Close Races in State Primaries

WALTON AND WILSON FIGHT FOR GOVERNOR

Klan Issues Have But Little Effect

By Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 1.—Mayor J. C. Walton of Oklahoma City indorsed by the farmer-labor reconstruction league, an organization whose principles are similar to those of the non-partisan league, who was definely blacklisted by the ku klux klan, swung into a lead of slightly more than 4,000 votes with 38,730 votes counted in today's democratic gubernatorial primary. Walton's closest opponent was R. H. Wilson, said to have been the klan's choice for the nomination. Thomas H. Owen, former supreme court justice was third. The vote: Walton 16,494; Wilson 12,479; Owen 9,718.

Tabulation of early returns showed R. H. Wilson leading in the gubernatorial race by about 200 votes for some time. This was his plurality when 78 precincts out of the state's 2,837 had been counted.

When 159 precincts were in, however, Walton had leaped into the lead with an advantage of about 1,000 votes. This lead was increased to 2,000 when 282 precincts had been counted and when 880 were in Walton led by 4,000.

Representative Manuel Herrick, republican, was apparently defeated for renomination in the eighth Oklahoma congressional district on the face of early reutrns. With 44 precincts out of 390 counted, M. C. Garber was leading her republican opponent. Gus Gevil of congress by more than two to one. Charles Swindall was also well in the lead of the poet congressman. The vote:

Miss Robertson Gains

Garber, 898; Swindall, 608; Herrick, 390; J. E. Smith, 125; W. E. Knapp, 14. Miss Alice Robertson, republican, second Oklahoma congressional district, was running strong on early returns. Miss Robertson was leaving her republican opponent, Gus Tinch, 146 to 32, with 12 precincts out of 264 counted. If she receives the nomination her opponent in the November election will apparently be W. W. Hastings, democrat, who represented the district for several terms and was defeated by Miss Robertson in 1920. Hastings in 18 precincts had received 1,175 votes, while his democratic opponents for the nomination, Oscar Stewart and John L. Winn, had received 453 and 183 votes respectively.

Miss Robertson has stated that she was opposed because she refused to accept dictation from women's political organizations as to how to vote in congress and also because she opposed a national soldiers' bonus.

MORGAN IN LINE FOR GOVERNOR

By Associated Press.

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 1.—Seventeen precincts out of a total of 2,536 in Kansas give for the republican nomination for governor: Morgan, 862; Stubbs, 733; McNeal, 477; Knapp, 345; Lambertson, 325; Pettigrew 15 and Mowry 13.

Three precincts give for the democratic nomination for governor: Davis 20; Martin 17; Hunt 15.

BRITAIN LOANS STAND ALONE

Held Independent of Allied Debts

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—War loans to Great Britain are regarded by America as independent entities without relation to inter-allied debts of the reparations situation, it was said tonight at the treasury in comment upon reports of a note addressed to six European nations by the Earl of Balfour. The British government was said to have maintained in the note that the repayment of Anglo-American loans could not be treated as an isolated incident. Questions of reparations and inter-allied repayments, officials declared, would naturally have a bearing upon the liquidation of Great Britain's $5,000,000,000 debt to this country, but the United States government has consistently held to the position that the war loans made to England stood in the same category as a loan between two individuals. Debts owed the debtor, it was explained, might affect payments to the creditor, but could not be considered as related to the obligation between the two individuals.

Vichita Swelters as Thermometer Reaches 111 Mark for Second Time

I'd like to meet the bloomin' poet that wrote the rotten rhyme
About the "joys of summer" and our "Sunny Southern clime."
I'd tie him to a fence post, in our "Sunny Southern Sun"
And let him fry and sizzle, 'till he went to "Kingdom Come."
—Street Corner Ballads.

And as Wichita panted yesterday, when the thermometer mounted to 111 for the second time in the history of the city, there was probably not a person here who did not join in the sentiment so aptly expressed by the author of Street Corner Ballads.

The morning started off fairly cool—as coolness goes in August here—but by noon the thermometer registered 103 and from then on "Old Sol" became ambitious to cut another notch in his hat. At 3:15 o'clock the thermometer at the Art Jewelry store, which is regulated on the same basis as all government thermometers, registered 111 degrees. The only other time records show it has been that hot here was at 3:00 p. m. July 18, 1921.

They're cuttin' the police force again. In the interest of economy, two more officers were cut from the police force last night, Patrolmen Howell and Jensen.

Patrolman Howell is telling the story of a friend of his who went to college. "When he came back," says Howell, "he got a job and a pipe. Now he's quit the job."

Three up and three down. That's what happened to speeders in city court yesterday. Every one was fined. No "Barney Oldfields" for Wichita, said Judge Marrs.

One Wichita business man sat in his office, fanning himself yesterday. The fan wasn't doing much good.

"How hot is it?" he asked his stenographer.

"111," she replied.

"If I ever go to the bad place after this I'll catch pneumonia," he sighed.

Dallas-Fort Worth To Get New Teams

By Associated Press.

DALLAS, Aug. 1.—Doak Roberts, president of the Texas-Oklahoma league announced tonight that after August 6th the league would be cut from a six to four city league, with all of the present towns dropping out except Mexia and Corsicana. It is probable Mr. Roberts declared that Fort Worth and Dallas would take over the Paris and Greenville clubs, respectively, thereby giving the two large cities continuous baseball. The Ardmore and Sherman clubs of the Texas-Oklahoma league would be dropped under this plan, he said. The fact that the league would simmer down to four cities leaked out in Ardmore, Mr. Roberts said. This action was decided upon at an executive meeting in Dallas and last Sunday and the original plans was not to announce the decision until August 6.

CHICAGO FEET GET EXERCISE

Car Strike Ties Up Whole City

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—With 25,000 street car and elevated road employes on strike, paralyzing all electric transportation for the third time in the city's history, all of Chicago motored or walked today.

It was estimated that more than 150,000 motor vehicles were brought into service. No steps toward a settlement had been made by either side tonight although the executives of the roads indicated their willingness to resume negotiations with the union leaders.

The workers are striking for a higher wage than the surface lines have offered them for a continuation of the eight hour day. The elevated men want an extension of their present wage agreement.

ALL PLANS FOR COAL COMPLETE

Rationing to Start Immediately

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—A plan of procedure under which the government's emergency fuel control machone will be operated was completed today at a meeting of the central coal committee with Fuel Distributor Henry B. Spencer, presiding. It was anderstood that the plan would be submitted to Secretary Hoover tomorrow and that federal distribution would thereupon become actually effective. At the same time, it was said, the personnel of the regional committees to be placed in the producing mine fields as agents of the central body will be placed before Mr. Hoover for approval together with a draft of the detailed instructions which will govern the activities of these organizations in combatting profiteering and insuring a ready distribution of fuel.

Death Claims Wilson's Father

By Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 1.—J. A. Wilson, of Sabinal, Texas, father of R. H. Wilson, democratic candidate for the gubernatorial nomination in Oklahoma, died at his home today—only a few hours before he was to learn whether his son was successful in his race. The announcement of his death was received in a telegram at Wilson's headquarters here late this afternoon.

Frail Woman Takes Oath of Sheriff

By Associated Press.

ARKANSAS CITY, Ark., Aug. 2. A small woman, with a smile on her lips and laughter in her voice, walked into the court house here today, took charge of the sheriffs office and assumed all duties pertaining thereto. She was Mrs. Willie Clara Murphy, the state's only woman sheriff, appointed by Governor McRae to succeed the late C. R. Lacey of sheriff of DeSha county, for the term which ends December 31, 1922.

Standing five feet in shoes with heels of medium height and weighing about 120 pounds, Mrs. Murphy is the opposite of anything the imagination might picture as a county sheriff. She is "comparatively young."

The sheriffs star gleams from her belt, decorously placed so as to be partly hidden from view.

"And guns? Well, no indeed; I won't carry a gun," said Mrs. Murphy. DeSha county is a rather quiet section of Arkansas, Mrs. Murphy said, and she could not recollect many arrests and no exciting ones at all during her four years of service as deputy in charge of the office.

LONG LEADING SENATOR REED IN MISSOURI

Precinct Returns Are Coming In Slowly

By Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 1. — R. R. Brewster of Kansas City, endorsed by the regular republican organization, apparently has won the republican nomination for United States senator on the face of returns from 1,104 out of 3,848 precincts in the state.

The democratic nomination remains in doubt with Breckenridge Long leading Senator James A. Reed by 7,350 votes in returns from 1,036 precincts.

By Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 1.—With the Reed strongholds, St. Louis and Kansas City embracing more than one quarter of all the precincts in the state, virtually unheard from Breckenridge Long is leading Senator James A. Reed by 9,104 votes in the race for the democratic nomination for United States senator. Only 65 of the 1,007 precincts in the two big cities have reported.

The returns from 979 out of 3,848 precincts in the entire state give Long 64,067 and Reed 54,963. R. R. Brewster of Kansas City, a regular republican is leading a field of six on returns from 610 precincts by 12,342 votes for the republican senatorial nomination. His nearest opponent, John G. McKinley a progressive, with 6,001 votes to 18,343 for Brewster is second.

First St. Louis precincts to report—21 out of 618, gave Reed 859 and Long 616.

The same 21 precincts in the republican race gave Sacks one of the two wet candidates 739 to 177 for Proctor, his nearest opponent. Barrett ran third with 112.

These figures showed Swanson 67,803 votes and Davis 22,841.

Obenchain Jury, Hung Hopelessly, Discharged

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1—The jury in the second trial of Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain for the murder of J. Belton Kennedy reported late today to Judge John W. Shenk, it was unable to agree upon a verdict and was discharged.

The jury on its final ballot showed a majority for acquittal. One juror later said the vote was 8 to 4, while another gave it as 9 to 3. The members protested against being discharged when Judge Shenk called them into court at 5 o'clock. Foreman M. O. Paddock said there was "not a chance for agreement." James M. Rhoades, who led the defense forces in the jury room and another juror rose to protest but the judge refused to hear them.

"I am convinced that no useful purpose can be served by keeping you in session any longer," Judge Shenk declared. He referred to the fact that they had been out ninety-seven hours and said he believed that if a conscientious verdict could not be reached in that time it never would be. The jurors, seven women and five men were thanked and discharged from further service.

Rhoades and several other jurors complained both in court and out that Foreman Paddock had refussed to permit a full discussion of the evidence. "We were subjected to tyrannical methods," he asserted to the judge.

Judge Shenk put the case on his calendar for next Friday morning for re-setting.

Disappointed

Mrs. Obenchain refused to make any comment on the situation but her face indicated a great disappointment. She had been chatting and laughing with friends in the court room a few minutes before the jury came in and several of these acquaintances said she hoped to the last for an acquittal.

H. S. G. McCartney, deputy district attorney, announced tonight that the state planned to try Mrs. Obenchain in a third time.

Rail Heads Balk On Plans That Shopmen Favor

Strikers Find Little Fault With Proposal, Union Leaders Say.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Acceptance of President Harding's railroad peace plan by the striking shopmen was practically assured tonight when the strikers' policy committee of 90 adjourned until tomorrow when definite action is expected to be taken.

This was learned from union leaders after a four-hour session today in which the president's suggestions were fully discussed and explained to the committee.

Following the meeting, none of the union leaders would comment on the situation left, as it was, in mid-air, but with a very definite trend toward acceptance. The discussions of the afternoon reviewed practically the whole situation from the inception of the first peace overtures by Chairman Hooper of the railroad labor board.

The rejection of the seniority proposal by the railroad executives in New York and their qualified acceptance of the presidents other two points were received without comment by the strikers. The opinion was expressed, however, that today's communication by the executives did not constitute their final word on the matter.

The answer of the executives was not even brought up for consideration in the meeting.

"The door is not shut behind them," one union chief said. "They need time to work this thing out; they are just jockeying for a good position but they're going to die hard."

Some opposition to President Harding's peace program was raised by members of the policy committee, their complaint being on account of absence of any provision on wages. Answering these complaints, union leaders said that a new hearing by the labor board, which was to be gained under the peace program, would doubtless result in wage advances.

Most of the discussion, it was said, seemed to favor acceptance of the president's program, and at the conclusion of today's meeting, the strikers heads expressed every confidence that the Harding program would be accepted at tomorrow's session set for 10 o'clock. President Jewell declined to make any statement on what the final action of the committee will be.

By S. RAYMOND BROOKS

Robertson Jr., Temple; R. L. Porter, Greenville; O. S. Lattimore, Austin. Attorney General Keeling submitted the motion on the ground Swift & Co., has had a reasonable time and reasonable prices offered to dispose of the property and that no such sales have been made.

HARDING HAS RAIL TROUBLE ON HAND AGAIN

Will Study the Text Of Executives' Refusal

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—President Harding had the rail strike problem back on his hands tonight as a result of the refusal of the railway executives, at their meeting in New York to accept the administration settlement plan so far as the seniority issue is concerned. There was no indication at the white house as to what move, if any, the government planned to make in the situation. It was considered probable that Mr. Harding would study carefully the text of the executives reply and thta expected from the labor leaders meeting in Chicago, before reaching a decision.

The tone of the replies and the circumstances under which they were made it was indicated at the white house, undoubtedly would guide Mr. Harding to some extent and there was another intimation that publicity could not always be helpful in the difficult and delicate negotiations into which the administration has been drawn by the industrial situation.

From the government viewpoint, the railroad strike is regarded as immediately serious only because of the existing stoppage of coal production and the administration has intimated that it is disposed to force a quick settlement of the railroad difficulties, even at the cost of some re-establishment of the former control of railroads.

Cabinet members and associates of the president have sharply emphasized the contrast between their view of the "seniority issue" and that taken by the railroad executives as expressed in public statements. Public statements of railroad heads that the granting of the strikers demand for a return of full seniority rights would necessitate the discharge of scores of thousands of efficient workers hired to take their places have been flatly denied, said to be exaggerated, and otherwise stamped as unreliable.

More Legislation

It has been further asserted that such men as have been hired would not generally be of a character and capacity which would make them suitable as permanent employes. That this was the president's view, was further indicted by the proposals transmitted to the union and the executives meetings, in that on the crucial point of seniority rights, the proposals would give the strikers a more complete rehabilitation in the service than was suggested in any of the unofficial summaries made public in advance. In the president view of the situation, it was said, acknowledgment by the railroad world of the supremacy of the railroad labor board was the chief object of the government at the moment.

The possibility that new legislation would be sought in congress as a result of the strike test of the transportation act, which would make the labor board's decisions binding and penalize violations of them by either employes or employers was again suggested in official circles today.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Gertrude Ederle of the New York women's swimming association won the 3 1-2 mile international swimming race for women off Long Island today finishing in 61 minutes 34 3-5 seconds. Helen Wainwright of the same club was second and Hilda James the youthful British star, third.

Mexican Rail Men Walk Out

By Associated Press.

LAREDO, Tex., Aug. 1.—Over 1,000 employes of the Mexican lines in Nuevo Laredo went on a sympathetic strike today. The strikers included all classes of railroad employes—conductors, brakemen, trainmen, shop men. The strikers paraded the streets and assembled on the main plaza where speeches commending the American strikers were made. No disturbances occurred. It is unknown just how long the strike will continue, but it was reliably reported in railroad circles tonight that the men would return to their jobs tomorrow.

Seniority Issue Proves Stumbling Block in Plans of Settlement.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Railway executives of the nation today firmly but courteously rejected the program advanced by the Harding administration for settlement of the rail strike.

Willing to accept conditionally two suggestions put forward by the white house—that both sides abide by wage decisions of the railroad labor board and that law suits springing out of the strike be withdrawn—the heads of 148 roads declared emphatically that it was impossible to reinstate strikers with unimpaired seniority rights, the third provision in the president's plan.

After being told by Robert H. Lovett of the Union Pacific that there was no moral or practical reason for budging from their position, the executives disbanded, caught the first trains for their respective headquarters, and indicated that they were going ahead and would operate their roads with the forces they had assembled since the shopmen walked out on July 1.

The decision not to yield on the question of seniority was made known to the White House by telegraph after the rail heads had listened to 20-minutes address by Secretary of Commerce Hoover, who as direct representative of the president told them, in effect, that the administration held the seniority question of minor importance in comparison with that of upholding the railroad labor board.

This action was taken in the face of a letter from President Harding addressed to T. DeWitt Cuyler, chairman of the American Association of Railway executives embodying "the terms of agreement, as I understood them upon which the railroad managers and United shop crafts workers are to agree, preliminary to calling off the strike."

President Harding had closed his letter with these two sentences:

"I need hardly add that I have reason to believe these terms will be accepted by the workers. If there is good reason why the managers cannot accept, they will be obligated to open direct negotiations or assume full responsibility for the situation."

Hoover Speaks.

In addition, Secretary Hoover had urged upon the executives at their morning session, when the text of the Harding letter was read, that settlement of the rail strike was imperative in view of the complicating conditions introduced by the coal strike.

It became apparent from the very opening of today's conferences that the seniority question would be the wedge which would divide administration and railway executives.

The only question which arose during the short period during which the president's proposal was under active discussion was how emphatically the reply rejecting his plan should be worded.

Ballots Taken.

In the balloting each road was given one vote for each 1,000 miles of tracks operated. The reply, drafted during the noon recess by the standing committee, was adopted by a vote of 265 to 2.

Only two roads operating in the United States were not represented at today's conference. They were the Atlanta Birmingham & Atlantic and the Gulf Ship Island, both of which were declared to have been unaffected by the shop craft strike.

PIRATES STILL LOOTING SHIPS

Take Refuge Along Chinese Coast

ABOARD THE S. S. SOOCHOW, OFF ROCHESTER, Aug. 1.—Tundreds of thousands of dollars worth of treasure is captured yearly by the pirates operating along the China coast from Foochow to Canton in raids made upon the coast and river steamers, according to Captain M. S. Monkman, of the S. S. Soochow.

The days of the pirates bold with their "heave o and a bottle of rum" are not all past, for pirates as daring and murderous as Robert Louis Stevenson's favorite variety are carrying on a flourishing business in South China.

The pirates are organized in bands and live in picturesque junks boasting great patched sails, huge eyes and gaily painted bodies. They fear neither man nor evil spirits and will attack any boat whether large or small if they have reason to believe the loot is worth the effort.

We were sitting out on deck admiring the islands covered with grass and trees, the fishing boats being rowed by husky Chinese men and women, and the little villages nestling in the hills which we were passing when the captain began to spin tales of the Chinese pirates.

Pirates Hard to Capture.

"There are so many pirates and so many ways in which they can escape along the coast from Foochow to Canton that it is almost impossible to capture them," said Captain Monkman. "The rivers emptying into the China Sea are filled with small islands which are havens for the pirates.

"Why, only six months ago a band of pirates, disguised as second-class passengers, boarded a large coast steamer at Foochow. A day or so out of Hongkong these men suddenly took charge of the ship. The pirate chief, a great burly fellow, and an assistant, entered the captain's cabin, ordered him to hold up his hands and they searched the room.

"Other members of the gang were at work all over the ship. A group of confederates in a junk came up to the side of the steamer and the loot was handed down to them. Altogether they made a haul of more than $100,000 worth of silver.

STENO SUES SOCIAL LEADER

Were the furs of Miss Agnes Lage "stolen sable or "bought marten"? A court will decide, and on decision hangs damage suit for $25,000 against society matron.

(By Central Press)

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 1.—"Stolen sable" or "bought marten"? On the answer to that question probably hinges the outcome of the $25,000 slander suit of Miss Agnes Lage against Mrs. Smith-Bourke.

Miss Lage is a stenographer. Mrs. Smith-Rourke is one of the most distinguished society matrons here. Miss Lage is twenty-two and decidedly good looking. Mrs. Smith-Bourke is slightly older, and fair also.

Women are supposed to have an inalienable right to be curious, but her curiosity is just what made Mrs. Smith-Bourke the defendant in this damage suit.

"How does she do it? Where did she get them?"

Familiar questions as throngs of business girls crowd the streets to and from work.

But they are dangerous ones also, especially when one goes so far as to take a "closeup" of the garments and actually touch them.

Miss Lage says Mrs. Smith-Rourke accosted her on the street, seized the furs and demanded, "Where did you get those?"

Then the matron is alleged to have followed up the question with:

"You couldn't buy them, you know. They are sables worth thousands. No girl in your position could afford such furs."

All of which caused Miss Lage considerable embarrassment and mental anguish as a crowd gathered on the thronged thoroughfare.

Perhaps it might be well to say that Mrs. Smith-Bourke, shortly before, had lost a set of sable furs from her home and suspected that they might have been stolen.

Miss Lage charges that the society woman continued to annoy her about the furs until she was driven to file her slander suit.

"I always dress as my taste and pocketbook dictate," Miss Lage said "and I always expect to, regardless of Mrs. Smith-Bourke or considerations of social standing. I intend to find out if an American girl must stand for such actions and resulting damage to her reputation. The furs are only marten, anyway."

Mrs. Smith-Bourke is a sister of Daniel Smith, who ran for mayor in the last election here. She is heiress to a vast fortune and noted in charitable activities here.

Mule Team Wrecks City Incinerator

Repairs incurring the expenditure of approximately $50 will be made on the city incinerator immediately as a result of an accident recently occurring at the grounds which resulted in one of the incinerator walls being pushed over.

Attention of the councilmen to the condition of the wall was called by Commissioner Reed, who suggested that the wall be re-erected and straightened.

It was pushed over by a teamster's wagon, when a pair of mules he was driving stepped on the hot grate of the structure, and consequently lunged forward, pushing over the wall.

Producers association. Bainridge Colby is the brother-in-law of the playwrite. Colby himself is some man and Woodrow Wilson's law partner. He is a Missourian. Theodore Roosevelt converted him to the cause of progressive republicanism and when Roosevelt died, Colby became a democrat. He said there was no other place for a progressive to go.

WOODROW WILSON, WHILST he was president, had three heads of his state department—W. J. Bryan, Robert Lansing and Bainridge Colby. All the veteran Washington corerspondents would tell anxious inquirers that Colby was the ablest and the best of three. He never floundered; he never blundered. A lot is being said in the press of Texas and on the stump of Woodrow Wilson's attitude toward light wines and beer and some say that a messenger carried a rough draft embodying the views of Wilson from Washington to the San Francisco convention. This is true. Woodrow Wilson as president did declare for light wines and beer in a veto message and the messenger carried a light wines and beer plank from the banks of the Potomac to the Golden Gate city. Of course it goes without saying that the sub-committee that prepared the platform knew all about this plank.

GENERAL M. M. CRANE WAS the Texas member of the committee and Senator Carter Glass of Virginia who was the chairman of the general committee named the Texan a member of the sub-comittee which had the work to do.

FORMER POSTMASTER GENeral Albert Sidney Burleson landed in the city of San Francisco on the eve of the convention. He let loose a carefully prepared interview in all the newspapers. It was a bold declaration coming from a cabinet officer that the thing for the delegates to do was to make light wines and beer a platform demand of the democratic party. William Jennings Bryan who was writing fer the Hearst newspapers let loose one of his famous war whoops and declared that there was a conspiracy afoot to place the donkey on a beer barrel and make the wine cask the emblem of democracy. Pandemonium reigned for a while. There were hundreds of delegates who were for light wines and beer and all the delegates who imbided found it easy to quench their thirst with a brand known as Sunnybrook.

TO MAKE A LONG STORY short, the messenger with his rough draft was sidetracked. Albert Sidney Burleson and his declaration were repudiated by the Texas delegation and when Mrs. Peter Olesen of Minnesota made her famous appeal in which she said, "Do not drown democracy in a beer vat," the convention adopted the report of the platform committee and let it go at that. Republican platform makers in the city of Chicago decided that prohibition was a settled issue and made no mention of it in their platform. This was in the month of June. Along came the democrats in the month of July and tracked the republicans. This review began with Augustus Thomas and his appointment as general uplifter of the speaking stage and intellectual censor of plays submitted to the American producer. It closes with a reminder to the reader that Bainridge Colby was and is for light wines and beer and that when the convention was on, Mr. Colby was Woodrow Wilson's secretary of state. Variety is said to be the spice of life.

CITY TO CLEAR UP UNCOLLECTED FINES

Praise of the manner in which the record of corporate court and the police docket is being kept was made by City Clerk Thorburn yesterday morning during a meeting of the city council, when Mayor Frank Collier placed the report of that department before the commissioners.

The mayor called attention to the fact that a total of $600 in uncollected fines appears on the report submitted, and that quite a few fines are shown on the records which have not been remitted on the condition that the defendants who owe the corporate court would receive cancellation of the fine in the event they departed from Wichita Falls.

It was suggested by the mayor that in all such instances, the record should be made clear, and that the disposition of each individual should be kept in the records. Commissioner Fitts was instructed in a vote of the body to give his personal attention to the correcting of this error appearing in the statements.

HEARST WAS ANGRY

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST wiped the dust of France from his feet and left that country in a huff. He had come to Europe with about 40 steamer trunks and a complete suite. There was also Mrs. Hearst and the children. Then William Randolph was invited to Downing street, and later was heard to say pleasant things about Great Britain and the British, if the London Mail tells the story correctly.

Then the newspaper millionaire went to the Gay City, where he hoped to be received in the same way as he was in London. But although the French propaganda office in America had said, "Come over here," there was nobody there to hold out the glad hand. M. Poincaire showed no interest in Mr. Hearst's presence within the walls of Paris, and not a soul made a "call."

To make matters worse, the Paris press was very rude to W. R. H., and printed articles about what had been said in his papers during the war. Mrs. Hearst was to have given a magnificent entertainment, but this was canceled, all of which has added considerably to the gayety and amusement of Paris.

IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION

DR. B. YOUNGBLOOD and his force of experts have looked over the Wichita valley project and are going to make one of the most complete soil and economic surveys ever made in the southwest, taking in every detail of the project. This announcement was made Monday and is of special interest.

Dr. Youngblood and his experts are government men who work without partiality. They are not going to make such a complete survey here just to please interested persons. They are going to make the complete survey, economic report and maps because they realize that the project is one of the greatest ever attempted in the southwest and that within a few years it will bring to this territory thousands of home builders. The complete survey is being made that those who come here to make their home and to make a living tilling the irrigated soil may know what is best to grow and will have other details before them so that their efforts may bring the best results in the shortest possible time.

BLANTON FACING REAL RACE

CONGRESSMAN THOMAS L Y N N Blanton has been sentenced to a run-off in August as a punishment for his political sins. Who were his judges? His constituents. They are going to make T. L. B. work for his salary in the Seventeenth district this year. It isn't a labor district unless the farm-labor organizers have been making hay out there and won away from Bleating Thomas many voters who were his followers in other years. There is a Waterloo in the life of every man. If T. L. B. is sloughed in the run-off he will not be in the senatorial campaign when Morris Sheppard asks for another term. This will suit Morris, who isn't hankering after a race with a wild man as his rival.

ROOM FOR ALL

BARON JAMES HENRY DE ROTHchild of Paris came to America to study banking. Marie Porquet of Paris followed the baron on the next steamer to study finance. She has sued him in the supreme court of the state of New York for $500,000 damages for breach of promise and the two are front page celebrities. There is nothing like it under the sun. De Rothchild has millions. the woman has beauty. He came to study banking. She came to pursue finance. This is the land of opportunity. There is room for all.

After the August run-off there will be a demand for cotton pickers everywhere in Texas. This is a hint to defeated politicians or candidates that there may be money in cotton picking this year. It is a back-breaking job, but office-hunting is back-breaking when the other fellow captures the plum.

There is going to be a real campaign in Texas this year after all the nominations have been made. Some day in Texas a nomination may not be the equivalent of an election. There are surface indications that the time is not far off.

When small towns and small people wish to cheer up, they enjoy the smug reflection that they are not as wicked as the big fellow.

FROM A SEAT IN THE GALLERY
By Herbert Corey

NOW and then a big, black car whizzes by in Rock Creek park. There are a multitude of curves in the park roads, so that one rarely sees it for more than a second. One has no opportunity to observe. Somewhat belatedly a few details form in one's mind. It was a right-hand drive. There was a clutter of femininity in the rear seat. By the side of the chauffeur, behind a closed windshield, sat a tall man:

"I've seen him somewhere," one muses.

He wore a cap. That was confusing. The eyes seemed pale and—yes—angry. The face was pallid, set, stern, intense. One gropes for the further impression left behind. That man, one feels, is broken physically but in no other way. He projects himself at you. There is no effect of savage determination. One recurs to the earlier assay:

"Angry—that's the word—angry."

The man is Woodrow Wilson on his constitutional through the park of presidents. The story that he is a dying man is dissipated by a glance. Weak and sick, beyond doubt, but slowly gaining strength. The story that he plans to take part in politics becomes a conviction. He will be handicapped by his lack of strength, but to the limit of that strength he will play a part. He has old wounds to salve by vengeance, one would say. He is sure of himself as ever, too. It will not be safe for any politician to dismiss Woodrow Wilson from consideration.

Now and then some of his partisans come to town. They gather in front of his home on S street in the hope that they may catch a glimpse of the ex-president at the window. They are usually disappointed. Only to very important party of visitors does he show himself, and then for a moment only. He rarely says more than a half dozen words, and more often does not speak at all. Three or four of his friends sometimes take dinner at the Wilson home. He always retires early. On Saturday night he often goes to a vaudeville and is welcomed by the crowd.

The impression produced seems identical. He seems to those who see him an angry, bitter, determined man, who is conserving the trifle of energy that remains to him against the opportunity of use. He does not believe that he is through.

HAIL TO HOT BISCUITS

ANOTHER tradition is shattered, a New York physician states. Hot bread, the bane but delight of many stomachs, has been declared by the department of agriculture not guilty of the charge of causing indigestion.

Rolls or biscuits may be served piping hot from the oven without fear of bad effects, provided they are well cooked. Be they made with yeast or baking powder, or the now almost forgotten sour dough, they will do no harm if the oven is sufficiently hot.

The quality that causes indigestion is not the heat, but the sogginess. In this respect, therefore, the department justifies the normal fear of "sinkers." The principal characteristic of that variety of biscuit is its well-known heaviness—a heaviness which has sunk it to the level of the stereotyped joke. Who does not know the pallid biscuit with a thin crust, with the inside of an eclair! This is the type that has brought hot biscuits into disrepute.

But the light, well made, thoroughly baked hot breads are now freed from the curse of their soggy brethren, and, if the department is to be taken as mentor, may be eaten without fear.

FOOD INSPECTION

THE city health department is going to maintain a rigid food inspection during August and September. The Retail Merchants' association is going to pay the salary of an inspector to do the work.

Food inspection during the hot months is an absolute necessity. Food inspection should be made the entire year round, but if not made during the hot summer months there will be many more cases of ptomaine poisoning than usual and there will be much more sickness from decayed foods. It takes a competent inspector, in many cases, to determine when food is not fit for human consumption and the man on the job in Wichita Falls will have plenty to do all the time.

And once they imported alien miners because they were more easily handled.

The lounge lizard's life isn't all pleasant. At times he doesn't know where the next cigarette is coming from.

Rippling Rhymes

VEGETARIAN.

Our doctor is a wise old lad, and oft he says to me, "The whole blamed world is feeling bad, as sickly as can be, because the people are galoots who seem to want disease; they will not live upon the fruits that grow upon the trees. The wholesome turnip they traduce, they shy at beets and prunes; they will not look on onion juice, or pour it in with spoons. They all must have their roasts and steaks, and victuals fried in grease; and so their forms are filled with aches, which aches destroy their peace. You've eaten many cows, my friend," the good old doc declares, "and pigs and chickens without end, and geese and Belgian hares. And now your bones are full of lime, you are a wreck, no doubt, and you are groaning half the time with rheumatiz and gout. If you had eaten pears and plums and rice and lemon peel, you would not have scorbutic gums, or anthrax in your heel. Right gladly would I now explain the evil of your way, but I must go and see Bill Blaine, who has the cramps today. He ate too many apricots, the contents of a can, and now a job-tailed spasm trots around his inner man."

The President Has Decided to Spend His Vacation in Washington

The Once Over

THE ADULT SUMMER RELIEF FUND

We are pleased to announce today that the summer relief fund inaugurated last year by this department will be repeated this season.

Last year, as will be recalled, over 2,700 men over forty years of age suffering excessively from the city heat and lack of beer, were sent to our Fresh Air and Real Beer Retreat, deep in the Canadian woods. After they had been there a week you would not have known them; it was such wonderful beer! (Send in your bit now.)

This year the site has been chosen again and many improvements made. While last year bottled and barrelled beer was the best that could be obtained, the directors this year have drilled a number of beer wells and gushers. Well No. 6 was opened last week and is gushing, according to circular letters, at the rate of 300 gallons a day. We have christened this "Big Six" well, and it is sure to be very popular with all beneficiaries of the fund. (Write that check today.)

A rickey pool is now in course of completion and will be thrown open for bathing early in August. A large lime grove near by, sheltering our ice plant, makes the combination ideal. (Have you helped yet?)

In selecting men to be sent to the Summer Relief Camp we are anxious to ascertain the real worthy cases. Only men of middle age who live in the hotter sections of the city, in small, hot apartments, and who are without beer in their own right, without friends who have it, without the means of buying it, and without home-brewing devices are eligible.

Men who have never been beer drinkers are obviously ineligible. A man who never has touched beer may think he suffers from the heat as much as a man who has always taken beer when he could get it, but he is all wrong. If thou wouldst see real heat victims among the adult classes go down into the old Beer Areas of the city and see the poor, parched proletarians panting on the street corners, their tongues hanging from their mouths, and their sad countenances screwing up in disgust as they force water or soda pop down their reluctant throats. (Any sum will be welcomed.)

Their condition is pathetic. It is enough to melt the heart of an iron deer. If something is not done for their relief they may presently go mad and bite the druggist. (Every dollar helps.)

We print a pathetic letter from a gentleman of 47 years, formerly the main support of a wife and seven barrooms:

Editor Summer Relief Fund:

Last year you brought sunshine into my heart and moonshine into my other innards by sending me with a party of twelve other prohibition sufferers to your farm in Canda. You made us all so happy! Fourteen wonderful days in the cool, beer and gin swept Canadian woods! Ah wilderness, were paradise enow!

Tell your readers how much good it did me. I was, dry, then shadow of a man when you sent me away. The first three days at your farm I put on—let me see—yes, I put on fully 20 pounds and I should say about 30 quarts. At the end of the 2 weeks I looked the same old gunstrater as of yore. Please send me away again.—"Suds" McGuinness.

SURGEON HELD FOR DEATH OF PATIENT

By Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, July 31.—Dr. F. F. Craig, surgeon, who was charged with murder Saturday following the death of 17-year-old Flora Hale, is free today on 7,500 bond. The mother of the girl, Mrs. Beatrice Hale of Lewisville, under a similar charge, gave $1,000 bond. It is charged that an illegal operation was performed on the girl.

EDUCATOR HELD IN SHOOTING CASE

By Associated Press.

GALVESTON, July 31—Police are holding Tom R. Blackstone, county superintendent of education, in connection with the shooting to death of Samuel W. Block, 54, head of the Galveston Dry Goods company, last night. An inquest into Block's death is scheduled for today.

THE PENDULUM

As Maria Appley turned the corner and saw the old white house which was her home looming before her, she gave a sigh of relief and hastened her steps a little. Although she had been gone only an hour from the house on a marketing excursion, she was as glad to return as if she had been longer and farther away. Maria was always glad to get back home wherever she went, but this morning she was more glad than usual, for the sun beat down with intolerable heat, and where she had been there was no shade. She entered gratefully into the pleasant coolness of the old-fashioned sitting room, where her sister, Lavinia, sat sewing.

"Why, dear, how warm you look!" Lavinia arose and took the basket from the older woman's hand and supplied a palm leaf in its stead. "Sit down and cool yourself. Let me take your hat. Wouldn't you like a glass of cold tea?" It was ever thus with Lavinia, the kindest, most helpful of beings.

Maria smiled thanks. "No, dear, I am quite all right. She glanced at the basket. "Just see if I got everything needed."

Lavinia set forth the several cans and small packages. "Oh! You got green tea!" she exclaimed with disappointment.

"Yes, The Orange-Pekoe? Well, my money gave out before I got to it. Things were a little more expensive than I expected."

Lavinia smiled. "It doesn't matter. I'm sure you did beautifully with what you had to spend. Ah, that reminds me, Maria. The postman left a letter for us. I would not open it until you came."

"You couldn't have been very curious, or perhaps it didn't look very important."

"Both, Maria. Wait, I'll open it now." She unfolded the typewritten sheet and read aloud the usual form of citation made by an attorney to the heirs of the estate. "What does this mean?" she demanded.

"Why, it means that we are to go to Lawyer Leland's office this afternoon and hear Cousin Samuel's will read. It must be he has left us something."

Lavinia clasped her hands. "Oh, Maria! Is it possible?" she gasped.

Maria took the letter and looked at it carefully. She began to ponder. "Cousin Samuel was a very peculiar old man. He lived alone for forty years after his wife died, and some people held that he was a miser. I don't know very much about him. He never had anything to do with our side of the family, but he must have remembered us for all that. It would be nice if we should get a few hundred dollars."

"A few hundred! As much as that?" Lavinia was all excitement.

"Or a few thousands. It all depends. Whatever the amount is, it will come in handy." She glanced wistfully about the neat, threadbare room.

"Maria!" Lavinia exclaimed, "on the strength of this legacy I'm going to get that Orange-Pekoe tea."

Maria humored her. "I don't care" she said. "There's that $5 we've been saving for an emergency."

"I'll use it. We're sure not to need it now," Lavinia said.

She pinned on Maria's hat, caught up the empty basket and an umbrella and hurried away to the grocery, which was quite near, but seldom patronized because the owner was supposed to be expensive. Maria watched her sister from the window. "In some ways," she thought, fondly, "Lavinia is just as much a girl as she ever was."

In half an hour Lavinia was back, glowing with the basket crammed to repletion. "I blew it, Maria, every cent of that $5!" she reported breathlessly. "Just see! A whole pound of Orange-Pekoe! And look at all the other things!"

Maria gazed with mingled pleasure and apprehension at the array. They never permitted themselves any luxuries of the table, and here Lavinia had everything that heart could wish for. Their whole emergency fund had gone into this outlay and what if there should not be any legacy, after all? But she hadn't the heart to spoil her sister's pleasure.

At 3 o'clock that afternoon, after a good dinner, the sisters sat with a few other unknown heirs of Cousin Samuel in Mr. Leland's office. It did not take long for the lawyer to read the brief instrument which he held in his hand. At a certain sentence the eyes of the sisters met in an astonished glance. "To Maria and Lavinia Appley, daughters of my cousin Hannah Spring, I give and bequeath the musket which their grandfather, Jonas Apply, carried in the civil war."

When the reading was over the sisters came quickly back to their own house. Once safely inside it, Lavinia burst into ears. "Oh, sister! What a fool I was to spend that $5," she wailed.

Maria, the older was more practical. "Well, you can't say we didn't get the good of some of it at dinner, Lavinia. I shall never forget how good that shrimp salad tasted."

Oh, well, if you feel like that, we may as well make the best of it," Lavinia answered. "But a shotgun, Maria! Why, I wouldn't dare have the thing in the house, much less touch it."

Later they found a little comfort in their disappointment. They began to smile as they hastened to finish [illegible] Fotte's white crepe de chine. As Lavinia often said, they lived not so much by their wits as by their needles. Besides, there was the prospect of an excellent supper.

"I shall certainly open that box of little cakes," Lavinia said. We'll celebrate some way."

"Better wait till the Fourth and fire off grandfather's musket." Maria spoke mischievously.

This speech made Lavinia laugh. It was funny to think of either sister touching that dusty old gun. And, of course, they hadn't got it yet.

They were sitting at their supper indeed, they had just poured the tea when the doorbell went clang. Lavinia jumped up to answer it, and there stood Mr. Leland. He entered in his usual business like way.

"I have come to inform you that another will has been found," he said. "It seems that Samuel Appley issued a later instrument than the one you heard me read this afternoon. It was brought to me an hour ago by his former housekeeper, who found it among his effects. It revokes nearly all the bequests made in the earlier document."

Lavinia's eyes twinkled as she shot a glance at her sister.

"Then we shan't be able to fire off grandfather's musket on the Fourth after all!" she exclaimed.

Mr. Leland had whisked a paper from his pocket and now, as he studied it he smiled as if he were enjoying a joke.

"No, you won't get the musket," he said. "That goes to a local patriotic society. But you will get ten thousand apiece."

The sisters lived through it, of course. But after the old lawyer had gone they sat for ten minutes staring speechlessly at each other.

It was Maria who spoke first.

"I shall have a little automobile and learn to run it myself," she said. Thus she voiced the secret longing of her life.

Lavinia sprang up, conscious of more physical hunger.

"But just now," she said gayly "I'm going to open that can of pressed chicken. We can't get that automobile tonight, Maria, but we can eat and I'm hungry as"—she cast about for a comparison, and found the childish one—"I'm hungry as fourteen bears," she cried.

DOGHILL PARAGRAFS
By GEORGE BINGHAM

Sap Spradlen is trying out his new patent hat-lifter, which works like a charm. There is nothing complicated about the contrivance. A stout rubber band is placed around the inside band of the derby, and every time he smiles and lifts his eyebrows at a young lady, his hat rises up and down.

Frisby Hancock says nothing makes him madder than to ask somebody to have a bottle of soda pop or something, and for the fellow to remark that while he don't particularly care for any, he won't take a shingle off the roof.

It is believed Atlas Peck has quit using tobacco as he has not asked anybody for a chew this week.

Extreme Heat Is Scorching Cotton

Cotton in this entire section is suffering badly from the extreme heat and lack of rain, according to Guy R. Jones, county farm agent. Unless rain falls real soon the cotton crop will be very uncertain, he said. The extreme hot weather has served to keep the boll weevil out but the heat has been so extreme that some cotton is being badly scorched. It is said. Not only cotton but feed are all suffering. Mr. Jones said.

FASHIONS

Many fortunate children spend their entire summer at the seashore, and others perhaps not quite so lucky go vacationing rather late, so that a bathing suit suggestion for the youngest member of the family may not come amiss, even though the summer is rather on its last legs. Because it is on its last legs, the suit shown in the sketch is especially good, in that it provides a wrap as well as a suit, the little outer garment to be donned when the youngster comes out of the surf and wants to play about the beach.

Wool jersey cloth is used for the one-piece suit, and flannel in contrasting color for the smock, with braid matching the smock in color, or else strips of the flannel stitched on so as to transform the suit into a striped affair. The smock opens on both shoulders, being held together with buttons and buttonholes, so it is easy to ge tinto.

The majority of swimming and beach suits for small children are plain color wool jersey affairs, so that when a novelty such as the one sketched appears it attracts attention.

The advisability of preparing suitable clothes for beach play cannot be over-emphasized. Whether or not the youngsters actually go into the surf even for wading, they always get themselves splashed and sometimes soaked through and through. If they are suitably dressed in wool garments splashing and soaking matter not at all, but if they have been sent to play in their little cotton or linen tub frocks not only their own fut, but the pleasure of the grown-up accompanying them is spoiled.

Knitted wool outer garments for small children will continue to play a strong role during the coming season, many smart little frocks as well as capes and coats being offered. One cape with hood attached, seen recently, was hand crocheted, and it was very smart and daintily done in a loose shell pattern.

Little Stories For Bedtime

JENNY WREN HAS AN IDEA

Jenny Wren had been gossiping with Drummer the Woodpecker. You know, Jenny is one of the greatest gossips in the Old Orchard. Of course the thing they gossiped about mostly was the unpleasant state of affairs in the Old Orchard since Bully the English Sparrow had come out from the city to make his home there.

"Something ought to be done about it," sputtered Jenny Wren. "Did you ever see such quarrelsome, unpleasant people?"

Drummer slowly shook his head. "No," said he, "I never did. While I don't wish them any harm I do wish that they could be made to leave the Old Orchard. Why, if things keep up this way next year we'll all have to look somewhere else for homes. No one will want to come back here. I suppose you heard how Bully was whipped yesterday by Scrapper the Kingbird."

"Heard about it!" exclaimed Jenny. "Why, I saw it, and I never was so tickled in all my life. It served him just right. I wonder if we can't get Scrapper to drive Bully out of the Old Orchard altogether?"

Drummer thought this over for a few minutes. Then he shook his head. "I don't believe it's the least bit of use to ask him," said he. "Scrapper is always ready to fight when he sees any real danger or some one comes poking around his home as he lives way down in the far corner of the Old Orchard he isn't likely to come up here looking for trouble. You know, he never goes far from home. You might ask him, but I don't believe it will be of the least bit of use."

"Nothing gained in this world without trying," replied Jenny. "I'll go ask him right away.

In almost no time at all she was back. "It was just as you said it would be," she said. "He says that this is a free country, and that Bully has just as much right here as we have. As long as Bully doesn't bother him he has no quarrel with him. We've got to think of some other way of getting rid of him."

"Of course," said Drummer, after they had thought and thought, "we don't want any real harm to come to Bully or Mrs. Bully, but if something could happen to their home perhaps they would go away. Now, if Sammy Jay should take it into his head that their eggs would make him a good breakfast they might, they just might, get discouraged and move away."

"Nothing doing," replied Jenny, promptly. "That hole where their nest is in is too deep for Sammy to reach the eggs, as you ought to very well know, for you made it. But the idea is a good one. Now, I wonder if Chatterer the Red Squirrel wouldn't be interested if he knew that there are eggs there. I believe I'll just put a flea in his ear, as the saying is. Of course it doesn't seem right, but we have got to do something. We can't go on this way. Of course I wouldn't even suggest such a thing to Chatterer as stealing those eggs. That would be too dreadful. But if he should hear that there are eggs there he might, he just might, take a notion that he wanted them. There he is now over on the Old Stone Wall. I believe I'll just fly over and pass the time of day with him."

With a jerk of her funny little tail off flew Jenny Wren in the direction of the Old Stone Wall.

WILL MARRIAGE END TROUBLES?

Baby Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, Jr., and its mother, Evan Burroughs Fontaine, who charges "Sonny" Whitney is its father.

(By Central Press)

LOS ANGELES, July 31.—"And a little child shall lead them."

Perhaps this ancient Biblical quotatin will be realized literally in the Evan Burroughs Fontaine-Cornelius Vanderbuilt Whitney case now attracting attention from coast to coast.

The "little child" in the case is Miss Fontaine's 18-month-old baby boy whom she has named Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, Jr., and to settle whose paternity she has brought suit against Whitney, son of the famous turfman, Harry Payne Whitney.

While an array of legal talent, in New York, representing both sides of the case, is preparing to fight the suit to a finish the principals are far away from the scene of the legal strife.

Miss Fontaine, famous as an interpretive dancer, is in Los Angeles with her child.

Young Whitney, known among his friends as "Sonny," is there also. In fact it is said that he is living in close proximity to the dancing beauty who charges that his mother's objections have prevented him from keeping his promise to marry her.

"Sonny would come back to me if he could get away from his mother's influence," Miss Fontaine has repeatedly said.

Acquaintances here are convinced that the finis of Miss Fontaine's legal actions will be written at the altar instead of in court.

They point out, that Miss Fontaine and her baby are in the habit of taking mysterious auto rides; that "Sonny" also is very mysterious in his actions; that they cannot account for his whereabouts during a considerable portion of the time.

Some even go so far as to say that one of these days Miss Fontaine will return from one of her rides as Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney and then there no longer will be any doubt about the parentage of her child.

And lawyers for both sides are worried lest young Whitney, far away from the influence of his wealthy family, and Miss Fontaine, with the babe to lead them, will settle their differences at the altar.

In the meantime Marie Norton, New York society girl, whose engagement to Whitney was announced recently, declares that she will stand by him to the last.

Katy Will Refuse Seniority Rights

An unofficial report in Wichita Falls late Tuesday afternoon was to the effect that a message had been received by local officials of the M. K. and T. railroad here from the chief executive of the line that the road will not consider taking back the striking railroad men on the basis of restoring seniority. An attempt to reach proper officials here to verify the report failed.

The report generally was to the effect that the M. K. and T. is having very little trouble compared to what other roads are having and that the yards are almost all clear of freight. Many freight trains are in operation it is said and the officials of the road say they will not let the strikers have seniority over the men who have been on the job and made it possible for the road to keep freight moving.

Flaherty and Voigt Battle 10 Innings, But As Usual---

OPENER WITH BEARS SEES STUBBORN RESISTANCE TO SPUDDERS' WINNING STREAK

Singles by Flaherty, Tanner and Adams in Tenth Too Much for Bear Hurler; Visitors All Look Good; Both Teams Play Great Games in Field; Hurlers Duel for Honors.

By "SPIKE" COOPER

With Flaherty and Voight serving up unbeatable hurling, with both clubs showing determined fight, and with faithful fans begging for the necessary run from the sixth inning on, the Spudders finally nosed out the Bears in the opening game of the series, 3-2, after 10 fast, thrilling innings.

The game was by far the best staged here in many days and the Spudders were forced to exert every effort to stave off defeat in the early rounds, but superior hitting put them over. Three singles in the last of the tenth turned the trick and the thirteenth straight win was chalked up.

Olin Voigt, the Bear ace, and Pat Flaherty, the wild Irishman, hooked up from the start in a duel which netted many honors to each, but the husky "son of Erin" took the edge when he led off in the 10th with a healthy wallop to centerfield and thereby hangs the tale.

But Pat can thank Shorty Adams and Homer Summa for preserving the peace and dignity of his game into extra rounds. Both pulled plays that had to be pulled and both executed them with the grace and accuracy which have brought recognition from higher ups.

Bears Show Fight

Hub Northen offered a changed hitting order and for a time it looked good for a win, but fans did not falter in their hope, for the Spudders were fighting with their backs to the wall. The Bears showed a two-run lead at the end of the fifth, and Voight was going at a pace that kills. Until the sixth round, only two blows had been registered off his devilery, but a series of hits and an error by Meyers netted the Spuds a pair of runs and put them on a par basis.

The Spuds garnered nine blows off Voight, but by bunching them in the sixth and tenth, nosed him out of a game that was tough to lose. In only three of the other eight did a knock land safely in Bear territory, and none of the other three came together.

The Bears bunched two together in the first and fifth and thereby chalked up their couple of 1's. The other four allowed them by Ace Flaherty were sparcely distributed over four seperate and distinct rounds.

'Twas a merry battle indeed, and time after time, the hurlers pitched themselves out of seeming danger, for no one overlooked an opportunity.

Gross had a nice day to his credit, getting two of the Bears hits, pilfering second base on three occasions, and accepting nine chances in the field without a bobble.

Shorty Adams dueled the visiting shortfielder for honors, however, and hammered out equally as many base hits, the second of which was the ball game, but overthrew first one time on a hurry-up play, out of his nine chances in the field.

Too Much Flaherty

Northen sent two pinch hitters to the front in an attempt to get over the hill, but to no avail. However, his youngest recruit almost broke up a game in the first of the tenth when Dempsey lined one low over second with a runner camped there, and two out. Summa came in at full speed and made the catch at his toes, retiring the side.

Adams had just pulled a play equally as good in the ninth which sent the game into extra frames. With runners on second and first, Fuller drove one past Tanner that looked like a hit, but Adams managed to reach the ball in time to retire the side with a nice throw to White.

Pat Scares 'Em

Flaherty threw a scare into Voight in the third when he came up with the bags empty and leveled one out over the fence in left that was foul by a narrow margin. It was one of the hardest drives seen here this year, and as it cleared the fence was just getting well on its way. Not one of the high lofting kind, but a smash, low and sailing.

Although the Spudders have won 13 straight games, they are still two full games behind the Panthers, but are distancing the Dallas club, taking a full three game lead when Galveston knocked the "Million Dollar Club" under for a 6-2 game yesterday.

The Spudders are traveling at a pace that is indeed trying, but they're standing up under the strain, in fact they're getting fat on it. It looks more like the Dixie series every day.

Overtures for negotiations with the management were made this afternoon in the hope of settling the controversy. The management's answer is expected within a short time.

The Modern Bathroom is American

The modern bathroom, indeed, with its porcelain tub and other luxurious equipments, owes its development to Americans. Within the present generation it has been evolved. The bathroom facilities are very meagre abroad, even in England a portable tub of diminutive size answers most purposes, and water must be carried to and from it.

Yanks Invoke Aid of Storm to Save Licking From Peppery Sox

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—New York saved itself a possible defeat today, through dilatory tactics when it appeared that rain would interrupt the game when the White Sox were leading 5 to 1. The Yankees were successful after one hour, the game was called off.

The grounds were a quagmire after a 30 minute rain which came down in torrents in the first half of the fifth when the Yankees had two men on and one out. A corps of men with sawdust, gasoline and brooms, tried to get the diamond in condition but failed. Faber was working in fine form and his teammatess were hitting hard.

HENRIETTA MAN KILLED IN FIGHT.

Hammer Blows Are Fatal

Staff Special to The Record News.

HENRIETTA, Texas, July 31.—Going to the Reeder farm ten miles north of here Saturday, supposedly for the purpose of ascertaining information of his divorced wife, Ollie McDaniel, 27, was carried away mortally hurt and died several hours later as the result of wounds inflicted on his head with a heavy hammer.

Albert Reeder, held in connection with the killing, will be given a preliminary hearing tomorrow.

McDaniel's skull was crushed from the blows he received following a shooting affray, in which he is said to have used a shotgun, while Reeder, the man held in connection with the killing, is said to have used a pistol. Neither man struck a mark during the shooting, it is reported here.

Trouble Over Sister

The killing is believed to have grown out of domestic troubles existant in the McDaniel family before separation and divorce. McDaniel's wife was Albert Reeder's sister.

Three blows are said to have been struck with the hammer during the melee, while a shotgun alleged to have been brought into play by a woman who appeared upon the scene during the fight is reported as never having been fired.

McDaniel is said to have been ordered away from the Reeder farm prior to the fatal difficulty, but statements concerning remarks made leading up to the gun play are varied and contradictory.

Feeling over the killing is said to be rife here, and it is feared that other trouble will grow out of the misbap.

JOY RIDES BREAK ROMANCE

Miss Beatrice Faljian

(By Central Press)

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 1.—The church was ready. So was the minister, and the bride-to-be was prepared for the march to the altar—

But the groom changed his mind and all bets were off.

Now Beatrice Faljian, the bride-to-be-that-wasn't, wants 50,000 cold, round dollars to cool her anger and her affections toward Dr. Harry M. Malejian, who, she charges, sidestepped the wedding ceremony.

Miss Faljian charges that Malejian came to her home in Troy, N. Y., from Detroit to woo her with irresistible ardor. She has letters—they always play an important part in a suit of this kind—couched in the most endearing terms and repeatedly promising marriage.

"It was his scorn that hurt most," Miss Faljian says. "Not his decision against marrying me. He insulted me when I tried to talk to him and would not even listen to me."

She says their love craft got into the matrimonial shoals first when he wanted her to live with his parents.

"But they told me of his affairs with other women, how he brought girls to his home, promising to marry them, and then tricked them."

But the doctor—he tells a different story.

"Dr. Malejian will fight," his attorney said. "He will not be cajoled by a woman who, while his guest, went out with other men on revels and wild nocturnal rides, embraced at least one man not her fiance, and acted generally in a manner unbecoming a young woman about to wed."

Miss Faljian denies these charges and so a jury of good men and better women will decide whether or not the bride-to-be-that-wasn't is entitled to 50,000 cold, round dollars or any part thereof.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—An effort to relieve unemployment among licensed ship officers will be made soon by the United States shipping board, according to an announcement published here today. Regular licensed officers will be employed on laid up fleet of the shipping board rather than civilians. Experienced ship officers also will be used to make a survey of all board vessels with a view of eliminating all which are not fit for repairs.

KLAN ATTENDS FRITZ FUNERAL

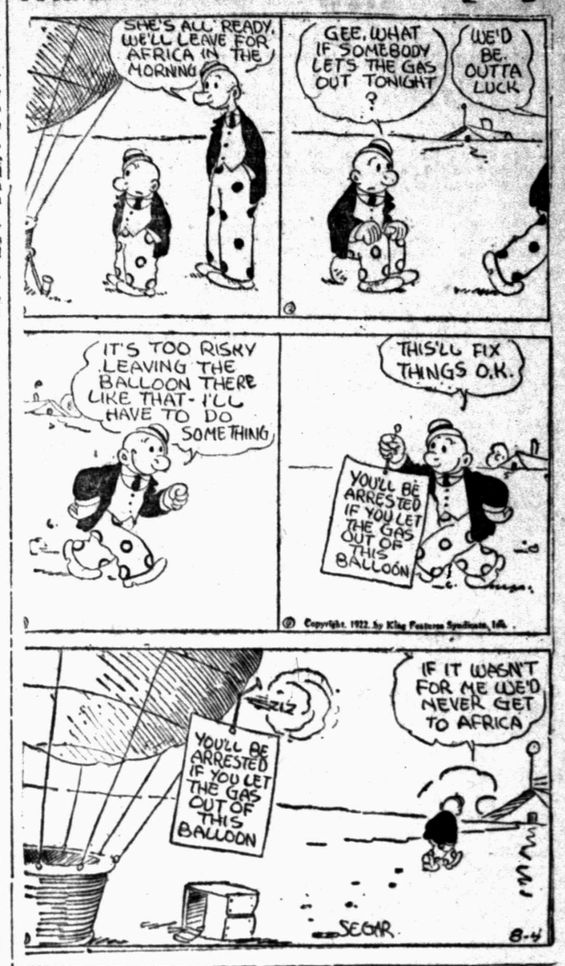

Pays Respects to Frederick Pioneer

FREDERICK, Okla., Aug. 1.—Paying their last respects to the body of Theo. Fritz, local man who died here Saturday, eight men in the white robes of the ku klux klan, silently approached the open grave where they placed a cross of red flowers, showing their love for a man who is supposed to have been a member of this organization.

After the fiery cross was presented, the men knelt for a few minutes in silent prayer. They then retired to some automobiles and left the grounds.

Probably a thousand people witnessed the burial ceremony which was one of the most impressive ever held at the city cemetery. The deceased was a pioneer resident of Frederick and other parts of Tillman county and has made hundreds of friends in this locality. Although he was living in Frederick at the time of his death, he had formerly been a farmer near here.

VERNON CROPS HURT BY HEAT

Cotton and Corn Are Damaged Most

Special to the Record News.

VERNON, Aug. 1.—Continued hot winds and a merciless sun are beginning to cause alarm in Wilbarger county farming circles, and there is some apprehension on the part of agriculturists for the cotton crop which is approaching maturity. Air, heated as though by an oven, has shriveled plants, and caused many cotton bolls to be shed.

Corn, too, has been hurt by the continued heat. No rain of appreciable quantity has fallen here for more than six weeks.

VERNON FACING WATER FAMINE

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Aug. 1.—Four hundred thousand gallons of water are being daily consumed in Vernon, and from the hours of 6 to 9 p. m. recently there has existed a water famine due to the fact that consumers are using the liquid faster than it can be furnished. The standpipe, capable of holding 60,000 gallons, is cut off each day during the evening period to provide for emergency, and this action contributes further toward limiting the supply of city consumers. Two new wells will be sunk soon in an effort to relieve the deficit.

Denial that his dogs were dangerous, and that his life is being conducted "in the best method he knows how" featured the hearing of an aged man who faced Judge John Marrs Monday in corporate court on a charge of vagrancy. The man was fined $25.

Testimony concerning his wife and his family were brought into the hearing during its course.

NEW YORK BONDS

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Trading in bonds on the New York Exchange today was featured by dealings in liberty 3½s, which touched $101.22, a new high for the year and the strength in speculative rails. St. Paul 4s of 1925 touched a new top and the other issues of that road also made substantial advances presumably in sympathy with the better stock prices. Other strong features of the rail group were Missouri, Kansas and Texas adjustment 5s, when issued; Seaboard air line consolidated 6s, the Erie and the San Francisco issues.

Uncertainty concerning German reparations has resulted in an unloading of some of the foreign issues with resultant price recessions, French governments and municipals being particularly affected in today's dealings. South American bonds are more in supply than in demand, Bolivia 8s declining to a new low today with Brazil 8s and 8s relatively backward.

Dealings in liberty bonds were comparatively light, price changes being of a nominal nature.

Total sales, par value, approximated $11,400,000.

Market Closes 100 Points Higher

By Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 1.—The report today on the condition of the growing crop of 70.8 per cent of normal on July 25 shocked the cotton market into one of the strongest buying movements in months and before the advance was finished the trading positions were $8.50 a bale higher than the closing level of yesterday. Following the report the market stood at wide advances to the end of the day, but realizing from the long side caused recessions from the highest levels. The close was at net gains of 105 to 108 points with October at $21.88.

Hester's figures on the carry over of 4,904,000 bales gave the market its first strengthening impulse and after that the advance was very rapid. The advance was not checked until realizing by longs set in. The condition report was the most complete surprise of the season, most traders looking for a percentage of about 73.

Stocks Crossed Up on Settlement Plan of Strike

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Early prices in the stock market today tended upward again on what proved an erroneous assumption that President Harding's plan for a settlement of the railroad strike would be accepted by the opposing interests.

The market reacted sharply later, however, in the absence of more than moderate public support and pressure against motors, rubbers, steels, and equipments, which seemed to originate largely from professional sources.

Selling of motors apparently was impelled by announcements of further cuts in the prices of several popular makes of cars. The reaction in rubber was attributed to similar conditions in the tire trade.

Reactions among steels and equipments from their firmness of the forenoon were ascribed to delay in the awarding of contracts by some of the larger railway systems. Fuel shortage also encouraged liquidation in these issues.

Despite the strike situation, rails offered greater resistance to bearish aggressions than other groups. St. Paul common and preferred registered highest prices of the year with strength in New Haven on reports.

Specialities of the mail order class, such as Sears-Roebuck and Montgomery-Ward, had their periods of activity and strength and several of the textiles, notably Mallinson, were brought in anticipation of higher tariff protection. Oils followed no definite course but shippings were heavy on the selling of mercantile marines preferred. Sales amounted to 685,000 shares.

NEW YORK COTTON

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. — A very rapid and excited advance followed the publication of the government's end crop figures in the cotton market here today. Evidently the official condition of 70.8 and the crop indication of 11,440,000 bales was a surprise to the trade at large and the advance which followed was stimulated by reports that the Texas crop was now going backward because of continued dry hot weather. October contracts sold up to 22.95 and December to 22.90 or 172 to 174 points above yesterday's closing quotations before there was any halt in the buying movement. Realizing then became more active and there were reactions of 60 to 70 points from the best with December closing at 22.25 and with the general market closing steady at a net advance of 106 points to 110 points. The market opened steady at a decline of 3 points to an advance of 1 point and showed very little feature before the government report was issued.

Sugar futures closed steady; approximate sales, 19,400 tons. October, $3.74; December, $3.81; March, $3.54; May, $3.66.

LOW SEASON RECORD MADE

Wheat Gains Strength On Rural Selling

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Decreased rural selling after a new low price record for the season had been touched, let to something of a rally today in the wheat market. The close was unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅝c higher, with September $1.05⅞ to 1.06 and December $1.08⅞ to 1.08¼. Corn gained ⅝c to 1⅛c; oats finished unchanged to ⅛c higher and provisions down 2½c to 25c.

A disposition to await developments in the labor situation was apparent toward the last in the wheat trade, especially as tending to stoppage of selling pressure. Besides private crop estimates which were being circulated were construed as slightly bullish regarding the prospective total yield. Corn bulged in price as a result of crop damage advices from the southwest, together with smallness of receipts here. Oats were neglected. Provisions were governed by changes in the value of hogs.

May Reopen Old Pool

HENSON NO. 1 ON 1900-FOOT SAND

Will Be Drilled in This Week

Possibilities of the opening up of the south Electra 1,900-foot sand in the old Culbertson pool, several miles to the southeast of the most recent 1,900-foot developments in south Electra, are indicated in the reports that the Kemp, Wilson et al. No. 1 Henson is on a 1,900-foot sand, and now setting casing. Some trouble in getting the casing down is reported. The showing is said to be favorable.

A second test for the 1,900-foot sand is now going down on the T. F. Hunter lease, on the John and Jeff Waggoner ranch. The No. 3 offsetting the No. 1, which was a nice producer in the 1,500-foot sand, which has led to new drilling in this section, is down below 1,600 feet and will be put down to the 1,900-foot level. This test failed to show sands in either the 1,500 or 1,600-foot levels.

Good Showing at 1,500

East of the Hunter test the No. 1 John and Jeff Waggonec of Stanley McGregor is reported on a sand at 1,500 feet, with a nice showing. Casing is now being set. Failure of the Hunter No. 3 to get this sand, seems to indicate a break, such as is found frequently through the south Electra field.

On the lease of Dr. Bailey and associates, where the discovery well of the new 1,500 foot pool was completed several weeks ago, the No. 3 is drilling.

Southwest of the Bailey and Hunter wells the No. 13 of the John and Jeff Oil company is setting casing on the 1,500-foot sand, and preparing to complete.

The 1,500-foot wells in this new pool, which is really a jump extension of the old pool, have made nice pumpers, ranging from 60 to 100 barrels, flush.

Gasser Ignited By Prairie Fire

According to T. L. Coplin of the railroad commission, the Masters Oil and Gas company well No. 1 near Amarillo which caught fire while making 8,000,000 feet of gas each day this week is expected to be brought under control Wednesday or Thursday. The big gasser, according to Mr. Coplin caught from a prairie fire. The flames burned up the derrick and created havoc in general. On account of the distance from other wells, boilers had to be hauled overland several miles to choke the flames down. C. H. Clark of this city is president of the company that owns the big gasser.

Water Shortage Halts Road Work

An average of four or five oil wells are being started in proven territory in this section of the state each day, according to figures in the railroad commission office, but wild cats are few and far between just now.

According to Supervisor T. L. Coplin, one of the big reasons why wildcatting is not what it was even this time last year, is because of the lack of water in much of the wild territory. Another big reason, however, is that with so much territory available in proven fields there is not much money being risked on wildcats.

Roberts No. 4 Now Setting Casing

Casing is being set on the No. 4 Roberts, Lease 2, of T. F. Hunter et al., and the well will be completed within the present week. This well is on the 1,600-foot sand opened up early in the spring by the Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 1 Duke, just north of Fowlkes Station.

GOOD GASSER BLOWS IN NEAR SOUTH BEND

SOUTH BEND, Texas, Aug. 1.—The Roxana-North American W. A. Corbett No. 1 is nearing the producing horizon and at 4211 feet in black shale got a gas flow of 8,000,000 feet. The test is now shut down awaiting orders, at 4215 feet.

The Payne of the Roxana-North American is fishing for tools.

The Robert McClusky No. 1 is driving casing down at 3250 feet.

The B. F. Scott (Garrett Survey) is swabbing and testing the sand in No. 6.

The Roxana T. M. Bunger at Oil City is spudding in and the Whittenburg is drilling at 550 feet.

Casing is being run in the Godley No. 19 on the Graham farm at 2100 feet by the contractors, the Bond Drilling company. The well will be brought in Monday.

The Bond Drilling company is drilling at 3500 feet on the Jake Johns tract, one location north of the famous Roark at Oil City.

Bonds and Heydrick have completed a rig on their lease just north of the Baptist church in the town of Bunger, on the Mrs. Long No. 1 and will rig up at once.

The Standard Petroleum Co., on the McBrayer tract, near the W. A. Corbett residence southeast of South Bend, has a hole partially filled with oil at a depth of 3600 feet.

The school house well is making 125 barrels a day.

FIRE PREVENTION MEETING HELD

WAY OF A MAID WITH A MAN

CHICAGO, Aug. 1. — "'Tis the way of a maid with a man," say physicians in Lakeview hospital here as they watch Mrs. Ethel Ginsberg nurse her former husband back to health while Dan Cupid industriously knits together the threads of their broken romance.

Just a few days ago she "hated" her former husband. That is she thought she did. And so did he.

He decided that life wasn't worth living without her. His pistol seemed to afford the easiest and quickest way out of his misery.

So Charles Ginsberg, former manager of the Wilson theater, shot himself. But his attempt at self destruction was unsuccessful. He was rushed to the hospital. He begged doctors to let him die.

Then his ex-wife put in her appearance. She had changed her mind when she heard of her husband's attempted suicide.

Now she sits by his cot ministering to his every wish. She smiles through her tears as doctors repeatedly tell her that her husband will recover.

And he? Why he also changed his mind.

Under her gentle care he is rapidly recovering. Her most potent agency in bringing him back to health are frequent repetitions of the words, "I love you," whispered in his ears.

Those words have made Ginsberg decide that life is worth living after all.

And so doctors, nurses and attendants are wondering whether the Ginsbergs will stage their remarriage before he leaves the hospital or whether they will be able to wait until he is discharged.

FOWLER AFTER ANOTHER POOL

Drilling Is Started in Montague County

S. L. Fowler, one of Burkburnett's citizens whose dogged persistence to get a test for the Burkburnett townsite section led to the opening up of the Burkburnett townsite pool, is starting his second wildcat well, again on property he owns, but this time very far from any production.

The new test is on his Montague county ranch, bought a couple of years ago, before the Fowler family moved to Fort Worth. The location for the test is about six miles southwest of Nocona, and the well was spudded in last Friday.

Both S. L. and M. Fowler bought ranches in Montague county, and both are interested in this new test, as are a number of other Wichitans, several of whom took part in that original Fowler flyer in 1918.

SMITH TRIAL DRAWS CROWD

Girl Tells Story of Alleged Assault

Conflicting statements on the part of two of the state's witnesses, the sobbing testimony of little Norah Phillips, 14 years old, and a threat to clear the court room by Judge H. R. Wilson, featured the first day of the trial of Ed Smith in the 30th district court Tuesday.

The first witness, Norah Phillips, took the stand yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, the jury having been completed at noon. Norah related the drive in detail in which it is alleged that Smith committed a statutory offense. In the midst of her statements, she broke down and wept bitterly.

Ines Smith was the next witness to be called to the stand. She refuted statements made at the preliminary hearing, and declared that she had seen "Smith struggling with Norah, and heard him say he wasn't going to hurt her." The witness denied that she had seen any whiskey on the alleged "party," and said she never saw Smith attempt to force Norah to take a drink with him. She testified that Norah and Smith were affectionate on the way back home.

Brother Tells Story

Frank Phillips, brother of the prosecutrix who testified that he is 16 years of age, said that Smith asked him if "me and sister didn't want to go riding," and it was his assertion that Smith, Norah, himself and Ines Smith started on the ride at 9 o'clock the night of April 28.

He refuted statements made by the preceding witness, and said that he went to the car twice, answering calls made by his sister, the witness declaring that "the last time I went I told her I couldn't help her because I wasn't going to jump on a man."

Ines Smith had testified that Frank only went to the car once.

It was also his testimony that "I saw Smith put a bottle to her mouth twice and tell her to drink."

Refuting statements made by Ines Smith, Frank declared that "sister never put her arms around Smith, and she didn't kiss him on the way back home."

Mrs. Sadie Phillips was on the stand yesterday afternoon when court recessed until this morning at 9 o'clock.

A question raised during the procedure yesterday elicited much laughter on the part of the spectators, Judge Wilson warning:

"This is a court of justice, gentlemen; not a place of amusement. If any of you wish to go outside and laugh, you now have the court's invitation to leave. The next time that occurs, I'll clear this court room."

It was intimated by the state yesterday afternoon late that the state will probably rest this morning, but it is indicated that the case will probably require part of another day.

Circuses Limited In Wichita Now

The city council Tuesday morning decreed that no circus or other kind of a performance can occur in the city of Wichita Falls in the winter months except during the period between Sept. 1 and Oct. 10.

This decree was contained in ordinance 416, pertaining to the regulation of circuses and other shows, which was passed on its final reading, to become a city statute, after the rule had been invoked and motion for its second and third readings had been made by Commissioner Fitts.

ALATHEAN PICNIC TO BE HELD THURSDAY

The Alatheans of the First Baptist Sunday school will entertain the L. E. L.'s Thursday afternoon at Haven park. A lively program is promised by the Alatheans, who are particularly anxious that all members attend.

Everyone is asked to meet at the church at 4 p. m. Thursday.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Jim Penny of Wichita Falls to Miss Alice Aerrall of Oklahoma City.

W. C. Perkins to Miss Ollie Fay Evans, both of Wichita Falls.

Water Shortage Halts Wildcatting

Because of an insufficient water supply at Burkburnett, that community yesterday cut off the supply it was affording the east concrete mixer and called the work on that section of the Burk road to a halt.

Two wells which went dry at Burkburnett last Friday caused the cut-off and the shut-down in concrete operations, it was explained at the headquarters of Potts & Prentice yesterday. The officials of Burkburnett have been attempting to carry the mixer over as far as possible, but the supply yesterday was so low that it was necessary to shut down.

At a result, the Potts & Prentice company placed a large water pump at Red river late yesterday afternoon, and will be back in operation again today.

The south mixer, which received a large supply of concrete yesterday morning, is making progress, it was explained.

Good Samaritan In Demand Here

A call for the good samaritan came from the headquarters of the United Charities yesterday morning.

Somewhere in Wichita Falls, the call asserted, there's an industrious woman whom dame fortune has not yet smiled upon, and who must earn her bread by the sweat of her brow.

It is her daily task to wash the dirty clothes of other folks more fortunate, in order that she and her baby children may eat and be sheltered from the weather.

The widow, according to Mrs. Gorsline, is able to wash, but is badly in need of a supply of fuel, and the United Charities and Welfare board will welcome any offer that is made in her behalf.

Those wishing to lend a helping hand, Mrs. Gorsline said yesterday, should notify Mrs. W. N. Rawls, phone 2515, who will see that the gift is delivered to the proper place.

THREE 'VAGS' FINED

Vags get their penalties in Justice R. V. Gwinn's court just as they do in every other court, he intimated yesterday.

Three of them faced him in justice court Tuesday.

The evidence was against the trio, so they pleaded guilty to their charges, and each paid a fine of $1, plus the costs of court—making a total fine of around $25.

JONES WILL APPEAL COUNTY COURT FINE

Motion for a new trial in the case of the state vs. E. A. Jones was overruled by Judge Guy Rogers yesterday, and notice of appeal was given by the defense.

Jones, charged with selling insurance without a license, was fined $150 in county court at law recently upon being convicted of the charge.

Yesterday he was released on his own recognizance pending appeal of the case. Bond was granted him in the sum of $400.

CRAZY MAN HAS PLAN TO EXTERMINATE IRISH

A plan to exterminate every Irishman in this country was fostered by John Dumas in county court yesterday, and it was admitted by all present that the scheme would probably be very effective.

Dumas, brought before Judge J. P. Jones on a charge of insanity suggested that two carloads of whiskey brought to Texas and distributed among the Irishmen would get them all drunk and start a row among themselves, resulting in their extermination.

Dumas had a new name for penitentiaries. He termed them "universities," and declared emphatically that he had attended the ones located at Rusk and at Huntsville.

He was adjudged insane by a jury of six men.

MR. AND MRS. TAYLOR APPEAL $300 FINE

Motions for new trials in the cases of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Taylor, brought before Judge Guy Rogers in county court at law yesterday, were overruled, and the defendants gave notice of appeal.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were found guilty of vagrancy by juries in the county court at law, Mrs. Taylor being fined $200, while his wife was fined $100.

STAGE HEAD

Augustus Thomas

Special to The Record News

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Augustus Thomas, dean of American playwrights, now holds a position in the theater analogous to that of Will H. Hayes in the moving picture world and to Judge Landis in organized baseball. His appointment, which has been expected for some time, came at a meeting of the Producing Managers' association. He will occupy the post of "executive chairman," and act as arbiter of the destinies of the managers.

WICHITA APPOINTS NEW EGG INSPECTOR

Be sure your eggs are good eggs, or it will be safer to leave them at home and not attempt to place them on the market.

The city of Wichita Falls, acting in conjunction with the Retail Merchants' association, yesterday went on record as entering the "henfruit inspecting agency," and appointed J. N. Rowlett to become city egg inspector.

It will be Mr. Rowlett's duty to inspect all the "henfruit" that is placed on the market in Wichita Falls for sale.

His appointment came upon the suggestion of Commissioner Reed, who explained the action of the retailers to the councilmen.

Dodge Roadster Is Stolen Here

Lost: One perfectly good Dodge roadster.

Finder will please return same to Von Allmen Motor company.

This is the substance of information given to Chief J. W. McCormick at the police station Tuesday, when it was learned that car thieves had stolen a roadster of 1919 model from the motor company.

The police are working on the theory that the car has been carried into Oklahoma.

ROBERTS LEAVES ON BUSINESS TRIP

H. N. Roberts, traffic manager of the Wichita Falls & Southern, departed for Fort Worth yesterday, where, it is understood, he will be in conference with officials of the Rock Island railroad company relative to traffic matters and the movement of several shipments of freight.

TREES IN CITY PARKS TO HAVE CARETAKER

Discussing matters relating to the care of city park trees, led the city council yesterday morning to approve of Frank Lancaster as caretaker for park trees here.

The matter resulted from an explanation made to the councilmen of the appointee's work, as rendered by Commissioner Reed.

While the commissioners were discussing questions relating to the parks, it was also agreed that J. E. Dodson, supervisor of the city parks, should be granted a leave of absence extending from Aug. 1 to Aug. 15, this proposal made by Commissioner Reed being accepted.

BID FOR KATY WAREHOUSE LET

Building Will Cost About $200,000

H. D. McCoy, contractor located in Cleburne, Texas, received the contract for the construction of the new Katy and Northwestern warehouses and offices which will be located at the corner of Tenth and Ohio, it was learned in official circles Tuesday morning.

It is understood that local contractors entered bids for the project, as well as others.

While the new structure, which will cost approximately $200,000, is being erected, the Katy will maintain team tracks at the old location near Tenth street, while conveniences will be provided at the temporary location.

Yesterday, a number of workmen were busy tearing away walls and sign boards that have surrounded the grounds where the structure will be built, while old spurs were also being removed.

It is understood that actual work on the building itself will not begin for some time.

Car Line to Be Started at Once

Work on the extension of the north side car line, from Sixth and Indiana streets to the river, will start early next week, according to L. L. Albritton, tracton company manager. The tracks will be used for hauling material for building of the river bridge.

Work has been delayed by lack of material, Mr. Albritton said.

Rail Brotherhoods To Meet Thursday

A joint meeting of the four railroad brotherhoods with the railroad shop crafts will be held at the labor temple, Thursday, August 3 at 9 a. m., according to announcement made public yesterday.

All union men have been invited to attend.

HOWELL BUYERS REACH NEW YORK

J. B. Howell received a telegram from Mr. Roy Howell yesterday, stating that he and Miss Jessie Wilson had arrived in New York and did not have any serious difficulty or delay on the trip. Mr. Howell and Miss Wilson are in New York for the purpose of selecting fall goods for the Howell store.

Katy Not Tied Up By Rail Strike

"We figure conditions on the Katy railway are 50 per cent better than they have been at any time since the strike began."

This message came from officials of the local M. K. & T. offices yesterday, together with the announcement that on July 30 the Katy carried 51 freight trains out of all terminals along the company lines to points of destination.

Traffic jams are a thing of the past on the Katy, it was announced, while conditions in the local yards are reported as improving rapidly.

During the last two days, the statements continued, the Katy here has been able to clean up all shipments out of Wichita Falls and Burkburnett without delay.

No Hogs Allowed In Wichita Now

Don't let your hogs out on the streets, if you have any, and if you have, it may be safer to move out of the city limits with them in a few days.

An ordinance—No. 415—passed by the city council yesterday morning at 10:30 during an adjourned session of the body, calls for the removal of all hog pens and all hogs from the city limits. It also regulates the appearance of such animals on the streets.

The ordinance becomes effective immediately after its publication, which will occur at once.

DENVER 'EXTRA' HITS FORT WORTH TRUCK

Will Moore, a trucker of Fort Worth, was instantly killed Monday night at 11:30 by Fort Worth & Denver City freight "extra No. 457" when he attempted to drive a truck across the tracks at Twenty-third street, Fort Worth.

Information concerning the accident resulting in Moore's death was received here yesterday morning.

Word of the accident received here asserted that Moore drove in front of the fast moving freight train, and that the impact of the blow completely destroyed his truck, and hurled 10 head of cattle which he was hauling clear of the right-of-way.

The wreck broke the pilot of the engine and tore down a switch stand, the report asserted.

No information concerning Moore's residence was given.

LOCAL FIRMS CONSOLIDATE

Will Be Known as Railey Company

Merging of the business of the Railey-Gillen-Stromquist Co., and the Mid-West Printing Co., owned by R. B. MacDonald, two of the leading local printing and office supply houses, effective August 1, was announced Tuesday night by J. E. H. Railey.

The new business, which will in addition to printing and book binding, handle a complete line of office supplies, will be incorporated as the Railey Printing Co. Mr. MacDonald and all of Mr. Railey's associates will be interested in the new company, which is expected to have one of the largest and most completely equipped businesses of its kind in Texas or Oklahoma. The two plants will be consolidated as soon as pending deals for a suitable location are closed. It is expected that joint operation will begin about September 1.

No Old Women Nowadays

Modern dress, hair dressers, facial experts and cosmetics all combine to keep women of all ages young and attractive in appearance. Not until the telltale wrinkles become so deep, the figure stoops, or some ailment or weakness develops to drag a woman down does she really look her age.

Every woman owes it to herself and her family to keep herself young in appearance, and happy. When headaches, backache or "the blues" develop or when a woman reaches the trying age from forty-five to fifty, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be depended upon to keep her in health as it has so many other women whose letters we are continually publishing in this paper. —adv.

GOOD MORNING, JUDGE

A man charged with using abusive language, a man charged with fighting, and one charged with submitting to the effects of strong drink faced Judge John Marrs in police court yesterday.

None of them pleaded guilty, so the court tried them all.

And the result was that the first one paid a $10 fine, the second $5, and the third a $10 fine.

And then court was adjourned for the day.

Speeders, Beware! Marrs Will Get You

Wichita Falls' public streets were not made for any future Barney Oldfields.

So Judge John Marrs told several men who faced him in corporate court yesterday that they must not attempt to use the streets for such purposes. Despite the fact that the police department is limited in motorcycle officers, every effort will be made by the city to exterminate speeders, it was intimated following court.

Three men who were arraigned before the magistrate on charges of speeding were fined a total of $30—$10 each.
