Garbage rates to see $7-$10 hike

New landfill regulations pose tough choices for council

The residents of Scurry County will have some assurance in the future that their ground water is protected from solid waste.

That assurance comes at no small cost, however, as members of the Snyder City Council learned Monday evening.

Because of federal and state landfill regulations to be implemented in October, Scurry County residents will find their monthly garbage disposal fees taking a jump of $7 to $10.

The exact increase will depend on several factors, including whether the city decides to continue operating its landfill or close it.

As outlined in a report from Freese and Nichols, Inc., consulting engineers, Monday, city council members have four basic options. They can (1) bring the existing landfill into compliance with the new regulations as it is, 94 usable acres with 27 feet excavation depth and 7 feet aerial fill; (2) keep it at the same size but seek to make it a regional landfill and attempt to service Nolan, Mitchell and Fisher counties; (3) close the landfill and contract with a company such as BFI in Abilene to haul the waste; or, (4) expand the size of the landfill with an additional 200 acres, and make it a regional facility.

A fifth option would be to increase the current aerial fill from 7 to 20 feet and make it a regional landfill.

At stake is meeting new subtitle D regulations, which require landfills to have liner and laechate collection systems, groundwater monitoring, methane gas monitoring and financial assurance, eventual closure and post-closure care.

Engineers have calculated that by meeting the new mandates and not enlarging the landfill — Option 1 — the monthly fee to in-town residents will increase from $7.25 to $17.08. County residents

City tables drilling application; hears Don't Bag It report

Snyder city council members filled a vacancy on the Development Corporation of Snyder board, heard an application to drill an oil well inside the city and listened to an update on waste reduction programs during a special meeting Monday night.

Mayor Troy Williamson recommended former mayor John Fagin to the DCOS board. "He is a past mayor and a very active citizen. He helped pass the tax for this (board) and since, has been very interested in the Development Corporation," Williamson said. Fagin's appointment was approved unanimously.

Craig Duke, representating Patterson Petroleum Inc., addresed the council concerning an application for a permit to drill and operate a well inside the city limits. The site is behind Watson Packers on West 25th Street and east of El Paso Ave.

Duke said everything possible would be done to comply with city ordinances, and he is currently seeking required waivers from residents in the area. The council took no action.

Patterson representatives are expected to appear before council again next Monday, with all the required data to obtain a drilling and operating pemit from the city.

Carolyn House, chairperson of the Snyder Beautification Committee, reminded council members of the reduction of waste programs they approved last May. "One of the programs is coming up this spring — the Don't Bag It program. It is an effort to help citizens. We want to make them aware of ways to use their yard waste," House said.

The council agreed the program was a good one and also agreed to have a city clean up campaign again this year. Last year, the city provided dump trucks and personnel to citizens who called in to have their trash picked up. House said the response was very good.

"It is a good time to get the community looking better. Anything we can do to encourage people to keep things looking better," Williamson said.

House also informed the council that the chamber will be receiving 1,000 trees a year for 10 years. She said the first trees will be

JOHN FAGIN

John Fagin added to DCOS board

John Fagin, college trustee and former mayor, Monday night was named by the city council to serve on the board of the Development Corporation of Snyder.

Fagin will fill the unexpired term of the late John Jarrell. The DCOS is charged with oversight of economic development funds generated by the three-eights cents sales tax approved in 1992 by city of Snyder residents.

Fagin will join Paul Zeck, Dan Cotton, Miller Robinsen and Bill Seale on the board.

Fagin, elected in 1988, is a trustee of Western Texas College. He served as Snyder city councilman from 1974 to 1976 and as mayor from 1976 to 1980.

Since 1984, Fagain has served as one of Snyder representatives on the board of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

A resident of Snyder for the past 25 years, Fagin is a retired petroleum engineer with Newmont Oil Co. He now is in private consultation work. He and his wife, Martha, are members of the First United Methodist Church.

U.S. military ready for airdrops to aid starving people in Bosnia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. military is ready to begin dropping relief supplies of food and medicine to the starving in eastern Bosnia by the end of this week, a senior Defense Department official says.

The official, speaking on condition of anonymity, said late Monday that an "execute order" had not been signed by Defense Secretary Les Aspin, who is hospitalized with breathing problems. But he said military planners had laid out their contingency plans for President Clinton over the weekend.

"We're going to do it," the official said of the airdrop.

There are many serious drawbacks to such airdrops, the official noted, but given the desperate situation in the war-ravaged region of the former Yugoslavia, "It's better than doing nothing."

An announcement was expected from the White House once Clinton gives the go-ahead, the official said. The president planned to meet today with U.N. Secretary-General Boutros Boutros-Ghali.

Clinton was asked by reporters in Everett, Wash., on Monday if he was ready to announce the airlift. "It's a possibility. I want to wait a few more days until I announce a policy," he replied.

He said his agenda with Boutros-Ghali included Bosnia, Somalia and other issues.

Smith files for 2nd term on city council

J.D. Smith today filed for a second term on the Snyder City Council.

Smith, pastor of Christian Fellowship Church, said he feels the experience he has gained is important for the community.

"Because of federal mandates and increasing pressure by state agencies, experienced councilmen are needed to make tough decisions," said Smith. "I believe my past two years gives me that experience and I look forward to serving in the high honor of city councilman for another term."

Smith occupies one of two at-large seats up for election May 1. The other is held by Mike Thornton, who has announced he will not seek another term.

Last week, District 4 City Councilman Dayton Robertson filed for an at-large seat. Robertson, an engineer with Y-Z Industries, Inc., was appointed to the District 4 seat last October to fill out a term held by Jackie Greene, who had moved from the district.

Robertson's District 4 seat is also up for election, to fill out a one-year term.

Also up for election at City Hall is the mayor's post. Troy Williamson is currently serving his third term in that position.

To date, no one has filed for the District 4 seat or mayor. The filing period ends March 17.

Smith came to Snyder in 1963 as a choral music director and taught in public schools here for 14 years. He operated several private businesses and served on the staff of six churches as pastor or music director. In 1984, he founded Christian Fellowship Church.

He oversees housing ministries through the church and is a director of the Newgate International Ministries, which ministers to prison inmates.

Smith is an officer with Scurry County Ministerial Alliance, a member of the Texas Association of Residential Service Providers and is a past Rotarian and a former chamber board member.

His wife, Donna, is a music teacher at East Elementary. They have two grown children, Jon Alan Smith of Lubbock and Pamela Erwin of Hale Center.

On probation

ANADARKO, Okla. (AP) — A teen-ager pleaded guilty today to the shooting death of her abusive father and was given a five-year deferred sentence.

Under terms of the plea agreement, Billie Joe Powell, 16, will be on probation for five years and will live with her aunt, Sue Gilbreath, in Tyler, Texas. She also must comply with a treatment plan that includes counseling.

If at the end of the five years she has not violated probation, the court record on the first-degree manslaughter plea will be expunged.

Miss Powell initially was charged with first-degree murder in the shooting death of Billy Ray Powell, 47, at the family's Cement, Okla., home Aug. 26. She told authorities she shot her father after a night of intense verbal and emotional abuse.

An anonymous benefactor from Boston posted bond for Miss Powell in November after hearing of the case.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Staying fit is like cooking pudding. You get lumps if you don't keep stirring."

Americans are busy, and their eating habits show it.

Families, where both parents work, caused fast-food restaurants to flourish. Supermarkets countered with products aimed exclusively at the fast-paced family who wanted something to pop in the microwave.

Families are still looking for convenience, but they also are demanding better tastes. As a result, supermarket sales are seeing sharp increases in such things as French dishes, herbed chicken with wine and beef teriyaki — all straight from the can or jar.

Grocery stores call it a culinary compromise — "speed cooking from scratch."

While there is an urge for home-cooked meals, working mothers don't want to mess with reading recipes or getting out the mixing cups. The answer is meat sauces and marinades — sort of an upscale hamburger helper.

While meat sauces lead the top ten products sold in the nation's grocery stores, not everything on the best-selling list is for dinner.

Fourth on the list is toothbrushes while toilet bowl cleaners are ninth. Also popular is refrigerated coffee creamers

Others on the top-ten list are refrigerated prepared salads, rice and popcorn cakes, Graham crackers, taster pastries and refrigerated pizza.

We must be out of step with the dining habits of most Americans. It's a rule at our house. You can't go to the grocery store unless you bring home a bag of Ruffles.

Shopping has changed in more ways than one. Once upon a time a woman could run to the store in curlers and no makeup.

Now with all those hidden video cameras, the shopper feels compelled to freshen up first.

Your Birthday

Feb. 24, 1993

There is a good chance in the year ahead that you could profit from an endeavor first initiated by another. Lady Luck may put you in just the right place at just the right time.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This is one of those days when you might not be too skillful at managing your own resources, and even less skillful at managing the resources of another. Pisces, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for Pisces' Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Large doses of patience and tolerance might be required today. This is one of those times when most people you'll deal with on a one-to-one basis could have a chip on their shoulders.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Today's problems could have you operating at a disadvantage if you get rattled. Don't add to additional pressures with self-inflicted behavior.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You could be more susceptible to flattery today than usual. An acquaintance who will perceive this flaw may use insincere compliments to manipulate you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Total dedication will be required today if you hope to achieve a critical objective. Trying to slide by on your charm and good looks simply won't work.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) This is not an appropriate time to introduce new ideas or change methods in an involvement you have with others. Conditions are already too confusing.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you're banking on someone else to cover for you today or bail you out of an old obligation you incurred, you might be disappointed. Be prepared to fend for yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Although you are usually able to discern both sides of a problem, this gift might not be operative today, and your judgment could be one-sided. Be careful.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you are an employee of someone else, this is not a good day to slack off. Your boss will be evaluating you as a producer and he or she could have a long memory.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Think things over very carefully before getting involved in a speculative venture with a friend today, because if both of you are poorly informed, things won't go well.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Success could be denied to you today if you delegate your own assignments to someone who is less competent. It's better not to take the chance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) A friend might come to you for advice today, and it's best that you level with him or her if it concerns something about which you lack knowledge or expertise. Your counsel could be harmful rather than helpful.

What causes breast enlargement?

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 75 and my breasts have enlarged from an empty 34 to a full 38. I read a book that indicates anti-inflammatory drugs can cause this problem. To me this causes mental stress. What can I do?

DEAR READER: Although anti-inflammatory drugs, such as Indocin and Motrin, will often cause fluid retention (and, by extension, mild breast enlargement), a change from a 34 to a 38 bra size would be highly unusual. So unusual, in fact, that I advise you to bring this to your doctor's attention.

Significant production of female hormone does not occur in women your age. Because inappropriate production of female hormone can result in breast enlargement, this is a possibility that should be investigated with blood tests and X-rays; some tumors can cause breast enlargement. So can an increase in body fat. Don't blame your change in breast size on the medication until your doctor has investigated other causes.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Breast Cancer and Disorders." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My son has been diagnosed with spondylitis, a form of arthritis. He suffers from severe back pain and, at 29, is almost bedridden. What can you tell me about this disease?

DEAR READER: Spondylitis, sometimes called Marie-Strumpell disease, is a disorder of unknown cause, marked by inflammation of many of the body's joints, especially in the spine.

The disease is more frequent in men and usually begins between the ages of 20 and 40. There may be a genetic tendency.

It begins as back pain and early-morning stiffness. Patients often adopt a bent-over posture to relieve discomfort. The eyes may also become inflamed. Fever, fatigue, anemia, and weight loss are common. As the disease progresses, the pain becomes more severe; sciatica and spinal fractures may occur. Some patients also develop angina, heart irritation and lung scarring.

The diagnosis is established by blood tests and X-rays.

Treatment consists of nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs, such as Naprosyn, Clinoril and Indocin, in conjunction with gentle physical therapy. With proper treatment, the inflammation can be arrested; thus, in the majority of patients, no chronic disability results.

The disease is characterized by periods of remission interspersed with flare-ups. Therefore, each episode of inflammation must be aggressively treated to avoid incapacitating deformities.

In my opinion, your son should be under the care of a rheumatologist, a specialist in inflammatory diseases.

The Patient Self-Determination Act, which became effective in 1991, governs health care facilities funded by Medicare and/or Medicaid. This act requires all health care facilities to advise patients upon admission of their right to make decisions concerning their medical care.

All persons, regardless of where they live, have the right to accept or refuse medical or surgical treatment and the right to execute advance directives which indicate their wishes to receive life sustaining measurers or to say "no" to any treatments they do not want.

Bodet said Snyder Nursing Center is sponsoring Tuesday night's meeting in order to discuss these issues and present options available regarding medical care and treatment decisions.

Everyone is invited to attend.

Food Lion sues union

SALISBURY, N.C. (AP) — Food Lion's lawsuit alleging the United Food & Commercial Workers International Union waged a corporate campaign against the grocery chain is without merit, a union lawyer says.

"It's part of the company's overall strategy to intimidate the employees or anybody who supports them with a union," Nicholas W. Clark, a UFCW attorney, told the Salisbury Post in a telephone interview from his Washington office.

The union is aware of the lawsuit, but has not been served the court papers yet, he said. "They are obviously forum shopping by filing in South Carolina," Clark said. "They are looking for what may be anti-union sentiments in a particular area in order to win a case."

The suit was filed in the Greenville, S.C., Circuit Court on Feb. 12, the day after Food Lion's directors met in Salisbury for nearly 10 hours. Food Lion officials refused to comment on why the case was not filed in federal court in South Carolina.

The company alleges abuse of process and seeks actual and punitive damages but no amount has been specified.

Jury vindicates police officers

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A federal court jury has decided that two San Antonio police officers did not violate the civil rights of a man who was convicted of attempting to kill the officers.

Kenneth Terrell, 35, had claimed that the officers violated his rights during his arrest when he beat one officer unconscious and fired six shots at his partner.

Terrell, who was convicted on two charges of attempted capital murder and is serving two 99-year prison terms, was wounded in an exchange of gunfire with one of the officers.

The civil suit claimed officers Jerry Whitson and Angela Ruks used excessive force and cruel and unusual punishment in arresting him April 21, 1987.

The jury of five women and one man deliberated about 90 minutes Monday before delivering its verdict to Senior U.S. District Judge D.W. Suttle.

The jury did not know Terrell had been convicted in the murder attempts because of a federal court ruling banning such evidence from his civil trial.

GS cookie sales in progress

Local Brownie, Junior and Cadet Scouts began selling and delivering GS cookies Saturday and will continue until March 6.

The annual project offers eight flavors — shortbread, thin mint, peanut butter patties (chocolate coated), peanut butter sandwiches, praline royale, carmel delight and lemon pastry creams.

In addition to previous orders being filled, booths will be set up Saturday at Wal-Mart or anyone wanting cookies can call 573-3926.

Cookie sales is a part of Girl Scouting, an 81-year-old program that strives to shape young girls into leaders with mentoring by an all-female network. In these days, obstacles like pregnancy and drugs can block a girl from even graduating from school.

Girl Scouts believe that they can help.

"Girls don't get to interface with adults that much anymore," West Texas Girl Scout Council Executive Director Nancy Henderson said. "In Girl Scouts, girls get to fellowship with older women and build tight relationships."

In seeing the need for mentoring years ago, the all-girl organization offers girls a safe haven to be challenged and to fail without feeling embarrassed, Henderson added.

Building friends, finding their talents, gaining confidence and self esteem, learning home and outdoor skills, and leadership skills are only a few qualities gained from the program.

Proceeds from the cookie sales will help girls in local troops and other GS functions. For each case sold, $3.60 stays in the troops. Each scout selling three cases (36 boxes), will receive a patch; five cases (60 boxes) earns a lap desk and a patch; eight cases sold will earn a T-shirt, lap desk and a patch.

Brownies selling 10 cases will earn a father-daughter weekend at Camp Booth Oaks in Sweetwater.

The troop averaging seven cases per girl or over receives a bonus to purchase flags.

Following are recipes using GS cookies.

1 Tablespoon Lemon Juice
1 Teaspoon Vanilla
1/8 Teaspoon Cream of Tartar

Remove from oven and let sit and cool for at least one hour. Put the foil cheesecakes in the freezer overnight, or for approximately 8 hours until frozen.

Lay Caramel de Lite cookies out on a tray. Take the cheesecakes out of the freezer and carefully peel off the foil wrap. Put one mini-cheesecake on each cookie. Then take some mini-morsel chocolate chips (not regular size) and put nine chocolate chips on top of the cheesecake in rows of 3 across. Take 5 pecans and push them into the sides of the cheesecake to imitate the turtle's head and four legs.

Bridge acts as a bond

By Phillip Alder

Bridge administrators strive to keep politics and religion out of the game. The players don't care who their opponents are, only what the opponents' bidding system is. But occasionally governments have instructed their teams not to play against certain people. Happily, though, those days seem to be in the past.

In 1990, a team from the British Parliament competed against a team of Swedish legislators and other officials in Stockholm. Today's deal was played by the Indian ambassador to Sweden, Pushkar Johari, against the parliamentary captain, the Duke of Atholl, and his partner, Lord Smith.

Declarer won trick one with dummy's spade king, cashed the heart ace and played a heart to his king. West's spade discard was an unwelcome sight. How should Ambassador Johari have continued?

To draw all the trumps would make the contract entirely dependent on the diamond finesse. If it won, fine; if it lost, the defenders would cash a cascade of clubs.

At the other table, the declarer took the diamond finesse now. Better, but not good enough. East won with the king, put his partner on play with the club ace and received a diamond ruff. The club king defeated the contract.

The ambassador found the best play: At trick four, he led a diamond to dummy's ace. As long as it wasn't ruffed, he was planning to drive out the diamond king. He could handle any defense.

When the singleton king fell, there were cries of "Keep your cards back, Atholl!"

Training for officers held at HE club

Kathryn Roberts, Scurry County Home Extension Agent, hosted the Honey Do's club and presented the program, "Officer Training" on Feb. 18.

Each member answered roll call with a comment about "Housecleaning I Hate the Most."

Mrs. Roberts explained the meaning of leadership and pointed out four different styles of leadership. She also commented on the duties of club officers.

In the business meeting that followed, Mrs. Roberts announced a donation had been made by the HE council to the Aubrey Russell Scholarship Fund in memory of Joyce McCoy who was a member of the Honey Do's club. She asked the group to note that April 1 has been set for the district meeting to be held in Plainview. Members reviewed plans for a bake sale set for April 10 at Furr's and Wal-Mart.

A potpourri angel was made by members prior to refreshments served by Mrs. Roberts and Patsy Burleson.

Sorority names J. Johnson its Valentine Queen

XI Alpha Alpha Theta of Beta Sigma Phi members elected Jeanne Johnson the 1993 Valentine Queen at its recent meeting at the Snyder Country Club.

Martha Knowles relinquished her crown to Jeanne Johnson in a presentation that was followed by Johnson's sister, Carolyn House, and Patricia Warren giving personal anecdotes they remembered that portrayed the new queen's qualities.

During the business session presided by Jackie Buckland, scrapbook chairman Marie Boone noted the club's camera was no longer operable. Brenda Hedges donated a camera to record the club's activities.

Serving on the nominating committee for the selection of 1993-94 officers were Carolyn Limmer, chairman, Jacalyn Lowrance, Patricia Warren, Carolyn House and Jeanne Johnson.

Members will convene in the home of Carolyn Limmer at 9 p.m. on Feb. 26 for a social "Together We Sleep?"

Calvin Coolidge, the 30th president, was born in 1872.

In December 1992, the Inadale Coop Gin, 2080014, water supply collected water samples for coliform analyses. Analytical results indicated the presence of coliform bacteria. Water supply officials were directed to collect a specified number of repeat samples to isolate and confirm the analytical results. These repeat samples were not collected or were collected in an improper manner.

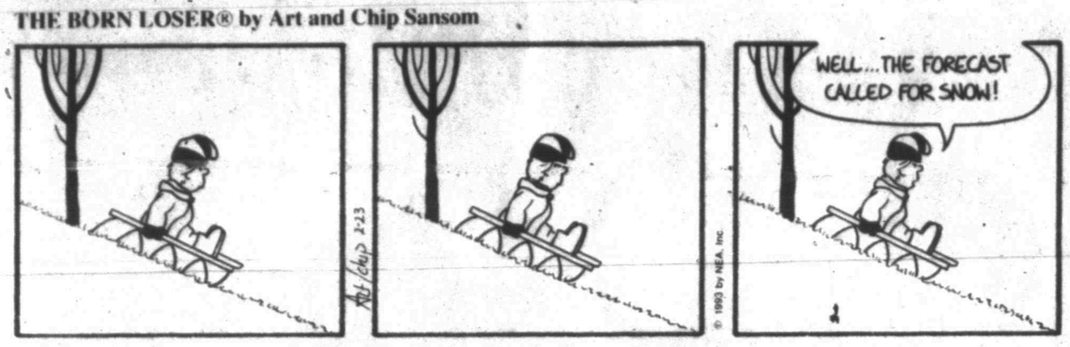

Water supply officials were directed to collect five routine monthly samples the following month. Five routine monthly samples were not collected.

The presence of coliform bacteria indicates a potential for disease causing microorganisms to be present in the water supply.

DENNIS THE MENACE

Snyder hosts girls' 3A playoff battles

A pair of 3A girls' area-round basketball playoff games will be played in Snyder today.

The Dimmitt-Bowie contest will tip-off at 7:30 p.m at Snyder High School while an 8 p.m. starting time has been set for the Canyon-Graham tilt at Scurry County Coliseum.

The game at the coliseum will be played following the Western Texas College-Clarendon College women's tilt, set to start at 6 p.m.

Canyon, District 1 champion, enters the game with a 25-4 record, including a 43-27 victory Friday in the bi-district round. Graham's 20-10 slate also includes a playoff win Friday, when the Lady Blues downed Slaton 37-35.

Graham wound up the regular season as the District 4 runner-up.

Dimmitt, District 2 champion, brings a 28-3 record into SHS today. The Lady 'Cats' last win was a 57-50 decision over Perryton Friday night.

Bowie brings a 28-4 mark and the District 4 title into tonight's fray. The Lady 'Rabbits beat Seminole, 60-53, in the bi-district round.

Admission to both games is $4 for adults and $2 for students.

No. 1 Levelland, District 2-4A champion, continued its run toward the state tournament with a 42-35 win over Stephenville in Sweetwater Monday.

The Loboettes are 28-5 and will face the winner of today's area tilt between defending state champ Randall and Saginaw Boswell for the Region 1 crown.

District 2-4A boys' playoff teams, champion Plainview and runner-up Estacado, will begin their post-season battles tonight as well.

The Bulldogs, 25-5, will face District 1 runner-up Caprock at 7:30 p.m. at Canyon High School.

The EHS Matadors carry a 16-13 record in against Region 1 favorite Pampa, 23-5, at West Texas State University Fieldhouse in Canyon. The Estacado-Pampa game also starts at 7:30 p.m.

Oilers hoping to keep Carlson as backup QB

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers are trying to keep backup quarterback Cody Carlson from becoming a free agent, and he's willing to listen to their offers.

Carlson and his agent, Vic Vines, met with team officials for more than nine hours Monday, three days before the team must either re-sign him or make him one of their three protected players.

"I think this is a show of good faith by the Oilers," Carlson told the Houston Chronicle in Tuesday's editions.

"I feel they have made it clear to me for quite a while now that they want to keep me around if they can. But it's hard for me to say right now what will happen."

The length of Monday's meeting, attended by Oilers general manager Mike Holovak and team attorney Steve Underwood, may indicate that the Oilers are getting closer to keeping Carlson.

Carlson, 29, won four of his six starts last year while starter Warren Moon recovered from a fractured bone in his upper arm.

Lady Cards top W'brook

Hermleigh opened its first-ever girls' softball season Monday with a 16-12 non-district win over Westbrook.

Stephanie Buchanan went to the mound for HHS with the score tied at 12-12 in the top of the fifth and blanked the Lady Wildcats the last three innings.

"Things went pretty well," said Hermleigh coach Kelly Irvin. "All the girls who have never played before did a good job."

Hermleigh's offense scored three runs in the last of the sixth to put the game away.

The Lady Cardinals were led by starting pitcher Jennifer Herl who had a pair of inside-the-park home runs, three runs batted in and five stolen bases.

Catcher Connie Payne and Lori Anderson each knocked in a run, Bridget Moore had two RBI and Buchanan contributed three swiped bases.

The Lady Cards open District 1 competition March 8 against Merkel in the first of a 3-game home stand at Snyder's North Park.

Aggies upend 'Horns

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — It had been a long time since Texas A&M had been able to beat Texas, but the Aggies finally did with some help from the cold-shooting Longhorns.

The Longhorns were held scoreless for an 11-minute span in the first half and the Aggies routed Texas 77-57 in the only Southwest Conference game played Monday night.

David Edwards contributed the first triple-double in Aggies history with 12 points, 12 rebounds and 10 assists as Texas A&M improved to 9-14 overall and 4-7 in the Southwest Conference.

The Longhorns, led by Terrence Rencher's game-high 22 points, dropped to 9-13 and 3-7.

The Aggies put the game away with a 19-0 run that spanned 11:04 in the first half, helping turn an 18-16 deficit into a 35-18 halftime lead.

The Longhorns, who shot only 23 percent (7-30) from the field in the first half, missed 15 shots during the stretch. Texas shot 35 percent for the game to 59 percent for the Aggies.

Michael Richardson, who played juco ball for Western Texas College, added 15 points and Tony Watson 10 for Texas.

Chuck Henderson chipped in 16 points for Texas A&M, while Brett Murry had 13.

The first half provided several new lows for the Longhorns under coach Tom Penders, including fewest points and lowest shooting percentage.

"I have never had a team that went 11 plus minutes without scoring," Penders said. "We could not knock our shots down. Then, it is very difficult to come back when you get that far down.

"It is also hard to come back when you only shot 23 percent."

"At the half, I gave them the old 'The score is 0-0' spiel, but they aren't going to listen," Texas A&M coach Tony Barone said.

Barone credited Edwards with the Aggies' 41-22 rebounding advantage and their first victory over Texas in 10 tries.

"David did a great job of swiping those long rebounds after their long shots off to the side," Barone said. "This win is a tremendous boost for our kids. Any time you beat Texas is a big win, but hopefully this will propel us."

Dusters entertain CC in home finale

The Western Texas College Lady Dusters will try to use the momentum from Saturday's 100-91 non-conference win over Weatherford JC to help them get past Clarendon College in tonight's final home appearance of the 1992-93 basketball season.

The Dusters, led by five players scoring in double figures, topped the century mark for the first time since the semester break on Saturday.

"We played really well," said Duster coach Ron Jones. "The biggest difference was that we took care of the ball better than we have been.

"Against Odessa and New Mexico both, we didn't take care of the ball. (Point guards) Mary Ann Isom and Karyn Gabriel both did an excellent job of running our offense and keeping the turnovers down."

The Dusters, who converted 10 3-point shots in the victory over Weatherford, were led by freshman post Paulita Murrell. Murrell nailed nine buckets and was successful on a pair of free throws for a game-high 20 points.

Lameisha Roland, Isom and Allison Garcia each hit three 3-pointers and Gabriel hit one.

Roland wound up with 19 points, Isom and Garcia added 17 each and Peggy Huseman contributed a dozen.

Tuesday's game, rescheduled from last Monday because of foul weather in the Panhandle, begins at 6 p.m.

The Dusters, 14-14, wind up the 1992-93 campaign, their first under Jones, with a visit to South Plains College in Levelland on Thursday.

Four Top 25 teams are upset

by The Associated Press

Pitt was the pits and Tulane was terrible. Kansas ran into a hot home team and UNLV was upset in front of former coach Jerry Tarkanian.

All four ranked teams lost on the road Monday night.

No. 25 Pittsburgh shot 30 percent from the field and scored its fewest points in eight years in a 53-48 loss to Providence.

"What do you think? We set the game back about 50 years?" Pitt coach Paul Evans wondered at his postgame news conference.

Iowa State remained perfect at home by beating No. 7 Kansas 75-71. The Cyclones are 14-0 at Hilton Coliseum this season.

Kansas played without starting center Eric Pauley, who injured his left knee in pregame warmups. Patrick Richey started in Pauley's place and scored nine points before fouling out with 5:07 left.

Eddie Jones scored a career-high 29 points and Temple frustrated Tulane with a tough zone defense for a 79-57 upset over the No. 16 Green Wave.

"We just couldn't get anything out of our offense," said Tulane coach Perry Clark.

Idris Jones scored 25 points and UC Santa Barbara upset No. 13 UNLV 86-83 as Tarkanian watched from behind the Santa Barbara bench. It was the first UNLV game Tarkanian has seen in person since he left the school under a cloud of controversy at the end of last season.

In other Top 25 games, No. 18 Iowa beat Penn State 74-58 and No. 19 New Orleans edged Western Kentucky 71-67 in double overtime.

Iowa St. 75, No. 7 Kansas 71

At Ames, Fred Hoiberg and Justus Thigpen each made a free throw in the final 25 seconds and Hoiberg made a key defensive play for Iowa State (16-8, 6-5 Big Eight), which rallied from a six-point deficit in the second half. Kansas (21-5, 8-3) stayed in the game behind reserve center Greg Ostertag's 16 points. Thigpen led Iowa State with 17 points.

UC Santa Barbara 86, No. 13 UNLV 83

At Santa Barbara, the Gauchos beat the Rebels for only the fourth time in 29 meetings. Ray Kelly scored 11 of his 13 points in the second half and had 15 assists for the Gauchos (14-9, 7-8 Big West).

Temple 79, No. 16 Tulane 57

At Philadelphia, Temple (12-10) led all the way against Tulane (20-5), which shot only 37 percent from the field.

Henderson claims NAIA honors

SAN ANTONIO — Randy Henderson of Incarnate Word College won his third NAIA District 4 Player of the Week honor recently.

Henderson, the son of Ron and Betty Henderson of Snyder, scored a season-high 33 points on 15-of-16 shooting in the Crusaders' 95-83 victory over Texas Lutheran last week. For the week, he shot 84 percent and scored 63 points in the No. 4 Crusaders' two wins. Henderson added 30 points as IWC also beat Texas Weslayan 96-89.

The Crusaders are 23-1 overall and 5-0 in Heart of Texas Conference play.

Henderson, a 6-6 senior post, was also named to the GTE Academic All-America Team District VI last week. He is a graduate of Kerens High School.

SHS hosts Central in baseball opener

Senior Jeremy House will take the mound for Snyder as the Tigers open the 1993 baseball season at 6 p.m. today against Class 5A San Angelo Central.

The Tigers, 2-1, in their three preseason scrimmages, beat Sweetwater, 10-5, then handed a group of SHS exes a 6-3 loss before falling to Midland Lee, 21-1, on Saturday.

"We've got to get that one behind us," said SHS Coach Albert Lewis. "We've got to get back to doing what we did those first two scrimmages."

What those things include are hitting the ball well and committing few defensive errors.

The Tigers slammed 10 hits in their first two games, including a 2-RBI double by senior catcher Brad Hart and an extra-base hit and three runs batted in for outfielder Clint Wilson.

Central is expected to send one of two returning lefthanders to the mound against the Tigers. Either Allen Mow or Shawn Brown will probably toss the opener for the 'Cats.

Mow, considered to be the staff ace, accumulated an 8-6 record and a 3.25 ERA in 1992 when Central went 11-13-1.

The Bobcats' top returning offensive threat is first baseman Jason Smith who comes back after hitting .311 last year.

The Tigers, who have yet to play away from Moffett Field, will compete in the San Angelo Tournament Thursday through Saturday, then will host Big Spring Tuesday at 7 p.m.

A trip to the Big Spring tournament follows from March 4-6.

Snyder will host its own tourney March 18-20. District 2-4A competition begins for the Tigers with a visit to Lamesa on April 2.

Pro golfer Linda Craft loses battle with cancer

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — Professional golfer Linda Louise Craft has died following a long battle with cancer about a month after she was inducted into the Texas Women's Hall of Fame. She was 54.

Ms. Craft, of Jacksboro, died Monday in a Wichita Falls hospital.

She was one of seven women inducted into the women's hall of fame on Jan. 23 in special ceremonies in Austin. She was chosen for the award in athletics by Gov. Ann Richards, who called her an "inspiration to many Texas women."

"She battled cancer with the same tenacity she brought to the professional golf tour, and she refused to let that disease stop her from achieving almost everything she set out to accomplish," the governor said Monday. "I was honored to induct Linda Craft into the Texas Women's Hall of Fame last month. And her legacy will live on in that institution."

Ms. Craft played professional golf for 25 years, including touring the Ladies Professional Golf Association circuit during 1968-72.

A private graveside service will be at the Oakwood Cemetery in Jacksboro.

JV net squad falls to BSHS

A combined squad of Snyder JV and freshmen tennis players was able to take just seven of 20 individual matches against Big Spring Monday at Snyder Junior High.

No. 4 Calyn Coffee's straight-set 6-0, 6-0 victory over Chad Sinclair, a 6-1 decision by Brandon Kemp over Big Spring's Greg Gressett and a 7-5, 6-3 win over Patrick Heckler by David Beard gave SHS three of its matches in boys' singles.

Tiffany Jones and Kendra Helms were winners in girls's singles for SHS.

Jones beat Amanda Herrera, 6-3, and Helms topped Stephanie Arrick by the same score.

Snyder's boys took two of three doubles matches, including a 7-5, 6-2 win by Clay Koenig and Suarez over Suman Reddy and Brad Moore and Anthony Martinez and Kemp's 6-1, 7-5 downing of Sinclair and Gressett.

Snyder's JV will see its next action at the March 20 Colorado City Tournament.

Texas voters to decide May 1 on school bonds

AUSTIN (AP) — The May 1 statewide ballot will include a proposal for $750 million in state bonds to help school districts build and renovate facilities.

The proposed constitutional amendment won final approval Monday from lawmakers.

It will be decided by Texas voters the same day as a separate school finance proposal to allow the redistribution of some local property tax money from property-rich to poor school districts.

The property tax proposal is meant to meet a Texas Supreme Court order to equalize funding among school districts. Schools rely on state aid and local property taxes.

Supporters of the bond measure say the state also must help with construction in order to equalize public education funding, as sought by poor school districts in their successful lawsuit against the state.

"If we don't (provide school facilities financing), I am very fearful that we won't be out of court," said Sen. Teel Bivins, R-Amarillo, Senate sponsor of the measure.

Rep. Fred Hill, R-Richardson, wanted lawmakers to specify in the constitution that school districts would have to repay the state at least half the principal and interest on loans through the bond program. The House turned down that wording.

"What we're about to do here is set up a program that's going to give away $750 million of the state's money," said Hill, who voted against the proposal.

Bivins said separate legislation to implement the proposed amendment would require school districts to shoulder at least 20 percent of a project's construction cost.

That legislation also would earmark 75 percent of the bond money for property-poor school districts and 25 percent to rapidly growing school districts, he said. The school districts would have had to demonstrate a high level of local tax effort.

planted in pots and allowed to grow for a year to increase the chance of survival. After a year, they will be planted on public grounds such as schools, coliseum, parks and highways — mainly those which lead into the city.

In other business, council members signed a resolution to complete documentation concerning an Environmental Audit Report and discussed appointments to various city boards that will be coming up soon.

Present were council members Vernest Tippens, Jack Denman, Mike Post, Dayton Robertson, Mike Thornton and J.D. Smith. Mayor Williamson presided.

Landfill decisions before council also pay a distance fee, but their rates would go up proportionately to in-town residents, or about $10.

Cost of the project would amount to $861,500 annually, with a site life of 65 years.

The second option would make Snyder a regional landfill, accepting waste from Nolan, Fisher and Mitchell counties. The landfill would have an annual cost of $1,782,660 with a disposal cost of $42 per ton and an estimated life of 65 years. The new monthly fee for residential customers would be $15.13.

It should be noted that Mitchell and Fisher counties may be able to keep their existing landfills open by meeting minimum requirements under the new regulations. Scurry and Nolan landfills exceed the daily tonage requirement of the new regulations, and will be forced to comply.

An alternate plan under Option 2 would be to increase the aerial fill from 7 to 20 feet, which would increase the life to 37 years and drop the disposal cost to $35 per ton. The annual landfill cost would be $1,467,006. The new monthly fee for residential customers would be $13.50.

Option 3 would consist of closing the landfill and developing a city-owned transfer station. The solid waste would then be transported to BFI-Abilene landfill in Jones County. Total annual cost would be $875,170 with a disposal cost of $52 per ton. The new monthly fee for residential customers would be $17.27.

The fourth option would be to expand the landfill with an additional 200 acres, to increase the total acerage to 294 acres, and serve a four-county region. Total annual cost would be $1,452,518 with a disposal cost of $37.05 per ton and a site life of 127 years. The monthly fee for residential customers would be $14.01.

All the scenariosare based on a residential-commercial ratio of 62-to-38 percent, which is the current ratio. Those rates would drop to between $7-$10 if the city decided to alter the ratio to 50-50.

William C. Allanach Jr. and Jeffrey Arrington, who represented Freese and Nichols at Monday's meeting, made some board recommendations to the council. They suggested that if the city decides continue the operation of the landfill, the council consider taking in solid waste from the four-county area, study alternative liner operations and begin permit modification procedures quickly.

If the city decides to close the landfill, the representatives recommended performing a transfer station feasibility study, and examine its options with regard to selecting a company and a landfill to haul and dispose of the waste.

In response to a question from Mayor Troy Williamson concerning a timetable for the council's decision, Allanach said, "the sooner the better. I don't think you want to wait until the middle of the summer."

The engineers said it would be possible for the city to decide to go with the second option — taking in waste from a four-county area — and later modify to enlarge the landfill.

Arrington said that the council could consider a number of factors in making their decision, but that a decision would have to be made.

"If you do nothing, for six months or so not a lot will happen. But we expect that these regulations will be enforced and sites to be inspected. Those who are not in compliance will be severly fined and probably held up to example," he said.

Council members could make a decision as early as next Monday evening, when they are scheduled to convene in their March meeting.

Police work two mishaps

Snyder police worked a couple of traffic accidents and filed reports for criminal mischief and disorderly conduct Monday.

Police investigated a two-vehicle mishap at 9:09 a.m. in the 1900 block of College Avenue. Involved were a 1982 Ford pickup driven by Welcome Joe Ellington of 2217 40th St. and a 1986 Nissan pickup driven by Wesley Dabney of Rt. 3.

At 11:07 a.m., officers worked a three-vehicle accident in the 3800 block of Austin. Involved were a 1982 Mazda driven by April Lennox of 2605 28th St., a 1982 Ford pickup driven by Rodney Busby of HCR 67, and a 1993 Dodge driven by Lori Morin of Rt. 3.

Henry Valdez contacted police at 9:25 a.m. in reference to someone damaging a vehicle at Dupree Motors. A report for Class B criminal mischief was filed.

At 9:32 a.m., Snyder public school employees notified police concerning two Hobbs Alternative School students who had been fighting on a school bus last Friday. An offense report for disorderly conduct was filed.

Ernie Armstrong notified officers at 5:54 p.m. in reference to a damaged decorative yard light at his 1505 Augusta residence. A report for criminal mischief was filed.

In one other report, police received an open line 911 call from Snyder Child Day Care Center at 3:43 a.m. today. An unsecured door was discovered at the center. No intruder was located, however.

Oil industry, administration quarrel over energy tax plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oil industry criticism of President Clinton's proposed energy tax is to be expected, the White House budget director today. But it is not industrywide.

"As the president has pointed out, a plan that is bold like this is going to have a lot of special interest opposition across the board," Budget Director Leon Panetta said in reaction to criticism from the head of the American Petroleum Institute.

"Obviously, the oil companies are going to indicate great concern about any kind of energy tax," he said on "CBS This Morning."

API president Charles J. DiBona said Monday at a news conference that the tax would destroy 700,000 jobs, cost $35 billion in national output and hit the typical family with an additional $475 in costs a year — substantially higher than administration estimates.

But Panetta stuck by the administration's projection that families earning $40,000 a year could expect to pay about $120 more in taxes a year.

ARCO Chairman Lodwrick M. Cook supports the administration's plan.

"By spreading the cost throughout the economy as the president proposes, we believe that no single sector of the economy or region of the country will be unfairly burdened," Cook said in a statement.

Panetta called the president's economic plan, "the most progressive package we've seen since the 1980s."

Earlier, Treasury Department spokesman Jack DeVore said API's "figures are just not true." He said the petroleum institute apparently doesn't understand how Treasury economists made the calculations.

Clinton's overall tax plan would cost a typical family with income of $30,000 to $50,000 an average of $204, DeVore said. Lower-income families would see their tax increase wiped out by higher government benefit payments and tax credits; top earners would pay an average of $14,376 a year more.

For middle-income earners, most of the tax increase would come from the energy levy. High earners also would face increased income taxes.

The energy tax, which would take effect in three steps starting July 1, 1994, would tax fuels according to their energy content. The tax on oil would be more than twice as high as that on other fuels, amounting to $3.47 per 42-gallon barrel.

When fully effective, the administration estimates, the tax would raise the price of gasoline by 7 12 cents a gallon, home-heating oil by 8 14 cents, natural gas by 26 14 cents a thousand cubic feet and the average home electric bill by $2.25.

Treasury estimates the tax will take $29.3 billion a year from consumers when fully effective. But the net revenue to the government was estimated at $22.1 billion.

The oil industry said the tax would bring in $33 billion, or roughly 50 percent more than the administration calculates.

The reason for the differing estimates on total revenue from the tax is something called "income offset," DeVore said. This is a mechanism used by Treasury to predict how imposition of a consumption tax, such as the energy levy, will reduce collections of income taxes and payroll taxes.

A basic premise of the offset, DeVore said, is that in making the projections, the value of all the nation's goods and services — the Gross Domestic Product — must be kept constant through each of the years for which an estimate is being made.

Promises Are Made to Keep — Even at Brother's Deathbed

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1993 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I feel compelled to respond to a recent column in which Charles Piper chided you for encouraging a man to keep his brother's deathbed promise. The dying Ray had asked his brother to tell their grandparents that he was gay. Mr. Piper felt that the brother had no obligation to keep his promise. I beg to differ.

Mr. Piper's position was that (1) Ray should have told the grandparents himself, and (2) that for the brother to tell them now would "hurt" them. It can only be perceived as hurting them if one considers being gay as something shameful. Additionally, this truth-telling was important to a dying man for him to beg his brother to do so.

Mr. Piper told you that you "blew it." I disagree. He clearly feels that it is more important to hide Ray's truth than to keep the grandparents safe in their bigotry. Wrong!

Contrary to Mr. Piper, you did not blow it, Abby. In fact, you gave the brother excellent advice. You said, "At the end, Ray wanted his grandparents to know that a person can be decent, respectable and lovable, and still be gay." That is the central issue here, as is the honor involved in keeping our promises — big and small.

Bravo, Abby! Keep up the good work.

LINDA IN MILWAUKEE

DEAR LINDA: Thank you, friend. I needed that. There are still many people who do not know that being gay or straight is not a choice. If anyone doubts it, simply ask, "When did you choose to go one way or the other?" And how about bisexuals? When did they make that choice?

DEAR ABBY: I was born in Minnesota — Swedish on both sides. I grew up in Minneapolis and went to the University of Minnesota where I met the man I married — German on both his mother's side and father's side. He practically goose-stepped to the altar.

All of us Swedes were very affectionate. Lots of hugging and kissing. Don't ask me how I ended up with this German man who did not believe in hugging and kissing to the extent I enjoyed in my childhood. (In private, OK — but not even a peck on the cheek in public.)

Is this a matter of geography or genetics? I have a friend who claims it's geographical. She says people on the West Coast do a lot of hugging, practically on first meeting. And Easterners are not much into "contact" sports. They will sort of keep you at a safe distance — shake hands, but no hugging on greeting friends.

Maybe it's time to do a survey. What do you think, Abby? Are warmth and closeness inherited (or learned) traits? Or are they determined by the part of the United States you grew up in?

KISSY-TOUCHY SWEDE

DEAR SWEDE: No survey necessary. Overt affection is a learned behavior, learned at your mother's (or father's) knee, and possibly reinforced by local custom. There are "hot tamales" and "cold fish" everywhere. But one's emotional temperature is not geographically determined.

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to thank the man who ran over our cat on Jan. 25. I want him to know how deeply grateful I am for his courage in coming to our door to alert us. In doing so, he saved her life. We rushed her to the vet, who stabilized her.

If he had not found us, she would have suffered alone by the side of the road for Lord knows how long. I will always remember that act of kindness, and will do the same if I'm in a similar circumstance.

I wish I could find that guy and thank him from the bottom of my heart. I know how upset he was and I'm certain he'd feel better knowing that our cat is going to be fine.

Please sign my name and city. I'm hopeful he will recognize himself.

SCS Notes

By Michael Squires
Range Conservationist

Are you maintaining your windstrips as per your conservation plan? The plow up date for these windstrips is April 1st. These strips must be maintained until that date in order to comply with the requirements set forth by the 1985 and 1990 farm bills.

If you are having difficulty understanding these requirements, or find that windstrips aren't working for your operation, come by the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) office and let the staff assist you.

Terrace maintenance is just as important in the conservation plan as windstrips. It is permissible to destroy windstrips in order to maintain or improve existing terraces. However, if you plan on destroying these strips before the April 1 date you should call or visit the SCS office so that we may complete the necessary documentation.

It is always a good idea to rebuild terraces in a systematic method instead of all at once. However, we all know that sometimes heavy rains can beset the best plans. The bottom line is — protect the soil base of the farm. Conservation compliance at its most basic principle is to reduce the overall loss of soil which occurs due to wind and rain.

Residue management is another item that can easily be misunderstood. The reason for conservation cropping systems and crop residue use is to maintain a certain amount of crop residue (in pounds per acre) on or near the soil surface to reduce soil loss. Also, there are planting dates which must be adhered to when planting either windstrips or high residue crops.

There are provisions which allow you to adjust your plan to adapt to changing farm operations. Communication and understanding are the keys to successful planning. When you need to make changes in your conservation plan remember to notify the SCS office of the changes.

Noncompliance is an easy problem to avoid. Maintaining your program eligibility by following your conservation plan is much easier than trying to reinstate your eligibility. Remember the common denominator is to protect the soil base.

LEARNING WHAT HAPPINESS MEANS

Some of the most popular ideas about what makes people happy are incorrect.

Studies by psychologists have measured little difference in happiness between teenagers, males and females, the middle-aged and the elderly. Knowing whether someone is rich or poor, black or white, healthy or handicapped, does not make it possible to predict how happy that person is likely to be.

Generally people are as happy today as their parents were 30 years ago. Researchers say that external circumstances have little effect on psychological well-being. They agree that the following four inner traits foster happiness:

—Self-esteem Those who are happy like themselves. They protect themselves from anxiety and depression by feeling good about themselves. Those who believe positive things about themselves suffer less from ulcers and insomnia and are less likely to abuse drugs. They tend to be more resistant to pressures to conform and are more persistent at difficult tasks.

—Personal Control Americans who have a strong sense that they control their own lives and feel satisfied with themselves are twice as likely to be very happy as the national average. Those who agree with statements like what happens to me is my own doing or the average person can influence government decisions typically do better in school, cope better with stress and live more happily than those who lack that sense of personal control. Those given little control over their environment such as prisoners or even people in nursing homes suffer from lower morale, greater stress and worse health.

—Optimism Optimistic people tend to be healthier as well as happier. They suffer less from illnesses and tend to recover better. Positive thinkers get positive results, succeeding better in business than pessimists. However, unrealistic optimism can mak. people believe they are invulnerable and stop them from taking sensible steps to avoid danger.

—Socializing Those who are more sociable and outgoing tend to be happier and more satisfied with life than introverts. Extroverts are cheerful and high-spirited people who like themselves. When they meet strangers, they are confident the strangers will like them as well.

Entomology Report

By Mark Logan
County Entomologist

Do you remember the Alar scare in 1989? If you don't, let me refresh your memory. In early 1989, "60 Minutes" did a segment called, A If For Apple, which referred to Alar as the most potent cancer-causing agent in our food supply. "60 Minutes" worked behind the scenes with an activist group, the Natural Resources Defense Council (NRDC), to slap a primetime skull and crossbones on apples. As a result, parents panicked, apple markets vanished and Alar was withdrawn from the market.

"60 Minutes" used as a reference an NRCD report, Intolerable Risk: Pesticides in Our Children's Food. Before the CBS report was aired the EPA announced it would begin proceedings on the status of Alar. These proceedings would have given scientists an organized forum in which data on Alar could have been analyzed in a scientific manner. These proceedings never took place. The "60 Minutes" report created a circus-like atmosphere where Alar could not be properly evaluated, and Alar was voluntarily taken off the market.

In the three years following the "60 Minutes" report, scientific experts worldwide agreed that Alar never posed a health hazard. A quote from C Everett Koop, M.D., former U.S. Surgeon General "when used in the regulated approved manner as Alar was before it was withdrawn in 1989, Alar treated apple products posed no hazard to the health of children or adults."

One of the most important points we need to remember is to always consider the source of information and possible conflicts of interest. "60 Minutes" attempted to cover what it took for scientific debate the same way it would cover politics, with scoops, press releases, and attack interviews. Real science doesn't lend itself to this sort of coverage, partly because science is validated by peer review rather than promotion.

All this information is taken from a report from the Amerian Council on Science and Health titled Alar Three Years Later: Science Unmasks a Hypothetical Health Scare. If you would like to obtain more information on this subject, contact the County Extension Office.

Deliveries show modest gain for first month of year

Water deliveries showed a modest gain for the Colorado River Municipal Water District in January.

The 1,013,806,000 gallons sold to customers and member cities represented a 3.10 percent gain. Of this, 899,494,100 gallons went to municipalities, up 3.71 percent. Oil and industrial customers drew 113,311,900 gallons, down 1.49 percent.

By cities, the record showed Big Spring 137,934,800 gallons, down 13.93 percent; Midland 325,688,300 gallons, up 7.79 percent; Odessa 354,865,000 gallons, up 6.59 percent; Snyder 58,848,000 gallons, up 6.10 percent; Stanton 7,494,000 gallons, up 12.95 percent. Robert Lee and San Angelo together drew 11,674,000 gallons, whereas January 1992 they took only 3,532,000 gallons.

Double discount policy ends

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says growers who receive government loans to hold their crops for later sale will be penalized less for low test-weight corn.

The end of the "double discount" policy was announced Monday by Agriculture Secretary Mike Espy at a meeting of the National Corn Growers' Association in San Antonio, Texas. The department began notifying growers of the change Feb. 12.

At present, the crop loan rate is discounted just because of a low test weight. The rate can be discounted again because the corn is judged to be of a lower quality due to a grading formula that considers test weight.

Under the new policy, loan rates will be reduced by whichever is higher — the discount for low test weight or the discount for the lower grade caused by the low test weight.

The loan rate is what the government lends farmers per bushel to let them hold on to their crop until they can get a better price. The discount based on moisture content remains unchanged.

In 1975, the House joined the Senate in voting to restore the American citizenship of Confederate Gen. Robert E. Lee, more than a century after his death.

Low income applications...

Rural housing loans are made available

Rural housing loans for very-low and low income applicants are available through county offices of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), Donald W. Cradduck, FmHA County Supervisor, said.

Home ownership loans may be used to buy, build, improve, repair, rural homes and to provide adequate water and waste disposal systems. Homes may be built on individual tracts or in subdivisions. Funds may also be used to modernize homes — add improvements such as bathrooms, central heating, modern kitchens and other improvements.

Borrowers may buy an existing house and lots or buy a site on which to build a home. Loans may be made for up to 100 percent of the appraised value of the site and the new home. Interest rates for this type of loan are presently 7.75 percent with 33 year terms.

Monthly payments are subsidized with the amount of the payment dependent on the borrower's annual income. Homes will be modest in size, design, and cost but adequate to meet the family's needs. New homes average about 1050 square feet of living area.

In addition, Farmers Home Administration guarantees home ownership loans made to applicants of low or moderate income. Guarantees offer opportunities to families who are unable to afford a commercial loan without a guarantee. These loans may be made for up to 100 percent of the value of the property and are made for terms of 30 years. The interest rate is based on the Federal National Mortgage Association rate with a maximum loan amount in most counties of $67,500.

The Farmers Home Administration assists rural America by guaranteeing private sector loans and by providing temporary, supervised direct loans to farm and housing borrowers who have a reasonable chance for success, and whose current needs cannot be met at reasonable rates and terms by commercial sources. The agency is committed to excellence in providing its services.

Applications for assistance may be obtained at the Farmers Home Administration office located at 111-B North Garfield, Rotan, Tx. The FmHA office in Rotan is open from 8 to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Marketing costs drive up prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marketing costs have been the driving force in pushing up the price of food in recent years, an Agriculture Department study finds.

"While consumer food expenditures increased only 2.7 percent in 1991, food marketing costs ... rose 4.5 percent to $361 billion," said a report by USDA's Economic Research Service in Food-Review magazine.

The marketing bill includes costs associated with processing, wholesaling, distributing and retailing of foods produced by U.S. farmers and eaten by U.S. consumers, the report said.

"Over time, the marketing bill has been the driving force in food expenditure increases," it said.

Between 1981 and 1991, the marketing bill for food grew 75 percent, accounting for 78 percent of the cost of food, it said.

Rising labor costs have accounted for almost half the increase in the marketing bill over the decade, the report said.

Breaking down the 1991 food dollar, it said 22 cents was accounted for by farm value, 35 cents by labor costs, 8.5 cents by packaging, 4.5 cents by intercity transportation, 4.5 cents by depreciation, 4 cents by advertising, 3.5 cents by fuels and electricity, 3.5 cents by before-tax profits, 3.5 cents by rent, 3 cents by interest, 1.5 cents by repairs and 6.5 cents by other costs.

"Employment in the food industry grew only 0.13 percent (in 1991), compared with an annual average 2.5 percent rise over ... 10 years," the report said. "This small increase resulted from sluggish retail sales growth during the recession. Employment rose in food processing and distribution, but increases were much smaller than in recent years, particularly in eating places."

Average weekly earnings of workers in food processing rose 2.3 percent in 1991, slightly below 1990's increase, it said.

Before-tax profits accounted for over $15 billion, or 3.5 percent of the marketing bill in 1991. That amounted to a 6 percent increase in profits, compared with the 16 percent jump in 1990, the report said.

Shame on movies, records and TV!

A GRASSROOTS PETITION
TO THE BOARDS OF DIRECTORS OF ENTERTAINMENT INDUSTRY

Tell a friend about this ad!

We Are Outraged!

Help us get one million petitions!

We now have 803,616

And We're Not Going To Put Up With It Any Longer!

We're a group of mothers, fathers, grandparents and other citizens who are outraged at how today's movies, TV programs, music videos and records are hurting our children, our families and our country.

For example:

We're DISMAYED that today 1.1 million girls between the ages of 15 and 19 get pregnant each year.

We're SHOCKED when we learn that two thirds of all births to 15 and 19-year-old girls are out of wedlock.

We're FRIGHTENED at the way violence and crime are spreading everywhere and threatening our children, our families and our homes.

We say it's time to put the blame where we think it belongs:

SHAME on the Boards of Directors of music companies for letting singers who are the idols of our children put out RECORDS and MUSIC VIDEOS which blatantly encourage sex and 'say' to our children that sex is proper at any age . . . that everyone is 'doing it' . . . and abstinence is old fashioned.

SHAME on those in charge in Hollywood for an endless stream of films filled with PROFANITY, NUDITY, SEX, VIOLENCE and KILLINGS. For example, the giant hit "Basic Instinct" features murders during orgasms, setting a new standard of perversion even for today's movies.

SHAME on those at NBC TV for allowing "Saturday Night Live," a favorite with young people, to put on skits about masturbation, morticians having sex with dead people etc., etc., ad nauseam.

SHAME on TV directors for allowing the average child to see more than 200,000 ACTS OF VIOLENCE and 33,000 MURDERS by the age of 16 . . . even though directors KNOW that TV violence is implicated in 22% OF ALL JUVENILE CRIME AND HALF THE HOMICIDES in America.

SHAME on the directors in the film industry which long ago stopped reflecting the values of most families and has now abolished the "X" rating, replacing it with "NC-17," so sex-filled, erotic, bloody films will no longer be barred from community movie houses.

SHAME on TV soap opera producers whose standards of decency have sunk so low one of them tells his writers, "Hot, make it hot", and another admits they are trying to see "just how far they can 'push it' on daytime" . . . when they KNOW that during afternoon hours more than two thirds of all TV viewers are children!

Yes, we are OUTRAGED at all this ... and a great deal more. We say the tragic price our children, families and country are paying demands something be done to end what's going on. Alone we can't stop it. But together we think we can.

The REASON for all the sex, violence, filth and profanity is with the writers, directors, producers, singers, actors, etc. But THEY can be controlled. All it takes is for the Boards of Directors of their companies to order them to stop! Remember when movies were wholesome family entertainment? That's when people at the top SET STANDARDS AND ENFORCED them. We're going to insist that happen again.

We say it's UNCONSCIONABLE for the Boards of Directors to remain silent for the sake of PROFITS in view of the TRAGIC CONSEQUENCES.

Together We Can Make It Happen

We're asking every reader of this ad to help us run it all over America ... AND send in the petition on the right. Every 2 months we're going to send every member of the Boards of Directors of the entertainment companies a copy of the ad and tell them the total number of petitions received. They're going to KNOW American families are outraged.

Most Board members are not in the entertainment business. They are good decent respected people with children of their own. But they have been shutting their eyes to what's going on. We're going to get them to SPEAK UP.

Spare us the censorship lecture – you in the entertainment industry. And this is not an appeal for prudery. All we want is to get the movie, TV and record industries to act responsibly. Our children, our families and our country are being hurt too much for us to remain silent.

Right now mail the petition on the right. Please enclose a tax-deductible contribution to help pay for another ad like this. We'll do the rest.

All it takes is for enough of us who are outraged to ACT. Can we count on YOU? Mail the petition NOW!

SHAME on YOU, Directors, For Remaining Silent

Yes, I am outraged with the way TV, movies, music videos and records are destroying traditional family values and encouraging violence. I want to be part of this Grass Roots petition drive and help run this ad all over America. You agree to notify the Directors of the entertainment companies every 2 months of the progress of this effort, and you agree all funds will be used for running ads in other papers. With this understanding I am enclosing a tax-deductible contribution of $_____ to help pay for another ad and get those in charge to SET STANDARDS and ENFORCE THEM.

Please print legibly.

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

P. S. It is the total number of petitions which come in that is important. We will not give your name to the members of the Boards of Directors or sell or rent your name to any other organization.

Also: This project is so important that even if you can't send a contribution please mail in this petition to add to the total number we receive. Thanks.
