Museum to be open for special Memorial Day military exhibit

Exhibit features local military men and women

The Heart of West Texas Museum will be open all day Memorial Day to enable local residents to see the Mitchell County Military Exhibit during the holiday.

"We're encouraging parents to bring their children to see the exhibit as part of their Memorial Day activities. By seeing the items that have been loaned by local people just for this exhibit, children, especially, will have a better understanding of the real meaning of Memorial Day," said Jay McCollum, museum board member.

The popular exhibit focuses on participation by Mitchell County men and women in wars since 1917. Many of the items on exhibit were loaned by local veterans or their families specifically for this exhibit and will be returned to their owners after the holiday.

Twenty-one uniforms, belonging to both men and women, are on display. A special section of the exhibit is the Vietnam Memorial case, which includes items loaned to the museum by the families whose sons died in the Vietnam War. A photograph in the display case of PFC Ralph Smith came from undeveloped film that was on him when he was killed in Vietnam. Letters from Sgt. James G. Standefer in Vietnam are in the same display area, next to the notification from the Army that he had been killed in action.

The Heart of West Texas Museum will be open Monday, Memorial Day, May 26, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

BUDDY POPPIES WEEK: Pat Glass, secretary for the Ladies Auxiliary of VFW Post 9178, pins a poppy on Lee Harris, president, during Buddy Poppy Week May 22 through May 26. Fambro expects big crowds at lake

This weekend is the kick-off for the summer season at Lake Colorado City State Park.

"If the weather cooperates, it looks like it will be a busy year at the lake," said Mark Fambro, park director.

Fambro said that just how busy the park will be this year will depend on the weather.

April visitation was not as high as expected because of frequent rains but visitation to the 574-acre recreational area was higher than average in March.

"We still need about 8 feet of water in the lake," he said.

Once the lake level is higher, sunny weather would help bring

Body of man found dead on I-20 shows high alcohol level

Autopsy reports received by the Mitchell County Sheriff's Department last week show that an Odessa man had a high level of alcohol in his system when he fell from the back of a moving vehicle on I-20 May 1.

Mitchell County Sheriff Patrick Toombs said that the preliminary toxicology portion of the autopsy report shows a blood alcohol level of .31.

"That's extremely high," said Toombs. "We don't run across many who have that high of a level of alcohol in their systems."

According to the Texas Penal Code, Chap. 49, "intoxicated means a presumptive level of alcohol concentration of 0.10."

A .4 reading indicates a comatose condition.

The body of Doug Vernon, Sr., 55, of Odessa was found along Interstate 20 around 10:30 p.m. Thursday, May 1.

Mitchell County Sheriff's deputies and a Colorado City police officer searched the roadway along I-20 after authorities were notified by a 911 caller that she heard truckers talking on their CB's about seeing a body near exit 244 by Loraine, said Toombs.

The case is still under investigation. However, Sheriff Toombs said the alcohol level will be a factor when deciding whether to file negligent homicide charges against the two men who were with Vernon in the pickup.

Clifton Green, 50, of Odessa and Marion Oscar Davis, Jr. 52, of Abilene, were located in Abilene in Vernon's pickup the day after Vernon's body was found.

The two were arrested on local warrants not in connection with Vernon's death.

Green was charged with public intoxication and Davis was charged with driving with a suspended license, a misdemeanor.

Toombs said they claimed Vernon had been riding in the bed of the truck and they didn't realize he had fallen out of the truck.

Vernon, a welder in Odessa, was a 1960 graduate of Snyder.

Memorial Day - 1997

On Memorial Day ...
... our thoughts turn to those brave people of our armed forces who died while serving their country. In times of peace and times of war, these courageous men and women stood ready to defend the very freedom that we cherish.
On Memorial Day, we pay tribute to them all. Their deeds will never be forgotten... they did not die in vain.

C-City hires firm to prepare landfill study

The Colorado City council took steps last week to determine whether it will be practical to stay in the landfill business in the future.

During the May 13 Colorado City Council meeting, council members approved hiring a consulting engineering firm to evaluate the feasibility of continuing to operate the city landfill.

The planned study by engineers from Ken Martin of Jacob & Martin, Inc. of Abilene is in anticipation of changes in Texas Natural Resource Conservation landfill regulations effective October 9.

The impact of the TNRCC changes on operating costs and alterntive means of waste collection and disposal will be analyzed.

Ken Martin of Jacob & Martin told the council that many rural towns in Texas "have gotten out of the landfill business." However, some, such as Haskell that are making money on construction waste, are keeping their landfills.

The study is estimatated to

COOK'S CORNER

Lynette McWhorter

Lynette McWhorter, owner and operator of Dust Busters professional cleaning service, enjoys being self-employed. She shares her enjoyment with her clients by taking them "a little something" she cooks up. She tries to take treats to all of her clients to show that she considers each one special.

Cookies are one of Lynette's favorite things to share with her clients. She said that she tries to keep some dough made up in the refrigerator so she can bake up a batch of cookies in about 15 minutes.

Lynette first started cooking at a young age by participating in 4-H. She also grew up around a family full of good cooks. She said her mom and aunt "are wonderful cooks."

On occasion, Lynette prepares more than cookies for others. She has been known to put all the ingredients together in a crock pot for a dish she calls Stuff. She then takes the crock pot to the client's home and starts the dish cooking. By the time the client gets home from work, supper is done.

Sam, Lynette's three-year-old son, likes grilled cheese sandwiches. Lynette said she tends to burn them so she has to be especially careful when she makes them. Sam also enjoys soft tacos and taco salad.

Pizza is one of Lynette's favorites. She prefers her own homemade pizza over the store-bought kind. She has a bread machine, so making the crust is easy and it turns out so tasty. Another plus to making homemade pizza is topping it with whatever you like.

Lynette and Sam have lived in Colorado City since the summer of 1992. She helps with GED Supervision at Mitchell County Courthouse on a part-time basis, along with owning her own business. She said that she likes living in this small community and has made some good friends since she moved here.

A busy summer schedule calls for simple yet delicious dishes. Try these that Lynette shared with us. Enjoy!

Edward Jones to host seminar

Tim Riggan, the local Edward Jones investment representative, will host a free satellite broadcast for women on Thursday, May 29.

This hour-long program, "Taking Hold of Your Purse Strings," will include a panel of stock analysts from Edward Jones' equity research department who will discuss how stocks can help women obtain their financial goals at various periods of their lives - starting with the early investing years through retirement. The program will also address how to select mutual funds, minimize risk, and choose to meet individual financial goals.

"Studies show that 80 to 90 percent of women will be solely responsible for their finances at some point in their lives," Riggan said. "The stock market can play a critical role in helping individuals achieve their financial goals, yet many are inexperienced investors with questions about how to develop a portfolio of stocks."

Broadcast live from Edward Jones' headquarters in St. Louis, the program will reach Edward Jones' 3,500 branch offices nationwide via the firm's private satellite network. Following the panelists' remarks, viewers nationwide may phone in questions live onto the set.

For more information on the free May 29 program or to reserve a seat, contact Tim Riggan located at 4204 College Avenue, Snyder, TX 79549; and phone (915)573-4055.

Greetings to everyone!

LaJuana Solomon called Monday to tell everyone the wildflowers are still just a pretty as ever, even though the bluebonnets are about gone. They just returned from a trip to East Texas and it was a treat to see so many beautiful fields of wildflowers.

She also said that if you haven't driven to Snyder lately, you should make the trip to see the yellow fields. She's the second person to mention the yellow fields between here and Snyder.

***

Marge Kolman said the Garden Club owed a big thank you to two young men from Phoenix Emporium. Lupe Salazar, Jr. and Lucky Aguillar helped her move some barrel planters to the front of Lone Star Cleaners. Lone Star employees have agreed to plant flowers in the planters and to keep them watered.

***

If you see Roy Lee Beach be careful not to touch his thumb. He was working out at his farm the other day and hit it so hard with a hammer that it split the skin underneath. Joan said she couldn't imagine what or who he could have been mad at!

***

If you are interested in tapes of Old Timers Reunion or the Col-Tex Reunion, contact the Mitchell County Library. Hubert Feaster recorded those events and has made it possible for those who want copies to get one.

Preston Burchard of California was in town last week and was able to attend the first reorganizational meeting of the Mitchell County Historical Commission.

Burchard is a descendent of Preston Coleman, respected pioneer doctor in Mitchell County. The group met at the museum, the original home of Mr. Coleman.

CHIEF LONE WOLF

By JIM BAUM

About this time of the year, old cowboys recall the day of their spring roundups. Fred McClellan, who cowboyed on the Spade Ranch beginning in 1925 at the age of 18, says back in the gold ol' days, the roundup was in full bloom by now.

"We'd take the chuck wagon out and we'd take our beds and stay with the wagon. Sometimes we'd come in to take a bath or shave, if Mr. Jones (Otto) would let us."

'Course, things were a little different back then, but McClellan says the roundups were fun. "The first few days when you're not used to riding everyday, you'd be kinda sore. You gotta get hardened to it."

Roundups on the Spade back in the 20's could result in branding a hundred or more calves a day. But McClellan says the pastures were a lot bigger then than they are now.

"One pasture," he recalled, "had over 50 sections in it. It would take about four days to work it." During good years, the calf crop could amount to some 500 calves. There were also years it would be a lot less.

"After the calves were branded," McClellan continued, "we'd kinda hold 'em and let 'em pair up (with their mothers). The cows would find their calves and then we'd leave 'em and let 'em go back on their range together."

Sometimes the momma cow didn't want to let her calf out of her sight. "She'd just follow the calf right up where we were brandin'. Sometimes they act like they wanted to fight us."

Joe Boatright also cowboyed on the Spade Ranch. In a 1981 interview, he told us about going to work on the ranch at the age of 13. That was 1920 and Boatright was paid the handsome amount of $35 per month. His title was "horse-wrangler".

"I drug up wood for the cook, drove horses around. They (the cowboys) would be out for six weeks at a time sometimes."

Boatright said as far as he knew, no one ever worried about him getting hurt. Occasionally he would suffer an injury, but never a bad one.

"I got throwed every once in awhile," he told us. Eventually Boatright worked his way up to foreman of the ranch. And he can recall when some of the "extras" at the ranch worked during the depression for "six-bits a day".

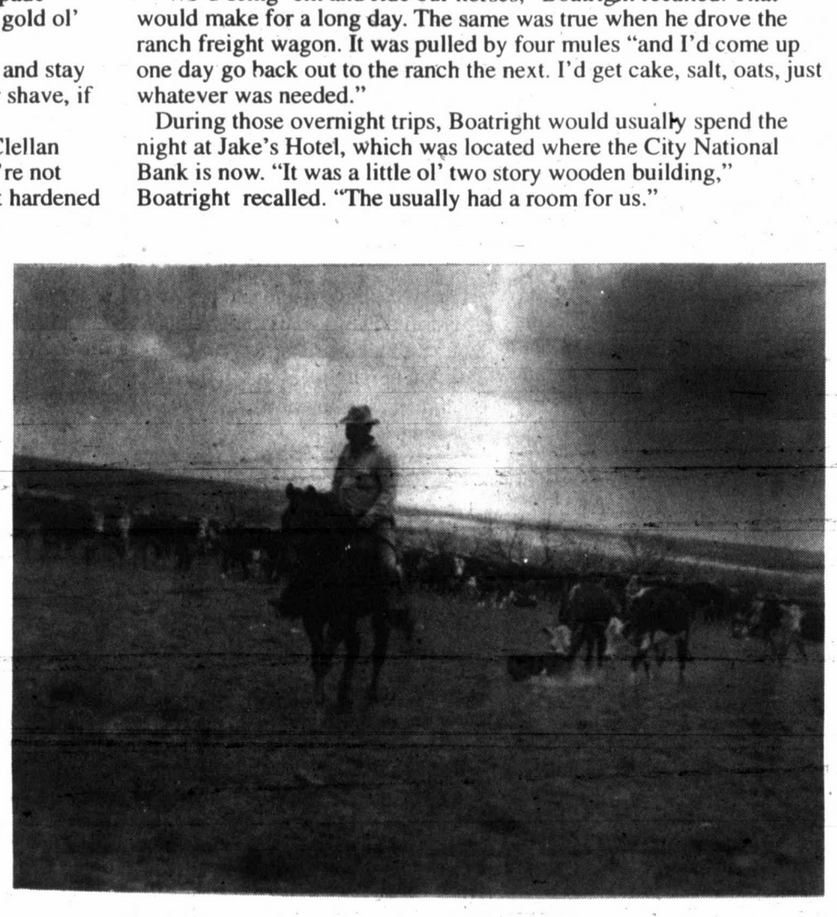

The cowboys would come into town "once or twice a month". Sometimes it would be three or four months before they would get to come in.

The Colorado City he remembered in the early 1920's was much different from our town of today. "Man, there was a chief of police (Dick Hickman) and he could run the town all by himself. If he told you to go home, you'd better go."

Whether cowhands were working roundups or just performing their annual chores, the job was from "daylight 'til dark" everyday. That included those days when Spade cowboys would drive cattle into Colorado City.

"We'd bring 'em and ride our horses," Boatright recalled. That would make for a long day. The same was true when he drove the ranch freight wagon. It was pulled by four mules "and I'd come up one day go back out to the ranch the next. I'd get cake, salt, oats, just whatever was needed."

During those overnight trips, Boatright would usually spend the night at Jake's Hotel, which was located where the City National Bank is now. "It was a little ol' two story wooden building," Boatright recalled. "The usually had a room for us."

Joe Boatright with a roped calf being pulled to the branding area. The mother cow follows along behind.

Getting back to the roundups, no doubt the days were long and the work hard. Day after day, men were roping calves, pulling 'em to a fire in the open pasture where the animals would be branded and cut.

Fred McClellan recalls a time Pop Snyder was cutting some horses. A women visitor to tthe ranch asked, "Mr. Snyder, what are you doin' to that horse?"

"Makin' a gentleman out of him," Snyder replied. "Just making a gentleman out of him."

It's spring time and more gentlemen are being created out on the ranches in Mitchell County.

Garden Club holds final meeting of '97

The garden of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Burt was the scene of the final meeting of the 1997 Colorado City Garden Club.

18 members and two guests met Monday, May 19 at 12:00 noon for a salad luncheon. Tables were set in pastel (peach & white) under the covered patio and others were set in blue and white under a large striped tent. The garden setting was a joy to behold Containers of roses, gladiolas, iris' and wild flowers were centered on each of the five tables.

Outgoing President Brenda Aguillon was recognized with a gift for her leadership, having served two consecutive terms in office. Officers for the 1997-1999 term were installed by Ray Anne Carlock. New officers are Terry Ann McAdams, president; Marjorie Kolman, first vice-president; Flo Bodine, second vice-president; Laverne Chalker, treasurer; Cecilia Scott, secretary; Betsy Aycock, reporter.

Incoming president McAdams addressed the group and named committees and their members for the next year beginning September 1997.

In other business, Ms. Kolman told of the planting of the barrels in downtown business area, and plans for the Friendly Parker, corner of Elm & 2nd St.

Guests attending were Jerry Strain and Puddy Neff. Members were Marilyn Tartt, Terry McAdams, Cecilia Scott, Leslie Scott, Margaret Trulock, Faye Nell Herm, F. Bodine, Carolyn Witten, Mary Ellis, Peggy Ratliff, Wilma Reynolds, Charlene Reily, hostesses Jeanine Bodine, Dovie Brownfield, Kolman, Aguillon, Carlock and Erna Lou Burt.

Fraser co-authors boll weevil eradication bill

Legistlation co-authored by Sen. Troy Fraser, R-Marble Falls, that revises the state's boll weevil eradication progarm won approval last week from the Senate Natural Resources Committee.

Senate Bill 1814, co-authored by Fraser and Sen. Robert Duncan, R-Lubbock, was approved by a 8-0 vote and now goes to the full Senate for consideration.

"The local Texas Farm Bureaum presidents and the cotton-growers in the western half of my district are very supportive of this legislation because of the projected damage this year," Fraser said. "If we fail to approve this now, it could be devastating to cotton-growers. My goal is to protect cotton-growers' investment in the program and allow eradication in their areas to continue."

Fraser has been a long-time supporter of the boll weevil eradication program, largely due to the success of an early program began in his former West Texas district when he served in the Texas House.

Under Senate Bill 1814, three eradication zones—the Rolling Plains Central, Southern Rolling Plains and South Texas Winter Garden—would continue with their existing validated assessments to cotton-growers to pay for the program.

The Rolling Plains Central zone inlcudes Brown, Callahan, Mitchell, Nolan, Shackelford, Stephens, Young and part of Taylor Counties. The Southern Rolling Plains zone includes Coke, Coleman, Concho, McCulloch, Runnels and another part of Taylor counties.

"Each of these counties would benefit under the bill and the cotton-growers in my district are in agreement that we've found a workable solution to fix the problems in the aftermath of the court ruling," Fraser said.

The legislation to revise the boll weevil eradication program became necessary after the Texas Supreme Court earlier this month ruled the current program, administered by the Texas Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation, Inc. was unconstitutional.

The court, by a 5-4 vote, objected to the non-profit foundation's "broad governmental powers," including the capability to destroy the crops of cotton-growers who refused to pay for the program.

Under the bill, Texas Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry would gain operational oversight of the program and be empowered to "plan, carry out, and operate eradication and diapause programs."

Fraser said the bill would also allow the agriculture commissioner to appoint the initial 15 members to the foundation's board and approve its operating budget, ability to borrow money and its purchasing policy.

The bill also eliminates the foundation's power to plowup cotton crops of farmers who fail to pay fees, subjects the foundation to the Texas Open Records and Open Meetings Act, and provides for annual audits of the foundation by the state.

Further revisions designed to protect the foundation from cotton-growers attempted to recover prior assessments paid by them are expected when the measure reaches the Senate floor for a vote.

Local program to help parents determine child development

Mitchell County parents who have concerns about how their infant or toddler is developing and learning can get help from a Sweetwater agency.

The Early Childhood Intervention program (ECI) serves children from birth to three-years-old with disabilities or delays in development at no cost to families of all income levels. All the services provided through the program are at no cost to the families that are eligible for the program.

The Rolling Prairies Early Childhood Intervention program in Sweetwater conducts free screenings to determine if a child is delayed in their development.

"It's never too early," said Mary Lou Bledsoe, program director for the Rolling Plains ECI.

There could be delayed development in a baby's ability to move, sit up, walk, talk, understand or get along with others.

Catching delays in development early can give a child the chance to get the extra help he or she needs that could minimize or prevent future problems, explained Bledsoe.

Early Childhood Intervention staff provides a developmental screening or evaluation to see if a child is eligible for the program.

"We go to the parent. We don't require the child to come here," said Bledsoe. "The testing is done in the natural environment for the child, whether that's the home or a daycare, wherever is the most comfortable for the child."

According to ECI literature, "children are eligible if they have a significant developmental delay in one or more of the following areas: learning, movement, ability to talk, ability to understand and get along with others.

"Children with atypical development or medical conditions that are known to lead to developmental delay, such as Down syndrome, cerebral palsy, or seizure disorders, are also eligible."

Once a child is found to be eligible for the program, the family and ECI staff work together as a team to develop a plan outlining services and plan appropriate activities.

"The family is an integral part of the whole process," Bledsoe said.

A large range of services are provided. A few of the many services include hearing and vision screenings; physical, occupational, speech and language therapy; transportation to services; nutritional services and home visits to develop special plans.

The Rolling Prairies office serves Mitchell, Nolan, Scurry, Howard, Fisher, Borden, stonewall, Throckmorton, Haskell, Knox, Cottle and King Counties.

Odessa man sentenced in brutal attack of former Loraine resident

An Odessa man was sentenced to serve two concurrent 50-year prison terms after a 70th District Court jury found him guilty May 6 of a brutal attack on a former Loraine woman.

James Paul Pace, 30, was found guilty of two counts of aggravated sexual assault in an attack that occurred in the Holiday Inn Centre parking lot in Odessa Oct. 17.

According to a Houston surgeon who testified in the penalty phase of the trial, the victim suffers vision and sinus problems and underwent lengthy facial surgery following the attack in which her face was repeatedly punched and slammed against a concrete surface.

Ector County Assistant District Attorney Janice Hinshaw had asked for the maximum penalty of 99 years to life in prison.

Pace, who will be eligible for parole after he serves 25 years, was also required to pay $20,000 in fines.

Defense Attorney David Zavoda said during a May 6 interview with an Odessa American reporter that he will probably appeal and ask for a new trial based on the handling of the case by the Odessa Police Department.

(Editor's Note: The Loraine woman's name is not used in this story at her request.)

Lake level readings now on the Internet

Precise and up-to-date lake level readings and current conditions at Lake Colorado City and Lake Champion will be available to the public by next month, thanks to United States Geological Survey technology.

Readings from a bubbler device in Lake Colorado City are now being relayed via satellite transmissions and recorded on the Internet at the USGS Station site.

Readings every 15 minutes throughout the day Tuesday, May 20, showed the lake level at Lake Colorado City was 2060.23 at 15 minutes after midnight and stayed at 2060.22 from 1:45 a.m. until 6:15 a.m.

Reservoir storage in acre-feet at 6:15 a.m. was 18230.77.

A USGS station will be installed for Lake Champion by June 1, staff at the San Angelo Field Unit office reported Tuesday.

The Internet site is located at http://txwww.cr.usgs.gov/cgi-bin/uv/?station. Lake Colorado City's station number is 08123000.

County septic tank regulations to change

In an effort to meet Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission regulations on septic tanks, Mitchell County Commissioners Tuesday set a tank size minimum of 750 gallons and 625 gallons for the secondary tank.

The action during a called Commissioners' Court meeting Tuesday morning followed a report by Buz Rich, county sanitarian, on the latest TNRCC regulations.

Rich said that the tank size requirements are applicable throughout the county, not just the areas around lakes.

Other TNRCC regulations now specify that septic tanks must be installed by a certified installer, he added.

CHS to receive mini-grant for Project Graduation '97

Colorado City High School is among 28 in the Abilene district receiving a $300 mini-grant each from the Texas Department of Transportation for Project Graduation 1997. This is $50 more than was presented to each school last year.

In addition to the grant, Brenda Mitchell, Abilene district traffic safety coordinator, visited the high schools and presented the Project Graduation chairpersons key chains for each of the graduates who attend their high school event. These mementos bare the slogan, "Party Sober, Smart and Safe." Several t-shirts baring the same slogan were also donated to be used as door prizes.

"These graduation keepsakes are a reminder to the students to remain alcohol-free around prom and graduation time," Mitchell said.

For the past several years TxDOT has made grants available through its Traffic Operations division to support Project Graduation. The money is divided between the state's 25 districts who then determine the amount of each grant based on the number of high schools participating in their individual district.

This program is one of TxDOT's most popular and well-received projects offered throughout the state, transportation officials say.

Project Graduation was originally developed to assist rural schools with their celebrations and began in 1984 with only two schools. In 1989, the first year the department provided mini-grants to rural schools, they had 59 recipients. The program proved so successful, it was expanded to include all high schools. The more than 500 schools participating this year will effect 110,000 students.

Mitchell said the mini-grants are not intended to fully fund a Project Graduation event, but to provide "seed money" for schools to start and support alcohol/drug-free parties for high school students. The funds are to be used to cover expenses such as printing, materials, postage, supplies, room rentals, and the like.

Brooke Ritchey named United States National Award winner

Brooke Ritchey

The United States Achievement Academy announced recently that Brooke Ritchey from Colorado City has been named a United States National Award winner in Art.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American high school students.

Brooke, who attends Colorado High School, was nominated for this national award by Carolyn Walker, Art teacher at the school. Brooke will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, winners of the United States Achievement Academy should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation by teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Brooke is the daughter of John and Gay Ritchey from Colorado City and the granddaughter of Ed Love of Colorado City.

Finley has been named to the President's List

Alyssa Finley, daughter of Landus and Diana Finley, has been named to the Oklahoma Christian University President's List for the spring 1997 trimester.

Finley, from Colorado City, is a sophomore majoring in art.

The President's List recognizes the academic performance of students who have earned a 4.0 grade point average on a four-point scale. The 119 students who were named to the President's List were announced by Dr. Jeanine Varner, vice president of academic affairs for the University.

Oklahoma Christian is a private liberal arts university recognized by U.S. News & World Report for three consecutive years as a "Best Value" in higher education. The University has been named to the Templeton Honor Roll of Character Building Colleges and the Honor Roll for Free Enterprise Teaching. Oklahoma Christian offers accredited programs in more than 70 major areas of study in five colleges: Bible, Business, Education, Liberal Arts, and Science and Engineering. Now in its 47th year of operation, its student enrollment represents most of the 50 states and 26 countries.

Make Your Exterior Paint Jobs Easier

• Painting the exterior of your home is never a small project, but there are many tips that will help you toward an easier and more successful project.
• First, choose a time of day when morning dew is gone and sunlight is not direct - if paint dries too quickly, brush marks will show.
• When using latex paints the temperature should be above 50 degrees F. If it is warmer than 70 degrees, it is best to paint in shaded areas, following the sun around the house.
• Two topcoats are recommended to prolong the life of the coating-- the first should be applied with a brush, rather than a roller or pad, to make sure an adequate film of paint is worked into the surface.
• After thoroughly mixing the pain, split full gallons between two containers so it is safer and easier to use. Load your brush properly by dripping the bristles to half their length and remove excess paint by tapping the brush against the inside of the container.
• After the main body of the house has been painted, the next step is to paint the wood trim and frames around the windows and doors. Make sure to use a shield to avoid dripping paint on the siding. The last step is tos it down and admire your good craftsmanship.

Bulldogs to rebuild

The cupboard will be left almost dry for the District 7-A runner-up Loraine Bulldogs who graduate nine seniors this Friday night.

Freshmen second baseman Mike Rico and outfielder Rene Garcia will be the only returning starters for Coach Rick Cooper.

Several of the nine seniors played on teams that made the play-offs all four years they were in high school.

Expected to form the pitching rotation next year will be sophomores Josh Woodell and Garcia. Rico and transfer, Adam Molina, could also figure in the future plans. Luis Rico, coming up from junior high school, should help right away.

"It will definitely be a rebuilding year for us," Coach Rick Cooper said. "We are losing some kids that have played together since little league. That kind of experience is hard to replace but we have a good nucleus to work from."

Mathis looking forward to next year

After suffering through a tough inaugural softball season this year Coach Linda Mathis is looking foward to next season with great enthusiasm.

The 1998 version will be led by junior All-District selection Amanda Rivera who returns at second base. Ace pitcher Ann Marie Scott will also be returning. The hard-throwing sophomore was a 2nd team All-District selection, as was sophomore 1st baseman Kim Sharp, sophomore shortstop Liz Rivera and sophomore outfielder Kendra Anderson. Jana Redwine, a junior was also 2nd team all-district selection as utility infielder.

Sophomore outfielders Edwina Ceballos and Jaime Mason were selected to honorable mention all-district.

"Several freshmen will be coming up next year and that should help us." said Coach Mathis.

"We are setting our goal to win district next year. Several girls will be playing in summer leagues which will be beneficial to us. We need to find a couple more pitchers though. Ann Marie Scott carried the load for us but she was probably overworked."

The Lady Wolves ended this years season with a 1-3 District record.

Bulldogs lose to Buena Vista

For the second year in a row, Loraine's play-off trip ended at the Bi-District round with the Bulldogs losing to Buena Vista last Thursday by a 3-0 count.

Bear Cooper started on the mound for Loraine scattering 4 hits, striking out 4 and giving up 1 base on balls. He gave way to Kyle Moore in the 6th inning. Moore gave up no runs but did allow 3 hits while making up 2 strikeouts. Cooper absorbed the loss, his first in nine decisions.

"I thought Bear did a good job on the mound." said Coach Rick Cooper. "Our main problem was we just didn't hit the ball and it's hard to win when you don't hit. I believe the nine day lay off did effect us some."

Buena Vista managed a run in the 3rd, 4th, and 5th innings off Cooper of which only one was earned.

Loraine managed to get 4 hits off of Buena Vista's hard throwing pitcher, Josh Graham.

Kyle Moore and Efran Martinez had two doubles. Martinez got as far as third base where he was left stranded.

Buena Vista countinues in the play-offs taking on Baird (11-7) in the next round. District Champion Rotan (20-0) beat Marfa 10-0 last Tuesday and will play Cross Plains in the next round.

Assault on rabies has produced dramatic results

Rabies in coyotes and gray foxes haven't been choked out yet in Texas, but the noose is tightening, thanks to a third successful year in a cooperative state program.

The Texas Animal Damage Control Service, working with other government agencies, helped lead an aerial assault that spread baited rabies vaccine over 41,000 square miles of South, West and Central Texas.

Concluding in early February, the annual Texas Department of Health program also involved personnel from the Texas National Guard and the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources. It tightened the "perimeters of immunity," squeezing just a little more the areas where the rabies cases are centered.

The strategy is to fly in smaller bands around the infected areas each year until the areas have been spread completely with baited vaccine and the disease controlled.

The perimeters serve as buffer zones around the infected areas. Targeted animals generally have a limited range and will not move beyond the buffer zone, said Guy Moore of the Texas Department of Health, West-Central Texas project director for the aerial drop.

In 1995, the assualt began with a vaccine drop against coyotes in South Texas, where 21 counties have reported canine rabies cases. In 1996, it expanded to include an area around 48 West and Central Texas counties where rabies in gray foxes is a problem.

January's South Texas portion covered 21,000 square miles and parts of 29 counties. February's drop in West and Central Texas covered 20,000 square miles in 52 counties.

As the operation continues in subsequent years, organizers expect the infected areas will become ever smaller. Animal rabies cases fell from 244 in 1995 to 101 in 1996 in the West and Central Texas area. In South Texas, they fell from 142 to 20.

No cases of rabies have been reported in foxes or coyotes outside the perimeters since the program began, Moore said.

Funding for the program runs out in 1998, but the agencies running it hope to be able to secure future funding, he added.

The agencies are working together to stamp out an epizootic, or epidemic in animals, that had spread through 21 South Texas Counties and 48 counties in the western and central portions of the state. Gray fox and coyote populations were among the animals most affected, and the coyote rabies problem was quickly moving toward San Antonio when the aerial vaccinations began in 1995.

The difference between the two areas lies mainly in the bait used and the animals targeted.The South Texas bait for coyotes is primarily fish meal, while the fox bait is dogfood laced with aromatic vanilla and a bit of sugar coating.

"Foxes have a sweet tooth," Moore explained.

Using three bright yellow Twin Otter planes from Ontario, the effort involves teams of pilots, navigators and others who fly for several hours at a time. Planes fly a preplanned path, dropping baits over a quarter-mile wide swath. They parallel the same path on the way back, moving over slightly to cover another quarter-mile area.

On good days, three complete out-and-back tours can be made with each plane. The trips eventually result in an outer perimeter 20 miles wide where bait had been spread.

Crews in the back of the planes man a long conveyor belt, keeping a steady stream of the baits rolling along the belt and eventually out of an apparatus that drops the baits out of the bottom of the plane.

The flight crew controls the apparatus from the cockpit so that is does not drop bait over houses or other populated areas.

The baits might be tasty for coyotes, foxes and other animals happening upon them. However, they're not so pleasing for flight crews.

"You never forget that smell," said Moore, who added that most people become nauseated at least once during the operation, but get used to the smell.

"We hear jokes, but very few complaints. Everybody seems to love to do this."

Crews switch off to avoid consecutive segments and fly either one or two segments each day. More that 50 Texas Animal Damage Control Service employees took part.

"This a high-manpower operation," said Gary Lee Nunley, state director of the Texas Animal Damage Control Service. "We supply about 60 percent of the manpower and pay their salaries, but TDH picks up the travel costs.

"We have a common interest, so it's beneficial for all of us to cooperate."

Using a mobile command post, the project started in Alice in the second week of January. It moved to Fort Stockton, and then concluded in Burnet a month later.

Airports in all three locations were used for the daily flights along the perimeters.

Ontario contracts out planes and crews because they are not in full-time use in Canada, where rabies problems also occur. That province also has a vested interest in doing so, Moore said.

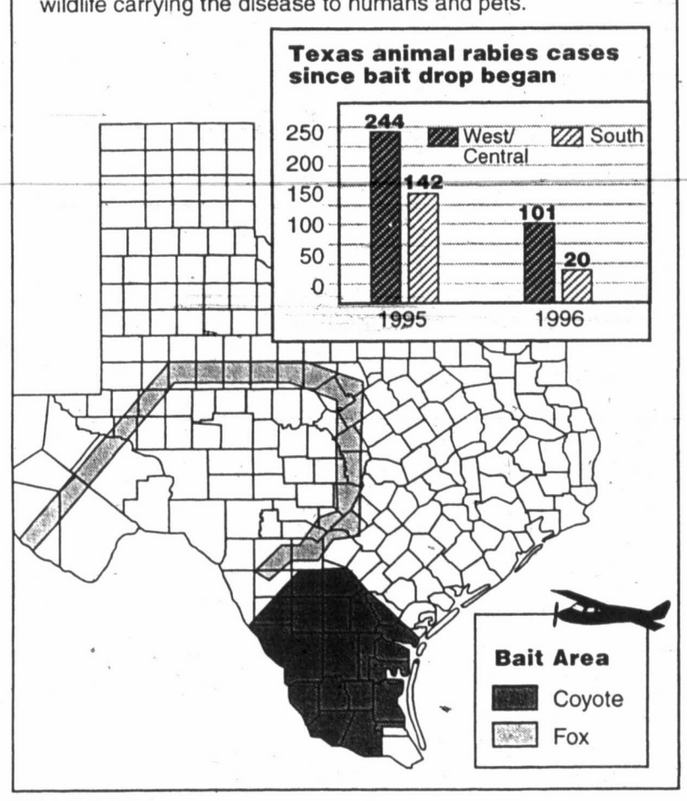

"The particular strain of rabies in coyotes is found only in Texas, so we don't want it to break out," he said. "If it does, it's conceivable that it could go all the way to Canada."

Nunley said the Texas Animal Damage Control Service will soon be out in the field conducting surveillance work to monitor the success of the project. Its expertise in collecting animals for surveys and in controlling animal diseases complements the health department's ability to plan and monitor the large vaccination effort, he said.

Dr. Gayne Fearneyhough, director of the health department's oral rabies vaccination program, said establishing the perimeter and recuring cases within is important because it reduces the chances of rabies transmission .

Air raid on rabies

The incidence of rabies in coyotes has dropped significantly in the last several years. Texas Department of Health officials, along with several other agencies, have air-dropped rabies vaccine baits for coyotes in South Texas since 1995 and for grey fox in West Texas since 1996 to eliminate the threat of wildlife carrying the disease to humans and pets.

Loraine News

Greetings from Loraine!

Have you decided on where you will vacation this year?

From places I've seen on television and read about in newspapers, Texas is the choice state for me!

It's true I'm not a very good traveler, but I plan on being a little more adventurous this year, after all we only live once.

Instead of stopping at the western edge of Roscoe, like I did last year, I plan to travel all the way through town and even to the eastern edge of it. This way I can pack light, brown bag it and with any luck at all, be back home before it gets dark.

Just in the past few days, Ham Hamilton caught a lake trout that weighed 15 pounds and was 33 inches long. A number one trophy if ever there was one! The only problem with that was the tournament doesn't begin until June. Ham is going to skin and fillet it, but Blondie urged him to preserve it and have it mounted. Now Wayne Dubose will have to believe Ham's catch!

Our condolences to the Waggoner family. Thermon Waggoner from Odessa passed away Friday. He is the husband of Juanita Claxton Waggoner. She is the twin sister to Oleta Graham Hyden. The funeral was held in Odessa and graveside rites were held at the Loraine Cemetery.

We are pleased to announce that Margaret Brame is back in her own home and doing better.

Cecil and Katrina Robinson took Eva Wells to San Angelo this last week where she visited a sister, Pearl Prentiss while there. Eva later visited with John and Monica Robinson, her grandson and his wife, and attended a baby shower for the couple.

Eva, Cecil and Katrina came home early Sunday morning and the three went to the Methodist Church in Loraine for morning worship.

On Mother's Day, Gary and Teresa Walker and sons from Snyder visited with Charlene Walker.

Saturday, May 17, Christene Britton's children hosted a surprise birthday party for her, held at the Loraine Senior Center. The party tables were decorated with pastel colors in teal, mauve and golds, with bunches of balloons heand tied and attached to posts.

The refreshments tables held silver appointments and were ladened with buffet type foods, along with coffee and birthday cake.

Coming for their mother's birthday celebration were daughters and families, Carla and Dwight Ashton, sons Mark and Mitch from Abilene and Janna and Trey Holloway, Jordan, Weston, and Hannah from Carrollton

Sons Mike and Rachel Britton and Christy from Colorado Springs, Colo. and Randy and Dot Britton and Kyle from Big Spring also attended.

Oscar and Rachel Singleton have just returned from a trip to South Texas. They reported that from Loraine to Pleasanton, the wildflowers were spectacular and almost solid in every field and pasture. All colors were represented: yellow, red, purple, white and pink.

All the flowers were beautiful, but not near as much so as great grandson Seth Davis Black, born April 30, weighing 9 lbs, 9 oz. He is the son of Chuck and Angela Black, both school teachers in Pleasanton.

After visiting with Seth and his parents, the Singletons drove on to Austin where there were more beautiful wildflowers all along the way again, but not near as beautiful as Chandler Layne Wehmeyer, tiny great granddaughter. She is the daughter of Robert and Julie Wehmeyer.

What a trip to cherish and remember!

Ham and Blondie Hamilton were in Anna, Tex. recently to attend the eighth grade graduation ceremony of their granddaughter, Charity Cain. Charity was chosen most beautiful and most athletic.

She has also been chosen as cheerleader for junior varsity and received the positive behavior award.

The Mitchell County F.C.E. Clubs enjoyed a book review and tea held at the C.C. Thompson Room Thursday afternoon, May 16, with Mike Burt as narrator.

Mr. Burt spoke about early day Colorado City. It was kind of Mr. Burt to do this for the club.

Attending from Loraine were Doris Henderson and Mary Rose Bowen.

Iva Armstrong thought we might enjoy this little humorous tale...

A couple expecting a baby went to the hospital for delivery and when the lady went into labor, the doctor told the couple about a new machine he had that transfers some of the pain to the father of the baby.

The doctor then transferred 10% of the pain to dad but he wasn't fazed. He increased the amount of pain to 20% and still dad didn't have a problem. The doctor upped it on up to 50% and that was okay, to the doctor tried the machine at 100% and the dad still felt no pain.

The couple was happy and praised the doctor. They went home, husband, wife and baby. When they arrived home, they found the postman dead on the front porch!

ROSIE -
AN AUTOBIOGRAPHY

You can't keep calling a gun shop a "radiator shop", so what to call it? Mom to the rescue! By now, she was one of my favorite people. Her suggestion was to "call it Rosie's since she runs the place anyway". That's how I became the first known cat to run a gun store.

We received a bunch of books from friends so in one half of the store we put in a book exchange. The local radio station owner, Jim Baum and his wife, Linda, came out to help with the advertisement copy and to meet the crew. Jim told me, "stick with me girl and I'll make you rich and famous."

"Ha" retorted Linda, "he's been telling me that for the last two years!" With my help Jim coined the phrase "and don't forget to pet the cat."

All stores, especially gun stores must have security. We installed motion sensor lights along with an alarm on the door so whenever it is opened an alarm sounds. Everyone in town knew about our security system and our extended metal screens on the windows, including the air conditioner on the inside.

One night some nonlocal thieves decided to burglarize our store. They had been successful in entering a small cafe across the block by removing the air conditioner and going through the window. Our place looked like easy money. One of the thieves made the mistake of opening the store door.

The alarm went off and thinkng someone was coming in to feed me, I hopped up on a display case and made my way to the front. When I got to the top of the case, this turned on the motion sensor light over the air conditioner. Moving on down the counter, I also turned one on that aimed for the front door.

This was too much for the bad guys. They turned to run, but one of them forgot to turn loose of the board that he was removing from the air conditioner. Therein lies the tail—for therein lies the nail and smart guy left a trail of blood clear across the the street. The bad guys are still at large, but I got an extra bowl of Whiskas.

My person decided we needed an answering machine. He installed it and coming back after Sunday off he noticed the machine light flashing. Pressing the playback button, all he heard was a female type peron asking "who is this?" After the message stopped, the light kept blinking. This is an indication that a personal memo has been dictated. Playing back the memo, all we heard was an agitated voice saying "meeeeeeow." I just happened to be standing on the record button when an old tomcat went by. We now have a box built over the answering machine.

Take good care and see you about town!

Farm Safety Camp held Friday, May 2

Region 14 Education Service Center sponsored a Farm Safety Camp at the display building, Taylor County Expo Center on Friday, May 2, 1997.

There were about 120 students, ages 7-12 from seven area schools participating. These children are from farm families or farm worker's families.

There are an estimated 300 deaths and 23,500 injuries to children under the age of 20 on U.S. farms and ranches each year. Education on farm safety at an early age can help reduce the risk of accidents.

Topics of discussion and speakers included:

1. Kent Dold, Territory Mgr. Deere & Company - Tractor and Machine.
2. Kit Horne and Shirley Deal, Communication Specialists - West Texas Utilities - Electrical Safety.
3. Barbara Worley, Cross Plains Red Cross - First Aid.
4. Ricky Linox, Rangeland Specialist Natural Resource Conservation Service - Gun Safety.
5. Ralph Porter, Sales Representative Dow, Elanco Company - Chemical Safety.
6. Kyle Miller, Asst. Extension Agent - Animal Safety.

The program got underway at 9:00 am and concluded at 2:30 p.m. Schools participating included Colorado City, Snyder, Haskell, Jim Ned, Loraine, Gorman, Roby and Eastland.

The students from Colorado City that participated were Roger Carrillo, Jose Gonzalez, Roy Gonzalez, Amanda Leanos, Mary Salazar, Marisol Salazar, Jackie Velasquez, Jon Ventura, Cenia Zamora. They were accompanied by Mrs. Rachel Parras and Mrs. Emma Godina.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Warning

Letter to the Editor,

I would like to warn the people of Colorado City that the water meters are not being read again, at least mine has not. The last two months I have watched and looked for someone to read it.

There was at least two to four inches of dirt on my water meter, not counting what is in the inside. I called the City Manager, he had someone to come and read it the very next day. Thank you for that! My meter was read the 17th of April, it read 1457. On the 7th of May it read 1467. With the rain we have had and as little grass as I have, that is impossible. I used the water, but I want to be charged for it when I use it, not two months later.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Hickson

Business Cards

Letter to the Editor:

Craig Sherwood is a 17 year old boy suffering from terminal cancer. His wish is to enter Guinness Book of Records as the person who has collected the most business cards, which is more difficult than it first appears since he is allowed to accept only one card from each organization.

May I ask you to send a business card to Craig at the address below and forward this request to ten of your colleagues, friends, associates, along with the attached pages. You may send other business cards, as long as they are from different organizations or businesses. Please understand that speed is of the essence.

Please send your business card to :

I hope that you will make every effort to participate in this endeavor. Thank you.

Benefits of Postemergence vs. Preemergence Herbicides

Many growers here may begin their grass control program with a preemergence herbicide and these producers might only use a postemergence herbicide to control escapes later in the season.

Judy Coppol
Zeneca Ag Products

Treating grass after crop emergence is becoming more common because postemergence treatment is a logical part of an integrated pest management program. Using a postemergence herbicide application allows growers to determine grass problems before treatment and select a specific treatment for the problem. And, post herbicides are more available and effective than in the past.

Plus, postemergence herbicide applications offer the best control of perennial grasses like bermudagrass and johnsongrass as well as tough annual grasses like broadleaf signalgrass and Texas panicum.

There are several postemergence herbicides available. Growers can select the herbicide tailored to their individual problem. One of the best is FUSILADE® DX® herbicide.

Fusilade DX has a double-strength formulation for excellent control of problem perennial and annual grasses in soybeans and cotton. Research indicates Fusilade DX controls 90 percent or more of rhizome johnsongrass when applied within two to three weeks of crop emergence.

In addition, Fusilade DX works quickly. The herbicide is rainfast in an hour and stops plant growth in as little as two days.

For more information about Fusilade DX herbicide by Zeneca Ag Products, contact your local ag chem dealer.
