Excellent suggestion

Last week, we received a letter from Rachel Embry, 12, asking if the Tribune would publish stories by youths to help them show their often - excellent products.

After giving it some consideration, we agree. The reason we hesitated was because we don't have a great deal of extra space since we try to cover the Twin Cities, Lazbuddie, and Parmer County news in as much detail as we can.

But after discussing it, we think it's part of a community newspaper's responsibility to help its youth. So here's what we plan to do, Rachel:

The Tribune is willing to accept compositions, themes or poems up to 500 words; in length. That's a maximum unless it's really a special story - we can always hold it for our extra-large Christmas issue. They must be turned in type written (or on computer). Always sign them with your name and phone number if we have any questions.

To turn them in, you can either drop them off at the Tribune or mail them to us: Box 255, Farwell, TX 79325. We have a "night slot" in our front door if you stop by after hours.

Depending on how many we receive, we will try to run one a week. There may be some weeks when space doesn't permit any. And there may be other weeks when we will run more than one.

Now here's an extra goodie: Betty Pierce, of Pierce's Beauty Salon in Texico, called us Friday to say she thought Rachel's idea was really nifty. And she offered to give a prize as extra incentive.

Thus, at the end of each month, we will put the names of the writers whose articles were published that month into a hat and we'll pick one at random. That winner will get $10 cash from Mrs. Pierce.

There are no deadlines for turning in articles. And this format is limited to our area's school-aged youths (high school and down). We do reserve the right to reject any themes or poems that we deem are inappropriate.

Sound okay? Depending on how it does, we may have to make adjustments later. But I think this format will suffice to get it going.

Thank you, Rachel, for an excellent idea.

*** Three weeks ago, we ran information from J.B. Suderth in this column about more government rules that threaten to wipe out most of the nation's appraisors.

At that time, the rules would go into effect Jan. 1 unless President Bush signed an order delaying them. Good news here: the old rules have been extended through the end of 1992.

That merely delays part of the problem. And I'm making a big point of this in this column because virtually every one of you reading this column will be touched by this problem. So when you get ready to sell your home or land some day, and find the huge appraisal costs involved, don't be surprised or upset. It's just part of government screwing us.

In the last column, I ran a quote from Mack Powell, president of the California Association of Realtors, which said, "This is a critical situation for us. We're going to have chaos in the marketplace."

Here's one example: last year, the renewal fee for a Texas appraisor was $64. It is now $472. Guess how that will affect your appraisals!

'We feel unprotected'

After the regular Farwell City Council meeting Tuesday, a "Town Hall" meeting was held to get residents' views on any topic.

About a dozen folks attended. Virtually the only topic brought up was law enforcement, or the lack thereof, in Farwell. Nearly all the folks who came supported some type of law enforcement. Currently, Farwell has no law enforcement of its own but relies on the Parmer County Sheriff's department.

No decisions were made. The mayor and city council listened to residents' views. But Farwell's city officials are seeking ways to provide some law enforcement.

The views expressed included:

Neil Stewart said he has heard more folks speak against the need for a city policeman than for. Past bad experiences with a city police officer were cited.

Mary Gustin said she wasn't sure it was necessary to hire a city police officer but some form of protection was needed in order to discourage would-be criminals.

Angelia Mace supported hiring a night watchman. She said savings from having fewer city employees (see story elsewhere in today's paper on the City Council meeting) could be applied to hiring someone. Mrs. Jack Landrum agreed with her.

Jimmie Mace said some sort of law enforcement was needed - "someone to do patrolling."

Don Hatley, chief deputy with the Parmer County sheriff's department, said that if a night watchman is hired who isn't state certified "you're wasting your money. If he isn't certified, all he can do is call the sheriff's department."

Hatley estimated that the department receives an average of 3 or 4 calls a week from Farwell residents. He told of police officers he can recommend who are looking for jobs.

Hatley stressed that the sheriff's department will do all it can to help Farwell residents. Mayor Wendol Christian said the cooperation has been excellent.

Frances Kube supported having law enforcement. "I feel we're very unprotected and word has gotten out" to other communities about Farwell having no local law enforcement personnel. Mrs. Kube, who lives along State Line Road, talked of folks driving in this area throughout the night.

"I hear ladies' opinions, and I estimate three-fourths feel like I do - unprotected - and would like law enforcement," said Mrs. Kube, who owns a beauty salon.

Mrs. Kube, who headed the Neighborhood Watch in Farwell a few years ago, suggested it could be reactivated - if folks assist.

Jimmy Curtis supported Mrs. Kube's views, saying "we need something."

Mike Camp said a city police officer is needed.

Lee Hutchins supported hiring a certified police officer, noting someone was needed to enforce city ordinances, since the county sheriff, by law, is not allowed to.

Mayor Christian said folks he has talked with don't want a city police officer, but they do want a deterrent.

Asked how Texico could afford two police officers and Farwell has none, Christian said the state helps fund Texico's police.

2 Demo incumbents gain challengers

At the end of the filing period on Jan. 10, all the incumbent Parmer County office holders had filed for re-election.

Two challengers also filed to run in the Democrat Party primary:

- Bob Stafford filed to run for County Tax Assessor Collector against incumbent Doris Herington.

- Johnny Mars filed to run for County Commissioner Pct. 1 (Friona) against incumbent Ernest Anthony.

Without opposition in the Democrat primary are these incumbents:

- County attorney, Charles Aycock.

- District attorney, Johnny Actkinson.

- County sheriff, Rex Williams.

- Pct. 3 commissioner (Farwell), Robert White.

The primary is scheduled March 10 but might be changed due to the filing period extension. The filing period was extended a week because of the redistricting mess in Texas.

Gerries runs for sheriff on GOP ticket

The only candidate in the Parmer County Republican primary is Randy Gerries of Friona, who has filed to run for Sheriff against incumbent Democrat Rex Williams.

Texico ponders having a curfew

The Texico City Council Tuesday heard the concerns of the community about a proposed curfew.

They called a special meeting at 7 p.m. on Jan. 21 at City Hall to begin some positive community actions.

"We haven't had a crowd like this since we tried to take some land into the city limits," noted Texico Mayor Doyal LaRue as he welcomed the Texico residents.

LaRue then turned the meeting over to Curry and Roosevelt County District Attorney Randall Harris who talked about his experiences with the curfew. Harris began by presenting copies of the 1971 and 1985 Clovis curfew statutes to Texico City Attorney Duane Hamar.

Harris then addressed questions which had been asked prior to the meeting in a letter from Texico councilmember Carolyn Burrows. And he discussed some of the problems that Clovis had had enforcing the statute.

Harris indicated that the curfew would probably apply to those persons under age 18 - these people have all of the rights that an adult has, and some additional protections under the law. An officer would have to have just cause to stop an individual, according to Harris.

"The reason Curry County's curfew was abolished is that parents felt that police may have been overdoing their jobs," said Harris.

Harris indicated that a city attorney would need to be quite specific when he drafted a curfew.

Several questions were asked of Harris by townspeople concerning the circumstances which would be cause a law enforcement officer to enforce the statute and which circumstances which would allow a youth to be out after curfew.

Harris indicated that the community would have to take those things into consideration when they drafted the city's curfew ordinance.

"The Clovis statute was general. A youth could be out with a parent or person over 18 in the care or custody of the minor," said Harris. He also noted that the Clovis statute applied to youth who were out in public places after curfew, and not to private homes. He also indicated that in Clovis the students were allowed to be out past the curfew time to attend school functions such as ball games and concerts.

"Why doesn't Clovis have a curfew?" Harris was asked. He responded, "The parents kept complaining."

"If you want to draft a curfew ordinance, make it as specific as possible. Make sure people know what each person's responsibilities are. Be ready to enforce it," said Harris.

Harris emphasized the reason for considering the curfew in the first place, "We are hearing of some very serious problems over here - theft, vandalism, stealing." The alternatives he then proposed included juvenile detention or sending a child to Santa Fe for counseling.

"Is there a way to fine the parents?" asked one resident.

"Clovis had a $300 fine. You can draft it any way you want to," said Harris.

Texico resident Rhonda Qualls then asked "Under the Clovis curfew, what was the fine or punishment to the kid?"

Harris responded most of the punishments assessed to youth themselves involved community service programs such as picking up trash.

Texico High School principal Ken Shaw asked, "What if you have a responsible 17 year old who has a job" (which would keep him out after curfew) ?

"They made a provision for curfew cards. These curfew cards could be suspended by the police if abused," said Harris.

Harris noted that house arrest is one punishment which could be considered with juveniles.

It was noted that part of the problem is that there are few activities for youth in this area. Shaw said, "They have a youth center in Clovis for Play, Inc. The school here used to be open a lot more, but they can't do it anymore." He noted that the school is a public building available for use by members of the community, but the problem involves liability

A large crowd of concerned Texico residents attended Tuesday night's City Council meeting.

Refuse change coming

The change to trash containers in February dominated the discussion at Tuesday's Farwell City Council meeting.

Waste Management of Lubbock is expected to begin providing the new service Feb. 1. At that time, open burning will cease.

Dumpsters will be placed in city alleyways. When the dumpsters are put there, residents can keep their barrels if they take them out of the alleys. Any left in the alleys will be disposed of by the city.

Residents are alerted that if they take their barrels onto their property and still use them for burning; then if they pour those ashes into a dumpster and it catches on fire, residents will be liable for buying a new dumpster. Residents also are warned about putting hot fireplace ashes into the dumpsters for the same reason.

In most alleys, there will be 3-yard dumpsters, for four families. In some areas, 1 1/2 yard dumpsters will service 2 families.

Residents will continue to be billed as they have in the past. There will be no change in the current bills at this time.

In the case of businesses, fees will be set according to the size of the dumpster needed.

Garbage will be picked up once a week - on Mondays.

When the new program begins, the Farwell landfill will be closed. Residents with items too large to fit into the dumpsters will need to take them to the Clovis landfill.

It was noted that county commissioner Robert White, Farwell, is considering placing a large dumpster in his precinct (see story elsewhere in today's paper about the county commissioners' meeting).

Also, two city employees will be dropped when Waste Management takes over the trash service.

In other business, the council:

- Approved an ordinance okaying the Southern Union Gas rate hike.

- Was told that TCA Cable TV was raising its rates. The council has no control over these rates.

- Decided to wait on giving salary raises to city employees until the situation is clarified on the new trash service.

- Received two bids for city insurance coverage. Town & Country, Farwell, bid $13,286. Henry Insurance, Muleshoe, bit $12,189. Henry's bid was accepted.

- Heard Mayor Wendol Christian report that the site with the Texas marker, near City Cleaners, will be fixed up by the state with trees and a parking area for 2 cars.

Shaw sets school mark as Texico goes 11-0

The Texico Wolverines won both their games last weekend to run their unblemished record to 11-0.

They beat Floyd 85-68 on Friday and Elida 91-69 on Saturday.

"Both games started real slow," said coach Richard Luscombe. "It had to do with the way they played us." He explained that in each case the Wolverines' opponents played really tough ball the first half of each game, but the second half of each game the Wolverines were able to wear them down.

"Floyd shot in the high 60 percent range the first half," Luscombe said. "It was a 10 point game until the end."

Against Floyd: Jason Pyle, 25; Kenny Shaw, 16; Matthew Williams, 8; Louie Delgado, 6; Josefre Gonzales, 2; and Kelvin Gooden, 1.

A similar pattern showed up in the Texico - Elida game on Saturday night. Although Texico won by 22, Elida led at halftime.

"We were behind at half 33-31. We didn't play real well the first half. Nobody wanted to take control. The second half we pretty much dominated," said Luscombe.

Scoring: Shaw, 38; Pyle, 21; Gonzales, 17; Williams, 9; Gooden, 4; Delgado, 2.

Shaw's 38 points set a new school scoring record. The old record was set last year by Pete Fuentes at 37. Matthew Williams earlier this season had 34.

"If somebody would have told me that we would be 11-0 at this point, I wouldn't believe it with as many kids as we switch around," said Luscombe.

The Wolverines play at Tatum Jan. 17 and Dora plays at Texico on Saturday.

JV Boys

The Texico JV beat Floyd 73-49 last weekend.

Scoring were Tyrone Gooden, 18; Michael Antle, 17; Bobby Winegart, 10; Pat Chumley, 9; Anthonv Garcia, 7; Shawn Autrey, 5; Fabian Garcia, 3; Johnny Salinas, 2.

Scoring were: Winegart, 17; Gooden, 12; Garcia, 9; Antle, 9; Chumley, 4; Salinas, 3; and Sonny Rodriguez, 1.

Teri Beard, Glenn Price marry

The First Baptist Church of Texico was the scene of the Dec. 14 ceremony uniting Teri Lynn Beard and Vernon Glenn Price in holy matrimony.

The double-ring ceremony was officiated by Rev. Joe Byres, youth minister of the First Baptist Church of Artesia. The ceremony was performed before an archway of a multitude of white candles, accompanied by candelabra on each side, which set a candlelight glow surrounding the entire ceremony. The candles were arranged with white poinsettias, enhanced with Christmas greenery. The aisles were marked with white iridescent bows with a hint of flowers in each center.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Warmuth of Texico and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Beard of Arlington, Texas are parents of the bride. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. George Price of Artesia, N.M. Grandparents of the bride are Mrs. Katherine Dye of Texico, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Beard of Gunbarrel City, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Price of San Angelo.

Miss Beard was escorted to the altar and presented in marriage by her father. She chose an elegant gown of white satin and alencon lace. The bodice was heavily beaded with sequins and pearls; it featured a sabrina neckline Renaissance sleeves, and a deep basque waistline. The open back was highlighted with a bow at the waist. The full skirt, elaborately decorated with lace motifs, flowed into a cathedral train. To complete her attire, the bride chose a floral tiara accented with sequins and pearl sprays and highlighted with a silk illusion triple pouf and a fingertip veil.

The bridesmaids wore gowns of iridescent emerald green taffeta. The bodice featured a sweetheart neckline, lantern sleeves, and a basque waistline. The heart-shaped open back was highlighted with a bow. The full skirt flowed to a court-length hemline. Each bridesmaid wore a string of pearls given to them by the bride.

The bride was attended by honor attendants, Tisha Wilson of Hobbs; Wendy Smith of Valdez, Alaska, and Erin Simnacher of Alubquerque. All attendants were sorority sisters of the bride.

Serving the groom as best man was Sean Moore of Ruidoso. Groomsmen were Barry Price of Artesia and John Chumbley. They were attired in Pierre Cardin tuxedos with emerald green cummerbunds and bow ties. The groom's tuxedo featured a cut away with tails, black tie and cummerbund.

Ringbearer was Justin Lightfoot of Grand Prairie, nephew of the bride. Flower girl was Alison Price of Artesia, niece of the groom.

Guests were seated by Gary Beard of Grand Prairie and Ted Donevan of Artesia.

Mary Beard of Grand Prairie presided at the guest register.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony. On the bride's table was a multi-tiered, white touched with green and silver wedding cake. Rectangular mirrored columns with greenery and white poinsettias were added as a centerpiece.

Serving the bride's table were Sharon Cabeldue of Portales, and Wendy Donevan of Artesia.

Leslie Brissey of Basque Farms, N.M., and Regina Murphy of Portales, served at the groom's table.

The couple spent their honeymoon in Santa Fe. After returning, they will live in Artesia.

The bride graduated from Texico High School. She is a senior at Eastern New Mexico University in Portales. She will be doing her student teaching in Artesia.

The groom is a graduate of Artesia High School and attended Eastern New Mexico University. He is employed by Bilco Oil Supply of Riverside, N.M.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Price

Farwell Convalescent Center Chit Chat

by Lynne Gann
Activity Director

January is a month of rest for us. We have had two months of busy activities. With November came our family Thanksgiving dinner. December brought our residents Christmas party. Carolers, family visits from relatives who can visit grandmom or granddad only several times a year due to distance keeping them away. Santa made his yearly run with the excitement of opening gifts to end our year.

The new year was brought in with our New Year's Eve party. We had the hats and horns to help bring our new year in with a toast of love and happiness to everyone. We did sort of beat the gun by celebrating at 3:30 New Year's Eve. The afternoon was filled with horns blowing, yells of 'Happy New Year,' hugs and laughter.

The suggestion was made if anyone just "happens" to wake up around midnight, they could blow their horns maybe once or twice - unfortunately, no one did.

To the families of Gladys Skaggs, Janie Johnson, Lester Norton and Ruth Tomlinson, we send our prayers and heartfelt sympathy for the loss of their loved ones. Our thoughts are with you during this time of sorrow.

Thank you for being you!

A curfew?

and getting responsible adults to volunteer to supervise the activities.

Mrs. Burrows noted that there are already government agencies which will help families with children under 18 who are in need of supervision or who are delinquent. "HSD will help families get some counseling," she said.

Lewis Cooper asked Harris if he noticed any change in juvenile actions when the Clovis curfew was abolished. Harris turned to police officer Lt. Kevin Clements who noted that in his opinion there had been an increase in under age drinking and an increase in vandalism when the curfew was Hamar explained the process for drafting an ordinance. "The city attorney needs to decide the legality. Curfew ordinances have had a pretty tragic history."

"The District Attorney told you juvenile rights are no different than adult rights," said Hamar. He also explained the problem involved in the "New York rule" which requires that a city ordinance be very specific when it is drafted.

"If we passed a real broad ordinance they would enforce it and make it work," said Hamar. "We have to be careful to be reasonable about its enforcement. It is not going to be an easy task. It is my job to protect the city from liability. If we are going to do this we will try to short circuit some of the problems. We've got to be careful about restricting people's rights."

Mrs. Qualls then asked, "Wouldn't it be safe to use the Clovis ordinance because it has already been tested? It would be better than what we could write ourselves."

Another resident added, "Juveniles are trying to take over adults."

Texico Deputy Marshal Kirk Roberts noted that "a curfew is a band-aid. It is a way for people to dump off responsibility on the police and on the city. If the community sees there is a problem, then they need to get involved and stay involved. Everyone needs to take some responsibility."

Mrs. Burrows added to his sentiment, "Marshal Fry Urioste came to me about the lack of recreational facilities in the community. I spoke to Lee Tillman (of EPCOG) and he suggested that there are funds available for a youth center or something. What we need prior to getting a building is a youth program in place first."

One student noted that, "I think this curfew thing is a good thing, and it will help."

LaRue summed up sentiments with, "We can see if we live in Texico and we have a problem we need to all get together... We can't depend on just the city to carry out these ideas."

Urioste invited residents to help with the plans, "If you have any ideas, see me or Kirk (Roberts). We're interested in your ideas."

Several members of the community noted that they would be sure that there would be community involvement in this program.

In other business at the meeting:

- Clements presented a joint powers agreement and a grant application to the city council members. Texico and Clovis law enforcement agencies have joined together to help deter drunk driving. Under a 1991 New Mexico state statute, $75 of every DWI fine goes to the state and then each community is eligible to apply for money from the state to finance prevention programs, enforcement programs, media programs and offender programs.

"Clovis would be the responsible agent to receive funds and distribute funds out to the different communities," said Clements. "We have organized a task force."

Curry County is eligible for more than $16,000 from the state of New Mexico under this law. The money returned from the state of New Mexico would help finance many different things including, $8,000 in prevention programs, funds for DWI road blocks, a computer to track court cases, public education, hand out materials, and some funds to pay time and a half to law enforcement officers.

Melrose and Grady are not actively involved in enforcement of DWI statutes at this time, so only Clovis and Texico would be involved. Clements said that the computer would be housed in Clovis because, "we arrest 95% of the DWI's. This grant is for March through June. Then we will apply for 33% more this year."

The City Council voted to approve both the joint powers agreement and the grant application.

- Texico Fire Chief Cooper asked the council to consider adopting the uniform fire code suggested by state fire officials. "It is more of an inspection device than an enforcement device," said Cooper.

The City Council then passed a motion to publish its intent to discuss a new fire code ordinance.

Cooper will bring a copy of the proposed ordinance to Hamar who will read it and "find out if this is exactly what the state is using."

The council decided to postpone action on this until they have time to review the whole ordinance.

- The council discussed the Santa Fe Well project; action was postponed on the project until the next meeting.

Hamar was asked to read the lease agreement to see what the city's responsibilities are. In the meantime, city workers were asked to compute the entire costs involved in capping the well.

- The council heard Urioste report that many of the street lights on the south side of town have been repaired. He and Mrs. Burrows still need to look at the streets which have insufficient lighting.

Mrs. Burrows then added that she had received some complaints from some residents about the shortage of fire hydrants on the south side of town. Cooper will check.

- The council called a work study meeting Jan. 18 at 8 a.m. mst at Hamar's office, 402 3rd St., Farwell, to discuss the cemetery land acquisition. They will also have a financial work study meeting at 8 a.m. mst on March 14 at Hamar's office.

- Roberts reported that he has sent pictures of two run-down properties to the building inspectors. He has not heard from them, but on one property he will also contact the EPA because there is asbestos siding present.

- The council voted to fence the well and storage area but not the pond at KKR park. Telephone bids will be taken for the materials, and city workers will do the work. City Clerk Treasurer Marie Christian presented a report of the expenditures which have been made in the well renovation project.

- The council voted to purchase an accounting package for the computer.

- The council voted to ask Mae Stone to be an election judge, and Theodora Rojas and Opal Yell to be election clerks.

- The council decided to ask the county to maintain Avenue F between Garwood and the State Line Road.

Tribune last week with an article from the "Texas A & M Real Estate Journal" written by Ted C. Jones.

Jones notes the fast-moving trend toward fewer appraisers, due to higher costs and schooling fees. Their number could decrease between 25% and 50% the next couple of years. "A significant shortage of licensees in lesser-populated areas is a possibility," Jones wrote.

Jones points out, "Economic, demographic, legislative and technological forces have the potential to alter the real estate brokerage industry beyond recognition."

Now can anyone logically explain why government is allowing this to happen as we head into a major recession?

Folks, I hate to say this but I really am losing a lot of confidence in our state and federal governments to deal with economic woes. Did you watch the Fed's Alan Greenspan's appearance before the Senate Banking Committee on C-Span last weekend? It was like everyone shrugging their shoulders, not knowing what to do.

Awful.

Letter To The Editor

Responds to 'Traditions'

Dear Judy,
In response to your commentary on "Traditions" in the Border Banter column (Jan. 3, 1992 edition), I must reply that I disagree.

Although you mean well, I feel your views are characteristic of a contemporary Christianity that granted, acknowledges God, yet glorifies man. We modern Christians have placed our Bibles on shelves to collect dust, while we follow private religious hunches. Rather than follow what God has in his word, we do what "seems right in our own eyes" (Prov. 12:15, 14:12). We "follow after earthly things," which identifies us with the wicked and makes us "enemies of God" (Phil 3:18, 19 & James 4:4).

In your commentary you seem to imply that those martyrs who chose to suffer death rather than acknowledge a pagan god were foolish, while their counterparts were wise to compromise. These martyrs were living their lives by a principle found throughout the Holy Scriptures and is stated succinctly in two places: Exodus 20:3 "Thou shalt have no other gods before me" and James 1:27 "This is pure and undefiled religion in the sight of our God and Father... to keep oneself unstained by the world." (NASB) Nowhere in the Bible is it even implied - much less commanded - that believers compromise with worldly attitudes and traditions. In truth, it is quite the opposite, for it is a central theme in all the old testament teaching, that compromise results in rebellion under God and brings judgment upon His people. (Deut 31:15-21; Joshua 23:6-13; Judges 2:1-3).

You noted in the article that over the centuries the meaning of pagan symbols have been lost. That is true, but not without harm. Holly and evergreen trees are harmless today and are part of the season, but at the time of their introduction they caused men to compromise their faith in The Living God. Granted modern paganistic ideas such as Santa Claus, elves and reindeer do not take our eyes off what should be central and foremost in the holiday of Christmas; the birth of Christ, the incarnation of God. Instead what occurs is an intermingling of ideas both religious and secular, resulting in the true meaning of the season becoming distant and unimportant.

Also in the article you seem to imply Christianity is evidenced as a growing, living, changing faith because it has been able to incorporate pagan traditions into the celebration of Christmas. Christianity is a living faith because of a "Living God," not for any other reason. Other "dying" religions either serve a false god or pervert the truth of the True God. Their own denial of the truth results in their being "static, stultifying and restrictive." We claim to be Christians and reserve the "Word of God," maybe it is time we took the Bible down off the shelf. Let us see what God has to say in respect to living the Christian life, rather than what we feel to be right. (Deut 11:18, 12:8).

Thank you for allowing me to express my opinion.
Sincerely,
Gene Christian

Activities for teens needed

Dear Editor,
I am writing this letter relating to the articles you printed in last week's paper concerning the vandalism in Texico and Farwell. There may be an easy solution to end this kind of behavior of kids who, essentially, are bored in these two towns. Let's face it, there is nothing to do here, except for watching T.V.

I have lived in Texico and Farwell for 14 years and have seen people vandalize for this very reason - boredom. Since most of the kids are not involved in school or church related activities, they resort to crime. Some of these kids never learned to be active in anything except for "hanging out" with peers, so they resorted to looting with their friends, eventually never having a very prosperous life.

If our two cities would get together as one, and help solve this disastrous problem with, not a curfew, but activities for teenagers, this problem may stop occurring in the future.

Many small towns have found that building a recreation center has stopped many of the same problems that we now have in our twin cities. The churches and schools cannot do all the work to keep up teenagers occupied, city government must intervene at some time or another. Please consider this idea as a possible solution to be discussed in the future.

Sincerely,
Brandon Schauf

The next generation FARMER

It has never been easy for young people to start farming on their own. Today, just as in the past, young people are turning to their Land Bank Association for financing.

Frances Kube heads Center Auxiliary

The Farwell Convalescent Center Auxiliary met Jan. 13. FCC Activity Director Lynne Gann reported that the Joshua tree was a big success. Gifts were items of clothing needed by residents. Residents enjoyed the special refreshments for open house. The New Year's party was a success with residents wearing their little hats and tooting those horns. The Valentine's Day party will be Feb. 14 at 3:30 p.m. Auxiliary members are asked to bring two dozen cookies to buy large Valentines for each resident. The St. Patrick's Day party will be March 17 at 3:30 p.m. Auxiliary will supply shamrocks, hats, and punch for the residents to enjoy.

Gann was authorized to buy a commercial popcorn popper for the Friday poppings.
Someone is greatly needed to do manicures, and additional help is needed in the beauty shop. If you are willing to help, please contact Frances Kube at the Beauty Box.
The 1992 officers elected are: Frances Kube, president; Gladys Hardage, vice president; Frances Boling, secretary; Robbie Williams, treasurer; Thelma Venable and Mary Mesman, telephone committee; Liz Kaltwasser and Mary Mesman, historians.
The next meeting will be March 9 at 4 p.m.

The Latest

Henry Haseloff has improved, and may be home from the hospital later this week. His son Mark from Dallas was among the visitors to visit Henry last weekend.

Noel McIntyre of Texico earned third chair in flute in the All State competition.

Opal Harvey of Amarillo was the guest of Raymond and Alma Garms.

Help is needed on Jan. 20 to set up the Show Barn for the Parmer County Livestock show. They will begin setting things up between 9 and 9:30 a.m.

Tryouts for the Farwell High School One Act Play will be held at 10 a.m. on Jan. 20 at the high school instead of Jan. 13.

The Knights of Columbus will sponsor a Free Throw Contest at 3 p.m. mst on Jan. 26 at the Texico High School new gym. It is open to any student age 10 - 14.

For more information, contact Isi Ortega at 763-1585 or Oscar Saenz at 481-9286.

School will be dismissed in Farwell at 1:15 on Jan. 16 for parent-teacher conferences. Parents may pick up report cards at this time.

Lillie Hendricks celebrated her 90th birthday on Dec. 21 with a family reunion and birthday party at the Hamlin Memorial United Methodist Church. All four of her children were there as well as some grandchildren and great grandchildren.
Mrs. Hendricks' children.

Carol Hendricks of Clovis; Wendal Hendricks of Farmington, N.M.; Glenna Bourne of Wichita, Kan., and Janie Qualls of Morrison, Colo., were present. All told, about 40 people gathered to wish Ms. Hendricks happy birthday. She lives at the Farwell Convalescent Center.

Farwell's stock show illustrated the way families work together to get a job done. Lyndi Austin was scheduled to play in the Lazbudie Tournament - and also to show some animals at the stock show.

Older brother Clint good naturedly showed her animals even when his friends teased him about being listed as "Lyndi" on the program. His good natured smile may have been part of the reason why Clint won a showmanship trophy in his own right at the show.

It is nice to see kids are already playing on the Texico gym floor that was damaged by vandalism. The school really got back to using the floor in a hurry.

One sure sign that basketball scorekeepers sometimes dream of doing their job in the big time was noted in the Texico JV scorebook.

Someone had listed the attendance of the JV game at 22,000 - quite a feat even in the thriving metropolis of Texico - Farwell.

In another place some wit had listed the coach as Bobby Knight, Jr. and the place of the game as the Tokyo Exhibition Hall.

Texico Elementary school students will have an Odyssey of the Mind team this year.

Farmers' Corner

Something to think about:

Where we came from is not half as important as where we are going.

Buying a center pivot vs. buying a Valley and a good dealer.

One thing is for sure, a good dealership doesn't cost a penny more, yet a poor one can cost you a bundle. That's something to think about, because if hardware is all you measure, you're missing the vital link - us, your Valley dealer.

That link is why the cheapest produce is not necessary the best buy. Through thick and thin, good and bad economic times, the biggest bargain in irrigation is a good dealership. One with staying power, factory-trained service, and parts. It means service, and parts you can depend on for many, many years.

So don't just compare equipment when you buy your next system. Compare dealers. We're ready to talk when you are.

Rest easy. It's a Valley.

Boothby receives contract extension

Farwell School Supt. Richard Boothby received a contract extension through the 1993-94 from the Farwell School Board Tuesday.

In other business, the board:
- Approved seeking a waiver from the state for exceeding the class size limit in the two grade 4 rooms. The maximum allowable is 22 students per class, and Farwell's is a couple over in each.

- Heard counselor Carol Sullivan report on the TAAS results.

- Heard Maintenance Supt. Joe Stanton report on roof problems, and the fact that the new van has arrived.

- Heard business manager Leandra Byrd report on finances, which show an excellent cash balance.

- Conducted a public hearing, due to state laws, on the Academic Excellence Indicator System. No members of the community attended.

Contract awarded

A contract has been awarded to construct the second stage of the widening of the Amarillo Highway between Friona and Bovina.

Work has been ongoing for the first stage, from Friona to Summerfield, all last year.

The contract, for over $10 million, was awarded to Amarillo Road Co. It calls for a 29-month project. The company hopes to finish by December 1993 on this stage.

As with the first stage, two new lanes will be constructed, then the current two lanes will be reconstructed.

A hot-mix plant will be set up near Bovina to provide materials for the project.

The U.S. government pays 75 percent of the money. The state pays the other 25 percent. Parmer County paid about $100,000 to secure right of way.

Trash container bids received

Four bids were received by the Parmer County Commissioners Monday to maintaining trash containers in the county for 1992. The bids were taken under advisement.

Currently, containers are placed near Bovina and Friona. It's possible they also will be placed in Lazbuddie and Oklahoma Lane.

Waste Management of New Mexico, Hobbs, seeks $399 each time it dumps the Friona container and $335 each time it dumps the Bovina one.

MISSCO, Amarillo, asks $300 each time it dumps a container.

Amarillo Waste Management, wants $295 for each dumping, plus $150 a month rental fee for each.

The bid by Waste Management, Lubbock, didn't meet bid specifications.

In other business, Jon Sessions of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission, gave an update on the Lazbuddie sewer construction.

It's close to schedule but the blustery weather has been a hindrance. The engineer sent back the PVC pipe that had been damaged in the fire and had it replaced.

The holiday schedule was approved for courthouse workers.

Days off will be:
Good Friday, April 17; Memorial Day, May 25; Independence Day, July 3; Labor Day, Sept. 7; Thanksgiving, Nov. 26 and 27; Christmas, Dec. 24 and 25; and New Years Day, Jan. 1.

Each of the four volunteer fire departments in the county got their annual $4,000 subsidies.
