Building Will Receive Boost Hoover States

Comfort And Advice Is Given To Harrassed Trades As Two Sources In Administration See Ray Of Light

Employment Is Up

Total Of 50,000 Men Are Now Working On Program While Figure Will Be 100,000 By First Of Next Year

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—Comfort and advice went to the harrassed building trades today from two administration sources.

President Hoover said 50,000 men were employed through the public buildings program and that it was estimated this number would rise to 100,000 by January 1.

This encouragement to an industry whose idle employes have been estimated at over 50 per cent, was preceded by inauguration of an intensive drive to rotate employment among its workers.

To Tour Country

W. A. Starrett, chairman of the construction committee of the president's organization for employment, will tour the country for 30 days preaching the doctrine.

Before he left for New York where he speaks to a building group tonight, he asked contractors' on government work here to arrange their schedules to give as many men as possible part time employment.

Job rotation, he said, is the only way by which the winter's unemployment problem can be solved.

President Talks

Mr. Hoover said:

That portion of the federal program of aid to unemployment comprised in the great expansion of public buildings under the treasury department shows the following progress since the report of September 1st. There are a total of 817 projects which have so far been

Missionary Is Bandit Victim

American Is Reported Killed By Chinese In Messages To Ambassador; Kidnaping Was Reported Sunday

(By The Associated Press)

NANKING, China, Nov. 5. — United States Consul General Peck was advised today that J. W. Vinson, American missionary, was killed by bandits who captured him Sunday near Haichow, Kiangsu province.

News of Vinson's slaying was contained in a telegram to Peck from Dr. Lorenzo Morgan of the American Presbyterian mission at Haichow, of which Vinson was a member.

Presumably Vinson was killed yesterday, as Morgan's telegram reporting his death was dated yesterday. It was delayed in transmission from Haichow.

One-Time Millionaire Does Not Have $2 For Small Fine

DENVER, Nov. 4. (AP)—Forty years ago W. S. Reynolds came to Denver from the mining town of Leadville, Colo., with one million dollars in cash.

Today Reynolds said he did not have the money to pay a two dollar fine for a minor traffic violation. When he appered in traffic court today, the aged man said: "Yes, that's right, I had one million dollars when I came here from Leadville—not in securities or property, but in cash. Business reverses have taken it all."

Former Marine Commandant For Seven Years Is Dead

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4. (AP)—The man who became commandant of the marine corps because he flunked a West Point examination in the presence of President Grant and General George H. Thomas, died today.

He was Major General George F. Elliott, retired, who commanded the marines from 1903 until 1910.

Slayer Of Trio Is Losing Hope

(By Associated Press)

IDABEL, Okla., Nov. 4. — Charley Draper, 29, confessed slayer of two men and a youth near Ultima Thule Oct. 18, wants spectators at his trial to donate to what he terms his "burial fund."

Draper today proposed to Sheriff Charles Holman that he be allowed to take a collection in the courtroom to be used in returning his body from the state penitentiary and for burial. Draper apparently has no hope of escaping the death penalty.

His wife, an expectant mother, visited him in his cell today.

Nan Britton's Position Told As Trial Ends

Purpose Of Book Was To Make Father Of Child Born Out Of Wedlock Equally Responsible With Mother

(By The Associated Press)

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 4.—Nan Britton's purpose in writing "The President's Daughter," the jury in her $50,000 libel suit was told today, was to make the father of a child born out of wedlock equally responsible in the eyes of society with its mother.

The book alleges the late President Warren G. Harding was the father of Miss Britton's 12-year old daughter, Elizabeth Ann. Her suit is directed against C. A. Klunk, Marion, O., hotel operator, on the ground he circulated another book, "The Answer to the President's Daughter," which she claims damaged her reputation.

Compared To Bible

William A. Marsteller, presenting final arguments for Miss Britton, compared her book with the Bible. He said the Bible was written to point out right from wrong and that her story had a similar intention. He said Miss Britton wanted to show the need for a law to give an illegitimate child as much claim upon its father as upon its mother, and to hold the father and mother equally responsible.

The answering argument of Creary Davis, counsel for Klunk, was an attack upon the character of the plaintiff. He said regard-

Allred Will Not File Suit For Recovery Of Upton Land

AUSTIN, Nov. 4. (AP)—Attorney General James V. Allred announced today he had definitely declined to file suit for recovery of what is known as the "Landreth Strip," of land in Upton county.

Allred said he had been urged to sue for the land by Robert Holliday of El Paso, member of the University of Texas board of regents, who contended the strip belonged to the university.

Liquor Seized In Automobile

S. E. Melton Is Released On $1,000 Bond Wednesday And Faces Charge Of Liquor Law Violation Here

S. E. (Slick) Melton of Lubbock was at liberty under $1,000 bond Wednesday night after a complaint charging possession and transportation of intoxicating liquor was filed against him yesterday.

Melton was arrested Wednesday afternoon by county and city officers near Shallowater. About eighteen gallons of whisky in two ten-gallon kegs were seized and officers said they would confiscate the coupe in which the liquor was found.

Melton, arraigned before Justice H. K. Porter, waived examining trial and Judge Porter set bond at $1,000. Officers making the arrest were Chief Deputy Will Earnest, H. B. Brown, George Eubanks, W. F. Tarpley, the last three named being city policemen.

Plan Further Bid

Biggest Prize Of All To Be Sought In 1932; Garner To Ascend To Speakership As Congress Convenes

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4. — The three big political prizes of 1931—control of the house of representative and governorships in New Jersey and Kentucky—appeared tonight to have fallen into the lap of a Democratic party already militantly organizing to bid for the biggest prize of all in 1932.

Unless accident intervenes, the veteran John Garner of Texas will ascend to the house speakership when congress meets next month, and President Hoover will find himself confronted, as Wilson was in the last two years of his term, with hostile leadership in the revenue-voting branch of government.

Moore Takes Chair

A Democrat, A. Harry Moore, will take the governor's chair in New Jersey, swept to power on a landslide of astonishing proportions; and—unless the mounting totals of Kentucky's belated count are overturned—Ruby Laffoon, also a Democrat, will take the place of a Republican governor at Frankfort.

What bearing these results of yesterday's election may have on the fortunes of 1932 was a disputed question tonight.

Among the Democrats there was much rejoicing and handclasping. Jouett Shouse, the party's executive chairman, saw certain presidential victory a year hence. House members, hungry for power after thirteen lean years, were vocal in their jubilation and unawed by the difficulties of legislating with a

Mountie Tells Of Communists

Determined Young Canadian Is On Witness Stand To Reveal Details Of Seven-Year Life In A Dual Role

(By The Associated Press)

TORONTO, Nov. 4.—In the scarlet coat of a Royal Canadian mounted policeman, Sergeant John Leopold told from a witness stand today how for seven years he lived a dual life, posing as a communist and sitting in secret conferences where plots to wreck the government were being hatched.

Looking directly at nine communist defendants on trial for conspiracy, the stalwart young officer told how he had worked with them, plotted with them, issued orders to them, and taken advice from them during those seven years.

He had led the dual life, he said, to maintain the tradition of his service and "get his men." He had acted the role so well he never was suspected. His statement found support in the startled expression of the defendants as they saw the man whom they had elected a fellow officer appear on the stand in the colorful coat, the striped breeches and high boots of the mounted police force.

Lew H. Wentz Announces He Plans To Resign His Office

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 4. (AP) Lew H. Wentz, millionaire Republican member of the Oklahoma highway commission and persistent foe of Governor William H. Murray, said today he would resign soon to devote his attention to crippled children's work and his business affairs.

Wentz formerly was chairman of the commission, accepting appointment for a six-year term from Governor W. J. Holloway, a Democrat, April 1, 1929. Early in the Murray administration he was demoted from the chairmanship and since then has been in the minority on most questions before the commission.

FREDERICK, Okla., Nov. 4. (AP) Mrs. W. S. Weaver, 75, aunt of Claude Weaver, private secretary to Governor Murray, was seriously injured today when the automobile in which she was riding with her husband overturned near Elliott, Texas.

Mrs. Weaver, suffering from several fractured ribs, and possibly internal injuries, was brought to a hospital here. Her home is west of Frederick.

Defenders Of Negro Are Beaten By Angered Mob

Attorney And Two Companions Are Ordered To Leave City; Troop Protection Asked

(By The Associated Press)

SNOW HILL, Md., Nov. 4. A Worcester county mob, thwarted in three attempts to gain possession of Yuel Lee, confessed negro slayer of a family of four, today turned its wrath on Bernard Ades, attorney for the International Liberty Defense league and voluntary counsel for Lee.

Twice during the day Ades with two companions, one of them a woman "protector" were attacked by the mob. After the second attack, Ades and his companions left Snow Hill, promising never to return.

The second and most serious demonstration came as Ades, with Helen Mays and Oscar Rabowsky, attempted to leave the court house as circuit court was adjourned. The mob attacked the trio and beat them severely before they were rescued by Judge Joseph Bailey of circuit court.

Earlier in the day Ades and the Mays woman were accosted by part of the mob in a lunchroom and ordered to leave town.

Value Of Wheat Holdings Up As Rocket-Like Increase Is Registered In Grain Market

Clamor Of Bull Charge Echoes Through Wall Street And To Other Marts; Futures Sell As High As 70 Cents

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 4. — A belated rush in the Chicago grain pits sent prices skyrocketing today, adding in a few minutes as much as 3 cents to recent gains in the price of foodstuffs.

The clamor of this spectacular bull charge was echoed in Wall street and on other grain marts throughout the world. For the first time since last May a wheat future sold in the Chicago pit for 70 cents. July closed at 70@70 1-4, the highest figures of the day.

The reaction of yesterday continued to ease the market today and at one time all of the wheat contracts were a cent and more below yesterday's final quotations. Then with only about 15 minutes to go, a flood of buying poured in from all directions and trading became fast and furious.

As the final bell rang December wheat was selling at 64 3-8@1-2, March at 68 1-8@1-4 and May at 69 3-8@5-8. The net gain for the day was from 2 1-4 to 3 cents. Corn had given an even better account of itself. Its gains were from 2 3-8 to 3 1-8 cents.

Wheat was 20 cents and more higher than Oct. 5, corn as much as 14 3-4 and oats around 6 cents up. It was estimated the value of the farmers' holdings had been increased in the last month by about $375,000,000.

Financial Drive Progresses Here

The Salvation Army's campaign for about $3,000 on which to operate next year was begun Wednesday and reports made by four of the eleven team captains indicated the campaign was progressing.

"We are pleased with the reports made to us," Ben Kucera, chairman in charge, said Wednesday night. "The four reports we had were satisfactory. Response given has been pleasing."

Dan Blair's team was reported in the lead, but figures for the total amount could not be given last night. Other team captains are: J. O. Smith, W. H. Waln, E. W. Patterson, Paul Hardwick, A. L. Brown, W. O. Daniels, Victor Lindsey, E. H. McKinney, J. P. Newman and J. L. Murphy.

State Defeats Self In Trial

Former Midland Police Chief Granted New Trial By Order Of High Court; Statement Of Slayer Cited

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 4.—The state defeated itself in the trial of King Reed, former chief of police at Midland, on charges of murder in the death of J. C. Holcombe, the court of criminal appeals held today in an opinion reversing Reed's conviction and remanding the case for a new trial. Reed had been sentenced to three years.

Dies Of Wounds

Holcombe, a special policeman at Midland, died of wounds received in a gun duel with Reed in an alley the night of July 21, 1929.

The state beat itself when it offered a statement made by Reed following the shooting, the opinion stated.

"I am sorry," Reed's statement introduced by the prosecution said. "I had to do it. It is mighty bad. He was messing with my business. I am sorry but I had to do it."

Jail Is Empty; Chief Is Happy

(By Associated Press)

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Nov. 4.—The jail is empty and everyone is happy — especially the chief of police. After paying out of his own pocket, without hope of recompense the food bill of those arrested by his subordinates, he posted a notice on the jail door. It read:

"Prisoners locked up in this jail must be fed at the expense of the officer making the arrest."

Life Of Girl To Be Probed

Character Of Eunice Pringle Is Brought Into Alexander Pantages' Trial; Judge To Allow Proceedings

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 4.—Whether attorneys for Alexander Pantages may search minutely into the past of Eunice Pringle at the theater magnate's trial on a charge of criminally attacking her became the subject of intense argument, with the jury excluded, shortly before adjournment of court today.

Attorneys were told by Superior Judge Clair Tappaan, after Miss Pringle's testimony had been interrupted by the arguments, to appear at the opening of court tomorrow with any further authorities they care to cite.

His instruction came shortly after he had declared from the bench: "When there is a case of attack with force, such as this case, I believe the jury is entitled to consider the character of the witness, to decide as to the testimony of the prosecutrix regarding the acts alleged. The jury should have a right to go into her past."

New Trial In Slander Suit Will Be Asked By Attorneys

DALLAS, Nov. 4. (AP)—Motion for a new trial in the $50,000 slander suit against Dallas club women will be brought as soon as judgment is entered on the jury's findings, W. H. Reid, plaintiffs attorney, said today. The jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendants.

In the case John W. Woods, former speaker of the house, and his wife alleged they had been injured by alleged slanderous statements made by former members of the Dallas County Women's Democratic league.

Mexican Appeals Sentence Of Death To Higher Court

AUSTIN, Nov. 4. (AP)—Estanislado Lopez, given the death penalty by a Willacy county jury for the slaying of Jesus Villareal, appealed from the verdict to the court of criminal appeals today.

Villareal was slain with an ax while he slept in a house where a number of cotton pickers were staying near Raymondville, on July 15, 1930.

Man Says He Shot Friend Because He Visited Wife

GEORGETOWN, Nov. 4. (AP) — Ray Click, 33, testified at his murder trial today that he shot and killed A. W. Walker, a friend, after learning that Walker had been associating with Mrs. Click.

He said that four days before the shooting, which took place on a Llano street, he learned that Walker had been visiting his wife while he was away from home.

Proposal To Merge Railroads Of United States Into One Large System Will Be Made Before Congress

Saving Is Cited

Total Of $24,000,000,000 As Investment Would Be Thrown Together To Preserve Credit Of Railways

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. — Plans for introduction at the next session of congress of a bill which would authorize consolidation of all railways of the United States into one large system, were announced today by Nathan L. Amster, president of the Citizens' National Railroads League, inc.

He said an annual saving of some $500,000,000 could be effected.

Under the scheme, as propounded by Mr. Amster, who is a director of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific and other corporations, a total aggregate investment of approximately $24,000,000,000 "will be unified in order to preserve the credit of the railroads; supply efficient transportation service to all sections of the country at the lowest possible rates, and afford thousands of investors in railroad securities a fair return on their capital."

Under Federal Charter

Mr. Amster said the plan of the league did not contemplate government ownership in any form.

"The project," he said, "calls for incorporation of the company under a federal charter to absorb the equities of all the railroads in the United States, subject to the outstanding bonds, and operation of the roads under a unified company in regional divisions.

"Fundamentally, the railroad business is a public utility monopoly, and that is the reason a single, consolidated rail transportation system is the most economical means of serving the shipping and travelling public. Germany, Belgium and other important nations have united their railroad systems under government control, and the records of these enterprises have been entirely satisfactory."

The league's plan for unification, Mr. Amster said, was completed fol-

Women Hurry From Courtroom As Judge Issues Statement

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Nov. 4. (AP)—Women hurriedly left Federal Judge Robert L. Williams' courtroom at the opening today of Jesse Adair's trial on Mann act charges growing out of a motor trip to Mexico with Exie Fife, rich Indian girl, after Judge Williams had remarked:

"It is a reflection upon the modesty of women who would come to such a trial. It strikes me the testimony is such that no decent woman would want to hear."

Sale Of 101 Ranch Ordered By Oklahoma District Court

NEW KIRK, Okla, Nov. 4. (AP)—The Kay county district court today directed Fred Clarke, receiver for the 101 ranch, to proceed with liquidation of the property.

Clarke was authorized to negotiate for sale on the ranch either as a unit or, if necessary, in separate parts. The authorization applies also to the 101 ranch "wild west" show, which became stranded in Washington, D. C., last summer without funds.

Texas Bankers Offer Support

Assurance Is Given State Is To Subscribe Its Share Of Stock In National Credit Pool Of President

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Nov. 4.—Assurance that Texas bankers would subscribe this section's share of the stock of the National Credit corporation was given today in a conference presided over by Nathan Adams, director of the national corporation for the eleventh federal reserve district.

Dallas banks have already subscribed $2,000,000 for stock. Bankers present at the session pledged acceptance of between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000. Mr. Adams had previously indicated a goal of $5,000,000 to $7,000,000.

Three chairmen were appointed by Mr. Adams to sign up the stock. Bankers selected were W. E. Connell of the First National bank of Fort Worth, Sam R. Lawder of the First National bank of Houston, and J. H. Frost of the Frost National bank of San Antonio.

Lloyd George Resigns Post

Dynamic Welshman Sets Forth His Decision In A Letter To Sir Herbert Samuel Just Before Session

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 4.—David Lloyd George, outstanding member of the liberal party for more than 25 years, resigned his chairmanship today and announced he would not accept any other party office.

He set forth his decisions in a letter to Sir Hubert Samuel which was made public just before a meeting of the liberal parliamentary at which Sir Herbert was elected to succeed the dynamic Welshman.

The Lloyd George letter and the election of Sir Herbert reflected the separation of the historic liberal party into three factions, two of which are reckoned among the supporters of the Ramsay MacDonald national government.

Cotton Classers Receive Offices

Two new cotton classers have been assigned to new offices in the Lubbock district of the Texas Cotton Cooperative association, it was announced last night.

G. W. Loveless, who has been a classer and branch manager at Crockett, in district 6, will open an office in Ralls today. Mr. Davis said. W. S. Quillin, formerly of Bonham, in district 6, yesterday opened an office in Anton. J. H. Carper was transferred from Corpus Christi, in district 5, to Littlefield. He takes the place of W. H. Clark, who was transferred to an office in the Dallas district.

Briand Says Japan Should Move Troops From Section

GENEVA, Switzerland, Nov. 4. (AP) —The five demands made on China by Japan as essential conditions for evacuation of Manchuria all have been met and therefore Japanese troops should get out, Aristide Briand, chairman of the League of Nations council, said in a note published today.

On behalf of the council, M. Briand called on the Japanese government to carry out its promise, made to the council in September, by moving its soldiers back into the railway zone as rapidly as security conditions permit.

East Texans Plan Series Of Conferences To Aid Farmers

DALLAS, Nov. 4. (AP)—Directors of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce here today planned a series of district conferences in an effort to balance farming programs and to study means to replace cotton with other crops in East Texas.

The first meeting was scheduled near Paris tomorrow.

Jackson Dies Of Injuries In Street Fight

Trucker Being Held In Local Jail Without Charges While Lubbock Officers Prepare To Conduct Probe

Skull Fractured

Bradley Says Grand Jury Will Take Case But Indictment Is Not Seen If Newspaper Reports Are Correct

F. E. JACKSON, 51, former Slaton automobile dealer, died in a Slaton hospital at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon of a fractured skull and Lubbock officials late last night had not decided what degree of responsibility, if any, they would charge a Slaton trucker held in jail here.

Jackson's skull was fractured when his head struck the pavement after a blow from the trucker at Slaton Monday afternoon. Death came without the former automobile dealer regaining consciousness

To Investigate Case

"The 99th district court grand jury will investigate the case," District Attorney Durwood Bradley told the Morning Avalanche last last night. "However, I do not believe an indictment can be returned if the facts brought before the grand jury prove the same as newspaper reports."

Mr. Bradley said he would take up an investigation of the death Thursday. County Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson, who has been in county court the past three days said he had not had opportunity to go into the Jackson case. He indicated he would take it up today, also.

Trucker Still Held

Late last night, the trucker who was arrested and brought here Monday night, still was held. No charges had been filed against him.

The trucker and Jackson, Deputy Sheriff R. L. Wicker said, were in a dispute early Monday but the two were separated. Later they met on a Slaton street and the dispute resumed. Jackson was standing on a curb with his back to the street when he swung at the trucker and missed. He was then knocked to the pavement by a single blow, the peace officer reported. When Jackson's head struck the pavement he was knocked unconscious by a severe fracture.

Note Is Cause

A note received by the trucker from another man and passed on to Jackson was basis for the altercation, it was said.

Funeral arrangements for Mr. Jackson had not been completed Wednesday night, the Foster Funeral Home of Slaton said. The services will be held in Slaton, probably Thursday. Jackson, former owner of the Jackson Chevrolet company at Slaton, is survived by his widow and several children.

Youth Is Painfully Injured In Baileyboro Gin Accident

Elmer Davis, 21, was brought to the Lubbock sanitarium Wednesday night suffering from a badly injured left arm, hurt in a gin accident at Baileyboro yesterday afternoon.

The flesh and muscle from the left arm, below the elbow, was torn loose when the member was caught in the huller belt at the Baileyboro gin at 4:30 p. m. The injury is not regarded as serious and unless complications arise the arm will be saved; A. T. Biggers, owner of the gin, 20 miles southwest of Sudan, brought the injured youth to Lubbock. Davis is unmarried.

Lindbergh Will Pilot New Ship

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 4. (AP) — The American Clipper, 50-passenger airplane of Pan-American airways, is to have Col. Charles A. Lindbergh as pilot for her maiden commercial flight from Miami to Cristobal, Canal Zone.

V. E. Chenea, division traffic manager of the Pan-American company, said the Trans-Atlantic flier, recently returned from a flight to Japan, will take the big air liner on a seven-day round trip voyage between the two cities starting Nov. 17.

The plane is to follow a route new to Lindbergh, who, as technical adviser to the company, opened its major aerial routes from Miami into Central and South America.

Airway officials have limited the initial pay load of the big plane to thirty-three passengers and baggage.

The American Clipper is largest amphibian in the world.

Fascism Talked At Rotary Club

Continued success of Fascism in Italy is doubtful, Dr. W. A. Jackson, head of the department of government of Texas Technological college, told Rotary club members at the Hilton hotel Wednesday. The luncheon program was devoted to international affairs.

Dr. Jackson outlined the rise of Fascism in Italy, pointing out that it started purely as a political movement and had risen through force to control the entire Italian governmental setup with Mussolini as the nation's dictator. A dictatorship is only for nations which are incapable of self government or for those which do not object, he pointed out. Under Fascism, the people are virtual slaves, a situation which probably will cause its failure, he said.

Mrs. Jerome Merrill, accompanied by Mrs. W. D. Benson, jr., gave two selections on the accordion. J. Schmidt, Switzerland Rotarian, spoke briefly of his native country. George Matthews of Dallas also addressed the club.

Visiting Rotarians were: Briggs Robertson, Tom Overby, John Frye, Slaton; Charles Dorsey, Childress; Walter E. Thatcher and Stoney Wall, Plainview; J. S. Singer, Littlefield; and Mr. Matthews. Other visitors were G. W. Madison of Palacios and Bill Ward of Amarillo.

Lack Of Cold Weather Said To Be Causing Market Delay

Delay in the opening of the turkey market here and in the South Plains area is blamed on lack of cold weather this fall, it was said Wednesday. The market is not expected to open before Friday and possibly as late as Monday.

"There has been too much of this 'shirt sleeve' weather for turkeys to fill out properly and to get their feathers developed properly," W. T. Johnston of Swift and Co. said. W. R. White of the Lubbock Poultry and Egg company said his prices would not be announced before Friday, and perhaps not then.

White Bones Of Dead Are Unearthed; Old Story Of Pioneer Days Recalled

Boys Hunt Rabbits But Discover Two Skeletons

(Special To The Avalanche)

LAMESA, Nov. 4.—The skeleton of one person and the partial skeleton of another were found on the Dean ranch in the Key community recently by Jimmie Newsom, Oscar and Lance Furlow, and Herbert Barnes. Speculation has run wild since the find was made. The boys were hunting rabbits in the "breaks" when one of them spied something white sticking out of the ground. Investigation revealed it was a leg bone of a man and a little digging brought the skeleton to light, slightly more than a foot under the ground.

The grave was in the "V" of a gulley where turbulent waters had cut down a small hill. The find came immediately after a heavy rain and the boys believe that likely protecting dirt had just been washed away from the leg bone.

Story Is Recalled

There is an old, old story that for years has lived in Dawson county of an aged couple traveling the little known trails of this section back in the seventies or eighties. It is supposed that somewhere about the site of where this skeleton was found the husband died. Grief-stricken, all idea of direction gone, nowhere to turn for succor, the aged widow gave up in despair, sitting huddled over the lifeless form of her husband in the old wagon.

Thus she was found several hours later by a party of cowboys. They are said to have buried her husband and taken her back to civilization. That, many believe, might have explained this skeleton of another era of the Old West except for the finding of the second skeleton one hundred and fifty or two hundred yards from the first one. Part of the second skeleton was taken away, aparently by persons, as its grave show unmistakably shovel marks. It also lay only a few inches under the ground and buried with it was the skeleton of a horse. An arrow or two was found with the skeleton, up on the hillside. The first skeleton had apparently been dumped into a small circular hole, as the bones appeared to have been crammed into that position. The head pointed northward with the face turned toward the sky. Unmistakably the body had been laid on the right side and conjecture is that it had been placed there.

May Be Indian

Presence of the arrow heads with the bones indicate to some that the skeleton is that of a red man. Others believe not, judging mostly from the skull which, when discovered, was intact. Formation of the face, and such-like observations, did not bear out a belief that the skeleton was that of an Indian.

In the case of both skeletons, rocks had been piled over the grave. The pile was not large and was easily removed. Why the first skeleton was buried in a semi-rock soil, which must have presented difficult digging, when only a few hundred feet away there was plenty of soft soil has presented a puzzle to many.

Rises From Creek

The hill rises almost immediately from Tobacco Creek, along which the soil is soft and appears slightly alkali. The fact that the body was buried on the hill, when softer ground was available, gives rise to two possibilities. One is that the survivor or survivors of the dead men wanted the body far enough away from water that its ravages might never be felt.

The other is that the creek, at the time of the burial, covered most of the ground. Belief that the body is that of an Indian is strengthened, some say, by the fact that the skeleton was found in a half sitting posture. They say Indians buried their dead in that position. On the other hand, the body had some appearance of having been thrown or dumped into the hole. The natural way to pick up a body would be under the shoulders and knees and if deposited hurriedly into a hole would be in a sitting position.

Bones Were Broken

Jimmie Newsom, who has an active interest in archaeology, said bones showed that the man had a broken leg and arm. The skull immediately over the eye shows a mark half an inch long by an eighth of an inch deep which might have been made by a sharp cornered instrument. The bones and skull indicate that the man was an adult and large. His teeth are in good shape although the back ones are considerably worn. Some believe that an indication he was up in years. Others believe that he was young else all his teeth would have been worn.

The exact site of the grave is a mile and half southwest of what is known as "the ole swimmin' hole" on Tobacco creek, or about two miles west of the Dean ranch house. Around the small, circular hill which has an oval top, runs a well-defined but irregular line made by little piles of rocks, ranging from six inches to a foot high, and from three to four feet across. In the center of many of them is a small bush. What the piles may have been used for remains wildest conjecture, but many believe they were part of a fence but "why" the line should have been so crooked is a mystery.

A twenty-four hour weather report station is to be established at the Sweetwater municipal airport, stopping place for Transcontinental Airways.

Animal Trainer Fares Well With Lions And Tigers But Is Not So Good With Women

PERU, Ind., Nov. 4. (AP)—Clyde Beatty, 27, an animal trainer for a circus has been able to get along pretty well with thirty-two lions and tigers, but apparently not so well with his wife.

The former Miss Ernestine Pegg of Peru sued him for divorce two years ago but subsequently dropped the suit. This fall she sued again. Now the decree has been granted.

Beatty was once attacked by a tiger in Kokomo, Ind., but was saved by a huge lion.

Stock War Shifts To New Sections

BURLINGTON, Ia., Nov. 4. (AP)—National guardsmen may have to move to a new sector in the Iowa "cow bar."

Sheriff Harry V. Maas said today he had asked Gov. Dan Turner for troops to help enforce the state bovine tuberculin test law in Lee county after refusal of farmers to permit veterinarians to inoculate cattle on the farm of Frank Boeding.

The veterinarians, headed by Dr. Peter Malcolm, chief of the campaign, found gates to the Boeding home barred. A throng of farmers confronted them and one tire on an official's automobile was cut, another was defeated and a trunk on it smashed, the testers said.

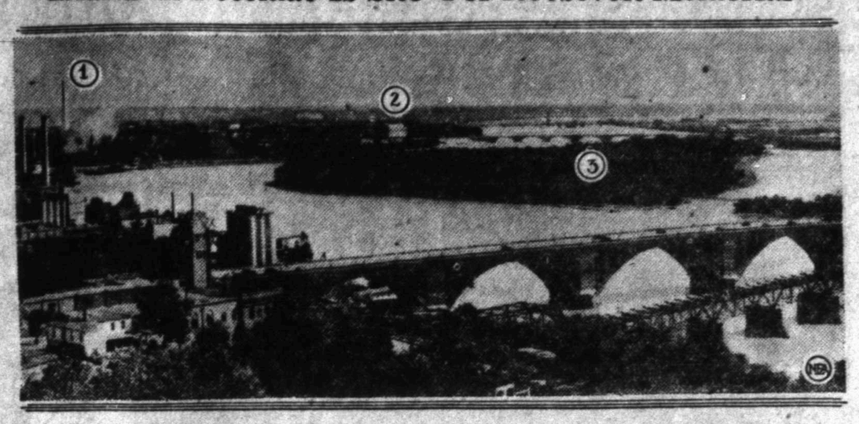

Dr. Malcolm said he believed troops would be necessary for the Lee county campaign.

Testing in Des Moines county, where troops are stationed, continued without opposition.

Patients Treated Following Injury

After receiving emergency treatment at the West Texas hospital Wednesday morning for injuries suffered when their automobile collided with a truck, Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Turner and their son, Clyde, were dismissed from the hospital. Mrs. Turner suffered a bruised back, her husband a sprained neck and the son a minor laceration over the right eye. The Turners reside south of Lubbock.

Travis Tubbs, 31, was treated at the Lubbock sanitarium Wednesday for burns he suffered at a Wolfforth gin when he stepped into hot water. Burns on his left leg, below the knee, are not regarded as serious. Tubbs went to the boiler room after a bucket of coal when the accident happened.

Ernest Huffman, 50, of Amherst was treated at the Lubbock sanitarium for a broken left leg suffered when his team ran away Tuesday.

Sheffield Case Will Go To Jury Today; Arguments End

Case of C. A. Sheffield, manager of a local hotel, charged in county court with negligent homicide, will go to the jury early Thursday. Arguments were closed late Wednesday and County Judge E. L. Pitts will present his charge to the jurors this morning.

Sheffield is charged in connection with the death of Palima Kelly, 16, injured in an accident at the Avenue H underpass in April.

Rail Official Says Motor Bus Has Injured Railroad

DALLAS, Nov. 4. (AP) — P. W. Grace, vice-president and general manager of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad lines today told Pat M. Neff, member of the Texas railroad commission that unregulated moter bus and truck competition had placed the railroad in a serious financial condition.

Grace was the principal witness for his company at the hearing Neff conducted on the applications of approximately 100 persons for permits to operate trucks and buses in this section of the state.

He testified the railroad's business had decreased 40 per cent since 1929. Of this reduction, he said, 20 per cent was due to bad business conditions, the rest to unregulated trucks and busses.

L. M. Stuart, general freight agent for the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Transportation company, a motor truck line subsidized by the railroad, which operates at points along the rail line giving pick up and delivery service, was another witness.

"You needn't tell me —I know Camel is the fresh cigarette!"

FRESH in nature's way

CAMELS are never parched or toasted!

FRESHNESS and flavor in a cigarette trace right back to natural moisture.

If you overheat or process tobacco so harshly as to dry out all natural moisture you drive out freshness and flavor too.

Camel never parches or toasts the fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos it uses—they are naturally smooth, cool, mellow, with natural moisture retained.

That's why the Camel Humidor Pack proves such a blessing to Camel smokers—it brings them a fine cigarette fresh to start with, and fresh to smoke.

If you don't realize what natural moisture means in genuine freshness and flavor, switch to Camels and see.

Try this mild, slow-burning, throat-friendly favorite for just one day—then leave it, if you can!

Hear Programs At Gatherings

Mrs. A. L. Harris Is Hostess To Alatheans; Members Of T.E.L. Class Are Guests In Sparks Home

Two Bible classes in the First Baptist church, the Alathean and T. E. L., met for monthly parties Wednesday afternoon. Programs were heard and business sessions conducted. Members of Alathean class met in the home of Mrs. A. L. Harris, 2305 14th street. Mrs. W. E. Keeter was co - hostess with Mrs. Harris. T. E. L. class members were entertained in the home of Mrs. Fred W. Sparks, 2322 20th street.

Following a short business session, a program was heard at the party attended by the Alathean class. Melba Dawn Pearson sang several solos and Arline Harris played piano selections.

Those present were Mesdames C. A. Paulger, William Lowrimore, W. B. Yeager, G. A. Gunn, J. A. Mullins, G. M. Pearson, Bob Bristow, W. H. Trice, A. L. Hawkins, H. W. Cherry, Dick Abbott, W. G. Lofland, J. H. James, W. E. Holder, N. L. Ball, J. C. Levens, and Minnie Pickas.

Are Co-Hostesses

Mesdames E. L. Law, W. F. Fry, W. E. Patterson and W. W. Ray were joint hostesses with Mrs. Sparks at the T. E. L. class party.

J. D. Carroll, director of activities at the First Baptist church, made a talk on the work of the Sunday school following the business meeting.

Melba Dawn Pearson sang a vocal number and accompanied her mother in a piano duet. Miss Betty Hamilton played two piano solos. A Bible contest was the final feature of the afternoon.

There was a good representation from the class at the party.

L'Aiquillee Club Is In Party Hour

The Thanksgiving theme was stressed in appointments at a party given for members of L'Aiquillee club Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Dee Puckett, 2106 17th street.

The hostess was assisted in serving a refreshment course by Miss Roberta Elkins. Geraldine Von Wolff was also a guest.

Members present were Mesdames Imogene Pace, Earl Ellison, William Von Wolff, T. L. Biggs, H. A. Welmaker, Robert Ellison, J. W. Phillips and V. O. Jennings.

Floyd County has the distinction of having three women who have won the Master Farm Home Makers award.

fairs will be over on Monday and then visitors and local people can have considerable time to attend sessions. Lubbock housewives don't have to worry over meals and clean rooms and such as that for the visitors, because they will come here to stay at the hotels. The transportation of people from one meeting place to another probably will entail a lot of work, but if those who have cars are on time, that, too, will be efficiently cared for.

Since it is not my business to look after transportation, I can afford to say that.

From now on, this column probably will have a lot to say about the approaching convention. It is one of the interests of the moment down here in the woman's department. Today we had letters from Miss Olie Coon, the state publicity chairman; from Mrs. J. W. Fincher, fourth district president and a candidate for state president, and from Mrs. Lindsay.

Mrs. Fincher says "We are looking forward to a very happy time in Lubbock," and Miss Coon says "We have appreciated so much the splendid co-operation given us and are certainly looking forward to the Lubbock meeting."

Something like two hundred reservations had been received at the hotels the first of this week for the convention here and almost every day someone telephones us that she will have a guest during the meeting.

On The Corduroy Road To Smartness

This trim two-piece suit of hunter's green corduroy is going to all the football games this fall and does double duty at the informal tea dances after the cheering section disbands. The diagonal use of the corduroy is an important style point and particularly kind to figures that are a little more ample than the slender silhouette of the current mode demands. Traditionally, corduroy has been used for "roughing it," but this suit is made of the new, light weight corduroy that drapes easily and boasts a velvet finish which qualifies for afternoon wear.

FOR GREENS

Salads made with light, simple greens like lettuce and endive, seem to find their ideal complement in a dressing like French Dressing, Bachelor Club Dressing or Vinaigrette Dressing.

To make Vinaigrette Dressing: Mix one teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of sugar, one-quarter teaspoon of pepper, a little paprika, twelve tablespoonfuls of Wesson Oil and three tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Beat with a fork until thoroughly blended. Stir in two tablespoonfuls of finely chopped dill pickle, and one teaspoonful of chopped parsley.

FOR FRUITS

Fruits, either fresh or canned, with their full, sun-ripened flavors do not go very well with the kind of dressing appropriate for salads made with vegetables or greens. They suggest a dressing made with nuts or cheese . . . or one to which a touch of sweetness has been added. One of the most appropriate dressings you can have for your fruit salad is a Bar-le-Duc Dressing.

To make Bar-le-Duc Dressing: One teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth teaspoon of white pepper, one-quarter teaspoon of paprika, six tablespoonfuls of Wesson Oil, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, and six tablespoonfuls of a jelly that is not too firm . . . such as Bar-le-Duc. Beat mixture with a fork until thoroughly blended.

FOR SEAFOOD

One of the salads that everyone seems to enjoy is a salad made with seafood . . . shrimp, crabmeat, or lobster. You will find them even more delicious if you marinate the seafood in French Dressing before making it into the salad. Marinating gives it flavor and firmness, seeming to restore all the zestful tang that makes us like seafood so well.

*To marinate: Mix twelve tablespoonfuls of Wesson Oil and three tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Add one teaspoonful of salt, one-quarter teaspoon of pepper. Pour this over seafood and set aside in the refrigerator for several hours. Serve with Lemonaise (mayonnaise made with lemon juice.)

Furs in December
but not in June..
Even the finest fur coat would be out of place at a garden party in June. There is a time and place for everything . . . including salads and salad dressings. So many different things come to our table as salads, no one dressing can be used on all of them. There is an appropriate salad for every occasion and an appropriate dressing for each different kind of salad. So . . .
mix a dressing appropriate to the salad
Salads made of light greens or vegetables go best with a tart dressing like Vinaigrette Dressing, French Dressing, or Bachelor Club Dressing. Fruits, on the other hand, respond best to a bland dressing . . . one made with cheese or flavored with a touch of sweetness. Seafood should be served with Lemonaise (mayonnaise made with lemon juice). But first it should be marinated* in French Dressing.
MARY B. MURRAY has written a little book on appropriate salad service. You will find it very helpful in selecting the salad dressing appropriate to each different kind of salad. It contains many helpful suggestions and ideas for modern salad service. We would like to send it to you with our compliments. Address the Wesson Oil and Snowdrift People, 210 Baronne Street, New Orleans, La.

We Are Overstocked.

There is no hesitancy on our part in placing our cards face up on the table and telling you in the same frank way that we would tell our family, our banker, or our lawyer, why we are inaugurating this determined, relentless, unremitting effort to sell. We know that you have read of sales and bargains until your faith has no doubt been shattered, the way some stores (with their year-round sales) stretch the meaning of the word "sale," you would think it was made of Indian rubber, Therefore we realize it's going to be hard for a lot of folks to SEE just how we can place our high grade, fine stock of merchandise on the altar of sacrifice, so early in the season. We admit we are going to take tremendous loss—But we are in the same position as you are Mr. Farmer, we had expected a big Fall business accordingly, we bought heavily and now find ourselves overloaded. Hence we are going to do just what you are doing—selling our fine merchandise for a great deal less than it should bring, and in many instances, less than at cost to us. Come see for yourself the visible proof of this merchandise crisis. Nothing reserved. You will SAVE with every purchase.

Females Steal 1931 Athletic Show Off Men

Record Discloses Women Beat Men In Shattering Of World And American Track, Field Records For Year

BY FOSTER HAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. — The female of the species was more deadly than the male in assaults on athletic records during 1931, statistics released today by the Amateur Athletic Union show, with Helen Madison and Mildred (Babe) Didrickson, leading all the rest.

During the nine months just past, 144 American and world records were broken by American athletes with women accounting for 75 of them and men 69. The records will be presented to the A. A. U. meeting in Kansas City Nov. 15, 16 and 17th for official recognition.

Helen Gets Ten

Miss Madison, 17-year-old swimming marvel from Seattle, Wash., bettered no less than 10 world marks and 27 American records in her year of competition. If they are accepted by the A. A. U. she will be credited with everyone of the sixteen recognized free style swimming records from 100 yards to one mile, an achievement never before accomplished by a swimmer, either man or woman.

Miss Didrickson, the Dallas flyer, is second only to the Seattle girl in record breaking achievements, with eight track and field to her credit. Her most noteworthy accomplishment was a record of 12 seconds for the 80-meter low hurdles, set at Jersey City in the national championships last summer. Stella Walsh, of Cleveland, broke seven American sprint records during the year.

Beard Is Outstanding

Percy Beard, the slow-talking fast moving hurdler from Alabama and Jess Mortensen, all-round athlete of the Los Angeles A. C. were outstanding performers among the men.

Beard, six feet six and mostly legs, broke the world's record for the 70-yard hurdles indoors at New York, Feb. 25, setting a new universal standard of eight and 5-10 seconds and then at Lincoln, Neb., July 4th in the national championships shaved 2-10th of a second off the record for the 120-yard high hurdles set at 14:4 by Earl Thompson in 1920. Jack Keller, Ohio State's red head, did the high sticks in 14:3 at Columbus early in the spring but knocked over two hurdles.

Mortensen set a new world's record for the decathlon of 8166.663 points in the national championships, breaking by over 100 points the universal standard of Paavo Yujola, Finland's olympic champion.

Texas Longhorns Work On Defense

AUSTIN, Nov. 4 (AP)—A combination defense that will be effective against both the running and aerial attack that will be brought to Austin Saturday by the Baylor Bears was tried out today by Texas in a lengthy workout.

Texas, already recognized as having one of the best aerial defenses in the southwest, was being groomed to halt Bear efforts via the land route. The Bears will bring a good passing outfit against Texas. Whether they can cross up the Texas defense enough to get their aerial fireworks going full tilt is a question that can be determined only by Saturday's game.

Weak In Line Plays

The Longhorns exhibited a good defense against the overhead thrusts of Harvard and S. M. U. but were woefully weak against line plays.

Austin fans were giving Texas a slight edge in predictions on the game, the general opinion being the Steers would win by a one-touchdown margin.

Lubbock's Win At Pampa Last Week's Leader

Most Class A Teams Pass Up This Weekend For Wednesday And Armistice Day Games; Cisco, Ranger Meet

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 4 (AP)—Except for a few scattered games, this will be rest week in the Texas Interscholastic League football race. Most teams will pass up playing dates Friday and Saturday in order to play Wednesday, November 11 when several important games will be held.

While it was not rated as an upset, Lubbock's overwhelming victory over Pampa last week was a surprise. Pampa defeated Amarillo and was a slight favorite against Lubbock, but lost 32 to 6. The Lubbock Westerners uncovered a powerful running attack that completely smothered Pampa. Pullback Hill scored Pampa's only touchdown in the last minute of play.

Three Big Teams Win

Three outstanding state championship contenders won last week. Corsicana stopped Waco 13 to 0. It was Corsicana's third consecutive triumph in District Nine. Tyler, 1930 State Champion, stacked up a 31 to 0 score against Palestine in District Ten. It was the champions second straight district win. The Highland Park Highlanders of Dallas remained in a tie with Oak Cliff for the District Six lead with a 20 to 6 decision over Woodrow Wilson. The Highlanders have three district victories against two for Oak Cliff. Oak Cliff faces a tough game Friday against Dallas Tech, while Highland Park remains idle until November 13.

One of the outstanding games November 11 will be beetween Cisco and Ranger in District 3. Cisco and Abilene are tied for the lead in this district, Abilene with three victories and no defeats, Cisco with two wins and no losses. Abilene defeated Ranger last Saturday.

Westerners Prep For Practice Tilt

BRUSHING UP SPORTS . . By Laufer

Long Look To Amarillo Game Is Taken Here

Westerners Fight Overconfidence As Two Lighter Games Intervene Before Sandstorm Seeks Lubbock Head

They're getting ready up at Amarillo to shatter Lubbock's dream of a state high school football championship. They know they face a big task but they believe they can do it, and they're counting the days until Thanksgiving, on the night of which they hope to be able to offer thanks for a break that let them back into the District 1 race.

Here at Lubbock the feeling is all to the contrary, "Pampa beat Amarillo, Lubbock buried Pampa into the dust of Harvester Field, so it's in the bag for Lubbock." That's what they're saying here, perhaps not without some foundation, but surely with more optimism than good reasoning.

As for the Westerners, they are looking toward the game as one of the biggest of the year. That is, if they have the right attitude that's the way they're looking toward it. In the meantime they have a couple of games to play and win if they retain favor in the eyes of fans and supporters and continue to brandish a sword of fear over Amarillo. So far there is no evidence of cockiness or overconfidence. Already there is the cry, "Wallop Amarillo."

Two Games Intervene

Both clubs have two games prior to their meeting in Amarillo on Thanksgiving day. Lubbock's Westerners meet the Childress High school Bobcats on the local field Saturday afternoon. In view of Lubbock's present status the game should be nothing more than another ball game for the Westerners. It may be more than that, but hardly enough to arouse public sentiment to the breaking point. It is to be presumed that a large delegation of Lubbock fans will be out to witness the affair. Childress is a Class A contender in District 2. It was in District 1 last year when the contract for this week's game was made so there's no calling it off.

Plainview Here Wednesday

Plainview sends its Bulldogs here next Wednesday for the annual battle. It is an important game in that both teams are members of the same district and fighting for the same thing.

A hard workout yesterday left the Westerners puffing and sweating but otherwise in a good humor and in good physical condition. After this week the team probably will have a week of comparatively easy traveling, with the next period of practice days full of venom and excitement—for the Westerners.

Punt Formation With Triple-Threat Star In Key Position Is One Of Most Deceptive Plays

If you care to reminisce a little, think of the great triple-threat stars you have seen parade up and down the gridiron. There was Thorpe, of course. And there were Gipp and Mahan and Nevers and Devine and some more. All were star kickers, passers and ball carriers.

The one play suited for such performers was the punt formation. It afforded them the chance to kick, run with the ball or pass it. The opposition was never quiet sure what they would do until the play was well under way. Because of this deception, the formation has remained popular.

The accompanying diagram shows the punt formation for a right-footed kicker, in this case the No. 2 back. Nos. 3 and 4 are lined up to block on his kicking side; No 1 to ward off the enemy on his left. The ends are playing wide, prepared to cover the kick or to get into the open for a forward pass.

The formation is not particularly suited for line play, although backs 1 and 4 are in position to receive the pass from center for a thrust into the line. The formation is strong for flank attacks, kicking or passing.

Illinois ran rough-shod over Pennsylvania a few years ago, using this formation for every play. Red Grange was the No. 2 back. Iowa cleaned up the Big Ten Conference 10 years ago with such a formation, employing Aubrey Devine as the No. 2 back. Howard Jones favors this formation at Southern California, where his quarterbacks always are the No. 2 backs.

A Texan On The Threshold

WHILE it is never good business to cross a bridge or take a detour before you come to either, it is taking too long a gamble to opine at this juncture that a Texan will wield the Congressional gavel when it is up when a higher power summoned Nicholas Longworth.

Down in Uvalde, in the cow and asphalt country, there has been reared a brusque yet kindly man, who for more than a dozen years has served his district in the national House of Representatives. So long has he served and so well that he has become one of the most successful Democratic whips in Congressional history and his talents in his chosen line have marked him unmistakably as a leader.

That man is John "Jack" Garner, onetime cowboy, who today stands upon the verge of succeeding his Republican friend and political rival as Speaker of the House.

Tuesday's "off year" elections have completely wrecked the already greased skids upon which Jack Garner will probably ride into one of the nation's most important posts. Only his own death or death of Democratic colleagues and their subsequent successors from Republican ranks, can now keep Jack Garner from the presiding office in the lower house of Congress. It is a position he has secured through merit and his ultimate selection will be cheering to old pat Democrats as well as to us of Texas.

Rugged, staunch and the type that hits straight from the shoulder, Congressman Garner is the exact opposite of Ohio's "Nicky" Longworth whose career was cut short by death, yet the Texan possesses the ability needed in the position of Speaker.

We foresee for this Southwest Texan a successful term of office if and when he assumes it and expect to see him a cornerstone upon which can be built the next Democratic administration.

THE TEXAS LEAGUE SITUATION

Sports writers over the state are having a big time during the off baseball season by figuratively tossing the Wichita Falls Spudders from pillar to post and back again.

The Dallas News, apparently forgetful of mileage, reported that the Spudders will do their 1932 training in El Paso.

Jinx Tucker, of the Waco News-Tribune, is pleased with the statement that in all probabilities the Spudders will be moved to Waco. Wichita says the Spudders remains there.

Spudders, of course, are permitted to take their choice and it may be that the Wichita Falls franchise will be moved before the umpires bawl "Play ball" again and the flowers bloom in the spring.

Be that as it may, there is one thing that has been satisfactorily answered to fans who would like to see the Texas league strengthened. That is: Now that Tulsa and Oklahoma City are available, why doesn't the Texas loop take them in? Why not these two "naturals" and outstanding good baseball towns taken into the fold?

Surely they'd be an improvement over either Waco or El Paso—or over three or four other Texas league towns for that matter.

"A slight upward trend," says a market item, "is noted in commodity buying." Slight isn't enough. We want it to slant up sharply, like Maurice Chevalier's straw hat.

Practical Health Problems

CLEAN SKIN IS HEALTH ARMOR

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

It is not for the fact that the human body contains mechanisms for resisting infection, bacteria would soon dominate the earth. Various types of antiseptic solutions have been developed by scientific medicine to aid the body tissues in resisting infection.

The skin was formerly considered merely an envelope for the human body, a sort of cover to hold in the tissues or the organs. Now it is realized that the skin has its own blood supply and that it must be considered an essential living tissue.

In order to find out to what extent the skin could protect bacteria, Dr. J. F. Norton and Miss Marguerite Hill recently made special studies on this point. The skin of workers were put into a dilute suspension of bacteria. Then a sterile cotton swab was rubbed over the contaminated surface of the skin and inoculated into a tube of culture medium. When the bacteria grew, they were counted, so that it was possible to determine the extent to which the skin could itself destroy germs. It is well established that there are always living germs on the skin, and it seemed possible to the investigators that perhaps some other mechanism was responsible for the gradual disappearance of the germs from the skin.

As a result of their investigations, the authors conclude that bacteria applied to the skin diminish in number very rapidly, the greatest diminution occurring during the first 10 minutes.

The most important factor involved, they discovered, is the presence of moisture. The organisms disappear more rapidly when the skin dries rapidly than when it is kept moist.

There seems to be a germicidal power on the skin [illegible] holding a spot in which the skin is broken, such as occurs in times of wounds, infection or other injuries may set up serious infection. In such instances, the use of antiseptics and germicides brings about rapid destruction of the germs.

It is also well established that the use of plenty of soap and water is an exceedingly useful technic for preventing skin infections.

Many Senators On Fence

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of two articles on the prohibition issue in the light of the approaching session of congress.)

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

State, War and Navy Building

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Dry senators and representatives who, having noted significant barometric readings months ago, ever since then have been standing by to go astern on the prohibition proposition at an instant's warning, are being rewarded now, for their alertness, in a certain peace of mind following the American Legion's 2 1-2 to 1 vote on the wet side of the wet-and-dry question at its Detroit convention in September.

Senator Glenn of Illinois, Senator Walsh of Montana, and Senator McNary of Oregon were among the farseeing ones who announced, plenty of time in advance, that they were willing to support a policy favoring a prohibition referendum, if desired by their constituents.

Senator Wheeler of Montana proclaimed his complete conversion from dryness to wetness more than a year back.

These senators have cause to congratulate themselves.

Illinois, Montana and Oregon all went thoroughly wet at the Legion gathering and Glenn, Walsh and McNary are in a position to go in reverse without undue strain upon their machinery, whereas Wheeler is backpedaling vigorously already.

SENATOR JONES of Washington was almost too smart, if anything.

Although sponsor of the famous "5-and-10" dry law, he became alarmed by what he interpreted as his state's wet drift in 1930 or there-abouts and made it known that he also was prepared to vote for a referendum if necessary.

And the Washington Legionaires balloted 16 to 8 dry at Detroit.

Jones might have stood in perfect safety and gained considerable credit for it.

SUCH ACCIDENTS will happen.

But the statesmen who got a terrible shock when they read the Legion news from the Michigan metropolis were those who have been proceeding serenely, full speed ahead as drys, firm in the faith that their home folk were irrevocably arid, only to have the Legion vote throw a frightful doubt into them, out of a perfectly clear sky, as it were.

It is tough on a politician's entire structure to be brought to a full stop, and maybe have to begin backing up as fast as he previously was moving in the opposite direction, at an instant's notice.

Who would have dreamed that Georgia Legionaires, for instance, would have cast 17 straight wet votes, out of their state's total of 17, at Detroit?

Not Senator George or Senator Harris, to a certainty.

The Georgia Legionaires did, however.

And the Florida Legionaires!—to the horror of Senator Trammell. Senator Fletcher of Florida probably was not flabbergasted. True, he also is a dry, but he never said much about it. Trammell's record is dryer than Death Valley's.

ALTHOUGH Georgia cast its solid vote on the wet side at Detroit, it is not likely that it actually is quite so wet as that.

Most of the states voted under the unit rule, which made the showing a trifle deceptive. Those which split their delegations, according to individual preferences, threw more real light in the extent of their varying degrees of wetness versus dryness.

For example, had the Georgians voted each his personal convictions, they might have divided nine wet and eight dry, as Virginia actually did.

But the Floridians did not vote as a unit; they divided, 11 to 7. Thus there is no doubt as to the proportion of his home state Legion delegation's disagreement with Trammell.

AND THE intensely dry Senators Ashurst and Hayden of Arizona, Black of Alabama, Barkley of Kentucky, and Morrison of North Carolina!—how must they have felt when they read the following returns from the Legion convention?—

Arizona, wet 12, dry 0; Alabama, wet 20, dry 0; Kentucky, wet 20, dry 2; North Carolina, wet 19, dry 6.

Arizona and Alabama, like Georgia, may not be quite as wet as the figures indicate; they voted under the unit rule. But there is no mistake about Kentucky and North Carolina.

IT IS FAIR to say that some of the dry senators whose states went wet have an excellent right to feel astonished.

No one could possibly have imagined that they would do such a thing.

Kentucky, indeed, is somewhat wetly-and-dryly doubtful, as it is Republicanly and Democratically; Senator Barkley should have been on the qui vive.

Neither Georgia, Alabama nor North Carolina, however, has a single wet member in either house of congress, out of their total of 38, mostly chosen at last November's elections. As to what has occurred to them in the meantime, or whether or not their American Legion votes were truely representative, one person's guess is as good as another's.

AN ANALYSIS of the Legion's vote reveals many queer things, but nothing queerer than the Maine lineup.

Maine!—the initial prohibition state!—dry for nearly a century!

Thirteen wet ballots to one dry one!

There was no accident about it, either. The Pine Tree State did not vote under the unit rule. It gave its lone dry a chance to express himself.

In this connection, be it remembered that Senator Arthur Gould of Maine, whose term expired last March, was one of the wettest wets who ever came to Washington. Personally wet senators from dry states are not so unusual, but those who boldly admit it are almost as rare as live specimens of the dynasauri. Gould even wrote a recommendation for a grape concentrate company and permitted it to be published. His fellow lawmakers marveled, but now they are wondering if he did not know Maine better than they thought he did.

AND IS THE Anti-Saloon League worried?

On the countrary, "Opposition," said one of the organization's high functionaries whom I questioned on the subject, "is what prohibition thrives on. We were getting a trifle flabby from lack of it. This will bring us new members and contributions and restore our fighting spirit. It's the best thing that has befallen us since the 18th amendment's adoption."

The league presents a bold front to the situation, whatever it may think of it.

A true village is a place where you can back up to something and scratch when you feel that way.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

FOUND HIS OWN NAME ON A GRAVESTONE:

Thomas Ivor Prosser of Portheawl, Wales, went to a funeral in Portheawl, and after the burial rites had been performed he wandered through the graveyard, casually reading the old head stones. To his astonishment he found one bearing a name identical to his, admonishing him, as a namesake, to be prepared to follow the departed Prosser. And a further coincidence was the fact that one Prosser died on the birthdate of the other. The living Mr. Prosser has retired to think things out.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Pretty NORMA KENT, 20-year-old secretary, marries MARK TRAVERS, millionaire's son, in spite of the opposition of Mark's father.

The story opens in Marlboro, middle-western metropolis. After an extravagant honeymoon the couple return to Marlboro. Soon they face poverty. Mark secures a job, loses it, and then becomes a floorwalker in a department store. The young couple are just beginning to master their problems when Mark's father sends for him and offers him a place in his own business organization if the son will prove he can make good. Mark's first assignment involves a business trip to France. Norma must remain at home.

Norma, rudely treated at her father-in-law's home, slips away, leaving no trace of her whereabouts Chris Saunders, Norma's former roommate, helps her find a job.

Mark's father employs detectives to trail the girl. They unearth records showing that Norma three years before was convicted on a vice charge. In spite of the evidence that the charge was framed Travers sends his lawyer to Paris to engineer a divorce. Weeks later Norma receives a letter telling her the decree has been granted.

In August Norma's son is born. When the baby is six months old Norma returns to her former job. Mark's mother sees her with the child and a few days later a public health nurse comes while Norma is away and takes the baby, explaining a complaint has been made that he is neglected.

BOB FARRELL, young lawyer, discovers that Mr. and Mrs. Travers are behind this move, seeking to get custody of the child. Farrell persuades Norma to go to LAFAYETTE FYLNN, district attorney, and tell how the charges against her were framed. Flynn exposes these facts and they are sensational. An investigation is ordered. Norma returns home one evening and finds a letter.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLVI

The address on the envelope had been typed. On swift glance told Norma the letter had been posted in Marlboro. She tore back the flap and drew out a folded sheet.

"Why—there's no signature! Look, Chris!"

There were two paragrahps on the typewritten page. The unsigned letter read:

"Dear Miss Travers: This is to warn you that if you tell any more to the newspapers you will be out of the picture. You are being watched night and day.

"If you go to the Wellington investigation you'll never live to get out of the courtroom. Watch your step and keep your trap shut and no body will hurt you. If you disregard this warning you'll regret it."

The rest of the page was blank. Norma raised startled eyes as she read the last words. "Who—who in the world—?" she began.

Chris put a hand on the other girl's arm. "Let's go upstairs!" she exclaimed. "Up to the apartment!"

They went up the two flights of stairs. Chris put her key in the lock and turned the knob. It was not yet six o'clock but the apartment was dusky. Chris pressed the electric light switch at the side of the door before entering. She gave a quick, searching glance about the room.

"There's nobody here," she said almost as though she had suspected there would be.

Norma closed the door and put the packages she had been carrying on the table. She held up the letter again. "But isn't this strange, Chris?" she asked in a puzzled voice. "Who on earth could have written such a thing?"

"Did you lock the door?" the other girl said sharply.

"Why, of course not! You don't mean—you don't think there's anything to be frightened about?"

Quickly Chris crossed the room, turned the night lock on the door. She turned and faced Norma defensively.

"I don't know what to think", she said, "and anyhow thinking isn't safe! Don't you realize that three-fourths of the corruption of Marlboro is linked in this thing? Of course I'm frightened. They might do anything! Anything! These judges who have been letting criminals get by—the men higher up—oh, Norma, I was a fool to let you do this—!"

Curiously enough it was Chris instead of Norma who was thrown into panic by the threatening note. Norma insisted the lette was harmless, sent by some practical joker with a distorted sense of humor or by someone suffering from hallucinations.

To all this Chris protested: "I hope you're right! Heaven knows I hope you're right! But we're not going to take chances!"

Half a dozen times during the evening Chris thought she heard sounds in the hall. She insisted on leaving a light burning when they went to bed. In the morning she looked worn out and as though she had slept little.

"But, Chris," Norma protested, "I don't see why you should worry so about that letter. If anybody wanted to harm me they wouldn't warn me about it, would they? Of course the letter doesn't mean anything!"

"Will you believe it means some-

"I'm so relieved since Henry's gone back to window washing. That indoor work was endangering his health."

Bob Slaughter Is Planning A Large Feeding Project

LEVELLAND, Nov. 4. (Special)—Bob Slaughter, one of the original owners of the famous Slaughter lands in the southwest part of Hockley county, is planning a large feeding project for the farmers who purchased lands of him during the past several years.

Already over 300 heads of cattle have been placed on feed and more will be placed as soon as facilities for handling the cattle are finished.

Mr. Slaughter is said to have told farmers on his lands that he would "guarantee $2 a ton for feed above market price," by the sale of their crops to him. This will also enable them to sell close to their farms without the necessity of a haul of fifteen or more miles to a railroad station.

Plans for the feeding of the animals are being built and a large feed mill also constructed. The feed will be ground and fed to the stock in the pens.

The project is under way in what is known as the Sundown community. The first bunch of steers came from Elida, N. M., and were driven overland a distance of 100 miles in six days. The animals had been grazing on pasture and, were in prime condition. The drive did not seem to hurt them in any manner.

Sundown was started as a community about three years ago. There is now a brick school house, with a substantial enrollment and a strong faculty. The town also has a gin, two stores and a number of residences, besides other business enterprises.

Record grain sorghum crops have been grown in the community the past year.

thing if Bob says so?"

"He won't. Bob would say the very things I've been telling you."

"Well, I want to show it to him. Will you let me take the letter this morning and show it to Bob?"

"Of course. Let's see—what did I do with it?"

The message was produced and folded away in Chris' handbag. When the two girls left for the office it was Chris whose eyes had dark shadows and whose cheeks were too white.

As they boarded the street car she noticed a man wearing a gray cap across the street. He had been watching them. Chris did not mention the man to Norma.

The day in Frederick Stuart's office passed just as its predecessors. At noon Norma had sandwiches and coffee sent up from the first floor lunch counter. She did not like to go out these days because she was sure to be stared at. A boy brought in the afternoon newspapers and laid them on her desk.

Norma scanned the first pages. District Attorney Flynn was quoted for almost a column. The Wellington prosecution was to open next Wednesday.

Nothing in the newspapers the girl had not known. A heated denial from the chief of police that anything was wrong in his department followed the Flynn interview. There was a picture of "Whitey" Black printed under the single word "Witness." The caption explained that Black was to present evidence in the investigation into activities of the vice squad next week.

Norma put the newspapers aside distastefully. A little later she heard footsteps and looked up. Chris Saunders stood in the doorway.

"Oh, Chris! You startled me!"

Her roommate entered the office. "Anybody here?" she asked in a low voice.

Norma shook her head. "Mr. Stuart's gone to lunch."

Chris sank to a chair beside the other girl. "I've just been talking to Bob," she said, dropping her voice almost to a whisper. "He's taken the letter and gone to see Flynn. It's what I thought, Norma! Whitey Black's been getting anonymous threats in the mail, too. They've hidden him away somewhere and the police are guarding him. In spite of all he's said about them the police have got to protect him. If anything happened to him now it would be the wost possible indictment of the public safety department. Bob's coming back as soon as he can. He said you're not to leave the office until he gets here!"

"But, Chris—!"

"I can't stay any longer, honey. I've got to get back. Bob agrees with me it isn't safe for you to stay on at the apartment. He'll tell you what to do. I'm not going to stay there either. I'm going to Minnie Baker's."

A figure loomed in the doorway and Chris started. It was only Frederick Stuart, back from his lunch hour.

Stuart passed on into his private office and Chris arose to go. "Bob said for you to wait for him," she reminded Norma just before she disappeared.

After she was gone Norma stared for several moments at the blank sheet of paper in her typewriter. Presently her fingers began tapping the keys again.

It was not Bob Farrell who was Norma's next caller, but a middle-aged woman dressed in brown. She gave the name "Mrs. Everett" and asked to see Norma's employer.

Five minutes after the woman had entered Stuart's office the buzzer rang. Notebook in hand, Norma answered.

Stuart was leaning back in his desk chair and Mrs. Everett sat facing him.

"Come in, Miss Travers," Stuart said. When she had closed the door he continued. "Mrs. Everett has come from District Attorney Flynn's office. She has told me that because of the importance of your testimony at the hearing next week the district attorney thinks your whereabouts should be concealed. Mrs. Everett has come to take you to a place where you will be safe and where you will be assured of freedom from annoyances of all sorts. Here is the message from Flynn."

Stuart handed Norma a sheet of paper on which a dozen lines were written. She recognized the district attorney's signature. The note said that the bearer was an accredited representative and that she would explain the purpose of her visit.

"I think we should leave at once," Mrs. Everett told the girl. "I have a car downstairs waiting and here is a wrap and hat for you." She held up the coat she had been carrying over her arm. "See how it fits," she added.

In the gray coat and hat, with heavy rimmed spectacles over her eyes Norma could hardly recognize herself. The elevator operator did not give her a second glance as she followed Mrs. Everett into the car. The two women swept through the ground floor lobby and out on the street.

A taxicab that had been waiting a little to the left drew up before the entrance. Mrs. Everett and Norma stepped inside.

The girl did not recognize the address she heard given to the driver but presently they were skimming out of down-town traffic and heading west. They drove along well-kept residential streets, past massive apartments.

"Is it far?" Norma asked.

"Not much farther. We're almost there."

The taxi halted before a five-story apartment building. Mrs. Everett paid the driver and led the way inside. "My rooms are on the second floor," she said. "I usually walk instead of taking the elevator."

They went up the carpeted stairway and down a hall. Before one of the doorways Mrs. Everett halted.

It was a pleasant, roomy apartment which opened to them. The suite contained a living room, two bedrooms, kitchen and bath.

"I hope you're going to be comfortable here," the woman said, smiling. It's my own place. Would you like to rest a little before dinner? This is your room and you'll find a dressing gown and night things in the clothes closet. There's powder and cold cream on the dressing table—"

She chattered on as though the girl were an old friend come to pay a social visit.

"Mrs. Everett," Norma said "won't you tell me who you are and how Mr. Flynn happened to send me here?"

The woman smiled. "I've worked with Mr. Flynn for years," she said. "He doesn't want you to be worried or frightened before the investigation next week. Of course I don't think there's anything really to be frightened about. Maybe you'd feel more comfortable if I told you that your friend Bob Farrell is going to call this evening."

"Bob's coming here?"

Mrs. Everett nodded. "You've plenty of time for a warm bath," she suggested. "Why don't you take one and then lie down for a little while. With such a nice young man coming you'll want to look your prettiest!"

"I am tired," Norma agreed. "You're awfully kind, Mrs. Everett. I guess I'll follow your advice."

A little later, warm and glowing from the tub, Norma faced the mirror of her dressing table. Why did her heart beat so rapidly at the thought of seeing Bob?

"Aggies Must Play Better Football," Says Mat Bell

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 4. (AP) Coach Madison Bell announced today the Texas Aggies would have to play sensational football to meet the Southern Methodist University Mustangs on an equal footing here Saturday.

He intimated that his gridders would be forced to rise far above their average performance to stand a chance of winning.

The Mustangs, he claimed, were a heavier, faster and in the backfield, a more experienced club than the Cadets.

Bell has been putting his men through a hard training grind this week, hoping to induce one of those inspired performances that upset powerful teams.

With 16 lettermen back, the College of the Ozarks football welshers see a formidable eleven this year.

Cotton — Cotton Lower Under Selling; Livestock — Yearlings, Steers Feature Purchases; Grain — Buying Outbursts Send Wheat On Up

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 4. (AP)—Despite the absence of new influences the cotton market was fairly active today. Prices fluctuated narrowly, and without special trend. Hedge selling was largely responsible for such declines as occurred, although some selling also resulted from easier wheat and lear of an increased crop estimate by the government early next week. Rather steadier stocks encouraged more or less support. The close was steady a little under the best showing net losses for the day of 1-10 points. Liverpool is due tomorrow 2 penny points up on New Orleans.

A private authority issued a report during the day making the estimated crop 16,798,000 bales and the estimated ginnings to November 1, 11,612,000 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. (AP)—Cotton was lower today under some southern selling and liquidation.

January contracts sold off to 6.48, or 10 points net lower, but part of this loss was recovered in the late trading on covering and a renewal of trade buying. January closed at 6.57, or 9 points up from the lowest, with the general market closing steady at net declines of 10-16 points.

The opening was barely steady 9-10 points lower under some local and southern selling which seemed to be brought in by yesterday's weakness in the wheat market and a private crop estimate placing the yield at 16,746,000 bales.

lowing the recent interstate commerce commission decision on freight rates.

"The commission has recognized the necessity of leveling out railroad income," said Mr. Amster, "and has attempted to accomplish it through pooling of added revenue. This, however, does not by any means solve the problem, although it points the way. Carrying out the I. C. C. proposal to its logical limit, the effective solution clearly is the consolidation of all the railroads in the country — weak and strong alike—into one sturdy, unified system."

Bull Market In Wheat Gives Stocks An Upward Push; Issues Close High

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. (AP) — The bull market in wheat gave stocks an upward push today.

Most of the active buying in shares was reserved for the final half hour, but the market during that interval developed considerable strength and many principal issues closed 1-3 points above Monday's final quotations.

Bonds showed fairly consistent strength and for the fourth consecutive day their averages finished higher. Silver touched 31 1-4 cents an ounce here, the best level since March when it was quoted at 31 3-8. Cotton, partly influenced by crop estimates, reacted 10-18 points net. Corn rose with wheat.

Local Markets

These prices are furnished by the following Lubbock firms: Poultry — Lubbock Poultry and Egg company, delivered Lubbock. Dairy Products—Bell Ice Cream company; Grain—S. E. Cone Grain and Seed company, following prices being asked by Lubbock grain dealers. Cotton—Blocker Cotton company. All prices subject to change during day.

Politics

membership so close that the count stood tonight at 217 Democrats, 215 Republicans, 1 farmer-labor, 2 vacancies.

Leaders Are Silent

On the Republican side, most leaders were silent but many said privately that after all, house control might prove to be more of a burden than a blessing. Senator Fess the national chairman, declared there was promise for '32 in the Republican retention of the old Longworth district of Ohio, after a stubborn Democratic effort to capture it.

Election figures had other aspects of interest to every politician. One was the overwhelming adoption of Governor Roosevelt's reforestation proposal in New York state, over opposition of former Governor Smith. Another was the great numerical strength shown by the independent voter.

Politicians have had difficulty measuring the significance of the rift between Roosevelt and Smith. The reforstation plan fostered by Roosevelt attracted no attention out side New York until Smith opposed it. Guesses differ as to the extent it matched the strength of Roosevelt against that of Smith. Certainly in many parts of the county, however, the verdict will be accepted as a Roosevelt victory. Senator Borah of Idaho said today it was the most significent thing in all of the returns, and would "add to the prestige of Roosevelt."

Rolls Up Majority

In New Jersey, where the late Senator Morrow had a Republican majority of some 200,000 in the Democratic year 1930, Governor-elect Moore rolled up yesterday a Democratic majority of more than 250,000. In the eighth Michigan district, which provided the margin needed b the Democrats for house control, the Republicans won last year by 200,000,. In that one district, close to 12,500 must have changed their allegiance within 12 months to give the Democrat a majority of 5,-000.

This is bad news for the old guard of whatever party. It means that by the thousands and hundreds of thousands, voters can no longer be counted on to stay in the ranks. By that token, it stirs the speculations of those who are thinking of opposing President Hoover for renomination, and those who are inclined to strike out on Democratic quests of their own, despite the present outstanding position of Roosevelt.

It was one of the surprising results of yesterday's voting that the fifth New Jersey district, where a special election for congress is to be held next month, gave the Democratic state ticket a lead of 10,000.

Lum Thomas, 75, of Mountain View, Mo., and Cecil Gilham, 6, of Peace Valley, Mo., were the oldest and youngest fox hunters at a recent south Missouri meet.

Livestock

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 4. (AP) — Buyers bought better fed steers and yearlings at generally steady prices but exhibited only moderate interest in short feds which made up the supply, these being quoted as steady to weak with spots 25 lower. Chicago scored up to 12.00 for medium weight and heavy steers. Other markets tabulated a few loads of good to choice kinds which brought 9.75@11.00 while majority of short feds had to sell at 5.00@8.00. A few better grade short fed steers scored up to 8.50 while at the other extreme plain grassers had to go at 3.75 and below. Stockers and feeders held generally steady with majority of replacement steers at 4.00@6.00. Buyers displayed more interest in yearlings and stock calves than in more aged kinds. Receipts aggregated around 37,000 as compared with 35,119 last Wednesday.

Hog trade was generally active at steady to 15 higher with best butchers in St. Louis up to 5.00. Arrivals totalled 75,-100 against 81,316 a week ago.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Nov. 4. (AP) — Hogs 400; truck hogs mostly 10 higher; no rail hogs offered; truck top 5.25 to small killers; bulk better 180-250 lb. truck hogs 5.10@5.25; packing sows 4.00@4.25 or steady.

Cattle—2,400; including 900 calves; market quiet; quotable steady trade in most cattle and calves; receipts lacking in quality; grass slaughter steers 3.75@4.75; good fat yearlings 6.25@7.00; fat cows 3.00; butchers 2.50@2.75; low cutters 1.25 @2.00; and good stock heifer calves 4.75; slaughter calves mostly 4.25 down.

Mob Attack

They were rescued by officials of the sheriff's office.

Taken to the court house, the two were placed under protection. A fully loaded automatic pistol was found in the woman's possession, and charges of carrying a deadly weapon were brought against her by a committee of citizens headed by Mayor J. O. Byrd of Snow Hill.

Arraigned before Magistrate Walter Price, she demanded a jury trial, and was released on $500 bail furnished by Ades, a registered member of the Baltimore bar. She said she was hired to protect Ades.

The second attack came at the close of the afternoon session of court. As Ades, the woman and Rabowsky left the court house they were attacked and badly beaten by the mob which brushed aside officials of the sheriff's office and city police. Judge Bailey himself rescued them from the crowd's fury.

The trio was taken to the jail for safe keeping. They were treated by a physician who said their injuries consisted of bruises and contusions.

Later Ades and his companions consented to leave town. They left for Baltimore under guard of three deputy sheriffs and a member of the state police force.

Appeals For Troops

Following the mob's order that they leave town, Ades communicated with the defense league headquarters in Baltimore. Louis Berger, secretary of the organization appealed to Governor Albert C. Ritchie for state troops to protect Ades and his companions. The executives' office took no action after assurance by State's Attorney Godfrey Child of Worchester county protection would be given here.

Judge Bailey, after the second demonstration, said no attempt would be made to hold court before Friday.

Lee, alias Orphan Jones, negro, who confessed slaying Green K. Davis, his wife and two daughters last month in reprisal for his discharge as one of the Davis farm hands, was in the Baltimore city jail for safe keeping.

Ades came here today to seek a change of venue for Lee, for whom a trial date has not been set. He contended a fair trial could not be obtained in this vicinity because of race prejudice.

Nan Britton

less of whether Miss Britton's book was true or not, it was the work of a degenerate and perverted mind.

Lust Is Cited

Miss Britton, Davis said, had possessed a "lust of conquest" which led her to desire the affections of the president, and that she later developed a "lust of gold."

Late today, Federal Judge John M. Jillits, reopened the hearing to newspaper reporters after barring them Monday. He cautioned them to be careful in their handling of the story.

The judge probably will begin his charge to the jury early tomorrow and the case may reach the jurors by noon.

BRIEFS ARE FILED

FORT WORTH, Nov. 4. (AP) — Briefs in the appeal of Liberty magazine from the $25,000 libel judgment granted Mrs. Temple Houston in her suit growing out of an article on her late husband tonight were in the hands of judges of the United States circuit court of appeals here while attorneys for the litigants redoubled efforts to effect a settlement.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Nov. 4. (AP)—Keen demand was reported for all offerings on the cash grain market.

Wheat was sharply higher with protein grain especially wanted. Corn was strong.

Wheat, No. 1 ordinary hard milling 68 1-2@69 1-2; No. 1 hard 13 per cent protein 69 1-2@70 1-2; 14 per cent 73 1-2@74 1-2; 15 per cent 77 1-2@78 1-2; 16 per cent 81 1-2@82 1-2.

Corn, No. 2 mixed 44 1-2@45 1-2; No. 2 white 45@46; No. 2 yellow 50@53.

Barley, No. 3 nominally 41@43.

Sorghums, No. 2 milo per 100 lbs. 87@90; No. 2 kaffir 87@89.

Basis delivered group three points: oats, No. 2 red 25@26.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 4. (AP)—Excited new outbursts of speculative buying ardor rushed wheat prices to above 70 cents a bushel today, with the scene in the last minute's transactions.

This was the first time the wheat market had risen to 70 cents since last May when even the federal farm board's $500,-000,000 of government funds would no longer permit artificial control of prices, and a collapse followed to the bottommost levels ever known. Today's rise was attributed largely to indications of a big export trade in North American wheat during the next few months and to threatened crop damage by drouth in domestic winter wheat territory southwest.

Wheat closed buoyant, 2 1-8 to 3 cents above yesterday's finish, corn 2 3-8 to 3 1-8 advanced; oats 5-8 to 1 up, and provisions varying from 25 cents decline to 12 cents gain.

Young Lynn Farmer Thought Seriously Hurt In Affair

L. D. Lytell, a young farmer living several miles west of O'Donnell, in Lynn county, is in a Lamesa hospital and late yesterday was reported in a serious condition from stabs received in a fight at a dance several miles west of the Lynn-Dawson county line late Saturday night or early Sunday morning.

Another man is in the Lynn county jail at Tahoka where he is being held pending the outcome of injuries to the wounded man.

This was the report yesterday afternoon of B. L. Parker, sheriff of Lynn county, who was here.

World's Largest Building To Rise in "Radio City"

Here's an advance view of what is to be the world's largest building—the 6-story central unit of New York's Radio City for which contracts in excess of $50,000,000 have just been let. Three square blocks of property in mid-town Manhattan have been cleared for the huge project, and work soon is to start on the structure pictured above and on an International Music Hall and a motion picture theater. The office building, which will contain nearly 600,000 square feet of floor space more than the Empire State building, is to house the National Broadcasting Company, the Radio Corporation of America, and 27 broadcasting studios.

Employes Of Broke City Are Returned

LASALLE, Ill., Nov. 4. (AP)—All city employes of Lasalle who were "fired" by the city council Monday night because there was no money in the treasury, returned to work today.

After a meeting with a committee of business men, the city commissioners last night agreed to reinstate the workers on condition that arrangements be made to finance the city government the rest of the year.

Although the city was without police protection yesterday, no disorders or crimes were reported.

The city treasury was depleted and salaries were eight weeks in arrears.

Investigator Is Known On Plains

J. A. Street, a department of justice special agent from El Paso mentioned in press dispatches this week as having disguised himself as an Indian in order to catch the alleged murderer of Miss Henrietta Schmerler on the White River Indian reservation in Arizona, is well known in Lubbock and over the South Plains, especially among the old timers.

Mr. Street, better known as "Alex Street" was a witness in the recent Spikes libel suit here in May and June. He has lived in the southwest for many years and after serving as a sheriff in New Mexico, joined the federal forces ten or twelve years ago.

While here Mr. Street declined to discuss at length his experiences as a federal officer. However, he was the leading man in the famous Hale case in Oklahoma several years ago where he worked for three years to uncover a case affecting Indian wards of the government.

Many old timers who lived in New Mexico a score or more of years ago or who had business there, especially around Tucumcari, will recall Mr. Street.

Reports Read At D.A.R. Sessions

HOUSTON, Nov. 4. (AP)—Sessions of the thirty-second annual state conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution today were given over mainly to hearing reports.

The ceremony of bugle call, entrance of the officers and distinguished guests, escorted by pages and color bearers opened the sessions.

Reports during the morning meeting touched on films, conservation and thrift, correct use of flag, the D. A. R. magazine, the student loan fund, genealogical research, historical research, legislation in congress, national defense and patriotic education.

Gas Hearings Are Underway

Engineer Testifies That Gas Pipeline System Is Ample To Care For Peak Load For Coming Winter

TOPEKA, Nov. b. (AP)—The extensive Cities Service gas pipeline system was described today by one of the organization's engineers as ample to care for the peak load this winter but as having no surpluseage in its capacity.

Testifying at the public service commission's investigation into city gate rates and other charges entering into cost of gas to customers of the Cities Service company subsidiaries in Kansas, H. L. Eastman, an engineer employed by Henry L. Doherty & company, said the systems' chief source of gas were in the Amarillo, Seminole and Oklahoma City fields.

Eastman testified the organization had some 250 or 300 other sources of supply in local fields in Kansas and northern Oklahoma.

The wholesale or city gate rate in Oklahoma, he said, was 35 cents a thousand cubic feet, compared with 38 and 40 cents in Kansas.

The organization's refusal to meet Gov. Harry H. Woodring's demand for a 10-cent reduction in the city gate rate, the cut to be reflected in local rates to consumers, resulted in the commission directing the investigation now under way.

Eastman testified there was no surpluage in the capacity of the 4,300- mile system, which covers parts of five states, Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska, to take care of the anticipated peak load this coming winter. He said the peak load last winter was 325,000,-000 cubic feet a day.

V. C. Jarboe, Bartlesville, Okla., pipeline superintendent of the Cities Service Gas company, testified as to the dates when the various links in the pipeline system were constructed.

Enid City Commission Seeks New Gas Supply At Low Rate

ENID, Okla., Nov. 4. (AP) — The Enid city commission voted unanimously today to seek another gas supply for Enid under a new franchise at a consumers' rate not to exceed 35 cents per 1,000 feet.

The action followed a report by the Oklahoma National Gas corporation, present distributor, that it was unable to break a contract with the Consolidated Gas. co., to supply gas at a gate rate of 20 cents per thousand.

The city officials had demanded gas under the original 35-cent franchise rate instead of the present 45 cents. The Champlin Refining Co., has offered to furnish gas at the Enid gate at 12 cents per thousand.

More Of Everything You Want In Clothes---Less Of The Only Thing You Don't Want---Cost

Never were clothing values so high, never in fifteen years were prices so low. Hart Schaffner & Marx have done a startling thing in bringing this about — have definitely put more value into the woolens and tailoring and at the same time radically reduced prices.

See these new suits in our store—fine all wool materials in natty new fall patterns—rack after rack of them in every new coloring—sizes to fit both regular and special proportions—all these new prices of fifteen years ago.

Think of it—you can now choose these.

Jury To Probe Waco Shooting

Judge Calls McLennan Body To Meet Friday; Former Student Faces Charge Of Murder For Killing Salesman

WACO, Nov. 4. (AP)—Judge D. W. Bartlett today ordered the McLennan county grand jury to re-convene Friday to investigate the slaying of O. L. Jones, Waco automobile salesman, who was shot to death on the highway six miles north of Waco the night of Sept. 3.

The grand jury was convened in regular session Monday but later was dismissed.

Judge Bartlett's action came as the result of a charge of murder being filed against W. C. Beck, 19, in connection with the slaying. Beck, who was arrested Monday at Iowa Park, made a signed statement to officers after being returned to Waco.

Officers said Beck confessed to having been given a ride in Jones' automobile and shooting the salesman, with robbery as his motive. He allegedly admitted being given a ride at Lancaster while hitch-hiking to Waco to visit a girl.

Officers quoted him as saying he saw Jones' purse when they stopped at an Alvarado cafe. He told officers they continued down the road until they neared Waco. He shot Jones, officers said, and dragged the body into a ditch some distance from the highway. He told officers Jones offered no resistance.

Next morning Jones' body was found. His car was on the highway with the lights burning.

Beck, officers said, told of going to Waco and obtaining a hotel room. There he opened the purse, finding $2. He told officers he hid the purse and Jones' bank book behind a dresser, where it was found a week later.

After a prolonged investigation, officers traced the occupancy of the room to Beck.

Beck lived at Wills Point. At one time he attended the University of Texas, but quit school to go to work. He was employed by an ice company at Iowa Park, near Wichita Falls, when arrested.

Amarillo Subscribers Continuing In Fight; Ten Per Cent Cut Connection

AMARILLO, Nov. 4. (AP)—About 10 per cent of the telephone subscribers in Amarillo had ordered their telephones disconnected at noon today, according to reports issued by the chamber of commerce and Mayor Ernest O. Thompson, who is directing the fight for lower rates.

The city manager's office and chamber officials reported tabulations that exceeded 700 subscribers. More than 30 of these were hotels, large and small, each representing several telephones. The city has 10,400 telephones, but fewer than 8,000 subscribers.

Developments of the day included a statement from Mayor Thompson that the franchise of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company would expire next June, and that if the lower rates were not granted the franchise would be given to another company.

Telephone company officials repeated their former statements that a further reduction was impossible. They said 49 subscribers had been disconnected and that 200 orders had not been investigated.

City Manager Bill Durham, whose office received almost 500 "disconnect" orders in the morning mail, said that every type of business and every profession, including physicians, were represented. He said orders sent to his office were in response to letters mailed out late Monday.

Trial Of John Bowen Held Up; Date Again To Be Set

AUSTIN, Nov. 4. (AP)—The jury on the case of John W. Bowen of Dallas was discharged and the trial indefinitely postponed today. Bowen was indicted for forgery and passing forged state witness fee certificates. The state withdrew its announcement of ready, District Attorney Henry Brooks telling the court it was unprepared to proceed at this time. The case was to be reset some time during the day.

Bowen, against whom nine indictments alleging forgery and passing forged state witness fee certificates were returned, was on trial on an indictment charging forgery and passing of a certificate in the amount of $45.68.

Reduced Rates On Fruit In Rio Grande Valley Are Made

HARLINGEN, Nov. 4. (AP)—A reduced schedule of freight rates for Rio Grande valley grapefruit and oranges shipped to points within the state was announced today by officials of the Missouri Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads.

The date when the new rates would go into effect was not announced, but officials intimated it would be within 10 days.

Officials said the new rates were designed to meet truck competition and equalize intra-state rates.

"I liked Chesterfield right from the start"

"NO, I don't know a blessed thing about how cigarettes are made. But, of course, I would want the tobacco to be PURE. And then I've heard that the blending is very important. I'd want that to be done just right.

"Then the paper. I don't like paper that you can taste—or smell when it's burning. I'd want that pure too.

"Another thing. I want to smoke whenever I feel like it—without worrying about smoking too many. So I want my cigarettes MILD.

"But the main thing, of course, is TASTE. I don't care for over-sweetened cigarettes. I much prefer those that are just sweet enough.

"Chesterfield seems to satisfy in every one of these ways. That is why I'd rather have a Chesterfield."

SMOKERS tire of too much sweetness in a cigarette, and they don't like rawness. For a steady diet, they want a cigarette like CHESTERFIELD — a mild and mellow smoke, free from any over-sweetness or any harshness or bitterness. That's why more and more smokers every day are changing to CHESTERFIELD.

Good . . . they've got to be good.
