

'TELL IT LIKE IT IS' BREAKFAST

Challenge To Be Outlined For Obtaining An Industry

The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a community-wide breakfast Tuesday morning to "tell it like it is."

The telling principally will have to do with how the community must mobilize its resources to attain a new major industrial payroll.

Chamber leaders, enthusiastic over response to date to their proposal for a major industrial effort, are expecting perhaps 250 people in the Settles ballroom Tuesday morning. Breakfast will be served from 7 to 7:45, the program will start promptly and will go at a brisk pace.

Winston Wrinkle, a Chamber vice president, is to preside for the program, and will introduce as a speaker Jim Heath, Austin, on the staff of the Texas Industrial Commission. Heath is expected to "tell it like it is" on Big Spring's challenges to inject strong leadership, community vision, effort and money to boost its economy.

Adolph Swartz, who headed a special task force committee to set priorities for the Chamber's 1970 program of work, will report on the committee's recommendations, and will, again, stress that most citizens are calling for vigorous efforts for more payrolls.

Don Womack, head of the C-C Industrial Team, is to review work that has been done to date in approaching a major manufacturer which proposes to locate in West Texas a facility which, after organization and training, would employ up to 200 people.

A decision from this company is reportedly near, and Womack will outline what his group has done and what else needs to be done to arrive at a final agreement with the prospect.

The industrial review will be concluded with a video-tape message from Paul Meek, C-C president, who must be out of the city Tuesday because of business commitments. He too, is expected to "tell it like it is."

During the meal, the Chamber plans to make brief presentations of certificates to various committee and project chairmen for special community efforts performed during the past year.

Nixon To Propose Modest Program

THURMONT, Md. (AP)—In a message shaped largely during three days of solitary work at his mountain retreat President Nixon will propose Thursday a modest program for bettering America on a tight budget.

Nixon will outline his ideas for the near and longer-range future in his first State of the Union message. It will be delivered personally to a joint Senate-House session at noon Thursday and will be broadcast live by major television and radio networks.

During a Camp David stay that began last Wednesday afternoon both on the message and on 11th-hour efforts to further reduce his forthcoming federal budget for the 1971 fiscal year that begins July 1.

Nixon has indicated that a major thrust of the message will be a call for greater federal efforts to combat pollution of all types and to better the national environment.

Initially such programs would not require massive spending and thus would dovetail with Nixon's determination to impose budget restraints as an anti-inflation measure. In time, however, outlays for environmental projects would rise.

Aides in Washington said Saturday that only the President knows at this point exactly what he intends to say Thursday. They have yet to get a look at the handwritten drafts he prepared at Camp David on legal-size yellow scratch pads.

But they anticipate Nixon will discuss also the inflation threat and make a renewed effort to spur passage of anticrime bills he submitted in 1969.

Although the budget is virtually completed, informants said they doubt Nixon will disclose the spending and revenue estimates Thursday. The budget itself won't go to Congress before Jan. 30 and may be delayed until Feb. 2.

Congress Faces Fast Start In 2nd Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress returns Monday to start an election-year session and faces an immediate confrontation with President Nixon over federal spending for education programs.

Nixon's threatened veto of a $19.7-billion appropriations bill for the Departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare promises a fast start for the second session of the 91st Congress.

The House passed the bill in the closing days of the first session but the Senate delayed action until after the holiday recess so Congress would be in a position to deal with any veto.

Senate passage is expected early in the week.

The promised veto and an attempt by the Democratic-controlled Congress to override it also will mark the start of a session-long struggle between Congress and the White House leading up to the November congressional elections.

Action is scheduled on matters of high voter interest such as crime, welfare reform and farm legislation and both Democrats and Republicans will be trying for political advantage in dealing with them.

Other major items on the agenda are electoral reform, voting rights and postal reform.

There could be another Senate fight over a Supreme Court nominee, depending on whom Nixon names to replace the rejected Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. And an administration request for funds for additional Safeguard missile sites would be certain to stir up strenuous opposition.

In his advance notice that he will veto the welfare appropriations bill because Congress added $1.3 billion to his budget for education and health programs, Nixon made it clear he regards inflation as the nation's No. 1 domestic problem. So the budget for fiscal 1971 he will send to Congress soon probably will be the center of a running battle with Congress as it works on appropriations bills during the session.

The White House is already putting pressure on Republican members to sustain Nixon's veto of the money bill, sounding a favorite Republican theme of fiscal responsibility. To the Democrats, the issue is one of setting national priorities. Fat should be cut out of military spending, they say, and more money spent on schools.

Early action is also likely on bills dealing with narcotics, including an administration proposal to soften the penalties for possession of marijuana for personal use, not for selling it.

'TIL THURSDAY Grand Jury Recesses

The Howard County Grand Jury recessed Saturday morning until Thursday, after questioning the last of 65 youngsters subpoenaed.

The jury began work Monday on a special investigation into local drug traffic. Foreman John Currie said the jury hopes to prepare a report for 118th District Judge Ralph W. Caton Thursday morning.

Currie was not sure whether there will be further questioning of any witnesses. The October Grand Jury was called back into session by Currie following the Dec. 18 arrest of five Big Spring persons and one from Denton on charges of selling drugs.

Members of the jury include Currie, Wilson Edwards, Ernest Byrd, Charles Tompkins, Curt Mullins, R. C. Thomas, Mrs. Bennett Brooke, Don Newson, E. O. Brown, Mrs. Walter Slate, Mrs. James Johnson and A. J. Prager.

Prager was called in as a spokesman Monday when Mrs. Ralph Gossett failed to join the jurors because of illness.

BURLESON FILES FOR RE-ELECTION

Rep. Omar Burleson, veteran Democratic congressman, is filing for re-election to represent the 17th Texas district.

Burleson has been the 17th district representative for some 24 years. It now has 24 counties in Central West Texas, including Howard. Howard was put into Burleson's district under a re-districting plan four years ago.

The congressman, now a member of the House Ways and Means Committee, is a long-time conservative and says he believes that is the attitude of his district. He is an advocate of economy and particularly is against heavy foreign aid.

Born in Jones County in 1906, he was county attorney and county judge of his home county before becoming an FBI agent in 1940. He served in the Navy in World War II, and upon discharge made his first race for Congress.

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

It was a sad week, for two young men from here gave their lives in the service of their nation. Pfc. Raymond A. (Dub) White III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. White, 209 N. Benton, was killed in a mine explosion in Vietnam. Then Capt. Frank Dahl Jr., husband of the former Diane Baker, who, with their daughter, was staying here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Baker, was killed in the crash of his F-104 in the Yellow Sea off Korea. (There were two area service deaths in December.) Last week, too, there was a double funeral here for S. Sgt. Paul Martinez, 23, and his brother-in-law, Salome Martinez Smithwick, 17, both Big Springers, who were killed in a car mishap near St. Pauls, N.C.

The special session of the Howard County grand jury continued all week on its probe into the scope of the marijuana and drug situation here. The inquiry may go into this week. Then will come the task of sifting out the information and drafting a report.

MILLIONAIRE HOLES UP AFTER SEIGE

Modern Gold Rush Cools Off

NEW YORK (AP) — Giveaway millionaire Michael James Brody Jr. holed up in his father's East Side apartment Saturday after 36 hectic hours under siege from people he hoped to give peace and happiness by parceling out his fortune.

The move cooled a minor modern gold rush, as fund seekers from as far as Paris, France, tried to contact the mod, 21-year-old margarine heir and stake out a claim.

Brody precipitated the money madness when he announced Thursday night he would dole out what he said was a $25 million fortune to anyone with a worthy cause.

A crowd was waiting outside his door in suburban Scarsdale Friday morning.

Brody estimated he gave out $60,000 during the day—most of it in checks. The chairman of the board of the Scarsdale National Bank and Trust Co. said later he informed callers Friday that their checks "were not good at this time."

J. Henry Neale explained this meant "there's not enough money in the account" at the time of the call to cover the check. He said the earliest a deposit could be added was Monday.

Meanwhile the widely publicized telephone number at Brody's rented $400,000 home on exclusive Paddington Road was changed to an unlisted number. Police kept barricades on the road but only a few stragglers stayed on. Brody himself returned to the house early Saturday, picked up some clothes and told police he was off to Puerto Rico. He apparently made a reservation on an airline but was later spotted at the apartment.

Gruetzners Receive Calls Asking For Brody's Gifts

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP)—Go home mod millionaire Michael Brody! Answer your telephone! People want to talk with you. The Bob Gruetzners know. Oh, how they know!

By accident of the dial phone system, Mrs. Gruetzner said Saturday, she received 50 or 60 calls in the last two days asking for some of Brody's money.

This was after Brody, the young millionaire, said he wants to give away $25 million to people in need.

Brody lives in Scarsdale, N.Y., but had fled from home Saturday to get some peace from the telephone and visitors. Mrs. Gruetzner, a 22-year-old who lives in a modest brick home in a new subdivision, has been getting some of Brody's calls. When she tells the callers they have reached Palestine, the invariable reaction is a brief silence followed by the question, "Where?"—a reasonable query since it could be anywhere from Tel Aviv to the states of Arkansas, Illinois, Ohio, Texas or West Virginia, all of which have towns or cities of that name.

"At first," said Mrs. Gruetzner, "I thought it must be some prankster. But most of the people have northern accents." The accents would be noticeable to a life-long resident of this deep East Texas city where her husband is a Missouri Pacific Railroad employe.

The calls, she said, have been from the West Coast to the Atlantic Seaboard. She received four collect calls which she turned down. The Brody telephone number and the Gruetzners' are identical except for two digits, one in the area code.

Albert Rucker, manager of the Palestine Telephone Co., said the malfunction could be in a switching station anywhere in the United States. The phone company is trying to straighten out the matter.

At first, Mrs. Gruetzner said, she considered it fun. But the novelty is wearing off.

"I really don't know what to do," said the small, brown-haired Mrs. Gruetzner. "I can't sit by the telephone all day."

She solved the problem Friday night. "I took the phone off the hook."

Israeli Commandos Hit Egyptian Base Near Cairo

By The Associated Press

Israeli commandos raided Egyptian military positions and hit telephone and power lines 36 miles from Cairo Friday night and early Saturday in ground action that came closest to the Egyptian capital since late 1968, the Israeli military command said.

The Egyptians dismissed the raid as a "complete forgery," adding that there was no damage to telephone service or electrical power in the Cairo area.

In addition to striking near Cairo where the commandos concentrated on rear echelon forces who man the Cairo-to-Suez road as well as telephone and power cables, the commandos also attacked an army position and administrative center 40 miles west of Ras Za'Farana on the Gulf of Suez, an Israeli spokesman said. He claimed that it was the closest Israeli ground forces have come to Cairo since Oct. 31, 1968.

No details were given, and it was presumed the commandos divided into two strike forces because of the distance between the targets.

A Jordanian military spokesman in Amman claimed that an Israeli army patrol attempted to cross the Jordan River Friday night but was driven back. It was the second Israeli attempt to cross onto the east bank in 24 hours, he said.

Arab guerrillas attacked Israeli troops with rockets Friday night in the northern and central Jordan Valley, the Palestine Armed Struggle Command reported. The communique claimed several Israeli casualties, several vehicles destroyed and several outposts wiped out.

The Jordanian Cabinet Saturday approved a $246-million budget for 1970 of which nearly half will go for defense. The draft now goes before Parliament.

Three U.S. congressmen—Sherman P. Lloyd, R-Utah; Peter H.B. Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., and Edward J. Derwinski, R-Ill.—met for an hour Saturday with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad in Cairo. A spokesman for the U.S. Embassy said they discussed the Middle East situation and reviewed U.S.-Egyptian relations.

Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., had been scheduled to make the Cairo trip but became ill in Beirut, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said.

In Beirut the Foreign Ministry said Lebanon cannot be held responsible for the abduction of an Israeli watchman from his border settlement by Palestinian guerrillas operating from Lebanon on New Year's Day.

The ministry, commenting on an earlier statement by Prime Minister Golda Meir of Israel that Lebanon was responsible for Arab commando operations and demanding return of the watchman, said her remarks were a "continuation of Israel's policy of aggression."

The Israelis captured 22 Arab guerrillas and civilians in a retaliatory raid but have since released five.

Jack Buchanan Enters Precinct 4 Contest

Jack W. Buchanan, a native of Howard County who has spent all his life here, is announcing his candidacy for County Commissioner for Precinct 4, subject to the Democratic primary of May 2.

JACK W. BUCHANAN

Buchanan has been active in various farm and ranch improvement endeavors and is affiliated with a long list of organizations operating in these areas.

He later enlisted in the Navy, serving 11 months of his tour aboard ship in the Pacific Theatre.

After his discharge he attended Texas Tech, graduating with a degree of Bachelor of Science in Agriculture.

The children at the old factory haven't had a bath in a week because there isn't a bathtub in the center. Their unwashed clothes hang limp and ragged. They have been eating largely through the generosity of a restaurant owner across the street.

He was employed as instructor in the Howard County Vocational School in May, 1951, shortly was promoted to county coordinator of this program, serving until May, 1956, when he resigned to become manager of the Howard County Farm Association.

One of the homeless men, Mendez Figueroa, hasn't worked for two weeks while trying to find a place to live after a fire forced his family from their building. When he does work, at a Bronx pocket-book factory, he takes home $55 a week.

Buchanan's list of affiliations include: board chairman of the Martin-Howard-Midland Soil and Water Conservation District; director and vice president of Soil and Water Conservation Districts; member research committee of Texas Soil and Water Association; chairman of research advisory board of Big Spring Experiment Station; director of the Big Spring unit of Water, Inc.; director of Howard County-South Plains Hereford Association; director Sweetwater Hereford Association and president of Mitchell County Hereford Association; director of South Plains Development Program; chairman of County Development Program; chairman of County Committee on Brush Control; member of Great Plains Conservation Committee; director of Howard County Farm Bureau; adult leader of Gay Hill 4-H Club; chairman of community relations for Gay Hill PTA.

He is married to the former Mildred Wilson of Ralls, who teaches in the Gay Hill Elementary School. They have three children, Debra and Darla in Big Spring High School, and Jackie, who attends Gay Hill. They are members of the Vealmoor Church of Christ.

Buchanan in his announcement said, "I do not have any preconceived ideas about this issue as it comes up and make my decisions solely on its merits. I favor a progressive, economical and efficient county government. I feel that I am old enough to possess sound judgment, yet young enough to diligently and vigorously carry out the duties of the office."

Buchanan has been a member, director and vice president of the Big Spring Jaycees, chairman of the Agriculture Committee of the Chamber of Commerce; secretary of the National Anxiety 4th Hereford Breeders; chairman of the community committee of ASC; director and president of the Big Spring Co-Op Gin and of the Plains Co-Op Oil Mill in Lubbock; chairman of the education committee of the Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts. He was a charter member of the Coahoma Lions Club and served as a vice president.

Buchanan in 1958 was selected as the Outstanding Young Farmer in the Big Spring area, and recently was selected as Outstanding Farmer-Rancher for the Martin-Howard-Midland Soil Conservation District.

request for your support."

He continued, "I feel that the city people and the rural people should cooperate for the betterment of all the county. I feel they both need each other, and need to solve their problems together in harmony. I think the county should cooperate with all the local agencies for the county's progress, and I elected, I will work toward this end."

NARCOTICS SALE, POSSESSION Panhandle Grand Juries Indict 16 Young Persons

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Schoolmates learned Friday, as two grand juries returned indictments, that a trim young mother posing as a high school pupil actually was an undercover narcotics agent.

her husband lived together in an apartment, going as sister and brother, while she established contacts and gathered information the past three to four months. The couple's infant son was left with relatives.

The state court indictments accused 16 young persons, including some members of prominent families, of illegal sale or possession of drugs and in some cases of other violations.

Mrs. Carrison avoided newsmen and was not available at once for comment.

Authorities said the charges were based on evidence from Carolyn Carrison, 22, who pretended to be a high school sophomore, 18 and unmarried, although she actually is a college senior.

Officials emphasized that she made contacts while posing as a pupil in Amarillo's Tascosa High School but no arrests were made on school property.

Charges in the indictments indicted Dean Bridges, 23, one of the first to be taken into custody, was a key figure in the case.

Indictments made available to newsmen by Judge Jordan listed these other defendants: Christopher Bennett, Vicki Palmer, Jackie Williams, Danny Smith, Gary Hester, Rickie Joe Witt, Rickey Edwards, Michael Phelps Barfield and Don Armstrong.

They said Mrs. Carrison and her husband lived together in an apartment, going as sister and brother, while she established contacts and gathered information the past three to four months. The couple's infant son was left with relatives.

Investigator Not Allowed Manson

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles M. Manson, conducting his own defense against murder charges in the slayings of actress Sharon Tate and six others, has been denied $750 in county funds to hire an investigator.

Superior Court Judge George M. Dell earlier had approved Manson's right to have an investigator and a tape recorder to aid him in preparing his case, but noted Friday that the hippie-type cult leader had started earlier before another judge that he was not indigent.

New Tax Loopholes In Reform Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tax reform bill of 1969, launched as a means of closing tax loopholes, ended up with enough fine print in its 1,004 sections to benefit a number of special industries and corporations.

New York has an exception from the rule which makes contracts between affiliates ineligible.

Now that the bill has become the 255-page Public Law 91-172 and the Treasury Department has started spelling out its effects in regulations, the benefits to certain industries and corporations are evident.

—Uniroay, Inc., which may have been eligible anyway, is assured of credit on a $73 million plant in Ardmore, Okla.

The investment credit, by which businesses recovered 7 per cent of equipment outlays, is repealed retroactively to April 18, 1969. But the repeal is surrounded by special transition provisions, so that: —Lykes Steamship Co., New Orleans, building a new barge-carrying ship, can claim the exemption not only on the ship, which was contracted for before the deadline, but also the barges, which were not.

—Lockheed Aircraft Corp. and McDonnell-Douglas Corp. can claim it on equipment to finish orders for jumbo aircraft.

Huge Plane Grounded After Wing Crack Found

WASHINGTON (AP) — Discovery of a crack in the wing of a C5 Galaxy super-transport, the world's largest aircraft, has prompted the Air Force to suspend flights of the huge planes until the wings are modified and strengthened.

The Air Force currently has 10 of the airplanes which have aroused controversy in Congress because of their cost. An 11th supertransport was due to run off the Lockheed assembly line Saturday.

Officials said Friday the crack of 8 to 10 inches in length was found as a plane was undergoing wing modifications at the Lockheed-Georgia plant in Marietta, Ga.

The break occurred in the area of the wing that earlier failed static load tests registering 125 per cent of the designed load limit, the Air Force said.

Despite the crack, officers said it was felt the planes could be flown safely.

The crack was discovered on a plane that had been undergoing flight tests at Edwards Air Force Base in California. A spokesman said the plane probably had the crack in its wing while it was being flown across country to undergo modifications ordered as a result of the earlier static test failure. The apparent weakness found during the ground tests prompted engineers to design an aluminum brace to strengthen 11 points on the huge wing.

This is the second time in less than a month that the Air Force has had to halt the flights of expensive and controversial new aircraft because of problems with the wings. All 223 of its operational F111 swing wing fighter bombers were grounded following a crash in Nevada which killed two pilots. The Air Force said earlier this week a wing had broken off the plane because of a failure in steel and that all the other F111s were being checked out.

U.S. Prisoners Put On Display, Then Executed

SAIGON (AP) — Two U.S. military spokesmen said Saturday.

The U.S. Command said the bodies of Capt. David R. Devers, of Mount Holly, N.C., and M. Sgt. John H. O'Neill were found last Christmas Eve in a shallow grave by U.S. Marines. Both had been listed as missing in action.

The U.S. Command said it withheld announcement of the discovery of their bodies pending an investigation, positive identification of the bodies through dental records and notification of next of kin three days ago.

"Reports from residents in the area stated the Viet Cong put the U.S. prisoners on display in several villages before executing them," said a statement from the U.S. Command.

"They had been captured after an action Aug. 13, 1968, and later shot to death by their Viet Cong captors."

New System For Car Inspections

With the State's April 15 sticker placed on the left side of the windshield with a large number tab inserted to show the month of expiration. For example, vehicles inspected in September have the number nine displayed and will require reinspection before Sept. 30, 1970. Those inspected in October have the number 10 and must be reinspected before Oct. 31, 1970. Vehicles which are inspected in January will bear the number one and reinspection will be required before Jan. 31, 1971.

All vehicles which currently have a sticker on the right side of the windshield have not been reinspected in compliance with the new law, and their owners have only until April 15 to visit an approved inspection station.

Ed Edwards Enters Race For Commissioner, Pct. 2

Leoland (Ed) Edwards, a resident of Howard County for 24 years, is making formal announcement of his candidacy on the Democratic ticket for County Commissioner for Precinct 2.

Edwards, who points to long business experience both in Howard County and in Big Spring, said "I am seeking this public office without making specific proposals or promises, but with the guarantee that any decisions I make with the rest of the Court would be for the betterment of the people in my precinct and in the county. I would approach each issue in a flexible manner; I would help to guard zealously the budgeting and expenditures of the county's dollars; and I would be striving to lessen the tax burden."

ED EDWARDS

Edwards said his first endeavor will be to meet and talk with all the voters of the precinct. "I expect to continue in my present job, which gives me ample time to give all attention to the duties of the office. If elected, I will try to be the kind of commissioner the people expect."

Edwards, 52, attended public schools at Denton and was graduated from high school there. He attended Texas A&M University, and received his degree from North Texas State University. He came to Howard County after a tour in the Air Force, during which time he was stationed in Europe and South America.

For the past three years, Edwards has been in public relations and sales with an equipment manufacturer selling to municipalities.

After completing college, he was a high school coach, then spent four years in construction work with architectural-engineering consultants. He has experience in handling road pavement and drainage, underground utilities and treatment plants.

For 18 years he was engaged in oil field work, including drilling, production, operations and land acquisition. During this time, he lived in the Vealmoor area, has been in Big Spring the past six years, owning his home at 1108 Mt. Vernon. He is married to the former Juanita Cain, and has a step-son, J. D. Adams.

The Edwardses have membership in Baptist Temple and he is a member of Masonic Lodge No. 598, the El Paso Consistory of Scottish Rite, and the Suez Shrine Temple, San Angelo.

Edwards is a student of conservation, including methods affecting soil, water, air and game. He raises bird dogs as a hobby and has held office in the local, state and national Field Trial Associations.

Rural Hero Is Sought

Texas is looking for a rural hero!
This person will receive the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council's Rural Heroism Award during the Texas Safety Association meeting, March 23 in Dallas. The award is presented annually to a deserving person, living in a rural community of 2,500 or less, who has risked personal life or injury in performing a heroic act.

While it specifically honors one individual for exceptional bravery at a time of crisis or disaster, the safety program points up this highly important objective: the continuing need for improved safety conditions in our rural areas — at work, at home and at play.
Deadline for nomination is March 1. They should be mailed to: Rural Heroism Awards Committee, Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, P.O. Box 489, Waco, Texas 76703.

Frigid Cold Front Blasts Into Texas

By The Associated Press
A frigid new Arctic cold front, whistling southward with snow and freezing rain, prompted forecasters to post traveler's warnings for wide sections of Texas Saturday night.

Forecasters said the snow and freezing rain would spread over all of Texas' northern half by Sunday night with temperatures continuing to fall. Temperatures as low as 8 degrees were expected Saturday night in the Panhandle.

Clarity was expected to spread throughout South Texas during the night with rain and drizzle, possibly freezing, along the northern stretches of the Pecos River.

At sunrise visibilities in some sections were zero. The sun was hidden to most of Texas nearly all day Saturday.

A vask blanket of fog, which snarled air and surface transportation early in the morning continued to shroud much of the upper Gulf Coast as temperatures remained miles ahead of the new norther.

Alarmed women across the nation have been calling up their doctors after learning of testimony before a Senate subcommittee about possible hazards of birth control pills.

When women call, "we tell them that the pill is safer than being pregnant," he said. "We tell them also that there is no relationship proved between the birth control pill and cancer."

Emory University's family planning program, said some of his patients at Grady Hospital in Atlanta, Ga., have called and that some new patients who have just had children have decided to go on intrauterine devices instead of the pill.

Many doctors questioned in an Associated Press sampling complained that last week's testimony, which was given wide news coverage, had caused an unwarranted scare. Others, however, said they had not received as many calls as anticipated.

Dr. Robert Hatcher, director of Emory University's family planning program, said some of his patients at Grady Hospital in Atlanta, Ga., have called and that some new patients who have just had children have decided to go on intrauterine devices instead of the pill.

My advice to the patient is that I am not convinced that this evidence is complete," Scher said. "However, if the patient has great anxiety, then on this basis alone they ought to go to some other form of contraception."

South Vietnamese headquarters in Saigon announced Saturday the reshuffling of 14 of the country's 44 province chiefs who exercise control over local military security and government administration.

There, however, is the rub. Most gynecologists agree that the estrogen pill is the most effective birth control device there is—both because of the way it works and because it is easy to take.

All of these changes were seen as a victory for the American military and political establishment, which has been pressing the Saigon government to pump new blood into the field command structure.

Dr. Robert I. Ayerst, a gynecologist in the New Orleans suburb of Metairie, added another dimension.

With the recent influx of North Vietnamese regulars, the military situation in the sectors commanded by the two generals has been deteriorating steadily, according to knowledgeable sources.

Dr. Robert Hatcher, director of Emory University's family planning program, said some of his patients at Grady Hospital in Atlanta, Ga., have called and that some new patients who have just had children have decided to go on intrauterine devices instead of the pill.

Three days ago, President Nguyen Van Thieu disclosed he planned to reorganize the South Vietnamese armed forces sometime this year. Informants said Saturday's move represented only the beginning of a major shakeup.

Dr. Robert Hatcher, director of Emory University's family planning program, said some of his patients at Grady Hospital in Atlanta, Ga., have called and that some new patients who have just had children have decided to go on intrauterine devices instead of the pill.

The most significant change was the replacement of Brig. Gen. Nguyen Thanh Hoang as commander of the 7th Infantry Division, long regarded as one of the worst in the South Vietnamese army.

Dr. Robert Hatcher, director of Emory University's family planning program, said some of his patients at Grady Hospital in Atlanta, Ga., have called and that some new patients who have just had children have decided to go on intrauterine devices instead of the pill.

Until last July, the 7th Division was supported in the important northern sector of the delta by the U.S. 9th Infantry Division. When the 9th and its 12,000 troops were pulled out under President Nixon's withdrawal program, informants said, the military situation took a turn for the worse.

Dr. Robert Hatcher, director of Emory University's family planning program, said some of his patients at Grady Hospital in Atlanta, Ga., have called and that some new patients who have just had children have decided to go on intrauterine devices instead of the pill.

Hoang was replaced, effective immediately, by Col. Nguyen Khoa Nam, former commander of a brigade of the elite South Vietnamese Airborne Division.

Annual Business Meet Set Today By Episcopalians

The annual congregational meeting of St. Mary's Episcopal Church will be held today, according to the Rev. Harlan Birdwell, rector.

The members will hear the reports from various organizations of the church, he said, including the treasurer's report, and will adopt a budget. In addition, four members will be elected to the vestry, four members to the day school board, and seven members and seven alternates to the diocesan council.

Rev. Birdwell said the diocesan council this year will elect a new bishop, as Bishop Quarterman has announced he will retire in 1971, from the post he has held since 1946.

The congregation will hold holy communion at 9:30 a.m. then move to the parish hall for the business session.

Freak Mishap Leaves 2 Dead

DALLAS (AP) — A freak traffic accident took the life late Friday of William R. Bogart Jr., managing editor of the Tyler Morning Telegraph. A Terrell woman died Saturday of injuries suffered in the collision.

Mrs. Bogart, 43; Sally Bogart, 15; and William R. Bogart III, 10, were injured.

Dying Saturday was Mrs. Betty Summerfield, 40, of Terrell, an occupant of the second car.

Injured in the second car were the driver, Effie Walker; Heir-eize Hardy, 64; and Maxine Simmons, 49, all of Terrell.

The accident occurred about the Kaufman-Dallas counties line.

The cars collided on Interstate 20. Investigators said the accident occurred after a Mesquite station apron onto the service road of the divided, four-lane highway.

The officers said the man passed a "Do Not Enter" sign, drove up an exit ramp and headed west toward Dallas in the wrong lanes.

Deputy sheriffs said Mrs. Summerfield saw the car approaching in her lane and swerved her car. She missed the oncoming car but her automobile crossed the median and crashed head-on into the Bogart car.

A Dallas city detective saw the accident and followed the driver to Mesquite and called county officers.

The man was taken before Justice of Peace W.E. Richburg and told his constitutional rights but he was not charged at once.

Richburg said the arraignment was for investigation of negligent homicide and driving while intoxicated.

Bogart was a graduate of Baylor University. He had been editor of the Tyler paper since June, moving there from Lufkin where he had been managing editor and editor of the Lufkin Daily News.

He was a World War II veteran and a member of the Tyler School Board.

Funeral arrangements were pending late Saturday.

Washburn Asking For Time Credit

DALLAS (AP) — A man serving a 99-year sentence on a murder conviction from the mid-1950s, was in the jail today awaiting a hearing on whether he is due credit for four years served between his arrest in 1955 and conviction in 1959.

Harry Washburn was convicted in the San Angelo automobile bombing murder of his mother-in-law.

A new Texas Criminal Code passed in 1966 gives judges the option of applying time served prior to conviction to the ultimately assessed term.

Judge's Son Caught Again

NEW YORK (AP) — A judge's son, acquitted in 1963 of drunken driving in an accident that killed five, faced new charges of drunken driving and leaving the scene of an accident Saturday.

Gareth Martinis, 29, son of Criminal Court Judge Joseph A. Martinis, was held on $5,000 bail by Judge Joseph DiFede. He also was charged with harassment and driving without a license or car registration.

Police arrested Martinis Friday night after his car allegedly rammed the rear of a taxicab on the service road of the Henry Hudson Parkway in the Bronx, only a short distance from where the 1963 accident occurred.

The cab driver, Edward Shaw, told police Martinis jumped from his car, seized him by the neck, then got back into his car and drove off. Shaw, his wife and a woman passenger complained of neck injuries, but declined medical treatment, police said.

After the 1963 accident, Martinis was acquitted after a five-minute trial by a panel of three colleagues of his father. A later trial of a grand jury indictment on five counts of vehicular homicide resulted in a hung jury.

The trial judge then threw the case out on the ground of double jeopardy and the state's highest court, the Court of Appeals, refused to review the ruling.

New Abortion Service Offered In Massachusetts

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — American women will be able to apply for abortions in Great Britain through offices of a new firm opened in Springfield and Boston, Mass., and Hartford, Conn.

A package providing passports, travel arrangements, hotel rooms—and the abortions—will cost about $1,250 for patients sent to the service by physicians.

An attorney for London Agency, Inc., Joseph C. Stothert, said Friday the firm will not deal with women whose pregnancy is older than 10 weeks. He stressed that the service will be available only through physicians.

formed by qualified gynecologists in private British hospitals, Stothert said, providing "a legitimate service" answering a "definite social need."

The agency was formed after a one-year study that included consultations with British and American physicians as well as clerical groups in Connecticut who counsel women seeking abortions, the attorney said.

"This has got to be perfect," Stothert said. "It can't operate in a back room."

He said the time required to secure passports and health certificates will be hastened because "every day is a day too long to a reluctant mother-to-be."

Only High Prices Left To Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Evidence is mounting that the housing industry saw new starts drop further yet behind the number needed to meet the national goal of 26 million new homes between 1968 and 1978.

Three reports Friday clearly confirmed what became apparent the day before: real production is no longer increasing and the effects of restraint are beginning to show up in personal income.

The figures could, although there's no assurance they do, mean the corner has been turned on the inflationary binge that last year brought the greatest price increases since 1951, a Korean War year that also saw the beginning of the economic decline into the recession of 1953-54.

Industrial production, personal income and housing starts reports for December showed the effect of the administration policies. Production dropped for the fifth straight month, while income showed the smallest gain of 1969 and the depressed housing industry saw new starts drop further yet behind the number needed to meet the national goal of 26 million new homes between 1968 and 1978.

Taken together, they provided dramatic corroboration for Thursday's Gross National Product report showing that the economy grew not at all during December.

Industrial production, perhaps the most significant of the three, fell three-tenths of one per cent and ended December at 170.9 per cent of the 1957-1959 average against which it is figured, output for the year was 4.4 per cent above the 1968 figure.

Personal income was the only one of the three to show an increase, but that was smaller than any other month of 1969 and continued the tapering-off of income growth that began in September. The month's gain was $2 1/4 billion, compared to average gains of $5 1/4 billion in the first eight months and $3 1/4 billion from September through November.

Nearly all the December increase was attributed by the Commerce Department to wages and salaries, while income and dividends paid to business owners declined.

Housing starts, figured at a seasonally adjusted annual rate, fell to 1,245,000 units compared to 1,297,000 in November and 1,507,000 in December, 1968. The industry's long slide into deep trouble, caused by tight money and high interest rates, began early in the year. But it has yet to push the industry as low as 1966, when starts fell to 845,000 in October.

The hard economic indicators are the core of economic forecasting, but government economists are reluctant to say when price increases will be controlled. White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler cited the wholesale and consumer price indexes Friday as evidence the administration's policies are working, but prices still are rising at 5 per cent or so annually, the highest in years.

Consumer prices, Ziegler said, rose 6.4 per cent in the first six months of 1969 and only 5.4 per cent in the next five months, through November. Wholesale prices climbed 6.3 per cent in the first half and 3.2 per cent in the next five.

December figures aren't out yet, but the consumer index for that month will be released Monday at the Labor Department.

Lt. Rayburn Gets Award

1st Lt. Tommy G. Rayburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Rayburn, Silver Heels Addition, has been awarded the United States Army Bronze Star Medal with "V" device.

Although wounded by shrapnel from B-40 rockets he continued to direct the supporting fires and acted as the ground liaison for a forward air controller who directed tactical air strikes in support of the forces," the citation reads.

"After the medical corpsman was killed and the need of the artillery support lessened he administered first aid to a number of his seriously wounded comrades. Under sporadic small arms fire he then assisted in carrying wounded to the evacuation helicopters. Only then would he allow himself to be taken to the rear area for medical attention."

The award was announced Dec. 27, 1969. The citation listed the battle in which Lt. Rayburn was injured as occurring July 22, 1969.

Early Payments On Farm Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has announced it will make the 1970 government payments to farmers in wheat and cotton programs as soon as possible after July 1 rather than wait until fall when the harvest is complete.

The surprise move, announced Friday, was an apparent attempt to head off criticism over an Agriculture Department announcement last month that farmers would get no advance payments this year for diversion of additional land under the feed grains program.

Decline In Wells Drilled Reported

DENVER (AP) — Petroleum Information Corp. reported Saturday preliminary figures indicate 33,485 oil and gas wells were drilled in the United States last year.

This is a 3.5 per cent decline from the 1968 figure of 34,694 wells. P. I., a Denver-based petroleum industry service organization, is a subsidiary of the A. C. Nielsen Co., one of whose activities is television ratings.

The report said 35 states last year had some oil and gas drilling activity.

It said more than 57 per cent of the wells drilled in 1969 were rated successful—14,716 oil and 4,492 gas. Exploratory drilling increased last year compared to 1968 with 9,121 wildcat wells drilled. P. I. said these resulted in 1,054 oil and 81 gas discoveries.

The industry drilled 1,522 wells off the shores of Louisiana, Texas, California and Alaska in 1969, the report said. It gave these figures by regions:

Rocky Mountain-high plains, 11 states—A total of 4,443 wells were drilled, 16 per cent more than in 1968 with almost 38 per cent successful, 1,682 producers.

Midcontinent, high plains area of Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri and the Texas Panhandle — a total of 6,533 wells completed for a gain of 2.6 per cent over the previous year and with 56 per cent declared successful.

Texas—A total of 9,553 wells drilled last year, a decline of 4.6 per cent from 1968. The success rate was 61.3 per cent with 5,854 wells.

East Texas-North Louisiana-Arkansas — Drilling increased

8.8 per cent with 2,122 wells drilled of which slightly more than half were rated successes.

South Louisiana — A total of 2,640 wells were completed, 8.7 per cent fewer than in 1968. The success ratio last year was 55 per cent.

Mississippi-Alabama-Georgia-Florida—last year 782 wells were drilled, 1.7 per cent more than in 1968, with 29.7 per cent rated successful.

Illinois-Appalachian and Michigan Basins—Total drilling declined 8.6 per cent to 5,580 wells with 66.3 per cent tabbed as oil or gas producers.

California—The 1969 total was 2,940 wells completed, somewhat below the 1968 figure, but with a success ratio of more than 80 per cent.

Alaska — A total of 97 wells drilled last year with 68 rated producers.

THINKS HE SUCCEEDED Homeward Bound Agnew Reviews His Asian Tour

HONOLULU (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, heading homeward from his Asia-Pacific tour, said Saturday the United States is determined to avoid being called on "to bail out" small countries when there are flareups within their borders.

He said he thinks he succeeded in making Asian leaders understand and accept that aspect and the rest of President Nixon's policy, which stresses regional cooperation in defense.

Agnew said Asian leaders made it clear to him they want "a continuing U.S. presence in the Pacific" and he declared he doubts "there will be any appreciable diminution of American ability to maintain its commitments."

The vice president reviewed his three-week, 11-nation tour while his plane, Air Force Two, flew from Auckland, New Zealand, to Honolulu. Agnew's party plans a two-day rest stop there before heading to a Washington arrival Monday night.

Agnew agreed with the proposition that there are "great similarities" between the Nixon administration's desire to avoid involvement in the internal difficulties of Asian countries and the position of many U.S. senators who fear another Vietnam-type involvement. He called most of the dispute between the Senate and administration "merely political differences."

The highlight of his trip, Agnew said, was "a personal impression of Vietnam and to see how good the morale is there, and seeing how well the members of the Vietnamese government are getting along, not only with each other but how well they are getting along with their efforts to improve the pacification program and secure better communications with the villages and hamlets."

He said he is returning from Vietnam "very much more optimistic than when I left." But he added that "nearly every leader who ever returned from Vietnam was more optimistic than the situation justified him to be, so I'm very cautious about my optimism."

Asked whether his optimism meant U.S. troop withdrawals could continue at the present pace or possibly accelerate, Agnew said: "I don't think we should even continue to discuss the rate of withdrawals."

He is sympathetic, he said, to a view expressed to him by Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew of Singapore that "it is playing into the hands of the enemy to forecast for him exactly what's going to happen and when it's going to happen."

their annual meetings. W. F. Edwards Jr. was named a director at State National, succeeding A. F. Kasch, resigned. Gil Jones was named to the Security State board in the place held by the late R. L. Tollett. Coahoma State elevated Johnny Justiss to vice president-cashier, and Mrs. Frances Swann to assistant cashier. In our story we didn't get in Mrs. Swann's background which includes experience at the First State Bank in Gustine, and First National in Pampa.

Voter registration stepped up some — but not nearly enough — as the political pot continued to simmer. In our county, Jack Buchanan announced for commissioner of Precinct 4 as did incumbent Bill Tune; Ed Edwards and Howard Sherrill announced in Precinct 2. Judge Austin McCloud, Colorado City, announced for the Court of Civil Appeals in the place of Chief Justice Clyde Grissom.

A big bouquet is due State Sen. Pete Snelson, Midland, for pinch hitting for Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, who was to have addressed the Jaycees banquet here Tuesday. Barnes had to cancel at the last minute due to illness. Next day Barnes was sued for divorce, and that would have made us sick, too. Anyhow, Sen. Snelson did a splendid job.

Colorado City got a report on a study on how to best tame Lone Wolf Creek, which runs through the town. Detainer dams were ruled out, and a deepened channel in the city near the Colorado River confluence was mentioned as an alternative. The price tag was $500,000, or about $6,000 per acre of land involved. Reminds us of our Beal Creek problem, which U.S. Engineers said could be helped by spending a couple of million bucks.

Representatives of local governmental units got together, at the invitation of the city, for another informal discussion of problems last week. Probably the most important result was a decision to keep talking, possibly on a quarterly basis.

Howard County Junior College, for the first time started its spring semester immediately upon resuming after the holidays, had a good response. More than 905 had signed up Friday, and additional registrants are expected until Jan. 28.

The City of Big Spring lost two valued members of the staff last week. Ernest Lillard, public works director, went to a new job at Wichita Falls after performing outstandingly here. Roy Rogan, electrician, retired after 25 years with the city. Roy was one of those old timers who knew more about the city's traffic lights and other systems than is possible to put down on paper. You just don't replace these in kind.

The Church of the Nazarene has a new pastor, the Rev. E. Wales Lankford, who comes here from Amarillo. A former pastor in this area, the Rev. Dan Oglesby (Prairie View, Bethel, Midway Baptist, etc.) died unexpectedly of a heart attack at Caps, where he was pastor.

The Industrial Foundation (which now is quietly raising money in hopes of stepping up efforts for industry) named Marvin Miller, John Currie, Ken Perry, Don Womack and Winston Wrinkle as the first board of directors of the new consolidated panel.

If you drink while driving, you are invited to breathe a word about it to the police. The city fathers last week approved purchase of a Breathalyzer for the police department. This gadget is designed to tell if you've had one too many.

There won't be any agonizing search for a football coach and athletic director. When Spike Dykes resigned a week ago to take a post at Alice, the board promptly picked a man in the system — Clovis Hale — and named him to the job. It's a big one, but then Hale is a good and capable man.

Our area has a new organization. It is the Permian Basin chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America, which is interested in all conservation, not just land. Bill Fryrear is the first president. At Webb AFB, a new position of associate base civil engineer was created, and Bill G. Mims, a fine and experienced engineer, was named to the post.

area should help the growth of forages on ranges when the weather warms. Extreme cold had caused some shrinkage in far West Texas livestock and feeding was heavy. For all practical purposes the cotton harvest is complete and stalk destruction and plowing are under way. Grain growth has been slow. Some land is being prepared for vegetables. The cabbage harvest is on in the Brackettville area. Labor is short.

Area Should Help Growth Of Forages

Wet Central Texas has adequate to surplus moisture and wet fields are delaying the completion of the cotton harvest. Snow and ice slowed the growth of grains, weeds and grasses. This created poor grazing conditions and increased feeding. Dry forage is available on most ranges. Calving and lambing are reported and the demand for capable labor is increasing. The supply is short.

Flood's Suit Would Ruin Game, Claim Executives

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Cronin and Chub Feeney, the presidents of baseball's two major leagues, issued a joint statement Saturday contending that a successful challenge of the reserve clause in a suit brought by outfielder Curt Flood would mean the end of the sport.

The statement also points out that Flood, a $90,000-a-year star traded by St. Louis to Philadelphia last fall in a seven-player deal, had violated his contract by refusing to honor the trade and operates in restraint of trade.

Flood contended Friday in filing a civil suit in Federal Court that baseball is a monopoly that places players in a state of peonage and involuntary servitude and operates in restraint of trade.

CLAUSE ATTACKED

In his complaint, brought after Commissioner Bowie Kuhn denied his request to negotiate his 1970 contract as a free agent, Flood attacked baseball's reserve clause, which makes a player the property of a club until he is traded, sold or released.

The suit attacks the very foundation of the National pastime, and Cronin, the American League president, and Feeney, the newly-elected National League president, admitted as much in their prepared statement issued at the winter baseball draft.

Listing seven chaotic results that would be created without the reserve clause, the statement listed as No. 7:

"Professional baseball would simply cease to exist."

The statement also quoted a Congressional committee as saying:

"Baseball history shows that chaotic conditions prevailed when there was no reserve clause. Experience points to no feasible substitute to protect the integrity of the game or to guarantee a comparatively even competitive struggle."

The committee said that Flood, in refusing to honor the trade, "violates his contract, in which he agrees that assignments may be made, and he violates the fundamental baseball rules, including the reserve clause, which experience has shown to be absolutely necessary to the successful operation of baseball."

Cronin and Feeney then pointed out Flood was attacking the same rules and making the same charges that have been made before and "rejected by the Supreme Court of the United States. We have complete confidence that the rules of professional baseball... will withstand this new attack."

The statement went on to take the Major League Players' Association to task for supporting Flood in his action, which, it said, "violates its pledge to the clubs in the basic collective bargaining agreement between the association and the clubs to use its best efforts to ensure that all terms and conditions of all uniform players' contracts signed by individual players will be carried out in full."

Pomeranian Named Show's Best Here

By TERRY STARK

A tiny puff of a Pomeranian named Champion Duke's Lil Red Baron of O'Kala took the Best in Show honors at the Big Spring Kennel Club's All-Breed Dog Show and Obedience Trial Saturday at Webb AFB.

The diminutive champion was shown by Joyce Graves and Sharon Griffin of Cypress, Tex., and won the show's top award over five other finalists after being judged the best entry in the Top Group trials earlier in the day.

The finalists eligible for Best in Show were the winners in five other group contests and included:

A Bull Terrier called Champion Harper's Hold Fast which won the Terrier Group judging. He is owned by Dr. Gerald N. Felando, Torrance, Calif.

Champion Lord Jim, a Dalmatian which took first prize in the Non-sporting competition, owned by William N. and Harold Victor, no address available.

Champion Winner's Sport Wheel, a Weimaraner, took the Sporting Group award. He is owned by Tony P. and Beatrice Gwinner of San Diego, Calif.

The Hound winner was a Borzoi named Champion Mogadar of Volga, owned by Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Reece of Los Angeles, Calif.

Champion High's Miss Buttercup, a Collie owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. Atkins Jr., San Antonio, which was first in the Working Group.

The high scoring dog in the obedience trial with 196 points out of a possible 200 was Clipper McTavish C.D.X., a Shetland Sheep Dog owned by Don R. Edwards, Hurst, Tex.

A total of 658 dogs were paraded before the judges, a record for a Big Spring event.

The show, which actually started Friday night with a banquet held at Ramada Inn, attracted sizeable crowds throughout the day.

IN PHOENIX GOLF TOURNAMENT John Miller Fires 61 But Littler In Front

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—John Miller, a 22-year-old rookie, bolted into contention with a fantastic 10-under-par 61 Saturday while veteran Gene Littler took over the third round lead in the $100,000 Phoenix Open golf tournament.

Littler, the defending champion, had a solid 67 for 202, eleven under par after three trips over the 6,765-yard par-71, Phoenix Country Club course.

But the bright, sunny day belonged to the charged up Miller, a lanky blond who came within one stroke of the PGA competitive record for 18 holes.

Miller, who made about $10,000 in his first nine months on the pro tour, moved past 58 players with his remarkable round and was just two strokes off the pace at 204.

"Unbelievable," said Miller, so excited he could barely talk.

"Lucky. You can't be lucky to do something like that."

Miller's new incredible effort overshadowed a stunning 63 by tall Tom Weiskopf, who moved into a share of second at 203.

Tied with him at that figure was second round leader Paul Harney, who had a 69, and Terry Dill and Homero Blancas, each with a 67.

Veteran Howie Johnson had a 69 and was tied with Miller at 204.

"He could have had a 57," said Miller's playing partner, Jim Jamieson. "It was just fantastic. He was 10-under and limped out four other putts."

"It was just one of those days. It's got to be the greatest round I ever played," said Miller who was playing with a new putter and a new sand wedge.

He birdied four of the first five holes and closed with a rush, with birdies on 16 and 17 and a 41-foot eagle on the par-five 18th.

Brownwood Ace No. 1 Pick

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Quarterback Jimmy Carmichael, who guided Brownwood to the state high school Class AAA championship in 1969, is the state's No. 1 blue chip football player among the state's graduating seniors.

Carmichael, a 6-foot-1 175-pounder, was the only player selected as a blue chipper by all eight Southwest Conference head football coaches in the confidential poll conducted annually by the Dallas Times Herald.

Quarterbacks Joe Barnes of Big Lake (Reagan County), and Tim Trimmer of San Antonio Lee, running back Cleveland Vann of Seguin and end Steve Cumley of Houston Lee shared the runner-up spot with six votes each.

Lepard, Clanton Earn CHS Awards

The Coahoma athletic banquet was held in the Student Union Building on the campus of Howard County Junior College Saturday night with approximately 250 people attending.

Kenny Clanton, Coahoma quarterback, was honored by the Daily Herald as the Outstanding Back of the Year. Dicky Lepard was chosen as the Outstanding Lineman of the Year.

Bill Lane of San Angelo State University was guest speaker. Lane, who graduated from Stephen F. Austin, coached at Daingerfield for seven years as an assistant before taking the head coaching job. He said he got his greatest thrill in 1968 by winning the state championship of Class AA by defeating Lufkin Dunbar, 7-6, in Nacogdoches.

Coach Lane discussed the merits of athletics on the high school level. He dwelled on the fact that professional athletes play for the monetary value of the game, college athletes for a scholarship and the alma mater, while the high school athletes play for sheer love of the game.

Not all high school athletes receive scholarships to attend college for their skills, however all high school athletes take pride in themselves. The conditioning, discipline, and work a boy receives from high school athletics stays with him throughout his lifetime and helps form the complete man.

The introduction was performed by Coach Kendall Clecker while E. A. Richters acted as master of ceremonies as well as representing the Quarterback Club, which sponsored the event.

Mrs. Noel Harvill was awarded an autographed football given to her by the football team plus a lifetime pass to all Coahoma football games which was donated by the Quarterback Club for her fine service to the team.

Dr. Keith Brady, team doctor, was presented with a lamp, built in the shape of a Coahoma football helmet base, for helping whenever needed.

IN COTTON BOWL JUDGMENT CALL Back Judge Pulled Rock

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Cliff Speegle, supervisor of officials for the Southwest Conference, told the Dallas Times Herald Saturday back judge Pat Knight erred on a judgment call during Texas' 21-17 victory over Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1.

The error might have cost the national champion Longhorns a two-point safety and given them a 23-17 victory instead of their four-point victory margin.

The play occurred with 1:33 left in the first half when Notre Dame defensive back Clarence Ellis intercepted a James Street pass on or near the five-yard line. When Ellis came down, his momentum carried him into the end zone where he was tackled.

Speegle said Knight should have called either a safety for Texas or given Notre Dame the ball at the point of the interception. But Knight gave Notre Dame the ball at the 20.

"Under no circumstances should the ball have been brought out to the 20," Speegle told the Times Herald after watching the Cotton Bowl game film.

The rule covering the play is only two years old. The new rule awards possession at the point of the interception if it is caught inside the five yard line.

Under the old rule, if a player intercepted inside the five and his momentum carried him back into the end zone, the ball was ruled as a touchback and taken out to the 20.

Knight was quoted earlier as saying: "It was a tough one. We had a momentum situation. There were a lot of bodies there and I was concerned with pass interference. I ruled he (Ellis) didn't have complete possession of it. To be honest with you I could have missed it very easily."

"It boils down to a judgment call," Speegle added. "From where the film was taken we could not definitely tell where he had contact (with the ball), but it was on or near the five-yard line. If it was outside the five, it would have been a safety. If it was on the five or inside, it would have been possession at that point."

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Decade Good To Steers

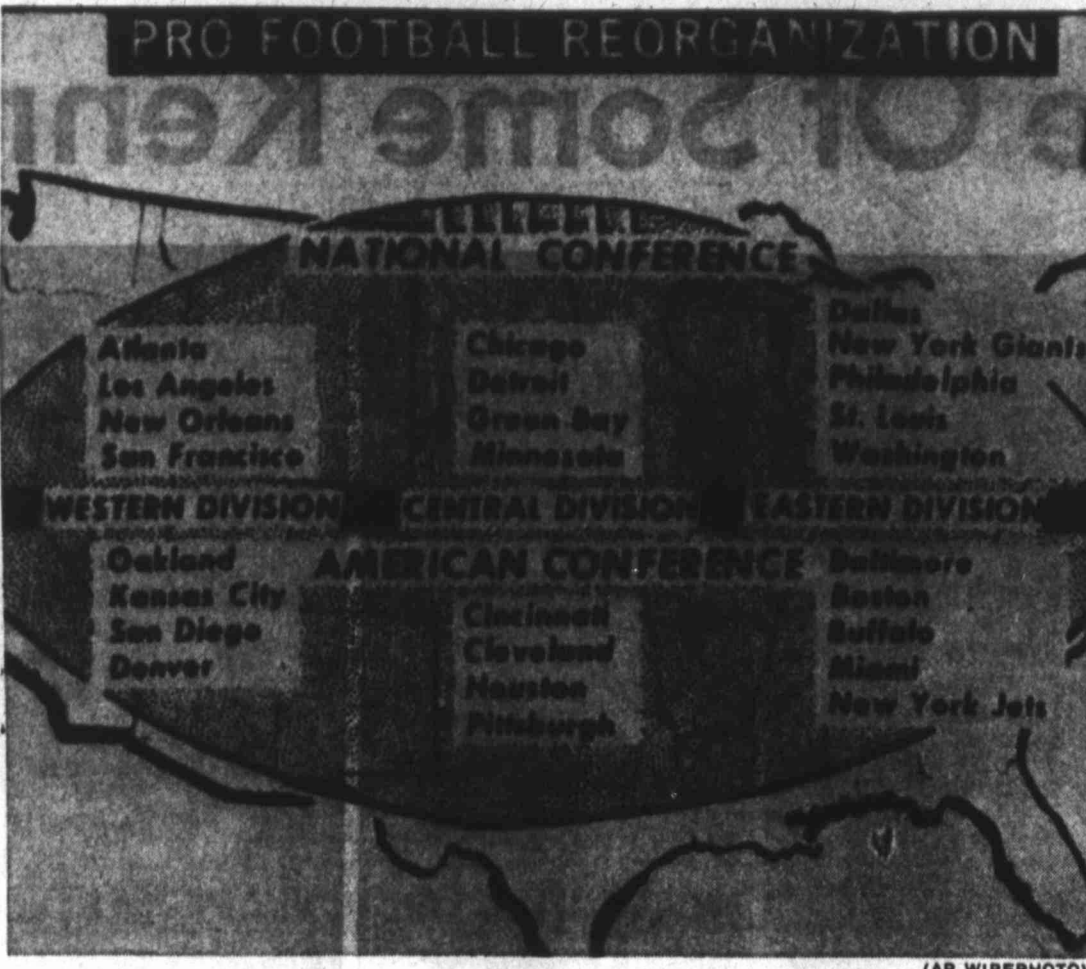

By TOMMY HART

Local football buffs should look back on the '60's with fondness... Only two of the ten teams fielded at the local high school failed to play 500 ball and the Steers won 56 games during that era, compared to 43 defeats and a tie... The most successful team came along in '63... That year, the Longhorns were 8-2 — an upset at the hands of Odessa High kept them out of the playoffs... Since 1914, Big Spring football teams have won 241 games, compared to 245 losses and 23 ties... The local school hasn't had a playoff representative in 17 years, although it tied for the district title in 1954... In the 53 seasons BSHS has fielded football teams, 24 men (including the incoming mentor, Clovis Hale) have served as head coaches... One of the men who served in that capacity, Bill Stevens (1928-29-30) died recently at the age of 70 in Wichita Falls... Stevens' football teams were never able to break even but he fielded some poisonous basketball clubs... Carl Coleman had the longest coaching tenure here (six years) and his teams won the most of any Steer clubs — 34... They won't be benefiting from the plaudits of the New York press but the Kansas City Chiefs may well be the most gracious of the pro football champions, a class operation from management to the equipment boy and in Coach Hank Stram have a tremendous asset... The Chiefs have been in two Super Bowls... The Dallas Cowboys, who ran the Chiefs out of Texas, have yet to make it to a pro championship game... When the Chiefs and Oakland played in that AFL championship game in Oakland not long ago, promoters dealt out $5,000 to the Fifth Dimension to provide half-time entertainment rather than pay the University of California the same amount for some marching maneuvers and a few songs... Tommie Smith, the Olympic runner who was born in Texas but did his collegiate running in California, was carried on Cincinnati's AFL taxi squad last season and will get a chance to make the club this fall... Allen Simpson, 25-33 in his basketball coaching tenure here, has developed two district champions since moving to Spearman and has been nominated to coach in the Texas Coaches Association all-star game... Under Simpson, the Longhorns lost 11 of their games by four points or less... Big league baseball clubs employ less than 30 players a year but each team maintains a scouting staff of about 400 people, full or part time.

Attendance at home games of the ABA New Orleans Buccaneers is down 15 per cent from last season and promoters reason they have to sign LSU's Pete Maravich to salvage the operation... For that reason, he may get a better contract than Milwaukee gave Law Alcindor... Harold Green, basketball coach at Odessa High, was all-district in football, basketball and baseball while attending Sweetwater High School... When the Dallas Texans (now the Kansas City Chiefs) took part in the 1961 football draft, the only one of the first six men they asked for who got away was Bob Lilly... He signed with the Dallas Cowboys... The New York Jets are on the market for $20 million, but they turned a profit of only $135,000 last season... First college football team ever to fly to a game was the 1929 University of New Mexico team but the coach played it cool: He sent only his second team by air, the first unit went by train... BSHS basketball coach Kirby Pugh says the San Angelo-Big Spring game recently was the best officiated of any involving the Steers this season... Don Bridges and Gene Gurloff were the two in the striped shirts that night... Pugh also said that there wasn't any doubt in his mind that the locals would have won the game had they gone onto the floor with a 13-7 record, rather than 7-13... Burl Bartlett, one of those coaching aides who wasn't retained when Jim Carlen was brought in as head mentor at Texas Tech, later accepted a position as superintendent of schools at Kingfisher, Okla... Burl formerly coached at Kingfisher... The idea of a professional track circuit is a lot closer to fruition than most people realize... Those Southwest Conference basketball television shows start a week from yesterday, at which time Texas Tech will visit TCU for a 2 p.m. game. The many rooters Baylor have here won't be able to see their Bears through the tube until Feb. 28, at which time they tangle with Texas A&M... Mike McFerren, a scout for the St. Louis Cardinals, was here earlier in the week to spread the word about the Big League Baseball Camp, which will be run in four sessions at Center Point (Kerrville) next summer... Tuition for each three-week session of the school will be $225... McFerren once worked for the Baltimore Orioles and was instrumental in signing Brooks Robinson... The Center Point camp is for boys 12 through 16 years of age... Randy Womack missed the BSHS basketball game with San Angelo due to a hip pointer suffered in practice.

ALLEN SIMPSON

THE SHAPE OF FOOTBALL TO COME—This is the way the nation's two football conferences shaped up for 1970 after pro football's 13-team National Conference completed its realignment Friday after eight months of trying. The plan for the National Conference—one of five submitted by Football Commissioner Pete Roselle—was selected with a lottery type draw.

Midland High Romps Past Steers, 97-64

Midland High, hotter than the hinges of Hades the first half, rolled to an impressive 97-64 District 3-AAAA victory over the Big Spring Steers here Friday night... The loss was the fifth in conference play for Big Spring, compared to one win. Midland is now 3-3... Midland may have put it all together for the first time this season... The Bulldogs, dominating the boards against the Big Spring shorties, built up a 20-12 advantage at the end of the first period and were in command at half time, 47-26... Only in the final round did the Steers untrack. They scored 28 points in the final eight minutes, or more than twice as many as they had in any previous two periods... Midland, cheered on by their rooters, tried to top the 100-point mark but couldn't quite pull it off. The Bulldogs, with reserves in action late in the contest, simply made too many mistakes... The Midlanders had four boys in double figures and 11 players got into the scoring act. Larry Neahusan and Dan Woods each counted 17 for the visitors while Kim Crowe came in for 16 and Gary Salgado ten... Big Spring also had four players in double figures, Gary Hinds leading the way with 15. Hinds, a quarterback in football, took the direct route to the basket to pile up most of his points — as if he were executing a keeper in football... Bruce Hutto came in for 12 points while Robert Evans and Randy Womack each had ten... The Steers hit seven of 30

Table with columns for player names and statistics (FG, FT, REB, etc.) for Steers and Midland.

Midland's JV unit also won, 78-59, Gary Brewster leading the way with 25 points. Jesse Olague had 24 for Big Spring... PIN POPPERS LEAGUE... Results — Jeff Finance tied Bob Brock... TELSTAR LEAGUE... Astros' Roster May Include 44

HOUSTON — When January comes, can baseball's spring training be far behind? Certainly in the case of the Houston Astros... They're getting started setting up things for spring training at their Cocoa, Fla., base... The way things are scheduled, Astro pitchers and catchers will report to "Astrotown" at Cocoa on Feb. 22, with their first workout scheduled for the following day. The remainder of the squad is to report on Feb. 27, and will begin working out the next day... Astros' General Manager H. B. (Spec) Richardson has announced that the Houston spring squad will number approximately 44 players — the 40-man winter roster plus probably four invited players... PITCHERS — Jack Billingham, Jim Bouton, Ron Cook, Larry Dierker, Jack DiLauro, Ken Frosch, Fred Gladding, Bill Greif, Tom Griffin, Skip Guinn, Buddy Harris, Denny Lemaster, Jim Ray, Mark Schaeffer, Scipio Spinks, Bob Watkins, Don Wilson and Larry Yount... OUTFIELDERS — Jesus Alou, Ed Armbrister, Cesar Cedeno, Rich Chiles, Tommy Davis, Cesar Geronomo, Keith Lampard, Norm Miller, Jay Schlueter and Jim Wynn... INVITED PLAYERS NOT ON 40-MAN ROSTER — outfielder, first baseman Jim Beauchamp, outfielder Gary Geiger, righthand pitcher Mike Marshall and righthand pitcher Dan Osinski... The Astros will play 22 spring training games in Florida, opening at Cocoa against the Los Angeles Dodgers on Friday, March 6, and closing against the Dodgers at Vero Beach on Sunday, March 29... The spring phase will be completed with six pre-season games in the Astrodome — against the American League champion Baltimore Orioles on March 31-April 1-2, and against the New York Yankees on April 3-4-5... Houston will headquarter at Astrotown, which is located at the intersection of Orlando Highway 520 and Friday Road, seven miles west of Cocoa. Gerry Philbin (81) of the New York Jets, and defensive end for the East, races in to try to help his teammates halt Post.

West Elbows Way Past East Stars

HOUSTON (AP) — Quarterback John Hadl of San Diego passed for one touchdown and set up another to lead the West to a 26-3 victory over the East in the 10th and last American Football League All-Star game Saturday in the Astrodome.

Hadl completed 18 of 26 passes for 224 yards as he guided the West to a pair of first quarter scores against the outclassed East squad.

Hadl fired a 21-yard scoring pass to Charger teammate Lance Alworth and set up another with a nine-yard run to the one where Dick Post, another Charger, carried it over.

Reserve West quarterback Mike Livingston of Kansas City ran 12 yards for a touchdown and Kansas City kicker Jan Sternerud added a pair of field goals to round out the West scoring.

Neither Mike Taliaferro of Boston nor Jack Kemp of Buffalo was able to move the East squad and New York kicker Jim Turner avoided a shutout with a 44 yard field goal in the third period.

The nationally televised contest witnessed by 30,170 fans was the final event in the 10-year history of the AFL, which next season will be the American Conference of the merged AFL and National Football League.

The West, favored with many members of the Super Bowl champion Kansas City Chiefs and strong Oakland Raiders on its squad, completely dominated the game, amassing 336 total yards to the East's 196.

NO HOOPLA, DEY WARNS

Average Player May Be Helped By New Rules

NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Joseph C. Dey detects signs of "hoopla stuff" on the professional golf tour and doesn't like it.

"Look at this," he said, pointing to a newspaper picture showing one of Dave Hill's fans carrying a placard reading "Hill's Angels" at the Los Angeles Open.

Dey said this includes signs in the most established gallery of all—Arnie's Army.

"If we let this go on, the galleries will have a slogan and a sign for every player," he said. "The golf tour is not Shea Stadium. It's a player's game and these signs can distract the player."

Dey emphasized that the tour needs and appreciates the galleries, but he regards the display of signs on the golf course as something other than affection for the players.

GALLERY SHOWING OFF
"The people who carry those signs are show offs," he said.

Martin To Speak At C-C Banquet

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Texas Attorney General Crawford C. Martin will be guest speaker at the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce Banquet Monday.

J. C. Britton, owner and manager of the Western Auto Store here, will be installed as president for 1970 by Don Benson, outgoing president. Drew Ballard, Dick Wistrand, Vernon Lewis and Wayne Shawn will be installed as new directors.

Awards will also be presented to the outstanding farm family and the outstanding Chamber of Commerce member. The Business and Professional Women's Club will present an award to the "woman of the year."

Benson said about 300 persons from Mitchell County, as well as Big Spring, Sweetwater and Abilene, are expected to attend. The banquet will be in the Civic House at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $3 each.

A reception for Mr. and Mrs. Martin will be held at City National Bank from 3 to 5 p.m., Monday.

Martin is a native of Hillsboro, where he attended school and served as mayor. He was elected to the Senate from there. In 1963 Gov. John Connally appointed Martin as Secretary of State, and Martin won election as Attorney General in 1968.

Annual YMCA Member Campaigns To Start

Two annual YMCA membership campaigns will be under way this week, according to Curt Mullins, director.

The sustaining membership campaign to help raise funds to underwrite YMCA programs kicked off Monday with Jack Little as chairman. Little will be aided by approximately 25 persons seeking donations from individuals who do not participate actively in YMCA programs.

The participating membership campaign, which will encourage persons to join the YMCA and take an active part in its programs, will begin Monday. Mike Hull is chairman, and he will be assisted by four division leaders, James Balios, George Colvin, Mrs. Floyd Mays and Capt. Ken Rider. Approximately 100 workers will be taking part in this campaign.

The campaigns will continue through Jan. 30, Mullins said. Persons interested in joining the YMCA or in making a donation can contact the campaign chairman or Mullins.

Indians May Lose Source Of Water

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Indians on Alcatraz Island in San Francisco Bay prepared Saturday to cope with another problem after learning that their water barge will be taken out of service—perhaps for good.

The Coast Guard, in cooperation with the Army Engineers, has kept 160,000 to 200,000 gallons of fresh water in the big steel reinforced barge, which also is used as a dock for small boats.

Because of the barge's deteriorating condition, Thomas Hannon of the General Services Administration said Friday it will go into drydock "in a couple of weeks" to determine if it can be salvaged. He said there were reports it was "falling apart."

The GSA is the official landlord for the 21-acre, former federal prison.

"We'll probably start taking over water in five-gallon cans," an Indian spokesman said. "We understand there's no barge to replace it."

The Indians, claiming the ranshackle prison under an 1868 treaty that returned abandoned federal property to the Sioux tribe, have braved rain, freezing temperatures and other discomforts since last Nov. 20.

One youngster suffered a leg injury when she was caught between the barge and the permanent dock, and a 12-year-old girl died from head injuries after falling three stories down a cell-block stairwell.

An original occupation force of more than 200 has shrunk to about 50.

Youth Stabbed During Ruckus

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Two Mexican-American youths were slightly injured in a series of fights, which culminated in the stabbing of Urbano Herrera, 15, in the Colorado High School cafeteria, Thursday.

Herrera was stabbed under the left breast, but was only slightly injured. He received medical attention and was released.

Rudy Gomez, 14, who said he was stomped and kicked by several Mexican-Americans Wednesday, was treated for bruises and released.

The Gomez incident, which took place across the street from the junior high school, apparently triggered a series of kickings, shovings and minor battles Thursday, according to Chief of Police Jesse Brown.

County Attorney Frank Ginzal said that charges will be filed against the youth who reportedly stabbed Herrera. All of the youths picked up were juveniles, and Ginzal was uncertain Friday what the charges will be.

Since it's never in, it's never out.

New fads soon outdate the old fads. And the hottest-looking car last year is just that: the hottest-looking car last year.

But a VW is still just a VW. Not looking up-to-date. But not looking out-of-date either.

BIG SPRING HERALD

Big Spring, Texas
SUNDAY, JANUARY 18, 1970

NEW CARPET AND DRAPES have given a new look to what was formerly the Gold Room at Big Spring Country Club. Pictured there are three members who have accepted positions of responsibility for 1970. From left are Mrs. Jerry Spence, pool chairman; Mrs. G. F. Dillon, Permian representative; and Mrs. Carl B. Marcum, house chairman.

THE CLUB FOYER makes a quiet place to confer as Mrs. Lowell Jones, yearbook chairman, and Mrs. Jo Bright, publicity chairman, coordinate information on the schedule of events for 1970. The new slate will continue to work on projects furthered by the retiring president, Mrs. Floyd Mays, as well as initiate new activities with an eye to increasing LGA membership and participation.

By MRS. JOHN MACKE
If there seem to have been a number of strange faces at the base hospital and clinic during the past two weeks, those faces belong to reservists of the 480th Medical Service Flight. They have been undergoing a 15-day active duty tour of intensive training here, augmenting regular staff in surgery, wards, medical and dental clinics, flight surgeon's office, you name it. All this is for good reason. In time of national emergency, they will be ready to step in where help is needed.

With their tour of duty almost over, the reservists were ready for more pleasant activities. Turning the tables, regular hospital personnel were their guests at an informal party at the pavilion Friday evening. Food and refreshments were provided, to the accompaniment of taped music. Surely we can safely say a good time was had by all.

T. Sgt. Aldo Pileri of the Personal Affairs Office was man of the hour, as far as wives of Class 70-07 were concerned. With their husbands' graduation date in May looming closer, the ladies had many questions about what might be encountered with regards to overseas assignments and temporary duty. Sgt. Pileri devoted his personal time to address these wives during their meeting Monday evening. They found him extremely helpful in answering their questions, explaining the mysteries of passports and furniture storage, and generally putting their minds at ease.

It was pure coincidence that two T-38 instructors and their wives chose the same evening to entertain their students — Saturday, Jan. 10. Capt. and Mrs. John C. Aarni served dinner and punch to Lt. John North and his date Kathy Wilhidit, Lt. and Mrs. M. Ashmore, and Lt. and Mrs. M. Hanson. Guests of Capt. and Mrs. H. J. Firkkala were Lt. and Mrs. Stetson Palmer, Lt. and Mrs. Rusty Goodwin, Lt. and Mrs. William Cibulsky, and A-C-A. Abbas.

Mrs. M. E. Little was surprised at a shower given by wives of Class 71-05. At the shower, Mrs. Little was presented a stroller.

Those delightful aromas that wafted from the area of the BX Friday came from baked goods offered for sale by the wives of Class 70-03. With the bachelors in mind, the enterprising ladies sold cakes by the slice and individual cookies. Orders were taken for Valentine cakes to be delivered at a later date.

Webb Village welcomes Maj. and Mrs. P. H. Raigan and their children. The Raigans will shortly be moving into base housing from their present home in Kentwood.

How observant are you? It took me over four months to notice that the streets in Webb Village are named alphabetically.

Miss Diane Belda To Be Married
Mr. and Mrs. Voimer J. Belda, of Kansas City, Mo., former Big Spring residents, announce the wedding plans of their daughter, Diane Julia Belda, a sophomore nursing student at the University of Texas School of Nursing. Miss Belda will wed Gary Lynn Morrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Derrell N. Morrison of Abilene, in a ceremony on Feb. 15 at the Woodlawn Baptist Church chapel in Austin.

Her Stories Published In 'Wick' Magazine

By RHODA LEMONS
Mrs. Galen (Helen H.) Shelly of 1211 Main has had two stories printed in "The Wick," a magazine published by Nightcap Productions, an all-night radio program originating in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Her first article, "My Magic Window," told of how she watched birds in her backyard take their baths, build homes and "talk" to each other. It was published in April, 1969. The other manuscript was entitled, "Out of the Cold Night," and dealt with a "down and out" man in need of a helping hand, who, after receiving aid, richly rewarded those helping him. This article received a special division award.

Mrs. Shelly has written many other stories, but has not mailed them for publication. She would like to do a series on the family background of her husband who is a building contractor. His family is from Shellytown, Pa., which was named for his grandfather. "The family background is rich in history and romance," said Mrs. Shelly, but my husband is reticent about having any of it known.

The Nightcap program is partially aimed at aiding and comforting those who are sick, invalided and disturbed. The commentator is Herb Jepco. When Mrs. Shelly became crippled and was in intense pain during the night, she found comfort in listening to the program.

"I found that many other people had such tremendous problems, that I felt like mine were minor in comparison," said Mrs. Shelly. She now gets around with a walker and manages her home.

The Shellys have twin daughters, Mrs. Homer (Carolyn) Lucas of Fort Stockton, and Mrs. Lou (Cathryn) Quirk of Fort Worth. They have one granddaughter, Suzanne, who is the "pride and joy" of her grandmother.

Mrs. Shelly was born and reared in Big Spring. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hathcock. She and Shelly were married in 1950.

Mrs. Shelly writes under her maiden name, Helen Hathcock. Rules for entering a manuscript for "The Wick" are that it must be typewritten or printed plainly, and the length between 500 and 1,000 words. There is a variety of categories in which stories, poems or articles may be submitted. The magazine, published monthly, has a circulation of 16,000.

Although not active, Mrs. Shelly is a real estate broker and originally owned and operated one of the first kindergartens in Big Spring.

Mrs. Shelly took a correspondence course from The Famous Writers School in Westport, Conn., where her compositions were graded and suggested helps were recommended.

Other than writing, her favorite hobby is painting. She has never had a lesson but has a number of paintings to show for her time and effort. "However, my first love is writing," said Mrs. Shelly. "I would like to do it all the time."

Hints From Heloise

Dear Folks:
Do you ever buy brown-and-serve rolls? And want to make them a bit different?

If you do, here's a way that lots of expensive restaurants the world over use. Just before the rolls are ready to be taken from your oven, mix a little bit of powdered sugar with a few drops of imitation rum extract. Then, just as you pull them from the oven, take this thin paste of sugar and extract and put a dab on top of each roll.

The heat from the oven will melt the dab making a glazed icing that will give the rolls such flavor, you just can't imagine it. Terrific for breakfast, lunch, supper or that noon snack you need. . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I'm twelve years old and really enjoy playing with my dolls.

I made a doll house out of a cardboard box (if you don't have a large one you could use two or three small boxes). I then found some old magazines that have pictures of rooms in them, cut these out and pasted them on the inside or outside of the cardboard. Turned out real cute for my dolls to live in. . . . Have Fun, Claire Niemiste

LETTER OF LAUGHTER
Dear Heloise:
I have an aggravating eight-year-old sister. I have found that the best way to discourage her teasing is to ignore her. . . . It's a little hard but boy it's worth it. . . . 11 years old

Dear Heloise:
When I was in the hospital I saved all the salt and pepper packs. They're really perfect to put in my husband's lunch. Also at many food-to-go places they put these in with the food, and these can be saved too. Takes up a lot less room than shakers. . . . A Reader

Dear Heloise:
This letter might sound crazy but I have to tell you what I did. I cut an empty cereal box in half and used the bottom as a holder for my 45 rpm records. I covered it with some paper to match the color of my room and it just works like a charm. . . . Shaon E. Stewart

Dear Heloise:
My son's bureau keeps hitting the wall and marking it. I finally found that empty thread spools, placed between the base of the bureau and the wall, work great because they keep the bureau in one spot. If the spools tend to show, paint them bright colors to match the room. . . . Mrs. T. Charlekois

Dear Heloise:
I have come upon the greatest idea for girls who wear "loopy bows" in their hair. After constant wearing, the bows tend to become limp and flat and just don't have the shape they had when first bought.

Baby Is Blessing
"A baby is an inestimable blessing and a bother," said Mark Twain in 1876.

Since I wear these bows with many of my fashions, and this has happened to me, I figured out a way to keep the bows from flopping. I stuff the bows with tissue, making sure that each loop is stuffed enough to give it shape. Then I spray the whole bow with spray starch, let dry and spray again.

Now my old bows look like new again! . . . Carol Nedoby (Write Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

Dr. John Kegerreis Speaks To Parents

"Never engage in attacking a child's personality when you don't approve of his behavior," said Dr. John Kegerreis of the Big Spring State Hospital, when he spoke at Wednesday's meeting of the Child Study Club. Club members, with their husbands as guests, met in the First Federal Community room.

Dr. Kegerreis, in giving suggestions on handling problems in the home, said, "Discuss the situation as it really is, determine the emotions involved and find out how each one feels about the situation. Try to discover a solution for the problem that will be most satisfactory to all concerned."

"Be consistent with your children, because it is very important to a child to have consistency. Be loving, accepting and forgiving."

Dr. Kegerreis advised parents to look beyond the external. "If a boy's hair is worn long, what does it matter as long as it is clean?" he concluded.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Clemont Jones, Mrs. Bill Reynolds and Mrs. Charles Warren.

The next meeting will be Feb. 11 in the home of Mrs. J. W. Tipton, 507 Highland.

He was foreman of the Wasson Ranch for four years, then farmed in the Elbow community until World War II when their sons went into military service. ## 1948 Hyperion Club Probes Problems Of Youth, Parents

"America's Treasure, Our Youth — Their Problems and Ours" was the topic for the 1948 Hyperion Club when it met Thursday in the home of Mrs. L. T. King, 1603 Osage, with Mrs. Hayden Griffith as co-hostess.

After a business session presided over by Mrs. Jack Irons, president, Mrs. Zolite Boykin introduced a panel, each of whom discussed various age phases of a child from birth through high school. Mrs. Harold T. Rosson, counselor at Big Spring High School, explained that children of all ages have problems and those become, in turn, those of parents. All generations have had basic problems, she said, emphasizing that the years before the teens help determine what the teens will be.

Mrs. Charles Tuttle spoke on the years from birth to six years of age. Above all, a baby needs love, which he receives in a normal child and parent relationship. His immediate needs are food, body contact and security. From two to four, a child begins to imitate parents. From three to four, a child loves parents separately, but begins to show jealousy when the parents are together and exhibit love between themselves. At four, they tend to become loud, frustrating and independent individuals, but a normal child from three to six is warm, tender and trusting, identifying with the parent of the same sex.

After each panelist spoke, Mrs. Irons asked them some prepared questions to clarify some aspects of the situation. The third panelist was Miss Joy Wieland, one of the three elementary school counselors in Big Spring. She mentioned that Big Spring is one of the relatively few towns with counseling in the elementary grades. She explained that from six to 12, children can feel fear, insecurity, eagerness, pride and individuality. Normal children from normal families know they have to make it on their own and can adjust to unusual disciplines. They learn to accept failure and fears. From insecure families, they cannot cope with these problems. Since each is an individual, guidance is needed to deal with different types. Acceptance from their group is very important. At home, parents should, above all, listen and guide, as at school, the aim is to teach them to know themselves and how to handle problems. Their three basic needs are: 1.) love — how to accept and give; 2.) acceptance from parents, teachers, group and society, and 3.) communications. In discussing the high school age, Mrs. Rosson said they have the same problems that their parents had to a degree. They try to establish an identity and ambitions as to what sort of persons they will become, yet they have the problems of adolescence. Maturity starts at an earlier age than in the past. They have natural rebellions and how they handle that is what counts. They should be introduced to the world of work. Their relations with groups is more mature, and they should try to

Joe Carter Finds Form Used In 1909 Census

GARDEN CITY — With census time rolling around, Joe Carter Jr. was struck by something he found in the family belongings recently.

It is a form for the census of 1909.

His mother, Mrs. Lillian Carter, was an enumerator in 1909 in Glasscock County and had helped gather information about farms and ranches.

The only trouble was that most of the questions dealt with farming, and there wasn't very much of that in 1909. While there is one place for listing implements and machinery, there is not a single spot on the 1909 census which mentioned farm tractors, let alone such a thing as electricity.

The form asked for farm acreage (and value) as of April 15, 1910, the pasture land; the status of ownership of tenancy, mortgage indebtedness, and expenses. The latter included labor, exclusive of housework, the value of room and board in addition to cash, the cost of food (over and above that raised on the farm), and of manure.

Similar information was asked on dairy products, along with a listing of the number of fowls over three months of age, egg production and bee hives.

There were requests, naturally for crops harvested in 1909 and estimated acreage for 1910. These included grains, hay, sundry crops (which then included cotton), small and orchard fruit, farm gardens, nuts, grapes, tropical fruit, sugar and ribbon cane, etc. It also asked for the amount of land under grass (you can bet on none for Glasscock County in those days).

Also requested was a census of cattle: milk cows and heifers, horses and mules, asses and burros, sheep and lambs, goats, swine, together with pure breed stock, steers; also value of wool and mohair production.

But somehow there wasn't any question about pickups.

Capt. Thompson Gets Silver Star Thursday

Capt. William L. Thompson, of the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron, was presented the nation's third highest combat award, the Silver Star, in ceremonies held at Webb AFB Thursday.

Brig. Gen. J. H. Watkins, deputy chief of staff for operations in the Air Training Command, presented the award and cited him for "gallantry in connection with military operations against an opposing armed force near Dak To, Vietnam, on May 9, 1969."

Capt. Thompson was flying an A-1H 'Skyraider' against a hostile force that was threatening to overrun a friendly fire support base. His accurate attacks, despite a battle-damaged aircraft, were responsible for crushing the hostile offensive and saved the friendly forces from death or captivity.

Also receiving awards during the ceremony were Maj. Willis Luttrell, Capt. Harold Johnson, Thomas Brandon, and Dale Green, who received Distinguished Flying Crosses.

Dawson Road May Be Cut

LAMESA — County Judge Leslie Pratt and the commissioners court, together with the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce highway committee, have asked for a Jan. 29 appointment with the Texas Highway Commission in an effort to preserve a north-west Dawson County project.

The county is interested primarily in a 13-mile project which would begin at the point that FM 1066 (the Cedar Lake Road) leaves SH 133 (Brownfield highway), and proceed eastward to an intersection with US 87 about four miles south of O'Donnell. This would provide Dawson with a trans-county east-west route across the northern third of the county.

The problem arises out of only $1 million being available for rural roads in the 17-county district. The Dawson project is estimated to cost $240,000, so O. L. Crain, Lubbock, district engineer has been seriously considering deleting it. He has not, however, decided on this.

INCOME TAX ANSWERS Wait For Your W-2's; Same Requirements

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q) I kept a record of my earnings and withholdings for the year and am all set to file my return. Do I have to wait until I get my W-2?

(A) Yes, one copy of all W-2's must be attached to your tax return when you send it in. Processing of the returns and refunds are delayed if this is not done. You should receive your W-2 no later than February 2.

Note that this year, the W-2 should be stapled to the back of Form 1040 rather than the front.

(Q) Is there any change in who has to file a return for 1969?

(A) Filing requirements for 1969 Federal income tax returns are unchanged from last year. To summarize them, a return must be filed by every person under 65 who had gross income of $600 or more for the year. For those 65 or older on the last day of tax year, a return does not have to be filed until gross income reaches $1,200. Also, anyone who has net earnings of $400 or more from self-employment, is required to file a return and pay self-employment tax.

Filing requirements also apply to minors. A parent or guardian should file a return on behalf of a child who has gross income of $600 or more during the tax year. In every case, you must file a return to get any refund due.

(Q) I'm a senior at college and I'm due a tax refund on some part-time work I did. Can I claim my own exemption without causing my father to lose the exemption he claims for me?

(A) Yes, if you were a full-time student during some part of five months of the year, you can claim your own exemption and your father will not lose you as an exemption, so long as the necessary dependency tests are met. In this situation, the same exemption can be claimed on two returns, yours and your parent's.

(Q) What taxes can I deduct?

(A) If you itemize deductions, state and local income, sales, gasoline, personal property and real estate taxes may be deducted. These should be listed on Schedule A Itemized Deductions, and attached to your Form 1040.

Those who itemize will find that using the new Schedule A provides more room to list things such as medical expenses and charitable contributions than was available on the back of the old Form 1040.

(Q) Where can I get a copy of your tax guide?

(A) A copy of Your Federal Income Tax 1970 edition may be purchased from most IRS offices for 60 cents. You may also obtain this publication by using the order form on the inside cover of the 1040 tax form package. Send a check or money order with the order blank to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Paul Meek Chosen 'Boss Of The Year'

Paul D. Meek, president of Cosden Oil & Chemical Company, was named "Boss of the Year" by the PBX Club at a banquet Friday in the Blue Room at Cosden Country Club.

Mrs. John Rains submitted the winning nomination, and R. L. Heith, "Boss of the Year" for 1969, read the letter which will be entered in state competition at the PBX convention April 2-5 in Austin.

Meek, who has been with Cosden for 14 years, was recently elected president of the Chamber of Commerce and works with United Fund. An engineer, he is on the State Engineering Study Committee. His memberships include American Petroleum Institute, American Institute of Chemical Engineers, Manufacturing Chemists Association and American Institute of Chemists. He is past director of the Texas Chemical Council and is a director of DataMate Computer Systems, Inc.

In May, 1969, the University of Texas at Austin honored Meek as a Distinguished Engineering Graduate. He holds directorships in Big Spring Country Club, West Texas Girls Scout Council and Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. A member of the American Business Club and the Air Force Association, he is a past president of the Big Spring Club of the University of Texas Ex-Students. He is a vice president and a director of American Petrofina, Inc.

Meek and his wife, Betty, reside at 2801 Crestline. They have four daughters.

An engraved plaque was presented to Meek as a memento of the award.

A hospitality tour was held from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. with Mrs. Joe Blassingame and Mrs. Bill Phillips serving as chairmen.

Guests were welcomed by the president, Mrs. John Ray, and the invocation given by Mrs. Rains, state chaplain. Jim Baum was master of ceremonies.

The history of PBX Clubs of Texas was given by Mrs. C. H. Blanchard of Lubbock, state president. She said the international organization is composed of Private Branch Exchange operators, and their service advisors from the telephone company. Announcing the PBX state convention in Austin at the Sheraton Crest Motel, Mrs. Gene Haston, local vice president, told about the local MDAA project held this year. Organized in 1965, the club now has 20 members.

The guest speaker was Dr. J. W. White of Cowper Hospital and Clinic. His topic was "Employer and Employee Relations," and he spoke on recognizing and removing causes of dissatisfaction among employees. Dr. White is a graduate of Oklahoma University Medical School and interned in Memphis, Tenn. He was one of 23 men in the United States invited to work and study under Dr. Denton Cooley of Houston. His speciality is cardiovascular surgery and thoracic surgery.

Mrs. Ray was named "Operator of the Year," with the winning letter being submitted by Mrs. Blassingame. She was presented a trophy and lauded for her interest in the local and state PBX associations. The award automatically makes Mrs. Ray an entry for the state title.

Over 60 members and guests attended, including guests from Midland, Odessa and Lubbock.

The head table was laid with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink carnations. Other tables featured pink carnations in bud vases. The benediction was by Mrs. Fern Smith.

SECTION D BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, JANUARY 18, 1970 SECTION D

Joe Carter Finds Form Used In 1909 Census

GARDEN CITY — With census time rolling around, Joe Carter Jr. was struck by something he found in the family belongings recently.

It is a form for the census of 1909.

His mother, Mrs. Lillian Carter, was an enumerator in 1909 in Glasscock County and had helped gather information about farms and ranches.

The only trouble was that most of the questions dealt with farming, and there wasn't very much of that in 1909.

While there is one place for listing implements and machinery, there is not a single spot on the 1909 census which mentioned farm tractors, let alone such a thing as electricity.

The form asked for farm acreage (and value) as of April 15, 1910, the pasture land; the status of ownership of tenancy; mortgage indebtedness, and expenses. The latter included labor, exclusive of housework; the value of room and board; orchard fruit, farm gardens, nuts, grapes, tropical fruit, sugar and ribbon cane, etc. It also asked for the amount of land under grass (you can bet on none for Glasscock County in those days).

Also requested was a census of cattle: milk cows and heifers, horses and mules, asses and burros, sheep and lambs, goats, swine, together with pure breed stock, steers; also value of wool and mohair production.

But somehow there wasn't any question about pickups.

Capt. Thompson Gets Silver Star Thursday

Capt. William L. Thompson, of the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron, was presented the nation's third highest combat award, the Silver Star, in ceremonies held at Webb AFB Thursday.

HONORED—Capt. William L. Thompson receives the Silver Star, the nation's third highest combat award from Brig. Gen. J. H. Watkins, deputy chief of staff for operations in the Air Training Command, in an award ceremony held here Thursday. Also in the photo are Major Willis Luttrell (center) and Capt. Harold Johnson. Both received the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Brig. Gen. J. H. Watkins, deputy chief of staff for operations in the Air Training Command, presented the award and cited him for "gallantry in connection with military operations against an opposing armed force near Dak To, Vietnam, on May 9, 1969."

Capt. Thompson was flying an A-1H "Skyraider" against a hostile force that was threatening to overrun a friendly fire support base. His accurate attacks, despite a battle-damaged aircraft, were responsible for crushing the hostile offensive and saved the friendly forces from death or captivity.

Capt. Thompson is a native of Big Spring, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. "Squeaky" Thompson, 1608 Stadium.

Capt. Johnson distinguished himself while stationed at Da Nang Air Base, Vietnam, as a pilot, from April 13, 1968 to October 13, 1969, flying the F-4C "Phantom." The citation read, "Through his bravery and application of his knowledge and skill, he significantly furthered the goal of the United States."

The citation to accompany the award of the Distinguished Flying Cross to Capt. Brandon stated, he "distinguished himself while participating in aerial flight as an F-100 pilot near An Loc, Vietnam, Nov. 14, 1968. He struck a force of 1,200 North Vietnamese Army regular troops who were attacking a U.S. Army Special Forces Camp. Despite determined hostile fire, he destroyed several of the hostile sites. His precise ordnance delivery prevented the overrun of the camp."

He also received his First Oak Leaf Cluster to the Distinguished Flying Cross for his supportive actions taken against a large, hostile force attacking some of our own units. "As a result of his actions, the attacking force was shattered."

Capt. Green received the Distinguished Flying Cross while participating in aerial flight as an F-100 Tactical Fighter Pilot at Phan Rang Air Base, Vietnam, from June 6, 1968 to May 29, 1969. "The professional competence, aerial skill and devotion to duty displayed by Capt. Green, reflects credit upon himself and the Air Force.

Actress Going To See Lawyer

ROME (AP) — Actress Joan Fontaine was left without luggage when seven bags were impounded at Fiumicino Airport in a contract dispute with an Italian movie producer.

Miss Fontaine arrived Thursday from Cortina d'Ampezzo, an Italian Alpine resort where she was filming "A Girl Named Giulio."

She said the producer, Francesco Mazzei, also had impounded her personal possessions she took to the resort.

"I have no luggage left of any kind and I am going to see my lawyer," she declared.

Inter-Government Relations

Elected members of the County Commissioners Court, the City Commission, the Big Spring School Board and the Howard County College School Board have indicated a present willingness to hold regular joint conferences. The first was held this past week.

The expressed aim is for the various governing bodies to reach a closer understanding of mutual areas of operations, exchange ideas and attempt to come up with programs for the betterment of all governments and to establish common ground for efficiency and economy.

The idea is to be commended, and we hope that the officials will stick with their good intentions.

The first session admittedly was one at which no specific proposal was brought up, and was designed for better acquaintanceship and communication.

There was some indication that the sessions would continue to be as informal, but we trust that programs can get more specific.

There is a pressing trend, under the growing burden of taxes, for public officials to find ways of consolidation, eliminate duplication, and establish permanent programs that can be effective and economical.

There already has been public pressure for consolidation of some tax collecting procedures, and this ought to be followed up. The city-county fire fighting program ought to be looked at afresh and a better system established. The city and the schools have been asked on numerous occasions to arrive at some year-round use of school ground and parks, so that they would improve the community's recreational system.

These are only a few areas; doubtless there are many more.

The officials could do their tax-paying constituents a great service if they would chart the path of cooperation, and not wait for circumstances or the stress of public opinion to require this.

Potentially Vital Meeting

The Chamber of Commerce has scheduled a breakfast meeting Tuesday that easily could be more important than the chamber annual banquet which comes up Feb. 4.

The breakfast session is billed under the theme of "Tell It Like It Is." While this will be the occasion for unveiling the results of hearings and studies by the president's Task Force on Priorities, it also will be the occasion for self-analysis of community attitudes which may have proven impediments to development.

Honest appraisal is just as important to a community's desire for progress as repentance is for the sinner. We need to face up to weaknesses and to better utilize our strengths. And then we need to have some degree of priority in getting at the business of rising to our potentials.

If the breakfast starts us in this direction, it will be one of the more vital affairs that the Chamber has had or will have. In this light, we say — although it need not be said — that every chamber member (and anyone else interested in the community) ought to be on hand.

Art Buchwald No Fun At The Fur Farm

WASHINGTON — The maxi fur coat has put a terrible strain on all our furry animals. Everything from mink to raccoons is in tremendous demand, and it is impossible to fulfill all of the orders. I didn't realize how serious it was until I visited a fur farm in Upstate New York. I talked to a male mink named Emba who seemed to be very tired.

"It's been agony," he said, wiping the perspiration away from his forehead. "The farm is on a full 24-hour shift, but we still can't meet the demand. Stand in front of me so the farm owner doesn't see I'm resting."

EMBA SAID, "It was bad enough when they introduced the maxi fur coat for women, but what really did it to us was when they started pushing maxi fur coats for men. There's just so much a mink can supply."

I believe I detected a teardrop in his eye.

"This used to be a wonderful farm," he said. "We worked hard in the summertime to supply the pelts for fall and winter, and then we could take it easy. You know, play and roll around and rub noses, the stuff minks like to do. But then the furriers went crazy. They got into a fur-price war. They started dyeing furs in crazy colors: they made fur pants, fur blouses, fur apres-ski outfits; they put fur on fur. The fur farms were besieged with orders. We were told to produce minks or else.

"EVERY TIME the farmer sees me resting, he starts measuring my pelt with a tape measure. What choice do I have?"

"It must be hard on the female minks, too," I said.

"They hardly get to feed their offspring before they're expected to produce a new family. The farmer has installed loud-speakers which play music that is supposed to make our work easier, but in between the music he puts on commercials, such as 'An idle mink is a dead mink' and 'The mink paw you save may be your own.'"

"IT MUST BE difficult to give birth under those conditions," I said.

"The driving force behind every fur farm now is fear," Emba said.

"It isn't just us," he continued. "Look at those rabbits over there. Would you believe at one time those rabbits were happy at their work?"

"They seem so listless and haggard," I said.

"When a rabbit doesn't want to be a rabbit, then you know the fur craze has gotten out of hand," Emba said.

"Are those beavers over there?"

"THEY USED to be eager beavers, but even beavers have a breaking point. They're so tired reproducing other beavers they don't bother to build dams any more. You see that male beaver walking on all fours? Would you believe he's only one year old?"

"This place is certainly depressing," I said.

"I don't know how much longer I'm going to last," Emba said. "I've fathered 134 mink babies, but it's getting to me."

"My back isn't what it used to be, and I have pains in my shoulders and I don't sleep well any more."

Billy Graham

I notice that a number of our states have abolished capital punishment. What does the Bible have to say on this subject? G.W.

The Old Testament is very explicit on this subject. In fact there are about 20 offenses which were punishable by death under the Mosaic Law. They range from murder through smiting, cursing, adultery and incest. The death penalty was sometimes evoked for breaking the Sabbath, and a law forbade a stranger to come near the Tabernacle, upon penalty of death.

It must be remembered that these laws were made for the people of Israel, and were not incumbent upon all peoples. It seems that the Lord, through these strict laws was endeavoring to "purify himself a peculiar (distinctive) people" through which the Savior was to be born.

In thinking about capital punishment we must keep in mind that the Bible does say, "The soul that sinneth shall die," but the mention of the "soul" indicates that the punishment referred to is spiritual rather than corporal. Jesus said, "Fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul; but rather fear him that is able to destroy both body and soul in hell." (Matt. 10:28)

In considering the arguments for and against capital punishment, we must also evaluate the teachings of Jesus in the Sermon on the Mount. But, there again, these were addressed to Christ's disciples, and not to the world.

Prison Ratings

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Employees at Kentucky State Reformatory near LaGrange have rated it high in education and recreation, but low in counseling and employment of inmates.

Warden James Howard said he is surprised that security at the institution received an "above average" rating. Four prisoners escaped the previous month and had not been caught.

Editorials And Opinions The Big Spring Herald

BREAD SLICER

Business Mirror Inflation Continues As Solid Threat

NEW YORK (AP) — The government is aiming further blows at inflation, and the bite of a business slowdown is being felt in some areas of the economy.

Even so, the rate of price increases resists efforts to brake it.

The White House said this past week that President Nixon, in an expanded move against inflation, had ordered additional substantial cuts in the federal budget for fiscal 1971, beginning next July 1.

The claimer from economists that the government's tight money policy could lead to a severe recession grew louder, but there was no indication that the policy-making Federal Reserve Board was being swayed.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York, in its annual economic review, said monetary policy cannot be relaxed too soon.

Noting that there were signs toward the end of 1968 that restrictive policies were beginning to work but that price and wage pressures continued, the bank said:

"Difficult policy decisions remain. There is the risk of recession if the brakes are applied hard and long. Yet policy cannot relax too soon. For the risk of prolonged, if not worsened, inflation is far more serious."

"There must be continued slowing, sustained for a time, to kill off inflationary expectations and to achieve reasonable price stability."

The government's desire to hold down expenditures and the cooling consumers' buying intentions were beginning to take a toll of jobs.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that, as an economy move, its space exploration program would be cut back. This, it said, would result in the elimination of 50,000 jobs from its current work force of 190,000 in the next 18 months.

The automobile industry, hit by a slump in sales, announced temporary plant closings and sizable layoffs of workers.

Chrysler Corp. this past week laid off an additional 4,100 workers for an indefinite period. This brought total Chrysler layoffs in the last month to 6,200, about seven per cent of its U.S. hourly work force of 93,000.

Ford Motor Co. announced the temporary layoff of 10,500 workers through one-and two-day closings of four of its 16 U.S. assembly plants. General Motors Corp. has closed some plants temporarily and laid off an unspecified number of workers.

In the aircraft industry, where the outlook has become uncertain, the Boeing Co. announced that its work force of 80,000 in the Seattle area would be reduced by about 18,000 this year. The company said its payroll in other areas of the country would be pared but not as deeply as around Seattle.

The company said the cutback was due to slower commercial aircraft sales, failure to win new government contracts and a reduction of government spending.

WANTS CLEANUP ACTION

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is under pressure from Congress to support a massive commitment of federal money to clean up the nation's polluted air, land and water.

"It is time this country put Gross National Quality on a par with Gross National Product," said Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., in a speech prepared for delivery today in Appleton, Wis. Sen. Jennings Randolph has sent a personal message to the President saying: "The requirement is on us to do more than preach and pledge action to vastly improve the quality of the environment in which we live."

The West Virginia Democrat said he shares the feeling of urgency the President already has expressed about the need for strong action to get rid of smog, litter, noise and polluted water.

To Your Good Health Feels Like Crying Without Reason

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
 Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like some information about a depressed feeling. I feel like crying for no reason at all, more so in the morning, but lately most of the time. I think this is worse than any physical sickness. Would I be lacking in hormones and vitamins? I am 60. I have housework to do, but don't have the energy to do it.—Mrs. P.I.

You don't mention taking this problem to your doctor, but you probably should.

Sometimes, of course, this sort of feeling can be traced to anemia, and that is worth checking. A thyroid test is not unreasonable, either.

But there is another possibility, and one that is still much overlooked by people, and that is depression, in the psychological sense.

In years past there was little to be done about depression, which occurs in varying degrees and types. Little to do, that is, except resort to a psychiatric hospital and shock treatments if a case became so severe that there was danger of suicide — and that can be a very real danger in some types of depression.

However, depression occurs more frequently in less severe forms. These do not drive the person to self-destruction, but they can make life pretty miserable.

In fairly recent years, medical treatment for depression has become available in the form of the so-called anti-depressant or psychic energizer drugs.

In the beginning, these were used almost exclusively by psychiatrists, but in the last few years a good many other physicians, not psychiatrists, have begun using them with good results.

Whether your personal physician happens to be one of these, I naturally can't say. But why not ask him? If he does not use these drugs, he may well be able to refer you to a physician who does, or for that matter, to a psychiatrist.

Because so many people still take the attitude that suggesting a psychiatrist means that they are "mentally ill," let me say that this is not so.

A psychiatrist would be ideally equipped to determine whether your "feeling like crying" is indeed the result of a psychological depression, and in such a situation would be able to start you on suitable medication without much difficulty — or conceivably he could have your own doctor do so, under his guidance.

The point is that such continuing depressions can be treated successfully, even though you may (or may not!) have to do a bit of searching to find the doctor to do it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter is getting married soon, but they want to wait before starting a family. Do you think birth control pills would be best for her to take? If so, how soon before she gets married should she start?—Mrs. L.G.

"The pill" has proved itself very successful for the majority of women. If she decides to try it, she should see her doctor a couple of months before the marriage. It usually takes a cycle or so for sure effectiveness to develop.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: To settle an argument between my dad and me, can pierced ears be grown back by leaving them vacant for a time?—S.L.

Yes, the hole tends to close up, leaving a tiny dimple.

Shingles can be a painful disease! To receive a copy of my booklet, "The Facts About Shingles," write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim Longing For A Passenger Train

When one gets into one of those "recollectin'" moods, thinking about the good old days and all that stuff, almost invariably some aspect of railroad comes into the scene.

All of us in adulthood had a fascination for the trains or either were close to them. If you lived in a railroad town, like Big Spring, the relationship was very close. If you lived anywhere — no matter how small the village — chances are your community was served by a railroad, and you used it as the only form of transportation.

A CHRONICLE of the highlights of my childhood would have to include the fabulous journey my Mother took me on, by train, to the strange land of Indiana, her girlhood home. This involved wondrous experiences, seeing entrancing new cities, and more country than I dreamed existed.

Or, the weekend T&P excursions to the Dallas Fair, which saw coaches and diners loaded with those taking advantage of a bargain rate.

THE MEMORY of the railroad has come up after reading of the retirement as chairman of the board of the Texas & Pacific Railway of J. Tom Suggs, one of the last of the old railroaders on this line, and a fine gentleman.

The newspaper account of Judge Suggs' retirement noted that as he was closing out his active career, the last passenger train to serve Dallas had been abandoned. Here's the second largest city in Texas with no exit except by road or by air. (Houston and San Antonio will soon lose their last trains).

JUDGE SUGGS in a retirement interview said that when the highways and the airways reach their limit, the people will return to the railroads.

Will they? Some of us would love to see it occur, but wonder if the railroads — their management, their various restrictions and their equipment and track situation — would get ready.

I USED to think the good old T&P could have created some fancy self-propelled cars, designed more luxuriously than any jet airliner and with passengers served by attractive hostesses; could have built these and put them into service on a regular run and could have met a lot of competition. This shows at once that I know nothing about railroading.

HOWEVER, I would venture that the people in the swelling area around Dallas wish now that they had back their old interurbans, Dallas was the hub, you may remember, of rapid rail transit lines going to Waco, to Corsicana, to Terrell, to Sherman-Denison and to Fort Worth.

There was a day these were popular and prosperous, but they disappeared during the depression, and their rights-of-way have now become automobile freeways.

SO, WE HAVE our highways and we have our airplanes. Good enough, and we use them, but wouldn't a lot of us be happy to have an opportunity to ride the passenger train again?
 —BOB WHIPKEY

David Lawrence Humanitarianism Toward Prisoners

WASHINGTON — What has become of humanitarianism? This is a pertinent question today as the wives of some of the American servicemen held by North Vietnam seek to find out whether their husbands are alive and, if so, how they are faring.

In every war, worthy attempts have been made to see not only that prisoners are well treated but that their families are informed of their capture. Neutral as well as belligerent countries have recognized that certain aid may be sent to prisoners and that they should be permitted to receive mail and packages. The International Red Cross has been the principal agency behind such efforts.

NOW THINGS are different. The Red Cross has adopted resolutions urging that the names of the prisoners held by North Vietnam be made public and some information given to their families. The authorities in Hanoi, however, have been ignoring all pleas. What is even more surprising is that the principal governments of the world are not speaking out and demanding humane consideration by North Vietnam for the families of the prisoners by telling them something about the welfare of those imprisoned.

LAST SEPTEMBER, the International Conference of the Red Cross met in Istanbul, Turkey, and was attended by representatives of 77 governments and 81 national Red Cross societies, including some from Communist countries. It unanimously adopted a resolution urging all governments to abide by the 1949 Geneva convention on the humane treatment of prisoners. The convention, which has been formally signed by the Hanoi government, calls for prompt identification of prisoners, adequate diet and medical care, communication with other prisoners and their families at home, quick repatriation if seriously sick or wounded, protection from abuse or reprisals, and inspection of camp conditions by a neutral intermediary.

THE AMERICAN Red Cross followed up the resolution by asking societies in more than 25 nations that they and their respective governments make direct appeals to the North Vietnam government to adhere to the convention. In this and other countries the Red Cross has carried on a campaign to get individuals and groups to write to Hanoi in a "moral protest" at its failure to give the names of those held captive.

Spectacular attempts have been made by the wives of some of the prisoners to attract world attention in behalf of their husbands. A few days ago, four California women whose husbands are missing in Vietnam arrived at the Moscow airport without visas but with the hope of talking to the wives of top Kremlin leaders and enlisting their assistance. The Americans were held in an airport hotel and were not even granted permission to enter the city.

IS THE Soviet government, which has been supplying most of the money for the armament of North Vietnam, aware of the sentiment throughout the world in favor of humanitarian treatment of prisoners? Does the Moscow regime think that it has no obligations under the Geneva convention to persuade its ally in Hanoi to do something about the matter?

The United States government has sought in every way through diplomatic channels for news about the missing Americans. But apparently the answer now rests with the governments which are supplying help to or are sympathetic with North Vietnam. Shouldn't they at least speak up and do something for the cause of humanitarianism?

Marquis Childs Laird Works At Unpopular Assignment

WASHINGTON — In the contest for most unpopular (repeat unpopular) man of 1970 Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird expects when all the returns are in to rate close to the top. To this realist who has presided for 12 months over the vast congeries of the Department of Defense the reasons are obvious.

First and foremost is his goal of 1,100,000 jobs to be cut from the military-civilian-industrial complex. Some will be men in uniform, the cutbacks in Vietnam and elsewhere. Some will be civilian jobs eliminated from the far-flung defense establishment.

BUT A LARGE NUMBER, Perhaps the highest proportion, will be jobs in industry out of cancellation and reduction of defense contracts. Laird, from his years on Capitol Hill, knows just what this will mean. While Congressman Zilch may be a stout opponent of big military spending and the military-industrial complex when 500 employees are thrown out of work by the closing of a defense plant in his district, he will be on the phone to the Pentagon to say, "You can't do this to me."

SECOND, as Laird frankly says, he will be carrying the torch for an expansion of the Safeguard anti-ballistic missile system. How far the expansion is to go will be revealed when the President's budget is unveiled. It may be merely a holding operation to keep high-level technicians and scientists in reserve. Because of the six-months delay in starting Phase I of Safeguard on the two initial sites in North Dakota and Montana, growing out of the fierce controversy last year, construction is far behind schedule. Despite the grave doubts of leading nuclear scientists about the effectiveness of Safeguard, Laird believes in it today as resolutely as he did when he was torch bearer a year ago.

FOR THE Secretary of Defense an anti-ballistic missile has a new importance quite apart from whether it will, as he believes, or will not, as certain of his science advisors contend, protect the Minuteman missiles in their silos. ABM is, Laird puts it, the biggest "chip" on the American side of the table in the SALT talks intended to halt the nuclear arms race. Safeguard in this view is the only significant bargaining counter that could be traded off with the Soviets for, as an example, a stop to the rapid buildup of their blockbuster SS-9 missile.

THE ATTACK on Laird from the right has gained considerable momentum. The conservative publication Human Events in an article in the current issue, headlined "Laird's Alarming Budget Cuts," accuses him of "liberal platitudes" in insisting on the need for reducing defense spending so that more money can go into urgent needs in health, education and welfare.

From the left of center Laird has long been a target for his championship of Safeguard and for the cautious pace of the Vietnam phase out. If he is concerned at being caught in this cross fire, he shows no signs of it.

Vietnamization of the war is his No. 1 priority. At least two hours of his Pentagon day he devotes to working over and revising a big chart on the phasing-out process.

Foreign Student Numbers Triple

By PHILIP STEPHENS
Campus activity is just clearing the ground after an extended holiday period of nearly one month. Classes resumed Jan. 15, after being dismissed Dec. 18. Rusty pens and minds were quickly put to work.

Four new foreign students enrolled at HCJC bringing the total to six out-of-country students. Only one coed, Kanitta Suwanjinda, who was here last semester, is among the foreign students. The pretty girl from Thailand claims Bangkok, a city of three and one half million people, as home.

Three boys from Iran make up half of the foreign delegation at HCJC. Yahya Moussa-Zaehd, here the previous semester, and Cyrus Roushani, both come from the several million-plus city of Tehran. Zadek Nasser-Charoomi hails Shiraz, Iran, as home.

Two new students from Japan also grace the campus of the Jayhawks this semester. Yasuo Ito comes from the megapolis of Tokyo, while his companion Kiyoshi Ishikawa, comes from Kawano, Japan.

Three religions are represented by the students, Buddhist, Jewish, and Moslem. Despite different religious and philosophical ideals contrasted in the students, they all share one common problem: the English language.

HCJC PRESENTS begins anew on Thursday, Feb. 5, when the journalism department will present the program. Enrollment for Howard County Junior College has reached 115, according to Mr. Don Shoemaker, business manager at the college. Final totals will not be known until Jan. 28 or 29, after registration. The enrollment should be close to 1,000 students.

Identification cards for the students should be obtained before Jan. 28, last day of registration, according to Dr. DeViney, administrative dean. After that date, the cards will cost the student $5. To replace a lost card will also cost $5.

The I.D. cards are plastic laminated and bear a color picture of the owner. New Polaroid equipment purchased by the school processes the cards in five minutes. The equipment is set up in the library, and will be operated by Kenneth Roach, librarian. It will be available for students from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Thursday and from 8 a.m. to 6:15 p.m. on Friday.

Students who drive cars on campus must have their cars registered by Wednesday, or face possible fines, according to Dr. DeViney. The only excuse one can offer is that a car in violation does not belong to a registered student at the time of the violation. If you are registered for college now, don't put off getting the parking permit. A two-dollar fine will result.

The permits can be obtained from Mrs. Baggett in the administration office.

Model Becomes Starlet In James Coburn Film

Joan Delaney, who made her motion picture debut in "The President's Analyst," has been described as America's answer to Twiggy and Julie Christie, but the former fashion model radiates a charm and beauty uniquely her own. "The President's Analyst," starring James Coburn, opens Wednesday at the Jet on a double bill with "The Good Guys and the Bad Guys."

Miss Delaney embarked on a career when she walked into an open casting call. The executives were immediately caught up by the radiance of Miss Delaney, who stands five feet nine and one-quarter inches tall, and has a slender figure, shoulder-length hair and an elfin personality.

"We were slouched in the projection room just looking at reels of lovely girls, not being exactly sure what sort of girls we were seeking to play Nan,

There have been several hunting and fishing films released during the past few years but "The Outdoorsman" coming Wednesday to the Ritz is the most thrilling of all.

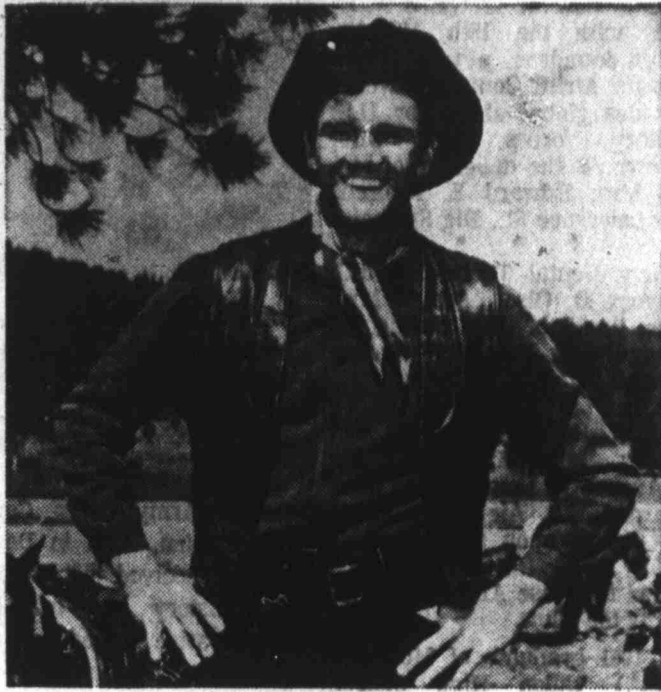

Packed with action, adventure and excitement, "Outdoorsman" is really a spectacle that hunters, fishermen and all sportsmen will greatly enjoy. Even those who do not participate in outdoor sports will find the film of unusual interest, from the calm habitat of the pheasant, goose and duck to the frigid Arctic home of the polar bear or the thunderous paths of the elephant herd.

"The Outdoorsman" takes the viewer around the hunting and fishing world, shooting the most sought after game either with gun, bow and arrow or camera.

The audience is led by excellently trained hounds through autumn fields for ring neck pheasant. After a pack track expedition in the Rockies for elk, mountain lion and mule deer, the audience travels through the north country to fish the virgin lakes and rivers. Then viewers board a plane to fly over the frozen wastes of the Arctic Ocean in search of the huge polar bear. For the first time the sensation of getting a trophy bear is on the screen.

'Racer' Was Labor Of Love For Film's Star, Producer

When Robert Redford, star of the film, and Richard Gregson, its producer, formed a partnership to make "Downhill Racer," they felt it would be a labor of love since both are skiing addicts.

Four months after director Michael Ritchie had called "Cut!" they headed for Hollywood to begin the editing and scoring of their film.

To bring "Downhill Racer" to the screen, required moving to 110 different locations within a period of 16 weeks.

But even if Redford and Gregson had felt that the actual filming would be easy, many of its ultimate problems were reflected in the preparation required before the cameras turned on the first scene. Getting the right story came first.

"The real reason I wanted to make the film is to point out what I call the 'success syndrome' of American athletics," explains Redford, "and I felt a true story of the ski world offered a fresh and exciting approach to such a viewpoint. There's a tremendous stress in athletics to have our athletes win all the time. I feel this distorts the value of a sport."

"Of course, my desire to make 'Downhill Racer' was not to promote skiing," he states. "I wanted to show the dangers, the excitement and the disappointment of competitive skiing. Very few people ever get a chance to see ski racing. Even on television, the cameras concentrate on the slaloms and the jumping, but not on downhill racing, the fastest of all the ski sports. So, in our picture, we try to go beneath and inside the sport to find out what the mystique is."

Before actual production began, Redford spent a lot of time looking for just the right enjoyment of seeing a picture which has beauty and thrills along with an unusual and dramatic story. And I definitely think it was worth all the trouble it took to make it."

"Downhill Racer," now showing at the Ritz Theatre, stars Redford, Gene Hackman and Camilla Sparv.

"Then I read Oakley Hall's book, 'The Downhill Racers,' which was more along the lines of what I had in mind. The result, I think, is an honest and exciting film and I'm sure ski enthusiasts and young people in particular will share with movie-goers in general the enjoyment of seeing a picture which has beauty and thrills along with an unusual and dramatic story. And I definitely think it was worth all the trouble it took to make it."

"Downhill Racer," now showing at the Ritz Theatre, stars Redford, Gene Hackman and Camilla Sparv.

by the fearful experience of facing a four ton bull elephant while armed with only a bow and arrow.

It took five years to photograph the entire picture. The producers of "The Outdoorsman" travelled the equal of eight times around the world to get shots of all the animals he wanted to present in his film.

The producers made 14 trips to Alaska, nine safaris to Africa and six expeditions to South America to bring to the screen this most vivid, most adventurous film of its kind.

The picture is family entertainment. Those who enjoy nature study, animal life, scenic beauty and travel to normally unvisited lands, will get more than just two hours of screen fare from "The Outdoorsman."

CAMPUS REVUE 70 tickets are on sale today. All seats are reserved for the February 5-7 production in the High School auditorium. Curtain time is 8 p.m. Tickets are $1.50, $3, and $5.

The Revue is produced by the Steer Band annually. It was a sellout last year, so tickets should be purchased early.

Production assistant for Campus Revue 70 is Robert Willbanks. Various duties are included in the job, among which are assisting in conducting rehearsals, roll call, and coordinator of various tasks necessary for the production's success.

Willbanks is a senior trombone player in the Symphonic Band. He is presently serving as head drum major and vice president of the Steer Band, as well as a member of the Cappella Choir and the Future Teachers of America. He moved to Big Spring from Colorado City last year. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Maberry Willbanks, 1801 Settles.

Two Of Eight Cases Are Set

A docket call of eight civil cases held in 118th District Court Friday afternoon resulted in two cases set for trial next week.

Trial for a workman's compensation case, J. D. Jackson vs. Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., is to start as soon as a jury is selected from the panel, which is to report to the third floor of the courthouse at 10 a.m. Monday. Jackson is suing for $35 per week for 401 weeks for an injury he received March 3, 1969, while working for the Yale E. Key Oil Well Service. He alleges he received a back injury while lifting a 3-inch pipe.

The second case to go to trial next week is James Wesley Sutton and James R. Sutton vs. John Carl Reed, $1,191 in damages for injuries incurred in an automobile accident. The Suttons maintain that their injuries are secondary to a collision with a vehicle driven by John Carl Reed on US 87 Aug. 17, 1965.

The other cases called, four for damages, one for workman's compensation, and one suit on a lease, were passed to a future term of the court.
