SMITH CLAIMS IN STATE DRAW CRYPT DENIAL

DAVIDSON SAYS LOVE AND COLLINS ERR IN STATEMENTS

(By Associated Press)
HOUSTON, May 14.—Claims of strength in the state convention made by Al Smith's supporters and Tom Love's "Constitutional democrats" were termed spurious propaganda today by Lynch Davidson, state chairman of Governor Dan Moody's "Democrats of Texas."

Organization For Smith Continues

HOUSTON, May 14.—Organization of the Al Smith forces for a severe battle in the state convention at Beaumont May 22 continued today.

Survey is cited. R. L. Henry, president of the Smith club here and member of the Smith state campaign committee, declared that a survey by Smith leaders has convinced them that they will win a triangular fight for the temporary chairmanship of the state convention at Beaumont.

He denied reports of a split in the Smith forces of Texas, reiterated his call for a caucus of Smith delegates and supporters at Beaumont and announced that the city auditorium in Beaumont had been reserved for the meeting.

He also declared that the Smith forces claim the fourth congressional district, "thus making nine congressional districts in all that seem to have certainly gone for Governor Smith and which we are now claiming."

Regarding his claim that the Smith forces feel confident of electing the temporary chairman of the convention, thus giving them probable control of the convention, Mr. Henry said: "I feel confident that the Dan Moody forces will not poll as many votes as the Tom Love faction and that we will be able to out-bully either."

"I am making that statement on the basis of an exhaustive survey and the results of letters, telegrams and telephone calls from almost every section of the state."

Complaint Filed In Whipping Of Child

Alleging that his child was whipped severely, a complaint was filed with Justice-of-the-Peace G. R. Little Saturday by a Lubbock father against a teacher in the city schools.

A preliminary hearing will be held on the case this afternoon, court officials said. They intimated, however, that there was no sufficient evidence or cause for the complaint and that it would likely be squelched.

The assault upon the boy is supposed to have taken place on last Wednesday, officers said. The father tried to file the complaint all last week but there was not sufficient reason to justify it, they said. The filing of the complaint, Saturday, resulted.

Building Continues At Rapid Pace Here

Building in Lubbock continues, not only to set records in dollar totals but in other phases as well. The issuance of a residence permit this morning from the city office set another residence permit record.—Thirty-five residences have been put under construction during this month and 217 since the first of the year.

The permit issued today was to C. Little for the construction of $3,500 seven-room brick veneer residence for Mrs. R. M. Little on lots 23, 24, block 130, Overton addition.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HEAD HELD FOR MURDER IN FATAL SHOOTING

(By Associated Press)
PITTSBURGH, May 14.—Fred J. Tyrrell, 53, superintendent of the Sunday school of the First Christian church in Munhall, a suburb, was in the Allegheny county jail today charged with murder.

Just as Sunday school was about to convene three shots rang out in the auditorium and Philip F. Clark, 36, of Homestead, for whose wife Tyrrell was attorney in a divorce suit, dropped dead. Mrs. Clark sings in the church choir.

Tyrrell ran from the church, and was arrested later in his home. One bullet entered Clark's left temple, another near the mouth and a third shattered his watch. He leaves a widow and a nine-year-old son. Tyrrell has a wife and six children.

A year ago Tyrrell filed suit in behalf of Mrs. Hazel Clark for divorce.

ALEXANDRIA, La., May 14.—Seven houses belonging to relatives of William Blackman, negro and alleged bootlegger, were burned last night at Longport, near here, by a mob after Blackman had fatally wounded a deputy sheriff, Sheriff U. T. Downs announced today.

Frank Phillips, the deputy, received a bullet wound in the neck but "big" before he died shot and killed the deputy.

The deputy sheriff had gone to the Blackman home to arrest him on a charge of violating the prohibition laws. Blackman met him with a shotgun and immediately opened fire, officers said. The first shot hit Phillips.

NINE DIE WHEN BOAT SINKS IN LAKE IN MAINE

(By Associated Press)
ROCKWOOD, Maine, May 14.—Eight members of a fishing party from Brockton, Mass., and Sam Buddin of Greenville, Me., were drowned late yesterday when a motorboat in which Buddin was taking them to Tomhegan Camps sprung a leak. The engine stopped and the boat filled with water and sank.

Chief Charles Daley of the Brockton fire department, the ninth member of the party from that city, was the only person saved and he was so unnerved today from his experience that he was unable to give a detailed narrative of the catastrophe.

Left Sunday For Camp. The party which was composed of Dr. A. F. Peterson, Chief Charles Daley of the fire department, Dr. David Bridgwood, John Sandberg, Fred Dahlberg, Dr. Frank Moberg, James Lays, Harry Howard and Sheriff Earl F. Blake, all of Brockton, Mass., and Sam Buddin of Greenville, driver of the boat, left Greenville about 4:40 yesterday afternoon bound for the Tomhegan camp.

According to the story told by Daley when he reached shore, the boat sprung a leak when about half an hour above Kineo towards Greenville and near Sandbar Island.

Surviving him are his widow and four children. Funeral services were to be held this afternoon in Paducah. A number of his friends, mostly cattlemen from this section, are planning to attend.

Ed T. Davis Dies In Paducah Sunday

Word was received here yesterday of the death early Sunday morning of Ed T. Davis, of Paducah.

Mr. Davis was a pioneer of this section and had a host of friends in Lubbock. He had served as an inspector for the Southwestern Cattle Raisers' association for the past 15 years. He was about 55 years of age at the time of his death.

Funeral arrangements have been made for burial in the Llano cemetery Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. W. C. Edwards, Emmett Porter and wife and H. K. Porter, all of Lubbock, will attend the funeral services.

Denver Delayed In Laying Rails Here

Due to the soaking rains on Saturday night and yesterday, work on the extension of the rails of the Fort Worth and Denver into Lubbock will be delayed until possibly Wednesday, it was learned from officials at the camp this morning.

The railroad grade is very soggy from the rains and so is the ditch where the tracks must cross the main Santa Fe line about two miles southeast of Lubbock.

The workers will center their efforts on other phases of construction until the ground is dry enough to permit track laying, it was said. Only a few hours more than a day's work are required to bring the rails on into the city.

School Exhibit On Display This Week

Every department of the city school system is represented in an annual exhibit now on display at the high school building, the superintendent M. H. Duncan, said this morning. The gymnasium of the building has been filled with the exhibits and will be open to the public until Friday evening, he said.

Patrons of the schools, particularly, are being asked to view the show in order that they may become better acquainted with the work of the schools, he said.

Doors of the gymnasium will open each morning about 9 o'clock and remain open as long as any one calls with representatives from each school in attendance. The ward schools will be responsible of evenings in the following order: Monday, Duane school; Tuesday, Junior high school; Wednesday, Central Thursday, Carter ward; Friday, Hunt school.

ALL PARTS OF SOUTH PLAINS GET DOWNPOUR

WEDS MILLIONS

With Lubbock county and the South Plains basking in an atmosphere of optimism following a general "soaking" during the past ten days, which ranged from one and one-half to three inches, attention turned today toward agriculture and the planting season.

Farmers were reported to be out in their fields, bogging around and waiting for a slight dry-up so that their activities may be started.

2.76 Inches Fall Here

A total of two and seven-sixteenths inches of rain have fallen in Lubbock county since May 3, the records at the State Experiment Station east of the city show, throwing the moisture for the month nearly an inch ahead of schedule. Normal precipitation for the entire month is 1.84 inches.

On May 3, twenty-one hundredths of an inch fell; on May 4, .39 inches; 28 inches on May 11; 24 on May 12 and 1.65 inches on May 13. A total of 4.24 inches of rain have fallen since January 1 and the normal precipitation should have been 5.60 inches, throwing the moisture for this year more than an inch behind. More than an inch was gained during the past week, however.

Heavier in Some Places

"Rains of as high as four inches were reported over various sections of the South Plains," Don L. Jones, superintendent of the station, stated today, but in the 16 years that the station has been maintained, only in a few cases has there been recorded more than two inches of rainfall. The rains were given a chance to soak in, Mr. Jones said, due to their slow fall.

With the question of sufficient moisture practically settled for the next 30 days millions of seeds will now be placed under the soil in Lubbock county during the next three weeks, D. F. Eaton said today. Many farmers were out today making preparations to do their planting, he said.

"We're 30 days ahead of the season of last year," Mr. Eaton said, "and prospects are bright for an excellent crop season."

More Cotton Acreage

He predicted an increase of from 30 to 25 per cent in the cotton acreage in the county this year and also a creditable increase in row acreage. Wheat, he said, will fall short in production this year but there are places which will show a good yield, despite the past dry spell.

According to reports from over the section, the rains were general all over the Panhandle and Plains. The highways were slightly muddy.

County Valuations Show Big Increase

Property valuation in Lubbock county will show an increase of over a million dollars over last year, according to the county tax assessor, said today as he continued with the taking of statistics for the county from the tax renditions. Practically every phase of property values in the county will show an increase over last year, he said. Especially high in their percentage of increase will be shown in the number of hogs and cows on the farms over the county, Mr. Burns said.

The dance which he presents on the stage is taken from this picture. Burns is also a finished Swiss yodeler, press reports say.

Appearing with Burns is Miss Dorothy E. Hartley, one of the original Fox Sunshine Girls, who features in the theatre program with singing, dancing and other acts.

Thought For Today

They are weighed in the balances, and art found wanting—Daniel 5:27.
 THE weakest goes to the wall—Shakespeare

Voters

A reader of the Dayton Daily News writes to that paper a letter maintaining that a far higher percentage of qualified voters go to the polls in America than in commonly supposed.

He points out that whereas 57,000,000 citizens are theoretically entitled to vote in national elections, many of these are, for all practical purposes, disfranchised. He says there are nearly 12,000,000 negroes who do not have the vote estimates that 8,000,000 other citizens lose their votes because they are "foolish" or "transient" and accordingly do not have settled residences, and holds that probably 10 per cent of the 57,000,000 are kept away from the polls on election day by illness, accidents or sudden contingencies they cannot control.

Looked at in this light, our national election figures are more encouraging. Of course the man's figures may be open to criticism. But he at least presents a new angle from which to view the situation.

The Old Trail

Capt William Smith, who commanded deep sea clipper ships half a century ago, and was for many years the country's best known sailing men, died the other day in New York.

He had retired a number of years ago, and had built a home near the entrance of New York harbor, so that he could sit on his front porch and watch the ships that entered and left the port. Day after day he sat there, he had a system of signals arranged so that he could exchange greetings with captains he knew.

That sounds so like a pleasant pastime, and it was for many years the memory of a useful and interesting career, and to see where the panorama of familiar ships can pass before your eyes each day, waving your hand to skippers who go down the trails you no longer follow.

Hopetful

Added evidence that American industry is paying more attention to the "bodily well-being" of its workers is contained in a bulletin just issued by the Department of Labor. This bulletin contrasting health and welfare work figures for 1916 with those for 1927 shows that a tremendous improvement has been made. Of 375 plants which were reported in the 1916 report, only 129 had only first-aid equipment last year. 373 had regular dispensary or hospital facilities. In 1916 only 171 of these plants employed doctors, and only 181 employed nurses. Last year 311 employed doctors and 322 employed nurses.

These figures speak for themselves. Industry is realizing that the health of its employees must be safeguarded if it is an encouraging sign.

Back-Seat Drivers

Back-seat driving, an Iowa judge has ruled, is not sufficient grounds for a divorce. A woman who appeared before him seeking a decree because her husband continually found fault with her driving was sent away without it.

The subject of back-seat driving has not yet been treated thoroughly enough in our literature. It is a great evil to be sure, yet there is much to be said for the one who practices it.

Some drivers breed back-seat driving inevitably. They steer their cars about in heavy traffic as if they were free from the ordinary limitations of time and space, and the hapless persons in the rear seat can only grind his or her teeth and bear it. When the day dawn on which all back-seat drivers are led out to be shot, grave injustice will be worked if a good percentage of front-seat drivers is not led out with them.

THE PLAINSMAN

Says:

That Girl on Broadway says that driving in the park is merely a preliminary to parking in the drive.

A three column cartoon on page 1 of a recent addition of the Chicago Tribune represents the state of Indiana as a boot, soiled by political scandals, with the caption, "Needs A Good Cleaning." Something like that emanates from Chicago.

There are stars in all kinds of athletics. On diamond and gridiron and links. But the bird who makes most out of it is the yellow who stars as he thinks.

That Man on Avenue Q says he to serve four years in the penitentiary for manufacturing an American flag. Chicago is the only place in the world where a nation is still regarded as a misdemeanor.

Miss Jones Marquis of Hollywood has invented a bathing beauty wending attire. Judging from photographs Miss Marquis suggests show and stockings, a one-piece bathing suit and a bridal train as appropriate wedding clothing. She must have a lot to do to be able to waste time on such monkey business.

It is the opinion of this writer that fewer hours given to concentration along foolish lines will speed every success in anything on the earth. For instance, Miss Marquis might have been able to learn how to cook ham and eggs in the time she was figuring on the bathing beauty bridal gown.

If the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, some men have mighty big hearts. Some folks can be deaf and speak and still be deaf and dumb. The boys in the office had quite a discussion concerning the exhibition and powers of Selvin, English magician, who recently appeared at the Lawry's theatre. Practically everybody in the editorial department managed to see the magician in action and in the discussion which followed the performance C. W. Ratliff and Rankin Dow, wide-eyed and with mouths open, tried to figure it out.

The credulity of Messrs. Ratliff and Dow proved more or less of an entertainment to Jack Hawkins, night editor who in addition to being raised in Waco has the distinction of having worked on a New York newspaper. He razzed Rankin and C. W. for being slow and those gentlemen naturally retaliated by calling Jack's attention to the fact that his home town took let the Baptists kid them out of a million backs to give a college which they already had.

All of which causes The Plainsman to remember that most of us are sons-of-some-kind or another. We can all be "backwood" in some way, except for Jack and furthermore we like it. The genus homo is a peculiar animal and Barkum is not the only man who pointed thereby. Whether the musician in question was able to do his stunts in the actual place in which it appeared is not important. It is how the audience feels that really counts.

And those of us who retain the simple faith of believing what we see—those of us who can find entertainment in things which our more blasé brethren pass with a knowing grin—are really the luckiest in the long run. We have more fun at less cost and our amusements, being more common-place, are more numerous.

Half the world doesn't know how the other half lives, but it has its suspicions, says the Parsons, Kansas Republican. Yes, agrees the Topeka State Journal, and it doesn't mind voicing the suspicions as facts.

Considering the reputation of the Scotch it's a wonder their children have given names.

Which reminds The Plainsman of a story he heard in Dallas the other day. It seems that a kindly old gentleman on his morning stroll met a small boy who led a dog on a chain.

"What kind of a dog is he, my little man?" was the old gentleman's inquiry.

"It's an airtight dog, was the reply.

"What do you mean—an airtight dog?" was the old fellow's astonished question, to which the lad explained.

Canal And Railroad Era Brought Fraud, Land Grabs And Bribery, Dutcher Says In Discussion Public Land Loss

IN NEW YORK SEE-SAWING AND BROADWAY

NEW YORK, May 14—Manhattan snap-shots. The sad faced young israelite who spends his noon hour and after-work leisure parading City Hall Square wearing a sandwich man's sign which calls upon the world to halt war. When his parade is ended and his circles have been distributed he returns to the little haberdashery store where he earns his livelihood. In the Wall street belt they call him "The Wandering Jew." It seems he got a taste of warfare during the "big war." One day he "felt a chill" however one does not— which had him spread to the world the peace message of the simple man of Nazareth. And so he goes daily among the bums and the lurchers on the park benches, taking his message. Ironically enough, he passes within a stone's toss of a street corner army recruiting station.

And there's a five year old youngster they call the "singing kid." His repertoire of selection is headed by "Show Me the Way to Go Home." He has found that when he warbles these penances and riddles come "in a way." This discovery causes him to play return engagements. He's out the pet of the street crowds, thanks to his red hair and little blue denim overalls. And there's the lane of cherry blossoms that now nod their feathery heads over the Central Park driveway. The countryfolk may have their apple blossoms open fields, but Manhattan boasts one's year of its great rural stretch between 5th and 7th streets on Fifth avenue.

Cove Wood, the artist, shooting pool at the Players' club. In a smart new, brown outfit at the Colony club. The Colony club by the way is where they have the best French cooking in the world, including France. But it costs you $2 just to sit down. And after getting the check, scrievlers like myself have to be supported when they stand up. But still all the "important people" go there.

Bertha M. Gray is still a best seller in a Fifth avenue 5 and 19 cent store. And "Juice Harps" are displayed in a Broadway window. Fritz Scheff playing the role of a program seller at the Lamb's club show. And the circus has left town. Saw Courtney Riley Cooper who writes letters about the "big tops" standing sadly by as they pecked up. This was a just city year in Manhattan, they tell me.

Twenty-six members of the big acts were suffering from flu, pneumonia and way diseases when they showed off. Robert Clairmont, who made a million on the street, but who writes poetry in a Wall street office. A W. H. Handy, who is credited with inventing the "blues" finally crashed effete Carnegie Hall, which is more accustomed to Brahms, Bach and Debussy. He once told me that he got the "blues" idea while heading a musical troupe.

The company was waiting at a little railroad station in a small southern town when Handy heard an old negro crooning to himself by the roadside. Handy listened in and heard the first "blues" theme. After that came "The St. Louis Blues"—"The Memphis Blues" and the "Beale Street Blues." They tell me he has

EDITOR'S NOTE What has become of our 1,200,000,000 acres of public lands? This is "the third article in a series of six that helps to answer the question."
 BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—In 1841 Congress passed the first general pre-emption law affecting the public lands. Only 150 acres, according to the law, could be pre-empted by one person. This was another attempt to give the average citizen a chance to establish a home or a farm.

But the system of using "dummy" settlers was worked harder than ever and more large tracts were obtained by individuals and corporations. The same thing followed the Homestead Act of 1862, which gave away land to homesteaders, but that law actually benefited hundreds of thousands of bona fide settlers.

Meanwhile a new and unprecedented era of grab and corruption had sprung up in the administration of the public domain through the demands first of canal companies and later of the railroad promoters.

Congress gave millions of acres in land grants for canals, and money as well much of which went into and remained in private pockets. Many of the grantee companies never bothered to build any canals once they had the land and the money.

Where swamp lands were given, an especially adapted for canal building, the canal companies frequently surveyed and seized rich mineral timber and farm lands to which they had no legal right. This "swamp lands" game was played many times afterward, sometimes with the connivance of land office or other officials.

Then came railroads. The people wanted railroads, but the promoters demanded public money, public lands and many valuable rights. To get all that they bribed legislators with large amounts. Sometimes a company might have a railroad with, but yet enough to bribe a legislature into providing all the wherewithal to construct one.

Bribery was the order of the day. Standards of honor were low. In 1840 the Pennsylvania legislature discovered that the United States Bank had paid out $130,000 in bribes. Senator Daniel Webster, the great orator, one of the bank's staunchest defenders, had been receiving a regular retainer from the bank—and questioned when it was late in arriving.

Gustavus Myers, author of a "History of the Great American Fortunes," after an investigation, cited what he termed a "few" of the many instances of the debauching sold out his "St. Louis Blues" number for a couple of hundred dollars. Someone has probably made a fortune from it—but not Handy. The company was waiting at a little railroad station in a small southern town when Handy heard an old negro crooning to himself by the roadside. Handy listened in and heard the first "blues" theme. After that came "The St. Louis Blues"—"The Memphis Blues" and the "Beale Street Blues." They tell me he has of every legislature in the United States.

Between 1850 and 1872 Congress gave away 155,000,000 acres to railroad corporations, much of it under the pressure of persistent lobbying. This area is more than three-fourths as much land as the government has for sale today, and the acreage was infinitely more valuable.

In 1885 Commissioner Sparks of the general land office declared that railroad corporations had obtained tens of millions of acres by fraud under cover of law and had overdrawn their legal quota by about 10,000,000 acres. Millions of acres were being held for speculation without payment of taxes.

Entrepreneurs entered the picture with the passage of the Desert Land Law which, because they failed to require actual settlement by those who acquired land, enabled cattle syndicates to obtain enormous new areas. Often the cattlemen grabbed land without title, fenced it in and hired gunmen to chase intruders.

In 1884 the acting commissioner of the general land office estimated that at least 1,000,000 acres had been illegally seized in the Arkansas Valley of Colorado.

Meanwhile the lumber companies were going after timber. The Stone and Thibault Act of 1876 allowed sale of forest and mineral land at $2.50 an acre with a 100-acre limit per purchaser. The law was said to have been worth $100 an acre. Trainsloads of "dummy" purchasers were rushed to the front and more great areas passed under syndicate control.

In 1908 Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock of Nebraska, then a representative, charged that $57,000,000 had been "stolen" in the preceding seven years under the Stone and Thibault Act. He cited facts and figures to prove it.

In 1876 Congress had ordered certain lands sold in any amount to all comers for cash at $1.25 an acre. The government was getting from $10 to $20 an acre for coal lands at the time in some sections, but lumber lands went under this sale. Eight million acres were sold in Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Arkansas and Mississippi.

With Our West

UPLIFTING THE SOUTH
 The Times editor presumes that most newspapers were recipients of an anonymous communication a few days ago in which one of the most contemptible letters we have ever seen was written. The Times got one, but considered it beneath our notice. But we notice that the Honorable Brownwood Bulletin has seen fit to speak on the subject. We will let the Brownwood editor do our talking, as he does it so effectively:

"An unnamed correspondent, probably a colored gentleman, sends the Bulletin some illuminating information from Washington. It seems that certain persons of the north and west are much concerned about the 'low degree of civilization with which the South is cursed, and are planning an extensive uplift movement by training negro citizens in northern universities and sending them as missionaries to 'regenerate the white man of the South.' It is not agreed, says the anonymous correspondent, 'whether the low degree of civilization in the South is because of degeneracy or because a higher degree of culture than that obtaining in the seventeenth century was never acquired by southern people.' The Southern white man seems to have come down to the level of the negro, and it therefore seems that the only way of regenerating the white man of the South is through his negro brother and associate."

"Whether the letter is designed as campaign propaganda for Herbert Hoover is not clear, but the following paragraph at least suggests that purpose:

"We of the north and the west are doing our best to help this good cause along by educating the southern darkey in our colleges and sending him back for missionary duty. Our statesmen are also doing their best with that end in view. However, for instance, a higher degree of culture than that obtaining in the seventeenth century was never acquired by southern people. The Southern white man seems to have come down to the level of the negro, and it therefore seems that the only way of regenerating the white man of the South is through his negro brother and associate."

"Of course, the whole thing is so ridiculous that nobody will pay any attention to the 'uplift' suggestions contained in this remarkable communication, and it is mentioned here solely because it is about the worst possible expression of prejudice against the South that has ever come to our notice. Can it be possible that there is anybody white or black in all these United States who actually holds such an opinion of Southern people?"—Cleveland Times.

Just such stuff as the above coming from the north is what keeps the United States divided in matters pertaining to race and politics. Just such letters as the above is circulated to make the blood of the true blooded southerner boil. It is a well known fact that this condition does not exist, but it is an insult to have come one from the north fling a red flag in the face of the people of the South, and accuse them of being ignorant, and of low class civilization, when it is a well known fact that there is plenty of well educated folks in the South, and there is plenty of refinement. We are not uneasy about any of the educated niggers coming to the South to raise the standard of civilization. The niggers have more sense than that and the fellow who wrote that letter we are sure would not be happy south of the Mason and Dixon line.

CAROL NOW IN SOVIET TOOLS PAPER CLAIMS

RETURN TO FRANCE IS HELD UNDESIRABLE; OTHERS WATCHED

PARIS, May 14.—L'Echo De Paris today said that there was every reason to believe that former Crown Prince Carol of Rumania had fallen into the toils of Moscow.

The soviet, the paper said, was in constant touch with Carol and maneuvered him during his stay in France. Close relations were established between certain of Carol's intimates and principal personages in the Soviet Embassy.

Another is watched. These relations, the paper said, had not ceased and the minister of interior was not unaware of them. The minister of interior also was aware of the presence in Paris at the present time of a Rumanian subject, a notorious communist whose connections with Carol's intimates is of the closest. The paper asserted that if this communist did not shelter himself behind powerful protectors he would already have been conducted to the frontier.

In view of this, the paper concluded that the return of Carol to France was in no way desirable.

LONDON, May 14 (AP)—Prince Carol's departure from England in pursuance of the British home of-rice's recent request that he be kept in the country, has been postponed for a bit. He is departing for the continent before Thursday.

host, M. Jonsescu, announced that it had been expected that Carol would leave today.

Jonsescu paid a visit to the British office just before luncheon apparently to explain why the Prince had not already started and to ask the departure be postponed. Leaving Jonsescu was uncommittal except to state that the departure would take place in a week.

FRANCE REPAIRING WAR ROADS

France has started its "Programme des grands travaux," the awaited repairing of damages caused to national roads by destruction neglect that began with the break of the World War in 1914, schedule covering 6,500 miles main roads has been started. It is expected that by the end of 1928 the first part of the post-rehabilitation will have been completed. This will include improvements to highways between Paris and Dieppe, Paris and Gherbain and Paris and Marseilles. Work routes connecting Paris with southwest of France and with Belgian and Swiss frontiers will be in a very short time.

BREMEN'S CREW USE AIR MAIL ROUTE ON TRIP

HOP OFF ENROUTE TO ST. LOUIS, WEST TERMINUS OF JAUNT

(By Associated Press) MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 14.—The Chicago-St. Louis air mail route that Lindy flew called today to Koehl, Fitzmaurice and von Huenefeld.

Three days of receptions, parades and entertainment in Chicago and a busy Sabbath here had left the east-west Atlantic fliers a trifle tired, but still eager to continue their aerial itinerary to St. Louis. Even today, in the moments between dawn and the hop-off hour of 11:30 a. m., the fliers had a crowded program, including breakfast with a group of business men and aviation enthusiasts, and a visit to the civil and world war veterans at the state soldiers' home.

Plan Trip to St. Louis The Junkers F-13 sister plane of the Bremen in which the three flew from Ireland to Greenley Island last month, was to be flown first to Chicago and then by the air mail route to St. Louis, the westernmost point of the Bremen crew's journey. They expected to reach St. Louis in mid-afternoon.

Lindy Accomplished Now As Navigator

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh is now an accomplished navigator. So is Major Thomas J. Lanphier, commandant of Selfridge Field, Mich., whose name has been linked with the flying Colonel's in some forthcoming aerial adventure.

Lieut. Commander P. V. H. Weems, who was given a leave of absence by the navy department to teach Lindbergh the latest navigational aids, found him so apt a pupil he is returning to his ship. "All that I have done with Colonel Lindbergh is to demonstrate to him that ocean navigation can easily be applied to aerial navigation," Lieut. Commander Weems said. "It is simple and he caught on quickly. I can do no more."

Other Pupil Does Fine On his other pupil, Major Lanphier, the navy navigator who is credited by his colleagues with being the leading air navigator of the service, said: "Major Lanphier knows all about my methods. I visited him for some time and he can easily orient himself at any time, regardless of his location."

While native cigarette factories in China have been handicapped by the war, those controlled by foreigners have been operating without interruption.

AMERICAN HOPS OFF IN LONGEST TAXI AIR FLIGHT

(By Associated Press) CROYDON, England, May 14.—Ven Lear Black, Baltimore publisher, today was speeding along the first leg of an air journey of 40,000 miles to Cape Town, South Africa. Tokyo and return—the longest taxi flight ever made. He planned to make his first stop at Venice, some 700 miles from Croydon.

Before hopping off at 6:23 a. m. Mr. Black said: "Somehow I had to work hard all my life and now that I have a little leisure, I intend to see much of the world as quickly as I can. This is the main reason for my flight, but I mean also to visit centers of various industries in which I am interested."

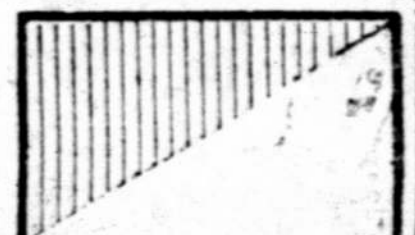

Mr. Black, who flew from Amsterdam to the Dutch East Indies and back last year, was accompanied by two pilots, an engineer and a valet. He wore a grey lounge suit when he climbed into the triple motored Fokker monoplane which he had hired from a Dutch airline.

CAIRO LIKES SHAKESPEARE

Shakespeare in English was a success in Cairo, Egypt, where the government backed a season of plays by the Bard recently. The government had guaranteed gross receipts of $21,500, but $830 in excess of this was taken in at the Opera House box office. Crowded houses, were the rule, and when "Hamlet" and "Othello" were given, extra seats had to be arranged. Not only did the English patronize the productions, but at some performances half the audience were Egyptians. They especially enjoyed "Hamlet," and frequently interrupted the performance with their enthusiastic applause.

TIENTSIN NOW OBJECTIVE OF CHINESE DRIVE

ATTITUDE OF AMERICA ON SITUATION ASKED BY NATIONALISTS

(By Associated Press) SHANGHAI, May 14.—Foreign forces prepared to guard their nationalities today as the southern nationalist troops advanced on Tientsin, 60 miles southeast of Peking, their objective in the nationalist spring drive.

As the southern troops moved north, the nationalist council formally called President Coolidge's attention to the recent clash between southern and Japanese forces in Tsinan and asked the attitude of the United States government toward this grave situation created by Japan.

Cut Peking off from Sea

Capture of Tientsin by the southerners would cut Peking off from the sea, and the northern commander, Chang Tso-Lin from his base and headquarters in Manchuria.

A large foreign population in Tientsin would be placed in a precarious situation such as resulted in grave clashes at Nanking last year and at Tsinan.

Foreign military commanders who have a force of 8,600 troops at their disposal, decided to establish an outpost line on a radius of seven miles from the city. Japanese troops were assigned to guard strategic points in the foreign concessions, including the eastern railway station at the junction of the important lines linking Tientsin and Peking, opposite Nanking, and Peking and Mukden.

Four thousand of the foreign troops in Tientsin are Americans who are equipped with 20 airplanes, five tanks and five field guns. One thousand are British, 3000 are French and 600 are Japanese. Most of the Japanese troops had been withdrawn for duty in Tsinan and other Shantung province points.

The foreign preparations were being made in the face of the nationalist claims of a victory at Tsingchow, fifty miles south of Tientsin on the railway leading to Tsinan. General Yen Hsi-Shan, military governor of Shansi and ally of the Nanking nationalist government, announced that his troops occupied Tsingchow after a lightning advance. They captured 7,000 north-erners with large booty and arms and ammunition.

General Yen apparently had swept down the valley of the Puto river and cut off the retreat of the northern forces fleeing from Shantung. Another ally of the Nanking regime, General Feng Yu-Hsiang, was last reported as having occupied Tschow, 68 miles south of Tsingchow near the Chihli-Shan-tung border, driving out the north-erners who concentrated there after the fall of Tsinan.

The nationalist protest, growing out of the clashes which followed their occupation of Tsinan, made no specific request to President Coolidge for intervention. It read: "Japanese troops have invaded Shantung, actually waging war against China. The Chinese people remember that the Shantung question was settled through the offices of friendly powers, especially the United States. (A reference to the Washington conference of 1921-22 and the mediation of the Earl of Balfour and Charles Evans Hughes by which China regained Shantung from the Japanese)."

"We desire to know the attitude of the United States government and people toward this grave situation created by Japan."

The action followed closely on the heels of the Nanking protest to the League of Nations claiming that Japan had violated China's integrity and independence.

The nationalists, through the Kuomintang news agency, also announced the rejection of Chang Tso-Lin's peace overtures. Chang in a telegram to all civil and military leaders requested them to "save the country from destruction" and ordered northern troops to cease hostilities. The Kuomintang news agency announcement said:

"Chang Tso-Lin can never be taken in the Kuomintang (the nationalist organization) but his subordinates who have proved their sincerity toward the Kuomintang might be accorded appropriate treatment in order to expedite the summoning of a national convention."

The Chinese at Tsinan estimated that 2,000 of their countrymen were killed or wounded, including 200 civilians in clashes with Japanese. The Japanese authorities announced 41 Japanese soldiers and 16 civilians were killed and 189 soldiers wounded.
