Units In Vietnam Phased

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Thirteen more U.S. Army units totaling 1,335 men were phased out of combat today, prior to withdrawal from Vietnam, and the U.S. Command said American troop strength in the country was reduced to 196,700 men last week.

Informed sources disclosed that Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Larid is bringing to Saigon Wednesday a broad outline of President Nixon's plan to speed up the disengagement of U.S. ground forces from the war.

The sources speculated that the Nixon administration is thinking in terms of a residual force of 40,000 to 50,000 troops — and perhaps less — by July 1.

Laird will spend three days in Saigon meeting with U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the commander of American forces in Vietnam, President Nguyen Van Thieu and other Vietnamese officials.

The troop strength figure of 196,700 men, the lowest since January 1966, does not include the 1,335 phased out today nor another 2,890 which the U.S. Command announced has been moved out of combat zones in connection with the deactivation Sunday of the Americal Division. Deactivation of the Americal leaves only one full U.S. combat division in Vietnam, compared to the equivalent of 11 1-3 divisions at the peak of the war.

Today the Saigon government observed South Vietnam's National Day with prayers for peace and tributes to the 135,000 government troops killed in action since 1960. The holiday, eighth anniversary of the overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem, was designated a day of prayers for peace.

American forces were on a special alert in anticipation of enemy attacks during the holiday and the inauguration of President Nguyen Van Thieu Sunday. But the battlefields were reported quiet, and it was disclosed that U.S. air strikes are at their lowest level this year.

Informed sources said Air Force fighter-bombers averaged only 10 missions per day last week, compared to more than double that number the week before. B52 bombers have flown only two missions in South Vietnam in the past nine days, the sources said.

"The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong are just not attacking, they're not moving," said one source. "We attack targets, and this drop in air strikes reflects a lack of targets. The enemy is not doing much. The over-all level of activity speaks for itself."

Tidal Wave Kills Thousands

NEW DELHI (AP) — A 16-foot tidal wave swept through villages along the Bay of Bengal last Friday and local political leaders estimated, after a tour of the area, that 15,000 persons, perhaps as many as 20,000, had perished.

The Indian government radio put the total at 10,000.

It reported that at least a million homes had been destroyed or damaged so severely as to leave 4 million persons homeless in the newest disaster to afflict the Indian subcontinent.

The Cuttack and Balasore districts of eastern Orissa State, 150 miles southeast of Calcutta, appeared to be the areas hardest hit by the tidal wave and accompanying cyclonic winds of up to 100 miles an hour.

The Times of India, in a dispatch from Cuttack, said air drops of food were urgently required in some areas where all roads, rail lines and air strips had been flooded or destroyed.

The low-lying coastal villages are the target of annual cyclonic storms and tidal waves that roar in from the Bay of Bengal and devastate an impoverished region of East Pakistan and India in which the inhabitants survive on a bare subsistence diet even in the best of times.

A storm and tidal wave last November killed at least 300,000 persons in the Ganges river basin in East Pakistan 300 miles northeast of the disaster area this weekend.

The weekend storm passed Sunday from Orissa to neighboring West Bengal state, destroying homes and rice crops in coastal villages that only two months ago were ravaged by the annual monsoon floods.

The area in West Bengal is filled with East Pakistani refugee camps, but initial reports said most of the camps had escaped the brunt of the storm.

Orissa is mostly a hilly region where the annual rainfall is 40-60 inches. Several mountain streams and rivers provide flood water irrigation. As in West Bengal, to the northeast, rice is among the most important crops.

The area of East Pakistan and India around the Bay of Bengal has been called "Cyclone Alley," where storms hit in the spring and the fall with a devastating regularity. Historians say 300,000 persons died in the Bay of Bengal area from storms and tidal waves in 1737. More recent bad years include 1960, 1963, 1965 and 1969.

Last year's tidal wave that killed 300,000 persons in East Pakistan was described by one witness as having a "cold luminous glow like "the flickering light of an unfocused television tube."

Judge Refuses To Halt Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge today turned down requests by environmentalists to halt a huge underground nuclear explosion set for this week on Amchitka Island in Alaska.

U.S. District Judge George L. Hart Jr.'s ruling frees lawyers for groups protesting the blast to file an immediate appeal to a higher court.

Hart, who was asked by attorneys for the Committee for Nuclear Responsibility what he planned to do about their request for an injunction, also ruled on a parallel issue. That involves disputed and secret documents which conservationists say can prove their contention that the five-megaton explosion can trigger earthquakes and tidal waves, kill wildlife and permit radioactive leaks.

Hart ordered the Justice Department to turn over some of the documents to environmentalist lawyers, while others were to be kept secret under the legal doctrine known as executive privilege.

As the legal maneuvering continued, it appeared likely that both the issue of the documents and whether the blast would go off at all would reach the Supreme Court before Thursday. Some sources have said that's when the explosion is due to be set off 6,000 feet underground by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Bid Accepted For Filing Cabinets

County Commissioners this morning accepted the apparent low bid of Bud's Office Supply for several filing cabinets to be used in the county clerk's office. The low bid was $675.92.

Two other bids — one for $799.90 from Bennett's of Dallas, and one for $900.12 from Harold Bennett of Snyder — also were received.

FOLLOWING MYSTERIOUS EXPLOSIONS

Alert Ordered For London

By DONALD FORBES
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard ordered a full emergency alert today and posted police guards on public buildings throughout Britain following two mysterious bomb explosions in London.

One bomb early today blasted the headquarters of the Royal Tank Regiment a quarter of a mile from the houses of parliament. Twenty-one hours earlier another ripped a hole in the 31st floor of the Post Office Tower, the tallest building in Britain.

At first the explosions were believed to be the work of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, which has threatened to extend to Britain its guerrilla war on British troops in Northern Ireland. But the IRA in Dublin denied bombing the Post Office Tower.

This morning an anonymous telephone caller claimed both explosions were set off by the Angry Brigade, a secret anarchist movement dedicated to wrecking British society by violence. The call to the British Press Association claimed the Post Office Tower was bombed to protest Britain's entry into the European Common Market and the blast at the Army barracks was to demonstrate against the government's handling of the crisis in Northern Ireland.

Guards will be out in force at Parliament Tuesday when Queen Elizabeth II opens a new session.

The Angry Brigade has been blamed for half a dozen previous explosions in London, including blasts at the home of a government minister and the head of the Scotland Yard police force.

No one was injured in the weekend blasts.

A time bomb exploded in a downtown office building in Belfast today, injuirng six persons in the morning rush-hour crowd outside. A clerk said two men armed with pistols walked into the building, lit the bomb fuse and yelled, "you've got four minutes to get out."

Red China Flag Goes Up At UN

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The gold-starred red flag of Communist China was hoisted for the first time at U.N. headquarters today.

The historic task fell to two Americans, Willard Bodie, 28, and George Baldwin, 28, who with 10 other blue-uniformed U.N. guards routinely raise the flags of all 131 member countries each weekday morning.

The guards raised the blood-red flag of China for the first time since the nation was voted into the U.N. a week ago. The flags are in alphabetical order and China's is 23rd.

A 30-strong crowd of news photographers and television cameramen provided the only color in a light drizzle under leader skies.

Acting Foreign Minister Chi Peng-fei messaged Secretary-General U Thant Sunday that his country should be listed on the U.N. rolls "with the English letter 'C' at the beginning, that is, China, People's Republic of."

That meant that Peking's seat in the General Assembly hall and its flag on the poles outside would, like Nationalist China's before, be between Chile's and Colombia's instead of down in the P's. The flagpole had been flagless since Chiang Kai-shek's government was expelled from the United Nations on Oct. 25.

New York's Rockefeller Center also flies the flags of all U.N. members around its plaza, and China's flagpole there also has been without a flag for the past week. A spokesman said Sunday night that the Communist Chinese flag had been ordered from the same flagmaker that made the U.N.'s, but it had not arrived yet.

Chi's message also cleared the way for Poland to be president of the Security Council in November instead of being bumped a month back in the alphabetical order by the People's Republic. As "China," Peking will not get the presidency until next July.

Chi messaged Thant on Friday that his government would send a delegation "in the near future" to the General Assembly. But he has not replied to another, message from Thant, sent last Wednesday, asking him to name a representative to the Security Council as soon as possible.

Delegates from governments close to Peking expect the first Chinese Communist delegation to arrive Thursday or Friday.

Bean Recall Is Cancelled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration today cancelled its recall of canned green beans suspected of having caused botulism poisoning of a Pensacola, Fla., Marine and his son.

The FDA said further testing over the weekend by the National Center for Disease Control in Atlanta failed to link the beans with a preliminary finding Friday of botulism toxin type B in the boy's blood serum.

"Recall of the product no longer is considered necessary," the FDA said.

FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards said, "In dealing with life or death problems like botulism, there are times when the public interest demands action before the scientific case is complete. The decision always must be made in favor of consumer protection."

Panel Confers On Stopgap Aid Plan

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee confers today amid the ruins of the U.S. foreign aid program to start deciding whether, when and how to put it back together.

Committee chairman Sen. J.W. Fulbright predicted Senate approval of a stopgap aid program, although he said the committee may do no more than discuss the alternatives today.

President Nixon let it be known he wants temporary extension of a coordinated aid bill while he drafts a new assistance program.

Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott also urged passage of an interim program and called on Congress to develop a new bill "to keep the peace." He said he supports temporary extension of aid at existing levels.

The prospect was that major portions of the program would indeed be salvaged despite the Senate vote that killed a bill authorizing $2.9 billion to keep overseas assistance flowing.

Exactly how was another question, and Senate sources said that would take some time to settle. There isn't much available, since the resolution under which the aid program and the agency that runs it are financed will expire in 15 days.

The White House said Sunday that Nixon rejects the idea of piecemeal appropriations for one or another of the aid programs included in the defeated bill.

Nixon and a key White House lobbyist, William Timmons, conferred during the weekend on strategy for persuading the Senate to temporarily extend the aid program at existing levels of funding.

If the temporary extension is approved, officials said, Nixon then plans to prepare and push for enactment of an entirely new aid program.

The new lobbying effort was mapped as some senators blamed administration "overlobbying" for the foreign aid defeat.

Fulbright said Sunday he foresees continuation of the more popular aid programs, although attempts to include military assistance could endanger any revival efforts.

The Arkansas Democrat said he does not believe any interim program would include funds "for the military domination of other countries."

Interviewed on the CBS radio-television program "Face the Nation," Fulbright did not rule out continuation of military aid to South Vietnam although he said such programs are "sticking points" threatening passage.

Mr. Durham is survived by his wife; three daughters, Mrs. Margaret Roach of Snyder, Mrs. Kathleen Elkins of Houston and Mrs. Frankie Keith of Tulsa; a son, I. N. Durham of Houston; three sisters, Mrs. Dassie Keith of Dallas, Mrs. Eilene Greer of Shawnee, Okla., and Mrs. Margaret Ross of Sherman; two brothers, Lester Durham of Stanton and Walker Durham of Ruidoso, N.M.; and nine grandchildren.

Controls Unlikely On Interest Rates

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's new committee on interest and dividends will concentrate first on mortgage and consumer credit and other rates directly affecting families, but does not expect mandatory controls on them, the committee's chairman, Arthur F. Burns, said today.

Burns, whose full-time post is chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, testified before the House Banking Committee. Some of its members have said the interest sections of Nixon's proposed Phase 2 legislation need strengthening.

The President has asked for only standby control power over interest and dividends and administration spokesmen said they do not expect these to be used, except on a voluntary basis.

Burns told the House committee a successful wage and price program will in the long run tend to bring interest rates down, but "the outlook for interest rates over the next year or so nevertheless remains uncertain."

The money market, he said, will be subject to conflicting pressures. If the prospect of inflation declines, interest rates should come down, but as business gains momentum there will be more demand for credit, with a tendency to push rates up, he said.

He said that rates on mortgages and consumer loans are among the less flexible, tending to lag behind rate changes in the more open money markets.

Readers comment on 'mama's boys'

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: You told "HAVING DOUBTS" to grab the guy who was extra good to his mother. It's obvious that you don't know what it's like to be married to a mamma's boy. You're lucky!

Please print my true story for her to see:

Before marriage, I thought Ralph (fake name) was a real jewel. Several said: "A guy who is especially good to his mother will make a fine husband."

Maybe this is true, if the guy draws the line. Ralph didn't. In spite of the fact that I tried my best to make Ralph happy, loved, feel like a man, here are a few things he did to ruin our marriage:

[1] Stopped off at Mom's house on the way to work, after work, and he called her daily on his lunch hour.

[2] Sat back and didn't say a word to defend me when his Mom put down me and my family.

[3] Took Mom out every Sunday to visit friends. When I asked to go along, Ralph said: "You wait here. I'll be back in a little while." [His "little while" was all day.]

[4] Told Mom all about our sex life. [How's that for a shocker?] She told me herself, and it was accurate, so I know she wasn't bluffing.

[5] When Ralph got sick he wouldn't let anyone near him but his Mama.

Abby, I could go on, but I think you get the point. Most guys who are soooooo good to their mothers are usually mama's boys.

Of course, our marriage didn't last long. Ralph's doctor told him if he didn't go back to his mother he would have a nervous breakdown. He went. And now I'm glad he did.

RALPH'S "EX"

DEAR ABBY: To "HAVING DOUBTS" because her boy friend always puts his mother first, you said: "Grab him. For a preview peek of how a man will treat his wife, take notice of how he treats his mother."

Not true, Abby. He will always put his mother first as long as she lives, and his wife will have to play second fiddle.

Believe me, I know. Well-cared-for invalids usually outlive their grandchildren.

O. W. K.

DEAR O. W. K.: The feedback on "Having Doubts" surprised me. Ninety per cent of those who wrote disagreed with my answer and expressed the view you expressed above. For a beautiful letter from the opposition, read this:

DEAR ABBY: I agree with your answer to "HAVING DOUBTS." When I was 19, I was engaged to a young man who seemed to have more consideration for his mother than he did me.

She was a widow, nearly 60, with a bad leg. She liked to go for rides in the car, and stop for ice cream, so my fiance always put Mom in the front with him while I sat alone in the back. I resented it because sometimes they would have conversations about people I didn't even know.

And Mom stuck like a burr. She was one of those people who said good-bye 20 times before leaving. She really was a bore to a 19-year-old girl who wanted to be alone with her boy friend.

Then I took a closer look. Her son always helped her in and out of the car. He spoke politely to her, and if her chatter bored him, he never showed it. But most important, here was a woman who had raised her son alone. And he was a fine man who believed in God, and in getting a good education and in marrying instead of chasing around. She must have been quite a woman to have raised such a wonderful son.

We married, and Mom's real character came thru. She died at 73. That was 20 years ago. I still miss her.

NO DOUBTS

Guardsmen Are In Recruiter Class

AMARILLO — National Guardsmen from the Panhandle to West Texas assembled here recently for a two-day recruiter training session.

Thirty-four Guardsmen were enrolled in the class. The Guardsmen represented 21 different towns.

The school, held in the Amarillo armory, is one of six which are to be conducted across Texas. The Amarillo school was the first to be held. Other classes are set in Austin, McAllen and two separate schools in Dallas. The final seminar will be conducted the middle of December at Houston.

According to a spokesman, the schools are stressing the principles and techniques of retention and recruiting for company, battery, troop and detachment level recruiters.

The instructors are from State Headquarters at Austin. Composing the instructor team are Lt. Col. Walter Dingler, Major Leroy Cobb, Major Eugene Mees and Major Robert Collins. Their material was developed by the National Guard Bureau in Washington, D. C.

"Yippies" Charged

About 60 persons calling themselves Yippies, for the Youth International Party—said they wanted to turn the $18.6 million library into a free hotel.

They were not allowed to enter the building. Police arrested a 26-year-old man who they said had a hunting knife sticking out of his clothes.

Another youth allegedly painted a sign with a vulgar verb followed by the initials LBJ on the marble wall beside the main entrance. After being taken into the library, police said, he struck an officer in the back.

The demonstration caused the library to close at 4:10 p.m., 50 minutes early. The demonstrators, who wore grease paint and sheets and carried a black flag with a marijuana leaf emblem on it, stayed around to see that the library would not reopen.

Senate Eyes Land Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate was taking up today a bill to give Alaska natives $1 billion and 40 million acres in settlement of their aboriginal claims to most of the state's vast land mass.

The bill approved by the Senate Interior Committee would give an estimated 55,000 Eskimos, Aleuts and Indians $500 million in royalties from oil and other mineral production on Alaska public lands.

The measure also would give them a choice of either title to 40 million acres for village expansion or title to 30 million acres and the right to use an additional 20 million acres.

Baptist Quarterly Withheld

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A Sunday school quarterly of the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board is being withheld, destroyed and recycled because of [illegible].

The material, in the publication "Becoming," includes a picture of a black youth and two white girls and textual material, the nature of which has not been disclosed.

The Rev. Dr. James L. Sullivan, executive secretary of the board who made the decision to withhold distribution of the material, said the material is "potentially inflammatory."

Allen B. Comish, director of the Church and Service Material Division, said the material could have been construed to mean the board was improperly promoting integration in churches, which is an individual matter under Baptist policy.

Sullivan explained that each of the 34,000 Baptist churches in the country is an autonomous body that sets policy, on any subject, as desired for itself only.

He added that if any undue pressure on any subject were put on the church, he would have taken the same action.

The material appeared in a section entitled "A Ministry of Reconciliation," and was intended for Sunday school students aged 14 and 15.

4 Mishaps Are Logged

The one involving the most damage occurred on College Avenue at Twenty-fourth Street at 1:05 p.m. Sunday. The 1971 Model Chevrolet of Joel Donivan Wilson, Lubbock, was in collision with a 1964 Model Ford operated by Brenda Annie Bigham, Route 2. There was considerable damage to a boat and trailer that was towed by Willson's car. Damage to both cars was minor. Officer Homer Dill investigated this mishap.

The first mishap occurred at 12 p.m. Saturday on Twenty-fifth Street at Avenue V. Involved were the 1972 Model Dodge of David Allen Dillaha, 2613 Thirty-second Street, and the 1962 International pickup of Olin Franklin Bunch, 3400 Fortieth Street. Officer James West investigated this mishap.

Another collision Saturday occurred in the 4000 block of College Avenue at 10:40 p.m. Involved were the 1969 Model Mercury of Cyprus B. Miller, Jr., 4512 El Paso, and the 1969 Model Oldsmobile of James Carl Williams, Box 252, Snyder. Officer Melvin Sanders investigated this mishap.

Another collision occurred at 7:32 p.m. Sunday on U.S. 84 at Thirty-seventh Street. Involved were the 1966 Model Chevrolet of John Russell Covey, Jr., Route 2, and the 1970 Model Ford of Ronnie Glen Kelley, Midland. Sergeant Ben McNulty investigated this mishap.

Alcohol Ruining Many Families

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (AP) — A commission of inquiry on drinking in New Guinea was told that too much alcohol is ruining hundreds of native families.

New Guinea's 2,312,000 villagers were allowed to drink officially in September, 1963, following a visit by a United Nations Mission.

Now an upsurge in crime and general lawlessness has prompted some native leaders to call for prohibition.

Oxford Dictionary Cost $300

THE COMPACT EDITION OF THE OXFORD ENGLISH DICTIONARY. Oxford University Press. Two Volumes. $75.

This publication of the Oxford English Dictionary, the most prestigious in the English language and probably in the world, applies to a classic work the most innovative step in multivolume printing since Oxford itself developed the thin India-type paper some 100 years ago. And the result of this new method, which reduces the print of the original micrographically to a fourth of the original type size, is even more effective.

In a standard edition, the dictionary, which began publication in 1884, now extends to 13 volumes costing $300.

The new set, which a sharp eye can almost read, comes with a special magnifying glass grooved to slide along the edge of the binding during perusal. However, any good magnifying glass of reasonable size to which the reader is accustomed to using will serve.

Inconvenient? Unquestionably, in comparison with picking up a standard-size-type edition and reading it at leisure. Yet how many of us can afford to spend $300 for a dictionary in the home or find space conveniently to shelve it? Even big libraries are finding their space shrinking to the point that annexes are required for annexes to house the exploding volumes of reference works.

In a remarkable publisher's note, the Oxford Press expresses its indebtedness to the veteran publisher Albert Boni of Readex Microprint Corp., "whose compact editions of the British Museum Catalogue and other reference works pioneered this method of publication." Boni has been a distinguished American publisher for more than a generation; books carrying the imprint of his earlier house, Boni & Liveright, are now collectors' items.

Most of us who have been through high school and college are familiar with the concept of the Oxford dictionary. It traces, with examples, the changes in meaning which words constituting the English language have undergone from the beginning. There is a teasing thought as to whether Darwin's concept of evolution, still in its first blush when the dictionary was conceived well over a century ago, had any subconscious part in this conception. If the new compact edition brings this great work within the reach of more people, cheers should be in order.

Nixons Return To Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Nixon have returned to Washington after a weekend stay at the presidential retreat at Camp David which drew a Halloween trick-or-treat visit from costumed children.

The youngsters—children of Camp David personnel—appeared at the Nixon's lodge Saturday night and pledged no tricks after selecting candy treats from Mrs. Nixon.

WOMEN

"Samantha" On Way To Florida

WASHINGTON, N. C. (AP) — "Samantha," the friendly fugutive sea lion, is on her way back to Florida.

Samantha escaped from the Seamann Marine Institute at Key Colony Beach in the Florida Keys about six weeks ago.

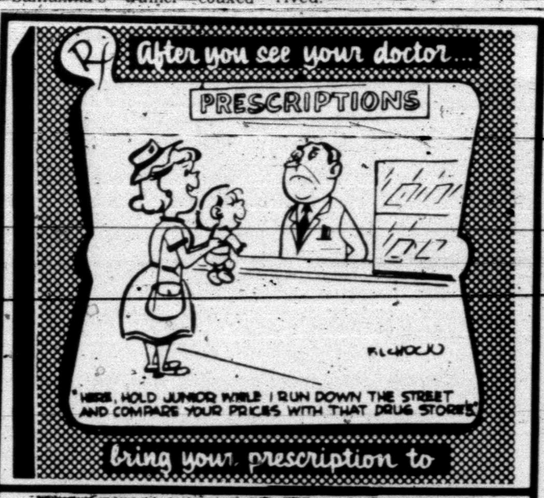

She turned up on the Pamlice River near Bath, N.C., on Oct. 11, when she jumped into the boat of Billy Bosman and has been in this area since then.

The institute learned of the 6-year-old, 165-pound sea lion's whereabouts when a Tampa, Fla., resident saw an item in the newspaper about Samantha and telephoned the institute.

Samantha's trainer coaxed her into a cage with some fish after she performed a series of tricks at a marina Sunday.

A FRESH LOOK AT FRESHNESS . . . Many people are not informed about how to store fresh produce to be at its best, says the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association: Keep fresh vegetables cold and humid in the refrigerator. Humidity can be achieved by storing fresh vegetables in a film bag, or in the crisper compartment. Do not allow produce to become so moist that it shows droplets of water as this brings about deterioration.

Pet Food Companies' Sales Are Increasing

By DAVID BURKE
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans are expected to spend $1.4 billion on dog and cat food this year, according to the Pet Food Institute, an industry trade association.

This represents a 14 per cent increase over last year for an industry that in the past has been growing at an annual rate of 10 per cent, industry spokesmen say.

"And the market still remains largely untapped," says Bill Stiritz, a vice president at Ralston Purina, makers of Dog Chow and Chuck Wagon brands.

If America's family-owned dogs and cats ate only commercially prepared food, instead of table scraps and regular human food, he says, "The market would be perhaps three times its current size."

Pet food companies are spending heavily to increase their share of the market, trying to convince families that commercially prepared food is more nutritious than table scraps.

Ralston Purina's animal nutrition expert, Dr. Jim Corbin says: "America's dogs and cats receive better balanced rations when fed the best commercial diets than the majority of America's children receive."

Advertising expenses will jump nearly 40 per cent this year to $75 million, says a spokesman for Quaker Oats, producers of the Ken-L Ration and Puss n Boots line. Quaker Oats has approximately doubled its outlay, he says.

The industry is aided in its effort by the growing trend toward convenience foods for humans, Stiritz says. The family that sups on a TV dinner will have fewer table scraps to feed the dog, he notes.

Also, more people are buying purebred dogs, says a spokesman for the Friskies Pet Foods Division of Carnation Co. "These animals represent a sizeable investment, and people tend to be more conscious of their diets," he declares.

Specialty diets are available for the ailing. Pfizer Co., for example, puts out a low sodium food for pigs with heart conditions and a bland mixture for animals with stomach problems. These specialty foods, available only from veterinarians, constitute only a small part of the pet food market, a spokesman says.

The Pet Food Institute estimates that there are presently about 33 million dogs and 22 million cats in American households. While the pet cat population has apparently remained fairly stable in recent years, family-owned dogs have been increasing at a rate of about 5 per cent a year, it says.

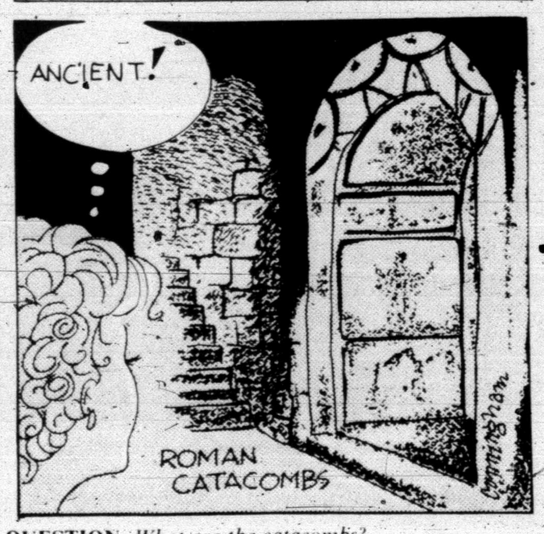

The average dog in the United States this year will consume about $29 worth of commercial dog food. His feline counterpart will eat about $18 in commercial food, the institute notes.

Utes Had Idol

MANITOU SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The Ute Indians, who once used this area as a place to rest and heal their sick, called it Manitou, "Great Spirit," because they believed He resided in the bubbling mineral springs.

The Utes pledged never to make warfare until they were a long distance away from the sacred waters, and early settlers found thousands of beaded trinkets in the waters, tossed there by the Indians as offerings to Manitou.

Junior Editors Quiz on CATACOMBS

QUESTION: What are the catacombs?

ANSWER: Catacombs are subterranean cemeteries containing corridors and crypts for the burial of the dead. This method of burial was used by the pagans, Hebrews, Christians and Saracens. Many Christian catacombs are in Alexandria in Egypt, Naples in Italy, on the islands of Malta, Sardinia and Sicily.

Forty-three Christian catacombs in the vicinity of Rome are now known. They were rediscovered in the early decades of the 16st century by accident. The total length of the Roman catacombs is between 60 and 90 miles. It is estimated that about 600,000 to 800,000 people were buried in these underground tombs. The walls of the catacombs are covered with thousands of frescoes representing scenes from both the Old and New Testament. The paintings and inscriptions in the catacombs attest to the piety of the early Christians in Rome. It was thought that the catacombs were used as a hiding place for the Christians in the time of persecution by the Roman Emperors. Now this is discredited, since they were too well known at that time to be a good hiding place. 11-1

Columnist Learns From Mail

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Air pollution may cause another ice age, warns a Japanese meteorologist, Dr. Tadashi Yano. He says that in the last 30 years waste particles in the atmosphere have already blocked enough sunlight to cause the average world temperature to drop nearly one degree.

Earthquake damage isn't limited to California or Alaska. Scientists say major destructive quakes can occur in at least 19 other states. They are Nevada, Washington, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, South Carolina, New York, Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, and Massachusetts.

You don't have to have money to buy things in Barrow, America's northernmost settlement. Stores there will accept pelts and whale meat as payment.

How much do you spend for food? The average American spends 16.4 per cent of his disposable income for food. In England the figure is 26 per cent; in West Germany, 28 per cent; in France, 31 per cent; in Japan, 40 per cent; in Russia, 50 per cent.

Quotable notables: "In the end, it will be the family way of life that will persevere. The family changes, but it will never disappear. Every attempt to eliminate the family has failed."—Margaret Mead.

Lower than lower: If you want to get away from it all, one of the best places to go would be at the bottom of the Mariana Trench in the Pacific Ocean. According to the National Geographic Society, that is the globe's greatest watery depth at 36,198 feet.

Finny Marskmen: Some fish can shoot down their prey. One variety, the archer fish of Australia, is only nine inches but can fire a jet of water that will bring down an insect three to four feet away. The fish does it by filling its mouth with water, then flapping its gills shut sharply.

The cross victorious: What finally caused the Roman Empire to fall? Many believe it was the rise of Christianity, which turned peple's minds from war and obedience to the state to thoughts of peace and individual salvation.

Worth remembering: "Most girls are looking for a man who is tall, dark and has some."

Know your language: Ever wonder where the word "spinster" comes from. It literally means "one who spins." It was the custom in medieval Britain for unmarried girls to spend their time spinning. Since the 17th century it has been applied to unwed women past the usual age of marriage.

Lawford, Rowan Wed Saturday

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (AP) — Actor Peter Lawford and Mary Rowan, daughter of television personality Dan Rowan, have been married in a civil ceremony at this Pacific coast resort.

Lawford, 48, and Miss Rowan, 21, were married Saturday night in a private ceremony conducted in a friend's home by Puerto Vallarta's municipal president Luis Fabela Icaza.

It was Miss Rowan's first marriage. Lawford divorced his wife of 11 years, the former Patricia Kennedy, four years ago.

Chemical Lures Ants

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — A University of Georgia entomologist may have discovered a way of gathering fire ants for a massive kill—feed one of them.

Dr. Murray S. Blum, who is studying the chemicals used by the pesky ants to give directions to other ants, says an ant leaves a chemical trail to a new source of food.

When the new source of nourishment is discovered, Blum says, the ant uses its stinger to spray a chemical trail between the food source and the colony.

Blum, whose research is sponsored by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, said the chemicals are "a very potent attractant for fire ants. They work over long distances and we can draw the ants in large numbers to any site upon which we put the material."

Sadat Returns To Cairo

CAIRO (AP) — President Anwar Sadat has returned to Cairo after a three-day visit to Libya, which along with Syria is one of Egypt's two partners in a new Arab federation.

The government said Saturday that Sadat and Libya's Col. Muammar Kadafi discussed "plans for meeting Israeli aggression," but gave no further details.

Aggies Upset Porkers

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

With Nebraska and Oklahoma continuing their merry chase toward a Thanksgiving Day college football showdown, there has been a tendency to overlook Michigan, but the unbeaten Wolverines put a stop to that trend Saturday with a 61-7 rout of Indiana.

"Our goal is to go undefeated and win the Rose Bowl," said star runner Billy Taylor, who ripped the Indiana defenses for 172 yards and two touchdowns on only 11 carries, boosting his school record to 2,694 yards and coming within three of Tom Harmon's career mark of 33 touchdowns. "Then they will have to pick us No. 1. I think we're No. 1 right now."

The Wolverines currently are ranked third behind Nebraska and Oklahoma. Nebraska defeated ninth-rated Colorado 31-7 while Oklahoma overpowered Iowa State 43-12.

The top seven teams all maintained their perfect slates. Fourth-ranked Alabama trimmed Mississippi State 41-10, No. 5 Auburn downed Florida 40-7, sixth-rated Penn State took West Virginia 35-7 and Georgia, No. 7, stopped South Carolina 24-0, the third consecutive shutout turned in by the Bulldog defenders, who have permitted only 21 points in their last seven games.

The three other major unbeatens continued their winning ways, but two of them needed late field goals. Toledo, ranked 15th, upped the nation's longest winning streak to 31 games by trouncing Miami of Ohio 45-6, matching the 1948-50 Oklahoma teams for the second longest skein in modern times.

Cornell and Dartmouth, the Ivy League pacesetters, are heading for a Nov. 13 confrontation. Cornell's Ed Marinaro gained 272 yards, erasing the major college career rushing standard of Oklahoma's Steve Owens and passing the 4,000-yard barrier, but the Big Red needed John Killian's 37-yard field goal with five minutes left—after Marinaro carried the ball on nine consecutive plays—to edge Columbia 24-21. Dartmouth nipped Yale 17-15 on Ted Perry's 40-yard three-pointer with 53 seconds to play.

Rounding out the Top Ten, ninth-ranked Arkansas suffered its second big upset, bowing to Texas A&M 17-9 behind Mark Green's two touchdowns and a defense that prevented the Razorbacks from establishing a running attack. Ohio State, ranked 10th, stopped Minnesota's Craig Curry inches short of the goal line on a disputed fourth-period two-point conversion attempt to preserve a 14-12 triumph over the Gophers.

The big news elsewhere ranged from the sublime to the tragic. Eric Allen of Michigan State set a major college record by rambling for 350 yards (he carried 29 times and scored four touchdowns) in a 43-10 rout of Purdue. Coach Jim Pittman of Texas Christian collapsed and died during his team's game with Baylor. The players, informed at halftime that Pittman was dead, rallied to defeat the Bears 84-27.

Michigan's Bo Schembechler apologized for running up 61 points on hapless Indiana. "I didn't think we would win this way," he said, "and I didn't want to. I would have liked a closer game. The coach at Indiana is one of my best friends and I did'nt want to beat John (Pont) that way.

"John was not only my teammate, but my roommate at Miami of Ohio," Schembechler recalled. "He was the greatest player in Miami history. They retired his number. He's a great competitor and a class guy. I wish I have as much class as John Pont if I ever get beaten this badly."

Nebraska combined a rugged defense and Jerry Tagge's pinpoint passing to defeat Colorado, which Coach Bob Devaney called "the finest team we've played yet."

Colorado's Eddie Crowder called Nebraska "a magnificent football team," but declined to predict the outcome of the Cornhuskers' game with Oklahoma. He did say it would take "a really super game" to beat Nebraska.

Ken Johnson, the Colorado quarterback, said: "Nebraska's got the better defense, but I think Oklahoma has got the better offense. It's gonna be unreal."

For the record, Oklahoma defeated Colorado 45-17.

The Sooners rolled up 504 yards on the ground in beating Iowa State. Quarterback Jack Mildren passed for 175 yards—that's right, Oklahoma threw the ball—and two touchdowns and ran for 148 and two more scores.

"You could prepare four different game plans and they could find another way to beat you," said Coach Johnny Majors of the losers.

Alabama pulled away from Mississippi State with 24 points in the final period as Bear Bryant tied Jess Neely for fourth place on the all-time coaching list with 207 victories. Auburn also broke loose after being held to a 12-7 halftime lead and swamped Florida with Pat Sullivan and Terry Beasley teaming up on two scoring strikes.

Lydell Mitchell and Franco Harris led Penn State's 250-yard ground game against West Virginia, with Mitchell scoring twice and Harris once. Hometown boy James Ray came off the bench and sparked Georgia over South Carolina at Columbia, S.C., by scoring on runs of one and 84 yards.

In the Second Ten, Mississippi avenged last year's 61-17 battering by upsetting No. 11 Louisiana State 24-22, No. 12 Notre Dame cruised by Navy 21-0, No. 13 Arizona State outslugged No. 18 Air Force 44-28 and No. 14 Texas shaded Southern Methodist 22-18 and tied Arkansas for the Southwest Conference lead. If it winds up that way, Arkansas goes to the Cotton Bowl.

Tennessee, ranked 16th, swamped Tulsa 38-3, No. 17 Stanford overtook Oregon State 31-24, Houston turned back No. 19 Florida State 14-7 and No. 20 Southern Cal blanked California 28-0.

Trinity Bashes UT Arlington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Trinity tries to keep pace with Louisiana Tech this weekend in the torrid Southland Conference football battle.

Louisiana Tech, which owns a 4-0 SLC record, plays at Tennessee-Chattanooga this week in a non-conference game.

But Trinity, which is breathing down Tech's neck with a 2-0 record, plays dangerous Lamar University in Beaumont in an important SLC clash.

Lamar and Arkansas State are 1-1 in league warfare.

Trinity bashed UT-Arlington 28-7 Saturday while Tech was thumping Southeastern Louisiana 24-7 in a designated league game.

Blanda Does It Again

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Oakland Raiders again are letting George do it—and 44-year-old George Blanda, the oldest player in pro football, is not letting them down, but keeping them up.

Blanda, whose amazing career started in 1949 and now is in its fourth decade, became the game's all-time leading scorer Sunday as he rallied the Raiders to a 20-20 tie with Kansas City and kept Oakland in a first-place tie with the Chiefs in the Western Division of the American Football Conference.

Blanda, who replaced starter Daryle Lamonica the last two times Oakland had the ball, fired a 24-yard touchdown pass to Fred Biletnikoff, then kicked an eight-yard field goal with 2½ minutes left.

The tying three-pointer and a previous field goal and two conversions gave Blanda a career total of 1,609 points, one more than former Cleveland kicker Lou Groza. Following the eight-yard kick, the game was stopped and Blanda was presented with the football.

"These things just happen to you when you play 22 years," he said.

On Blanda's first play, he hit Ray Chester with a 37-yard strike, and defensive end Aaron Brown of the Chiefs said later "that first pass gave them lots of confidence ... George has done this so many times it works for them psychologically."

Two plays later, Blanda connected with Biletnikoff, who had outmanuevered young cornerback David Handley. Handley had replaced injured starter Jim Marsalis immediately before the play. "I'm sure George knew who we had in there," said Chiefs' Coach Hank Stram.

"George Blanda is a rare individual," said Oakland Coach John Madden. "The amazing thing is that he's throwing and kicking better than he did four years ago. We both came to this team the same year and I know he's stronger now than he was then. Don't ask me why. He doesn't have any secret formula that I know about."

The tie kept the Raiders and Chiefs deadlocked with 5-1-1 records.

Elsewhere in the National Football League Sunday, it was: San Francisco 27, New England 10; Miami 20, Los Angeles 14; Washington 24, New Orleans 14; Minnesota 17, New York Giants 10; Atlanta 31, Cleveland 14; Chicago 23, Dallas 19; Baltimore 34, Pittsburgh 21; San Diego 49, New York Jets 21; St. Louis 28, Buffalo 23; Philadelphia 17, Denver 16, and Houston 10, Cincinnati 6.

In a nationally televised game tonight, Detroit will play Green Bay at Milwaukee.

San Francisco, 5-2, took over first place in the National Football Conference's Western Division, one-half game ahead of Los Angeles, beating New England with the help of John Brodie's 71-yard touchdown toss to Gene Washington.

Miami knocked the Rams, 4-2-1, out of the top spot in the NFC's West, downing Los Angeles on the strength of two scoring strikes by Bob Griese, one a 74-yarder to Paul Warfield. The victory kept the Dolphins in first place in the AFC's East with a 5-1-1 mark, just ahead of Baltimore's 5-2.

Washington, the surprising pacesetter in the NFC's East, built its record to 6-1 and its advantage over runner-up Dallas to two games, holding off New Orleans on Pat Fischer's 53-yard touchdown run with an intercepted pass midway in the final period.

Minnesota, on top in the NFC's Central Division, handed the Giants their fourth consecutive setback on Norm Snead's 55-yard touchdown pass to Bob Grim with 1:04 remaining. The Vikings are 6-1 to 5-2 for second-place Chicago.

Cleveland, 4-3, the AFC's Central Division leader, dropped its second in a row, as former teammate Dick Shiner of Atlanta helped beat them with scoring shots of 39 yards to Ken Burrow and 23 yards to Jim Mitchell.

Chicago was outgained by Dallas 481 yards to 194 and managed only seven first downs against 26, but upset the Cowboys as Bobby Douglass threw one TD pass and scored once, and Mac Percival booted three field goals. The Bears thwarted the Cowboys' offense by recovering three fumbles and intercepting four passes.

Baltimore virtually abandoned its strong running game and took to the air, with Earl Morrall passing for 286 yards and touchdowns of 19 and 49 yards to Willie Richardson and 60 yards to Ray Perkins against Pittsburgh.

San Diego's John Hadl blitzed the Jets' patched-up defense for 19 completions in 27 passes for 358 yards and four touchdowns and scored once as the Chargers overwhelmed New York.

Two touchdown passes by Jim Hart, starting his first game since opening day, helped St. Louis hand winless Buffalo its seventh loss.

Linebacker Bill Hobbs blocked a Denver punt, recovered it and ran six yards for the decisive touchdown in Philadelphia's victory over the Broncos.

Houston posted its first victory under Coach Ed Hughes, edging Cincinnati on Ken Houston's tie-breaking 48-yard touchdown run with an intercepted pass in the third period.

Pittman Enjoyed Molding Players —

EDITOR'S NOTE: Jim Pittman, Texas Christian's football coach who died of a heart attack Saturday night, never demanded more of his players than he gave himself. Associated Press Southwest Sports Editor Denne Freeman had a long talk with Pittman about his football philosophy before the season began and was on hand to cover the beginning of the Pittman era at TCU on Sept. 18 when the Horned Frogs met UT-Arlington. Here are some of Freeman's impressions about the coach.

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Everyone would have understood if Jim Pittman had forsaken football for a less pressurized pursuit.

The burly 46-year-old had a history of heart trouble. He suffered severe heart attacks twice while on the staff of Texas Coach Darrell Royal.

But football was a tonic he had to have.

Pressed about the demands of big time football coaching Pittman would say "I wouldn't change professions. I've enjoyed my coaching career and plan to keep enjoying it."

Pittman took delight in molding awkward, immature youngsters into football players and men.

"The most gratifying thing is to see greenhorns develop, improve and get poise to the point that they later turn into outstanding citizens," Pittman would say. "It is pleasing to hear one say what value he gained from football and from our association."

Pittman had the reputation of getting the best—and then some—out of the material on hand. He was a master recruiter who could sweet talk a prospect with his soft Boyle, Mississippi drawl.

He took Tulane from a laughed-at ragged doormat to the Green Wave's first bowl game in 30 years in 1970 with a 17-3 victory over Colorado in the Liberty Bowl.

But the lure to come back to the Southwest Conference was too strong although he was secure at Tulane.

"I'd always wanted to see how I could do against Darrell," Pittman laughed. "I learned a lot from him to use against him."

But he never got the chance.

Pittman was an assistant under Murray Warmath at Mississippi State and spent 12 years with Royal at Mississippi State, Washington and Texas.

"You can learn a lot working with men like that," Pittman said.

Pittman was a hard disciplinarian.

When he came to TCU, he cracked down in the spring. The hair got shorter and the practices got harder. Some players left, including a group of blacks.

But one black player who stayed, Larry Harris, had an explanation: "They just didn't want to pay the price to win. You always have people hanging around a squad like that. Coach Pittman found out who wanted to go."

Pittman said "I expect—and demand—maximum effort from my players as long as they are on the football field. There is a natural tendency for a player to give about 85 per cent. I have a saying that 'this is the top of the poorest and the bottom of the best.'"

Players never walked on the TCU practice football field. They ran everywhere they went and never took off their head gear.

Pittman said "It's not how much you know, but how well you can teach and motivate."

And he added "You must make them work hard but also make it enjoyable and have some fun."

Trevino Sets All Time Cash Record

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Lee Trevino, with his sixth title of the year in his pocket and an all-time money winning record in the books, set out for Mexico today in search of a fourth national open golf championship.

"That's what I really want to do, win a fourth national open championship for a grand slam, the Super Mex said Sunday after taking the Sahara Invitational and establishing a single season money winning record of $227,243.

Trevino, four strokes off the pace starting the final round Sunday, fired a six under-par 66 and vaulted past third round leader Bob Dickson with a 72 hole total of 280.

It was his first victory since his unprecedented sweep of the American, Canadian and British Open titles was completed in Southport, England, July 11. While most of the American touring pros are taking a couple of weeks off, Trevino is entered in the Mexican Open, a $30,000 event, at the Club de Golf in Mexico City starting this Thursday.

But he hinted that he may change his announced plans of playing in the rest of the tournaments on the American tour. It all depends on the chase for the money winning title.

Big George Archer also had a 66 and took second at 281, but never really challenged Trevino, who has emerged this season as the dominant figure in the game.

Dickson slipped to third with a 72 for 282, falling behind when Trevino reeled off a string of three consecutive birdies starting on the sixth hole. Don January was alone in third at 283, followed by Ron Cerrudo at 285 and Gay Brewer and Fred Marti at 286.

Arnold Palmer, never really a factor, had a final 73 for 290, well back. Jack Nicklaus, who held the No. 1 money winning spot with $207,080, did not compete. Palmer now has $196,206, the best of his fabled career.

Newsman Recounts Ride On Polaris Submarine

(Editor's note: Frank Carey recently was one of a handful of newsmen given the rare opportunity of riding and diving aboard a Polaris submarine. Here he recounts what he saw.)

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

ABOARD THE SUBMARINE CARVER (AP) — About 100 miles off the Virginia coast, Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover told a startled young officer, "You're dead."

"Take over," he said to a seaman who was watching the panel of a maneuvering control console of this submerged Polaris submarine.

The enlisted man replaced the officer and helped run the show as Rickover gave orders to "scram the reactor," one of the most tense operations aboard a nuclear-powered submarine.

A siren sounded as a flurry of hands operated instrument panels.

The maneuver was an intentional temporary stoppage of the vessel's nuclear power plant accomplished by reducing steam-generating nuclear fission "fires" and shutting off the splitting of a trillion atoms a second of uranium fuel.

It would have been done on a truly emergency basis if something went awry with the power plant and crew and plant were endangered.

Electronics Technician J. John Lennon, 26, of Joliet, Ill., later won a "well done" from his superiors for his job in taking over on Rickover's command.

For Rickover, at 71 still at sea and the oldest officer on active duty in the Navy, the test offered the opportunity to show a small group of newsmen a demonstration seldom seen by civilians.

The Carver is one of 41 Polaris submarines equipped to fire 16 nuclear warhead-tipped missiles which have a range of 2,500 nautical miles. A major component of this nation's shield against nuclear warfare, the submarines are on constant patrol in deep waters.

Thirty-one of the submarines are being readied for conversion to carry even more powerful Poseidon missiles that may have multiple nuclear warheads.

On patrol with the Carver, named for Negro educator and scientist George Washington Carver, the newsmen also experienced other submarine maneuvers.

The Carver dived to a depth of more than 400 feet. The exact depth is classified information.

The submarine also executed a full stop at full, but undisclosed, speed. The hull of the Carver trembled as the vessel suddenly was thrown into reverse throttle by Electrician's Mate Eugene Gihring, 24, of Seattle, Wash.

He later said his only prior experience at a throttle was in "an old Plymouth."

The submarine often rolled badly during a seven-hour surface voyage from Norfolk, Va., where the vessel began its overnight trip.

Such surface rolling in a 25-knot wind would be true of any submerged nuclear-powered submarine like the Carver because it is not designed to run on the sea's surface like conventional, nonnuclear submarines.

When the dive came, Cmdr. Donald Briggs, 41, of Gentry, Ark., the Carver's skipper, ordered, "Make initial depth 150 feet."

The Carver began its descent at a four-degree angle and the vessel's surface roll quickly disappeared. Eventually the submarine hit depths at which it might travel on 60-day patrols, although such depths are not disclosed.

Rickover, who walks three miles daily when ashore, set a fast pace as he led newsmen along passageways of the submarine. He climbed and descended the toughest ladders with the finesse of seamen young enough to be his grandsons.

His titles are director of naval reactors for the Atomic Energy Commission and deputy commander for nuclear propulsion for the Navy.

One passageway, called Sherwood Forest by the crew, is flanked on each side by eight fat cylinders stacked like giant trees and extending some 30 feet. The cylinders are designed to hold the Carver's missiles.

The newsmen also saw the Carver's ship inertial navigation system, a complex of computers, periscopes and instruments designed to enable the vessel to determine its exact position from minute to minute in case it receives an order to fire its missiles.

Missiles would be fired from "missile control center." The handle of the device that could fire more destructive power than all the explosives detonated in all the wars of history looks like the handle of a child's toy gun.

Dozier Resigns

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — James H. Dozier, who carried to the Texas Supreme Court a fight to allow professors to hold elective offices, has resigned from the College Station City Council.

Dozier said his resignation was effective Sunday.

"I am not resigning voluntarily," the Texas A&M finance professor said.

"I am being force to resign against my will simply because I cannot support my family any longer without my salary."

Dozier noted he has not been paid by A&M since March when the school ordered a halt to pay checks until faculty or staff members holding elective offices had resigned and successors named. The city council job pays nothing.

Hostages Freed Unharmed

MANILA (AP) — A 14-year-old American girl, her uncle and a Filipino newsman were released unharmed today by a Filipino armed with a shotgun who had held the girl hostage for more than nine hours at her home.

After extended negotiations, the newsman had taken the girl, Susan Butler; her uncle, Stewart Raab, and the gunman to a nearby polo club where they boarded a helicopter owned by the Manila Times.

The helicopter took off, and the paper said a short while after the pilot radioed that he had let the gunman off in Zambales province, on the west coast north of Manila. The pilot said he returned to Manila with Susan and Raab.

Susan is the daughter of Charles R. Butler, a local businessman who is on a business trip in the United States.

Police said the gunman and an accomplice had entered the Butler home in fashionable Forbes Park early today, apparently to burglarize the house.

When Mrs. Butler went to a guest house to check on a maid who had been sent to turn on the air conditioner, she found the girl stabbed to death. One of the two intruders shot Mrs. Butler in the hip, police said.

Alerted by the commotion, police arrived at the house and found the dead maid and Mrs. Butler, who was taken to a hospital. Authorities said one man escaped as police were fired on from the house. The other man announced over an intercom system inside that he was holding Susan Butler hostage.

The gunman threatened to kill Susan and himself with his sawed-off shotgun unless police, who occupied the first floor, vacated the house. They did.

Then began a series of negotiations between the man, Raab, newsman Ruther Batuigas and authorities.

The gunman at first agreed to let the newsman and Raab drive him to a spot outside the city but later balked at releasing Susan. A stalemate developed, and police with automatic rifles moved back into the house.

Batuigas, who went back and forth between the gunman and authorities several times, reported the man was extremely nervous. He said the gunman, whose face was masked by a red bandanna with slits for the eyes and mouth, thrust the shotgun's muzzle into the newsman's stomach when he came too close.

The man told him he had escaped from a prison in Davao, in the southern Philippines.

After 9½ hours of talks, the gunman agreed to release the girl if given the equivalent of $2,000 and a helicopter flight to safety. The plan was for the uncle to turn over the cash once the craft was airborne.

"Three straight starvation winters in New York State hunting areas have reduced the deer herd to its smallest size of this century.

Calves Set Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prices of feeder calves hit a record average of $36.80 per hundredweight last month, according to the monthly price report issued by the Agriculture Department.

The average, for the month ended Oct. 15, was up 50 cents from September and topped the previous high of $36.40 set in March 1970, the Crop Reporting Board said.

Livestock specialists say demand for calves is being helped by the record feed supply this fall, partly on the part of feedlot operators but also by farmer-feeders who had cut back a year ago because of high corn prices.

Also, the experts say, the calf supply has been reduced by fewer heifers going into the commercial market. Many ranchers, particularly those in the southwest, are replenishing breeding herds after being forced to sell part of their stock because of the drought in 1970 and earlier this year.

The USDA index for all feeder livestock, including pigs and lambs as well as calves, was 129 per cent at mid-October. The index is based on 1967 average prices equalling 100 per cent. Thus, the October index showed feeder stock priced 29 per cent higher than four years ago.

Calf prices accounted for virtually all of the gain the feeder index, the Crop Reporting Board said. In Oct. 1970 it was 120 per cent of the 1967 base.

Feeder calves are lumped together by USDA with market steers, heifers and cows when prices of "all cattle" are computed. Figures for those were unchanged in October, including a $31.30 average per 100 pounds for steers and heifers; $20.80 for cows; and $29.10 for all cattle.

A total of 94,835 automobiles were reported stolen in New York City in 1970.

Graham Recovers

LONDON (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham has recovered from a severe attack of abdominal pain and fever, his headquarters in London said today.

The 52-year-old evangelist was stricken last week. The attack was caused by a mild case of food poisoning, a Graham aide said.

Graham is to address a conference of British business executives Tuesday and fly to the United States Wednesday.

BUSINESS And INDUSTRIAL NEWS

NOT A BIG OPERATION — It's not a big operation at all to rid your house of roaches and other crawling pests with Johnston's No-Roach. All you do is brush it (or squirt it) where the roach traffic is. It is safe to use around children and pets, and it keeps on working.

No-Roach Saves Time For Busy Housewives

Many people who are plagued by cockroaches go through quite a ritual every couple of weeks. First they take all the dishes, pots, pans, groceries, knick-knacks. . . everything that can be moved . . . off the kitchen shelves. Then they scrub everything down. Then they spray some foul smelling insecticide . . . leave the room for a couple of hours til the odor disappears, return, wash the dishes . . . and finally put everything away. If they'd used No-Roach in the first place, the whole operation would have taken about fifteen or twenty minutes.

You don't have to move anything to use Johnston's No-Roach. You just brush it around dishes, into corners, along baseboards, across door and window sills (or squirt it on all these places with the special applicator you can get with No-Roach). That's it. No-Roach is odorless, so there's no need to leave the room for a few hours. And No-Roach is safe to use around children and pets. Most important, No-Roach is highly effective.

No-Roach dries to an invisible coating which begins working right away, and keeps on working . . . infecting not only the roaches that come in contact with it, but the other roaches, and even the eggs, that the infected roaches contact.

Get No-Roach with brush or squirt applicator...or both. Use it just once and you'll never be without it again. Johnston's No-Roach is available at Furr's, Piggly Wiggly, B & B, Safeway, Everybody's, Rainbow and all grocery stores.

Elephant Attacks Trainer

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Trainer Wayne Cool, 24, suffered a one-inch gash on his head Sunday when he was charged by "Sabrina," a four-ton elephant.

Bruce Grant, a spokesman for Lion Country Safari, said Cool was apparently trying to herd Sabrina into the "Elephant Hut" near closing time when the 8,000 pound mammoth charged.

"He told me the elephant put a foot on his head and dropped a knee onto his chest but he kicked her in the eye and rolled away," Grant said.

Because of the time change Sunday, cars were still rolling through the tourist attraction at dusk and "Sabrina must have freaked out since it was dark," Grant explained.

Thieves Warned

VRENA, Sweden (AP) — Thieves burgling a church here usually are terrified when a heavenly voice booms down from the rafters: "Remember, thou shalt not steal."

But two would be burglars, unimpressed by Vicar Lars Ekrelius' tape recorder device, are now wishing they'd taken the hint.

The Vicar's second line of defense, a three-bell burglar alarm, clanged out a warning that resulted in their arrest only seconds after the thieves fled the building.

Duck Cause Of Accident

PONTIAC, Ill. (AP) — A duck walked into Susan Bayles' life Sunday—right in front of her car.

State Police said the 18-year-old Plainsville girl swerved the car to avoid hitting the duck, but rammed into a bridge abutment, sending a passenger to the hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

The duck was unharmed, the car was demolished and Susan was ticketed for failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident.

Cooper Starts New Career

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — One of the film world's most enduring names, Jackie Cooper at 50 is beginning his fifth career. Or is it his seventh?

He can be seen these days hustling around the set of Columbia's "Stand Up and Be Counted," a movie about the Women's Lib Movement. Cooper is director, and it's the first time he has directed a feature film.

Jackie Cooper no longer looks like "Skippy," the role that made him a star 40 years ago. The face is lined, but he retains all his hair—and his youthful attitude. No small achievement for a fellow who has endured the ups and downs of a career that started when he was 3.

"That was when they were making silent pictures," he recalled between takes of an airplane sequence with Jacqueline Bisset, and Gary Lockwood. "I made it through to sound (in "Our Gang, comedies) and was a star by the time I was 8. I even managed to bridge that 'awkward age' that most child actors go through. The war took care of that, too."

Cooper enlisted in the Navy and returned after the war to discover his career as a film actor had slumped.

"I managed to find work, but it was in low-budget Allied Artists pictures," he said. "I couldn't see myself continuing like that.

"About that time I had become acquainted with some New York actors, guys like Keenan Wynn and John Garfield. They made me realize how little I knew about acting. I remember Julie (Garfield) telling me to 'get back to New York where you can learn your craft.'"

Cooper left Hollywood to appear on the stage in "Mister Roberts," later starred on Broadway in "Remains to Be Seen," and "King of Hearts." That was when television was in the ascendancy, and he began appearing in dramatic shows out of New York.

He returned to Hollywood to star in two television series, "The People's Choice" and "Hennesey." Both ran three seasons. Midway in the first series, Cooper began directing the segments, and he both produced and directed "Hennesey."

In 1964, Cooper was placed in charge of production for Screen Gems, the television arm of Columbia.

He left Screen Gems after five years and formed a production company, but he admitted that his heart wasn't in it—"I kept flying over beaches on Baja California—looking for a place to retire."

Producer Michael J. Frankovich changed all that. He picked Cooper to play a harried television executive in "The Love Machine." Said Frankovich: "I was so impressed with Jackie's know-how and enthusiasm that I chose him to direct "Stand Up and Be Counted'."

Said Cooper: "I guess I didn't really want to retire. I was just waiting for someone to offer me a job that I really wanted. This is it."

New York City police reported breaking up three stolen-car rings when they recently arrested 22 persons at 23 garages and junkyards.

Wife Is Interfering With Plans

DETROIT (AP) — Rep. Charles Diggs Jr. plans to get married in New York next weekend.

The Michigan Democrat has a problem, however. As far as the law's concerned, he still has a wife.

"I don't want to be mean to Charles," said Wayne County Circuit Court Judge George E. Bowles. "But until he reached a property settlement with his wife and I sign the final decree, he's still married in the eyes of the law."

Diggs' divorce action with his wife Anna is pending before Judge Bowles. The judge said he has informally agreed to the divorce, but will not sign the decree until the congressman pays a $5,000 property settlement.

Diggs' attorney said Sunday he hopes final details of the divorce can be straightened out before the weekend.

Diggs' wedding to Janet Elaine Hall of Washington is scheduled for Saturday afternoon at Riverside Church in New York with a reception following at the St. Moritz Hotel.

POPULAR PLACE — Carlos' Little Mexico Restaurant, 1703 College Avenue, features delicious, authentic Mexican food. The restaurant is a popular place with local diners during the winter months. All items on the menu also can be ordered to go just by dialing 573-2251.

Methodists To Re-Evaluate Sex Films

DALLAS (AP) — A theological course at Southern Methodist University which shows sex films will be "routinely" re-evaluated at the end of the year, the course instructor says.

The two films, "Unfolding" and "Vir Amat" which show heterosexual and homosexual acts of intercourse, have been labeled as ponography by two United Methodist ministers.

"The staff will re-evaluate the 1-week section of the course dealing with sex on the basis of effectiveness, not on the basis of the controversy now raging," course instructor Dr. Harville Hendrix said Sunday.

He said the point of showing the films, which were optional for the class, was to "desensitize" the future clergymen to sexual phenomena.

The Rev. Edward C. Blythe and the Rev. Gordon Casad protested the films to Dr. Joseph D. Quillian Jr., dean of the Perkins School of Tecnology at SMU.

Hendrix said that 90 per cent of those who viewed the film appreciated it for broadening their understanding of human sexuality.

The course, Hendrix said, changes from year to year to examine contemporary topics. Next year the section on sex might be expanded or deleted from the curriculum, as the staff judges its importance.

The Rev. Mr. Blythe, pastor of the Lake Highlands United Methodist Church said he and the Rev. Mr. Casad, superintendent of the Dallas-McKinney United Methodist District took their protest to Quillian personally after receiving "three highly charged negative reactions" to the films.

"I have no objections to the stated intent and purpose of the course as outlined in the curriculum," Mr. Blythe said. "My questions have to do with the value and purpose of raw pornography in equipping men and women to minister with any greater effectiveness to their people."

Winter Specials Served At Little Mexico Cafe

Carlos Mijares, owner and operator of the restaurant, said he now is serving winter specials daily. The specials are beef green enchiladas, cheese green enchiladas, and chile rellenos with Spanish sauce, fried beans and Spanish rice.

Of course, Carlos has a varied and tasty menu, including nine separate dinners that feature such delicious authentic Mexican food as enchiladas, tamalas, chili carne, fried beans, Spanish rice, beef tacos, guacamole salad, nachos appetizers, tostados and your choice of ice cream or sherbet and coffee or tea. All of the items on the menu are reasonably priced.

In addition, Carlos' Little Mexico Cafe has six separate orders of enchiladas, four separate orders of tacos, five different combination plates, eggs and omelets.

You can also get typically Anglo dishes at Carlos, including salads, sandwiches, French fried onion rings or potatoes, chicken, seafoods, and five different steak orders.

On Sundays, Carlos' prepares turkey and dressing with all the trimmings. Everything that appears on the menu can be ordered to go.

In addition, Carlos has five different orders for children, including enchiladas, tacos, tamales, chicken fried steak or hamburger steak.

A relaxed, comfortable atmosphere is a special feature of Carlos' Little Mexico Cafe. Authentic Spanish paintings decorate the interior walls.

Moreover, Carlos has a special dining room that can be reserved for parties or special groups. Various civic groups often dine at Carlos — where the service is prompt and efficient and the waitresses are courteous.

For prompt order to go service just dial 573-2251. Carlos also is open after home football games. In fact, the Little Mexico Cafe is open from 6 a.m. until 10 p.m. — every day of the week — and a little longer on ball game nights.

FOR APPLICATION OF NEW RECOVERY TECHNIQUES

Oil Operators Told To Assess Properties

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — The nation's independent oil operators have been told every oil operator should assess his properties for possible application of new oil recovery techniques.

Dr. Paul B. Crawford, petroleum engineering professor at Texas A&M, said more than 15 new and novel oil recovery methods have been developed during the past two decades but only 25 per cent of the oil held in geologic formations is being produced at present.

Crawford spoke Sunday at a technical session that preceded today's opening of the 42nd meeting of the nationwide independent Petroleum Association of America.

He said that under current practices a few billion barrels of oil remain underground to challenge the oil operator possessing creative thinking and practical thinking.

"Domestic operators have produced 100 billion barrels of oil within our nation's boundaries," he said.

"Yet nature has bound the crude oil so tightly within the pores of the rock that only 15 per cent of the oil originally in place is usually recovered by primary methods. An additional 10 per cent may be recovered by waterflooding or gas cycling, leaving about 75 per cent of the original oil in place at abandonment due to economics."

Crawford said new recovery methods range from the use of chemicals to the use of nuclear detonations.

"New oil recovery methods have been developed for recovering heavy crude oils, medium heavy, and light crude oils," he said.

"Methods have been developed to recover oil at shallow depths and great depths. Every oil operator should assess his properties for possible application of some of these new oil recovery methods to his holdings."

A New York banker told the independents higher international oil prices appear to be developing.

Robert C. Seabring, vice president of the petroleum department of the First National City Bank of New York, said the nation should be aware of the face 80 per cent of the foreign crude oil imported into the United States comes from the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC). These countries, he added, control over 90 per cent of the free world's crude reserves outside the United States.

Five-year price agreements were negotiated by OPEC and international oil companies earlier this year but OPEC has indicated a desire for even higher oil income and for participation in existing oil concessions.

"Certainly the next round of OPEC meetings will be increasingly difficult with both the quasi devaluation of the dollar and the minority local ownership problem," Seabring said.

He said the nation should be aware of the implications involved in an apparently unavoidable continuing trend toward importing increasing amounts of foreign petroleum.

Policy committees of the association were meeting today to draft reports to be submitted at a Tuesday general session.

Tom B. Medders Jr., 41, Wichita Falls, Tex., oilman and rancher, was elected president of the 4,500-member nationwide trade group.

Medders succeeds Robert E. Mead of Dallas, Tex., MacDonald Oil Corp. board chairman who has headed the organization the past two years.

Medders is a member of the association's executive committee and has served as chairman of one of its major policy committees, oil imports. He is a former president of the North Texas Oil & Gas Association.

A native of Wichita Falls, Medders holds degrees in government and law from Southern Methodist University.

Tips On Promotion

Career Corner
by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: A long time ago you wrote about how to hit it off on the job and get promoted. I clipped the column to save but somehow have managed to lose it. Would you give those tips again? -- A.M., Hamilton, Ohio

Assuming you're enthusiastic about your work and get to the job on time, check yourself on these 5 common barriers to advancement:

(1) PLAYING BUMP-THE-BOSS. Some people -- forgetting that their immediate supervisor usually controls their next promotion -- are specialists in trying to make their boss look bad so that they will look better. But throwing mud is tricky stuff: you may miss your target and you're sure to have dirty hands. Even the dumbest supervisor isn't deaf and blind to undercutting.

Other workers, grown heady with a little success, have become overly familiar and cocky, trespassing on the boss's prerogatives. They second-guess him at every turn, challenge his every decision, undermine his authority. Nobody is suggesting that you become a rubber stamp, just take it easy. When you put your foot down, first look around to make sure your supervisor isn't under it.

(2) NO ACCOUNTABILITY. Some people are stalled because they have the opposite problem -- they refuse to take a project and run with it. If your boss gives you a job, do you drive him up the wall checking back with mundane details or by ducking decisions you've been told to make? If your supervisor has to follow up to see if the thing has been done, and if it hasn't been done, to inquire why not, and then listen to the tiresome excuses of why you didn't follow through, he has to wonder about your ability to accept responsibility.

(3) NAYSAYING. Advancement may be eluding you because you react to most new ideas like an untipped waiter. You list all the reasons why a proposal will not work, why it should not be done, why it should be done by somebody else, or why it should be done in a different way which you haven't really thought through.

If you want to convince your employer that you have enough cooperative optimism to be a leader, evaluate fresh ideas objectively before you say no

(4) TREADING WATER. Is your job performance merely passable? Can it be summed up with the story of one employer's retort to a malingering employee, "We'll all pitch in and do your work while you're sick, Mr. Smithers, just as soon as we can figure out what you've been doing"?

You may be feeling sorry for yourself because you think you're already overburdened with duties when the truth is you are dissatisfied with your job and it's taking you too long to drone through it. Or perhaps you really don't relish the workload that comes with a higher position. How can you expect a reward for mediocrity?

(5) TROUBLEMAKING. Have you heard the one about "Don't get mad. Get even"? Some people do odd things to get even -- often venting frustration in the classic office pastime of troublemaking. Avoid the temptation to muck up a little discontent among your coworkers even if it's a dull day. Resist mumbling about petty inconveniences -- take legitimate grumbles to the boss privately.

• • •

Remember, too, that the boss is only human. As humorist Robert Orben says: "Telling the boss what you really think of him can be called honesty, integrity and self-assertiveness. It can also be called a do-it-yourself recession."

• • •

Readers who send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Joyce Lain Kennedy at this newspaper can have a mimeographed copy of management consultant Dr. Whitt N. Schultz's "A Dad's Letter to His Kids -- What I've Learned in Business." Ask for "Dad's Letter."

Astronaut Is Delegate To U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — America's first astronaut is the first U.N. delegate who has been on the moon. Alan B. Shepard Jr. is an alternate U.S. representative to the current General Asssembly.

Dressed in a modish knit suit with a tiny U.S. flag in the lapel and looking much younger than 47, the astronaut causes heads to turn and runs into an occasional polite request for an autograph as he walks through the U.N. halls and attends meetings.

Ambassador Jamil Baroody of Saudi Arabia noted one day on the assembly floor that a man who had been on the moon was in the delegates' midst, but did not name Shepard.

"I guess he meant me," Shepard said later. "There were only six of us."

Some of the 131 member countries of the United Nations are strongly anti-American, but Shepard says he hears only complimentary remarks about the U.S. space program.

"People don't realize the positive impact of the space program. I've found it both here and in my travels around the world," he told a reporter.

Shepard has been attending sessions of the assembly's main political committee, which is discussing ways to carry out the declaration passed last year on the "strengthening of international security."

He will be the U.S. delegate in charge of several other assembly agenda items when the come up. They include preparation of a treaty concerning the moon, the peaceful uses of outer space, U.N. peacekeeping operations and the protection of human rights in armed conflicts.

Although he returns to Houston occasionally to his work as chief of the astronaut office, Shepard expects his U.N. assignments to keep him here most of the time until the session ends Dec. 21.

The Navy rear admiral was invited by the White House to join the U. N. delegation. Ambassador George Bush, head of the U. S. delegation, was a backer.

The wandering albatross can live for over 30 years and may weigh 17 pounds with a wingspan up to 12 feet, enabling it to soar for hours in the oceanic air currents.

Man Falls In Lion Pit

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Sherman Shatwell, 30, fell into the lion pit at Mohawk Zoo Sunday and was attacked by a lion, but spectators kept three other lions away with a shower of rocks, zoo officials reported.

"The only thing that saved him was that the lions are so young," said zookeeper Mickey Thulin. He said they range from 18 to 22 months old.

One lion immediately rushed Shatwell and bit him on the neck and back, but spectators began to pelt it and the other three lions with rocks.

Thulin and another zookeeper, Larry Nunley, maneuvered the lions into their cages with brooms and shovels. Shatwell, of Coweta, Okla., then grabbed a broomhandle extended to him by the zookeepers and was hoisted out.

Shatwell said he was not hurt, but was treated and then released from a hospital.
