HOUSE PASSES RECONSTRUCTION CORPORATION

Allred Rips Highway Board For $15,000 Payment To Toll Bridge Company

SETTLEMENT TERMS AIRED IN INQUIRY

Damage Claims Paid on Opening of Terral-Ringgold Free Span

SECOND PACT BARRED

Commissioners Agree to Make No Terms in Gainesville Dispute

AUSTIN, Jan. 15. (AP)—Developments in Texas' controversies with owners of three toll bridges spanning the Red river and joining the Lone Star state and Oklahoma, provoked by construction of parallel free passages by the two commonwealths, came fast today.

Judge W. F. Robertson of Travis county district court announced he would deny the Red River Bridge company relief sued for, $165,000 damages claimed caused through opening of the Denison-Durant free bridge.

Settlement Probed

The state attorney general's department revealed that it had ascertained the Texas highway commission had paid the Terral Bridge company $15,000 in settlement of claims for losses sustained by opening of a free bridge between Terral, Okla., and Ringgold, Texas.

Attorney General James V. Allred held a court of inquiry in a Travis county justice of the peace court to develop details of the settlement with the Terral Bridge company.

Allred severely criticised the highway commission for negotiating the settlement without the knowledge or consent of his department while a suit for $50,000, brought by the bridge company, was pending.

Engineer Questioned

Gibb Gilchrist, state highway engineer, stated the commission had not settled a claim for damages made by the owners of a toll bridge across Red river between Gainesville, Texas, and Marietta, Okla. He said he expected the commission to consider a settlement involving the Gainesville-Marietta bridge next week.

Gilchrist and Cone Johnson, highway commission member, testified at the court of inquiry. A subpoena was issued for D. K. Martin, another commissioner, but he could not be located in Austin.

At the conclusion of Johnson's testimony, Johnson promised Allred that no action toward settling the claim of the Gainesville Bridge company would be taken at the coming meeting of the commission. He also promised that if any attempt was made to settle it, the attorney general would be notified.

Order Threatened

Allred previously had declared he would issue an injunction restraining the comptroller from issuing a warrant in payment of the claim.

Bill Offered Against Barring of Reporters

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 15. (AP)—A bill to make it unlawful for Kentucky judges to exclude newspaper reporters, as was done recently by Circuit Judge Henry R. Prewitt in prohibiting the Knoxville News-Sentinel's reporters from the Harlan labor trials, was introduced in the Kentucky house here today by Representative Herman G. Handmaker of Louisville.

The measure would apply to county, quarterly, juvenile, police and justice of the peace courts and would prevent reporters or other representatives of newspapers from being kept away from trials and hearings. The bill was referred to the committee on circuit courts.

Tyler Man Killed By Deputy Sheriff

TYLER, Texas, Jan. 15. (AP)—A. B. Rice, 35, was fatally shot today by H. R. Turner, deputy sheriff. Authorities said the shooting occurred when Rice leveled a gun at three Tyler peace officers seeking to arrest him on a warrant charging carrying a pistol and disturbing the peace.

Rice was wounded at Jackson's store south of Winona. Officers followed him to a room in which he tried to hide. Federal and state officers asserted Rice had said recently he would not submit to arrest again, after he had paid a fine here on prohibition violation charges.

POOR FELLOWS!

Burglars Take Poisoned Meat in Raid on Lunchroom

There is a bad stomach ache, or worse, in store for the burglars who cleaned out the shelves at the White Swan cafe on the Iowa Park road early Friday morning. They took candy, pies, meats, peanuts, butter, eggs, bread, buns, and Coca-Cola. They also took a bit of hamburger meat, poisoned for rats, left as a trap in front of the ice box.

Mrs. C. L. Lea, proprietor of the lunch shop, found her cupboard bare when she opened the shop Friday morning. Prowlers had entered through a rear window. The poisoned meat, which she put away every morning and replaced before the refrigerator for rats at closing time, was gone with the rest.

RAINS COME WITH FREEZE

Heavy Showers Fall While Temperature Stands

With the temperature just a fraction of a degree above the freezing mark all evening, a slow, steady rain pattered down on Wichita Falls and the surrounding territory Friday night. It was like balmy October weather.

The precipitation was estimated to have approximated a half inch at midnight, four hours after the downfall became steady. During the four hours the temperature stood at 32 degrees. Barring an increase in the wind no extensive freeze was expected.

Rain and freezing or near-freezing temperatures were general over Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma. During the early hours of Friday morning the mercury dropped below the freezing point here, touching 30. During the day the red mark climbed only a few degrees.

Rain here during the 24-hour preceding 5 p. m. Friday amounted to .02 of an inch. Slow and irregular showers fell during the remainder of the evening.

Rains were somewhat heavier to the west, where slightly lower temperatures prevailed. Early Friday night at Quanah moderately heavy rain was falling. Ice was collecting on telephone and light wires.

To the north of Wichita Falls, extending into Southern Oklahoma, weather conditions were somewhat colder than here, although the lowest temperature registered during the day was 30 degrees at Forgan. Rain fell as far north as Altus.

SNOW AMAZES LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16. (AP)—Rain was predicted last night when Southern California pulled up the covers and went to bed but when it awoke this morning it had between a half inch and a half foot of snow in its face.

It was the most colossal joke ever staged on the fair Southland of California, and Los Angeles, chief claimant in the boasts of a summer climate when the rest of the country shivers, smiled weak acknowledgment that the biggest laugh for the jokester was within its own city limits.

A search of the city's weather bureau records disclosed that never before in the history of the weather bureau which is 54 years old, has snow fallen in Los Angeles. The measured fall was two inches.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Jan. 15. (AP)—Five officers charged with an aggravated assault on Eliseo Cantu, goat herder, were acquitted today. The jury deliberated but 10 minutes.

The defendants were C. L. Austin, Roy Mansfield and O. V. Moreland, border patrolmen; and Ramon Longoria and E. M. Yznaga, deputy sheriffs.

They were accused of using third degree methods on Cantu Nov. 28 while investigating a cattle theft case.

RAILROADS AND WORKERS TALK OVER DEMANDS

Lines Announce Necessity For General 10 Per Cent Wage Reduction

6-DAY WEEK SOUGHT

Labor Spokesman Details Need of Jobs for More Men

CHICAGO, Jan. 15. (UP)—America's railroads told their 1,900,000 employes formally today that a 10 per cent reduction in pay for one year is necessary for the future prosperity of the country's steam transportation lines.

The workers replied that they needed immediate relief for their unemployed, to be provided through a shorter working day and week and a general stabilization of railroad jobs.

Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and chairman of a committee of nine railroads, presented capital's program to keep the railways out of the sheriff's hands.

Labor's Requests

He then turned the floor over to David B. Robertson, leader of 21 railroad union presidents, who spent the rest of the afternoon explaining labor's needs. He asked that the average force of employes be assured of work for one year, that the six-hour day be put into effect, that federal compensation laws be enacted for the benefit of the worker and that competing forms of transportation be regulated.

Robertson detailed the union's stand at the unprecedented conference between the railroad worker and owner at the Palmer house. When he had finished, Willard told newspaper men:

"Mr. Robertson presented a clear and constructive program in a most statesman-like way."

Arguments Today

Willard will explain the railroads' stand more fully tomorrow, whereupon both sides will argue their demands. All delegates were optimistic in the belief that they would reach a definite decision some time next week.

The first day's negotiations, started after three delays asked by railroad presidents, indicated the workers would accept a 10 per cent wage cut for a year in exchange for greatly increased employment.

'General' Coxey Will Be Presidential Candidate

MASSILLON, Ohio, Jan. 15. (INS)—"General" Jacob S. Coxey, present mayor of Massillon and leader of the famous "Coxey's army" of unemployed in 1894, will be a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, he announced here today.

The veteran political leader revealed that it is his "aim to restore to the Republican party the principles of Abraham Lincoln."

Coxey announced in a copyrighted story carried by a Massillon newspaper that he will file petitions in the North Dakota preferential primary which will be held on March 13. His campaign will be based on issue involving the sale of non-interest bearing bonds, the same platform he used in his mayorality fight.

Cooke and Montague Road Projects Sought

AUSTIN, Jan. 15. (AP)—Nine county delegations have registered to discuss highway problems with the Texas Highway commission at a meeting Monday and Tuesday. Most of the delegations will seek award of contracts on pending projects.

Missouri Minister Testifies He Shot Successor in Self Defense

LAMAR, Mo., Jan. 15. (AP)—The Rev. J. A. Brown testified in his murder trial today that he shot and killed the Rev. George Rider, evangelist, in self-defense after Rider had struck Mrs. Brown and threatened him.

The defense rested when the 67-year-old defendant left the stand. The prosecution announced brief rebuttal testimony would be presented. There was a possibility the case would reach the jury tonight.

Brown told of disagreements with Rider, who succeeded him in the pulpit of the little church at Halleys Bluff, Mo., and of strife in the congregation.

Several days before the shooting at the Brown home last April 4, Brown said the evangelist had told him:

"If you don't line up and get behind my meetings, I'm going to beat you to death. I'm going to stay here until some of these long tongued people stop talking about each other and about me, if it takes two or three first class funerals."

Describing the fatal quarrel when Rider called at the Brown home to ask Brown to take the pulpit Easter morning while Rider attended a funeral in Kansas City, the defendant said he did not strike Rider until the evangelist had hit Mrs. Brown. He said he fired with a pistol he obtained from a drawer after he saw Rider reach to his pocket as if for a weapon.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—Secretary Hyde reported to the senate today that 33,973,268 bushels of corn were used in production of alcohol and other distilled spirits in 1917.

The secretary's reply to a senate resolution asking a report on the number of bushels of grain used in production of liquor each year from 1909 to 1917 was transmitted without comment.

It showed that in 1917 the quantities of other grains besides corn used in making spiritious liquors were: wheat, 2,533 bushels; rye, 2,375,439; oats, 6,730. Barley used in production of malt in 1917 was given as 77,944,215 bushels.

DRY LEAGUERS PREPARE FIGHT

Anti-Saloon League Holds Biennial Convention

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—The Anti-Saloon League convened here today and received a warning from one of its leaders that prohibition can be won or lost in the November election.

Meanwhile foes of the dry laws in the house agreed to support a move to return liquor control to the states.

F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the league, opened its four-day, biennial convention asserting "we must shun the pitfalls of partisanship" and seek the support of the "drys in all parties for the maintenance of prohibition."

President Elected

Bishop Ernest G. Richardson of Philadelphia was elected president, succeeding Bishop Thomas Nicholson of Detroit.

In the house, Republican and Democratic anti-prohibition leaders joined to introduce a prohibition amendment seeking restoration of liquor control to the states, with the government to supervise only interstate shipments.

The measure was introduced by Representatives Beck, Republican, Pennsylvania, and Linthicum, Democrat, Maryland. They seek a vote at this session.

Meanwhile, from Bishop William F. McDowell, president of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church, came a statement that "we are willing to go to the mat with the wets on any clear cut issue; we shall continue to emphasize that we want no sham vote."

Wyoming Petitions

On the floor of the senate, prohibition was brought up by Senator Kendrick, a Republican. He presented a petition from more than 4,000 Wyoming citizens asking repeal of the prohibition amendment and the substitute of a plan of federal control.

Senator Sheppard, Democrat, of Texas, co-author of the 18th amendment, announced that in accordance with his custom he will address the senate tomorrow upon the 12th anniversary of the amendment.

McBride, in his speech tonight opening the convention proper, contended "the next election can nail down prohibition or it can continue it as an issue for more than a quarter of a century . . . to put it differently, it can win or lose prohibition."

Chinese Drive Japs From Focal City of Tahushan

TIENTSIN, China, Jan. 15. (AP)—Chinese troops have driven the Japanese out of the focal city of Tahushan on the Peiping-Mukden railway, Chinese newspapers said today, and have inflicted 100 casualties in a battle still progressing in southwest Manchuria.

Japanese newspapers agreed with the vernacular publications that Japanese detachments have been forced to retreat from many positions they occupied on their march to Chichow and have lost many dead and wounded in defeats during the past few days.

Japanese military headquarters admitted that the fighting was still going on but said they had no information regarding its outcome.

MACHINE GUNS USED TO SEEK 'ROBIN HOOD'

Oklahoma Military Force Tenders Use of Rapid Fire Armament

BANKS ASK AID

'Pretty Boy' Floyd Named Responsible for Most Bank Robberies

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 15. (UP)—Sheriff's forces of seven eastern Oklahoma counties will be furnished machine guns and automatic rifles by the state's military forces for use in their widespread search for Charles Arthur (Pretty Boy) Floyd, arch murderer and bank robber, it was announced tonight.

Fifty-one bank robberies in Oklahoma within a year's time and two in one day this week led to the action, according to Acting Governor Robert Burns and Adj. Gen. Charles Barrett, commander of the Oklahoma national guard.

Rewards Offered

Establishment of a central bureau, from which the search for the notorious Floyd will be directed, was promised by O. P. Wray, chief of the state criminal bureau. He said rewards would be offered for Floyd's capture.

An official of the State Bankers association, Eugene Gum, secretary, first appealed to the state for aid.

Floyd, wanted for the murders of 11 men throughout the Southwest, stands charged with almost one-fourth of all the bank robberies committed in the state last year. His latest crimes, holdups of the banks at Castle and Paden Thursday with a loss of $6,000, caused the latest drive against him and other members of his nefarious gang.

Guards Not to be Used

"These depredations must stop," said Acting Governor Burns, "Adjutant General Barrett will be instructed to take charge of the hunt for Floyd and his gang. While national guardsmen will not be called out at this time, the entire resources of the state military force will be ready at any time to assist in the hunt for the robbers and murderers."

Burns met with sheriffs of six counties late this afternoon and reiterated his determination "to stamp out this lawlessness." The officers, from oil field districts, then called on Barrett to make plans for the state-wide manhunt.

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, Jan. 15.—A man appeared at the ticket window of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad here last night and told Alfred Williams, night agent, that he had to have $50 "right now." Williams smiled and started to reply in a jocular manner when he saw a pistol in the stranger's hands. He handed the cash box through the grating and the hijacker took about $25, not troubling to pick up some small coins he dropped as he stuffed the money in his pocket. As the gunman departed he told Williams to stay where he was for five minutes. Williams called officers but the man had escaped.

Mellon Denies He Talked About Loans for Colombian Government

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—Through a specially designated spokesman, Secretary Mellon denied flatly today any conversation with bankers or state department officials concerning loans to Colombia or with President Olaya of that country regarding a concession to the Gulf Oil company.

It was part of a sweeping disavowal to the house judiciary committee of every charge made against the treasury chief by Representative Wright Patman, Texas Democrat, who is seeking his impeachment. Alexander W. Gregg, youthful and quiet spoken attorney, was Mellon's spokesman.

Dictates Statement

On Thursday, after Patman had said Mellon was connected with the valuable Barco oil concession granted to the Gulf company just before New York banks made Colombia a credit advance, Gregg said he visited the secretary. He said:

"I was present when Mr. Mellon dictated the following statement:

" 'Mr. Mellon said that he met President Olaya at one of the usual social functions and of course conversed with him, but such conversation was general and respecting financial and other conditions in Colombia.

Denies Conversation

" 'Mr. Mellon had no conversation with President Olaya that had to do with the so-called Barco concession, nor the Gulf Oil corporation, nor with any suggestions whatever, alleged or implied, as to any support or assistance upon the part of this government with respect to Colombia obtaining credit.

" 'Mr. Mellon has never had any conversation with officials of our state department concerning the Colombian loan nor has he had any conversation with any bankers with respect to this loan.' "

Gregg spoke nearly two hours and estimated he would require only five minutes to conclude next Monday. Assisting him was D. D. Shepard of Pittsburgh. Patman was an attentive listener and wants to reply when Gregg has concluded.

When asked whether Mellon's

FLOOD BREAKS SECOND LEVEE

Thousand Homes Imperilled By Flood Waters

SWAN LAKE, Miss., Jan. 15. (AP)—A new 10-foot flood swept down on a thousand Tippo basin homes tonight as the families, unaware of the danger, slept in their already surrounded houses.

Two major breaks north of here at dusk gave the signal that the rampant Tallahatchie river had won its five week's battle for the Tippo basin.

It also was the signal for men who have relentlessly sought to choke the river into its artificial banks to turn as actively to rescuing the thousands of persons in the path of the released waters.

Fear was expressed that the sudden rise may trap many families and cause a heavy loss of life.

Most of the homes in the basin were surrounded by water from a break at Sharkey last week. Yesterday the water was deepened considerably by crumbling of the levee across from Glendora three miles down the river.

Merchant Obtaining Divorce Bares Romance

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15. (US)—William Silverman, 60, wealthy retired Philadelphia merchant, today won a divorce from his 54-year-old wife, after having admitted that he vainly paid $25,000 to keep her from learning that he once wrote love letters to Mrs. Diana Jacobs.

Silverman received the decree on grounds of desertion. He accused his wife of leaving him in 1929.

Cop Cinches His Claim as Biggest

Sergeant Dons Regalia to Prove Bulk

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—Until two weeks ago, Sergeant Pat Kelly of Summit, N. J., was just a big policeman—quiet and huge, 6 feet 5 inches, 385 pounds.

Every Christmas he played Santa Claus at the Summit home for children; every summer he won the cup for the largest man in the state Elks' convention parade. At home he wiped the dishes for his wife, "Peaches," 5 feet 4 inches, 98 pounds.

But now—all on account of the power of the press—he is "the biggest cop in the country." He says so himself.

It started when Patrolman Harold Freeman, of Greenport, Long Island, weighed in at 333 pounds and started bragging.

Then H. C. Morris, who drives a black Maria at Huntington, W. Va., put in a bid. But he weighs only a paltry 314.

Summit citizens promoted Sergeant Kelly and his 384 pounds.

Right away somebody urged "Tiny" Gardner of the Dallas police cohorts, to get on the scales. He registered 388, and Dallas said he was biggest.

Pat Kelly looked at the newspaper picture of him, noting greatcoat, puttees, gun, handcuffs and all.

"Oh, well!" said Pat.

He donned regalia and went back to the scales. They groaned—407 pounds!

So pat issued a statement today. "Hard work and clean living," he said, patting his big chest.

HOOVER'S MAIN RELIEF BILL GETS APPROVAL

Measure Goes to Conference After Lower House Votes

FINAL BALLOT NEAR

Several Important Points Must Be Ironed Out By Committee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (US)—Described as the keystone of President Hoover's economic relief program, the house tonight passed the $2,000,000,000 reconstruction finance corporation bill. The vote was 335 to 55.

Forty-three Democrats and 12 Republicans voted against the bill. The Republicans were chiefly from Wisconsin, whereas the Democrats were from the West and South.

As the measure passed the house differs from the bill passed by the senate, the two will now go to conference between the two bodies for adjustment.

Then the senate and house will vote upon the conference report.

Passage Next Week

President Hoover was expected to have the bill for his signature by the middle of next week, though there is one difference between the two bodies that may prolong the fight.

That is over whether bonds issued by the corporation shall be eligible for rediscount by the federal reserve system.

At the behest of Senator Glass, Democrat of Virginia, former secretary of the treasury and co-author of the federal reserve act, the senate rejected this provision. The house adopted it.

Inflation to Result

House leaders contended that this rediscount privilege would result in substantial inflation, a needed tonic for business.

The bonds to be issued by the corporation would be backed by the government. Representative Strong Republican of Kansas, said that for every one dollar in bonds discounted with the federal reserve, $30 in credit would be manufactured.

Senator Glass insists that the finance corporation should stand on its own and not be tied in any way with the federal reserve.

The senate bill authorizes $50,000,-

BRIDGE PACT IS ATTACKED

Highway Board Flayed for Toll Span Payment

oped that negotiations had been carried on for settlement of the Gainesville company claim. Gilchrist said he believed the amount mentioned in the discussion was $15,000.

Both Johnson and Gilchrist admitted the settlement was not made to hurry opening the free bridge between Terral and Ringgold since the agreement was reached after they had denied the application of the bridge company for a temporary injunction and after the bridge already had been opened.

Denies Participation

The injunction was refused on July 8, 1930; the order settling for $15,000 entered Aug. 25, 1931 and the voucher issued on Sept. 23, 1931.

Gilchrist disclaimed any part in the negotiations.

Asked if he knew that the order paying the $15,000 would end the law suit, Gilchrist responded that this never occurred to him and neither did the fact that the suit was still pending.

Johnson and Gilchrist said no member of the attorney general's department was consulted about the settlement. Johnson said the pendency of the suit had not occurred to him and assured Allred that had it been called to his attention he would not have approved the order without consulting the attorney general.

Secrecy Aired

Allred brought out in questioning Gilchrist that the highway department knew the attitude of the attorney general throughout discussions on the controversy was against settlement of the suits and was for taking them to court. Allred said he went so far as to advise against passage of a law giving the Red River company the right to sue on its contracts, saying he believed he had the suit won in the federal court.

After close interrogation of Gilchrist about the minutes of the commission and the manner in which they were handled, Allred asked why the minutes approving the settlement had not been given to the press.

Gilchrist said it was several days after orders were entered that they were written on the minutes; that the minutes were open to the examination of the public; that nothing was withheld by him from publication when newspaper men asked for it, and that he did not write statements for the press unless specifically requested.

Johnson said he "acquitted the attorney general's department of any part in the settlement of the Terral bridge suit."

Contracts Thrown Out

Judge Robertson invalidated two contracts entered into by members of the highway commission and the Red River Bridge company concerning arrangements for settling a controversy over construction of the Denison-Durant free bridge.

The Red River Bridge company claimed that the Texas highway commission promised to pay it $60,000 for its toll bridge when the parallel free structure was opened. It also presented in court a purported agreement of the Texas commission that the toll bridge would be permitted to operate 14 months from and after Feb. 7, 1931, free of state competition or in lieu thereof Texas would pay the bridge company $10,000 for each month it was not permitted non-competitive operation over this period.

Promise Held Void

Judge Robertson held the claimed promise to pay $60,000 for the toll bridge was void because Governor Sterling, at the time chairman of the highway commission signed the agreement with a proviso that his acquiescence was on the condition that the two other highway commissioners ratified it by attaching their signatures. W. R. Ely of Abilene, one of the commissioners, refused to sign.

He decided the agreement to permit the toll bridge to operate 14 months free of competition was invalid because he held, the highway commission did not have authority to enter into a pact of this kind.

Little Wooden Box of Pills Holds Capital Guards in Fear for Hours

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—A little wooden box which could have held a bomb was passed gingerly from government bureau to government bureau today until the lid was lifted carefully to reveal—"some kind of pills."

That was the emphatic and disgusted remark of one of three detectives who had been trying to get rid of the package since morning after it created grave concern at the department of commerce.

It was addressed to Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce. The porter who opens the office packages looked at it with rolling eyes.

He took the container out into a courtyard and began to poke at the package with a stick. "It's a bomb" somebody shouted and that decided the porter.

A building guard eyed the package for a long time and he, too, decided someone else should look inside the innocent looking flat face of the box. He called police.

The package weighed several pounds. It might hold a bomb. So reasoned headquarters and Inspector Burke summoned Detective Sergeants Mansfield, Ogle and Wise. That was 11 o'clock. They did not get rid of their burden until late afternoon.

From a safe distance, a squad of marines armed with regulation rifles fired six shots through the box. It sat there quietly as if biding its time.

Then, protected by an iron shield and with the aid of mirrors and long pinchers, someone raised the top. The box held enough little white tablets for an army.

MELLON DENIES LOAN CHARGES

Treasury Head's Secretary Delivers Repudiation

statement meant the secretary never had been consulted about the Barco concession, Gregg hastened to explain:

"I was careful not to say that; I don't know. He never suggested that the Gulf Oil company confer with representatives of the Colombian government to arrange the concession."

Before turning to the Colombian affair, Gregg dealt with each charge in Patman's impeachment resolution, which, in general contends Mellon has engaged in business in violation of federal law.

Gregg said he did not know whether Mellon owns stock in 300 corporations with resources of $3,000,000,000.

"Mr. Mellon controls no corporation," he emphasized. "He does not own more than 50 per cent of the stock in any corporation. I do not regard his family as an issue."

Since being secretary he said, Mellon has received $91,000 in refunds the largest of which was described "clearly allowable" by the joint congressional tax committee, and had been assessed $209,000 in additional taxes.

COLOMBIAN MESSAGE READ TO SENATE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—A message from President Olaya to the Colombian congress in June, 1931, urging it to approve the Barco oil concession to make it possible for the country to obtain credit was read today to the senate finance committee.

The message was submitted by Senator Johnson, Republican, California, who has attempted to find out whether there was any connection between a $4,000,000 loan to Colombia last year and the granting of the valuable oil concession to the Gulf Oil company—a Mellon interest—10 days previously.

Assistant Secretary White of the state department, who was on the witness stand, pointed out the contract for the loan had been made a year previous and the National City company was obliged to extend it. He contended Olaya's message was designed to clear the way for future credits.

"The fact is," Johnson replied, "the bankers held up the credit they were obliged to give. They wouldn't and didn't give it until the Barco concession was granted."

"That is true," White replied.

Olaya in his message said Colombia needed outside capital and told the congress when J. P. Morgan and company had been approached for a loan, its officials expressed the view that such difficulties as revolved about the Barco concession "created in banking circles an impression of definite resistance to the investment of capital in Colombia or loans to its government."

Guards May Hunt For Bank Bandit

to Lake McAlester this afternoon upon a report that Floyd had been seen recently there. No trace of the outlaw could be found.

Robbery insurance premiums for Oklahoma banks have increased 50 per cent in price because of the wholesale robberies, Gum declared in his appeal for aid to the state.

Floyd is the most wanted man in the Middle West. Apparently a mild-mannered man, the 27-year-old desperado always carries two submachine guns and never is without a steel vest for protection. He started his criminal career in a petty way, forging checks throughout the Seminole oil fields.

Became Bank Robber

Graduating into major crime, he became a desperate bank robber. Eleven murders in Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas now are charged against him.

The search for Floyd and his accomplices today centered around Okemah and Seminole, his known hide-outs.

For years, Floyd has operated from the eastern hill country, driving over the state in high-powered motor cars, committing his depredations and speeding back again to safety. Tales of his kindnesses to the poor and impoverished—donating to them part of his ill-gotten monies—come out of the hills. In return, he is given refuge when the law is close behind.

Police in the Wewoka section were watching for Floyd and his two companions upon reports that they slept there last night in a negro hotel.

HOUSE PASSES FINANCE BILL

Measure Goes to Joint Conference

000 in loans directly to farmers for seed and feed but the house bill carries no such provision.

$200,000,000 for Farmers

The house conferees will consent to inclusion of that feature, it was believed.

The house bill directs that no less than $200,000,000 be used for loans to farm organizations, a provision that does not appear in the senate bill.

While the senate bill would require that three of the seven members of the corporation's board of directors shall be Democrats, the house bill would limit the democracy to two members.

Where the senate bill set no limit on the amount of money that may be loaned to one borrower the house bill puts a limit of 10 per cent of the capital debentures and bonds of the corporation.

Capitalization Agreed

Both bills agree that the capitalization of the corporation shall be $500,000,000, furnished by the treasury department, with authority to issue bonds and debentures for an additional $1,500,000,000.

The house bill authorizes loans to insolvent banks and receivers of closed banks, whereas the senate bill makes no such allowance.

Salaries of the directors of the corporation are made $10,000 a year each in the house bill against $12,000 in the senate bill.

Besides allowing loans to banks, railroads, insurance companies, and building and loan associations, as provided in the senate bill the house measure would permit advances to intermediate banks, livestock raisers organizations, agricultural credit corporations and other farmer organizations.

The senate undoubtedly will accept that provision.

Archer County Buys 9,200-Acre Ranch

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, Jan. 15.—Archer county bought a ranch of 9,200 acres at public auction held here today by A. H. Carrigan, trustee in bankruptcy, to satisfy liens against the defunct People's Exchange bank and its former officers.

The ranch was the property of W. L. Andrews, president of the bank, which ceased business July 13, 1931. At a previous auction sale, the county purchased $700,000 in notes, $100,000 in overdrafts, 10,000 acres of Archer county land, and Archer City property, all assets of the bank, in exercising the county's privilege, authorized by a special legislative enactment, to protect its interest in the deposits of the bank.

Other bidders for the Andrews ranch were John F. O'Donohoe and J. S. Bridwell of Wichita Falls, and John Turbeville.

Art Collector Jumps to Death Before Fiance

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (US)—James E. D. Cattilloz, antique appraiser and former art collector, ended a gay tour of night clubs today by leaping to his death, in the presence of his fiancee, from a window on the 20th floor of the Hotel Shelton.

Just before he took the leap, Cattilloz, who was 38, remarked casually:

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

NEWTON D. BAKER

WASHINGTON.—Some one who knows should write a book about "The Ways of Newton Baker."

It need not deal with his political career, municipal or national. It could even overlook that crusader spirit that sometimes has risen in him, making him champion of already lost political causes.

But it should set out in full detail the troubles Mr. Baker's most ardent admirers have had over a period of years in enlisting his personal support for their efforts to make a great man out of him.

Seeking Significance

The thought is suggested by what happened when it leaked out in Cleveland that Mr. Baker, for the first time in many years, was not going to be a candidate for delegate to a Democratic national convention.

At that moment the Baker boom for the 1932 presidential nomination was in full swing—without the advice or consent of Mr. Baker so far as is known.

That being the case, did his decision to forego a ringside seat in the 1932 convention mean that he foresaw the possibility of his nomination to the presidency and was taking steps to avoid the embarrassment of being present when the vote was taken?

It is to be recalled that political conventions rarely have picked nominees from their own delegates.

Anyhow, the first thing to do was see Mr. Baker and confirm, if possible, the report that he would not be a delegate. Mr. Baker obliged with that confirmation.

That was fine. Mr. Baker's friends no doubt felt that they had the edge up, at last, toward making him a candidate for the presidential nomination.

But Mr. Baker was even more communicative. In that mild Baker way familiar to those who knew the Clevelander when he was war secretary he added that possibly he would be in Europe at convention time!

Now what in the world does that mean? It may be desirable for prospective nominees not to be present at nominating conventions, but to go as far away as Europe might be harmful rather than helpful.

Unmoved By Tempests

Yet probably it caused ardent "Bakerites" like Ralph Hayes, his wartime secretary, little surprise. Hayes and others toiled arduously soon after the war to have undone a published biographical sketch of Baker which Baker's friends hotly maintained was a glaring injustice to him.

They finally succeeded, but with no help whatever from Baker. He was serenely uninterested.

Hayes finally wrote him a pleading letter asking that if Mr. Baker would not help his friends set things right, would he please, at least refrain from helping his enemies keep things wrong.

Who Loves Nature?

PEOPLE who live in the country, according to a speaker at the recent New Orleans meeting of the American Nature Study society, are not very often in love with nature. Farmers oppose the introduction of nature study courses in schools, farm children have very little interest in the matter and farm folk generally look on nature as an enemy rather than as a friendly and beautiful ally.

All of this is probably a bit surprising, although it needn't be. There is little doubt that some of the most impassioned writing about the beauties of nature comes from people who live in city apartments and wouldn't know a wheat field from a cabbage patch. The man who makes his living by agriculture is not given to much talk over the delights of living close to the soil.

And that is perfectly natural. A clear, frosty spring morning can be heaven itself to the nature-lover; but to the farmer it can mean a ruined fruit crop and the loss of half his year's income. The vagaries of the weather may delight the city man who is on vacation, but they can move the farmer to prayerful objurgations.

Nevertheless, the country man's reluctance to gush about nature's charms is hardly a true sign that he doesn't recognize them and delight in them. He knows that nature can be malignant as well as lovely, and he doesn't like to talk about "rural delights," just as the sailor gets a pain when he hears people speak of the "romance of the sea"; but the country man is a nature-lover at bottom, or he wouldn't be living in the country.

For his rewards are things that do not often get put into words. They are things he soaks up unconsciously, hardly thinking about them; the clean freshness of a hilly pasture in a misty dawn, the pungent warmth of a filled barn on a winter's morning, the richness of green young wheat on a long slope at sunset, the cool dusk of the shadowy lanes down which he sends his cattle to their grazing fields—these things mean more to him than he can ever tell.

And because he can't tell about them, but can only curse unseasonable weather, he will always be the despair of nature-lovers from the city.

National Anthems Doomed

THINKERS whose grasp of world affairs and political currents are credited with authenticity already are prophesying a new type of internationalism as an outgrowth of modern conditions; not through nor because of the League of Nations, but in spite of it.

Frank Simonds, considered by English speaking nations generally as one of the most able and profound students of international relationships, makes this prophecy by implication in his recent book, "Can Europe Keep the Peace?" For perhaps the first time, he admits publicly his conviction that nationalism is a mania which must be cured before world peace reasonably may be expected. Such names as France and Italy and Germany, politically speaking, are out-moded unrealities which should exist only as memories of an age that is past.

Beneath the implication that nationalism must be erased is the recognition that modern science has almost completely erased geographical elements which were the prime factor in the formation of political units.

Mr. Simonds' views also find support with H. G. Wells, renowned English historian and novelist. Declaring that the League of Nations inevitably must fail because it is a league of "nations," Mr. Wells calls nationalism the "most befuddled muddle into which human intelligence has ever plunged itself."

If Mr. Simonds' and Mr. Wells' analyses of world affairs be correct ones, such time-honored songs as "Die Wacht Am Rhein," "Le Marsellaise," "Rule, Britannia," and "Columbia" are due to be pigeon-holed in the not distant future. We shall not be surprised, however, if inspired and stirring hymns such as "Great Sun of the East, Arise!" and "We Hail Thy Majesty, O West!" may appear on the market before "All Brothers We, O Men of Earth!" becomes a best seller.

Crooked Finances

NEWS that a $415,000 rake-off was paid to official circles in Peru by an American banking firm anxious to float a $10,000,000 loan for the Peruvian government tells a good deal—not only about that particular Peruvian government, but also about the banking house.

The money, according to testimony before the senate finance committee, was duly paid and the loan was duly floated. American investors, knowing nothing of the skulduggery, trustingly bought their $100,000,000 worth of bonds—and presently the issue blew up.

For those bonds are now in default. Sold at about 90, they are now quoted at 6 or 7.

Reckless financial methods, evidently, can be found among the international bankers' select circles, now and then.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE TOWN CLOCK OF JILEMNICE—The reason for the curious striking arrangement of the old town clock at Jilemnice (Starkenburg), Czecho-Slovakia, was to enable the inhabitants to tell the exact time at intervals between the hours at night. This system was quite customary with central European town clocks of an older age.

Quarter past 12 was announced by a stroke of one, followed by 12 strokes. Half past 12 the booming voice of the clock was heard twice, followed by 12 strokes, indicating the hour. An initial stroke of three followed by 12, indicated the hour to be 12:45. At the hour of one, the gong struck four to indicate the passage of four quarters (after 12), followed with two single strikes indicative of the hour. In all the voice of the gong was heard 510 times within 12 hours.

CHAPTER LX

"I had such—bad dreams," explained Jan Wilfong softly. "That you should cry for me, my dear! And you must hate me for what I have done to you."

She stripped back her right glove. She stood by the table, slowly rolling her small brown cigaret.

"I remember a talk we had once in this very room," said Jan Wilfong, very low. "I do not expect you understand about me, Gwennie. I expect you think I am very wicked, and a fool to boot. But you see, Gwennie, there are women to whom affairs with men are a great temptation. There are women who are—attracted by men. They remember what—fun an affair is. They are like men—that is the trouble."

She lighted her cigaret, and the match showed her eyes, strangely shining as though with a great humility.

"Even when they love one man, they cannot bear to think that all the mad, sweet, dangerous game of man-and-woman is over for them. They want to—to have their cake and eat it, too. They look about, they move along quite quietly, and suddenly they are aware of a man. Their senses tingle with awareness, Gwennie. They desire—the desire not so much the man, as the game. It is like a deck of cards and colored chips and a green table to the gambler."

She crushed out the cigaret. She pulled on her glove.

"And if a woman like that," she said, and her lips tried to smile, "has never been taught restraint, nor any regard for the feelings of others, nor any conception of the decencies that must be observed in order that the world may go on at all, nor any idea of sacrifice of pleasure for the happiness of someone else, why, then that woman is apt to make a mess of her own life and the lives of other people as well. I have learned something about those things in the nights that I have lain awake, alone. And I am telling them to you because you were kind enough to cry—about me."

Gwennie made a choked sound.

"Come on," said Jan Wilfong. "It is time to go into the lions' den again."

But Gwennie had found speech, and she said many things, with tears and babbled words and twisted hands. Jan Wilfong stood and looked at her. She listened carefully, while Gwennie unfolded that pitiful tale of jealousy and deceit and hate.

"But I didn't mean to do anything like this, I didn't," sobbed Gwennie.

"I know," said Jan, and she put one arm around the heaving shoulders, "but that too is upon my head. Come on, Gwennie. Buck up. For we must not let them see that we are afraid. Come here, dear, and I will bathe your eyes, and then we will look quite as though nothing had happened. We will keep our secret, Gwennie, for—Ace has quite enough to bear now without that."

Her voice when she spoke her husband's name was milk and honey in the desert of human hopes.

They went out and found Stephen Ashe waiting for them. He was dressed with immaculate care, but for all that, he looked shabby. They got into the car and drove to the courthouse almost in silence. There had been little enough talk between any of them, except for those few moments in Jan's room that morning, for several days. Only when she was with Ace could Jan now bring herself up to pitch.

As they entered the courtroom between the staring, whispering lines of people—how she had come to loathe that sibilant, "There's Mrs. Wilfong. That's Mrs. Wilfong!"; those gluttonous, indecent eyes—she saw all three of the Sutros standing in talk with the district attorney. The men's faces, hawk face, brick face, looked elated. Mrs. Sutro kept wiping her chin with a black-bordered handkerchief.

Suddenly it came to Jan that the black border was for Dwight. She had never thought of him before as dead. He had been too much with her in that courtroom since the beginning of the trial for her to realize his death. But she had no pity left to give Dwight Sutro.

She wondered what they were talking about with that strange air of a vengeance about to be satisfied. Probably about Stephen Ashe's weak and futile defense. Evidently they had been fooled altogether by that poor, ridiculous effort to prove self-defense. Her eyes grew black as she stared at them, stung to the quick by the thought that they were making fun of Stephen Ashe. Maybe they had discounted her altogether. Maybe they thought she wasn't going to take the stand. Well, they would soon see that they had gloried in their victory over Ace Wilfong too early. She would spoil that revenge for them, anyway.

Her eyes brought Mrs. Sutro around. Instantly the quivering flesh stiffened and she turned her broad black back. But Metha nodded.

Funny that they should all have to be here in this one room. Funny that Dwight's mother must endure day after day the sight of the man who had slain her son, and the woman who had led him to his death. Probably to Mrs. Sutro, Dwight was still the curly-haired baby she had nursed and loved. Yet she must sit in that courtroom. Jan had pity for Mrs. Sutro. And she knew, and Stephen Ashe knew, that the jury must have pity for her, too.

Jan wondered, as she took her seat, if it would be today.

It must be today.

She looked at the witness chair, raised high above the audience, faced straight into the jury box. The backs of the jurors were to the light, their faces looked black against it. It had been hard all through the trial to follow their expressions because of that peculiar blackness. But the light would beat upon her face. How naked she would be!

Like a child, she thought of Hester Prynne standing upon her Gethsemane, with the scarlet letter on her bosom, high above the whispering, staring crowds. Hester Prynne must have known the feel of those eyes.

Soon now she would sit there and heat her own iron and bare her own flesh and stamp upon herself the scarlet brand. Ace would have to listen. If only they would let Ace go out! Her father's head would be low.

Would she be able to keep her voice steady and her head up and her eyes cold and arrogant? She must. Was she showing now the trembling of her soul? She looked around and met Mrs. Sutro's eyes that all day long never left her. She felt Bill Wilfong's gaze like a knife between her shoulder-blades. And she knew she was not.

It must be quite soon, for Williams was on the stand, called by Stephen Ashe as a defense witness. He had a gun in his hand, the gun that had been found in the drawer. The district attorney was cross-examining. And Williams was the last witness dad had called. She took off her gloves and rolled them into a little ball and tossed them on the table.

Williams came down off the stand. The moment had come. Well, if it had to be done, let her be game.

Jan turned and gave her husband one long unreadable look. Love was in it, and self-immolation, and a great plea.

"That's all, your honor," said the tired voice of Stephen Ashe. "The defense rests."

Jan heard it distantly. The buzz of voices confused her. She heard Bill Wilfong's smothered curse. She turned in her chair and stared unbelieving at her father. He was slumped forward, his head buried in his hands.

The words finally penetrated to her brain and blared there, clear as a trumpet. "That's all, your honor. The defense rests." Her eyes turned cold with fear.

"No," she whispered. But before the note of it, that courtroom grew deathly still. "No, no, no."

She was on her feet, her little clenched fists pounding the table. Her face was blazing with so many emotions that you could not name them. She turned on her father, her jaw out.

"No," she screamed at him, "you can't do that. You can't do that. You promised me, daddy. Oh, God, I want to—"

They smothered her between them. Ace's hands were steel about her wrists. Her father's hand was hard across her mouth. She struggled. Her hat fell off. But she was so little. She was like a child between them.

The courtroom was on its feet. The bailiff rapped. From the bench the sharp voice of old Santa Claus exclaimed, "What's all this? What's all this?" He waited, that bloodthirsty old judge. He alone—he was a very old judge and had watched so many trials and had always loved Steve Ashe—he alone had seen the flame of hope that lighted Ashe's worn face, of faith justified that blazed one instant in his tortured eyes, as that first whisper of Jan's paralyzed the courtroom.

"Jan," said Ace Wilfong, low, "Jan, for my sake. I beg you. If you love me, I beg you."

But her eyes were still wild on him.

"Jan," whispered Steve Ashe, "trust me. Trust me! Everything will be all right now, I promise you."

She looked at him so piteously. Tears streamed down her face. She did not know which way to turn. Her eyes begged to know if she might trust him. And then she swayed toward him, her eyes closed, and her head sank onto his arm.

"What's the trouble, Mr. Ashe?" said the judge sharply.

"My daughter Mrs. Wilfong," said Stephen Ashe with an indescribable dignity, "is ill. May we have a few moments' recess, your Honor?"

The judge glared at him, glared at the enormous white-faced clock, that said 20 minutes after 11. "Most irregular, Mr. Ashe," he said testily. "We'll adjourn until 2 o'clock this afternoon. Admonish the jury not to discuss this case among themselves or with any one else."

Ringing of Bells Balks Robbery of Old Church

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 15. (AP)—Ringing the church bells frustrated an attempt to rob the parochial church in Santa Fe, a small town just outside Mexico City. Two young guards, after being beaten by the six robbers, managed to escape to the belfry and ring the bells, arousing the people.

The six men, who were trying to steal gold and silver relics, fled to their horses and escaped when 200 enraged and armed citizens and the police descended on the church.

The Rcord News Offers Booklet, The Handy Letter Writer

The first essential in writing a letter is to be able to address the envelope so that it will either reach the person for whom it is intended or be returned to you, and not go to the dead letter office of the post office department. That should be and is a simple thing, and yet millions of letters and packages find their way to the graveyard of misdirected communications every year.

The Handy Letter Writer not only tells all about addressing envelopes, but also all about writing the letters that are called for in business and social relations and in the more intimate correspondence classified as love letters.

WOMAN BEATEN WITH HAMMER

Husband Held for Murderous Assault

TEXARKANA, Ark., Jan. 15. (AP)—Mrs. L. P. Mason was beaten unconscious by hammer blows today at her home in Foreman, Ark. She was taken to a Texarkana hospital where physicians found her skull had been fractured in several places. She was not expected to recover.

Her husband, a well-known real estate dealer, surrendered to officers. He was lodged in jail at Ashdown.

Mrs. L. T. Gabbard, a neighbor, told officers she heard a disturbance at the Mason home and went to investigate. As she entered she said she heard Mason say, "I had to do it; she pulled a gun on me." Mrs. Gabbard told of seeing a blood-stained hammer lying on the kitchen floor. Deputy Sheriff A. C. Sellman found a shotgun in the house.

"I didn't want to do it. I've been trying to keep things secret a long time," Mason was quoted as saying to neighbors.

The Masons had been married about three years. Mrs. Mason's 11-year-old son by a previous marriage, Roger Gore, said he witnessed the fight. He said he ran from the house to the home of John Ferguson across the street.

'Monkey Army' of India Add Grief For Authorities

BOMBAY, Jan. 15. (AP)—Mahatma Gandhi's "monkey army" is giving the police almost as much trouble as the regular forces of the Nationalist campaign.

This outfit is a sort of boy scouts' organization, one of the Mahatma's favorite groups, and its members are adding their bit to the boycott campaign.

In all the large cities and towns boys and girls of tender years are engaged in acts of non-violence in behalf of the little man in the Yeroda prison, who is to them what George Washington is to Americans.

They get up parades, shouting patriotic slogans as they march naked and mud-smeared. Children not more than 6 years old go about shouting "Gandhi government is coming soon. Boycott British goods!" When policemen approach they only cry the louder.

Whenever an important Nationalist leader is arrested the school children declare a "period of mourning," and their activities, though seemingly harmless, do not go unpunished.

The authorities have found that the children are more defiant than their elders and long sentences in the reformatories have been imposed. The law provides that they may receive up to seven years' imprisonment for engaging in Nationalist activities.

Farmers Rally at Iowa Park Today To Back T. F. Hunter for Governor

Wichita County Supporters of Oil Man's Candidacy to Rally at 2 p. m.; Taxes Will Be Discussed

IOWA PARK, Texas, Jan. 15.—The bid of Tom F. Hunter, Wichita Falls oil man, for the governorship of Texas, is expected to be materially strengthened when his supporters rally here at 2 o'clock Saturday at the call of 15 prominent Wichita county farmers.

Political indications of Iowa Park and surrounding communities are that many farmers are lining up in favor of Mr. Hunter as the next chief executive of the state.

Predictions of those in charge of the meeting are that one of the largest crowds ever to assemble in Iowa Park will attend the rally. Farmers of every section of Wichita county are expected to be present. Although a major part of Mr. Hunter's support in his race probably will come from the agricultural sections of the state, oil men and representatives of other occupations strongly favor the Wichitan for the state's chief office, and many of these will attend the meeting here.

Seek Lower Taxes

Aside from the interest in the governor's race, a second important matter to come before the assemblage will be the matter of lowering taxes. It is probable, leaders said, that delegates will be selected to represent Wichita county at a state meeting of the Tax Payers league to be held at Fort Worth, Jan. 20.

The Hunter rally here was instigated with circulation recently of a petition by prominent farmers of the county. Many signatures were obtained pledging support of Mr. Hunter.

Charles O. Quarnstrom, farmer of the Friberg community, will preside at the rally. No definite program has been arranged, but brief addresses will be made by representatives of Clara, Electra, Burkburnett, Cashion, Valley View, Barwise and other communities of the county.

G. R. Hoge, Iowa Park, one of the circulators of the petition, declared that he found people eager to back Mr. Hunter for the governorship. Reports reaching Iowa Park, he said, indicate that farmers of the county have almost unanimously lined up in favor of the Wichitan, and have indicated their intention of attending the meeting here Saturday.

VALLEY RAIL LINE ARGUED

I. C .C. Hears Reports on South Texas Project

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (AP)—The Interstate Commerce commission today took under consideration the plea of the Winter Garden Belt Railway company for permission to construct 70 miles of railroad in Dimmitt and Maverick counties, Texas. The line would run from Asherton via Carrizo Springs, and Eagle Pass, to Quemada.

For two and one-half hours, T. N. Picnot, representing the Winter Garden Belt, and J. H. Tallichet, for the Southern Pacific railroad, argued the question.

Examiner O. D. Weed several weeks ago recommended that the commission deny the application. He said it was not clear that the line should be built at this time and that present railroad facilities and highways were sufficient for the existing situation.

He added that he felt when the railroad was built it should be done by the Southern Pacific.

Picnot told the commission that residents of the district felt the line should be built immediately. Great development projects are under way in the section and means are needed for transporting products, he said.

Tallichet asserted that his company felt the commission should study the findings of the examiner and await developments before authorizing the new line.

Druggist Gives New Formula to Stop Headaches

Realizing that no one drug can conquer even ordinary headaches, as they come from so many causes, a North Carolina pharmacist has developed a combination of several ingredients, used by many physicians, so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time.

You can get this formula wherever drugs are sold under the name "B.C." 10c and 25c packages, and when you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, "B.C." will give you soothing relief in three minutes.

"B.C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia, reducing fever, and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs.—Adv.

What is the outstanding folly of the coming generation? The outstanding virtue?

What has maturity to offer as a guide to youth today?

Will the youth of the future, in its revolt against the present generation, return to the conservatism of the Victorian era?

Health and Diet Advice

Uremic Poisoning

Uremis arises during nephritis or Bright's disease and is the effect of toxic materials which are kept in the body and serve to poison it when they should have been eliminated. Uremia may occur during either acute or chronic nephritis, or may be found in advanced tuberculosis, tumors or abscesses under some conditions. The many symptoms are induced primarily because of the action of these poisonous wastes on the nerves. The nervous system is more or less disturbed in every case. In some cases the dropsy which is often associated with uremia may cause distressing symptoms.

In the simplest type of uremia the patient suffers only from retention of the wastes, but in more severe cases the toxemia becomes more distinct because of an added disturbance of metabolism.

The symptoms are varied and include headache, giddiness, acidosis, vomiting, nausea, diarrhea, hiccoughs, drowsiness in the day and insomnia at night, and in some cases a temporary dimming of the vision. The skin may itch, the fingers tingle or be numb, and there may be at night muscular cramps in the calves of the legs. In severe cases convulsions, coma and hallcinations occur.

A milk diet will often prove of value in the treatment of uremia due to nephritis. Only two or three quarts of milk daily should be taken. It is best to use a glass of milk every two hours preceded by a half teaspoonful of lemon juice to help in the stimulation of gastric secretions. This milk diet must be continued for several weeks in order to produce the desired results. Strenuous work must be avoided but a freer circulation of blood may be maintained by a certain amount of physical exercises, walking or massage.

Alcohol, salt, pepper, tea and coffee should be avoided.

Patients who are only partially cured may live for 10 or 20 years after the disease is discovered, but a complete cure is often possible if the patient is willing to live an abstemious life with a diet carefully regulated and all habits of life properly balanced. It is better to live in a warm climate where the skin activity will be greater. The sensible thing to do if you have uremic poisoning is to keep all the eliminative channels open and to avoid habits which bring about a general toxemia.

It is important to keep up a good skin elimination to relieve the kidneys of some of their burden. Several sponge or shower baths should be taken each day. In some patients the use of the daily sweat bath will be of value. Hot packs to the back over the region of the kidneys or hot linseed poultices have been found to be of value. It is a good plan to use at least one enema a day as long as there is any albumin showing in tests. The kidneys should be furnished with plenty of water and large amounts of it should be taken during the day.

While uremia during acute nephritis may disappear very quickly under the right treatment, that due to chronic nephritis yields more slowly. But the latter condition prolonged treatment with diet and other hygienic measures will correct the toxic poisoning which is present.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Salt for Gums and Best Cereal

Question—Mr. Keith L. asks: "Do you think it is a good practice to brush the teeth and gums once daily with ordinary table salt? Which cereal combines best with milk?"

Answer — Table salt is a good cleanser for the teeth, but it should be moistened before it is applied. No cereals combine well with milk or sugar, because they are all starchy. They do combine better with cream. The amount of fermentation which might result from taking cereal and milk would depend more upon the method of cooking and the fineness, rather than upon the cereal itself. Plain whole wheat soaked overnight and boiled until it bursts open makes one of the best porridges.

Detached Retina

Question—R. E. writes: "I am blind in one eye from what the doctor says is detached retina. Can this be cured by diet, or is an operation necessary?"

Answer—This condition is usually incurable. There are a few instances where the retina became re-attached with and without treatment. I have been unable to discover any cases that were successfully treated surgically.

Lemons

Question — Miss Wanda U. inquires: "Do lemons really dry up the blood?"

Answer—No, lemons do not "dry up" the blood, and do not help to reduce weight except as they are used by themselves, to the exclusion of all other food. This is, of course, a lemon fast, and, if no other food is used, a pound or more of weight will be lost each day for some time.

Haircuts and Oratory

The silver-tongued barbers, nimble-witted fellows capable of delivering a 150,000-word oration during the short space of a haircut, or even a mere shave, may play a vital part in this city's campaign to turn out in force for the baseball games this season.

Yes, you guessed it—it's John Boswell's idea. John sees a way of capitalizing on everything. While thousands, yea, even millions of us sat idly by depending on the newspapers to bring us the day's news, John saw in the barbers the perfect "grapevine." If you want the low-down on any subject whatever, or if your ears yearn for the cadence of sonorous orations on any subject whatever—go to the barber shop.

And now, says John, why not get the barbers banded into a Society for the Oratorical Dissemination of Knowledge Concerning the Spudders?

John does not mean to insinuate that the barbers need something else to talk about. John gets a haircut once in a while himself, and he, like all of us, realizes that a barber is never without a subject, and the accompanying oration. John is merely suggesting that the barbers not only in this city, but throughout this territory, suppress temporarily the customary flow of their ideas, and substitute in its place gossip concerning our Spudders. This request seems a reasonable one, and in fact, to us, it seems almost unnecessary, since every barber that ever snipped an outlaw hair off our mustache seemed to know all there is to know about baseball in general, and the Spudders in particular.

Well, John placed the matter up to K. C. Spell, dean of our local razor wielders, and suggested that he visit haircut emporiums in every city near Wichita Falls, and stimulate the barbers therein to spread the gospel of our ball team. Whether Mr. Spell gets around to all the cities or not, we predict the barbers will do their part. Their ability to gossip about baseball is as much a national institution as the game itself.

The Judge's Shave

The barber poised the shiny blade
Above the sea of lather.
He took a practice stroke and found
The stubble tough as leather.

So out he pulled his razor strop
And on it stroked the steel,
This pause affording him a start
Upon his favorite spiel:

"Well, Judge," he said, "It's almost just
Around the corner now;
It won't be long until the rookies
Leave the hoe and plough.

"It won't be long until the boys
Drag out their gloves and mitts,
And step up to the old home plate
To swat a wad o' hits."

"I know," the learned judge replied,
"But what about this shave?
The towel's cold, the lather's dried,
And there you stand and rave!

"But—er—er, say what kind of team
Do they expect this year?
They haven't much of anything
To start on, so I hear."

The barber felt the razor's edge.
Instead of getting sharper
The dratted thing was obstinate
And seemed to be much duller.

"Aw Judge, that kinda talk you hear
Is just so much baloney.
You take my word, our boys will be
Right up there in the money.

"Of course I'm just a barber
And I'm merely speculatin'
But I've seen a lot o' baseball
And I've heard a lot o' achin'.

"And all in all I think the fans
Can make or break a team.
The boys just need a cheer or two,
It gets 'em full o' steam.

"Of course I'm just a barber
But this local situation
Seems pretty doggone good to me,
That's just my observation . . ."

The barber then got going right,
His observations doubled;
The judge relaxed and took 'em in.
The observations tripled.

The sun sank in the western sky
Still came the observations;
They swarmed like bees, Demosthenes
Never made such orations.

The porter started cleaning up
The barber kept on talking,
The judge forgot his dinner date
The subject, then, was "balking."

The hours passed, at half past ten
The barber, rather dazed,
Realized the judge's chin
Had not as yet been shaved.

But beards had been forgotten, and
The judge, a different man,
Went home with longer whiskers,
But a rabid baseball fan.

TOMMY WILTS IN SECOND

Former Champ Believed To Be Done For

By LEO H. PETERSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, Jan. 15.—Steve Hamas, the former Penn state football star forced his way to the front rank of the heavyweights tonight when he scored a technical knockout over Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia, in the second round of a 10-round fight in Madison Square garden.

A hard right to the chin a minute after the second round began floored the Philadelphia boxing master for a count of nine. Before he could regain his composure, a volley of Hamas' blows sent him down for another nine count. When he went down the third time under a barrage of rights and lefts, Referee Gunboat Smith stopped the battle.

For Hamas, the knockout means a chance to meet the bigger men in his class. For Loughran, it appears to be the finish of one of the greatest careers boxing ever has known.

The sporting fraternity began singing the swan song for Tommy when he lost to King Levinsky, Chicago fish peddler, two weeks ago, and tonight the boys took out the Philadelphian's puglistic obituary for the last time. Hamas left no doubt in the minds of ring fans that Loughran's days are over.

There was an inkling in the first round of what was to come. Midway in the initial session, Hamas blowed down Loughran with his hammering rights and lefts. But even at the start, Loughran was far from the man who once held the light heavyweight championship of the world. The spirit and will was there, but the old power and cunning was gone.

Hamas started as the aggressor, he won the first round by a shade and started the second at top speed.

There was a short flurry of right and lefts, and out of the melee came a right handed punch and the finish. For Hamas, the blow meant thousands of dollars. If he continues to develop as he has since he began his professional career, he seems a pretty good bet to step to the front among American heavy weights.

A crowd of about 9,000 paid $20,000 to see the fight.

Loughran weighed 185¼; Hamas 185½.

Childress Cowboy Hurls Opponent From Ring to Win Great Mat Battle

By MACK TURNER

Teddy Waters, Cyclonic Childress cowboy, was the winner of his battle Friday night with Doc Muller, the Austin chiropractor, in the main event finish match at Bob Connor's wrestling arena in what local fans termed "the battle of the age."

The match and third fall were awarded Waters when he threw Muller from the ring in the second fall and dislocated his shoulder so he was unable to return for the final fall. The match was all that the fans had expected in the way of fast, clean wrestling from both men with a gala exhibition of holds.

It took Doc Muller no less than 59 minutes and 25 second to conquer Waters for the first fall. The long strain of painful holds were telling on both men at this time and Muller ended the fall with his now famous "sleep hold" which he tried in vain several times earlier in the match.

After 22 minutes and 10 seconds of fast ring work by both men on the second fall when holds heretofore believed unbreakable proved easy for the two, Waters managed to throw Muller from the ring and he lit upon his shoulder and was unable to return.

It was one of the greatest shows ever staged in the arena and kept the fans in a constant uproar all the way. Time after time Referee Connor raised his hand to pat the fall to a winner only to have the hold broken with clever twists which kept the match in doubt all the way.

Juan Humberto, the Mexican shiek, gave the proverbial dope bucket a heavy kick when he captured the only fall of his 45-minute semi-final bout with Whitey Grovo, the big blond idol of the local fans. The only fall of the match came in 37 minutes and 10 seconds by virtue of a merry-go-round and body slam. They finished the remaining seven minutes and 50 seconds without a fall in another cyclonic match.

The clever Mexican displayed some brilliant footwork and was a very pleasing performer all the way. It was the first time in a long while Grovo has been very hard pushed and the Mexican was given a nice hand for his night's work as he left the ring.

Flash Disheroon, the local boy favorite, and Curly Pink, of Electra, put up a whale of a scrap in their 20-minute no-fall match. Both men were free mixers all the way and the match served to round out one of the greatest cards put on since Bob Connor brought back the wrestling game to Wichita Falls.

BASEBALL WAR SIMMERS DOWN

Holdout Brigade Makes No New Moves

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—Things quieted materially on the baseball front today for the first time since Bill Terry fired his broadside at the Giants.

The Yankees, the Giants and Brooklyn around whom the storms have blown enjoyed a day of blissful quietude. Club officials generally preferred to believe the main explosion incident to the general slashing of salaries had passed, but others sensed a lull before another cloudburst of discontent.

Babe Ruth, the most celebrated holdout of them all, made no move toward getting together with Col. Jacob Ruppert, the man who yesterday offered him a trifling $70,000 to perform for the Yankees this summer. The Babe, who is set on getting another $80,000 for a one-year contract or $70,000 for two, enjoyed another round of golf. The colonel left town for the week-end.

Brooklyn dispatched its 1932 contracts yesterday.

The Robins, it was learned authoritatively, have not made anything like the drastic salary cuts expected. They anticipate no great difficulty even with Babe Hermann, who beat the barrier by refusing to take a cut before his contract was mailed.

So far, all the Giants know about their crop of holdouts is what they read in the papers. They have not yet received direct word from Terry, who rebelled at a 40 per cent cut, or from Mel Ott or Fred Fitzsimmons, who likewise have served notice they do not like their 1932 terms.

DIZZY DEAN SIGNS CONTRACT

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 15. (AP)—Jerome Herman "Dizzy" Dean, the young right-handed pitcher who stands a fine chance of earning a job as a regular with the world champion Cardinals this year, signed a Redbird contract today after conferring with Branch Rickey, vice president and business manager. The amount for which Dean signed was not divulged.

"I'm all set now and I'll win 25 games at least for the Cards next year," Dean said in characteristic fashion after the conference.

"Do you think you'll be more effective as a result of your year in the Texas league?" Dean was asked.

"No, sir," he replied. "I couldn't be any better. I'd have been a winner for the Cards last year, but they'll be glad they've got me the coming season. I'll see that they win another pennant."

Mrs. Tex Rickard May Promote Bout

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 15. (INS)—Mrs. Maxine Rickard, widow of the famous promoter, said today she had "discussed" plans to stage a fight here between Jack Dempsey and Paulino Uzcudun this winter.

Mayor V. L. Cleary of Miami Beach and Deke Newcomb of the local American Legion post discussed the fight with Mrs. Rickard, she said, but nothing definite had developed from the conversation.

"If the plan materalizes I would do the promotion myself, with help and advice from here and there," Mrs. Rickard said. "No negotiations have yet been entered into with either Dempsey or Paulino, although I believe Dempsey would view with friendliness any offer from me."

She said she had not entered into any negotiations for use of Madison Square garden arena here.

Special to The Record News.

WELLINGTON, Texas, Jan. 15.—Boys basket ball teams representing practically every school in Collingsworth county will participate in the annual county tournament which will be held in the Wellington High school gymnasium Feb. 12 and 13 when the championship team of the county will be determined. Logan Cummings, athletic director of the county interscholastic league, will be in charge of the tournament. The team going through the county tourney undefeated will be entitled to represent Collingsworth at the district meet to be staged in Childress Feb. 19 and 20.

YOUTH BREAKS LEG IN GAME

Chas. Mathis Injured in Ward School Tilt

Charles Mathis, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Mathis, 1422 Twenty-second street, sustained a broken leg in the ward school football game played yesterday between the Sam Houston and Carrigan schools.

The injured player was taken to the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital immediately after the accident. Attendants said late Friday night his condition was not critical.

The week's games in ward school football circles provided one outstanding contest, that between the Fannin and Austin schools, which ended in a 7-7 tie.

The Fannin and Austin deadlock was played on the Austin school gridiron. Fannin made three 20-yard zone penetrations to one for Cleo Creecy's Austin school men. Plaismed, right halfback on the Fannin team, crashed off tackle for his team's sole touchdown, and Robinson, fullback, dove through center for the extra point. Estes, Austin fullback, skirted end and ran 20 yards for his team's counter and Cohantz, playing a good game despite a bruised side, bucked the line for the extra point. The Fannin team is coached by Newman Smith.

Long, sustained drives, featuring runs around the ends, gave the Ben Franklin school a 14 to 0 victory over the Huey lads. The victors scored in the first quarter and in the closing minutes of the fourth period. The game was played on the Ben Franklin gridiron. Ted Bratton coaches the Huey team, while Lloyd Smith coaches the Ben Franklins.

Rain Delays Golf Tournament

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, Jan. 15. (AP)—Torrential rains swept down Tia Juana valley today, forcing a complete and disorderly rout of golf's conquistadors as they plotted a third round campaign in Agua Caliente's $15,000 open championship.

Although the necessary delay was scheduled only for the day, weather reports pointed to further rain tonight and again tomorrow, which boded ill for the already saturated course. It was planned to play the final round of the 72-hole tournament Sunday.

The drenching left the greens virtually unplayable, and sand traps and bunkers became water hazards.

In a previous game at Harrold the Wildcats barely won by a 25 to 21 score. Crowell defeated Nocona, 52 to 7, here Saturday night.

Runyon Gives Dope on Famous Ring Artists of Both Past and Present

By DAMON RUNYON

(Copyright 1932 by Universal Service, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—I here answer no less than 15 queries at once:

Mickey Walker, 5 feet, 7 inches tall, and weighing (in good fighting condition) 168 pounds, will not be the smallest man that ever fought for the heavyweight championship under the Marquis of Queensbury rules, or the London prize ring rules, either.

Weight, not height, figures as "size" in boxing.

Stanley Ketchel, 5 feet 9¾ inches, and weighing under 160 pounds, was the smallest Queensbury contestant when he fought Jack Johnson for the title in 1909.

Tom Sayers of England, 5 feet 8 inches, and weighing 152 pounds, was the smallest under the London prize ring rules. He won the heavyweight championship of England, then tantamount to the world, in 1858.

Bendigo, otherwise William Thompson, who flourished away back yonder, was another little man who won the heavyweight championship of England.

Bendigo stood 5 feet 9¾ inches, and weighed 168 pounds. He licked Deaf Burke in 1839 when Burke had just returned from a championship tour of America during which he fought one Jim O'Rourke in New Orleans, the affair winding up in a riot. Burke also met and beat a guy named Tom O'Connell at Hart's Island.

Bendigo hurt his knee soon after beating Burke and had to retire. The title was claimed by Big Ben Caunt, who had also made an American tour, during which he dug up Charles Freeman, the biggest man that ever fought in the prize ring. He stood seven feet high and weighed over 300 pounds. Bendigo gave Caunt a sound belting and then retired once more. He made one more come-back to win from Tom Paddock on a foul in 1850, then pulled out for good.

The ubiquitous Doctor Jack Kearns for some reason likes to compare Walker to Bendigo. The doctor has been reading up on Bendigo, I presume, and rather likes the figure he cut in fistic history.

I would think the doctor would prefer Tom Sayers when looking for a historic comparison for Walker. Sayers was a champion, and smaller than Mickey. Moreover, he must have been a great little fighter. He spotted the American, John C. Heenan, plenty of weight, and held him to a draw in 42 rounds in 1860. Heenan stood 6 feet 2 inches and weighed 195 pounds.

Walker is short and chunky, with arms as thick as a heavyweight. I think he looks bigger than Stanley Ketchel at Ketchel's biggest. The latter was taller, but much lighter than Walker is at present, and more delicately moulded. Ketchel stuck 12 rounds with the great Jack Johnson.

Charley Mitchell, a great middleweight, standing 5 feet 9 inches tall, and weighing 165 pounds, held the mighty John L. Sullivan to a draw in 32 desperate rounds in the mud at Ichantilly, France. That must have been a remarkable performance if John L. was as good as the old-timers allege.

Tommy Burns, born Noah Brusso, was no taller than Walker—in fact was just the same height—when he won the heavyweight championship, but Tommy was much heavier. He weighed 185 pounds, a roly-poly fellow. None the less, Tommy was a lively chap, and a good boxer. An old time English champion, Jack Slack, was only half an inch taller than Burns, but weighed 202 pounds.

Bob Fitzsimmons, a tall, gangling chap, who won the heavyweight title from James J. Corbett, is said to have weighed little more than 160 pounds for that fight, although I have heard this weight disputed. Some say he weighed over 170. Anyway, he was so tall he looked as big as Corbett.

M. Georges Carpentier, the lily of France, weighed under 170 pounds when he fought Jack Dempsey in Jersey City, so I am told by men who were in Carpentier's camp. That is one reason why he trained in secret, so to speak.

BETTING CASES REACH COURT

Texas Race Track Law to Be Tested

AUSTIN, Jan. 15. (AP)—Test cases brought in Tarrant county to test legality in Texas of the "option system" of wagering on horse races reached the court of criminal appeals today.

P. L. Coulter, fined $25 on a charge of betting, and O. O. Franklin, fined $200 and given 30 days in jail on a complaint alleging bookmaking, both convictions having been obtained in a county court at law, appealed from the judgments.

The transactions were alleged to have taken place at Arlington downs, between Fort Worth and Dallas, last Sept. 19. The cases were decided on for the purpose of testing the question of whether purchasing options was in violation of Texas anti-betting statutes.

VERNON, Texas, Jan. 15.—The Vernon Lions extended their record of undefeated basket ball games to seven Tuesday, defeating the Medicine Mound quintet, 62 to 22, in a late schedule game. The Vernon defense clicked well in the contest with neither opposing forward scoring a field goal in the first half. TEXAS BEATS PONIES, 35-29

Longhorns Stave Off Rally In Last Half

AUSTIN, Jan. 15. (AP)—Leading except for the first few minutes, the University of Texas quintet tonight trounced Southern Methodist, 35 to 29.

The Longhorns had the better of the playing throughout and early in the contest amassed a 13 to 3 lead. This was cut to two points a few minutes before the half ended but the Steers spurted and the score was 19 to 14 at the intermission.

A hard battle was waged throughout the second half with Southern Methodist threatening to take the upper hand. The visitors came back fast at the start of the second period and came within two points of drawing up even. The Steers maintained a two-point margin most of the remainder of the half, drawing away slowly towards the end.

Texas showed remarkable form at times and at others played miserably. Southern Methodist played consistently, led by the flashy R. Johnson, who sank five field goals, most of them hard ones.

Kubricht, Texas center, was high scorer with seven field goals and a free throw. Tullis of the Steers was second with five two-pointers and a free shot.

An estimated 4,500 persons witnessed the contest.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—A further advance in cotton at the opening today on continued trade buying and covering net increased offerings, which were attributed largely to realizing and local selling.

March contracts after selling up to 6.74 at the start, reacted to 6.65 or about 9 points from the best, but stiffened in the late trading on renewed covering and closed at 6.68. The general market closed steady, net unchanged to 3 points higher.

May contracts which had sold off to 6.81 on the decline or about two points net lower, closed at 6.26, while July rallied from 6.98 to 7.03 at the close.

There was little southern selling at the opening and again toward the close, but the pressure was not heavy. The week-end figures showing forwardings to spinners of 399,800 bales for the week against 287,000 last year came in for some comment on the afternoon rally which, however, was more generally attributed to the renewed firmness of the stock market.

Liverpool cables reported Bombay liquidation in that market but said Manchester was more cheerful with an improved demand for cotton cloths from China. Exports today 30,255 making 4,420,256 so far this season. Port receipts 54,983. U. S. port stocks 4,878,237.

Futures closed steady, unchanged to 3 points higher. Spot steady; middling 6.75.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 15. (AP)—The cotton market was comparatively quiet today and prices fluctuated within a moderate range. After advancing 5 to 7 points in the early trading prices declined nine points in sympathy with rather easier stocks and on hedge selling, but recovered to within three points of the highs in the late afternoon owing to a rally in stocks. The close was steady showing net gains for the day of 1 to 4 points.

The market opened rather steady although cables came in 2 to 5 penny points worse than due but sterling was firmer. Private cables stated that Bombay liquidated on the improvement in sterling. Manchester cabled that there was a more cheerful tone in the cloth market and an improved business with China.

The close was three points under the best of the day with March at 6.68 and May at 6.84, up 2 points net for the day while July closed at 7.02, up 4 points net.

Liverpool is due tomorrow 1 to 2 penny points up on New Orleans.

Bonds Improve Slightly While Stocks Register Small Changes

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (US)—When the markets closed today, net changes were found to be extremely modest. This was equally true of bonds and stocks.

The former were able to improve slightly upon previous levels but of course the most satisfying element of their performance was the complete absence of that nervousness which had dominated up to about a month ago.

Stability of bonds, not necessarily rapid improvement, is the most desirable objective.

In stocks, the trend changed frequently during the day and except in a limited number of pivotal and most active issues there was noticeable lessening of general interest in the market.

This was further attested by the drop in volume, which was fully one million shares under Thursday's aggregate.

It again was evident that an unusually large number of bull pools are strenuously seeking to encourage greater public participation. Not even the supposedly highest grade issues are exempt from such activities.

New York Central very plainly shows a constructive sponsorship which even if speculative is the first of its kind in many months.

The stock seemingly is being utilized by the bull clique now in charge of constructive efforts as a medium to invite more friendly general sentiment toward the market.

Central has been rather easy to advance thus far at least, but the remainder of the rail list, on the average, closed about unchanged for the day. It may be significant as indicating greater speculative interest in the rail group, that four railroad shares were among the 15 most active issues of the day.

Besides Central, they were New Haven, Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio. New Haven seems to be reflecting activities of a newly formed group.

Delay in inaugurating the Chicago wage parleys was a distinct disappointment to the market. As a matter of fact, disclosure that the railway operators' representatives were without full authority to act for the managements was a shock, since the suggestion is that further delay may be necessary.

However, the market is proceeding on the theory that unless some entirely unexpected and alarming development occurs, the wage reductions will be made; a matter of a week or two is hardly serious, though extended delay may induce revival of the intense nervousness concerning the railroad situation.

Federal reserve quarters are expressing regret that the recently inaugurated counter-deflationary policy is being described as "inflation." This followed French statements that the United States was embarking upon a wild, unregulated inflation.

Whatever description is applied to the movement seemingly under way there is no question but that the banking authorities here are determined to do whatever is in their power to stem the tide of deflation. If this necessitates measures which might be classified as inflation, then let the foreigners make the best of it.

The major task of the money powers is to halt the deflation; no degree of inflation can take place until the downward swing is stemmed.

Of course, the speculative markets are capitalizing to the full the inflation talk.

All this morning the markets heard of a forthcoming effort to advance the price of wheat sharply, and the commodity did rally more than a cent in the afternoon.

The group in control of the stock market is capitalizing every possibility to change sentiment to a more favorable view of the market.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 15. (AP)—Brisk upturns of grain prices today went hand in hand with a fresh advance of the New York stock market.

Quick recovery shown by wheat values contrasted strikingly with bearish foreign developments and in particular with an unexpected big increase of shipments of wheat from southern hemisphere countries. Only a straggling export business in North American wheat was noted, but the overseas takings embraced at least some United States hard winter wheat and durums.

Wheat closed firm at the day's top, ¼@⅝c above yesterday's finish, corn and oats each ⅛@⅜c up, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents off.

Corn and oats, although weak early, came back fast when wheat snapped upward. Weather conditions were unfavorable for corn movement.

Provisions were steadied by a rise in hog values.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, May 56¼@⅜c, 56⅛c; July 55⅛c, 56⅜c; Sept. 57c, 58c. Corn, May 39⅛@⅜c, 40⅛c; July 41⅛c, 41⅝c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, Jan. 15. (US)—While there are no current bull influences in the wheat market and the premium over world levels is a weight on prices, a good support continues to appear on all the dips such as encountered today. In the narrow trade the market readily becomes oversold and with offerings light very little short covering is required to boost prices substantially.

Corn also met with support despite bearish feeling over the previous close which was at the lowest level on the crop. Country offerings increased moderately with bookings over 50,000 bushels, but this was offset by exceptionally light receipts of only 63 cars and a somewhat better shipping demand with sales of 29,000 bushels.

Munds, Winslow & Potter point out in their weekly grain letter: "Bull wheat influences are largely of a potential character, while bear conditions and not theories affect the market adversely. We look for prices to maintain a fairly steady tone, with the later trend dependent on crop developments, domestic cash trade influence and possibility of congressional action."

Winnipeg advices said there was considerable disappointment in that market over the limited export interest with few sales overnight and little business during the morning.

Lost $5 Bill Found by Nocona Man After Seven Years

Special to The Record News.

NOCONA, Texas, Jan. 15.—After seven years Noble Bagwill has returned to circulation a $5 bill.

Bagwill, a young man, has been employed by the Martin Mill and Elevator company here since he was a youngster. In 1925, while working in the mill basement, he lost his wallet, which contained a $5 bill. No end of search brought the missing cash to light.

A few days ago young Bagwill was again in the basement. To his surprise, there he came across the long missing billfold. The wallet and bank note both had been used hardly by the years and rats. The bill, however, was still legal tender and resumed its former place in Nocona trade circles.

Prisoner in Ohio Pen Warns Brutal Care Must Stop

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 15. (AP)—After hearing the convict charge that Warden Preston E. Thomas "prefers killers" for guards at the Ohio penitentiary, the Ohio senate committee investigating alleged prison cruelties was in temporary adjournment today.

The testimony against the warden was given yesterday by William Baron, a bank robber, one of several convicts called before the committee.

Alleging that several killings of prisoners by guards had been "covered up" by making the records show that the guard had been "attacked," Baron said "the guard that kills a prisoner generally gets his salary raised."

The prisoner warned that, "if the present system of brutality is not changed, the riots that followed the Easter Monday fire (1930) in which 320 prisoners were burned to death will have no comparison to the next one. The next riot will be a sell-out and by that I mean a life for a life."

The investigation will be resumed next Tuesday, when the committee will delve into reports that bribery may have played a part in obtaining reduced sentences for several prisoners.

ELECTRA CLUB MAKES RECORD

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, Jan. 15.—The Electra Lions club was first in the district during the past month in having the largest gain in membership, according to a letter received by the local club from Horace M. Condley, Eastland, district governor. The communication was read at the weekly luncheon of the club Thursday. Dr. R. R. Ramey, president, presided over the luncheon. Announcement was also made that A. I. Glassman had been appointed chairman of a committee to sponsor a show at the Grand theater for the benefit of the club activities. The time and place for the Lion-Senior banquet will be selected in the near future, Dr. Ramey reported.

J. H. Harris who has been serving as chairman of a committee selected to work with similar committees from the Rotary club, American Legion, and chamber of commerce, was named to investigate the possibility of having cement sidewalks built on two blocks of property near the high school. All the resident owners with the exception of one non-resident owner have agreed to pay their part in the construction of the sidewalks.

Admitted Slayer Of Indian Released

PAMPA, Texas, Jan. 15. (AP)—Marvin Hinchee, middle-aged oil field worker, is satisfied now that he has confessed a 20-year-old killing and has been freed.

"I've put it up to the law and it won't prey on my mind any more," Hinchee said yesterday as he left the Gray county jail. He voluntarily had told officers he killed George Walters, 18, an Indian, near Henryetta, Okla., 20 years ago. He said the shooting, climaxing a quarrel, was in self-defense.

Old-timers at Henryetta vaguely recalled the killing, but officers did not have any evidence to attempt to break down the self-defense plea. They wired authorities here to release Hinchee.

Directors Named to Serve During Next Year

Special to The Record News.

WELLINGTON, Texas, Jan. 15.—New directors to serve the Wellington Chamber of Commerce during 1932 are Ben Hurst, John E. Jones and Clifton High, succeeding Henry Cocke, J. D. Wilson and A. M. Duvall, according to Miss Katherine Boverie, secretary. Old members of the board of directors who will retain the position during this year are Charles D. Slay, H. A. Phillips, J. A. Lucas and C. C. Stinson.

New officers to serve the organization during the coming 12 months will be selected by the directors in the near future. Due to past experience and activities of the members of the board of directors for 1932, much is expected from the new group and members of the chamber have expressed themselves as being well pleased with the selections.

Runaway Girl, 13, Sought in Dallas

DALLAS, Jan. 15. (UP)—Lois May Kincaid, just 13 years old but not such a little girl, has run away from home because her mother wouldn't let her wear the lovely black suede pumps with delighfully high, slender French heels an aunt had given her.

Five days' efforts of Mrs. May Kincaid, her mother, of the police, school officials and a Dallas newspaper had failed to locate her tonight. Her mother was frantic.

Lois May wanted to wear the pumps right away when they were given her. But her mother thought it would be bad for Lois May's feet and her health generally. She said "No." That was Monday.

The mother came home from work to find Lois May and the lovely high heeled pumps gone and only a little note left behind that gave no clue to where the girl had gone. With Lois May and the pumps went her favorite dress—red, trimmed with black buttons—and her snappy black sports coat.

So far as her mother knows Lois May had no extra clothes and no money. She has brown hair in a long permanent wave, dark blue eyes, is five feet tall and of medium build. Her mother believes she is certain to be wearing, if found, those black suede pumps with the high French heels she wanted so badly to wear.

Temple Sheriff On Trial Monday

AUSTIN, Jan. 15, (UP)—John R. Bigham, big-hatted, popular sheriff of Bell county, Texas, traveled more than half way around the world not long ago to arrest a man, and thereby attracted nation-wide attention. A few months later he traveled a few hundred miles around Texas with other prisoners and attracted the attention of certain state accountants.

As a result, his next trip will be into 126th district court, Monday. Sheriff Bigham is scheduled to go on trial that day on four indictments charging he unlawfully demanded and received extortionate fees for performing certain official duties.

The sheriff spent much money and traveled from his home town of Belton, Texas, to New Zealand, two years ago to arrest A. B. Crouch, a former Temple, Texas, grain dealer wanted on a 13-year-old indictment. He brought Crouch back; then the indictment was dismissed.

Bigham was praised highly, however, for tracing Crouch through the year, despite the man's change of name and building up of a good reputation in New Zealand under the new name. Bigham was praised too for going after Crouch after he found the trail. Now he is the one whose trail has been followed.

Registered Mail Saved in Crash

AMARILLO, Texas, Jan. 15.(AP)—The investigation of postal authorities into the loss resulting from the burning of a mail plane after a forced landing near Mobeetie Wednesday closed today with the announcement that 250 pounds of "ordinary mail" was destroyed.

S. A. Cisler, of Kansas City, superintendent of air mail in the Southwestern division, directed the investigation. He said all of the large cargo of registered mail which the Transcontinental and Western Air plane carried was saved when the ship burst into flames after being forced down by weather conditions. A cracked gasoline line, broken in landing, was blamed for the fire.

"It was the first loss on the line since the passenger plane carrying the late Knute Rockne crashed in Kansas last March 31," Cisler said. He said the department of commerce might investigate the cause of the forced landing.

The plane was crated today for shipment to Kansas City, where Airways officials said it might be rebuilt. Ted Hereford, the pilot, was to return with the wrecked ship.

Political Activity Raises 1932 Curtain

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—The political curtain was up, and events marched briskly today across the stage in the prolog to the 1932 presidential campaign.

Twenty-four hours of increased activity that opened up almost simultaneously on both sides ended tonight with three figures in the spotlight—President Herbert Hoover, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, and former Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

President Hoover's campaign for Republican renomination was under way. Former Governor Smith was cheered again today by crowds in Boston, where at last night's "victory" dinner he was adjured not to throw his brown derby away. The Roosevelt boom had been formally launched by the Democrats of North Dakota, and his formal announcement momentarily was expected.

New Yorkers Silent

Actually, President Hoover was, of course, the only one of the three publicly a candidate for his party's choice. Neither the former nor the present governor of New York has made any statement. Even the closest friends of Smith say they do not know where he stands, but they believe last night's developments may have strengthened the efforts of his supporters to have him become a candidate.

Friends of Governor Roosevelt said today he had as yet received no formal notification of his endorsement by North Dakota Democrats. Twenty-five hundred members of the party attending the "victory dinner" at the Hotel Astor last night gave him an enthusiastic reception but there was no public reference to him at the dinner as a possible presidential nominee.

Hints at Methods

The fact that in his speech he urged his fellow-Democrats not to "blame all our present troubles on the president" and also discussed state and national taxation was construed by some as an indication of the sort of campaign he might make if nominated.

Enthusiastic supports for former Governor Smith made it plain in Boston last night they wanted him to announce himself a candidate right then and there, but his only comment was that he was "too old for the draft."

The movement to renominate President Hoover moved forward rapidly. Secretary of War Hurley predicted the Oklahoma delegation would be pledged to him. James Francis Burke, general counsel of the Republican national committee, conferred with Republican leaders on methods of entering President Hoover in the various state primaries. He said Mr. Hoover would be entered in Pennsylvania.

The president himself, however, was not talking politics, Burke said he had "put the ban on political talks of every kind" and was "devoting himself entirely to his reconstruction program."

The arrangements committee of the Republican national committee will meet in Chicago Friday, Jan. 22. Thousands of Democratic workers all over the country were out today on the "victory drive" for $1,500,000.

Noted Racer Is Barred From Track

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, Jan. 15. (US)—Baron Long has "laughed" himself out of the racing game.

One of the three owners of the Agua Caliente Jockey club, Long today was ruled off the turf by the stewards as the result of a recent "last laugh" he enjoyed at the expense of an eastern bookmaker whom he confessed "taking" for $6,200 by means of padding the mutuel machines.

Judge Francis Nelson senior steward, George Schmilling and Walter Dupee, associate stewards, signed the "finis" warrant which removes Long from the racing picture.

"For acts prejudicial to the best interests of racing in general and racing at the Agua Caliente Jockey club in particular," said the stewards, in reaching their verdict which bars from racing one of the most famous owners and breeders in the country.

The baron's disbarment followed an investigation by the stewards of Long's part in the betting coup which led to Linden Tree winning a race for maiden juveniles on Jan. 7 and paying $9.71 to $1 in the mutuel machines. Long had two horses entered in the same race, but admitted he had wired $1,000 to an eastern betting commissioner on Linden Tree, then padded the mutuel machines by wagering on other horses in the race in order to "build up" the price on his eastern wager. The coup proved a success, netting the baron a profit of $6,200 and brought a statement from the owner that the coup was manipulated in order that he might have a laugh at the expense of the bookmakers.

However, the stewards, realizing the statement would bring disrepute upon the track, carefully probed all phases of the race and concluded that the baron had violated the ethics of racing and therefore should be denied further racing privileges.

Long, in receiving notice of his disbarment, stated that the $6,200 won on the race had been donated to charity, 50 per cent being turned over to a Tia Juana charity and the remainder to a charity in San Diego.

Thirty-three of the baron's horses were in training at the Agua Caliente track when he was notified of his suspension.

District Church Meet Held at Haskell

Special to The Record News.

HASKELL, Texas, Jan. 15.—A district kingdom extension meeting of First Methodist churches was held here today. The local pastor, the Rev. A. W. Gordon, was host to 75 who attended. Dr. G. S. Slover of Stamford, presiding elder, presided.

Special speakers of the day were the Rev. C. Bickley, presiding elder of the Lubbock district, and W. B. McCowan of Nashville, who represented the general board of Christian education.

The meeting comprised both pastors and lay members in the district. The Haskell Woman's Missionary society served lunch at the noon hour.

The University of Michigan annexed three Big Ten championships in 1931, tied for another and won one national championship.

STORE ADDS FLOOR SPACE

Noble-Little Re-Arranges Stock and Fixtures

Rearrangement of stock to occupy just half the floor space used heretofore, and extensive alteration of the building to permit such changes, are now under way at the store of Noble-Little Hardware company, 713-719 Indiana avenue.

Up to the present, the store room at 713-715 Indiana has been used for the household furnishings department, while that at 717-719 was devoted exclusively to hardware and sporting goods. A stairway leading from the middle of the latter floor to a balcony used for farm implements has been removed, and the balcony rail made continuous across the store.

Partitions and supports on the main floor of the south half of the store have been altered to permit the consolidation of all departments on that floor. The store building at 713-715 Indiana, thus vacated, is to be available for some other business. Tentative plans for its occupation are under way, it was said.

Concentration of displayed goods in a smaller space for the convenience of shoppers motivated the change that is being made, according to officials of the concern.

Doll Show

A doll show, with a real parade of the wooden soldiers, doll costumes, and doll dances, revealed the recent accomplishments of the high school girls' glee club, directed by Hermione Stewart Vaughn.

The girls played their doll parts unexpectedly well at the regular assembly program of the college and high school Friday morning.

Mrs. A. A. Brackett, mother of Louise Brackett, donated the flower decorations to the show. Louise Brackett was the doll who fell down and broke at the end of the performance, when the chorus sang "The Funeral March of the Marionettes" (Gounod).

Other features of the program were as follows: Parade of the wooden soldiers, accompanied by high school orchestra, and directed by Miss Davida Olinger; dances by Faith Galmiche and Ruth Ferguson; violin duet by Peggy Williamson and Joyce Eason; "Amaryllis" by chorus and orchestra; "When a Maid Comes Knocking in Your Heart" sung by the girls, with Helen Gardner acting as the boy.

Paul Barnett announced that senior rings may again be ordered next week. He also asked that all Hi-Y members attend the regular meeting at the Highland Heights Christian church Monday night.

Club Picnic

Members of the Junior College Euclidean club enjoyed a picnic at Weeks park Thursday evening.

Besides plenty of food, the members enjoyed the antics of one member who climbed a tree to prove that it had nuts on it. According to B. T. Adams, sponsor of the club, that member showed very reasonably that the tree had a nut on it.

The section is that portion of the Harvey route from New Orleans to Bayou Blue. The bid of the Standard Dredging company of New York City, 6.29 cents per cubic yard, was low. Miller said it was recommended for acceptance.

2,219 Penniless Men Sleep in City's 'Flop House' in Two-Month Period

In the two months the city has operated the "flop house," sleeping quarters for penniless transients, 2,219 men have taken advantage of the free shelter, Police Chief Dick Morris announced Friday night. Between 35 and 40 men sleep each night in the big store room next to the police station managed by Bob McFall under the direction of the police department.

The fame of the "flop house" has traveled down the line, Chief Morris said, and many men seeking work and out of money take refuge there. Although the "guests" are investigated, few are shown to have police records.

Many women are sheltered in the Salvation Army rooms above the men's sleeping quarters. Negro women are often sheltered in the jail proper, the chief declared.

The men sleepers are sometimes picked up off the streets or in the railroad yards. The sleeping provision, instituted through City Manager Smitham, combines charity with a crime-prevention program.

Last Services Set Sunday for T. E. McGinty Jr., High School Leader

T. E. McGinty Jr., 17-year-old high school junior, died shortly after 1 o'clock Friday in a local hospital after a prolonged battle against pneumonia.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. McGinty, 2009 Grant, was stricken more than a week ago, but his resistance, developed on the school athletic field, put up a gallant battle against the disease.

Young McGinty was a member of the squad B football team, playing end against the smaller schools in the district last season. He was active in school activities and one of the most popular boys in his class.

Funeral services will be held from the Lamar Avenue Baptist church at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Rev. S. F. Martin, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in Rosemont under the direction of Hines mortuary.

Active pallbearers will be Gwinn Holden, Bill Neighbors, Levi Price, Cooper Waters, Clayon Daves and Pruit Richards.

SHIPS COLLIDE IN DENSE FOG

Destroyer Is Rammed Off Connecticut Coast

NEW YORK, Jan. 15. (AP)—Somewhere off New London, Conn., tonight two crippled ships were limping into port.

One was the coast guard destroyer Herndon, with a gaping hole in her forward fire room. She was being towed by the Collier, Lemuel Burrows, which rammed her in dank fog midway between Montauk Point and Block island early this afternoon. The Herndon carried 85 men and eight officers and the Lemuel Burrows usually carries 38 men.

The tow was making about five knots toward New London, Conn., coast guard advices said. The Herndon was being hauled stern first.

Injuries Light

Four coast guard ships converged upon the scene shortly after darkness but their assistance was not needed. The cutters Chamlain and Boutwell and the destroyers Wilkes and Wainwright fell into line and wirelessed they would escort the tow.

Coast guard officials here said they had received no casualty reports, but Commander J. F. Farleyn, acting chief of staff of the destroyer force, at New London, Conn., announced receipt of a radio saying the Herndon's crew had suffered a few minor injuries.

For 54 minutes after the crash, broadcasting stations were silenced while the air was filled with a confusion of crackling messages, most of them from the Burrows.

S O S CALLS

The first message—a blunt "S O S"—came from the Herndon at 12:40 p. m. It was then that land stations were silenced, while wireless men strained their ears to pick other faint messages out of the fog-filled air.

Neither the coast guard, the Mackay Radio corporation, nor the Radio Marine corporation could estimate the exact position of the two vessels. As dusk, however, it was believed they were about 75 miles off New London. A coast guard executive said they probably would not make that port before tomorrow forenoon, the exact time of arrival depending upon towing conditions. The sea tonight was fairly calm.

The Herndon, 310 feet long, is a former navy destroyer, now in charge of Commander Charles G. Romer. She was hunting rum-runners when struck.

The Lemuel Burrows is a 7,610-ton freighter listed as owned by the Mystic Steamship company of Boston. She is in the coastal trade between Boston and Norfolk and was bound for the latter port without cargo. Ordinarily she carries a crew of 38.

Wagnerian Festival Offered on Radio Chain Broadcast Saturday Evening

Lovers of Wagnerian creations for the opera, and radio listeners generally who select the best that is on the air, will have one of the greatest treats Saturday night thus far afforded by radio. Under the direction of Leopold Stokowski, the Philadelphia Philharmonic orchestra and nine renowned vocal soloists will present excerpts from three Wagnerian operas.

The program is being broadcast from station WABC by the Columbia Broadcasting system. It will be available here through stations WERC, KMOX, KRLD, and KTSA beginning at 7:15 p. m. Saturday, Jan. 16.

Consent to broadcast such a program heretofore has been refused by Stokowski who held that radio had not yet progressed sufficiently to assure transmission of the music without loss of tone and coloring.

Saturday night's festival of Wagner's works will open with the song of the Three Rhine Daughters from "Das Rheingold." Rose Bampton, Henrietta Horley and Dewina Eustis are the trio of singers. Nine soloists will be presented with full orchestra in the "Song of the Valkyries," the second number. Paul Althouse, tenor, sings Seigfried's "Awakening of Brunhilde" to close the first part of the program.

Songs known as the "Love Music" from the second act of "Tristan and Isolde," with Elsa Alsen as soprano, will follow Mr. Althouse's aria. The program will close with two numbers from "Gotterdamerung." "The Rhine Maidens and Seigfred" will be the first, and "Brunnhilde's Sacrifice," sung by Miss Alsen, will be the concluding number.

Stolen Automobile Robe Identified by Owner

A valuable automobile robe, stolen a year ago, was identified Friday by Mrs. R. G. Clair, Victory and Harrison streets, from the loot discovered by the police department at the home of Frank Allen, negro. Allen is already under two charges of burglary and four of theft. A quantity of clothing, linen, tools and miscellaneous articles remain to be claimed.

McClurkan's will close Saturday at 6 instead of 8:30, in order to make preparations for their famous White Elephant Sale, which begins Monday morning at 6.—Adv.

COMPETITION IN C-C DRIVE HOT

P. R. Freeman's Team Leads in New Members

Tabulation of results of the Junior chamber of commerce membership drive Friday afternoon revealed that workers directed by P. R. Freeman led the list with 79 of the 249 members enrolled to their credit.

W. R. Creamer's division signed up 69 members; Kindel Paulk and his men 55; and Anderson Kemp's unit 46.

H. R. Cramer, general chairman, said at least 94 of the prospects yet to be seen are "cinches" and that workers are also digging up new material not listed in the preliminary survey of potential membership. The drive will not be formally closed until Wednesday of next week.

High men in each division who will receive the cigar or cigaret award offered by the general chairman are Ewell Noe in the Freeman unit; George Gardner for Creamer; H. J. Hughey Jr., for Paulk; and Ralph Pond for Kemp's division. The winners will have their choice of a box of cigars or a carton of cigarets, to be presented at the regular luncheon next Friday, Jan. 22.

The four are also contestants for the grand prize, offered the individual who lines up the largest number of members. The prize is a suit of clothes and a trip to the regional convention in Oklahoma City in March.

Members and money were still trickling in Friday afternoon to the headquarters of the senior organization drive. C. H. Featherston, general chairman, was sure that the goals of $35,000 and 900 members would be reached.

Bandits Get $10,000 From Capital Bank

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15. (INS)—Four men entered the Washington Mechanics Savings bank's branch at Ninth and East Capitol streets, shortly before the 3 o'clock closing hour today and escaped with money, officials estimated to amount from $10,000 to $12,000.

The quartet held the employes at bay with pistols.

TRIES HIS WINGS

Wichita Student Flier Solos After Short Training

After only 10 hours and 15 minutes training in the air, J. P. Morrison, student of the Wichita Falls Air Transport company, made his first solo flight at the Municipal airport Friday afternoon. He made the flight in his own Eagle Rock biplane. Morrison, trained by Jack Overstreet, company instructor, will continue to pile up hours in the air to obtain his private license.

Scoutmasters to Spend Night at Diversion Lake

Scoutmasters of Wichita Falls are to spend Saturday night at Camp Ephraim Griffin at Diversion lake, and will hold a council on important organization matters after feasting on roast pig Saturday evening, according to Frank B. Creighton, Boy Scout executive.

Local scoutmasters are to go to the camp Saturday on their own schedules, but are to be there by 6:30 p. m. for dinner, Mr. Creighton said. A 60-pound pig was dressed out Friday, and is to be baked in the ground all day Saturday. It will be served with vegetables and hot coffee.

Plans for the Boy Scout anniversary week observance, Feb. 6-13, will be made in the council to be held at the camp. The scoutmasters also will begin preparation of plans for a district field day to be held in the latter part of March, and will formulate a course of study to be used in a patrol leaders' conference at Camp Griffin on a week-end late in February.

Scoutmasters attending Saturday night's overnight camp will receive breakfast Sunday morning, and will return to this city before the Sunday school hour.

TRIBUTE PAID TO E. G. HILL

Funeral Services Held for Oil Operator

Wichita Falls paid its last tribute to E. G. Hill, oil operator, sportsman and civic leader, in funeral services conducted from the Floral Heights Methodist church at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Rites were said after the body, brought here from Dallas, had lain in state at the church through the hours of the morning. Rev. Finis Crutchfield, pastor of the church, assisted by Dr. Nat F. Grafton of the Floral Heights Presbyterian church, conducted the services.

Burial was in Riverside cemetery under the direction of the Merkle Undertaking company, first organized by Mr. Hill under his name almost 20 years ago.

Mr. Hill died Wednesday night in the home of his sister, Mrs. G. A. Brewer in Dallas after a prolonged illness. Although he had maintained a home here for more than 20 years, his oil interests in East Texas had kept him away for months at a time before bad health forced him to abandon his work.

A business man, leader in sporting circles and organizations, active in civic development, and widely known for his oil operations, Mr. Hill had been one of the most active and influential men of Wichita Falls for many years.

His survivors are two daughters, Misses Madeline and Kathryn Hill, Wichita Falls; a brother, Owen Hill, Moody; three sisters, Mrs. Brewer and Mrs. Lev Covey, Dallas; and Mrs. Carver King, Winnsboro, Texas.
