Man Sought In New Jersey Slaying Surrenders Insanity to Be Plea of Father Who Lured Sons to Death

Boys Duped Into Playing Cowboy, Binding Selves

George Chisholm declares, in confession that nagging of woman led him to act.

IS SHELL-SHOCKED, ATTORNEY ASSERTS

Grievous details of dual killing of sons by parent aired at preliminary hearing Monday.

(By The Associated Press) INDIANA HARBOR, Mich., Mar. 5.—Insanity will be George Allen Chisholm's plea when he faces trial for the murder of his sons, George Jr. and Edgar 6, whom he drowned in the Indiana Harbor ship canal.

Arraigned today on two charges of murder, Chisholm was ordered held to the grand jury. He appeared in municipal court, after appearing as the only witness at coroner's inquests here and in East Chicago, Ind., so weak from loss of sleep and weeping that he had to be supported by two officers.

Called to the witness stand at the inquest here, into the death of little George, Chisholm fainted and slumped to the floor. Revived, he tried to recite anew the gruesome details of a previous written confession—how he had tricked the youngsters into playing cowboy and hoisting themselves with loops of wire which prevented death struggles when he enticed them to the canal and pushed them in.

His attorney, Joe Conroy of Hammond, halted him, declaring the trembling, fear-ridden man need not give statements which might incriminate him.

"It is a plain psychopathic case," said Conroy.

"The man is crazy. He was gassed and shell-shocked while with the Canadian army three years in the world war."

Chisholm asserted his wish to face trial immediately, plead guilty and receive a sentence of life imprisonment. He seemed in subject fear of death and reiterated his confession statements that many times in recent days he had tried to nerve himself for a fatal leap.

Chisholm today begged to see Mrs. Helen Lawrence, the woman with whom he lived, and whose nagging, he said, drove him to do away with the lads.

EPIDEMIC IN JAPAN

2000 Already Dead And 500,000 Stricken

TOKYO, March 5. (AP)—All the medical resources of Japan's capital are engaged in a life and death battle with an epidemic which already has killed nearly 2,000 persons and has attacked the country's rulers.

Despite the best efforts of the city's physicians, half a million persons have been stricken and the sick are dying at the rate of 50 a day.

BURIED AT SEA

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 5. (AP)—Rear Admiral William T. Swinhorne, who died Saturday at the age of 81, was buried at sea today in accordance with one of his last wishes.

CALLED DEAD TEN TIMES, BABY LIVES

GLENDALE, Calif., March 5. (AP)—After having been pronounced dead ten times within a week, a baby five weeks old will live, said her doctor today. Three blood transfusions by the mother and long continued operation of a pulmonary brought the baby "back to life."

Ten times the little daughter of Mrs. G. E. Olmstead, ceased breathing, her heart stopped beating and her eyes glazed. Apparently she was dead.

The fire department pulmonologist first revived the child February 25. Hastily responding to a call, Dr. Philip Schmidt diagnosed the case as plural pneumonia and organized neighbors into pulmonary squads.

The baby began breathing naturally today and took food. She will live, said Dr. Schmidt.

'Discriminating' Burglars Take Only The Best From Slaton Store; Loss $2,000

(Special to the Avalanche) SLATON, March 5.—"Discriminating" burglars who pawed through entire stock of the Bruner Style Shop women's ready-to-wear store here last night before they leisurely drove away finally selected about $2,000 worth of the most expensive women's coats, dresses, silk hose and lingerie.

The robbery was discovered at the opening of the store for business Monday morning.

Entrance had been effected by prying a brick through a rear window, through which the marauders climbed into the store. Mrs. C. A. Bruner is the owner.

It is believed that the burglars heaped the loot into a truck which had been stationed in the rear of the store and then drove away.

No trace had been found of the robbers last night.

Boll Worm Board For Eradication, And Not Control

Chairman of Commission Favors Placing of Seven Newly Infested Counties Under Two-Year Ban.

DALLAS, March 5.—Eradication and not control is the only method of meeting the pink boll worm, members of the state commission, on the pest said at a luncheon of the Dallas agricultural club here Monday.

W. D. Farris of El Paso, chairman of the commission, said his recommendations would include the placing of the seven newly-infested counties in a non-cotton zone for two years.

Chairman Farris will present his recommendations to Governor Moody Tuesday. The newly infested counties include Midland, Martin, Howard, Dawson, Andrews and Glasscock.

"The problem is not one only of that region," Mr. Farris said. "It is of the utmost importance to the entire state. The results of a quarantine on Texas cotton by states, which is apt to come unless the pest is eradicated, would mean financial disaster to every Texan. This quarantine talk is not a bluff either and it can ruin Texas."

Aid from the government is necessary, Mr. Farris said. Last year $10,000,000 was used for like purposes to fight the corn borer and this year a like sum will be available. Texas should be able to get aid for this important work, Mr. Farris said.

COTTON PEST IS CURBED IN ARIZONA

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 5. (AP)—The state entomologist's office reported today that it had been successful in curbing the spread of pink cotton boll worm infestation recently discovered in the Santa Cruz valley cotton belt, near Tucson. Crews are at work in that area cleaning the fields and gins to prevent reappearance of the pest.

PAMPA, March 5. (AP)—In a mass meeting Monday Pampa citizens reached their goal of $50,000 needed for the city's share in bringing the proposed railroad from Chisnora, Okla., to Pampa.

LEAGUE PUZZLED

"St. Gotthard" Incident Is Trouble Maker

GENEVA, March 5. (AP)—The machine gun shipment seized on the Hungarian frontier, and involving what is known as the "St. Gotthard incident," has come before the League of Nations council. It is likely to prove a complicated problem. The cargo, numbering about 2,000, entered Hungary from Italy, and were marked as destined for Poland. They were neatly packed away in six cars and supposed to be agricultural implements.

"Millions" Being Lost To State Through "Distressed" Condition, Brought by Overproduction, Said.

WHOLESALE WASTE IS SCORED BY GOVERNOR

Despite Condition of Trade, Broadening of Fields and Drilling of New Wells Is On Increase.

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, March 5.—Seeking a remedy for the "greatly distressed condition" of the oil industry in Texas, the state railroad commission Monday called a conference of producers, royalty owners, purchasers of crude petroleum, pipe line operators, refiners and others for next Saturday, March 10, to see what can be done.

Governor Moody had asked the commission to take some action. The decline in oil prices, the commission said, "has not only brought financial distress to all, but has meant financial ruin of many more. It has meant and still means loss of untold millions to the University of Texas and to the state public school fund, because of decreased royalty payments from school lands."

Over-Production Blamed

Over-production was blamed for the condition. The commission said that additional storage structures are being built at "a great economic waste," new wells are being drilled and proven fields extended.

In a statement addressed to the oil industry, Texas, the commission, composed of Chairman Clarence E. Gilmore, C. V. Terrell and Lon A. Smith, said:

"From oil trade journals, the daily press and personal information coming to the commission, the oil industry in Texas is in a greatly distressed condition and has been for many of the past year. The practically unanimous judgment of all

Arab Tribes Uniting For Open Warfare Against British Along North Border

Powerful Sultan Adds Rifles, Ammunition and Men To Moral Support Previously Given Desert Raiders On Edge of Three British Possessions

LONDON, March 5.—Great Britain is facing another Sudan. Abdul Aziz Ibn Saud, sultan of Hedjaz who since 1901 has brought the Wahabi dynasty from exile to a dominant position in Arabia has added rifles, ammunition, food and probably men to the moral support which he had previously been giving desert raiders on the frontiers of the British mandates in Iraq, Kuwait and Transjordan.

Thus the intermittent warfare on the northern borders of the great Arabian desert has suddenly turned from fights with roving bands into a proposition of having Tommy Atkins face the whole might of the Wahabias.

Three small British warships in Kuwait bay at the head of the Persian gulf, a British air force in Iraq, and scattered outposts are confronted with the task of holding

The possibility that the case will be disposed of without public inquiry into the complex personality of the 21-year-old defendant, was admitted tonight by attorneys for both sides in dispatches from Painesville, Ohio.

"Doctor," Worn and Haggard by Weeks of Hiding, Gives Frank Recital of Action On Day of Murder

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, March 5.—Sought in vain by the police of two states for a week for questioning in connection with the death of Miss Margaret Brown, burned to death February 20 near Bernardville, N. J., "Dr." Louis Clement walked unrecognized into police headquarters today and gave himself up.

He asked to see Deputy Inspector Carey and was told to take a seat as that was the official way. When, after a few minutes, he was admitted to Carey's office he was able to announce "I am Clement," before the inspector eagerly interrupted him.

He was immediately closeted with detectives who were joined later by Captain Lamb of the New Jersey state police.

After the conference had progressed for some time, it was announced that Clement probably would be taken to New Jersey for questioning by authorities there.

Gives Frank Recital

Detectives, who had said repeatedly since starting their search for Clement that they had no information connecting him with Miss Brown's death, but hoped he might be able to give them valuable information, said that Clement gave them a frank recital of his movements on the day the Park Avenue governess was slain. Search for Clement began when a friend of Miss Brown identified his picture as that of a man she had seen in the woman's company.

Clement told the police he had been living in cheap hotels and lodging houses in Manhattan and

Dorothy McClure Sought 'Proxy Suicide' In Effort to Bury Her Past From World

CLEVELAND, March 5.—Dorothy Carlson-McClure has learned that the graves in Potters' Field are not deep enough to bury a past that you want to forget.

Dorothy had made a mess of things. She had had four husbands, some of them had been legally divorced, and some of them apparently hadn't. So when a fifth man kept pleading with her to marry him Dorothy decided to commit suicide by proxy, so to speak.

She didn't want to die—far from it. But she did want to kill her old life and bury it deep. Then she could start with a clean slate. It was one of these little tragedies that pass almost unnoticed in a big city that gave her—as she thought—her chance.

A Place To Die
A young girl got off a train here one day recently, and asked attendants at the railroad station where she could find some "Sisters of Charity." They directed her to St. Ann's hospital. She went there and, 10 days later, she gave birth to a girl. The next day she died. She had refused to tell who she was or where she lived, and police were unable to find out.

They prepared to bury her in an unnamed grave in Potters' Field. Then Dorothy Carlson-McClure read about it. She went to the police. "That girl was my sister," she said. "Her name was Dorothy McClure."

So the homeless unfortunate was buried as Dorothy McClure, and the real Dorothy, thinking she had buried her dead past, prepared to begin life over again. But luck wasn't with her.

When she went to the police and identified the dead girl, her picture was taken by newspaper photographers and printed in the papers. A neighbor saw it and went to the police.

"Why, she's Dorothy Carlson-McClure herself," the neighbor said.

For a long time Dorothy refused to answer questions. Then at last she told her story. She was raised in Falls Creek, Pa. In 1919, when she had just turned 16, she married William Gilmet, a minor. They had two children and lived happily together until the minor and Gilmet went west for work.

A little later she heard he was dead. So she drifted to Pittsburgh, where in 1922, she met Albert L. Carlson. After a short acquaintance she and Carlson were married and moved to Cleveland.

Twice more, she was married, once without the formality of divorce. In Denver she met Louis McClure, but returned to Cleveland when he threatened to expose her marital irregularities. So she tried to make McClure think she was dead—and her ruse would have worked if a neighbor had not recognized her picture in a newspaper.

Meanwhile, the mystery of the young mother who died is more than ever unsolved. The girl had refused to tell anything about herself except that her name was "Mary Lou." She wore a cheap wedding ring, but she told nurses she had bought it "so people would think I was married." Police have been unable to trace a single clue.

The little girl she brought into the world just before her death lies in a crib at St. Ann's hospital, healthy and happy, blandly indifferent to the tangled circumstances that accompanied her birth.

M. H. Sneed has returned to Hillsboro, where he has a farm, after visiting his family here.

C. E. MEMBERS MEET

Cumberland Presbyterians Assemble Here

Members of Christian Endeavor societies in the Amarillo, Floydada and Lubbock Cumberland Presbyterian churches gathered here Sunday afternoon for a semi-annual meeting. This gathering was conducted in conjunction with the Cumberland Presbyterian held at the local church during the week-end.

Edgar E. C. King, of Floydada, is moderator of the Presbytery and Rev. A. A. Collins, also of Floydada, is secretary.

Beauty!

How and Why

MODIFICATIONS OF THE SQUARE FACE

The square type of face is capable of many modifications. In the matter of size, almost there are three distinct divisions, to say nothing of the innumerable changes caused by combinations with other typical forms.

If the square face is long it is entirely different in expression from the short square type, which type needs distinctive arrangement of dress and hair. The square face of short or medium length is not likely to give the same impression of severity and sternness as the long square type.

Should your facial lines follow the short square form, not modified by an oval or a tapering chin, dress the hair with a view to adding length to the outline, and comb it to a soft becoming curve over the forehead, thus breaking the too straight lines of your type, and adding the charm of the undulating wave.

As with the longer square type described in a previous article, avoid the square necklines and cleave to the very becoming pointed or rounded styles.

—THE— WOMAN'S DAY By Allene Sumner

The most poignant tale of mother-daughter relationship ever told is that between the mother, Dona Maria, and her daughter, Dona Clara, in that exquisitely delicate book, "The Bridge of San Luis Rey."

"She lived alone and thought alone, and when an exquisite gaucher was born to her she fastened upon her an idolatrous love. But little Clara took after her father; she was cold and intellectual. At the age of eight she was calmly correcting her mother's speech and presently regarding her with astonishment and repulsion. The frightened mother became meek and obsequious but she could not prevent herself from persecuting Dona Clara with nervous attention and a fatiguing love."

ONLY LETTERS

Dona Clara deliberately chooses a suitor who will mean that she must go to Spain, "so that land from which it takes six months to receive an answer to one's letter."

Dona Maria lives now only to write and receive letters. There is one visit. "On both sides the visit was anticipated with resolutions well nourished on self-reproach; the one to be patient, the other to be undemonstrative. Both failed. Each tortured the other and was on the point of losing her mind under the alternations of self-reproach and the outbursts of passion. Henceforth letter writing had to take the place of all the affection that could not be lived."

Manager Frank Snyder warned his men to "take it easy" until they were more nearly in condition. He put in most of his time cautioning anxious pitchers not to show too much of their "stuff" and telling eager infielders and outfielders that injuries are of no aid to a baseball player.

The waitress on learning that Ables was connected with the team insisted on giving him the meagre training table fare.

Gibson is spending considerable time studying his pitchers and catchers the slants of each of them daily.

No Money Will Be Asked from Fans, Is Backers' Word

Session Is Merely to Sound Out Interest of Local Enthusiasts; Meeting Will Start at 7:30.

SPTS—NO MONEY

Does Lubbock really want organized baseball? At a mass meeting of local baseball fans, which has been called for 7:30 o'clock in the Lubbock chamber of commerce, rooms, the matter of Lubbock's entry in the West Texas Baseball league hinges and the question will be definitely answered. Should the interests of the fans in this city be sufficient enough to assure several local enthusiasts of the desires for baseball, then the franchise will be secured, owned, operated and supported by local men.

It has been pointed out by S. D. Hunter, one of the local enthusiasts who is willing to back the franchise that this meeting called for this evening is not to petition fans for finances but only to secure their assurance of a desire for organized baseball. If Lubbock really wants baseball the fans need only to be present for the meeting at 7:30 this evening at the city hall.

Tragedy and Lots Of It Is Offered By Little Theatre

O'Neill's "Beyond the Horizon" Is Unhappy From Very Start Until Curtain Rolls Down for Finale.

Orim tragedy stalked on the stage of the high school auditorium last night as the Lubbock Little Theatre presented Eugene O'Neill's "Beyond the Horizon."

Showing a slight weakness in their parts at the outset of the play, a cast of ten overcame their plot through with apparent ease drawing increasing interest from the audience.

The tragedy was inevitable. From the first unfortunate love scene in which Ruth pledged her love to Robert Mayo, the man whom she never loved, to the last tragic act, unsharpened was paramount.

Casts' Portrayals Splendid Only the splendid acting on the part of those in the cast brought admiration. Their roles were abhorrent. They aroused no love in the audience.

Horace Grady Moore led this grim parade as Robert Mayo, one whose dreams of happiness beyond the horizon brought certain failure. As his wife, Ruth, Miss Mary Scott, was a symbol of hopelessness.

Little Mollie Davis played this role with unusual understanding for so young an actor.

All Roles Unhappy No character was in a happy role. For Andrew Mayo, Robert's brother, there seemed some success and forgetfulness but this was short-lived.

John Burroughs, cast in this part, seemed in sympathy with every member of the young man whose acts he lived.

Hoovering over the drama was death. First James Mayo, father of the boys, a hearty farmer, died, only to be followed later in the play by his wife, this play leading to the final and greatest scene which marked the death of Robert Mayo.

W. W. Campbell and Mrs. W. C. Ryander played the parts of James and Katie Mayo, unpleasant parts that drew for that reason more credit to the actors.

Least Loved Role Perhaps the least loved role in the play was taken by Mrs. Fred Stubbs. Cast as the mother of Ruth Mayo, a nagging invalid, whose every word carried a sting, she was relentless but excellent in her acting.

In lesser parts were John Fulcher farm hand, and Sam J. McFarland, a doctor, but each was excellently cast.

Aiding in the success of the production was the lighting directed by Harry Meyers with Copas Bowen assisting. Mrs. R. A. Mills, chairman of the general production committee, and her assistants cooperated in making the play a success.

concerned is that this condition is the result of over-production of crude oil beginning with the bringing in of the Seminole field in Oklahoma more than a year ago, and augmented by the addition of the Yates, Hendrick and other pools in West Texas. Prices in crude oil have steadily declined as the flush production has gone on the market.

Additional Tanks Built Daily the construction of additional storage is being built by large and small companies at great economic waste, there being now constructed in Texas what is said to be the largest steel storage tank for crude oil in the world, the capacity below for 1,000,000 barrels.

In Texas many wells are pinched in and if all were permitted to flow full capacity, the production would be greatly increased, probably doubled. In the face of this situation however, the drilling in of new wells and the extension of proven fields continues almost unabated.

Investigation Of Unemployment to Be Made by Davis

During Debates Over Resolution in Senate, Prohibition and Prosperity As Slogans Discussed.

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, March 5.—By the direction of the senate, Secretary Davis of the Labor Department is to investigate and report on unemployment throughout the country.

The survey will apply to part-time employment, and will be made with a view of settling on a method by which frequent periodic reports of both situations might be made available. The result in each instance will be reported to the senate, under the resolution of Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, adopted by that body today without a record vote.

Facing the senate in his maiden speech, the New Yorker held the floor more than an hour in support of his resolution and in a detailed assault on administration expenditures as to prosperity. He was then joined by Senator Walsh, Massachusetts, and Copeland, New York, both Democrats, who decried existing economic conditions and blamed "maladministration of Government."

Attributed to Campaigns

Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, attributed talk of excessive unemployment to the imminence of presidential campaigns and denied that any undue increase of unemployment had taken place. His stand precipitated sharp interchanges from both sides of the floor and Senator Curtis, Kansas, Republican floor leader, warned that a vote would be deferred unless the discussion avoided partisan politics. The Wagner resolution then was approved forthwith.

During the discussion, Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, and Senator Copeland got into an exchange that had to do with prosperity and prohibition as campaign slogans. Copeland had said that the Republican party was conducting a campaign on the slogan, "prosperity."

"But there's more than one slogan," returned Borah. "What is it?"

"It deals with an amendment to the constitution," Copeland then asked the Idahoan if he believed the Eighteenth

General Motors Stock Soars To New High Record

Reaches Top of $148 Share; Total Sales 656,900 Which Is Near Exchange Record Day's Turnover.

NEW YORK, March 5.—The stampede of an over-crowded short interest to cover their commitments in General Motors corporation common stock, coupled with an outburst of new buying attracted by official predictions of a record-breaking first quarter earnings, sent the price up nearly $4 a share on the New York stock exchange today to a new high record at $148. The day's transactions totaled 656,900 shares, which has been exceeded only by the turnover of 866,000 shares of U. S. Steel common on December 21, 1916, the day of the famous "leak" on President Wilson's peace message.

Today's transactions in General Motors alone involved a turn-over of more than $100,000,000. The day's net gain of $225 a share at the closing price of $146.50 represented an increase of nearly $40,000,000 in the market value of the 18,500,000 shares of stock outstanding, bringing the increase in value since last Friday to 197,500,000.

Last week the short interest in General Motors stock was reported to be one of the largest on record. Several large professional traders and hundreds of small speculators are understood to have sold the stock "short" following the announcement of the new Ford model, on the theory that competition from this source would materially reduce General Motors' sales and earnings. Establishment of February production records by three of the leading General Motors units, coupled with official predictions that first quarter earnings would surpass those of any similar period in the corporation's history started the buying movement last Friday.

Heavy trading in many other stocks attended the rise in General Motors, the day's total sales approximating 2,964,000 shares.

ANNOUNCING OUR Eleventh Anniversary Celebration

DEAR FRIENDS:

We feel that we are privileged to address the people of the South Plains in the above manner; the thousands who have made the eleven years of our business life a success; who have encouraged us from the beginning by your patronage, and on to the present time, where the "Silver Lining" shines most brightly.

We are now entering the twelfth year of service to you folks, and are celebrating our eleventh anniversary. This celebration is made in a manner of price concessions on New, Bright, Spring merchandise. We feel in that way we can best express our true appreciation for the patronage that has sustained us to this extent.

Looking back eleven years to that time when we entered into the business life in a small way in Lubbock and the South Plains, we realize the many great things for which we should be thankful; for friends who have gone by appraisal; for public response to our efforts that have made it possible to continue a growth in broadening our services. Our store has had a continual growth, as well as the country we serve. Many things have come and gone into history since our establishment opened in Lubbock. Dozens of stores have come and gone during the eleven years of our successful business history in Lubbock and we have enjoyed a continual fast increase since we started here in a very small way. We now have the great honor and distinction of being the oldest department store in Lubbock and of doing the largest volume of business of any store in this part of Texas.

At the eleventh mile stone of our business life we find the year just closing has been the biggest and most successful year of any, add recognition of that fact we feel a humbleness, knowing that it's cause was the faithful patronage of our friends, that we may commemorate this milestone fittingly; that we may extend our acquaintance and usefulness—our Celebration Sale is announced. We hope that you read of it and share with us an event, which we believe you alone made possible. It is our thanks to you, and an expression of our desire to grow more, and a renewal of our determination to never arrive at a period of "satisfaction" with past achievements. Our success goes to prove the old saying—"Only The Fittest Survive!"

You will share most who take advantage of the offerings—for new selling records will be set in fresh, new, Spring merchandise from all departments.

New fashions—new fabrics—new things for the home—new accessories—new thing for men, women and children—and all of them at new low prices!

PLAN TO SHARE—AND SAVE!

Government Heads Oppose Labor Ban

Four Departments At Washington Register Disapproval to Box Legislation in Congress.

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, March 5.—Following several days of testimony relative to placing immigration from Mexico and other countries of North America on a quota basis, the senate immigration committee today in executive session was told that four departments of the government looked with disfavor on the proposed legislation.

Secretary of State Kellogg, it was said, following the meeting, is afraid that restriction of Latin-American labor in agricultural fields of the Southwest will affect friendly relations which now exist between the United States and neighboring republics of the south. Assistant Secretary of Labor Husband and Dr. George C. Kreutz, director of reclamation economics of the interior department, also appeared before the committee in opposition to the proposed Box legislation, and a letter from Secretary of Agriculture Jor-

CASE IS RECESSED

Trial of Smith Brought To Question of Legal Tender

The case of the State of Texas versus G. V. Smith, who stands charged in the 99th district court, with the theft of more than $60, was recessed late yesterday until this morning while Trial Judge Clark M. Mullican studied facts bearing upon it. Smith is pleading "not guilty" to the charge which is based on circumstantial evidence surrounding the loss of about $780 by the J. C. Penny company a year ago last December.

Defense counsel, led by Tom Garrard, raised the question of whether or not the money lost by the Penny company was or was not legal tender. The case will not be resumed until the question is decided. The case went to trial shortly after one o'clock Monday and, after the selection of the jury Jack Parson, Penny company store manager; D. D. Roderick, newspaperman; Robert Hester, bank teller; Mrs. Chas. L. Adams, Ross McWhorter, clothier; Jake Hassell, department store credit manager; and Guy Trow, bank teller.

Smith was read protesting from the economic standpoint.

Tractors Working By Day and Night

Feverish Activity Noted In Castro County and Thousands of Acres New Land Is Made Ready to Plant.

Indicative of the colonization movement now taking place throughout the entire Plains region, reports from the northern part of Lamb and the southern part of Castro counties indicate that 27,000 acres which last year was a barren prairie are next season to flourish with waving grain stalks.

More than 100 tractors in addition to dozen of teams are busy in this section breaking ground. As many as 20 tractors can be seen at work from any one view-point. In order to capitalize on recent moisture, tractors and teams are working day and night, the report said.

Castro county, though one of the first counties in the Plains to be organized is one of the last to be brought under cultivation. Dimmitt, the county seat, is destined to experience a good growth and already is showing some development. It is to be a terminus on the Estelita-Dimmitt branch of the Fort Worth and Denver railway.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

THE STORY THIS FAR
Margaret Odell is found strangled. Skeel's finger prints are found in the apartment, but Vance believes Skeel had been hiding in a closet while the murderer did his work. The thing that baffles police is the side door to the alley, which had been bolted on the inside the night before and was found the same way in the morning. Markham, Dr. Lindquist and Cleary all lie about their whereabouts the night of the murder. Spotswood, who had called on the girl, had rushed back to her door at the sound of a scream, but had been reassured that everything was all right. Then Skeel is found strangled after he had promised to tell who murdered the girl. Heath arrests Jessup, but Vance promises to demonstrate how Skeel could have entered and left through the side door and left it bolted on the inside.

CHAPTER XLIV

Vance shepherded us ceremoniously to chairs, and cocked his eye at the sergeant.
"You will be so good as to rest here until you hear me knock at the side door. Then come and open it for me." He went toward the doorway. "Once more I personate the departed Mr. Skeel, so picture me again in grande tenue—sartorially radiant... The curtain ascends."
He bowed and, stepping from the reception-room into the main hall, disappeared round the corner into the rear passageway.
Heath shifted his position restlessly and gave Markham a questioning, troubled look.
"Will he pull it off, sir, do you think?" All jocularity had gone out of his tone.
"I can't see how," Markham was growling. "If he does, though, it will knock the chief underpinning from your theory of Jessup's guilt."
"I'm not worrying," declared Heath. "Mr. Vance knows a lot. He's got ideas. But how in hell—?"
He was interrupted by a loud knocking on the side door. The three of us sprang up simultaneously and hurried round the corner of the main hall. The rear passageway was empty. There was no door or aperture of any kind on either side of it. It consisted of two blank walls; and at the end, occupying almost its entire width, was the oak door which led to the court.
Vance could have disappeared only through the oak door. And the thing we all noticed at once—so our eyes had immediately sought it—was the horizontal position of the bolt-handle. This meant that the door was bolted.
"Heath was not merely astonished—he was dumfounded. Markham had halted abruptly, and stood staring down the empty passageway as if he saw a ghost. After a momentary hesitation Heath walked rapidly to the door. But he did not open it at once. He went down on his knees before the lock and scrutinized the bolt carefully. Then he took out his pocket-knife and inserted the blade into the crack between the door and the casing. The point halted against the inner molding, and the edge of the blade scraped upon the circular bolt.
There was no question that the heavy oak casings and moldings has returned from his promenade; so he can resume his telephonic duties and leave us free for a cause."

"When did you think up that hocus-pocus with the tweezers and string?" demanded Markham irritably, when we were seated in the Odell living-room.
"I didn't think it up at all, don't y' know," Vance told him carelessly, selecting a cigaret with annoying deliberation. "It was Mr. Skeel's idea. Ingenious lad—eh, what?"
"Come, come," Markham's equanimity was at last shaken. "How can you possible know that Skeel used this means of locking himself out?"
"I found the little apparatus in his evening clothes yesterday morning."
"What!" cried Heath beligerently. "You took that outa Skeel's room yesterday during the search without saying anything about it?"
"Oh, only after your ferrets had passed it by. In fact, I didn't even look at the gentleman's clothes until your experienced searchers had inspected them and relocked the wardrobe door. Y' see, Sergeant, this little thimblebob was stuffed away in one of the pockets of Skeel's dress waistcoat, under the silver cigaret case."
"I'll admit I went over his evening suit rather lovin'ly. He wore it, y' know, on the night the girl departed this life, and I hoped to find some slight indication of his collaboration in the event. When I found this little eyebrow-plucker, I hadn't the slightest inkling of its significance. And the purple twine attached to it bothered me frightfully, don't y' know."
"I could see that Mr. Skeel didn't pluck his eyebrows; and even if he had been addicted to the practice, why the twine? The tweezers are a delicate little gold affair—just what the ravishin' Margaret might have used; and last Tuesday morning I noticed a small lacquer tray containing similar toilet accessories on her dressing-table near the jewel case—but that wasn't all."

He pointed to the little vellum waste-basket beside the escritoire, in which lay a large crumpled mass of heavy paper.
"I also noticed that piece of discarded wrapping-paper stamped with the name of a well-known Fifth Avenue novelty shop, and this morning, on my way downtown, I dropped in at the shop and learned that they make a practice of tying up their bundles with purple twine."
"Therefore, I concluded that Skeel had taken the tweezers and the twine from this apartment during his visit here that eventful night... Now, the question was: Why should he have spent his time tying strings to eyebrow-pluckers? I confess, with maidenly modesty, that I couldn't find an answer."
"But this morning when you told of arresting Jessup, and emphasized the rebolting of the side door after Skeel's departure, the fog lifted, the sun shone, the birds began to sing. I became suddenly mediumistic; I had a psychic seizure. The whole modus operandi came to me—as they say—in a flash... I told you, Markham old thing, it would take spiritualism to solve this case."

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory disease, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

February 20, 1928

Mr. E. B. Germain,
President, Dunlop Tire & Rubber Company,
Buffalo, N.Y.

Dear Mr. Germain:

Thank you so very much indeed for your congratulations contained in your wire which I received today.

I would like to most heartily congratulate you on the wonderful tires which you have produced, as those that I used when my car succeeded in breaking the record were uncut and in absolutely perfect condition, even though they had been through this grueling test.

To give you some idea of the utmost confidence which I have in Dunlop tires, although arrangements had been made for McDonald to be at the extreme end of the course so that he could change my wheels for the return run if necessary, I did not even bother to stop to let him examine these after my first run, when the car succeeded in reaching a speed of over 214 miles per hour, as I felt they would last the return journey and give no trouble. I think that this expresses my absolute confidence in your wonderful production.

With kindest regards, I am
Yours most sincerely,
Malcolm Campbell

CAPT. MALCOLM CAMPBELL drives 207 miles per hour on DUNLOPS at Daytona Beach

OVER 104 yards a second... the fastest mile ever made anywhere, on track, road or beach. Captain Campbell at Daytona Beach smashed all speed records of all time.

No other tires were ever asked to stand anything like the strain imposed by Captain Campbell's 900 horsepower Blue Bird Car.

Centrifugal force so great it would hurl a tire-tread sky-high... terrific internal heat! And yet the Dunlops came through "perfect," according to Captain Campbell.

Such supreme tire tests provide the knowledge from which Dunlop's everyday tires have been perfected. The previous world speed record was made on Dunlops—Dunlop holds 18 world records in all.

But Dunlop's proudest record is this: 26,000,000 Dunlops are giving greater safety, surer service, and bigger value to millions of motorists.
