ROBOT WEAPONS ABLE TO BLAST HIGHEST FLYING BOMBERS

U.S. Ready With Guided Missiles

By ELTON C. FAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Should war come tomorrow the United States probably could step right into mass production of guided-missiles able to seek and strike the highest and fastest flying bombers.

Reporting this today, exponents of the new anti-aircraft weapon said unless compelled to begin production immediately, further improvement of design is desirable. The suggestion was that several years would be needed for perfection of the missiles under peacetime conditions.

If development of this top-ranking defense weapon has progressed to the point claimed by some guided missiles men, it can have profound effect on the current controversy over the relative capabilities of fighter planes and long range bombers, such as the B-36.

Some saw in it the comparative relegation of the interceptor-fighter to a secondary position and a challenge to strategic bombers more serious than any imposed by ordinary, manned jet fighters.

Of equal importance, there is in these tactical robot rockets hope for at least some degree of interception of long range intercontinental guided missiles of the future which would travel too swiftly for even the fastest jet fighter.

On the basis of information already made known by the armed forces and rocket experts, development of the robot bomber-killer appears to have followed these lines:

The missile, rocket-powered, would be capable of speed well beyond sound (760 miles an hour at sea level) and perhaps actually around 2,000 miles an hour. While the ram-jet engine offers hope for eventual propulsion of the missiles, scientists are encountering difficulties at present. (The ram-jet is an ultra-simplified gadget, a "flying stove pipe" which uses its forward speed to compress air for feeding into the combustion of fuel to produce thrust .It must be brought up to speed above that of sound to start the ram-jet effect.)

The rocket would be a "ground-to-air" missile, fired from the earth like an anti-aircraft gun of World War II at an aircraft. In the initial and intermediate phase of flight, it would ride along a moveable radar beam trained, by radar detectors, on an enemy bomber. As it began to approach the area

Lewis Fires New Blast At Strike Curbs

By LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 18—John L. Lewis called on the Senate today to wipe the anti-strike injunction out of the nation's labor law and denounced Democratic senators who have "dishonored" their pledge to repeal the Taft-Hartley act.

The United Mine Workers chieftain timed his demand to hit the Senate as it prepared to vote on the controversial issue of how to control national emergency strikers.

Vote Slated Monday

The upper chamber votes Monday on a variety of control plans ranging from President Truman's cooling-off period to the seizure and injunction method proposed by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio).

Last-minute voting alignments indicate that Lewis and President Truman are doomed to defeat, and that some specific strike control provision will be written into a new labor bill, which is expected to retain much of the Taft-Hartley statute.

The emergency strike control dispute is the focal point in Senate consideration of the administration bill to revise the Taft-Hartley act. The debate already has lasted two weeks, and predictions are it will continue two more weeks before final action.

Lewis Lashes Taft

Lewis, who with his miners has been heavily fined twice for defiance of anti-strike injunctions, also lashed Taft, who is fighting to retain the substance of the law he co-authored.

In his attack on both the Ohioan and unnamed Democratic senators who have "abandoned" their leaders, the burly miners' president charged that they "threaten the stability of our national life by aiding subversive groups. Lewis said:

"Radicals, Communists and extremists of every character, threatening to the stability of our national life, thrive and multiply on the Taft brand of repression.

"Taft, of course, is the son of a rich man, obsessed with the fixation that it is his heritage and his mission to regulate the lives and retard the laudable ambitions of the sons and the daughters of the poor."

Lewis' appeal was contained in

Thousands In West Virginia Are Homeless

(By The Associated Press)

PETERSBURG, W. Va., June 18. New rains brought fresh threats of disaster tonight to the flooded Shenandoah-Potomac valley lowlands. At least six persons already had perished in the raging waters and another 20 were missing. Damage was heavy in the area.

The latest downpour led state police to predict that branches of the Potomac and Shenandoah rivers — which first rushed over their banks last night — would reach higher crests late tonight in north Virginia and West Virginia's eastern Panhandle.

(Thousands of persons were made homeless as the flood waters, fed by the steady rains, submerged and damaged homes and farms, the International News Service reported. State police, National Guardsmen and Red Cross disaster units went into action to render aid.)

Victims Washed Away

Some of those killed were swept away after their homes or cars were hit by the raging torrents. The body of one victim was found late today five miles from her home by searchers aided by planes.

(INS reported that the Red Cross said that at least nine persons are missing in Petersburg alone, which was half under water. Hundreds fled their homes, others were stranded.

(The INS said that at least 13 persons were reported to have lost their lives.)

Among those listed as dead was two-year-old Winston V. Beckwith, whose half-sister, Mrs. John Gaither, told state police she saw the boy and two girls swept away by cascading water which had overturned their automobile.

Flier Spots Car

The Gaithers themselves were spared when a flier spotted them after they had spent more than 12 hours with muddy waters swirling about them.

Also dead were Cpl. A. M. Hurst of the West Virginia state police and Mrs. Margaret Frances Bricker of Mount Crawford, Va. A sixth victim was listed by police as a man named "Moats" from Petersburg.

AEC Spending Curbs Sought

By OLIVER W. DEWOLF
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Congress will be asked Monday to slap on veto powers over atomic projects costing $1,000,000 or more.

Chairman McMahon (D-Conn.) said he will introduce the bill which would give his joint Congressionel Atomic committee the right to curb spending of the Atomic Energy commission.

The commission, currently asking $1,090,000,000 for the next 12 months, now is unrestricted in its spending authority. Some of its appropriations are described only in general terms because of the secret work involved. However it is required to keep the committee up to date—in full—on its operations.

AEC Spending Hit

Only yesterday AEC spending came under attack in the committee's investigation of commission methods. However, McMahon told reporters that the proposed legislation has no relation to the inquiry.

The bill would bar the AEC from undertaking any project or activity costing $1,000,000 or more without first "coming into agreement" with the congressional committee.

The committee's investigation deals with charges of "incredible mismanagement" made by Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) against the commission and its chairman, David E. Lilienthal. The investigation will be resumed Monday.

Yesterday Hickenlooper attacked as wasteful a commission project for a gas pipeline to its Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic plant at a cost of $10,000,000.

Sumner Pike, commission member, said it would actually save $1,250,000 a year, and that AEC would go ahead with the project despite the committee's disapproval.

McMahon told a news conference he had not discussed the legislation with President Truman, "but I would be surprised if there

Area Wheat Harvest Gains As Dry Weather Continues

THE wheat harvest was rolling at full blast over most of the South Plains Saturday as dry, hot weather spurred the flow of gold-end grain to elevators over the area and in the Panhandle.

Meanwhile, an emergency plea for more combines, trucks and men went out from some sections, including some South Plains counties, the Associated Press reported.

The harvest was rolling in Floyd, Hale, Crosby, Lamb and other South Plains counties as farmers and operators pushed the work into the third full day of operations Saturday. Indications were that many of them would run at full blast again today to take advantage of the good weather, should showers hold off until late in the day.

Floyd County Busy

The Texas Employment commission reported the most serious shortages of machines and men in Swisher, Hansford, Ochiltree and Lipscomb counties, the Associated Press said. Swisher needed 40 to 50 combines; Hansford 30 combines and 10 bob-tailed trucks; Ochiltree and Lipscomb 100 combines and four bob-tailed trucks, plus

Drop Seen In Employment

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The Public Affairs Institute forecast today that 8,000,000 will be jobless a year from now if the economic decline goes on. It asked federal action at once to stimulate business.

In special report on employment the institute urged:

Tax cuts in low and middle income brackets.

Emergency public works in hard-hit areas.

Revival of the Civilian Conservation Corps and other measures.

"Nothing in sight indicates a halt in unemployment trends," said the study. "Unemployment has passed the 'spot' stage. It is not a local but a national problem."

The "real danger period" lies just ahead, in the last half of this year, the report said. A government policy of "drifting," it declared, "may well lead us into a depression."

"It is now too late in the downswing of the economic cycle to effect a balanced budget by cutting the expenditures of government," the report stated. It declared padding and waste should be eliminated but went on:

"Major budget cuts now will only aggravate the present economic decline and make the effort to bring about a reversal more difficult and more costly.

"If the current downward trends are to be halted something must be done now to give businessmen proof of the firmness and high level of demand."

The institute's director and chief author of the study, Dewey Anderson, told a reporter that $10,000,000,000 in new purchasing power might be injected into the economy by the measures recom-

Eight Persons Hurt In Truck-Car Crash

Eight persons, four in serious condition, were brought to two Lubbock hospitals at 2:20 a. m. this morning for treatment of injuries suffered in a rending truck-car crash about 10 miles south of Post shortly before 1 a. m.

Victor Hudman of Hudman Funeral home in Post, who rushed four patients here, identified those in West Texas hospital as Oscar Balderrama, 23, head injuries; his wife, Ange, 20, internal injuries; his father in law, Ray Melchoir, about 48, serious leg injury; and the latter's daughter, Emma, 10, not serious, all of Justiceburg.

He also identifted those in Lubbock Memorial hospital, brought there in a Mason Funeral home ambulance of post as Alveda Melchoir, about 40, Janie Melchoir, 19, both serious, Mary Louise and Elsie Melchoir. Reports said that a heavy oil field truck struck the back of the car when it was parked to fix a flat. The car was almost demolished. The truck driver was not hurt.

Campaign Against Disease Threat Pushed

Annual Insect Blitz Is Launched By City

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

LUBBOCK'S annual blitz against the fly and mosquito is under way and within the next few days the town will have been covered with spraying and mowing machines.

The work is being carried on by the City Health department in an effort to eliminate possibility of epidemics of various diseases, including polio, which are being experienced by state and West Texas cities.

Parts of Lubbock have already been covered as much as three times by fogging machine and other areas twice before the spraying work now going on. Three fogging machines, one DDT sprayer, two mowing machines and an airplane duster are being employed in the polio blitz.

Two fog machines are being furnished by the Plains Fog Service, and an airplane duster is being operated in Mackenzie State park and on the city's dump grounds by L. W. Sailsbury of the Texas Aero Dusting service.

Gerald Jarvis, director of the City Health department, is directing the battle against the epidemics, and Saturday cited two ordinances which are enforceable and if there is co-operation, householders can do much to prevent diseases.

Ordinance No. 138 requires every owner or tenant to cut weeds from property, where it be vacant or occupied. Ordinance No. 777 requires that all wet vegetable garbage be wrapped and placed in a can with fly-tight lids.

City Will Cut Weeds

Jarvis said the ordinances would be enforced this summer.

He said the city would cut weeds from property for $3 a lot. But there are contractors who will also do other yard work in addition. The Health department has a list of these persons.

Jarvis said arrangements had been made with a builder to have fly-tight lids made for garbage cans. Information concerning the lids may be obtained from the health department.

$15,000 Blaze Hits Store At Southland

SOUTHLAND, June 17 (Special) — A fire gutted the Southland Hardware store here at 8 a.m. today and caused an estimated $15,000 in damage.

The building, owned by G. W. Basinger, was totally destroyed but much of the store's merchandise was saved. Insurance partially covered the loss.

The blaze started when a mechanic's blow torch ignited and exploded the gasoline tank of a tractor in the store. Fire engines from Lubbock, Slaton and Post arrived quickly at the scene. Firemen and volunteers fought the blaze for about two hours.

The adjoining buildings were endangered when a strong wind from the southwest began to spread the flames. Merchandise and equipment was removed from the imperiled buildings by the volunteers but the fire was brought under control.

Carl Wortes, the mechanic, and Basinger suffered slight burns. Truck and tractor parts were among goods destroyed. Basinger expressed his appreciation for the out-of-town fire companies that assisted in fighting the blaze.

Plane Crash Kills Four Men On Minnesota Fishing Trip

TRUMAN, Minn., June 18. (INS) Four Iowa men en route to northern Minnesota on a fishing trip were killed today when their plane crashed three miles southeast of Truman, Minn.

The crash victims were tentatively identified as Elmer L. Wright, 32, Grinnell, pilot; Howard R. Walton, 28, Grinnell, a U.S. naval reserve officer; Raymond R. Ferguson, 45, Grinnell, and M. L. Goslin, 48, of Ames.

Witnesses said the plane, a twin-engined Cessna, apparently exploded while flying low over a farm. Although there was no fire, the bodies were reported mangled beyond recognition.

Worley Asked To Set Dam Project Hearing

BORGER, June 18. (AP) — Rep. Gene Worley (D-Tex) has been asked to set a date for a hearing on the proposed Canadian river dam project.

Joe Cooley of Borger, who was elected secretary yesterday of the newly-formed Canadian River Water Users association, announced today that he had asked Worley to arrange for the hearing.

The Congressman is expected to advise Cooley Monday of the date and site of the hearing. Cooley and other association officers, including John McCarty, president, will represent the area to be served by the dam.

Clarence Whiteside, chairman of the Canadian River Water Users' association, said in Lubbock last night that he plans to attend the hearing. He contacted Rep. George Mahon, who is working with the association closely, by telephone Saturday morning, and will work with Cong. Mahon and other officials to arrange a meeting at the earliest possible date.

Four Fire Alarms Answered Here; Garage Is Destroyed

Four fire alarms were answered by city firemen between 5:30 p. m. and midnight Saturday.

A small garage with adjoining storage room, located at 1310 Ave. M, was destroyed by fire, firemen arriving after the building was covered with flames. The building was owned by W. M. Crawford, fire department records showed. The alarm was at 10:30 p. m.

At 5:40 p. m., firemen were called to a residence at 1915 Twenty-third, where they reported they found an "overcooked roast." An alarm was answered at 9:20 p. m. from a person who gave the address of the fire as Plainview highway. Firemen failed to find the blaze, and it was believed that mistaken directions were given.

At 11:50 p. m., firemen made a run to 1601 Ave. A, where a refrigerator was reported to be afire.

City Made Party In Court Action

J. E. Maisen, named defendant in a recent injunctive action brought by Carl E. Maxey in 99th district court here as outgrowth of serious flooding of the Tech Terrace addition in southwest Lubbock, has filed his original answer and made the City of Lubbock a party to the suit, it was announced Saturday.

Maxey had brought the suit individually, as owner of a lot in Tech Terrace, and as a class action on behalf of all owners of premises in the addition.

Injunction Is Asked

He asked a permanent injunction against Maisen restraining use of a basin centering the addition and marked on a subdivision plat as "park area" for any purpose other than a park, and enjoining Maisen from filling the central area with dirt or from the erection on it of houses or other improvements inconsistent with use of the property as a public park.

Also, Maxey sought a mandatory injunction requiring Maisen to remove from the basin "all the dirt fill" Maisen allegedly had placed there, and a permanent injunction restraining him from placing any further fill in the lake or "otherwise lessening the water

Plainview Man Uses Hat To Help Fight Fire In Wheat Crop

(By The Associated Press)

PLAINVIEW, June 18.—E. M. Carter may retire his fire blackened panama hat, with honor.

As a fire extinguisher, today it helped save a wheat crop. It was a good hat. But it was a good wheat crop too. The best the Plainview man ever made in his life.

He went into action with his hat when he saw that a truck exhaust had set wheat stubble on fire. Combines had cut only a few rounds in the 190-acre field.

Harvest Crews Help

Carter said he thought after a minute's furious application of the hat the fire was out. Then he saw a shaft of flame racing across the stubble.

He tackled it with renewed vigor. The truck driver peeled off his shirt and fought the fire with it. Combines in the field came on the double. Harvest crews in neighboring fields, and passersby rallied to help. All hands were barely able to keep the fires from reaching the uncut wheat.

Had Good Yield

When the fire had burned over about five acres of stubble, a shift in the wind let the fighters extinguish it.

The field averaged almost sixty bushels of wheat to the acre.

Carter, still wearing his battered hat, early tonight saw the last load of wheat go out of his field—harvested in one day by the five-combine crew.

He has grown wheat in Hale county for a number of years. This, he said, is the best crop he ever made.

Scattered Showers Forecast For Area

South Plains fathers probably will have a fine day to go on a picnic with the family, test out the new gift golf clubs, or just sit in a lawn chair under the shade of a tree and celebrate the one day in the year allotted to fathers.

However, as head of the house it might be a good idea to keep an eye cocked on the sky during the afternoon for the Lubbock Weather station last night saw some possibility of showers and thundershowers in this vicinity today and Monday.

The showers, if they come, the weatherman said, probably would be of the sort that would spoil a round of golf or wilt a new gift hat, or spatter up a new pair of shoes.

The thundershower forecast holds good for Monday too. The mercury climbed to a maximum of 95 Saturday afternoon Little change in temperatures is expected today or Monday.

No heavy rains were reported anywhere on the South Plains Saturday.

Burglars Enter Lumber Firms

Notes totaling $21,030 and $23.63 in money were taken in a burglary of Hal Harpole Lumber company at 1932 Texas Ave., Earl Harris, part owner of the yard, informed police Saturday.

The place was entered through a rear window from which the glass had been broken, and the burglar apparently left by a rear door which he left open.

One of the notes taken was payable to Claude Martin in the amount of $16,400, while the other two—each for the amount of $2,315—were payable to the lumber yard, Harris said.

Knob Knocked On Safe

Two other lumber yard burglaries were under investigation of police.

Bowman Lumber company, at 619 Thirteenth, was entered by a burglar who forced a door on the east side of the building, and the knob was knocked on the safe. However, entrance to the safe was not made by the intruder, it was reported.

A dozen rules, valued at $2.50 each were taken from another safe which was not locked, and $7.88 was removed from a desk drawer, C. W. Dooley told police investigators.

Prideaux Lumber company, at 1116 Seventh, reported a drink vending machine moved but not entered, and a peanut vending machine moved from the building. Peanuts were scattered down the

REUTHER TURNS DOWN PROPOSAL

Ford Rejects Union Demands, Asks 18-Month Wage Freeze

By FRANK SNYDER
INS Staff Correspondent

DETROIT, June 18.—The Ford Motor company today asked the UAW-CIO to accept an 18-month freeze on wages and other economic demands, but the request was immediately termed "unacceptable" by the union.

In a letter to UAW President Walter P. Reuther, Ford labor relations director John S. Bugas served notice that the company intends to reject all the union's demands involving "higher labor costs." Bugas added significantly:

"The postwar buggy-ride of ever-higher wages, costs and prices is over."

The company instead offered the union a "stabilization pattern," with the United Auto Workers to withdraw all general economic demands for a period of 18 months and the company to retain present wage rates during that period.

Included in the offer was a provision for reopening of the contract to negotiate adjustments in job rates if the cost of living soared at least four points by Jan. 15, 1950.

Reuther termed the company's proposal as "unsound and unreal-

Final Results Of Foreign Ministers Meeting May Give Clue To Extent Of Soviet Policy Revision

By PRESTON GROVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, June 18 — Has Russia revised her policy to the point that she is willing to sort out difficulties with the West on a give and take basis?

What the foreign ministers council does in the next two days on limited agreements on Austria and Berlin may provide a clue.

A further test will be in the way Russian officials act on such agreements as may be reached in the four-week conference.

Tomorrow the four power ministers will meet in another secret session. Monday, in an open session, they will disclose in a communique or through press statements what they have been doing in the series of secret meetings of the past several days.

Western delegates have been voicing more optimism in recent days on the possibility of getting some agreement.

Some points remain to be smoothed out, but spokesmen seem to expect:

1. An agreement on a way of getting along together in Berlin.

2. New agreements that may speed along the treaty for Austrian independence.

3. Arrangements for a further meeting of the ministers after a few months, perhaps in New York this fall.

The first indication of a Soviet shift in policy was the New York agreement to lift the blockade of Berlin. There has been little Soviet softening at the four ministers' conference.

Even so, not a Western diplomat

DERBY ENTRANTS KEEP BUSY

South Plains Youngsters Racing To Finish Cars For Inspection

The next week will find the sound of the saw and hammer in garages all over the South Plains echoing longer and louder as approximately 250 youngsters put the finishing touches to their cars in preparation for the second annual Avalanche-Journal Soap Box Derby.

The Derby, to be run on Monday, July 4, is sponsored jointly by the Lubbock Exchange club, Kuykendall Chevrolet company and The Avalanche-Journal.

Preparations for the Derby are going forward and all entrants are expected to have their cars at Kuykendall Chevrolet company Friday or Saturday of this week, June 25 and 26, for preliminary inspection. Final inspection will be held at the track on the day of the race.

Must Be Inspected

Regardless of whether their cars are completed or not, they should be brought for inspection to check length, width, wheelbase, height, clearance, weight and other details.

Each boy and his car must not weight more than 250 pounds. The over-all length of the car must not exceed 80 inches and the over-all height not more than 28 inches. Every car must have a road clearance of at least three inches beneath its lowest point.

Width of the cars are limited to 42 inches.

Cost of the materials in the car, exclusive of wheels, axles and steering gear must not exceed $6. If materials are donated, a conservative estimate of their value must be itemized.

Items May Be Excluded

But boys are reminded that when trying to keep within the $6 limit, there are several items which may be excluded. For instance, the rule book provides that turnbuckles and cables are considered parts of the steering system, for cost purposes.

Taxes and freight, express or postage charges need not be included in computing the total cost. Thus, if you order a part by mail, the shipping charges of that part from the dealer to you is not to be included. Nor are taxes on any of the parts.

But, in all cases, do not forget that the rules insist that you submit a complete itemized list of all materials used, showing the purchase price of each—excepting the items mentioned above.

And the final rule in the cost section is important. It provides that the boy "may be required to prove that he built the car himself and that he kept within the cost limit."

Thief Ruins Hopes For Derby Entrant

Lubbock's meanest thief was reported Saturday.

He stole a set of wheels and axle which little Jimmie Rodgers was using to build a Soap Box Derby racer for Lubbock's second annual Soap Box Derby.

Young Rodgers was sadly disappointed Saturday as he reported the theft.

Anyway, Derby officials instructed him to go ahead with construction of his racer with the hope that a guilty conscience may prey upon the thief and he'll return the wheels.

The wheels and axle have a value of $10.95 and were furnished by Jimmie's sponsor, the Baker company.

Anyone finding an extra set of Derby wheels should phone 2-6126 or contact Jimmie by mail through General Delivery.

Soap Box Derby Winner To Receive Plaque Similar To Previous Annual Race Awards

The W. F. Armstrong Trophy, a handsome plaque depicting a Derby racer flashing across the finish line, is the top award given to the winner of all local Soap Box Derby races by the Chevrolet Motor Division, co-sponsor of the Derby.

The trophy is similar to that awarded by Chevrolet to local champions in the past two years, but it has been renamed in honor of the new general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division. It is three-dimensional, with the miniature racing car, driver and finish-line flagman resting on a platform. The background is of highly polished birch, and the Derby emblem affixed to it is red, white and blue enameled on metal.

The local champion receives many other prizes and awards, chief of which is a trip to Akron to represent his home town in the All-American Soap Box Derby August 14.

At the Champions' Banquet following the big race every champion also receives, as a gift from Chevrolet, a handsome wrist watch and a beautiful diploma, symbolic of his victory in the local race.

The grand prize awarded to the national champion at Akron is a $5,000 four-year scholarship to the college of his choice. The second place winner will receive a new 1949 Chevrolet sedan. Third and fourth place winners also receive valuable merchandise prizes. All of the first four place-winners receive exquisitely designed trophies.

Four Special Awards

There are four special prizes and trophies awarded at the national race, and many of these have local-race counterparts. A Chevrolet trophy goes to the builder of the best brakes and to the boy whose car runs the fastest heat. The builder of the best-designed car wins the C. F. Kettering Trophy, and to the maker the best-upholstered car goes the Collins and Aikman Award. The Shell Oil Co. awards a handsome prize to the boy whose car is adjudged the best-constructed.

There will be a number of prizes for local winners of the Derby in addition to heat prizes for the winners of the various heats. Announcement of these prizes will be made between now and July 4.

Planned Treaty Displeases U.S.

By REGINALD WOOD
Associated Press Staff Writer

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, June 18 — Britain and Argentina are going ahead with plans to sign a five-year two-way trade treaty next week despite United States displeasure.

Reliable sources say no changes are anticipated in the pact under which Britain will supply the bulk of Argentina's imports ranging from vitally necessary oil and coal to automobiles and whiskey.

In exchange the British will get an estimated 300,000 tons of meat as well as cereals and other supplies.

Cuts Off U. S. Market

American businessmen believe the pact will cut off one of their important South American markets. However Argentine-British-United States three-corner trade has been practically impossible since the British blocked pound convertability in 1947.

Blocking the pound meant Argentina could not exchange the pounds she earned by selling to Britain for dollars to buy from the United States.

There was no immediate comment from the Argentine foreign office on a statement in Washington to United States Senators by Paul Hoffman, director of the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA), yesterday that ECA will use "every pressure we can" to block such bilateral agreements as the one between Britain and Argentina.

Vital To Britain

Britain's commercial minister in the United States, meanwhile, told U.S. Assistant Secretary of State Willard Thorp the projected trade agreement is vital to British recovery.

Sir John Balfour, Britain's Ambassador to Argentina who headed the four-month-long negotiations preceding the deal, conferred for an hour and a quarter last night with Argentine Foreign Minister Juan A. Bramuglia on details of the pact. Informed sources said United States objections were not considered.

After the meeting Sir John was quoted as saying "We are working hard on the final details of the agreement."

He could not guarantee, however, that the signing ceremony would be held June 21 as previously scheduled.

Father Receives Gift Of Triplets Early, Bringing Total Number Of Children To 20

EDITOR'S NOTE: Millions of father's will receive gifts Sunday, on Father's day. But not papa George E. Chapman. He received his gift early—triplets, bringing the number of Chapman children to 20. Chapman tells in the following story how he and his wife manage on $40 a week and "plenty of faith in prayer."

By GEORGE E. CHAPMAN
As Told To Al Blackman
INS Staff Correspondent

BANGOR, Me., June 18—My Father's day "gift" came early this year—triplets, born on June 8.

That makes 20 children for the wife and me, with 18 of them still at home. Quite a few to bring up on my $40 a week salary. But we "manage."

I always follow this saying:

"There is always a way if you have the patience."

The triplets—they're Gay, Gail and Gary—have made quite a difference in our seven-room house. It's jammed. But we plan to finish up the attic if we can get the necessary wood to do the job.

People Ask About Noise

Catherine, 23, is sort of an "assistant mother." Betty, 19, is married and has two children of her own, and Robert, 21, also is married and the father of one—it's really fun when we get the grandchildren over, too!

Now a house full of children can get pretty noisy — that's what everyone wonders about. They ask: how do I stand it?

Well, you keep them under control and you can have quiet when you really need it.

As far as the finances are concerned, I'm not really sure how I manage to keep income and outgo ever close to balancing.

If you were to ask me to tell you exactly how I keep those kids in clothing and food, I couldn't answer. There is plenty of scrimping and bargain-hunting and hand-me-down clothing involved.

Everything comes out even at the end of the week, although I could never show how it was done in black and white.

My children never have missed a day of school for lack of clothing or anything like that. But it is a problem to keep them looking decent and fed, especially these days.

Sickness Big Worry

The biggest worry a father has is getting sick. I was laid up for a time last winter with a bad knee.

That was tough, but the people I work for were very good about it. They pulled us through a hard time. I am thankful for that.

I guess any father, especially one with a large family and small salary, knows he has to work hard. And even then, fathers would be in a tough spot if they didn't have good wives, good kids, and good neighbors.

And plenty of faith in prayer.

Needless to say, we're "early birds." Things have to get under way early to get the children off to school and, on Sunday, all the children who are seven years old or more attend the children's mass at 8:15 in St. John's Roman Catholic church.

I said before I got my father's day gift early, with the triplets, I never really received a Father's day gift. But that doesn't matter. My wife came close enough with the triplets.

And just having children is enough of a Father's day gift.

Residence Construction Keeps State Building Pace Booming

AUSTIN, June 18 (AP) — Building permits for a total of 1,144 one family residences costing less than $7,000 each were issued in Texas this week.

All residential permits—including large residences, apartments, and duplexes—totaled $8,984,216, The Texas Contractor, construction trade magazine, reported today.

Engineering projects totalled $9,085,137 and non-residential building $4,929,087.

The grand total for the week was $22,998,440, compared to $65,099,392 for the week ending June 10.

So far this year a total of $481,831,326 in permits have been issued.

MAJOR PROBLEMS OUTLINED BY HOUSTON MAN

Texan's Report To UN Scientific Group Proposes To Develop Vast Undersea Petroleum Resources

By GABRIEL DE SABATINO
INS Staff Correspondent

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., June 18 — Civilization's quest for more oil for its machinery will be a major topic of discussion at the forthcoming United Nations scientific conference on the conservation and utilization of resources.

A scientific report urging development of the earth's vast undersea continental shelves as rich sources of petroleum has been submitted to the conference, which will open a three-week session on August 17 at Lake Success.

Texan Urges Development

Mercer Parks, Houston, Texas, states in the report that continental shelves, spread under one-twelfth of the world's total ocean area, may contain deposits totaling over one-half trillion barrels of oil.

Parks points out that this is ten times the 53 billion barrel reserves in the United States.

Parks says that "there has been insufficient time to evaluate the overall efficiency and economics of developing and producing continental shelf-fields."

Operations Costs High

However, he adds, preliminary figures based on "shallow water operations"—wells located down to 60 feet of water—indicate that the completed wells are "costing several times as much as their counterparts on land" amid indications that production costs will be "several times those expected in recovering petroleum from similar deposits on dry land."

Parks concludes that successful tapping of underseas oil deposits depends on three main factors: The reduction of presently indicated costs; maintenance of a market price high enough to support extra-ordinary costs, and the ability of operators to secure properties of a sufficient size and on terms allowing efficient operations.

Scientists To Study Reports

Another scientific paper on increasing petroleum yields has been submitted by D. Comins, chief petroleum engineer of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co., Ltd., who outlines techniques in getting maximum output from conventional oil sources.

Aerial prospecting also is described as another means of locating oil in a report by J. R. Beasley, jr., of the United States Geological survey.

The reports will be studied by the several hundred scientists attending the UN conference in line with efforts to expand and develop natural fuel and power sources.

The conference is the technical adjunct to the United Nations "technical assistance" project for the development of backward areas of the world. The project is based on President Truman's inaugural "bold new program" for peace and plenty for the world.

Early Day Motorist Faced Many Legal Snares

Lubbock's Old Laws Reflect Problems Of Living In 1909

By CLIFF BLACKBURN
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Lubbock citizens who feel the city ordinances of today too strict can sigh with relief that many of the laws on the books in about 1909 have "died" of old age.

In bygone days, it was criminal to play football or baseball on Sundays. This was enforced with a stiff $25 fine. Theatre goers were also strictly out of luck on Sundays.

Youngsters Face Curfew

The modern motorist would have had many a headache back in 1909. He would have been arrested if caught zooming down the street at the excessive speed of nine miles an hour. All domestic animals, whether ridden or led, had the right of way. It behooved the law-abiding motorist to move when he saw a mule coming down the road. Gasoline was a rare and difficult item to obtain in Lubbock as it was illegal to sell or store any within the city fire limits.

The bobby-soxer of this present generation would have found his nocturnal activities sharply curtailed by an 8:30 p.m. curfew rung nightly by the city marshal. Any minor lad discovered on the streets after 9 p.m., unless accompanied by his parents or sister or returning from church, found himself in trouble with John Law.

Road Work Required

The now quaint legal rulings were found in a study of the 1909 ordinance books of the city of Lubbock when F. E. Wheelock was mayor.

The easy living males of Lubbock would have been readily whipped into shape and toughened up several generations ago.

All able-bodied men between the ages of 18 and 45 had to serve a stint as repairmen and cleaners on the streets, highways, and alleys. Ministers, invalids, and the militia were the only exemptions. Of course, if you provided a substitute or paid $2 a year, you could resume your lazy ways.

Cleanliness and sanitation, then as now, were the byword in Lubbock. Privy owners had a very stern code to follow to sidestep legal entanglements.

Callouses Were Vogue

Animal lovers would have had rough sledding in grandfather's day and age. All sorts of laws were passed to prevent hogs, domestic fowls, dogs, and mules from getting underfoot in Lubbock. As usual, the female of the species suffered under the yoke of discrimination. It cost more in taxes to own a bitch than it did a male dog.

Double parking may be a traffic worry of today, but the traffic cop of yesteryear had more difficulties with people who insisted on hitching their livestock to shade trees and water hydrants.

Charter members of the unemployment board would not have survived long in Mayor Wheelock's day. Callouses were definitely the vogue. Any person between the ages of 18 and 60 years not engaged in some "useful" occupation was deemed a loafer and a menace to the community. Fines of $100 and up for successive offenses depleted the pool room crowd considerably.

Anti-Weed Law Written

Weekend gardeners had to keep on their toes to avoid a court appearance. The presence of any weeds other than native curly mesquite on a person's property was supposed to bring the police on the run.

Many of the above laws have been superseded by more recent city ordinances. Others, of course, suffer the dictates of modern times and common sense. But these old "blue laws," as ridiculous as they may seem today, are a matter of official record and alert Lubbock citizens probably should keep wide awake to avoid the very long arm of the law reaching out from the dim and forgotten past to seize them.

Abernathy Child Lays Claim To 10 Living Grandparents

Dennis Lee Allen, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Lee Allen of Abernathy route 2, Saturday laid claim to the Lubbock county "grandparents championship."

Young Allen has seven living great-grandparents and three living grandparents, who, along with his parents, give him a total of 12 direct living ancestors.

The boy has seen all of them, although the 12 have never been assembled together.

The great-grandparents include Mr. and Mrs. Albert Allen of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lesley of County Line community, Lubbock county, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Dunlap of 2207 Ave. K, and Mrs. Ethel Johnson of Hobbs, N. M. The grandparents of the boy are Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Shipman of Chula Vista, Calif., and Tot Allen of Anton.

Barker Named Floydada City Secretary To Succeed Watson

FLOYDADA, June 18. (Special)—B. K. Barker has been named city secretary of Floydada and comptroller of the municipal light system, succeeding Jake B. Watson, who has accepted a position as secretary-treasurer of the Floydada National Farm Loan association.

Barker will assume his duties with the city within the forthcoming few weeks. He formerly was city secretary until his defeat in a municipal election this spring.

Watson will take the place of A. B. Clark, who recently resigned his position with the farm loan association because of ill health.

Columbia U. Official Named Denver University President

DENVER, June 18. (INS)—The appointment of Albert C. Jacobs, provost of Columbia university, to the chancellorship of the University of Denver, was announced today by Robert W. Selig, president of the university board of trustees.

Jacobs is a Rhodes scholar, internationally-known educator and teacher, and world-famed expert in civil law.

His appointment climaxed several months of discussion, and interviews of more than 200 candidates, who included the nation's top educators.

Who'll be First with the Last Word?

White sidewall tires, as illustrated, available at extra cost.

ACT QUICKLY—and in your neighborhood it might be you.

For there's no doubt that this exciting new Riviera model—styled and executed by Buick—is the very last word in new body types.

It has, as you see, the swift and racy lines of a Convertible, made even more distinctive by a bold new sweep of chromium along its fenders.

But the top is solid—a single sheet of stout steel, neatly finished off inside with chromium bows. And a broad rear window curves gracefully around, giving really abundant rearward vision.

Push-button controls drop all windows out of sight at a touch, leaving not even a doorpost to block your outlook. And the interior trim is the richest yet—a really stunning creation inside as well as out.

As pictured here the Riviera is now in production on the Buick ROADMASTER chassis—which means 150-hp Fireball power, the silken luxury of Dynaflow Drive, and the matchless levelness of the Buick "dream ride." That means "the last word" in brilliant performance as well as in luxurious dress and styling.

Production on this high-styled road star is limited, as you might expect.

To be "first with the last word," therefore, it is wise to see your Buick dealer soon about getting your order in.

FISCAL OUTLOOK GROWS DARK

Money Bill Conference Groups Reported Hopelessly Deadlocked

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, June 18 — Money bill conference committees were badly stalled today as the state's fiscal outlook grew gloomier with continued oil production cuts.

Committee rooms were empty as ghost towns over the legislature's long Thursday-to-Monday weekend. Senate-House conferees were reportedly helplessly deadlocked, especially on the major college and eleemosynary appropriations bills.

Oil Revenue Drops

The Railroad commission's seventh straight cutback in allowable oil production figures ate further into prospective revenues as the committees apparently got nowhere on the suggestion from the House and Senate that proposed appropriations be trimmed to $45,000,000.

Reports from the comptroller pin-point the picture on oil revenues—the state's biggest source of revenue. December revenue was $8,400,000. May revenue was just over $6,000,000 continuing cuts will bring continuing revenue drops.

While the fiscal situation was still not clarified, the 51st legislature had a big week.

Three Amendments Voted

It voted submission of three more constitutional amendments to bring the total to be voted on by the people Sept. 24 to 10. This was a record number of amendments to be voted on at one time.

The three new proposed constitutional changes are repeal of the poll tax as a voting requirement, a provision looking toward waiver of jury trials in most lunacy cases, a plan to allow cities and counties to join in establishment of health units.

The proposed lift in the old age pension ceiling failed to make the grade in time for the September election. It was back in conference committee after the House refused to accept changes in the original plan.

Bonus Plan Stalled

The Senate has offered June 28 as the date for final adjournment of the session. Deepening gloom on the revenue outlook and failure of conference committees to make immediate progress on pending appropriations which call for spending greatly in excess of expected revenue increased doubt that the June 28 date would stick.

Other major legislative developments during the past week:

Chances of enacting veterans bonus legislation dwindled to nothing when the House showed definitely it would not even debate the issue further.

A bill for providing minimum wages and hours for firemen and policemen went to Gov. Beauford H. Jester's desk.

Gov. Jester signed the high school fraternity ban bill and an election reform measure designed to speed up official returns.

Jester asked the legislature for an interim committee to study state and local taxation.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a proposal for a between-sessions study of colleges, similar to the Gilmer-Aikin survey of the public schools. It is strongly backed by the governor.

Jester asked the attorney general for an opinion on legality of the rent control bill. Jester has until midnight June 24 to act on it.

Construction Of New $30,000 O'Donnell Building Started

O'DONNELL, June 18 — Construction has begun on a new $30,000 building to house Mansell Bros., on the southeast corner of the square.

The new building, to be constructed of tile and stucco, will be 70 feet deep with a 122 foot front. A 20-foot inset parking area will be at the front of the building for off the street parking as well as regular curb parking.

Completion is scheduled in 60 days.

Dealers in groceries, furniture, hardware and implements, the firm is one of the oldest businesses in O'Donnell.

Horse Drawn Shay Takes Course From Golden Wedding Celebration

WOONSOCKET, R. I., June 18 (AP) — Like young lovers, Mr. and Mrs. Elphege Manseau took the long way home today.

The Manseaus drove to Precious Blood church to mark their 50th wedding anniversary.

When they came out they found their car gone. In its place friends had put a horse-drawn shay, just like the one they used to drive to their wedding.

This one was manned by a coachman, a butler and a footman, all in livery.

Manseau said: "Giddap but don't hurry."

Radio Singer Sues Opera Star Kirsten Over Alleged Insult

NEW YORK, June 18 (AP)—A legal duel over who insulted whom was in the making today with singer Catherine Mastice suing Metropolitan Opera star Dorothy Kirsten for $100,000.

The clash of artistic pride resulted from a Milton Berle television show last May 24 on which Miss Mastice appeared.

The show brought a sharp protest from blonde Miss Kirsten, who took brunette Miss Mastice's performance to be a burlesque of her own threatened to sue Berle, but has not done so.

Kirsten Quoted

Miss Mastice, in her slander suit filed yesterday, quoted Miss Kirsten as saying that "Berle hired a girl in a hideous blonde wig and passed her off as me."

"Then he played a screeching record and had the girl mouth the words. The result was awful. I just shrieked when I saw it. The girl was most unattractive. She didn't look a bit like me. Imagine putting on that horrible sounding mess and telling everybody I was doing it."

Miss Mastice claimed these remarks were false and defamatory, held her up to scorn, and injured her reputation as concert, stage and radio singer.

Berle Defends Singer

She said she has won "excellent criticism of her work."

After Miss Kirsten originally threatened a suit against Berle, he replied that the opera star owed an apology to Miss Mastice, a "very capable and charming young singer."

Thereupon Miss Kirsten said she didn't want "to hurt anyone's career" and that she "had no idea who was doing the singing."

"But that doesn't seem to be the point," she added. "Even NBC officials were under the impression it was my voice. That's why I'm so upset."

As for her threatened suit, her attorney, Robert Rockmore, said "We have the matter under advisement."

PROBLEM SOLVED

BUFFALO, N. Y. (U.P.) — The problem of plant expansion in England, where building materials are extremely scarce, was solved efficiently by Trico Products Corp. of Buffalo. The local concern shipped overseas a complete ready-made factory for its British subsidiary. The prefabricated building will cover more than two acres.

Running Condition Second Consideration

Appearance Is Main Thing In Used Automobile Sales

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Auto Editor

DETROIT, June 18.—What sells a used car?

The used car dealers say general appearance is the first consideration. Mechanical condition comes second, they say.

Their theory is that a would-be buyer's interest is attracted first by the car's appearance. Generally, the dealers add, a motorist who has taken good care of the finish and trim on his car has also kept the engine, brakes, lights, horn and steering linkage in proper condition.

That doesn't mean the used car dealer will buy your car wholly on its appearance. He'll want to look under the hood, try the brakes and lights and "drive it around the block."

Dealers More Particular

Right now the used car dealers are more particular in their inspection of cars offered them than they have been in many years. That's because prices have varied from day to day. An earlier prediction that used car re-sale prices would move substantially upward during the latter weeks of spring has not been borne out.

A good year-old car for which you might have been offered $2,000 around May 1 will not bring an $1,800 offer in many sections today. Yet to replace the car with a 1949 model of the same make and with identical equipment may cost around $2,900.

When you tell that to the dealer he usually replies:

"I can get all the new medium price models I want at ten percent and more discount."

Always Instances

Probably you can, too, if you shop around and find a dealer with more cars in stock than he has orders on his books. Of course, there are some such instances among the nation's 50,000 or more new car dealers. There always are.

Many industry experts say the current situation in used car appraisals is abnormal. Some even say the re-sale value of a 1948 model is not likely to be much lower a year from now.

Against this view, however, is the certainty that any substantial cut in new car prices will be reflected in a still further drop in used car re-sale values.

Second Victim Of Amarillo Tourist Cabin Blast Dies

AMARILLO, June 18. (AP)—The second victim of a tourist cabin explosion and fire died today.

He was Vance C. Bowling, 53, Springfield, Colo. Emmet Charles Davis died Wednesday of burns suffered when collected gas in the cabin exploded Tuesday night. Lawrence McCorcale, 31, third member of the party, was in fair condition today. All three Springfield men had planned to work in the Texas wheat harvest.

Price Battle Lowers Cost Of Bread To 6½ Cents In Quanah

QUANAH, June 18. (AP) — A price war knocked the price of one-pound loaves of bread down to 6½ cents Saturday.

One grocer recently opened a branch store in Oklahoma City and obtained a bakery to supply both stores. He undersold other stores here until three of the larger local groceries banded together to lease idle bakery equipment. Now all four stores sell bread at 6½ cents.

Howard Payne President To Speak At Littlefield C-C Meet

LITTLEFIELD, June 18. (Special)—Dr. Thomas Taylor, president of Howard Payne college, Brownwood, will be the principal speaker at the annual Chamber of Commerce barbecue here Tuesday, June 28. Dr. Taylor will speak immediately preceding the installation of the newly elected officers for the coming fiscal year.

Wolfe Shaw is chairman of the barbecue committee. He said that nearly 100 per cent attendance is expected for the occasion.

Hardy Shelby will be inducted into the office of president. Other new officers are, W. B. Little, vice-president and J. H. Lee, treasurer. Pat Mann is the permanent secretary.

Luxembourg movie fans, averse to "dubbed" titles, prefer Viennese films in the German language to all others.

BOY WINS BET

Halfpenny Earned By Swallowing Feat

CHESTERFIELD, Eng., June 18 (AP) — To win a halfpenny bet from a classmate, 14-year-old Brian Mitchell swallowed:

Twenty-four .22 caliber cartridge casings.

Ten buttons.

Two farthings.

A length of metal chain.

Then he collected the halfpenny he wagered and swallowed that, too.

Now he's in a hospital, on a heavy diet of bread and potatoes.

CHILD IS DROWNED

AMARILLO, June 18. (U.P.) — Two-year-old Michael Lewis Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Reed, was drowned yesterday after he fell into a two-foot-deep horse trough.

Two white blackbirds were found at Barnwood, England.

"You Washed Those Venetians In Only 3 Minutes?"

Mrs. Dudley Brown of Leawood, Kansas says: "My Sunchek Venetian blinds are seven years old, yet they look like new. The slats are easily cleaned; they resist dirt, and fading due to either washing or sunshine; and after all these years the mechanism, cords and tapes are apparently in perfect condition."

New Kind of Plasticized Venetians--Successors to Heavy, Noisy, Hard-To-Clean Old Style Blinds

A patented new slat material is the secret! It combines a fabric as strong, yet fine as linen with a new plastic. Gives amazing new strength, lightness, costly appearance, "cleanability."

Wash all the Sunchek Venetians in your house more easily than washing curtains! Slip them out of header in 10 seconds — wash in lukewarm suds in sink or tub — spray with bathtub hose! — They're colorfast, fade-resistant — even working parts are water-proof.

A "Beauty Bonus!" Suncheks give full privacy. Yet they transmit light — with same soft glow as a real-parchment lampshade.

Suncheks weigh only 1/3 as much as old-style blinds. Mechanism, cords, tapes often wear up to ten years.

NAVAL VESSEL MAY HAVE HELPED

Congress To Investigate Reports Of U.S. Aid To Reds In Shanghai

By H. K. REYNOLDS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 18—Parallel inquiries were planned today in the Senate and House into reports of British and American minesweeping operations in Shanghai harbor for the benefit of the Communist regime in China.

Sen. McKellar, chairman of the Senate Appropriations committee, announced he will inquire next week into the possibility that a U. S. naval vessel was used in the mine-sweeping operation.

McKellar said he wants to determine whether the operation, in which a British ship also participated, gave any help to Communist armies now holding Shanghai.

Investigation Urged

A similar investigation of the incident was urged by Republican members of the House Foreign Affairs committee. Committee members said they planned to question State Department officials Monday to determine what information the United States has on the situation.

At the State Department, officials said they had received no reports on the incident. The department denied receipt of a reported protest on the Anglo-American operation from the Chinese Nationalist government.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) disclosed that he plans to make a Senate speech on the entire situation in China "soon." Other Senators hinted that the Shanghai incident, together with other recent developments, may be used to launch another attack on the administration's policy toward China.

Blockade Destroyed

Congressional concern over the Shanghai incident stemmed from reports that the Nationalist government had sought to blockade the huge oriental port now under control of Chinese Reds, and that British, and possibly American vessels were used to destroy the blockade's effectiveness.

The inquiry by the Senate Appropriations committee is scheduled for Tuesday with the resumption of hearings on the Foreign Aid Appropriations bill, carrying funds for the European Recovery Program, and for the American relief among civilians in Germany and Japan.

Situation Not Clear

McKellar, referring to reports of the Yangtze mine-sweeping, said:

"It is not clear whether this would help or deter the Chinese Communists, or whether the attempt to keep shipping channels clear of mines has no political implications.

"In any case, it ought to be looked into, and we will have that opportunity next week as we continue our examination of foreign aid appropriations for the next fiscal year."

The Senate investigation is expected to be broad enough to establish whether or not the British vessel which reportedly engaged in mine-sweeping was operating under orders from the British Admiralty.

Britain Tops List

Great Britain tops the list of the European beneficiaries under the Marshall Plan, and Nationalist China is still receiving a small amount of aid through the Economic Cooperation Administration.

McKellar indicated that he would first question ECA administrator Paul Hoffman with regard to the Yangtze incident in the hope that ECA might have some information on the Shanghai situation. State Department officials also may be called to develop whatever further information is necessary. McKellar said:

"I am opposed to helping the Communists in any way, or giving aid to any government which is Communistic or which is tending that way."

The House Foreign Affairs committee will probe the mine-sweeping as a part of a general study of Far Eastern problems growing out of an administration request for a 150 million dollar recovery fund for southern Korea.

Opposition Arises

Much opposition to the Korean program, which was presented 10 days ago by Administrator Hoffman, has arisen in the House committee.

It springs from a fear that aid to Korea would be wasted in view of the new Communist advances in China and the failure of the administration to take positive steps for the support of the Chinese Nationalists.

Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) a ranking member of the House committee said that information from China is so spotty that it has been impossible to judge the significance of the Yangtze mine sweeping operation.

But he added that questions regarding it will be directed on Monday to Assistant Secretary of State George Kennan, who will appear before the committee.

Congressman Loses To Son In Art Show

WASHINGTON, June 18. (U.P.)—Rep. James S. Golden (R-Ky) had two oils in a local meat market art show, and nobody had any trouble at all telling which one was the owl and which was the 'possum.

The judges passed up both entries, however, in favor of more conventional works including a pleasing water color by Richard Davis Golden, Pineville, Ky., the Congressman's artist son.

It showed a white house by street light.

Mrs. Estes Kefauver, wife of the Democratic sen. from Tennessee, also won a prize with an oil portrait of her small daughter, Eleanor, in the company of two rag dolls.

Golden, a Kentucky lawyer serving his first term in the House, is what is known in the artists' trade as a "primitive" painter.

This means roughly that he didn't have anything else to do one night, so he picked up some brushes his son left lying around and went to work on a clean piece of canvas.

The 'possum was his first effort.

"And the owl," he said, "was my last."

Golden and Mrs. Kefauver were among a half-dozen members of Congress or their wives whose works were entered in the second annual show sponsored by the Institute of Contemporary Arts at Washington's big central meat and vegetable market.

Other well-known entrants included Mrs. Alice Acheson, wife of the Secretary of State, whose oils of "Key Bridge" and "Autumn Corn" were classified as "professional" entries.

Freight Train Injures Santa Fe Section Foreman Near Lampasas

LAMPASAS, June 18 (AP)—James K. Smallwood, 45, section foreman for the Santa Fe railroad, was critically injured when he was hit by a freight train seven miles west of here.

The Kempner, Texas, man was brought to an hospital here shortly after the accident. Another worker with him on a railroad motor car jumped to safety.

Vernon Air Base Inspected As Possible Site For Hospital

VERNON, June 18. (AP)—A group of Texas legislators today inspected Victory field, an inactive wartime air field, under consideration as the site of a state hospital.

Five members of the free conference committee on eleemosynary institutions were taken on a tour of the buildings by State Sen. George Moffett, State Rep. Leslie King and local businessmen.

Other lawmakers here were Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo, Rep. Henry Rampy of Winters and Rep. Sam Hanna of Dallas.

Hanna indicated after the tour that he would recommend acceptance of the field for the proposed hospital. It would be under direction of Wichita Falls. The other legislators said they agreed.

They were flown back to Austin after a luncheon.

Dr. Joseph A. Chatman Named Most Valuable Negro Citizen

A doctor who came to Lubbock ten years ago with $7 in his pocket has been selected by members of his own race as the most valuable negro citizen of Lubbock.

He is Dr. Joseph Alvin Chatman, recognized member of medical associations, constant worker and contributor to betterment of his community.

Today, on the anniversary of "Juneteenth," Emancipation day, white and colored alike pay tribute to the efforts he has made in behalf of his race.

Dr. Chatman's selection was made after The Avalanche-Journal requested post card votes on the subject from negro citizens through The Plainsman column.

By an overwhelming majority Dr. Chatman was chosen.

Born in Grimes county, 22 miles from a railroad, in 1901, Chatman moved to Mexia with his parents when he was only six weeks old. He finished high school at Mexia in 1918 and went to Prairie View college.

During the severe influenze epidemic in 1918 he was pronounced dead by the dean of the college, but since freshman students lived on the third floor of the dormitory, there was a six-hour delay before his body could be removed and meanwhile his roommate saw signs of life.

He finished school at Prairie View in 1920 and went to Fisk university at Nashville, Tenn., receiving an A. B. degree in 1922. He then went to Meharry Medical college in Nashville, receiving his M. D. degree in 1926.

He took third honors although he did not own a textbook.

"I used to wait until the other boys went out courtin' and borrowed their books to study while they were gone," he recalled.

He practiced medicine in Mexia 13 years and then, in 1939, moved to Lubbock, arriving with $7 in his pocket.

Since that time he has built a two-story hospital which fills a crying need in Lubbock. He has also built a two-story brick home.

"I am not by any means the wealthiest negro in Lubbock," he points out.

That he is the most respected is confirmed by the offices he holds.

He is president of the Commonwealth club, the negroes' civic improvement organization, chairman of the Recreational Center for Negroes, chairman of the bond-selling campaign for 13 counties around Lubbock, on the board of trustees of two churches and contributor to all negro churches, teacher of the Adult Bible class which meets in the Ritz theater.

He has spoken 75 to 80 times in recent years before Lubbock church congregations, luncheon clubs, students at Texas Technological college and other groups. One white church has requested his speech six different times.

Speaks To Other Groups

He has appeared before the Lions club at Levelland, the Kiwanis club at Brownfield, a joint meeting of three churches at Canyon, an assembly of students at McMurry college at Abilene, where the presidents of two colleges were present.

In his profession he is a member in good standing of the American Medical association, the Texas Medical association and the Lubbock-Crosby county Medical society.

The Chatman hospital is also recognized professionally and is a member of the Blue Cross hospitalization plan.

Dr. Chatman and his wife have two sons. The elder, Harold, 21, lives in Lubbock and the younger, Dalton, 19, is a junior student at Fisk university.

In closing, he urged that individuals "continue to do our best to make our home town a better place to live."

Few Polio Cases At San Angelo Are Resulting In Paralysis

SAN ANGELO, June 18. (AP)—Though San Angelo has had a lot of polio, relatively few of the cases have resulted in paralysis.

That was emphasized by authorities today as this West Texas city maintained its clean-up drive at full pace.

Fewer than five per cent of the polio cases here have resulted in paralysis, Dr. R. E. Elvins, director of the San Angelo-Tom Green county health unit, said.

Many of those affected will recover completely, Dr. Elvins added.

Meanwhile city crews worked around the clock, spraying the city and its environs with DDT for the third time. The spraying operations will continue until all danger is past, City Manager Sam O. Lawhon stated.

Vigilant citizens were clearing household premises and vacant lots of weeds and other debris.

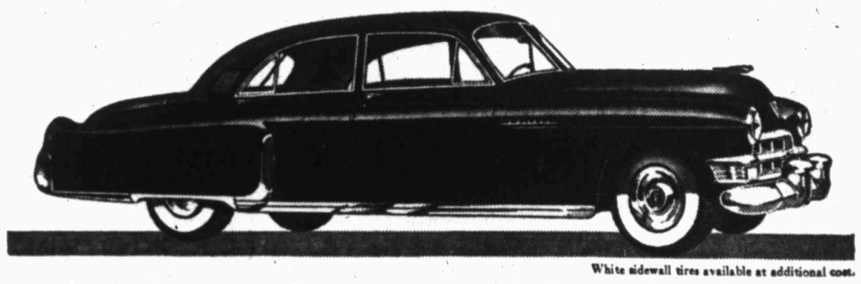

Texas Tech Graduate To Become Floyd Assistant County Agent

LOCKNEY, June 18. (Special)—James Murphee, who has been assistant county agricultural agent of Floyd county, has moved to Seminole, where he will assume the duties of assistant agent of of Gaines county.

He is to be succeeded in Floyd county by Ed McLeroy of Brownfield, who is to begin his work in this county Monday. McLeroy is a graduate of Texas Tech.

Its Life-Span Has Never Been Measured!

White sidewall tires available at additional cost.

Now and then, a person who is about to take delivery of a new Cadillac inquires as to the period of time he may logically anticipate using it.

Our answer is that we do not know—for the life-span of a Cadillac car has never been accurately measured.

There is evidence in abundance that, with proper care and reasonable usage, the life of a Cadillac is far beyond all normal requirements.

Recently, for instance, four Cadillacs of the 1942 series were retired from the testing fleet of one of the great tire manufacturers. The four of them had traveled a total of 2,599,413 miles—an average distance of almost 650,000 miles per car.

None of them was retired for disability. Each went into general service after leaving the testing fleet.

But, of course, the endurance of a Cadillac is only half the story. The manner in which the car performs is equally vital to the owner's satisfaction.

Not only can you keep a Cadillac for a long, long time—but your enjoyment of it will likewise endure.

A MEMORY BOOK OF PROGRESS OF LUBBOCK AND THE SOUTH PLAINS

1873 — 1949

It has been said of communities of the South Plains, without exception, that schools have been provided as soon as there were children to attend them. Indeed, in some instances, school rooms were waiting when boys and girls arrived in newly founded towns.

With a citizenship of this quality, it is not surprising that the standards of the public schools of our region are recognized as being among the highest—if not the highest—for any comparable area in Texas.

Lubbock's achievements are illustrative of the entire area. Within less than 50 years, the county's scholastic population has increased from less than 500 to more than 18,000; from three one-room frame buildings to 10 populous districts with up-to-date school plants. These include the Lubbock, Slaton and New Deal Independent districts; the Cooper, Frenship, Idalou, Roosevelt and Shallowater Rural High school districts, and the Posey and Estacado Common School districts.

This is typical, not exceptional, of the South Plains. Whatever has been necessary to provide superior scholastic opportunities in the individual counties and communities, the residents unfailingly have supplied. As one result, adult illiteracy is virtually non-existent among the residents of our region.

Senate Move Toward Economy Okayed By Voters, Survey Shows

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., June 18.—The economy bloc in the Senate which recently fostered a resolution to cut government spending by 5 to 10 per cent has considerable support from the voting public.

A survey which put before voters three alternatives for making up the anticipated Federal deficit — increasing taxes, borrowing money or cutting expenditures—found a large vote in favor of reduced spending, even if this means cutting funds for the Army and Navy.

With government deficit of at least $1 billion considered likely for the current year, such Senators as Harry F. Byrd of Virginia and Millard E. Tydings of Maryland are preaching economy. Senator Byrd recently pointed out that the Federal public debt is approximately a quarter of a trillion dollars.

Since the financial situation of the government is something which affects the pocketbooks of all citizens, the American Institute of Public Opinion sounded attitudes among a representative cross-section of voters on the following question:

"As you may know, the government in Washington is now spending more money than it is taking in. The outlook for next year is that still, more money will likely be spent than is taken in. In view of this, which ONE of these three things do you think the government should do:

"A. Increase taxes.

"B. Cut down on expenses—including money for the Army and Navy and other government services.

"C. Borrow whatever is necessary—that is, increase the national debt."

The vote:

Borrow	8%
Increase taxes	10
Cut costs	71
No opinion	10

Students of public opinion will naturally raise the question: isn't it human nature for people always to oppose higher taxes, as they do in this survey?

The answer is that the public does not always vote against higher tax levies. Public opinion surveys in earlier years have shown that when American voters are convinced of the need for more taxation they vote in favor of increased levies on their own incomes.

This was found in the early days of the war, when Institute polls recorded substantial sentiment for broadening the income tax base to include millions of families who had hitherto been tax exempt, in order to help pay for the war.

Today's survey shows that the better educated a voter, the more likely he is to favor economy in government.

The vote by degree of education follows:

	College	High Sch'l.	Grade Sch'l.
Borrow	8%	8%	10%
Increase taxes	10	12	9
Cut spending	77	73	65
No opinion	5	7	16

Both Republican and Democrat voters questioned were in favor of cutting government spending, although the vote for this is much higher among Republicans.

	Republicans	Democrats
Borrow	7%	10%
Increase taxes	6	13
Cut spending	79	64
No opinion	8	13

Lamb County 'Farm Dinner' Plan Popular

LITTLEFIELD, June 18. (Special) — Littlefield business men have inaugurated a plan that has become popular with city and rural residents. It is a monthly "farm dinner" in which 50 local business men go in a convoy to some rural community to have dinner with a like number of Lamb county farmers.

Two such excursions have met with great success. The first was to Bainer and the second to Spade. In each instance a dinner is prepared by the community home demonstration unit. Everything is strictly social. There is no effort made to talk business or shop. It is a matter of getting acquainted or renewing old acquaintances.

The next farm dinner will be held at the Beck gin community with the Bluebonnet Home Demonstration club preparing the dinner. The meeting will take place on June 23. The master of ceremonies for each occasion is Bob Kirk, Lamb county attorney.

Present plans call for a rural-urban dinner in the third week of each month. Both farmers and city business men alike have praised the purpose and spirit of the gatherings.

Greater Production Needs Bring Labor, Management Trouble

By SAM DAWSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 17.—Many companies face the delicate task right now, of getting more output per man hour without risking worker rebellion. Some companies report success, mostly by detouring around the main trouble spot.

Trouble often arises when management, trying to strengthen the company's position in the present highly competitive market, seeks to change work standards, by an order from the front office, with a view to reducing fixed labor costs per unit. Labor insists it should control, or have a hand in, the setting of such standards.

There you run into conflict—as in the recent Ford Motor case—with management saying it must have more productivity and labor crying speed-up. John L. Lewis has his own twist: The mine workers are "stabilizing" coal production by going fishing this week.

Two opposite tendencies in productivity have been reported of late by foremen: 1. Some workers, noting the drop in the company's orders, have been accused by management of slowing down to assure employment awhile longer; 2. Other workers, hearing of lay-offs in nearby plants, have increased their own output a little to demonstrate their personal worth.

Here is an example of a detour around this problem.

Wage hikes and growing competition put Brown & Bigelow of St. Paul, Minn., behind a million-dollar 8-ball, the way president Charles A. Ward figured it. The annual payroll of the company, which makes "personalized remembrance advertising" products like calendars, desk pads and billfolds, had been hiked a million dollars a year.

So, he sent each of his 3,700 plant employes and 1,078 salesmen a mechanical pencil with an 8-ball set in where the eraser usually is. And with it went a letter saying just five per cent more effort on every one's part would get the company out from the 8-ball.

As of today he reports that productivity has advanced not just 5 per cent, but more than 6 per cent.

Of course he had a little gimmick in his favor. More than half of the company's stockholders are employes—how could they lose!?

Dog's Enthusiasm For Friends Leads To Nearly Fatal Leap

ALONDON, June 18 (AP) — Breck was a cocker spaniel and just loved to meet people.

When workmen put up a scaffold to repair the wall of his owner's third-floor flat, he began leaping out on the scaffold to greet them every day.

Yesterday the workers finished their job and moved the scaffold.

Breck discovered this when he hit the sidewalk, three floors below.

He is convalescing in a pet hospital.

The revival tentatively is scheduled to close Sunday night, with baptism of additions to the church. To date, 28 additions have been made during the current revival.

Dallas Police Claim Soldiers Have Admitted 11 Robberies

DALLAS, June 18. (AP)—Dallas police said two soldiers from Carswell Air base have raised their total of admitted Texas robberies to 11.

They told yesterday of holding up stores in Fort Worth, Waco, and San Antonio. Five of the other robberies were in Dallas. Others were in Austin and Texarkana.

The soldiers, Cpl. Coley V. Cox, 22, and Dillard E. Henderson, 23, said they got about $3,000 in the 11 robberies. They said they robbed two liquor stores in Fort Worth May 5; that while on a weekend pass they stuck up a drive-in grocery at Waco and a liquor store at San Antonio.

SIXTEENTH SCHOOL UNDERWAY

Area Students Attending Tech's Annual Summer Band School

By JERRY HALL
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

One hundred and seventy eight students of pre-college age are attending the annual summer band school at Texas Technological college which is being held this year for the 16th consecutive time since 1934.

Prof. D. O. Wiley, Tech's band director, who is in charge of the school, said besides the high school and grade school students there were also around 50 regular college and graduate students enrolled in the clinic.

Students get a chance to study under leading directors and musicians from all over the state. In addition to the practice sessions which are held each day, the students are divided into three separate groups and a concert is presented each week. The first one was held Tuesday night at the college and Prof. Wiley said it was well received with several hundred persons attending. The next concert is scheduled for Tuesday evening.

Course Is Complete

Classes in the clinic begin each morning at 8 p. m. and continue until noon. Students learn instrumentation on all types of band instruments during the morning sessions and during the afternoon the bands rehearse as a unit. Besides learning to play the various band instruments, students also learn about band maneuvers while on the march. Classes in baton twirling are taught and every afternoon the lawn in front of the band building is crowded with young twirling enthusiasts.

Several of the students stay in the Tech dormitories and take their meals in the college dining rooms since they do not live close enough to go back and forth each day. A recreation program has been worked out for the younger students while they are not in the class rooms.

Many Travel To School

Students from Littlefield and Levelland come back and forth each day by school bus from their respective homes. The work of the concert band which is made up mostly of graduate and college students with some of the better pre-college age students is often recorded and much emphasis is given to the heavier music in this organization.

The pre-college students are divided into a "red" and "blue" band for concerts and the music which they study includes many of the pieces they will be required to play in the state interscholastic league band meets in the future.

Included in Tuesday's night program for the "red" and "blue" bands are several of the works from the pen of Sousa, Romberg and Hayes. Prof. Wiley said there was much individual attention given to the younger students during the clinic also.

Gambling Leads To Suicide Of Former Hollywood Contractor

CULVER CITY, Calif., June 18 (INS)—James F. Dickason, one-time multi-millionaire contractor who built hundreds of mansions for film stars, ended his life today because he could not cure himself of gambling.

The 56-year-old contractor in a farewell note to his sister related that he had lost everything and that he was the victim of a "malignant disease." The letter read in part:

"I went to Las Vegas and began winning $3,097. I thought I could win six times that much the next day but I lost my shirt on $400 and $500 bets. Then I cashed two $800 checks, then one for $400 and another $800 . . .

"I lost $400,000 gambling . . . Gambling is a malignant disease . . . Don't gamble, you can see what it leads to."

Police found Dickason's body in his office-apartment after his sister, Mrs. Theodore McClellan Beverly Hills, received the letter.

Dickason had been a contractor since 1923.

Besides his sister, survivors include his divorced wife, Mrs. Jean Dickason, and daughters, Barbara and Mrs. Phil Peters, and a son, James F. Dickason jr.

When a known smuggler tried recently to get a large number of chickens out of Italy, police discovered that in the gullet of each bird a valuable stock certificate had been concealed.

Fight Over Important Labor Post To Highlight Texas Convention

BEAUMONT, June 18 (AP)—A fight over the important post of Executive Secretary is expected to make the 1949 convention of the Texas Federation of Labor one of the hottest in years.

The four-day meeting starts here Monday. Nearly 600 labor union delegates and AFL officials are expected.

Harry W. Acreman has been Executive Secretary for 12 years. His principal opponent, Paul C. Sparks of Houston, has been touring the state for six weeks, lining up convention delegates.

Sparks claims the support of the carpenters union and the entire Houston area delegation. His forces are headed by C. N. Griffin, State Secretary of the Texas Council of Carpenters.

Acreman has had opposition before, though not so vigorous as the present campaign. He said the current drive against him is the most active ever waged "But I don't think it will get anywhere."

Two associate justices of the Texas Supreme Court, Meade Griffin and John Sharp, will be principal speakers Monday. Other speakers will include Texas Attorney General Price Daniel: Ralph Wright, Assistant Secretary of Labor, and Ewing Clague, director of the Federal Bureau of Statistics. Daniel will speak Wednesday and Clague Tuesday. No time has been set for Wright's address.

Delegates will begin registering Sunday noon at the city hall, where all sessions will be held.

This charming floral pattern was borrowed from an old fabric and adapted to wallpaper by a famous artist. A room prepared with Orchard Park gives the effect of a gay garden brought indoors. It's a paper of both delicacy and character.

B. BERMUDA
The colorful design of this exotic paper expresses all the beguiling beauty of a tropical paradise. Walls done with this paper give the entire room a cheerful sense of well-being. It is equally suited to a simple or elaborate setting.

C. PARROTT-TULIP
Here's a paper that affords an interesting background for modern decorative schemes. The lively arrangement of breeze-tossed tulips, foliage and gauzy ribbons creates an air of gaiety and spaciousness.

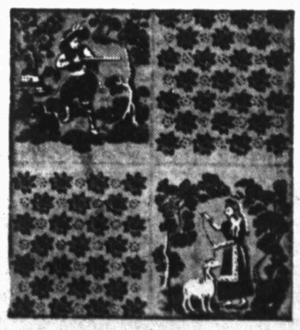

D.

D. FRANKLIN
This is an old pattern of distinctive grace and elegance. The original paper was found on a wooden-framed bandbox in Franklin, New Hampshire. The rich medallion and delicate lacy detail make this a perfect wallpaper for period furnishings.

E.

E. MOHAWK
A delightful paper for use in 18th Century room treatments. The river scene, with its old-world flavor and graceful charm, gives the wall greater interest . . . yet the design is so well proportioned that the effect is one of spacious vistas.

F. CASCO BAY
Of French Provincial origin, the Casco Bay pattern was originally a part of an early 19th Century antique collection. But it has many uses in the decorative schemes of today's modern homes. It makes an authentic and ideal background for French Provincial furnishings (or Colonial) or any informal treatment.

Governors Hold Colorado Meet

By J. HARLEY MURRAY
INS Staff Correspondent

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., June 18.—Governors of 44 states and three United States territories gathered in Colorado Springs for the 41st annual governors conference.

High on the list of business was a proposal that the federal government slash grants-in-aid to states by at least 20 per cent, and withdraw from or reduce rates in certain tax fields.

Discussion of the controversial suggestion will be held during a round table on inter-government relations, presided over by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York on Tuesday.

Federal Tax Grab Opposed

The assembled chief executives are expected to again urge, as they have on previous occasions, that the federal government reduce excise taxes and amend inheritance and state taxes, so that the states may take a greater share.

Gov. James H. Duff, (R-Pa) sounded the keynote of this demand today when he declared, in a pre-conference statement:

"The tendency of the federal government is to place state and local governments under obligation for handouts, and to then demand a strong hand in administration of the handouts. I oppose this strongly."

The annual governors conference as always includes no formal speeches, except at the state dinner Monday night. On that occasion, Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, a commander of the First Army and former ambassador to Russia, will make an address.

Four Governors Absent

All other meetings are in the form of round tables—on the subjects of social security and welfare, education, highways and inter-governmental relations.

The roll call of chief executives for the states will find four absent, because of pressing business in their own commonwealths. Governors Chester Bowles, (D-Conn); Sherman Adams, (R-NH); James E. Folsom, (D-Ala), and Fielding L. Wright, (D-Miss), have notified conference Secretary Frank Bane that they cannot attend.

Territorial governor Luis Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico was also unable to come to Colorado Springs.

This city at the foot of Pikes peak and the state of Colorado is "going all out" in providing hospitality for the executives. The weatherman alone was non-cooperative as heavy clouds and scattered drizzle obscured the breathtaking view of the Rocky mountains which rise like a backdrop from the luxurious Broadmoor hotel grounds, headquarters of the conference.

Each governor has been assigned a columbine blue (for the state flower) new car, with a Colorado state highway patrolman as his individual driver. Social activities begin tomorrow with Gov. Lee Knous, (D-Colo) presiding over a reception and dinner.

Other activities for periods when the governors are not talking taxes, economics, highways and welfare, include a western barbecue, a concert and trips for those not too busy with committee meetings.

All governors except Thomas Dewey and Fuller Warren (D-Fla) were scheduled to arrive by tomorrow afternoon. Dewey's party is due early Monday morning and Warren has been delayed until Tuesday.

MARKET Reports

Wall Street

MARKET STILL UNSETTLED

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—The stock market started out this week with a roar and ended in a semi-coma.

It was a brilliant performance.

On Wednesday, in an almost totally unexpected reversal, the market climbed for one of the largest advances of the past year.

And on Friday half-dosing traders watched business collapse to one of the smallest totals in recent years.

The net result was a decline in the value of all stocks of around $500,000,000.

Few experts were able to produce a coherent explanation of what the market was doing or why.

Monday's drop made financial history of a sort. Prices on average broke through the lows of 1946-1947-1948. Wall Street considered the breakthrough important because sufficient demand for stocks had appeared at those levels in the past to put the market back on a forward track.

Prior to Monday's nosedive, it had been widely anticipated that a breakthrough would signal a prolonged decline.

Some representative stocks and their losses on the week included:

American Can down $1.62 at $88.12. American Telephone 62 cents at $138.62. Santa Fe $2.62 at $81. Bethlehem Steel $7 cents at $23.75, Rock Island R. R. $1.87 at $25.62, Coca Cola 50 cents at $125. Goodyear Tire $1.50 at $36.25, Pure Oil 37 cents at $25.50 and Southern Pacific 62 cents at $34.25.

Gains appeared for U. S. Steel, Standard Oil, Sinclair Oil, Sears Roebuck, General Electric, Eastman Kodak, Commercial Credit and American Woolen.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, June 18. (AP)—Grains moved upward in fairly brisk dealings toward the close on the board of trade today. Early easiness in wheat and a ragged appearance in corn and oats was followed by a show of strength in all pits.

Wheat led the advance, gaining more than a cent at times over the previous close. Buying followed a financial service dispatch quoting an Agricultural department source as denying recent trade rumors that the 90-day temporary storage plan would be limited to certain states.

Previously, the trade had heard that the emergency support loan program would be confined to Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and New Mexico. The newest declaration on this subject was that the program would be extended to any area where it is needed.

Also influencing the wheat price rise was a gain of 2 cents a bushel in the trading basis for cash wheat at Kansas City and a report the Commodity Credit corporation there might take a little cash wheat for immediate delivery at Gulf of Mexico ports. The CCC has not bought any wheat for weeks.

Wheat closed ¼-1¼ higher, July $1.84⅛-¾, corn was ⅛ lower to ⅝ higher, July $1.31⅛-¼, oats were ⅛-⅞ higher, July 89⅛.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, June 18. (AP)—Wheat No. 1 hard 1.98¾-2.06¾.
Oats No. 2 white 83¾-84¾.
Corn No. 2 white 1.13¼-1.13¾.
Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs 2.35-2.35.

Mrs. A. C. Tapp Attending Oklahoma Church Meeting

Mrs. A. C. Tapp, of 1602 Twenty-third is representing the Cumberland Presbyterian church of Lubbock at the missionary convention which currently is being held in Muskogee, Okla., in conjunction with the annual session of the 119 General Assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian church.

The session, which opened Thursday, was attended by an assemblage consisting of 104 Presbyterian commissioners from 16 states, 190 women delegates to the missionary convention, and a large number of visitors.

The opening sermon was delivered by the retiring moderator, Rev. Paul F. Brown, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church of Marshall.

Elected to preside during the five-day session of the General Assembly and to serve for the ensuing year was Rev. Blake F. Warren, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church of Milan, Tenn.

ODESSA MAN GETS POST

BATON ROUGE, La., June 18. (AP)—Preston V. Kors, 36, of Odessa, Texas, is the new general manager of the Baton Rouge chamber of commerce. His appointment was announced today by President J. W. C. Wright. He said Kors presently is manager of the Odessa Chamber of Commerce and was formerly associated with the Tulsa, Okla., Chamber of Commerce. Kors succeeds Caye Nelson, who recently resigned.

TO HEAD CAMPAIGN

WACO, June 18 (AP)—Dr. W. R. White, Baylor university president, today announced the appointment of Walter G. Lacy, jr., Waco bank president and chamber of commerce head, as state general chairman of Baylor's stadium campaign. The drive's purpose is to finance Baylor's new 40,000-seat football bowl, estimated to cost $1,500,000.

Four Skellytown Residents To Be Buried In Pampa Monday

PAMPA, June 18. (AP)—Single funeral services will be held here Monday for four Skellytown residents killed Wednesday afternoon in an Oklahoma automobile accident.

They were Lonnie F. Feigenspan, an engineer for Shell Oil co., his wife, 55; their daughter, Mrs. Elsie Ttterberry, 30; and her husband, Alton F. Atterberry, 33.

(Mrs. Atterberry, the former Elsie Feiganspan, was a 1939 arts and science graduate of Texas Technological college. She was active in student affairs while an undergraduate student at Tech.)

They died in an auto crash near Shattuck, Okla.

Feigenspan was a Skellytown resident for the last 20 years.

Trench Town, a housing project in Kingstown, Jamaica, will accommodate 20,000 people.

Six Mother-Daughter Combinations Enroll For Classes At H-SU

ABILENE, June 18. (AP)—Mother is a school chum and classmate for six students at Hardin-Simmons university.

Six mother and daughter combinations are enrolled for the first summer term at Hardin-Simmons.

The mother and daughter teams are as follows: Mrs. Oliver Noles of Alvis and Bobbie Noles of Kermit; Mrs. Lena Dunagin and Pat Dunagin of Merkel; Mrs. Dora Murray and Mrs. Patsy Murray George of Stephenville; Mrs. Vera Hahn of Aspermont and Mrs. Dorothy Hahn Nodge of Abilene; Mrs. Verna Mae Crutchfield and Mary Frances Crutchfield of Breckenridge; and Mrs. J. M. Boston and Mary Lois Boston of Roscoe.

Many In Same Classes

With the exception of Mrs. Boston, all the mothers are going to school to learn and earn credit which can be used in teaching. Three of the mothers are graduate students, and three are undergraduates.

The mothers and daughters are seen together quite often. The Dunagins are in a government class together. The Hahn-Nodge combination can be found in education classes together. Mrs. Murray and her daughter, Mrs. George, are enrolled in the same English and foreign relations classes. The Crutchfields are both members of the Players club.

This school chum association is an old experience to Mrs Murray and Mrs. George. They are graduate students and teachers at Stephenville. They received their A. B. and B.S. degrees together at Daniel Baker and are now working on their master's degrees.

Enjoys Mother's Cooking

Miss Noles, a sophomore, says she could not do without her mother's company at school because "I enjoy my mother's cooking instead of the cafeteria food and because she makes a wonderful roommate.

Mrs. Crutchfield is proof that mothers do have a place in the activity on the campus. She is a member of the Players club with her daughter.

Probably typical of the feeling of the daughters is that of Miss Dunagin who says that "watching mother in the classroom has made me proud of her. Her energy plus her abilities have made her an outstanding person in her home and community, as well as in the classroom." Mrs. Dunagin and her daughter have studied and drilled together. In fact, the one making the lowest grade has frequently had to "treat the winner."

Four Choose Same Vocations

"I realize that mother has had to face many trials while finishing her education," Pat says. "Her household duties and studying made her leisure time limited. Yet, I think these hardships have made her success greater.

"Mother will graduate this summer. Although I am happy that she is going to be through, I cannot help but be a little sad because my best school chum is leaving me behind."

Apparently mothers influence their daughters in selecting a vocation. Four of the younger generation have decided to become teachers. They are Miss Noles, Miss Dunagin, Mrs. Nodge and Mrs. George. Mrs. George is already teaching.

Three lions were reported prowling near the site of the new meat packing plant going up at Dar-es-Salaam, Tanganyika.

Police Seek Clues After Widow Jilted At Altar Disappears

The dapper little man, between 50 and 60 years old, courted the widow for a month and set June 6 as their wedding day. But he disappeared on June 5 after he had persuaded Mrs. Corrigan, mother of three teen age children, to withdraw $5,000 from a bank and give it to him. Police said he told Mrs. Corrigan he would send the $5,000 and his check of $50,000 to a Coral Gables, Fla., bank to establish an estate for her and her daughters.

Mrs. Corrigan met the man by chance one night and for a month he wined and dined her and her two daughters. He said he was a motion picture producer in Hollywood and introduced himself as Sam Engel. The real Sam Engel has been in England for a month or longer and bears no resemblance to the man described by Mrs. Corrigan's daughters to police.

Police Capt. Daniel A. Gilbert said one of the daughters, Reseda, 19, told him she feared her mother has met with foul play. She said her mother left home last Sunday night after receiving a telephone call. Reseda said her mother told her she was going to get her money back. She did not say where she was going, however, the daughter told Gilbert.

Eight Men Injured In Illinois Union Rivalry

FAIRMONT CITY, Ill., June 18 (AP)—Two men were shot and six beaten severely when a long-smoldering rivalry between two CIO unions broke into violence last night.

For about three hours some 300 striking workers of the American Zinc company plant surged about the city hall. Wives of many of the union men were in the milling shouting crowd.

Authorities restored an uneasy quiet around midnight and state police and sheriff's deputies began to patrol streets of the community across the Mississippi river from St. Louis.

Most of the persons who took part in the melee are members of rival CIO unions—the mine, mill and smelters workers and the progressive Metal Workers' Council. The smelter workers union has been on strike against the company for ten months. The rival union, favoring settlement of the strike, failed by a narrow margin last Tuesday to win bargaining rights at the plant.

Shot through the chest, Joseph Petroski, 35, and Epmenio Rodriguez, 58, were in a serious condition in an East St. Louis hospital. Petroski is a former financial secretary of Local 82 of the smelter workers' union. Rodriguez is a member of the local's strike committee.

Among those beaten during the riot were Joseph and Angelo Verdu, brothers who head the metal workers' council, and Palmer Ryan, 33. Ryan was arrested at the scene and later charged with assault with intent to murder.

Subsidy Plan On Hogs Is Opposed

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan's proposal for a production subsidy on hogs was opposed today on the ground that it would make pork chops fat but not cheap.

Mark W. Pickell, executive secretary of the Corn Belt Livestock Feeders association of Chicago, testified to a Senate Agriculture sub-committee:

"If Brannan's program of support on the basis of his new parity formula, or from around $18.50, were put into effect, it would produce pork chops that were mostly fat so that by the time they were trimmed down to where they were edible and desirable, the cheapness would disappear."

Consumers Claimed "Deluded

Pickell contended that consumers are being "deluded" by assertions that adoption of the Brannan plan would lower the cost of meat, especially pork. He said the proposed hog subsidy would add a minimum of $750,000,000 to the tax bill.

Further, he declared, a hog support without similar subsidies for cattle, lambs, and poultry would be "completely and immediately disastrous to the cattle, sheep and poultry industries."

Brannan Testifies

Brannan himself appeared in support of his plan. He told the senators it is aimed only at meeting a possible pork price crisis and is not designed as "an opening wedge" to change the philosophy of price support operations.

The aim of his plan, he said "is simply to assure farmers that if and when there should be a break in the market, they will be protected."

Under his program, hog raisers would get a government check for the difference between a predetermined "fair price level" and the estimated national average price that hogs brought in the open market. He emphasized that an individual farmer would not get the exact difference between the support level and the price he himself received for his hogs. This, Brannan said, might work some injustices, and if so would have to be changed.

Ford Dispute

istic." He said "it is unacceptable to the union."

Proposal Scored

The fiery labor leader accused the company of "proposing the same kind of economic patent medicine administered by the men who steered our economy into the catastrophic depression of 1929." He added:

"The Ford workers, along with the rest of the American people, are not prepared to travel that road again."

Reuther's statement was in answer to a letter from Bugas who rejected the union's dontract demands.

Under negotiation at the present time is the union demand for a wage increase of between eight and 10 cents an hour to offset the increase in living costs since 1946; pensions of $100 a month for employes over 65, and a health-welfare program.

Bugas wrote Reuther that "the economy is in a downward trend" and quoted the labor leader's own recent comments regarding the need "to combat the rising tide of unemployment" and a warning that a "bad slump" may be on the way.

The Ford spokesman cited six factors which he said requires the setting of a "stabilization pattern for the entire economy at this critical time."

Labor Cost Hike Opposed

These included growing unemployment; industrial production off 10 per cent since last November; the drop in the cost of living; a forecast reduction of 32 per cent in automobile and truck production during 1950 and 1951, and the recent Ford strike which cost 116,587 units and represented "sales lost to competition."

Bugas added in his letter:

"There are times when, in the interests of employes and the economy, wage increases can and should be made. But in today's circumstances, it would be utter folly to take any action which would increase the price of our products.

"We will, therefore, reject any change in our contract which would mean higher labor costs—whether in the form of wage increases or pensions, and other welfare funds. We must oppose any program which means higher wages but fewer jobs."

The Ford spokesman asked for "careful study and prompt adoption" of the pattern. He declared that "critical decisions in other industries and companies are being held up awaiting the result of our negotiations."

Brother Of Lubbock Man Is Killed In Pennsylvania Crash

Steve Novak, of 602 Ave. R, learned that his brother, Pfc Leonard Novak, of Pittston, Pa., was killed Saturday when an Army Air Force training plane crashed into Cumberland mountain, Pa., in a dense fog.

Novak said he learned of his brother's death from a radio newscast, and that he telephoned his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Novak, of Pittston, Pa., who verified the report.

Names of the crash victims were not given in an Associated Press story about the accident.

Steve Novak and another brother, Tommy Novak, of 1611 Seventh; and a sister, Mrs Dewey Smith, of Abernathy, left Saturday afternoon for Amarillo, where they were to board a plane for Pennsylvania.

Other details were unknown here at the time of their departure. It was understood that the death victim had been in the Army only a few months.

Girl Ends Flight From Germany To Mother In Texas

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, June 18.—Kirsten Huettig has completed a 5,500-mile flight alone from Frankfurt, Germany, to her mother in Texas.

Eighteen months ago her mother, Mrs. Eva Huettig, an American citizen, came to this country. She wasn't permitted to bring Kirsten, then a year old.

The child remained with her father, a German citizen employed by the British military government in Buende. He hopes to join his family in Texas in six months.

Works For Newspaper

Mrs. Huettig is a bookkeeper for the Hidalgo County news at Edinburg.

She lives in Mission, and has adopted the American custom of commuting to her work at Edinburg.

She and the little girl will go home tomorrow.

Kirsten was happy today. She chatted gaily with her mother in German. But yesterday she didn't know her at first.

"Mommy, mommy, mommy," she cried, again, and again, not realizing she was in her mother's arms.

Toys Fail To Stop Tears

A bright red scooter, a new doll, and a cowboy hat failed to stop her tears.

She was still crying as she drove away with her mother.

Mrs. Huettig, native of Washington state, had lived in Germany with her parents from the time she was one year old until she was 32.

Kirsten's father, an advertising man, hopes to find similar work in the United States. Mrs. Huettig says he has a good understanding of English. Kirsten's English words are confined to "mommy, hello and goodbye."

Maisen Files Answer

carrying capacity of (the) drainage area."

Attorney James O. Cade filed Maisen's original answer and a third-party plaintiff's original petition which joined the city as a party The answer asked that pleadings relating to a class suit be stricken by the court. "It is not shown by such pleadings that the persons constituting such class are so numerous as to make it impractical to bring them all before the court," one of several contentions read.

In his answer, Maisen denied that the lake area, marked on maps filed with the deed records as a "terraced park area," had been dedicated to the public, but said it had been "reserved from such dedication." Title to the surface lake area is "reserved to this defendant by reason of such deliberate purpose not to dedicate the same."He said he had "never had any present intention to dedicate said lake basin as a public park."

Paid Taxes On Area

Maisen recited that he had paid taxes on the lake basin to the four taxing units, had planted more than 200 trees there at his own expense and had removed from the lake a large highway grade crossing to increase water-holding capacity of the basin. The dirt he had hauled in there was "a small amount of top soil" he intended to "scatter over the area of the lake to make it productive of vegetation," he said.

Maisen pleaded he had sought to sell to the city all or part of the lake area for development as a terraced park. But no deal was made so he "has been attempting to preserve and conserve the property pending the outcome of the final formulation of a plan of development of the area and all of which is contingent upon the solution of the problem of drainage."

Says Rainfall "Unprecedented"

No acts or omissions of Maisen contributed to Maxey's damage, it was pleaded. Damage, if any, he said was caused by conduct of Maxey and business partners in laying out and constructing Green Acres addition, in which a lake was filled, "cutting down and destroying its water holding capacity and causing (it) to overflow into the lake area in controversy here." Also, an unprecedented six-inch rain within three or four hours, an unforeseeable condition amounting to an "act of God," flooded every low spot in the city at the same time as the recent Tech Terrace flood, for which Maisen was not liable, the petition said.

The petition charged that the city had laid a two-foot storm sewer to the Tech Terrace lake, without permit from Maisen, and that as a result a large area of land lying between College Ave. to the east and the right of way of the Santa Fe railway to the west, between the north line of Texas Tech property on the North and Thirty-fourth street on the south was draining into the Tech Terrace lake. That excess water constitutes an unnatural flow of water, it was pleaded, and in times of flood the lake is filled beyond its capacity with floods from beyond its natural watershed.

Construction Claimed Faulty

In addition, it was pleaded, the city constructed a two-foot outlet storm sewer from the bottom of the Tech Terrace lake surface. The line runs eastward along Twenty-third until it connects with a large six or eight-foot storm sewer. But, it was alleged, the small sewer enters the large one "at the bottom, instead of at the top."

"By reason of such faulty and negligent construction, when heavy rains rall in this area the large main storm sewer becomes filled to capacity with water and flows backward through the two-foot outlet pipe into the surface lake here involved."

Such conduct on the part of the city was described as the "sole proximate cause" of all the conditions and damages, if any, set out by Maxey.

Further evidence, Maisen pointed out, that the area had been considered his private property is found in the city's obtaining from him an easement over the lake surface and basin for a sanitary sewer line.

"The city's unlawful use of the surface area as a 'catch basin' negatives and defeats any purported claim to use of the area as a public park or a place of recreation for the public," it was pleaded.

As to his action against the city, Maisen prayed for a declaratory judgment declaring that his title to and known as the terraced park area was not impaired by the deed of dedication, and that the land is not a public park, nor was it ever dedicated to public purpose.

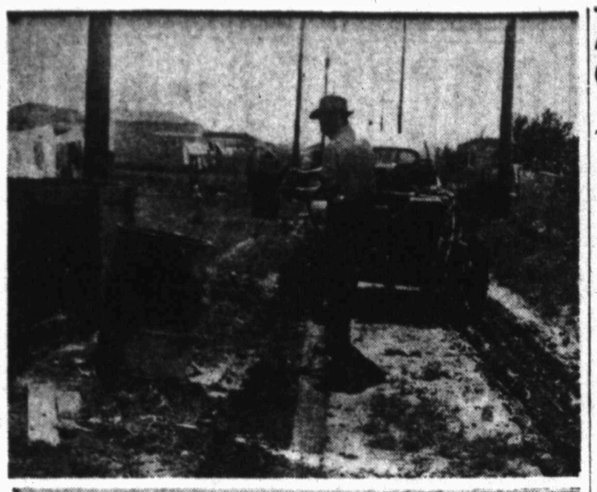

He also asked a writ of injunction restraining the City of Lubbock from allowing storm sewer water to "flow backward" into the Tech Terrace lake; a mandatory injunction requiring the city to correct alleged engineering faults in its sewer system and to desist from using the Tech Terrace lake as a catch basin.

In the alternative. Maisen asked that he have judgment against the city for $60,000 as a reasonable cash market value of the 20 acres of lake basin land "confiscated" by the city as a "catch basin for flood waters."

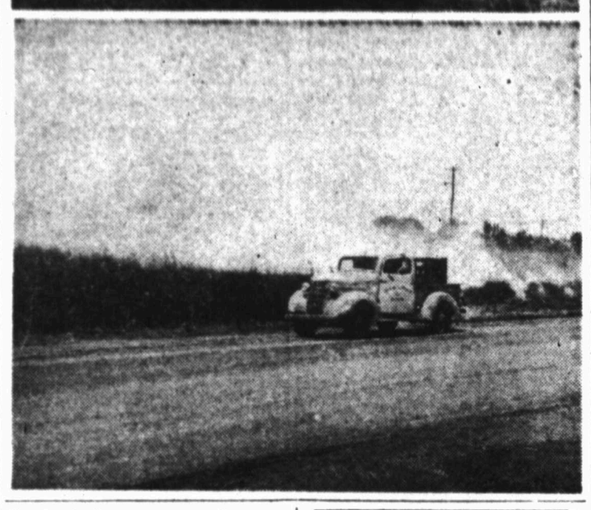

Four dead fliers and a plane, missing four years, were found in New Zealand.

FIGHT ON DISEASE THREAT PUSHED—Lubbock health authorities are now in the midst of an all-out campaign to wipe out flies and mosquitoes in an effort to prevent any chance of an epidemic of polio or some other disease in the city. Shown above are methods being used by Lubbock's City Health Department in the campaign. In the top photo, left, is a mowing machine being used in the blitz to cut weeds. In the top photo, right, garbage cans are sprayed with DDT and in the next two scenes, fogging machines are shown at work.

World's Fattest Man Coming To Lubbock

Bill Wetsel, of Clayton, N. M., billed as "the fattest man in the world," is to be in Lubbock this week.

Weighing more than 600 pounds, Wetsel will demonstrate the springness of Spring-Air mattresses manufactured by the Blackwell Mattress company at the Hoyt Furniture store every afternoon next week from 2 until 6 p.m. Wetsel, whose weight varies from 628 pounds to 676 pounds, is bigger around the waist than he is from head to foot. He is a bachelor, 56 years old, and stands five feet, 8½ inches high. He uses a cane to help himself about. He has been unsually large since he was two years old. Formerly a Diesel engineer, he had to quit 15 years ago because he became so big he couldn't handle the job.

mended. They include:

1. Raise tax exemptions in the lowest income brackets and reduce rates in the middle brackets.

2. For those who pay no taxes, extend veterans readjustment benefits, move up the date of payment of $2,000,000,000 in National Service Life Insurance premiums into this year instead of 1950.

For non-veterans, increase federal relief assistance to at least $2,000,000,000 a year, increase old-age pensions, lengthen the duration of unemployment compensation and raise the benefit rates.

Should Start Public Works

3. Start emergency public works and public service projects—such as clerical and statistical tasks—in "distressed employment areas." Anderson said the service projects should not be "boondoggles" but useful tasks for white collar workers and others not employable on heavy public works.

4. Extend GI educational benefits, provide federal allowances youths attend college, and re-es based on scholarship to help tablish the CCC to provide a year of outdoor activity for young men in conservation and fire prevention work.

The facts at this moment "do not spell inevitable and prolonged depression," the study said.

The Public Affairs Institute describes itself as a non-profit, non-partisan research organization. It was founded with money contributed chiefly by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and now receives donations from various sources.

Some government economists believe unemployment will continue to rise but will be checked as it nears a total of perhaps 5,000,000, the Associated Press was told yesterday.

BOND ISSUE OKAYED

LAREDO, June 18. (AP)—A $476,000 Webb county road bond issue was approved in a light vote, 488 to 7, today. It was a special election. The purpose of the issue is construction, maintenance and operation of macadamized, graveled or paced roads and turnpikes within the county.

months is important in combatting carriers of disease, Jarvis pointed out.

Observance of Rules Urged

Spraying of air-conditioners, garages, screen doors, garbage cans, and shrubs where flies and mosquitos may breed is a precaution housewives should take. Food should not be left uncovered where flies can get on it.

All vegetables and fruits should be washed thoroughly, Jarvis said.

Another city ordinance requires that all property within 100 feet of a sewer line be connected to a city sewer, Jarvis pointed out. He said enforcement of this ordinance would be followed closely by the department.

All outhouses where sewer lines are not available must be kept in a sanitary condition and must be fly-tight, Jarvis said. Pits should be treated with lime or other chemicals.

If householders will follow the rules set out by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, keep premises clean and spray with DDT and watch their personal hygiene, the dangers of an epidemic will be lessened.

Wheat Harvest

50 combine operators and tractor drivers.

Along with the shortage of machines and men is that of storage space, according to an announcement by Vernon O'Farrell, farm placement representative of the Texas Employment commission. The last few hot, dry days have readied thousands of acres of wheat all at once, he explained.

In Floyd county, the situation is dry wheat and wet ground, it was reported. There are from 300 to 400 combines working the area. There will be enough storage space to see the crews through Sunday, Homer Steen, editor of the Floydada Hesperian, said Saturday night.

The yield in Floyd county is averaging from 24 to 52 bushels to the acre, Steen said.

The harvest is going strong in Crosby county. Everyone is trying to get combines at once, it is reported, and not all are meeting with success. Almost all of the storage space had been taken by Saturday. The highest yield so far has been about 40 bushels to the acre.

Hale Yield Heavy

Hale county reports yields as high as 65 bushels to the acre. The harvesting peak has been reached there and the storage space just about depleted. The average yield per acre has been 30 bushels. Small farms of 160 acres and under have had difficulty getting combines. They probably will not get men and equipment until the larger farms have been harvested.

Lamb county harvesters do not plan to work Sunday. They have enough storage space around the Littlefield area for the crop that they have.

All farmers and grain men are being called on to make their combines, trucks and tractors available, the Texas Employment commission reports. There had been a surplus of men and machines in nearly every county in the area until Friday.

"We have on hand calls for between 25 and 40 'bob-tailed' trucks," O'Farrell said. "Anyone with such a truck can put it to work at once."

Co-operation Is Asked

All of the custom combines are running at maximum capacity and are booked far in advance. However, the TEC indicates that there are scores of small six-foot combines sitting idle on many farms in the Lubbock area. The farmers who are too busy to operate the machines themselves, can contact the TEC office and an effort will be made to find an operator and send the machine to the critical area. This area is now between Tulia and Perryton.

Lubbock grain merchants are offering from $1.60 to $1.62 a bushel for wheat. Spokesmen say that there has been very little volume here because most of the farmers prefer to store the grain under the government loan which offers $1.87 a bushel. The merchants feel, however, that the loan space will be filled quickly and much of the grain then will be sent to Lubbock.

The cash price for wheat at Amarillo was $1.59 for no. 1 hard Saturday. The price at Wichita Falls was $1.63.

Four days of bright sunshine in the Wichita Falls area had let farmers virtually complete the tag end of the wheat harvest.

The harvest was getting off to a good start in the Panhandle counties, although the full impact of the big job ahead had not hit the area. Most of the harvest will get rolling the next few days, however.

Drought has caused a food crisis in Tanganyika

Quiet Juneteenth Is Expected Here

Juneteenth, Emancipation day for negroes, will be observed quietly in Lubbock today. Carver Heights officials and leaders said last night that no community-wide celebration had been planned.

It was said that various small groups probably will hold private gatherings, some of which are annual affairs. The negro population as a whole, however, has not planned any special celebration.

Burglaries Probed

alley, and the broken machine was found in a trash can near the front of the building. Entrance to the building was through an east door which had been pried open with a chisel or screwdriver, officers said.

Santos Gonzales, 23, of Shallowater route 1, charged with child desertion, posted $500 bond Saturday night, the sheriff's department announced.

Alvin J. C. Borden, 27, of Lubbock, pleaded guilty Saturday to a charge of drunk driving, and was assessed a fine of $75 and county court costs, the county attorney's department announced. Borden's drivers license was revoked six months.

Borden was the driver of a car which failed to negotiate a turn off Fourth street onto Ave. J early Saturday morning, and bounced across the Santa Fe railroad tracks nearby, police records showed.

Other county court judgments signed Saturday by County Judge Walter Davies were: H. M. Rowe, of Lubbock route 6, $5 and costs for check law violation; L. F. Kelley, 46, of Dallas, $50 and costs for violation of check law; and Charles E. Rucker, $1 and costs for check law violation.

Wichita Falls Police Chief Gets Court Order To Block Dismissal

WICHITA FALLS, June 18. (AP)—District Judge Frank Ikard tonight granted a temporary restraining order against the city council, mayor and city manager dismissing Police Chief Chris Jensen.

The order also blocked traffic officer R. A. Nelson from acting as chief. He was appointed today by City Manager Frank Wood.

Judge Ikard set a hearing on a temporary injunction for 2 p.m. Monday.

The council earlier in the day had voted a second time to dismiss Jensen and instructed City Manager Wood to appoint Nelson to the post.

Jensen then went into court for his second time to battle the move. When the council voted before to oust him, he had secured an injunction. But it was reversed by the second court of civil appeals in Fort Worth this week—effective in 15 days.

Lamesa Junior Legion Tilts Start Today

LAMESA, June 18. (Special)—Lamesa's American Legion Junior baseball team opens its district play Sunday afternoon with the McCamey Juniors at McCamey at 2:30.

The Lamesans, with a record of four wins and no losses in practice play, are in the western division of District 6 of the Legion baseball setup. Western division teams, including Odessa, McCamey, Midland, and Fort Stockton, will play a double roundrobin, and the team with the highest percentage will meet the leader in the eastern division of the district, composed of Coahoma, Forsan, two teams from Big Spring, and Stanton, in a best two out of three game series to determine the District 6 champion.

The playoff will be staged between the eastern and western leaders between July 10-15.

June 24—Midland at Lamesa, 8 p.m.

June 26—Odessa at Lamesa, 3:30 p.m.

July 1—Midland at Midland, 8 p.m.

July 3—Fort Stockton at Fort Stockton, 3:30 p.m.

July 4—Odessa at Odessa, 3:30 p.m.

July 8—McCamey at Lamesa, 3:30 p.m.

July 9—Fort Stockton at Lamesa, 3:30 p.m.

contacted thus far believes this means Russia is ready to make friends with the West on a permanent basis.

Having failed with the mailed fist tactics of the blockade, the Russians will not stir new trouble immediately. They want to lull European nations and especially America into a quiet state of indifference, said one American diplomat.

"They know that America lulls easily on European questions," he said.

That would be especially true if a recession in America made Congress more wary of spending in Europe, this diplomat suggested. It costs about a billion dollars a year to occupy Germany and is taking another billion a year to get it going again. Nearly a billion and a half is contemplated for military aid to nations in the Atlantic pact. More billions are pouring into American rearmament.

All these things, this diplomat pointed out, resulted from or were speeded by the Berlin blockade and Russia's attitude in general.

Man Pushes Load Of Sand 29 Miles To Win $75 Bet

CLEVELAND, June 18 (AP)—On a bet, husky Jim Strong pushed and pulled an 800-pound load of sand today from Painesville to Cleveland's public square.

That's 29.2 miles. Strong thought he could do it in 12 hours. It took 15, but sympathetic Harold Morgan, a neighbor, paid off the $75 anyway because of the obstacles involved.

For one thing, the soft asphalt slowed down the 100-pound truck he was pushing. For another, one of the wheels on the truck locked due to friction.

Intrusions Slow Trip

Then there were the human intrusions. At one point, as he was stopping off in a gas station wash room, two curious women tried lifting his truck. It flipped over and it took a half hour to repair damage.

In Painesville, a policeman forced him off the road to allow a line of traffic to pass. That took 15 minutes. Later, a long freight train held him up another 20 minutes.

It was pretty hot going for the 38-year-old Strong, a freight handler for the New York Central railroad. He consumed a gallon of milk and a half gallon of water enroute. These were supplied by his wife, who trailed him in an automobile.

Strong was just a block from Cleveland's city limits when his 12-hour deadline expired. That was where Morgan paid off the bet.

Then Strong pushed on to public square "just to see how long it takes.

telegrams to Sens. Neely (D-W Va), Pepper (D-Fla) and Murray (D-Mont.) leaders in the fight to redeem President Truman's top 1948 election campaign pledge to repeal Taft-Hartley and reenact the Wagner act with "improvements."

Taft expressed confidence that his 60-day injunction amendment, which also authorizes government seizure and operation of strike-bound plants essential to the national welfare, would be approved.

He predicted only four or five Republicans will vote against it, and that 16 Democrats will join the Taft forces. Any alignment approximating his prediction would provide well over the necessary majority of 49.

A high-ranking administration spokesman admitted that the Douglas 60-day seizure amendment will be rejected because it will lose the votes of the Murray-Neely-Pepper forces who will make a last-ditch battle for the Truman simple cooling-off period.

The administration measure would replace Taft-Hartley with a slightly revised version of the old Wagner act. The Senate has been debating the bill for two weeks and so far has adopted four amendments which preserve features of the present law in substance.

Taft Bides Time

All four of the amendments were offered by a group of Democrats and Republicans in the hope they can win votes away from a substitute bill sponsored by Taft and Senators Donnell (R-Mo) and Smith (R-NJ). The substitute would keep all the basic provisions of the Taft-Hartley law.

Taft and his followers offered no opposition to the compromise amendments already adopted. Their strategy is to try to replace the whole bill later with the Taft substitute.

of the bomber a "homing" device would go into operation automatically. This device, possibly a "heat seeker," would steer the rocket toward the source of heat emitted by the bomber's power plant.

Then, as the rocket advances into the ultimate stage of flight and comes closer into the area of its target, a series of proximity or VT fuses would take over. The VT fuse, a World War II development, works by radar. A minute radar transmitter sends out impulses. They strike the surface of a target and a fraction of the impulses bounce back to a receiver. The returning radar impulse actuates a trigger and fire the explosive charge as the rocket makes its closest approach to the target. Thus a destructive hit could be scored even without actual impact of a missile against a bomber.

Four Members Of Dumas Family Are Injured In Jeep Accident

AMARILLO, June 18. (AP)—Four members of a Dumas family are in an Amarillo hospital tonight from injuries received in a jeep accident.

The jeep panel truck overturned on a suburban river road.

Arthur E. Taylor, 32, was the most seriously injured, with a fractured vertebrae and several broken ribs. His wife and two children, Dewey, six, and Glenda, four, were believed less seriously injured.

tains on the east, Petersburg and Moorefield were virtually isolated. All telephone lines in the former city were down, and only one was in use at Moorefield.

All roads to Petersburg were blocked. Circular routes were open to Moorefield, where about 100 evacuees were quartered in the courthouse and drew food from a high school cafeteria.

The brunt of the disaster struck Petersburg.

Three hundred families evacuated, 60 homes destroyed, 300 homes damaged, 285 other buildings destroyed and 350 damaged; two businesses destroyed and 75 damaged; heavy livestock loss; 12 industrial plants damaged.

The Red Cross had unverified reports that two persons were drowned at Moorefield.

Torrential Rains Hit Area

An earlier report had it that the dam had broke, airplane flights showed the dam still holding.

Torrential rains preceded to floods. They hit drouth-baked earth and rapidly filled up the small mountain streams.

The rains stopped shortly after noon, but waters were still rising in some sections.

The Shenandoah river went on flood and dunked Bridgewater. Fire Chief Allen Harvey, sr., said the town was "in a state of hysteria."

Hundreds were driven from their homes here in Petersburg. Small homes disappeared into the churning, muddy torrent. All roads in and out of town were blocked by several feet of water.

River observers said they did not expect the floods to spread greatly. They said the water in the lower Potomac would rise, but would stay within its banks as the crest passed Harper's Ferry.

The Chicago weather bureau reported light showers from Virginia north, including New York, Pennsylvania, and Virginia, but none in parched New England. No rain has fallen in central New York for 24 days and New York City hasn't had any for 22 days. The situation is comparable elsewhere in New England.

The New England forest fire menace was considered serious. The lack of rainfall has curtailed water usage in some communities.

15 FOOT CASCADE OF WATER FLOODS TOWN

BRIDGEPORT, Va., June 18. (AP)—Surging flood waters from two rain-swollen rivers flashed through this Shenandoah valley town early today, leaving one person dead and at least two missing.

A cascade of water 15 feet high cut through the heart of the town between midnight and 3 a. m., overturning and buckling houses, trees and power lines as it went. Families were marooned on rooftops or in trees before they could wade to safety before the rising tide.

Evacuation of portions of the town was ordered about 1 p. m. It was feared the north river dam, some 18 miles from Bridgewater, had broken and that another flood was on its way. The reports proved to be false.

The flood came when the ordinarily placid dry river, swollen by heavy rains some distance from this college town—home of Bridgewater college—overran its banks, and cut a new channel through the main business district.

McMahon said the committee has been "chewing over" the need for legislation for four or five months and "it came to a head" on a reactor program which is going to cost more than $500,000,000.

"The responsibility of this committee is so much greater for the proper operation of the atomic project than that of the ordinary congressional committee for other agencies, that we must have the power that goes with the responsibility. This does not mean we should become an actual administrative body. That would be a mistake."

McMahon said he had set the $1,000,000 figure, but that it might be changed.

Western Crosby County Passes Bond Issue For Road Building

LORENZO, June 18 (Special) — The voters from the western part of Crosby county in road District Four voted today in favor of the proposed bond issue for the purpose of constructing 40 miles of hard surfaced roads in the county.

The total of those for the bond issue was 233 and those against, 39.

Voting places were in Robertson, Estacado, and Lorenzo.

Those drawing up the plans propose to place a hard surface road within two miles or less of every farm home.

The vote by polling places was: Lorenzo: for—145, against—36; Robertson: for—44, against—0; Estacado: for—43, against—3.

HOOVER COMMISSION CRITICIZED

Veteran Benefits Under Attack, Head Of American Legion Says

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—Perry Brown, National Commander of the American Legion, said today a "dangerous, irresponsible and, in some cases, greedy attack" is being made on benefits for war veterans.

Brown said he has found signs of this attack in newspaper and magazine articles and in recommendations of the Hoover commission and the American Hospital Association.

Writing in the current issue of the American Legion Magazine, Brown said:

"It is my unhappy duty to call to the attention of legionnaires and all veterans of both great world wars certain unmistakable evidence that our hard-won benefits are under attack from many sides.

Presents Crisis To Veterans

"For the second time in 16 years, opposition to established veterans benefits by special and powerful groups contains elements of a real crisis for all war veterans. It represents a challenge which may call for the full fighting strength of the American Legion."

Brown likened the situation to 1933, when he said the "infamous, callous and cold-blooded Economy Act"—repealed a year later—and other legislation closed army and navy hospitals to veterans and reduced other benefits.

He criticized particularly recommendations of the commission headed by former President Herbert Hoover for reorganization of the federal government.

New System Proposed

iul

The commission proposed that a general federal hospital system be set up over hospitals now operated independently by the Veterans Administration, the army, the navy, the marine corps, the public health service and other agencies.

"It is the experience of the American Legion and of thousands of veterans and many VA employes that there is already too much red tape confronting the veteran who is eligible under law for VA hospitalization," Brown declared.

"Removal of VA hospitals to a brand new bureau will throw another wall of expensive paper work, inter-office memoranda and bureaucrats between the sick veteran and his hospital bed."

"The enemies of the veteran are molding the public mind again with phony statistics, misrepresentations, exaggerations, distortions and half-truths — all aimed at sabotaging the veterans' program," he said.

Blount May Run For Land Commissioner

AUSTIN, June 18. (AP)—R. E. (Peppy) Blount, the former University of Texas football player who became a legislator, is listening to the voice of the people.

Don't be surprised if the big fellow with the wide grin isn't in the race for land commissioner next year.

Peppy says he has been contacted by friends all over the state "who have asked me to run for either land commissioner or commissioner of agriculture" and that if things go right he's in the running.

Blount's candidacy for land commissioner, however, depends upon whether Land Commissioner Bascom Giles makes the race for governor next year as has been forecast.

"There's many a slip betwixt cup and the lip," Blount cautions, "but there has been interest all over the state—it's kind of snowballing."

Peppy wound up his football career at Texas last season after four years of playing an end position. He has been in the last two sessions of the legislature. He lives at Big Spring.

Mrs. McDougal Is Elected Head Of Abernathy Group

ABERNATHY, June 18. (Special)—New officers were named at a recent meeting of the As You Like It club of Abernathy, held in the home of Mrs. Vernon McDougal.

Officers who were elected include Mrs. McDougal, president; Mrs. C. E. Jackson, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. A. B. Myatt, assistant treasurer; and Mrs. Joe D. Adkisson, reporter.

The club is completing its 12th year. As its name implies, club activities are diverse and members are permitted to pursue various activities in which they are interested. In addition to quilting, hand work, and other diversions, current events sessions also are held.

Two Mexicans Feared Drowned In Rio Grande Crossing Attempt

LAREDO, June 18. (AP) — Two young Mexican men may have drowned during the night while trying to cross the Rio Grande to reach the American side.

Jorge Velasquez, 24-year-old Mexican national found wandering on the river bank entirely naked about midnight, said two men who tried to cross the boundary river with him stepped into a deep hole and disappeared.

Authorities began searching for the bodies. Velasquez said his companions called for help before disappearing.

GOP SOLON 'SURPRISED' AT BLAST

HST's Sharp Charges Against Real Estate Lobby Are Denied

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 18 — President Truman's statement that real estate lobbyists have launched a "deliberate campaign of misrepresentation" against housing legislation drew a sharp denial today from Rep. Martin (R-Mass).

The President said late yesterday in a letter to Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) that he has been "shocked in recent days at the extraordinary propaganda campaign that has been unleashed" against a Senate-passed public housing, slum clearance bill now pending in the House.

The campaign, Mr. Truman declared, "consistently distorts the facts of the housing situation in the country."

GOP Leader "Surprised"

Martin, the House Republican leader, told a newsman:

"This is a surprise to me. The only lobby that has contacted me is the lobby trying to put over the bill."

Martin declared that opposition to the measure has come from people concerned over government spending—not real estate lobbyists.

The President's strongly-worded letter said that "a little group of ruthless men" is responsible for the campaign to defeat the bill.

He asked Congress to "be aware of the false and misleading nature of this propaganda."

House Democratic leader McCormack (Mass) promptly commented: "The President is absolutely right. I hope his statement will have the effect of driving this nefarious lobby out of Washington."

Favors Spending Cut

But Martin declared:

"The people have come to realize that if we are going to keep our finances in shape we've get to quit spending. Inasmuch as not one house would be built in 18 months under this programm it seems to me this is one big money bill that could be put aside."

House debate on the bill will begin Wednesday. It calls for a vast program of slum clearance, low-rent public housing and farm housing aid.

Estimates of the federal money involved, in subsidies and loans, have varied widely.

Cost Is Disputed

In his 4,000-word letter to Rayburn, Mr. Truman said:

"The real estate lobby claims that (the housing bill) will cost the federal government $20 billion.

"This is an exaggeration of approximately 100 per cent. The actual cost of the bill will be about $10 billion, spread over a period of some 30 years."

He asserted that arguments against the measure on the grounds it would "encourage indolence and shiftlessness" raise up "the hoary old chestnut that has been used as an argument against proposals to advance the public welfare ever since the nation was founded."

The President listed the veterans, labor and religious organizations backing the measure and noted that 24 Republican and 33 Democratic senators voted for it.

"Yet," he said, "the real estate lobby, shortsighted and utterly selfish, continues to cry 'Socialism' in a last effort to smother the real facts and real issues which this bill is designed to meet."

Tiny Schooner Leaves On Arctic Expedition

WOODS HOLE, Mass., June 18. (U.P.)—The tiny schooner Blue Dolphin sailed from this port Saturday on a three-month Arctic expedition, her decks and hold jammed with 30 tons of equipment.

David C. Nutt, 29, Arctic specialist from Dartmouth college and leader of the expedition, did not expect to return before Sept. 15.

The 15 Canadian and American scientists and crewmen aboard planned to map uncharted waters off Labrador and study traces of ancient Eskimo life in northern Newfoundland.

Nutt, a wartime navy commander and veteran of five Arctic voyages with the late Capt. Bob Bartlett, said he planned to stop at Sydney, N. S., in about four or five days and reach northern Newfoundland shortly after July 4.

The farthest north they would go, he said, would be the region of Laborador's torngat mountains.

His expedition will work with Comdr. Donald B. MacMillan, who leaves on a similar voyage next week from Boothbay Harbor, Me., aboard the schooner Bowdoin.

Three-Year-Old Boy Dies Of Burns In Freak Accident

BEAUMONT, June 18 (U.P.)—Billy Baker, 3, died in a hospital last night of burns received in a freak accident at his home near Vidor Thursday afternoon.

The child was standing in back of an older brother, Tommy, who held a can of gasoline near the rear of the family automobile. The car backfired, igniting the gasoline, and Tommy hurled it accidentally into the face of his younger brother.

Billy was the son of Mrs. May Baker. Funeral plans are incomplete.

Real Estate Groups Fire Back At HST's Lobbying Charges

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—Real estate and building spokesmen fired back at the administration today the charge of misrepresentation President Truman made against the "real estate lobby" yesterday in connection with the pending housing bill.

T. H. Maenner of Omaha, Neb., president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, made the main argument in a statement issued through the NAREB office here.

He said his only purpose was to "cite substantial evidence that will show just who is trying to pull the wool over the eyes of the American people."

Federal Personnel Scored

The National Association of Home Builders said in another statement:

"If there is any lobby guilty of distortion or misrepresentation it is our opinion that it is the swarm of federal and local housing authority personnel and their agents who for many weeks at taxpayers' expense have been pressuring the Congress for this legislation to perpetuate their jobs."

The quotation was from a statement by Rodney M. Lockwood, president of the builders' organization, in a report through the NAHB office here on the association's convention in Oklahoma City, Okla. The report said delegates were "profoundly shocked" at the President's statement on what it called "the pending socialized public housing bill."

Economy Claimed Endangered

The builders expressed pride in having produced nearly 3,000,000 homes since the war and declared that the administration housing bill would add $19,000,000,000 to federal expenditures already "gravely endangering the economic welfare of the country."

Maenner, for the real estate boards, commented on Mr. Truman's statement point by point, first taking up the President's claim that the actual cost of the housing program would be only about half the real estate interests' estimate of $19,300,000,000.

He said the actual authorization figure, worked out by Snyder, Farr & Company, Washington public accounts, is $19,312,500,000 over a period of years.

The measure should be cut in half right now, he said, "if those persons behind the public housing bill really believe that the politicians operating the program would leave untouched half the money they are permitted by the bill to spend."

Five Persons Killed In Car-Truck Crash

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 18 (U.P.)—Five dancing instructors were killed and four persons injured in a pre-dawn accident here this morning when a speeding convertible crashed into the rear of a semi-trailer truck loaded with cattle truck.

Police said the dead and three of the injured were from Louisville.

The dead were identified as Wordie Adams, 24; David C. Carby, 22; Charles C. Everhart, 19; Betty Thompson, 22; and Bonny Lee Craig, 21.

The injured were Harvey Wiggins, 25, driver of the convertible; John J. Pleasant, 23; Burl K. Frasher, 22; and Joe Helt, 30, a Columbus, Ind., livestock dealer.

All except Helt were riding in the convertible, which Patrolmen Joe Graves and E. A. Curry estimated was traveling 75 to 80 miles an hour.

Former Lubbock C-C Staff Member Dies In California

SEMINOLE, June 18. (Special)—Harry Burton Lewis, 51, former manager of the Seminole Chamber of Commerce and former staff member of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, died in Torrance, Calif., June 3, Seminole friends were advised this week.

Lewis was a staff member of Lubbock Chamber of Commerce for about two years in 1940 and 1941 and worked toward establishment of Lubbock Army Air field here.

He came to Seminole in 1947 and served as manager of the chamber until ill health forced him to resign and enter a California sanitarium in the latter part of 1948.

A native of Victoria, Texas, he was born March 1, 1898.

Surviving are his wife, Irene; a son, Harry, jr., and a daughter, Patsy, now of Tulia.

Services and burial were held in California.

Miss A. Robertshaw, South African rubber factory employee, has walked 2,000 miles testing footwear in the last nine years.

FATHER'S DAY, OH FATHER'S DAY—And here are three typical parents and their three typically athletic offspring. Most athletic fathers encourage their sons and daughters to take part in athletics in some form or other. Dads, after all have their vanity, just like their better halves. And when junior or sister have an accomplishment in the sports world, father throws back his shoulders with pride and beams all over. Nothing pleases Pop any more than a nome run by his son, a touchdown, a field goal in basketball, a good shot while out hunting, a fast time in track, or any number of other achievements. Shown above are three typical Lubbock fathers with their sons and daughters. The three fathers all have made their mark in the sports world and the younger ones seem ready to take over. In the picture at left above is Don Mitchell with his son Ross, last year one of the top high school golfers in Texas, now a student at SMU. In the lower left picture is Hurley Carpenter with his son George. Hurley was a star at Texas Tech in football, while his son is in the process of turning into a second generation football star. And in the final picture, Manager Jackie Sullivan of the Hubbers is shown with his young daughter Sandra. Sandra is learning the fine points of baseball from a fine second baseman. Goldthwaite Breaks Club Course Record

Fort Worth Woman Meets Mrs. O'Neal In Title Match Of West Texas Golf

By AL WILLIAMS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Writer

Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite, Fort Worth, and Mrs. Sam O'Neal, Odessa, two former champions, won their semi-final matches in the 12th annual Women's West Texas Golf association tournament Saturday at Lubbock Country club and will meet at 9 a.m. today in a 36-hole championship match.

Another record was broken by Mrs. Goldthwaite as she shot a two under par 72 on the 18 hole course to take four strokes off the women's competitive mark of 76 which she set in the qualifying round last Wednesday. Her 72 was one stroke over men's par, and she eliminated Mrs. Ted Huestis, Odessa, 5 and 4. Both ladies finished the back nine, sensing a new record.

Out For Fourth Try

Mrs. O'Neal, who has won the title the past three years, will be out for her fourth consecutive crown today. She experienced tough competition from Mrs. Bonnie Awtrey in her match Saturday, but came through on the back nine to win, 2 and 1, posting a 41-39—80 for the course.

Mrs. Goldthwaite, who won the first tournament here in 1935, setting a "sands greens" record of 71, put together a 35-37—72, which included six birdies and four bogeys. On the last hole she went into a trap with her second shot, but with a large gallery looking on she blasted out of the trap into the cup 45 feet away for a birdie three.

In the championship consolation Mrs. Herschel Ezell, Midland, ousted Mrs. J. W. Ross, Amarillo, 6 and 5, and Mrs. Sibyl Flournoy, Midland, defeated Mrs. Bill Powell, San Angelo, 1 up, after overcoming a one-hole disadvantage at the halfway point.

Battle In First Flight

A real battle was fought in the first flight semi-finals before Mrs. E. L. Chilton, Odessa, sank a 30 foot putt on the twentieth hole to edge Mrs. Bob Copeland, Amarillo, 1 up.

Mrs. Chilton was three down after the first nine holes but took the first two holes on the back nine, halved the third and fourth, and won the next to catch up. Mrs. Copeland had lead twice more, but on the eighteenth hole Mrs. Chilton pitched to within three inches of the cup from 60 yards out to again even the match and send it into extra holes.

In the other first flight match, Mrs. Walter Sikes, Amarillo, beat Mrs. J. R. Farmer, Big Spring, 7 and 6.

A real golfer's marathon was played in the second flight consolation match before Mrs. E. B. Lovvorn, Sweetwater, sank a putt that gave her a 1 up victory over Mrs. H. T. Hornbuckle.

In the "Cry Baby" tournament, among those who were eliminated Friday, Mrs. K. L. Riggs, Lubbock had a net 71 score to win the 18-hole flight. Miss Pat Lindsay, Plainview, took the nine-hole "Cry Baby" award with a net 30.

Barker, Weaver Winners

Two other winners already decided are Mrs. Kathleen Barker, Plainview, in the special 36-hole medal event with a 248 for the two rounds, and Mrs. Kathryn Weaver, Lubbock, was declared the winner in the second flight nine hole consolation bracket without competition.

The tournament this week has been played in ideal weather, although the wind has been strong several days and the sun was hot and bright. Almost cloudless skies have greeted the contestants each day.

The championship match has been looked forward to with great interest since the opening day when it was felt that both Mrs. Goldthwaite and Mrs. O'Neal would advance to the finals.

Mrs. Goldthwaite took her first match, defeating Mrs. Sibyl Flournoy, 7 and 6, and then defeated Mrs. Carl Mahan, Abilene, 8 and 7. Mrs. O'Neal met and defeated Mrs. Herschel Ezell, Midland, 1 up in the first day's competition and then eliminated Miss Pat Garner, Midland, 3 and 1, in the second round Friday.

All final rounds will be played today, but the championship flight is scheduled for 36 holes. The remaining matches are 18 holes. One of the largest fields in the history of the tournament, 110 golfers began the elimination Thursday.

Crane Downs Sunbeamers Twice In TFL Twin Bill, 2-1 And 1-0

Red Denham Hurls Triumph For Oilers

CRANE, June 18. (Special)—Crane's Oilers upset the Bluebonnett-Sunbeamer softball team from Lubbock in a pair of Texas Softball League games here tonight, the Oilers taking a 2 to 1 victory in the opener and a 2 to 0 whitewash in the nightcap.

Red Denham, one of the most effective hurlers in the loop last year and this, handed the Sunbeamers both defeats in an iron man role. Denham, at his best tonight with a blazing fast ball, never was in deep trouble.

The fierce-haired Crane pitcher was in command all the way in both games in defeating Warren "Stringbean" Pope for the second time this year in the opener and G. W. Warden for the first time in the afterpiece.

Denham coasted along in both games behind fine support, but he bore down whenever Lubbock gave any threat of striking. The Oiler hurler whiffed 11 Lubbock batters in the first game and turned in an impressive total of 13 in the second tilt.

Pope had eight strikeouts in the opener, but gave up four hits, twice as many as Denham. The Oilers made two of these singles good for one run in the fourth, when Joe Goodwin drove in the tally. And Denham personally won his own game in the fifth with a sharp single that followed a single and walk.

The Sunbeamers got one run back in the seventh when Willis James singled, stole second, went to third on a strikeout and scored when the catcher overthrew third.

In the nightcap, the Oilers waited until there were two out in the final half of the seventh before striking. Then John Etley singled and Rusty Stewart hit the first pitch, the ball going for a triple that scored Etley easily.

The Sunbeamers still are in first place, but the double defeat cut their lead considerably.

SUNBEAMERS	000 000 1	—1 2 0
CRANE	000 110 x	—2 4 1

Pope and James; Denham and Moore.

SECOND GAME

SUNBEAMERS	000 000 0	—0 2 0
CRANE	000 000 1	—1 5 0

Albuquerque Dukes Split Pair Of Games With Borger Gassers

ALBUQUERQUE, June 18.. (AP)—Albuquerque won the second half of a West Texas-New Mexico league doubleheader tonight, coming from behind in the third to win over Borger 10 to 6.

The Dukes were trailing four to zero going into the botton of the third. A pair of doubles by Dawson and McClain sparked a rally which brought in three tallies.

Four more runs came across in the fourth and three were added in the sixth in a rally sparked by catcher Jim Fescalini. The new catcher, who joined the Dukes for his first game after coming from Oakland, hit a triple in the inning.

Hugh King pitched and batted Borger to a 2 to 0 win over the Albuquerque Dukes in the first game.

King limited the Dukes to 2 hits, striking out 9 men. He batted in both runs scored by Borger.

Gordon Nell rapped out a double in the second inning and with two out, King doubled. In the fourth, Nell doubled again and scored on a single by King.

Attyd got the first Duke hit in the first. Dawson tripled in the third.

Amateur Team For Texas Cup Golf Matches Is Announced

FORT WORTH, June 18 (U.P) — The amateur team for the Texas Cup matches to be played at Rivercrest country club here July 6 and 7 was announced today by spokesmen for the Texas Professional Golfers Association.

The pros this year decided to name the amateur team themselves and the selections were made in secret meetings.

Earl Stewart, jr., of Longview will again head the amateur swingers. On the team will be Dick McCreary of Houston, Reynolds Smith of Dallas, Don Cherry of Odessa, Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Bob Watson of Wichita Falls, Jack Munger of Dallas, Royal Hogan of Fort Worth, Dick Martin of Dallas, Morris Williams of Austin, Ed Hopkins of Austin and Joe Conrad of Denton.

Oilers Take Twin Bill From Abilene

PAMPA, June 18 (AP) — The Pampa Oilers slugged the Abilene Blue Sox twice here tonight, 3-1, and 5-4, to capture their first doubleheader of the season. The game was marked by sparkling fielding plays on both sides as well as fine pitching.

The Oilers beat Rene Vega in the first game behind lefty Roy Parker. An error by Lopez in the fifth paved the way for the Oiler winning run.

The second game the Oilers got to Gil Guerra for four tallies in the second inning, but the Blue Sox tied it up in their half of the third. Roy Parker then put the Oilers ahead with a leadoff triple in the third, followed by a single by Surma.

The two teams close out the series tomorrow with a single game.

Henderson's Johnny Stone Sets Pace In East Texas League

LONGVIEW, June 18 (U.P) — Johnny Stone of Henderson had a big week at the plate, including one stretch in which he connected for 12 hits in 19 appearances, to set the pace in East Texas league batting through June 14 with an average of .391, official statistics showed today.

The slugging Oiler outfielder also led in home runs with 13 and hits with 86.

Glenn Burns of Longview, who shared the RBI lead at 55 with George Washington of Gladewater, ranked behind Stone in the hitting averages. His .365 was 11 points ahead of Washington and Leo Ferguson of Henderson, who were tied for third and fourth. L. D. Meyer of Gladewater was in fifth spot with a .348 mark.

Hubs Down Lamesa

Five Big Runs In First Gives Win

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

All signs of an Amarillo hangover disappeared as though by magic last night at Rosenthal Field and the Hubbers clubbed the Lamesa Loboes for a 6 to 4 victory before 1,555 happy fans.

Five big runs in the first inning was enough to give the Hubbers their victory and for Don Hensiek to chalk up his first victory since May 21. He deserved it, too, with a fine bit of hurling after a rocky fourth inning.

Guiterrez Makes It Tough

Jack Guiterrez, who beat the Hubbers the first time he faced them, didn't have much of anything the first inning outside of a blustery front. But after he settled down to pitch, he made it tough on the home club. He fanned 11 batters, at least one in every inning, and blanked the Hubbers in all except the seventh.

Buddy McCallum helped to make the margin slightly safer in the lucky frame with a long home run over the left centerfield fence. It wasn't necessary, even though Lamesa scored once in the ninth after two were down.

In the Hubber first inning, nine men batted. McCallum started the trouble with a single, went to third on Al Duarte's single and scored on an error. Nelson Davis fanned, but Jim Prince and Bo Dempsey singled, Duarte coming in on Prince's blow, Mike Dooley walked and Joe Wisniewski doubled sharply off the leftfield fence to bring in the final two runs.

Guiterrez, an excitable Cuban, brought considerably more excitement in the third when he dusted Dooley off. The catcher didn't say anything, but a couple of pitches later, Dooley's bat "slipped" out of his hand and headed toward the mound. Managers Jay Hanky and Jackie Sullivan held a hasty conference and the trouble subsided.

Wisniewski Chased

Later, in the seventh inning, Guiterrez dusted Hensiek off twice. The Hubber hurler had ticked Guiterrez slightly in the top of the third and both pitches appeared intentional.

Joe Wisniewski was chased by Plate Umpire Don Fisher in the fifth for protesting a third strike. Fisher claimed that Wisniewski broke his wrists on the swing, and Wisniewski claimed he didn't. The umpire lost no time chasing the outfielder for too vigorous a protest.

Both teams played good ball in the field, with the Hubbers turning in a fine double play in the fifth and otherwise sparkling on other the defensive. Manager Sullivan benched himself because of a heavy cold and sinus trouble.

Between the Lines by Joe Kelly

Everything points to one of the finest final rounds of golf in the history of the Women's West Texas Golf Association's tournament today. And everything in the cards points to a victory for Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth, who has been as consistent as time this week. If the doughty Cowtown golfer wins, it will be fitting justice, for it was here that she won the first WWTGA tournament ever to be held. Those were in the days of sand greens and Mrs. Goldthwaite set a record for the course, which has been changed considerably since that time. It might be significant, if you play hunches, that she also broke the course record this year.

This has been a fine tournament, played under ideal or nearly ideal weather conditions. The skies have been clear and the weather has been hot, perfect for golfers who like to perspire and get loose. Thursday wasn't quite as pleasant, with a fairly high wind blowing, but if it bothered the ladies of the links, they failed to complain about it. Saturday was boiling hot, but scores were not particularly impressive. It may well have been too hot and the women's strength was sapped. As the same time, there were an unusually high number of extra hole matches played.

Probably the most outstanding feature of this tournament has been the lack of complaints and lack of alibis offered by the women. In the first place, we haven't heard anyone gripe to the officials about a single thing and the officials tell us that there haven't been any. There was considerable anxiety on the part of the male officials when the tourney opened, for complaints come naturally to tournament golfers. The men held their breath on Tuesday. They began to relax a little Wednesday. And when Thursday and Friday rolled around, they were beaming openly and praising the ladies without restraint.

George Aulbach, the genial pro at the Amarillo Country club, served through Thursday night, when he had to return to his job. He turned in a fine job as official starter and recorder and it was his sense of humor and efficient handling of both tasks that had such an important part in the tournament going off so smoothly. George, a Massachusetts-born golfer, originally was a sports writer, which we don't hold against him. He also has played tournament golf with the cream of golfers and he knows his field. He refused to take a cent for all his work, leaving a lot of good will behind him. He told us that he was amazed at how well the women took their losses and at how smoothly things were going.

When George left, T. E. Patterson took over and there was no perceptible change in things. Pat is another golfer with a fine sense of humor and he had things running like clock work Friday and Saturday. He agreed witn us that the most outstanding single thing about the tournament was the absolute lack of alibi by any golfer. In virtually every case, the women said that they lost because they didn't do something right, or their opponent was better, or for some other generous reason. They didn't blame the wind Thursday, they didn't blame the heat Friday, they didn't blame it on unfamiliarity with the course. In short, they didn't alibi.

SHORT TAKES FROM THE THE WWTGA . . . Mrs. Paul Hill of Sweetwater came in Friday afternoon with swollen ankles from where her ankles had rubbed as she walked the course. . . Mrs. Hubert Ingram won her match Friday 1 up, but she said the last hole was a gift. Her opponent wasn't sure whether she was on the fairway or not and allowed her to tee up her ball. Mrs. Ingram got off a good shot and won. She wasn't sure whether she had been in the rough or not. . . Mrs. R. C. Lewis of Sweetwater requested Patterson to get the snakes off the course before Saturday morning. She almost stepped on one on the way to the first green. . . . When asked what kind of a snake it was, Mrs. Lewis said: "I didn't hang around long enough to find out!" . . . Pat Garner of Midland will be going to the Big Spring tournament from here and later, about July 11, to the Broadmoor tournament in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Mrs. Bill Bell of Lubbock's Meadowbrook club, was still in the thick of things Friday night and she gave much of the credit to her caddy. . . Mrs. Bell said a couple of times she saw him look with question on the club she was about to use. When she asked him, he suggested another. Each time it was to her advantage. . . Mrs. Bell also said that the caddy would beat her to it, that he'd hand her the club he thought she should use. When she won, she decided to keep him throughout the tournament. . . Pat Garner came over

BEAUMONT, June 18 (AP) — Johnny Davis, freshman line coach and freshman baseball coach at Texas Christian, and Desmond Kidd, former University of Texas track star, today were named to the Beaumont High school coaching staff.

Davis will be football line coach and Kidd will be head track coach and coach of the gridiron B squad.

Chatter Allen is head coach and director of athletics.

Gun Club Finals Slated Today

Fairley Wins 410 Gauge In Shoot

By CHARLES S. FITCH
Avalanche-Journal Sports Writer

Sharp eyes and steady nerves were the order of the day Saturday at Lubbock Gun club's firing range on the former Army Air Force base north of the city as the club's first annual registered trap and skeet shoot got underway.

Finals are set for 9 a.m. today and all events will be shot with 12-gauge guns. The shoot will conform to the rules of the Amateur Trap Shooters association and the National Skeet Shooters association. There will be 150 registered targets on skeet and trap will feature a handicap shoot.

Area Gunners Entered

The shoot has attracted gun fanciers from Lubbock and surrounding towns, Brownfield, San Angelo, Midland, Odessa, Clovis and Roswell, New Mexico, and Lamesa.

Winners announced in Saturday's ATA event included: Roy Cornelius, James Foster, Hal Langsford, George Glass, sr., George Glass, jr., Si Gooden, R. J. Cramer, Mike Cramer, A. P. Boyd, Roland Potts, Dr. C. C. Mansell and Glen Cope.

Saturday's 410 gauge winners were: First place Julian Fairley; second place, George Glass, jr., Midland; third, George Glass, sr., Midland. In 28 gauge, Clyde Tatum was first, George Glass, sr., second and George Glass, jr., third. Wright Cowden copped first honors in 20 gauge. George Glass, jr., took second place and Jim Mascho wound up in third.

Odessa Woman In Events

Among the women shooters breaking targets Saturday were, Mrs. Pauline Amburgy of Odessa, who shot the 410, 20 and 28 gauge shotguns. Sunday in the women's all-bore event, Mrs. Amburgy will shoot with Mrs. Nell McKee, Odessa and Mrs. Thelma Maxwell, also of Odessa. These three women are listed as among the top shooters on the South Plains.

Winners in all classes at the end of today's shooting will include; two-man team shoot, ladies championship shoot, junior championship shoot and sub-junior championship shoot.

Among the 60 trophies to be awarded by the club will be; first, high over-all championship and high over-all runner-up, all bore champion, and all bore runner-up, sub-small bore winner and small bore winner. In trap awards will be given to high over-all champion and in singles, class A, B and C winners and runners-up and third. In the Handicap, winner, runner-up, third, fourth and fifth.

Tom French, an official of the club announced that merchandise awards donated by Lubbock merchants now total more than $700 in value.

READY FOR BIG SHOOT TODAY—Lubbock Gun club members warmed up this week in anticipation of the registered trap and skeet shoot being held today at the range on the SPAAF base. Shown above, Thursday afternoon, as they prepared for the big shoot is Julian Fairley taking aim on one of the skeet fields. Watching are another pair of shooters who will be very much in evidence. They are Clyde Tatum, Gun club president, and Joe Kirk Fulton, holding his piece up. The other man is a spectator who wandered into camera range. (Staff Photo by Tyler Curtis).

Denver City Leads In Oil Belt League

Only the score from one midweek game has been reported in the Oil Belt Baseball league, and in that contest Post defeated Slaton, 4-3.

Denver City still leads in the loop with one game edge over Seagraves, and Post moved into third place by virtue of the victory over Slaton. Sundown, Tahoka, and Slaton trail in that order, and Brownfield has undisputed possession of the cellar position with 11 straight losses.

In games today at 3 p. m. Sundown moves to Slaton, Denver City plays at Post; Levelland is at Seagraves; and Brownfield plays a doubleheader at Tahoka.

LUBBOCK'S JENNINGS WINS FLIGHT

Reynolds Smith Captures Third Texas Golf Association Crown

DALLAS, June 18. (AP) — Reynolds Smith of Dallas won the third Texas Golf Association title of his career today. He beat Morris Williams, jr., of Austin 5 and 3.

The 36-year-old Smith, a veteran of many years of play, beat off a strong challenge from the 19-year-old Williams. Instead of tiring as the match wore on he swamped the Austin boy.

Succumbed on 15th Green

Williams fought hard but there was little he could do in the face of Smith's sub-par golf. He succumbed on the 15th green, 5 and 3. His father, an Austin sports writer who had driven up in the morning to see his son play, was a sad spectator as Williams caught a trap with his second shot and finally conceded the hole.

Williams was one of the youngest golfers ever to reach the finals of the Association tournament.

For Smith the victory brought back the days when he was one of the blazing coals in the hotbed of Texas golf—the days when Gus Moreland, Harry Todd, Don Shumacher and other youngsters gave the state a fine cluster of amateur talent.

Lubbock Golfer Wins

Moreland was the last man to win the tournament three times; in 1933, he completed a string of three straight championships.

Other final results included:

Championship consolation—Jack Munger, Dallas, won by defeating George Bennett, Dallas, in a 19-hole battle. Munger reached the finals by default from Jim Simpson, Fort Worth, and Bennett by defeating Gil Kuykendall, Austin, 5 and 4.

First flight — Dick Jennings, LUBBOCK, defeated John Olver, Dallas, 4 and 3.

Second flight — Bob French, Odessa, beat Phil Gainer, Austin, 5 and 4.

Coach Cunningham Is Named Principal Of Crosbyton Schools

CROSBYTON, June 18 (Special) — Fred J. Cunningham, who for the past year has served as coach of the Crosbyton High school Chiefs, has been named high school principal in the Crosbyton school system.

Cunningham's coaching duties will be taken over by Willis Hedges of Olton, graduate of West Texas State college, Canyon. Football fans in the area will remember him as one of the Hedges twins of Olton High school who were selected for the all-district team.

Art Cunningham, brother of the new High school principal, will be assistant coach here. He formerly coached at Red Rock, Okla.

to the scorer's tent midway through the afternoon Friday with a large box that had perforations in the top. Inside was a ground squirrel. She had seen it during her match against Mrs. Sam O'Neal, wanted it and asked her caddy to get it for her. He did.

Men were impatient for the women to clear off the course in the afternoons, but some of the matches were slow and others went overtime. As a result, the men cooled their heels. . . Mrs. Goldthwaite has taken a shine to Pat Garner and is urging her to enter the Women's National Open qualifying tourney this summer—for the experience, if nothing else. . . One of the best shots during the tourney was Pat's 32-foot approach from the trap on No. 6, a shot that she holed during her losing match against Mrs. O'Neal. . . Mrs. E. C. Knight, who figured in the highlight of the first day by driving seven balls into a lake, almost figured in the other prize Friday. She topped a drive off No. 1 tee and it went in the short grass to the left of the tee. A man standing near her told her to shoot another ball. Just as she had called for a ball from her caddy, T. E. Patterson came along, overheard the conversation and warned her. She didn't play a second shot.

One of the conversations in the starter's tent was about women's golf hats. Paul Jones, Meadowbrook pro, said that someone would get rich inventing a hat suitable for all women golfers. It would be pretty hard. It would have to be large enough to hold tees, scorecards, golf balls, lipstick, powder, chapstick, cigarettes, matches, small change, keys, club membership cards and possibly a swimming suit—but still not weigh over an ounce. Got a handy idea? . . . Herb Schroeder, Country club pro, says he isn't sorry a minute he moved here from Dallas. . . The men seated in the shade of the starter's tent spent almost as much time discussing the Hubbers as they did golf. . . Hundreds of little gnats Friday made life miserable at the Country club. . . The soft drink department did a rushing business all the time.

Women with almost no tan at the start of the tournament lost little time getting tans. And there were some heavy sunburns in evidence. . . No heat or sun strokes have been reported. . . Clothing in the tournament has been informal, ranging from shirt and slacks to shorts and halters. . . Chick Trout has been a daily visitor at the tourney. . . We only ran into one case where any of the ladies in the tourney failed to cooperate in posing for pictures. . . Ed Hambright and Dick Crosby were sightseers during Friday afternoon play. . . Should be a pretty good gallery for the finals in the championship flight today. Otherwise, there haven't been very large galleries. . . A lot of people will be happy when the tournament is ended, including Choc Hutcheson, Al Williams and Tyler Curtis, who have done such a fine job of covering with stories and pictures. We hope you've liked it.

San Antonio's Missions Wallop Oklahoma City Indians, 11 To 6

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 18 (AP) — The San Antonio Missions hit hard in the late innings to bump the Oklahoma City Indians, 11-6, here tonight. It gave the Missions the series, two games to one.

The Tribe had a four run lead in the fourth. It wilted as the Padres took advantage of Tommy Reis' wildness to tie the score with a four-run spree in the fifth.

Ray Murray's homer gave the Indians a 6-5 edge in their half of the fifth. San Antonio bounced back for five hits in the sixth, including Bill Sommers homer, to go ahead 9-6. The Missions added single runs in the seventh and ninth.

Rex Barney Hurls Dodgers To 2-0 Triumph Over Chicago Cubs

CHICAGO, June 18. (AP)—Rex Barney was in rare form today as he pitched the National league's front-running Brooklyn Dodgers to a 2-0, five hit triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

Barney fanned seven and walked only two batters in going the distance for the second time this season. His previous route going performance was 3-1 two hit conquest over the Cubs in Brooklyn ten days ago.

The victory was Brooklyn's eighth straight over the Cubs and extended a Chicago losing streak to seven games. It was the Cubs' sixth straight beating under their new manager, Frank Frisch.

Brooklyn nicked veteran Emil Leonard for a run in the second inning. Gil Hodges beat out a hit and raced to third when Carl Furillo followed with a single to right. Leonard got Bill Cox to fly out. Bruce Edwards then bounced to second sacker Emil Verban who threw him out after missing a tag on Furillo, Hodges scoring on the play.

The Dodgers scored their final run in the third. Pee Wee Reese singled to start the frame, went to second on an infield out and to third on a wild pitch. Duke Snider grounded to first sacker Herman Reich and Reese was thrown out at the plate. Jackie Robinson then singled Snider to third and the Duke scored as Hodges for the second time beat out a hit down the third base line.

KOSLO HURLS GIANTS TO 5-4 WIN OVER PIRATES

PITTSBURGH, June 18. (AP)—Brilliant relief pitching by Lefty Dave Koslo enabled the New York Giants to shade the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-4, today.

Koslo entered the game in the ninth after the Pirates had whacked starter Sheldon Jones and Andy Hansen for four runs. After an infield hit, Koslo got Monty Basgall to pop out and then fanned Eddie Bockman and Johnny Hopp to end the game with runners on first and third.

Although trade is booming again in Western Germany, thousands are reported living in cellars and hovels, largely because building costs are so high.

Westerners Chalk Up Best Athletic Record In Decade

Lubbock High school Westerner athletic teams chalked up their best records in a decade during the 1948-49 school year, winning two District 1-AA championships, two bi-district crowns and one state tourney third place, but individual players grabbed a large share of the glory and set a new local record for gaining all-state honors.

Three Lubbock boys, Charles Galey, Jim Wilson and Bobby Brown, were named on the official all-state teams this spring—Galey and Wilson in basketball and Brown in baseball. This is the first year that three Lubbock players have won all-state recognition, records indicate, with the previous Lubbock High mark set in 1939 when two Westerners made the all-state grid eleven.

Galey was also voted to the all-state baseball second team and Brown, who had previously gained the all-state shortstop berth in the American Legion diamond program, last fall was selected on the all-district football team.

Only Galey will be lost to Westerner teams during the next school year, since both Brown and Wilson have another year of eligibility. Wilson, a six-foot, three-inch center, is expected to bulwark the 1949-50 Lubbock cage team and Brown is slated to continue his stellar work with the Westerner football and baseball teams.

Barbers Lead In City League

Play in the City Recreation department softball leagues has been according to schedule the past few weeks, and some of the teams have surprised early season dopesters by proving stronger than was thought.

One such team is Barber college in the City league, which has gone without loss in five starts since the league was split in two halves. Back of the barbers comes Bennett motor with three wins and one defeat.

In the Commercial league the competition is a little keener. The Avalanche-Journal team boasts a 10-1 record, proving that a little hustle goes a long way, and the Post Office has won eight and lost only two.

First Methodist trails these two with six victories and three defeats, and First Baptist is one-half game behind.

The Major league has the best three teams in the leagues, with Cloverlake, VFW, and Thomas Tinkers comprising the loop. Cloverlake and VFW are heading play at present with four wins and one loss, and Thomas Tinkers has a 2-2 record. Bluebonnet laundry is also in this league, but only for practice, not for record.

ANDERSON RESIGNS JOB

PASADENA, Calif., June 18 (U.P.) — Football and track coach Mason Anderson of California Institute of Technology has resigned to accept a business position in Breckenridge, Tex., director of athletics Hal Musselman announced today.

DISTRICT 2 SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED

O'Donnell And Brownfield Will Open 1949 Junior Legion Play

O'Donnell and Brownfield will have the honor of opening the 1949 American Legion Junior League baseball program in District 2 when the two nines meet on June 18 in Brownfield.

Two days later, two other groups of teams in the district open their schedules, with Spur playing at Ralls and Muleshoe at Levelland. The final group gets its program underway another pair of days later when the Lubbock No. 1 team meets Plainview at Plainview.

From the starting dates until July 7, when all four groups will have finished, there will be games almost every other day. And when the four groups have decided upon their champions, they will meet in a district playoff tournament at Rosenthal Field July 8 and 9 in a double elimination championship.

The winner of that tournament will be declared the district champion and will take part in area, regional and state play. Last year the Lubbock Legion nine won and went to the state meet.

In Group 1, which opens play June 20, are Spur, Ralls and Idalou; in Group 2, opening June 18, are O'Donnell, Brownfield and Tahoka; in Group 3, opening June 22, are Lubbock No. 1, Lubbock No. 2, Plainview and Slaton; and in Group 4, opening June 20, are Muleshoe, Levelland and Morton.

Game times have not been decided upon in Group 1, but starting time in Group 2 will be 4 p.m., in Group 3 it will be 5 p.m. and in Group 4 it will be 4:30 p.m.

The complete schedule for all teams follows:

Group 1: June 20, Spur at Ralls; June 22, Ralls at Idalou; June 24, Idalou at Spur; June 27, Ralls at Spur; June 29, Idalou at Ralls; June 30, Spur at Idalou; July 1, Ralls at Spur; July 5, Idalou and Spur; and July 7, Ralls and Idalou.

Group 2: June 18, O'Donnell at Brownfield; June 20, Tahoka at O'Donnell; June 22, Brownfield at Tahoka; June 25, Brownfield at O'Donnell; June 27, O'Donnell at Tahoka; June 29, O'Donnell at Brownfield; July 1, Tahoka at Brownfield; July 5, Tahoka at O'Donnell; and July 6, Brownfield at Tahoka.

Group 3: June 22, Lubbock No. 1 at Plainview, Slaton at Lubbock No. 2; June 24, Lubbock No. 2 at Lubbock No. 1, Plainview at Slaton; June 27, Lubbock No. 1 at Slaton, Plainview at Lubbock No. 2; June 29, Plainview at Lubbock No. 1, Lubbock No. 2 at Slaton; July 1, Lubbock No. 1 at Lubbock No. 2, Slaton at Plainview; and July 5, Slaton at Lubbock No. 1, Lubbock No. 2 at Plainview.

Group 4: June 20, Muleshoe at Levelland; June 22, Morton at Levelland; June 24, Morton at Muleshoe; June 27, Levelland at Muleshoe; June 29, Levelland at Morton; June 30, Levelland at Muleshoe; July 1, Muleshoe at Morton; July 5, Morton at Levelland; and July 7, Muleshoe at Morton.

Kracher Earns Player Award

KILGORE, June 18 (AP) — Joe Kracher, whose baseball career didn't really bloom until he was 33 years old, will receive the award as 1948's leading hitter in the minor leagues.

Kracher, catcher and manager of the Kilgore Drillers in the East Texas league, clouted .433 last year—his tenth in professional ball—and thus will receive a sterling silver bat in ceremonies here June 29, the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues announced today.

President George M. Trautman, of the association said today Kracher's hitting earned him the annual Hillerich and Bradsby award—the second straight year for a Texas ball player to get the honor.

In 1947 Jim Prince, Midland first baseman in the Longhorn league, captured the award with .429. Prince is with Lubbock in the West Texas-New Mexico league this season.

J. Walter Morris, president of the East Texas league (which was the Lone Star league last year) will present the bat to Kracher. The Kilgore star compiled the average on 166 hits in 383 times at bat in 133 games.

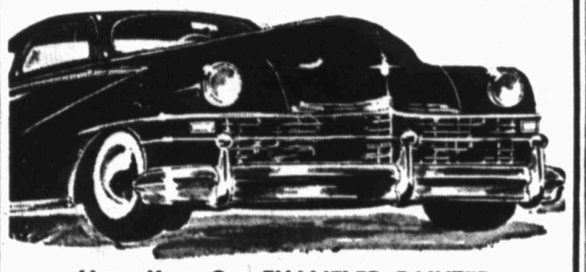

"Kracher Night" will celebrate both the batting feats of the Driller manager and pay tribute to him for piloting the club to the championship in 1948. Kilgore led over the season route and won the play-off. Kilgore will play Longview in the game on Kracher Night.

Joe is again leading the Drillers in batting this season. He slammed out .322 in the first 44 games.

Last year the 220-pound right-handed swinger created a sensation when he connected for hits in 29 straight games.

New York Yankees Gain 6 To 3 Victory Over Cleveland Indians

Bosox Stage Rally To Beat White Sox

NEW YORK, June 18 (INS) — The New York Yankees trounced Cleveland 6 to 3 today, snapping the six-game winning streak of the world's champions and increasing New York's American league lead to 4½ games.

Vic Raschi held the Indians to seven hits. He pitched hitless ball for the first five innings in racking up his 11th win as against only one defeat.

Satchel Paige, the ageless negro right-hander, started for Cleveland. He gave up two runs in the first inning on three walks and a single by Bobby Brown, and another in the fourth on an infield single by Cliff Mapes and a triple by Raschi.

Mapes whacked a two-run homer in the sixth off Steve Gromek after Paige was lifted for a pinch hitter. New York scored an unearned run in the seventh.

RED SOX RALLY TO DUMP CHICAGO WHITE SOX, 7-5

BOSTON, June 18 (INS) — The Boston Red Sox staged a six-run rally in the fourth inning today and went on to make it three wins in a row over the Chicago White Sox, by a score of 7 to 5.

The big blow in the fourth frame explosion was a triple by Johnny Pesky which came with the bases loaded.

Alan Gettel was the victim of the Pesky triple, but five of the Boston runs in the inning were charged against Walter "Lefty" Pierce, starting White Sox hurler, who enjoyed a two-run lead after three innings.

Ellis Kinder went into the ninth with a 7-2 lead and retired the first two batters, yet failed to finish on the Bosox hill.

Successive safeties by Bobby Rhawn, Charlie Kress, Luke Appling, George Metkovich and Cass Michaels spelled three runs and sent Kinder to the showers.

Yanks Said Most Serious In Loop

By PAT ROBINSON
INS Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 16 — This Yankee team is unlike any we've ever seen and we've been looking at Yankee teams for many years.

Usually when a team is winning, and especially when it is leading the league, there is a lot of kidding and horse-play on the bench. But not this outfit. They're a bunch of dead-pans.

Maybe it's the string of hard-luck incidents that have dogged them from the start of the season. On the other hand, it may be they are just naturally serious-minded young business men.

Even Casey Stengel, once the life of any party, and always a sure bet for a good gag, is as serious as the rest and he looks like a solemn gray ghost these days.

Casey and his veteran coach of pitchers, Jim Turner, seem to disagree on the current crop of ball players, especially pitchers.

"In the old days," says Casey, "You never saw Walter Johnson or Pete Alexander walking three in a row and giving somebody a chance to get four RBI with a Chinese homer just dripping with soy bean sauce."

Below Pre-War Standards

"No," says Turner, "But the pitchers in those days didn't have to use two dozen new balls a game and he didn't have to use a ball that was loaded with dynamite. Banjo hitters get homers these days."

However, Turner does agree that the general level of major league play is still far below pre-war standards. What's more, he doesn't think it will get back to normal for another five or ten years.

"The boys have got to start way down in the minors and work up to become finished products," he insists. "You can't become a good pitcher merely by shaking a little resin dust on your fingers."

Conyers Retains Texas Loop Lead

DALLAS, June 18. (U.P.)—Big Herb Conyers, Oklahoma City first baseman, held onto the Texas league batting leadership by a single point today although he slipped 19 points during the week as a general reshuffling occurred in the ranks of the top five.

Three new faces crowded into the select circle, according to averages through Wednesday night's games, with Bill Burgo of Beaumont climbing from eighth to second place only a point behind Conyers' .348 mark.

Ben Guintini of Dallas held to third spot at .346, but Bill Serena of Dallas and Grant Dunlap and Ransom Jackson of Oklahoma City dropped out of the top quintet.

Bob Bundy of Fort Worth moved into fourth with a .333 mark, while teammate Cal Abrams surged up from 28th spot to fifth at .336.

Jerry Witte and Serena maintained Dallas's domination of the RBI column with 61 and 55, respectively, and Witte got another homer during the week to give him a league leading total of 15. Serena got the company of Dick Williams of Fort Worth and Don Lenhardt of San Antonio in the runnerup spot at 12 each.

Conyers' doubles continued to set the pace, one ahead of Buck Frierson of Dallas, who also ranked second in hits with 81, one less than Bundy.

Williams and Serena, with 50 runs scored, were trailing Johnny Lane of Tulsa by two.

Solly Hemus of Houston, Jackson, Clarence Russell of Oklahoma City and Tom Upton of Beaumont each had six triples to their credit, while Upton was setting the pace in stolen bases with 16, four more than Preston Ward of Fort Worth.

GRODZICKI TO ROCHESTER

HOUSTON, June 18 (AP) — John Grodzicki, former St. Louis Cardinals pitcher who received a shattered leg in the Battle Of The Bulge, has been sent by Houston of the Texas league to Rochester of the International league. Grodzicki came to Houston this year to begin a battle for return to the majors.

Tag Team Match Set At Arena Wednesday

Lubbock's wrestling fans will have another treat in store for them when another Australian tag team match gets underway at Sled Allen's grunt and groan emporium Wednesday night at 8:30.

Slated to enter the two-out-of-three falls, one hour time limit tag team match are Ray (Big Train) Clements of Corpus Christi and Bob Cummings of Seaside, Oregon Vs. George Curtis, Vicksburg, Miss., and Balk Estes, of Elk City, Oklahoma. This should be a rough and tumble match with no holds barred. Curtis and Clements have both fought in Lubbock many times and the fans seem to like their style.

The tag team match was promoted by the wrestlers involved after a heated argument in the dressing room. The argument came after last week's match, in which referee Vic Weber was thrown out of the ring. Curtis told Cummings he should mind his manners, and Cummings answered by asking him to select a partner for a tag match for the coming week.

The preliminary will pit Johnny Duarte and Bo Dempsey, each with a respectable .325. Nelson Davis dropped to .323, not far behind, but outside of Pitcher John Myers, not another Hubber is in the charmed .300 circle.

Has 85 Hits

Prince has a team stranglehold on hits with 85, in doubles with 16 and in runs batted in with 60. Manager Jackie Sullivan still leads in triples with four and Davis is tops in home runs with 10. Buddy McCallum, Davis and Mike Dooley each have stolen nine bases and Davis and Dooley each have five sacrifice hits to lead in that field. Davis has scored the most runs, 50, and has the most total bases, 156.

Only Davis and Dooley have played in all the Hubber games so far, with Prince missing only two, Sullivan only three.

Reichelt Record Good

Among the pitchers, Ray Reichelt maintains the best record with four victories against one loss, the Friday night defeat by Lamesa. Chris Haskins has won the most games, eight, as against two losses. Both Royce Mills and Myers have won five with three losses.

Other hurlers and their records are Cotton Russell, three and three; Don Hensiek, two and four; Charles Willis, one and four. Pitchers no longer with the club include Bill Grafton, two and five; and Herby Pitts, nothing and three.

Team Averages Take Big Leap Forward

First Sacker Jim Prince Still Setting Hubber Batting Pace

It's getting almost monotonous to the Lubbock Hubbers to learn that big Jim Prince, the slugging first baseman, still is setting the batting pace on the club.

And while it may be monotonous, it's also music to their ears, for Prince's big bat has taken him to the top of the club in most hitting departments. It's also been responsible for sparking the Hubbers in their June drive, which has taken them from sixth place to a virtual tie with Borger for third.

Averages Upped

Team averages also took a big leap forward this week with the Hubbers moving up to third place in club hitting and third place in club fielding. Individually, averages fell off sharply for the week ending Friday, June 17.

Prince slipped below the .400 mark June 15 for the first time since May 28. It was a temporary drop only and he came back with two good nights to climb back to an even .400.

Closest other Hubbers are Al Demcheck, Toronto, Canada against George Bruckman of Washington, D. C., in a two-out-of three falls, one hour time limit match.

Bruckman was disqualified in his match with Brady last week for eye gouging and left the ring in a huff at the referee. Demcheck won over Curtis in one of the better matches seen at the arena lately. Demcheck has shown the fans his deadly favorite hold, which is a form of standing leg lock and rolling split which leaves an opponent with only one leg to stand on.

Tickets will go on sale at Wylie's Drug store Wednesday at 9 a. m.

A drop in American cotton supplies is blamed for the fact that some South African hospitals haven't enough gauze for bandages and are tearing up old sheets for dressings.

Cotton Belt Loop Schedules Games

A full slate of games is scheduled for the Cotton Belt baseball league this week, and the Wolfforth Wolves play the Eagles in a home game that rates plenty of attention since the Wolves lead the league.

Cooper plays Lubbock at Mackenzie park; Ropesville is at Shallowater; and Meadow moves to Smyer.

Last week's games resulted in victories by the Wolves, 13-4 over Meadow; Cooper over Ropesville, 14-8; Eagles over Lubbock, 9-7; and Shallowater and Smyer did not report their game.

Another Housing Addition Gets Natural Gas

Approximately one mile of new gas mains and other facilities have been installed in the Cowan Addition, adjoining the city of Lubbock. The new mains will furnish low-cost natural gas service for 34 customers in this addition.

Mr. Garlin V. Cooper, shown above working in his yard, and his wife used natural gas several years before moving to their home in the Cowan Addition. They, like many of their neighbors, said natural gas service will provide them a worthwhile saving over former fuel costs.

Steel pipe, which for the past few years was almost impossible to buy, is now more easily obtained, and West Texas Gas Company is rapidly extending natural gas service to scores of new customers.

This year West Texas Gas Company will invest over $2,225,000.00 in new facilities to maintain good gas service and also extend service to new customers.

OFFICER ACCUSED OF SERVING AS KLAN SENTRY

Crippled Alabama Miner Claims Six Hooded Men Dragged Him From Bed To See Neighbor Flogged

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 18. (AP)—A crippled miner today revealed hooded men had dragged him from bed to witness the flogging of a neighbor three weeks ago.

William Henry Rochester, 42, of nearby Coalburg, Ala., said the hooded group threatened to whip him.

Sheriff Holt McDowell said the case had been under investigation since it occurred. He said the man flogged is Bill Hamilton, 39, also of Coalburg. Both men are white.

Forced Into Car

Rochester gave this account of the flogging:

A hooded group, numbering about six men, knocked on the door and said "We want Bill."

Thinking they were neighbors, Mrs. Rochester opened the door.

"Then two of them jumped between me and my gun on the wall," Rochester said.

"They put me in an automobile near Hamilton's house. He already was in the car. We drove into the woods, where they shined lights on him, stripped him and gave him about 20 licks with a long belt.

Rochester said the group accused him of failing to support his family. He would not comment on what the mob gave as the reason for the beating of Hamilton.

Officer Sentry For Klan

Earlier, heavily armed state investigators found a special deputy sheriff serving as a sentry for a Ku Klux Klan meeting last night.

The investigators quoted the man as saying:

"If this was county officers, it would be a different story."

The man, who carried a deputy's special commission, was ordered to report to the sheriff's office later today for questioning. He was identified as C. A. (Brownie) Lollar of Flat Creek.

Special Officer Resigns

The investigators said Lollar admitted ordering sentries to cover the license plates of a number of cars at the Klan meeting at nearby Adamsville. This is prohibited by Alabama law.

Later today, Lollar resigned his job as Jefferson county special deputy sheriff, the International News service said. The INS quoted Lollar as saying he was paid to watch the cars at the Klan meeting.

The state men were ordered here several days ago after a wave of violence involving hooded and robed men. The investigators, ordered here by Gov. James E. Folsom several days ago, asked that their names not be used.

A 31-year-old Navy veteran was flogged Monday night and a 42-year-old woman and a cafe operator were threatened and forced to watch burning crosses in separate incidents a week ago.

FLOGGING VICTIM DEFIES NIGHT RIDERS—Billy Guyton Stovall, 31-year-old Navy veteran, got a gun after a white-robed gang dragged him from his home near Birmingham, Ala., drove him to a side road and lashed him about 20 times with a leather belt. He said they threatened to return if he told the newspapers. They gave as a reason for the flogging that he left his children alone at night—which he denied. Neighbors described him as a good husband and father. (AP Wirephoto.)

Gordon Gaines, Baritone, To Be Presented In Concert Program At Texas Tech Tuesday

Gordon Gaines, popular and talented young baritone, will be presented in a concert Tuesday at 8 p.m. as the third attraction of the summer recreation program at Texas Technological college.

Gaines, a Texas Tech graduate, will be accompanied by Rev. Charles Fike, another Tech graduate, who played for him while the two were school mates at the college.

The young baritone has attended both the Eastman and Juilliard schools of music and has done concert, oratorio, radio and television work for the past few years in addition to preparing for some opera work next season. He is a native of Lubbock.

Appeared On Television

While he was a senior in Lubbock High school, Gaines won the George B. Dealey award as the outstanding vocal student in the state in a contest which was sponsored by the Texas State Music Teachers association. In addition to that honor, Gaines was also chosen as state winner in a contest sponsored by the Texas Federation of Music clubs while he was a student at Tech.

Recently the young singer has done extensive work in the new field of television. He appeared in a singing role as a member of the cast of NBC's "At Liberty Club" which was televised from New York.

After a short stay in Lubbock, Gaines plans to leave for Chautauqua, New York, to appear in a series of six operas produced by the Chautauqua Amphitheater Opera association. The operas which have been chosen for this summer's program include: "Tales of Hoffman," "Mignon," "The Pirates," "Barber of Seville," and probably "La Traviata."

Member Of Army Show

During the war, Gaines was attached to a special service unit. He made daily singing appearances and was chosen a member of the cast for the celebrated Army Air Force production "Winged Victory."

Rev. Fike, who will be in his familiar role as Gaines' accompanist Tuesday night, holds his master of music degree from Columbia. He also has a B.A. degree from Texas Tech and a divinity degree from Southern Methodist. He is, at present, pastor of the Stamford Methodist church.

The program Tuesday night will be held on the Administration building green at the college. Admission for everyone except college students with activity cards will be $1 per person.

Judge To Give Jury Choice Of Verdicts In Babich Trial

MILWAUKEE, June 18. (INS)—Testimony ended today in the Milwaukee trial of 19-year-old Milton Babich for the slaying of his wife's younger sister, and Judge Herbert J. Steffes announced the jury would be given three possible verdicts to return.

The verdicts were listed as:

1. Murder in the first degree which carries a mandatory life sentence.

2. Manslaughter in the fourth degree which is punishable with a penalty of one to two years.

3. Not guilty.

Babich's trial for the slaying of 16-year-old Patricia Birmingham is expected to go to the jury of ten men and two women Monday afternoon after final arguments are concluded.

The decision on the possible verdicts was reached in a conference of Judge Steffes and opposing counsel.

Babich's 18-year-old wife, Kathleen, an expectant mother, went to the witness stand for a second time on the final day of testimony in an effort to save her husband from conviction.

HEALTH

THE MOST PRECIOUS POSSESSION WE HAVE

SPECIFIC CHIROPRACTIC

HAS RESTORED HEALTH AND HAPPINESS TO MILLIONS. IT HAS GROWN TO BE THE FOREMOST DRUGLESS HEALTH SCIENCE OF ALL TIMES.

Chiropractic is a natural method by which to keep strong and healthy. Thousands of individuals have been restored to robust health and vigorous activity by the application of its principles, and its impressive records of achievement in restoring sick people to health merits your consideration, investigation and trial.

The cases listed below are a few selected from the files at random to illustrate the wide scope of benefits available through specific chiropractic.

HEADACHES

Case No. 1549:
A single lady of 37 years had been suffering from terrible headaches for years. They were worse about period time. She had failed over the years to correct this condition. Corrective adjustments of her spine were begun after an examination located the vertebra causing the nerve irritation and interference. When the spinal correction was completed she reported that her headaches had vanished at the beginning and had not returned.

LOW BLOOD PRESSURE

Case No. 13:
This man, age 29, came to our Clinic complaining that he was "weak, tired and run-down." Examination revealed his blood pressure was 98. He also had severe neck pains that extended into the shoulders. These pains caused him to have frequent, severe headaches, a sick and upset stomach and almost complete absence of appetite. Neurocalometer and spinal X-rays revealed the cause of his troubles. Scientific Chiropractic adjustments were begun at once. After a short period of Chiropractic service his blood pressure was up to 115, his energy and appetite had returned and he reported no headaches since first adjustment, and felt "just fine."

HAY FEVER

V. L. Case No. 11,225:
Woman, age 61, had constant hay fever and headaches. She was nervous and could not sleep, she felt tired all the time and sneezed a lot, which was very distracting, especially since she was a registered nurse. In desperation she went to a chiropractor and was surprised how quickly she obtained relief from all her symptoms.

ASTHMA and CHRONIC COLD

Case No. 430:
Boy, age 6, seemed to have colds all winter long complicated by asthma. The boy was very nervous, constipated and had a poor appetite. Neurocalometer and X-ray analysis showed the offending vertebra to be in the top of the neck, caused, the mother thought, by a fall on his head from a high chair at the age of 3, since his ill health seemed to develop from then on. Specific correction brought gradual improvement, and in a few months was a vigorous, hale and hearty boy.

POLIO

Girl, twelve years old began losing the use of her right arm and leg. The limbs began to shrivel away and several medical doctors were consulted. Her case was pronounced infantile Paralysis, with no hope given for recovery. The family minister, who had been helped of an Asthmatic condition, suggested Chiropractic. The child began to improve quickly, and within a few months she had completely recovered.

NERVOUSNESS

Case No. 1629:
Is a matron, age 24, who had an appendix operation and afterward began to develop nervous spells, grew worse; became fearful, had a desire to run and scream; imagined dreadful things; had crying spells; couldn't sleep or eat; had nauseating dull pains in stomach, dizzy spells, headaches, pressure feeling in back of head and neck, extending to top of head, was weak and trembling; was badly constipated; had rheumatic pains in her left hip and left leg, and trouble at period time. She grew worse while under the usual professional care and finally came to the Chiropractic Clinic. A spinal Neurocalometer analysis revealed nerve wave interference and X-rays located the spinal subluxation causing the interference. Adjustments restored alignment and this patient, when last seen, reported all previous symptoms had disappeared and that she felt fine.

Soviets Use Jamming Stations To Block Out Voice Of America

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 18 — In a desperate, costly effort to frustrate and scramble the Voice of America's penetrations of the iron curtain, Russia has erected a network of jamming stations that has no precedent in communications history.

British monitors have located and identified 205 Soviet stations, busy 24 hours a day in the bizarre task of making the U.S. and British broadcasts to the Russian people unintelligible. But the Voice of America engineers and monitors in New York believe the actual number of jamming stations is closer to 1,000—and that a great bulk of all of Russia's homebred and captive radio engineering talent is engaged in the all out radio war. The plan is costing Russia millions of dollars.

Voice Directors Annoyed

We and the British, having adopted a gloves-off attitude toward this business of getting our point of view to the Russian people, are now bombarding the USSR with news, views, editorial comment and economic surveys 24 hours a day. We give the furitive Russian listener a chance to hear the voice on as many as 61 different wave-bands.

But the Russians, probably with the aid of German jamming experts developed in World War II, have done an incredible job of intercepting the Voice and BBC broadcasts to Russia. Their ingenuity has astounded as well as annoyed the directors of the Voice.

For instance the other night, with a vast percentage of all our wavebands into Germany successfully jammed by the Russians, we suddenly switched the frequency of one of our strongest signals. We immediately hit Russia from a wholly different point of the radio spectrum, and the listener's dial. But in just 12 seconds the Russians made the myriad changes flung new stations into action, found the invading beam and jammed it. The Voice hardly had time to say, "This is the truth."

Reds Winning "Radio War"

The Russians are currently winning this oddest of all wars. They are blocking perhaps 75 per cent of all broadcasts directed at the Soviet listener. They are doing it by squirting what amounts to a stream of discordant sound into the exact path-beam of every wave we fling across the iron curtain.

They are so good at it that they can blot the Voice out of a single city (by local jammers with a five or ten mile range) then let it ride expensively across unpopulated wastes, and blot it out when it hits another city.

To combat the eerie perfection of the Russian jammers we are taking many steps, some of them classified as too secret to be published.

It can be revealed, however, that the Russians are jamming the regular broadcasts so effectively that we have been forced also to send the Voice in Morse code—which is virtually non-jammable. For the benefit of those Russians who are not too familiar with the code, it is sent very slowly. There has been no known response to the Morse operation.

News Sharply Condensed

"Operation Snuggle" is another means of reaching the guarded Russian ear. Carefully avoiding violation of the international treaty by which we respect other nation's wave-length rights, Voice engineers send in our words on a band microscopically close to regular Soviet home broadcast bands. When the Soviet jammers try to smear the Voice they also ruin the home broadcast.

In jumping all over the Russian radio addict's dial, in the hope of escaping the ear-splitting rasping of jamming, the Voice has learned to come to the point very quickly—for it knows it will momentarily be fractured. It now starts each program in this manner:

"Obviously, somebody considers it dangerous to permit the Soviet people to listen to truthful information from a free radio."

Sometimes it doesn't even get through that sentence. But, assuming it slips past the sleepless Soviet monitors, and remains unjammed, the Voice will then present the latest world news in quick, terse sentences—or in headline form

Programs Repeated

Then it will follow with interpretation of that news by familiar radio authorities, or editorial comment on the news from leading newspapers. Quickly thereafter it will assure the Russian listener, by blunt facts and figures, that the United States is not teetering on the brink of economic collapse.

Each program lasts half an hour. It is repeated through the day and night, and brought up to date from time to time. When the voice first directed its attention toward Russia it used to go in heavy for negro spirituals, jazz, and essays on how to control the boll-weevil. Now, in the costly show-down of an enormous and almost unknown war of the air, it comes right to the point and hammers the stuff home as fast as possible — against the moment when it will be splashed.

Soviets Blast U.S.

Despite the marshalling of what amounts to huge national networks in the fight to throttle the Voice, the Russians still have enough stations in reserve to send two and a half hours of abuse to America each day. Recent broadcasts have accused U.S. newspapers and radio stations of wrecking the Paris meeting of the foreign ministers, have accused the U.S. of attempting to control Norway, have denounced Bernard M. Baruch and ridiculed the effects of the costly Marshall plan.

We make no effort to jam the Russian-English language broadcasts, though there are some engineers at Voice headquarters who not only think we should do this but should also jam the Soviet Union's home broadcasts. We have the equipment to do it, but not the stomach. With additional equipment and devices, whose cost must be approved by Congress, we could offset much of the present jamming.

Began In February

It all began without warning last February. A Voice broadcast aimed at a region where it is known the Soviets operate a number of slave labor camps was suddely jammed — apparently by equipment set up in Vladivostok.

On April 24 the jamming began in earnest. There is little doubt that the Russians had worked for months preparing the intricate system of locating and spoiling incoming radio beams. But news of the jamming was inundated by the Soviet announcement, to International News Service, that it would be willing to lift the blockade and meet in Paris with the other powers.

About the same time, Andrei Vishinsky, replying to a protest sent to him by Bedell Smith earlier, said that there was no jamming. Jamming, he said, was against the international code drawn up by Russia and 70 other nations at Madrid and Atlantic City. The jamming increased in intensity and effectiveness. Voice broadcasts to other iron curtain countries are now beginning to be jammed. The war of the airwaves is roaring on all fronts.

Petition Seeks To Restrain Constable

HOUSTON, June 18. (AP)—With Governor Beauford Jester and a Houston restaurant owner as plaintiffs, a petition seeking a temporary restraining order against constable Dale Richardson was filed in 80th district court today.

The court was asked to restrain the constable from confiscating and wrecking non-gambling marble machines belonging to the restaurant owner, John G. Compton.

District Judge Roy F. Cambell also was asked to set a date for a hearing for a temporary injunction against Richardson, who has attracted wide publicity in recent weeks by leaving his La Porte precinct and making raids in Houston.

Named as defendant along with Richardson was the Maryland Casualty company, which underwrote the constable's bond when he qualified for office last January 27.

The court was petitioned to direct the company to pay $1,000 to Jester, who in turn would pay it to the clerk of the court for application to damages suffered by the plaintiff in a raid conducted by Richardson against Compton June 11.

It was alleged the Maryland Casualty company is underwriting Richardson's bond acknowledged itself as bound to pay Jester, as governor of Texas, $1,000 for the benefit of any third party injured by Richardson.

Great Lakes-Mexico Water Route Opens

BROWNSVILLE, June 18 (AP)—A clipped ribbon fell apart today to open officially a barge water route from the Mexican border to the Great Lakes.

For J. M. Pickering of Victoria, Texas, who cut the ribbon, it marked attainment of a plan he helped form nearly 44 years ago—an intracoastal canal skirting the nation's gulf and east coasts.

The ceremonies—witnessed by parties who came down from Corpus Christi and went up from Brownsville—meant dredges had chewed out the last stretch (Corpus Christi to Brownsville) of the Brownsville-Florida link of the intracoastal canal.

By boat the parties of dignitaries made their way some 60 miles north of Brownsville—70-odd miles south of Corpus Christi. They halted in the mud flats section of Laguna Madre on the sandy lower Texas coast. Then they watched as the $7,900,000 strip of canal was opened.

Sponsor of the ceremony was the Gulf Intracoastal Canal Association. Its president, J. W. Fulbright of Beaumont was listed among those taking part in the brief event. Others included army engineers and officials of various ports and navigation districts.

Pickering was one of those who met at Victoria Aug. 8, 1905, to organize an intracoastal Canal Association. He, L. M. Stevens of Victoria, and former Vice President John N. Garner, are the only ones of the group still alive.

Dredging of the canal was completed Tuesday. That left a rich agricultural section—the lower Rio Grande valley of Texas along the Mexican border—the southern terminus of the canal.

Lost Girl Remembers Parents' Advice, Finds Safe Way Home

LARAMIE, Wyo., June 18. (AP)—If you ever get lost, Sandra Davis' parents told her, follow a creek downstream until you come to a road.

Eight-year-old Sandra remembered Friday when she wandered away from the vacation cabin of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Davis of Laramie, in the mountainous Boulder Ridge country south of here.

Within an hour, 50 persons were searching the area.

Meanwhile, Sandra and her dog had followed a stream until they reached a road.

Cars Spattered With Oil As California Well Hits Gas

LONG BEACH, Calif., June 18. (AP)—Signal Hill's first gas blow in recent years may be good news to oil men, but owners of about 20 new automobiles says it's a sticky mess.

A General Petroleum well hit a gas pocket at 10,000 feet yesterday and oil spewed over the countryside for 10 minutes. Police said several cars were spattered.

It was the first sign of gas deposits in the DeSoto sand level, and oil men took it as an indication there might be heavy-flowing oil beneath.

Russia's Ministry of Wood Products is being widely criticized in Moscow — particularly by young people — for producing only half the 300,000 pairs of skis promised for 1948.

Boy, 9, Dies After Fire Rescue Fails

DALLAS, June 1. (AP)—A nine-year-old boy died today of burns suffered when he ran into the blazing bedroom of his home in a futile attempt to save the life of his six-month-old baby brother.

The boy, James R. Trout, died in a Dallas hospital. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Trout, were away when the fire broke out last night at their home at nearby Grand Prairie.

James and the three daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Smith—Melba Ruth, 7; Sandra, 5, and Patricia, 3—escaped from the front bedroom where they slept on floor pallets. The flames raced toward the rear bedroom where the baby was asleep in his crib.

James, unable to find "my baby brother" among the spectators, suddenly ran up the steps and into the rear bedroom.

"When he came out his night clothes were on fire and even his hair was burning," Fire Chief J. C. Swadley of Grand Prairie said. Spectators grabbed the boy, threw coats about him and smothered the flames.

"I found the baby already dead when I got into the house," Swadley said. "He was lying in his crib in a corner of the room, with his little face pressed against the pillow, like he was trying to get away from the flames."

March Says Texas Should Give War Veterans 'Reasonable' Bonus

WACO, June 18. (AP)—Caso March said today Texas should give its World War II veterans a "reasonable" bonus.

The 38-year-old former Baylor law professor, a candidate for governor in next year's elections, spoke to opening sessions of the state convention of American Veterans of World War II (Amvets).

"Veterans are faced with two problems," March said. "The first is to get a reasonable bonus from the state, to be amortized over a period of years by taxing natural gas and refining of gasoline.

"The second is for veterans to do something for Texas. Texas is controlled today by special interests and monopoly, and it is going to take young men to break the grip these groups have on Texas."

Negro Woman Wins Battle To Enter Oklahoma U. Law School

NORMAN, Okla., June 18 (AP)—Mrs. Ada Lois Sipuel Fisher, Chickasha negro, today completed her enrollment in the University of Oklahoma law school.

Acting President Carl M. Franklin said Mrs. Fisher would begin classwork Monday morning, taking the regular freshman law school curriculum. Today was the last day for enrollment in the summer term at the university.

Franklin said there will be some means of segregation set up in the classes which Mrs. Fisher will attend.

The enrollment ended a 41-month court fight by Mrs. Fisher to attend the university.

It is almost three years and five months to the day since she asked for the same course on Jan. 14, 1946, and was turned down because of her race. As in most southern states, it was against the law in Oklahoma for a negro to attend a white college, whether public or private.

Mrs. Fisher's fight, backed by the National Association for the advance of colored people, took her into court 10 times.

It resulted in a United States Supreme court decision that partly overturned the Oklahoma segregation law and affects the pattern of negro higher education throughout the South.

Eight Oil Companies Ask For Suspension Of State Leases

BATON Rouge, June 18 (AP) — Suspension of state leases while the tidelands ownership is in dispute has been asked by eight of the 13 major oil companies operating in the Gulf of Mexico.

The Calif. Co., Kerr-McGee Oil Industries inc., and the Phillips Petroleum Co., entered suit in district court yesterday.

Rentals are still being paid by the eight companies, however, state mineral board officials said today. Board records show $2,930,000 paid in rentals so far this year, including payments by the eight companies now in court.

The suits ask a declaratory judgment suspending lease rights and obligations to drill or pay rents on gulf acreage until the United States Supreme Court rules on ownership of the tidelands, claimed by Louisiana and the Federal government.

Air Bases Checked For Buzzing Flier

ALTUS, Okla., June 18. (U.P.)—Air Force bases throughout the nation were being checked today to learn the identity of a jet fighter pilot who "buzzed" Altus so noisily that at least one delicate surgical operation was interrupted.

Sheriff O. O. Turner said officers at the Air Force base at nearby Wichita Falls, Texas, had agreed to press the search for the low-flying pilot.

Doctors at the Abernethy-Starkey clinic were removing a chicken bone from the windpipe of a 13-month-old boy, when aircraft streaked across rooftops of this city in southwestern Oklahoma late Thursday. They were so startled by the blasting noise that surgical instruments were dropper momentarily, they told Turner.

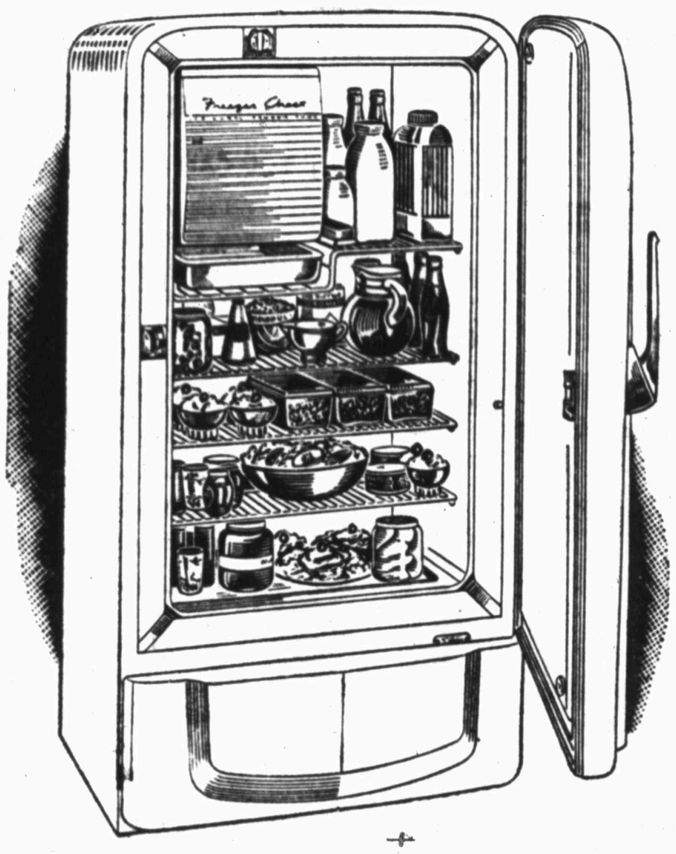

Turner said the air base officials said the plane probably was on a long-distance flight and might have come from a field 500 to 1,000 miles away. Turner said he would demand the flier be punished.

AIR POWER MUST BE MAINTAINED

Scientist Stresses Need For Continued Aviation Research

(EDITOR'S NOTE: — The eminent scientist who directs America's aviation research is apprehensive over U. S. ability to build a supersonic air force in an emergency.

Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, a pioneer researcher in flight faster than sound, declares U. S. air power can be kept dominant "and thus exert a mighty force for peace" if it is "assured a healthy foundation of research.")

By DR. HUGH L. DRYDEN

Director, National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics

WASHINGTON, June 18. (INS)— Sustained, adequate aeronautical research is as vital to America's mighty aviation structure as the roots are to a living, growing tree. There is neither space available nor need to stress the dominant position of air power as a basis for our national security. We are all agreed about the importance of maintaining that dominance.

There are other elements required to make us strong in the air, just as there are many vital parts of a tree. These include the engineers who design new aircraft, the businessmen who organize, finance and manage the companies building these airplanes, and the ultimate users — those who specify what kind of aircraft they need— the national military establishment, air transport companies and private operators.

Hidden beneath the soil, the tree roots grow deep and strong. They provide the anchor, the food and water as the tree fulfills its promise in the form of sturdy trunk and expanse of leaves.

Similarly the research behind a new military airplane is hidden deep inside the completed product. Often, basic research performed five years and longer ago is only today embodied in the fighters and bombers being hatched from industry's factories. What we are today accomplishing in the way of new aeronautical research will certainly appear in further improved military aircraft but perhaps not until the middle 1950's.

Still Much To Learn

Aeronautical research is of the greatest value when it seeks to understand the meaning and significance of phenomena — learning not only the "what" but the "why." We have discovered how to build research airplanes that will fly faster than the speed of sound, but we have yet much to learn about the basic laws which permit flight at such speeds, thus to enable design and construction of supersonic airplanes which will suit the requirements of those who wish to use them.

This is why it is so necessary to undertake long-range research programs which lay groundwork for the future. We have an independent responsibility for deciding what is needed to keep research moving ahead. We realize that always we must focus attention on the future — instead of spending all our time working to make today's airplanes just a little better. We have to live in a world of tomorrows.

Research Necessary

Even in the aviation industry we are apt to forget that the knowledge and practices today considered commonplace had to be painfully discovered over many years. Unless we are careful, we may forget that today's ability to build faster-than-sound airplanes is due, not to the inspiration and genius of a moment, but the accumulation of many, many research projects.

It has been truly said that progress is won only by continually building on the knowledge of the past. In aviation particularly we must be ever vigilant to remember that only by facing forward will we achieve the new knowledge which will be so needed tomorrow. In the life of trees, the trunk and branches can continue to reach skyward only so long as the root system continues to grow.

Assured a healthy foundation of research, the nation's aviation structure can maintain its position of world leadership and thus exert a mighty force for peace.

BOY WHO CAME BACK FROM DEAD—It's a happy day for Larry Page, 4, Pasadena, Calif., boy who was pronounced dead when hit by a car six weeks ago. His parents brought him home. His recovery has been rapid and doctors say he'll soon be out with the other kids. Watching are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Page. (AP Wirephoto.)

Catholic Prelate Defies Czech Regime To Give Anti-Red Speech

PRAGUE, June 18 (INS)—Archbishop Joseph Beran defied Czechoslovakia's Communist regime tonight and warned the country's nine million Catholics to disregard any government announcement that he has signed a church-state agreement.

The Catholic leader declared before "God and nation" he would fight any attempt to restrict the rights of the church even if force is used against him.

The Archbishop also indicated clearly he understands that his defiance may bring reprisals. He said he knew what to "expect" as a result of his policies.

Beran was permitted to leave his palace, which state police have been guarding since Wednesday, to motor to Strahov Monastery and deliver his sermon.

There had been doubt that he would be permitted to leave the palace.

1,200 Attend Rodeo Finals At Littlefield

LITTLEFIELD, June 18. (Special)—A crowd of about 1,200 witnessed the closing performance of the fourth annual Jaycee Rodeo here tonight. Cash prizes totaling $2,500 were awarded to the finalists. More than 60 cowgirls and cowboys entered the three-day contest.

The results of tonight's performance were:

Bull dogging: First place—Shorty Matlock, Clovis, N. M.; second, Polly Rushing, Plains; third, Lester Burham, Abilene.

Bull riding: First, Bo Easley, Clovis, N. M.; second, Robert Boyd of Austin; third, Spec Tipton, of Lamesa; fourth, Bud Watson, Killeen.

Bareback riding: First, Spec Tipton, Lamesa; second, Jake Williams, Fort Worth; third, Scoop Davis, Fort Worth; fourth, Jimmy Miller, Seminole, Okla., and Guy Weeks, Abilene.

Calf Roping: First, Earl Moore, Clovis, N. M.; second, Monroe Tomlinson, Big Spring; third, Troy Fort, Lovington; fourth, Lee Ross Hammond, Clovis, N.M.

Women's Barrel Race: First, Dorothy Sattafield, Cheyenne, Wyo.; second, Mrs. Russell Allen, Coleman; third, Betty Rush, of Levelland, fourth, Sena Barton, of Abilene.

Street dancing in the business district climaxed the rodeo.

Axe Slayer Seeks Writ For Fourth Escape From Gallows

WALLA WALLA, Wash., June 18 (INS)—Still another effort to stave off death on the gallows was made today for Jake Bird, confessed axe slayer.

Murray Taggart, court-appointed lawyer for the negro killer, mailed the Washington Supreme Court an application for a writ of habeas corpus. He returned to Bird's first plea that his confession was "beaten out of him" by Tacoma police.

Bird is under sentence to hang at the state penitentiary July 15. He already has received three stays of execution. His death sentence was meted out for the axe slaying of Mrs. Bertha Kludt in Tacoma in 1947, but he has claimed that he committed 44 axe murders in all.

Taggart expects the application to reach the state Supreme Court Monday. Walla Walla observers expressed belief that Bird does not expect it to be successful but hopes it will stave off death a while longer.

San Angelo Attorney, Prominent El Paso Woman Are Married

DALLAS, June 18. (AP)—Robert T. Neill, San Angelo attorney, and Mrs. Ora Adams Davis of El Paso, were married here today at the Episcopal church of St. Michael and All Angels. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. A. Taliaferro.

Friends since their childhood days in El Paso, Mr. and Mrs. Neill were married quietly in Dallas at 5:15 p. m. and tonight flew to San Angelo, where they will make their home. Mrs. Neill flew from El Paso to Dallas today.

Mrs. Neill, 65, member of a well-known West Texas family, has been prominent in social and church work in the El Paso area for many years. She was the widow of the late Lamar Davis of El Paso. The families have been friends for several generations. Mrs. Neill's son, Gates Davis, McKinley county, N. M., rancher, is Neill's god-son.

36th Division Ends Summer Camp Work

NORTH CAMP HOOD, June 18 (AP)—National guardsmen of the 36th Infantry division broke camp here today as the 49th Armored division moved in for its summer training.

The Texans took home with them the praise of their commanders for a job well done.

T-patchers whose units are stationed more than 200 miles from here began moving out by rail early today. Others who live nearer will go home tomorrow in their own GI trucks.

General Praises Group

Maj. Gen. H. Miller Ainsworth, commanding general of the 36th, paid tribute to the guardsmen under his command the last two weeks.

"It's been a good camp," he said. "I want to compliment not only the guardsmen of the 36th Division but those of the attached units also. They've all done good work—some of them outstanding work."

High praise also came from Lt. Gen. Ernest O. Thompson, commanding general of the Texas National guard, and Brig. Gen. Carl L. Phinney, assistant division commander.

Gen. Thomas T. Handy, commander of the Fourth army, had lauded the work of the camp earlier in the week.

STRAWBERRY RIPE—CHEAP

DURHAM, N. H., (U.P.)— You can buy strawberries at 30 per cent less from C. R. Cross this summer if you're willing to come up here and pick them for yourself. Tired of harvesting a 10,000-basket crop, Cross said it will be strictly self-service from now on.

Senora Anaceleta Mendaz Alvarez, credited with 140 years, died at Jalapa, Mexico.

Part Of Federal Program Points To Welfare State, Byrnes Says

LEXINGTON, June 18. (AP) — Former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes said here today that some of the suggested new federal programs point "inevitably to a welfare state."

"We are going down the road to stateism," he said. "Where we will wind up no one can tell. But if some of the new programs seriously proposed should be adopted, there is danger that the individual — whether farmer, worker, manufacturer, lawyer, or doctor—will soon be an economic slave pulling an oar in the galley of the state."

Byrnes, who received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from Washington and Lee University, was the principal speaker at exercises concluding the school's year-long observance of its 200th anniversary.

"We should not have the federal government regimenting our lives from the cradle to the grave," he warned.

Two Teachers Join Faculty Of Roaring Springs Public Schools

ROARING SPRINGS, June 18 (Special) — Two teachers were elected to the faculty of the Roaring Springs public schools at a recent meeting of the school board.

Elected to teaching positions here for the 1949-50 school term were Marcus Harvey, who is to set up the vocational agriculture department in the local high school for the first time; and Ralph Trice, who will be grade school principal and athletic coach.

Harvey is to receive his degree this summer from Sam Houston State Teachers college, Huntsville, while Trice is to be graduated in August from West Texas State college, Canyon.

Election of the two men to teaching positions here brings the number of faculty members of the Roaring Springs school system to 12.

LUBBOCK AVALANCHE-JOURNAL
Women's News
Lubbock, Texas, Sunday, June 19, 1949

Dean James G. Allen, 3110 Twenty-first, pictured center, looks on in amusement as his son, James C. Allen, contemplates the dismal prospect of unpacking his wardrobe. Young James arrived home earlier this week from Cambridge, Mass., where he attends Harvard. The dean and his son both have a streak of the natural comedian in their make-up and whenever they are together keep up a steady stream of good-humored banter.

Program Is Outlined For Two-Day P-T Institute

SEVEN of the eight areas of Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers are conducting institutes on Parent-Teacher Leadership this summer. The first such program for Districts 14 and 16, which comprise Area 8, will be conducted in Lubbock Tuesday and Wednesday, under sponsorship of Texas Technological college and Texas P-T congress. Registration, which will open Tuesday morning at 8:15 o'clock' and general sessions are to be held at Tech Aggie Memorial auditorium.

Mrs. M. E. West, 14th district vice president, and Mrs. J. B. Adams, president of the Lubbock P-T council, are co-chairmen of the local arrangement committee and Dr. R. E. Garlin, professor and head of the department of education and psychology at Tech, and Frank Junell, assistant to the Tech president, are coordinators of the program. Mrs. H. F. Godeke, a vice president of Region 8, is chairman of the planning committee.

Parent-teacher leaders and members, school administrators and college faculty members are invited to attend the institute in order to study the need, purpose, activities and leadership practices in parent-teacher work. The institute will serve as a school of instruction for new officers in various parent-teacher units.

Dr. Wiggins To Speak

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, Tech president, will welcome the parent-teacher group Tuesday morning at the opening general session at 9:38 o'clock. Greetings will be offered by Mrs. E. S. Smith of Lorenzo, 14th district president, and the response is to be given by Mrs. Holland Holt of Abilene, 16th district president. Mrs. Godeke is to preside. Purpose of the institute is to be discussed by Mrs. Godeke at 10 o'clock. Other discussions of the morning will be as follows: Parent-Teacher Objectives and Policies, Mrs. A. W. Young of Lubbock! Miss Amelia Anthony, founder of Girls Town at Buffalo Gap, will be guest speaker at the anniversary celebration of Lubbock Business and Professional Women's club to be held Wednesday night at Hilton hotel. Dinner is to be served at 7:30 o'clock.

The club is observing its 20th birthday. Another feature of the program will be an officer installation to be conducted by Mrs. June Woodrum, retiring president.

Non-members of the B-PW club who are interested in attending the program may make reservations by calling Mrs. W. P. Garvin at 8475 by 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Elizabeth Walton is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. Others on the committee are Mrs. Mabel Chapman and Miss Elsie Link.

Loyalty Club Meeting Held At State Park

Mrs. A. W. McEachern read scriptures and a poem for Loyalty club Friday at a party given at Mackenzie State park Party house. Mrs. H. C. Pumphrey presided and Mrs. R. E. Blanton led a prayer. Odessa Gordon, a guest, played piano numbers.

Refreshments were served.

Others present were Mesdames Helen Slover, Allie Sproules, A. W. Wright, I. E. Banks, J. E. Gordon, Bertha Levy, A. P. Hardin, Alvis Graves, Minnie Pullen, Henry Diebel, C. H. Hudson, Mae McBride, Rex Anderson and V. B. Mayes. Guests were Mrs. Ben Oglesby and Mrs. Jewel Walling.

The club is to meet July 1 at Mrs. Mayes, 2205 Fifteenth, for an all-day quilting and covered dish luncheon.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

TODAY marks the 40th annual observance of Father's day, which was first proposed by Mrs. John Bruce Dodd of Spokane, Wash., as a tribute to fathers everywhere. President Coolidge recommended its nationwide observance in 1924.

We like the idea of Father's day. In our society father probably is the most underrated member of the human species and the idea of giving him proper recognition one day out of 365 has obvious merit.

While His day is only 40 years old, tributes to Dad are an ancient tradition. Probably the oldest is a clay tablet written about 2,000 years before Christ. It implores the gods to grant fathers good health and "enduring" days—wishes which are being echoed in a thousand different ways on this year in Father's day cards and gifts.

THE spiritual part of the relationship between fathers and children intersts us. We'd like to see a closer spiritual union between the American father and his sons and daughters. We wish it could be possible for fathers to spend more time with their families. Children need direction and if they do not find it at home, their wonderful curiosity will be channeled in less creative, perhaps reckless pursuits.

General Douglas MacArthur said it better than we could write it, when he replied to the committee naming him the father of the year in 1942. "By profession," he wrote, "I am a soldier and take

Town Talk

MR. AND MRS. DOUGLAS W. ROSS, Jr., are guests in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. I. Brown, 1716 Twenty-eighth, for a month's visit. For the past two and one-half years the Rosses have lived in Bogota. Colombia, where he is with the Texas Petroleum company, and Mr. Ross has been working in South America most of the time for the past eight years.

The couple traveled by ocean liner up the Pacific coast from Colombia and spent a month in Berkeley, Calif., visiting his mother before coming on to Texas by automobile. They plan to stay in the States a total of about three months, and then will return to South America.

Miss Billie June Chesher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Chesher of Littlefield, and Miss Bettie Hart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hart of Anton, are vacationing in the East. They are chaperoned by Mrs. Nel Lyne of Littlefield.

Currently in New York after attending graduation week at West Point, the young girls will see Washington, Chicago and South Bend, Ind., before returning home on June 26. Billie June will enter St. Mary's School for Girls in South Bend next Fall.

Miss Barbara Sue West, daughter of Mrs. Ruby West of Lubbock is spending a few weeks in Athens, Texas, with her father, V. E. West. They will leave Sunday on a tour of Alaska.

On their return, Miss West will enter Hockaday school in Dallas.

Byron J. Bennett, associate professor of electrical engineering at Texas Tech, will return to the college for the second summer term, after a year's absence, during which he did graduate work at Stanford university.

Mrs. Burton S. Burks and daughters Mary Katherine and Evelyn Sue, 2627 Thirtieth, are in Granbury visiting Mrs. Burks' mother, who is ill.

The Lubbockites will return home Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Griffith and sons, Jimmy and Don, 1718 Twenty-eighth, left Friday for a three weeks' vacation in California.

Mr. Griffith and the boys, who are pictured on page 1, of this section, are real baseball fans and seldom miss a Lubbock game if they can help it. But the two little men enjoy playing the game as much as watching it from the sidelines, so Don plays short stop on his neighborhood team, the "Horned Toads," and young Jimmy is the group's mascot.

Pretty little Barbara Lee Zacharias, called "Lee" for short by her parents, Rev. and Mrs. David L. Zacharias, 3315 Thirty-third, may seem to be reaching for a star in the lower right picture of the Father's Day layout, but she is usually reaching for her daddy's hair, for it is one of her favorite pastimes and her goodnatured father never seems to mind.

Another of the young lady's interests is "Butch," a big yellow "camera shy" cat, who hid discretely behind the living room couch while his little mistress was posing so happily for the photographer.

Although she isn't yet a year old, Lee is already a little traveler for she took her first plane ride at the age of three weeks from Albuquerque, N. M., where she was born on Aug. 30, 1948.

Kathleene Hurlbut Weds Herbert Neugebauer

THE marriage of Miss Kathleene Virginia Hurlbut and E. Herbert Neugebauer of St. Louis, Mo., was read Saturday at 7:30 o'clock in the evening by Dr. Travis A. White. The altar at First Christian church where the single ring ceremony was performed was banked with greenery and white peonies. Tapers lighted the setting.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Claude B. Hurlbut of 2210 Broadway and the father of the bridegroom is Emil Neugebauer of St. Louis.

Miss Rosalynd Lawrence, soloist, sang Grieg's "I Love Thee" and Miss Iris Ferren, organist, offered "At Dawning." "Because" and traditional marches.

Mr. Hurlbut gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a navy blue all over lace dress with a white organdy underskirt. Her Dutch hat was of organdy and lace and her corsage was of white marconi daisies.

Garners Are Attendants

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Garner of Hobbs, N. M., sister and brother-in-law of the bride, were wedding attendants. Mrs. Garner wore a pale pink marquisette dress with a matching halo hat.

A reception was given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Simmons, 2124 Broadway, following the ceremony. Parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Garner and Mrs. R. C. Smith and Mrs. R. D. Erwin assisted the hosts with hospitalities. The bride's table decor featured white peonies and fern.

Mr. and Mrs. Neugebauer are to make their home in St. Louis after a wedding trip to Colorado. For travel, the bride is wearing a chartreuse linen suit with a white straw hat and white accessories.

The bride has been attending Stephens college in Columbia, Mo., and the bridegroom has been a student at the University of Missouri in Columbia

Miss Rhodes Is Wed To Mr. Valentine

IN a single ring wedding ceremony performed at First Baptist church chapel Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Miss Bobbie Jean Rhodes and James Hardy Valentine of Fort Worth were married. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Rhodes of 3708 Monroe and Mr. Valentine is son of Mr. and Mrs. John Valentine of Edgewood. Dr. J. Ralph Grant performed the service before a candlelighted altar banked with woodwardia fern and baskets of pastel gladioli.

Jack Terrell, soloist, accampanied by Miss Nerma Grace Reid, sang "Because" and offered "Have Thine Own Way" as a musical benediction. A prelude of piano selections played by Miss Reid included "Love Is the Theme." "I Love You Truly." "Indian Love Call" and "Make Me a Blessing." Traditional wedding marches were offered, also.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown of white satin was fashioned with a Colonial style bodice, a beaded lace yoke and fitted sleeves which came to points at the hands. Her skirt swept into a train and her beaded headdress held a two-tiered lace trimmed veil of fingertip length. She carried a bouquet of calla lilies.

Carries Out Tradition

Carrying out tradition, the bride carried an imported blue lace handkerchief of Miss Vickie Martin's; she wore an heirloom bracelet which had been in the family of Mrs. Jot Smyth for more than 150 years; and in her shoe, she put a penny which was borrowed from Rev. Foy Valentine.

Miss Nadyne Brewer, maid of honor, wore blue taffeta pattern-

Luncheon Is Courtesy

As a compliment to Mrs. P. Marlin Minter, the former Miss Frances Walkup of Quanah, Mrs. George Lemon and Mrs. Ross Ayers gave a luncheon Saturday afternoon in the Hilton Chimayo room.

Mixed summer flowers decked the table.

A hostess gift marked the honoree's place. Covers were laid for Mesdames E. J. Parsons, Neil H. Wright, sr., D. M. Wiggins, O. V. Adams, Sterling White, James H. Murdough, Marion Smith, Bob Wilson and H. A. Anderson.

One-Year-Old Feted With Birthday Party

The first birthday of George Beakley, III, was celebrated at a party given by his aunts, Mrs. Horace Sandlin and Mrs. L. V. Risinger, jr., in the Sandlin home, 705 Ave. N, Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Beakley and her son of Stephenville had been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Zeh, here this week. Mr. Beakley, who teaches at John Tarleton, joined his family Friday and then went to Levelland to spend the weekend with his parents.

Guests at the birthday party were Jerry Ann and Sally Sandlin, Jerry Carnell, Mary and Polly Risinger, Maurice Sandlin, Walter Graves, Carol, Nancy and Larry Youngblood and Sharon and Trudy Jo Duckworth.

June Pierce Is Bride Of Garrett Rawson

IN a double ring ceremony read Saturday night at 8 o'clock at St. John's Methodist church, Miss June Pierce became the bride of Pvt. Garrett Rawson of Camp Chaffee, Ark. Dr. C. A. Bickley, pastor of Asbury Methodist church, officiated.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Pierce, 2409 Twenty-fourth, and G. L. Pierce of Lubbock. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Rawson of San Augustine.

Baskets of white gladioli decorated the candle-lighted altar.

Mrs. C. E. Reynolds, organist, accompanied Mrs. Dorcell Young who sang "Because" and "Always." "Clair de Lune" was played during the ceremony.

Brother Is Escort

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, W. R. Pierce. She wore a white butcher linen dress fashioned with a tight bodice, trimmed with tiny heart-shaped buttons, and a full skirt. Her accessories were white and she wore an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Lige Embry of Amarillo was matron of honor. She wore salmon pink butcher linen with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Eugene Rawson of Orange, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and ushers were Dorcell Young and Sgt. Phil Hahn of Camp Chaffee. The candles were lighted by Priscilla Pierce of Lubbock and Lyndel Wishcamper of Amarillo, niece and nephew of the bride.

A reception followed at the home of Mrs. O. E. Baker, 2622 Twenty-ninth. The couple was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Lige Embry, Mrs. Joe Wishcamper, Mrs. W. R. Pierce and Mrs. Delton Tapp.

Cut flowers and white gladioli were arranged throughout the rooms. The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with the wedding cake, which was topped with a miniature bridal couple.

After a trip to Galveston and San Augustine, the couple will be at home in Fort Smith, Ark.

The bride is a graduate of Lubbock High school and has been employed at Koen studio. Pvt. Rawson is a graduate of San Augustine High school and formerly was teller at Citizens National bank. He entered Army service in December 1948 and is now cashier of finance at Camp Chaffee.

ed after the bride's dress except for a bertha yoke which formed cap sleeves. She carried a bouquet of pale pink carnations and wore a halo of matching flowers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Vicki Martin and Miss Billie Rosenthal, cousin of the bride. Miss Martin wore a rose taffeta dress identical to Miss Brewer's and carried rose carnations. Her halo was of the same flowers. A lime green dress was worn by Miss Rosenthal. Her bouquet and halo were of pink carnations.

Vicky Jean White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. White, who was flower girl wore a yellow taffeta dress designed with a bertha neckline and a gathered skirt.

Rev. Valentine of Fort Worth, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man and Zackie Reynolds and Robert E. Havs were ushers.

Reception Follows Vows

Wedding guests attended a reception in the Rhodes home following the ceremony. A tiered Valentine shaped cake, embossed with calla lilies and topped with a hand modeled bride and bridegroom, was placed beneath an archway on the bride's table. Miniature bridesmaids dressed identically to the bride's attendants completed the arrangement. The candlelighted table was laid with a lace cloth.

In the reception houseparty were parents of the bride and bridegroom ,members of the wedding party and Mesdames Phil Rosenthal, D. E. Sellers, L. O. White, A. A. Reynolds, and Misses Mae Davis and Camille Conely.

Out-of-town guests were from Arizona, Fort Worth, Hale Center and Floydada.

For a wedding trip to Brownwood ,the bride wore a blue summer suit with white accessories and a red rosebud corsage. The couple wil lbe at home in Fort Worth after July 5. Mrs. Valentine is a graduate of Texas Technological college and has an M. A. degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary, Fort Worth. Mr. Valentine, who is a chemist with the Soil Conservation laboratory of Fort Worth, has an M. A. degree from Texas A. and M.

CLOVER CURIOSITIES

One group of Lubbock children have found a new pastime, and if there is anything to superstition, they have enough good luck stored up to last a lifetime.

Almeta and Snuffy Ratliff, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Ratliff, 2205 Thirtieth; Karen, Jan, Ginger and Dinah Kerr, children of Mr. and Mrs. Wright Kerr, 2207 Thirtieth; and Fred Ellison, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Ellison, 2211 Thirtieth, have located a clover patch in the Ellison yard which has an abundance of four-leaf clovers. Also they have found several five-leaf specimens of the reputed luck-bringing plant.

Little Almeta is making a collection of the clover curiosities.

IN THE MAIL

Virginia Jones writes from Waco that she and James E. Titus, who was an instructor in the Tech government department last semester, will be married in Waco during the month of September. The couple will make their home in Wisconsin, where he will work on his doctorate at the University of Wisconsin, and she will continue her college studies also.

The ex-Techsan and Ko Shari member is recovering from an appendectomy. The day she planned to leave for Fort Worth to attend the Doris Garrison-Kenneth Hightower wedding, Virginia had a severe attack of appendicitis and changed her destination from Fort Worth to a Waco hospital.

IN EAGLE PASS

Dotsie Phillips' family moved to Eagle Pass about Christmas of this year, and she hadn't been home since then, so the Techsan was dreading to spend the summer in a strange town. However, she writes Lubbock friends that she is liking her new home very much now and has met lots of young people there. (Among them is a nice looking student from Texas A&M who is dating her often.)

She is swimming, loafing and having a good time in general, but is looking forward to July 5, when she will come through Lubbock on her way to Camp Davis, where she will be a counselor. Libby Castleman and Mary Stamford, who will also be counselors at the camp, will be in town on the same day, and they are planning to have a miniature reunion in Dorm III that day.

SUMMER SEWING

Several Lubbock girls number a sewing machine among their summertime "best friends."

Carol Jean Sandlin is planning her fall wardrobe and will begin making it soon, so she won't be so rushed getting her clothes made for school.

Jonanne McWhorter is making a cool and crisp white organdy frock which is ideal for a summer dating or dancing dress.

Frances Crowder has already completed a pale orchid dress of waffle pique for herself, and is now working on a gray broadcloth sport shirt which is for Frank Clark, the boy with whom she goes steady. Industrious Frances is also finding time to embroider cup towels as a home project for home economics.

Leadership Camp Set Thursday By City Recreation Department

A leadership camp for selected volunteer leaders, the first of a series of summer camps sponsored by the City Recreation department, will be held from 1:30 until 9:45 p. m. Thursday at the barbecue pit at Mackenzie State park.

Boys and girls who will attend the camp are being selected from each park by playground and camp directors on the basis of leadership characteristics.

Mrs. Gladys Sims, camping director, and Bill Selke, camping assistant, will give instructions in the use of camping equipment, safety, first aid, camp cookery, handwork, folk dancing, archery, camp fire, stunts and games, camp songs and general camp routine.

The aim of the training camp is to teach camping through actual camping experience, Mrs. Sims said Saturday.

Howdy Folks,

Well, at last I've persuaded Bee to make me a sketch of one of the coral doors that I've been talking about for three years. From now on you will find it easier to locate my favorite spot.

There was a lot of excitement going on inside those doors this week—the Studio had just heard from Ann and James. They had talked "Spode" out of some exquisite service plates and the first shipment of "Pink and Blue Tower" since the very beginning of the war. Ann and James are to visit the Spode factory while in England and hope to get more orders—or better still, to find some much needed patterns that can be shipped immediately.

The travelers still had one more day in New York City before sailing, and Fredda promised to let me in on all their buying news.

Incidentally, Rosa had her head in a barrel and coming out was "Apple" pottery! I always like to let you in on this because I know everybody is waiting for it, and you will need to get yours early in the week.

Fredda and Bee left early Friday morning to start some out of town jobs, and I hear by the grapevine route that San Antonio is next on Decorators Studio's list for a new job.

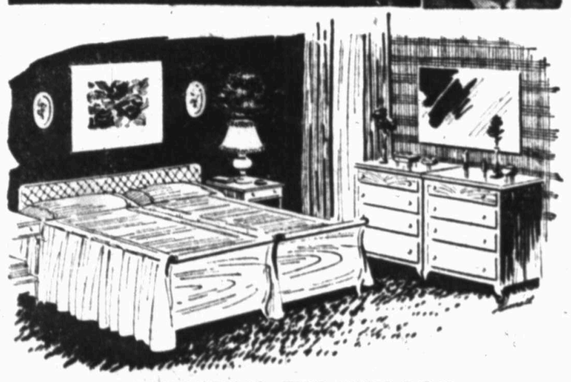

Kaye is staying with her grandmother and Fredda for two weeks and they both take on an extra pleased look when Kaye visits them. Alma and Pete were here over the weekend and I am told that they are much wiser about rent contracts than they were when they arrived Saturday night.

See you next week—Behind those Coral Doors—Broadway and N.

Grandpa Nosey.

SPEAKING OF Furniture
By BILL CASSTEVENS

DECORATING THE BEDROOM

Make your bedroom something to be proud of. The trend today, due to smaller bedrooms, leans toward the modern, functional, space-saving furniture . . . But wait, don't let that keep you from using the furniture you have, or from "period" pieces if you like them.

As in all decorating, it's what YOU like that counts.

Let's take the case of the bedroom illustrated above. The room was small to begin with. But this has been overcome, to all appearances, by making the twin beds into one by using a slip-cover over the headboard, and placing the Mr. and Mrs. chests side by side between the two windows. A small vanity with lamps fills in the other wall.

If the ceiling seems too low, try drapes with a vertical design without the valance. Use bedspreads in harmony with the color scheme and you have a room that's cozy and "sleepable" . . . one you'll like to show your friends.

Just keep these two things in mind . . . it's taste, not money, that counts. And stock to scale. Don't try to make the small bedroom hold too much.

You'll probably find many suitable pieces of furniture in our store to round out the picture. If we can help in any other way let us know.

Ahead, Dr. Garlin; The Psychology of Leadership, O. L. Caskey, of the Tech education and psychology department; What Home and School Cooperation Means, Floyd Honey, principal of Lubbock Senior High school; and Professional Benefits of P-TA Membership, Frank Monroe of Midland.

After a 12 o'clock luncheon in Women's dormitory 4 on Tech campus, the general session will re-open at 1:15 p. m. with Mrs. E. S. Smith presiding. At 1:45 p. m., a panel discussion on "Methods of Establishing Good Working Relationships between Parent-Teacher Associations and School Administrators," will be presented by A. B. Reese, president of Classroom Teachers of Lubbock; Ishmeal Hill, assistant superintendent of Lubbock schools; Clyde Tatum of Lubbock, president of the school board; and Dr. Doyle D. Jackson of the Tech education department. At 3 o'clock, workshops on home and family life study, councils, chairmen and room representatives, and audio visual education and motion pictures are to be conducted. Dinner is to be at 6 p. m. and receration will be at 8 p. m. in the Tech gymnasium under direction of Mrs. George Langford, professor and head of the woman's physical education department at the college.

On Child's Needs

Mrs. Holland Holt is to preside at the general session Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock. A panel discussion on "Meeting the Needs of the Whole Child" is to be given at 8:15 a. m. by Dr. Agnes True of the college education and psychology department; Dr. J. D. Donaldson, local doctor; John Wilson, juvenile probation officer of Lubbock; and Dr. Albert Barnett, of the Tech education and psychology department. At 9:45 a. m. in an information period is to be conduced by Mrs. M. E. West; Mrs. Ross Ayres, district publicity chairman; Mrs. John Hamilton of Matador, district board member; Mrs. H. F. Godeke; and Mrs. Ivy Savage, principal of Roscoe Wilson school, Lubbock.

Mrs. H. G. Stinnett of Plainview, a state vice president, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Godeke are to report the National P-T convention at 11:15 a. m. The convention was held in St. Louis in May. The afternoon session is to open at 1 p. m. with Mrs. Stinnett presiding. Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president of Tech, will address the P-T group at 1:15 p. m. on the subject "Education for Responsible Parenthood."

The afternoon workshops are to be held at 1:45 p. m. on strengthening local units and membership.

A tea to be given from 2:45 to 3:30 p. m. in Dormitory 4 will conclude the program Mrs. S. W. Brunston is in charge of arrangements for the entertainment. Members of the registration committee and tea hostesses are Mesdames William G. Dingus, Eugene Knox, Dan Creson, A. W. Young, Arch Harper, L. O. Crowder, L. E. Parsons, L. C. Peveto, W. A. Bishop, E. W. Brown, Earl Dietering, Ray Mowery and Howard Patterson.

Mrs. Paul Seay is in charge of meal tickets and Mrs. R. O. Kershner is to be in charge of exhibits. Assembly singing will be lead by Mrs. Elois Elliott.

Persons who are unable to stay overnight in Lubbock are invited to attend either day's program, according to Mrs. Godeke. Out-of-town women who wish to spend the night in Lubbock may secure accommodations at Dormotory 4, and men may stay at Drane hall. Local persons, especially teachers, are urged to attend the sessions.

TO VISIT—Estella Alexander, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Alexander, jr., formerly of Lubbock but now of San Diego, Calif., is to take a vacation from her dancing performances and will spend the month of July with her grandmother, Mrs. J. E. DeLavan, 1112 Twenty - third. Estella is a favorite entertainer at the San Diego Army and Navy YMCA and has made appearances at the VFW, Egles hall and Elks club in San Diego.

Party Honors Bride-Elect

A miscellaneous bridal shower was given recently in the Chimayo room of the Hilton hotel as a courtesy to Miss Winnell Stiles, bride-elect of Bruce Smith.

Hostesses were Mesdames Dorothy Ashby and Neal Purdy. The honoree's favorite colors, yellow and blue, were used in the decorations. The serving table was centered with yellow rosebuds, white shasta daisies and cornflowers.

Mrs. Ashby registered guests.

Mrs. J. Floyd Smith presided at the refreshment table. Twenty-five guests called or sent gifts.

Sue Edmisson Marries Doctor; Miss Frances Sikes Is Bride

Miss Sue Edmisson, daughter of Mrs. Hanford Reed of Austin and John Edmisson of 2310 Seventeenth, and Dr. Charles Lee Reynolds, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Reynolds of Muskogee, Okla., were married Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock in the chapel of Tarrytown Methodist church in Austin. Rev. Ted Richardson read a single ring ceremony as the couple stood before an altar decorated with white gladioli, stock and carnations, flanking greenery.

Miss Jessica Turpin sang "Always," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. E. J. Humeston.

Uncle Is Escort

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Warren Houston of Texas City, wore a ballerina length dress of white lace over organdy, designed with close-fitting neck, cap sleeves, and full skirt. White lace gloves and a picture hat of matching material formed her accessories and she carried a nosegay of white flowers centered with an orchid. Her golden earrings had belonged to her maternal great-grandmother.

Mickey Boggess, sister of the bride, was flower girl and Herman Jones and John W. Burcham of Austin were ushers.

A reception followed at Green Pastures and later the couple left for a trip to the New England states, the bride traveling in a lime and coral summer suit with navy accessories. They will be at home at Newport, R. I.

The bride is a graduate of Austin High school and attended Hockaday Junior college, Dallas, where she received outstanding honors. Dr. Reynolds is a graduate of Southwestern Medical college, Dallas, and a member of Phi Lambda Chi and Phi Beta Pi fraternities. He interned at Baylor University hospital in Dallas last yar and is now employed at the U. S. Naval hospital in Newport as a medical officer.

Double Ring Service Read In Sikes Home

SLATON, June 18 — Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sikes are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Frances, to Frank Weathered, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Weathered of Neosho, Mo., formerly of Slaton. The wedding took place Wednesday morning in the Sikes home. J. Lloyd Moyer, minister of the Church of Christ, read a double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Lowell Merrell, pianist, played, "Clair de Lune" and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and accompanied Donald Sikes, bride's brother, as he sang "Always."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a two-piece dress of eggshell salyna with pink and black accessories and a pink rosebud corsage. Mrs. Arthur L. Voight, sister of the bride and matron of honor, wore a gray cotton dress with a white picture hat and a corsage of sweetpeas.

Floyd L. Reynolds of Lubbock was best man.

Reception Honors Complete

Following the ceremony, a reception was given in the bride's home. A linen cloth covered the refreshment table which was decorated with an arrangement of peonies, daisies and carnations and white tapers. Mrs. Voight served the wedding cake and Miss Cleo Joyce Keese presided at the silver coffee service. Mrs. Sam Phillips, jr., registered guests.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Slaton High school and attended Texas Technological college. Mr. Weathered, a Navy veteran, is employed by Santa Fe Railway in Slaton. After a week's wedding trip to Chicago, Ill., the couple will be at home in Slaton.

Mrs. Floyd Reynolds of Lubbock was among wedding guests.

HOSTESS TO CLUB

PLAN GOETHE CELEBRATION—The Foreign languages department of Texas Technological college will sponsor two programs this summer, one Monday night and the other Aug. 8, in observance of the Goethe bicentennial celebration. Theodor W. Alexander, instructor in German, seated at far right above, arranged the Monday night program which will feature an address by Dr. Robert T. Clark, jr., of University of Texas, and a presentation of the prelude and fifth act of Gounod's opera "Faust" by the Tech band. Other members of the bicentennial committee at the college are those pictured above, seated left to right, Jack Sloan, Jack Wilson, and Jem Block, and standing, Carter Wheelock. The program for Monday is to be held at 8 o'clock in back of the bands building on the campus.

University Professor To Lecture

Goethe World-Wide Celebration Planned By Tech Department

Participation of Texas Technological college in the world-wide Goethe bicentennial celebration will be opened Monday night at 8 o'clock, with the presentation of Dr. Robert T. Clark., jr., president of the South Central Modern Languages Association and professor of German at the University of Texas, who will speak on the topic "Goethe and the Twentieth Century." The program which will be given in the open air behind the band building on the campus is sponsored by the foreign languages department in observance of the two hundredth anniversary of Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, German poet and scientist.

The college summer school orchestra, under direction of Professor D. O. Wiley, and R. A. Dhossche, band director from San Antonio, will open the event with the prelude and fifth act of Gounod's opera "Faust." Dr. Charles B. Qualia, head of the foreign language department, will introduce the speaker. The program is open to the public.

Dr. Clark is a native of Nashville, Tenn., where he was born in 1906. He attended Vanderbilt university, where he received B. A. and M. A. degrees, studied two years at the University of Leipzig, and later took a Ph. D. degree from Stanford university. He has held teaching positions at Vanderbilt and Duke universities, and at Louisiana State university, where he was head of the foreign languages department from 1938 to 1945. He has published articles in historical, language, and other learned journals, and is currently writing a two-volume biography of J. G. Herder, philosopher and friend of Goethe.

Arranged By Alexander

Theodor W. Alexander, instructor in German, arranged the program, which is the first of two being offered this summer. On Aug. 8, Mrs. A. L. Strout, internationally known puppeteer, will preesnt a marionette play, "Das Puppenspiel vom Doktor Faust," assisted by Jem Block. Students will perform also a Goethe comedy, "Die Wette." Both plays will be given in German.

A number of Goethe's books and other Goetheana will be on display this week in the library, according to Miss Lulu Stine, acting Tech librarian. Members of the bicentennial committee who worked with Mr. Alexander are Jack Wilson, Jack Sloan, Jem Block and Carter Wheelock.

Focal point of the Goethe commemoration in America is Aspen, Colorado, where the Goethe Bicentennial Foundation is currently sponsoring a $300,000 celebration of the poet's birthday. He was born the world. Himself a scientist, August 28, 1749.

Through a modern revival of Goethe's thinking, according to a publication of the Foundation, "a community of basic understanding may be approached in the world today. The 1949 bicentennial is an attempt to help the people of all nations to strengthen their will for decency and morality."

Influence Of Goethe

Goethe's importance to the world consists primarily in his poetic genius and in the stature of his novels and drama, through which he has exerted profound influence on the modern world. Viewing the world of thought from a human perspective, as opposed to narrow provincialism, he was concerned with the position of the human being in a chaotic social order, and tried to reconcile the liberty of the individual with his service to society. He had faith in the ability of men to become genuinely free as individuals, without oppression or conflict, and in dealing with the question, he anticipated the paramount problems of modern civilization

Goethe lived during the Industrial Revolution. With his clear insight into the dynamics of modern technology, he foresaw what the machine age would mean to economist, and statesman, he was able to integrate his vast world of knowledge into the whole of his endeavor after the understanding of human relationships. In the 83 years of his life he saw the social, economic, political and ideological face of the world change, and the heritage he left is one of profound meaning to a century which finds itself struggling with the problems he foresaw.

Artistically, Goethe is equally significant. His poetry is among the world's most beloved, for its beauty simplicity, and feeling. No other poetry has inspired such a volume of renowned musical composition. His greatest dramatic creation is "Faust," which presents, through the figure of Faust, the eternal striving, failure, and redemption of man. As a novelist, he became a sensation in Western Europe through his "Werther," a significant reaffirmation of the freedom of emotion, and through "The Elective Affinities," which deals with the sanctity of pure love in tragic antagonism with the laws of morality. The universality of Goethe's thought and the actuality of his message to the people of the twentieth century provide occasion to re-examine and re-interpret his philosophy in relation to its contemporary significance.

Ralph Havis Is Married Saturday

HONEOYE, N. Y., June 18 (Special)—The marriage of Miss Lois Virginia Hutchinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Hutchinson, and Dr. John Ralph Havis, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Havis of Slaton, took place at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Mendon Presbyterian church with Rev. Albert H. Kingsley officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of candlelight satin, fashioned off the shoulder with a softly folded bertha, fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves, completed by a full gathered hoop pick up skirt, with touches of the lace showing under the sweeping court train. She wore a veil of French illusion held by a halo of pearlized orange blossoms and carried a cascade of white roses and snapdragons.

In Bridal Party

Her attendants were Mrs. Duane Crumb, Rochester, N. Y. Mrs. Robert Havens, Honeoye; Mrs. Walter J. McCarthy, Ithaca, N. Y.; Miss Helen Hutchinson, Honeoye and Miss Susan Crumb.

Robert D. Sweet of Ithaca served as best man. Ushers were Marion W. Meadows, Ithaca; Duane Crumb and Robert Havens.

The couple has gone to Canada for a wedding trip. The bride holds a bachelor of science degree from Cornell university, where she was a member of Delta Gamma sorority.

Dr. Havis is a graduate of Lubbock High school and holds a bachelor of science degree from Texas Technological college and a Ph. D. degree from Cornell university. He was on active duty in the United States navy for three and one-half years. He is a member of Sigma Xi honorary society.

Lou Lawson Is Engaged

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Lou Lawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Lawson, of Lubbock, to Roy Butler, son of Mrs. Tom Butler of Rising Star on July 15, will be announced at a breakfast this morning in the home of Mrs. Douglas Moore, 2106 Thirteenth.

Centering the bride-elect's table will be two sets of gold double ring wedding bands on gold stands tied with nile green ribbons and mock orange blossoms. Single strands of double gold bands will center each table, and floral arrangements will be of red roses tied with nile green, the bride-elect's chosen colors. Written beneath miniature gold bands on individual place favors will be "Lou and Roy, July 15."

Covers will be laid for the honoree, Mrs. B. W. Lawson, mother of the bride-elect; Miss Sue Lawson, twin sister of the bride-elect; and Miss Anita Oliver, Norma Hudman, Alice Birdwell, Mary Hammock, Mary Alice Mitchell, Jean Woodrum; Mary King, Lois Jean Weeks, both of Amarillo, and Jane Skinner of Electra.

H-D Club Talk Is On Pest Extermination

Plant insect control was discussed by Mrs. R. C. Wiley for East Side Home Demonstration club Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. H. Earls, 801 Ave. B. Mrs. Wiley explained that the situation will become uncontrollable if insects are not exterminated as soon as they appear.

The club prayer was repeated in unison at the opening of the meeting. Mrs. Earls gave a council report and Mrs. N. D. Kelsd led a recreation program.

Wednesday afternoon a forty-two and tacky party for the club will be held in the home of Mrs. Wiley. The next regular meeting is to be July 1 with Mrs. Wiley.

GOSSIP

DEAR BUCK:

Guess you have heard that Janie Blake is back in Lubbock. You know she has been in Boston, Mass., studying dancing all year. She has sure learned a lot and is just as swell as ever, and just as good in acrobatics.

While most of her work in Boston was in ballet and modern, she is planning to take the acrobatic course from Rozanas July 18th. I hope she decides to go to New York next year because I believe she has something.

We are still working on the studio, and are just about finished with the hardwood floor in the new studio. We will be ready for the painting by next week. I sure want you to come and see it when we are finished.

I'm not sure, but I think we are going West on our vacation this year. Just now we can't think of anything but work and the acrobatic course in July. Several students have already enrolled and some are working out about three times a week. Why don't you come down and get in shape?

Love,
Wing.

Wedding Is In Abilene

SNYDER, June 18. (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Wyatt of Snyder, former Tahoka residents, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Nanny Nell Wyatt, and George C. Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Morris of Kerrville, which took place June 4 in the Abilene First Methodist church. Rev. H. C. Smith of Abilene read a double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a skyblue dress with brown accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Richard Young, as matron of honor. Charles Morris served his brother as best man.

Is McMurry Graduate

The bride was graduated from McMurry college this summer, where she was assistant instructor in women's physical education for two years. The bridegroom, who served four years in the Army Air Force, is a senior at McMurry college, where he is a member of Alpha Chi, national honor society, and is on baseball and track teams.

The couple is at home in Abilene

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Richard Young and son, Dicki, and Mr. and Mrs. Gregg Bell and daughter, Carla, of Lubbock.

Possibility Of Crossing Bees With Termites Is Considered

FEEDING HILLS, Mass., June 18 (U.P.)—The possibility of crossing termites and bees was raised by the actions of an industrious insect noted in Feeding Hills.

The insect, seemingly a bee, bored its way half through a one-inch shelf on the back porch of a house here.

Residents of the house said the been then made a right-angle turn and bored a hole along the length of the plank. When last observed, it had proceeded sereval inches.

RAINBOW GIRL—Miss Jeri Pat Hudson, above, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hudson of Earth, was installed as worthy advisor of the Order of the Rainbow for Girls, Earth assembly, No. 156. At the installation, the new officer discussed her theme, "Nature," and Ann Clayton and Conetha Fennell sang Miss Hudson's theme song, "In the Garden." The worthy advisor is a charter member of the assembly.

Dinner Is Honor

A farewell dinner for Miss Ann Hill, who will move to Abilene today, was attended by members of Lubbock Pilot club Thursday night in the Yaqui room in Hilton hotel.

The legislative program as outlined by the Pilot National legislative committee, now meeting in connection with a national Pilot convention in Chicago, was unanimously approved by the unit.

The club president, Miss Lois Alexander, is attending the national convention as a delegate. She will return to Lubbock early this week.

Members attending the dinner were the honoree, Miss Hill, Miss June Hanson, Mrs. Ila Beal, Miss Lois Graves, Miss Evelyn Clewell, Mrs. Lillie V. Smith, Mrs. Bessie Ford, Mrs. Lauraine A. Bullard, Mrs. Letha Simpson, Mrs. Jewel J. Huie and Mrs. Pearl H. Smith.

U. S. Mediums Gather For Annual Spookfest

LILY DALE, N. Y., July 18. (U.P.) Mediums from throughout the country and other parts of the world will flock here during July and August to attend the 70th annual Lily Dale Assembly.

Picturesque Lily Dale, to the uninitiated, is the self-styled center of the spirit world. To outward appearances, it is just a beautiful and quiet country community. But to believers in spiritualism it is a shrine.

It is in the famed Fox cottage here, according to believers, that spiritualism had its 'modern" inception.

In the weather-beaten cottage, so the story goes, John Fox, his wife, and their three daughters 101 years ago communicated by "rappings" with the "earthbound spirit of the murdered peddler."

According to the story on which the belief is founded, the children named the rappings "Split Foot," after the devil. A pamphlet preserved with the old cottage points out how Mrs. Fox learned by rappings from "Split Foot" that he was a peddler who had been murdered and buried in the cellar.

The cottage, formerly located in Hydesville, N. Y., where the family lived, was moved here in 1916 when it was presented to the Lily Dale Assembly.

The cottage still attracts large numbers of visitors. Many have reported getting answers by "raps" on simple questions.

Wedding Is Read Friday

Miss Mary Anna Baldwin, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. B. H. Baldwin, Rt. 6, became the bride of Benjamin Wayne Dean, son of Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Dean of Blair, Okla., in a ceremony read at the Baldwin home Friday night at 7 o'clock. The bride's father performed a single ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Floss Baldwin of Whiteface, wore a gray summer suit with white accessories and carried a white Bible topped with a corsage.

Ushers were Darold Baldwin, brother of the bride, and James Jones, nephew of the bridegroom.

A reception was given in the Baldwin home after the ceremony. Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Cooper High school. They are to be at home at Lone Wolf, Okla.

Niagara Power May Be Greatly Boosted

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., June 18 (U.P.)—Mighty Niagara Falls, under the guidance of American and Canadian utility experts some day may be harnessed to produce twice as much electricity as at present.

Exactly how much electricity Niagara will produce in the future depends largely upon a new international treaty to be negotiated between the United States and Canada. Among other things, the treaty will deal with water diversion in the Niagara River for power purposes.

In the immediate future, the Niagara Falls Power Co. plans to go ahead with a $60,000,000 project to generate more electricity if the treaty makes permanent the present emergency diversion of water for power purposes.

The water, taken from the river on both American and Canadian sides above the falls, would be carried downstream by canals four or five miles to obtain the advantage of the river's full drop of approximately 310 feet. Spokesmen said the diversion would in no way destroy the scenic beauty of the falls.

The original boundary water treaty allows the United States to divert 20,000 cubic feet of water per second and 36,000 cubic feet for Canada. Emergency increases have raised the maximums to 32,500 cubic feet per second for the United States and 56,500 for Canada.

TO TOUR EUROPE—Pictured above, left to right, are Miss Martha Lou Hubbard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alpha Hubbard, 2220 Broadway, and Mrs. R. T. Groves, 1925 Twenty-sixth, who will leave this morning at 6:40 o'clock by Braniff Airways for New York. Wednesday they will sail on the liner Queen Mary for a six weeks tour of Europe. Primitive Paintings Remain Mystery To Archeologists

BERKELEY, Cal., June 18. (U.P.)—The crude paintings found on vertical cliffs and isolated rocks in California's mountains were done by primitive Indian artists recordings their early tribal histories.

Studies by the California archeological survey reveal that there are more than 250 of these "petroglyphs" scattered throughout the state, some of them a thousand years old.

Most of the Indians believed they had been painted or outlined in rough grooves by a mischievous god named "Coyote" but in fact they were done by primitive "Picassos" belonging to their own tribes.

Few of the paintings bear any evidence of contact with the white man's civilization, but one, found near Kernville, apparently commemorated a massacre in 1863 when the U. S. cavalry wiped out the entire male population of a tribe.

Indian Squaw Released From Prison Goes Home In Style

SALEM, Ore., June 18. (U.P.)—A Klamath Indian woman hired a taxicab and rode in style from Oregon state prison to her reservation home in southern Oregon.

Mrs. Imogene Fisher paid a Klamath Falls, Ore., cab company $102 to send a cab to drive her home upon her release after serving five years for manslaughter for the death of Watkin Davis, another Klamath Indian.

Mrs. Fisher said she saw nothing unusual in hiring the long-distance cab. Said the Indian artist and silver worker. "I had too much luggage to take any other way."

Luncheon Is Bon Voyage

A bon voyage luncheon for Mrs. R. T. Groves and Miss Martha Lou Hubbard, who are to sail for Europe Wednesday, was given Saturday at Hilton hotel Colonial room by Miss Hubbard's mother, Mrs. Alpha Hubbard.

Pink roses and greenery in a crystal bowl, flanked by pink tapers burning in crystal holders, centered the luncheon table.

Covers were laid for the honorees, the hostess, and Misses Nell Marie Wiley, Glenys Honey, Ella Fay Groves, Linioel Hilliard, Sylvia June Winder, Jo Ann Pruett, Goldia Hester, and Mesdames E. L. Effective Date Of Basic Science Bill Confusing State Officials

By O. B. LLOYD, JR.
United Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, June 18.—Texas' basic science law, born in controversy and finally passed in April, was swathed today in confusion.

The bill was generally regarded as "a 90-day measure"—a bill that automatically become effective 90 days after adjournment of the legislature.

However, Secretary of State eBn Ramsey revealed that the law took effect April 28, the date it was signed by Gov. Beauford Jester.

The announcement tossed a question mark into the semi-annual medical board examinations being completed in Austin by 276 aspiring young medical students.

Licenses In Doubt

It also threw a cloud of legal doubt over some 200 reciprocity licenses granted out-of-state doctors.

Ramsey based his announcement, he said, on a supreme court ruling of more than a decade ago that held that a concurrence vote by the legislature takes precedence in determining the effective date of a bill.

The basic science bill, fought through four sessions of the legislature by opposing Texas chiropractors, passed the House in its original version by a simple majority vote.

However, when the bill came back, fought through four sessions of the legislature by opposing Texas chiropractors, passed the House in its original version by a simple majority vote.

However, when the bill came back to the House for concurrence in Senate amendments, the measure cleared the lower chamber by a more-than-two thirds majority of 119 votes.

That, Ramsey said, would mean it took effect immediately on signing by the governor.

Appointments Overdue

Under the act, the governor was supposed to have appointed the basic science board of six members within 30 days of the bill becoming effective.

That would have been May 28.

But a spokesman for the governor said the state's chief executive had been under the impresison it was a 90-day bill.

Something would be done about appointing a board, the spokesman indicated, in the immediate future. However, it appeared doubtful that the governor would announce his appointees prior to returning from a governors' conference at Colorado Springs next Wednesday.

No one seemed exactly sure about the status of the young doctors taking their medical board examinations. Most sources doubted that any legal challenge would be made.

Penalties Provided

However, the basic science act required that all practitioners of any healing art must first pass their basic science examination before obtaining any license to practice.

Penalties were provided for those who did not. Specifically, "a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $2,000, or imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than two nor more than five years, or both. . ."

Those were the possible penalties upon conviction of violating the act.

Compounding the confusion was the fact that the bill, as finally passed, omitted through clerical error certain amendments. Among the amendments was one exempting GI practitioners of the healing arts from taking the basic science examination.

To correct the mistake, the legislature passed a separate bill. But that measure failed to gain a two-thirds majority. It was simply passed on a voice vote.

That left the major body of the bill becoming effective immediately, but the GI amendment failing to become law until 90 days after the legislature adjourns.

Lawyers' Doubletalk Injects Humor Into Dull Court Routine, Says Federal Judge

EDITOR'S NOTE: Their detractors have long charged that some lawyers engage in doubletalk. And a United States district court judge with a twinkle in his eye upholds the charge and cites extensive chuckle-provoking evidence. For seven years Newark Judge Thomas F. Meaney has been jotting down such courtroom boners as "ficticulous" and "does that smack as logical?" The 60-year-old jurist herewith presents some of his choicest samples and explains why a lawyer's words sometimes dash off at a tangent from his thoughts.

By JUDGE THOMAS F. MEANEY
As Told To INS

NEWARK, N. J., June 18.—The life of a federal judge is not all Blackstone and writs of replevin and certioari. It's sometimes a lot of fun, as when I heard a lawyer declaim to a jury in my court:

"She was a school teacher who for 63 years of her life was born on this farm and it is possible a good part of her years were spent secluded upon this rural section. She hasn't probably the engagements that people in urban life may have. This was an incident in her life that, as she stated, when a person remembers that it was the birthday of her horse when this particular person was there."

Honest. That's what he said. And I've got lots more. I've been collecting these boners by lawyers practicing before me for seven years.

Boners Written Down

Every time I hear a lawyer pull one of these gaffes (Editor's Note: A French word meaning blunder; howler) I scribble it down on a scrap of paper, hiding a grin.

After the session I check my notes with Mrs. Theresa Bergen, the court reporter, to make sure I have it accurately.

I've got more than one hundred in an envelope in the top drawer of my desk, and I've thrown lots more away.

I had a visiting assistant United States attorney trying a case in my court one day and this is what he said:

"In these cases, such as these, insofar as my sworn duty, I shall prosecute these cases to the last breath of my dying body which I am prosecuting only for the justice and not for vengeance."

Patriotism Overwhelming

During the war, one of the lawyers got the spirit of patriotism and said:

"I think of persons that are laying down our lives in defense of America."

The same lawyer: "This not only affects the safety of the United States but it also affects the security of the United States."

I understand perfectly well why these gaffes occur. Frequently a fine lawyer will be speaking so rapidly, so earnestly, that his thoughts get ahead of his words. Or sometimes he starts with one thought and another will flash into his mind, a better one, and he switches. The result is often funny.

I start scribbling away on a scrap of paper to preserve this pearl.

Logic Smacks, Smiles

I do it only for my own amusement and that of my friends and family. They get a chuckle when I tell them of a solemn moment in court when a case involving millions of dollars is being argued and a lawyer lets out with:

"Does that smack as logical?"

Or: "That in a kernel is the gist of what this case is concerning."

Or even: "This is ficticulous."

Many lawyers are nervous, even experienced lawyers, and that also explains some of the gaffes that go into my envelope. I have heard well educated attorneys say:

"Why should we count a corpse before it happens?"

"This is like adding fuel on the water."

"And he speaks on an even keel?"

"Let us do away with this red herring that is commonly referred to in the vernacular."

Some Humor Conscious

"The viper has risen his dark head that a racket has come into existence."

"In the stamping out, or as one might say, in the enforcement of crime, the realm of coincidence did not happen on one occasion."

Sometimes the attorney's humor is conscious and deliberate. Once Archibald Palmer (now attorney for Judith Coplon in her Washington espionage trial) asked a question of a witness in my court.

I told Palmer I did not understand the question and asked the jury if they did. They answered no, so I asked Palmer if he knew what his question meant. Palmer replied ruefully:

"I'm afraid I don't either, your honor."

35 Persons Enrolled In Woodwork Class Being Held Here

Thirty-five persons are registered for the summer night woodwork class in Senior High school.

Class members are working on a variety of pieces for their own homes. They attend class from 7 to 9 o'clock each night from Monday through Friday.

Those who attend regularly and the pieces on which they are working are: Dr. O. R. Hand, who is making a cherry radio cabinet; Dr. Brandon Hull, cherry Lazy Susan coffee table; Dr. Ben Hutchinson, mahogany child's desk; Dr. Lee Hewitt, small oak table; Jasper Hubbert, maple cabinet; Mrs. Henry Owsley, repairing floor lamp; W. B. Ditmore, cedar chest; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sanford, oak record cabinet; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cocanougher, cherry radio cabinet; Argo Peek, head for Hollywood bed with bookshelves and drawers on either side; Russell Wimberley, two ash modern end tables; A. M. Butcher, combination coffee table and radio cabinet; Rollo Henry, oak coffee table; Mr. and Mrs. Riley V. Carlton, bedside tables; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sturges, walnut coffee table; Oliver L. Peeples, ash night stand; V. E. Shruiell, mahogany child's desk; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wylie, Hollywood bed with drawers; Jack J. Boydston, mahogany dining table.

Vikings To Re-Enact Invasion Of England

COPENHAGEN, June 18. (U.P.)—The Vikings will be going to southern England this summer as they did 15 centuries ago.

Two Viking chieftains, Hengist and Horsa, from Jutland, Denmark, began their series of bloody raids then, making the Danes a feared and hated race throughout southern England.

A Danish contribution to the anniversary will be a historic pageant, portraying the arrival of the two Danish adventurers. A Viking ship, made as nearly like the original as possible, is being built in a Danish shipyard and will be launched shortly. Measuring 82 feet in length and weighing some 15 tons, the vessel will have 32 oars and a crew of 50 men.

Ships Leave June 20

The Viking ship will leave for England July 20, sailing along the coasts of Jutland, Germany, Holland and Belgium to France, from where it will proceed across the Channel and make its first landing on a small island in the mouth of the Thames—the same island upon which Hengist and Horsa went ashore for the first time. The ship will then proceed to England.

The Danish Rowing association hopes it will get experienced rowers of the right "tough" type. All the modern "Vikings must be tall, fair-haired, blue-eyed, strong and suntanned. All must agree to let their hair and beards grow from the day they are selected until the end of the trip.

Geese always fly at about their top speed, but ducks, when pressed, will increase their speed by one-third.

HE'S NOT SO SURE THAT HE LIKES MODERN WORLD

Man Freed After 36 Years In Prison For Criminally Insane

MUSCATINE, Ia., June 18 (U.P.)—Elsworth Fuller, freed after 36 years secluded away in a reformatory, took a look at the outside world today and decided he wasn't so sure he liked it.

Fuller, now 60, has been confined in a ward for the criminally insane at Anamosa reformatory since 1913 when he was 24 years old.

During all that time, he caught only one glimpse of the world outside. That was 20 years ago when he made a trip from the reformatory for a medical examination.

Looking at the world around him today, Fuller wasn't so sure but what he'd rather be back in the snug, safe ward.

"It seemed wonderful at first to be free," he said, "but now I'm not sure. What can I do in this new world?"

The atomic age frightened him, he said. When he left the world, the horse and carriage still was just about the most dependable means of transportation.

He was amazed and dismayed by speedy streamlined trains, fast bombers flying overhead, the rush of big trucks over the highways, and the sight of skyscrapers towering over prairie cities.

En route here from the reformatory, Fuller was driven by Deputy Sheriff Fred Nespern.

Cars Made Him Duck

Nespern said Fuller ducked every time another car approached.

Once he tried to jump out of the car when a huge tractor-drawn trailer roared past them.

"Good Lord?" he cried. "What was that?"

Fuller said the last car he'd driven in was a 1910 model. He was "surprised" that there weren't more horses to be seen on streets and highways.

Once they passed a tractor where a farmer was cultivating a field.

"What in the world is that?" Fuller asked.

Composition roofing and siding on houses also interested him. In the days before he entered the reformatory, shingles were the thing.

Fuller was sentenced to the reformatory after a jury found him insane when he was charged with assault with intent to rob.

Psychiatrists recently found Fuller sane. The state board of control issued an order releasing him to be tried under the old charge.

However, District Judge Matthew Westrate decided Fuller had been incarcerated long enough. He freed him in "the furtherance of justice." Most of the witnesses in the case were dead anyway.

Paul Robeson, Jr., White Girl Will Wed In New York

NEW YORK, June 18 (AP)—Paul Robeson, jr., 21, son of the negro baritone, and Marilyn Paula Greenberg, a white, 21-year-old New York girl, plan to be married tomorrow.

Both are graduates of Cornell university, where Robeson was a star athlete.

The couple applied for a marriage license yesterday. The application said the ceremony would be held tomorrow with the Rev. John Whittier Darr, jr., a white Congregationalist minister, officiating.

Met In College

Robeson's mother, Eslanda, said her son—the Robeson's only child—and Miss Greenberg met as college freshmen, and had been "in love for years."

She called Miss Greenberg "a darling," and added: "we are awfully glad to get a daughter."

Young Robeson, whose studies at Cornell were interrupted by his service in the armed forces, graduated last month with an electrical engineering degree. Before the war, he studied in Russia and England.

Father All-American

Robeson was a star high jumper on the Cornell track team, and played half back and defensive end on the varsity football team. His father was an All-America end at Rutgers university a generation ago.

Miss Greenberg was graduated from Cornell last year, with a degree in psychology. The university's year book said she was active in the university's religious work committee, in the American Youth for Democracy, and the National Association for Advancement of Colored people.

In the marriage application, she gave her address in Forest Hills, Queens, New York City. Her mother is Mrs. Rae Greenberg.

Young Robeson, who gave his occupation as electrical engineer, listed the home of his parents at Enfield, Conn.

Out-of-town sons and daughters have left, except for Mrs. Vandrovec, who will remain two weeks. (Staff Photo).

Pecos Schools Taken From Accredited List Due To Segregation And Crowded Conditions

AUSTIN, June 18. (AP)—The Pecos schools have lost their accredited status until they end segregation and correct overcrowded conditions, state Superintendent L. A. Woods said today.

Dr. Woods said Latin-American pupils have been segregated in the first six grades in violation of a federal court decision.

Over-crowding of Latin-American classrooms at Pecos was so bad that in one instance 77 children were under the direction of one teacher in one room, Dr. Woods said a deputy school supervisor reported.

Officials Confer

Dr. Woods said he conferred yesterday with the Pecos school superintendent, Ray H. Whitley, and the president and secretary of the Pecos school board, W. S. McCree and Neill S. Thompson, respectively.

"They said they would try to have three or four new classrooms built," Dr. Woods reported.

"If they can get plenty of room by fall, and end segregation, the penalty will be lifted," he said.

Under a federal court ruling last year, pupils may not be segregated because of Latin-American ancestry except in the first grade—and then only if they have difficulty with the English language.

EUROPEAN PRICES CUT

Several European nations now are quoting substantially lower prices for manufactured goods in the Venezuelan market, than is the United States, but the average quality is reported to be inferior.

Construction of the original prison at Sing Sing was started in 1825, and the first cell block was completed in 1830.

Boom Days May Be Near For Arizona's Famed Tough Town

TOMBSTONE, Ariz., June 18. Boom days may be just around the corner for Tombstone, the "town too tough to die."

Fabulous silver and lead mines made this community one of the wildest settlements between El Paso and the Pacific Coast in the 1880s.

There are indications the mines may be revived, but not the lawlessness.

Two large companies have taken out options on the long-dormant properties and are planning to explore for possible new mining. They are the American Smelting and Refining Company and the Anaconda Copper Company. A third concern plans to begin operation soon.

Communism, Investigations, Espionage And Spies Make Hot Summertime Even Hotter

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 18. —The hot days are here, a good time to keep cool, but this country still will be excited over Communism for a while yet.

The trial of Alger Hiss, former State department official charged with perjury, goes into its fourth week Monday and will last another week or more.

Whittaker Chambers, one-time Communist by his own admission, said Hiss gave him secret State department papers when Chambers was working in Washington as a messenger in a Communist spy-ring.

And on Monday the trial of Judith Coplon, which has been going on for two months, will drag on a little longer, and will probably make some headlines before it is over. It's made plenty already.

Miss Coplon, charged with spying for Russia, is now on the stand and when her own lawyer, Archibald Palmer, gets through having her explain why she took FBI reports, the government prosecutors will tear into her.

Miss Coplon, 28 years old and 100 pounds in weight, says she collected secret government reports the way a novelist collects notes for a book, and for the same reason: she wanted to write a book.

In New York the trial of 11 top Communist party officials, charged with teaching conspiracy to overthrow this government by force, will drone on, maybe till the end of July.

The 11 Communists have been sitting at their trial for months and, in spite of their many wrangles with the judge, theirs has been a pretty dull trial so far.

House Group Unpredictable

There's no telling what the House un-American activities committee may do during the hot summer days. It's unpredictable.

The committee—acting after receiving a petition from the Sons of the American Revolution—has asked a number of schools and colleges for a list of the textbooks they're using.

That brought a roar from educators and editorial writers worried about academic freedom.

The SAR charges in its petition that a number of educators—either because they're misguided or contemptuous of the American capitalistic system—have put stuff in textbooks that will slant students' minds towards Socialism and Communism.

Distinction Is Vague

The SAR doesn't make much distinction between Socialism and Communism and wants the committee to examine the books for evidence of either.

At this point the committee has asked for the lists of books. It will decide later whether to have an investigation.

The Paris conference between Secretary of State Acheson and the foreign ministers of Russia, Britain and France doesn't seem to be getting anywhere and probably will break up on that note.

For some time after that breakup there's likely to be quite a bit of news on relations between this country and Russia.

So, all in all, it looks like the weather will be warm for a while.

Garnier Jurors Vote Conviction

RIVERSIDE, Calif., June 18 (AP) —An all-woman jury has convicted Mrs. Agnes E. Garnier of manslaughter in the slaying of her wealthy employer and lover, John E. Owen.

The handsome 53-year-old business woman took the surprise verdict stoically, although the penalty may be from one to 10 years in prison.

She had testified she acted in self defense when Owen, 68, president of the National Apartment House Owners association, was fatally shot in the bedroom of his nearby Jurupa Hills ranch April 22. She was charged with murdering him.

But the jury apparently sided, in some degree, with the state's contention that Mrs. Garnier, for 12 years Owen's confidential secretary and sweetheart, was motivated by jealousy of his attentions to actress Irene Rich.

"Nothing To Say"

Mrs. Garnier blinked rapidly as the verdict was announced Friday night after nearly eight hours of deliberation, but she managed a smile as she was led back to jail. "There's nothing to say," she told reporters.

Judge Russell S. Waite set 10 a. m. Wednesday for sentencing.

But Mrs. Garnier's attorney, Sam Houston Allen, immediately said he will ask for a new trial.

"The verdict is contrary to public sentiment," Allen said. It did come as a surprise to most courtroom observers, although there was no demonstration from the 150 spectators. The judge had warned against any outburst.

Earlier, as Allen concluded his dramatic plea to the jury, the tall brunette divorcee broke down for the only time during the two week trial. She sobbed as the attorney described her intimate association with Owen.

Many of his love letters highlighted the defense presentation.

The jury took the case at 2:52 p. m. and came in with its decision at about 10:45 p. m. Friday.

Mrs. Garnier had been employed by Owen, prominent Los Angeles real estate man, formerly of Detroit, since 1937 as both secretary and manager of his DuBarry apartments in Los Angeles.

He was estranged from his wife, Florence Owen, of Beverly Hills. Mrs. Owen candidly testified that when Owen first met Mrs. Garnier he moved out on her.

The state claimed the shooting followed a quarrel over Owen's friendship with Miss Rich, who owns a neighboring ranch.

Lubbock Youths Get Sea Duty With Navy

Two Lubbock youths recently have been assigned to sea duty in the U. S. Navy, after completing courses at the San Diego, Calif., Naval Training center.

The two are Billy Lewis Simmons and W. J. Vickery, life-long friends who entered the Navy together July 23, 1948. Earlier, both had graduated from Lubbock Senior High school and attended Texas Tech one semester.

Simmons, an apprentice fireman, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Simmons of 229 Forty-sixth. He currently is aboard the USS Rupertus, now at Okinawa en route to Singapore on a Far Eastern cruise. At San Diego, Simmons was trained as an electrician's mate.

Vickery, the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Vickery of 3304 Ave. J, is an apprentice electrician's mate aboard the USS Sierra, now en route from San Diego to the eastern U. S. Coast. He also trained as an electrician's mate while at San Diego.

Ex-Secret Service Leader Found Shot In Head, Soon Dies

BALTIMORE, June 18 (AP) — Col. Harry Cooper, onetime secret service official and presidential bodyguard, died Friday night not long after being admitted to a hospital with a bullet wound in the head.

The 52-year-old Cooper, former head of the Washington district of the secret service, served as a bodyguard for four presidents.

He was found on a bedroom floor in his suburban home. Nearby was a .45 calibre army automatic. Police would not disclose the contents of notes found on a dresser and addressed to his wife, Fanny, and his daughter, Barbara.

Cooper, a retired army officer, was supervisor of the Washington district of the secret service from 1936 to 1942.

Good War Record

He was a personal guard for presidents Harding, Coolidge, Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

During World War II he was provost marshal of the China-Burma-India theater and was credited with uncovering and breaking up a $10,000,000 smuggling ring operated by former American fliers and foreign thieves.

Mrs. Cooper told police he had returned home late from an appointment in Washington and had gone directly to his bedroom. About 15 minutees later, she said, while sitting in the livingroom with her daughter, she heard a shot upstairs and found Cooper on the floor, bleeding from a head wound.

Cooper was taken to a hospital and died 45 minutes later.

YOUNGEST GRANDPARENTS

A couple at Jaen, southeast Spain, both aged 35, claim to be the youngest grandparents in Europe, having married at 18 and having a daughter, who married at 15, with a new infant.

When the New York Giants set the major league consecutive victory record of 26 in 1916, they won all 26 games at home.

QUILTING PARTIES STILL POPULAR—It is often said that history repeats itself and such is the case with square dances, quilting bees and the like, for women there days are again enjoying old-fashioned quilting parties. Friends of Mrs. Cornelia McDonald, better known as "Mother Mac", met at the home of her son, Alex McDonald, 2221 Eighteenth, the other day for an all-day quilting. In the picture, seated, left to right, are: Mesdames Lou Burford, May Stevens, T. A. Niblack, Lucy Behrens, Will McCreary, J. R. Johnson, Cornelia McDonald and S. B. Judith Coplon Claims She Was Coaxed Into Taking FBI Notes

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—Judith Coplon told the jury trying her on espionage charges yesterday that her Justice department boss insisted she take the notes from an FBI "decoy" memorandum which were found in her purse when she was arrested.

When the trial resumes Monday for its ninth week, Miss Coplon will return to the witness stand to finish her denial that she ever engaged in espionage activity.

She testified yesterday that William E. Foley, chief of the Justice department's foreign agents registration and internal security sections, gave her the "decoy" paper the morning of March 4 as she was about to leave for New York.

Wrote Out Notes

"He said it was 'hot and interesting' and pointed to Needleman's name," she said. "He told me he wanted to make notes of the highlights in connection with the possible prosecution of AMTORG."

(The memorandum said Isidore G. Needleman, general counsel of AMTORG, Soviet trading agency, and another high-placed AMTORG official, had become FBI informants. Government witnesses have called this deliberately false and designed to catch Miss Coplon's eye).

Acting at Foley's direction, Miss Coplon said, she wrote out longhand notes from the memorandum. She said he returned to her office later and asked if she had done this.

When Foley told her he wanted her to work on it over the weekend, Miss Coplon testified, she reminded him that she was going to New York that day.

Agency Not Registered

She quoted him as saying he wanted her to take the notes with her. Foley also suggested, she related, that she put the notes in a wrapper. When he saw the tiny package she made he said "fine," she testified.

Foley, when he appeared as a government witness, said that he showed the "decoy" to Miss Coplon before she left for New York and remarked that it was "hot and interesting." He said he directed her to give it to an attorney on the AMTORG case when she had finished with it.

Testimony in the trial has brought out that the Justice department long has considered prosecuting AMTORG for failure to register as a foreign agent. No action has been started. AMTORG claims that it is exempt from registering on the ground it's activities are purely commercial—not propaganda or espionage.

Report Thought Decoy

Miss Coplon, 28, testified that she now believes a "top secret" FBI report on Soviet spying in this country "also was a decoy of some sort."

A typewritten note found in the defendant's purse said: "I have not been able (and don't think I will) to get the top secret FBI report which I described to Michael on Soviet and Communist intelligence activities in the U. S."

Defense Attorney Archibald Palmer asked her whether this was written in connection with a book she was writing in "a serio-comic vein."

"That's what it was about," she replied.

Miss Coplon testified that Foley also brought this report to her. She said she just glanced at it when Foley told her he wanted her to read it. Later, she went on, he returned and said that maybe she shouldn't read it since it was marked "top secret."

Information Published

"I thought he was kidding," she told the jury. "Then a few days later he came in and threw the report on my desk. I asked him if he wanted me to read it now and make a digest for him, but he said he wanted to read it himself. I said it looks like old stuff."

Miss Coplon said many of the FBI reports which came to the office where she worked were regarded as a "laughing matter."

"Often," she added, "reports came in marked 'strictly confidential' after the information in them had appeared in the newspapers from the House un-American activities committee. In some cases we could identify the 'confidential informants' by reading the papers."

She indicated she intended to give this situation light treatment in a book she says she was writing.

Following her arrest, Miss Coplon testified, one woman employe of the FBI held her while another pulled off her clothes. After she had been thoroughly searched, she added, FBI agents questioned her for hours without telling her why she had been arrested, and repeatedly told her "later" when she demanded an attorney and asked that her parents be notified.

She told the jury that Valentine A. Gubitchev, a Russian engineer who was arrested with her, suspected agents of NKVD, the Russian secret police, might be trailing him—as well as detectives hired by his wife.

She indicated that this is why she and the Russian rode apart on street cars and buses, as reported by prosecution witnesses.

Miss Coplon is accused of copying and removing Justice department secrets with the intent of aiding a foreign power, Russia. She and Gubitchev also are under indictment in New York on espionage conspiracy charges.

8,000,000 In Europe Seen As Needing Aid

PHILADELPHIA, June 18. (U.P.)—An estimated 8,000,000 persons expelled from their homes in countries bordering Germany are one of the biggest humanitarian problems in Europe today, according to a member of the American Friends' Service Committee.

Bombing destruction prevents adequate housing for the "forgotten" people now crowded into the three western zones of Germany, Charles Read, head of the Friends' central office for Germany, said. Neither the present nor future German economy can absorbe completely so large a group, Read believes. All were forced from their homes as an indirect result of the Potsdam agreement.

Due to an uneven distribution of the refugees and a lack of employment opportunities, the "expellees" are forced to exist as wards of local German states, living in private homes, shacks, or in camp barracks. People with no industry, Read said, the refugees are from all walks of life and grades of society.

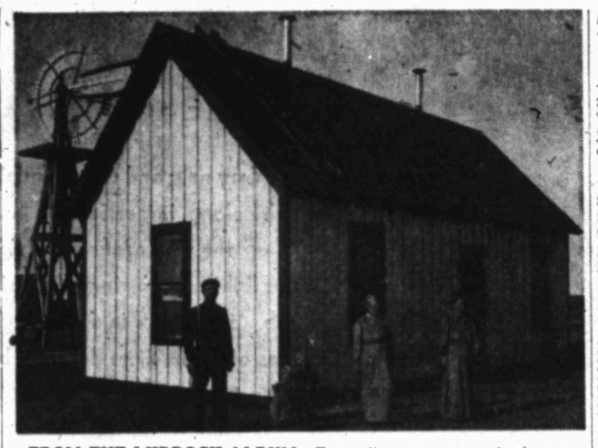

Read predicts their incentive will be destroyed if they are forced to remain idle.

Wrong Number Brings Out Fire Department Instead Of Taxicab

ARKANSAS CITY, Kas., June 18. (AP)—Mrs. Joe Camero telephoned for a taxi.

When she heard a voice on the other end of the line, she merely gave her address and hung up.

Two fire trucks raced more than two miles to her home. She had been connected with the fire department by mistake.

Anti-Hitler Parrot Gives Satisfaction In Munich Zoo

PHILADELPHIA, June 18. (U.P.)—The parrot sent to the Munich zoo to replace one that said only "Heil Hitler" is arousing "great joy" in the heart of Munich residents.

Chorus girls at the Latin Casino, who air-shipped the parrot overseas, got high praise for the gift in a letter from the zoo director, Otto Braun. He enclosed a newspaper clipping which termed the parrot a "whimsical humorist."

The German paper said one of the things the bird repeats is: "I love my wife, but oh you kid!"

$100,000 Cotton Gin At Bainer Station Is Nearing Completion

By EDWARD WELSH
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

LITTLEFIELD, June 18.—Within two weeks one of the most modern cotton gins in Lamb county will be completed and ready to help in processing the expected record crop.

The new gin is being erected at Bainer station six miles southeast of Littlefield and is costing upwards of $100,000. The owners are J. B. Haire and his son Kenneth who are already operating another gin at Bainer.

"Despite some of our crop loss to hail I believe we will need the extra ginning capacity the entire season," Haire stated.

Structure Described

The building, in which the latest type Murray machinery is being installed, is 120 by 30 feet. It is of welded steel frame work covered with galvanized sheet steel. A loading shed runs the entire length of the structure.

The machinery is being installed under the supervision of C. P. Cowart, Dallas engineer, who is directing the efforts of eight locally employed men. The entire layout was engineered and designed to obtain the maximum efficiency and set up an in-line production.

At the south end of the building is a motor room where electric power is used to run the machines. Included in the installation are a burr extractor, two seven cylinder cleaners, a big reel drier and five stands of gins.

Capicity Given

When the gin is ready to operate it will have a capacity of seven bales an hour or 168 bales per day.

"At the height of the season we expect to operate 24 hours a day," the elder Haire said yesterday. "I am confident there will be enough cotton made to justify this belief."

Haire said that to his knowledge some 300,000 acres had been planted to cotton in Lamb county.

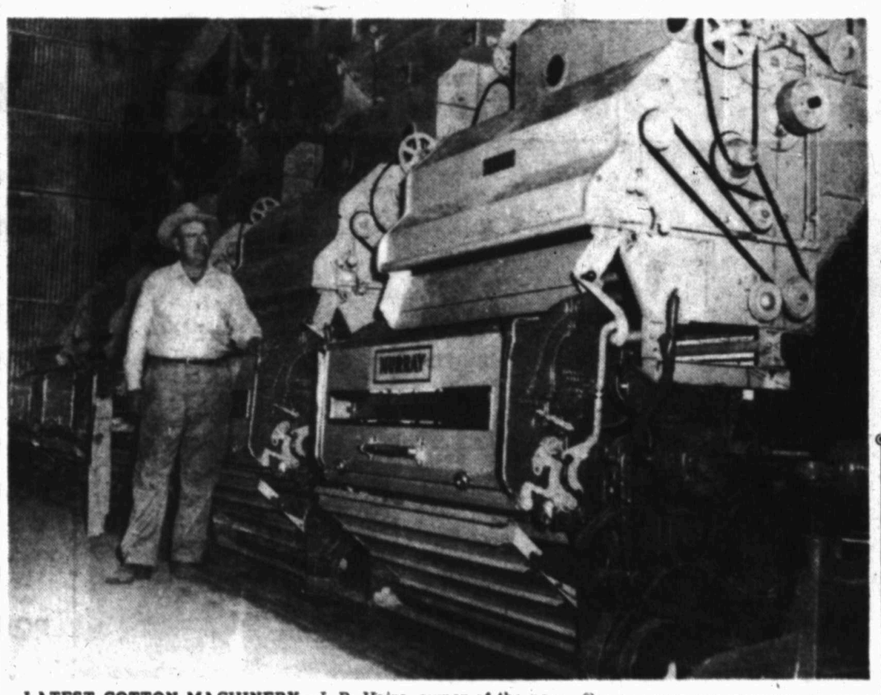

"We lost about 60,000 acres of this to hail and rain," Haire said, "Some of this loss has since been replanted in cotton and some has gone to grain corghums. We don't have an accurate figure yet. But even with 250,000 acres of cotton that will be quite a crop for the gins of this county to handle."

Believed Good Venture

The gin, to be known as the Bainer Gin, will be managed by Vernon Eagan. The other gin owned by Haire at Bainer is known as the Yellowhouse Gin and has only slightly less capacity than the new one.

When asked if he thought the erection of such a costly new gin was advisable in view of the threatened cotton restrictions forecast for next year, Haire said:

"There will always be plenty of cotton in this area. The gin that has the best trouble-free machinery and can handle the volume will get the job. I am confident that I have made another growing investment in a rapidly growing community."

LATEST COTTON MACHINERY—J. B. Haire, owner of the new $100,000 gin being completed at Bainer Station near Littlefield, points to one of the five stands of Murray ginners being installed in his new plant. The gin, when ready for operation, will have a capacity of seven bales per hour or 168 bales for a 24-hour day. Erection of the machinery is under the supervision of C. P. Cowart, Dallas. (Staff photo).

Earliest Newspaper Guarded In Boston

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. June 18. (U.P.)—An original copy of the first issue of the first newspaper printed in the United States cost its owner nothing.

Now he keeps it locked in a bank vault.

When Albert J. LeBourdias of Cambridge bought an old Bible for $15 some 25 years ago he didn't bother at first to look at the yellowed sheet folded between two pages.

When he got around to it later, he found issue "Numb. 1" of The Boston News, Letter, published 245 years ago on April 24, 1704.

Published by Postmaster John Campbell, the News-Letter's main story was nearly four months old, even though it had come from London by "flying-post."

The dispatch noted the "increase in Papist and Jesuit priests lately come to Scotland from France," and noted that the French king might send troops there in an early version of an amphibious landing to give assistance to the Stuart pretender to the throne.

Other items in the two-page broadside, meant for distribution in Boston's numerous coffee houses, concerned a rebellion in Ireland and a speech before Parliament of Queen Anne.

Local news was chiefly nautical. It included an account of a bloody fight in which a "Capt. Tourngrello," apparently a Rhode Island privateer, took "five prizes" and was himself "wounded thro' the Body."

British observers say the new Health Service is causing many doctors to emigrate.

December Child Decides He Was Short Changed By Fate

CHARLESTON, Ill., June 18. (U.P.)—People who have birthdays in December often feel overlooked because Christmas celebrations overshadow their anniversaries, says Robert Buzzard.

So Buzzard, who is president of Eastern Illinois State College, decided to do something about it. His birthday is Dec. 15.

This year he gathered the 17 members of his faculty who have December birthdays and had a special joint celebration in the spring.

"When fate plays a mean trick on you, do something about it," Buzzard said.

Britain recently celebrated "S" Day — the first for derationed sweets — by thronging candy stores.

Romanian Communist Leader Claimed In Reds' Disfavor

ZURICH, Switzerland, June 18 (AP)—Ana Pauker, firebrand Communist who runs Romania's foreign affairs, is in disfavor with Moscow over money matters, the Swiss weekly Weltwoche said today.

The independent newspaper said foreign minister Pauker deposited funds of the Romanian Communist party in Swiss banks without advising the cominform (Communist international information bureau.)

This, said the newspaper, came to light recently with the trial of Solvan Vitianu, Romanian on trial at Winterthur, Switzerland, for political and economic spying in this country. The Romanians have protected the trial, which is now going on.

Mrs. Pauker long has been considered one of the top favorites of Moscow and a person who has been as close as any to the Kremlin.

Army Officers Will Speak Here Today

Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Henry L. Gillenwaters and Lt. James D. Clavio of the Second Armored Division will arrive by air this morning in Lubbock from Camp Hood to address a meeting at 4 p. m. at the First Baptist church.

The officers, who will be met by a delegation from the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and local churches, will speak at the invitation of Mrs. C. M. Kaigler, president of the Lubbock Women's Temperance Union.

Chaplain Gillenwaters will tell the audience of the work being accomplished by the Army in religious, and citizenship training, morality and character guidance. He will also explain the extensive athletic and recreation program initiated by the Army to provide wholesome off-duty occupation for young soldiers.

Lt. Clavio, troop information and educational officer for the Second Armored Division, will explain the educational opportunities offered to every soldier.

The invitation came as a result of Mrs. Kaigler's attendance at a Women's Interest Unit conference held at Camp Hood on May 24.

Chaplain Gillenwaters is the sponsor of the Camp Hood A Cappella Choir which has sung in many cities near the camp.

The officers will return to Camp Hood on Monday.

Washington Girls Find Plenty Of Excitement In Coplon Trial

By MARTHA KEARNEY
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 18. — The spy trial of Judith Coplon, the 28-year-old former Justice department analyst, has given government girls in Washington enough excitement to last a lifetime.

They have crowded into the air-cooled, pine-panneled courtroom throughout the long drawn-out trial to stare hard at the rather undistinguished looking burnette and her pudgy, vociferous lawyer.

Their general attitude, reflected in audible comments to each other, has appeared to be one of shock and particularly among her former colleagues in the Justice department, hostility toward the Barnard college graduate.

Just One Of The Girls

Until three months ago Judith Coplon was one of them—just one of the throng of neatly-dressed, giggling girls who work in identical offices in government buildings all over the capital.

For the past eight weeks, however, she has done her giggling while sober-faced government men described her as a woman who calmly stole vital United States secrets with the intention of handing them over to a Soviet agent.

It has only been during the past week that she has begun to show signs of obvious nervousness.

And yet, she has continued to giggle at what would appear to be the most inappropriate times.

Father Died After Arrest

This above all has seemed to affront the cotton-clad government girls attending the court sessions.

Defense lawyer Archibald Palmer, for example, asked a witness on Tuesday if he remembered something that happened "just two days before this lady's father died."

Judith Coplon grinned, ducked her head for a moment and came up with her eyes dancing.

Her father died of a stroke shortly after her arrest in New York City on March 4 with Valentin Gubitchev, a Russian UN aide.

Earlier in the trial Palmer suggested to a witness that she might have removed documents from Justice department files to prepare for a civil service examination.

Mother Attends Trial

Miss Coplon appeared to find this highly entertaining.

Meanwhile, her chalk - faced mother has been sitting close to her, staring at the floor and twisting a sheer white handkerchief. She has arrived at court each morning and left each afternoon alone or with a friend.

Shortly after Judge Albert L. Reeves denied a defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal, however, Judith Coplon began to show her first signs of nervousness.

She fiddled with objects on the desk in front of her, flushing occasional and glaring at the judge or government lawyers when her own laywers' questions were overruled.

Girls Notice Reactions

And it has been these reactions that the government girls in the courtroom have been talking about.

Some of them must have been arranging their lunch hours so that they could come to the trial while some must have taken some of their annual leave to spend an entire day or more there.

Most of them have been Justice department stenographers and secretaries. They appear to have known Miss Coplon when she was a political analyst in the foreign agents registration section of the criminal division .

Undoubtedly some of them had giggled with her in the past.

Lubbock National Guardsmen Returning Today From Camp

The three Lubbock batteries of the 132nd Field artillery, 36th Infantry division, which for the last two weeks have been training at North Camp Hood, are to arrive here by train at 10 a. m. today.

Two of the batteries of the 132nd FA were given special honors for the second successive year during the training period. They were chosen, because of outstanding performance, to fire a salute to the commander-in-chief of the Texas National Guard at ceremonies held last week. The two honored units were Battery "A," stationed in Plainview, and Battery "C" of Lubbock.

Members of the honored Lubbock battery include Capt. Bert D. Locke, Sgt. Joe Moring, Cpl. Stanley G. Steele, Pvt. Robert Simpson, Pvt. James Nelson, Rct. Gilbert Wuesensche, Rct. Elmo Unlang and Rct. Bob R. Sellman.

Domestic canaries suffer no ill effects out-of-doors even at 50 degrees below zero, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

MODEL PLANE CONTEST SCHEDULED—Some of the local model plane enthusiasts who participated in a recent local meet and are planning to participate in the Lubbock Plymouth Model Plane contest July 16-17 are pictured above. Left to right, they are: Seated, Don Steele and Shorty Irwin; standing, John White, Fred Salmon, Reagan Howell, who will be contest director, and Bob Riley. The contest, which will be sponsored by the three Lubbock Plymouth dealers, will be conducted at Lubbock Air Force base. Fifty-eight trophies will be given, with the high point Lubbock winner will receive an expenses-paid trip to the third international model plant contest to be held in Detroit Aug. 22-29. The meet will be sanctioned by the Academy of Model Aeronautics. It will be open to model plane builders of towns in this area in addition to Lubbock. (Photo by James Dallas.)

Sir Francis Drake in 1579 went ashore in Martin county, California, and nailed a metal plate to a post, claiming that region for Queen Elizabeth of England.

Reports on egg laying by American hens show that on the average the hens in large flocks of 400 or more lay more eggs than hens in smaller flocks.

An excellent variation for plain muffins is to roll the tops in sugar and cinnamon that have been well mixed as soon as you take them out of the oven.

Borden County Overshadows Other South Plains Areas In Oil Activity Of Past Week; Well Brought In From Deep Dolomite

Intense oil play kept up on the south end of the South Plains over the past week with Borden county overshadowing all other developments in the area.

In the northwest part of Borden county, approximately 11 miles northeast of Gail, flowing oil was developed at Sinclair Oil & Gas company No. 1 Sterling Williams, discovery from an unidentified deep dolomite formation.

Casing perforations at 9,915-45 feet were washed with 500 gallons of mud acid and the hole loaded with 300 barrels of oil. The well swabbed and flowed out 66 barrels of oil, then kicked off and flowed steadily.

It was gauged for 13 hours after swabbing began, showing 571 barrels of oil—271 barrels additional to the load oil—with the last 505 barrels produced flowing. The venture was flowing ahead at the end of the 13 hours.

40 Barrels Hourly

Gravity of the new petroleum was 42.8 degrees. Gas-oil ratio was 515-1.

This prospector, bottomed on 10,035 feet with seven-inch pipe cemented at total depth, recovered clean oil on drillstem tests of the zone at 9,830-9,928 feet and flowed oil at the rate of 40 barrels hourly on a test of 9,945-10,000 feet. Water table was encountered on 10,000 feet.

The horizon is thought by several geologists to be Ellenburger. Some think the upper section is Mississippian, while others are under the opinion the pay formation is Siluro-Devonian.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 45, 32, T-6-N, EL&RR survey.

In this general area, water developed from an unidentified Pennsylvanian lime horizon at Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 1 Clayton & Johnson, wildcat six miles north of Gail and 660 feet from south and west lines of section 37, block 31, T-6-N, TP survey.

A 68-minute drillstem test at 8,302-59 feet recoverd 2,440 feet of salt water with no shows of oil or gas.

Drilling was continuing below 8,375 feet in lime.

The Canyon reef of the Pennsylvanian has come in high for both flankers to Seaboard Oil company of Delaware and Pan American Production company's recent Canyon discovery to open the Good field in south-central Borden county, about six miles north, of the Vealmoor field in north-central Howard county.

The concerns' No. 2 Good, offset located at the center of the northwest quarter of section 37, block 33, T-4-N, TP survey, entered the reef 20 feet high to the No. 1 Good discovery.

It was waiting on cement on 5½-inch casing set at 7,909 feet, total depth, with 200 sacks of cement. Plug is to be drilled for making more hole before testing.

The other strike outpost, Seaboard and Pan American No. 3 Good, at the center of the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 37, block 33, T-4-N, TP survey was coming out on a core cut beneath 5½-inch casing set at 7,868 feet.

Core from 7,864 feet to 7,881 feet was being pulled to check recovery. It is scheduled to core ahead to water before attempting completion. This prospector is 77 feet high on the reef to the discovery.

Wildcat Deepened

Approximately five miles due east of this area, Seaboard was deepening its No. 1 J. B. Clayton, slated 8,500-foot wildcat.

It was under 3,440 feet, penetrating lime.

Location is 662.5 feet from east and 660.3 feet from south lines of the southwest quarter of section 47, block 32, T-4-N, TP survey.

Completion as a Clear Fork-Permian producer is to be attempted at Shell Oil Company, Inc., No. 2 Hawkins, venture one-half mile south of the Ellenburger discovery opening the Flanagan field in south-central Gaines county.

The prospector drillstem tested for one hour in the Clear Fork at 7,155-7,260 feet, showing gas in 26 minutes which blew steadily for the remainder of the period. Recovery was six barrels of heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud.

Operator ran 5½-inch casing to 7,128 feet and was waiting for cement to cure on the pipe before drilling plug and making production tests.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 8, block A-23, psl survey.

Every Flanagan outpost which has penetrated the Clear Fork so far has indicated production in that horizon.

Formation Resistant

George P. Livermore, Inc., was attempting to develop a Clear Fork-Permian producer in the Flanagan area with its No. 1 Joe Head, 4,000 feet south of the Ellenburger discovery.

Total depth is 10,530 feet, in dry Devonian. The exploration has plugged back to 7,800 feet to make production tests of the Clear Fork which yielded clean oil when penetrated.

Perforations were shot into the section of pipe at 7,229-7,241 feet and an attempt was made to wash that interval with 500 gallons of mud acid. The formation wouldn't break down. Acid was swabbed out and perforations shot at 7,217-7,247 feet.

Observers say that Clear Fork formation was caked with mud, and it was believed necessary to perforate a larger section to make a successful acid injection.

Operator then perforated casing at 7,216-47 feet and swabbed that zone for 12 hours natural, recovering 94 barrels of oil cut with four per cent basic sediment and water.

The upper section was acidized with 2,000 gallons and water broke in. On last report, preparations were being made to squeeze off the water.

Location is 631 feet from north and 610 feet from west lines of section 12, block A-23, psl survey.

Gaines Well Abandoned

Two other outposts to the Flanagan-Ellenburger pool were drilling toward the deep zone.

Shell Oil Company, Inc., No. 1 Andrews, five-eighths mile northeast, outpost, was under 8,310 feet, penetrating lime.

Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1 Flanagan, east offset to the discovery, 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 9, block A-23, psl survey, was beyond 11,155 feet, drilling lime.

In the same general area, about 10 miles south and a little west of Seminole, Ralph Lowe was continuing toward the Ellenburger with his No. 1 Cunningham-Shell, wildcat which has already shown for a Pennsylvanian discovery.

It was below 11,302 feet in lime.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 4, block A-24, psl survey.

Stanolind Oil and Gas company has plugged and abandoned its No. 15 American Warehouse, deep wildcat in the Cedar Lake area of northeast Gaines county.

The venture drilled to 13,186 feet, finding the Ellenburger barren, plugged back to the Devonian and developed water, then tested the Pennsylvanian and recovered water. It was left following the Pennsylvanian examination.

The dry hole is 1,650 feet from south and east lines of section 5, block H, D&W survey.

New Producer Made

Los Nietos company has completed its No. 1-E M. S. Doss, edge well in the North Riley field of west-central Gaines county, for 83.43 barrels of oil per day.

The well was completed on the pump, showing no water and gas-oil ratio 813-1. Gravity of the petroleum was 32 dgrees.

The pay formation at 6,588-7,189 feet had been treated with a total of 9,000 gallons of acid.

This new producer is 660 feet from north and west lines of the lease in section 328, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey. Elevation is 3,410 feet.

Operations are starting immediately on two semi-wildcats offsetting fields in west-central Gaines county.

Flanking the North Riley field, Ralph Lowe is to drill 7,000 feet with rotary tools at its No. 1 Northrup-Lindsey.

The drillsite is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 393, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

Cities Service Oil company has staked its No. 1-B Proctor, west Seminole field outpost, 660 feet from east and 1,980 feet from north lines of section 370, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

It will be a 5,200-foot, rotary tool exploration.

Extension Completed

Extension to the Robertson field of south-central Gaines county has been completed at Anderson-Prichard Oil corporation No. 1 Morton, 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 23, block A-21, psl survey.

Pumping 12 hours, the well made a 24-hour potential of 91.80 barrels of oil, with gas-oil ratio 660-1. Total fluid recovered had a shakeout of 50 per cent water. Gravity of the oil was 32 degrees.

The pay formation at 5,972-6,015 feet had been acidized with 2,000 gallons.

Following a Pennsylvanian test showing water, Pacific Western Oil corporation plugged and abandoned its No. 1 Oil Development, Devonian failure between the Seminole and Russell fields of northwest Gaines county.

After recovering water in the Devonian on total depth 11,620 feet, the prospector plugged back and drillstem tested in middle Pennsylvanian through perforations at 10,340-75 feet.

The tool was open one hour, showing a strong to light blow throughout. Recovery was 3,940 feet of drilling mud and 5,400 feet of sulphur water.

This venture was 660 feet from south and east lines of section 315, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

Dry Hole Reported

Another dry hole is Amerada Petroleum corporation No. 1 Bradford, east-central Lubbock county wildcat, three miles northwest of Idalou and 660 feet from south and west lines of the northwest quarter of section 35, block D-7, EL&RR survey.

It was plugged on total depth of 3,615 feet in lime, with no shows or oil, gas or water. The venture was believed running low.

Amerada No. 1 Turrentine, east-central Yoakum county wildcat, was boring ahead from 7,011 feet in lime.

It is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 41, block K, psl survey, about three miles southwest of Tokio.

In northwest Kent county, the Ohio Oil company was making new hole with its No. 1 Emery, wildcat 15 miles southwest of Spur and 1,980 feet from north, 819 feet from east lines of section 191, block 1, TP survey.

Last report had it beyond 7,670 feet in lime and chert.

Drillstem tests in a deep unidentified lime formation recovered no shows for Sinclair Oil & Gas company No. 1 Lindly, south-central Lynn county wildcat, one mile north of O'Donnell.

The first examination was for 45 minutes at 10,548-548,598 feet, recovering 45 feet of drilling mud, with no signs of oil, gas or water.

Drilling In Lynn

Drilling ahead to 10,665 feet, operator drillstem tested for one hour with packer at 10,590 feet. Recovery was 30 feet of mud, no shows. More hole was being made.

This venture is 660 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter section 47, block 8, EL & RR survey. It is projected to 11,500 feet.

In central Lynn county, Barnsdall Oil company was drilling ahead with its No. 1 Billie Williams, wildcat four and one-half miles southwest of Tahoka and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 2, block 8, EL & RR survey.

It was beyond 7,840 feet in hard, cherty lime and shale.

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware was shutin for storage with its No. 2-D Shafer, second producer in the Spraberry-Deep field of east-central Dawson county.

Last guage showed 72 barrels of oil in two hours and 40 minutes, flowing through a three-eighths-inch choke. Production is from the Spraberry sand section of the Permian at 6,438-6,665 feet, open hole which has been shot with nitro glycerin.

This development is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 48, block 34, T-5-N, TP survey.

12,000 Feet Goal

Stanolind Oil and Gas company has spudded and set surface pipe at its No. 1 C. H. Grollman, outpost to the recenutly opened Landon-Devonian field in south-central Cochran county, about 25 miles southwest of Lehman.

The exploration was bottomed on 400 feet in redbeds, waiting for cement to cure on 13⅜-inch casing set at 370 feet. It is due to drill plug and drill ahead.

Location is 660 feet from west and 407 feet from south lines of section 4, block L, Psl survey.

More hole was being made at Stanolind's other Landon-Devonian flanker, No. 2 Holt, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 3, block L, psl survey.

It was beyond 9,604 feet in lime.

In southwest Cochran county, about six miles southwest of Lehman, Humble Oil and Refining company was boring ahead with its No. 1 Masten, wildcat projected to the Devonian around 12,000 feet.

Last report had it under 8,479 feet, penetrating lime and chert.

General American Oil company has filed an amended application with the Texas Railroad Commission, requesting permission to dually complete its No. 2-B-W Carmickle, now producing in the Pennsylvanian, with the Wolfcamp-Permian of the Arick fleid in southwest Floyd county.

This project, 660 feet from south and west lines of section 18, block K, TTRR survey, was the discovery well of the Wolfcamp pay in the area and was originally completed as a producer from that formation.

Later, that zone was cased off, and operator deepened the well to the 5,900-foot pay in the Pennsylvanian, primary producing structure of the field. This was done to allow compleion in the Wolfcamp of the same company's No. 3-B-W Carmickle, exploration 467 feet to the northwest—too near to meet the spacing requirements of the Railroad Commission.

The plan now is to produce the No. 2-B-W Carmickle from both pay sections, providing the request is granted and the Commission also makes exception to its spacing rules.

Paul Sherrod To Visit Church Of Christ Mission In Germany

PAUL SHERROD

Paul Sherrod will leave Lubbock early Monday morning for Frankfurt, Germany, where he will visit a mission supported by Broadway Church of Christ and help make decisions regarding its operation.

Sherrod, an elder of the Lubbock church, has been instrumental in establishing the far-flung missionary work in which the church has engaged since the end of World War II.

His visit, which will require six weeks, will have three purposes: (1)—To discuss problems on the field with workers from the Lubbock church and others, and to help reach decisions regarding continued operation of the mission on a long-range basis; (2)—To bring the workers a personal message from the elders of the churches supporting the mission; and (3)—To bring back first hand information to churches supporting the work.

Also Visited In 1946

With Otis Gatewood, formerly of Lubbock, Sherrod went to Germany as soon as they could obtain visas in 1946 and completed preliminary work toward establishing a mission. Since that time he has devoted much time to speaking in approximtely 200 churches from coast to coast, gaining support for missionary work.

The Broadway church has done much relief work in Germany since that time. Approximately 20,000 packages of clothing have been sent there, as well as several hundred thousand dollars worth of food.

At present, large purchases of food are made and sent in six-wheel trailer-trucks from Belgium or Holland into Germany by the church.

New Members Reported

The mission in Frankfurt and similar missions in Munich and Heppenheim have reported 500 new members as result of their work. Mission workers have given relief to approximately 25,000 persons in Germany. At present they are working in eight German cities.

Sherrod will be in Frankfurt with Dr. and Mrs. M. Norvel Young. Dr. Young will conduct a series of sermons in English during his stay there.

Sherrod is scheduled to return to Lubbock Aug. 1. Beginning Aug. 12, he will be a featured speaker in a lecture series at David Lipscomb college, Nashville, Tenn.

State To Have Two Governors Over Weekend As Jester Leaves

AUSTIN, June 18 (U.P.) — Gov. Beauford Jester, his office announced today, will fly to Colorado Springs Sunday where he will attend the annual governors' conference.

During his absence, Texas will have two other governors.

Lt. Gov. Allan Shivers will serve as acting governor most of the time. However, Shivers' secretary announced today that the lieutenant governor will be in Mexico from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. on Sunday.

That will make Sen. Kyle Vick of Waco, president pro tempore of the Senate, acting governor through most of Sunday.

The governors' conference extends through Wednesday, June 22.

The conference program will feature Jester on Tuesday when he will speak on "Inter-Governmental Relations." He was expected to return to Austin late Wednesday.

Colorado Deputy Trusts Forgery Suspect For Minute, Loses Him

CHICAGO, June 18. (AP)—A Colorado deputy sheriff lost a prisoner Friday by placing confidence in him.

The deputy, R. S. McAdams of Denver, reported to police he was taking Richard Briels, 29, from Cumberland, Md., to Denver for trial on a forgery charge. On arrival here they transferred from Grand Central station to Union station to take a train west.

"I told him to watch the bags while I went to buy the tickets. I unfastened the handcuffs. When I got back he was gone. He had only two cents."

Mexico Cheapens Peso For Tourist Bait

MEXICO CITY, June 18. (AP)—Mexico cheapened her peso Saturday to attract tourists and sell more Mexican goods abroad.

The government yesterday reduced the peso value from 12 and a half cents U. S. to 11 and a half cents. With the aid of foreign funds, the government will pay 8.64 for a dollar and sell dollars for 8.65 pesos. Before the announcement dollars were selling at 8.03.

Mexican authorities said officially the change in peso values had four main aims. They were:

To attract more tourists;

To reduce prices of Mexican goods sold abroad;

To attract foreign capital;

To induce Mexicans to bring domestic capital they have sent out of the country.

A fifth factor which may have influenced the decision was not mentioned in official statements here. But in Washington there was talk that the new fixed value was a prerequisite to a U. S. loan for oil development.

East Africa lacks stenographers.

Television Blamed In Divorce Case Against Radio Announcer

HOLLYWOOD, June 18. (INS)—It wasn't radio but television that got the blame today for the divorce obtained by Mrs. Marusia Wilson from Don Wilson, announcer of the Jack Benny radio program.

"He just wanted to be home and sit looking at television and not go out any place," the Polish-born beauty told superior Judge Alfred L. Bartlett.

She also claimed that Wilson called her a "stupid Pole."

Judge Bartlett remarked:

"I think you have proved a case of cruelty, but I doubt that looking at television is cruelty."

Cracked Roger Marchetti, Mrs. Wilson's attorney:

"Well, judge, some of the programs are pretty murderous."

Braniff Airlines Is Observing Double Service Anniversaries

A double birthday celebration is being observed by Braniff International Airways—its 21st anniversary in business and its fourth anniversary in Lubbock.

The first scheduled air service between the two largest cities of the Texas plains—Lubbock and Amarillo—was started July 1, 1945.

Airline officials counted up improvements and growth in West Texas service since that time.

Two Flights Operated

Watching the first DC-3 land at Municipal airport were 20 old settlers of Lubbock who had stood by the rails in 1910 to watch the first passenger train chug into town. City officials flew in from Amarillo, Fort Worth, Dallas and Houston, while Lubbock citizens flew to Amarillo for greetings.

Two daily flights gave Lubbock service to Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Denver westward and Fort Worth, Dallas and other southeastern points.

The two flights operated for about a year and on July 10, 1946, two more flights were added, providing the four which now serve Lubbock.

Passengers Increase

Lubbock's air-mindedness is shown by count of passengers boarding here. From the first month of Braniff's operation in Lubbock until last month, there was a 300 per cent increase in number of passengers out of Lubbock. Airmail poundage has increased 30 per cent.

Improvements in safety and service have been made. An automatic reservations system gives instant confirmations on most flights.

Four safety awards have been collected by Braniff since July, 1945 for a perfect record of flying without fatality to passenger or crew member.

In addition to scheduled flights through Lubbock, Braniff has made available its DC-3 and DC-4 craft to transport military personnel from Lubbock across the country.

Route To Cuba

With inauguration of Braniff's flights into Latin America, the Lubbock passenger now has direct access to Cuba, Central and South American countries.

The city sales and reservations department in the Hilton hotel is headed by Sales Manager Randall Jones. Employes include Misses Mary Paul Long, Jean Newman and Jane Hiatt.

Airline operations are supervised by Station Manager James Goldman, nine-year veteran with the airline. He is assisted by V. F. Bigley, agent in charge, and Paul Wendlandt, A. L. Burnett, Paul Herron, G. A. Olean, H. Cone and K. G. Cox, transportation agents.

NEW IDEA IN TRUCK SERVICE—Lubbock Truck Center, Inc., now under construction at the northwest corner of Ave. H and Eighth street, will be a pioneering venture in providing expert service to thousands of trucks that move in and out of Lubbock. Representing a total investment of $85,000, the center will have complete facilities for steam cleaning and lubricating 60-foot trucks with an extra 60-foot ramp outside for washing The building will contain large office and storage space and a cafe. Later another floor will be added to contain sleeping and shower facilities for truck drivers. Parking space for an entire fleet of trucks will be provided. The station will operate 24 hours a day. Owners are Bert Kahn and Dudley Henriques. W. L. Cauthen is general contractor. (Staff Photo).

Ex-Felon Freed Of Long Dread

RICHMOND, Va., June 18 (AP)—Seventy-five-year-old Dave Hall is a free man again today. And this time it's legal.

The gray-haired mountaineer, arrested last May after 30 years of illegal liberty that followed his escape from a state prison farm, has been conditionally pardoned by Virginia's Governor Tuck.

Following his escape Hall became known to the folks in Wyoming county, W. Va. as John Henry Thomas, a hard-working farmer and law abiding citizen.

Joined Church

He developed a 267-acre farm along Groundhog crek, became a member of the Baptist church, was married and raised a family.

He even served as a state fire warden and helped federal revenue agents root out moonshiners in the days of prohibition.

Yet his escape weighed heavily upon him.

"If anybody strange came around, I felt the dread on me. I felt like they were trying to get hold of me and take me back," he said when he walked from the state penitentiary here yesterday.

Hall's fears materialized on May 20. On that day officers showed up at his farm.

An argument with a grocer ended Hall's flight from prison. The officers were probing a quarrel over a bill. They identified Hall, who was convicted of second degree murder in 1919, by a long scar on his left hand.

Hall had been sentenced to 18 years on a murder charge and five years on another count. At the time of his escape in Dickenson county Hall still had 18 years to serve.

Governor Tuck granted the pardon after many of Hall's neighbors in West Virginia wrote him in the farmer's behalf.

As Hall walked away from the penitentiary, he paused and breathed deeply.

"The dread is gone," he said.

Youth Kills Brother With 'Unloaded' Rifle As He Refuses To Continue Playing Game

ST. LOUIS, June 18 (UP)—Seven-year-old William Bognar admitted today that he killed his brother Richard, 5, with a rifle when the younger boy refused to go on playing "grocery store."

But William said he hadn't meant to kill Richard.

"I was only joking," he sobbed. "I didn't think the gun was loaded."

The boys were playing store when Richard wanted to switch to another game.

"I said we should go on playing store but he wouldn't do it," William said. "So I went to a closet and got Pop's rifle.

"I said: Now will you go on playing store?"

"He said he wouldn't so I pulled the trigger, meaning only to scare him. The gun went off and he fell dead."

William was held by juvenile authorities.

Grade School Commencement Rites Quiet As Illinois Prisoners Get Their Diplomas

JOLIET, Ill., June 18 (AP) — Thirty-six grammar school pupils who graduated Friday near Joliet didn't even expect to be told that the world is their oyster.

There were no flowers, music, pretty frocks or beaming parents at the ceremonies.

The commencement address lasted three minutes.

The dungaree-clad grads are inmates of Stateville penitentiary. Their teachers, who beamed on them throughout the exercises, also are prisoners.

The graduates, ranging in age from 20 to 44 years, sat quietly as Warden Joseph E. Ragen delivered the brief address.

He stressed the fact that their diplomas bore no identifying mark to show that their alma mater was a penitentiary.

One lucky graduate was paroled two weeks ago. He did not come back for his diploma.

Brightest pupil in the class was George Babes, 37, a former Chicago real estate operator who is serving time three to four years for embezzlement.

Babes said he was "thankful to God for this opportunity to go on with the schooling I need."

The baby of the class, Miguel Godoy, 20, of Corpus Christi, said he hoped to be well along in a high school course before he is freed. He was sentenced to two to four years on a burglary charge.

'Dead' Vet Patient Saved By Operation

BUTLER, Pa., June 18 (AP)—A 45-year-old patient, "who for all intents and purposes had died," is on the road to recovery today, saved by an emergency operation, officials of a veterans administration hospital report.

A spokesman for Deshon General hospital told this story:

Clemon Almon, a cook from Philadelphia, was being prepared for a chest operation. He lapsed into unconsciousness as anesthesia was being administered.

The attending surgeon said Almon's heart action stopped "and there wa sno evidence of respiration."

The surgeon made an emergency incision and began massaging Almon's heart. A pulse beat was detected five minutes later and the patient was placed in an oxygen tent.

PAID THE HARD WAY

SPOKANE, Wash. (UP) — The sales manager of a local automobile agency delivered a shiny new car to Charles M. Hink and Hink paid him in hard cash. Pointing to a foot-square box, Hink said, "There's your money." Grunting and straining, the sales manager lugged away the 170-pound box containing 2,600 silver dollars, all minted in 1921.

Miners Return To Pits Monday, Stabilization Effects Unknown

PITTSBURGH, June 18 (AP) — The nation's 480,000 United Mine Workers go back to the pits Monday but it will be several weeks before they learn the effect of the week-long "stabilization" walkout called by president John L. Lewis.

Meanwhile, the powerful CIO United Steel Workers mapped strategy for a negotiating session Monday with U. S. Steel on pensions.

President Philip Murray is insistent that U. S. Steel bargain on pensions "Big Steel" contends the contract reopening clause permits only discussion of wages and insurance.

On the coal front, these are the developments:

Latest Developments

A large group of soft coal operators have agreed to start talks next Wednesday with Lewis at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Ezra Van Horn, chairman of the Bituminous Coal Operators Negotiating committee, notified Lewis his acceptance of the meeting date. The committee includes operators in Pennsylvania, northwestern West Virginia, Illinois, Indiana and western states.

And Tuesday in Bluefield, W. Va., Southern Coal operators will resume talks with the United Mine Workers on their contract which expires June 30.

The southern operators tried unsuccessfully Friday to kill a strike threat by stretching the life of their contract with the union until August 15—if necessary.

Preliminary Meeting

Moses already has had a preliminary meeting with Lewis in Philadelphia. He said the meeting Friday was to brief other captive operators on what has happened thus far.

UMW - anthracite (hard coal) talks are scheduled for early next month.

It will be early next month before the nation will have its answer to the coal-steel talks.

And the miners go on their 10-day paid vacation June 25.

OPAL DIXON

THE QUESTION

If someone offered to pay all of your expenses, regardless of what they were, on a month's vacation trip, where would you go? Why?

THE ANSWERS

MRS. RHODA HARBERT, 2503 Maple: "I'd go to some quiet place and rest for a month. That is what I wish for. Long trips are tiresome and I don't care to go on one of those."

MISS EVELYN AUSTIN, 1614 Ave. K., student at Draughon's Business college and clerk at John Halsey Drug store: "I think that I would like to go to Sun Valley, because I have heard so much about it and I think it would be wonderful."

L. B. JOHNSON, 1606 Twenty-third, who will be a senior in Lubbock High school next year: "That's what someone is doing for me and I'm going to South America — all ports along the coast. Then when I get back and stay a week, I'll leave on another cruise to Panama. The Naval Reserve is paying for it. I chose where I would go."

JESSE M. COX, 2509 N. Second driver for Bryant's taxi: "I'd go to some dude ranch, because I love horses and I love the outdoors. I love to travel, but spend my time riding horses and being outdoors. I'd like to get up early in the mornings and take a horse and go fishing in a mountain stream. I have a vivid imagination on how to have a good time and all of it's outdoors."

JOYCE WILKINSON, 2824 First, spring graduate of Lubbock High school: "I think I would go to Cincinnati, Ohio, to visit my aunt. I haven't seen her in several years and I would like to see her again. That is the main thing, although I might go places while there."

DIANA RECKER, 3405 Twen- will be a junior in Lubbock High school next year: "I'd go to Europe, because I'd like to visit Paris and London and some of the other 'old world' cities. In Paris, I'd visit the Louvre and in London I'd try to visit Buckingham palace."

Texas is the biggest cattle-producing state.

HEADACHES--SINUS TROUBLE

Case History No. 1967; Man; Age 61; Symptoms: Constant headaches for four years and was never free from headaches a single day. Sinus trouble where his sinuses drained quite frequently.

CAME TO STEPHENS CHIROPRACTIC CLINIC

After trying various remedies without results he came to STEPHENS CHIROPRACTIC CLINIC. X-Ray examination was made of his spine and the Neurocalometer (nerve test) analysis revealed the primary cause of his troubles.

WHAT CHIROPRACTIC HAS DONE FOR ME

After a few months service in the STEPHENS CHIROPRACTIC CLINIC this case reported that he is free of headaches for the first time in over four years. His sinus trouble is also a thing of the past. With the arrival of the Neurocalograph (a product of General Electric) which is the latest instrument in testing the nerves, better results are being obtained.

A HOLLYWOOD Column

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, June 18—Howard Hughes will cash in on the Ingrid Bergman-Roberto Rossellini headlines. He's looking for a new title for their Italian film, "After the Storm," with Stromboli in it somewhere. I asked him if he'd seen the picture's rushes and what he thought of them.

Johnson

"Arty," he said, "but good."

The nation's newest craze, square dancing, had a quick flurry of popularity in the film colony but now the lads and lasses are back to the rhumba. Square dancing requires four couples for a square and, as one Hollywoodsman put it:

"I couldn't find four couples who didn't hate each other."

Jane Wyman's role in "Stage Fright" sounds almost as tricky as "Johnny Belinda." She plays a very bad actress who attends the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art to become a good actress. It takes a very good actress to play the role of a very bad actress.

"And," says director Alfred Hitchcock, "I'll have to be a very good director to have Jane come off as a very bad actress."

Members of the Argentine polo team invited Ann Sothern to be a guest at their country home this summer. Ann said she'd like to go but didn't speak the language. Cesar Romero spoke up: "Honey, you don't have to talk. All you have to do is shake your blonde hair at 'em."

* * *

Jack Carson's description of a romantic couple at a Hollywood night spot: "They were sitting sigh by sigh."

Braving Braves

NOW it's Jimmy Stewart who will be braver than Errol Flynn. Script of "Arrow," the western he'll do this summer, has him walking unarmed into a camp of hostile Indians and performing a long list of other daring feats. He'll play an Indian scout.

Diana Lynn is ready to accept Douglas Sirk's offer to go to Vienna to star in "Two Hearts in Three-Quarter Time."

Bob Taylor wanted to work out both himself and his new horse, Buck, for his western role in "Ambush." Joel McCrea needed a cowhand to help herd cattle at his Ventura ranch. Result: Joel got the cowhand. Taylor is limping. Buck feels fine.

Maybe it's just coincidence, but Walter Wanger's last eight films all featured fires. Remember "Joan of Arc," "Canyon Passage," "Tulsa," "Tap Roots," "Smash Up," "The Lost Moment," "Secret Beyond the Door" and now "Reign of Terror"? Could the man have arson on his mind?

Indians Claimed As Best World Artists

By LEO TURNER
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 18. (U.P.)—Ga-Hes-Ka, the Onondaga Indian whom the white man calls Tom Two Arrow, is a serious young man.

He believes the American Indian should study his own culture and handicrafts instead of the ways of the white man.

There is more artist per square Indian among the American aborigines than in any other race, Two Arrow said.

"The best way we can lift the economic and cultural standard of the Indians is to create interest in their tribal art forms," he said.

Two Arrow, who is 29, has carved himself quite a niche as a story teller, artist, textile designer and silversmith.

Birthplace Uncertain

He was born "on or near" the Onondaga reservation in upstate New York. There are 4,500 Indians still living on reservations in New York state.

"I was never able to find out if my mother was on the reservation or not quite on it," Two Arrow said.

"Creative ability is inherent in most Indians," Two Arrow continued. "There is a demand for Indian art. The tragedy is that many Indians have no knowledge of their own tribal art forms. If it was taught to them instead of the white man's trades, they would be more adept, better off financially, and happy in their own environment."

Two Arrow wore a hand-made silver ring set with a fish made from a bone.

Busy Writing Book

"This is authentic Onondaga art," he said.

He is busy writing a book on Onondaga folk lore as well as running his designing and art-craft business.

"I want to make my contribution to preserving the Indian way of life," he said.

During the war, Two Arrow served with the air transport command in India. He is married to a white girl of German descent whom he met while working as a museum guide. They have a year-old daughter.

Patricia Morison Yearning To Throw Beer Mug At Society Matron With Silly Laugh

By LEO TURNER
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 18. (U.P.)—Patricia Morison says she is going to walk out on "Kiss Me Kate," the Cole Porter musical which made her one of the most talked of Broadway stars of the season, just as soon as her contract permits.

Miss Morison is a beautiful voice, a big emotion and a head of hair. She went to Hollywood after a 1937 Broadway flop to become the original female film gangster. She returned to New York 11 years later to hit the musical comedy stage like a comet.

Hollywood wouldn't let her sing. Broadway won't let her shoot the villian of the show.

But, she said, as she curled up in a big blue chair in her Park Avenue apartment, she's going to bang the head of some society matron with a beer tankard some fine matinee.

Her Second Start

"I've made my second start," she said, "I've shown them I can do what I want to do. I see no need of remaining in 'Kiss Me Kate' indefinitely. I've asked my agent on the coast to let me know whether my contract will allow me to quite the cast this December or if I must wait until next June."

Miss Morison is a five-foot, four-inch, slender, 34-year-old daughter of an English business man and an Irish mother. She was born and reared in New York City. Her hair reaches below her waist but she usually wears it coiled around her head in braids.

She starred with Alfred Drake in "The Two Bouquets," which was produced in 1937 by Marc Connelly. It ran only three months and she went to Hollywood to play the part of a money-mad female gangster with J. Carroll Naish in "Persons in Hiding," which was written by FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover.

"That typed me," she said.

She returned to Broadway this season to star again with Drake as the Shrew in the taming of the same by William Shakespeare—a little Elizabethan slapstick turned into a hit musical comedy by Samuel and Bella Spewak and Cole Porter.

Matinees Trying

It's the two matinees a week that get Miss Morison.

"The audience is mostly women," she said. "They spend the first act talking about their club affairs and commenting on each other's hats. I know when I say my first line to Drake, 'you bastard,' whether it's going to be a good afternoon or a bad one.

"If the women gasp, look out. It's going to be a tough performance. If they laugh, everything's all right."

Miss Morison's toughest moment is during her warmup song, "I hate men!" which she sings seated at a table with a beer tankard in her hand.

"Some day when some woman ruins the scene with a silly laugh, I'm going to throw that mug at her, so help me," he said.

Miss Morison is a seldom seen person when she's off the stage. That's her reaction to Hollywood.

"When I went there, they told me I had to put up a big front. The front was harder work than the time before the camera. Then I learned you didn't have to do it. Now I don't like to go anywhere."

PLANT IS ERECTED

The Sieff Research Institute, Rehovot, Israel, is erecting a pilot plant to investigate commercial applications for its recently developed castor bean with a 60 per cent oil content — the extracted oil yielding a colorless material said to be easily work-

Insincere Hollywood Is More Windy Than Congress' Halls

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, June 18.—One place on the map is windier than Chicago or the halls of Congress. That place is Hollywood, and many of its warm verbal zephyrs are distressing. It makes your heart bleed to know, for example, that beautiful Ava Gardner, admirably endowed as she is by nature for attracting men, is having trouble finding a third husband. One for whom she'd be willing to chuck her stardom and, if necessary, slave in the kitchen.

I know another woman who gets a lot more sympathy from me. Years ago she was an attractive girl. But her neurotic, invalid mother so dominated her, and kept boy friends away, that the girl grew up into a soured spinster. She'll never have even one husband.

Ava is quoted as thinking it would be nice to have four kids. I know a woman who has five. Healthy, handsome kids, and their mother isn't one-fourth as pretty as Ava. A happy family, and the father probably earns as much in a week as Ava makes in five minutes.

Maybe Ava's lament is wholly sincere. But a lot of other Hollywood talk frequently is pure guff. It comes in neat, ready-wrapped packages. Mass-produced thoughts and phrases, carefully matchined and polished by much repetition. A few go like this:

Career-seeker, congratulating the producer after the preview of a stinker: "Great picture . . . simply great."

Ideas leap from mouth to mouth, fanning the conversational breeze and making each copy-cat sound profound to his own ears. Sample: Yes, the British do make some good pictures. But they make a lot of stinkers, too, and they don't send those over for us to see. On the whole, Hollywood's product is just as good, probably better. Trouble is, we worship anything that is foreign. As women do Paris fashions.

"TORCH" FOR EX-WIFE A FACTOR

Robert Walker Says Mental Help Made New Man Of Him

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, June 18 — Admitting he was a "confused boy" six months ago, actor Robert Walker today praised the mental treatment which he said has made him a new man.

The 30-year-old former husband of Jennifer Jones talked freely of his experience at Topeka's Menninger clinic in Kansas.

"If an actor can speak frankly of his solution to mental troubles, perhaps it will encourage others to seek psychiatric help," he said.

Walker admitted a "torch" for his ex-wife had something to do with his previous troubles, which involved public drunkenness and scrapes with the law. Miss Jones has been reported engaged to her boss, David O. Selznick.

Kids Important

"At the time—in the pre-clinic days—I felt it very deeply," he said. "I was a very unhappy character.

"But now I know it is not important. And what's more, it's not important to the kids either."

Walker is caring for his two children while Miss Jones is in Europe. "They're getting a lot of love from their pop," he said. "And I'm getting a lot of love in return. It means a lot to have a couple of kids who idolize you."

The actor said MGM head producer Dore Schary talked him into visiting the Menninger clinic.

"I didn't want to go," he related. "I thought it was a horrible shame to go to a mental clinic. I thought the way many people do—that it meant something like an insane asylum. Now I know differently."

Progress Slow

Walker said he made no progress in his first two months there.

"I was fighting it," he said. "But for the next four and a half months I went through an exciting, wonderful experience. I spent an hour each day with my psychiatrist and slowly relived my whole life.

"I was so starved for the information that I gobbled it up. I found out that everything stems back to how you were treated and how much you were loved when you were little."

Before the treatment, Walker said he had felt that "everybody hated me, that I was unworthy of happiness." But now he feels "unbelievably good; it's the difference between night and day."

Does he think the experience will make him a better actor?

"I've thought about that; maybe it will. I now like people—I'm not afraid of anybody. Maybe that will make me a better actor."

Walker starts a picture July 15 and will do another one immediately thereafter. After that he intends to return to Menninger's. "Psychiatry is a fascinating study and I want to know more about it," he said.

Informed that reports from Europe hinted a rift between Miss Jones and Selznick, Walker had this to answer:

"Never a dull moment."

Third Son For Gregory Pecks Named For Late Harry Carey

LOS ANGELES, June 18 (AP)—It's three boys now for the Gregory Pecks.

The actor's wife, Greta, gave birth to seven-pound, 13-ounce Carey Paul Friday. He was named for Harry Carey, the late actor.

The couple's other two boys are Jonathan, five, and Stephen, three. Mrs. Peck and latest son are doing fine at California Lutheran hospital.

Actress Files For Divorce. Second Time In Three Years

LOS ANGELES, June 18. (AP)—For the second time in three years, actress Ellen Drew has filed suit for divorce against Sydney S. Bartlett.

Her latest complaint, filed in superior court Friday, charges the movie writer-producer with cruelty. Miss Drew secured an interlocutory decree of divorce on July 19, 1946, but the couple became reconciled before the divorce became final. They separated again last May 18.

Congress Is Bombarded By Conflicting Camps; Business Is Safeguarded

MIDDLE PATH BEST

No Extremes Needed

A MAGAZINE devoted to national affairs—the United States News—reports in a recent edition on the mail now going into Congress concerning domestic problems.

According to the News, most readers are asking their Representatives and Senators to be cautious; to hold taxes and expenditures down. They urge the solons not to do anything to unnecessarily frighten, or upset, business, which already is somewhat jittery over the downward economic trend.

In other words, the plain people of the country—not members of pressure groups and who write their own views of their own accord—are urging more conservatism in government.

At the same time most writers to Congress are urging a "go slow and easy" policy, a pressure group calling itself "Americans for Democratic Action" is shouting for a stepping up of the "tax and tax and tax—spend and spend and spend" philosophy of the more radical element of the Democratic party. These ADA-ers are of the Harry Hopkins school. One of their patron saints is Leon Henderson. Another is Harold Ickes. A great many people think the ADA sould be the ASA—"Americans for Socialistic Action."

Which way shall Congress go, if business drops to the point where a real, live depression threatens? Shall it go conservative all along the line? Or shall it go the Socialistic way?

Most citizens, we believe, will hope for middle-of-the-road action: not the do-nothing policy of the hidebound Tory camp; but also not the whole-hog route so near and dear to people like Sen. Claude Pepper, Henry Wallace, Sen. Glen Taylor and Oscar Ewing.

Meanwhile, until it becomes certain that the current leveling-off process is nothing more than can be expected after a dozen years of boom times, let us hope that Congress be not stampeded either way.

Emancipation Story

EMANCIPATION Day, long the negro's major holiday in the South, was never better exemplified than it is today, in Lubbock, by the selection—by his own people—of Dr. Joe Chatman as the city's most valuable colored citizen.

If the white population had been asked to select Lubbock's No. 1 Negro Citizen, Doctor Chatman undoubtedly would have been named by "the folks on this side of town." Widely known, liked and respected by the whites here, Doctor Chatman would have been their overwhelming choice.

Yet it is doubtful if the white population would have selected the doctor by any wider margin than his own people did, by sending in their nominations, by postcard, to The Avalanche-Journal. To be sure, several other negro citizens were nominated by members of their race. Some of them would have been nominated by whites. Yet when the results were tallied, Joe Chatman was "way out in front," as he certainly would be in any polls of both races here.

On another page of today's paper, pictures and an article tell the story of the man who is not only Lubbock's most valuable colored citizen but also one of the most outstanding members of his race in this state. Doctor Chatman has become a valuable citizen here by virtue of his own efforts and his own actions, which, in turn, have brought him overwhelming support by his own people and by the whites, as well.

Joe Chatman started out in a cotton patch. But he wasn't content to stay there. He emancipated himself to a point where others, white and colored, pitched in and helped, further, the emancipation process. Proudly, Doctor Chatman says he couldn't have done what he's done by himself. Those of both races who have encouraged his progress may join in his pride.

The colored doctor's success here, the confidence and the friendships he enjoys, give the lie to the oft-heard claim that "a negro can't get anywhere in the South."

More important, they stand as a beacon light to ambitious young negroes who, through their own efforts and ability, may wish to do likewise.

Doctor Chatman's selection as Lubbock Most Valuable Colored Citizen makes Emancipation Day, 1949, mean something to both races in Lubbock.

The International Commissioners of the Girl Guides recently convened at Drakhenburg, Holland.

CONGRESSMEN GUARDED STATE'S RIGHTS ON LAW

Statewide Time Element Keeps Texas More Unified

By SARAH McCLENDON
(Avalanche-Journal Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Had it not been for the work of some energetic Texas congressmen back in 1921, the Panhandle and a larger part of West Texas might have been on Mountain time instead of Central. In any event, Texas would have been split wide open as to time, and as the Texas congressmen thought, grave damage might have resulted in business, cultural relations, state solidarity, etc.

The law says that all of Texas shall be on Central Time, thanks to an amendment to the time standard act, passed in 1921.

You quickly point out the El Paso is on Mountain Time. Well, it so happens that El Paso is a flagrant violation of the law. In fact, government experts say that city has simply ignored the statute. However, they point out, there is supreme court interpretation which justifies a community in choosing its own time it might be subject to hardships otherwise. Mountain time is nearer sun time for El Paso, it develops, and Central time might be too fast for the residents of the state's farthest west city.

Under Supervision Of ICC

This assignment of running down the reasons for Texans having the kind of time they do has proved to be one of the most interesting jobs. It all started when some friends out in West Texas sat around a luncheon table and fell to discussing time. Then they wrote a letter to Washington. They started off half mad—wanted to know if there was anything under the laws of Texas which covers the reason why part of the state should be on Mountain Time and the rest on Central Time.

Just for fun, now, let's ask the average citizen, where in the government would you go to check on time zones?

Well, anyway, a check at the Naval Observatory, Weather Bureau, Coast and Gedoetic Survey, National Bureau of Standards, Department of Commerce and the Interstate Commerce Commission was made. Much to my surprise, it was the last, the ICC, which deals in time. Later, I was to see the connection with railroads.

First Standard In 1884

TIME zoning in this country and throughout the world dates back to the Washington conference of 1884. Then, a plan was worked out for the U. S., which later was adopted for the world. The nation was divided into zones of 15 degrees longitude.

A treaty establishing time zones with other nations was never formally ratified. However, all nations represented at the conference within a few years began to divide time zones by this plan.

Later, an act of Congress of March, 1918 set up the Interstate Commerce Commission as the arbiter over time zones.

The railroads really pushed for this measure.

T. E. Pyne, examiner of the ICC, is the government's authority on time. However, another expert exists—H. A. Bowman, assistant chief of the time section, Bureau of Standards. He runs a laboratory.

The time for each zone is that of the meridian passing through its approximate center and the zone next to it has on hour difference in time. Zones start from the Greenwich, England meridian.

Law Is Ignored

When I found Mr. Pyne, he made some remarks about El Paso being one flagrant example of a violation of an Act of Congress because its residents "totally ignored" the act. The law puts them in the Central time zone, but "they paid no attention to it and don't observe it now."

"However," he added, "the courts have so ruled that there is no objection to a local community putting itself under different time

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

TODAY'S column will start with an Obituary.

It is an obituary for Popovers.

I loved popovers. I couldn't get enough of them.

BRANDEIS

But my wife, as I wrote in a rash column, did not succeed in making her popovers pop.

Being accustomed to dealing with world-shaking problems in by column, I told my readers about my wife's plight.

More than 250 recipes for popovers came in.

Most of them were similar or alike.

But there were about forty varieties of making popovers.

My wife tried them all—on me.

Then about a dozen other letters regarding popovers came in.

"I am anxious to know whether your wife tried my recipe," they said in substance, "and I am anxious to know whether my recipe worked out all right. If not can you give me the one that did?"

Yes, dear reader, who and wherever you are, she did try your recipe.

And she found that by putting in three eggs instead of two and filling the very hot ramikin full, instead of just half-full, the popovers come out perfect.

But now to the Obit.

As I said, I loved popovers. When their aroma wafted from the downstairs kitchen into my upstairs bedroom on a Sunday morning, that wonderful odor got me out of bed as no church bell had ever been able to do.

But, after my popover column, popovers were no longer a once a-month Sunday delight.

They became a weekly experiment, and I was the guinea pig.

With tears in my eyes I begged my wife never to make another popover again as long as I live.

"Bury the recipes as deep as you can," I said, "and let us bury even the memory of popovers. May they rest in peace."

* * *

I AM telling you all this not just for the sake of popovers.

My popover experience holds true in many of life's experiences.

Too much of anything becomes monotonous or even nauseating.

No woman would care much about orchids if orchids were a dime a dozen.

No man would aspire to financial success if money grew on trees and dollars were his for the picking.

People go to Florida or California in winter because June days in February are rare.

God must have known what He was doing when He mixed joys with pain. Perhaps it is good that the days of joy are so much rarer than the days of worry and anxiety.

I love roast leg of veal. We had it last Sunday. It was delicious.

On Tuesday we had cold veal and potato salad. It was pretty good.

Tonight we will have roast veal again.

Shall I have to write another Obit?

REASSURANCE IS GIVEN

Gradual Fall Sought

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Despite business blues being sung in Wall street, Washington economists point to two significant and reassuring facts on the economic horizon

PEARSON

A.) Business safeguards have been built up so carefully since the 1932 depression that the business slump cannot be anywhere near as disastrous as the last.

B.) Skyrocketing price of the post-war years are bound to come down, and falling prices, like a falling stone, are almost certain to hit someone.

The main problem in bringing about falling prices, say the economists, is to make the fall gradual.

Business safeguards developed under the Roosevelt administration to prevent a depression avalanche are:

1.) Federal deposit insurance. This guarantees all bank deposits up to $5,000 and insures against any wholesale bank holiday such as that of 1933. Little depostors under the present system cannot be hurt.

2.) The Securitie and Exchange commission now watches over Wall street, protects unsuspecting small investors.

3.) Old-age pensions give a certain amount of buying power to oldsters regardless of employment. It is generally agreed that these pensions are too low, should be raised. Their increase would be a healthy stimulus to business.

5.) Farm support prices protect farmers from any catastrophic price decreases such as occurred in the 1930's.

Government economists point out that all the above safeguards cannot prevent a business slump, but they can prevent a sudden depression.

Note—Economists believe that one important factor today is psychological. When business expects a depression, businessmen quit buying, orders come in on a day-to-day basis, and factories cannot plan ahead. This is the best way to precipitate a depression.

Anti-Telephone Coalition

There's been no publicity about it, but the northern-liberal lineup against the Southern-Republican coalition has begun to work. Result is that the Poage bill to expand rural telephone lines appears doomed, at least for this session of Congress.

When the Southern Democrats began lining up with rural Republicans to oppose rent control, public housing and other big-city measures, Northern Democrats started making deals with big-city Republicans. They decided to gang up on rural voters, and one of their first targets was the rural telephone bill.

That bill has been bottled up in the House rules committee since early March and neither Speaker Sam Rayburn, Majority Leader John McCormack, nor Rules Chairman Adolph Sabath are bestirring themselves to pry it loose.

Author of the bill, Congressman W. R. Poage of Texas, joined the Republicans to vote against rent control and Taft-Hartley repeal, so his northern Democratic colleagues are furious. Meanwhile, Poage's erstwhile Republican soalition buddies have left him high and dry on this issue.

Everybody except the big telephone companies, who don't want competition from farmer co-op phone lines, agrees that the Poage bill would fill an important need in rural America. Many human lives have been lost for want of farm telephones.

However, because Poage voted against the interests of their urban constituents, northern Democrats are delighted to hit back at his phone bill.

TWO men sit behind cross-examining Senator Bourke Hickenlooper during the atomic energy probe. Every so often they lean over, whisper in his ear, hand him a piece of paper.

They are: David Teeple, assistant to the inspector general of the Air Forces, and Fred Rhodes, jr., of the central intelligence agency, and they are the real brains behind the Hickenlooper investigation.

It is standard procedure for the legislative branch of the government to investigate the executive branch, but it is highly unusual for one part of the executive branch to help probe another part of the executive.

Perhaps that is why if you call up central intelligence and ask the whereabouts of Mr. Rhodes, they are very secretive and absolutely refuse to divulge his whereabouts — even though he can be seen by any newsman sitting behind Senator Hickenlooper on Capitol Hill.

Neither of the two men happen to have any scientific background. Teeple was a teacher of history in the Alice Deal junior high school in Washington, D. C., then joined the Manhattan project during the war and became security officer. He thinks of the atomic energy program as a glorified game of cops and robbers rather than one of developing the peacetime atomic energy.

Rhodes holds a law degree, but has never entered practice. Tall, handsome, affable, he also was former security officer for the Manhattan project.

Military Still Wants Control

Most important of all, however is the fact that both men are strong rooters for Gen. Leslie Groves, the atomic war chief who fought so hard to keep atomic energy under control of the military.

Also significant is the fact that the two men were employed by the joint congressional committee on atomic energy under the Republican Congress when Sen. Hickenlooper was chairman. Then, when the Democrats took over in January, new Chairman Brien McMahon of Connecticut told Teeple and Rhodes they lacked proper qualifications for top jobs, offered them lesser jobs.

Both resigned, were promptly hired by the military and are now loaned by the military to feed ammunition to ex-Chairman Hickenlooper against the Atomic Engery Commission.

Note — Though all Atomic Energy Commission policies are determined by a five-man board, each man with one vote, the entire Hickenlooper-military attack is centered on one man—Lilienthal. Out of some 500 major decisions, the commission has voted unanimously except in five cases. Let Lilienthal has been selected as the goat.

"BEHIND THE CURTAIN"

Guenther Inspects Communism

"BEHIND THE CURTAIN," by John Guenther; (Harper).

CLOSE inspection of Communism in and around the Iron Curtain has convinced John Gunther the best way for Americans to fight Communism is to keep their own house in order. Gunther and his wife saw what the Americans are doing in Greece and Turkey and Italy; were permitted to visit four Iron Curtain countries, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Poland; and stopped at Vienna, Berlin, Paris, and London. Then he came up with this counsel to Americans:

"Americans have, it would seem, two prime duties; to try to understand fully and without blinkers every facet of what Russia means and is, and to maintain our own house in good order. The way to deal with internal threats of Communism is to improve ourselves; the way to stop Russia without war is to make America itself better."

Split May Be Decisive Factor

Known for other books called "Inside U. S. A." and "Inside Europe," and the like, Gunther says he was almost tempted to call this one "Inside Outside Russia." He believes the Stalin-Tito break was "on the level." He predicts that the split between the national and international conceptions of Communist society may eventually turn out to be a decisive factor in the future of all these Iron Curtain countries.

He makes the flat statement that none of the "puppet states" is equipped for war, is capable of fighting a serious war or wants war. He says the basic attitude of these countries to the United States is "compounded of respect for our power, ignorance and fear."

He says the overriding impression the visitor will get in the Iron Curtain countries is "poverty". But despite that poverty, he tells of only one case of personal corruption.

"Russian Ignorance" Stressed

Gunther's book does not contain much material that has not already been covered in reports of newsmen on the spot or by special stories of correspondents who have come home. It is notable mostly for the impression this observer of the international scene has formed after his own tour through the Soviet fringe.

One major point he makes is that much of the trouble between Russia and the other nations is "Russian ignorance." On the whole, he finds Americans abroad are doing a good job, with some officers praised highly here and there. He says the United States does not have a policy for Germany but that the Soviet policy on Germany is almost "confused."

Looking Ahead

"NINETEEN EIGHTY-FOUR," by George Orwell; (Harcourt, Brace).

THE English must be dissatisfied with the world as it is, since so many of them write about it as it isn't. Evelyn Waugh swept us away to "Neutria"; Robert Graves spirited us to a strange, strifeless Mediterranean; Marghanita Laski poked fun at the extremes to which Conservative government might lead. Now comes Orwell, grimmest and gruesomest of them all, to picture the totalitarian world of a bare 35 years from now.

Orwell is the least discreet, or most convinced, for some us may live, though heaven forbid, to check on the realization of his awful nightmares, or at least to witness the outbreak of the atomic warfare which, he says, will introduce his unendurable tomorrow. Our illfated globe will be divided into Eurasia, Eastasia and Oceania which, the scene of his horror, includes the English and us. At the top will be the Party, headed by "Big Brothers"; then come Inner Party, Outer Party and the great unwashed "proles".

A kind of Basic English will be the universal tongue, and this language, called Newspeak, is cunningly devised so that it amounts almost to Nospeak, or certainly to Nothink. Every person of consequence has a two-way telescreen in his home; it can bring in news, and take out secrets, too.

Happenings Too Repugnant

"Imagine a boot stamping on a human face—forever" . . . that, says O'Brien, is the future. It is also pretty much the ugly 1984 present as seen and suffered by Winston Smith, a young man who remembers too much of the pre-atomic past for his own good. One of his worst offenses is to remember about love, and he succumbs to Julia's advances. He plots to turn the world back to the pleasant 1940s and 1950s, and is caught at it.

This is a Book-of-the-Month, and in scenes between Winston, Julia and O'Brien, dramatic tension mounts sharply. But the description of the mechanics of this abominable future is more detailed than the story requires, and the happenings too repugnant. This is just a piece of science fiction; the bogey man is bogus, the hobogoblin most unlikely to hobogobble us up. Orwell, author of "Animal Farm", is better at depicting the man in beast than the beast in man.

Adventuring Book

"PLAYTIME IS OVER," by Clyde Brion Davis; (Lippincott).

FOR about five months Stephen Lewis, master sergeant, retired, lives on a farm in Arkansas aind reflects on the deeds and misdeeds which have colored his active life.

This novel is his diary, a daily account of grubbing in the soil, going to town for supplies, becoming fond of his negro neighbor, hunting for his runaway mule. Interspersed with all this are his extended reminisences. Born into a Massachusetts family of good descent, if descent means come-down, Steve rebelled at the frigid atmosphere of his home, his domineering mother, selfish sister and brow-beaten father, and went to sea.

Gets Into Trouble

He has a knack for getting into trouble, a handy knack for a man who hopes to have his diary printed. He learns his first lesson about women in a Caribbean port, about the French trick of boxing with number nines in Marseilles; and later in the Army he studies, so to speak, on the Mexi-World I, in the Marines in Rio, and on his own in Argentina.

To keep the reader from fearing this will be only the story of a dirt farmer, Lewis knowingly works into the first day's record hints about Judith, whom he left in San Francisco; about the derring-do that won him medals; about Henriqueta; in short, about his deaths in various guises: According to Brazilian law, by U. S. Army sentence, by a murderous clout from Betty, and so on to almost as many deaths as a cat has lives.

Steve's record must have seemed important to him, since his life was at stake; but, it is not made important either in the incidents or the reflections with which they are sometimes too liberally coated. The sin looks synthetic. You have the suspicion that Lewis fooled the author, that he didn't have these high times, that he's just making them up. It's less a book about adventuring than adventuring by the book.

New Baptist Church To Be Organized

The Thirty-fourth Street Baptist chapel, which has been a mission of the First Baptist church since its organization in February, 1947, is to be organized into an independent church on Sept. 11, it has been announced.

The chapel, which is located at Thirty-fourth and Adams Ave., had 27 persons in attendance on the first Sunday after its organization. On the second Sunday there were 35, and on the third Sunday, 66.

There are now some 300 active members on the church rolls, with a Sunday school enrollment of 395 and Training union enrollment of 178. Average attendance in the Sunday school for the past eight weeks has been 240 persons.

Beginning with one building, the chapel has added two additional structures to house its Sunday school classes. At present there are some 50 teachers and leaders of Training union departments working in the Sunday school and Training union.

A. W. Jackson is superintendent of the Sunday school and Melvis F. Flake is director of the Training union.

Rev. John P. Baker has been pastor of Thirty-fourth Street Baptist chapel since its organization.

Musical Program Is Scheduled At Church

Portions of the oratorio, "Elijah," (Mendelsshon) will be presented at the evening worship service of the First Methodist church at 8 o'clock tonight. The musical program is being presented by the church choir.

Under the direction of Mrs. R. O. Short, choir director, the program will feature solos by Bill Lord in the part of Obadiah, Miss Ina Bacon as Youth, Miss Joyce Watson as Widow, and Mrs. T. J. Lovett as an angel. The soloists and the choir will be accompanied by Mrs. Mamie I. Neal, organist, and Miss Mary Findley, pianist.

George Deardorff Is Named First Christian Group Head

At the official board meeting of the First Christian church, held at the church recently, George Deardorff was named chairman for the forthcoming church year.

Deardorff, a resident of Lubbock for the past eight years, came here from Enid, Okla., where he had held the chairmanship of the board of Central Christian church.

He has served as Sunday school superintendent at First Christian church here. He has been president of the Harverters Sunday school class a member of the church Board of Elders.

Other officers named at the official meeting were Fred Childress, vice chairman; P. M. Porter, secretary; and Cecil Cagle, treasurer.

G. P. Kuykendall, who has served for 11 consecutive years as chairman of the official church board, was named chairman of the elders for the coming year.

CHURCH Briefs

The First Presbyterian Vacation Bible school has been postponed until the last two weeks in July, church officials have announced.

George Young of Lubbock is representative of the local First Presbyterian Sunday school at the senior conference of the Presbyterian Synod of Texas, currently being held at the Mo-Ranch at Hunt, Tex. F. L. McRee, superintendent of First Presbyterian Sunday school, will attend the Presbyterian men and superintendent's conference there June 24-26.

"Whirlwinds and Clouds of Dust—What Do They Mean?" will be the sermon subject of Rev. Ben D. Johnson, pastor of Tabernacle Baptist church, at the open air revival meeting at Paris and Fourth and 8 o'clock tonight. The revival, which opened Thursday night, will continue two weeks.

Dr. J. P. McBeth, of Dallas, evangelist and noted Baptist Bible exposition, will conduct a series of revival services at Thirty-fourth Street Baptist chapel beginning Monday night and continuing through next Sunday night. Dr. McBeth will teach the book of Malachi, it was announced.

WEDDINGS FEATURED AT CHURCH—St. John's Methodist church, 1304 Ave. X, will be decorated for a wedding tonight. Rev. Hubert Bratcher, the pastor, will speak on "For Better Or For Worse" and the wedding vows will be read by Charles Luttrick, associate pastor. Special guests at the services will be those persons who have been married at the church, which in the past year has become a sort of "Little Church Around the Corner" for Lubbock. More than 60 weddings have been performed in the church since last June. Fifteen local and out-of-town ministers, representing a half dozen denominations have officiated at weddings involving persons from such places as New York, Denver, Chicago and scores of towns and communities in this area. Many of the couples married have been students and former students of Tech. June is the most popular month for the weddings with July, December and April tied for second place. The church is pictured above. Inset is Rev. Bratcher.

EVANGELIST HERE — Rev. Jack Vossler, above, 17-year-old evangelist from Campbell, Calif., opened a revival at Bethel tabernacle, Sixth and Ave. L, Saturday night. He is a graduate of a Bible institute in Gilroy, Calif. A feature of each evening service will be a saxaphone solo by the evangelist. Rev. and Mrs. Boyd McSpadden, pastors, also will sing at each service. The services will be conducted at 8 p. m. daily. Time of end of the revival has not been set.

PREACHES HERE — W. R. Smith, above, vice president of Abilene Christian college at Abilene, will preach today and next Sunday at Broadway Church of Christ, in absence of Dr. M. Norvel Young, minister, who has left for an European trip. J. D. Thomas, formerly of Lubbock, minister of Northwest Church of Christ in Chicago, will be here to work with the congregation six weeks, beginning July 3. He will preach during that period.

First Presbyterian Church Group Hears Of Montreat Meet

The Men of First Presbyterian church, meeting recently for their regular monthly gathering, heard Wyatt L. Hester report on his recent trip to Montreat, N. C., where he attended the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States.

Thord Dockray showed sound movies of interesting events concerning the Lubbock Boys' club and the Soap Box Derby.

Asbury Methodist Stewards Name New Officers For Year

The Board of Stewards of Asbury Methodist church met recently to organize their work for the church for the forthcoming church year, at which time the following officers of the board were named:

H. C. Leon, president; A. G. Martin, vice president; Wilbur Hunt, secretary; and C. W. Reasonover, treasurer.

L. E. Settle was elected building fund treasurer.

Three Men Named To Board Of Methodist Men's Club

Election of three men to the board of directors of the Methodist Men's Coffee club, a men's fellowship organization of First Methodist church, highlighted a recent meeting of the organization in the church fellowship hall.

Named to the board of directors were Ben Cowling, H. L. Hindman, and Larry Copenhaver.

Three directors are named to the board every four months.

Hindman will give a meditative talk, "Someone in Need," at this week's regular meeting of the club, planned for 7 a. m. Tuesday.

Club members have unanimously agreed to take the necessary steps to affiliate their organization with other Methodist men's clubs in the Methodist Northwest Texas conference. Although the men's fellowship is provided for in the Methodist Discipline, the local group has never affiliated with the conference-wide organization.

EDUCATIONAL DIRECTOR Rev. Robert S. Ramsay, formerly of Colorado Springs, Colo., recently arrived in Lubbock to assume duties as educational director of College Avenue Baptist church. He and his wife are graduates of Baylor university, Waco. Rev. Abe Hester, jr., is pastor of the church.

Former Tech Student Given Post At Church

Rev. Charles Lutrick has been assigned by Bishop Will C. Martin as associate pastor of St. John's Methodist church of Lubbock. He recently arrived in Lubbock to assume his new duties.

Rev. Lutrick graduated from Texas Tech in 1945. During his senior year he served as associate pastor of First Methodist church here, serving at the same time as pastor of Overton Methodist church in suburban Lubbock.

He entered Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist university, Dallas, in 1946. While attending that school as a student, he served two years as conference youth director with the Central Texas conference Board of Education. He also served as student pastor at Burleson for two years. He received his B. D. degree this spring.

Rev. and Mrs. Lutrick, the former Ruth Monk of Lubbock also a former Tech student, have two children, Linda, 5, and David, 2. The family will reside at 1008 Ave. V.

Baptist Association Conference Is Set

A worker's conference of the Lubbock Baptist association will be held Tuesday in the Caldwell Baptist church, with Rev. Carson Everett as host pastor.

The theme of the conference will be "The Rural Church."

A 10 a. m. song service led by Rev. Robert S. Ramsay, educational director of College Avenue Baptist church, will begin the conference, to be followed with a devotional by Odell Donley.

Rev. Fred McPherson, pastor of Southside Baptist church, will speak on "Church and Its Officers" at 10:20 a. m., and B. M. Hays will discuss "Church and Its Stewardship" at 10:40 a. m.

Pennsylvania Town Wants Live People Instead Of Dead Ones

SCRANTON, Pa., June 18. (U.P.)—The borough of Dalton, aiming to increase its living population, has taken steps to curb the expansion of burial parks.

Councilmen opposed a request that one cemetery be enlarged, saying that such action would make the town more of a burial park than anything else. But the council went even further. It provided a $50 fine and imprisonment for any corporation not already in the cemetery business to bury a body in the town limits.

Instead of bodies, the councilmen said they wanted more industries, thus increasing the living members in the town.

Chinese Provinces Still Left To Nationalists Breaking Away

By TOM LAMBERT
Associated Press Staff Writer

CANTON, June 18.—Provinces still left to the Chinese government are slipping away from Nationalist control, a highly-reliable foreign source said today.

He reported a western province recently refused to turn over rice taxes it had collected to the government. A southern province governor seized government minting machinery and still has it.

In the northwest, he added, the provinces there have only a slender link with the government.

A Chinese government source reported meantime that the cabinet was discussing a blockade of all ports held by the Chinese Communists.

Optimism Believed Rumor

Foreign observers could find little for the government to cheer about despite two optimistic military and financial reports put out today.

The government's Central News Agency quoted Gen. Chang Chun in a speech at Chungking as saying the Nationalists have 2,000,000 "crack" troops who soon will take the offensive.

Competent Chinese and foreign sources say the Nationalists may have 2,000,000 men in uniform, but they aren't "crack." Their morale is low and their generals have shown no eagerness to mount offensives.

They also argue that General Chang, Nationalist commander in the northwest, hardly showed such optimism when he turned down this week a minister's portfolio in the new government "war cabinet."

The optimistic financial report was strictly rumor.

Chinese sources said Hsu Kan, finance minister-designate in the new cabinet, had met with "success" in getting Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek to turn some of the money he holds on Formosa over to the government.

There have been previous reports that other officials met with "success" on the same mission to Formosa. Yet reliable quarters say Chiang still has the estimated $300,000,000 in gold and silver which was in the government treasury before the Communists crossed the Yangtze.

Now the treasury of acting President Li Tsung-Jen's government is empty. The Nationalists on the mainland are in difficult financial straits.

Premier Yen Hsi-Shan is setting an example in austerity. He was taken up residence in a small room the cabinet building. He says he will draw only about $70 a month from the treasury for living expenses.

Gas Supply Short

(In Shanghai, Communist authorities moved to alleviate the gasoline shortage in the city. They granted Caltex Oil company permission to operate its river fleet as well as tank trucks.

(Caltex and other companies have their storage tanks in Pootung, across the Whangpoo from Shanghai. They have not been able to get supplies across the river to Shanghai service stations.

(The shortage has begun to produce a gasoline black market.

(Prices of luxury goods were dropping in Shanghai—except in second-hand stores.

(The North China Daily News said a survey showed the prices of new refrigerators, automobiles and radios had fallen drastically.

(The Communist regime presents so many uncertainties for people in the luxury market that they are willing to spend only limited amounts for this type of goods.)

In 1519 Cortez invaded Mexico, conquered Montezuma, and set up a kingdom.

Statewide Time

This is how communities in the East put themselves under daylight saving time in summer, he said.

Also, some cities in Georgia and the South which are not at all on Eastern Standard time are putting themselves on it to conform with the eastern seaboard cities with which they carry on considerable business.

Mr. Pyne also said that Central time is an hour and some minutes too fast for El Paso, or rather a little over an hour faster than sun time, since El Paso is well into the Mountain time zone area.

The act came about at the strong insistence of Texas congressmen who were fearful that the time zones were going to split their large state in the middle. They thought that would be very bad for the state as awhole. Thus they put through an amendment to make that impossible. Had the Texas congressmen not take this action, the eastern portion would have been under Central Time and part of the Panhandle districts of Texas and Oklahoma and other parts of West Texas would have been under Mountain time.

Railroads Follow Law

THE railroads which are governed by interstate commerce regulations for cross-country traffic remains on time according to the time standards act. This is why they do not observe daylight saving time.

Railroad approaching El Paso from the East arrive on Central Standard time but depart on Mountain Time, the ICC said. Actually, Mr. Pyne said, the railroads should enter and leave El Paso on Central Standard time and then change time at the New Mexican border but that would be very inconvenient for the railroads so they have been permitted to do this.

Actually, he painted out, the ICC's time section can do nothing but draw lines. It cannot enforce, or administer time.

Charles Miller, Barstow, Pecos River Compact commissioner, amused listeners here with his description of an old aunt from England who stayed at his home on the Pecos river for some time.

Every afternoon, she would go for long walks about the hills. Fearful of the hail which sometimes comes out of the thunderhead over the mountains, Charlie warned her about walking so far from home. "Oh, I've seen hail as big as pebbles, I'm not afraid," she said.

"I know," he replied, "but out here I've seen hail as big as two-pound tomato cans," "Bah, that's only one of your tall tales from this country," she said. So then he had to show her what damage the hailstones had done to his roof. When she saw the dents, she believed.

Another time, after going out in the yard with her rocking chair to sew, as she did every afternoon, she screamed. Charlie ran out. There, coiled, was a rattler. He killed the snake.

"The effrontery of the beast, to come right into the front yard," she said.

She found the food dished up every day by his Mexican woman cook, seasoned with hot peppers and garlic, to be "hellish," but now she writes from England that she wishes she were back there—"you always had such good food."

Recent visitors here included: Henry Murphey, Maggie Lee Murphey, Mrs. Henry D. Murphy, and Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, Midland, who were guests of Rep. Ken Regan, 16th district, at the Capitol; Miss Laura Lee Jones, Levelland, W. G. Boyd and son, Clyde, of Wilson, who were en route to Buffalo, N. Y., right after Clyde's graduation from Texas Technological Institute at Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Charnell Jobe and daughter, Angeline, Lamesa, en route to the Rotary International meeting in New York; Miss Sue Onstead, Lubbock, employe of the Veterans Administration's regional office, who was on a tour with a large party of Texans; James R. Pinson, Lubbock, interior decorator, en route to study and buy things in Europe; all of whom were guests of Rep. George Mahon, Colorado City.

Another visitor of interest was Forrest Kyle, West Texas newspaper man whom Speaker Rayburn introduced at a press conference as "a man of influence, owns several newspapers out in West Texas."

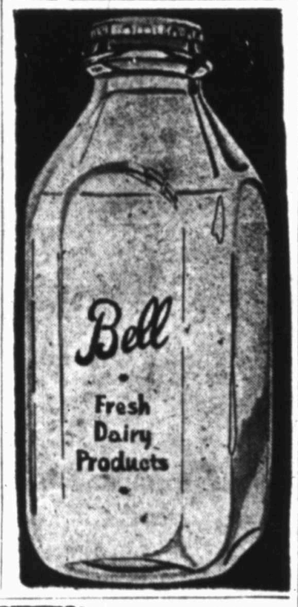

Kyle said later that he owned the Brown County Gazette at Bangs and the Amherst Times at Amherst. He is here on business and said he might have some news to announce in 60 to 90 days.

He has been negotoating to establish a daily newspaper at Snyder, Texas, but surely he need not have come to Washington to do that. Some people here think he is planning to run against Rep. Clark Fisher, San Angelo, whom he bitterly opposed in the last campaign. Kyle is an enthusiastic Democrat and attends all state parleys.

13,000 Volts Of Electricity Remove Pollen From Ohio Air

BRECKSVILLE, O., June 18. (U.P.)—The new Goodrich research center in this quiet community midday between Akron and Cleveland is using a 13,000-volt precipitron to "jolt" all particles of pollen and dust from incoming air before it is pumped into the air-conditioning system.

Ionized discs with positive and negative charges magnetize even the tinest particles so they cling to plates, leaving the air pure. It makes the scientific laboratory a virtual "resort" for employes allergic to grasses, ragweed and dust, explained Dr. Howard E. Fritz, director of the center.

VISITING GRANDFATHER ON FATHER'S DAY—Lewis (Little Cotton) Ellis, III, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Ellis, 1639 Main, is visiting his grandfather as a Father's day gift. The child resides in Waco with his mother, his father having been killed during the war. The youngster will spend several days here with his grandparents before returning to Waco.

Plans Underway At Pampa For Rodeo And Horse Show

PAMPA, June 18 (Special) — Although the event still is more than six weeks away, preparations already are underway for the Top o' Texas Rodeo and Horse show here Aug. 3-6.

Entrants from throughout the Southwest will vie for $5,000 in cash prizes during the four-night rodeo, at which the colorful Hardin-Simmons university band will be a feature attraction.

Delaware Neighborhood Radio Set Strictly For The Kids

WILMINGTON, Del., June 18. (U.P.)—Life in the home of 14-year-old Dickie Dull is revolving these days about a tiny, 20-watt radio station which beams a variety of programs to young neighbors in an eight-block area.

Given to Dickie by his father last Christmas, the "Neighborhood Wired Wireless Station" now features a Kiddie Show with 15 child performers two nights weekly and a "mystery tune show" another night. In between, songs, recitals, and good recorded music cater to the tastes of a limited listening audience between 7 and 9:30 each night.

A full staff of volunteer assistants, seven or eight neighbors, aid Dickie and his father in production of the shows, which are transmitted by wire rather than air waves. The little station couples radio frequency energy through a condenser into the same power lines operating household appliances.

Built by the elder Dull, a radio equipment supervisor, the wired station "plugs no products or isms," and is aimed principally at providing enjoyment for neighboring families. Dull foresees a whole series of such stations, and already is busy building another miniature unit, to cost about $250.

Floods were common in New Orleans before 1900 because the levees were inadequate and the city had no proper system of drainage for excessive rainfall.
