Victim Of California Rainstorms

The Foothill Boulevard Bridge, which crosses the Tujunga Wash in the Tujunga section of Los Angeles, is crumpled and partially washed away as flood waters begin to recede. It was the victim of yesterday's raging torrent, fed by torrential rain.

Snow Hits East, Slides Bury West

By The Associated Press

A record-breaking Northeastern storm continued to plague New England today, while mudslides and floods claimed a mounting toll in lives and property in California.

Twenty-seven persons were dead as a result of the late winter storms which moved into opposite ends of the nation Sunday. The toll included 10 in California and 17 in New England.

HEAVY SNOW
Wolfeboro, N.H., recorded five inches of new snow in six hours for a ground total of 66 inches. In a similar span Augusta, Maine, measured eight inches and Portland, Maine, five inches. Three inches of new snow in Rumford, Maine, brought the ground total there to 65 inches.

In California, five persons were killed and eight missing and believed dead following a mudslide that slammed into an Orange County fire station where 60 residents had sought shelter.

The dead and missing were among hundreds whose homes were damaged by flooding and mudslides spawned by three days of heavy rains in central and southern California. Up to 16 inches swamped some southern counties.

RETURN HOME
Most of 4,000 persons who fled their Ventura County homes in Santa Paula late Monday were able to return Tuesday. But National Guardsmen were called out to help another 3,000 evacuate flooded sections of San Bernardino County.

Northwest of Los Angeles, the rain-swollen Santa Clara River smashed a levee protecting a marina at Ventura. Some 200 boats sank, including luxurious yachts, and others were swept out to sea. Damage was estimated at $4 million.

Boy Seriously Hurt In Mishap
A four-year-old lad received serious injuries Tuesday afternoon, when he was struck by an automobile at Third and Douglas streets.

Norman Joseph McNew, son of Norman McNew, 1100 Sanford, and Mrs. Billy Brown, 1110 Main, was reported out of critical condition this morning at Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital, where he was taken following the mishap, about 2:30 p.m. Attendants said he is doing as well as can be expected.

His injuries were described as a skull fracture, a leg fracture, several rib fractures, and possible internal injuries.

Police said the boy was with Wanda Ann McNew, 709 W. 3rd, and preparing to cross the busy street, near the intersection of Third and Douglas. Apparently the boy broke away and ran into the path of the vehicle, driven by George O. Matthews, 1316 Lindberg.

APOLLO DELAY

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — All three crew members of the Apollo 9 mission developed mild sore throats and nasal congestion today and the space agency said the ailments could cause a day or two delay in Friday's scheduled launching.

Kiesinger, Nixon Swap Assurances Of Support

European Hassle Discussed

BONN, Germany (AP) — President Nixon received the West German government's approval today for his planned negotiations with Moscow and in turn assured Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger the United States will support Germany in her negotiations over Berlin.

A German government spokesman said Nixon told Kiesinger he will make his trip to West Berlin Thursday not as a provocation but to show the United States is standing by Berlin, whatever the West German government decides to do about holding its disputed presidential election there next Wednesday.

HASSLE TALKED
It was widely assumed the two statesmen also discussed the diplomatic hassle between President Charles de Gaulle of France and Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain concerning the future of the Common Market and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The spokesman said Nixon expressed the view the difficulties in Europe were transient and "no critical situation had arisen."

Kiesinger, in turn, agreed that exaggeration should be avoided and there was no reason for hectic reaction. He said a united Europe was the aim of Bonn's policies and differences over methods and form of this unity were secondary.

Most newsmen at the briefing took these remarks to refer to the French-British quarrel. Kiesinger told the President he and the German people view cooperation with the United States as an essential element of political life.

OWN CONTRIBUTION
The spokesman quoted the chancellor as saying: "We recognize that we cannot eternally depend on the protection of a big brother. We realize we must make our own substantial contribution in this respect."

Coming from London for the third stop on his eight-day European visit, Nixon once again dedicated the United States to the reunification of its divided World War II foe.

In a brief airport exchange of greetings, Nixon told Kiesinger and Foreign Minister Willy Brandt: "The commitment of your nation and mine to the ultimate reunification of Germany —that cannot change." The President added that the United States and West Germany also could not change their commitments to the "common defense" and the "orderly construction of a durable peace in the world."

EXPRESSION
A similar expression of the U.S. commitment to the defense of West Berlin is expected when Nixon visits the city Thursday and once again looks at the Communist wall dividing it.

Despite his heavy schedule in London, Nixon looked fresh and rested in a blue suit and tweed topcoat. He arrived in a mixture of snow and rain which canceled out a helicopter flight from the airport, and instead a motorcade took him to the West German chancellery in Bonn, where he and Kiesinger began their talks.

Casualties Soar As Red Offensive Nears Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — More than 1,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese pushed to within 15 miles of Saigon today, seized a group of refugee villages in Bien Hoa and fought their way to the edge of the busiest American air base in South Vietnam on the fourth day of the enemy offensive.

Early tonight U.S. and South Vietnamese forces were still trying to root out the stubborn enemy soldiers who withstood five assaults by South Vietnamese rangers and deadly rocket and machine-gun fire from American helicopter gunships.

Across South Vietnam, the Communist command intensified its offensive. Its troops pounded more than 50 towns and allied base with rockets, mortars and ground attacks Tuesday night and today.

The heaviest enemy thrusts hit the sprawling American military complex at Bien Hoa Long Binh, a cluster of air bases, major supply depots and the tactical operations center for the 3rd Military Corps; and Cu Chi, the biggest American infantry base in the arc north of Saigon.

Allied spokesmen said more than 3,000 enemy troops had been killed since the offensive began Sunday, but American and South Vietnamese casualties also were soaring. On both sides they appeared to be the heaviest since the enemy offensives last February and last May.

CASUALTIES
South Vietnamese military headquarters said 417 government troops had been killed, 1,383 wounded and 60 were missing. There was no complete count of American casualties, but U.S. spokesmen said more than 200 American troops had been killed and several hundred wounded.

Israel's Eshkol Dies In Crisis

JERUSALEM (AP) — Premier Levi Eshkol died of a heart attack today in the midst of Israel's most serious confrontation with the Arabs since the 1967 Middle East war.

Less than a week ago, Arab guerrillas attacked an El Al air liner at Zurich airport and five days ago saboteurs blew up a supermarket in Jerusalem, killing two and wounding nine holiday shoppers.

NEW POLICY
Israeli planes pounded two guerrilla bases inside Syria Sunday in what informed observers saw as the first in a series of powerful retaliatory blows signaled by Foreign Minister Abba Eban's announcement of a new policy of "active self-defense."

There seemed no doubt the death of the premier would temporarily at least—throw the military reprisal machine out of gear.

The nation has started a period of mourning which, by Jewish law, will last seven days. It was highly doubtful that a military operation would be launched in that time of prayer.

Eshkol was regarded as a moderate, holding the balance between the hawkish factions symbolized by Defense Minister Moshe Dayan and the diplomatic maneuvers of such leaders as Eban.

ALLON NAMED
Quickly after his death the Cabinet announced Deputy Prime Minister Yigal Allon—a former army officer and commander in arms of Dayan—would take the reins until a new government is elected after mourning.

Informed political sources predicted the tough former foreign minister, Golda Meir, would run the country until the general elections in November.

Speaking on the state radio, Allon eulogized Eshkol as the man "who dreamed the dream of the Jewish rebirth."

"Levi, son of Dvora Eshkol, the pioneer, the fulfiller, the warrior, the prime minister of Israel, has departed from us," Allon said.

But Eshkol's death raised the prospect of intense political rivalry between Allon and Defense Minister Moshe Dayan at a time of grave crisis for Israel, with Arab guerrilla attacks increasing and with such nominal Israeli allies as the United States openly opposed to Israel's policy of retaliation.

Eshkol succeeded David Ben-

Gurion as premier in 1963 and headed the government during Israel's lightning victory over the Arabs in the June, 1967, war.

In Damascus, the Al Fatah guerrilla organization claimed Eshkol was fatally injured when Al Fatah commandos made a rocket attack on his country home Monday night.

CHILDISH
"This is the most ridiculous and childish announcement that the primitive Fatah propaganda's wild imagination has ever fabricated," said Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman David Rivlin.

The Israeli government had reported the attack on the Degania Bet kibbutz earlier but said the premier was not there at the time. Rivlin said Eshkol, who helped found the kibbutz, had not been there for several months.

Where Nine Died

Emergency vehicles and rush hour crowds block the intersection of Fifth Avenue and 48th Street in New York City where a fire roared through a five story office building yesterday, killing nine persons, all trapped by a sudden burst of flame on the third floor.

Flash Fire Kills Nine In Gotham

NEW YORK (AP) — A flash fire raced through a midtown Fifth Avenue office building, killing nine persons and leaving seven others critically burned.

Most of the victims Tuesday were trapped on the third floor of the five-story building at 48th Street, near Rockefeller Center. Some were jammed in an elevator disabled by the flames and others were piled against a door.

"They were huddled together but you couldn't really see them," said Fireman William Moore. "You could see a hand here and a head there and you grabbed what you could."

Dozens of others scrambled to safety. They ran down smoke-filled stairwells or clambered down aerial ladders while firemen barked orders to prevent panic. Some were carried out by police.

The fire was one of the worst in recent New York history. Rush hour crowds which gathered snarled traffic and slowed some ambulances called to the scene.

The blaze broke out shortly after 4:30 p.m., apparently in the third-floor offices of architectural designer David Rosen.

Cause was undetermined but Chief John T. O'Hagen said two gallon cans of a flammable liquid were found on the third floor "and we have to assume they contributed to it."

CONTROL
"They got it under control very quickly," said Mayor John V. Lindsay who went to the scene. "But it was so hot and so explosive and the smoke was so dense that people were overcome very quickly."

Sirhan Enraged With Court Hears Diary; 'Blows Top'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Enraged because his diaries with their murderous thoughts are being aired in court, Sirhan Bishara Sirhan wants to "give up and go to the gas chamber," his lawyer says, by pleading guilty to killing Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

But the attorney said he would not permit Sirhan to enter a guilty plea.

"BLOWN HIS TOP"
"He's blown his top," said Grant B. Cooper after Sirhan's courtroom outburst—the second of the day—caused adjournment of Tuesday's afternoon session when it was barely getting started. "He's blown his top, and we're trying to control him."

After court, the four-man defense team and Sirhan's 35-year-old mother spent more than an hour with the 24-year-old Jordanian. "When we left him," said Cooper, "he was real calm. We hope he'll be calm Wednesday."

Of a possible plea of guilty—with the verdict of life imprisonment or death still in the hands of the jury—Cooper said: "We're not going to let him . . . as lawyers we're not going to let our client run the case. He doesn't know what he's doing."

In court, as a handwriting expert was preparing to testify, Sirhan rose white-faced and trembling, a pleading hand extended to judge Herbert V. Walker, and said: "Your honor, forgive me for interrupting . . . At that point Cooper asked for the adjournment.

When the defense lost its fight against admission of the diaries—on grounds of illegal search—Sirhan raged that "if he was going to be tried this way he might as well give up and go to the gas chamber," Cooper said.

Again and again, in handwriting that ranged from mangled to agitated scrawl, Sirhan built in the notebooks a drumbeat of threats against Kennedy and, in one case, then U.N. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg. In one sequence Sirhan wrote of the "glorious United States," in another he used an obscenity as an adjective.

"My determination to eliminate RFK is becoming more the more sic of an unshakable obsession," he wrote on one page dated May 18, 1968. "RFK must die. RFK must be killed. Robert F. Kennedy must be assassinated. Robert F. Kennedy must be assassinated before 5 June 1968 . . ."

Sirhan shot Kennedy the morning of that day. If he confided his reason into the diary, it did not show in the eight pages made public Tuesday.

"RFK must be disposed of like his brother was," Sirhan wrote on an envelope found in trash at his house. President John F. Kennedy was killed by a sniper in Dallas, Nov. 22, 1963.

DECLINING
And, in the notebook: "I believe the U.S. is ready to start declining anyway—not that it hasn't—it began in November 23, 1963, but it should decline at a faster rate so the real Utopia will not be so far from being realized during the early 70s in this country."

"I firmly support Communist cause and its people—whether Russian, Chinese, Albanian, Hungarian, or whoever. . ."

ON CAMPUS Gun Mishap Kills Coed

HOUSTON (AP) — A Texas Southern University co-ed was fatally wounded by a pistol shot Tuesday while she sat in a campus cafeteria, police said.

Frances Flowers, 19, of Pine Bluff, Ark., died about six hours after a .25-caliber pistol bullet hit her head.

Police said Lawrence J. Gettone, 21, surrendered Tuesday night. They charged him with negligent homicide and with carrying a pistol illegally. He did not attend the university.

Witnesses told detectives that Gettone had been showing a pistol to companions and it apparently discharged by accident. Miss Flowers was sitting at a table with several other persons.

Edwina Watts, 19, a co-ed from San Augustine, said, "I heard a shot and saw Frances stand up and blood appear on the side of her head."

Motorist Shot

HOUSTON (AP) — State police reported a highway patrolman shot and killed a motorist who threatened him after being halted by the officer for a traffic violation Tuesday night.

Dispatcher Eddie Lee of the Department of Public Safety gave this account: Patrolman James C. Williams of Crosby pursued a car at high speed for several minutes, forcing it to stop beside the road.

The driver, Lionel A. Fontenot, 29, alighted with one hand in a pocket as Williams stepped from his own vehicle. Fontenot approached the officer, ignoring Williams' order to halt, and the patrolman shot him in the chest.

Other officers said they found an open knife at the scene.

Cosmos 267 Launched

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today launched Cosmos 267, an unmanned spacecraft designed for some unspecified mission.

An announcement said the craft was hurled into an orbit with a high point of 130 miles, completing its first orbit in 89.9 minutes.

Cosmos 266 was launched Tuesday.

Bombings On Campus

CLAREMONT, Calif. (AP) — Two bombs exploded at two of the Claremont Colleges late Tuesday, injuring a young woman employe and causing slight damage to the building.

Officers said Mary N. Keating, 29, was injured when she picked up a bomb which had arrived in the mail at Carnegie Hall, Pomona College's administration building. It blew up, severely injuring her right hand and burning her face. She may lose the hand, authorities said.

Says Clay Bertrand Figment Of 'Dream'

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A lawyer who says he had Lee Harvey Oswald as a client several months before President Kennedy was killed has testified that the mysterious Clay Bertrand of the Clay Shaw case did not exist.

Bertrand "was a figment of my imagination," Dean Andrews Jr. testified Tuesday at Shaw's trial on a charge of conspiring to kill Kennedy.

It is the name Bertrand that Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison contends Shaw used as an alias in plotting with Oswald and others to kill the President.

Andrews had testified before a Warren Commission investigator and two grand juries, and he told the FBI that a man he knew as Clay Bertrand telephoned him the day after Oswald's arrest to ask that he go to Dallas to take over as defense lawyer.

But Tuesday he said he had "let my mouth run ahead of my brain."

"I can't give you any explanation. . . . Once you make a fool of yourself you're stuck with it."

Andrews, a short heavy man whose speech is laced with slang, said he sought fame—and wound up convicted of perjury.

Right To Chime

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — A judge in this picturesque city in New York's Finger Lakes region has upheld the Tompkins County Savings Bank carillon's right to chime.

They chime on the hour for 3½ minutes every day except Sunday.

Judge James J. Clynnes Jr., in a five-page decision, said the electronic carillon—which plays recordings through an electronic horn—does not disturb the peace, as contended by several Ithacans who live on a hill about a quarter of a mile from the downtown bank.

His case is pending on appeal.

"It's page after page of bull," he said, when Asst. Dist. Atty. James L. Alcock asked him to explain his previous testimony.

"You mean page after page after page of lies!" cried Alcock in cross examination.

"If you want to call it that, that's your privilege," said Andrews.

Texas Travel Profits Boom

AUSTIN (AP) — Last year really put Texas on the "tourist map," the Highway Department claimed today. It said 22.5 million tourists spent $1.5 billion during their Texas travels in 1968.

It was "the third straight $1 billion plus year for the Texas travel industry," the department said, but for the first time auto visitors alone spent more than $1 billion.

The department's annual survey showed a record 16.6 million visitors toured Texas' highways by car, an increase of 9.1 per cent from the previous year. And 5.9 million other travelers arrived by planes, trains or bus and spent an estimated $467.5 million.

The department said the money spent by auto visitors increased by 25.3 per cent from 1967.

Auto travel parties averaged three persons, the department said, and they stayed an average of 5.74 days. More than one-third of the auto visitors reported they were visiting Texas for the first time. The typical party drove 1,199 miles in Texas.

Of the auto visitors, 56 per cent listed vacation as their primary purpose for coming to Texas.

More than 92 per cent of the 18,222 visitors who completed Highway Department questionnaires said they were favorably impressed by Texas.

Andrews testified Tuesday that the telephone call was from an old client, Eugene Davis, on a minor legal matter. Andrews said Davis, in casual conversation, told him he'd never be a famous lawyer unless he grabbed big cases like one developing in Dallas.

Andrews said when he was telling the FBI his story it suddenly dawned on him that he was about to subject Davis to "a lot of heat and pressure that didn't belong to him."

So he substituted the name Clay Bertrand, which he said was the first one that popped into his mind.

Andrews testified that he gave Oswald legal advice several times in May and April of 1963. He described Oswald as a walk-in client but he refused to give details of his dealings with Oswald by claiming lawyer-client privilege and the court upheld his right to do so.

Andrews was convicted in August of 1967 for perjury involving previous Bertrand testimony.

ESSA 9 Storm Hunter

Races Into Orbit With Two Cameras

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — ESSA 9, last in the present generation of storm-hunting weather satellites, successfully raced into orbit today on a comet-like rocket that blazed over Cuba.

Packing two cloud-seeing camera systems for a daily view of weather around nearly the entire earth, the spacecraft—called ESSA 9 for the ninth environmental survey satellite—streaked southward from Cape Kennedy atop a fiery delta rocket.

Twenty minutes later, the hat-box-shaped craft sprung into a near circular orbit about 900 miles high as planned.

"It looks like a very very beautiful flight," said Charles Hunter, spacecraft manager from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt, Md.

The early-morning liftoff scored the second success in a Cape Kennedy triple-header this week. America's camera-carrying Mariner 6 successfully rocketed toward Mars Monday, and the three Apollo 9 astronauts are to thunder into earth orbit Friday.

Nuclear Pact Faces Sniping Before Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nuclear nonproliferation treaty, approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, faces certain sniping but little danger before floor debate starts next month.

The committee approved the administration-backed treaty Tuesday by a 14 to 0 vote with Sen. Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., who has criticized some aspects of it, not voting.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said he expected a report clarifying two controversial points will be completed by March 6 and that the treaty would be sent to the floor then.

Fulbright said the report would clarify whether the treaty's Article VI requires this country to seek immediate talks with the Soviet Union on nuclear disarmament and whether non-nuclear nations that do not sign are entitled to help in peaceful atomic projects.

Indications were the committee would say "yes" to the first and "no" to the second.

Only approval by the Foreign Relations Committee was needed, but the Senate Armed Services Committee has scheduled hearings for Thursday into military aspects of the pact.

The committee, chaired by Mississippi Democrat John Stennis, has become a focal point for what little opposition there appears to be to the treaty.

Among opponents are Republicans John Tower of Texas, Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, plus Democrat Richard Russell of Georgia.

The opposition is centered mainly on the lack of enforcement procedures for the treaty. Goldwater, in a harsh attack on the treaty the past weekend, said he would oppose it "not only because I feel this is the wrong time to be entering into agreements with nations who are notorious for violating such pacts, but because I feel it would have a highly deleterious effect on the Atlantic Alliance."

'Mostly Cloudy' In Legislature

AUSTIN (AP) — "Mostly cloudy with no immediate change indicated" was the legislative forecast today for Texas senators and representatives seeking guidance on crucial tax and spending matters.

Meanwhile the legislators faced another heavy day and night schedule of public hearings on a wide variety of proposed legislation, including the first formal session on possible new taxation.

Thus far, neither house has examined a tax bill.

Tax proposals to be heard by the House Revenue and Taxation Committee included one by Rep. Jim Clark, Houston, who says he can raise $51 million by adding another 40 cents tax per bottle of whiskey.

Gov. Preston Smith, who was scheduled to leave today for a three-day trip to Washington, told newsmen late Tuesday he had no changes to make in his tax and budget proposals made to legislators last Thursday.

Smith said most of the controversy about his $320 million new revenue program centered on the so-called Cavness Plan and around the proposed $10 penalty on each moving traffic fine.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has been asked by Rep. W. S. Heatly, Paducah, head of the Sadler has claimed the plan is unconstitutional and says he will file a lawsuit to tie up the funds if it is approved by the legislature.

"If the Cavness Plan is declared unconstitutional then I'll have to come back with an alternative," Smith told a news conference. "However, until it is, I think it is a good source of new revenue."

Charities Spokesmen Nix LBJ's Tax Reform Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spokesmen for private charities urged Congress today not to push tax reform so far it would discourage donors who routinely give to worthy causes.

One recommendation left behind by Johnson administration Treasury specialists—to allow income tax deductions only when donations exceed 3 per cent of a taxpayer's income—came under special criticism.

John J. Schwartz, executive vice president of the American Association of Fund-Raising Councils, told the House Ways and Means Committee in prepared testimony that 27 million taxpayers itemize charitable contributions.

"Establishing a 3 per cent threshold would remove an incentive for more than half of these 27 million taxpayers to give," he said. "These figures speak for themselves."

George L. Shearin of Dallas speaking for a group of Baptist philanthropic foundations, said the limitation would "discourage donors who make the routine charitable gifts."

The charities spokesmen also opposed proposals to limit the deduction on gifts of property, such as stocks or real estate, to the amount the donor originally paid for them.

The American Medical Association joined other organizations whose spokesmen testified earlier against advertising revenue of magazines published by tax-exempt organizations. The Internal Revenue Service has ruled that such revenue is taxable.

"The Internal Revenue Service has taken the position that drug advertising is not related to the tax-exempt purposes of a medical association," AMA counsel Bernard D. Hirsh said. "We believe that this position is arbitrary and completely ignores the facts; that the related character of drug advertising carried in a medical journal published by a medical association is self-evident."

He said the Food and Drug Law requires drug advertising to include information on uses, limitations, risks and other pertinent data.

Not Rain, Dogs

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Memphis postmen aren't about to let rain or snow or sleet or dark of night prevent them from the swift completion of their appointed rounds.

But then there are dogs, bees and wasps.

A post office report said 12 work days were lost last year because of dog bites; one postman running from a dog injured his back and lost 15 days, and seven days were lost because of bee and wasp stings.

And then there was the postman who opened a mail box and came face to face with a 4½-foot snake. He didn't lose any work time, but he said he may have lost a few years of growth.

Prospects For Berlin Agreement Appear Dim

BERLIN (AP) — Representatives of East Germany and West Berlin are meeting today in East Berlin to discuss a solution for the crisis over plans to hold the West German presidential election in West Berlin.

Prospects for an agreement appeared dim. Earlier the East German news agency ADN indicated the Communist reply to Western proposals was unfavorable.

West Berlin Mayor Klaus Schuetz emphasized the meeting "is not a matter of negotiations, but a matter of determining points of view." He named Horst Grabert, his top administrative assistant, and two other officials to represent him.

The East German representative was believed to be State Secretary Michael Kohl, who has taken part in previous East-West negotiations.

The East Germans want the West Germans to cancel their March 5 presidential election in West Berlin, in return for which they have offered to issue passes for West Berliners to visit friends and relatives in East Berlin at Easter.

The West Germans say the Communists must produce at least a long-term pass agreement before they will even consider moving the election out of West Berlin. Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger said last week other East German concessions would be necessary for an agreement.

Fulbright Admits Nixon Handling Himself Well

By JACK BELL, Associated Press Political Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon appears to have accomplished in five weeks what Lyndon B. Johnson couldn't manage in five years—public approval of his foreign policy by Sen. J. W. Fulbright.
 Fulbright, the Arkansas Democrat who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has not been known for getting along with Democratic presidents and secretaries of state. He was the spear point of opposition to Johnson's Asian policies.

FOR EXAMPLE

But the mercurial senator is giving good marks to Nixon and Secretary of State William P. Rogers at this point.
 He said, for example, that he thinks Nixon is doing a great job in his visit to European capitals.

 "He is handling himself well. In fact, he is doing better than a lot of people thought he would," Fulbright said.

There is some thought around the Senate that the Democrats are covering Nixon with kindness to demonstrate they hold no animosity toward him just because he is a Republican.
 Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, a member of Fulbright's committee, takes every occasion to say something nice about Nixon.
 Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, the 1968 Democratic presidential nominee, has given his cautious approval. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is avoiding criticism of the GOP president.
 How long this attitude of cooperation will last has to be anybody's guess.

HURLS GRENADE

Fulbright has a grenade in the basket to toss at the Nixon administration in the form of his "national commitments" resolution. It would admonish the President not to deploy U.S. troops abroad except for direct national security purposes.

The committee chairman's long-time friend, Secretary of State Rogers, has been cautious about committing the administration on this issue. But few think Nixon will deviate from the position of previous presidents that as commanders-in-chief he has the right to employ troops as he sees fit.

Fulbright also is trying to push the new administration into seeking immediate talks with the Soviet Union. Although he approved of Nixon's Brussels statement that there would be such talks at the proper time, the committee chairman is never very patient about waiting for fulfillment of such pledges.

But these are possible frictions of the future. Just now the Fulbright line is cooperation.

Kill For Profit Couple Sentenced

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Paul S. Perverler has been sentenced to death in the gas chamber and his girl friend to life imprisonment for the double-indemnity insurance murders of their spouses.

Perverler, 31, was sentenced Tuesday by the jury which a week earlier convicted him of murdering his bride, Cheryl, 22, and murdering Kristina Cromwell's husband, Marlin, 27. The one-time insurance adjuster was also convicted of attempting to murder his first wife, Lela, 30.

The blonde Mrs. Cromwell, mother of a 6-year-old son, was convicted of conspiring with Perverler to kill her husband.

The seven-man, five-woman jury received the penalty phase of the trial Monday and deliberated a total of five hours.

The prosecution charged that Perverler and Mrs. Cromwell sought to collect up to $105,000 in double-indemnity life insurance.

Defense attorneys said they will appeal the convictions.

Nixon Considering Swap With State Governments

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is considering taking over operation of locally-run and costly welfare programs in exchange for farming out several federal programs to the states.

Administration sources reported President Nixon had such an exchange in mind Feb. 14 when he said the new Office of Intergovernmental Relations will pave the way for eventual transfer of some federal programs to the states. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew heads the new office.

States would not necessarily save money, but would take over programs they are better able to administer. What the federal programs would be has not yet been specified.

Also being considered by the administration are proposals for federal tax revenue sharing with the states, block grants giving states more freedom to decide where they want to use funds, and consolidation of the hundreds of grant-in-aid programs supplying federal money to states and localities.

The possibility of program exchanges is one of the subjects under consideration here this week at the mid-winter session of the National Governors' Conference. The Nixon administration is using the meeting to make a major effort to improve federal-state coordination.

Four cabinet members met Tuesday with their counterparts from many of the states. On Thursday, an all-day session will give governors and cabinet members a chance to explain their problems to one another.

Rice Prexy Quits To Prevent Riots

HOUSTON (AP) — Only five days after he was named president of Rice University, Dr. William H. Masterson resigned Tuesday, saying he wanted to prevent controversy and dissension at the private institution.

Masterson, 54, told Rice trustees, "I do not believe it to be in the best interests of the university for me to undertake the duties of the presidency in the midst of controversy related to the method of my selection."

An announcement Friday that Masterson was new head of the 86-year-old university triggered a quiet campus demonstration and resolutions of protest.

Masterson, president of the University of Chattanooga, was picked by Rice trustees to replace Dr. Kenneth Pitzer, who resigned in August to become president of Stanford University. Faculty members and students said the trustees had ignored a faculty-student committee that was established to help select a new president.

The faculty voted 91 to 75 and the students 951 to 7 to ask that trustees reconsider the appointment. A campus-wide vote was taken Monday to indicate if students and faculty approved of Masterson and the procedure used by the trustees.

Results of the secret balloting were given to the trustees but not announced publicly.

To assume the presidency June 1 as planned "would create unnecessary dissension among the university's community of governors, faculty, students and staff," Masterson said in his letter of resignation.

Eggers Thrilled, Pleased With New Federal Post

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — The head of the U.S. Treasury Department said Tuesday Republican Paul Eggers will be nominated general counsel of the department.

Eggers, who was defeated by Democrat Preston Smith of the governorship of Texas, said he is "thrilled and very pleased" with his new post.

The nomination will be made by President Nixon, said Treasury Secretary David Kennedy.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., called Eggers a "Texan of substantial talent and intellect."

Tower said, "Paul Eggers will, in my opinion be one of the most dedicated and effective members of the Nixon team." State GOP Chairman Peter

O'Donnell said Eggers "carries outstanding credentials for the position."

"I will be helping make policy in the Treasury and look forward to its being the most challenging job of my life," Eggers said.

Speculation has circulated for some time that Eggers would receive a top-level appointment in the Nixon administration.

The Internal Revenue Service administrator's job was most frequently mentioned because Eggers specializes in tax law.

The Republican lost to Gov. Preston Smith 1,622,919 to 1,254,333, a high vote for a Republican in a Texas race.

Eggers said he will leave for Washington in early March.

Mothballs Loom For New Jersey

WASHINGTON (AP) — The battleship New Jersey's homeward voyage from Vietnam waters next months may lead her back into mothballs if the war ends by next fall.

Without the fighting, the Navy would need another mission to justify keeping the world's only active battlewagon in service.

Navy officers acknowledged that might be quite a task.

"There's no other requirement for that kind of ship," a Navy source said. "There aren't any battleships for the New Jersey to shoot against."

There are more efficient and less expensive vessels to handle such jobs as escorting carriers and supporting amphibious landings.

The 54,000-ton, 26-year-old battleship, veteran of World War II and Korea, was called out of the reserve fleet in 1967 largely because the United States was losing bombers over North Vietnam at a rising and worrisome rate.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's analysts calculated it would be "cost effective" in the long run to wheel a battleship close to the North Vietnamese coast where it could fire 16-inch shells far in land.

Studies estimated that a battleship's nine 16-inch guns could equal the work of about 50 planes a day. Each battleship shell cost about $1,700 compared to $2 million a plane.

Yesterday, I was talking to a square-type friend who claims to be "about half-hippy" inside, and we were musing over our enjoyment of a recent TV bit by the Beatles.

In a way, comparing the four some's appearance as it was a few years ago (when they were everyone's impish innocents) and now, when their success has proven more than a phenomenal fluke, tells it like it is for a fascinating generation.

You may not agree with them — or even like them much — but you can't ignore them, and they certainly aren't the bores my generation turned out to be! Bless 'em, they are bull-headed and brave in bucking a hypocritical world, and I'm beginning to think the Lord must love them — cause he's making more of them every day.

Speaking of love, it has been a pleasure to write so many stories of golden wedding anniversaries recently, and there are several more coming up soon.

Q. T. Coates of Estah's Flowers was guest speaker at a meeting of the Stanton Garden Club held Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. George Dawson, 605 Colgate.

Coates created an arrangement of greenery, red tulips and a red bird, which was won by Mrs. Guy Eiland, and an arrangement of lavender and pink artificial flowers which was given to the hostess. The corsage he fashioned from chrysanthemums was awarded to Mrs. S. A. Wilson.

During the business session, Mrs. Cecil Bridges presided and announced that the club will have a pot luck supper March 25 at the Stanton Methodist Church. At that time, members will make paper flowers for a float in the Old Settlers Reunion parade.

The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. C. F. Huling and Mrs. Rendal Hamby, a guest.

A LOVELIER YOU Exercise Will Trim Hip Measurements

By MARY SUE MILLER

Does all your weight settle in your hips? Then today's routine will make short work of reduction:

1. (Trims high hips) Stretch out, back down, on floor; extend arms to sides at shoulder level and center weight across top of hips. Now swing legs straight up, perpendicular to floor; alternately stretch legs hard toward ceiling and then touch knees to chest — repeat 20 times, slowly and rhythmically. The idea is not a leg workout but a hip massage set up by pressure of leg movements.

2. (Side hip trimmer) Lie on right side and center weight on side hip by raising torso. To hold raised position, anchor right elbow to floor and prop head with hand. Next, raise left leg about six inches, bring right leg up to touch left leg, and hold position for five slow counts; slowly lower legs. Relax, repeat twice and perform on left side.

3. (For lower hipline) Sit erect on a straight, hard chair or stool. Raise knees until only toes touch floor. Touch right knee to chest and return toes to floor; repeat with left leg. Alternating sides, perform 10 times. Concentrate weight throughout, on the "sittin' bones."

Reducing extra: Make it a practice to stand with your hips tucked under your body. That way you'll avoid that shelf in

John Sealy Hospital in Galveston following major surgery. Cosden Country Club is doing without the services of Mrs. Brunson while she remains with 16-year-old Danny, and I understand a fund has been started to help pay for the expensive medical care. (You might check with the club.)

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Guy were weekend guests of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Huff Jr. of Odessa, when four generations of "Huffs" gathered to celebrate the 88th birthday of their father, Leonard Huff Sr. Other out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hansen of Fort Stockton. (Four generations of the Huff family live in the same block in Odessa, Leonard Sr., Leonard Jr., Bert and Ronald.)

A number of people here are acquainted with Mrs. Mary Kate Richards of Dallas, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Cashion. They will be pleased to hear of her marriage to Dr. Bascom Price Raney of Jonesboro, Ark., on Feb. 5, in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico. They plan to reside in Jonesboro.

Lowell Jones, who has been dining alone lately, explained that Mrs. Jones is vacationing in Santa Barbara and Los Angeles. She will be with their daughter, Mrs. Gene (Carol) Hixenbaugh and son, Eric, and then go to Gardena, Calif., to visit son, Barry, and his family.

Turned out she was getting treatment for a nasty burn on her hand so she could help cut cake at their anniversary reception. . . . When Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Porter took Dr. Howard Ulfelder of Boston to the plane recently, she gifted him with jalapeno peppers and branched fruit "starter" as a remembrance of Texas. He was here for a meeting of the West Texas Obstetrical and Gynecological Society. . . . While Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Early Sex Education Urged By Physician

Sex education for children was discussed by Dr. M. W. Talbot Jr., guest speaker Monday when the Young Homemakers of Coahoma met at Coahoma High School. Dr. Talbot advised parents to begin their children's sex education at an early age, answering questions truthfully and simply. He favored sex education at school in the lower grades rather than high school and noted that a number of books on the subject are readily available to parents and young people. Dr. Talbot was introduced by Mrs. Johnny Justiss.

Mrs. Harold Harrington, president, announced that the volleyball tournament, which the Young Homemakers and Lions Club sponsor, will be held March 13-15. Deadline for entering is March 1, and teams are asked to register with Mrs. Kenneth Scott, 391-5360. The next meeting will be March 24.

UT Ex-Students Schedule Annual Banquet Saturday

University of Texas alumni in Big Spring will hold their annual Texas Independence Day observance at a banquet at 8 p.m. Saturday at Cosden Country Club.

John Burgess, executive committee chairman of the Big Spring UT Ex-Students Association, said the program would be held on Saturday, since Texas Independence Day is Sunday. Tickets for the dinner will be $3.50 per person.

Guest speakers will be Dr. W. A. Cunningham, chemical engineering professor and associate director of the Bureau of Engineering Research at the University of Texas, and Loyd Wainscott, All-Southwest Conference defensive tackle for the Longhorns.

Dr. Cunningham, a 1927 graduate of the University of Texas, has been on the faculty since 1941 and at three times served as chairman of the chemical engineering department. He also is a consultant during summers for Texas Gulf Sulphur Co., Humble Oil and Refining Co., Dow Chemical Co., and Bendix Corp.

His research interests center on process development, industrial water treatment and absorption.

Dr. Cunningham previously served a 10-year term as national president of Omega Chi Epsilon, honorary chemical engineering society, and is a former director of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

Wainscott, 22-year-old former high school All-State and All-America tackle from LaMarque, completed his senior season with the Texas Longhorns as an All-Southwest Conference defensive tackle. He was voted SWC Lineman of the Week three times by the Associated Press during the season.

Two new members of the Big Spring UT Ex-Students Association executive committee will be elected at the dinner. Besides Burgess, members of the executive committee are Paul Meek, Joe Moss, Mrs. Ann Boullion, Bob Dyer and Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper.

HST Declares Himself Fit

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman left Research Hospital Tuesday afternoon and returned smiling and in obvious good spirits to his nearby Independence home.

The 33rd president entered the hospital last Thursday night after being stricken with intestinal flu.

Doctors said Truman had recovered last Sunday but took the opportunity to run some medical tests on their not-so-patient. Truman, declaring himself fit, had wanted to go home three days prior to his release.

The local group is urging parents to bring their children to the banquet.

Teachers To Attend Parley

Three Big Spring High School science teachers have been selected to attend the 12th Annual Petroleum Institute for Educators at the University of Houston in June.

Attending the 18-day seminar will be W. R. Hakes, Douglas Whitley and Donald P. Lawrence. They will join about 70 Texas teachers in Houston for the institute, which is sponsored by the Oil Information Committee of the Texas Mid-continent Oil and Gas Association.

Teachers attending the institute will receive three hours of graduate credit. The institute will consist of lectures and field trips by knowledgeable men in the petroleum industry. Subjects to be covered will include land acquisition, exploration, drilling, production, refining, transportation, research and marketing.

The institute is designed for math, science and social studies teachers. It provides an understanding of the petroleum industry and its importance to the economics of the Southwest.

Dear Abby

Enjoy But Don't Touch!

DEAR ABBY: I propose that we adopt the following code of behavior between the sexes: "Henceforth a man may touch any part of a woman's body that he is able to see."

I believe that such a code would induce women to impose on themselves some restraints on the manner in which they dress.

Our mini-skirted bar-bosomed gals go about exuding as much sexiness as they possibly can, then they expect to be treated like virtuous untouchable young ladies. Any comments?

LEO IN COLUMBUS DEAR LEO: Yes! I am in favor of "truth in packaging" and against advertising that which one has no intention of delivering, but since when should one be able to touch everything he sees? One should be able to enjoy viewing a mountain without climbing it.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 68 years old and he's still in good health, but he is one of those who made his will out 10 years ago and has changed it half a dozen times since.

The last time he changed it had made this time, and he refused to tell me. As his lawful wedded wife, am I not entitled to know what is in my husband's will?

"IN THE DARK" IN DULUTH DEAR IN: In Minnesota, a will is a personal matter, and your husband is under no legal obligation to reveal its contents to you.

Should he precede you in death, however, and if you're not satisfied with the terms, you have the right to renounce it, and take from the estate that which you'd have been entitled to had your husband left no will at all. (The laws in the various states differ!)

DEAR ABBY: Roy and I have been married for two years and we have custody of his three children. (His ex-wife isn't fit to raise dogs, much less children.)

My problem is that we are living in the same house Roy and his ex-wife and children lived in. When we were married Roy promised we'd stay here until he sold this house, then we'd get another one. Well, from the looks of things, we are going to be here forever. I just HATE it!

It's not only the house, but I am living with all her old beat up furniture and appliances and I can't stand it any longer.

Roy says we can't just walk out. We have to get our money out of this house before we buy another one, but so far he hasn't even put this house on the market. So what should I do? HOUSE SICK

DEAR SICK: Remind Roy of his promise and ask him to prove his sincerity by letting YOU put the house on the market. If that doesn't jar him, face it. Roy is a naughty boy!

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Opening lead: Six of ♠ South, the declarer at three no trump, concentrated his attentions on the wrong suit and the result was a costly setback.

West opened the six of spades. The king was played from dummy and the ten of hearts was led for a finesse. West shrewdly held off for one round; however, when South continued with the queen of hearts, West won the trick with the king and returned another spade.

South captured East's queen of spades with the ace and tried to run the diamond suit. West showed out on the second round and, since the dummy had no more entries, declarer was unable to pick up the jack of diamonds. When East got in, he shifted to a club. The result was that the defense took three club tricks as well as two spades, a heart, and a diamond, to register a three-trick defeat.

If West had taken off the ten of hearts with the king, North's queen would have provided a late entry to dummy for a successful finesse against East's jack of diamonds once the situation in that suit becomes revealed. Five diamond tricks together with two each in spades and the hearts brings the total for declarer up to the required nine.

South could have averted defeat altogether by winning the first spade with the ace in his hand in order to test the diamonds. When West shows out on the second round, declarer temporarily abandons that suit in order to establish a second trick in hearts.

Since the king of spades must be saved as a later entry to take the diamond finesse, South is obliged to lead hearts from his hand. West gets in with the king; however, there is no damaging play that he can make, and declarer has nine tricks, as soon as he picks up the jack of diamonds.

Even if it turns out that East has the king of hearts, where it would have been finessable, the defense is limited to a maximum of four tricks—three clubs and one heart—provided that East shifts to a club.

Morton Wins Nod Of Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) - The White House said today that President Nixon will recommend the selection of Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland as the new chairman of the Republican National Committee.

The administration's communications director, Herbert Klein, made the announcement. Klein also said that Murray Chotiner, the Los Angeles attorney prominently mentioned for the No. 2 position on the GOP committee "will not serve at the national committee."

Klein said Chotiner's decision to bow out of contention for a committee post was by "mutual agreement" between Chotiner and Rogers.

There had been reports that Rogers was willing to take the post only if Chotiner had no post on the committee staff.

Reported plans to name Chotiner to a top post also were given as a reason for the resignation last week of Ray C. Bliss of Akron, Ohio, as national chairman.

Bliss headed the committee during Nixon's successful campaign for the nomination and the election. He took over the post after the 1964 defeat of the GOP presidential ticket headed by Sen. Barry Goldwater, and was credited with building up the party toward its triumph last year.

Aquonaut Death Hearing Delayed

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) - The Navy's board of investigation plans to begin hearing testimony Friday in the death of Sealab 3 aquanaut Berry L. Cannon. The probe was earlier expected to start today.

Cannon, 33, died Feb. 17 of carbon dioxide poisoning while 610 feet deep on the ocean bottom off San Clemente Island.

The Navy said eight other aquanauts who were in the personal transfer capsule with Cannon for sea exploration have been granted liberty but were under orders not to talk about the case. The eight required a week-long decompression period aboard the support vessel Elk River after Cannon's fatal dive.

To qualify for membership in the Fine Arts Association, the artist must have submitted a winning original painting in a Texas art show. All members of the Big Spring Art Association belong to the TFAA.

Mrs. Frank Hartley, one of the WTAA directors, also serves as treasurer of the Big Spring group. Mrs. Paul Bruns is president of the local artists; Mrs. Daryle Hohertz, first vice president; Mrs. J. H. Holloway, second vice president; Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw, secretary; Mrs. Bill Unger, publicity chairman.

The art show has had good public reaction, especially with the college students," said Kenneth Roach, HCJC librarian.

It was the biggest recall campaign in the history of the auto industry.

Since Sept. 1966, General Motors has recalled 2.7 million vehicles, only 4.5 per cent of which were suspected of having a defect.

General Motors said it issued the recall orders after there had been 48 known cases of failure of the carburetor part and 30 reported instances where exhaust emissions were reported to be entering the car.

It said the possibly entry of exhaust emissions into certain Chevrolet models occurs "only when the exhaust pipe is substantially out of design position or deteriorated from use."

The company announcement said, "The recall of so many cars to correct the very few that may be unsafe will inconvenience many customers. It is like calling in a haystack to find a needle."

"The very few cases of possible defect which prompted the recall decision are clearly exceptions but General Motors concern for safety and the idea of excellence tolerates not even an exception."

It said the servicing and replacement campaign will be made at no expense to the car owner.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Two boys showed up at Germantown High school Tuesday wearing miniskirts. It was a protest against a recent faculty decision permitting girls to wear slacks.

Explained a faculty member: "Skirts were getting so short we thought slacks might be the answer to the problem."

NEWHALL, Calif. (AP) - Be on the lookout, warned sheriff's two hippopotamuses.

The beasts were last reported seen Tuesday floating down the flooding Santa Clara River. Their animal compound, used to supply Hollywood movies, was inundated by heavy rains.

Owners said the animals are extremely dangerous and will be shot on sight.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) - The Kentucky Economic Security Department has decided to cut red tape when a family needs emergency public assistance quickly.

Commissioner Eugene Gass said verification by a social worker that an emergency exists will be enough to start aid flowing immediately.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - At her wedding, Linda Leila Florence wore the 70-year-old wedding band which belonged to her great-grandmother.

She carried a silk handkerchief brought from China by a great-great-aunt 68 years ago when she and other American missionaries were driven out by the Boxer Rebellion.

Even older than these sentimental items is her name, Leila, used continuously in the family for 122 years. For five generations it has been handed down to the oldest daughter.

GM Is Recalling Cars And Trucks

DETROIT (AP) - General Motors Corp. said today it is notifying the owners of 4.9 million GM cars and trucks to take their vehicles to dealers for the replacement of a possibly defective carburetor part or for service "to prevent the possibility of exhaust emissions from entering the vehicle."

The recall affects 2.5 million 1968 and 1969 Chevrolets, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles, Buicks and Cadillacs and GMC trucks equipped with a quadra-jet carburetor.

An additional 2.4 million Chevrolets, 1965 through 1968, will be recalled for inspection and service of body areas adjacent to the tail pipes.

Lodge Hints Peace Steps

PARIS (AP) - U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said today there has been "some progress" in the Vietnam peace talks and he believes "something will come out of it."

Talking to newsmen after a 30-minute meeting with Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam, Lodge declined to elaborate, but the implication was that the progress he referred to was in secret contacts with the North Vietnamese.

Neither side has acknowledged such secret talks are taking place. There has been no visible progress in the weekly sessions of the full-scale conference.

Lodge told newsmen, "there has been some progress made but it just isn't very rapid. These things move along in a way that is hard to define."

"I think some progress is being made, some ground work is being laid and I think something will come out of it."

A spokesman for Ky said he knew nothing personally of any progress and described the meeting with Lodge as a routine exchange of views following Ky's return from Saigon.

The sixth session of the full-scale talks is scheduled for Thursday.

Texas Water Plan Okay—Big Surprise

AUSTIN (AP) — It was one of those little foul-ups that make the legislature more interesting. Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake was taken by surprise and was a little nonplussed when the House Constitutional Amendments Committee approved his measure to finance the state share of the $10 billion Texas water plan Tuesday night.

Most sponsors of legislation are happy to see it reported out of committee. But Clayton's reaction was different.

"They did? They weren't supposed to pass it tonight," Clayton said, his eyes widening in surprise, when told of the action.

He was attending another committee meeting in an adjoining room when the measure was reported out.

The measure authorizing the biggest bond issue ever to be submitted to voters anywhere—$3.5 billion—is now eligible for House debate. Clayton said, however, he would not make his move next Tuesday, the next "constitutional amendment day" in the House.

Clayton said he had told Rep. Bill Swanson of Houston, the chairman of a subcommittee appointed last week to review the amendment, that he wanted to suggest some changes before it was sent back to the full committee.

"He must have forgotten about it," Clayton said. Clayton's amendment enlarges the scope of the water development board and authorizes its bond ceiling from $100 million to $3.5 billion, removing the 4 per cent interest rate ceiling on the bonds and authorizing the board to implement the water plan.

ONE CHANGE

One change was made in the proposal, allowing the legislature to set a new interest ceiling.

The voters will receive the amendment for action in November, 1970, if two-thirds of the House and Senate approve it.

The committee also held a hearing on three other amendments and sent them to subcommittees for further study.

—Extend $10 death benefits and state pensions to the wives and children of volunteer firemen, unpaid police reserves and reform school guards killed in line of duty. The sponsor, Rep. Dave Allred of Wichita Falls, said he would accept addition of guards at Rusk State Hospital for the criminally insane.

—Make the State Building Commission a three-man board appointed by the governor. The commission now consists of the governor, attorney general and board of control chairman.

—Give unmarried persons the same $3,000 homestead exemption from state property taxes that married persons have.

Crime Rate Up In Times Square

NEW YORK (AP) — The crime rate in the Times Square area continues to rise.

In December, the last month for which complete statistics are available, arrests in the area—for robbery, felonious assault, larceny, narcotics, disorderly conduct, prostitution and other sex offenses—amounted to 25.6 per cent of the city's total.

The figure compares with 17.8 per cent in December, 1967, and 12.2 per cent in December, 1966. The Times Square area, particularly Eighth Avenue, has begun to draw increased police attention. Night workers complain that it is unsafe to pass through on their way home in the early morning hours.

Masons Slate Awards Banquet

The Dallas Consistory of Scottish Rite Masonry will host the Annual Howard County Awards Banquet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Cosden Country Club, according to Bob Kennedy, area co-ordinator of activities.

Douglas E. Pitts, a 33rd degree Scottish Rite Mason from Matador, will present awards. While there will be no charge to Master Masons attending the dinner, reservations should be made, Kennedy said.

A discussion of local Scottish Rite activities and organization of a Big Spring Scottish Rite Association will follow the award presentations.

City Pays

COLUMBUS, Miss. (AP) — The city came out the loser when a man made a left turn into the path of a city police car.

The offender paid a $17 traffic ticket — but the city had to pay $56 for repairs to the damaged squad car.

Kilauea Volcano Still Erupting

HONOLULU (AP) — Kilauea volcano on Hawaii island still is erupting.

Dr. Howard Powers, scientist in charge of the Hawaii Volcanoes National Park Observatory, said the latest outburst appeared to be farther down the rift zone from the area of the 55-hour eruption, which began Saturday.

The glow could be seen after dark. Lava flow from the weekend eruption covered an estimated 1,500 acres, most of it old lava. A large section of rain forest and three miles of the Chain of Craters Road were destroyed.

Ike Feels Well Enough To Read, Doctors Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's recovery from high-risk abdominal surgery has progressed to the point where he feels well enough to read, his doctors report.

Doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital said Tuesday that the 78-year-old general's recovery from his Sunday night operation to relieve an intestinal obstruction "is little short of remarkable."

In a bulletin issued Tuesday night the doctors said: "Gen. Eisenhower has spent a comfortable day. His cardiovascular status is remaining stable. Mrs. Eisenhower has visited him frequently during the day. He asked for his glasses and read for a brief period this afternoon."

Earlier, as an indication of the progress, the physicians noted that tea had been added to Eisenhower's diet and that his son felt the situation was well enough in hand to leave the hospital.

Eisenhower, who was in the hospital recovering from a series of heart attacks, went into surgery after doctors found an intestinal obstruction threatened his life.

The doctors did not say what Eisenhower was reading. But, in the past, doctors have said that his prime source of activity during convalescence was to read Western novels.

GRANT BOARDMAN

Boardman To Seek Second Trustee Term

Incumbent Grant Boardman has been the only person to file for the April 5 election of Big Spring Independent School District trustees, and the March 4 deadline is only six days away.

Boardman filed for re-election Tuesday with Don Crockett, school business manager, to seek a second term.

Two seats are up for election this year, including Boardman's and the position held by Jerry Currie. Currie has said that he will not seek re-election after completing his one three-year term on the board.

Boardman said Tuesday that the next three years will be interesting in Texas education. "The Governor's Committee of Public School Education and the Texas Legislature are taking a good look at education in the state," he said.

Boardman, manager of Sid Richardson Carbon Co., has been a Big Spring resident since 1961. He came here with the opening of the new plant and was named plant manager in 1964.

A native of Monroe, La., he graduated from Louisiana State University with a degree in chemical engineering.

Mrs. Boardman was reared in Independence, Mo., and the couple married in Fort Worth. They are members of the First Presbyterian Church, and Boardman is a member of the Rotary Club. The couple has three children, Calvin, a Big Spring High School graduate, and Barbara and Clint, who attend Big Spring schools.

'The Experiment' Fails To Please

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A head-on collision between the big business establishment and the younger generation was reported in crushing terms by "CBS Playhouse" drama on Tuesday night, an original play by Ellen M. Violett and perhaps the series, most disappointing effort to date.

The playwright assembled a series of characters, young and old, and were almost caricatures in speech, dress and ideals. Although the author obviously sided with the idealistic younger generation, they were all a pretty grubby lot.

The 90 minute drama called "The Experiment," opened with a student demonstration, and then moved on to two of the demonstrators, Tess Hayes and Wilson Evans, two students who were living together. Tess had writing ambitions and Wilson was a brilliant young scientist. The girl was the more militant of the two and her dearest possession was a poster-size picture of Che Guevara. The boy was long-haired and bearded and they both spoke that now monotonous jargon full of "You dig," "Fuzz," "Baby" and all the rest.

Then comes a recruiter for a big business outfit and persuaded Wilson to "join the team." Next thing we find the young couple, still without benefit of wedlock, part of the corporate establishment.

The scene then moved from

'Mary Jane' Vote

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — In a campus poll with nearly a third of the student body voting, Stanford University students favor legalizing marijuana but want a statewide educational campaign on the hazards of the drug methedrine.

The vote to legalize marijuana was nearly 2-1, but a slightly larger majority asked "more stringent penalties for persons convicted of selling methedrine" and favored "a serious statewide program" to point out its dangers.

More than 3,500 of the university's 11,400 students participated in the referendum.

Funds For Retired Tutors Available?

AUSTIN (AP) — Funds are available to give retired Texas school teachers a 6.67 per cent increase in their monthly benefits, says the teacher retirement system's associate director. Leonard Prewitt, the retirement executive, said the $30 million additional cost is available "because we have earned this much excess interest over what we have anticipated" on fund investments.

Prewitt testified before the House Public Education Committee on a retirement bill by its chairman, Rep. George Hinson of Mineola.

Hinson's bill would change the base for computing a teacher's monthly retirement benefit from an average of his best 10 years' salary to the best eight years. A teacher would get 1.6 per cent of this average for each year of service as his monthly benefit. The bill also would implement a 1968 constitutional amendment removing the $8,400 annual salary limit on which a teacher would make retirement contributions.

Hinson said a master's degree teacher with 48 years' service who now draws $339 a month in retirement income would receive $403.20 a month under his bill.

The bill was sent routinely to a subcommittee.

Committee members also heard and automatically sent to a subcommittee a bill by Rep. Dewitt Hale of Corpus Christi to change the base for allocating available school fund money and eliminate a requirement for an annual school census.

The available fund now is distributed on the basis of so many dollars per school-age child. Hale's bill would make the base the number of pupils actually attending school. This could have the effect of reducing state aid to districts with a large number of dropouts.

Hale's bill also would require school censuses every five years, which he said is all that is needed for district planning purposes. He estimated this would save the state $145,000 a year and local districts a total of $750,000 annually.

City Honors Roy Hester

Roy Hester, a city employee for 40 years, was honored by city commissioners at the meeting Tuesday night. Hester is the superintendent of the water treatment plant and will retire this month.

Mayor Arnold Marshall, in presenting Hester a plaque of appreciation, said that city employees of high quality, such as Hester, make Big Spring a good place to live.

Hester said that the city government had come a long way since he first started to work. He said that the utilities employees use to meet each morning in a dugout hut and then start work.

Repair facilities for the few city vehicles consisted of fence stretchers and a cottonwood tree. The pulley of the stretchers was attached to a limb of the tree and used to raise the vehicle so repairs could be made, he said.

Nuclear Damage Claims Are Paid

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Three Las Vegas residents were paid a total of $575 for damages to their homes after last December's underground nuclear test, the Atomic Energy Commission said Tuesday. The test was about 100 miles from here at the Nevada test site. The AEC said of the three claims that "investigators decided that it was credible that damage could have resulted from the underground detonation." Two other claims were withdrawn and five "were found not attributable to the test," the AEC said. Claims were paid for cracks in walls at two houses and a cracked wall and shifting roof line in the third. The AEC said a similar one-megaton explosion last April caused no property damage and none had been expected from the December blast.

Ambulance Service Given Flat Rate Renewal Subsidy

City commissioners renewed its ambulance franchise with Alert Ambulance Service Tuesday night. Two bids were received for the franchise, one from Alert, another from Baker Ambulance Service of Odessa. The Odessa firm asked that the city subsidize pay $995 a month. Under the bid submitted by L. A. Hiltbrunner, owner of Alert Ambulance, the city would have paid 80 per cent of unpaid debts owed the ambulance service for emergency runs within the city, the same arrangement as the current contract. The commissioners changed this so that Hiltbrunner will receive a $200 a month flat rate service charge. During the past two years of the contract between the city and Alert, the average monthly payment by the city on unpaid debts was $215. Commissioners voted formal approval of a contract between the city and Big Spring Independent School District to build a park at Airport School. By terms of the agreement, worked out at a recent luncheon meeting between the two agencies, the city will pay $9,000 of the cost of the project and the school will underwrite the balance. The city will install a sprinkling system with its share of the costs. Novis Womack's contract with the city, county, junior college

FROM STOLEN UNORDERED CREDIT CARDS
Claims Texans Need Protection

AUSTIN (AP)—Texans need protection from liability for purchases made on stolen, unordered credit cards, says Rep. Jack Blanton of Carrollton. Blanton told the House Judiciary Committee about a friend who was trapped by an unwanted credit card into a big pile of gasoline bills. The friend, Blanton said, did not know the card was in a stack of "junk mail" he let accumulate on his desk.

Someone got hold of the card and took a trip to California. Blanton's friend had to pay the gasoline bill. It was the first he knew the card had been sent to him. Blanton advocated action on his bill to relieve persons from responsibility for credit card purchases unless they have signed or given receipt for the card. The bill automatically was sent to a subcommittee.

Another bill by Blanton, also sent to a subcommittee, would provide for removal of the legal disabilities of minors who apply for police jobs if their parents live out of state. He said present law does not cover such cases. "This bill will affect a great many of the larger cities in Texas," he said. "These men come from out of state, and police work is the magnet. If they have to wait 1 1/2 years to go to work, they find jobs in industry and are forever lost to police work." Asst. City Atty. Harry Hobbs of Dallas said most of the young men who come there looking for police jobs are under 21. Rep. Temple Dickson of Sweetwater presented his bill to remove the doctrine of governmental immunity in lawsuits arising from accidents involving motor vehicles and other motor-driven equipment. "This is a reasonable bill—a bill that would not, as they said, open the sluice gates and open Pandora's box," Dickson said on an interim committee that said England originated the doctrine in a 1739 case.

"In 30 years, England rejected her own doctrine but like the Hong Kong flu it quickly spread to America and to all 50 states," he said. Kronzer said liability insurance to protect cities in such suits would cost all levels of government in Texas $7.7 million a year. Dickson's bill would make governments liable for personal injuries—but not property damage—up to $100,000 per person and $300,000 per accident. It does not include accidents arising from police or fire department emergency calls, injuries connected with quelling civil disturbances or claims of excessive police action. The bill was routinely sent to a subcommittee.

Commissioners Decide Against Damage Claim

A $481.85 damages claim asked by Mrs. Pauline Beck, owner of the Trail's End Motel, was denied by city commissioners meeting Tuesday night. The damage to one of the rooms at Mrs. Beck's motel resulted from the Dec. 23 capture of two escaped Oklahoma convicts who occupied the room. Two charges of tear gas were fired into the room by local police in apprehending the men. City Attorney Herbert Prouty recommended that the commissioners deny Mrs. Beck's claim. "Since the operation of law enforcement is a governmental function, we are definitely not liable for these damages," Prouty told the commissioners in a memorandum. Commissioner Walter Stroup said that he was in sympathy with Mrs. Beck; however, by granting her request the city would set a precedent that could prove even more expensive for the city in the future. Two requests by J. D. Jones Construction Company were granted. Extension of the completion dates on the clearwell and bulk chemical facility at the water filter plant were granted. Jones said that he had difficulty in getting workers and parts for the projects. The commissioners granted the extensions with the understanding that Jones would pay the salary of an inspector during the extension period.

Protest Dims At Stillman

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Fewer than 25 students remained locked inside the Student Union building at Stillman College today as part of a protest that began with a class boycott a week ago. The school was closed by its president, Dr. Harold Stinson, over the weekend and most of the students have left. As many as 200 had been in the Student Union at one time but this number dwindled to approximately 50 by the time of a 1 p. m. Monday deadline to leave the campus. The number dwindled still further Tuesday when it appeared the administration would take no drastic action to remove the protestors. "We're going to give every opportunity to leave on their own," a college spokesman said. "Beyond that, we have made no kind of commitment." The Presbyterian Church-supported school of about 800 students was closed in the face of sit-ins and boycotts by students in support of a list of complaints. Among the complaints were poor food and service in the cafeteria, discourteous treatment by some faculty members and no academic or athletic scholarships.

'Hot' Taxpayer

BONN (AP) — Police said a 57-year-old businessman disgruntled by what he regarded as unjust taxation soaked his topcoat with gasoline and set it alight Tuesday at the finance ministry. A porter put out the flames before the irate taxpayer could suffer serious injury.

A Devotional For The Day

"Whoever gives to one of these little ones even a cup of cold water because he is a disciple, truly, I say to you, he shall not lose his reward." (Matthew 10:42, RSV)

PRAYER: O God, help us to be aware of the many opportunities for Christian service around us. For our example we look to Thy Son, the greatest servant of all. In His name we pray. Amen.

No Reason To Stop

There may arise from some quarters a hue and cry to cease the development of off-shore oil and gas leases because of the experience of Union Oil's well off Santa Barbara. This would be sheer nonsense — the cutting off an economic nose to spare the face. Both private companies and the people who work for them and who own them have a stake in this sort of development as do the state and national treasuries.

Thus, orderly development should continue. But the lessons of Santa Barbara, not to mention that of England and the leaky Torrey Canyon oil tanker fouled beaches, should be a warning to review all steps not required for development of off-shore leases.

For Texas this will be no easy task, for this state has 10.35 miles seaward along a 367-mile stretch. It may be that some reforms and some new regulations are in order. These will cost money to effect, but this must be figured into the cost of doing business, either in lesser lease offerings or in higher product costs.

No system will be absolutely fool-proof, for some situations beyond human capacity to prevent will occur. We do need, however, to make sure that we are doing all we can to safeguard against pollution as a by-product of production.

Something To Chew On

Gov. Preston Smith's initial tax proposal was a stiff one, but then this should have surprised no one in view of the demands being made upon the state for more services and upgrading educational opportunity and teacher pay.

What is surprising, however, is that the vast bulk of the proposals are direct consumer levies. Perhaps they have the virtue of directness to commend them, for in the end most taxes are absorbed by the consumer.

Yet, all elements of our society should be called upon to bear proportionate shares of the cost of administering government and programs to serve that society. That should apply whether the creation is a human being or a corporate entity.

It may be that there are other proposals to come. For Speaker Gus Mutscher indicated that he expected additional recommendations from the governor. He also indicated that there would be close scrutiny to see if there were areas where justifiable economies might be effected.

At any rate, the governor has given the legislature something to chew on early enough in the session to permit adequate study and debate. He is to be commended by facing up to the realities without procrastination.

To Whom Are Congressmen Obligated?

WASHINGTON — There is a strange example of "conflict of interest" which doesn't seem to have caused any dismay in Congress. Maybe this is because it has been going on for a long time. Thus, the House and Senate Democrats have set up an annual fund-raising dinner for Monday, May 12, and the Republicans have arranged for a similar dinner on April 2, to collect money for their respective 1970 congressional campaigns. The Democrats have put a price tag of $500 per plate on their dinner, while the Republicans are asking their guests to pay $1,000 per plate.

A UPI DISPATCH says: "Many of the tickets are bought by lobbyists, and generally the same lobbyists can be found at both dinners."

The recent uproar about "conflict of interest" was related to the possibility that new appointees of the executive branch of the government would still retain stock ownership or other ties with the companies where they were previously employed. The argument was made that the award of government contracts might have a relationship to the firms with which the officials had been connected and to which they may return.

BUT APPARENTLY members of Congress do not mind receiving money for their political campaigns from the individual "lobbyists" who have a direct interest in legislation. The Democrats in Congress are trying to raise in excess of a million dollars at their dinner, while the Republicans expect to collect an even larger sum at their festive occasion.

Many of the "lobbyists" are representatives of companies which are the recipients of government contracts involving billions of dollars. They patronize Republican and Democratic dinners because they want to maintain friends on both sides. They never know when something that concerns them will come up and will be handled by persons of influence.

Billy Graham

How can I be a Christian and follow the teachings of Jesus when people tell lies about me? W.Y. People lie about me, too! But I never let it bother me. Jesus said all lies come from the devil who is the father of lies (John 8:44).

However, could it be that your friends do not share your high opinion of yourself? It is easy for a person to be deluded into thinking he is better than he really is. Robert Burns said, "O that some power the gift would give us, to see ourselves as others see us."

Someone has said: "It's not the scandalous lie that hurts a man, but the scandalous truth."

But if these lies are untrue, then you should not be too disturbed. Jesus said, "Blessed are ye when men revile you, and persecute you for righteousness sake." Many people look upon the true Christian analytically. They would like to debunk them, and thus drag them down to their own level. This would make Christianity a myth, and relieve them of the obligation to follow Christ. The Christian's duty is to so live that men are convinced of our genuineness and sincerity. May God give you the power to do this.

New Pressures On Money Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Two well known economic consultants have documented what they fear is a developing confrontation between the forces of expansion and those of economic stability.

The consequence, in the view of these men, is more than just disturbing. It means that the nation is gripped by an inflationary psychology in which spending is accelerated to avoid even higher costs in the future.

IT MEANS that inflation will be a good deal more difficult to cool than is now admitted; it might mean that interest rates will rise much more; and in the view of one, a tax increase might be called for.

The coming battle, they say, pits on one side the expansionary forces of business. On the other is a Nixon administration committed to fighting inflation as the No. 1 enemy of the economy. In a news conference this week, Pierre Rinfret, head of Rinfret Boston Associates, stated that a continuing study of capital spending plans by business shows a huge increase since last fall.

RINFRET FOUND in a survey late last year that business planned to spend about 7 per cent more in 1969 than it did in 1968, or a total of about $69 billion. A survey now projects that total to $73.3 billion, or nearly 14 per cent more than a year ago, and shows that the planned increases are "widely spread" throughout industry and are not concentrated in any one sector.

Ralph Creasman, president of Lionel Edie & Co., stated in an interview his company also is revising upwards its forecast of capital spending.

THE CONSEQUENCES of these increases, Creasman said, are that it will be more difficult to cool the economy than has so far been indicated from Washington, that there will be more pressures on money markets, and that there will be little drop in interest rates.

Business has decided, said Creasman, that efforts to control inflation are not working. In an effort to outrace rising prices, therefore, they have decided to build bigger and more efficient plants.

He'd Snap His Suspenders

NEW YORK (AP) — A good life is determined by the quality of its memories.

Pity that man whose memories haunt him with terror and regret instead of giving him abiding joy. If we have lived reasonably well, the recollection of the past should not hurt us too much but give us pleasure, as does a refreshing fountain.

One of the nicer things about memories is that sharing them does not diminish them—either in number or vividness. It enhances and restores them. And you've got a pretty happy collection yourself if you can look back and remember when—

THE FIRST BIG problem you faced when you awoke in the morning was trying to recall where you parked your wad of chewing gum the night before. When a fellow told a funny story, just before he reached the punchline he'd snap his suspenders in anticipatory glee.

It was a real test of courage for a boy to bank the furnace on a wintry night, for he felt sure ghosts lurked among the flickering shadows of the darkened coal bin—ghosts that might follow him up the basement stairs and clutch at him from behind. Everybody in the family went to see the same movies, regardless of whether he was under 16 or over 16.

As soon as a boy became strong enough to crank the car and set the engine to sputtering, he insisted he was a man and began demanding the right to wear long pants.

What Happens In Penicillin Reaction

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I understand that some people have reaction to penicillin. What type of reaction can one expect? What actually takes place in the body's system? Would it be safe to take penicillin again? —H.G.

You understand correctly. Some people do have penicillin reactions, but some folks also have reactions to other drugs — aspirin, barbiturates, iodides, the oral drugs for diabetes, various sulfas all are known to cause reactions in some individuals. And that doesn't exhaust the list.

Penicillin has been mentioned quite frequently, in part just because it is a very useful drug and much of it is used in a year. A great many people are given penicillin, millions, and among those millions some will be hypersensitive to it.

THEN LAY OFF You shouldn't "expect" a reaction just because you are given penicillin. Only a minority of folks have such sensitivity — but once a person has a reaction from that drug, he shouldn't take any more of it. He most likely will continue to be sensitive from then on, and subsequent may be worse.

Reactions include such things as hives, diffuse rash, swelling of the lymph glands, fever, sometimes others. In some instances the patient may go into shock, and one can never know when such a serious reaction may occur in a susceptible individual. Treatment consists of stopping the medication, of course; use of antihistamines for the milder symptoms, epinephrine in more severe ones, and in some cases use of steroid (cortisone-type) drugs by mouth or by injection.

As to what actually takes place in the body when a reaction occurs, detailed studies have been made, yet the exact mechanism is not yet clear. Though some of the symptoms resemble those of allergy, it has not been possible to show that certain antibody formations, which are typical of allergy, occur in drug reactions. So we call it drug sensitivity — which is a good name for it — without being able to say exactly how it works in the body.

WHEN REACTION COMES Keep in mind that a reaction does not occur with the first use of a drug. The patient must become "sensitized," and the reactions come on later exposures. In fact, the first few doses may not cause trouble, but when (or rather if) a reaction finally occurs, you've had your warning. Do not use that drug but insist on another type of antibiotic.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 13 and late developing. I heard that sleeping on a hard floor twice a week helps you to develop. Is this true? What other way can you help me? —P.F.

Somebody must be trying to tease you with that hard floor story. Pay no attention.

How else can I help you? Just by assuring you that at 13 you aren't "late" at all, just not as early as some of the early-developers. Be patient a little longer, sweetie.

COULD BE TROUBLE

Dear Dr. Thosteson: For some time now whenever I have a bowel movement it is almost black. I have not been to a doctor because I am feeling quite well. —K.A.K.

Maybe you feel good, but that black stool, while it could be from some other cause, usually indicates bleeding fairly high in the intestinal tract. Therefore no more delay in getting you your doctor! It may or may not indicate serious trouble starting, but better to correct such troubles before you feel ill rather than after they have done too much damage. Medications as iron or bismuth preparations can produce a dark to black stool.

You can lose weight if you really want to! Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and with no gimmicks — to the level best suited to your individual needs. For a copy, write to Dr. Thosteson, care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Around The Rim

Accusing Conscience

Conscience can be a damning thing, torturing to the point of retribution.

AS A LAD, I had the distinct impression that going to school every day, unless stricken mortally with the flu, leprosy or carbuncles, was a bounden duty. This feeling was fortified by the ritual of minute inspection of each and every report card that included a survey of every column from days attendance, days absence, on time, conduct to subject grades. Even a mark for being late called for an explanation. I shuddered to think what it would be like without an authorized absence.

Under these circumstances, playing hooky was unthinkable. When this was proposed, I always found some excuse for begging off and going on about my school business. I knew some of these fellows forged excuses to satisfy the school authorities, but I couldn't imagine how they could possibly explain that tell-tale absence on their report cards.

ONE DAY, however, during recess right at the end of school, a couple of my friends caught some burros which roamed freely over the town. They suggested that we ride off for the rest of the day. Furtively, we faded off aboard the donkeys — hardly a lightning get away — and headed out of sight.

I could feel the hot breath of the principal breathing down my back. Each block that the beast trotted along, I knew this was the moment that the teacher had checked the seats, had missed me, and was sounding the alarm.

FINALLY, we got half a mile or so away from school and I hadn't been overtaken. Nevertheless, I didn't feel as carefree as my friends; in fact, I felt pretty miserable.

We rode out to the old Jones swimming pool, located near where the driver's license office is now maintained on Birdwell Lane. The others were all for slipping into the pool, but I made some lame excuse about holding the donkeys. There were some of the young people — seniors I guess — in swimming and having a wonderful time. But I couldn't think of what I was going to say when my parents asked where I had been, or what the teacher would say when I got to school later, or how that absent mark on my card could be explained.

AFTER AN EON, we made our way back to town, arriving at noontide. I slipped into my Dad's grocery store, hoping that it would appear that school had just turned out for lunch.

"How come them to turn school out early?" he asked. He knows, I thought. Someone has spilled the beans. So I muttered something about not noticing it was early. "What were all those kids coming by for?" he wanted to know.

"OH, THAT," I stilled. "I guess they just decided to let them, I mean us, out on account of — I guess I just wasn't listening..."

School had indeed been turned out right after recess. Fate had spared me the moment of reckoning with my teacher, and with my parents. No matter, my conscience already had punished me. Never again did I ever consider playing hooky.

What We Can Do in Nuclear Defense

WASHINGTON — Almost every new weapon must fight its way into the American arsenal. This was true as far back as the use of ironclads, submarines and balloons by both sides in the Civil War, and true in a dramatic fashion when Gen. Billy Mitchell introduced the aerial bomber, and Adm. Hyman Rickover the nuclear-powered submarine.

IT IS TRUE today as Defense Secretary Laird fights a subliminal battle against pacifism, pennypinching, intellectual inertia and policy-subversion to preserve the nullifying weapons-system against the dreaded nuclear missile. The nomenclature can be confusing — ABA, Nike-X, Sprint, Spartan, Sentinel (landbased), SABMIS (seabased). But the principle is clear. We've got to have a missile-stopper.

Laird, a staunch man but semibattled by his opponents, now says it's not a question of "whether" but "how" to get it done. There's also the question of "how" and not "whether" the matter should be written about. Attack the peace-mongers? Revile the penny-pinchers? Expose the subversives? Rebut the can't-be-done arguments of those who say there's no technological defense against nuclear warheads?

TWO REPUBLICAN senators, Cooper (Ky.) and Percy (Ill.), have preached technological pessimism to the point of defeatism. The Defense Department answers, being technical and tedious, are seldom heard, but they should be. Pentagon planners say that Russian missiles can be destroyed in flight by a combination of close-in defenses (Sentinel) and a forward, seabased defense (SABMIS). It is not wishful guesswork, but military fact.

In 1959 an MIT study examined the possibility of oceanic anti-missile. The U.S. Navy's office of Offensive and Defensive Systems, now under direction of Rear Adm. George Miller, found the research sound but the "hardware" deficient. The defeatists of that day made two points. First, "You can't hit a bullet with a bullet, and certainly not at sea." Second, "Any ABM system would be too large for any ship."

BUT BY 1964 the Hughes Aircraft Company commenced a vital research-into-development breakthrough. The "hardware" was becoming available. There was PARS (perimeter acquisition radars). There was MSR (missile site radar). There was Phased ARRAY Radar. It substituted electronic steering for mechanical steering of defective devices. It allowed the simultaneous picking out of many airborne targets. There was the discovery of high-energy X-ray bursts in nuclear explosions.

These advanced radars were placed on two naval vessels, the carrier Enterprise and the guided missile cruiser Long Beach. The new missile launchers were tested on the test-ship Observation Island. One argument of the defeatists was defeated. ABM systems were not too out-sized for shipboard.

THE OTHER defeatist argument, "You can't hit a bullet with a bullet," was later destroyed. With nuclear X-ray bursts it wasn't necessary to "hit" a bullet or missile. It was only necessary to get a burst within 10 or 12 miles of the incoming projectile.

In fact, we can defend ourselves, by sea as well as by land. So long as Melvin Laird remains Defense Secretary, it will never be "whether." It will always be "how." (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Gov. Smith Asks

$4.95 Million To Run His Office

By GARTH JONES

The job of being Texas' governor has become increasingly more complex and complicated, just like the jobs of many other Texans.

There was the day, back in the 1880s, when the governor had a staff of three — himself, his private secretary and a porter.

In 1893, Gov. James Hogg had a private secretary, a stenographic clerk and a porter. The entire expenses of Hogg's office totaled $32,270 for two years. Hogg asked the legislature for another $1,500 a year for extra help but when it was granted he vetoed it, saying the state was hardpressed financially and couldn't afford it.

LAST WEEK, Gov. Preston Smith asked for $4.95 million the next two years to run his office, which now has roughly 125 employees.

Smith's request compared to the estimated $2.3 million spent the last two years of Gov. John Connally's administration. Connally's office had 90 to 95 employees.

"It's amazing the tremendous growth the last few years of the responsibilities of the governor's office, particularly in planning and administering state-federal-local programs," said a budget maker who thinks Smith likely will get most of what he asked. Much of the state money will be matched with federal funds.

"So many of these joint programs got under way during the Connally administration when we had no money for them. Now we've got to get money directly for these projects."

THE BUDGETEER noted that $500,000 alone is asked to assist metropolitan and rural regional planning agencies. A coastal resources study will take $200,000. One item in Smith's budget did not bother governors in Hogg's day — a request for $125,000 to operate "a state-owned executive aircraft." Connally spent about $62,000 for the purpose.

Historians of the governor's office say the first major addition to budgets of early day governors appeared in 1901 when salaries were provided for a Board of Pardon advisors and a state revenue agent.

Even at the beginning of World War I, the staff of the governor was small and highly personal in operation. Gov. William P. Hobby in 1918 had a secretary, an assistant secretary, a stenographer and a porter. Creation of the State Board of Control in 1919 was the first of a long line of executive agencies attached to the governor's office with resulting expansion of staff.

GOV. ALLAN SHIVERS' staff consisted of about 30 persons. Gov. Price Daniel increased the staff to 56 full time and 15 part-time workers, including direction of special divisions for traffic safety, Civil Defense, executive budget, tax consultant, and coordinator for services to the aged.

A recent Texas Research League report on the governor's office said it takes 17 single-spaced typed pages just to list the duties and responsibilities of the governor. The league recommended that the office be divested of such satellite agencies as the committee to aging, the state building commission and the tourist development agency.

Even then, the Research League estimated, a modern day Texas governor should have a staff of at least 110 employees.

HC Claims 3rd Title In Row

By TOMMY HART
Clarendon offered maximum resistance here Tuesday night but the Howard County Junior College Jayhawks bounced the Bulldogs, 88-79, to pack away their third consecutive Western Conference championship.
The Hawks will be idle until next Monday, when they host New Mexico Military Institute in their final regular season game of the season. NMMI handed the locals their only league defeat of the season. HC was to have ventured to Borger Friday night to tangle with Frank Phillips but the Plainsmen, due to a death on the team, have forfeited the game.
Counting the forfeit, the Hawks are now 14-1 in the race for scoring honors. At the time, the locals were in command, 85-76.
The ability of Rene Ornez and Jackie Baker to pierce the HC defenses gave the locals no end of trouble. Ornez emerged with

From all indications, the District 3-AAAA basketball power trust will be centralized in Midland and not Odessa next season.
Randy Prince will be back at Midland Lee and that should be enough to rate the Rebels at the top. Midland High will be better, too. So will San Angelo.

In case you're wondering how Mickey Mantle and Joe Namath did in that recent Astrojet Golf tournament at Carlsbad, N.M., they didn't fare badly.
Between them, they shared a prize of $666, which means they tied for sixth place. They were in a challenging position until the last day, when they had a ball score of 68.

Big Spring's R. L. Lasater still shares the 100-yard dash record in the Canyon Reef Relays in Snyder having covered the distance in 9.7 in 1960.
On a couple of occasions, Lasater ran so fast in cinder shows, the judges refused to believe their watches and deliberately added fractions to his times. One of those incidents occurred at the Comanche Relays in Fort Stockton.

The sale of fishing licenses in the state are up over 20 per cent this year while the demand for hunting licenses have boomed 6.1 per cent among residents and 29 per cent for non-residents.
More and more people from other areas are hearing of Texas' fine deer crop. Their lust for adventure helps the state's tourist industry.

Sport Magazine is advocating a merger of the two pro football leagues plus more expansion to include Seattle and Phoenix.
The periodical would reduce the number of NFL teams to 14, which it would divide equally into two divisions.
The plot would assign Dallas in the South division with Atlanta, Cincinnati, Houston, Miami, New Orleans and Washington and throw Baltimore in the East with Boston, Cleveland, New York's Giants, New York Jets, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Major league baseball desperately needs a realignment, too, and the possible addition of the Dallas-Fort Worth area.
The track and field district involving Sands and Gail will embrace 11 teams, in all.
Other members are Sundown, which will host the show March 28, Meadow, Union, New Home, Ropesville, Klondike, Flower Grove, Dawson and Loop.

Robert Jackson, the HCJC cage standout, may 'go football' after leaving the local school.
UT-El Paso has been making overtures to him. Several senior colleges are extending basketball offers to him, too.

The largest crowd in the history of New Mexico Junior College saw HCJC dribble the Hobbs team in Hobbs the other night. The Hawks are proving to be a good gate lure wherever they go.
The local collegians would probably do better at the gate here if their facilities were better and bigger. It's come to the point where they play in the worst gym in the Western Conference, now that Clarendon has opened a new facility.

The Hawks need a new fieldhouse that not only needs more pews for the interested but better dressing rooms. The dressing facility they now use looks more like a broom closet.

Aggies Kings Of SWC Hill Following Win

By The Associated Press
Texas A&M is king of the 1969 Southwest Conference basketball title chase because of what coach Shelby Metcalf calls "courage and composure."
The Aggies wrapped up the championship Tuesday night in uncharacteristic fashion with a runaway 79-66 victory over Arkansas. It was a far cry from the six one-point league victories A&M claimed in its march to the crown.
Texas Christian, the defending champion, gave a helping hand, overcoming a 12-point Baylor lead to down the Bears 70-66.
Christian, the defending champion, gave a helping hand, overcoming a 12-point Baylor lead to down the Bears 70-66.
Metcalf, plunked unceremoniously into the shower, pronounced the clutch-playing ability of his "cardiac cadets."
He said, "They've got to be one of the better teams I've ever coached. I'm real pleased. That Ronnie Peret has got a world of ability, and Billy Bob Barnett is as fine a competitor as they come."
The dressing room was chaos following the Aggie victory and announcement of the TCU score. "Everybody in here was thrown into the shower, including the yell leaders, the trainers, and the managers," Metcalf said.
What about athletic director Gene Stallings?
"If we had found him we would have given him second thought we might not have," Metcalf answered.
Metcalf said he was unhappy that the conference representative had to play in the university divisional playoffs before it could qualify for the Midwest regionals.
"Let's see, the last time the Southwest Conference had to do that was in 1964 when A&M won the championship," Metcalf said. "Looks kind of funny, doesn't it?"
The Aggies will meet Trinity of the Southland Conference at Fort Worth March 8 for the right to advance to the regionals. Dayton and Colorado State will tangle in the other contest.

Two Astros Are Hospitalized

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — The Houston Astros awaited medical reports today at their spring training camp on two prime pitching candidates injured in a traffic accident.
Jim Ray and Howie Reed, both righthanders, were taken to a Rockledge, Fla., hospital for observation overnight after a car driven by Ray collided with another vehicle Tuesday.

Pension Feud At End; Teams Turn To Work

By The Associated Press
Baseball's spring training camps were expected to begin assembling major league installations today in the wake of the settlement of the nagging pension dispute between the owners and Players Association.
Veteran players who had refused to sign contracts or report to camp while the pension issue was being negotiated, had the green light to play ball from Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association.
It was a marathon negotiating session between Miller and John Gaherin, the owners' representative that ended early Tuesday, which led to the $5.45 million compromise pension package and settlement of the boycott.
SEVERAL SIGN
And within a matter of hours after the settlement was reached, several players had signed contracts and said they would begin working out today.
General Manager Jim Campbell of the world champion Detroit Tigers had the busiest day. He signed nine veterans including pitchers Joe Spina, John Hiller and Pat Dohson and pinch hitting specialist Gates Brown.
Catcher Tim McCarver, player representative of the St. Louis Cardinals, called General Manager Bing Devine from New York to report the settlement and agree to terms for 1969.
Cincinnati enrolled pitchers George Culver, who hurled a no-hitter last season, and Tony Cloninger as well as outfielder Bobby Tolan and infielder Jimmy Stewart. Tolan was acquired from St. Louis in the trade for Vada Pinson and is expected to be a regular for the Reds.
Stan Bahnsen, the New York pitcher who was the American League's rookie of the year in 1968 signed with the Yankees, leaving five players including Mickey Mantle still unsigned. Mantle is expected to arrive at the Yankees' Fort Lauderdale, Fla., training site Friday.
While the Yankees were waiting on Mantle, another superstar, San Francisco's Willie Mays, was waiting on the Giants.
FILMING SHOWS
Mays has been at the Giants' Casa Grande, Ariz., camp since Monday, filming some television shows. Chub Feeney, the Giants' vice president who negotiates contracts, is due there today. Mays said, "I'm ready anytime they get this thing over," before the settlement was reached.
Tony Horton, a first baseman and shortstop Larry Brown signed Cleveland contracts and joined the Indians' workout at Tucson, Ariz., while pitchers Al Jackson and Ron Taylor agreed to terms with the New York Mets following the pension agreement.
The team in the most trouble as far as satisfied players is concerned seemed to be the Minnesota Twins. President Calvin Griffith admitted that he had signed only 23 of the 42-man squad.
Included among the dissatisfied Minnesota players were sluggers Harmon Killebrew, Tony Oliva and Bob Allison, speedy Cesar Tovar and pitchers Jim Kaat, Dean Chance and Dave Boswell.
Chance in fact, was totally unconcerned with baseball Monday. He turned up at a New York press conference to introduce light heavyweight boxer Ray Anderson. Chance said he will manage Anderson and also promote fights as president of Ohio Boxing, Inc.

Van Pelt Back At Odessa Hi

Bill (Chop) Van Pelt, one-time star guard of the Big Spring Steers and later a Big Spring coaching aide, is returning to Odessa High School as a coaching aide under Joe Means.
Van Pelt, who attended Austin College in Sherman has been an aide to Hank Wadkins at McAllen the past several years.
Van Pelt will serve as line coach under Means and, in addition, be the assistant track coach.
At Odessa High, he replaces Jimmy Jones, who moves across town to become head track coach at Permian High School.

Dashing Doug In Comeback

MIAMI (AP) — Dashing Doug Sanders is out to change his image — on the golf course.
Sanders, who won $109,455 on the tour in 1967 but only $38,131.17 last year, is attempting something of a comeback in the $150,000 Doral Open which starts Thursday.
Dapper Doug has won the Doral Tournament twice — in 1965 and 1967 — and holds the 72-hole tournament record of 274 for his 1965 victory.
Sanders, 35, has won 17 tournaments during 12 years on the tour and stands sixth, at more than $500,000, on the all-time money list.
This year, the tour's Beau Brummel has won only $1,542.28 in four tournaments, and is 100th on the 1969 money list. His best showing was a tie for 31st in last month's Bing Crosby.
Sanders got married last August for the third time, but he has not won a tournament since the Doral in 1967.
He blames his victory drought on his business interests, not his marriage or his legendary nightlife.
"Playing golf demands 24 hour attention but so does business," he said. "Right now I want to give a lot more time to golf."
Sanders has to be considered a threat at Doral, the first stop on pro golf's Florida tour.
A former University of Florida star, he's at home on Florida's grainy greens and knows how to play in the winds and keep the ball low.

Texas Baptist Schools Gain Vote Of Confidence

DALLAS (AP)—Texas Baptist schools received a vote of confidence Tuesday when the Texas Baptist Christian Education Commission avoided drastic measures proposed in the controversial Carden report.

The report had recommended, among other things, that Howard Payne College at Brownwood and Wayland College at Big Spring (Texas) Herald,

Plainview be sold to local tax districts, that East Texas Baptist College become primarily one for religious vocations and that the University of Corpus Christi be given an independent board and "allowed to determine its own future."

The four institutions will continue to be affiliated with Baptist education under their present structures as a result of the commission's action.

Recommendations of a committee of 12 urged the actions of the commission.

Graduate programs were pared, and only Baylor University and Hardin-Simmons University will offer advanced degrees, with Baylor serving as the major producer. Graduate study-minded students at other Baptist schools will be encouraged to pursue their studies at Baylor.

The commission will also exercise what a spokesman called a "latent responsibility" to serve as a coordinating and counseling agency for Texas Baptist colleges.

Among other recommendations of the Committee of 12 were:

—That Mary-Hardin-Baylor College be kept under the sponsorship of the Baptist General Convention as a separate school —That Dallas Baptist College and Houston Baptist College continue to be developed as four-year liberal arts colleges but that expansion into specialized education beyond the liberal arts not be attempted.

Also adopted was a recommendation that a team be appointed to research and recommend action for solution of any difficulty encountered by a Texas Baptist College and that no new degree program be undertaken without approval of the Christian Education Commission.

The Committee of 12 will split into four subcommittees which will study relation of the Christian Education Commission to the schools, financing of schools, five-year projection of roles and enrollment at each school and the San Marcos Academy. The committee will make a final report in July with a possible interim report at the April Christian Education Commission meeting at Howard Payne.

Residents were reminded today that "Mark Twain" will entertain guests Friday at 8 p.m. in the Downtown Theatre, in the person of Al Scott, and sponsored by the Little Theatre of Big Spring.

Coffee will be served and the charge will be 50 cents. Scott has added considerably to his original skit on the noted humorist's comments, and those who have seen the preview predict even those who have seen the short version will enjoy the longer program.

"Coffee with Mark Twain" includes many of the humorous sayings, gleaned by Scott from the humorist's works, including a few surprises. It is a must for those who have not seen Scott's interpretation, and those who have laughed through it before, will find even more to enjoy. Erven Fisher, program chairman, said.

Three persons pleaded guilty Tuesday before Judge Lee Porter in Howard County Court, Macedonio Caballero and Eddie Alvarez Chavez pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated and each was fined $50 plus court costs and given three months probation.

The Rev. Haywood Henry, Midland, pleaded guilty to worthless check writing and was fined $1 plus court costs.

Butcher said he had been told not to discuss the matter in his classes. But he said if a student asks him a question about it, he would answer the question.

Asked who told him not to discuss it, Butcher said: "Word came down."

Butcher said McCrocklin still has not explained why he failed to credit a Marine Corps document that made up 56 per cent of his doctoral dissertation.

McCrocklin, in his first public statement on the six-month-old controversy, told a news conference Monday night that he did credit the Marine document.

Butcher said McCrocklin credited the document two years after, not before, he got his doctorate. Further, Butcher said, McCrocklin did it only because he was the Naval Institute which published the dissertation in book form, insisted on it.

"The Naval Institute picked up the duplication, but they already had spent so much money preparing it for publication they didn't want to throw it away, so they listed McCrocklin as 'compiler' instead of 'author' and forced him to credit the Hart Report in a preface," Butcher said.

Butcher said the 1954 dissertation, approved by the University of Texas graduate school not only fails to mention Gen. Franklin Hart's 1939 Report on American intervention in Haiti from 1914-1934, but that "the overwhelming majority" of the identical sentences have no quotation marks around them. They are presented as McCrocklin's own work," he said.

"It's an emotional thing," Butcher said. "You look at it and say, 'My God, it's true!'"

Even some full professors are thinking of quitting, Butcher said.

Young people who saw a preview of "Two A Penny," opening today at the Cinema in College Park for a six-day run, give it a good rating.

The film, in wide screen and full color with striking scenes taken in London, is a production of World Wide Pictures, the movie organization of the Billy Graham enterprises. A number of adults who saw the picture praised it as the best of the World Wide pictures. It stars Cliff Richard and Carol Turner.

Advanced tickets go off sale at 2:30 p.m. Thursday; thereafter reservations may be made at Cinema.

"It tells about today's problem of today's teen-agers," commented one young person after the show.

"It really explains young people today," said another. Another added: "It showed that God understands us and our doubts."

"I think it will help a person troubled by life," observed a youth, and another said it "was interesting, but it didn't really make you feel good."

Still another said that "young people search for so much but are often scared to say what they think," and a friend added that "every teenager ought to see it; maybe they will be able to find out what they are searching for."

"It told it like it really is and how some people really feel," was the opinion of another. "Teenagers want to know it if someone will show them the way. I feel 'Two A Penny' can do this."

Echoing this, a young person said "it is pretty good. It tells it like it really is instead of what is usually heard." To this a youth added "It's what kids want." And "The actors weren't just playing their parts; they seemed they were living there."

Butcher said he had been told not to discuss the matter in his classes. But he said if a student asks him a question about it, he would answer the question.

Young people who saw a preview of "Two A Penny," opening today at the Cinema in College Park for a six-day run, give it a good rating.

The film, in wide screen and full color with striking scenes taken in London, is a production of World Wide Pictures, the movie organization of the Billy Graham enterprises. A number of adults who saw the picture praised it as the best of the World Wide pictures. It stars Cliff Richard and Carol Turner.

Advanced tickets go off sale at 2:30 p.m. Thursday; thereafter reservations may be made at Cinema.

"It tells about today's problem of today's teen-agers," commented one young person after the show.

"It really explains young people today," said another. Another added: "It showed that God understands us and our doubts."

"I think it will help a person

troubled by life," observed a youth, and another said it "was interesting, but it didn't really make you feel good."

Still another said that "young people search for so much but are often scared to say what they think," and a friend added that "every teenager ought to see it; maybe they will be able to find out what they are searching for."

"It told it like it really is and how some people really feel," was the opinion of another. "Teenagers want to know it if someone will show them the way. I feel 'Two A Penny' can do this."

Echoing this, a young person said "it is pretty good. It tells it like it really is instead of what is usually heard." To this a youth added "It's what kids want." And "The actors weren't just playing their parts; they seemed they were living there."

Butcher said he had been told not to discuss the matter in his classes. But he said if a student asks him a question about it, he would answer the question.

Asked who told him not to discuss it, Butcher said: "Word came down."

Butcher said McCrocklin still has not explained why he failed to credit a Marine Corps document that made up 56 per cent of his doctoral dissertation.

McCrocklin, in his first public statement on the six-month-old controversy, told a news conference Monday night that he did credit the Marine document.

Butcher said McCrocklin credited the document two years after, not before, he got his doctorate. Further, Butcher said, McCrocklin did it only because he was the Naval Institute which published the dissertation in book form, insisted on it.

"The Naval Institute picked

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The launch director for the Apollo 9 flight says "without a doubt, this is the most complex mission we've ever attempted." Rocco A. Petrone, director of launch operations at the Kennedy Space Center, said in an interview Tuesday that because Apollo 9 is an earth orbit mission, the American public may not think it is complex in comparison with the Apollo 8 moon orbit journey.

"On Apollo 8," Petrone said, "it was a tough mission because we were sending men around the moon for the first time. But on Apollo 9, he continued, there will be times when the difficulty in returning the astronauts safely to earth will be greater. He noted that for the first time, man will fly in the lunar module (LEM), the fragile, spidery vehicle designed to land men on the moon.

It is a ship intended to operate only in outer space and not in any atmosphere. Thus, it cannot re-enter earth's atmosphere and, during a rendezvous exercise, two astronauts must rejoin the main Apollo ship or be stranded in orbit.

Air Force Col. James A. McDivitt and David R. Scott and civilian astronaut Russell L. Schweickart have been assigned the critical 10-day earth orbit trip which is to start with

JUDGE WANTS BARE FACTS

CINCINNATI (AP) — A federal judge has ruled that a woman being tried for transporting a falsely made security will have to bare her upper thighs and buttocks to help establish her real identity. The order by Judge David S. Porter of the U.S. District Court stemmed from various names attached to the woman who insists she is Betty Peters, 36, of Cincinnati. Assistant U.S. Attorney Thomas Smith told the court that he had information that the woman had a "substantial scar," by which she could be identified. Porter said that a female member of the U.S. marshal's staff would examine the woman and that a picture would be taken by a female photographer.

Two Killers, Rapists Receive Life, Lecture

WAGONER, Okla. (AP)—I hope the dawn of each new day brings forth some kind of punishment. With those words, Dist. Judge C.F. Bliss Jr., of Tahlequah, Tuesday sentenced Chester Dale McDonald and Delbert Eugene Hopper each to three consecutive life terms in the state penitentiary. McDonald, 22, of Treece, Kan., and Hopper, 24, of Barnary at McAlester for the sentencing, appeared subdued as Judge Bliss and Dist. Judge E.G. Carroll, of Stilwell, took about one hour to explain their rights and to lecture them.

Both defendants currently are serving five-year sentences for burglary, involving the theft of a gun allegedly used in the slaying.

Mom Knows Best

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — The courting couple left their old age home to seek permission of the bride's mother for their marriage. Mrs. J. Blake, 101, agreed that her daughter, Mrs. Susan van Reenen, 72, should marry Gysbert Kloppers, 71.

"We have not set a date for our marriage, but we felt it would be the right thing to get my future mother-in-law's blessing," said Kloppers. Both have been married before and have 35 grandchildren between them.
