth $20,000 to the 39-year-old Trevino. He opened the tournament on the 6,975-yard National Golf Club course with a 67, slipped to a 76, then had a 72 in Saturday's third round.

Unser's Quick Pit Stops Help Win California 500

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — Bobby Unser won a duel of pit stops with his Penske teammates Rick Mears and Mario Andretti to capture the $294,000 California 500 auto race for Indianapolis cars at the Ontario Motor Speedway Sunday.

Unser became the first three-time winner of the California 500, winning previously in 1974 and 1976. And it was the first time in any 500-mile Indy-type car race that teammates had finished 1-2-3.

The three ground effect cars entered by Roger Penske were a bit slower than Jim Hall's new ground effect Chaparral driven by defending champion Al Unser in the early stages of the race.

But Al Unser lost two laps because of a broken front spoiler bracket, which had to be replaced during a series of five pit stops in the middle of the 500-mile ordeal.

Johnny Rutherford finished fourth and Al Unser fifth.

Bobby Unser finished the race in three hours, 24 minutes, 22 seconds for an average speed of 146.795 miles-per-hour. The speeds were held down by a high number of yellow flags because of minor mishaps and oil on the track.

Mears appeared to be the fastest of the three Penske teammates, twice passing Bobby Unser and going past Andretti three times at late stages of the race. But Indianapolis 500-champion Mears appeared to lose it on the 164th of the 200 laps when he pitted 31.5 seconds for tires and fuel.

Ready to start again after about 15 seconds, he killed the engine and fell 12 seconds behind Bobby Unser after the next-to-last pit stops for the three leaders.

Two laps earlier, Bobby Unser needed only 17 seconds for his right side tires and fuel and Andretti required 21.5 seconds.

On the final pit stop of the race on lap 183, Unser stopped 16 seconds for fuel only. Mears came in a lap later and took fuel in 13.7 seconds but the damage had been done in his previous pit misadventure. Andretti, the only other driver on the same lap as the two leaders, needed 24.5 seconds for both tires and fuel.

At the finish, Bobby Unser was 9.94 seconds ahead of Mears and 28.2 seconds ahead of Andretti, who was competing in his only Indianapolis car race of the year after campaigning on the Formula One circuit around the world. Andretti coasted across the finish line out of gas.

Rutherford, driving an older McLaren-Cosworth without the ground effect principle, stayed on the same lap as the leaders in fourth place until he finally dropped a full lap back with 55 miles to go.

The Penske and Chaparral cars use a new design that channels air beneath the chassis to create suction and help cornering.

Although Mears had the pole position with a 203.046 mph Ontario one-lap record, Al Unser burst into a five-car lead going past the starting flag and took the lead from his opening position in the middle of the first row.

The Chaparral moved out to a 30-car length advantage in the second lap before the first of the yellow caution flags put all the racers into single file behind the pace car. Fifty-seven of the 200 laps were run under the caution flag and each occasion caused the field to bunch up and wipe out the big leads created by the ground efect cars

Bobby Unser held second in the early stages with Mears third, Andretti fourth and Tom Sneva fifth.

The first of the top qualifiers to drop out was Johnny Parsons, who left the rival United States Auto Club circuit to join the Championship Auto Racing Teams (CART) Inc. for this third and final 500-mile race of the season.

Parsons, qualifying sixth at 197.828 mph, had to park his McClaren-Cosworth in the fourth lap when a valve in his engine dropped.

Following the yellow flag for oil left on the track by Parsons, racing resumed in the seventh lap and ninth qualifier Tom Bagley immediately hit the wall on turn one. In the most serious accident, Bagley had to be lifted out of his older Penske-Cosworth. He suffered bruises and a fractured rib and was released from a nearby hospital two hours later.

The caution flags caused a slow over all speed, a 100.67 mph for 10 laps and 107.396 for 20 laps.

Al Unser was gaining about one second per lap each time the green flag came out, but by lap 48 Mears was ready to challenge and nearly took the lead just before another caution flag. At that point, Mears had another unfortunate pit stop, going too fast as he came in and being forced to go around the 2½-mile oval before he could stop.

Through 60 laps, the first five qualifiers held the first five places. The top four were the ground effect cars driven by Al and Bobby Unser, Mears and Andretti, with 1978 USAC driving champion Sneva fifth in a McLaren-Cosworth. Gordon Johncock, who qualified 12th-fastest, held sixth place in a Penske-Cosworth.

Bobby Unser led for 95 of the 200 laps, his brother was first for 63 laps before his front spoiler problem, Mears led for 40 laps and Rutherford was in front for two laps as the leaders pitted during caution flags.

Twitty Keeps Cool, Wins B.C. Open

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) -Howard Twitty sank a four-foot putt for a par on the final hole after watching Doug Tewell and Tom Purtzer fail on the same 18th green to win the $275,000 B.C. Open golf tournament Sunday.

Just moments before Twitty's putt, Purtzer bogied the 18th to fall 1 stroke behind. Then Tewell had a double bogey to fall 2 strokes behind, leaving it up to Twitty to par the hole and take home the winner's purse of $49,500.

It was Twitty's first victory in four years on the PGA tour. Twitty, of Phoenix, Ariz., had entered Sunday's final round trailing Tewell and Brad Bryant of Amarillo by 1 stroke.

Twitty shot a 4-under par 67 over the 6,915-yard EnJoie Golf club course Sunday to finish with a 72-hole total 270, 14 strokes under par for the tournament.

Twitty never led alone until he sank that final putt. He moved into a share of the lead with a birdie on the 15th hole

Purtzer, of Phoenix, Ariz., shot a final round 5-under par 66, finishing the tournament 13 strokes under par. Tewell, of Edmund, Okla., shot a 1-under par 70 to finish in third place, 2 strokes behind Twitty with a 272 total.

Purtzer made a strong attempt to break away from the field, scoring an eagle with six holes left to take a 2-stroke lead, but birdies by Tewell and Twitty on the 15th hole put them back into the lead when Purtzer bogied.

The competition for the winner's purse was intense throughout the final 18 holes. Twenty golfers entered the final round within 5 strokes of the lead and 10 golfers were within 2 strokes of the lead with six holes remaining.

Defending champion Tom Kite shot a final-round 4-under par 67 to finish with a 10-under par 274 for the tournament, tying him with Rod Curl. Bryant finished 4 strokes behind Twitty.

Competition High In All-American

Star as his horse's chief competition in the $1.28 million scramble for 2-year-olds that is billed as "The World's Richest Horse Race."

Streakin Six is expected to get the nod over Pie In The Sky and go off as the betting favorite in the nationally televised race. Streakin Six is viewed as the horse to beat because of his victory last month in the Rainbow Futurity, second jewel in the Triple Crown.

Pie In The Sky and Streakin Six are similar in that both are big, strong colts that use late charges to put away their competition.

But the two colts will have to contend with the quick-starting Sages Belle Star, a filly that has never finished worse than second. If she gets an exceptionally strong break from the gate, she could be hard for anyone to catch, including Pie In The Sky and Streakin Six.

Streakin Six owns the best money line in the race with $182,551 earned in six outings where the colt has finished first four times and second twice.

Veteran jockey Jerry Nicodemus, the only two-time winner in All-American history, will ride Streakin Six owned by Anne B. Tandy of Ft. Worth, Texas.

Pie In The Sky will have California jockey Danny Ccardoza in the irons. The colt, owned by Dan and Jolene Urschel of Canadian, Texas has a 3-0-4 record in seven starts for $83,918.

Sages Belle Star, owned by J.H Crouch Jr. of Midland, Texas, boasts a 5-3-0 mark in eight outings, and the second best earnings in the 10-horse field at $133,190. Jockey Gary Sumpter, who rode the winner in the 1976 All-American, will be aboard.

Among the other seven horses that qualified in two days of trials last month that featured more than 300 head, one probably will not leave its stall.

Mike Howell, trainer and part owner of Ask The Boss, said his colt would probably be scratched. He aid the hrse has come down with a virus and he did not want to take a chance of hurting him by running in the race.

National League Roundup

Astros Bow To Mets, Maintain Lead Over Reds

By The Associated Press

John Stearns drove in two runs, including a game-winning double in the seventh inning, to rally the New York Mets to a 5-4 victory over the Houston Astros.

Houston retained its one-half game lead in the National League West when second place Cincinnati lost to Montreal 13-1.

Mets pinch-hitter Elliot Maddox singled to open the seventh off reliever

Randy Niemann, was sacrificed to second and scored on Stearns' double to the left-field wall. Stearns went to third when center fielder Jeff Leonard dropped Lee Mazzilli's fly for an error, and scored on a grounder by Richie Hebner.

The Mets took a 3-1 lead in the third inning off Houston starter Joaquin Andujar, who yielded consecutive run-scoring singles to Frank Taveras, Stearns and Mazzilli.

Rafael Landestoy tripled to left-center field and scored Houston's first run on a sacrifice fly by Jose Cruz in the first inning. The Astros scored two more runs in the fifth on a single by pinch-hitter Jesus Alou and a throwing error by Taveras.

Denny Walling led off the inning with a double and scored on Alou's hit. Alou then scored when Taveras' threw wide to first base for an error.

Starter Kevin Kobel, 6-8, got the victory and Niemann, 3-2, took the loss.

Expos 13, Reds 1

The Montreal Expos collected nine hits and six runs in the first inning and went on to a 13-1 rout of the Cincinnati Reds behind the four-hit pitching of Steve Rogers for a three-game series sweep.

Rogers, 12-8, retired the first 11 men he faced and did not allow a hit until Vic Correll led off the sixth with a double. Correll scored on a one-out double by Dave Collins.

The Expos rocked Reds starter Mike LaCoss, 14-6, in the first inning, sending seven men to the plate against him and collecting seven singles, tying a team record for consecutive hits. The nine hits in the inning also tied a club record.

Montreal scored six earned runs off the right-hander, who had led the league in ERA.

Pirates 5, Giants 3

Steve Nicosia belted a two-run double in the second inning, sparking the streaking Pittsburgh Pirates to a 5-3 victory over the San Francisco Giants and a sweep of their four-game series.

The Pirates, who have won 17 of their last 22 games, also became the first team to sweep a season's series in San Francisco since the Giants moved west in 1958. Pittsburgh finished with a 6-0 record here.

Walks to Bill Madlock and Dale Berra and Nicosia's double made it 2-0 in the second off loser Vida Blue, 10-13. Terry Whitfield's triple and Rob Andrews' sacrifice fly gave the Giants a run in the bottom of the second.

The Pirates widened their lead in the third when Omar Moreno singled, stole second, went to third on a fly to center and scored on Bill Robinson's single. Larry Herndon belted his seventh homer for the Giants in the fourth.

Cards 2, Padres 1

Ken Oberkfell drove in Tony Scott with a sacrifice fly in the ninth inning to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 2-1 victory and a three-game series sweep over the San Diego Padres.

Scott led off the inning with a double to left-center off Padres reliever Mark Lee, 2-3, and was sacrificed to third by Ken Reitz.

St. Louis starter Bob Forsch, 8-10, went all the way, scattering five hits as the Cardinals scored their 12th win in their last 15 games.

Phillies 2, Braves 1

Greg Luzinski belted a run-scoring double in the 10th inning to give Philadelphia a 2-1 victory over the Atlanta Braves, enabling the Phillies to complete a sweep of the three-game series.

Bake McBride opened the 10th with a single off reliever Joey McLaughlin, 4-3. McBride moved to second on a sacrifice by Manny Trillo and to third on Pete Rose' grounder before scoring when Luzinski drilled a shot down the right-field line.

Ron Reed, 10-7, the Phillies' third pitcher, picked up the victory.

The two starting pitchers, Atlanta's Eddie Solomon and Philadelphia's Nino Espinosa, engaged in a tight duel until the bottom of the eighth, when Tug McGraw relieved Espinosa and Solomon was removed for a pinch hitter.

The Phillies opened the scoring when Luzinski led off the second with a single, raced to third on a single by Larry Bowa and scored on a single by Espinosa.

Atlanta tied the score in its half of the inning when Joe Nolan tripled after Barry Bonnell got on through a forceout and stole second.

Dodgers 6, Cubs 2

Davey Lopes slugged a grand slam home run with two out in the ninth inning to cap a five-run rally and lift the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 6-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Gary Thomasson's run-scoring single in the ninth off Bruce Sutter, 4-4, tied the score 2-2 after a walk to Ron Cey and a single by Bill Russell. Steve Yeager followed with a base hit to fill the bases.

Sutter struck out pinch-hitter Joe Ferguson, but Lopes came through with his 28th home run of the season and his second career grand slam.

The Cubs had a 2-1 lead entering the ninth but Sutter, the National League's top reliever with 35 saves, failed to hold the lead.

Lerrin LaGrow, 3-1, the third Los Angeles pitcher, earned the victory.

Charlie Hough started and yielded Barry Foote's 14th home run in the third inning and a run in the fifth when Foote doubled and later scored on Ivan DeJesus' infield out.

Los Angeles scored its first run in the fourth on a single by Cey and a double by Dusty Baker.

Rangers Gain Extra-Inning Win

By The Associated Press

Willie Montanez led off the 11th inning with a home run, lifting the Texas Rangers to a 7-6 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Montanez, capping a four-homer barrage by the Rangers, drilled reliever

Dick Drago's first pitch into the Texas bullpen near the 380-foot mark in right to end a seesaw struggle.

The Rangers also got home runs from Richie Zisk, his 15th, Eric Soderholm, his 10th, and John Ellis, his 12th.

Trailing 5-4 the Rangers moved in front in the ninth as Ellis hit reliever Allen Ripley's first pitch into the left field screen and, with two out, Soderholm, Mickey Rivers and Bump Wills singled.

Boston then forced the game into extra innings as Carlton Fisk was hit by a pitch, took second on a sacrifice and scored on Tom Poquette's single.

Jim Kern, the third Texas pitcher who came on in the ninth, earned the victory, boosting his record to 12-4. Drago, 9-5, the fifth Boston pitcher, took his second loss within 24 hours.

Carl Yastrzemski collected two hits for the Red Sox and moved within six hits of the coveted 3,000-hit level.

Angels 5, Indians 2

Dave Frost and Mark Clear combined on a five-hitter and Don Baylor drove in two runs with a single and his 31st homer as the California Angels defeated the Cleveland Indians 5-2.

Frost, 14-9, gave up four of the Indians' hits before needing eighth-inning relief help from Clear, who posted his 14th save.

Carney Lansford doubled leading off the fourth for the first hit off Indians starter Rick Waits, 14-12. Dan Ford's infield out then moved Lansford to third before Baylor, the major leagues' RBI leader with 120, singled home the game's first run. Brian Downing then walked and Baylor scored on a base hit by Bobby Grich.

Yankees 6, Royals 5

Graig Nettles' two-run homer capped a game-tying three-run rally in the bottom of the ninth inning, and Oscar Gamble walloped a solo shot in the 10th, rallying the New York Yankees to a 6-5 victory over the Kansas City Royals.

Nettles connected off rookie Gary Christenson and Gamble unloaded against Steve Mingori, 3-3, both shots coming after the Royals brought in left-handed pitchers to try to combat the Yankees' left-handed power hitters.

Kansas City rookie Craig Chamberlain allowed only six hits over the first eight innings, including Jim Spencer's solo homer in the seventh, and took a 5-2 lead into the bottom of the ninth.

However, Reggie Jackson led off with a double and scored on a single by Chris Chambliss, chasing Chamberlain. Nettles then drilled Christenson's first pitch for his 17th homer of the season, tying the score.

Orioles 3, Twins 1

Gary Roenicke slammed a two-run homer in the eighth inning as the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Minnesota Twins 3-1 behind the five-hit pitching of Scott McGregor.

McGregor, 11-4, retired 16 Minnesota batters in a row after Ron Jackson singled home a run for the Twins in the third.

Roenicke connected for his 23rd homer off Roger Erickson, 1-9, after Ken Singleton walked to open the eighth and moved to second on a wild pitch.

The first Baltimore run scored in the fourth when Roenicke grounded into a double play. The Baltimore left fielder also flied out with two runners aboard in the first, and again in the sixth after fouling off two sacrifice bunt attempts.

A's 5, Tigers 4

Right-hander Rick Langford survived 10 hits, including two home runs, and Dave Revering triggered three rallies with a single and two walks as the Oakland A's beat the Detroit Tigers 5-4.

Langford's mistakes included Steve Kemp's solo homer in the sixth inning, his 25th of the year, and Alan Trammell's three-run blast in the ninth, his sixth. The Oakland right-hander won his 11th game against 13 defeats.

Brewers 7, ChiSox 2

Gorman Thomas smashed his 37th home run to take over the American League lead and Sixto Lezcano added his 26th, a towering two-run shot in the fifth inning, to lead the Milwaukee Brewers to a 7-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Lezcano's home run off loser Ken Kravec, 11-13, followed a single by Cecil Cooper and gave right-hander Moose Haas, 10-8, a 5-1 lead. The two-run blast, into the upper deck in left field, pushed Lezcano's season RBI total to 93.

Thomas' home run capped a two-run uprising in the seventh when the Brewers improved their lead to 7-2. The homer enabled him to move ahead of Boston's Fred Lynn for the league lead.

It took the Brewers only two pitches to take a 1-0 lead in the first inning. Paul Molitor drilled Kravec's first pitch of the game down the left-field line for a double and Sal Bando smashed Kravec's second delivery to right for another double to drive in Molitor. One out later, Thomas singled to give the Brewers a 2-0 lead.

Chicago cut the margin to 2-1 in the second when Mike Colbern delivered an RBI single after Chet Lemon had singled and Claudell Washington drew a walk. The Brewers regained a two-run advantage in the fourth, however, when Don Money doubled and scored on Charlie Moore's single.

Blue Jays 8, Mariners 5

Roy Howell drove in four runs with three hits, including a three-run homer, as the Toronto Blue Jays defeated the Seattle Mariners 8-5.

Rookie right-hander Dave Stieb, 6-5, was the winner with late-inning relief help from Jesse Jefferson, who earned his first save of the year after pitching out of a bases-loaded situation in the eighth.

LA's Mota Breaks Pinch-Hit Record

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Manny Mota of the Los Angeles Dodgers set a major league pinch-hit record Sunday, stroking an eighth-inning single for the 145th pinch hit of his career.

The Dodger outfielder broke the record previously held by Smoky Burgess with a base hit off the Chicago Cubs' Lynn McGlothen. The 41-year-old Mota tied Burgess' record on Aug. 7 with a pinch single against Houston.

The base hit off McGlothen was Mota's 13th of the season, all as a pinch-hitter.

Ten Returning Starters Make Longhorns Tough

By JIM FERGUSON
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

LAZBUDDIE — Sometime last spring, Dewayne Sexton sat down and began counting the number of offensive and defensive starters returning for another football campaign at Lazbuddie.

The count finally stopped at 10.

"But the thing is," commented Sexton, "everybody (in District 2-B South) has that many coming back, it seems like."

Only All-South Plains performer Charleston Steinbock is missing from this season's edition of the Longhorns. And, according to Sexton, Steinbock is going to be hard to replace.

"But replacing one player isn't like replacing 10," said Sexton. Continuing to talk about the upcoming season, he said; "The only thing I don't want to do this year is over-coach these kids. Some of them have been starting for the past three years. They know what we're going to do, I just don't want to confuse them."

When it comes to listing strong points, Sexton almost runs out of fingers and toes. First, he says, there's experience, then quickness, the LHS defense, the offensive line and finally the Big E — enthusiasm.

"I guess we've got a lot of things going our way this year," said the fifth-year coach. But what the Longhorns lack is depth, said Sexton.

"Like most Class B schools we don't have any depth at all," said Sexton. "It's important for us to keep people healthy. If we can do that then this team could be outstanding."

Among the group of standouts coming back are junior runningback Russell Windham, a state competitor as sophomore in the 330-yard hurdles; guard Keihm Smith; and running back Dennis Steinbock.

"Russell (Windham) is a good one," said Sexton. "You're really going to have to search to find any better (at running back or linebacker)."

Also expected to step in and take up where they left off last year are back Johnny McDonald, tackle Robert Stanley, tackle Reggie Treider, split end Quentin Miss, flanker Apolonio Sanchez, tight end Salvador Chavez, quarterback Andy Rogers, tackle Phillips Jesko, center Steffan Moore, guard Joe Gonzales and split end Ariel Sanchez.

"We've really got the makings of a good football team," said Sexton, stating the obvious. "Everybody is really excited about the upcoming season. It's been a long-time coming at Lazbuddie."

Last year, the Longhorns finished with a 6-3 overall record and a 3-2 mark in loop play. "I thought we should have had a better season than that," said Sexton. "But we lost to Sundown and then to Amherst in district and that really hurt. We'd played a really emotional game the week before against Sudan and when we got to Sundown we were down."

But don't look for the Horns to be down long — and certainly not for the count.

Cotton Center Defends Crown

By ERIC GALE
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

COTTON CENTER — "We should be the team to beat, but you never know," said Cotton Center football coach Monte Lee.

Everyone knew about Cotton Center in 1978, as the Elks won 11 straight games and the District 3-B title before succumbing to Cherokee 29-27 in the state finals.

This year's attempt at a repeat performance will be led by senior middle linebacker Raul Garibay, 160 pounds; senior end David Rieff, 190; sophomore running back Jamie Johnson, 165; and senior end Jimmy Sageser, 176.

Lee, though, despite his fine crew of veterans, is mum on predictions.

"There are many strong teams in the district," he said. "We should be fairly strong, but I like to take 'em one at a time..."

That may include district championships as well as games.

THE SCHEDULE

Sept. 7-HARROLD; Sept. 14-GUTHRIE; Sept. 21-Open; Sept. 28-at Vernon; Oct. 5-WESTERN HILLS; Oct. 12-at Loop-x; Oct. 19-WHITHARRAL-x; Oct. 26-at Three Way-x; Nov. 2-GRADY-x; Nov. 9-at Wellman-x.
X-denotes district game.

THREE WAY — "Record-wise and team-wise, we'll be better than last year," said Pat Risinger, grid coach at Three Way High School.

Record-wise, the Eagles were 5-4, 1-3 in District 3-B, in 1978, but team-wise, the faces remain the same. Only two key seniors have graduated and Risinger notes that senior running back James Simpson, 146 pounds, heads the list of welcome returnees.

"Simpson's about a 10.3 sprinter in the 100," Risinger said. "He'll be as good a back as there is in the district.

Cotton Center, not his own Eagles, are as good a team as there is in the district, according to Risinger, while he expects his squad to finish as high as third.

THE SCHEDULE

Sept. 7-SOUTHLAND; Sept. 14-at Higgins; Sept. 21-at Patton Springs; Sept. 28-WESTERN HILLS; Oct. 5-Open; Oct. 12-WELLMAN-x; Oct. 19-at Grady-x; Oct. 26-COTTON CENTER-x; Nov. 2-at Loop-x; Nov. 9-at Whitharral-x.

WHITHARRAL — Coach Gary Patterson, of Whitharral High School, may not be sure of the Panthers' immediate future, but he is certain of the preparation and attitude of his team.

"This is my first year here," Patterson said, "so it's hard to tell what to expect this season. I do feel that we've been working awfully hard and that things should be O.K. I feel real good about this year, in fact."

Patterson's predecessor, Phil Warren, left for Stratford and a position as head basketball coach after 1978's 5-4 mark, 1-4 in District 3-B of six-man prep football.

Patterson, who spent last year as an assistant coach at Henderson High in east Texas, has inherited from Warren a backfield that is the apple of his eye.

"Our quarterback, Brian Kay, is THE key player," Patterson said. "He throws the ball real well." Kay is a 160-pound senior.

THE SCHEDULE

Sept. 7-at Marathon; Sept. 14-at Paint Rock; Sept. 21-WESTERN HILLS; Sept. 28-GUTHRIE; Oct. 5-VERNON; Oct. 12-GRADY-x; Oct. 19-at Cotton Center-x; Oct. 26-LOOP-x; Nov. 2-at Wellman-x; Nov. 9-THREE WAY-x.
X-denotes district game.

LOOP — Coach Don Jones, of Loop High School, hopes that the familiar faces on his football team are smiling faces at season's end.

"We didn't have any seniors last year," Jones said, "and everybody returns. If we don't have any injuries, we'll be right in there."

Loop was a respectable 5-5 in 1978 and has four respectable players around which to build Jones' hopes. They are senior running back Darran Ancinec, who rushed for 1,600 yards last year; senior quarterback Ray Garcia; senior center Bert Gibson; and sophomore back Alan Freeman.

THE SCHEDULE

Sept. 8-Open; Sept. 14-WESTERN HILLS; Sept. 21-at Ira; Sept. 28-at Highland; Oct. 5-PATTON SPRINGS; Oct. 12-COTTON CENTER-x; Oct. 19-at Wellman-x; Oct. 26-at Whitharral-x; Nov. 2-THREE WAY-x; Nov. 9-GRADY-x.
X-denotes district game.

WELLMAN — "We feel better about this year," said Wellman High School football coach Harvey Wellman, who also was fairly pleased with last season's 5-4 record, 2-3 in District 3-B.

"I have five starters returning," he said, "and I'm hoping for a much better season."

Wellman's three finest players, all seniors, are quarterback Larry Oliver, halfback Ty Paris and center Danny Neal. Sophomore defensive lineman Terry Emerson will contribute, as well.

THE SCHEDULE

Sept. 7-at Patton Springs; Sept. 14-HERMLEIGH; Sept. 21-at Marathon; Sept. 28-SOUTHLAND; Oct. 5-at Guthrie; Oct. 12-at Three Way-x; Oct. 19-LOOP-x; Oct. 26-at Grady-x; Nov. 2-WHITHARRAL-x; Nov. 9-COTTON CENTER-x.
X-denotes district game.

SOUTHLAND — If it's true that there is always tomorrow, then it's also true that there is always 1979 — where the Southland High School football team is concerned.

Coach Keith Gast's corps muddled through a 3-7 season, 1-5 in District 2-B, in 1978. Now, Gast points to a new season with a new outlook.

"This will be a better year," he said. "We have quick kids who are a lot better than last year. We have less speed, but more talent."

He lists, as all-district nominees, senior center Chris Flores and senior linebacker David Becker.

THE SCHEDULE

Sept. 7-at Three Way; Sept. 14-at Patton Springs; Sept. 21-HIGGINS; Sept. 28-at Wellman; Oct. 5-HOBBS-x; Oct. 12-at Ira-x; Oct. 19-TRENT-x; Oct. 26-HIGHLAND-x; Nov. 2-MCCAULLEY-x; Nov. 9-Open; Nov. 16-at Hermleigh-x.
X-denotes district game.

HERMLEIGH — Defending District 2-B champion Hermleigh High School hopes to have its bandwagon at top speed by the beginning of district play.

The Cardinals were a perfect 10-0 in 1978 before they fell to Christoval 45-28 in the bi-district tournament. Graduation losses may hinder Hermleigh in the season's early going, according to Coach Clarence Spieker, but then, beware.

"Since we're not as experienced, and we have some younger kids, it's gonna take a couple of games before we're on a level where we were last year," Spieker said. "I feel like we'll be able to compete for district by the time it gets here."

All-District center Ascension Fuentes, a 165-pound senior, and quarterback Chip Roemisch, 180 and a senior, are Spieker's star veterans.

THE SCHEDULE

Sept. 7-GRADY; Sept. 14-at Wellman; Sept. 22-at Blackwell; Sept. 28-WATER VALLEY; Oct. 5-Open; Oct. 12-IRA-x; Oct. 19-at Hobbs-x; Oct. 26-TRENT-x; Nov. 2-at Highland-x; Nov. 9-at McCaulley-x; Nov. 16-SOUTHLAND-x.

Baez Speaks Out For "Boat People" Rights

PALO ALTO, Calif. (UPI) — It was more than 20 years ago that a young folk singer and poet with a haunting soprano made her debut at the Newport Folk Festival. Joan Baez was 18.

Ten years later, at the height of the counter-culture phenomenon, Miss Baez played Woodstock. She emerged as one of the most articulate and controversial voices of a generation transfixed between the horrors of the Vietnam War and an exhilaration with its own growing social and political power.

Today, she is in the spotlight again, in a role which some past allies and supporters of the left view with dismay — as a champion of Vietnam's "boat people."

Many former supporters, including outspoken actress Jane Fonda, declare that Miss Baez has all but sold out to the right.

Even the Soviet Union chimed in during August, scolding her for her latest stand criticizing alleged human rights violations by Vietnam. "What brought her to the ranks of the renegades?" asked the Russian journal Sovietskaya Kultura. "What happened to the times when she stood in the front lines of demonstrators protesting the shameful U.S. aggression in Vietnam?"

Miss Baez contends her position is fundamentally unchanged and only appears changed in the light of changing times.

"I was warned by the left that I would be used by the right," she said recently before a concert audience in Stanford University's Frost Amphitheater — prior to the Soviet criticism. "But I say 'what's the difference? I've been used by the right for the last 20 years.' I cannot be hampered by an ideological yoke."

Miss Baez declines at this point in her career to ally herself any more strongly with the political left than with the right. "I'd like to create a new wing that's neither right nor left, but pro-people," she exclaimed to the Stanford crowd, and was answered with a thunderclap of applause.

Although she refuses to ride an ideological bandwagon, she is adamant about one thing: Her belief that there are between 150,000 and 200,000 political prisoners in Vietnam, many are systematically tortured and starved, and Americans have a moral and economic responsibility to do something about it.

"Some people seem compelled to take a posture to placate Hanoi," she said in reference to Miss Fonda, "but if it happened to any of us, we would call it torture."

To do something about it, she and six women friends — with a prestigious group of supporters from all hues of the political spectum — have founded a loosely-based human rights organization they call Humanitas.

Its immediate goals are to influence Congress to speed up the process of bringing Southeast Asian refugees to this country, and to persuade the American people to accept them once they are here. A Secondary goal is to pressure Hanoi into admitting an impartial international body like Amnesty International to monitor human rights conditions in Vietnam.

She has just completed a seven-week, 23-city tour to raise funds to acheive those goals, as well as to publicize her 22nd album, "Honest Lullaby."

But Miss Baez and Humanitas have other long-range projects in mind. "An enormously important issue of the '80s will be nuclear power," she told UPI, "and, of course, even if we got rid of all the nuclear power plants we would still, in my opinion, be held hostage by the weapons."

Is nuclear power a human rights issue? Yes, she said, it is.

Her audience, she maintains, comes in two varieties — "survivors" and "cradle babies." "Some of you weren't even born when I made my debut at Newport," she observed at Stanford, noting the number of infants and children in the crowd.

They may be of another generation, but she seemed to speak their language. Or perhaps they speak hers. An affectionate parody of ex-crony Bob Dylan — he was a writer in the '60s" — did not go unappreciated.

At 38, Miss Baez' voice is still rich, her range broad. Although she is now taking voice lessons to compensate for an increasing difficulty in hitting the upper octaves, she is in fine form — Physically as well as musically.

Of course, Miss Baez has had problems — an unhappy marriage to student activist David Harris, her admitted bisexuality — but she has put all that behind her for the present. "This is the time when all differences must be set aside, and we unite in a common goal," she said.

"Let us do what we must do," she asked, "so that our children can say we acted the way people are supposed to act and took in people who needed our help."

She conceded that many people are afraid to do so for fear our domestic problems will grow worse, but condemned that fear as selfish and short-sighted. "Americans can't understand anything until their central heating goes out."

"We have no business saying we don't have room," she argued. "We are part of an ongoing process of taking people in. That's what this country is built on."

Avon Lady Saving Gas On Motorcycle

WARSAW, Ind. (AP) — The gasoline crunch hasn't kept Betty Evans from her appointed rounds. With her samples stashed in a backpack emblazoned with the message "Avon Calling," the Warsaw grandmother rolls along on her motorcycle to visit her customers.

"It surprised me, I guess," Karen Rowland remarked. "I didn't think of an Avon lady riding a bike, but as long as she gets here, I don't care how she comes."

The sight of a grandmother on a motorcycle often provokes laughter from customers.

"We have no business saying we don't have room," she argued. "We are part of an ongoing process of taking people in. That's what this country is built on."

INDIANS GET GRANT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department announced Saturday that the government's initial grant under a program to reclaim abandoned coal mines has gone to the Crow Indians. In a statement, Interior Secretary Cecil D. Andrus said the tribe will get $156,545 to help prepare its reclamation program. The funding became available with the signing of a cooperative agreement between the tribe and the department's Office of Surface Mining.

'Superport' To Carry Economic Oil Shipments

ABOARD THE ETPM DLB-1601 (AP) — Eighty miles south of New Orleans, workers aboard the ship with the unpronounceable name were welding together and laying down 125,000 feet of steel pipeline on the floor of Gulf of Mexico.

By the end of next year, up to 1.4 million barrels a day of imported crude oil — equivalent to one-quarter of last year's U.S. crude oil imports — are expected to be flowing through the pipelines as the nation's first supertanker port opens for business off the Louisiana coast.

The project is called LOOP, short for Louisiana Offshore Oil Port. Louisiana officials say LOOP, owned by Marathon Oil, Texaco, Shell and several other major oil companies, will create more than 30,000 jobs in the state's refinery and construction industries in the next 10 years.

And LOOP officials say their $513 million "superport" will save the United States money by allowing oil to arrive here in economical, giant-sized shipments.

LOOP's capacity may be more than doubled in the next decade, at an additional cost of more than $450 million. But the threat that future oil imports will be curtailed under President Carter's energy program already is hanging over the seven-year-old project.

Carter has said U.S. imports of crude oil and oil products will be held to 8.2 million barrels a day in 1979 and should drop below 5 million barrels a day by 1990.

"It's a dilemma," said LOOP President William Read. "We're buiding a port to make it easier to import oil when the objective of the country is to discourage imports."

There also is the ever-present chance of accidents, like the oil spill this summer that followed the collision of two supertankers near the Caribbean island of Tobago. But LOOP officials say the project was designed under stringent safety standards and will be able to meet a minimum of $150 million in cleanup costs should an accident occur.

"We can't afford to make mistakes," said Read.

Supertankers, ships more than 1,000 feet long, have been carrying oil around the world since 1966. Although superports besides LOOP have been under consideration in Texas for several years, the continental United States today has no port deep enough to receive the ocean-going mammoths.

Because there are no U.S. superports, the giant tankers carrying foreign oil bound for the United States now must unload their cargoes in the Bahamas or the Caribbean into smaller ships, which then continue to American ports.

The extra transportation steps add to the cost of already-expensive imported oil, and LOOP officials say by simplifying shiping methods, their port will be able to cut the cost of imported oil by at least 10 cents a barrel. The saving might total "up to $1 million a day," Louisiana Gov. Edwin Edwards has estimated.

LOOP will start where this sophisticated ship with its crew of 300 seamen, technicians and welders is working, about 20 miles off the mouth of Bayou Lafourche, once the Mississippi River's chief outlet to the Gulf.

The 610-foot-long ship carries the designation DLB, standing for "derrick lay barge," a specialized, self-propelled craft used only for laying undersea pipelines.

Starting about five miles from here, pilots will guide the tankers to one of three mooring buoys floating in about 110 feet of water, deep enough to handle any supertanker afloat.

The tankers will hook up to hoses leading from the buoys to undersea pipelines, and then will pump their oil to a central platform 1 1/2 miles away.

The oil will be pumped from the platform to 5-billion-barrel underground caverns near the town of Galliano, La. 40 miles to the north. The oil will be stored there until it is pumped through a new $100 million Shell pipeline to other lines stretching as far north as Buffalo N.Y.

LOOP's success so far is a sharp contrast to the difficulty Texas has had in opening a supertanker port of its own.

Nearly two years ago, a proposal to build "Seadock," a superport originally backed by several major oil companies, fell through after Exxon and other companies withdrew their support in a dispute over government licenses.

But Seadock was revived by the Texas Deepwater Port Authority, a state agency that wants to build a $1 billion port 26 miles into the Gulf off the city of Freeport.

The port at first could handle up to 1.4 million barrels of crude oil daily, but unlike LOOP it has not yet attracted commitments by importers to pump oil through its facilities. The commitments are necessary so the state can raise money for the project's construction.

Other superports closer to shore have been proposed for the Galveston and Port Aransas areas of the Texas coast. Each would require substantial amounts of dredging in order to make local harbor channels deep enough to allow the entry of the giant tankers.

Man Wants To See Band, Sees Jail Instead

ROCKAWAY TOWNSHIP, N.J. (AP) — Walter Schulte went too far in trying to get tickets for a concert by his favorite rock group, Kiss, police said.

Authorities allege Schulte, 21, attempted to extort four tickets to a Kiss concert by impersonating an assistant Morris County prosecutor.

They said he telephoned an unidentified ticket agent several times Wednesday, telling the agent there were numerous criminal charges pending against him that would be dropped if the agent came up with the tickets.

Police said Shulte called the agent again Thursday to set up a meeting at the home of a 14-year-old boy who wanted to go to the concert.

The agent notified Morris County Prosecutor Peter Manahan, and detectives met the trio where the alleged deal was to take place, police said Friday.

Shulte was charged with attempted extortion, impersonating a law enforcement officer, contributing to the delinquency of a minor, conspiracy to commit extortion and conspiracy to impersonate a police officer.

The boy, who was not identified, was released in the custody of his parents.

Police said Shulte was carrying a partially completed contract agreeing to drop the phony charges against the ticket agent and a handgun loaded with blanks, which they said he used to look like a police officer.

Shulte spent Thursday night in the Morris County jail in lieu of $5,000 bail, which was posted Friday, police said.

Standard Oil Wins Pipeline Approval

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) outspent its opponents 48 to 1 in a successful campaign last year to win approval for its now-shelved oil terminal and pipeline project in California, according to a report by the Council on Economic Priorities.

Sohio, Sohio Natural Resources Co. and Sohio Transportation Co. contributed $864,568 while opponents to the project raised $17,721, according to the 90-page report, entitled "Bankrolling Ballots."

Long Beach citizens approved the pipeline project last November. But the company shelved its plans in the spring, saying excessive government red tape and delays had made the project too costly.

'Project Manager' Concept Set For Pentagon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fusion research could be handled like the cruise missile program and solar power might be developed like a new tank when Pentagon staffers finish remaking the Energy Department.

The "project manager" concept in vogue at the Defense Department is one of the ideas Energy Secretary Charles Duncan and his Pentagon dominated transition team may bring to the agency Duncan took over just 10 days ago.

Col. Robert Hermann, a Duncan team member now acting as agency spokesman, said Duncan is still undecided on just how the reorganization will shape up — but has looked at the possibility of assigning a single manager responsibility for all aspects of a specific program.

"I don't know that any definite concept or organizational structure has been set yet," cautions Hermann, who is still nominally the Air Force's deputy public affairs director.

At the Pentagon, where Duncan spent his last two years as deputy defense secretary, a single project manager is often charged with taking care of a particular weapons program. Thus one person might be responsible for the MX missile from drawing board to production.

But such a vertical concept of management is somewhat alien to the 2-year-old Energy Department, which former Energy Secretary James Schlesinger organized along functional lines.

Under the Schlesinger system, major divisions within the agency deal with conservation, research and applications rather than specific energy sources like coal or nuclear fuel.

If Duncan decides energy is enough like weapons, the agency could spawn separate directorates for various fuels.

In the personnel field, the departure last week of Phillip Hughes and John Harris, two mid-level officials with media relations responsibilities at the Energy Department, could signal heightened image consciousness under Duncan.

Jim Bishop, Schlesinger's personal spokesman, said he had no immediate plans to leave the agency, but referred questions on the impending shake-up to members of Duncan's transition group.

One member of the team who is not from the Pentagon is Bernard Wruble, a former White House staffer serving as Duncan's executive assistant.

The Pentagon contingent includes Deanne Seimer, general counsel, and Brig. Gen. Colin Powell, Duncan's military aide.

At the agency's top management levels, John Sawhill, president of New York University, is expected to replace Deputy Energy Secretary John O'Leary, who has resigned.

Undersecretary John Deutch and David Bardin, director of the Economic Regulatory Administration, are expected to stay in place, despite rumors that Bardin might be shifted to another job within the agency, staff members said.

AF Academy Head Denies Claims Of Cheating

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (UPI) — The superintendent of the Air Force Academy denies claims by upperclass cadets that cheating is rampant at the national military service school.

"I may be naive, but I feel very strongly that the majority of the young people in this wing are high quality, are honorable, and they want to uphold the honor system," said Lt. Gen. K.L. Tallman.

He said there probably were fewer than 2 percent of the cadet wing cheating and fewer than one in five would tolerate cheaters.

But in interviews with the Rocky Mountain News, 35 academy graduates and dropouts said cheating was a way of life for dozens of today's cadets.

Active cadets interviewed, mostly upperclassmen, said they had personal knowledge of between 15 and 200 other cadets who have cheated.

The cadets estimated that perhaps half of the entire 4,421 member cadet wing knows about cheating and doesn't report it, although they are sworn to an honor code that makes them as guilty as the cheaters for not reporting violations.

Edward Porrazo, who dropped out of the academy last December in his junior year, said he believes conditions at the school won't improve unless they are dealt with publicly.

He said an overhwhelming need to succeed forces some cadets to cheat and that unrealistic demands on their free time, coupled with the academy's heavy academic load, worsen the situation.

"The academy believes that tradition is the solution to everything," he said.

"They figure it worked at West Point so it's got to work here. What they fail to realize is that the cadets of 1879 are not the cadets of 1979."

Porrazzo said he resigned from the academy because he was denied permission to write a novel about activities inside the school. He has since written the book, "A Different Pledge of Honor," and said he expects it to be published in the spring.

'A Few Good Men' Lacking Discipline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Lack of home discipline has made it harder for the U.S. Marine Corps to train recruits, the head of the Marines said in an interview released Sunday.

Gen. Robert Barrow, commandant of the Marine Corps, said the caliber of today's recruits is better than many of those accepted during the early years of the all-volunteer force.

"But we have a hard time trying to develop discipline in some of these youngsters today," Barrow said in an interview with U.S. News & World Report magazine. "Not everyone takes to it as well as they may have a generation or two ago.

"I don't know what the causes are — whether it's high mobility, the great quest for material things, disinterest in religion or what. But not many families have disciplined children, and that's where it all starts."

Barrow said most recruits "have a thirst for discipline" and he ruled out a suggestion that the Marines lower their standards and admit recruits who lack a high school education.

"I commanded our recruit depot at Parris Island from 1972 to 1975 and suffered through a period in which the Marine Corps took on people it should not have been recruiting," he said.

"We thought we could make a Marine out of anybody — that a high school education didn't count. We're not going to go through that again."

Barrow said the Marines will fall about 4,000 recruits short of their original recruiting goal of 54,000 this year and scoffed at a suggestion the corps is obsolete.
