66TH YEAR ELDORADO—SCHLEICHER COUNTY, TEXAS (76936) Thursday, November 2, 1967 Number 44

Screwworms Threat To County Livestock Producers

By W. G. GODWIN

The fall screwworm outbreak—aided by rains, winds and floods triggered by Hurricanes Beulah and Fern in the Southwest United States and Northern Mexico—continued to threaten Texas livestock producers.

Many of the cases are situated in the Hill Country-Edwards Plateau area of the state and southward and eastward in the overwintering areas of Texas, posing an additional threat to the entire Screwworm Eradication Program. "This means trouble ahead for next year."

Still another factor of major concern, is the possibility that Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program officials at Mission may not know just how serious the situation is in the southern tip of the state, where high waters, a month after Hurricane Beulah, still make it impossible for many ranchers to check their herds for screwworms.

The week ending October 21 was the biggest one, casewise, thus far in 1967, with a record 170 positive cases confirmed in Texas. The previous week, 133 new cases had been confirmed. In 1966, the peak week was that of October 3 when 197 cases were confirmed. A downward trend was seen after that time last year, however, and cases declined rapidly.

"We don't know yet if the peak of this year's outbreak has been reached. Case numbers are still zooming upward, so it's important that every rancher continue on the alert for screwworms."

The County's Livestock Committee, reiterated the warning echoed by the County Agent. "We are asking all producers to continue their vigilance against screwworms, and use good management practices such as spraying herds, doctoring all wounds, collecting and sending larval samples to the Mission Laboratory for identification so that sterile screwworm fly treatment can be started as all new cases are confirmed.

Only two screwworm cases have been reported in the County—widely separated. This could indicate to County Livestock producers the seriousness of the situation.

These cases are the first reported in this County since 1965 when two cases were reported.

Cases erported in the Couunty were on the W. W. Adams ranch and the Whitehead ranch.

L. Kents Observe Their 64th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. L. Kent quietly celebrated their 64th wedding anniversary on Oct. 25, 1967, in their home here in Eldorado.

Those present for the occasion were their children and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gillaspy, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kent, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kent, and Mr. and Mrs. James Gillaspy.

Others present were Mrs. Claude Doyle, Mrs. Rosa Owens, Mrs. J. R. Trentham, Mrs. Lloyd Johnson, Mrs. Fred Logan, and Mrs. Kenneth Hicks.

A big cake was presented to them by Mrs. Victor Kent. This cake and coffee was served to those present.

Good Response To C.R.O.P. Drive

The recent drive for C.R.O.P. resulted in the collection of $115.25. This money will go toward helping needy people around the world. C.R.O.P. means "Christian Rural Overseas Program."

Approximately 40 young people participated in the campaign, the largest ever. D. G. Salter, president of the Ministerial Alliance, expresses gratitude for this fine support and appreciation to all who gave to this program.

VOTER REGISTRATIONS ON

As of noon Wednesday, 453 had registered.

Post Script

Now that you've had several days of it, how do you like this new "old" time?

When I quit work and leave for home at 6:00 o'clock, I notice nearly all the cars I meet have their headlights on. And it seems like my 10:00 and 4:00 o'clock coffee breaks are both an hour late.

Following receipt of telegrams from Austin stating their licenses had been approved, legal sale of beer was introduced in Eldorado last Friday—at McCormick's drive-in grocery and at Edmondson's package store.

Sale of liquors at the package store is being delayed until later this week.

Two more beer licenses for dealers in the Latin quarter are scheduled to be approved this week. The second publication of notices for Francisco Garza and Sylvester Vasquez appear in this issue, and their hearings will take place at 10 a.m. Thursday (today) in the County Court.

So legal sales are now under way and from what old timers say, they are the first such sales in about 65 years. Schleicher county was dry for that long until the Oct. 7 election was held.

News of building:

James Williams is building a new three-bedroom brick house on his place on the east edge of town. Harold Ensminger of San Angelo is contractor and finish work is under way.

Ronnie Mittel is building a brick house north of town on a five-acre tract he bought from Joe Wagley. His acreage is on the old Angelo highway across from the site of the former roadside park. D. E. Jackson of San Angelo is contractor and finish work is under way.

Mrs. J. H. Emmons is adding a porch and a 14- by 16-foot room onto her house on her place 4 miles south of town. Fred Logan is in charge of the work.

If you will need brooms or mops, and sweeping and cleaning items of all kinds, plan to look over the items that will be on sale by the Lions Club this coming Wednesday morning. The truckload of articles made by Texas blind people will be parked at the corner by the bank, and members of the Lions Club will make calls throughout town helping to sell the articles.

A complete price list of available items is on page 3 of this Success issue. Don McCormick is general chairman of the sale.

So—support the Lions and the Texas blind in this sale that comes up Wednesday morning.

Also, the Lions still have some bags of candy and Zip Code directories for sale for $1 each.

Earlier this week, there had been only three absentee votes cast here in the Nov. 11th Amendment Election. On the 11th, Schleicher county voters will join others over Texas in going to the polls to vote on the six proposed amendments to the State Constitution. But apparently little interest is being shown and a light voter turnout is forecast.

Deadline for voting absentee is 5:00 p.m. Tuesday in the County Clerk's office.

On the day of the election, there will be just one polling place, the Memorial Building, for all Schleicher county voters.

Pink sample ballots are available from the Success office and the County Clerk's office.

Buster Gunn, using two canes, carefully made his way into our shop this week and placed an ad telling the people that he was able to do simple "sitting-down" jobs at his home and would appreciate getting the chance to repair small appliances.

Early last summer Buster was working in the attic of a farm house and broke through the ceiling, suffering a terrible injury to his back. There followed weeks—many weeks—in traction at a hospital. Not until late in the summer was he able to come home, and move around carefully in a walker. Now he is able to walk with two canes and he is able to drive his pick-up.

For a man who has always worked, I know how Buster feels. He wants to be working at something again. He can't lift anything; he can't call for a delivery. But he can sit at a bench and work with his hands.

If you have any light repair jobs that he could do, you'd be doing him a favor, and yourself too.

He Shouldn't Have . . .

Sheep Dog Takes On Porcupine

People in this part of the country have very little experience with a porcupine, and it was probably the first time Aubrey Baugh's young sheep dog, Tuffy, had ever met one, Wednesday morning.

It was about 6:00 o'clock when Mr. Baugh went to the barn to milk. Tuffy, who is about a year old, was doing a lot of barking back of the barn, and Aubrey went to investigate, thinking he was involved with a coon.

What he found was this large, strange animal, which he recognized as a porcupine. Aubrey killed the animal with rocks, but not before Tuffy had gotten about 150 quills in him, especially around his face and in his mouth.

Aubrey brought Tuffy to town where Bill McCravey spent about an hour removing the needle-sharp quills. Later, with his pick-up on Main street, we saw the dead porcupine, and Tuffy in the front seat looking somewhat subdued.

New Type Ballot For Amendment Election

The form for the ballot for the Nov. 11th Amendment Election has been changed, and all voters are urged to take notice.

There is a "For" and "Against" in front of each amendment statement and voters must now place an X in a square in front of the proposition he favors.

Funeral Set For Mrs. Joe Eden

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. today, Thursday, in the Presbyterian church for Mrs. Joe Eden, 74. The Rev. Toney McMillan, pastor, will officiate.

Interment will be made in the Eldorado cemetery under direction of Ratliff-Kerbow Funeral Home.

Mrs. Eden died at about 8:00 Tuesday evening in the Crockett County Hospital at Ozona following an illness of several days.

Mrs. Eden was born Billie Brown on June 22, 1893, near Rocksprings, Texas, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brown, and she was reared in that area.

She was a member of the Daughters of The American Revolution, the Order of the Eastern Star, and The Woman's Club of Eldorado, and she was a Presbyterian.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Hall of San Antonio and a nephew, Earl F. Hall, also of San Antonio.

Light Rain Blows In With Norther

A norther, which blew in over the week end sending temperatures down into the forties, was accompanied by a light rain which measured close to half an inch.

Monday found dealers doing a brisk business in anti-freeze and home owners checking their heating stoves and weather stripping.

News of the Sick

Mrs. W. O. Alexander has been in the Sonora hospital.

Mrs. Sam McGinnes continues as a patient in the Memorials Hospital in San Angelo.

W. R. McCravey has been a patient in Clinic-Hospital since he broke his hip last week.

Eagles Host Rankin Friday In Next to Last Game for Season

BULLETIN BOARD

HOW THEY CAME OUT OCTOBER 27:

Sonora 49 ---------- Menard 6
Iraan 52 ---------- Sanderson 13
Ozona 54 ---------- Rankin 6
Junction 15 ---------- Eldorado 0

Conf. Standings:	W	L	T
Iraan	5	0	0
Sonora	5	0	0
Ozona	4	1	0
Rankin	2	3	0
Eldorado	2	3	0
Menard	1	4	0
Junction	1	4	0
Sanderson	0	5	0

WHERE THEY PLAY TOMORROW NIGHT:

Iraan at Ozona;
Sonora at Sanderson;
Junction at Menard;
Rankin at Eldorado.

COMMENT— Remaining 8A games are scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m.

The Rankin Red Devils with a 2-win-3-loss conference record will challenge the Eldorado Eagles tomorrow night on Eagle Field. (New game time is 7:30 p.m.) Eldorado also has a 2-win-3-loss conference standing.

Starting Rankin lineup is as follows:

No.	Name	Pos.	Wt.
82	John Smith	LE	143
52	Sammy Howell	LT	200
51	Dwayne Holder	LG	162
50	Larry Holder	C	163
63	Jerry Reed	RG	142
71	Lester Titsworth	RT	158
81	Billy Bearden	RE	162
12	Booker T. Dixon	LHB	125
21	Larry Funderburg	RHB	150
31	Mike Turner	FB	175
11	Adam Pina	QB	138

A feature of the Rankin offense is their usual dependence on their passing game. They have averaged from 15 to 25 passes each game this season. Their QB Adam Pina is an excellent scrambler and opposing defenders have great difficulty forcing him to pass too soon or to smother him for losses.

Rankin's offensive stance is the usual "T Formation" with somewhat different variations. They often split both ends or shift to an unbalanced line. Along with QB Adam Pina's scrambling, FB Mike Turner is their principal ground gainer but not their only threat. Incidentally, Pina is District 8A's pole vaulting champion.

Defensively Rankin employs a five-man front line with two line backers but this is alternated to three linebackers or a four-man front with four line backers, one linebacker positioned immediately behind each lineman. The lineman charges obliquely one way and the linebacker the other in efforts to confuse offensive blocking.

Their Kenneth Lester, No. 20, comes in to a defensive secondary post while Biff Pocham, No. 10, and Jerry Reed, No. 62, assume end and tackle assignments respectively.

Rankin was downed emphatically this past Friday night by Ozona by the lopsided margin of 54-6. This does not mean necessarily that the Eldorado Eagles should assume a calm and self-confident attitude towards tomorrow night's contest. Nothing would please the Red Devils more than to make the Eagles look like turkeys.

The Eagles have mixed news from the casualty departments. Jim Mann's knee was not injured as badly as first thought. He has been exercising and medics think that it might be possible for him to compete tomorrow night, of course, without possibility of lasting ill effects. On the other hand, Allan Corbell, offensive lineman and punter, suffered a bruise on his shin in the Sonora contest that developed into a serious infection. Medics give Corbell no promise of further participation this season.

Coach Ray Morgan said this past Saturday that all Eagles would see action tomorrow night. Offensive ends will be Paul Page, Mike Olson, and Buff Whitten. Tackles will be Mickey Pennington and Ross Whitten with Albert Torres and Jim Robledo at guards. Jim McGinnes will man the center position. Bob Page and James L. Davis will man the JB station with Roy Davidson Mickey Clark, and Dwain (Pinky) Dempsey as halfbacks while John Mayo will assume fullback responsibilities.

Coach Morgan said Saturday that he attributed the few Eagle injuries to the excellent physical condition the Eagles are now enjoying. This is quite obvious as nearly all of these lads are playing both offensive and defensive roles.

Tomorrow night's game leaves one other District 8A contest on tap, this being against the Ozona Lions the evening of November 10, on Eagle Field.

Couple Married In Home Ceremony

W. F. (Rocky) Meador of Eldorado and Mrs. Opal McAdoo Kenley of San Angelo were married at her home, 1520 McKenzie, at 4:00 p.m., Saturday, October 21st. Rev. D. G. Salter, pastor of The First Methodist Church of Eldorado, officiated in the double ring ceremony.

W. F. Meador, Jr., and Mrs. Sue Wilk were attendants. Forty relatives and close friends from San Angelo and Eldorado were included among the guests.

Immediately after the reception the couple left for Lubbock and then to South Texas. They are now at home on the ranch in Schleicher county.

P-TA Carnival Was Usual Big Success

A cold norther blew in all day Tuesday and canceled the parade that was to have kicked off the annual P-TA Halloween Carnival, but the other events were held as scheduled and it was the usual success, overall. A preliminary count of the money indicated that the Carnival took in over $750. This is the major money-raising project of the year for the P-TA, and proceeds are used for the scholarship fund and other purposes.

The kings and queens program was held at 5:00 in the school auditorium. Mrs. Humphries' 6th grade nominees, Debbie Page and Gene Nixon, were presented as winners in the elementary school.

In the Jr. High and High School contest, the Freshman candidates, Peggy Hanusch and Jerry Childers, were crowned king and queen.

Prizes awarded to them were free haircuts at Bennie's Barber Shop, and free shampoos and sets at Rose's Beauty Shop.

Following this phase of the Carnival, everyone went to the Memorial Building. The crowd filled the building to capacity for all the game events, serving of food downstairs, and sale of merchandise and refreshments. The chilly weather forced some of the booths to move indoors from the porch, but apparently did not diminish the turn-out of people.

All the P-TA officers and members thanked everyone for their support.

Recent cool weather is a reminder that winter is fast approaching. And before it is too late, now is the time to do the maintenance and repair jobs around the farm and home that can make things more comfortable this winter.

Heating systems should be put in top operating condition for the winter season. Check floor furnaces—the burner, controls and the plumbing—before lighting to make sure there is no escaping gas. A similar check should be made on closet type and other gas heaters. Inspect fireplaces and chimneys for loose mortar or cracks, and if repairs are needed, make them before the first fire is started.

If your home is without insulation. consideration should be given to adding it. A good insulation job will make the house warmer in winter and cooler in summer, cut heating and cooling bills and is a good overall investment.

Gutters and downspouts should be cleaned of leaves and trash which may clog the passageways. Overflow or seepage can damage the building.

If the roof of the home or other farm buildings needs repairs, make them now. Nails in metal roofing loosen in hot weather and may eventually cause a leak. A coat of asphalt roofing cement is suggested for stopping leaks caused by small cracks or holes.

Plows and other implements that will be idle until spring should be cleaned and given a protective coating of rust preventative. Drain radiators, remove batteries and place covers over exhaust pipes of tractors or other motors that must be left exposed to the weather.

Periodic checks and proper maintenance of farm buildings and equipment will hold down repair costs and add years to their useful life.

During the past few weeks many cotton fields have been defoliated. After the cotton crop is harvested, stalks should be destroyed and plowed under. This will prevent regrowth of cotton plants and destroy squares and bolls left in the field that could support the variouh stages of the boll weevil.

Boll weevils remain heavy in many fields in the county that have not been defoliated. In fields that are to be defoliated, producers might add 0.5 lb. of methyl parathion or 0.25 lb. of Guthion per acre to arsenic acid or phosphate-type defoliants.

This practice has been proven effective in reducing potential over-wintering boll weevil populations. Caution should be taken not to mix methyl parathion or Guthion with chlorate defoliants and/or desiccants.

To improve your memory, lend people money.

Cases of screwworm continue to erupt on ranches of adjoining counties, with Schleicher recording its first case Wednesday, October 18th, on the W. W. Adams ranch 24 miles southwest of Eldorado. New cases were recorded the same date in Kimble, Edwards, Blanco, Bandera, Bexar, Kinney, Comal and Terrell.

Sterile fly production is continuing at full capacity at around 120 million per week level. Grid treatments and hot spotting efforts are under way in all areas where cases have been confirmed.

County livestock producers are asked to check livestock closely, treat all wounds, and collect and send any worm samples to the Mission Lab for diagnosis. New cases are intensifying in the overwintering area, and if not stopped will mean many additional problems for you and the eradication officials.

We must face the fact, too, that the high winds from hurricane Beulah could have blown many native fertile screwworm flies into southwest Texas from below the barrier zone in Mexico.

The County livestock committee knows that YOU as in the past will continue to be vigilant and help suppress this spread of your most costly pest—the screwworm fly.

Sure, you've heard of 4-H! You know—the little four-leaf clover with the white H's on it? Well, did you know that this little organization now boasts five million young people in over 75 countries of the world? Dozens of up-to-date projects are offered. And now boys and girls 9 through 19 from cities and suburbs are joining the rural youth in learning by doing. And you know, they are quickly learning that 4-H is not feeding lambs and calves altogether, but learning that 42% of all technical jobs open are in agriculture. County Tax Assessors Being Briefed On Voter Registration Procedures For 1968

Austin, Tex.—Voter registration for the big 1968 election year is getting into full swing. Secretary of State John L. Hill already is busy sending out detailed instructions for county tax assessors.

As chief election officer, Hill discussed current problems with an advisory committee of tax officials (who are local registrars) and reviewed suggested ground rules.

He remains firm in his agreement with an attorney general's opinion that voters must bring or mail in their own registration applications or submit them through authorized members of their immediate family.

Bloc or bulk registrations are outlawed by an October 11 opinion. It brought critical comment from former State Sen. Franklin Spears, head of a liberal-backed drive to register five million voters.

Hill encourages house-to-house registration drives and says there is no restriction on the manner or the extent of distributing application forms. He is advising local registrars that:

—There is no limit on reproduction of sample registration forms by third parties or purchase of those ordered by official registrars.

—Solicitors may encourage individuals to register but must avoid inducing registration through false or misleading representation.

—Assistance to the applicant is all right (including filling out forms), but the voter must supply the necessary information himself and sign the form or place his mark on it.

—Drives may furnish envelopes and even stamps to voters, but the applicant or family members must mail the form.

—Local registrars should provide blank, simple forms to all who request them, but each registrar may fix his own policies as to furnishing forms in large quantities to solicitors.

Spears has called on registrars to ignore the attorney general's opinion, and accept applications delivered by third party solicitors in bulk, or a group of applications sent in the same envelope. Spears claims the opinion is the result of a "plot" to keep the registrations low.

Courts Speak

Texas Supreme Court heard Sun Oil Company arguments for the right to use fresh water from the Ogallala formation, for oil well flooding purposes on their Hockley County lease. Lower courts have denied the Sun suit. A landowner and High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 contend that use of the water would dangerously deplete irrigation supplies.

Houston finance company seeks a ruling from the Austin district court as to its rights under the Texas Regulatory Loan Act to buy discounted home improvement notes from contractors. State Consumer Credit Commissioner Frank Miskell was named defendant.

Supreme Court knocked out contempt of court citations against three in a Denton County dispute over a 30-foot strip of land because the district judge failed to follow procedural rules limiting duration of temporary restraining orders.

State obtained a $34,952 judgment against a Dallas man by consolidating five cases involving slant hole oilwell drilling in Gregg, Wood and Rusk counties.

Court of Criminal Appeals divided 3-2 in upholding a Harrison county death penalty murder conviction, with the majority finding the condemned man had adequate warning of his constitutional rights six days before he confessed to the crime.

Injunction Asked

Texas Water Quality Board has asked Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin to seek an injunction to keep the Enchanted Oaks subdivision, just outside Houston, from making any more connections to new housing being constructed in the area until it complies with its permit.

A hearing revealed that the district had put in a temporary 19,000-gallon per day plant when its permit called for 60,000 gallons a day. Then it let contracts to build a 300,000-gallon per day plant without Board approval or a permit from the State Health Department.

Board wants construction on 18 new homes stopped along with the work on the unapproved treatment plant.

Workmen's Comp Premium Cut

State Board of Insurance has approved a 4.2% cut in workmen's compensation insurance premiums effective December 1. Slash which is based on premium and loss statistics, should mean a $7 million reduction in 1968.

Board Chairman Hunter McLean said cuts in insurance company expenses and fewer accidents made savings possible, despite rising medical costs and incomes.

Attorney General Rules

Attorney General Martin clarified the state's complex, mandatory retirement provisions for Texas judges, as set forth in the constitution, with a new lengthy opinion.

In another ruling, Martin concluded that the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation has the duty and authority to provide necessary medical treatment or services to persons admitted or committed to its institutions, without obtaining consent from relatives or guardians.

Screwworm Increase Feared

Hurricane Beulah may have stirred an outbreak of the dread screwworms in Texas cattle.

Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation reports 151 cases in 25 counties from South to West Texas. These are the most cases of the year and actually occurred in cooler weather when the problem usually declines. The screwworm fly is windblown.

Foundation President Dolph Briscoe Jr. of Uvalde said hurricane and floods posed an emergency situation in the screwworm eradication program. Foundation leaders are requesting the U. S. Department of Agriculture for additional funds to expand the screwworm sterilization program which faces the threat of a cutback due to recent federal spending cuts.

Retail Record Due

While downtown Christmas decorations are being strung up, Texas retailers already are looking forward to record sales in most lines during the next two months.

Texas Bureau of Business Research reports that the 11% August to September decline in durable sales and 5% drop in nondurable sales shook retailers' confidence "more than was warranted."

More-encouraging signs point to "surprisingly strong" apparel store sales this fall, and "substantial increases" are seen in furniture and appliance store sales.

Total construction index in Texas fell to 127.1 in September from an abnormal high of 245.8 in August. Mark was lowest for the year except for January's 106.6 reading. Despite this decline, the September index still was 16% above September 1966. Building permits totaled $131:7 million. Value of 1967 building probably will hit an all-time record.

Air Board Hearings Set

Texas Air Control Board scheduled hearings this week to consider adoption of revisions to its rules and regulations to bring them in line with the Clean Air Act of 1967.

Three other key regulations will be considered, namely (1) those dealing with control of outdoor burning of waste; (2) establishment of air standards for sulphur dioxide, sulfuric acid and hydrogen sulfide; and (3) supplementation of controls for pollution from vehicles (generally applicable to 1968 and later model vehicles).

Short Snorts . . .

Texas Public Employees Association named these new officers: president, Don Kirby Miller of the Comptroller's Department; vice-president, C. A. Shoemaker, Texas Employment Commission; treasurer, Rupert S. Gregory, Texas State Employees Retirement System; and secretary, Miss Evangeline E. Lane, Department of Public Welfare.

Justice Jack M. Langdon of the Fort Worth Court of Civil Appeals is unopposed as nominee for chairman of the Texas State Bar's Judicial section.

Rep. Don Gladden of Fort Worth, a liberal, said he expects to run for lieutenant governor in 1968.

Motorcyclists must have authorized headgear by January 1, Department of Public Safety Chief Homer Garrison Jr. reminds.

Sens. Jack Hightower and James S. Bates, both former district attorneys, have been named to the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice.

Applicants for free hunts on 7 wildlife management areas this fall totaled 24,950, or 7,500 more than last year.

Pancake Time
by Betty Crocker

Is breakfast a hectic rush now that the children are back in school? Then do try to take advantage of Saturday or Sunday for a leisurely brunch when everyone can relax and catch up on family activities. Just for fun, turn the brunch table into a Pancake House!

Start brunch with a special fruit . . . fresh pineapple or a fall fruit cup. Have lots of Canadian bacon or thick ham slices. To capture more autumn flavor, try the Pumpkin Puff Pancakes (below). Or fold the grated peel of an orange and ⅓ cup of finely chopped pecans into the basic Pancake recipe. Try the syrups, too!

PUMPKIN PUFF PANCAKES

2 eggs
1 cup milk
⅓ cup cooked pumpkin
2⅓ cups Bisquick
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon each cinnamon, nutmeg and ginger
¼ cup salad oil or melted shortening

Beat eggs with rotary beater until soft peaks form. Blend milk and pumpkin into eggs. Add dry ingredients; mix only until thoroughly dampened. Fold in oil. Spoon on heated ungreased griddle. When puffed up and bubbles break, bake on other side. Serve with one of these toppings below.

Maple Whip: Cream ⅓ cup soft butter; add 1 cup maple-flavored syrup gradually. Beat until smooth. Serve on hot pancakes.

Maple-Nut Syrup: Heat 1 cup maple-flavored syrup and 1 tablespoon butter; remove from heat and stir in ¼ cup chopped pecans.

Maple-Apricot Syrup: Heat ¾ cup maple-flavored syrup, 1 tablespoon butter and ¼ cup apricot nectar. Serve warm on hot pancakes.

And here's your basic Pancake recipe which you can vary by adding fruit, nuts or bacon crumbles.

BISQUICK PANCAKES

2 cups Bisquick
1 egg
1⅔ cups milk

Beat ingredients with rotary beater until smooth. Grease griddle if necessary. Turn pancakes when bubbles appear and before they break. Makes about eighteen 4-inch pancakes.

Higher Prices . . . Across The Board

Price inflation is here. Now. I see the evidence almost everywhere. Housewives recognize it—every time they go to the supermarket. And anyone who has bought an automobile, a TV set, an electrical appliance—or who has gone to the hospital in recent weeks—recognizes it.

Food prices—and the cost of services—have been increasing all year long, as opposed to the relative stability (until recently) of industrial prices. The Wholesale Industrial Price Index is an important economic indicator. I view it as a kind of thermometer by which to measure the heat (or inflationary pressures) in the economy. In August—after a record-breaking 5 months of stability—wholesale industrial prices rose. Significantly.

The Administration is, I feel, concerned about "creeping" price increases generally. Thus far, however, it has stopped short of any overt action. There are many reasons for this—including the fact that next year is an election year.

Nevertheless, the Administration is aware of the inflationary implications of continued increases in both prices and wages and the possibility that—if unchecked—the economy once again may be thrust into an inflationary wage-price spiral.

I think it's important to remember, however, that this type of inflation (i.e., cost-push) is distinct from the demand-pull inflation which was so rampant in the economy last year. Cost-push inflation results from the same type of pressures now being experienced. That is, increased costs which lead to higher prices, thus exerting what is tantamount to an inflationary push.

Demand-pull inflation, classically, results from "too many dollars chasing too few goods." In other words, total demand in excess of the economy's ability to produce.

The real risk, as I see it, is the possibility of a renewal of demand-pull inflation in addition to the pressures of cost-push inflation. The multiplier effect of such a combination challenges the imagination. And the potential effect on the total economy — and on stock prices—could be dramatic. 10/67

Eagles Lose To Junction – 15-0

The Junction Eagles generated enough competitive spirit last Friday night to defeat the Eldorado Eagles 15-0. The Junction win was their first over Eldorado in a number of years. In fact, the most successful challenge Junction has been able to offer Eldorado since 1961, was on October 12, 1962, when they fought Eldorado to a 0-0 draw in Junction.

Statistics of last Friday night's game show that the Junction lads rose up this time to earn their win:

Eldorado:		Junction:
7	First downs	16
125	Yards rushing	225
7	Passes attempted	7
0	Passes completed	2
0	Passes int. by opp.	1
0	Yards passing	14
1	Fumbles lost	1
1for5	Pen. & yards	4for40
4for28	Punts & av. dist.	4for34

Score by quarters:

Junction —	9	6	0	0—15

Eldorado won the toss and received. Junction's Preston Jay kicked the ball deep in Eldorado territory and the Eldorado lads had to put the ball in play on their own 19-yard line. Two downs were unsuccessful and on the third down, Eldorado fumbled and Junction recovered on Eldorado's 15-yard line. Junction then drove over in three plays and Preston Jay kicked the extra point, bringing the score after three minutes of play to 7-0 for Junction.

Again Eldorado received and Jay a second time drove the ball deep into Eldorado territory. After the ball was in play, an Eldorado back rolled out and Junction defenders swarmed and drove him back behind the Eldorado goal-line for a safety. These two points raised Junction's score to 9-0 only four minutes into the first quarter.

The Eldorado lads pulled themselves together and stalled Junction's drive after Eldorado had to kick from their own 20-yard line after the safety.

There was no more scoring in the first quarter. Midway in the second quarter, the Junction lads launched and sustained a 90-yard drive to score their second touchdown midway in the second quarter. Preston Jay missed the try for point but the score stood 15-0 for Junction.

Eldorado's lads resisted stubbornly the rest of the ball game and turned back a final Junction threat just seconds before the end of the game. This threat was brought about by a 30-yard Junction drive from about their own 35-yard line. They drove to near Eldorado's 40-yard mark when Junction's QB Matt Champion pretended handoffs to his backs, completed his turn, and broke through Eldorado's line and cut to the left side line where he was hauled down by Buff Whitten about 10 yards short of Eldorado's vital territory.

With first down and 35 seconds before the final horn, the Eldorado lads rose up and stopped the Junction threat. The game ended with Junction out front 15-0.

A number of Eldorado lads distinguished themselves in adversity. Mickey Clark stalled a determined Junction drive by intercepting one of Matt Champion's forward passes. Mickey Pennington stopped another drive by capturing the Junction fumble. Ross Whitten and Mickey Pennington distinguished themselves defensively during the night.

Eldorado backs Roy Davidson, Dwain (Pinky) Dempsey, Mickey Clark, and John Mayo ground out Eldorado's 125 yards on the ground and Davidson carried 19 yards in 8 carries; Dempsey, 15 yards in 6 carries; Clark, 35 yards in 7 carries; and Mayo, 56 yards in 13 carries.

Junction coaches said after the game that Junction's often-battered Eagles had risen to their best night of the current season with QB Matt Champion and HB Preston Jay turning in their most outstanding performances.

Coach Ray Morgan of Eldorado said the Eldorado lads found their Junction dressing rooms in the best condition of any guest quarters they had used this season. He continued that the Junction playing field itself was the best conditionwise that Eldorado lads had played on this season other than Eldoraod's own superb new field. Coach Morgan concluded that it was obvious that Junction morale was excellent and that apparently Junctoin's lads were planning a "coming up" in the 1968 football wars.

Miss Mace Named Favorite At San Marcos

PAULA MACE

San Marcos, Tex.——Twelve all-school favorites were announced Saturday night during the 1967 Gaillardian Presentation on the Southwest Texas State College campus climaxing a week of Homecoming activities.

Among those elected was Paula Mace, junior speech major of Eldorado, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mace. The group were selected Gaillardians in a school-wide election.

The six college men and six college women were chosen from among 90 students nominated by various clubs, dormitories and organizations on campus. This was the 41st year that the college had a contest to select the most representative students on campus.

The name Gaillardian originated for the favorites many years ago. It was borrowed from the name of a wildflower, the Gaillardia, which grows in the hills of the Central Texas area.

Talon Yearbook Sales Are Now Under Way

The Talon staff is very busy now, reports the sponsor, Miss Jewel Shelton. The sale of the '68 yearbooks began October 26 and will close Thursday, Nov. 9. Everyone who wants an annual must pay the total cost of $5.61, tax included, before the closing date of Nov. 9:

Wednesday, Nov. 8, will be a full day of picture-taking. The football teams, basketball girls, band, clubs, sweethearts, coaches and retakes will be made that day.

Each person who has his picture retaken must pay $2.55 before it is made.

The yearbook staff received an achievement award for successful completion of the fourth annual yearbook workshop at San Angelo State College in October.

Kathy Robinson, who has received The Journalism Award, is the editor; Maggis Stockton, assistant editor; Richard Keele, Sandra Rosford, Jimmy Mercer, Jackie Harris, Danny Boyer, Gail Robinson, Mona Wagoner, Glenda Hanusch and Carolyn O'Harrow are the other staff members.

DAUGHTER FOR MARTINS

A daughter was born Sept. 8th in Clinic-Hospital in San Angelo to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin of this county. The baby weighed 6 lbs. 2 oz. and has been named Jillri Ann.

The Martins also have another daughter, Candis, age 8, a student in the Eldorado schools.

BOY SCOUTS TO HOLD COURT OF HONOR

Jim Holley, Scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 18, reminds all Scouts and parents that the Fall Court of Honor will be held Monday night at the Memorial Building.

The evening will be highlighted by awarding of the Eagle Scout badges to Jerry Childers, Keith Williams, and Bobby Sykes.

FIREMEN CALLED OUT

The firemen were called out at 7:00 p.m. last Thursday to the T. P. Robinson place on the south edge of town where a car was on fire. They quickly controlled the blaze.

There were false alarms Sunday night during the rain, and again Monday morning caused by a short circuit in the alarm equipment.

LEGION MEETING TONIGHT

The regular November meeting of The Bev McCormick Post of The American Legion will be held tonight, Thursday, at 7:00 in the Legion room of the Memorial Building.

All Legionnaires and veterans who are prospective members are urged to attend.

Alvin Farris is commander.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 93

Karen Rountree called the meeting to order. Then Cindy Sessom read the minutes. We discussed new and old business. Then Jill Edmiston told a story to celebrate Juliette G. Low, founder of the Girl Scouts. Then we played some games. —Rep.

Lilburn Hazelwood of San Juan, Porto Rico, has been attending a management conference in Fort Worth. While in the state he visited a few hours here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hazelwood, also Mr. and Mrs. Laman Hazelwood. He is administrative officer for the Carribean area and Porto Rico with the Soil Conservation Service.

Herman Carroll is in the Andrews hospital with encephalitis, local relatives learned recently. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Carroll of San Antonio have been to see him and came and spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hazelwood, and also visited Mr. and Mrs. Laman Hazelwood. (Herman was better at that time, but will be in the hospital for some time.)

Oil News

Skelly Oil Co. completed its No. 2 Cody Bell, section 12, block TT, TC survey, A-946, certificate 32, a half-mile north extension and third producer in the Cody Bell Canyon D sand gas-condensation area of Schleicher County, nine miles northwest of Eldorado, for a calculated, absolute, open flow of 5.5 million cubic feet of gas daily through perforations at 6,460 to 6,504 feet, after injection of 250 gallons of mud acid and 40,000 gallons of fracture fluid.

Potential was based on a 12-hour flow of 30.4 barrels of 59 gravity condensate and 14.84 barrels of load water, with gas rated at 1,003,-00 cubic feet daily thru various sized chokes.

Nice trick—which I wish I had thought of:

Have your drivers license number printed on your personalized checks, along with your name, address and phone number. Sales clerks like the idea. They don't have to copy your license number for identification, and there are no errors. Saves gettings the drivers license to show at the check out counter in places where one is not known.

We had a very fine meeting at the Memorial Building last week when Mrs. John Willingham of San Angelo presented a program on antiquing and other finishes for furniture "to exactly one hundred and twenty interested spectators."

Mrs. Willingham was sent to our county through the courtesy of the Flecto company who call themselves the people with the newest concepts in decorating and wood finishes.

In Eldorado, the Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Co. handles the full line of Flecto products and, make the offer to get an item, which might be temporarily out of stock, for any customer within a day or two.

Mr. J. H. Mace, manager of Foxworth-Galbraith, presented the three door prizes for the afternoon rewards and three local women were the lucky persons.

Mrs. Glenn Parker had her name called for a full kit of antiquing materials, enough to refinish one piece of furniture. Mrs. Jack Elder received a pint can of Flecto liquid plastic and Mrs. Oscar Keeney's number won for her a jar of burnishing gold for—as the company says, "that added touch of elegance."

The demonstrations on how and what to use, to get the desired effects were of great help to many of the audience now that the "antiquing" process has been packaged and thus simplified for the average person.

With the wide range of colors and finishes available to all, the only ingredient one needs to add is imagination, creativeness and industry. These, we must supply curselves.

For the owner of a piece of furniture made of wood too good to be painted, I offer the following directions for the removal of an old finish, regardless of what it is.

If some of your furniture is showing its age (only antiques are granted that privilege) this is a good time to restore its good looks. Fall cleaning is finished, or about to be, and there are no major housekeeping projects scheduled until the holidays roll around.

While professional restoring is costly, the do-it-yourself variety calls for little more than the expenditure of your time. It's time you won't begrudge when the job is done and you see the results and count your savings.

Tables, which are most vulnerable to wear and tear, tend to age fastest. Usually finished as is most wood furniture with varnish, lacquer or sometimes shellac and rubbed to a high polish, they're prone to scratches, alcohol stains, heat marks and bloom (a gray discoloration), or the affliction may be nothing more serious than a build-up of old furniture wax that has turned dark and splotchy.

Whatever the cause of the aging, however, the most tedious and time-consuming part of the operation is removing the old finish. While most amateurs associate this step with special hardware-bought products, the professional restorers who work on fine old pieces prefer the common household cleaner sal soda concentrated which you find in the laundry supply section of your local grocery store. This offers some distinct advantages to the do-it-yourselfer. Since it's odorless you don't have to work outdoors or in large airy quarters as a precaution against toxic fumes. It's less harsh to hands, and it costs a fraction of what the special products do.

The strength of the solution you need, you simply mix in hot water, is determined by the malady. For a simple case of wax build-up, three tablespoons of the sal to the quart of water sponged over the surface, rinsed with fresh water and wiped dry is the prescribed cure. For varnish, lacquer or shellac, use a cup of the sal to the quart of water and apply the solution to a small area at a time with medium steel wool. Rinse, wipe dry, run over the surface lightly with fine sandpaper.

Chairs, because of all the contours, are a little more difficult, but here are three tips that should prove helpful. Before administering the sal soda solution, place each chair leg in an aluminum foil pan to catch the drips. For smoothing after the wash wrap your sandpaper around a dry medium-sized cellulose sponge instead of a block of wood. There will be just enough give to the hard sponge to let it dig into the fluted areas; yet the flat sides will make perfect contact too. When brushing on your finish, turn chairs upside down and do legs first. Then turn right side up and do the tops last. This makes for less bending. And since you'll be in a comfortable position, you'll do a better job.

As for the type of finish you use on either tables or chairs, consult your hardware dealer from whom you buy it. Just be sure that the wood is completely dry before you apply it.

Speedy Supper by Betty Crocker

You know the kind of day when you're so rushed, you scarcely have time to think about a good hot supper for the family? Well, here's a menu I hope you'll save for just such a hectic day this fall. Our menu features tempting Creole Pie, Green Beans, Black-eyed Susan Salad. For dessert, serve ice cream and cookies. Plan to chop the celery, onion and green pepper, and section oranges the night before or in the morning. Refrigerate in plastic wrap or bags. Then you can walk in the door at 5:55, follow my timetable below and have an appetizing hot supper on the table by 6:30!

6:00 Prepare Creole Pie
6:10 Set table, wash greens
6:15 Bake biscuit crust
6:20 Cook green beans
6:25 Arrange salads
6:30 Creole Pie out of oven, green beans in a bowl; supper is served and you're the heroine!

CREOLE PIE

½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons shortening, melted
1 pound ground beef
Biscuit dough
1 can (10½ ounces) tomato soup
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup water

Heat oven to 450°. Cook and stir celery, green pepper and onion in hot shortening until onion is tender. Add ground beef; cook until brown, stirring occasionally. Prepare rolled Biscuit dough as directed on Bisquick package except — roll dough into 10-inch circle. Fit gently into 9-inch pie pan. Flute edge. Bake about 15 minutes. Drain excess fat from meat mixture; stir in soup, salt and water. Heat thoroughly. Pour hot meat filling into hot baked shell; cut into wedge-shaped pieces and serve immediately. 6 servings.

Black-eyed Susan Salad: Arrange orange or grapefruit sections in a circle on greens. Place pitted dates in the center. Serve with a bottled fruit salad dressing.

To prepare French-style green beans, cook as directed on the package. Toss with butter, salt, pepper and slivered almonds.

Were You Here Then?

That's the date I moved from Sonora to Eldorado to take over the Ratliff Insurance Agency after it had been operated for many years by my brother, Jack. I also took over local management of the funeral home, then.

A decade is a significant period of time, and having completed it, I wish to thank all local people for the courtesies extended me. Right now, I am serving in my initial term as your County Judge. So, on my 10th anniversary as an Eldoradoan, Bess joins me in saying, Thanks For Everything!

The control of undesirable brush on rangeland continues to be one of the conservation practices being carried out by ranchers in the Eldorado-Divide Soil & Water Conservation District. This year 16,510 acres of brush control has been done and cost share was received from the Great Plains Conservation Program or the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. This year, as in past years, some brush control was done for which no cost share was received.

In 1964 it was estimated that 781,000 acres in the district was infested with medium to heavy infestation of brush such as mesquite cedar an pricklypear. Assuming taht a total of 120,000 acres is done each vear, it would take 39 years to do control work on each of the 781,000 acres. If the acres that are controlled each year are managed whereby brush will not become a problem again, this would be a big accomplishment. However, the one thirty-ninth of th total acres being controlled is being done on a small per cent of the total operating units in the distri t. If each rancher made a practice of doing 10% of the needed brush control on his place each year, then 10 years would be required to do the job.

How long should the undesirable brush be allowed to use moisture that is needed to grow grass for livestock use. This question can be easily answered by another question. Is it more profitable for a rancher to grow grass or undesirable brush? Naturally, there is only one answer when the brush is undesirable. The sooner all the undesirable brush is controlled the sooner the available moisture can be used by good plants if good management is carried out.

The removal of the brush alone is definitely not the answer to the rancher's problem. Some of the management practices are applicable to any brush control work that is done. Generally speaking, each and every acre of rangeland where brush control work is done should be deferred the first growing season following brush control for at least 90 days. Deferment permits the good vegetation to become vigorous and make seed and thereby helps it to take the place once occupied by brush. By using the rangeland each year so approximately one half of each year's growth is left at the beginning of the new growing season, the condition of rangeland continually improves. Rangeland that is managed to improve to good or excellent condition and maintained in that condition, has less bare spots for undesirable brush to grow in.

The method of brush control has a bearing on what treatment should be done following removal of brush. When brush control is done by dozing or root plowing the disturbed area should be seeded with good perennial grasses. This is considered wise, even though there is a good amuont of the better grasses already on the land being treated. Some type of vegetation will come up in the bare area caused by dozing out the brush. It is better to have good plants rather than undesirable plants in the disturbed areas.

When range seeding is done following brush control by dozing or root plowing, the treated area should be deferred for two full growing seasons. This is necessary to allow the new grasses to become established. The first year all of the new grasses do not come up at the same time and the second year of deferment is needed fo rthese plants to become established. Also, by allowing all the good grasses to make seed, there is apt to be more of the better grasses established.

The first year following brush control and range seeding, the area should not be grazed until after the first killing frost. Livestock should be removed from the area when not more than one-half of the year's growth has been used, or before the beginning of the growing season the following year.

The potential benefit from all types of wildlife should not be overlooked in a brush control program. When the management of wildlife is considered by the rancher as an integral part of his operation, ample brush should be left to provide the needed protections for wildlife. In most cases liveoak and shin oak, that is not normally destroyed, will provide protection for deer and turkey.

Someone once said, '-As the land goes so goes man," and "Poor land, poor people." In America how the land goes is controlled by those who operate the land. When all the needed soil, water and plant conservation practices are applied and maintained on the land, the maximum potential benefits can be obtained from each agricultural enterprise by those who operate the land.
