Sheriff Darnell, County Clerk Cherry Renominated

Legg Reelected County Attorney In Close Contest

Sheriff Ed Darnell and County Clerk Rosenelle Cherry appeared to have won nomination for reelection in Saturday's Democratic primary in Midland County. Constable Jack Merritt also was far out in front in his race for reelection.

County Attorney Reagan Legg had a slight lead in the 6 a.m. tabulation, which included unofficial returns from seven of seven precincts, six complete.

In the sheriff's race, Darnell had 2,294 votes to 1,036 for Floyd Maxwell and 381 for Truman Friday.

Mrs. Cherry had polled 2,707 votes while her opponent, Mrs. Jimmiedee Renya had 971.

It was nip and tuck in the county attorney's race. Legg had polled 3,111 votes as compared to 2,973 for Leonard Howell.

Candidates for other county offices were unopposed, with the exception of the commissioner posts.

Russell Leads For Court Of Civil Appeals

Judge Henry Russell of Pecos had extended his lead to 1,720 votes late Saturday night as all counties reported incomplete returns in the race for Associate Justice, Eighth Court of Civil Appeals.

Russell had totaled 18,409 votes as compared to 14,688 for Alan Fraser, district judge of Brewster County.

Fraser marked up a big victory in El Paso. With 36 of 52 boxes reported, Fraser had received 4,550 votes in the border county. Russell had tabulated 2,462.

A majority of the counties reporting up to midnight Saturday had tabulated more than half of their votes: The report included:

County	Fraser	Russell
Crane	504	845
Upton	574	165
Reagan	341	124
Terrell	88	113
Pecos	864	672

Commissioners Keep Posts In Winkler

KERMIT—Two Winkler County commissioners seeking reelection apparently had retained offices Saturday night.

R. E. Leese received 579 votes in his bid for reelection. His two opponents divided a total of 326. Bill Jones tabulated 202 votes and Homer Turner 124.

T. M. Mills apparently had been reelected on incomplete returns in Precinct 3. Mills polled 355 votes as compared to 135 for Pruett Rash.

With two of four precincts complete, J. T. Rutherford of Odessa led Hill Hudson of Pecos, 892 to 856.

Democrats Nominate Stevenson, Sparkman For '52 Political Wars

CONVENTION HALL, CHICAGO —(AP)—The Democratic Party placed Senator John J. Sparkman of Alabama by the side of Presidential Nominee Adlai Stevenson Saturday for the great political wars against Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Senator Richard Nixon.

Then it adjourned its 31st national convention in a glow of outward harmony.

Stevenson was put over with a dramatic coup and accepted in the early hours Saturday an honor he said he never sought.

He had lagged behind Kefauver on two ballots. But he had strength to call up later on. And the opposition collapsed before it when Averell Harriman of New York, the mutual security director, leaped out of the race and swung in behind Stevenson.

That started a stampede. Gov. Paul Dever of Massachusetts, a favorite son, switched over to Stevenson. With a bandwagon under way, it was all over at the end of the third roll call.

Sparkman accepted the vice presidential nomination with a pledge to "take the message of democracy to the people of this country."

"I believe, I earnestly believe," he said, "that we will go out of this convention with greater solidarity, greater unity in all sections of the country and in all segments of our party than we have been able to achieve in a long, long time."

Stevenson's Choice

Sparkman was the Stevenson choice for a running mate. And the convention whooped it through by acclamation.

The North-South hook-up of the Illinois governor and Alabama senator represented a new found—and incomplete—unity in the party.

The Democratic clans had battled furiously, spectacularly, all week long over candidates, the civil rights issue and a party loyalty oath repulsive to parts of the South.

Even as they turned to Stevenson early Saturday morning to lead them into the 1952 campaign there were cries of "deals" and "payoffs" from opposition camps.

Die-hard backers of Senator Estes Kefauver, who ran second in the presidential derby, considered entering him for the vice presidential spot, even after it became known Sparkman was the man Stevenson wanted. Kefauver himself called them off. Usually it's just a matter of routine for a convention to take unquestioningly the person the head of the ticket prefers.

By and large, party leaders were saying Sparkman was entirely acceptable. Here and there on the fringes there was a noticeable lack of warmth toward the Alabama senator.

Executive Secretary Walter White of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said of Sparkman that:

"It will be difficult, if not impossible, for the Democratic Party to sell the negro voters and other civil rights advocates a nominee whose voting record has been one of consistent opposition to the civil rights objectives of the Democratic Party."

A negro congressman, Adam Clayton Powell of New York, called Sparkman "sheer political death" to the Democrats.

Gov. John S. Battle of Virginia said he doesn't think Sparkman "is well enough known to be of any help" to the Democratic Party in his state.

But Senator Hubert Humphrey, from the wing of the party that calls itself the liberals, sized up the choice of Sparkman as "splendid." President Truman, in Kansas City, said the selection was "a peach."

Political Veteran

Sparkman is a political veteran who made his start on the Washington scene as a House member in 1935, after 10 years of practicing law at Huntsville, Ala. He shifted to the Senate in 1946.

And his record indicates that the Administration can rely on him, more than most Southerners, to go along with all phases of its program except civil rights legislation. Even on that, his attitude hasn't been as tough as that of most Southerners.

Sparkman's fellow Alabama senator, Lister Hill, put him in nomination at a listless, final convention session for which many bone-tired delegates failed to show up.

Those who did managed to put on a 17-minute demonstration, parading around this big stockyards audi-

Rutherford's Lead Hits 5,109 Votes

Rep. J. T. Rutherford of Odessa had piled up a commanding lead early Sunday in his bid to unseat State Senator Hill Hudson of Pecos.

With Winkler, Reeves and Culberson Counties complete, Rutherford built up a 5,109 vote margin which appeared insurmountable. His home county of Ector gave him a 3,528 margin to account for most of the wide difference.

Rutherford also held leads in the counties of El Paso, Ward and Winkler. Hudson paced the balloting in Culberson, Midland and Reeves.

Loving and Hudspeth, both light in vote potential, had not been heard from early Sunday. Seventy per cent of the votes had been tabulated in El Paso County. Reeves had more than 70 per cent of its ballots counted. Twenty-one of 25 boxes were complete in Ector County and Midland County had four of seven boxes completed.

The county by county tabulation:

County	Hudson	Rutherford
El Paso	3,802	5,689
Culberson	207	189
Ector	1,272	4,790

McMorries Wins; Two Other Incumbents Trail In Martin

STANTON — James McMorries was nominated for reelection as judge of Martin County for a third term in balloting here Saturday, but two other veteran county officials were running behind in hotly contested races.

With 80 votes still out at midnight, McMorries had polled 904 ballots to 657 for Ed Robnett.

R. W. Caton was out in front of Incumbent Tom Adams 771 to 750 in the county attorney contest.

Mrs. Doris Stephenson apparently had defeated Mrs. Nobye Hamilton, 995 to 593, for county and district clerk. Mrs. Hamilton was seeking election to a fourth term.

A runoff appeared to be in the making between Dan Saunders and W. P. (Bill) Pinkston for the office of sheriff and tax assessor-collector to succeed Kyle Shoemaker, who did not seek reelection. The vote in the race gave Saunders 707; Pinkston 516; Noah D. Koonce 186; George Burns 120 and A. L. Firth 61.

In the commissioner races, Oliver Vaughn, incumbent, had 326 votes to 301 for M. L. Graves for Precinct 1; Ervin Welch was reelected without opposition for Precinct 3, and Joe Froman received 160 votes to 76 for Melvin Brown and 29 for Conrad V. Stokes for Precinct 4. A runoff loomed between Ed Bloomer and Stanley Lewis in Precinct 4. The vote was Bloomer 188; Lewis 182, and Anderson 148.

Reeves County Vote Goes To Its Citizens

PECOS—Reeves County gave good majority to two of its citizens in district races in Saturday's Democratic primary.

Henry Russell of Pecos had gained 1,918 votes to Alan Fraser's 329 when returns from six of the ten precincts had been counted. Fraser is from Alpine.

In the state senatorial race, Hill Hudson of Pecos had a lead of 769 to 412 over J. T. Rutherford of Odessa. Hudson seeks reelection.

In the 104th state representative race Richard C. Slack of Pecos was leading Earl Earp of Monahans 914 to 233 in the incomplete unofficial returns from the county.

In the county judge's race to succeed Slack, who decided to run for the legislative position, Dudley Cooksey had 825 votes and J. F. Biggs 399.

Burnett Gets Wide Lead In District Attorney's Race

Warren Burnett had gained a 1,108-vote lead over Charles Butts in the district attorney's race early Sunday. Burnett had moved out in front, 5,267 to 4,261, with a wide margin in Ector County balloting.

Burnett received 3,496 votes in Ector County as compared to 2,458 for Butts. Twenty-one of 25 Ector County boxes were complete.

The race was close in Midland County with Butts holding a slight lead. Butts had 1,803 votes with Burnett getting 1,771. Four of seven boxes were complete in Midland County.

Run-off Looms In Precinct 1 Race For Commissioner

A run-off loomed late Saturday night in the Precinct 1 Midland County Commissioner race between O. J. Hubbard and Earl Ray. Winners were determined in the two other commissioner contests.

Unofficial returns at 11:30 p.m. in the Precinct 1 race were: Bill Moore 486; Dr. Glenn Walker 459; O. J. Hubbard 930; Earl Ray 679; W. E. King 336; Charles J. Aiken 398.

J. C. Franklin will enter a runoff with Bill Brown for commissioner of Precinct 3 to succeed Warren Skaggs who did not seek reelection. Franklin received 25 votes to 18 for Brown and 14 for Oscar Crawford.

W. M. Stewart was reelected commissioner of Precinct 4. The vote tabulation was Stewart 125; Gale W. Pugh 40; and R. J. Eason 19.

Ramsey, Shepperd, Culberson, White, Giles Easy Victors

By The Associated Press

Tall, handsome Allan Shivers will sit in the Texas governor's chair another two years.

And Attorney General Price Daniel was promoted to the U. S. Senate seat which colorful Tom Connally of Marlin is giving up.

Price Daniel

The bureau experts said no material changes were expected in the leading races. At 1 a.m. with 550,000 votes counted, Shivers led Ralph Yarborough 348,632 to 203,561 with Mrs. Allene Traylor, San Antonio housewife, a poor third with 14,415. Shivers had 63.39 per cent of the total.

Daniel's margin over stocky, energetic Congressman Lindley Beckworth of Gladewater approached the three-to-one mark. E. W. Napier, the Wichita Falls stockman and lawyer, was a poor third.

Dies Leads Pack

Martin Dies, who made headlines 10 years ago as chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committe, may go back to Washington.

The Lufkin lawyer was at the top of the heap in the seven-man scramble for congressman-at-large. But it was too early to say whether he would get more than half the vote. If he doesn't, he'll have to face the next highest man in the August 23 run-off primary.

The midnight Texas Election Bureau report showed Dies had 50.39 per cent of the vote counted up in that time—a hair-thin lead.

A runoff appeared certain between Frank P. Culver, Jr., Fort Worth, and Spurgeon H. (Spud) Bell of Houston for Supreme Court, Place 1. They led in the four-man race, but neither had near a majority.

Despite oppressive heat and overwhelming interest in the Chicago convention, Texas voters turned out in what may be record numbers.

Generally, they liked incumbents. Among those with sure-winner leads was Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, the 48-year-old San Augustine lawyer. Ramsey was ahead of Frank Hessbrook Morales, Austin funeral director, by about five to one.

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, the 27-year-old former Wichita Falls agriculture teacher, was polling about twice the combined vote of his two opponents. Land Commissioner Bascom Giles was in no trouble with a two to one lead over Guy Patterson, the Eastland real estate man. And John Ben Shepperd of Gladewater held a similar lead over Curt Stiles of Dallas in the attorney general race.

Closest state office race on the basis of early returns was between District Judge Jesse Owens of Vernon and Kenneth K. Woodley of Austin for the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Ramsey Wins Close Race For Andrews County Judgeship

ANDREWS—Milton Ramsey was reelected as county judge over his opponent Russell Austin in a close contest in the Democratic primary election Saturday.

A run-off shapes up in the county commissioner's post, precinct 3, with H. B. Walters, incumbent, receiving 129 votes and J. W. Moxley, 113.

Henry Russell garnered 838 votes for associate justice, Court of Civil Appeals for the Eighth Supreme Judicial District. Alan R. Fraser received 588.

Midland County Backs State Winners; Two District Contests Near Deadlock

Midland County voters gave an overwhelming vote Saturday to Gov. Allan Shivers and a number of other candidates for state offices, but two district races were heading for a breath-taking finish.

In his race for reelection, the governor held almost a three-to-one majority on the basis of incomplete returns reported up to 1 a.m.

And in other state races, Price Daniel held a comfortable margin in his race for a U. S. State Senate seat and, in his campaign to return to Congress as congressman-at-large, Martin Dies was outstripping six other candidates in the Midland County vote without even the danger of a runoff.

But the race that held the interest of suspense were those for State Senate and district attorney.

In the district attorney race, Charles Butts of Odessa was leading his fellow townsmen, 1,803 to 1,771, in Midland County.

In the governor's race, Shivers had amassed 2,651 of Midland County's votes at 1 a.m. Sunday, with Ralph Yarborough polling 961 and Mrs. Allene Traylor trailing with 52 votes.

Price Daniel dominated the Midland County balloting in the U. S. Senate race, polling 2,844 votes to 632 for Lindley Beckworth and 157 for E. W. Napier.

John C. White was having little trouble in his race for reelection as commissioner of agriculture, amassing 2,419 votes, compared to 536 for Billy E. Beard and 461 for Walter McKay.

Bascom Giles, picking up 2,495 votes in seeking reelection as land commissioner, was well ahead of Guy Patterson's 1,048.

Kenneth W. Woodley also was holding a comfortable margin, 1,918 to 1,432, over Jesse Owens in the race for judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Railroad Commissioner Olin Culberson piled up a 2,693 to 1,009 margin over Joe Laird in his race for reelection.

The most amazing vote of the night was that of Dies as he overwhelmed a field of six other candidates.

The former congressman, seeking the state-wide congressional post, had 1,674 votes while trailing far behind him were Charles M. Dickson 109, Phil Hamburger 61, Edwin C. Nimitz 62, Herby Petry, Jr., 475, Roy Selman 39 and John Lee Smith 968.

John Ben Shepperd was having little trouble in the attorney general's race, boasting a margin of 2,399 to 617 over his lone opponent, Curt Stiles.

Glenn R. Lewis was lacking a majority but he was leading the field in the race for Supreme Court, Place No. 1. He had 1,146 votes while Spuregon Bell had 897, Frank P. Culver 696 and A. R. Stout 656.

For Place No. 2 on the Supreme Court, Graham B. Smedley held a good 2,213 to 1,096 lead over Robert Bruce Kennan.

Henry Russell of Pecos was leading in Midland County, 2,798 to 1,604 over Alan R. Fraser of Alpine in his race for associate justice, Court of Civil Appeals.

Sparkman Favors Fair Deal Sans Civil Rights Policies

CHICAGO — (NEA) — John J. Sparkman has a skeleton in his campaign closet. He's the Democratic nominee for vice president, but once upon an election he came out for the man who is now heading up the Republican ticket.

It happened in 1948, when, for the first time, the civil rights issue threatened to upset Democratic equilibrium. Before the '48 convention, Senator Sparkman came out for Dwight Eisenhower for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Afterwards, when Harry Truman had been formally nominated, Sparkman joined the Dixiecrat movement and supported the States' Rights candidacy of J. Strom Thurmond.

Except for the question of civil rights—and allied issues, such as the filibuster problem—Sparkman has diligently and faithfully walked the New Deal, Fair Deal road in both the House and Senate. But, as a native Alabaman, he has broken with President Truman over civil rights and makes no bones about it.

• • •

He is, however, not as vehement as most Southern legislators. He simply says he does not favor a federal law compelling fair employment practices, and lets it go at that. He makes no enemies over it.

And that's fairly typical of John Jackson Sparkman in action. He has many friends, few enemies. He's a big, genial, popular man, given to the gay social life.

He has a youngish, ruddy-cheeked face — someone once called him "the only cherub in the Senate" — topped by curly, graying hair. Some of his colleagues feel he'll "grow up into another Alben Barkley." Sparkman looks far younger than his 52 years.

JOHN J. SPARKMAN: He has many friends, few enemies.

The junior senator from Alabama is a vice-presidential candidate of the old, traditional school. He was a poor boy—the son of a tenant farmer — who got where he is by dint of hard work and a winning personality. He's a self-made vice-presidential candidate.

Sparkman boiled his way through college. He borrowed money on a cotton crop he raised during the Summer after he graduated from high school. That financed his freshman year at the University of Alabama, and he worked his way through the other three years. He was a Phi Beta Kappa student.

He graduated right into World War I, and, after his discharge, tried to get into newspaper work. When he couldn't find a job, he went to law school instead. He practiced law in Huntsville, Ala., until he was elected to the House of Representatives in 1936.

Appropriately, his first speech in the House was in support of a law to aid tenant farmers.

After five successive terms, he ran for the Senate, to fill out the unexpired term of the late Sen. John H. Bankhead, of the Tallulah Bankhead clan. He was reelected again in 1948.

• • •

His Congressional record has been studded with important issues. In the House, he has much to do with pushing through legislation having to do with the Tennessee Valley Authority.

He was one of the first to urge President Roosevelt to seek a fourth term. During his last term in the House he was Majority Whip.

In the Senate, he authored a vital bill on housing. Although he first voted for the Taft-Hartley law, he later turned around and voted to sustain President Truman's veto of that measure.

Northerners, as well as his Southern colleagues, respect his ability to make and keep friends, to see both sides of a question, to keep calm in times of crisis. They figure those qualities are prerequisites for a vice president.

Commission Grants Gas Firm Increases

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Texas Gas Transmission Corporation has been authorized to build about 400 miles of natural gas loop lines in Texas and eight other states at a cost of $33,753,000.

The Power Commission also authorized Texas Northern Gas Corporation and Louisiana Natural Gas Corporation, subsidiaries of Texas Gas, to sell up to 140 million cubic feet a day to Texas Gas.

United Gas Corporation, Shreveport, La., was authorized to increase its sales to Texas Gas up to 200 million cubic feet a day.

IT WAS, TOO, A FLYING DISC

Six young ladies of Midland told a skeptical reporter Saturday that they watched a flying saucer soar over the city Friday night before the slumbering part of their slumber party took effect.

The girls were the guests of Joe Ann Pate of 2300 West Bronson Street, and they said emphatically that it just couldn't have been an airplane. It was going too fast, and besides, it didn't have lights like an airplane.

It was a steady white light in the nocturnal skies, zipping along with a bobble every now and then. Later, as it approached Odessa, it disappeared.

Reporting the phenomenon were Sue Schneider, Gretchen Meisenheimer, Sally Glass, Kay McCoy, Nancy Estes and Miss Pate.

Mrs. Tucker Pays Mid-Summer Bonus

SHERMAN—(AP)—A mid-Summer cash bonus amounting to 10 per cent of wages earned between December 1 and July 31 by employes of Mrs. Tucker's products was announced Saturday by W. S. Dorset, president.

The bonus amounts to about $125,000 and will be shared by 425 employes. Bonus checks will be issued to employes, both in Sherman and at the new plant under construction in Jacksonville, Ill.

Mrs. Tucker's products, now a division of Anderson, Clayton & Company, for several years has paid a bonus in December. In announcing the July bonus, Dorsett pointed out that Mrs. Tucker's fiscal year had been changed to end on July 31 to conform with the fiscal year of Anderson, Clayton.

The Fans Get Enough Comedy So MacMurray Now Serious

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Guys and Dolls: Watch out, Alan Ladd, Stewart Granger and Errol Flynn—Fred MacMurray's moving into the swashbuckling league as the rough-and-tumble master of an adventure-bound sailing ship in Republic's "Fair Wind to Java."

It's the first costume flicker for light-comedy-king Fred since 1937, when he played a dashing and heroic Irish cavalier opposite Claudette Colbert in "Maid of Salem."

He still remembers "Maid" with a wince—"One critic said he expected me to take out my saxophone from under my cloak any minute."

Reason for Fred's switch to bold heroics:

"My last film, 'Callaway Went Thataway,' was a comedy. It was great, but it didn't do very well at the boxoffice. I guess movie audiences are getting enough comedy on TV. Now they want adventure, romance and musicals."

But Fred's not polishing up the sax he once played with big-name bands. "I'll drag it out," he whispered, "only as a last resort. I've played it a couple of times on TV shows but now they're paying me not to play it."

She Understands Men

Tiny, tender-hearted Ida Lupino is directing the year's roughest, hard-as-nails action with an all-male-star cast in "The Difference," a story inspired by the hitch-hiking killer, Cooke.

But she's not worried about Hollywood's lifted eyebrows over a woman's ability to direct the stronger sex in raw drama.

Says Ida: "If you like men you understand them. And I like men."

William Talman plays the mad killer described by the film's narrator as "the most cold-blooded murderer in the history of crime," with Edmond O'Brien and Frank Lovejoy as his next prospective victims.

"The picture," says Ida, "may have been inspired by Cooke but it is not his story. Our story is about the fight of an insane mind to drive two men insane."

Talman's role, she's predicting, will be just as shocking as Richard Widmark's character in "Kiss of Death."

Charles Farrell is wincing over the "silent-screen-star" references about him since his acting comeback opposite Gale Storm in the "My Little Margie" telefilm series.

Now that Fox has announced that Gene Tierney will star in a new movie version of Longfellow's "Evangeline," the saga of the maid's 30-year search for her Gabriel, it's time to report the findings of a Hollywood writer who visited the Cajun country in Louisiana recently.

He was told that in real life, Evangeline, once played on the screen by Dolores del Rio, finally caught up with Gabriel only to find that he was married and the father of a passel of children. Then the write was taken to Evangeline's graveyard in the back yard of the house supposedly occupied by Gabriel at one time. A wrought-iron fence encloses the yard and there is a sign that reads:

Building Permits Asked For 202 New Dwelling Units

Applications were made Saturday for the issuance of permits for the building of 202 new residences in the Permian Estates Addition in West Midland.

The permits will be for $6,750 each, bringing the grand total to $1,363,500.

House Beautiful Homes of Midland is the applicant for the construction permits. Officers of the developing and contracting firm are Raymond Thomason, Sr., Raymond Thomason, Jr., and Monty Thomason.

The dwellings will contain four-and-a-half rooms with attached garages. They will be of frame construction, modern in every respect.

They will be located on Roosevelt, Hill, Sycamore, Holly, Gaston, Tanner, Waverly and Monty Drives.

Officers of the concern said it is planned to complete four houses daily when the construction schedule is in full operation.

The Big Fight Is On

The Democrats now have named their favorite son to carry the party's banner in the presidential election in November, and the big fight for the most coveted political post in the world is underway.

It will be Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson for the Democrats vs. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republicans, and the campaign leading to the eventual election of the next President of the United States should be highly interesting all the way.

Perhaps the most interesting thing so far is the fact that neither candidate sought nor campaigned personally for nomination by their parties. Both actually were drafted. Then, too, both men comparatively are unknown in really big-time politics.

But they will be known, and how, as the historic campaign unfolds. The good and the bad, favorable and the unfavorable concerning both candidates will be brought out in the open as millions upon millions of words are hammered out for world-wide distribution and consumption during the next three months. Yes, the persidential candidates will be "known" by November 4, and American citizens will have read and heard more than enough perhaps on which to base their decisions before going to the polls in the general election.

One cannot but sympathize with Candidates Eisenhower and Stevenson upon what they must go through in the next three-month period, but needless to say, both men are great Americans, and both doubtless are able and willing to make the sacrifices to serve their nation.

At this stage of the game, congratulations are in order for both General Eisenhower and Governor Stevenson as they assume their favorite son roles.

It will be up to the voters of America to determine which candidate will occupy the White House the next four years.

Both the Republicans and the Democrats put on great shows in Chicago, and now that the tumult has died down, everyone perhaps is glad that that phase of the presidential election year schedule is ended.

• • •

Perhaps the most significant developments at both conventions were the victories of the people over the well-organized minorities who long have controlled national party politics. And Texas, incidentally, led the fight for right in both conventions.

Fortunately, public opinion—the will of the people—still rules in America.

Now, however, the presidential campaign takes precedence over most anything else, and it will be Stevenson vs. Eisenhower—Democrats vs. Republicans—from now until November.

Who will win? Let's leave that to the pollsters for the time being.

Maybe we'd have more successful people if there was an alarm clock keyed to ring when it's time to rise to the occasion.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1952, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearsons says: Hurt feelings, wrathy tempers at Dems' convention; Barkley and Harriman topped list of disappointed; Some labor leaders proved to be generals without armies.

WASHINGTON—Unlike the Republican convention which boiled down to a battle between two well-organized and powerful machines—Taft and Eisenhower—the Democratic convention at Chicago was one of the huddle-upon-huddle, faction-against-faction, maneuver-after-maneuver variety, and of soaring booms and punctured booms.

There also were a lot of hurt feelings and wrathy tempers—just as much bitterness as that aimed at Governor Dewey by some Republicans.

Here are some of the by-plays of Chicago hurt feelings: While Alben Barkley topped the list of the disappointed, Averell Harriman also had cause to be miffed—not merely because Harry Truman walked out on him . . . Another who walked out was Gov. Adlai Stevenson. About a month ago, Harriman came through Chicago on a campaign tour and spent most of one night discussing his presidential plans with Adlai. Earlier in the evening Adlai had introduced Averell at a Roosevelt College meeting as a man who "has all the qualifications to be President and a great President." . . . Huddling privately afterward, Adlai also told Ave that he personally intended to put his name in nomination at the convention . . . Came the convention, however, and Ave found Adlai sitting coyly in his Chicago office talking with Gov. Henry Schricker of Indiana about putting Adlai's name in nomination . . . On top of this Harriman found that the man who originally blessed him, Harry Truman, would not even take his telephone calls, so Ave had to resort to telegraphing. No wonder he was sore . . . (Matt Connelly, who recommended the appointment of Frank McKinney as national chairman, and who liked to run the President's politics for him, may have been the reason for Harriman's failure to get through to Truman. Connelly has his own ideas as to who should be President.)

Civil-rights huddles—The President was able to do some telephoning regarding civil rights, however. Chairman Frank McKinney had planned to adopt a compromise civil-rights plank, no stronger than the Republicans' mild states rights measure. However, Phil Perlman, former solicitor general and ace platform drafter, was instructed by the President to inform McKinney that the platform must be as strong as that of 1948. Perlman relayed the word, and McKinney reluctantly agreed to go along . . . This did not suit Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Kefauver-Harriman followers who also wanted to eliminate the filibuster.

Labor huddle—Most labor leaders started the convention personally favoring Governor Stevenson. However, a deluge of mail from locals all over the country protested that Stevenson had come out for retention of the Taft-Hartley Act, and indicated a strong preference for Kefauver . . . Following this, a group of labor leaders huddled at the Palmer House, plus Gov. Mennen Williams of Michigan, Senator Humphrey of Minnesota, Congressman F. D. Roosevelt . . . Chief decision was to keep the labor-liberal forces together behind both Harriman and Kefauver . . . As the decision was announced, Governor Williams blurted out: "What about Stevenson?" . . . However, rank-and-file support for Kefauver was such that, at a subsequent A. F. of L. meeting, Joe Keenan, AFL vice president, proposed that labor support Stevenson but was over-ruled. Some of the labor leaders found themselves generals without an army.

Chicago underworld—At the very same time Jake Arvey was acting as host to the Democratic convention, his Chicago Democratic machine was in the throes of a serious underworld scandal. In fact, Chicago crime got so out of hand that the public demanded a clean-up and the job was given to a tough, able attorney, Charles A. Bane.

His investigation scarcely had gotten off the ground, however, when he ran headlong into political pressure. When he requested that questionnaires be sent to every policeman—the same system used to clean-up the police of New York and Washington, D.C.—the City Council turned him down, and Bane, in turn, turned in his resignation.

Meanwhile, graft and corruption is reported rampant in the Chicago police force. Fountainhead of the corruption is the unholy alliance between certain Cook County officials and the underworld. While the mayor and Police Commissioner O'Connor have a reputation for honesty, the real source of political power over the police force is the Cook County machine.

Worst area according to the crime investigators is the 42nd Ward, where the dives lure tourists, drunks, and playboys with strip-tease shows; and where victims frequently are "rolled" for their bankrolls or exorbitantly overcharged—and threatened if they protest. Some of the places under investigation have been "Talk of the Town," on Division Street, and Melody Inn at 1300 Clark Street.

The police wander in and out of these dives, see the law violated under their noses, but do nothing. Police pay-offs in the 42nd Ward are reported to run into the thousands.

Seen and heard around the convention: The governor of Virginia urging Senator Willis Smith of North Carolina to walk out and go back home . . . Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas, who never has been popular in Washington, leading the fight to get a compromise loyalty pledge accepted by the South . . . Wright Morrow of Texas leading the fight of the other side to keep the South from accepting the loyalty pledge. Morrow is the man Truman tried to appease in 1948—the President actually offered him the ambassadorship to Belgium. Appeasement didn't pay . . . Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia urging that Senator Russell become vice-president on the Stevenson ticket—so he, Talmadge, could run for Russell's place in the Senate . . . Ex-Senator Francis Myers of Pennsylvania cracking the whip over Pennsylvania delegates to vote "right." ("Right" was the way Myers wanted the vote cast.

Another example of boss pressure: When Dean Warren White at George Washington University, a classmate of Senator William Fulbright's, wanted to nominate him for President, Paul Fitzpatrick, head of the New York delegation said no. White, a member of the New York delegation, bowed . . . While Averell Harriman was talking to the Oklahoma delegates, employes of the Conrad Hilton Hotel came in and unceremoniously took the couch right out from under the Oklahomans . . . Bill Primm, of Senator Russell's staff, inviting delegates to cruise on the yacht of Sid Richardson on Lake Michigan. Sid is the same Richardson who has been the biggest booster for General Eisenhower.

Experts are gathering in Cincinnati today from all over the country to play in the annual national championship. Among the earnest competitors at the tournament will be Joseph M. Cohan, of Wooster, Ohio, president of the American Contract Bridge League.

Cohan, a genial Irishman, is a first class player as well as one of the most popular men in bridge circles. Today's hand shows him at his most artful, stealing a game from under the noses of his opponents.

West opened the king of hearts, and dummy won with the ace. The "normal" play of leading a trump to the king would have led to defeat at once, but Cohan avoided this pitfall neatly by leading a club to the ace and returning a low trump from his hand.

West played the nine of spades, dummy put up the jack, and East won with the queen East returned a heart, and South ruffed. South now led a low diamond and played the king from dummy. East won with the ace of diamonds and carelessly returned the nine of hearts.

When declarer ruffed with the seven of spades, West over-ruffed with the ace, and this play of course clarified the trump situation.

West hopefully returned a club but South won with the king and entered dummy with the ten of diamonds in order to take a trump finesse through East's ten. He was thus able to draw trumps without further loss and ran the rest of the tricks with diamonds.

East should have beaten the contract of course by returning diamonds after taking his ace. It should have been clear to him that his partner had a fast entry with a high trump, and that he would therefore be able to get a diamond ruff to defeat the contract.

Q—The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
2 N. T.	Pass	3 Spades	Pass
3 N. T.	Pass	?

You, South, hold: Spades K-J-9-7-3, Hearts Q-4, diamonds K-8-7, Clubs 9-6-3. What do you do?

A—Bid four no-trump. This is not the Blackwood Convention (as most of the experts understand it) but just a slam invitation. Your bidding indicates a good five-card spade suit with enough general strength to invite (but not to demand) a slam. North should go on with more than a minimum opening bid of two no-trump.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades K-J-9-7-3, Hearts Q-4, Diamonds K-8-7, Clubs Q-6-3. What do you do?

CONVENTION COVERAGE

Adlai Stevenson Emerges Uncommitted And Unbossed

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

CHICAGO—(NEA)—The enviable position of Gov. Adlai Stevenson is that he emerges from Chicago Democratic National Convention completely uncommitted and unbossed.

He has made no political promises to anyone. No money has been collected on his behalf to wage any political campaign. He owes nothing to anybody.

This leaves him perfectly free—in case he should be elected President in November—to clean house as he sees fit in Washington. He can drive out the tired old party hacks who have been cluttering up the political landscape during the last 20 years. He can start fresh. It is only on this basis that the Democratic party has any chance of winning the election in November.

Predicting the outcome of this election at this early date of course is futile. But is now is a tough race. It is not a shoo-in for General Eisenhower, as the Republicans hoped.

• • •

Governor Stevenson can take a great deal of credit for having deliberately planned it that way. First Stevenson refused to accept President Truman's pre-convention urgings that he become a candidate.

The governor's original motive in this refusal may have been his genuine unwillingness to run. Its effect, however, was to prevent any black marks on the Truman administration record from rubbing off on Governor Stevenson. And it leaves the governor unbossed by Harry Truman.

Seconw, Governor Stevenson stayed out of all state primary and state nominating convention contests. That left him free from any of the feuding between rival candidates. This means that none of them has any grudges against Governor Stevenson. Conversely, the governor should be able to count on their future friendship and support.

Third, Governor Stevenson took no part in any of the contests over the seating of Texas and Mississippi delegates. He took no part in the fight over the rules and the adoption of the delegates' loyalty pledge. Although a delegate to the convention, Governor Stevenson stayed away from the floor while these fights were on.

This leaves him in a position to ask for and receive the support of not only Texas and Mississippi, but also Virginia, Louisiana, and South Carolina—the three states that refused to give assurance of loyalty to the ticket. This provides a good opportunity for restoring party unity in the election campaign.

• • •

Fourth, Governor Stevenson has been able to steer clear of influence by labor bosses. It is this very fact that was responsible for much of the effort to organize a "stop Stevenson" movement. Union officials who felt that Stevenson was not "pro-labor" enough for them were active in trying to promote the candidacy of rivals like Harriman, Kefauver and Russell who were on record for labor's recommended programs.

Finally, Governor Stevenson was able to stay out of all the other deals and maneuverings that would-be political bosses tried to cook up during the Democratic convention.

Among these plotters were such men as George Allen, the ex-White House jester, now a friend and partner of the Republican presidential nominee, Dwight D. Eisenhower; Ed Pauley, the California oil man whom President Truman tried to make Secretary of the Navy, till the Senate ruled him down; Jim Farley of New York with only his own one-half vote to boss; and Jimmy Roosevelt of California, reduced in this convention to the status of an alternate-delegate at large.

None of these men and others like them had any official position of importance in the Chicago convention. All have been discredited. Yet, they and others of their ilk cluttered up the hotel rooms of Chicago, trying to chisel their way back into power by promoting deals.

Much of the furtive "stop Stevenson" movement was the work of these conspirators. And when they failed, some of the would-be deal makers tried to reverse themselves and climb on the Stevenson bandwagon. Governor Stevenson fortunately could take no part in such deals because he had no organization and he had no campaign managers.

The one tie which Governor Stevenson has had to a political boss is with Col. Jack Arvey, Chicago's Democratic boss and national committeeman from Illinois. Publicity representatives for some of Governor Stevenson's rival candidates tried to build up a Jake Arvey bogey. They pictured him as the boss of four mid-Western states and the potential boss of the whole Democratic Party in case Stevenson got the nomination.

Whatever the future status of Colonel Arvey, at the Chicago convention Governor Stevenson refused to allow him to operate as a campaign manager. If the governor is smart enough, he might keep it that way.

KATY ELMO'S voice was nearly calm as she told Ted Jordan in a swift rush of words. Ted heard and ran toward the barn. "He's alive." Ted watched the almost imperceptible rise and fall of Peter Donnell's chest. Then Ted looked at her. "You were running away, Katy."

Katy gripped her hysteria. "I was going for help, Ted."

"Sure, Katy," he replied, but with the same skepticism that had been in Johnny Jerome's voice that morning. "It just might work at that. You could tell them—"

"Ted Jordan, I did not shoot Mr. Donnell. Nor kill Agnes Jerome. She was coming to tell me who killed Chris. She knew why Chris went out that night."

A thought struck Katy. Why did Chris go out? She grasped the idea before it escaped her. "Someone must have called. Someone he knew. I was asleep. I wouldn't have heard the phone! Maybe the call came from Marty's and Agnes remembered!"

"Ted," Katy said quietly, "please go for Dave."

"I'll help you, Katy."

"What do you mean?"

"To get away. You had a good start when I came up." Ted's laugh was nasty.

"And leave Mr. Donnell to die?" Katy reeled as a thought struck her. So many things fell into place. "You shot him, Ted!"

"I knew you knew."

She saw the bitter sardonic grin that lighted Ted's face, the deliberate, yet swift, move of his hand and the gun that was in it.

"Your suicide, Katy, will explain so much," he said.

"No!"

"Oh yes, Katy. I was going to kill you last night—"

"When you cut off my phone?" She was fighting for time.

"Sure," he admitted it. "I was coming back—after you said you wouldn't go out with me but I got the idea Argus intended to hang around."

"Why did you kill Mr. Murphy? And Chris?"

Ted Jordan laughed at her. "The old man because he found me with his safe open. There had to be someone to take the rap and Chris would come if I told him Murphy had had a stroke."

Katy's lungs felt as if she would never breathe again. Major, her dog, was behind Ted, half-crouched, uncertain. He didn't understand this treachery.

"Major!" she screamed. "Get him!"

Ted whirled, surprised, as the dog sprang at him.

There was a wild shot, and pandemonium broke loose. The barn seemed filled with Sheriff Ledbetter, Dave, Johnny Jerome, and State Troopers.

• • •

IT was noon and after, when Dave Argus came back from town, where Ted's confession had been recorded.

They sat before the apple wood fire in the living room. "There it is. Jordan had a good job, the men at the factory liked him, but you never know about guys like that, I guess."

"Agnes Jerome knew. How, Dave?" Ted had not boasted of being found out, he had been proud only of his cunning.

"Ted hung around Marty's." Katy knew that and there was nothing wrong in it. Dave went on, "That night Chris and Link Murphy were shot, he was there. Moody. Jumpy. Even before he went out. When he came back, late, just before closing time, he was quiet. Tense, like he was waiting for someone. Agnes kidded him about a girl—Johnny told me this," he hastened to explain. "And later Agnes got to thinking. She knew Chris, bought her groceries from him, and she liked you because you had been nice to Johnny in school. So she got to asking questions around—"

"And Ted found out, of course." Dave nodded. "He was—under surveillance, as Ledbetter puts it, from the first."

Katy thought. She knew they had questioned Ted, she knew Ted had opportunity to cut the telephone wires, that he hung out at Marty's and therefore undoubtedly knew Agnes Jerome rather well.

"You're too loyal to people you love." Dave dropped a hand to Major's head and began to rub his ears. "Ted didn't trust you. He thought you knew more than you did."

"I don't love Ted. I n-never did, but when Chris was killed I had to trust someone!" The cry was wrenched from her.

"And Ted was johnny-on-the-spot." Dave Argus watched Major move out from under his caressing hand and go to lay his head in Katy's lap.

• • •

KATY buried her face in Major's thick scruff. When she looked up, Dave was standing, his hands outstretched toward the fire, his long lean back to her.

"Katy," he said without turning, "When this thing is over, Katy, when you've forgotten—"

When he didn't go on, she slipped out of her chair. She touched his elbow. "When I've forgotten, Dave?"

"That I'm the guy who talked Ledbetter into using you as bait—I was scared when Johnny came and then Em called and said you were trying to find Ted. Darling, if he had hurt you—" His arms were around her, his face was buried in her hair.

"Do you think," he whispered, moments later, "darling, do you think Major would let me kiss you?"

Katy looked down. Major's head rested on paws outstretched toward the fire.

She turned to Dave. "Why don't you take a long chance, dear?"

THE END

DECLARATION TO SAVE THE TIDELANDS!

WHEREAS, the common citizens of Texas, the recipients of a wonderful heritage, won by the efforts of our courageous and God-fearing fore-fathers and, with the grace of God, obtained our liberties and soil of our state thru their bloodshed at Goliad, The Alamo, and San Jacinto, and

WHEREAS, these blessings, among which are the great natural resources of our state, have enabled us to build our homes, churches, hospitals, roads, and last, but not least, the schools for our children, and

WHEREAS, unprincipled politicians from without our state, without due authority and in direct repugnance of our treaty of annexation, are converting a great part of our inheritance in the amounts of hundreds of millions of dollars from the educational fund of our children, and

WHEREAS, the American people, thru their duly authorized representatives in both houses of congress have attempted to stop this illegal conversion–first in 1950 when the Congress voted to restore the Tidelands to state ownership and were prevented in doing this act of justice by the veto of the President of the United States. (The House of Representatives passed the bill over his veto, but the Senate failed by a small number of votes). In 1952 the Congress again passed this bill, and again it was vetoed by the President – and,

WHEREAS, it is improbable that this legislation will be passed over a Presidential veto and thus prevent the illegal conversion of state resources to federal use, it therefore becomes necessary for us, the citizens of Texas, in order to regain our inherited property, to support the candidates in this forthcoming November election who will publicly commit themselves to sign legislation returning the Tidelands to state ownership.

THEREFORE, we the undersigned citizens of Texas, being without political prejudice and of different political faiths, do hereby call upon the people to arise in support of those candidates who are in favor of returning the Tidelands to the states.

Mercury Soars Past 100 Degrees In 13 Texas Cities

By The Associated Press

Fine Summer weather prevailed generally over Texas on election day, and voters had only the heat to complain about. At least 13 Texas cities sweltered in temperatures of 100 degrees or more.

A break in the clear weather occurred late Saturday afternoon in East Texas, however, as a line of wind and rain storms moved in from Louisiana westward.

Lufkin had 1.87 inches of rain in a down pour, and at nightfall rain was falling at Longview. Heavy winds at the Hughey Community, near Kilgore, blew down a garage and knocked over a few trees.

One victorious politician at the Elderville Community, also near Kilgore, had little to cheer about. Frank Burton, newly-elected constable, had his house destroyed by fire when lightning struck it.

The temperature climbed to 104 degrees at Presidio, to take the high-mark for the day. Fort Worth, Wichita Falls and Mineral Wells all had 103; Abilene and Cotulla 102; Dallas, Del Rio and Junction 101; and Big Spring, Laredo, Childress and Salt Flat all had 100.

Elsewhere temperatures were mostly in the 90's, and the low afternoon reading was 89 degrees at Marfa.

The weatherman predicted the thunderstorms in East Texas would disperse by Sunday, and the hot weather would hold over the state. Clear to partly cloudy skies were expected to continue, with the possibility of widely scattered thundershowers in the El Paso area.

Culver Leads Bell

Also close was the contest for Supreme Court, Place 1, Spurgeon (Spud) Bell, Houston lawyer, lost an early lead to Frank P. Culver, Jr., of Fort Worth. Not far behind were Glenn R. Lewis, San Angelo lawyer, and District Judge A. R. Stout of Waxahachie.

The Election Bureau's midnight report showed: Culver 117,262, Bell 96,170, Stout 69,118, Lewis 58,380.

Supreme Court Justice Graham B. Smedley of Fort Worth was leading in his bid for a second term. The 72-year-old jurist was opposed by Robert Bruce Keenan, 61, a Gladewater lawyer.

A runway lead assured Ramsey two more years as lieutenant governor. His opponent, Frank Hessbrook Morales, 51-year-old Austin funeral director, did not make a statewide campaign.

The 1 a.m. election Bureau count showed: Ramsey 412,631, Morales 88,232.

In the agriculture commissioner race, Incumbent John C. White, 27-year-old redhead who upset J. E. McDonald in 1950, was far ahead of his two opponents, Walter McKay, Fredericksburg stock farmer and radio station owner, and Billy E. Beard, College Station farmer and rancher. There appeared to be a possibility White could avoid a runoff.

Land Commissioner Bascom Giles, after his thirteenth term, had a topheavy margin over Guy Patterson, Eastland real estate man.

The Election Bureau's 1 a.m. report: Giles 342,142, Patterson 145,123.

In the Railroad Commission race, Incumbent Olin Culberson's lead over Joe Laird, young Houston petroleum engineer, was about three to one. The 1 a.m. Election Bureau count was Culberson 362,213, Laird 124,097.

John Ben Shepperd of Gladewater also had a three-to-one margin over Curt Stiles of Dallas in the race to succeed Price Daniel as attorney general. Shepperd quit as Texas Secretary of State to seek the post. The latest count was Shepperd 288,841, Stiles 75,940.

Malayan Anti-Red Wants British Ties

KUALA LUMPUR, MALAYA—(AP)—Sir Cheng Lock Tan, Malaya's No. 1 anti-Communist leader, says that the Malayan Federation would "drift into anarchy and ruin" if it cut the ties which bind it to Britain.

Sir Cheng Lock, who was awarded a knighthood by the late King George VI last January, said the British crown colony needed cooperation and some form of union with Britain.

Sir Cheng Lock, who was awarded of the Associated Chinese Chambers of Commerce of Malaya, held to honor his elevation to the knighthood.

Most Incumbents Are Returned To Office By Crane Democrats

CRANE—A majority of incumbents were returned to office in voting by Crane County Democrats Saturday.

Complete returns showed Sheriff M. E. Lear polling 982 votes as compared to 363 for A. B. Earp and 166 for W. H. Lovelace.

County Judge Joseph A. Beyer received 1,010 votes to 476 for Don L. Chaney.

Addie E. Bell, county and district clerk, aggregated 1,110 votes to 391 for Jesse G. Miller.

County Treasurer James W. Teague was returned to office with 968 votes to 446 for Edythe Wetsel.

New County Attorney

Ken G. Spencer won over County Attorney C. Bennett, getting 789 votes to 707 for the incumbent.

In the Precinct 2 race, Vincent Andrews, present commissioner, collected 58 votes. I. C. Earp received 51 and T. C. Tubb got 36.

Incumbent Jay Miller led the field in the race for Precinct 4 commissioner with 90 votes. W. O. Murrey received 48 votes. Ted Green 43, C. B. Curry 38, and W. B. Sloan 36.

BIRTH RATE STEADY

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Department of Health reported the city's birth rate during the first six months of 1952 was an average of 449 daily, compared with 454 for the same period a year ago.

REFUELING BY "PROBE AND DROGUE"—In this artist's conception of in-flight refueling, two Navy jet fighters are about to make contact with a flying-boat tanker. The probe—or nose point—of the fighter enters the drogue—or fuel cup—of the tanker, which drags the two lightweight hose lines from its wing-tips. A fuel-tight connection is made and the tanker crew services the fighters by remote control.

Rayburn, Five Other Texas Incumbents Returned To Congress; Two Lag Behind

By The Associated Press

Speaker Sam Rayburn of Bonham and five other congressional veterans apparently had gained re-election Saturday night.

But two other congressmen — Omar Burleson of Anson and Clark Thompson of Galveston—trailed in 10:30 p.m. returns from the Texas Election Bureau.

Rayburn, seeking his twenty-first term in the U. S. House of Representative, led young Reagan Brown of Terrell, by a 2-to-1 count with returns from six counties, two complete, of the seven-county district.

The count: Burleson, 9,790; Cox 10,065, 12 incomplete counties out of 12 in the district.

Colorful T. W. (Buckshot) Lane, sheriff of Wharton County, took over the lead in the three-way race for the Ninth District seat where Thompson bid for his third full term.

The count: Lane 3,021; Jimmy Pattison 1,349, Thompson 2,732, returns from eight counties, three complete, out of 15 in the district.

Five other congressional veterans held comfortable leads. They were John E. Lyle of Corpus Christi, Wright Patman of Texarkana, Wingate Lucas of Grapevine, W. R. (Bob) Poage of Waco, and Clark Fisher of San Angelo.

Lyle had trailed badly in early returns but had a long lead before 11 p.m.

The returns, by districts, included:

District 2 (11 counties)—Returns from seven counties, none complete: Banks 335, Brooks 1,230, Casey 797, Greer 248, Harrison 628, Kinard 596, Neil 763, Stephens 153, Tonahill 4,093.

District 3 (eight counties)—Returns from five counties, none complete: Duncan 1,370, Gentry 4,353, Whitaker 1,401, Whitehead 492, Wood 808.

District 12 (five counties)—Returns from five counties, one complete: Lucas 7,453, Mason 3,273.

British Announce New Guided Missile To Chase Bombers

ABERPORTH, WALES —(AP)— Britain has a high-flying guided rocket that can chase enemy bombers at "well over" 2,000 miles an hour and is up to five times as maneuverable as a fighter plane, Supply Minister Duncan Sandys disclosed Saturday.

He refused to give full details on the grounds of military security, but he said the rocket "can rise to heights far greater than any bomber is likely to reach for many years to come."

"These rockets can be steered," he said, "or better still, can steer themselves through the air with great accuracy. They are capable of rapidly altering course as they would have to do to intercept an aircraft taking evasive action."

"In fact, they can twist and turn with four or five times the degree of maneuverability of a fighter plane."

Sandys said Britain was approaching the time when it could put the rocket into full production.

Duval Ballot Boxes, Stubs Impounded By District Court Order

SAN DIEGO, TEXAS —(AP)— A district court order was issued at Alice Saturday impounding ballot boxes and stubs in Duval County where the Freedom Party is challenging the "one man rule" of George B. Parr.

Acting Judge Arthur A. Klein signed the order at 3 p.m. after receiving a petition alleging election irregularities in this touchy South Texas County.

The petition was accompanied by affidavits by five San Diego men who asked that the election ballots be preserved should a contest arise.

Voting was heavy at San Diego. About 40 persons were in line at the courthouse precinct and a Freedom Party candidate said that was the least to be in line all day.

Both the Freedom Party and the Parr faction have headquarters in downtown San Diego. Parr folks furnished free soft drinks and the Freedom Party ice water.

No violence was noted as reinforced bands of Texas Rangers patrolled this political hot spot.

Parr's one-man rule is being challenged for the first time in 10 years.

Modern Campaigning Is Long Leap From Horse, Buggy Era

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Presidential campaigning this year will be less rugged but much more expensive than in the past.

Candidates from Lincoln to Bryan traveled in buggies and wooden coaches hired for a song. They got just what they paid for though—sweltering heat and cinders in their whiskers.

And, if Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gov. Adlai Stevenson seek to supplement their special train "whistle-stop" speechmaking this Summer and Fall with television appearances, it will cost $28,000 for a half-hour of "open time" on a national hookup or almost $1,000 a minute.

This $28,000 would go up to $40,000, or even $125,000, party officers say, if the candidate could find no open time and had to preempt a commercially-sponsored program.

National Committee officials say the 1952 candidates just chosen undoubtedly will do a lot of rear-platform campaigning and also shop around for some good open spots on television.

Taking the candidate and his message into the homes of millions of voters by TV will be a valuable new twist. But campaign managers still recognize the long-proven need for personal appearances in the flesh. Many a vote has been won by a smile and a handshake.

The cost of campaigning modern style has risen considerably. With each National Committee limited to spending three million dollars under the Hatch Act, they will have to spread this quite thin or get around the limitation some way as has been done in the past without violating the law.

Up Since 1948

Costs have gone up a good deal even since the last campaign. And in 1948, it cost the Republicans $132,344 alone for the special train of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, counting radio and loud speaker equipment and personal expenses.

The special for Dewey's running mate, Gov. Earl Warren, cost even more—$142,906—because it was on one very long trip while Dewey's made several shorter ones.

President Truman's private railroad car was a "rolling fortress," air-cooled, with parlor and easy chairs, sofa and radio, several bedrooms and baths, dining room and small kitchen. He traveled 22,000 miles and made 272 speeches starting with Labor Day. He also covered 9,500 miles before the convention.

Contrast this with the rugged travel of William Jennings Bryan, Democratic candidate in 1896. The "Great Commoner" made 569 speeches and set a record of 24 talks in 24 hours. He traveled three months in hot, dirty wooden coaches, sleepers and cabooses and took many buggy trips over dusty roads.

Texans Give Governor Shivers Grand Slam Victory He Asked

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN —(AP)— Early returns from Democratic precinct meetings and in the governor's race indicated Texans were giving Allan Shivers the grand slam victory.

But those persistent anti-Shivers loyalists weren't giving up. From San Antonio came word that Maury Maverick already was organizing "Stevenson for President" clubs in Texas.

The outlook in Democratic circles remained stormy, with another battle over loyalty or binding of presidential electors a sure thing for the September convention.

Early reports from Republican precinct meetings showed an unusual degree of harmony between the new guard Eisenhower people and the old guard who took a beating at Chicago.

Shivers returned home from Chicago, but did not go to his office in Austin. He had no comment on the Democratic ticket, except to say that he thought Stevenson would make a strong candidate. Shivers flew to his Summer home at Woodville, where he'll spend the next three or four days resting after the Chicago ordeal.

Neither faction of Texas Democrats' — the Shivers conservatives and the Loyalist liberals — seemed really happy about what happened at Chicago. Several delegates returning to Austin said that the Texans' determination to stick with Russell all the way through was the tip-off on the conservative's attitude toward Stevenson.

The Loyalists said they were pleased, but they came home and put their fighting clothes on immediately.

It was regarded as a certainty that they will demand that Texas' Democratic electors be pledged to vote for the national party's nominees. They obviously were hoping to win national party favor by plugging for Stevenosn in the face of seeming apathy by the Shivers organization.

This correspondent talked to many Democrats Saturday who took part in precinct meetings and they said sure they were going to vote for Eisenhower in November.

That spirit showed up in reports from other cities, such as Longview, where a "Vote for Eisenhower" resolution was turned down but cheered.

It was apparently to pinch off feelings like these that the Democratic Party's national leadership concentrated on Senator John Sparkman for Gov. Adlai Stevenson's running mate. Whether it will work in Texas remains to be seen.

Midland Democrats Choose Officers At Precinct Meets

Midland County Democrats took time out from their primary election Saturday to meet in precinct conventions and begin perfection of their permanent organizations.

The precinct conclaves, for the most part, were disposed of quickly as party members met to elect permanent officers and name delegates to the county convention next Saturday afternoon.

Boyd Laughlin was named chairman of the Precinct 7 organization while R. M. Payne was selected as secretary.

Alternates are John Walston, C. W. Chancellor, James L. Daugherty, Manor Graham, Paxton Howard, Kemper Kimberlin, Jr., Charles L. Klapproth, Fannie Bess Taylor, Mrs. R. M. Payne, Jack Bailey, Kelly Bell and William Y. Penn.

At the Precinct 4 convention at Terminal, Curtis Rogers was picked as chairman and T. J. Carter as secretary. J. W. Muckaby and Gayle Pugh were named as delegates.

Precinct 6 Elects

W. A. Yeager was selected as chairman of the Precinct 6 organization while Perry Pickett was named secretary.

Precinct 5 Democrats picked L. M. McMath as chairman and Garland White as secretary. Delegates are E. D. Richardson and R. C. Hodges.

At the Midland County Courthouse, Precinct 1 Democrats named Alfred Petty as chairman Mrs. Ronald Jarrett as secretary. Delegates will be Petty, Mrs. Jarrett, Sam Roberts, Mrs. William Joyce and Leonard Miller.

Alternates are Earl Ray, Mrs. William Joyce, Allen Wemple and Hank Avery.

No Trend Set In Grass Roots Meetings As Texans Eye Polls

By The Associated Press

No definite trend was established Saturday night in first reports from precinct conventions— Republican and Democrat—over Texas. New battles for party control were on.

Gov. Allan Shivers and his conservative forces apparently had firm rein on the party in the first few precincts reporting in Dallas County. Orange county gave solid support to the Shivers faction, and three of four Democratic precincts holding conventions in Big Spring called for listing the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket on the Democratic ballot.

One Big Spring precinct declined to pledge for the electors. All the Big Spring precincts condemned federal seizure of the Tidelands in resolutions.

All 29 Democratic conventions in Johnson County adopted a resolution calling for a state presidential preference primary and instructed delegates to the August 2 county convention to support a similar resolution.

Johnson County Republicans held only one precinct convention, but it consisted of voters from four precincts. They voted unanimously to support the national GOP Eisenhower-Nixon ticket.

In Longview, Democrats cheered a recommendation at a precinct convention that "all true Texans who believe in the Democratic process vote for Eisenhower in November," but they voted against endorsing the resolution on the grounds it was "out of place in a Democratic convention."

A group of "Loyalist" Democrats bolted the convention when it killed a resolution calling on state party officials to place the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket on the state ballot.

Early Dallas County reports showed endorsement of the Shivers faction at Irving, Richardson, Carrollton, Mesquite, Rylie and Farmers Branch.

Dallas County Liberals held sway at Cedar Hill where Box 68 had gone for Shivers in May. Duncanville's Precinct 74 swung from Shivers to the liberal cause, endorsing the Stevenson - Sparkman presidential ticket and demanding that electors vote for the national Democratic nominees.

On the many results hinged party complexions and party machinery for the next two years.

Most of the precinct gatherings in metropolitan districts were held after the close of polls Saturday night. In rural and small city areas, some were held at mid-afternoon.

The forces of Gov. Allan Shivers were up against a challenge by liberal forces, spearheaded by so-called Loyal Democrats in the neighborhood gatherings.

On the Republican side, national Committeeman Jack Porter's pro-Eisenhower forces were fighting it out on the precinct level with pro-Taft Old Guard forces headed by Henry Zweifel of Fort Worth.

The precinct conventions again were expected to start the long battle royals leading up to the state conventions.

After the last precinct conventions, forces of the Loyal Democratic faction and pro-Taft forces staged walkouts. They took their party fusses to county conventions, where for the most part they lost again, finally going to the state conventions where they again lost.

In the Democratic feuds, the Loyalists, headed by Maury Maverick, took their fight on to the Democratic National Convention. Shivers and his "regular" Democratic faction won.

There were expectations of a renewal of the bitterness which grew out of the May presidential precinct, county and state conventions in many of Saturday's precinct gatherings.

In many places, voters were warned that it is unlawful under the new Texas Election Code to vote both in the Democratic primary and in a GOP convention on the same day.

It was pointed out, however, that there is no restriction against voting in the Democratic primary and then casting a ballot for the Republican presidential electors in November's general election.

Civil Appeals Court Race Close At Waco; Runoff At Amarillo

Texas Election Bureau midnight returns from 11 of the 16 counties, including one county complete, showed Frank G. McDonald, district attorney at Hillsboro, trailing Mat Dawson, Corsicana lawyer, by only 20,270 to 20,489.

In District 7 (Amarillo), returns from 29 of the 46 counties gave O. E. Northcutt, 61, Amarillo attorney, a lead of 12,903 to 7,161 over his nearest opponent in the four-man race, Joe S. Moss, 41, of Post. But a run-off election was indicated because of the 6,267 votes polled by Harry Bunnenberg, 51, Vernon, and 5,964 votes given Hal D. Houston, 53, Amarillo lawyer.

Airline's 'Cupid' Stunt Helps Bride

LONG BEACH, CALIF. —(AP)— When a waterfront strike tied up a Hawaiian-bound liner, Marvis Hubel didn't know whether she would get to her wedding in time.

Miss Hubel, 21, planned to marry Seaman James R. Wulf in Hawaii, but with the ill-timed strike she had visions of leaving her sailor waiting at the church.

At the last minute, an airline executive, in the interests of Cupid, managed to squeeze Miss Hubel in at the head of a long waiting list. The bride-to-be boarded a plane and winged to her wedding.

Lightning Kayoes Crib Flood Spared

Then recently while the Lincoln family still was living in Glenwood pending rehabilitation of their farm home, a bolt of lightning struck the corn crib. Fire destroyed the crib.

Two Greek Seamen Missing As Ships Crash In Pacific

SEATTLE.—(AP)—A Greek freighter and an American passenger liner collided off British Columbia Saturday and at least, two persons were believed killed, the Coast Guard said.

The Greek freighter Triton, a gaping hole ripped in its starboard side, was reported taking water but in no immediate danger of sinking.

Her skipper radioed that two members of the engine room crew were missing and presumed dead.

The Alaska Steamship Company liner Baranof, bound for Ketchikan, Alaska, with 150 passengers and a crew of 100, had its bow stove in about eight feet above the water line but was not damaged seriously, the Coast Guard said.

Capt. Joseph Ramsaner of the Baranof reported no one aboard the vessel was injured.

School Textbooks Worry Malayans

SINGAPORE—(AP)—Chinese educators have expressed fears that the Singapore government's plan to "Malayanise" Chinese school textbooks is going to kill Chinese culture.

The Federation of Chinese Schools is to appeal to the Chinese Chamber of Commerce to convene a meeting of leading Chinese associations, guilds, and cultural organizations to discuss the matter.

RIDES HORSE TO CHURCH

CENTRALIA, ILL.—(AP)—A Creal Springs, Ill., groceryman, owns two cars but prefers to ride to church Sundays on his horse, "Sweetheart." "I just feel more at home on the horse," W. H. Holmes explained. "Besides, my wife and children like to use the cars."

Upton Keeps Incumbents

McCAMEY—With large majorities, Upton County voters returned incumbents to office in two disputed county contests in the Democratic primary election Saturday.

G. H. Fisher was reelected county judge with 895 votes as compared with 434 received by William W. Moore.

H. E. Eckols received 638 votes for reelection as sheriff, tax collector and assessor. His opponent, John Gantt, received 189 votes.

In the county commissioner's race at Rankin, precinct 1, Sam Holmes lead a field of three with 126 votes. Yochum got 99 votes and Steele received 65. For county commissioner, precinct 2 at Rankin, Workman lead with 109 votes. Price received 88 votes and Lee, 79.

Allan Shivers, for reelection as governor, was a heavy favorite with 527 votes. Ralph W. Yarborough received 181, while Mrs. Allene M. Taylor rated 15 ballots.

Martin Dies copped a major portion of the votes for congressman-at-large, receiving 432. His nearest opponent, John Lee Smith, received 146.

In the associate justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, Eighth Supreme Judicial District of Texas, Alan R. Fraser received 574 votes as compared to Henry Russell's 165.

Choice Of Stevenson Puts Pressure On Ike In South

By JACK BELL

CHICAGO—(AP)—Democratic leaders made it clear Saturday they believe they have blocked Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower off from the South by their choice of the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket.

Eisenhower's reputed popularity below the Mason-Dixon Line had a great deal to do with the selection of Senator John Sparkman of Alabama as vice presidential running mate for Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois.

Sparkman's nomination gave the Deep South representation on a ticket that probably can't be attacked successfully by Dixie Democrats, even though it runs on a platform hardly less strong in its civil rights provisions than that of 1948.

The 1948 revolt took 39 electoral votes from President Truman and through all of the North-South poker game bluffing that enlivened the 31st Democratic Convention ran the belief the party can't afford to lose a single Southern state this year.

Break Into South

There have been confident Republican prediction that Eisenhower will break into the South in November, picking off states like Texas, Virginia, North Carolina and Florida.

If President Truman had been the nominee again, that prediction might have had more weight.

But Stevenson, with close family ties in the South, is a different breed of political cat. Most Southerners feel he won't give them the kind of treatment Truman dished out on civil rights bills, although he supports the party platform firmly.

With Sparkman on the ticket as spokesman for what might be called the "New South," party leaders think Stevenson has little to fear.

Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina and Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia may be going home dissatisfied with the convention's action, but the betting here is that they will not lead any party-splitting revolt in November.

The reaction of most of Dixie may have been keynoted by Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia, who told the convention he would "fall into the ranks" and work for the nominee in November.

Role of Russell

Russell, a practical and sensible politician, apparently never had any real belief that he could win the nomination. But friends said he had accomplished some important objectives by his campaign.

They listed these as (1) a clear notification by his candidacy that the South would not take Truman again, (2) approval by the convention of a compromise of sorts on the civil rights plank and (3) forcing recognition for Dixie on the ticket.

The Republicans have said they are going to campaign in the South, neglected for years by candidates of both parties. That may force Stevenson, as well as Sparkman, to make appearances there. Jonathan Daniels, national committeeman has invited Stevenson to open his campaign in North Carolina.

Democratic leaders are confident that once the South has heard Stevenson on its home grounds, it will go for him.

What reaction the evident attention to the South will bring in Northern big cities remains to be seen.

Party Is Swerving

It is evident, however, that the Democratic party is swerving somewhat toward the conservative side after a long adventure in what many of its members have been pleased to call "liberalism."

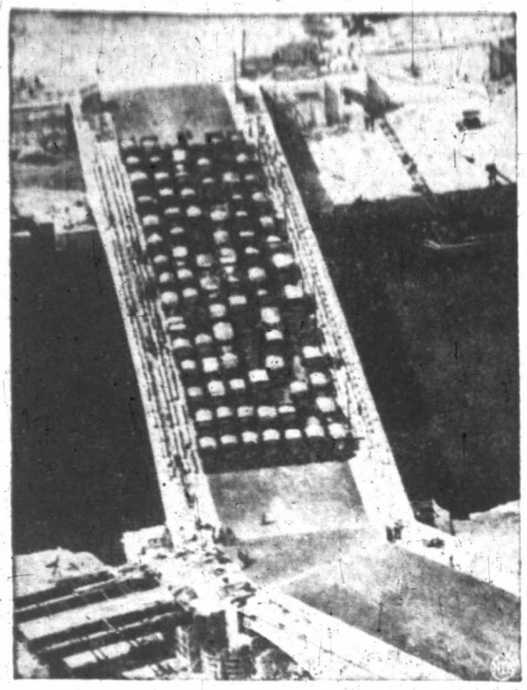

Not that Stevenson doesn't support many of the "Fair Deal" proposals of the Truman Administration. But he has stressed that he is no "big government" man, no advocate of what he termed "socialization" of the nation.

The hard facts of the convention which ended Saturday are that no one element of the party could claim sole responsibility for his nomination nor could any contend it had advance commitments from the Illinois governor.

The party's progressive elements gave their backing to Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and to Averell Harriman of New York until Harriman was told to get out of the unequal contest by President Truman.

That much Truman had to do with it. But politicians believed the President recognized that, under the circumstances, the only man he could afford to support was Stevenson.

This left the Illinois governor with no strong ties to the present administration. And he has indicated that he won't hesitate to admit its failures and promise to do something about them.

HEAVY-DUTY BRIDGE—One hundred fully loaded trucks roll across the new Corneille Bridge over the Seine River at Rouen, to prove the strength of the new span connecting the two sections of the city. The $3,000,000 structure, which connects the two sections of the city, is the largest welded steel bridge in the world. It is 580 feet long and 96 feet, four inches wide.

Steel Workers Ordered Back To Work; All Issues Settled

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Philip Murray of the CIO steelworkers union finally ordered his 680,000 men back to work in the mills and mines Saturday with an announcement that the last issue in the steel strike had been settled.

Murray said "complete agreement" had been reached between the union and the steel industry. Union spokesmen added that this means some blast furnaces will be fired almost immediately.

Basic terms for settling the 55-day-old strike were agreed on at the White House Thursday and ratified by the steelworkers' Policy Committee here Friday.

But a last-minute dispute involving 23,000 iron ore workers, mostly in Minnesota, unexpectedly delayed the march back to work across the nation.

These workers had received a pledge that their wage scales would be adjusted by next July 1 to make the increased pay between each class of work equal to the differential received by mill workers.

The terms of this adjustment were not stated, however, and it was this question which caused union leaders to delay the return-to-work order.

After the CIO Policy Committee approved the White House agreement, there were hopes that steel would be flowing over the weekend to replenish the nation's civilian and defense economy. But picket lines were maintained Saturday while negotiators worked on the wage details for the iron workers.

Murray said his men would return to the job as they were called by their employers.

The longest steel strike in the country's history started on June 2, minutes after the Supreme Court ruled illegal President Truman's seizure of the steel industry.

As the grip of the strike tightened on the nation's economy, thousands of workers outside the steel industry were laid off and many plants important to the defense industry were forced to close for lack of steel.

IKE REVEALS HIS OPINION

DENVER —(AP)— Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said Saturday night the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket nominated by the Democrats can offer the country only a one-plank platform—defense of the entire Truman Administration period.

Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee, spoke out shortly after the Democratic National Convention adjourned.

Eisenhower's statement came as he made ready to map campaign strategy at a conference Sunday with the GOP vice presidential nominee, Senator Richard Nixon of California.

Vichy Ambassador Released By French

PARIS —(AP)— Georges Scapini, blind former Vichy ambassador to Germany on matters concerning prisoners of war, has been acquitted of acting against the national defense.

Scapini, 59, was tried in absentia and condemned to five years of forced labor in 1949. He had taken refuge in Switzerland and was not returned to France until last June to face a new trial before a military tribunal. Sent to Germany during the war to try to obtain better treatment of French prisones, he was accused of having pomoted the use of the pisoners in German war industries.

Democrat Nominee Asks National Staff To Stay In Office

CHICAGO —(AP)— Gov. Adlai Stevenson Saturday asked Chairman Frank McKinney and all members of the staff of the Democratic National Committee to stay in office temporarily.

Stevenson, the new Democratic presidential nominee, surprised the 108-member committee by appearing in person just as it was organizing.

He said he will be "utterly dependent" upon the National Committee, because he has almost "no organization" and said his "acquaintance is limited."

"I suggest that Chairman McKinney and the rest of the staff continue temporarily until we have an opportunity to catch our breath and have an opportunity to explore the situation."

Ark Of LeTourneau Departs For Liberia

VICKSBURG, MISS —(AP)— The Ark of LeTourneau sailed Saturday for the Liberian jungles with missionaries to teach the natives modern farming and Christianity.

About 50 or 75 friends and relatives of 12 technical missionaries aboard the gospel vessel waved as the craft slid into the Mississippi River at 8:30 a.m. for the trip to Africa.

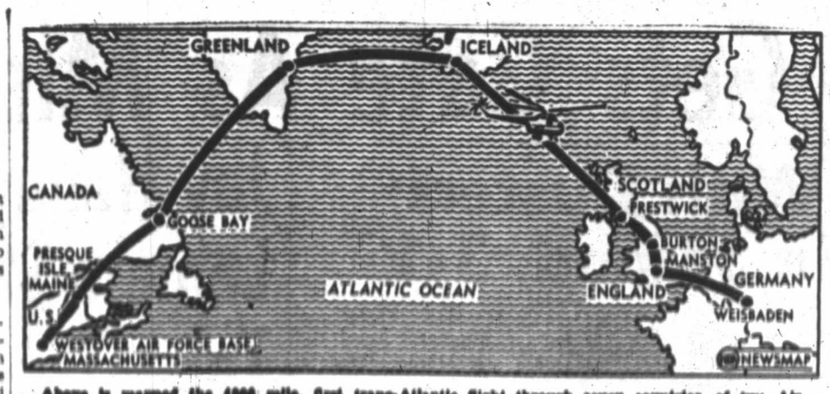

The vessel will stop at New Orleans for a final check-up.

The vessel, a converted navy landing craft, originally was scheduled to sail last Saturday after it was blessed by Evangelist Billy Graham, but the departure was prevented by loading problems.

The technical missionaries and a cargo of heavy equipment to clear the jungle and turn it into rich farmland will teach the natives Christianity and show them modern methods of farming.

Eva Peron Dies; Colorful Career Ends For Argentine

BUENOS AIRES —(AP)— Mrs. Eva Peron, Argentina's blonde first lady and non-official political power in the regime of President Juan D. Peron, died Saturday night after a lingering illness. Her age was listed officially as 30.

She never recovered fully from an operation performed here last November with a New York cancer specialist in attendance.

The cause of death was not confirmed as cancer, however, during her long illness.

The Argentina national radio announced in a nation-wide broadcast that she died at 8:25 p.m.

The dynamic wife of President Peron who worked hard both at being glamorous and at swaying the nation's "descamisados" (shirtless ones), was perhaps the most powerful woman in Western Hemisphere domestic politics.

Argentina's first lady challenged Argentine tradition that the woman's place was in the home, but was woman-like enough to conceal her age. Argentina's Who's Who listed her birth date as May 7, 1922, but she was believed to be three years older than that.

A poor, untutored provincial girl whose romance blossomed into political power, she was a real-life Cinderella for millions of workers, nursing mothers and hovel-dwellers whose adulation propelled her calculating star.

Her soaring rise was cut short last Fall by an illness described by her doctors as acute anemia. On November 6 she underwent a major jor operation after an examination by an eminent cancer and tumor specialist, Dr. George Pack of New York.

EVA PERON
Career is closed.

The specific condition that made the operation necessary was never announced and the same mystery surrounded it that attached to many phases of her career.

Mrs. Peron resumed her public appearances in February, but her heavy program of activities never was fully resumed.

Since June 20 the public had been prepared for bad news concerning her. Then the Ministry of Education requested all teachers and pupils to pray for her recovery.

On July 9, a government spokesman announced that her condition was unsatisfactory and disclosed she had been ordered to take a complete rest.

The Peronista-dominated House of Representatives on June 26 voted unanimously to erect a costly monument to her in downtown Buenos Aires. In three weeks of discussions, 59 deputies eulogized the wife of the President.

Evita (Little Eva), as the people called her, was the daughter of a poor Basque mother and Argentine father, Juan Duarte. Her father died when she was a child, and she left her three sisters and brother in her home village in Buenos Aires Province when she was in her teens to seek fame as an actress in the nation's capital.

She won several small bit parts in movies and finally landed a job as a radio actress at about $45 a month.

At one of the studio parties she met Peron in the Fall of 1943 when he was minister of labor and the rising "strong man" in the military government. They were married secretly in October, 1945, when Peron became an avowed candidate for president.

10 Texas Congressmen Get Free Rides In '52 Campaign

By The Associated Press

Veteran Rep. Paul J. Kilday of San Antonio heads a list of 10 congressmen from Texas who—barring unforeseen Republican opposition—take their seats in the next Congress without a campaign.

To members of the House, who must stand for reelection every two years, is regarded not only as a compliment to their record, but as an economic godsend. Campaigns are expensive.

Opposition to reelection does not always mean the Congressman has not done outstanding work in the performance of his duties. Some live in districts where sharply drawn political lines almost guarantee continual opposition.

Neither is an unopposed reelection always complimentary. Some Congressmen represent districts where public apathy is so great that incumbents stay in office term after term.

Kilday, 52-year-old native of Sabinal in Uvalde County, seeks his eighth term from Bexar County, the 20th Congressional District. Highly regarded by other members of the Texas delegation, he is a high-ranking member of the House Armed Services committee.

San Antonio's big Army and Air Force centers make Kilday's committee post highly important to his constituents. Here is a powerful Democratic member of the armed services committee with some of the nation's greatest military installations virtually in his back yard.

Unopposed Veterans

Two other Congressional veterans unopposed this year are Albert Thomas of Houston and George H. Mahon of Colorado City. Harris County composes all of Thomas' heavily populated Eighth District. Mahon's 18th District is made up of 26 counties in the High Plains area surrounding Lubbock.

Mahon has been in Congress since 1934, and at the age of 51 is an influential member of the all-important House Appropriations Committee. He supported much of the legislation that enabled the U. S. to build itself into a world power, but in recent years has plugged consistently for government economy. He has been an untiring critic of government waste.

Thomas, 54, is a tall, distinguished-appearing native of Nacogdoches, has been in Congress since 1936, and like Mahon is a member of the appropriations committee which controls the nations purse strings.

Thomas has kept himself above partisan bickering. Despite his staunch support of the Administration in many controversial affairs, he has—for the most part—kept satisfied a large labor constituency and a heavy representative of capital and industry in a district where Republicans are numerous.

Teague Staged Upset

Next in point of seniority among those without opposition is Olin E. Teague, 42, of College Station. A combat infantry colonel during World War II, Teague is a member of the Veterans Affairs committee, the District of Columbia Committee, and was chairman of a committee investigating educational provisions of the GI Bill of Rights.

Teague upset political stalwarts to first gain his seat. They included the late Tom Tyson, Democratic Party big-wig from Corsicana, and the late Judge Fountain Kirby of Fairfield.

Tyson led the ticket by a substantial count, but withdrew before the runoff election to hand the seat to Teague. Teague, who campaigned on his war record, took the most during the closing days of the 79th Congress. Since then, with no serious opposition, Teague has championed veterans legislation but has criticized abuse of the GI bills.

Rep. J. Frank Wilson, strongly anti-Administration, runs unopposed after defeating radio entertainer Jimmy Jefferies two years ago. Wilson, mustachioed Navarro County native, first took office after the retirement of Rep. Hatton Sumners of Dallas.

Wilson opposed Sumners unsuccessfully two years before his election when he drew the veteran congressman's endorsement. He is regarded as one of the delegation's staunchest conservatives.

Regan Of Midland

Rep. Ken Regan, Midland rancher-oilman, seeks a third term. The 59-year-old Regan, reputedly wealthy, succeeded R. Ewing Thomason of El Paso, now West Texas Federal district judge.

Rep. Walter Rogers, Pampa lawyer, seeks his second term. He won the seat formerly held by Republican Ben Guill of Pampa who succeeded Rep. Eugene Worley of Shamrock, who resigned to become a federal judge in Washington.

Rep. Frank N. Ikard, 38, appointee of the late Gov. Beauford Jester to a district judgeship, is running for his first full term unopposed. He was elected to fill the unexpired term of Rep. E. D. Gossett who resigned the post to become general counsel for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Rep. Lloyd M. Bentsen, Jr., 31, son of a prominent Rio Grande Valley family, runs unopposed for his third term. The youngest member of the Texas delegation, he and the chic Mrs. Bentsen are popular in Washington society. Bentsen succeeded the late Rep. Milton West of Brownsville.

An Administration Democrat, Rep. Homer Thornberry, is unopposed for his third term. Thornberry won the seat from a large field of candidates who announced when Lyndon Johnson resigned it to run for U. S. Senate.

Stevenson Expected To Resign Office, Touch Off Wrangle

CHICAGO—(AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson, newly chosen Democratic candidate for the presidency, is expected to resign as governor within the next few weeks. His resignation will mean a scramble among several Democrats seeking the Democratic Illinois gubernatorial nomination in November.

Under state law he will be succeeded by Lt. Gov. Sherwood Dixon, one of those reported likely to seek the vacated governorship nomination on the Democratic ballot. Other hopefuls are:

Edward J. Barrett, Illinois secretary of state; Cook County (Chicago) Clerk Richard J. Daley; former U. S. Senator Scott W. Lucas; former state Attorney General John E. Cassidy; and Dr. Karl Meyer, Chicago surgeon and former University of Illinois Board of Trustees president.

125 War Casualties On List; No Texans

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Defense Department identified 125 battle casualties in a new Korean War list (No. 633) Saturday.

It reported 10 killed, 103 wounded, one missing and 11 injured.

Rangers Join Hunt For Men Who Slew Presidio Merchant

PRESIDIO —(AP)— Texas Rangers, border patrolmen and local officers swept into the search Saturday for the attackers who savagely beat to death a middle-aged Presidio merchant.

The body of J. H. Kahlmore, owner of a general merchandise store, was found Friday tied to a chair, with severe wounds about the head.

Two heavy bolts were found nearby.

A safe, reportedly containing $1,900, had been opened and ransacked.

Acting Coroner W. T. Chaftain returned a verdict of death as the result of a beating by a blunt instrument.

Investigating authorities opened another safe in the store which, they said, had been known only to Kahlmore and his family.

They did not disclose its contents, but indicated it contained more money than the safe that was opened. They theorized that the second safe was the one being sought by bandits.

Sparkman Visited Midland On War Committee Junket

Senator John Sparkman of Alabama, who Saturday was named the Democratic vice presidential candidate at the Chicago convention, visited Midland early in the World War II years as a member of the Senate war expenditures investigating committee.

President Truman, then a senator from Missouri, headed the committee, the members of which flew to Midland with Congressman R. E. Thomason of El Paso, now a federal judge for this West Texas district.

Texas Delegation Stands By Russell

CHICAGO — (AP) — The Texas delegation plunked its state standard down by its side and stuck tight to Senator Richard Russell of Georgia at the Democratic Convention Saturday.

Three times the delegation cast its 52 votes for Russell. It never changed.

Shivers stood up in a chair in front of his delegation and yelled: "All right if we stick with Russell?"

"That's right — we're sticking," they yelled back.

But it was pretty much mechanical — zombie-like persons going through the motions because it is expected of them although they were so weary from long overtime sessions they couldn't put on any blazing show of spirit.

Delegates had spent most of their energy in two marathon stretchouts in which they put up 11 men for the presidential nomination and then picked Stevenson from among them.

Truman Blows In

Truman introduced Stevenson—a man who seemed a bit awed and overwhelmed by the nomination.

"I hope and pray," Stevenson said, "that we Democrats, win or lose, can campaign not as a crusade to exterminate the opposing party, as our opponents seem to prefer, but as a great opportunity to educate and elevate a people whose destiny is leadership, not alone of a rich, prosperous, contented country as in the past, but of a world in ferment."

The delegates—those still in town and able to make it—handed the vice presidential nomination to the Alabama senator Saturday afternoon after women in the party paid a complimentary gesture to Mrs. India Edwards of Maryland, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and Judge Sarah Hughes of Dallas.

Appear Together

The names of the women were put in nomination as a complimentary gesture and promptly withdrawn so Sparkman's nomination could be unanimous.

Stevenson and Sparkman then appeared on the convention rostrum together. With a joshing reference to the stockyards setting of the convention amphitheater, the governor told the delegates that in the last week they had inspected "some of the finest political livestock in the United States." Sparkman, he said was the "prize" of them all and he presented his running mate "for your approbation."

Sparkman is a non-smoking, non-drinking man. But he does chew gum. And the Stevenson speech was so short he had to get rid of a stick of it hastily before he could hop into his own brisk acceptance address.

Convention Speaker Sam Rayburn looked around, decided the convention had run out of business, pronounced it adjourned.

Indians Split Pair With Dusters; Lose First, 6-5; Win Second, 3-1

Playing their last games under Manager Zeke Bonura, the Midland Indians gained a split in a twin bill here Saturday night when rookie Herbie Dwire twirled a neat five hitter to subdue the visitors, 3-1, in the nightcap after the Dusters had trimmed the Indians, 6-5, in the opener.

Dwire had a shutout going until the seventh inning but Vernon Shortstop Popeyo Garerras led off with a single, took second on Scooter Hughes' error and went to third on Dwires' wild pitch. Goldy Gholson scored him then on a solid hit to right centerfield.

In the nightcap, Midland scored a run in the second inning on hits by Bill Brown and Scooter Hughes and an error by Duster leftfielder Art Neal.

They tacked up another lone run in the third when Earl Bossenberry reached first on a fielder's choice, stole second and scored on a single by Manuel Temes. Their final run came in the sixth frame when Pat O'Keefe doubled and scored on Hughes single.

In the opening game, the Dusters launched an 11-hit attack against Eddie Jacome, bunching the hits for three runs in the third inning and three in the fifth frame.

Midland rallied for two runs in the fourth, one in the fifth and two in the sixth. The Tribe uprising was quiled when Duster Relief Pitcher Lefty Wallis came on with two away in the sixth inning to retire the first man to face him. He then set the side down in order in the seventh to protect the victory for Starting Hurler Jesus Sosa.

Scooter Hughes socked a roundtripper, his second of the year, in the sixth inning with one man on.

Plate Umpire Steve Sadowski was temporarily knocked unconscious in the sixth inning of the first game when he was struck in the neck by a foul tip off the bat of pinch-hitter Woody Pennington.

Midland hurler Ed Santa was plate umpire for the remainder of the first game and Israel Ten umpired the bases during the second contest.

The Indians were to remain idle Sunday but they will entertain the Sweetwater Braves here Monday night.

Drillers Rap Odessa, 11-4, To End Slump

ARTESIA — (AP) — The Artesia Drillers snapped a four game losing streak with an 11-4 bombing of the league leading Odessa Oilers in the first of a two game series here Saturday night.

Rooster Mills, coming on in relief in the first inning, limited the hard hitting Oilers to only five hits the rest of the game to notch the win.

Oiler Starter Fred Parker, working only one and two third innings, took the defeat.

The Drillers wrapped up the game with a five run outburst in the second inning. They padded their margin with three in the second, one in the seventh. And Big Joe Bauman boosted his home run total to 32 for the year with a circuit clout with a mate aboard for Artesia in the sixth.

San Angelo Gets Braves' Scalplock In 7-6 Turnabout

SWEETWATER —(AP)— The San Angelo Colts took advantage of six Sweetwater errors here Saturday night to tally six unearned runs and defeat the Braves, 7-6.

The Colts trailed by a 4-0 score going into the sixth inning when two Sweetwater errors and four safeties enabled the visitors to have to lead to 4-3.

Sweetwater committed four mistakes in the seventh and Manager Mark Christman delivered a timely two-run single as the Colts forged ahead, 7-4. Sweetwater scored twice in the eighth and had the tying run on third base with no one out when Relief Pitcher Clarence Tinkler saved Cotton Russell's tenth victory.

Tinkler made Manager Johnny Morris hit into a double play and struck out Kenny Hughes to leave Sweetwater's potential tying run on third.

Charlie Buck hit a bases-empty home run for Sweetwater in the third. His sixteenth triple of the season had given the Braves a 2-0 lead in the first inning.

Sweetwater picked up its fourth run in the fourth inning on a triple by Hughes and Dean Higgins' single. Gil Grajeda replaced Higgins in the seventh but his teammates' error deprived him of the win.

Parra Hurls Rockets To Win Over Broncs

BIG SPRING—(AP)—Daniel Parra, left-handed the Big Spring Bronco into submission as the Roswell Rockets won the first of a two-game series here Saturday night by a score of 5-1.

Wayne Crawford's second-inning home run with Elwood Grantham up front was the only working margin Parra needed.

The visitors added an insurance run in the fourth, however, when Crawford, after doubling, came home on Al Monchak's single, and two more in the ninth on hits by Monchak, Frank Calo, Van Huppert and Bobby Lemmel.

Parra missed his shutout when Juan Visteur singled and went all the way to third, from where he crossed the plate on a two-baser off the bat of Al Costa.

Tigers Do It Again; Homer Beats Yanks, 10-8, In 11th

DETROIT—(AP)—Steve Souchock, part-time Detroit Tiger outfielder, crushed the New York Yanks Saturday with his last-minute, home-run bat for the second time in 18 hours. Pinch-hitting Couchock powered a bases-loaded homer in the last of the 11th with one out to give the Tigers a 10-8 victory.

Saturday night he boomed a nine inning homer to beat the Yankees 2-1. The blow handed the Yankees their fourth straight defeat, first time this season the league leaders have slumped that far.

Lefthander Ted Gray gave up 13 hits, including Mickey Mantle's bases-loaded homer in the first, as he pitched his ninth victory against 10 defeats.

The Tigers, who for the first time this season came up with a three-game winning streak, had to come from behind twice to do it.

Souchock's homer came on a two-ball, one strike count with reliefer Bob Hogue hurling. Johnny Groth walked, Joe Ginsberg doubled inside first base and pinch-hitter Don Kolloway got an intentional pass that filled the bases. It was Souchock's seventh home run.

The revamped Tigers combined sharp fielding with a 16-hit attack off starter Vic Raschi, Johnny Sain and Hogue. Detroit came from behind in the fourth to tie it 4-4 and again in the eighth at 6-6.

Jay Haney, Former Lamesa Skipper, To Take Over Monday

Decision to let out Bonura was recorded in a meeting of the directors last Thursday, ironically on the day he was announced as manager of the West All-Stars. Haney sat in the box with Club President Marion Flynt and Business Manager Horace Busby Friday night as the East All-Stars downed the West, 8-2.

Flynt called Bonura's dismissal an economy move. The former major league star holds a contract calling for $7,500 a year plus traveling expenses in seeking players. Haney is to get $500 monthly. He is expected to be in the lineup in his role as playing manager.

Bonura received the thumb at the conclusion of the Saturday night doubleheader with Vernon. Haney had watched the games from the stands. The Tribe is idle Sunday and Haney will make his debut as pilot Monday night, when the Tribe will play Sweetwater in Indian Park.

The vote on changing managers was reported by Flynt to be 8 to 1. Another source said 6 to 2. At least five meetings have been held by the directorate to consider Bonura's plight.

Haney, 32, comes to Midland from Abilene, where he has been playing with the Blue Sox in the West Texas-New Mexico League. He plays second base or the outfield. Haney joined the Sox after managing Lamesa in the same circuit.

Bonura took over June 17, 1951, as playing manager for the Indians. His selection had been announced two days previously, when Midland fans bought the club from Harold Webb, who had held the Midland franchise since the inception of the Longhorn League. Midland stockholders paid $23,446.76. The outright sale price was $20,000 with $3,446.76 added for equipment following an inventory.

Outstanding Manager

"I feel we are very fortunate to land Bonura," Tex Carleton, temporary general manager, said in announcing Bonura's acceptance.

Zeke Bonura

"He is a good worker and I am sure he will prove to be a worthy manager."

Bonura proved to be an outstanding pilot. The Indians won 30 of the last 40 games in the 1951 season and climbed from the cellar to fifth place under his guidance.

Bonura performed eight years in the major leagues, playing with the Chicago White Sox, Washington Senators, Chicago Cubs and New York Giants.

Bonura hit 32 home runs for the White Sox in 1937. He had gone to the major league from Dallas, where he established hitting records for the Texas League.

Upon his return from the service in 1946, piloted the Minneapolis team in the American Association. Later, at Stanford, Conn., his clubs won the Class B pennants in 1947 and 1948.

Bonura helped organize the Border League in Canada and piloted the Kingston entry until the pressure of business interests forced him to return to New Orleans. It was from his business pursuits that Bonura was called to resurrect the crumbling Indians.

New Skipper For Indians Boasts Career Of Victory

Jay Haney, who is to take over the reins of the Midland Indian ball club Monday, never has played on nor managed a losing ball club during his 12-year baseball career.

Breaking into organized ball in 1939 with Lamesa of the WT-NM League, Haney slapped the ball at a .318 clip in his rookie year while playing center field.

In 1940, Haney hit only .240 but did not complete the season due to a sinus infection. In 1941, he was sold to Big Spring, then owned by the Brooklyn organization. The Big Spring club was in the WT-NM League then.

Franchise Moved

In 1942, the Big Spring franchise was moved to Lamesa. The new Indian skipper went to Spring training at Santa Barbara, Calif., but he was sent back to Lamesa and ultimately wound up in the Navy when world War II broke out.

He served in the athletic department of the Navy, and played ball almost the entire time he was in service from Nov. 9, 1942, to Oct. 19, 1945.

However, before he entered the service, the West Texas-New Mexico League folded and Haney was sent by the Brooklyn organization to Olean, N. Y., in the Pony League, where he finished out the season, batting .305.

Upon release from the Navy, Haney went to Spring training with the Dodgers but was farmed out to Fort Worth in the Texas League. He hit .272 with the Cats and his team again won the pennant.

Haney played with Tulsa in the Texas League during 1947-48, hitting .266 and .247, respectively, for the two years.

From there he took over the management of the Lamesa club in 1949 and steered them into the playoffs, while hitting .366 and swatting 20 home runs. Lamesa lost the league title that year by dropping the final game.

League Title Lost

In 1950 and 1951, the Lamesa nine under Haney also made the playoffs, but again lost the elusive league title.

During the last three years, Haney has moved from his outfield post to second base. In 1952, he started the season managing the Lamesa squad but went from there to Abilene as a player. He was hitting around .340 up until the time the Indians obtained him.

The new Midland manager is married and has two sons, six and two years of age.

Indians Trip Cards, 9-6; Win City Little Loop Championship

The North Little League Indians Saturday downed the South Little League Cardinals to win the Midland City Little League Championship.

In contrast to the two previous games which were decided by slim one-run margins in extra innings, Saturday's contest was strictly the Indians, almost from the start.

They recorded one run in the first frame, four in the second one in the third and one in the fourth, before the Cards could make a mark on the scoreboard.

The losers finally rallied for five runs in the fourth frame but they received goose eggs for the two remaining innings to drop the contest.

Giants Win, 7-2, As Jansen Shines

NEW YORK—(AP)—Larry Jansen extended his winning streak over Cincinnati to 12 games Saturday as he pitched the New York Giants to a 7-2 victory over the Reds.

Hank Thompson decided the issue in the fifth inning when he hammered a grand-slam home run. It was Thompson's fourteenth homer of the season and his second jackpot wallop.

Jansen, unbeaten by Cincinnati since Aug. 29, 1948, scattered nine hits in posting his eleventh victory of the season.

Jansen walked to start the big rally in the fifth. One out later, Al Dark and Whitey Lockman singled to set the stage for Thompson's base-clearing clout.

The homer was the twentieth yielded by Herm Wehmeier. Bobby Thomson was then hit by a pitched ball. He stole second as Dusty Rhodes struck out and scored on Sal Yvars single. Jansen flew out to end the inning.

Mathias, Iness Owe Stardom To Ex-Gridder

TULARE, Calif. —(NEA)— A high school track coach who played only football at Washington State College rates an indirect nod for the strength of the 1952 American Olympic team.

"If it hadn't been for Virgil Jackson of Tulare High," said discuss star Sam Iness, "I wouldn't have made the team, and Bob Mathias wouldn't be the world decathlon champ.

"As sophomores, before Jackson took over, the coach had me throwing the discuss with a bent elbow and Bob running the hurdles flat-footed.

"We'd never have gotten out of the rut if Jackson hadn't straightened us out.

Midland Fighters Win One, Lose One On Odessa Card

By COPE ROUTH
Reporter-Telegram Staff Writer

ODESSA—Big, handsome Marshall Patton of Midland came rearing out of his corner here Friday night with a couple of dynamite-packed fists which blasted his way to the heavyweight championship of the District Texas Amateur Athletic Federation Boxing Tournament.

The rangy six-foot-four former Oklahoma A&M College football player, who works in Midland as an oil well supply company salesman, won the crown with a split decision over Odessa's Clyde Wright.

Marshall Patton

It was the only victory for the Midlanders as little Chili Reeves laid himself down peacefully and went to sleep in the second round of his semi-final flyweight bout with Donald Barnett of Wichita Falls.

In one of the most exciting bouts of the night, in the tournament sponsored by The Odessa American, Patton was the slugging aggressor all the way.

Went Down Once

In the second round, Wright went down once for the count of eight and in the final round, he slipped down once and was hanging on desperately in the final round.

In winning his bout, Patton joined seven other district champions who will compete in the state championship tournament in Fort Worth.

Bantamweight—Dickie Don Wood of Wichita Falls, whose lightning left jab and slugging right carried him to a decision over Bennie Davis of Monahans.

Featherweight—Raymond Garcie of Wichita Falls, a terrific slugger, who won a unanimous decision over El Paso's Lupe Rodrigues.

Lightweight—Robert Rigsby of Odessa, who climbed off the canvas in the first round to pile up enough points in the last two to gain a unanimous decision over Rex Maxwell of Odessa.

Welterweight—Bobby Goforth of Wichita Falls, who won an unpopular split decision over Cotton Fowler, the blond-haired hurricane from McCamey, who carried the fight all the way.

Lightweight—Nick Popich of El Paso, who was badly outpointed in the first two rounds, but bounced back in the third with a furious attack which carried him to a split decision over Ronald Rhodes of Abilene.

Carl Furillo of the Dodgers posted the identical home run and runs-batted-in mark in 1949 and 1950. He hit 18 homers and batted in 106 runs.

JayCees To Clash With Colts Sunday

The Midland JayCees will meet the Latin American Colts at 3 p.m. Sunday, going into the scrap with Kermit's scalp in their belts after a 16-4 victory.

It gave Catcher Al Allison a perfect day at the plate with four singles in four trips. Vernon Selle, who had the Kermit outfield shifting far to the left, smacked four hits in five trips; one a two-run homer.

King Ranch Entry Captures $152,350 Arlington Handicap

CHICAGO —(AP)— King Ranch's To Market won the $152,350 Arlington Handicap by about 10 lengths Saturday with Oil Capitol second, Ruhe third and Pet Bully fourth in the field of 10.

To Market, ridden by Jockey Willie Boland, ran the mile and a furlong in 1:52 1-5.

The winner went to the post a 2 to 1 favorite and returned $6.00, $3.40 and $3.20. The place and show prices on Oil Capitol were $3.00 and $3.20.

The winner's share of the record purse was $107,050.

The handicap lost much of its appeal with the scratching of Spartan Valor, Blue Man and three other entries.

Albert (Red) Schoendienst of the Cardinals led the National League in stolen bases (26) in 1945, his freshman year in the majors.

SPORTS NOTES from the BENCH JOCKEY

By BOB ADAMS

When Zeke Bonura was dismissed as head man of the Midland Indians, he became the third Longhorn League manager to get the axe this season.

Chet Fowler felt the blow first at Vernon and just last week, Sweetwater Manager Alex Carrasquel was booted out of the job with the Braves.

The fact that the Midland Indian board of directors elected to let the Zeeker go at this time comes as quite a surprise. His dismissal had been brewing for some time though and the final vote was 8-1 to replace him.

One of the biggest surprises in the Olympics so far has been the strength of the Russian basketball team.

Will Grimsley, an Associated Press writer wrote from Helsinki Saturday, "There's no need kidding—the Russians are impressive. Sharp, fast, seemingly tireless, they walloped a feeble Hungarian team, 74-46."

And Warren Womble, U. S. head basketball coach, told Grimsley, "We think the Russians have the best team we've seen here."

Dr. Forest (Phog) Allen, University of Kansas Coach who is assisting Womble, said the Russians are finely trained, well versed in fundamentals and very good on short passes.

"I don't know how good they'll do when they get up against a team that knows how to deal with those passes," the doctor added.

Come Monday night, Rocky Marciano and Harry Matthews will stage what is expected to be one of the greatest heavyweight brawls of this period.

Both men have sizzling records behind them and one of the fighters stands to have his bid for the bigtime snuffed out or knocked out.

Bob Mathias Sets Record In Olympic Decathlon Win

HELSINKI—(AP)—Bob Mathias of Tulare, Calif., won the Olympic decathlon Saturday night, shattering his own world record for this supreme test of all-round athletic prowess, and an unknown Luxembourg chemical engineer won the spotlighted 1,500 meters on this damp, second-last day of the carnival's track program.

Mathias, winner of the 1948 Olympic decathlon laurels as a 17-year old youth, scored 7,887 points in the gruelling two-day, 10-event competition which only the world's best athletes try.

Milton Campbell, a New Jersey schoolboy, was second with 6,975 points while Floyd Simmons of Pasadena, Calif., was third with 6,788. This one-two-three U. S. sweep shunted Vladimir Volko of Russia, to fourth place with 6,674.

The decathlon record, the twenty-fourth Olympic mark set in the games whose track phase comes to an end Sunday, was set by Mathias four years ago. His world record of 7,825 points was set at the recent Olympic trials.

Bob McMillen of Occidental College almost brought the United States another track first in the 1,500 meter, or metric mile, which went to Joseph Barthel of Luxembourg.

McMillen, who caught up with Barthel on the final stride, and the winner were given exactly the same time of 3:45.2, which is the equivalent of running a mile in 4.03 or better.

Eight Smash Old Mark

And so great was the field in this race, which lured 70,000 fans to Helsinki's soggy stadium, that the eight finishers were under the Olympic record of 3:47.8 set by the immortal Jack Lovelock of New Zealand.

The day's other record was set by big, blonde Galina Zybina of Russia. She threw the shot 15.8 meters (50 feet, 2.58 inches). Other records tumbled in swimming and weightlifting.

After the day's competition had been completed Russia held the overall team lead with 392 1/2 points followed by the United States with 284, Hungary had 110, Sweden 100 1/2 and Germany 76.

AGAIN A WINNER—Bob Mathias, U. S. contestant, jumps in the broad jump event in Olympic Stadium, on his way to a new decathlon record of 7,887 points.

Texan Grid Squad Set For Workouts

DALLAS—(AP)—The first contingent of Dallas professional football players went to Kerrville in the South Texas Hill Country Saturday to open practice.

Thirteen backs, ends and centers were in the group. The remainder, except for two who will play with the College All-Stars at Chicago August 16, will report in Kerrville next Friday with workouts for the entire group starting August 3.

The Dallas Texans have 63 players on the roster. The squad will be cut to 33—the player limit—for the opening National Football League game September 28.

Cecil Isbell and Will Walls, assistant coaches with Saturday's contingent. Head Coach Jimmy Phelan will go there with the main body August 1.

These players left Saturday for Kerrville:

Halfbacks—Jerome Davis, Southeastern Louisiana; Bob Finnell, Xavier, and Buddy Young, Illinois.

Isbell said this group was reporting early because he wanted to work with the quarterbacks ahead of the others. The centers and other backs are being taken along so the quarterbacks will have somebody to work with.

Isbell said he knew little about the men on the Texan roster, which includes many rookies, "but I'll have a good opinion in two or three days as to what kind of team we're going to have."

Air Force Major Wins Top Skeet Honors In National

DALLAS—(AP)—An Air Force major edged out a Marine Corps captain to take the crown of the fifteenth National Skeet Shoot here Saturday, after an unprecedented 225-target shootoff.

Maj. Harry B. Trimble, 32, of Greenville, Texas, stationed at Hickham Base, Honolulu, broke 475 stratight targets over a three-day period to win the championship.

The next most coveted title—the high-overall, based on the best composite score with all four skeet guns and extending over 550 rounds, went to Lewis Gordon of Texarkana, Ark. Gordon finished with 540 x 550.

Only one new record—also a world record—was written into the books.

Jimmy Clark, the sensational, 16-year-old sharpshooter from Bartlesville, Okla., established a new junior high mark. His 538 x 550 broke by nine targets the four-gun total established last year by Angelo Spicola of Tampa, Fla.

Nancy Burrus, Dallas, started slowly but finished in high to win both the all-gauge and high-overall titles in the women's division, besting Mrs. L. S. Amburgey of Odessa in both.

Texas Team Is Tops

Only two targets off the world mark was the Texas team which won the open five-man team event with a blazing 1,238 x 1,250. Members were Fred Alford, Sr., and Henry Adler of Dallas, K. C. Miller of Tyler, Grant Ilseng of Houston and Charles Poulton of San Antonio.

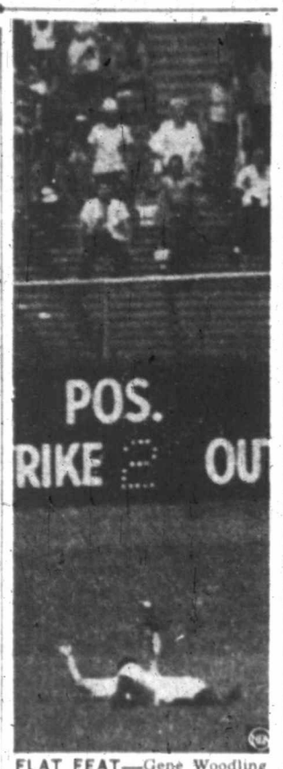

The two-man all-gauge team title went to a pair from Arkansas, Lewis Gordon of Texarkana and John Shock of Little Rock, at 498 x 500, one bird off the record.

Other titlists included:

Bauman's Big Bat Still Is Tops In Longhorn League

Artesia's Joe Bauman last week still was situated on top of the batters in the Longhorn League with his .386 average. The Artesia slugger also led in total bases with 221 and in RBI's with 96.

San Angelo's John Tayoan moved into the runnerup spot with a mark of .375 while Midland's Pat O'Keefe still was holding down third place with a .370 average. Tayoan is leading the league in hits with 139.

Lea Eastham of Odessa leads in stolen bases with 27, followed by Scooter Hughes, who has 24.

Other individual leaders include the following: 3B—Charlie Buck, Sweetwater and Roman Loyko, tied with 15 each; 2B—Rudy Briner, Artesia, 41.

Leading the pitchers in strikeouts is Gil Guerra of Big Spring with 155. Guerra recently has overtaken Midland's Keith Nicolls who had led the league in strikeouts most of the season. Nicolls now has 148.

IS THIS TRIP NECESSARY?—Jim Owens, pitcher-outfielder for the Midland Pony League All-Stars, might well be asking himself this question after slapping out a weak grounder in a Midland-Odessa All-Star tilt. Owens was thrown out by several steps but as it turned out his run was not needed anyway. His team piled up 15 runs in the third inning of the game wallop Odessa, 19 to 6.

Florida Lad Wins National Junior Golf Championship

NEW HAVEN, CONN. —(AP)— Big Don Bisplinghoff of Orlando, Fla., fingering a lucky silver dollar whenever the going became rough, Saturday won the national junior golf title. He beat plucky Eddie Meyerson of Los Angeles, 2-up, in a stirring 18-hole final.

To get into the playoff tussle, Bisplinghoff had to knock off the 1951 champion, Tommy Jacobs of Montebello, Calif., 3 and 2, and Myerson had to eliminate Peter Geyer of Monterey, Calif., 4 and 2, in semi-final tests Saturday morning.

Midland's entries in the tourney were beaten Thursday. Ray Leggett, Jr., fell before David Forbes of Monroe, Wis., 1-up in the second round.

Marcelino Moreno gained a second-round decision over Jack Voyda of Hinsdale, Ill., 4 and 3, and then bowed to Terry Temple of Peru, Ind., by the same score.

U. S. Netters Sew Up Second-Round Davis Cup Berth

CINCINNATI —(AP)— The veteran doubles combination of Billy Talbert of New York and Gardner Mulloy of Miami, Fla., Saturday steered the United States into the second round of 1952 Davis Cup tennis competition.

Talbert and Mulloy, looking like anything but the nation's No. 1 doubles team, knocked Japan out of the running with a 6-2, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, victory over Jiro Kumamaru and Fumiteru Nakamo.

It gave the United States a 3 to 0 lead over the Japanese and the right to meet Cuba this week at Havana in the second round, regardless of what happens in Saturday's final two singles matches.

The most home runs hit in any one World Series was four hit by Lou Gehrig of the Yankees in 1928. This was only a four game series.

Midland Pony Leaguers Trim Odessa; To Enter State Meet

A group of Midland Pony League All-Stars were a deliriously happy lot Friday after walloping an Odessa All-Star nine, 19 to 6, to earn the right to represent this area in the State Pony League Tournament at Austin, starting next Saturday.

The Midlanders had defeated the Odessa crew, 8-1, Thursday behind the pitching of big Jim Owens, who struck out 14 of 18 batters who faced him.

In Friday's action, the game started out mildly enough with both squads notching a lone run in the first inning. However in the second inning, the Midlanders struck with the fury of a West Texas sand storm, running three Odessa pitchers ragged before the fourth one came on to quell the scoring.

But when the dust finally had settled from the many Midland runners who had streaked around the bases, the Midland nine had marked an awesome 15 runs on the scoreboard.

Thorpe, the fourth Odessa hurler, shut the Midland nine out for three innings but they got to him for three runs in the final frame.

Meanwhile, the visitors got to Midland's hurler, Larry Cooper, for six hits, all doubles, and cashed them into six runs. But the storm which Midland had raised in the second inning simply was too much for the Odessa squad to overcome.

G. Howard was the big gun in the Midland attack, blasting a single, double and a triple in four times at bat. Holderman paced the visitors at the plate, smashing two hits in three trips.

Midland Pony Leaguers will leave Thursday for Austin, where they will play the winner of the Kilgore-San Antonio game.

Bullyboy Marciano Fights Slick Matthews On Monday

NEW YORK—(AP)—Rocky Marciano, unbeaten Brockton, Mass., bullyboy, and Harry Matthews, the slick pride of the Northwest, collide Monday night at Yankee Stadium in a 10-round elimination bout to set up a September challenger for Heavyweight Champion Jersey Joe Walcott.

Marciano's record of 36 knockouts in 41 winning bouts, including a TKO over Joe Louis, made the swarthy New England lad a strong 2 to 1 favorite over the "kid" from Seattle, who hasn't lost a fight since 1943.

It's the classic match of a slugger and a slicker—two hungry heavyweights gambling all in one daring bid for a title shot.

Although the ringside advance sales parallel the demand for the recent Ray Robinson-Joey Maxim fight that drew more than $400,000, the International Boxing Club probably will settle for 30,009 fans and $300,000. Each fighter gets 30 per cent.

Under New York rules, the winner will be decided by two judges and a referee on the basis of most rounds won with the help of a supplementary point scoring system.

Midlander Catches Gigantic Bluefin Tuna In Nova Scotia's Bay Of Bundy

What most fishermen consider a prize catch is only "bait" as far as H. G. Wesberry of 2405 Storey Avenue, Midland, is concerned.

The Tuna season begins around July 1 and lasts through September 1, or thereabouts.

But back to our story. Wesberry, along with one other fisherman, set out for the fishing area in a crude wooden fishing boat, manned by three Nova Scotians.

Originally made for lobster fishing, the craft was approximately 40 feet long and 12 1/2 feet wide.

Arriving at a spot in the Bay where the channel was the necessary width, the bow of the boat was turned toward the shore so that it would hold its own with the tide.

Then, using a size 14 reel with a 28-ounce rod tip weight, and 54 thread line, the men placed the two-pound mackerel on the hook and tossed it into the current.

When a tuna struck his line, Wesberry said "It felt just like a Longhorn Steer had grabbed on."

The mammoth fish, after grabbing the mackerel, ran with the line approximately 1,000 feet. Then the tuna gave up its spirited struggle until Wesberry pulled it in to where it could see the boat.

"When that fish saw the boat, it started its struggle all over again," said the Midlander.

But the tuna was loser in the battle when Wesberry hauled it in some two hours and 40 minutes after the fight began.

The three boatmen, using mostly muscle since they had none of the modern devices such as a block and tackle aboard, hauled the huge fish into the boat. It weighed 546 pounds.

Most of the fun that comes with landing such a fish was over. But Wesberry will have reason to remember the excursion with relish for some time to come.

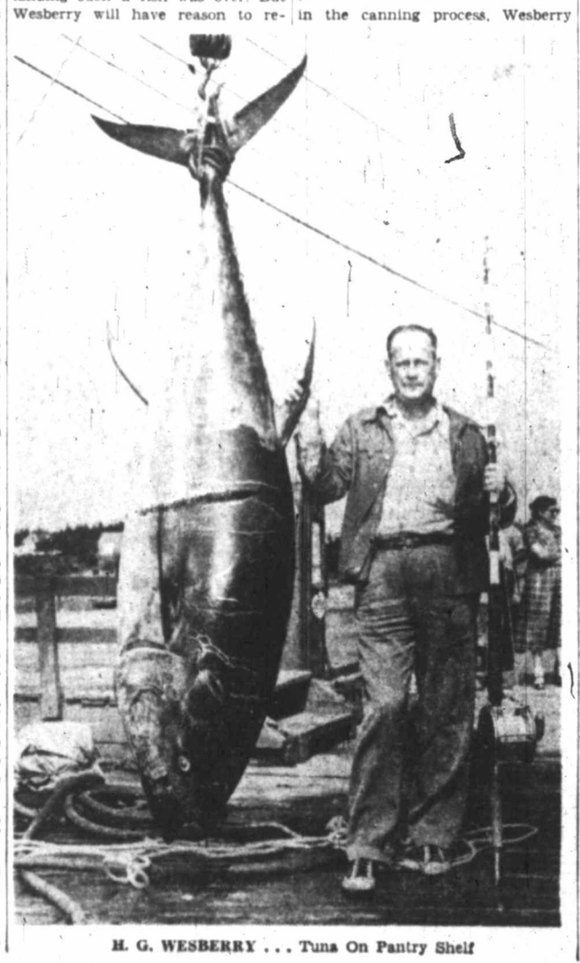

He's going to have it canned in half-pound cans. Figuring that 20 per cent of the meat will be wasted in the canning process, Wesberry can have 218 cans of tuna to stack on the pantry shelf.

He can have it canned in Novia Scotia for only ten cents a can and it won't cost him anything, taxwise, to bring it from that country into this one.

And when he has smacked his lips over the last taste of his catch, he has a picture of himself with the tuna and a certificate from the skipper of the fishing boat to show to any skeptic who refuses to believe that "fish yarn."

East Sinks West All-Stars With Power Display

SAN ANGELO —(AP)— The East turned the tables on the power-laden West All-Stars here Friday night, exploding for six runs in the first inning and going on to win the sixth annual Longhorn League classic, 8-2.

It was the East's first victory in the game's history and came with the West's own weapon of this and other years, the home-run ball.

The Easterners, whose .326 team batting average was 30 points below that of the West and whose only chance to win was supposed to be in the field and in pitching, unloaded one of the most devastating power attacks ever seen in Longhorn Loop history.

Three home runs good for six runs rattled off the fences as Evelio Ortega, the Odessa ace, tried to stem the tide.

Guerra got Leo Eastham of Odessa but walked Artesia's Joe Bauman. The first of three East double plays promptly erased the threat.

Costa Sparkles

Then came the East's turn. Al Costa, Big Spring shortstop who sparkled all night, drew a walk. John Tayoan of San Angelo, the only unanimous choice on the Eastern team, pleased the home fans with a high blast over the left field wall good for two runs. Charley Buck kept the rally alive with a single and moved to third when the ball got past Center Fielder Loyko.

Scooter Hughes

Charley Tuttle of Sweetwater grounded out for the first out but Pat Stasey of Big Spring, the player to whom the game was dedicated, drew a walk. This set the stage for the brilliant Big Spring rookie, Witty Quintana. He hit the first Ortega pitch far over the left field fence for three runs.

The game developed into a fine defensive and pitching battle after the first. The East moved ahead by 7 to 1 in the fifth when Charley Tuttle slammed a bases-empty homer but Bauman nullified this with a blast over the rightfield fence in the sixth. The final run for the East came across in the bottom of the sixth on a walk to Sliter, a single by Joe Niedson, Vernon catcher, a double play and an error.

Except for Ortega, Zeke Bonura got maximum milage out of his staff of Mike Rodriguez of Artesia, Keith Nicolls ad Eddie Jacome of Midland and Andy Alonzo of Roswell.

Bonura, the good-natured skipper of the West, was not officially on the playing roster but charged into the game to run for Scooter Hughes in the ninth inning and was allowed to steal second base. The crowd got big kick out of the unexpected action.

Kegler Loop Lead Held By Kiwanis

The Kiwanis Keglers extended their lead in the Men's Summer Bowling League last week by sweeping two out of three games from Central Barber Shop.

Howard's Chevron bowlers extended a helping hand to the leaders by polishing off the second-place Midland Geophysical team in two out of three games. In the only other contest, Plamor Lanes took two out of three games from The Reporter-Telegram to push the latter into the league cellar.

Rolling the high individual game of the week was Paul Forest with 212. Taking top scoring honors for the high individual series bowled was Joe Clay with a mark of 549.

Games scheduled this week will see Kiwanis and Midland Peophysical tangle for the loop lead. If Midland Geophysical should win the set, it would be tied for first place.

Other contests will see Plamor Lanes battle Howard Chevron and Central Barber Shop contest The Reporter-Telegram. Action will get underway at 8:30 p.m. Thursday.

The standings, including last week's games, are as follows:

	W	L
Kiwanis	8	4
Midland Geophysical	7	5
Central Barber Shop	6	6
Plamor Lanes	6	6
Howard Chevron	5	7

Buster Reed Gains Final Go-Round In Broadmoor Tourney

Reed, North Texas State College team member, easily defeated defending Champion Bob Goldwater of Phoenix, Ariz., 5 and 4. The veteran Dawson of Palm Springs, Calif., breezed past Dick Spangler, Jr., of Lincoln, Neb.

Reed, a member of the North Texas NCAA championship team, showed the best golf of the day. He didn't muff a single shot in the afternoon round after leading Goldwater one up at the end of 18.

His drives were straight and long and his short game and putting were near perfect. He fired a one under par 69 for the morning.

Jimmy Clark's 199 Holds Three-Stroke Lead At Sioux City

SIOUX CITY, IOWO —(AP)—Jimmy Clark, the stocky ex-Marine, shot a three-under-par 69 Saturday to hold his lead at the end of 54 holes in the Sioux City Open Golf Tournament with a 199 total.

Sixth Banquet In 60 Days Too Much

PITTSBURGH —(NEA)— Chick Davies deserted college basketball at Duquesne in 1948 for the relative obscurity of Homestead, Pa., high school because, among other things, his stomach rebelled.

King Farouk Flees Egyptian Throne As Army Strong Man Starts Cleanup

CAIRO, EGYPT —(AP)— King Farouk I abdicated the ancient Egyptian throne Saturday at the climax of a tank-supported Army cleanup campaign and sailed away in the Mediterranean aboard his royal yacht. The Army said his family went with him for exile in Italy.

The Cabinet meanwhile proclaimed Farouk's baby son, six-month-old Crown Prince Ahmed, to be King Fuad II of Egypt and the Sudan.

The troops of Lt. Gen. Mohammed Naguib Bey, Egypt's new strong man as the Army's self-proclaimed commander in chief, surrounded the royal estates and arrested a number of Royal Guard officers in the showdown at the Ras el Tin Palace in Alexandria, Egypt's Summer capital.

Street crowds applauded the outcome. Groups formed everywhere, clapping their hands happily, as the news spread.

The monarch had advanced notice Friday of potential trouble in the anti-corruption drive when six high palace aides were forced to resign by the Army-backed government of Premier Aly Maher Pasha.

Naguib staged a lightning military coup Wednesday, pledging himself to root out corruption in the Egyptian government. He installed Maher Pasha as the Premier of his own choice. And Saturday Maher Pasha talked twice to the 32-year-old Farouk. Finally came the official announcement from Army general headquarters that the King was through.

A Regency Council was set up to rule troubled Egypt until the crown prince, born last January 16 to Farouk and the beauteous Narriman, comes of age. She is the daughter of an Egyptian civil servant, whom the King married May 6, 1951, for the avowed purpose of producing a male heir to succeed him.

The King's abdication climaxed a succession of government crisis which followed the disastrous rioting and fires which swept Cairo last January at the height of fierce anti-British feeling. The country has had six different governments in this period.

Tanks Block Palaces

In Cairo as well as Alexandria, tanks faced every entrance to the royal palaces. Field artillery pieces trained their muzzles directly at the main entrance of the Abdin Palace in Cairo. Armed soldiers stood almost shoulder to shoulder. Airplanes flew overhead in both capitals.

General Naguib himself was in Alexandria with Premier Maher Pasha. The first time Maher Pasha entered Ras el Tin Palace to demand Farouk's abdication, he stayed 10 minutes. Then the premier went into another huddle with his commander in chief. In his second call on Farouk, Maher Pasha remained 20 minutes.

Directly after the second call U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery drove to the palace and conferred with the King for 10 minutes. As he left, Caffery told newsmen "We discussed the situation." He declined to elaborate.

The French Press Agency said it had learned authoratively Farouk intends eventually to go to the United States.

Court Tosses Out Gas Gathering Tax

A prompt appeal to higher courts was considered certain but Judge Roberts' ruling appeared likely to hasten a state deficit. He held the tax was a burden on interstate commerce and therefore unconstitutional.

Some pipe line companies have been paying the tax without protest, while others were fighting it in court. Should all the pipe lines quit paying the tax in view of Saturday's decision, the state might go in the red before the Legislature meets next January.

State Comptroller R. S. Calvert would not venture a guess, but he said a deficit had been anticipated just about the time the Legislature will convene.

"This would hasten a deficit some," he conceded.

The tax of nine-twentieths of one cent per 1,000 cubic feet of gas gathered from the ground was enacted by the last Legislature to raise an estimated 14 million dollars a year. Slightly less than half a million dollars a month has been paid under protest since the tax went into effect last September. That money can not be used pending final settlement of the lawsuits by higher courts.

A little more than half a million dollars a month has been paid without protest and has been usable.

Judge Roberts made his ruling on the basis of facts submitted in Michigan-Wisconsin Pipeline Company's suit, one of three test cases argued simultaneously in 126th District Court. Arguments raised by suits of some 59 pipe line companies were represented in the test cases.

Judge Roberts said he considered the tax constitutional on gas moving exclusively for out-of-state use. Therefore, the entire tax law would have to fall.

The Legislature declared that if the tax were held unconstitutional as to interstate gas, it would not apply to interstate gas.

"The incidence of the tax on the first taking of the gas is an inseparable and integral part of interstate commerce so it is unconstitutional under the federal commerce law and under rulings of the United States Supreme Court," Judge Roberts said.

Midland Republicans Begin Move For County Campaign

Plans for a Republican slate of candidates for county offices began taking shape here Saturday as enthusiastic party faithfuls met in unprecedented precinct conventions.

Most of the conventions were well attended and all signs pointed toward a rip-snorting county convention next Saturday when the question of a local slate of candidates will be determined definitely.

From the reports of the precinct conventions held in the city, it appeared candidates will be submited for the offices of county atorney, county judge and county commissioner from Precinct 1.

In some cases, the names of prospective candidates were mentioned freely.

Chairmen Named

Precinct 1—Cliff Wilderspin, permanent chairman; Mrs. Helen Ervin, permanent secretary; G. H. Blankenship, delegate to the county convention, and Mrs. B. G. Ahern, alternate.

Precinct 7—J. E. Beakey, permanent chairman; Alice Bradley, secretary; Richard Hughston, Mrs. Rosalind Redfern and Coe S. Mills, delegates, and Richard E. Gile, Robert Dickey and George Bush, alternates.

At the Precinct 1 convention, held in David Crockett Elementary school, some 30 Republicans showed up for the session, which lasted an hour and 45 minutes.

As the group began discussing the possibility of entering a GOP slate of local candidates, one woman asserted, "I think we should, even if we know we can't win."

"Who says we can't win!" shouted several others.

Blankenship introduced a motion, which was adopted, that "we make every effort to find a qualified candidate for county commissioner from Precinct 1 and nominate him at the county convention."

In the discussion concerning candidates for other offices, William Price was mentioned for county attorney and Robert Jennings for county judge. Both are Midland attorneys.

In Precinct 4, only seven showed up at the South Elementary School. There, too, enthusiasm was high for a slate of local candidates although no formal action was taken.

The group endorsed John Galley for election as county chairman.

Approximately 30 Republicans showed up at West Elementary School for the Precinct 6 convention and enthusiasm was high for a GOP campaign for local offices.

The group took no action on a county chairman although the members indicated they would support Hughston.

In Precinct 7, when the convention was held in Sam Houston Elementary School, Hughston said at least two candidates would run as GOP candidates for local offices. He declined to name them, however.

The group adopted a resolution, presented by George Helis, calling for an aggressive Republican campaign on a local level.

FBI Agent Slain As Bank Bandit Nabbed In Gunfight

NEW YORK —(AP)— One of the nation's top criminals walked into an FBI trap Saturday, but killed an FBI agent before being shot and captured in a blazing gun battle at a Manhattan hotel.

The man, Gerhard A. Puff, 38, was listed among the top 10 criminals wanted by the FBI. He was sought in a series of Western bank robberies.

He battled it out with a dozen FBI agents inside and outside the Congress Hotel, just off Central Park on West 69th Street, before he was wounded in the leg and captured.

Two unidentified women also were taken into custody after Puff's capture. Police and FBI officials said the women, Puff and another man had registered at the hotel last Sunday.

The other man is being sought.

Puff was the second of the FBI's 10 most wanted to be captured in two days. An alleged confederate, George Arthur Heroux, 22, was captured Friday in Miami, Fla.

Authorities said the two couples registered at the hotel here as "Hanson" and "Burns."

The hotel management became suspicious and notified the FBI. A dozen or more FBI agents stood by in and around the hotel lobby.

Saturday afternoon, the two women entered the hotel and went up to their quarters. A short time later Puff came in, telephoned upstairs and then went up in the elevator.

However, Puff's suspicions apparently were aroused.

Stealthily he came down by way of the fire stairs and opened fire with a .38 caliber automatic when he saw Agent Brock from the rear.

After the agent slumped down mortally wounded, Puff jumped over his body and sprinted toward the street door.

He collapsed upon the sidewalk in front of the hotel and the agents grabbed him.

Kefauver Backer Decides To Support Dwight Eisenhower

CHICAGO —(AP)— Carl Estes, publisher of the Longview, Texas, News and Journal and ardent supporter of Senator Estes Kefauver for the Democratic presidential nomination, said Saturday he will campaign for Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Estes said he sent telegrams to Gov. James Duff of Pennsylvania and Jack Porter of Houston, an Eisenhower worker, saying:

"As soon as I can get rid of New Deal fleas I picked up over the country during the last six months, I want to start doing what I can to help elect Dwight D. Eisenhower. We saw a different kind of 'deal' in the Chicago stockyards Friday night but whatever it is I want no part of it. The coon has been skinned, but nobody seems to know who did it."

Estes flew more than 100,000 miles during Kefauver's campaign and was a contributor to the Tennessee senator's campaign.

Early Saturday he cracked out an "I Like Ike" sign in the convention Hall, and Texas delegates and ushers good naturedly hustled him along.

Three More Dead As Polio Epidemic Continues To Grow

By The Associated Press

Two young men and a baby boy died of polio at Houston Saturday.

The three fatalities capped off a grim week that ranked among the worst in that Gulf Coast city's long and deadly polio epidemic.

The deaths hiked Houston's polio death toll so far this year to 11.

Late Friday, Houston's health department reported seven new cases, four from the city and three from the county.

The new cases boosted the city total for the year to 279 cases compared to 78 in the same period last year. There were only four deaths during the similar 1951 period.

The county's total for the year stood at 182 cases with seven deaths, compared to 23 cases and no deaths for the same period last year.

No One Injured In Three-Vehicle Collision In City

No one was injured in a minor collision of three vehicles at 2:06 p.m. Saturday, Midland city police said.

Drivers of the vehicles were: Doris B. Hines, 2402 West College Street; Petter Nestravick, 503 North Garfield Street, and Cecil O. Basinbugh, 2317 West Storey Street.

Police said one of the vehicles made a sudden stop and the other two vehicles at the rear of the first car collided, resulting in a "fender scraping."

BUILDER SELLING
3 HOMES IN PARKLEA PLACE

While economy was by no means the principal thought in the builder's mind, these three Parklea homes will, as the result of efficient building methods, sell very reasonably. They are, we firmly believe, the best 2-bedroom homes it is possible to build in their price range. Features include No. 1 hardwood floors, Philippine mahogany doors, double sinks, 20-year built-up roofs, full weatherstripping, central heat, flush lighting, solid drives, and many more. Two of these homes have attached garages, and are priced at $9,450; the other has a carport, and will sell for only $9,250. FHA financing is available on the new, liberalized plan. We'd like to impress upon you that these homes are exceptionally good, with all materials and workmanship considerably above the average. We will be delighted to show them to you at any time.

REPORTING THE TOP NEWS IN REAL ESTATE

PRINCETON MEANS that IT'S BETTER, and if you have been seeking a home with a spacious master bedroom, this one is a must-see. It has an adjoining dressing room and luxurious bath, 2 more bedrooms and central bath (both with ceramic tile), gorgeous kitchen with pantry, and attached garage. Central heating, ducted for air-conditioning, lots of wonderful closets, and approximately 1,750 square feet of living space. In addition to the many other outstanding features, there is a high tile fence surrounding the attractively lawned yard. OWNER BEING TRANSFERRED. Asking $27,500.

THIS HOME REMINDS US of a 6-year-old boy who has just washed his face. It has been completely redecorated so that it sparkles and shines. 2 Bedrooms, 6x14 insulated utility room (immediately off the kitchen), new 2-car detached garage, large closets. Nice lawn in front and rear, water softener, paved street. ONLY $8,500.

SLIGHTLY SUBURBAN, yet delightfully close in. Located just off Andrews Highway where the homes stretch over large lots is this West Texas brick rambler. 3 spacious bedrooms, 2 ceramic tile baths, huge living room, and a separate dining room with French doors leading out to the completely fenced yard (in tile brick). Central heating and air-conditioning, generous water well, connections for dishwasher and Bendix. 2-car completely finished garage. Offered at $28,850.

FINANCIAL MODESTY is an American characteristic — and here is a home for the modest-income group. 2 nice sized bedrooms, 20 foot living room, comfortable kitchen, utility porch with washer connection, entrance hall and guest closet, large planter box, landscaped, paved street, and this home has recently been redecorated. Assume GI loan and pay only $57 per month. Full price: $8,900.

LIKE SOMETHING REALLY NICE in the way of a 2-bedroom home? Call us immediately to see this one which is located in TOWN NORTH. You will like the floor plan, the tile bath, and the attached garage which so inexpensively converts into a den. Priced at $9,975.15. (Tell you what I'll do—I'll knock off the 15 cents.)

2412 WEST STOREY STREET . . . but don't take our word for it. Drive by it, look through the windows, hurry to a telephone, and call 2-1693. You'll be glad you did. (It's a 3 and 2.)

THE INTERIOR IS MODERN and the exterior is conventionally West Texas influence. 3 bedrooms, 1 tile bath with colored features, large living room and dining room, and PICTURE-BOOK kitchen with bay window. Advance-trend plastered walls, lovely carpeting throughout, central heating, attached 2-carport, large open rear porch that can be used as your outside living room. But there is more—to be seen. $17,900.

NEAR FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH where you would PREFER to live, and only 3 blocks from the high school, we have a most attractive 3-bedroom home. The ideal floor plan, so designed as to be adapted as a 2-bedroom and den. Lovely living room with large offsetting dining room, convenient kitchen with ceramic tile drain and large pantry, rear utility porch used as summer breakfast room, large closets, washer connection. Detached brick garage with storage, disappearing stairway into floored and insulated attic, beautiful lawns in front and rear, Cyclone fenced yard. Owner leaving for Europe. Sensationally low priced at only $13,500.

INCOME WITHOUT WORKING is accomplishable in real estate investments. If you have the capital, we have the opportunities. Ask us about the 14 apartments that we have which the owner is sacrificing. It's really a tremendous deal. (P.S. I'm a real estate man. If I had the money, I'd buy it. I cannot give this a greater recommendation.)

AN INDISPUTABLE FACT . . . that a beautiful home adds greater charm to the woman of the house, and even makes the man more handsome. And here is a home to prove it. Three bedrooms and den, 2 ceramic tile baths, 2 log-burning fireplaces, 2-car attached garage. Here is a home of craftsmanship. It is 78 feet across the front. Central heating and air-conditioning. Owner disappointedly transferred. Priced at owner's exact cost.

WHO SAID YOU CAN'T BUY? Here is a home that $1,900 down will make yours immediately—and no closing costs! It is a haydite brick home with 2 nice-sized bedrooms, elongated kitchen, and attached carport. There is 930 square feet of living space. FHA loan, and the monthly payments are only $52. Full price is $8,700. (Hey, the street is paved and paid for!)

THE HOUSE ON STOREY STREET which you haven't seen yet. It's got 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, attached garage. But that's not all. Central summer and winter air conditioning, insulation, lots of closets and storage, fenced premises, patio, permanent water softener, nice lawn, 82 poplar trees, Pullman kitchen, gigantic living room, and, of course, the street is paved. This, you must see. This, to be sure, $26,250.

BUILT BY BOB FOR A BUDDY, and now available to you. Two bedrooms and den, lovely living room, and family kitchen. The yard has a tile fence around it, water well with Johnson pump (located in the storage room of the carport), and has never been occupied. Asking $9,500.

IT NEEDS SOME KIDS because this street is so quiet—East Estes. And this home is designed for 'em. Three bedrooms, long living room, and cheery kitchen. Entrance hall and guest closet, rear utility porch, planter box with beautiful flowers, croquet lawn in front and rear, and over 53 poplar trees framing the back yard. Hey, kids, tell your Mommy that the street is paved, close to school, and not near traffic. $11,500.

IMMACULATE AND ADORABLE is this, a 2-bedroom home in TOWN NORTH. With its white fence and green carpet-like lawns, it is a technicolor dream. Attached garage that can be converted into a sunken den. Vent-A-Hood, YOUNGSTOWN metal cabinets in the spotless kitchen, central heating and air-conditioning; and . . . well, it is one that just has to be seen. Assume the 4% G.I. loan and prepare to move in without delay. $11,750.

Dear Folks at Home,

We just saw one of the most beautiful homes in Midland, and I believe that we will buy it. It has 2 bedrooms and a den (which Johnnie can use as his bedroom), a magnificent living room with a wood-burning fireplace, a dining room (where I'll put Mother's wedding gift to us), and a kitchen straight out of HOME BEAUTIFUL. Its got a huge guest room with a ½ bath, and there are two of them in the main house. And there are tropical louvered doors, and Arizona flagstone slabs in the entrance hall, and a 2-car garage which is all pine paneled, and a wash room . . . and, oh, gosh, there's so much that I can't write it all. I merely wanted you to know how thrilled I am about it.

BREATHLESSLY YOURS.

IT'S MODERN ON MAPLE and it's paved, also. With 2 bedrooms and large closets, living room, kitchen with convenient dining area, attached carport and storage. LENNOX central heating, metal kitchen cabinets, fenced patio, and curtains and draperies. It is 2 years old. Assume GI loan. Could be purchased for as little as $2,000 down. Today's delay will make you pay more tomorrow. Call us NOW!

LUXURY

At A "Common-Sense" Price!

Beautifully located in a northwest area of similar-type homes, this delightful new brick residence offers the life-long beauty and comfort you and your family deserve and would appreciate . . . at a surprisingly moderate cost. The site is an extra-large corner lot, with completed landscaping. The interior of the home presents the same inviting atmosphere created by the exterior appearance. Huge living and dining area, with hallway leading to the kitchen, den, two big bedrooms and two ceramic tile bathrooms. Select carpeting covers all floor space except the den (floored with Tennessee flagstone), the baths and the kitchen. The back yard is large, and enclosed by tile fence. The big attached garage is finished inside. This home is offered for sale without furniture and equipment for $24,500. Purchaser may obtain all tastefully selected furnishings with the home, including automatic laundry equipment, for a total price of only $30,000. You'll never know how complete, how storage space, and many other features not ordinarily found in homes of show it to you, won't you?

Why Fight Drouth?

Any size tracts of level land suitable for development into irrigated farms are now available at from $50 to $75 per acre, with no down payment to those who can and will invest an additional $40 to $50 per acre to develop for heavy production. Adjacent hill land, $10 per acre.

For appointment to see, call owner, collect, at address below between 8 and 9 A.M. or after 10 P.M.

Why continue to suffer drouth losses when good land with plenty of underground water to insure uniformly heavy production under irrigation is available at low prices and on easy terms?

The Stribling ranch in the famous San Luis Valley of Southern Colorado consists of 80,000 acres of fertile land now in early stages of development into a prosperous irrigated farming community. Land values, now low, are due to advance enormously as it is brought into production. REA power for pumping. Crops now growing prove land will produce 400 to 600 bushels per acre of potatoes, 40 to 50 of wheat, and up to 100 bushels of oats or barley. But it is best suited for balanced stock farming with livestock on permanent irrigated pastures of clover, alfalfa and grasses. Summer gains of cattle or sheep on such pastures range upward of 500 pounds per acre.

Humble Schedules Ellenburger Wildcat In C-W Ector Region

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1-B Earl Vest is to be a 12,000-foot Ellenburger wildcat in Central-West Ector County.

It is to be located 12 miles northwest of Penwell and approximately four and one-half miles north of the Yarbrough & Allen, (Ellenburger) field.

Drilling with rotary tools is to begin in the near future.

It is slightly more than one mile north of Humble's No. 1 Earl Vest, Ellenburger dry hole drilled in 1947.

That project had some slight shows of oil in the Ellenburger but not enough to make a commercial oil well and it was abandoned.

NE Sterling Test To Be Completed After Flow Gauge

Tex-Harvey Employes Incorporated was flowing to test its No. 1 Chappell and others, discovery from the Mississippian detrital in Northeast Sterling County.

After treating the pay section through perforations at 7,674-84 feet with 2,000 gallons of acid, the well was swabbed one hour. It kicked off and flowed out acid residue and load and then flowed 45 barrels of 48-gravity oil in 12 hours. No water flowed out with the oil.

The above flow was through a 20 64-inch tubing choke, with pressure at 300 pounds. The well was still flowing, various sized chokes, on last report.

Operator will erect storage tanks and take potential test. If that test is satisfactory, the upper formations which showed for possible production will not be investigated further.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 43, block 18, SP survey and 18 miles north and slightly east of Sterling City.

Shaughness Is Made Assistant Manager In West Texas Area

The appointment of Tom Shaughness as assistant manager, central midwest area, in charge of the West Texas district, whose headquarters are at Midland, was announced Saturday by V. J. Waters, central midwest area manager for U. S. Steel's Oil Well Supply division. The appointment is effective immediately.

Tom Shaughness

Shaughness, who has had broad experience in the manufacture and application of drilling and production equipment, has served as area engineer for the Gulf Coast Area since early 1946, headquartering at Houston.

He joined "Oilwell" in 1934 following his graduation from the Stevens Instituteof Technology, Hoboken, N. J. with a degree in mechanical engineering.

After two years in the promotion of "Oilwell" manufacturing products, working out of the division's Dallas headquarters, he spent four years as a sales engineer, in Illinois.

He then transferred to Tulsa as factory engineer for that area and in early 1942 he was named assistant to works manager at "Oilwell's" Imperial Works at Oil City, Pa. In November, 1945, he was appointed district engineer at Harvey, La., which position he held until he became area engineer at Houston.

Cities Service Savings Plan To Start August 1

A thrift plan for employes of Cities Service Oil Company and Cities Service Pipe Line Company is being put into operation effective August 1, according to S. B. Irelan, president of the oil company.

Under the savings plan, for every dollar saved and invested in the plan by the employe, the company will contribute 50 cents. All qualified employes who have been employed for one year or more are eligible to participate in the plan, which is entirely voluntary.

Employes are privileged to select any one or combination of three options for the investment of their savings, up to a maximum of 5 per cent of base pay. They may invest in U. S. Sovings Bonds, in the common stock of Cities Service Company or in an unsegregated trustfund.

The plan, according to Irelan, is designed to aid employes of the companies in supplementing their own provisions for retirement and for systematic savings.

Date Scheduled For New Mexico Oil, Gas Sale

Next New Mexico auction sale of oil and gas leases will be held in the office of the Commissioner of Public Lands, Capitol Annex Building, Santa Fe, August 11.

Up for sale will be acreage in 41 tracts. Those tracts will go by sealed bidding.

Oil and gas leases in 10 tracts will be sold by oral bidding.

Readle Now With Husky In Wyoming

H. J. (Jack) Readle has joined Husky Oil Company as manager of purchasing and warehousing in Casper, Wyo. Prior to becoming associated with Husky, Readle was regional purchasing agent for Phillips Petroleum Company at Houston.

A native of Minnesota, Readle received his schooling in Oklahoma and attended the Northeastern State Normal College at Tahlequah, Oklahoma.

Dr. Gambrell, State Medical Leader, Dies

Funeral services will be held Sunday at the family residence.

Dr. Gambrell headed the association in 1950-51.

Dr. Gambrell was born in Waco, Aug. 2, 1890. The family moved to Caldwell County in 1897.

Dr. Gambrell and his wife moved to Belton in 1930 and to Austin in 1931. Dr. Gambrell had been in practice here since that time.

Humble Completes Small Pumper To Extend Spraberry

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 J. C. Calverley has been completed as a small pumper to extend Spraberry production in the central-east portion of the Driver field of Southwest Glasscock County one and one-half miles to the east.

It was completed for a daily potential of 17.58 barrels of 37.7-gravity oil through perforations at 6,730-6,810; 7,305-80, 7,440-7,500 and 7,580-7,645 feet.

Reagan Wildcat Bails Oil From Permian Section

Texas Gulf Producing Company No. 1-G University, wildcat in Southwest Reagan County, recovered oil and water from the Permian on a one-hour bailing test.

The project recovered approximately six barrels of oil with some water from the interval at 3,050--060 feet. It now is being drilled below 3,073 feet.

Location is 996 feet from north and 2,310 feet from west lines of section 9, block 7, University survey and 10 miles southwest of Big Lake. It is to drill to around 3,200 feet.

King Sand Opener Is Completed In NE Runnels Area

Geochemical Surveys, Inc., No. 1 J. A. Traylor, Northeast Runnels County wildcat has been completed as a small pumping discovery from a King sand pay.

The new producer and field opener is 3.4 miles southwest of Crews and 4,287 feet from south and 2,312 feet from east lines of the J. S. Moore survey No. 360.

It reported a 24-hour pumping potential of 65.05 barrels of 42-gravity oil, plus ten per cent water.

Production was from perforated section at 2,260-74 feet in the King sand. The prospector drilled to a total depth of 2,500 feet. The 7-inch casing is cemented at 2,450 feet.

El Tee Project In NW Dawson Is Low To Producers

El Tee Oil Company No. 1-95 Classen, one location stepout from production on the northwest side of the Mungerville, (Pennsylvanian) field in Northwest Dawson County was low on the top of the reef lime, but it is calculated to have 29 feet

Creath Is Appointed Director For Muldrow Aerial Surveys

The appointment of Norris B. Creath to the board of directors of the Muldrow Aerial Surveys Corporation, with headquarters at 212 North Colorado Street here, was announced Saturday.

Creath, vice president in charge of production, became associated with Muldrow in May of 1951. Since that time and under his jurisdiction, the Muldrow libraries have been enlarged to include the Julesburg-Denver Basin in Northeastern Colorado and Western Nebraska, the states of North and South Dakota, and approximately 26,000 square miles of Eastern Montana, with the entire state of Montana scheduled for completion in November. The maps have been prepared at various scales to meet oil company needs.

A Midland resident the last nine years, Creath is a member of the Kiwanis Club and is active in Community Theater functions. He attended Southern Methodist University in Dallas, where he became a member of Kappa Sigma Fraternity. He is a native of San Angelo.

University Lands Survey

Creath joined the Lands Survey Department of the University of Texas in 1930 and, under the direction of Frank P. Friend, was engaged actively in the re-survey and permanent marking on the ground of approximately 2,000,000 acres of University Lands in West Texas. In 1941, he was transferred to Austin where he worked in the Legal Department of University Lands.

Creath was employed by the Civil Engineering Department of the Humble Oil & Refining Company in

Norris Creath

1943, working in that concern's North and West Texas Divisions before joining the Muldrow organization.

In his new position, Creath will be associated closely with the forming and promotion of major policies of Muldrow Aerial Surveys Corporation, in addition to his duties as supervisor of map production.

RECENT MIDLAND VISITORS—Headed by Burl S. Watson, executive vice president of Cities Service Company, and George H. Shaw, a director of the same concern, both of New York, and S. B. Irelan, president, and A. W. Ambrose, chairman of the board of directors of Cities Service Oil Company, both of Bartlesville, Okla., the group pictured above was in Midland for a series of conferences and a tour of inspection in the Permian Basin. Pictured, from left to right, the visitors and hosts are: L. E. Patterson, Clyde M. Pederson, both of Midland; Frank Pribe, district production superintendent at Odessa; Bob Sutton, Midland; R. H. Tucker, Jack Cleverly and Ireland, all of Bartlesville; Art Dietert, Fort Worth; R. L. Kidd, Bartlesville; Ambrose; Dan D. Bodie, Hobbs; Frank Cooter, Fort Worth; Shaw and Watson.

Stephens Sets Deep Wildcat In Howard

Seventeen miles north of Big Spring, Stephens Petroleum Company will drill an 8,500-foot wildcat to explore the Ellenburger in North-Central Howard County.

It will be drilled as No. 1 Simpson, 660 feet from north and east lines of section 43, block 31, T-3-N, T&P survey.

Operations are to start at once.

It is three miles east of production in the Vealmoor field and five miles west of production in the East Vealmoor pool. Both those fields produce from the Canyon reef.

Humble Develops Oil From Wolfcamp In SE Irion Test

Humble Oil & Refining Company has developed small production from a Wolfcamp-Permian sand at its No. 2-B Pearl Williams, Southeast Irion County wildcat, 12 miles southeast of Mertzon.

The oil has been found at 6,488-6,500 feet. The production has been recovered in swabbing on that zone through perforations in the casing. That interval had been treated with acid and it had also been fractured.

In 24-hours of swabbing the wildcat produced 45 barrels of pipe line oil and no water.

Operator has set a retainer above that set of perforations and is now preparing to perforate and test at 6,540-74 feet. That zone is also in the Wolfcamp.

If it will make oil it is expected that both sets of perforations will be produced together.

The prospective discovery is located 660 feet from east and 30 feet from south lines of section 38, block 21, H&TC survey.

It is one and one-half miles southeast of production in the Dove Creek, (Canyon) field and one and five-eighths of a mile northeast of the nearest production in the Tankersly, (Wolfcamp) field.

Humble drilled No. 2-B Williams to a bottom of 7,404 feet in barren Ellenburger. It plugged back to 6,500 feet and cemented casing there for the testing of the Wolfcamp which has resulted in developing the small oil production.

Midland Community Chest Sets Meeting

A meeting of officers and directors of the Midland Community Chest will be held at 4:30 p.m. Monday in the directors' room of The Midland National Bank, Chairman Miles Hall announced Saturday.

He termed the meeting important and urged a full attendance of board members.

Humble Establishes Exploration Field Office At Roswell

Humble Oil & Refining Company has established a field office for its exploration department at Roswell, N. M.

W. B. (Bill) Hoover, former Midlander will be geologist in charge of the new unit of Humble's organization.

Announcement of the opening of the Roswell office was made in Midland Saturday by W. E. (Bill) Dougherty, division geologist, who is in charge of exploration department of the concern's West Texas division.

Covers Large Area

Humble's West Texas division covers all of district 7-C and 8 of the oil and gas division of the Railroad Commission of Texas and it also covers all of the states of New Mexico and Arizona.

The new office at Roswell will supervise exploration geology, geophysical work, scouting, leasing and land work for Humble in all of New Mexico and Arizona.

Establishment of the new office at Roswell will not cause any change in the status of the concern's district production geological office at Hobbs, N. M., which is operated in connection with the district drilling and production office in that city.

Hobbs Office Continues

The Humble office now in Hobbs will continue there and its staff and program will continue on the same basis as it has been on for several years, Dougherty said.

Humble has maintained a small field office at Albuquerque, N. M., for its exploration department for several years. That office has worked under the supervision of the West Texas division headquarters in Midland.

Hoover Moved

Hoover, who has been head of Albuquerque office since it was established has moved to Roswell.

The concern will continue to operate a branch office at Albuquerque. That office will handle some scouting land, and geological work in Northwest New Mexico and in all of Arizona.

Ralph J. Hickman, a former resident of Midland and a veteran Humble employe remains at Albuquerque to handle the scouting work.

Others At Albuquerque

W. G. Rogers, Jr., will handle the land and leasing work in that office and Mrs. Earlene Snyder will continue to be the secretary in that office.

In addition to Hoover, others who have been moved to Roswell from Albuquerque include L. O. Waldron, head of the land section for the field office, John W. Gurley, landman and Miss Laura Cunningham, secretary.

The staff of the new Roswell office is to be augmented by five persons who are being moved there from Midland. They are N. A. Sax and R. F. Meyer, geologists; G. B. Ross, scout; Mrs. Faye Wilson, secretary and Miss Jo Muncy, PBX operator and receptionist.

Others On Staff

Humble has had a small geological office in Roswell for several months. E. J. Foley and D. G. Garrott, both geologists have been in that office.

It has also had two geological draftsmen, and three field geologists have been assigned to that office and working out of it.

Those field geologists are, W. J. Jordan, Jr.; H. B. Jordan, Jr.; and Barton A. Belknap.

All of those persons will continue to be attached to the enlarged Humble field office at Roswell, Dougherty said.

'SECRET' VOTE FRETS OLDSTER

AUSTIN —(AP)— An old timer, voting early Saturday morning, was suspicious of the requirement that he sign his name on the back of his ballot stub.

"Thought they called this thing a secret ballot," he said tartly, demanding an explanation from election officials.

An official explained the stub was for identification only in case of an election contest.

Jim McHargue Is President Of New Tidelands Group

Jim McHargue was elected Friday night as president of a new association formed here last week to support the presidential candidate who favors returning the Tidelands to state ownership. He is one of the founders of the movement.

Other officers will be named at a meeting scheduled Monday night.

The lone objective of the association, according to its sponsors, is to accomplish the return of the Tidelands of Texas for the citizens and schools of the state.

Plans are to project the new association over Texas and the nation.

Hartwell Geological Office Now Located In McClintic Building

He is a pioneer Permian Basin geologist. He has been doing consulting work for several years.

George To Head New Committee Formed By WTGS

The West Texas Geological Society has named Clem E. George of Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation as chairman for its new social events committee.

Committee members are Fred W. Forward of Phillips Petroleum Company, Reo E. Goodwin of Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware, William Earl Gipson of The Ohio Oil Company and Booker L. McDearmon of Anderson-Prichard.

The social events committee was organized because of the merger of the old Midland Geological Society with WTGS. The purpose of the committee is to handle the annual barbecue and dance for geologists in West Texas. The events were handled by the Midland society.

Tentative arrangements for both the barbecue and dance have been made. Definite plans will be announced at a later date.

SE Andrews Gets Drillsite For Wildcat

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-3-A Fasken Block is to be drilled as a third deep wildcat by that concern on a recently acquired block in Andrews County.

This new test is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 12, block 42, T-2-N, G&MMB&A survey. It is to go to 15,000 feet for tests of the Ellenburger.

It is in Southeast Andrews County, three miles north of the Midland Farms field.

Richardson & Bass Stake Deep Wildcat In C-E Eddy Sector

HOBBS, N. M. — Richardson & Bass spotted location in Central-East Eddy County for a 13,500-foot wildcat. Operations are to start at once.

It is to be drilled as No. 1 Fidel-Federal 660 feet from south and west lines of section 27-21s-29e.

Elliott & Hall No. 1-R Elliott-Federal is to be drilled as a 6,500-foot wildcat in Southeast Lea County.

Operator asked location 2,310 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines of section 31-24s-38e. It is to start at once.

Fred Turner No. 2 Webb-Federal has been completed as a Glorieta producer in the Lovington-multipay area of Central-East Lea County. It is the second producer from that pay in the field, the other being the discovery, W. D. McBee No. 2-B State.

No. 2 Webb-Federal was completed for a daily flowing potential of 360 barrels of 33-gravity oil from perforations at 6,120-6,170 feet. It is one and three-quarters miles southwest of No. 2-B State.

Exact location is 2,310 feet from north and 750 feet from west lines of section 31-16s-37e. It was dry in the Abo on total depth of 8,450 feet. It was plugged back to 6,170 feet for completion.

R. S. McCruder No. 1 State is to be drilled as a shallow 600-foot wildcat in Central-North Eddy County, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 15-21s-27e. Operations are to start at once.

Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1-A Raley is to be drilled as a 9,250-foot project in the North Warren McKee field of Central-East Lea County.

Shell Oil Company No. 1-ECA State is to be drilled as a 10,500-foot project in the East Cap Rock area of Northwest Lea County. It is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 2-12s-32e.

Cities Service Oil Company No. 1-AD State is to be drilled in the Mescalero (Pennsylvanian) field of Northwest Lea County, which was opened by Jackson, Douglas & Ritchie No. 1 State.

No. 1-AD State is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 22-10s-32e. It is to go to 8,500 feet.

Gulf Oil Corporation No. 4-D L. R. Chamberlain is a new oiler in the Denton field of Central-East Lea County. It was finaled for a daily flowing potential of 469 barrels of oil through a 3/4-inch tubing choke and from pay at 9,250-9,410 feet. Location is 2,310 feet from south and west lines of section 14-15s-37e.

Cities Service Oil Company No. 1-AB State is an outpost failure in the King (Wolfcamp) field of Central-East Lea County.

It was plugged on total depth of 11,570 feet in the Wolfcamp which was topped at 9,240 feet, elevation 3,857 feet. It was drilled one-half mile south of the discovery well which is Forest Oil Corporation No. 1 Lowe.

Oil Workers Strike Cuts World-Wide Crude Output

World-wide output of crude oil was drastically reduced in May by the strike of oil workers in the United States, The Oil and Gas Journal reported.

United States production was down almost 1,230,000 barrels daily to an average of 5,200,000 barrels daily, lowest since May 1950. As a result of this decline, world production during the month was cut back to approximately 11,315,000 barrels daily.

Foreign production increased, but the gain abroad was only a small part of what was lost in the United States by the walkout which shut down about a third of the country's leading refining capacity. Total foreign production, exclusive of the Communist-controlled areas, increased 121,000 barrels daily to reach a total of 5,054,000 barrels daily. It was the first time foreign production has topped the 5,000,000 barrel daily mark.

Most of the increase abroad was accounted for by considerably greater oil production in Canada and Iraq. Canadian production was up almost 54,000 barrels daily in May with full seasonal operation of the pipe line to the head of the Great Lakes. In Iraq, the May total was 402,100 barrels daily. Most of this comes from Kirkuk field where production has been skyrocketing as a result of the completion of a 30 and 32-inch diameter pipe line from the field to the Eastern Mediterranean.

Venezuelan production rose 14,500 barrels daily in May to hit another new record at 1,844,400 barrels daily. Saudi Arabia and Kuwait both reported drops in crude-oil output during the month. Saudi Arabia fell back 42,500 barrels daily to 836,200 barrels daily, while Kuwait was down 5,000 barrels daily to 778,000 barrels daily.

231 New Producers Completed In Texas During Last Week

AUSTIN—(AP)—Completion of 231 oil wells last week, boosted the year's total of 6,690 compared with 6,165 a year ago, the Railroad Commission reported.

Drilling actively dropped sharply from the previous week, when 313 completions were reported.

There were 160 dry holes.

J. Ed Warren Denies Oil Cartel Charge

By JOSEPH HUTTLINGER

WASHINGTON—J. Ed Warren of Midland, deputy petroleum administrator, has denied that he or the PAD have been helping seven oil companies set up "a giant international oil cartel."

The lifelong independent oil producer spoke out after a statement from Senator Thomas J. Hennings (D-Mo) who has been pressing the Justice Department to start a grand jury inquiry into the alleged cartel.

The senator, speaking of the companies reported to be involved, said:

"Whenever their special interests can be facilitated as indicated by Senate Hearings in 1945 and 1947, the British Foreign Office and the State Department and the obvious government partisan advocates of their industry, such as the British Ministry of Fuels and the American Petroleum Administration for Defense, back up the big seven with all the power and prestige of Great Britain and the United States."

Companies Named

The companies named by Hennings are Jersey Standard, Socony-Vacuum, Gulf, Texaco, Standard of California, Anglo-Iranian, and Shell.

"The senator is off base," said Warren, who was brought to PAD partly to put down charges that the agency tends to be for big oil companies.

"It does not appear that such a statement could have been made if full information had been known to him . . . I have been an independent oil producer for many years and have been active on committees and groups dealing with the problems affecting the independent producers. Those who know me and my background in the oil industry must be amazed at the implications of the statement, so contrary to my known position. Like myself, a great number of the individuals in key positions on the staff of PAD have had no connection with foreign petroleum operations, directly or otherwise.

WASHINGTON OIL—

Full-Scale Study Of Tidelands Oil Wealth Requested By Chapman

By JOSEPH HUTTLINGER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent

WASHINGTON — A full scale study of the oil wealth in the tidelands and the cost of getting it out is asked of the National Petroleum Council, composed of 100 of the nation's top oil and gas executives.

Secretary of Interior Oscar L. Chapman, acting through his Oil and Gas Division, asked the study in a letter scheduled for consideration at the council's meeting Tuesday. The outlook is the council will agree to make the study.

The critical importance of the tidelands oil is pointed out in two recent reports, the request explains. One report is the council's on future availability of crude oil, which the council pegged at 7.7 to 8.8 million barrels daily by 1955. The other is the White House-backed Paley Commission report of last month.

Neither report, however, goes into the facts of the offshore oil and, in fact, for years there has been confusion. Estimates of the value of oil in the submerged lands range from one to 100 million dollars and the estimates of exploration, development and production costs are equally far apart.

The government suggestion is for a study on two bases. One is condition of war, calling for high speed development; the other is for conditions of peace over the next five years.

To make the findings comparable, the council is asked to assume the same conditions as assumed in the availability report, put out last January by a committee under L. F. McCollum of Continental Oil Company, Houston.

Basic Industry Forecast

The McCollum report, the basic industry forecast, foresaw plenty of oil at home and abroad.

The request specifically states that the council, which prefers to stick to federal matters, need not go into the merits or demerits of state versus federal control of the tidelands.

The council's Tuesday session promises to be the busiest in the life of the organization, set up seven years ago to advise the government.

A dozen or more government and industry officials and two Cabinet officials — Secretary Chapman and Secretary of the Treasury John M. Snyder (on War Bonds)—will address the council. Reports from committees are due and the grand jury crackdown on oil "cartels" is likely to come up.

Agenda Highlights

Here are some highlights on the agenda:

1. The impact of the recent steel strike on oil and gas in coming months, to be outlined by Henry H. Fowler, head of the Defense Production Administration.

2. More details on this from Richard M. Morrison, head of the materials division of the Petroleum Administration for Defense.

3. The details as for oil country tubular goods, from Robert L. Fores, head of the PADs production division. Of importance, will be his views on what's to be done.

4. The cost of oil from coal, with another report, perhaps a final one, from the council's synthetics committee under W. S. S. Rodgers of Texaco.

5. The sizes of tubular goods preferred by oil and gas producers, to come in a report due from a council committee under Russell B. Brown, counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

6. A roundup of present and coming problems from J. Ed Warren, deputy petroleum administrator, fresh from a tift this week with cartel-busting Senator Thomas J. Hennings (D-Mo) over PAD's support, if any, for foreign oil companies.

7. A report on relations with other government agencies from Elmer E. Batzell, PAD's counsel. He may tell (1) why PAD disbanded two industry committee systems to meet shortages from the Iranian oil shutdown and the oil strike this Spring; (2) his views on Justice Department's grand jury, civil and criminal crackdown on five American and two foreign oil companies (Jersey Standard, Gulf, Texaco, Standard of California and Socony-Vacuum, and Anglo-Iranian and Shell); (3) Justice is out to wreck the petroleum council.

Other Speakers Listed

Also on the agenda are talks by the PAD's J. E. Brantley on foreign petroleum operations; C. E. Davis, on domestic; Charles J. Hedlund, to warn of East Coast heating troubles this Winter; Col. W. J. Worcester on avgas; Howard S. Spering, alkylation facilities.

Brig. Gen. Alfred H. Johnson of the Munitions Board petroleum committee, and Col. Douglas Brown of the Armed Services Petroleum Purchasing Agency, are down to speak. A report on petroleum storage capacity is due from L. S. Westcoat, president of Pure Oil Company. The council is to decide whether to undertake a government request that it study use of radio by oil and gas industries.

Thrift Plan Set Up For Employes Of Continental

A thrift plan for the employes of Continental Oil Company will become effective August 1, it was announced in Houston by President L. F. McCollum.

About 7,300 Conoco employes in 25 states, who are members of the company's retirement plan, are eligible to join the thrift plan, said McCollum.

Under the plan, an employe may open a thrift plan account and deposit two, four, or six per cent of his pay, whatever amount he chooses, by monthly automatic payroll deduction. Continental then contributes to the employe's account 50 percent of his deposit, or 50 cents for each dollar deposited by the employe.

Trustee of the plan will be the National Bank of Commerce of Houston, Texas.

Three Channels

"An employe who opens a thrift account," said McCollum, "may direct the trustee to invest his savings and Conoco's contributions in U. S. Government bonds, Continent Oil Company, or both. Or he may leave his entire account in cash, without interest.

"Interest and dividends earned by the bonds or stock in the employe's account go into the employe's account," he explained. "The employe may also change his investment plan from time to time. He may, through the trustee, convert his cash account to stock or bonds or sell securities and reinvest the proceeds, with gains added to and losses deducted from his account."

Conoco thrift plan members also have certain stock voting and fund withdrawal privileges. Entire accounts, including company contributions and income from investments, may be withdrawn after five years of participation in the plan or upon retirement. During the first five years of participation in the plan, members may withdraw their deposits and income from investments, subject to certain adjustments.

In the event of death, the member's beneficiaries, or his estate, will get the entire account, including company contributions and income from investments.

According to McCollum, Conoco will contribute about a million dollars each year to the plan, and the company will never be permitted to recover its contributions. Conoco also pays all administrative costs of the program.

Strike Is Direct Cause For Delaying Lone Star Gas Line

Pipe shortages directly attributable to the recent steel strike have forced Lone Star Gas Company to delay laying more than 130 miles of major transmission and gathering lines especially designed to meet increased customer demands anticipated this winter.

This condition was reported by Lone Star President D. A. Hulcy of Dallas, who said that the two pipe line construction projects represented in the 130 miles had been set for completion in September and October. He added that numerous other transmission and distribution lines replacement and extension projects throughout the company's operating area also have been set back.

Meanwhile, a Lone Star representative is to confer in Washington with PAD officials to determine the possibility of revising pipe line delivery schedules in view of the steel strike settlement.

Largest of the two transmission lines referred to is the seventy miles of 20-inch diameter pipe to extend from Garvin County in Oklahoma to Lone Star's compressor station at Petrolia in Clay County, Texas. Application for this construction has been approved by the Federal Power Commission.

Gathering lines totaling thirty miles of 18-16-12 and 10-inch pipe were scheduled for installation in the Golden Trend area to deliver gas to the seventy-mile transmission line. These, with fifteen miles of smaller diameter gathering lines, are also in the delayed status.

A thirty-mile line of 12-inch diameter had been scheduled for installation from the Miers gas field in Sutton County, connecting to Lone Star's transmission network near Eldorado in Schleicher County. This line was to have established a new source of supply from a new major dry gas field, Hulcy said, pointing out that construction of this pipe line has also been postponed to an extent dependent upon when the necessary pipe can be made available. Construction was to have started in the middle of July and completion was set for September 1.

"Jet streams," the extremely fast currents of air which circle the earth from west to east two to three miles up in the sky, probably are the result of a mass of cold air from the north meeting a mass of warm air from the south.

Glidden tours, sponsored by industrialist Charles J. Glidden, were popular in the early days of the automobile as a means of testing out the automobiles and the driver over a specific course, but with no accent on speed.

Permian Pete —By Bob Evans

Pioneer Automobile Inventor Eyes Solar Energy For Power

DETROIT — (AP) — If there is a "grand old man" of the auto industry he's Charles F. Kettering, noted engineer-scientist, whose seventy-fifth birthday was observed last year with one of the biggest parties ever held.

Younger in spirit and physical capacity than many persons 20 years younger by the calendar, "Boss Ket," as his friends call him, deserves that "grand old man" designation on several counts.

One of the best liked persons associated with the auto industry, no other man living has contributed as much to the industry's development.

Kettering invented the self-starter that did away with hand cranking and many broken arms and jaws; he gave the industry ethyl gasoline and high compression engines; he developed the two-cycle diesel engin that led to diesel electric locomotives, and he blazed the way for many refinements in other fields of scientific research.

There were, for instance, his artificial fever therapy for the treatment of certain blood diseases; his participation in the Sloan-Kettering Institute for cancer research; his development of a new type of refrigerants and many other advances.

Long head of General Motors Research Laboratories, Kettering "retired" in 1947 to continue as consultant with GM, but the retirement was more theoretical than real.

He operates pretty much the same today as he did before. He maintains an office in the GM Research Building, continues his intense interest in industrial and botanical research and keeps in close touch with the engineering staff.

"There's been altogether too much predicting and not enough long range thinking and planning," he said in an interview.

"The world has nothing to fear but stupidity and nothing but stupidity can cause trouble. As long as the sun shines we'll be all right."

He is deeply interested in "time and the sun" as two of "our chief resources." The "wonderful age," he says, "will come when man learns to draw directly upon the sun for power." The use of solar energy as automobile fuel, he adds, still is a distinct possibility.

"Boss Ket" holds there isn't any mystery in the world, everything is simple provided you have the proper understanding."

Miami Wildcat In Runnels Is Plugged

Miami Operating Company, Inc., of Abilene No. 1 Clara McKissick, Runnels County Wildcat, six miles southeast of Crews and in the northeast sector of the county, has been abandoned and plugged on a total depth of 3,800 feet in a lower Pennsylvanian formation.

It did not report having logged any possibilities of production.

800 ARE JAILED

CAPETOWN, SOUTH AFRICA — (AP)—The civil disobedience campaign of South Africa's non-whites—defying white supremacy laws — has landed more than 800 persons in jail since it started a month ago, it was announced Saturday.

After more than five years of preparation, a photographic sky chart of the Milky Way as seen from the southern hemisphere is ready for distribution to 150 astronomical observatories throughout the world.

The section of the reef lime so far penetrated was reported to be saturated with oil. Electric surveys are to be taken and then casing will be run and cemented to allow making a production test. Tentative top of the reef lime is picked to be at 8,611 feet. Elevation is 3,100 feet.

It is 16 miles northwest of Lamesa. The top of the reef was picked from a core taken at 8,580-8,630 feet.

Recovery was 31 feet of shale and three feet of reef lime. Operator figures that the bottom 16 feet of the core, which is thought to have been reef lime was lost out of the cutter.

The three feet of reef lime which was recovered was well saturated with oil. There were no signs of water.

It is thought that the project will be completed as some sort of an oil well, despite having only a relatively thin pay section above the water.

C-N Runnels Gets Site For Shallow Wildcat Explorer

J. K. Hughes Oil Company of Mexia is to drill its No. 1 C. R. Kendrick as a 4,800-foot wildcat in Central-North Runnels County.

It will be 330 feet from north and east lines of the Sawyer and Vancil survey No. 51 1/2, and on a 70-acre lease.

It is three miles northeast of Winters and five miles southwest of the Sykes, (Morris Sand) field.

The projected destination of 4,800 feet is calculated to take the prospector into the Ellenburger.

Operations are to start in the immediate future. Rotary tools will be used to dig the hole.

Casing Is Cemented In Tom Green For Production Tests

B. F. Jones and Kenneth Lyons of San Angelo No. 1 J. W. Field, wildcat in Central-East Irion County, has cemented five and one-half-inch casing at 782 feet with 300 sacks to test the Clear Fork lime which showed oil in samples to 756 feet, which is total depth.

When bottomed at 460 feet, No. 1 Field bailed two and one-half gallons of oil hourly. It found sulphur water in drilling to 675 feet.

If the Clear Fork fails to develop commercial production, operator will plug back and try to complete from the San Andres lime at 439-40 feet, 446-52 feet and from 500-06 feet.

Aurora Schedules East Offset To Gaines Discovery

Aurora Gasoline Company has staked an east offset to its discovery in the Jenkins, North (Devonian) field in Central-South Gaines County.

It will be drilled as No. 1-A M. S. Doss, 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 398, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

Wood, Et Al Set 6,600-Foot Test In SE King Area

Frank Wood Associates, Inc., of Wichita Falls will drill No. 1 G. M. Smith as a 6,000-foot wildcat in Southeast King County.

It is to be dug as No. 1 G. M. Gillespie, 467 feet from north and west lines of section 107, block PM, H&TC survey.

Cities Service Is Running Logs After DST In Tom Green

Cities Service Oil Company and others No. 1 Arnold Brenek, Central Tom Green County wildcat, five miles south and east of San Angelo found salt water in the Ellenburger in a drillstem test of that zone at 6,224-6,336 feet.

The tool was open for two and one-half hours. Recovery was 90 feet of salty drilling mud and 1,110 feet of water.

There were no shows of oil or gas in the section and there were no signs of possible production in any of the upper formations.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure during the test at 6,224-6,336 feet was from 125 pounds to 730 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure, after 20 minutes was 985 pounds.

Stanolind Finals Edge Producer In S-C Terry Field

Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 6 M. G. Scales has been completed as a flowing producer in the Wellman field of South-Central Terry County.

It was completed for a daily flowing potential of 310 barrels of 41-gravity oil through a 16/64-inch tubing choke and from pay at 9,716-10,010 feet.

Gas-oil ratio was 385-1. Pay had been treated with 500 gallons of acid. Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 22, block C-36, psl survey.

Amendment Filed For Ward Project

Argo Oil Corporation has filed an application changing the location and fee name for its recently staked wildcat in West Ward County.

Originally filed as No. 1 Bessie Brown, it will be drilled as No. 1 Bessie Barron, 1,400 feet from No. 1 Bessie Barron, 1,400 feet from northwest and northeast lines of section 177, block 34, H&TC survey. Old location was 467 feet from north and east lines of the same section.

Glasscock Wildcat Plugged, Abandoned

Eight miles northeast of Garden City and in Northeast Glasscock County, Olsan Brothers, Inc., No. 1-A L. C. Clark has been plugged and abandoned.

It was quit on total depth of 5,000 feet after making water.

Texaco Abandons Yoakum Wildcat

The Texas Company No. 1 Tom Cobb, wildcat in Northwest Yoakum County, has been plugged and abandoned after drilling to 12,168 feet in the Devonian.

That formation was topped at 12,136 feet, no elevation reported.

Trellis Mae Madly For Adlai But Sorry There Was No Piano

EDITOR'S NOTE: Trellis Mae Peeble, America's average housewife, writes her husband that the climax of the Democratic National Convention was a better family show than "East Lynne!"

By HAL BOYLE

CHICAGO —(AP)— Dear Darling Wilbur,

There must be something better in life than being President of the United States.

I could see that in the face of Bess Truman Friday night when her husband came out on the platform to give his farewell address to a Democratic Convention.

A great roar went up as the President quick-stepped out, strutting like a bantam rooster. You could tell the great pride Bess has in that little fighter. I thought her eyes reddened with tears at this last great tribute to him, but if there were tears, Bess didn't bother to wipe them away.

It was a big hour for him as he launched into his favorite sport—giving the Republicans hell. But it was a bigger hour for her, the signal for their return to a private life together after years of swimming in the public goldfish bowl of politics.

Wilbur, you could see they were both having a wonderful time. After the President finished his batting practice against the Republicans, he introduced Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the new nominee.

Well, Reluctant Adlai took a generous stand. He forgave the convention for nominating him, said he was an awful small fellow for such a big job and then began slashing right and left at the Republicans. He used a rapier, whereas the President had been clubbing at them with a ball bat.

Then the convention wound up its biggest evening with a real old-fashioned family hour. The delegates were introduced to two of Governor Stevenson's three sons. The Veep and Mrs. Barkley came out and finally Mrs. Truman joined them.

It was a contrast between the old and new in politics, the transition of one age to another and the convention felt it and went wild with applause. Somehow I was sorry nobody thought to put a piano on the platform. All that was missing was Harry playing "Home, Sweet, Home," with his daughter Margaret singing the lyrics—and maybe Jimmy Durante closing the show by saying, "Good night, Mrs. Calabash, wherever you are."

Man For Her Own

Bess Truman was the last to leave. Turning, she waved her hand gaily, and her face shone like a schoolgirl's. I suppose it was because she felt she soon will have at last what every woman wants—her man to herself, for the years they have left.

Well, Wilbur, I suppose you are less interested in woman talk than you are in what kind of a man this Adlai Stevenson is. To tell you the truth, the delegates themselves are rather puzzled at this nominee they were told they drafted—on the third ballot.

Harry Truman looks and acts like a small businessman who suddenly rose to great power and learned how to live with it. But Adlai Stevenson is more like an aristocrat who has gone into politics because he has a sociological interest in the common man. What the delegates find hard to understand is his humility. They aren't used to humility in either aristocrats or politicians.

Your loving wife,

Trellis Mae

P.S. But you take Ike in November. I'm madly for Adlai.

A new vehicle which operates like an Army tank has been developed for use in shuttling coal from veins to coal cars for beneath the earth's surface. Equipped with treads similar to those of an Army tank, the "shuttle car" is powered electrically, and its "extension cord," or power cable, is plugged into an outlet in the same way as household appliances.

Eight Forward Speeds, Two Reverse Due In Newest Cars

DETROIT — (AP) — An automatic drive that provides eight speeds forward and two in reverse is being built by the automobile industry.

But it isn't now intended for use in a conventional type passenger automobile; it was developed for use in a new military type. Yet it may be the forerunner of a new automatic transmission for passenger cars.

The industry's research laboratories are doing a great deal of work on automatic transmissions; many improvements in present systems first were initiated in military vehicles. Similarly, many recent advances in engines, steering and braking grew out of lessons learned in military vehicle design.

So industry experts believe many engineering advances that will mark 1954 and later models will come out of developments in military vehicles being designed and built in automobile factories today. Automobile engineers now are working on passenger car design for 1954 and 1955.

Probably no motorist would want an automobile drive with eight speeds forward and two in reverse unless they operated very smoothly and quietly. Yet there are widely divergent viewpoints regarding types of automatic transmissions currently in use.

Some drivers prefer actual shifting of gears while others want the torque converter type. Automatic gear shifting is exemplified in General Motors' hydramatic unit, brought out by Oldsmobile shortly befort World War II. Most other automatic transmissions introduced subsequently are of the torque conversion type.

Both types have design and operating features the transmission engineers would like to incorporate in one transmission unit. Much of the work currently under way in the research departments has that end in view.

SCHOOLS START HOUSING HUNT

Public school officials Saturday sounded their annual appeal for housing facilities for faculty members who will be arriving in Midland soon for the 1952-53 term.

They said the demand this year will be larger than ever since a record number of new teachers have been employed to staff the new school buildings which will be occupied this Fall.

All types of living quarters are needed, including furnished and unfurnished houses, apartments and bedrooms.

Those having such facilities available are asked to contact Charles Mathews at No. 4-5589 as soon as convenient.

"We always have been able to provide housing for our teachers, and with the help of Midland citizens we again can get the job done," Mathews stated.

Fibercast Line Pipe To Be Laid Monday On NW Ector Lease

An experiment in the use of plastic line pipe in moving corrosive petroleum liquids will be started Monday at a Gulf Pipe Line Company installation in Northwest Ector County.

That concern will lay 2,500 feet of 4 1 2-inch OD, class 200 fibercast line pipe on an Amerada Petroleum Corporation lease in the northwest side of the Goldsmith field.

To Connect Lease Battery —

That pipe will be laid to connect a lease tank battery on Amerada's Cummins lease to a Gulf pipe line gathering system.

This will be the first time fibercast pipe has been laid to move corrosive petroleum liquids in the Permian Basin according to Jay Robison of Odessa, distributor for the carrier which is to be run on the Amerada lease.

Robison is owner and operator of Odex Engineering Company. That concern is distributor in the Permian Basin for the fibercast pipe which is manufactured at Tulsa by Perrault Brothers.

Has Many Uses

That pipe is being used uccessfully as tubing in oil wells and for many other purposes in the oil fields.

It is a thermo-setting plastic product which is reinforced with glass fibers. It is said to be non-corrosive and to withstand temperatures of from minus 65 degrees Fahrenheit to 350 degrees Fahrenheit.

The pipe is flexible, light-weight and has high impact and tensile strength.

To Start Early

Laying of the 2,500 feet of the plastic pipe on the Amerada lease in the Goldsmith field is to start at 9 a.m. Monday.

All persons in thie area who are interested in the handling of petroleum liquids are invited to be present for the pipe laying.

Lt. Griffin Flies 100th Jet Mission, Returns To Midland

First Lt. Carroll R. Griffin, Jr., of Midland, an F-80 jet Shooting Star pilot of the 8th Fighter Bomber Wing, has just flown his 100th combat mission and has returned home on rotation.

On his last combat mission, Lieutenant Griffin led a flight of Shooting Stars to the front lines where it knocked out six bunkers and tore up over 200 feet of trenches.

The day the 8th blasted the Suan supply center completely off the map, Lieutenant Griffin flew three missions to the target.

"That Suan raid was a tough one," said the Midland man, "because we had to fly down a narrow valley with machine guns on both sides. On my second trip through with napalm bombs, I got hit in my tail section, but was able to make it back to the base without any trouble."

Griffin is married to the former Joan Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Chapman of Midland.

Martin County Trippers Visit Area Farms, Ranches

By GARVIS P. ROSS
Special Correspondent

STANTON — More than 35 persons from Martin and neighboring counties Friday viewed thousands of acres of farm and ranch lands and saw a number of fat and sleek FFA and 4-H calves on a 75-mile field trip conducted through the country to the north of Stanton. Most of the country covered was green as a result of recent rains.

Farm and ranch people, soil conservationists and business men and women made the trip, which was sponsored by the Agriculture and Livestock Committee of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce. The motor caravan included some 10 or 12 cars.

Leaving the courthouse here at 9 a.m., the trippers stopped first at the Stanton home of Norman Blocker, an FFA student, who exhibited his club calf, along with a 4-H Club calf being fed out by W. A. Douglas.

The next stop was at the Bill Hull farm where Homer Lee Hull exhibited an FFA calf and two 4-H Club calves.

Permanent Pasture

The cover crop permanent pasture at the Walter Kelly farm was the next impressive sight which captured the attention of the trippers. The green pasture, a beautiful sight, was one of the first developed in this section. It is in its third growing season. Cover crops in genera, were discussed at this stop.

Then a little past mid-morning, the motorcade pulled in at the farm home of Owen Kelly, where Owen Kelly, Jr., prominent 4-H Club member and show winner, exhibited three 4-H animals.

Then it was on to the E. B. Dickenson ranch, operated by J. C. Sale, for a paper sack lunch served by the Martin County Home Demonstration Council.

The visitors inspected the fine house, barns, pens and other facilities at the Dickenson headquarters, one of the best-equipped and best stocked ranches in West Texas. Many championship club calves each year come from the Dickenson-Sale herd of fine Herefords.

The LeRoy Mattingly farm was the first afternoon stop. The trippers there viewed one of the finest irrigated cotton crops in this area.

Final Stop

It was a tired group which returned to Stanton late in the afternoon to end the first of two scheduled field trips. The next will be held next month, and will cover the country to the south of this county seat city.

Ray Hastings, chairman of the Chamber's Agricultural and Livestock Committee, headed the Friday tour, assisted by other members of the panel, including J. C. Sale, James Eiland, Ed Robnett and H. O. Phillips.

Stanley Wheeler, C. of C. president; Hila Weathers, manager, and other Chamber of Commerce officials made the day-long tour.

Martin Vavra and Steve Bavonsette, of the Soil Conservation Service here, and Cal Boykin, Jr., soil conservationist from Midland, also made the trip, along with E. D. Steele, Stanton High School VA teacher, and Charles Daniels, PMA administrator.

Giraffes, natives of Africa, may grow as tall at 19 feet.

REDS DENOUNCE IKE AND ADLAI

MOSCOW — (AP) — The Soviet press Saturday denounced both Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson and Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower, rival U. S. presidential candidates.

The Soviet news agency Tass called Stevenson "the spokesman for the interests of industrial and financial groups of the Middle West." It said Stevenson proved himself a true partisan of the cold war and total diplomacy."

The agency quoted the Chicago Tribune to the effect that Eisenhower "is a man who doesn't have sufficient background to occupy the post of President and whose views on foreign policy are not distinguishable from President Truman's.

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And Plain As Day

Said Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy: "Daddy Ringtail, please tell me again why the elephant has a long trunk instead of a nose like I have."

Daddy Ringtail told him again. Daddy Ringtail told how once in the long ago, all elephants had no trunks at all. Instad they each had a nose like a little button. And then one day an elephant sniffed at some cheese in a mousetrap. "Snap!" went the trap, and the elephant's button nose was caught fast so he couldn't get away. What oh what should he do? Well, he pulled and he pulled and he backed away and he pulled some more until his nose came loose at last. "Pop!" Ah me, because now the nose was stretched real long to be a trunk like an elephant's trunk ever since. "And that," said Daddy Ringtail, "is why the elephant has a trunk."

"Oh now, Daddy Ringtail," said Mugwump, "I think you are teasing Why does the elephant really have a trunk?"

Daddy Ringtail told him. Daddy Ringtail explained that an elephant has a trunk for the same reason that a camel has a hump. And why does a camel have a hump? Well, Mugwump would have to find a camel and ask her, and so Mugwump hurried away to do it, and he did. He found a camel-people and said: "Mrs. Camel, will you please tell me why you have a hump?"

"Humph!" said the camel with never a smile. "I have a hump for the same reason that a tiger has his stripes."

"And why, Mrs. Camel, does a tiger have his stripes?"

"Humph!" said the camel again. "You will have to find a tiger and ask him." And so Mugwump hurried away to do it, and he did.

"Mr. Tiger, why do you have stripes?" asked Mugwump. But made a mistake. This tiger was not a friendly tiger-people. This was a dangerous tiger with dangerous tiger stripes and he began to chase after Mugwump to catch him. Yes, and the tiger's dangerous mother with dangerous tiger stripes began to help with the chasing, and Mugwump saw plain as day just why a tiger has his stripes. He has them to be like his mother, and the camel has a hump to be like her mother, and the elephant has his trunk to be like his mother. Happy day!

Ship's High Mast Trimmed 20 Feet

Later when the tanker put into San Francisco Bay, riding high without ballast, she struck the Carquinez Bridge with the mast, scaring motorists.

When the Tonan Maru visited the Pacific Cost again recently the old whaling mast was 20 feet shorter.

GEOLOGY LIBRARY—Mrs. James W. Carroll, librarian, helps oil man Maurice Kennedy look up some needed information. Seated is Ross Murchison. Books for the geological department are purchased by the West Texas Geological Society, which now owns 4,500 volumes. One of the division's most important services is helping new Midland oil men obtain quick background information on this area.

PERIODICAL ROOM—Many Midlanders, like the ones pictured above, prefer to do their reading in the quiet of the periodical room, which librarians say is most crowded at noon and after 4:30 p.m. During these hours, they reported, prospective readers are turned away each day. The library subscribes to 140 periodicals and seven newspapers.

TERMINAL—Vacation time means free time for these four Terminal boys and they intend to spend at least part of it reading. Here, Mrs. J. L. Taylor, director of the Terminal branch, suggests some books they might like. Youngsters, left to right, are Mark Forrester, Muril Smith, James Dean Morrow and Jerry Smith. Books for the Terminal collection are supplied by the Midland library.

CHECKING OUT A BOOK—Mrs. James Merrell checks out a book from Mrs. William C. Cartwright, assistant librarian. An average of 13,000 volumes are issued each month. The library contains a total of 20,000 books which last year reached a circulation of 130,585. The main desk at which the picture was taken also serves as an unofficial information center, with patrons requesting the facts on everything from Bach to best-sellers.

BORROWERS' CARDS—Nancy Shoup, library page, as the teen-age assistants are designated, watches while Mrs. H. E. Rothrock, left, and Mrs. J. T. Gist fill out borrowers' cards. More than 200 such cards were issued in June, Mrs. Carroll said. Other pages are Simone Walker and Thomas Dilday.

NEW BOOKS—Mrs. Carroll assists Mrs. A. B. Fickman in selecting a volume from the new books section. The library, together with its Terminal and Dunbar branches, maintains a staff of two full-time and two part-time workers, plus several teen-age pages.

TREASURE-SEEKERS — The youngsters pictured at right are part of the crowd which daily visits the children's department of the library. The department, under the direction of Mrs. Fern Thompson, currently is conducting its annual Summer reading program. This year's theme is "Seeking Treasure in Books." The department's facilities are not limited to books and magazines, however. The children also have access to stereoptican slides, puzzles and records. A weekly story hour is held at 10:30 a.m. on Saturdays. The children's department is located in the basement of the courthouse and the adult division, on the first floor. Branch units have been established on Carver Street for negroes and at Terminal.

MEN AND WOMEN TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your druggist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If this very first bottle doesn't show the simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if undesirable pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic, from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Lost 32 Pounds

"I am writing to tell you how much good Barcentrate has done for me" writes Mrs. E. J. Pantenat, Box 625, Anahuac, Texas. "I weighed 193 pounds when I started and am now down to 161 and am still taking Barcentrate. I feel better than I have in six years and I cannot begin to tell you how proud I am to lose weight."

And Mrs. J. W. Harp, 908 S. Cedar, Cleburne, Texas, writes to say: "I think Barcentrate is wonderful. I lost 26 pounds taking it—from 146 to 120. I now have my normal weight and feel like a new person."

Helen Calcote, S .W. Lawson Repeat Vows

Vows were solemnized at 6 p.m. Saturday in the First Methodist Church for Helen Calcote of Rankin and Sterling Whitfield Lawson, also of Rankin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Calcote of Rankin. Lawson is the son of Mrs. E. P. Lawson of Midland.

The ceremony was read before a central sunburst arrangement of orchids and white gladiolus, flanked with woodwardia greenery and trees. Two candelabra were placed on each side of the center arrangement and baskets of gladiolus completed the decorations. The aisles were marked with green satin bows.

George DeHart, organist, played a program of nuptial music including "Air from Water Music Suite," Handel; "When Thou Art Near," Bach; "In Summer," Stebbins, and "Trumpet Tune," Purcell.

Mrs. Thompson Is Soloist

Mrs. Frank Thompson, soloist, sang "At Dawning" and "Because."

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of white chantilly lace fashioned with a fitted bodice and a full skirt over organdy. The long sleeves came to points at the bride's wrists, and the organdy ruffle around her hemline dipped to form a short train in back.

Her fingertip length veil fell from a headdress of bugle beads and sequins over organdy. She carried a hand bouquet of ivy strands and stephanotis, centered with a white orchid.

Marsha Nell Heald of Midland, niece of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor. She wore a full length dress of orchid organdy over matching taffeta. A short cape designed with two rows of ruffles and ties at the neckline was worn over the fitted bodice. The dress was fashioned with a full skirt. She wore a picture hat of orchid organdy and carried a hand bouquet of ivy strands and orchid daisies.

Mrs. Sterling Whitfield Lawson

Bridesmaids were Nora Faye Long of Midland, Jacque Donnell of Eliasville, Mrs. Ike Fitzgerald of Midland and Mrs. Herman Calcote of Rankin, sister-in-law of the bride.

Wear Similar Dresses

Their dresses, two of green and two of orchid, were styled like the maid of honor's. They wore matching picture hats and carried bouquets of ivy strands.

Betty Jean Calcote of Rankin, niece of the bride, was the flower girl. Her dress, also styled like the maid of honor's, was of green organdy. She wore a polk bonnet of matching organdy and carried a basket decorated with ivy strands and green satin ribbon.

Raymond Lawson of Midland, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Carlton Stephenson of Rankin and Eddy Tekell of Midland were the candlelighters. Ushers were E. P. Lawson of Midland, brother of the bridegroom; Herman Calcote of Rankin, brother of the bride; Raymond Herren of Midland, and Marshall Heald of Midland, brother-in-law of the gridegroom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Hotel Scharbauer. Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Calcote, Mrs. E. P. Lawson and members of the wedding party assisted the couple in receiving guests.

Mrs. T. L. Stephenson served the punch and Mrs. Raymond Lawson, the cake. Jane Minta presided at the guest book.

The refreshment table was covered with a cloth of ecru lace and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with white rosebuds. Baskets of orchid and white gladiolus were used in the reception room.

Mrs. Lawson attended Texas Technical College in Lubbock. She was employed in Midland by Magnolia Petroleum Company. The bridegroom attended Courtney High School.

After August 5 the couple will be at home at 1509 South Baird Street.

NEW! Greatest Home Permanent ever!

Procter & Gamble's

Lilt with "Naturalizer"!

New miracle ingredient, "Naturalizer,"

used after Lilt's Waving Lotion

MAKES WAVE LONGEST-LASTING POSSIBLE IN SHORTEST TIME POSSIBLE TODAY!

NOW... in every LILT PACKAGE in every store!

"NATURALIZER" is in this envelope, marked FIXATIVE

REFILL still only $1.25* *plus tax

Compare Lilt WITH THOSE NO-NEUTRALIZER WAVES!

SEE WHY LILT WAVES take up to 5 HOURS LESS TIME and LAST up to 3 TIMES LONGER!

(Two girls start at same time—3 o'clock Saturday afternoon)

A LILT WAVE

1st step — She started her Lilt at 3 o'clock. It took her only about an hour to finish the entire waving lotion step—including test curls!

First step finished—4:14 o'clock

LILT WAVE FINISHED—and hairdo styled too—IN LESS THAN 2 HOURS! 4:52 o'clock

Pin curls dry fast (but hair wound on curlers does not). So, by 6:30, her Lilt is already brushed and combed into a smart, lovely hairdo!

And best of all, her Lilt wave is so permanent—so much like Naturally Curly Hair, it will last months and months!

LILT WAVES LAST up to 3 TIMES LONGER!

A NO-NEUTRALIZER WAVE

1st step — She also started at 3 o'clock. Has wound curls and applied waving lotion; rinsed with water (or used towel to remove excess lotion).

First step finished—4:00 o'clock

2nd step — (which you may not know about) She is now starting to WAIT 6 HOURS, with her hair on curlers. (With No-Neutralizer products you need slow drying on curlers.)

STILL WAITING! She's worried now. She has a date at seven!

2 HOURS GONE—3 MORE TO GO

NO DATE FOR HER TONIGHT! She still has HOURS TO WAIT!

10 O'CLOCK—SECOND STEP FINISHED . . .

7 hours after she started! And LOOK at that kinky, frizzy hair—because it dried on the curlers! Now she has to re-wet her hair and set it in pin curls!

But what she still does NOT know is—HER WAVE IS ONLY SEMI-PERMANENT! Won't last nearly as long as a Lilt.

Six Midlanders Will Attend School of Missions In Lubbock

Six Midlanders plan to attend the third annual Northwest Texas Methodist Conference School of Missions to be held in Lubbock Monday through Friday.

They are O. N. Kinard, district secretary of missionary education; Mrs. Albert Russell, Asbury Methodist Church; Mrs. Ned Swallow and Mrs. Chester Tyra, St. Mark's Methodist Church, and Mrs. J. H. Fraizer and Mrs. Ed L. Smith, First Methodist Church.

Mrs. T. W. Whigham will serve as dean. Members of the faculty will include Mrs. W. B. Landrum, New York; Mrs. E. C. Calhoun, San Antonio; Mrs. Joe T. Rogers, Wichita, Kan.; Mrs. William Dingus, Mrs. Cecil Matthews, Mrs. C. A. Bickley and Mrs. M. L. Hines, Lubbock, and Flora Foreman, Amarillo.

Attending the school for the first time this year will be a group of girls of the Northwest Texas Conference who are planning to make Christian service their life work.

In 1951 the conference sponsored a caravan of girls who visited several home mission projects. This year, under the supervision of Mrs. Cecil Matthews, the girls will attend the study and discussion groups concerned with the various fields of Christian service.

Special work in clinics will be given for the following local and district officers: president, vice president, recording secretary, promotion secretary, spiritual life, Christian social relations, missionary education, missionary service, literature and publications and Wesleyan Service Guild.

Workshops will be conducted on channeling missionary information, program building, administration and publicity and study and action.

If you like to serve one hot dish with warm-weather meals you'll find that corn pudding often fills the bill. It tastes good with so many meats—baked ham, cold tongue or corned beef, chicken and turkey.

Mrs. Marshall W. Bailey

Barbara Harding And Marshall Bailey Wed

In a double ring ceremony Friday evening Barbara Conkling Harding became the bride of Marshall W. Bailey. The ceremony took place in the First Christian Church with the Rev. Clyde Lindsley officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Conkling of Midland. Bailey is the son of Mrs. A. K. Bailey of Eldorado.

Mrs. William S. Conkling, sister-in-law of the bride, was her only attendant. Wallace Cozzins, nephew of the bridegroom, was the best man.

For her wedding the bride chose a dress of ashes-of-roses nylon lace and tulle and a fitted jacket and bouffant skirt. She wore powder blue accessories and her corsage was a white orchid and stephanotis.

After the ceremony the bride's parents honored the couple with a wedding supper and reception in the Petroleum Club.

Decorations on the refreshments table carried out the bride's chosen colors of silver and pink. The table was covered with a point Venice lace cloth over a white satin flowered skirt. The centerpiece was an arrangement of pink net wedding bells filled with cascades of pink roses and lilies - of - the - valley. Silver streamers extending the length of the table accented the corner corsages of pink roses tied with silver ribbon. Silver appointments were used.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Reagan Legg, Mrs. Hilory Bedford, Mrs. James R. Day, Mrs. Clark Steinberger, Mrs. Ray Hurst, Mrs. James Harper, Mrs. J. C. Mayes, Jr., Mrs. Karl Nichols, Mrs. David Donaldson, Mrs. Olin Prather, Mrs. Sol Kelley, Mrs. Joe Daniels, Mrs. Kenneth Newton, Mrs. Bill Beckers, Mrs. Coe Mills, Mrs. Lamar Eschberger and Mrs. Paul Goodrich of Houston.

For the wedding trip to New Mexico and Colorado the bride chose a platinum grey taffetized suit with rhinestone accessories. She wore a white hat and gloves. After the wedding trip the couple will be at home in Midland where Bailey is associated with the Atlantic Oil and Refining Company.

The bride attending Texas Christian College in Fort Worth and is a graduate of Texas Tech in Lubbock. Bailey attended Washington State University and is a graduate of Texas Tech. During World War II he served 4 1-2 years with the U. S. Air Force.

France Asks U. S. For 625 Millions

WASHINGTON—(AP)—France has asked the United States for 625 million dollars to step up arms production and meet its military Treaty defense plan.

This is more than half the $1,282,000,000 Congress voted for defense support aid for all of Europe.

American officials reportedly have promised the French 186 million dollars for the 12 months which began July 1, and see little chance of meeting the full French request without reducing the arms production program planned in the United States.

No Truce In Prices Either, Joy Finds

OTTAWA—(AP)—The man who battled the Communist truce negotiators at Panmunjom says the rise in prices is the biggest change he has found in North America in the three years since he went away.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy told a reporter who spotted him at a tourist camp Saturday that he regained 20 pounds in a post-Korea holiday on Ontario's French River.

He's on his way to Annapolis, Md., to assume command of the U. S. Naval Academy August 1. Everything will be fine, he said, as long as he doesn't get tied up in any more truce negotiations.

He left here for Montreal.

Hollywood Fights U. S. Suit To Force TV Use Of Product

HOLLYWOOD—The U. S. government this week is suing to force studios to release their pictures to television. But the major companies still present a strong front against the new medium.

Still holding firm is conservative MGM, which has made no attempt to release its stars or pictures to TV. Sole exceptions: Red Skelton. This week MGM boss Dore Schary told the Hollywood Advertising Club why the studio will not allow its contract players to appear on the home screens.

"First of all, there are legal problems involved," the executive said. "We do not know what the attitude of the talent guilds will be. Secondly, we want control of a star's performance. We have built up the reputation, prestige and power of our star list because we have protected our stars. That's why MGM has more stars, and why its stars have lasted longer.

"The lighting, cutting and camera angles on TV are not up to movie standards. We cannot afford to have a star make a poor appearance on TV.

"Also, we think stars would wear out their welcome if they appeared too often on TV. We have proven in the movie business that stars like Clark Gable and Spencer Tracy cannot remain popular if they appear in five or six pictures every year. Anyway, there are not that many good pictures for them in a year . . ."

Sign of the times: the production chart lists 39 feature pictures being made. But six are shooting in London, and one apiece in the Fiji Islands, Paris, New York, Rome, Mexico, Kanab, Utah, and Fort Lee, Va. Thus a third of the films are on location, mostly out of the country. Is it any wonder film workers are groaning? . . .

John Houseman, who is producing "Julius Caesar" here, says he isn't worried about reports that Orson Welles is planning a film version in Rome. "Orson is a great announcer of projects," Houseman remarked.

COMINFORM CONVENTION

ROME—(AP)—A Summer meeting of the Cominform probably will be called in Prague within the next few days, the newspaper Il Tempo said Saturday, quoting sources "close to Italy's Communist party headquarters."

BARBER GETS FREE HAIRCUT

SEOUL, KOREA—(AP)—Forward observers of an Allied unit on the Eastern Front spotted a small group of Communist soldiers in an outdoor "barber shop" just behind the front northwest of the Punchbowl.

One North Korean soldier was in the barber chair getting a haircut. Three others were waiting their turns.

A United Nations tank lobbed in one shell. The three waiting customers dove for a ditch. The second shell scored a hit.

District Extension Officials To Meet In Midland Tuesday

A number of state and national extension service officials are expected to be in Midland all day Tuesday for a District 6 program planning session, it was announced Saturday by Charles Green, Midland county agent.

Green said the meeting will be similar to other sessions being held in extension districts in the state to improve work programs.

District 6 includes 28 West Texas counties.

Among those expected to attend are Joe Matthews of the national extension service at Washington, D. C.; Joe M. Glover of Fort Stockton, district extension agent; Miss Vida Holt of Fort Stockton, district home demonstration agent, and a number of extension officials from Texas A&M College.

Green said the meeting would be held in the assembly room of his office in the Midland County Courthouse.

FUTURE BRIDE—Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hagler of Midland announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Swan, to Airman 1/c Paul D. Archinal of Lockland, Ohio. Archinal is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Archinal of Lockland. The wedding will take place October 4 in the First Baptist Church. After the wedding the couple will make their home in Houston where Archinal is stationed at Ellington Air Force Base.

'Blackout' Of Election News Cited As Part Of Texas Law

HOUSTON—(AP)—There were a lot of things different in Saturday's Democratic primary—the first state-wide election under Texas' new election law—but for the average citizen over the state the "most different" was the blackout on voting news from Harris County.

For more than a quarter of a century, thanks to the Houston Chronicle and The Associated Press, first indications of how Texas might be expected to vote came from Harris County.

But the new law establishes a penalty up to $1,000 for any election official who gives out a count before the polls close. Hence the new blackout on early election news.

The MATURE PARENT

Divorced Parents Must Guard Against Losing Child's Trust

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

The divorced parents of a little girl 13 currently are waging a much-discussed, bitter international fight over her custody. It's reported she wants to stay with her father and objects to visiting her mother.

Another child of 13 whose parents are embattled over her custody is in the news, too. Newspapers have published a letter she wrote to Pia Lindstrom. In it, she says, "I am 13 and you are 13 and a girl needs a mother. Don't let yourself be influenced."

A child of 13 who lives with one parent who is fighting another for his custody can no more avoid being influenced by the tensions around him than he could avoid reacting to the temperature generated by an overhead furnace.

Divorced parents who resent having to share their child will do well to recognize this—and take steps to protect him against the influence of their anxiety and anger. Unless such steps are taken, they may lose him.

None of us is perfect in wisdom. Since we make mistakes today, the chances are we'll make a few tomorrow. When our child is 13, he may regard us as perfectly right. But this impression does not last.

When he is 19 or 20, he forms judgment of his own. It is his nature then to question ours if they do not check with his. As he begins to question our judgement on late hours, his choice of friends, on the fun he enjoys, we cease to be perfect to him and every value we have ever given him comes under close scrutiny.

Then the divorced parent who has presented himself as faultless is in trouble. If he has laid all the weight of blame for his unhappiness on his former partner, this idea comes under close scrutiny along with all his others.

The bill comes in for the bitter condemnation in which we have indulged and the child who has begun to question thinks: "How mistaken is my mother's judgement of my friend! How quickly this father of mine leaps to conclusions! Was this what my absent parent had to put up with?"

When this happens, our child is without anchor. He is orphaned of trust in both his parents.

When we are sick with a high fever, our judgment of cold and heat is unreallable. When we are feverish with anger at what we believe is betrayal, our judgment of the betrayer in unreliable.

While nobody with any understanding of the human heart could ask us to feel tenderness for one who seems to have injured our hopes for happiness, we should be able, if we are grownup people, to bring honesty to our situation. We should at least be able to admit our abnormal state and make it known to the child we profess to love to protect his trust in us.

"Unless we feel, we must claim perfection, we should be able to say, 'Look, my dear, I have been hurt and am very angry. Therefore, I do not see clearly. So what I say of your absent parent is unreliable. Love me—but do not believe what I say for a while.'"

Then we may keep our child and he will keep us.

Our efforts to justify our cause by trying to alleviate our child from his other parent is distrust of our own cause. If we trusted it, we would not need to exert self-will upon the young person for whom our misjudgment has created many problems.

Jury Fails To Find Evidence For Case Against Attorney

TOPEKA, KAN.—(AP)—A special federal grand jury Friday found there was insufficient evidence to warrant an indictment against Lester Luther, ousted district attorney for Kansas.

The jury reported "no bills" in both the case of Luther and Nicholas Lopes. Lopes was one of Luther's assistants before joining the Justice Department's Chiminal Division. He resigned from the department May 9.

The attorney general had said he wanted the jury to consider evidence that Luther shared in fees paid to Lopes for representing the Dolite Company, Toledo, Ohio, in a tax case.

LEAF WORMS INVADE AREA

Leaf worms have appeared in cotton fields in Martin and Glasscock Counties and will probably migrate to Midland County, Charles Green, Midland county agent, said Saturday.

Harrison Walks Out On Reds To End Truce Talk For Week

MUNSAN, KOREA — (AP) — Allied negotiators Saturday accused the Communists of "utter hypocrisy" and walked out of the Korean truce talks for a week.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison, Jr., senior United Nations delegate, told the protesting Reds he would return August 3.

"If you have anything worth saying before August 3 you can say it to our staff officers," Harrison declared.

The walkout ended the first open session at Panmunjom in three weeks. Eighteen off-the-record meetings since July 4 failed to break the deadlock over how to exchange prisoners of war—key obstacle to an armistice.

In Tokyo, Gen. Mark Clark, supreme Allied commander, said the closed sessions failed to produce results because the Communists "refused to recognize the inescapable fact that a large percentage of Communist prisoners refused flatly to go back to their former masters."

Staff officers then met for 39 minutes and will meet again Sunday.

"In these meetings," Harrison said, "we have been restrained in our statements and have tried to be accurately faithful. Your statements on the other hand, have demonstrated utter hypocrisy. You have said we want to retain your personnel. What we know, what the world knows as a fact, is that those prisoners are afraid to be returned as slaves to the tender mercies of Communist control."

Funeral Held For Kin Of Midlanders

Funeral services for Mrs. Charlie L. Hargrove, 59, of Odessa and sister of Mrs. W. J. Wilson and Mrs. O. T. Brinson of Midland, were held Friday at Colorado City.

Mrs. Hargrove died Thursday in Odessa after a long illness. She and her husband had lived there the last five years.

Born Oct. 2, 1892 in Mitchell County, she was married in January, 1907, at Sterling City.

RECENTLY MARRIED—Mr. and Mrs. Travis Barnett are at home in Midland after a wedding trip to Ruidoso and other points in New Mexico. The couple was married recently in the First Methodist Church in Odessa. The bride is the former Reba Young of Midland, daughter of Mrs. Howard Pickens of Temple. Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Williams were the attendants.

British 'To Take Action' In Egypt If Lives Endangered

LONDON—(AP)—A Foreign Office spokesman said Saturday Britain will take action in Egypt if the military coup there endangers British lives.

The spokesman said Gen. Mohammed Neguib's statement that the Egyptian Army will be responsible for the protection of foreign lives and property has been noted in London.

Informed sources said the British attitude was made clear in Alexandria when British Minister Michael Creswell called on Egyptian Premier Aly Maher Pasha.

Britain in effect served notice then on Egypt's new strong man, General Neruib, that she would not tolerate any duplication of the January 26 Cairo rioting in which 26 foreign lives were lost and British property suffered damage estimated at 280 million dollars. A 100,000-man British garrison is stationed in the Suez Canal zone.

Seismograph Shows Light Earthquakes

CLEVELAND —(AP)— John Carroll University reports that its seismograph recorded two moderate earthquakes Friday afternoon.

The school, which estimated the quakes to be 5,200 miles from Cleveland in an undetermined direction, announced they occurred at 3:15 p. m. and 3:49 p.m. Both were in the same spot, said the school.

TERM GIVEN

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—Lynn Sample, 25, was sentenced Friday to 25 years in prison after conviction of murder in the March 8 slaying of Clyde Ramsey, automobile dealer.

Famed Star Is Dev oted To Family Life

By BARBARA HALE
Written for NEA Service

Lovely screen star Barbara Hale tries to devote as much time as she possibly can to her two young children. Even a between-meal snack (upper left) is a casual occurrence in the Hale household. The actress likes to tell Jody and Billy stories to keep them relaxed as they eat. Since all children love their parents to play with them, Barbara Hale sets aside an hour a day for just such activity (lower left). Jody likes to supervise when her mother brushes baby Billy's hair (right). She says it makes her feel grown-up. The baby doesn't seem to mind the feminine attention at all.

The fact that I am an actress has made very little impression upon my four-year-old daughter, Jody, and her year-old brother, Billy. They are much more interested in, "Read me a story, mommy," and "Why do we have to take a nap? We want to play."

I guess that's what I like about them best. More than anything else in the world I want them to be normal, healthy children, with all the desires and interests that are suitable for their ages.

There are moments, I must admit, when I certainly envy the mother who is able to devote the entire day to her babies. My career, naturally, keeps me away from home, but I have worked out a system that I believe is satisfactory for all of us.

When I am making a picture, I keep either my mornings or afternoons free. This depends, of course, on the demands the studio must make. During these special hours, I play with Jody and Billy, and try to teach them to share each other's toys and generally get along.

I don't, however, interfere with their "baby" arguments. For one thing, it is so easy to show partiality when you are judging from an adult point of view. I've noticed when I leave them alone, disagreements are forgotten almost before they start.

We do enjoy playing together, though, and they are especially pleased when their father joins us. Jody seems particularly entertained when I show her how to jump rope or bounce a ball. Billy, on the other hands, likes to be the center of attraction and exhibit his ability to ride his bicycle or toy truck.

Of course, like every other mother, I do have difficulty convincing the children that they should take their naps. In fact, often when I am home, the only way I can get them into bed is to join them. This really is not such a good idea because I usually find myself falling asleep, and they, taking advantage of the unexpected freedom, never even bother to shut their eyes.

One of our most enjoyable periods together is what we call "beauty" time. This includes such items as baths, hair brushings and polish on Jody's nails.

Billy, little exhibitionist that he is, thrives on all the feminine attention. He doesn't however, let us become too powerful. Whenever he feels we are overstepping our bounds, he quickly leaves our attentions behind for his father's masculine presence.

Story-telling plays an important part in our family relationships, too. By promising to tell a story, I can get my children to eat, to bed, to act like little cherubs. The power that "The Three Little Bears" wields often is staggering. But you may be certain I don't complain.

There's never a dull moment in my home, and I'm thankful for it. Having such wonderful, active children keeps me alert, young and happy. I consider their upbringing the most important part of my career.

PMA Adds 20 More Grain Investigators

DALLAS — (AP) — The Agriculture Department has announced a new program aimed at stamping out illegal grain handling practices.

C. Hilary Moseley, director of the Production Marketing Administration Office here, said the regional staff of warehouse investigators had been increased from four to 10 in the last 30 days.

In addition Moseley said, every warehouse storing Commodity Credit Corporation grain will be inspected twice a year. One of the inspections will be a complete physical inventory.

Army Mustering Out Checks Due For Veterans Of Korea

WASHINGTON—(AP)—First mustering out pay checks for about 500,000 Army veterans of the Korean War will be mailed about August 15.

The Army announced qualified veterans who have left the service since June 27, 1950, should apply to the Army Finance Center, St. Louis, for the bonus payments authorized by Congress, including their separation forms with their applications.

Payments are scheduled at a rate of about 180,000 monthly. All ranks below major in the Army will receive $100 for less than 60 days service since June 27, 1950; $200 for more than 60 days within the United States and $300 for more than 60 days including overseas duty.

Schedules of payments for Air Force, Navy and Marine veterans have not been announced.

Famous Melodrama Opens To Full House

The lessons of sobriety and virtue were presented gleefully to a capacity crowd of Midlanders Friday night at the opening performance of the Summer Mummers' "The Drunkard."

The four-act melodrama, sub-titled "The Fallen Saved," was staged in the American Legion Hall. Patrons cheered the hero and hissed the villain in the best tradition of the old-time Music Hall.

Art Cole was convincingly melodramatic as the young collegian dragged down by the evils of alcohol. And the villain, Lawyer Cribbs, played by Charles Dixon, was convincingly ruthless.

Little Thomas Beal, Jr., portraying the drunkard's son, nearly stole the show with his rendition of "Father, Dear Father, Come Home to Me Now."

Other members of the cast were Mrs. J. Henry Williamson, Jr., as Mrs. Wilson, a pious mother; Mrs. Thomas E. Beal as her dutiful daughter, Mary; Thomas E. Beal as William Dowton, a heroic son of the soil; Betty Jean Wilson as Agnes, his half-witted sister; Mrs. Henry Hall as Miss Spindle; George T. Brown as the Keeper of the Bar, and R. A. Connolly as Alden Rencelaw, philanthropist.

Others in the cast were Walter C. Beardsley, Stanley B. Shaeffer, William W. Cumberland, Bill Adam, W. S. Key, Jr., and Waring Bradley.

Following the final curtain of "The Drunkard" an olio of vaudeville acts was presented. Those participating were Betty Gaines, Dolly Reid, Bill Adam, Mary Lo Jackson, Helen Snyder, Art Cole, Pat Cross, Frankie Jones, Robert Richard, Reba Hawthorne, Lea Baranich, M. O. Gibson, Enid Little, Delores Franklin, W. W. Cumberland, Frankie Ratliff, Joan Johnson, Thomas E. Beal, Barbara Reilly, T. F. Harriss, Jessie Scott, Buck Kirksey, Curlee McElhatten and Mrs. Henry Hall.

The melodrama played to a full house both Friday and Saturday nights and will continue its run next Friday and Saturday. Tickets and reservations are on sale at Tailorfine.

Prisoner Of Russians Reveals How He Revised Reds' Economic System

Russia has a less ridiculous bookkeeping system today because it considered Samuel Kaplan an "insecure social element" in 1940 and cast him into a labor camp.

Kaplan, once a banker in his native Finland, is now representative of a Finnish newsprint firm residing in Houston. He visited The Reporter-Telegram in connection with his business, but he also made friends here and gave an account of his unique "one-man economic revolution" while under the Communist thumbs.

But about five months later he was sentenced to five years in a labor camp as a political prisoner of Russia, or, as the Kremlin phrased it, an "insecure social element."

"There were three men in Moscow who pronounced the sentences," Kaplan recalled. "They had long lists of the prisoners and sentenced them at random—'Three years for this one,' 'Five years for this one,' etc."

To Dig Ditches

Kaplan's camp was near the Caspian Sea. It covered the area of several square blocks and was surrounded by electrified fences. Armed guards were prominent in all quarters. The inmates were international: Finns, Poles, Italians and others from almost every Eurpean nationality.

"Most of the labor was to be used in digging irrigation ditches," Kaplan recalled, "but men of the trades could follow their own line of work if it were needed. Most wanted to do just that.

"I was a banker. What could I do? I volunteered for the ditch digging. The other prisoners thought I was crazy.

"But if I dug the ditches, I could get outside of the fence. I didn't want to stay inside all the time. So each day about 28 of us were marched to the irrigation ditches. One armed guard was in front. Another armed guard and a bloodhound were behind us.

"Our quota was 26 square meters of dirt a day. If we dug that much dirt, we got our regular ration of bread and soup. If we failed we got less, but if we dug more, we got more food. The regular day's ration was half a pound of bread. We got more because we were manual laborers

Used His Algebra

"One day I made a mental note of where we started to dig. At the end of the day I figured we had dug 12 per cent more than our quota, and I told the guard.

"He said we had dug no more. We would get the regular ration.

"But I insisted and told him how I had figured up the day's total. He was an uneducated peasant and knew no algebra, so he called the chief engineer, a Russian woman. She was educated, and she confirmed my figures. The report was made out in triplicate with one copy going to the kitchen, and we ate better.

"Later on, I was told, 'You keep the book,' and I didn't have to dig any more. But I did at times because I felt I should help the other prisoners meet the quota."

Kaplan, now over 60, is tall, sturdy, tanned and a distinguished-looking man. But he said that if he had served the full five years of the sentence it would have killed him.

He had been in the prison camp a year when the Kremlin granted amnesty to Finnish political prisoners, but there was a catch to it.

Made 'Russian Citizen'

"They tore up my Finnish papers and gave me a Russian passport. They told me I was now a Russian and I couldn't go back to Finland. The Communist Committee outlined a small area in Siberia and said I must go there and stay; I couldn't go anywhere else.

"What could I do? I went there."

In the little Siberian town where Kaplan was assigned he found conditions much as Americans picture it. Everything was under the control of the government; there was fear and poverty.

"The secret police are everywhere. In a factory, the worker next to you may be a spy. If he complains about you, you can be sent back to the labor camp. Children are taught in the schools to spy on their parents. If they speak up about the government, they can be liquidated. The children are rewarded for telling about it to their teachers."

Kaplan had to hunt for a job in the little Siberian town, and he found one in one of Russia's many government cooperatives. The cooperatives combined several minor industries.

"I had to account for the raw materials the workers used. They made shoes and needed leather. The carpenters needed lumber. All the books had to be kept by the Communist system, item by item, and everything was set by quotas. At the end of the year, everything had to come out with 10 per cent profit, and the profit had to be put back into the work.

Chaos In Siberia

"But there was no profit. There was no pay for the workers. In prison camp, if we worked a full month, meeting our quota every day and did not have to be punished, we were paid eight rubles (80 cents). But the worker in Siberia, he was getting nothing.

"All the banks are controlled by Moscow. If a worker buys a pair of shoes from the cooperative and doesn't pay, the money is taken out of his bank account. An old, bearded carpenter came to me and complained that he had no money for food because he was not paid for his work.

"What could I do? Nothing. I could have denounced him for complaining, and he would have been sent to the labor camps. The Russians are unhappy. But what can they do?"

Kaplan could not understand the complicated rules the Kremlin set down for keeping books, so he devised a simple method of his own. It was far more adequate and manageable than the Red regulation, and before many months the cooperative began to show a profit.

Soon the workers were able to draw their pay and to meet their obligations. There was more work for the people.

The day of reckoning came in 1942 when the cooperatives had to make their reports to a central agency, the representatives reporting to another Siberian city with their annual reports. The others were 77 per cent below their assigned quotas. Kaplan's cooperative was 127 per cent above the quota.

"They asked me how I did it. What could I say? If I said I used my own bookkeeping system and did not use the Communist system, they could send me back to the labor camp for defying the authority. If I told them otherwise, that, too, would be bad.

"Because my cooperative was the only one to go over the quota, they did not send me back to the camp. They even asked me to teach the 'Kaplan system' to the others. But I told them I could not. I didn't know the Communist system well enough, and my own system was contrary to the regulations."

Heads Moscow Bureau

But even the Russians are not so dense they can't recognize a system that gets results. Kaplan was "promoted" up the Communists' financial ranks until he was in a Moscow office as head of the economic bureau for all of Central Russia.

All this time, however, "Russian Citizen" Kaplan, was not allowed to communicate with anybody in Finland. His wife died while he was a prisoner of the Russians.

The United States, however, was a wartime ally of the Soviet and Kaplan was permitted to write letters to this country. His daughter became a professor at the University of Houston and he was able to write to her there.

A year after World War II the Russians had a change of heart toward its "citizens" who were Finnish nationals. They told Kaplan that he could return to Finland if he desired, "but of course he would prefer to remain here in Moscow with the benevolent Communist government."

Of course, he did not.

Kaplan sailed on the first boat for the United States where he expects to remain. He often returns to Finland for visits and to handle business in connection with the newsprint industry, but he wants nothing more to do with Russia.

He allows as how Texas is by far the better place to live.

Air Force Cancels Future B-36 Plans

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Air Force has shut off its orders for B-36 heavy bombers. Deliveries under existing orders will run into 1954.

An Air Force spokesman said the big B-36 with combination jet and piston engines "will be supplanted eventually by other types."

The announcement said the manufacturer of the B-36, Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corporation, will be given other essential work, including "pre-production work on new prototypes," when B-36 production tapers off at its Fort Worth plant.

What planes would be included in the new prototypes was not disclosed. Nor would the Air Force say how many B-36's have been built or ordered.

Convair already has built a prototype all-jet heavy bomber, the B-60 with a higher potential speed.

Wholesale Prices Show Slight Climb

NEW YORK —(AP)— Wholesale commodity prices, as measured by The Associated Press commodity index, edged slightly higher this week.

The index at 184.39 compared with 184.15 last weekend and with 199.31 a year ago. The base year of 1926 equals 100 in this index of 35 important wholesale commodity prices.

Air Lines Request South Texas Routes

CORPUS CHRISTI—(AP)—A hearing on Trans-Texas Airways' request for continued approval to operate two South Texas schedules will be resumed here Monday.

The hearing opened earlier this week.

R. C. Tomkins, executive vice president of the Lower Rio Grande Valley Chamber of Commerce, said farming in the Valley is "big business" and all types of airline service must be continued if the area is to keep growing.

Also under consideration at the hearing is whether Braniff and Eastern Air Lines should continue operations in the area south of San Antonio and Houston.

Prudential Success Story

Ross Harper

Meet Ross Harper, new Prudential Division Manager in Odessa and Midland—a young man who has found a satisfying career and life-time opportunity with The Prudential Insurance Company of America.

Ross began his Prudential career in Odessa in November, 1950 . . . less than two years ago. He has been an outstanding Special Agent because he knows the problems and the needs of the people of his community.

Since 1937, when Ross came to Texas, he has been close to the oil industry, first in Kilgore, and then in Odessa and Midland. He came to these communities in 1946 after completing his World War II service with the Air Corps, where he rose from private to major in less than five years.

Ross is a solid citizen and his civic activities, plus his membership in the American Petroleum Institute and the American Legion, help to make Odessa and Midland better places in which to live.

His promotion to Division Manager is a well-deserved advancement for Ross Harper . . . and proves again that a young man with ability and leadership qualities can find a life-time career with The Prudential. If you seek an opportunity that challenges your very best, call Ross Harper today—he can show you the way.

Midland Far Behind On Car Inspectoins

Eleven thousand vehicles in Midland remain to be inspected by September 6 under the motor vehicle inspection law, it was announced Saturday by Jim Hankla of Pecos, inspector for a 13-county West Texas area.

Hankla said there are 16,845 registered vehicles in Midland County, and only 5,640 have passed inspections from a mechanical standpoint at authorized inspection stations.

The inspector said that owners must get the vehicles inspected by September 6, or be subject to a fine up to $200.

Hankla pointed out that purpose of the law was not to force older model vehicles off the road, but to make them mechanically safer from a safety standpoint.

There are 11 authorized inspection stations in Midland, or vehicle owners may have inspection made in another county.

Inspection stations in Midland are: Elder Chevrolet Company, Mackey Motors, Broadway Motors, Erskine Motors, Murray-Young Motor Company, Miles Hall Buick Company, Curtis Pontiac Company, Kent Auto Servie, Car-Truck Rental Company, Hays Automotive and Jordan's Garage. The latter place will remain open until midnights to facilitate inspections.

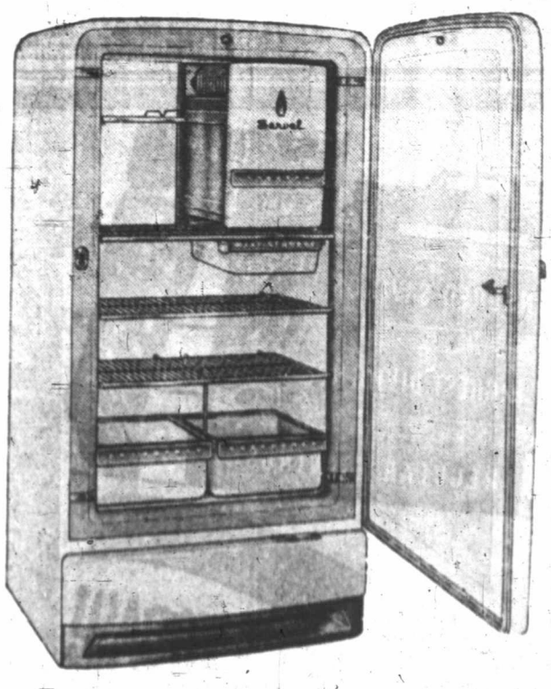

Hankla said that in this 13-county area, Midland and Ector Counties were the furtherest behind in having inspections made.

Divided Texans Sure To Find Favor, Regardless Of Victor

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Texans here in the Capital find at least one optimistic way of looking at the strife that has torn the ranks of their friends in both political parties down home.

Regardless of who gets elected next November, a good number of Texans should have access to the White House for a conference with the man who resides there come next January 20.

This was assured when the battling Texans sent opposing delegations to each national political convention, and by virtue of the fact that the contest for party standard bearers was so close in both instances that the large Texas vote was of vital importance.

The man who gets elected won't forget the jockeying and high pressure operations that went on in Chicago as delegates lined up for the balloting. The aides who surround him in the White House can be expected to have a list of names, mental if not in print, of those who stuck by their boss when the issue was still in doubt.

Those whose names are on such a list certainly could expect to get sympathetic consideration when they called and asked for a meeting with the No. 1 man.

Backing A Winner

So, Texas as a state is in a position somewhat similar to the big law firm that finds its partners dividing politically to back opposing candidates, or the businessman who sends campaign contributions to both sides. Somebody in the family is sure to be backing the winner.

The stand of the delegates in the convention, especially of the leaders, may reflect to the advantage of their state or even to themselves personally.

For instance, a group of civic leaders may come to Washington urging federal financial assistance on some public project—just as they did in plugging for the proposed 85 million dollar reservoir and acqueduct system to serve a dozen towns and cities in the Texas Panhandle and high plains area.

Right or wrong, if the leading spokesman for the group had been a staunch supporter of the incumbent President when his political fate was in doubt, the group would be much more likely to get an audience, and a sympathetic audience, with the chief executive. And, the President's views, expressed through his budget bureau, weigh heavily with congress when it appropriates money.

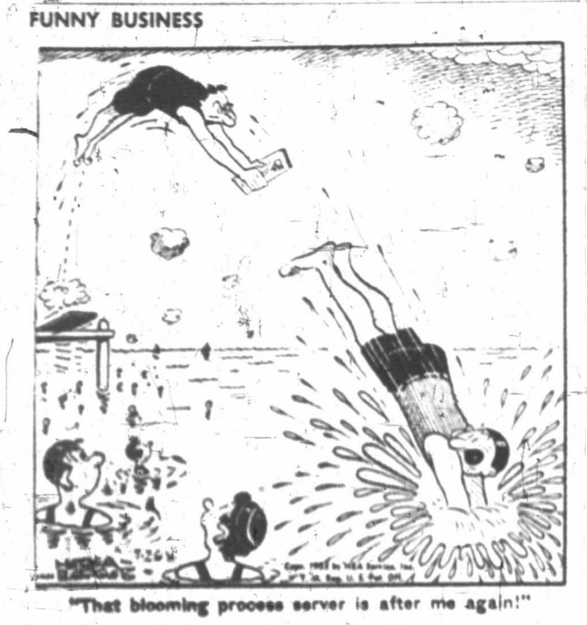

Lawyers who have backed the successful candidate usually have less difficulty getting a hearing for their client before this or that federal bureau or tribunal. The President himself may never know the individual attorney nor of his business, but eventually the word gravitates down the line that this particular lawyer was a friend in need, back when. More and more business, better paying clients come his way.

It may not be right, but it's true, and a practice that's likely to continue regardless of what party is in power.

Evil uses of such political ties are the exception. Certainly, by and large, those individuals who have taken a lead in political affairs in their home state and extended that interest on through to the national political convention do not abuse the the privileges that reward their efforts.

Preapiration and constant wear are hard on shoes. Allow your shoes to rest and dry out thoroughly between wearing so that they will regain their original shape and consequently give you longer service.

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

The cattle market was weaker and sluggish on 469 head at the Midland Livestock Auction sale Thursday. Quite a few plain and mixed breed stocker calves and yearlings were offered.

Stocker calves, both steers and heifers, sold at $27 to $30. Mixed breed yearlings and two-year-olds brought $18 to $21, while Hereford yearlings and seconds drew $23 to $26.50.

Butcher calves and yearlings, no choice kinds consigned, cleared at $27 to $30, mediums $24 to $27, commons $20 to $24, culls $16 to $20. Butcher cows, none choice, auctioned for $16.50 to $18 for medium grades, $10 to $16.50 for canners and cutters. Bulls went at $18 to $24.

• • •

Well Pardner, you didn't have to use that slicker too much last week, but better keep it handy because the West Texas rainy season is not over as yet.

• • •

The weather cleared off sufficiently during the week for farmers to get seed in the ground, and now a big feed crop is forecast providing moisture hits right in August and September. Irrigated cotton continues to progress on schedule, with a fair crop in the making.

• • •

County Agent Charles Green again urges cotton farmers to watch for boll worms and to start control measures promptly if and when the worms are discovered.

• • •

Pastures to the North of Midland are said to be the greenest and most beautiful in years as a result of the recent rains. Grass and weeds have come along nicely and in quick order to change the picture suddenly and completely for ranchers in that section. Would be worth a drive out in the ranch sector to see the green pastures. The lawns in Midland look better than ever, too. It is remarkable what a little rain will do in West Texas.

• • •

• • •

Water was still standing in the country just East and Northeast of Midland Saturday a week ago following a near cloudburst East of the city.

• • •

Now that the Republican and Democratic conventions are over, we can all get back to work with the realization that things are going right along as usual out here in the cow and oil country. With a little more rain, things will be even better and West Texans can sit back and enjoy life as the presidential candidates wear themselves out in their White House campaign efforts.

The gates are open and both presidential hopefuls have standing invitations to visit this section of West Texas. Would be glad to meet them and to hear what they have to say.

Mexican labor conferences, sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, local chambers of commerce, Texas Cotton Ginners Association, Trans-Pecos Cotton Association, El Paso Valley Cotton Association, Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers Association, and Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, are scheduled next week. The sessions will be held in Haskell, August 4; Littlefield, August 5; Lamesa, August 6; Pecos, August 7, and El Paso, August 8. All are afternoon meetings, starting at 1:30 o'clock.

1:30-1:40—Opening Remarks and Welcome.

1:40-2:10—Address by Michael J. Galvin, under secretary of Labor.

2:10-2:40 — "Amendments to the Migrant Labor Agreement and Work Contract for 1951," William S. Tyson, solicitor, U. S. Department of Labor.

3:05-3:40—"Certification and Processing Procedure," Henry LeBlanc, chief, Farm Placement Department, Texas Employment Commission.

3:40-4:30—Question and Answer Period. Presiding: R. M. Fielder, chairman, WTCC Agriculture and Livestock Committee.

Continued strong demand for beef will tend to hold meat prices steady at the retail level, says H. M. Conway, director of research for the National Live Stock Producers.

"Although production of beef is on the increase several factors tend to offset these increases which could possibly result in lower retail proes. These include the liquidation of some hog supplies, lack of the sheep industry to furnish greater proportion of meat to total supply and the many wage earning families which has strengthened the demand for beef.

"Regardless of these demand trends," continued Conway, "it seems well to recognize that the future of the beef cattle business is becoming considerably more speculative. Part of this is due to the increased production and transportation costs that continue to push the buying power of the live stock dollar downward.

"This change in buying power comes about as the prices of manufactured goods and services catch up with the level of raw material prices, including live stock, resulting from the early stages of inflation or emergency periods.

"As breeding herds and supplies of cattle are built up during the periods of favorable position in regards to the purchasing power of the live stock dollar, these same supplies of cattle are marketed rather when a break in the market comes, regardless of its cause."

A rip-roaring horse show program will provide excitement and color during all three weekends of the 1952 State Fair of Texas, October 4 through 19, Livestock Manager Ray W. Wilson has announced.

Premiums totaling $10,340 will be awarded for classes ranging from cow horses to pony-cart teams. The judging program for Quarter horses, Palominos, Shetland ponies and the open cutting horse contest is one of the most comprehensive in the fair's history.

The Quarter horse show, October 4-12, will feature the Texas' cowpoke's favorite mount in halter classes and in a series of roping, cutting and reining events that will demonstrate perfect partnership between man and horse. Eight trophies will be offered by the American Quarter Horse Association in addition to the $3,840 ni cash prizes.

State Fair Specials

The open cutting horse contest, October 10-12, will offer $2,000 in prize money, plus a trophy from the National Cutting Horse Association for the champion cutting horse.

The final week of the fair, October 13-19, will be enlivened by Palomino and Shetland pony shows, performance classes of which will be presented together to give the horse show program a colorful circus spirit.

122 Texas Counties Growing Castorbeans

Texas A&M says that 75,148 acres had been planted to castorbeans in 122 counties under the Commodity Credit Corporation program up to June 25.

America's Farms Are Ready To Face Big Future Demands

By ROBERT E. GEIGER

WASHINGTON — (AP) — If any Americans are worrying about where their next meal is coming from, or how their children will fare in years ahead, a Department of Agriculture report may put them at ease.

It says the ability of U. S. farms to produce is so enormous it can meet any foreseeable demand for food and fibers—even if there's a war.

But an important part of this farm study is another conclusion its authors reached. They say it now is possible, because of farm know-how, to increase production tremendously without harming the soil. On the contrary, they say, the land would be made richer year after year.

The report is based on state-by-state studies made by land-grant colleges and the Agriculture Department. It was started shortly after the outbreak of the Korean War to determine how the nation might fare in another world war.

Even without a war and despite huge population increases, the report indicates, standards of living need not be limited because farms can't produce abundantly.

The report says that by 1955 the production of farm products could be increased by one fifth over 1950, which was among the best farm years in all history.

By 1955, it assumed, the population may increase by about 10 million—Census Bureau estimates indicate the gain may be more than this—but even so, it said, the rate of food production could be many times the rate of population increase. Thus the amount of food available for each person would be increased.

"A higher level diet would be provided through more emphasis on livestock and livestock products," the report says. "Total production of meat, including poultry, would increase from 178 pounds per capita in 1951 to 199 per capita for the population expected by 1955."

The increases are possible without substantially increasing the number of acres in crops and without increasing the number of farm workers, the report says. As a matter of fact, war conditions might make fewer farm hands available.

All the increases are possible, the report says, through applying the technical knowledge now available to farmers about growing crops and livestock; giving farmers the incentive (high enough prices) to grow big crops; making more fertilizer available, and producing more farm machinery to take the place of vanishing farm hands.

Farm experts agreed that if all farmers could take advantage of all the know-how available to them today, and farm their lands diligently with these methods, production would be half again as great as in 1950. But they also agreed that as a practical matter not every farmer could apply all this knowledge, or obtain all materials needed, and so they settled for the estimate that it is possible to increase production one fifth.

The report said that in normal times farm production is limited by:

1. Lack of knowledge by farmers of new farm practices developed by scientists and the highest-producing farmers.

2. Uncertainty whether to risk new investments to increase production, or lack of money to make new investments.

3. Limited supplies of key materials, such as commercial fertilizer.

4. Labor problems in some areas.

Napoleon's Willows Reach United States

NEW BEDFORD, MASS.—(AP)—The manager of a golf course in France, laid out on a one-time hunting preserve used by Napoleon, was delighted to get from a New Bedford tree fancier a descendant of the willow that shaded Napoleon's grave.

"There's hardly a willow around here that didn't come from Napoleon's grave," according to Laurence Brooks, retired cotton broker whose hobby now is wood and trees.

The island of St. Helena where Napoleon was exiled and died was a port of call for whaling vessels, Brooks points out, and many a New Bedford whaling captain and captain's wife broke off a twig from the willow over Napoleon's grave. It was brought home in a water-filled bottle to root in New Bedford soil.

It was from such a willow, planted in Milton, Mass., by the wife of a whaling captain from this area that the willow gift to the French golf course was taken.

Pastures to the North of Midland are said to be the greenest and most beautiful in years as a result of the recent rains. Grass and weeds have come along nicely and in quick order to change the picture suddenly and completely for ranchers in that section. Would be worth a drive out in the ranch sector to see the green pastures. The lawns in Midland look better than ever, too. It is remarkable what a little rain will do in West Texas.

• • •

• • •

Water was still standing in the country just East and Northeast of Midland Saturday a week ago following a near cloudburst East of the city.

• • •

Now that the Republican and Democratic conventions are over, we can all get back to work with the realization that things are going right along as usual out here in the cow and oil country. With a little more rain, things will be even better and West Texans can sit back and enjoy life as the presidential candidates wear themselves out in their White House campaign efforts.

The gates are open and both presidential hopefuls have standing invitations to visit this section of West Texas. Would be glad to meet them and to hear what they have to say.

Mexican labor conferences, sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, local chambers of commerce, Texas Cotton Ginners Association, Trans-Pecos Cotton Association, El Paso Valley Cotton Association, Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers Association, and Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, are scheduled next week. The sessions will be held in Haskell, August 4; Littlefield, August 5; Lamesa, August 6; Pecos, August 7, and El Paso, August 8. All are afternoon meetings, starting at 1:30 o'clock.

1:30-1:40—Opening Remarks and Welcome.

1:40-2:10—Address by Michael J. Galvin, under secretary of Labor.

2:10-2:40 — "Amendments to the Migrant Labor Agreement and Work Contract for 1951," William S. Tyson, solicitor, U. S. Department of Labor.

3:05-3:40—"Certification and Processing Procedure," Henry LeBlanc, chief, Farm Placement Department, Texas Employment Commission.

3:40-4:30—Question and Answer Period. Presiding: R. M. Fielder, chairman, WTCC Agriculture and Livestock Committee.

Continued strong demand for beef will tend to hold meat prices steady at the retail level, says H. M. Conway, director of research for the National Live Stock Producers.

"Although production of beef is on the increase several factors tend to offset these increases which could possibly result in lower retail prces. These include the liquidation of some hog supplies, lack of the sheep industry to furnish greater proportion of meat to total supply and the many wage earning families which has strengthened the demand for beef.

"Regardless of these demand trends," continued Conway, "it seems well to recognize that the future of the beef cattle business is becoming considerably more speculative. Part of this is due to the increased production and transportation costs that continue to push the buying power of the live stock dollar downward.

"This change in buying power comes about as the prices of manufactured goods and services catch up with the level of raw material prices, including live stock, resulting from the early stages of inflation or emergency periods.

"As breeding herds and supplies of cattle are built up during the periods of favorable position in regards to the purchasing power of the live stock dollar, these same supplies of cattle are marketed rather when a break in the market comes, regardless of its cause."

A rip-roaring horse show program will provide excitement and color during all three weekends of the 1952 State Fair of Texas, October 4 through 19, Livestock Manager Ray W. Wilson has announced.

Premiums totaling $10,340 will be awarded for classes ranging from cow horses to pony-cart teams. The judging program for Quarter horses, Palominos, Shetland ponies and the open cutting horse contest is one of the most comprehensive in the fair's history.

The Quarter horse show, October 4-12, will feature the Texas' cowpoke's favorite mount in halter classes and in a series of roping, cutting and reining events that will demonstrate perfect partnership between man and horse. Eight trophies will be offered by the American Quarter Horse Association in addition to the $3,840 ni cash prizes.

State Fair Specials

A couple of State Fair special awards will include two silver buckles in the Cowboy's Range Mount class and a trophy for the best all-around Quarter horse.

The open cutting horse contest, October 10-12, will offer $2,000 in prize money, plus a trophy from the National Cutting Horse Association for the champion cutting horse.

The final week of the fair, October 13-19, will be enlivened by Palomino and Shetland pony shows, performance classes of which will be presented together to give the horse show program a colorful curcus spirit.

122 Texas Counties Growing Castorbeans

Texas A&M says that 75,148 acres had been planted to castorbeans in 122 counties under the Commodity Credit Corporation program up to June 25.

In addition, the Baker Castor Oil company has some 16,800 acres under contract in north and northwest Texas.

By ROBERT E. GEIGER

WASHINGTON — (AP) — If any Americans are worrying about where their next meal is coming from, or how their children will fare in years ahead, a Department of Agriculture report may put them at ease.

It says the ability of U. S. farms to produce is so enormous it can meet any foreseeable demand for food and fibers—even if there's a war.

But an important part of this farm study is another conclusion its authors reached. They say it now is possible, because of farm know-how, to increase production tremendously without harming the soil. On the contrary, they say, the land would be made richer year after year.

The report is based on state-by-state studies made by land-grant colleges and the Agriculture Department. It was started shortly after the outbreak of the Korean War to determine how the nation might fare in another world war.

Even without a war and despite huge population increases, the report indicates, standards of living need not be limited because farms can't produce abundantly.

The report says that by 1955 the production of farm products could be increased by one fifth over 1950, which was among the best farm years in all history.

By 1955, it assumed, the population may increase by about 10 million—Census Bureau estimates indicate the gain may be more than this—but eveh so, it said, the rate of food production could be many times the rate of population increase. Thus the amount of food available for each person would be increased.

"A higher level diet would be provided through more emphasis on livestock and livestock products," the report says. "Total production of meat, including poultry, would increase from 178 pounds per capita in 1951 to 199 per capita for the population expected by 1955."

The increases are possible without substantially increasing the number of acres in crops and without increasing the number of farm workers, the report says. As a matter of fact, war conditions might make fewer farm hands available.

All the increases are possible, the report says, through applying the technical knowledge now available to farmers about growing crops and livestock; giving farmers the incentive (high enough prices) to grow big crops; making more fertilizer available, and producing more farm machinery to take the place of vanishing farm hands.

Farm experts agreed that if all farmers could take advantage of all the know-how available to them today, and farm their lands diligently with these methods, production would be half again as great as in 1950. But they also agreed that as a practical matter not every farmer could apply all this knowledge, or obtain all materials needed, and so they settled for the estimate that it is possible to increase production one fifth.

The report said that in normal times farm production is limited by:

1. Lack of knowledge by farmers of new farm practices developed by scientists and the highest-producing farmers.

2. Uncertainty whether to risk new investments to increase production, or lack of money to make new investments.

3. Limited supplies of key materials, such as commercial fertilizer.

4. Labor problems in some areas.

Napoleon's Willows Reach United States

NEW BEDFORD, MASS.—(AP)—The manager of a golf course in France, laid out on a one-time hunting preserve used by Napoleon, was delighted to get from a New Bedford tree fancier a descendant of the willow that shaded Napoleon's grave.

"There's hardly a willow around here that didn't come from Napoleon's grave," according to Laurence Brooks, retired cotton broker whose hobby now is wood and trees.

The island of St. Helena where Napoleon was exiled and died was a port of call for whaling vessels, Brooks points out, and many a New Bedford whaling captain and captain's wife broke off a twig from the willow over Napoleon's grave. It was brought home in a water-filled bottle to root in New Bedford soil.

It was from such a willow, planted in Milton, Mass., by the wife of a whaling captain from this area that the willow gift to the French golf course was taken.

Wise Use Of Extra Garage Space Is Urged By Experts

Do you have a two-car garage? Don't underestimate the contribution it can make to happier family life.

Ever think of the automobile's nesting place as a laundry, photo darkroom, craft workshop, or extra storage space? This doesn't mean that the chariot has to be out in the wind and rain. It can be snug in its own part of the garage and still allow the whole family to be happily busy around it.

One of the latest trends is to equip the garage for a variety of activity for which there is no room in the main house. This is especially true of the basementless dwelling. For counters in a photo-darkroom, and for laundry-sorting centers, acid-and-water resistant surfacing such as clay tile will reduce upkeep to a minimum.

Here is the way a typical two-car garage can be organized for family living: on one wall, have a long work bench with tool cabinets above it and others on either side; on a second wall, build in storage space for out-of-season garden tools, luggage and sports clothing; on the third wall, install the water heater and laundry appliances, including washer and dryer. The fourth "wall" is the garage door, through which the car is driven to be parked centrally in the two-auto space.

The wise owner of a new home, or a remodeled one, will ask his contractor or architect to specify adequate plumbing lines and wall floor installations of easily washed and fireproof clay tile at the same time he blueprints them for the adjoining kitchen area.

With adequate storage space in the neighboring garage, the homemaker can keep insecticides, cleaning compounds, polishes and other cleaning products out of the kitchen, where she needs the space for dishes and food.

Nails Can Save Expensive Repair Bills

By MR. FIX —
Distributed by NEA Service

Although aluminum nails once were regarded merely as substitutes for iron nails when the latter were scarce, they now have earned a niche for themselves as special-purpose fasteners.

Aluminum nails are saving homeowners and builders the annual costs of puttying and repainting.

This is because the nailhead doesn't rust or produce the unsightly brown or reddish stains that are common on wood siding and trim from rusted nailheads.

It's a tedious job for the homeowner to correct this condition and an expensive one if a repairman does it. Every nail must be countersunk and covered with putty or glazing compound.

Moisture still may penetrate into the siding itself and cause the nails to rust. This weakens their holding power and eventually may result in "bleeding" through the paint.

Holding Power Cited

It is one manufacturer's claim that the aluminum nail has all the holding power of the more common nails, but it won't rust. It is more expensive, but more economical in the long run, says the maker.

The same fanufacturer says builders and owners can count on an average saving of $78 per house on longer paint life assured by aluminum nails.

These nails can be used on all siding and on almost all roofing—especially redwood, red cedar and asbestos.

In recent years the use of proper aluminum alloys has increased the strength of aluminum nails. In addition, etching — process which roughens the surface of the nails microscopically and makes them absolutely sterile, has increased holding power up to 100 per cent.

However, even aluminum nail manufacturers do not claim that these nails are suited to all purposes. But wherever water, moisture condensation, water-base paint, etc., are likely to reach the nail, the non-rusting aluminum nail can be employed effectively and economically, according to the largest manufacturers of aluminum nails.

Effective Fasteners

Among the most common types of aluminum nails are the sinker-head and casing-head wood siding nails, cedar shake and shingle nails, asbestos siding nails and roofing nails with neoprene washer and plain shank or screw grip.

Some are sold in vari-colored packages with the emphasis on the amount of nails required for particular jobs, rather than on the weight. This assures the buyer of the proper amount of nails and avoids wastage.

Surface Preparation Is Secret Of Good Paint Job

One of the secrets of a successful paint job is the proper preparation of the surface to be painted, according to Colorizer Paint Council. It must be clean, smooth, and free from grease, oil and foreign matter. Old, loose paint should be removed. With a smooth, clean surface, even a beginner can achieve professional results.

If there are blisters or peeled spots, the surface should be scraped with a puty knife or wire brush and the edges smoothed with sandpaper. All nail holes and cracks should be daubed with paint or linseed oil, puttied, sanded smooth and dusted.

On outside work some of the old paint may be badly blistered or cracked, due to moisture locked under the original paint film, or to inferior paint used, or other cause. If this condition is found in some areas, it is possible that all the old paint eventually will deteriorate. Therefore, it should all be removed, for applying new paint will not bind the old paint to the surface, and time and labor will be wasted.

There are several methods of removing paint. It can be done with a blowtorch or one of the new electric paint-removing tools. The heat quickly softens the paint which can then be removed with a wide putty knife. There is no fire danger with an electric tool, but caution should be taken with a blowtorch.

Painting the interior of a house calls for a similar preparation of surfaces as is required on the outside. If the surface is rough, it should be sandpapered and brushed clean of dust.

Kitchens and bathrooms need a thorough washing with water and strong soap or detergent before painting. Due to steam and condensation on walls, ceiling and woodwork in these rooms, a greasy deposit accumulates and new paint will not adhere to it.

Calcimine, whitewash and cold-water paint must be completely removed before painting with an oil-base paint. This usually can be done by liberal applications of hot water and vigorous brushing. If a non-oil-base paint is to be applied, it is not necessary to remove the old finish.

Before applying oil paint to plaster or concrete, the free lime should be neutralized by spreading a solution of zinc sulphate and water over the surface, in proportion of three pounds of zinc sulphate to one gallon of water. The solution should be applied freely, and allowed several days to soak in and dry before painting.

Home Ownership Pride Brings Out 'Tinker' In Man

Pride of home ownership tends to bring out the tinker in any man and in the last dozen years home owners have increased from 44 per cent to 51 per cent in the United States. So there are more do-it-yourself men than ever before at work in American homes.

Some building materials are idea-producers for the home handyman. They challenge his ingenuity due to their versatility. One such material, readily available everywhere, is prefinished wallpanelling which is widely used for walls and ceilings in home kitchens, bathrooms and recreation rooms as well as in industrial and commercial buildings of all kinds.

Prefinished wallpanels are manfinished in baked enamel in a wide variety of colors and patterns. The base material is eighth-inch or quarter-inch hardboard in sizes up to four feet by twelve feet in dimension. This wood fiber board is rigid yet flexible enough to be used on curved surfaces. It can be cut by ordinary carpenter tools.

Endless Uses

Prefinished wallpanesis are manufactured by companies from one end of the nation to another and are marketed under a number of trade names. In the past this material was known by such terms as wall board, tile board, predecorated panelboard, etc. But whatever name it might be called it is the answer to the home handyman's quest for a material that has almost endless uses.

Here are some practical ideas on the use of prefinished wallpanels around the house. As a background for the dressing table and mirror of a bedroom beauty center, a sheet of prefinished wallpanelling can be applied direct to the wall and finishhed with metal or colored molding as a finishing touch.

White or light colored "blackboards" on which the children can write or draw can be standard equipment in the youngster's room through using a piece of prefinished wallpanel framed and hung on the wall at the proper height.

Guard Beauty Of Your Hair From Drying Rays Of The Sun

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

The effect of the Summer sun on your hair can be devastating unless you take the necessary precautions to keep it shining, lustrous and healthy.

To prevent your scalp from becoming dry and tight, massage a good scalp lotion well into the skin two or three times a week. First part your hair into sections and rub each part with a lotion-dampened cotton square. Use the balls of your fingers, not fingernails, to rub firmly in a rotary motion.

Should the dryness become particularly annoying, hot olive oil shampoos twice a week will prove helpful. Warm the oil and apply it to parted sections with the cotton. Wrap your head in a hot, damp towel for several minutes, and top this treatment with a brisk massage. A thorough shampoo will leave your hair and scalp immaculately clean.

Nothing helps more to add dancing highlights and luster to hair than vigorous and frequent brushing. A brisk 100 strokes morning and night removes dust particles and stimulates scalp—making shampoos last longer. Don't just brush the surface, either. Tip your head so the hair tumbles down, and start from the scalp in long firm strokes.

If your hair happens to be unmanageable because of too much swimming, try a waving lotion. It can be easily applied by touching some to each strand of hair. Follow with a quick pin curl, and in no time at all you will have a perfectly groomed coiffure.

Don't forget, too, to keep your head covered during the heat of the day. A little extra-special care will go a long way in protecting your precious hair and scalp during the hot-weather months.

Sew straps, hooks and eyes on your suits and dresses through every little hole with as strong a thread as will match the weight of the cloth. Save old fasteners on clothing you discard.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1952, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Tension high during Dems' disputes over loyalty oath, seating of Southern delegates; Relatively little "buying" of delegates at this convention; Deals, some double-deals made in closing days.

CHICAGO — There were some tense moments during the Democrats' battles over the loyalty oath and the seating of the Southern delegates.

Bitterest of all was South Carolina's Governor Jimmie Byrnes who at times trembled with rage. More moderate leaders among the Southern delegates maneuvered to keep him off the rostrum. Almost equally bitter was Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia.

Instead, the more moderate Southern leaders were picked carefully as spokesmen—Senators John Stennis of Mississippi, Spessard Holland of Florida and Olin Johnston of South Carolina. They knew that if the South really did bolt the convention, Southern senators would lose their prize positions as chairmen of the key committees of Congress—places which have given the South tremendous power in writing legislation, and blocking it. Almost every key committee in both Houses of Congress today is headed by a Southern Democrat.

Most paradoxical development of the entire loyalty-oath fight was the fact that Senator Walter George of Georgia turned out to be the author of one part of the oath to which the South objected.

George said he would have no objection to some such phraseology as "Every American wants to subscribe to the principle of majority rule," and, second, that "Every delegate subscribing to this pledge agrees to vote for the nominee of this convention."

Young Franklin Roosevelt, when he read the latter pledge to vote for the nominee of the convention, remarked: "I don't think we can tell every delegate who they should vote for."

When Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas saw it, however, he objected:

"I can take the oath," he said, "if you omit this section"—referring to the second part of Senator George's proposal.

Its omission immediately was agreed to.

During the private discussions over seating of the Southern delegates, Senator Earle Clements was the roughest of all Southerners. Sore over Vice President Barkley's retirement from the race, he used caustic, bitter language toward young Roosevelt and others.

"At least my family for generations has voted the Democratic ticket," he said, referring to Elliott Roosevelt's deviation to the GOP.

Other committee members recalled that no one in years had done so much for the party as the man who happened to be Elliott's father.

Buying Delegates

How much money was put up for the expenses of delegates or buying delegates seldom leaks out during a national convention. At this convention there probably was relatively little, due in part to an advance expose of Senator Robert S. Kerr's mysterious emissary from Kansas, State Senator Bob George. He was the man who turned up in California and bought $1,600 worth of free railroad tickets to Chicago, which he tried to hand out to the California delegation, all of them pledged to Kefauver. Only two California delegates accepted his free travel.

George's hand also was apparent in Idaho, where Mrs. Lavera Swope, one of that state's delegates, received $500 by mail. However, when Ira Masters, also of Idaho, got wind of it, he protested to State Senator George, who in turn sent a telegram to Mrs. Swope, with a copy to Masters. Apparently, George misunderstood Masters' motive because the telegram read: "Regarding that $500 give $250 to Masters."

Later, when Senator Kerr met with the Idaho delegation he apologized for the incident.

State Senator George's heart is in the right place, he said, but he shouldn't have done it.

Reports of Kerr's money being used to pay expenses of delegates was on the minds of various delegates. For instance, H. S. Dole, a delegate from Kansas, who wanted to vote for Kerr, announced in a caucus that he was not going to do so.

"I want people to know that I paid my own way to Chicago," Dole explained.

Deals, and sometimes double-deals were being made and unmade during the hectic closing days of the convention. At one time Governor Stevenson's backers had offered the vice presidency to four different people, even though their man allegedly was not a candidate.

1. Gov. Mennen Williams of Michigan and Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota were asked to line up Kefauver to run as VP on the Stevenson ticket.

2. Senator John Sparkman of Alabama was sounded out on becoming VP for Stevenson.

3. Jonathan Daniels of North Carolina discreetly was approached as VP.

4. Yet word from Stevenson was that he personally preferred Senator Bill Fulbright of Arkansas.

Kefauver people, meanwhile, did a little dealing of their own. Gael Sullivan, working with Boss Fitzpatrick of New York, suggested F. D. Roosevelt, Jr., for vice president, in return for swinging the Harriman forces behind Kefauver. Simultaneously, Kefauver people told Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois he was their favorite . . . When Ed Alfriend, a Kefauver lieutenant, dropped in to see Gov. John Battle of Virginia to try to stir up some Kefauver support, the governor not only damned Kefauver and Harriman but even let loose against the South's favorite son, Senator Richard Russell. He ended the conversation by stating flatly that he was for Eisenhower . . . As a tribute to Vice President Barkley's long service to the party and as sort of a consolation prize, Barkley will be offered his choice of any U. S. ambassadorship he wants. He'll probably pick either Britain or France . . . During the convention, President Truman turned down the suggestion that his name be placed in nomination as a friendly gesture and tribute to his administration. The suggestion was made by members of the Missouri delegation, but Truman thanked them, said "Positively no."

Two Men, One Choice

Laurie was in love with one man, engaged to another. To marry the man she loved meant forsaking a life of luxury, gay sophisticated parties, and all the things she had had all her life. But she might be making the same mistake her mother did when her mother married the wrong man. Be sure to read

Russians Publish Important Volumes To Aid Proletariat

MOSCOW —(AP)— This is a red-letter year for Soviet book buyers. Already it has brought the publication in large editions of three very important reference books which fill important needs.

Each of these books will make life easier for many, but of the three it is perhaps the cook book which will make the biggest contribution to Soviet life.

The volume covers the preparation of the hundreds of various dishes which are popular here. It has special sections on diet, general arrangement and equipment in the kitchen, setting the table, manners for young and old. It describes many foods not so well-known here, tells how to make them and how to adapt them into the Russian diet.

Published so far in one enormous edition of a half million copies, it is difficult to obtain because of the immense demand. Every family wishes to have its own copy.
