NEW COLUMNIST AND DAUGHTERS — Mrs. Betty Knowles Hunt, Lowell, Mass., housewife, who will write a weekly column for The News, is shown above with her three daughters. She will write on social and governmental problems in an effort to bring to readers her belief in freedom that will make this country a better place in which to bring up her daughters.

Woman Writer Will Write Weekly Column for Pampa Daily News

In today's issue appears a new contributor who will write one article a week for The News under the heading "Before the Dishes Are Done."

The author of this column is Betty Knowles Hunt, of Lowell, Mass. Mrs. Hunt is a married woman with three daughters. Mrs. Hunt and her daughters are shown in the above picture. We know of no better introduction than to have Rose Wilder Lane tell about Mrs. Hunt. Mrs. Lane uses Mrs. Hunt as an example to show that the usual excuse, "I can do nothing; I am only one person," is a lame excuse. This is how Mrs. Lane describes what Betty Hunt did: NICE AMERICAN GIRL.

"So what can one woman, who is only a housewife, do? Well, I give you Betty Hunt. A nice American girl whose parents saved and scrimped a little, as parents do, to send her through college; so she made grades to please them and had a good time and became engaged, and was graduated and married; then she was happily busier all the time, what with doing all her own housework and taking care of one, two, three little daughters. Her name was not in the papers; she had no time to lead anything; she had no interest in politics and little in any activities away from her family. She was the only one of millions and never thinking about it. Through the depression she didn't think about it; she didn't think much about it during the early New Deal; then socialism loomed up in Europe and she began to think."

"That is all. She simply worked at thinking; you can do a lot of hard thinking while you are cooking and scrubbing, washing and ironing and keeping an eye on the children in the yard. She tried to theorize a little, and all the time when she was sure that she was right, on even one point, she wrote a letter. In the evening, after the children were asleep, she wrote to her local paper, too, the Bridgeport (Conn.) Post. The first time her letter was printed, then some unknown readers knew what she thought, and they could think about it. SPEECH BY THOMAS

"One day the Post printed a speech by Norman Thomas. She thought about it, and wrote a letter to Mr. Thomas, asking him for some proof of his theory. Everyone knows that socialism has been tried since history began, and even earlier, since the founding of ancient Sparta is legendary in history. Surely in all this time, Betty Hunt thought, if socialism will work as Mr. Thomas says it will, it must have produced somewhere, sometime, some of the results he expects from it, some increase in human welfare, comparable to the results of the capitalism that Mr. Thomas wants to destroy. She asked Mr. Thomas to tell her when and where socialism has done this, and because the Post had printed his speech, she sent a copy of her letter to the editor, who printed it. This was the most that she hoped for. She didn't expect the sensation that the letter caused in Bridgeport. (See WOMAN, Page 10)

Officials Stop at Midland, See Highway Commissioner

Pampa's highway congestion problem on the proposed underpass on S. Hobart and the paving of Highway 70, the Pampa-Perryton road, were taken to Fred Wemple, Texas state highway commissioner, this week.

On their way back from the state convention of the League of Texas Municipalities at El Paso this week, Pampa's mayor, three city commissioners and highway commissioner stopped at Midland to meet with Wemple. Following the meeting with Wemple, who, Mayor Huff said, "gave us a very courteous and lengthy reception," Huff, Commissioners Paronto, Ballard, and Atkinson, and City Manager Matthews were taken for a tour of Midland. City Manager Albert Thomason and Frank Monroe, superintendent of Midland schools, showed the party the recently purchased and planned improvements of the city and school system.

The paved highway from Pampa to Perryton is a project that leaders of both cities have been working on for many years. Rights-of-way have already been purchased and two contracts for construction of paving were let this year by the State Highway Department. Work is nearly complete on 4.8 miles of paving running north into Roberts County from the Gray County line. Contracts for another 15 miles of paving on the north end of the proposed road were let recently.

If Stomach Gas or Sour Food Taste Robs You of Sleep

Here's How You May Help, Whether You Eat 500 Pounds or 2000 Pounds of Food in a Year

You can't feel cheerful, be happy and sleep well, if your stomach is always upset. As age advances the "old stomach" needs more help. The reason is this: Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that 888 Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or stops better, to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the 888 Tonic formula which contains very special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, 888 Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

And punishing yourself with over-doses of soda and other alkalisers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is 888 Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people 888 Tonic has helped millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of 888 Tonic from your drug store today. 888 Tonic helps build sturdy health.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Note Book

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—There is no hobby too odd for a man seeking to find an individual niche in history.

I heard of a man who spent all his spare time standing on a rail embankment. As the trains sped past he noted down the number of each freight car and the railroad that owned it.

In time he accumulated a longer list of freight car numbers than anyone that'd ever lived. To him this was enough reward to have done something no one else ever had.

The other day another young man of this stern breed dropped in to tell me about his unusual claim to fame.

It was Jack R. Williams, 22, a tall, freckled, sandy-haired, former U. S. sailor who believes he is the nation's number one jazz band fan, Sammy Kaye branch.

"I have listened to more than a thousand broadcasts by Sammy Kaye, and each time wrote down every tune he played," he said proudly.

To still any doubts I might have that he was really only a New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra fan playing a related April Fool joke, Williams pro-

Cancer Death Rate Among Women Off

NEW YORK (AP)—The death rate from cancer among women in 1947 continued the decline that has been in progress almost without interruption for the past 15 years, according to statisticians of the Metropolitan Life. Among the company's white female industrial policyholders the age-adjusted death rate has decreased from 93.5 per 100,000 in 1932-1934 to 82.9 in 1947, a reduction of 11 percent.

The trend is viewed by the statisticians as largely the result of the campaign of public education through which women have become more alert to the early danger signals, and have sought medical care earlier in the course of the disease, when the chances of cure are more favorable. Also noted as an important contributing factor is the great expansion in the facilities for the diagnosis and treatment of cancer, and in the number of physicians qualified for this work.

A study of cancer mortality among the women policyholders shows that every age group between 25 and 74 shared almost equally in the improvement of recent years, with the death rates at ages 25 to 64 now at the lowest level on record.

Evidence of the improvement in the cancer situation is also shown in reports of higher survival rates for cancer patients. In Connecticut, for example, women who survived for at least five years increased from 28 percent for those first treated in 1935, to 40 percent for those first treated in 1941.

"In spite of the gains which have been made, about 100,000 women in the United States are expected to die of cancer and other malignant tumors in 1948," comment the statisticians, "and this death toll, second only to that from heart disease, is expected to rise as the number of older women in our population increases.

Among women between 30 and 60 years of age cancer is the leading cause of death, accounting for almost three out of every ten deaths. It is among women at these ages that the greatest hope for the control of cancer exists."

President Gets an 'Oscar'

A "Red Feather Oscar"—awarded to all volunteers for outstanding work during the Community Chest drive—is presented to President Truman by two of the millions of youngsters who will benefit from the Chests. Dolores Silverthorne, 11, and Jimmy Peyton, 10, both of Chicago, present the golden statuette to the President.

B36's Wings Flap Like Lazy Buzzard's, Reporter Relates

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
FORT WORTH.—(AP)—When you ride in the B36, the world's biggest bomber, the size of the thing is what gets you.

Like the crewman said: "It's like walking in your home and flying it away."

But it's as big as three five-room houses. You could stick it down on a football field and its 168-foot length would be across both sidelines. And those great wings, stretching 230 feet toward both goalposts, would leave just enough room at each end to make a first down.

And your mouth dries out when those six engines whip up a roar—the way they roared Friday at Carswell Field when newspapermen got their first ride.

Your parachute bounces against your legs when you crawl up the ladder and stumble into the tail compartment. Already the combat veterans in this section, four gunners are on the job, peering out of the plastic blisters at the pusher engines, alert for trouble. It's 110 degrees hot and it won't cool off till you're in the air.

Sweat trickles down the neck of Staff Sgt. Robert J. Redmon, Denton, Tex. "It's big," says he, "but it lands like a Piper Cub; his is my fourth trip. I'm getting used to it."

"All of us was leery at first," Mr. A. Whitley of Menard, Tex., draws. Whitley and Redmon had 25 missions over Germany. "The B17 was queen of my heart," says Whitley, "but this is a good ship and I have a parachute."

Far up front, the flight engineer advances the throttles on the final test and the whole tail section dances a shimmy in the hurricane. Then the pilot, Col. Ellery D. Preston of Rockland, Me., takes over and pushes his set of throttles all the way forward and releases the brakes. The bomber leaps at the runway yardage and begins eating it up. It's red-headed Preston's first takeoff and a lot of spare pilots are hanging around him, greatly interested in how he will do.

He does fine. First the ship's long nose comes up and then the speed indicator clocks 110 miles per hour and the 36 lurches off the ground. It swallows all its wheels and you're really flying.

The sky is blue and the clouds are fleecy. Fort Worth and then Dallas drop behind.

You take a look at the tail compartment. It's roomy, with three tiers of bunks for those 10,000-mile flights. On a mezzanine above the bunks, swinging chairs are placed so gunners can watch comfortably through the blisters in the top of the cigar-shaped fuselage. One look through those blisters and your mouth is dry again. The tip of the nose is a couple of Pullman car lengths in front of you and 20 feet behind you is the 67-foot tail, high as a four-story building. And the horizontal control surface on the tail is about as long as the whole wingspan of a B-24 Liberator bomber.

You ride the scooter through the tunnel from the tail compartment to the pilot's room. It's a stomach scooter, like one of those things mechanics use to scoot under your automobile. This one runs on rails. You lie on your stomach or your back and

Jap Suicide Ship Coming

One of Japan's suicide PT boats will be exhibited from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. here Thursday, it was learned yesterday.

This fantastic weapon was known in Japan as the "Shinyotei," which, translated, means, "earth rocking ocean boat." Developed by the Japanese as part of the fanatical plans made for the defense of their home islands, it was used with devastating effect on American ships at Okinawa.

Eighteen feet long, the suicide boat is powered by a Japanese-built copy of an American six-cylinder valve-in-head engine. It was capable of speeds up to 50 miles per hour.

Loaded in the bow was a 675-pound anti-submarine depth bomb rigged with a contact detonator. The pilot, a member of Japan's suicide corps, was expected to join his ancestors in the fulfillment of his mission.

To insure the pilot's willingness to carry out his suicide assignment, 32-pound shoes were worn during his mission. A pair of these shoes also will be displayed Thursday.

The PT boat was captured intact at Amami Oshima in the Ryuku Islands. It was brought to this country by the Navy Department for test and observation. It is now on loan to the U. S. Navy Club and is being toured nationally.

The exhibit will be open to the public. There will be no admission charge; however, voluntary donations will be accepted by the Navy Club.

Navy Club is an accredited non-profit veterans organization. It was incorporated by an act of Congress in 1940, and is dedicated to the welfare and rehabilitation of Naval personnel of all wars.

Paper Obligated, Like Individual

Well-conducted newspapers -- and we hope the public considers this one such -- try to give both sides of public questions. Although The News may adopt an editorial policy opposed by a good many of its readers, its columns are always open to these readers so that they may express their own ideas.

Letters are received in every newspaper office, and that includes this one, that end with a sentence something like this: "I dare you to print this letter," or "I know you won't print my letter because it disagrees with what you have been saying."

Editors usually groan aloud when such communications are brought to hand, but they try to make allowances for the limitations of human nature and the fallibility of the human mind. People who make garbled reports of something they hear in a radio broadcast must be the same kind of persons who have all sorts of peculiar notions about the way newspapers are edited -- that is, about honest newspaper editing to meet their responsibilities to the public.

Such persons in most cases rarely in their lives think more than 15 minutes on any subject, aren't capable of tracing the logic of a question, and when they are given space in the honest newspaper, a newspaper is not worth its salt, it is not an honest newspaper if it closes its columns to any and all expressions of opinion that do not coincide with its own beliefs and policies. Newspapers ought to be first to recognize -- as most of them do -- that it is just as important to protect the right of Joe Doakes to say what he thinks, within reason and subject to libel laws, as it is to insist upon freedom of the press.

Racial Issue Resolves Itself

This newspaper's oft-expressed opinion that you can't legislate morals nor promulgate society's habits was exemplified by an unassuming incident that came to pass the other day. It proves, we think, that racial issues tend to resolve themselves if they are left alone. When a Negro entered the University of Arkansas law school last semester, its trustees decreed absolute segregation, put him in a separate classroom. Some of the white students asked permission to join him so that they could hone up away from their own crowded classes.

This fall the school permitted its only Negro to attend regular classes, but put a railing around his chair.

A couple of weeks ago the trustees bowed to student scoffing at the pretense, ordered the barrier removed.

American schools and universities offer a comprehensive course on The American Way of Life. The obligation to teach affirmatively the one subject which is of greatest import in these times has been forced upon us by the swift march of events.

HYSLOP'S BOOK

WASHINGTON (NEA) -- It appears that the automatic market for books written by government officials is dried up. That's what James A. Hyslop reports, anyhow. He was a Department of Agriculture bigwig for many years and is now retired. He's frankly a little puzzled by the judgment of the publishers who have read his work but aren't eager to put it in print.

Jim, a mild and scholarly man with twinkling eyes, is one of the kindest and most friendly gents you'll ever run across. His Maryland estate just outside of Washington is a mecca for droves of important people, scientists, crackpots and the neighbors' kids. To him his book has all the elements of any best-seller. Romance. Adventure. Suspense. Interest. He admits, however, the casual reader might not quickly discern those ingredients in his book.

The title of the book is the "Encyclopedia of Economic Insects." In manuscript form it takes up about 75 feet of shelf in his great office. In book form it would be about two volumes of about 500 pages each.

Fair Enough -- by Westbrook Pegler

WASHINGTON -- At the time of the IWW's anarchy in Bisbee, Ariz., in 1917, Newton Baker, President Wilson's secretary of war, was yelling his head off for copper production.

The constitution of the IWW (Industrial Workers of the World) said: "A struggle must go on until the workers take possession of the earth and the machinery of production and abolish the wage system."

Secretary of Labor Wilson later said that President Wilson had been very much disturbed by the IWW's interference with the production of copper.

Meanwhile, Tom Mooney and Warren Breckenridge were convicted of killing a lot of people with a time bomb at a Preparedness parade in San Francisco. They were sentenced to death. Their sentences were commuted to life in prison under political pressure from Russia.

Theodore Roosevelt tore into Felix Frankfurter. He said I had had the statutory information about the Bisbee deportations in his report to President Wilson. The Bisbee sheriff, Harry C. Wheeler, elected by the labor vote, justified his deportation of about 1,000 men on the ground that they were German spies and duty to use all necessary force in the presence of a threat to the peace.

Woodrow Wilson's heart bled for the "labor vote" but he wanted copper for his war to make the world safe for democracy. And, after the sheriff and his deputized vigilantes had shipped the anarchists over into the desert at Columbus, N. M., in his opinion, the Bisbee deportations were the most just and necessary view of the outrage.

The other Wilson, the secretary of labor, was put up to the stupid mistake of comparing the deportation to the deportations of Belgian and French women, children and male crooks from their ancient homes by the German invaders.

That made the sheriff good and sore, after he had made it possible to produce the copper for Woodrow. Sheriff Wheeler slammed the hypocrite right in the face. Most of the deportees from Bisbee were strangers, not home-loving patriots being dispossessed, and 80 per cent were enemy aliens. The Bisbee deportation was executed by the resident people and the deportees were mainly riotous roughnecks.

After Felix Frankfurter had a "mediation commission," he wrote a report which Theodore Roosevelt attacked. On Dec. 19, 1917, T. R. wrote to Frankfurter that "you are taking on behalf of the administration an attitude which seems to me to be fundamentally that of Trotsky and other Bolshevik leaders in Russia. Your report on the Bisbee deportation is as thoroughly misused as the document could be written on the subject. No official, writing behalf of the President, is to be excused for failure to know and clearly to set forth that the IWW is a criminal organization. To ignore the fact that a movement such as its members made into Bisbee is as foolish as for a New York policeman to ignore the fact that when the Whyo gang assemblies with guns and knives it is with criminal intent. The President is not to be excused if he ignores the fact, of course, he knows all about it.

"When no efficient means are employed to guard well-behaved citizens from the most brutal kind of lawlessness, it is inevitable that those citizens shall try to protect themselves. When the President, either personally or by representative (meaning Frankfurter), rebukes the men who defend themselves it is necessary sharply to point out that far heavier blame attaches to the authorities who fail to give the needed protection, and up to the investigators (again Frankfurter) who fail to point out the criminal character of the organization against which the decent citizens have taken action. Here you are destructive.

The most useful insects to man other vegetables. He estimates that they destroy about 2,000,000 acres of corn each year and cost the American farmer about $40,000,000 worth of damage annually. The Japanese beetle isn't nearly as kind, he thinks, are the tiny parasite bugs. They live and feed on other insects, kill them and help humans in the battle against this enemy. His favorite illustration of the potential bug menace is the case of the vinegar fly, or gnat. If a pair of gnats started to multiply and all of their young lived and reproduced, in one year the earth would be covered with enough gnats so that the mass would extend to the moon.

Fortunately, he tells, man is slowly conquering the insect, but he says it is impossible to predict when the U. S. will be fly and mosquito free. The discovery of DDT, he says, is one of the greatest weapons against the bug menace ever discovered.

Being such an expert on bug control, you'd naturally expect his grounds and farm to be insectless. A couple of summers ago he sprayed some DDT around the ravine at one end of his place and licked the mosquitoes for awhile. But he said he missed swatting some of the very special species which used to bite him exclusively and never used DDT again. And he says that both he and the hired man are too lazy to spray the apples in the back orchard. They're eaten up quickly by the worms before they ever make a Hyslop pie.

Most interesting bug: Of all the bugs he has studied and written about in his lifetime, the Periodic Cicada, or locust, interests him most. The fact that it's the only insect known that comes out of the earth every 17 years makes it so fascinating to him. The 17-year period differs in various parts of the country.

More Kickers and Fighters Against Government Needed

Very few people realize how the government or a sub-division of the government doing things that are wicked for each and every individual to do is the cause of most of our economic trouble.

Few people realize that a definite limited government that only attempts to protect men's lives and rights in property greatly adds to the wealth of the nation and greatly adds to the standards of living of all the people.

While we do not have the governors appointed by England or its troops, tax collectors and sheriffs taking from individuals their property, against their will are backed by various officers -- boards of education, planning commissions, sanitary districts, water districts, township boards, county boards, state boards and Federal legislatures. Unless there is constant vigilance against the people holding these official positions, they usually greatly reduce the values of men's property just as the soldiers and the representatives of the King of England greatly reduced the values of properties outside of Boston during the Revolution.

The same thought of a need of opposition to government officials was expressed by Woodrow Wilson in the way Wilson expressed it:

"I believe that the weakness of the American character is that there are so few growlers and kickers among us. We have forgotten the very principle of our origin, we have forgotten how to object, how to resist, how to agitate, how to pull down and build up, even to the extent of revolutionary practices."

Very few people realize how government interferes with the citizen. Up until the United States passed the graduated income tax amendment in 1913, the people of the United States were free from government interference from any other country in the world. The various subdivisions of the government and United States are rapidly impoverishing the citizens; they are making it difficult for people to get homes, to make investments, to protect themselves in old age and very difficult for them to inculcate their children to believe in moral principles.

The boards of education or the sub-divisions of the government are teaching the youth of the land that there is no moral law superior to the will of the majority. They are, in fact, teaching the youth of the land that the Eighth Commandment instead of meaning no individual or group has a right to steal teaches them to steal except with the consent of the majority of men.

We need people who will fight and kick and protest against this "primary tyranny," as Rose L. Lane terms compulsory education. We are in the position we are today where we dare not own honest money, where we cannot pay our debts, where we have one class law after another simply because there have not been vigorous enough kickers and protesters against government encroachment on the inherent rights of each and every individual.

The Nation's Press

WORTH FIGHTING FOR (Fort Wayne News Sentinel) Editor and Publisher has made a valid criticism of a New York newspaper's offer to send part of its newsprint, "for free," to Britain.

Other New York state newspapers would likewise, it is a generous but misguided gesture, says E. P. Any thoughtful person can see the British people are suffering from a lack of information caused by a lack of newsprint. But freedom of the press, like other basic rights, is not to be handed over as an unwanted present in a package. If the British people really want more news let them insist that the Labor Government allocate more dollars for the purchase of this paper from U. S. publishers. Not long ago the British publishers did increase their purchase orders with Canadian and Newfoundland mills. The increase would have permitted the British press to enlarge its service. Suddenly, the Socialist Government stopped the authorization for dollar expenditures and the newspapers resumed their wartime austerity. This action invites the suspicion that the Socialists had an ulterior motive. Could it be that with smaller editions, the voice of the newspapers, particularly the Conservatives, will be made into a more feeble protest of the present regime?

The Republicans have no thought of imposing a general sales tax. Such a charge is merely a political smokescreen. The New Deal must be in desperate straits when they resort to such distortion.

news behind the news

WASHINGTON -- Harry S. Truman, Banker, Office and Home Address, San Francisco, Calif.

That may be the Who's Who description of President Truman's occupation and residence after January 20, 1948, assuming that he will run second in the November presidential election.

Anyhow, it is the belief among bankers that through the sponsorship of his old friend, Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder, Mr. Truman will become a key figure in the A. P. Giannini organization.

Secretary Snyder, who has frequently denied that he will join up with the Giannini empire when he quits Washington, has pursued policies that have kept him in favor with the nation's bankers.

He has, albeit behind-the-scenes in most instances, opposed the Federal Reserve Board and the Securities and Exchange Commission when they sought to tighten regulations on the branch banking operations of Mr. Giannini and his financial friends.

Despite Mr. Snyder's protests, it is generally believed that he will wind up with an important banking institution. In view of his experience in that field, his services with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and his prestige as Mr. Truman's secretary of the treasury, he could be a valuable addition to any corporation.

And what more natural than that he should land a job for his old friend in the White House, who made him what he is today?

LEGISLATOR -- Prior to this new development, there had been talk at Washington that a defeated Mr. Truman would seek the senatorial nomination from Missouri in 1950. Like John Q. Adams, he might become a more useful and distinguished legislator than he was a president.

But the hitch here, according to grapevine informants from St. Joseph, Mo., is that President Truman in 1950, like John Q. Adams, might become a more useful and distinguished legislator than he was a president.

BANKER -- Almost every Missouri governor was of presidential caliber, but they missed out because of hard, political luck -- David Francis, William J. Stone, Herbert Hadley, Arthur H. Hyde, Lloyd C. Stark. And the roll-call does not include the brilliant "Jim" Reed, a senator but never a governor.

If Governor Donnelly ranks with such legendary figures in Missouri's political folklore, as all signs suggest, Mr. Truman would suffer the humiliation of a primary defeat for the office which gave him his chance at the White House. And he knows it. Therefore, Washington figures that Who's Who can set its type for the 1950 edition right now, to wit:

Well, I see that the White Plains, N. Y., school system has started an adult education course to teach women sports terms. The idea is that it will keep them from asking their husbands silly questions. If the White Plains people think I'm going to school to spare my husband my silly questions, they've got another guess coming.

What is really needed is a course for husbands to keep them from asking their wives silly questions. Such as "Why do you need a new hat?" "Why do you want to go to the movies again tonight?" "Why can't you ever be on time for an appointment?"

Besides, don't get the idea that husbands are annoyed by their wives asking them silly sports questions. They love it. It's the only chance they get to show their superiority, poor dears!

The Wallace movement, engineered by men of notoriously Communist antecedents and moored to Soviet foreign policy, is not a third party, it is a fifth column.

Dean Alfange, New York Liberal Party leader, announcing his support of Governor Dewey, prospective, San Francisco banking job may look better to the President next year than an attempt to make a political comeback by running for the Senate from Missouri.

Truman: A madhouse. We never get speeches or schedules on time. Newspapermen writing critical stuff are dogged by HST's aides. We like Harry, but that's all. You can have him!

Dewey: A streamlined battler. Almost too mechanical and effective. Maybe good for government, but no human spark. Dewey, however, whether he is putting on an act or has grown mellow with age, like whisky, is sort of a . ai guy.

Wallace: If you have any influence with my office at Washington, please have me recalled. I want to preserve my life and my self-respect.

Warren: The most amazing political campaign trip I have ever taken. If my wife and kids were with me, I would feel that I had never left home. These Warrens are real people.

Suspicion Principal Reason Why U.S., Russia Can't Agree

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of two stories on why the failure to get international control of the atom bomb and atomic energy.
By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Why can't the United States and Russia agree on controlling the atom bomb?
The big trouble is suspicion. We want to be sure Russia can't cheat. Russia doesn't trust us. There are now two plans for outlawing the bomb. Russia has one plan. The other has been worked out by the special atomic commission set up by the United Nations.
This plan has been approved by the big majority of the 11 nations in the commission, including this country. Russia, also on the commission, does not approve. Therefore, up to this time: no international control.
Briefly, this is the commission plan:

1. The 58 members of the U.N. agree to international control of the bomb.
 2. Then the U.N. sets up the control machinery, such as a special agency, to see that no bombs are made.
 3. Once the controls are working, the U.S. turns over to the agency any bombs it has.
 4. At this point, the U.S. turns over to the agency, which means he whole world, what it knows about making the bomb.
- The agency would stand constant guard on every country, being free to go any time, anywhere to make sure the bomb wasn't being made on the sly.
- Toughly, this is the Russian plan now:
1. It wants the right to veto action by the control agency.
 2. It wants the U.S. to get rid of its bombs before any controls are set up. It says it this way: The U.S. must surrender its bombs at the very moment when the various nations agree to set up controls. In other words: Russia wants the U.S. to surrender its bombs before the U.S. has a chance to see whether controls will work or whether Russia really means to let them work.
- Further, since Russia wants to keep the veto power, it could block any move by the international agency to be sure Russia wasn't making the bomb secretly. To this Russian proposal the

Milk Situation May Get Worse

LUBBOCK—(AP)—Don't be too hard on your milkman if you don't get all the milk you want. The milk situation promises to get worse all over the country. This warning was issued by Dr. J. J. Willingham, professor and acting chairman of Texas technological college, in answer to urgent requests from consumers and bottlers for more milk.

"The population of Lubbock and Texas Tech has doubled in the past eight years, while the production of milk fluid has decreased alarmingly. Right now the shortage is the worst it has ever been, and we are coming into the regular short season," Dr. Willingham said.

The college dairy and downtown distributors have tried to import additional milk for bottling with slight success. Dr. Willingham said the reserve market has been exhausted, and consumers will have to get along with the present market.

The acute shortage has been brought about by the high cost of feed for dairy cattle coupled with the increased price for agriculture products which has made many producers turn from raising dairy cattle to producing cotton, feed and wheat.

Amarilloan Asks Freedom From Arrest

BOSTON—(AP)—Federal Judge Charles Wyzanski, Jr., has taken under advisement a petition by Louis B. Conley, 27, of Amarillo to protect him against arrest by Massachusetts authorities.

Conley recently was ordered by Texas authorities to return to Boston to face federal charges of unlawful flight.

He is charged with leaving Massachusetts last year with his two-year-old daughter, Lynette, who had been living at the Brockton home of his mother-in-law. Police said he took the child to Amarillo.

American government says: bunk. The Russians say the American-approved plan is rigged in such a way that the U.S. could get world control of atomic energy.

Harvesters Defeated by Wichita Falls

Locals' Undefeated Record Is Spoiled as Coyotes Win, 6-0

By GENE GARRISON
News Sports Editor

An inhospitable band of Wichita Falls Coyotes exerted an exceptionally strong defensive game last Friday night in Wichita Falls and spoiled the Pampa Harvesters' undefeated, untied record with a hard-earned 6-0 verdict over the Pampans.

The lone Coyote tally came in the final quarter after both teams had engaged in a nip and tuck battle for the first three quarters. The Harvesters had, however, earned a slight edge on paper.

Billy Hanaway, 148-pound Wichita halfback, slipped through left tackle for a 64-yard jaunt to the Harvester six-yard stripe to set up the tally. Jerry Blanton then drove through for the contest's only score.

In statistics, the Harvesters gained a slight edge in everything except the "yards from scrimmage" department and would have gained an advantage there had it not been for Hanaway's run.

The locals piled up seven first downs to the Coyotes' two, and gained 52 yards via the airways. The Coyotes failed to complete a single pass.

In the first quarter, neither outfit could gain the upper hand as the Harvesters' Davis and the Coyotes' Waggoner lacked horns in a punting duel. Davis, however, seemed to be by far the superior kicker, compiling an average of 42 yards in six attempts. Waggoner's average was 34 yards in UPSETS DOMINATE COLLEGE FOOTBALL; TEXAS UNIVERSITY LOSES TO O. U.

DALLAS—(AP)—Oklahoma Univ. broke its drought of Texas football victories yesterday afternoon with a blistering running game that swept the Longhorns off their feet. 20-14, despite a great last half offensive show by the Longhorns, sparked by the brilliant running of Halfback Randall Clay. Clay's great running carried the ball deep into Oklahoma territory several times, but there the Oklahoma line would dig in to halt the drive. Clay scored one touchdown, set up the other, and kicked both Texas conversions.

Riding a destructive ground attack, the University of Missouri Tigers smashed over three touchdowns in the second half for a 20 to 14 victory over favored Southern Methodist University Saturday.

A Missouri home record crowd of 30,892 fans saw the Tigers defeat since 1946. Donk Walker, SMU's All-American back, played the full sixty minutes and played brilliantly, but the two touchdowns he made and his two conversions weren't enough to overcome the powerful Missouri running attack.

Southern California's Trojans put on one scoring march of 80 yards Saturday and then spent the rest of the afternoon fighting to hold off a scrapping Rice Owl eleven that drove inside the five yard line three times in the fading minutes.

The score: Southern Cal 7; Rice 0. The last minute of the game left 49,531 onlookers slightly limp as Rice fought to at least match their last year's 7-7 tie with the Trojans, again sluggish on AUSTIN—(AP)—Legislation needs for family relations and children's courts is scheduled for discussion at a statewide meeting here Oct. 15. The meeting was called by the League of Women Voters of Texas in an attempt to coordinate efforts for juvenile legislation. The Houston Bar Association will present a proposed children's court bill. For the favored Razorbacks, it was a case of too little of their own Clyde Scott and too much of Baylor's Adrian Burk. Scott, out him Arkansas' offense was impotent.

TRIBE WHIPS BRAVES 2-1; MAY END SERIES TODAY

CLEVELAND (AP)—Steve Gromek stood the hapless Boston Braves on their collective heads yesterday as the Cleveland Indians took a virtual stranglehold on the world baseball championship with a 2-1 victory over the National Leaguers. A series record 81,897 fans saw the game. Gromek gave the Indians a 3-1 advantage in games, putting them in a position to close out the series today behind Bob Feller. Larry Doby's third-inning homer, the first of the series, provided Gromek his margin of victory. The only score the Braves made was a well-tagged home run in the seventh by Mary Rickert, the minor league outfielder who got in the playoffs at the last minute because of an injury to Jeff Heath. Yesterday's vast crowd, although slightly under the major league record of 82,761 which saw a mid-season Cleveland-Philadelphia double-header in Municipal Stadium here, paid $370,775.03, also a new series mark. The old series attendance record was 74,065 set in Yankee Stadium last year. The Indians Saturday beat the fellow who licked them in the Boston opener, Johnny Sain. They clipped him for only five hits. But one of their blows was a double by Boudreau with an underling on base in the first inning. And another was a home run smash by the Negro outfielder, Larry Doby, in the third. That was all Gromek needed as he sneaked a weird assortment of curves and screwballs past the bewildered Bostonians. In all, he gave up seven hits. Rickert's round-tripper broke a string of 22 scoreless innings for the Braves, starting in the second game of the series. Saturday's throng raised its blood pressure only twice—when Doby socked the winning hit, and when Boudreau was called out at third by Umpire Bill Stewart, Cleveland's favorite villain, after delivering his timely double in the first inning. Dale Mitchell, Tribe leftfielder, inaugurated the contest with a sharp single through the box. Doby was an infield out, and then Boudreau poled a long one down the right field line. It was a double easily, and Mitchell raced across by miles, but for some reason Lou, who also is one of the slowest pilots in the business, decided to stretch it. Tommy Holmes whipped the ball in to Al Dark, Boston shortstop, and Al in turn relayed to Bob Elliot, who was squinting over third. Boudreau slid, Elliot planted the ball on him, and Stewart said the Cleveland leader was a casualty. It finally was necessary for rhotund Bill Summers, who was working the second base precinct, to trundle over and pull Boudreau and Coach Bill McKeechie off the harried arbiter. From there on the record crowd missed no opportunity to vent its wrath on Stewart. It all went back, of course, to the opening game in Boston, when Stewart ruled Phil Mast of the Braves safe on the celebrated and vital pick-off play at second base, which enabled the Boston catcher to score the game's winning run a moment later. Another close decision by Stewart at first base led to Boston's only run of the second contest. Today Bob Feller will pitch for Cleveland and Nelson Potter for Boston.

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Panhandle Panthers scored a lone touchdown in the first quarter to squeeze by the Lefors Pirates 6-0 here last Friday night. The contest was the Pirates' last non-conference clash, and Lefors Coach Love allowed his substitutes to play almost the entire game, giving his first string a much needed rest. Quarterback Freddie Newsome was the only regular used in the tilt, and he saw action only on the kick-off. The Pirates open district competition next week against the once defeated Shamrock Irishmen. To Tommy Jinks and Bill Clemmons, Pirate guard and center, respectively, who were injured last week against Memphis, were ready for action, but were saved for next week. Panhandle received the kickoff and marched steadily ahead for three first downs to put the Panthers on the Pirates' 32-yard line. Runs and a 10-yard pass to Light put the ball on the Lefors 17, where an 11-yard pass, again to Light, put the ball in the shadow of the goal posts on the 2-yard line. A short pass over center was caught by Mitchell so close to the ground that a strong dispute arose over the legality of the touchdown. The referee ruled, however, that Mitchell caught the ball between him and the ground, so the score, Panhandle's only one of the game, stood. The try for the extra point failed. Early in the second quarter, Panhandle started on the march again, tramping from its own 25-yard line clear to pay dirt. The touchdown was nullified, however, by a 5-yard offside penalty. By saving his best men, Coach Love said the Pirates will be in full strength for their conference game with Shamrock. Understanding for the Pirates were

Bucks' 6-0 Score Halts Mustangs

WHITE DEER (Special)—The White Deer Bucks scored in the opening minutes of the ball game here Friday night to upset the local Wheeler Mustangs, 6-0 as the two teams initiated conference play in the 1948 season. The Bucks received the Mustangs kickoff and after several first downs by Skippy and Ronnie Buchanan, Hoy Taylor, co-captain, charged through center for a 59-yard scoring run. Teddy Harvey ran around right end for the extra point. In the second quarter, the Mustangs stopped temporarily a Bucks touchdown march of four first downs in succession when Garland Parks intercepted one of Skippy Buchanan's passes. The Mustangs started a scoring trek of their own in the third quarter when Bill Robertson went through center for a 25-yard gain. Corky Robertson had made two first downs that put the ball on the Bucks 35 when he fumbled. The Bucks recovered to halt the running Mustangs. Corkey Robertson, rated the Mustangs' best passer, had three of his four attempted passes in the fourth quarter taken from him. Skippy Buchanan intercepted two of them and Wendell Jordan knocked down the third. The fourth pass was completed just as the final whistle blew. The Bucks made 11 first downs. Ray Dickerson, a Freshman, who played at left halfback, and Joe Rice, 140-pound tailback, Panhandle's stars were Light, Knapp, and Mitchell.

Ex-Harvesters Pace Sull Ross To 44-6 Victory

GOODWILL, Okla. (Special)—Two pint-sized ex-Palapa Harvesters proved that dynamite comes in small packages here Friday night when they sparked a Sull Ross gridiron attack that plowed the Oklahoma Panhandle's A and M team under, 44 to 6. Charlie Laffoon and Jimmy Wilson each dealt themselves king sized hands in the third consecutive Sull Ross victory. Laffoon scored one touchdown himself and flung two aerials that went good for six points each. Wilson catapulted over from the 12 yard line for one touchdown and kicked to extra points. So far this year, the plucky half-back has scored 14 points. The Sull Ross aggregation is one of the three undefeated college teams in Texas. At the outset of the U.S. Civil War, there were about 100 high schools in the nation. Today there are more than 29,000.

THE DRILLER'S LOG

By KEN BENNETT

There have been so many questions asked recently about deep test operations in and around this section of the country that today I am giving a brief rundown on activity as it stands at present.

well in Roberts County, drilled by Sinclair on the Sinclair-Lipps Lease, Section 135, Block C, G & M Survey, is now down to about 3,902 feet. In Lipscomb County, Gulf Oil is drilling at about 9,041 feet. This is in Section 413, Block 43, H & TC Survey. Sun Oil is drilling at about 7,870 feet in Castro County, Section 8, Block 2, W. A. Halsell Survey. They are reportedly drilling in line at that depth. The Pure Oil Oil well, Langford Lease, Section 148, Block 48, H & TC Survey, in Hartley County is trying to regain circulation at about 5,615 feet.

several questions, also, on the Helms-Hickman well which we reported last week. This well is in Gray County, Section 18, Block 30, I & GN Survey, known as the Brown, No. 1. The well is reported cleaning out after using 450 quarts at a depth of from 2,618 to 2,715. No official report on results is obtainable at present. It is also reported, by rumor, that another well is being planned by the company in the same area. According to reports the well was flowing at about 20 barrels per day before the test was made.

A new rumor has just reached my ears that Phillips is planning another deep-test in the near vicinity of the Jenkie, I would remind you that this is strictly rumor but from a fairly reliable source.

I. S. Marlin, gas tester for Shell Oil, has just returned from a three-weeks business trip for the company. He visited in Tulsa, Houston, and Wichita Falls. ... red Neslage, local authority on secondary recovery and other Panhandle field problems, has been secured to speak to the API at its next meeting, which is in November. ... Eddie Thoes, junior engineer student at Oklahoma University, is visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Thoes, over the weekend. ... Dora Owen, office receptionist for Shell beginning her two-weeks vacation tomorrow. In her absence, Mrs. Virginia Barnhill will assume her duties. ... Harry Dulaney, production chief clerk for Shell, returned Friday from Hot Springs, N. M., where he spent about ten days.

Skelton Reviews Texas Oil News

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON, Tex. — (AP) — World War II continues to make its contributions to the petroleum industry.

Jellied gasoline, developed for fire bombing during the war, now is being used in experiments designed to increase the yield of oil reservoirs.

The wartime by-product, pumped into a well under high pressure, "cracks" rock formations which hinder easy flow of oil into the well-hole.

The process, which also can utilize jellied light crude oil, was developed by Stanolind Oil & Gas Co., whose research engineer is J. B. Clark.

Middle East: The old battle over Middle East steel and domestic shortages broke out at the Dallas meeting of the Petroleum Division of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

Said John R. Suman, director of Standard Oil (New Jersey): "If the Middle East does not supply most of the oil needed our hemisphere will but only at the expense of restriction on the use of oil products here."

Replied D. Harold Byrd, Dallas, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of Texas: "... What Mr. Suman failed to say is that there is not enough steel available even to develop the Middle East and American reserves at the same time."

Frank A. Howard, New York research consultant, suggests legislation establishing a national fuels policy which "should always favor coal, either as a direct substitute for oil or as a source of oil."

Howard, former head of research activities for Standard Oil (New Jersey), said current conditions indicate the Western Hemisphere "will as a whole produce less crude oil than it consumes" within 15 years or less.

Domestic crude production, however, continues to rally following its setback during the early days of the west coast refinery strike which began September 4.

American Petroleum Institute figures place daily production averages for the week ending October 2 at 5,452,760 barrels, an increase of 109,850 over the previous week but back within striking distance of the all-time high of 5,531,450 barrels daily set the week prior to the strike.

Here and there: Seventy-one companies operating crude oil and refined products pipelines delivered 2,474,339,745 barrels last year, an increase of 9.4 percent over 1946 and 75.8pc over 1940, Interstate Commerce Commission figures indicate.

The Texas Railroad Commission estimates the state's July gas production at 267,538,387,000 cubic feet, excluding unreported gas flared at oil wells. Its disposition: 44.89 percent into pipelines, 19.22 percent to cars for a black manufacture, and the remainder for lease operations, line or flare loss. ... Contracts totaling $2,000,000 have been signed by Lion Oil for construction of sulphuric acid and ammonium sulphate units to its El Dorado, Ark., chemical plant.

Daily weather reports are issued by 390 U.S. Weather Bureau stations.

Eddie Sawyer of the Philadelphia Phillies at 38 is the second youngest manager in the major leagues. Lou Boudreau of Cleveland, 31, is the youngest.

The Thompson Glass and Paint Co. opened for business in December, 1948. Thompson's an authorized Allied Paint and Manufacturing Co. factory branch dealer. They are the first warehousing company in the Panhandle to provide sufficient stocks to care for the industrial needs of this area. Allied Paint and Mig. Co., one of the outstanding paint manufacturers, specialize in all types of industrial and household finishes. A new industry was added to Pampa's growing list when Thompson's added the mirror processing plant. A considerable amount of time and money was spent perfecting a silvering process that will withstand the conditions of this area. This process proved to be far superior to mirrors not specially made for this area. Thompson's have been able to keep the prices very competitive. Thompson's specialize in store fronts and structural glass installation and brought to Pampa a specialized technical ability in this field.

Thompson is the largest centrally located distributor of paint and paint products in the Panhandle and contributes the success of the organization to the splendid co-operation of the people of this area.

Plagiarism Suit May Start Again

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — They may start all over again in the $100,000 plagiarism suit against actress Miss West.

Immediately after a deadlocked superior court jury was dismissed, counsel for the complaining writers, Michael Kane and Edward O'Brien, said he hoped for a retrial at once. Miss West's lawyer said he was ready.

The trial lasted six weeks. The jurors deliberated four days. Kane and O'Brien alleged that Miss West used their material in her stage play, "Catherine Was Great."

House Group to Probe Alaskan Labor Unions

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A special House labor subcommittee was appointed yesterday to investigate reports that Communists are infiltrating into Alaska labor unions.

Chairman Hartley (R-N.J.) named Representatives Kersten (R-Wis.) and Fisher (D-Tex.) to investigate what Hartley described as complaints "that may involve the security of the United States."

Hartley refused to say which labor unions are believed to be involved, but said the investigation will be started soon as the subcommittee's headquarters will be at Anchorage.

The land, which exceeds 87,000 acres, was appraised at $2 million by the Houston Federal Land Bank.

John Sharp, manager of the Camp Bowie surplus land disposal office, said 23,000 acres of Bowie land previously cleared by the Army has already been sold.

State's Revenue Leveling Off, Comptroller Says

AUSTIN — Signs that flush state revenues are beginning to level off were seen by State Comptroller George H. Sheppard. Net or corrected revenue receipts for September showed a gain of four million dollars, or 1.5 percent over September receipts a year ago.

Sheppard explained, was two percent below the average gain for the last fiscal year over the previous year "and indicates a final leveling off of state receipts."

Sheppard's report predicted that the general revenue fund's balance would start somewhere between 70 and 80 million dollars until collections of franchise taxes and insurance company occupation taxes begin to roll in next April and May.

He also noted that the financing of public schools got off to a good start in September. Educational payments totaled $13,941,000 compared with $3,911,564 the same month last year. This included large allocations to rural and city schools.

The DA Hereby Gets New Charge

The Little Mister, District Attorney, at 2 p. m. Friday District Attorney and Mrs. Thomas C. Braly became the parents of a son at Pampa Hospital.

The little fellow weighed in at exactly one ounce less than eight pounds.

The DA said last night the new arrival would be named Thomas Comins Braly II.

Mother and son were reported by hospital attendants as "doing fine."

Green Sox in Top Position

SHAMROCK — (Special) — The Shamrock Green Sox ended their 1948 season last week by defeating the Kelton club 23-7.

The Shamrock club, sponsored by Jack DeKle of DeKle Bros. Motor Co., ended the season with 17 wins and 10 losses. Four of those losses were to semi-professional teams, two of them being to the Wellington Dukes, one to Elk City, Okla., and one to Memphis. They defeated the Shamrock colored team twice; lost to Willow, Okla., one time; and broke even with Sayre, Okla., winning one and losing one.

In the regular league schedule of the West Texas-Oklahoma League, the Sox won 11 games and lost three to give them first place position. The Kelton team, in fourth place spot, defeated them in the play-off, the same club then meeting and defeating second-place Wheeler.

WOMAN

(Continued from Page 1) port, then in Connecticut. Then the Foundation for Economic Education asked to reprint it as a Foundation in Brief, entitled: Show Me Any Other Country, and readers from coast to coast are asking for it now. Orders were nearing 500,000 the last I heard, and editorial comments are appearing everywhere."

EDUCATE OURSELVES Betty Hunt told Norman Thomas that the only solution to the world's problems "is for all of us to educate ourselves in the responsibilities as well as the benefits of freedom."

BEFORE

(Continued from Page 1) I am equally, and urged Christians everywhere to "repudiate both," and seek new creative solutions. It denounced communism for stressing "economic justice" at the expense of freedom and capitalism for stressing freedom at the expense of economic justice. Thus in the all-important cold war between America and Russia, these influential churchmen have refused to join either side, and are looking for another way out.

Explanations of this position have been few thus far, but Newsweek prints interesting comments by one of our American delegates, Dr. John C. Bennett of Union Theological Seminary in New York. He told Newsweek that "in both closed and open discussions, the conservative point of view had never been expressed."

Study that statement for a minute. It means that not a single American delegate arose to defend the American economic system! "French delegates," said Dr. Bennett "wanted to denounce capitalism as slavery but were talked out of it. Study that statement too. It reveals what the Protestant leaders of France think of the economic system which liberated their people from the Nazis, and which has been feeding and supporting them ever since the war ended."

As for the "new creative solutions" which Christians are asked to seek, Dr. Bennett believes that British socialism is pretty much what the delegates had in mind. Now nobody needs to doubt the sincerity of these good men, to be profoundly disturbed by their conclusions. One can grant them the "best intentions" in the world, and still feel that they are gravely wrong, tragically wrong. My own troubled mind keeps repeating that ironic sentence: "Most of the harm in the world is done by good people."

Do Christian Americans have the right to challenge their leaders in this economic field? I think they do only have the right but the duty to do so. The sole question involved is whether church leaders are to be credited with infallible judgment in the secular field of economics, whether their educational background and experience makes them reliable experts in this field, and whether their economic thinking is based upon facts or upon feelings.

Religious leaders are now in the economic field because they sincerely believe it is their duty to fight for "social justice." By "social justice" they mean "economic justice," or a better material life for mankind. They admit that this concerns the body rather than the soul, and that it can be summed up in the phrase "the greatest economic good for the greatest number."

With this definition established Christian Americans should ask them why they repudiate the American economic system, which has proved itself, with all its human errors in putting it in operation to be the greatest producer of goods and services for the greatest number of people in all man's history! This is a fact. It can be proved. It is not a theory. It is the truth.

QUESTIONS IN ORDER We should ask what these religious leaders mean when they say "Communism puts its emphasis upon economic justice." We are entitled to a factual description of that "justice," complete with standard of living data, slave labor figures, distribution of income facts, and an honest comparison with the "economic justice" in America.

When they imply that British socialism is "the Christian answer," we should certainly ask "Why? What has socialism done for the British? What have the British gained except a lower standard of living, and a strangling web of restrictions upon their liberty? What would happen if America's repudiated system ceased to subsidize the deficits of all their nationalized industries? Where in the whole picture of Socialized Britain is there a single inspiration for America?"

Do our Protestant leaders call "equal poverty" "social justice"? Do they really believe that politicians can manage industries better than businessmen? Do they really believe that "more material welfare" is guaranteeable by governments, and without the loss of individual liberty? If so, what proof can they give us to back up their beliefs?

The fate of the world depends today upon what America believes and does in the days and months ahead. We cannot afford to make a mistake now. "Good intentions" are not nearly enough—not even for our religious leaders. The means is just as important as the end. We must never forget that "most of the harm in the world is done by good people!"

"Let them set free the million or more German and Japanese prisoners they now hold as slaves. Let them cease to oppress, torment and exploit the immense parts of Germany and Austria which are now in their hands. . . Let them cease to distract Malaya and Indonesia. Let them liberate the Communist-held portion of Korea. Let them cease to foment the hideous civil war in China.

"Above all, let them throw open their vast regions on equal terms to the ordinary travel and traffic of mankind. Let them give others the chance to breathe freely and let them breathe freely themselves."

Churchill said his party must support the Labor government in its rearmament program, but he chided it for advocating "half-measures."

ESSAY ON MAN — Man is what a woman marries. Men have two feet, two hands, and sometimes wives, but never more than one collar button or one idea at a time. Like Turkish cigarettes, men are all made of the same material, the only difference is that some are better disguised than others. Generally speaking, they may be divided into three classes — husbands, bachelors, and widowers.

An eligible bachelor is a man of obstinacy surrounded with suspicion. Husbands are of three varieties: prize, surprise, and consolation prize. Making a husband out of a man is one of the highest plastic arts known to civilization. It requires science, sculpture, and common sense. Faith, hope and charity — and a startling hat, he hesitates to take you out. If you wear a brown toque and a tailor-made suit, he takes you out and stares all evening at a woman in gay colors, rouge, and a startling hat.

If you flatter a man, it frightens him to death. If you don't, you bore him to death. If you permit him to make love to you, he gets tired of you in the end. If you don't, he gets tired of you in the beginning. If you wear a brown toque and a tailor-made suit, he takes you out and stares all evening at a woman in gay colors, rouge, and a startling hat.

If you are the clinging-vine type, he doubts whether you have a brain. If you are the modern type, an advanced and independent woman, he doubts whether you have a heart. If you are silly, he longs for a bright mate; and if you are brilliant, he longs for a playmate. If you are popular with other men, he is jealous, and if you are not, he hesitates to marry a wallflower.

If you please him, he seldom mentions it, but if you displease him, he never fails to tell you about it — especially if you are his wife.

AMOOZIN' BUT CONFOOZIN' — Heard that a couple of Pampa men drove up to an out-of-the-way store in Colorado during the summer — hotly arguing as to whether or not they would do it. One of the fellows was all for it, but the other was definitely agin it. The guy who was so in favor of the idea tried cajoling, threatening, but no means was found to entice the companion to follow suit. Convinced that the adamant partner would have no part of his proposed idea, the willing "bottle-splitter" jumped from the car, full of bouquet. A host of the Morris' friends climaxed the event at the reception given at the Terrace Grill. Here's happy wishes for happiness! ... Word has been received that Mr. and Mrs. Bill Finley (formerly of Pampa—Bill worked for The Texas Company here) have a new baby girl, Patricia Ann. The proud parents are now living near Paris, Texas. ... Certainly has been a quiet weekend in Pampa since practically all Pampans have been leaving to go to games — saw one happy car full leaving — Ed and Givens, Guy and Freda LeMond, and Lewis Sprinkle going to the Texas-Oklahoma game in Dallas — the Ray Kubus also were leaving for points south. Lil Kelley is scheduled for the Dallas game — and that's only a few — the bleachers will be filled with Pampa fans.

PANORAMIC DISPATCH DEPARTMENT — Irma Crall and I have surely been having a whirl of a time this past week. She, making last-minute preparations for getting married, and I racing to keep up with her. It all started off Tuesday morning with a breakfast at the Country Club in her honor. Mrs. Wade Thomason and Mrs. Chick Hickman were gracious hostesses. The honoree looked quite dazling, opening the pretty packages. ... To the strains of "Lohengrin," Frank and Irma tripped down the aisle of the First Presbyterian Church Friday afternoon. Irma was stunning in gray satin holding a lovely bouquet. A host of the Morris' friends climaxed the event at the reception given at the Terrace Grill. Here's happy wishes for happiness! ... Word has been received that Mr. and Mrs. Bill Finley (formerly of Pampa—Bill worked for The Texas Company here) have a new baby girl, Patricia Ann. The proud parents are now living near Paris, Texas. ... Certainly has been a quiet weekend in Pampa since practically all Pampans have been leaving to go to games — saw one happy car full leaving — Ed and Givens, Guy and Freda LeMond, and Lewis Sprinkle going to the Texas-Oklahoma game in Dallas — the Ray Kubus also were leaving for points south. Lil Kelley is scheduled for the Dallas game — and that's only a few — the bleachers will be filled with Pampa fans.

WHAT A MONTH! — And there're still three weeks to go. Among all the regular activities of the month is the event of the month for music lovers — the U. S. Naval Band, which will be an outstanding feature for Pampa; next, I understand, we will be treated to a Barbershop Jamboree, and all who love close harmony will attend this event; and, finally, the first of the Community Concert series will be presented when "The Revelers" will appear the latter part of the month.

DEER, BEWARE! — The hunters are on the prowl. Even conservative Dr. Webb had promised the entire Lions Club a dinner of venison; and near the doctor, with highly polished guns, will be Doc Brown, Doc Zachary and Frank Guberson. ... Hope you voted for my child's Fire Prevention poster this past week. You should have been able to tell which one it was 'cause I thought it was the best. No foolin'! These kids did some good work, and I noticed many appreciative people admiring them and voting up town. The polls were handled by Cub Scouts.

The Midway was definitely the best thing about the Amarillo Fair — and apparently lots of my neighbors thought so too: saw Paul Crossman and Froggie Sims enjoying it all. Yeah, and among others I recall were the E. O. "Red" Wedgeworthis with their friends, the J. P. Smiths of Pantex.

Good to hear W. D. Kelley's progressing nicely in an Amarillo hospital following recent operation. ... Saw Clifford Braly and new wife in town following honeymoon. ... Buck Miller has started construction on new home, also the Wendell Sanfords. ...

BY THE WAY, will somebody mind believing me when I say that I saw icicles in the park one morning this past week! (So help me!)

Well, I'm checking out pretty soon now. ... I see where a noted band leader is warning prospective husbands that they can figure just what kind of wife a girl will make by the way she dances. He says waltzers and fox-trotters are the best home-makers, while jitterbugs and smoothie rumba dancers are the worst. Well, skipping over what kind of husband I think a band leader would make, I suggest the same dancing test for husbands. I certainly wouldn't want a rumba-type one, slithering up and down the floor at night, walking the baby to sleep. I have a very good husband who waltzes when he jitterbugs and fox-trots the ass. He's a type all by himself. Naturally, the worse dancer a man is, the safer he is as a husband. A man who walks on your feet on the dance floor is practically guaranteed to keep walking on them the rest of your life.

Use Your Vote in '48 Is Theme of Week; Local B&PW Chapter Plans Full Program

The Pampa Chapter of Business and Professional Women's Club, has planned a full program in observance of the twenty-first annual "National Business Women's Week," Oct. 10-16, according to Miss Florence Merriman, president of the local chapter.

The theme of the week, "Use Your Vote in '48" has occasioned praise from President Truman who in a letter to Dr. K. Frances Scott, newly elected president of the National Federation, says "Our country will continue as a bulwark of democracy only through forthright majority rule, and such rule is a reality only when every citizen votes."

The week of observance begins today with a coffee in the home of Mrs. Sigourney Waters, 1244 Christine. Afterward, the group will attend the First Methodist Church. A class in sales and speech, a program on "Use Your Vote in '48," a silver tea for the Dr. Minnie L. Maffett Educational Fund, and a special project, a safe driving campaign, round out the week's program. Murriel Landers is the general chairman of the week.

Other officers of the club include: Inez French, vice president; Tommie Stone, recording secretary; Norma Phillips, corresponding secretary; Elsie Gee, treasurer; Vera Lard, parliamentarian; Vena Riley, finance chairman; Margaret Dial, health and safety; Mrs. A. Opal Wright, legislation; Mildred Lafferty, membership; L. O. Parker, program coordination; Lillian McNutt, public affairs; Mildred Hill, publicity; Laura Belle Cornelius, news service; Maurine Jones, radio; and Lillian Whitten, social.

In commenting on the "Use Your Vote in '48" theme of National Business Women's Week, Dr. Scott says enough stress cannot be laid upon the achievements of women politically, or upon the far goals still to be reached.

"There still remains a colossal educational job to be done to teach the average person more about political procedure, why each individual's vote is so vital, how he can obtain information about candidates, and to inspire more general interest in the primaries."

"The future of this country depends to a large extent upon the men and women we elect to public office on Nov. 2. We must realize that elections are decided as much by the missing votes as by the votes cast. We must work to put more women in the House of Representatives, to share with men the responsibility for the great issues that lie ahead," Dr. Scott said.

State and local presidents of the B&PW Clubs hold a variety of positions in the business world. Of the newly elected state presidents, eleven are listed as teachers in the records of the federation's executive offices. This number includes a principal of a high school as well as an assistant dean of women at a university.

The president of Pampa's Business and Professional Women's Club, Miss Merriman, is engaged in public stenography and public accounting. She has held a variety of interesting positions, probably the most interesting of which was being secretary to Congressman Eugene Worcester in Washington, D. C., for four years.

Four of the state presidents are lawyers. Five are owners of their own businesses, including a newspaper, antique shop and real estate business. Seven of the state officers are employed as secretaries working with law, railroads, public utilities, education, and in newspaper publishing.

Among the other professions listed are: county recorder, statistician, administrative officer in the United States Department of Commerce, home service director, technician in a doctor's office, registered nurse, public health officer, supervisor of county schools, supervisor of public utilities, auditor and assistant manager of a retail store.

Texas May Lose One House Seat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unless the moving away fever hits a lot of Californians before 1950, the Sunshine State stands to pick up seven extra seats in the House of Representatives.

The House Civil Service Committee made this estimate after studying the Census Bureau's latest population survey.

Under present law there will be an automatic reapportionment of the 435 House seats after the 1950 census is made.

Here's how the committee figured the likely changes:

Indians, Michigan, Oregon, Texas, and Washington, 1 each.

Losers—New York 2, Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and Tennessee, 1 each.

Woman Bus Driver Raises Foxes Plus Other Duties

TALHINA, Okla.—(AP)—On her Holsum Valley ranch near here, Mrs. Bee Smith is adding another job to her long list of accomplishments.

Oklahoma's first woman bus driver is now in the business of raising foxes on a commercial basis.

As one of Oklahoma's pioneer advocates of woman's rights to compete with men in any field of endeavor, Mrs. Smith operated the Bee bus lines in 1928, driving one of the busses. Before that she drove a taxi, another first for Oklahoma women.

She has always been a cowgirl, raising cattle at a profit. She got her start in Ardmore, Okla., where her father, W. E. Weaver, former U. S. marshal, taught her the fine points of the industry.

One of the busiest women in this vicinity, she rides herd over 80 head of cattle on the open range, keeps a large number of hogs and finds time for her housework.

Her foxes, however, are her greatest care and interest. Although still in an experimental stage, she has 16 old breeders and 23 pups in her pens.

Indians Given Wrong 'License'

GALLUP, N. M.—(AP)—Two Navajo Indians sought a marriage license from the county clerk.

The office was jammed with voters waiting to register.

Finally they were handed a paper and went off to the minister.

He had to send them back. Their "license" turned out to be a carbon copy of their voting registration blank.

Firemen Hold Steak Dinner For Wives

By JIM McCLUSKEY

The local firemen and their wives know just the right policy for getting public relations as well as better acquainted.

Once every two months a big steak or chicken fry is given by either the men or the women.

Last week, Buster Clauch, Albert Fuller, Paul Skidmore, Pete Pierce and L. D. Hiburn, firemen who were on duty Thursday, went to the store and purchased about 40 pounds of the best steak. Then they got potatoes, ice cream, coffee, cookies and cake.

Invited to the firemen's dinner were all the "regulars," their wives, the "volunteers," their wives, and all of the children of both groups. However, before the steak was gone, several of the local police heard about the big feed and invited themselves—not to mention a couple from The News.

Since Pampans were cooperating so well during Fire Prevention Week, firemen did not have to stop eating once to answer an alarm.

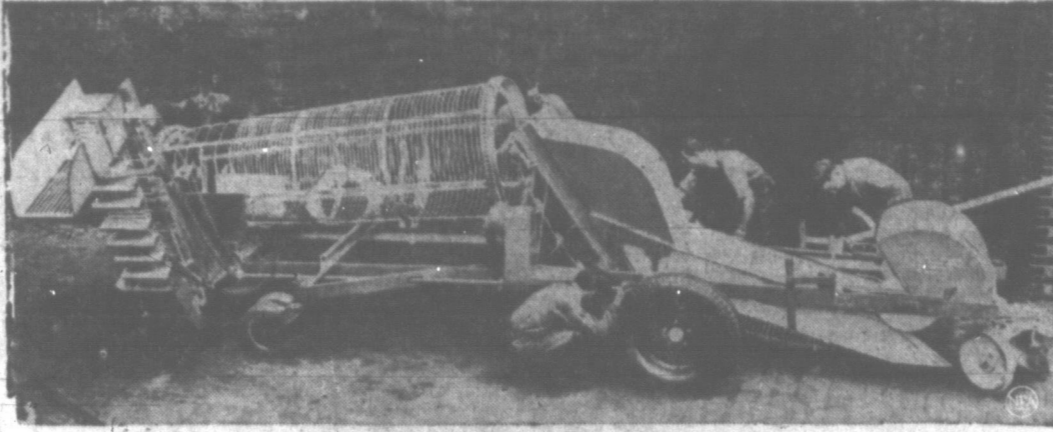

In all, there were approximately 70 persons enjoying the delicacy of chicken-fried steak.

At former feeds the participants played bingo, presented musicals and played games. Thursday's entertainment was for the men and children only. After everyone had eaten more than they should, the men challenged each other to climb the fire pole by using nothing more than their hands.

(That explains the typographical mistakes in this copy—and are our hands sore!)

Between 1776 and 1820, a quarter of a million Europeans immigrated to the United States, half the number which poured in each year between 1890 and 1900.

School Bus Drivers Plan Safety Meeting

The School Bus Drivers Institute will hold its third annual meeting in the County Court Room at 9 a.m. Saturday, Hueyn Laycock, county superintendent of schools, said yesterday.

The meeting is a requirement of the Safety Department of Education under the school bus traffic code.

All school bus drivers in Gray County have been requested to attend for the purpose of developing better and safer school bus drivers.

The State Highway Patrol will be in charge of the meeting at which time the film "Priceless Cargo" will be shown. The meeting will be based around traffic laws, school bus drivers' responsibilities and the maintenance of school buses.

Also under the ruling of the division of safety education, each school bus in the county is to be inspected. Pampa and McLean buses have already been inspected and the rest of the county busses will be in the near future, Laycock said.

The public also is invited to attend the five-hour meeting next Saturday. There will probably be about 40 bus drivers and school administrators attending.

Monty's Selection Arouses Comment, Analyst Says

By DEWITT MACKENZIE, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Selection of Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery to head the newly formed military command of Western European nations—Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—continues to be a subject of warm discussion not unmixing with some heartburning.

Those who disapprove maintain that Monty is a land soldier, whereas his big new job calls for the handling not only of land forces but air and sea units as well. Then, of course, some French critics aren't happy in having the command centered in England, since France obviously will be an early battlefield if there is another war.

No far as Uncle Sam is concerned, one assumes that he must have given his nod before Montgomery was appointed to a command in which America is so vitally interested inasmuch as her front-line lies in Europe. Whatever criticism the field marshal may have evoked during the late war, we have the testimony of none less than General of the Army Dwight Eisenhower that Montgomery is "one of the great soldiers of the war... a figure who will live always, not only in British but in world history."

The colorful, 61-year-old soldier is something of a one-man band, but supreme command permits a fair amount of that trait. He knows his soldiering and has supreme confidence in himself, which accounts in considerable measure for his ability to inspire high morale among his followers.

Montgomery has another notable characteristic. There burns in his gray eyes the unmistakable flame of the crusader. If he weren't a great general he would be in some other field of leadership, and it would involve idealism, if I have sized up my man rightly. Perhaps that fits with the fact that he is intensely religious, and is proud of the fact that he doesn't drink or smoke. He once boasted

Americans Smash Income Records

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Personal income of Americans smashed all records in August. It was up to an unprecedented annual rate of $215 billion, the Commerce Department announced.

Pay raises for factory workers and government employes plus an increase in the number of persons working in farming and trade were the chief causes of a $2 billion jump over July's previous record rate.

Wage and salary payments, themselves at an all-time high, accounted for $137 billion of the annual rate total for personal incomes.

Also counted in personal incomes are receipts of landlords and owners of farms and unincorporated businesses, dividend and interest receipts of stock and bond owners, bonuses to veterans, social security payments, etc.

Mickey Mouse Watch Black Market Prize

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Mickey Mouse draws more cash across the counter than he does through the box office.

There's a strange economic fact in this land of strange economics. But Disneyites figure that the sales of products bearing the images of Mickey, Donald Duck and others of the cartoon family exceed what those characters earn on the screen.

This week the commercial services of Mick and his fellow merchants were assured for another seven years. Disney signed a new deal with Kay Kamen Company that will continue imprinting Walt's characters on more than 2,000 products. The list includes everything from wall paper to umbrellas.

Mickey is also an international salesman. More than 900 firms in Europe and the rest of the world distribute the Disney-marked products.

Sooner than that, Dr. Fox says, there should be some attempt to help the youngsters solve their social problems.

URGES EARLY START
In the 7th and 8th grades, he believes, discussions should be held on making friends, dating, hours (how soon should a youngster come home at night?), formal parties.

Earlier still, he says, should come sex education. "It should start when the child is small," he said, "say, 2 years old, or even younger. Then it can be a continuing process."

Dr. Fox admits that this will take time, that no school can plunge right in without first testing the functional water.

Was marriage the most important decision you ever made? If so, did you ever study the subject? How to fall in love?

If the answer to this last question is no, a Washington, D. C., school man thinks a vast mistake has been made.

NEED USEFUL TRAINING
Dr. James Harold Fox, dean of education at George Washington University, has been making speeches to teachers. He has stressed that education should be something the kids can use.

Here's how he amplified these speeches: "Education should be functional," he said. "We should be taught things we can use in everyday life. If we don't use it, we forget it."

Since it's on a lifetime basis, marriage should be taught in the schools, Dr. Fox thinks.

"For most schools," he said, "homemaking means teaching home economics, sewing and cooking.

Detroit Baby Born on Sidewalk

DETROIT —(AP)—The call of duty brought two police sergeants and two patrolmen to a task for little hands.

It happened this week and Detroit now has its first "sidewalk baby."

Out for an evening walk, Mrs. Earl Toombs, 22, collapsed on street corner. Undertaking passby put in an emergency call. Two scout cars dashed up. There is no time to spare.

In the next few minutes Sgts. Edgar Smuck and John Morris and Patrolmen John Long and Albin Kosmowski, making good of their coats, assisted in the birth of a child.

The baby, a girl weighing six pounds, and the mother were hospitalized. The child, Mrs. Toombs' second, was placed in an incubator.

Texas City Blast Claim Is Settled

ST. LOUIS —(AP)—The Monsanto Chemical Co. has settled its claim for damages to its plant in the Texas City, Texas, fire and explosion in April 1947, for $17,312,000. The original claim was for $21,842,999.

Payment will be made by the Oil Insurance Association of Chicago, a group of industrial insurance companies, and Lloyd's of London. The insurance firms believe it is the largest single claim ever paid.

Monsanto began rebuilding its $10,000,000 Texas City plant soon after the disaster. The styrene plant, a step in the production of synthetic rubber, is nearly completed and all rebuilding work is expected to be ended by Jan. 1.

Earlier this year Monsanto filed a $50,000,000 suit against the federal government alleging negligence in handling of an explosive substance aboard ships in the Texas City harbor.

United States of Indonesia Plans Are in Agreement

THE HAGUE —(AP)—A Dutch-Indonesian conference closed today with general agreement on steps to be taken in the transition of the East Indies into a United States of Indonesia.

But still unsolved was the role of the Indonesian republic which will fill in the projected union. The Republic was not represented at the three-week-long conference, but Dutch officials said direct talks would be opened in efforts to bring the republic into the proposed united government.

Authoritative sources said legislation would be introduced speedily in the Dutch Parliament and it was hoped that an interim might be established by early December. This would be a forerunner to the United States of Indonesia.

Indonesian Battle Becomes Critical

BATAVIA —(AP)—The Dutch Army said today the see-saw battle between Indonesian forces and Communist rebels for the vital Tjepoe oil center has caused an "extremely critical" situation.

Some 1000 casualties have been reported, it said, and 3000 refugees are streaming from the area.

Military reports said Tjepoe, which has changed hands at least three times since the fight began, now is held by Communist rebels and that "murder, looting and arson have occurred on a large scale."

Investigation Shows Fly as Disease Carrier

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Flies play a major role in the spread of diarrheal diseases, a two-year investigation in Hidalgo County, Texas, has proved.

The Public Health Service said the investigation showed an intensive fly control program resulted in a significant reduction in cases of one type of the intestinal infection caused by shigella bacteria.

Hidalgo County had a major fly problem and a large amount of infectious diarrheal disease, the service said. For this reason it was selected for the study.

Dr. James Watt and Dale R. Lindsay, scientist, who investigated and made the report, worked in cooperation with the Texas State Department of Health and county officials.

The major control method was spraying with DDT.

The health service is now trying to find the best methods of satisfactory community fly control because use of insecticides is only a temporary measure which must be repeated frequently.

Divorce Is Denied Couple In Court Here

District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich in 31st District Court Friday denied a divorce to Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Wiggins after a bitter day-long court battle that centered mostly around the custody of their year-old daughter, and the return of an "old lover."

In handing down the denial the Court declared openly both parties "got to feeling sorry for themselves and insisted on blaming the other side."

A parade of witnesses for both sides backed up charged and counter-charges, denials and counter-denials as the day wore on.

Mrs. Wiggins entered a general denial in contesting the divorce, but asked full custody of the child should the divorce be granted. She was given physical possession of her baby during the trial on request of Chief Counsel Joe Gordon. The child had been in custody of the father and paternal grandparents the last five weeks.

Wiggins testified their marriage went on the rocks after his wife met her old boy friend and told him (Wiggins) that she loved the other man better than she did Wiggins. He added she had dated the old lover while they were still living together. Mrs. Wiggins, on the stand, admitted she told her husband that, but added she went out with him "only once."

Wiggins admitted, under cross examination by Gordon, that he had not been giving his wife any attention for months at a time and swore he was working nights when he would stay out until three and four in the morning.

A string of witnesses for Wiggins, including his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Wiggins, Sr., testified Mrs. Geraldine Wiggins had spoken intimately with them with an unfavorable light on her husband. Chief Plaintiff Counsel W. R. Ewing rested his case shortly before noon when court was recessed until 3 p. m.

Gordon called a string of witnesses to the stand including Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Oglesby, parents of Mrs. Wiggins, who testified to the complaining husband's behavior, telling of several drinking sprees he went on with friends.

Since no official custody of the baby was ordered by Judge Goodrich, custody of the baby fell automatically to the parent in physical possession of the child at the time. The mother was holding her baby when the Court issued the denial.

After charging both with "feeling sorry for themselves," the judge added: Neither of you want to cooperate or behave and you can just work out these problems for yourselves."

He put on his hat, locked his suitcase and went home to Shamrock and the mother walked out of the courtroom with the baby.

Earlier in the day, Judge Goodrich granted a divorce to Cecil Venson Jameson from Dorothy Dora Jameson on grounds of cruelty. The couple married in February, 1948 and separated two weeks later.

A petition for removal of disabilities by William R. Cree was granted by the Court Friday morning.

Activities of Week Brought To Climax

As one of the climaxing activities of Fire Prevention Week, the Pampa Chamber of Commerce sponsored a cake and coffee party Friday afternoon at the Fire Station for firemen and city officials.

"The 1948 Fire Prevention Week has been most successful in Pampa," E. O. Wedgeworth, general chairman, said yesterday.

Students of Pampa High School addressed civic clubs with short fire prevention talks during the week. David Lamb addressed the Rotary Club Wednesday, Patty Bolin the Lions and Kiwanis Clubs Wednesday and Friday; and Nanee Campbell, Jaycees, Tuesday.

The public voted on posters prepared by elementary students and Junior High School students yesterday. Cash prizes will be awarded to the three students from each school receiving the largest number of votes. The Poster Committee is composed of Miss Josephine Thomas, chairman, J. Ray Martin, Lewis Chamberlin, Jack Edmondson, J. A. Meek, H. A. Yoder, E. R. Nuckols, Frank Wilson and the Rev. Otto Meyer.

At the Chamber of Commerce coffee party a large white cake inscribed, "Congratulations on Your Good Fire Record," was presented to the firemen. Approximately 60 civic club leaders, city and county officials and firemen attended the party which was held on the day that was nationally set aside as fire-department-visitaton day.

Farris Oden, master of ceremonies, brought congratulatory remarks to the firemen, saying, "Pampa is proud of its Fire Department and its fine record. The residents of Pampa and surrounding towns are most appreciative for the good work."

Albert Fuller, assistant fire chief, was in charge of the inspection of the fire station which followed the afternoon coffee.

Meanwhile, Friday two children from each class of the elementary schools, who ranked highest on fire prevention information, were given rides on a fire truck under the supervision of Nuckols.

Texas State Prison Board Members Are Keeping Very Busy Overhauling System

By TIM PARKER
HUNTSVILLE (AP) If you want a soft cushy government job, don't get appointed to the Texas State Prison Board.

Because these nine men who are overhauling the state prison system are hard workers and probably would brook no shirking if any board member tried it.

Obviously, there was a lucky break in the various appointments by Texas governors which brought together this board. The men like each other. They unanimously named O. B. Ellis as general manager to oversee reorganization of the prison system and they have been pulling like a well-trained team ever since to bring the plan to fruition.

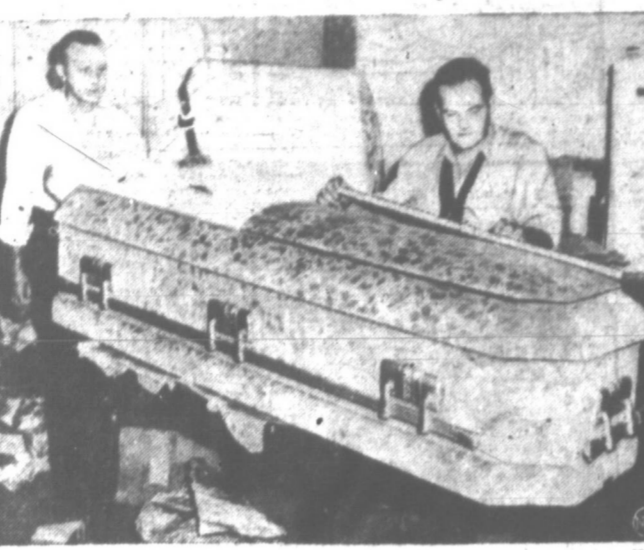

W. Windsor of Tyler after he was re-elected board chairman at the September meeting, had this to say:

"I want to take a few minutes to say a few words to members of the board. I want to say I've never been on a board before where everybody works. You are the most unselfish and hard-working men I have ever known."

Windsor, a big, kindly man, did not need to say the obvious thing that his re-election as chairman means the praise he piled on other board members is also due him.

The prison system is looking up under their administration, and under the progressive steps being taken by Ellis, strapping former wood truck growers Association, which he helped organize three years ago. He also was teaching agriculture to GI trainees.

He also has worked for the Soil Conservation Service, as a vocational agriculture teacher, and in farm machinery. He obviously knows the work a day angles of this specialty. And he has his B. S. and M. A. degrees from Texas A. & M. as proof of good formal training.

The Texas Prison System has 73,010 acres, mostly farm land. One of Ellis' principal targets is to improve operations on these farms so as to make the prison system self-supporting.

That's where Slaughter will come in. He is going to work for soil conservation, improved farming practices, greater use of machinery and all those other things which will make the prison farms more efficient and productive.

Before leaving on a system-wide tour of several months, Slaughter said "I think I have a wonderful opportunity to do something for humanity." You could see he meant it.

Ellis told the board he wanted Slaughter at his side as part of a program of training capable administrators. He said Slaughter has a tough job cut out for him.

Slaughter is used to tough jobs. He worked his way through Texas A&M, "doing everything" from pouring concrete to waiting tables. He married the former Nola Mae Knight of Dallas while at school, then went off to war in the Navy. He has a son, 11, and a daughter, 8.

One of the hardest-working board members today is French Robinson of Abilene, a youthful-looking lawyer and oilman who shows up at board meetings in sport shirts and slacks.

Robinson is in charge of the 17th annual prison rodeo, one of the Southwest's biggest rodeos. And he is really in charge. He must make all arrangements for concessions, for feeding guests, for getting the ornery bulls the convicts will ride, for advertising, etc.

There will be six rodeos this year—one each Sunday in October and one on Oct. 13. The new stadium, which probably arouses the envy of many colleges, will be ready for use.

Most vocal member is Bronson Moran, stenographer vice chairman from Jasper, where he is a banker and lumberman. A man of action, Moran is likely to climb to his feet and cut red tape quickly when a problem arises. He offered to pay out of his own pocket if it becomes necessary to hire a couple lawyers to rewrite Texas Prisoner Laws, which the board agrees are conflicting, cumbersome and outdated.

Soft-spoken, on the other hand, is Attorney Elmer L. Lincoln of Texarkana, who spends part of his time telling the board "you can't do that." There are many things the board can't do, such as sell or lease state property.

B. A. Stufflebume of Grand Prairie had to pass up the July meeting because he was ill. J. E. Wheat of Woodville missed the September meeting. He was hospitalized following an operation. But Stufflebume made up for it. He toured the entire system recently and was able to make a comprehensive report to the board on crops, buildings, and other facilities.

Scholarly T. R. Havins of Brownwood is board secretary, and also a sort of advisor on strategy. When the board was laying plans to rewrite prison laws, several members said the laws should set the policy and leave administration up to the board and Ellis.

"I'm afraid you won't get that," interposed Havins.

The Loves of Carmen

THE STORY: Don Jose, young officer in a fashionable Spanish regiment, has just come to the city from the countryside of Navarre. He is given 48 hours leave to familiarize himself with the city. Lying on a street corner, trying to make up his mind where to go next, he is attracted by a piece of orange peel lying at his feet. It looks up, "rested on a wall above him is an extraordinarily dressed young woman of striking beauty."

"Oh! A Navarre" lauded the girl. "I have heard that the men from Navarre wear little blue berets and tell big black lies and don't know how to make love to a woman."

THE girl looked down at him from her perch, her glittering eyes wide and intent over the orange she held to her mouth. With her eyes fixed on him, she slowly sucked the juice from the orange, squeezing it gently with her hand.

Don Jose looked up at her as though hypnotized by the sun—though the thousand lights from her copper-colored hair and flashing teeth had caught him and were hypnotizing him.

The girl removed the orange from her mouth, ran her pink tongue over her lips, closed her eyes, opened her mouth slightly and sighed with real ecstasy.

"Ah, there is nothing so good in the mouth as an orange warmed by the Spanish sun." She stretched her body in the hot sun as she leaned over toward him, smiling invitingly into his eyes. "Hab?" she asked.

He just looked at her, dazed. She kept her eyes on his eyes and slowly put the orange to her mouth again. Then she straightened up, alert and astonished, for in the silence a little chiming bell had sounded from somewhere in Don Jose's clothes.

She said with surprised delight, "What? Only he is beautiful but music comes out of him?"

Don Jose looked confused for a minute, then embarrassed. Hastily he pulled a big gold watch from his pocket and showed it to her.

"It is just a watch." He had to clear his throat to continue. "It chimes the hours."

Her eyes widened at the watch's magnificence. Then she looked back at him sadly. "Oh, too bad. For a minute I thought you were a magician."

Don Jose became awkwardly apologetic. "No, it was just the watch."

"Too bad."

Her tone was absent because her eyes were sharply following the watch as he stammeringly replaced it in his pocket. Then her eyes went from his watch, speculatively to his face.

"Perhaps we can be friends, anyway." She extended the party eaten orange toward him. "Would you like a bite of my orange, soldier?"

HE reached for it almost hypnotized, but she drew her hand back slowly, just keeping it from his reach.

"On second thought, perhaps it wouldn't be correct." She tore a piece of rind from it with her teeth, spat it out with an emphasis that spat him out with it, and then flung, as though the whole incident were closed, said, "After all, I don't know who you are."

Don Jose bowed a little, awkwardly shy, and hastened to make up for this breach of etiquette.

"I am Don Jose, just arrived in Seville, senorita."

"Senorita? Me?" She threw her head back and laughed with a strident shout. Then she looked at him, her eyes brimming with amusement.

"You have just arrived in Seville. Where did you come from?"

"From Navarre."

As though this explained everything, she said, "Oh! A Navarre." She leaned over as though imparting a mocking secret. "I have heard that the men from Navarre wear little blue berets and tell big black lies and don't know how to make love to a woman."

He flushed.

"I have always wanted to find out for myself whether that is just gossip or—"

Her mood broke abruptly and she looked away, her attention drawn by a new kind of music coming from down the street—a twangy guitar, sharply discordant against the other music. Don Jose took his eyes away from her with difficulty and tried to look in the same direction.

DOWN the street came a little wedding procession. The bride and groom were dressed in wedding finery and were extremely self-conscious in this stiff attire. A small group of pride-stricken family and noisy friends followed them—parents, children, brothers, sisters, cousins. The guitarist walked sideways beside the bride and groom, playing to them. A shrewdly woman came out of the doorway near Don Jose. She held a broom and a toddling, dirty child clinging to her skirts. Her attention, too, had been drawn by the sound of the guitar and she watched the procession approach.

The red-haired girl watched with a peculiar look of scorn and disgust on her face. When she spoke her voice was harsh again. "Hat! Look at them! They paid out their last peseta to get rid of her. But it was worth it." She made no effort to keep her voice down. "She'll hate him, but she'll cling to him like a leech. And that fine bridegroom—in a week he'll be beating her!"

The woman with the broom turned on her in anger.

"Shut up, you! You talk that way because nobody would marry a gypsy like you!"

The gypsy's voice was soft with fury.

"No! I could marry any man in Seville if I wanted to, old woman, but I would rather be dead than be the state wife of a despicable Spaniard!"

As she talked, the wedding procession passed in front of them; the groom had become aware of the gypsy girl and was desperately trying to keep his eyes straight ahead and away from her. She grinned wickedly.

"Hat! Manuella! Remember me, you stupid pig! I told you she'd catch you, and so she did!"

THE small dignity of the wedding procession dissolved. The music went sour. The bride and the groom halted and wheeled.

One of the hardest-working board members today is French Robinson of Abilene, a youthful-looking lawyer and oilman who shows up at board meetings in sport shirts and slacks.

Robinson is in charge of the 17th annual prison rodeo, one of the Southwest's biggest rodeos. And he is really in charge. He must make all arrangements for concessions, for feeding guests, for getting the ornery bulls the convicts will ride, for advertising, etc.

There will be six rodeos this year—one each Sunday in October and one on Oct. 13. The new stadium, which probably arouses the envy of many colleges, will be ready for use.

Most vocal member is Bronson Moran, stenographer vice chairman from Jasper, where he is a banker and lumberman. A man of action, Moran is likely to climb to his feet and cut red tape quickly when a problem arises. He offered to pay out of his own pocket if it becomes necessary to hire a couple lawyers to rewrite Texas Prisoner Laws, which the board agrees are conflicting, cumbersome and outdated.

Soft-spoken, on the other hand, is Attorney Elmer L. Lincoln of Texarkana, who spends part of his time telling the board "you can't do that." There are many things the board can't do, such as sell or lease state property.

B. A. Stufflebume of Grand Prairie had to pass up the July meeting because he was ill. J. E. Wheat of Woodville missed the September meeting. He was hospitalized following an operation. But Stufflebume made up for it. He toured the entire system recently and was able to make a comprehensive report to the board on crops, buildings, and other facilities.

Scholarly T. R. Havins of Brownwood is board secretary, and also a sort of advisor on strategy. When the board was laying plans to rewrite prison laws, several members said the laws should set the policy and leave administration up to the board and Ellis.

"I'm afraid you won't get that," interposed Havins.

wood truck growers Association, which he helped organize three years ago. He also was teaching agriculture to GI trainees.

He also has worked for the Soil Conservation Service, as a vocational agriculture teacher, and in farm machinery. He obviously knows the work a day angles of this specialty. And he has his B. S. and M. A. degrees from Texas A. & M. as proof of good formal training.

The Texas Prison System has 73,010 acres, mostly farm land. One of Ellis' principal targets is to improve operations on these farms so as to make the prison system self-supporting.

That's where Slaughter will come in. He is going to work for soil conservation, improved farming practices, greater use of machinery and all those other things which will make the prison farms more efficient and productive.

Before leaving on a system-wide tour of several months, Slaughter said "I think I have a wonderful opportunity to do something for humanity." You could see he meant it.

Ellis told the board he wanted Slaughter at his side as part of a program of training capable administrators. He said Slaughter has a tough job cut out for him.

Slaughter is used to tough jobs. He worked his way through Texas A&M, "doing everything" from pouring concrete to waiting tables. He married the former Nola Mae Knight of Dallas while at school, then went off to war in the Navy. He has a son, 11, and a daughter, 8.
