Spring gives full play to hobbies, and the average wife can more easily predict the whereabouts of her husband.

Legs are coming back, we read. Walking, we trust.

Add simile: A broke as a college paper without cigarette ads.

McBee's main street is being re-planned. Spanish in design. Town's only uniformity is in the slippy lack thereof.

Soviet Russia, couldn't have "liberalized" parts of the east with any more efficiency than did McBee.

Musing of the moment: Students demanding bonuses for participation in future wars, will probably next be seeking half of the Townsend old age pensions. This outcome is not illogical. While it may be argued that they would get much of the old folks' money anyway, it is the characteristic of youth that it wishes its rights under its own name.

Brevitorials

NO ELECTION is satisfactory, regardless of the results, if the turnout of voters is small. An exceptionally large number of Pampa voters have paid their poll taxes. It should follow that the votes will be numerous in each election this year. Unfortunately this assumption is contradicted by experience. The date of the series of elections comes next Saturday, April 4, when a trustee will be elected to the school board. Pampans should vote in this election if for no other reason than to express their support of the school and the school board. It is a logical question in previous school board elections would have been: "Where were the PTA members who should have voted?" Similarly, there should be a full turnout next Saturday in the city election. A decision by a majority of the citizenship. He who does not vote should not later criticize the man who is elected.

The proposal to stage a parade in Pampa, school bands, six, count down the West Texas champion. The parade committee is a committee next month is a committee one if properly safe-guarded. The WTCC meetings are predominantly demonstative, with the parades topping the list of public contacts. Six bands, joined by the Jaycee, cowboy string bands, would make a tremendous impression and reflect credit on Pampa and Pampa schools.

MOST ELABORATE of the April editions to reach WORDS is that of The Prairie, student weekly at West Texas Teachers college, Canyon. Remembering that it was April Fool's day, one with possible claim can read that: "Editor is victim of axe murder. International Relations club starts riot. Three lovely co-eds killed, two injured. Buffalo Courts gamblers jailed. Local fair went with military accompaniment featuring vovs."

It is reliably reported to WORDS that Amarillo has had a dusts lately which Pampa. Maybe this accounts for its single in the Dalhart Texas: "Mary had a little lamb. Its fleece was white as snow. It went to Amarillo one day. And now look at the darn thing!"

ANDLIDLY THOUGH, we understand Amarilloans no longer seek of dust. They talk about being the heart of what Dalhart formerly was the heart of. A local man, turning from Milton Wells said practice of Panhandle residents in going to health resorts in the spring was giving the impression that this section is not inhabitable.

NEW AGRICULTURAL PROGRAM PLANS RECEIVED BY THOMAS; MEETINGS TO BE HELD SOON

TWO KINDS OF CASH PAYMENTS TO BE MADE

Plans for the new agricultural program to put into effect the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act have been received by Ralph R. Thomas, agricultural agent of Gray county. State and district meetings have been held to discuss the plan, and the extension agents with the substance of these plans, and meetings of farmers will be held all over Texas during the next few days. Mr. Thomas said. The meeting for district one was held at Wellington March 31 and was attended by Miss Ruby Adams, Ralph R. Thomas, and Miss Myrtle Fay Gilbert, assistant in the county agent's office.

High points in the program are: Crops are all classified. Three classes have been set up. These are soil depleting crops, soil conserving crops, and soil building crops. Two kinds of payments will be made to farmers for land use—soil conserving payments and soil building payments, but the money for both will come in one check. And this money will come in one effect certain practices which conserve the soil on his farm.

Bases established on old reduction contracts will be taken as a guide for establishing the base for 1936 on the soil conservation program, with, of course, the old reduction contracts not included in former contracts. Organization of farmers to administer the program will be under way in many counties before the end of March. The farm demonstration councils of other key farmers will be organized. Each of these "communities" will then elect three committee-men. These "community" committee-men constitute a County Soil Conservation and Allotment Board. The county board will elect one of its members to serve as a county committee. The county agent will represent the secretary of agriculture in the county.

Since the entire acreage of every farm must be listed on the work sheet, planning for the soil conservation work a neutral classification has been set up as well as the three crop classification.

In general it will be easy to remember that the soil depleting crops are mostly row crops, while the soil conserving crops are the legumes, grains and grasses that are used for cover crops and to turn under as green manure. The neutral classification includes idle land, fallow land, woodland, non-crop land, pastures, yards, lanes, roadways, vineyards, and so forth. About 20 per cent of the base acreage in soil depleting crops must be classified as soil conserving or soil building crops in order to qualify for participation in the program. The actual ratio will be determined by adding 20 per cent of the base acreage to 15 per cent of the base acreage of other soil depleting crops. In other words, the required ratio of soil conserving and soil building crops to soil depleting crops on a strictly cotton farm would be 20 per cent; on other farms it would probably be less than this figure.

The maximum cotton acreage on any one farm upon which soil conserving payment will be made is 35 per cent of the cotton base. No payment will be made for acreage taken out of food and feed crops. The 1936 acreage of such crops is at least equal to the actual needs of the farm family and work stock. Corn interplanted with peas will be considered as 50 per cent corn and 50 per cent peas in calculating bases and performances.

The conserving payments will be based on the productivity of the land; for cotton it will be 5 cents per

Vehicle Licenses Here Total 6,300

About 5,500 car licenses and 800 truck licenses had been issued in Gray county last midnight when the office of F. E. Leach, tax assessor-collector, was closed. The office was kept open until the clock struck midnight and the deadline ended, although there was only one caller after 10 p. m. Extra clerks were added during the rush period, and lines of patrons were held to a minimum. Today the demand for vehicle

Loser, Says He

"Besides giving my full time to the Townsend movement, I am thousands of dollars out of pocket," telegraphed Edward J. Margett (above), the Townsendites' San Francisco area manager, to the house committee which is investigating the nation-wide movement. Margett said that his commissions even exceeded the $1,800 to $2,100 a month at which they had been reported by Committee Counsel James H. Sullivan, but that out of the sums he had to pay all employees, salaries and other expenses in his area.

A police guard hustled him thru the crowd jamming the corridor, got him into an elevator, and he was rushed to the street. Again his guard hurried him through the sidewalk crowd to a car. About the same time Attorney General Wilentz was leaving the state house, at the other end of town, for the court house. He said he had not been told to come at that time, but had decided to be available. Wilentz emerged from the room at about 2:25 after nearly two hours of testimony. He said it was his opinion that "even accepting Wendell's confession there is no basis upon which a murder charge could be placed in this county."

"There is no jurisdiction in Mercer county," the attorney general said. "The confession claims the child died a natural death, that it fell out of bed after it had been kept there for four weeks."

"It is my considered judgment that this county has no jurisdiction."

He said the jury would shortly recess for lunch and said he did not expect to be recalled.

The governor declined to accept a subpoena to appear before the grand jury, saying that he would appear voluntarily.

The office of Prosecutor Erwin E. Marshall reported that Dr. John P. Condon, the "Jafise" of the ransom negotiations, was in the county to appear before the grand jury. This was lacking confirmation from Dr. Condon.

As Parker waited in the witness room nearby, a guard was placed beside him so that he could not talk to other witnesses. Leo Rogers, assistant prosecutor, said he had ordered this done.

Dr. Charles H. Mitchell, Mercer county physician, who performed the autopsy on the body of the slain baby, arrived at the prosecutor's office a little after 11 o'clock.

The physician, who is also county republican chairman, said he had been called to appear before the jury.

The jury investigating charges that Paul H. Wendel, rather than Hauptmann, committed the crime of the Sourland Hills for which Hauptmann has been sentenced to die, also arranged to hear attorney General David T. Wilentz, the Hauptmann prosecutor and there were unconfirmed reports that Dr. John P. Condon, the Lindbergh ransom intermediary, also would be called.

Hoffman Accused

The jury plunged into its renewed consideration of the Wendel case while charges were popping that Gov. Hoffman was blocking efforts to probe an alleged assault on the caretaker at the Lindbergh's abandoned Hopewell estate—yesterday.

Awaiting call before the jury was Ellis Parker, the Burlington county detective chief whose private investigation of the Lindbergh baby murder led to the Wendel arrest.

A guard stood beside Parker to prevent his talking with other witnesses while he was waiting to enter the jury room.

Dr. Carroll T. Jones, superintendent of the state colony for the feeble-minded at New Lisbon where Wendel spent four weeks prior to being turned over to Mercer county authorities last Saturday night, testified briefly. He produced a statement signed by Wendel in which Wendel said he was entering the hospital voluntarily.

250 CHILDREN IS GRAY QUOTA TO CENTENNIAL

County Singers To Be Part of Massed Chorus

Gray county will be allowed to send 250 children to the massed chorus at the Centennial in June, it was announced today by W. B. Weathered, county superintendent.

This quota is the county's part of the chorus of 50,000 which will be assembled in Dallas to sing Centennial songs. How to transport the children is not yet known, but a special safe plan uniform throughout the state will be perfected.

Gray county's singers will be chosen from the May 1 massed chorus here at Harvester park, when 5,000 or more children will be heard. Each singer must show that he or she can sing all the required songs from memory.

Miss Nell Parney, state music supervisor, was here recently to give instructions concerning singing of Centennial music.

Bands of Gray county also will participate in the music festival here May 1.

Cafeteria Fund Gets $50 From Albert Combs

A contribution of $50 for the cafeteria fund of local schools has been received from Albert Combs, it was announced today.

These public gifts are, with aid from clubs and organizations, providing free noon lunches for children who are undernourished and whose families are barely able to exist on work relief wages.

Nearly one hundred children are being fed. Mr. Combs' contribution was announced by Supt. R. B. Fisher.

JURORS HEAR BOTH WILENTZ AND GOVERNOR

HAUPTMANN LIKELY TO ESCAPE DEATH ON FRIDAY NIGHT

By DALE HARRISON (Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press)

TRENTON, N. J., April 2 (AP)—The Mercer county grand jury, which saved Bruno Richard Hauptmann's life Tuesday night, called Gov. Harold H. Hoffman to testify today, and the belief grew swiftly that Hauptmann again would escape the electric chair tomorrow night.

The governor emerged from the grand jury room at noon. He had been before the jury for an hour and fifteen minutes. He had no comment to offer on his appearance.

A police guard hustled him thru the crowd jamming the corridor, got him into an elevator, and he was rushed to the street. Again his guard hurried him through the sidewalk crowd to a car.

TEMPERATURE DROPS TO 16 IN CITY AREA

Coldest Weather In April In Many Years Sweeps Northwest Texas.

(By The Associated Press)

The coldest April weather in many years plunged the temperature far below freezing in Northwest Texas today while other parts of the state were chilled by bitter winds.

Violent temperature drops were reported all over the state and the mercury hit a low of 14 above zero at Amarillo—the lowest April reading there since 1920 when it touched 13 above. The mercury dropped to 16 at Pampa.

Dallas, with a low of 31.7, was the coldest since a 30-degree reading was taken in 1914.

Strong winds whipped southward during the night apparently averted extensive frost damage to crops. The wind reached a velocity of 25 to 30 miles an hour in North Texas and Galveston reported a top speed of 32 miles.

Weather bureau observers described the unusual cold as a typical "norther," such as those which normally freeze this region in the winter months. The temperature was down to four below zero in Nebraska and Sheridan, Wyoming, had a low mark of 10 below. Both of these readings were the lowest on record so late in the spring. The "norther" blew into Texas from the frozen Rocky mountain region.

Temperature declines of as much as 45 degrees overnight were reported from various points. The drops were particularly sharp in West Texas.

After falling to 20 degrees, the temperature started rising slowly under a clear sky at Borger. Lubbock likewise had a low of 20, as compared with a maximum of 75 yesterday. Damage to fruit was feared in the Lubbock section.

Wichita Falls reported a 26 minimum, the coldest for April in the history of the weather bureau there.

At Van Alstyne the low was 27 and farmers expected all young corn was killed and would have to be replanted.

The San Angelo drop was from 80 degrees yesterday afternoon to 33 this morning, a fall of 47 degrees. Abilene's temperature descended to 28.

Corsicana had a low of 35—a drop of 49 degrees, with a strong north wind. There was no frost or cold damage there.

At Denton the minimum was 29, but high winds kept frost damage away. Palestine reported a 35-degree mark, dropping from 87. Paris' temperature dropped 50 degrees overnight to 20 this morning. The wind was strong there and no frost damage was found.

Austin reported a drop from 89 yesterday to 42 this morning and San Antonio had a minimum of 44, compared with yesterday's maximum of 90. There was dust at San Antonio, with visibility limited to five miles. Houston and Del Rio had low readings of 48.

There were traces of rain at Brownsville and Port Arthur.

FUGITIVES CAPTURED

NORMAN, Okla., April 2. (AP)—Two 18-year-old youths who Norman police said admitted saving their way from the Gainesville, Texas, jail, were captured here today by Patrolman William Greenway. Greenway arrested the youths, who he said gave the names of Freddie Almanza and William Johnson, alias Joe Thomas, when they drove the car into a filling station without lights.

Support of Father Charles E. Coughlin's National Union for Social Justice has been thrown to Mrs. Thomas D. Schall, above, in her campaign against Gov. Floyd Olson of Minnesota for the U. C. G. Schultz, Rising Star temporary postmaster, and his son, Cecil, testified Henry had a good reputation at Rising Star. Cecil Schultz said he was in the grocery business and knew Henry to be a "man of his word."

Over the protest of defense counsel, jurors were withdrawn when Miss Vada Switzer, Rising Star telephone operator, described the placing of a long distance call by Della McBee.

"I was at the telephone board alone when she came in," Miss Switzer testified. "She (Mrs. McBee) was crying as she said she wanted to place a call to a Mr. McBee at Eastland. I asked her if something was wrong or someone sick. She said something else worse was wrong, said McBee left her."

JUDGMENT FOR WICHITA FALLS GIVEN BY COURT

Gas Rate Reduction Is Ordered by Judge

AUSTIN, April 2. (AP)—District Judge Ralph W. Yarbrough today upheld an order of the railroad commission reducing the domestic gas rates in Wichita Falls rendered judgment for the state notwithstanding a jury verdict.

The Community Natural Gas company, subsidiary of the Lone Star Gas company, sought an injunction restraining enforcement of the order reducing the burner tip rate in Wichita Falls from 67 1/2 to 61 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

Commission officials estimated the reduction would cost $40,000 annually from consumers' bills in Wichita Falls.

In a separate part of his judgment, Judge Yarbrough upheld the commission order directing a refund to customers of the difference between the 67 1/2 cents and 61 cents rates from Dec. 1, 1933, to March 1, 1935. He also said the refund would be required since March 1, 1935.

Attorneys for the company expected to the judgment and gave notice of appeal, with formal motions to be filed after Judge Yarbrough has overruled motions for new trial.

Aside from questions concerning the rate base Judge Yarbrough ruled the company had not only the legal right but "the duty" not to pay more than 32 cents gas rate as ordered by the commission in the Lone Star Gas company case.

The company contended it had made a contract with the wholesale company to pay it 40 cents. Judge Yarbrough noted the Lone Star Gas corporation, a holding company, controlled both companies.

"In effect, the companies made a contract with themselves," he said.

ALIBIS HEARD IN 'SKELETON' SLAYING TRIAL

STATE STORY DISPUTED IN EVIDENCE OF DEFENSE

EASTLAND, April 2. (AP)—Alibi witnesses testified today in Raymond Henry's murder trial as the defense sought to break down the state's version of the defendant's activities while H. L. McBee allegedly was dying of stab wounds and being secretly buried.

El Walker of Brownwood claimed he was the home of John Proctor in Rising Star and saw Henry there May 1 and 2, 1933—the dates on which the state contends McBee was slain and buried.

The other witnesses, J. O. Petty of O'Donnell, said he brought his brother Joe to Proctor's home May 1 and was there the following two days, noting the presence of Henry.

The state previously had undertaken to prove that McBee was stabbed with an ice pick the morning of May 1, died late that day and was buried by Henry and several other persons in a shallow grave that night. It was brought out in testimony of state witnesses that Henry had been at the McBee home during the day and night.

Henry and his wife, Della, the former Mrs. McBee, were charged with murder for the alleged killing of McBee. A former highway worker. It was purported that after McBee had been buried three weeks the same group present at his death and burial exhumed his body and hanged it to a tree in the woods near Rising Star.

C. G. Schultz, Rising Star temporary postmaster, and his son, Cecil, testified Henry had a good reputation at Rising Star. Cecil Schultz said he was in the grocery business and knew Henry to be a "man of his word."

Over the protest of defense counsel, jurors were withdrawn when Miss Vada Switzer, Rising Star telephone operator, described the placing of a long distance call by Della McBee.

JAPAN STILL IGNORANT OF BORDER FIGHT

Public Not Informed Of Situation In Mongolia; Aggression Charged.

BY GLENN BARR, Associated Press Foreign Staff.

TOKYO, April 2. (AP)—The Japanese government pressed Lieutenant Gen. Kenkichi Uryeda, its ambassador and garrison commander-in-chief in Manchoukuo, today for speedy clarification of the situation in Mongolia, a border area of Soviet-protected Outer Mongolia.

Despite a telegram from Premier Koki Hirota, however, Hsinking, capital of Manchoukuo, remained silent on the outcome, casualties and forces involved in the battle reported in Soviet newspapers to have been waged Tuesday in Outer Mongolia.

The Japanese public still was ignorant of the reported clash, except for the charge of an unprovoked Mongol aggression on Manchoukuo, set forth yesterday in a Hsinking communique by the Japanese general headquarters.

The Tokyo press published only this communique on the border conflict, asserting 12 Outer Mongolian airplanes had bombed a Japanese Manchoukuo frontier guard north of Tachien and within Manchoukuo territory.

Lieut. Gen. Juzo Nishio, former chief of staff of the Japanese army in Manchoukuo, now on his way to Tokyo to assume the vital post of vice-chief of the general staff, declared in an interview at Hsinking, seaport on the main island of Japan:

"If the Japanese army in Manchoukuo were properly reinforced, the Soviets would cease their defiant actions on Manchoukuo's borders."

"The Soviet attitude has stiffened because their Far Eastern forces have reached formidable strength, and incidents like the March 31 clash probably will continue until all such problems are automatically solved by raising the Japanese-Manchoukuo forces to their proper numbers."

FLUSH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste, poisonous matter may develop, causing serious trouble. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, which have been used successfully by millions of people for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills at your druggist.

HITLER HOPES BRITAIN WILL BECOME ALLY

APPEAL IS MADE TO BRITISH PUBLIC OPINION

By MELVIN K. WHITELEATHER,
Associated Press Foreign Staff.

BERLIN, April 2 (AP)—Germany regarded Adolf Hitler's new proposals to the Locarno powers today for a settlement of the Rhineland controversy as a start in a movement that ought to destroy the whole post-war system and revamp Europe.

Other European powers defeated in the World War, officials said, probably will follow the German lead when they see that punitive measures have not been applied to Germany for its smashing of the Locarno pact by remilitarization of the Rhineland.

Der fuhrer's new peace program was hailed as a masterful appeal to British opinion to side with Germany and force France to negotiate on terms removing any threat against Germany's freedom of action.

Austria's institution of military training in contravention of the World War treaty of St. Germain was cited by German officials as an example of spreading of Hitler's diplomacy.

This Austrian step, taken yesterday under a new law calling every able-bodied male between 18 and 42 years of age into federal service, was called here a "logical consequence."

The Hitler memorandum, delivered yesterday to Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden at London, reich officials hoped, would torpedo plans for British, French and Belgian army general staff conversations to insure security against any unprovoked German aggression.

Hitler, it was pointed out, made the same sort of warning against these conferences as he had made against the Locarno pact before he took action to break it.

In his new proposals, calling for four-month negotiations for a "new Locarno," Hitler held that the proposed general staff conversations would be "seriously prejudicial."

Lively comment circulated in diplomatic quarters over the absence in Hitler's communication of specific mention of Rhineland fortifications.

Reports were current that a new system of Rhineland barriers was already prepared which would make it possible to build them outside the Rhineland and then set them up in the remilitarized zone.

The scheme, it was reported, would be fulfilled about the time the proposed four-month period of negotiations for a new security system ended.

The French were understood to want assurances that no fortifications would be started at least until after a new treaty was signed, but the German government had already made known that it intended to erect such barriers.

HECKER IS 'TABOO'

BERLIN, April 2 (AP)—Dr. Hugo Ecker, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, has become "taboo" to the Nazis because of his conduct during the reichstag election campaign. His refusal to come out with a special election appeal caused the propaganda ministry to issue secret orders to the press to drop Ecker's name hereafter out of any publicity concerning the Graf or the giant new zeppelin Hindenburg.

COMPANY'S BID ON NEW SHIP IS UNSATISFACTORY

Department Turns to Navy for Lower Figure

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—The commerce department today turned to the navy for a bid on a proposed new American liner after receipts of "entirely unsatisfactory" estimates from the United States Lines.

The line submitted estimates of $13,346,000 and $14,010,000 for a ship which would be the biggest in America's merchant marine, but an actual bid which had been expected under a contract with the commerce department was not made.

This contract permitted the United States Lines to cock the Leviathan, which was losing money, if the line would build a new ship of the Manhattan and Washington type.

"No bid was received," J. Monroe Johnson, assistant secretary of commerce, said.

"Two estimates, alternative, were submitted. They were entirely conditional and entirely unsatisfactory."

"Total determination of the obligation of the United States Lines to build a new vessel as required under the contract of March 18, 1935, will be arrived at on receipt of the navy's figure in the near future."

Failure to contract for a new ship by midnight yesterday was to require a forfeit of $1,000,000 to the government by United States Lines.

The forfeit, however, was held in abeyance pending study.

Johnson said yesterday the forfeit probably would not be claimed if the navy department could construct the ship, but Secretary Roper only commented:

"What we want is a new ship."

Stalcup Given Death Sentence

LUBBOCK, April 2 (AP)—Virgil Stalcup was sentenced today to die in the electric chair at Huntsville, Monday, May 4.

Formal sentence was passed by Judge Clark M. Mullican at 9 o'clock. Stalcup was immediately carried from the jail here to be returned to the state penitentiary at Huntsville.

Stalcup was convicted of murdering Sheriff W. B. Arthur of Dickens county in a jailbreak at Dickens, Oct. 27, 1934.

Judge Mullican overruled a defense motion asking that passing of sentence be delayed until defense attorneys could procure a copy of the opinion of the court of criminal appeals in overruling a motion for a rehearing of Stalcup's case.

Stalcup was whisked into Lubbock late Wednesday and was to have been sentenced yesterday. A defense request to delay the sentencing until today was granted.

Pittsburgh, Pa., is speeding work on a memorial museum honoring Stephen Collins Foster, American composer.

Col. Luke Lea Leaves Prison

RALEIGH, N. C., April 2 (AP)—Col. Luke Lea, former Tennessee senator and financier, walked from the North Carolina state prison a free man today, paroled after serving nearly two years of a six to ten years sentence for violation of the banking laws.

Smiling a goodbye to Warden H. H. Honeycutt, the former Nashville publisher and banker left the prison with his son, Luke Lea Jr., and Mrs. Lea, Jr.

Colonel Lea's parole, announced last night by Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus, was effective at 10 a. m., but he delayed leaving the prison for an hour in order to complete a report on March activities of the prison hospital. As a prisoner Colonel Lea was assigned to assist in the hospital.

Former Deputy Being Tried for Killing Child

SAN ANGELO, April 2 (AP)—The state called more witnesses today at the trial of Mack Shipley, former Reagan county deputy sheriff, charged with slaying two-year old Jacques Woodrow Willingham Jr.

Shipley pleaded innocence. "The child was shot to death as he slept in the back of his father's automobile at a highway resort near here July 30, last."

State witnesses said they saw Shipley shoot at Willingham's automobile after two men had had a misunderstanding.

John L. Spurgers testified he was with Willingham at the time of the shooting. He said the men had trouble and that Willingham went to his car and started to drive off.

The witness declared Shipley obtained a pistol and fired at the moving car and that the bullet struck the sleeping child in the back.

Willingham said he became acquainted with Shipley the night of the shooting and had taken a few drinks with him, Spurgers and another man.

Studio Announces Centennial Revue

ELLIS PARKER HAS SENT 121 TO 'HOT SEAT'

OPPOSES THIRD DEGREE TACTICS IN CRIME DETECTION

MT. HOLLY, N. J., April 2 (AP)—Ellis H. Parker, Burlington county detective chief, once again lifted to prominence by his activities in the Lindbergh kidnapping case, believes the mind is mightier than the fist in crime detection.

His record is something like 250 successful cases with electrocutions or hangings in 121.

He is a short, thickset man, gray now at 62, with a bristling mustache, blue eyes, a disarming manner and strong, capable hands. He has had 15 children; eight of whom survive.

He likes to work alone, prefers to keep his own counsel, and for years has preached the superiority of reason, intuition, tolerance and persuasion to third degree methods.

He became a detective quite by accident. In the days of his young manhood when he was the country's best fiddler and popular at dances, someone stole his horse and buggy.

Parker trailed the thief, caught him, saw him convicted. In the glow of self-satisfaction he determined to follow his natural bent.

He remarked once he "could tell a guilty man when I see him."

It was not boasting.

At the time—in the spring of 1922—he was working on the slaying of John Brunen, Riverside circus owner, who had been shot through the head while sitting in his kitchen reading a newspaper.

The case appeared far from solution. Two months later he had solved the case. Two persons were convicted.

He solved the slaying of Michael Gregor, a soldier at Camp Dix, whose skeleton was found in the woods three months after his disappearance. Parker called in Gregor's company mates, questioned them, picked out in his own mind the slayer, and informed the company commander, who promptly laughed.

Nevertheless Parker was right. He had analyzed every man in the company. The suspect was the only one who remembered something about Gregor the day he disappeared. The others had raked their memories in vain. Further detective work, no third degree, and Parker had the evidence against his man. The suspect saw he was trapped, confessed and got twenty years in prison.

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—American business, as represented by the National Association of Manufacturers, assailed the new $799,000,000 tax program before the house ways and means committee today as "a new share-the-wealth proposal in disguise."

"We submit," Sargent said, "that a tax program which penalizes and discourages the retention of adequate funds for working capital is completely unsound; that not only would this pending measure tend to reduce working capital, as well as reserves, but it would tend to

COMMUNITY SERVICE PROGRAM OF AMERICAN LEGION POST CALLED A LEADING AIM BY COMMANDER

Every ex-service man should join the American Legion to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation, according to Commander A. D. Monteth of the local Kerley-Crossman post. In discussing this phase of the Legion's activities, Mr. Monteth said:

"Nineteen years ago the people of this country were raised to a pitch of patriotism never equaled. With but few exceptions, every individual was striving in whatever manner he could to win the war. Victory had become a personal thing. The solemn obligations of citizenship in this great government of ours were fully recognized by everyone then. Why, following so soon after that peak of patriotic fervor should the makers of the constitution of the American Legion incorporate into its preamble this precept, 'to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state, and nation.' There was something more involved than the desire to include a fine phrase. The growing indifference on the part of the individual to the affairs of our nation, so apparent in years just prior to the war, was remembered. That there would be a marked recession from the wartime patriotic heights was recognized as inevitable.

Legion Best Qualified
The American Legion, as a patriotic service organization, seemed best qualified for the serious work of combating this tendency toward indifference.

"Evidently the size of the undertaking was fully recognized, for the word 'inculcate' was used, and we find it to mean 'to impress frequently and admiringly; to enforce by frequent repetitions.'

"However our leaders wisely surmised that to harangue and exhort about the duty that each individual owes to this country would soon become tiresome and ineffective. While consciousness of what ought to be done could be stirred in the breasts of some by preaching about it, it seemed the better plan, although a somewhat indirect one, would be to set an example.

"One of the most important obligations and one of the most essential is the contribution that every individual should make to the welfare of humanity to the betterment of society of which he is a part.

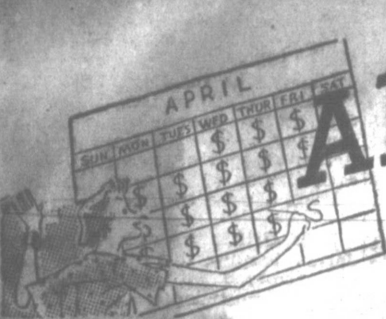

"How, then, could the American Legion, for its own members and for all citizens, stimulate interest in these obligations and awaken a consciousness of their importance? Our leaders reasoned that one good way would be to encourage citizens to go to work for their own communities. Only the very unusual individual can work for a position without becoming vitally interested in it. His activities soon stimulate a feeling of partnership. He becomes jealous of the thing he has helped to build, and continues his interest to see that it is safeguarded and perpetuated. So the American Legion inaugurated its community service program and created an agency through which every member can effectively cooperate.

"So rapidly has this program developed that a catalogue of our activities would reveal a most outstanding range of things accomplished. In fact, it would seem impossible to find anything new to do, yet the 'keeping step' department of our monthly frequently records new and different things that some post has accomplished for the benefit of its community.

If Mrs. Don Bailey will call at the office of the Pampa Daily News before 5 o'clock, she will receive a free ticket to see "It Had to Happen," showing at the La Nora theater Friday or Saturday.

MONTGOMERY WARD

Martial Law Is Proclaimed But Troops Missing

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 2. (AP)—Gov. E. W. Marland's martial law became effective today in the capital grounds oil drilling dispute but not a soldier was in sight.

Only the clanking of oil field machinery disturbed complete peace along the "front"—state land adjoining territory recently opened to drillers.

Although he proclaimed martial law in force at midnight, the governor indicated no national guardsmen would be called immediately. The adjutant general was directed to protect the rights of the state on its land not included in the new tract.

"Oklahoma City authorities have abused the power granted them by the state," the governor said, threatening to appeal to the people, asking them to strip the city of power to prevent oil drilling on state land and permit drilling anywhere in the city.

"They have opened up thickly settled residential sections to oil development adjacent to state lands and are allowing foreign corporations to drain the state lands of valuable oil deposits and are attempting to prevent the state from developing its own oil."

"The people of the state will not permit themselves to be robbed by such high-handed methods."

INFANT DIES

Funeral services were to be conducted at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the chapel at G. C. Malone Funeral home for Charles William Sheu, Jr., who died yesterday. He was an infant son. Services were to be conducted by the Rev. C. E. Lancaster, pastor of First Baptist church. The parents and brother, Robert Carlton Sheu, survive. Burial was in the baby garden at Fairview cemetery.

Mrs. Lucy Shelton was taken to her home at McLean from Pampa-Jarrett hospital yesterday.

HAUPTMANN

who committed an alleged assault and battery yesterday upon Joseph Lyons, the caretaker at the Lindbergh estate near Hopewell.

Hauptmann said five men visited the estate yesterday in defiance of demands by Lyons that they get out. When they left, Hauptmann said, they drove their car so that the caretaker was forced to leap from its path or be run down.

An effort to learn from the state motor vehicle department who owned the car in which the five intruders rode was met with the statement that Gov. Hoffman had taken the record of registration from there and that it could be obtained only from him.

While these developments were breaking, Hauptmann himself was just awakening from an 11-hour sleep.

Guards said he retired at 10:30 o'clock last night, falling asleep immediately and hardly stirring during the night. He appeared greatly refreshed, the guards said, and confident that he would not die at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

The increasing belief that "something" would happen to prevent the execution, already three days delayed, was based on these developments:

1. The possibility that the grand jury would indict Wendel for the murder, thus casting such doubt upon Hauptmann's conviction for the crime as to bring about a delay in his execution.

2. The fact that Gov. Hoffman, who already has once reprieved Hauptmann, is showing increasing activity in the case which he has said will not be solved by putting to death of the Bronx carpenter.

3. The statement of Col. Mark O. Kimberling, prison warden, that he will delay the execution to the limit of his authority as long as any legal action affecting the Lindbergh case is pending.

Under the death warrant he may execute Hauptmann any time during "the week of March 30," which may possibly mean as late as Sunday night.

The warden, if necessary, will ask the sentencing justice, Thomas W.

Trenchard, to define the exact limits of "the week of March 30."

4. The fact that other so-called "new evidence," such as the story of Stephen Spitz that he possesses Lindbergh ransom notes which he bought from persons other than Hauptmann, remains to be inquired into.

Reports from Chicago today said the money to pay the fine necessary to obtain Spitz's release from jail (where he was serving a sentence on a bad check charge) was furnished by Gov. Hoffman himself. The amount was $892, the balance of a $1,000 fine.

5. The further fact that Governor Hoffman is so definitely committed to obtaining a "complete solution" of the entire case, that many believe he will find some way to delay the execution, even though Attorney General Wilentz, his official legal adviser, has held that his reprieve powers are now exhausted.

Other authorities, however, are reported to have offered a contrary opinion which the governor, in the case of extreme necessity, might elect to follow.

STORMS

and five persons were injured by a twister which cut a path 300 miles wide across Hannah's Church community north of Gordo, Ala.

Will Hawkins, a negro, was killed and several homes and large warehouse were destroyed at the village of Sasser, in Terrell county, Ga.

All available ambulances and hearses were pressed into service to care for the dead and injured at Cordele. Physicians said "about 50 were injured."

To the east, business buildings and homes were damaged by a storm at the village of Vidalia. Two persons were injured.

Destruction of communication wires by falling trees hampered the work of checking the toll.

The weather bureau warned the floods were to be expected in all rivers of Georgia, South Carolina, and North Carolina. Waters rose also in the Tennessee river.

The Cordele Dispatch, reporting an area of about eight blocks of the city in that city, said the death toll might exceed 20.

The Dispatch estimated the wind at times reached a velocity of 90 to 95 miles an hour. At least 50 persons were reported injured.

The known dead:

Bill Brashwell, 43, employee of an oil company.

Mrs. W. F. Mims, 50, wife of a Baptist minister.

Three unidentified white men. One unidentified white woman.

One undertaker had calls for four additional dead.

Four or five persons were believed buried under debris of Mrs. W. I. Harris' grocery store, which was demolished.

Dr. C. E. McArthur of the Cordele hospital staff, said at least 25 or 30 injured persons had been taken there and that a negro hospital had at least that many more storm victims.

He said ambulances were bringing in additional patients as rapidly as they could get through storm littered streets.

Relief calls were sent to nearby cities—Albany, Vienna, Macon, and Americus.

Bellamy Back From Minnesota

Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Bellamy returned yesterday from Rochester, Minn., where he spent a month studying at the Mayo Brothers clinic. Dr. Bellamy specialized in the study of surgery with some of the outstanding men of the country who are on the Mayo clinic staff.

There are 450 doctors on the staff and the clinic proper, which covers a city block, much of it 16 stories high, has more than 1,600 employees.

Remodeling of the office occupied by Dr. Bellamy and his associate, Dr. W. Calvin Jones, will begin soon. It will be enlarged to take in the space formerly occupied by Dr. T. R. Martin. Much new equipment and furniture will be installed.

HESSEY ON PENSIONS

John B. Hessey, district investigator for old age assistance, was in Pampa this morning. He is temporarily stationed in Amarillo conducting a training school and reviewing applications.

Two investigators have been assigned to Gray county. Five hundred applications from this county are ready to be investigated. Mr. Hessey said. He assured applicants that work would be completed by June 15, in time to have names filed for checks in July.

Paul Tabor underwent an emergency appendectomy at Pampa-Jarrett hospital last night. His condition this morning was favorable.

Mrs. H. F. Barnhart returned yesterday from a visit with relatives at Levelland and Lubbock. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. J. P. McBeck of Levelland, who will visit with her and with a son, Horace McBeck.

pounds) for peanuts 1 1/4 cents a pound; for rice it will be 20 cents for each 100 pounds of the producer's domestic consumption quota, subject to certain specified agreements; and for the other soil depleting crops the rate per acre will vary among the states and counties, depending upon the productivity of the land.

The division of payment between landlord and tenant is arrived at in two ways. The division of the soil conserving payment is 37 1/2 per cent to the producer who furnishes the land; 12 1/2 per cent to the producer who furnishes the work and equipment; and 50 per cent to be divided among the producers as the crop is divided.

The soil building payment will be made to the producer who has incurred the expense entailed in the soil building crops or practices.

With regard to wheat the situation is rather different, since wheat growers had signed applications for contracts with the government for a 1936 wheat program. Congress has voted that existing applications are to be considered as obligations and are to be carried out and payments made on them. Wheat farmers may arrange their fall plantings in 1936 to be included in the new program later.

Crop Classifications Listed.

In Texas the crops which have been listed as soil depleting are: corn (including broom corn and sweet corn); cotton; tobacco; Irish potatoes; sweet potatoes; rice; sugarcane; peanuts; if harvested as nuts; grain sorghums, sweet sorghums, and millets; small grains, harvested for grain or hay (wheat, oats, barley, rye, and small grain mixtures).

Crops listed as soil conserving are: annual winter legumes, including vetch, winter peas, bur and crimson clover; biennial legumes, including sweet and alsike clover; perennial legumes, including alfalfa, kudzu, and sericea; with or without such crops as rye, oats, wheat, barley, or grain mixtures, when such nurse crops are pastured or clipped green; summer legumes, including soybeans, except when produced for seed for crushing; velvet beans; cro-talaria; cowpeas; and annual varieties of lespedeza; peanuts; when pastured; perennial grasses; including Dallis, reedtop, orchard, Bermuda, carpet, or grass mixtures, and Sudan grass, with or without such nurse crops as rye, oats, wheat, barley, or grain mixtures, when such nurse crops are pastured or clipped green; winter cover crops, including rye, barley, oats, and small grain mixtures, winter pastured or not, and turned as green manure, or if harvested and followed by summer legumes; and crop acreage planted to forest trees since January 1, 1934.

Those crops which are listed as soil building are: annual winter legumes, including vetch, winter peas, bur and crimson clover, turned under as a green manure crop; biennial legumes, including sweet and alsike clover; perennial legumes, including alfalfa, kudzu, sericea; and annual varieties of lespedeza; summer legumes, including soybeans, velvet beans, crotalaria, and cowpeas; if forage is left on the land; winter cover crops, including rye, barley, oats, and small grain mixtures.

Notice to Veterans.

David Pepper, 4940 Chancellor St., Philadelphia, Pa., has written to Pampa in an effort to locate shipmates who were with him on the U. S. S. Missouri in 1911 and 1912 and the U. S. S. Prairie in 1912. His hospitalization depends upon locating shipmates who were with him at the time of an injury. He is appealing an adverse decision of the Veterans' administration.

Returns From Clinic.

C. E. Hutchins has returned from the Thornton & Minor clinic at Kansas City, Mo., where he underwent treatments. He said today that he was making satisfactory progress in his recovery.

A Cold Night.

Memories of winter were a bit too vivid for comfort last night, when the mercury dropped to 15 degrees above zero in Pampa. Today the sun was attacking the cold with some success. Frozen pipes, garden hose, and radiators caused some damage. Tender plants with no protection also were "nipped" by the freeze.

government "takes immediate steps to terminate all kinds of provocations against Manchoukio's frontiers, the relations of the two countries are threatened with the most serious contingency," the Japanese-sponsored state of Manchoukio warned today.

The Manchoukioan foreign minister, Chang Yen-Ching, telegraphed this protest to Premier Amor at Ulan Bator (Urga) capital of Outer Mongolia, newly allied to Soviet Russia under a mutual assistance pact.

The Manchoukioan note alleged that a battle fought Tuesday on the disputed frontiers between Manchoukio and Outer Mongolia was clearly a case of Mongol aggression.

George Burnett from Marshall college was a visitor in Pampa today. He is a field representative.

Turned under as green manure and followed in the summer by an approved soil conserving crop; and forest trees, when planted on crop land in 1936.

The neutral classification includes: vineyards; tree fruits; small fruits, or nut trees; idle crop land; cultivated fallow land, including clean cultivated orchards and vineyards; wasteland; roads; lanes; lots; yards; and woodland, other than that planted at owner's expense since 1933.

JUDGMENT

"and therefore they can't give consumers the benefit."

"The company had a duty to its consumers to obtain the lowest gate rate. That duty to consumers was higher than any to its affiliated company."

Applying the reduced gate rate to domestic charge, he noted the company would be "better off" with a 61-cent domestic rate and 32-cent gate rate than with a 67 1/2 domestic rate and a 40-cent gate rate.

Asserting the company would have a spread of 29 cents compared with 27 1/2 cents previously, Judge Yarbrough pointed to the fact the company had not complained the previous rate structure was unjust, unreasonable or confiscatory.

A rate base of $1,036,587 as determined by the commission, he ruled, was not shown by the company to be unjust and unreasonable, overturning the jury verdict that $1,280,000 would be fair.

Conflicts in testimony of the company's witnesses were noted in detail. At one point he said an explanation by a company witness of why costs for laying pipe doubled in a few years was "too vague and unsatisfactory" to justify overturning the commission's order.

In other instances he cited conflicts between oral testimony and written exhibits.

A write-up of the company's properties by 50 per cent in 1925 from $966,000, he held, should not be given weight in ascertaining the historic cost.

"The cost of $966,000," he said, "is entitled to more weight than the highly speculative estimates" of a company witness, P. MacDonald Biddison, a valuation engineer.

Variances between company and commission figures, he noted, arose principally as to intangible items while the commission often allowed higher amounts on tangible items.

than claimed by the company.

He said a claimed overhead of about one-third on the Wichita Falls plant was excess "in view of book costs revealing an average of 4.1 per cent in 53 other systems constructed by the company."

Likewise he ruled the jury's verdict that $25,000 annually was a fair depreciation allowance, as was a company claim of a large amount. Actual charges of recent years, he said, showed $8,741 while the commission allowed $20,000.

R. M. Griffin was to leave Pampa-Jarrett hospital this afternoon having recovered sufficiently from an attack of pneumonia.

Ralph Wadup was to return to his home in Shattuck this afternoon following treatment for pneumonia at Pampa-Jarrett hospital.

Ben Pennington was admitted to Pampa-Jarrett hospital for treatment yesterday afternoon.

HARVESTER GRID PROSPECTS AND 'EXES WILL PLAY TOMORROW AFTERNOON

LITTLE TOUGH BOYS TO PLAY BIG BRUISERS

SCRIMMAGE WILL BEGIN ON FRIDAY AT 4 O'CLOCK

Strength of the 1936 Harvester football squad will be tested on tomorrow afternoon when the prospects of Coach Olin Mitchell and J. C. Freeman and Glen Maxey, of last year's team, will be called about 4 o'clock at Harvester field.

With one or two exceptions, the exes starting lineup will be the same as it was most of last season, it is believed.

Harvester coaches would not name a definite starting lineup yesterday, but judging by the way they have been putting their charges through scrimmages, the starters will likely be: Lee Jones and Glen Maxey, ends; Earl "Goose" Rice and Harry Harvester hopes for next school term brightened considerably yesterday afternoon when the Green, 300-pound regular tackle on the 1935 team, reported for spring football practice. He returned Monday night from Oklahoma, Okla., where he had moved with his parents. He had planned to attend high school at Okmulgee in exchange for a job for his father, but decided after several days that the sacrifice would be too great, since he would have had to abandon certain credits he had made while attending school here the last two and a half years.

Coach Mitchell was considering playing Stokes at center in the scrimmage tomorrow. J. B. Green, his brother, will not be in the exes' lineup. He and Bill Haner, another former Harvester athlete, will be en route to Houston where they will visit at Rice Institute during the week-end.

McMahon, Jackie; Sherman Morgan and J. B. Mathews, guards; Ivan Noblitt and Stokes, Green, center; J. W. Graham or Woody Woodridge, quarterback; Doyle Enloe, J. W. Graham, Boyd Owens or Floyd Stevens, halves; Roy Showers, full.

Starters for the exes is uncertain, although it is believed they will line-up with Nix and Hendrix, ends; Hartman, one of the tackles; Noland and Lively, guards; Leon Noland and Kitchens, halves; Fanning, full.

The public is invited to watch the game, which will be of full length. It will offer the first opportunity to see the prospects in action. Several intra-squad scrimmages have been conducted during the spring training period, but none of them has been strenuous.

Fans will see a bunch of pigmies against giants when the little 1936 Harvesters meet their "big brothers." What the new team lacks in size is expected to be made up in sheer doggedness and ability to meet the other fellow first.

In practice, the up and coming youngsters have shown an uncanny ability to get the jump on their opponents. Their blocking has been extremely gratifying to date. The question is, however, can they work under fire?

Most of the spring training period has been spent in conditioning and teaching fundamentals. The boys will have only a few plays to put against their experienced opponents.

On April 10, the Harvesters will meet a team of former Harvesters including players from 'way back coaches report. It will be the last practice game of the spring period unless another call to arms is issued following the district track and field meet here on April 18.

HEDLEY FLASH TO RACE HERE ON APRIL 18

DISTRICT TRACK-FIELD MEET WILL DRAW 300 ATHLETES

Entrants in the third annual District 2 high school track and field meet to be staged here on April 18 will have many excellent records at which to shoot. Nine of the records set in 1934, when the district form of competition was introduced, were broken and one was tied last year.

Few record holders will be back this year. Jones of Hedley, who holds the 100-yard dash and the 220-yard dash titles, will be back again, faster than ever if he holds to the time he made in the Fort Worth Fat Stock show relays recently.

Holton of Spearman, holder of the mile record, will be eligible again. Holton of Spearman may be back to defend his broad jump title.

The "race of the meet" is expected to be the half-mile battle with Strickland of Pampa, Mauldin of White Deer, and Cain of Wheeler. Holton of Spearman and White Deer are also expected to give the fans a thrill in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes.

Schools in 10 Panhandle counties and Pampa will compete in the event. More than 300 boys are expected to battle for honors. F. L. Mize of LeFors will be director general. He will appoint his assistants soon.

County eliminations will be staged this week and next week ends. Winners of the first four places in each event will be eligible to compete in the district meet.

Records in District 2, which will be the targets in the meet here on April 18, follow:

220-yard dash—Jones, Hedley, 1935. Time 22.9.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 2 (AP)—While a deluge washed out the first round of the Augusta National tournament, William Lawson Little, Jr., king of the world's amateurs for the past two years, emerged today as the latest notable recruit to the ranks of professional golf.

In making the big jump that took two famous championship predecessors, Robert T. Jones, Jr., and George Von Elm, from the ranks of the simon-pures six years ago, Little, at the age of only 25, an amateur career that dazzled two continents in 1934 and 1935.

With a world record streak of 31 consecutive victories in title match play, the San Francisco "sleege gun" captured the American Open, the British Open twice in succession. His decision not to play in the annual River Oaks tournament entered its fourth day.

The Austin veteran, No. 1 player of the nation last year, and the 23-year-old Floridian were all square when darkness halted their third round match yesterday. Hendrix captured his first set, 8-6, and dropped the second, 5-7.

Steady as a seasoned campaigner, Hendrix demonstrated that his victories last winter over Allison and Bryan Grant of Atlanta, were not flashes in the pan.

He swept into a lead at the start of the opening set, cut Allison's rally short, and finally broke thru the Texan's splendid services in the fourth game to win. Pacing another defeat at the hands of the Florida sensation, Allison cut loose with all the tennis he knew and managed to save the second set. The eleventh game was the turning point. Allison breaking through Hendrix' service and winning it after it had been deuced seven times.

At Surface of Kansas City, J. Gilbert Hall of East Orange, N. J., and Charles Harris of West Palm Beach, Fla., came back to capture their matches after dropping the first sets.

Harris crushed John Van Ryn of Philadelphia, Davis cup doubles finalist, 6-0, 6-1, after losing the initial set, 3-6. Kalle Schroder, Swedish star, bowed to Surface, 7-5, 4-6, 3-6. Hall had no trouble with young Billy Westerfield of Tulane after the first set. The score was 6-1, 6-1.

Wilmer Hines of Columbia, S. C., Wilbur Hess of Houston, Harry Culley of Santa Barbara, Calif., and Grant won in straight sets.

Only two quarter-final matches were scheduled for today. Hines was a favorite over Surface, and Hall was favored over Chiley.

Mrs. Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn remained the favorite in the women's singles. She breezed thru her first two matches without losing a set. Her opponent in the quarter finals was Marjorie Murray of Galveston, who lost to Mary Lou Sutherland of Kansas City, 6-4, 5-7, 6-1, in one of the feature women's matches yesterday. The other feature was supplied by Eunice Dean of San Antonio and Evangeline McLennan. The Texas girl won, 6-4, 6-4.

HENDRIX GIVES ALLISON MORE NET TROUBLE

TEXAN AND RIVAL ARE ALL SQUARE AFTER TWO SETS

AMARILLO PRODUCTS WILL BE ON NEXT YEAR'S SMU TEAM

BY FELIX R. MCKNIGHT,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Hardly the equal of the brainy bunch carried the southwest's colors into the Rose Bowl—and then stumbled—the 1935 Southern Methodist football team, nevertheless, should still rate as first division team.

Weeks of spring practice, climaxed by an intra-squad game, made the green crew look so well that Coach Matty Bell remarked in characteristic enthusiasm:

"They looked pretty good." Plugging holes in spring drills left by the graduation of 17 seniors, were some likely looking sophomores and juniors. After a brisk game of 100 plays, Coach Bell said these lads on his "honor roll" and started planning for the fall campaign:

Centers—Charles Sprague, another of the famous "football Spragues" of Dallas, and Joe Gray, junior.

Tackles—Howard (Pete) Weant, massive junior and a corner, and "Primo" Moore, hustling soph.

Guards—The veteran Paschal Scottino, Rose Bowl hero, and Cliff Matthews, "Watch Charn" lineman of the Amarillo high's state championship team of 1934.

Backs—Johnny Sudler and John Harlow, two brilliant Amarillo products; Hoyle Graham, husky San Antonio line rammer; Henry Guynes, a junior who may flash some of Bobby Wilson's old form; Charles Flannery, late of Decatur Baptist college; Charles Bailey, soph and "Cotton" Meyers, a fleet senior due for a big year.

Most of the schools in the county will have entrants in the afternoon section of the meet. Only Pampa schools will not have to enter teams, Pampa being a city school and location of the district meet.

Winners of the first four places in each event in the Class A and Class B high school divisions will be eligible to compete in the district meet to be held in Pampa on April 18. The rural pentathlon will also be held as part of the district meet.

Cardinals Are Picked To Beat Chicago's Cubs

NEW YORK, April 2 (AP)—A two-club race for the National league pennant, with the St. Louis Cardinals dethroning the Chicago Cubs by a narrow margin, was forecast today by the nation's baseball experts casting ballots in the Associated Press' tenth annual poll.

In as close a battle of ballots as the poll ever has seen, 43 of the 98 sports editors and baseball writers who participated, cast their first-place votes for the "gas-house gang" led by the inimitable Deans and bolstered by the off-season acquisition of Leroy (Bud) Parmelee, fast-ball right-hander.

The Cubs, who won the 1935 flag with a spectacular 21-game winning streak in the closing month of the campaign, were placed second despite the fact they will get away from the barrier two weeks hence with virtually the same array that performed so sensationally a year ago.

The Cubs received 39 first-place ballots but Charley Grimm's champions can take heart from the fact that the 1935 poll established the Cardinals as favorites and ranked the Cubs no better than third.

As far as the experts were concerned, only two other clubs—the New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates—can be considered to have

FARM DEBT REFINANCING HAS PASSED TWO BILLIONS MARK

Real estate mortgage loans to farmers by the Farm Credit administration since its organization in May, 1933, passed the $2,000,000,000 mark Saturday, according to a statement by W. I. Myers, farm credit administration governor.

Farmers borrowed $1,155,000,000 on first mortgage security from the federal land banks and $845,000,000 from the land bank commissioner who makes loans on second as well as first mortgage security.

"Lending operations for emergency refinancing to alleviate depression conditions passed the peak nearly two years ago," Governor Myers said. "Since then, a gradually increasing percentage of land bank and commissioner loans have been made for normal refinancing of farm mortgages, for new loans to purchase farms, and for other purposes. Recently, first mortgage loans have constituted a larger percentage of the total than formerly, indicating that the need for second mortgage financing is diminishing with the passing of the emergency."

Farmers borrowed $1,350,000,000, or about 90 per cent of the total loaned for the specific purpose of refinancing old debts. The original debt owed to other creditors before refinancing was about two billion dollars, but creditors wrote off approximately $200,000,000 which farmers borrowed from the land banks and commissioner for new financing and other purposes.

"The tremendous operations of the land banks and the commissioner have not caused increase, if any, in the total farm mortgage debt," Governor Myers said. "The carrying charges have been greatly reduced. Interest rates on the old debts averaged 6.3 per cent a year. These have been refinanced with long-term mortgage loans carrying interest rates at 4 to 5 per cent a year, resulting in an annual interest saving of $38,000,000. In addition, congress has temporarily reduced the interest rates on all outstanding federal land bank loans, amounting to a reduction of approximately $20,000,000 for the calendar year 1936. Altogether, $58,000,000 farmers are saving $58,000,000 on interest alone this year."

Nearly half a million farmers have been refinanced since the Farm Credit administration was organized less than three years ago, he explained. The federal land banks made first mortgage loans to 365,000 farmers and the land bank commissioner made 455,000 first and second mortgage loans. Many of the commissioner loans were made on second mortgage security to farmers who also obtained first mortgage loans.

The total outstanding amount of federal land bank and commissioner loans aggregates $2,870,000,000. Life insurance companies, the next largest class of farm mortgage lenders, held slightly less than a billion dollars of farm mortgage loans at the end of 1935, a commercial banks about $500,000,000. The total outstanding farm mortgage debt to all classes of creditors is estimated at $7,770,000,000.

Still serving as a place of worship after more than two centuries, the Mission La Bahia del Espiritu Santo is one of Texas' most historic shrines. GOVERNOR OF ALASKA TO VISIT CENTENNIAL AND EAT HAM

AUSTIN, March 28 (AP)—The governor of Alaska will visit the Texas Centennial and will have his appetite keyed for plenty of home-cooked southern ham.

Ham, says A. R. Andrews of Dallas, is Gov. John J. Troy's favorite dish. Andrews represented Gov. Alfred E. Delmonico, Gov. Troy an invitation to Texas' 100th birthday party.

"That is practically all Gov. Troy and my wife talked about on our visit to the governor's mansion," Andrews said. "Mrs. Andrews is something of an expert on hams having been born in the Kentucky ham belt."

Gov. Troy is anxious to visit Texas, Andrews reported. The governor's father was born in Houston and his mother at Mount Pleasant.

Andrews said he found several persons with Texas connections during his visit to the far north territory. The Alaskan attorney general is a brother of Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas but spells his name "Truitt." The attorney general explained that when he campaigned for attorney general his name was spelled incorrectly in an announcement and he did not change it.

That the Centennial will attract thousands of visitors appears assured, officials who watch closely the trends in travel, assert. Statisticians of the highway department say they notice already a quickening in interest and an unusual number of winter visitors.

Numerous requests have been received that Centennial traffic will make substantial contributions to construction revenues. For each gallon of gasoline purchased in Texas by Centennial motorists the state will collect a four-cent tax of which two cents are apportioned for maintenance and construction.

The department also expects Texans to consume more gasoline going to and from various Centennial observances.

An indication of Texas' attraction is disclosed in a visitors book kept by the sergeant-at-arms of the house of representatives. In one week visitors from 17 states, including far away Maine, California, and Oregon and two countries, England and Mexico, registered. In addition, attendants said, an appreciable number of tourists decline to register.

Coyle said financiers sought to control businesses with small holdings of stock, not for dividends, but for the big salaries and bonuses paid a few officers.

"Why do men seek to control with only a little stock?" he asked. "If they were interested in dividends on stock they would acquire large holdings, the builders of the early railroads did."

"What do they care about dividends when they can pay themselves large salaries and bonuses? In New York recently there have been a number of lawsuits brought by stockholders over bonuses paid officers."

The distribution of wealth, he said, won't get very far unless a way is found to distribute the control of wealth.

"The production of electric power has increased strikingly in Great Britain in the last five years, the annual output of the public supply enterprises expanding 50 per cent since 1931."

CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, April 1. (AP)—Once upon a time, said David C. Coyle, New York engineer, addressing the Austin Open Forum, a church in Vermont advertised a "strawberry festival."

From far and near, church members gathered, expecting something new and different, but, as the festival was about to begin, a deacon arose and announced:

"Because of the necessity of balancing our budget we will serve prunes instead of strawberries."

Coyle, former consultant for the Federal housing board, said both the New Deal and some earlier Republican administrations, after many promises, had served the voters "prunes."

"As a matter of fact," he said, "if any political party told the voters exactly what it probably would do should it be given power, it couldn't possibly be elected."

A holding company Coyle said, attacking that form of corporate organization, is an "arrangement whereby you don't have to own much of the stock in order to run the business."

Stockholders in the larger corporation have little or nothing to do with the business and can't even obtain information, in many instances, he added.

"The idea of a stockholder wanting to know anything about the company," he said, "usually is very shocking to the management."

"Some time ago a certain New Yorker, owning a few shares of stock in a large variety of corporations, conceived the idea, as a sort of hobby, of visiting stockholders' meetings and making inquiries as to management."

"He played much havoc with the meetings, acquired a lot of publicity, but didn't obtain much information."

BOUNDARY DISPUTE LED U. S. INTO CONFLICT WITH MEXICO

When Texas was annexed to the United States, a new constitution was adopted. There was a governor instead of a president, and a legislature instead of a congress. For 15 years Texas continued a state, then came secession and war. Let us see what happened in these 15 years.

When news reached Mexico that Texas had joined the Union, there was much loud talk and preparation for war, not only against Texas but also against the United States.

The president of the United States expected trouble with Mexico. He sent General Zachary Taylor to Texas with a small army. A Mexican army advanced to the Rio Grande. The armies awaited developments. President Polk claimed the Rio Grande was the boundary line for Texas under Santa Anna's treaty. He ordered General Taylor to advance to that stream.

At Palo Alto a bloody battle was fought in May, 1846. The Mexicans were defeated. They then formed a second defense; a still more bloody battle was fought. The Mexicans were driven across the Rio Grande.

Taylor's army followed them into northern Mexico.

The war continued for more than two years before it came to a close. Mexico signed a treaty of peace at Guadalupe Hidalgo relinquishing all claims to Texas and to New Mexico and California. The United States paid $15,000,000 for the territory thus acquired.

Then came a real controversy between Texas and the United States over boundaries. Congress debated the matter many months. People in the north and east opposed the annexation of Texas and also opposed claims to so much territory. Finally a settlement was made in which Texas gave up all claim to what is now New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, Kansas, and Oklahoma in exchange for $10,000,000. The money was used to pay debts made during the day of the republic.

As immigrants continued to come into Texas, the Indians became more and more troublesome. Their buffalo and other game became scarce. They were almost compelled to resort to plundering and stealing cattle to secure a living. Finally, in 1878 the United States removed the Indians from Texas into Indian Territory. The frontier was now protected from the savages.

Texas now started improving their state. Let us first notice what they did for education.

Funds were provided for maintaining separate schools for white and negro pupils. Mexicans were frequently allowed to attend schools for white children. There were provisions for numerous grade schools and several colleges. The colleges now include Austin college at Sherman, Hardin-Simmons university at Abilene, Southwestern university at Georgetown, Texas Christian university at Fort Worth, Baylor university at Waco, Texas, Women's college at Fort Worth, Howard Payne and Daniel Baker college at Brownwood, Trinity university at Waco, Rice Institute at Houston, and Southern Methodist university at Dallas, maintained by different denominations and private sources, in addition to the state colleges.

Texas is a great mineral state. Some minerals found are lignite, coal, pure iron ore, gold, silver, quicksilver, copper, lead, oil, gas, sulphur, salt, clay, and building stone.

Texas is also a great agricultural state. There are scarcely any known crops of the temperate zone that cannot be raised somewhere within the boundaries of Texas. Cotton is the chief crop. About 800,000 acres are under irrigation, and in all about 32,000,000 in cultivation.

Texas is the largest state in the Union, has more oil development, raises more cattle, has large wheat fields, a beautiful Rio Grande valley that gives the best of fruits and vegetables. This year Texas celebrates its hundredth birthday, and Dallas will give the main Centennial celebration.—Contributed by Margie Williams, Woodrow Wilson school.

The volume of passenger traffic on highways is more than 10 times as great as the passenger travel on the railways of the United States, according to the National Highway Users conference.

STATE'S CASE IS ATTACKED BY DEFENDANT

VERSION OF SLAYING IS TESTIMONY

EASTLAND, April 2. (P)—Defense attorneys, attempting to refute state testimony that Raymond Henry killed H. L. McBee, buried the body and later exhumed it and hanged it in a tree, fought for the life of the 22-year-old former ice-man at his trial today.

Henry, described by a defense witness as "an honest boy" with a good reputation, married Mrs. McBee after her husband allegedly was slain near Rising Star, May 1, 1933. He and the 28-year-old woman were charged with murder after a skeleton identified as that of McBee was found hanging from a tree in December, 1934. Mrs. Henry's trial was set for next month.

The defense centered an attack on testimony of Pete Fenwick that he was present when McBee was suffering from fatal injuries and saw the body buried and later hanged in a tree.

Fenwick testified that McBee died May 1, 1933, and that his body was buried that night in a hole near a cemetery. The defense sought to prove Fenwick was not at the McBee home at the hours named and that Henry was elsewhere.

Raymond Fenwick, brother of the state witness, said he, Pete Fenwick and Terry Clark attended a dance on that date and that Clark spent the night with Pete Fenwick. Clyde testified he believed Pete Fenwick was at a dance at his home in Rising Star the night of May 1, 1933.

John Proctor testified that Henry was at the Proctor home "drinking with friends" the evening on which the state contended McBee was buried.

Refuting its contention nothing unusual occurred at the McBee home on that date, the defense called Mrs. Nettie Valley and her daughter, who lived within 30 feet of the McBee house. They testified they saw nothing unusual in their neighbors' actions that day.

Union Leaders Line Up Behind FDR'S Candidacy

WASHINGTON, April 2. (P)—Powerful union leaders within the American Federation of Labor swung into action today to support President Roosevelt and fight his foes in the election campaign.

The formation of "Labor's Non-Partisan League" and the start of its drive came in the thick of republican activity including the important New York primary, the Maine convention, and the filing of petitions for both Senator Borah of Idaho and Governor Alf M. Land of Kansas in the New Jersey presidential preference primary.

Creation of the new league was announced by George L. Berry, president of the Printing Pressmen. His associates are John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers.

Berry, head of the president's Council for Industrial Progress, referred apparently to the American Liberty League's attacks on the new deal when he declared his group's move was prompted by the actions of "other leagues which had as their purpose the defeat of the president and his policies."

Berry agreed that his league would be a medium for A. F. of L. support for Mr. Roosevelt. Only once has the federation endorsed a presidential candidate—in the case of Robert M. LaFollette in 1924.

CHAPTER VI.

The tousled mop of light brown hair stirred restlessly and, from beneath the covers, one eye appeared. The eye opened, closed tightly, and then, after a moment, opened again. Toby sat up in bed and stared at the clock. Six-forty-five. That was all right. She sank back among the covers once more, drawing them closely about her chin. It was deliciously warm among the covers. In a minute more she'd have to get up and close the window, but just for a few moments—

Suddenly Toby frowned. She had a feeling, vaguely, that something unpleasant was to happen today. Something very unpleasant. What was it? She searched her memory. It was in the back of her mind; she'd have it in a moment.

All at once Toby knew. It was her job. Bergman's. She was through there—fired, discharged. And for the worst of reasons, theft. The whole miserable scene of the afternoon before came back to her—the private office with Miss Burrows and Mr. Henderson demanding, "What did you do with the watch?" the man in the blue suit saying, "We found it in her locker"; all of them refusing to listen to her, staring at her with condemning eyes, believing her a thief.

With a sob, Toby pulled the covers over her head. But that failed to shut out the insistent picture. It was true all of it. She hadn't the faintest idea how the wrist watch had got into her locker. She had worked hard at Bergman's, long hours until her feet and her back ached. She had gone without lunches, had smiled and been cheerfully obliging to the most unreasonable customers. She had smiled, even when her head ached; had moved quickly, efficiently when her feet were like lead.

Oh, yes, it all came back. The night before Toby had cried herself to sleep. The humiliation, the injustice had been more, she thought, than she could ever bear. She had wanted nothing so much as for the earth to open up and swallow her. Now, this morning, she saw the matter in a different light.

Anger flared in Toby's heart. "Somebody," she told herself, "took that watch and put it in my locker on purpose. They must have known I'd lose my job, but they didn't care. Maybe that's what they wanted. Oh, who could have done such a thing? Who would want to do it?"

Toby didn't know. She hadn't the ghost of an idea who could want to harm her. She wasn't aware that she had any enemies. Certainly there was no one at Bergman's whom she had ever harmed.

"Who," he asked herself again, "could have done it?" The answer was as far away as it had been. Anger, though, had done one thing for Toby. It brought her to a practical view of the situation before her. No matter who was responsible for her losing her job at Bergman's, the fact remained that she must have another. And soon!

She got out of bed, pulled her bathrobe about her, and picked up her purse from the table. There was exactly $13.84 in the purse. They had paid her at Bergman's for the four days she had worked that week. "But it won't last long," Toby told herself, and knew altogether too well how true it was.

She began, mathematically, to dress. Job hunting, Toby knew, was harder than any work. She noticed, as she slipped on her shoes, that they had become wet the night before and were not quite dry. Well, she couldn't buy a new pair now.

She got into her black dress, rummaging in a drawer for fresh collar and cuffs. Presently she was ready and picked up her gloves and purse and went down to the street. A subway train was pulling into the station as Toby pushed through the gate. She ran for it, managing to squeeze inside and find a strap to cling to.

A large woman, wearing a hat trimmed with artificial cherries, stood in front of Toby. The woman's coat was unfastened and Toby noticed the rhinestone clip at the woman's neck.

It made Toby think of the young man in the store the day before—the sedulous one who had bought $59.60 for rhinestone clips!

Toby began to figure how many meals she could buy with $59.60. She gave up soon. Fifty-nine dollars and sixty cents was a lot of money.

She went directly to the employment agency that had sent her to Bergman's. There she told the woman who interviewed applicants exactly what had happened the day before.

The woman pursed her lips and murmured, "Mmm. It's too bad."

Toby couldn't tell whether the woman believed her or not. She said insistently, "I don't know any way I can prove it, but I didn't take the watch. I was waiting on a customer."

The woman said, "Mmm. It's again and went on, as though Toby had not spoken. "I hope we can place you, but it may be a little difficult just now. She fingered a file of cards before her. "Here's something," she said, drawing out one of the cards. "You might try this one." It was a store farther down town, one Toby had never heard of before. The store wanted experienced sales women.

"It's six days a week," the woman went on, "and they only pay $12.50, but it's the best there is today. You might try it and later if there's something else I'll keep you in mind."

Toby got to her feet. "I've got to have a job," she said. "I'll try it." She was not sure how to reach the address and asked a guard in the subway station. Either he misdirected her or she did not understand the instructions, for when she left the subway she was blocks from the address.

She took a surface car, walking several blocks farther after she left the car. Finally she reached the address, found the right door and walked up a flight of stairs.

A man at a desk behind a railing glanced up. "You looking for a job?" he asked.

"Yes," Toby said. "I've come from—"

Before she could finish the man said crisply, "Too late. You should have been here an hour ago."

"But—" Toby began again. "It's no use," the man interrupted. "They only wanted four girls and they've hired 'em all. You can leave your name if you want to. Fill out this card—"

He handed her the usual application for employment and Toby took it. She wrote in her name and address and under "previous experience" listed all the places where she had worked except Bergman's.

She gave the card back to the man, turned and went down the stairs and out to the street. Suddenly it occurred to her that she was hungry. She had eaten nothing the night before, had had only coffee that morning.

She walked, along for several blocks looking for a place where the food would be cheap and fairly clean. Then, on a corner across the street, she saw a counter lunch.

Toby crossed the street and went inside. A glass of milk and ham sandwich, she told the youth behind the counter.

It was warm in the lunch room and there was a pleasant aroma of food. Toby looked down at her shoes. She couldn't go around much longer in them, as they were.

The waiter set the glass of milk and sandwich before her. Toby picked up the glass and drank deeply. How good it was. She took a bite of the sandwich. That was good, too. She wondered whether she could go back to the agency or telephone. It would cost a nickel to telephone, but it would save time. She had lost one job today by being late.

"He-Lo!" The voice came from behind her shoulder. Toby whirled, staring up at a man in a gray suit and brown hat. He was carrying a trench coat over his arm.

"Thought I recognized you," the man said. "How are you and what are you doing in this neighborhood?" Toby studied him blankly. Suddenly she said, "Oh, Mr. Hiatt—"

The photographer grinned back at her. "Didn't know me for a minute, did you?" he said. "Though I was a fresh guy!"

"Well," Toby admitted, "just for a minute." "That's all right," Marty Hiatt tossed his coat aside, leaned against the counter. "Say," he said, "those pictures you posed for the other day were great. Bergman's ought to give you a raise for that job, or anyhow a bonus."

Toby smiled bitterly. "It isn't likely they will," she said. "I'm not working there any more."

"You're not? Why? Got something better?" Briefly she told him the story. "Gee," Hiatt said, "that's a tough break." There was genuine sympathy in his voice. "What're you going to do?" he asked.

"Look for another job. I came down here to see about one this morning, but I was too late."

"What kind of a job?" "The same thing—working in a store. Only it wasn't as nice a store as Bergman's."

Hiatt was listening intently. "What do they pay you for jobs like that?" he asked.

"This one was only $12.50. I got $15 at Bergman's."

"The man whistled softly. "It's not much," Toby agreed, "but it's better than nothing."

"Sure. There's no doubt about that," Hiatt was silent for a moment. He said, frowning slightly, "I wish I knew of something for you. You ought to be able to find something better than that."

Suddenly his face lighted. "Say!" he said, "why didn't I think of it before? I know a guy you ought to see. It's the very thing!"

"What?" Toby demanded. "I mean who?" "Ben Blake," Hiatt said eagerly.

Snaky Suit

All dressed up for a serpentine dance on the beach is Bernice Sheerin. For it's snake-skin that fashions this bathing suit which she modeled at the Chicago Merchandise Mart.

"You ever hear of him?" Toby shook her head. "No," she said. "I never did. What is Ben Blake?"

FRENCH SCORE GERMANY'S NEW 'CUNNING PLAN'

Counter Attack Will Be Made on Nazi Peace Scheme

By JOHN EVANS
(Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press)

PARIS, April 2.—France massed her diplomatic resources today for a counter-attack against Germany's Locarno plan.

Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin summoned the French ambassadors in London, Berlin, Brussels and Rome to come to Paris for a two-fold campaign.

First, informed sources said, the government resolved to present a strong attitude against Germany's violation of the Locarno pact by remilitarization of the Rhineland until after France's parliamentary elections April 26 and May 3.

Second, these sources said, the government would employ tactics of delay while searching for a peace plan more favorable to France.

Meanwhile Flandin and Premier Albert Sarraut analyzed the German proposals in preparation for a treaty breach came informed cabinet meeting to morrow.

The stern opposition to Germany's sources said, while rightist leaders failure to punish Germany as evidence France that Hitler had outmaneuvered France.

Under a new peace plan, these sources said, France would seek especially a method for limiting Germany's fortifications in the Rhineland.

DEATH CLASH IN ETHIOPIA IS IMMINENT

EMPEROR IS AWAITING ATTACK OF ARMY OF BADOGLIO

BY EDWARD J. NEIL

(Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press)

ASMARA, Eritrea, April 1 (By wire to Rome, April 2)—Italy's northern army and the personal troops of Emperor Haile Selassie maneuvered carefully today toward what was considered the impending death struggle of the war in Ethiopia.

The little rainy season, which had already begun locally in various sectors of the northern front, finally set in with characteristic African viciousness, but military authorities asserted the heavy downpour would fall to border the operations.

The Ethiopian emperor withdrew his forces to the heights overlooking Lake Ashangi, 30 miles south of Amba Alaji, to await the second phase of the decisive encounter—expected to be an attack by the army of Marshal Pietro Badoglio.

Emperor Haile Selassie himself launched what was believed to be the opening move of the climactic struggle on the northern front yesterday, throwing 20,000 of the finest troops of his bodyguard at the left Italian flank, just north of Lake Ashangi.

The emperor's attempt to split the two invading army corps failed, the Italian headquarters said, but only after an all-day battle, marked by a terrific attack and counter-attack in the verdant hills and rolling plains bordering the Mecon river, eight miles north of the lake.

The Italian command estimated that 7,000 Ethiopians were killed in the fighting, from dawn to dusk before the imperial bodyguard retreated. Unofficial reports said 16 Italian officers, 300 white soldiers and 745 native Eritrean askari were killed.
