U.S. Air Strikes Help Break Siege

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Cambodian military command disclosed today that American jet fighter-bombers, in an apparent major shift in U.S. policy, have attacked deep into Cambodia in direct support of Cambodian ground forces.

The announcement, which U.S. officials in Saigon would neither confirm nor deny, coincided with reports that North Vietnamese and Viet Cong units were marshalling east of Phnom Penh, and that heavy fighting had broken out again at Kompong Speu, 30 miles southwest of the Cambodian capital.

MIGHT CRUMBLE

The U.S. air strikes helped break the month-long siege of Kompong Thom, a provincial capital 80 miles north of Phnom Penh, a Cambodian spokesman said. Neither the Pentagon nor the U.S. Command would comment, but this extension of the American air war appeared to be a sign of recognition by the United States that without some assist from strong U.S. firepower, the Cambodian forces might crumple under the Communist Command's growing pressure.

Maj. Am Rong, the Cambodian spokesman, said he could furnish no details on the exact location of attacks, the types of U.S. jets involved, when they first went into action or the results. But eyewitness reports on Tuesday from Kompong Thom and Skoun, another endangered Cambodian town, said U.S. propellor-driven OV10 aircraft had been marking targets for South Vietnamese jet fighter-bombers supporting Cambodian troops.

MUM'S THE WORD

The U.S. Command in Saigon, apparently under strict orders from the Pentagon, has refused repeatedly to discuss U.S. air activity in Cambodia other than to repeat the Pentagon's admission Monday that American pilots were flying up to 100 miles inside Cambodia to attack North Vietnamese and Viet Cong supply lines.

Kompong Thom is 95 miles from the South Vietnamese border and well beyond the 21.7-mile limit set by President Nixon for U.S. ground forces in Cambodia. It is 75 to 150 miles southwest of where the Communists supposedly have established their supply routes.

Meanwhile, Cambodian troops began a sweep today about five miles east of Phnom Penh, where a North Vietnamese and Viet Cong force was reported marshaling, possibly for an attack with rockets and mortars on the capital.

ATTACK LOOMS

It was the closest concentration of enemy forces reported around the capital to date and tended to confirm intelligence reports that an attack could come at any time.

The Cambodian spokesman also reported that enemy troops had surrounded the provincial capital of Kompong Speu, 30 miles west southwest of Phnom Penh, and that fighting for control of the town was heavy. He said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong had launched repeated attacks against the government defenders, but that the Cambodians apparently still held the town.

Kompong Speu, on the only highway between Phnom Penh and the port of Kompong Som, was retaken from the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong 10 days ago after they held it for three days.

NIXON ACCUSED

North Vietnam today accused President Nixon of "blatantly escalating the air war over Cambodia while piously talking of withdrawing American ground troops." Hanoi Radio said: "In the past two days the arch aggressor Nixon has ordered hundreds of American war planes to pour thousands of tons of bombs on Cambodia."

Goldberg To Test Gov. Rockefeller

NEW YORK (AP) — In a primary full of upsets and firsts, Democrats nominated former Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg on Tuesday to oppose three-term Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Two veteran Democratic congressmen—Adam Clayton Powell and Leonard Farbstein—were defeated.

For the first time, the Democrats nominated a Negro, State Sen. Basil Paterson of Harlem, for lieutenant governor. Herman Badillo of the Bronx won a chance to become the state's first Puerto Rico-born congressman.

In his first bid for elective office, Goldberg, 61, defeated upstate millionaire Howard Samuels, 50. The state's first gubernatorial primary in nearly 50 years drew only 27 per cent of the Democrats despite perfect weather. The GOP had no statewide contests.

Another millionaire, Rep. Richard Ottinger of suburban Westchester County, won a four-man race to oppose GOP Sen. Charles E. Goodell, appointed by Rockefeller to complete the term of the late Robert F. Kennedy. Ottinger's massive spending for television advertising was the main issue.

Running against Ottinger were Paul O'Dwyer, Theodore Sorensen and Rep. Richard Max McCarthy.

Sorensen, a former counsel and speech writer for the late President John F. Kennedy, had the backing of the Democratic State Committee and had been a favorite early in the campaign. The extensive television drive conducted by Ottinger was credited with turning the election tide in his favor, offsetting Sorensen's early lead. Sorensen campaigned on the theme, "John Kennedy trusted him."

The Senate candidates held similar antiwar positions.

Goldberg, former secretary of labor and U.N. ambassador, is the first man of national stature the Democrats have sent against Rockefeller since Rockefeller ousted Gov. Averell Harriman in 1958.

The former union negotiator, judge and diplomat campaigned as a "conciliator." He called the nomination of Paterson "more important than mine" because he is the first black nominated for statewide office in New York.

Powell, 61, unbeatable in Harlem for 25 years, was defeated narrowly by state Assemblyman Charles Rangel, 40, a Negro who also has Republican backing. Powell had a recent bout with cancer but said his doctors had given him a clean bill of health.

FAMILY ABSENT

Kennedy Memorial Dedicated

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas dedicated its own memorial to President Kennedy today in a low-key ceremony attended by less than 300 of the city's 800,000 population. No member of the Kennedy family was here, although all were invited.

Some Kennedys declined the invitation with regrets while others just did not respond, said a member of the Memorial Commission.

Philip Johnson, New York architect, friend of the late president, who designed the memorial, said: "They're having problems enough of their own."

Dedication of the simple monolithic structure of concrete slabs surrounding a black granite slab bearing the president's name in gold, came just six years, seven months and two days after he was fatally shot 200 yards from the memorial.

IT IS TIMELESS

City officials sat in a semi-circle, blinking at the crowd in the hot sunshine — the county judge and commissioners, city councilmen, builders and engineers — but Mayor Erik Jonsson was in New York. One by one or in groups those who had contributed to the cost or building of the memorial were called forward to take a bow. The crowd applauded.

"I believe this is a memorial the city of Dallas can be proud of for many, many years," said John Schoellkopf, chairman of the Memorial Commission. "It is unique, it is timeless . . ."

Roman Catholic Bishop Thomas A. Tschoepe of the Dallas disocese dedicated the memorial.

A plaque, white lettering on black granite, on the sidewalk nearby reads simply:

"The joy and excitement of John Fitzgerald Kennedy's life belonged to all men. So did the pain and sorrow of his death. When he died on Nov. 22, 1963, shock and agony touched the human conscience throughout the world. In Dallas, Texas, there was special sorrow.

PERMANENT TRIBUTE

"When the young President died in Dallas, the death bullets were fired 200 yards west of this site. This memorial, designed by Philip Johnson, was erected by the people of Dallas. Thousands of citizens contributed support, money and effort.

"It is not a memorial to the pain and sorrow of death, but stands as a permanent tribute to the joy and excitement of one man's life. John Fitzgerald Kennedy's life."

As soon as the half-hour dedication ceremonies ended, the crowd moved in with cameras. There was a fair proportion of young people, white and black, some priests and nuns, jurors from the county courthouse over the way, a few older citizens who looked deeply pained, as if they still felt a burden of personal guilt just because Kennedy happened to die in Dallas.

Bomb Blast Kills Woman In Ottawa

OTTAWA (AP) — A bomb explosion damaged a Defense Department building in downtown Ottawa today and killed one person.

It occurred on St. Jean Baptiste Day, a holiday dear to the heart of French-Canadians. Separatists seeking to split Quebec away from Canada have made it an occasion for demonstrations in the past.

The explosion ripped away most of a wall section outside the defense communications room and another just above. Windows were shattered in an area of several blocks, and streets were littered with broken glass.

The communications room bore the brunt of the blast, and Jeanne St. Germain, a worker there, was killed. Two persons were taken to Ottawa General Hospital with multiple cuts.

Capt. Russ McKee, an armed forces information officer, said it was assumed the blast was caused by a dynamite charge planted outside the corner of the building where the communications room is located. Army investigators swarmed around the site.

St. Jean Baptiste Day triggered a riot in Montreal in June, 1968, when Quebec separatists halted a parade and tossed a bottle into the reviewing stand occupied by Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau. Three police cars were overturned, at least 160 demonstrators arrested and seven policemen and a number of demonstrators injured in that outbreak.

Braniff Laying Off Pilots, Stewardesses, Ground Staff

DALLAS (AP) — Braniff International Airline is slashing its staff of flight crewmen, mechanics and ground support employes in an attempt to make a profit and make the airline attractive to potential buyers, a union official said today.

Joseph Gaskin, assistant general chairman of the International Association of Machinists (IAM), District 146, said Braniff president Harding Lawrence had "misled his union's members by promising no more layoffs of mechanics would take place this summer."

They're also laying off pilots, stewardesses and ground staff, Gaskin said.

"We've had eight layoffs since October cutting Braniff mechanics from approximately 1,600 to 1,200 including 109 to leave their jobs July 15," Gaskin said.

"We took Lawrence at his word and didn't expect another cut until September," he added. "He even said another layoff might not occur if the economy improved."

An official of the Air Line Pilots Association confirmed that Braniff had reduced its flight crews.

"Things aren't going well," he explained. "We've had 134 Braniff pilots laid off since December and 59 more will receive notices over the next two months, the company tells us."

Other sources said 200 Braniff stewardesses had been given "leaves without pay" in the past 12 months.

The unions said Braniff is cutting its staff "across the board more drastically than other airlines."

"American, Delta and Texas International have had no layoffs," Gaskin said. "They're relying on attrition and not replacing retirees and resignations. Frontier and Continental have had small cutbacks in recent months."

U. S. Marine, 19, Receives Acquittal

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — A young Marine accused of unpremeditated murder in the deaths of 16 Vietnamese women and children was found innocent today after testifying he shot neither them nor enemy soldiers in Vietnam.

When the acquittal was announced, Pfc. Thomas R. Boyd, 19, Evansville, Ind., jumped up, his cheeks stained by tears.

"Thank God!" he shouted, hugged his civilian attorney, Howard T. Trockman, and then dashed outside the courtroom where several members of his company were awaiting the verdict.

He had been charged in the deaths of the Vietnamese Feb. 19 at Son Thang village, 27 miles south of here. He had faced a maximum sentence of life imprisonment.

Among those waiting outside the courtroom was Boyd's company commander, Lt. Louis R. Amort, 23, Little Rock, Ark., and Pfc. Samuel G. Green. Boyd, both laughing and crying, threw his arms around both men.

Green, 18, of Cleveland, Ohio, was one of four Marines charged in the Son Thang case and goes on trial July 20. He is charged with 16 counts of unpremeditated murder.

PFC. THOMAS R. BOYD

Boyd, whose case was tried before a military judge, testified that before he came to Vietnam last July, his pastor told him one of life's most important lessons was: "Thou shalt not kill."

Members of Boyd's platoon testified they never saw him kill anyone in combat.

Boyd was the second Marine to be tried for killing of five women and 11 children during a patrol in the village 27 miles south of Da Nang.

Pvt. Michael A. Schwarz, 21, Weirton, W.Va., was convicted Sunday of premeditated murder and sentenced to life imprisonment. His case is being appealed.

Consumer Safety Hearings Start

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee says he will push for a bill giving a new federal agency power to eliminate product hazards blamed for the deaths of 30,000 Americans and injuries to 20 million more.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., made the announcement prior to today's opening hearing on the recommendations of the National Commission on Product Safety.

The commission presented its final report to the President Tuesday and urged creation of a new agency to deal with product hazards that cost the nation more than $5.5 billion a year.

The study group recommended establishment of a five-member agency with exclusive authority in the field of consumer product safety. An advocate with responsibility to represent only consumers in proceedings before the new agency and other regulatory boards would be named.

The commission, appointed two years ago by former President Lyndon B. Johnson, concluded that no federal agency has authority to enforce safety standards for consumer products. It said state and local laws are nonexistent or ineffective and manufacturers generally have failed to take the lead in safety.

"Because of the inadequacy of existing controls on product hazards, we find a need for a major federal role in the development and execution of methods to protect the American consumer," the commission said. "Manufacturers have it in their power to design, build and market products in ways that will reduce if not eliminate most unreasonable and unnecessary hazards."

Scott Favors More Rapid Withdrawal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said today he favors a more rapid withdrawal of American troops from South Vietnam than President Nixon has scheduled so far.

"The success of the Cambodian campaign warrants very serious consideration of a speed-up in the withdrawal," Scott told newsmen.

And as the Senate met, the GOP leader said he hoped action could be completed by next Monday or Tuesday on a military sales bill that has stirred up more than six weeks of debate about Cambodia and the President's war-making powers.

"It can be done and I hope it will be done," Scott said, adding the Senate then could switch to a less taxing schedule. It now is meeting night and day in an effort to dispose of the Cambodia dispute and clear up a backlog of other legislation.

But Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told him there would have to be more coordinated and cooperative efforts by senators than has been evident so far if action on the military sales bill is to be completed before the 4th of July recess.

FILIBUSTERS

Mansfield said the Senate now has two filibusters on its hands —one on the military sales bill and the other on a $4.5 billion education appropriation bill that was brought up at Tuesday night's session — and sessions very likely will have to be held on Saturdays as well as in the nighttime.

The Senate agreed to vote at today's session on two amendments to the military sales bill. One would repeal the controversial Gulf of Tonkin resolution despite objections by Sen. J. W. Fulbright and the other would require nations receiving U.S. surplus weapons to pay 50 per cent of the fair cost.

The repeal vote is on an amendment by Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., to junk the 1964 resolution used by President Johnson as the legal basis for sending 500,000 troops to Vietnam.

Fulbright has long favored repeal of the amendment. But he had spoken out against Dole's move to repeal the resolution by amending the military sales bill.

LOVE AFFAIR IS 'MILKED'

MIAMI (AP) — The classified ad in the personals column of Miami newspapers reads: "Darling, our affair is over. Am leaving town. Have left recorded message. Dial 446-5614. Sylvia."

The number is constantly busy, even at 2 a.m.

A Southern Bell Telephone Co. spokesman said Tuesday the number belongs to a dairy association which is using it to deliver a recorded commercial to callers.

Bridge Fold Kills Four

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP) — Four construction workers were killed and about eight were injured this morning when the staging of a bridge construction site collapsed, police said.

The bridge connects Portsmouth with Kittery, Maine.

The bridge, which spans the Piscataqua River, separating New Hampshire from Maine, had not yet been open to traffic.

TOMORROW

—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You may be resentful today and tonight unless you make a special effort to avoid thinking others are taking advantage of you. You must also realize that your work load is no more than most everyone else's. Put as much time and attention on the artistic and the cultural as possible.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Instead of fussing because there is some dull work to do, get at it and you will find you can easily clear the slate for the future with better things. Help those who are having trouble. Show generosity.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Try not to burden your friends with troubles you may be having, since they have plenty of their own. Handle personal matters first. These will take quite some time. Be happy tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to eJu2n1) Handle business affairs early. Show others you are a respected citizen. They may give assistance when needed most. Show more enthusiasm toward your own career.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Find the best way to bring new and fascinating interests into your life. Look into various modes of life, schools of philosophy, etc. Be more educated, well-informed.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Keep the promises you have made to others. They may be dull and uninteresting, buy have to be gotten out of the way. Get into those cultural things you like and which you have committed yourself. Be happy in the evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Show associates that you are conscientious to that they will deepen the relationship instead of trying to sever connections. If any trouble arises, you can handle it well. Be quiet.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Ideal day to get busy at whatever work will make your home more charming and life easier for you. Improve your health, also. See to it that wardrobe is improved.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Your desire for a good time is all right, but don't rely on friends who are too busy at this time to accompany you. A good movie would be ideal. Get those hobbies going. Pay your bills.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't start an argument at home or you will be unable to have the harmony there that you wish to establish. Eliminate causes of friction. Handle that business matter wisely.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get rid of inadequacies at home or other vital places where you work daily. Be tactful in answering telephone calls, etc. Don't say something you'll regret later.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Finances are on your mind, so be sure to think wisely and improve your position appreciably at this time. A business expert gives ideas that should be followed. Be happy with congenials tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You are not feeling up to par and want to get out of some personal obligation, but this would not be wise. The right treatment will perk you up quickly. Then you will see things differently.

Anti-Road Propaganda Blamed On Big Cities

AUSTIN (AP) — The president of the Texas Good Roads Association told the annual meeting Tuesday that most of the "anti-highway propaganda" is coming from the big cities.

The address by Charles F. Hawn, Athens, former state highway commissioner, opened the TGRA convention which will spend much of its time discussing the possibility that Congress may not renew the federal interstate highway act when it expires in 1972.

Hawn said he was "shocked" to hear booster of good highways "described as menaces to health, enemies of social values, despoilers of the environment and in general vicious enemies of the people.

"And all the while we were thinking the people liked good roads. And we all know they still do."

Hawn estimated "90 per cent of the violent anti-highway propaganda these days is coming out of a few crowded metropolitan areas from less than 10 per cent of the population."

In discussing the reapportionment of the Texas Legislature according to the 1970 census, Hawn made a personal prediction that "just a few metropolitan counties are going to have numerical control of both houses (in 1973).

"What this will mean to highway legislation will depend upon what highway legislation means to a few big cities," Hawn said.

Col. Donald Jones Departing Webb

COL. DONALD A. JONES

After two years as deputy commander for Materiel, at Webb Air Force Base, Colonel Donald A. Jones leaves Friday for Ubon, Thailand, where he will serve in the same position.

During his tour, several achievments were made in the complex and specifically in the managements and propulsion branches. The petroleum branch was selected for the second time in three years to represent Air Training Command for the American Petroleum Institute Award and the propulsion branch received the command nomination for the Air Force Daedalion Award.

As deputy commander for materiel, Colonel Jones was also responsible for the wing cost reduction program. Colonel Jones and the men under him were cited in 1969 by Lieutenant General Sam Maddux Jr., Air Training Command Commander, for having the best program in ATC. Colonel Jones expects to achieve the same recognition for fiscal year 1970.

Colonel Jones said, "My assignment at Webb has, I feel, been the most rewarding in my 27½ years of active duty. I leave Webb with regret of having to leave all the friends at Webb and Big Spring.

"One thing that makes Webb the outstanding organization that it is, is its people. I have never seen a group of people who individually and collectively strive so hard for excellence and superior performance. And this attitude is not only on the base, but is also permeated to the citizens and civic leaders in Big Spring."

Col. Jones was co-chairman of the housing and commercial committee of the base community council and was a member of the Big Spring Concert Association.

A command pilot, Colonel Jones has seen varied assignments in Europe and the South Pacific as well as the Pentagon. Colonel Jones' awards include the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with four Oak Leaf Clusters.

Upon his return from Thailand, Colonel Jones plans to ask for terminal assignment in the West Texas area.

The colonel and his wife, Alva, have four children.

Cannot Halt Enrollment

AUSTIN (AP) — The state College Coordinating Board cannot clamp enrollment ceilings on tax-supported colleges and universities, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

Martin issued an opinion to the board's chairman, Manuel DeBusk of Dallas, in a long-standing controversy between the board and Frank Erwin Jr., regents.

The board's master plan for senior colleges and universities sets maximum enrollments for the various schools and recommends new schools to absorb the growing college-age population.

Erwin has opposed on numerous occasions a part of the plan limiting the enrollment of the University of Texas at Austin to 35,000.

UT-Austin had about that many the past school year, and university officials estimate 40,000 will enroll in the fall.

Martin said the 1965 law establishing the coordinating board did not contain any provision authorizing it to limit the size of student bodies.

It can plan, Martin said, but "no language is therein contained for the execution of a plan."

Erwin told the board April 20 that UT regents had voted unanimously to oppose any enrollment limit."

Five Students Not Guilty Of Wounding

VICTORIA, Tex. (AP) — Charges of assault with intent to murder were dismissed against five students of Texas Southern University Tuesday.

Dist. Judge Joe E. Gelly ordered the charges dropped in Victoria, where the case was moved on a change of venue.

Although five were charged in the case, only Charles Freeman, 20, of Port Arthur was tried. His trial, conducted in the fall of 1968, resulted in a hung jury.

The five were charged in connection with the wounding of Robert G. Blaylock, a member of the Houston police force. Blaylock, was wounded in the leg during a demonstration May 16, 1967, at Texas Southern University, but he recovered.

Also charged were Trazawell Franklin Jr. of Houston, Floyd Nichols of Dallas, Douglas Wayne Waller of Houston and John Parker of Galesburg, Ill.

Another Houston policeman, Louis R. Kuba, was shot and killed the same night, and all five were charged in that case as well.

The charges were dismissed after Dist. Atty. William C. Sparks of Victoria and Dist. Atty. Carol Vance of Houston told the court there was "an insufficiency of evidence."

Fund Raising Idea

SALADO, Tex. (AP) — The Salado Citizen's Committee has set a July 18 barbecue as a fund raising project. The affair will be open to the public and money raised will be used to clean and beautify Salado Creek in the downtown area.

Polio Death?

SAN BENITO, Tex. (AP) — Cameron County Health Director Dr. John Copenhaver said Tuesday symptoms indicate that polio was the cause of death of an infant last week although this has not been confirmed.

He identified the victim only as a girl of the early age group who had not been immunized against polio.

Neighboring Hidalgo County has recorded two polio deaths earlier this year, he said.

How He Attacked Pretty Texas Teacher Described

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The prosecution entered into evidence Tuesday a statement from an Army helicopter pilot describing in vivid detail how he attacked a pretty teacher in the middle of the night last December.

"I again told her that if she yelled or screamed that I would kill her, and all she kept saying was 'Why, Why' ", the statement said in part.

The statement was presented on the first day of testimony in the trial of Warrant Officer Barry Gray, 20, of San Antonio, who is charged with the rape-stabbing of the petite brunette in her apartment Dec. 17.

The victim, 23, who has since recovered and married, took the witness stand earlier Tuesday to tell of her night of terror. She was found tied to her bed with a kitchen knife stuck in her neck after she managed to call police.

Defense attorneys, who are trying to prove temporary insanity, said they planned to call a psychiatrist to the stand today.

Gray's statement, taken the day of his arrest and read in full before the court, told of spending about four hours drinking at a lounge.

His statement said he returned to his apartment house and decided to stop at the victim's apartment, explaining he had earlier met her when he used her telephone.

When she opened the door, he said, "I told her that I wanted to ask her some questions about a correspondence course and I pushed the door open. I noticed that she was wearing a shorty night gown . . ."

After entering the apartment, "I then told her that I wanted to make love to her, and she started acting up and I slapped her a couple of times . . . I then told her to take her clothes off and go lay down in her bed. She seemed very afraid of me, and she took off all of her clothes . . ."

He then told of repeated sexual relations and how the victim "kept trying to yell, and kept trying to get to the phone, and I picked up a bottle and struck her over the head..."

He said he tied her on the bed, then got a butcher knife from the kitchen, "and I placed the point (of) the knife to her throat, and told her that if she said anything to anyone that I would kill her."

The statement continued: "I do not remember sticking the knife in her neck, but I remember all the blood on the bed . . ."

The victim told a similar story in her testimony, saying at one point:

"He said his father worked with probations or something, and 'I know this is rape' but he would be gone before anyone found out anything; but if he did get caught he would be out in a short while and would kill me."

Gray was on orders for Vietnam when arrested. The defense objected to admitting his statement as evidence but was overruled.

Eastern Star Chapter Performs Installation

Mrs. Marvin Steen was installed as worthy matron of Laura B. Hart Chapter 1019, Order of Eastern Star, in ceremonies held Saturday at Masonic Hall, 2101 Lancaster. Marvin Steen is worthy patron.

Others installed with Mr. and Mrs. Steen were Mrs. George MacConnell, associate matron; George MacConnell, associate patron; Mrs. Richard Mitchell, treasurer; Mrs. Gordon Hughes, secretary; Mrs. Charles Boland, conductress; Mrs. John Irwin, associate conductress; Mrs. J. H. Eastham, chaplain; and Mrs. J. A. Wright, marshall.

Also, Mrs. M. A. Webb, Adah; Mrs. W. E. Anderson, Esther; Mrs. E. A. Fiveash, Martha; Mrs. John Walling, Electra; Mrs. J. E. Felts, warder; and John Irwin, sentinel.

MRS. MARVIN STEEN

Mrs. Wright, the first worthy matron of the chapter, was installing officer, assisted by Mrs. Mitchell, marshall; Mrs. Arthur Eitzen, chaplain; Mrs. J. B Apple, organist; and Mrs. Ollie McDaniel, secretary.

Mrs. Apple played background music as candles were lighted by Cindy Williams and Kay Williams. The Bible was presented by the Steen's granddaughter, Sheree Steen, and the square and compasses by their grandson, Fred Steen Jr.

Mrs. David Yater sang "Open Mine Eyes."

Mrs. Steen announced her theme will be "Let your light so shine." Her motto is "Love and 'Service'", and her chosen colors are blue, white and gold. Her flowers are white carnations, and her Scripture Matthew 5:11 and 20:27. The illuminated star was chosen as her symbol.

Mrs. H. F. Jarrett presented her husband with a past patron's pin, and Mrs. Pyrle Bradshaw presented a past matron's pin to Mrs. Lois Marchbanks. The traveling jewel was presented to Mrs. Steen by Mrs. Marchbanks.

After a benediction by MacConnell, a reception was held with refreshments served by the Past Matron's Gavel Club. The decorations committee was composed of Mrs. MacConnell, Mrs. Charlies Boland, Mrs. John Irwin and Mrs. W. E. Anderson.

Ghetto Minister's Book Reviewed

"The Cross and The Switchblade," written by David Wilkenson, a New York City ghetto minister, was reviewed by Mrs. Julian Patterson at the Tuesday meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service, First United Methodist Church.

Wilkerson was an Assembly of God minister during the 1950's and worked to establish a youth center with activities to substitute for those of teenage gangs. He explained that teens joined gangs because of poverty and loneliness. In these gangs they learned to use drugs, sex and violence. Youths who refused to join the gangs were beaten, and some died, according to Wilkerson. He described the anger of the youths, most of whom had never been outside their ghetto.

In 1957, after five years of work, he had 2,300 youths converted to Christianity and had established the "Teenage Challenge" youth center. The book concluded with Wilkerson going to Chicago to start another youth center.

Mrs. Dale Vaughn presided, and Mrs. Thomas Corwin led prayer. Mrs. A. J. Stephens announced a School of Missions will be held in Abilene July 27-31. The next meeting will be July 28.

Mrs. J. Newman Is Party Honoree

A bridal shower honored Mrs. James B. Newman, the former Miss Barbara Todd, Tuesday afternoon in the home of Miss Virgie Allen, 2401 Morrison.

The refreshment table was covered with an avocado cloth overlaid with ecru lace. Gold mums and gladioli formed the centerpiece, and silver and crystal appointments were used.

Special guests were Mrs. Florence Casey, grandmother of the bride; Mrs. John Newman, her husband's mother; and Miss Carolyn Newman, sister-in-law of the bride.

Hostesses with Miss Allen were Mrs. John W. Carter, Mrs. David King, Mrs. Troy White, Mrs. Charles Phillips, Mrs. Luther Kelly, Mrs. Sherman Simmons and Mrs. Lonnie Zant.

Rebekahs Will Fete President

Plans were mde Tuesday by Big Spring Rebekah Lodge 284 to honor Mrs. Margaret Ayres, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Texas, who will visit Big Spring Thursday. A banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in Hotel Settles with Lodge 284 members as hostesses. They have invited representatives from John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge 153, Stanton, Snyder, Rule, Rotan and Haskell to participate at the banquet.

Mrs. E. V. Cockerham, noble grand, presided at the meeting, and Mrs. Lerla Johnson was initiated into the lodge. The 40 members present reported 61 visits to the sick. A salad supper was served.

Honored On Retirement

Mrs. J. K. Cunningham was honored with a pre-retirement party Tuesday at the Veteran's Administration Hospital by Red Cross volunteers. Mrs. Cunningham is retiring July 2 as Director of Voluntary Services.

A certificate of appreciation and a money tree were presented to Mrs. Cunningham by Mrs. W. N. Norred, hospital representative for Red Cross volunteers.

Hostesses were Mrs. Norred, Ms. A. W. Moody and Mrs. James Finfinger. Guests registered in a "retirement" book which was presented to the honoree.

The serving table was covered with pink linen bordered with white lace. An arrangement of pink and blue summer flowers formed the centerpiece, and silver and crystal appointments were used.

Flowery Fabrics Enhance Windows

To keep your windows from just hanging there and looking dull, try a few shady tricks. For instance, you can give a small bedroom a light and airy look by using white window shades and dainty flower-garden fabrics at windows. Pick a cotton print with tiny flowers sprinkled on a wide field of white. Complete the "flower garden" effect by laminating the floral cotton to the window shade.

Gift Party Fetes Miss Gwen Clark

A bridal shower was held Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Erven Fisher Jr., 2410 E. 24th, honoring Miss Gwen Clark, fiancee of Raymond Hattenbach.

Miss Clark was attired in a pale blue dress and was presented a white carnation corsage as was her mother, Mrs. Hubert Clark, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Douglas Hattenbach.

Cohostesses were Miss Cindy Johnson, Mrs. Henry Stewart, Mrs. Francis Johns, Mrs. Jim Holub, Mrs. Paul Garrett, Mrs. Ben Boadle and Mrs. William Sheppard.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white crocheted cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow daisies and carnations.

Multi-Color Vest Enhances Skirts

Bride-Elect Honored At Shower

Miss Vicki Lynn Vaughn, bride-elect of Larry Callihan, was honored at a bridal shower Thursday in the home of Mrs. L. C. Lawdermilk, 810 E. 14th.

Blue and white carnation corsages were presented to the honoreee, her mother, Mrs. Curtis Vaughn; and her fiance's mother, Mrs. Gladys Craver. Also attending were the prospective bridegroom's grandmothers, Mrs. E. G. Cauble Sr. of Big Lake and Mrs. S. A. Callihan.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Ray Morgan, Mrs. A. C. James, Mrs. Morris Molpus, Mrs. Garland Sanders, Mrs. H. P. Wooten, Mrs. Neil Norred, Mrs. Charles Girdner, Mrs. Robert Rodman, Mrs. Modehn Wyatt, Mrs. D. D. Johnston and Mrs. Alton Underwood.

A centerpiece of wedding bells and lovebirds accented a refreshment table covered with white linen and appointed with crystal and silver.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Harry Wood and Miss Kathy Coleman, both of Odessa, and Mrs. Douglas Cauble, Big Lake.

The couple will be married Aug. 15 in Trinity Baptist Church.

Miss Helen Ewing Is WSCS Hostess

Miss Helen Ewing, 709 E. 15th, was hostess for the Tuesday meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of Wesley United Methodist Church. Mrs. W. B. Morris led a Bible study of the Book of Galatians. Mrs. J. E. Peters, chairman of Lalla Baird Circle, presided, and Mrs. David Pohl worded the opening prayer. The next meeting will be Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Ben Boadle, 111 Jefferson. The Browder Circle will give the program.

Miss Movelda Rhine Will Guide B&PW

Mrs. Cass Hill conducted the installation of officers for the Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday evening in the Patio Room of Holiday Inn. Symbolic candles were lighted by each officer as she assumed her duties.

The new president is Miss Movelda Rhine, and serving with her are Mrs. J. B. Apple, first vice president; Mrs. Zula Reeves, second vice president; Mrs. Ruby Exline, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Bert Affleck, recording secretary; and Mrs. Delphia Gordon, treasurer. Following the installation, Mrs. Hill read the federation pledge.

The retiring president, Mrs. Weldon Nuckolls, expressed appreciation to the group and in her remarks, stressed quality of membership as well as quantity.

A moment of silent prayer was held for the late Mrs. Morris Gay, to whom the installation programs were dedicated.

The invocation was by Mrs. Mamie Roberts.

Colors of pale to hot pink were used in table decorations and menu programs. The dominant head table centerpiece was an arrangement of pink flowers and candles.

Hostesses were Mrs. E. W. Alexander, chairman; Miss Marie McDonald, cochairman; Miss Ruth Dyer, Mrs. Thelma Lewis and Mrs. George Dawson.

Cotton Lace Trims Add Bit Of Beauty

The wide variety of cotton sewing trims on the market includes dainty laces ideal for edging fancy petticoats or trimming yokes of party dresses. Cotton lace comes in narrow flat widths or wide ruffled versions. The heavy lace comes in floral designs, in white or creamy beige. It often resembles old-fashioned hand-crocheted edging.

Rainbow Girls Go To Dallas

Twenty-two girls and six adults from Big Spring Assembly 60, Order of Rainbow for Girls, have returned from attending the June 15-17 Grand Assembly in Dallas.

Girls attending from here were Sharon Andrews, Vicki Annen, Susie Barr, Linda Beaird, Lynette Coffee, Sandra Dickenson, Amy Gee, Tressa Huckabee, Phyllis Johnson, Zina Johnston, Paula Jones, LaNell Knowles, Jennie Kohanek, Ayne McGlothlin, Donna Morris, Debra Omstead, Colleen Permenter, Susan Smith, Cindy Stanley, Mary Alice Terrazas, Brenda Thomas and Kay Williams.

The adults accompanying the group were Mrs. Carl McGlothlin, Mrs. Don Williams, past grand worthy advisor; Mrs. Ray Thomas, Mrs. Louise Hamilton, Mrs. O. L. Nabors and Mrs. W. C. Fryar.

During the state meeting, Ayn McGlothlin served as Grand Hope, and Brenda Thomas was a member of the Grand Choir. Mary Alice Terrazas, Cindy Stanley and Mrs. Hamilton were in the Grand Guards. Voting delegates from the local assembly were Vicki Annen, Sharon Andrews, Susan Beaird and Ayn McGlothlin.

The local assembly reported the collection of 2,562 bundles of 10 nylon hose for use at Big Spring State Hospital, again winning top place in the state.

Mrs. O. L. Nabors, Grand Visitor for this area for the past year, received a grand appointment as Grand Visitor for another area. Miss Jean Sauze of Midland will be Grand Visitor for the Big Spring area.

En route home, the group toured the Eastern Star Home in Arlington and the Masonic Children's Home in Fort Worth.

AYN McGLOTHLIN

Elevated To Second State Post

Ayn McGlothlin, past worthy advisor of Big Spring Assembly 60, Order of Rainbow for Girls was installed as grand worthy associate advisor at the Grand Assembly held June 15-17 in Dallas.

Miss McGlothlin was recognized for her contribution to the order and was presented her eight-year certificate at the Grand Assembly. She served in the Grand Choir at a former session in Corpus Christi, and two years later she was appointed Grand Fidelity. Elected to Grand Faith, she advanced to Grand Hope after the resignation of the girl holding the post of Grand Charity.

A member of Phi Theta Kappa at Howard County Junior College, Miss McGlothlin plans to attend Baylor University and complete her education with a degree in English. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl McGlothlin, 2703 Apache.

Newlyweds To Reside In Stuttgart, Germany

Planning to make their home in Stuttgart, Germany, are WOI and Mrs. Daniel Raymond Stephenson who were married June 11 in the Chapel in the Woods at Denton. Rev. Jack Boggs performed the ceremony.

The bride, the former Susan Pope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Pope Jr., 4057 Vicky, graduated from Texas Women's University this month. The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sumter Stephenson of Enumclaw, Wash., is a warrant officer in the Army, having spent the past two years in Vietnam. His new station will be at Stuttgart.

Traditional nuptial selections were played as the couple stood before an altar illuminated with candles and graced with vases of gladioli, carnations and chrysanthemums.

The bride's gown of peau de soie featured lace and seed pearl trim at the neckline and on the long sleeves. The train extended from the shoulders, and her shoulder-length veil was held by a band of flowers, lace and pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses circling two orchids.

Mrs. Roger A. Hutton, Albuquerque, N.M., served as her sister's matron of honor, and another sister, Miss Debbie Pope of Big Spring, was maid of honor. Miss Barbara Caruthers of Roswell, N. M., was bridesmaid. They wore pink dotted swiss gowns, with daisies accenting the Empire waists, and pink picture hats. Each carried a nosegay of pink carnations.

Dan Talbot was best man, and ushers were Jim Pope of Big Spring, the bride's brother, and Bill Long of Mineral Wells. The groomsmen were Roger Hutton of Albuquerque, Jim Pope and Bill Long.

Alissa Hutton and Janet Hutton, both of Albuquerque, were flower girl and ring bearer.

The reception was held at Holiday Inn where Janice Lane registered guests. Those attending from out of town were C. A. Rose, Wichita Falls; Mrs. Jewel Boykin, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Verble, Mrs. Edwin Pope, Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Steward and Mrs. and Mrs. Jack Harbuck, all of Dallas; Mrs. Joyce Thompson, Berkely Heights, N. J.; and Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Steward Jr., Houston.

The refreshment table was laid with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink carnations. The tiered cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Baptists Study Minority Groups

A program on Baptist orientals in California was given Tuesday at the Women's Missonary Society meeting in Westside Baptist Church. Mrs. J. W. Trantham spoke on the Chinese, one of the largest minority groups in the state. The oldest and longest Chinese settlement is in San Francisco.

Mrs. J. O. Murphy discussed the Japanese and Koreans, saying most of the Southern Baptist mission work among the Japanese is done in the Los Angeles area. Also there is a flourishing church in San Jose. Mrs. J. A. Andrews told about the Baptist international exchange programs, and led prayer. The next meeting will be Tuesday.

Rebekahs Given Lodge Instruction

Mrs. Grady C. Beck, noble grand of John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge 153, presided at the Tuesday meeting in the IOOF Hall. Mrs. Everett Hood conducted lodge instruction, and Mrs. Jones Lamar reported on the progress of the IOOF home for the aged at Ennis.

Members wil serve cookies at Big Spring State Hospital July 6. Anyone wishing to contribute cookies may call Mrs. W. R. Loftis, 263-4568. The lodge will meet with Big Spring Rebekah Lodge 284 Thursday for a banquet honoring Mrs. Margaret Ayres, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Texas.

Eagles Auxiliary To Hold Supper

A salad supper was planned by the Eagles Auxiliary during Monday's meeting in Hotel Settles. The supper will be at 8 p.m. July 10 for members and guests. Four auxiliary members attended the state Eagles and auxiliary convention in Houston Friday through Sunday and will give their report July 13. Mrs. E. R. Brown was a guest.

Local Girl Honored In Waco

Miss Susan Lewis, who will be married July 11 to Larry Linder, was honored in Waco Friday with a miscellaneous shower hosted by Mrs. E. F. Hull, Mrs. Bob Koller and Mrs. J. T. Curbo.

Out-of-town guests were the honoree's mother and sister, Mrs. James G. Lewis and Nancy of Big Spring, and her fiance's sister, Mrs. Robert Hailey of Grand Prairie.

Miss Lewis, attired in a blue linen dress with white trim, was presented a corsage of miniature dahlias.

The registry held an arrangement of Shasta daisies and fern, and the gift table was accented with a miniature bride and an arrangement of dahlias. The refreshment table was covered with white linen, and punch was served from a crystal bowl circled with daisies and ferns. The cake was decorated with apricot flowers.

On Thursday evening, Mrs. and Mrs. Leon Dollens hosted a buffet dinner for the couple with 30 guests being seated at quartet tables laid with red and white checked cloths. The affair was a shower of household and yard articles for the prospective bridegroom.

Miss Lewis was attired in a white knit pantsuit with blue and green trim.

Cash-Poor Penn Central Left Waiting At Church Door

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Penn Central railroad loan guarantee, pure and simple, was just too hot a political potato to.

Like a bridegroom with second thoughts after a hasty proposal, the Nixon administration left the property-rich but cash-poor railroad waiting at the church door. Without the $200 million the government promised, the road went bankrupt.

The questions remaining: Why did the administration make the promises? Why did it back out? What happened in between?

"I think one of the problems was that this is an administration with a lot of big business people and a lot of bankers," says a top congressional aide in the thick of the negotiations.

"They run to the thinking of being in the business community, rather than the government community. They felt there was nothing better they could do for the country than help out banks and get them out of trouble."

The administration backed away from the loan, the aide says, because it "could never have defended the decision publicly. Apparently cooler heads prevailed. There was the chance that the government would lose sizable sums."

ELECTION YEAR

And a top official, who helped carry the ball for the White House, says "What really scared people was the potential for political mischief."

On one side was the administration with its friends, old ties and sympathies to big business —a vulnerable target on that score alone. On the other was a Congress, prodded by an unwavering Texas Democrat, unwilling to be criticized for possibly tossing away $200 million—or maybe more—in an election year.

According to the congressional aide, the decision was made in the high councils of government to help out the Penn Central "and then they went looking for a law to grant a loan under."

The vehicle decided on was the 1950 Defense Production Act, which provided a small or medium contractor could get a government guarantee to buy supplies necessary to carry out a specific contract. The act had never been used to bail out an ailing company.

The administration official explains the concern was that bankruptcy and receivership could disrupt the already inefficient operations of the Pennsy with serious repercussions on the financial market.

FAST LIKE

"The whole thing came up suddenly," he said. "The railroad began talking to Kennedy and Volpe in May."

Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy was at the May 7-10 gathering of the Business Council at Hot Springs, Va. Another who was there was Stuart T. Saunders, a Kennedy friend and Penn central board chairman until fired later in the month.

Banking and railroad officials also met with Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe that month.

Despite wide knowledge in the financial community about the railroad's troubles, the efforts of bankers with the government went publicly unreported until June 9. At that time the White House called in a number of congressional leaders into the office of Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott.

"They (the administration) arrived with large flip charts," says the congressional aide. "It was like a corporate session. They described the plight of the railroad and the seriousness of it and told of plans for the loan guarantee."

PATMAN STRIKES

The aide says Texas Democrat Wright Patman, chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, expressed serious concern over whether the Defense Department had the authority to lead the money. "To the Banking and Currency Committee it seemed a weird interpretation of the act as well as all the other questions it raised."

The administration official says Patman raised few questions at the meeting.

The official adds that "we went into the whole thing with a high degree of confidence we would get legislation" from Congress for $750 million loan guarantee authority to help the Penn Central and other railroads. The Defense Department would have been let off its $200 million hook once that authority was obtained.

$24 MILLION LOAN

"The whole thing hinged on the fact that the Defense Production Act would only be used for a short period," the official says, "on the theory it was the only power that the administration had.

"We had a definite interest in keeping the railroad running."

Confidence that Congress would buy the package, the official says, was prompted in part by the fact that Congress once before had set up such a fund—for the Interstate Commerce Commission between 1958 and 1963.

The Penn Central got a $24 million loan under the old ICC authority.

But Patman was still concerned. On June 11 he wrote Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, "the guarantee of hundreds of millions of dollars of capital to this corporation appears very risky under the figures presented by the administration . . . ."

He told the board he wanted a report on its procedures in its investigation of the credit-worthiness of the Pennsy. And, Patman announced, his committee would hold hearings into the matter the week of June 22.

INVESTIGATION

But on June 17, a committee staffer says, "we learned they had completed it (the loan investigation) and a courier was on a plane from New York with the papers, flying here to be met by someone from the Fed.

"He was going to meet him at the airport and drive to the Pentagon. It was really cloak and daggerish. They were continuing with the process despite the planned investigation. With the flight from New York we felt they were speeding things up to get around the investigation."

That night, Patman and five other members of his committee wired Navy Secretary John Chafee, urging "that you delay any final action on this matter until after the House Banking and Currency Committee has had a chance to thoroughly investigate this proposal."

At 8 a.m. the following morning, Patman telephoned David M. Packard, deputy secretary of defense, trying to persuade Packard to reconsider the plan.

GO AHEAD

The next day, June 19th, also at 8 a.m., Packard called back to say he had considered the proposal and felt he had to go ahead. Patman said he would rue the day.

That morning, at a committee hearing, Patman asked Comptroller Elmer Staats to investigate the entire matter. Staats promised the General Accounting Office would begin that afternoon.

There were continuous high level meetings among administration officials that day.

"The growing feeling that afternoon was that the political aspects began to outweigh the positive asset," says an administration official. "What really scared people was the potential for political mischief. We knew they'd make hay out of connections and bankers' interests, the involvement of Nixon's old law firm."

IN DOUBT

At 4:40 p.m. Patman again got a call from Packard. The deal was off. An announcement would be made shortly.

"In the light of growing uncertainty regarding the enactment of legislation," the Pentagon announcement said, it was decided not to go ahead with the guarantee. The White House was aware of the decision, a Defense Department spokesman said.

Storage Of Flammables Rule Change

New rules for storage of flammable liquid will affect Texas oil marketers throughout the state, Larry M. Cook of Mobil Oil told 35 persons attending the Texas Oil Jobbers Association workshop today at Howard County Junior College.

Cook illustrated a gasoline fire on a slide projector, which spurred house investigations concerning the storage and handling of flammable liquids.

The bill includes measures which protect existing structures from modification unless they pose some definite hazards as determined by the state fire marshal.

Calvin McIntosh, executive vice president of TOJA said the unique feature of the bill is the fact that the fire marshal for the first time would have authority to determine the safeness or unsafeness of storage facilities.

New rules affect only retail service stations and not bulk tanks.

Features would limit storage tanks in future stations to below ground construction. Installations must now conform to NFPA standards.

Following Cook, Irby Ford, assistant director of the motor fuels tax division for the state comptroller, discussed paying state taxes.

John Stoneham, Plainview, TOJA president, served on a panel with McIntosh in a discussion of service, diversification, imagination and profit building.

Big Spring's workshop is one of nine being conducted in Texas by TOJA to orient marketers and answer questions concerning HB 1070. The rules and regulations have not yet been adopted, but approval of the recommendations with minimal change expected.

VA Employes Exceed Goal

Big Spring Veterans Administration hospital employes have exceeded their goal of 80 per cent of all staff members participating in the U.S. Savings Bond purchase program.

The goal was 80 per cent participation; the final figure announced last week was 81 per cent.

Russell Hoover, bond chairman, reports that at the start of the campaign 179 employes were members of the Payroll Savings Plan and 205 employes were members by the closing date. Hoover added that 15 employes who were already plan members increased their allotment of monthly amounts to be placed in the savings plan.

Big Baby Bobcat Bites Bob Baker

Tuesday morning 16-year-old Paula Waters looked under a rosebush in her yard at 1806 Hearn.

She saw a tiny bobcat.

Paula told her brother Bobby, about it, and then decided to call her mother at work. Her mother said she should ask the man next door to come over and see what the trouble was.

He said it looked like a bobcat was under the rosebush.

They called the city animal warden, Bob Baker, who came out and decided to pick the animal up and put him in a dog cage in his truck.

Bobcats don't like to be picked up. This one bit Baker through a hole in his glove.

He managed to get it into the cage anyway. He took the cat to Thomson's Veterinary Clinic, where it can be kept until somebody figures out what to do with it.

Roscoe Turner, Greatest Speed Flier Of '30s, Dies

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Col. Roscoe Turner, America's greatest speed flier of the 1930s, died Tuesday after a long illness. He was 74.

Turner was the only three-time winner of the Thompson Trophy back in the prop plane era. His pet lion "Gilmore" flew 25,000 miles with Turner in the early 1930s while the flier, a native of Corinth, Miss., was building up a reputation as a racer, an air show performer and a movie stunt pilot. Turner's movie credits included "Hell's Angels" and "Flight at Midnight."

He joined the Army ambulance service in World War I but transferred to the Army Air Corps and learned to handle both observation balloons and fighter planes.

He organized an aerial circus after the war and toured the South with a program that included stunt flying, wing walking and parachute jumps.

Turner set a transcontinental passenger plane flight record of 20 hours 20 minutes from New York to Los Angeles in 1929. He cut it to 18 hours 10 minutes going back with the help of a tail wind.

He won the Thompson Trophy race in 1932 but was disqualified on a technicality. He came back and won it officially in 1934, 1938 and 1939.

He received the Harmon Trophy as America's best speed pilot in 1933 and 1939.

He formed the Roscoe Turner Aeronautical Corp., a flight school, sales and service facility, at Indianapolis Weir Cook Airport in 1939. He was board chairman at the time of his death.

Defendant Denies Having Alleged Robbery Weapon

"Did you ever own or did you own in April of 1966 either a small Western .22 revolver or a big black revolver?"

"No," Carroll Trantham answered his attorney in 118th District Court today as the last witness in his own behalf on a charge that he robbed Vernon's Liquor Store in 1966.

Such a gun had been described by employes of the store as being the weapon used in an armed robbery of the store.

Trantham testified that on the night of the robbery, April 16, 1966, he worked at the Cactus Drive-Inn owned by his family, later to be joined by his wife and together they went to Lou's Cafe. Trantham further testified that he then returned home and stayed there.

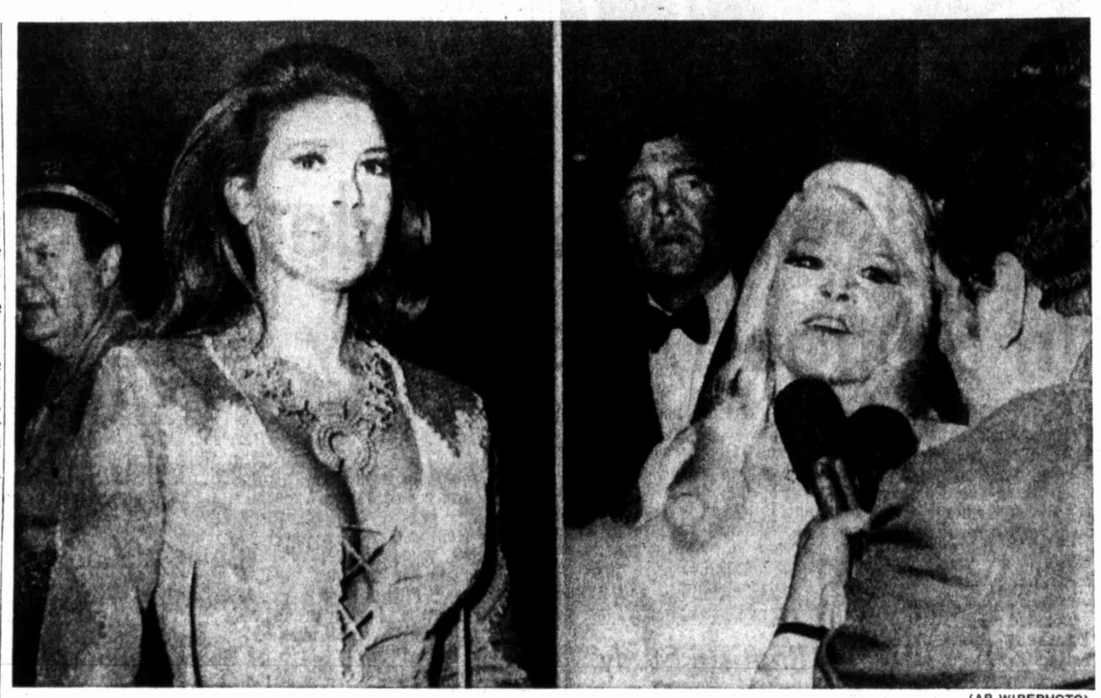

Betty Altom and Peggy McCarty testified Tuesday afternoon that they had seen Trantham in Lou's Cafe at approximately 9 p.m. April 16, 1966, which was the time of the robbery.

A. A. Zollinger, operator of a liquor store near Lou's Cafe, testified that Trantham came into his store shortly after being seen at the cafe.

Trantham concluded his testimony with a description of his activites prior to the robbery and the means by which he said he learned that the robbery had taken place.

After court's recess, Judge R. W. Caton and Gil Jones, Dick Milstead, defense attorneys, and Wayne Burns, prosecuting attorney, discussed objections to certain evidence admitted by the defense.

Members of the jury for Trantham's case are Talmadge F. Bolding, Carl A. Carlsson, Howard Chancellor, Walter L. Wheat, Judson H. Lloyd, Tony O. Baeza, Fred Blalack, Fred A. Smith, Jesse P. Reid, O. L. Nabors, W. H. McMurray, and James Renfro.

Doubt Cast On Hospital Job

Officials of Medical Center Memorial Hospital are taking a wait-and-see attitude on President Nixon's veto of the $1.26 billion extension of the Hill-Burton hospital aid program.

Norman Knox, administrator, said board members are waiting to see whether the House of Representatives will override the veto Thursday.

Last month, with the creation of a Howard County Hospital authority by the commissioners court, Medical Center Memorial took steps to turn over its assets to the authority, which applied for a $1 million grant. This would be used in part in a projected $2.6 million expansion of the facilities. Howard County Hospital authority's application was said to have been high on the list.

William Collier, of the Health Facilities Construction Division of the Texas Health Department which administers the Hill-Burton funds in the state, said Tuesday his department has about 60 applications pending totaling about $143 million.

Lubbock Methodist Hospital and Midland Memorial Hospital are among hospitals requesting money for construction and modernization of hospital facilities. Each requested $1 million.

AMA Is 'Shocked' By Nixon's Veto

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Hospital Association has told President Nixon by telegram it is "shocked" by his veto of an extension of the Hill-Burton hospital construction program.

The association asked state and metropolitan hospital associations Tuesday to urge their congressmen to vote to override the veto.

In the telegram, Mark Berke, association president, said the veto "jeopardizes the extension of facilities required to meet the health care needs of the citizens of this country."

Charge Filed

Moses Flores Jr., 17, 209 N. Goliad was charged Tuesday with the statutory rape of a 17-year old girl. He was booked by Justice of the Peace Walter Grice and returned to county jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Juvenile Cases

Juvenile Officer Keith Jones was to take a pre-teenage boy to West Texas Boys Ranch west of San Angelo sometime today. Action is pending on another boy, 15, referred by city police for drunkenness.

Alleged Irregularities In SC Primary Voiced

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The Rev. Ralph Abernathy said today civil rights workers told him hundreds of official ballots were circulated before Tuesday's run-off Democratic primary in which incumbent Rep. John L. McMillan defeated a Negro challenger.

McMillan, 72-year-old chairman of the House District of Columbia Committee, had no comment on the charges except to say he had heard about them.

Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said he learned of the alleged irregularities from SCLC workers campaigning in the 6th District for McMillan's opponent, Dr. Claud Stephens.

It was the second charge of voting irregularities from the SCLC, which earlier said ballots marked for McMillan had been found the day before the election.

Abernathy said he would make an official request for an investigation by the U.S. Justice Department.

McMillan, according to unofficial returns from all precincts, had 45,918 votes to 18,633 to Stephens, a 38-year-old political newcomer.

The turnout was about 12,000 more than in the first primary June 9, when McMillan failed by 543 votes to gain the necessary majority over Stephens and two white opponents.

The increased voting was attributed largely to campaigning by the SCLS and the United Citizens party, a black political unit.

Quick Look At Elections

By The Associated Press

New York Primary

Arthur J. Goldberg, 61, former Supreme Court justice, Tuesday defeated upstate plastics millionaire Howard Samuels, 50, for the Democratic nomination to face Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller this fall.

Rep. Richard L. Ottinger was the victor in a four-man senatorial primary to oppose GOP Sen. Charles E. Goodell. State Sen. Basil Paterson of Harlem became the first Negro nominated for lieutenant governor in the state.

Veteran Reps. Adam Clayton Powell and Leonard Farbstein, both of Manhattan, lost bids for renomination.

S.C. Congressional

Rep. John L. McMillan won Democratic renomination, defeating Dr. Claud Stephens, a Negro by a wide margin in a runoff election.

Antiwar Vote

A resolution on the Boulder, Colo., municipal election ballot which urged prompt withdrawal of U.S. forces from Southeast Asia was defeated by 289 votes-4,690 to 4,401.

West Fifteenth and Gregg: Charles E. Coleman, Odessa, one car only; 6:01 a.m. today.

Suits Filed As Mishap Result

Two suits totaling $56,950 have been filed in 118th District Court against Leroy Hollingshead as a result of an accident May 5 involving cars driven by his daughter, Carole, and Mrs. John (Lupe) Guillen.

Mr. and Mrs. Guillen are asking $22,000 damages for injuries received by Mrs. Guillen, and $5,000 for a miscarriage which they allege resulted from the collision.

In a separate suit, Mr. and Mrs. Patricio Rodriguez are asking $28,000 for injuries received by Mrs. Rodriguez, $1,000 for injuries received by their daughter Patricia, 13, and $950 for replacement of their car which was being driven by Mrs. Guillen.

Carole Le Hollingshead was traveling east in the south lane of Fourth Street and Mrs. Guillen was driving south on Benton at the time of the accident.

Judge Rules Allegations Of Slander Not Justified

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Jack Roberts ruled Tuesday that allegations of slander, brought in a suit for a former superintendent of a state school for the mentally retarded, were not justified.

Roberts also ruled that there was not a federal question involved in the suit, brought by Dr. Floyd E. McDowell, the former superintendent of Richmond State School.

The ruling in effect dismissed the suit. McDowell claimed in the suit that he was wrongfully dismissed and he demanded a public hearing on the matter. His attorney, Dave Richards of Austin, indicated he may appeal the decision.

The former superintendent also charged he was pressured into admitting the mentally retarded son of state Sen. Wayne Connally of Floresville and to hire a former legislator, Myra Branfield.

One of the defendants named in the suit was McDowell's former deputy commissioner for mental retardation, Dr. Charles Barnett.

Barnett admitted in testimony Tuesday that he ordered McDowell to admit the Connally child into the school.

But he said he did not recommend that McDowell be fired only on the basis of his refusal to admit the Connally child, but because of "his attitude and a culmination of events which had occurred over a two-year period of time."

DUBCEK OUSTED AGAIN — Alexander Dubcek has been removed from his post as Czechoslovakian ambassador to Turkey, Prague Radio announced Wednesday. In August, 1968, Dubcek was ousted as Communist party chief in Czechoslovakia after the Russian invasion of his country.

Barnett testified that one of those events was a report he received that McDowell had called him or Dr. John Kinross-Wright "sons-of-bitches" at a meeting of parents of retarded children at Richmond's State School in May of 1968.

Kinross-Wright, who was also named as a defendant in the suit, recently resigned as commissioner of the State Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

McDowell and members of the Richmond school staff had testified that they reviewed the admission papers of the Connally child but found him to be "moderately retarded" whereas the school program was designed for the severely retarded. They said this was the basis of their recommendation not to admit the child.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: There is one thing that has irked me for 13 years. My son's wife makes a point of seating HER father at the head of the table whenever she has a dinner party.

I have sworn to myself that the next time she does this I would get up and leave, but I never do. I am afraid one of these times I will burst.

This son of mine is no slouch. He's a big, handsome guy. Former football player, a good husband, and has a good job. He is also a gentleman. Perhaps it would be best if I just refused future invitations to dinner. Am I a fool? IRKED NO END

DEAR IRKED: I wouldn't call you a "fool" — but I do think you are needlessly exercised over a trivial incident. Rather than indicating a lack of respect for her husband (if that's what you read into your daughter-in-law's seating arrangement) perhaps she is attempting to show "special respect" to her father. The two are not necessarily "competing." In any case, it's her dinner table, and if her husband feels put down, let HIM speak up.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: When a woman takes a married man away from his wife and family, do you think that woman can ever be happy with that man? SAN CARLOS

DEAR SAN: Sometimes. She's like the woman who buys a secondhand washing machine. She doesn't care where it came from — as long as it works.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I think you are wrong! I taught my children to answer the telephone with, "WHO IS THIS?" And if the party on the other end doesn't identify himself, I tell my children to hang up.

This telephone is installed for MY convenience, and I see no reason why people should object to identifying themselves. They wouldn't think of calling a business office and asking to talk to the boss without identifying themselves first! STATEN ISLAND

DEAR STATEN: Listen carefully, Please:

I, too, believe all telephone callers should identify themselves. We disagree only on what the child is taught to say when he answers the telephone. In my opinion, "WHO IS THIS?" is rude.

A simple "HELLO" is proper, after which the caller is given a chance to identify himself, and ask, "May I speak to your mother?" If the caller does not identify himself, the child should then ask, "Who is calling, PLEASE?" This should offend no one.

But a child who answers the phone with, "WHO IS THIS?" offends many.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I applaud your stand on "drop in" callers. Keep it up. I don't even go to my door anymore. When they phone later to say they "heard" someone inside, I say, sweetly, "O, if you had called beforehand I would have gone to my door."

I resent their taking away our option to see them or not as WE choose. But maybe that's their idea. MONTEREY

Lady Bird Gets Two Tickets After Accident

AUSTIN (AP)—A policeman has given Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson two traffic tickets alleging she failed to yield right of way and failed to display a driver's license after the former first lady was involved in a minor two-car smash-up.

Nobody was hurt in Tuesday's collision.

Patrolman Ken Muennink said two Secret Service men were at the scene of the West Austin accident when he arrived. They asked him to let Mrs. Johnson leave, he said, but Mrs. Johnson volunteered to stay if she was needed. Muennink said he told her she could depart and then issued her tickets to a Secret Service agent.

Some disposition must be made of the traffic charges in corporation (municipal) court within 12 days, a police captain said.

Muennink said damage to Mrs. Johnson's car was estimated at $800 to $900 and the other car sustained damage estimated at $150. The right rear door and fender of Mrs. Johnson's car were crumpled.

The accident occurred at the corner of Indian Trail and Dormarion in West Austin, not far from the home of Mrs. Johnson's daughter, Mrs. Patrick Nugent.

A fire truck later washed down a pool of gasoline left by the accident.

Unlucky Eleven Killed In Action

Ex-Bankers Admit Guilt

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP) — Dwight L. Moody, former president of the Lone Star National Bank in Lone Star, and J. B. Tucker Jr., former vice president, pleaded guilty to misapplying funds and will be sentenced Monday.

Moody was alleged to have misapplied $62.79 by cashing a check made out to the General Telephone Co. Tucker was said to have misapplied $31 in a check made out to J. B. White.

The original indictment charged the misappropriation of larger funds, but a motion is pending to dismiss the earlier charges filed.

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — The Midland County Historical Society has placed a marker at the site of the county's first bank, the First National Bank of Midland which opened in July, 1890.

Nursing Unit Added At VA

A new 25-bed nursing home care unit will begin operation July 1 at the Veterans' Administration Hospital.

The facility is designed for those veterans who will require the type of skilled care found in a nursing home.

The nursing home unit will be for long-term patients requiring constant care. The unit may be expanded each year, according to Mrs. Dene Shepherd of the hospital's medical administration services.

Activities for the patients to be placed in the unit are being planned. Picnics for the patients will be held twice a month and plans for sight-seeing trips are being set. The unit will include an area for gardening, and each patient will have his own plot to work if he wishes. The hospital has a putting green for all patients which the home unit patients will be able to use. Golf clubs and balls are furnished by the hospital.

Dominoes and television will be other amusements offered to the patients. There will be television sets, furnished by volunteer services, in each individual's room. The volunteer service already pays for cable TV at the hospital.

Mrs. Shepherd says that the unit will require more volunteer help, and that the volunteers will work more closely with these patients because they are long-term.

$85,000 Deal

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Harber, Inc. of Dallas, has purchased a 20-acre tract of land for $85,000. The land is adjacent to the proposed Loop Nine artery soon to be constructed.

'More Humane' Crowd Clamp Tactics Urged

AUSTIN (AP) — A state agency should take steps to make police departments better able to deal justly with minority groups, Gov. Preston Smith's Human Relations Committee has recommended.

The committee said the Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education Commission should require police departments to have "more humane" crowd control techniques.

In addition, the committee said, the police departments should give awards for good community relations, provide strict and immediate action in cases of abuse of suspects, and set up community-level conferences between police, lawyers, district attorneys and community leaders.

The committee's recommendations go to the legislature in a report due Nov. 1.

Other commission recommendations Tuesday included:

—New laws establishing state housing and construction codes and open housing.

—Payment of replacement value instead of market value to home owners displaced by urban renewal. Members pointed out that payments for slum houses are not large enough for the displaced owners to find other homes that are adequate.

—A $1.60 state minimum wage instead of the present $1.25.

—Free school lunches for all needy children, who would receive lunch tickets identical to those of other children.

—"Greatly expanded" guidance counseling in schools with large numbers of minority children, with "qualified and sensitive" counselors recruited from all racial groups.

—Establishment of a state fair employment practices commission "To insure equal employment of all Texans regardless of race, color, religion, national origin, age and sex."

—A legislative study of the selection of grand and petit jurors.

—Regular physical and psychological evaluation of policemen.

—Establishment of the committee as a permanent, independent state agency.

Three Indicted

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Sandra Poteet, 25, John L. Pruett, 23, and Winston Ashford, 25, have been indicted by a Dallas County Grand Jury for murder in the death of her husband. The body of Denny J. Poteet of Arlington was found May 12 in Grand Prairie.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SECTION B — BIG SPRING, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 24, 1970 — SECTION B

Fireman Bid For Shorter Week Tabled By Council

City firemen did not go home empty handed Tuesday, nor did they get exactly what they asked for.

The city commissioners agreed last night to increase the city's contribution to the Firemen's Pension Fund, while postponing action on the requested 63 hour work week.

Fire Chief H .V. Crocker cited the report of an actuary called in to evaluate the retirement fund for Fire Department employes. It recommended two changes in the program to update the pension system and increase monthly benefits.

MORE FOR PENSIONS

The first suggestion was put into effect immediately with the conversion of funds formerly invested building and loan interest rates into bonds with higher interest rates.

The second recommendation was a 1 per cent increase in the employe payment into the pension fund, matched by an equal increase on the part of the city. The city and the firemen were already sharing equally in the pension fund payments at the rate of 5 per cent each.

The commissioners' approval of the request will cost the city about $3,145 each year for the present 49 employes. The firemen will match the funds, about $5.35 out of each man's monthly pay.

Roy Anderson, assistant city manager, asked the commission to also look into the retirement benefits offered to other city employes, but no action was taken.

The commissioners tabled the proposed 63-hour work week for city firemen until the budget hearing for next year.

Firemen wanted a reduction from 72 to 63 hours worked each week. They proposed closing Station Number Six at 14th and Air Base Road to reduce the number of men required on each shift.

Crocker pointed out that all calls are now at the central station and relayed to Number Six, so that the booster unit at the central station would need only two extra minutes to arrive at a fire in that area.

The booster unit at Number Six has had only 18 calls this year, all grass or trash fires. A system engineer for the State Insurance Commission told Crocker that the closing of the station likely will not affect insurance rates for that area.

Crocker listed the hours worked by firemen in five nearby cities, none of which exceed 63 hours. He said this makes it more difficult to hire and keep a better class of men for the Big Spring department.

WANTS COMMITMENT

Commissioner Eddie Acri made two motions calling for acceptance of the proposal with the closing of the station, as long as insurance rates are not affected.

Commissioner George Zachariah asked that definite action be postponed until the insurance commission makes a definite commitment on the insurance rates. He also suggested that studies be made of hours worked by city firemen in places comparable in size to Big Spring.

The commission accepted Mayor Arnold Marshall's suggestion that the proposal be worked out fully in time for the next budget hearings, so that it can be seen as "part of the big picture."

Council Okays More Coverage

City Commissioners Tuesday night adopted a plan to give the city comprehensive general liability insurance coverage through the end of the fiscal year.

Outlining a report from the city insurance committee, Assistant City Manager Roy Anderson said the city needed to extend coverage beyond the area now insured to safeguard against major damage claims resulting from widened governmental liability under the new Tort Claims Act, also as a ledge against what appears to be an increased willingness on the part of private citizens to seek damages from the city.

Representatives of the Big Spring Insurance Association estimated the cost of $1,000 deductible coverage through the remainder of the fiscal year on that city property not presently insured would run between $3,000 and $3,500.

MAYBE MORE LATER

At the end of the fiscal year, Sept. 30, the commission will consider the insurance committee's recommendation that all city property go under the new plan for an estimated $17,500 annual premium. City vehicles and the swimming pools are now covered by non-deductible insurance costing $8,203 annually.

Anderson said the committee's recommended plan would provide insurance protection on all city property, including streets, sidewalks, and machinery, except for the water and sewage treatment plants. He recommended that these two items be included in coverage eventually.

Representing the insurance association, Wendell Parks and Jerry Mancill told the commission the insuring company would send an engineer to go over the city property rolls to "make sure we left no exposures" in coverage. Some question had been raised on this point at previous meetings when Commissioner George Zachariah and Mayor Arnold Marshall had suggested employing a consulting firm, Rimco of Dallas, to examine the city's property and determine the best route for coverage.

TIME TO ACT

Commissioner Wade Choate, a member of the insurance committee, said the committee agreed that the Dallas firm's consulting fee of about $3,000 was too expensive. Anderson had said earlier that the insurance association's plan to send in the engineer would purpose as hiring a consultant.

"I think we've procrastinated long enough," Choate, a member of the insurance committee, serve essentially the same said. "It's time we do something." The other commissioners agreed after hearing Anderson's report and the words of City Attorney Herb Prouty to the effect that the city would almost certainly be involved in more suits in the future.

WITH OTHER AGENCIES

City Joins In Request For Joint Operations Survey

The city joined with other Howard County governing agencies Tuesday night in requesting a "service delivery system" study of governmental operations by the Texas Research League.

Winston Wrinkle, vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, appeared before the commission to request Mayor Arnold Marshall's signature on a letter requesting the study, which had previously been signed by County Judge Lee Porter and School Trustee President Joe A. Moss.

Wrinkle said the TRL is a non-profit organization whose sole purpose is undertaking such research projects across the state. He said the league representatives who met with the chamber Governmental Affairs Task Force had expressed an interest in making a study of the Howard County area, but that the local region is in competition with other areas also wanting a study.

Should TRL come to Big Spring, its representatives will explore methods of economizing government function both through the current statutory and constitutional framework and through the legislative process, Wrinkle said.

Even if Howard County should be the site of such a study, it is unlikely that research will be completed in time for the next legislative session.

Recent overtures by local city and county officials, and endorsed by the C-C governmental affairs task force to combine taxing functions have been rebuffed by the state attorney general's opinion that legislation is the only way such a combination can be accomplished.

History Survey Panel To Meet

Members of the Howard County Historical Survey Committee will meet at 7 p.m. today at First Federal Savings and Loan Association, according to Jerry Worthy, chairman. The session will precede an open meeting at 7:30 p.m. when Diana Fields of the State Historical Survey Commission will be the resource person in efforts to organize a local museum association.

Purchase Of Garbage Truck Authorized, Funds Nebulous

City Commissioners Tuesday authorized the acceptance of bids on a new garbage truck amid speculation as to where the money to buy it will come from.

Other action included denial of a claim for $1,436 in damages caused by flooding, also the acceptance of a bid to furnish the city gasoline for the next six months.

Acting Public Works Director Bo Anderson said the city needed to replace a 1964 model sanitation truck that had been overhauled four times and asked that the city accept bids for the new truck July 21.

UNDERSHOT

The truck was included in anticipated purchases from the garage fund in the current budget, but is expected to cost $2,000 to $3,000 more that the $12,125 budgeted. City Manager Larry Crow said the budget estimate apparently undershot the actual cost of the truck's packer body and lift.

The commission agreed to accept bids, but discussed generally the scarcity of money in the garage fund. Part of the fund was used to purchase a $36,000 unbudgeted tractor for the landfill site, Eddie Acri, who voted against the tractor purchase, pointed out.

Marion Ransom's request for $1,434.86 to repair damage caused by a flooding incident was denied.

FAUCET FLOOD

Ransom said city crews had turned off the water at his residence, 409 Ohio, while he was away at work and had failed to notify him. His sister came to his house to do some dishwashing and discovered the water had been cut off. She left the house and left a kitchen faucet turned on, and the sink plugged.

When Ransom returned from work, the water had been turned back on and a rush of water met him at the door, he said. His claim was denied unanimously.

The commission accepted Mobil Oil Company's low bid of $.1622 per gallon on regular and $.1822 per gallon on premium gasoline to be used by the city in the six months beginning July 1. K. H. McGibbon, Chevron Oil Company, and Gulf Oil Company also bid.

OTHER ITEMS

In other action the commission:

Called a public hearing for July 7 at 11 a.m. on annexation of the Intech Industrial site on Lorilla.

Appointed Eddie Acri to the Community Action Association board.

Approved on-premises beer sales for the Taco Tico restaurant in Coronado Plaza. Mrs. Willie L. McKinney appeared on this request.

Approved a zone change to heavy commercial for a 1.3 acre tract adjacent to the Gandy creamery. The land is owned by Hartman Hooser who appeared in his own behalf.

Approved payment of the city's vouchers for the past two weeks.

AMA Opposes Warning In Packages Of 'Pills'

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Medical Association has promised a broad legal and legislative battle against a plan by the Food and Drug Administration to include a health warning in packages of contraceptive pills.

But FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards defended the use of a lay language warning about oral contraceptives as a "communications insurance policy" in the best interests of the patient.

The AMA's House of Delegates, meeting Tuesday at the organization's 119th annual convention, approved a resolution attacking the FDA plan as "a dangerous departure from present practice."

Dr. Edwards announced on June 10 that the health warning should be included with packages of the pill within 90 days.

The warning would point out possible dangerous side effects, such as an increased risk of blood clotting.

The AMA resolution asserted the proposal "intrudes on the patient-physician relationship" and would "interfere with the physician's decision to prescribe drugs by exerting undue influence."

Edwards, speaking to the Midwest Pharmaceutical Advertising Club, told the drug industry it would be "enlightened self interest" to supply more useful information about drugs in its medical communications to doctors.

"I think," the FDA chief said, "we tend to lose track of the fact that you are not selling new cars or TV sets, but rather you are selling products to professionals whose only reasons for being is the health and well-being of the people."

As for the required warning on contraceptive pills, he said:

"Our action was intended to supplement rather than intrude upon the normal doctor-patient relationship, and indeed in our judgment need not intrude. The physician has the same opportunity he has always had—to communicate with the patient at the time the prescription is written.

"The provision for the lay language insert is, rather, a kind of single 'communications insurance policy' in the patients' interest. The essential consideration in this case—for a physician, for a manufacturer, and for FDA—had to be the protection of the patients' interest."

Record Budget

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A record $62.1 million city budget proposal, $5 million higher than the current outlay of $57.1 million, was forwarded to the city council Tuesday.

It is based on the present tax rate of $1.89 per $100 real property valuation and calls for no tax hike.

No Quorum, No School Board Meet

"It's the first time in the nine years I've been on the board that we haven't had a quorum," Joe Moss, president of the trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District, said Tuesday night.

Trustees were to have spent the evening discussing possible solutions to problems with the closed campus at high school and with formal graduation exercises with John F. Smith, high school principal, and to have heard an appraisal of school programs from Lynn Hise, assistant superintendent of instruction.

However, when only Roy Watkins and Moss had appeared by 8 p.m. Moss declined to call the meeting to order, and he and Watkins held a roundtable discussion with members of the administration.

Unable to be at Tuesday's meeting were Grant Boardman, Jimmie Taylor, Delnor Poss, A. K. Guthrie and Mrs. R.B.G. Cowper.

NO COMMENCEMENT?

Problems with "each class trying to outdo the one before" were discussed. Supt. S. M. Anderson said that already rumors are circulating that the 1971 graduation will be disrupted, and he said it might reach the point where the exercises should be canceled.

"Somebody might like to ask whether these kids want a formal graduation," Watkins suggested.

Smith told the group that enrollment figures are expected to be down by about 40 students next year, and that enrollment is also down in the science and foreign language programs.

The recent approval by President Nixon of the right to vote provision for 18-year-olds was also discussed. Smith told the group that most seniors become 18 before they graduate from high school.

The seniors are the ones who have complained the most about the closed campus, some saying they consider it an insult.

ATTENDANCE AGE

"What about a senior campus which would operate more on a junior college type basis," Moss asked. Anderson and Smith both indicated such an arrangement would be impractical.

Moss also asked about lowering the mandatory attendance regulation to 16. Anderson said the secondary principals association had gone on record as being against the raising of the proposal several years ago from 16 to 17.

"Maybe we're just keeping them in school too long," Moss said.

Hise's appraisal was postponed until a future board meeting, and Smith was invited to attend another board meeting to discuss the problems with the remainder of the school board. Assistant principals John Talmadge and Ray Pope were also present for the discussion.

Miller At Parley

Leon Miller, new volunteer services director at the VA Hospital, is attending the Administrative Conference of directors of Voluntary Services at Dayton, Ohio, today.

The conference began Tuesday and ends today. Miller, who joined the staff June 15, is attending the conference in connection with his new post.

Tenneco Is Still Texas' Largest

HOUSTON — Latest figures show that Tenneco Inc. remains the largest parent company headquartered in Texas on the basis of year-end totals used by Fortune magazine in its recent annual survey of the 500 largest U.S. industrial corporations.

Tenneco's assets of $4.054 billion placed the company 17th among the nation's 500 largest, and 1969 earnings of $165 million put it in 24th place nationally.

Tenneco, headquartered in Houston, began the decade of the 1960's with assets of $1.438 billion and net income of $52.4 million.

Tenneco is a diversified industrial complex with operations in manufacturing, natural gas pipelines, oil, chemicals, packaging, land use and investments.

YOU ARE THE WINNER...

when you buy the NEW, WIDE

Firestone "500"

PASSENGER CAR TIRES ALL NEW for 1970, and BETTER THAN EVER

- New "78" design for the wide, low look of the 70's
- New "noise treatment" for quieter operation
- New concave-molded construction to put the entire tread width on the road
- New higher cord angle (60°) for improved handling
- New wider, deeper 7-rib tread design for better mileage and traction

All comparisons relate to previous "500"

Look what Firestone did!

1. Retained all the highway speed capabilities....yet gave you greater mileage! Most people buy "500" tires because they're strong. But you'll be happy to know the new "500" will deliver great mileage . . . even better than the previous "500"!
2. Improved the traction as much as 30%! The new wide "500" tire is nearly one inch wider than its predecessor, and concave molded. This puts the entire tread footprint flat on the road for faster stopping on wet, slippery pavement.
3. Restyled the sidewall to give you the sportiest-looking tire of them all! It has two raised white stripes plus raised white 500 numerals. This tire really stands out in a crowd . . . gives your car real class.

After he beat hepatitis, the Atlanta Braves were hardly a problem for Bill Singer.

Singer, making only his third start after spending 52 days on the disabled list recuperating from hepatitis, pitched hitless ball for 7 2-3 innings Tuesday night as Los Angeles trimmed Atlanta 7-0.

Clete Boyer busted up Singer's no-hit bid with a two-out single in the eighth and the weary Dodger right-hander was immediately lifted. Pete Mikkelsen, from whom Singer contracted the liver disease in spring training, finished up, allowing the Braves' other hit in the ninth.

Until Boyer's single, Singer had allowed only one base runner, walking Hank Aaron in the fourth.

Elsewhere in the National League Monday, New York edged Chicago 12-10 in 10 innings, Montreal nipped Philadelphia 2-1, Pittsburgh rapped St. Louis 7-2, Cincinnati trimmed San Francisco 5-3 and Houston edged San Diego 2-1.

6-RUN FIGHT

The Dodgers broke their game open with a six-run fifth inning with the first run scoring on a bases-loaded walk to Singer. Bill Grabarkewitz and Manny Mota each drove in two runs in the rally.

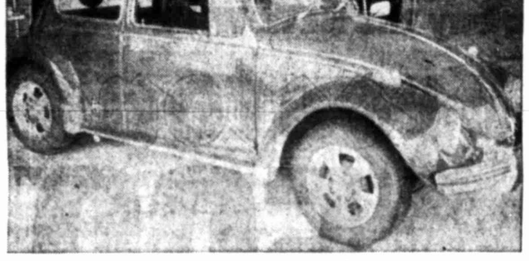

After, that, LA concentrated on protecting Singer's no-hit bid. In the seventh and eighth innings, the Dodgers stationed their second baseman and shortstop on the edge of the outfield grass to try and preserve it. That's where they were when Boyer's solid hit shot past the pitching mound.

As soon as that happened, Singer was lifted to a standing ovation.

Singer was sidelined from April 22 until June 14 and Tuesday's game was only his third start since returning to the active roster. Just wait until he regains his strength.

The Mets rallied for the tying runs with two out in the ninth on a single by Ken Boswell and then beat the Cubs in the 10th on Duffy Dyer's two-run homer.

Chicago, which dropped its fourth straight, overcame a seven-run New York fourth with five runs in the fifth. Billy Williams cracked four hits and drove in four runs for the Cubs, who had their National League East lead trimmed to 1½ games over New York.

Vehicle in Sunday Gymkana

All Kinds Of Vehicles In Car Show Sunday

Mac Adams, service manager at Barney Toland Volkswagen of Big Spring, has prepared the Formula Vee for the American Rallye & Gymkhana Organization Sport Car Show to be held in the College Park Shopping Center parking lot from 1:00 to 6 p.m. Sunday.

The Formula Vee is a standard 1970 Volkswagen Sedan which has been equipped with more than 20 Volkswagen accessories, including racing wheels and radial tires. The car will be on display and will compete in the gymkhana precision driving competition.

The local Volkswagen dealership is assisting by providing trophies and technical assistance.

Numerous Volkswagens, dune buggies, and other sports cars will enter the competition which will have categories for small Volkswagens up to large American "super cars."

Comeback Nets 3-1 Triumph

A late rally gave the Rebels a 3-1 decision over the Angels Tuesday in Sophomore League play.

Good pitching from both sides stymied hitters. Winner Wayne Dickens struck out 16 and loser Thomas Gonzales pitched the ball by 10.

Gonzales of the Angels had two hits and his team's lone run. Smith for the Rebs had two hits and two runs. Dickens had the other Reb run.

Score was tied 1-1 after four — then the Rebs tallied for two in the sixth.

Reed, Morton Record Wins

Bill Reed Insurance erupted for all of its runs in the fifth inning on the way to a 6-4 victory over Neel's Transfer in City Softball league play here Monday evening.

In the second contest, Morton's Chippers broke the barrier with a five-run first and sailed on to a 13-6 success at the expense of the Merchants.

Randy Smith had a home run for Neel's in the opener and Neel's succeeded in outhitting the Reed team.

Lions Upset Yanks, 4-3

Hopes for the title all but vanished for the Yankees Tuesday night when they fell to the National Little League Lions 4-3.

Jerry Currie's homer in the second scored Paul Spence and Joe Thomason, putting the Lions out front. Thomason scored again in the third. The Yankees counted three in the fifth, but that was their limit. Dave Spence won out over David Guinn in pitching.

The Yankees were one game behind the league-leading Cardinals going into the game. Dibrell's Yankees stand 11-5 and the Evening Lions 12-5 for the season.

Rockets Deflate Raider Quintet

In the only Summer Basketball league game played Tuesday night, the Rockets crowded by the Raiders, 60-50.

Robert Evans played a major role in the win, scoring 34 points. Steve Carter had 15 for the losers.

The 326s accepted a 2-0 forfeit from the Jets in what was to have been the other game.

When play is resumed in the Runnels Junior High gymnasium Thursday evening, the Hawks oppose the 326s and the Jets tangle with the Rockets.

Jack Dempsey Seems To Like Everybody

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Dempsey is 75 today and, if there is anybody in the world he does not like, he is keeping it a dark secret.

"I think a heavyweight champion has an obligation to be an example," he said, "of clean living, being nice to people and helping people.

"When you are fighting, you are out to win with no holds barred. It's either you or the other guy. But being nice to people doesn't cost anything. Every time you sign an autograph you make a friend."

Dempsey spends his time these days signing autographs on postcards, menus and albums in the same Broadway restaurant which he has operated since 1938. For the last 10 days he has been busy helping others celebrate his birthday at boxing arenas, race tracks and hotels. Tonight they will honor him at his own restaurant.

As Dempsey sat in a window booth Tuesday afternoon, scores of tourists and old friends came up to shake hands. A group of young girls sang him a "Happy Birthday" from the street.

"Times have changed," said Dempsey. "On Saturday and Sunday it used to be so crowded that people walked in the street. They couldn't even get on the sidewalk. Now people are afraid to go out nights."

In the old days an occasional visitor with too much sauce under his belt would challenge Dempsey. They don't do that any more.

"A couple of guys tried to mug me on Third Avenue a few months ago," said Dempsey. "They tried to rob me but I flattened them."

Dempsey spends most of his time as his New York apartment, visiting the restaurant at the lunch and dinner hours. He likes to take the sun on the terrace and watch baseball and news on television. He makes an occasional trip to California to visit his two daughters and seven granddaughters.

What does Dempsey think about the fight game?

"There is no place to start and no place to go," he said. "Only one club in California runs every week. Kids go to football, baseball, hockey, basketball, where the money is. Maybe, if I came along now, I might go where the money is, too."

Sports Decision Steers, 20 To 6

The Sports brushed by the Steers, 20-6, in an American Minor Little League game Tuesday.

The win was the eighth for the Steers, compared to six defeats and a tie. The Sports slumped to 1-12.

The Sports scored in every inning but the fourth. Stockton and Scotty Vick combined to pitch a no-hit game for the Steers.

Vick, Tom Farley and Stockton each had three hits for the Sports, who banged out a dozen blows in all.

BODY SLAM STOPS ALOMAR — Sandy Alomar, California Angels' second-baseman, is stopped cold before reaching the plate while trying to score from third on a long fly ball by Jim Spencer in the sixth inning of their game with Chicago White Sox last night. Making the tag on Alomar is White Sox' Ed Herrmann. Sox won the game, 7-3.

Brunet Finds Home In Ted's Tepee

By The Associated Press

George Brunet, Washington's well-traveled starting southpaw, has turned stopper for Ted Williams' slumping Senators and apparently found a home at the age of 36.

Brunet, who came to the Senators from Seattle-Milwaukee in a winter deal, has played in 15 minor league cities and with eight major league clubs, helped Washington snap a five-game losing streak Tuesday night, beating Detroit 6-2.

The left-hander evened his record at 5-5, scattering six hits in seven innings before leaving for a pinch runner. He also gave Washington its only other victory in nine games, whipping the Minnesota Twins 3-1. last Monday.

In other American League contests, Milwaukee edged the Twins 4-8, Boston ripped Baltimore 6-1, Kansas City nudged Oakland 7-5 and Chicago drilled California 7-3.

MOVES AROUND

Brunet, a 6-foot-1, 205-pounder who lives in Anaheim, made his pro debut in 1953 at Shelby, N.C., and has since been to such spots as Seminole, Okla., Crowley, La., Vancouver, B.C., and Hawaii.

He finally made it to stay in the majors in 1964 with the then Los Angeles Angels and was voted their all-time left-hander by Angel fans.

Tuesday night, Brunet's supporting cast of Tim Cullen, Paul Casanova and Wayne Comer, provided the punch.

Cullen stroked a solo homer, Casanova, a two-run shot and Comer drilled a two-run double in the Senator's seventh inning that finished Tigers' starter Mickey Lolich. Mike Epstein also unloaded a solo roundtripper for the Senators.

Lolich, Detroit's ace left-hander, hasn't won since May 28 and has only two victories in two months as his record fell to 6-8.

His run-scoring single drove in both runs off Brunet in the fourth.

Pinch hitter Gus Gil cracked a two-out, two-run double in the ninth inning, giving the Brewers their narrow triumph over Minnesota.

RUDE GREETING

Gil slammed his game-winning hit off reliever Ron Perranoski, who had just entered the game.

Phil Roof connected for a bases-empty homer for the Brewers while George Mitterwald had a two-run shot for the Twins.

Ray Culp fired a three-hitter and the Red Sox smashed 12 hits, including home runs by Tony Conigliaro and Rico Petrocelli to snap the Orioles' winning streak at five games.

Conigliaro's two-run homer—his 14th of the season—keyed a three-run Boston fifth off loser Jim Palmer, 10-4, making it easy for Culp, 6-7, who struck out eight.

Sweetwater Pair Tourney Champs

SWEETWATER — Jim Whitteker and Paul Burleson of Sweetwater won the Lake Sweetwater Summer Partnership Golf tournament here Sunday with a 36-hole score of 125.

They beat an Abilene tandem, Bob Moyers and Wiley Connally, by three strokes.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

The late Obie Bristow, who coached largely for his own amusement here in the early '30's, admittedly got many of his zany inspirations from Frank Bridges, who recently made his own peace with Heaven.

One play Obie used with success emanated from the Bridges' camp and was used with variations by coaches all over the country until it was outlawed by a shaken NCAA rules committee.

The maneuver involved the center and a back, who would change places. The back, after making as if to snap the ball, would hide it for a few counts while everyone on the opposing team would be faked into going one way. The ball carrier then would strighten up and start down field.

To vary the play, a back would be placed immediately next to the center after changing places with a guard and the pivot, in turn, would hand the ball to the back who would run away from the flow.

On one occasion, puzzled officials stopped a game involving Big Spring, approached the bench and their spokesman bellowed at Obie:

"We don't know what you're doing wrong but stop it!"

* * *

There was a time, when Bridges was coach at Baylor, that Waco was regarded as the football capital of the Southwest. Waco High had its fine teams under the late Paul Tyson and Paul Quinn College, in those days, was pretty good, too.

Dana Bible, then the Southwest Conference's best known coach, always said he was prepared to concede one touchdown to Bridges and Baylor, because Frank could be expected to pull the unexpected. In other words, Bible's teams went into a game with Baylor trailing psychologically by six points.

* * *

Maury Wills, the Los Angeles Dodger infielder, says San Francisco's Juan Marichal and Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh have not been accorded the recognition due them because of their abrasive personalities.

Wills thinks Clemente's chief drawback is the fact that he plies his trade for the Pittsburgh Pirates. Pittsburgh, needless to relate, isn't the average ball player's idea of Paradise. The fact that Roberto is moody and unresponsive to writers doesn't help him either, Wills contends.

* * *

Denny McLain and Mickey Mantle have one thing in common, other than the fact that they both played baseball.

Each grapples with the spectre of premature death. McLain's father went to his reward when he was 36. Mantle's sire died at the age of 40. The males in the families of both have a history of dying in their 30's.

* * *

Paul Petterson, manager of the Elks, the American Minor Little League team here, says he used Gene Mayfield's philosophy in athletics, that of seeking to profit by the opposition's mistakes.

Petterson's approach has paid off with a league championship.

* * *

Country singer Marty Robbins, felled by a heart attack last year, hasn't yet been allowed to resume his hobby — that of driving race cars — but he plans to spend July 4 serving as Grand Marshal for the racing doubleheader at Daytona International Speedway.

That day, both the Paul Revere 250 and the Daytona Firecracker 400 are scheduled.

The Paul Revere 250, incidentally, starts at midnight July 3.

Sabres Grab Top Position

The Sabres assumed first place in International Little League standings by outlasting the Talons, 10-6, Monday evening. The win was the 12th in 18 starts for the pace-setters.

The Sabres turned the trick with the aid of only three hits. One of those was a double by Scotty Hixon, Keithe Blizzard and Henry Holguin had the other bingles for the winners.

The Sabres banked eight of their runs in the first two innings and added the other two in the fifth.

Howard On Hill As Tabbies Win

LENORAH — After trailing much of the game, the Lenorah Wildcats came back to topple the Lenorah Lions, 5-4, here Sunday.

Johnny Howard faltered early, then got better as he went along to notch the pitching win. The Cats broke through after being held scoreless through the first four innings.

The issue wasn't decided until the ninth, when the Cats scored twice to come from behind. Florencio Hewtty, manager of the Wildcats was unable to play due to an injury.

Jets Vanquish Cabots, 9-4

Four runs in the first and five more in the fourth enabled the Jets to wing by the Cabots, 9-4, in American Little League play here Monday evening.

Christian and Sherrill each had two hits for the Jets, who collected six blows in all. Dixon had two for the losers.

Travis, Mayfield Are Introduced

LEVELLAND — Two coaches in the community, Buddy Travis of South Plains College and Bill Mayfield of Levelland High School, were introduced at a "get acquainted" party staged by the Levelland Quarterback Club here Tuesday night.

Travis moved here from Howard County Junior College in Big Spring. Mayfield formerly was at Gruver.

Fem Netter May Don See-Through Dress

WIMBLEDON (AP) — Teddy Tinling, who designs Wimbledon fashions, wants to celebrate his 60th birthday by showing the fans his most daring creation—a see-through tennis dress.

Mrs. Carole Kalogeropoulos of Greece—the former Carole Prosen of Orlando, Fla.—modeled the dress at a garden party last weekend. She and her husband, Nicky, are entered in the mixed doubles at Wimbledon on Thursday.

"It hasn't finally been decided whether she will wear the dress on court or not. I haven't any idea what the All-England Club will think of it. But I know what they have said about some of my creations in the past," said Tinling, who was 60 Tuesday.

The see-through dress has everybody talking. But his major, more conventional, contribution to this year's Wimbledon fashions is an "oranges and lemons" outfit.

The girls have a colorful orange embroidered on one side of their skirts and a lemon on the other. Some, like Virginia Wade of Britain, have their initials worked into the fruity pattern.

Tinling, a former British army colonel, said he started his career designing dresses for the legendary Suzanne Lenglen, who won Wimbledon six times between 1919 and 1925.

"They say I'm the man who brought sin into tennis," Tinling said.

"I shocked them with gorgeous Gussie Moran's panties, and I shocked them again with the two-colored panties Maria Bueno wore a few years ago.

"I don't accept the criticisms. I think I have given tennis a lot —more than I've got out of it, in fact."

On the court two seeds were upset — Tom Okker of the Netherlands by South Africa's Bob Hewitt, and Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia by Russia's Alexander Metreveli.

Metreveli beat the 13th-seeded Kodes 6-2, 7-5, 3-6, 2-6, 7-5 in their first round match, and Hewitt ousted No. 11, Okker, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3.

Cliff Richey of San Angelo, though unseeded here, also was beaten, losing to No. 8 Ilie Nastase, the Romanian Davis Cup star, 7-5, x-6, 6-4, 6-3.

But the 1-2-3 seeds, Rod Laver and John Newcombe of Australia and Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., all moved into the third round.

Starfighters Rally Late To Lick Comets, 14-12

The Starfighters rallied late to edge the Comets, 14-12, in International Little League play Tuesday night.

Carl Jones, Don Roberson, Billy Mosser and Gerald Jones combined to pitch the win, the latter getting credit for the win. Together, they yielded only one hit but they had control problem.

At one time in the game, the Comets led, 12-2. Charles Watkins had the lone hit for the Comets and it was a home run.

C. Jones, Mike Coffey, Ruben Cherry and Harvey Adams each had two safeties for the Starfighters, who now are 12-6 on the year. One of Cherry's blows went for three bases while Jones and Coffey had doubles.

The win enabled the Starfighters to move back into a tie for first place with the Sabres. The Comets are 1-16.

Send 'Em To The Small Town

Lloyd Bentsen Jr. of Houston, now campaigning for election to the U.S. Senate from Texas, has touched upon an issue that is pointed up strongly as a result of the 1970 census reports.

He told a group in Corpus Christi that one method of solving the problems of big cities would be to encourage the population to migrate to smaller communities.

"The government has been dragging its feet on the needs of small towns while concentrating on seemingly insurmountable problems in the cities," he said. "I think we could disperse some of the big city problems — crime, pollution, transportation tie-ups — if we could disperse some of the people."

The Herald has made modest suggestions along this line in times past, but makes quick admission that the accomplishment is much more complicated than the suggestion. There may be room for another industry or two in Big Spring, or Big Sandy or Big Lake, but fitting the pattern of industries is something else again. Will ambitious, well-paid, sophisticated young families give up the environment of the big city for the slower pace of the small town?

With some enlightenment, the answer might be yes. There are other factors, of course. One is that government subsidy might be required to move centrally-located business enterprises, and another is that the smaller towns themselves would have to do some upgrading in housing, schools, business availabilities and all the other things contributing to decent living.

There is no question but that the country could achieve a better balance, if its population masses were broken up. The pendulum now has swung to one extreme; there may come a time when the society will force it to swing back.

Penn Central And Rail Problems

A small company finds itself undercapitalized, lacking in astute management, or short of its market aims (or all three) and goes into federal court under the bankruptcy laws. There are many cases, and they seldom create a public ripple.

But it must come as a shocker for the public to learn that the nation's largest railroad, Penn Central, and the sixth largest corporation in the United States, is so caught in a money squeeze that it has to go to the courts for relief.

Financial analysts, of course, were aware of the impending crisis. Penn Central had sought to issue public debentures and failed, then turned to the government for a guarantee of $200 million in loans. This was refused Saturday, and the bankruptcy move followed swiftly.

A little more than two years ago, a merger between New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad was accomplished, and the hope expressed then that this new giant could operate profitably. Obviously not so.

Now Penn Central, is, in reality, under court direction, must start with a new set of books, will withhold payment on certain debts, and depend upon a set of trustees to find a better working system.

The plight of railroads is not new, although the Penn Central case is the most dramatic. Its passenger losses are heavy (at a time when the government is supposed to be shoring up rail passenger transportation), and it appears that drastic measures must be taken if the railroad can continue such service and restore itself to some degree of fiscal stability.

The most pessimistic view of the situation is that the nation, like it or not, may sooner or later find that the government will be operating the railroads.

More Study On Inflationary Causes

WASHINGTON — Businessmen generally like President Nixon's idea for a study of inflationary trends in wages and prices by a special commission that would expose the facts of major disputes in the court of public opinion — but labor leaders do not care for it.

Some labor spokesmen still feel that a governmental board should be created to examine the price-raising ability of dominant corporations in key industries, and that unions should have something to say at hearings whenever corporations claim that labor demands are forcing price increases.

ALL THAT THIS means is that an endless debate on price rises as seen by management and wage increases as viewed by labor would continue indefinitely. This wasn't what the President had in mind. He evidently thought that it would be beneficial if a national commission would let the people know when certain wage increases were going beyond productivity and when price rises resulted from the reckless use of the power to increase wages or were excessive in the light of a company's profit margin.

MR. NIXON'S BELIEF that a public disclosure on these cases would place the responsibility for future slowdowns in business on those who put selfishness above the public interest may be right in theory. But it may be doubted whether the large labor organizations are going to alter their courses and modify their wage demands until the business picture itself shows a decided turn downward. For while inflation thus far has been costly to the American economy and the stock market has fluctuated under all kinds of pressures, the situation is not a reflection on the stability of the business structure itself. Some of the big industries are showing a decline in profits, but the labor unions haven't yet concluded that this is anything but a passing phase.

MEANWHILE, HOWEVER, the labor unions are by no means ready to embrace the President's idea that management and labor should cooperate in keeping prices and wages down. This can only be accomplished by mandatory controls, and it seems to be generally agreed by economists now that such a step might better have been taken two or three years ago than now.

There is one advantage in the President's plan for a national commission to investigate all the facts and place them before the public. There has been much argument, for example, as to what part labor costs have played in price increases. If the American people were informed about some of the factors in pushing prices upward, they might have a different attitude toward governmental intervention by means of wage and price controls.

DISTASTEFUL as such a step may be, there may come a time when President Nixon himself will find he has no other choice. This is why his appointment of a commission to measure productivity may be regarded as a first step toward a thorough examination of all the facts and a disclosure to the public of just what the relationship of labor costs is to the rise in prices. Even more important may be the effect of high costs on the volume and prices of goods sold to the public and the falling off of demand. By choosing to use the next several months as a period of intensive study, rather than as a time for imposing wage and price controls, Mr. Nixon may in the end win the argument, or he may find that he will be left with no other alternative.

Billy Graham

As my parents are separated, I am living with my grandmother who is up in years. I'm just a mixed-up kid who needs help. I am involved with a gang of kids who are going off the deep end. I want to go straight but can't find anyone to help me. Will you please tell me what to do? T.J.

I wish I could talk to you face to face. You are like so many others who have found the kicks you expected have a deadly kick-back. You wrote to me, a preacher, so you will have to pardon my preaching to you.

There is God's love for you, and for all the rest of the gang. God loves you so much He did something about it. He knows about all the sins you have committed and how they leave you guilty and unhappy. But He does not stop with knowing — He has done something for you. The Bible tells us that the results of sin is death — spiritual death — separation from God. But God sent His Son to die on the Cross, not to show you a perfect life but to show you a perfect way out for your sins. On that Cross Christ died for you, and all you have to do is thank Him for it and trust Him as your Savior. There will be tough times ahead but God does not leave us alone. You will find that the Christ who died for you now lives for you! Let Him be your Friend. Talk to Him. Ask Him for help. Ask Him to give you the victory when temptation comes. Give Him a try and you will find that He has the answers for you.

Quest To Find Fashion Success

By SHIRLEY CHRISTIAN
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP— We met on the D-train platform of the Columbus Circle subway station.

I was late. I'm always late. I've been late for Jim Garrison and the Queen of England, so it doesn't upset me.

"We were taking the next train whether you were here or not," said Sue, who I suspect was a 6-month baby.

Thus began the quest to find fashion success on a Sunday morning on the Lower East Side.

Narrow, dirty Orchard Street already was jammed when we arrived. We started searching out the promised bargain spots. Everyone else was doing the same.

We fought our way into the first shop and started shoving back the dresses on the packed racks. Mary was ecstatic.

"This is $90 on Fifth Avenue," she said and pointed to a $60 tag on one of those things with the see-through midriff.

Three-piece pants suits hung on racks above us with enticing $7 price tags. Mary tried on the skirt and jacket and stood before a mirror.

"That's an Eisenhower jacket," I said. "My mother used to have one."

Mary, who still has a "Ted in '72" button, couldn't resist the bargain, even for politics.

At the next stop, a man was selling dresses outside for $2.

"They'll cost $5 inside," he yelled as we went through the door.

The outer room was pandemonium, the second room was twice as bad, and to get there we had to squeeze through a hall about three feet wide crowded with racks of clothes and people going both directions.

People were ripping dresses off hangers and yelling for saleswomen. Ten or more people were lined up outside each of the tiny dressing rooms, and impatient men waited around the edges. One desperate woman undressed and began trying on dresses in the midst of it all.

The crowd took away our enthusiasm, and we fought our way to the sidewalk, almost as crowded by now.

We stopped at the entrance to a handbag store. "Too many people inside. You'll have to wait," said a man at the door. "Fire laws, you know."

We waited, and waited, and waited some more. He finally signaled us inside. We took a number — No. 164, and an uncountable number ahead of us. Another wait.

I edged up to a counter and started to look at the five or six purses lined up on top.

"Those are my wife's bags," snapped a male voice at my elbow.

Next to us, a woman with a Norell scarf over her shoulder was waving two crisp, one hundred dollar bills to get a salesman's attention.

Sue finally bought a handbag. "Eight dollars cheaper than uptown," she bragged.

And me? I bought nothing — and promised myself an airline ticket to the wide open spaces.

Barometers Of Inflation

NEW YORK (AP) —Nobody in government tampers with economic statistics to suit political ends. That is the proud reputation government workers seek to uphold, and it is generally agreed they uphold it well.

The May unemployment figure of 5 per cent, for example, obviously shocked and discomforted the administration, but it was released on schedule, as it generally is.

And figures showing a sharp rise in thecostoflivingfollowed by one day—and somewhat undermined—President Nixon's attempt to assure Americans that his anti-inflation campaign was close to the mark.

Error, however, is another thing, and two highly regarded professors believe there is a huge one in the compilation of the Wholesale Price Index, one of the most widely followed barometers of inflation.

The index, they say, continues to rise lately when it should be falling. It is making the Nixon administration anti-inflation effort look poorer than it is. And it may even be upsetting Federal Reserve Board policy.

The thesis is put forth by George Stigler of the University of Chicago and James Kindahl of the University of Massachusetts and is to be published June 26 as "The Behavior of Industrial Prices" by the National Bureau of Economic Research.

Says Stigler, "I am absolutely confident that there has been extensive price cutting during the slowdown of the past six to eight months; but these cuts have not showed up in the government's WPI."

This means, Stigler adds, that the Federal Reserve has had imperfect data on which to base monetary policy. It means also that other government agencies have been misled in charting gross national product and productivity.

The problem, as the authors see it, is that the venerable WPI is based on prices that sellers list in their catalogs, taking into account only standard discounts.

However, the authors argue, buyers actually pay less through special discounts, tie-in sales, introductory offers, shipping concessions and so on.

They suggest that the index be adjusted for these more subtle discounts and other variables. Buyers, they feel, would be able to supply more accurate data than sellers. Then there should be a Buyers' Price Index.

Analysts at the Bureau of Labor Statistics are said to be interested in running a pilot study of the Stigler-Kindahl proposal but have been unable to convince Congress to supply the estimated $100,000 needed.

Antibiotics Can't Do Everything

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband had antibiotics such as ---- and ---- prescribed after an operation 12 years ago. Since then whenever he doesn't feel up to par or has a cold he takes them.

I was under the impression that such prescriptions should not be refilled unless the doctor orders it. My husband didn't like it when I said so. So I spoke to the druggist and he only said, "If he doesn't get it here he'll get it someplace else."

I don't think this is right and it worries me. — Mrs. J.D.

I don't think it is right, either, and it worries me, too.

The druggists I know are conscientious about obeying the law, but your account and other indications show that there are some scofflaws in that profession, too.

Some prescriptions are of a type that can be refilled once or more; others should not be refilled at all.

As to the antibiotics you named, one can cause a serious anemia with prolonged use. The other will not.

But antibiotics in general can upset the balance f the varius upset the balance of the various organisms which flourish normally in the body. Reducing the bacteria in the digestive tract, for one example, can permit yeast and fungus organisms to multiply.

For another instance, brief use of antibiotics can suppress bacteria, yet allow some to survive — and become resistant to that particular antibiotic. These resistant germs cause a great deal of trouble.

For yet another reason, antibiotics seldom are of any use with a cold because most colds are caused by viruses, and antibiotics will not control viruses. Such use is a waste of money in addition to the other troubles which may result.

A word to your doctor about this situation may straighten that druggist out. He needs to be jacked up. As to his argument that "if he doesn't get them here he'll get them somewhere else" — well, I wonder. It's a specious argument to begin with. It may be that (for his own good!) your husband will find that he can't get these drugs anywhere else. If he can, then you have some more druggists who need to be told off.

There are, as you can see, good reasons for requiring prescriptions. There are many more good reasons that I haven't enumerated. But the government knows what it is doing when it insists on prescriptions.

The laws are for the protection of the public, not for the doctors or the druggists.

Around The Rim

The Phone Rings More Than Once

Telephones can ring at the darndest times, and with complete surprises from the other end.

MANY MONTHS ago my family and I had put up overnight at a Dallas hotel, and if there was a soul in Dallas besides the desk clerk and bell boy who knew we were there, I don't know who it could have been. Next morning, as were were preparing to leave the room and load our things in the car, the phone rang.

IT WAS A FORMER Herald employe, whom I had not heard from in a year or two. In fact, I had lost complete touch with him. (It developed the room clerk and this acquaintance had been in the same early-morning Sunday school class and the clerk knowing the friend was from Big Spring, had mentioned that a Big Spring family was staying at his hotel.)

THERE IS A legion of examples of odd and sometimes humorous coincidences. For instance, my brother, Jake, was attending a banquet in Austin with several hundred people present. His place was far to the rear, near the wall. In the midst of the banquet program, he and those around him were alerted and then annoyed by a telephone ringing. The thing just kept ringing, although there was no obvious answer as to its whereabouts.

THE SOUND appeared to be coming from underneath the table, so eventually he lifted the table cloth and peered under. There was a phone, obviously moved from its accustomed stand and put on the floor to make way for the banquet tables. So he slipped from his seat and crawled under the table to the ringing phone.

"Hello," he said tentatively.

"I'm trying to reach Jake Pickle," said the voice.

"Can you tell me how to get hold of him?"

DURING THE RECENT tornado at Lubbock, occupants of the plush Lubbock Club atop one of the skyscrapers which found itself in the heart of the storm, threw themselves to the floor in a state of what can best be described as cold terror. Windows were shattered and it seemed as if the building rocked. Each second was like an eternity.

IN THE MIDST of all this, the telephone rang — rang — and rang. Finally, someone in the general vicinity reached out and took the receiver from the hook and answered.

"This is Mrs. So and So," said the voice. "I would like to make reservations for a party of six."

Public Land

Uncle Sam Should Hang On To Most Of It?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special government study panel urged Tuesday that control of all federal land—one third of the nation—be concentrated in a new Department of Natural Resources and in a single committee in each house of Congress.

The 19-member Public Land Law Review Commission said the administration of federal land is a fragmented legal mess, largely because of past congressional inaction. It urged Congress to reclaim authority which has fallen to the President by default.

The commission's 289-page report climaxing a five-year, $7 million study recommended that virtually the entire body of law governing public lands be rewritten, with Congress setting guidelines to insure that each federal area is dedicated to its "highest and best use."

ALL USERS of federal land should pay for that use, the commission said, on the basis of "fair market value."

Thirteen of the commission's members are on the House or Senate Interior committees. That department would be linked with the Agriculture Department's Forest Service to create the new department of Natural Resources under the commission's recommendation.

Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo., chairman of both the commission and the House Interior Committee, told newsmen in a briefing he planned to start introducing legislation early next year that would implement some of the 387 recommendations in the report.

THE GOVERNMENT, the report said, should reverse its policy of disposing of federal land and hang on to most of it; but it should make payments to the states where federal lands are located, in place of the taxes that those lands could have generated under state ownership.

The commission provided for disposal of some federal land for particular resource development purposes.

It also urged federal regulation of oil and gas production on the outer continental shelf; leasing for other mineral mining in federal offshore lands; and the offering of some oil shale lands for experimental commercial development, under terms more attractive to industry than those of the past.

IT WAS Aspinall who introduced legislation in 1963 to set up the Public Land Law Review Commission. The committee's executive director, Milton A. Pearl, was then staff consultant to Aspinall's Interior Committee.

The commission's task was enormous-to review some 3,700 federal laws and uncounted regulations, dating as far back as 1792 and governing more than 755 million acres—one-third of the nation's entire area.

THESE LANDS bring the federal government more than $2 billion a year-more than 75 per cent of it from oil and gas leasing on the outer continental shelf beyond the 3-mile state limits.

Almost 70 per cent of all federal land is administered by the Interior Department, but 25 per cent comes under the Agriculture Department's U.S. Forest Service.

The commission's recommendation that Interior Department-Forest Service merger be matched with a jurisdictional consolidation in Congress "into a single committee in each House"-one of the briefest points in the report-included no suggestion as to the choice of those two committees.

BUT IT commented that "fragmentation of committee jurisdiction in Congress has . . . been a major cause" of poor coordination among public land laws.

The commission charged that Congress "has largely delegated to the executive branch its . . . authority" over public land and that executive agencies "understandable . . . took the action they deemed necessary to fill this vacuum."

New Draft Rules Likely To Stand

WASHINGTON — Give or take a Mendel Rivers or two, Congress will do nothing in the foreseeable future to challenge the Supreme Court's perhaps maddening ruling that a youth is entitled to conscientious objector status even if he rejects a religious basis for his anti-war beliefs.

REP. RIVERS, D-S.C., has said his House Armed Services Committee will "look into" the matter. He can expect little aid or comfort from his Congressional colleagues. Few politicians on the national level desire to get involved in a shouting match with today's youthful political activists.

Besides, the situation is unchanged in a very important area. Local draft boards, few of whom ever have been noted for deep philosophical musings, will still sit in the boss's seat.

SELECTIVE SERVICE Director Curtis W. Tarr made this plain with his guidelines stating that the local boards will continue to be the judges of a registrant's sincerity. If they turn down an applicant for CO status and the Selective Service's appellate review boards agree, the registrant has no alternative but to enter service or face a possible jail term.

Just the same, it's going to be weirdly interesting, as a result of Tarr's reaction to the Court's ruling that a man whose sincere opposition to war is based on purely ethical or moral convictions is entitled to the same exemption afforded to men holding conventional religious beliefs that war is wrong.

OKAY, SAID TARR, but this is the way it'll have to be: The CO applicant's beliefs must be sincere. His beliefs "must be something other than a personal moral code, and must involve the thoughts of other wise men." His beliefs must have resulted from "some kind of rigorous training, a rigorous pursuit of these beliefs."

I do not wish to be frivolous — but how about that! Until someone rules to the contrary, Tarr's guidelines mean, in effect, that a youth trained by the Black Panthers would be eligible for exemption from serving in the armed services. The Panthers hold to "some kind of system of belief," and their training is certainly "rigorous."

WHAT "WISE MEN" does Tarr have in mind? Little ol' Dr. Ben Spock is considered wise in some circles, and for years he's been urging those who sit at his feet to dodge the draft. Until the Supreme Court steps in, the argument will rage as to whether Spock is wiser than, say, Richard Nixon.

Yet, although mischievous, the Court's ruling that religion should not be singled out for special privilege makes a mad sort of sense. A lot of people who don't believe in God have a fundamental aversion to killing other people. Some of them, otherwise, are bums, but that is irrelevant.

Birthday Party

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — The planet Pluto was the honored guest at a special birthday party recently in this southern New Mexico city.

The party marked the 40th anniversary of the lonely planet's discovery. It was arranged by friends of the planet's discoverer, Clyde W. Tombaugh, who now is a professor of astronomy at New Mexico State University.

War On Poverty Ideas Spark Controversies

By The Associated Press

The War on Poverty program of the Office of Economic Opportunity is the subject of controversy at many points throughout Texas.

—Galveston County came within one county commissioner's vote Monday of asking Gov. Preston Smith to oust VISTA workers from the county.

—Val Verde County is taking steps to designate its county commissioners as the governing agency of the War on Poverty.

—War on Poverty neighborhood workers are being blamed in connection with vandalism at three public housing projects in Dallas.

—There hasn't been a VISTA worker in Harrison, Panola or Val Verde counties since Governor Smith asked the Office of Economic Opportunity to pull them out of the counties late last year.

—The War on Poverty itself pulled its 15 VISTA workers out of Cameron and Willacy Counties last November because it said they had become "scapegoats in some local political disputes" in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. They never returned to the counties.

The removals, and the current controversies, come at a time when Texas ranks first in low-income residents among the 50 states. The Texas Office of Economic Opportunity says 26 per cent of Texas' 3,352,568 families have incomes in the poverty level, compared with a national percentage of 19.8 per cent.

The latest action at Del Rio is a statement of intent to have Val Verde County take over administering the War on Poverty. A public hearing on this is set for July 13.

The county's chief anti-poverty organization, the Community Action Agency, has been divided internally over selection of a new director and other matters. County Attorney John Pettit quit his post on the agency's board Monday.

In Galveston the vote was 2-2 on a motion to ask Smith to oust VISTA, and the county commissioners went on to vote to investigate the War on Poverty.

Commissioner Paul Hopkins voted against the ouster but requested the investigation, saying too much of the talk about VISTA was emotional and not based on facts.

The commission heard of reports that VISTA people had participated in political activities, helped publish a black underground newspaper and had participated with militants in intimidating city residents.

Dallas Housing Authority director James L. Stephenson plans to ask for $100,000 a year for police patrols to defend housing projects against what he called organized vandalism.

One housing project manager in Dallas reported that 650 elderly white tenants vacated the project following threats from blacks and incidents in which fire bombs were thrown at their doors.

Stephenson said militants living in the projects and operating on the outside have organized gangs of teenage vandals. He declined to name names but did specify "neighborhood organizers with the War on Poverty" among other groups.

Glasscock Club Group In Camp

GARDEN CITY — Nine Glasscock County 4-H Club members are attending the District 6 4-H leadership camp at Camp Scot Able near Cloudcroft, N.M., this week. In addition to leadership training, the boys and girls will take part in recreational activities, wildlife study, games, and nature study.

Boys attending are Rudy Halfmann, Earl Jansa, Lynn Halfmann, and Alan Dierschke. Girls attending are Jeanie Werst, Kathy Schwartz, Kay Woodley, Antoinette Schraeder, and Dinell Hirt.

Lester Jansa went with the group as an adult leader and County Extension Agents Oliver F. Werst and Mrs. Mildred Eiland attended.

Shortest Route Sign Approved

Plans for a sign urging travellers to use Ranch Road 33 south of Big Spring as the shortest route to Amistad Lake were confirmed Tuesday evening in Big Lake.

Members of the sign committee, including Charles Tompkins, Big Spring, accepted a proposal from San-Tex Sign Company of San Angelo to erect a 10x40-foot illuminated bill board. Other members of the Amistad Trail sign committee are Troy Williams, Ozona, chairman; Tom Horton, Big Lake, and Silas Byrd, Del Rio. Big Lake, Ozona and Del Rio will finance the sign rental, and Big Spring will obtain a site.

Plans also were talked for securing an audience with the Texas Highway Commission relative to upgrading a stretch of State 163 between Ozona and Comstock, particularly the lower end near the new international lake.

Dean Johnson At Instruction Meet

Ben Johnson, academic dean at Howard County Junior College, is attending the third in a series of Higher Education Institutes for Instructional development this week at the University of Texas in Austin.

Conducted by the visual instruction bureau at UT-Austin, the institute is sponsored by a grant of the U.S. Office of Education.

Field trips to the new $3 million Learning Library Center of Dallas Baptist College and the new College of the Mainland campus at Texas City highlight the program. Participants are involved in an in-depth study of instructional decision-making incorporating the systems approach to instructional planning and design.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	1 ♠	2 ◇	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Six of ♠

West's reluctance to give up a spade trick came back to haunt him in defending against South's three no trump contract. His stinginess not only resulted in the loss of a valuable unit of time, but he ultimately suffered the supreme humiliation of having to surrender the game fulfilling trick in the very suit which he had shied away from.

West opened the six of spades, the three was played from dummy and when East put up the nine, declarer won the trick with the ten. A diamond was led to the king on which East signaled vigorously with the eight. A club was returned and South put in the seven.

West was in with the ten of clubs, fearing that a spade return would present his opponent with a trick, he shifted to the nine of diamonds. South put up dummy's ace and led another club. When East discarded a diamond, declarer ducked the trick around to West's jack.

In desperation, West shifted to the jack of hearts. South was determined to keep East out of the lead, so he permitted the jack to hold. He won the heart continuation in his hand with the ten and cashed the ace on which West discarded a spade. Now the ace and another club put West in once more with the king.

The latter had nothing but spades left and was at last obliged to lead that suit for the second time. South won the spade return with the queen in his hand and cashed his long club and the ace of spades. In all, he took three spades and two tricks in each of the other suits.

The irony of the deal was that West could have defended the contract by merely continuing spades at his first opportunity. Even tho South obtains a trick in the process, West is able to establish the suit before his club stoppers are dislodged, and declarer cannot develop nine tricks in time.

Multiple Listing Service

MULTIPLE LISTING SERVICE DOES SELL EQUITIES:

Some of the important advantages of a MULTIPLE LISTING SERVICE are: (1). BUYERS & SELLERS receive the benefit of cooperation between REALTORS rather than being restricted to the offerings of a single agent or series of agents. (2). NEGOTIATIONS ARE carried on under rules of procedure designed to assure ethical practice, thus furthering the interests of clients and the public, while extending adherence to high standards of practice. (3). CURRENT MARKET information which is readily available through Multiple Listing, means that REALTORS, their clients and the public are better served and informed.

Playday Set For Saturday

A Playday Saturday for the Howard County Sheriff's posse gets underway in the new arena on the Andrews highway beginning at 2 p.m.

Concessions including sandwiches and soft drinks will be provided and the public is invited, according to Mrs. Cecial Allred, secretary.

Riding groups invited include Andrews Sheriff's Posse, Andrews Junior Riding Club, and Sundowners from Snyder, Scurry County Junior Sheriff's Posse, Garden City Riding Club, Rhythm Riders, Junior Horsemen, Knott Saddle Club.

"We usually run from 40 to 90 entries," Mrs. Allred said.

Ribbons for first through fifth places will be awarded in each event.

Next out of town competition for Howard County Sheriff Posse will be in Pecos, July 1. The Pecos rodeo lays claim to being the oldest in the nation. The Pecos appearance will be the 10th show for the Howard County riders this season.

FOR SALE BY SEALED BID

The Federal Housing Administration invites bids for the purchase of the land and improvements thereon for eight (8) single family properties located in Big Spring, Texas. All of the properties are being offered in an "as is" condition without "warranty" for removal from their present sites. Conditions for bidding, purchasing and removal are as follows: (1) Any individual, company or corporation, regardless of race, creed or color, meeting the deposit and other requirements of the FHA, may submit for the purchase of one or more units. (2) All bids must be on individual properties and the highest offer on each individual property will be considered the successful bidder. Title to the lots will be included in the sale of the dwellings (3). To qualify for consideration, each bid on its face must be firm, unconditional, fixed in one amount, certain and not in the alternative. (4) No sales commissions will be paid and all bids are to be net to FHA. Sealed bids are to be submitted with a certified check, or cashier's check for 10 per cent of the bid amount for each property made payable to the Federal Housing Administration. (5) The properties must be moved outside the city of Big Spring and will not be permitted to be moved to an area within 25 miles of the City of Big Spring or within five miles of the city limits of any city, without the prior written consent of FHA, except and unless such building so moved is located outside of the city limits of such cities upon a farm, or ranch, to be occupied by the owner thereof or his tenants or employes, or is to be located in or adjacent to a recreation area to be occupied as a hunting or fishing lodge or for other recreational purposes. (6) The balance of the purchase price is to be paid at possession closing. Possession closing must be within 10 days after bid opening. (7) The purchaser will be required with 120 days after closing to remove from each lot all buildings, foundations, trash and rubbish. Purchaser will also be required to level and grade the lot to the City of Big Spring drainage requirements. (8) The purchaser shall deposit, at time of possession closing, in escrow with FHA the sum of $200 per property to guarantee satisfactory removal. Escrowed funds shall be returned upon satisfactory completion. (9) Taxes will be prorated as of the date of closing. (10) This offer for the acceptance of bids is without a stated minmum bid requirement. However, FHA reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to restrict the number of individual properties which may be purchased by one buyer and to waive any informality in any bid. (11) Interested bidders may obtain a list of the properties offered together with bid forms by requesting same from the FHA Big Spring area broker: W. J. Sheppard & Co., 1417 Wood Street, Big Spring, Texas or from: Glenn Bailey, Director, Federal Housing Administration, Box 1647, Lubbock, Texas 79408. (12) It is incumbent upon each bidder to visit the site of each property bid to fully satisfy himself of the identity and condition of same. (13) Bids are returnable for public opening at 10:00 a.m. on July 2, 1970, at the office of the FHA in Lubbock, Texas. Bidders need not be present but are welcome to attend. To identify the sealed bids, address same as shown and print, type or write across the sealed envelope "Bid for Big Spring Removal Properties." Direct all bids to: Mr. Glenn Bailey, Director, Federal Housing Administration, P.O. Box 1647, Lubbock, Texas 79408.

Thunderstorms Dying Down In Panhandle

By The Associated Press

Light rain spattered the coastal plains of Texas and showers peppered the eastern half of the state this morning while scattered thunderstorms were dying down in the Panhandle.

Clouds overhung most sections as light south breezes pushed more moisture inland from the Gulf of Mexico.

The rainfall generally was light, athough more than an inch soaked the Victoria area within an hour during the night.

For two hours a severe thunderstorm warning was in force for four counties in the Texas Panhandle—Oldham, Deaf Smith, Parmer and Castro. It expired at 10:30 p.m. with no report of severe damage.

Temperatures climbed into the 90s at a number of places Tuesday afternoon, running as high as 97 degrees at Childress.

The mercury hit 95 at Wichita Falls and Wink, 93 at Amarillo, Beaumont, Dalhart, El Paso, Mineral Wells and Port Arthur, 92 at Dallas, Del Rio and Midland, 91 at College Station, Lufkin and Tyler, and 90 at Cotulla, Houston, Lubbock and San Angelo.

Little change was expected in most sections through Thursday.

Mrs. Williams Is Named By Bush

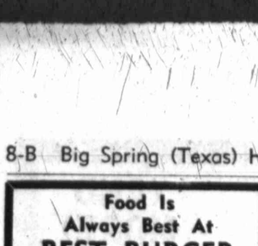

Rep. George Bush of Houston, candidate for the U.S. Senate, has announced the appointment of Mrs. James E. Williams of Big Spring as his Howard County chairman for the Bush Belles.

Mrs. Williams, a housewife and bookkeeper, attended Tyler Commercial College and Odessa Junior College.

She is active in the Women of the Church and Choir Boosters of the First Presbyterian Church; circle chairman of the PTA: vice-president of the Ladies Golf Association; and bookkeeper for the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

She and her husband, Jim, of 2500 E. 24th Street in Big Spring, have three daughters: Sandy, 14; Susie, 13; and Sherry, 10.

Texas 'Bandit' Turned Over To Officials In Mexico

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The long legal battle of a Pharr man to avoid extradition to Mexico, where he is charged with murder and armed robbery, ended at the center of the international bridge Tuesday.

Merardo Pena Anaya, 29, handcuffed between two U. S. Marshals and escorted by Asst. U. S. Atty. Raul Gonzalez, was led to the center of the bridge where he was turned over to Mexican officials.

Earlier in the afternoon U. S. Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black, without written comment, denied an emergency stay motion filed by McAllen lawyer Alfonso Guerra.

At 6 p.m., the precise moment of the expiration of Pena Anaya's fifth stay of extradition, he was taken from the Cameron County jail to the international bridge. He appeared to be smiling as he approached the bridge, but the smile was gone when he was confronted by the Mexican officers on the bridge high above the Rio Grande.

He is charged in Mexico with armed robbery and murder in connection with the daring daylight robbery of a federal disbursement office in Mexico City. He was arrested with Juan Lopez Mejia, a Mexican national at Redlands, Calif., Dec. 1, 1969. Officers confiscated money allegedly taken in the robbery. Lopez Mejia agreed to voluntarily return to Mexico for trial.

The money and a pistol allegedly taken from Pena Anaya was also turned over to Mexican authorities Tuesday.

Guerra had obtained five stays for Pena Anaya since the State Department ordered him extradited May 26.

Guerra had claimed that the 1899 extradition treaty with Mexico is unconstitutional because Mexico has refused to honor the treaty. He also claimed that Pena Anaya will be denied a jury trial in Mexico.

Judge Garza rejected Guerra's claim about Mexico refusing to extradite by pointing out that a provision of the treaty allows either side to refuse to extradite.

Three Accused In Lufkin Bank Scandal Sentenced

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — In what was called by the judge as his "most agonizing decision in 14 years on the federal bench" three men accused in a $1.5 million Lufkin bank scandal were sentenced to three years in prison Tuesday and fined $5,000 each.

A fourth man received a suspended sentence.

U.S. Dist. Judge Joe J. Fisher found two former officers of Lufkin National Bank and two Lufkin contract builders guilty. All had pleaded "no contest" to four counts of a 132-count indictment returned by a federal grand jury in December 1968.

Roy W. Kurth Jr., former president of the bank, and Clyde C. Jordan and Vernon Jordan, contractors, each were fined $5,000 and sentenced to six months of a three-year sentence. The remainder of the sentence was suspended.

The men will receive three years probation.

Another former bank officer, Wyatt Leinert, received a 12-month suspended sentence and two years probation.

Fisher said he knew the men by reputation and even personally. But, he said in his remarks to the defendants, "Some judge has to sit in judgment to safeguard the law. It is my responsibility and I have agonized over this decision."

The U.S. attorney's office estimated $1.5 million was misapplied over several years. "But there is no way of pinning down the exact amount," a spokesman said.

The bank scandal has been described by defense attorneys as "sending good money after bad" in an attempt to save the contractors' business from financial ruin.

Illegal Voting Suit Continues

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP)—Testimony continues in district court Wednesday in a suit brought by a defeated candidate for county judge who charged there was illegal voting in the May 2 Democratic primary.

Dist. Judge John Furrh Monday ruled that 55 absentee ballots cast were illegal. The ruling gave James S. Collins a 36-vote lead over incumbent Jim Ameerman who previously was declared the winner of the election by a 16-vote margin.

Still missing when Furrh recessed the case Monday was one of the 55 ballots declared illegal, although the ballot stub was found in the stub box.

Wednesday's proceedings were to clear up other allegations.

Furrh said the 55 ballots were declared illegal because of a discrepancy between signatures on the ballots and other information brought out in more than three weeks of testimony.
