Commissioners Table Book Buy

As Lawyers Protest

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Deaf Smith County commissioners Monday tabled action on the purchase of federal law books valued at approximately $15,000 after two local attorneys said the books would be a waste of taxpayers' money.

Another attorney, Tom Burdett, said the county should purchase the books because of "federal questions" which have come up in recent lawsuits filed by the Hereford office of Texas Rural Legal Aid.

Burdett, a member of the county law library committee, told the commission he was speaking on behalf of District Attorney Roland Saul, who requested the books in late February but was out of town Monday.

"Whether we like it or not, with these taxpayers' attorneys (from TRLA) out here filing lawsuits, we've got to be ready," Burdett said.

"Most of their cases, I think, are frivolous, but we've got to be ready. I am supportive of Roland Saul's request for these books," Burdett said.

Saul had requested the book sets -- "Federal Reporter II" and "Federal Supplement" -- because of recent suits filed against county officials.

One of the suits, filed by a San Antonio law firm hired by three Hereford Mexican-Americans, attempts to force the reapportionment of commissioner precincts. The other, filed by TRLA, is trying to stop the purported practice of arresting persons believed to be illegal aliens.

Attorneys Ray Cowser and John Aikin, whose law firms have sets of federal law books, told the commission the county should not buy the books for the law library.

"I cannot see any value to the supplement. All it is is district judges' decisions," Cowser said.

"But, they don't carry much weight with the Circuit Court," Cowser said.

Cowser added that he is becoming "more conscious all the time" of wasteful government expenses.

"If we can just stop government spending on this level on something we can get by without. These books are tools of our trade, and I don't know if the public ought to furnish the tools of our trade," Cowser said.

"I agree that this is not a time to spend money, but to stem the situation," Aikin added.

Cowser said the TRLA situation is "not as serious as everyone thinks it is -- those Highway 60 lawyers, if that's what you want to call them, aren't going to be much of a threat in the future."

"They're going to be a flash in the pan and kill themselves. What you need to do is cut off their funds up in Washington --"

AN ARTICLE IN SUNDAY'S BRAND reported that the Rev. Mogens Bjerno of Copenhagen, Denmark will be in Hereford March 16-20 for special services at First United Methodist Church. In connection with that, a member of Rev. William McReynolds' flock told us the Danish minister had written to inquire about the weather in March. We just had to know what Rev. McReynolds told him.

"I hedged a little," said Rev. Mac. "I sent him two pictures from The Brand -- one showing trucks moving the snow, and another a couple of days later showing the temperature at 61 degrees on one of the bank signs."

McReynolds added that he also told Rev. Bjerno that "only fools and newcomers predict the weather in West Texas, and I've been around the area a long time."

Hereford 'Turmoil' Publicized

"High Noon in Hereford" was the title of a feature article in Scene Magazine, the Sunday supplement of The Dallas Morning News, this past week. The story highlighted the "turmoil" in the community over the actions of Texas Rural Legal Aid in filing suits for mistreatment of migrant laborers. The photo above shows some of the "adversaries" mentioned in the article. At left is Sheriff Travis McPherson and deputies Dean Butcher and

Presidential Bids Head South

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent

Ronald Reagan and President Carter bid for solid southern endorsements today as Georgia, Florida and Alabama held presidential primary elections keynoting a crucial, three-week burst of campaign competition.

While conservative Republican Reagan and Georgia Democrat Carter ranked as the favorites in the contests, they will be tested again, and again, in 15 states that could point to the outcome of the campaigns for the White House nominations by April 1.

There were precinct caucuses to judge the candidates of both parties in Washington tonight, Alaska, Hawaii and Oklahoma held Democratic precinct caucuses.

Sen. Edward Kennedy has given Carter something close to a bye in the southern primaries. The Democratic challenger already has turned his attention to Illinois, which votes next Tuesday. The delegate stakes are far higher there, and the political climate more inviting to the senator from Massachusetts.

But Kennedy did mount an election-eve radio campaign in Tampa and Miami, Fla., trying to capitalize on Carter's admission that his administration blundered in voting for a United Nations resolution critical of Israeli settlements in occupied territories. In that advertisement, Kennedy said the vote would jeopardize Israeli security. He said the vote made U.S. foreign policy the "laughingstock of nations throughout the world."

But Kennedy, who defeated Carter for the first time in Massachusetts, kept his southern investment to the bare minimum.

Carter is virtually uncontested in his home primary in Georgia, and his advocates are asking for a shutout. At a minimum, they want to do better in Georgia than Kennedy did at home in Massachusetts, where he gained 65 percent of the vote to Carter's 29 percent.

In a dwindling Republican field, Reagan's only major southern rival was George Bush, who said he would be satisfied "to be reasonably lose" to the former California governor. He didn't define that in numbers. "Everybody assumes that all three of these states are strong Reagan states,"

20,000 Back Buffalo Effort

By JIM STEIERT

CANYON -- An additional 4,000 signatures supporting the retention of the Buffalo Lake dam were submitted to the Save Buffalo Lake Committee at the Randall County courthouse here last night, boosting the total number of signatures in the SBLC's petition drive to near the 20,000 mark.

In a slower-paced meeting than has been common in recent sessions of the SBLC, supporters of the group sought Monday to give their organization a "second wind" surge of support to help carry it into important matters which still lie ahead.

Political action and publicity committees were formed at last night's session in hopes of prompting greater participation of Panhandle area residents in the work of the SBLC.

The organization set a meeting for April 7 at 7:30 p.m. at the Randall County courthouse as the final massive effort to precede a session scheduled by officials of the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service for April 22 at the WTSU science building here.

Mike Carr, executive vice president of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce volunteered to contact various chambers over the Panhandle to enlist their support and encourage attendance by their representatives at SBLC functions.

Jim Wilson was named to head up the political action committee, which will contact political figures from throughout the immediate Buffalo Lake area and urge their participation, while Joel Goucher was named to head

Hereford Man Dies In Hart Shooting

Castro County sheriff's officers are continuing their investigation into the shooting death of a 24-year-old Hereford farm laborer, Ramon Lopez, who was killed in an apparent family dispute at Hart early Sunday morning.

According to Castro County Sheriff Granville Martin, investigating officers do have a suspect in the incident, but no arrests had been made as of this morning.

Lopez was killed at a private residence in Hart about 1 a.m. Sunday, following what Martin termed "a family argument."

The U.N. investigating commission left Tehran for New York Tuesday without seeing any of the American hostages after Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini endorsed demands made by the hostages' captors which the commission rejected.

The five members of the panel took a plane for Switzerland, en route to U.N. headquarters in New York. They announced that because of their failure to see the hostages, they would not issue a report on their investigation into Iranian charges against Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi.

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim issued a statement Monday night at U.N. headquarters in New York saying the commission had suspended its work in Tehran but was prepared to return after consultations in New York.

Iran's ruling Revolutionary Council, reacting to Khomeini's vow to "fight against the U.S. government until death," backed off its demand to take custody of the approximately 50 captive Americans who on Monday spent their 128th day as prisoners of Moslem militants occupying the U.S. Embassy.

Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh met with the five U.N. commissioners for four hours in an unsuccessful effort to persuade them to extend their stay. He told reporters early Tuesday the commissioners, who arrived in Tehran Feb. 23, "have been here for 17 days and they couldn't stay any longer."

The commissioners had been on the verge of leaving last week, but were persuaded to stay after it appeared a weekend meeting with the hostages was possible.

Waldheim's statement said the commission, "in the light of recent developments and after consulting with the secretary general and Iranian authorities, has decided that it should suspend its activities for several days."

It said the commission "is not now in a position to submit its report. It is, however, prepared to return to Tehran in accordance with its mandate and the instructions of the secretary general, when the situation requires."

In Washington, President Carter summoned Democratic and Republican congressional leaders to a White House meeting on the crisis.

Ghotbzadeh told reporters the U.N. representatives "are leaving and we have worked out a schedule for our work here and their work in New York and hopefully after a short time they will return." He mentioned no date for a possible return.

The Castro County sheriff declined to disclose further details of the shooting, stating only, "It's under investigation at this time."

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a.m. Thursday in St. Anthony's Catholic Church with the Rev. Paul Haefner, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in St. Anthony's Cemetery under direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Rosary services are scheduled at 6:30 p.m. today and Wednesday in Rose Chapel of Gilliland-Watson Funeral (See SHOOTING, Page 2)

Colombians Report

Talks Advancing

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) - The Colombian government said talks with the guerrillas holding the embassy of the Dominican Republic "advanced in a climate of serenity," but no progress was reported toward freeing the more than 21 hostages, including U.S. Ambassador Diego Asencio, seized 14 days ago.

"The conversations advanced in a climate of serenity and the participants showed their willingness to continue them," the press office of President Julio Cesar Turbay Ayala said after a negotiating session Monday in a cream-colored van outside the embassy, occupied during a reception Feb. 27.

No details were given on the latest round of talks but the statement said talks would continue at a later, unspecified date.

The government says it has ruled out an armed assault unless it appears the guerrillas are going to kill their hostages.

Southern Primaries

May Influence Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) - What happens in today's three southern primaries will weigh heavily on former President Gerald R. Ford's decision on whether to leap into the Republican presidential race.

If GOP front-runner Ronald Reagan wins big as he did in South Carolina on Saturday, many GOP moderates will increase the pressure on Ford to move to try to halt his old nemesis.

Ford, described as sitting on the fence as he assesses his chances, has set a March 20 deadline for a decision. And he is flying East to seek political advice.

Ford is to fly into Washington tonight for three days of meetings with Republican leaders and former White House and congressional colleagues and to address a GOP fund-raiser.

The former president moves on to New York Thursday to confer with politicians and potential money backers and to speak to a Financial World dinner.

He then returns to his home in Rancho Mirage, Calif., to assess his prospects and to make his decision.

Carter To Hike

Wage Guidelines

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter is preparing to raise his administration's voluntary wage guidelines to allow pay increases of up to 9 1/2 percent this year, but labor leaders say their support for worker wage restraint won't last much longer if inflation escalates further.

Government and labor sources said Monday Carter has decided to accept a union-backed proposal to loosen the wage guidelines from last year's 7 percent ceiling to a range of 7 1/2 to 9 1/2 percent - and even higher for some workers who receive cost-of-living raises.

The sources, who declined to be named, said Carter will announce the revised guidelines as part of a major speech he is expected to deliver within a week on his new inflation-fighting efforts, including a renewed drive to balance the 1981 budget.

A Pay Advisory Committee of representatives from business, labor and the public proposed nearly two months ago that Carter adopt the higher guideline figures. But final action by the president was delayed because of an unsuccessful behind-the-scenes struggle by some government officials to tighten the committee's proposed guidelines - a position strongly opposed by labor leaders.

Administration Sets

Salt II Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) - For the first time, the Carter administration has set a goal of ratification in 1980 of the SALT II treaty with the Soviet Union.

Administration officials have been saying unofficially for some time that they believe the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty must be ratified this year if it is to be approved at all.

The administration asked the Senate to delay consideration of the treaty after the Soviet military move into Afghanistan.

But Hudding Carter, a State Department spokesman, said Monday the administration doesn't feel Soviet withdrawal from Afghanistan is a prerequisite for Senate action.

The treaty lists deadlines for destruction of weapons, including one requiring a significant reduction in the Soviet strategic weapons arsenal by the end of 1981.

However, if ratification is delayed past this year, the whole process of Senate hearings and testimony would have to begin anew for the new Congress elected this fall. That would mean the treaty could not possibly be ratified until mid-1981.

TERRELL, Texas (AP) - Rembert A. Lechner said he always felt like a "stepchild," but still was perplexed when his father, the late oilman Walter Lechner, left $5 million to Texas A&M University and not a penny to his only son.

Lechner said he felt no bitterness toward his father, just curiosity.

"We're all in the dark about it," the son said. "Nobody seems to know just why he did it, but he did go to school there for a year, in 1912."

He said the marriage between his father and mother ended in divorce shortly after he was born. And, he said, he never spent much time with his father then anyway, because the elder Lechner was in the service during World War I.

The father later remarried, his son said, and that union lasted 59 years. And even though there were no other children, Lechner said, he was always a bit of a "stepchild" to his father.

"I just don't have many childhood memories of him because my parents were divorced," Lechner said.

"It was a real surprise to the family, that gift to

A&M," he said. "He wasn't known as an overly generous man, and had never been especially so with the family."

that'll get the job done."

Cowert and Aikin told Burdett that their law libraries are open to other attorneys in the city.

"We'll let anybody in but TRLA," Aikin said.

Commissioners, who listened to the three attorney's comments but did not involve themselves in the discussion, tabled Saul's request until their next meeting.

The commission sought the opinion of Assistant District Attorney Jerry Smith concerning the county's financing of investigators hired by court-appointed attorneys in felony cases.

According to the commission, one investigator recently charged the county $18.50 an hour and 24 cents a mile in travel expenses.

Smith said it was the county's responsibility to pay a "reasonable fee", set by 222nd District Court and determined by the time and conditions of the case.

Commissioners approved the payment of $837 in attorneys' fees for work involving the reappointment lawsuit against the county.

In closed session, the court discussed the lawsuit, but took no action. Smith said that a compromise had been worked out between lawyers on both sides, but the commission delayed action on the matter.

Ester DeLaCruz attended Monday's commission meeting to protest what she called too-high charges for using the Bull Barn for a birthday party on April 12.

She said that a Bull Barn custodian had told her that it would cost $10 an hour for a county employee to be on hand during the party. $100 for janitorial service "even though we planned to clean it up ourselves" and a $200 deposit.

"High Noon in Hereford", in its Sunday magazine section. And, a television crew from Lubbock was in town last week filming what we presume will be called a documentary on the situation.

Hereford is getting more bad publicity than it deserves through some slanted, sensationalized reports. We believe the "racial tensions" being highlighted in these articles and tv reports are being blown out of proportion. Hereford has a large number of citizens of Mexican descent and most of them seem to be happy living in this community. Anglo citizens here have encouraged them to become more involved in community affairs, but it's been a slow process.

up the publicity committee which will also attempt to stir up additional support.

Kenneth Land of Canyon, chairman of the SBLC, reported that an emergency appropriation could be obtained through the Corps of Engineers in 90 days for reconstruction of the spillway at Buffalo, provided clear need was shown for the structure, but Land added, "After we get the dam saved at Buffalo, our work really starts in finding water. It could take three to five years to really get this thing wrapped up."

Land indicated that additional contacts with the Fish & Wildlife Service still give indication that the agency may have abandoned its plan to breach the dam at Buffalo Lake.

That subject was to be the main topic of the April 22 meeting in Canyon, but downstream flood hazard studies and other factors may have changed all that now.

SBLC members were warned last night, however, that the F&WS is already "hedging" on its original announcements concerning the status of Buffalo Lake, and officials of the agency have now reported that it may be as late as September before a decision is reached.

Committee members were informed that the F&WS may be "procrastinating" on the Buffalo Lake issue in a style that has grown familiar over the past decade, and that citizen pressure must be maintained and increased to obtain any progress.

Those on hand heard reports that the water level in Buffalo has dropped to approximately 2,000 acre-feet, which is in line with the level recommended by Dept. of Interior until repairs on the spillway have been made.

Almost 150,000 motorcycle accidents occur each year, and more than 4,000 of these result in death of the rider.

More than 20 percent of all accidents involve new riders out for the first or second time. More than half of all motorcycle accidents involve young people between the ages of 16 and 20.

These grim statistics come from the 4-H Motorcycle Manual and Leader's Guide, an advanced educational unit used in the Texas 4-H automotive program.

While it is true that motorcycles are high-risk transportation, riders can reduce their accident risks by learning defensive street riding, observing safety measures, and wearing protective equipment and clothing.

Ann Landers

Happiness Is...

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 75 years old, and live alone. Thank God, I can do for myself. I have children, but they are so busy with their own lives I don't bother them. Recently you printed a letter from a woman who had spent most of her life caring for elderly parents. I thought you might find the following interesting.

So many people think they would be happy if only life's circumstances were changed; if they had a different job, if they had never married or if they had married someone else. They are convinced total contentment would be theirs if only they had had a better education, if they lived elsewhere, or could make more money. They are wrong.

I like the story of the unhappy king who was told that he would find happiness by wearing the shirt of the poorest man in his kingdom. When he discovered the poorest man in the kingdom, he was surprised to find the man was cheerful and had no shirt at all. -- M.E.O. Of Newark

DEAR NEWARK: I have observed through the years that happiness comes to people who are too busy to seek it. Happiness cannot be captured and kept under a glass bell. It is a state of mind that must come as the result of other things. Happiness must catch YOU. You cannot catch IT!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a grandmother who is trying to raise my grandchildren alone. I have a physical handicap which I won't go into here, but life is not easy.

I know how that woman felt when she wrote of the comments she heard in the check-out line at the supermarket. She was paying for her groceries with food stamps. You see, I, too, am on welfare and have heard some snide remarks. Believe me, I'd give anything if I were able to work and pay my own way, but it isn't possible. Please print this little poem, Ann. It says it better than I ever could. -- Scottsbluff, Neb.

DEAR S.B.: I will -- and thank you.

GIVING
"Go, give to the needy, sweet charity's breed
For giving is living," the angel said.

"Must I keep giving -- again and again?"
My peevish, petulant answer ran.

"Oh, no!" said the angel, piercing me through.
"Just give till The Master stops giving to you."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I were attending a convention in a city a thousand miles from home. He developed a terrific toothache about midnight. It was too late to call anybody and ask about a dentist, so the poor guy suffered until 7:00 the next morning.

The dentist said my husband could have gotten relief by taking a wad of cotton, soaking it in bourbon or brandy and applying the wad to the aching tooth. Please share this with your readers. It's my way of saying "thanks" for all the good advice you've doled out through the years. -- Superior, Wis., Fan

DEAR SUPERIOR: Thanks for the suggestion. The only hitch is that the guy, in his agony, might forget about the cotton and drink the whole bottle.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious -- lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 50 cents with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

The organization has since opened its ranks to veterans of World War II, the Korean War, and the Vietnam War. From its modest beginning in 1919, the Legion has grown into an organization of 2.7 million war veterans belonging to nearly 16,000 posts throughout the United States and in many parts of the free world.

At Wits End By ERMA BOMBECK

When do parents stop worrying about their children? No question has been asked more or answered less.

Is there a magic cut-off period when offspring become accountable for their own actions? Is there a wonderful moment when parents can become detached spectators in the lives of their children and shrug, "It's their life," and feel nothing?

When I was in my 20s, I stood in a hospital corridor waiting for doctors to put a few stitches in my son's head and I asked, "When do you stop worrying?" and a nurse with authority said, "When they get out of the accident-prone stage."

My mother just smiled faintly and said nothing.

When I was in my 30s, I sat on a little chair in a classroom and heard how one of my children talked incessantly, disrupted the class, and was headed for a career making licensed plates. As if to read my mind, a teacher said, "Don't worry. They all go through this stage and then you can sit back and enjoy them."

My mother listened and said nothing.

When I was in my 40s, I spent a lifetime waiting for the phone to ring, the cars to come home, the front door to open. A friend said, "They're trying to find themselves. In a few years, you can stop worrying. They'll be adults."

By the time I was 50, I was sick and tired of being vulnerable. I was still worrying over my children, but there was a new wrinkle. There was nothing I could do about it. Yet I continued to anguish in their failures, be tormented by their frustrations and absorbed in their disappointments. My friends said when my kids got married I could stop worrying and lead my own life.

I wanted to believe that, but I was haunted by my mother's wan smile and her occasional, "You look pale. Are you all right?" "Call me the minute you get home." "Are you depressed about something?"

Can it be that parents are sentenced to a lifetime of worry? Is concern for one another handed down like a torch to blaze the trail of human frailties and the fears of the unknown? Is concern a curse? Or is it a virtue that elevates us to the highest form of life?

One of my children became quite irritable recently when he said, "Where were you? I've been calling for three days and no one answered. I was worried."

I smiled a wan smile. The torch has been passed.

Women Harriers Capture 6th - Place in Lady Bulldog Relays

By MAURI MONTGOMERY
Brand Sports Editor

PLAINVIEW -- When the Lady Bulldog Relays came to a close Saturday, the final result boiled down to just one fact for the varsity Whiteface women harriers after they took a middle-of-the-pack 6th place finish out of a 13 team field with 46 team points.

That is -- last year's times don't win this year's track meets.

But even so, you'd still have to get up pretty early in the morning in order to convince head Hereford mentor, Martha Emerson, that the Whitefaces came out of the meet's rigorous field holding anything less than the longest straw of the competition.

"We're right where we want to be considering how young the season really is," said coach Emerson. "I was very pleased with the times on the mile relay in particular because it showed that we haven't lost any ground from last year even though they (the times) were about the same as last season."

The Whiteface mile relay squad (1600 meter), made up of Colleen Keating, Darlene Sanders, Louise Mays, and Deborah Rogers, clocked a first place finish with a time of 4:08.9 which was good enough to beat the meet's winner, Amarillo Palo Duro, who finished sixth in the race with a 4:28.1.

"Darlene and Louise are definitely going to add some punch for the mile relay team early this year because they both ran faster times than they did last year," Emerson said. "Darlene ran around a 50.5 which was better than some of her runs last year and Louise ran a 59.6 and that's as good or better than her times last season."

And the mile relay wasn't the only bright spot in the HHS lineup because Sanders took another first place finish in the 200 meter dash with a time of 25.6.

"Darlene's fastest time last year was a 25.6 and since she ran that this week it indicates that we're just about at the right point to start improving over last year's times," she said.

Other events the Whitefaces placed in were the 1600 meter run in which Beatrice Moreno clocked a 6:22.9 -- good for a sixth place finish and a fifth place berth in the 800 meter relay with a time of 1:50.0.

In the field events competition, Amy Schumacher set a new school record after she chucked a 107 foot throw in the meet. The Hereford junior's throw beat the previous record by four feet, but wasn't quite far enough to place in the Bulldogs relays as the winning distance in that event was 128.2.

"Amy is just starting to learn the ropes in the discus and it's difficult to start competing in other district competition when you've just begun to get your timing and style down. She's doing very well for being a junior and could really be something by the time she's a senior," Emerson said.

And as far as the district race is concerned and how well she thinks the Whitefaces lineup against other squads in the region after their first taste of meet action, Emerson says that it (the district race) is strong but pliable.

"Our district isn't going to be anything to shrug off and laugh at this year because every team is potentially good in at least one or two events," she said. "Plainview had a strong sprint relay, high jump, mile and half-mile. Monterey and Coronado are strong as ever, and Lubbock has a tough triple jumper and mile relay even though it only has 15 people on its squad this year."

Sports

The Hereford Brand, Page 6
Tuesday, March 11, 1980

"But with a little more spit and polish -- tuning up on our field events and speeding some of our running events up some more -- we can have another shot at winning the district like we did last year," she added.

"We're going to make some personal changes in our 400 and 800 meter relays which will be beneficial to our time and technique, and if those two events pan plus give us a stronger out like I expect them to then we'll be okay in the running events," she said.

In J.V. competition, the Whitefaces -- led by first place finishes in the mile relay, 1600 meter, high jump and 100 meter hurdles -- outdistanced six other competing teams and trailed meet winner Plainview 121-119 for a second place finish in the Relays.

Lori Albracht, Dianne Warden, Brenda Straffuss and Rhonda Reinart swung into a 4:27.7 mile relay for first place. D'Lynn Dickerson emerged as the winner of the 100 meter hurdles after clocking a 17.6 in the event. Linda Sermino grasped the honors in the 1600 meter run with a time of 16:10.4 and Brenda Straffuss slipped into the first place berth in the high jump competition as she leaped 4-9.

In addition to the firsts compiled by the J.V. squad, HHS took second, third places and fourth place finishes in the 400 meter and third and fourth in the triple jump.

The next slated competition for the Herd will be the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce Invitational Meet which is scheduled to begin Friday and continue through Saturday.

Teams competing in the meet include: Canyon, Clovis, Plainview, Pampa, and Borger.

Myers Stays At Texas Tech

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) -- Iowa State will have to look elsewhere for a basketball coach, said Texas Tech coach Gerald Myers. He has decided to stay put.

Myers said Monday he has withdrawn his name from those considering the Iowa State post.

"Texas Tech is a great university with a great basketball tradition and I'm convinced that Texas Tech is committed to a quality basketball program," said Myers, who recently visited Iowa State for an interview.

"I am pleased with the interest Iowa State showed in me," he said, "but I feel there are things which can be accomplished at Texas Tech and I want to be a part of those accomplishments."

"Our fans have always supported me and with their help we will continue to make progress with our program."

Q. I got a terrible shimmy in my steering wheel between 50 and 60 mph. I don't notice any vibration until my speed reaches about 52, and it disappears at speeds above 60. It is not shock absorbers because they pass the "bounce test."

A. Before you do anything else, check your tires for bulges and proper inflation. If these check out, and there are no loose wheel nuts, look at the car's steering linkage. Raise the front of the car and push out on both front wheels. Then pull in on both wheels. Watch idler arm, pitman arm, and tie rod ends for play anywhere. Replace any part which cannot be tightened. If nothing seems loose, be sure none of the rods are bent. Also check and adjust to one if it has play. Damaged parts should be replaced as soon as possible.

Orangemen Whip Syracuse in Finals

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The Syracuse basketball team has been called the "Beast of the East" on many occasions, but Villanova Coach Rollie Massimino thinks the Orangemen can be even more frightening than that.

"Syracuse is a good enough team to win the whole thing," says Massimino, talking of course about the NCAA basketball playoffs.

Massimino has the marks to prove it, after a 97-83 whipping by the Orangemen Sunday in a second-round game of the East Regionals.

The nation's sixth-ranked team displayed the kind of firepower and depth usually associated with a national champion. The Orangemen played for the most part without foul-troubled Roosevelt Bouie and got a sub-par game from high scorer Louis Orr, yet had enough in reserve to win handily.

Among the players with whom Iowa will have to contend in the East Regional semifinals in Philadelphia Friday night will be Eric Santifer, who scored 29 points against Villanova.

"When I came to Syracuse I was hoping to play a lot of forward," says Santifer. "I thought with Bouie and I up front, it would be a good lineup."

It has been good enough to win 26 of 29 games and keep the rich Orangemen in the Top Ten all season.

"We just keep playing better and better," says Coach Jim Boeheim, "and getting the easy shots inside."

Sunday's victory in Providence, R.I., incidentally, was Boeheim's 100th in just four years of coaching at Syracuse.

Along with Syracuse, another of the East's formidable teams will be on display in the Philadelphia doubleheader when Big East champion Georgetown plays Maryland of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Whiteface Tracksters Struggle in Meet

"We didn't do that bad and we didn't do that good," said Whiteface track coach Lester Kirkland of his squad's sixth-place finish in Saturday's Lubbock Invitational Track Meet.

"But, overall, I'm very pleased with what we accomplished in our first meet of the season because it (the meet) let me and the men see what we need to work on the most and what changes we need to make."

The Whitefaces slipped to the next-to-last place berth right above Lubbock High, who took 10 points in the meet, and below Monterey 137, Plainview 116, Coronado 70, Hobbs 65, and Odessa's 64 p points.

"The thing about it is, we didn't do well at all as far as our places went, but our times were really quite reasonable considering it was our first action of the year. Of course, those other teams didn't have any more preparation than we did going into the Lubbock Meet, either. But some of them didn't have to wait on their kids to get out of basketball. I know Monterey didn't have one single basketball player on their squad," he said.

The Hereford sprint relay team, the 100-yard dash, and the discus events were the only highlights of the meet for the Herd.

The Whitefaces clocked a 44.1 time for fourth place behind Plainview's winning 43.5 in the sprint relay. Monterey was timed in 43.6 and Hobbs in 44.0.

Highly-touted century man Joe Walker managed to nab only a fourth-place in his event with a time of 11.2 seconds. He was followed by HHS's Harold Terry who clocked a 11.5.

"Walker and Terry both did real well in the 100. They just haven't been out here working long enough to get their momentum going and faster times will come for them after they've established themselves," Kirkland said.

Another big hopeful for the Herd harriers, Joe Mitchem, held his own in the discus competition. The 200-pound senior hurled the plate 139-3/4, which netted him a third-place finish in the meet.

"We're spread pretty thin over the two-field events and running events—but once we get our rhythm going and see a little more time, we'll give 'em a lot better run for their money," Kirkland added.

All-District Team Pick

Whiteface woman cager, Lori Albracht [40] goes up for a layup in one of Hereford's basketball contests this past year. The 5-6 jr. netted more than 20 points per contest over the Herd's season campaign and as a result was named to the district 4-A All-District second team Saturday.

Albracht, Mays Named to All-District Team

Hereford women cagers Lori Albracht and Louise Mays each gained district honors Saturday after being named as second team All-District picks.

Albracht, who led the Whiteface team in scoring, rounded out the Herd's campaign with an average of more than 20 points per game while Mays followed in the squads with over 15 points added up per outing.

The Monterey Plainswomen (the district's champ and state finalist) miraculously landed four players on the first team of the

All-District crew in sisters Kriss and Kamie Ethridge plus cagers Janet Mears and Barbara Ragus. Plainview's Della Riggins completed the first-team picks.

Plainview Dogette Gay Hemphill (who netted 30 points per contest) was voted the district's Most Valuable Player and Monterey's mentor Tim Tasder received Coach of the Year Honors.

Other women cagers landing berths as second team choices included: Kelli Crow, Monterey; Patti McFerren, Coronado; and Kim Laird of Plainview.

Hereford's Louise Mays goes leaps up for one of her many bucket attempts during a contest with the Lubbock High Westerners. Mays was named as a second-team All-District pick Saturday after averaging 15 points per game this past season.

Wolverines Beat El Paso Miners

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan knew Texas-El Paso was a taller, more talented basketball team but the Wolverines were determined they weren't going to let the big guys kick sand in their faces.

"We made up our minds we wouldn't get pushed around," Michigan forward Thad Garner said Monday night after the Wolverines had defeated the Miners 75-64 in a second-round game of the National Invitation Tournament.

The Texas-El Paso front line of 6-foot-7 Roshern Amie, 6-9 Terry White and 6-7 Anthony Burns was an average three inches taller per man than the Wolverines.

But the Miners, who were stranded nearly six hours in a Chicago airport while trying to get here, were sluggish while Michigan played like a well-oiled machine with crisp passing and alert defense.

With 6-5 junior forward Mike McGee hitting for a game-high 25 points, the Wolverines took command late in the first half and led the rest of the way, although the Miners once pulled to within three points in the second half.
