Construction Begins on Southwestern Rail Plant

SPADEWORK

Groundbreaking activities were held Tuesday, June 28 at the site of Southwestern Rail Products new building on Amarillo Street. From left are Wellington State Bank and Wellington Mayor Bill Hatch, Lyman Daniel, Collingsworth Industrial Board president, Wayne Smith, Southwestern Rail Products president, Kenneth Moore and C.T. Hubbard of Ground-breaking ceremonies for the new Wellington plant of Southwestern Rail Products, Inc., was held Tuesday, June 28, at the plant site in the 700 block of 6th Street.

Pushing shovels into the hard-packed ground and simultaneously turning over the first earth were five men without whom Southwestern would not be in Wellington.

These were Wayne Smith, president of the company, which is the only independent manufacturer of railroad track spikes in the nation; Lyman Daniel, president of the Chamber of Commerce and of Wellington Industrial Board, Inc.; C.T. Hubbard, chairman emeritus of the board of Wellington State Bank; Kenneth Moore, WSB vice president, who located the plant for Wellington; and Mayor Bill Hatch.

Mr. Daniel officially welcomed Southwestern to Wellington.

"We should make a spike by October 1, if there isn't a Steel strike," Smith predicted. "That does not mean we will be officially in production, but there should be a spike."

He is moving his complete plant to Wellington from Burns Flat, Oklahoma, where it has been in operation one year.

The contract for the two buildings to house plant operations has been let to Aztec Building Systems of Norman, Oklahoma, Smith announced.

Pouring the first concrete for the buildings is scheduled for Thursday, June 30. Wayne Marley will be in charge of construction for Aztec. Other contracts will be let later.

"Things will go fast now," Smith said.

Along with the ground breaking, he announced that the business office for Southwestern Rail Products, Inc., is opening in Wellington, with Mrs. Frankie Salazar of Hollis as office manager.

It will be located in the old Wellington State Bank building at the southeast corner of the courthouse square.

Office equipment and personnel will be moved to Wellington from time to time as construction progresses.

Two buildings will go up on the site, both steel Butler Buildings.

Building A, 80 x 150 x 14 feet, will house plant offices, inspection and keging operations, the shipping area and the machine shop. It will be away from all noise produced by the spike manufacturing process.

Building B, 120 x 180 x 24 feet, will house the two spike machines with which Smith will begin his operations here. There is room for two more, and later these two will be built and put in operation. With only one in operation at Burns Flat, the company did more than one million dollars worth of business during the last half of 1976.

Smith indicated what Collingsworth County can expect when the plant goes in operation:

The two machines will deliver 180,000 kegs of railroad spikes per year, for a dollar equivalent of $9 million. Each keg weighs 200 pounds.

The spike machines will be water cooled, and the city is laying a four-inch water line to the site this week.

When operations begin, there will be a peak work force of 60, some of them women. The plant will operate on a 24 hour, 7 day-per-week schedule.

Ten Collingsworth County men are training at the Burns Flat plant. Applications for work are still being taken at the business office, and hiring will be as the need arises, said Mrs. Salazar.

"There are 8 families ready to move to Wellington and we can't find house one," said Smith. Most of these will have children in school.

The city of Wellington volunteered to clean the one and one-half block tract--and this proved to be a bigger headache than City Manager Tiny Taylor or anyone else expected. On this site once stood two cotton gins, and when they were torn down, the concrete foundations that extended deep into the ground remained. Years had covered them over with dirt and most people forgot they were ever there.

In the end, it took city

Hospital Appeals Decision of JCAH

The board of Collingsworth General Hospital learned Monday night, June 27, that the Joint Commission on the Accreditation of Hospitals did not approve renewal of the hospital's accreditation.

The board, in its regular monthly meeting, voted unanimously to appeal the decision.

The JCAH notice has no bearing whatsoever on Collingsworth General's accreditation by Medicare and the Texas Department of Health Resources.

Each of these bodies makes its own accrediting survey, by its own standards. Their approval is necessary if a hospital is to stay in operation. JCAH accreditation is not.

Dr. Carter Holcomb, hospital chief of staff, and Charles Floyd, administrator, indicated they will go to Chicago, JCAH headquarters, and confer with members of the commission if it is felt this will help.

The appeal must be made within 20 days of the notification on non-accreditation. The commission will review the appeal and hand down its decision.

The hospital will be eligible to apply for a new survey after six-months following a non-accreditation decision, and after the series of recommendations made by the commission has been implemented to the point the board believes it complies with the standards for accreditation, Dr. A. Walter Hoover, director of the department of accreditations programs, said in a letter.

The hospital board spent most of Monday evening going over these recommendations, which fall into several categories.

Several recommendations, most pertaining to the life safety code, have been made to the hospital two or three times in previous surveys, but for one reason or another, they could not be carried out. An example of this, placing a door

Independence Day Religious Service To Be Sunday Evening

The Ministerial Alliance will hold community-wide Independence Day religious services Sunday, July 3, in the Church of the Nazarene. Starting time will be 7:30 p.m.

Members of the Ministerial Alliance will provide the program, said the Rev. John Harrison, president.

The Rev. James Boswell,

pastor of First United Methodist Church, will preach

the sermon.

A prelude of organ and piano music will open the service. Rev. Harrison, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, will welcome the congregation and later recognize each of the churches.

Congregational singing will be led and directed by Glen Mize, minister of music at First Baptist Church and he will also be in charge of special music to be presented later in the program.

Prayers will be by the Rev. Mickey Fugitt, pastor of First Baptist Church, and the Rev. Jeff Messer, pastor of Quail Baptist Church.

Giving the benediction will be the Rev. A.R. Vaughan, pastor of the Assembly of God.

As each pastor is introduced members of his church will stand.

"The Independence Day Service was a new adventure of the alliance last year, being the Bicentennial year, but many requested that it become a yearly event," said Rev. Harrison.

"The ministers are happy that there has been such a good response and good reports from these services." Everyone is invited to attend, he emphasized.

Awards of Appreciation Made During Highway Dedication

Ranchers and farmers of the Enterprise community, with many who formerly lived there, mingled with highway department officials and county and city officials of the area Friday, June 24 to celebrate the culmination of eleven years of effort in securing Farm to Market Road 3143.

They relaxed on bales of hay under giant cottonwoods at the Jess Coleman ranch and were pleased when Charles E. Simons, member of the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission praised them as effective highway lobbyists.

In a quiet moment, four plaques of appreciation were presented.

W.R. Breeding, Commissioner of Precinct 4, received his award from Farris Jake Hess, master of ceremonies, who praised his work in behalf of the road.

Wells, the late editor and publisher of The Wellington Leader, was honored for 50 years of service to Collingsworth County. The plaque was received by his son, Henry Wells, the present editor and publisher.

Pat O'Hair, was cited for his 19 years of service to the county as Commissioner of Precinct 3. He also worked to get FM 3143.

Mrs. Clyde Magee was recipient of the fourth plaque, given in recognition of her work in behalf of Enterprise Community, and especially for compiling her history of the school and community.

Mr. Breeding made the last three awards. "I have a personal interest in this project, largely because it was the first with which I was confronted after my appointment to the Commission," Mr. Simons said in his speech dedicating the road.

"Even before I was sworn in, a group of very zealous people corralled me at a meeting of the County Judges and Commissioners Association and let me know in no uncertain terms that this was their number one project, and they indicated tactfully, but emphatically, that they expected it to have a high priority on my list, also.

"I met with people from this area many times on this project. Now I wouldn't say they harassed me, but they did keep it ever gentle on my mind. So you can be assured that I am as happy as they to get it behind us."

Mr. Simons noted that the Governor's Highway program, authorized by the legislature, is being sniped at by a few newsmen and other media personnel, who refer frequently to a so-called "highway lobby."

"Who constitutes the 'highway lobby' and who will profit and benefit most from the investment of large amounts of state funds in highway rehabilitation and improvements?

"I want each of you to look at the person on your right; then look at the person on you left.

"Both of these persons qualify as members of the 'highway lobby.' And so do you.

"This matter can be put in the proper frame of reference by asking a few questions:

"Are we building highways for the selfish benefit of contractors, cement manufacturers, asphalt peddlers, equipment dealers and surveyors of a large number of products that are used in highway construction? OR

"Are we building highways to serve the convenience and necessity of our citizens for a transportation system that meets the requirements of modern day living?"

employees using a cat, dozer, front end loader and grader to push them off the lots. Several weeks of constant work went into moving the concrete, and then dirt had to be hauled in, the ground levelled and packed.

"We are real proud of the attitude and the cooperation of the people since it was announced that Wayne Smith was moving his plant to Wellington," said Mr. Daniel.

"We're on the road to something better. We're at least moving forward," remarked Robert Owens, Chamber of Commerce vice president. "We're glad they are here. There's been lots of miles and lots of footwork behind this. We need to compliment the city on the hard work that went into this to make it a reality said Kenneth Moore, speaking of behalf of himself and Mr. Hubbard.

One major reason stands out for Southwestern's move to Wellington: It is the anticipated availability of labor and personnel. "We will recruit all labor required locally if possible," said Smith.

The new facilities being constructed will conform to all environmental and OSHA rules and regulations and the plant will be free from any emissions.

Southwestern Rail Products, Inc., was incorporated in February 1975, for the primary purpose of manufacturing railroad track spikes. The company is wholly owned by Smith, John F. Watson, and vice-president Dwain Marple.

In the period from February 1975 until July 1976, the company devoted its efforts primarily to the installation of equipment. Commercial production of track spikes began in Burns Flat, Oklahoma, at the old Clinton-Sherman Air Base, in July 1976 and sales for the remainder of the year totaled over one million dollars.

"The manufacture of railroad track spikes is a $60 million a year business, and by the end of 1977, Southwestern Rail Products, Inc., expects to capture a minimum of 20 percent of the total market," declared Smith.

Mrs. Salazar, who will be in charge of the business office, grew up at Ron, north of Hollis. She attended Oklahoma State University, and lived in Bogota, Columbia a few years. She returned to Hollis and taught 10 years in the public schools.

Additionally, she taught adult night classes once each week at Western Oklahoma State College, Altus, and two adults classes in Hollis.

For a time she worked with a tri-county health education program which encompassed Harmon, Jackson and Greer Counties.

She has four children, Edgar is a business management major in the University of Oklahoma, Norman; Beatrice is Mrs. Tommy McDonald of Hollis. She and her husband received degrees from Cameron College, Lawton, this spring.

Andrea graduated from High School in May. She was twirler, and was chosen for the DAR Good Citizen Award and as Miss Harmon County.

Danny, 10, goes into the sixth grade this year. Mrs. Salazar's mother, Mrs. Bessie Wilkinson, lives in Hollis.

The two points in the 50 American States which are farthest apart are Log Point, Elliott Key, Fla., and Kure Island, Hawaii, a distance of 5,852 miles.

at the front of the stairway to the second floor, with a connecting enclosed outside exit.

"There are some specific errors in the board's recommendations. For instance, it calls for a sprinkler system in the attic. The hospital has had this complete sprinkler system for several years, said Mr. Floyd.

"Many of the hospital's deficiencies are in paper work only. The procedures carried out by the personnel are correct. They are not written up according to the commission's specifications.

"Other recommendations are regarded by the board as nit-picking.

"Some are valid, such as the recommendations for a shield in the x-ray department, and the hospital is already making plans to correct these. Almost all of these tie in with changes in requirements made in recent years and not by a deterioration in hospital services.

Mr. Floyd had been administrator only two and one-half months when the accreditation survey was made March 15. In the three and one-half months since then, several major improvements have been made, including installation of a non-conductive floor in the operating room, electrical circuitry which would prevent a loss of power in surgery in case outside power goes off; and the installation of flameproof curtains in the nursery and at other points.

There is a growing feeling among small hospitals of the area that JCAH accreditation is a luxury which they are becoming unable to afford. The survey itself costs the hospital $1,500 and other costs of membership add up to around $1,800 per year, Mr. Floyd said.

When the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals was established it was the principal accrediting body in setting standards for hospital operation. Medicare and health departments now are the basis of operation for many hospitals.

Also in the Monday night meeting, the board was told that in 5 years, the indebtedness has been reduced from $200,000, which included the purchase price from the Dominican Sisters, to $75,000.

hearted support of Governor Briscoe's decision to provide additional funding for the highway system.

He pointed to rampaging inflation, stringent federal environmental protection rules and regulations, many of which are ridiculously unnecessary, and of the astronomically mounting costs, and finally, the Commission's realization that the Department of Highways and Public Transportation was facing bankruptcy.

"For many years, expenditures for highways ranked a close second to education in the expenditure of state funds. In the recent past, however, expenditure for welfare moved to a strong second, and highways fell to third place. Even with the funds made available under H.B. 3, highway expenditures still rank third.

"I know that I don't need to convince this crowd of the manifold benefits we receive from an adequately financed road program. I do feel, however, that it would strengthen you in your conviction and make you more aware of the facts if you simply would take about five minutes once in a while to review the wide range of activities in which you engage daily which involve your use of highways and streets." Mr. Simons points out.

"I believe this would confirm your conclusion that a continuous highway program is a necessity and not a luxury, and that it is, beyond a doubt, a people's program.

"Also, I believe every citizen would be well advised to maintain his own continuing interest in affairs affecting our ability to maintain an ongoing program because there are forces already at work to undo the gains made at the last session of the legislature. So let's keep the people's highway lobby going full force," he concluded.

After the barbecue dinner, county and city officials from Collingsworth, Wheeler, Gray and Donley Counties were introduced, along with Highway Department personnel and others.

The program concluded with former and present residents of Enterprise, some of whom were there more than 80 years ago, walked by the microphone and introduced themselves.

Ross With Forest Service Research

A county student in Texas Tech University Law School is working this summer on a project which will codify federal legislation relating to the U.S. Forest Service from the time of its establishment. Joel Ross of Quail, because of his undergraduate background, in the biological sciences, is assigned to work with those regulations relating to the environment.

This is a federal project, and Ross is working under Frank Skillern of Lubbock, a lawyer specializing in environment.

Ross partners on the project are an engineering graduate and another law student, who comes from New York, who studies legislation from the engineer's standpoint.

The first phase of their study has been reviewed in Washington and drew much praise. The report will be completed in September.

The team's assignment includes taking specific Forest Service statutes, analyzing and researching each, then comparing it to the present Forest Service statutes.

They are seeking to understand why the service is involved in so much litigation and still further, trying to develop guidelines to assist the Forest Service in future litigation.

Previously, they have gone over each congressional act relating to the Service from its beginning to determine what is has contributed, and why it was passed.

Each of the five members on the team is assigned to a different aspect, each working in his own field.

Ross is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ross of the Bourland-Ross Ranch north of Quail. He graduated from Quail High School and Clarendon College, then took his bachelor's degree from the University of Texas of the Permian Basin, Odessa. He has completed his first year in Texas Tech University Law School.

County Girl Officer Of 1977 Girls State

DiAnna Schaub was elected Councilman, Place 3, City J, of the American Legion Auxiliary Bluebonnet Girls State, which she attended June 14 to 24. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schaub of Lutie, she represented Wellington-Samnorwood and was sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary Unit of 535. She was recommended by Mrs. Kenneth Martindale, president of Samnorwood PTA.

Chief Justice Joe Greenhill of the Texas Supreme Court administered the oath of office to the elected state officials of Bluebonnet Girls State Monday, June 20, in the Rotunda of the State Capital. Girls State is held on the campus of the Texas Lutheran College at Seguin.

During the session, the citizens heard, Mrs. Bea Ann Smith, Law Clerk in Federal Judge Tom Gee's office, Mrs. Carole McClellan, Mayor of the City of Austin, Ms. Martha Smiley of the Texas Attorney General's office and Dr. Sharon Bintliff, Head of the Birth Defects Center of The Children's Hospital in Honolulu, Hawaii. All of these women are former citizens of Girls State. Also, Dean Elspeth Rostow of the University of Texas Lyndon Baines Johnson School of Public Affairs spoke.

Former citizens of Girls State and members of the Texas American Legion Auxiliary comprise the seventy members of the staff and counselors who volunteer their services to direct and lead this program.

The chairman is Mrs. James Lee of Sweetwater and the Director is Miss Frances Goff of Houston, Director of Special Projects for The University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute at Houston.

Girls State was established in 1937.

American railroads, coming round the bend from operating losses to profitability, are going to clear the tracks of what they consider to be personnel deadwood. Railroad management has served notice on the two largest rail unions that it will make a strong push to cut train and yard crews. They also want more flexibility in using crew members and to pay trainmen by the hour instead of by mileage.

One proposed contract change would require that locomotive engineers perform "any and all work" that might be assigned to them in switching yards. Under current contracts, engineers operate trains only over the road, while yard crews take over at terminals and in yards.

Railroad management also wants to wipe out the dual system of pay for train crews. Freight crews now receive pay for eight hours a day, or for traveling 100 miles. Today, a day's train travel usually exceeds 100 miles, so the railroads feel they are not getting their money's worth. This involves 200,000 brakemen, conductors and engineers.

The railroads also want to cut the size of the current minimum freight train crew of four—engineer, conductor, and two brakemen—to three, probably by eliminating the rear brakemen, who is stationed in the caboose.

The railroads' efforts to eliminate the rear brakeman on a freight train crew is a touchy issue. The unions will raise the safety question because the rear brakeman watches out for shifting loads on cars, serves as warning flagman at the rear if his train must stop, and is senior to the brakeman who sits in the cab. The national norm is to have an engineer and three trainmen, and reduction in crew size is possible now only through negotiations at the local level.

Under this week's proposal, the national norm would be deleted, and the unions would have to make a case-by-case argument for two brakemen instead of one. It is a tough proposal. Negotiators for the unions are likely to resist any contract changes that would reduce the work force or result in pay cuts.

Miss Miley Directs Boy Scout Work

When Doreen Miley came from San Antonio to the Texas-High Country she became one of 7 young women to be Boy Scouts Executives in the U.S. She is the first in Area IV, which ranges from the Panhandle through the South Plains to Far West Texas, and also covers Eastern and Central New Mexico.

As district executive of the Santa Fe District of the Adobe Walls Council, she comes to Wellington and Samnorwood frequently enough to stir up among the Scouts and Scouters some of the same enthusiasm that has been a driving force in her own life. The other towns she serves are Groom, Pampa, Lefors, McLean, Clarendon, Memphis and Shamrock.

For example, Doreen Miley went to Vietnam for 18 months because she "didn't want to teach French in some small town high school" she said recently.

The Wisconsin native had majored in French and English at the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa.

After graduation, she told Jeanne Grimes of The Pampa News, "I wanted an interesting job, one that would include travel."

The Red Cross hired her as a recreation worker and she shipped out to Vietnam in November 1967. During the next 18 months she was assigned to Cam Rahn Bay, An Khe and at 11 Field Forces, Long Binh, she continued.

"That's most interesting," she said of her time in the war torn country. "You're in such an unusual situation, sort of a symbol of the females back home."

On her return to the United States, she said, "nothing was as interesting as the Red Cross."

She went to work as a hospital recreation worker, first at Ft. Polk, La., and later at Maxwell Air Force Base in Montgomery, Ala., and Keesler Air Force Base, in Biloxi, Miss.

In 1975, she undertook graduate studies at Florida State University in Tallahassee and received a master's degree in leisure studies under a Red Cross Educational incentive program.

While waiting on her next assignment, she travelled, visiting Europe and the western U.S.

Texas High In Cotton

COLLEGE STATION--The 1977 Texas cotton crop is off to a good start. With good market conditions, farmers have planted fence row to fence row, and this year's crop could yield well over four million bales.

Barring weather and insect problems, the Texas cotton crop has a potential of surpassing the 1973 crop of 4.6 million bales.

That analysis comes from Charles Baker, marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Furthermore, prices should be good," says Baker, "because we have a worldwide shortage of cotton. World stocks at the beginning of the August 1 crop year have averaged 40 percent of world consumption the past 10 years. Beginning stocks on August 1, 1977, will be a low 30 percent of projected consumption. Low world stock levels in 1972 and 1973 preceded the sharp price rise of 1973. Low stock levels in 1976 were accompanied by price increases for the 1976 crop. Yet, those levels for 1972, '73 and '76 were not nearly as low as current levels.

"Prices have been down for the last month because of the expected big crop for 1977," notes Baker. "This big crop is needed badly, but it cannot be big enough to restore stocks to normal. Therefore, prices for this year's crop are expected to average near those received for the 1976 Texas crop."

University Begins Border Research

AUSTIN, (Spl.)--A new bi-national program to conduct research on problems of the Mexican-U.S. border has been established at The University of Texas.

Studies to be made by the Mexican-U.S. Border Research Program will assess the impact on the border area of illegal migration and the devaluation of the peso, among other topics. Also to be examined are border problems that may have national international implications.

Dr. Stanley R. Ross, UT Austin history professor and noted Latin Americanist, is coordinator of the program, which was developed in concert with a group of Mexican scholars.

Eat More Often, Oldsters Advised

AUSTIN, (Spl.)--Dr. Donald R. Davis, a University of Texas biochemist, says the elderly need to eat a variety of foods and eat often-at least three and maybe even four to six times daily.

He also advises older persons to take it easy on salt and include fiber (mostly present in vegetables) in their diet.

Those who have osteoporosis (softening of the bones) should take a calcium supplement. About 800 milligrams of calcium are recommended daily for the average person, he says, but the average elderly person only gets about 400 milligrams.

Sweeney Church Rites Unite Alexa Smith, Roy Sparkman

The First United Methodist Church of Sweeney was the setting for the wedding of Miss Alexa Fay Smith and Roy Burl Sparkman Sunday, June 12, at three in the afternoon.

The Reverend Dan Bynum officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kennard Smith of Sweeney, formerly of Wellington. She is also the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Alexander of Wellington, Mrs. Arthur B. Smith, Sr., of Sweeney, also formerly of Wellington, and the late Mr. Smith.

Decorating the altar were four candle trees, entwined with branches of Japanese yew, delicate peach gladiolas and white pixie carnations.

Mrs. Nina Kennedy, the organist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Judith Calhoun and Charlie Koonce, the vocalists.

Mr. Smith gave his daughter in marriage.

She wore a gown of white silk organza over satin. The fitted bodice featured a scooped neckline and caped sleeves overlaid with French imported Chantilly lace and seed pearls. The full A-line skirt, which swept to a chapel train, was appliqued with matching lace motifs above the hemline. Her fingertip veil was fashioned of French silk illusion encircled with Chantilly lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of frangipani, stephanotis and peach-colored roses.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Frances Smith, maid of honor, and Miss Lynn Daniel of Lake Jackson and Miss Sally Siefert of San Antonio, bridesmaids. They wore floor length gowns of mint green veil covered with tiny flocked white daisies.

Dr. John Sparkman of Coleman, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and groomsmen were Mark Cowart of Lubbock and Rodney Adams of Bloomville, N.M. Ushers were Jimmy Bubliss and Rod Dundas.

Karen Kennedy, niece of the bridegroom, scattered flowers, and Jimmy Leach, nephew of the bride, carried the rings. Stephanie Kennedy lighted the candles.

After the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Smith entertained with a reception to honor the couple. Members of the house party were Mrs. Viki Russell, Miss Gina Ellis, Miss Vicki McCarthy and Miss Cathy Comstock.

The bride graduated from Sweeney High School and received her Bachelor of Science degree in food and nutrition from Texas Tech University. She completed the coordinated undergraduate program in dietetics and is a member of the American Dietetics Association.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Sharpstown High School, Houston, and of Texas Tech University, where he received his BBA degree in marketing. He served as a senator in the University student government and was a member of Kappa Alpha.

The couple will live in Austin, where the bridegroom is employed by Proctor and Gamble.

Attending the wedding from Wellington were Mrs. Earl Alexander, Mrs. V.K. Orr, Jr., Miss Beverly Orr and Michael Orr, joined by Miss Linda Orr of Amarillo.

Have your blood pressure checked regularly. It's a great life insurance policy, says Carla Shearer, health education specialist, with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Use a microwave oven to heat baby's formula. A four-ounce bottle heats in 10 seconds and an eight-ounce bottle takes 20 seconds. This time in the microwave will not make the milk hot, but removes the chill. Add a few more seconds if warm milk is desired. The nipple does not have to be removed, and glass, plastic or disposable bottles may be used, says Lynn Bourland, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Use granulated sugar as a powdered sugar substitute by grinding it finely in a blender, Frances Reasonover, food and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, suggests.

Today's "Only Child" Has Many Advantages

COLLEGE STATION--Today's "only child" has many advantages--contrary to popular belief that he will grow up spoiled, says Debby Johnson, a family life education specialist.

Indications are that these children simply reap the benefits of their parents' love and attention, she adds.

Miss Johnson is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Many traits which 'only children' have in common are very positive and correspond to those of first-born children:

Only children tend to be more independent and self-sufficient--also they score higher on standard measures of intelligence and tests of verbal skills than children who have siblings.

Only children are also more likely to pursue professional careers, such as law, medicine, engineering, and science and to hold leadership positions, both in school and out.

In every phase of their life, only children tend to be more achievement oriented.

Today's parents seem to be more aware of these advantages--and are rebelling against the stereotypes of having only one child, the specialist said.

"In spite of constant criticism, many couples today are choosing to have one child. 'Approximately 10 percent of all married women today expect to have only one child. This is a four percent increase from the projected figure in 1960,' she added.

There are several reasons for this, Miss Johnson said.

"Many are concerned about the population growth today. Others find it financially impossible to have more than one child.

"Some find that their careers and time schedules only allow for one child--this choice, they feel, enables them to maintain their jobs while still enjoying parenthood.

"Some couples who marry later in life can only plan to have one child for health reasons.

"Unfortunately, some parents have only one child due to difficulty conceiving or in carrying a pregnancy full term. One child is all they can ever reasonably expect to have."

A major concern of most parents who choose to have only one child is that of responsible parenthood, Miss Johnson said.

"They feel they can devote more time and energy to one child and develop a healthier relationship than if they had a large family and energies were dissipated.

"Of course, parents of only children are constantly plagued by fear of tragedy or death. However, many of them feel that is not right to have a second child simply as an insurance policy against loss," she noted.

"This brings up an interesting point. Usually the decision to have the first child was an intimate one with the child's interest in mind. Decisions to have subsequent children should meet the same criteria. Children deserve the right to be planned and wanted," the specialist said.

Precaution Urged in Buying Backyard Swimming Pool

COLLEGE STATION--Backyard swimming pool buyers should take a few precautions before diving headlong into that purchase, Claudia Kerbel a consumer information specialist, advises.

"Although only a small percentage of pool salesmen and companies are dishonest, the cautious consumer will be on guard to their tricks," she says.

Ms. Kerbel is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Her "caution list" includes the following: --Beware of bait and switch. The bait might be an advertisement on television or in a magazine for a pool at a very low price. The switch come when the salesman tries to discourage purchase of the advertised pool--and encourages buying a higher priced one. Consumers in this trap could spend far more than they wanted or could afford.

Watch out for the salesman who offers a "special" price on a "display" pool to show other customers. Very often the pool is never shown to anyone--and the "special" price is really the regular price charged to all customers. Be sure to find out the difference between the demonstrator price and the regular price.

Comparison shop and get at least three estimates to determine the best price.

Young Descendants Come from Ten States for 54th Reunion

Descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Young and other members of the family came from ten states for the 54th annual reunion, held Saturday afternoon and Sunday, June 25 and 26. Approximately 125 attended. Hosts were the three daughters living here, Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Lowry, Mrs. Jack Lowry and Mrs. Rufus Sweat, and a granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schaub and children of Lutie.

The first event was the luncheon at the Schaub home. (Mrs. Schaub was Harriett Lowry). This is the farm where Mr. and Mrs. Young settled more than 65 years ago, and where their children grew up.

In the afternoon the teenagers and smaller children went to Salt Fork River to wade. It was the first time some of the youngsters had ever played in a river. Later they had watermelon in Pioneer Park.

The family supper was served at Bura Handley Community Center where a number of friends joined them. Sunday events were there also, and other friends visited. Each time they were together, there was much singing, for this is a family known for the contributions of song the various members have made to their community.

Besides the three sisters here, brothers and sisters attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Young of Seagoville; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Young of Portales, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. James Young of Irving; Mrs. Madeline Vaughan and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Taylor of Arlington; and Mrs. Frank Thompson of Southgate, Calif.

Two daughters-in-law, widows of deceased brothers, joined them, Mrs. Grover Young of Arlington and Mrs. T.C. Young of Muleshoe. The third sister-in-law, Mrs. Jason Young of Houston, could not attend, but members of her family were present.

Children of the three daughters living here were present also, Mr. and Mrs. Schaub, and Dr. and Mrs. Joel Lowry and children of Vernon, children of Mrs. Jack Lowry; Mrs. Dorris Lowrie and children of Arlington, Mr. and Mrs. James Coley and Crystal, and Don Paul Sweat of Dallas, children of Mrs. Rufus Sweat; and Boyd Neal Lowry of Gordon, son of Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Lowry.

Among the former residents were two cousins, Mrs. Faye Messick Cook of Albuquerque, N.M.; Mrs. Lora Messick Hotchkiss of Big Timber, Montana, and her three children, Mrs. Spence Hall and Howard Hotchkiss of South Dakota, and John Hotchkiss of Floydada.

States represented at the reunion were Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Massachusetts, Kentucky, Louisiana, California, South Dakota, Montana and New Mexico.

Electric Skillet Versatile

"One for all and all for one" could describe today's electric skillet, which can be an economical kitchen tool--if it meets family's needs, Lynn Bourland, a family resource management specialist, says.

Depending on size and style, it can fry, roast, bake or broil a variety of menu items--efficiently and conveniently, she said.

Miss Bourland is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

In choosing an electric skillet, consumers might consider easy-care features, such as detachable legs, handles, and thermostatic controls--along with no-stick interiors and immersible procelain enamel exteriors. Also, some are dishwasher safe.

Other features aid cooking. They include baking and broiling racks, warming tray, fry basket and broiler lid. A tilt leg permits basting and draining of grease while cooking. A cover that locks at different angles serves as a spatter shield, and it provides a place to rest the lid when adding ingredients or stirring food in the pan.

A high-domed lid can provide extra head room for large cuts of meat and other "tall orders." Sizes range from 7x10 inches to 11x16 inches.

Best guides for proper care and handling are the manufacturer's instruction. Read them before using a skillet for the first time, Miss Bourland advises.

Generally, before using the skillet, if immersible, it should be washed in warm sudsy water to remove any manufacturing oils.

If the interior has a non-stick finish, it must be conditioned by wiping the surface lightly with salad oil on a paper towel. Let the residue remain on the finish.

Also, follow care instructions for special attachments, such as a broiler element, rack, tray or crockery insert--and remember to clean the underside of a skillet by scouring lightly, she added.

Peach Ice Takes The Sizzle Out Of Summer

Catch the flavor of summer in frosty fruit desserts. Since corn syrup helps prevent sugar crystals from forming during freezer storage, desserts like this Peach Ice can be made ahead, stored in the freezer and enjoyed at the end of a light summer supper.

PEACH ICE

- 1/2 cup water
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 4 cups peeled, pitted, ripe peaches (about 2 lbs)
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 1/2 cups Karo light corn syrup

In small saucepan sprinkle gelatin over water. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin dissolves. Place half of peaches and lemon juice in blender container; cover. Blend at high speed 1 minute or until liquefied. Add remaining peaches 1 at a time continuously blending until all are liquefied. With blender at low speed gradually add gelatin mixture and corn syrup until blended. Pour into 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Freeze 1 to 2 hours or until almost firm. Beat until smooth but still frozen. Cover and freeze 3 hours, or until firm. Makes 1 1/2 quarts.

Consumers Demand, Get "Freezers-at-your-Feet"

COLLEGE STATION--Victory for consumers demanding "freezers-at-their-feet" is on the appliance-market horizon, a Texas home economist reports.

Refrigerators with a bottom-mounted freezer compartment are making a comeback--after at 10-year absence from the market, and consumer demand is responsible, Mrs. Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist, says.

"Industry had thought the side-by-side refrigerator-freezer would be a better design than bottom-mounted freezers, which they phased out in the late 1960's."

"However, recent market research shows that nearly 50 percent of bottom-mount owners want to replace old units with the same style," she explains.

Mrs. McCormack is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Looking at reasons for the returning design's popularity, she said a bottom-mount freezer puts all the other refrigerator contents at an easy-to-reach level--without the need for bending, and many consumers like that, since most use the refrigerator compartment five times more often than the freezer section. Still, family lifestyle and budget and space limits should be the major factors in shopping for refrigerators, the specialist advises.

Try cooking sweet potatoes tempurs style in a light batter, quickly fried in hot oil.

Charcoal Cooking--How to Prepare and Control Fire

COLLEGE STATION--Charcoal fire is ready for outdoor cooking once it is a rosy bed of coals covered with grey ash--but if flames are still visible, the fire is not ready.

Achieving a good bed of coals for meal preparation depends on several basic steps, says Marilyn Haggard, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Start the fire 30-60 minutes ahead of time so flames can die down and the coals turn gray.

To begin, stack briquettes in a pyramid, soak lightly with charcoal lighter fluid, let stand one minute, and then light. Never use fuel oil, kerosene or gasoline to start a fire--as they are highly flammable, and the smoke leaves an oily taste on the food.

Hickory chips add a distinctive flavor to charcoaled meats, so if they are in the outdoor cooking plan, prepare them early by overnight soaking in water.

After the fire is lit, drain the chips and place a small mound of them in the fire center--a handful is sufficient.

Long-term cooking of larger meat cuts may require additional chips later.

To keep the fire burning, protect it from drafts that might cause overheating and "hot spots."

If more charcoal is needed, place new pieces at the fire edge and move them into the center once grey ash covers them. For quick extra heat, simply knock the accumulation of ash from the burning charcoal.

To control flames produced by fat dripping onto hot coals, keep a spray bottle of water handy--or a bit of baking soda.

If you wrap potatoes in foil, you're really steaming not baking them.

Also, manufacturers are treating synthetics and blended fabrics in various ways to make them more appealing--fabric surfaces are brushed, sanded, napped or treated in other ways to make them soft to touch.

For synthetic and blended fabrics, sueding is the most popular finish, followed closely by brushing, she said.

THE WELLINGTON (TEXAS) LEADER
Thursday, June 30, 1977

AUSTIN — Rep. Frank Hartung, backed by House Speaker Bill Clayton, has made a bid to have his state money management bill revived on the agenda for the forthcoming special legislative session.

The Houston Republican told a news conference this week he and Clayton have both written Gov. Dolph Briscoe asking that HB 1984 be included on the agenda of the session now scheduled to begin July 11.

HB 1984, which died in a Senate committee during the last days of the regular session, requires the State Treasury and Depository Board to invest more of the state's money in interest-paying time deposits.

It would also grant the state agency new power to invest in savings and loan accounts, as well as government securities, authority the Treasury doesn't have under present law.

Hartung said the state is currently losing $2 million monthly on money deposited in non-interest paying checking accounts scattered in more than 1,300 banks state-wide.

He said it was appropriate his bill should be included in the special session called to pass a public school finance bill for the next two years.

The approximately $42 million lost every two years because of poor money management could be used to help finance public schools in Texas, he said.

Hartung admitted he hasn't had any indication from the governor that his bill is being considered as a special session agenda item.

Also bidding for a spot in the session are bills to repeal the state sales tax on utilities and to reform the state property tax code. So far, however, Briscoe had indicated only public school finance will be on the agenda and all other matters are merely under consideration.

Water Agencies
The Texas Water Development Board began last Monday the work of reorganizing the present three state water agencies into one entity to be known as the Texas Water Resources Board.

The WDB is responsible for carrying out the reorganization under a new law passed by the 65th Legislature and effective Sept. 1. The Texas Water Quality Board, Water Development Board and Water Rights Commission are to be combined.

All three of the current executive directors are vying openly for the job as head of the super agency including Hugh C. Yantis (WQB), Gen. James M. Rose (WDB) and Robert Schnieder (WRC).

However, WDB Chairman A. L. Black said after the first meeting the final choice might come from outside the present executive circle. "I wouldn't want to narrow the field down to any one, two or three individuals," Black said.

Hill Will Sue
Atty. Gen. John Hill said this week he will take the Texas Water Rights Commission to court if necessary to overturn its latest order.

Last week the WRC okayed a $50 million, 55-year contract by which the Lower Colorado River Authority will sell water to the South Texas Nuclear Project at Bay City.

Hill maintains the water in the state's rivers and impoundments belongs to the people and while river authorities have the right to control it, they have no right to sell it.

Reminded that several other river authorities in the state are selling water under similar contracts, Hill remarked "I've learned a lot from this case and we'll be looking at some of these other contracts too."

Appointments
Just before leaving on vacation, Gov. Briscoe handed out appointments to various state agencies and institutions by the bunches.

These included three new members to the Texas Southern University Board of Regents, the Rev. Moses L. Price and Ronald Pruitt of Houston, Milledge A. Hart III of Dallas, and the reappointment of Ernest S. Sterling of Tyler.

Texas Tech University also got three new regents in Clint Formby of Hereford, Roy K. Furr of Lubbock and James L. Snyder of Baird.

James R. (Jim Bob) Paxton of Palestine was appointed to a six year term on the Parks and Wildlife Commission replacing long-time member Jack R. Stone of Wells who is resigning.

New Judgeship
Olin G. Wellborn Jr. of Alvin is Briscoe's choice for the bench of the newly created 239th Judicial District Court in Brazoria County.

Judge Wellborn is formerly judge of the 23rd Judicial District Court.

He said he will not be a candidate for election to the judgeship in 1978, stating "my successor should be elected by the people."

AG Opinions
Atty. Gen. John Hill has held a sheriff may not make an arrest outside of his county for an offense even if it is committed in his presence or within his view. He can only make a citizen's arrest but not act in his official capacity as sheriff, Hill held.

In another opinion Hill held the state auditor should disclose information on charges involving state employees who received pay-

JIM WHITE AT THE RIVER BRIDGE

Jim White stands in front of the Salt Fork River Bridge in 1949 when repairs were being made after a truck accident. White was familiar with the river crossing before any bridges were built there. He was a cattleman who, in his later years, ran a gasoline station-tourist court where Pioneer Park is now located. During the late '30's and early 40's he sponsored "platform dances" under the cottonwood trees on the banks of the river. He knew stories about the crossing that spanned the time from the days when worn travois poles were scattered along the banks through the day when the railroad bridge washed out and took a section of the highway bridge along with it.

Airport Program

Texas towns interested in improving their airports again have the opportunity to receive matching funds, provided they act quickly.

This word comes from the Texas Aeronautics Commission, which again is emphasizing the need for improved airport facilities.

It is another of the programs in which Wellington should be interested and should investigate.

Traffic at Marian Airpark continues to grow and, in fact, no one knows just how large it is. Those who are familiar with airports in other area towns this size say that Wellington's traffic exceeds the others.

The number of pilots in Collingsworth County is growing. The number of businesses that use or could use air transportation is growing. It is a center for agri-spraying businesses, there is a qualified flight instructor based at the airport, it is becoming equipped to handle air ambulance service.

The funds available for airport improvement come under FY 1978 Texas Airport Aid Program. But any city expecting to benefit from it must act before September 1. Foot-draggers will find no place in it.

Water in 25 Years?

Shamrock's ideal geographical location astride U.S. Highway 83 and Interstate 40 assures a steady growth sufficient to pose a serious water problem for the area 25 years down the line. Community leaders through the city's Planning and Zoning Commission would do well to spark an immediate interest in the completion of plans to construct the proposed dam on Sweetwater Creek northeast of Wheeler. If immediate approval was given to the project we might be looking at 25 years before it could be providing a desperately needed water supply to area industry and individual users.

TV Undermines Rights?

Television violence has gotten a bad name lately, what with the PTA and the AMA out to get it off the air.

Psychologists have been trying for decades to decide if televised violence contributes to our violent society and if it does, how. Their answers are inconclusive. Take a point of view to defend and you can find studies to support it.

But a group of lawyers are worried about another danger from the super cop and crime shows.

They are afraid the beating our constitutional rights get from the TV detectives will undermine these protections in real life.

Protections against self-incrimination, double jeopardy, ex-post facto law and the right of due process were hard-earned rights secured for us by the English ancestors of our colonial settlers and written down for us in our Bill of Rights and in other constitutional amendments.

We take them for granted, but they are fragile reeds that depend for their existence on the insistence of the public that they are upheld.

Our courts, of course, are the intermediate guardians of our guarantees but courts eventually reflect the majority attitudes of the public. If you doubt that, pull out your American history schoolbook and reread the chapter on the Supreme Court about face on the Depression legislation after FDR tried to pack the court. Or, closer in time, keep up with the decisions being handed down by the Supreme Court this term.

Keep all that in mind when Baretta or Starsky and Hutch go outside the law to catch a crook.

It may well be a better service if the PTA and AMA demanded a bit of respect for our constitution.

Students Apathetic

Times-Do-Change-For-The-Better Department: It's been less than a decade since student dissidents on hundreds of campuses spurred normal routes for discussion and took over administration buildings.

And, boy, have things changed. University of Minnesota Regent David Lebedoff invited the school's 45,000 students to sit down with him recently and tell him whatever was on their minds.

Only two showed up. The meeting was the second under a blanket invitation policy instituted by Lebedoff. Eighteen people showed up the first time. Carroll Wilson in The Canyon News

Librarian Given State Certification

Mrs. Clara Frances Mote has been temporarily certified as a county librarian, she was notified by Dorman H. Winfrey, chairman, Texas State Board of Library Examiners.

The certification, effective until December 31, 1977, is renewable by the librarian's continuing study and by attending workshops held regularly.

Certification of the librarian was one of two requirements lacking for the Collingsworth County Library to become a member of the Texas Library System.

The other qualification is that the library must reach 10,000 volumes by August 31, 1980.

The library will now qualify provisionally for membership and the Texas Library System must be informed how it expects to acquire the additional volumes by the deadline, according to Maria Atkission, administrative assistant for planning and management department, Library Development Division, Texas State Library, Austin.

"We need the cooperation of everyone in order to reach the required number of books," said Mrs. Mote. "We believe we will have 8,000 volumes by the end of the year, when everything is catalogued."

Mrs. Mote named several ways in which the public can assist in increasing the number of books.

"When you clean out your bookshelves, remember the Library, she urged. Many books can be placed on the shelves directly. Those that are duplicates of books now in the library, or which are not needed, can be placed with those included in the book sales, held from time to time.

"I can usually find a home for any book we can't use," the librarian said.

There are provisions for the books to be given as memorials. The families of those in whose memory the books are given will be notified.

Donations of money can be made. These may be as memorials or simply to help the library. This money goes into a fund for the purchase of books.

A group of new books have been added for summer reading, Mrs. Mote announced.

Included are "Roots" by Alex Haley; "Return of the Virginian," by H. Allen Smith; "Past Forgetting," by Kay S. Morgan; "Nothing is Impossible With God," by Kathryn Kuhlman; "The Texas Sampler," by Donna Bearden; and "Kissing Kin," by Elswyth Thane.

Three books were given in memory of Mrs. O.B. Raburn: "The Hiding Place" by Corrie ten Boom; "Joni," by Joni Eareckson; and "Tisha" by Robert Specht.

New children's books are "Charlotte's Web," by E.B. White, and "Favorite Horse Stories" illustrated by Sam Savitt.

Memorial donations given in memory of George Brewer were from Mr. and Mrs. Billy Williams and Mrs. A.V. Mote.

National Guard to Camp July 29

Wellington National Guard members leave for summer camp at Ft. Hood Friday, July 29, and remain through August 12, Sgt. James Harris said this week.

An advanced detachment will leave Wellington July 27 with supplies and equipment.

During the drill period of July 9 and 10, the men will complete arrangements for the camp and load much of their equipment.

Sgt. Harris also announced that the Wellington unit has an authorized strength of 33, but as a result of recruiting through April, May and the early part of June, its strength has grown to 45 members.

The unit recently received the Governor's Commendation from Governor Dolph Briscoe for its participation following the Quail Tornado, in which members stood guard duty overnight to prevent looting by persons outside the community, and to keep unauthorized persons out of the Quail School grounds.

Fifteen members of the unit have completed a six-months long mortar course at Amarillo, which consisted of fire director control, forward observing, firing and maintenance of the 4.2" mortar.

This course was conducted by the Army with instructors coming from Ft. Sam Houston.

The Wellington Unit is Detachment 1, Support Company, 2nd Battalion, 142nd Infantry, 49th Armored Division.

You can BANK on it!
By BILLY MOSELEY
President
CITY STATE BANK

Bank customers concerned about providing for their own retirement benefited recently from a new ruling by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve. Beginning this summer, many banks will begin paying even higher interest rates on Individual Retirement Accounts (called IRAs). The increase in rates is caused by an amendment to federal regulations which allows banks to pay as high a rate to IRA customers as can be paid by any other financial institution.

Inequities in the old regulations created a situation which was unfair to bank customers wishing to use IRA.

The Individual Retirement Account is designed for people not under an approved pension or retirement plan. It allows depositors to place up to $1500 a year into a retirement fund for themselves.

If you have questions on IRA or what the new regulations may mean to you, please check with any of our officers. When they tell you about IRA... you can BANK on it!

Have Information For Ambulance

Persons who call the Sheriff's Department to request an ambulance are asked, if possible, to answer 5 questions the dispatcher will ask, requests Bob Watson, Ambulance Service president.

This information is:

- 1-The name of the person calling.
- 2-Location where the ambulance is needed, being as specific as possible.
- 3-Name of the patient or accident victim, if known.
- 4-The nature of the call (is it a car wreck, is the patient critical or is it a less urgent situation, etc.)
- 5-Telephone number calling

This is especially necessary if it is a rural call, when it may be necessary to call back to get directions.

"We have had several instances of persons calling in and requesting an ambulance and not giving enough information," said Bob Watson, president.

"The ambulance driver has answered a 'call 3' running with siren and lights, sometimes this has been unnecessary and endangers people in the ambulance and those on the road. We need enough information to know what we will have when we get there."

State Aid Available To Texas Airports

The Texas Aeronautics Commission is accepting requests from Texas counties and municipalities for matching funds under the FY 1978 Texas Airport Aid Program. Charles Murphy, Executive Director, announced that applications for grants are being sought prior to the September 1, 1977 starting date in order to expedite program funding.

The Legislature has appropriated $1 million for the FY '78 program, which, under the 50/50 matching grant provisions, can provide economic benefits to a substantial number of communities. The emphasis of the program this year will be upon construction of airports in communities not now served, and especially upon those unable to obtain federal aid.

Every effort will be made to expedite construction of approved projects in order to assure their completion within the same fiscal year. Cities and counties prepared for immediate action are encouraged to respond. Higher priority will be placed on requests for matching funds greater than $5,000 for local capital airport improvements.

The Legislature has removed the restriction which previously limited the Commission's participation to communities of less than 75,000 population, and has raised the amount of 50/50 matching funds available for any single airport project to $75,000. Cities and counties which have already filed a formal request for aid may revise their requests or confirm by letter, that their applications are still valid.

For further information or application forms, contact the Texas Aeronautics Commission, P.O. Box 12607, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711.

Conserve Moisture in Landscaping at Home

COLLEGE STATION--Drought conditions in many areas mean homeowners and gardeners must decide how to best use irrigation water. Sometimes, certain plants may have to be sacrificed to save others, says Everett E. Janne, landscape horticulturist, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In general, plants used in the home landscape can be categorized in the following manner: lawn and ground covers, shrub borders, flower beds and trees.

Since trees usually serve a multipurpose role in the landscape, providing enframing, background, screen and shade, they are difficult to replace and should generally receive priority when it comes to watering. Trees require years to become large enough to be effective in the landscape whereas a lawn or shrub area can be replaced in a season or two if weather conditions are favorable. So, if the water supply is limited, Janne suggests using it to keep trees in as healthy a condition as possible even if it means sacrificing other choice plants.

The horticulturist also suggests a number of cultural practices to aid the homeowner in reducing water needs and conserving available water:

1. Use a mulch whenever possible. This reduces surface evaporation and keeps the root zone cooler. Good mulch materials include pine bark, wood shavings, straw, hay, gravel, plastic film and mulching paper.

2. Use soaker hoses or flood irrigation if possible. Sprinkler irrigation during the daytime and on windy days will result in high moisture losses due to evaporation.

3. If sprinkler irrigation is the only practical method available, use sprinkler heads that will allow the soil to take up the moisture as fast as it falls so as to prevent runoff.

4. Sprinkler irrigation is most efficient from late evening to early morning when the evaporation rate is the lowest. This may increase plant disease problems, but proper use of fungicides can keep these problems to a minimum.

5. Water thoroughly when irrigating. Frequent light applications of irrigation water are wasteful and encourage shallow root growth. When watering, soak the soil to a depth of six to eight inches.

FB Queen-Talent Find Contest Set

The 1977 Collingsworth County Farm Bureau Queen will be chosen Saturday, July 16, in the traditional festivity surrounding that event.

At the same time, the Collingsworth County Farm Bureau Talent find will be named.

Mitchell To FB Commodity Meet at Waco

A Collingsworth County Farm Bureau leader will attend a statewide Farm Bureau commodity conference July 6-7, in Waco, according to Albert Fulcher of Wellington, president.

Representing the county organization will be Monty Mitchell of Quail.

He will be among producer representatives in the five Texas Farm Bureau commodity divisions who will discuss policy development subjects surfaced earlier in county meetings.

Invited to attend are the county presidents and commodity committee chairmen in the 103 counties that have county commodity organizations in either the TFB's cotton, citrus, dairy, peanuts or rice divisions.

A number of counties have more than one commodity division. There are 55 counties with cotton divisions, three with citrus, 35 dairy, 18 peanut, and 12 with rice divisions.

Several prominent agricultural leaders and government officials will address the meeting. These include Allan Grant, Visalia, Calif., president of the American Farm Bureau Federation; David L. Humne, Washington, D.C., administrator of the Foreign Agricultural Service of U.S. Department of Agriculture; and U.S. Rep. Jack Hightower, Vernon, member of the House Agriculture Committee.

Top executives, educators and government officials will speak in separate meetings of the various commodity divisions.

The annual summer commodity conference complements one held early in the year dealing with implementations of Farm Bureau policies for commodities involved.

Plans were announced by Mrs. Veva Davis, FB office manager.

The contest will be in Bura Handley Community Center at 8:00 p.m.

Those wishing to enter either event should contact the FB office in Wellington by Wednesday, July 6.

The new Farm Bureau Queen will receive her crown from DiAnna Schaub of Lutie, queen for the past year. David Null was the talent find winner.

We urge every young person who would like to participate in these contests to contact us," urged Mrs.

Davis.

She emphasized that the queen's contest is not a beauty contest. The contestants are judged on appearance, poise and personality. Each girl will wear an evening dress.

Other qualifications were announced:

A contestant must be at least 16 years of age by September 1, and not over 22 years on that date.

The contestant in either event must be the son or daughter, brother or sister of a FB member, and must never have been married.

Each queen contestant will make a one-minute speech,

"Why I am Glad My Parents Belong to Farm Bureau."

The talent find entry may be either a boy or girl, a single performer or a group.

Out of town judges will make the selections, and the two winners will represent the county at the District I contest in Amarillo.

Winners of that event will receive an expense-paid trip to Houston to the state FB convention, and to compete in the state contests.

Moore Visits Here After 40 Years

Joe Coleman of Odessa and his brother-in-law, Freeman Moore of Inglewood, Calif., visited in Wellington over the weekend.

It was Moore's first trip since he left Wellington 40 years ago, in December 1937. They went to the places Moore knew when he grew up here and noted the many changes. He graduated from Wellington High School in 1933.

Now semi-retired, he recalled that when he left Wellington he was working as a butcher in the J.T. Slay Grocery.

education. She has taught first grade in the Amherst Schools.

In the near future, a remodeling program will be started at the church, with the ceiling of the sanctuary to be lowered and the room paneled. Some work is scheduled on the parsonage, where minor tornado damage will be repaired.

The American robin is actually a thrush.

Messer Pastor of Quail Church

The Rev. Jeff Messer has accepted the pastorate of Quail Baptist Church, and preached his first sermon to the congregation June 12.

He and his wife, Donna, came to Quail from Fieldton, 35 miles west of Lubbock, where he was pastor of the Baptist Church three and one-half years. Prior to that, he was pastor of Valley View Baptist Church at Paducah two years.

Rev. Messer entered the ministry in 1969 and is a graduate of Wayland College, Plainview, with a B.A. Degree in religion and English. He was a member of the Circle K. Club, student branch of the Kiwanis Club.

His home town is Gruver, and while in high school, he worked three years for the Gruver News.

He is married to the former Donna McClure of Plainview. She is a Wayland graduate with a B.S. degree in

Daniel Remains In Wellington

Lyman Daniel told The Wellington Leader Tuesday morning, June 28, that he has refused the offer of the job of Dalhart City Manager "because of personal feelings."

"I feel I need to stay in Wellington," he said.

His statement came after a TV announcement and later a news media story released from Dalhart that he would move to that city.

Daniel, who was Wellington City Manager from March 1972 until January 1975, said the job was offered to him and he was interviewed by the Dalhart City Council Sunday.

"We were not given time to think about it Sunday," he said. He said the job was "a big challenge. I was impressed with Dalhart," but he pointed out that he owns an automobile parts business here.

Daniel is currently president of three groups: the Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce, Wellington Industrial Board, Inc., and Kiwanis Club. He is a member of Collingsworth General Hospital Board and in the training program for deacons of First Baptist Church. He is due to be ordained in July.

Dodge Wins Gold at WT

Dane Dodge took the gold medal in shot put competition at the WTSU track meet Saturday, June 25, the last step before he competes in the junior Olympics.

His first place distance was 48'7 1/2", the farthest he has ever hurled the 12-pound shot.

Dodge also was competing with the largest group he has come up against in the intermediate division. Approximately 20 young athletes from throughout West Texas competed.

MARJORIE SATTERFIELD

Mrs. Satterfield Completes Basic

SAN ANTONIO--Air Force Reserve Airman Marjorie R. Satterfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Brewer of 8218 Mariposa Ave., Citrus Heights, Calif., has graduated at Lackland AFB, Tex., from Air Force basic training.

The airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations. Completion of this training earned the individual credits towards an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Airman Satterfield now goes to Lowry AFB, Colo., for specialized training in the supply field.

The airman attended Roseville (Calif.) High School. Her husband, Ron E. Satterfield, is the son of Mrs. Bettie J. Kidwell of Rt. 3, Shamrock, Tex.

This weekend is open, then on Saturday, July 9, he will compete in the Junior Olympics at Borger.

Qualifiers in that event will compete on the regional level, and those winners will go to the National Junior Olympics.

Dodge, who will be a sophomore in Wellington High School, has competed twice in Amarillo, and at Hereford prior to the WT event.

ARE YOU COVERED?

There is so much to remember when you leave on a trip. If you are driving, make sure you have extended coverage on your auto or camper and that it is in force. Carry a list of numbers of agents in towns you will be in or near in case of emergency. If you are driving in a foreign country make sure you are covered . . . it costs only pennies to do so.
