The annual Fourth of July Extravaganza sponsored by the Ozona Chamber of Commerce will be held Saturday in the tree-shaded park in the center of town.

Fourteen booths were registered as of Tuesday morning. Included in the food booths will be fajitas prepared by the Knights of Columbus, barbecue on a bun from Ozona Woman's Forum, ho-made ice cream from the Day Care Center, pie-by-the-slice and coffee at the Helping Hands booth, Beta Sigma Phi, Coke booth; small cones at the First Baptist Church booth, fried chicken by the chamber of commerce and pralines and ice at the Historical Society booth.

The chamber will also sponsor a washer pitching booth. An EMT ring toss booth will add to the competitive spirit of the day, and the Methodist Youth Fellowship will sponsor the face painting booth.

The paint might get washed off during a trip to the 4-H dunking tank.

Crockett County Public Library will sponsor the sale of excess books from the library, and Ozona Woman's League members will be selling their soon-to-be-released cookbook, "Diamonds in the Desert".

The Arts and Crafts Guild booth will be filled with a large selection of craft items made by its members.

The day will end with a dance at the rodeo pavilion sponsored by the Knights of Columbus.

Food booths will begin serving about 11:30 a.m. Others can start when they like, said chamber manager Beth Boyd.

Price for a booth space is $25. Those who leave their areas clean will be refunded $10.

The range cook-off to be held at the fairgrounds is still open to all who wish to take part, said Mrs. Boyd.

Entertainment by local musicians will be one of the highlights of the day for visitors to the Extravaganza.

"Bring your lawn chair and enjoy a visit with your friends in the park," said Mrs. Boyd.

26.9 percent

County's taxes decline

The fourth quarter 1986 sales and use tax analysis report has been issued by the State Comptroller's office.

Crockett County is shown as having 148 outlets reporting gross sales of $8,744,624 with $3,049,259 subject to tax.

During the same quarter in 1985, gross sales were $11,966,879. The 1986 figures indicate a 26.9 percent decline.

Neighboring Reagan County's 152 reporting outlets recorded gross sales of $9,787,418 for the 1986 fourth quarter compared to $18,113,283 in 1985, a 46.0 percent decline. The amount subject to tax in the 1986 reporting period was $4,504,438.

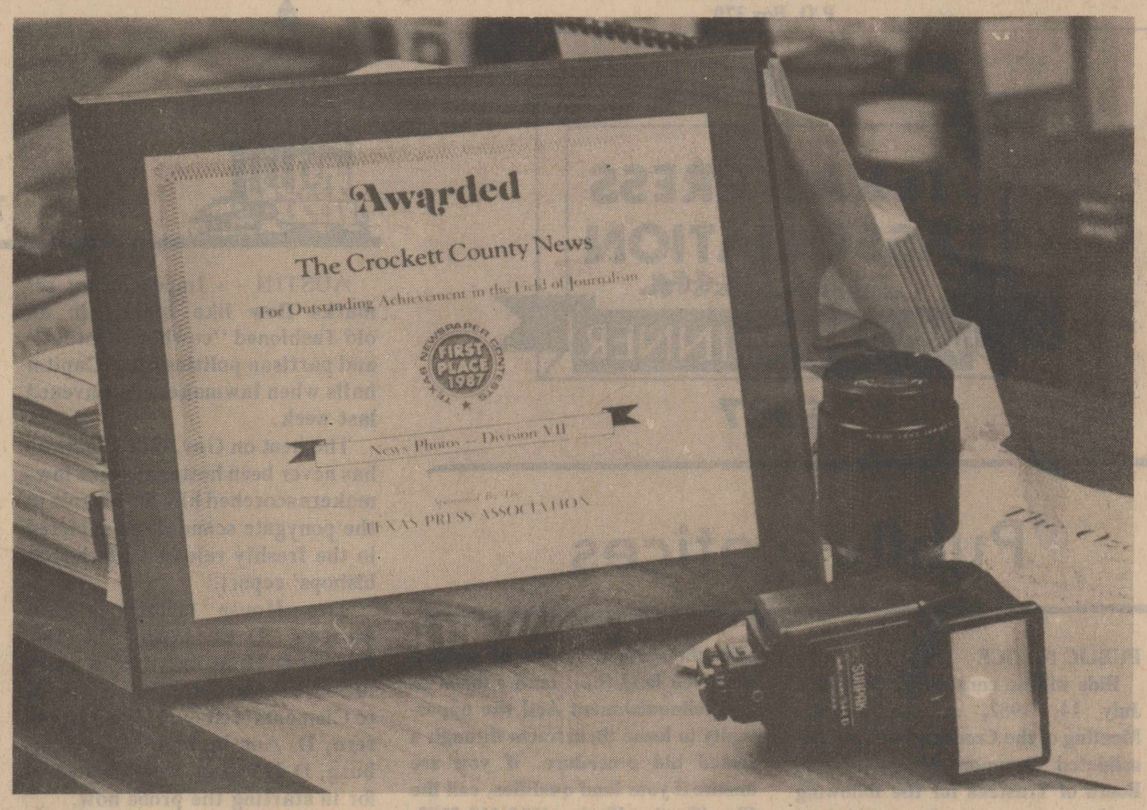

In Sutton County, 196 reporting outlets had 1986 fourth quarter sales of $78,679,453, compared to $14,228,742 in 1985, the report said. This accounted for an increase of 453.0 percent. The report listed $4,136,571 as the amount subject to tax.

In Upton County, 195 reporting outlets had gross sales of $77,527,547 for the fourth quarter of 1986. The figure for 1985 was $12,615,332, an increase of 514.6 percent.

The amount subject to tax in 1986 fourth quarter was listed as $3,206,200.

Val Verde County listed 841 reporting outlets with gross 1986 fourth quarter sales of $77,370,442. The 1985 comparison figure was $77,579,621, resulting in a decline of .3 percent. The amount subject to tax was $29,616,330 in the 1986 period.

Loving County was the only other county showing such a marked increase which would indicate special circumstances in Loving, Sutton and Upton counties.

Crockett County News captures top TPA photojournalism award

The Crockett County News received a first place award for excellence in photojournalism at the 108th annual summer convention of the Texas Press Association June 25-27 in Corpus Christi.

The award winning photographs in the June 16 edition featured 1986 Ozona Masters invitational track meet. The pictures were taken by John S. "Scotty" Moore, publisher of the Ozona Stockman.

That issue also carried one picture, that of a blimp seemingly parked at an exit sign, taken by Gary Davis.

Two issues were submitted in the competition to the judges of the award, the Oklahoma Press Association. The sports photographs, according to the judges, were of "excellent quality with good contrast...the faces were sharp and clear".

A July issue was required as part of the entry with a second paper to be submitted from any other month. The required month changes each year.

Periodicals are grouped in certain divisions according to circulation and frequency of publication. The Crockett County News was among 157 weeklies in its division with a circulation of under 1,500.

Moore, his wife Linda and sons Scott and Roy, attended the convention along with approximately 350 other TPA members. Speakers at the two-day convention included former Arizona governor Bruce Babbitt, Texas Monthly senior editor Paul Burka and James R. Adams, president of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's Texas division. The award was presented during a breakfast by TPA president Charles Schulz of the Taylor Daily Press.

The award resulted from 12 years of weekly photographic experience and endless hours spent in the darkroom in search of the perfect picture. "I like the artistic and journalistic values imparted by good photographs," Moore said, explaining his dedication to good photographic techniques.

Moore first learned how to take pictures while attending Ozona High School under the critical eye of the late Mildred North. "I learned the right way to take a picture and the wrong way to take a picture. She (North) was one of the very finest photographers I've ever seen, despite the fact she was not a working professional. You did the picture right or you didn't do it at all."

Sports photographs are the hardest pictures Moore has to capture. "You only have a split second to capture the event as it happens, and the lighting is usually poor." Other favorite photographic subjects for Moore include small animals and children. "I like to capture a child with a happy face."

The veteran newspaperman moved back to Ozona following 10 years as publisher/owner of The Texas Mohair Weekly in Rocksprings. He began The Crockett County News in June of 1985 and purchased The Ozona Stockman in April of this year and merged it with The Crockett County News.

After five years of teaching math, Moore became a logging engineer for Dresser Atlas. "I got tired of working in the oil field 24-hours a day, so I bought The Texas Mohair Weekly. Now I can work 36 hours a day, seven days a week."

The Moores currently own and publish both The Texas Mohair Weekly in Rocksprings and The Ozona Stockman.

Electrical failure leaves Ozona in darkness

Most Ozonans experienced a temporary plunge back into the days of no electricity when a 35 minute blackout occured on the line behind the West Texas Utilities' office the evening of June 25.

A bad connector, which burned an electrical line down, initially disrupted service to approximately 20 residents at 9:50 p.m., according to WTU's Steve Bueno. Following examination by three WTU servicemen, service was disconnected to approximately two-thirds of Ozona residents. The blackout area occured south of Interstate 10 and east of Johnson Draw. Though most service was restored within a 35 minute period, some residents were without electric power for more than one hour, Bueno said.

"There was no way to repair the bad connector with the line being hot," Bueno said. Sheriff's Department and fire department personnel cordoned off the area behind the Ozona National Bank and the WTU offices during the repair.

Class of '37 holds 50th reunion

The Ozona High School Class of 1937 will celebrate its 50th anniversary Saturday, July 11, 1987. Committees have been at work and report that most class members are planning to attend.

The following schedule will be observed.

1 p.m., registration, Heritage Building, Ozona Public Schools

4 p.m. Open House, Ozona Inn of the West Dining Room. Public invited - an opportunity for former schoolmates and friends to visit.

7 p.m. Class Dinner. Ozona Inn of the West.

Few local holiday closings to occur

Crockett County National Bank and Ozona National Bank and the Crockett county offices will be closed Friday, July 3, in observance of Independence Day.

Most retail businesses will be open Friday, July 3, according to Beth Boyd, chamber of commerce manager.

Mail will come in and go out on Friday, but post office windows will close at noon Friday.

Ozona squirrels provide entertainment for residents and tourists as they cavort in the park on the square. This little ham eluded the camera for a long while before deciding to pose for photographer Susan Sheppard.

Detention center may locate in Brady

Crockett County Detention Center, Inc. representatives met recently with Brady City Council and again with the McCulloch County Commissioners regarding the location of a detention center at Brady.

The group was invited to present a proposal to the two governing bodies for a privately owned prison of 500 beds. The facility, once built, would be subject to lease, rent or sale to the State of Texas.

The city council and county commissioners both passed resolutions welcoming the location of the detention center at Brady after hearing the Crockett County group's proposal.

"At present we are trying to get another proposal ready for the State of Texas," said Burl Myers, secretary/treasurer of the detention center group. "We're just trying to be in the right place at the right time."

A previous obstacle to the detention center was lack of legislation allowing the state to contract with private enterprises for such facilities. However, the state has recently passed new legislation (SB 251) which will allow the state to contract with private enterprises for financing, construction, operation, maintenance, and management of correction facilities.

Further enabling legislation providing funding for correctional facilities is pending. If approved by voters, this bill would authorize the issuance of $300 million in general obligation bonds for the construction of corrections, youth corrections or mental health and mental retardation facilities.

"We're waiting for the state right now," Myers said.

The funding bill is expected to pass as the state is under pressure to ease the problem of prison overcrowding.

All of the state's present prisons are presently located in East Texas.

"They call Brady West Texas and we call it Central Texas," Myers said. The geographic center of Texas is located a few miles north of Brady.

Myers expressed optimism for Brady if the state decides to have a non-East Texas location for a detention center.

Emphasizing the need to wait on funding legislation, Myers said "If we could predict what those guys (state legislators) are going to do we would all be rich."

The possibility of a detention center being located at Ozona still exists, according to Myers. "We're still working on it."

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - - Impeachment remarks flew like bullets in an old-fashioned "cowboy shootout" and partisan politics filled Capitol halls when lawmakers reconvened last week.

The heat on Gov. Bill Clements has never been hotter as some lawmakers scorched him for his role in the ponygate scandal, as depicted in the freshly released Methodist bishops' report.

Two House members, Paul Moreno, D-El Paso, Al Edwards, D-Houston, filed a resolution to begin a inquiry geared to Clements' removal. Lena Guerrero, D- Austin, and Debra Danburg, D-Houston, were also vocal for in starting the probe now.

Attorney Gen. Jim Mattox said his office is investigating whether Clements broke any state laws during Ponygate or committed other impeachable acts.

By the end of the week, cooler heads urged members to work instead on the task they couldn't finish in regular session, the forging of a new state budget in the face of dwindling revenues.

Hobby Sets Pace

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby quickly established the pace of the special session by zipping his previous budget plan through the Senate in a quick two days.

His opening gambit was to retake his position held when the curtain rang down a month ago. (Clements responded in kind, promising to veto Hobby's budget because it needs new taxes.)

And it was Hobby who effectively signaled House liberals to lay off the impeachment calls for awhile.

"His administration has been unfortunate for the state, as there have been other unfortunate administrations, but I see no grounds for impeachment," Hobby said.

Make no mistake about it. The opposition is intense between the Hobby and Clements political camps, and may diminish only with the political demise of one or the other.

Here It Comes!

So stuck in the middle again with the burden of forging a budget compromise is Speaker Gib Lewis and the House.

Their package doesn't spend as much as Hobby's, but opposes Clements because it will necessitate almost a penny increase in the state sales tax.

Thus, the House leadership prepares to make the end game run voters have anticipating for months: pass a tax bill in the face of Bill Clements and then override his veto.

Even veterans will learn new tricks in the coming political hardball which will change the course of this state forever.

Clean House Movement?

Speaking of change, some say that wholesale changes will occur almost immediately out of this special session. A larger-than-usual number of lawmakers in both parties, because of the forced vote on new taxes, will opt to retire or be defeated in the '88 elections.

Other Capital-watchers are beginning to speak quietly of the possibility of a "clean house" movement by the voters.

The political squabbling, the budget failures, and the charges of improper conduct on the part of several officials have some observers wondering how long voters can stomach it all.

No matter the outcome of this special session, lots of people are going to go home mad.

Partisan Survival

But partisan survival instincts probably won't let Texas walk gracefully into the next decade.

This Legislature is already controversial for many reasons. Judgment Day lies ahead.

The '88 presidential election, particularly if a Texan is a candidate, will attract many Texans to the polls to approve of disapprove the acts of these legislators.

In '90, political parties will want to tilt the Legislature in their favor as they begin to redraw boundaries. That, too, will pull all the stops out of the election.

Texas First

Recent elections here have forged a rather strong block of independent voters, folks who split their ticket in the voting booth.

Lawmakers may do well to try to view the Legislature through their eyes.

We have calls for impeachment of the governor and supreme court justices. We have shrill warnings of hot state checks and loss of credit ratings. We have leadership practicing brinksmanship.

We don't have enough money. We have no budget. We have one month left. We have the eyes of the nation on us.

The average Texan can identify with it. He or she just wants Texas to rise above it.

The Perry Hubbard home on 12th Street has been chosen by Ozona Garden Club to receive the Garden of the Week award. The attractive brick home has a perfectly manicured yard with liriope and boxwood edging the front of the house. Juniper at the corner leads the passerby to the side of the property where a cactus garden marks a corner near the driveway. Roses border the drive and lead into a back yard where pots of colorful caladiums can be seen on the patio.

Girl Scout Camp offers varied experiences

Camp Baggett Girl Scout Day Camp was a huge success in 1987 despite the weather. Just ask any of the 45 girls, leaders and aides who participated.

The girls met each morning at the junior high, beginning Monday, June 1, and continuing through Friday of that week, when Coach Jerry Tucker drove them three miles north to the Bill Baggett Ranch. Once there, a flag ceremony started the day's events with the whole camp participating. Afterwards, the girls, their leaders, and aides moved into five units where they remained for the rest of the day.

Rainy weather threatened throughout, but became a real problem only on Wednesday, forcing the camp to close for the day. The girls made up for the disruption, however, by spending the night in the camp Thursday.

Each day's activities included preparing lunches within the units except for Monday and Friday. Monday the girls "brownbagged" it. On Friday they ate at headquarters. Planning menus and turning them in was one of the unit responsibilities each day.

Collecting wood and building campfires for each day's lunch preparation kept the girls busy and was a new experience for many of them.

Arts and crafts were also included in the camp's activities. Erika Kenison and Gina Snyder helped the girls create necklaces and bracelets of yarn as a project. They also helped the girls make attractive buttons to wear. Patricia Maldonado joined the arts and crafts activity Thursday and proved to be a big help.

Justin Coates, Randy Judd, and Tony Lewis contributed by being errand guys for the camp. Randy was also the supply clerk.

Coach Tucker, Tommy and Cade directed a successful volleyball and kickball activity for the girls.

Thelma Janes directed the camp, assisted by Kathy Grendahl. Charlotte Judd returned as camp nurse. She was busy throughout although the only real casualty was an ant sting on a finger.

In keeping with Camp Baggett tradition, a daily newspaper was prepared and distributed each day to the girls. This year Vicky Gonzales collected and wrote the material. Helen Kenison typed the paper. Mary Lou Hayes joined the campers before the week was over and took on the chore of illustrating the paper with cute little sketches.

The Baggett Bulletin included gossip and news from each unit. Jokes such as these were featured -- Question: Why do radio announcers have small hands? Answer: Wee Paws for station identification. And another -- Question: What does a pig most often see the doctor for? Answer: A sty.

Outstanding campers for each day were recognized in the camp's newspaper as well. The most outstanding camper Monday was Diana Pierson because "she was the first to volunteer for the dirtiest job -- the latrine."

Tuesday's outstanding camper was Eva Elizondo who was a first time camper who proved to be a good helper -- even enjoying dishwashing.

Leana Baggett, who became known as "Fast Deer" during the Indian lore lessons, and Melissa Childress, aka "Pocahantas", were named overall campers of the day for Thursday.

Lauren Wilkins earned the title of #1 Sing Song Girl.

Although making their campsites attractive and neat were important projects for the girls, Indian lore was the highlight of Thursday's activities.

Camp Baggett was visited by several Mertzon guests. Kim Johnson, Jan Hodnett and Michan Kehligh came from Mertzon's Troop 185. Also from Mertzon were Doris Shank and Roline Murray who taught the girls an Indian song and how to use Indian Lemee sticks.

Thursday's lunch was a progressive affair with each unit contributing some part of it. Unit 1 prepared a wheelbarrow of dessert consisting of fresh apples, bananas and oranges. Unit 2's contribution was the taco meat which they prepared. Unit 3 prepared the drinks and grated the cheese. Unit 4 chopped tomatoes while Unit 5 chopped lettuce.

Tired, but happy, the Girl Scouts climbed onto the bus Friday afternoon for the last ride back to town. Camp Baggett is done for this year, but memories will live on.

The girls and leaders say "Thanks so very much for the great campsite" to Bill, Jewell, Penn and Lara Sue Baggett.

Not even the weather can dampen Girl Scout spirit.

Colorful clowns with big blue eyes and auburn hair were made in Monday morning's craft class.

Monday afternoon, residents enjoyed a game of ring toss and a short exercise routine. Residents participating were Samuel Martinez, Harry Blatchford, Elzy Bishop, Moriama Perez, Lucia Rios, Doris Robnett, Edna Wallace and Nellie Harp. Edna made tossing ringers look easy.

Tuesday morning's bingo volunteers were: Sophie Kyle, Georgia Kirby, Melinda Hokit and Mattie Cooper. Prize winners were: Harry Blatchford, Samuel Martinez, Tomasa Ramos, Virginia Hoover, Nellie Harp and Rebekah West.

A van outing for ice cream was Tuesday afternoon's activity. Residents not only enjoyed the ice cream but the ride around town as well. Tomasa Ramos shared her memories of the past and remarked on the changes that had been made.

Hands were anything but idle in Wednesday morning's ceramic workshop. Residents worked on pieces ranging from unicorns to flower pots. Residents attending were: Theo Burns, Hazel McDaniel, Moriama Perez, Manuela Perez, Juana Hernandez, Ethel Youngblood, Doris Robnett and Tomasa Ramos. Ruth Hester was the helpful volunteer.

Wednesday afternoon, residents relaxed on the front porch and listened to a Don Williams cassette while visiting. We were delighted to have Tomasa Ramos' daughter, Lilly Fierro of Los Angeles, CA, join us for this activity.

Great piano music by Clara Byrd and Nancy Vannoy followed Thursday morning's beauty shop. Beauty shop volunteers were: Vivian Hughes, Clara, Joann Williamson, Melinda Hokit, Lola Rios and Audry Smith. We would like to thank these ladies for brightening our day.

Fr. Albert conducted Mass during Thursday afternoon's Spanish Hour of Praise. A large number of visitors attended, and the singing of hymns was beautiful.

Ethel Younglood and Doris Robnett tied for the El Chato's gift certificate in Friday morning's bingo, and beginner's luck was with Maurene McCollough when she won the Watson's gift certificate. Prizes were also won by Harry Blatchford, Juana Hernandez, Theo Burns, Rebekah West, Emma Taylor and Minnie Karr. Volunteers were Mattie Cooper and Melinda Hokit.

Friday afternoon's domino games ended in a draw. The team of Emma Taylor and Doris Robnett won the first game, and the challengers, Theo Burns and Hazel McDaniel, won the second game. Both games were really close.

Sunday worship service was presented by the Church of Christ.

We would like to thank all the volunteers and visitors for making this week's activities a little brighter.

Highway department removes roadside park

Motorists traveling north out of Ozona have been missing something, and that something is the roadside park at the edge of town.

The sheltered picnic site at the edge of town was removed in late May according to Winston Koerth, highway department maintenance supervisor.

A metal restraint has been put in place to keep out the public and prevent concrete and rock from getting on the roadway. The location will be completely cleaned, Koerth said.

Similar picnic areas are being removed all across the state according to Koerth. The Ozona picnic area was on a curve with no safe parking, Koerth said. The area had been vandalized and was used primarily by beer drinkers rather than the traveling public, Koerth stated.

A roadside park nine miles north of Ozona is being maintained for the traveling public.

The roadside park which was removed had been built in 1937. Another location east of ozona was demolished when the Interstate was built.

River concert in San Angelo

The skies of San Angelo will be aglow the night of Saturday, July 4, as the San Angelo Symphony Guild presents the first July 4th Pops at the RiverStage.

An evening of music, chorals, flags, fun and entertainment will be highlighted with a laser light show.

The July 4th Pops at the RiverStage concert will feature the San Angelo Symphony, the San Angelo Symphony Chorale and a special laser light show which will be choreochoreographed to the music and will provide both visual screen graphics on the RiverStage as well as light beams in the sky.

The concert will begin at 8:30 in the evening and is free to the public. Food and beverages will be available in the RiverStage area.

The public is invited to bring a picnic and blanket and to enjoy the beautiful all new river stage and this very special night of music, fun and exciting lights.

July 5 has been designated as a rain date.

Ranchers seek labor program

U. S. Labor Secretary William Brock met Monday with U.S. Rep. Lamar Smith and representatives of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association and the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association to discuss ranchers' labor needs.

After meeting with Brock, Smith expressed some optimism that the secretary would consider livestock producers' needs before making a final decision regarding the hiring of migrant workers.

Livestock producers were chagrined to discover that their needs have been largely ignored under the terms of the 1986 Immigration Reform and Control Action. Under terms of the new law, only producers of perishable goods can use foreign workers.

Ranchers are hoping to become eligible to hire migrant employees under the so-called H-2A program which is similiar to the old Bracero Program of the 1959's.

The Labor Department will continue to accept public comments on the plan until the end of this month (July 31). A final decision regarding who will be eligible to hire migrant alien workers will be made by the end of the year.

Ranchmen maintain that they will face critical labor shortages if they are not allowed to hire alien workers. Other agricultural industries, including dairy, poultry, feeder cattle, as well as sheep, goat and cattle producers, also hope to be included in the H-2A program.

Presently, only producers of perishable goods which are mainly field crops can hire Seasonal Agricultural Workers (SAW).

Davis claims second spot in talent showcase

Gary Davis, 20, of Ozona and his ventriloquial sidekick, Leroy, raked in $200 for placing second in the 1987 Fiesta Del Concho Talent Showcase held June 18 in San Angelo City Auditorium.

This year's winner of the annual talent competition was Wilma Y. Igwe, a 25-year-old vocalist from San Angelo. Igwe, also the ASU talent show winner, sang "Up Where We Belong" from "An Officer and a Gentleman". The winner collected $300 for her spiritually rousing rendition of the popular song.

Davis, along with Leroy, sang "The Auctioneer" after having squabbled with his wooden friend.

Placing third was Aleesa Shawn Webb. Miss Webb, a 16-year-old senior at San Angelo Central High School, performed a tap dance routine and won $100 for her presentation.

Other finalists in the show were: Tracy Traweek, a country/western vocalist from Ballinger, who just returned from "You Can Be A Star" in Nashville, TN; Chris Crotwell, a 15-year-old pianist; Paige and Christy Rollins who sang as well as performed sign language; April Lewis, a clogger; Kim Arzate, a 15-year-old showstopper from San Angelo; Alex Rios, a break dancer; and Little Mo and the Israelites, a comedy group.

Jennifer Young, a 13-year-old fiddler, swept the children's division with "The Orange Blossom Special". In the special division, three-year-old Melissa Burrage belted out "Hey, Good Lookin' ", and three-year-old Jacob Wyatt stroked his violin and the heart-strings of the audience.

Preliminaries were held on Wednesday, which narrowed the field of 25 contestants down to the top ten finalists.

Serving as judges for the talent showcase were: Sarah Baker, professor of voice at Howard Payne University in Brownwood; Terry Mikeska, entertainment director for the World Modeling Association in New York City; and Libba Carver, San Angelo talk show host.

Davis will appear on "Pat Atteberry - Conversations" on Sunday, July 5, on KLST-TV at 5 p.m.

Class of '37 reunites for 50th anniversary

As the Class of 1937 of Ozona High School celebrates its 50th anniversary July 11, 1987, many changes will be evident.

Fifty years ago, Ozona was a community of about 2,100 people with another 650 scattered throughout the county.

The opening of a new school year was an eventful day for the town centered around school activities during the next nine months. There were no school buses, and most ranch families moved into town. They would often return to the ranch for weekends unless the children were older and involved in high school activities. Football games, with the pep squad, drum corps and band in colorful attendance, were held on Saturday afternoons at Powell Field (which was erased with the building of I-10).

On Sept. 8, 1936, all students and teachers gathered in the beautiful four-year-old high school auditorium. Parents and friends joined them, and Judge Charles E. Davidson, then 80-years-old, delivered the formal opening address. Mr. C. S. Denham, superintendent of schools, launched the new year with the introduction of teachers and outlined plans for all activities.

The Ozona Stockman, Sept. 10, 1936, reported an all-time high enrollment of 166 in grade school and 100 in high school.

The Senior story is best told by The Ozona Stockman, Sept. 24, 1936.

They Fought for Freedom...

Our Freedom.

It took courage. It took a strong belief in personal and national freedom to take the first step toward becoming an independent nation.

It began with a small group of men signing the Declaration of Independence.

To the brave men and women who pledged to each other their lives and their fortunes for a dream . . . to the men and women who continue today to fight for the freedom that makes us America . . .

Money sense series

A "Dollars and Sense" series began Monday, June 29, for youth ages 8-11. Jan North, High School Home Economics teacher, described types of advertising and Rachel Hall, County Extension Agent, discussed comparison shopping techniques. On Tuesday, Beth Smith, Crockett County National Bank cashier, guided the youth on a bank tour and discussed money saving. Dee Keilers, Ozona Water Department manager, discussed water conservation.

The series concludes today with an Ozona National Bank tour with Dan Pullen, vice-president at ONB, and discussion on where money comes from and goes. The "Dollars and Sense" program was coordinated by the Crockett County Extension Home Economics Committee.

Adults need skills

Adults need skills to help children learn to be a good consumer. The following are some suggested skills to practice:

•Guide and supervise rather than direct and dictate.

Take children along on shopping trips. When the child is able to purchase items, explain effective consumer behavior. Provide opportunities for interactions about products and reasons for buying. What you say and the attitudes you display are as influential as what you do.

•Praise rather than criticize or rebuke.

Few if any of us are perfect in all of our consumer decisions.

•Allow children to learn by mistakes as well as successes.

Money is rarely wasted totally if something can be learned from the experience. If something breaks, show the child why it broke and what to look for next time. If a product does not measure up to the advertised claims, help the child understand advertising or how to seek redress. Whatever you do, prepare children to face the built-in temptations of the marketplace.

•Identify needs and wants.

Our affluent lifestyle and the persuasiveness of advertising lead us to take many things for granted. Our appetites for possessions become insatiable and we only want more. Sometimes our desires outstrip our ability to pay. Children are capable of learning needs, wants and limitations at an early age. They may not need all the details but that there are priorities for spending family income to meet the needs and wants of the whole family. It would be helpful to figure or calculate percentages of family income spent for needs, wants, debt repayment, etc.

•Make spending plans and keep family accounts.

Children learn by example. When children see their parents taking time to plan the use of income, it becomes easier to help them plan the use of their allowance or other income.

•Conduct family councils to make and assess short and long range money goals.

Councils or family meetings serve to remind everyone of the family's goals and to account for changed circumstances. Make sure everyone has an opportunity to express an opinion.

•Be consistent.

Refusing a child's request to buy something one time and "giving in" to his requests another time only confuses a child or teaches a strategy for getting his way. "Yes" or "no" with an explanation serves as a good teaching method.

•Be objective about the purpose of money. Do not use it for reward or punishment.

Giving or withholding money from a child puts a focus on performance or emotions rather than on responsibility. Money can satisfy a child's need for independence, or the practical needs of bus fare, music lessons, etc. but above all the opportunity to teach money management.

•Be patient.

Pridemore, Haire place in Junior PGA play

Shane Pridemore is definitely on a roll. After taking a second place finish two weeks ago in San Angelo, last week Pridemore traveled to Snyder and fired an 18-hole score of 86 to take another runner-up finish in only his fourth West Texas Junior PGA Tour event. He competed in the 12-14 age division.

Although Pridemore did an extremely good job of playing golf, he wasn't alone. Will Seahorn followed up his second place finish in San Angelo (he shot a 73) with a respectable round of 79 on the tricky Snyder County Club course to take fourth place in the 16-18 year age division.

Jay Haire, who has been a solid performer on the tour all year long, fired an 18-hole total of 88 to take fifth place.

Pridemore commented about his round. "I didn't really play as well as I could have, but I scrambled well. I made up for some bad holes that I had early with a good back nine."

Although Haire said that he hit the ball well, he also commented that "...I had problems adjusting my approach shots to the wind".

Seahorn, who is averaging 76 in his last two tournaments, was unavailable for comment.

The next Junior PGA event is scheduled for July 7 in Midland.

Crockett County Public Library

Library News

by Louise Ledoux

Library hosts children's hour

If your children haven't been coming to Story Hour every Monday morning, they are missing out on lots of fun and great reading this summer! 3-5 years come from 9 to 10 and older kids from 10 to 11 every Monday morning through July. Friends chairman Lisa Wagoner has a full schedule of films, crafts and FUN lined up for July. To start the month off right, Monday will be "Animals Day" at the public library. The kids will actually get to play with all kinds of baby animals in the library's back yard. Janet Wilson, from Ozona Veterinary Clinic, will be at the library with lots of baby animals for the kids to learn about and maybe even feed.

I want to thank all the League volunteers that have been so wonderful in giving their time to help out with the children's programs. We couldn't do it without you all! I also want to especially thank Amanda Tambunga for her help. Miss Tambunga is working part-time in the library this summer through a Summer Youth Employment program sponsored by the Concho Valley Council of Governments. Come by the library and meet Miss Tambunga. She's doing a great job.

Ruben Mendez to have second surgery on legs

By Cynthia Harrell Hodges

The summer of 1987 will be a long one to remember for the Ruben Mendez family.

On the morning of July 7, 10-year-old Ruben Mendez Jr. will undergo surgery on one leg. The youngster will have surgery on his second leg July 16 at the Shriner Crippled Children's Hospital in Houston.

Doctors first diagnosed a mild case of cerebral palsy when Ruben was 18-months-old. The disease has caused his feet to cross. "His legs and knees are hitting together," explained his mother. "Steel plates have been placed on his hips. The leg bones are out of joint, and the leg muscles are too spasmodic."

Ruben, a young wrestling enthusiast, first underwent surgery on his legs two years ago. The surgeries and the disease have taken their toil scholastically on the youth.

The 10-year-old has a hard time writing and can not keep up with his school work, his mother explained. He enters third grade this fall. "Still he is a pretty bright child," said the mother of three lively children.

Ruben will be accompanied to Houston by his parents. Following surgery, the hardest part of the recuperation period arrives. "Ruben will have to remain in a body cast for six weeks," said Mrs. Mendez. The body cast makes Ruben "hurt. We stay with him constantly, not even leaving to eat. We don't want him to be afraid or alone."

"Then we return to Houston and start on a new regimen of physical therapy." The trip to Houston has become a familiar one for the Mendez family. Ruben has undergone treatment at the Shriner's hospital every six months for the past eight years.

Ruben's father, an employee at the Crockett County Road Department, has coordinated his annual vacation to be with his son in Houston. The two younger children, Stacey, five, and Jeffrey, will stay with relatives here.

The Shriners, under the recommendation of local Shriner Herbert Kerby, will assist the family with motel expenses during their Houston stay.

Montgomery hosts bridge

Mrs. Tom Montgomery was hostess for bridge at Ozona Country Club June 25.

High score went to Mrs. Sherman Taylor and second high to Mrs. Tommy Harris. Mrs. Joe Bean and Mrs. Evart White won the bingoes.

Others playing were: Mmes. Clay Adams, George Bunger, John Childress, Hugh Childress, Joe Couch, W. E. Friend, Arthur Kyle, Bill Mason, Byron Williams, Gene Williams and Lowell Littleton.

Mrs. Littleton will be hostess for the monthly luncheon and bridge Thursday.

'Gator spotted in West Texas

Judge A. O. Fields knew he wasn't seeing things Saturday, but an alligator? Crossing the road? 25 miles north of Big Lake?

Fields sighted the creature on Highway 137 as he and Mrs. Fields were returning from an Andrews trip to see their son-in-law, Johnie Griffin, who is in the hospital.

"If it had been on black pavement, I probably wouldn't have seen it," said Fields.

The approximately 24 inch long reptile was crossing the road at a place where it had been rebuilt and where water was standing in each bar ditch.

"I couldn't get my wife to look up from her book fast enough to see it," said Fields of the 5 p.m. sighting.

A talk with Game Warden Rod Chalmers revealed that the alligator was most likely a cayman, referred to in the dictionary as a tropical American alligator which should not reach a length of more than 20 feet.

Boyd attends seminar

Beth Boyd, manager of the Ozona Chamber of Commerce, was at Southern Methodist University last week to complete a week's Institute for Organization Management. More than 200 voluntary organization executives from all over the country participated in this professional development program.

The portion of the seminar on the government and chambers was of particular interest to Mrs. Boyd. She also attended seminars on such subjects as Internal Revenue Service, persuasive speaking, and getting and retaining members. This was cited as the biggest problem for chambers, Mrs. Boyd said.

During her half-day of free time, she attended still another seminar, this one on communication.

The SMU Institute is one of six annual, one-week sessions sponsored by the Center for Leadership Development, a division of the National Chamber Foundation at leading universities throughout the country.

During the five-day session, participants spent 27 classroom hours in the Institute course of study, which is designed to assist voluntary organization executives improve the knowledge and skills necessary to enhance the effectiveness of their organization.

God's Gift: America

By Sandra Hancock Stark

God has blessed us in many ways
With hearty crops and waving maize;
With a land of plenty which has much to give
And placed it here so that we might live.
Some scorn and treat it wrongfully.
(Oh, God, let it not be you or me.)
Some laugh at leaders who through human error
Cause citizens to panic sometimes in terror.
They just can't seem to realize
Taking the "helm of the ship" needs someone wise.
And that had they not the qualifications,
They would not be guiding this fine nation.

The flag is cursed and falls beneath
The dirt covered shoes of spoilers feet.
And they never give the flag its due.
(Dear Lord, let it not be me or you.)
From Valley Forge where Washington fought,
To Vietnam where it seemed for naught.
Whatever our political feelings may be
There are always variables which we may not see.
These feelings of ours go very deep.
Keeping our independence does not come cheap.
It depends on the love of woman and man
To preserve the freedom of each American.

May we have the grace to endure
And want our freedom deep and sincere,
Realizing it takes LOVE for liberty
(Oh, Lord, let that love come from you and me!)

Tina Moran and son Justin

Justin Moran triumphs over dubious start

Miracles do happen. Justin Moran is living proof. When Justin was born in Crockett County Hospital 10 years ago, he weighed seven pounds, 13 ounces and was perfectly healthy looking.

But an observant doctor, R. M. Owensby, noted that the baby's breathing was not quite right.

In a matter of of hours Tina and Joe Moran's new son had been taken to Santa Rosa Hospital in San Antonio by MAST helicopter and was being prepared for surgery.

Joe arrived in San Antonio to learn that his son had a major displacement of vital organs involving a hernia in his diaphragm, and collapsed lung, and multiple congenital birth defects.

"It was touch and go for 10 days," said Tina, who did not see her son until he was 11 days old.

On December 21, 19 days after he was born, Justin was brought home to Ozona.

The family had been told that he could have a loss of hearing, mental retardation and possibly blindness from his oxygen deprivation.

Today the active 10-year-old is a straight A student, plays baseball and is involved with the Presidential Physical Fitness Program at school although he has a short breathing capacity with only one lung. The lung which was collapsed at birth never developed.

"Justin is an outdoorsman, active, active, active and swims like a fish in the water," said his mother.

Justin's early life involved trips to see his San Antonio doctor every three months, and then every six months.

Although he had no complications from his surgery, Justin was allergic to all milks. As he grew, he had to wear braces for awhile because his feet turned in.

"As soon as we would go to sleep, he would take his braces loose," said Tina.

At three he was diagnosed as having bronchial asthma.

"I have Dr. Carlisle and Dr. Owensby to thank for this kid," said Tina. The doctors responded at all times of the night and even on Christmas when Justin had attacks.

In June, Tina, Joe, Justin and 14-year-old Jason made their annual trip to San Antonio for Justin's checkup. Dr. Bruce McGovern, who has been with them from the beginning, looked at the child he had given a zero percent chance to live on Dec. 2, 1976, and pronounced him dismissed.

Fort Lancaster...then and now

By Don Whited

THEN

Fort Lancaster was occupied by the United States 1st Infantry Unit, Companies H and K, from 1855 - 1861. It was established to give travelers on the road between San Antonio and El Paso more protection from the Comanche and Apache Indians. Colonel Joseph Mansfield was a key figure in the establishment of Fort Lancaster. He toured with western frontier to El Paso in 1852 with stagecoach operator Henry Skillman. He thought the road deserved more protection than it had been getting, and recommended the establishment of new posts on the Rio Grande south of El Paso (Fort Quitman) and on Live Oak Creek just above the Pecos River (Fort Lancaster).

Colonel Mansfield returned in 1856 to inspect Fort Lancaster and wrote, "This post is indispensable to travellers and in a locality often visited by the wild Indians traversing the country. It cannot be dispensed with. At this place, travellers can rest and recruit their animals and repair their wagons with safety. It undoubtedly has and will save many lives." Federal troops abandoned the Fort on March 19, 1861, due to the outbreak of the Civil War.

NOW

130 years later, Fort Lancaster stands in ruin, a very apparent reminder of how historical events help shape the way we think, feel and live in our world today. We have to see the infantry soldier's point of view to truly understand life in frontier Texas.

We have a very special event planned for Saturday, July 11, 1987. A group of volunteers from Fort Concho will be here at Fort Lancaster portraying the 16th U.S. Infantry of the late 1870's and early 1880's. They will perform drill and firearms demonstrations, equipment and wagon displays, as well as other on-field programs. Glen Goode will be demonstrating lithic technologies (production of projectile points similar to those used by the Comanche and Apache Indian tribes).

There will also be a barbecue in Sheffield Saturday evening. The event will be free here at the Fort, so ya'll come on out. Those groups wishing to make tour reservations may call 915-836-4391. Ya'll come visit!

Thanks

To many of my friends who come to help me celebrate my birthday. Special thanks to Connie Garza and Robert Longoria.

Malone gains approval as enrolled tax agent

Barbara Malone received word this week from Leslie S. Shapiro, Director of Practice, Internal Revenue Service, Washington, D.C., that her application for enrollment to practice before the Internal Revenue Service has been approved. To receive this enrollment she was required to pass a thorough, two-day examination administered by the Internal Revenue in current tax laws. She was then screened for professional and personal ethics before being granted enrollment to practice before the Internal Revenue Service.

As an enrolled agent, she is required to obtain 72 hours of continuing education credit to be completed between February 1, 1987, and January 31, 1990, to renew her enrollment.

Barbara is married to Carl Malone Jr., and they make their home on the family ranch at Pandale. She is employed by John Stokes, CPA, in Ozona.

Local scouts camp out at Fawcett

Ozona Boy Scouts attended Camp Fawcett near Barksdale June 14-20. Spending the week at the Bowie campsite at Fawcett were: Keith Fowler, Jason Montgomery, Joe Ross, Bruce Beasley, Rodney Beasley, Peter Shacklette, Ricky Burger, Manny Munoz, Keith Sessom, Robert Gentry, Derek Puckett and Scoutmaster Ray Don Myers.

There were 120 boys present at this sesson.

Ozona Scouts traveled to camp in a bus donated to the troop several years ago by the late Jay Miller. The bus had not been used for three years, and troop members are especially grateful to Alfred Enriquez of Enriquez Exxon and Jack Baggett Jr. of The Bagett Agency for helping get the Scout bus on the road this year.

Junior golfers compete in Angelo

Will Seahorn and Shane Pridemore qualified for the West Texas PGA Tournament of Champions at the second tour stop for junior golfers recently in San Angelo. Ozona golfers played June 17 at Bentwood Country Club and June 18 at San Angelo Country Club.

Windy conditions and a long, tight course made for many high scores Wednesday. Ozona was well represented, but none could score well. In the 16-18 year division, Copie Davis found the out-of-bounds four times en route to an 87, which placed him fourth. Bret Hood, who shot an even 80 at Hogan Park Golf Club in Midland the previous day, fired an erratic 91 and placed sixth.

In the 14-15 year division, Jay Haire's frustrating front nine set his pace for the day as he posted a 96. Daun O'Neal also found the going rough as he came in with a 103.

In the 12 and under age division, which played only nine holes, Shane Pridemore couldn't find the handle on his round and finished with a frustrating 54. Chad Upham, playing in his first competitive round of the year, struggled to a 61.

On Thursday at San Angelo Country Club, Will Seahorn entered the field in a big way. Seahorn, who hadn't broken 80 in a tournament since early April (a 79 at Big Lake), fired a masterful round of two over par 73 for second place to qualify for the West Texas PGA Tournament of Champions in August in Lubbock.

Seahorn's round was even more astounding because of his artful putting. Will toured the course in 22 putts, an average of 1.2 putts per hole.

"I was extremely pleased with my round," said Seahorn. "I putted great, and I hit my drives very well; it was one of my best rounds."

The next best Ozona score was 82 by Copie Davis. This score placed him in a tie for 11th.

In the 14-15 year division, Jay Haire regrouped enough to fire a respectable 85. O'neal shot 104.

In the 12 and under age division, Shane Pridemore also qualified for the West Texas Tournament of Champions with a 45 for nine holes, placing him second. Upham's score improved to a 53.

For the record

The Hector De La Garza whose arrest was recently reported in the San Angelo Standard Times was not Deputy Hector De La Garza of Ozona.

Darla Jones and daughters Lisa and Jennifer Colin have returned from A&M at College Station where Lisa participated in Freshman Conference. The excited Aggie-to-be, can't wait to get started after looking for an apartment.

Happy birthday to Paul Espino today, July 1.

Darting through Ozona June 29 was Sharon Barbee Schauer, former resident of Ozona. Sharon and her husband Cody and their two children live on the family ranch near Comstock.
