

FIRST IN LOCAL NEWS
INTEREST
CIRCULATION

THE McLEAN NEWS

FIRST IN LOCAL ADVERTISING
FOREIGN ADVERTISING
COMMUNITY SERVICE

The Oldest Newspaper in Gray County — — — The Paper That's Read First

McLean, Gray County, Texas, Thursday, October 10, 1935.

No. 41.

Adkins, Boyd Meador, Address Lions

Thurman Adkins and Fire Marshal Boyd Meador were speakers at the Lions luncheon Tuesday, featuring a national fire prevention week. Adkins traced the history of the foundation of the Lions, showing its dual nature as a service organization and a social club. Meador demonstrated carelessness in starting fires, burning a model house for the edification of the Lions, and giving the fire department credit for the loss. Losses in 1932 amounted to $3,354.33; '34, $600; with $1,000 losses this year. Greene suggested that the fire department is due credit for its losses, and announced a contest to be given for the best fire department in the city. Lion Bogan urged the payment of delinquent city and school taxes, saying that the future of the city depends largely upon the collection of delinquent taxes. The club voted to write District Attorney Ralph Randel a letter of commendation for his work. Tamer Andrews presented Agent Ralph R. Thomas, Thurman Adkins, and Floyd of Oklahoma City as visitors.

FOOTBALL SHOWS BIG ENROLLMENT THIS YEAR

Oct. 8.—Enrollment in football sponsored by the Texas Inter-School League this year totals 531, the first time in the history of the league that more than 500 boys have signed up. Roy B. Henderson, athletic director of the University of Texas Bureau of Public Relations, has announced. This year's enrollment of 531 is an increase of 78 schools over last year. Final enrollment for participation in this sport includes 89 schools in Class A, 448 in Class B, and 114 in Class C.

In regard to the care of the physical well-being of its football players, Henderson pointed out that even when every precaution has been taken, the protection of the players is not enough in football. It is positively criminal to send a player on the field improperly equipped to meet the natural hazards of the game, he said.

Henderson offered the following suggestions for schools participating in League football:

- 1. Have a physician give each and every boy a thorough examination.
- 2. Have no boy to play unless his condition is approved by the physician.
- 3. Have a written consent.
- 4. Have the boys properly equipped with adequate protection, such as shoulder, hip and knee pads, helmets, etc.
- 5. Give immediate attention to all cuts, bruises and other injuries.
- 6. Have a physician on hand at every game.

ASHBY SELLS COW

Last week R. N. Ashby ordered an advertisement run in our classified column, offering a fresh milk cow for sale at $35.00. Tuesday Mrs. Ashby called and said she had run the advertisement any where, as they had sold the cow. Mr. Ashby knows the value of advertising in the home paper, as he has been advertising surplus milk and stock for the past 15 years and has always found it a very satisfactory way to make sales. There is no cheaper, or better way to get results than in the home paper, and it is easy to prove that News advertising pays.

MISS ABBOTT ENTERTAINS CLUB AT DINNER

Honoring members of the Sigma Gamma, Miss Lillian Abbott entertained with a buffet dinner at her home Monday evening.

After a short business session, a very interesting program was given on the works of Eugene O'Neill, with Elizabeth Kennedy as leader. Jewell Cousins reviewed one of O'Neill's short plays, "Where the Cross Was Made," and Miss Kennedy reviewed a long play, "Mourning Becomes Electra."

Members attending were: Misses Clara Anderson, Mildred Besire, Jewell Cousins, Nona Cousins, Vera Hamilton, Pansy Harris, Elizabeth Kennedy, Odessa Kunkel, Alyne Mallow, Aline McCarty, Idabel Newman, Frances Noel, Eunice Stratton, Ploy Wynn and the hostess.

A BRIDAL SHOWER

Alanreed, Oct. 7.—A miscellaneous shower honoring a recent bride, Mrs. W. S. Rockwell, who, before her marriage on Sept. 26, was Miss Lottie Bell Burdine, was given at the W. E. James home Friday afternoon. Miss Virginia Reece and Mrs. James were hostesses, assisted by Mesdames S. T. Greenwood and A. J. Campbell.

Contests and games were enjoyed for a time, after which the gifts were presented to the bride. Refreshments of punch and cake were served.

Those present were: Mesdames W. S. Rockwell, J. T. Blakney, Jeannie Chapman, R. C. Kennedy, M. C. Burdine, A. H. Moreman, Mack Reece, Oscar Pettit, Mug Castleberry, Herman Tipton, Heartley Davis, E. G. Stapp, Olin Stapp, Houston Bell, Bradley Fulfer, A. J. Campbell, S. T. Greenwood and W. E. James.

Misses Mildred Tibbet, Elizabeth Elms, Edna Pettit, Mildred Blakney, Virginia Reece, Vesta Grace James, Velma, Betty Jo and Willie Davis, Katherine Stapp and Baby Tipton. Ellis Stapp, Ernest James and J. R. Pettit.

Those sending gifts were: Mesdames W. H. Craig, S. R. Loftin, E. R. Sherrod, Geo. Clark, W. H. Blakney, J. P. Elms, F. R. Crisp, J. W. Dilard, Fuel Fulton, Roy Howard, Harrison Worsham, Chas. Hunt and Frank Stein.

Misses Willie Dee Hall, Marguerite Crisp, Euline Sherrod and Lois Wilson. The Craig and Greenwood brothers.

PTA TO SPONSOR MOTHERS' STUDY CLUB

The Parent-Teacher Association is sponsoring a Mothers' Study group which will have its first meeting Friday afternoon from 2:30 to 3:30.

It will meet the second Friday in each month thereafter. After a short study session, an entertainment program will be given by pupils of Mrs. Adkins and Mrs. Boyett.

All mothers and others interested in child welfare are urged to be present at the grade school auditorium promptly at 2:30 Friday afternoon.

ERWIN AND SITTER AT PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD

Rev. W. A. Erwin, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, and E. L. Sitter are in attendance at the Presbyterian Synod that convened at Austin today (Thursday).

There will be no preaching at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday.

HALL-REAGOR

Married, Oct. 5, 1935, at Amarillo, Mrs. Floye Hall and Mr. V. B. Reagor. Rev. R. N. Huckabee, pastor of the San Jacinto Methodist Methodist Church, read the nuptial rites, using the ring ceremony.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of the groom's sister, Mrs. Bob Proffitt, her husband, and Mrs. Huckabee.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Landers of McLean. The groom is employed at an Amarillo grocery and market. They will make their home in Amarillo.

TIGERS TO MEMPHIS

The next conference football game will be played by the McLean Tigers at Memphis, Friday night.

The local gridsters have won every game played so far, but Memphis is expected to give them the hardest competition yet encountered.

MRS. CRYER HOSTESS PIONEER STUDY CLUB

An unusually good program was enjoyed by the members of the Pioneer Study Club at the home of Mrs. C. A. Cryer last Thursday afternoon.

The study subject was "Travel," with Mrs. S. A. Cousins as leader. Mrs. John Harris spoke on the Taj Mahal and Temple of Angkor. Mrs. Roger Powers discussed the Wall of China and Canterbury Cathedral. Mrs. H. W. Finley spoke on the Hanging Gardens and Chichen Itza, with Mrs. Cousins discussing On the Road to Mecca.

Roll call was answered with "A place I'd like to visit." Special guests of the hostess included Mrs. H. C. Rippey and Mrs. Karl Estes.

JURY LIST

Following is the jury list for the week beginning Oct. 14, of district court now in session at Pampa:

- McLean—W. L. Hinton, H. W. Brooks, H. A. D'Spain, Frank Howard, C. E. Cooke, R. W. Bailey, Sammie Cubine.
- Alanreed—H. E. Wetzel, G. G. Oakley.
- Pampa—J. C. Wheeler, H. P. Elliott, N. W. Gant, W. C. Mitchell, L. B. Warren, B. H. Williams, B. A. Sublett, J. D. Smith, J. B. Bourland, H. R. Thompson, J. M. Deering, Frank M. Perry, Edwin Vicars, Ralph Glasscock, F. E. Hoffman, H. H. Ingram, H. Bedenbender, Steve T. Oats, S. G. Surratt, R. J. Sallor, Geo. W. Bolander, G. H. Brown, L. N. Atchison, K. W. Bunch, John R. Roby, P. R. Pond, J. M. Hatfield, R. G. Allen, Frank C. Allison, J. W. Brumley, D. B. Sheppard, Roy Chisum, A. L. Prigmore.
- Lefors—J. S. McLaughlin.
- Groom—Walter Ollinger.
- Laketon—J. E. Carter.

S. D. Shelburne visited in Oklahoma City last week end. He was accompanied home by Mrs. Shelburne and son, Dan, who had been visiting the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Davis.

Mrs. Alma Turman and Miss Texola Harlan went to Amarillo Wednesday, the former undergoing a minor operation.

Mrs. Estel Bowen and daughter, Geraldine, accompanied by Miss Marguerite Mertel, visited in Shamrock the first of the week.

Mrs. Lillie Aldous of Shamrock visited her mother, Mrs. C. C. Cook, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. West and daughter returned Friday from a vacation trip in Oklahoma.

Fire Parade Attracts Big Crowd Tuesday

A large crowd assembled on Main street Tuesday afternoon to see the parade and program given celebrating national fire prevention week.

Following the blowing of the fire siren, the fire truck made a run to the high school building, where the parade formed, led by the truck and band to Main street, where a short program was given.

City Fire Marshal Boyd Meador was master of ceremonies and made a talk giving fire statistics for the city.

Rev. W. A. Erwin, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, spoke, stressing the fact that all fire losses are paid by one's friends and neighbors in increased insurance premiums.

Attorney Thurman Adkins talked on the educational value of the fire prevention programs and praised the local fire department for their efficiency. J. A. Sparks, city marshal and local fire chief, made a short talk in behalf of the department.

The program was held on North Main street, just in front of the American National Bank, and the whole block was packed with cars and pedestrians.

PTA Council Gray County Here Saturday

A meeting of the Gray County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations will meet at the First Methodist Church in McLean Saturday of this week, following a luncheon at the church at noon. The meeting will adjourn at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. L. L. McCollm, vice president of the council, will be in charge of the program, and Mrs. T. J. Coffey and Mrs. T. A. Massay will have charge of the luncheon. Mrs. W. L. Campbell, president of the McLean PTA, will be hostess for the meeting.

All PTA members of the county are invited to attend, also representatives of all schools of the county, regardless of whether they have a local organization or not.

County officers of the council include Miss Elizabeth Kennedy president, Mrs. Jim Back secretary, and Mrs. Chas. Carpenter treasurer.

NEW AUTO STORE OPENS HERE FRIDAY

The Western Auto Parts Co. will open a new store in McLean Saturday of this week, next door to the McLean Filling Station on highway 66.

The new store is owned by Floyd Moore and V. R. Calder of Carnegie, Okla. They have moved their families to McLean and say that they want to be identified with everything that tends to community betterment.

ADKINS SPEAKS AT PTA

The PTA gave a program at the high school auditorium last Thursday evening, with Attorney Thurman Adkins as the principal speaker.

The program was in connection with the regular monthly meeting of the organization that had been postponed on account of conflicting dates.

ADV. WORTH MONEY

The Landers Beauty Shoppe advertisement on another page is worth $2.00 on a Tulip Oil Vitro Tonic permanent wave, if the advertisement is clipped and brought to the shoppe.

Here is a real money saving opportunity for anyone interested.

Mrs. Georgia Wolfe of Lefors visited in McLean the first of the week. She was accompanied by her stepson, Murray Wolfe, of California.

Mrs. W. F. Harlan and sons, Bill and Gene, of Skellytown visited their mother and grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Kibler, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Byrd Gull and son visited Mrs. R. S. Thompson on the ranch Sunday.

Relief Clients Must Pick Cotton or Dole Stops

Those on relief are expected to pick cotton or assist in other farm work, as opportunity offers, according to M. C. Davis, local relief administrator.

Mr. Davis says: "Relief clients will be expected to accept jobs in gathering local crops. With the opening of the local cotton crop and the ripening of feed crops there will be quite an amount of labor available for the next few months."

"Those on relief who are physically able must avail themselves of the opportunity for employment. In case it becomes necessary, relief may be discontinued in order to force relief clients who refuse employment of this nature to work."

Farmers who are in need of laborers are requested to make their wants known at the local relief office in order that relief clients wanting work will know where and to whom to go to secure jobs. Farmers who offer jobs to those on relief are asked to report any cases of refusal to work on the part of relief clients, and if there is no reasonable excuse, relief of any kind will be discontinued.

"It is the desire of the local relief office to cooperate with both clients and farmers in assisting them in their labor problems and offer a worthwhile service to the community."

PTA TO GIVE PRIZE FOR NEW MEMBERS

All room mothers are urged to take notice that the Parent-Teacher Association will give $5 to the room at both grade and high schools which has the most members by Oct. 31st. The percentage basis will be used in ascertaining the winners.

The room having the most parents or other representatives present at the regular meetings of the PTA will also receive a prize of a picture to be kept in their room until the next meeting. If a room wins the picture three times in succession it will become their permanent property. Two pictures will be placed in the grade school; one on the first floor and one on the second floor.

FIREMEN TO SPONSOR PICTURE SHOW

The McLean volunteer fire department is sponsoring the showing of "Les Miserables" at the American Theatre on Oct. 21 and 22.

Proceeds of the picture will be used to apply on the purchase of uniforms for the department. "Les Miserables" is a picture that will appeal to most people. The text of the story was published in The McLean News a few weeks ago.

LADIES' BIBLE CLASS MEETS

The ladies' Bible class of the Church of Christ met Thursday of last week in the home of Mrs. W. B. Andrews for work. The day was spent in piecing quilts, and a covered dish luncheon was served at the noon hour.

At two o'clock all work was laid aside for the Bible lesson conducted by Mrs. Andrews. The study for the afternoon was the geography of the Holy Land.

The meeting for today will be held at the church. An invitation is extended to all ladies to attend the study.

CARPENTER FURNITURE MOVES

The Carpenter Furniture Co. has moved next door to the News office in the building formerly occupied by Salmon's.

Mr. Carpenter says that they have just received a shipment of new furniture that they will be pleased to show prospective customers.

Read advertisement on another page.

Mr. and Mrs. Windom of Spearman visited their son, E. J. Windom, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Reeves and little daughter of Alanreed were in McLean Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Vannoy visited the former's sister, Mrs. H. E. Weckesser, at Miami Sunday.

WATCH THE CURVES

By RICHARD HOFFMANN

Copyright by Richard Hoffmann
WNU Service

CHAPTER IX—Continued

"Look here," said Kerrigan, sitting forward with a slight lunge of decision, "do you mind if I ask if you're making a fool of yourself?"

"No," said Hal, pretending coolness. "Not a bit. But you don't expect me to be an authority, do you? Or do you think I'm such a fool that I make one of myself consciously?"

"I s'pose you have to get red-headed," said Kerrigan evenly, "but I'm giving you credit for sense enough not to think your own ideas are the only ones worth anything."

"Thanks," said Hal without grace. "I don't like butting into other people's business," Kerrigan went on. "The curse of the world is people trying to run other people. And I'm not asking you this for fun, or because I like to hear myself talk."

Hal looked at Kerrigan's complete, quiet gravity and felt the disrespect of being stretched on the bed while his senior sat solicitously forward. He raised himself from the pillows and swung his feet to the floor. "I'm sorry, Colonel. I don't see why you should give a course about my business. I'm thankful that you do." He'd tell Kerrigan all about it—everything. That might be good to do; perhaps, telling him, his blood and his brain would rouse out of their coma.

Kerrigan began soberly. "If you don't want to tell me what's happened, say so. But if you want to break it out, I want to hear it. And I said 'want to,' not 'willing to.'"

"Colonel, I want to tell you," said Hal, a gentleness on his mind as well as on his voice. "I—I just wanted to wait, that was all. Here—if you'll listen—here's the whole thing: start to—to finish."

Hal told him a story so orderly and simple that he surprised himself—from the first hour in New York, when Larsen had been so sure Barry and Crack were together, from his first sense of something wrong that rode with them in the car through to watching Barry go up the walk to the hotel in Hollywood. And all the while he spoke, Barry sat in shining green satin, holding herself hard on that bed four hundred and more hot miles away, staring darkly into the shabby corner.

"That's it," said Hal in quiet conclusion. "And I can't tell you—can't tell myself—what it was when I saw Crack standing in her room and knew why he could be there. Since then it's been like coming out of fever: you know something's happened inside you but you don't know what. I loved her, I guess—must've. I don't hate her now—don't seem to be able to feel about her at all. I only hate him; and I'd hate him even if he'd done nothing to me, even if he didn't hate me, too."

"So what?" said Kerrigan. Hal gave a single, flat laugh. "Nothing," he said. "except I'm going to keep my father out of the dirty mess if I have to—if it kills me."

Kerrigan sat down casually and said, "Out of what dirty mess?" Hal looked at him sharply for a hint of the joke, but there was no joke in Kerrigan's gravely commanding eyes.

"I mean why is it suddenly dirty after Crack comes into it?" Kerrigan explained in a patient, scholastic manner. "You knew she was married. Who did you expect her husband to be?"

"I didn't expect him to be a stealthy, pale louse of a man, watching us, right there making his dirty plans while his girl got a prospect ready."

Kerrigan said, "Oh," lifting his head in slight, ironic comprehension. "She made you come to her room last night."

"No," said Hal defensively. "As a matter of fact, she asked you not to."

"Yes, but—" "But when you came, she didn't keep you out. When you were inside, she didn't do the perfectly natural thing—throw you through the window or scream for help. That it?"

"When that—that lazy spider came in and locked the door," said Hal; "when he stood there as if he owned her, as if he had me backed into the slimy corner where he wanted me, she never said a word, never made a sound. She went over and sat on the bed and stared into the corner, and I don't believe she even listened. And—G-d, Kerrigan, do you think I wanted to believe it?"

"Believe what?" said Kerrigan, still gravely waiting. "Mind telling me what's this if you didn't want to believe?"

Hal curbed his miserable exasperation. "I didn't want to believe what I had to believe—that she didn't mind her rotten little husband's catching me; I didn't want to believe that it meant more to her to keep her promise, her rotten bargain with Crack—much more—than to—to—"

"Hal," said Kerrigan in an unmoved patience of voice that left Hal's insouciant anger dangling, "have you thought back? Have you thought of what you have a right to think? I tell you you sound as if you were talking just to hear a noise, sticking up for what you've done just because you did it."

"Stick up!" said Hal, leaning forward to look at Kerrigan from under drawn, incredulous brows. "What the devil do you s'pose I've been doing for a day and half a night except thinking back? What?" He jerked his head aside, a sound of exasperation breathed in his throat. Think back! As if he needed to, supposing he could. Coming back from Santa Barbara he'd think—and find his rightness twice as strong.

Kerrigan said, politely, "Will you listen to me a little longer?" and waited for Hal to answer.

"Certainly," said Hal, with an ironic inclination of his head. "She made no secret of being married?"

"No," said Hal. "That wasn't so stupid, either."

"Did she ever want you to leave her alone, ask you to make up your mind to separating—here?"

"Yes," Hal agreed readily. "And of course it was to be expected I'd do it—right away—specially after she'd told me she cared about me."

"Mm," said Kerrigan. "Telling you she loved you made it harder for you; but your telling her shouldn't've amounted to—"

"The point is," Hal interrupted in listless quiet, "she never did care."

Kerrigan started into something vigorous, but he took palpable hold of himself before his breath was full-drawn. And his voice was leashed to some fragile stanchion of patience as he said: "All right, she didn't care. But it's not impossible to think of somebody in her place who would've. Take another girl then, with a built-in feeling about a promise to her dying father. She's got warm, quick blood in her veins, not New England spring-water. She falls for a fella as she never expected to—a fella in just your position. She wants to find some way out for both of them, and she wants to keep him out of harm. But she isn't any more super-human than she should be; she's made of flesh and feeling, weakness and desire—not billiard-ball composition and missionary tracts.

"But She Is Not 'Appy—Not at All."

"I s'pose she should've told you it was Crack she was tied to, right at the beginning. That would have made everything simple, wouldn't it? You could've wrung his neck in Iowa somewhere and gone to jail with the happy knowledge that you'd made everything perfect for both of you."

"I couldn't've bought him, could I?" said Hal, his hot tone just off trembling. "Wringing his neck would've been the only thing in the world to do."

"Sure you could have bought him," said Kerrigan. "And he'd have stayed bought, too—never bothered either of you again. You could have bought him, and a dead man's dread of shame and a last promise and fifteen or twenty years of love and care and teaching. And with all that bought and paid for, she wouldn't feel that somebody'd shoved dirt all over her in a thing she wanted kept decent."

"She certainly kept it nice and clean this way," said Hal, with a half laugh that somehow turned its taint back on himself.

"Of course it's she that's done everything," Kerrigan agreed. "To her this thing was all like the plot of a book she'd just finished; she knew what was going to happen; no excuse for her making any mistakes. Human beings don't make mistakes." Hal drew breath to interrupt, but Kerrigan tightened his calm as he went on. "You remember a time when we three were at lunch somewhere and she asked you if you were Frederick Ireland's son?"

"Oh, yes," said Hal drily. "There was some special innocent reason why she wanted to know, too, I remember."

"You told her you were Ireland's son. Did she ever show any sign of thinking you'd lied to her?"

Blandly Hal shook his head and said, "Quite the opposite."

"So then she told Crack you were Ireland. That's what made it so easy for you to bluff Crack, I s'pose."

Hal was scared then and he knew it; but there was still the necessity of getting away whole from the room before he beat down these swarming of fear.

The chill in Kerrigan's voice began to warm ominously now as he went on. "You come into Barry's life with enough sense—after a while—to know what she is: lovely as morning, brave as a bullet, honorable as a sword, chaste as water. You have the criminal luck to make her fall in love with you—the one thing that could happen to make her life about ten times harder to handle."

"What do you think about then? About the help you can give her? About the way you can bring her to her happiness, as well as yours? About the honor and conscience and courage that's in her even to try to fight a thing she'd go to hell to get? No! You think about how unfair she is to you. You think you ought to walk in and wipe out twenty years of her father in a week, with the honor of a last promise to boot. You think she ought to see that your happiness is all that counts, all that makes the world fit to grow little apples in."

"She puts up with that—for the only reason under God's sky there could be for putting up with it. And you drive ahead between your blinders till you drive on to the last edge of the one thing she hoped to keep you out of. And when that one thing happens too, what do you do? Like a shot. You leave her to stew. You let her kill her own heart so that you'll go on your way; and you go on it. Go on it with your head full of the most important thing in the world, a fundamental of all decency outraged, all good in everything ended—because you, you were made to look like a fool for a few days in another man's little mind. Ireland, you ought to lie down on that floor and die."

Hal's teeth were clenched terribly upon red anger, curling shame, panic; and he turned so that Kerrigan shouldn't see those things stinging into his eyes. For an instant he thought he could keep his voice unshaken—in a cool, ironic smoothness that would wither Kerrigan. "So she had it happen," he said; "she had Crack catch me there—so that I'd be free, so that I'd—The urgency of his despair came thick into his throat, and he broke off."

Kerrigan's stillness filled the room—cruel, steady, incriminating; and Hal had to keep his scolding vision on him so that something shouldn't snap in his head, a signal for madness. The brown eyes watching him could never have been warm, never friendly, never merciful; frozen in accusation, personality was gone from them—even the personality of contempt. Dread braced itself hard in Hal as Kerrigan rose, a judge at Doomsday, with the extinct cigarette far from incongruous in the corner of his merciless lips.

"Vain," he said quietly. "Vain, stuck-up, self-indulgent, flabby, without faith except in the importance of money. Why did I think you weren't so cheap?"

The last word lashed Hal to his feet, and it took all his quivering strength to force definition upon the thick words that came of themselves: "Kerrigan, you're a liar. A G-d-d-d liar! And if you were young—" Something was strangling him inside his throat. It was as if torture, finally released upon him, came to full impact upon the numb obstinacy of his faculties, with a tautly balanced rocking to show that something must plunge massively away in the next second. Hal found his desperate voice again, and in a quicker anger he cried at Kerrigan: "You're right. It's true—every rotten word of it's true."

He went to Kerrigan, took his big arms above the elbow, and sank his forehead awkwardly to the bulky shoulder. "Heaven forgive me," he said in the calm of an exhausted breath. "You, Colonel, you've got to forgive me, you—" He rolled his head a little against the shoulder for want of any words, then let it rest there.

In a moment Kerrigan's hands came up under Hal's elbows and moved them gently. "I'm glad you didn't like it any better'n I did," he said, his voice low, untriumphant—deeply comforting around an odd sort of humility.

Like a divine intercession to spare them both an impasse of embarrassment, the telephone bell broke into startled clamor, and Hal went to it without looking at Kerrigan. It was Sister Anastasia—ready now to go.

"You'll call Barry up, Colonel," Hal said quickly. "To be sure she's there. You'll keep her there: do anything, tell her anything to keep her there safe till I can get to her. Tell—Hal's voice lowered to a pitch of bitter shame—"till I can kneel in dirt to her."

Kerrigan nodded, saying hurriedly, "Yes, but move: get back soon's you can."

"Six hours outside," said Hal, glancing at his watch. "Back by midnight sure. And, Colonel, look—do anything, anything to me, but don't ever talk to me like that again, will you?"

"Do you spec I could, even if I ever had to?" he said softly.

When Hal got to the place where Sister Anastasia was waiting, he felt he was somehow serving Barry in disciplining himself to the nun's service.

Anastasia's eyes were reticently animated. She said:

"I did not know when I telephoned you they 'ave told me there is a train to Santa Barbara in twenty minutes; and they 'ave given me money for my ticket, from my brother."

"Ah, but sister," said Hal in sincere reproach, "I was so happy to take you myself, I want to."

"I was 'appy, too," she said, keeping her eyes from him till she'd said it. Then, looking up at him with tranquil sureness: "But she is not 'appy—not at all. You can do something for her—now, tonight—instead of taking me on this long journey."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

PEACE UNDOING HIM

Runnedeo, N. J., is so peaceful that Justice of Peace Henry Teece doesn't get enough business to give his wife $8 weekly as ordered by the court. The justice told the judge of the Domestic Relations court he's had only eight cases since he was elected four years ago.

BOYS! GIRLS!

Read the Grape Nuts ad in another column of this paper and learn how to join the Dizzy Dean Winners and win valuable free prizes.—Adv.

New Gasoline Process

By a new process used in Great Britain's government laboratories, a gallon of gasoline worth 25 cents is obtained from a gallon of tar costing 7 cents.

DAD'S SUCCESS

You can judge the degree of a man's success by the degree of his desire that his son get into something else.

Cuticura Soap

For the Daily Care of Your Hands

Prolong the youthful appearance of your hands by giving them the same care you give your face. Use Cuticura Soap every time you wash your hands; it will do much to prevent redness and roughness, caused by daily tasks, and to keep the hands soft, smooth and lovely.

Price 25 cents

Beware Coughs from common colds That Hang On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing at you cannot afford to take a chance with anything less than Creomulsion, which goes right to the source of the trouble to aid nature in soothing and healing the inflamed membranes as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled. Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged. The druggist is authorized to guarantee Creomulsion and to refund your money if you are not satisfied with results from the very first bottle. Get Creomulsion right now. (Adv.)

If you feel tired, run-down, nervous and out of sorts

—there is usually a definite reason for this

Now let's reason sensibly.

Don't try to get well in a day... this is asking too much of Nature. Remember, she has certain natural processes that just cannot be hurried.

But there is a certain scientific way you can assist by starting those digestive juices in the stomach to flowing more freely and at the same time supply a balanced mineral deficiency the body needs.

SSS Tonic makes you feel like yourself again

You are invited to listen in every Friday night to a program of old-fashioned music—S.S.S. Music Box Hour—over Mutual Broadcasting Network, 9:30 p. m., E.S.T.

Therefore, if you are pale, tired and run-down... a frequent sign that your blood-cells are weak—then do try in the simple, easy way so many millions approve—by starting a course of S.S.S. Blood Tonic.

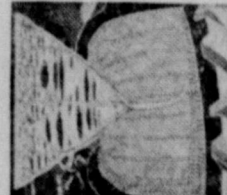

Much more could be said—a trial will thoroughly convince you that this way, in the absence of any organic trouble, will start you on the road of feeling like yourself again.

© S.S.S. Co.

You cannot afford to be without Firestone Ground Grip Tires
for Fall and Winter use on your car, truck and tractor. You will not need chains! They will give you the greatest satisfaction and save you money!

FALL RAINS and winter snows present a transportation problem to farmers. Firestone solved this problem when they developed the complete line of Ground Grip Tires for cars, trucks, tractors and all farm implements. There are three patented features that give Firestone Tires super-traction in mud, snow, sand, gravel or soft ground of any kind.

1. Gum-Dipped Cord Body

The High Stretch Cord Body of Firestone Tires is Gum-Dipped (soaked in liquid rubber) giving extra strength and longer flexing life to withstand the terrific stresses and strains of the extra pulling power with only twelve pounds of air pressure. Firestone Tires are the only tires built that are Gum-Dipped.

2. Ground Grip Tread

Built with 54% additional tough rubber and scientifically designed with heavy cross bars and deep grooves that are self-cleaning (chains are not necessary), giving super-traction and long wear. The bars of rubber are so placed that they will not bump when used on paved roads.

3. Two Extra Layers of Gum-Dipped Cords

This exclusive construction feature locks the thick, heavy tread securely to the Gum-Dipped cord body, making them one inseparable unit. This makes practical the use of a wider, flatter, thicker, deeper non-skid Firestone tread with higher shoulders and more and tougher rubber.

FOR CARS
	HEAVY DUTY
4.40/4.50/4.75-21	$ 7.85
4.75/5.00-19	8.50
4.50/4.75/5.00-20	8.35
5.25/5.50-17	10.55
5.25/5.50-18	10.65
6.00-16	11.95
5.50-16	14.15

OTHER SIZES PRICED PROPORTIONATELY LOW

FOR TRUCKS
32x6 Truck	$27.65
32x6 H.D.	36.25
6.00-20	16.95
6.50-20	21.95
7.00-20	29.10
7.50-24	33.20
8.25-24	49.30
8.25-24	54.75
9.00-20	60.75

OTHER SIZES PRICED PROPORTIONATELY LOW

FOR TRACTORS
GROUND GRIP TYPE	CHEVRON TYPE
5.50-16	$11.05
7.50-18	17.45
9.00-36	73.95
11.25-24	66.60
5.50-16	9.40
7.50-18	14.85
9.00-36	62.85
11.25-24	58.60

OTHER SIZES PRICED PROPORTIONATELY LOW

Guarantee—This heavy, Super-Traction tread is guaranteed not to loosen from the tire body under any conditions, and all other parts of the tire are fully guaranteed to give satisfaction

If you have not already received your copy of the new Firestone Farm Catalog, clip this coupon and mail today! This catalog tells you how Firestone Tires and Auto Supplies will serve you better and save you money.

Listen to the Voice of Firestone—featuring Margaret Sparks, Soprano, with the Firestone Choral Symphony, and William Daly's Orchestra—every Monday night over N. B. C. National Network

FIRESTONE TIRE AND RUBBER COMPANY
Department WNU-1012 . . . Farm Division—AKRON, OHIO

Please send me a copy of your new Farm Tire Catalog.

NAME _____
I farm _____ Acres, I own a _____ Tractor
TOWN _____ R. F. D. _____ STATE _____

SPECIFY FIRESTONE GROUND GRIP TIRES ON YOUR NEW EQUIPMENT
© 1935, F. T. & R. Co.

THE TIGER POST

STAFF

Editor—Catherine Patterson
 Editor—Frances Landers
 Editor—Ramah Lou Rippy
 Editor—Mary Ray Edge
 Editor—Ermadel Floyd
 Editor—Marie Landers
 Editor—Arils Tuck
 Editor—Lena Williams
 Editor—Roy McMullen
 Editor—Pauline McMullen
 Editor—Eula Fae Foster
 Editor—Elizabeth Kennedy
 Editor—Leonard Brawley

SENIOR REPORT

The seniors are planning to have a senior pictures taken some time next week. They are planning to have a group of pictures that will hang on the walls of McLean school.

MEET THE SENIORS

—Lottie Margaret Barrow.
 —Miss.
 —Miss. attended — McLean, Giles, Cliffside, Clarendon, Goldston, —Pineknick and all outdoor.
 —to be a stenographer.
 —spelling and ground ball.
 —I plan to attend—Amarillo College.

JUNIOR REPORT

The juniors are still saying: "Beat Memphis! Beat Shamrock!"

SOPHOMORE REPORT

The sophomores and their sponsors, Mr. Abbott and Mr. Leeds, enjoyed a roast and watermelon feast after school, leaving at 4 o'clock returning in time for the football game. Several of the roomers were present. Thanks to the watermelons).

AGRICULTURE REPORT

The vocational agriculture class met for the purpose of electing officers. The following were elected: president, James Lee Rice; secretary, Joe Hefner; secretary-treasurer, Leonard Brawley; class reporter, Roy McMullen.
 The boys are getting ready for their sports and most of them are fattening calves for the coming stock shows.

GRADUATES TO COLLEGE

The following 35 graduates of the McLean high school have gone away to college: Charlie Marie Back, A. C. Abilene; Jaunita Brooks, Fleming Business College, Amarillo; Don Butler, Mozelle Glenn, Arthur Hetter, James Massay and Juanita W. T. S. T. C. Canyon; Juanita Carpenter, McMurry College, Abilene; Paul Dowell, State University, Nevada; Neva Flowers and George McMurry, Amarillo Junior College; Neil Simon, Simmons University, Abilene; Robinson, Wayland College, Abilene.

LIBRARY REPORT

The library fees paid in up to Oct. average as follows: seniors, $26; juniors, $11; sophomores, $32.75; and freshmen, $68; totaling $137.75. This money is used to add new books to the library. Paste, crayons, paper and scissors are also kept in the library for the students to use. Books are checked out seven days. Books and magazines are checked out for one period only, when permission is given. A two cent charge is the first day on an overdue book and one cent each day thereafter, until the book is checked out. No book will be issued to any student until his library record is clear. The cent per period is charged for all overdue period books.

JOKES

Fortune Teller—"I warn you; a tall man is about to cross your path."
 Della Mann—"Better warn the tall man."
 Vern Harris—"I thank you kindly for your generosity, Miss Abbott."
 Miss Abbott—"But I haven't given you anything."
 Vern—"No, but I'm sure you're going to let my gratitude go to waste, are you?"
 Charles Finley—"I could wish to die in some primeval forest, with the leaves covering me with a warm mantle."
 Ella Faye—"Yes, just like a nut."
 Cecil—"Got a dollar, James Emmett?"
 J. E.—"Yes, I've got one."
 Cecil—"Will you lend it to me?"
 J. E.—"Nope; that's the reason I've got one."

 Mr. Loter—"I tell you, nobody can fool my wife."
 Coach Allen—"Then how did you get her?"

HOME ECONOMICS REPORT

The members of the second year home economics classes have been studying the principles underlying vegetable cookery. Starchy vegetables and green vegetables were prepared in a variety of ways in the laboratory last week. The girls found that the basis for a creamed vegetable is a medium white sauce. The foods laboratory is in very good condition now. The stoves, desks, woodwork and the cabinets have been thoroughly cleaned. The equipment in the store room has been cleaned, rearranged, and is in very good order now.
 The students in home economics 1B have been making some cup towels. The towels will be used next semester in the foods laboratory, and this gave each girl an opportunity to use the sewing machines and learn some simple principles of sewing before making a more difficult garment. The girls are studying seams suitable for undergarments, and have been learning how to make french, flat fell, and plain seams.

FIRE WEEK OBSERVANCE

On Tuesday afternoon the high school joined the elementary school and citizens of the town in the observance of a fire prevention week exhibition.

At three o'clock the high school met in assembly. Talks were made. Mrs. Adkins gave a reading, and some themes on fire prevention were read. In accordance with the rules in the state bulletin of fire prevention themes have been written by sophomores and seniors.

At 3:30 the student body paraded, led by the fire truck, the band and the Tigerettes. The aim is to call to mind the necessity of fire prevention. A contest for the best fire prevention poster is being held.

The Road to Better Health

By Dr. Robert Ambrose Elliott

COMMON COLDS

The season is here when colds will be more or less the order of the day. Some of us will start early in the winter, and will scarcely be rid of the symptoms which attend what we are prone to call a "bad cold."

Just why we refer to the condition as a "cold" is difficult to determine. It would be proper to instead say: "I have caught a bad 'hot'." That is really what it feels like. One is hot instead of cold, especially when a fever is present, and a fever is a factor at some stage of the affliction.

Quick Action Necessary

Colds have a $3.00 name, and are scientifically known as acute, sub-acute or chronic coryza, a condition resulting from temperature changes or exposure. Sudden changes from hot to cold, getting wet and chilled or wet feet are the things we remember as having caused the affliction. This is one time when quick action on the part of the sufferer stands him in good stead. A good hot bath and attention to elimination (Skin, bowels and kidneys) is an absolute necessity. See that they are doing their part in dispelling from the system the accumulated poisons. Then spray or drop into the nose and throat one of the several good preparations for the purpose, found at your drug store, which will do much toward alleviating the unpleasant symptoms of the cold. Do this at once—take your hot bath, watch your elimination and spray your nose and throat, and the chances are that you will cut short what formerly has been a long winter's siege.

Once Established—Hangs on

When a cold has once been established, it just naturally runs its course. If you know of anything that will stop it, you are smarter than I am. Of course, there are remedies that will control the aching head, joints and muscles; there are drugs which will allay the cough, and loosen the expectoration—all of these make the patient more comfortable. But, once well established, the cold runs its course. So, do as I suggest, act quickly when you feel a cold coming on, and your promptness will surely be rewarded!

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Johnston and daughter, Shirley, visited at Port Worth and Arlington last week end.

Alton Smith of Amarillo was in McLean last week on business.

Prof. C. H. Leeds is a new subscriber to the home paper.

SPORTS

By Mack

ALANREED DEFEATS SAM. NORWOOD ON LOCAL FIELD

The Alanreed Longhorns won a hard fought and closely contested game from the Samnorwood boys, 27 to 19, on Tiger Field Friday night.

The game was full of thrills, each team making many long, sensational gains, both by the aerial and sod method. One pass, Gillam to Boles, netted 40 yards and resulted in a touchdown for Alanreed.

Oakley, quarter, and Gillam, full, proved to be the best ground gainers for the Longhorns, while Sanders and Mooney gained best for the Samnorwood team.

The lineups:
 Alanreed—ends, Boles, Greenwood; tackles, Hall, Hill; guards, Harvey, Stapp; center, Bryant; backs, Oakley, Pettit, Wetzel, Gillam. Sub, Snyder.

Samnorwood—ends, Clark, Millingham; tackles, Welloughly, Turner; guards, Montgomery, center, Whitfield; backs, Roark, Sanders, Walker, Mooney. Subs, Neely, Blockman.

Beat Memphis — Beat Shamrock TIGERS TO MEMPHIS FRIDAY

The Tigers will invade Memphis Friday night and put up a strong fight to keep their season's record clear of defeats.

The Memphis bunch has proved itself a strong contender for district honors, having played a tie game with the Lefors Pirates last week, but were awarded the game because of superior playing.

Beat Memphis — Beat Shamrock McMURRY INDIANS PLAY W. T. S. T. C. FRIDAY NIGHT

The McMurry Indians will come to the Panhandle this week to play the West Texas Buffaloes at Canyon.

Two McLean boys, "Cricket" Christian and C. C. Bogan, are apt to get into the game for a major part of the time.

This will be the McLean fans' best opportunity to see these boys in action this season. The game starts at 8 o'clock.

The Indians lost last week to the Austin College Kangaroos and they are expected to put up a fight to get into the winning column.

The Buffaloes have had a hard time, also, keeping themselves in the lead. They will also be fighting to get even for the defeat handed them last year by the Indians at their big homecoming celebration.

Beat Memphis — Beat Shamrock SHAMROCK WINS OVER CLARENDON LAST WEEK

The Shamrock Irishmen took their third conference victory of the season from the Clarendon Bronchos last week to place themselves considerably in the lead in conference competition in this district. The Irishmen had formerly taken games from Mobeetie and Lefors.

News from Liberty

Supper school 10:30 a. m.
 Evening service at 7:30 o'clock.
 Mrs. Ella Stewart visited friends in Twitty Sunday.

C. A. Myatt made a business trip to Wheeler Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Buster Stokes and baby spent Sunday at Abra.

Mr. and Mrs. Trimble of McLean, Mr. and Mrs. Pickett and daughter, Pansie, were Sunday guests in the Myatt home.

Mr. and Mrs. Olin Davis and children were in Shamrock Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lively went to Shamrock Tuesday.

Miss Mabel Maness was a dinner guest of Mrs. D. M. Davis in McLean Sunday.

Floyd Lively and family were in Shamrock Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Sullivan and son, Milam, made a visit to Wheeler Friday.

The Roth family went to Shamrock Tuesday.

Jason Morgan of Lefors and Miss Nora Lee Morgan visited at Lubbock over the week end.

Miss Nora Lee Morgan, accompanied by her brother, Jason, of Lefors, visited relatives at Lubbock over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Morgan visited in Roswell, N. M., the first of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Stone of Borger visited the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Troy West, last week end.

KENTUCKY has pretty women
 ARKANSAS has fine peaches
 WE HAVE PRESTONE for your car

66 Service Station
 W. K. Wharton, Mgr.

Smilin' Charlie Says

"Yes, there are some perfect people in the world! The perfect fools!"

CAN YOU BEAT IT?

Where can a man buy a cap for his knee?
 Or a key for a lock of his hair?
 Can your eye be called an academy?
 Because there are pupils there?
 Could the crook in your elbow be sent to jail?
 If so, what will he do?
 How can you sharpen your shoulder blades?
 I don't know, do you?
 In the crown of your head what jewels can be found?
 And who crosses the bridge of your nose?
 Could you use in shingling the roof of your mouth?
 The nails in the ends of your toes?
 Could you sit in the shade of the palm of your hand?
 Or beat on the drum of your ear?
 Does the calf of your leg eat the corn on your toe?
 Then why not raise corn on your ear?

IF YOU CAN'T PAY CASH for FALL SUITS See Us for Terms
 City Tailor Shop
 H. H. Darnell, Mgr.

C. S. RICE Funeral Director
 Phones 13 and 42
 Funeral Supplies Monuments
 Embalming
 Flowers for Funerals
 Ambulance Service

Pleasant Mound News

Those who attended Gayle Montgomery's birthday dinner Sunday were Louise Pierce, Bessie Jane and Jewelene Langham, Max and Virginia Sachse.

Mrs. J. A. Woods is visiting her daughter, Mrs. M. P. Pierce.
 Miss Lois Liggett is visiting her sister, Mrs. L. A. Sachse.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Shields and baby visited in Wellington Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. M. P. Pierce and mother made a trip to Pampa Monday.

Miss Helen Pierce, who has been ill for several days, is much improved at this writing.

Mrs. T. A. Langham was a visitor at the home of Mrs. S. L. Montgomery Sunday.

Sam Stoner returned to Wellington Wednesday.

Pleasant Mound community received a nice shower Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson of Alanreed visited their daughter, Mrs. Ken Rector, last Thursday.

C. Carpenter was in Lefors Friday.

WAFFLES

that melt in your mouth—we make 'em!

Regular meals and short orders
 Give us a trial

MEADOR CAFE
 Open Day and Night

CALHOUN & WILLIAMS
 Lawyers
 814 Fisk Building
 Phone 4400

Amarillo - - - Texas

STEAM LAUNDRY

We call for and deliver

City Steam Laundry

Dean Sanders, Prop.
 Across from P. O.

Outstanding

"OMAHA"—Winner, one after the other, of the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness, and the Belmont

Omaha is an outstanding horse today.
 And in the cigarette world Chesterfield is outstanding.
 Both won their place strictly on merit.
 Apply any test you like—Chesterfields stand for the best there is in cigarettes.
 They are milder . . . yet they let you know you're smoking. They taste better—give you real pleasure.

.. for mildness
 .. for better taste

© 1935, LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

CURRENT EVENTS IN REVIEW

By Edward W. Pickard

© Western Newspaper Union

Speeches by President on Western Trip

TRAVELING rapidly to the Pacific coast for some fishing, President Roosevelt delivered several important addresses. The first was at Fremont, Neb., where he spoke to about 15,000 farmers and was enthusiastically received. Mr. Roosevelt set forth the chief accomplishments of his administration to date, and challenged his opponents to do better. He defended the legality of the New Deal and made it plain that he would continue to carry on experiments for the welfare of the people. Defining his idea of constitutional government, he said its true function is to "promote the general welfare, not by interfering unduly with individual liberties, but by bringing to the aid of the individual those powers of government which are essential to assure the continuance of the inalienable rights which the Constitution is intended to guarantee. It is democracy in the good old American sense of the word."

Coming to the AAA, in which his hearers might be supposed to be most vitally interested, the President asserted that "agricultural adjustment is an expression in concrete form of the human rights those farmer patriots sought to win when they stood at the bridge at Concord, when they proclaimed the Declaration of Independence, and when they perpetuated these ideals by the adoption of the Constitution."

No matter what attempts may be made to tear it down, "the principle of farm equality expressed by agricultural adjustment will not die," the President told the crowd.

The AAA has made "honorable history," the President declared, and as a result, smoke is pouring from chimneys again and workers without regular jobs are obtaining employment.

He served notice that it is the purpose of his administration to "use every square mile of the United States for the purpose to which it is best adapted." Nature must be harnessed instead of despoiled, he asserted.

At Boulder Dam the President assisted in the dedication of the great project and delivered an address in which he announced that government spending for employment purposes was nearing its end and that now private industry must take up the burden of decreasing the army of the unemployed. He defended the administration against the charges of "boondoggling" and said its efforts "meet with the approval of the people of the nation." He touched only lightly on the power question. Secretary Ickes, who also spoke, said Boulder Dam should be re-named Johnson Dam, in honor of Senator Hiram Johnson.

Again at San Diego the Chief Executive delivered addresses, and then he went to catch some fish.

High Cost of Living Is Subject of Inquiry

OBEYING the instructions of the President, the federal trade commission has begun a survey to determine why the cost of living is mounting so high. Several members of the commission's staff started the investigation in Detroit, where the housewives staged a meat strike some weeks ago. Other members of the staff will take up the work in Chicago, and later the inquiry will be carried on to other centers. The agricultural income especially is to be investigated.

Illinois Republicans for Knox for Presidency

COL. FRANK KNOX, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, is now an accredited candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, for he has received the endorsement of the Illinois state central committee of Illinois. Colonel Knox has been in a receptive mood for a long time and has traveled all over the country making speeches. In various unofficial straw votes he has been placed second, only Senator Borah being preferred to him.

Addressing the Illinois central committee, Colonel Knox said: "I have been from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from West Virginia on north, and everywhere I find that the Republicans not only think that they will be victorious but they have a deep sense of responsibility to rescue the country from the hands of socialists."

Budget Summation Shows Reduction in Deficits

IN A "budget summation" given out at Washington by order of the President it is shown that the federal deficits will be reduced by more than a billion and a quarter from the original estimates, because economic conditions have grown "decidedly better" and tax receipts are higher than was expected. The estimated deficit for the current fiscal year will be $3,281,000,000.

"The prevailing rate of recovery," the President said, "points to the speedy decline of federal expenditures for emergency activities."

Unless the AAA's processing taxes are knocked out by the Supreme court, he argued, the government "will not need new taxes or increased rates in existing taxes to meet the expenses of its necessary annual operations."

Van Sweringens Recover Railway Empire

VAN SWERINGEN brothers have regained control over the vast railway and real estate empire they built and lost to New York bankers. At the height of the boom this was valued at $3,000,000,000. It was taken by a banking group when the Van Sweringens defaulted on loans of $48,000,000 and was put up at auction. The brothers regained control for $3,121,000 by bidding in the majority stock of the Alleghany corporation, holding company for all but one of the so-called Van Sweringens roads, including the Chesapeake & Ohio, Pere Marquette, Nickel Plate, Missouri Pacific, and Chicago & Eastern Illinois, and the Van Sweringens corporation through which the brothers ruled their vast real estate possessions.

War in Ethiopia Growing Nearer Day by Day

ITALY having rejected the peace plan proposed by the League of Nations committee of five, and Ethiopia having accepted it, the committee reported to the league council that its efforts to solve the problem were futile. The council thereupon held a public meeting and adopted unanimously the recommendation of its president, Enrique Ruiz Guinazu of Argentina, that it proceed under article 15 of the covenant, drafting a report and recommendations for settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian embroglio.

A feature of the council's session was an address by Capt. Anthony Eden, British minister for league affairs. Conversations in Rome between British Ambassador Sir Eric Drummond and Premier Mussolini had led some to think Great Britain was weakening, but Eden announced his government was "steadfastly determined to abide by its policy" as previously declared.

Emperor Haile Selassie wired the league requesting that in view of the "increasing provocative attitude of Italy" neutral observers be dispatched to Ethiopia to establish responsibility in case a clash occurs.

The Ethiopian ruler notified the league that he could not delay general mobilization much longer, in view of the "increasing gravity of Italian aggression," but he decided to wait a little longer for action by the league before calling to arms his warriors, whose number he estimates at 2,000,000.

Mussolini, who asserted he expected Ethiopia would soon assault Italy's colonies proceeded to put 250,000 troops in east Africa. Nearly every day vessels left for Eritrea carrying large bodies of soldiers. On one of them went Prince Adelberto of Savoy, cousin of King Victor Emmanuel. In addition to the Italian troops, Mussolini will have half as many native fighters from Eritrea and Somaliland. The duke intimated he would quit the League of Nations if it took any action against Italy, but he also offered to negotiate an accord with Great Britain.

The British asked France to define its attitude should any nation attack the empire, and soon after Sir Samuel Hoare replied to France's questions regarding the British attitude toward possible trouble on the continent. The foreign secretary assured France that Great Britain would always support collective action against any aggressor.

Florida Narrowly Escapes Another Hurricane

A NOTHER fierce hurricane from the Caribbean swept across the middle part of Cuba, causing more than a score of deaths and doing vast property damage, and then seemed to be heading directly for southern Florida. The residents there made all possible preparations for safety, but the storm suddenly veered and roared off to the northeast over the Atlantic.

Liner Goes Aground but No Lives Are Lost

THE Holland-American liner Rotterdam, on a West Indian pleasure cruise, went aground on Morant Cays, 40 miles east of Jamaica, in fine weather, because of "an unaccountable shift" in the current. Her 400 passengers and 250 members of the crew were safely and comfortably transferred to the British steamer Ariguaní and landed at Kingston, Jamaica. The Rotterdam was little injured.

FLOYD GIBBONS Adventurers' Club Hello, Everybody!

"Sees Comrade 'Slain'"

By FLOYD GIBBONS
Famous Headline Hunter.

GET a tight grip on your nerves, boys and girls, and hold on to your hair because today we are going adventure hunting in the mysterious, blood-soaked land of India.

Thomas McGrath is the man to blame if you get a sudden heart attack while reading this, so don't blame me.

Back in '97 and '98 Tom was a "Tommy" in the British army on service in India. He was a member of the third brigade, Thirah field force, stationed on the northwest frontier of India, and his brigade was operating against the Afghans.

Now your Afghan is about as brave and fearless a tribesman as you can find anywhere, but his ideas of bravery and ours are slightly different.

For instance, an Afghan's idea of supreme heroism is to sneak into the tents of the enemy and cut as many throats as he can before he gets his own cut.

And that's exactly the sort of warfare they were waging on Tom's outfit.

Afghan Assassins Terrorize Whole Post.

Night after night a lone sentry would be silently knifed at his post of duty.

Then a scream in the night would startle the sleeping camp and when the commotion had died down two or three soldiers would be found dead in their beds—slaughtered as they slept.

The low pitched tents accommodated 18 men, and the men, Tom says, slept fully equipped for protection against these raids. But still the raids went on. One particularly quiet night, Tom says, as he lay in his cot, wishing he were back home, he was horrified to see the tent flap slowly open and a big, bearded Afghan step noiselessly inside and stand motionless like a bronzed statue, listening.

Tom Saw Him Point His Sword at HIM!

Tom's first idea was to scream out a warning to his comrades, but to his horror he found that sheer terror had made him powerless to sound the alarm.

Tom was on the opposite side of the tent and says he seemed to be the only one aware of the Afghan's presence.

His rifle with bayonet attached was on the floor beside him but he says he was paralyzed with terror and could not move a muscle.

Tom's Vocal Chords Paralyzed With Fright.

The native raised the long, razor-sharp, curved sword of the country and moved stealthily toward the nearest sleeper.

Tom says he opened his mouth to scream but not a sound came from his dry throat and, as he lay there shaming sleep he saw the long knife rise and fall and heard the frightful death rattle in the throat of a tent-mate!

The soft-footed Afghan moved on to the next cot—stepping between the sleepers as quietly as a cat—and slashing steadily from side to side!

A splash of warm blood on his cheek brought Tom out of his trance of terror but before he could move the Afghan seemed to sense that someone was awake in that blood-soaked tent and he paused and STARED STRAIGHT AT TOM!

Shaming sleep still—but with all his senses alert—Tom says, he peeked through half-closed eyes and tried to figure his chances—would he have time to reach his gun before that red knife reached his throat?

He had about decided to risk it when the tent flap moved again and A SECOND AFGHAN STEPPED INSIDE!

There Came Two to Worry About.

The second Afghan's eyes swept the tent quickly—Tom saw him point with his sword AT HIM and the first native crept quietly toward Tom—his blood red knife drawn back for the fatal thrust!

At that moment, Tom says, his manhood returned to him. As the native sprang, Tom bounded from bed to meet him—his pent up scream shattered the silence of the night—and his hands closed with a death grip on the throat of the murderous Afghan.

Terror must have lent him strength, Tom thinks, because he held on to that throat with a grip of steel—the knife could not reach him—he squeezed and squeezed and screamed and kicked out savagely with his knees at the groin of his enemy—there was a sickening crash.

And that's all Tom remembers of the fight. The next thing he knew he heard voices somewhere in the distance. One of the voices sounded like that of the medical officer.

"He's coming out of it," the voice was saying.

Tom opened his eyes. He was in the hospital tent. His head was swathed in bandages. A group of his tentmates were around his bed. Tom looked at one of them and his eyes nearly popped out of his head. THE MAN WAS THE FIRST SLEEPER HE HAD SEEN THE AFGHAN KILL!

Tom's eyes wandered from face to face—there was another tentmate he had seen bathed in his own blood—and another!

Well, sir, those hard-boiled Tommies didn't keep Tom guessing very long. They gave him the bad—or rather good—news at once. Tom, it seems, had suddenly leaped—in the quiet of the night—on the man in the next cot to him and it had taken the whole army to get his hands off HIS TENT-MATE'S THROAT!

Yes, sir, just a nightmare. They had to give Tom an awful beating to make him let loose but the man he almost choked was recovering in the hospital tent with him, and Tom says the beating was better than a knife in his throat, anyway.

©—WNU Service

Bucket Reveals Secrets of Old German Funerals

A toy-size bronze bucket, hung as a necklace ornament on a corpse 1,700 years ago, has yielded evidence that the inhabitants of Germany in that remote time used frankincense in their funeral rites. The little bucket, complete with handle and miniature stirring rod, was found in a grave at Stargard castle near Bargensdorf. Its hardened contents, mixed with debris that had got into the grave during its long burial, were sent to a Berlin microscope. His examination and analysis showed that the matrix material consisted of partly burned frankincense. Apparently the little bucket, which was less than an inch high, was filled with the incense at some point during the funeral ceremonies, and after this use as a censor was hung around the neck of the departed with a fine-linked chain.

Primitive Medicine

Primitive people cling to their old ideas and customs with a surprising tenacity and with results that are sometimes amusing, a writer point out in Hygeia, the Health Magazine. Civilization is still merely a thin veneer imposed on the solid structure of the beliefs and lore of the native populations. Aside from accidents the natives recognize only four main classes of illness: first, too much blood in the affected part of the body; second, too much bile; third, a parasite condition, and fourth, illness due to witchcraft. Various native remedies usually suffice. As a last resort the white missionary, trader or doctor may be called in should the natives' methods fail.

The Coast Guard

The Coast Guard was formed by an act of congress approved on January 28, 1915, from the revenue cutter service and the life saving service, established, respectively, in 1790 and 1871. It is under the administration of the secretary of the treasury in times of peace, of the secretary of the navy in times of war. It takes care of the saving of life and property along the coast and at sea, the enforcement of maritime law, the prevention of smuggling, the removal of obstructions to navigation, etc. It is commanded by a captain commandant, ranking with a navy captain.

EVERYDAY NEW YORK

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK.—Thoughts while strolling: Nothing gives a letter an air of importance like a sealing wax moongram. Fannie Kilbourne, who authors the "Dot and Will" stories. Memory: The tasseled buggy whip that was always carried into the church vestibule. How many can identify Mrs. Paul Wilson?

The hurrying editor—Edwin Balmer. If Ward Morehouse isn't escorting Talulah Bankhead he's squiring Miriam Hopkins some place, the lucky stiff. The Danville, Ky., lady who made New York tearoom conscious. There's Worthington Grant. Add literary joys: The Old Farmer's Almanac.

Look alikes: William Faversham and Major Raymond Dickson. Tullio Carminali looks dressed up like most men would like to but don't. Graeme Lorimer, the editor's son and going places writing.

Sime's red haired widow, Hattie. Beloved of Broadway. Grand name for the men's dessert list: Carmel Snow. Nothing seems so out of place on the avenue as a bird dog. Arthur Brisbane has the complexion of a 16-year-old. If anyone brings vaudeville back, it will be Major Bowes.

If Jack Wheeler isn't smiling he looks as though he might be tuning up to cry. Free fun for a dull day: Watching the penguins at the Aquarium. If Esquire could catch that fellow's guifaw at one of their pictures they'd have a swell ad. I love to write the first name of Vyvyan Donner. A chirographic oopsie daisy!

The first hotel in the metropolis to install an elevator was The Grand, now a moderately priced inn along the Broadway 30's. It was long a haunt of wide-hatted western politicians. Bryan stopped there, as did Sockless Jerry Simpson and Gen. Coney.

Probably no journalistic figure has been the peg for so many legends as James Gordon Bennett, of the Herald. Many figments of fancy, but a number founded on fact. He was in ways the greatest news beagler—scenting the story from afar long before the pack got into full cry. He was restless, sometimes eccentric, always dynamic. When he swung into action his staff often fell at their desks exhausted, but he knew how to play. His formidable rival, Joseph Pulitzer, once said: "I wish I had his capacity to frolic." Bennett was cordially hated and by the same token cordially liked, and most executives who labored at his side revere him. He had no managing editor. The highest title was city editor—Bennett was always managing editor. And how!

I saw Bennett but once during my formative days in the big town. He had arrived on one of those surprise visits from his exile in Paris—visits that so often meant nothing but struck terror among the staff. He was entering the famous triangular building with the coping of blinking green-eyed owls in Herald Square. Only a fleeting glimpse, but the impression was of Arctic dignity, such as Gladstone's. Also, maybe imagination, there was the suggestion of ruthlessness. A Tory with hereditary contempt for cloth caps.

In that era Charles Chaplin was the fabled ogre of the Evening World—a reputed monster with a titfup manner and thin high voice, but who swallowed seasoned reporters raw and heekled cubs until they rushed in panic to other vocations. Yet his illustrious alumni—Cobb, Albert Payson Terhune, Roy McCordell, Bob Edgren, Boseman Bulger, etc.—swore by him.

The cap, so long associated with gangstering, dock walloping and pool room loafing, is becoming refined and is shown in the Fall and Winter ensembles of those dark timbered, indirectly lighted shrines of the chapeaux. A specialist who fashions them out of imported cloth at $12 per individual fit has a salon niched "one of the swankiest." Fat men or those of short stature should not wear caps, the stylists say. Billy Gaxton, as might be expected, is an accomplished capist. Dwight Fiske sports one with rakish aplomb, as do Harold Vanderbilt, George M. Cohan and William Goadby Lowie. Two other well known cap wearers are John D. Rockefeller, Sr., and Joe Laurie, Jr.

Wild animal life on the avenue: Buddy De Sylva's wife Marie fled from Catalina, whither she had gone for a rest, on account of the raspy barks of sea lions. To get far away she crossed the continent to New York and took quarters on the avenue. That is for a night or so until the sea lions in the park zoo put on their Wagnerian special. She is now studying maps of the Sahara.

© 1935, McInight Syndicate, Inc.

LIKE GANGSTERS Bad luck comes all in a bunch which is also true of laziness.

NONE OTHER COMPARES TO OATMEAL

In one of the most important things to children—precious Vitamin B for keeping fit. Mighty few cereals have it.

Many are nervous, poor in appetite, system out of order, because their diets lack enough of the precious Vitamin B for keeping fit.

Few things keep them back like lack of this protective food element.

So give everyone Quaker Oats every morning. Because in addition to its generous supply of Vitamin B for keeping fit, it furnishes food-energy, muscle and body-building ingredients. For about 10¢ per dish.

Start serving it tomorrow for a 2-week test. Quaker Oats has a wholesome, nut-like, luscious appeal to the appetite. Flavors, surprisingly good. All grocers supply it.

IN VITAMIN B FOR KEEPING FIT...

1c worth of Quaker Oats equals 3 cakes of Fresh Yeast

Quaker and Mother's Oats are the same

The Morning After

Any day looks horrid, after you have stayed up all night.

Test a Coleman LAMP

10 DAYS in YOUR HOME

USE One of the New Coleman Lamps 10 days

right in your own home. Prove to yourself, by test and comparison with any other type of light, that the Coleman meets every lighting need in your home with its 300 candle-power "live" pressure light that protects your sight. This offer is secured by a Money-Back Guarantee through your dealer. Just send a postcard asking for Test Certificate, giving name and address of your hardware or house-furnishings dealer, and we will send you a Test Certificate to present to your dealer.

THE COLEMAN LAMP AND STOVE CO., Dept. W-111, Wichita, Kans.; Chicago, Ill.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Los Angeles, Calif.

PRICED AS LOW AS $3.95

Shade and Globe Extra

THE BARRIERS

Laws and observances are the protection of the good against the bad.

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

IMPENDING

By A. T. Wilson

STERS all in a box of laziness

The civilized nations of the earth are in a state of commotion and a state of war. We will get into a war. We will run circles around the late war. And why shouldn't they? All the nations been adding building faster and larger air-planes and more of them, and chemists at work trying to dis- cover a more deadly gas than the yellow, and some of them are breeding humans like they stock in order to make cannon of them. Italy had slumbered in sleep since the days of her glory. One of the first signs of her awakening was when Marconi in- vented wireless telegraphy and made possible, but of late Musso- lini has developed the agricultural and military spirit of the nation and it seems that she must be on the march and she may do both. She has outdone any other na- tion in mass flying across the Atlantic, but she has had a free hand in the commercial world while she is developing those things, and she is terribly handicapped if she is to drop back on her own re- sources. If England and France should see the channels of commerce to which she would eventually be con- vinced that she is a very small fish trying to cut such a big fry and terminate a sadder and wiser nation. If she is smart enough, like the old Greek goddesses, she can go ahead and lick the negroes while the other nations fight among themselves just as the English did the Boers in South Africa.

It seems that England and France went ahead and picked out the thighs of the breast and other good parts of the chicken and left Italy the neck and foot, just like the preacher did the kids who had to wait, and now they sit back on their haunches and tell Italy you are thirty years too late and sing that old song, "I got mine, boys, I got mine."

Now Italy and Germany and Japan are all in the same fix, rapidly in- creasing in population and developing their fighting facilities to the nth power and increasing in their belief that they are a superior people and are appointed by the powers that be to look after the inferior nations and are just rarin' to go and try out their new guns. These nations are really tough and used to hardships and may be hard to handle by nations like the U. S. A. who have had plenty and some to plow up and are living so luxuriously our greatest ambitions and highest aspirations are a new car, a thrilling football game, a pint of red beer and a package of coffin tacks.

If the U. S. A. is ever licked it will be by her own internal decay more than by enemies without her borders. Exactly as Carthage was overthrown by internal troubles while Hannibal was at the very gates of Rome.

Church service was over, and three members walked home together, dis- cussing the message they had heard. "I tell you," said the first, enthusi- astically, "Bro. Blank can certainly live deeper into the truth than any minister I ever heard!"

"Yes," said the second man, "and he can stay under longer."

"Yes," echoed the third, "and come up drier."

Goofus—"I understand that old Skintint the money lender has been hit so hard by the depression that now he has to keep his nose right to the grindstone."

Bloofus—"Is that so? I pity the poor grindstone."

The longer we live the more we are convinced that some persons don't read the halitosis ads.—Claude News.

Claude Simmons and family of Amarillo visited the former's sister, Mrs. R. P. Cunningham, last week.

He—"Now, darling, do tell me how you first came to know of your love for me."

She—"Oh, suddenly I noticed that I became angry when everybody called you an idiot."

Hotdog—"What's the matter with your wife? She looks all broken up."

Soybean—"She got a terrible shock."

Hotdog—"How was it?"

Soybean—"She was assisting at a rummage sale at the church and she took off her new $2 hat and somebody sold it for thirty cents."

Judge Phenix of Mineral Wells was a business visitor in McLean last week.

With the Churches

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Cecil G. Goff, Pastor
Sunday school 9:45 a. m.
Morning service at 11. Message by pastor. Special music by choir and orchestra.
B. T. U. at 6:15 p. m.
Night service at 7:30. Message by pastor. Special music by choir and orchestra.
Y. W. A. Monday, 7 p. m.
Choir rehearsal Tuesday, 7:30 p. m.
W. M. U. Wednesday, 2:30 p. m.
Prayer meeting Wednesday, 7:30 p. m.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

W. B. Andrews, Minister
Sunday morning Bible study begins at 10, preaching at 11. The letter to the church in Philadelphia will be studied at this service.
The young people meet at 6:30, and preaching at 7:30, Sunday evening.
Mid-week service Wednesday at 7:30.
Ladies meeting Thursday at 3.
Men's meeting Thursday at 7:30.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sunday school 10 a. m. Arthur Erwin gen. supt., Mrs. Chas. E. Cooke primary supt.
There will be no preaching services Sunday.
Junior choir Monday, 4:15 p. m.
Ladies Aid Tuesday, 3 p. m.
Choir practice Wednesday, 7:30 p. m.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

N. U. Stout, Pastor
Sunday school 10 a. m.
Morning worship at 11.
League 6:30 p. m.
Evening worship at 7:30.
Missionary society Tuesday, 3 p. m.

EVERY TOWN NEEDS IT

Canyon has need for a get-together spirit. While conditions have been pretty tough during the past few years, they can get worse unless a better cooperative spirit is shown among the citizens. Pulling together, trading with each other, buying at home would help. Even some business men are guilty of buying most of their supplies away from home, without giving the home firm a chance to serve them. Many salaried persons, whose salaries depend upon the continuation of the home institutions, send their money away from home.—Canyon News.

THE CRITICS

Church service was over, and three members walked home together, dis- cussing the message they had heard. "I tell you," said the first, enthusi- astically, "Bro. Blank can certainly live deeper into the truth than any minister I ever heard!"

"Yes," said the second man, "and he can stay under longer."

"Yes," echoed the third, "and come up drier."

Goofus—"I understand that old Skintint the money lender has been hit so hard by the depression that now he has to keep his nose right to the grindstone."

Bloofus—"Is that so? I pity the poor grindstone."

The longer we live the more we are convinced that some persons don't read the halitosis ads.—Claude News.

Claude Simmons and family of Amarillo visited the former's sister, Mrs. R. P. Cunningham, last week.

He—"Now, darling, do tell me how you first came to know of your love for me."

She—"Oh, suddenly I noticed that I became angry when everybody called you an idiot."

Hotdog—"What's the matter with your wife? She looks all broken up."

Soybean—"She got a terrible shock."

Hotdog—"How was it?"

Soybean—"She was assisting at a rummage sale at the church and she took off her new $2 hat and somebody sold it for thirty cents."

Judge Phenix of Mineral Wells was a business visitor in McLean last week.

WHEN ONE DISCLOSES HIS CALIBRE

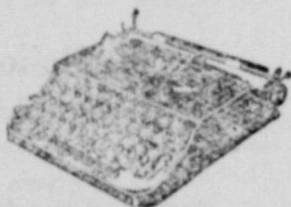

There come times in the lives of the great as well as in the lives of the small, when action or statement discloses the true calibre of the man. When President Roosevelt appeared at the dedication of the Hoover Dam a few days back, and pointedly called it "Boulder Dam," and paused a brief moment so that there might be no mistaking the implication, he showed to the whole world his little-ness of character, which friend and foe alike deplore.

President Roosevelt might serve another term as president; he might always have had the slight benefit of a doubt as to his sincere purpose of soul, but this one parting of the curtain that shrouds the innermost man, discloses him to view as a man of "littleness," leaves him stark in the nakedness of small calibre, not in keeping with the high office he now fills.—Sam M. Braswell, in Long- mont (Colo.) Ledger.

HOW TO STAY MARRIED

1. Be sure you are temperamentally suited to each other.
2. Each party must realize that marriage is a life-long contract.
3. The wife should realize that marriage is not a life of luxuries.
4. The husband should realize he is the bread winner.
5. Each should show the other more consideration than any other person except their children.
6. Every couple should live well within their means with the objective of owning a home.
7. Remember divorce destroys love, home, and family ties.
8. If husband and wife will make proper effort in rearing and educating their children, petty differences between the two will disappear.
9. Never start arguing before break- fast.
10. If husband and wife will continue to think of each other as the boy and girl they married, the romance and chivalry of their courtship will continue through their declining years.—H. Speakman.

About 50% of Arabian horses are bays, about 30% are gray and 20% chestnut, pure white or black being unusual.

NEW Style
NEW Features
NEW Colors

The NEW
Remington-Union

The smartest, most efficient small typewriter ever made—with standard 4-row keyboard—big machine action and life-time dependability. No increase in price—but immense increase in value.

We have it on display. Come in and try it!

For Sale By
The McLean News

EAT YOUR ABC'S

SEE YOUR DOCTOR

Yes, you eat your alphabet, whether you realize it or not. Every day you consume vitamins A, B, C and all the rest. But perhaps, if you—or some member of your family—is lacking in energy for no apparent reason, an extra quantity of some particular vitamin may be required. Your doctor can quickly tell. Go have a talk with him. If he prescribes one of the newer food concentrates, bring his pre- scription here to be filled. Our stock is fresh and complete.

CITY DRUG STORE

More than a Merchant
Witt Springer, Prop.

IT'S ALL UP TO YOU

How did you arrive at your present station in life? Pause and cross-examine yourself. Count up your assets. Who is responsible for them? Then reckon up your liabilities. Who contracted them, and why?

Thinking before acting leads to assets. Acting before thinking re- sults in liabilities. Thus it is that we lay the foundation upon which we build our lives.

What does life mean to you? Do you ask for its full and brimming measure? Do you seek all that you are rightfully entitled to, or are you satisfied with a part measure? Do you consider yourself as of no account to the world, or do you think that you must do your best because it is your duty and not another's to carry out the underlying plan?

Hesitate no longer. Check up on yourself—discover your shortcomings. If by chance you are not the counter- part of your ideal, plug away a little harder, a little more deeply. Seek the cause; then buckle down to the task before you with new-born en- ergy, realizing that it is your fight, that time cannot be recalled, that the scales must balance in your favor.

Your life is in your hands—mold it as you will. Profit by experience—attain your goal. It's all up to you.—The New Era.

Accepted Swain—"I know I'm not much to look at."

The Girl—"Still, you'll be at work all day."

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Fulbright and children were in Shamrock one day last week.

American Theatre

Friday

"DON'T BET ON BLONDES"
with Warren William and Guy Kibbee
"Tallspin Tommy" and Comedy

Saturday

"GINGER"
with Jane Withers and O. P. Heggie
Serial and Comedy

Saturday Preview and Sunday

Francis Lederer and Frances Dee in
"THE GAY DECEPTION"
Two Reel Comedy

Monday and Tuesday

"THE GOOSE AND GANDER" with Kay Francis and George Brent Fox News and Comedy

Wednesday, Thursday

James Cagney and Pat O'Brien in
"THE IRISH IN US"
Two Reel Comedy

COMING—
"TOP HAT"

SIXTY DOLLARS

Sixty little dollars
With seven days to go;
Fifteen went a renting
Like a streak of indigo.
Five and forty dollars
Racing with the days;
Fifteen went insuring
Slack as something glazed.
Thirty little dollars
Getting up and flying;
Twenty parachuted down
And went a grocery buying.
Ten little dollars
Fading in the air;
Five went beauty shopping.
Four went here and there.
One little dollar
Feeling kinda small;
It went to see a picture show,
And that wound up the ball.
—Clipped.

The black widow spider is more deadly to her own family than to strange humans. She usually eats her mate and often her young.

Ruel Smith was in New Mexico last week on business.

SHOES DYED

RED
NAVY BLUE
BROWN
OR BLACK

All work guaranteed.

Reep Landers
Up-to-Date Shoe Shop

EXPECTING TOO MUCH

Patient (nervously) "I suppose the operation will be dangerous, doctor?"
Doctor—"Nonsense! You couldn't buy a dangerous operation for forty dollars."

A modern girl's hair may look like a mop, but that doesn't worry her. She doesn't know what a mop looks like!

Mrs. and Mrs. T. W. Eldridge and daughter, Miss Genella, were in Pampa Thursday.

Mrs. Thurman Adkins

SPEECH and DRAMATICS

High and Grade Schools

Life — Auto — Casualty

W. E. BOGAN
& Son

Insurance

Fire HaH Tornado
McLEAN TEXAS

BETTER FOODS

for YOUR TABLE

Quality Groceries Tender Meats
in Tempting Variety

Let us fill your next order.

O. K. GROCERY and MARKET

DAD'S

ASLEEP

AGAIN!

"Dad can't read much longer than half an hour any more, he seems to get sleepy." ... A very common occurrence.

Maybe it's not Dad's fault. Good light means a lot to eyes that are no longer young. When older people put aside reading or other close work as if it were just too much for them, it may be because eyes have rebelled against poor light.

Reading means much to older people. Protect their eyes by providing enough light for every task. Just call our nearest office and say, "I would like to have our lighting measured with a Light Meter."

Our representative will call with this new instrument for measuring light and will show you just how much light you should have to safeguard the eyesight of every member of your family. There is no charge for this service.

Southwestern
PUBLIC SERVICE Company
McLean, Texas

THE McLEAN NEWS

Published Every Thursday

News Building, 210 Main Street
Phone 47

T. A. LANDERS, Publisher

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

In Texas
One Year	$2.00
Six Months	1.25
Three Months	.65
Outside Texas
One Year	$2.50
Six Months	1.50
Three Months	.85

Entered as second class mail matter May 8, 1905, at the post office at McLean, Texas, under act of Congress

MEMBER

National Editorial Association
Texas Press Association
Panhandle Press Association

Display advertising rate, 25c per column inch each insertion. Preferred position, 30c per inch.

Resolutions, obituaries, cards of thanks, and items of like nature charged for at line rates.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation, which may appear in the columns of this paper, will be gladly corrected upon due notice of same being given to the editor personally, at the office at 210 Main Street, McLean, Texas.

The man who burned the midnight oil when a boy, now has a son who is burning the midnight gasoline.

The greatest economic danger this country faces today is in people looking to the government for support. There can be no government after a while if such a theory is allowed to continue.

The three great civilizing forces of the community, outside the home, are the church, the school, and the newspaper. The cooperation of all is needed if the community is to progress as it should.

Names mean little in the larger papers, as so few of their subscribers know those mentioned, but it is different in the home paper where everyone knows everyone else. This fact is why your visitors and party guests make interesting reading for home folks.

We have been listening to promises on the Jericho gap paving until patience has ceased to be a virtue. There should be some way to get action on this stretch of road. It is admitted that there is no more important highway than 66, and there is no stretch of road anywhere that needs paving more.

"Soaking the rich" sounds good to most of us, but when we stop to think that when we "soak the rich" we "soak everyone," it has a different sound. Most of the great corporations now represent the savings of hundreds of thousands of investors, in place of a few large fortunes, and the "soaking" will trickle down to reach most all of us.

The American housewife must pay $1.59 today for food that she could have bought for $1.05 two years ago—regardless of the fact that times are not better in the same proportion; however, the blame for increased food costs cannot be laid at the door of retail grocers, for their costs have risen along with the retail prices. The government's crop restricting has a matter of farm relief has had a lot to do with the present situation, but there is still a wide gap in what the farmer receives and what the consumer pays.

"I have learned that plum juice is much better to use than lemons with ice tea," says Mrs. Ernest Holley, member of Cartwright Home Demonstration Club, in discussing the use of fruit juices.

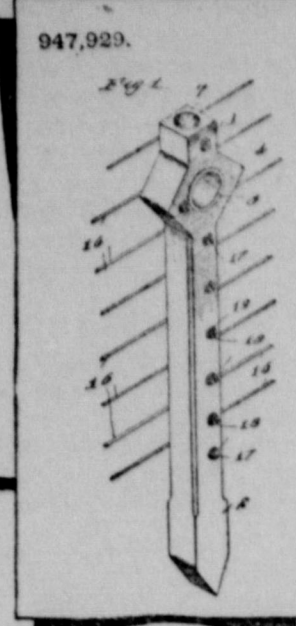

"To prepare the beverage mix equal parts of plum juice and tea. Sweeten to taste and serve ice cold. This makes a delicious drink."

Rabbits were introduced into Australia for hunters' sport less than a century ago, but the animals increased so alarmingly that it became necessary to pay men to kill off the pests.

Puerto Rico may decide to eliminate cotton, cultivated and wild, from its fields, in order to reduce insect pests that infest cotton and other plants.

ODD—but True Inventions

947,929.

PAT. NO 947,929
FENCE POSTS WITH ACCOMODATIONS FOR HARBORING BIRDS

THIS INVENTION GAINS FOR THE TOILERS ON TREELESS FIELDS THE INSPIRING UPLIFTING AND ENCOURAGING COMPANIONSHIP OF THE SINGING "ANGELS OF THE AIR" BY PROVIDING A FENCE-POST WHICH SERVES AS A REFUGE, HARBOR, HOME AND DRINKING FOUNTAIN FOR A FAMILY OF BIRDS.

SWEET AD-E-LINE. MY AD-E-LINE.

FOR YOU I PINE

WHEN CAN I SEE YOU SWEET-HEART?

MEET ME AFTER DARK AT FARMER TOMKINS' FENCE-POST NO. 5,462

HEY YOU BIRDS. HERE'S YOUR CIDER AND DOUGHNUTS

OH FARMER COLE IS A MERRY OLD SOUL

© BOWNET-BROWN

Household Hints

By Jean Mueller

The next time you have Avocado pear salad, save the pit and put it in a small, shallow bowl with the rounded end submerged in about one-half cup of water. Refill it each morning. Sometimes it takes two or three months before showing any signs of growing. This is a very interesting plant to watch grow.

DO YOU KNOW THAT:

1. By keeping brown sugar in the refrigerator in an open jar, it will become soft and remain free from lumps?
2. On removing cakes from the oven and chilling the bottoms of the cake tins by placing them on cloths saturated in very cold water and running a knife around the edge, the cake can be removed easily and without sticking?
3. Stains can be removed from discolored and dark pewter by using strong soap suds and hot water?

EGGLESS, BUTTERLESS, MILKLESS CAKE

- 1 cup brown sugar
 - 1 cup water
 - 2 cups raisins
 - 1/3 cup lard
 - 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
 - 1/2 teaspoon cloves
 - Pinch of salt
- Boil for five minutes. Let cool, then add two cups of flour, and one-half teaspoon baking powder.
- Bake in a moderate oven for about an hour.

SPIDER CORN CAKE

- 1 2/3 cups corn meal
 - 1/3 cup flour
 - 1/4 cup sugar
 - 1 teaspoonful salt
- Mix together. Beat two eggs until light. Add one cup sour milk, and one cup sweet milk in which a small teaspoon of soda has been dissolved. Pour this mixture on the dry ingredients, and mix thoroughly.
- Have the frying pan real hot, and after greasing it with two tablespoons of butter, pour the batter into it. Pour into the mixture another cup of sweet milk, but do not stir the cake. Place the frying pan in a hot oven and bake for half an hour. When the cake is done, slip it gently from the pan onto a platter.

FRICASSEE OF DRIED BEEF

- 1 cup beef, finely chopped
 - 1 tablespoon butter
 - 2 eggs
 - 1/2 pint milk
- Melt butter in milk, and add the beef. Cook five minutes, then put in the beaten eggs slowly. Stir until the sauce is thick. Serve on toast.

Jack Hodges of Houston visited, his brother and sister, Sam Hodges and Mrs. S. R. Jones, last week.

SILENCE

In the dimly lighted conservatory Herbert had asked Elsie to marry him. She had consented with fitting modesty.

"Herbert, dear," she murmured, "am I the only girl?"

"Now look here, dearest," he interrupted, "don't ask me if you are the only girl I ever loved. You know as well as I do that—"

"Oh, that wasn't the question at all, Herbert," she answered. "I was just going to ask you if I was the only girl that would have you."

Mr. and Mrs. Loury Malloy and children; Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Bateman and daughter of Amarillo visited in the A. L. Morgan home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Bateman and children; Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Bateman and daughter of Amarillo visited in the A. L. Morgan home Sunday.

Dwight Stubblefield motored to Sunday. He was accompanied by his brother, James, of Wellington.

Life Fire Hail INSURANCE

I insure anything. No prohibited list.

I represent some of the strongest companies in the world.

T. N. Holloway
Reliable Insurance

GOODYEAR
PATHFINDER
$5.25 30 x 3 1/2
4.40-21 $6.05
4.75-19 7.05
Other Sizes in Proportion
Prices subject to change without notice.
State sales tax additional.

Over 20,000,000 GOODYEAR Pathfinders sold—that's how good it is. Guaranteed in writing against road injuries and defects. A better tire than most dealers sell at highest prices.

BUTLER'S TIRE STORE
We Make Tires a Business, not a Sideline

Announcement

We have installed an auto parts store in McLean and will endeavor to keep everything needed for the motorist, with the exception of tires and tubes.

Our prices will be strictly in line for high class goods, and we want to meet every car owner in this community.

Saturday will be our formal opening day.

Next door to McLean Filling Station

Western Auto Parts Company

News from Pakan

John Hrciar Jr. and Rev. Martin Cizmar transacted business in Weatherford, Okla., Friday.

A large crowd from here attended the circus at Shamrock Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Younger visited in the Heald community Sunday.

Mrs. John Cadra honored her son Edward, with a birthday party Wednesday night. Everyone reported a nice time.

Mrs. C. C. Crosby and sons, Gene and Joe, and daughter, Annie Ruth, returned Friday from Shawnee, Okla., where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Crosby's mother.

Miss Christine Pakan returned Friday night after a two months' visit with her sister, Mrs. George Dolak, and Rev. Dolak, of Massillon, Ohio. Miss Louise Risian returned to Shamrock Monday morning, where she is employed at the canning plant.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Blue and family visited in the J. Rabo home at Shamrock Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sparks visited their daughters, Mrs. D. C. Regal in Amarillo, and Mrs. Frank Bidwell at Tucuman, N. M., over the week end. Sunday, the Sparks' and Bidwell's motored to Las Vegas, Santa Fe and Albuquerque. Mr. and Mrs. Sparks returned home Monday.

Mrs. J. H. Bodine visited her daughter at Arlington last week end.

Mrs. Boyd Reeves was a Pampa visitor last week.

Ends Aching Sore Muscles

For longer lasting, quicker relief, use Ballard's Snow Liniment which contains active ingredients to give a more than local action, thus bringing a surge of warmed blood to scatter congestion and more quickly soothe away the pain from aching muscles, sprains, strains, backache and lumbago. Ballard's Snow Liniment. 30c and 60c.

CITY DRUG STORE

"—lovlier than ever!" YOUR HAIR WAVED TO YOUR TYPE . .

NOW that the social season is getting into full swing, millady's hair should come in for more than the usual attention. Whether it is long or short, a Tulip Oil Vitro Tonic Wave will beautify it most alluringly. We know "types" and the LATEST in hair modes.

Regular Price $5.00—for only $3.90 if you bring in this advertisement. (Shampoo and set included)

Other Permanents $1 and $2
Marrow Oil Shampoo, 50c
Phone 149 for appointment

LANDERS BEAUTY SHOPPE
1 block north of Post Office

City Food Store

Service - Quality - Satisfaction
Prices Good Friday, Saturday, Monday

SPUDS Peck, 15 lb.....	19c	GRAPES per lb.....	6c
ONIONS yellow per lb.....	2 1/2c	ORANGES small per doz.....	15c
OATS Mother's per box.....	22c	PEAS Phillips No. 2 can.....	10c
COFFEE Bright and Early, per lb.....	19c
	We Grind It
GREEN BEANS No. 2 can 3 for.....	25c	PIMIENTOS 7 oz. can.....	10c
MINCE MEAT 3 for.....	25c
DEL MONTE PEACHES 2 1/2 can.....	19c	DEL MONTE SPINACH 2 No. 2 cans.....	25c

Best of Meats in the Market

Shivering with Chills

Burning with Fever

Sure Relief for Malaria!

Don't try homemade treatments or untried remedies! Take that good old Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. Soon you will be yourself again, for Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic not only relieves the symptoms of Malaria, but destroys the malarial infection.

The tasteless quinine in Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic kills the malarial infection in the blood while the iron it contains builds up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and fortify against further attack. The twofold effect is absolutely necessary to the overcoming of Malaria. Besides being a dependable remedy for Malaria, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is also an excellent tonic of general use. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children. Get a bottle today at any drug store. Now two sizes—50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2½ times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25% more for your money.

Like Humans
A cat likes best the food she can provide for herself: milk and fish.

LIFE LONG FRIEND

Keeps Them Fit at 70

There's a vegetable-laxative—NR—has been as dependable as family during their young "after" years. NR keeps the regular—year after year faithfully with never any more increase of "bowel" trouble. No wonder "bowel" is so free from complaints. Millions of people welcome the aid of this reliable corrective. For Nature's kindly strengthens and regulates the digestive tract—safely carries away the waste that brings headaches, indigestion, constipation, etc. Get a 25c box. NR TO-NIGHT TOMORROW ALRIGHT.

Asserts Himself
A shy and dignified boy often has surprise in his make-up to spring upon you when he grows up.

SOLES

RED SORES BOILS RASH

For the treatment of sores on feet, legs or any other part of the body, Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil will be found unusually effective. This oil, perfected by a distinguished surgeon of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, has a twofold action. First, it combats infection. Second, it aids healing. This is usually the treatment you want for a sore.

Besides sores, Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil is good for the treatment of boils and skin rashes, etc. Hundreds who have tried everything else for sores and broken out and itching skin, say nothing has given them the relief that Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil has. Try this wonderful treatment for sores on any part of the body or for boils or skin itch and see how beneficial it is.

Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil is made by the makers of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine and is sold by all druggists at 30c and 50c with guarantee of satisfaction or money back.

Too Much Is Too Much
A taste for nonsense is limited in most men.

For Bad Feeling

Due to Constipation

Get rid of constipation by taking Black-Draught as soon as you notice that bowel activity has slowed up or you begin to feel sluggish. Thousands prefer Black-Draught for the refreshing relief it has brought them. "Mrs. Ray Mullins, of Lake, Ark., writes: 'My husband and I both take Black-Draught for constipation, biliousness, and the disagreeable, aching, tired feeling that comes from this condition.' With reference to Syrup of Black-Draught, which this mother gives her children, she says: 'They like the taste and it gave such good results.'"

BLACK-DRAUGHT

ECZEMA...

To quickly relieve the itching and burning, and help nature restore skin comfort, freely apply

Resinol

Rid Yourself of Kidney Poisons

Do you suffer burning, scanty or too frequent urination, backache, headache, dizziness, swollen feet and ankles? Are you tired, nervous—feel all unstrung and don't know what is wrong?

Then give some thought to your kidneys. Be sure they function properly, for functional kidney disorder permits excess waste to stay in the blood, and to poison and upset the whole system.

Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are for the kidneys only. They are recommended the world over. You can get the genuine, time-tested Doan's at any drug store.

DOAN'S PILLS

Off to School in Wash Silk Frocks

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

"WHAT is the matter dear, don't you like your new dress?" questioned an anxious and puzzled mother as she noted a lack of enthusiasm on the part of little daughter, who stood before her trying on a frock of a none too attractive utilitarian weave. While the sensitive little fingers smoothed the material, came the answer reluctantly and hesitatingly—"Yes, mother dear, only I like the nice silky kind better." This is a true story and it has a moral—a word to the wise is sufficient.

And why not wear silk to school? Of course it must be the right kind of silk that bespeaks the fitness of things. The sort we have in mind is the pure silk fabrics that are absolutely practical in that they wash and iron endlessly, clean constantly and do not stretch or sag.

A selection of charming colors is offered in the washable silk crepes. Little folks will love the bright rust shades, the rich hunter greens and the raspberry tone, Robin Hood red, smart browns and the new Tahiti green, also blues both navy and light, and for party wear there is a dainty tea-rose that is most attractive. The new spun silks (they launder beautifully) in plaids and checks are ideal for cunning play dresses that button up the back and are trimmed with Peter Pan collars. By the way Scotch Highland plaids made up with light-colored skirts are outstanding this season.

When it comes to Sunday bests and party frocks, they will prove an incentive to good behavior to any little girl if made up of lovely tulle and silk chiffons (some with drawn threads forming a checked pattern) especially if a perky new hat and silk bag complete the ensemble.

Plants, shirring and smoking in mother's and grown-up sister's mode are likewise very much in evidence in the styling of children's apparel. Many of the juvenile frocks have attached pleats released halfway down the skirt. The little girl to the left in the picture is off to school in a dress of pure silk crepe that is going to prove an economy and energy-saving measure for mother, in that every time it comes from a tubbing it will be looking like new. It has the released pleats mentioned above. In this instance the pleats begin at the shoulder and are released halfway down the skirt. A white collar adds a demure note.

Little Missy with her smart new school bag is poised and proud in a prettily fashioned frock of deep rose colored silk crepe. The skirt is box-pleated. The pleating, so pronounced this season, is further emphasized in the tiny accordion-pleated frills that edge the round collar effect and the fastening down the front. Eyelet-embroidered white crepe forms a double collar line.

A society bud in the making stands to the right in the picture. She is "all dressed up" for a Sunday afternoon stroll in a silk crepe gown in the fashionable Tahiti green. The piping and sprightly bows are in wood brown. The full sleeves are shirred from the neckline over the shoulders, a very significant gesture in dressmaker details.

Yes, indeed, there is undoubtedly that something of magic in a neat, pretty silk frock, the sort that launders (mothers appreciate the "laundry" assurance) that can put glamor even into the arduous task of learning reading, writing, arithmetic, geography—practicing piano, too!

© Western Newspaper Union.

PLAID WOOL COAT

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

When the tang of frost is in the air the more warm, radiant color in our apparel the better. Which is why the new plaid wool coats which are the smartest sort for immediate wear, tune so delightfully into the autumn landscape. Why not heed the suggestion and go stepping into the foremost ranks of fashion cloaked in stunning plaid wool which is luxuriantly colored with swanky sports fur?

NEW FALL STYLES DEMAND FREEDOM

"Have you noticed how much shorter, fuller and freer are the new fall skirts for sports and tailored clothes?" asked a stylist. "Quite a change from the straight and narrow silhouette we've had for some time."

"You'll see that same spirit of freedom and swing-along in the sturdy looking shoes to wear with these new clothes—that is, for tailored and sports wear. Low heels, simple lines, tongues, broad straps, high throats—all are good because they give correct accent to this new fashion of freedom."

"But what a contrast when it comes to afternoon and evening shoes! Soft, rich fabrics, falling in graceful folds call for finely feminine shoes. Rather simple in design because the 'law of balance' tells us that when skirts are more complicated, shoes should be less complicated."

Autumn Evening Clothes Rich in Fabric and Color

Your evening clothes this fall and winter will be of rich fabrics, advises Harper's Bazaar, velvets, tulle and velvets, metals, laces and semi-transparent silk crepes.

The silhouette must be a flowing line from neck to hem. Anything sticking out is wrong. Nothing fits tight, but as the body is always evident a carefully fitted corset is more important than ever. There are draped effects rather than actual drapery. Many dresses are draped up in front to above the ankle. Some achieve the effect of harem trousers. There are flowing lines created by scarfs, back panels or angel sleeves. As to color, there is every shade of blue from azure to deep sapphire, then reds, then green. Paillettes are used for everything in every color.

LOVE FINDS A WAY

Virgil F. Winslow was testifying in a Los Angeles court in an attempt to gain a divorce from Sarah C. Winslow, his wife for 35 years. "She was domineering—" his voice halted and tears came to his eyes. "I love my wife! I can't go through with this!" he shouted. Walking away from the witness stand, he went to his wife and embraced her. The case was dismissed.

KEEP FAITH

Public education is the acknowledged right of every American child. Times are hard but no harder than they were for the founders of our nation. Let us not economize on our children.—National Kindergarten Association.

Progress Questions

When man ceases to question he ceases to think.

Quick Safe Relief For Eyes Irritated By Exposure To Sun Wind and Dust—MURINE FOR YOUR EYES

"Wasn't I good and glad to discover it!"

MRS. K. J. TOBIN, OF BEVERLY HILLS, ILL., WELCOMES

Calumet Baking Powder... in a big, new 10¢ can!

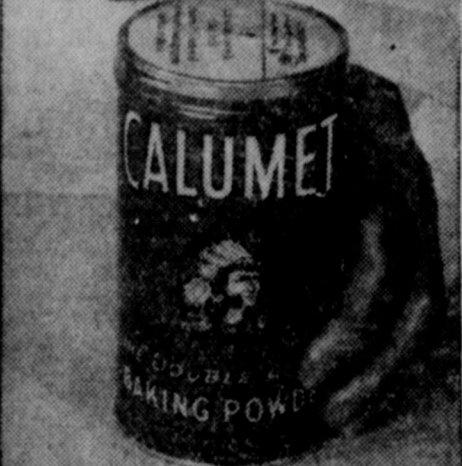

"WHAT'S THE SENSE in taking chances with second-bests when you can get a good, big can of Calumet for a dime?" asks Mrs. Tobin.

"I've never had a baking failure with Calumet," Mrs. Tobin said. And judging by the expectant faces of Richard and Patricia, Mrs. Tobin is not the only member of her family who knows how delicious Calumet cakes always are!

A SIMPLE TWIST... and the Easy-Off Top lifts off. No delay, no spilling, no broken finger-nails!

WHY DOES CALUMET give such astonishing "baking luck"? Why is Calumet different from other baking powders? Because Calumet combines two distinct leavening actions. A quick one for the mixing bowl. A slower one for the oven... and Calumet's double-action is so perfectly balanced and controlled that it produces perfect leavening—every time.

All Calumet prices are lower! Calumet is now selling at the lowest prices in history... the regular price of Full-Pound Can is now only 25¢! And be sure to see the new, big 10¢ can—a lot of good baking for a dime, with Calumet, the Double-Acting Baking Powder. A product of General Foods.

DIZZY DEAN nabs a runner!

CALLING ALL CARS—CALLING ALL CARS. LIFE CONVICT ESCAPES FROM STATE PENITENTIARY. HE'S HEADED NORTH ON ROUTE 31—IN A BLUE TOURING CAR.

HERE COMES A BLUE CAR, DIZZY! AND IT'S SURE TRAVELIN'!

GIMME A ROCK!

THE COPS ARE CHASING IT, TOO!

SOCK-O!

GOSH, DIZZY SURE SOCKED HIM!

HE'S OUT LIKE A LIGHT, LARRY! AND LOOK WHO MADE THE DUT-OUT! DIZZY DEAN!

YOU'RE CALLING 'EM RIGHT, OFFICER.

GEE, DIZZY, YOU CERTAINLY HAD THAT OLD CONTROL AND SPEED WHEN YOU BEANED THAT CONVICT!

WELL, SON, YOU WON'T LAST IN THE BIG LEAGUE WITHOUT CONTROL. AND YOU GOT TO HAVE PLENTY OF ENERGY, TOO, TO KEEP POURING THAT FAST ONE IN.

BUT, HOW DO YOU GET SO MUCH ENERGY, DIZZY?

WELL, I GET PLENTY OF EXERCISE AND SLEEP. AND I EAT ENERGY-MAKING FOOD, TOO. LIKE THAT GRAPE-NUTS THERE. HOW 'BOUT HAVING A HELPING OF IT NOW?

Boys! Girls!... Get Valuable Prizes Free!

Join Dizzy Dean Winners—Carry Dizzy's Lucky Piece!

Send the top from one yellow-and-blue Grape-Nuts package, with your name and address, to Grape-Nuts, Battle Creek, Mich., for membership pin and copy of club manual, containing list of 37 nifty free prizes. And to have loads of energy, start eating Grape-Nuts right away. It has a winning flavor all its own—crisp, nut-like, delicious. Economical to serve, too, for two table-spoons, with whole milk or cream, provide more varied nourishment than many a hearty meal. (Offer expires Dec. 31, 1935. Good only in U.S.A.)

Dizzy Dean Winner's Membership Pin. Solid bronze, with red enameled lettering. Free for 1 Grape-Nuts package-top. In ordering membership pin, be sure to ask for Prize 301.

Dizzy Dean Lucky Piece. Just like Dizzy carries—with his good luck motto on reverse side. Free for 1 Grape-Nuts package-top. In ordering lucky piece, ask for Prize 303.

Grape-Nuts
A Product of General Foods

S. S. LESSON

By Rev. Cecil G. Goff
Pastor First Baptist Church

THE STORY OF JEREMIAH

Lesson text, Jeremiah 1:6-12, 28:8-15. Golden text, "Thou shalt go to all that I shall send thee, and whatsoever I command thee thou shalt speak." Jeremiah 1:7.

Jeremiah was the son of the priest Hilkiah, a descendant of Eli, and a resident of Anathoth, a town of less than a day's journey from Jerusalem. The native city of Jeremiah was in the rocky country of tribal inheritance of Benjamin. Its citizens were used to the hardships of life. The country lay in the main path of invading armies and its inhabitants knew the horrors of war and massacre.

Jeremiah was reared in a religious home—one of the few left of the day that were God-fearing. He was born during the wicked reign of Manasseh. This monarch, one of the most wicked of all the kings of Judah, reigned for almost forty years. During that time he led the people to almost completely disregard the true Jehovah worship and instituted every type of sensual idolatry known to mankind. So deeply did it take root in the lives of the people that when Josiah came to the throne and attempted to win the people back to the true God, his reforms took hold in name only. The hearts of the people were set. They went back to the old form of Jehovah worship, but never to heart-felt service.

Jeremiah as a boy was called of God to take His message to the people. He was young and timid and tried to beg off as many another one called of God has done. But God would not take "no" for an answer. Thus it was that the young king Josiah and the young prophet, so near the same age, came into prominence about the same time. How different was their part in the life of the kingdom. One, the ruler with power of life and death over his subjects, the other a poor boy with a message from God which no one particularly wanted to hear. And to be sure there were some in those days too, who acclaimed that the prophet was preaching for money, and was no sincere in his message.

Josiah and Jeremiah seemed to have the same mind in matters that concerned Jehovah. No doubt the young Jeremiah, fearless in his message, had a great influence over the king. Even though the attempted reforms of the religion of the people took outward form only, the continual message of the prophet of God had its influence for good. And the least that Josiah could do was to give to the man of God royal protection.

When Josiah's reign of thirty-five years came to an end, Jehoahaz ruled for three months. Times were peaceful. During the peaceful reign of Josiah the Assyrians to the north were having trouble with the Medes and had no time to bother Palestine. To the south Egypt was having her troubles, but with the Assyrians about to fall to the north, Egypt marched north, captured Jerusalem, placed Jehoiakim on the throne and took $250,000 as tribute. Jehoiakim was an enemy of the prophet Jeremiah. At first the civil authorities gave him some protection, and kept the mob from killing him. God commanded His prophet to write his prophecy. His scribe, Baruch, read it since Jeremiah was not permitted in the temple. It caused such an uproar that it was taken to be read before the king. The prophesied doom of the nation caused such wrath on the part of the king that he personally destroyed the writings and ordered the prophet and his scribe arrested. They successfully hid from the king's soldiers.

Jehoiakim reigned eleven years. Bedekiah then came to the throne. During this time the Chaldeans came down from the north, but fearing the Egyptians, withdrew. The country was left in peace and felt secure. The king asked the prophet to pray for the nation and bring the blessings of God to him. Jeremiah prayed. God's answer, delivered by the prophet, was that the nation would be conquered and Jerusalem burned. For this prophecy Jeremiah was imprisoned. Soon after Nebuchadnezzar captured and burned the city. He was kindly toward the prophet of God and gave him his choice of going into captivity or remaining with the remnant of his people. He chose to remain.

Johanan the leader of the remnant of the Hebrews, chose to lead the remnant into Egypt. Jeremiah brought to him God's warning against such a move, but in vain. The warnings of the prophet concerning the sins of that idolatrous country meant nothing to the already idolatrous remnant. God promised to bless them if they would remain and obey Him. But they took their journey into the land of their former slavery, despite God and His prophet. Jeremiah went with them to warn them to the last. And thus ends the recorded happenings of one of God's greatest prophets.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Carpenter visited their daughter, Miss Juanita, at McMurry College in Abilene Sunday

Geo. W. Slitter takes advantage of our bargain rate on the Amarillo this week.

AMARILLO GREENHOUSE

605 Tyler St. Amarillo
Telephone 2-2239; Night

We prepay delivery charges on orders of $3.00 or more

PROTECT YOUR EYES

Eyes Examined

Glasses Fitted

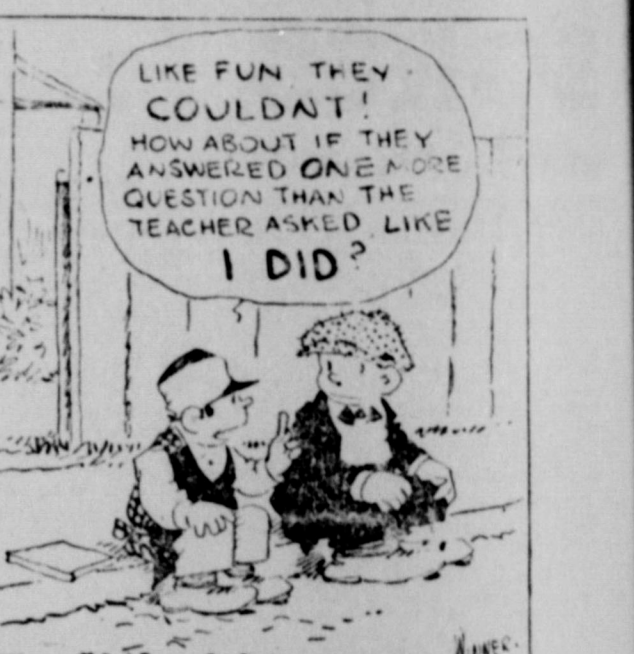

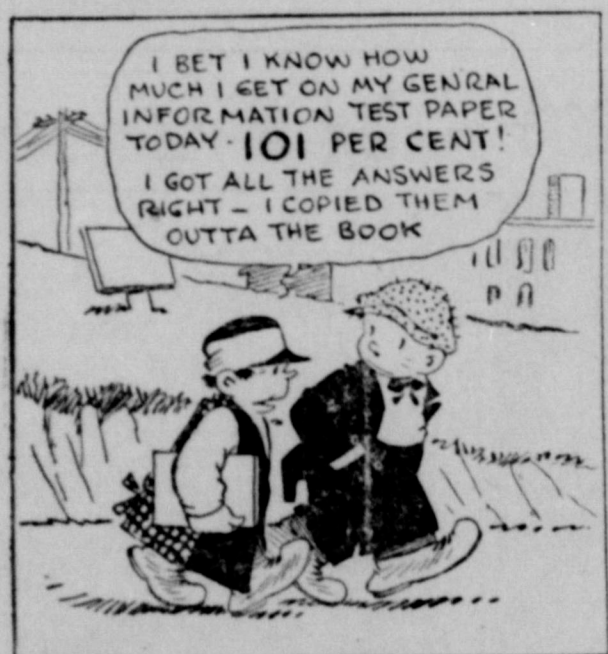

DR. T. M. MONTGOMERY, Optometrist

191 Oliver-Eagle Bldg. Amarillo, Tex.

THE FAMILY NEXT DOOR

TUBBY

Perfect Perfection.

THEM DAYS ARE GONE FOREVER

(A New Tune Each Day)

THE GEEVUM GIRLS

The Man Who Knows

Whether the Remedy You are taking for Headaches, Neuralgia or Rheumatism Pains is SAFE is Your Doctor. Ask Him

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with Genuine Bayer Aspirin. We say this because, before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin, most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of Bayer Aspirin largely changed medical practice. Countless thousands of people who have taken Bayer Aspirin year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings of its safety were correct. Remember this: Genuine Bayer Aspirin is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains... and safe for the average person to take regularly. You can get real Bayer Aspirin at any drug store—simply by never asking for it by the name "aspirin" alone, but always saying BAYER ASPIRIN when you buy.

Bayer Aspirin

ASK YOUR DOCTOR FIRST, MOTHER

Before You Give Your Child an Unknown Remedy to Take

Every day, unthinkingly, mothers take the advice of unqualified persons—instead of their doctor's—on remedies for their child.

If they knew what the scientists show, they would never take this chance.

Doctors Say PHILLIPS' For Your Child

When it comes to the frequently-used "milk of magnesia," doctors, for over 50 years, have said "PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia—the safe remedy for your child."

Remember this—And Always Say "Phillips' When You Buy. Your child deserves it; for your own peace of mind, see that you get it—Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Also in Tablet Form: Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at all drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

STOPPED-UP NOSTRILS
due to colds.

Use Mentholatum to help open the nostrils and permit freer breathing.

MENTHOLATUM
Gives COMFORT Daily

If you prefer nose drops, or throat spray, call for the NEW MENTHOLATUM LIQUID in handy bottle with dropper.

FLY-TOX
Kills MOSQUITOES FLIES-SPIDERS and OTHER INSECTS

THE FEATHERHEADS

By Osborne

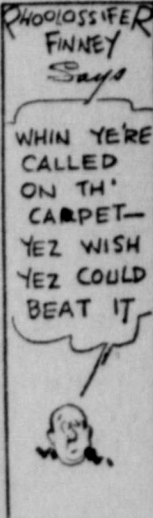

Y-S QUAK

TALK IS CHEAP—BUT YOU SPEND A LOT OF TIME ON IT

FINNEY OF THE FORCE

By Ted O'Loughlin

Write and Wrong

WHOLESSIFER FINNEY Says

WHIN YERE CALLED ON TH' CARPET—YEZ WISH YEZ COULD BEAT IT

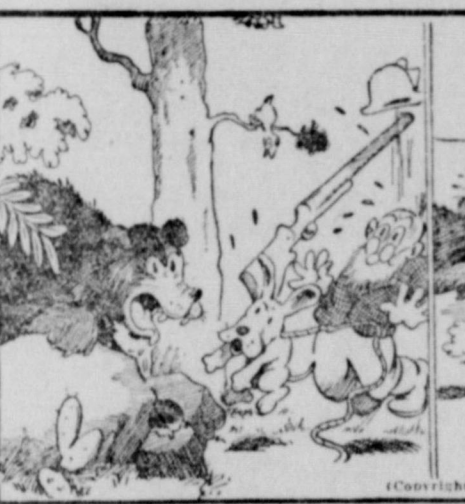

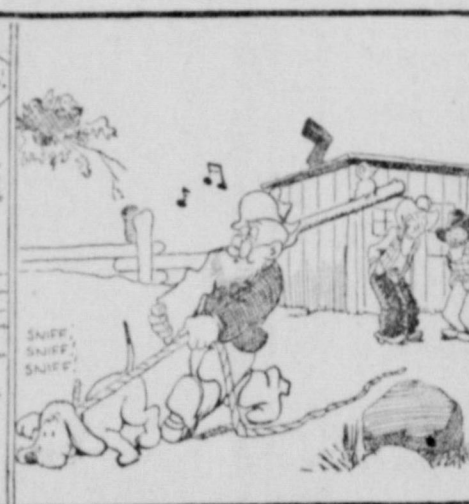

SMATTER POP—Revising William's Schedule

By C. M. PAYNE

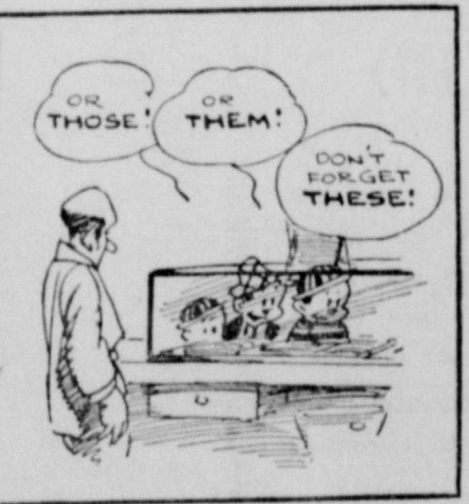

MESCAL IKE

By S. L. HUNTLEY

"REG'LAR FELLERS"

Another Financial Crash

Our Pet Peeve

By M. G. JETTNER

FIGHTING SPIRIT

By GLUYAS WILLIAMS

World's Deepest River
The Saguenay is the world's deepest river.

FLAVOR+QUALITY

WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT
THE PERFECT GUM

Local and Personal

Luther Petty, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Angle and daughters, Cressie and Leola, made a trip to Littlefield Friday and Saturday.

J. E. Smith of Clinton, Okla., was transacting business in McLean Wednesday.

Charlie Back visited his daughter, Miss Charlie Marie, at Abilene Sunday.

Vester Smith made a business trip to Oklahoma and South Texas last week.

J. D. Kite underwent an operation at a Pampa hospital last night. He was reported resting very well.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Watkins visited their daughter, Mrs. Lear M. Jones, at Lubbock last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Wilkins and baby visited in Tulsa, Okla., over the week end.

S. O. Cook of Dallas visited his mother, Mrs. C. C. Cook, over the week end.

Vernon Johnston and N. H. Greer were in Amarillo Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Paige of Lefors were in McLean Tuesday.

Miss Leta Mae Phillips visited at Arlington last week end.

Lon L. Blansett of Pampa was in McLean the first of the week.

James Emmett Cooke visited in Abilene Sunday.

Attorney Thurman Adkins transacted business in Wheeler Tuesday.

W. J. Ball of Alanreed was in McLean Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Morgan visited their son, Jason, at Lefors Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Morgan visited in Amarillo one day last week.

W. H. Craig of Alanreed was in McLean Thursday.

Mrs. Sherman Felh visited in Pampa one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Lander were Amarillo visitors Thursday.

Paul Morgan was in Amarillo last Thursday.

Witt Springer was in Amarillo one day last week.

N. C. Kennedy was in Pampa Monday.

Witt Springer was in Pampa the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Davis visited relatives at Childress Sunday.

R. L. Jones of Amarillo was in McLean Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Moon and daughter were in Amarillo Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Campbell visited in Pampa Sunday.

Lenard Howard of Childress visited home folks here over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hopkins were Pampa visitors Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Thut of Lefors visited in McLean Friday.

Ernest Reynolds of Pampa was in McLean Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Davis were in Pampa Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Payne visited in Shamrock Sunday.

Boyd Meador was in Amarillo one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mertel and son visited in Shamrock Sunday.

Arnold Steger moved his family to McLean, from Alanreed last week.

Fox Taylor of Alanreed was in McLean Wednesday.

Sheriff Earl Talley of Pampa was in McLean Friday.

Mrs. J. R. Glass and children were in Shamrock one day last week.

A. B. Bingham was in Pampa Friday.

A. L. Brewer was in Pampa Friday.

Sam Hodges was in Pampa Monday.

SHOOT 'EM

The drunken driver must go. No one has a right to drive a car on the roads when he is drunk. A man who does it is more dangerous than a mad dog or a hog-wild bull. There should be no closed season for shooting drunken drivers. Everyone should have the right to shoot them just the same as if they were lobo wolves. They are public enemies, and should be treated as such.—Sterling City News-Record.

But Uncle Bill wants to license men to sell the stuff that makes men drunk. Men who sell the stuff sell it indiscriminately—to the confirmed drunkard as well as to the moderate drinker. They know that some of the men who buy it are going to get drunk. They know that some of these drunks are going to drive cars on the highways. They know that some of these drunken fools are going to have wrecks and kill somebody. If the drunken driver should be shot, what about the man that deliberately sells the stuff that makes drivers drunk? And what about the man that votes to license other men to sell the stuff that makes drivers drunk?

Now, Uncle Bill, we are not saying you should be shot; we are just asking you some questions. — Lynn County News.

"My pa's a mounted policeman," said little Pat to his mother's visitor.

"Is that better than being a foot-policeman?" she asked.

"Course it is," replied Pat. "If there's any trouble he can get away quicker."

PUZZLED

"How's your boy Josh getting along at college?"

"He's got us puzzled," said Farmer Cornosel. "He's a football player and also a female impersonator in the dramatic club. We don't know whether to treat him like a roughneck or a lady."

IN SEASON

I wish that I could find one man Who would invent and sell An onion with an onion taste But not an onion's smell.

A recent issue of the Rails Banner came to us full of Lubbock ads. That is one of the best ways in the world to bring local advertisers to their senses. You may argue with them all you wish, but they have their heads set until hell ain't bigger than a chinch. But just put in a few "foreign" ads and then they'll acknowledge that even they read the ads that they have contended people don't read. Then the local merchants actually begin to reason: "Well, if it pays the Lubbock guys to advertise in our darned old local paper, maybe it would pay me."—Brownfield Herald.

Mother—"Goodness! Here's a note from Hazel saying that she and that crazy pianist have eloped."

Father—"That's great. Now let's get busy and move away from here so they can't find us when they come back."

She—"Did anyone ever tell you how wonderful you are?"

He—"No, I don't think anyone ever did."

She—"Then I'd like to know where you got the idea."

Bobby was in a store with his mother when he was given candy by one of the clerks.

"What must you say, Bobby?"

"Charge it," he replied.

The Boulder dam reservoir is the world's largest man-made lake.

News advertising pays.

ISN'T IT FUNNY

That some business men Will get up in the morning, Shave with an advertised razor And advertised soap.

Put on advertised underwear, Seat themselves at the table And eat advertised breakfast food, Drink advertised coffee or substitutes, Put on an advertised hat, Light an advertised cigar,

Go to their place of business in an advertised car, And turn down an advertising proposition

On the ground that Advertising doesn't pay? Isn't it funny?

News advertising pays.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

RATES.—One insertion, 2c per word.

Two insertions, 4c per word, on 1c per word each week after first insertion.

Lines of white space will be charged for at same rate as reading matter. Back-five time at double rate. Initials and numbers count as words.

No advertisement accepted for less than 25c per week.

All ads cash with order, unless you have a running account with The News.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE.—1934 Plymouth coupe. Henry Loter. tfe

WANTED

EXPERIENCED girl wants housework, cafe or hotel work. Phone 108.

FOR RENT

FOR RENT.—Two furnished rooms. See W. M. Morgan at McLean Auto Salvage. 1p

MISCELLANEOUS

BOX FILES, letter files, board files stand files, hook files, at News office.

BUTTER WRAPPERS at News office.

TYPEWRITER ribbons, 60c; portables 40c at News office.

SECOND SHEETS, white or yellow —$1.25 per 1,000 at News office.

MERCHANTS SALES PADS — 5c each at News office.

ADDING MACHINE paper and ribbons at News office.

FLOOR SWEEP at News office.

BOOK COVERS, 2c each, at News office.

BARGAIN RATES now in effect on the Amarillo Daily News at The McLean News office.

WE HAVE MOVED

Our furniture store is now located on North Main Street just across from the Post Office, where we are better prepared to serve our customers.

A line of new furniture has just been added to our stock.

CARPENTER FURNITURE CO.

New and Used Furniture

FH A LOANS

You can get a loan to repair, or build a new room, paper or paint, in fact to remodel your home in any way. The home does not have to be clear.

This loan will also cover the labor and drayage. You pay nothing down, and have 30 to 45 days before your monthly payments start.

Add a new room—you can very easily rent it. No red tape, quick service. See—

FOXWORTH-GALBRAITH LUMBER CO.

B. F. Gray, Manager

Nature never invented anything that grows as fast as the fish from the time it gets into the boat to the time the angler is telling about it, at the corner drug store.

After iron and steel, lead has a wider variety of uses than any other metal.

Salt has found a novel use in a compound preventing ice formation on highway surfaces.

Night traffic accidents indicate that the hazard per car is four times as great by night as by day.

Those who are careful where they put their confidence are not so apt to lose it.

Just when you think you can make both ends meet, somebody moves the end.

Heavy duty tires for army trucks have sponge rubber fillers instead of inner tubes.

L. S. Tinnin and family visited at Granbury over the week end.

Mrs. E. L. Minix of Lake Charles, La., is visiting relatives here.

Ruel Smith has returned business trip to New Mexico.

M. M. Newmn was in Pampa.

Mrs. May Watson visited home City last week end.

Roy Sherrod of Alanreed McLean last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hindman in Vega last week end.

C. M. Carpenter transacted in Pampa the first of the week.

There Are Some Men

who seem to be superior to creating a good impression. They do not want to stoop so low as to go to the best hotel. They will not buy a hat in order to get business. Their general idea is to bang their way into the market, succeed in their shirt sleeves, as it were, and on the strength of the goods.

Now, of course, if a man—say in New York, for instance—has time to succeed in his shirt sleeves, there is no objection to it. The idea of having as one's address the best hotel, or in writing one's business on the best of printed letter heads, is not that a man cannot succeed in his shirt sleeves, if he sets out to, but that he hasn't time. He gets little things out of the way and proceeds to business.

Good printing is used by people who know.

In McLean, good printing is done by

The McLean News

Service Printers