Demonstrators protest Soviet sub's violation

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Anti-Soviet demonstrators gathered in Stockholm and Copenhagen today, protesting the violation of Swedish waters by a Soviet submarine that carried Uranium-238 and probably was armed with nuclear-tipped torpedos.

The sub was released and turned over to a Soviet flotilla earlier in the day, ending a 10-day stalemate.

About 4,000 people gathered in Stockholm heard Socialist opposition leader Olof Palme declare: "It is inconceivable why Soviet military authorities would jeopardize friendly neighboring relations by an action which was sure to outrage the entire Swedish people."

He said the incident was a "frightening reminder how close we are to the precipice, how great the risk is for a nuclear war."

Palme demanded the Soviets withdraw all their nuclear-armed ships from the Baltic, or the "Sea of Peace," as the Kremlin calls it. "If the Soviet Union wants to strengthen its credibility there is hardly any other way," he said.

Hundreds of demonstrators milled around outside the Soviet Embassy, both in Stockholm and Copenhagen. Danish Prime Minister Anker

Joergensen said in a written statement that if the Soviet sub was cruising the Baltic with nuclear arms "it weakens the Soviet Union's credibility in the European debate on the limiting of nuclear arms."

"It also questions all that (Soviet) talk about the Baltic as the 'Sea of Peace.'"

The transfer of the Soviet sub capped the sharpest post-World War II diplomatic clash between the Soviet Union and its neutral Baltic neighbor.

The Swedish government released the aged Whiskey-class submarine No. 137 and its crew of more than 50 men at 10:25 a.m. — 4:25 a.m. EST — despite the disclosure Thursday by outraged officials that it was probably carrying nuclear-armed torpedos.

The sub was towed part way through the archipelago off Sweden's southeast coast, then cut loose, apparently because of worsening weather, to continue on its own power to the 12-mile territorial limit where the Soviet flotilla of 11 ships waited.

A minesweeper and pilot, two patrol boats, three torpedo boats and two anti-submarine helicopters escorted the sub on the two hour trip out of Swedish waters.

The commander of the Soviet Baltic

Fleet, Rear Adm. Aleksei Kalinin, was aboard a destroyer in the waiting flotilla. Swedish navy staff official Evert Dahlen said.

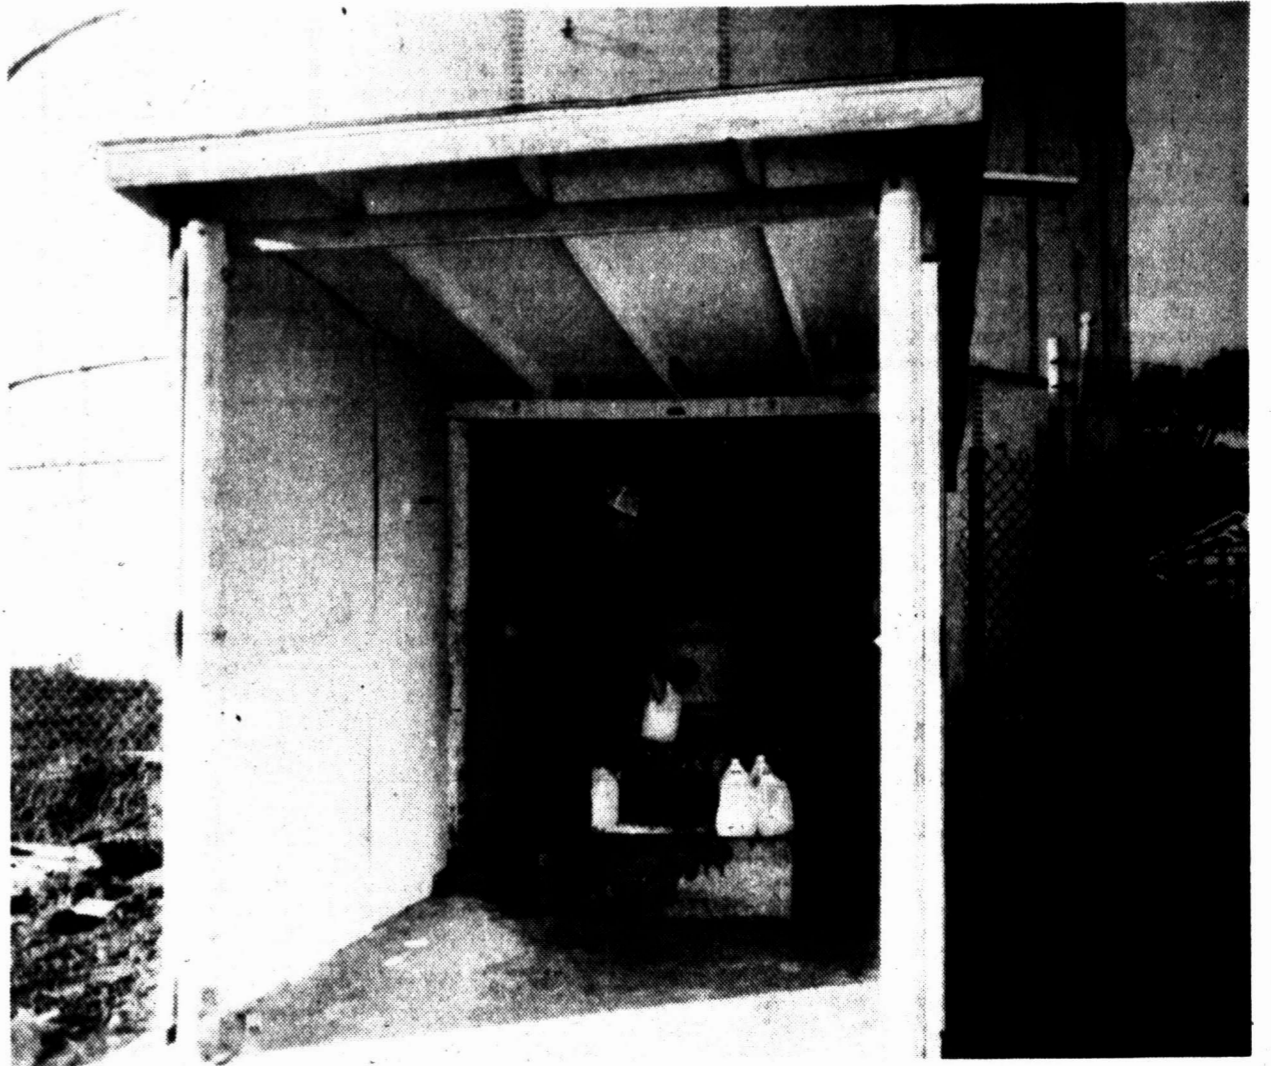

Nils H. Lundquist, the head of the Swedish Defense Research Institute, told reporters his organization concluded that the sub was carrying nuclear torpedos because of radiation measurements take outside one of the sub's torpedo tubes.

Gen. Lennart Ljung, the Swedish commander-in-chief, said there was as much as 22 pounds of Uranium 238 aboard, and it could have been used as a protective shield around U-235, a main ingredient in nuclear warheads. He said more information could not be obtained because the Soviets would not allow inspection of the ship's torpedo hold.

"Incredible! I can't understand why they would be so stupid as to enter Swedish inner waters with nuclear charges aboard," said Nils Gylden, a nuclear arms expert on the Swedish defense staff.

"The only reason I can see is that their system does not function yet."

Gylden said the nuclear torpedoes, a weapon which both superpowers have but about which little is known, probably are intended for use against large surface ships such as carriers.

Charles may be present at baby's birth

LONDON (AP) — Speculation grew today that Prince Charles, like other modern fathers, will be present when Princess Diana gives birth to their first child next June.

Buckingham Palace, which announced Thursday that Diana was pregnant, would say only that it was "possible" the heir to the throne would be present when his 20-year-old wife has the baby.

But the Times of London and other newspapers recalled a remark made by the prince last week when he and Diana visited a maternity ward during their tour of Wales.

When Shirley Bowen told Charles that her husband had been present at the birth of their daughter, Charles replied: "I think it's a very good thing for fathers."

News of the baby provided delighted Britons with a welcome distraction from their usual gloomy reports on the state of the economy, soaring unemployment, Irish Republican Army bombings and other ills.

Archbishop of Canterbury Robert Runcie, who married Charles and Diana on July 29, said: "The millions who were thrilled by the royal wedding now have something more to celebrate."

The Times commented: "It is a hard medieval saying, but the monarchy is an early medieval institution, the prime constitutional duty of a Princess of Wales is to produce a male heir."

The palace said it was too early to say where the baby would be born. Queen Elizabeth II had her four children at Clarence House when she lived there and then at the palace. Charles' sister, Princess Anne, and two other members of the royal family, the Duchess of Gloucester and Princess Michael of Kent, have had children in a private wing of St. Mary's Hospital.

George Pinker, the queen's gynecologist, will attend the princess, the palace said. Pinker has delivered several royal babies, including Princess Anne's two, Peter and Zara Phillips.

Charles' and Diana's baby will be the queen's third grandchild and will be second in line to the throne, after its father, whether it is a girl or boy. But if the baby is a girl, she will move one step down the succession ladder each time she has a brother, just as Princess Anne did when Princes Andrew and Edward were born.

The baby will be the first child born to a Prince and Princess of Wales since 1905, when Prince John was born to Princess Mary and the future King George V. John developed epilepsy and died at the age of 13.

Columbia undergoes oil change

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Technicians on round-the-clock shifts changed the dirty oil in Columbia's troubled power units today, hoping this would be enough to put the shuttle back on track for another attempt at launch next week.

If the units, which forced a scrub of the flight Wednesday, are flightworthy, the space shuttle could lift off as early as next Wednesday. If they have to be replaced, an attempt cannot be made until the following week, said launch director George Page.

NASA spokesman Mark Hess reported that the power unit work, which began Thursday night, was "going very well." But he said no decision on a new launch date was expected before Saturday, when analysis of the three auxiliary power units is to be completed.

Meanwhile, launch pad crewmen inspected the external fuel tank, solid fuel rocket boosters and other elements of the shuttle, making ready to start a renewed countdown at 11 p.m. EST Sunday if the decision is made to launch at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Minor repairs were done to a small area of insulation on the tank that was slightly damaged as a result of the loading of supercold fuels during Wednesday's aborted countdown.

Overpressure in two of the APUs, apparently caused by contamination that clogged filters, caused Page to order the launch attempt postponed with the countdown clock at just 31 seconds before liftoff.

The units power hydraulics that swivel the ship's three big engines on liftoff and control the movable wing surfaces on both liftoff and landing.

Engineers believe contamination may have occurred when lubricating oil mixed with either fuel or moisture to form a waxy substance.

The astronauts who will fly the mission, Joe Engle and Richard Truly — disappointed after waiting five hours in Columbia's cockpit Wednesday — flew back to their training base in Houston on Thursday.

Engle, the commander, said he and Truly were "going to get back into the simulator and polish up on ascent and descent."

DHR's case against Roloff resembles Pampa suit

BY DEBORAH BRIDGES
Staff Writer

While some may compare the Texas Department of Human Resources' (DHR) case against Lester Roloff and the Corpus Christi's Baptist Church to the DHR's efforts to close the Pampa Christian Academy here, some of the essential elements are totally different.

The major difference between Roloff and the Pampa Baptist Temple's Christian Academy is that the state protests Roloff operating a 24-hour child care institutions without a license, while the DHR here is protesting the operation of a day care facility without a license.

However, both civil suits are based on a central issue of whether the state has the right to control an activity sponsored by a church organization.

The DHR recently filed an appeal in the Travis County 200th District Court of the May 27, 1981 judgment denying the state agency the right to close three children's homes sponsored by the Corpus Christi's Baptist Church because they were operating without a state license.

Lester Roloff, pastor of the fundamentalist church in Corpus Christi, is the administrator of the Rebekah Home for Girls in Corpus Christi, the Lighthouse for Boys in Corpus Christi and the Anchor Home for Boys in Zapata, Texas.

Judge Charles D. Mathews of the 200th District said in a letter to the attorneys of the parties involved in the suit said litigation in the case had continued over a period of eight years. However, the civil suit was not filed until Oct. 11, 1979.

In the defendant's answer to the suit attorneys for Roloff said, basically, that their right to operate without a license is upheld by the United States Constitution. The defendants also say that by asking the church children's homes to be licensed, the state is violating the free exercise clause of the First Amendment, the due process clause of the Fourteenth Amendment and the Ninth Amendment.

The defendants say also that their rights under the state constitution are violated by the state's alleged controlling the rights of the church in matters of religion, by depriving the defendants of liberty and property without due process, by denying the defendants equality under the law and depriving them of their civil rights.

In his judgment, Mathews said, "A decision by this Court in favor of the defendants will in no way prejudice the State's powers with respect to other institutions. The State's power with respect to other institutions will be on another day and in another case, not in this one."

Mathews decided in favor of Roloff, saying that he understood the federal and the state constitutions and therefore, he denied the state's pleas on the basis that the requests would violate the defendant's rights.

In a statement of facts, the judge said the children's homes as shelters for the needy and rescue for children, were operated as an important part of the religious ministry of the People's Church and would not exist, otherwise.

The state describes a home that isolates the children, who are described as in a "terminal" state — social misfits, runaways, addicts, rebellious. In the atmosphere of the isolation, the children are approached with a "distinctively Christian" approach to discipline. And an attempt is made to turn the children from "sin" as treatment for their problems.

The judge said in his statement that mild corporal punishment was used in the homes, when all other means to discipline the child have failed.

The judge described clean housing and healthful food, and a decidedly "Christian" environment.

In discussing the operation of the licensing process, Judge Mathews mentioned that 240 separate minimum standards must be met by licensed child care institutions, with no standards developed for religious institutions.

Also pointed out in the statement of facts were that the homes had been kept under surveillance by the DHR, to the point that undercover agents attend worship services, and binoculars, tape recorders and spies were used to gain information dealing with the homes.

Beliefs of the church, stated in the facts, were that the church should not have to submit a yearly budget as required by the state since they "live by faith and depend on God for finances."

The church also objects on the prohibiting of belittling a child, as it would interfere with the religiously-based manner in which the children are taught to "recognize their sinful nature."

The children's homes operated by Roloff's People's Baptist Church and the day care facility operated by the Pampa Baptist Temple here have not been closed by the Department of Human Resources.

However, a similar institution the Faith Christian School, in Louisville, Neb. was shut down because the church school was not approved by the Nebraska Administration for School Management and Curriculum.

Again, a fundamentalist church is objecting to alleged state interference. This case, however, is being brought before the U. S. Supreme Court for a ruling that could affect both suits currently in progress in Texas.

UNITED WAY CAMPAIGN totals are checked by Mrs. Reed Echols at the Thursday United Way report meeting. The newest total reached in the campaign is $117,631. The United Way Goal for this year is $229,300. (Staff Photo by John Wolfe)

United Way surpasses $100,000

The United Way campaign reached $117,631 at Thursday's report meeting. The goal for this year is $229,300.

"Our final push will be coming this week with the final formal report Thursday, Nov. 12, from 4 to 6 p.m. at the First National Bank," Joe Gidden, drive chairman said.

"We are confident that most of the companies will have been completed by then and we will be near our goal," Gidden said.

Money may be turned in at the United Way Office any time in City Hall, second floor, or mailed to United Way, Box 2076.

Pampa's United Way funds thirteen agencies. These include the American Red Cross, Salvation Army, High Plains Epilepsy Association, Meals on Wheels, Senior Citizens Center, Warm Springs Rehabilitation Hospital, Community Day Care Center, Family Services Center, Southwestern Diabetic Foundation, U.S.O., Boy Scouts of America, Girl Scouts and Genesis House.

Nation's unemployment rate soars to highest in six years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The jobless rate soared to 8 percent of the labor force last month, the highest rate in nearly six years, surpassing the recession peak of 1980, the Labor Department said today.

More than 85 million Americans were out of work in October, the largest number of people without jobs since 1939. Department analysts noted, however, that the 8.5 million figure must be weighed against a labor force that has expanded sharply in the last four decades.

The Reagan administration, which had predicted unemployment would peak at 8 percent, said after today's report that "the rate could move somewhat higher over the next few months before declining as the economy strengthens in 1982."

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the rate rose half a percentage point, from 7.5 percent to 8 percent, from September to October.

And it said the unemployment rate among blacks reached 16.7 percent, the second consecutive record monthly high.

Although the jobless rate reached 8 percent overall, it was still far below the 9 percent high registered in May 1975.

Administration officials and other economists say unemployment will worsen as the economy enters its second recession in as many years.

"The October statistics reflect a substantial deterioration in the labor market," Janet L. Norwood, commissioner of labor statistics, said in testimony prepared for delivery today to the congressional Joint Economic Committee. "The negative signals from so many important indicators provide clear evidence of a substantial weakening in the employment situation."

Ms. Norwood said, "The number of persons working parttime because their hours were cut back or because they were unable to obtain fulltime work reached a record 5 million in October."

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said the administration plans no "quick-fix measures" to try to bring the rate down but will rely on Reagan's economic plan.

"The rise in unemployment is a natural short-term consequence of unwinding the deeply rooted inflation that is imbedded in the economy," Speakes said.

Later, James Burnham, a spokesman for the president's Council of Economic Advisers, said because of the new figures, the administration raised its jobless estimate for the recession. He said the forecast is for peak joblessness in the "8 percent-plus range."

Administration economists believe the recession will persist into the first half of 1982, but that a strong recovery should be underway by summer. The administration predicts the recession will be short and mild, but recent evidence suggests a longer and deeper one.

The October rate was the highest since the 8.2 percent figure registered toward the end of the 1974-75 recession, in December 1975, which was brought on in large part by the Arab oil embargo.

Unemployment had spurted from 7.2 to 7.5 percent from August to September this year, and overall black unemployment reached a record 16.5 percent in September.

Common Market criticizes US

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) - The 10-nation European Common Market today denounced U.S. plans to file anti-dumping suits against European steelmakers.

It also told the Reagan administration to stop blaming Europe for the woes of the American steel industry.

"The European Commission was extremely disappointed to learn of the intention of the U.S. Department of Commerce to take a step that could lead to countervailing duties against steel exports from France and Belgium," said a statement from the commission, the Common Market's executive branch.

Noting that the U.S. decision was made in the midst of diplomatic discussions on the issue, the statement added, "The American authorities preferred to take a dangerous and disputable path."

The Common Market was reacting to an announcement in Washington that anti-dumping cases would be filed against foreign steelmakers. Among them, according to the Commission, are Belgium and France.

U.S. Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige made the announcement Thursday at a meeting of senators from steel-producing states.

The foundation stone of U.S. steel policy is a trigger price mechanism system under which foreign steel exporters are theoretically barred from undercutting U.S. steel company prices.

In recent months U.S. Steel companies have charged that the system isn't working and have been pushing for legal action that would lead to countervailing duties to equalize American and foreign prices.

U.S. Steel Corp. dropped an anti-dumping suit against several European steelmakers in January, after the U.S. government strengthened the trigger price mechanism.

Since then, foreign steelmakers have improved their sales in the United States, capturing 20 percent of the U.S. market in August.

Canadian leaders reach agreement for an all-Canadian constitution

By CHARLES J. HANLEY
Associated Press Writer
Ten Canadian "Founding Fathers" - Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau and nine of the 10 provincial premiers - have finally patched together an agreement to establish an all-Canadian constitution.

But the process may give a boost to those in Quebec who want to shrink the nation by taking the French-speaking province out of the 114-year-old Canadian confederation.

Rene Levesque, Quebec's separatist leader, was the only premier to reject the accord reached Thursday, on the fourth day of a conference in Ottawa, after more than a year of wrangling between the federal and provincial governments.

The agreement calls for the British Parliament to surrender control of the colonial-era constitution after first inserting a charter of rights and a formula for ratifying future amendments.

The fiery Levesque, speaking in French on national television as the conference closed, accused his fellow French-Canadian and longtime political foe Trudeau of having "deliberately chosen to obtain the consent of the English-speaking provinces as a way to reduce the rights of Quebecers."

In an ominous statement to reporters later, he said the effect of a constitutional deal without Quebec's support "could be incalculable" for all of Canada.

Levesque denounced the charter of rights as an attack on provincial autonomy. Its guarantee of minority-language education, for example, would nullify a Quebec law restricting English-language education. He also opposes the charter's guarantee that Canadians can seek work anywhere in the country, a provision that would override provincial laws limiting the hiring of outsiders.

Levesque lost Quebec's last referendum, in May 1980, when he asked for authorization to take the first step toward making the province a sovereign nation. Sixty percent of the voters rejected the proposal, although the vote among the French majority - 5 million of the 6 million people - was split about even.

The PQ easily won re-election in a provincial election in April. At that time, Levesque indicated he might present the separatist option to the voters again in two or three years.

After an emergency caucus of his legislative group late Thursday, Quebec Liberal leader Claude Ryan called the Ottawa agreement a "breakthrough" but refused to endorse it unreservedly. Whether his party will continue its "common front" with the PQ will probably become apparent after the Quebec legislature convenes Monday.

The Canadian constitution now is the British North America Act of 1867.

U.S., Jordan military relationship complicated by Hussein's decision

WASHINGTON (AP) - The U.S. military relationship with Jordan is complicated by King Hussein's decision to buy air defense missiles from the Soviet Union, the Reagan administration says.

Hussein's decision, which took the White House by surprise, was confirmed Thursday by a senior State Department official after the Jordanian monarch ended four days of talks in Washington and left for Los Angeles.

The official, who briefed reporters on condition he not be identified, refused to discuss the nature of the Soviet weapons, reported to be SAM-6 surface-to-air missiles.

But he referred to the purchase as "limited to certain air defense items in the context of an essentially American-equipped force."

The deal is not viewed as a "major reorientation" by Jordan toward the Soviet bloc, the official said, and is not expected to interfere with "warm and cordial" relations established this week by Hussein and President Reagan.

Nevertheless, he said, a Soviet-Jordanian military relationship "could clearly complicate our relations in the defense supply field and we would just as soon we didn't have that complication."

Hussein said before coming to Washington that he would consider turning to the Soviets for arms if suitable U.S. weapons were unavailable. On Wednesday, he denied reports that Jordan might get $800 million worth of new Hawk anti-aircraft missiles from the United States, saying, "I wish to God that were true."

The king is said to have expressed interest during his talks here in acquiring improved U.S. mobile missiles and possibly F-16 fighter-bombers to offset what he sees as a threat from Soviet-armed Syria.

The State Department official said Thursday that Hussein was told that U.S. weapons are "potentially available" and added, "The United States intends to do what we can to assure that Jordan has a defense capability adequate to its needs."

Hospital slates diabetes meet for seniors

Coronado Community Hospital Monday will sponsor a special teleconference for senior citizens, according to Norman Knox, administrator.

The teleconference provides the senior citizen with an opportunity to learn about specific health problems directly from a physician specialist on a one-to-one basis.

"This is like a 'radio talk show', except that they are discussing some very important health conditions," Knox said.

Monday's teleconference, entitled Diabetes, will begin at 2 p.m. in the hospital Private Dining Room.

Coronado Community Hospital is presenting the teleconference series in conjunction with University of Texas Health Science Center in San Antonio, via a two-way radio network.

"We've had special telephone equipment and lines installed so you can ask the speaker questions and listen to questions and answers from health centers in other parts of the state," Knox said.

The focus of the health programs cover topics of particular interest to persons over 55 years of age, including stroke, depression, nutrition, allergies, diabetes, and many others.

Monday's guest speaker will be Dr.

Sam Miller, an endocrinologist. "This will be like being able to talk with your family physician to ask any questions you may have, and to have him explain about these diseases," the administrator said.

Other segments are scheduled every Monday or the remainder of November.

Family needs assistance

A bank account at First National Bank has been opened to assist a Pampa family whose young son has been diagnosed as having lymphoma.

The account has been opened for Joe and Nancy Richard. Joe Richard is superintendent of St. Vincent de Paul School and a deacon at St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church.

Their son, Joshua, who has been diagnosed as having lymphoma, is hospitalized in a Dallas hospital. A family friend said Joshua will require chemotherapy for one year.

The couple have four other children and moved here in July.

Those wishing to make contributions may contact Janell Cochran at First National Bank or Connie Largin at St. Vincent de Paul School.

Police use laser in nun's death investigation

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Analysis of evidence gathered from a convent bedroom where a 76-year-old nun was brutally beaten, raped and strangled has been inconclusive, but experts planned to resume testing today in an FBI crime lab in Washington.

"They have quite a bit of stuff to go through," said Capt. Jimmy Davis, head of the Amarillo Police Department's detective division.

Meanwhile, Amarillo authorities are using a revolutionary laser technique to find fingerprints of the killer who strangled the elderly nun on Halloween.

The newly developed argon laser unit, the only one in Texas and one of five in the United States, was installed at the Potter County Sheriff's department days after Sister Tadea Benz was murdered at St. Francis Convent on Amarillo's northeast side.

"The timing couldn't have been better," said Potter County Sheriff T.L. Baker, who convinced county officials months ago to purchase the $40,000 fingerprinting device at the discount price of $21,500.

Texas Tech University physicist E. Roland Menzel, who developed the device five years ago, worked Thursday with detectives who have had little luck finding fingerprints with traditional methods.

Menzel and investigators directed the laser's narrow beam of green light on anything the killer might have touched. Partial prints were discovered on a wooden-handled knife found in the bedroom where the nun was slain.

"We've found some prints, but this takes time," said Menzel.

Meanwhile, a newly formed investigative unit reviewed several sexual offense cases to determine if any are related to the weekend slaying of the nun.

A 77-year-old woman told detectives a man attempted to rape her in her downtown home the day of the nun's slaying. The woman had been beaten and was hospitalized following the attack, officials said.

The woman was taken to the office of the city's district attorney Thursday night to undergo hypnosis. Earlier this week, Amarillo Police Chief Jerry Neal said the woman had blocked all recall of beating.

The nun's slaying is similar to the July rape and murder of a 76-year-old Amarillo woman, police said. Officials said Thursday that black hairs were found at both women's bedrooms.

Authorities reviewed fingerprints of 47 Cuban refugees looking for a match to a partial print discovered on the possible murder weapon.

Officials said they also are questioning a Cuban refugee who was arraigned Tuesday on charges of burglary with intent to commit rape.

DELAY IN STRIDE. Astronauts Joe Engle, left, and Richard Truly Thursday talking with newsmen on their return to Houston from Cape Kennedy after their trip into space was delayed Wednesday. Three policemen arraigned in brutality investigation

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Three former McAllen policemen have pleaded not guilty to federal civil rights charges handed down by a grand jury investigating widespread brutality in the McAllen police department.

Two other former officers were expected to surrender for arraignment today or next week. Authorities are allowing the five men to surrender rather than be arrested.

The five policemen were indicted Wednesday, and U.S. Justice Department spokesmen and other officials said more indictments were possible.

"We don't want them to indict a couple of officers and make them scapegoats for what has happened over the past couple of years," said James Harrington, an attorney with the American Civil Liberties Union in nearby San Juan, Texas.

Harrington's civil suits against the McAllen Police Department spurred the federal grand jury's investigation.

The panel accused former police Sgt. Roberto Ramos and former officers Jaime Contreras, Alfredo Saldana, Tom Carter and Isidro Ybanez Jr. of beating, kicking and abusing some prisoners arrested between 1977 and 1979.

Contreras, Saldana and Ybanez all pleaded not guilty Thursday and were released on $10,000 bond each. Contreras and Saldana appeared before U.S. Magistrate William M. Mallet. Ybanez went before U.S. Magistrate Fidencio Garza Jr.

Pre-trial hearings for all three men were set for Jan. 4, 1982.

Grand jurors had a visual record of some beatings because McAllen police had videotaped bookings to protect officers against frivolous harassment suits.

The tapes — several of them broadcast nationally last spring — have been seen by two federal grand juries, an assistant attorney general in Washington, Texas legislators, and personnel in the Texas attorney general's office.

One televised tape recorded the Oct. 23, 1978, public drunkenness arrest of Pedro Dennett, who was seen being kicked on the ground, thrown against the wall and pounded against the booking desk. He could be heard moaning and screaming.

Astronauts return to Houston homes

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Astronauts Joe Engle and Dick Truly, who came within 31 seconds of piloting the shuttle Columbia on an unprecedented second voyage into space, say the disappointing delay was better than being "worried for five days" in orbit.

"Of course we'd like to have flown, but if we had a problem lurking in the bird that we would have worried about for five days and maybe have taken something away from some of the flight objectives, we're mighty glad that we found out and held off till we can get it fixed," said Engle.

He and Truly, who sat in Columbia's cockpit Wednesday morning when the countdown clock got to within 31 seconds of launch before problems stopped it, briefly addressed a handful of newsmen at nearby Ellington Air Force Base. They flew home from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Thursday afternoon.

"Here we are in friendly little Houston again," Engle quipped with a broad smile.

"We were both totally convinced we were going to launch," he said. "We were very surprised when the count stopped."

But Engle, the spaceship's commander, and pilot Truly did not say they were disappointed.

"The ground team knew what they were doing and we were confident that they did," Truly said.

Engle added, "We certainly felt like they did the right thing to hold the count up and make sure they knew what the problem was and get it fixed."

Engle said neither astronaut got tired while waiting in Columbia's cockpit five hours.

"We were both getting excited, so we didn't really notice any fatigue factor," he said. "We did notice that our backs started getting sore for a while but we didn't notice it as it got close to the count."

Engle and Truly arrived about an hour after their families landed here, and space center spokesman John Lawrence said even though the astronauts will remain in quarantine in hopes the launch can be rescheduled within a week, they will be able to spend the weekend at home with their wives.

But Engle said he did not plan to spend the next few days sitting around. "We're going to get back into the simulator and polish up on ascents and descents," he said.

Investment task force created

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements has set up a task force to find the best ways to invest state money.

Clements on Thursday named Don Houseman, owner of Houseman Realty in Dallas, chairman of the 25-member Governor's Task Force on State Trust and Asset Management.

Other members have not been named.

"I want this task force to review the investments of all public pension funds, major public endowment funds, public leased lands, and state treasury funds to aid in the long-term economic planning of proper management practices and sound public policies," Clements said in a release.

The governor wants a report from the task force by Jan. 1, 1983.

EVER STRIVING FOR TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

Pets are good for people

Do you have a dog that needs to be told twice to get off the couch?

Does your canary broadcast birdseed across the kitchen floor?

And your cat. Does it caterwaul for Special Kitty Treat at 42 cents a can, then stalk of disdainfully, leaving the food untouched?

Don't worry. All this sort of pet pampering is good for you health. A recent International Conference on the Human-Companion Animal Bond, held in Philadelphia, assures that pets can lower your blood pressure. Talking to your dog can be soothing, if not educational. Watching fish in a bowl is better than a couple of downers.

Pets are a big business in the United States. More than half the households in the nation include pets. The numbers are gigantic — 48 million dogs, 27 million cats, 25 million birds and other untold million of goldfish gerbils, gila monsters, gibbons and gopher snakes.

Yes, pets can be a pleasure — and their companionship can be good for your health and even your social life. Researchers say those who walk dogs are more likely to draw greetings from their neighbors — and perhaps an invitation to come in for a martini — than those trudging homeward alone.

Those who love their pets can be proud. Here's to their good health.

Schweitzer warning a fact or fiction?

Without a positive requirement that policy speeches be cleared by proper authority, there would be a multitude of conflicting voices coming from the administration in Washington. Thus, Maj. Gen. Robert L. Schweitzer was asking for trouble, when, without approval, he made his stark remarks about the imminent threat of aggressive war by the Soviet Union.

The White House, then, had no alternative but to transfer him back to regular Army duty from his vital post as chief military adviser on the National Security Council staff.

This much is readily understood. But some terribly worrisome concerns remain. Aside from his serious lapse from discipline that isn't expected from staff members of the National Security Council, what Gen. Schweitzer said is now the awesome issue.

The Soviets are on the move; they are going to strike. The United States, he said, "is in the greatest danger that the republic has ever faced since its founding days." And he warned of a "drift toward war" with the Soviet Union which, he said, has nuclear superiority over the United States.

Was the general merely being overly dramatic in what he thought was an off-the-record talk with his Army associates? Or, as he implied, was he willing to imperil his career in order to sound a warning that his conscience would not permit him to conceal any longer? And, if this be true, one is left to wonder what terrifying inside information Gen. Schweitzer possesses for such horrendous prophecy?

To be sure, the White House hastily disavowed the general's statement and stressed that the president and those around him do not agree. This was to be expected under the circumstances. Nevertheless, such a dramatically described threat to the survival of this country from such a reliable source is not to be laid to rest so easily. This is not likely to be the end of the Schweitzer matter. Nor should it be.

Windfall difficulties are no surprise here

Miracle of miracles — the federal government has decided the Windfall Profits Tax isn't working. That certainly comes as no surprise in the Panhandle.

Word of the dismal fate of this peculiar tax came down last week from Washington, via the Newhouse News Service. Writer Leonard Curry passed along the details: Proceeds to government from the tax are lagging by billions of dollars. Lower than anticipated prices for domestic crude, coupled with alleged cheating by major oil companies, have been cited by anxious Treasury Department officials. And the lack of income has thrown the administration's budget-balancing act into a tailspin.

Analysts are now saying the government will collect a paltry $28.2 billion from windfall profits taxes during fiscal year 1982 — $6.5 billion less than former President Jimmy Carter predicted, and $4.1 billion less than projected by the Congress.

First off, we thought President Carter's capacity to make accurate and sensible economic decisions had been well demonstrated by the time he left office. It is inconceivable that the Reagan Administration would be traveling under the speed of those figures.

Then there is the larger issue of Ronald Reagan and the windfall profits tax. We remember a statement made not so long ago by then-candidate Reagan during a campaign swing during the Permian Basin. The windfall profits tax was unreasonable, he said, and should be abolished. But as politics would have it, the tune changed when candidate Reagan became President Reagan.

When this newspaper's managing editor and publisher visited the White House for an August press conference, the official position on the tax had shifted. Reagan aides were saying loud and clear that windfall profits tax proceeds were a necessary ingredient for a balanced budget. Of course, there was no inclination to admit that any budget balanced with proceeds from so illogical a source was not really balanced at all.

The call for repeal of windfall profits taxes has been repeated time and again in this part of the country. The Permian Basin has a crucial stake in America's economic future, by virtue of the area's heavy oil and gas activity. It has become apparent that the so-called windfall profits tax makes no more than a tiny dent in the big oil companies. But before exclusions for royalty owners were properly enacted as part of the Reagan tax package, windfall profits played havoc on the financial condition of the little guy — the individual royalty owners who were hard hit.

There's no way for the government to win this one. Windfall profits taxes should be dropped immediately. The federal budget should sink or swim under its own steam, and not be dependent on artificial revenue sources cooked up by a former administration.

Pushing for total repeal of this particularly obnoxious tax would be more in keeping with the goals expressed by the Reagan administration from the very beginning.

By OSCAR COOLEY

The people who rule the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics have an entirely different global philosophy than Americans have. We believe in freedom; they in power and domination. We want every nation to be independent and to choose its own course. They want every nation to be ruled by Communists. Call them Socialists, in either case they are robots of Marxism. They foresee a single world state, Marxist in Nature.

Not just militarily but ideologically, the United States and the USSR are antagonists. The Soviet do not wish us well. They "would do us in if they thought they could with acceptable damage to themselves," said Malcolm Toon, our former ambassador in Moscow, in an address at Hinsdale College.

Does it follow that Soviet Russia will attack the U.S. in the near future? Our Major General Robert Schweitzer recently warned that the Russians are "on the move," are "going to strike." For speaking out of turn, he was promptly demoted.

Brezhnev might reason that they could overwhelm us with a sudden nuclear blitz, but such a holocaust would horrify the rest of the world and alienate any possible friends the Soviets may have. An attack with conventional weapons would not win an immediate victory, and the Soviets know they are not in a position to fight a long war successfully. The U.S. has immensely more resources for such a war than has Russia. Hence, such an attack is unlikely.

We Americans think we have internal troubles — economic recession, inflation, unemployment, stratospheric interest rates — but Soviet Russia, I am guessing, has more. She does not advertise them. Her large imports of grain from Argentina and the United States indicate that all is not well in a nation that traditionally has been a bread-basket of the world. Their poor crops are said to be due to drought. Perhaps. But this drought, so the story goes, has cut Russia's crops for three years in a row, an unbelievably long drought.

Soviet Russia is suffering from drought not so much of rainfall as of freedom and incentive to produce. Her greatest enemy is Communism itself, which dries up the energy and initiative of any people who embrace it. Why produce, either on farm or in factory, when an implacable government stands ready to seize and possess your product, measuring out to you barely enough to exist on? Why sweat and strain when you know you will not be paid in proportion to your effort?

In capitalist countries, when drought reduces the grain crop the market price rise, causing people to save every bushel, and to store grain for the future. Under Communism, there is no such response. Extra elevators are not built to store the grain. Dryers are not made to enable drying and preserving the grain that needs it. Millions of tons of grain, it is reported, go to waste yearly in the Communist utopia because of lack of facilities.

Poland, also Communist, is in the throes of civil strife due to lack of food and fuel. Yet Poland is rich in farmland and coal mines. The uprising of workers which gave birth to the independent union, Solidarity, can be explained only as a rebellion against Communism and its results. The Poles are less stolid and submissive than the Russians.

Instead of a frontal assault on the capitalist West, the Soviet policy is to subvert, or conquer, one small country — Cuba, Angola, Afghanistan — after another and bribe them to fight Russia's foreign wars for her. It is cheaper — and less risky.

Today in history

Today is Friday, Nov. 6, the 310th day of 1981. There are 55 days remaining in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On Nov. 6, 1968, the Vietnam peace talks began in Paris.

On this date: In 1942, a tidal wave killed 10,000 in Bengal, India.

In 1962, the United Nations General Assembly called for economic sanctions against South Africa because of its racial policies.

In 1974, the Soviet Union called for Palestinian statehood as part of any Middle East settlement.

And in 1977, a dam collapse drowned at least 38 people in a trailer camp outside Toccoa, Ga.

Ten years ago: The controversial Amchitka, Alaska, nuclear bomb test was carried out after the Supreme Court refused to order a delay.

Five years ago: Guerrilla warfare in Rhodesia was endorsed by leaders of neighboring black African countries.

One year ago: President-elect Ronald Reagan held his first nationally-broadcast news conference since his election.

Today's birthday: Baseball star John Candelaria is 28.

"I THOUGHT THIS GUY WAS PRO-BUSINESS!"

Transit system is crumbling

By ROBERT WALTERS

WASHINGTON (NEA) — "Don't cross the bridge 'til you come to it," Henry Wadsworth Longfellow sagely advised more than a century ago — but if he were alive today, Longfellow might find the span in danger of collapse when he arrived.

In fact, several recent authoritative studies suggest that the nation's entire public transportation system — its highways, bridges, railroads, pipelines, air terminals and commercial waterways — is rapidly deteriorating.

"The United States is seriously under investing in (its) public infrastructure," warns the Council of State Planning Agencies in a report of... public facilities has been deferred," the report adds. "Replacement and rehabilitation of obsolescent public works have been postponed. New construction has been canceled, delayed or stretched out."

The American Transportation Advisory Council, a coalition of business organizations and trade associations, says the country's highway system is wearing out at an annual rate 50 percent faster than it is being repaired or replaced.

One of the most important sources of revenue for highway construction and maintenance, the federal gasoline tax, has not been increased since 1955. The highway Trust Fund currently has an $11 billion cash balance, but federal officials estimate that an expenditure of $14 billion annually is necessary for maintenance.

The number of passengers carried by scheduled airlines is expected to double during the coming decade, but airports in many cities already are incapable of efficiently handling current passenger traffic.

The capital outlays of the nation's railroads have exceeded internally generated funds every year since 1962, thus adversely affecting the industry's ability to finance necessary improvements says the advisory council.

A massive infusion of $623 billion in public and private funds will be required during the 1980s, the council estimates, to sustain the efficient operation of the country's transportation system.

Serious deterioration of the highway network, including the relatively new interstate system, has been compounded by escalating construction and maintenance costs and increasingly tight budgets at all levels of government — local, state and federal — says the General Accounting Office.

Nowhere is the crisis more readily apparent than in the dismal condition of the country's 514,000 bridges, approximately 75 percent of which were built before 1935.

More than 3,700 of those spans have been closed because of life-threatening structural deficiencies, while almost 87,700 suffer from "overall structural conditions... rated critical or basically intolerable," warns the GAO.

The total number of structurally deficient or functionally obsolete spans exceeds 200,000 — almost 40 percent of all the nation's bridges — according to the GAO.

The December 1967 collapse of the Silver Bridge spanning the Ohio River between Ohio and West Virginia killed 46 people, focused nationwide attention on bridge safety and inspired congressional action to solve the problem.

But after the passage of almost 14 years and the expenditure of more than $4 billion in federal funds, the situation remains intolerable.

A complete inventory and inspection of all bridges still has not been completed, some inspectors are unqualified to perform their assigned tasks and structurally weak spans are not always closed, the GAO says in a new report.

Exciting Plans for 'Silly Putty Metal'

By PAUL HARVEY

Laboratory researchers have been amused and fascinated for 20 years by a "silly-putty" metal called Nitinol.

This is the doggoneest stuff! It's a nickel-titanium alloy which at room temperature is strong as steel.

Dunk it in cold water and it turns soft and pliable.

Bend it — and it stays bent.

But then...

Dip it in hot water — and it "comes to life" in your hands.

What earthly good is a piece of metal that won't hold its original shape, rigid?

What good is that?

That's what researchers have asked themselves about Nitinol since naval researchers discovered it by accident in 1958.

A Navy scientist had just lit his pipe and the heat from his lighter caused a nearby piece of crumple Nitinol wire to spring out straight.

But, so what?

So Nitinol remained a scientific curiosity, nothing more.

Until some other scientists at Lawrence Lab in Berkeley determined that the miracle metal, with only a change in temperature, can release a force as great as 50 Tons Per Square Inch!

Now, "Science Digest" tells us, they have harnessed that energy to create a working model of a Nitinol engine.

A wheel with extended loops of Nitinol wire rotates through a bath of hot water. As the heated loop snaps open it pushes the wheel. Then the heated loop cools, relaxes, in time for the next rotation.

Nobel laureate Edwin McMillan witnessed what he sensed was a historic demonstration, made some hurried calculations, determined that this engine — however primitive — was producing half a watt of mechanical power.

The machine was kept running continuously with no evidence of metal fatigue; it became more efficient rather than less.

Now we have much more complex and powerful Nitinol engine prototypes. They work; we still don't know why.

But as surely as we have learned to apply electricity without knowing what it is, so we are learning to adapt Nitinol to the generation of energy.

Four hundred reports of separate worldwide Nitinol research projects have been submitted and more are being prepared.

More than 100 patents have been granted or are pending.

Nitinol's response is unique in thermodynamics.

Unlike any other substance we know of, the force needed to bend Nitinol when it is cold is much less than the force it releases when it goes straight again.

In other words, it produces more energy than it consumes — cleanly, safely, endlessly.

Perpetual motion at long last? If you like.

You'll be hearing more about Nitinol — lots more!

No NATO warning shot plan, officials say

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration is acknowledging that NATO has discussed firing a nuclear warning shot to discourage the Soviets if war breaks out in Europe but says the idea "has never been translated into a military plan."

In a carefully worded statement Thursday, the administration sought to reconcile contradictory statements by Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. and Secretary of Defense Caspar W. Weinberger on whether such a plan exists.

Haig said it did; Weinberger said it didn't. "Both are right," the administration statement said.

"Secretary Haig was correct in noting that demonstrative use is an option that has been considered by NATO," it explained. "Secretary Weinberger was correct that this option has never been translated into a military plan."

It wasn't clear, however, if the statement would dispel growing expressions of anxiety over what many Europeans interpret as warlike statements from Washington at a time when the United States wants to deploy medium-range nuclear missiles in Western Europe.

Haig, a former NATO commander, told Congress on Wednesday that a NATO contingency plan called for firing a nuclear weapon "for demonstrative purposes" if conventional war broke out in Europe. But Weinberger declared Thursday that he knew of "absolutely nothing in any plan that even remotely resembles that."

David Gergen, the White House spokesman, said neither man was in error and that they discussed the nuclear warning issue before Weinberger's testimony Thursday to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

In a statement prepared by the Defense Department, the administration tried to clarify the apparent discrepancies.

Reagan has strong confidence in Allen, Haig; feud closed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan considers bickering within his foreign-policy team a closed book and has "strong confidence" in both Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. and national security adviser Richard V. Allen, a White House spokesman says.

The president met with Haig and Allen in the Oval Office for an hour Thursday and told them that "internal criticisms" must cease. White House spokesman David Gergen said.

"The president told them he wanted to ensure that the matters of the past few days are closed," Gergen said. "He also discussed with them ways to make the foreign policy apparatus of the government work better and ways to stop any internal criticisms," Gergen said. "The White House considers the matter closed."

The session was described by Gergen as "a friendly conversation about foreign policy operations. The president also reaffirmed his strong confidence in them and in his entire foreign policy team."

The meeting, which Gergen said involved only the three men, was called by the president in the wake of charges by Haig this week that a White House aide was waging a "guerrilla campaign" to discredit him.

Staff discord is nothing unusual

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is nothing unusual about the discord between Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. and the unidentified White House official he accuses of waging "a guerrilla campaign" to undercut his influence.

There was no end of friction before Henry A. Kissinger took the dual role of secretary of state and national security affairs adviser under Richard M. Nixon. And there has been plenty of friction since, no matter the administration or the personalities involved.

It is widely assumed that Haig's hassle is with Richard V. Allen, President Reagan's assistant for national security affairs. That's what they're saying, albeit anonymously, at the State Department. Allen says they are wrong and that Haig knows it. "I know it is not I, and Haig knows it is not I," he said.

Assuming that is so, there would seem to be a problem at the White House, since a bureaucratic guerrilla is saying bad things about the secretary of state and nobody seems to know who it is.

Reagan's spokesmen say the president doesn't know and isn't trying to find out. "He has put the matter to rest," said David Gergen.

It would rest easier if Haig had not sent his spokesman, Dean Fischer, to confirm publicly that he believes somebody in the White House is out to get him. Fischer would not say whom Haig suspects.

Thus Haig validated the reports which Reagan calls unfounded and potentially destructive. It is not the first time Haig has gone public with a complaint about White House matters.

And for all Reagan's expressions of confidence in his secretary of state, he has acted before to cut short power struggles among aides. That's what led him to fire his 1980 campaign manager, John P. Sears.

The latest Haig controversy began with a report by columnist Jack Anderson that Reagan was disappointed in the secretary of state, had lost confidence in him and might replace him by next summer.

White House aides learned of the column before it was due to be published. Haig and Reagan both called Anderson. Reagan said it wasn't so. Haig said the report of presidential displeasure was "the handiwork of a top White House aide, who has been running a guerrilla campaign" against him since the earliest days of the administration.

Anderson published those comments and on Tuesday, Fischer publicly confirmed that Haig had made the statements.

Reagan said such reports were damaging U.S. dealings abroad. Haig echoed that in congressional testimony Wednesday.

A columnist's assertion that Reagan is down on Haig is one thing. A secretary of state's claim that somebody high in the White House is out to get him is quite another.

Elegance by any other name is Winchester Square by Pulaski not too rustic for city living; not too chic for country— Winchester Square is a tradition adapted to today's American living. When space is important and furnishings must be versatile, Winchester Square is the one choice of comfortable elegance.

Choice oak veneers and carefully selected hardwood solids combined with lustrous brass, natural woven cane, and sparkling glass set the mood of Winchester Square. Adaptations of proven design features to today's room sizes and living styles make Winchester Square a pacesetter for country or city living. See for yourself the versatility and quality. REV. WILLARD TEAGUE AND FAMILY

Missionary guest speaker at Bethel Assembly of God

"A great challenge to the church in Ivory Coast, West Africa, is the training of national leadership," says the Rev. Willard Teague.

"Ours is a constant problem of the Church - the need for more workers," Teague said.

Teague, an Assemblies of God missionary to Ivory Coast, will be guest speaker Sunday, Nov. 8, in the 11 a.m. Worship Service, at the Bethel Assembly of God, Hamilton at Worrell Streets. Reverend Paul DeWolfe, pastor has announced.

Teague and his wife, Jerlene, have worked in Ivory Coast since 1971. They have been involved in evangelistic ministry, establishing new churches, and Bible school work. They also teach at the Ministers Institute in San Pedro, Ivory Coast.

Teague is chairman of the Association of Theological Education of West and Central Africa and is chairman of the Board of Governors of the Assemblies of God West African Advanced School of Theology in Lome, Togo.

The Teagues also work with the International Correspondence Institute (ICI) in Ivory Coast; ICI is a home-study Bible school sponsored by the Assemblies of God from 1976 to 1980.

Prior to missionary appointment the Teagues pastored in Headton, Okla., and traveled in evangelistic ministry in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Teague holds a B.S. degree from Southwestern Assemblies of God College in Waxahatchie and a M.A. degree from the Assemblies of God Graduate School in Springfield Mo. He is also a graduate of Lemania College, Lusane, Switzerland in French Studies and has studied at the Brite Divinity School of Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, and the Phillips University Graduate School in Enid, Okla.

On returning to the Ivory Coast, the Teagues' primary ministry will be directing the pastoral and Christian education programs for the Ivory Coast Assemblies of God, including mobile teaching assignments to various training centers in major cities. They will also work with ICI and conduct evangelistic meetings.

Pastor De Wolfe invites the public to attend this special missions service.

JIMMY HODGES

Guest evangelist to appear

Jimmy Hodges, internationally known Music Evangelist, will be in concert Sunday at 7 p.m. in the Central Baptist Church.

Hodges is a recording artist and composer and has been a featured soloist in more than 600 crusades in the United States, Europe, Asia, Africa and the Caribbean Islands.

The public is invited.

Revival at Bethel Assembly

Rev. and Mrs. Jackie Thompson of Hereford will be conducting revival services at Bethel Assembly of God, beginning Monday and continuing through the following Sunday.

Before entering their evangelistic ministry, the Thompsons pastored churches in Oklahoma and West Texas. For a number of years they traveled across Texas in behalf of the Pleasant Hills Children's Home in Fairfield, a home for abused and underprivileged children operated by the three Texas Districts of the Assemblies of God.

The public is invited to attend this week of special services nightly at 7:30 p.m. the church is located on the corner of Hamilton at Worrell Streets.

Silent auction bazaar planned

The United Methodist Women will hold a Silent Auction Bazaar and a turkey Harvest Dinner on Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. in the Lively Fellowship Hall in the First United Methodist Church.

Proceeds from the Silent Auction will go to the Pampa Community Day Care Center.

The public is invited to attend both the Silent Auction and the Harvest dinner. Tickets may be purchased at the church office through Tuesday or by calling 669-7411.

Bazaar table items will include baked goods, hand-made items, arts and crafts, Christmas articles and white elephants.

Congress on Bible set

Until this time, the International Council on Biblical Inerrancy and their definitive work of stating to what degree the Bible is inspired has been known chiefly to theologians.

In October of 1978, 284 theologians and Christian leaders gathered in Chicago to work out a statement which served to give an understanding of how to delineate the roles of God and man in the writing of the Bible.

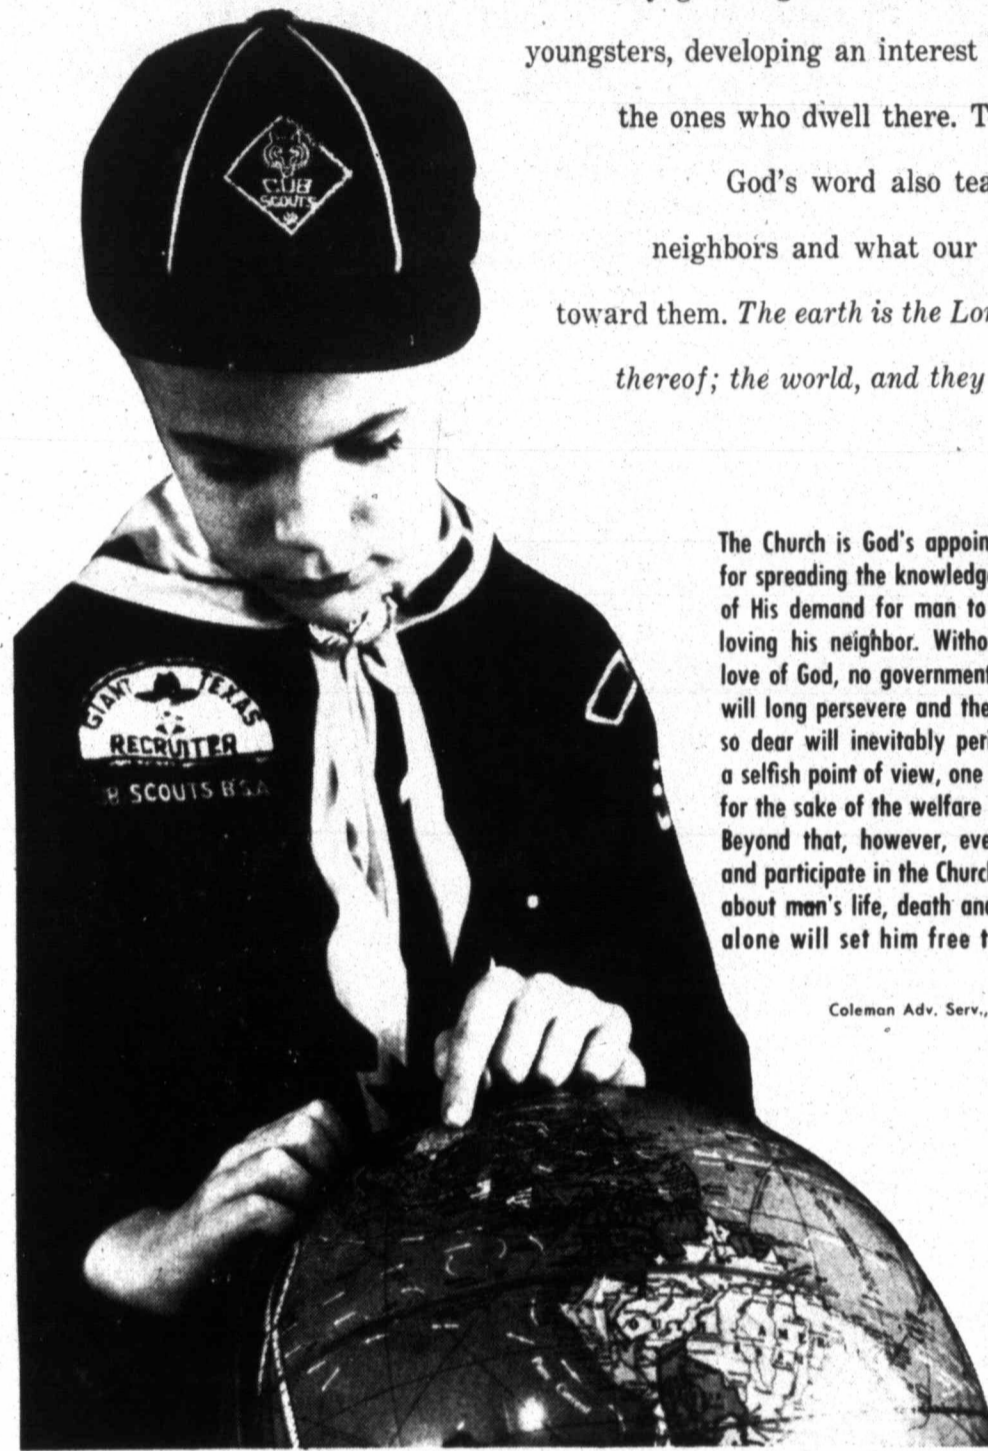

They forged a 4,825-word document called "The Chicago Statement on Biblical Inerrancy" that has become a significant part of contemporary church history and a factor in all theological discussions.

A Bible conference has been planned in San Diego to be held at the Convention Center, March 3-6, 1982.

The Congress on the Bible, as it is called by the sponsors, is a "By invitation only" event which will feature the leading theologians and missiologists of North America.

Join Us In Worship IN THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE WORLD WIDE INTEREST

Coleman Adv. Serv.

Many good organizations are working with our youngsters, developing an interest in other lands and the ones who dwell there. The church through God's word also teaches us about our neighbors and what our attitude should be toward them. The earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Dear Abby

Facts will serve child better than fiction

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: How does one explain "Daddy" to a 3-year-old child who has never known her father and in all probability never will?

She's a bright, perceptive, warm, loving child, and although she has never actually asked, "Where is my daddy?" the time is near when we must explain this to her.

We are her grandparents and are raising her. Her mother (our eldest — age 23) is unable to provide a stable home for her at this time due to an alcohol-drug problem that she is attempting to resolve through counseling and A.A. (She is also gay.)

Our grandchild talks to her mother on the phone once a week and sees her about once a month. Her "daddy" is a man our daughter knew casually and never married. He doesn't know about the child and our daughter doesn't want him to know. She says she never wants to see him again, doesn't know where he is and probably couldn't locate him if she tried.

Abby, we love this child dearly, but need to know what to tell her. Can you suggest an explanation that would be appropriate for a 3-year-old?

MISSOURI GRANDPARENTS

DEAR GRANDPARENTS: Stick to the truth, as cruel as it may seem. Inasmuch as the child's father doesn't even know she exists, and the child's mother has no intentions of locating him, simply tell her that you don't know where her father is. (None of this, "Daddy is far away and is coming back one day.") Do not say that he is "dead," because he may surface one day.

As the child grows older she can be told that her parents were not married. It will be easier for her in the long run if she grows up knowing the facts. She may feel cheated, but she will never feel deceived.

DEAR ABBY: I suppose this will sound like a dumb (or made up) letter coming from a 23-year-old married woman, but it is a very real problem, and if I asked other people they would think I was crazy.

I'm happily married to a very sweet guy (he's 27) who I thought I knew well, but I got the surprise of my life on our honeymoon. This 6-footer is afraid of the dark! When he goes to sleep at night, he has to have a light on in the bathroom with the door half-open so he won't be in total darkness! Abby, I can't sleep with the room half-lighted, but he can't sleep if it's dark.

Don't suggest separate bedrooms. I enjoy cuddling and falling asleep in his arms. Can you, or any of your readers, come up with a solution? Don't use my right name. He'd never live it down.

SLEEPY-TIME GAL

DEAR SLEEPY: You have two choices: Eye shades for you, or behavior modification for him. The latter will mean some sessions with a therapist who will try to condition your man to tolerate darkness slowly by degrees.

DEAR ABBY: Is it correct to be addressed "Mary Jones" (not my real name) now that I am a widow? I do not know if etiquette has changed, but it has really upset me! I want to be addressed as "Mrs. Richard Jones," but how can I tactfully let my friends, lawyer, banks, etc., know this without offending them?

I think it is a shame for people to drop the "Mrs." After all, I was a very happy "Mrs." for 49 years, so why do friends and other people immediately address my mail to "Mary Jones"? I am not a divorcee, and I do not want to forget that I was ever married. And I also dislike being addressed as "Mrs. Mary Jones." Please print your answer, as I am sure there are lots of people who need to learn this.

MRS. RICHARD JONES

DEAR MRS. JONES: You are Mrs. Richard Jones as long as you live — unless you marry again. And please do not hesitate to correct those who address you incorrectly.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. Write to Abby, 12060 Hawthorne Blvd., Suite 5000, Hawthorne, Calif. 90250. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

At Wit's End

Erma Bombeck

Someone who has wisely remained anonymous once said that children are like waffles. The first one should be used to season the grill and then tossed out.

Studies made on first children say they're not all that bad. They are usually shy, serious, sensitive, academically superior and more likely to be an Einstein.

Second children, on the other hand, are relaxed, independent cheerful, lean toward creativity and are more likely to be a Picasso.

No one has had the courage to find - let alone study - child No. 3 and the ones that follow whom I call "et ceteras."

Is there life after the first two children? What are the et ceteras like?

I have discovered the third child has a few attributes of his own. He has itchy feet and joins other families for three or four months, after without being noticed. He is not intimidated by anyone, has a great sense of humor and is apt to be a game-show host.

Part of their uniqueness is that third children have no history. There are no footprints of him in the baby book, no record of his baptism, no snapshots of his birthdays and no report cards to show he ever was.

Their childhood diseases are uneventful, their first words fall on deaf ears, and toilet training is a lonely affair with no one to applaud their b.m.'s.

The third child learns early that he is odd man out and has broken the family symmetry. Kitchen chairs come four to a set, breakfast rolls four to a package, milk four cups to a quart. Rides at Disneyland accommodate two to a seat, the family car carries four comfortably and beds come in twos, not threes.

The third child is the one who gets called the other two's names before the mother finally remembers his. He goes through a lifetime of comparisons. "You're not going to be as tall as your brother ... as smart as your sister ... as athletic as your father."

I personally feel there's a lot to be said for the "et cetera" children who get a fast shuffle and who thrive on neglect and somehow appear one day all grown up.

They not only know who they are and what they are, but they've dealt very early with the two things that most children fear the most: competition and loneliness.

Pampa fine arts photography show

Seven photographers will be displaying photographs at the Fine Arts Photography Show in the Pampa Mall, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., Friday and Saturday, November 6 and 7.

"Photography is a growing art throughout the U. S. and it's appreciation is growing more by the general public," stated Jerry Lane, show chairman.

Frank Anderson has 26 years of experience behind him. His interest in photography includes weddings, portraits, scenic and freelance. He has taught photography at Pampa Middle School where he also teaches math. He has also been the staff photographer for the Pampa Middle School annual for several years.

Besides doing all of this, his other interests include hunting, fishing and playing golf along with playing the trumpet and guitar.

Will Breazeale is well known for his color close-up prints of flowers and plants. He has taken pictures for the high school annual and does portraits and weddings. Some of his work decorates area banks and hospitals. He likes to copy old photographs and enjoys the freedom that he gets when doing his own darkroom work. He is employed with McKesson Drug.

Elaine Ledbetter is a well-known author, lecturer and consultant in secondary science. She joins the show this year with some 35 years of photography experience. She enjoys the art of portraiture and scenic. During the 1950s she was a frequent winner in the Amarillo Globe-News annual newspaper snapshot contests. She even advanced to win three awards in the National Newspaper Snapshot Contests. She used original photographs to illustrate two volumes of poetry: the first employed her own black and white photographs and the second used reproductions of her husband's color slides.

(Mr. W. M. (Bill) Ledbetter). Other interests include writing and chemical education. Ed Sackett is a student photographer for the University of Texas Arlington Shorthorn Publications. Sackett is familiar to our community because of his work in the Pampa News. He has had 3 years experience as a Free Lance photographer, photo editor for Amarillo College student publications, along with some of his work being displayed in area hospitals. He is a photojournalism major.

Don Case is a newcomer to the show this year and he is warmly welcomed. He has ten years experience of photography behind him and has strictly enjoyed the art as a hobby. His work is in the area of outdoor settings and wildlife. His other interests include camping, travel and leatherwork. Roberta Hawkins is another newcomer to the show with her interest in photography consisting of about four and a half years. She is presently taking the New York Institute of Photography correspondence course. She is presently the private brass teacher for the Pampa bands, receptionist for Snelling and Snelling and 2nd horn with the Amarillo Symphony. Her other interest include playing the French Horn, rock collecting, bowling and reading.

Lloyd Harvey has a degree in Commercial Art from Texas Tech University where he specialized in Photography. During his four year tenure with the navy, he was a medical photographer. Harvey has made many slide presentations in the panhandle.

Acne signal of underlying disorders

Houston — Acne can be a signal of "underlying endocrine disorders that have much more serious consequences than pimples on the face," says a University of Texas physician.

Dr. Emil Steinberger, chairman of the Department of Reproductive Medicine and Biology at the UT Medical School here, is one of the authors of a paper linking acne with an endocrine disorder and menstrual irregularities. The paper appeared earlier this year in the Journal of the American Academy of Dermatology.

Many of the women in the study had acne for several years before seeing a doctor and only then did the women realize they had an endocrine disorder called hyperandrogenism that also caused menstrual irregularities.

Hyperandrogenism is a disorder caused by excessive secretion of certain hormones. In women it can cause acne, excessive hair growth or menstrual problems. Usually it not cause problems in men.

Acne can be the most obvious indication of hyperandrogenism. Steinberger said. He said acne "is just like waving a red flag" in front of the physician and should indicate the possibility of underlying disorder.

"The remarkable association between ovarian dysfunction and acne," he wrote, "emphasizes the need for careful evaluation of the reproductive system function in patients with the chief complaint of acne.

"Lack of early investigation," he added, "could allow progression of a minor disturbance to a major dysfunction," such as infertility.

Treatment of hyperandrogenism is in some cases very successful, Steinberger said, depending on the underlying cause. Treatment is becoming more successful as progress is made in the field, he said.

Astro-Graph

by bernice bede osol

November 8, 1981

This coming year it behooves you to get more involved in activities that are both physical and mental. Your skills will develop proportionately to your interests, and help widen your circle of friends.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Today your creative and artistic aptitudes may not be up to their usual heights. This may not be the time to tackle esthetic projects. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph, which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth date.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're a giving person to begin with. Today, your generosity could exceed reasonable limits. Let someone else pick up the tab for a change.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your friends will enjoy your company today and they'll appreciate a brief visit. Keep your eye on the clock, however, so as not to wear out your welcome.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Be friendly with members of the opposite sex but not to the extent of possibly arousing the jealousy or suspicions of your mate.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) The advice you have to offer outsiders will be constructive and helpful. However, when giving counsel to those you love, you may be too close to see the problem.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Enjoy fun, competitive situations for what they are. Don't make winning so important that it makes you look bad to others.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Members of the opposite sex find you most appealing today, but be careful you don't become involved with someone who's off-limits.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be on your best behavior socially. Poor manners or tactlessness will leave a bad lasting impression that will be hard to erase.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Others will be favorably today if you just act naturally. Putting on airs will be a veneer they will easily see through.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You can't be expected to be knowledgeable about all topics, so don't pretend to be an expert on something you are not. Others will respect you for your candor.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Make this a day devoted to pleasurable pursuits, rather than business or commercial matters in which you may not be lucky anyway.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Making commitments or promises will come easily today, but fulfilling them may be another matter. Be careful about what you agree to.

It all seemed like too much to hope for and too good to be true. Was Elizabeth Taylor really going to make a guest appearance on ABC's premier soap "General Hospital?" The answer from ABC sources is a resounding "yes!" This has got to be one of the most significant shots in the arm for the reputation of soap opera. It wasn't too long ago that soap opera was the step child of the entertainment industry. There was even a time when actors and actresses involved in them tried to mask their stigma by refusing to refer to them as soap opera and clung to the more acceptable term "daytime drama." But those days are over and if ever there was a more convincing death blow to the people who put down soaps it is the appearance of one of the most glamorous and famous actresses, Elizabeth Taylor, on a soap. The way the story has been circulated at ABC, Ms. Taylor, winner of two Academy Awards for Best Actress, and a long time fan of "General Hospital," made known her desire to appear on the serial to Anthony D. Thomopoulos, President of ABC Entertainment. Producer Gloria Monty created a role for her. She will play Helena Cassadine, the beautiful, exotic widow of Mikkos Cassadine, the man who tries to take over the universe, but was stopped by the quick thinking of the series' hero, Luke Spencer (Anthony Geary).

Elsewhere in the world of soaps, the recent skyrocketing popularity of soaps has given fans something to cheer about and given the soap opera community a reason to come out of the closet to band together. Many readers have written in to this column to ask about joining fan clubs of specific stars so they can keep in contact with other soap fans. Some have also asked whether or not there is a soap opera fan club they can join. Well, in answer to James Love from Hughes-town, Pennsylvania and all the other readers who have asked, there is a society called the Society of Afternoon Programming Supporters (S.O.A.P.S.) that has been formed for the purpose of promoting soap viewing and keep its membership informed and entertained. For a nominal yearly membership fee, each soap member receives a monthly newsletter chock full of gossip, membership letters, storyline updates, and contests, a membership card in the club and opportunities to take discount trips to meet the stars, and enter contests that feature prizes such as lunch with or a phone call from your favorite star. For more information about this club send a legal sized self-addressed envelope to S.O.A.P.S., 126 Market St. Rm. 302, Paterson, N.J. 07505.

Now a look at what's been happening and what will happen on all the afternoon dramas.

ANOTHER WORLD -- Rachel tries to convince Ada that Steven Frame is back but she fails. Rachel decides not to leave Bay City so she can solve the Steven Frame mystery. Denny gets some information about the drug rehab program from Alice. Jamie breaks his date with Mary Ann and she is very upset. Jerry and Rhonda squabble over her over-protective brother. THIS WEEK: Alice is busy redecorating the house. Denny is becoming a manipulator.

THE EDGE OF NIGHT -- Gavin is caught by Sky but, after a scuffle with Spencer, is able to escape. Jody is discovered by Spencer and is turned over to Nicole's custody. Gavin goes to see Calvin but Calvin does not detain him. Raven gets upset when Val tells her that Lt. Jim had asked her to marry him. Val finally gets to meet the real Lt. Jim. THIS WEEK: Val is confused by this new face. Gavin keeps up his quest.

THE GUIDING LIGHT -- Joe's murder complicates the murder investigation. Henry is placed at the scene of the crime. Mike and Ed team up to dig into Alan's alibi.

AS THE WORLD TURNS -- John tries to have a talk with Dee but Tom blocks his efforts. Stan becomes impatient with James's ways. Cliff and Sofia find more time to get into mischief. THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS -- Jonas pays Nikki a visit to set her straight. Vanessa's condition worsens. Patty and Jack get her parent's blessing. SEARCH FOR TOMORROW -- Everybody is off to Hong Kong for a series of exotic adventures. Brian follows a "Rocky" road to success. DAYS OF OUR LIVES -- Liz is devastated when the Count she was married to before comes to town and tells her that they are still married and he never got the divorce. Alex remembers who shot him just before he goes into surgery. What jogs his memory is seeing Stuart's butler walk by his room on his way to Stuart's office. Alex suddenly remembers the butler did it. Jessica makes peace with Marie as they wait for Alex to have his operation. THIS WEEK: Stuart attempts to get Alex again. Don is confused by Liz's rejection. RYAN'S HOPE -- Barbara tells Seneca she is upset that George got fired and she is afraid she will be out of a job soon. Barbara, feeling the effects of her drink, trips and breaks her ankle. As she gets up she begins to choke. Roger saves her with an emergency tracheotomy. Siobhan separates from Joe. Jane gets a job with Rae. THIS WEEK: Jane is up to no good. Joe turns a cold shoulder to Siobhan.

TEXAS -- Iris is forlorn and decides she cannot stay in Houston. Dennis and Paige mend fences. Elliot and Dennis do everything they can to make Paige's boutique a success. Bubba threatens to kill Lurleen if she charges him with attempted rape. THIS WEEK: Justin makes plans for a new company and a new baby. Ginny and Ryan have problems with Steve.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE -- The true identity of Cassie is revealed. Rafe has plans to send Nicole out of the country without Asa's and Chuck's consent. He plans to do this for her own good, but Nicole is so bent on revenge against Asa that she is giving him a hard time. Viki urges Karen to forget about Margo and get her own life straightened out. Peter wants a baby. THIS WEEK: Cassie's new found family causes quite a stir. Nicole makes things worse for herself.

GENERAL HOSPITAL -- Luke and Laura are glum about Robert's plans to leave. After storming out on Gail, Lee burns the divorce papers and hits the bottle. Brian finds him and attempts to sober him up but it does no good. Bobbie and Noah have a romantic dinner and end up in bed together. Lee pulls himself together, tells Luke and Laura that he burned the divorce papers and begs for forgiveness. Through his connections however, he will be able to get another copy of the papers. THIS WEEK: Will the wedding come off as planned? Heather lands on her feet again.

DALLAS -- Katy almost gets herself in hot water when she makes a pass at Luke. Greta has an argument with Billy over his preoccupation with Nola and her problems. MJ tries to get Matt to share his problems with her.

Pampa hosts Dons in final home game

By L.D. STRATE
Pampa News Sports Writer

The Pampa Harvesters would like nothing better than to upset Palo Duro's apocryphal when the Dons visit Harvester Stadium tonight.

If Palo Duro wins, the Dons would clinch at least a share of the District 3-5A title and a berth in the state playoffs.

"We're going to try and spoil it for them, but it's going to be a challenge for us," Pampa coach Larry Gilbert said. "The main thing about Palo Duro is that they're a senior ballclub with size and they seem to have everything going for them."

Tailback Charles Campbell and fullback C.M. Martin are also a big concern for Gilbert since they've helped Palo Duro rush for almost 300 yards per game, tops in the district.

"Martin is like a halfback playing fullback," Gilbert added. "He's quick enough to make the moves of a halfback and he blocks on a sweep like a bowling ball.

"Campbell runs tough and he's most dangerous on sweeps. We've worked hard all this week preparing for them."

Palo Duro is unbeaten (2-0) in district play and 4-4 overall. Their wins came over Amarillo High (20-17), Tascosa (12-6), Lubbock Coronado (6-2) and Altus.

"They've got guys in the line that weight anywhere from 261 to 230 pounds and they can move too, Gilbert added. They've got a great passing offense (quarterbacks Ken Ozee and Thad Rogers), but they've haven't had to throw. They've been able to physically control the game."

The Harvesters are 0-2 in district play and 2-6 overall.

"This is the last home game for the seniors, so we want to go out and get after them," Gilbert added.

Senior running back-linebacker John Kadingo, Pampa's top rusher with 385 yards, has recovered from a foot ailment, but his defensive backup, Ricky Baird, will miss tonight's game with a badly-sprained ankle.

Gametime is 7:30 p.m.

Tascosa wins spiker title

Tascosa defeated Amarillo High, 15-8, 5-15 and 15-7, Thursday night in Caprock gym to win the District 3-5A girls' volleyball title.

Tascosa advances to Bi-District and will meet the District 3-4A winner (either Hereford or Lubbock Coronado) Tuesday in bi-district. The site has not been determined yet.

UIL sets up state tournament for high school soccer teams

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The University Interscholastic League has set up a state championship in soccer for Texas' public schools.

Soccer season will consist of 16 games and two tournaments. The season will begin Dec. 15 with no scrimmages between schools or games prior to Jan. 3. District champions must be certified by March 12, and the state soccer tournament will be played in Austin, April 7-9.

Soccer players on a school team may not play for a non-school team from the beginning of school until the season starts in mid-December. After the close of the season, the UIL said, a student may play for a non-school team.

Pampa drops swim dual to Sandies

AMARILLO—Pampa High's swim team lost its opening dual Thursday night to Amarillo High.

Pampa dropped the boys' dual, 109-59, while the girls lost, 101-51.

Clay Douglass was the only first-place finisher for Pampa in the boys' division. He won the 100 backstroke in 1:02.8. Douglass also placed second in the 200 IM (2:11.6).

Other Harvesters who placed were Reid Steger, second, 200 IM (2:01.5); Raymond Hill, third, 200 IM (2:34.2) and second, 100 breaststroke (1:51.2); Cody Moore, third, 50 freestyle (24.4) and second, 100 backstroke (1:03.9); David Fatheree, second, diving (141.05); Shawn White, third, diving (125.60).

John Humphries, Jeff Allwein and Whit Walker were the Sandies' leaders. The trio won two events apiece.

AHS won both the 400 freestyle relay and 200 medley relay.

In the girls' division, Pampa's 440 freestyle relay team of Amy Raymond, Julie Turner, Brianna Marsh and Cindy Raymond came in first with a 4:24.8 time.

Cindy Raymond took first in the 200 IM (2:20.7) as did Marsh in the 50 freestyle (30.1).

Raymond also placed second in the 100 breaststroke (1:15.3) while Marsh placed second in the 100 backstroke (1:21.0.3).

Others placing were Amy Raymond, second, 200 freestyle (2:07.3), second, 100 butterfly (1:08.3);

Turner, third, 200 IM (2:40.7); second, 500 freestyle (6:51.1); Rabel, second, 50 freestyle (31.8); second, 100 freestyle (1:12.2).

Sheri Paradee and Teresa Buckley won two events each for the Sandies. The Sandies also won the 200 medley relay.

Pampa hosts Tascosa in a dual meet next Thursday, starting at 5:30 p.m. at the Pampa Youth and Community Center.

Four major college football teams still among the unbeaten

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

Only four unbeaten-untied teams are left in the major college football ranks. Don't wager the family jewels that any of them will stay there.

Not since 1936 has there been a regular season without at least one team with a perfect record. And over the last seven years, only four clubs went through the regular season AND a bowl without a blemish — Arizona State in 1975, Pitt in 1976, Alabama in 1979 and Georgia last year.

In that seven-year stretch, teams that finished the regular season without a loss or a tie were only 4-9 in bowl games. That's the same kind of luck the No. 1-ranked teams are having this season. Pitt, this week's new leader in The Associated Press poll, is the sixth club to hold the top spot in 1981.

"At the beginning of the season, I didn't know if anybody could go through and be undefeated," says Pitt Coach Jackie Sherrill. "There are better football players today than there were 10 years ago — more of them, and they're bigger, better and faster. There are a lot of great backs, a lot of great receivers and linemen today are more physical."

Pitt meets Rutgers on Saturday at Giants Stadium in East Rutherford, N.J., and the Panthers are expected to be so physical that there is no line on the game. Therefore, Rutgers Coach Frank Burns says that his team "can approach the game with a kind of free and loose attitude because nobody expects us to win. It could be very interesting."

Nevertheless, the pick is... Pitt 42-7. Last week's record was 54 right, 10 wrong and three ties for an 844 percentage. For the season, the score is 304-151-11-728. Against the spread.

however, last week's count was 16-14-0—533. For the year, it's 129-140-4—480.

No. 2 Clemson (favored by 2) at No. 8 North Carolina: Clemson obviously was looking ahead last week; that's why they only nipped Wake Forest 82-24. Home Sweet Home...North Carolina 17-10.

No. 3 Southern Cal (18½) at California: If the Trojans are looking ahead to Pac-10 showdowns with Washington and UCLA, Cal could make it interesting. That's what we said last week about Wake Forest...Southern Cal 41-9.

No. 4 Georgia (5) vs. Florida at Jacksonville: Despite the early-season loss to Clemson, them Dawgs could be better than last year's national champs...Georgia 24-14.

No. 5 Texas (3) at Houston: Veer has Texas' offense gone? Oh, sorry, the Veer belongs to Houston 20-17.

No. 6 Penn State (14) at North Carolina State: The Nittany Lions aren't kings of the beasts any more after last week's loss to Miami...Penn State 27-13.

San Jose State at No. 9 Arizona State (NL): Bet you didn't realize both teams are 6-1...Arizona State 34-20.

A record 29-game losing streak coming up...Michigan State 34-7.

LISA HALABY GEORGE WALLACE

Names in the News

NEW YORK (AP) — Ex-CIA agent Frank Terpil, convicted in absentia of selling guns and technology to terrorists, is going public about his motives because he wants to come home, says newsman Mike Wallace.

The "60 Minutes" correspondent said Thursday that an interview he conducted last week with Terpil and co-conspirator George Gregory Korkala will be broadcast Sunday on the CBS program.

The interview will concern their dealings with terrorists, the morality of being spooks for hire, why they fled the country, and the circumstances under which they would come back and face authorities.

The two fugitives jumped $100,000 bail prior to their 1980 trial, in which they were convicted of selling 10,000 machine guns and other weapons to two undercover detectives posing as Latin American terrorists.

resources for the University of Alabama in Birmingham.

ST. JOHN'S, Antigua (AP) — On its fifth day of independence, Antigua formally retitled Queen Elizabeth II from queen of the British isles to queen of these two tiny Caribbean islands.

Her homeland is not entirely forgotten, however. It will remain in her long, formal title as one of her "other realms," as Antigua and Barbuda were before they gained independence from Britain on Sunday.

Now she becomes "Elizabeth the Second by the Grace of God Queen of Antigua and Barbuda and of her other realms and territories head of the Commonwealth."

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Lisa Halaby left Princeton University seven years ago as a commoner and returned here as Queen Noor of Jordan, but she still remembered the fare at the campus cafeteria.

The wife of King Hussein was welcomed back to her alma mater for a homecoming celebration by a group of students who invited her while her husband was on a state visit to Washington.

"It's a jigsaw puzzle, really," said Queen Noor, 30. "Remembering how you used to be I saw the dining hall and immediately thought of the food."

Surrounded by Secret Service agents, she spoke to about 500 students and faculty who jammed a lecture hall to ask her how her life had changed and what she recalled from her college days.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Former three-term Gov. George Wallace is considering running for governor again next year, and some of his closest supporters are urging him on.

Wallace met here Thursday with about 40 supporters from around Alabama, most of them fixtures in his past campaigns.

Wallace, 62, left office in January 1979 after dominating the Alabama statehouse for 14 of 16 years and making a bid for the White House four times.

Confined to a wheelchair by a would-be assassin's bullet in 1972, Wallace now is director of rehabilitation

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Members of a Muslim sect who ordered their court-appointed lawyer to sit silently through their bank robbery-racketeering trial have been found guilty by a federal jury.

The panel returned the convictions Thursday against the 17 members of the New World of Islam charged with stealing more than $100,000 from banks and stores for their faith. The defendants refused to take part in the trial, saying that challenging the government's case would go against their beliefs.

U.S. District Judge Herbert Stern said evidence showed the defendants encouraged members to break the law.

News in Briefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is wasting about $1.3 billion a year because of fraud, abuse, waste and errors in federal food assistance programs, Agriculture Secretary John Block says.

"This waste and fraud is not only drain on the U.S. treasury, but it also deprives the truly needy citizens of this nation," Block said in an internal memo that became public Thursday. "We can not and we will not allow this to continue."

The compilation of the annual program losses was part of study Block initiated earlier this year at President Reagan's request.

The memo covered food stamp, school lunch, child nutrition and several other feeding programs that accounted for more than half the department's $32 billion budget in fiscal 1981. Previous estimates of fraud and abuse losses in the food stamp program alone have run as high as $1 billion a year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans, finding gasoline plentiful and stable in price, are taking to the highways in increasing numbers but with greater fuel efficiency, the Highway Users Federation reports.

Travel by cars and trucks in the first eight months of 1981 was up 2.5 percent over the corresponding period in 1980, Woodrow W. Rankin, the federation's transportation and safety director, said Thursday.

"At the same time, gasoline consumption was down 4 percent" because of the increased use of fuel-efficient vehicles, he said.

Rankin said in 1979 and 1980 highway travel dropped about 1 percent each year because of the uncertainty about available fuel and increasing prices.

WASHINGTON (AP) — It doesn't change the outcome, but the Federal Labor Relations Authority now is unanimous in its decision stripping the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization of its right to represent controllers.

EVER CLOSE IN MIND AND HEART
No further away than a picture, A smile or remembered phrase, Our loved one lives in memory-heads in many ways.
For how often does a sunset, Bring nostalgic thoughts to mind, Of moments that our loved one shared.
In days now left behind! How often has a flower Or a crystal autumn sky Brought golden recollections Of happy days gone by?
Yes, memory has a magic way Of keeping our loved one near—Ever close in mind and heart, Are the ones we hold most dear.
Still so Sadly missed, Lovingly Mom, Dad & Family

Young actress tries to block nude photos

NEW YORK (AP) — Teen-age beauty Brooke Shields says she wants a photographer stopped from peddling nude photos of her taken when she was 10 because she has to set a good example for other teen-agers.

"For young children to see these photos, I think it would confuse them as to what I really am," the 16-year-old actress-model said Thursday in court testimony punctuated by sobs.

Miss Shields and her mother, Teri Shields, are seeking a permanent injunction against commercial distribution of photographs taken by Manhattan photographer Garry Gross.

The photos, taken in 1975, appeared in "Sugar and Spice," a book published by Playboy Press. They show the child posing naked in an old-fashioned bathtub and a contemporary marble tub.

Mother and daughter contend that further distribution of the photographs would cause Miss Shields irreparable harm because they would damage her professional image and therefore her career.

Gross has asserted that Miss Shields' reputation cannot be damaged by the pictures because she has been "portrayed as a young vamp and a harlot" and as a "Lolita."

Miss Shields disputed that Thursday, saying that her nude appearance in the role of a young prostitute in the film "Pretty Baby" only lasted "two or three seconds," and that stand-ins took over when her two latest films, "Blue Lagoon" and "Endless Love," called for nude scenes.

Miss Shields testified that in addition to posing nude for several seconds in "Pretty Baby," she posed semi-nude once for photographer Francesco Scavullo for a book on beauty.

The actress also has appeared in sexy advertisements for a line of blue jeans.

Also at issue is whether releases signed by Teri Shields limited use of the photographs to the book or whether Gross may continue to use them, as he claims is his right.

The trial was to continue today and was expected to last several days.

Miss Shields said she is more embarrassed by the nude photographs now than she was when they were taken.

"Those pictures are not me now," she said when questioned by Justice Edward Greenfield. "I've become more conscious of myself, my body and my friends." She said she wouldn't want her friends to see the pictures.

"My main audience are teen-agers and I have to set a certain role model for teen-agers," Miss Shields told a packed courtroom in Manhattan state Supreme Court.

Pampans named to Texas Baptist boards

Two Pampa residents were elected to major positions on Texas Baptist boards during the annual meeting of the 2.2 million member Baptist General Convention of Texas (BGCT) in Waco, Oct. 27-29.

Claude W. Cone, pastor, First Baptist Church was elected to the board of trustees of Wayland Baptist University, Plainview.

Wesley L. Langham, executive director and vice-president of Pampa Properties Corporation in Pampa will serve on the board of trustees of High Plains Baptist Hospital, Amarillo.

The BGCT owns and operates eight colleges and universities, an academy, eight hospitals and four children's homes.

This work is supported by the Convention's 4,000 churches and missions, which will give more than $45.4 million this year through the Cooperative Program to help

Senate Demos trying to kill MX, B-1 funding

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats are attempting to put a financial hold on President Reagan's MX missile and B-1 bomber programs, which they say are ill-conceived ways of modernizing the nation's strategic nuclear force.

The Democrats took advantage of a nearly empty Senate chamber Thursday night to win a voice vote approving a compromise $130.7 billion defense appropriations bill for fiscal 1982 that puts a hold until Nov. 18 on $2.1 billion for the B-1 and $300 million for basing the MX.

Congress could permanently bar use of the funds if both houses pass resolutions of disapproval. Immediately after the authorization measure passed, Sen. Carl Levin, D-Mich., introduced resolutions against both programs.

But he and Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., said the shortage of time may hurt them and force the battle against the MX and B-1 to be switched to military appropriations measures that will reach the House and Senate floors later this month or next.

Democrats took turns criticizing the Reagan defense program, contending that it was poorly conceived and saying that the Pentagon has not provided a clear rationale for it.

Levin also introduced a supplemental authorization that would restore an estimated $675 million in readiness items that House and Senate conferees cut from the $130.7 billion bill to meet $2 billion in spending reductions sought by Reagan.

House action on the appropriations bill is expected late next week or the following week.

Earlier Thursday, the Senate approved a $6.5 billion military construction authorization bill after deleting a provision that would have exempted projects in it from the Davis-Bacon Act guaranteeing workers the locally prevailing wage for their crafts.

The House passed a $7 billion version of the bill in June, and the differences between the measures will be resolved by conferees.

In other congressional business Thursday: —The House passed legislation to allow the Nuclear Regulatory Commission to issue temporary operating licenses for atomic power plants before public hearings on them are completed.

—Terence Cardinal Cooke of New York and Archbishop John R. Roach of Minneapolis urged a Senate Judiciary subcommittee to endorse a proposed constitutional amendment permitting Congress and the states to restrict a woman's right to an abortion. It was the first time Catholic leaders had publicly backed specific anti-abortion legislation before Congress.

—The Senate approved a $12.7 billion package of energy and water projects that is $630 million over Reagan's budget but about $430 million below a similar bill approved earlier by the House.
