1967 Cotton Program Details are Released

Details of the 1967 cotton program, along with the price support and diversion rates, and other information was released this week by the Department of Agriculture.

The program will follow closely the program used this year on the 1966 crop, according to Millard Brown, office manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

As in past years, the program must be approved by the referendum now under way, in which two-thirds of the cotton farmers voting must approve cotton marketing quotas before the essential features of the program can go into effect.

The 1967 program is voluntary. Those taking part, "co-operators" agree to divert at least 12.5 percent of their effective cotton allotment into soil conserving uses and for this they will receive price support loans and payments and acreage diversion payments.

The loan rate for individual qualities will be based on the national average loan rate of 20.25 cents per pound for middling 1-inch cotton at average location. The minimum CCC sales price for middling 1-inch cotton will continue at the 1966 level, about 22 cents a pound.

It is expected that the average market price next year will be 22.5 cents, about the same as this year. Carrying charges will be added and will be about the same as those this year also.

The loan rate will continue "one-price" cotton at around world price levels.

The price-support payment rate of 11.53 cents per pound is a payment made in addition to the price support loan available to cooperating producers. This rate compares with 9.42

Christmas Program

Dodson Will Crown Queens Friday Night

Dodson Schools will crown three queens Friday evening, Dec. 9, in a coronation program that will be followed by a Christmas play.

The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will be given in the school auditorium, according to Lloyd Patterson, superintendent.

The three queens to be chosen, representing the elementary, junior and senior high school levels, will not be identified until the time of the coronation.

"Wonderland by Night" is the coronation theme and Glenda Hightower will sing the theme song. Special music will be by the school chorus, singing "The Happy Wanderer," "Green-sleeves" and "Thanksgiving Prayer." John Masten will be the master of ceremonies.

Nominees for queen are: first and second grade, Nancy Vann, escorted by Harold Norman; third and fourth grades, Nancy Teutsch, escorted by Kim Tabor; fifth and sixth grades, Gayle Level and Pat Gulley; seventh and eighth grades, Jean Leamon and Randy Motenbocker; ninth and tenth, Linda Lemons and Kenneth Derrick; juniors and seniors, LaVanda Curry and Danny Lewis.

Following the coronation there will be an interlude of music by ensembles from the chorus. The students will then present "A Twentieth Century Scrooge." John Hightower portrays the husband, who, because the children are grown and away from home, wants no celebration of Christmas. His wife, played by Clarice Green, wants Christmas with all the trappings.

Children from the different grades will appear as caroling groups and as they sing, the husband slowly changes his mind.

The public is invited to attend this entertainment.

46 File for Agreements on Crop Program

During the first day of the sign-up in the 1967 Cropland Adjustment program on Dec. 1, there were 46 farmers filing requests for agreements in the amount of $90,343.15, calling for the diversion of about 7,743.2 acres of cropland, John Carson, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, has announced.

The county has been initially allocated $28,658 for the 1967 program. Interest has been much greater in the first few days of the sign-up than was shown last year. The program is directed toward diverting acreages of certain crops in plentiful supply into some long-term conservation of public use.

CAP adjustment payment rates for designated crops are related to the value of crops normally produced on the land and the productivity of the acreage put in the program.

Salvation Army Opens Fund Drive December 15

Plans will be completed this week for the first Salvation Army fund campaign, which will be conducted in Collingsworth County during the week of Dec. 15. Henry Sullivan is the chairman.

The kick-off will be at 9:30 a.m. at a coffee at Cherokee Inn Restaurant on the opening day, Thursday, Dec. 15.

The campaign goal is $1350. Assisting Mr. Sullivan with solicitation will be approximately 55 volunteers who will make personal contacts throughout the county.

Part of the funds contributed will remain here to be used by the local Salvation Army Service Unit Committee to assist both local and transient men, women and children on an emergency basis.

There will be no duplication of help, as the Service Unit Committee assists in areas where other agencies do not function, it was pointed out. There is no red tape as the local committee has full authority to act when a need is present.

A portion of the funds will help support the state services of the Salvation Army, which are also available to Collingsworth County through the committee. Some of these are home and hospital for unwed mothers, missing persons bureau, major disaster relief, summer camp for boys, which two county boys will be eligible to attend in June, and many others.

The local committee is made up of the Rev. Verrell D. Leeper, chairman; Mrs. Murray Dodson, vice chairman; Billy Moseley, treasurer; and the Rev. Ronald Crosley, Howard Holton, Sheriff John Rainey, Police Chief Donald Nunneley, C. A. Crawford, Buster Hughes, and Herbert Bearden.

Mr. Sullivan said that anyone not contacted but who wishes to contribute may mail a check to Billy Moseley at the City State Bank in Wellington.

Leader Will Publish Letters to Santa Claus Again This Year

Children of the Wellington area are reminded that The Wellington Leader will once again serve as the mailing agent for Letters to Santa Claus.

The letters will be published in The Leader and then the original letters will be mailed to Santa Claus at the North Pole where they will arrive well before he starts his long journey south with his reindeer.

So all the little boys and girls are invited to get busy today and write to Santa Claus and tell him what you want for yourself and for anybody else you would like to mention. But remember—write the letter now.

Wellington Teams No. 1

Plans Complete for Strong Norwood Tourney

Some of the strongest teams in the Eastern Panhandle will compete in the Samnorwood basketball tournament this week end, especially in the boys division, Coach Loyd Stephens said this week.

The tournament opens Thursday morning, Dec. 8, and will end with the championship games Saturday night. Both boys and girls brackets will be played, and indications are this will be one of the best of these annual tournaments Samnorwood has produced.

Ten trophies are on display at Norwood this week and these will go to first, second, third, consolation and sports-manship winners in each division.

In the boys division, Wellington is seeded No. 1 and Shamrock No. 2. Shamrock boys took consolation honors in their own tournament last week after losing to Memphis in the first game. Memphis went on to take championship honors with a win over McLean. All of these teams will be in the Norwood tournament, plus Quail who defeated Memphis in a game recently. Wheeler, Lakeview and Samnorwood round out the boys division.

The girls division is headed by Wellington, the No. 1 seed. The Rockettes recently lost a close game to Shamrock, seeded No. 2, in Shamrock.

Other teams in the girls bracket will be Memphis, Lakeview, Wheeler, McLean, Samnorwood and Quail.

Officials will be Kent Pence, Earl Tankersly, Kenneth Moore and Bob Hawkins of Hollis.

Play will begin at 9 a.m. Thursday when Wellington and Quail girls meet. Other first round games, all Thursday, will be Wellington boys vs McLean, 10:30 a.m.; Samnorwood vs McLean girls, 12:30 p.m.;

Memphis vs. Lakeview boys at 2 p.m.; Wheeler vs. Memphis girls, 3:30 p.m.; Shamrock vs. Wheeler boys, 5:30 p.m.; Shamrock vs. Lakeview girls, 7 p.m.; and Samnorwood

Former County Preacher Honored at Lawton

From The Lawton (Okla.) Constitution

You don't see many men these days like Rev. C. W. Squyres, Sr. The spare and crusty old gent takes a firm grip on his suspenders, looks you in the eye, and, with a twinkle in his own eyes, says what he believes.

"I don't like that 'reverend,'" he says. "It isn't scriptural. Neither is 'doctor.' I prefer 'Brother.'"

Brother Squyres, retired after being pastor of 26 different Baptist churches during a period of 50 years, will be 84 years old Christmas Day.

He and Mrs. Squyres observed their 64th wedding anniversary Oct. 15, 1966. He rides a bicycle all over Lawton, and works a garden in his backyard at 902 F. Gray-haired and ruddy-complexioned, he has never smoked, never drunk a glass of beer.

"And I don't like for people to throw beer cans on my lawn, either," he says. "I may have cursed some, but not when my old daddy could hear it."

Some days, when the wind is high, "it takes too much gas" for his bicycle, and he walks instead.

His oldest living son will inherit a big family Bible which belonged to his paternal grandfather in 1858.

"I don't know which son will get the Bible," he smiles. "I'm a better man than any of my boys."

In these days, when minority views and actions are considered suspect or even dangerous, Bro. Squyres still stands up, and sits down, too, for exactly what he believes.

He and Mrs. Squyres are members of Immanuel Baptist Church in Lawton, Okla.

"Nowadays, when an invitation to join the church is given, the people bow their heads and close their eyes. That's some of this new psychology to make things cozy. I don't close my eyes. If a man is going to join the church, he ought to have courage to walk down the aisle while other men are looking."

"Tithing isn't scriptural, either."

"I don't like anything in the way of formality. Nowadays, when the choir walks in, the people in the congregation jump up and stand. Everybody except me, that it . . ."

He "farmed for a living, and preached for the good of the soul."

Mrs. Squyres used to take care of the pigs and chickens at home, and he'd go by horse and buggy on Saturday to preach at a country church, and come back home on Monday. Sometimes he'd find a ham, donated by somebody, under his buggy seat. Often, his salary was food rather than money.

In this area he was pastor of churches at Quail, Lillie, Rolla, Lone Mound, New Hope, Aberdeen, Lutie, Shinnery, Locust Grove and Arlie. He also pastored a number of churches in Oklahoma.

He has no idea how many people he baptized.

He's not sure how many grandchildren and great grandchildren he has, either. "The population changes every day," he chuckles.

His children figured it up. There are 41 grandchildren, 74 great grandchildren and one great great grandchild. He and Mrs. Squyres had seven sons and six daughters. Three sons became preachers. None of the children was divorced. There are 12 of the 116 living descendants living in Collingsworth County. They include: A daughter, Mrs. Pearl Gollighugh, of Quail; three grandsons, W. A. Gollighugh, Jr., Paul Gollighugh of Quail and Larry Gollighugh of Wellington; two granddaughters, Mrs. W. F. Howard, Jr. of Quail and Mrs. Eugene Vernon of Wellington; six great grandchildren, Bill, Kelly and Dennis Howard of Quail; Darryl Vernon of Wellington, and Cynthia and Rhonda Gollighugh, also of Wellington.

The living children include Rev. Alvin of Riverside, Calif.; Mrs. Pearl Gollighugh, Quail; Rev. Dewey, Riverside, Calif.; Mrs. Jewel Barnett of Burkett, Texas; Mrs. Naomi Littlefield of Lawton, Okla.; C. W. Jr., (Buck) of Lawton; Marvin, of Tacoma, Wash.; Dale, of Lawton; and Mrs. Wilma Alexander of Enid, Okla.

Mrs. Squyres was born Helena LeEtta Badgett on April 27, 1886 in Gonzales County, Texas. He was born Dec. 25, 1882 in De Witt County. When they were youngsters, he used to spend Sunday afternoons sitting on her front porch. Sunday evenings, they'd walk together through the fields to the old Hebron church. They were married, too, in De Witt County.

Bro. Squyres was talking about some of the changes in churches and in American life:

"The preacher used to know the people, visit in their homes. Now the preacher can't find anybody at home . . ."

"When I was a boy, we knelt when we prayed. But the position of the body doesn't matter, but the condition of the soul."

He likes to quote Hambone, the old cartoon character, who once said that preachers used to preach Christ and Him crucified, but now the preach money and him multiplied.

"I believe what the Baptists preach, but I don't like some of the things we practice," Bro. Squyres says.

"When I was a kid, if you got drunk and caroused around we turned 'em out of the church. Nowadays, if you've got a pretty good pocketbook, you stay in . . ."

"I think we are living in the last days . . . the scripture says they shall become lovers of pleasure more than God . . ."

East Panhandle Cotton Harvest On Increase

As cotton harvesting and ginning accelerated during the last week, the quality of Eastern Panhandle cotton classed was lower, except the staple length improved over the previous week, according to the USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service in Memphis.

K. E. Voelkel, in charge of the Cotton Division's classing office stated that the sample receipts during the week held steady at about 4,000 samples per day. The seven classers assigned to this seasonal office classed 24,000 samples during the week ending Thursday, Dec. 1. This brought the total for the season to 51,000 compared with 41,000 samples as of the same date a year ago. It was estimated that the 57 gins in this 12 county area were well over 50 percent completed. Last season nearly 200,000 samples were classed in this office.

The grades last week were of lower quality compared with samples classed the previous week, mainly because of the damage done to the immature cotton by the hard freeze in early November, and the method of harvesting. Based on samples classed during the week. White grades decreased from 6 to 3 percent, and Light Spotted decreased from 63 to 50 percent. However, Spotted grades increased from 29 to 40 percent, and Tinged grades increased from 2 to 7 percent. Cotton reduced in grade because of Bark increased from 4 to 8 percent. The predominant grade of the week was Strict Low Middling Light Spotted with 28 percent.

The staple length showed improvement over that of the previous week. The chief length continued to be 15/16 inch with 75 percent. Other lengths were distributed as follows: 29/32 inch, 5 percent; 31/32 inch, 17 percent; and 1 inch, 3 percent.

The micronaire readings that reflect the fineness and maturity of the fiber, were lower than the week earlier, due primarily to the increased harvesting of cotton affected by the hard freeze of Nov. 2. Nearly 2/3 or 64 percent of the cotton classed this week read 3.4 and below. The 20 points premium range of 3.5 to 4.9 made up 36 percent of the classing .

Pressley strength tests conducted in cooperation with the Cotton Research Committee of Texas, reflected weaker fiber than the week before. 24 percent tested 80,000 pounds per square inch and above compared with 35 percent the previous week. Other groupings were: 75,000 - 79,000, 33 percent; 70,000 - 74,000, 25 percent; and 69,000 and below, 18 percent.

Cotton was selling more freely this week. Purchases included mike readings of 3.4 and less, which was not the case the week earlier. The average prices for qualities moving into trade channels, with mike readings of 3.5-4.9 were: Middling Light Spotted, 15/16-18.45; Strict Low Middling Light Spotted, 15/16-17.75; and Middling Spotted, 15/16-17.50. The low mike reading cotton brought from 5 to 55 points over loan rates.

Cottonseed prices continued to range from $63 to $67 per ton at gin points.

GI Students Should Check Forms Filed

Most veterans who are attending school under the new GI Bill have received their first checks, but if you're one who did not and fail to receive your check due this week, it's possible you failed to do your homework, the VA told veteran students this week. VA Regional office manager, Jack Coker, urged those students who fail to receive checks due this week to:

1. Make sure that the notice of enrollment, which must be filled out and mailed by the school, has been sent to the VA by the school.

2. Make sure the certificate of attendance, which the veteran must fill out and send to the VA, has been mailed.

3. If there is any question about payment, contact the nearest VA office. The VA pointed out that it was not necessary for the veteran student attending college to send in his certificate of attendance for the first month since VA accepted the college's notice of enrollment as basis for paying the first check.

However, the VA emphasized, all subsequent checks will be withheld until the student's own certificate of attendance is received. VA officials, recalling past experience with the GI educational programs of World War II and the Korean Conflict, pointed out that a "shakedown period" was necessary before payment machinery was functioning smoothly.

It is possible that a few checks have been relayed by administrative or machine errors, but it is anticipated that these will be limited, according to the VA. Failure to receive checks can be blamed mostly on the delay in receiving the necessary certificates, it was pointed out.

The veteran student must send in the certificate of attendance this month. VA Manager Jack Coker urged students who have any misunderstanding, or who have had checks delayed, to contact the nearest VA office so that problems may be cleared up.

Hospital Auxiliary Launches Membership, Blood Bank Drive

St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary will meet Friday, December 9 at 9:30 a.m. in the staff room of the hospital to launch one of the major projects for this year—membership recruitment.

Mrs. Jeff Wilson, president, invited all women interested in Auxiliary membership to attend.

Membership is open to all women throughout the Wellington trade area, and it offers an avenue for service that will benefit not only the Auxiliary and the hospital, but the community as well, Mrs. Wilson pointed out.

She outlined the work of St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary.

Through its 28-year history, the organization has channeled much of its work into buying needed items for the hospital.

In addition to membership enlargement, the Auxiliary this year will work with the Red Cross Blood Bank, which is being sought for the hospital. This will be discussed Friday and plans will be made for upcoming work, Mrs. Wilson indicated.

The Auxiliary meets only once each month, on the second Friday at 9:30 a.m., the president reminded. While all members of the organization will work, volunteer service on the hospital itself is not compulsory, but it is arranged for those who wish it.

Another project of the Auxiliary is sponsorship of the Junior Hospital Auxiliary, headed this year by Becky Brewer.

Officers working with Mrs. Wilson are Mrs. Joe Thompson, vice president; Mrs. James Stavenhagen, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Donald Nunnelle, historian.

Farm Property Continues to Increase Value

COLLEGE STATION. — The upward trend of farm property values continues to increase the assets of Texas farmers. Boyd Andrews, Texas A&M University Extension resource development specialist, says farm property prices increased an average of 17 percent from 1963 to 1965.

Andrews obtained his information from a study conducted last summer. Data were gathered from a 26-county sample which included counties from each of the state's 17 type-of-farming areas.

Only bona fide sales of 20 or more acres, outside of any city limits and recorded on warranty deeds were studied. Andrews limited his study to exchanges for husbandry purposes.

Per-acre land values in the irrigated farming areas of the lower and upper Rio Grande Valley and southern High Plains seem to be closely correlated to agricultural production and net farm income. But this dependence on agricultural conditions was not evident in other sections of the state, he noted.

Factors external to agriculture seemed to have a great influence on land values in other sections, Andrews said. Prices have steadily increased unlike the fluctuations noted in the Rio Grande Valley and the southern High Plains.

The specialist said the closeness and adequacy of recreation, hobby type of farming, speculation, investment, and scenic beauty have strongly influenced values in other parts of the state. These influences are important because of the population centers located within the areas. Improved transportation facilities, higher incomes and increased leisure time among area residents.

The future importance of city effect is pointed up by the fact that 15 percent of the buyers in the study lived in Harris, Dallas, Tarrant and Taylor Counties.

In East Texas the upward trend was aggravated by the purchasing of a half million acres of land for reservoirs. The displaced land owners desired to stay in the area. They entered the market for land, contributing further pressure to the demand for acreage in that area, Andrews said.

Retiree Housing Planned by A&M

COLLEGE STATION. — Statistics suggest that many aged individuals and couples are spending hard-earned retirement years in oversized, inadequate and deteriorating housing, says Mrs. Jane Berry, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist at Texas A&M University. Much of the inadequate rural housing in our country is owned and occupied by the elderly.

Housing specialists in the U.S. Department of Agriculture have developed plans for two homes that are ideal for retirees. Both plans have been specially designed for retired farm couples who want to stay on the farm, and yet do not want to live in a large, old farmhouse.

Each of the specially designed plans contain safety features to prevent accidents caused by poor vision, lack of balance, and an unsteady hand. Storage shelves in kitchen, bath and other areas are within easy reach; and doorways are wide enough to accommodate wheelchairs. Bathrooms in both plans are large enough to permit one person to help another without severe crowding or bumping into fixtures.

While designed for the rural retiring couple, the compact and convenient homes would be equally suitable for the suburban retiree.

Gun Peril Cited for Hunt Fans

AUSTIN. — Scores of hunting trips are marred every year in Texas by shooting accidents, many of them fatal, grimly reminds the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

In a pre-dove season opener plea, the Department reminded that since the oldest causes are the most common causes of field tragedies, they are being repeated:

Removing a loaded gun muzzle first from a vehicle.

Crawling through or over a fence with a loaded gun.

Failing to notice that dirt or foreign substance blocks gun barrel.

Jumping up in front of a companion into the line of fire.

Dropping a loaded gun.

Pointing a loaded gun at another person.

And, of course, "I didn't know it was loaded."

Besides being careful with firearms, hunters, according to the Department, should operate cautiously in hot weather.

This is because of the general utilization of air conditioning that provides a serious contrasting temperature hazard, particularly for persons not in the best of health.

Drilling Mud Used in Wells

Oilmen use specially concocted liquid known as drilling mud while they bore through the earth's subsoil.

This mud flushes to the surface the rock chips loosened by the rotating drill bit.

Cotton Makes Its First Cut Into the Use of Man-Made Fiber

What may be the beginning of a reversal in cotton's losing fight with the synthetics is making its appearance.

Donald Johnson, executive vice president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., has noted that domestic textile mills are devoting an increasing number of cotton-system spindles exclusively to cotton.

Another sign of cotton's strengthening position in competition to man-made staple fibers, according to Johnson, is the recent breakdown of the blend levels imposed by the major producers of polyester.

Producers of man-made fibers have long insisted that manufacturers use no less than a 50-50 blend with cotton, and the most popular blend in the huge shirting market has been 65 per cent polyester, 35 per cent cotton.

Now one of the major shirt companies has turned the percentage around, and blends with even smaller amounts of the man-made fiber appear to be on their way.

This is just the beginning, it is pointed out, but adequate money and brainpower for research and promotion can carry on what has already been proved, a bigger market for cotton.

AUSTIN.—New recommendations in the executive budget call for spending $11,600,000 on the state's water planning, development and administration activities during the next two years.

This is $6,700,000 more than the present level of $4,900,000 (a 137% increase).

Broken down by agencies the budget proposals for 1968-1969 call for:

—$7,500,000 for the Texas Water Development Board. ($3,500,000 more than the present budget of $4,000,000.)

—$2,400,000 to a separate, greatly-enlarged Water Pollution Control Board. (Presently spending $103,223.)

—$1,700,000 to the Water Rights Commission. (Now $792,987.)

These boards requested $9,400,000; $4,100,000; and $1,160,000 respectively.

Highlights of Gov. John Connally's recommendations include:

—Funds for increasing the staff of the Water Development Board to 245 employees (from 182). Also to expand services to implement the statewide water plan and "provide for continued state leadership in water resources planning and development."

—Establishment of the Water Pollution Control Board as a separate state agency with its own staff of 45. (It now has only four regular employees.)

—Enlargement of the Water Rights Commission staff from 48 to 63 and strengthening of its role in rights administration and determination.

—Adoption of a strong administrative water rights adjudication act.

—Financing a WPCB-River Authority cooperative water quality monitoring and surveillance program in metropolitan industrial areas ($375,000 a year) to help formulate beneficial water quality standards and enforce water quality permit conditions.

—Continuing supervision of Texas river compacts by the Water Rights Commission.

"These recommendations represent not a cost but an investment for the present and future benefit of all Texas," Connally said.

Salt Water Pit Ban Urged

A House salt water pollution control committee has asked the Railroad Commission for authority to issue a statewide ban on salt water disposal pits.

Commission has approved no-pit orders for 43 counties and isn't sure a statewide ban is necessary.

House committee also recommended a law against dumping of salt water on public roads or public land and licensing of salt water haulers and disposal operators.

Appointments

Charles R. Shulte, El Paso attorney, has been named by the governor as judge of 41st District Court of El Paso county to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Judge David E. Mulcahy.

George M. Cowden, state representative from Waco, will be the state's First Assistant Attorney General when Attorney General-elect Crawford Martin assumes office in January. Martin has announced. A special election will be held on Jan. 7 to choose Cowden's successor in the House.

J. Pat O'Keefe is moving from State Democratic Committee to the Texas Fine Arts Commission as executive director.

Texas Chamber of Commerce Association at its meeting here named Dolph Briscoe of Uvalde as its chairman; Jack Drake of Weslaco, secretary; and Fred Pool of Longview, treasurer.

Attorney General Speaks

County tax assessors cannot "back assess" houses for previous years when they were erroneously left off tax rolls, Attorney General Waggoner Carr held in a Houston controversy.

In other opinions, Carr ruled a motor fuel tax increase could not finance removal of billboards or screening of junkyards under the highway beautification act.

Also, a state agency can retain its own legal "house counsel" but official state attorneys must represent it in court.

Fair Trial-Free Press Committee Meets

A study committee made up of newsmen, lawyers and legislators agreed here that no legislation is needed to regulate crime and trial news coverage.

The fair trial-free press panel recommended self-discipline for press, radio and television to insure protection of constitutional rights of accused.

Six members of the committee endorsed a five-point statement of principles presented by Felix McKnight of the Dallas Times Herald. Statement advised voluntary restraint in publication of confessions, editorials which might influence a jury or a judge, testimony excluded from a jury, reference to past criminal records of the accused and statements of lawyers and officers concerning guilt or innocence prior to the trial.

Mixed Drink Campaign Forming

A large-scale, business-like campaign for legalization of mixed alcoholic beverages is shaping up quietly behind the scenes.

A House-based Citizens Committee is being organized with high-level membership in all areas. It already has an executive secretary and press agent.

San Antonio's HemisFair and Houston's competition for really big-time convention trade will add strength to the biennial campaign to convince the Legislature that liquor laws should be liberalized.

There is no indication that the dries have relaxed their opposition.

Models Unveiled

The University of Texas has unveiled its models of the Lyndon B. Johnson Library, together with an associated library and research building to house the Lyndon B. Johnson Institute of Public Affairs.

The complex, to cost $10,750,000 is to be built from income from the University's endowment fund made up of income from its oil lands. Included will be 100,000 square feet of space to house the LBJ papers during his political career. It will be turned over to the National Archives for operation.

A 19-acre hill, covering eight city blocks east of the main university campus, overlooking Memorial Stadium and the campus, will be the library center site.

Welfare Executive Dies

John H. Winters, one of the state's senior administrators, died last week following a long illness. The former Potter County Commissioner had headed the State Department of Public Welfare since 1943. He was 64.

Short Snorts

Legislative Budget Board will convene here Dec. 12 to look over spending proposals of its staff.

State Rep. Tom Holmes of Granbury proposes a cent-a-bottle tax on soft drinks (yield $25,000,000) to help finance a raise in teachers' pay.

Seasonally adjusted index of construction shows a drop of 16 percent from a year earlier for the fourth consecutive month. Total for October was $106,200,000 compared with $125,000,000 one year ago.

Annual meeting of the Texas Mosquito Control Association will be held here on Dec. 13-14.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McDermott of Dallas have been awarded the official Texas Award for Historical Preservation by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee for contributing money to renovate the old Gillespie County Courthouse at Fredericksburg.

More than 26,000 members of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs will co-sponsor the cultural resources inventory now being conducted by the State of Texas through its newly appointed Fine Arts Commission headed by John Ben Shepperd of Odessa.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where the high level people-managers are working on a plan to register all boys and girls at age 18 and put them under government orders for two years.

Some would go fight, some to college, some to the Peace Corps or other stooge hatchery, according to the whims of Federal Fate and balled-up bureaucrats.

And if this noble scheme had been thought up 100 years ago, so Thos. A. Edison could have been drafted to shoe horses or to dispense culture to under-advantaged savages, we might not now be afflicted with light bills and juke boxes.

Considerable high level deployment here lately because the voters this year hired some state and national government officials who didn't have any experience in officialing.

One public counselor says this is as stupid as hiring an amateur surgeon to take out your appendix.

But my odds expert neighbor says, after all, it's a better gamble to hire a man you don't know whether he can take out appendixes than one who has already proved he can't do the job to suit you.

News is that government expects soon to be giving out free birth control aids to millions of low-income mothers in the U.S.

And while some say this is connivance to exterminate the poor, it could be that folks who can pay for their own Pills are behind this move, trying to keep from getting outnumbered.

My taxed-poor neighbor says he reckons it would be asking too much of Science to demand a selective Pill, that would keep so many bureaucrats from getting born, but not curtail the supply of taxpayers.

VOTE YES ON COTTON RESEARCH AND PROMOTION DEC. 5-9

Because:

- Higher-priced synthetics are taking our markets — over 2 million bales in the last 2 years.
- New synthetic fiber plants are scheduled; additional manufacturing capacity equal to another 3.5 million bales of cotton by end of 1967.
- Carryover is at all-time high; acreage lowest since 1872.
- 1966 acreage cut averaged 30%; further cuts will come unless carryover is reduced.
- Research odds (5 to 1) and promotion odds (16 to 1) must be reduced if cotton is to survive.
- Farmers originated research and promotion proposal; farmers will run it.
- Plan is voluntary; any farmer not wishing to participate can get a refund.
- 42 cotton producer organizations have endorsed this approach —officially.
- All projects must be initiated and administered by producer trustees elected by cotton producer organizations.
- If we want to keep on growing cotton, we must sell more cotton.
- Most farmers put nearly $100 or more into growing, harvesting, and ginning a bale; can you afford not to spend $1 to sell a bale?

Wellington Teams Add 4 in Winning Streak

The Wellington Skyrockets and Rockettes kept their winning streak going, first defeating Samnorwood Eagles and Eaglettes in a double header, then emerging victorious over the Hedley boys and girls.

It was the first meeting of the year between these teams.

Rockettes-Eaglettes

The Wellington and Samnorwood girls had their first meeting Tuesday, Nov. 29 on the Wellington court and the Rockettes came away with a 44-23 victory. Norwood was hampered by the loss of their star forward, Susie Bentley, during the game. She received a leg injury six weeks ago and although she is playing some, she is not back to full strength.

The game started as a fairly even contest, but Wellington girls got moving and took advantage of Norwood mistakes and built up a 5-point lead in the first quarter. This was increased to 9 by the half, then in the third the Rockettes widened the margin to 21.

The Eaglettes, on the other hand, are a much better team than their score indicated.

Mary Lou Holton led the scoring for Wellington with 15 points and Nancy Holton had 14.

Odessa Stice was Norwood's top point-maker with 9, and Karen Waters had 8.

Starting for Wellington were Mary Lou Holton, Nancy Holton and Vickie Bergvall, forwards; Becky Brewer, Regina Ferguson and Cheryl Needham, guards.

Norwood starters were Suzie Bentley, Brenda Coleman and Karen Waters, forwards; Judy Martindale, Billie Purkey and Betty Coleman, guards.

Rockettes-Hedley Girls

Playing at Hedley Friday, Dec. 2, the Wellington and Hedley girls played a low scoring game with the Rockettes victorious 36 to 28. This was one of those nights when both teams had considerable difficulty hitting the basket. It was a hard-played and clean game, without much fouling on either side. Wellington girls hit about 24 percent of their field goals and 6 out of 13 free shots.

Mary Lou Holton with 15 and Nancy Holton with 13 again led Wellington scoring. Hedley's team was led by Lorene Ward, with 15, and Loretta Hill with 8.

Rockets-Eagles

In a truly offensive game Tuesday, Nov. 29, Wellington boys defeated Samnorwood 80 to 44. Wellington jumped out in front and continued to build their lead until the final gun sounded.

Both teams made a good percentage of their shots, and the spread of points came because of the numerous ball handling mistakes of the Eagles, Coach James Stavenhagen said.

The Rockets did a good job on the board and were able to take advantage of height and jumping ability.

With the size and ability of the Eagles, Wellington is looking for a tougher game in the second meeting of the two.

Andy Henard with 20 points led Wellington's scoring, while Sandy Covey had 13 and Jimmy Barber 12. Danny Tate made 14 for Samnorwood and Nelson Dwyer added 9.

Starting for Wellington were Steve Trapp, Henard, Mike Smith, Barber and Covey. The Norwood starters were Acie Boyd, Paul Clark, Tate, Dwyer and Ron Wormack.

Rockets-Hedley Boys

"Hedley boys are a real good hustling ball club and we had to play a good game to beat them," Coach James Stavenhagen declared of one of the more interesting games of this season.

Wellington took the game 61 to 40.

Play started with Wellington rattling the Hedley boys and jumping out to a 10-2 lead. They continued to hold this lead and built to it through the entire game, although once or twice the score became close.

The Rockets pressed during the entire game and their big lead came right after the half. Some of the younger boys on the Rocket team played during the final period.

Jimmy Barber's 16 points were high for Wellington, and Andy Henard hit 12. M. Chessler led Hedley's scoring with 15 and David Spier made 12.

All Wellington boys played — Trapp, Henard, Mike Smith, James Smith, Barber, Kent Clark, Gary Killian, Alfred Allred, Paul Jones, Marvin Roland, Doyle Stewart, Harold Jones, Sandy Covey, Bowden Jones and Calvin Culpepper.

OCS Requests Now Taken From HS Graduates

High school graduates now have the same opportunity as college graduates to apply for Army Officer Candidate School (OCS) while processing at any U.S. Army reception station. Previously high school graduates had to wait until basic training before applying for OCS.

After a successful test period in the Third U.S. Army area, the new program was inaugurated on Nov. 14 throughout the entire U.S. Continental Army Command, which includes Fourth Army's two reception stations at Fort Polk, La., and Fort Bliss, Tex.

Personnel entering the reception stations, as part of the routine testing and classification, are given the General Aptitude Technical Test (GT) and the Officer Candidate Test (OCT). If high school graduates or above achieve the necessary scores they are given the Officer Leadership Inventory Exam (OLI-I) and subsequently interviewed by the reception station's OCS procurement officer.

The interview by this commissioned officer is to determine the eligible applicant's motivation, suitability and willingness to volunteer for OCS. Once an individual volunteers, he begins instruction that runs through basic and advanced training and culminates with a commission as a second lieutenant after satisfactorily completing a rigorous 23-week OCS course. Normally it takes a little under a year for the entire period of training to be completed. Upon commissioning under this system, a person must agree to remain on active duty for a period of two years.

This new program, Fourth

Army officials pointed out, will increase greatly the number of OCS applicants in this area and will assist materially in the overall officer corps expansion during the forthcoming year.

With the new program in effect, Fourth Army expects to exceed its OCS objective set by the Continental Army Command for the fifth consecutive month. By obtaining 653 qualified applicants in October, the Fourth Army achieved 120 percent of its quota. Installations making or exceeding their quotas were Fort Polk, 120 percent; Fort Bliss, 114 percent, and Fort Hood, Tex., and Fort Sill, Okla., 100 percent.

The U.S. Army plans to enroll some 41,957 men in OCS during the current fiscal year.

SECURITY SAFEGUARDS NEEDED

The damage wrought by the U. S. Supreme Court to our internal security laws is dramatically shown by J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, in his report to Congress on the 18th national convention of the Communist Party U.S.A. In the report, Mr. Hoover quotes Gus Hall whom he identifies as the "ex-criminal, Moscow-trained head of the U. S. Communist Party," as boasting that "the scheduling of the 1966 national convention had been made possible by a recent Supreme Court decision which had overthrown the provisions of a 'Federal law' which, in effect, had kept the Party underground."

The U. S. Supreme Court, in fact, has, in a series of decisions, practically destroyed the Smith Act and other internal security laws designed by Congress to safeguard our nation against internal Communist activities. And in the present national atmosphere, created in substantial degree by Communist propaganda and shrewd communications manipulations, only a widespread expression of knowledgeable public opinion could rearm us with protective measures. Congress, at the moment, is not taking the initiative to repair the damage. But there are some encouraging developments.

Bar Association Recommends

At the instigation of patriotic members of the American Bar Association, the Internal Security Sub-committee of the Senate Judiciary Committee has been hearing testimony on the need. One of the witnesses representing the Bar Association was Lloyd Wright, of Los Angeles, former national president of the Association and former chairman of the Commission on Government Security. Another was Denison Kitchel, president of the Free Society Association, also a distinguished member of the American bar.

Both of these well-informed American thought-leaders recommend an immediate reconstruction by Congress of internal security safeguards at the Federal level and the wiping out of the effect of Supreme Court decisions relating to subversion. The key-stone recommendation is for establishment of a "Central Security Office" which would concern itself with subversive activities within the Government as well as the internal security of the nation.

Recommended for Consideration

Senator James O. Eastland is chairman of both the Judiciary Committee and the Internal Security Sub-committee. In this capacity he would sponsor, with the support of the majority of the Sub-committee, any legislation designed to re-build our internal security safeguards. Here are the steps recommended to the Sub-committee by Lloyd Wright:

1. Adoption of the Wright Report (of the Commission on Government Security, filed and laid aside by Congress in 1957) and particularly the recommendation of a centralized security office.

2. A halt to talk of impeaching a member of the Supreme Court. ("The time to stop one who is not qualified," Mr. Wright observes, "is before he is on the Bench. You cannot impeach a man because the quality of his work is found wanting.")

Requiring 6-Judge Agreement

3. Continuation of present appellate jurisdiction of the Supreme Court.

4. Since so many "of our decisions in the highest Court have the effect of amending the Constitution, the legislative branch of Government, in which is reposed the full authority to determine the appellate jurisdiction of the Supreme Court, should by appropriate legislation provide that no decision which has the effect of passing upon the Constitution of the United States or of a State shall be valid and enforceable unless the same ratio of judges sign the prevailing conclusion as is necessary to obtain for the passage of a Constitutional amendment for submission to the several States—two-thirds. (Most of the security-destroying decisions have been by 5 to 4 decisions.)

5. That Congress repass the various legislative acts heretofore struck down, particularly those dealing with security, and reinstitute the protection that the people have demanded against the insidious attacks of the Communists and Fabians.

6. That Congress create a Commission of practicing lawyers, to examine the provisions of the Fifth Amendment.

7. New legislation requiring each member of a Communist organization to register.

8. Legislation requiring fingerprinting of all applicants for passports and visas, with members of Communist organizations refused passports.

9. Legislation precluding the granting of money to a university employing known Communists and failing to require a loyal oath.

I'm sure Senator Eastland would welcome citizen comment on these recommendations.

Fire Destroys Chair Sunday

Firemen were called to 106 Firemen Street at 12:29 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 4 to put out a blaze that started in an overstuffed chair.

It had been pulled from the house by the time firemen arrived, and they put out the blaze, according to Police Chief Donald Nunnelley.

He said it had not been determined if the fire started from a cigarette or from being too near a lighted stove. The Gilbert Estrada family is listed as occupying the house.

Amelia Goodrow Pledges STD

Pledges were initiated and a newly-elected slate of officers was installed at the monthly meeting of Sigma Tau Delta, honorary society on English at West Texas State University in Canyon.

One of the pledges was Amelia Morgan Goodrow, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Morgan of Wellington.

Her husband, Bruce Goodrow, was initiated into Beta Beta Beta, international biological society at West Texas State also. Membership is granted to undergraduates with high scholastic averages in both biology and overall university work.

Cars Damaged in Accident

Two cars, one being pushed by the other, crashed through the fence into a field at the north end of West Avenue about 8 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 4, Police Chief Donald Nunnelley reported.

He said that a 1956 Chevrolet driven by Juan Jimenez, was pushing the 1959 Chevrolet with Ezekial Reynolds at the wheel. They failed to stop in time and both went through the fence, then left the scene, the Police Chief added.

Both men were filed on in Justice Court Monday morning for leaving the scene of an accident and appearance of intoxication, according to Mr. Nunnelley.

Damage to both cars was estimated at around $300 and to the fence, owned by Cal Sugg, at approximately $40 to $50, Chief Nunnelley reported. Neither driver was reported as injured.

December 9 Deadline on Cotton Research Vote

Producers of upland cotton have received two ballots to be marked and mailed to the ASCS County Office during the period Dec. 5 through the 9th, John W. Carson, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee said.

One ballot is on marketing quotas for the 1967 upland cotton crop, the chairman explained, and the other is to determine whether a research and promotion order should be issued for upland cotton. The two ballots are entirely separate, although the mail referendums are being held at the same time.

Mr. Carson pointed out that officials of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service have recently announced the following determinations regarding the vote on the proposed research and promotion program.

Producers who shared in the 1966 upland cotton crop or its proceeds are eligible to vote in the referendum; where no cotton was planted in 1966 on an allotment farm only the owner and the operator may vote. Each producer is entitled to only one "yes" or "no" vote.

Approval by two-thirds of the producers voting, or by a majority of producers voting if that majority accounts for two-thirds of the cotton represented in the referendum, is necessary if the order is to become effective.

If it is necessary to calculate the volume of production by voters to determine the outcome of the referendum, ASCS county officials will make this calculation on the basis of their records of 1966 planted acreage and projected lint yield per acre for each farm.

A farmer with additional production in a county or state other than the county in which he is eligible to vote must establish that interest with his ASCS county office prior to the closing of the referendum on Dec. 9 in order for that production to be considered.

C&MS officials explain that the proposed cotton research and promotion program, authorized by new legislation, would be administered by a Cotton Board composed of members nominated by cotton producing organizations and selected by the Secretary of Agriculture.

The program would be financed through assessments of $1 per bale from upland cotton producers, to be collected by cotton handlers designated by the Cotton Board. Collections from any producer who did not wish to contribute would be refunded upon written application. Assessment would start at the beginning of the ginning season for the 1967 crop.

Helmers Attends Plant Workshop

County Agent Sammy Helmers will attend a workshop in plant pathology at Texas A&M University from Monday, Dec. 5 through Friday, Dec. 9.

This short course will cover much of interest to farmers in this area, including smut and rust in grain and grain sorghums, rust, nematodes, mildews and other plant diseases. Detection of damage and control measures will be included in the study. Attention will be given also to fungicides, nematocides and bactericides.

The short course is limited to 24 county agricultural agents, assistant and associate agents. Eighteen members of the teaching staff will include the heads and assistants in departments at A&M, along with area Extension plant pathologists and others associated with the Texas A&M staff.

Singing their own praises is the only way some people ever hear them.

Check Need for Fertilizer Use With 1967 Crop

By Sam Helmers
More and more farmers are asking about fertilizer usage in 1967.

In arriving at an answer to this question, the fertility level of the soil and the expected yield must be considered.

An expression of the fertility level is not a simple single index since any combination of nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium levels can exist. Soil tests should be made to determine the level of major plant nutrients and fertilization practices for the soil and crop should be adjusted according to the soil levels.

The chances of making a high and profitable yield are poor without a fertilization program adapted to the soil level and production requirement. In arriving at an expected yield, many production management and climatic factors should be evaluated. Past yields and the influence of management practices should receive due consideration in arriving at a realistic production goal.

Moisture may be the major limitation in many areas. Available moisture already in the soil, that to be supplied by irrigation, and the estimated rainfall will need careful attention. However, where moisture and fertility are limiting, fertilization is still profitable. Adequate fertilization aids in the development of a better root system which helps the plant make more effective use of the available moisture.

Adequate fertilization should not be overlooked as a means of reducing per unit production costs and increasing profit. With a realistic yield goal and sufficient information on management, soil tests are a reliable guide for fertilization practices.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Representatives from Collingsworth are expected to attend the district meeting of the Panhandle Economic Program which will be held in Memphis at the Community Building this Thursday afternoon. The study concerns means of increasing the prosperity of the various communities in the Panhandle with special emphasis on agriculture.

Took a stroll around the square after dark the other evening and later a leisurely drive. I am proud of the displays in the various business firms of Wellington. They are well arranged and are colorful and interesting. It is not easy to estimate the advertising value of attractive displays or how much selling a well executed and effective window will do; but it is tremendous. Such displays promote the spirit of Christmas in more ways than one.

People who decry commercialism at this holiday season do not impress me greatly; for it is part of our American way. The season could be a dull one indeed if all the frills and non-essentials were eliminated from the stores and the homes. And that brings up another trip you might take that will give you considerable satisfaction. The decorations on the lawns and homes are going up and they make a lovely sight.

Age has a way of taking the magic out of many occasions we enjoy and remember and treasure at various stages of life; but the quiet charm of Christmas is welcomed by the old and middle-aged just as it is by the children for the excitement and happiness of the young has an intangible quality that spreads through the whole household.

It is time for the children to get their letters to Santa Claus in the mail and it is time for the late shoppers to start. There are only 14 shopping days left before Christmas.

The other evening Mrs. Paul Spillman walked out in the moonlight to take some garbage to the trash barrel. Glancing down she noticed a skunk sedately approaching the barrel. Needless to say she made her way back to the kitchen as quietly and as quickly as possible.

These cute but malodorous animals are feared because of their scent; but the greatest danger from skunks is rabies. The incidence of rabies is higher among skunks than any other wild animal, with foxes, bats and raccoons in that order. It is said that moth balls will get them from under a house if they take up residence.

lahoma state line and immediately east of the Salton salt beds.

The Jonah and Salt Creek projects would lie in Childress and Hall counties, but the brine reservoir would extend northward into Collingsworth county, as nearly as can be determined here.

The Corps of Engineers estimates the control efforts would cut 80 percent of the salt load in the Elm Fork area and 70 percent of the big salt production in Jonah and Salt Creeks.

Under questioning from commission members, Shane said the Army engineers are incorporating safeguards to prevent seepage of salt water from the brine reservoirs into underground water supplies.

Young Singers, Nine Teens, to Appear Here

The Nine Teens, a singing group from Haskell, will make their first appearance in Wellington Saturday, Dec. 10 at 8 p.m.

Their program will be presented in the large auditorium of Bura Handley Community Center and is open to the public. There is no charge.

The appearance of these talented singers is sponsored by the Wellington State Bank.

The Nine Teens are nine Haskell high school girls, directed by Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bell, teachers in that town. They have appeared at entertainments throughout West Texas and year before last they were featured at the Texas Farmers Union Convention.

They present a program of mixed singing and comedy, and they feature a new approach to youth entertainment.

"They will appeal to teenagers as well as adults, and we cordially invite all of you to attend. This is the Wellington State Bank's Christmas greeting to the people of the community," said C. T. Hubbard, president of the bank.

The entertainment will follow immediately after the bank's annual Christmas dinner and party for its employees and stockholders.

the chairman said. Payment will be determined by the number of acres diverted and the farm yield per acre.

The CAP adjustment rate for grain sorghum land in Collingsworth County for 1967 is 41 cents per bushel. Other allotment-crop rates per pound are the same for all counties and include 6 cents for cotton and 4 cents for peanuts.

After placing all of the base acreage of one or more of the above crops or the entire time hay base in the program (except that a small acreage may be planted to corn or grain sorghum for home use), farmers may include other row-crop and small grain acreage. Rates for this other cropland in the county—including that for wheat and barley—range from $5.10 to $9.10 per acre, depending on the productivity of the cropland.

Besides the adjustment payments, CAP participants are also eligible for conservation cost-sharing on land put under the program. The CAP agreements cover 5 to 10 years.

Due to the limited amount of funds available for the program, the county committee has elected to use the priority system, as provided in the regulations. All requests falling in category "A" will be considered in the order filed, before any requests in the category "B" are considered.

The Wellington high school B basketball teams have two games away from home this week, both with A teams.

cents in 1966. This payment is the amount necessary in addition to the loan to provide producers at least 65 percent of parity on the cotton produced within the permitted acreage. The payment is made on the acreage planted but not in excess of the domestic allotment established for the farm.

USDA officials point out that "it is important that growers understand fully that the price support payment is made to 'cooperators' only on the acreage planted within the domestic allotment times the projected yield established for the farm. Farms on which not less than 90 percent of the farm domestic allotment is planted will qualify for the price support payment on the full amount of the domestic allotment."

Farms of 10 acres or less will not be required to divert acres to qualify for payments. The diversion rate will be 10.75 cents per pound. This will be earned on the acreage diverted from cotton production and put to conserving uses. The payment will be 10.75 cents per pound times the projected yield per acre times the acreage diverted. The 1966 crop rate was 10.50 cents a pound.

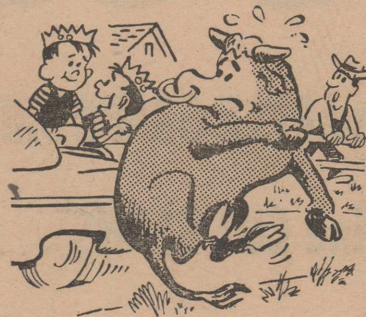

Farmers will have the choice of diverting any acreage they wish between 12.5 percent and 35 percent of the farm's effective acreage allotment.

As during the 1966 cotton crop year, it will be necessary for farmers to sign up showing they intend to take part in the cotton program. The sign-up period will begin Monday, Feb. 6, 1967, and close Friday, March 31, 1967.

The USDA reports that the rules covering skip-row plantings will not be changed for 1967 from those in effect this year. The USDA also announced that the final date for filing applications for the sale or lease of cotton allotments is Jan. 3, 1967. Producers in 412 cotton producing counties in the United States have approved the transfer of allotments to farms outside the county. Allotments cannot be transferred from one state to another. Slay Opens New Department for Ladies Apparel

J. T. Slay announced this week the opening of a ready-to-wear shop for women and children in the location formerly occupied by The Fashion Shop at 806 East Avenue.

"We are moving all of the ladies and children's apparel of The Town & Country Store to this location," Mr. Slay said.

He explained that the building housing The Town & Country Store had become so crowded that they were unable to display all of their merchandise properly and that this was the reason for moving the ladies and children's wear and establishing a separate department.

Ladies and children's footwear will be carried in the original location.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther McPherson will continue as managers of The Town & Country Store and Mrs. John Rainey and Mrs. W. L. Vanlandingham will assist with sales.

Wellington starting guards were Linda Williams, Jan Philley and Kathy Tyler.

So far, the girls have won four games and lost one. The Rocket B boys were victorious 63 to 45 in a game that was closer than the score indicated, as Wellington led by only three points at the start of the fourth quarter.

Herman Moore was high pointer with 22 and Chuck Wilbur next with 10. Joe Brock, Gary Brewer and Tony Hurst were the other starters, with Glen Barber, Jimmy Bohannon, Nicky Watts, Dallas Holland and Johnson also playing.

So far, this team has won two games and lost one to the Arnett A team.
