Mrs. A. L. Nowlin Dies May 15 After Long Illness

Funeral services for Mrs. A. L. Nowlin, 58, who died in St. Joseph's Hospital Saturday, May 15 after a long illness of several months, will be held Sunday at 2:30 in the afternoon at the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Nowlin, who came to Wellington in 1920, was associated with her husband in the operation of the Nowlin Wholesale Supply until a few months ago when illness forced her to stop work. She was a tireless worker and a capable business woman and much of the success of the wholesale company was due to her efforts.

From the beginning of her 34 year residence in Wellington she took an active interest in civic and community affairs. It was due to her efforts that the first home demonstration clubs were organized in Collingsworth County. She first interested the women of the county in the work and then personally secured signatures to the petition that made home demonstration work a reality here.

When the Nowlins first came to Wellington, he was the county agent and she was most helpful to his work in helping him in promoting the county fair, arranging exhibits at The State Fair of Texas and in many other capacities.

When Mr. Nowlin decided to quit the extension service work, she and Mr. Nowlin started a grocery store which they operated until 1926 at which time the Nowlin Wholesale Supply, which serves the Eastern part of the Panhandle.

Mrs. Nowlin was a member of the Baptist Church, having joined at the age of 11. She was also interested in art and served as district chairman of the Federated Womens Clubs. She also loved dogs and flowers and one of her hobbies was the beautification of her lovely home on 15th street.

Ina Louise Portwood was born at midnight, June 19-20, 1895 at Boyd, Texas. She moved west from Wise County to Martha, Okla. with her parents in a covered wagon and later the family moved to Blair, Oklahoma.

She received her school training at Blair and Hollis, Oklahoma. Later she attended C.I.A. at Denton which is now Texas State College for Women. On August 25, 1913, she married A. L. Nowlin in Fort Worth. On the occasion of the College's 25th anniversary she was selected as one of the outstanding ex-students in her line of work.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Chester O'Brien assisted by Rev. J. F. Michael. Pall bearers were Cecil Johnson, Cal Sugg, Fleet Pruden, John D. Glenn Ernest Lewis and Gene Lewis. Flower bearers were Mrs. Burt's Sunday School Class, and Alvina Jo Roberts and Ann Johnson. Burial was made in the West Wellington Cemetery under the direction of the Kelso Funeral Home.

Survivors are her husband, her father and brother, M. L. Portwood and H. B. Portwood of Denton and two nieces, Mrs. Earl Coleman of Denton and Mrs. J. L. Davidson of Houston.

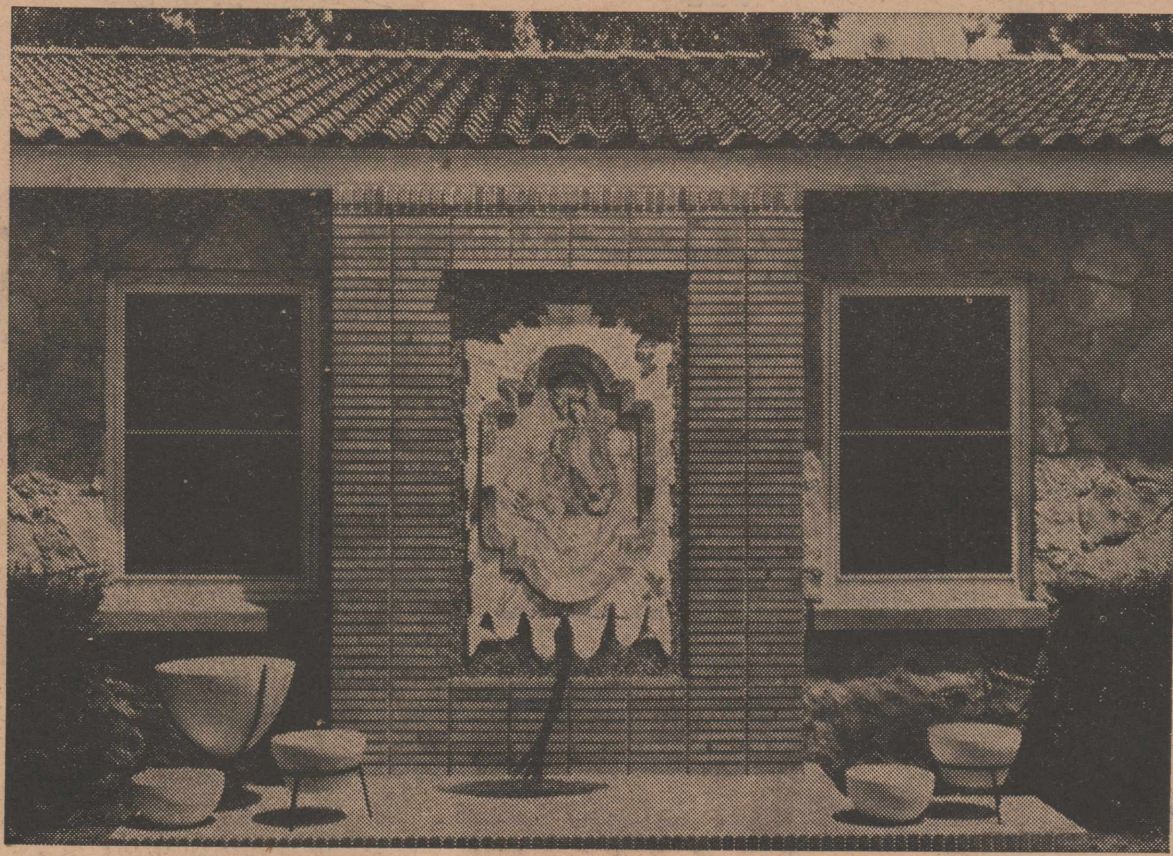

Out of town relatives and friends attending the funeral were:

Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Alcorn and family, Slaton, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Newell and Neutie, Slaton, Texas; Nan Watson, Quanah, Texas; Bob Cotton, Amarillo, Texas; Mrs. Lewis Cotton, Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. James Gibson, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nowlin, Dallas, Texas; Mrs. Dora Nowlin, Dallas, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. O. Shrine Honors Patron Saint

Lafayette M. Hughes Gives Shrine to St. Joseph's Hospital

Because of the beneficence of Mr. Lafayette Hughes of Denver, Colorado, the Sisters' dream of having a shrine in honor of St. Joseph has become a reality.

When the addition to St. Joseph's Hospital was completed three years ago and Mr. Hughes realized that this would complete an enclosed patio, he conceived the idea of making this a beauty spot for the enjoyment of the Sisters, patients and all who visit the hospital. He focused his attention on a shrine honoring St. Joseph under whose patronage the hospital was placed at the time of its dedication sixteen years ago.

Mr. Hughes at once commissioned Robert Lowen of Denver to design the shrine. Mr. Lowen, a graduate of the University of Colorado, received his fine arts master's degree at Yale University and also studied in California and at Squola Hinna, Rome, Italy.

After three years of research

Dodson Names Honor Students

Marilyn Hunt, Jeanette Swift, and Raymond Daugherty were named honor students of the Dodson senior class in a recent announcement by Superintendent Lennon. A tie for valedictorian was revealed between Marilyn Hunt and Raymond Daugherty. Jeanette Swift was declared the salutatorian.

Marilyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hunt. She plans to attend West Texas State College next year. She will study business administration.

Raymond, the son of Mr. and and design, Mr. Lowen has produced a shrine critics say is not only unique but exquisite. The shrine consists of a large ceramic tile plaque bordered with soft blue and green mosaic tile against a background of Roman brick. The artist depicts the kindly faced St. Joseph holding the Christ Child on his knee. Realistic butterflies rest on the ceramic border and a huge clam shell birdbath adds to the setting. The tile for the shrine was made, painted and fired in Denver, then brought to Wellington where Mr. Lowen personally directed its erection.

Landscaping of the patio, now underway will complete Mr. Hughes' beautiful expression of appreciation of the services of the Dominican Sisters.

Asks for Voters Sentiments

Willoughby Considering Making Write-In Race

Bob Willoughby, whose name will not appear on the Democratic ballot, is considering running for the office as a write-in candidate and has issued a formal statement asking the people of Collingsworth County to let him know their sentiments in the next few days.

His full statement follows:
TO THE VOTERS OF COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY
On January 19, 1954 I announced for candidate for Sheriff and Tax Collector of Collingsworth County, and on May 3rd, I went down to file with County Chairman of Democratic Party—Mr. Dick Sweat.

I asked for Mr. Sweat and upon learning that he was not present, I gave the papers that I had to his bookkeeper, Mr. J. N. Glasgow, who said that he had been taking papers all day for Mr. Sweat. I asked him to check and see if I had everything that was needed and he assured me that I did.

On May 12th, I was called by phone by Mr. Paul Spillman and asked that I come down that my papers were not filed in order. The Committee was present when I arrived in Wellington, and Mr. Spillman informed me that I had filed my Loyalty Oath but had failed to file my Request to Be Put on The Ballot.

He said that he and Mr. Sweat had found that I had failed to turn in My Request at about 8:30 P. M., May 3rd., and that they talked about calling me, but since neither knew whether I had a telephone they did not attempt to call.

He further stated that the Committee has received a telegram from Austin stating that May 3rd was the last day a candidate could file.

I am aware that neither Mr. Sweat or Mr. Spillman was obligated to have called me; however, I feel that they should have. I have a telephone, and was at home that evening.

I am also aware that Mr. Sweat's job is a "Thank You" job, but I am also aware that it is important to the voters that the Chairman have the knowledge of the formality of filing and that he impart it to candidates who are new in politics.

It is not a question of what the people think North of the River, the question is what the people think in Collingsworth County.

I fully realized the difficult job that I would have to become your sheriff when I announced, but since my name will not be on the ballot, I am asking the people both voters and non-voters to let me know your sentiments. If you want me to be a "Write In" Candidate, please let me know for I still want to be the Sheriff of Collingsworth County.

Respectfully submitted,
Robert (Bob) Willoughby,
Dozier, Texas.

Dr. Hunter Resigns from Jones-Watkins Clinic

Dr. Tom Hunter announced this week that he had resigned from the Jones-Watkins Clinic in order to be able to take advantage of a situation that will be available in the middle of the summer which will make it possible for him to be nearer his family geographically.

He said: "I would like to let the people know that it was not an easy decision to make and that I deeply appreciate the courtesy, helpfulness, and loyal support shown to me and my wife during the time that we have been in the community."

Dr. Hunter also announced that he would continue to be associated with the Clinic until the first part of July.

He said: "We want to wish the people of the Wellington trade area and the doctors and workers of the Clinic and the Sisters of St. Joseph's Hospital every success in their future work."

Dr. Hunter came to Wellington in July of 1949 and has practiced surgery at the Clinic. He is a graduate of the University of Texas and the University School of Medicine at Galveston. He interned in the U. S. Naval Hospital in Honolulu and took post graduate work in Parkland Hospital, Southwestern Medical College in Dallas.

Since he came to Wellington, Dr. Hunter has been accorded a number of distinguished honors. Last spring he was made a diplomate of the American Board of Surgery and he and his wife went to Los Angeles where the honor was conferred. Last fall he was elected a fellow in the American College of Surgeons at Chicago. He is a member of the local five county medical society, the Texas State Medical Association, American Medical Association, and the Amarillo Surgical Society. In April of this year he was asked to give a paper abdominal apoplexy before the Panhandle District Medical Society.

Dr. Hunter has taken an active interest in many civic affairs since coming to Wellington. He has served as a director of the Wellington

Chamber of Commerce, and Alderman for the City of Wellington and is the immediate past president of the Wellington Kiwanis Club.

The Hunters have two children, a son, Tommy, age 3 and a daughter, Gale, age 3 months.

Fails to File Application on Time

Willoughby May Not Be on Democratic Ballot

The name of Bob Willoughby may not be on the Democratic ballot at the primary election due to the fact that he did not file a request for his name to go on the ballot before the deadline of midnight May 3.

Mr. Willoughby did file an affidavit of loyalty late in the afternoon of May 3 in the office of Dick Sweat, county chairman and left it with J. N. Glasgow.

Upon learning that the application to have his name placed on the ballot had not been filed in time, the county executive committee sent a telegram to George W. Sandlin, chairman of the State Democratic Committee asking for a ruling on procedure.

They received this reply by wire. Return May 12 and letter May 7, Article 190 Election Code sets out definite requirements for candidates request to go on ballot. Section 5 of this article specifically requires candidates' names shall not be printed on ballot unless such application shall have been filed as provided therein. No reference made to loyalty affidavit in this article. Therefore loyalty affidavit cannot be considered as a request to go on the ballot. Article 58 election code states that a candidate cannot have his name placed on the ballot quote unless and until he shall file a loyalty affidavit with the party official with whom the law requires him to file his application for a place on the ballot unquote. My opinion is the loyalty affidavit does not by itself fulfill the requirement of a candidate to have his name placed on ballot.

George W. Sandlin, Chairman State Democratic Executive Committee of Texas.

The executive committee met Wednesday May 12 to consider the case and invited Mr. Willoughby to attend at which time he presented (Continued on Page 10)

Grand Jury Indicts Two for Assault

In a special session Monday, May 17 the Collingsworth County Grand Jury indicted Cal Sugg and Denny Judd for aggravated assault. Sheriff Claude McKinney had previously filed similar charges and the local men made bond.

The charges and indictment were made after a fight in the Wellington Domino parlor on May 11 in which Merritt Wilks, George Brawley and J. C. Morris were also participants.

The case will be tried in county court; but Judge R. L. Templeton said Tuesday that the case would not be set until late June or early July in order to not take any farmers away from their work during the planting season.

At the Monday session the Grand Jury also heard complaints against A. F. Wischkaemper Jr. for operating an irrigation well near a creek bed. They took no action on the latter complaint since they were informed by the district attorney that it was a matter that came under the supervision and control of the Texas Board of Water Engineers.

Shamrock Turns Down Rate Hike

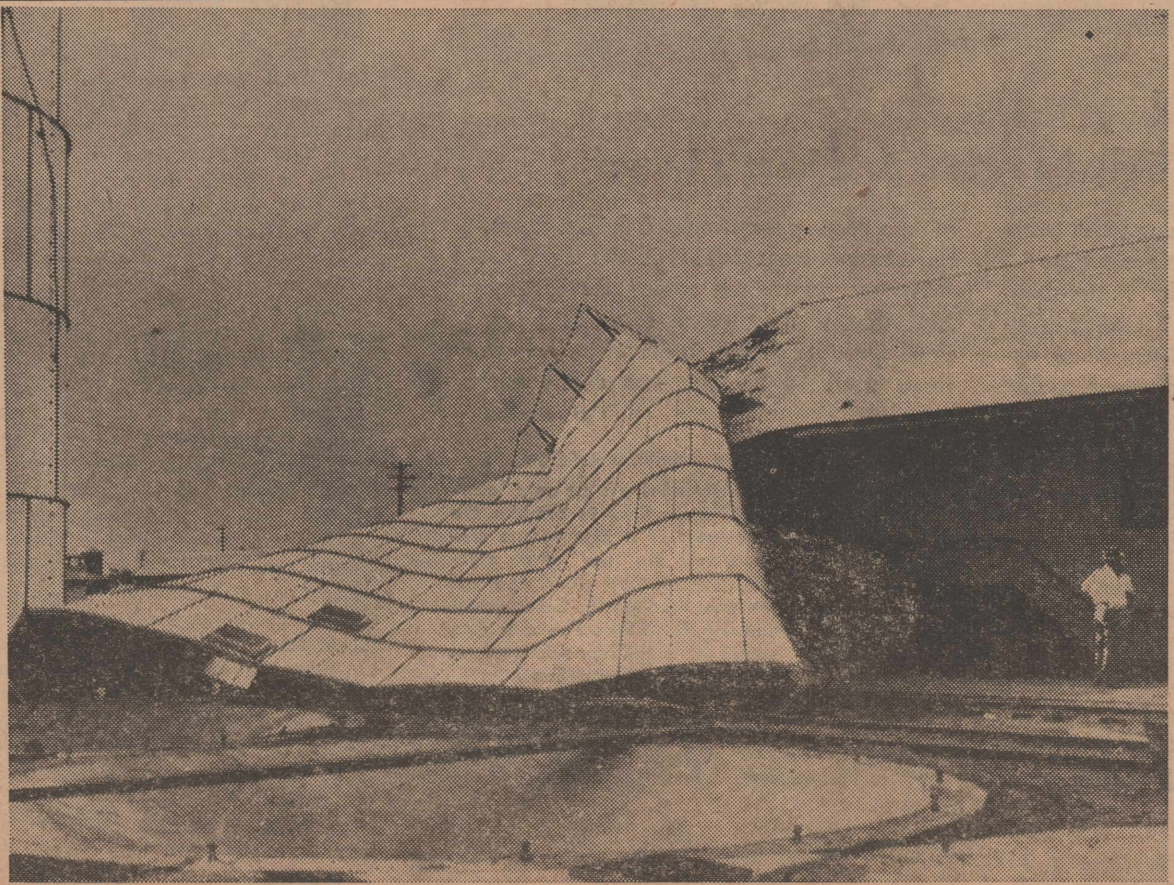

For the third time, the Shamrock City Council last week refused to grant the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company the right to increase telephone rates for the local system.

The proposed increase was submitted to the city council last October. The aldermen voted down the proposal at that time and again earlier this year.

Officials of Southwestern Bell contend that the rates and charges for local exchange telephone service now in effect are not sufficient to meet the company's expenses of operation.

Meeting with the council this week were: A. O. Thomas, Amarillo district manager; George H. Newberry, Pampa district manager; Hugh Steger, a Dallas attorney; and E. J. Brookshire, local combination man.

The proposal as submitted by company officials would increase the rate of a one-party business telephone from $8 to $9 per month. The charge for a one-party residence service would be increased from 4.25 to $5 per month, and for a two-party line from $3.50 to $4.

DESTROYED IN WINDSTORM

High winds Saturday night, May 15 toppled one section of the Warrick elevators. The unit was under construction at the time and the top had not been placed in position. The elevator fell on the Katy Depot and caved in the east end of the building.

Letters From The PEOPLE

Dear Editor:

In the week before last issue of The Wellington Leader I noticed a Menu for the school lunch at the Wellington schools. In looking it over I find there is but one item of beef, (for the Monday lunch) on the entire weeks lunches.

I am wondering what has become of the beef, (equivalent to 800,00 cows) bought by Mr. Benson for school lunches and the like. Is it possibly still in the packers storage rooms and being used to hammer down beef prices for the consumer?

When I read that menu it reminded me of a cotton farmer whom I watched buying dry goods in a clothing store in Shamrock, while I was waiting for my turn to be waited on by the clerk. He was buying nylon shirts and socks and silk underwear and during the time consumed to buy these articles he was griping about the price of cotton going down. We have been griping about the price of cattle for 18 months and we serve beef once a week in the school lunches.

I have been thinking for some time if it were possible or probable that the beef bought by Mr. Benson was not to a great extent propaganda to throw dust in the producers eyes. My definition of propaganda is about like I heard

Heavy Footed Motorists No. 1 Traffic Killer

AUSTIN, March 29-- Heavy-footed Texas motorists, whose tendency to push too hard on the gas pedal of their cars has made speed the Number One traffic killer in the State, are going to face the newest scientific device which has been designed to keep them--and others--alive by checking their rate of travel.

Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, announced today in Austin that the Highway Patrol Division of this agency has secured three Radar Speed Meters and that they will be put into use shortly in selected areas of the State.

He stated that the use of the Radar machines will be a far cry from the old concept of "speed traps" and the public will be adequately acquainted with their locations.

The machines, said to be accurate even beyond the reliability of an auto speedometer, will be operated by members of the Patrol who have been specially schooled in their use.

The first public test of the equipment will be made later this week in the Harlingen area and judges, prosecutors and members of the press will be invited to try their hands at "beating the machine".

Garrison said that similar pub-a pretty well posted teacher define statistics, he said there were three kinds of lies, namely, lies, damned lies and statistics, propaganda would make a good fourth in this line up.

Getting back to Mr. Benson throwing dust in our eyes, he could have saved himself that effort, for the Lord has done enough of that these past months without Mr. Benson's help.

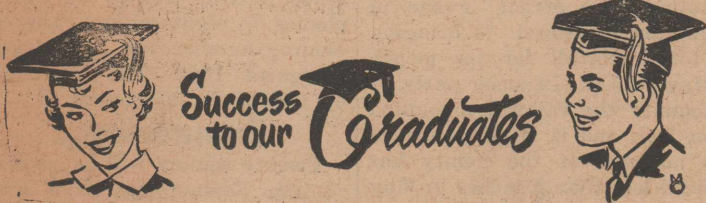

Yours truly,
Edgar Wischkaemper

Why fine car buyers are swinging to Ford

Worth more when you buy it : :
Worth more when you sell it!

A small price tag buys them one of America's truly fine cars. And here's how:

In the new '54 Ford, you get the same modern type of overhead-valve engine... the same road-hugging ride... the careful interior decorating... the same quality construction... and the same optional* power assists you'd expect to find in cars costing hundreds of dollars more. So why pay more? This is the question smart car buyers are asking themselves. And that is why you'll often find two Fords proudly parked in driveways where there used to be but one costly car!

*at extra cost

Take power:

Only Ford, among all low-priced cars, offers you a Y-block V-8 engine. Only Ford, in its field, offers an I-block Six. And both of these new deep-block engines are the most modern in the industry... with overhead valves, low-friction design, high-turbulence combustion chambers, and deep-block construction.

Take ride:

Ford's new Ball-Joint Front Suspension is the greatest advance in chassis design in 20 years. Your Ford not only steers easier, but will keep that "new car feel" far longer. And so many points of wear have been eliminated you have only 4 lubrication points in the entire front suspension system.

Take power assists*:

Fordomatic Drive is the only "automatic" in its field to combine the smoothness of a fluid torque converter and the "Go" of an automatic intermediate gear. And you can have Ford Master-Guide Power Steering, Swift Sure Power Brakes, power lifts on all four side windows and a 4-Way Power Seat.

Take a Test Drive... and you'll want to drive it home!

State Capitol NEWS

Two members of the Texas House of Representatives have resigned since the special session of the legislature ended April 13.

They are Gabe Garrett, newspaperman from Corpus Christi, and Richard S. Stark of Gainesville. Stark gave no reason for his resignation.

Garrett resigned to run for Congress.

Texas' friendliness no longer extends to Communists. The big friendly state now has the only law in the nation, including the Federal Government, which outlaws the Communist party and its members, and makes belonging to the Communist Party a crime punishable by a 20-year maximum prison sentence. The law became effective immediately upon the Governor's signing it last Thursday.

With the signing of bills by the Governor, the 1954 special legislative session is rapidly becoming history.

Complete victory for the Governor's program was the net result of the called session. He got everything he asked for. That included: pay raises for teachers and state employees, appropriations for state buildings, and the anti-communist law.

To finance the new spending the legislature passed tax measures, as recommended by the Governor on corporations, franchise, beer and natural gas.

Perhaps the biggest news in Texas was the rain.

From its Austin office, the U. S. Department of Agriculture announced that precipitation over much of the state, including drought-ridden West Texas, brightened the prospects for farmers and ranchers this year.

Everywhere, the situation was described as improved, but more moisture was needed to insure agricultural success during the coming season.

While the rains helped, the Texas drought was not completely broken. Governor Shivers said he would ask for more Federal aid for dry West Texas counties.

As usual, Texas weather went to extremes.

In the Lower Rio Grande Valley, there was too much rain. Flood situations existed for a time in Alamo, McAllen, San Juan, Donna, Edinburg, and Elisa.

Turbulent weather conditions brought a tornado warning to Central Texas, reminding of the Waco disaster last year, when on May 11 a twister caused 114 deaths, injuries to 500, and vast property damage.

Governors from the drought-stricken states of Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas will meet at the call of President Dwight D. Eisenhower for a conference in Washington on April 26.

Governor Shivers has signified his intention to be present.

The conference will precede a meeting of the commission on Intergovernmental Relations, to which Shivers belongs as a presidential appointee, and a conference of governors on economic and defense matters.

Government support and cutting the cost of milk and dairy production are not the answers to steadily dropping market prices. So says Sam E. Von Rosenberg of Austin. He is state manager of the American Dairy Association of Texas.

Von Rosenberg contends that greater marketing and selling activities are the only solutions to the precarious position of the dairy industry.

To that end, dairy farmers of Texas are setting aside two cents for each 100 pounds of milk and one-half cent for each pound of butter fat for cream, for a merchandising program to be conducted by the industry.

An important victory was won by the State of Texas in a five-year-old attempt to collect anti-trust penalties from ten major oil companies.

The third Court of Civil Appeals, here, ruled that there was sufficient cause of action to entitle the state to a trial.

Filed in 1949, the state's suit alleges that the companies conspired to fix and maintain non-competitive tank wagon prices on gasoline. Defending companies argued that the petition should be thrown out because it did not give specific names, dates, and details of the alleged conspiracy.

Reversed by the court's decision is a ruling handed down in 1952. District Judge Charles O. Betts, in opinion was that the state had failed to show cause of action.

Companies involved in the suit are: Arkansas Fuel Oil Co., Citits Service Oil Co., Continental Oil Co., Gulf Oil Corp., Humble Oil and Refining Co., Magnolia Petroleum Co., Standard Oil Co. of Texas, The Texas Co., Sinclair Refining Co., and Phillips Petroleum Co.

The group allegedly controls 90 per cent of the state's gasoline outlets.

Hugh F. Lyerly, Jr., assistant attorney general, presented the state's case on appeal and was pitted against more than a score of Texas' leading lawyers. Lyerly pleaded mainly for a chance to get the question before the jury.

Penalties totaling $14,000,000 are sought by the state.

Law enforcement is the subject of a conference to be held in Waco August 19 to 20.

DUCK SOUP FOR FISHERMEN—It's anything but ducky for "Quackers," river-going duck of Middleton, Conn. He's forced into the backwater as an advance guard of the nation's fisherman "army" goes on spring "maneuvers" in the Salmon River, to open Connecticut's trout season.

General John Ben Shepperd and jointly sponsored by the Baylor University school of Law.

Reports will be received on crime and crime-fighting methods. About 400 prosecutors and peace officers will attend.

San Jacinto Day is a pretty important date. The U. S. Senate investigating committee ordered a one day delay in its hearings on the Senator McCarthy-Army hassle so that the Senator might speak at the historic battleground on the anniversary of Texas' victory over Mexico in the war for independence.

McCarthy asked for the postponement of hearings of what he described as a mixup. He had been invited to speak in Texas on Independence Day, and he was thinking of July 4. The Texans who invited him, of course, had April 21 in mind. That was the day the committee hearings were scheduled to start.

C. E. (Everett) Fulgham of Lubbock becomes Secretary of State on May 1, by appointment of Governor Shivers.

He succeeds Howard Carney who has resigned because of the press of private business.

Fulgham served as chairman of the Industrial Commission which investigated Communist infiltration of labor unions. He is a farmer and rancher.

Shivers also announced the appointment of Hal Peterson, Kerr County stockman and rancher, to the Game Commission to fill the unexpired term of Scott Schreiner, who resigned.

Peterson resigned from the Upper Guadalupe River Authority in order to accept this appointment.

Crossroads Report

Dear Mr. Ike:

There still comes up every once in a while the argument about whether communism ought to be taught in our schools, so the kids will know all about what it is they are supposed to be against. A number of very brainy people favor this course, and they do have some degree of logic behind their contentions.

By the same reasoning, it looks like we ought to have some courses in school on Republicanism and Democratism. A lot of people don't know any more about these than they do communism. Their decision on which to follow has been left pretty much to chance in the past, except where some shrewd teacher has managed to get in an occasional good word for one party or the other. Likely as not, if we had courses on all three subjects, the results would depend more on the personal viewpoints of the instructors therein than on the lesson material.

I would personally agree to having communism as a required subject in our high schools if I could be sure that the study of it would build up as much teen-age ill-will against it as seems to prevail toward some other subjects like English and algebra.

Insect Control Planned For Alfalfa in County

Dr. J. C. Gaines, Entomologist of the Texas Experiment Station at A&M college, Neal Randolph, Entomologist of Texas Extension Service at A&M college, and N. E. Daniels, Entomologist of the Amarillo Experiment Station were in Collingsworth county May 6th to set up and plan the work to be done on insect in alfalfa seed production. These experiments are to be carried on in Collingsworth county this summer. This work was started last year and will be continued an indefinite time since there is greater and greater demand for insect control information by the alfalfa growers of Collingsworth county is the county in Texas where insect work in alfalfa is being carried on by the Texas Experiment Station.

Plots of 1/10 acre will be set up and each sprayed plot will have a check plot adjoining it. These plots will be replicated. The sprayed plots will receive from one to four sprays during the blooming period. Unlike experiments carried on last year, these plots will be hand sprayed. N. E. Daniels of the Amarillo Experiment Station will carry on the field work here in the county with the assistance of the local agent. The county agent is looking for a field of at least three acres of alfalfa where the owner does not intend to spray himself. If you have a field in fair to good stand which you will let us use, please let me know.

SALT FORK

By MRS. R. H. ISBELL

It's still raining out here. Just nice slow rains mostly. Rain gage showed one-half inch for Saturday night. Then the cloud moved in with a sandstorm. So every one felt very natural. We were thankful for the rain to stop that terrible blowing sand.

There was an average attendance at Sunday School and church. Bro. Marvin Clubb and family were with us. Bro. Clubb preached a good sermon if he was too sick to really be up. He went home and to bed, Sunday afternoon. He was better by church time Sunday night. Sunday visitors at Salt Fork for church were Mrs. J. D. Morris and boys, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Beborn. Visitors are always welcome. Several from out here attended church at (Bethel) Loco Sunday night.

Judy Allen was sick over the weekend. Mom Wright was sick Sunday and couldn't attend church. Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Bolton and family were up in the Lockney vicinity Sunday, looking over the prospects of wheat harvest.

Edna Ellen Dright was among the group that left Friday on a trip to Austin and San Antonio. Around 35 girls with Mrs. Wells, Mrs. Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. Parker made the trip.

Charles Wright went to Quanah last Thursday night on a skating party with his class. They were served a picnic supper at Childress Park.

Jimmy Thomas of Duncan, Oklahoma, has been visiting his aunt, Mrs. Russell Allen in Wellington.

We want to say thank you to the road men who have been dragging our roads, they sure have helped them. If we can just get a farm to market road out this way we'll all be very thankful.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Cummings visited his mother Sunday and attended singing at the Victory Church, in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Isbell were Sunday night supper guests in the G. C. Isbell home in Wellington.

Mr. Thomas Young is very sick. He is in the hospital at Wellington. His children have all been at his bedside.

J. T. Young of Needles, Calif. has had to return home. We sincerely hope Mr. Young gets better soon. He is the father of Mrs. Ernest Maxwell and Mrs. Conley Lee Moody.

Little Johnny Maxwell was real sick Sunday.

Mrs. Grace Mise and her two daughters of Wheeler visited in the U. S. Bolton home in Wellington a while Saturday. Mrs. Mise is U. S. Bolton's sister.

R. H. Isbell accompanied Wayne Ketchum to Aberdeen Sunday morning. Wayne preached there. There were not many present because the roads were impassable in some directions around Aberdeen.

Dude ranching in the historic Jackson Hole country of Wyoming places saddlebound sightseers within the shadow of the Grand Teton mountain range. Rugged mountain peaks tower above unspoiled wilderness that harbors tranquil lakes, reflecting the rocky majesty of peaks decorated with everlasting snowfields. SOUTHERN FASHIONS — Jeweled-linen shorts and a trim blouse are sun-suited for Miami wear, and the addition of a tie-on side-slotted skirt to the Margaret Newman-designed outfit makes it correct and comfortable for wear at cocktail time. However, a little farther south (in Antarctica), Australian Phillip G. Law, leader of a research team exploring for uranium, finds that the correct costume for hot-grog time includes: Polar bear fur gloves, steel-spiked shoes, a parka and a steel-tipped walking stick.

Stamps Ozark concert will be over. I surely do hope a large crowd attends, as this concert is sponsored by the Youth for Christ. The quartet singers were supper guests in the Rev. Russell Allen home Tuesday night.

Mrs. S. L. Maxwell and Charles Wright visited Mrs. G. C. Wright Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Poteet and boys spent a while Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Isbell and Billy.

Very few people out this way heard the tornado warnings Sunday afternoon, so if it had struck here, folks wouldn't have been prepared for it.

It's cotton planting time. C. A. Wright and R. H. Isbell planted corn, sudan, peas and etc., last week. It's raining down in Grayson county too. Lee Sanders of Whitesboro has already planted cotton twice from too much rain. But says the rain sure is fine on the grain crops and pastures.

Know the Signs And Be Safe On Texas Highways

"Know their shapes, and be safe."

Col E. B. Tilley of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association, and Services Advisor for the Gulf Oil Corporation was referring to traffic sign shapes when he offered this advice to motorists today.

"Traffic signs," he explained, "really can be 'signs of life' to motorists who heed them. Sign locations are determined by careful engineering studies, to guide and protect users of our streets and highways."

"These signs are designed in five basic shapes, and each shape carries a different type of message," he said.

Motorists should learn to recognize the shapes, Col Tilley pointed out, so that they can tell at a glance what type of problem they are about to meet on the highway. This will prepare them in advance to act on the sign's message when they get close enough to read it.

Col Tilley listed the five basic sign shapes and their meanings, as follows:

1. EIGHT-SIDED, painted yellow and black or red and white. This sign means STOP—one message, one requirement—never anything else.

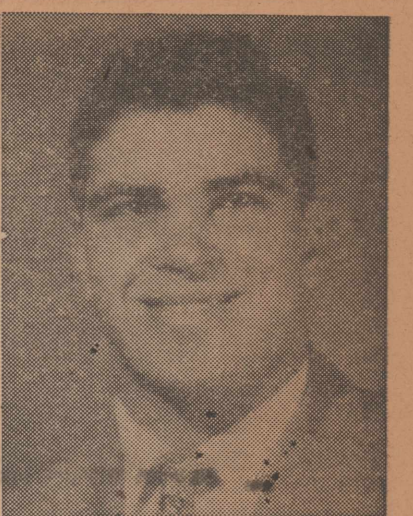

2. DIAMOND, also yellow and black. This sign indicates danger ahead, carries such message as Slow-School, Narrow Bridge, Men Working, or the directional symbols describing curves, intersections, side roads, etc. They mean: slow down, stay alert.

3. RECTANGULAR, painted white with black or colored lettering. These tell of speed limits, mark no passing zones, gives other regulatory information such as parking rules. Obey their messages.

4. ROUND, yellow and black, signs warn of a highway-railroad intersection 300 to 500 feet ahead. These signs call for reduced speed and extra caution, so the driver can make sure no train is coming before he drives across the tracks.

5. RAILROAD CROSSBUCK marks the intersection of highway and railway. Cross only when the way is clear.

"These signs, and traffic signals and pavement markings for both motorists and pedestrians, deserve the same attention as it given a traffic officer," he said.

Many traffic accidents would not happen if people using the streets and highways obeyed the signs, signals and pavement markings put there for their guidance and protection, according to Col. Tilley.

He called special attention to the slogan, "Signs of Life—Know Them, Obey Them!" which is being featured in this month's traffic safety program by the Texas Safety Association and the Department of Public Safety.

Visiting in the J. B. King home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. James Priddy and daughter of Matador. The Priddy family lived in Wellington about a year ago where he was connected with the soil conservation service.

ed his application to have his name placed on the ballot. As a result of the meeting two letters were sent to George W. Sandlin one signed by the entire executive committee and the other signed by Bob Willoughby.

The executive committee's letter follows:

It is the desire of the county executive committee to place the name of Mr. Bob Willoughby on the ballot as a candidate if it can do so and follow the law and the ruling of the State executive committee and under these circumstances would you please remit by letter stating your ruling and send a copy of your letter to the undersigned,

Zook Thomas, C. B. Anderson, Woodrow Ham, Dick Sweat, Buster Hughs, James Sullivan.

Mr. Willoughby's letter follows:

This letter is in regard to the placing of the name of Bob Willoughby upon the ballot of the Democratic Party for the office of sheriff of Collingsworth County, Texas.

Mr. Willoughby filled out and signed the applicant and affidavit loyalty on the 19th day of January 1954 and filed only the loyalty affidavit with the County Chairman by leaving it at his place of business on May 3, 1954 at about 3:30 in the evening and asked the bookkeeper if he owed any money at that time, and he said that the committee would meet in June and be billed later and that was all that was necessary and this form is a little different than some of the rest of them but that is all right.

I thought I had filed the necessary papers and the first time I was informed of the failure to file both papers was at the county executive meeting on May 12, 1954.

Signed,

Bob Willoughby
J. N. Glasgow said that he did tell Mr. Willoughby that no money was necessary at that time since the committee would meet later and set the fee and that it was all right to leave the papers with me and I would hand them to the county chairman. However, I made no mention as to whether or not the paper was filled out correctly for I did not even read it. The only reason I said his was a little different from the others was that he handed in only one paper and the others had been handing me two.

Misses Rose and Marie Shadd of the Fair Store left Sunday for Dallas, to attend the Fall Market of Ladies Wear. Every principle line of the United States will be represented at the Show.

WELLINGTON SENIORS

Dairymen Meet the Problem Squarely

GREATER MARKETING, SELLING ACTIVITY SOLUTION TO PROBLEM

Greater marketing and selling activity are the only solutions to the precarious position of the Texas and American dairy industry, Sam E. von Rosenberg, state manager of the American Dairy Association of Texas, stated at headquarters here.

Government support prices and lowering the costs of milk production are not the answer to the dropping market prices, von Rosenberg said.

Support prices are actually driving the market to a lower level," he said, pointing out that support props can only be used as an emergency aid.

Lowering the cost of milk production is not the answer either, he continued. "When milk-producing efficiency is increased, a larger volume of milk must compete for the same number of consumers dollars as before. The usual result is a lower price per hundredweight of milk."

Therefore the only solution to the problem is the creation of a bigger market for milk products by greater selling activities.

To meet the problem squarely, dairy farmers in Texas have joined with dairy farmers of other states in the ADA set-aside, self-help program to do the job needed most by the dairy industry—greater marketing.

Beginning June 1, dairymen in Texas will set-aside 2 cents per each hundred pounds of milk and one half cent for each pound of butterfat for cream, an increase approved at the State convention in January.

This increased rate will provide money for a continuous year-around program of activities to increase marketing and selling and to halt declining prices, von Rosenberg said. "This program is directed by the dairymen through their officers and financed by the Twenty-three states, including Texas, representing 63.4 per cent of the nation's milk supply, have endorsed the 1954 expanded program.

The efforts of the ADA expanded program to keep the dairy business profitable are concentrated mostly on merchandising, advertising, research, and public relations, reaching into many channels, he said.

Consumer checks have been made during the past year to discover the consumer's opinion of milk and dairy products. The findings are contained in a 500-page book which reports the pertinent attitudes. From this source of facts the ADA is building a vast dairy sales program.

A radio and television series on a national hook-up covering 30 states is another of the ADA's endeavors.

Evidence of the progress made by the ADA's expanded program last year is in a report from two cities supporting the expanded program, Rochester, N. Y., and Kansas City, Mo., which shows a 6.6 per cent increase of total sales. In Rochester the increased sales effort returned $1.77 for each dollar invested and in Kansas City the increase returned $17.87 for every dollar invested.

"When this same thing is done in all markets across the country, the surplus will be wiped out, and in fact, a shortage will exist," von Rosenberg said.

Phillips 66 presents the first All-Weather Motor Oil which has proved it meets the most exacting standard ever established for automobile lubrication...

Mil-O-2104, Supplement 1 level.

The toughest standard ever set up for automobile lubrication is the Mil-O-2104 Supplement 1 test. New Trop-Artic is the first all-weather motor oil to meet the requirements of this test. It is an oil which will serve you winter and summer... an oil so good it can double the life of an automobile engine!

Compared to ordinary motor oils, new Trop-Artic reduces ring wear 40% or more. It cuts oil consumption 15% to 45%. It keeps pistons and bearings cleaner... longer-lasting. It saves you money by increasing gasoline mileage. This has been demonstrated in tests representing over 150,000 miles of driving.

Trop-Artic is truly an all-weather oil... S.A.E. 10W through S.A.E. 30. Therefore it flows instantly for easy starting at sub-zero temperatures, and yet it retains the film strength necessary to prevent engine wear under high temperature driving conditions. It isn't just heavy duty. It's double duty.

Any car, in any climate, at any time of the year will perform better with Phillips 66 Trop-Artic. It is a worthy companion product to Phillips 66 Flite-Fuel, the new high performance gasoline recently introduced by Phillips. It pays to stop at the station where you see the Phillips 66 Shield.

EDITORIAL COMMENT — THE WELLINGTON LEADER

Community Cooperation — A Must

The responsibility of protecting and promoting the safety, health, morals and general welfare of urban inhabitants rests primarily with municipal governments. Thus city officials are concerned with police and fire protection, sewage disposal, maintenance of streets and numerous other services. But municipal government cannot do everything that is needed without the support of the citizens.

With the adoption of the Waterworks Revenue Bond ordinance in the special election held Tuesday Smackover made a stride forward in the protection of the health and safety of her citizens. And the decision will also have an effect upon the future growth of the community. But many factors will have a far-reaching effect upon the future growth of the community also. It is of these factors that we are thinking now.

Smackover needs additional sanitary sewer facilities. Building of new homes in some areas has been slowed down because of a lack of these facilities and home-owners now residing in certain sections of the town are without these facilities available to them.

Smackover needs more hard surfaced streets and sidewalks. Plans are being formulated now to continue the street improvement program begun a few years ago but as more new residential areas are being opened up there is a need for expansion of this program.

Smackover needs a program of planned recreation for her young people and youth.

Smackover needs an auditorium with an adequate seating capacity which could also be used as a community center by all organizations.

No doubt you can think of many others as sorely needed.

It is a city's responsibility to consider its future. It should take steps to guide its growth and development in such a manner that it can provide services for all of its citizens, efficiently and economically. In addition, each city has a responsibility of providing a satisfactory environment in which its citizens may live, work and play.

The city officials and members of the City Council are doing an excellent job in their efforts to improve Smackover. But we repeat, they cannot do all that is needed without the full cooperation of the citizens.

Would it not perhaps be a good idea to establish a planning commission to work with the City Council and city officials for the betterment of Smackover?

Town Plans to Encourage Industry

It is an encouraging note for residents of the Washington area that the District Board of Trade is cooperating with other Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce to attract desirable industry here.

We would be blind indeed not to see in the recent recession which hit the Washington area a potential danger for the future.

For many years it was an accepted theory that the national capital and its environs were immune to the threats of depression. Yet the very government whose payrolls were to shore up the local economy became responsible in part for its curtailment.

From the standpoint of business activity, we have relied too heavily upon the mere accumulation of population under the federal roof.

What we need to do, for the welfare of the general population & the welfare of business, is to develop this area as a functional unit in the national economy. Only in this way can we increase the earning potential of our people by offering greater variety of employment.

We do not have the unique position of some American areas situated between raw materials and markets on advantages systems of transportation. Therefore, we can not manufacture steel, say, or fabricate it.

We have none of the mineral riches of the west to mine, or oil of the southwest to discover.

Yet we do have unique and promising advantages which can be utilized by many industries. In the field of research alone there are innumerable opportunities. Here we have the Bureau of Standards, the National Health Institutes, Army and Navy Ordnance, the Department of Agriculture, and hundreds of other research institutions of the federal government. Proximity to them provides an unequalled advantage to certain organizations.

The exploration of such possibilities for the expansion of economic activity can only have a beneficial effect upon all who live here. For young people who need a start and for experienced workers who need jobs, the secret of success is to find an avenue of employment which is profitable to someone else.

This principle is as true of cities as it is people.

Rule for Traffic Laws—It's Never Safe to Cheat

You wouldn't cheat at cards . . . and you'd resent it heartily if anyone suggested you might cheat in business. But how about cheating just a bit on traffic laws?

If you're like a great many drivers, you'll have admit that there have been occasions when you have disregarded a traffic sign, exceeded the speed limit or been guilty of some other infraction of traffic laws or regulations.

"But," you say hastily, "I only do it when it's perfectly safe. I'd never think of doing it if there were any danger involved."

"There's always danger involved. And the fact that it's not apparent often makes it more treacherous."

For instance, you may come upon a "School, Slow" sign when traveling on a clear stretch of road. As far as you can see there isn't a child around. But this doesn't excuse you from the obligation of slowing down. Children have an uncanny way of seeming to materialize from nowhere. One might suddenly dart in front of your car. The fact that you thought it was safe to disregard the warning sign wouldn't help you much if you struck that child.

It's the same way with traffic signals, turning and passing regulations, and all the rest of the traffic laws and regulations. Their function is to protect you and everyone else who uses the streets and highways. They can't protect you if you ignore them.

Never ask yourself, "It is safe to cheat a little this time?" Make up your mind once and for all, that it's never safe to cheat on traffic laws.

The only way to stay safe in traffic is to know your traffic laws, and Obey Them!

Folks of Little Faith

Many people didn't think it would rain again.

And now that it has rained they fear there won't be much more.

Quite convinced that a great dry decade has set and that dire disaster looms.

And many of us who were not so convinced have nevertheless been plenty fearful.

We are innately folks of feeble faith, seems like.

That applies not only to weather but to many other things.

And in consequence of this we suffer a great deal of quite seedless mental anxiety.

Try to Meet God's Standard Of Honesty

What does it mean to be honest?

The question and the answer are not just as simple as one might suppose.

When one gets out into life, and begins to observe society, one quickly finds that there are varying standards of honesty.

There is, for instance, that old and very true, observation that "honesty is the best policy."

Many men have been known to be honest when it cost them a lot to stand by their idea of what was right and just.

And there are some men whose idea of honesty is bound up with ideas of law and legality. They maintain: "as long as the law allows it, why shouldn't we do it?"

There is a great amount of that sort of legalized honesty prevalent in the world today, and much of it in very respectable quarters; but what does God think of it? There are grades and varieties, and standards of honesty, and so there is a point in asking, "What is God's standard?"

God's standard of honesty is related to truth and inherent right. Man makes his codes and creeds, and seek to give them divine authority, but that doesn't make them either true or right.

In the world of science men have theories concerning facts and phenomena, but they have to abandon such theories when further and conflicting light and evidence appear.

Though we may not always realize it the same thing is true in religious experience.

Honesty, according to God's standard, is to bring one's life and action into harmony with the truth as one sees it. That is true honesty, and nothing less is true honesty.

Crossroads Report

Dear Mr. Ike:

I expect that you've heard about this prominent British writer who notified us here a while back that you are an appalling failure as a President. The news came as a mild shock to some of us around here who had all the time thought you were making a pretty fair stab at the job.

It just goes to show that hardly any of us can rightly judge our own property and performance. You take people who make cakes or write plays and they never know whether the product is good or bad until reports are in from all the critics, and practically nobody can appraise his one used car like the experts do. The British citizens are likely troubled with this same human shortcoming so in order to show our appreciation for this sharp evaluation of your work, I guess we ought to let them know how their Mr. Eden and Mr. Churchill, etc., are making out.

There is no telling how much improvement in all of the accoutrements of civilization would follow if we would all take care to give each one of our neighbors a candid rating on his political party, and his dog, and his wife.

In Cotton Fields

County Agent Explains Spot Oiling of Established Johnson Grass

By J. W. THOMAS

Application of an effective herbicidal oil to the crowns and the first few inches of stems of established Johnson Grass kills this grass at the ground line. Repetition of such treatment at intervals of 10 to 15 days, as needed to control regrowth, will eradicate root-stock infestations of this grass in a single season. Six or more consecutive treatments are usually required. Lion 1, Esso 38, lightfoot 23, Varsol 1, NO HO, Lion 7, Tulsa Toxisol, and many other herbicidal oils are satisfactory for this purpose.

Cotton can not be expected to survive the spot oilings required for the most effective treatment of established infestations of this grass. Basal treatment of the grass, however, can be made in cotton rows with the accidental spraying on only in occasional cotton plant. Knapsack sprayers have proven satisfactory for use in making treatments of this type. Stems of established Johnson Grass can be "cut" with oil applied from a hand sprayer than they can be cut with a hoe. Also, repeated oilings eradicate established Johnson Grass. Hand hoeing, as done by an ordinary field hand, only temporarily delays the growth of the grass. The oils suggested for use in spot treating Johnson Grass are volatile and have little or no residual effect on the soil.

The knapsack sprayer is carried on the operator's back. It is light and easy to carry if it is not overloaded with oil. The spray usually has a capacity of three gallons, but in spot oiling established Johnson Grass in cotton rows, the operator seldom needs more than a gallon of oil with him at any one time. A gallon of oil is enough to oil the established Johnson Grass in the rows of one-fourth to one-third of an acre of cotton, in most cases. Adding a small quantity of oil to the spray tank every few "rounds" from a reserve supply at the end of the rows is much more efficient than for the operator to fill his sprayer to capacity.

The knapsack sprayer is equipped with a hand pump which is conveniently activated by the operator with his right hand as he walks. The pump on the sprayer is capable of developing sixty or more pounds of pressure per square inch, but to maintain such pressures by hand is both fatiguing and undesirable. A pressure of ten pounds per square inch or less is more desirable than higher pressures in spot oiling Johnson Grass in cotton. Such pressures are easy to maintain with only infrequent strokes of the pump handle.

The operator's left hand is free to manipulate the spray wand and the spring tension valve in the spray line. Only a single nozzle should be used on the end of the spray wand. This nozzle should be equipped with a 50-mesh screen and a fan-type Teejet 8002 nozzle tip, or its equivalent. Nozzle tips with this size orifices are seldom sold with a knapsack sprayer and may have to be purchased separately.

The operator prepares to treat established Johnson Grass in a cotton row by placing a gallon of suitable herbicidal oil in the sprayer tank, putting the sprayer on his back, taking the spray wand in his left hand and the pump in his right. A few strokes on the pump handle will develop adequate pressure for him to open the valve to test his spray nozzle. He is then ready to proceed down a cotton row until he comes to a clump of established Johnson Grass. With spray pressure on the line, he points the spray nozzle at the individual Johnson Grass stems so as to treat the crown and the lower inch or two of the stem. Next, he depresses the spray tension valve handle just enough for his spray nozzle to discharge some oil. Just as soon as he has thoroughly wet the crown of the Johnson Grass he releases the valve lever and stops the oil. Only an instant is required to make an individual treatment. He then repeats this operation for each and every stem of Johnson Grass growing in the cotton row.

If he is alert, the operator can treat the Johnson Grass without treating any cotton plants that are two or more inches away from a Johnson Grass stem at the stem line. In the beginning the operator may have to stand still while he is making a treatment, but he will soon learn to treat the grass as he walks along the row. He will of course, have to slow the pace and occasionally stop at intervals along the row where the infestation is heavy. After he has gained some experience, the operator may use his right foot to push cotton plants aside where they are very close to a Johnson Grass stem.

A fan-type Teejet 8002 nozzle tip will develop approximately a 15 degree fan that will have a maximum width of two and one half inches if the operator maintains a spray pressure of 10 pounds or less in the line, has the nozzle at the proper height and angle and "cracks" the valve open just wide enough. Such a spray fan facilitates the treatment of individual stems of Johnson Grass and helps the operator to avoid the treatment of cotton stems. If the spray pressure is too high, ie 30 to 40 pounds, the nozzle held too high or the valve open too wide, the spray fan will be too wide and treatment will unavoidably be made to cotton stems as well as to the Johnson Grass stems. Both the cotton and the Johnson Grass stems will be "cut" when this occurs and also oil will be wasted. However, there is no justification for this happening to a responsible operator the second time if he understands that this is a possibility. Most operators soon acquire the "feel" of their equipment.

The use of a low pressure and a nozzle tip with a large orifice (ie an 8002 instead of an 80050) makes the nozzle more responsive to the closing of the line valve and avoids "bleeding" of the nozzle due to pressure built up in the line between the valve and its nozzle. This saves the operator's time and helps him avoid accidental treatment of cotton. If a high line pressure, ie 40 pounds per square inch, and a nozzle tip with a small orifice, ie an 80050, are used, the nozzle will continue to discharge spray fluid several seconds after the operator closes the line valve. It takes this time to "bleed off" the pressure in the spray wand. If the operator moves the nozzle during the bleeding period he very likely will kill several stalks of cotton adjacent to the Johnson Grass stem he has been treating. If he waits until the nozzle stops discharging spray fluid, he loses time. The use of a low spraying pressure and a nozzle tip with the proper size orifices avoids these difficulties.

Two rows should be taken at a time in spot oiling established Johnson Grass in cotton except when the cotton is over hip high. The operator can maintain the spray wand from one side of the middle to another and in between the cotton stalks in the row. However, the operator should never get out of his middle. Otherwise, he is apt to lose track of where he has treated the grass and where he has not. Too much of the Johnson Grass is left untreated where the operator attempts to watch four rows at one time. Some of the Johnson Grass stems will escape treatment even when the operator is watching only two rows. The treated stems are usually dead the day after treatment or at least show that they are going to die. A second trip to the field the third day after the initial treatment is nearly always needed to treat the Johnson Grass stems that were missed the first time. After that the field need not be treated again until 3 or 4 inches of regrowth has been made from the root-stock of the treated Johnson Grass. This usually means that an infested field must be spot treated every 10 to 15 days during the growing season, two trips over the field each time.

Eradication of root infestations of Johnson Grass in the cotton rows is the reward for close attention to spot treatment throughout the season. In experimental trials in the Brazos River Valley near College Station, the per acre cost for labor and oil per season has not greatly exceeded the cost of cutting the Johnson Grass with a hoe. The flexibility of a hand sprayer and the freedom of the operator to travel at varying speeds along the rows are needed to successfully spot treat established Johnson Grass in the cotton rows. Experimental attempts to provide these requirements in tractor operated sprayers have been less successful than the use of hand equipment.

Texas Draft Call For June 1965

Austin—State Selective Service headquarters Friday announced a June draft call quota of 965 men, 784 less than the June 1953 call.

Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state director of Selective Service, said that local board quotas for June will be mailed from his headquarters the "last week in April."

At the same time, he announced that local boards would receive no June calls to send men for combination mental and physical examination. Approximately 1,000 men are scheduled for these examinations in May.

In a telegram received Thursday from Major General Lewis B. Hershey, national director of Selective Service, Texas Selective Service was restricted from placing an "overcall" on the June quota.

The "Overcall" is a device which insures the state of filling its quota, General Wakefield pointed out. In the past, national headquarters has issued a net call, allowing states to add additional men.

Previously, Texas has added up to 20 per cent of the net call to take care of postponements, rejections, reclassifications, and other possibilities which can reduce a net quota considerably.

'Texas rarely over hits its quota on the nose," General Wakefield commented, "going over or under, depending upon our judgement about the overcall."

The state director of Selective Service pointed out that the Army is acting to lose one division by June 30, 1954, and two more by June 30, 1955. All services are reducing strength but the Air Force.
