Hurricane Threat Ends...

Rain Pelts South Florida

EVERGLADES CITY, Fla. (AP) — Dennis, a gentle giant of a tropical storm, pelted South Florida with heavy rain and gusty winds as it blew ashore in the Everglades, but its threat of swelling into a hurricane ended today. The hurricane watch imposed in South Florida was canceled at 9 a.m. EDT today, said Gil Clark at the National Hurricane Center in Miami. Dennis' strongest winds remained at about 55 mph, well below the 74 mph level required for the storm to be classified a hurricane.

"It's like an old outboard motor," said Clark. "It just can't seem to get started."

The storm moved slowly inland this morning near the Ten Thousand Islands region of Florida's lower west coast. Forecasters said it would probably continue to move north today.

Residents along the southeast Florida coast from the Upper Keys to Palm Beach County were warned to expect thunderstorms, heavy rains, some gale-force winds, high tides and perhaps tornadoes today.

Gale warnings were extended north to Palm Beach. Owners of small boats were advised to stay in port.

The storm had made its way into Florida Bay on weak steering currents Sunday night after its diffused center passed over the lower Keys, bringing downpours and gusts of wind up to 55 mph but causing no injuries or major damage.

"The storm never made it," said bartender Jackie McKernan of the Brass Monkey Lounge in Marathon on the Keys. "But sales in our package stores have been booming. People are buying bottles for their hurricane parties."

"We really didn't have any storm at all," said Florida Highway Patrol dispatcher Judie Wilson. "People are going to think we were kidding."

At 9 a.m. EDT, Dennis was centered on the southwest Florida coast near Everglades City, about 60 miles west-southwest of Miami, near latitude 25.8 north and longitude 81.3 west.

Although residents of the 120-mile Keys chain took the storm in stride, thousands of other residents of southern Florida scrambled for plywood, batteries, masking tape and other hurricane supplies — just in case.

Hurricane forecasters put the southern tip of the state — everything south of a line between West Palm Beach and Fort Myers — under a hurricane watch Saturday night when Dennis appeared to be off the northern Cuban coast.

Dennis struggled Sunday to maintain top winds of 55 mph.

"It has the potential to pick up strength while it's still over water and it's centered almost over the southwestern tip of the Florida mainland, which is the Everglades," said Miles Lawrence.

Forecasters predicted thunderstorms, heavy rains, gusty winds, high tides and maybe even tornadoes in the watch area today as Dennis crept northward. Owners of small boats were advised to stay in port.

On Sunday, Key West got only .18 inches of rain, but Tavernier, in the upper Keys, got 1.66 inches and Miami absorbed 1.25 inches of water.

In that respect, Dennis could be more of a help than a hindrance to southern Florida, Frank said. A prolonged dry spell this year has parched much of the state and left Lake Okeechobee, the region's reserve water supply, at record low levels. Cloud seeding had improved the water level somewhat, but forecaster Neil Frank said the storm might drop as much as 10 inches of rain on Lake Okeechobee.

Meanwhile, boat owners secured their vessels at Jewfish Creek in the middle Keys and scores of automobiles headed for the mainland, towing small boats. Civil Defense authorities evacuated but no one had to leave home.

By nightfall, the scores of cars toting trailers, boats and families were returning only hours after leaving for the safety of the mainland.

Monday update

Lethal Bombs Stored

TOOELE ARMY DEPOT, Utah (AP) — The first secret shipment of the Army's Weteye nerve-gas bombs has arrived at a depot here that the government hopes will prove a safe mausoleum for the horrible weapons.

The shipment of 320 of 888 Weteye bombs arrived in trucks Friday from the Dugway Proving Ground, 57 miles away, where they were flown by Air Force cargo jets from the Rocky Mountain Arsenal in Colorado.

The Army said the move was without incident. Brig. Gen. Walter Kastenmayer said the Army hoped to complete in two weeks the transfer of all Weteye bombs and the remnants of three bombs that leaked the killer nerve agent GB in 1978 and 1979.

Oswald Photograph

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The Associated Press has obtained a photograph purporting to show the body of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald shortly before his burial in 1963.

A Fort Worth police officer reportedly snapped the unauthorized photograph on Nov. 25, 1963, as Oswald's body lay in a coffin at a Fort Worth funeral home.

Within hours, he was buried in Rose Hill cemetery here.

Oswald allegedly killed President John F. Kennedy on Nov. 22, and was himself slain two days later by night club operator Jack Ruby.

The AP purchased the photo from Jim Marrs, a one-time Fort Worth Star-Telegram reporter who now is employed here by an advertising public relations firm.

Iranian Accusation

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Iran accused the CIA Saturday of masterminding the hijacking of the regime's new gunboat. It also announced 26 more executions.

Tehran Radio said 15 leftists were executed Saturday on charges of armed insurrection, and 11 other opponents of the regime were executed Friday.

At least 300 people have been put to death in the eight weeks since the ouster of President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr, who fled to France July 29 and received political asylum.

In Paris, a spokesman for the Freedom-Seekers' movement which claimed responsibility for hijacking the gunboat said the vessel was "in international waters" preparing for a mission against Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's regime.

He gave no other details.

Houston Crime Rate Up

HOUSTON (AP) — Serious crime in Houston went up 6 percent last year, but the increase was below a national average of 10 percent, according to police department statistics.

The biggest jump among seven major crime categories was in robbery, which increased more than 16 percent, the figures showed. That was a rise from more than 9,000 robberies in 1979 to 10,875 in 1980.

Meanwhile, the city showed a decline in homicides and rapes.

Deacon Sentenced

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — The judge who sentenced former church leader Jimmy Conyers, who was found guilty of enslaving eight teen-age members of his congregation, says the case included some of the "most heinous evidence I've ever heard in my life."

Conyers, described by witnesses as a deacon in the Church of God and True Holiness, was sentenced to 20 years in prison Friday for holding the eight as slaves.

County Budget Up For Hearing

Scurry County Commissioners were looking over routine bills and holding a public hearing on a proposed 1982 county budget today.

The budget hearing, which had attracted no visitors this morning, was to continue into the afternoon as the commissioners worked on routine items.

The over-all budget proposed for 1982 totals $10,648,114. The 1981 budget is $10,997,052. The budget this year included payment of $628,841 in hospital construction bonds. This was the final payment on the hospital bonds.

The overall budget includes the $5,112,656 hospital operating budget for the coming year. The hospital's budget is largely self-sustaining from its own fees.

Although the county, as well as other taxing entities, will not be able to set a new tax rate until final evaluation figures are completed by the Scurry County Appraisal District, county officials are estimating a rate of around 13.2 cents per $100 valuation. The rate last year was 13.7 cents.

Gambler Arrested In Hotel-Casino Bombing

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — A gambler who lost thousands of dollars at Harveys Resort Hotel-Casino in Nevada has been charged with his two sons and three other people in the extortion bombing that wrecked the resort a year ago.

One side of the casino on the glittering gambling strip in Stateline, Nev., was blown out during a remote-control attempt to disarm the bomb Aug. 27 after the resort owners had agreed to pay the $3 million extortion demand. The payoff was never made because no one showed up at the appointed place.

The bomb, which had been wheeled into the building disguised as office equipment, caused no injuries when it blew up, but it caused $12 million in damage, resort officials said.

Ellie Beecher of the Fresno County Sheriff's Department identified those arrested as John Birges, 58, of Clovis, a city adjacent to Fresno; the woman he lived with, Ella Joan William, 47; and Terry Lee Hall, 25, of Fresno. They were held in the Fresno County Jail pending arraignment today before a federal magistrate.

The San Francisco Chronicle reported today that FBI agent Joseph Yablonsky said Birges' sons, John, 20, and James, 19, were charged with attempted extortion along with Willis Brown, said to be in his 50s and a resident of the Fresno area.

The elder Birges and Hall were booked for investigation of transporting explosives over state lines. Ms. William was booked for investigation of extortion, conspiracy and transporting explosives, Ms. Beecher said.

"I'm tickled to death. This is one heck of an anniversary present," said Eldon Campbell, president of the resort, which reopened May 13.

Campbell described Birges as a heavy player who had lost thousands of dollars. Others said he was a regular at the blackjack table.

The Chronicle reported that someone believed to be close to the Birges family had provided a tip and led agents to the Fresno area. Yablonsky, who had led a team of 50 FBI agents, was quoted by the paper as saying, "This thing came hard all the way."

Birges is a landscape contractor and Hall is a contractor, officials said. The Chronicle reported that the FBI said Ms. William was a probation officer in Fresno County.

Resort owner Harvey Gross and others along the strip put up a $200,000 reward which grew to $500,000.

Thundershowers Bring Area More Moisture

Thundershowers hopped, skipped and jumped around the Scurry County area again over the weekend while flash floods were forecast for much of West Texas.

Most of the rainfall here apparently fell in rural areas, with three inches or more reported near Hermleigh and to the south of that community. Dunn had an inch, while .90 fell at Dermott, making a total of 2.4 inches there during the past week. Fluvanna had .50 of an inch Sunday and about 2.50 inches over the past week. Dunn had an inch, and County Commissioner Eldon Perry reported 1.50 inches at his place east of Snyder.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District reported rains from an inch to 1.50 on watersheds of its lakes. However, most of it fell slowly and runoff merely kept pace with consumption and evaporation. A gauge at the dam of Lake J. B. Thomas measured 1.50 inches, and another at the Big Spring-Odesa pump station on the south side had 1.20. The elevation of Lake Thomas this morning was 2231.05, about .05 foot above the Saturday reading. Lake E. V. Spence at Robert Lee reported an elevation of 1878.29, some .90 foot above Saturday's level.

Flash flood warnings were issued for areas around Lubbock and Amarillo early today as heavy rainfall triggered by a weak cold front drenched much of the Panhandle and South Plains.

More than three inches of rain fell at Lubbock in a five-hour period early today and rainfall continued during the pre-dawn hours across a vast area of the western half of the state.

Several counties, including Swisher, Lubbock and Hale, were covered by the flash flood warnings. A flash flood watch was in effect for eastern and southern sections of West Texas through tonight.

Several roads were closed in the Panhandle because of high water.

The National Weather Service said most playa lakes in the Lubbock area were out of their banks early today and some street flooding was reported in Lubbock.

Portions of Tulia were covered by a foot of water, according to Tulia police.

Forecasts called for continued partly cloudy skies, warm temperatures and scattered showers and thunderstorms over most of the state. The shower activity was to continue Tuesday although activity over the western half of the state was expected to diminish before dawn Tuesday.

2 Assassinated

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Foes of Iran's fundamentalist Islamic government assassinated two clerics during the weekend while the government announced 54 executions and said it arrested more than 200 leftists.

SNYDER TEMPERATURES: High Saturday, 94 degrees; low, 68 degrees; reading at 7 a. m. Sunday, 72 degrees; precipitation, trace. High Sunday, 90 degrees; low, 69 degrees; reading at 7 a. m. today, 69 degrees; precipitation, .11; total precipitation for 1981 to date, 14.94.

West Texas — Flash flood watch east and south through tonight. Occasional showers and thunderstorms through tonight with possible heavy rains causing flash flooding mainly east and south. Cooler. Mostly cloudy with scattered showers and thunderstorms Tuesday. Highs low 70s Panhandle to mid 90s Big Bend. Lows near 60 north and mountains to near 70 Big Bend. ## 3 Suspects Arrested In Allsup's Robbery

Three suspects were arrested today following a robbery report at 3:44 a.m. at Allsup's convenience store on South College Ave. The arrests were made by Lt. Steve Warren of the Snyder Police Dept., who reported all money taken in the robbery was recovered.

Police reports indicate the employee at the store said she went into the restroom and did not lock the cash register. When she returned she said she discovered the money missing after waiting on a customer.

Two men were taken into custody in the 1600 block of 40th St. in connection with the robbery, and one female juvenile was taken into custody at Allsup's. Misdemeanor charges are expected to be filed later today against the three.

In other activity over the weekend, a minor accident occurred Saturday at 5:35 p.m. in the 400 block of East Hwy. Involved was a 1973 Dodge pickup driven by Salvador Morin Garza and a 1981 Chevrolet driven by Jerry Neil Stone.

Mrs. Van Sickle, 412 31st, told police a windshield had been broken out of a 1976 Plymouth. Value was set at $150.

A vehicle belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Tom A. Cotton was stolen sometime between 7 and 10:30 p.m. in Mitchell County. It was reported to Snyder Police at 12:40 a.m. Sunday. The vehicle taken is a 1976 green Dodge club cab.

A 26" boy's 10 speed bicycle was found at 5 a.m. Sunday by city police and is being held till the owner claims it.

Nelda Blythe told officers $38 was taken from her purse at Cogdell Memorial Hospital. Ms. Blythe, a hospital employee, said she left the purse in a utility room while she worked and that was when the money was believed to be stolen.

Police were called to the emergency room at 12:21 p.m. when a woman went there for treatment after allegedly being assaulted by her husband.

At 2:09 p.m., Officer Don Whittenburg took a 28 year-old woman into custody at 37th and Muriel for public intoxication. During the booking procedure, the woman was discovered to be in possession of a controlled substance and was also charged with that.

A Lone Star Gas barricade was discovered at a rental house at 3:31 p.m. as someone was moving out. Police confiscated the item.

Gloria Sosa, 215 26th, reported a criminal mischief at 8:07 p.m. She said someone kicked in a door to a shed behind her house and also broke out a window.

At 10:33 p.m., a 26 year-old man was arrested at 3900 College Ave. for driving while intoxicated.

Than Three-Year Tax Cut...

New Tax Law Has More Breaks

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Americans start fighting their 1981 federal income tax bills, they'll find the new tax law contains a lot of breaks beyond the widely publicized three-year cut in personal rates.

There's a reduction for two-earner families who have endured the "marriage penalty," a big cut in the capital gains tax, a sharp drop in the top tax rate for upper-income investors and a permanent reduction to offset inflation.

The new law also offers a larger credit for working parents who need child care, a new deduction for charitable contributions, bigger breaks for home sellers and buyers, and a new exclusion for Americans who work overseas.

The broadest feature is the three-year cut in tax rates, phased in at 5 percent in 1981, 10 percent in 1982 and 10 percent in 1983.

Although billed as a 25 percent cut, the actual cumulative effect of these successive reductions is a 23 percent net decline in tax rates by 1984. That is because each successive percentage reduction is computed from a smaller existing tax rate.

Under current law, tax rates begin at 14 percent of taxable income above $3,400 on a joint return and $2,400 on a single return. The rates rise with income up to 70 percent on taxable incomes of more than $245,400 on a joint return and $108,300 on a single return. A person's tax rate or "bracket" refers to the percentage at which his or her last dollar of income is taxed.

In 1984, as a result of the tax cuts, the rates will begin at 11 percent and reach a maximum of 50 percent.

Here are two examples of how the reductions will work:

—A single person with a taxable income of $16,000 now must pay $2,605 plus 30 percent on everything over $15,000. In 1982, the tax falls to $2,330 plus 27 percent on everything over $15,000. In 1983, the tax is $2,097 plus 24 percent above $15,000, and in 1984, the tax falls to $2,001 plus 23 percent above $15,000.

—A married couple with taxable income of $29,000, now pays $4,505 plus 32 percent on everything over $24,600. In 1982, the tax falls to $4,037 plus 29 percent on everything over $24,600. In 1983, the tax is $3,656 plus 26 percent over $24,600, and in 1984, the tax falls to $3,465 plus 25 percent over $24,600.

For a typical single person making $15,000 a year for the next three years, the tax reduction is worth a total of $1,086. A single person making $50,000 a year will save $6,451.

A typical one-earner family of four making $30,000 a year will save $2,063. If they made $100,000 a year, the saving would total $12,607.

Here are details of the other individual breaks in the new law:

UNEARNED INCOME: The biggest and fastest rate reductions will occur at the top tax bracket, a move that will benefit the nation's wealthiest taxpayers. While other tax rates will be lowered over three years, the maximum rate on dividends, interest and other forms of "unearned" income will drop all at once in 1982, from 70 percent to 50 percent.

CAPITAL GAINS: The maximum capital gains tax, which is computed from the regular tax rates, also will come down sharply, from 28 percent to 20 percent, retroactive to June 9. A capital gain is a profit made from the sale of real estate, stocks, bonds or other assets.

MARRIAGE PENALTY: Because the tax system is progressive — which means the tax rate goes up as income rises — the combined earnings of a working married couple is taxed at a higher rate than if the spouses reported their incomes separately as single taxpayers. The new law will narrow the penalty but not eliminate it altogether. In 1982, the lesser earning spouse can deduct 5 percent of his or her income, with a maximum deduction of $1,500. In 1983, the maximum deduction increases to 10 percent, up to $3,000.

INFLATION INDEXING: Starting in 1985, income tax brackets, the standard deduction and personal exemptions will be adjusted annually for increases in the consumer price index. The idea is to prevent people from being pushed into higher tax brackets when their income rises by no more than the rate of inflation. Because of past inflation, the government has been taking a larger share of some taxpayers' income even though their purchasing power has not increased.

CHILD CARE: Starting in 1982, working parents will be able to claim a larger tax credit for child care expenses. Currently, parents can deduct 20 percent of the cost up to $2,000 per child and a total of $4,000 for two or more children. Under the new law, parents making $10,000 or less can deduct up to 30 percent of the cost; the percentage will come down gradually until reaching 20 percent for incomes above $28,000. The maximum credit will increase to $2,400 per child and a total of $4,800 for two or more children.

CHARITABLE CONTRIBUTIONS: Currently, only taxpayers who itemize can deduct charitable contributions. From 1982 through 1986, everyone will be able to deduct contributions. The maximum deductions will be 25 percent of the first $100 in 1982 and 1983, 25 percent of the first $300 in 1984, 50 percent of contributions with no limit in 1985 and 100 percent with no limit in 1986. This provision expires after 1986.

HOME SALES: Currently, people who sell their homes have 18 months to reinvest their profits in another home in which they plan to live without paying capital gains tax. The new law extends the grace period to two years. Also, the one-time, tax-free capital gain for taxpayers aged 55 or older who sell their homes will increase from $100,000 to $125,000. Both changes are retroactive to July 21, 1981.

FOREIGN INCOME: Presently, Americans who earn income overseas can deduct only part of their living costs. In 1982, they will be able to earn up to $75,000 without paying income taxes. The tax-free amount rises to $95,000 in 1986.

Survivors in show business are those who learn early: "Never start believing your press agents."

Professional athletes should heed this advice.

If their press agents make them feel more important than they are it can lead to ego-inflation, intemperance and excessive expectations.

Air traffic controllers, also.

Air traffic controllers read so many articles about themselves they began to believe that they were more than they were.

The technical complexity of tower control and the romance involved in related flying awed landlubber journalists, inspired them to overdramatize the job, its demands, its responsibilities, its "man-killing stresses."

This puffery, more than any other factor, was responsible for turning professional towermen into unprofessional spoiled brats.

They started believing their press agents.

Their union, PATCO, eagerly compounded this hype—used it to support disproportionate wage demands.

Until even the union lost control. Until the contract the union referred to as "fair and equitable—a good contract"—was rejected 20-to-1 by the petulant membership.

The controllers, offered twice as much increase as other government workers were getting, demanded 17 times that!

I've watched the refinement of air traffic control from its beginning. A thousand times in ugly weather I've trusted those men with my life.

But there is nothing about that job which makes it any more life-and-death significant than the jobs of the pilots and engineers and mechanics who keep those planes flying.

Indeed, there is no stress in directing air traffic that exceeds the frequent gut-wrenching, shirt-drenching stress of being a policeman or fireman or highline repairman or anesthesiologist.

Then where in the world did the towermen get the notion that their jobs made them especially prone to psychosis, drug addiction, alcoholism, hypertension, marital problems...?

We sold them that distorted opinion of themselves. We of the melodramatic media.

Filed under "A" for Aviation, subhead "safety" in any news morgue is a now-embarrassing collection of essays under such captions as: TOUGHEST JOB DEMANDS TOO MUCH; KEEPING YOU SAFE DRIVES MEN TO DRINK; WHY AIR CON-

TROLLERS GET THE SHAKES.

Over-lionization which misled capable, proficient and mostly nice guys to thumb their noses at their union, their oath, their government, their President—

And at you. Now they say their replacements have left the skies less safe.

If the public safety were their primary concern they'd never have walked out in the first place.

Six OPEC Members Set Compromise Meeting

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Oil ministers from six key producer countries are meeting today to hammer out a compromise draft between advocates of higher and lower oil prices.

The compromise by the members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries would require Saudi Arabia to raise its price $2 a barrel to $34 a barrel, the Beirut, Lebanon-based weekly Arab Report and Memo said Sunday. In return, African producers who charge up to $40 a barrel would agree to drop prices to $36 to $36.50, the report said.

If approved the $2 price hike would raise the average OPEC oil price by slightly more than 2 percent and add a half-cent per gallon to the price of oil consumed in the United States.

Those favoring the compromise say it would stabilize crude oil prices by cutting back Saudi Arabia's production by about 2 million barrels a day. Some OPEC members claim the Saudis purposely have flooded the world market with oil to force down producer prices.

The six OPEC members — Algeria, Iraq, Iran, Venezuela, Kuwait and Saudi Arabia — are attempting to resolve the production and pricing policies before the full 13-nation group meets Wednesday.

Small producers claim Saudi Arabia's high production and low prices have glutted the market, causing economic hardship to some OPEC states while robbing the Arabs of their oil weapon against Israel's Western allies.

Saudi Arabia rejected the identical proposal during the cartel's May meeting.

Meanwhile, a United Nations Conference on New and Renewable Sources of Energy enters its second week today in Kenya with the 4,000 delegates of 123 countries agreeing only that the world's dependence on oil must be ended.

Delegates of the Third World countries say the industrialized nations have an obligation to finance solutions to the energy crisis for their countries.

OPEC members said they were prepared to contribute to an international energy fund if other "donors" do likewise. OPEC diplomats said privately they were referring to the United States and its European allies.

The conference is dealing with 14 nonconventional energy sources and excluding the mainstays of world energy — oil, coal, gas and nuclear power.

The League of Nations approved the British mandate for Palestine in 1922.

Calif. Growers Face Quarantine

PATTERSON, Calif. (AP) — Farmers faced with a quarantine of vegetables at tomato-picking time hurried to get their crops to canneries in a section of the San Joaquin Valley invaded by Mediterranean fruit flies.

Robert Weaver, deputy agriculture commissioner of Stanislaus County, said county, state and federal farm officials would meet this morning with growers affected by a 264-square-mile quarantine imposed Friday after medflies were found in a 1-square-mile area of the valley.

Meanwhile, aerial pesticide spraying was to continue today with the fifth dusting of part of Santa Clara County as well as the first application over a 9-square-mile section of Boulder Creek, a mountainous section of Santa Cruz County.

Eight growers took the medfly battle into their own hands Sunday, paying for four planes to dust 900 acres in the center of the quarantine area. The planes sprayed diphos, an insecticide considered more potent than malathion, which was sprayed by the state over 78 square miles Saturday.

The quarantine, imposed by county, state and federal officials, means no fresh fruit or vegetables can be taken out of the area unless they are fumigated.

But tomatoes, now ready for harvest, may be taken to processing plants, where they can be sorted and examined for fly damage.

Because agriculture officials did not want the tomatoes to remain at the farms after picking, growers were told to get their tomatoes to canneries within 12 hours after they are picked.

Bellpeppers will be ready for harvest within days, officials said.

The only fumigation chambers in the county handle nuts, Weaver said, and cannot accommodate tomatoes. He said it would be several days at least before proper facilities could be built.

Don Lesser, spokesman for California's 14-month battle against the medflies, said Sunday that several of the 56 flies found Saturday in an orchard in Westley, six miles northwest of here, were fertile and "we're assuming the rest are."

Another fly was found Sunday in the orchard, where the first flies in the valley were trapped Wednesday, Lesser said.

The arrival of the fly, which can destroy 200 kinds of fruit and vegetables, stunned growers in the San Joaquin Valley, which — along with the Sacramento Valley to the north — yields the bulk of the state's produce.

Charles Lindbergh landed at Le Bourget field outside Paris on May 21, 1927, to end his historic solo flight across the Atlantic Ocean. Lindbergh's nonstop trip, which began at New York's Roosevelt Field, took 33½ hours.

Circus Industry Faces Problems

NEW DELHI, India
(AP) — After a hundred and one years of thrilling Indians of all ages, the glitter and glamour of the circus are wearing thin, barring problems that owners say may force them to fold up their tents for good.

"It is only a matter of time before it (the big top) collapses," Raghavan
Nair, manager of the Bharat Circus, said in a current magazine interview.

Falling profits, lack of government support, high rents, inflation and flagging public interest are all part of the deteriorating picture faced by Indian circuses, the owners say.

"If the present situation continues, we won't last another 10 years," P.K.
Madan Gopal, owner of the Great Rayman Circus, said in the interview with the independent magazine
India Today.

India currently has some 300 circuses, big and small, which employ an estimated 48,000 people, the owners say. The circus industry here ranks fourth in size behind those in the Soviet Union,
Czechoslovakia and the United States.

Today, however, many Indian circuses eke out a marginal existence.

The first Indian circus was formed in 1880, and a majority of today's companies are run by natives of the southern state of Kerala, where a circus training center was established in 1888.

Although children still squeal with delight at the girls in spangled tights who flit from trapeze to trapeze, the lions which balance on stools and the little people who clown, the men backstage in the business offices admit their show is beginning to stale.

"We present the same
monotonous fare daily, and for our highest rate of seven rupees (about 80 cents), all we can offer is a rickety, dusty sofa under a hot, humid tent," Nair lamented.

India's flourishing film industry has siphoned off an uncomfortably large part of the audience that used to depend on the circus for diversion, and television, though still in its infancy here, similarly has attracted its share of the entertainment audience.

Inflation-fueled, ever-rising costs are another major problem. Managers and trainers say it costs about 10,000 Indian rupees (about $1,100) each day to maintain a large circus.
Another 25,000 rupees (about $2,800) is spent monthly on transportation and freight.

Few companies can afford insurance, and consequently are vulnerable.
When fire raced through a circus last February in Bangalore, South India, 70 people were killed and the company folded.

The idle months during the annual summer monsoon, when torrential rains make it impossible to travel or stage shows, also eat into profits.

"Most companies are in the red, and if they continue to exist it is only because those involved
just do not know anything else to do," Nair said.

Another threat comes from within the circus itself, where many performers complain of low salaries.
Meanwhile, the central government has asked the states to exempt circuses from entertainment taxes and allot them sites at low rents.

Readers Sink Teeth Into Dentures Quarrel

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1981 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the senior citizen in Maine, whose dentist refused to make her a set of sparkling white dentures because they wouldn't look natural, prompts this letter.

All my life (thanks to caps at 18) I have enjoyed narrow, even white teeth. Years later, when I needed an upper denture, four dentists absolutely refused to give me beautiful white teeth like the kind I had worn for over 40 years! They all insisted that big, horsey, yellow teeth are "natural."

The poor fit is another story, but in my bathroom cabinet is the proof that dentists are "yellow happy." (Four sets of dentures!)

Finally, however, I found a young, sympathetic dentist who said, "I'll give you whatever you want." So today, and thousands of dollars later, I have dentures with narrow, even white teeth.

Tell that unhappy senior citizen to simply go from one dentist to another until she finds one who will give her what she wants, because there is a lot left in this world to smile about.

POORER BUT WISER IN PHOENIX

DEAR POORER: My mail is running 2 to 1 in favor of giving patients what they want instead of what the dentist thinks they need. One generous dentist in Bellflower, Calif., wrote to say that if the lady from Maine was willing to fly out to California, he'd give her a Hollywood smile absolutely free!

***

DEAR ABBY: In 1928 I made a set of teeth for an elderly woman. She insisted I use a shade that was much too white for a natural look. Against my better judgment I gave her what she wanted. In two weeks she returned, saying that all her friends thought her teeth were terrible. I made her a new set free. It was my mistake in the first place.

RETIRED DENTIST IN CALIF.

DEAR RETIRED: Now that's what I call putting the bite on the dentist with his own teeth.

***

DEAR ABBY: I think you missed the boat when you sided with the patient who wanted snow-white teeth. The dentist's professional obligation was to give his patient what she needed, not what she wanted. He should try to be receptive to her wants, but she has no right to order him to do a bad job. Let's take it one step further, Abby. If you were the dentist, what would you have done if she had insisted on purple teeth?

DOGGY DENTIST IN FLORIDA

DEAR DOGGY: Aw, come on. I'd have given her white teeth, and told her to eat blueberries and drink grape juice.

***

DEAR ABBY: I'm not a dentist, I'm a plastic surgeon. A middle-aged woman came to me for breast-enlargement surgery. The size she wanted would have made her look like a top-heavy freak and I told her so, but she insisted she wanted a pair of 44s. I refused to give them to her.

I later learned she went to three other doctors before she found one who agreed to do the job. But he talked her down to 42.

WITHHOLD MY NAME IN L.A.

***

DEAR ABBY: I'm another dentist whose patient insisted on having snow-white dentures, so I made them. I thought they looked terrible, but he loved them. I made them on the condition that he'd never tell anyone who his dentist was.

DEAR ABBY: Some old lady up in Maine who needed dentures asked her dentist to make her sparkling white teeth — "like the movie stars" — and he refused, saying they wouldn't look "natural." You said the dentist should give the lady what she wanted — not what he thinks she should have. Wrong! You are just as ignorant as the old lady.

As a dental assistant, I can tell you that the majority of denture wearers don't know anything about selecting the proper color teeth.

Dentists are doctors of dentistry, just as physicians are doctors of medicine. They are paid for their expertise and should use it unconditionally. You wouldn't tell a physician what kind of medicine to prescribe, would you? So why should a patient tell a dentist what color teeth to make?

The dentist I work for doesn't give his patients a choice. He selects the color he thinks they should have.

Voyager Two Is On Target

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Voyager 2, right on target after a journey of four years and 2 billion miles, is about to give Earthlings their third tour of the mystifying realm of Saturn. It will be the last American cruise to another world for half a decade.

"We're getting out there to it — close up — to see (again) the beauties of that ringed planet," said assistant project scientist Ellis D. Miner. "It's something Galileo (the legendary 17th century astronomer) would really have relished."

Miner concedes Voyager 2 has a tough act to follow. But he says the show, which climaxes with a close encounter Aug. 25, should certainly be worth watching.

When Voyager 1 — sistership of the unmanned spacecraft now closing on Saturn — buzzed the golden planet last November, scientists at the mission-controlling Jet Propulsion Laboratory here were jubilant.

And the second Voyager, Miner said, with better viewing angles, is already producing better pictures than Voyager 1.

The Voyagers, which poked, probed and pictured Jupiter in 1979, followed a trail blazed by a smaller Pioneer 11 that scarcely hinted at the wonders the more sophisticated ships would find.

After Saturn, Voyager 2 will sail still deeper into space, aimed for a rendezvous with Uranus in January 1986 and Neptune three years later. Neither planet has ever been reached by man's machines.

When the one-ton Voyager cruises within 63,000 miles of Saturn's swirling clouds of hydrogen and helium, about 14,000 miles closer than Voyager 1, it will mark the last American visit to another planet until the ship reaches Uranus.

Other planetary explorations proposed by space scientists have been squeezed out of a tightening federal budget. Miner said the only mission still drawing money is Galileo, a highly sophisticated probe of Jupiter. Barring new delays, the mission would be launched in 1985 and would get to Jupiter in 1987.

The unchallenged star of last year's spectacular was Saturn's fabled rings. Every day of the encounter seemed to produce a puzzling revelation.

Within the previously known six rings that span some 400,000 miles of space, Voyager 1's cameras found what first looked like dozens — and now seem to be hundreds or even thousands — of distinct ringlets that spread out from the planet like grooves on a phonograph record.

Several non-conformist ringlets are somehow out-of-round. And two others, for reasons not really understood, seem to be twisted or braided around each other. Equally mystifying are a series of dark spokes that reach across the brightest part of the rings.

Abby Answered First Letters

NEW YORK (AP) — Advice seekers writing to Ann Landers when she started her newspaper column in 1956 may have been answered by Dear Abby — Ms. Landers' twin sister.

"Sis got that job and shot those letters to me," Abigail Van Buren said in the September issue of Ladies' Home Journal. "I provided the sharp answers."

"I'd say, 'You're writing too long — she still does — and this is the way I'd say it,' added Ms. Van Buren, whose real identity is 63-year-old Pauline Phillips of Beverly Hills, Calif.

"My stuff was published — and it looked awfully good in print. I guess she felt threatened because she said, 'I'm not sending any more letters; my editors don't want me to,' and she yanked them away. So I thought, I can do this."

Ms. Van Buren began her own column in the San Francisco Chronicle 85 days after Ms. Landers first appeared in the Chicago Sun-Times. The resulting feud lasted eight years.

"I didn't hurt her. I helped her. I didn't set out to compete. I simply took the opportunity," Ms. Van Buren told the Journal.

'Stu Baker's Name Is Given To Reagan

HOUSTON (AP) — A 20-year police veteran now a restaurant executive here has been recommended for U.S. Marshal for the Southern District of Texas, U.S. Sen. John Tower's office has announced.

B.S. "Stu" Baker's name was forwarded to President Reagan by Tower Friday. Baker, 54, is a corporate officer with a chain of Texas restaurants.

Tower earlier recommended W.W. "Buddy" Walker of Porter for the position.

Israel announced the capture of former Nazi SS officer Adolf Eichmann in 1960. Agents captured Eichmann in Argentina and secretly transported him to Israel. He went on trial in 1961 for the mass murder of Jews in war-time camps. He was executed about a year later.

The Weeder's Guide

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Trees in many areas have been ravaged by gypsy moth caterpillars, leaving them stripped of leaves and thus weakened. It is important that they establish new growth as soon as possible. Feed and water these defoliated trees promptly to nurse them back to health.

Ethel Daniels of West Des Moines, Iowa, who has been in the tree-feeding business for many years, advises:

"All feeding of trees should be done in a ring around the outermost reaches of the branches and at intervals of about 30 inches. For trees with a wide branch span, it is advisable to repeat this process in a ring halfway between the outer branches of the trees."

Mrs. Daniels, whose Ross Daniels Co. specializes in rootfeeder devices and nutrients, says root feeding helps create new growth. Plant-food cartridges that are high in nitrogen are placed in a root-feeder chamber attached to a garden hose and inserted into the soil. When the water is turned on, it rapidly dissolves the tablet and delivers nutrients.

After shrubs and trees become dormant, a thorough root feeding will help provide storage for winter nourishment. But feeding of fruit trees and tender new plants should be discontinued about six weeks before anticipated heavy frost.

Don't neglect your trees in the fall, especially if they have been attacked by insects. Trees grow in size even after their leaves have dropped. Autumn fertilization aids this growth and helps trees through the winter. Remember when you check your trees that they benefit the environment — purifying the air and blocking noise and sight pollution. They beautify your landscape.

Cold, dry winter winds steal from trees moisture that cannot be replenished through frozen soil. When you fertilize soil in the fall, the tree roots can absorb the plant food while the trees are dormant.

Watering trees regularly in the fall before the ground freezes gives them a reservoir of food and water to improve early spring growth.

Experts recommend complete fertilizer high in nitrogen, such as 12-4-4 (nitrogen-phosphorus-potassium), 15-5-5, or 10-6-4.

In dry, clay soil an inch of water will penetrate about 5 inches. It will take 2½ inches, or 15 gallons of water to penetrate 12 inches, and 30 gallons to penetrate 24 inches. Plants should have water at their roots, but roots should not constantly soak in it.

Don't neglect your trees and shrubs during the other seasons.

Autumn is an excellent time to plant many species of trees. The root system becomes well established while the top is dormant, or resting. In the fall, plant balled or container-grown trees rather than bare roots, and plant only healthy trees of varieties you know can survive the climate of your area. Protect bark from rodent damage by wrapping with hardware cloth or wire cylinders to above the snow line.

HERMLEIGH NEWS

By ADALA DRENNAN

Recently, Mr. and Mrs. Richard (Bette) Morris and Dick of Newport Beach, California, spent a week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cox. While here they accompanied Mr. Cox to Lubbock where he had tests made. They returned August 5. He is feeling better.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. (Opal) Lomax attended the funeral of his uncle, Glenn Ritter of Pampa on August 6. They spent the night in Canadian with Mr. and Mrs. George Chevalier, his sister.

Mrs. Eula Farr is home now after spending several days in Cogdell Hospital for test. She is doing well.

Donnie and Christi Lloyd of Farmersville are spending this week visiting their grandmother, Mrs. Leta Lloyd, Mrs. Ray Wright, and Mrs. Effie Wright.

Mrs. Effie Wright, Mrs. Nell Wright and granddaughter, Christi, and Mrs. Ruth Davis recently visited their son and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Frank (Ann) Wright in Green Valley, Arizona. They returned via Carlsbad, New Mexico, where they were guests of Betty Hartman, Ann Wright's mother.

The Barfoot reunion was held August 8 and 9 at the Hermleigh Community Center. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Smith of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Pyron and Mrs. Doris Pyron of Corpus Christi; Mrs. and Mrs. Jimmy Smith of Odessa; Mrs. Pam Helm and son, Jeremy, of Ira; Mr. and Mrs. Steve Brackeen, Eddie Brackeen, Travis Brackeen, and Jackie Casey of Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Nixon and son, Charlie, and Mr. and Mrs. Audie Farmsworth of Lubbock; Estelle Thompson of Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hays and daughter, Majorie, of Monahans; and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Barfoot and Eva Mae Brackeen of Hermleigh. Visitors included Mrs. Effie Wright, Mrs. Ruth Davis, Mrs. Rachel Lassiter, and Adala Drennan.

The Canasta Club met on August 6 at the Hermleigh Community Center with Mrs. Rella Young as hostess. Members playing were Frances Thomason, Oma Houston, Dean Wemken, Elsie Stahl, Verda Johnson, and Irene Hudgins. Substitutes playing were Verla Mason, Clara Tate, Gay Stahl, Rachel Lassiter, and Adala Drennan. Frances Thomason and Rachel Lassiter had high scores. Ed Richburg has returned to his home in Burk Burnett after visiting several weeks with his grandparents, the Herman Richburgs and Mrs. Carrie Lou McQuaid.

Descendents of the late Ben and Lou Mason met August 9 at the Hermleigh High School for a family reunion. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mason of Farwell; Cole Mason and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Trim of Arlington; Mr. and Mrs. Roland Cudvas of Mitchell; Linda Mason of Oregon; Mr. and Mrs. Don Mason of Graham; J. T. Mason of Gulf Stream; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mason of Sweetwater; Mr. and Mrs. Ronney Mason and girls of Sweetwater; D. R. and Sheila Melton, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Grimmer, Mr.

and Mrs. Leonard Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mason, Sherry Neves and Scott Neves, all of Snyder; and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mason and Verla Mason of Hermleigh. Visitors attending from Hermleigh were Grant Groves, Ruth Davis, Effie Wright, Rachel Lassiter, and Adala Drennan. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mason were treated to a week-long trip last year to London, England for winning a salesmanship contest held by the company he works for. They enjoyed touring various points of interest.

Descendents of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wall met at Kingsland for a family reunion from July 30 through August 3. Approximately 60 attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Wall attended the Traylor Ford reunion at Towle Park August 9. One hundred nineteen attended.

Recently, Mrs. Carl (Merle) Peterson and daughter, Mrs. Linda Porter of Wasco, California, visited Mr. and Mrs. James Davidson.

Oswald: "In rubber bridge or IMP matches declarer should look for safety and only go after overtricks when such play does not jeopardize his contract. Of course, declarer doesn't have to be like pessimistic Pete and try to guard against once in a blue moon distributions." Alan: "Here is a case in point. South won the diamond lead in dummy. Led a spade to his king and a second spade back to dummy's ace. Then he played his ace and king of clubs and entered dummy with the queen of trumps. Then he played the queen of clubs. The jack didn't drop and eventually South lost four tricks since he didn't have time to set up one of his four hearts."

Oswald: "South had overlooked a simple percentage play. A suit breaks 3-3 only 36 percent of the time. South should play just one trump before cashing his high clubs. Then to dummy with the trump ace to ruff a club. Back with the queen of trumps to cash dummy's last two clubs and make his contract."

Alan: "South had tried for five club tricks when he only needed four and lost game and rubber."

Camera Angles

By SANDY COLTON
AP Newsfeatures

"Why didn't my pictures turn out?" "Why aren't my pictures better?" "Is it the camera, the film, or me?"

These questions and more pour daily into the office of Dick Werner, coordinator of customer services in Kodak's photo information department in Rochester, from frustrated picture takers throughout the country.

Because he probably sees more picture errors made by amateur photographers than anyone else in this country, I asked him just what were the most common mistakes.

Without hesitation, he replied:

"Flash pictures taken from too far away. Every day the mail brings pictures, sometimes from very angry people, blaming the film for pictures that didn't turn out. Most of the time the problem is that they've tried to take flash pictures from 30 or more feet from the subject."

Werner explained that 12 feet is generally the maximum distance for taking flash pictures with simple cameras.

Apparently, he said, most people have trouble judging distances and suggests that when you use flash imagine falling flat twice towards your subject. If you still can't reach your subject then you know you have to move in closer.

Select Pharmacy With Care

COLLEGE STATION—Select a pharmacy carefully to save money and avoid potential problems, says Beverly Rhoades, a consumer information specialist.

Some pharmacies charge less than others, so compare prices over the telephone.

When choosing a pharmacy, also consider services available and location. Ask about home delivery, for example. This can save you time and travel expense, and it may be more convenient in the long run, even if the prescription costs a bit more, the specialist says.

Rhoades is part of the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Once you select a pharmacy, buy all your prescription drugs there so you will have a complete record of your medications, she advises.

This will enable your pharmacist to caution you about possible drug interactions, too — and it can help you avoid these kinds of problems entirely.

Save receipts for possible health-insurance reimbursement and for medical deductions on your income tax.

Remember, deductions may include both prescription and over-the-counter (OTC) drugs, especially those recommended by your doctor, Rhoades adds.

"Picture takers protest, 'but the room was so bright.' That doesn't make any difference when flash is used. You must have your subject 12 feet away or less to get any benefit from the flash."

"I go to Niagara Falls at night and see flash units popping off all over the place. If they were all to go off at the same time they might illuminate the falls but, individually, not one of those picture-takers is going to get a picture!"

Werner's so right. Nothing disturbs me more than to see flash units popping away at football games and other events where the picture-takers are in the stands 50 or even 100 or more feet from the subject. I've often wondered how they felt when the film came back with no picture.

Werner had some other very good suggestions to offer. When you travel, he says, keep the camera on the floor of the back seat of the car, never in the glove compartment or in the trunk. When you leave the car, take the camera with you.

"You know the waves of heat that come from a car when you open the door after it's been left in the hot summer sun," he explained. "Film that has been overheated can give very poor results — color off, density off, very disappointing!"

Blurred pictures caused by camera movement used to be a major problem with amateur picture-taking but, Werner said, he is seeing fewer blurred pictures and better pictures in general. He credits this to the automatic features available today.

But blurred pictures still do come in, mostly from vacationers.

"It's the excitement of the moment," he said, "of seeing a shot that they particularly want, grabbing the camera and shooting, practically on the run."

"They need to train themselves to think for a second or two, position themselves and steady the camera. In fact, they should think long enough to make sure they are in the best position, whether a different angle or point of view might give a more pleasing result."

He further advises travelers to not just take pictures of scenery, historic monuments and such, but to "include members of your party engaged in some type of vacation activity, doing something they wouldn't be doing at home. This makes for more satisfying memory pictures than the post card type shots you can always buy."

When shooting pictures of people, he suggests that you concentrate on shooting from the waist up, because "a good view of the face is far more interesting than feet."

For flash pictures taken with built-in flash units, he said, "watch to make sure that the flash unit is on top when making a vertical closeup of a person. If it is on the bottom you'll get horrible shadows on the face, what is known as the witch effect."

"Think" is the key word, he says. "Think about the flash distance to your subject. Think about what you are shooting. Think about camera steadiness."

If, despite all this thinking, you still have disappointing pictures and don't know why, send your pictures to the Photo Information Department, Eastman Kodak Co., Rochester, N.Y. 14650, and Dick Werner says he'll try to help you remedy the problem.

Diet facts & fallacies

These nutritional tips brought to you by DIET CENTER

With the abundance of fresh garden vegetables available this time of year, have you ever found yourself enjoying a salad so much that you remarked, "I could eat salads with fresh vegetables, all day long, throughout the season?" When eating generous portions of varieties of lettuce, celery, cucumbers and other greens, you receive the benefits of vitamins, minerals and roughage; but did you know that you can receive too much roughage? Yes, that is correct, and too much roughage can be as harmful to your system as not enough, especially if it comes as a sudden change. Too much roughage in the diet may cause frequent elimination. If this occurs for a long period of time, the body may begin "excreting" the nutrients before they have time to be absorbed.

When ingesting roughage faster than the digestive system can break it down, the system may become clogged. This condition can cause diverticulitis and ulcers, as well as improper elimination.

At Diet Center we recommend that you eat salad daily (salad-bowl size), and encourage nibbling on raw vegetables throughout the day as needed. Make sure you supply the body with adequate amounts of foods containing bulk and fiber, year-round.

Brown Steps Up Fruit Fly Fight

DALLAS (AP) — Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown says he'll appoint a state Mediterranean fruit fly control coordinator today to direct a new get-tough strategy aimed at keeping the destructive pest out of Texas.

Brown said the new strategy includes new inspections procedures along the state's western border that could delay for days truckloads of California produce not certified free of the insect.

"New legislation gives us broad authority and funds to protect our industry," Brown said in a telephone interview from his Austin home Sunday night. "Under our new powers we can levy stiff fines against any one bringing fruit into Texas from California."

He said his office notified California authorities that although a court order prevents Texas from ordering the fumigation of California produce traveling through the state, Texas has the power to inspect every truck.

"We are going to get real tough," said Brown. "Under new legislation, we can make them sit on the road until we get around to checking them. It can be very expensive (for shippers) ... but they will have to sit there until we get to them."

State inspectors currently stop an average of 1,200 trucks a day at the state line, and Brown said large amounts of California fruit also have been confiscated from cars.

"We are getting tougher all the time," said Brown. He said one truck driver was arrested and detained temporarily in Amarillo Saturday night when he refused to show certification documents to inspectors.

Brown said produce must be certified that it is from an area completely free of the medfly or "our inspectors are going to cut fruit."

He said inspectors may order truckers to unload some of their cargo so they can cut open produce in the center of the truck to look for medflies.

"We're not going to worry about fruit spoiling," said Brown. "We are going to use good common sense, but we are going to be sure before letting any trucks through."

Besides the new state coordinator, Brown said he would designate a regional coordinator in each of the state's 12 agricultural districts.

He said funding will come from $1.5 million appropriated by the recent special session of the Legislature. He said $1 million has been earmarked as a contingency fund for aerial spraying.

Brown said the state also would put out 7,000 new fly traps to supplement the 3,000 already in place, mostly in the Rio Grande Valley.

Brown said most of the new traps would be around produce terminals, airports and the peach growing areas near Fredericksburg and Seguin.

He said University of Texas experts have been lined up to identify the medfly and cut the time it takes to send specimens to Washington.

Should the medfly be detected in Texas, Brown said authorities are prepared to act almost immediately.

"We have airplanes ready to go with backup planes in case of mechanical difficulties," said Brown.

He said large quantities of the pesticide malathion have been stored in Lubbock and the bait to mix with the insecticide is stored in the Rio Grande Valley.

Decontamination To Begin Soon

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Decontamination of highly radioactive water at the damaged Three Mile Island nuclear plant could begin in about two weeks, a spokesman for the plant's owner says.

The $10 million water purification process, known as the Submerged Demineralizer System, has been tested on less contaminated water at TMI, John Fidler, a spokesman for Metropolitan Edison, said Sunday.

The system uses an ion exchange to remove radioactive chemicals from the water in a process that has been compared to the workings of a water softener.

Once the chemicals are removed from the water, they are concentrated in resins, which are easier to handle and dispose of than water.

The system was designed for use on more than 600,000 gallons of heavily contaminated water in the basement of the reactor containment building at TMI.

The staff of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission approved the system for use on the containment building water in June. About four weeks after that, technicians at TMI began the tests on less contaminated water at the plant.

The Gordon Riots began in London June 2, 1780, when Lord George Gordon, son of a Scottish duke, led a mob to petition Parliament to reimpose penalties on Roman Catholics which had been lifted two years before.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Avoid it if you can

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My nose is running and my eyes are watering. I look like the wrath of God and feel terrible. I do take antihistamines prescribed by my doctor but they make me sleepy. I'm staying indoors until the hay fever season has passed again and I feel like a hermit. I'm not sure that staying inside is all that much help but at least people won't see me looking like this and dripping all the time.

What is the antihistamine really supposed to do? Would I be better off to take allergy shots? My doctor says it is too late to do any good now. Any suggestions would be appreciated.

DEAR READER — Since this is the ragweed season it is a good probability that you are allergic to ragweed. If so, you might be better off to take a trip to the Pacific Northwest where ragweed pollen is less abundant. Or if you want to do it right, go to Europe, which is relatively free of ragweed. Such a trip points out one of the best treatments of all for an allergy — avoid what you are allergic to.

Shutting up the house does help some. You may need to take more precautions than you have. Window air conditioners are not very effective in removing pollen. The Health Letter number 8-4, Hay Fever (Allergic Rhinitis), gives you more details about what you can do to your house to help solve the problem.

Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

When you are allergic to a substance, your body forms a special form of globulin, called immunoglobulin E (IgE). You inherit the tendency to form this type of globulin. It attaches to your cells in the nose and sensitizes these cells to the allergic substance. The next time you come in contact with the substance, the IgE in the cell reacts with the allergic substance. The cells form histamine. Your body reacts to the histamine, producing the symptoms you have. Antihistamines help to neutralize that histamine reaction.

Desensitization programs are often very helpful. But you have to know what you are allergic to and begin the process well in advance of the season for the allergin. You should have had desensitization several months ago.

DEAR DR. LAMB — About three years ago I tried to kill myself with carbon monoxide from the exhaust of my car. Obviously I didn't succeed, but some brain damage occurred which caused a complete loss of memory. Since then my memory has improved about 50 percent but it is not back to normal. Before this happened I had a photographic memory and a college education. According to my understanding, brain cells don't reproduce. I was wondering if you could tell me if I will have a complete recovery. If so how long will it take?

DEAR READER — You need to know the truth. The greatest improvement you can expect occurs within two years after such an incident. Carbon monoxide toxicity is similar to acute lack of oxygen because the carbon monoxide binds the hemoglobin in your blood so it can't carry oxygen.

That doesn't mean you can't improve your memory. Special training and even memory exercises will help you to use your brain to the maximum of its capability. Even if you are left with some permanent brain damage, such training may enable you to function at a good level.

Space Age Technology Saves Aquatic Mammals

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The same technology that supports the voyages of America's space shuttle is providing protection for an endangered species of aquatic mammal that habituates waters of this area.

Only about a thousand of the gentle, lumbering mammals called manatees are left in Florida's rivers, inland channels and coastal waters, which they help keep free of aquatic vegetation.

Commonly known as sea cows, the manatees look something like walruses, swim like dolphins and eat grasses. They were first spotted on one of his historic voyages by Christopher Columbus, who described them as "mermaids."

Though protected by the Endangered Species Act and other laws, the slow-moving manatees are often killed or maimed by the whirling propellers of power boats. Many of the manatees in these waters carry propeller scars.

Two ships, UTC Liberty and UTC Freedom, ply Florida's waters to retrieve the shuttle's jettisoned solid rocket boosters and tow them back to Cape Canaveral. Operated by United Technologies' United Space Boosters Inc. subsidiary, they are equipped with special propulsion systems to maneuver close-in to the booster casings at sea and to protect manatees when the ships cruise through the mammals' habitat.

The systems have no external propellers. Thrusters in the bow and stern propel and steer each ship through manatee territory by means of a jet of water that shoots out the bottom along the underside. They're mainly used for precise back-and-forth or broadside-on movements.

They have been installed on vessels around the world for tasks that call for maneuvering at close quarters or operating on special projects such as diving, drilling, or laying cable. The diesel-powered thrusters on the Liberty and Freedom can produce 425 horsepower and permit a sustained speed of 4.5 knots.

Manatees grow to a length of 15 feet and a weight of 1,500 pounds. They live singly or in family groups, often communicating muzzle-to-muzzle because of poor sight and hearing. Scientists say they are affectionate and playful and have been seen to kiss and swim about with linked flippers.

They are said to be solicitous parents, with bulls and cows taking turns caring for the young. Observers speculate they may have looked like mermaids to Columbus because of the very human way the female holds a nursing calf to her breast. In fact, "manatee" comes from a Spanish word meaning breast.

The timid creatures once flourished throughout U.S. tropical waters but have been hunted nearly to extinction for their beef-like meat, fat that makes good cooking oil, and tough hides.

One problem for the survival of the species is that reproduction is slow — females have a 13-month gestation period and give

Kennedy's Son Joins Team

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and his 20-year-old son — who wears an artificial leg — joined a softball game for handicapped players on the banks of the Charles River.

Kennedy's son, Edward Jr., later bared his leg to show off his skiing form and softball batting stance at the summer festival for disabled people.

"I wanted to be a part of this today," the senator said Sunday, "not only because my son Teddy is a part of it, but because so many members of my family have been committed to help those who have a disability."

The younger Kennedy, a student at Wesleyan University, had his right leg amputated in 1974 because of cancer.

Church Group Burns Records

GUTHRIE, Okla. (AP) — Taking the advice of an Assembly of God youth evangelist from Dallas, some 100 youths burned their "offensive" records, tapes and T-shirts in a bonfire built on a church parking lot.

Flames went leaping 20 feet into the air Sunday night as thousands of records were burned — including one young man's record collection, valued at $7,000, said the Rev. Don Gatlin, pastor of the First Assembly of God in this central Oklahoma town.

The record burning took only a few minutes, but drew curious motorists to the area. Some young drivers jeered at the church members, who responded with cries of "God loves you."

The Rev. Alton Garrison, of Dallas, said he believes record burning is just an updated way of carrying out God's word laid down in the Old Testament, where it says, "The graven images of their gods shall ye burn with fire."

It wasn't the church's first record burning, its pastor said.

"We've had one record burning of our own anyway, about a year ago after some kids listened to him (Garrison) at a youth camp," Gatlin said.

Garrison said he and a growing group of fundamentalist ministers buy albums, pore over song lyrics, attend rock concerts and regularly read music-oriented magazines to find out what music is, to them, acceptable.

"We're in no way insinuating all rock stars are evil people," Garrison said. "All rock music isn't bad. We're not head-hunting."

Various stage acts also can take their toll on a Christian lifestyle, he said. "The pelvis of Elvis seems pretty mild to what's being done in rock concerts these days."

Garrison, 34, said there is good, popular music. "Maybe some kid wants to burn his Kenny Rogers tape," Garrison said. "But I wouldn't say Kenny Rogers is sinister."

Garrison has presided over 50 record burnings such as the one Sunday night in Guthrie, he said. He also has been indirectly responsible for more, such as one last week in Dardenelle, Ark., where members of a church had a "spontaneous happening" after they played one of my tapes."

Murder Charges Filed In Bizarre Disappearance

HONOLULU (AP) — No one ever expected a body. That's why no murder charges were filed.

But when the waves heaved a battered aluminum trunk to the edge of Palmyra Lagoon in January, the last link in a chain of clues led to two murder indictments.

A couple walking on the beach after anchoring their boat at the remote Pacific atoll spotted the trunk, its lid agape. Inside were bones, the burned and broken skeleton of Muff Graham.

Muff and her husband, Malcolm, a wealthy San Diego yachting couple, had been listed as missing almost seven years.

Graham had been bid farewell in a "ceremony of aloha" near Diamond Head on Nov. 10, 1974. The sea swallowed the vanda orchids dropped from the decks of a half dozen yachts in memory of Mac and Muff. It seemed then that the sea had also swallowed Mac and Muff, along with any clues to their disappearance.

All that remained was their yacht, the 38-foot ketch Sea Wind. Shorn of its figurehead and nameplate, painted lavender over its original gleaming blue, it was anchored at Honolulu's Coast Guard station.

The boat had been piloted 1,100 miles from Palmyra to Honolulu by Stephanie Stearns and Buck Walker, who were tried the following year and convicted on federal charges of stealing the yacht.

Miss Stearns served a year in prison and a year on probation, then moved to California. Walker, who had a criminal record to the 1950s, served 42 months in a federal penitentiary before escaping in July 1979.

In February, a month after the bones were found, a federal grand jury in Honolulu indicted Miss Stearns and Walker for killing Eleanor Lavern "Muff" Graham in "an attempt to perpetrate a burglary or robbery."

Miss Stearns, now 34, surrendered in March and pleaded innocent April 2. Her trial is to begin here Oct. 20.

Walker was arrested last Wednesday in Yuma, Ariz. and taken into federal custody. Barring any problems in transferring him to Hawaii, officials said they hoped to combine his trial with that of Miss Stearns.

The Grahams were deepwater sailors, living a dream of an endless cruise. They already had circled the globe once, a voyage of six years, when they set out in June 1974 on a two-year journey across the Pacific. Mac was 43, Muff 42.

Sailors who moored near the Grahams in Palmyra Lagoon, a stopping-off spot on the long trip between Hawaii and Fiji or Tahiti, told of invitations to dinner where they sipped champagne from crystal goblets.

But the Grahams, who sought solitude, were not to be left alone.

Three days before the Grahams arrived, Walker and Miss Stearns — who were calling themselves Roy and Stephanie Allen — ran aground on the Palmyra reef. Neither the motor nor the radio in their leaky sailboat, the Iola, was working.

The crews of two boats moored in the lagoon helped the "Allens" off the reef. They were a "hippie" couple, those sailors later testified. The description stemmed from the Iola's condition as much as Walker's wild appearance — 37 years old, he was missing several front teeth and had long red hair, a bushy beard and tattoos on his chest and arms.

With three dogs to feed and very little food, he started felling coconut trees with a chain saw and shooting fish with a gun. The seeds the couple brought in hopes of "living off the land" were eaten by crabs and birds.

So they mooched, begged and traded for food. They grew hungry.

In July and August, the "Allens" and the Grahams were the only people continuously moored at Palmyra. Other sailors who dropped anchor — Edwin Pollock of Honolulu, Thomas Wolfe of San Diego and others — later told of bad feelings simmering between the couples.

So did Curtis Shoemaker, a ham radio operator in Hawaii who spoke with the Grahams every Monday and Wednesday night. Shoemaker talked to Graham for the last time Aug. 28, 1974.

"I remember Mac saying, 'I guess they're going to declare a truce. They're bringing over a cake tonight.' That's the last I ever heard from him," Shoemaker said.

Six weeks later, he reported the couple missing to the Coast Guard.

In mid-October 1974, the "Allens" sailed the Sea Wind to Oahu, put the boat into drydock, repainted the hull and moved on to the Ala Wai Boat Harbor in Waikiki.

The distinctive double-masted ketch was recognized immediately. The Coast Guard acted Oct. 28, arresting Miss Stearns. Walker was picked up 11 days later, his hair cropped and beard shorn.

In their trials, the two testified that Mac and Muff Graham, with whom they had become "close friends," invited them to dinner Aug. 28. Miss Stearns said the Grahams had told them in advance to "make ourselves at home" and gone out fishing.

The next day, according to Miss Stearns, the Grahams' overturned dinghy was found in the lagoon.

The jury rejected their story. Each was convicted of stealing the yacht and $400 in the cabin and knowingly transporting stolen property.

But the Grahams' disappearance was a mystery. Seven years later, a strolling couple found a box filled with bones. The skull, identified by dental records as Mrs. Graham's, had a small hole in the left temple. The bones and the trunk were charred.

Mac Graham's remains are still missing.

Songwriter Against Guns

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After his good friend John Lennon was slain, singer-songwriter Harry Nilsson began organizing an anti-handgun campaign.

Now his supporters include such Hollywood celebrities as George Segal, Carol Burnett, Goldie Hawn, Gene Wilder, Ed Asner, Jean Stapleton, Elliott Gould and Christopher Reeve, Nilsson says.

"You see, I get nervous when they shoot piano players," Nilsson said in an interview in Sunday's Los Angeles Herald Examiner. "When someone dies, you get angry, you get sad. Then there's the period of adjustment, the acceptance. Somewhere between two of those periods, I decided to do something."

That something turned into a march on Washington the last week of October, said the 41-year-old musician, whose hits have included "Everybody's Talkin'" and "Me and My Arrow."

The event will be called March to End Handgun Violence, said Nilsson.

Hot-Air Balloon Mishap Kills 5

BARRINGTON HILLS, Ill. (AP) — A hot-air balloon "lit up like a Chinese lantern" when it touched power wires, then crashed killing five people, including a 24-year-old man who had been given the ride as a birthday present, witnesses say.

The lone survivor, Rocco Evans, 25, of De Land, Fla., remained in critical but stable condition at a hospital burn unit with burns over 50 percent of his body. Police said the accident occurred Saturday night near this a semi-rural suburb northwest of Chicago.

Arlington Man Dies Of Wound

GRAND PRAIRIE, Texas (AP) — A 32-year-old Arlington man has died from a gunshot wound inflicted during a shootout with police officers last week.

Dwight Power died Friday morning in a Grand Prairie hospital, nine hours after he was shot in the stomach.

Grand Prairie officers

Phil Foster and Richard Bender said Power began firing at them when they tried to get him out of a house where they were responding to a disturbance call. The woman who owns the house said Power had threatened to kill her.

Police said the case will be referred to a Dallas County grand jury.

Season, Career May Be Over For Randy Hughes

DALLAS (AP) - Dallas Cowboy Randy Hughes was to consult with team doctors in Dallas today about a right shoulder reinjured in an exhibition game, an injury that may mean the end of his career.

It was the third time Hughes has dislocated the shoulder and he was playing in only his second game after surgery between seasons.

"I don't think he'll be playing any more. Ever. When you have the thing operated on twice and they try to strap it down tight, well, it doesn't look good," Dallas coach Tom Landry said after conferring with doctors in the Anaheim Stadium training room.

"I would think the chances are slim for him to play again. I hate to speak for Randy Hughes and the doctors," Landry said. "But I know that after you operate on a shoulder twice that if you have to go in there again, then the chance of having a good shoulder for football is very limited. He'll have a good shoulder for life, but not for football."

Hughes was trying to tackle rookie fullback Jairo Penaranda when his shoulder was dislocated.

He then slowly walked to the sideline and slammed his helmet to the ground.

Hughes said he would reserve any decision on what to do until after he talked to team doctors Marvin Knight and Pat Evans, but he did not sound optimistic before flying back to Dallas.

"I only had about three or four more years anyway," he said. "This probably just cuts it short a little bit."

Landry said the loss of Hughes would a severe blow to the Cowboys, pointing out that most consider the defensive secondary to be the team's primary weakness.

"We were counting on him heavily because we felt that potentially he was our best player back there because he had the size, the speed and the experience that's necessary to hold a secondary together," Landry said.

Hughes' teammates were also gloomy about the prospects of Hughes being able to remain with the team.

Once in the dressing room after the 33-21 loss, Charlie Waters slammed his helmet into a soft drink machine, and Landry waited 15 minutes before talking to reporters.

"It's a shame," Landry said, as he shook his head. "It's done."

"Losing Hughes concerns me far more than losing the game. The shoulder came out on him again and the chances of his playing football ever again are not very good. Not good at all."

Waters has been battling a troublesome knee, and can empathize with the seven-year veteran's plight.

"I'm sick about it," he said. "It's an awful thing. If anyone on this team deserves a better fate, it's Randy. He deserved a break after all he's gone through in his career, particularly this last season."

Volleyball Preview Set Tuesday Night

Coach Joyce Elrod will present her defending state championship volleyball team along with the 1981-82 junior varsity squad Tuesday night at 7 in the Snyder High School Gymnasium.

The 1981 volleyball preview will include introduction of all the varsity and junior varsity players, who will also hold a scrimmage.

No admission fee will be charged for the annual preview, which serves as a tip-off the the 1981-82 season.

Snyder teams have their first volleyball scrimmages Thursday and open the season Saturday.

Thursday's action takes place in Lamesa, beginning at 1 p.m. Snyder, Lamesa, Seminole and Denver City will participate in the action.

Elrod's Tigers open the doors on what promises to be another winning season here Saturday, playing San Angelo Central and Seminole.

Snyder takes on the Bobcats at 11 (junior varsity) and 12 (varsity) at the local gym. At 2 and 3 p.m., Central and Seminole vie, and at 5 and 6 Snyder and Seminole play.

Coach Elrod's varsity troops lost only one starter to graduation off of the 1980-81 squad which took district, regional and Class AAAA state championships.

Green's Finesse Earns Greater Hartford Title

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) - The stage was his and his alone, and Hubert Green took advantage of the situation to criticize the golf courses that make up the PGA tour and professional golf itself.

"Golf is getting away from finesse," Green said Sunday after winning the $300,000 Sammy Davis Jr.-Greater Hartford Open.

"The most important thing in golf is control of the ball," Green said. But he said many courses now are designed "to see how long you can drive it."

Green, who ended a two-year winless streak with the victory, said he "tried to adapt" by changing his swing so that he could drive the ball farther.

But he said, "I shouldn't have and I have paid for it."

Only recently, he said, has he regained the form that has led to 17 tournament victories, including the 1977 U.S. Open and Sunday's triumph.

Green's comments were prompted by often repeated criticism of the par-71, 6,534-yard Wethersfield Country Club course, where the GHO was held. The course is considered easy by some because of its lack of distance.

Green sank seven birdies during his final round to shoot a 7-under-par 64 as he rallied from three strokes back to win by a stroke. He finished with a 72-hole total of 20-under-par 264, tying the GHO record set in 1973 by Billy Casper and tied in 1978 by Rod Funseth.

Third-round leader Roger Maltbie shot a 68 to finish in a tie for second at 265 with Bobby Clampett and Fred Couples. Clampett shot a 64 Sunday and Couples a 66.

Lon Nielsen, who led the first two rounds, shot an even-par 71 for a 13-under 271 total and a tie for 23rd. Defending champion Howard Twitty shot a 72 Sunday to finish in a tie for 51st with a 275 total.

Green's last victory was in 1979 in New Orleans. His best previous finish this year was a tie for 11th in the Masters.

With the $54,000 first-place check he more than doubled his earnings this year to $84,812. It also raised his career total earnings to more than $1.49 million, good for 13th place on the all-time money list.

Tim Simpson, who shot a 65 and finished at 266, was alone in fifth place at 18-under par.

Stephenson Walks Off With Crown

DALLAS (AP) - In the 33-year history of the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour nobody ever did it better than Jan Stephenson did Sunday.

She one-putted all but one hole on the front nine as she shot a personal best 8-under par 64 which gave her an 11-shot victory in the Mary Kay Golf Classic.

Her rounds of 65-69-64 were 18-under par which bested the LGPA 54-hole record of 200 by two strokes.

"I didn't know I had shot 64 until I added it up in the scoring tent," said Stephenson, one of the tour glamour types who created quite a stir earlier this year with a picture in Fairway Magazine that seemed more like an advertisement for sexy nightwear.

"I asked my dad when I was 14 if all the work I was doing was worth it and my father said I would be in the record books some day ... he was right," said Stephenson.

Carol Mann shot 16-under par 200 in the 1968 Lady Carling Open in Palmetto, Ga., and Ruth Jensen shot 200 in 1964 but it was over a par 70 course.

Stephenson finished 11 shots ahead of second place Sandra Haynie who fired a final round 3-under par 69. It was the third largest winning margin in the history of the LPGA tour.

Stephenson began her birdie binge on the fifth hole with a 30-foot putt.

She almost eagled the par 5 No. 6, settling for a tap-in birdie, then birdied the seventh and eighth with 25 footers, and holed a monstrous 50-footer on the ninth green for a 5-under par 31 on the front nine.

On the backside, she birdied the par 5 No. 13 with a short putt. On the 16th, she holed 15-footer and knocked in a 10-foot birdie putt on the final green.

Defending champion Jerilyn Britz, who shot a final round 73, Sandra Spuzich, with a 69, Kyle O'Brien who shot 68, and Laura Baugh-Cole with a 70, tied for third at 212.

Magic Money

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Magic Johnson's contract with the Los Angeles Lakers, a breathtaking $25 million for 25 years, breaks down into some interesting figures.

Based on a five-day, 40-hour week, Johnson will earn $83,333 per month. His weekly stipend will be $19,230. Based on 100 games per year, including preseason, regular season and playoffs, he will draw down $10,000 per contest.

Green Bay Wins A Second Time, And...

Bum's Saints Paste Houston, 27-7

by The Associated Press

Bum Phillips' chance for revenge against the Houston Oilers is like a box office success - there will be a Part II.

Phillips, coach of the New Orleans Saints, watched his new team beat his old team 27-7 in a National Football League exhibition game Saturday night.

Phillips knows it doesn't count, but he also knows he will get another chance Nov. 22 in a regular-season game.

A victory in November could be very sweet for Phillips, fired by the Oilers at the end of the 1980 season.

Also on Saturday night it was San Diego 31, San Francisco 28; Los Angeles 33, Dallas 21; Miami 24, Denver 14; Philadelphia

36, Pittsburgh 20; Green Bay 34, Oakland 14; Cleveland 13, Buffalo 10; Cincinnati 30, Detroit 20; New England 17, Tampa Bay 16; Atlanta 21, the New York Jets 20; Kansas City 13, Chicago 0, and the New York Giants 20, Baltimore 17. On Friday night it was Washington 27, Minnesota 13, and St.

Louis 30, Seattle 21.

Saturday night the Saints received excellent performances from three of their high draft choices. Heisman Trophy winner George Rogers, the first player taken in the NFL draft, scored touchdowns on bursts of three yards and one yard.

Quarterback David

Wilson, taken in the first round of a supplementary draft, hit wide receiver Wes Chandler on a 17-yard scoring toss. Houston's only score came on a 1-yard run by Earl Campbell in the second quarter.

San Diego beat the 49ers as Dan Fouts and Ed Luther combined for completions on 28 of 33 passes for 358 yards and two touchdowns, the latter a deflected pass that wound up as a 73-yard play.

Lynn Dickey threw for 143 yards and one touchdown, a 65-yard pass play to James Lofton, and rookie Rich Campbell guided Green Bay on a 70-yard scoring drive in the fourth quarter, capped by Eric Torkelson's 1-yard TD plunge as the Packers beat Oakland.

yard field goal with three seconds remaining boosted the Giants past the Colts.

System To Be Revised

by The Associated Press

The split-season format, adopted by club owners in hopes of salvaging the rest of the 1981 baseball season, will be revised to prevent the possibility of a team deliberately losing games to gain a playoff berth.

"We're going to change it, at least make an adjustment in it to preclude any possibility of a team losing a game to get ahead," Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said Sunday in an interview with ABC Sports.

"We're not going to have that happen. We'll have an announcement in a day or two," he said.

Kuhn, meanwhile, also said he would not discipline Manager Tony LaRussa of the Chicago White Sox who, along with most of his players, told the Chicago Tribune he would purposely lose a four-game series with the Oakland A's if it meant getting into the playoffs.

LaRussa later said he would "favor" forfeiting a game rather than being placed in a position of deciding whether to try to lose.

Soon after the 50-day players' strike ended July 31, club owners voted to split the remainder of the 1981 season.

Haden Directs Rams In Second 'Poke Defeat

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) - Quarterback Pat Haden, rebounding from a poor performance five days earlier, passed for 207 yards Saturday night to lead the Los Angeles Rams to an 33-21 victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

The Cowboys, 0-2 in practice games, scored on a 30-yard run by James Jones in the second quarter, a 33-yard pass from White to Tony Dorsett in the third period and a 1-yard pass from backup quarterback Glenn Carano to tight end Billie Joe DuPree with 6:43 left in the game.

White completed 12 of 23 passes for 156 yards with two interceptions while playing slightly more than half the game. Jones led all rushers in the contest with 68 yards on nine carries.

Texas Blanks Boston In Pitchers' Battle, 3-0

ARLINGTON (AP) - A guest appearance by the San Diego Chicken, Don Zimmer's 30th wedding anniversary and a continuous threat of rain could not detract from the pitching performances that highlighted the last meeting of the season between Boston and Texas.

A pair of left-handers, Ranger Rick Honeycutt and Boston rookie Bob Ojeda, hooked up in a sparkling pitchers' duel that was decided by a scratch infield hit, some shaky defense and one solid single.

"Both pitchers should have one," said Boston manager Ralph Houk, after Sunday night's 3-0 loss to Texas in the season finale between the two clubs.

Texas took the series 6 games to 3.

"Geez, what a game he pitched," Texas manager Zimmer said of Honeycutt, 8-1, who scattered six hits and pitched his way out of a serious 7th inning jam to log the first complete game by a Ranger pitcher since the end of the baseball strike.

"I felt I had super command of my sinker, especially when I needed it," Honeycutt said. "And that is the key."

"The (Red Sox) have a big, strong lineup, but you'll do OK if you can keep the ball down against them."

It was Honeycutt's fourth shutout of the season, and his fifth straight win.

But Ojeda was just as strong until the Rangers put together a single, two walks and an infield chopper for the only run Honeycutt would need.

That came in the sixth inning. Al Oliver singled and stole second, Buddy Bell was walked intentionally and Billy Sample was walked unintentionally, loading the bases.

Bill Stein brought Oliver home with a high infield bouncer.

The Red Sox mounted their most serious threat in the seventh.

Astros, Niekro Shut Out San Diego Padres, 3-0

SAN DIEGO (AP) - Houston knuckleballer Joe Niekro hasn't forgotten an appearance at San Diego Jack Murphy Stadium against the Padres just prior to the beginning of the baseball strike. But it certainly wasn't a memorable performance for the veteran right-hander.

The Padres belted Niekro for eight hits and six runs in 3 1/2 innings en route to a 7-5 victory over the Astros on June 4.

"They kicked my tail last time, but I pitched them differently this time," said Niekro after hurling seven shutout innings while allowing just two hits in a 3-0 Houston victory over the struggling Padres on Sunday.

"I didn't have my good knuckler today, so I threw a lot of fastballs and moved them around pretty well," said Niekro, who is now 7-6.

Only starting pitcher Steve Mura and outfielder Ruppert Jones could manage hits off Niekro as the veteran right-hander teamed with Dave Smith to blank San Diego for the second straight day. Since scoring a first-inning run in a 5-1 loss to Houston Friday night, the puncheon Padres have gone 26 innings since scoring a run.

The Astros, off to a 5-2 start in the second half of the season, notched their 12th shutout of the year and lowered their team earned run average to 2.76 with Sunday's triumph.

Niekro's ERA fell to 2.73 and he ran his career record to 17-6 against the Padres, for whom he pitched as a youngster back in 1969.

Terry Puhl and gave up a run-scoring single to pinch-hitter Gary Woods, making it 2-0.

In the ninth, after Lucas struck out the first two batters, Pittman walked. Smith, a San Diego State product who picked up his fourth save, followed with a single for his first major league hit. Scott then came through with his second run-scoring single, this one to left field.

Willow Hour Wins Stakes

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) - Marcia W. Schott's Willow Hour, a 24-1 outsider, won the 112th in Saturday's $226,000 Travers Stakes for 3-year-olds at Saratoga over a sloppy track, beating Buckland's Farm's Pleasant Colony by a head. Lord Avie finished another 1 1/4 lengths back in the field of 10.

cond largest in Saratoga history. Ridden by Eddie Maple and trained by Jimmy Picou, the Bold Hour colt was timed in 2:03.45.

Pleasant Colony, the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner, rallied from fifth place to move alongside Willow Hour midway through the final turn. They engaged in a thrilling stretch duel, but Willow Hour, who took the lead after pacesetter Prince Fortune faded, gamely hung on to take the $135,600 first prize. It was his sixth victory in 20 career starts.
