THIS 'N' THAT AROUND TOWN

It seems that there is a young man in town who celebrates his birthday on the first of the month, January, but he is not too happy to see it come around. Usually a day or so later he, or some person in his family has a bit of bad luck. What happened this time? He was working with his gun and it discharged, the bullet hitting him in the side of the head. Last year his mother injured her neck.

A big welcome to Kim Alesia Dunn, the 1965 New Year Baby of Burk Burnett and congratulations to her royal parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Lay of 1311 Shady Lane, enjoyed the company of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Morrow, their daughter, Susan and son Gary, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hicks, and sons, Pat, Mike and Harold (Mrs. Lay's sisters), Mr. and Mrs. Don S. Shilling with their son Larry Don (her brother), and Mrs. D. S. Shilling, (her mother), all of Ft. Worth over the holidays.

All the Girl Scouts in the Burk Burnett area enjoyed a in the Youth Center. Song were sung, a talent show held and Christmas party on Dec. 19th refreshments served. A fine time was had by all.

The residents of the Harrelson Nursing Home received 60 cans of food, during the holidays, which were donated by the Girl Scouts.

May God shower his blessings on all of you throughout the New Year.

NOTICE

Date of the Burk Burnett Garden Club's annual luncheon has been changed from Jan. 27th to Wednesday, Jan. 13th. The meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Carl Morrison with Mrs. J. C. Adams and Mrs. Virgil Mills as co-hostesses. Election of officers is scheduled, also a very interesting program with a flower arrangement demonstration using artificial material by Mrs. M. E. Taliaferro.

How Crazy Can A Faucet Get?

NIAGARA FALLS, ONTARIO — Where's all the water coming from? What's holding up the faucet? The two youngsters puzzle over these questions, which are most commonly asked by visitors to Ripley's Believe It or Not! Museum, as they view the tremendous stream of soft water dropping continuously from the unattached foot high mystery faucet. The rainbarrel, in grandmother's day, held a limited amount of soft water which she collected for shampooing and washing. Today, modern homemakers have automatic water softeners which provide soft water from every faucet.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

MANHEIM, PA., SENTINEL: "Moguls of the AFL-CIO are now readying a series of demands of the Administration, and what they hope will prove to be a 'rubber stamp' Congress, that will go along with any White House legislative request sent to Capitol Hill. Chief of these demands will be to repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act which permits the individual states to ban the union shop 'Compulsory union membership' through so called right-to-work laws which give the worker his God-given right to join or not to join a labor union as his conscience may dictate."

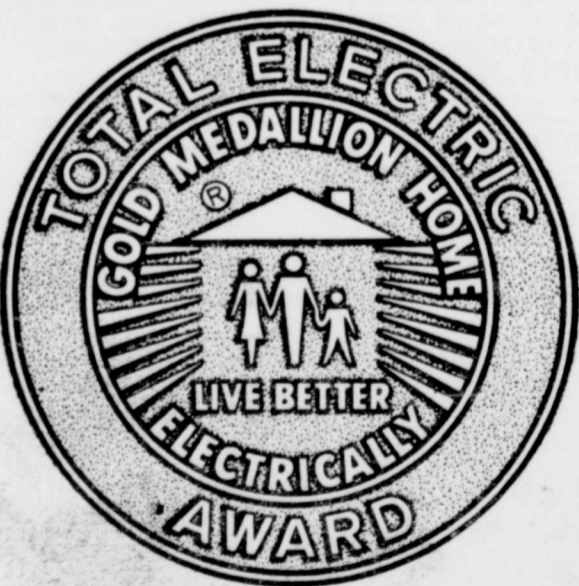

ST. ALBANS, VT., MESSENGER: "There are people who care about a free and strong America. We met a man the other night who was dressed in his reserve officers uniform, coming from a weekly training session. In the course of conversation we asked what he did about his annual two weeks tour of active duty. 'Oh, I take that during my vacation time. I couldn't ask the boys at the office to do my work for a whole month.' These men don't consider themselves heroes. But as long as we have enough of such men, America will survive."

CLERMONT, FLA., PRESS: "That the majority is always right, that our chosen leaders are infallible, and that our nation is invincible, are extremely popular misconceptions that are much too often confused with patriotism. The majority is not always right, our leaders are merely human and our nation, against the growing odds of socialism and the world government ambitions of the United Nations, is not necessarily invincible."

FINDLAY, OHIO, REPUBLICAN-COURIER: IN crisis, the people of America stand shoulder-to-shoulder, and if the population keeps on increasing they'll be standing that way all the time."

SANTA PAULA, CALIF., CHRONICLE: "To the great bulk of taxpayers who have part of their income withheld each payday, the Internal Revenue Service has issued a word of caution on what to expect. Because of the timing of the tax cut this year, withholdings in many cases will not match the tax required next April. Refunds will be smaller and fewer."

CUERO, TEXAS, RECORD: "Going to church regularly may not be your habit, but it would be a mighty good habit for you to have."

Comment from the Capital—

AFTER THE UPHEAVALS

by Yant Neff

You might have thought that Khrushchev's ouster and Red China's A-bomb would have jarred some of our apostles of the soft line to their senses, but it doesn't look that way.

This clique with the rose-colored glasses is pushing its "co-existence" pitch as much as ever, and with no more rhyme or reason. After all, if this co-existence was doing us any good, it obviously must have been failing the Communists. And if it was, it certainly would have been one of the reasons Nikita got the boot.

But not so. That semi-secret "memorandum" Nik's successors handed out to explain his downfall listed 40 pages of his shortcomings, but "peaceful co-existence" was not to be found. Indeed, at the Moscow confab celebrating the 47th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, Party Boss Brezhnev was up there touting co-existence as enthusiastically as Khrushchev in his mellowest moods.

Now, when the Reds show such steadfast adherence to a policy, it seems to me gravely suspect as a policy for the United States. But I admit the mental processes of the soft-line crew are beyond me.

Take their reaction to Red China's A-bomb. Even before Peking exploded the thing, they were telling us it was nothing to worry about. But let's look at the facts.

Red China's bomb was about as big as the one that destroyed Hiroshima. China has the resources to build many such bombs a year. Peking has 275 Soviet-built IL-28 bombers that can carry these bombs to targets 600 miles away, and five IL-18 jet transports that could carry them as far as four thousand miles.

Peking also has a missile program. Washington hasn't told us much about—although we do know it is run by one Chien Hsueh-shen, a California Tech grad who was allowed to leave the U.S. for Red China in 1955.

In short, Peking has or will have very soon a nuclear arsenal it can use against almost every capital city in Asia. Is this nothing to worry about?

For all the soothing syrup it's handing the American people, the State Department is in fact worrying plenty—and in all the wrong ways, it seems to me.

Two new words have been coined of late at Foggy Bottom: "Chirey," which means giving Red China representation in the U.N., and "Chirec," giving her U.S. recognition. We hear more and more talk of these as part of a more "flexible" policy toward China.

Now, you know and I know the vast majority of the American people are firmly opposed to both these ideas. Every U.S. president who has had to face the menace of Red China has considered and rejected them. This doesn't seem to bother the soft line disciples a bit. Apparently, the theory is that when a nation the civilized world regards as an outlaw becomes an outlaw with nuclear power, the only thing to do is to give it what it wants.

How much more obvious could the foolishness of such a policy be? How often must we remind ourselves of the folly of granting piece-meal concessions to an enemy sworn to destroy us? Will we recognize appeasement for just what it is—survival on the installment plan?

The only disagreements between Communists are over the most effective means of destroying free people... to explode them out of existence by war—as the Chinese want... or to eat away at free people by crafty subversion, the Russian method. The answers, the only answers, lie in strength and determination. And not in any fond fiction of a split between Russia and Red China.

The Red masters have always acted pointedly and instantly when their interests were disturbed. Now Russia threatens to supply the Viet Cong if the U.S. dares defend itself by bombing red supply lines in North Vietnam. And together the lying Commies have hidden the facts of the Congo massacres from their people, blasted the U.S. "intervention" and encouraged mobs to storm our embassies and burn the Kennedy Library in Cairo. Without shame we have backed down under their screaming red led Congolese rebels.

The Reds have played their "split" for everything it's worth, for the clear, simple reason that it suits their ends, not ours. It gives Russia a cloak of respectability under which to erode the vigilance and the unity of the West. In short, it lets the Communists have things both ways at once.

Remember Russia and Red China have agreed to pursue a strategy of "peaceful co-existence." Both have agreed that this means conquest without the nuclear war. And both have defined the United States as "the main force of aggression and war, and the enemy of the world."

We, the most powerful nation that ever existed on this planet cannot be defeated by Russia, or by Red China. We can only be defeated by ourselves. We can only be defeated by moral failure to use strength... by handing our enemies one small victory after another until those enemies have seized the balance of power.

Russia knows this. Red China knows it. I hope the great majority of Americans will know it in time.

Removable Night Sighter

Know how to make a good removable light that easily goes on and off your rifle or shotgun to let you plug those night-running varmints? It's easy. Go to an auto supply store and shop until you find a car flashlight made to clip to the car's steering column. It clips just as well on your gun barrel.

Plastic Bait Box

If you use a variety of live baits, a plastic fly box may be your best friend. Drill a hole in each compartment, keep worms in one, crickets in another, etc.

Big Bugs Away

Soak a rag in baking soda and wash away bugs on radiator. Soda dissolves them. Won't hurt steel or chrome.

Walter W. Babson Weekly Report

ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON'S VIEWPOINT ON ELECTIVE INFLATIONS

Think back to some of the known examples of history you will be reminded that inflation is very often—severe. Look back and you will find, too, that one generation almost entirely forgets the preceding generation through.

Tulip Inflation—And "Land Bank" Booms

During the famous "tulipomania" that rocked Holland in the 1600s prices were driven so high that single tulip bulbs sold for $3000 or more. Volumes have been written on this tulip boom and bust story, pointing out how these blooms were singled out for a wildly exaggerated price buildup—followed by an equally fantastic collapse.

Yet not too many decades later in an important bank in France began to invest money in foreign lands. This promotion became famous in history as "The Mississippi Scheme." Since the bank made huge amounts of money on the project, the people of France became interested in it. However, they were not allowed to buy the lands themselves, but only the stock of the bank, which thereupon went up 1500 percent. About this same time, British investors started to buy English bank stocks. Stirring up the renowned "South Sea Bubble." These bank stocks rose until about 1720, when the report circulated that there was no real value in the South Sea lands the entire boom structure came crashing down.

Craze Extended To The United States

Early in U. S. history, shipping began to breed speculation. This became very popular with investors in Baltimore and Philadelphia.

Later on, investors in New York and Baltimore began speculating in western land. Salesmen traveled about enthusiastically selling these lands and pushing up their prices. Some New Englanders who had saved money thought that they would be smart and not buy the land, but buy the mortgages on the land. Of course these mortgages were of no more value than the land they had previously refused to buy!

At one point in our history, investors thought they could "beat the speculation" by buying only the bonds and notes of railroads and the bonds of counties and other state subdivisions. Hence salesmen had many railroad, county, and town notes printed and signed, then sold them to New England investors. These also turned out to be valueless. On another occasion, new banks were formed in states where there were no banking laws. The banks printed their own notes, which all looked pretty much alike and passed freely until it was suddenly realized that some of the notes were selling for almost twice what others sold for. Again, there have been times when selective inflation developed in commodities, with some doubling or tripling in price while others showed no increase or even declined.

World War I Boom And The 1929 Flip-Flop

In the years immediately after outbreak of World War I in Europe, we loaned money in great quantities to England at high rates and accepted good securities as collateral. During the war, the British Government made its citizens give up their high grade American stocks and bonds, and shipped them to New York as part of this collateral. The British government bought equipment from American manufacturers who reaped a huge profit which they collected from J. P. Morgan and Co., holders of the American securities deposited by the British Government.

In the late 1920's, the U. S. Stock market skyrocketed upward. Investors, trying at first to pyramid their profits and ultimately to save their skins, borrowed so much that the boom burst and the Dow-Jones Industrial Average dropped in the one year 1929 from 381 to 199. The slump continued, with stocks reaching as low as 41 in 1932. Many banks failed, and the savings of millions of people were wiped out. This marked the end of the last big inflation and deflation of our time. However, it is logical to believe that history will repeat itself; and that the booms and panics to come will continue to be selective. Some stocks, some farm prices, some commodities will first go up, then plummet down. Moral: Remember—it can happen again. Don't speculate or buy on margin; when the investment climate is stormy, keep your securities in your safe deposit box and ride with them until the storm is over.

FROM THE HD AGENT

The holiday season may have left your home with a few extra spots and stains.

"Success in removing stains from upholstery fabric," says Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent, "depends on fast action, the proper cleaning method, the kind of fabric involved."

She explains that common stains fall into three groups: greasy, non-greasy and a combination of the two. She suggests that homemakers faced with the problem of removing stains should pre-test a cleaning product on an inconspicuous area of the upholstery fabric involved.

Greasy stains, from butter, margarine, car lubricant and other sources, on washable fabric can be removed by using a dry-cleaning solvent. On occasion, a detergent foam may remove the stain. Soaps, detergents, glycerine, denature alcohol and a weak solution of ammonia also are acceptable where foam rubber is concerned on non-washable fabric.

"Caution is advised," says Miss Wirges, "when using any solvent because many of them are flammable, poisonous, and may cause illness if the vapors are inhaled."

For removing non-greasy stains, from fruit, black coffee, milk catsup and other sources use a damp sponge wrung out of cool water on washable fabrics, or use a detergent and water foam, wiping thoroughly with a sponge wrung out of clear water.

"For stains on non-washable," explains the agent, "a final rinse with a sponge wrung out of alcohol helps to remove the detergent and to dry the fabric more rapidly. Dilute the alcohol with two parts of water for use on acetate fabrics."

To remove combination stains the agent recommends: first, use a sponge wrung out of cool water; second, the use of a detergent and water foam, which then should be removed with a sponge wrung out of clear water. If the spot is still visible, sponge it with a grease solvent. This treatment is the same for washable and non-washable fabrics. Combination stains may result from ice cream, chocolate sauces, coffee with cream and other sources.

Bleaching is not recommended by the agent for upholstery fabrics except as a last resort, used in a very weak solution when a trace of discoloration remains.

Mildew spots should be removed as soon as they are discovered, says Miss Wirges.

"Don't give the mold a chance to weaken or rot the material. Brush off any surface growth outdoors to prevent scattering the mildew spores in the house. Sun and air fabrics thoroughly and if any mildew spots remain wash articles that are washable in soap and water at once."

If any stain remains, bleach

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D. Commissioner of Health

There's a one to five chance your youngster needs a major teeth straightening job, since an estimated one fifth of the nation's children suffer from "malocclusion," or improper alignment of teeth.

A generation ago, parents of young children with teeth which did not meet properly were usually advised to "let them alone and nature will correct the situation."

Today we know better. Malocclusion is a condition to be corrected by a dental specialist known as an "orthodontist." Nature by herself is a very poor straightener of crooked teeth.

Although the public is just now becoming aware of the health significance of malocclusion, experience has taught dentists that crooked teeth contribute to decay, faulty speech and malnutrition. One of the worst results of malocclusion is the psychological stress borne by a child singled out for ridicule by his friends because of "buck teeth."

A child with facial deformities such as those caused by misshapen teeth may develop traits of indecision and begin to doubt his ability to cope with problems in his environment, psychologists say.

What causes teeth to erupt irregularly? Dentists agree that heredity is probably one important cause. Another is persistent pressures against the jaw. Live a thumb sucking and abnormal pressures against the jaw. Living bone, contrary to popular thought, is not always hard and unyielding. The entire jaw structure can be molded by gentle, persistent pressure.

In the case of thumbsucking, dentists believe that if the habit can be broken before age 5, there is a good chance the teeth may return to normal position without harmful effects.

Another cause of malocclusion is prolonged retention of baby teeth. Permanent teeth which follow are then prevented from arranging themselves properly.

On the other hand, when primary teeth are lost too early adjoining teeth may tend to tip and "migrate," crowding into spaces where permanent teeth should erupt.

There are different methods of bringing teeth into alignment. Sometimes it is necessary to extract teeth to make room.

Keep a handful of pebbles in your pocket and get them out like this: sit with your back against a tree. Wait until you are quiet down. Then call out to your squirrels and toss the pebbles. Bushytails and other squirrels are sure to come out to investigate.

with lemon juice, salt and sunshine, sodium perborate bleach, or a diluted solution of chlorine bleach. Do not use the chlorine bleach on wool, silk or some fabrics treated with special finishes.

For upholstery articles, mattresses and rugs, remove loose mold from the articles by brushing with a broom or stiff brush. If possible, do this out of doors. Run a vacuum cleaner attachment over the surface of the article to draw out all of the mold possible. Then clean out the vacuum cleaner immediately. If the vacuum bag is disposable, destroy it at once.

Sun and air the article to stop mold growth, and if the mildew still remains, sponge with soap suds and wipe clean with a damp cloth or sponge. Dry again thoroughly.

Rugs and carpets may be sponged with thick suds or a rug shampoo. It's best to apply the shampoo and remove it with rung shampoo equipment. If this equipment is available, remove the suds with a cloth dampened in clear water. Dry in the sun if possible.

A new silver dollar is being minted for the first time in 30 years, but it's not likely to have much extra value as a collector's item.

That's the advice to coin hobbyists from Richard S. Yeoman, one of the nation's top numismatic authorities.

Present plans call for the minting of 45 million new "cartwheels" at the Denver Mint, says Yeoman, who is vice president of the Coin Division at Whitman Publishing Company, Racine, Wisconsin.

The new coin will carry a 1964 date into 1965 in common with all other newly minted American denominations. Distribution will be strictly through commercial banks and the coin is scheduled for release only in the Western states. The U.S. Mint says it will neither sell the dollars to anyone, nor arrange for persons to receive them.

The current Peace design first issued by the Mint in 1921 will be continued on the new dollar, notes Yeoman, whose firm is the country's leading manufacturer of coin collecting supplies and materials.

"While issue of a new silver dollar is an event of historic importance, the coin is not likely to serve any significant role in commerce," he continues, "because much of the supply will probably be taken out of circulation by souvenir hunters and speculators."

"We expect it to assume the immediate status of a souvenir coin, similar to the John F. Kennedy half dollar. And once a coin is in this category, its value as a rarity is usually nullified," he says.

The silver dollar is a traditionally popular coin in numismatic circles. It has always been one of our standard coins, and throughout the world a similar denomination is called a crown.

Our "cartwheels" were authorized by Congress in 1792, and the first issues appeared in 1794. There were several lapses in coinage over the years, the latest being from 1935 to the present.

Silver dollars are strongly identified with the West, where they are a long accepted standard of commerce.

"It would be desirable to own one or two of the new silver dollars, but the coin probably will not have any special value as a rarity or an investment possibility," he concludes.

Stopping at a wayside service station in Arizona, the lady motorist inquired: "Do you have a rest room?"

"Nope," returned the attendant. "When any of us gets tired, we just sits or one of those oil drums."

New Cookware Rates Your "TLC"

by LOUISE ALLEN

Are you cooking without grease—both the elbow and vegetable variety? If so, you know the answer is in the bottom of your Teflon-coated cookware. Du Pont's Teflon, of course, is the completely stick-free plastic that makes every pan a cook's treasure.

But as any treasure, this cookware needs your Tender Loving Care.

Before using for the first time, wash and spread a teaspoon of salad oil over the black interior, to prepare the surface.

From then on, the magical material needs no help from fat or oil. Whether or not fat is used, your Club Aluminum "black-magic" Teflon-finished cookware stays stick-free.

Before frying foods, always preheat the coated pan for about a minute over a medium heat. Add chops or steak, and turn to proper temperature.

Throw away steady scouring pads when it comes to cleaning your new cookware. Food and heavy grease can be rinsed away with a little sponging.

WORKERS OF THE WORLD, SUBMIT!

Not the Beatles, but Walter Reuther is the most powerful force in America. It has been stated, "No man can be nominated as Democrat candidate for the Presidency of the U. S. without Walter Reuther's approval."

In 1934 Reuther and his brother wrote a now-famous letter to friends in America from their worker's paradise in Gorky, Russia. They had been touring Russia and were working in a automobile plant when they wrote that they were "actually helping to build a society that will forever end the exploitation of man by man. What we are building," their letter said, "will be for the benefit and enjoyment of the working class, not only of Russia but the entire world. The compensation we receive for our temporary absence from the struggle in the United States... Wall and I were always strong for the Soviet Union. You know we were always ready to defend it against the lies of the reactionaries. Once a fellow has seen what is possible where workers gain power, he no longer fights for just an ideal, he fights for something which is real, something tangible. (Signed Viv and Wal.

Job Abroad

American Big Business has many big plants in many small foreign countries paying smaller salaries and smaller taxes than would have to be paid here. Ford produces one-third of its cars and trucks abroad, and General Motors produces approximately 22 percent, mostly to escape Reuther, union racketeering and exorbitant taxes. Reuther makes guaranteed annual 16 cylinder demands and offers 4 cylinder worker effort, and to share the profits but not the losses.

Several years ago the president of one of our largest automobile companies asked Reuther, "How do you expect us to compete with foreigners?" Reuther replied, "We are not worried about that. When the time comes, we will organize the workers of the world."

The time has come. Walther Reuther reportedly is the guiding genius who is now setting up a global union. This World Union would go on strike simultaneously everywhere. Reuther reportedly has spent millions of dollars taken from the paychecks of American union workers, to aid the union movements of the world, from the ancient nations of Asia to the new so-called nations of Africa. Obviously, this merger of world unions means that loyalty to organization is above loyalty to country. The union merger makes no distinction between iron curtain world and free world.

Union Route

Following the Russian Revolution, Lenin told Communist agents throughout the world that the easiest way to take over all countries was through labor unions. So let's not spend all our time, fellow "extremists," thinking about a foreigner like Khrushchev conquering the world. One of our own, Walther Reuther, may conquer it first. By "one of our own," I mean he lives here. Walther Reuther is an international Socialist first and an American second.

Few men, if any, are more influential with Lyndon Johnson than this socialist buddy, Walther Reuther. For 30 years Johnson and Reuther have carried on their fight for a socialist America. Reuther "comes and reasons together" with Daddy Bird regularly and is far more chummy with him than he ever has been with any other American President, including JFK. Judge a man by his friends and by his enemies—not how many, but who. In Hubert Humphrey, Union Labor makes its first big bid for the Presidency! Socialist Humphrey believes in capitalism like Martin Luther King believes in segregation.

Lively Decoys

Lightweight

Lions Club members are urged to be in attendance 100 per cent strong at the January 26th meeting. At that time a group picture will be made. Members will have an opportunity for a picture they can cherish a lifetime.

Tuesday night Jerry Thomas had charge of the program. He introduced A. E. Brown, principal of the Sheppard-Burk School, who introduced four seventh graders, who gave sketches of their life and school life in foreign countries. Susan Fulgham reported on England. Kim Meyer told of her experiences on Okanawa, and Richard Mitchell gave his views on Japan. Lang Hadey spoke on Guatemala. The students did an excellent job and received the applause of their hosts.

"THINK YOU GOT TROUBLES"

Supposing you came into this world, minus hands and feet, left to a life with mere stubs to walk on; arms that end in wrists . . . could you learn to write, pick up small objects like pennies off the table, learn to play tunes on the piano. (This seems impossible, till you see it?)

Opportunity Workshop, the new shelter workshop near the National Guard Armory in Wichita Falls, has among its workers a little fellow who is in this condition, and is one of the best workers in the shop.

Plans are under way to expand the facilities there in the coming year.

Housed in a modern air-conditioned building, the workshop provides a good place for these handicapped workers to work in . . . Visitors are always welcome at the workshop.

Principle occupation during the holidays was the making of the stick on type Christmas bows, and candy wreaths. Close cooperation with the Texas Educational Agency is helping this program. . . The Opportunity Workshop Program is designed to help all the handicapped in this area.

It is good business to hire the handicapped. George Lemon Anyone desiring to learn more about this program can contact Mr. John Weimer, the director at 3401 Armory Road, Wichita Falls. The phone number is 766-3207, Wichita Falls.
