

Caught In Middle Welfare Fuss Makes Needy The Losers

NEW YORK (AP) — The young man and his wife sat on the wooden chairs in the sterile gray and green room and held hands. He was 22 and she was 18. They had been married four months. They were being evicted from their apartment and hadn't eaten in three days.

They were losers — two of the 60,000 persons on the city's welfare rolls.

This month many of them are losers—caught in the middle of a situation they didn't want, didn't cause and don't need.

Seminars Staged

It started 10 days ago when about 80 per cent of the Department of Welfare's case workers began refusing to do their assigned tasks in a demonstration to underscore a contract dispute with the city.

To avoid breaking a state law prohibiting strikes by public employees, they went to work but did no work, meeting in seminars instead.

A few days later, the city decided that if the case workers wanted to hold seminars, they could hold them just as well on the sidewalk, and permitted only those willing to perform "assigned work" to enter the welfare centers.

Come Back Tomorrow

At some of the city's 33 centers, those willing to work under the specified conditions numbered only two or three of a normal staff of 100 or more. Supervisory personnel and office help were brought in to replace missing case workers.

It hasn't been enough. Welfare Department spokesmen say that the temporary setup has been sufficient to maintain at least emergency services.

Some doubt it. "This is our third day here," the young husband said. "Each time we come about 10 in the morning and at 4 in the afternoon they give us carfare and tell us to come back tomorrow. They give us numbers to keep us in order. Today I got number 87. About 12:30 they called number 45. They haven't called another number since."

It was then 2 p.m.

Landlord Pressure

"We owe 3½ weeks rent," the man said. "This morning the landlord told us he couldn't wait any more. They've got to help us today."

He said he'd held a job which paid him bare subsistence wages until last week. Then he quit because he couldn't get a raise.

In the early morning hours since then he has walked the streets looking for work, he said, but he can't spend the whole day at it because he has to be at the welfare center early.

Needs Subway Fare

He said he knew where there were some jobs—but he didn't have the 40 cents in subway fare needed to get there and back.

Outside, six members of the Social Service Employees Union marched back and forth. "We feel awful about those people in there," said Michael McKain.

"But I'll quit before I go back in there if the city doesn't honor its promises to us," McKain declared.

The SSEE contract expired last Jan. 15. At that time, the contract dispute precipitated a three-day walkout that ended when the city said it would send the wage issue to fact-finding, open direct negotiations on "other issues" and later send still-unresolved problems to fact-finding.

'Not Bargainable'

Mayor John V. Lindsay has called the nonworking case workers "a small irresponsible group that caused trouble for everybody."

The city, through its director of labor relations, Herbert Haber, now says there are some issues which are "not bargainable" — demands by the union for control of what the city considers management prerogatives.

According to SSEE President Judith Mage, the city promised in January to allow fact-finders to decide what was bargainable and what was not and is therefore now going back on a promise.

One of the issues, she said, is whether the contract should provide for a fund to pay case workers full salary while they are recuperating from injuries sustained on the job. This, she said, the city has termed unbargainable.

The union's action now threatens to spread to the city's three children's shelters, the institutions run to care for children whose mothers cannot be with them during the day.

Redistricting Bill Confuses Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today postponed for at least two weeks action on a proposed congressional redistricting bill that has caused widespread confusion on Capitol Hill.

The delay is intended to give members a chance to study the proposal. The compromise of Senate and House bills was worked out Monday and a vote had been scheduled for today.

FIRST LOOK

The members got their first look at the language of the bill in the Congressional Record this morning and were supposed to vote on it a few hours later.

After a hurried round of conferences it was agreed to put off any action until after a 10-day recess which starts Thursday.

"I think this is a more responsible way to legislate," said Rep. John Brademas, D-Ind. "There is great confusion about what this would do. Even the members of the conference committee seem to be in disagreement about it."

VOTE MANDATE

By its terms it provides that no state would be required to redistrict in accordance with the Supreme Court's one-man-one-vote mandate until after a federal census. The next regular census will be taken in 1970.

One of many questions raging unanswered through the House Tuesday was the effect the proposal would have on lower courts, which have been moving vigorously to enforce the Supreme Court ruling.

"If this means the courts shall do nothing until 1972," said Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., "then it amounts to a postponement of a constitutional right and Congress can't do that by simple statute."

KENNEDY DISSENT

"If it is just advisory and the courts can go ahead as they have, then it is meaningless," Conyers was the only House member of the conference committee to vote against the bill, which is a compromise of sorts between different measures passed by the House and Senate.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., was the only Senate conferee to dissent.

The original House bill provided that for the 1968 and 1970 elections, a variant of up to 30 per cent between the smallest and largest districts in each state would be all right, with the margin dropping to 10 per cent in 1972.

CENSUS CALL

The Senate bill, adopted on the floor on Kennedy's motion, put the 10 per cent limit into effect at once—which would have meant reapportionment in 33 states before the 1968 elections.

Most House members expected a balance to be struck somewhere between 10 per cent and 30 per cent, but the conferees fixed 10 per cent as the acceptable variation in 1972 and said nothing else had to be done unless there was a census.

NOTHING

Democrats met informally with Conyers and other conferees Tuesday in an attempt to seek clarification, but persons who attended the meeting said confusion was rampant.

"I came out knowing less than when I went in—and that was nothing," said one member. Conyers hurriedly had letters printed for each House member expressing his concern and fear over the conference version of the bill. He said he hopes to raise enough questions during debate today to bring about its defeat.

"This is worse than either the House or Senate versions," he said.

Lubbock Wreck Kills Two Men

LUBBOCK (AP) — Two elderly East Texas men were killed and three other persons injured Wednesday in the collision of two cars at a street intersection in northeast Lubbock.

Killed were Robert Lee Varner, 73, and Otis H. Walton, 71, both of Henderson.

Injured were Mrs. Robert Lee Varner, 68, of Henderson, Mrs. and Bobby Jack Bartlett, 24, Otis H. Walton, 64, of Henderson, of Idalou, a small town 10 miles northeast of Lubbock.

The two Henderson couples were in one car and Bartlett was alone in the second car.

Chief Kosygin, Castro Wage 'Frank' Talks

HAVANA (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Prime Minister Fidel Castro have disagreed in their talks, the official Soviet news agency Tass indicated today.

Tass reported from Havana that the two leaders had "a frank exchange" of opinions Tuesday on a number of questions of mutual interest.

Use of the word "frank" in such announcements normally means disagreement. There was no mention of "identity of views" or any other phrasing indicating accord, although Tass called the talks "friendly."

MILITARY MATTERS

Tass did not disclose subjects discussed, but the makeup of the Cuban delegation—meeting with Kosygin indicated military matters were covered. Four of the nine top Cubans listed by Tass as participating in the talks were military leaders.

They were Defense Minister Raul Castro, Fidel's brother; First Deputy Defense Minister Juan Almeida, and Deputy Defense Ministers Sergio Del Valle and Guillermo Garcia.

It was the first report of Raul Castro's return to his defense post since an announcement March 24 that he had stepped down temporarily. Fidel had said earlier in the year that Raul planned to take time off to study military, political, economic and technical subjects.

TRADE DEMANDS

Disagreement between Kosygin and Castro had been expected. Diplomatic sources said they believed Kosygin's chief aim was to get the Cuban leader to mute his demands for the overthrow of Latin-American governments with which the Soviet Union is seeking to trade and that Castro was certain to refuse.

Kosygin, who arrived in Havana from New York Monday, is expected to continue his talks with Castro until Friday, then fly to Paris to see President Charles de Gaulle again.

Mideast At Glance

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM—In a step toward annexation of the Old City of Jerusalem, seized from Jordan in the war, the Israeli Parliament approves legislation unifying its municipal services with those of the Israeli sector and promising protection and free access to the holy places in the Old City and in Bethlehem. Premier Levi Eshkol says unless the Arabs abandon their plans to destroy Israel, Israel will not give up occupied areas necessary to its security.

WASHINGTON—King Hussein of Jordan lunches with President Johnson today and is expected to ask for aid to his war-battered nation. U.S. officials say the President is sympathetic, but most U.S. aid projects in Jordan are in territory seized by Israel in the war.

CAIRO—A Yugoslav correspondent reports the Egyptian censorship office has instructed the Egyptian press and radio to stop rude attacks on President Johnson and tone down demands for a new war against Israel. He also reports Soviet and French oil experts are to replace American, British and West German technicians in Egypt's western desert and Red Sea area.

MOSCOW—Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and Defense Minister Andrei A. Grechko meet with an Algerian military leader, arousing speculation that they reviewed Soviet military aid to Algeria.

UNITED NATIONS—The U.N. General Assembly's general debate on the Middle East crisis nears its end with no agreement on a resolution in sight. The assembly is expected to recess, perhaps all next week, while members negotiate privately for a compromise that can get a big majority vote.

Rusk, Gromyko Agree To Submit Arms Draft

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union plan to submit to the Geneva Disarmament Conference shortly a joint proposal for a treaty to curb the spread of nuclear weapons.

When the treaty draft goes before the 17-nation disarmament group, probably within the next few days, it may still be minus a provision for safeguards against violations.

U.S.-Soviet negotiators have been unable for months to agree on the safeguards, or inspection, clause. But U.S. diplomats are hopeful of reaching Big Two accord on this soon after submitting the proposed treaty at Geneva, if not by then.

FINAL PHASE

This became known today following a dinner meeting Tuesday night between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko at the headquarters of the Soviet U.N. mission.

The Rusk-Gromyko session, a followup to the conferences last weekend between President Johnson and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, apparently finished the last phase of the summitry of Glassboro, N.J., the site of the Johnson-Kosygin parleys.

Rusk had no further appointments with Gromyko scheduled. He arranged to return to Washington to report to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the Cabinet today and to the House Foreign Affairs Committee Thursday.

Gromyko, who arrived June 17 with Kosygin, was reported considering returning to Moscow around the end of the week if the U.N. General Assembly decides to recess its emergency session on the Middle East.

The Middle East crisis and the proposed nuclear nonproliferation treaty were the major topics discussed by Rusk and Gromyko, who met for more than three hours. U.S. sources said Vietnam was not discussed because the deep U.S.-Soviet differences on this topic had been amply aired in previous talks.

While Rusk told newsmen "I cannot report there was a great deal of progress" on the Middle East issue, other American sources said:

ARMS ACCORD

—There is some agreement between the U.S. and Soviet positions despite their differences.

Both big powers have long recognized Israel's existence as a state, in contrast to the Arab view. The Kremlin may therefore agree that there should be a state of peace rather than war between the Arabs and Israelis.

The Soviets also probably favor economic development for the area, though it would be difficult to reach an accord on limiting arms shipments to the Middle East.

Moscow probably would not stand in the way of unrestricted passage for all ships in the Middle East waterways or of programs to help Arab refugees.

Bail Out Plea Due To Gain LBJ Sympathy

WASHINGTON (AP) — King Hussein of Jordan is expected to ask President Johnson to help bail out his battered nation—No. 1 loser in the Arab-Israeli war—when the two talk at the White House today.

U.S. officials said Hussein's expected appeal for help will meet with sympathy from the President. But they said Israeli occupation of some of Jordan's most valuable territory makes unclear what action the United States could take.

REFUGEE PROBLEM

Behind administration sympathy for Hussein and his nation is the king's long-time stance as the most pro-Western head of state in the Arab world. There also is recognition that Jordan needs speedy assistance in easing the burden of daily increasing numbers of refugees from land now held by the Israelis.

Officials note, however, that the refugee problem is international in scope and has been handled most effectively by the U.N. Relief and Work Agency, financed to a great extent by the United States.

MUST BE CAREFUL

Hussein, officials feel, does not come to Washington to speak for all the Arabs. He accomplished this part of his mission when he addressed the U.N. General Assembly Monday.

On the main problem, how to settle the Arab-Israeli dispute and prevent new hostilities, there is little Johnson and Hussein can do immediately, officials believe.

Hussein must be very careful not to detach himself to the slightest degree from the rigid Arab policy line. American experts say, his grandfather, King Abdallah, was assassinated in 1948 when it was only rumored that he was ready to negotiate peace with Israel.

ASSASSINATION WITNESS

Hussein, then a young man, was at his grandfather's side and saw the assassination.

But Hussein has a prime opportunity to talk about bilateral issues such as economic and military aid to his country.

All aid to belligerent countries was suspended, or put in the "under review" category—a State Department euphemism for suspension—when the war broke out.

Last Saturday the State Department announced resumption of aid to countries which did not break diplomatic relations with the United States. Jordan is one of them.

ISRAELI CONTROL

A major problem, officials said, is that most U.S. aid projects in Jordan are in the Israeli-occupied territory west of the Jordan River.

These include a jet airstrip, two major teachers colleges, an agricultural school, and several road and well-building projects. In addition, several small industries have been set up in Jerusalem with American aid.

Now all this is in Israeli hands, together with nine of Jordan's 11 major cities and most of the country's fertile land in the Jordan River Valley. Moreover, U.S. experts privately say they believe Israel will not return about half the area, roughly west of the old Damascus road, running from Jerusalem through Ramallah, Nablus and Nazareth to Syria.

Oklahoma Hikes Oil Allowable

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The Corporation Commission boosted the Oklahoma oil allowance today for July and August to a record 650,000 barrels daily to meet the Middle East crisis.

The action came after crude oil purchasers estimated their needs at 641,000 barrels a day.

Dam Snap Kills Fish

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — A state official says about 165,000 fish died when the Clinch River was polluted two weeks ago when a coal ash-retaining dam broke. The dam broke at the Appalachian Power Co. plant at Crabo in Russell County. The polluted waters moved down the river to the Norris Dam, normally travels on the Ohio Tennessee, where it dissipated.

Dear Abby

Date Is Too Expensive

DEAR ABBY: My girl friend is a brilliant college graduate with a master's degree, and she earns $20,000 per year. I never went past high school, and I earn $5,000 per year. We go out three times a week and she likes to go to all the most expensive places, and she being sort of the leader, that is where we invariably go.

I could have just as good a time at a less expensive place, but I don't want to look cheap by making an issue of it, so we always end up going to the expensive place.

Naturally, I pay the tab. I am supporting my aged mother and a child by a previous marriage, and these dates are more than I can afford. My girl friend supports no one but herself and apparently doesn't realize my situation. I'm afraid if I tell her she will either have to go to less expensive places or help pay the tab. I will lose her. What is your advice in this case?

DEAR MALE: Tell her that you enjoy her company, but you can't afford her tastes, and that if she wants to continue to enjoy your company, she will either have to adjust to your standards, or help foot the bill. And if you lose her before you go broke, it'll be a break for you.

DEAR ABBY: I am a normal 17-year-old girl with very strict parents. The only time I get away from home is to spend the weekend with my girlfriend, and then I run with a pretty wild crowd. I've never been thrown in jail or anything like that, but most of my friends have, and I know a person is judged by the company she keeps.

I finally got a date with a decent boy for a change and I acted as nice as I knew how. All he got from me was a good-night kiss. After two dates he stopped calling me. He must have heard about my reputation and it scared him off.

Abby, how can I let him know I'm really not that bad, and have a bad reputation only because of my friends? I like him very much and wonder if you can help me get him back?

DEAR BAD NAME: Unfortunately a reputation can be damaged overnight, but it can't be repaired that fast. You earned it, so now you had better set about living it down and building up a "new one."

Only by consistent good behavior, and staying strictly away from "bad" company, can you prove to people that you aren't the kind of girl they thought you were.

DEAR ABBY: I am tired of people who insinuate that "working wives" have it made. They tell me, I GET to go out to work every day; I don't have to work in the house all day; the kids don't run me nuts, etc. Please inform them that I don't GET to go to work every day. I HAVE to.

I work in an office all day and then go home to do what the non-working wife has all day to do. I am dog tired, but I still have the same duties to perform. And get this — if any of my non-working relatives telephone me on Saturday morning and find me still asleep at 9 or 10, and make some remark about how "lazy" I am, I'll let them have it.

When I call them from work on my lunch hour the line is busy or I wake them up. I'd like all non-working women to know that the working woman really works! ON THE JOB

Connally Heads For California

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally left for California Tuesday to review progress on exhibits for the state's exhibit at San Antonio's 1968 HemisFair.

The governor is expected to return to Austin late Thursday, his office said.

Gordon Ashby of San Francisco and Usher-Follis, Inc., of Los Angeles are exhibit designers for the state's Institute of Texan Culture, which will remain as a permanent exhibit building after HemisFair closes in October, 1968.

Ashby is designer for a "pictorial mosaic" to be projected on the exhibit building's dome. Usher-Follis is preparing displays within the building.

Ready Reserve Releases Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon announced today that military Reservists who have served two years active duty generally will now be exempt from having to make weekly drills in the Ready Reserve.

The new policy may mean the release of thousands of men currently required to attend weekly meetings of Active Reserve or National Guard units.

The Pentagon said that "In no event shall a man who has served in Viet Nam be involuntarily assigned" to a Ready Reserve unit for weekly drill purposes.

The Army estimated there are 25,000 individuals mandatorily attached to Ready Reserve units who will be eligible for release, if they so desire, by Dec. 1.

Unspecified numbers of Navy and Air Force Reservists also are involved.

The policy was laid down in a memorandum to the services by Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus Vance.

Amendments Order Drawn

AUSTIN (AP) — Secretary of State John Hill drew places Tuesday for the six constitutional amendments that will appear on a special Veterans' Day ballot this year.

1. Allowing counties to put all taxes in one general fund.
2. Permitting cities located in hospital districts to participate in mental health services carried on by a district.
3. Reviving the veterans' land program by permitting sale of $200 million in state bonds to finance low-cost land purchases by veterans.
4. Allowing counties to pay medical expenses of county law enforcement officers injured on duty.
5. Enabling the state to issue $75 million in bonds to finance a park purchase and development program.
6. Permitting non-elective state officials to hold additional non-elective state or federal posts.

A rare type of dummy reversal characterized South's plan of campaign. In order to develop the fulfilling trick for his six heart contract, he literally donated a trick in the trump suit to the opposition.

West chose to adopt a neutral course by opening a heart and South won the trick in his hand with the nine.

There were 11 top tricks available — five hearts, four spades, one diamond, and one club. A 12th trick might be established in clubs by ruffing out North's suit, provided clubs divide evenly, however, the dummy unfortunately, lacks the necessary entries. Presently declarer spotted a way to compensate for his communications problem.

A club was led to the ace and a small club ruffed with the queen of hearts. A small heart was led to the jack and when both opponents followed, the ten of hearts was permitted to remain outstanding.

Another club was trumped and dummy reentered with the jack of spades to ruff away West's king of clubs with the ace of hearts. South's remaining trump, even tho this play established East's ten of hearts as the master card in the suit.

South now began to run his spades, sluffing away dummy's diamonds. East ruffed in on the third round and returned a diamond. Declarer put up the ace, discarded North's remaining diamond on the fourth spade and ruffed a diamond with dummy's six of hearts. The jack of clubs took the last trick.

Altho declarer deliberately built up a trump trick for his opponents, by so doing, he gained two tricks in return. The heart trick came back because he was able to trump three of dummy's clubs and still score the K-J-6 of hearts. The fulfilling trick was obtained by establishing North's long club, and the dummy reversal eventually provided the extra entry to dummy.

—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are very eager to break up almost any condition you do not like and to get yourself in a real hassle with others by trying to force matters. If you will, instead show you are the one who is endowed with the good judgment to wait for a more propitious time to settle differences and get fresh approach, you will respect.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Associates and kin could get into quite a bottle, but it is best you remain neutral and all blows over very nicely. Many problems may come up. Handle them objectively and intelligently.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Don't permit some unexpected anxiety to trip you from getting off on that little trip that is important. This will open your eyes to some improved mode of operation for the days ahead. Be alert, keen.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't give in to promptings of one who is too obvious to get you to do something, since this could lead to real trouble later on. Listen to some problem a friend may have. However, do not involve yourself to any extent.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be sure to safeguard your reputation by not acting in any way that others could wink their eye at you. Your credit needs improvement. Get busy of that and forget about going on any poor tangents.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) New interests may be intriguing, but they require plenty of study before you commit yourself in any way. Certain faulty factors may not be apparent at first glance. Double checking, fifties or safeguards your purse.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) Although the promises you have made are now annoying to you, be sure you keep your share of the bargain without procrastinating. Don't jump off to the unknown over the weekend. It could even be fatal.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Ideal day to prove that you are a loyal associate and not lose your temper no matter what may come up. They be sure to show devotion to close ties. Doing something thoughtful for them is best.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Dive right into all that work and stop depending upon others to shoulder your responsibilities. Stop being so dictatorial and serve others instead. Then you really get ahead and faster.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) While getting out for recreation of a different nature to the usual is your desire, be most careful where companions are concerned. Get duties completed first, though. Do nothing to endanger your health.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get busy carrying out the suggestions and orders of close ties without questioning so much, aiming to get out of work. Obey all regulations that apply to you in outside world. Prove you are an excellent citizen.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan some new course that will be infinitely better and more practical for yourself and allies and then get their approval. You are thinking very clearly. Let them come to you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Avoid that temptation to spend extravagantly or invest in something you know little or nothing about. Be absolutely sure it's right before you invest. You really need to economize, even though you may not think so now.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow — he, or she, will be one of those charming young people who is always rarin' to go, but is also somewhat of a homebody as well, so teach early to plan activities for a happy, well-rounded existence, and to make the most of the extraordinary talents in this nature. Working directly with the public is best here.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

Gasoline Award Goes To Conoco

City Commissioners Tuesday evening moved along swiftly with a fairly light agenda and a comparatively brief meeting.

Among action taken:

Bid of Continental Oil Company for supplying gasoline to the city was accepted. Continental's proposal of .1618 cents per gallon for regular gasoline and .1818 cents per gallon for premium was tabulated as the lowest net of six bids. It was tabulated on the basis of purchase of 45,000 gallons of regular and 30,000 gallons of premium gas.

Five Texans Die In War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The department of defense Tuesday listed five more U. S. servicemen from Texas killed in action in the Vietnam war. Additionally, there was one originally classified as missing who is now known to have been killed.

Killed in action were Army Spec. 4 William L. Hamlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Hamlin, Box 843, Palacios; Spec. 4 Willie C. Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee D. Warren, Box 841, Crockett; Spec. 4 Larry R. Guentzel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dock F. Guentzel, Route 4, Georgetown; Pfc. Larry S. Byford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fate Byford, Route 6, Box 143, Center; and Pfc. Lloyd D. DeLoach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mardis R. DeLoach, 907 Claude, Dallas.

Changed from missing to dead — hostile was Army Pfc. David F. Henry, son of Mrs. Bernice M. L. Henry, 1224 Harrison Lane, Hurst.

Home Blast Hurts Negro

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — The home of J. L. LeFlore was shattered by an explosion early today, but the 63-year-old Negro leader suffered only a slight cut over his eye.

It was the third incident aimed at LeFlore. "They never notify you when they plan something like this," he said. "I expect things like this, but I had relaxed. This caught me completely off guard."

Police Lt. Donald Riddle said the blast, which knocked the six-room frame house off its foundation, occurred about 1:20 a.m.

Police, hoping to obtain clues from car tracks, said there was a typical odor of dynamite at the scene.

LeFlore said he was sleeping in a middle bedroom on the opposite side of the house from where the explosion was set.

"If they had put it on the other side, it would have gotten me," he said.

The retired postal employee said a bomb had been placed alongside his home—in which he has lived with his wife, 60, for 40 years—in 1959 but the fuse burned out. A shot was fired into the house in 1964, but it did not hit anyone, he said.

LeFlore has served on several civil rights groups and is the first Negro member of the Mobile Housing Board. He also was named to the Mobile Transit Committee and the State Advisory Committee to the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights.

Maynard To Speak To Young People

A special evening to spotlight young people is scheduled for 8 o'clock Friday at the 14th and Main Church of Christ.

Doyle Maynard, who was reared in Big Spring, will have a message for the youth, "Let Not the Sun Go Down." The talk is aimed at helping young people find the answer to the question of the meaning of life, and to awaken the sleeping hero in each.

Maynard is a strong believer that what young people need most is not sermons but models.

Maynard is evangelist for a week of revival services at the church, and large crowds are attending. Perry Cotham, minister, said that the attendance is perhaps the best ever for such a meeting.

Better Street Lighting System Voted For City

The town will "light up" better as a result of action taken Tuesday evening by the City Commission.

The council voted to proceed with the installation of higher-power mercury vapor lights throughout the city lighting system.

A recommendation from Ernest Lillard, director of public works, is to change 4,000 lumen lamps to 7,000 lumen power.

Stock Clerk Rich, But Not For Long

WOODLAND, Calif. (AP) — Stock clerk David Van Hoozer, who makes $87 a week at a hospital, held a money order for $100,029 in his hands Tuesday. But not for long.

"It's all a mistake, bring it back," said a Woodland bank, where a machine had dished out a $100,000 mistake instead of a mere $29 money order.

Hoozer, 36, and a family man, noticed the figure just as he was going to mail the money order for an insurance payment.

Older, smaller incandescent lamps also will be completely phased out.

Lillard had made a study of the street lighting system with Texas Electric Service Company, and said the newer lights will be in conformity with those of other West Texas cities.

He estimated that the changeover will affect some 800 lights at an increased cost of 25 cents per month per unit. It will represent roughly twice as much lighting.

TESCO will make the changeover during a period of possibly two years.

Business Reply Brick Refused

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Postal officials said a Denver insurance firm refused to accept one of its business reply postal cards from a Tucson, Ariz., man.

The card was pasted a brown paper wrapped around a brick. The postage due was $4.57.

The encased brick, weighing more than five pounds, carried no return address.

Tire And Music Maker Stolen

Detectives are investigating three thefts reported Tuesday.

H. L. Gibson, 4103 Parkway, told police that one tire and an old wheel, both valued at $27, had been taken from his pickup truck parked in front of his house Monday night.

An auto tape player, four speakers and four or five tape cartridges were reported missing by Richard Delgado, 705 E. 14th. Delgado told police the estimated value was $100. According to the police report, the articles had been taken from the back seat of Delgado's car before he had installed them.

Investigation by police of a report from E. S. Dawson led to discovery of a ransacked home at 510 NW 11th. Joe Hillman, owner of the house, is out of town and the property loss is unknown at this time.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Temporary Repair For Refrigerator

Dear Folks:

Many of you have written that you've broken the plastic molding in your refrigerator (or what you and I would call the front edge of the bottom shelf of the box) by dropping jars, etc., on it.

Since it's quite expensive to have this molding replaced, let me give you a temporary solution I have used on my own refrig now for eight months, and it's still holding up beautifully.

I bought some extra heavy plastic paper (that's the adhesive-backed plastic stuff that isn't paper at all) and placed a strip of it along the bottom of my refrigerator. (If you can't find the heavy type, use two thicknesses of the regular.)

But there are a few important tips to remember before applying this paper.

First, it won't stick to a cold refrigerator. So do your repair job when you defrost real good some day and the door has been opened a long time leaving the molding warm.

You are as right as rain. I

Second, run a terry cloth towel under hot water and as soon as the plastic is applied, rub the hot towel over it. This will let the sticky stuff on the back soften and adhere to the molding better. This is an absolute necessity!

Last, and read this carefully, the refrig molding must be scrupulously clean. It usually has a build-up of greasy stuff from dropped foods, so scrub it well before you apply the paper.

Anytime you have a hole or a leaky door in any part of your refrigerator, it isn't airtight and can't work as efficiently. This is why the manufacturers put good gaskets on the doors.

So if you've got holes or cracks in your refrig, let's get 'em fixed. I used plain white with little gold stars on mine and it looks lovely. . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: While shopping for a bride's gift in a trading stamp store, I thought of a real practical idea. Why not have a "Trading Stamp Book Shower?" Every one could bring stamps to the shower instead of gifts. Then the bride could choose what she really wanted and needed. . . . R. M. E.

You are as right as rain. I

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

There's a whole lot to be learned from experience and applying mouth-to-mouth resuscitation on Resussi-Anne in the Reddy Room of Texas Electric Service Company.

Until one tries to breathe enough for himself and the life-like dummy he doesn't realize how much air it takes when he's operating lungs for two people. If you haven't been instructed and had simulated experience why not avail yourself of this opportunity. It's free, only takes about an hour and the return you get may be someone's life.

When MRS. MARY RAGSDALE took her two free weeks to fill with fun and pleasure she really filled them with going. She took a quick swing down through Tyler to see her parents, MR. and MRS. JOE L. TURNER, before going to Lincoln, Neb., to attend the BPO Does convention at the Big Spring delegate. Then she went to Springdale, Ark., where she visited her good friend, MRS. KATHLEEN DOZIER, formerly of The Herald staff, and who now is with the Springdale News. She then came back to Big Spring where she was joined by her brother and his family, the JOE A. TURNERS, who had come from their home in Sacramento, Calif., to go to Tyler for a longer visit with their parents.

Mary later went to Baytown to visit the CARL MANNs and when she came back home she spent the weekend at her cabin at Lake Champion fishing with the MELVIN FRYAR family as her guests.

Excitement is high in the BOB CLARK and A. J. ALLEN homes because their granddaughter, Bronwyn Allen, is here from Germany. The little girl, not yet two, came with her mother, MRS. ROBBY ALLEN, from their present home in Berlin, Germany.

Mrs. Allen, the former Jackie Clark, came home to attend the wedding of her sister, Barbara Clark, to Airman I.C. Joseph Williams, which will take place on Saturday.

When MRS. L. H. RUTLEDGE's 81st birthday anniversary came around last Friday she didn't have a party but she did have a fine day. Her two sisters, MRS. C. H. SIMMONS of Robstown and MRS. GRADY JOHNSON of Richmond, along with Mr. Simmons, arranged their vacation trip so they could spend that special day with Mrs. Rutledge.

Also here for the day was the Rutledge's other daughter, MRS. R. W. FESMIRE, who lives in Odessa. Other family members who were in during the day were the other daughter, MRS. JACK Y. SMITH, and Steve, and the granddaughter, MRS. LOUIS MCKNIGHT, and her children, Mark and Melody.

Few things will get the average housewife out of the house during the hot afternoons during the summer but sales will come as close as anything, and you meet so many of your friends there. MRS. J. D. ELIOTT was casting about a bit seeing what was on sale that she either could or could not do without before they took off for a visit to Ruidoso, N. M.

MRS. NELL FLYNT, Campbell, N. M., has been the guest of her sister and brother-in-law, MR. and MRS. JOHNNY STEWART. She was here last week, then went to visit her parents, MR. and MRS. T. A. ROGERS, at Granite Shoals Lake out of here from Germany. The little

Non-Scouts May Attend Area Camp

Camp Boothe Oaks, West Texas Girl Scout Council's established camp seven miles south of Sweetwater, is now in full swing with its second session of campers.

The girls are participating in a variety of activities including swimming, hiking, nature crafts, singing, campfires and all-camp parties.

There is trained adult staff supervision at all times to assist the girls with their activities. A registered nurse is on duty 24 hours a day.

The next 12-day session of camp begins July 2, with the last one week session beginning July 16. Girls in the fourth through the ninth grades are welcome to enroll in the last two sessions. Non-Scouts may register at a slightly higher fee.

Write the Girl Scout Office, P.O. Box 2922, Abilene, Texas, 79604, or telephone OR 3-7868 for additional information.

Sorority Honors Guests At Party

Members of the Alpha Chi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha hosted their husbands and families to a watermelon supper Thursday evening in the City Park.

Games provided the entertainment. Hostesses were Mrs. Jackie Touchstone, Mrs. Glyn Mitchell, Mrs. C. W. Utley, Mrs. Walter Maynard and Mrs. Roy McMullen.

Mrs. Touchstone will preside at the district meeting, July 16, in Andrews. Tentative plans were set for another family party to be held during the summer.

Approximately 35 attended.

Friendship Class Hosts Luncheon

Mrs. W. W. Coleman hosted the luncheon meeting of the Friendship Class of Wesley Methodist Church in her home, 702 Lancaster. Miss June Coleman assisted her mother as hostess.

Mrs. Flo Odum presided, and Mrs. J. H. Brigrance gave the reading, "Noon Day Prayer." Members having birthdays during the month were presented gifts. They were Mrs. Joe Young, Mrs. Carmen Ray and Mrs. Drew Cawthron. Mrs. Brigrance gave the invocation.

Eleven attended. The next meeting will be in July in the home of Mrs. Lucille Jacobs, 1400 Park.

Son Of Late NM Senator Chavez Censures Texas Ranger Allee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas Ranger Capt. A. Y. Allee drew sharp censure Tuesday from a witness before a House Agriculture subcommittee.

Dennis Chavez Jr., lawyer son of the late New Mexico senator, asserted Allee was "a known killer" being used to force Mexican-American field hands to work for 40 cents an hour.

HAILS REB RAIDER
Declaring Mexican-Americans in the Southwest have been abused and neglected by the government, Chavez also praised Reies Tijerana, accused of leading a recent outbreak over disputed land claims in New Mexico.

Chavez spoke of a farm workers' strike in the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas, where he said Mexican nationals have been used to replace Mexican-Americans demanding higher pay.

'KNOWN KILLER'
"In Texas they use the Texas Rangers led by the notorious Capt. A. Y. Allee, the fastest gun, who is a known killer, a professional Mexican hater whose saying is, 'Shoot first and ask later,' to maim and pistol whip Spanish speaking Americans to pick melons for the entrenched growers at 40 cents an hour," he said.

"In 1948, Gov. Coke Stevenson, running in the primary against L. B. Johnson for the Senate, sent his notorious killer and his Texas Rangers to Jim Wells County to burn ballot boxes when he knew that 97 per cent of the vote was Spanish speaking.

Crane Chamber Chief Selected
CRANE, Tex. (AP)—Gary Edgar Miller, a graduate of Lubbock Christian College, has been named manager of the Crane Chamber of Commerce. He succeeds Bill Payne, who entered private business.

Monument To Vets Of All Wars Built
SAN ANGELO (AP)—A monument to veterans of all wars has been completed on the lawn of Tom Green county courthouse.

Members of veterans' organizations cooperated in financing the monument.

GROWERS' GOONS
"In California the growers use goons against a national union of the AFL-CIO to force Mexican-American farm workers to work for peon wages." Chavez estimated that, including Puerto Ricans and Cuban citizens in Texas, New Mexico, refugees, there are 15 million people of Spanish speaking background in the United States. Previous witnesses have estimated there are about five million such citizens in Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Arizona and California.

Chavez' widowed mother was among spectators as he testified before the subcommittee, which is studying the problems of rural America.

Mentioning that his father's statue is among those in the U.S. Capitol, Chavez said, "I am sick because the cause for which my father fought all of his life required a lawless act in order to focus the attention of the nation on the plight of those humble people he loved."

"This took place at Tierra Amarilla (N.M.) The group was led by a man now called King Tiger.

"My father would rise in his grave at the thought of tanks and helicopters, heavily armed state police and countless armed sheriffs, deputies and National Guardsmen being employed against his people."

He identified "King Tiger" as Tijerana and said it was not Tijerana but hunger, lack of education, lack of jobs and lack of hope that was stalking the land.

Tijerana, he said, speaks not for looters or arsonists or killers, but for people who yearn for lands on which their ancestors cut wood and grazed sheep for generations.

"These people have witnessed a great social revolution by another minority when the Supreme Court integrated our schools," he continued.

"They have seen other minorities obtain positions of power and honor. Since statehood came to New Mexico, they know there has never been a Gonzalez, a Chavez or a Montoya appointed to a Cabinet post or as solicitor general or assistant secretary since 1912."

NEW YORK (AP)—Gill Shapiro, manager of a grocery store near the Soviet U.N. mission on 67th Street, says of the Russian shoppers, "They're just like the rest of us—except they spend a lot more."

District Engineer Honored By Club

J. C. (Jake) Roberts, district highway engineer, praised Howard County officials and citizens for foresight and cooperation Tuesday, and in return he got a surprise pat on the head himself.

Roberts had been invited to address the Rotary Club on the occasion of the 50th anniversary year of the Texas Highway Department. He has been a part of the department for 37 of those years.

But Elmo Wasson caught Roberts off guard with the presentation of a plaque which praised Roberts for his energy and vision in working with local people to develop a first class highway system.

Roberts touched on the background of the state highway unit, but he devoted most of his remarks to the department and Howard County.

In 1934, before a developmental program coupled with the state centennial celebration, Howard County had 34 miles of paved state highway, said Roberts. This had been put down at a cost of $340,000. He contrasted this to the 265 miles of state highways in the county today, built at a cost of over $23,000,000.

The best thing that ever happened to this area is the construction of Interstate 20, a controlled-access transcontinental artery that now carries 8,000 vehicles per day and is gaining constantly, the engineer declared. This exceeds all predictions for the highway when it was planned, he said.

Roberts ventured that the most pressing need for Howard County is to complete FM 700 as a four-lane system. A major reason for the county's fine system is the cooperative attitude of the county commissioners court, the city council and other citizens interested in progress of the community.

The engineer was introduced by Lowell Jones. Dick Ream, president, said that the installation of new officers will be held July 13. The club is omitting the July 4 meeting.

Coahoma Lions Install Officers, Make Awards

COAHOMA (SC) — New officers of the Coahoma Lions Club were installed in a ladies night affair Monday at the Coahoma High School cafeteria.

Several awards for special service were presented during the evening. Among them was a plaque to Johnny Justiss as the Lion of the Year. He also was presented with a past president's pin. Ralph White cited Mrs. Bill Read for outstanding work as the community's heart fund chairman, and he also distributed worker certificates.

Plaques for serving as club sweethearts were given Sara Oakes (1965-66) and Terry Oakes (1966-67). One-year attendance pins went to E. A. Richters, Joe Swinney, Marshall Day, two-year pins to Dwayne Clawson, Johnny Justiss, and W. A. Wilson; three-year pins to Gerald Oakes; four-year pins to Bill Read and H. C. Wallin. W. A. Wilson was cited for serving as a member of the board of directors for the Texas Lions League for Crippled Children, which operates a camp at Kerrville for disabled children.

New officers installed by D. S. Riley, Big Spring, past district governor, were Dwayne Clawson, president; C. Roy Wright, Joe Swinney and Bill Easterling, vice presidents; Marshall Day, secretary; H. C. Wallin, treasurer; Jack Cauble, treasurer; Johnny Zitterkopf, Lantamer; Ralph White, song leader; one-year directors, Richters, Joe Swinney, Marshall Day; two-year directors, Don Evans and Bobby Howell.

OIL REPORT

Borden County To Get New Oil Test

H. L. Brown Jr. Midland will dig the No. 1-A Clayton and Johnson in the Lock Pot (Canyon Reef) field of Borden County to 8,250 feet. Location is 660 feet from the north and 1,980 feet from the west lines of section 8-32-T4N T&P survey, 11 miles southwest of Gail.

G and S Oil Co. Odessa has announced plans to dig the No. 4 Bell - Berman to 1,700 feet in the Sharon Ridge field. Location is 1,750 feet from the south and east lines of section 15-27-T&P survey, six miles northwest of Colorado City.

COMPLETIONS

Tenneco Oil Co. has completed the No. 1 Horace Garrett in the Howard Glasscock field. On initial potential, operator pumped 18 barrels of oil and 34 barrels of water per day. Total depth was 1,928 feet plugged back to 1,870 feet and 4 1/2 inch casing was set at 1,733 feet. Perforations were between 1,599-1,859 feet and the gas-oil ratio was not reported. The zone was acidized with 1,000 gallons and 30,000 pounds of sand. Location is 330 feet from the north and 990 feet from the east lines of section 15-29-W&NW survey.

Howard Oil and Gas Corp. has finished the No. 2 Dora Roberts in the Howard Glasscock field. On initial potential, operator pumped 17 barrels of oil and 11 barrels of water per day. Total depth was 2,729 feet plugged back to 2,711 feet with an open hole area between 2,337-2,663 feet. The gas-oil ratio was too small to measure and operator acidized with 1,000 gallons and 30,000 pounds of sand. Location is 990 feet from the south and east lines of section 13-29-W&NW survey.

Southwestern Natural Gas Inc. has completed the No. 1 Cowden, the fourth well, an old well plugged back, in the Maize (Queen) field. Total depth was 13,227 feet plugged back to 9,802 feet and 4 1/2 inch casing was set at 9,802 feet. Initial flowing potential was 241 barrels of oil and 11 barrels of water per day. Tubing pressure was 125 on a 20-54 inch hole and casing pressure was 550. Operator acidized with 2,000 gallons and 30,000 pounds of sand. Location is 1,980 feet from the north and 1,750 feet from the west lines of section 17-29-T&P survey, seven miles northwest of Midland. It is 2 1/2 miles northeast of the third well completed in foot the No. 1-A Cowden originally drilled by Connally Oil Co. as No. 1 Cowden.

McGrath and Smith No. 1 Copeland was shut in 40 hours. Tubing pressure was 2,000, and beginning fluid level was 1,400 feet. They swabbed one hour three barrels of oil and 17 barrels of water, and 800 feet of free oil in first run. They then swabbed 100 per cent water. They are preparing to unset and packer and complete from the Walcott.

Union Texas No. 1 Shrover pumped 40 barrels of oil and 40 barrels of water in 24 hours. Location is 1,980 feet from the north and 1,750 feet from the west lines of section 11-32-T&P survey.

Lake Inflow About Ceases

The level of Lake J. B. Thomas eased up to 2245.82 today, but the flow was just about halted. Since Monday morning the lake has come up 3.66 feet, accounting for about 19,000-acre feet of water. At this season of the year, the catch represents over a three month's supply.

O. H. Ivie, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, was inspecting a washout on the Bull Creek diversion levee today. The dike which shunts water from Bull Creek into a channel leading to Lake Thomas was breached sometime during Monday night. Earlier Ivie said 6,000 cubic yards of earth will be needed to fill the gap on the south end of the levee. There is no way of knowing how much water went downstream instead of going into the lake, but it could have been a few thousand acre-feet. The rupture was high enough up that the bulk of the water went into the channel to the lake.

City Fires Up Fog Machine

Recent showers, welcomed by Big Spring residents, brought their "bad" side to light today as the city's fogging machine was put into operation to silence complaints.

"Previous small showers that we had earlier were followed by high temperatures that prevented the mosquitoes from hatching," said Ernest Lillard, public works director. He explained that Tuesday's downpour was followed by cooler temperatures and mosquitoes are able to breed and are already becoming a problem.

In addition to the fogging machine, prevention of mosquito breeding can be handled by individual citizens. Larry Crow, city manager, urged citizens to make sure they do not have tin cans, old tires, anything that holds water, or maybe a potential breeding place for the insect.

Kerrville Ad Manager Dies

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Wallace Keith Waggoner, 35, advertising manager of the Kerrville Daily Times since March, 1966, died Tuesday night in Brooke Army General Hospital in San Antonio.

Waggoner was with the News Texan Inc., newspapers in the Dallas-Fort Worth area for five years, serving as advertising manager for the entire group.

Funeral services were pending, but interment is planned in Irving Friday.

DAILY DRILLING

DAWSON W. A. Moncrief No. 1 Lance Furlow has total depth of 11,777 feet, and now running loss. They had a driften test of 7,395-7,425 feet. The tool was open 1 1/2 hours in the upper 11,777 feet. They recovered 4,320 feet of gas in the drill pipe, 110 feet of free oil and 630 feet of slightly oil and gas oil water. It was shut in for one hour and initial pressure was 2,800. Flow pressure 84-100. One hour final shut-in pressure was 2,412. A driften test in the Sparberry at 8,239-8,252 feet recovered 2,057 feet of gas in the drill pipe and 25 feet of the oil and 285 feet of salt water. They also made a driften test in the Sparberry-Devonian from 11,540-560 feet, and recovered 4,320 feet of gas in the drill pipe, 110 feet of free oil and 630 feet of slightly oil and gas oil water. They will plug back to 11,540 feet. Location is 640 feet from the north and west lines of section 56-35-T&P survey, nine miles north of Lamesa.

Coiler-Devonian C No. 1 Beechy Borden is drilling at 7,275 feet in line. Location is 640 feet from the north and 1,320 feet from the west lines of section 48-35-T&P survey.

GLASSCOCK Apache No. 1 Powell is drilling at 7,000 feet in line and shale.

Grand Jury Moves Fast, 13 Billed

Howard County Grand Jury Tuesday declined to return an indictment against Juan Carren Solis on a charge of murder in the April 30 slaying of Abel Rivera Tovar.

In its report submitted to Judge Ralph Caton at 9 p.m. Tuesday, the jury billed all of the defendants on the list submitted to it, with the exception of Solis.

After hearing the testimony of the state in the murder charge, the grand jurors felt there was an element of self-defense in the action of Solis and for this reason declined to return a true bill against the young Latin-American, enforcement officials said.

The grand jury returned 13 indictments. One case was passed.

The one-day session set something of a record for a regular session of the Howard County grand jury. Although the number of complaints laid before it was relatively small the volume of testimony heard was sizable.

It has been many years since a regular session of a grand jury has been able to wind up its work in one day.

The grand jury voted indictments against:

Charles A. Keeran, worthless check. Keeran is alleged to have given Perco Co., a worthless check for $222.17. Bond was set by the court for Keeran at $1,500.

Carol Ann Scaggs, forgery. She is accused of passing a forged check for $120 to Carol Sparks.

Aulton C. Vaughn, theft by false pretense. Vaughn is accused of taking rifles, saddles and other merchandise from Montgomery Ward by false pretense.

Herb Werner, embezzlement; Max Yocum, embezzlement; Russell Williamson, theft. Stanley Owen, theft. These men were said to be former employees of Montgomery Ward. Werner is indicted for allegedly embezzling a color television receiver; Yocum a stereo player; Williamson for the alleged theft of a stove and Owen for the alleged theft of a deep freeze.

Robert Jennings, burglary. He is accused of entering the home of Leroy Walker and taking a number of items. Bond in his case was set at $5,000.

Robert Villareal, burglary. He is alleged to have broken into the Bud and Joe Liquor Store and taking several bottles of liquor. Bond was set in his case at $3,500.

Virgil Gibson, worthless check. He is accused of giving Bob Grimes a bad check for $75.

Raymond Puga Nunez Jr., and Rafael Cruz Lopez, burglary. On June 5, these defendants are alleged to have been arrested inside Scarboro's cafe after the establishment had been closed down for the night.

Harry Tom Staples, DWI second offense. Bond was set for Staples at $2,500.

The case of Bonnie D. Key, charged with worthless check, was passed to a subsequent term.

Services Today For T&P Engineer

Services for James Mack Simmons, 75, were at 2:30 p.m. today in the River - Welch Chapel with the Rev. Clyde Campbell officiating. Interment was in City Cemetery.

He died Monday in a local hospital.

Mr. Simmons came to Big Spring in February, 1915, to work on the railroad. In 1927, he became a locomotive engineer and held that position until 1960 when he retired.

He was born Nov. 16, 1940, in Big Spring and lived here until two years ago when he moved to New Orleans to work for Gulf Ports Co., a furniture company.

Pallbearers will be Don Hayworth, Martin Medina, Gilbert Turner, Vernon Gamble, Dalton Carr, and Nathan Stallcup.

Services for Dennis Wade Hayworth, 26, will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at Trinity Baptist Church with the Rev. Claude Craven, pastor, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Roy Honea.

Burial will be at the City Cemetery. Arrangements are under the direction of River - Welch Funeral Home.

Hayworth died Sunday in New Orleans after he was found brutally beaten Saturday in a weekday lot of the French Quarter.

He was born Nov.

Head Start 'Graduation' On Friday

Head start will end its nine-month program Friday with a graduation exercise.

The 185 students will be presented diplomas with their names on them stating that they have successfully completed a year in the pre-school program.

Sam Anderson, superintendent of public schools, will make the presentation of diplomas in a Friday morning assembly at Kate Morrison Elementary School. Parents and friends of the children have been invited to the ceremony.

"The program is not definite as yet," Keith Swin, director of Head Start, said, "but we plan to use the children in some sort of program."

Friday is the last day of this year's Head Start program in Big Spring. The school will open its doors next fall for another nine-month pre-school program.

Science And You Seeing The Whole Picture

By DR. LEONARD REIFTEL

Three-dimensional photography has been used for movies and advertising purposes for years. Remember when red and green glasses were part of the equipment for seeing 3-D movies? More recently, polarized glasses have been used and the technique has become a good deal more sophisticated.

All these techniques are child's play compared to some of the new possibilities opened up by the invention of the laser. The laser is an "orderly" beam of light in which all the waves march along in step. This allows scientists to do all kinds of tricks with light that they could never do before. One is called "holography," a word which means literally "the whole picture."

Laser light can be used to take a holographic picture of an object. Laser beams shining through the holographic record then are used to reconstruct an image which seems to sit in mid-air in all its three-dimensional glory. You can actually look around corners of the image. I assure you it's a rather startling experience to peer around the back of the head of a tiny three-dimensional movie star!

Holographic photography is certain to receive a lot of attention in the next few decades. But it isn't the end of the line. Consider the possibility of holographic photography that involves not light, but sound! In other words, what about seeing the three-dimensional interior of objects, since sound can penetrate solid materials?

It's rather easy, relatively speaking, to generate orderly sound waves. Therefore, the techniques that scientists have applied to the laser light beam could, in principle, be used to obtain three-dimensional sound wave pictures. This is extremely important because sound can penetrate many things that light cannot. A submarine, for example, depends heavily upon the penetrating ability of sound in murky water to tell it where the enemy is. Flaws are detected in manufactured parts and castings in similar fashion. Doctors have been intensively studying the use of sound waves to penetrate the human body to visualize the organs deep inside.

Using a very orderly sound wave and the techniques of holography, scientists have already demonstrated that it's possible to construct a three-dimensional sound image. The image is made accessible to human senses by going through another step and converting it into visible light. This is done by allowing the sound waves to make waves on a tank of water and then bouncing laser light off the ripples to create an image. Thus, we end up with a three-dimensional optical image which is suitable for viewing by the human eye and which represents the sound image of the object under test.

With this technique it may some day be possible to spot very tiny imperfections inside castings or to spot an incipient cancer or tumor long before the techniques in use today could do it. Holographic techniques may someday represent a real contribution to medical diagnosis as well as to advertising, industrial quality control, military tactics and the next version of Dracula Meets the Wolf Man.

City Park To Be Leased To New Boys Club

An agreement to lease to Boys Club the municipal facilities in the Northeast Park of Big Spring was voted Tuesday night by the City Commission.

In essence, the new organization, which has its chief aim of providing adult guidance to school-age boys, will take over the park and the pool, operate and maintain same under club jurisdiction. The lease would be for 25 years, with a recapture clause.

Bert Andries and Boyd Bryan appeared before the commission with the request. Andries explained that a Big Spring unit of Boys Club of America is being organized under a state corporate charter, and soon will be an official entity.

Its purpose will be to use the park facility to attract boys into wholesome recreation. The park, said city officials, is not now getting much use, has been subjected to vandalism, and the decision was that the Boys Club could provide better supervision and put the facility into better public use. Andries stressed that the park area will still be open to the public, and the pool maintained under safety supervision.

The project had the recommendation of the City Parks and Recreation Board.

STP Drug Is Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — An official of the Food and Drug Administration says his agency is investigating the reported use of a new drug called STP which supposedly is more powerful than LSD.

The report came from John Finlator, director of the FDA's drug abuse control bureau, in testimony Tuesday before a House Government Operations subcommittee.

Finlator also indicated the criminal organization known as Cosa Nostra is becoming involved in the distribution of LSD, the so-called mind-expanding drug.

Finlator said that the only word his agency has on STP consists of rumors that the drug is being circulated on the West Coast and in New York.

LBJ Gets Bill To Hike Debt Limit To An All-Time High

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has sent to the White House for President Johnson's certain signature a bill to raise the national debt limit on Saturday to $358 billion, highest ceiling in history.

The measure, which Johnson asked for and is certain to sign into law by Friday — when the current $336-billion temporary ceiling expires — would raise the limit another $7 billion to $343 billion on July 1, 1968.

9 MILLION CARS

In practical terms, the proposed over-all increase in the ceiling represents the amount of cash it would take to buy nine million cars costing $3,000 each, or more than 1.2 million homes priced at $22,000 each.

The Senate cleared the legislation to the White House late Tuesday on a 60-30 vote after an afternoon of debate in which administration forces narrowly beat off several amendments.

Had any of these been adopted, the bill would have been forced into conference with the House, causing uncertainty as to whether it could have gone to Johnson before Congress begins its 10-day July 4th recess Thursday.

UNCLE SAM INSOLVENT

The measure will bring an immediate $22-billion increase in the debt ceiling.

The temporary $336-billion limit expires Friday midnight. Without the bill, the ceiling would revert on Saturday to the permanent debt limit of $285 billion, established in 1959.

This would mean the government would be insolvent, since the actual debt will be an estimated $327 billion as of Saturday.

The full $80-billion increase in the permanent ceiling provided by the bill when the $336-billion limit goes into effect in mid-1969 is the second largest in history.

During World War II, Congress voted an $85-billion hike.

TAX SURCHARGE

Senate backers of the measure said it would give the Treasury some breathing room in financing the Vietnam war and also some margin to deal with contingencies in the year ahead.

In presenting its debt estimates to Congress, the Treasury assumed that the six percent income tax surcharge asked by Johnson would be approved and also that Vietnam war spending would not increase radically.

BYRD CHALLENGE

But Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., floor manager for the bill, told his colleagues that both of these assumptions may turn out to be wrong.

The biggest challenge to the bill came from Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., D-Va., who offered an amendment to hold the immediate increase in the ceiling to $348 billion. This lost four to three.

The Virginian then was defeated 4 to 42 on a proposal to knock out the later $7-billion increase in the ceiling.

President Boosts His Political Stock

Tight-Lipped President

President Johnson purses his lips before making a point during a speech to the National Convention of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at Baltimore, Md. Johnson told the delegates to the convention that he feels he and Russian Premier Kosygin better understood one another's motivation after having talked personally. (AP Wirephoto)

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont. (AP) — President Johnson's summit talks with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin have boosted his political stock at home. Democrats and Republicans attending the Western Governors Conference agree.

This unity of opinion between the 10 GOP and the two Democratic state executives shatters quickly, however, on how long this lift in Johnson's previously low rating in the popularity polls will endure.

BOOMERANG?
Democrats profess to see a climb in the polls as Johnson pursues world peace objectives, one of which is to bring the Vietnam war to some sort of satisfactory end. Republicans say Kosygin's chilling public response to his New Jersey discussions with the President offers no improvement in East-West relations and may boomerang against Johnson politically.

Colorado Gov. John A. Love, chairman of the Republican Governors' Association, voiced the general viewpoint of nine of his party colleagues when he said that as of now the summit talks have helped Johnson politically.

LITTLE HOPE
"Every American wants to avoid world nuclear destruction," Love said.

Test Helps Spot Dangerous Drivers

NEW YORK (AP) — Columbia University has developed a new test designed to spot dangerous driving habits. It works like this: A picture of a traffic hazard is covered by a jigsaw puzzle. A driver removes the puzzle parts and is scored on how quickly he can spot the hazard.

Love said. "The President's discussions with Kosygin offer some hope in this direction. But if the people's expectations rise too high as a result of these talks, the actualities may be such as to react against the President politically."

GOP Gov. Stan Hathaway of Wyoming said that Kosygin's public assessment of the summit conversations offers little hope for Vietnam peace negotiations.

He added on an ABC radio broadcast: "If Johnson doesn't settle the Vietnam war before 1968, the confidence of the American people will be in the Republicans."

NO CHOICE
Democratic Govs. Calvin L. Rampton of Utah and John A. Burns of Hawaii retorted that the Republicans have no solutions for the Vietnam problem. They said, in effect, that the GOP has no other choice than to support the President's policies. There was some Republican agreement on this score.

GOP Gov. Tim Babcock of Montana, hosting the conference ending today, said he is behind the commander in chief because the country is at war. But he added that Kosygin's assessment of the summit conversations offers little hope for Vietnam peace negotiations.

Humidity mounted across much of the state as warm, damp air flowed inland from the Gulf of Mexico.

As much as .38 inch of rain fell at Dalhart before dawn. Clouds moving toward the southeast also brought light rain at Dumas, Spearman, Pampa, Wheeler, McLean, Wellington and Shamrock.

Skies were clear to only partly cloudy over the rest of Texas. Forecasters looked for scattered showers or thunderstorms again this evening and Thursday through the western third of the state. A little cooling was predicted for the Panhandle by Thursday afternoon.

Cutulla again was the hottest spot in the state with a top temperature of 103 degrees Tuesday. San Angelo and Waco recorded 102, Del Rio, Junction and Laredo 101 and Austin and Presidio 100.

said the United States must develop a "win attitude."

"We are not having success in Vietnam" and this may be reflected in next year's election results," he said.

"MASTERFUL JOB"
Rampton said Johnson is doing a "masterful job" in fighting a limited war in Vietnam.

nam while attempting to get peace negotiations started. He said this is likely to be reflected in Democratic unity and Republican frustration that will result in Johnson's re-election.

Rampton predicted the Democratic governors, meeting in St. Louis, Mo., Saturday, will come up with the unanimous conclusion that Johnson is their greatest asset, rather than a liability, in the 1968 campaign.

A Devotional For The Day

"What shall I do with Jesus who is called Christ." (Matthew 27:22, RSV)

PRAYER: Forgive me Father, for all my contemplancy. Help me to become so joyfully disturbed by Thee every day that by word or deed I shall speak of Thy love to others. In Christ's name I pray. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Deathly Decisions

There is an average of 15 decisions to be made for every mile of driving in an automobile, the American Psychological Association says. There is reason to think that many accidents are caused by emotional factors, just as dangerous as a poorly running machine or a bad stretch of road.

Enough is known about emotional factors in accidents to warrant studies that might lead to something useful along these lines. The human factor deserves at least as much attention as highway improvement, safer auto design, and stricter law enforcement.

The human factor should also be jolted by the prediction of Homer Garrison, head of the Texas Department of Public Safety, that 55 persons will die on Texas highways during this long holiday weekend. That ought to prompt a lot of more cautious decisions.

Overshadowed News

The times in which we live are strangely such that a short minor war in the Middle East and the verbiage United Nations debate on its settlement overshadowed Communist China's explosion of its first hydrogen bomb. News that the world's biggest, most bellicose nation now has the most awful weapon of mass destruction has been received with incredible calm, though a reaction of neither fatalism nor complacency is rationally acceptable.

Red China developed the atomic bomb far ahead of the West's expectations. The hydrogen bomb has also come much earlier than estimated, and despite the near civil war of Mao's disruptive "cultural revolution," we must assume that Communist China also has the capability to develop, much sooner than formerly anticipated, a missile delivery system that will make it a full-fledged nuclear power.

Suggested consolations have a wishful ring. The United States and the Soviet Union have a nuclear lead no other nuclear powers may ever close, but China does not need overkill power to be a global menace. Possession of nuclear power — realization of its horrors — may temper China's aggressive propensities, as it has Russia's, but what if it doesn't? Mao's regime may not last until China is a nuclear power, but what assurance is there that its successor will be better?

There does not seem to be any sane alternative to beginning the long, arduous, dangerous, controversial and unpredictable effort, in untrusting concert with others, of trying to maneuver China back into the family of nations. There is no other hope for international agreements on nuclear non-proliferation and nuclear weapons reduction and control with a reasonable chance of securing the survival of humanity.

It has taken two decades to work out a modus vivendi with nuclear-armed Russia. We may not have that long to work out an acceptable way of living on the same earth with a nuclear-armed China. But we must try, and the effort must become a prime aim of American (as well as Russian and Western European) foreign policy. For the foreseeable alternative — a worldwide, unlimited nuclear arms race — could only end in catastrophe that paralyzes the imagination.

Kosygin Not His Own Master

Washington — On a white sheet stretched across the front of a family home about two blocks from the scene of the "summit meeting" in Glassboro there were sprayed in red paint a few words that reflected the thoughts of hundreds of millions of people in this and other lands: "May God direct their way to peace."

Premier Kosygin and President Johnson were inspired in their meetings to try to find a basis for a better understanding between the two major powers in the world today. They must have been encouraged by the many evidences of sincere applause and good wishes that came spontaneously from the small gathering of country folks on the street.

UNFORTUNATELY, at the Glassboro meetings Soviet Premier Kosygin was by no means his own master. He could be friendly as an individual, and he was. But what he might agree to depended on what the clique in the Kremlin — the Communist party committee — had told him in advance. This involves a slow-moving process.

IT TAKES the Moscow bureaucracy many hours and sometimes days to decide what shall be allowed to be said in the press and on the air. The Premier's friendly remarks at Glassboro after the first conference as he acknowledged the applause of the

Billy Graham

I have a nephew who was caught "glue-sniffing." Why do seemingly normal youngsters engage in this practice? Whose fault is it that our kids have to resort to such "kicks"? G.L. Perhaps it is the fault of the adult generation. After all, we have not set too good an example for them with our record-breaking intake of alcohol, barbiturates, pep pills, and every artificial crutch we can get hold of. The Bible says, "The fathers have eaten a sour grape, and the children's teeth are set on edge." What the older generation does, the new generation will emulate. Our 10 and 12-year-olds cannot buy alcohol, but they can buy a tube of model airplane glue for 15 cents. They squirt it in a paper bag and sniff it. The result: they become giggly, and if they get too much, they become irrational or become unconscious. In effect, they become intoxicated. It may or may not be habit forming, but the type of mentality that takes to it makes for alcoholics, marijuana addicts, or dope fiends of the future.

Doctors say that if this practice is persisted in by our adolescents it can cause serious brain damage.

It seems that our children, like some of their parents, are bored, fed up, and look for new kicks. I have dedicated my time to challenging our youth and our adults to following Jesus Christ. I believe that there are more real "kicks" in following Him, than in all the phony thrills and counterfeits that the devil supplies for modern man.

LBJ Answers His Critics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Every Johnson's consciousness Tuesday when he talked to the Jaycees in Baltimore.

After talking about the progress of the American society — particularly under his leadership and administration — and about the problem of improving the life of mankind, he reminded his listeners: "Our problems are many, our solutions are few." Then he hit the critics, as the "cussers and the doubters."

But this wasn't the only side to his talk. In many ways it sounded like a campaign speech with its list of accomplishments, although the campaign is more than a year away.

'There Ain't No Such Animal'

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the great American myths is "the typical New Yorker."

By tradition, the typical New Yorker is a sophisticated fellow who hobnobs with celebrities, dwells in a penthouse, reads all the latest best sellers, eats only at the fanciest restaurants, spends his evenings at night clubs, gets daily inside tips on what to buy in Wall Street, and knows whom to call at City Hall if he wants to get a traffic ticket fixed.

HE'S A "guy in the know," and compared to him anybody who dwells west of the Hudson River is a hinterland hayseed. Ah, me, if life were only like that!

After 30 years of dwelling in O. Henry's fabled Baghdad on the Subway, I've decided that when it comes to "the typical New Yorker" of romantic legend, there probably ain't no such animal.

The "typical New Yorker," if you do happen to meet one, usually turns out to be an out-of-towner here for a lark on a Texas-sized expense account.

I DON'T SEE how you stand the pace here," he says, leaving for home after a week or two spent trying to paint the big city a vivid crimson. "It would get me down."

Such remarks make a real New Yorker want to slit the out-of-towner's throat quietly. For the real New Yorker, like most of his brethren across the country, has to make do on a pretty

Around The Rim

Peanuts By Comparison

Minor separation of one of the flanks of the Bull Creek diversion levee north of Lake J. B. Thomas reminds me of my most heart-sick moments.

SINCE 1945 when J. B. Thomas, then president of Texas Electric Service Company, had called a meeting here to discuss his idea of a multi-city water supply for this part of the state, most everyone had speculated on this dream of a lake on the West Texas, most everyone had speculated on this dream of a lake. The project became a reality, bonds were issued and contracts let, it was a time for rejoicing. The member cities of Big Spring, Odessa and Snyder, were in varying degrees of desperation for water. Existing and additional wells helped bridge the emergency, but the real hope lay behind the big dam blocking the bone-dry river channel.

WHEN THE JOB was complete, the Colorado River Municipal Water District had some funds left and therefore tackled the second phase which Freese & Nichols, the engineers had conjured to get around a salt pollution problem on the river. They recommended throwing a levee across Bull Creek, which flows north of the lake toward a confluence with the Colorado. A channel was cut 100 feet deep through a hill to dump this diverted water into the man-made channel and thence into Lake Thomas.

THEN EVERYONE hoped and prayed for that big rain that would chance the puddle in the borrow pits upstream from the dam into a real lake.

In mid-April, 1954, prayers were answered. General rains sent the river on a rise, and the Bull Creek channel began to trickle. Rumors of a cloud-burst on the upper reaches of Bull Creek began to trickle also, and then confirmation came in a mass of water swelling across the creek valley. The Miller ranch called in to report a syrup bucket 10 inches high had spilled from the rain.

AND SO the water began to mount before the face of the levee blocking Bull Creek. This temporary lake seemed almost to rival the size of Lake Thomas as it overflowed down the diversion channel. Joy knew no bounds in these precincts. The lake was going to suddenly become a lake.

The dam was practically new and untested, and so was the diversion levee. So it was with some uneasiness that I went to sleep that evening, having had a report that there appeared to be a seep below the levee. In the wee hours of the next morning, the police dispatcher, knowing I had a connection with the district, jolted me awake with this word: "The dam just went out."

I WAS SICK to my toes. The dam gone? Maybe quarter or a half million bucks washed out, and thousands of acre-feet of desperately-needed water washed down stream? It must be the levee, I thought.

It turned out that it was the levee, indeed. Unlike a regular dam, a levee does not have a clay core — rather it is a mound of earth piled up as a barricade to turn water. There had been an unmarked pipeline under the north flank, and when all this water hit overburden of the pipeline, it settled. That left a groove under the levee, and gradually — inexorably it grew and grew until — whoosh! — out went a chunk of the levee. Fortunately, the bulk of the water had gone down the channel into the lake. What happened Wednesday was peanuts by comparison.

McNamara A Disabled Warrior

WASHINGTON — Cassius Clay, a fighter by trade but a pacifist by conversion, might make a pretty good wooden Indian to mount for symbolic purposes outside the office of Secretary McNamara.

Military pugilism is the definition of the Defense Secretary's job. It's impossible for a man in his post to be too rough-and-ready. He gets paid by the nation for being able to win our fights. To the extent that a Defense Secretary is disinclined to throw his best punches, for internal reason, he is a Clay-type shirker.

THE STORY of Robert Strange McNamara is that of a partial convert to non-preparedness. Let us be frank about it. He has been proselytized into unreadiness by two sets of gospel-preachers. One set are the cost-cutters. The other set are the peace-mongers.

Each set, of course, is far more sophisticated than the Black Power mystics who made a pacifist out of the misguided heavyweight champion, no undeservedly shorn of his title by edict, since he has not lost it in the ring. McNamara and those who led him astray have their being in an incredibly complicated community which is admittedly beyond the full description or easy understanding of laymen. But the big outlines are clear enough.

THIS COUNTRY should be supreme, or at least indubitably superior, in its nuclear capability. The USA must be conspicuously able to defend itself and to destroy the Sino-Russian empires in an all-out war. The loss of such ability, now or foreseeably, deserves an adjective — "unthinkable" — that is too often attached to nuclear war. We have no control over war, only over our ability to win it, if we cannot avert it. Nothing is so "unthinkable" as to become a second-rate nuclear power.

BUT the cost-cutters, alias the cost-effectiveness Whiz Kids, have plainly over-sold McNamara on false economies. In the past several years Congressional committees have caught him with ammunition shortages and rifle deficiencies for small wars. They have discovered production lags in long-distance aircraft, nuclear-powered Navy vessels and anti-missile defense. Decisions made in the early 1960s have locked the Secretary into unpreparedness.

THE LAYMAN need not be stumped by the question, "How much is enough?" If we are losing nuclear superiority to the Russians, that is proof of insufficiency. It is known that the Russians are building missiles at a clip which drastically cuts into our numerical lead.

Only yesterday, it seems, we were far ahead. If we hadn't slackened our pace, "the threat" could not exist. The cost-cutters converted McNamara to "savings" (about which he is ever boastful), but would hardly have succeeded without the peace-mongers.

IT IS A large priesthood, always preaching disarmament as the way to salvation. Its prelate, I suppose, would be Dr. Jerome Weisner, former scientific advisor in the Kennedy Administration. It was Weisner in 1963 who launched the doctrine of a scientific "plateau" upon which the "military revolution" in destructive weapons had become "stabilized." Converted, in whole or part, to the "plateau" theory, McNamara made decisions which by 1967 rendered him, like Cassius Clay, a fighter who is psychologically disabled.

Tax Surcharge Might Trigger Headaches

NEW YORK (AP) — A tax surcharge, which the head of the Federal Reserve Board suggested this week is the main need of the economy, could turn out to mean more economic headaches — and less revenue than is hoped for.

This a tricky measure. Expert as the tax technicians may be in this era of the manipulated economy, they cannot foresee all the consequences of the surtax plan. This probably explains the hesitancy in putting the plan into action.

IT WAS first proposed by the administration early this year as a six per cent surcharge on all corporate and personal income taxes — in effect a tax on your taxes. The reasoning behind the proposal was that a vigorous 1967 economy would need a restraining influence.

It is being advocated now — by William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board — as a revenue builder that might help offset a deficit in government financing and lessen the threat of inflation.

BUT THE 1967 economy has not been as strong as anticipated, even though Martin referred to "the recovery under way." A surtax could shrink the tax base by slowing business. And if the base shrinks so will the revenue produced from it.

Problems such as this are what lead to recurring opinions that the Johnson administration has few options. The needle on the compass points to some unpleasant weather in any direction.

AS MARTIN indicated, the big problem is the government's big deficit, estimated at somewhere between $13.5 billion and $29.2 billion and which, in some ways, is a contradiction to other federal policies.

For example, both the Johnson administration and the Federal Reserve have been using all their efforts this year to make credit more easily available and at lower rates. The reason: to prod the economy.

HOWEVER, NOT all interest rates have gone down. Long-term rates — the charges on loans for periods of many years — actually have risen, and now some business loans are being made at record-high charges.

The fear now is that these high interest rates may develop also in consumer loans and in the home-mortgage market. This would abort completely the Federal Reserve's easy money policy, which already has been less than successful.

As Martin indicated, the contradictory behavior of interest rates is based on a fear of the big government deficit, a deficit that means the government will have to borrow money.

WHEN THE government goes into the market for huge sums of money, it can cause additional upward pressure on interest rates. Some corporate treasurers, therefore, are borrowing now in advance of requirements to avoid a future shortage or higher rates.

In advocating prompt action, Martin perhaps has in mind the experience of last year when, despite constant prodding, the administration failed to use fiscal measures, such as taxes, to cool an overheated economy.

Kaline, Robinson Out With Injuries

Associated Press Sports Writer

Carl Yastrzemski, still groggy from the effects of a persistent head cold, is the healthiest member of the American League's Big Three.

Yastrzemski had the sniffles today after returning to the Boston Red Sox lineup in Tuesday night's 3-2 victory over Minnesota. But Al Kaline and Frank Robinson, the other two-thirds of the AL All-Star outfield, were far less fortunate.

Kaline, Detroit's injury-prone superstar, all but knocked himself out of the July 11 classic when he broke his right hand in a rare fit of temper during the slumping Tigers' 0-1 loss to Cleveland.

And Robinson, Baltimore's non-patient slugger, was nursing a giant headache after suffering a slight concussion in a baseline collision with Chicago second baseman Al Weis as the first-place White Sox trimmed the Orioles 5-0.

Weis, however, was the unluckiest of all. He's out for the season with torn ligaments in his left knee.

In Tuesday night's other AL games the Washington Senators drubbed California 9-4 and the New York Yankees edged Kansas City 2-1 after losing their doubleheader opener 10-2.

Kaline, struck out by Cleveland's Sam McDowell in the sixth inning, returned to the dugout and slammed his bat into the bat rack, fracturing a metacarpal bone in his hand. He'll be out two or three weeks, according to Dr. Russell Wright, the Tigers' physician.

The 32-year-old outfielder, who led All-Star balloting with 242 of a possible 247 votes, was hitting .328, with 15 homers and 53 runs batted in. His freak injury, coupled with Detroit's month-long slump, dampens Tiger hopes for their first pennant since 1954.

McDowell scattered eight hits and Chico Salmon drove in four runs with two doubles and a homers as the Indians extended Detroit's losing string to four games.

AL KALINE

Robinson and Weis were injured when the Baltimore star slid into second base, breaking up a double play in the fourth inning. Robinson lay unconscious for five minutes.

Both players were sent to Baltimore's Sinai Hospital for X-rays.

Robinson suffered a concussion and contusions over his left eye brow. He had trouble recalling the collision and was hospitalized overnight as a precautionary measure. He will be held out of the Orioles' lineup for at least two days.

Weis was to fly back to Chicago today for immediate surgery. His injuries were diagnosed as a torn medial collateral ligament and a torn anterior cruciate ligament, both in the left knee.

"This takes away the taste of victory," Manager Eddie Stanky said after Joe Horlen, 9-1, had checked the Orioles on five hits. "I'd rather lose five games and have Weis."

Rookie Gary Waslewski posted his first victory in the majors, collaborating with reliever John Wyatt on a four-hitter as the Red Sox slipped past the Twins. Yastrzemski played 5 1/2 innings after missing Monday night's game because of his heavy cold.

Tony Conigliaro clubbed a two-run homer off loser Dean Chance in the first inning and the Red Sox added a run in the seventh on singles by Jerry Adair, Bob Tilling and Reggie Smith. Tony Oliva homered for Minnesota in the second inning and singled across another run in the ninth against Wyatt.

Ken McMullen's three-run homer and a pair of bases-empty blasts by rookie Mike Epstein powered the Senators' 17-hit attack against the Angels. Paul Casanova had a single, double and triple for Washington as the AL tailenders ended right-hander Jim McGlothlin's winning streak at five.

Jim "Catfish" Hunter pitched a three-hitter and Danny Cater drove in four runs with a single and double as the A's snapped New York's four-game victory streak in the opener at Kansas City.

The Yankees rebounded behind the five-hit pitching of Joe Verbanic and three relievers to gain a split. Horace Clarke and Dick Howser stroked run-scoring singles and left-hander Steve Hamilton stopped a KC comeback with 1-3 innings of clutch relief.

Corsairs Ham It Up After Movie Stint

By The Associated Press

Before the game, the Pittsburgh Pirates put on an act for Walter Matthau and Jack Lemmon. During the game, they put on an act worthy of Abbott and Costello.

The first act proved more profitable. At least several of the Pirates earned $100 each for it. They didn't get anything for the second act except a lot of confusion and a 5-2 loss to the New York Mets.

In the pre-game festivities, the Pirates and Mets acted out a triple play for a scene in the movie, "The Odd Couple," which stars Matthau as a sloppy sports writer and Lemmon as his roommate who is obsessed with cleanliness.

CLEMENTE REFUSES In the scene, Bill Mazeroski—subbing for Roberto Clemente who rejected the $100 role—hits into the triple play.

In the game, the bizarre festivities centered around the part of the Pirate line-up that followed Mazeroski, the No. 5 hitter in the batting order.

In less than National League games San Francisco blanked St. Louis 6-0, Atlanta clobbered Houston 13-5, Los Angeles whipped Cincinnati 9-0 and Philadelphia stopped Chicago 4-2.

The odd incident in the Pirates' game came in the third inning after Jose Pagan cut the New York lead to 5-2 with a two-run double. As Jim Pappalardo stepped into the batter's box, Mets Manager Wes Westrum emerged from the dugout.

"That man batted out of turn," Westrum told plate umpire Al Barlick.

"He did?" Barlick asked, somewhat surprised.

"Yes," Westrum coolly replied.

Indeed Pagan had batted out of turn. So had Gene Alley, who preceded Pagan with the second out in the inning.

As the puzzle became unraveled, the participants learned that in the official line-up handed Barlick and Westrum before the game, Pagan was listed as the sixth batter and Alley the seventh. But in the line-up listed on the scoreboard, Alley was No. 6 and Pagan No. 7.

BAD BREAK And, unfortunately for the Pirates, they were following the scoreboard even though the correct, official line-up was posted in their dugout.

How did the scoreboard happen to be wrong? It seems a Pirate broadcaster asked Walker before the game for his line-up, and Walker read off—as it turned out, incorrectly—a batting order with Pagan following Alley.

"There were six million people asking me for my line-up," Walker said afterward. "I'll never give it out that way again."

The broadcaster, in the course of conversation, relayed the line-up to the man responsible for putting it on the scoreboard. So there it was.

Met coach Sheriff Robinson caught the discrepancy, but Westrum let it go through the first two innings when the reversal of Alley and Pagan did the Mets no harm.

The turn of events enabled the Mets to hold onto the victory behind a four-run first-inning outburst, capped by Ron Swoboda's three-run homer.

Mike McCormick scattered seven hits as San Francisco cooled off St. Louis, at least temporarily. Hal Lanier struck the big blow, a two-run double with the bases loaded in the fifth inning.

No golfer with a Mexican background has ever won the National Open but one came reasonably close last week when El Paso's Lee Trevino finished fifth in the scramble at Baltusol.

Trevino, who can be seen in the Odessa Pro-Am next month, with Manny Martinez as a partner, may have suddenly decided he was on the verge of making a charge at the crown only to have it get to him.

Lee looked like a man on his way to oblivion when he bogied 14 and 15 the final afternoon but he parred in from that point. His lofty finish was lost in the shambles that Nicklaus made of the course that day but, for Lee, life couldn't have been sweeter.

His $6,000 pay check was, by far, the biggest of his young life. The only rewards he ever took home with him before were crumbs the other pros didn't pick up in opens at Los Angeles and in Panama and Mexico.

Trevino is now head-pro at the Ascacita Golf Course in El Paso, a layout which gets roughly 95 per cent of its play from visitors in the Latin-American community. He moved up from Azarita when Iverson Martin packed his bags and left.

The success Trevino experienced in New Jersey may have him studying the road maps for a way out of El Paso, too.

Linksters Shooting For $30,000 Prize

MONTREAL (AP) — The Canadian Open Golf Championship, carrying a beefed up value of $30,000 and increased prestige, begins Thursday with Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus the co-favorites.

The site is the Montreal Municipal Course, 6,800 yard, par 71 layout and one of the very few municipal courses the pros see on their regular tour.

It has been refurbished and toughened for the tournament but remains flat and waterless and should pose few problems for the elite field.

"The course seems to be in good shape, but it could be better," said Jim Ferrier, a former PGA champ, long-time campaigner in this tournament and the last man to win consecutive Canadian titles, in 1950-51.

"There are still some bare spots on the greens, but they shouldn't cause any major problems. The biggest problems are going to be the little ridges and gullies," he said.

Ferrier was one of a handful of the top names to play a practice round Tuesday, with most of the major touring pros just checking in.

Among the late arrivals were Palmer, who claimed his first professional title in the Canadian Open in 1955; Billy Casper and Julius Boros, each a two-time former U.S. Open champ; Nicklaus, the current U.S. Open king, and Kel Nagel, the former British Open champ.

Casper, Boros and young Frank Beard also rank as top challengers for the $30,000 first prize, with Nagel and Gary Player of South Africa heading the non-American foreign field. Don Massengale is the defending champion.

Al Balding and George Knudson are the major threats in a field of 26 Canadians. Balding, coming back from a shoulder operation, has been very impressive in recent outings. Knudson is the current Canadian top individual champion.

The field of 156 will cut to the low 70 and ties for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday. If a playoff is necessary it will be over 18 holes Monday.

The final two rounds are scheduled for national television coverage in the United States and Canada. CBS-TV and CBC-TV will televise the matches 3-5 p.m. CDT, both Saturday and Sunday.

Flight winners will likely get $15 in merchandise while consolation winners could come in for awards totaling $750.

In addition, trophies will be handed out to flight winners, Green stated.

The course has benefitted from rainfall totaling about one-half inch in the last 24 hours, soaking moisture that all went into the ground.

Two rounds are booked Tuesday. Flight winners will likely get $15 in merchandise while consolation winners could come in for awards totaling $750.

Pasarell Aims For 2nd Big Tennis Upset

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Charlie Pasarell, America's dark horse at Wimbledon, was aiming today for his second big upset victory in three days.

The 23-year-old tennis star from Santee, P.R., knocked out reigning champion Manuel Santana of Spain in the first round Monday. This time he was to face Bob Hewitt, the powerful Australian who is now a member of South Africa's Davis Cup team.

Hewitt is unseeded, but is one of the fancied players here following South Africa's Davis Cup triumph over France in the semifinals of European Zone B Davis Cup competition. Hewitt shared South Africa's singles with Cliff Drysdale.

Two more Americans—Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., and Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., faced tough second-round matches today. Both had a chance to upset the form book and boost the United States' sagging reputation after a humiliating Davis Cup defeat by Ecuador.

Richey was to play Tony Roche, Australian left-hander who is the No. 4 seed. Riessen was paired against the eighth-seeded Jan Leschly of Denmark.

Meanwhile, as the fans got over the shock of Santana's early defeat they were asking one big question—Can anyone stop Roy Emerson?

The 30-year-old Australian is going for his third Wimbledon title in four years—and he has one of the easiest draws of any of the seeded players.

Emerson was seeded second, after Santana.

Emerson's second-round opponent was Peter Curtis, a young Englishman who is tabbed for a bright future but is hardly ready yet to upset world-ranking stars.

The bookies have made Emerson a 4 to 5 favorite for the title.

Meanwhile Billie Jean Moffitt King, the women's title holder, came through the ordeal of her opening match on center court Tuesday and defeated Ingrid Lofdahl of Sweden 6-4, 6-2.

The jaunty Wightman Cup star from Long Beach, Calif., sized up her hard-hitting opponent and gradually wore her down. Miss Lofdahl broke service for a 5-4 lead in the opening set, but she couldn't keep up the pace against Billie Jean's sharp volleys and shrewd placements.

Maria Bueno of Brazil, three-time Wimbledon queen and possibly Mrs. King's main rival, cruised to a 6-3, 6-1 victory over Laura Rossouw of South Africa.

The United States' other leading contender, Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex., chalked up one of the most impressive scores in the women's matches a 6-1, 6-1 win over Helen Gourlay of Australia.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

At the age of 16, Ronnie Broadrick is not yet ready to challenge Jack Nicklaus for the golf supremacy of all Christendom but by the time the Big Spring youth is as old as the Ohio links wizard he may be ready to argue Nicklaus into settling for tournament spoils other than first money.

The intense young man has the physical build to go a long way in the golf game. More important still, he possesses the game to go along with it. Whether he elects to turn pro or remain with the simon pures, he bids fair to take on and beat the best of them.

Jerry Green, Ronnie's teacher and pro at the Big Spring Country Club, isn't prone to throw the superlatives around anyone's golf game but he is ecstatic in his praise of the young man whose star is definitely in the ascendancy. Jerry says that young Broadrick is the best prospect he's ever seen come down the pike in West Texas.

Green focuses attention upon Ronnie's swing, which he insists is as sound as the pre-war dollar, one comparable to that used by all the golfers built in the classic mould.

For a long time Broadrick had his problems mastering the proper touch with his wedge. He tended to take too long a backswing, with the result that he would overshoot the intended target. He is fast overcoming his weaknesses in that phase of his game, if any now exist, through arduous practice. No golfer who ever came out of West Texas ever was more dedicated to the proposition that practice makes perfect in the game.

Ronnie is tremendously long off the tee for so young a player. (He won't turn 20 until 1971 and still has two years of high school eligibility remaining.) His authority with his middle and short irons is very good, too, and improving all the while.

No one ever went far in the game of cow-pasture pool without developing a positive attitude around the greens. That phase of his game hasn't been overlooked by Ronnie. He shoots to win with the confidence of a riverboat card-sharpie.

Ronnie learned early in life one can't take a defensive attitude in golf and succeed. Some say he has already developed the "killer's instinct" in the game that is so very necessary in this unique endeavor—where egos often clash and the timid get chewed up into little pieces.

Broadrick had to be at the top of his game recently to beat out Odessa's Scott Stegner in the Big Spring Junior Invitational tournament. Stegner was four under regulation figures and the clubhouse leader at one time.

Ronnie beat Stegner by a stroke over 18 holes, although he had a double bogie and a bogie along the way.

The two, no doubt, will have several opportunities to test each other's mettle in the years ahead. Stegner is also a sophomore in high school and the two compete in the same district. That sideline struggle for supremacy could be better than the main event that will be going on in 2-AAAA.

No golfer with a Mexican background has ever won the National Open but one came reasonably close last week when El Paso's Lee Trevino finished fifth in the scramble at Baltusol.

Trevino, who can be seen in the Odessa Pro-Am next month, with Manny Martinez as a partner, may have suddenly decided he was on the verge of making a charge at the crown only to have it get to him.

Lee looked like a man on his way to oblivion when he bogied 14 and 15 the final afternoon but he parred in from that point. His lofty finish was lost in the shambles that Nicklaus made of the course that day but, for Lee, life couldn't have been sweeter.

His $6,000 pay check was, by far, the biggest of his young life. The only rewards he ever took home with him before were crumbs the other pros didn't pick up in opens at Los Angeles and in Panama and Mexico.

Trevino is now head-pro at the Ascacita Golf Course in El Paso, a layout which gets roughly 95 per cent of its play from visitors in the Latin-American community. He moved up from Azarita when Iverson Martin packed his bags and left.

The success Trevino experienced in New Jersey may have him studying the road maps for a way out of El Paso, too.

Colts Record 7-3 Victory

The Colts enjoyed two big wins on their way to a 7-3 American Little League victory over the Stars here Tuesday evening.

The Colts, now 9-9 on the year, blanked three in the second and three more in the fourth. Mike Tredaway sent the Stars down to their 11th defeat in 18 starts by throwing a two-hitter, with a little help from Wayne Dickens.

Dick Conley and Mike Parker collected the hits for the Stars, who waited until the fourth to cross the plate.

Met coach Sheriff Robinson caught the discrepancy, but Westrum let it go through the first two innings when the reversal of Alley and Pagan did the Mets no harm.

The turn of events enabled the Mets to hold onto the victory behind a four-run first-inning outburst, capped by Ron Swoboda's three-run homer.

Mike McCormick scattered seven hits as San Francisco cooled off St. Louis, at least temporarily. Hal Lanier struck the big blow, a two-run double with the bases loaded in the fifth inning.

BUZ SAWYER

YOU LOOK WORRIED, MARY. IS SOMETHING WRONG?

NO, NOT REALLY. ONLY I HAD A VERY DISTURBING EXPERIENCE TODAY.

WANT TO TELL ME ABOUT IT?

WELL, AN AMERICAN TOURIST CLAIMED HE KNEW ME... SAID THAT MY REAL NAME WAS CHRISTY SAWYER, MRS. CHRISTY SAWYER, MIND YOU.

HE INSISTED... OH, KARL, PLEASE! LET'S GET MARRIED NOW, AT ONCE, BEFORE SOMETHING TERRIBLE HAPPENS.

GASOLINE ALLEY

We've got to make up our own minds about this thing, Stubbs!

Right, Chip! We can't let people push us around!

We've decided what we want to do—go let's do it!

And the sooner, the quicker!

My father is going to hate me!

The guys at the garage will never forgive me!

BLONDIE

WHAT'S THE TROUBLE, BOSS?

CORA AND I HAD A QUARREL ABOUT WHERE TO GO ON OUR VACATION.

SHE WANTS TO GO TO THE MOUNTAINS AND I WANT TO GO TO THE SEASHORE.

WELL, WHY DON'T YOU WANT TO GO TO THE MOUNTAINS?

BECAUSE THERE'S AN ECHO UP THERE AND ONE OF HER IS ENOUGH!

RICK O'SHAY

YOU'RE UNDER ARREST, POLEY!

OH, BOY... AGAIN?

DON'T YOU EVER LEARN, MARSHAL? YOU CAN'T HOLD ME. WHAT AM I ARRESTED FOR?

YOU JUST THREW THAT CIG'RET BUTT IN THE STREET.

IT'S PART OF MY COLLECTION, MR. DELAND—I COLLECT PORCELAIN ANIMALS—MOSTLY HORSES!

HMM... LIKE THAT GIRL IN THE PLAY?—"THE GLASS MENAGERIE," EH?

QUITE A CHARACTER SHE WAS! HAD ALL THESE GLASS ANIMALS BECAUSE SHE WAS SUCH A—"A DOG, SHE COULDN'T ATTRACT MEN!"

I ALWAYS FELT AWFULLY SORRY FOR THE POOR KID!

REX MORGAN

DR. MORGAN, THIS IS MRS. KESSLER!

GOOD EVENING, MRS. KESSLER!

IF YOU'LL EXCUSE ME, I'LL BE IN THE LIBRARY—

JODIE—NO! PLEASE STAY—

I THINK IT WOULD BE BETTER IF YOU TALKED ALONE TO DR. MORGAN, FRANK.

IT'S ALL RIGHT FOR YOU TO STAY, MISS WINTERS!

TERRY

MRS. DERBY! EVERYBODY! I HAVE RADAR CONTACT! IT'S COMING!

I ESTIMATE IT'S TEN MILES OUT, AT TEN THOUSAND FEET ALTITUDE!

WELL, LIEUTENANT WARROW! WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THIS?

I THINK IT'S AN OLD FASHIONED AIRPLANE, MA'AM!

SMITTY

C'MON, CADDY, LET'S GO INTO THE STORE ROOM TO PRACTICE MY PUTTING

OH-OH! I MISSED THE CLIP AND LOOK WHERE IT WENT!

SAY—YOU'RE LITTLE! YOU CAN CRAWL IN THERE AND GET MY BALL!

I'VE GOT A CLEAN SHIRT ON, SO—

Dragon Ship Scares Reds

By The Associated Press
"Psychologically, it has a terrifying effect," says Texan at war David Devaney of Baytown, describing the converted warplane known as "Puff, The Magic Dragon."
As an aerial gunner on the modified C47, the old "Gooney Bird" of World War II fame, Air Force S. Sgt. Devaney, 26, flew all over Vietnam in the dragon ships.
put them in our flight records."
From one such mission, he said, the dragon ship, riddle by 50-caliber machine gun fire, "limped home with a number of hits and six scared crew members."

EARN DFC
"The Vietnamese are very afraid of it," he said. "It is quite deadly, with three guns firing 6,000 rounds per minute per gun."
"It's close to the B52 in kill power. At 18,000 rounds a minute, all night, you can put a lot of ammo into an area."
The aircraft can fly 8½ hours without refueling, said Devaney, who returned from Vietnam in October after duty assignments in Saigon, Pleiku, Nha Trang and Can Tho. He earned the Distinguished Flying Cross.

GUNS ROAR
"It looks like a dragon when it's firing at night. Actually, the guns don't fire, they roar."
The eerie effect comes in part from tracer bullets, fired at a rate of one tracer to four regular bullets.

Devaney, a bachelor, calls himself one of the "originals," the ones who took the C47's to Vietnam in the first place. "Twenty-two gunners went over originally," he said. "Only 14 of us came back."
Some missions, he said, "were so classified they wouldn't even

Attention Turns To Toy Industry
WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's campaign against deceptive packaging has turned its attention to the toy industry.

The Federal Trade Commission banned 10 toy manufacturers Monday from using allegedly deceptive, oversized containers for packing toys.
In announcing this, the FTC urged the industry to guard against the use of deceptive packages. The agency said many toy containers don't fairly inform the buyer of the contents.
The FTC noted that its authority regarding deceptive packaging will increase Saturday when the Fair Packaging and Labeling Act goes into effect.

Whales Highlight Solo Sea Voyage

BIRKENHEAD, England (AP) — Malcolm Reid is home from the sea after a 10-month solo voyage in a 25-foot sloop from Singapore by way of the Cape of Good Hope.
Reid, 28, made no attempt to adhere to a timetable as did Sir Francis Chichester on his recent solo circumnavigation in Gipsy Moth IV.
Relating the highlights of his trip Monday, Reid recalled swimming in the Atlantic along side his craft one day when suddenly three whales surfaced only 60 feet away.
Said Reid, "I have never come out of the water so fast in my life."

DA Contends 'Assassins' Set Up Oswald As Decoy

NEW YORK (AP) — New Orleans Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison contends the real assassins of President John F. Kennedy set Lee Harvey Oswald up as a decoy, hoping he would be shot down by Dallas police.
Garrison explained his theory Tuesday night during an interview with Mike Wallace in the third of a series of telecasts on the Warren Report by the Columbia Broadcasting System.
The district attorney has charged previously that five anti-Castro Cuban guerrillas killed the president. In the interview he said the conspirators plotted the death of Patrolman J.D. Tippit "to get rid of the decoy in the case, Lee Oswald."

'CLEVER PLAN'
Garrison said the conspirators "had what I think is a rather clever plan" to get rid of Oswald "so that he would not later describe the people involved in this."
"It's well known that police officers react violently to the murder of a police officer," he said.

said. "All they did was arrange for an officer to be sent out to Tenth Street, and when Officer Tippit arrived there he was murdered, with no other reason than that."
"After he was murdered," Garrison continued, "Oswald was pointed to, sitting in the back of the Texas Theater where he'd been told to wait, obviously." He said the apparent plan was that the police would come and avenge the death of a fellow officer.
KILL NECESSARY?
"But the Dallas police, apparently, at least the arresting officers, had more humanity in them than the planners had in mind. And this is the first point at which the plan did not work completely," Garrison said.
