Carter Child Dies En Route From France

Vinita Josephine Carter, 10-months-old daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Bert Carter, died in the station hospital at Hamilton Field, N. Y., Sunday evening, May 26, at 8:00 p. m. eastern time, only six days after she and her mother had reached the United States from France. They were en route to Wellington to join Capt. Carter at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Carter.

The little girl was one of eleven babies crossing on the same ship to die from a mysterious illness later diagnosed by doctors as summer diarrhea. She was ill when the ship docked Monday, May 20. Capt. Carter and his father left that day for New York, arriving Wednesday.

Her body is being brought to Wellington, and funeral services and burial will be here. No arrangements will be made, Mrs. Carter said, until the group arrives. They are expected some time Wednesday.

Capt. and Mrs. Carter were married while both were stationed in the European theater, he with the Air Forces and she as an interpreter with the Red Cross. Vinita Josephine was born in Dijon, France, and was 10 months and 20 days of age. The family had been together most of the time since, in France and also in Germany, where Capt. Carter was stationed.

He was returned to the United States earlier this month and Mrs. Carter and Vinita Josephine sailed only a few days later. Since he was assigned to bring a group of men to Camp Chaffee, Ark., Capt. Carter was unable to wait for his wife and child in New York. Arrangements were made for them to meet him here at the home of his parents. He had been in Wellington only a few days when word of the baby's illness came.

Capt. and Mrs. Carter are driving from New York, while Mr. Carter is coming by train with the baby's body.

★ Countians who have felt for many months a need to help the hungry peoples of Europe can now do so through the Emergency Food Collection drive on behalf of UN-RRR which is getting underway here

Bo Yates is in charge of the work.

Both food and money may be given and these can be left at the City Hall, Mr. Yates said.

Similar drives are under way throughout the country in an effort to collect enough food and money to buy food to in some measure lessen the starvation among the former allies and countries occupied by Germany during the war—countries where drought is adding to the misery left by the war.

"One thing we can all do, right now, is back the Emergency Food Collection in Collingsworth County," Mr. Yates said. "It offers every one a simple, direct and personal means of giving quick additional help to the hungry and starving overseas."

"The main objective of the collection is to secure cash gifts. More food can be obtained for a given amount of money if it can be bought centrally and in large quantities. Saving is also effected in pick-up, packing and transportation costs. The secondary objective is to procure food packed in tin cans."

"There is no better way, it seems to me, to obtain more food and dispatch it quickly to the areas of greatest need."

"Think what it would mean if each family gave a substantial money gift, and, in addition set aside a can of food a day for our afflicted neighbors—just for one month!"

Vernon Roundup Program Listed

E. Paul Waggoner, president and founder of the Santa Rosa Roundup and Livestock Association, announced today the completion of the rodeo arena, grandstand, airplane landing strips, pens and chutes, and said all was in readiness for the Association's first show to be staged in Vernon on May 29 through June 2.

Time schedules for the rodeo performances have also been worked out. Mr. Waggoner said, with the matinee performances on Memorial Day, May 30, and Sunday, June 2, slated for 2:30 p. m., and night performances on May 29, 30, 31, and June 1 to begin at 8:30 p. m. Mr. Waggoner called special attention to the Santa Rosa Roundup's Bathing Beauty Contest, which will be held at 7:00 p. m. Friday, May 31, and stated that tickets for the rodeo performances on that night are also good for admission to the contest.

Feature attractions during the rodeo which is to be produced by Earl and Jack Sellers of Del Rio, will include trick and fancy riding by Dorothy Cash of Beaumont, Jean Allen of Larkspur, Colo., and Cecil Cornish of Waukomis, Okla., with special exhibitions by Cornish and his trained brahma bull. Two world-renowned rodeo clowns will furnish fun for the spectators, Hoyt Heffner and John Lindsey, both of Wichita Falls.

The Eighth Service Command Army show will be on the Santa Rosa Roundup grounds, and their Dixieland Swing Band under the direction of Sgt. "Tiny" Olsen will be the official rodeo band. Other music will be furnished by Tex Worrell and his Cowboy Swing Band from Hollywood, Calif.

Another attraction will be the J. George Loos Greater United Shows, whose brilliantly lighted midway and thrilling rides will provide additional entertainment for Bill Bomar of Clovis, N. M., finally edged out on Bill Towns in an up and down matched roping contest held by the Wellington Rodeo Association here last Sunday. It was not until Bomar had roped his last calf that his match was finally in the bag for the Clovis roper. While Bomar won the match, the credit for the lowest time went to Towns who tied his 9th calf in the short time of 14.1 seconds. Bomar's total for ten calves was 212.1 seconds and Towns' was 229.5 seconds.

Towns, who had just returned from the Tulsa rodeo with a remarkable performance, got off to a lead on the first calf when he tied his in 16.9 and Bomar took 19.2. On the next two calves Bomar took a slight lead with both ropers averaging under 20 seconds.

On the fourth calf the first real break in the roping occurred. Bomar threw a tight noose squarely over the head of the calf only to get him when the little steer had all four feet in the air. The loop passed over the calf's body and slipped off his hind legs. The second throw was a clean miss as the calf turned at the corral gate.

Towns also missed his fourth calf; but made his second throw good and tied the bawling brahma in 30.9 to gain a 16 second advantage over the roper from Clovis. On the fifth calf Towns increased his lead to 18 seconds; before the two matched ropers took a breather and the jackpot roping was held.

At the start of the second half, Bomar changed from the appalachie he had been riding and used a sorrel mare. Towns continued to use the sorrel horse he had ridden in roping the first five calves.

On the second calf, Bomar whittled on Towns lead by nearly 9 seconds when he tied his calf in 15.9 while Towns was taking 24.3 on a kicking number that gave him a lot of trouble in the tying. It was on the third calf in the second half that the next bad break of the contest came. Bomar tied in a flat 19 and Towns missed both loops to take an arbitrary 50 seconds. This put Bomar nearly 20 seconds in the lead.

Towns changed horses, and riding Button, the celebrated horse of Ed Smith, set the low mark of the matched contest by tying the first calf in 14.1. However, Bomar came back to tie his last calf in 15.5 and cinch a lead that no roper could have possibly overcome.

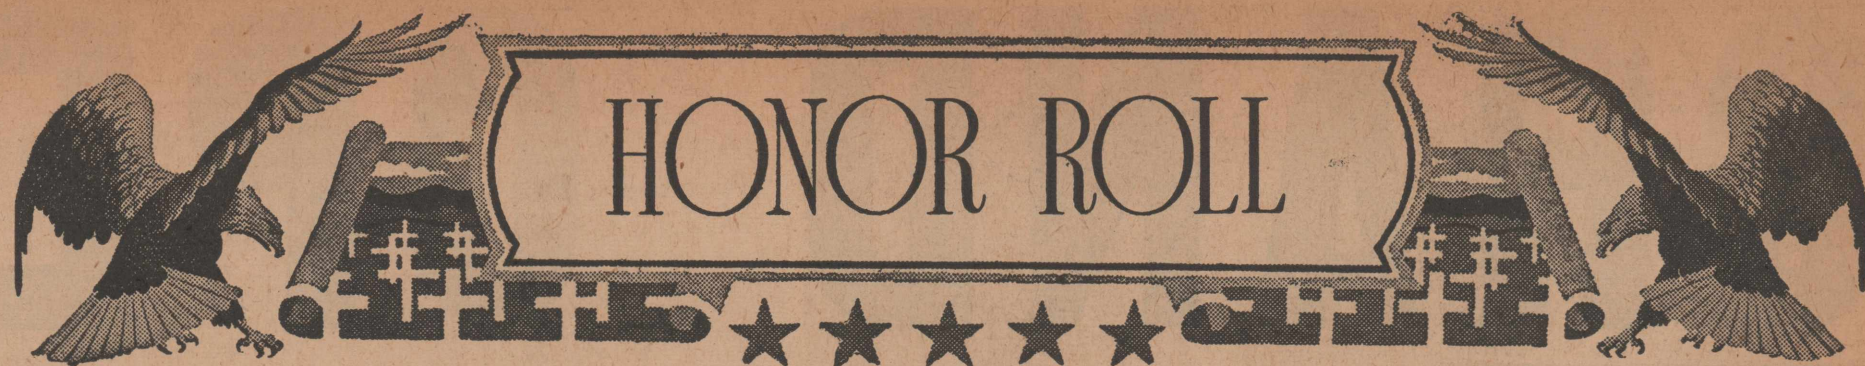

Towns' best performance was on his first throw off of old Button. Bomar's best performance was when he missed in the jackpot roping on the first try, got his calf on the second loop and tied it in 18 seconds to win third place in that event. J. W. Kromer won first in the Jackpot roping with a time of 16.2. W. R. Orr won second with a time of 17.4 and Bomar was third. Orr also won first in a jackpot roping staged after the scheduled events in which he set the time of 13.6.

As anticipated, Towns proved to be faster on tying after he had caught the calf than Bomar; but Bomar was steadier and showed evidence of more experience. Old cowboys particularly noticed one throw in which the rope did not go over the calf's head. Bomar let it rest there as the calf and the horse raced down the arena. He either gave it a flip or else let it slip over to make a clean catch out of what might well have been a miss. Local ropers also thought that Towns might have done better if he had changed horses at the half as Bomar did.

the festive crowds that are expected to attend the first of the semi-annual Roundups.

The gala five day celebration will be opened with a giant Western parade Wednesday morning, the 29th, in which all riding clubs in this territory have been invited to participate.

On this Memorial Day we pay tribute to our war dead. Especially do we honor those who gave their lives during the long conflict so recently ended—the stalwart heroes of World War II whose supreme sacrifice brought Victory and the promise of permanent Peace to a bleeding and suffering world. In memory of these brave men and the brave men of all previous wars let us bow our heads in silent meditation.

THE WELLINGTON LEADER in co-operation with THE VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS has made a sincere effort to compile the names of all our honored dead who went from this county and who lost their lives in World War II. If any have been omitted, this paper and the VFW will appreciate you bringing it to our attention in order that our joint records may be corrected in the hope that the memory of these heroic men may be kept forever green in the minds and hearts of the people who live in the land they died to defend.

DIDACTICS

Starving people are depending on you for their very lives. Every dollar you give the Emergency Food Collection will help the starving in liberated lands. Give money or canned food. Take it to Bo Yates at the City Hall.

The railroad strike may have been a good thing. Coming on top of the coal strike it brought the need of new labor legislation to the mind of every thinking person in the United States. The permanent law should not do away with any of the gains labor has made in the last 12 years; but it should restrict the unregulated and irresponsible powers of the labor leaders, some of whom have become far too dictatorial and power mad for the good of their own members. There is small need of saying anything about what these same labor leaders think of the public good. If any reverses are suffered by labor in this present crisis, the workers should realize that their welfare has been sacrificed by leaders who want power more than progress.

I have talked with quite a number of people who heard President Truman's fighting speech Friday. Some of these interviews were after the President had been called a "ham actor" by one Senator. But if our Congressman or either of our Senators has the least doubt about what the average man in a community like this is thinking, I would like for them to know that the people here approve of what President Truman said.

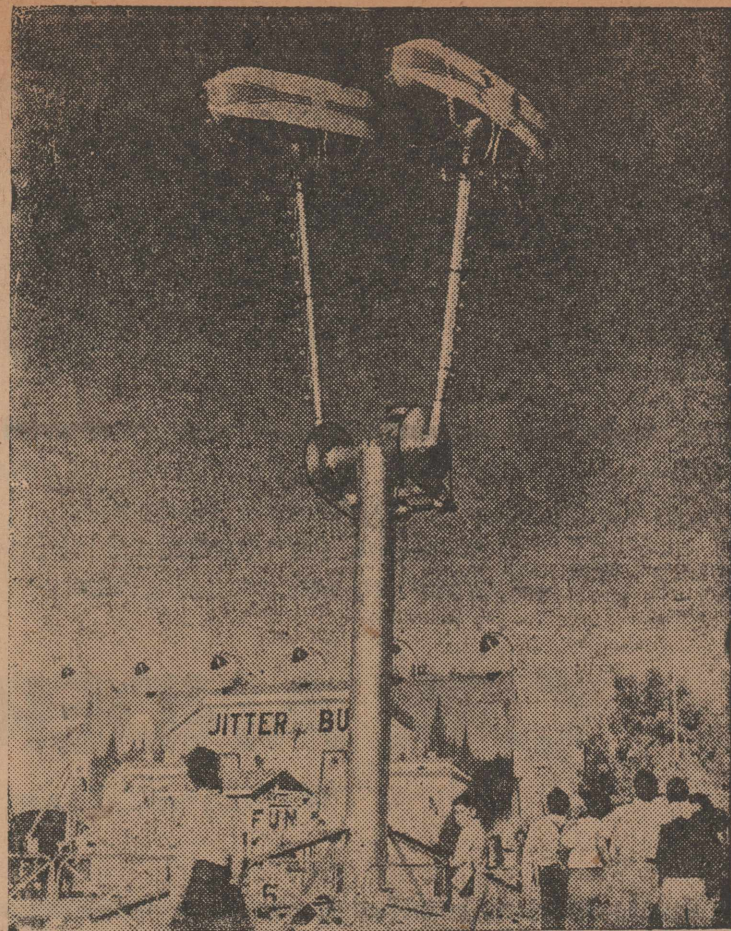

Some thought that it was too bad that the situation had been allowed to drift so long that it was jeopardizing the very foundation of the nation. Those who were even the least bit critical thought that the President had waited far too long to say his piece. But there was a greater number who felt that his long forbearance and his final crack-down was the best manner in which to notify the whole population of their peril.

Now to the coal strike specifically: Any time that Drew Pearson and Westbrook Pegler, who are so far apart in their thinking as between right and left, start gunning for a bushy-browed individualist, it is time for the men who take orders under such as these to start asking why. In particular, Pearson has been pouring acid on John L. Lewis. It seems to this observer that Mr. Lewis is turning green under the eye of public opinion. This is not a reference to Mr. Green, who is a labor leader. It refers to the old chemistry test. If you pour acid on a certain metal, it turns green if it is false.

At this time I will turn back to topics I like better: There is a petition out calling for a city bond issue. This will provide for improving the water system, the sewer system, paving more streets, building a swimming pool and buying a site and constructing an adequate airport. The council will meet and act on this as soon as the required number of names have been signed. Sandy Parsons, Dorothy Atkins, Goat Hopper and Paul Thompson each have one of these in case you want to get behind the movements. Only residents in the city limits who are property owners are entitled to sign such a petition.

Monday afternoon I saw a canary in front of J. B. Stevenson's implement firm. The wind was hot and dry. People walking down the west side of West Avenue would scare the bird. It would fly in the high hot wind and land on the grass just east of the Palace Drug. Then, with its mouth open, it would start hopping across the street to get back under the shade of a car. Sometimes passing people would cause the bird to fly back to the other side of the street. I saw all this while my car was blocking traffic in the street. I drove on down and parked in front of The Leader office. I walked back thinking that I might do something to help that tame bird that was having such a hard time in its first battle after having regained complete freedom. I could not find the canary and walked on back and hung the ad on the foreman's hook. But I thought: "Such a business for a grown man—no wonder my wife thinks I am crazy about dogs and birds."

Bill Towns was more than gracious in his comments on the roping of Bill Bomar. But they did not exceed the kind remarks Bill Bomar had to say about both Bill Towns and Eddie Smith. He has known them for some years. Bomar said that he had been to a good many rodeos; but that he had never been treated fairer or more courteously. He was asked to help select the judges and pick the calves. He turned this over to Eddie Smith entirely and neither he nor Bill Towns took any voice in the matter. Bomar also said: "After seeing how smoothly the roping went, I think they are not exaggerating when they say that their June rodeo will be the fastest if not the biggest. Those guys know their stuff."

Mack Wood started working for The Leader this week. He is the third veteran to start working for this paper under the on the job training plan for veterans. He will continue to fly before 8 o'clock in the morning and after 5 o'clock in the afternoon; but he proposes to put in eight hours each day. Mrs. Dorothy Holman will leave the paper when her husband returns from China. They intend to go to school at Texas Tech. At the present time we have one more person than we intend to use on the paper as permanent personnel and we will keep it that way until everything works out for all concerned.

This may cause some to say that now Marian, Virginia, Ted and I can take it easy. This is not exactly so. Besides what we have to do, we can keep rather busy trying to instruct the others.

The on the job training plan is a good deal for veterans. For some veterans I consider it better than the college training program plan. To the younger men who are still single and who have a high school education I would say: Go see Rolly Fisher at the court house about all phases of the benefits a veteran can secure. To those employers who plan to put such veterans to work under the program I would like to suggest: Don't think that this is a means of obtaining cheap labor. The Veterans Administration will check up at intervals. You must make a report once a month. You must also be in a position and willing to give the veterans genuine and progressive instruction in whatever line of business they are attempting to learn. If the veteran does not work satisfactorily, as I understand it, you can let him out at any time during the first six months. There are also other provisions. Every employer and veteran should check on these before signing up. You can get the information from Rolly Fisher.

On the opposite page is a list of the young men from this county who died in World War II. Let us not forget a single one of them. The memory of every name will bring sorrow to many.

When you read this it will be Memorial Day. I pause to remember that smiling, courageous, intelligent friend of mine who gave such promise of being a great man. I grieve over his loss as many of you do over the loss of those who were your very own. I am thinking of Lt. Glen Davis of the Dozier community.

It was impossible this year; but next year why not have more in the paper about the good of each one of these men. With the help of the readers we might do something to keep alive the things they lived and died for.

Editorial

Seldom in our country's history has a president gained in stature, and in public esteem, as Harry Truman did in the last two days.

In a time of crisis, he did not fail the American people. Congress must not do so.

He moved with courage and wisdom after he became convinced that the labor leaders responsible for the paralysis of American transportation and industry, had lost all sense of social duty and had resolved to wield authority in a despotic way. He had displayed remarkable patience, only to realize that it had ceased to be a virtue. He moved swiftly and purposefully. He deserved the triumphs which, within a few hours, was his.

Those who heard him Friday night knew that they listened to a man who was fighting mad and who spoke for a people whose forbearance was exhausted. There were those, to be sure, who reflected on the tragic connotations of the moment, the tragedy of the fact that arrogance and selfishness on the part of a few men had reached the point where such drastic measures were necessary. It is not a happy spectacle when the full force of official authority must be brought into play. But the centuries have not lessened the force of the old Roman maxim that the public safety is the supreme law. It was in the spirit of that

Other Editors Say

• Farm Standards

What about the standard of living, you say? Well, since 1939 more than 1,400 rural homes have acquired electrical power and light. You can imagine how many uses electrical energy can be put to on a farm. For instance, more than 100 electrical milkers are in operation in Harmon County and there's no telling how many more.

It's a pretty hard guess but those who know estimate that since 1939, 160 new barns and grainaries have been built, not counting the number of new outhouses of every kind. More than 60 new homes have been completed in the country and literally hundreds remodeled from top to bottom.—The Hollis Weekly News.

• Sweeping

Ever watch a boy sweep out a business place? Most boys can miss more dirt without trying than a man could through a deliberate and studied effort. The boy who can do a good job of sweeping out is a rare exception. Sweeping out and cleaning up a place just doesn't seem to be in a boy's line.—The Foard County News.

maxim that President Truman spoke and moved.

Now is the time, while the conscience of both the public and of organized labor is aroused, to enact a law by which the public safety cannot again be imperiled. The line should be drawn, in enacting that law, between a strike that can paralyze and one that merely irritates. Strikes that affect transportation, utility services, municipal services, health facilities must be definitely barred. The law in question should contain due safeguards against selfish action on the part of employers, but it must be written in keeping with the thought that the public welfare is paramount.

The house caught the spirit of the hour, reflected the sentiment of the American people as a whole, by acting with unprecedented promptness after the president spoke. The senate has no excuse for delay. The pretexts that have been offered are of the flimsy fabric of political maneuvering, some of them clearly marked as attempts to subvert the president's leadership for political purposes only. We predict that the public will show its distaste for such tactics at the first opportunity, if, indeed, it is not already doing so in messages to the hesitant ones.

In time of crisis, we repeat, Mr. Truman did not fail the American people. The senate must not do so.—Wichita Daily Times.

Fruit Tree Pointers Given

J. F. Rosborough, A&M College Extension Service horticulturist, writes the following suggestions about current orchard care. He especially points out that fruit should be thinned out on peach trees to where the peaches are 4 to 6 inches apart so they will have room to grow bigger and better quality fruit.

Prospects for a "bumper" fruit crop are excellent. What does this mean to you and me? Well, let's see.

First, it means that from the home fruit plot there should be plenty of fruit for fresh eating and canning. Secondly, it means to the commercial grower responsibilities in harvesting and marketing. It means that the commercial growers will need to: 1. Use every sound orchard practice to protect his orchard and crop by spraying systematically to produce high quality fruit for a crowded competitive market. 2. Thin our fruits 4 to 6 inches apart in May before the seed begins to harden so that he will have larger, higher quality fruits because large, attractively packed fruits will always sell first. 3. Cultivate shallow, often and systematically to protect his "busy" trees from competition with weeds and grasses.

In many areas current season twig and limb growth is slow. Just remember that next year's fruit crop will be borne on this new wood now forming.

Peach leaf curl is now severe in many sections of the state. This fungus disease is characterized by puckered, wrinkled, rolled, curled or scalloped, and thickened leaves and light green or reddish-brown color. The disease will damage the growth and fruit production in proportion to its severity on the tree. After leaf curl appears in the spring, there is nothing that can be done to correct it for that season. Spraying thoroughly at relatively high pressure with liquid lime sulphur according to directions on the container before the buds burst out in the spring give excellent control. Trees whose leaves are affected should be fertilized now to stimulate new leaf growth to partially overcome the weakening effect of diseased foliage or foliage losses.

Some of the large varieties of butterflies migrate south for the winter.

January 11, 1928, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sublett were made very happy by the birth of a crying baby girl. After much thought they christened her Betty Jean.

She has been a student at Dozier, McAllen, and Lone Mound but has attended Samnorwood school for five years. She has participated in basketball, softball and volley ball. Her favorite subject is civics. Betty has served for one year as girls sports editor of "The Eagles Nest". Her future plans are undecided.

Billie June Bodine

In Wellington, Texas June 15, 1928, a daughter arrived to Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Bodine. They gave her the becoming name of Billie June.

Her favorite subjects are history and music. Billie's hobby is collecting snapshots. During her four years of high school, she has been a member of the F. H. A. for three years and one year in the glee club.

She plans to enter Draughans Business College. Her major is commercial work. Her ambition is to be a secretary.

Billy Juan Whitfield

At Howe, Texas on August 30, 1928, to Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Whitfield was born a son, later christened Billy Juan. He attended Nicholson school, then entered Samnorwood school, where he has attended for the past nine years.

His hobby is playing the piano; and as for sports, he has participated in basketball, baseball and tennis while in high school. He has been vice-president of his class, and was art director for the annual this year.

Billy plans to enter West Texas State College in Canyon, though his major course is undecided. He hopes to be a traveling salesman, and we hope for this senior of '46 a bright future and success in all he enters.

Charles Kenyon Young

On July 19, 1928, Charles Young was born in Oklahoma City, Okla., to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Young.

He attended Porter, Flat, and Wheeler schools and has been a student at Samnorwood school for the past eight years.

Honor Teachers

Pupils in C section of the fifth grade had been acting mysteriously for several weeks, and the cause of the secrecy came to light in the form of a surprise party for their teachers. The party was held at the Community Building on Monday evening, May 20.

Several times lately teachers were asked to leave the room for a few minutes or have been asked not to come in after the class had been assembled. They thought of a fruit shower but all the time plans for the party were taking shape. It was a surprise even to the mothers. But at the last several mothers were asked for a little help on the refreshments.

On arrival, the teachers were completely surprised by a shower of rice. Several games were played and piano solos were played by Melva Joyce Squyres and Jocelyn Wells.

Refreshments of angel food cake and punch were served. At each teacher's plate was a lovely corsage. Then, according to the plan of the class, a grab box filled with gifts from the various class members was passed among the teachers. The gifts lasted for three times around. Teachers present were Mrs. Ruth Barton, Mrs. Oris Miller, Mrs. J. B. Stevenson, Mrs. T. J. Jones, and Mrs. J. W. Holder. Mothers who helped were Mrs. Walker Todd, Mrs. Morris Wells and Mrs. Jim Wood.

Pupils present were Martha Hall, Harold Isaacs, Sylvia Lois Payne, Ruth Rogers, Grizzelle Scott, Jimmy Robert Scott, Mary K. Scott, Phillip Simmons, Laverne Spraggins, Melva Squyres, Patricia Ann Starr, Jocelyn Wells, Loyd Sutton, Patsy Sutton, Jimmy Thompson, Don Todd, Bobby Jack Watson, Tom Wilkins, Betty Wood and Billie Mounts.

Bill Bomar was here to take part in the roping contest staged by the Wellington Rodeo Association. A buffet style dinner was served at the Community Hall at noon to thirty-five guests. The family gathered again after the rodeo for a picnic supper.

Relatives attending were Claude Wells of Memphis; Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Pink Sullivan, James Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Horn, Mrs. Lucy Wells, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Griffith, Miss Hattie D. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Wells and daughters, Barbara and Jocelyn; Mr. and Mrs. Deskins Wells and daughter, Diane; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gibson and son, Billie Jack; Joe Horn, Mr. and Mrs. China Smith and son, China Jr., of Iowa Park; Mrs. Ben Bomar, Clovis, N. M., and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bomar, Clovis, N. M.

National Home Demonstration Week, May 5 to 12, was observed by the five 4-H clubs and seven Home Demonstration clubs in this county. In gratitude for the things home demonstration work has done for them, the club members have sent fifteen packages of clothing to Philippine Relief and have collected eight cases of canned food for European Relief.

Summer clothing was sent to the Philippine Islands for distribution by Miss Presentacion Atienza, Filipino home demonstration agent, who received part of her field training in Texas homes and with the Texas Home Demonstration Association have donated funds for supplying the experimental laboratories that were destroyed during the war.

For famine relief cases of canned foods were given which included such foods as: evaporated or condensed milk, meat, fish, baby foods, stews, soups, peanut butter, baked beans, and fruits.

Attention was focused on the contribution of the home and family toward progress and world peace. The theme "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World," was an inspiration for each member to give her share to the peace of tomorrow.

Stripes For Fun

Junior playclothes love stripes this season, particularly in such half-and-half combinations as the beach costume pictured — pedal pushers in lightweight multi-colored wool with a black jersey sweater blouse. Other note worthy trends launched in the new collection from junior houses include the bloomer vogue for both sunsuits and swim suits, petticoat prettiness in young looking striped cotton dresses with hemline flounces of white eyelet, and midriff exposure.

Gospel Of Christ

(Rom. 1:16)

CHRIST'S BLOOD CLEANSETH

"The blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth us of all sin." 1 John 1:7. "Apart from shedding of blood there is no remission." Heb. 9:22: "It is impossible that the blood of bulls and goats should take away sin." Heb. 10:4. The perfect sacrifice had need to be offered, so Christ came as that sacrifice and "purchased with his own blood" the church which has salvation by that blood.

Paul says we have redemption through Christ's blood. Eph. 1:7. Thus we realize anew that "the blood is the life." Deut. 12:23. The life of man is in his blood and eternal life is in the blood that Christ shed.

Christ shed His blood in His death when the Roman spear pierced His side as He hung upon the cross. John 19:33,34. To receive the benefits of that blood we must come to that place where it was shed. We go not to Jerusalem but to "His death" and thus are brought to the "fountain opened for uncleanness" and are made pure by His blood.

We are "baptized into His death." Rom. 6:3. So we see salvation by His blood necessitates obedience to the plan. To be saved by His blood we must be "baptized into His death." It's so easy to understand such plain truths; so hard to modify!

Christian Faith Helps Build Orient Of Future

By GROVE H. PATTERSON
addressing the Foreign Missions
Conference of North America,
Buck Hill Falls, Pa.

(NOTE: Mr. Patterson, editor of the Toledo, Ohio, Blade, and former president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, last winter covered the Orient as a correspondent at the invitation of Gen. Lerch, governor-general of Korea. He traveled extensively in Korea, Japan, China, and the Philippines. The results of his observation of the amazing influence of Christian missions upon the lives of the people are included in this message to the Foreign Mission Conference, late in March. Unable to make the trip across two states to attend the convention, Mr. Patterson delivered his address to a microphone in the studio of WTOL, where it was transcribed and sent to the meeting.)

I have just returned from a 17,000 mile trip to and through the Far East. As a newspaperman and an observer, trying to be objective and unprejudiced and not seeking to prove a preconceived theory but to find facts, I looked about.

I have seen something of Japan, of Korea, of China and the Philippine Islands. I came back with two or three conclusions, two or three convictions, indeed, that I never had before. The one I am going to talk about today was not built out of wishful thinking. It was not built out of hope and faith. It was built out of simple observation, out of the experience of men who know, and out of obvious facts. But the facts, it seems to me, have not received the comment, the publicity, that they deserve.

Now, what is this simple conclusion that I have arrived at? Here is the answer. It is my conviction that the missionary movement in the Far East, sponsored and supported by the Christian Churches of the Western World, is now paying heavy dividends. I must confess that personally I have not had as much interest in and as much enthusiasm for the cause of missions abroad as I probably should have had.

I have heard the same old questions many times—What's the good of sending our money to support missionaries in the foreign field? What good are they doing? I suppose we newspaper people are sometimes a little on the hard-boiled side. I probably have asked those questions myself. But if I wasn't too well sold on missions when I went to Japan and Korea and China, I had at least a healthy curiosity.

Instead of going to the missionaries themselves for the answers, I went to war correspondents, to State Department men, to Army and Navy officers. I also went to the natives. Never once in that long journey did I hear one word of criticism of the missionary movement. Everywhere I heard praise for what the Christian missionaries had done for the people of the Far East.

Now, what do I mean when I say the missionary movement is today paying dividends in Japan, Korea, China, and the Philippine Islands? Let me speak of Japan first.

I mean that the members of the Christian Church are in the leadership and forefront of that amazing program for a new Japan that is being translated into reality by the executive genius of one of the greatest men of our times; indeed, in my opinion, one of the great men in American history, General Douglas MacArthur.

What General MacArthur is doing in Japan is almost too astonishing to comprehend when one first has an opportunity to see it. His directives have been completely devastating to the old Japan. With the stroke of the pen he has done away with Shintoism, that fanatical union of super-patriotism and emperor worship, as a state religion. With a stroke of the pen he has broken the power of the five great families which for generations owned and controlled the giant banks and financial interests and industrial plants of Japan. No more do the houses of Mitsui and Mitsubishi, and the others, own the country.

With a single directive does he cause the school books of Japan to be rewritten. More than that, by a single order, he suspends the teaching of Japanese history in the schools of Japan. New textbooks which will not be based upon legend and mythology can be written.

The old cabinet is gone. The old Parliament or Diet is on the way out. A new constitution has been written and General MacArthur has approved it. Personally, I have an idea he wrote it himself. Suddenly, without being told to do it, the Emperor issues an amazing statement. He tells his people that the idea that he is or ever was a God is all wrong. Just an invention, he says, by evil men who sought unearthly power. I laughed when one of my friends said the reason Hirohito says he is not a god is because he has discovered that General MacArthur is!

To the aid of the Christian church in Japan, in fact a missionary movement in itself, has come the deeply influential Young Men's Christian Association. For many years the Y.M.C.A. has been strong in Japan. Modern associations in the American manner have been operating in 10 Japanese cities. Despite the heavy damage by bombing, eight of them carry on today. The spirit for service, for rebuilding and expansion on the part of the Japanese secretaries of the Y is beautiful to see. Here again in the Y.M.C.A. work are many of the foremost collaborators with General MacArthur in the great cause of bringing to Japan a new political, economic and social system.

What I've said for Japan goes for Korea and China. Indeed, the activities of the missionaries through the years in Korea has, I was told, given the Christian Church a power and an influence in that country far disproportionate to its membership.

In China I saw what I saw in Japan. Church men and church women, the products of the missionaries from America and Europe, are out in front in the mighty effort to bring in China a unified, representative, democratic government. Especially did I hear educated Chinese persons praise the magnificent service of medical missionaries.

I spent an evening with one of the most brilliant Chinese gentlemen I have ever known. He is the editor of one of the popular newspapers in Shanghai—a big newspaper—for Shanghai is a city of four and one-half millions. This Chinese editor is not a Christian, but he was completely generous in his praise of the missionary movement, especially of all that the medical missionaries have done and are doing for his country.

In Shanghai I talked to old China hands, European or Americans who had been out there for most of a lifetime. Many of them were far from orthodox or even liberal Christians in the theological sense. They were men not found in the pews of any of the excellent churches in Shanghai, but without exception they felt the missionaries had done and were doing an extremely useful work for China.

Christians are well up in the leadership of the long and difficult task of giving China a unified government. You may have read fairly recently that two sons of the Generalissimo have been baptized. And he and Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek are members of a Christian Church in Shanghai, although they have lived for several years in the temporary capital of Chungking.

Yes, I say again in conclusion, with complete conviction, that the missionary movement is now paying its heaviest dividends. If you have been indifferent to Foreign Missions, go to the Far East and I predict you will be converted.

Even after we all have walkie-talkies I suppose someone will still cut in and say "Your five minutes are up."

MOSCOW FEATURE

Here's what they're wearing in Moscow these days, as exemplified by this substantially proportioned model at a Moscow style. The summer suit, designed by A. Kulichev, features a three-quarter length jacket of heavy material. Looks right chic, too.

There's PLENTY of HOT WATER"

There's hot water for the whole family when you have an automatic gas water heater... hot water for baths, shaving, laundry, dishes—steaming hot water if you want it—in abundant quantities. Natural gas service is an everyday miracle providing comfort and convenience in your home, providing clean, efficient fuel in your factory.

WHAT IS THE SECRET OF THIS MIRACLE OF SERVICE?

There's really no secret at all... just huge underground reserves of natural gas, plus thousands of miles of transmission lines to carry gas from the wellhead to your burners.

United Gas Pipe Line Company, with more than 6,000 miles of main pipe lines in the Gulf South area, transports natural gas to the city gates of 169 communities in Texas alone—to 312 cities and towns in the Gulf South. The United Companies are good citizens of the area they serve—spending millions of dollars in payrolls, taxes and royalty payments every year. This money benefits every family in Texas in one way or another.

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

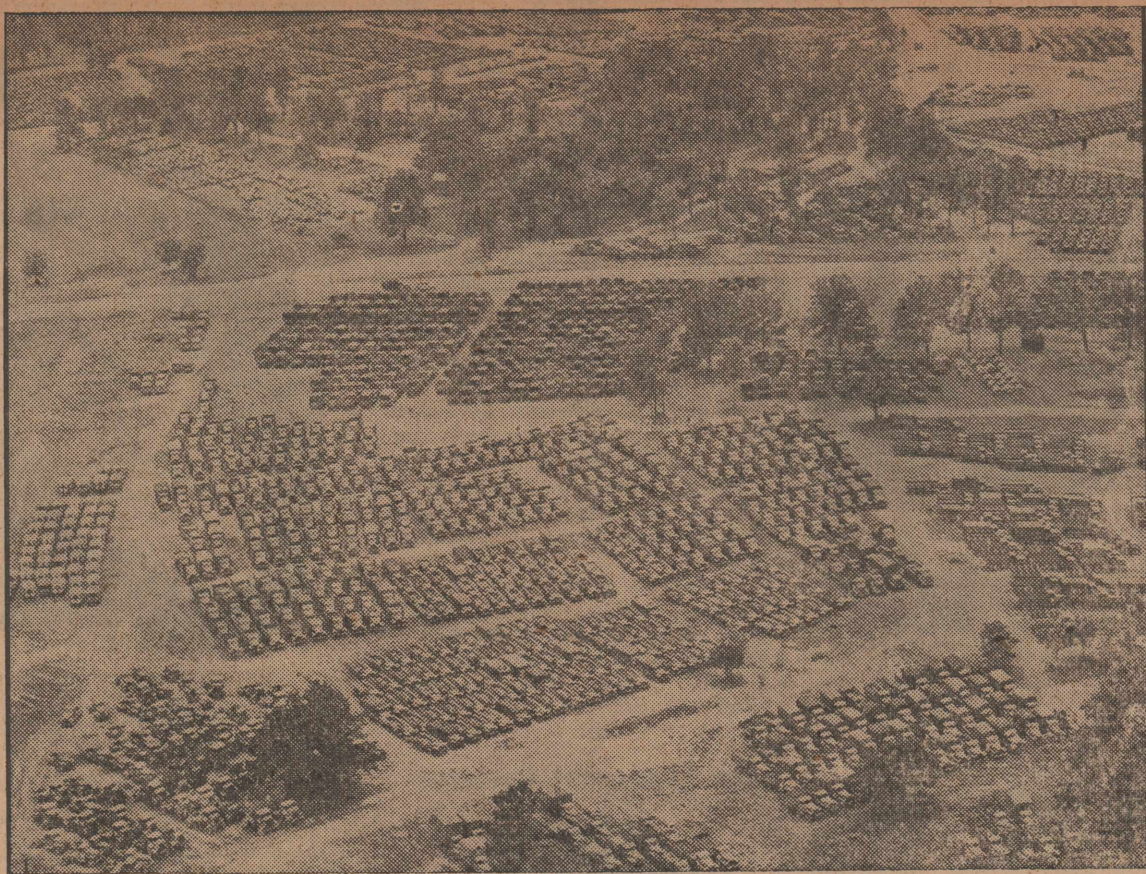

An arm of light claws the plains' soft garment of tranquillity as the streamliner pounds iron rails with restless hoofs and spews out of space like a silver monster whose heart is on fire. The tremulous horn reverberates its plaintive despondency into dark valleys between the stars, and with a swish of its red tail the inconsolable metal demon is gone. But the sound of its cry hangs on the cornice of silence like the scream from a tortured child in the star-chamber of a miserable dream. It bellows at the gates of distance and echoes in hills of darkness, finally sobbing on the deep pillow of horizon. In a flame of madness, another gleaming train plows its path through the night and again the melancholy lamentation; the cry of estranged lovers lost to each other for eternity.

Roaches were spaced in motionless impudence on the grease-stained wall beside the virulent coffee urn in the small Oklahoma cafe. Yellow pimples of dried egg rose from the unwashed counter near the tangerine blonde who rested her chin in her hands and looked up at the young miner with thoughts that spoke. Odor of boiling cabbage, stale grease and scorched potatoes passed under the low and sagging ceiling. Hanging askew above the empty pie case was a small sign bearing this wording: "We speak Texas language."

Being reluctant to accept facts until they are established, I admit the arrival of spring after witnessing heel-flies chase the cattle in wheat pastures and observing an increased number of apparently empty automobiles parked along the highway at night.

Nothing is more revolting than a man who laughs at his own jokes unless it is a man who brushes fingernails on his coat lapel and looks away, absorbed in other thoughts, at the climax of my story.

Old highways, like broken webs of the past, dangle from the hills in silent testimony of progress.

GOOD CARS GOING BAD

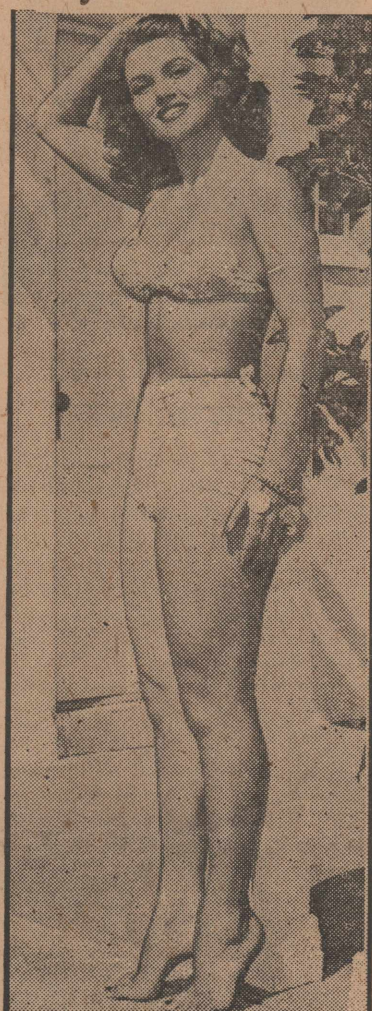

Congress wants the War Department to explain why this stockpile of an estimated 25,000 to 4,000 vehicles is left to rust and deteriorate at Atlanta Ordnance Depot instead of being placed on sale. Many of the autos, trucks, and jeeps are rim-deep in mud and water—and many of them show less than 5,000 miles of use.

cruel disregard for its parentage. Dead weeds cloth the empty veins where life once moved, and erosion covers unknown history that perished without recording. Now a ragged shelf on the red hills, no one remembers the new buggy with wheels glittering in the sunlight, that made tracks in the dust. There is no record of the young bride's whispered vow at the bend in the old road. No trace remains of the wagons freighted with new and pungent pine, that would build new homes in a new country. Where is the laughter of children who passed this way, their bare legs brushing sunflowers as they sat on the floor of a wagon bed? The chugging, narrow-wheeled automobiles are gone after cutting ruts in the mud that spring rains left, and the snows of many winters have melted, unbroken by rolling wheels. Perhaps youths of a half-forgotten war, their cheeks still wet with mother tears, passed on this road never to return. Before the corridor was gutted of its bridges, friends followed in slow procession the grim caravans of the dead; lovers halted beneath the altar of stars to pledge their devotion. Abandoned roads are empty pockets in the world's old coat, which once contained the sweetened bread of life.

White and gleaming beneath the bright Oklahoma sun, the new roadside filling station bore testimony of the two young partners' confidence in the future. Small gold buttons were fixed in the pocket flaps of each boy's spotless uniform. Young grass will soon be sprouting in the mulches soil which held the sign, white with ten-inch neatly-painted red letters, these two words: "CLEAN LADIES."

Nothing asks so little and gives so much as the truth.

June 15 Deadline For Candidates To File With Chairman

June 15 is the deadline for filing as a candidate for a county or precinct office, L. A. Manzer, county Democratic chairman, reminded this week.

Candidates were also reminded that they must file with the county chairman if their names appear on the official ballot. Announcing their candidacy through the newspaper does not entitle them to a place on the ballot if they have not filed with the chairman before the deadline date.

LADY NEARLY CHOKED WHILE LYING IN BED—DUE TO STOMACH GAS
