Major Strikes Hit West Coast, New York

Government Is Helpless In Coast Tieup

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—CIO longshoremen quit work on the Pacific coast today, and the federal government acknowledged itself powerless to intervene in the paralyzing port tieup.

Longshore chieftain Harry Bridges told his men to prepare for a four to six months strike.

The longshore union ordered picket lines on all docks by 8 a. m. tomorrow. The allied CIO marine cooks and stewards ordered them for midnight tonight.

Truman Powerless

The independent marine firemen met to decide their strike action, and so did the CIO marine engineers and the radio operators. All unions agreed earlier that none would sign a new contract until the others were satisfied with theirs.

In Washintgon, President Truman said he was powerless to interfere in the strike.

Morris Watson, longshore spokesman, said representatives of the maritime unions reached agreement late today on joint policy concerning security crews and safety measures "to be maintained despite the strike which began at 10:14 a. m. today." That was the time of expiration of a federal injunction which prevented a strike on June 15.

The statement said proper personnel would be supplied where a ship was edangered, and organized watchmen would be asked to remain aboard the ships.

War Dead Ships Not Affected

"All ships arriving in port will be allowed 24 hours to get ready for a shutdown. Longshoremen will unload mail and passenger baggage from arriving ships. No perishables or other cargo will be handled. War dead ships will be worked."

President Truman told his press conference in Washington he had no emergency power left to prevent a strike. The weapon provided by the Taft-Hartley law—a delaying injunction—already has been used.

For 80 days the members of Harry Bridges' CIO International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union have been "cooling off" under the injunction provided by the Taft-Hartley law.

The only legal obstacle to a strike was removed when U. S. District Judge George B. Harris

Coke's Lead Over Johnson In U. S. Senate Race Drops To 255

(By The Associated Press)

COKE STEVENSON'S unofficial lead over Lyndon Johnson in their U. S. Senate race had dropped to 255 votes today.

The Texas Election bureau's only tabulation last night gave Stevenson 494,229 votes; Johnson 493,974.

That tabulation, issued at 7 p. m. showed a loss of 131 votes for Stevenson and a loss of five votes for Johnson from the bureau's 1 p. m. report Thursday which had given Stevenson 494,360 votes and Johnson 493,979.

The bureau, which is substituting official county returns from last Saturday's runoff primary as they become available, said Stevenson lost 121 votes and Johnson lost three when the official Yoakum figure came in.

Reports from nine counties, including Yoakum, after the 1 p. m. tabulation yesterday, showed Stevenson losing 131 votes and Johnson off five.

The 1 p. m. count had given Stevenson a lead of 381 votes, as Johnson still expressed confidence he would win.

Johnson said in a statement at Austin he was "absolutely sure" he would have a majority when the official vote is canvassed. He said he had made a "careful check through my friends throughout the state."

The 7 p. m. tabulation last night was the bureau's last before one planned for about noon today. It contained the official vote from 75 of the 254 counties.

Food Prices Zooming As Shortage Seen

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 2—A truckers' walkout which threatens the city's economic machinery spread to other drivers today and rises were predicted in already sky-high food prices.

Federal, state and city mediators talked with union and employer groups but no immediate prospects of a settlement was held out.

Mayor William O'Dwyer set up special emergency procedures at police headquarters and waged a close watch on food and other essential supplies.

The New York Retail Appetizers association said "if the strike is not settled shortly, it may very well cause the inflationary spiral in food prices to skyrocket even further."

Wage Offer Rejected

The association represents 250 retail food outlets.

About 9,500 members of local 807 of the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters quit yesterday after rejecting a 15 cents an hour wage boost negotiated by their officers.

Some members of the two other teamsters' locals also were joining in the walkout although they approved new contracts.

O'Dwyer said police were checking reports that Communists were persuading strikers to stay off the job by paying them gratuites.

The city's $1,000,000,000-a-year garment business and large retail food chains apparently were the first to be hit by the stoppage.

Stocks Remain Ample

There was no immediate shortage of food in the stores and few New Yorkers felt directly the pinch of the stoppage. Store stocks were estimated as ample for two to three weeks.

O'Dwyer won an agreement from the union yesterday that it would continue to transport food, perishable items, medicines, building supplies and other vital commodities.

The local 807 membership, after a vociferous mass meeting lasting all afternoon, voted to present a new set of proposals to the employers featuring a 25 cents an hour wage boost and a welfare fund.

The local's rank-and-file voted down a 15 cents an hour hike just before the walkout started. This had been in an agreement nego-

HST Makes Plans To Invade South In Nationwide Drive

By FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2—President Truman announced today that he will invade the south in a record-smashing election campaign that will include all the rest of the country.

He made this announcement at a news conference after New York leaders had told him he would carry Gov. Thomas E Dewey's home state in the Nov. 2 election.

Mr. Truman was asked whether he expected to get a "cordial reception" in the south, which has staged a revolt against the Truman-Barkley ticket because of the President's civil rights program.

To Close In Missouri

He replied that he would receive of course a cordial reception wherever he goes.

The President refused to enlarge on an earlier statement that the egg and tomato onslaught on third party candidate Henry Wallace in the south violated "the American concept of fair play."

He said he would speak in Chicago and would close his campaign in his home state of Missouri, including speeches in St. Louis and Kansas City.

Other than this, the President would not disclose details of his speaking tour. He will open his campaign with a Labor day address in Detroit.

Dewey, Stassen Rapped

The President and Agriculture Secretary Brannan sailed into Dewey and Harold E. Stassen as a result of a Stassen charge that the Truman administration was keeping food prices high.

Stassen made this accusation in Albany after conferring with the New York governor. He said he spoke with the Republican standard bearer's approval.

Mr. Truman declared that Stassen's charge was a misstatement of facts. He said the government's crop price support program is not a factor in high prices.

Milk Hike Charged

Brannan commented that the accusation came just after Dewey had ordered an increase of one cent a quart in milk prices.

The Stassen charge, he said, was "a typically deceptive inaccurate political statement." He

Arrest Of Famous Stars Indicated In Movie Drug Scandal

By RUTH BRIGHAM
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 2—A grand jury probe of the narcotic traffic in Hollywood was ordered today in the wake of the arrest of film star Robert Mitchum and starlet Lila Leeds.

Coincidentally with this development in the big drug scandal—one of the biggest to hit Hollywood in years—federal authorities predicted the early arrest of big time screen names in a crackdown on the use of dope in the movie colony.

Top Stars Face Jail

Listed as facing jail for the use of drugs were two of the screen's most famous male stars, a top-flight actress, a noted producer and a lesser actress.

A high-ranking federal official said the disclosures "soon to be made" would shock Hollywood.

District Attorney William E. Simpson said the grand jury investigation would start next Tuesday, with the Mitchum-Leeds case being taken up first.

The accused screen players may be given an opportunity to appear before the grand jury, "if they desire," to tell their stories.

Meanwhile, a source close to Howard Hughes, whose RKO owns a half interest in Mitchum's contract, would do nothing to aid the actor.

Hughes Refuses Aid

The source declared that Hughes would pull no political strings or pay for any high-priced legal talent to defend the star against marijuana smoking charges.

Mitchum, himself, already has engaged Jerry Giesler, noted and very high-priced west coast lawyer who successfully defended Errol Flynn against a felony girl

Salesmen To Be Honored

EIGHTEEN Lubbock business firms were added late Thursday to the 25 previously reported which have made reservations for the barbecue in Mackenzie State park at 6:30 o'clock tonight honoring traveling salesmen who reside in Lubbock or travel this territory.

The list of reservations reported was far from complete, according to Irving L. Jones, chairman of the arrangements committee for this second annual affair. He is expecting the total attendance to exceed 600, or about 50 per cent more than at the first annual barbecue last year.

But he urged those planning to attend or wishing to send representatives to notify Jim Crook, assistant manager, at the chamber of commerce by noon today.

Tickets Are Mailed

"The Lions club has prepared enough barbecue and trimmings for 600 people," Jones said. "If more than that number attend, we want to be ready for them. In order to make the preparations, we should know how many to expect not later than noon."

The salesmen and their wives will be honor guests, he emphasized. Their tickets are free. Tickets free. Tickets have been mailed to those who are on the chamber of commerce mailing list. If any have been overlooked or have failed to receive tickets, they should call the chamber of commerce.

Business firms which want to be represented also should call the chamber, telephone 4666, Jones said. The ticket committee, he added, has attempted to call as many firms as possible. But many undoubtedly were overlooked. These tickets are $1 each.

The 43 firms reported up to late Thursday have reserved from two to 15 tickets each. Their repre-

Former Czech President Is Reported Growing Weaker

PRAGUE, Sept. 2 (INS)—Former Czech president Eduard Benes became paralyzed and grew weaker tonight in his losing fight against death. Dr. Benes is 64.

His blood circulation is being maintained by artificial means.

Both lungs were kept clear as the result of penicilin treatment.

Drive Against Alien Communists Pushed

By INEZ ROBB
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.— The United States government was declared today be in the midst of a nationwide drive to purge the country of alien Communists "as expeditiously as possible."

A formal statement to this effect was made by John P. Boyd, deputy commissioner of the Immigration and Naturalization service, at the conclusion of deportation hearings in New York for alleged Communist spy king J. V. Peters.

Boyd noted that the Peters case "is just one of such cases being processed by the government." He added:

Hearings Are Pending

"The Immigration and Naturalization service under the direction of the attorney general has been processing cases involving aliens charged as members of subversive organizations as vigorously as the circumstances in individual cases permit.

"In New York alone there are about 25 such cases calendered for immediate hearing."

Among the aliens listed for deportation hearings in New York are Jacob Stachel, former national secretary of the Communist party who already is under federal indictment charged with plotting to overthrow the government.

Peters Refuses Stand

Others in this area include Alexander Bittelman, ranking Communist strategist, and Claudia Jones, leading woman Communist.

Before Boyd concluded his statement, he took pains to point out that Peters had refused again at the end of his hearing "to take the stand to refute the convincing testimony presented by the government."

The deputy commissioner predicted that a decision in the case would be ready in about ten days.

Planning Group Okays Additions

By ROGER SOUTHALL

Members of the City Planning commission, meeting in regular monthly session last night in City Hall, referred a number of zone change requests to the zoning committee, both members of which were absent, rejected one other such request, and approved five additions and subdivisions.

In the absence of J. H. Murdough and Homer D. Grant, both of whom are members of the commission's zoning committee, the following zone change requests were not acted upon at the meeting but were referred to that committee for study:

Zone Changes Asked

Letter from A. T. Tarter requesting a zone change affecting lots 1, 2, and 3, block 12, Southside addition, to place them in business or industrial zones. The lots affected are on the southeast corner intersection of Ave. K and Twenty-fifth street.

Petition from A. W. Worsham for changing lots 21, 22, 23, and 24, block 14, Merritt and Wild subdivision of block 14, Roberds and McWhorter addition, from a "C" to a "G" zone. This property is on the northeast corner intersection of Ave. X and Fourth street.

LONDON, Friday, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Moscow radio today announced the death of Sergei Georievich Lukin, deputy of the Supreme Soviet and a member of the Communist party's central control commission.

The broadcast, heard in London, said Lukin died yesterday after a long illness.

Lukin was the second prominent Soviet official to die this week. Andrei A. Zhdanov, member of the powerful politurbo and a founder of the Cominform, died unexpectedly on Tuesday.

Soviets Seek Berlin Control

By OMER ANDERSON
INS Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Sept. 2.—The Russians tonight were reported demanding virtually complete control of all Berlin as a price of lifting their ground blockade of the city.

The four military governors of Germany, in their third meeting in as many days, talked for 90 minutes and refused to divulge results. There will be another meeting tomorrow.

U. S. Gen. Lucius D. Clay and the British and French governors again emerged unsmilingly compared to the jovial grin of Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky, the Russian commander.

Assembly Demand Ignored

An informant close to the Soviet military administration said the Russians are asking 'virtually complete financial and economic control"—the obvious step to political control.

He said the Russians are determined to reduce the Berlin western forces to the status of embassies holding only certain extra-territorial rights.

A demand by the Berlin city assembly to praticipate in the negotiations over the fate of its anti-Communist majority thus far has been ignored by the governors.

Acting Mayor Ferdinand Friedensburg repeated this demand to-

Dixiecrat Candidate May Oppose Jester

HOUSTON, Sept. 2 (AP)—The Houston Chronicle said it learned today that States Rights Democrats in Texas have discussed nominating a candidate to run against Gov. Beauford Jester in the November general election.

Palmer Bradley of Houston, chairman of the state advisory committee, issued a call yesterday for a statewide convention in Dallas Sept. 8 to form a political party.

The Chronicle said it had learned an official now holding a high state office is being contacted to make the race against Governor Jester. His name, it was said, will not be disclosed until the full States Rights Democratic organization in Texas has been called in for a discussion of the move.

The States Rights Democrats have criticized Governor Jester severely for opposing their requests to have the presidential referendum placed on the run-off ballots in Texas last Saturday.

Truman Denounces Charges He Obstructed Red Investigation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (INS)—President Truman charged today that spy probers made "a lie out of whole cloth" in accusing him of obstructing efforts to throw Communists out of the government.

The President told a news conference he sticks by his statement that the spy probe is a "red herring" designed to distract attention from Congress' failure to act on his anti-inflation program.

Mr. Truman said that before he was through he would prove the "red herring" charge.

Boost In Taxi Fares Planned

Many Lubbock residents who utilize taxicabs for transportation in the city face a boost in fares starting Monday which will mean a noticeable hike in their annual transportation bill.

The city's four taxicab companies have announced joint plans to raise minimum fares for single passengers in the city to 35 cents. The present minimum fare is 25 cents. No other zone will be affected by the proposed increase and double fare passengers, providing they are riding together, will not be affected.

Official Action Seen

Meanwhile, when news of the hike reached city officials there were indications that action would be taken to begin an immediate study of provisions for the city to control taxi fares and other operation of cab companies.

Officials said that the city charter gives the city commission specific authority to regulate such rates. But no such ordnance is believed to be in effect at this time, it was said.

Cab company officials, after a meeting here last week in which they made joint arrangements for the hike, estimated that approxi-

Light Sprinkle Moistens City Streets Briefly Early Today

A light sprinkle fell in downtown Lubbock about 12:25 this morning, but streets were dry minutes later and apparently no more was in store.

The U. S. Weather bureau at Municipal airport reported a few drops there at about the same time, but indicated it would not be measureable amount and did not look for more moisture during the remainder of the night.

Weather forecasts by the Weather bureau are about the same as the past few days, with clear to partly cloudy skies today and Saturday with no important changes in temperature.

CIO Union Accused Of Promoting Reds

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2. (AP)—A high CIO official testified today that President Albert J. Fitzgerald and other top officers of the CIO-United Electrical Workers sacrificed the interests of labor "to promote the foreign policy of the Soviet Union."

James B. Carey, CIO secretary-treasurer, made the accusation in testimony before a House Labor subcommittee which is investigating Communist infiltration into American labor.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Kersten (R-Wis), heard both Carey and Fitzgerald in day-long testimony, then recessed until later, probably Sept. 28.

Schuman Seeks To Organize New Cabinet As Walkouts Spread

By JOHN E. LEE
INS Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Sept. 2—Premier-designate Schuman worked hurriedly under the spur of spreading strikes tonight in his effort to form a new French cabinet.

His Popular Republican party asked him to proceed with his attempt despite Socialist party refusal to participate.

Before going to see President Auriol, the Popular Republican leader said "a government will be formed today or not at all."

After he saw Auriol he said "a few hours are still necessary before the final result."

The Socialists early today by a strong majority voted not to join a Schuman government because he refused to satisfy their demands for increased benefits to workers in his drastic financial program.

The Socialists, blamed for the fall of two successive cabinets, demanded that workers get a provisional high cost-of-living indemnity of 3,000 francs ($13.50), plus a monthly minimum wage of 13,350 francs ($62).

If Schuman cannot form a cabinet the agitation for a dissolution of parliament and holding of new elections probably will increase. The De Gaulists hope

Truman Backs Public Health, Federal Insurance Programs

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2—President Truman today emphatically endorsed compulsory health insurance and a five point public health program.

In a statement issued in connection with publication of an administration program for a ten-year multi-billion dollar health program, Mr. Truman said the United States "can provide better health care for all the people of our land."

And such help is needed, says the 183-page report by Federal Security Administrator Oscar R. Ewing. It is the result of seven months of research.

Inability to pay for medical care is not only killing 325,000 Americans every year, but is costing the nation 4,300,000 man-years of work and $27,000,000,000 annually through sickness, the report said.

Mr. Truman said the bulk of the report, showing a serious shortage of doctor, dentists, nurses, hospital and other medical care facilities, was approved last May by the National Health assembly that met here.

Two Charged In Wolfforth Theft

Charges of felony theft were filed late Thursday against two men after their truck, allegedly loaded with property belonging to Roy Miller, Wolfforth cafe operator, was run down in 3800-block Thirty-fourth by Miller and state and city officers, informed by radio, quickly arrived to make the arrests.

Charged were Jean Thomas Welch, 30, and Charlie Lee Smith, 38, both of whom live near Lubbock on the Slaton highway.

Suspects Are Nabbed

Capt. Bob Crowder, commanding officer of the Lubbock district of the Texas rangers, and V. P. Stephens, radio patrolman of Lubbock police, converged quickly upon the scene, and the driver of the truck was said to have driven across shrubbery and a yard and attempted to escape. The other man jumped out and tried to go through a fence, officials said, but was overhauled.

The complaint, filed in the court of D. W. Robertson, justice of peoce, was sworn to by Miller, operator of Roy's cafe, before assistant District Attorney A. W. Salyars. It accused the men of

SOVIET PROPAGANDA PAYS OFF

Communism Gaining Strong Hold Everywhere In Southeast Asia

(EDITOR'S NOTE: While world attention has been focused on the "cold war" in Europe, Communism has been making extensive gains in another strategically vital area, Southeast Asia. James E. Brown, who served as International News Service correspondent in the China-Burma theatre during the war with the late U. S. Gen. "Vinegar Joe" Stilwell, surveys recent Communist strides from Indonesia to China, from Korea to Pakistan.)

By JAMES E. BROWN
INS Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 2—Communism is on the march today throughout Southeast Asia.

If a war should come tomorrow, the Siviet Air Force would have potential landing fields in Korea, Malaya, Burma, Indo-China and possibly some isolated parts of Burma.

Specially-trained fifth columns would become active in each country, poised to strike at the strategic moment.

Communists, British intelligence reports show, have gained a strong foothold everywhere with the possible exception of Buddhist Tibet, isolated among the world's highest mountains.

Communist propaganda has won astonishing successes. Far East experts believe that the trained Soviet "missionaries" have won more followers than did the Japanese with their insistent propaganda of "Asia for the Asiatics."

Northern Korea, where Soviet occupation authorities have established a government completely separate from that of the U. S.-held south Korean state, forms the Red Air Force's most advanced base—and a spearhead pointed at Japan and America's Pacific bases.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur recognized the danger when he called the split "one of the greatest tragedies of modern history."

MacArthur, in an address at Seoul Aug. 14 at the proclamation of the Korean republic, told Koreans that the "artificial barrier" dividing their country "must and will be torn down."

Malayan Reds Fight

In Malaya, to the south, Great Britain is making a major effort to put down the Communist guerrillas.

But Gov. Sir Franklin Gimson admits that "unfortunately, the menace of Communism is one that will be with us for many years."

In Indonesia, the fabulously rich islands stretching from Singapore almost to Australia, Communist forces are at present supporting the new Indonesian republic, which is destined to form part of the Dutch-projected "United States of Indonesia."

But how long the Communists will continue to cooperate with Democratic and moderate forces there is questionable—and meanwhile their propaganda campaign to win over the masses of Java and Sumatra continues without cease.

In China, every government effort to put down the Communists has failed—and some observers fear that, should another world war come, the Communists might overrun the whole country.

In militarily weak Pakistan, the new Moslem dominion occupying India's northwest, Communist agents are reported moving in among the tribesmen along the Afghan frontier.

In Burma, which links India with China, Siam Malaya, Communist guerrillas have almost completely paralyzed the forces of the new state.

The Communist drive has made such extensive gains that foreign observers fear Premier Thakin Nu's government may be forced into a compromise which would accord the Communists legal recognition and standing.

California Historical Caravan Will Display Century-Old Doll

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2 (U.P.)—A tiny doll that survived the ill-fated Donner party in the Sierra Nevada mountains a century ago will join a historical caravan which will tour California during the state's centennial observance.

The doll, its 8-year-old owner, Martha Jane Reed, and about 40 emigrants were rescued from the snow-bound Donner summit in 1847. Half the original Donner party died from hunger and exposure while trapped on the east slope of the Sierra Nevadas.

The historical caravan, now being assembled by the California centennials commission, will display mementos that document the heritage of the state.

Philippines Storm Causes Heavy Loss And Kills Seven

MANILA, Friday, Sept. 3 (AP)—A typhoon and accompanying rains and floods in central and northern Luzon left an estimated $10,000,000 in property damage and seven Filipinos dead today.

Officials estimating the storm cost to Manila and surrounding territory said damage to commercial fishponds supply the capital and standing crops of rice and corn would add to serious food shortages.

The Philippines Army and the constabulary helped relief organizations in transporting food to Manila, four-fifths of which had been flooded. The floods are receding. Shops and miles of highway were badly damaged.

Men Born In 1924 To Start Registration

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (AP)—If you are a man born in 1924, you'd better hustle down to the nearest draft registration center.

Today and Friday were the days set aside for you to sign up for the new peacetime draft.

Yesterday the last of the men born in 1923 were supposed to register, and Saturday and next Tuesday (the lapse is caused by the weekend Labor Day holiday) it will be turn of men born in 1925.

The nation's 20,000 registration centers have been handling a steady flow of men since last Monday, when the registration of men 18 through 25 started. Last day, for 18-year-olds, will be Sept. 18.

and since Monday's flurry of some picketing and protests, there has been little reported friction.

The first draft call—10,000 men wanted in uniform by the Army in November—was issued Monday, too. A second call for another 10,000 is expected soon. After the first of the year, monthly quotas will be around 30,000.

Men 19 through 25 are eligible for the 21-month draft. Eighteen-year-olds are not eligible until they become 19, but they must register anyway.

Formal Opening Of '555' Company Planned In New Building Here Saturday And Sunday

HARRY R. LYMAN

Formal opening of the "555" company, division of Beard & Stone Electric Co., Inc., in its new $93,000 building at Sixteenth street and Ave. K will be conducted Saturday afternoon from 2:30 to 6:30 p. m. and Sunday from 2:30 to 7 p. m. Harry R. Lyman, local manager, announced today.

The firm is a distributor of automotive electrical equipment and supplies for automobiles, trucks and tractors in an area as far as 150 miles from Lubbock, Lyman explained.

Company Started In Waco

The parent company is 28 years old, having originated in Waco, then expanding to Houston, Dallas and other Texas cities.

Its president, E. C. Beard of Dallas, will be in Lubbock for the formal opening.

The Lubbock branch was opened in January, 1946, at 1002 Ave. H, with five employes. The branch has grown to 23 employes at present.

The new building, designed by James Atcheson, was built by D. D. Humphries, contractor. It is fully equipped with air conditioning, automatic sprinkler system and fluorescent lighting.

Approximately 10,400 square feet of floor space is devoted to the company's wholesale operations, and 2,000 square feet are devoted to the service department to take care of warranty service on electrical equipment.

Fate Of Girl Who Started Fires To Be Decided Soon

MACOMB, Ill., Sept. 2. (U.P.)—Wonet McNeil, 13, may learn soon what is to be her fate for admittedly starting more than 200 fires on her uncle's farm near MaComb.

State's Attorney Keith Scott said he will file a petition early next week asking that the girl be adjudged a juvenile delinquent.

The petition will be filed with Judge Wallace A. Walker of McDonough county court.

Scott said he will recommend that Wonet be placed in custody of her grandmother "or any other relatives, except her parents."

Wonet's parents are divorced.

The girl said she started the fires "so that I could live with my mother instead of my father." The fires destroyed a farmhouse and two barns.

Hershey Says Universal Military Training Needed Despite Draft

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 2 (INS)—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national selective service director, declared today that universal military training still is necessary, despite the draft.

Hershey told the 49th annual encampment of the veterans of Foreign Wars in St. Louis that the draft is "only a start" toward making the United States safe in the troubled world. He explained:

"The draft is not the complete answer to national security because it won't provide training for all citizens and such training is a must."

Need For Strength Cited

Hershey said that a nation can survive in a troubled world "only by strength," adding that men are needed to handle the levers "no matter how atomic the age, or how much machinery there is."

The draft director pleaded for this country to "save the peace by strength, rather than try to win a war after it is on."

Earlier, Hershey, told convention delegates that men who rushed into marriage to beat the draft might be called for service in the armed forces anyhow.

Anti-Red Law Urged

The convention adopted a resolution today of "privileges which might further their nefarious activities in the United States."

The resolution said the Communist party of the United States is "an agent for a foreign police state, engaged in mass destruction of our liberties."

The convention tabled a motion that no future convention should be held in a city where any kind of segregation exists.

Americanism committee chairman Charles F. Spencer, said:

"Practically no cities are free from discrimination of some sort."

The encampment earlier had adopted a general resolution which reaffirmed that the VFW supports civil liberties and the right of individuals, "regardless of race, religion or social status," to equal opportunity.

'Dewey Duster' Makes Bow In Chicago As Campaign Boost

By PATRICK JOYCE
INS Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Sept. 2—The "Dewey Duster"—a trick upper lip adornment—was launched in Chicago today as a potential vote getter for the presidential aspirations of Republican candidate Thomas E. Dewey.

Its sponsors, a Chicago commercial firm, describe it as "a neat bit of black chenille which clips to the upper lip in GOP style."

They say that already it has been greeted with such spontaneous approval that the first "Dewey Duster club" has been organized in suburban Park Ridge.

Need Duster In White House

Members are a group of teenage youths who announce their objective is to "make America understand that the Dewey moustache is synonymous with clean and efficient government."

George F. Drake, advertising executive and inventor of the "duster," said that it can be worn by anyone regardless of age, size of lip or sex. Drake added:

"Oddly enough, it seems to make anyone look like Dewey, who is aiming at the house on Pennsylvania avenue."

Drake thinks this is a fine thing. He announced:

"There hasn't been a moustache in the White House since William Howard Taft left there 35 years ago. It would seem wise to use a duster there after all those years."

Drake said that he expects many wayward Democrats to appear with the "duster" ere long.

A check of Dewey's closest supporters revealed that his right-hand man and personal Secretary Paul E. Lockwood, wears a real moustache and will not need a "duster."

So does Hamilton Gaddis, Dewey's advance man on campaign trips.

But Drake said he does not think they will object to the "duster" idea.

Drake has gone so far as to write lyrics about his invention, set to the tune of Yankee Doodle. The chorus reads:

"Won't you grow a Dewey duster
Just like I adore, dear?
It may add a certain luster
That I've missed before, dear!
If it thrills me just like his—
Red and white and blue-ey,
Then you'll know where my heart is My Yankee Doodle Dewey!"

Drake said the "duster" now is rolling from the production lines at a rapid rate and soon will be on store counters throughout the nation.

CATTLE BRANDS PRESERVED

BISON, S. D. (U.P.) — The front wall of a rammed earth museum building here is covered with imprints of 200 cattle brands once familiar in this part of northwestern South Dakota. Among the best known brands are those of the famous Hat and Flying-V ranches.

Fort Worth Tops In City Park Facilities

FORT WORTH, Sept. 2 (INS)—Fort Worth tops 67 comparable cities in the United States in the ratio between park area and population, according to a survey made by the Long Beach, Calif., Chamber of Commerce.

Fort Worth has 40 acres of public park and recreational space for each 1,000 population. The accepted standard, according to the survey, is 10 acres for each 1,000 persons.

Moreover, 30 of these 67 cities spend more per capita than does Fort Worth to maintain these facilities.

16.6 per cent of its sprawling 100 square miles is devoted to park and recreational grounds. Only two cities have a higher percentage.

Per capita cost of operating this far-flung system is $1.90 a year.

Other Texas cities rank much lower in the ratio of park area to 1,000 population. Dallas is 23rd in the country with only 5.6 per cent of its area dedicated to public parks. Its per capita cost is $2.30 on a yearly budget at $1,022,976 as compared to Fort Worth's $527,245.

Houston's recreational area covers only 1.5 per cent of the city and there is only 1.8 acres of parks for each 1,000 people to place it 65th. The budget is $505,640.

San Antonio stands 30th in the per capita ratio of recreational acreage. The budget of $235,300 breaks down into a per capita cost of 61 cents. The city has 5.1 acres for each 1,000 persons.

END OR BEGINNING?

"WE, the people of the United Nations, determined to save succeeding generations from the scourge of war . . ." (United Nation Charter, 1945).

Three years ago on the morning of Sept. 2, the mighty "Mo" rode gently at anchor in the calm waters of Tokyo Bay. On the vast decks of the Missouri all was ready, for that was THE day. General MacArthur poised himself before a microphone stand, facing him, seated at a long table, the Japanese foreign minister, for the then emperor of Japan, son of heaven and so forth, signed away bloodshed, horror and misery. World War II came to an end at 9:08 o'clock that September morning and the world looked about to start the count of costs.

THE United States, says the Encyclopedia Americana, could tick off more than a million casualties. The British Empire wept for 357,116 dead—over 1,200,000 total casualties. Russia's losses in killed and wounded, although never precisely counted, appeared at 15,000,000. A survey showed possibly 1,500,000 civilians killed in air raids which pocked the torn surface of our earth. So went this count of costs to civilization.

The counting had begun, but men still died in the crack of rifle bullets and the thud of mortar shells. Indo-China, Dutch East Indies, India, Palestine, Greece and China's vast civil war still blazed. As fast as men could count, men died.

This is the third year of our "peace," but peace is ever precarious. A quick count in the encyclopedia shows a listing of more than 180 of only the "most important peace treaties negotiated by the various nations of the world." What place in history will Shigemitsu's signature take?

FOUND IDEAL PLACE

GEORGE W. DUPREE, Lubbock attorney, and Mrs. Dupree have found the "perfect vacation spot," after years of searching for it along both coastlines, in Canada, the Republic of Mexico and out-of-the-way places in between.

It is at Eldora, where flourishing mining operations once were, 20 miles into the mountains from Boulder, Colo.

There, 8,800 feet high and at the foot of Arapaho glacier and in a cabin almost washed by Boulder creek and facing almost illimitable mountainous distances, they dozed away an August that was marked by late arising, early bedtime, a necessity to build evening fires (there was a snowstorm last Thursday), and no requirement for Mr. Dupree to shave "unless I got darned good and ready."

THERE was no phone, not even a radio. They carried nothing to read. "We got into the habit of putting off even the least urgent chores "until later—but the time passed so fast that before you realized it it was bedtime, so another day passed without anything done," Mr. Dupree said.

Their "sitting" was relieved by the arrival Aug. 15 of a son, George W. Dupree, jr., the son's wife and their 3-year-old daughter Lynn, all of Amarillo, "and then, of course, I turned baby sitter," the attorney said.

They all returned Sunday. The attorney and his wife live at 2314 Seventeenth.

DOG IS MISSING

A nine-year-old blonde cocker spaniel has been missing from her home at 2604 Ave. K, for three weeks and the owners are distressed about it. She dug under a fence to leave and since she had never been away, they think she may not know the way back home.

She does not look her age, and is friendly and playful. Answers to the name of "Midgie." Telephone 9270 please, if you see her.

Pennsylvania Backs GOP First Time Since 1932, Survey Shows

BY GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 2—Pennsylvania which went Democratic in the last three presidential elections is today back in the Republican camp, judging by the findings of Institute poll-takers throughout that state.

A cross-section of Pennsylvania voters was asked:

"If the presidential election were being held TODAY, how would you vote — for Truman, for Dewey or for Wallace?"

GALLUP

The results follow, with the percentage of undecided voters included in the first column and excluded in the second:

PENNSYLVANIA VOTERS
Dewey	53%	57%
Truman	37	40
Wallace	3	3
Undecided	7

Today's report on Pennsylvania follows a similar report last week on New York. These two represent the first of a series of reports which will cover political sentiment in each one of the 48 states.

Although New York is the home state of the Republican presidential candidate, Governor Thomas E. Dewey actually runs better in Pennsylvania. The New York state political situation follows:

NEW YORK VOTERS
Dewey	42%	47%
Truman	32	37
Wallace	14	16
Undecided	12

One striking contrast between the two states is wide difference in the vote for Henry A. Wallace —16 per cent in New York and only 3 per cent in Pennsylvania. There is a heavy concentration of Wallace supporters in New York City, where the Institute estimates that he will receive one-third of all the votes that he will likely receive in the entire nation in November.

The New York City political picture is unique, for other large cities do not show anywhere near the same vote for Mr. Wallace. In Philadelphia, for example, a poll by the Philadelphia "Bulletin" reported in early August showed Mr. Wallace with 6 per cent among voters expressing a choice, while Governor Dewey polled 52 per cent and President Truman 42 per cent.

This Wallace vote of 6 per cent in Philadelphia compares with 27 per cent in the Institute's mid-August poll of New York City. It was a Pennsylvanian, Senator Edward Martin, who put Governor Dewey's name in nomination at the Philadelphia convention. Another Pennsylvanian, Representative Hugh D. Scott, was appointed by Governor Dewey to be held of the Republican National Committee.

Throughout the state, the Dewey ticket this year has started off the campaign far ahead of 1944. In the race against President Roosevelt, Governor Dewey got 48.6 per cent of the major party vote, while Mr. Roosevelt carried the state with a vote of 51.4 per cent.

By tradition Pennsylvania is a Republican state. In the past 12 presidential elections it went Democratic only three times, and Republican eight times. In 1912 Pennsylvania ended up in the Progressive Party column when Theodore Roosevelt ran on the so-called Bull Moose ticket.

Paris News Editor Observes 46th Year Of Work On Job

PARIS, Tex., Sept. 2 (AP)—Dean of Texas newspapermen, Editor A. W. Neville of The Paris News, observed his 46th anniversary with the publication Wednesday by reporting to work as usual. Besides writing his daily editorials, he also wrote his daily column, "Backward Glances."

"Judge," as he is called by his friends, will be 84 years old November 17. He is believed to be the oldest active newspaper man in Texas. He is in good health and never missed a day of work.

Aside from his daily editorial work, Judge Neville has just completed his second book, scheduled to come off the presses soon. His first volume, a history of Lamar county, now is considered a collector's item, selling for premium prices.

The editor joined the news on Sept. 1, 1902. He has held the position of editor for 20 years, but was formerly employed in the composing room and is past president of the local typographical union.

With Mrs. Neville, he celebrated his 60th wedding anniversary last April 12. They have six children, including Miss Maude Neville, regional news editor of The Paris News.

Atom-Bombed City Appeals To U. S. For Aid In Rebuilding

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 2 (AP)—The industrial city of Hiroshima has appealed to this city in the industrial heart of America for help in rebuilding its atom-bombed ruins.

Mayor Shinzo Hamai hopes to further plans to reclaim his shattered city with advice and guidance from Pittsburgh and the rest of the world.

In a letter to Mayor David Lawrence on the third anniversary of the bombing, Mayor Hamai said: "We who have actually experienced the catastrophe fully appreciate the significance of war and its consequences."

Hiroshima's 230,000 people wish to rebuild their city into a symbol of culture and peace, he added.

Howard Hughes Making Plans To Produce 'I Married A Communist,' Latest Report

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 2 — The very first Howard Hughes story purchase since he bought RKO is "I Married A Communist," by George W. George (the nom de plume of a well-known writer) and George Slavin.

I am very much interested because it is a serious drama and it sounds for all the world like a picture with a message. Remember, Hughes said he wasn't going to make pictures with messages?

Barbara Bel Geddes, who is under contract to RKO, is the voice for the star role, and negotiations are now on with Robert Young to co-star with her. John Cromwell, who also holds a contract at the studio, will be asked to direct, although it is not known whether or not he will accept. Jack Gross, one of the top RKO producers, has been set to produce the picture, which starts next month.

Gets Star Role

Unlike Dick Haymes, who does not want his prety wife to be an actress, Gene Kelly is plenty proud of Mrs. K. who is known as Betsy Blair on the stage.

Her career in Hollywood has not boomed the way Gene's has—but now she gets a good break. Betsy goes to Paris this winter to star in "Miss Condon" for a French producing company.

"Miss Condon" is written by Aline Bernstein. Her story tells the conflict in the life of a woman torn between her love for her husband and a young American she meets in Paris.

Film Still Big Hit

Chatter in Hollywood: All that talk that Virginia Gray is pining for Clark Gable and losing weight is just chit-chat. Virginia has a new romance—a Dr. Ed Le Moncheck, and she's extremely happy these days.

After eight years, "The Male Animal" still stands up as a very funny comedy. Both Gregory Peck and Martha Scott took bow after bow at the La Jolla playhouse, as well as the rest of the cast, including little Cathy O'Donnell.

Rory Calhoun's honeymoon with Isabelita causing a slight delay in starting "When A Man's A Man" is not the reason Gale Storm is bowing out of the picture.

While Gale was waiting, Allied Artists gave her the script of "Stampede" to read and the girl's role is so much bigger and better that Gale says she had rather do the E. B. Mann novel.

That seems to be okay with all concerned, so little Miss Storm gives up emoting — not only with Rory — but with Guy Madison, to take advantage of the bigger opportunity. It's a story of life in the deep South right after the Civil war and Gale's part is a little along the lines of Scarlett O'Hara.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

John Payne and Shelley Winters are much warmer than the weather. They have been out together three nights in a row.

John Wildberg, stage producer, and Madman Muntz are star gazing.

Ann Blyth and Roddy McDowell the cutest twosome in town at Cico's.

Francisco Chatto, wealthy mine owner from Brazil, gave Cobina Wright, Sr., a pre-birthday party at the Beverly Tropics. Cobina's birthday is really the 16th of September, but she'll be in New York at that time.

It was quite a night at the Tropics. The Danny Kayes, Mark Stevens, Gordon Mcrae with his wife, who is a beauty, were all having fun.

Saw Victor Mature and his wife at Del Mar and he waved in passing.

Nancy Kelly and Bill Eythe are an item. Both have recently had marital trouble, but let me say, they haven't been weeping on each other's shoulder.

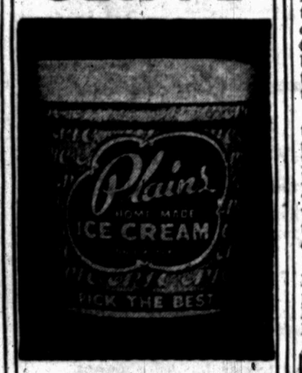

Gladys George, who a few years ago was one of the best character actresses on the screen, and still is, has a good part in "Flamingo Road." She looked like a million at the Laguna Beach playhouse.

Greta Garbo's dressing room, which has never been occupied since she left MGM, has been given to Esther Williams. She's keeping the big "G" on the door—not only because she admires Garbo, but Esther's last name happens to be Gage.

A larger percentage of twins is born in Denmark than in any other country.

WOMEN ARE WILD ABOUT FAB FOR FAMILY WASH...HERE'S WHY!

FABULOUS SUDS, even in hardest water. Two washing machines were filled with hardest water. One cup of FAB made a washer brimful of suds. One cup of soap made almost no suds!

FAB WITH SUPER-WETTING ACTION

washes everything
FASTER, CLEANER, WHITER, BRIGHTER than any soap... in hardest water!

Even dirtiest overalls and grimiest play clothes get cleaner faster with this fabulous new washday discovery from the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet laboratories!

NEW INGREDIENT GETS WHITE WASH WHITER ...COLORS BRIGHTER!
FAB contains a *fab*ulous new ingredient that gets white wash whiter, colors brighter. Besides, there is no soap scum to "gray" white wash or to dull colors when you wash with FAB.

FAB WASHES CLOTHES CLEANER THAN ANY SOAP!
FAB with Super-Wetting Action instantly penetrates materials; pushes out dirt. Washes grimiest overalls cleaner faster than soap! No "graying" soap scum. Wash is whiter, cleaner!

FAB WASHES CHEAPER ...IN HARDEST WATER!
Laboratory tests prove that cup for cup, in hard water, FAB washes up to twice as much family wash as soap. You'll notice that all of FAB washes... Nothing is wasted in soap scum!

FAB WASHES DISHES TWICE AS FAST!
No need to wipe dishes. Just wash with FAB, and rinse. NO soap scum to polish away. Even glassware sparkles! FAB slashes through grease as no soap can do! Leaves no dishpan ring!

What is Super-Wetting Action?

See for yourself. Roll cotton sewing thread into a ball. Drop it into a glass of water. It floats.
Drop another ball of thread into a glass of water and FAB. It sinks and becomes soaked at once. This shows how FAB with Super-Wetting Action penetrates materials faster and more thoroughly.

Faster And Better
for all family wash and Dishes

Super-Wetting Action is a new scientific washing principle. When you wash with FAB, FAB and water penetrate materials faster and more thoroughly than soap... push dirt out! This Super-Wetting Action is a new scientific washing principle that saves time and work as no soap can do in hard water.

New ingredient... another fabulous miracle! White wash gets whiter and colors brighter due to a *fab*ulous new ingredient in FAB.

No Soap Scum... even in hardest water! Even grimiest overalls, play clothes, and towels...everything that's extra-dirty... get cleaner faster with FAB. There's no "graying" soap scum, even in hardest water. Clothes get whiter, cleaner!

Californian Markets Ladybugs To Aid In Fight On Farm Pests

Pointing up warnings in agricultural circles here against poisoning of crop pests unless they are found in numbers indicating real damage, a recent Farm Journal story relates great good done by the Ladybug, both for farmers in many parts of the nation and for a former gold prospector in California who has marketed as many as $12,000 worth of the bugs in one year.

The bug, a small winged beetle with spots on a yellow coat, is familiar to farmers and gardeners in this area. It is listed in dictionaries and reference books as ladybird, instead of ladybug, and the name described as "Bird of our Lady."

Feed On Other Bugs

One book describes the ladybug, or bird if you choose, as a small more or less hemispherical, often brightly colored beetle from the family Coccinellidae, distributed throughout temperate and tropical regions.

It goes on to say that except for a few herbivorous (plant eating) forms they are spedaceous (living on prey) both in larval and adult stages, feeding on small insects or eggs of larger ones. They are described as particularly fond of plant lice and aphids, two scourges in this area.

Technical name of the bug is ceretomegilla fuscilalvis, just in case you are interested.

But the Californian, Louis W. Higgins, who failed in his gold hunt, but found a gold mine in the yellow beetle, insists that they are just ladybugs and he'll defend them against anything derogatory.

A gray-haired grandfather, Higgins more or less accidentally started marketing the bugs, and according to the story in the Farm Journal, pocketed $12,000 last year from sale of 4,000 gallons (about 750 million) of the bug he scooped up in the Yuba river country of northern California, scene of the gold rush of '49. That's an average of $3 a gallon.

Going into the hills during the depression of the '30's prospecting for gold, Higgins found little of the yellow ore, but lots of ladybugs. Some time later a melon grower told him aphids were destroying his crop and he wished he had some ladybugs.

Higgins got them for him—100 gallons at $1 a gallon "and right then and there I was in the ladybug business."

Now he sells bugs in California, Florida, New Jersey, Georgia, Arizona, Oregon, Washington, and New Mexico. His peak business is in spring and early summer, but he fills orders the year round.

Higgins knows from experience exactly where to look for them, and his "prospecting" often takes him 100 miles or more from his home ranch.

In the fall the bugs head for the mountains to hibernate for the winter, piling in clusters under leaves and bushes and do not come out until March and April.

Then, after basking in the sun and laying eggs by the millions, they fly to summer feeding grounds in the valleys. They swarm over trees and bushes during the day and burrow beneath undergrowth during the night.

Energetic Higgins scoops the bugs up into bags by hand, carries them to his ranch where he screens out dirt and trash.

He then packs them into porous bags, each holding about two gallons, for shipping. The bugs smother easily, but their beetle-nature protects them some and they can be kept in 40-degree storage for several weeks.

The shipper warns that the time of day they are released is important because if released in midday heat they may take wing and fly 100 miles before settling down again. Put out early, in the morning they crawl around until they find plant lice, aphids or other crop pests to go to work on.

The ladybug has few enemies. Birds dislike their disagreeable flavor and rarely bother them. Higgins said the pheasant is the only bird he has ever seen eat them.

The bugs eat any small insect except red spider. An adult bug will destroy up to 50 aphids a day, yet does not harm vegetables or fruit.

So, in Higgins' opinion which is shared in by entomologists, if ladybugs show up in your garden or crop, you are fortunate and should do nothing to harm them.

New Wonder Drug Said To Solve Problem Of Emergency Rations

By K. C. THALER
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 2 — A London chemist has developed a drug which is said to be the answer to fear of starvation in emergencies.

Experiments under medical supervision are stated to have proved that man can go without food or drink on a tablet diet without his physical or mental functions being impaired.

A dose of etagone, which is the name of the wonder drug, occupying in space a vest pocket, can keep men alive and working for a period of five days up to a week.

Etagone is no substitute for food and a square meal but it ca help in an emergency when food is not available. It is said by its inventors to be able to solve acute starvation in stricken areas, to keep shipwrecked people alive or to help entire armies operating in the field or cut off from their supply bases.

Experiment Succeeds

An experiment carried out under the supervision of a medical board with 76 medical students as guinea pigs has shown, according to a certified summary, that for five days men had lived on 30 tablets without either food or drink and had emerged fit.

Large scale production is being prepared to make etagone available all over the world.

Medical students from various hospital schools volunteered to undergo a five day test, supervised by a medical board. Secluded in an old mansion in a village in Hampshire, the students were required for five days to eat only six tablets of etagone each day, not to drink at all and to shun even the thought of food. They were allowed to move freely in the grounds, to play games and take walks.

Subjects Emerge Fit

All the students completed the five day test and underwent thereafter a thorough medical examination which included vision, mental acuity and general physical condition.

The summarizing statement said "all the subjects were found to be in excellent shape."

There was some loss of weight, but the statement added "the major outcome of the experiment was unargueable evidence that for five days men had lived on 30 tablets, occupying in space a waistcoat pocket, and at the end of that time were as physically and mentally fit as when they had started out on their venture."

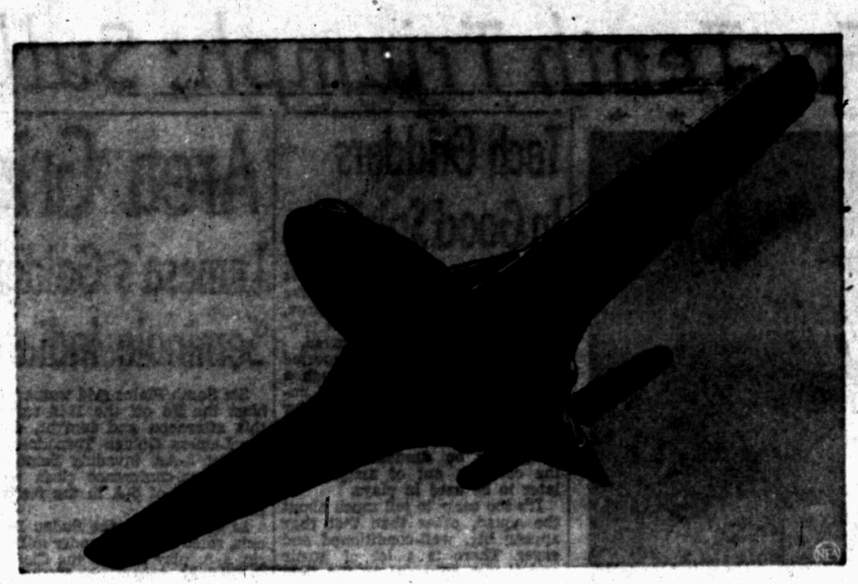

THAT'S PITCHING

URBANA, Ill., (AP)—Hank Mileham, 39-year-old pitcher for an Urbana softball team, has hurled only two games this season. Both were no-hitters, one of them a perfect game—no hits, runs, walks, errors or hit batters.

A mechanical professor, a machine that automatically grades homework and examination papers, has been devised. The new robot can examine and mark 10 papers a minute with an accuracy of 99 per cent.

Possible Shortage Of Milk In Area Is Seen

Guest speaker at the Kiwanis club luncheon Thursday at Hotel Lubbock was Dr. J. J. Willingham, new head of the dairy department at Texas Tech college, who pointed out that Lubbock and vicinity, like many parts of Texas where population has increased sharply during and since the war, faces a shortage of fluid milk that may become serious.

Succeeding the late K. M. Renner, Dr. Willingham moved his family here this week from Sherman. He cited a population here practically doubled since 1940, heavy use of milk and other dairy products at the college and in public school cafeterias, and the fact that many producers have gone out of the production business for various reasons, primarily high feed prices.

The speaker was introduced by George Wilson, program chairman.

Mrs. Fred Adkins, member of a white board of supervisors for a nursery to be operated in the negro quarter, appealed for club support of the project. She said the negro board had secured and paid for a lot, that a house has been secured, but that $3,000 to $4,000 is needed to modernize and prepare the structure for use.

Club President L. E. (Jack) Davis was in the chair, with invocation by B. Sherrod.

Funeral Services Conducted Thursday For Robert C. Ford

Funeral services for Robert C. Ford, 33, of Lubbock, were held at 3 p. m. Thursday in Levelland First Methodist church. Officiating was Rev. Jordan Grooms, pastor, and assisting were Rev. Franklin Swanner, pastor of Plainview Baptist church, and Rev. Harley Hughes, pastor of Whiteface First Baptist church. Burial followed in Tech Memorial park under direction of Plains Funeral home of Levelland.

Mr. Ford died at 5 p. m. Wednesday in Phillips-Dupre hospital in Levelland. He had been in critical condition since he was injured in a car-truck collision which claimed two men at Levelland Sunday afternoon.

Relatives of Ford learned Thursday morning that a sister of his, Mrs. Laura Alvey of El Paso, died in that city sometime this morning. Funeral arrangements are indefinite, but funeral home officials here indicated that the body may be returned to Levelland for services.

Ford's survivors include his wife, one child, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ford of Levelland, and other relatives.

Hubs Drop Loboes, 3-2, For Tenth Triumph; Sullivan Is Honored

Russell Hurls Tight Victory Over Lobo Nine

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

Two hours after Manager Jackie Sullivan had been honored last night, his teammates gave him the best gift of all, a tight 3-2 victory over the Lamesa Loboes for the Hubbers' tenth straight win.

Cotton Russell had the task of pitching the victory and he did the job, even though he was shaky from start to finish, despite giving up only five hits. Three of these hits, all singles, came in the ninth inning, sent one run over the plate and left the tying run on third.

Double Play Helps

But a fast double play at the start of the inning helped him out of the hole and he completed the job by forcing dangerous Jim Skidgel to loft a long fly to Chick Fowler to end the game.

Sullivan benched himself last night and took a night of deserved rest on his night. He has a bad leg and rest did him no harm, nor the club, which functioned well with Don Moore at second. Moore took part in two double plays and drove in the first Hubber run.

The Hubbers opened up on Stan Grzywadz in the first. Gene Hixson singled sharply through the box and when the centerfielder fumbled the ball, took second. He scored on Moore's single to center, but the runner was out trying to steal.

Two More In Fourth

Two more runs crossed the plate in the fourth. Floyd Walker's double led off the frame, and he was followed with a single by Frank McAlexander. A fielder's choice for Jackie Wilcox and two singles by Bob Ramsey and Chick Fowler, the latter driving in the winning run, handed Russell a 3-0 lead.

Grzywacz poked a home run over the leftfield fence in the fifth and three singles in the ninth left the tying run on third and the winning run on first, when Skidgel flied out.

Russell got himself out of several holes during the game, the worst of which came in the sixth. Walt Buckel led off with life on an error and Skidgel smashed a ground rule's double to left. Sam Malvica looked at a third strike, but Chet Zara walked to load the sacks. Then Ray Worsham and Eddie Skrabacz went down on strikes to end the frame.

SHEER COINCIDENCE

HENDERSON, Sept. 2. (U.P.)—It was sheer coincidence, of course, but—Outfielder Pete Gustovich, wearing Tyler uniform number 13, faced pitcher Jay Blomer, wearing Henderson number 13, in last night's Lone Star baseball game here. Gustovich struck out, becoming Blomer's 13th victim. Blomer spoiled it, though by getting another strikeout before the game ended.

HUBBERS vs. LAMESA
TONIGHT — 8:00 P. M.

Sullivan Given Valuable Gifts

They honored Manager Jackie Sullivan last night and the fans turned to whoop it up with as close to a Christmas atmosphere as will be seen at Rosenthal Field during the summertime.

A bashful, reticent Sullivan stood by as Will Austin, Lubbock caretaker, wheeled a wheelbarrow full of gifts up to home plate, then heard General Manager Larry Larsen and Chas. A. Guy, Avalanche-Journal editor, extol his merits.

There were 32 articles for him, ranging from a package of shotgun shells for his new shotgun to a set of Gorham silverware. There were gift certificates and there was a month's rent from his landlord. There was a wristwatch and a traveling bag, a table cloth and an iron, a dressing gown and a necktie, a traveling kit and a hunting jacket.

The list was impressive and the gifts were beautiful, expressing the admiration of the fans for the fine job Sullivan has done in managing the team this year. And one of the finest gifts was a traveling bag from his own teammates, a handsome brown bag.

And in return, Sullivan gave each of his teammates a geunine leather belt with silver buckles and silver tips.

Manager Walt Buckel of Lamesa also got in the act, saying "it wouldn't look right for us to give Jackie anything, now, but we can wish him bad luck tonight and tomorrow night, and after that all the luck in the world."

A telegram from George Schepps of Dallas, former owner of the Dallas Rebels, also was read Schepps, responsible for Sullivan's advent into baseball, remarked that he had "never ceased to be proud of the day I took you away from that cotton patch."

Guy, in praising Sullivan's work this year, said that the Hubber manager should count this as his big night, that such nights didn't happen to all managers. He stated that Sullivan had done a good job this year and that Lubbock was proud of him.

"We wish you lots of good luck in the Shaughnessy playoffs," Guy declared, "you and your boys. We wish you good luck in all your years of baseball."

In response to the gifts, Sullivan modestly stepped forward and said "There are two things to which I'm allergic; microphones and taking my hat off in public. I can't say much, but I sure do thank you. Thanks a lot."

Three Boys Seek Center Post

Local Gridders Hold Night Drill Session

Lubbock High's Westerner gridders romped through their second straight scrimmage drill under the lights at Chapman field Thursday night, as Coach Pat Pattison prepared the local schoolboys for their opening tilt here Sept. 10 under the arcs at Jones stadium.

The Westerners, just a week away from their feature non-conference clash against the powerful Odessa Broncos of District 3-AA, drilled on play assignments and pass patterns, then "buckled 'em on" in a head-knocking setto. The youngsters alternated on offense and defense, with no "first" or "second' teams.

Squad Makes Progress

Several of the candidates turned in creditable performances in the practice period, although the boys are still hampered by inexperience. The running and passing of Bobby Brown, Malcolm Young and Don Decker, and the line play of Freddie Gray, Lloyd Willis and Jack Hensley, showed the steady progress made by the squad.

Coach Pattison announced that another drill will be held tonight at the field, but warned that the session will be closed to all observers. No one will be permitted in the stands or on the field. The squad will be sent through two day workouts Saturday, then Monday drills will be dropped to single periods.

Reports from Odessa indicate that Coach Joe Coleman's flying Red Hosses will capitalize on the speed and power of Fullback Jimmy Patterson, a 190-pound veteran, this season, with the Broncs ready to use more power smashes than they did last year. If so, much of the load on defense will fall to the Westerner centers.

Three Pivot Candidates

Since the transfer of Bobby Nabors to a tackle post, Line Mentor Bill Floyd has had only three pivot candidates. The most experienced hopeful is Leon Stuart, a sturdy 165-pounder who was the regular Cowhand center in 1947. Leon is a junior, but will not have another year of eligibility because of the narrow margin of two days between his birthday and Sept. 1. He has shown unusual ability on defense in backing up the line, while making steady improvement on the mechanics of the center post.

Wendell Gailey, a 166-pound senior, is another Cowhand graduate. Gailey saw plenty of action with the fine Cowhand eleven in 1947 and is fast rounding into a top contender for a starting assignment. He is 17 years old.

Douglas Wienke, a 15-year-old, completes the center roster. Douglas, like the other hopefuls, weighs about 165, but is growing rapidly. He played at an end post with the Cowhands last fall and has another year of eligibility.

WILLIE PEP WINS BOUT

WATERBURY, Conn., Sept. 2 (AP)—Willie Pep, world featherweight champion, won an easy technical knockout victory over Johnny Dell, of Brooklyn, in a non-title bout here tonight. Referee Bill Conway of Hartford stopped the uneven contest in the eighth round of a scheduled ten when Dell's left eye became closed.

Tech Gridders In Good Spirits

The second day's work at Texas Tech found no let up in the amount of spirit on the gridiron, but no strenuous work in the two-a-day sessions being conducted.

Football candidates reported twice yesterday, going through a long drill in the morning and another one in the afternoon under the watchful eyes of Coach Dell Morgan and his staff. Emphasis at present is on fundamentals and the carrying out of assignments later to be used in plays.

It's too early to tell much about the squad, other than that they appear big, well-conditioned and eager. There is a lot of hustle and it was apparent on the field again yesterday. Cries of "Get a Buffalo" have begun to sound and the players are looking forward to their first game.

Need More Practice

But considerable work needs to be done first. Coach Morgan, realizing that it is only the second day of practice, isn't concerned yet. He knows that the players need a good deal of practice to make perfect, but he is insisting that they learn their assignments. Backs, particularly the quarterbacks, are learning their hand-off assignments, while the halfbacks and fullbacks are getting their faking and ball-carrying assignments perfected.

When the squad is broken into teams for scrimmage, then ability will begin to show and the coaches can learn who is learning best. Right now all the players appear rusty and their timing is off, a matter that will pick up with each succeeding day's practice.

Linemen Workout

Yesterday the linemen were sent through downfield blocking assignments, as well as their line blocks. There also was emphasis on punting, passing and quick-opening work with a skeleton line. Dummy scrimmage, to get the feel of battle conditions, also was attempted.

Wind sprints, calisthenics and conditioning work continue to occupy the squad and probably will for the remainder of the week. There is no expectation of much contact work until next week.

Philadelphia Eagles Defeat Detroit Lions Eleven, 37-35

DETROIT, Sept. 2 (INS)—Coach Bo McMillen's debut in professional football was dampened tonight when the Philadelphia Eagles defeated his Detroit Lions, 37 to 35, in an exhibition game.

The former Indiana mentor could find some consolation in the performance of end Pete Pihos, his one-time Hoosier protege, who paced the Eagles to a 14 to 0 lead before the end of the first quarter.

The Eagles tallied twice in the second quarter and once in the third.

Little-Known Beetle Causing Heavy Damage To Gardens

STAMFORD, Conn., Sept. 2 (U.P.)—A little-known beetle that works the night shift in gardens does as much, and sometimes more, damage than its cousin on the day shift, a researcher has found.

It is the Japanese garden or Asiatic beetle, said Dr. S. W. Bromley, entomologist of the Bartlett tree research laboratories.

"During the day it tunnels into the ground around the base of shrubs and small trees. When the ordinary Japanese beetle knocks off in early evening, the Asiatic beetle comes out of the ground and takes over," Dr. Bromley explained.

It eats holes in the margins of leaves and flowers, vegetables, shrubs and small trees, whereas the Japanese beetle skeletonizes leaves. In the grub stage it is more destructive to lawns than the Japanese beetle. They can be seen at night on screen doors and windows, attracted to light.

Dr. Bromley said the best way to kill them is to spray the ground around plants with arsenate of lead or DDT in early evening before they go to work.

Of the 308 engagements of the American Revolution, nearly a third of the battles were fought on New York soil.

Area Grid Games Set Tonight

Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes Meet Seminole Indians In Feature

Six South Plains grid teams will blast the lid off the 1948 season this afternoon and tonight, with the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes of District 3-AA invading Seminole for a non-conference clash with the Indians of 5-A in the feature tilt.

In other tussles the Sudan Hornets, rated a top contender in District 4-A, play host to the Class B Springlake eleven, and Sundown's Roughnecks journey to Denver City to battle the Mustangs in a Class A setto.

The Seminole and Denver City games will start at 8 o'clock tonight, but the Sudan encounter will get underway at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Rough Test Slated

The Lamesa-Seminole tilt is expected to show area grid fans just what the Indians will have in the way of a title contender this season. Coach Bob Harrell's Tornadoes are slated to provide a rough test for all opponents, although they are given little chance to beat such powers as Odessa and San Angelo in the rugged 3-AA district race.

Coach Gordon Wood's Indians, who reached the bi-district playoff against Merkel last fall, have been tabbed as one of the top title threats in 5-A, although the Seminole squad is without the services of most of the 1947 stalwarts. Gone are backfield aces Val Joe Walker and Jimmy Powell, and the Indian offense will remain a question mark until the kickoff tonight.

The Sundown-Denver City setto is another top drawing card on the South Plains grid slate. Sundown, with Mentor Floyd Green at the helm, looms as a threat to Levelland and Littlefield in the strong 4-A loop. Denver City, directed by Coach Wilson Head, is a power in 5-A. The result of this non-conference meeting may show the relative strength of the two districts and what may be expected in the playoff bracket later this season.

Sundown Is Favorite

Sundown is ranked as a slight favorite in the setto, since Coach Green will have nine lettermen in his probable starting lineup tonight. Boys slated to get starting assignments include Bob Clark, left end; James Clark, left tackle; Doyle Anderson, left guard; Clay Jones, center; Wayne Teague, right guard; Gene Koonce, right tackle; Melvin Houx, right end; Neil Pearcy, quarterback; Bill McCulloch or Bob Wheat, left half; Carl McCollum, right half; and Doug Ethridge, fullback.

Coach Head has not announced his starters, but speedy Jack Pritchard and Bill Price will probably pace the backfield and Tommy Dunagen, Richard Dempsey, J. D. Cox and Melvin Reed are certain to see service in the forward wall.

The Sudan-Springlake clash which will start at 5 o'clock this afternoon, will be a feature of the Fall Fiesta and will be broadcast by a Littlefield radio station. The Hornets of 4-A hold a definite advantage of the Class B youngsters, but the Wolverines will field a scrappy, speedy team.

Most of the South Plains gridders will not see action until Friday, Sept. 10, when practically every squad swings into action.

Antelope Hunters To Get Permits

AUSTIN, Sept. 2. (AP) — There are about 100 Texas antelope hunters who won't be permitted to go after their antelope this year.

The State Game, Fish and Oyster commission, protector of the state's limited antelope herds, has set aside 743 antelope for hunters this season and will issue as many permits on a one-antelope-per-hunter basis.

Land owners will get 149 of the permits. Seven hundred hopeful hunters have applied for the other 594 permits.

The commission said it will issue permits to first-timers, then draw from the names of repeaters for the remaining permits.

Parker, Schroeder To Open Cup Meet

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (AP) — Frankie Parker and Ted Schroeder, both veterans of Davis Cup tennis, were drawn today to oppose the Australians in the four singles matches of the challenge round starting Saturday at Forest Hills.

Parker, who last played in a challenge round in 1939, also against Australia, will face Billy Sidwell in the opening match. Schroeder, winner of all three of his singles tilts against the Aussies in 1946 and '47, meets captain Adrian Quist in Saturday's second match.

Cellar Cubs Defeat Dodgers Again, 7-6; Giants Edge Pirates

CHICAGO, Sept. 2. (AP)—The cellar-dwelling Chicago Cubs continued their role of "spoilers" today, knocking off the Brooklyn Dodgers, 7-6, to cut the league leaders' margin over the runner-up Boston Braves to two percentage points.

Johnny Schmitz, who absorbed a drubbing at the hands of Burt Shotton's men yesterday, came back to pitch four scoreless relief innings to gain credit for the victory. It was his 16th of the season, and his sixth against the Dodgers.

Bucs Fined In Baseball Probe

Breach Of Rules Is Charged To Bucs

CINCINNATI, Sept. 2 (AP) — Hanging a $2,000 fine on the Pittsburgh Pirates today, baseball commissioner A. B. Chandler began carrying out a warning he issued a month ago that rules violations would be punished severely.

The Pirates were charged with breach of the bonus rule by signing M. Dan Lynch, Sr., of Dallas to a scouting contract at the same time young Danny Lynch was signed to a $6,000 a year contract. Raymond Kennedy, director of the Pittsburgh farm system was fined $500, the player declared a free agent, and the father's contract nullified.

Young Lynch, a second baseman and shortstop, from Southern Methodist university, was assigned to Waco in the Big State league after being signed last June 3 by Pittsburgh. Manager Buster Catham of Waco said he will be pulled from the lineup immediately.

"There is no escaping the conclusion that the signing of Lynch, Sr., on the part of the Pittsburgh organization, was designed to encourage the boy to sign a Pittsburgh contract," Chandler said. "M. Dan Lynch, Jr., signed for the maximum amount permissible without becoming a bonus player.

Considered As Bonus

"The commissioner considers the amount paid M. Dan Lynch, Sr., as a scout, as actually bonus to the boy."

The senior Lynch was signed to a contract calling for $1,200 a year, and received $600 in cash at the time, Chandler declared, adding:

"As of Aug. 27, Lynch had made no report to the Pittsburgh club and there was no indication of any activity on his part that would benefit his employers. He had visited Waco whenever his son played ball there."

Just a month ago today, Chandler, in what he headed a "warning," said in a notice to all clubs:

"Since the passage of the bonus rule on Feb. 15, 1947, club owners and those who assist them have shown extraordinary prowess in finding ways to circumvent the rule. The commissioner's office is not naive enough to be unmindful of what is going on."

Fathers Offered Contracts

He said "some club owners are offering contracts to players' fathers to serve as scouts, or paying off the mortgage on the family homestead, lavishly entertaining father, moter, brothers and sisters and are doing many other things that really violate the rule."

"This will serve as a warning to club owners that violators who have been surreptitiously doing the things mentioned above and other things which are not specified will be severely penalized," Chandler said at the time.

In Pittsburgh, A Roy Hamey, general manager of the Pirates, said:

"If we've made a mistake — we've made a mistake. At least it was an honest mistake. There was nothing under the table. The kid (Danny Lynch) received only what he was entitled to under the bonus rule.

"He was made a free agent because it was assumed we signed his father in order to get the boy's contract. Actually, we signed the elder Lynch because of his baseball experience. After all, he had 18 years in the minors, you know."

Mrs. Tubbs, Mrs. Soash Enter Finals In Women's Tournament

Mrs. Fenner Tubbs and Mrs. George Soash fired steady 80-plus rounds Thursday at Lubbock Country club to chalk up wins over bracket foes and enter the finals of the annual women's championship golf tournament.

Mrs. Tubbs ousted Mary Jarrott, 6 and 5, with a creditable 83 tally. Mrs. Tubbs turned in a 41 on the front nine, then came in with a 42 on the back stretch. Mrs. Soash stroked to a 44 on the first nine and was playing brilliantly when she clinched the victory.

Mrs. Tubbs and Mrs. Soash will battle at 8:30 o'clock this morning at the club course in the finals of the championship flight, with other flight finalists teeing off at seven minute intervals.

Mrs. Schroeder Wins

In the championship consolation bracket Mrs. H. W. Schroeder trounced Mrs. C. E. Hunley, 6 and 5, in a semi-final setto, while Mrs. John Markham edged by Mrs. O. D. McCoy, 3 and 2. Mrs. Schroeder and Mrs. Markham will clash this morning for top honors.

Mrs. Culver Hill entered the finals of the first flight, nine-hale division by dropping Mrs. Roy Autry, 4 and 2. Her competitor today will be Mrs. E. F. St. Clair, who chalked up a 2 up decision over Mrs. E. M. Hennersdorf Thursday.

Consolation flight results included a triumph for Mrs. Horace Humphries over Mrs. Kenneth Leslie, one-up; and a 5 and 4 win by Mrs. W. F. Eisenberg over Mrs. E. H. Holcomb.

Finalists Named

Finalists were named in the second flight, nine-hole bracket when Mrs. Wayne Prather defeated Mrs. Bill Honey, 2 up, and Jean Eisenberg nosed by Mrs. O. G. Wilson, one-up in 10 holes. In the second flight consolation, Mrs. Oscar Slaton eliminated Mrs. Hugh Anderson, 3 up, and Mrs. C. C. Caldwell coasted to a 5 and 4 win over Mrs. Ira Dunlap.

Winners will be presented with their prizes at a luncheon at 1 o'clock this afternoon at the club, Pro Herb Schroeder announced.

O'Neal Beats Kirby In Women's Tourney

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2 (INS)—Alice O'Neal, Indianapolis, scored a major upset today in the Women's Western amateur golf championship when she defeated Dot Kirby, Atlanta, Ga., on the 19th hole.

The blonde graduate of Rollins college was three up on Miss Kirby at the end of 15 holes in her quarter finals match at the Olympic club's Lakeside course in San Francisco. The Atlanta girl took the next three holes to square the match but lost it on the extra hole to a par-five.

In the other quarter final matches, Polly Riley, Fort Worth, Tex., winner of the recent women's Trans-Mississippi tournament, defeated Alice Bauer, Long Beach, Cal., 3 and 2.

Dot Kielty, Long Beach, Cal., Curtis Cup star, won from her fellow-townsman, Mrs. Jim Ferrie, 4 and 2.

Margaret Gunther, Memphis, Tenn., defeated Carol Diringer, Tiffin, O., 6 and 5.

In the semi-finals tomorrow, Miss Riley meets Miss Gunther and Miss O'Neal matches strokes with Miss Kielty.

Outfielder Bauer Will Join Yankees To He'p In Flag Race

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (U.P.) — Hank Bauer, slugging outfielder of the Kansas City club, will join the parent New York Yankees tomorrow to lend his help in the red-hot American League pennant race.

Bauer, a right-handed hitter, has rattled the fences all this season with extra base drives, including 23 home runs for the Yankee farm club. He has driven in 100 runs and, after a slow start, has a batting average of .305.

The Yankees have purchased his contract with the idea of injecting him as soon as possible into the outfield. He reputedly can play any field.

Two Amarillo High school athletes of the 1947-48 season have reportedly decided to enroll in Texas Tech this fall, and try for places on the freshman grid and cage squads. Don Anthony, stellar Sandie guard, will try for a line post with the frosh and Jimmy Sharp, Sandie basketball regular, will compete with the first-year cagers.

George Carpenter, one of the Westerner grid managers, wishes that fans would comply with the "locked gate" regulations and stop trying to watch the squad drills. George is kept very busy telling people that the practices are "closed" sessions, and in keeping fans from parking at vantage points near the field. There seems to be some misunderstanding about the regulations, but officials warn that all practice sessions for the next two weeks will be closed to everyone. No observers will be permitted at the workouts.

Norman Bantz, the stock little Westerner blocking back candidate, hopes to be back in action before the opening setto with the Odessa Broncos here Sept. 10. Norman received a knee injury several days ago and has been on crutches. But his doctor says that he can probably lay the crutches aside this weekend, and probably will be able to join the squad next week. Norman is ranked as one of the top competitors for a starting assignment.

Bill Tatum, Lubbock High grid and baseball regular in 1947-48, has decided to enter Texas Christian university this fall. Bill, who says that he doesn't know whether he will try for a place on any of the athletic teams, will not go to Fort Worth until after the Westerner-Bronco clash. "I wouldn't miss that game for anytihng," Bill says.

Another Westerner standout, Jack Alderson, will enter Texas Tech for the fall semester. Jack reportedly was headed for Southern Methodist a few weeks ago, but has apparently decided to attend Tech for a year. It is doubtful whether Jack will be a member of any Raider freshman team, since he will protect his future eligibility.

HSU Conducts First Grid Drill

ABILENE, Sept. 2 (Special)—A squad of 41 players, 20, of them lettermen, and ten of them newcomers to the varsity, reported to Coach Warren B. Woodson Wednesday morning for the opening drills of the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys. The Cowboys will have only three weeks in which to practice before their opening game with the University of Cincinnati, Saturday, September 25.

The squad, practically the same size of personnel expected, was sent through a light workout Wednesday morning with a stiff practice on the schedule for the afternoon.

Conference Players Back

Three all-border conference team members, tackle Strawberry Rowan, end Bob McChesney, and halfback, Wilton Davis were among the familiar faces that greeted Coach Woodson. Among the newcomers were Jon Cowsar, Odessa, end; Bob Surratt, of Oklahoma City, Okla., tackle; James Taylor, San Angelo, tackle; Coleman Bridges, San Mateo, California, halfback; George Leja, El Centro, California, halfback; Tom Adams, guard from Brownfield; Jim Harrison, quarterback, Abilene; and Nolan Tiger, Altus, Okla. halfback.

Stranahan Drops Title Bid, 7 And 5

Billows Takes Lead In Amateur Tourney

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 2 (INS)—The jinx that has kept millionaire Frank Stranahan from his most cherished goal, the National Amateur golf championship, seized him again today and flung him from the quarter-finals of the 1948 classic, 7 and 5 at the hands of Ray Billows.

The veteran Billows, a 34-year-old Poughkeepsie, N. Y., salesman who twice was runner-up in the U. S. Amateur, was joined for tomorrow's semi-final round by Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City, last year's Trans-Mississippi champion.

Other semi-finalists are Gene Dahlbender, southern amateur champ from Atlanta who yesterday ousted defending titlist Skee Riegel; and ex-British and U. S. champion Willie Turnesa of Elmsford, N. Y.

Billows will play Coe in one 36-hole semi-final match over the Memphis country club course and Dahlbender will play Turnesa in the other.

Coe Beats Armstrong

Coe won his quarter-final match from Arthur Armstrong, Hawaii, 4 and 3. Dahlbender tipped Jimmy McGonagill, Shreveport, La., 1 up on the 19th, while Turnesa fought uphill to stop Bruce McCormick, Hollywood, Cal., 2 and 1.

In evicting Stranahan, Billows snatched the lead on the first hole when Stranahan missed a four-foot putt for a par. Billows built his lead to 2-up with a birdie on the par-5 third hole and was never threatened thereafter.

The 1937 and 1939 U. S. amateur runner-up also won the sixth, seventh and eighth holes while Stranahan was able to take only the 137-yard fourth with a deuce, so at the turn Billows held a merciless four-hole advantage.

They halved the tenth, but Billows quickly produced the crusher by winning the 11th and 12th holes. He was dormie 6 at this point, and Stranahan was visibly shaken. He needed four shots to reach the green on the 442-yard 13th hole, whereas the calm, methodical Billows had his ball on the carpet in two.

At this point, Stranahan yielded to the inevitable and conceded. Weak putting apparently cost him the match.

Armstrong had held Coe all even at the end of the first nine, but a streak of birdies and pars after the turn gave Coe the triumph.

Canada To Meet U.S. On Diamond

WICHITA, Kan., Sept. 2. (U.P.)—The National Baseball Congress today announced a Canadian-American series, bringing together the non-professional champions of the two countries, would be staged in London, Ont.

The tentative starting date is Sept. 16, in a best four out of seven-game series.

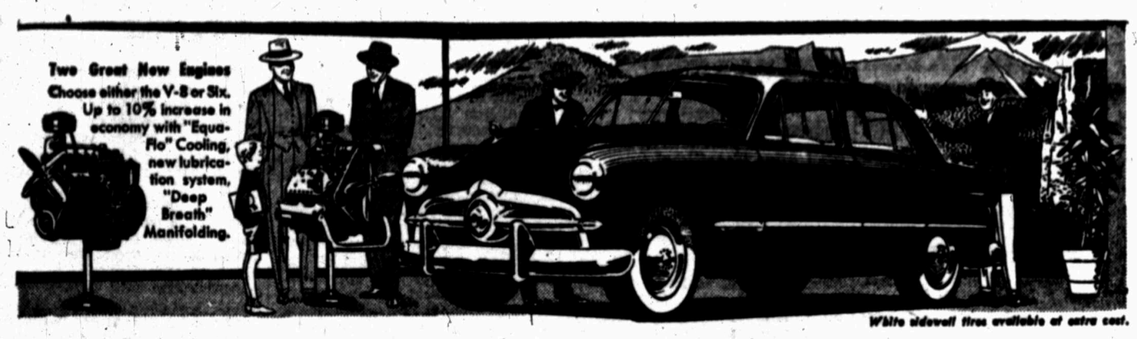

The series will bring together the two 1948 champions, the London Major of Ontario and the Fort Wayne General Electrics of Indiana.

Both teams have won their respective national championships for the past two years.

The winner of the Canadian-American series has been invited through the National Baseball Congress of Mexico to play a series of games in Mexico this fall in connection with the NBC global program.

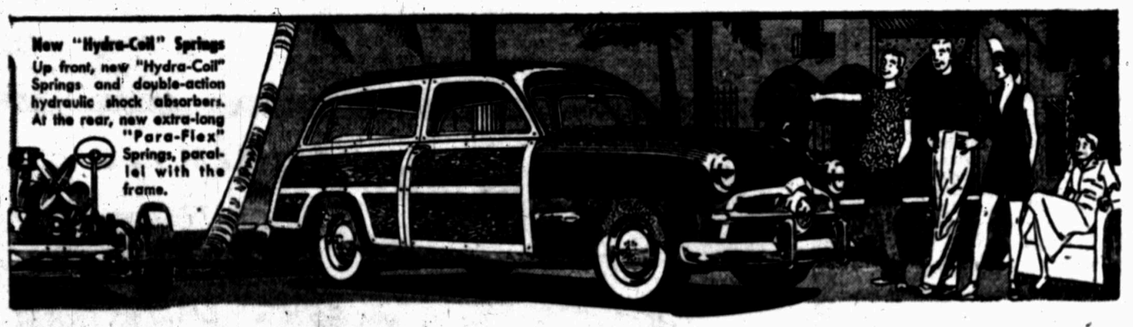

Fort Wayne won the National U. S. crown this week in Wichita by capturing seven straight games under the double elimination system and first purse of $10,000.

The same song sparrow was caught in a bird-banging trap more than 200 times in a single summer.

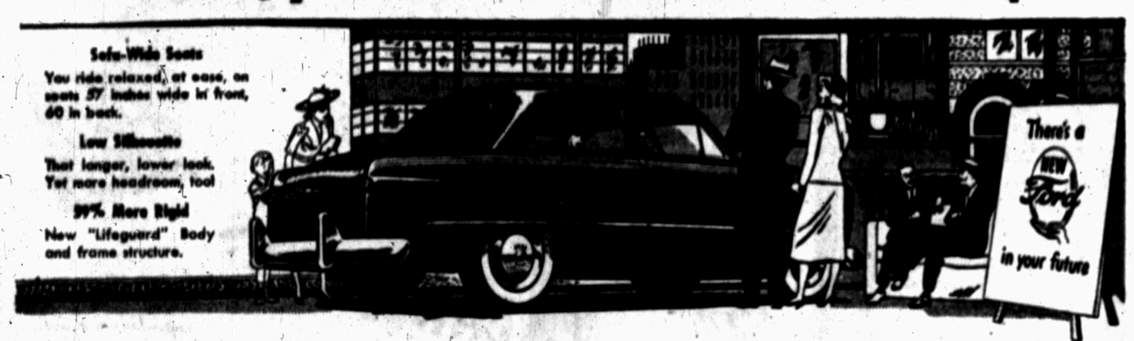

White sidewall tires available at extra cost.

Army, Navy Jet Planes Arrive In Cleveland For Air Races

CLEVELAND, Sept. 2 (AP)—Arrival at Cleveland airport of Army and Navy jet planes delayed qualifying speed trials today for the National Air races.

More than two-score of the United States Air Force's latest jet fighters roared in for landings throughout the early afternoon. Among the arrivals was the revolutionary F-86 in which Major Richard L. Johnson of Wright field will attempt to break the world's speed record.

The giant B-36, six-motored superbomber, also landed at the airport. It will remain on public display during the air show, which begins Saturday.

Two pilots, however, qualified for the Thompson, Sohio and Tinnerman races to run the total number of "heavy" qualifiers to nine. Sixteen planes have made speed trials for the Goodyear trophy race for midget planes.

Anson L. Johnson of Miami Springs, Fla., became the fourth qualifier to better last year's winning Thompson speed of 396.1 miles an hour when he zoomed around the pylons at an average speed of 398.634 M. P. H. in his modified P-51.

A few hours later, H. F. Gidovlenko of Alhambra, Cal., barely passed the required minimum of 325 M. P. H. for the Thompson by averaging 325.332 in his P-38.

Only the 10 fastest qualifiers will compete in the Thompson which will climax the three-day show on Labor Day, Sept. 6. Top qualifying speed so far is the phenomenal 418.3 M. P. H. set yesterday by Charles E. Brown of Indianapolis.

HARRIS COUNTY BALLOT FIGURES ARE RE-CHECKED

HOUSTON, Sept. 2. (AP)—Harris county election figures in the U. S. senatorial race are being re-checked, M. O. Andrews, retiring chairman of the county Democratic committee, disclosed late today.

Andrews said his office is making the re-check "because we always go over the figures again in close races." Harris county gave former Gov. Coke Stevenson a large majority.

At the same time his workers are going over the figures, Andrews said an independent group of auditors are re-checking the figures simultaneously.

Both he and the auditors declined to comment on whether the re-check had been requested by any of the parties in the race.

"I didn't ask them who they represent," the retiring chairman said. "The figures are always available to anyone who wants to look them over."

County returns gave Stevenson a total of 51,495 votes, while Johnson received 37,377.

Truckers' Strike

tiated by the union officers.

The new proposals call for strict observance of seniority in assignment of preferred equipment and a guarantee that truckers can "punch in" in the morning and "sign out" at night at the same place.

Many of the 807 members declared the principal point desired in connection with the welfare fund is a hospitalization plan. They said "the diseases and hazards are great in trucking" and cited many types of injuries suffered in the occupation.

Only slightly more than two-thirds of local 807's thirteen thousand members were involved. There are about 40,000 teamsters' union truckers in the metropolitan area.

The embargo on much railroad freight destined for the city was certain to affect many industries in time. It was imposed yesterday.

Several air lines reported sharp decreases in air freight shipments as a result of the tieup.

Top wage rate under the old contract was $1.78½ an hour for drivers of trailer trucks.

French Crisis

"Test strikes" by disgruntled workers spread. French conservatives said they invariably are led by Communists and that the anti-Communist "workers' force" and Catholic labor groups fall into line for fear of losing members. No formal strike call has been issued.

Drive Against Reds

On the basis of Boyd's remarks, he seems to feel the deportation of Peters is certain.

As the government concluded its case today, it again requested the short, stocky defendant to take the stand. Again, Peters' attorney, Mrs. Carol King, flatly declared he had "no intention of taking the witness stand in this hearing."

Admits He's Red

It has been Mrs. King's contention from the beginning of the hearing four days ago that it was illegally constituted and hence without jurisdiction under the administrative procedure act.

Later, at Mrs. King's office, both she and Peters issued formal statements on the hearing and the whole case against Peters.

Mrs. King said there is no denial that Peters is a Communist, but maintained the only "relevant" question in the entire proceeding is whether the Communist party plots the violent overthrow of the U. S. government. She said she does not believe this to be true.

Peters, in his statement, blasted the House un-American Activities committee and what he called its "stool pigeons" in the U. S. Immigration service.

Witness Trained In Moscow

The flow of "convincing evidence," as noted by Boyd, continued in today's final hearing.

The testimony revealed Red plans to foment civil war in the United States and bring about "unlimited slaughter, suppression and enslavement of the whole people" of the nation.

The final witness, William O'Dell Nowell, once a negro Communist leader in the Midwest, told in his slow, soft-spoken way of being trained in the use of U. S. Army rifles, pistols and machine guns in the Lenin school in Moscow in 1931-32.

British and German weapons also were studied, he said, and he and other students at the school were taught how to operate and assemble them as well as the American arms.

Taught Sabotage Methods

Nowell, a man with the fine, thin features and long face of an old Biblical prophet, in a soft voice told of being taught to destroy "U. S. capitalist democracy by force of arms, murder, arson and sabotage."

While in the Russian school, Nowell said, he was taught "target practice, how to sabotage industry, sever communications and transportation lines, and other things useful in case of violence and revolution. It was there, he testified, that he first met Peters, who gave twice-weekly lectures during a six-weeks period. The witness said Peters also took a leading part in the U. S. Communist national convention in 1930.

Soviets Seek Control

night in a statement to International News Service.

Friedensburg said the Western Allies are becoming "panicky" in their dealings with the Russians and should stand firm for a lifting of the siege.

If the Russian siege is not lifted soon he said he intends to put the case before the United Nations.

Organized mobs prevented the assembly from meeting twice last week in the city hall, which is in the Soviet sector.

An American military government informant in a key position talked with leading officials today and said "they are all wearing long faces." He added:

"We are taking a bad licking in the propaganda battle here just now."

Gen. Clay met with the Anglo-French governors, Gen. Sir Brian Robertson and Gen. Joseph-Pierre Koenig, for a half hour preceding today's conference with the Russians.

Diogenes Can Quit Looking; Woman At Tahoka Is Answer

If Old Diogenes were around these parts today he might not find an honest man—but he certainly would find at least one honest woman.

And she would be Mrs. Rollin McCord, of Tahoka.

On the afternoon of August 31, Mrs. McCord started to back her car off the Sears-Roebuck parking lot. She didn't know one of her car doors was open, until an impact caused her to notice that she'd smashed into a nearby car—a black Plymouth—and had damaged its side.

Mrs. McCord looked around for the Plymouth's owner, couldn't find him, so copied down the car's license number, planning later to learn the identity of its owner and "square things up." However, upon return to her home, Mrs. McCord found she had misplaced the Plymouth's number.

Mr. McCord, former county and district attorney at Tahoka, called The Avalanche-Journal yesterday, seeking to run a paid advertisement in an effort to find the Plymouth's owner. He was told that "anybody that honest can get The Avalanche-Journal's help for free!"

So, if the owner of the black Plymouth damaged while parked on the Sears lot last Tuesday afternoon will please step forward, Mrs. McCord will make proper amends for the accident!

Two Men Charged

theft of a sewing machine valued at $50, a pressure cooker valued at $10, a gas stove valued at $10, a radio table valued at $7.50, a card table valued at $2, and a mattress valued at $10.

Patrol Cars Dispatched

Miller said the property was removed from his garage.

Officers said they understood that Miller, chasing the truck in his car, yelled at everybody he saw during the chase, asking that they "call the law."

Someone apparently did. KKOR, the Department of Public Safety shortwave radio station, quickly began dispatching cars, several of which sped to the scene of arrest.

Miller was said to have informed officials that some of his property, including the sewing machine, either fell off the truck in the chase or was pitched out to retard his pursuit.

The arrests were shortly after 3 p. m.

Car Theft Charged

Assistant District Attorney E. G. Pharr filed a complaint of car theft against Allen L. Admire, 29, of "anywhere," in connection with theft Wednesday of the automobile of Jim Neal of Garden City. Neal identified Admire as a hitchhiker he had picked up near Midland and left in his car along with his ignition key when he parked the machine in front of a building on Nineteenth.

Soon afterward, Neal's car was involved in a collision. The driver fled. Neal came out, found his car missing, and informed police. About that time, George W. Dupree, a Lubbock attorney, found a man asleep in Dupree's car, parked in Dupree's garage at 2314 Seventeenth, and informed police. Dupree and Neal both identified the man upon his arrest soon afterward.

Affidavit Dismissed

The complaint was sworn to by LeRoy Boling, jr., a city detective who questioned Admire.

In county court, Judge Walter Davies fined W. G. Murray, about 25, of Levelland, $25 and costs on a charge of violation of state check law.

Otho Moore, 38, a negro charged with vagrancy, posted $300 bond after entering a justice court plea of innocent.

An affidavit charging Maynard Blaylock, 33, a Lubbock negro, had threatened to kill L. A. Cornelius was dismissed upon application of the affiant, who explained that differences had been adjusted between the principals.

Two Charges Filed

County court officials filed two charges against O. V Sturgeon, 30, of Lubbock, after his arrest by police. They accused him of drunk driving and of illegally carrying a pistol. The weapon, police said, was on the seat of Sturgeon's car at the time of arrest.

Sturgeon pleaded guilty of the first offense. It was intimated that the pistol case may be dismissed in the light of later investigation. His fine was $50 and court costs.

Robert Johnson, 45, a negro, posted $200 bond set by Lynn in connection with a vagrancy charge.

J. N. Martin, who gave his address as Levelland and said he was moving to Roaring Springs, Thursday afternoon was struck by a car while attempting to remove the left rear wheel from his trailer truck in the 100 block of West Broadway.

A few minutes after the mishap city police arrested a man at a nearby filling station and jailed him to face charges of failure to stop and render aid.

Martin, who suffered minor back and neck injuries, told police that the speeding car knocked him behind the wheel he was changing. The car, a grey 1935 Ford coupe, witnesses said, went down the street to a filling station and halted for gasoline. Station attendants said the driver of the coupe serviced his own car, and had been asked to clear the driveway when Martin came up and asked the man not to leave the station until police arrived. Police said the man was leaving the station on foot when they arrived and made the arrest.

Four women were arrested Thursday night and charged with vagrancy by prostitution. Each pleaded guilty and was fined $25.

THREE PERSONS KILLED

ALICANTE, Spain, Sept. 2. (AP)—Three persons were killed and at least 38 injured today when a bus fell into a ravine.

Request from J. W. Ross and O. C. White to change lots 21, 22, 23, and 24, block 11, O'Neal Terrace, from an "A" to an "F" zone, such lots being on the northwest corner intersection of Ave. S and Thirty-fourth street.

The commission rejected a request from Kenneth E. Pharr for a change in zone from residential to business at 206 and 208 Ave. Q

Buster Welch, representing the Anthony company with which he is associated, presented a petition to the commission requesting a change from residence to "G' business zone of 1600 block on Twenty-second street, which is adjacent to Ave. Q on the west.

Addition Okayed

Still under study by the zoning committee are two zone change requests, one from Clyde Jones for a change of lots 19 through 24, block 225, original town, from residential to business zone, property in question at the southwest corner intersection of Ave. M and Eighteenth street; the second from J. C. Davis for changing lots 24, 25, 26, and south one-half of lot 27, block 31, Easley subdivision, from "C" to "G" zone, such property located on the west side of Ave. Q, northeast of Second street.

Members of the platting committee reported the approval of R. E. Karper's Northridge addition which lies west of the Lubbock Country club. The addition had undergone further study by the committee because of a question regarding the lack of service alleys in some parts of the addition.

Other approval requests for additions and subdivisions which were approved by the commission were:

Other Plats Approved

Request by M. A. Sanders for approval of Circle addition, a subdivision of the East 40 acres of the northwest one-quarter, section 6, block E, lying one mile east of the traffic circle south of the city.

Request by W. M. Peticolas for approval of Porter-Erwin subdivision installment I, of the west one-half of the northwest one-quarter of the southeast one-quarter of section 10, block A, one-half mile south of the airport and one-half mile east of the Plainview highway.

Request by W. M. Peticolas for approval of Manson Heights, a subdivision of block 82, Roberds and McWhorter addition, located between North Third and North Fourth streets from Ave. Q to Ave. S.

Resolution Passed

Request by W. M. Peticolas for approval of Highway Heights on Ave. A at Thirty-ninth street.

Request for approval of C. L. Vaughn addition located at Ave. A and Thirty-fourth street.

The commission passed a resolution of regret that John Ruhmann, city engineer who recently resigned his position, is leaving the city.

Members present were K. N. Clapp, chairman; J. D. Hassell, W. L. Bradshaw, J. T. Krueger, M. R. Smith, and John P. Ruhmann. Absent were Chas. A. Guy, Homer D. Grant, and J. H. Murdough. C. J. Griggs of the city engineering department also was present.

Taxi Fare Boost

mately only 600 to 800 persons a day would be affected for all companies combined. Taking the 600 figure, the increase in annual fares would reach $21,000.

Costs Claimed Up

Cab company spokesmen explained that the increase was necessary because of the increased costs in cars and maintenance in recent years. The recent boosts in car prices was especially pointed out by the owners.

A. L. Abbott, general manager of the Yellow Cab company, said "most of my expenses have about doubled the past few years while there has been no major change in cab fares in Lubbock for the past six or seven years."

As explained by another cab company spokesman, the owners said they were making the increase because of the increased cost in cars which they had to keep buying to stay in business. He said he understood the city had nothing to do with controlling prices. As he explained it "we studied all the zones to find which one we could go up on and affect the least people to make the best return."

City Officials Not Advised

City officials said they have not been advised of the proposal of taxi companies to boost rates.

Mayor W. H. Rodgers indicated, however, that an ordinance regulating rates which was prepared several months ago, but upon which no action has been taken, may be called up when the city commission holds its semi-monthly meeting Thursday afternoon. The rate boost may be discussed at that time.

City Attorney Vaughn Wilson said the city charter gives the commission specific authority to regulate such rates. But no rate regulatory ordinance ever has been passed, so far as he has been able to find, Wilson said.

The new fare will affect any single rider who utilizes a cab in what formerly was the 25 cent zone, an area bounded on the south by Nineteenth street to Avenue V to Sixteenth street, then up Sixteenth to College, down College to Eighth street, back down to Avenue V, across to Fourth street, down Fourth to the approximate east boundary near the railroad tracks.

Pfc. Cleveland joined the Army in April, 1947, at Breckenridge, and arrived for duty in Japan in July, 1947. He was assigned to 15th Army band in Kobe, which plays for all parades in that city and for recreational meets.

demanded that Dewey and Stassen "name the specific commodities which they had in mind, if any." Brannan added:

"I wonder if they were thinking of milk."

The secretary recalled that Dewey had ordered a milk price increase of one cent a quart, effective Wednesday, in Rochester, and Buffalo.

He added that Dewey "now sells milk produced on his country estate in New York at a substantial premium price" above that established in milk marketing agreements administered by the Agriculture department and New York state.

Time To Take Stand

Brannan declared that Dewey and Stassen "remained conspicuously silent" about the President's anti-inflation program, submitted to the special session of Congress, and did not "suggest a plan of their own."

He charged that GOP leaders "have been unwilling to do anything about high prices in the last few years except to interfere with the efforts of the present administration to deal intelligently with inflation.

DEWEY'S OFFICE DENIES MILK SOLD ABOVE MARKET

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept 2 (INS)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's office flatly denied today that the Republican presidential nominee is selling milk produced at his Pawling, N. Y., farm at prices higher than paid to other farmers in that area.

The statement was issued in response by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan that Dewey "is selling milk at premium price outside and above the milk marketing agreement."

"Governor Dewey's farm is paid whatever the going price of milk is, just like any other farm in the area," the statement said.

Zhdanov Is Buried In Kremlin Wall After Magnificent Rites

MOSCOW, Sept. 2. (AP)—Andrei A. Zhdanov was buried in the Kremlin wall tonight after one of the Soviet Union's most magnificent funerals.

Prime Minister Stalin, Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, Lavrenti P. Beria and other leading Politburo members and Soviet citizens personally bore the body to its resting place, and Molotov delivered the chief funeral ovation before a huge crowd which packed Moscow's Red Square.

Health Program

that was not endorsed by the assembly, however was the plan for national health insurance.

This has been criticized as "socialized medicine."

The five point program listed by Mr. Truman in his statement includes adequate public-health services, more medical research and education, more hospitals and doctors, insurance against the costs of medical care, and protection against loss of earnings during illness.

The federal health insurance and medical aid program offered by Ewing proposes to help "millions . . . meet the cost of health services" because "voluntary insurance plans can not do the job that has to be done."

The insurance would cover the cost of doctor's fees, hospital care, medicines and appliances. Dental care and home nursing would be provided later, possibly at extra cost.

Patients would have the right to choose their own doctors. And the doctors, in turn, would be free to join or refuse to take part in the federal plan. Their fees would be paid from the government fund to doctors, dentists, nurses and hospitals "at a rate mutually agreeable to them and the insurance system."

At first, the program would apply only to those workers and their dependents now included under social security. Ultimately, the aim is to cover everyone.

A special tax is recommended to pay for the program. It would be imposed on wages and salaries, starting with one-half to one per cent of the first $4,800 income. Later the levy might reach four per cent, "probably divided between subscriber and employer."

State and local officials would be in full charge of actual operation. A full-time federal board of medical and lay members would provide overall supervision, and work with state and local officials.

The American Medical association claims the program would give the government control over physicians.

Some Republicans have proposed instead that the government pay up to $200,000,000 a year in grants to states to be used to provide medical care for needy.

Fair Trips To Be Discussed Today

Detailed plans for good will trips to boost the Panhandle-South Plains fair in Lubbock Sept. 27-Oct. 2 will be discussed over coffee and doughnuts in the Hilton Hotel Navajo room at 9 a. m. today.

More than 50 business men who are members of the chamber of commerce good neighbor committee, official sponsor of the trips, have accepted invitations to be present, according to E. E. Fonville, chairman.

Tentative plans call for four trips in chartered buses, probably during the weeks of Sept. 13 and 20. More than 40 towns and cities of the South Plains and in Eastern New Mexico are on the proposed itineraries.

To Name Chairman

Included in the highly important business to be transacted, Fonville said, will be the selection of a new chairman and the discussion of the entertainment to provide on the trip and the souvenirs to be distributed.

However, fair association officials said the souvenirs will include 100,000 tickets for Children's Days which will be on Thursday and Friday of the fair. The number is larger by 25,000 than ever ordered for those days at any previous fair.

Fonville said the meeting will be speeded as much as possible so as to allow committee members to return to their places of building without unnecessary loss of time.

charge and Charlie Chaplin against a white slave accusation.

Selznick International, owner of the other half of Mitchum's contract, took a stand identical to that attributed to Hughes.

The studio asserted that it had no intention of engaging an attorney for the actor or of contributing to a fund for his defense. It added:

"We would, of course, not consider engaging in any so-called wire pulling, nor would we be so foolish as to attempt to use any influence.

"We will, of course, give every assistance to every law enforcement group at all times."

"Cleanup" Promised

The announcement by federal officials of more arrests to come bore out earlier a declaration that "we're going to clean the dope and the narcotics users out of Hollywood and we don't care who we have to arrest."

However, authorities declined to disclose the identities of the celebrities next to be arrested.

Police and federal agents also revealed that besides some of the biggest names in the industry who secretly have been under investigation for the past year, the "inside ring" of narcotic peddlers was on the eve of being smashed.

Arrest of Mitchum, $3,000-a-week actor and idol of the bobby sox brigade, rocked blase Hollywood.

The actor was taken into custody in the wee small hours Wednesday when federal agents and police forced their way into the home of Lila Leeds.

Authorities said that a "reefer party" was going on in Miss Leeds' secluded Laurel canyon home. Also arrested were Robin Ford, identified as a realtor, and Vicki Evans, described as a Philadelphia dancer.

Officials who staged the raid said that they witnessed three of the quartet smoke marijuana cigarets. Miss Evans, they said, was the only one of the four who was not actually seen smoking the drug.

Police later quoted Mitchum as admitting that he had smoked marijuana for the past two years.

Texas Voters To Face Longest Ballot Of Proposed Constitutional Changes Since 1934 On November 2

By LLOYD LARRABEE
United Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Sept. 2—Texas voters will face their longest single ballot of proposed constitutional amendments in 14 years in the Nov. 2 general election.

With the summer Democratic primaries past, the people now face the task of passing on eight proposed changes to the state constitution submitted by the 50th legislature last year.

One Amendment Approved

The 50th legislature actually submitted nine amendments, but one, the college building amendment, was approved by a close vote on Aug. 23, 1947, in a special election.

However, that amendment is still tied up in a court fight.

Of the eight proposed constitutional amendments, the one most likely to raise a fuss is a plan to set up a five-man redistricting board to reapportion the state's legislative districts if the legislature fails to do so after a regular federal census each 10 years.

That amendment grew out of a fight in the 30th legislature over redistricting. Though the legislature is supposed to reapportion its districts according to population every 10 years, it hasn't done so since 1920.

The eight proposed amendments will constitute the longest ticket since the November, 1934, election, when there were also eight proposed amendments submitted to popular vote.

They make a total of 179 proposed changes to the state constitution since the state's basic law was created in 1876.

And, if every one of the amendments were approved by the people, it would mean that 103 changes actually had been written into the constitution since it was formulated 72 years ago.

However, the people usually reject at least one of the proposed changes, and they may do the same thing again.

Amendments About Average

The proposed amendments submitted by the 50th legislature are just about average for the last 20-year period.

The Legislature, in 1945, submitted eight However, four each were voted on in two separate years.

The highest number of amendments put to the test in recent years was in 1935, when the lawmakers wrote 13. But seven of them were voted on in August, 1935, and six in November, 1936.

To find as many as eight constitutional amendments on one ballot, it's necessary to go back to 1934, when eight of the 12 proposed changes submitted by the legislature in 1933 were voted on.

The places that the eight proposed changes will have on the general election ballot were determined at a drawing by Secretary of State Paul Brown on Aug. 19.

Here is the order in which they will appear:

1—To authorize counties to set up a system of workmen's compensation insurance.

2—To set up a redistricting board. The board would be composed of the lieutenant governor, speaker of the house, the attorney general, state comptroller and land commissioner.

3—To permit husband and wife to partition their community property. Such an action would reduce the amount of federal inheritance tax the survivor must pay.

4—To authorize the next legislature to set up a succession to the governorship in the event of death of the governor-elect, avoiding occurrence in Texas of the Georgia case.

5—To preserve the $3,000 homestead exemption from ad valorem taxation.

6—To put county officers in counties under 20,000 population on a salary basis instead of their present fee basis, thus putting county officers in all counties of the state on salaries.

7—To abolish the state ad valorem tax for state general revenue purposes after Jan. 1, 1951, and allow counties to levy up to 30 cents per $100 property valuation, and maintaining the $3,000 residential homestead exemption.

8—To set up a retirement system for judges.

Oregon Fights Tree Destroying Insect

SALEM, Ore., Sept. 2 (U.P.)—An all-out war is being waged against a destructive little bug that has invaded eastern Oregon and spread over 710,000 acres of prime timberland.

The pest is known as the spruce budworm. Recently, the city of Walla Walla, Wash., was invaded by hordes of budworm moths that had hatched in the northeastern Oregon pine country.

The Oregon state forestry department, U. S. Forest Service, U. S. Bureau of Entomology and Kinzua Pine Mills Co. have teamed up to fight the bug.

John B. Woods, Jr., assistant state forester, said the budworm has infested Douglas fir, white fir and other valuable trees in the Blue Mountains.

DDT Does the Trick

So far control experiments have centered largely on the use of DDT, which is being sprayed over a 160,000 acre area with helicopters and airplanes. One pound of DDT mixed with a gallon of oil is sufficient in most cases for an acre of land. However, DDT must catch the pest during a 10-day feeding period which is between the time the worm hatches and builds itself a cocoon.

For several years, budworm infestation centered in eastern Canada and northeastern United States. Control experiments were carried out in those areas but conclusive methods have not yet been developed, the state forestry service said.

The Bureau of Entomology said 1,000,000 acres of Oregon and Washington forest lands were infested with budworm last year.

A new plastic tape is now obtainable. It is more easily applied than the heating cable now used to prevent freezing of water pipes in poultry houses and dwellings that have no basement.

Two Lubbock Veterans Solve Housing Worry Through Initiative, Plenty Of Hard Work

By OPAL DIXON

Two Lubbock men, both veterans of World War II, have hammered and sawed their way through the housing problem.

David R. Wheeler of the Holmes addition north of Lubbock a few days ago completed work on the living room of the house in which he and his wife and their son, David R. Wheeler, jr., live. Already in use were the kitchen, bath, a large basement and garage. Wheeler did most of the work himself while off duty as observer at the U. S. Weather bureau station.

A Big Saving For Him

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Glasco and children, Quentin, 4½, and Patricia Lea, live in a house at 2107 Thirty-second which was constructed for the most part by Glasco and his father, A. H. Glasco, a carpenter. Glasco took a month off work at Reeves Camera store and estimates he saved about $1,800 through his and his father's labors during that month.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler and small son were living at Veterans Village when Wheeler started work in March on the basement of their home, which is located about one mile south of the municipal airport. One negro and one apprentice carpenter helped him with work on the basement. A man was employed to build the porch, with Wheeler's help. Plumbing was installed by plumbers. Otherwise, "I've done most of it myself," said Wheeler.

Encouragement Offered

"I would estimate by looking around at different houses I have saved at least $1,500 to $2,000, counting my labor as a saving," he said.

He offers this encouragement to others who might want to tackle the task of building a home: "I believe, if they know anything at all about it, they could do better and come out cheaper than I did."

He did not draw plans for the completed structure before starting, but drew sketches as he needed them, and "practically everything has come out lucky," he said.

Bought One Acre

He bought an acre of land on which to build. "As soon as I made the down payment on it, I started digging," he said.

When the basement was completed, he and his wife and son moved into it and he continued construction during free time on remainder of the house.

He estimates he has spent about 45 days of labor on it.

A former neighbor of Wheeler's at Veterans village, Nick Columbetti, who now lives in Lubbock, came out about 20 to 30 days after he was off work and gave his time to aid Wheeler. "That's something you don't hear of often," said Wheeler, praising Columbetti for his help.

He took some short cuts which cut down on cost of construction. Pointing to the cedar walls in the living room, he said some of the knots were loose or missing and "contractors didn't want to fool with it without knots." He made some "home made knots," using putty for the knots and shellacking over the knots. The cedar walls cost less than half the usual price.

Wheeler said construction of the house was started with money saved by his wife from allotments she received while he was overseas. She is a nurse and worked in Shreveport while he was gone, not using the allotments.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler also own a home in Shreveport.

Their house here contains about 860 square feet of floor space "so far," said Wheeler. A separate garage is to be built later and the present garage space will be converted into a room. The garage is prefabricated.

The house is frame, with cement porch. Cedar posts support the porch roof. The front of the house is of dry fir in natural finish.

Wheeler is partially disabled. "The best medicine I've had this summer is working out in the sunshine," he said. Sunshine improves his arthritis, which he developed in England, he said.

Construction of the Glasco house at 2107 Thirty-second was begun about Dec. 29.

Glasco, who formerly was a carpenter, took a month off his regular job and he and his carpenter father went to work in earnest building the home at 2107 Thirty-second. Glasco had received an estimate of cost of $5,800 to have the house built. He obtained a loan for $4,000 and they built the house for that amount, he said.

They built virtually all the woodwork. Glasco contracted for the roof, electrical work, plumbing, and having asbestos siding cut and placed on the walls.

The house contains a living room, combination kitchen and dining room, bedroom, bath and hall. Plans for the house provide for addition of another bedroom. A car port adjoins the house.

Glasco believes they have obtained "big house efficiency through small house expense."

He said he selected materials for the house himself, buying good materials at places he could get what he wanted most cheaply.

He and his wife drew their own plans for the structure.

A&M System Put Into Operation

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 2 (AP)—The Texas A. and M. college system was a going concern today.

Its four state colleges and a group of statewide agencies have long worked closely together. Now they are combined under one name and one administrative head.

The board of directors of Texas A. and M. college has overall supervision of the system, which began operating formally for the the first time yesterday.

Gilchrist Heads System

The change raised Gibb Gilchrist from president of A. and M. to chancellor of the system. It was approved and announced by the board of directors in July. A board committee and college officials had studied the plan for more than a year.

Gilchrist in his first act as chancellor of the system, put it into operation through 10 administrative orders. They were directed to heads of the colleges and agencies which make up the system.

As chancellor Gilchrist is responsible for administration of Texas A. and M. at College Station, North Texas Agriclutural college at Arlington, John Tarleton Agricultural college at Stephenville, and Prairie View Agricultural and Mechanical college at Prairie View.

Other Agencies Included

The system also includes the Texas Agricultural Experiment station, Texas Agricultural Extension service, Texas Engineering Experiment station, Texas Engineering Extension service, and Texas Forest service.

In yesterday's change-over the veteran vice president and dean of Texas A. and M. college, F. C. Bolton, became its 15th president, succeeding Gilchrist. Dean E. H. Hereford became president of North Texas Agricultural college, Dean E. J. Howell president of John Tarleton, and Dean E. B. Evans president of Prairie View.

CHICAGO, Sept. 2. (U.P.) — The Chicago Typographical union, AFL, anounced today it would submit to its membership revised proposals on the issues remaining in its dispute with the Chicago Newspaper Publishers association.

"As soon as such revised proposals have been approved by our members we shall submit them to you in writing, following which we shall await word from you as to ararngements for further meetings between our respective representatives."

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Red Fifth Column Is Claimed Active In Western Hemsiphere

By A. CARL KUPFER
INS Staff Correspondent

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 2—Carlos Denegri, columnist of the morning newspaper Excelsior, who was threatened with expulsion from the country for his attacks against the administration, has revealed a series of documents puporting to clarify the Russian fifth column activities in the Western hemisphere.

Denegri, who is as conservative as his newspaper, says in his signed column, "Good Morning," that during November of 1941 a "secret meeting of the confidential agents of the Kremlin took place in Mexico City. From this meeting came the 'Protocols' which gave birth to the CTAL (Confederation of Latin American Labor) made Lombardo Toledano (now chief of the CTAL) the principle Communist agitator of the continent."

Materials To Be Blocked

Through these protocols the Russians began the infiltration of Latin America. Denegri charges that the first step was to be a division of Central America and the Caribbean area to "prevent raw materials from the area arriving in the United States in the event of war." He insists this illustrates the fear of the USSR that the U. S. might class it as a danger along with Germany.

"Through the Democratic counter-offensive this effort failed," the columnist continues. "But shamefully enough the Red fifth column was already operating freely, especially thanks to the late Mr. Roosevelt, in the United States.

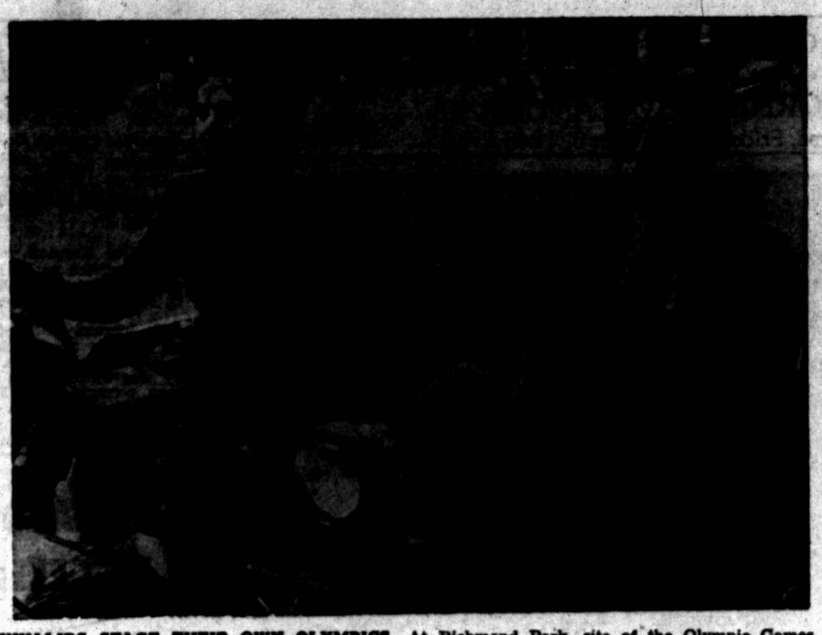

"And it is well-known today that the rise to power of President (Juan Jose) Arevalo of Guatemala, was a machination of this Red fifth column in an attempt to convert Guatemala into the first Russian beachhead on the continent.

"In this connection many Guatemalans have made the remark, now almost a proverb, that "Guatemalans must be careful in cabinet meetings that they don't stumble over the Communists." The double meaning is obvious.)

Oil was the second step of the Communists, both Russian and native, in their attempt to create trouble in the Western hemisphere, Denegri explains. Principle aim of the Red forces was that Latin American oil "must not come into the hands of the United States in the event of a war with Russia."

The coup d'etat in Venezuela was the beginning of this plan but arrangements made through Betancourt's government frustrated it. Other plots were set on foot by Peruvians, formerly Bessarabians, and Peruvian oil was saved through the arrangements between President Bustamente and the Anglo-American oil companies, Denegri insists.

At the moment the plan is divided into two portions. One concerns the assassination of popular leaders with blame thrown on the government (e.g. Jorge Eliecer Gaitan in Columbia). The second is a disruption of national economies through hunger, popular misery, strikes and sabotage, all of which are in abundance in Latin America. This is believed to be the procedure the Reds are following in Mexico now.

Hobby Of Young Taxidermist Gives Mother Case Of Jitters

BICKNELL, Ind., Sept. 2 (AP)—The E. R. Kirk home is filled with foxes, skunks and screech owls. There is a young taxidermist in the house.

Twelve-year-old Ronnie Kirk began his hobby several years ago. He says he had to misrepresent his age to be able to take a mail-order course in taxidermy. But he got his diploma and points to it with pride.

Mrs. Kirk says she still isn't quite used to sharing the living room with two foxes and a bantam hen. But she has gotten over her worst case of jitters. Ronnie says it took quite a while to deodorize the house after stuffing the skunk.

Between 100 and 200 persons die of snake bite in the United States each year, according to the Encyplodeia Britannica.

Carton Industry, Agriculture Department Study Problem Of Modern Hens' Big Eggs

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The hen of today is so far ahead of industry she's practically a mene ace. Her eggs won't fit the basket, so to speak. They're too big, a lot of 'em, for the cartons and cases that are turned out on the assembly line. The net result has been a frightful breakage in eggs shipped hither here and thither yon.

So now the problem before Agriculture Secretary Charles Brannan and his boys is: Which comes first—the carton or the egg? The department, bless its soul, stands behind the hen.

Build Bigger Boxes

The egg case people are not protesting too much. They are going along, though slowly, building bigger boxes to keep up with biddy's production.

The Agriculture department, back in 1918, washed and measured some 2,800 eggs. Only about 18 per cent were over 2 1/4 inches long. And only about 11 per cent were more than 1 3/4 inches in diameter. Practically pullet size, by modern standards.

So we come up to 1946 when another survey was made. Biddy was growing up to be a big girl under scientific breeding, and producing rounder and longer eggs. But what did the egg carton people do about it? Not until 1948—for the first time in almost 30 years—do we find a change in egg cases and cartons. About 1/16th of an inch this way and that. It's almost enough, but not quite.

Eggs Getting Bigger

Eggs are bigger and longer today and they're getting bigger and longer all the time. That has prompted your government — in the dress of the Department of Agriculture—to encourage a committee to get to work. It's working hard and it's called the shell egg container and packing committee, representing people in the egg business. In the government, one committee can't just go along—even on an egg roll—without help.

So this one has half a dozen subcommittees. The big and little committees have a number of functions—all of which simmer down to the simple fact that it's about time a man can go to the henhouse and pluck an egg from under a hen and feel reasonably sure that when he packs it, it'll get where it's supposed to go.

The department is proud of the progress that has been made in the past several months.

The report on cracked or splashed eggs hasn't subsided too much, but there has been an improvement.

There is still room for better management. The fact remains, according to an old egg man at the Deportment of Agriculture, that one out of every six eggs shipped is too "tall" for the container. That results in what the department calls a "hazard" and what I would like to call "pre-scrambled eggs."

Improved Variety Of Cotton Is Developed By Missouri Grower

DEERING, Mo., Sept. 2 (AP)—A new cotton variety of great possibilities has been developed in this southeastern Missouri cotton town of 150 population and is being shown to growers.

It is early-maturing, of above average lint turn-out, excellent in fiber strength and suitable for mechanical picking.

Tests over a 12-year period from cotton states show that the variety, known as "Paula," has a wide range and is adaptable for any cotton section.

It was developed by Paul Hutchens of Deering and named in honor of his daughter.

Deering Farms officials said that about 20,000 acres of land was planted with the Paula variety this year.

Hutchens started in 1936 to find a cotton variety which would hold up in any climate and under any weather conditions.

He estimated conservatively that he had worked with as many as 15,000 cotton selections in the search for what he wanted. In 1940, one of the selections appeared to be the one he sought.

For the last six years, Paula cotton has been under close observation in experimental stations in many cotton states, to determine what the variety would do year after year. Paula ranked at the top season after season in every climate.

Paula has a high average of all the factors that go to make up a good all-purpose cotton in all soil and climatic conditions. It is a good storm-resistant cotton. Bolls at the top of the plant are about the same size as those at the bottom.

Astronomers agree that the span of the universe is at least 300,000,000,000,000 miles.

WELL RUNS WILD—Atlantic No. 3 spews gas and oil 5 months after it ran wild in new Leduc Field near Edmonton, Alberta. Well has averaged 14,000 barrels daily, forming oil lake in foreground. Two-year-old field now has 100 producers.

APPLICATION IS OPPOSED

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 2 (AP)—Mexican bus lines, opposing U. S. Greyhound lines' application to operate between here and the Texas border, said today its own service is adequate. Greyhound has a petition before the secretary of communications to operate from border points to Mexico City. Routes involved include Mexico City, Nuevo Laredo, Reynosa and Ciudad Juarez.

Woman Leaves Mirror In Car; Reflected Sun Rays Set Blaze

ALICE, Sept. 2 (UP)—Mrs. D. Swilling drove from Agua Dulce into Alice today to do a bit of shopping. Just before parking, she pulled a mirror from her purse, powdered her nose, straightened her hair, and put on the usual finishing touches a woman does to her face.

Then Mrs. Swilling laid the mirror on the car seat, parked the vehicle, and went shopping.

A few minutes later Sheriff H. T. Sain happened along and saw her car in flames. The sheriff grabbed a fire extinguisher and put out the blaze.

MONEY PROVES TO BE HEADACHE

U. S. Visitors In Italy Finding Many Changes From War Days

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NAPLES, Sept. 2—The American who fought or otherwise served in Italy during the war will find, when and if he returns, a number of changes . . . Many of them disconcerting.

The American army, among other attributes, is perhaps the most paternalistic force in history. It fed, housed, clothed, transported, entertained and thought for the GI and officer who passed this way.

When he returns he will find just how dependent he was upon that Army. . . .

About the only English he'll hear spoken, outside of a few words at the porter's desk at his hotel, will be that which he himself bellows in an effort to make himself understood by sheer volume.

Phone System Slow

The Italian telephone system will soon have him in a mood to tear the instrument from the wall by its roots, for the average operator will say only "pronto" to all demands, declarations and pleading, cannot speak English, will not turn you over to anybody who can, plainly thinks you're a babbling idiot.

The lira was pegged at a penny a head the last time Joe saw Italy. The money was nice and clean "Allied military currency" with a pretty green border around a coral infield.

Now it takes 570 lire to equal a bucy, and the money—except for the long, thin 5,000 and 10,000 lire Banca D'Italia notes—looks like something dug from under a wet rock at Pompei. It falls apart in your hands, makes you decide you are contracting every known disease, ranges in size from a thousand lire note the size of a napkin to tiny, undiscernible (from dirt) five lire notes. There is no hard money.

Cigaret Costs Soar

The square little five lire bill which used to buy a pack of American cigarets at the PX is now worth less than a cent. The PX is gone, and a pack of American cigarets cost up to 500 lire—and seldom do you get what you're buying.

The wrappers are correct, right down to the cellophane and the little red band at the top that enable you to disembowel the cellophane. DeWitt Clinton looks off into space from the summit of the pack.

But the smokes, unless you're very lucky, are made of tobacco salvaged from the butts of authentic American cigarets picked up in the gutters of the land, plus some gasp-provoking Italian tobacco. Joe will bellyache and try to remember some of his old Italian cuss words, but he'll smoke the stuff.

Transportation Also Hit

The jeeps and Army trucks and busses are gone, so he'll find himself holding on for his life in a 1925 Fiat taxi, through whose broken flooring he may watch the road whip by. There will be a meter, but it won't mean what it says. It is as out of whack as the lire.

The man will tell you how much you owe him (or how much he says you owe him) by shouting it at you in Italian for a few minutes, then, in stormy exasperation, writing out the numerals with his finger in the dust on the taxi's roof. Fares vary. If you speak no Italian, or don't go in for haggling, you may pay three times as much for a ride as will a person versed in the ways of the land.

The hotel porter, Joe will find, will become the substitute of the Army and the many helping hands the Army reached to him. The European concierce or porter, unlike his American counterpart, is a far more important figure in European hotels than is the manager or any of his bustling aides In Italy the porter is absolutely indispensible to the American traveller.

He makes the American's phone calls for him, gets him in touch with the people he wants to see, buys his railroad and plane tickets for him, sells him a seat to a show, gets him on and off the boat to Capri, tells him just where to buy everything he wants, changes his money, fixes him up with a porter in the next town, hires his guide, takes care of his laundry, wakes him up in the morning . . . Puts him to bed when the occasion demands.

The GI who thought it his right and duty to push the Italians around a bit, just to show them he remembered that they fought on the side of the Germans, wouldn't get very far here today, or at least no farther than the nearest sneezer or clinic.

This country is doing a remarkable job rehabilitating itself, under the careful eye of its Marshall Plan overseers and a hard-working and notably selfless government. But the great rehabilitation has been in the morale of a people who, because of tremendous vicissitude from within and without, were embarrassingly humble and sometimes fawning toward Americans from the landings at Salerno to the end of the rugged war in the north.

In Naples you hear talk of the "revolution" and the Italians seem surprised when you ask "what revolution?" the "revolution" of the people of Naples, you learn, drove the Germans out of this city in advance of the arrival of the Fifth Army.

There is still gratitude toward the Americans—great gratitude—but it is now the gratitude of a brother, an equal, not of a liberated slave. The average Joe will welcome that change, once he becomes accustomed to it, and for all its Armyless inconveniences, Italy will look good to him, just as it has looked good to 20 centuries of civilized human beings.

REDS SEIZED TEN BOMBERS

Soviets Believed To Have Used U. S. B-29s To Make Own Planes

By ELTON C. FAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 — The Air Force, ending the secrecy surrounding wartime seizure by the Russians of at least 10 American bombers, gave an estimate today of what the Red air force may have done with technical knowledge it gained.

The Russians got one B-29 by shooting it down over Soviet-controlled territory and four other Superfortresses when they ran low on fuel or were damaged in raids on Japan and made forced landings in Russian areas. Four of the five landed intact, thus providing valuable material for Soviet air force designers. One crashed and was destroyed after the crew had bailed out. The other five were smaller Air Force or Navy bombers, copies of which had been given the Russians previously under lend-lease.

How long did it take the Russians to copy the planes? How good are the copies?

In answering a series of questions by a reporter, the Air Force said:

"A United States technical observer has stated his belief that the Russians could incorporate several of the newer features of the B-29 into their opposite number, including turbo-superchargers (These are used to boost the power of the engines, producing more speed and rate of climb.) However, he does not think they can duplicate the extensive remote fire control equipment. (With this equipment, a single gunner at the main control system can direct the fire of twelve .50 caiibre machine guns on attacking enemy fighters.)

"He estimated that it took 20 months to build a production model of the B-29, using the Russian-held models as a starting point for design. After delivery of the first production model it would take 12 months to achieve the rate of 150 a month. That would be 32 months after the first start, or April 1947, assuming that this work was commenced immediately after July 29, 1944, when the first B-29 fell into Russian hands and that Russian industrial capabilities were equal to those of the United States—a tenuous assumption."

Transport Also Built

The Air Force believes that, using the B-29 as a basic pattern, the Russians have built both a bomber and a transport version of the plane. This has appeared as the Tupelov TU-70, now believed to be in production.

"An Allied military observer noted a formation of 48 planes that looked like the B-29 flying over Moscow on October 23, 1947. He said the fact that no B-29s were flown in the May Day parade on May 1, 1947, and that three participated in the August 3, 1947, airshow may be a clue to the production pace of the USSR. The fact that it took the Russians a little over two years to get into production is regarded as quite an achievement."

A crewman of one of the B-29s which the Russians seized in late August, 1945, reported that a Russian engineering officer visited his plane, flipped switches, located shorted-out fuses and otherwise indicated he was "completely familiar" with the American bomber's operations.

The B-29 which the Russians acquired by shooting it down was on a mercy mission, carrying food to be dropped to American prisoners in Japan, when Red Air Force planes attacked it.

FAMED 'NAMES' HOSPITALIZ

FARGO, N. D., Sept. 2 (AP)—Mrs. Dewey and Mrs. Truman are patients on the same floor in St. St. Luke's hospital here. But nary a politican has called on either of them. They are Mrs. Floyd Dewey of Averill, Minn., and Mrs. Ralph Truman of Fargo. A son was born to the Dewey's Sunday and Mrs. Truman is the mother of a daughter born Tuesday.

PICKING TEXAS COTTON—Big mechanical cotton pickers move across fields of Texas cotton, three abreast, much in the manner of combines. Texas has an estimated 250 mechanical cotton pickers in operation. The picker can cover an acre of cotton in 75 minutes. (AP Photo).

Naval Reserve Pilots To Start Training

DALLAS, Sept. 2 (AP)—Naval reserve personnel will turn guinea pig next week.

In the Mexican Gulf off Pensacola, Fla., reserve fliers will operate from carriers for the first time.

Two groups from the Naval Air station at Dallas have been selected for the mission. The carrier flights, off the U. S. S. Wright, will be held Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of next week.

Capt. M. A. Nation, commander of the Dallas Naval Air station, says he has no fear of the results. He says "we are highly appreciative of the opportunity to be the first reserve air group to undergo this sort of experimental work. We have carried on very strenuous training for this all-important mission. It will require hard, precise flying, but I know these Texas and Oklahoma men can do the job."

Fifty pilots will be chosen from men volunteering. Some 340 reservists from this area have been at Whiting field near Pensacola since Monday, rehearsing for the carrier mission, and getting other forms of naval training.

All the pilots have had wartime carrier experience. But their flying since has generally been confined to week ends.

Two Minnesota Families Join Forces For Marriage Record

MINNEOTA, Minn., Sept. 2 (U.P.)—St. Edward's Catholic parish has set a matrimonial record.

Five children of Mr. and Mrs. Will Gossen have married five children of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Janssen during the past five years. And there's still time to make the record better.

Mr. and Mrs. Gossen, farmers five miles northeast of here have 14 children. Mr. and Mrs. Janssen, who retired from their farm here and moved to town four years ago, have 12 children.

Father Philip Casey has performed all five marriages and says he'd like to officiate at more.

AGRICULTURAL ANTS

Farming actually is carried on by agricultural ants on a small scale. They cultivate patches of wild rice, keeping out weeds until the crop ripens. They then climb the stalks and carry the grain away to their underground granaries.

Hudson Motor Company Plans Another Hike In Car Prices

DETROIT, Sept. 2. (U.P.) — The Hudson Motor car company increased prices for the second time in two and one-half months today, effecting $75 to $95 markups charged to "increased costs."

Hudson adjusted prices by $93 to $153 last June 19, upon granting its production employes a 13-cent hourly wage increase.

The company's president, A. E. Barit, attributed the latest adjustments, averaging 4 per cent, to "increased costs of raw and finished materials higher freight and other costs."

Siamese Assembly Votes To Change Name To Thailand Again

BANGKOK, Siam, Sept. 2 (U.P.)—The constituent assembly, charged with writing a new constitution for Siam, has voted to rename the kingdom Thailand. The decision came after an all-day debate, by an 18 to 14 vote.

The change will not become official, however, until the constitution is accepted by Parliament.

According to reports of the debate, the deciding vote was not taken until after the president of the Association of Astrologists told the assembly that horoscope studies indicated the name Thailand would "improve the status and power of the nation."

Thailand is translated to mean "land of the free" and was adopted as the official name of the kingdom in July, 1939. Under the treaty imposed by the British in January, 1946, the name of the country reverted to Siam.

UNIVERSITY GOLD

Hope For The Future

WEST Texans doubtless read with mixed emotions the report of State Auditor C. M. Cavness the other day that the endowment fund of the University of Texas now totals $81,418,869.

West Texas and West Texans have a peculiar interest in that fund. Practically every cent of it has been accumulated from state-owned oil lands in West Texas. And it is growing so rapidly as to virtually insure the University becoming the richest school in the world within a few years.

Up to now, and as far as can be seen in the future, West Texas' only interest in the fund has been to provide it. Not a nickel of it ever has come back to West Texas for schools, or for any other purpose. The University has hogged it all, and will continue to hog it all so long as present laws governing control of the fund remain unchanged. They never will be changed if the University can prevent such an occurence.

But the hopeful prospect is that the time might come when a division of the revenue from the fund among all state colleges and universities might be ordered by the people of Texas, regardless of wishes of the University, and its gang, in the matter.

The attempt to force a just division of the revenues probably won't be made next year, or perhaps not in the next few years.

But it is something pretty likely to be given serious consideration after West Texas gets the fair and proportionate representation in the Legislature, resulting from the legislative re-districting which now seems sure to be ordered not long after 1950 at the latest.

Attacks On Wallace

VIOLENT receptions accorded Henry A. Wallace during his Southern speaking tour may have been exactly what he preferred. No man in public life so thoroughly enjoys anything that suggests the role of "martyr."

The outbursts are sure to be more helpful to his campaign objectives elsewhere, by arousing a certain sympathy and obtaining additional publicity for him. His campaign would have been hindered more if he had been ignored, or if he had been rebuffed with quiet dignity.

The disturbances are sure to intensify the sectional prejudices based largely upon misinformation and ignorance among the too many people in other parts of the country who regard the South as being a hotbed of provincialism and intolerance.

Southerners, as well as thinking and informed people everywhere, know of course, that the violences do not reflect the sentiment the overwhelming masses in the localities where they have occurred, or in the South as a whole. But the outbursts have been tolerated and, aside from giving some comfort to agitators who can endure anything better than being ignored, the reputation of the South suffers just a little.

It would be far better for everyone except Wallace and his radical following to let him rave and rant as much as he chooses, so long as he and they keep the peace. He is too inconsequential as a figure or an issue to be allowed to raise the blood pressure of any sound and sensible citizen.

One great problem concerning unemployment that the taxpayer would like to see solved is how to get tens of thousands of unemployed off government payrolls.

Official returns on the second Democratic primary as reported by Frank E. Wheelock, county Democratic chairman, showed that: Geo. R. Bean beat Geo. W. Foster for county judge; Wade Hardy won over H. L. (Bud) Johnston for sheriff; and A. B. Ellis beat R. C. Burns for county tax assessor.

(THE STORY: Trapgood spends a day at Edgecraft Club to pick up information. Sterling's alibi holds up. Young Bob Davis tells Trapgood about the package Sterling mailed to Miss Wilson Friday morning. XXXI

MONDAY morning found police machinery, with its countless cogs, moving in smoothly geared operation, plodding methodically for bits that might point, however microscopically, toward the murderer of Miriam Sterling.

At the inquest Talent had thought it best to go along with a verdict of death at the hands of a person or persons unknown. Now the newspapers stated that he was directing a dragnet for the killer. What the so-called dragnet comprised included inquiries at pawnshops, checking with records of taxicab companies, corralling individual cabdrivers, surreptitious browsing in known hangouts of crooks, in poolrooms, in low-grade hotels and bowling alleys, rounding up of stool pigeons for possible inklings of grapevine information. On his own, using only the help of Gus Ripley, Talent was putting pressure on banks to be on the lookout for certain hundred dollar bills.

Beyond the jurisdiction of Talent, but with co-operation readily extended, local New Jersey police were inquiring inconspicuously into the family and social environments of housemaid Stella Nelson and butler Albert Brant, duplicating the quietly pursued activity of a Staten Island detective in the home community of Mrs. Lucy Gowder, the Sterling cook.

Even further afield, in Washington and in a dozen large cities, fingerprint files were being checked for comparison with specimens that had been sent out from the New York office. To the unexplained prints found in the Sterling library, Talent had added a second set. The partly smoked cigaret he picked up from the library rug had yielded faint but distinguishable prints, those of a thumb and a forefinger . . . delicate, slender prints easily associated with the telltale lipstick.

Analysis of the doped drink on Mrs. Sterling's dressing table had shown that it contained three or four times the maximum dosage prescribed by Mrs. Sterling's physician, but Doctor Walker said it had nothing to do with her death. A stomach analysis showed only a harmless trace.

UNTIL 12:45 on Monday, from all this there came to Talent's desk a single report that could be in any way related to the work in which he was engaged. One of Sergeant Gable's men had talked to the night man at the Rendezvous diner. The night man remembered a stranger who had come in late Thursday night. He wasn't sure of the time, except that it must have been considerably after midnight. It could have been before 1, or it could have been after 1. The night man had been fairly busy, the arrival of each subway train at the terminal a block away producing a momentary rush of customery.

But this one stranger had impressed himself on the night man for several reasons. Evidently he had not come from the subway terminal because he had come in during a lull. He nervously and gruffly ordered a cup of black coffee . . . nothing with it . . . and gulped half of it immediately. After that he seemed to settle down, and was in no hurry. He lit a cigar, and had a second cup of coffee while smoking it.

He was a chunky, short man with small dark eyes, maybe around 40, was wearing a good-looking topcoat and hat, the hat pulled down to his eyebrows. Maybe it was the second cup of hot coffee that caused the man to shove back his hat and mop his forehead with a handkerchief. Anyway, that gave the night man a glimpse of a mean-looking scar on the stranger's right temple.

WHAT the night man particularly remembered . . . since it identified the customer as a stranger in the neighborhood . . . was his inquiry, after he had finished his second cup of coffee and at a moment when no other customers were seated at the counter, about what number to call to get a taxicab in a hurry. The night man told him the quickest way to get a cab was to walk down to the subway terminal. The man said he would do that, tossed a half dollar on the counter and didn't wait for change.

Studying the report written so conscientiously in detail, Talent found it interesting chiefly because the stranger had smoked a cigar. He regretted the otherwise observant night man hadn't commented on the cigar band. Had the stranger rolled it into a wad, he wondered? Such things generally were habit. Sergeant Gable had appended a note to the report, stating that inquiry had failed to turn up any cabdriver at the subway terminal stand who remembered getting a passenger late Thursday night such as indicated by the Rendezvous night man. Talent considered that easily explainable . . . arrived at the subway terminal, the stranger readily may have decided that it would be safer to mingle with the crowd and go to the city on the subway.

Long experience had taught Talent not to enthuse greatly about anything, but he didn't mind admitting to himself that the report turned in by Gable's man could be labeled "headway." His men could now begin looking particularly for a man with a scar on his right temple, and more than likely with a cigar in his mouth.

At 12:45 on Monday, Chris Talent picked up his desk telephone to take a call from the man he had assigned to Harbor Trust Company, by early morning confidential arrangement with one of the top executives of that exemplary institution.

BRANDEIS

Is that the kind of stuff they put in their paper for our good money?

First thing you know we'll cancel our subscription! the same thing if you had a typewriter that makes a lot of noise.

Of course, a lot of you will say that I am a big fake and a bad example for little children.

But here I am sitting in my den, reading an interesting book, when all of a sudden there is a knock at the door.

My wife opens it and there is a woman from about twelve miles away who drops in every once in a while, stays for two or three hours and talks about nothing, but talks a whole lot about that.

When I commuted to New York and was away all day, I avoided this particular lady and all I had to do was to hear my wife tell about her when I got home.

But now that I do my work at home I have to smile and listen and make believe that I like the lady's calls.

About fifteen minutes ago she dropped in again.

And in about fifteen minutes my wife has an appointment at the hairdresser's.

So, the moment I heard the lady's car come into the driveway, I stuck my head out of the window, and there she was.

So what did I do?

I rushed to the typewriter, a fifteen-year old contraption that, fortunately for such occasions, makes as much noise as a riveting machine.

I had already written my column for today and didn't feel like writing another one.

So what did I do?

"Now is the time for all good men—" and the other stuff you read at the beginning of this piece.

NATURALLY the lady heard the noise.

Knowing that I am not a riveter, she must have guessed that I was working.

She must have, because she said to my wife: "I hear your husband is working."

My wife confirmed her suspicion and also told her that she had to go to the hairdresser's.

The lady sent her regards to me, took her leave and—I got a good bawling out from my wife for being such a faker.

P. S. If any husband wants to know where he can get a noisy typewriter cheaply, I'll be glad to give him the address.

IN AERIAL WARFARE

Navy Asks New Duties

BY RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Prospective decommissioning of our remaining battleships afloat, the Iowa and the Missouri, and authorized construction of a 65,000-ton carrier is the old-young tars' quiet concession that the era of the old-fashioned fleet has vanished, perhaps forever.

It is this realization which underlies and aggravates the yet unresolved conflict between the Air Force and the Navy for supremacy in tomorrow's sky fighting.

TUCKER

Such vessels as the Iowa and "Ould Mo.," on which MacArthur accepted the Japanese surrender, would not be laid up merely for economy reasons. The Navy could always dig up funds to keep them in service if only because they are symbolic of annals starred with such names as John Paul Jones, Farragut, Dewey, Halsey and Nimitz. But there can no longer be any excuse for building or maintaining these $100,000,000 toys.

VULNERABLE: Capital ships would be so many ducks sitting on the surface in an atomic and guided-missile conflict, such as the next struggle will be.

Neither their own armor, their aircraft nor escort destroyers and submarines could protect them against cosmic thunder showers and the new wonder-weapons of science. They would be as vulnerable to this kind of attack as they would be if they were anchored off-shore under the fire of heavy coastal artillery.

Tremendous aircraft carriers which provide their own protection and super-submarines of the Schnorkel type will make up the fleet of the future. Our only possible enemy, Russia, is now concentrating on these surface and underwater vessels.

STRATEGIC: In planning for prospective naval warfare, the heads of our defense establishment naturally have in mind a possible conflict with Russia, inasmuch as there is no other enemy on any horizon. And here is the gist of the argument for permitting naval aircraft to engage in strategic bombing from the decks of 65,000-ton carriers.

It should be noted here that under the Key West agreement of several months ago, it was decided that Army Air Forces would be charged with destruction of enemy industries, harbor facilities and transportation lines, without which a nation cannot carry on successful war. That is what is known as strategic bombing.

TACTICAL: Under this same pact the naval fliers were restricted to providing umbrella protection only during naval operations. That is, they would merely safeguard naval vessels in the transportation of troops and supplies and in landing our men for a shore attack. This is what is known as a tactical operation.

The Key West division of duties, however, has never satisfied the Navy, as its demands for the 65,000-ton carrier after that meeting revealed. Nor was the question settled at Secretary Forrestal's recent hush-hush convocation of the defense chieftains at the Newport War College.

BASES: Navy has presented such a strong and seemingly logical argument for its thesis that it has apparently won the support of President Truman, Secretary Forrestal and Admiral William D. Leahy, Chief of Staff to the White House. It is based on the expectation that our only enemy within the next five or ten years will be Russia.

In any conflict with the Soviet it is assumed by our military planners that Allied forces would be driven off the European Continent within a few weeks or months.

Capitalizing on Hitler's blunders and blueprints, which they captured at Berlin, the Reds might even succeed in conquering England. In that event the United States and its Allies would have no land bases on the European or Asiatic mainlands for either strategic or tactical bombing of the enemy.

RIVALRY: Under such circumstances, according to the admiralty argument, our nearest bases to Russia's fighting or industrial strongholds would be such offshore islands as Iceland, the Azores, possibly North Africa and Japan.

North Africa and the Mediterranean would be a center of operations for us only if we bottled up Red subs at the Gibraltar and Dardanelles Straits and had sufficient air strength to hold off enemy squadrons based on the Iberian Peninsula, southern France, Italy and the Balkans.

But the Azores, Iceland and Japan do not have sufficient acreage for mobilization of the Army air forces which we assembled in Britain in World War II. These bases could, however, provide anchorage, repair shops and other facilities for huge carriers that could unleash planes which would pound the mainland. Land planes from these islands, together with subs, cruisers and destroyers, could provide protection during the carriers' sallies.

These are the considerations which give pause to the White House and Secretary Forrestal in insisting on any permanent and sharp separation of aerial assignments as between the Navy and the Army Air Corps.

It is not a question to be decided lightly or to be permitted to degenerate into the sort of collegiate rivalry which marks an Army-Navy football game at Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium.

IMMUNE: "Why are foreign diplomats stationed in this country so sacrosant?" explodes T. F. of Cleveland, O. "Are they untouchables, as far as arrest and entering their homes or offices to serve a subpoena are concerned?

"The Russian Ambassador, Panyushkin, was just as guilty as Consul General Lomakin in the Kasenkina kidnapping case, and in the attempt to keep her a prisoner against her will. Why didn't George Marshall demand that Panyushkin be sent home?"

Answer: T. F. has raised a question which is more troublesome and irritating at the Capital than elsewhere, for we natives are frequently the victims of so-called diplomatic immunity. They can break the speed laws, smash up American citizens' cars, make general nuisances of themselves, and yet be immune to the police discipline or judicial punishment which their offenses merit.

RECOURSE: Barring the commission of a major crime, a foreign diplomat and his official family cannot be prosecuted in American courts. In fact, several years ago a Middle East Minister was responsible for an automobile death and our only recourse was to demand his recall, as we did of Consul General Lomakin.

Some years ago, a Washington automobile agency sold an expensive car to a foreign diplomat, and the latter had made only a few payments at the time of his recall by his home government. The automobile representative followed the outgoing official to his ship in New York harbor, saw the car hoisted aboard but could take no legal steps to collect the ballance of the payments.

PRICES, HOUSING NEAR TOP

Candidates Facing Hot Issues

By PETER EDSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA) — Two years ago Editor William E. Heath of the Haverhill, Mass., Gazette inaugurated a quiz for his state's congressional candidates. His idea was to pop 10 of the toughest questions he could think of on national and international issues. Then he let the politicos squirm out of them as best they could.

So much good came out of the inquisition that Editor Heath wants to repeat it this year. He has asked for suggestions from which to pick his leading questions. For whatever they may be worth in putting other candidates on the spot here are 12 questions.

Most important domestic issues of the campaign should be high prices and housing. A candidate can be heckled by merely asking him how he stands on these issues and what he proposes to do about them. A better plan is to ask specific questions to nail him down.

Price Curbs Issue

1. Do you favor restoration of price controls and rationing on scarce items like meat and automobiles, with the allocation of iron and steel to essential users until supplies increase and prices come down?

Some people believe that a fundamental reason for high prices of food is the government's farm price support program. The Aiken farm bill passed by the last Congress continues price supports until Jan. 1, 1950, then puts in a revised, lower formula. To smoke out where a candidate stands on this, ask him:

2. Do you favor amending the Aiken farm bill so as to lower farm price supports both before and after January, 1950?

Principal issue on housing is the matter of government aid for low-rental public housing projects. Most other key points of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill were passed by the last Congress. So ask your man:

3. Do you favor passage by the next Congress of the low-cost public housing section of the Taft - Ellender - Wagner bill?

A more basic approach to the housing question comes through rent controls which under present law are due to expire March 31, 1949. Ask Mr. Candidate:

4. Will you vote for continuing rent control beyond next March 31?

Big issue in the South and in many of the larger cities is the Civil Rights program proposed by President Truman. The key question:

5. Do you favor passage of a federal anti-lynching bill, anti-poll tax bill, and the bill to create a permanent Fair Employment Practices Commission.

Perhaps more important than the Civil Rights question is the need for adequate education to make under - privileged groups into better citizens. One approach is through laws providing for grants of federal funds to the states to improve their school systems. So ask:

6. Do you favor federal grants in aid to the states for education?

Democrats are apparently trying to make a campaign issue out of repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law, now one year old. This question should get a "Yes" or "No" answer, though some candidates may have a few ideas for amendments.

7. Do you favor repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law?

Communism Is Problem

Republicans are trying to make an issue out of the spy investigations. It boils down to what should be done about communism in America. A key question to this issue would be:

8. Do you favor passage of the Mundt-Nixon bill requiring Communists to register, or any bill to "outlaw" the Communist Party?

Two great bottlenecks in Congress are Senate filibusters and the House Rules Committee which has dictatorial powers over proposed legislation before it reaches the House floor. Ask candidates:

9. Do you favor further reorganization of Congress to eliminate Senate filibusters and curb the power of the House Rules Committee?

Henry Wallace is trying to make an issue out of the peacetime draft law and the present U. S. defense program. Question:

10. Do you favor repeal of the draft law and a reduction of government spending for U. S. rearmament?

Foreign policy questions can be made numberless, with one question for every country. But a quiz on two points will get the measure of your man:

11. Will you vote in Congress for full appropriations to carry out the four-year Marshall Plan for aid to co-operating foreign countries?

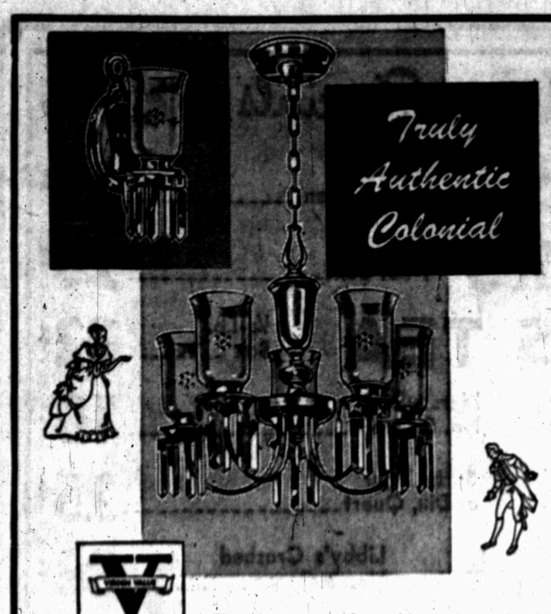

12. What policy do you have for dealing with the Russian question?

The University of Nebraska won its first football game, beating Omaha YMCA, 10 to 0, in 1890—and without a paid coach.

Amherst Plays Important Role On Plains

Lamb County Town Boasts Active Business, Fine Civic Projects

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche Staff Writer

AMHERST, Sept. 2—There are many men and women in Amherst who have seen the full development of this eastern Lamb county town from wide open prairie, traversed by antelope and coyotes, to its present status as a busy trading center of 1,200 population.

The citizens of Amherst last month celebrated the 25th anniversary of the town. It was Aug. 1, 1923, that the Halsell Farms company began the sale of 66,000 acres of a huge ranch domain, 3,000,000 acres in all, that had formerly been a part of the state capitol lands.

Value Of Land Boosted

Most of that land sold for $25 an acre, usually with about $5 an acre down payment, and the succeeding years have seen its value increased manifold.

With the sale of land, The Halsells began the town of Amherst. The story of that beginning was recently described by Miss Mary Lenore La Grange, daughter of a pioneer Amherst family, in an edition of The County Wide News at Littlefield. Miss La Grange is a student at McMurry college in Abilene.

The Halsell company erected a 30-room hotel which is still in operation. Other buildings were built, many of which are still in use today.

As Amherst looks forward to a continuing development of the agricultural resources in this area, other projects are being planned.

New Projects Planned

Chief among them is a new bank building, expected to cost, complete with fixtures, in the neighborhood of $40,000. Opened in February, 1925, the First National Bank of Amherst now has deposits of $2,650,000.

James Duffy, first president of the bank, still holds that position, and Roger Willett, the first vice president, is still in that capacity. C. A. Duffy, son of James Duffy, is cashier, and his son, C. A. Duffy, jr., is assistant cashier.

C. A. Duffy, sr., tells proudly of his grandson, C. A. Duffy, III, who may be the fourth generation of Duffys to serve in the bank.

Another project of which Amherst is proud is its South Plains Co-Operative hospital, the first of its kind in Texas. Dr. B. O. McDaniel was named as manager, a position he still holds. Two stories high, the hospital has grown from a 10-room capacity to a six-doctor institution, with a nurses home nearby. Claude Coffer is business manager.

Four churches are located in Amherst, the Baptist and Methodist churches and two Churches of Christ.

In 1925 the Amherst school was built, and additions to the school plant have been made since that time. A gymnasium was added in 1939. During this summer Dr. W. F. Birdsong, president of the school board, and other members of the board converted Army surplus buildings for use as a school cafeteria.

The Lions club, one of the most active civic organizations of Amherst, has erected a lighting system on the school football field. Dr. T. M. Slemmons, one of the hospital doctors, is president of the Lions club.

New Church Being Built

Though the town has little industry, Amherst is the home of a Farmers Co-operative association which now operates two electric gins, a wholesale and retail oil company, a frozen food locker plant, feed store and grain elevator. Bud Thomas is manager of the co-operative.

Another sizeable building project is now under construction in Amherst, the new First Baptist church. A two-story buff brick building, it will contain 42,240 feet of floor space, 40 x 96 feet. It will include a nursery, as well as educational facilities. Completion is scheduled for late fall.

Among the families living in Amherst who came about the time Amherst was organized, are Mr. and Mrs. Lester J. La Grange, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Dickey, Mr. and Mrs. Will Garton, M. L. Craigs, Mr. and Mrs. Arvil Blair and Bill Rowland.

In the area around Amherst are many of the early day farmers. They include Mr. and Mrs. W. Lyles, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Harmon, Mrs. Bill Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gilvert, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Crawford, Harry Phelps and George Harmon.

In recollecting his early day experiences this month, Bill Rowland recalled that he got off at the depot, walked to town. Disgusted, he returned to the station to leave, but he missed his train and has been here ever since.

He must have changed his mind about Amherst, for there have been many trains since that one.

In 1946, New York state residents had an aggregate income of $22,895,000,000.

The above view of the main street, looking northward, shows the Amherst hotel, built shortly after the founding of the town by the Halsell Farms company. In the right foreground is the site of a $40,000 bank on which construction is expected to begin shortly. Chicago's Rubber Cushioned Subway To Cut Down On Jolts

CHICAGO, Sept. 2 (U.P.)—Strap-hangers may be able to thumb their newspapers with both hands next year when the new Dearborn Street subway begins operations.

Jolts that occasionally send some of them reeling onto shoppers' laps in the present cars will be absorbed by a bed of shock-absorbing rubber pads extending the 3.9-mile distance of the line.

The pads, which closely resemble egg-crate separators, were designed by B. F. Goodrich technicians. They say the pads will last for at least 50 years.

Siam Gangsters Use Wooden Pistols With Hidden Daggers

BANGKOK, Siam, Sept. 2 (U.P.)—Hold-up victims in Siam are finding out that a toy wooden pistol can be a lethal weapon.

Clever woodcarvers devised the weapon, currently popular with Siamese gangsters. It consists of a skillful imitation of an automatic pistol carved from hardwood the color of metal, and it conceals a dagger.

The barrel of the wooden pistol serves as a sheath which can be stripped from the stabbing blade, set in the handle grip.

Beaumont Youngster Seeking To Make Pet Of Alligator

BEAUMONT, Sept. 2 (INS)—Albert, the alligator, is not yet a pet, but 10-year-old Neal Roberts is trying hard.

Neal recently found the fugitive from a bayou in a ditch near his home "making a hissing noise, like an alligator does before it snaps at you."

The two-foot saurian may grow to like the Roberts home, but he escaped twice.

Now he is in a tub, covered by a basket, which in turn is weighted down with a brick.

But the signs are favorable, Albert isn't hissing so loudly now

Half-Brother Of Gov. Jester Is Reported Missing

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (AP)—The 75-year-old half-brother of Gov. Beauford H. Jester of Texas is missing from his New York room, the governor said today.

Gov. Jester said he had reported the disappearance of Claude Jester, his half-brother, to police, but thought he might simply be out of town on business.

He said he contacted police after he failed to locate Claude at the furnished room where he once lived.

Believed Out Of Town

Police said Claude had to leave the room last month for failure to pay his rent. They said he was dropped from relief rolls last June when he refused to let welfare officials communicate with any members of his family.

The governor said he plans to return to Texas tomorrow but will leave a member of his staff here pending the outcome of a police search for his brother.

The governor said, however, that "from what a neighbor told me" when he visited Claude's room, "I am led to believe he is probably out of town on an appraisal trip."

Claude, he said, has been working "off and on" as a real estate appraiser for a number of years.

Sought To Find Brother

Gov. Jester has been in New York since Sunday presiding over meeting of the interstate oil compact commission. He said he sent his half-brother a telegram telling of his arrival.

When the brother failed to appear, and could not be found at his former address, Gov. Jester said, he told police.

The governor said "I did not know he was on relief. None of the family knew it. I still can't believe it is so."

The governor said he and his half-brother last met in June in New York.

He said a similar disappearance occurred a year ago, when the half-brother failed to respond to a telegram to meet the governor in New York.

NEW PRESIDENT ARRIVES

Dr. Wiggins Arrives In City; To Assume Tech Duties Today

Dr. D. M. Wiggins will be in his office at Texas Technological college at least part of the day today as he actively assumes his duties as fifth president of Texas Technological college. He arrived in Lubbock with Mrs. Wiggins early Thursday afternoon.

Dr. and Mrs. Wiggins came by automobile from El Paso, where he was president of the Texas College of Mines and Metallurgy until he resigned to take the position at Texas Tech.

Residence Remodeled

For about three weeks, the president and his wife will live at Hilton hotel. They then will move into an apartment in Dormitory 3, west, to live while the president's residence on the campus is being remodeled.

Dr. Wiggins, widely known educator, officially became president of Texas Tech Wednesday.

Dr. Edward N. Jones of Kingsville, formerly president of Texas College of Arts and Industries, became affiliated with Texas Tech Wednesday as vice president.

To Be In Office Friday

President Wiggins planned to be in the president's office at least part of the day today.

Dr. W. M. Whyburn, retiring Tech president who officially was released from his duties here Tuesday, is enroute at the present time to Chapel Hill, N. C., where he will take over as head of the department of mathematics at the University of North Carolina. His family left Thursday to join him in Chapel Hill.

Official inauguration of Dr. Wiggins as fifth president of Tech has been set for Oct. 30, date of the college's annual Homecoming celebration.

Long Now Holds 10,000-Vote Lead

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2. (AP)—Russell Long, 29-year-old son of the late Huey P. Long, rolled up a nearly 10,000 vote majority today over Judge Robert F. Kennon for the United States Senate.

With all but three of the state's 1883 precincts reported, unofficial tabulation of Tuesday's Democratic primary gave Long 262,548 votes; Kennon 252,841.

The three missing boxes are small precincts.

Judge Kennon in a radio address (WDSU) today said he was returning to his home in Minden, La., and his duties on the State Court of Appeal.

Long claimed victory yesterday, and said he would "follow in my father's footsteps" as a senator.

Young Long is also a nephew of Gov. Earl K. Long.

In the other senatorial primary, Sen. Allen J. Ellender was overwhelmingly re-nominated for a third term.

Louisiana's six representatives with opposition appeared assured of re-nomination. Rep. Henry Larcade, Jr., of the Seventh district was unopposed. Rep. James Domengeaux of the Third district conceded his defeat to Senator Ellender for the Senate. Among three candidates for Domengeaux representative post, State Senator E. E. Willis of St. Martinville had more votes than both his opponents combined on the basis of unofficial returns from 208 of the district's 215 precincts.

KEY OFFICIAL IN EUROPEAN UNION IN WASHINGTON

U. S. Plans To Join Western European Military Alliance Given Boost As Top Official Arrives

By GEORGE DURNO
INS Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—U. S. plans to enter the Western European military alliance were advanced today with arrival in Washington of Gladwyn J. Jebb, key official in the five-power union.

Jebb is chairman of the permanent Western European union commission, set up after Britain, France and the low countries joined in a military pact at Brussels some months ago.

Canada To Join

He came here from Ottawa where he talked with top Canadian officials. Canada, under a mutual defense agreement with the United States, is also expected to associate itself with the European combination.

Jebb conferred with George F. Kennan, chief of the State department's policy planning staff, and John Hickerson, chief of the European affairs division.

State Department Spokesman Michael J. McDermott said Jebb was in Washington "chiefly" in connection with United Nations affairs and would see Dean Rusk, head of the UN desk.

However, McDermott confirmed the meetings with Kennan and Hickerson and conceded they probably concerned Western union.

Observers believed drafting of a formal treaty, calling for adherence with Western Union, was progressing steadily. The Vandenberg resolution, which passed the last regular session of the Senate by a vote of 64 to 4, directed negotiations looking to such an association.

Final action must await convening of the new Congress in January because any U. S. military guarantees require Senate ratification.

In the interim, a complete blueprint is being drawn of Western Europe's military capabilities and needs in event of attack.

U. S. Defense Secretary Forrestal recently visited Ottawa for conferences with Canada's ranking foreign affairs and military men. An agreement was reached for standardization of American and Canadian military equipment. Canadian undersecretary for external affairs L. B. Pearson later visited Washington for further talks.

The ambassadors from Great Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxemburg have been under instructions for some weeks to press for an all-out alliance with the United States and Canada.

Index Shows Slight Drop In Prices Paid Texas Farmers

AUSTIN, Sept. 2 (AP)—Index of prices to Texas farmers for all agricultural commodities dropped 5 per cent in July, the United States Department of Agriculture reported today.

Lowered prices for most field crops, meat animals and wool accounted for the overall slump, USDA said.

The only groups registering increases were truck crops, potatoes and sweet potatoes, poultry and eggs.

The drop in meat animal price index was the result of moderate declines from record high averages the previous month for beef cattle, veal calves and lambs. The price of veal calves at $25.50 was off 1.20. Beef cattle and lambs each declines $1.

During the first six months of 1948, 2,010,516 air express shipments were flown over the 81,000-mile domestic network, a gain of 11.5 per cent over last year, according to the Railway Express Agency.

LAZY MAN'S MOWER—M. B. Hansell sits at his Independence, Mo., home while his electric lawnmower manicures his lawn. Hansell fastens a long stake in one of his sockets buried in his yard. Then he winds a tether around the stake. To this he attaches the lawnmower, which does the unwinding as it travels around the stake in a 56-foot circular area.

Romance Of Rich Theatrical Figure To Remain A 'Secret'

RENO, Sept. 2. (U.P.)—The romance of Lee Shubert, millionaire theatrical figure, and his "secret wife," the beautiful Marcella Swanson, will remain a secret as far as Mrs. Shubert is concerned.

The lovely showgirl, in Reno to secure a divorce, admitted in an interview today that she married the producer and theatre owner in Berlin about "12 year ago."

But she added she will never have anything to say about her romance. She added:

"I promise I will never tell anyone, anywhere, about my marriage to Mr. Shubert, at any time."

She then refused to answer any further questions other than to say that she will charge mental cruelty when her divorce suit comes up for trial tomorrow.

William Klein, a New York attorney, arrived in Reno today. He told newsmen that he was on his way to Lake Tahoe for a vacation and "just dropped in to see Mrs. Shubert."

There were indications, however, that he represents the producer. Klein's only reply was a laugh when asked if he had brought a settlement check from New York with him.

Youth Sentenced To Six Years

PLAINVIEW, Sept. 2. (Special)—Billy Joe Short, 20, Lubbock youth who is under five-year burglary conviction of the 99th district court of Lubbock county, was convicted in two cases of burglary here today, and 64th District Judge C. D. Russell sentenced him to three years in the penitentiary in each.

District Attorney Harold LaFont said the court provided that the sentences should be cumulative.

Indictments charged burglary of two Abernathy business houses, Reid Chevrolet company and Doug Chapman garage, about May 13.

Ben Kucera, Lubbock attorney, represented Short.

Short was removed from Lubbock county jail early today and taken in custody of Chief Dep. Sheriff George Eubank of Lubbock county to Abernathy, where custody was accepted by Hale County Sheriff Ted Andrews, officials said.

Manford Claimed To Have House Speaker's Post Secure

AUSTIN, Sept. 2 (AP)—Supporters of Durwood Manford of Smiley for speaker of the House of Representatives today claimed a clear majority of 51st legislature membership already pledged to their candidate.

The claim was made by Reps. Jim Heflin, Bill Miller, and Searcy Bracewell of Houston.

Heflin said that Manford now has the pledges and support of 93 of the 150 members nominated in the Democratic primaries. It takes 76 to be elected.

Rep. Joe Kilgore of McAllen is also seeking the speakership.

Catholic Group Sounds Alarm For War Against Immorality

BY NORMAN J. MONTELLIER
United Press Staff Writer

ASSISI, Italy, Sept. 2 — Italian Catholic Action, the church's powerful lay arm, dedicated itself to an all-out campaign against spreading immorality at a three-day congress at this birthplace of St. Francis.

The program adopted by the congress pledged Italian Catholics to recognition of the dangers created by post-war changes in moral standards. It ordered united effort to preserve morality by combatting prostitution pornography, juvenile delinquency, variety shows, immoral press, improper clothes and styles and dancing.

The Catholic Action organization said the father must assume the duty of instrusting his children in proper observance of moral standards and urged that the Biblical commandments on the subjects be impressed on youth from all viewpoints—religious, hygienic and social.

The meeting at Assisi was reviewed by the Vatican newspaper, Ossevatore Romano, as one of the most important Catholic lay events of the year.

Social Changes Noted

Catholics were urged to "recognize fully the profound political and social changes which have been verified by the radical changes of the psychological situation and practices relative to the sector of morality."

Education and efforts to fight immorality, the congress said, "must be prevailing preventive, adequate to the psychological conditions and social order, conditions which in great part we can not change."

A program outline blamed spreading immorality on:

1. The psychic and social conditions of the state of war — "moral and physical depression, misery, military occupation, etc."
2. The "failure to observe all or almost all of the legislative provisions which regulate morals."
3. "The inevitable repercussions of anti-religious and irreligious propaganda on intimate habits."
4. "The new forms of feminine participation in social and public life which can alter the relations between the sexes."
5. "The contacts, today close and permanent, with habits and other civilizations."

Action Outlined

The Catholic Action resolution cited positive and negative action that can be carried out by all Catholics to combat immorality.

"On the plane of positive action," it said, "it is necessary to promote and participate in all forms of action that are of use, either directly or indirectly, to combat bad habits." Recommended activities were "good reading and honest entertainment, sport and recreation, soldiers clubs, etc."

"In the field of negative action," the Catholics were told, "exercise control of private works —schools, libraries, associations and clubs—with the view of eliminating in these all infiltrations of immorality. Make contact with all local authorities to the end of forcing application of repressive laws against pornography and immorality, laws which in this moment are not applied to the maximum."

First order for a military airplane was placed by the United States Army in 1907.

Reunion Planned At W. J. Spikes Home

Nine daughters and two sons of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Rhea of Sparta, Tenn., several of whom live here, are to be together Sunday for the first time in 28 years, in a reunion to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Spikes, 1913 Twenty-third, a member of the family said yesterday.

Mrs. Carl W. Northern of Chattanooga, Tenn., one of the nine sisters of Mrs. Spikes, reunion hostess, arrived yesterday. Four other sisters and one brother who do not live here, were expected to arrive today or Saturday.

They are Mrs. Sam Snodgrass and Mrs. Quenton Owen of Sparta, Tenn.; Mrs. Horace Snodgrass of McMinnville, Tenn.; Mrs. Robert Burns of St. Louis; and a brother, Taylor Rhea of Cookville, Tenn.

One brother and four sisters live here. They are Stanton Rhea of 1627 Eighteenth; Mrs. Walter F Smith of 1409-A Seventeenth, Mrs Fred W. Sims of 2312 Main, Mrs. R. D. Williams of 2310 Main; and Mrs. Spikes.

ELEPHANT DEATHS

Elephants, contrary to popular legend, don't go to a common elephant graveyard to die. It is estimated that 2000 elephants die in Africa each year. Few of them are found, however, for the forest quickly covers over the remains left by the scavengers.

Take Off Ugly Fat With Grape Fruit Juice Recipe

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy — no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of Liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears — how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Seven Lubbock Carriers Keep Mail Going Over Rural Routes

In fair weather or foul, Lubbock's seven rural letter carriers make their appointed rounds and grind out 132,233 miles a year to see that the mail goes through to people living on the rural free delivery routes.

Six days a week the seven carriers travel a total of 435 miles daily, the records of Amos H. Howard, postmaster, reveal.

In addition to his lengthy route, each rural mail carrier functions as a "portable post office." He sells stamps, picks up letters to be mailed, receives and delivers parcels, takes applications for money orders, picks up and delivers C. O. D. mail, delivers special delivery letters to the recipient wherever feasable.

There are some things he cannot, by regulations, do for his patrons, however. The rural letter carrier is sometimes asked for a ride into town. The postal regulations forbid this. They likewise forbid him to act as a "messenger," and since most patrons understand, the rural letter carrier is seldom asked to pick up a spool of thread or do other such favors.

Area Is Blanketed

The seven rural routes working out of Lubbock pretty well blanket Lubbock county and portions of adjoining counties.

No. 1, which Lloyd Johnson carries, covers 71.55 miles. It goes from Lubbock east to Acuff and covers territory north and south from that highway.

No. 2, carried by John R. Potts, is 61.96 miles daily. It goes out fourth street west, works north and west to within three miles of Shallowater, gradually works back to the old Plainview highway extending north of College avenue.

Lester C. Cooper carries route No. 3, which is 65.73 miles long. It is north on the Plainview highway through Monroe to a point three miles north of there. Cooper delivers to areas west of the highway on his way out, areas east of the highway on his return trip.

Route No. 4, 65.2 miles long, is carried by George Williams. It goes south on College avenue, works through Slide, comes back on the Slide road, covering a portion of northern Lynn county.

No. 5, carried by H. J. Kendrick, is 68.91 miles long. It goes out Levelland highway to Smyer, works south and east back through Wolfforth and takes in points along the Lubbock-Wolfforth highway on the return trip.

Route No. 6 is carried by A. D. Montgomery, covering 59.70 miles daily. It goes south on Tahoka highway, through Woodrow, works south and west from Woodrow into Lynn county, and returns by the "Old Tahoka highway" east of the present highway, and then meets the Lubbock-Slaton highway.

No. 7, carried by Charles R. Duncan, is almost a city route. It goes along East Broadway east of the canyon, goes north to Fourth street onto the Idalou highway, goes out the Idalou highway about two miles, then doubles back to the southeast portion of the city, due south and goes out southwest about 6 miles.

The rural routes are distinguished from star routes in that they are set up to cover a minimum of four patrons to the mile. Star routes do not cover any particular number of patrons to the mile, and are awarded annually on a contract basis after bids are taken.

Taxi Driver's Tear Gas Gun Used Against Him In Movie

FORT WORTH, Sept. 2. (INS)—A Fort Worth taxi driver, Jack Smyth, 23, is in tears over what happened to him recently when his own weapon was accidentally turned on him.

He is also nursing a burning scalp.

Smyth told police he was watching a movie when there was a small flash and pop from the seat behind him.

He said he turned around and saw a small girl holding his smoking tear gas fountain pen gun. Smyth ruefully told police he must have dropped it when he sat down.

The gun, he explained, was for protection against robbers.

Smyth said he regained his gun and left the theatre.

He added he didn't feel like seeing the rest of the film.

Drunk Grabs Chance To Tell Off Police

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 2. (U.P.)—The police dispatcher was shocked!

Out of his loud speaker came a series of mule-skinner epithets, some of them unspeakably foul. The dispatcher checked the source, one of the police patrol cars, and called for an explanation.

The radio car had answered a disturbance call at a tavern. Both officers went inside. While they were gone, a passing and still unidentified drunk took the opportunity to tell the police department what he thought of it.

Connecticut Police Probe 'Dognapping' For Ransom

NORWALK, Conn., Sept. 2 (U.P.)—State police investigated today their first recorded case of a "dognapping" for ransom.

The victim was Marco, a black-faced, eight-month Pekingese puppy belonging to Richardson Wright, well-to-do editor of House and Gardner and author of "Grandfather Was Queer."

Joe Valender, caretaker of Wright's estate, who reported the abduction, said the "dognappers" took the dog on Aug. 28 and telephoned five days ago to demand "as much money as you can pay" for return of the pet.

Valender said he had not informed his employer, who is vacationing on Cape Cod with his family, of the incident, hoping that the "dognappers" would return Marco.

"The whole household is upside down without that dog," Valender said. "My wife is about to suffer a nervous breakdown and Marco's two playmates, another Pekingese and a cat, refuse to eat."

New Mexico Town Makes Capital Of Train Mishap

LAS VEGAS, N. M., Sept. 2 (U.P.)—Las Vegas civic leaders saw to it that a train-load of marooned railroad passengers left with a good impression.

A locomotive derailment tied up traffic through Las Vegas and the California Limited of the Santa Fe railway had to wait. The chamber of commerce sensed the possibility that Las Vegas might become a sore spot in the memory of the passengers.

So 10 automobiles were rounded up, with drivers. The delayed passengers passed the afternoon touring Las Vegas and the scenic countryside, with a running commentary from the driver on the charms of the city.

Three Persons Burned To Death As Fire Destroys Missouri Home

CHILLICOTHE, Mo., Sept. 2 (INS)—Fire which raced through a three-room frame home near Chillicothe today when a coal oil lamp apparently overturned took the lives of three members of a family.

Burned to death were John Miller, 81, retired farmer; his wife, Anne, 79, who had been bedridden for several years, and their daughter, Mary Miller, 40.

Berlin Mayor Demands Voice In Four-Power Talks On Blockade

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Acting Berlin Mayor Ferdinand Friedensburg warns in the following exclusive article that he will appeal to the United Nations unless the Russians soon lift their blockade of the city. The man who had resisted Communist "action committee" attempts to seize control of the city assembly believes the western Allies are getting "panicky" and demands a voice in the present four-power talks.)

By FERDINAND FRIEDENSBURG
(As told to International News Service)

BERLIN, Sept. 2.—The Western Allies are becoming panicky in the four-power negotiations and we demand that the Germans be given a voice in the present Berlin talks.

The Germans, not the Allies, will bear the burdens of the decisions reached in the Moscow and Berlin talks.

It is our moral, as well as judical right, to be heard.

Even criminals have a right to be heard before they are sentenced.

Our intention is to lay the Berlin situation before the United Nations if the blockade is not lifted on a equitable basis.

Allies Urged To Take Time

The western powers should take their time in dealing with the Russians. Only by patience will they avoid losing ground.

The western powers underestimate the will of the Berlin population to withstand the blockade.

Berliners will see the blockade trouble through with the help of the western powers.

It is the clear aim of the Russians to gain complete control of Berlin's economic and political life.

But the Soviets in the long run must give in on the Berlin issue, without concessions, because they are losing the last vestiges of political support among the German population.

We want participation in the Berlin talks to minimize the possibility of the Allies making further mistakes as a result of not listening to Berlin's German administrative experts as they did on the currency problem.

Currency Problem Hit

The Russian policies are more brutal but in effect the western Allied monetary policies had the same disastrous effect.

You can imagine the nightmare of attempting to run a city under four generals of four different nations, especially when the four generals are dissenting generals.

The Communist city hall demonstrations and attacks on Berlin's city government last week resembled even in minute details the propaganda methods of the Nazis.

I believe the city assembly meanwhile has made a mistake in indefinitely postponing its tentatively scheduled meeting for tomorrow.

The city assembly should have used the four-power talks in Berlin as an occasion to demonstrate its determination to meet despite the threat of Communist demonstrations.

In profiting from past demonstrations I have made preparations to guarantee the safety of the city assemblymen as long as they are in the building.

But of course I can't guarantee they will get out of the building.

Seventy per cent of the nation's dresses, coats, blouses and furs for women are manufactured every year in New York state.

Opera Star Almost Gets By Without Notice In Indiana

HUNTINGTON, Ind., Sept. 2 (U.P.)—Helen Traubel, Wagnerian opera soprano, stopped inconspicuously here during a vacation trip and spent the night in a hotel.

Mrs. R. Eugene Beatty, an opera fan, recognized Miss Traubel and introduced herself. Mrs. Beatty said Miss Traubel asked her not to tell anybody.

Mrs. Beatty promised and Miss Traubel spent two hours visiting a street fair. Nobody else recognized her.

Governor Argues That Montana Is Biggest State In Nation

HELENA, Mont., Sept. 2 (U.P.)—Gov. Sam C. Ford wants it known in Texas and California that Montana is really the biggest state.

Texas and California can go jump on their surveyor's instruments as far as Ford is concerned.

The Montana governor argues that the size of states is figured wrong. Geographers rank Texas first, California second and Montana third.

"Flatten our mountains and we'd be larger than either Texas or California," Ford told a convention of the Northwest Peace Officers' Association at Butte.

Oil Is Found In Howard Wildcat

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 1 D. C. Zant, stepout from production from the Pennsylvanian lime in the Vealmoor field in north-central Howard county, about 15 miles north of Big Spring, recovered 59.32 barrels of oil, and no water during a 70-minute drillstem test in the top of the pay at 7,925-42 feet.

A one-half inch bottom hole choke; and a one-inch top opening were used.

Gas showed at the surface in three minutes. Drilling mud came to the top in nine minutes and the drill pipe started flowing oil in ten minutes. It flowed 48.3 barrels of oil in one hour and the tester was then closed.

When the drill pipe was being pulled it unloaded 5.5 barrels of oil. There was a total of 675 feet, or 5.52 barrels of oil left in the drill pipe when it had all been pulled.

Operator is now preparing to run 5½-inch casing, preparatory to starting completion tests on the extender.

It is located 660 feet from south and 560 feet from east lines of the south half of the southwest quarter of section 29, block 32, TP survey, T-3-N.

Gulf Oil corporation No. 1 State School board, deep wildcat in the Shafter Lake area of north-central Andrews county, about 10 miles north of the town of Andrews, and 1,979 feet from north and west lines of section 14, block A-36, psl survey, is shutdown for orders on a total depth of 10,700 feet in lime and chert, which is likely the Devonian.

It ran a one and one-half hour drillstem test at 10,575-700 feet. Recovery was 558 feet of drilling mud and 5,045 feet of salty, sulphur water. There were no signs of oil.

Reports that the project was to plug back to about 3,000 feet, and complete as a gas producer from the Yates sandy lime formation have not been officially verified in Midland.

World Churches Council Group Scores Communism, Capitalism

By RICHARD TOMKINS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, Sept. 2—The World Council of Churches tonight received two committee reports condemning Communism and Capitalism alike and calling for support of the United Nations.

Besides backing the UN, the second report — on international disorder — urged the preservation of freedom of press and religion. It sidestepped any definite attitude towards war.

Relief Program Urged

Both reports were "received" under resolutions commending them to the churches for serious consideration and action. Officials said the council action did not mean approval of adoption.

The churchmen were told racial discrimination and economic injustice have helped the growth of Communism. Christians were exhorted to "seek new creative solutions which never allowed either justice or freedom to destroy the other."

Jewish authorities throughout the world were asked to cooperate in the work of relief among Arabs and other refugees from the Palestine war and to help speed the return of refugees to their homes.

While recognizing the gravity of the present international crisis, one report said "there is no irresistible tide that is carrying man to destruction."

Rival Ideologies Scored

The World Council has 450 delegates representing about 150 churches in more than 40 countries. The Roman Catholic church, the Russian church and the Southern Baptist convention are among those not represented.

"The Christian should reject the ideologies of both Communism and Capitalism and should seek to draw men away from the false assumption that these are the only alternatives," the report said. "Each has made promises which it could not redeem.

"Communist ideology puts the emphasis upon economic justice and promises that freedom will come automatically after the completion of the revolution. Capitalism puts the emphasis upon freedom and promises that justice will follow as a by-product of free enterprise. That, too, is an ideology which has been proved false."

The report castigates Communism as "a force that engenders new forms of injustice and oppression. It added that capitalism had failed to meet human needs and had concentrated on materialism and produced "serious inequalities."

Oklahoma Woman Is Scooped On Shaving Of Husband's Mustache

CLAREMORE, Okla., Sept. 2 (U.P.) — The Claremore Progress claimed a scoop of scoops after publishing a story about a local man shaving off a mustache he had grown for a rodeo.

The newspaper quoted the man's wife, Mrs. Vernon Taylor, as saying "I hadn't noticed that he had shaved off his mustache until I read it in the Progress."

American Farmer Is Expanding Interests To Numerous Fields

AMHERST, Mass., Sept. 2 (U.P.) —The American farmer has become a businessman and now owns oil wells, refineries, pipe lines, lumber mills, fertilizer plants and paint factories, a midwest co-operative leader said today.

Glenn S. Fox of Kansas City, Mo., told the 20th annual summer session of the American Institute of Co-operation that the farmer no longer can be contained behind his fences and hedgerows.

The farmer, he said, is continually extending his off-the-farm operations through local and regional marketing and purchasing organizations.

Return Is Boosted

Fox, director of finance for the Consmers Co-operation Association of Kansas City, Mo., one of the nation's largest regional purchasing co-operatives, said that "long before the song was ever written, American farmers were saying 'don't fence me in.'"

"For through co-operatives," he said, "they have learned that the investments they make beyond their own hedgerows are quite as important to the success of individual farm enterprises as increased investments in tractors, cultivators, or new barns."

A farmer's dollar invested in his own farm may, in good times, bring him a 10 per cent return, Fox said. But that same dollar in a regional co-op means a 35 per cent return.

"Factories are free for co-operators," he said, "the money which they formerly paid in profits to build factories for others, now goes to build factories for themselves. Consumers have paid for every factory that was ever built. When they begin buying co-op, they begin buying factories for themselves."

Funeral Services To Be Held Today For Lubbock Resident

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a. m. today in Sanders Funeral home chapel for J. B. Hartley, 80, of 1518 Ave. O, who died at 11:30 a. m. Thursday in West Texas hospital after a long illness. He had been a resident of Lubbock since 1922.

Rev. Travis A. White, First Christian church pastor, will officiate, and burial will be in Lubbock cemetery under direction of Sanders.

Survivors include one son, J. E. Hartley, with whom Hartley lived, and a sister, Mrs. Fred Sandell of Tuscola.

Pallbearers will be Bill Baskin, Joe Cobb, R. W. Walker, C. V. Sandlin, G. P. Kuykendall and John Halsey.

Three Gunmen Sought After Ontario Bank Is Robbed

RIDGEWAY, Ont., Sept. 2. (U.P.) —Police of Ontario and New York state joined this afternoon in a search for three dungaree-clad gunmen who looted Ridgeway's Imperial bank of $4,000 today.

The robbers fled in a car bearing New York state license plates, after shutting the staff of three, and one customer into a vault.

Rose Lamping, clerk in the bank, also is part-time correspondent of a Niagara district newspaper. She was unable to get the holdup story to her paper until police had broadcast it by radio.

Here Is Tall Fishing Tale That's True

Texas Woman Uses Bubble Gum Bait, Hauls In 12-Pound Fish

The price of bubble gum may be on the upswing on the South Plains—it's all related to one of those fish stories.

Just back from a fishing trip with her husband, Mrs. J. C. Hollingsworth, who lives on the Idalou highway, has this story to tell:

"We were fishing at Fort Lake Phantom Hill, northeast of Abilene, with Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Wilson, of Rochester, Tex. Mrs. Wilson hadn't had much luck and finally took out her wad of bubble gum and placed it on her three-way hook.

"'I can't catch a fish any other way,' she said, 'so I'll try bubble gum bait.'

"As the other members of our party teased her, Mrs. Wilson, using a casting rod, tossed in the gum-baited hook. A minute later she got a strike—and after some difficulty hauled in a 12-pound buffalo!"

To cap the climax, Mrs. Hollingsworth's husband sells bubble gum to retailers in this vicinity.

"Maybe we can sell some to fishermen now," she commented.

Rites Set Today For Mrs. Della Pearl Hull

MATADOR, Sept. 2. (Special)—Della Pearl Hull, 51, of the Croton community near Dickens, died at 3 p. m. in a clinic here today after a long illness.

Funeral services for Mrs. Hull, who had been a resident of Dickens county for 18 years, will be held in Dickens cemetery with McDonald Funeral home in charge.

Survivors include her husband; a son, Billy Dwaine Hull; a daughter, Mrs. Ellen Edwards, Afton; a brother, Alvie Parnell, of New Mexico; two sisters, Mrs. Elles Gage, Afton, and Mrs. Rachel Walton, Bryson, and two grandchildren.

Among the little-known facts about glass is that it may be used as a pipe to conduct light to any desired point.

Hearn's New Store To Open Here Today

Hearn's, new store featuring linens and lingerie, will open today at 2412 Broadway.

The store operates under the slogan, "Famous for Linens and Lingerie." Nationally known brands will be featured.

In addition to offering higher priced merchandise, the store also will offer popular prices among its many items of lingerie and linens, blankets, skirts, blouses and other items. Imported handmade linens are included in merchandise.

The store is individually owned. All light fixtures, show cases and other fixtures, and floor covering have been bought in Lubbock. The store is air-conditioned by refrigeration.

E. B. Hearn, owner, has been in the linen business about 35 years. He and his wife have been in Lubbock about five weeks. He praised Lubbock as a progressive city.

Hearn is a member of the Rotary club. He and Mrs. Hearn have two sons. One, Edward, participated in five major battles with the Fourth Marines during World War II and later re-enlisted. The other, Harold, who served in the Navy in the Pacific, lives in Little Rock, Ark.

Street Car Riders Flunk Test Given By St. Louis Motorman

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 2 (AP) — Street car riders here flunked a courtesy test conducted by a motorman on the Grand Boulevard line.

To break the monotony of his schedule, Ted Q. Browne decided to record his observations on the behavior of his passengers. After a day's work, he found he had greeted 1,082 passengers with a cheery "hello" and got only 31 replies. He waited for 300 persons he saw running for the car during the day, but only 26 bothered to thank him.

His conclusion: "Most of the riders seemed to be very preoccupied."

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 2 (AP) — There were enough unfavorable elements in the run of the day's news to cause a fairly large drop in grains prices today. The July 1949, wheat contract felt a good part of the selling, tumbling more than 3 cents at one time.

The unfavorable news gist included rains in the Nebraska winter wheat territory, a slump in cash corn prices, an increase in country offerings of cash corn and a statement by Harold Stassen that food prices should come down.

Wheat closed 2 to 3¼ lower, September $2.21; corn was 1⅝-2¼ lower, September $1.65 ⅛-¼; oats were ⅝-¾ lower, September 72¾, rye was 2½ to 3 cents lower December $1.57; and soybeans were ½ to 2 cents higher, November $2.49½.

STOCKS CONTINUE GAINS

NEW YORK, Sept. 2. (AP)—The stock market landed at the highest level in some five weeks today for the second session in a row.

In an advance that bogged down a couple of times, leading issues gained fractions to more than a point. Rail and steel issues were among the better performers.

Sales of 900,000 shares compared with 920,000 yesterday.

Wall Street was still encouraged by Berlin news.

At the same time the traditional pre-weekend caution was in evidence, a caution heightened by Labor Day which will lengthen the coming recess.

Bulova Watch, following announcement of an extra dividend, closed 2½ higher at 40¾.

NEW YORK REPORT

Labor Seeks Part In Control Of Nationalized British Industry

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 2.—The report of the economic committee of the British Trades Union congress against direct Labor representation on government control boards for nationalized industries does not mean, of course, that the issue is settled.

There are all shades of opinion within the Labor movement. Many unions have passed resolutions demanding direct representation. The post office workers want equal representation with officials on a joint administrative council. The miners are divided over whether they should merely see to it that the councils contain more men from the trade union movement sitting as individuals. The railway men ask equal rights in management. Its going to be a big issue at the next general meeting.

Labor Party Defeat Possible

The trades unions are well aware of the vagaries of politics. Many of them have in mind the possibility, which the political wing of the Labor party would like to play down, that there is a chance of the party's defeat in the 1950 elections. Experienced and more or less impartial political observers tell me that labor undoubtedly will lose some of the parliamentary strength it won in 1945.

Some of them believe that, if the elections were held now, it would result in an almost even balance between Conservatives and Labor. What happens between now and the election is expected to determine the edge which either party may obtain.

Union Views Differ

Under those circumstances, many union leaders wonder what might happen under a Conservative party government if the administrative councils are manned by only a minority of Labor representatives, and those not directly responsible to the unions. This group doesn't think much of the economic committee's belief that trade union leadership is not necessarily a qualification for the duties of directors. Some of the unions reply that they can work through skilled management just as well as can the average board of directors.

But the leadership of the T. U. C., including Herbert Morrison, who has been acting prime minister during Mr. Attlee's absence recently, is still inclined to move slowly.

Woman Who Posed As Man Faces Theft Charge In California

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 2. (AP)—Acting Gov. Dan E. Garvey today authorized the extradition to Oakland, Calif., of Shirlee Mary Nelson, 25, who posed as a man for two years and married a 16-year-old girl.

Miss Nelson is charged with grand theft of $910 from her employer, an Oakland grocery supply firm. She was arrested here Aug. 21.

That she was a woman became known only after her disappearance from Oakland and an investigation of the alleged theft was begun. She had been known as Stewart Robert Nelson.

She obtained a marriage license under that name and went through a wedding ceremony with Roberta E. Lawson here Oct. 18, 1946.

Roberta told Oakland police she never knew her "husband" was a woman.

Fort Worth Girl To Undergo Operation So She May Cry

FORT WORTH, Sept. 2. (U.P.)—Marian Turner, 13-month-old Fort Worth girl, will undergo an operation tomorrow morning so that she may cry.

The surgery will correct a growth on the child's vocal chords in an effort to make it possible for her to cry and make other sounds. At present, she whispers whenever she tries to talk.

A silver tube will be inserted in her throat and may remain permanently, or she may be able to discard it when she reaches her teens. The operation will be the second the child has undergone.

She is the daughter of S/Sgt. and Mrs. F. A. Turner of Paxton, Ill. Her father is stationed at Carswell Air Force base here.

Amarillo 'Dream House' Helps Finance Boys' Ranch Project

AMARILLO, Sept. 2 (INS)—Boys' Ranch has collected some $2,800 so far from the public inspecting a "dream house" built by Fred Seale as a promotion project to aid the financial condition of the West Texas institution.

Boys from the ranch act as guides at the "Dream House".

Tarrant Draft Board To Watch For Sudden Shift To Farming

FORT WORTH, Sept. 2 (INS)—Tarrant County draft board officials realize the importance of farmers to the defense effort, but they have served warning there'll be no rustic monkeyshines about it.

They said they are going to watch pretty closely to prevent a quick switch to farming by those seeking to avoid the draft.

Best recommendations probably will be callqused hands and evidence of sure 'nuff production on the old farm stead.

Couple United After 34 Years, Is Separated Again By Death

CHICAGO, Sept. 2 (U.P.) — An elderly couple, re-married after 34 lonely years apart, were separated by death just three weeks after their second marriage.

Charles Harbinson, 78, and his wife, Mary, 77, were divorced in 1914. A few weeks ago Harbinson wrote his former wife and said, "We have just a few years left. Let's spend them together."

She accepted and they were married. Two weeks after the wedding Mrs. Harbinson went to the hospital, where she died a week later.
