Petition Asks County Park Bond Election

A county bond issue of $950,000 for a county park near Snyder and another on the north shore of the lake to be formed by the dam across the Colorado River in Southwestern Scurry County is proposed in petitions now being circulated.

The petitions were distributed late Friday afternoon following a meeting at which H. W. S. Van Arsdale of Dallas, southwestern representative of the National Recreational Association, addressed 30 persons interested in the county park.

Plans for the park cannot be drawn until a site is selected. Several locations for the park near Snyder are being considered, but the park committee has made no final negotiations for a purchase.

LAKE FRONTAGE

The tract on the lake front has not been selected either, but it is believed that the county will be able to get 100 acres from the Colorado River Municipal Water District at cost, about $50 an acre.

While plans for the park near Snyder have not been drawn, the park committee and Edgar Taylor, county judge, described it as a tract of at least 200 acres. Eventually it will have picnic areas, a golf course, a swimming pool, tennis courts, athletic fields, and show barns for 4-H, Future Farmer, and other agricultural exhibits.

Bob Dupree, who presided at Friday's meeting, stated that the oil industry, which pays 90 per cent of the county's taxes, was giving strong support to the county park project as a means of providing recreation for their staffs stationed in this county.

Prior to the meeting, Van Arsdale and the site committee studied various tracts in the vicinity of the city. However, Van Arsdale made his recommendations on the relative merits of the tracts to the committee privately.

Van Arsdale pointed out that one of the questions asked by new industry in considering any given area as a possible plant site was "What are the recreational facilities?"

The alert community, he said, is quick to provide means of spending leisure time profitably and pleasantly.

To build the park, Van Arsdale suggested a minimum of 100 acres plus 50 acres for each nine holes of golf course added. That would make the proposed park here at least 200 acres in size, as an 18-hole course is anticipated.

BELIEVED ADEQUATE

He stated that until the site was bought and plans were drawn for the various buildings and improvements, no specific estimate of costs could be made. He added, however, that $950,000 should be ample to make a well - equipped park.

Judge Taylor said that the nearest he could figure the costs, the bond issue would be adequate.

The park expert recommended the following buildings and improvements:

1. Picnic areas.
2. Playgrounds near entrances.
3. 18-hole golf course.
4. Pond for boys and girls to fish, where no adult fishing was allowed.
5. Children's splash pool.
6. Tennis courts, on a basis of one for every 2,000 population in the county.
7. Miniature golf course.
8. Softball fields, on the basis of 1 to every 3,000 county population.
9. Baseball dismonds, on the basis of one to every 6,000 population.
10. Open spaces for big group activities.
11. Football fields.
12. Community center.
13. Golf driving range.

GRADUAL GROWTH

"Few counties or cities get all these items at once, but must build up the improvements gradually," he advised. "Buying the land quickly is important.

"There are desirable sites near the city, but they must be bought before the city expands further.

Former Snyder Newspaperman Falls to Death

A man identified by police as Thorne Smith, 45, of Kermit, Tex., former publisher of the Scurry County Times in Snyder, plunged to his death yesterday from a seventh floor window of the Jefferson Hotel in Dallas, the Associated Press reported.

Capt. Will Fritz of the Dallas police said Smith either jumped or fell.

Fritz released two men who were in the room with Smith. He said he had talked to the men and was convinced there was no foul play.

Smith was found on the sidewalk by passers-by shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday morning. He was fully dressed, but was wearing pajamas under his clothing.

For 18 months Smith had been mechanical foreman for the Winkler County News. He went to Kermit from the Odessa American. Before that he had leased the Scurry County Times at Snyder from Willard Jones in 1947 and was in partnership with Floyd Raymond.

Before going to Snyder, Smith had been editor of the Texas Spur, at Spur, Tex. He had been in newspaper work for more than 30 years. He was a native of Rosalie, Tex.

He was a veteran of World War II — in an armored division which took part in the first landing in Africa and was in the invasion of Italy.

He was married in 1946, and is survived by his widow, three children two brothers, and three sisters.

Man Saved In Suicide Try

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7. (AP)—A disappointed lover rested in a hospital psychopathic ward today, plucked by a bridge painter from a wind-whipped catwalk 470 feet above San Francisco Bay.

Police identified the patient as Joseph F Bautista, 22 - year - old Oakland hospital attendant from Honolulu.

Thousands of spell-bound motorists snarled traffic on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridge for two hours while Bautista dodged rescuers who climbed the western-most suspension tower of the huge span.

Perched on a dizzy catwalk directly over the bridge deck, his white trousers whipping in the stiff wind, the youth silently ignored their pleas to descend.

Fellow attendants at Providence hospital said his engagement to an Oakland girl had been broken earlier in the day by the girl's mother who had called him at the hospital.

William O. Toates, 45-year-old bridge paint foreman from San Francisco was the first to reach Bautista.

Following the youth's path, Toates creeped up the suspension cable, guarded only by slender hand rails. Talking reassuringly, Toates reached out and grabbed him.

Bautista collapsed in a dead faint — "colder than a cucumber," Toates said.

A second painter and a highway patrolman helped Toates lower him down the inside of the tower, rung by rung," Toates said.

Once down, Bautista was taken to the psychopathic ward at San Francisco hospital. Attendants said he refused to talk.

TITO'S FORCES CELEBRATE

BELGRADE, July 7. (AP)—Yugoslavia celebrated as a national holiday today the 10th anniversary of the first shot fired by Premier Tito's Partisans in their uprising against German invaders.

Explosions Hit Propane Plant In New Jersey

NEWARK, N. J., July 7. (AP)—A rocket-like series of explosions ripped through a propane gas storage plant today setting off a general alarm fire which raged out of control for hours.

The 70-foot long cylindrical tanks, 10 feet in diameter, were flung hundreds of yards like giant toys by the terrific blasts which rocked the Port Neward area.

At least nine persons were injured in the explosion and fire at the Warren Petroleum Sales Corp.

100 TANKS EXPLODE

About 100 tanks were blown skyward, each punctuating a large spiralling grey - black cloud of smoke with flashes of orange flame.

One of the tanks struck a gasoline service station about three-quarters of a mile away. Another hit a printing company building.

Fifteen men trapped on the burning waterfront were rescued by a tugboat and landed unhurt. The men were working at a nearby candle factory when the explosions began.

Officials said they believed only about 10 workers were on duty at the Warren Company when the detonations began shortly after noon (EST).

HAIL OF METAL

Fifty workers from a nearby chemical plant fled through a shrapnel-like hail of flying inch-thick metal from the ruptured tanks.

Several railroad tank cars blew up with the storage tanks, scattering wheels and parts. The concrete paving on Doremus Avenue which runs past the area was shattered to bits from the heat and turned into a dirt road.

All available firemen in Newark, largest city in New Jersey, fought the blaze, biggest in the city's history.

RESEMBLES A-BOMB

There were 135 tanks in the sprawling yard. At first, they went up every four or five minutes. Later, the explosions became sporadic. It was possible that all 135 would go up in flames before firemen could fight their way through the dense smoke.

Newark Fire Chief Charles Burnett said the blaze looked exactly like an atomic bomb blast.

"It is the biggest fire I have ever seen in my 37 years as a fireman," Burnett told reporters. "It is the first time a general alarm has been sounded in the history of Newark."

Burnett wouldn't estimate the damage, but said newsmen would be "safe in calling it a million-dollar blaze."

3 Burned To Death In Car

EL PASO, July 7. (AP)—A mother and her two young daughters died in the flaming wreckage of an automobile which collided with a truck east of El Paso, near Salt Flats, today.

Burned to death were Mrs. Eva Armstrong, 26, Phyllis, 7, and Melda, 14 months, of Clarksville.

The father, Floyd T. Armstrong, 38, is in an El Paso hospital with critical burns.

The truck driver, Robert R. Pryor of El Paso, was unhurt.

The family was returning home from a visit near Phoeniz with Armstrong's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Armstrong.

The truck driver told Highway Patrolmen T. L. Allen and B. L. Warren that he jumped from the truck's cab just before a gasoline tank under the seat exploded.

He pulled Armstrong from the auto as the vehicles burst into flames.

Armstrong is employed at the Red River Arsenal near Clarksville.

Special Election Set

AUSTIN, July 7. (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers called a special election for Sept. 8 to fill the Congressional vacancy created by Rep. Ed Gossett's resignation.

Gossett will quit Congress July 31 to head Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's legal staff in Texas.

UN Negotiators Leave For Meeting With Communists

Bombing Ban Put Around Meeting Site

SEOUL, Korea, Sunday, July 8. (AP)—Allied negotiators left by helicopter today for Kaesong to meet with the Reds and arrange for armistice talks.

Two United States colonels and a South Korean lieutenant colonel with two interpreters took off from an advanced "peace camp" for the war-scarred city. Kaesong is three miles south of Parallel 38 in Western Korea.

(Peiping Radio announced the Communist negotiators arrived at Kaesong Saturday after placing a temporary Allied ban on bombing and strafing the 130-mile route from Pyongyang to Kaesong.)

Two large green 'copters carried the Allied mission. They took off at 8:50 a.m. (4:50 p.m. CST, Saturday). The flight was expected to require only a brief time. They were to land at a small site just northwest of Kaesong.

OFFICERS NAMED

The Allied officers are Col. Andrew J. Kinney of the United States Air Force, Col. James C. Murray of the United States Marine Corps, and Lt. Col., Soo Young Lie of the South Korean Army.

Their identities were kept secret until a few minutes before their departure.

Today's meeting is intended to arrange for higher-level armistice talks at Kaesong. These may begin Tuesday, as requested by the Reds and agreed to tentatively by the United States.

The pre-arranged schedule called for both parties to be on hand for the meeting some time after 9 a.m. (5 p.m. CST Saturday).

The Allied high command lifted a ban Saturday midnight on Allied planes, freeing them to attack the Pyongyang-Kaesong road to within five miles of the meeting site. The Red delegation thus had been given 19 hours of immunity from air attack in which to cover 130 miles of bomb-cratered highway.

NEUTRAL ZONE SET

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters assured, however, that an area within a five-mile radius of Kaesong's center would be regarded as a neutral zone by Allied air and ground forces "from the time of arrival of your delegates in Kaesong."

Favored by clearing weather, two helicopters left Seoul late Saturday for an undisclosed point. One was a huge H-13, capable of carrying 10 persons.

It was assigned to carry the Allied delegation.

Another smaller H-5, which normally carries three persons, was designated to carry equipment.

Seventy-one war correspondents gathered at the Seoul press camp to cover the developments. The Army would allow none to go beyond an advanced base camp.

PEACE CAMP READY

A tent city was set up behind Allied lines in an orchard to accommodate Allied officers in the event Sunday's meeting arranged for armistice negotiations.

Equipped with electric lights and affording soldiers the amazing sight of bed sheets, the area already has been labelled "peace camp."

October 1 Set As Deadline On Wage Increases

DALLAS, July 7. (AP)—A union leader said today that his organization has given the Texas Telephone Company until Oct. 1 to meet a 10 per cent pay raise demand.

He said that in the meantime, the firm plans to seek rate raises — some have not been increased in 20 years — to pay for the wage boosts.

The District 6 CIO Communications workers official, W. R. Staley, said that unless the wage increase is granted, "a general strike will certainly take place then."

Staley returned here late Friday after negotiation sessions in St. Louis. He represents 359 workers in 19 Texas communities.

He reported that union officials and the telephone company had signed a contract calling for five to six per cent wage increases, but with a wage reopening clause for October. By then the union wants additional increases to bring the total boost to 10 per cent.

Staley said both union officials and members were reluctant to accept a settlement of five to six per cent, but felt that figure was the limit the company could afford at present.

Staley said the union's eventual ambition in the case of the Texas Telephone Company is to achieve working conditions and wages for employes "in line with major telephone companies."

He added that there are several communities served by Texas Telephone where employes are still on a 48-hour week. The union seeks to reduce this to 40 hours, along with substantial wage increases.

"In spite of steadily mounting costs of living," Staley said "most workers have had no wage increase since 1949."

BAN MEAT SALES

MEXICO CITY, July 7. (AP)—President Miguel Aleman has acted to ease the capital's meat shortage by banning temporarily the export of meat from regions that normally supply Mexico City.

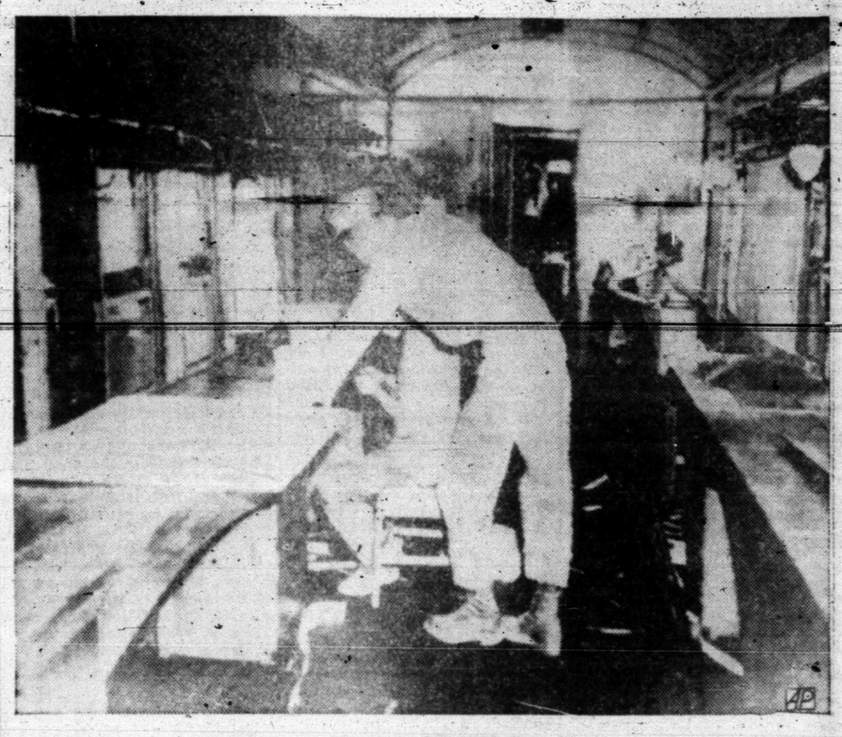

The Huasteca region, northeast of Mexico City, will feel the order most. Tampico packers reportedly are paying more than the capital for Huasteca cattle, and are selling abroad.

GOOD LINIMENT

EAST HAMPTON, N. Y., July 7. (AP)—John Farrar, 51, says he was cultivating a two-acre plot of marijuana for his rheumatism.

Farrar, a gardener, was held Friday for a Suffolk County grand jury on a charge of cultivating the weed. He told authorities that boiled marijuana makes an excellent liniment for the treatment of rheumatism.

Suffolk County officials said Farrar pleaded guilty in 1946 to a similar charge. They said he served six months of an 18-month federal prison term.

PEACE TRAIN LOCKED UP

This picture was taken while workmen were converting the 19-car combat train of Lt Gen. James A. Van Fleet to serve as a barracks on wheels for United Nations representatives at Kaesong cease-fire talks. Then the workmen were abruptly called off the job, the doors were locked and the train has been standing deserted in the war-battered Seoul railway station, 35-miles southeast of Koesong. U. S. 8th Army headquarters gave no reason for halting the work.

New Jail Included In Plans Of Proposed Courthouse Wing

Property owners here are being asked to sign petitions to call a bond election of $850,000 for building a three - story south extension to the present courthouse, the third floor to house a new county jail.

The present jail has been condemned repeatedly by grand juries.

IMPROVEMENTS

The election is also to provide for repairs and permanent improvments to the present courthouse, renewing the outside walls to give it the appearance of a newly built structure matching the new wing.

The necessity of the new jail has manifested itself in numerous jail break attempts in the past 16 months—two of which resulted in the freedom of dangerous felony prisoners, Edgar Taylor, county judge, said yesterday.

In almost every session of the grand jury, the district attorney and grand jurors have recommended that a new jail be constructed, but no definite action has been taken toward such a project.

Jail breaks since the boom began when one prisoner removed bricks from the jail wall and escaped in May, 1950. Three months later, three youths escaped custody of a deputy sheriff while being brought two blocks to the courthouse for trial. In March, this year, five felony prisoners removed bricks from the rear wall and escaped. About two weeks earlier, a similar attempt was thwarted. Two other attempts were made in April of this year, each thwarted only a few minutes before the prisoners—some of them felons—would have gained freedom.

The present courthouse was remodeled in late 1949 and early 1950 at a cost of about $124,000. The outer walls were sandblasted, inner walls were repainted, some partitions were altered, and floors were covered with asphalt tile. All windows, wood sash type, were replaced with steel sashes.

NEW WING

The proposed wing to the courthouse is planned to extend 63 feet to the south. Plans propose its width at 70 feet. It is to be built chiefly of brick with ornamental stone similar to marble.

The first floor is to provide offices for the county clerk, county commissioners, county judge, and a reception room for the judge's office and the commissioners court.

The only big change in the present situation of offices is the proposal to build a new sheriff's office in the southwest part of the present building, connecting it with fingerprinting and booking rooms in the wing. An elevator is also planned from the sheriff's office on the main floor to the jail on the third floor of the wing.

The basement of the extension will provide rest rooms and house air conditioning units and storage space.

On the second floor of the new annex, a small auxiliary courtroom is planned, adjacent to a new office for the district judge. District and county attorneys will have offices across a corridor from the courtroom and will also have a library. The second floor will have a jury retiring room which will be used, too, as a grand jury room.

The jail is to contain steel cell blocks for 100 prisoners, a kitchen, mess facilities, and storage space.

Preliminary plans have been drawn by Butler - Brasher Engineering Co., Lubbock, who are the county's architect - engineers on the pending hospital project.

Soviets Ready To Strike Iran

NEW YORK, July 7. (AP)—An American Broadcasting Company correspondent says Russia is "preparing for a full-scale invasion of Iran."

The correspondent, Ray Brock, reported to his New York office from Ankara, Turkey, Friday night that Russian soldiers "conduct almost forays" across the Northern Iran border to test Iranian defenses.

Brock quoted an unidentified "Official U. S Army observer recently arrived from Tehran as saying that the "Red Army is receiving the full cooperation of the Iranian communists in these patrols across the border."

The observer was quoted as saying the Russians are arming the Iranian communists in the hope of an uprising. Brock said, "the Russians will then invoke the terms of an old Russo-Iranian treaty whereby the Red Army is permitted to come to the aid of the Iranian government."

Yugoslavia Charges Neighbors Making Menacing Border Move

BELGRADE, July 7. (AP)—The Belgrade radio says Bulgaria is clearing a wide zone along Yugoslavia's east frontier by shipping Bulgarian peasants off to unknown destinations. It has made a similar charge against Romania.

The official radio said last night that the peasants have fired on Bulgarian military police while resisting attempts to evacuate them from their homes.

WEATHER

WEST TEXAS: Generally fair and continued warm Sunday and Monday except a few scattered thundershowers in Panhandle and South Plains Sunday night.

EAST TEXAS: Partly cloudy Sunday and Monday, scattered thundershowers in extreme north portion Monday afternoon; not much change in temperatures.

Shivers Tells Bar Association To Back Thinking Men At Polls

DALLAS, July 7. (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers told Texas lawyers today that in rating candidates for public office they should "select a man who will do what he thinks is right."

He spoke to the State Bar Association. The association, closing its annual convention, had just adopted resolutions for its members to advise voters — by preferential polls — which candidates the lawyers favor the State Supreme Court, Court of Criminal Appeals, and 11 Courts of Civil Appeals.

SHIVERS ENDORSES

"The idea has very fine possibilities," Shivers said. "It might be extended to other organizations and other races."

The governor added that the pressure groups are active on many fronts, and said lawyers ought to favor the candidate who can make up his own mind.

When it considered resolutions, the convention:

Endorsed the American Bar Association's belief that each state ought to have at least one general-jurisdiction court for each 50,000 persons.

Defeated a resolutions committee proposal to endorse a constitutional amendment allowing women on juries.

HIGHER INTEREST

Approved an appeal by the Junior Bar for help in getting the constitution changed to legalize higher interest rates for small loans. The Junior Bar has campaigned for the change. It opposed a law just passed by the legislature allowing companies making small loans to require the borrower also to open a savings account with the lender.

Shivers also got in a plea for court redistricting. Legislative redistricting was done this year, effective in 1952 elections.

LEGISLATURE PRAISED

The governor recited, with approval, the record of the legislature which ended last month. Really the problem is one of supply

He predicted that a new anti-goof-ball law — regulating sale of barbituates — will protect Texas youth from dope peddlers who have gained footholds in other states.

Governor and Mrs. Shivers left by plane for Colorado Springs this afternoon for a visit. They will return to Texas early next week.

House Committee Ready To Put Ban On More Farm Rollbacks

WASHINGTON, July 7. (AP) The House Agriculture Committee decided today to try to write into controls legislation a positive ban against rolling back any farm prices.

The decision came at a long session behind closed doors, part of the time with representatives of farm organizations sitting in.

It underlined the fact that the fate of continued economic controls will approach a crucial stage next week. The House is to begin voting Monday on a one-year extension of the administration's control powers. Many members talked about junking the curbs entirely if the fighting ends in Korea.

President Truman and his lieutenants are opposing this point of view. They contend that Korea is simply a skirmish in the overall fight against Communism and the nation must continue to grow militarily strong, curbing inflation in the process.

Chairman Cooley (D-NC) of the Agriculture Committee said he, acting for the committee, would introduce an amendment to prohibit the Office of Price Stabilization from ordering any rollbacks on agricultural products. He told a reporter this would apply also against the 10 per cent beef cattle rollback already in effect.

He said the committee has not abandoned its opposition to all rollbacks — non-agricultural as well as agricultural — but we concluded we should confine our amendments to agricultural commodities."

Cooley said the committee agreed, too, to sponsor an amendment to strike out any authority that might be given the President to grant subsidies on agricultural commodities. He added this would also apply to processing.

Among the farm organization spokesmen who attended the closed door session for an hour were Judge Joe Montague, attorney for the Texas and Southwestern Cattlemen's Association; Charles W. Holman, secretary of the National Milk Producers; Roger Fleming, American Farm Bureau Federation; J. T. Sanders, The National Grange; Rhea Blake, National Cotton Council; and Marion R. Garstang, attorney for the National Milk Producers Association.

OPS REPRESENTED

Cooley told reporters that the committee also conferred with Harold Leventhal, from the Office of Price Stabilization.

Mr. Truman is sending his top mobilizer, Charles E. Wilson, into the control scrap. Wilson has scheduled a "major policy" address to the nation Monday night.

Wilson, it was learned, will stress that the nation cannot afford to let its mobilization effort lapse if a cease-fire is ordered in Korea or even if outright peace is negotiated for the embattled Asian peninsula.

He also is expected to argue that without continued strong wage-price controls, inflation will weaken the civilian economy and run up mobilization costs to taxpayers.

Late, Small Cotton Crop Seen In Area

In 1950 Scurry County produced 39,245 bales of cotton—but less than half that amount is predicted this year, according to O. M. Fowler, county agent.

"We will be fortunate if we gin 20,000 bales this year from the estimated 75,000 acres planted in cotton," he said.

"It is almost certain that the first bale will not be ginned in August as was done last year," he added.

"The 1951 cotton crop will be late, due to the prolonged drouth, belated rains, hail and replanting in many areas," he said. "The 1951 cotton crop will be the latest during the four years I have been in the county agents office here.

With government allotments lifted, approximately 200,000 acres of cotton were scheduled to be planted in the county this year, had weather conditions been favorable.

Beneficial rains fell in the Hermleigh and Roscoe areas and in some of the western portions of the county, but the northern area, according to reports received by the county agent was hit hardest by the drouth.

There have been no reports of boll weevil or leafworm from county farmers, but some cotton farmers have been spraying to kill the webb worm.

SOIL ABUSED

In connection with the anticipated poor cotton crop, Marion Everhart, who is in charge of the soil conservation office here, voiced his opinion that Scurry County farmers should turn to diversified farming to assure an income.

"From my observation over the county, I would say the soil has been worked to death by planting cotton year after year. But it is not too late to rectify this wrong by diversification, which would include cover crops to enrich the soil," said Everhart.

He pointed out that land not planted in cotton this year should later be planted in hairy vetch and rye. Cover crops are badly needed in this county to save the soil, he said.

Everhart also recommended an annual grazing crop and more alfalfa.

Larger Citrus Crop Than Had Been Expected Due From Valley

WESLACO, July 7. (AP)—Give the lower Rio Grande Valley enough water and it will produce a million boxes of citrus fruit this season, predicts an expert.

And, reports Jack Drake, executive manager of the Texas Citrus Commission, Valley farmers are planting all the seedlings they can lay their hands on.

These two developments are in sharp contrast, Drake points out, to the situation shortly after the first of the year.

At that time, because of the severe January freeze which wiped out many thousands of trees, the crop outlook was for only 500,000 to 750,000 boxes. Production had never fallen below 1.5 million boxes since the 1928-29 season.

And there was talk that the acres formerly devoted to citrus would be converted, where trees were killed, to cotton and other crop production.

Drake said this week that he bases his million-box estimate on the fact that the harvest will yield larger fruit, taking fewer numbers to fill a box.

"It is inside fruit and you don't find too much on a tree," he said.

"The same thing happened in 1949. In place of 126 and smaller sizes in grapefruit, you'll have 54, 64 and larger. In place of 325 oranges, you'll have 196 and larger."

"There are groves that have as high as five or six boxes to the tree."

Irrigation, he explained, will be major factor in the yield.

"If groves can continue to get water until the first of October, we will have it. The fruit will be here. Those older groves which have been getting good care are coming along awfully fast in most instances."

Drake also predicted that the citrus industry will be rebuilt to its pre-freeze strength over a long period.

"Interest in citrus in the Valley today is much greater than it was 90 days ago," he said. "It is five or six times greater than it was around Feb. 5, 6 and 7 when we began to realize what had happened to us from the freeze."

He said replanting of trees destroyed by the freeze is being done "as fast as trees are available. Nurserymen who do have seedlings are finding a pretty brisk demand. A large number of growers have booked trees for 1952."

He said he thinks former grove acreages which were grubbed out after the January freeze for cottop planting eventually will have trees again.

"It will be a gradual deal, since the grower has got to have something to live on (while trees are growing to production size)."

Martin Test To Complete As Discovery

Pan American Production Co., Forest Oil Corp., and the Houston Oil Co., of Texas No. 1 F. D. Breedlove, Northwest Martin County wildcat, is to make production tests and complete as a discovery from the Devonian.

This prospector had flowed an estimated 45 barrels of oil an hour naturally in a drillstem test in the Devonian between 12,070 and 12,148 feet.

It had cored to a total depth of 13,053 feet in barren Ellenburger.

That formation was topped at 12,717 feet, on an elevation of 2,895 feet.

That zone did not log any signs of fluid of any sort.

All the formations between the Devonian and the Ellenburger were void of petroleum.

Operators have plugged back to 12,100 feet. A five and one-half inch liner will be run up into the seven-inch casing which is cemented at 11,095 feet, in the lower Pennsylvanian.

The liner will be set at 12,100 feet. Operators are expected to test the Devonian pay through perforations above 12,100 feet, and they may test the lower part of the Devonian zone in open hole.

The wildcat is due to be completed as a good producer and the opener of a new field.

Location is 13 miles northwest of Tarzan and 660 feet from the south and 4,620 feet from the east lines of league 258, Briscoe County school lands survey.

Petition

After the area is purchased, the improvements can be added gradually."

H. O. Beard, a member of the park committee, suggested that if the bonds are voted, the park commission appointed by the county commissioners court would want to hold public hearings to find out what priority the people of the county wanted to assign to such items as swimming pool, golf courses, and so forth.

Both Beard and Dupree stated that exhibition barns were assured in the program, however.

MAINTENANCE

Maintenance of the park would probably equal about $2 per capita, or in the case of Scurry County, about $44,000 a year, Van Arsdale said. If supervision and recreational programs were added, which he strongly recommended, the cost could be computed roughly at $4.50 per capita.

Judge Taylor stated that he believed the county could maintain the park without additional taxation, but that state laws permitted adding 10 cents per $100 valuation as a special park maintenance tax.

"The facilities are needed, and we have the valuations," Judge Taylor said. "Let's build the park now, while we can pay off our bonds before our oil valuations decline."

Scurry County's tax valuations for 1951 are $114,302,520, an increase of 130 per cent over the previous year. Oil property valuations total nearly $101 million.

Two Injured In Car Crash On Post Highway

Two persons were injured, neither critically, yesterday afternoon in an automobile collision six and one-half miles north of here on the Post highway.

Mrs. Laura Folson, 59, of Gladewater, suffered a serious knee injury and forehead lacerations, and Dorothy Van Wormer, 14, also of Gladewater, suffered minor bruises and lacerations. Both were passengers in a 1950 Buick sedan driven by the girl's father, Leroy Van Wormer, 41.

The other car involved, a 1948 Ford sedan, was driven by James L. Smith, 31, of Dermott. The vehicles collided almost headon, according to E. W. Green, highway patrolman, who said he gave Van Wormer a traffic ticket charging him with speeding.

The Van Wormer car was traveling toward Snyder as the occupants were en route to Arizona to visit relatives.

The injured were taken to the Snyder Hospital in a Dennis Funeral Home ambulance.

Bollworms In Extended Area

AUSTIN, July 7. (AP)—The State Department of Agriculture today extended the area designated as heavily infested with pink bollworms to include 37 counties from New Mexico to the Gulf.

Previously, the area so designated included only Lower Rio Grande Valley counties.

Agriculture Commissioner John White also announced a regulation change to ease movement of cottonseed originating in the heavily infested area.

Previously, two heat treatments were required before seed could be moved across a county line, and the producer had to pay for both.

Now seed may move freely among counties in the heavily infested area after the first heat treatment, White said. Or, seed may move from the heavily infested area to other parts of Texas after the first heat treatment if it is going to mills where approved equipment is available for the second heat treatment.

The 37 counties now designed as heavily infested are:

Aransas, Bee, Brewster, Brooks, Calhoun, Cameron, Culberson Dimmit, Duval, Edwards, Frio, Goliad, Hidalgo, Jeff Davis, Jim Hogg, Jim Wells, Kenedy, Kinney, Kleberg, La Salle, Live Oak, Maverick, McMullen, Neuces, Pecos, Presidio, Reeves, Refugio, San Patricio, Starr, Terrell, Uvalde, Val Verde, Ward, Webb, Willacy, Zapata, Zavalla.

County Judge's First Effort at Officiating In Marriage Flops

MIAMI, Okla., July 7. (AP)—County Judge Vernon L. Martin's first try at tying a marriage knot fell pretty flat — and courthouse colleagues won't let him forget it.

Seems a man somewhere in his 60's and his much younger sweetheart came to the courthouse to be married. District Judge William M. Thomas usually accommodates such folk, but in his absence Judge Martin nervously agreed to fill in.

But when he came to the question, "Do you take this man..." the prospective bride hysterically turned to her man and sobbed: "Oh honey, I love you but I just can't marry you."

And that was that. It was all off. And Judge Martin takes the ribbing.

The average U. S. potato yield from 1919 to 1938 was 110 bushels per acre. By 1950, the average yield had risen to 238 bushels an acre.

FOOLING AROUND

SAN GABRIEL, Calif., July 7. (AP)—"I never fool with this thing when it's loaded," Frank Gibiser, 42, told his bride of two months, as he twirled his pistol on his trigger finger.

Just then, the gun discharged. A bullet through the head killed him instantly, sheriff's deputies reported Friday night.

Red Sox Hand Yankees 7th Straight Loss

BOSTON, July 7. (AP)—The Boston Red Sox, sparked by a first inning grand slam home run by Clyde Vollmer, today lambasted the New York Yankees, 10-4, to hand the world's champions their seventh straight defeat of the season in Boston.

The Red Sox victory gave the Chicago White Sox possession of first place in the American League, pending the outcome of tonight's White Sox-St. Louis Browns game.

Right Hander Ellis Kinder made his first Boston start of 1951 and kept 11 hits, including three homers, fairly well scattered while totaling 10 strikeouts.

The white-hot Red Sox batters insured Kinder's success in the first inning when they blasted Allie Reynolds for six runs, four on Vollmer's grand-slam homer.

Ted Williams clouted Shea for his 16th homer in the sixth with Johnny Pesky aboard to boost his top place RBI total to 76. Dom DiMaggio hit for his eighth homer in the fourth.

The well-spaced four-base blows of Jackie Jensen, Joe Collins and Mickey Mantle accounted for all of the New York runs as Kinder, who had made 27 previous appearances in relief, extended his unbeaten pitching record to 4-0.

Indians Under Tigers By 13-3

DETROIT, July 7. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers staged their biggest hitting spree of the year here today as they slammed out 20 hits and mauled the Cleveland Indians for a 13 to 3 decision. Lefthander Bob Cain's effective pitching enabled the Tigers to snap a streak of 11 straight losses to the Indians.

Sale of Air Conditioners Jump To Double Last Year's Level

Twice as many cooling units are being installed in Snyder homes and business houses than there were a year ago, a survey of firms selling such equipment revealed yesterday.

While the trend is toward the refrigeration type, the evaporating units are still in the lead in the number of sales, the merchants agreed.

We are selling 15 to 20 evaporative coolers to 1 of the other type but the trend is toward the refrigerated type of cooling systems," said M. H. Roe, of the Roe's Home & Auto Supply.

He pointed out that there is a brisk demand for air conditioning apparatus, but because of the cheaper price, most people still are buying the water - cooled unit. He said he expects the refrigerated type to take the lead soon.

"There is a definite trend for the refrigerated unit over the evaporated type," was the comment at King & Brown. The only thing that is keeping the sales down at this time is the price, but this type is being installed in the better homes and business places over the city, they said.

"Our sales for air - cooling units this year are double what they were a year ago and most people are buying the better types of both the evaporative and refrigeration units," said Frank Fisher of the Fagan Electric Co. More evaporated cooling units are being sold in home than ever before, but of the more expensive designs, he said.

"We have installed more evaporated units than the more costly ones, but it won't be long until the refrigerated systems will be in the lead," said an official of the Snyder Heating Co. It was pointed out that weather conditions affected the evaporated cooling unit, but does not change the refrigerated air systems.

Because of the construction of many new homes in Snyder, the management of the Cook Electric Co. said they have been busy all year installing all styles of air conditioning units. There is still a good demand for units in the older homes also, they said.

EXACTING JUDGE

VAN NUYS, Calif., July 7. (AP)—Frank Gratzer tried to pay a $20 traffic fine with a personal check. It was refused, so Gratzer went out and came back with 200 dimes.

The court refused that, too. Gratzer finally paid off in bills.

Model Plane Enthusiasts Organize Club

A model airplane club was organized here Thursday night with 24 members, John Portis, secretary, said yesterday.

The club was organized in the home of Johnny Tatum, junior instructor in model airplane flying and building.

Permission has been granted to use the old rodeo grounds on Avenue M in Northeast Snyder for flying, Portis said, and the club will fly almost each evening from about 5 o'clock until dark and on Sunday afternoons. "We are planning to install electric lights soon for night events," he said.

Other officers elected at the organization meeting were: Talmadge Bynum, president; Jim Sullinger, Jr., vice president; Bob Bow, treasurer; and Bob Decker, senior instructor.

Portis said Decker had competed in several contests over the Southwest. About half the members are adults, Portis said, and the rest are youths.

The club decided to meet at 8:30 each Tuesday night at Tatum's home for discussion of model airplane building and flying.

"All persons interested in the sport are invited to attend these meetings," Portis said, "whether they intend to apply for club membership or not." Membership dues are $1.50 a year.

The primary purpose of the club is sport, he said, but the sport is also educational from aeronautical and mechanical standpoints.

Daylight Class And No Pupils

DALLAS, (AP) — Here's a school that has no vacation for its pupils. It has no pupils.

This penthouse school perched atop a building at Southern Methodist University is used by Prof. R. L. Biesele, Jr., in research sponsored by Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co. to provide information to architects and educators on best methods of day-lighting classrooms to assure good vision for pupils.

The daylighting program is being conducted in a 32-foot square completely equipped classroom which is oriented so its windows face the cardinal points of the compass. The ceiling is adjustable in height and movable partitions can make any one side of the room the one open to the daylight.

The room is complete even to chalkboards, desks and pin-up display areas. Instruments record changes in light and brightness for all conditions of daylight for any hour of the day and for any day of the year.

Island Put Up For Sale

DALLAS, July 7. (AP)—In the market for your own private, sub tropical, palm-dotted island?

The U. S. General Services office here announced today that such an island is up for sale as surplus property. It is in Galveston Channel, across from Galveston.

A former U. S. Quarantine System, the strip called Pelican Spit was created by dredge spoils from the ship channel in 1910.

Boyle Wishes Automobile Knew What To Do When Day Is Done

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, July 7. (AP)—One of the nicest things about the old Horse-and-Buggy days was that the horse always had a stall to go to.

And he knew where it was. All you had to do was unharness old Dobbin, give him a friendly spank on the flank, and off he'd lumber to his home in the barn. You didn't have to worry about where he would spend the night.

The automobile has never been able to develop that much plain, old-fashioned horse sense. For all its fine gears and gadgets, it doesn't know what to do with itself when day is done. It doesn't know where to go.

This has given rise to the most gnawing problem of the machine age: Where and how to find a parking place?

In an oracular mood some years back — when Republicans were still allowed to live in the White House — President Hoover predicted times would get so good there'd be a chicken in every pot and two cars in every garage.

That statesmanlike statement drew some bitter laughs at the time. Prosperity just around the corner? Oh, Yeah. But today there are not only two cars in every garage — there are three more cars outside every garage beeping plaintively to get in.

ONCE SO HAPPY

And many a harried motorist wishes Hoover would take another look into his crystal ball and find a corner just around which there is unlimited parking space.

For in America now there is no town too small to have a parking problem — and no city big enough to solve it.

The motorist used to be a happy fellow full of the zest of the open road. Now he is an angry misanthrope who complains he spends most of his time going to City Hall to pay for his parking tickets.

"And when I get out of City Hall," he declaims, "What do I find on my car. Another parking ticket. How can you win?

He takes his woes to a psychiatrist, and is asked why he hates his father.

WHAT TO DO

"Because he taught me to drive an automobile," he says.

"Hmm, do you have any recurrent dreams?"

"Yes, Doc. Every night I dream I'm driving down a one-way road lined on both sides with fire plugs shoulder to shoulder. Absolutely no place to park. Then, just as I run out of gas — I wake up in a cold sweat."

"Isn't thre anything I can do to get well?" pleads the victim.

"Well, you might become a hermit," replies the Doc. "That has given temporary relief in some cases."

But there must be some way of solving the parking problem other than turning American motorists into a nation of hermits.

As One Bull To Another

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) — James Cagney tells this one on himself.

Last winter he was in Chicago inspecting a herd of Scotch cattle he wanted to buy for his ranch.

Face to face with a big bull, Cagney observed its pugnacious stance, the long red hair, the fiery eyes and its generally threatening demeanor.

Bull and actor stared at each other for a few minutes. A friend standing by asked, "You going to buy cattle like this?" Cagney said he was.

"You're going to raise them for beef?"

Cagney nodded yes.

"That means you'll be eating them, I suppose?"

"Of course," Cagney snapped.

"Don't do it, Jimmy," the friend said. "It would be just like eating a relative."

Expensive Fishing

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) — When William Powell went fishing in an artificial lake for a movie scene, the bill for the fish was $216.

To increase his chance of hooking a big one, the studio dumped a dozen 18-inch trout into the lake. The fish, bought from a breeder, cost $18 apiece.

P. S. Powell finally got one.

Fox Becomes Regular Guest

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif., (AP) —A sleek gray fox from the nearby Verdugo Hills has made quite a social climb — from thief to regular dinner guest at the home of John P. Hatteberg.

Mr. Fox and Mr. Hatteberg first met over a plate of table scraps. It has been Hatteberg's nightly habit to set some scraps outdoors for his cat. When he noticed that the food was disappearing before the cat got to it, he set a watch.

He surprised the fox and scared it away. But next night the animal was back again. Hatteberg, who likes foxes, figured the polite thing to do was make the thief welcome.

Now he sets a special plate out nightly. And promptly at 9:30 — apparently the fashionable hour for foxes to dine — the beast trots up and polishes off his evening meal.

Britons Ask That Red Coats Be Brought Back

LONDON, July 7. (AP)—The Daily Mail said today Britons' spirits would get a lift, if red coats were restored to all regiments of the British Army.

In a front page editorial the newspaper said British battle dress — "whatever its virtues in the field — is about the most uninspiring costume ever devised for a soldier."

Only King George Brigade of Guards now wears the traditional red coats.

FARM PRICES DROP

AUSTIN, July 7. (AP)—Prices received by Texas farmers dropped three per cent in mid-June from mid-May, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported today.

Lower prices were recorded by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics for most farm products. Slight increases were recorded for wheat, hogs, sheep and chickens.

Geological Walking

MADISON, Wis., (AP) — Twenty-six college students under the direction of Prof. L. R. Lauden of the University of Wisconsin are tramping over the Rocky Mountains in Montana this summer. Object: geology research. To reach their base at the foot of Pentagon mountain, they will have to walk 35 miles from the nearest road.

Overlapping In Work Of PMA, Conservation Service Ended

The Soil Conservation Service is now responsible for technical phases of permanent type practices of the Agricultural Conservation Program, according to Guy Glenn, chairman of the county Production & Marketing Administration committee.

Glenn said the arrangements for this responsibility were made as a further step in consolidating the soil and water conservation efforts of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and ending overlapping duties.

WORKED SEPARATELY

Heretofore, the PMA and the SCS have worked separately; each assisting the farmer in measures both productive and conservative. The practices for which the SCS will handle the teachnical phases include such things as terracing, constructing dams, laying out contour strips, reorganizing the farm irrigation systems, and similar work.

Technical services will be provided either by SCS personnel or qualified persons under direction of the SCS unit, Glenn said.

"Farmers cooperating with the conservation program and requiring technical assistance should make arrangements with the PMA committee early to avoid delay and to give the committee time to make the best use of the technical services.

The new responsibility of the SCS includes checking on the need for practices, locations, layouts, and supervision needed in construction and also determining whether such practices have been carried out in accordance with requirements to qualify for assistance under the ACP.

Marion Everhart, of the SCS unit here, will be in charge of this phase of ACP's soil and water conservation work, Glenn said.

The change in responsibility went into effect last week.

Producers wishing to take advantage of the services and assistance offered under the program in building earthen dams, large ridge terraces or diversion terraces must apply at PMA office. The application will then be given to the SCS representative who will check the need and location of each practice for which service is requested. If the practice is approved by the SCS technician, the application will be returned to the PMA office, and prior approval will be issued.

The producer should remember, however, that he should apply at the PMA office first and get a prior approval before starting work on the practice, the chairman said. Any practice put in before such approval is issued cannot be approved for payment. Neither will payment be made for practices carried out without prior approval.

Dewey To Write For Colliers Magazine On Return From Far East

NEW YORK, July 7. (AP)—Collier's magazine says it has engaged Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to write a series of articles on his trip to the far east.

The magazine's editor, Louis Ruppel, announced that the New York governor would do six articles on his impressions concerning the present situation and the outlook in Asia.

Ruppel declined to say when the articles would appear or how much the governor would be paid. He did say, however, that "we (Collier's) helped finance the trip."

Dewey, who now is in Tokyo, will visit nine countries during his six-week, 29,000-mile tour.

Worst Thing About Tarantula Is Not Bite, But His Looks

Several persons in various parts of Snyder and the county have recently reported seeing tarantulas —the large, hairy, frightening spiders which usually make their appearance this time of year.

The sight of the huge, ugly tarantula is enough to scare any person who suddenly sees one creeping across the front lawn or resting in the shade of his back porch, but—contrary to popular opinion—the spider is not dangerous.

DON'T GET FRIENDLY

The preceding statement, however, is not meant to recommend persons to ignore the animal. Actually, its bite is known to be very painful and to produce disagreeable symptoms.

The tarantula was once commonly believed to be deadly. Its bite was thought to cause a nervous reaction, resulting quickly in mad dancing, then ending suddenly in death. Where this idea originated is not definitely known, but some believe victims may have been known to dance from fright after being bitten by such a large spider and one which they had always been told was deadly.

Belief in the dancing sympton was so common in Italy centuries ago that a popular dance there was named tarantella. "Encyclopedia Americana" defines the dance as "a swift, whirling Italian dance; so-called because it was popularly thought to be a remedy against the supposed poisonous bite of the tarantula spider, which was said to set people dancing."

Names were even given to such a dancing disease—tarantism and tarantismus.

The trantula, a true native of Italy, was named for the Italian seaport of Taranto, founded by the Greeks in 707, B.C., at the northern angle of the Gulf of Taranto.

The tarantula is a large spider, with a body about one inch in length; its bite doubtless does, in some cases, produce disagreeable symptoms. It is a native of Italy, but varieties, or closely allied species, are found throughout Southern Europe. The tarantulas of Texas and adjacent countries are large species of Mygale.

The Mygale—also called the bird spider,—is a native of South America. It is said to live in clefts of trees and rocks and to spin webs strong enough to entangle small birds.

The tarantula is, in Europe, a famous species of wolf spiders, whose bite is not dangerous. The name is generally applied in the United States to the so-called American tarantulas of the family Theraphosidae. These are large, hairy spiders occurring in the southwestern United States, Central America, and South America. They feed upon insects and all sorts of small animals. Aname henzil, a large species of this group, has a bite which is painful but not dangerous, and never fatal, so far as records go.

Although the bite of a tarantula is now not considered dangerous, it would be advisable to exterminate the spider whenever possible and to consult a physician if bitten. The family physician would know the proper thing to do in any individual case for the relief of pain or treatment of shock.

Japanese Holdouts Find Wives Remarried Upon Their Return

TOKYO, July 7. (AP)—There were five forlorn men among the 18 Japanese soldiers and seamen who returned home from the tiny Pacific island they "held" for six years after the end of World War II.

Their wives believing them dead, had remarried.

The group had stayed on Anatahan Island in the Mariannas with two machine guns, refusing through the years to believe the war was over. Finally convinced of the Japanese surrender, however, they gave themselves up. They arrived home Friday in a U. S. Navy plane.

One of the holdouts was Shinichi Kotaka, 40. His brother, Daishi Kotaka, 29, was the first to meet him. Daishi began weeping and spoke not a word, for he had married his elder brother's wife and a daughter had been born of the union.

Shinichi looked around and said: "Where's my wife?"

Daishi and the father of the two men, Nobutoshi Kotaka, froze.

Finally the father told the son what had happened.

"Did they have a child?"

"Yes, a daughter," said Nobutoshi Kotaka.

"How are my four children?"

All four of them are healthy and living happily."

BROTHER BOWS OUT

Shinichi pondered a moment and said: "I want to be married to her again, if all my children are alive."

The old man hugged his son and Shinichi burst into tears.

Brother Daishi, who had maintained the family farm through the war years and the years after, stammered: "Take it easy, brother. I will go out and seek a job and live away. You have suffered so much."

Even before Shinichi arrived, Daishi and Mrs. Kotaka had decided that she should return to him.

Saburo Soki's older sister told him his wife chose a second husband after Saburo was declared officially dead and a funeral held.

Seiji Kimura, 36, a seaman, was greeted by a sister of his wife. She told him that Mrs. Kimura had been officially advised of his death, and married another man, and had a two-year-old daughter.

ONE WEEPS

"That's all right," said Kimura, "I have anticipated this."

But suddenly his stoicism broke. He sank to the ground, weeping.

Another returnee, Umekichi Kubo, learned that his wife married a carpenter in Yokohama last spring, more than three years after being notified of his "death."

Mrs. Kubo said her first husband's parents persuaded her to marry the carpenter. She said she would follow her mother's advice and stay with her new husband. After six years in exile, she pointed out, Kubo might not be able to support her.

"I think I shouldn't return to him," said she. "I won't see him when he comes back, either."

White Urging Full Parity On Cotton Prices

AUSTIN, July 7. (AP)—Full parity support for cotton was urged on the federal government today by Agriculture Commissioner John White.

White today sent a telegram to Charles F. Brannan, Secretary of Agriculture saying:

"Last year all cotton farmers were penalized from 10 to 30 cents per pound in the price they received for cotton. The domestic price was about 40 cents per pound, while on the world market the value was about 70 cents per pound.

"Farmers did not complain about this loss because they knew you exercised your authority to limit exports in order to insure a carryover that was needed for defense purposes.

"You asked for a crop of 16 million bales in the national interest this year, and the crop will be that much or more. At the same time, the market is now depressed because of peace prospects. The price for producers' cotton is now 33 or 34 cents and may go lower.

"Our marketing system is upset because of price controls, with a resulting detriment to cotton producers.

"I respectfully submit, therefore, that it would be only fair to the farmer for you to put the cotton support price at full parity."

The parity price for cotton was $33.95 per hundred pounds today while the government support price was $29.60, or about 90 per cent of parity, White said.

Wounded Marine To Be In San Antonio 15 Days

SAN ANTONIO, July 7. —Werner Reinger will be at home 15 days before going back to a Naval hospital in California.

The 22-year-old Marine reservist, who lost both legs and parts of all his fingers in bitter winter fighting in Korea, arrived by plane Friday.

His mother, father and brother were at the field to meet him.

"We all feel lucky he's alive," said his brother Norman.

The young sergeant said he had no plans for the future except to go back to the hospital. He said he doesn't expect a discharge "until I get it."

He'll be guest of honor at the all-star baseball game Tuesday sponsored by the Wrambling Wrecks, a local organization of disabled war velerans.

Texas Projects Under Contract

FORT WORTH, July 7. —All Texas military construction projects authorized for the 1951 fiscal year are now under contract, Colonel Delbert B. Freeman, Fort Worth District Engineer, Corps of Engineers, announced today.

Congress has not authorized a program for the 1952 fiscal year, which began July 1, but planning work already has been started by the Corps of Engineers.

Actual contruction will begin, Colonel Freeman said, when an appropriations bill has been approved.

Present awarded contracts include construction of barracks and administrative buildings, utility structures, runway extensions and rehabilitation of existing facilities at Carswell Air Force Base, Fort Worth; Big Spring Air Force Base, Big Spring; Reese Air Force Base, Lubbock; Connally Air Force Base, Waco; Fort Worth Quartermaster Depot, Fort Worth; Wolters Air Force Base, Mineral Wells; and Longhorn Ordnance Works, near Marshall.

West Set To Terminate German State Of War

LONDON, July 7. (AP)—The Foreign Office said tonight the United States, Britain and France expect to announce soon the termination of their official state of war with Germany.

A spokesman said the question of the ending of the state of war had been under consideration for some time by the three powers and "an announcement may be expected in the near future."

Movie Set Changed

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) — New Yorkers may not like it, but producers Jerry Wald and Norman Krasna have shifted the locale of "Clash by Night," a Broadway hit they're making into a movie, from Staten Island to San Pedro, Calif.

Their explanation:

"San Pedro has the bustling, exciting activity of a world seaport. Staten Island has become just another quiet residential district."

Palace Theater In New York Vaudeville Clearing House

NEW YORK, July 7. (AP)—The threatrical business in general long has been known as "The Fabulous Invalid," but vaudeville is described as "The Infinite Patient" because even near death, it never pretended to perish.

When talking pictures came along in the 1920's the highly successful vaudeville circuits took a terrific blow, but vaudeville performers won a wider popularity because they were in demand for films. Similarly, television has given a new impetus to the popularity of vaudeville stars.

For a time vaudeville had rough going, but on May 19, 1949, the variety show was returned to the historic Palace Theater on Broadway, a stage which had once presented practically every outstanding star in the world of entertainment. That covers everything from seal acts and acrobats to Ethel Barrymore and W. C. Fields.

SPAWNING GROUND

Since it reopened to vaudeville in 1949, the Palace has played to four million people and it has been the spawning ground for many vaudeville acts now playing throughout the country.

As in the past, when the Palace was a clearing house for performers who wanted a "showcase" for their acts, the performers are struggling for engagements there now so they may be viewed for possible radio or television appearances.

KATE HOLDS RECORD

Rarely was any star such a success as to play for more than two weeks, for one week was a normal engagement. The record for "holdovers" in Palace vaudeville is held by Kate Smith who played for 10 consecutive weeks in 1931.

You may get an idea of Miss Smith's drawing power by the fact that the company threatened to withdraw Miss Smith's contract and send her home any time she didn't attract capacity business. She sang to capacity audiences for nine weeks beyond her original one-week contract.

The second "record breaker" for Palace vaudeville is Eddie Cantor who stayed there for nine consecutive weeks. George Jessel and Burns and Allen were on the same program.

BUILT IN 1913

The Palace was built in the spring of 1913 by the late theatrical producer, Martin Beck, who was then president of the Orpheum Circuit. It was taken over a few months later by the B. F. Keith 1,500 vaudeville theaters and booked about 20,000 performers throughout the country.

In 1949, Sol A. Schwartz, president of RKO, brought vaudeville back to the Palace and to a chain of theaters across country, strictly as an adventure in a granch of show business which was thought to be almost extinct. It has paid off handsomely in talent and at the box office.

Truman Tells Russians U. S. Wants Peace

WASHINGTON, July 7. (AP)—President Truman told the Russian government today "there will be no war" if the Russian people can learn "the peace aims of the American people and government."

"The peoples of both our countries know from personal experiences the sorrow and misery of war," he said in a message to Nikolai Mikhailovich Shvernik, president of the presidium of the Supreme Soviet.

They abhor the thought of future conflict which they know would be waged by means of the most hideous weapons in the history of mankind."

Mr. Truman sent the message to Moscow with a resolution Congress adopted last month, expressing the friendship and goodwill of the American people for all peoples, including the Russian. Congress asked him to ask the Russian government to make the resolution known to its people, and Mr. Truman did so.

His request was made politely and in humanitarian terms. However, his reference to "the most hideous weapons" could be read in Moscow to mean that if the United States is forced into another war it will be prepared to use atomic weapons.

"The profound desire of the American government (is) to do everything in its power to bring about a just and lasting peace," Mr. Truman wrote.

He added:

"The best hope for a peaceful world lies in the yearning for peace and brotherhood which lies deep in the heart of every human being. But peoples who are denied the normal means of communication will not be able to attain that mutual understanding which must form the basis for trust and friendship.

"We shall never be able to remove suspicion and fear as potential causes of war until communication is permitted to flow, free and open, across international boundaries."

Pirates Over Cards By 5-1

PITTSBURGH, July 7. (AP)—Vernon Law set the St. Louis Cardinals down with five scattered hits today as he pitched and help bat the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 5-1 win. The setback ended a three-game Card win streak. Gus Bell's triple in the sixth accounted for two Pirate tallies. Law's first hit of the year in the seventh brought in two more. Catcher Clyde McCullough topped it all off with a homer in the eighth.

Arab World Held Spellbound Once A Month By Own Singer

By ZEIN NEGATI

CAIRO, July 7. (AP)—There's an evening, every month, when all the radios of the Arab world are tuned in on Om Kalsoum's program, broadcast from Cairo.

The "Nightingale of the Middle East" is on the air on the first Thursday of every month. On those evenings her rich melodious, passionate voice flows from tens of thousands of sets in homes and public places, in shops and taxis, in the cities and the villages.

Om Kalsoum has no peers in this part of the world. Her name is known from the Lebanon down to the tip of Arabia. Her admirers range from kings, princes and pashas down to the workers and ellaheen (peasants.)

In 1946, the kings and rulers of the Arab states came to Egypt as guests of King Farouk, to chart a common policy. After the talks, the Arab Vips relaxed at Farouk's beautiful estate in Inshass in Northern Egypt.

There, in an Arabian Nights scenery, the main attraction was Om Kalsoum. She enraptured the distinguished audience with her love songs, her patriotic and religious hymns, and the nostalgic complains of the Egyptian and Arabic folklore.

There can be no successful social event in Cairo, Alexandria or elsewhere in Egypt without Om Kalsoum. Often she is invited to perform in neighboring countries. Even her very high fees do not cool off the enthusiasm of those who want "The Nightingale" at their parties.

The dark, tall and strongly built singer is at ease with crowned heads and the poorest.

PEASANT ORIGIN

Om Kalsoum likes to recall her origin. She is a fellaha (peasant) and she displays the main characteristic of the Egyptian land worker: a keen sense of humor, and an unmatched gift for jokes and puns. Her sayings are as famous as her songs.

Om Kalsoum was born at Simbellawen, North Egypt, in 1899. She was a teen-ager when she started singing the Koran (Moslem Bible.)

In 1919 when Egyptians made their first bid at independence from the British protectorate, a 20-year-old girl spurred Egypt's "fight for freedom" with patriotic songs. This was Om Kalsoum who thrilled the crowds with her inspired singing.

Her fame rocketed to heights unattained ever before by any Middle-Eastern artist.

ARAB WORLD'S GREATEST

By the middle 30's she was crowned the greatest singer of the Arab world. Besides her personal appearances, she sang at the radio and appeared in several Egyptian films.

Her fees soared with her fame. The Koran chanter, back at Simbellawen, earned an average of 3 pound (8.61) a month. Today, Om Kalsoum receives fees as high as 1,000 Egyptian pounds ($2,870) for a single performance. Her radio programs net her around $34,440 a year.

Om Kalsoum's name has been romantically linked with several Egyptian high society members, but the 52-year-old singer has never married.

She lives in a comfortable villa on the banks of the Nile, in Zamalek, a residential district of Cairo.

Om Kalsoum is a member of the order of Kamal. The distinction was awarded to her by King Farouk, after the monarch's first marriage in 1938.

Giants Blast Their Way To 7-6 Win Over Boston Braves

NEW YORK, July 7. (AP)—The New York Giants scored a thrilling 7-6 victory over the Boston Braves in 11 innings today before 11,307 fans, winning out when Ed Stanky tripled and romped home on Alvin Dark's fly ball.

Third string catcher Sal Yvars opened the 11th with a home run over left field stands, his first of the season and the fourth of the game for the Giants. One out later Stanky tripled off the left field wall and Dark followed with a fly to left to score Stanky with the winning run.

The Giants waged an uphill battle, coming from behind four times. Max Surkont enjoyed a 4-2 lead going into the eighth when Bob Thomson tied the score with a two-out, two-run homer.

Boston took a 5-4 lead with a run in the 10th with the help of errors by Yvars and Stanky. Rookie Willie Mays rocketed his 10th home run with one out in the Giants' half off George Estock to square the count, 5-5.

The Braves bounced back with a run in the 11th on two singles, a fielder's choice and fly ball, but the Giants came right back to pull it out of the fire.

Larry Jansen, making his third relief appearance of the season, gained credit for the victory, his 11th. Jansen took over in the eighth.

Sheldon Jones started for the Giants and was clipped for four runs in five innings.

Two Crowns For Doris Hart

WIMBLEDON, England, July 6. (AP)—Doris Hart of Miami, Fla., the girl with the greatest collection of strokes in women's tennis, won the singles title and shared in two doubles crowns as the All-England Championships came to a close today.

She needed a scant 30 minutes to crush her close friend, Shirley Fry of Akron, 6-1, 6-1, in the singles final. After an hour and a half's rest she took Shirley on her side and outlasted the defending champions, Louise Brough and Mrs. Margaret Osborne DuPont, 6-3, 13-11, in a tremendous doubles struggle.

At day's end she paired with Frank Sedgman of Australia to win the mixed doubles over Mervyn Rose and Mrs. Nancye Wynn Bolton of Australia, 7-5, 6-2.

By winning the three titles, Miss Hart duplicated the feat of Miss Brough in 1948 and last year.

Sedman and Ken McGregor successfully defended their men's doubles title with a 3-6, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3 victory over Jaroslav Drobny of Egypt and Eric Sturgess of South Africa.

Dick Savitt of Orange, N. J., won the men's singles championship Friday with a 6-4, 6-4, 6-4 victory over McGregor, the tall Aussie Davis Cupper. Thus, Americans either won or shared in four of the five titles decided in the fortnight of play.

Governor Shivers In Feed Business Today

AUSTIN, July 7. (AP)—Charters issued by the Secretary of State today included one putting Gov. Allan Shivers in the feed business at Woodville.

He was listed as one of the incorporators of the Farmers Feed and Supply Co., with $25,000 capital stock. Other incorporators were Mrs. Shivers and Maurice Acers.

Shivers has a country home and farm at Woodville.

Other domestic charters included:

AMCO, Abilene. Manufacturing. Capital stock $25,000. Incorporators: Joe Winter, William A. Newton, C. E. Dugger.

Bel-Air Homes, Inc., Abilene. Real Estate. Capital stock $3,000. Incorporators: Bob Salyer, Mrs. Mary Slema Salyer, Burl Nash.

Hearing on Blackburn Switch to Canadian League Set July 10

HOUSTON, July 7. (AP)—District Judge Dan W. Jackson reset for July 10 the hearing which may determine whether pro football player Bill Blackburn can switch from the National Professional League to the Canadian League.

The Chicago Cardinals of the National League have asked a temporary injunction to keep him from doing this.

The resetting was necessary because the sheriff's department had not served Blackburn a copy of the temporary restraining order signed by District Judge W. P. Hamblen, Jr. He is on a fishing trip.

The Chicago club claims it has an option on Blackburn's services until May 1, 1952. It asks he be restrained from playing for any other club and asserts it has information the big lineman was planning to leave July 10 for pre season training with the Calgary team of the Canadian loop.

Early Start Seems Doomed As Texas League Meet Date Set

HOUSTON, July 7. (AP)—Opening dates for the 1952 season will be set here Thursday as the Texas League holds its annual summer meeting in conjunction with the all-star game, and the proposal to start the season two weeks late appears doomed.

Allen Russell, president of the Houston club, had advocated the late start as a means of preventing a more "set" lineup after major league cutting down time, and also to avoid frequent spring postponements, because of bad early season weather.

However, the Southern Association, which engages in the post-season Dixie Series against the Texas League champions, will set its opening date Wednesday and Southern moguls are said to favor the present starting time because of a possible late-season conflict with football which might result.

The All-star game will be played in Buff Stadium Thursday night, with Dallas' L. D. Meyer pitching the North against the South's Al Hollingsworth of Houston.

Both Meyer and Hollingsworth are expected to draw heavy on their own talent. Dallas has eight men on the 19-man north squad, while nine members of the league-leading Buffs will wear South uniforms.

As a prelude to Wednesday's Houston-Shreveport game a three-inning contest will be played between ex-Buffs and a team of old time Texas League stars.

Oldtimers scheduled to complete include Tris Speaker, John Berly, Tink Riviere, Carl Littlejohn, Tex Carleton, Glenn Myatt, Eddie Noyes, Izzy Glenn, Dode Criss Heinie Schuble, Carey Selph, Jim Lindsey, George Watkins, Homer Peel Ziggy Sears, John King, Tony Thebo, Dickie Kerr, Buck Fausett and Clarence Kraft.

Directors are also expected to discuss further exploitation of the Dixie Series and selection of a Miss Texas League as the representative in the minor league's Golden Girl contest.

President J. Alvin Gardner, Grayle Howlett and Russell, members of the Dixie Series committee, will make recommendations to the League.

Earlier reports were that a plea for a larger gate return for visiting clubs would be made, but no action can be taken at this meeting. The proposal has to be presented 30 days in advance in writing for action to be taken, and was not done in this case.

Batting Title Close In Loop

DALLAS, July 7. (AP)—The fight for the Texas League batting lead is almost a dead heat as Johnny Creel, Oklahoma City's stringbean outfielder, moves within a point of Dallas' Lou Farotto.

Farotto slumped 22 points during the past week and it almost closed the gap although creel dropped four points himself.

Farotto, the stocky pepper box, is hitting .310 in latest averages with 92 hits in 300 times at bat.

Creel at .309 has the most hits of any player in the league with 104. Only two have 100 or more hits. Marty Carlson of Beaumont is the other. He has 101.

Just five regular players are in the .300 or better class. The others are Ford Garrison of Beaumont, .304; Jim Fridley of Dallas and Nebs Wilson of Shreveport, each at .303.

Bob Balcena of San Antonio leads the run-makers with 70, Frank Kellert of Oklahoma City tops in doubles with 25, Omer Tolson of San Antonio in triples with eight and Russ Burns of Rulsa in runs batted in with 74.

The home run leader is Jerry Witte of Houston, who has boosted his total to 24 with the season a little more than half gone.

The leading base-swiper is Bill Sharman of Fort Worth with 13.

In pitching it's Bob Turley of San Antonio with a 14-3 record. Seven pitchers have won 10 or more games.

The strike-out leader is Duke Markell of Oklahoma City with 128 and Wilmer Mizell of Houston has fanned 111.

In club batting Tulsa tops the field with .260 and Oklahoma City is second with .257.

Stasey Leading In Longhorn

By The Associated Press

Pat Stasey of Big Spring continues to set the batting pace in the Longhorn League. He made it more conclusive last week as he added four points to bring his average to .397 on 98 hits in 247 times at the plate.

Stasey, however, is only three points ahead of Bill Cearley of Roswell.

Stasey and Cearley specialize in doubles. Each has 23 to be tied for the lead in this department with Ken Cluley of Artesia.

The leading run-scorer is Leo Eastham of Odessa with 83 while John Tayoan of San Angelo has the most hits — 105.

Warren Sliter of Sweetwater is the front-runner in triples with nine and Wayne Wallace of San Angelo is the home run leader with 16.

Roy Sims of Odessa is the leading pitcher with a 10-1 record but the winningest pitcher is Eddie Jacome of Midland, who has salted away 15. He has lost 10, however.

In strike-outs, Marshall Epperson of Vernon leads the way with 103. Indio Beltran of San Angelo boasts the best earned run average — 2.83.

Roswell leads in club batting with .312. Big Spring is next with .308.

American Loop Favored In All-Star Line-up

DETROIT, July 7. —By force of habit, the American League rules a 7-to-5 favorite over the Brooklyn-dominated National for the 18th All-Star baseball game Tuesday at Detroit's Briggs Stadium.

Minus Cleveland's Bobby Feller and other top pitchers like Yankee Vic Raschi and Allie Reynolds because of a league rule limiting pitcher picks to one from each club, the Americans rely on the ole home run power to do the job.

NATIONAL HAS POWER

Actually, the long ball power is on the National League side in the starting lineups, decreed by vote of 4,274,978 fans in a poll conducted by newspapers, radio stations and magazines.

Each starter, except the pitcher named by the manager, must go at least three innings. After that Boss Casey Stengel of the Americans and Eddie Sawyer of the Nationals are on their own.

The Nationals open with such fence busters as Gil Hodges of Brooklyn who leads both majors in homers, Stan Musial of St. Louis, Del Ennis of Philadelphia and Bob Elliott of Boston. The American starting crew includes Boston's Ted Williams, Detroits Vic Wertz and New York's Yogi Berra. Yogi, bothered by a sprained back, may not be able to make it.

AMERICAN HAS TRADITION

Sawyer can bring on Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh, just back from his three-day suspension, Wally Westlake of St. Louis, Duke Snider of Brooklyn, Willie Jones of the Phils and Bruce Edwards of Chicago all of whom can blast the ball into the seats. To say nothing of Red Schoendienst, the St. Louis second baseman who broke up the 1950 game at Chicago's Comiskey Park with a 14th inning homer for a 4-3 National win.

Tradition and a 12-5 record in the series dating back to 1933 stand on the side of the American.

Blackmail Tactics Used By Reds to Get Funds From Abroad

WASHINGTON, July 7. (AP)—The State Department radio said today that Red China is demanding large sums of money from Chinese abroad, with threats to torture or kill their families at home.

An estimated ten million Chinese live in the Philippines, Burma, Thailand, Malaya and elsewhere in Southeast Asia.

"Within recent weeks, Chinese (Swatow) merchants and manufacturers in Hong Kong have been receiving urgent telegrams from their families on the Chinese mainland," a broadcast by the Voice of America said. "These telegrams demand large sums to meet Communist 'land reform' obligations.

"And these overseas Chinese have been informed, that if the money is not forthcoming their aged mothers or other members of their families in China will be tortured or killed," the Voice said. It added:

"In Singapore, the leaders of the Chinese community have received threatening letters from Communist authorities in Kwantung province in South China. The letters order them to pay new and hugely exhorbitant taxes for property in China. If they fail to pay this blackmail, their property will be confiscated, and their near and distant relatives will be tortured and killed.

"They have also been informed that among the milder forms of torture that would fall to their families in the event of non-payment are the following: crawling on broken glass; hopping and barking like dogs; and the so-called 'water treatment.'

"The severe forms of torture do not bear repeating. Similar letters and telegrams have been received by the leaders of the overseas Chinse communities in Saigon, in Djakarta and in Burma and Thailand.

"And other, less wealthy overseas Chinese, who at first had doubted the news that two-million of their countrymen had been killed in the recent purges, soon afterwards heard some shocking news about themselves. For the Peiping regime had ordered overseas Chinese who have wives in China to return to the mainland. Otherwise the regime will force their wives to marry other men."

The voice said that Chinese leaders in Hong Kong and Singapore have decided to ignore the demands in the belief that compliance would lead only to further demands and threats.

"The Voice contended that this reported development showed that "Peiping has been so drained by Soviet Russia, and by the enormous costs and casualties of the Soviet inspired Korean adventure, that it now seeks to maintain itself by measures that are not worthy of a common thief.'

Manager Holmes Makes Quick Jump From Minors To Majors

NEW YORK, July 7. (AP)—Tommy Holmes, the new manager of the Boston Braves, knitted his dark eyebrows together and said in a bland, almost squeaky voice:

"I don't want to sound sentimental. But I took the job as Hartford manager at the start of this year because I wanted to stay in baseball all my life. I figured I had some major league playing left in me but I wanted to get the managerial side of it.

"I've been sort of managing for the last two or three years. I mean, figuring out what should be done in each situation. Baseball is the greatest second-guessing game in the world. Everyone thinks he's a manager.

"Well, I figured I would stay in Hartford a year or so and then maybe move up to triple-A or maybe come back to the majors as a coach. All of a sudden those kids in Hartford started to go like a house afire and the next I knew I got this job.

MAINLY MENTAL

"Those kids made me look good and I won't forget it. I have those boys in mind and I'm gonna have those boys playing for me in the majors some day.

"I told them when I went there: 'Is there a guy on this team who can't outrun me? Is there a guy who can't outthrow me? Aren't there three or four maybe who can outhit me? And I can play major league ball. Get smart,' I said to 'em.

"This game is mental. The difference between the majors and the minors is just a little finesse. Why, there's a guy in Hartford right now who can throw harder than any pitcher in the majors. Name of Gene Conley. He has a 12-2 record. But I am not going to bring him up today. That would be too fast. I want him to pitch in the triple-A next year to get that little extra finesse.

WANTS MORE ACTION

"Now about the Braves. We've been beating ourselves. We haven't been hitting. I'm working with the boys to get a little more action. I don't intend to make any big changes right away. I brought up this young kid, Johnny Logan, to strengthen our infield. He's a good glove man.

This National League race. Brooklyn looks terrific. But you can never tell. Brooklyn has a great ball club, but it can be beaten. I concede them nothing, particularly if we can straighten ourselves out for the final stretch.

"Sure I get a kick out of being a manger. When I stop getting a kick out of baseball I'm gonna quit."

Ruhr Making Bid As Leader Of Industry

DUESSELDORF, July 7. (AP) — Germany's Ruhr is bidding strongly to recapture its old position as Europe's number one industrial workshop.

This vital territory already has outdistanced France in many lines of production. Its products are flowing in a growing volume to markets in the Americas, Asia, Africa and Western Europe.

The Ruhr's recovery is an amazing story of a six-year climb from rubble to riches.

In 1945 most of its steel furnaces were cold, its mines were unmanned, its chemical plants idle, its transport system ruined. Now the Ruhr produces 135 per cent of its prewar level (1936). Overall industrial output spurted 36 per cent in the last 12 months.

RUHR BEHIND BRITAIN

The Ruhr still lags far behind the British Isles in production. And in the world picture the Soviet Union is ahead of both Britain and Germany. But many Soviet European factories have been shifted to Siberia, so that experts usually exclude Russia in ranking the continent's industrial giants.

The Germans claim the Rhur has progressed faster since 1945 than Britain. They point to the heavy damage from wartime air raids and the loss of 750,000 tons of equipment through postwar dismantling which they had to overcome.

PRODUCTION FIGURES

Illustrative of the Ruhr's recovery are comparative annual production figures for West Germany Britain and France in three of the sinews of modern power — coal, steel, electricity.

United States officials estimate these as:

Steel — West Germany, 12,121,000 tons, Britain, 16,524,000 tons, France 10,548,000 tons (including Saar).

Coal — West Germany 110,748,000 tons, Britain 219,480,000 tons, France (including the Saar) 65,832,000.

Electric power — West Germany 43,920,000,000 kilowat hours, Britain 55,020,000,000 kw, France 31,440,000,000 kw.

LONG WORK WEEK

Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA) officials say Britain is producing at 144 per cent and France at 123 per cent of their 1938 level compared with West Germany's 135 per cent of its 1936 output.

Keeping the Ruhr an area of 7,70 square kilometers in the western economic community is one of the keystones of Allied policy.

How did it travel the long road back to greatness in six short years —and become an international prize in the East-West tug 'o' war?

Allied and German officials give these answers:

The stamina of German workers, the skill of the Ruhr engineers and managers, plus material aid from the United States.

Time Working for U. S. or For Stalin? --- Riddle of the Age

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON. —The time is ripe politically, from the viewpoint of the Truman administration, to have peace in the Korean war—if Stalin will only oblige. Such an event, more than any other, could put a crimp in the political hopes of the Republicans in the controversy that has plagued the administration ever since President Truman became indignant over Gen. MacArthur's letter to Republican Leader Martin, fired the Far Eastern commander, and precipitated a first-class row.

Certainly a "cease fire" or armistice in Korea would give the country something to be cheerful about. It would, of course, slow down the draft process and give relief to the many families which have sons at the front or are likely to have if the conflict keeps up. It would also slow down somewhat the spending program for armament but this would not be materially curtailed, because the administration will insist that continued outlays are necessary for preparedness as long-range insurance.

The fact that a patched-up peace may be temporary and might even accelerate the start of World War III, by inviting further aggression somewhere else besides Korea in the next few years, will be argued by the critics. Politicians here on both sides agree, however, that a "peace" wave would be of immediate benefit to the administration politically. The hypothetical dangers of "appeasement" would be difficult to debate on the stump in the face of an actual cessation of hostilities and the cry of "peace."

But while eventual developments may prove the fallacy of a patched-up peace made now, the important fact politically is that "peace" shall extend at least beyond the 1952 campaign and election.

A patched-up truce would be defended on the ground that, if World War III is deferred, America's growing military strength would actually prevent or deter Russia from starting a third world war. The unsolved riddle of the age, however, is whether time works in favor of America or in favor of Russia. In fact, if Stalin makes a truce now, it will be hailed as proof that he thinks his atomic stockpile will be big enough in three to five years to capitalize on the growing "neutralism" of Europe by disseminating threats to throw atom bombs at London, Berlin, Paris, and Rome if America threatens to use any atom bombs on Russian cities to halt such Soviet aggression as may arise in Europe.

Most of the politicians here are not concerned with events that happen three or five years from today. They are concerned with the political situation right now and what it will be in the 16 months immediately ahead when a new President has to be elected.

At the moment, the administration's prestige is at a low point. The basic factors in the political situation today are the continuance of the Korean war, the impact of controls on the life of the individual citizen and his family, the rising cost of living and the way taxes are cutting down "take home" pay. Emotional relief from the casualty lists of war and a promise of peace could be powerful in swinging votes toward the administration.

But what does Stalin think? He's the man who holds the political fate of both our political parties in his hands. The threat of a hydrogen bomb which has now been publicized and the pressure of an economic blockage might persuade him to make a truce to gain time to see what he can do about building a hydrogen bomb himself. Besides, if peace comes, he will get build-up of his armament program. Maybe it's opportune, from a political and economic viewpoint, for Stalin to make peace. Stranger things have happened in the strange record of inconsistency and sommersault that has characterized Soviet diplomacy in the last 30 years.

Mass of Fish Clogs Plant

BEAUMONT, July 7. —Fish—millions of them and none more than three inches long — are giving engineers at the Magnolia refinery on the Neches river here a headache.

The fish for two weeks have been coming up the river, jamming the entrance of the channel inlet through which the refinery draws water for cooling purposes at the plant.

They've been caught in a revolving drum-type screen at the channel entrance, then discharged into a trough. Engineers scoop them up, truck them away to be buried in trenches in a nearby field. The engineers estimated they've hauled away an acreage of nine tons of fish daily.

The fish haven't been identified, but some think they are menhaden. Dry weather which has caused salt water to flow up the river from the Gulf of Mexico may be the underlying cause for the appearance of the fish.

Snyder Girl Dies In San Antonio Saturday

Miss Martha Virginia Grigsby, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Grigsby of Snyder, died early yesterday morning in a San Antonio hospital.

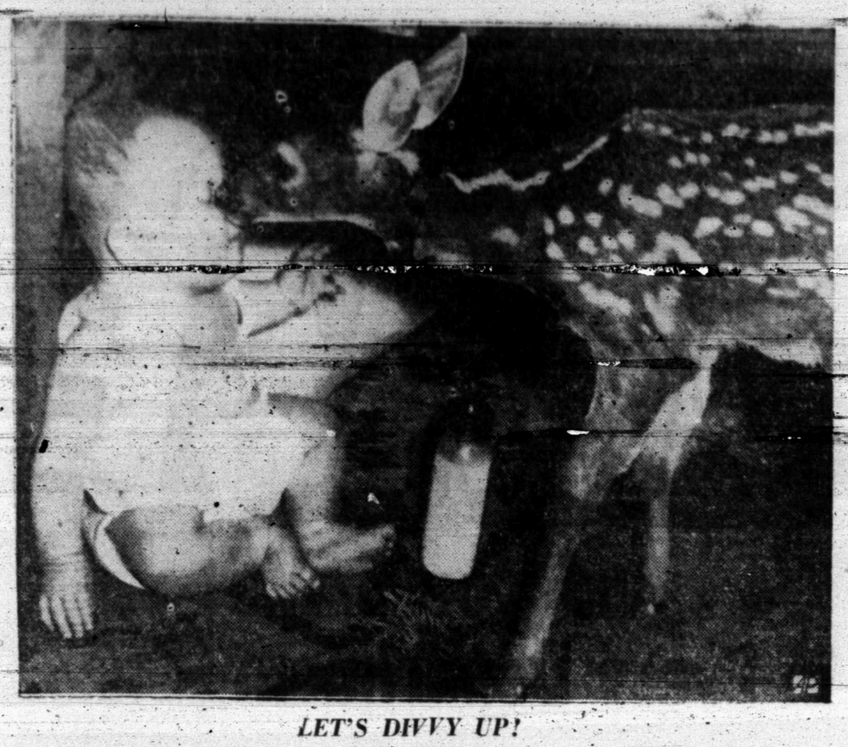

Funeral arrangements are still incomplete, but Bolger-Barnes Funeral Home attendants believed services would be held tomorrow afternoon. The body was being brought overland last night by a Bolger-Barnes funeral coach.

Miss Grigsby is survived by her parents; three sisters, Mrs. Unice Vernell Phillips of Nashville, Tenn., Miss Vergie Mae Grigsby and Miss Mary Alice Grigsby, both of Snyder; and one brother, J. O. Grigsby of Fort Sheridan, Ill.

Snyder's Silence On Depletion Hopeful Sign To Oil Industry

TULSA, July 7. (AP) — What Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder did not say to the Senate Finance Committee recently caught more than passing interest from Southwest oil circles.

In testifying on the tax bill passed by the House, Snyder made no recommendation for changing the 27½ per cent depletion allowance long granted oil and gas producers.

This allowance, unaltered in the House measure, permits the producers for tax-paying purposes to write off 27½ per cent of the gross income on individual oil or gas properties, providing it does not exceed 50 per cent of thhe net income.

First fixed by Congress in 1926, it has been reviewed often but never changed, although at tax-writing times in late years it has come in for treasury criticism as too high.

SPECULATION STARTS

Snyder's silence on the allowance before the Senate Committee cause some oil men to speculate that perhaps the Treasury is beginning to see the light — to realize what they call the deduction's importance as an incentive in the never-ending search for more and more petroleum reserve.

One industry leader who had that reaction is H. B. Fell, president of the Simpson-Fell Oil Co., Ardmore, Okla., and executive vice president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

"The fact that the Secretary of the Treasury did not criticize the 27½ per cent depletion allowance nor the option to expense intangible drilling costs," said Fell in a statement, "would indicate he is beginning to realize that these provisions are sound and essential. . ."

It showed further, Fell added, that the Secretary is coming to see that the allowance is not too high but a proper one "to provide equity to the oil and gas producers and as a needed incentive for the investment of risk capital.

CLOSING LOOPHOLES

Snyder did refer to closing "loopholes," a term bound to ruffle oil men if applied to the allowance.

In the past, Fell said, the word has been so used by "some misinformed people."

"These deductions are in no way loopholes," he declared, "but are special provisions, granted by Congress, to meet special conditions in the hazardous business of searching for and developing crude oil and gas reserves so as to make it possible for the oil and gas producing industry, like other industries, to have returned to it its capital value.

"The oil and gas producers are accordingly using deductions specifically granted them by Congress."

MORE FIGURES

The IPAA has prepare for a forthcoming issue of its periodical, The Independent Monthly, more figures on the heavy export of steel tubular goods it implies could be used to good advantage by this country's oil industry.

The most important single deterring factor to building up additional United States petroleum producing capacity, the IPAA contends, is the shortage of these materials for drilling wells.

"In spite of the critical shortage of steel tubular goods for the domestic industry, exports of these products from the United States are being permitted to reach unprecedented heights," the independent monthly will say.

EXPORTS SAID HIGH

"During the first four months of this year, based on official figures from the United States Department of Commerce exports of oil country goods and pipe line amounted to 187,000 tons. This is at an annual rate of 561,000 tons per year which, if continued throughout the remain der of this year, would be more than eight times the average for the 1935-1939 period."

Exports during those years, according to the IPAA, were only four per cent of production; the current rate is about 12 per cent.

"In the United States about 40 tons of oil country tubular goods are required to drill a well of average depth," the article concludes. "This means that the current rate of experts. . . represents enough steel to drill many additional wells in the United States."

No Petroleum Crisis Expected Here If Iran Supply Cut Off

WASHINGTON, July 7. (AP)—The Iranian crisis remained the top worry of the American oil industry this week, although shortage of steel continued to plague producers and distributors alike.

Representatives of 19 American companies operating abroad met in New York to make plans to fill Western Europe's oil needs in event of a prolonged shutdown of British properties in Iran. The group is to meet again Monday.

While rationing may be necessary in Europe, which has been getting much of its petroleum from Iran, the squeeze isn't expected to cause any immediate restrictions in the United States.

Scarcity of steel for oil field tubular goods and pipelines was brought home to the average American with announcement that the government is considering restrictions on the use of natural gas.

STEEL LACK BLAMED

The Petroleum Administration for Defense asked about 25 members of the Natural Gas Industry Advisory Committee to meet here Monday to discuss the proposed order.

The proposed order would prohibit further installation of natural gas heating equipment in homes and in industrial plants. The full Gas Industry Advisory Committee of 61 members is to consider it July 23, prompting some guesses that the order may become effective about Aug. 1.

The reason for the proposed club, the PAD explains, is that steel isn't available for pipeline construction needed to meet an expanded consumer market.

On another front here, steps are under way to find ways of meeting emergencies in natural gas delivery to consumers.

The Federal Power Commission (FPC) has sent letters to all major pipeline companies asking their reaction to a suggestion that their respective systems be interconnected.

Schleicher Failure Will Be Abandoned

Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. is preparing to plug and abandon its No. 1 R. S. Williams, Northwest Schleicher County wildcat, after bailing only water at plugged back depth of 1,259 feet.

It encountered salty sulphur water in the Ellenburger on a drillstem test of that formation from 7,989 to 8,087 feet, the total depth.

Location was in the center of the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 1204, TCRR survey and 16 miles northeast of Eldorado. That made it two and one-half miles east and three-quarters of a mile south of Frankel Brothers No. 1 Williams, discovery and lone producer in the Tankersley - Clear Fork field.

Two Shallow Wildcats Are Staked in Pecos

Sidwell & Imler and others of Midland and David T. Roache of Austin each staked location for a shallow wildcat in Pecos County.

Sidwell & Imler will drill No. 1 E. S. Coler 660 feet from north and 3,642.21 feet from east lines of section 1, block 225, A&NW survey. That puts it five miles southwest of Girvin and in East Pecos County. It will go to around 3,250 feet.

In the Central portion of the county Roache will drill No. 1 Adams 330 feet from south and east lines of section 4-135-T&STL. That puts it 12 miles southeast of Fort Stockton. It will drill to around 3,300 feet.

Tom Green Wildcat

Le May Oil Co. of St. Louis will drill No. 1 Frank Demere in Northwest Tom Green County and 330 feet from north and 2,743 feet from east lines of section 279-31-GC&SF. The wildcat will be projected to 2,000 feet with cable tools.

It is two and one-half miles north west of Carlsbad.

Hunt No. 26 Young Makes 125 in 6 Hours

Caroline Hunt Trust Estate No. 26 J. W. Young, Salt Creek field location in section 167-G-W&NW, made 125 barrels of oil in six hours on the potential test.

Gravity of the oil was 39.8 degrees. Gas-oil ratio was 596-1. The flow was gauged through a 24-64th-inch choke, with casing pressure zero and tubing pressure 175 pounds. The hole had been treated with 3,000 gallons of acid. No water was present.

Top of the pay was at 6,376 feet, with casing perforated from 6,390-6,414 feet. Total depth is 6,449 feet.

Chemicals Aid Housewife In War on Flower-Killing Insect

Home gardeners faced with the prospect of losing their carefully tended plants to insects can get a big help from the chemical companies this year. A wide variety of sprays and dusts have been placed on the market in quantities small enough to be practical for the small garden or flower bed and inexpensive enough to warrant their occasional use.

Dusts are generally the most popular with gardners who do not own special spraying equipment. Many of the dusts come in containers which can also be used to dispense them. Other dusts which may be bought in bulk can be distributed by sprinkling from a fruit jar with holes punched in the top.

SPRAY GUN

An ordinary fly spray gun may be used for sprays, although it generally will not be as effective as special spraying equipment. The sprays are made with a soapy base to hold them to the plant surface, and this base will eventually clog the gun.

Probably the most destructive pest on shrubs and other similar plants here is the red spider, Roland Bell, co-owner and manager of Bell's Flower Shop, said. The red spider is most frequently found on plants near the house or similar places where heat will accumulate around the plant.

The spider can usually be detected by the small, dusty web spun on the underside of the leaf. The spider itself sucks the sap from the leaf, causing it to turn yellow.

Aphids, which frequently infest rose bushes, are also common here. Aphids are usually green, although some are black, and are most often found toward the end of the sucker growth where the stem is most tender.

For both these insects, Bell recommends rotenone, which comes in either liquid or powder form. It is sold under the trade name End-O-Pest by many seed dealers, greenhouses or other stores which carry a general line of such supplies.

BASE FOR DUST

Rotenone is to be applied in dust form, the plant should first be sprayed lightly with a fine water mist to form a base to which the powder can cling.

Rotenone is also effective in killing plant worms, and helps prevent mildew on plants.

A mixture containing 10 per cent DDT is most effective against grasshoppers and red ants. It is important to remember that the perceptage of DDT in the mixture will directly control effectiveness. With a 50 per cent mixture, one application should be enough to eradicate an ant bed or kill all the grasshoppers then hatched.

Dusting with sulphur is about the most effective method for controlling chiggers yet found, Bell said. Arsenic may also be used, but it is dangerous. Sulphur also seems to help control plant mildew.

The effectiveness of any application depends largely upon the thoroughness of the job. Leaves should be dusted or sprayed from the underside, since this is where most insects work. Manufacturers' directions should also be observed carefully to get the best results from the product and guard against possible injury.

Chemicals are also available to help control the growth of weeds without injuring the grass around them. Bell suggests a compound sold under the trade name End-O-Weed. One pint of the mixture, which costs about $1, is usually enough to spray the average-sized lawn. It works best when sprayed on a hot, still day. It will kill shrubs or other broad - leafed plants, and care must be exercised in keeping it away from them.

Nos. 163, 167 Fuller Completed in Cogdell

The Texas Co. has reported completion of the No. 163 and No. 167 P. L. Fuller wells in the Cogdell field of Scurry County.

No. 163, drilled in section 615-97-H&TC, flowed 24 hours to make 108 barrels of 41.2 gravity oil with no water. Gas - oil ratio on the test was 938-1. The well had been acidized with 5,000 gallons. Top of the pay was at 6,798 feet.

No. 167 Fuller made an estimated potential of 204 barrels of oil on an actual 12-hour flow. Gas-oil ratio was 694-1. Gravity of the oil was 41.4 degrees. No water was made. Operator used 1,000 gallons of acid to condition the hole. Top of the pay was at 6,883 feet.

Location is in section 563-97-H&TC.

No. 2 Addison Finals For 851.28 Barrels

Warren Oil Corp. No. 2 Addison, Sharon Ridge - Canyon field location, has been completed for 851.28 barrels of 44.5 gravity oil on a 24-hour flow.

Gas - oil ratio was 403-1. The hole had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid. The flow was through a one-inch choke, with tubing pressure 135 pounds. Top of the pay was at 6,641 feet.

Location is in section 144-25-H&TC.

Well Completed From Sharon Ridge 1700 Pool

S. B. Roberts No. 11 C. A. Williams, drilled in section 192-3-H&GN in the Sharon Ridge 1700 field, has been completed on the pump for 84.01 barrels of 28 gravity oil.

No water was made on the test. Gas - oil ratio was 150-1. The well had been treated with 6,000 gallons of acid. Top of the pay was at 1,754 feet.

Is Stone Takes New Job in Lubbock

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Stone, 500 Twenty - ninth Street, moved a week ago to Lubbock, where Mr. Stone will work as a salesman from Bristol - Myers.

Mrs. Stone was a primary school teacher in Snyder and Mr. Stone was the manager of the Snyder Big Spring Coaches.

No. 5 F. G. Sears Is Staked North of City

The Texas Co. is to begin operations at once on the No. 5 F.G. Sears, five miles northeast of Snyder in the Kelley-Snyder field.

Location has been made 1,667 feet from north and west lines of section 1205-H&GN. Rotary tools are to be used to drill to 7,000 feet.

Completion Totals

AUSTIN, July 7. (AP)—Texas had 195 oil wells brought in last week, bringing the total for the year to 5,559.

That yearly total to date compares with 5,434 during the same months of 1950.

Of the new wells last week nine were wildcats, bringing the total of wells in unproven territory so far this year to 288. That was far under last year's 305 to date.

Wildcat Is Staked In Central-East Runnels

W. W. Harvey Drilling Co. of Fort Worth has staked location for a 3,750-foot rotary wildcat in Central - East Runnels County.

It is No. 1 Sealy & Smith. Location is 330 feet from south and west line of section 51-GH&H.

That puts it four miles southwest of Talpa and two and one-quarter miles south of the Leonard field and three and three-quarters miles northeast of the Love field.

Gas Supervisor Dies

MIDLAND, July 7. (AP)—Guy G. Vanderpool, 49, Midland natural gas supervisor for the West Texas-New Mexico division of the Atlantic Refining Co., died late Friday of a heart attack.

Funeral services will be held here Sunday at 4 p.m.

Vanderpool was at Plains, Tex., when he was stricken and died on his arrival at the Denver City hospital.

He had moved to Midland two years ago from Dallas. He was a graduate of Terrell High School and Louisiana State University.

SAFETY WEEK SET

AUSTIN, July 7. (AP)—Governor Shivers today proclaimed July 22 28 as farm and ranch safety week.

There are still a lot of needless accidents, severe deaths and injuries down on the farm, the governor said. He urged that special studies be made of safety measures during the designated week.

The free territory of Trieste is garrisoned by 5,000 troops apiece of the United States, Great Britain and Yugoslavia in their respective zones.

ASK MILDRED

Send your question to Ask Mildred in care of Snyder Daily News.

What are "Love Apples"? Mrs. J.D.R.

In England, in medevial times, tomatoes were grown for ornamental purposes and were sometimes called love apples. Tomatoes in the United States were not a popular food until 1830 according to the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics.

* * *

I see the week for fertilizing my city vegetable garden, will you suggest a commercial fertilizer to use. Mrs. J.O.M.

This soil in West Texas is alkaline and the fertilizer needs also to reduce the alkalinity. Check to see if the fertilizer you buy contains aluminum sulphate or sulphur, which will reduce alkalinity. For most sections complete fertilizers such as 5-10-5 or 4-12-4 are best for vegetable production. By the way the numbers 5-10-5 or 4-12-4 means numbers of parts of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash in relation to each other—as 5 parts nitrogen, 10 parts phosphorus and 5 parts potash.

* * *

Please tell me how to simplify my house work. Mrs. R.M.

Time and energy saving studies have been made and Miss Gladys Darden, Specialist from Extension Service has set up six principals to follow in simplifying work. They are as follows:

1. Leave out any part of the job you can, for instance drain the dishes instead of drying them.

2. Use the best tool you have for the job; for instance, a pastry blender rather than two knives.

3. Sit to work whenever you can or be in a comfortable position.

4. Keep the things you use every day within easy reach.

5. Make both hands work.

6. Make one job out of two or more.

* * *

How do you remove printing from old feed bags? Mrs. A.L.R.

Grease the printing with unsalted fat, such as cooking oil, let stand over night, saturate with kerasene, rub gently, and boil in soapy water, rinse well.

* * *

My tomato vines were looking real pretty until about a week ago. I began finding some worms on them that were cutting the leaves off the stems. Could you tell me some thing that will kill them? Mrs. D.C.L.

Tomato or tobacco horn worms and cutworms are the insects commonly found on tomato vines. Arsenical poisons will kill them.

Hand picking is another good remedy, but sharp eyes are needed to see the worms when they are not moving, since they are the same color as the stems of the plants. The cutworm is killed with the poison bran mash scattered thinly about the base of the plants. The best plan is to mix the poison in the morning and to apply it late in the day, so that it will be moist and attractive when the cutworms come forth in the evening to feed. To make poison bran mash mix 5 pounds course bran with ¼ pound paris green or white arsenic. Squeeze the juice of a lemon or orange into 3 or 4 quarts of water, chop up the rind fine, and add these to 1 pint of molasses. Add this mixture to the bran mixture and stir thoroughly. Do not make it sloppy.

Police Aid In Arresting Man

Snyder police Thursday assisted officers of the Odessa Sheriff's department in arresting Jay Owen Cunningham, 39-year-old Snyder cafe cook, charged with passing forged instruments.

Cunningham, who has resided here and worked for several restaurants, is charged by felony information with passing $800 worth of forged travelers checks in Odessa and other West Texas cities. He has also been charged with burglary of a liquor store in Odessa, R. W. DeHaas, captain of the Snyder police force, said.

DeHaas said Deputy Sheriff Bosley of Odessa came here Thursday looking for Cunningham, and that he and the Odessa officer learned from Cunningham's contacts here that he had left town before dawn, presumably for New Mexico. Bosley, returning to Odessa, sighted the accused man driving an automobile near Big Spring and followed him to Odessa, where he was arrested.

DeHaas said Bosley reported finding part of two books of checks on Cunningham at the time of his arrest. He said the cheeks, in denominations of $50 and $100, were reported taken in a burglary. They were on the American National Trust & Savings Bank of San Francisco.

Paving Program Is Abandoned in Post

POST, July 7 —Plans for a 94-block paving project in Post has been abandoned because of the apparent lack of interest shown by city property owners, Mrs. Lorene Benson, city secretary, said.

A $50,000 bond issue had already been voted to pay the city's cost of the paving. Property owners were to pay the remainder of the $232,350 total cost. The city commission has agreed to relieve the paving contractor of all obligations assumed under the contract signed in January.

WHY STARVE TO TAKE OFF FAT?

When you buy Barcentrate, you buy a preparation for taking off weight. You do not pay for a printed diet. Barcentrate is not a vitamin tablet to fortify you against weakness while on a starvation diet. You need never know a hungry moment, while reducing with Barcentrate. It contains no harmful drugs, but does contain ingredients to make you feel better.

Barcentrate when mixed with grapefruit juice does this: First, cuts down your desire for sweets and fatty foods, but you do not have to FORCE yourself. Barcentrate takes care of your DESIRE. Second, dehydrates and eliminates, so that water is carried away —almost like melting fat. At the same time you feel better, more peppy, more alive, but never starved or hungry.

Lost 37 Pounds

"I wish to state that I lost 37 pounds taking Barcentrate," writes Mrs. J. L. McCarty, Dennville, Texas.

Lost 14 Pounds

"Without a diet, I have lost 14 pounds taking Barcentrate," says Mrs. E. M. Hengst, 3500 Werner Ave., Austin, Texas. "I am glad to recommend Barcentrate to anyone."

10 Pounds Lost

"I wish to state that I have had very satisfactory results taking Barcentrate," writes Mrs. Louise Skipper, 427 W. Lott Ave., Kingsville, Texas. "I lost 10 pounds and ate anything I wanted."

Can Opener Is Defended As American Kitchen Maid

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press Staff

NEW YORK, July 7. (AP) — On a round-the-world trip with her husband a year or so ago, food writer and televisian cook Poppy Cannon discovered the rest of the world had some pretty strange ideas about the American kitchen.

In Pakistan, for instance, she was asked repeatedly if it was true that American meals consisted entirely of vitamin pills washed down by glasses of water. All over the old world, housewives and homemakers asked how American husbands felt about "can-opener meals."

Since then Poppy has made something of an avocation of telling the world how America eats.

MAGIC INGREDIENT

The magic ingredient in any good dish, she maintains, is something that can't be purchased — the cook's imagination.

"I know — I've proved to my own satisfaction that you can be a gourmet with a can-opener," she says earnestly.

"Think of canned foods and frozen foods this way: Other people have the responsibility for the selection of the raw materials, cleaning and preparation. When you open a can, you move into the kitchen the way a chef does after a corps of kitchen maids have done the preliminaries."

Those preliminaries, which the chef leaves to lesser talent, are the drudgery of cooking. Any American woman with a feeling about food can be a master chef in her own home with the aid of that abused tool.

"Open any can of soup," she suggested. "Other hands have made the roux, others have pureed the vegetables. You start from there with added ingredients, herbs and spices."

For an easy lobster newburgh—take canned cream of mushroom soup, dilute it with a quarter of a cup of dry sherry, add frozen lobster tails cut into large diced chunks and add seasonings to your own taste.

EVEN TETRAZZINI

Even complicated dishes like chicken tetrazzini aren't hard with a can-opener for a kitchen aid. Start with chicken fricasee out of a can, add ham and chopped hard-boiled eggs to the sauce.

Cook thin noodles separately, pour the chicken mixture over the noodles, add grated cheese and give it a few minutes under the broiler. The whole thing can be done in minutes.

Or take a can of beef stew, add red wine, herbs and other seasoning. Miracles can be done with a can of meat balls. It can be turned into a Swedish dish by adding allspice and sour cream; into a Peruvian dish with a raisin and ripe-olive sauce, simmered slowly.

Souffles are no longer the acid-test of the cook. Poppy whips them out in no time — using a prepared chocolate pudding for her base. First she makes a hot chocolate sauce, adds four egg yolks and the beaten whites. She sometimes deepens the flavor by adding a little instant coffee, or brightens it with a little rum.

The normal is now in full blast. It is no more a thing in prospect, to be striven for, to be hoped for, or to be dreaded, as the case might be. Two weeks ago we were saying to ourselves, and to others; "The normal is at hand with its trials, and its tortures, its pleasures and its profits." Now they are being realized. The batteries are mounted; the gunners are at their posts; the targets are in position. Dread agonizes every heart: "Shall I survive the ordeal" it is the question that oppresses every mind....

All things considered we are having a nice time in our normal. We have 49 as jolly, genial people as ever met in Snyder. We can complain at nothing but their bashfulness. Prof. Hudgins has had to draw the young men up in single file and march the ladies before them in order to make them acquainted. Unless someone rubs a little brass on their faces there will be no sparking done this normal. Really, I think it ought to work up half a dozen weddings. Teachers are getting too numerous. Why not some of us marry and quit the profession.

In conclusion we would say to the people of West Texas that if you are in need of a good teacher—a good teacher—come to our normal to get one. We can satisfy the most fastidious, for we have in attendance all kinds, qualities, sizes and complexion of teachers. Harold

M. P. Baze was in from his farm near Dunn. Mr. Baze informs us that the grasshoppers have about all left his section of the country but before going they destroyed about one-fourth of the crops. He thinks reports concerning the hoppers have rather overdrawn in many instances. He said his cotton and maize are in good condition and that he is waiting for a rain so that he may plant his fall crops.

25 YEARS AGO

(Taken from the files of THE SCURRY COUNTY TIMES for July 8, 1926.)

At a meeting of the Little Theatre Company last Thursday evening at the First State Bank & Trust Co., which was attended by some of the most prominent citizens of the city, it was decided to stage a membership drive. A committee of Henry Rosenberg, Mesdames Dixie Smith, C. J. Yoder and W. W. Lechner were appointed to meet and select a number of people who, it is believed, would be most interested in the Little Theatre movement.

The committee selected the names. Invitation cards were mailed to each one on the list to join the movement by pledging their support and paying the small membership fee of two dollars and fifty cents. The Times - Signal believes that those whose names were included in this list can feel that they have been honored by being asked to join this splendid movement....

Editor's note: This letter was addressed to the Dallas Morning News for publication, but was declined by that paper.)

By C. M. von Roeder
Knapp, Texas

I have often wondered what degree of success, of any, you are meeting in trying to pose as the farmer's friend while you are preaching to him to product 'more cotton on fewer acres." In my opinion you would truly befriend the farmer if you induced him to plant fewer acres in cotton without an increase in production per acre. As you well know, an increase in cotton production mean a decrease in gross returns to the farmer....

It is with great reluctance that I have been forced to believe that practically none of our farm journals or even our government's department of agriculture are the farmers friends. They all teach and preach "production" to the farmer, while if they worked to his interests they would help him find markets for his products or help him market cooperatively or get profitable returns for what he now produces. This continually stressing 'more production" and 'cheaper production" is all right from the consumers' point of view but not from the farmers....

Wild Mares, Clown Added To Program At Scurry Rodeo

Among the added attractions at the Scurry County Rodeo, July 18-21, will be a wild mare contest and the appearance of a nationally-known clown, Laddy Walker of Fort Worth. Billy Boren and Ollie Stimson announced the additions to the program yesterday, following a meeting Friday night of the rodeo association.

The introduction of the wild mare race, which will be held here for the first time, is expected to attract lots of attention, Boren said. A prize of $25 to the winner each night is being offered. The entrance fee has been placed at $3 for the contestant.

Walker comes to Snyder well-recommended, Boren said. Walker's antics will amuse both the kiddies and adults, sponsors of the show promised.

Another feature will be the appearance of the Light Crust Doughboys, who will play here every night for dancing at the rodeo grounds.

The Jayceettes will have charge of the decorations for the rodeo, and are scheduled to contact all business houses this week in connection with street front decorations. A special decorator is coming to Snyder to assist in the decorations.

The rodeo association headquarters will be opened on Tuesday, July 17, at the same place used last year, the office of the Planters Gin, on Avenue R, one block north of the post office.

Hall, Author Of 'Mutiny', Dies in Tahiti

HONOLULU, July 7. (AP)—James Noran Hall, 64, Co-author of "Mutiny On The Bounty" and other South Seas stories, died Thursday night of a heart attack at his home in Papeete, Tahiti.

With the late Charles Bernard Nordoff, Hall wrote the trilogy based on the British ship Bounty —"Mutiny On The Bounty," "Men Against the Sea," and "Pitcairn's Island."

Hall's daughter, Nancy Hall Rutgers, left Honolulu July 3 with her husband, Nicholas G. Rutgers, and two children to spend the summer with Hall on Tahiti.

The Rutgers family is aboard the schooner Vega. Relatives here were undecided immediately whether to radio word of Hall's death to the Vega. The ship is due in Tahiti July 18.

A son, Conrad L. Hall, lives in Los Angeles.

Many books by Nordoff and Hall were made into motion pictures.

One of Hall's latest, "The Far Lands," was written in Honolulu last year during a visit of several months.

When he left to return to Tahiti he was at work on another book.

Hall was born in Colfax, Iowa, and was graduated from nearby Grinnell College.

In 1914 he was on a walking tour in England when World War I broke out. He enlisted in the British army and served in France. Once he was the sole survivor of a gun crew he commanded.

Later he served in the Lafayette Escadrille and with Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker in the old U. S. army Air Corps.

After the war he found civilian life boring. He went to the South Seas in 1920, and spent the rest of his life there.

Freak Weather Soots Savannah

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 7. (AP)—This town still resembled a chimney sweep's nightmare today and a lot of folks were ready to bring soot suits.

The only problem for the irate and somewhat grimy citizenry was to find somebody to sue.

Early Friday the town was blackened by such a severe soot storm that one man chased his pet white cat out of the yard. It had turned black.

One man reported he started to take a bath but concluded he would be cleaner without it.

Still another complained in a telephone call to the Savannah Morning news that when he looked in the mirror all he saw was a black stranger.

The oily particles settled over home furnishings, store stocks, pets and people.

Hospitals, hotels and other establishments were confronted with enormous cleaning bills.

Various industrial firms were blamed, but all denied the soot fit.

The weatherman theorized that a combination of cold air and open windows had created updrafts through uncleaned chimneys and flues.

Normally a slow moving town, most Savannahians found themselves in hot pursoot of cleanliness.

POSSE TRACKS DOWN STEED

A Palomino horse, property of Lloyd Merritt, sheriff, who is on vacation, escaped from its pen adjacent to the county jail yesterday and it took the combined force of the sheriff's department and police to round up the animal.

The deputies were more successful than the police, and the horse finally was captured on Avenue Q by L. E. Haypes.

Heat, Living Costs Blamed For Sale Drop

There's nothing like a hot summer day to make one appreciate the comforts of home—particularly if that home is air conditioned.

Snyder shoppers seem to be revising their shopping habits to stay at home during the heat of late morning and early afternoon. At least they aren't on the streets to do very much shopping. Most of the downtown merchants contacted here agreed that they had fewer shoppers from 11 o'clock to 3 o'clock in the afternoon than during cooler weather.

One department store manager said customers seemed to be observing a siesta period.

The dollar volume of sales doesn't seem to have suffered here as much as it has in some other towns in the state. A Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas survey reported sales for the district were down about six per cent last week. San Antonio reported the greatest drop last week, 10 per cent, with Houston reporting a five per cent decrease. El Paso, however, one of the really hot spots of the state, reported a four per cent increase.

Sales in the Dallas district were up two per cent for the four-week period ending June 30 to offset the week's loss. Fort Worth reported sales showed little change.

Most merchants here felt that the general high cost of living was more likely to cut sales than just hot weather. People buy what they must have first, merchants pointed out, and rent, utilities and groceries come first.

Waterways And Terraces For Scurry Farms

Five Scurry County farmers have completed conservation plans with the aid of technicians from the Upper Colorado Soil Conservation District, according to Marion Everhart, work unit conservationist in charge of the Snyder office. In telling of the plans, Everhart said.

"Ray Haney, who farms seven miles southwest of Snyder, wants terrace lines and grassed waterway. The waterway is necessary to handle the run off water that the terraces will not hold on the field following big rains. The waterway will be shaped before seeding.

"Lee Massingill, who lives 13 miles northeast of Snyder and who operates a dairy farm, wants a farm pond. The pond is to supply additional livestock water and will result in more even distribution of his grazing in this pasture and thus better grass.

"Warren Sturgeon, five miles southeast of Snyder, is seeking a terrace system on his farm and is making plans now to plant Austrian winter peas on his land this fall. He says winter peas are excellent for adding organic matter and nitrogen, which are essential for sustaining or increasing his yeild of cash crops. Superphosphate is to be added to the soil along with the winter peas.

"J. A. Brown, who farms two miles east of China Grove, plans to plant King Ranch bluestem for grazing of his dairy cattle and also plans to plant blue panic and Madrid sweet clover to be used for grazing. These crops will not be planted at this time, but in the early spring.

"Charles A. Stewart, three miles south of the city, wants a new terrace system and a waterway. The waterway is to be shaped and seeded to King Ranch bluestem.

"The practices listed above that these cooperators plan to carry out on their farms are but a part of their complete conservation program as worked out by themselves and assisted by technicians of the Soil Conservation Service."

Weird Sound Effects From Reverse Track

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) — Composer Nicholas Brodszky thinks this is the funniest incident of his career:

Seventeen years ago in Vienna he was writing the score for the film "Scandal in Budapest." When he thought he had it finished, he submitted it to the producer, Joseph Pasternak.

"What about that two-minute scene of the thunder storm?" Pasternak asked.

Brodszky said he had assumed a storm needed no accompaniment.

When Pasternak insisted, the composer ordered his orchestra to "go to page 20 of the score and play everything backward until I say stop."

He says the critics raved, calling the music startling and original. And Pasternak gave him a bonus.

Houston Bar To Probe Charges

HOUSTON, July 7 (AP)—The Houston Bar Association may launch a probe into the charges of Ellington Field officials that "certain Houston lawyers" have been charging airmen excessive fees for helping the soldiers on civilian criminal charges.

Richard H. Powell, director of the State Bar Association for the Eighth Congressional District, told the Houston Chronical by telephone from Dallas, where he is attending the State Bar Association convention:

"I feel that an investigation might well be in order by the bar. The bar would not want its members to charge excessive fees of the military men."

The excessive fee charge was contained in a statement issued by Col. William L. Lee, commanding officer of Ellington Field.

Marshall Man Killed In California Fire

RICHMOND, Calif., July 9. (AP)—Arey Franklin Carney, formerly of Marshall, Tex., was burned to death the night of July 4 in a fire that swept the home of friends, Mr. and Mrs. George Burns.

The Burns, summoned from across the street by two older children, snatched their baby to safety and shouted to Carney that the house was burning.

When Carney failed to follow, Burns tried to re-enter the house but flames prevented.

The mortuary here said Burns mother, Mrs. R. H. Brooks, instructed that the body be returned to Marshall. It is being held during efforts to locate Carney's wife.

Synchronizing Traffic Lights Would Be Expensive Operation

The traffic problem in Snyder will not be solved until the city has sufficient money to make needed improvements, according to Chester Bairrington, chief of police.

"Our first need is manpower on the police force to correct and control traffic," he said.

"Snyder has outgrown its village ways, and the heavy traffic rolling over our streets cannot be controlled without manpower.

"Avenue S and Twenty - fifth Street, is the city's worst intersection for traffic accidents, he pointed out. This intersection as well as many others is a traffic hazard because of its offsets, Bairrington said.

"I am against the overhanging traffic signal lights and believe the city should install signals on posts on the corners," the chief said.

Many people have complained that the downtown traffic signal lights are not synchronized, and that they therefore impede rather than help the flow of traffic through the congested areas. To synchronize the signals, a traffic engineer would have to be employed, underground cables laid, and other equipment purchased, he pointed out. All of this and other traffic improvements cost money, and the city does not have it, the chief said.

The police department is also responsible for the erection of stop signs at intersections where needed within the city, except roads that are controlled by the state highway department, Bairrington said.

"If anyone believes a stop sign should be placed at some particular intersection, he should contact my office, and an investigation will be made shortly and presented to the city council with our recommendation," he said.

In an effort to lessen traffic accidents within the city, a special traffic patrol car will operate around the clock, starting at once, the chief said.

Snyder has been fortunate regarding its traffic fatalities with none recorded within its limits so far this year.

Education By Installments

DENTON, July 7. (AP)—A diploma on the easy payment plan now can be had at Texas State College for Women.

A new catalogue issued by TSCW at Denton announces that daughter may attend on the "pay as you go" idea. It says tuition, fees, room and board for Texas girls who live in the regular dormitory system will total $550. But, for a down payment of $98.75 at the beginning of each semester and $58.75 in six monthly installments, a sheepskin can be acquired.

Diplomas may be had on an alternate plan if prospective students can't afford this plan. A cooperative system, offered for as little as $249 per semester, entails the sharing of housekeeping and food preparation duties with 25 or 30 other girls: $65.25 down, $26.25 a month.

County's Highway Death Score Exactly Even with Last Year's

Scurry County's traffic death score for the first six months of this year is no better than last year's, but at least it is no worse. The national trend shows about 10 per cent more traffic fatalities this year than last.

There have been five highway deaths in the county so far this year, exactly the same number as during the first half of last year, according to E. W. Green, highway patrolman stationed here.

Other data from Green's file shows that in the amount of damages, number of crashes, and number of persons injured, the score this year is about the same as it was last year.

The highway patrol files show the same number of accidents in the county for the first six months of 1951 as in the first half of 1950 —49 accidents.

Ninety - one motor vehicles were involved in crashes from January through June this year; only 88 were involved in the same period last year.

Twenty-eight persons were injured in the six-month period this year, compared with 29 in the same period last year.

And estimated property damage is only a few dollars off—$26,415 for this year, compared with $26,255 for last year's first six months.

The chief causes of most accidents are speeding, driving while intoxicated, and faulty mechanical condition of the vehicles, said Green.

Hardly a day passes but a motorist is charged with speeding or driving while intoxicated in the courts here, he pointed out.

Green is assisted by Bill Zimmerman in the highway patrol work here.

Houston Police Pick Up Opium

HOUSTON, July 7. (AP)—A pound of refined opium — the first to show up here in several years — was seized here early today when police and customs agents picked up two men in the channel area.

Customs agents valued the narcotic at $1600, or about $1 for each of its 1600 "smokes."

And while authorities announced the seizure, they hinted that another nine pounds, valued at $14,500, may be somewhere in the Houston area.

The two men, a Negro seaman from the SS Velma Lykes and a Negro longshoreman, are in the city jail in connection with the seizure.

Restriction on Dove Hunting Recommended By Wildlife Service

AUSTIN, July 7. (AP)—Federal authorities are thinking about restricting dove hunting to afternoon hours.

Executive secretary Howard Dodgen of the game commission made that report at Friday's commission meeting which worked out Texas' ideas on dove hunting for submission to the Wildlife Service.

The federal agency regulates the hunting of migratory birds.

The Commission voted to recommend that the Texas waterfowl season begin not earlier than Nov. 10. Last year the dates were Nov. 3 to Dec. 17.

For mourning doves, the Commission recommended a bag limit of ten per day and the shooting hours from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset. For whitewing doves the shooting hours would be from 4 p.m. to sunset.

The Commission wants a mourning dove season in the south zone of Texas from Nov. 15 to Jan. 1, instead of last year's Oct. 20-Dec. 3 season. The north zone season opening of Sept. 1 would be continued under the Texas commission's recommendation to federal authorities.

Business Analysts See Slow Down of Production in Peace

By J. A. LIVINGSTON

Standard & Poor's Corp. believes in taking peace by the horns, even uneasy peace. Its July 5 issue of "Trends and Projections" says: "Some modification of recent optimistic appraisals of the business outlook may be required if arrangements are soon concluded for a cease - fire in Korea. Barring further incidents elsewhere, a feeling of lessened urgency could well mean that military spending will fall short of projected plans."

That's the new trend of thought among business and stock market analysts. It's a reversal of the line of reasoning which prevailed early this year. In April, I noted in this column: "The betting has all been on rearmament to bail everybody out from all excesses. But if rearmament, for any reason, doesn't come through as fast as expected, if lags and delays continue, well . . ." The "well" stage seems to be here.

PSYCHOLOGICAL SPOT

A cease - fire in Korea is bound to change the contour of the U. S. defense program. Rearmament schedules will be decelerated in two ways:

One, quantities ordered by the armed forces will be reduced. The services don't want inventories to pile up and rust.

Two, delivery dates will be stretched out. That fits into the plan to have arms production going side by side with civilian production. We want to be ready for all-out production but never to be producing all-out.

President Truman and Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson cannot acknowledge deceleration in schedules. They're fighting the Battle of Psychological Letdown. They want a strong Defense Production Act, including the power to roll back prices. They want a higher tax bill than that passed by the House. While Congress is in session, while basic legislation impends, they must insist that production will continue full - speed ahead.

In an interview with reporters, Wilson stressed that so far production has run 20 per cent behind schedule. In is quarterly report, hastily brought up to latest Korean developments, he said: "This program must and will continue whether or not fighting stops in Korea."

The real point is that the program can, and will, change from month to month. Production emphasis will continue on aircraft, combat and other motorized vehicles, guided missiles, and electronics. But changes within the program will take place. So will goals. And, if a Korean truce is realized, replacement of battle-loss equipment will cease.

Moreover, business analysts must always bear one point in mind. The Korean truce could be more than a truce. The North Koreans and the Chinese Reds finally got a bellyful of American bullets. The men in the Kremlin learned that they cannot agress for free. There's a price on aggression. Satellites found out what happens to satellites. So Korea could mark a turning point in the Russian tactics of pushing probe-and-test.

What it all means is this: A cease - fire wouldn't change the United States from a garrison state to a civilian state. But it would change the intensity—the rapidity—of the garrisoning. The goal—a 3,500,000 - man military establishment — would be the same. But the equipment would not be procured so rapidly.

TEST IN FALL

In that case, defense consumption of key materials—steel, copper, aluminum—would be slower than anticipated. And requirements for railroad cars, electric power facilities, and new plants may be subject to downward revision.

The test of the underlying business structure, of consumer demand, will come in the fall—as has been suggested here before. Will large scale buying develop anew, now that householders know that most goods are plentiful? The fall will also test the official government forecast that inflation will be here again.

All this helps explain the drop in the stock market. Common stocks are off about 5 per cent from their highs of early May. But here's a paradox. You'd expect yields on common stocks to be more attractive as a result. But no. The Standard & Poor's Corp. index of yields has dropped from 7.3 per cent in November to about 6.4 per cent today. That's because S. & P. expects cuts by General Motors and Chrysler.

Meanwhile preferred stock yield have risen from 3.85 per cent in January to 4.2 per cent. Thus, for investors, the return on preferreds has become more attractive relative to commons. If business and profits fall even slightly, that could be a growing influence in the stock market.

Unusual Grants In Britain To Research Units

LONDON, July 7. (AP) — Britain's richest charitable trust is giving away money to amateur pollsters; to one of the few scientists who has seen evolution actually happen in a butterfly, and to the inhabitants of an English town to study themselves.

These are among a series of new grants announced by the $30 million Nuffield Foundation established six years ago by automobile magnate Lord Nuffield to support activities contributing to human welfare and scientific learning.

WILL TEST POLLS

An additional $3,500 has been paid to the London School of Economics —which has already had $28,000 from the foundation — for a field survey to test the reliability of public opinion polls.

A team of untrained interviewers is put into the field taking sample of public opinion. Simultaneously two professional organizations are hired to work on the same assignment. All three teams use the same questionnaires.

The study is expected to throw light on many factors influencing the success of public-opinion surveys as well as indicating where amateurs fall down on the job.

MOTH TURNS BLACK

The scientist is Dr. E. B. Ford, of Oxford University. As a boy 40 years ago he began studying a species of British butterfly — the euphydryas aurinia. The foundation is paying $28,000 to Ford, who it said has witnessed "the most considerable evolutionary change" ever seen by man in any animal or plant — the gradual change of English moths in the neighborhood of grimy industrial cities. The moth have turned black — and the black moth is now well established in smoke polluted areas, and still spreading.

QUIET TOWN STUDY

Residents of an English midlands market town received $5,600 — but the foundation did not name the city, in order not to disturb the job of quietly studying themselves. Announcing the grant, the foundation said the city has expanded by one-third since a new industry and new workers moved in from outside. Aim of the self-study is to see the effect of the new arrivals on the town's 18,000 inhabitants.

Month's Work In Water Dept. Is Summarized

A total of 736 orders was completed by the city water and sewer department in addition to the reading of 2,705 water meters during the month of June, figures presented the city council in the monthly report showed.

Of the total orders, 165 were for water meter connects and 130 were for meter disconnects. Sixty-five water and sewer taps were completed. Forty - two dead meters were removed and 37 new meters set. Thirteen sewer service line and 18 main line sewer stop-ups were repaired.

The department moved 20 meter boxes and four fire plugs to facilitate paving work and replaced nine meter boxes damaged by traffic. Breaks in 49 lateral and service water lines were repaired, as well as seven breaks in main lines.

Permits authorizing the construction of 14 buildings valued at $49,600 were issued during the month. Forty - two plumbing permits were issued and 68 plumbing inspections made. Plumbing inspection fees collected totaled $114.

Water meter deposits totaled $1,745, with meter refunds totaling $1,152.20. Fees collected for water taps totaled $375, with sewer taps fees totaling $300.

Total collection for the department was $21,152.26, with $13,289.19 from water bills, $3,982.70 from sewer bills and $1,324.37 from garbage collection bills.

Anti-Sub Craft And Air Power Needed To Match Red Navies

WASHINGTON, July 7. (AP)—The Navy is considering adding more air power to its bigger carriers and boosting the strength of its anti-submarine warfare force, it was learned today.

Any further expansion of the Navy probably will be along these lines instead of adding more large warships to the operating fleet, a well-informed defense official indicated.

In the expansion from the pre-Korean fleet size, the proportion of aircraft strength to that of carriers has not been equal, it was explained. When the operating fleet had six of the Midway or Essex class carriers during the economy days preceding the war the air strength consisted of eight carrier air groups.

But with a dozen carriers of these classes now in operation or soon to be, the number of air groups currently provided for is only 14, Navy planners believe this allowed an insufficient number of spare groups for the size of the carrier fleet.

SUB-KILLERS SET

The size of groups varies both with carriers and with the type of group. Midway-class carriers usually have five 18-plane squadrons of fighters or attack planes, while Essex class carriers have four. However, composite squadrons, which include several types of planes, vary from 12 to 27 planes.

An increase in anti-submarine strength presumably would include several types of weapons used to combat enemy undersea boats. Among these are the specially-equipped destroyer-type sub-killers, aircraft of both lighter and heavier-than-air categories and submarines specially designed to hunting down enemy submarines. One of this type was launched recently and two others are under construction or planned.

Navy interest in building up its operational effectiveness is spurred by new reports of intensified Russian naval construction.

REDS BUILDING FLEET

One report is that the Red fleet has an aircraft carrier under construction at some remote and hidden port. Until now, the Russians had displayed no interest in carriers.

At the end of World War II an uncompleted German carrier fell into Russian hands. Information reaching here at the time indicated the Russians towed her to a Baltic port, but apparently did nothing then toward completing the work. It is possible construction on the hull has been resumed.

In addition to a substantial acceleration in construction of submarines, the Red fleet also is understood to be building some heavy cruisers, probably similar to the Salem class of the U. S. Navy.

The Navy's operating force now consists of approximately 980 ships. The expansion plans for the next year involve bringing that force up to 1,161 ships, but almost all of the added craft would be of small patrol or amphibious type.

Incidence of Polio Far Below 1950 Mark

AUSTIN, July 7. (AP)—Texas polio cases jumped last week, but the total for the year to date was mark remained less than half that of a year ago.

Nineteen counties suffered 62 new cases the week ending June 30, reported Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer. This was the greatest incidence since Oct. 21, 1950.

The six months' total was 378 compared with 948 in the first half of 1950.

Dr. Cox attributed a part of this year's reduced incidence to the intense sanitation program of last year. He warned that Texans should not relax these sanitation activities.

Human Relations Meet Opens In Austin Friday

AUSTIN, July 7. (AP)—A two-day conference on human relations opens here Friday.

Its object is to explore practical ways of improving relationships between Latin Americans and Anglo Americans. It is sponsored by the Texas Council on Human Relations.

Among speakers will be Archbishop Robert E. Lucey of San Antonio Agriculture Commissioner John White, and Robert E. Smith of Houston, former chairman of the Good Neighbor Commission.

Peanuts contain minerals used in the manufacture of explosives, insulation, fuel, artificial wool and fertilizers.

Helicopter Has Proved Worth In Korea; Greater Use Set

WASHINGTON, July 7. (AP)—Army and Marine Corps tacticians are charting radically new battle techniques using masses of large transport helicopters.

They have been working on this for several years now they are ready to go all-out for it after seeing how the go-anywhere helicopter has proved in Korea that it can take battle punishment.

They had feared that the helicopter, large and slow-moving, would be highly vulnerable to enemy attack.

Practically all the helicopters soaring over the Korean frontlines and deep in enemy territory have been hit once or more by enemy fire.

But very few have been shot down.

TWO LOSSES REPORTED

The Air Force has announced two losses. The other services have reported none.

Now Marine Corps tacticians are planning to use large formations of big helicopters in future landing operations. Assault troops will fly high over beach defenses and attack from the rear.

The Marine and Army tactical experts see whole companies — even battalions — being lifted from one part of the battlefield to another, by-passing roadblocks and strongpoints, concentrating force swiftly at decisive points.

They've invented a word for it: "Enspherement."

HELICOPTER TRANSPORT

The army has organized its first helicopter transport company, to lift troops and supplies, and plans to form many more.

The Marine Corps had had an experimental helicopter squadron since 1947. Now it has two helicopter transport squadrons.

The Air Force, Navy and Coast Guard all have sizeable helicopter units but use them almost entirely for rescue, observation, liaison and transport of wounded.

The armed services are buying so many helicopters that the backlog of orders among the 11 companies that build them now amount to $350 million — a 100-fold increase over a year and a half ago.

TOP PRIORITY

All the helicopters now being built are for military use, most of them large transports. One officer told this reporter that the Army has given a top priority to its helicopter development program.

Two evelopments late in the last war convinced the Marines that old-style amphibious landings were a thing of the past.

One was the Snorkel submarine, which might play havoc with the great fleet of transports and warships essential in a major landing operation.

The other was the atom bomb. Tightly massed vessels would be a worthy target for the precious missile.

The solution the Marines have reached after numerous tests and exercises is to send in dense flights of helicopters from widely spaced ships far out beyond the horizon.

Building Contracts Down

AUSTIN, July 7. (AP)—Texas building went into a slump last week.

Contracts for the week ending today totalled $16,730,748 compared with $21,430,319 the week before, the Texas Contractor reported today.

The accumulated total of all types of construction contracts let so far in 1951 is $648,071,748.

Big Bore Rifle Meet To Open On Friday

AUSTIN, July 7. (AP)—Major General K. L. Berry will fire the first shot opening the Texas Rifle Association's 31st annual championship tournament in the big bore rifle division.

The Adjutant General's shot will officially open the meet at Camp Bowie range near Brownwood. The tourney begins Friday July 13 and lasts through Sunday.

BOOST AGED AID

WASHINGTON, July 7. (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee has approved a compromise plan to increase the federal share of old age assistance payments by $5 a month instead of the $5 voted earlier by the senate.

The plan, would increase federal payments to the states for old age assistance, aid to dependent children, the blind and the totally disabled by about $140 million annually.

WILSON SETS SPEECH

WASHINGTON, July 7. (AP)—The Office of Defense Mobilization said today director Charles E. Wilson will make a major policy speech Monday night.

Back Broken In Fall From Windmill Top

Johnny Brown, 27, of route 2, suffered a severely broken back, crushed wrist and a dislocated elbow Friday afternoon when he fell about 20 feet from the top of a windmill he was repairing at the A. B. Biggs home, southwest of town.

X-rays made at the Snyder Hospital showed Brown had suffered a compression fracture of his first lumbar vertebra. Physicians there said he also suffered about a dozen small fractures of his left wrist, and his left elbow was dislocated.

The accident occurred about 4:30 o'clock. Brown said he was lifting a piece of the windmill machinery to the platform at the top of the tower when a board he was standing on come loose. He was employed by Henry Camp, of Snyder. He was taken to the hospital by a Bolger - Barnes ambulance.

Packers More Fearful of U.S. Graders Than of Black Market

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another story in a series on the "Battle of Beef" by an Associated Press special correspondent who travelled through the Southwest and Midwest to study the situation.)

KANSAS CITY, July 6. (AP) — Big-scale black marketeers have not yet found the nation's beef shortage a worthwhile gamble for under-the-counter operations. But some slaughterers are defying government price controls for "quickie" profits.

That's the consensus of opinion among cattlemen, farmers, packers and government men with whom I talked in the cattle country.

In Washington, Edward P. Morgan — assistant director for the Office of Price Stabilization's enforcement agency — says there are "quite a few violations" by slaughters who ignore the OPS quota limit on slaughtering.

ALARM NOT FELT

Indications are these illegal sales of meat have not reached a volume to create any alarm.

In Texas, a cattleman said he had been approached by a stranger recently who sounded him out about possible future purchases.

"I have no doubt he was feeling out the situation for a possible black market operation," the cattleman said.

In Des Moines, OPS special agent Gerald Harrington said there was no black market operating in Iowa.

He said his office has found only six or eight deliberate violators of OPS regulations in a state which sends more than one million head of cattle to the market each year.

In Kansas City, a packer said he was not greatly concerned over possible black market operations which would divert cattle from the supply reaching the legitimate slaughterer.

"I just don't believe enough people will pay black market prices for beef to make it worthwhile on any significant scale," he said.

People in the cattle business indicated they had more fear of unqualified or dishonest government graders than they do black market operators.

After cattle are slaughtered and the carcass is chilled, government graders put their stamp on the meat which determines its selling price according to grade.

"This grading business scares us to death," one veteran in the packing business said. "I've been in the business 50 years and still don't know it all. Yet the government sends out graders who don't have the experience for the job — and something that can be handled by the slide-rule boys.'

There is a shortage of experienced government graders. The larger packing houses have government inspectors and graders working in their plants at all times. But not all the little slaughterers have this close regulation by experienced men.

There are five grades of cattle under United States standards — prime, choice, U. S. good, commerical and utility. Sometimes the shading between any two is a thin line of judgment which means the difference of several dollars a head on cattle.

Thus the grading of the beef carcass is an operation in which a tremendous amount of money is involved.

The packers don't fear the honest, experienced grader. But they shudder when they think what the unqualified or dishonest grader might do to the business.

GALLUP POLL

Stiff Punishment of Narcotic Peddlers Favored by Public

BY GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N.J., July 7—Few happenings have so aroused the American public as has the teen-age narcotics scandal.

Many more people have heard or read about these revelations than about the famed MacArthur hearings which dominated the headlines for weeks.

Eighty-six per cent of the voters questioned in a recent survey had heard of the investigation into teen-age dope peddling, whereas 74 per cent had heard or read about the MacArthur hearings and 72 per cent about the much-publicized Kefauver gambling investigation last spring.

The public favors stiff punishment for the "pushers" who peddle narcotics to school children. In fact, one-third of those interviewed think the penalty should be either death or life imprisonment.

Seven out of every ten persons living in large cities (500,000 persons or more) think dope is being sold to teen-agers in their cities.

Those are the highlights of a survey just completed by the American Institute of Public Opinion.

After being asked whether they had heard or read about the selling of narcotics to minors, all voters were asked:

"Do you think any dope is being sold to teen-agers in your city (community)?

Here is the vote by city size:

| | Dope sold | Not Sold | No Opinion |
|---|---|---|---|
| Communities: | | | |
| 10,000 persons or under | 10 | 70 | 20 |
| 10,000 - 100,000 | 24 | 52 | 24 |
| 100,000 - 500,000 | 38 | 34 | 28 |
| 500,000 & over | 70 | 14 | 16 |

The Question of Penalty

Shocking stories about teen-age students being induced into the dope habit, particularly in New York, have been published throughout the country.

In a recent telegram to President Truman, the death penalty for those who peddle narcotics to children was recommended by the president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, representing 11 million women.

Sen. Herbert O'Connor, who is Senator Kefauver's successor as head of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee, declared in a speech about dope peddlers:

"The Lindbergh law was invoked to stop kdinapping. A similar measure must be taken to put the fear of God into these outlaws."

The Lindbergh law carries the death penalty.

"What penalty do you think should be given to anyone who is convicted (guilty) of selling dope to teen-agers?", voters were asked in the Institute survey.

Here are the public's recommendations:

| | |
|---|---|
| Death penalty | 14 |
| Jail for life | 20 |
| | 34 |
| Long imprisonment term not specified) | 55 |
| Jail for 5 years or less | 3 |
| Heavy fine | 2 |
| Other answers | 1 |
| Don't know | 5 |
| | 100 |

*(Above table adds to more than 100 per cent because some people gave more than one answer.)

Organizer Out On Big Bond

HOUSTON, July 7. (AP)—Armando Ramirez, 51-year-old labor organizer, was freed from county jail today on $10,000 bail after being confined since June 14, following his arrest in San Antonio.

Ramirez was arrested in San Antonio after a nationwide pick up had been put out for him, following his indictment on five counts for violating the O'Daniel labor act.

Prior to his indictment he had been at liberty on $2,000 bond in connection with a charge filed in county court at law for allegedly failing to register as a union organizer with the Secretary of State.

The five indictments grew out of alleged intimidating of workers at a local bag and burlap company last May during a strike.

At a habeas corpus hearing before Criminal District Judge Frank Williford on June 21, the judge set Ramirez' bond at $25,000. An appeal was taken to the Court of Criminal Appeals and the bond was reduced to $10,000 or $2,000 on each of five counts.

Jumbled Trend In Grain Mart

CHICAGO, July 7.—A troubled grain market was beset by weird cross-currents this week, leaving final prices in a jumble of gains and losses.

The trouble arose from attempts to appraise the influence of a cease-fire in Korea on the nation's economic condition. It was complicated by the usual run of grain news, which eventually had a greater effect than did diplomatic developments.

One trend which stood out was a slight firming in the price of feed grains, particularly in the July contracts. Trading in these contracts ends this month. July corn closed the week 3¾ cents higher while July oats was up 1⅛. Smaller gains were scored by the deferred months.

Cash corn and cash oats were selling at higher prices than the July futures, and it was this which lent strength to those contracts.

Starting Bell Mishap

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) — The script called for Groucho Marx and William Bendix to lead a couple of trotting horses through a set.

They had the reins firmly clutched in their hands when suddenly the "quiet" bell, which is rung before the camera turns, pealed out.

The nags charged off. Marx and Bendix were floored.

The horses had apparently mistaken the noise for the clang of a race track starting bell.

They completed the scene all right — but with the bell well muffled.

New Metal Controls Hit Hard At Gas Industry and Pipelines

NEW YORK, July 6. (AP) — New controls on industry's use of scarce materials poured out last week. And more drastic ones are reported near.

They would keep you from installing a natural gas heater in that new home you plan. They forbid you to use some 30 building materials of copper and copper-base alloy.

If you are a manufacturer, a new order will put all the slab zinc you use under complete allocation by August 1. An order being considered would cut back your use of sulphur by 20 per cent except for essential defense use.

BIG PUSH READY

The control orders roll out in spite of the peace talks in Korea because the country is ready now for its great push forward in defense production.

The proposed ban on new users of natural gas is already bringing protests. Gas furnace dealers are reported clamoring for their Congressmen to halt the ban, which the Petroleum Administration for Defense says it is drafting because not enough steel is available for the planned extension of natural gas pipelines.

This shortage of steel pipe cannot be laid to the steel companies, however, since their output is now thoroughly controlled and allocated by NPA's controlled materials plan.

Increasing needs of defense production factories, plus a large gain already in the number of homes heated by natural gas, indicate peak demands next winter could top last winter by 12 to 22 per cent in various sections of the country, PAD says.

USERS ASK BAN

Users already connected to pipelines have been asking the ban on further extensions, PAD says, in fear their increased needs next winter might be in danger of going unfilled.

The natural gas industry has made remarkable strides since the last war. The American Gas Association reports that in the last five years nearly $4 billion was spent on new facilities and expansion of pipelines which now stretch from the Texas gas fields to both seacoasts.

The rub comes in finding the steel pipe for the great lines that must cross the country. Steel is a prime defense necessity. Other industries — oil companies, freight car makers, truck builders, to name only a few — also clamor for it.

PAD contends that all it can do, until more steel pipes can be found, is to tell the gas companies not to take on any new customers, to concentrate on serving the increased needs of those they already have.

Last Of Meter Payments Made

Beganning Friday the City's annual income will be increased by more than $10,000 in pennies and nickels.

A check for $207.45 was mailed Friday morning as the final payment on the city's 401 parking meters. Being the final payment, this check is much smaller than previous monthly checks sent as payments on the meters.

Last month, more than $900 were paid on the meters, representing half of the income from them. By contract with the company which sold them to the city, one-half of the income from the meters was paid the company each month, and the other half kept by the city. This method was used until the original cost of $25,928.30 was paid.

Since the meters were installed in the spring of 1949, payments averaged about $1,000 a month.

Tent City Springs To Life In Korea To House Peace Talkers

Somewhere in Korea, July 7. (AP)—A city of tents has been erected in an apple orchard behind United Nations lines to house top Allied officers during the Kaesong cease-fire negotiations.

The "Peace Camp" is equipped with electric lights, communications facilities, conference rooms, refrigerators and individual tents for the high ranking officers.

Military policemen stand guard at the entrance to the camp.

Inside, soldiers were putting the finishing touches to the tent city today.

Pvt. Melvin Alley of Birmingham, Ala., and Pfc. Felix Rukes of Newport, N. Y., were making beds in the little sleeping tent where the top ranking officers will live.

A passing G I pointed to the snow white sheets they were putting on a bed.

SHEETS, YET!

Most soldiers have not seen sheets since they arrived in Korea.

"Gee, what are those things?" he asked.

"Darned if I know," Rukes answered with a smile.

An officer said 19 officers and civilians would be entitled to an individual tent with mattresses, springs and clean sheets. Each tent also has a bed, a desk, a chair and a stand.

S-Sgt. Samuel M. Culpepper of Fort Payne, Ala., a combat engineer, was helping with preparation around the camp. Corporal James L. Clark of Newport, Ky., was at the top of a telephone pole, stringing wire which will connect the tent city with Eighth Army Headquarters and with Tokyo.

Korean laborers carried sand on their back from a large sand pile and spread it on the ground to serve as walks between the tents.

Members of the Eighth Army band policed the area, picking up rocks and bit of papers from beneath the trees.

Sgt. 1C Jose Cortez of Willow, Okla., mess steward, supervised GIs who were peeling potatoes behind the mess camp.

One large tent had been made into a dining room for top ranking officers. Vases of flowers had been placed on the clean, white tablecloth.

Cortez said enough food had been brought to supply the camp for two weeks.

"I don't know how long the conference will last," he said. "But that's how much food we've got."

Cortez has planned a banquet for what he calls "peace night"—the night the Allies and Communists sign an armistice.

The menu includes hot and cold appetizers, broiled Kansas City steak, French lambchop, beef cardinal, Philadelphia capon, French sardines, cold pickled beef, cold baked ham, welsh rarebit, golden buck, guillitone veal loaf, lemon pie, rare cake, nuts, candy and fruits.
