Paved Highways for Donley County

DISTRICT COURT OPENS MONDAY

COMPARATIVELY HEAVY SES- SION FACING MARCH TERM OF COURT.

The District Court for Donley County will meet in the regular term for March on next Monday with one of the heaviest dockets that has been seen here for a number of terms past. The ordinary terms find that the session in Donley County is rather a let-down from the work in other parts of the Judicial District, but this time it is a continuation of the work with possibly a little more added for good measure.

The Grand Jury is called to meet on Monday morning, and will be empaneled by Judge Fries as the first step in the direction of work for the session. A list of these men was carried in the News some weeks past, but is carried here again for the information of the readers of the News. They are:

W. E. Davis, Edwin Baley, Walter Goldston, W. I. Raines, A. P. Brown, G. G. Kemp, O. W. Lattson, E. H. Watt, J. T. Bain, G. Leathers, G. P. Polley, J. W. De-bord, A. L. Wallace, Loyd More-ma, O. L. Jacobs and J. D. Swift.

Beginning with the opening of the second week of Court, a Petit Jury has been called and will probably be used for the entire session. The second and third week's list have been carried in past issues of the News and we are carrying herewith the list issued to cover the fourth week of the term. The list:

A. E. Tidrow, U. J. Boston, R. H. Roberts, H. J. Edgington, C. A. Fronbarger, Carl Parker, Roy Beverley, G. L. Duckworth, Theo. Johnson, D. M. Grimsley, L. A. Kyle, S. S. Roberts, H. E. Christ-ian, W. B. Webb, E. P. Shelton, Allen Bryan, J. M. Newland.

FINAL CROP REPORT IS ISSUED ON 1929 COTTON

Flashes received from the Department of Commerce, the morning shows that the final cotton crop for the United States for the season of 1929 amounted to 14,544,584 bales of the fleecy staple. This report is exactly in line with the last government estimates and is some increase over the last reports issued at intervals of two weeks during the ginning season. The final report was so close to the estimate that its release had no effect on the market, this opening within two points of the close on Wednesday evening.

The members of the women's clubs of the county are called to remember the fact that the Women's Council will meet in the Club Room in the City Hall Saturday, March 22, at 2:30 p. m.

Council Meet Is Success Saturday

Thirty-two members of the Girls' Clubs of Donley County met last Saturday in the Club Room of the City Hall for the Council meeting planned for that date. They worked on the team demonstrations they plan to give when the County Rally Day is held at some time during the coming summer. Four clubs were represented to make up the thirty-two present. The clubs are: Bray, Goldston, Hedley and Lelia Lake.

Team Demonstrations were given on Home Improvement; How to Plan the Wardrobe for Economy and yet be Well Dressed and How to Choose Colors for the different Types of Girls.

A feature of the meeting was the serving of the noon luncheon jointly, this feature being enjoyed by County Judge J. J. Alexander, the County Commissioners, County Agent T. R. Brown and Miss Harey Thompson, the County Home Demonstration Agent. After the work of the day was completed, the girls enjoyed the entertainment of the city at the Pastime Theater.

SCOUT PICTURE SHOWS TO SMALL AUDIENCE

The showing of the Boy Scout picture, "The Knights of the Square Table," was held in the Queen Theater last evening. Scoutmaster D. R. Davis stated this morning that the expenses for the affair would be about even when the final check was made on the financial receipts of the evening. Other entertainment features for the evening are said to have cut the attendance to a minimum.

Dallas Good Will Party Here April 4

According to information received here today from Homer D. Wade, manager of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, the annual Dallas Good-Will train bearing a party of business executives from that city will be in Clarendon on Friday, April 4th, from 2:40 to 3:40 in the afternoon.

In collaboration with G. L. Boykin, manager of the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce, a meeting will be arranged for the greeting of these trippers, and a round-table and informal discussion of present problems will be conducted.

Full details of the hour's program will be made public in next week's issue of The News.

Play Is Changed To Friday, Mar. 28

Changes in the cast of characters and interference of other matters kept the producers of the second Little Theater production, "Kempy," from holding their presentation on the date originally set for its showing. Practices are being held nightly by the director and it is certain that the final date for the production will be set at Friday evening, March 28th.

The largest feature in connection with the postponement of the production is the change that is being made in the stage and hanging of the curtain. These details will add much to the presentation of the play and will be in position since the postponement of the play.

S. W. Lowe was in Amarillo Tuesday of this week for attention at the hands of a specialist. He is reported to be doing very nicely.

RAIN IS GENERAL OVER ALL COUNTY

BENEFICIAL MOISTURE FOL- LOWED BY FREEZING WEATHER.

A rain that totalled almost one and three quarters inches was received here on last Friday afternoon and evening and is found to be general over the greater part of the county. The rainfall is the first that has been general over the county since the heavy snows of the month of January and was welcomed by the farmers of the county as a life saver at this time. The fall will stop the danger from blowing sand and will allow the farmers to work their loose land that could not be touched before the rain.

The direct advantages of the terracing work done in the past few weeks were seen in the recent fall of rain. Little or no washing is reported on those fields terraced while the regular loss was seen on those places where this needed work had not been attended this year.

The rainfall was followed directly by a season of colder weather with the temperature falling to 28 on Tuesday evening. The extreme wet condition of the fruit is thought to have prevented any serious damage, although it was hurt to a greater or less extent by the freeze.

The total received at this time amounted to 1.82 inches, with a trace reported Tuesday caused by the snow flurries through the day.

POPULAR TEACHER LEAVING TO TAKE STATISTICAL JOB

Announcement was made the fore part of this week of the resignation of John G. Hutton, instructor in the Clarendon High School in agricultural subjects and several seasons. Mr. Hutton has qualified as one of the best instructors ever here in the field that he is covering and has also done much to encourage clean sports in the school as well as other things that have been brought to his attention. He leaves Monday of next week for Washington, D. C., where he will have a place as statistician in the Census Bureau of the Department of Agriculture. A rather strenuous examination was passed before he could qualify for the position asked and the friends of Mr. Hutton are congratulating him although they regret very much to see him leave.

Mrs. J. G. Sherman spent last Sunday in Amarillo.

POWELL TO TAKE NATIONAL CENSUS

WILL START APRIL SECOND AND MUST COMPLETE BY APRIL SEVENTEENTH.

The News has been informed that C. C. Powell has been named census enumerator for the City of Clarendon, otherwise known as District 65-2. Mr. Powell is to take this census alone and asks the full co-operation of everyone that the task may be completed in the time allotted. Actual work will be started on the morning of April second and must be completed by April 17th. Outlying districts will have thirty days in which to complete their tasks, this limit being set on towns with more than 2,500 population.

For Ashtola, the enumerator has been named as Dr. M. H. Rhoades, his district being 65-1. In Precinct 2, that portion outside of Clarendon, J. H. Rutherford, will serve as enumerator.

The enumerators ask that the people be certain to receive them as readily as possible. They do not care to be taken as peddlers or book agents, and ask that the questions asked by answered as fully and as completely as is possible. Just a little co-operation on the part of the citizens will enable the results of the census to be made a great deal easier of completion.

RESERVE BANK CIRCULATES LOCAL BANKER'S ARTICLE

Some weeks ago the monthly bulletin of the American Acceptance Council carried an article under the heading "The Responsibilities of Conservative Banking," written by H. Patrick, president of the First National Bank of Clarendon. A letter received here last week from Hon. Lynn P. Talley, governor of the federal reserve bank at Dallas, told Mr. Patrick of the reprinting of his article by the bank and its circulation among the member banks of this district, also of the circulation of the pamphlet among the member banks of other reserve districts. According to the information noted by Mr. Talley some four thousand copies will be distributed among the banks of the nation.

This letter of congratulations containing the information noted above came to Mr. Patrick's desk on his birthday and was therefore received with greater appreciation.

TWO HOMES ARE NOW UNDER WAY

NEW BUILDINGS STARTED THIS WEEK STIMULATE TRADING IN HOMES.

Two new homes have been started during the past week in Clarendon by residents of this city. One of these is to be built by D. W. and W. L. Clappitt on their property on East Third Street and is to be of the most modern type. It will contain five rooms and bath and will be equipped to meet the needs of a family whose size is such that more than this amount of home is needed.

The second home to be announced this week is that one to be built by John Eudy. Mr. Eudy had a home in the Eastern section of the city, and sold it this week. Not being content with no home, plans were laid and the construction of the new five-room stucco home was started. This is also to be modern in every detail. Other building in the rural section will include the five-room stucco farm home under construction by Odos Caraway on his farm in Windy Valley, the five-room and bath home for W. F. Davis on his farm in the Sunny-view community and the four room house, barns and corrals for the Antelope Camp of the J. A. Ranch.

In town, the most recent completion in the residence line is the combination living quarters, store room and bath house built by P. H. Robinson at the tourist camp on the Highway in the eastern edge of the city. Under construction homes include the duplex of Messrs. Homer Gorman and Reburn Steagall in the west central part of the city and the brick veneer home of Joe Holland in the eastern side of the town.

Improvements to the homes of the city should not be overlooked and the addition of a new roof and a fresh coat of paint to the Clifford home should be listed among these changes.

Curtain Bought For Auditorium

The committee authorized to make purchase of a curtain for the College auditorium by recent action of the Board of Directors of the Little Theater has completed its task. The curtain as purchased will be hung in time for the presentation of "Kempy" on the evening of March 25th.

In addition to the hanging of the curtain, there is certain improvement that will be noted on the stage of the college at the same time. This place is being widened and deepened to form larger spaced dressing rooms for the actors and also will allow for the grand piano to be left out of the dressing room where it is greatly in the way of performers who have to use these rooms. A new opening for the front of the stage is to be provided and the curtain will be hung in the space thus provided.

The curtain as bought will be of a fireproof material similar to that curtain already in place. The drop in front will be a deep maroon, while the side walls and the back will be of a neutral tone of gray, making it applicable to more than the ordinary usages. It will be placed just as soon as the changes to the stage are ready for it to be received.

ROTARIANS TAKE BOY SCOUT FILM

CIVIC BODY SPONSORS SHOW- ING OF FILM TO LOCAL PEOPLE ON 19TH.

Following their original line of effort, that of working with boys, the Clarendon Rotarians took their first task this past week when they sponsored the showing of the Boy Scout picture here on Wednesday evening of this week. The club again had one member absent as the preceding week.

A letter from the Lions Club was received and read later being referred to the Club Service committee for their attention and answer.

After a considerable discussion of matters pertaining to the good of the organization and to the body in Clarendon as a whole, the adjournment was had in the usual manner.

Special Legion Meet on Tuesday

Called for the purpose of initiating five new members into the organization, a special session of the Aubyn E. Clark Post of the American Legion has been set for next Tuesday evening, March 25th. The five candidates will be put through their paces in accord with the Manual of ceremonies, this being the first time such a proposition has been tried on the members of the local Post.

Mrs. M. L. Stricklin of Groesbeck, and Mrs. Taylor Bowles of Altus, Oklahoma, are here for a visit in the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Stricklin.

Mrs. Leonard Parker of Hereford and Mr. Lenode Goldston and daughter of Amarillo are guests in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Benson.

M. W. Moely left Wednesday morning for Channing, where he attended to legal business.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Ballew motored to Amarillo Monday evening.

PLANS FOR 1930 CLEAN-UP READY

MAYOR TAYLOR ISSUES PRO- CLAMATION URGING FOR CLEANER CITY.

In line with the usual policies of Mayor H. W. Taylor of the city, he is asking that the citizens do their part in cleaning their premises here and that the city do its part in removing the debris after it has been collected and made ready for hauling to its proper place for disposal.

In order that the affair might have the proper air of authority, a proclamation has been issued by Mr. Taylor and is carried herewith:

J. E. Teer returned last Saturday from a visit to the mills of Wm. Cameron & Co. in the central portion of the state.

AGED MINISTER BURIED TUESDAY

HAD BEEN PREACHING FOR MORE THAN HALF CEN- TURY. WAS RETIRED.

Friends of A. V. Neely were severely shocked on last Monday morning to learn of the sudden death of this aged and revered minister on the evening before in what is generally conceded to have been an unavoidable accident. Making his way home from the evening service at the First Baptist Church, he was struck by a car driven by Walter Bell. The car stopped and the injured man was carried to the County Hospital, but was dead before he arrived there.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon of this week from the First Baptist Church with Rev. B. N. Shepherd conducting the ceremony. Interment was had in the Citizens Cemetery.

Arthur Vinson Neely was born in Overington County, Tennessee, on December 30th, 1846. His parents moved to Texas in 1853 and he made his home in this state until his death. In 1873 he was converted and joined the Baptist Church that he later served half a century as pastor in many churches. He entered the ministry and served in Erath County as Moderator for the Erath County Association for more than twelve years. He was instrumental in the organization of the association in that county.

He moved with his family to Donley County in 1907 and resumed active ministerial work until health prevented his working further in the field.

Mr. Neely married Miss Julia Gossett in 1868. Seven children, six daughters and one son were born to this union. One daughter and one son survive the passing of their father. Both were here for the last time. Mrs. Neely lives in Clarendon; Mrs. L. E. Gammons, the daughter, lives in Ft. Worth; the son, J. N. Neely, lives in Claude. Two brothers, J. Neely of Hedley and G. L. Neely of Oklahe, Oklahoma, and one sister, Mrs. J. H. Kazzlar, of Altus, Oklahoma, are also left to join with the bereaved family. There are a number of grand children and a great host of friends who join with the family in mourning one of the pioneer preachers of this section of the state.

At the time of his death, Rev. Neely was 83 years, 2 months and 16 days of age.

Pall bearers are: O. C. Watson, H. C. Brumley, W. Z. Borron, C. W. Taylor, W. C. Stewart and Ed Speed. The Sunday School class of which he was member acted in the capacity of honorary pall bearers.

A PROCLAMATION

Setting Aside a Week for Clean-Up Week.

I, H. W. Taylor, by authority in me vested as Mayor of the City of Clarendon, do hereby declare and set apart the week of April 7th to 12th, as Clean-Up Week for our City, and I now call upon every citizen to clear his premises of all trash and rubbish before or during the week thus designated.

Pursuant to this order the City Commission has arranged for garbage wagons to collect and haul away at city expense all trash piled for convenient loading.

Accordingly, I urge general and intensive co-operation in making Clarendon a cleaner and therefore more healthful city; wherefore fail not to give due heed to the purposes and dates for this proclamation.

Signed:
H. W. Taylor,
Mayor of the City of Clarendon.
Attest:
Mae Shaver,
City Secretary.

Les Beaux Arts Shrub Exchange

A plant trading day will be the first venture of Les Beaux Arts Club for the year 1930. The event will be held in the Women's Club room at the city Hall on Saturday of this week and all women are asked to take some part in the work of trading. Bulbs, shrubs and other plants of a like nature will be the main sources of trade at this time. The plants are to be brought to the club room and will be cared for while there. If nothing is found that is wanted, then another visit will be had at a later date when something adapted to the needs might be located.

A second of these days is planned for the latter part of April, when seedlings may be exchanged along with other plants of like nature. The exchange is open to any woman whether she has plants to bring or not and all are asked to visit and see if there are some that might be applicable.

DITCH CONCRETING MAKING PROGRESS

FLOOR IS LAID FOR FIRST SECTION OF EXTENSION OF DITCH.

A satisfactory amount of work has been accomplished on the extension of the ditch through the business section of the city the past week. The greater part of the floor has been completed for the ditch, or at least the first part to be completed.

A move on the part of the contractors to relieve the unemployment situation of the city has been welcomed and at least thirty men have been relieved in part since actual work started on the project a little more than one week past. A crew of approximately ten men is required to operate the working part of the ditch. This is divided and a new group works on alternate days to allow for the most needy cases to partially relieve their needs and condition.

The new portion of the ditch is to be wider than that part through the business section, and the North wall will be some feet higher than the wall on the inlet. South wall of ditch, this to allow the flood waters on East Street full access to the ditch without crowding it to capacity. Work on the bridges at the intersection of this street with the ditch will be accomplished as soon as the walls have progressed to an extent to allow the superstructure to be placed on them.

Oil Development Appears Doomed

The present outlook for further development of the oil test in this county seems to almost a hopeless proposition. The contract depth has been reached by the drilling contractors and they indicate that they are in no position to continue the drilling without outside assistance. Mr. Downey, who has been handling the matter for the past five hundred feet, states that he is planning to wait a reasonable length of time before plunging the hole and pulling in the casing but that he is not able to make the test deeper at this time.

Some work has been done this week on a proposal to turn the matter over to a major company for further development, but these folk are not so well pleased with the present acreage. Until some action is taken there will be no further work attempted in connection with the Marine Oil Test.

Leaguers Pageant Next Sunday Night

The evening service at the Methodist Church next Sunday night will be turned over to the Senior and Hi Edworth Leagues in celebration of the fortieth anniversary of the organization in America.

An explanation of the anniversary day will be presented by the two organizations in a pageant, "Children of Light," and will be participated in by twenty-one characters and the membership in auxiliary capacity.

The evening's program in charge of Misses Harvey Thompson and Carrie Davis and Mrs. O. T. Smith will assist with the music incident to the pageant. Officers of the two Leagues invite the church membership and the public generally to attend this program, feeling that all will go away with a better conception of the purposes and aims of the organizations as they are functioning here today.

SATURDAY, APRIL 5TH A FATEFUL DAY

Saturday, April 5th, is a fateful day for Clarendon and the Clarendon Independent School District.

On that date the vote of this citizenship will determine whether or not a tax of twenty cents per hundred dollars property valuation (state valuation) will be levied for the maintenance of the Clarendon Junior College.

If the tax is authorized by the property tax payers the continuance and growth of the junior college is assured.

If Clarendon Independent School District votes the tax, then other school districts of the county may join the junior college district by voting to join and levying the same twenty cent tax. This will entitle them to free tuition for all pupils from their district the same as in the original district.

If the tax is voted it means that Clarendon Junior College still retains its favorable situation and protection through a special rider on the Texas junior college law.

If the tax is defeated, the school board will take it as a mandate from the people to close the junior college.

If the tax is defeated, the reasonable supposition is that Clarendon will never have a junior college, since its present advantage will be forever lost when it is once closed.

If the tax is defeated the town and community loses the school, which publishes to the world that Clarendon and the citizenship of the community are no longer going forward—another way of saying that the town is slipping—which is fatal in these modern times of advancement.

If the tax is defeated many bright, capable boys and girls, unable to finance a college education at distant points, will face life under a handicap of no education past high school—something no thoughtful citizen can contemplate without remorse and sadness.

Yes, Saturday, April 5th, is a fateful day for Clarendon. A fateful day!

FINANCING JUNIOR COLLEGES

At Clarendon, where a church school was taken over two years ago and converted into a municipal junior college, steps are under way for organization of a junior college district. If this is accomplished a 20-cent tax will be collected for the support of the school, which is now financed by tuition charges. The district can be organized under a new state law.

Clarendon's experience should be watched and studied, because something of the same nature is going to be necessary in behalf of Wichita Falls' junior college within the next year or two. Provision must be made for the maintenance and support of the local institution in a more effective and a more permanent way. It is something for Wichita Falls to be thinking about.—Wichita Falls Daily Times.

Ladies of Les Beaux Arts Club of Clarendon have inaugurated a movement which The News believes to be one of the most helpful from the standpoint of yard and city beautification, that has yet come to our attention. Next Saturday people of Clarendon and surrounding communities are invited to attend a plant exchange, which is calculated to better distribute all varieties of flowers and shrubbery for the growing season. If you have too many iris and want to exchange for violets come down and you'll probably find somebody needing iris that is happy to exchange their surplus of violets. It is a splendid practical idea and one that should have the support of everyone interested in more flowers and shrubs for our city. Read the announcement of the exchange on page one.

The epidemic of whiskey paralysis as experienced in Oklahoma City is a condition which has been predicted for many years, and one which is very certain to become very common in the next few years—until folks get enough sense to leave drinking solely to those few and rapidly disappearing chronic inebriates. The traffic is doomed, but not more inexorably than are those who attempt to live under modern conditions and hold to the ruinous habit of tampering with liquor. It's a case of exercising will power in control of liquor thirst or being unable to control the mind and members of the body with that will on account of paralysis. Take your choice.

Plans are in the making for the annual trip of Donley County farmers and business men to the Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show at Plainview during the week of April 7th. Growing interest in dairying here in Donley County should mean the largest caravan to the big show that has ever gone out from this territory. The show is intensely interesting and educational to all those who evaluate dairying at its proper rank in the new economic scheme.

Since Texas has adopted an official state song, "Texas, Our Texas", there are those who say that now the common people can quit using Texas University's "The Eyes of Texas" as a state song. They can, all right, but they probably won't.

Texas is the twelfth state of the union in income tax payments according to a preliminary report of the internal revenue department, issued since March 15th, the last day for the filing of income reports for 1929. If cotton acreage is reduced fifteen or twenty per cent the 1930 income will bring Texas a much higher ranking, and all other business in the state will profit accordingly.

John Esten Cooke, former Clarendon newspaper man, but now editor of the Rockdale Reporter, and Mrs. Leona Blewett, an instructor of C. I. A., at Denton, were married at the latter city Saturday, March 15th, and will be at home in Rockdale after a short honeymoon trip. Editor Cooke has a great number of friends here who will join The News in heartiest congratulations on this happy event and in wishing them many, many years of happiness and conjugal felicity.

This week the Dalhart Texan, under the guidance of John L. McCarty becomes a semi-weekly servant of its city and territory. For many years the Texan has been one of the outstanding weeklies of Texas, but the rapid growth of Dalhart has been reflected so markedly in recent months that the more frequent issue was inevitable. John McCarty is proving himself an editor and publisher of unusual ability and as we offer our congratulations we predict that before many months the Texan will progress to a lusty daily. Some dailies are existing in less populous and aggressive towns than Dalhart even now.

AN IMPOSING RECORD

Not very many regular readers of newspapers comprehend the volume of printed matter that an up-and-going paper turns out within a year.

Readers of The Clarendon News in 1929 may not suspect that outside of the monthly magazine section they received for their subscription money six hundred and thirty-two pages of home-printed matter, or an average of twelve and three-quarters pages each of the fifty-two weeks. This is equivalent to sixteen hundred page books of the ordinary size, or figuring it another way amounted to four thousand four hundred and twenty-four columns of news and advertising of local importance. In the year The News sold within twenty-five inches of one thousand inches of advertising per week.

The above record of production coupled with the last item goes to make up one of the really imposing newspaper records of the Southwest for a weekly publication in any town, regardless of size.

AN ANALYSIS OF YOURSELF

Houston Chronicle: It is unwise to seek compliments. You may not get what you desire or you may be told what pleases you but something that is untrue. To be told of your faults might be more valuable. Of course, a dose of bitter criticism is not easy to take, but it might effect a cure which would work for your good.

Once in a while we find a friend who is absolutely honest to the extent of giving his true opinion of us. But you can't expect to have many of this kind, for it makes too large a demand on friendship and few are willing to risk it.

If you are earnestly eager to hear the truth, ask what are your bad points, what are your disagreeable traits, and see what you get.

Don't ask to have your good enumerated.

You have little tricks that are mighty disagreeable to others and you should find out what they are so that you can rid yourself of them. And having learned what they are, don't be too stubborn to try to overcome them.

CITY LEADS OTHERS IN PAINTING FOR NEW YEAR

First evidences of the clean-up spirit for the City of Clarendon was most visible the latter part of last week when workmen painted the fire hydrants in the business section of the town. The original painting scheme followed the tops and hose openings being painted shining white with the remainder of the hydrant receiving a coat of bright red. In addition to this work, the stop signs and the "No U Turn Signals" were given a coating in their original brilliant red and white. A little later in the spring, the parking signs will be repainted and the city will be in position to face the year ready for all comers.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Mayes left for Lubbock Sunday in response to a message stating that Mr. Mayes' brother-in-law was seriously ill.

Mr. Bill Meredith of Amarillo was a guest in the home of his friend, Geo. B. Bagby, Thursday of last week.

Electrical Servants for Your Home

"The application of Electricity to household appliances has done more to raise the standard of home-life than any other single factor," is the opinion of a well known home economics authority.

Just contrast the difference between the Modern, Electrically-equipped home of today, and homes of similar means a few years ago.

No longer does the housewife grow old before her time... no longer does she slave and toil about her kitchen and household tasks... no longer is she shut off from the rest of the world because of lack of time to enjoy and appreciate the better things of life.

Does your home reflect the spirit of this New Day? Are you receiving all the economical benefits possible through the intelligent application of electricity to your home?

One of our Household Engineers will be glad to show you how cheaply you can secure the enormous advantages of "Complete Electrical Service."

Claims For Argotane Too Mild Says Amarillo Policeman

"I KNOW WHAT I'M TALKING ABOUT WHEN I SAY THIS MEDICINE IS BEST IN THE WORLD," DECLARES BUSH.

Everybody continues to praise upon Argotane. It seems the amazing health building powers of this medicine become more and more sensational as new tests are made and Argotane dealers are reporting an ever increasing demand for this medicine that has got ahead of all former records in the history of proprietary medicine.

Nobody seems to be able to find words strong enough to express their gratitude for what Argotane has done for them, but with one accord they all declare that the claims made for Argotane are too mild.

"Judging by what this wonderful medicine has done for me, there is no way of saying too much for Argotane," declared Thomas Bush, 220 N. E. Eleventh Street, Amarillo, Texas, a well known city policeman.

"Yes sir, you can bet your life I know what I'm talking about when I say Argotane is the greatest medicine on earth," continues Mr. Bush. "For over twelve years I have been a constant sufferer from stomach disorder as I was poisoned with mustard gas during the war and although I consulted doctors in Germany while with the army of occupation they invariably told me that this was the most poisonous of all gases and that it usually settled in a man's weakest organ, sometimes it settled in their lungs, others their stomach and I guess in my case it was my stomach. Why for the past few years I was in such a terrible condition that nothing I would eat would lay on my stomach."

up my mind I was doomed to suffer the rest of my life. Constipation had me also the lightest kind of food caused me to suffer every kind of a stomach agony that could be thought of. It just seemed there was a weight in the pit of my stomach all the time. Gas would sometimes bloat me up until I felt like I would burst, and I tell you I was just feeling miserable all over. I thought I had just about come to my row's end when I decided to try Argotane, hoping as a last chance that it might do me some good. I kept reading in our Amarillo papers about the good this medicine was doing and believe me I can say that same thing now. A few days on this treatment have simply made a new man of me.

"I'm eating like a farm hand these days, and don't have any indigestion, gas bloating, belching of stomach, or trouble of any kind. And I don't have to choose my food either, but just eat anything on the table. I'll tell you it is simply great to feel so fine once more. Nights I sleep like a top and I have just been built up in every way and never felt better in my life. Just send anyone to me who wants to know about Argotane and I'll tell 'em. They can't claim half enough for this medicine."

PATMAN HAS STORY

ON NEW PECAN TREES

When J. T. Patman planted his pecan trees early in January of this year, he came in for a good share of friendly kidding from his wife as to possible harvest time for the pecans on the trees. eter down the side of the hole to water the tree where the water would do the greatest amount of good. About a week or so ago, the owner of the trees started in on the spring campaign of watering them and finally reached one that had been placed in the front yard. Children had been playing around here and it is presumed that they dropped some articles into the pipe. In any event, when the pipe had filled with water, there were found three perfect pecans, the first fruits of the tree.

If all the trees planted here this season act according to this one, the Panhandle will produce two crops yearly, one from the roots of the tree, a-la-potato and one from the upper portion of the same tree as according to the rules of pecans.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McMurtry left Sunday evening for San Angelo to attend the Texas and Southwestern Cattleman's Convention.

COMPARE VALUES BEFORE YOU BUY AN AUTOMOBILE

Low charges for distribution of the new Ford save you at least $50 to $75 in addition to the many savings in making the car

THESE are days when every dollar counts. The period of reckless spending is over. People are going back to the good old-fashioned principles of thrift and economy. Value is again being carefully considered.

Nowhere is this more important than in the selection of an automobile. For the purchase of a car represents a considerable investment. It should not be decided on hurriedly, but only after analyzing every important factor that concerns cost, value and performance. The time to do this is before buying—not afterward when it is too late.

ON THE basis of cost, performance and the actual comparative worth of every part, the new Ford is a value far above the price you pay. It is made of better materials and with greater care and accuracy because of the recognized efficiency and economy of Ford manufacturing methods.

The value of these methods is known and understood by millions of people. It is not generally realized, however, that these same principles of efficiency and economy are applied also to every step in the distribution of the Ford car. The low cost of selling, financing time payments, etc., means a direct saving to you of at least $50 to $75 in addition to the money saved by Ford economies in making the car. Here are three reasons why this is so.

(1) The Ford dealer does business on a smaller margin of profit because of the greater number of cars he sells. His discount or commission is the lowest of any automobile dealer. The difference in your favor, ranging from 25% to nearly 50%, comes right off the price you pay for the car.

(2) The Ford charges for financing are low.

(3) No expensive extra equipment is needed when you buy a Ford. The car leaves the factory ready for use. The f.o.b. price includes a Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield and an extra steel-spoke wheel, in addition to four Houdaille double-acting shock absorbers and fully enclosed four-wheel brakes. Any accessories you may wish for your individual taste are sold considerably below the usual prices. None of these charges for selling, financing or accessories is marked up or increased to cover a high trade-in allowance on a used car.

Get all the facts, therefore, before you buy and figure out just what you are getting for your automobile dollars. Go beyond the f.o.b. price and find out how much more you pay the dealer than the dealer pays at the factory. Analyze the used-car allowance. Compare all charges—item for item—value for value.

WHEN you do this you will have a new appreciation of what the Ford Motor Company and Ford dealers are doing to keep down the cost of Ford cars. You will also know why it is possible to put so much real value into the new Ford and still retain the low price. The money you pay goes for value in the car. It is not wasted in excessive costs in manufacturing or selling.

"The Eyes of Texas"

Kenneth Fink

Austin, Texas, March 16—An- other collection of rare books has been added to the Wrenn Library of the University of Texas. The latest addition consists of 1,100 volumes which was presented by Archer M. Huntington, of New York. Some of the books in the collection are noted for their illustrations; others for their beautiful bindings. Numbers of the books are considered too valuable for circulation, so they will be placed in the rare book room of the library. Some of these books are known to be worth $300 a volume.

The 500 books from the Aitken Collection which consists for the most part of rare first editions of Eighteenth Century literature, now being rebound in London, have been evaluated at approximately $650,000. This group of books is part of the 4,000 books of the Aitken Collection bought by the University from Harold Wrenn, who had bought them from George A. Aitken, London, as a supplement to the Wrenn Library.

Of the 309 students who have applied for bachelor's degrees from the college of Arts and Science to be awarded in June, 285 are seeking the degree of bachelor of arts; 11 the bachelor of journalism; the the bachelor of science in home economics; and the bachelor of science in medicine. Two Clarendon High School graduates of 1926 will be among the number to receive degrees: Mary Katherine Headrick and Kenneth Fink.

The main features of the Texas Round-up, April 11, 12 and 13, will be a review of the History of the University from 1836 up to the present in costume and music will help to produce the desired effect. The review will be presented on the stage of the new

OUTSTANDING SPEAKERS FOR HERD SCHOOL

A two-day herd improvement school will be given in connection with the Agricultural Department of the Teachers College at Canyon on the last Friday and Saturday of this month. The aim of this school is to better acquaint the breeders of West Texas with the scientific principles underlying bull clubs, pure seed farms, and improved poultry strains.

The classes will start at ten o'clock Friday morning, March 23. The first day will be devoted to the physical basis of inheritance; particularly the principles of underlying the scientific mating of farm animals; also, reasons why farm animals will not breed will be discussed. The second day will be devoted to diseases of reproductive organs, line breeding, bull clubs, poultry improvement, and problems concerning seed farms.

Outstanding speakers from the Livestock Sanitary Board at Fort Worth, from the Pure Seed Commission at Austin, and from Agricultural Colleges will participate in the program. Mr. P. C. Bennett, Agricultural Manager of the City Board of Development of Amarillo, and founder of the first bull club in Texas; and Professor George P. Groat of Panhandle, who approved blood lines for the first bull club in Texas, will have prominent parts in the program. Professor William Gourley of Silvertown, who is President of the Vocational Agricultural Teachers of the Panhandle and who is one of the promoters of the school, thinks this one of the greatest opportunities West Texas dairymen and other livestock breeders have had to learn the most im-

Contracts have been let for the construction of the Women's Activities Building; the time limit on the contract is 260 working days. The total for the contracts will be in the form of a hollow square with a patio about 125 feet square in the center space.

Rhodin Chase, along with two other students, has been selected by the congregation of the University Presbyterian Church to serve as student deacon.

The following is a "short" which appeared in the Daily Texan during the past week. The writer testified that it was true. It reveals one side of University life—not the intellectual.

"The saying, 'All is fair in love and war,' may have been worked to death, but nevertheless it still holds true. The world is full of little side-battles and the University campus has its share. Many times it must have been raining, but this time it is a story of a freshman girl 'fighting' a graduate student.

"Some time ago a freshman girl believed that she had a complete crush upon a certain man. Her fondest dreams were built around him. Then almost as suddenly another girl at the same dormitory

"Last Tuesday afternoon, the hero walked into the dormitory with his new girl friend after taking her for a ride. There was a hurried movement behind closed doors and a freshman giggle escaped from somewhere. The hero bade good afternoon to the new girl and stepped out of the front door and stopped to admire the rain. It must have been raining for an entire bucket of ice cold water enveloped him. The war was on."

portant facts concerning their work.

The school will be handled from the practical side rather than from the technical. Those in charge expect to have every talk at the school given in every-day language which will make it possible for those without technical training to have an opportunity to learn scientific breeding principles. This is the first time that such an attempt has been made in West Texas.

FEBRUARY LOADINGS OF VEGETABLES, OFF FOR YEAR

Austin, Texas, March 19—Daily loadings of fruits and vegetables in Texas during February were considerably below those of last year at this time, according to Bervard Nichols, editor of the Texas Business Review, issued monthly by the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas.

"During the month, 5,200 cars of fruits and vegetables were loaded in Texas, against 5,006 in January and 5,843 cars in February, 1929," Mr. Nichols said. "Further seasonal gains are expected during the next two or three months. Spinach accounted for nearly a third of the volume, with loadings amounting to 1,747 cars, whereas 1,493 cars were loaded in February last year. There were 1,410 cars of mixed vegetables and 1,932 carloads of cabbage in February a year ago. Loadings of grapefruit, sweet potatoes and carrots were also considerably under those in February, 1929. Prices held unusually steady during the month."

FORM PROVIDED FOR ABSENTEES

FAMILIES TO BE ENUMERATED ALTHOUGH OUT OF TOWN DURING APRIL.

The Fifteenth Decennial Census of the United States will be taken during the month of April. The enumeration will be made by a force of about 100,000 enumerators who will go from house to house and secure the information required for the census. Every person is to be enumerated, so far as possible, at his "usual place of abode" or the place where he usually lives. Where individual members of a family are away from home at the time the census is taken they will be reported to the enumerator by other members of the family.

For cases where it is known in advance that the whole family will be away from home at that time, special provision has been made by the Director of the Census in the form of an absent family schedule which is to be filled out by some responsible member of the family in advance of the census date and transmitted to the local supervisor of the Census. A copy of this schedule can be secured by application to Mr. Galen R. Smith, of Amarillo, Texas, who is the Census Supervisor for this district.

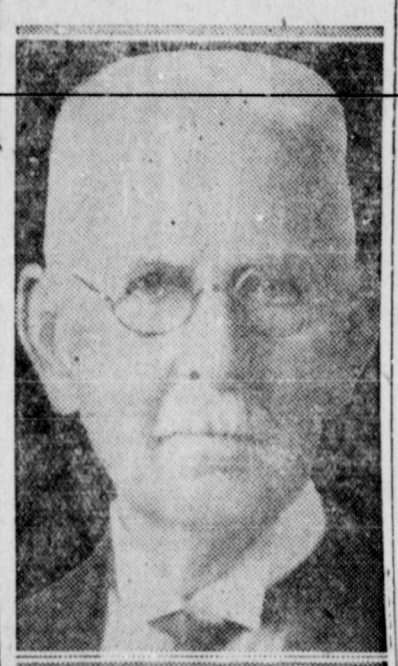

Families planning to be away during the month of April, leaving the home closed or with no one in charge who is qualified to give the census information to the enumerator, are urged to obtain one of these schedules at once and to fill it out and send it to Mr. Smith at the earliest possible date. Or if the house is left in charge of a servant who will be sure to be at home when the enumerator calls, the schedule may be left with such servant for delivery to the enumerator.

The information furnished on this schedule will be treated as confidential and will be used only for the tabulation of statistics which will not reveal any information with regard to individuals or families.

"Since taking the Sargon treatment I feel as well and strong as I was 25 years ago. I have a fine appetite, sleep good and constipation, biliousness and dizzy spells are all things of the past."—David S. Beekman, 528 Kearney St., San Francisco, Calif.

MARYLAND SMOOTHES WAY FOR MOTORS

ONLY WAY TO SOLVE HIGHWAY PROBLEMS IS TO BUILD ROADS THAT LAST.

By E. E. Duffy

There is but one way to solve the rural highway problem and that is to formulate a plan whereby every available cent of highway income can be devoted to pavement construction that will best serve the car.

What a state can do when it places its mind on the job is well illustrated by Maryland. During the road building season just ended, Maryland contracted 225 miles of new roads and of this total all but 60 miles were concrete. Although Maryland is among the smaller states, she has a total road mileage of 14,810. Of this, 3,062 miles compose the state system. At the beginning of 1929 Maryland had some 1,450 miles of concrete pavement, which together with the new construction of last season gives about 1,600 miles. This reflects a real attempt to serve the tax payer.

Further recognition by Maryland that the automobile is a device that demands space and freedom is indicated in three other features of the construction program. One hundred and forty miles were constructed to widen existing pavements for additional safety and convenience.

Included among the 39 bridges completed this year, or nearly so, were seven grade crossing eliminations. The troubles usually encountered in securing rights-of-way and cooperation in building separated grade crossings prevented Maryland from adding 12 more to the 1929 program. Herein is pointed out the necessity of early planning. Several states have found it expedient to lay their plans for structures even some little time ahead of the period in which money would become available. It may be said that if work on all the projects held in the paper stage were to proceed, no one need worry over labor shortages for some time to come.

Another forward looking step taken by Maryland was the widening of eleven miles of the Washington-Baltimore Boulevard to 40 feet, completing the work between Baltimore and Laurel. Only through such effort as this will the states be able to declare that they are doing all in their power to meet the motor problem.

ORGANIZATIONS FALL OFF IN SECOND MONTH OF 1930

Austin, Texas, March 19—New corporations organized in Texas during February declined sharply in number, according to Bervard Nichols, editor of the Texas Business Review, issued monthly by the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas.

"Normally, a falling off occurs from January to February, but the decrease this year of nearly 25 per cent is unusually high," Mr. Nichols said. "There were 182 companies capitalized at $5,224,000 receiving charters from the Secretary of State in February, or the fewest for any February in three years. Last year, 231 new corporations having capital stock of $15,985,000 were organized."

"Three public service corporations were chartered, one less than in February last year, while eighteen new oil companies were organized, against seventeen in February, 1929. New banking and financial institutions declined from fifteen in February a year ago to five last month, and real estate firms fell from 27 to thirteen. Only fourteen manufacturing concerns were chartered, compared to 41 in February, 1929. This large decline in manufacturing establishments is rather unfavorable."

Much of Pontiac's increased smoothness is due to new type rubber mountings which now insulate its engine from the frame, and to a more rigid crankcase which assures more permanent bearing and crankshaft alignment. Then too, smoothness is intensified by the Harmonic Balancer which counteracts torsional crankshaft vibration. Finally, Pontiac's basic engine design enables it to develop 60 horsepower at moderate engine speed. No matter how fast or hard you drive, the engine runs smoothly and silently. . . . In this car you get reliability and long life seldom equalled except in cars of much higher price. Furthermore, you get remarkable economy. Your own good judgment should suggest that you investigate this finer Pontiac.

Old Maids Resume Social Activity

The return of the spring season of the year brought a return of vitality to the Old Maids society of this city with the result that they were honored in a number of affairs over the past week-end.

The first of these was a Bridge Dinner with Miss Lois Alexander as the hostess. Miss Elgin Patrick was declared high score winner and was also fortunate in the cut for consolation. A delightful two-course dinner was served the following: Betty Walker, Edna Montgomery, Lorraine Benson, Elgin Patrick, Jane Killough, Wylla Alexander, Florence Fink, Maurine Wood, Lucille Allen, Mrs. Meade Haile, Alice Owensby, Mrs. Earl Alexander and the hostess, Lois Alexander.

Another affair for the entertainment of this jolly group of young ladies was the chili dinner tendered them on last Sunday in the home of Miss Florence Fink.

After playing havoc with the chili, the afternoon was turned to that entertaining diversion of bridge with the following taking part: Lois and Wylla Alexander, Betty Walker, Jane Killough, Lorraine Benson, Edna Montgomery, Eleanor and Frances Morris, Mrs. Meade Haile and the hostess: Miss Florence Fink.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter Entertain

One of the most enjoyable parties of the week was that given by Judge and Mrs. J. R. Porter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Powell on Thursday evening.

This was an evening of good will and hilarity. Every one being in the best of mood. The dinner was enjoyed and the game 42 was attacked with a vengeance as the hostess announced that a grab basket had been arranged for all who bid 84, 168 or 250 and made their bid, also for those failing to progress for three times in succession or made three zeros in succession.

Bidding was spirited and the contents of the basket, tho plentifully filled, were soon exhausted. Everyone present received some noise or fun maker, needless to say they were used to the best of advantage and only one grievance was heard and that was against one guest who seemed to have by three or drawing edibles, while others try as best they could, were unable to do so.

Those present to enjoy this social affair were: Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rathjen, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Burton, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Wilkerson, Mrs. B. G. Smith, Miss Dewey Meacham, Miss Ineva Headrick, Mr. U. J. Boston and Mr. Walter Clifford.

Miss Youngblood Is Honoree

A lovely affair of Thursday was the miscellaneous shower given to three of our charming young matrons, Mesdames Marvin Warren, Meade Haile and Marvin Land in honor of Miss Thelma Youngblood, who is to soon become the bride of Mr. Hillburn Gattis.

A delightful piano solo by Elwa Smith opened the afternoon's entertainment and this was followed by a clever little reader, Montez Dowsey Louella Bell with her violin entertained for a few minutes and Bernice LaFon rendered a beautiful piano solo, the program was closed by little Miss Betty Blanche Baker, who charmed her hearers with a vocal solo.

Immediately following the completion of the program Master Billy Marvin Land entered the room drawing a gaily decorated conveyance piled high with gifts of every nature and stopped immediately in front of Miss Youngblood, who graciously opened the gifts for inspection and such a beautiful collection is seldom seen.

JOE CANNON BUYS AGENCY FOR PIERCE PETROLEUM

Notice is found in this issue of the News of the purchase of the Pierce Petroleum agency here by Joe Cannon. Joe has been for the past five and one half years the driver for A. L. Chase and the Continental Oil Company. His position in that place will be taken by Lonnie Hahn, well known here for several years past.

The agency for the Pierce Petroleum became the property of Mr. Cannon Monday of this week. Offices for the handling of the business will be found in the usual place in the Panhandle Service Station, the former location for the handling of the business by Mr. Bell. The plans of the former operator of the agency are to return to the ranch for at least the coming season.

PRISONERS THINNED OUT OF DONLEY COUNTY JAIL

Clearing the house for possible additions to the place, a number of prisoners have been removed this week to other places. Two were sent to California to answer to a charge of stealing an automobile in that state. These two men, Ernest A. Lee and Sam F. Thomas, were released in charge of an United States Marshal Monday. They were caught here and were being held on a charge of burglarizing the Panhandle Chain Tire Store and also on a charge of breaking into the Palmer Garage. Bert Hall and Joe Dunwoodie, both under sentence for the murder of the night watchman at Hedley, were transferred to the Wichita Falls jail, where they are awaiting an appeal. The fifth man to be removed from the local place of confinement was Dudley James Adams, turned to the Sheriff from Sherman. This last man was picked up here and was held charged with the theft of an automobile at Sherman. The same man is also alleged to have burglarized at least two stores and knocked the knob from one safe. This reduction was made imperative by the approach of the March term of District Court, there being ordinarily some additions to the county jail when this court is in progress.

IN MEMORY OF BROTHER NEELY

By Mrs. W. T. Lowe

Bro. A. V. Neely has passed away. He will be missed each Sabbath day.

He always filled his humble place with a heart brim full of love and grace. He has been a Christian, Oh! so long.

For a half century or more He preached God's word to rich and poor.

Most of his family have gone before. To greet him on the shining shore. His life companion is left behind Who will leave her foot prints on the sand of time.

He proved himself a good true man; On moral questions he took a stand. He was God's man of the truest type. He always dared to do the right. His work completed on life's earthly stage, So the Savior called him at a ripe old age.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Evans have returned to their home after a visit with friends in Gainesville.

PASTIME SPEAKERS ARE OF LATEST IMPROVED DESIGN

Two new speakers were installed as equipment of the Pastime Theater the latter part of last week, replacing the equipment that was in place since the opening of the place of business with sound pictures. The speakers as installed are of the latest and most improved design, improving the quality of the singing materially and clearing up the speaking parts with quite a nice degree of satisfaction. In addition to this improvement, a new set of lenses have been added to the projection machines, giving a larger picture than before. This also adds to the pleasure of the theater goer in that none of the characters are distorted in any manner.

Rev. B. N. Shepherd preached at the Baptist Church in Memphis at the Sunday morning hour, Bro. Miller being away in a revival. Rev. C. B. Brooks, of Hedley, brought the message of the morning here at the local church.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Buntin and daughter, Phebe Ann, spent the week-end with relatives in Amarillo.

The Gist of the Bolivian-Paraguayan Boundary Dispute

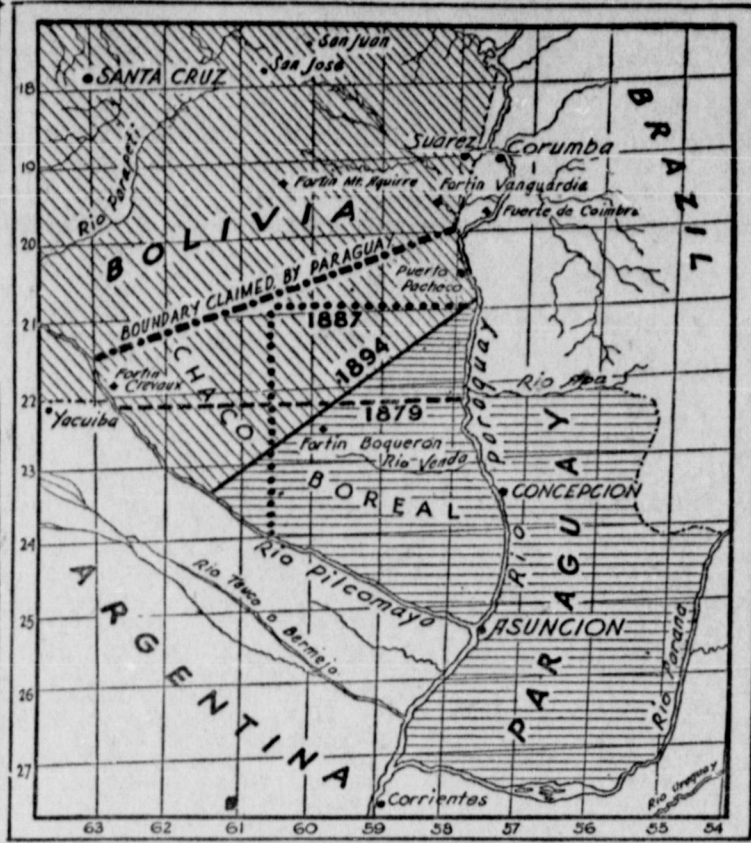

By HORACE G. KNOWLES,
Former American Minister
to Bolivia.

The Bolivian-Paraguayan boundary dispute is today one of the most dangerous and vexing questions in South America. The map shows clearly the disputed territory, known as the Gran Chaco or Chaco Boreal, which lies between the Paraguay and Pilcomayo rivers. In 1565, this was included by royal Spanish decree in the Province of Charcas. Upon the overthrow of the Spanish power in South America, the Province of Charcas, by general agreement of all the new countries (Paraguay included), became part of Bolivia. Thus Bolivia, first as a colonial unit of Spain and later as a republic, has had a clear title to the Gran Chaco since 1563.

But the Chaco is close to the populated parts of Paraguay and very far from those of Bolivia. Paraguayan settlers have in the drifted into it, and their military forces have from time to time seized parts of it. Thus Puerto Pacheco, a Bolivian port on the Paraguay River, was seized by Paraguay in 1888 and is still held by her. The quiet penetration of the Chaco by Paraguay has since continued, with occasional flare-ups between the two countries.

Bolivia finally awoke to the danger of losing all of her shoreline along the navigable parts of the Paraguay and Pilcomayo rivers. She tried by a number of treaties to put a stop to Paraguayan encroachments. But these treaties remained unratified by Paraguay, who continued to push farther and farther into the Chaco.

In December, 1928, Paraguayan forces seized and destroyed Fort Vanguardia. In retaliation, Bolivia captured Fort Boqueron from Paraguay. War was averted by a Conciliation Commission, representing five nations and headed by Brigadier General Frank R. McCoy of the United States. This Commission found Paraguay the aggressor, and suggested that she restore and return Fort Vanguardia to Bolivia, whereupon Bolivia should return Fort Boqueron to Paraguay. Paraguay's representatives agreed to the findings of the Commission, but her Government later refused to give these effect.

The Conciliation Commission then offered to arbitrate the boundary dispute itself. Bolivia, having a clear title to the whole Chaco, contended, rightfully, that first she and Paraguay must determine the zone to be subject to arbitration. Should they be unable to agree as to this, Bolivia suggested that the average line of the three lines fixed by the treaties of 1879, 1887 and 1894 be taken as the northern boundary of such a zone, and that then a southern boundary could be fixed without infringement of any of the rights of Paraguay. The matter rested here, in spite of sporadic efforts of Uruguay to bring the two countries together, until January 12, 1930.

On that date Paraguay announced that she had been attacked by Bolivia. A few days later she appealed to the League of Nations for protection. It later developed that, instead of a Bolivian attack, it was really a Paraguayan attack upon an outpost of Fort Boqueron which is held by Bolivia.

Bolivia, although much stronger and having a clear title to the Chaco, apparently does not seek to wrench from Paraguay those parts already settled by her. But it is one thing voluntarily to cede territory in the interests of peace. It is quite another thing to be stripped gradually of territory through force. Whatever concessions she may make, Bolivia will probably never agree to surrender her shoreline on certain navigable parts of the Paraguay and Pilcomayo rivers which represent her sole outlet to the sea.

dance came from out of town and not from the folk of the city.

A possible road meeting at Lakeview on Thursday was mentioned by Lion Nored with the statement being made that this would mean a great deal to Hedley and that it should be put through if at all possible. A committee from the city of Clarendon was suggested to meet with the group to assist them in working out their problems.

SIDELIGHTS

By Marvin Jones

Member of Congress from Texas.

Southward, as well as Westward, the star of Empire takes its way.

We have reached the end of an epoch in the history of our country.

New England industry is on the wane. The South and Southwest have been growing and building. The coming decade will witness the greatest development in the Southern and Southwestern States that has ever taken place within the borders of America.

In making this statement I am not merely expressing my own views. It represents to viewpoint of practically every one who has studied these conditions.

What are the influences that are bringing about this new development? Why are men of experience advising young men to seek their fortunes in this fast-growing section?

Here is the reason: The South and Southwest today possess much of the reserve supply of the natural resources of America, the raw material out of which so many thousands of articles are being made.

The South has a large reserve supply of timber, coal and iron. The Southwest has a large reserve of the world's oil, natural gas and hydro-electric power.

Our portion of the Union has, in large measure, a natural monopoly on cotton, cotton seed and cotton seed oil.

We have the finest wheat lands in America. In addition to all these advantages, the Southwest has a climate and a fertile soil with which no other section of the world can compare.

If properly utilized, her coal, oil, natural gas and water power will give her a tremendous advantage over New England, that of cheap power with which to transform her raw materials into the finished article. By saving the freight charges from New England to the Southern States, our factory owners would prosper, our laborers

Our Weekly Church Chat

The Church is God's great life-saving institution here on earth. All Christians are co-workers with God in the business of saving souls. What America needs today is more Christian homes. How many parents lose the opportunities of making real men and women out of their children, by not speaking the needy words and living the right examples? Mothers and fathers, if you are not a Christian, become one right away. You are losing the golden opportunity of living a Christian life before your little ones. You owe it to your child to be a Christian. You should not stand between him and Christ, but lead him in the right way.

"For the lambs will follow the sheep you know, Wherever the sheep may stray; If the sheep go wrong, it will not be long. Till the lambs are as wrong as they. And so with the sheep, we earnestly plead, For the sake of the lambs today, If the lambs are lost, what a terrible cost. Some sheep will have to pay."

Next Sunday morning our subject will be, "Religion in the Home." Religious instruction is not to be given proxy, it is an imperative duty of parents to instruct their children in religious things.

Every organization that is living and vital stands for things that are fundamental. The officials of fraternal societies, lodges, etc., are ready to make definite statements about their organizations without any hesitation. Today the religious world is deploring the results of divisions in the ranks of professing Christians. In our message on "The Things for Which the Church of Jesus Christ Stands," Sunday evening, we hope to place in the hands of every Christian the facts and answers to some important questions of this age. We are expecting two great services Sunday, and we are depending upon you to be present.

W. E. Ferrell, Minister, First Christian Church, Clarendon, Texas.

HOLLAND TUNNEL COSTS AND ESTIMATES DIFFER

The New York Times, in a story on the Holland vehicular tunnel, comments on the wide divergence between preliminary estimates and subsequent actualities.

Original estimates of the cost of construction were $28,669,000. But its actual cost was $48,400,000. Estimated time for its construction was four years. But it actually required eight years. Estimated yearly gross revenue was estimated at $3,952,200. But its actual gross revenue was $5,757,863.

Widest divergence of all between estimates and actualities in this city-owned project was in operating expenses. Preliminary estimates placed these at $326,000 annually, but the actual expenditures were only slightly below $1,500,000.

could be well paid, and our section would grow wealthy.

The difference in climate between our section and the Northern States gives the average family in the South and Southwest a decided advantage in the cost of clothes and fuel, to say nothing of the saving in building construction.

According to the Department of Commerce, our industries have tripled in the last decade.

As a dairying section, we are destined to lead the Nation. Our soil, climate and abundance of feed materials give us advantages with which other sections cannot compare.

When the fact becomes generally known that Texas and surrounding States are practically free from tuberculosis among the cattle, while the cattle of the Northern States, and especially the Northeastern States, are infested to a dangerous degree, the demand for our dairy products will be greater than can be supplied.

The South has passed through the stress period that followed the Civil War, and a new day is dawning. She is destined to lead the world in the triumphant march of future progress.

STATES SPEND MORE FOR ROADS

BUREAU OF PUBLIC ROADS STATES AND COUNTIES TO SPEND LARGE SUM.

Co-operating with President Hoover in his plea to enlarge all construction programs as much as is practicable to ameliorate the unemployment at situation, the States and their counties will spend in their road building programs for 1930 at least $250,000,000 more than they spent in 1929.

Reports received from State highway departments and compiled by the Bureau of Public Roads, U. S. Department of Agriculture, show that State and local authorities plan to spend $1,691,167,455 for highway improvement in 1930.

The planned expenditure by State highway departments for construction and maintenance of State highways is $937,500,455; the balance, $663,667,000, will be spent, according to the estimates, on local roads and bridges. The State highway officials of 45 States estimate the total length of roads to be improved by them in 1930 as 32,532 miles, an increase of 3,126 miles over the estimate in the 1929 programs.

Three States failed to report contemplated mileages for 1930. The highway departments of all States will control the maintenance of 281,393 miles of highways this year, an increase of 32,381 over the mileage under State maintenance in 1929. Gradually, the States are taking over into their systems for maintenance the more important county and local roads of the country.

The States of greatest population and industrialization in which unemployment, naturally, is greatest, show the highest contemplated expenditures. The Middle Atlantic States, comprising New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, plan to spend $374,835,310 on improvement of State and local roads, the East North Central States of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin plan to spend $303,696,000.

The West North Central States, including Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas, rank third in their contemplated expenditure of $236,461,727. and the South Atlantic States of Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida with an expenditure of $182,872,418 rank fourth; the West South Central States of Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas rank fifth with an expenditure of $154,100,000; and the Pacific States comprising Washington, Oregon, and California, rank sixth with an expenditure of $121,590,000.

Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, and Mississippi, making up the East South Central group, plan to spend $101,992,000 on State and local road improvements; Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut in the New England group plan to spend $75,430,000 and the Mountain States of Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, and Nevada, $50,190,000.

HIGHWAY LAWS EXPLAINED TUES.

ASSURANCE OF ROTARY INTEREST EXPRESSED BY A. T. COLE.

Vice President A. T. Cole of the Clarendon Rotary Club was the visitor at the Lions Luncheon Tuesday of this week. Mr. Cole expressed the appreciation of the letter from the Lions Club and assured the gathering that they were certain of the support of the Rotarians whenever need arose for a union of the two organizations in a common cause.

Further statements made by Mr. Cole had to do with the present situation of unemployment in Clarendon. He urged that the members of the Lions do all possible to remedy the situation, if necessary, passing the work round so that the most deserving men with dependent families be given all the assistance possible. Statement was also made that the condition might not be improving as rapidly as could be, with the peak of unemployed yet some distance in the future.

Lion Chase cited the efforts of the City of Clarendon in this case, stating that the contractors in charge were already passing the work round so that the men might have their due share of the work. Lion Douglas cited his recent trip to Dallas and Fort Worth, stating that there was a steady stream between the two cities, each one going to the other seeking work and bemoaning the lack of work in the town they had recently left.

The application of Leon O. Lewis was read and passed by the membership of the club. The Secretary was instructed to notify the Cub Lion at the earliest possible moment.

The resolutions committee had their report read to the club. This was accepted and the committee was discharged with the thanks of the Club.

Suggestion was made to the Lions that a letter be written to Dr. Strite thanking him for the work he had done for the Lions Club of Clarendon. The Secretary was instructed to write this letter and ask the club for any assistance that he might need from the other members of the club.

Dr. Sherman was called to the floor and gave quite an explanation on the Highway Laws as they are now existent at the present time. He called attention to the fact that the men on the roads were put there to enforce the laws and at the same time to render such assistance as might be needed. A recital of the most commonly violated laws was given and the final resume was given that in the final analysis the laws were passed in order to protect the careful driver against the man who would form a menace to the other drivers on the road. The discussion was much enjoyed and called forth quite a bit of discussion after it had closed.

Lion Burton announced the County Interscholastic Meet the latter part of this week and urged attendance from as many of the Clarendon people as possible. He also stated that in former years, the greatest part of the atten-

TIME OFF FOR FLATTERY

Much as a Senator might disagree with a colleague on everything from tariff schedules to the League of Nations, his opponent is always, in senatorial parlance, "the distinguished Senator from So-and-So" or the speaker's "very good friend." Though flattery more personal than this is rare, two exceptions occurred recently during the tariff debate. Senator Copeland of New York, advocating a duty on opera hats (probably as an essential factor in farm relief) referred to "the opera hat, which is now commonly worn by handsome young people like the Senator from Maryland."

Gallant as well as handsome, the Senator from Maryland, Mr. Tydings, sprang to his feet and protested, "Mr. President, the Senator only sees himself reflected when he looks at men."

"I feel flattered," Senator Copeland returned, "I wish it might be true."

On another occasion Senator Smoot of Utah said to Senator Barkley of Kentucky who objected to high tariffs on a certain type of foreign-made overcoat, "The Senator would not wear one of them; I know he is too sensible." However, the Kentuckian was so little astounded by this striking tribute to his intelligence that he never budged from his position, and Mr. Smoot's pretty diplomacy was wasted.

THE TIRED BUSINESS WOMAN

Through living models and moving pictures, action and still life, colored displays and black and white charts, the Women's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor, made its impression on visitors to the National Industrial Exposition in Chicago during the early part of March.

All exhibits of the Bureau were centered around the idea of reducing fatigue of women workers eliminating wasteful factors in industry, and promoting the welfare of women generally. Health and first-aid programs of more progressive industrial establishments were portrayed in demonstrations each afternoon. Guarded machinery, comfortable work chairs, adequate sanitary facilities and similar marks of the up-to-date industry were shown in moving pictures actually taken in plants of various sections of the country.

Women working in the cotton field, berry patch, telephone exchange, garment factory, business office, private home and other fields were graphically represented in a replica of the seven miniature stage models, which attracted universal attention at the Seville Exposition last year.

LOOKS LIKE A GLIDING SUMMER

Ever since Colonel Charles Lindbergh's recent escape, popular interest in gliding has grown. Glider clubs are being formed throughout the country, and displays of advanced types of gliders and soarers draw crowds.

America has surpassed all other nations in various phases of aeronautical development, but Germany still holds the record for high grade gliding and soaring. One reason for her superiority is a more suitable topography that has its counterpart in very few areas of the United States. Elemental or pleasure gliding, however, is possible all over this country. The motorless aircraft may be launched in various ways. One is to start it down the side of a long steep hill. Another is to tow it behind an automobile until sufficient momentum is acquired to allow a take-off. The latter method is not recommended to amateurs, say glider experts emphatically.

Unless the glider enthusiast is fairly well experienced in handling his craft, there isn't much chance that he will get far enough from the ground to hurt himself in case of an unhappy landing. Relatively safe, inexpensive, easy to manipulate—what more could the sport-loving ask?

THE OPEN ROAD

Passports at ten dollars each were issued to 196,980 Americans last year, according to the State Department at Washington. Why do we go to Europe, to purchase Paris gowns, to look at cathedrals and so say, "Yes, I've been abroad." Or do we travel with the exhilarating idea of meeting and knowing citizens of other countries in their native setting? Catering to the second category of travelers is the work of a nonprofit making organization, The Open Road, existent in New York since 1925.

Groups that travel under Open Road auspices invariably have a common interest, be it professional, cultural, or social. Through collaborating organizations in other lands, American travelers are received and entertained by Europeans also having that interest. One large branch of Open Road activity concerns itself with the roamings of college students during vacation time. An advisory committee of prominent educators supervises these academic tours which include the broader cultural and educational travels as well as the special interest or vocational trips.

To help make reciprocal its plan for international contacts, the Open Road will sponsor this spring a tour in America to be taken by a large party of distinguished journalists from the northern countries of Europe who will visit America as guests of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

AMERICAN ENGINEERS AT HOME IN NICARAGUA

With long months of work ahead, the United States Army Engineers now in Nicaragua to make a complete survey of the route or routes for the proposed new interoceanic canal, are settling down to hard labor. The battalion, under command of Major Dan I. Sultan, Engineer Corps, established headquarters at the city of Granada on their arrival in November last. The force of 24 officers and nearly 300 men have been divided into three companies with company headquarters at points most convenient to cover the entire route of the canal from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

"Dense, featureless, gloomy jungle, all steep slopes, swampy ground and creeks flowing in every direction," is the picture of the route as given by Lieutenant Kerynap Rice, one of the survey officers. For this reason, as well as other factors such as rainy seasons, it is not expected that the report will be completed before the end of 1931. However, the officers report conditions as cheerful and express gratitude for the radios which bring them Amos 'n' Andy as well as other American echoes. Some of the officers have brought their wives down and installed their homes in comfortable cabins at the camps.

The cordiality and the helpfulness of the Nicaraguan people have been emphasized in reports from the battalion. Every class of Nicaraguan, from laborers who help build the camps, fishermen who serve as guides, and humble families in the village to high officials of the Republic have been lauded for their helpfulness.

To unite all of Nicaragua in a network of surface roads, the country is turning over a large proportion of national revenue to highway construction. These highways will serve to transport to railways and seaports the coffee, hardwoods, cattle and other products for exportation. Expansion of

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By Edson R. Waite, Shawnee, Okla.

While in Minneapolis I interviewed Wilbur B. Foshay, president of the W. B. Foshay Company, on several subjects. Hearing this company operates properties in Alaska with headquarters at Ketchikan, I asked him to tell me something about Alaska. Mr. Foshay said:

"Ketchikan is a prosperous, modern city, having direct steamboat connections with all Pacific Coast ports. It has a fish freezing plant, numerous salmon canneries, saw mills, cold storage plant, hydro-electric power plant, gold mining and fishing. It exports more salmon than any port in the world. Ketchikan is on an island approximately 675 miles from Seattle. It is an electric city. The entire water front is electrified. We have just christened a new all steel motor ship to ply between Seattle and Alaska. It had to be done; business is so active."

Mr. Foshay further said that Alaska is an empire in itself; that it is too little known and understood in America; that there are many places in Alaska where it rarely goes below zero. In Ketchikan there have been many instances where the change in temperature was less than 7 degrees between the 4th of July and Christmas day. This is because of the Japanese current. A great growth in population will come as the people throughout America become aware of the fact.

Alaska territory is one-fifth the size of the entire United States, having more than half-million square miles.

Over fifty thousand people go to Alaska each summer to work in the canneries.

There is one glacier in Alaska larger than all of Switzerland.

There Are More Airplanes And Automobiles in Alaska Per Capita Than in Any State in The United States.

T. C. Powell, President of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railway Company, Says:

That a few hundred years ago, say prior to the time of Queen Elizabeth, there was no such sentiment as "patriotism" or "love of a united country" in any section of the world. It was "each man for himself and the Devil take the hindmost."

As wars decrease, learning and civilization increase.

The Great War developed in the United States among American business men a stronger feeling of nationalism and a greater leveling of State boundary lines than in all the prior years of this Republic.

This great nation of 48 states and other possessions, with 120 million people under one President, comprises the largest group of white Caucasians spending a common language the world has ever known.

Our prosperity is based on the outstanding fact that there is a free intercourse, and a free exchange without tariff restrictions of all our varied products. Any change in this condition will throw us into a situation such as now confronts the nations of Europe.

Our future prosperity and happiness depend not upon our ingenuity, not upon our greater business sense, not upon any greater appreciation of art or science or capacity for work than possessed by the inhabitants of the countries across the water, but solely and substantially upon maintaining our status as a nation of the greatest number of white Caucasians united under one general government, with the best systems of communication ever conceived of and with no barriers of language, tariffs, passports or custom regulations or even of local regulations to interfere with travel or with business transactions.

Stand By the President of The United States of America!

Spent the day strolling down Hollywood Boulevard in Hollywood California. Hollywood's business section is located mainly on one street, and, believe me, it is some long street. I don't know just how many miles long it is, but there the restaurants are nicely arranged so that wherever you may be on your journey, when lunch or dinner time comes, it will be only a few feet to a good place to eat and rest awhile, and then start on your way again.

Many people seem to think that Hollywood consists of studios and moving picture people. It is true that they are here galore, but they are only a part of a live, progressive little city. Even more noticeable to me than the moving picture industry is its smart shops, large office buildings, hotels, beautiful homes, schools and churches; in fact everything that goes to make a modern city.

The busy business section of Hollywood is well worth seeing. It has two fine newspapers that have done much in the development of the city. Marvelous Have Been The Accomplishments of its Citizens.

John H. Sorrells, Editor of the Fort Worth, (Texas) Press, Says: That advertising has proved its soundness thru travail that an unsound idea would have fallen under.

When one considers the "jip" advertising that has been sold—the stunts and features that mean nothing in the way of returns to the advertiser—the falsehoods that have been told, the high pressure efforts to set up a false selling structure, he cannot help but marvel at the ability of advertising to continue to sell goods.

Advertising has borne a cross, and borne it well. It is sound and has proved its soundness.

Wherever there is a well-made product that sells for a reasonable price, advertising will help place that product in the hands of the consumer.

Advertising is Not a Panacea, But it Will Sell Honest Goods at a Fair Price, Despite the Abuses To Which it Has Been Subjected.

Crop rotation is both a preventive and a control measure for plant diseases that are caused by nemas, or nematodes. If a nematode disease contaminates a soil, through infested seeds, nursery stock, implements, or the like, crop rotation is one of the best means by which soil can be cleaned. It is absolutely necessary to keep out the weeds if good results are to be expected through crop rotation.

The cowpea succeeds in such a wide range of conditions that it can be used to good advantage in almost any system of crop rotation. It is especially valuable as a catch crop and for hay or seed production.

AGAIN KONJOLA GIVES PROOF OF AMAZING POWER

TEN YEARS OF RHEUMATISM ARE ENDED WHEN NEW MEDICINE IS GIVEN A CHANCE.

MRS. G. H. COLEMAN

What cheer and encouragement are to be found in the many victories of Konjola, the new and different medicine of 32 ingredients. Take as a typical example of Konjola at work, the case of Mrs. G. H. Coleman, R. F. D. No. 3, Ft. Smith, Ark. Imagine her happiness when she was able to say: "When I look back and think how I suffered from rheumatism and kidney trouble for ten years I can hardly believe that I am well and happy as I am today. And all this glorious change is due to Konjola. For ten years I endured awful agonies. At times the pain in my limbs was so severe that I could not get around. Every night I was up many times and the loss of sleep and rest told on my general health. A friend urged me to try Konjola, and what good advice that proved to be. In four weeks I was without a sign of rheumatism, and my kidneys were as good as ever. No wonder Konjola is the most talked of medicine in America. It should be in every home throughout the land."

Konjola is sold in Clarendon at Douglas & Goldston Drug Co., and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

BETTER CARS ARE IN NEED OF BETTER ROADS

GREATEST IMPROVEMENT IN MOTORING MUST COME THROUGH PAVEMENT.

By E. E. Duffy

Competition is bringing the motoring public, which includes about 125,000,000 citizens of the United States, almost unbelievable values. Eight-cylinder cars are coming within reach of those who because of worldly cares must conserve the contents of billfolds. Automobiles are being made better and better, and of parallel importance, cheaper and cheaper.

But there is one thing wrong with the motoring picture. More has been done in creating speed and comfort in vehicles than in providing highways over which they may best operate. To say that automobile manufacturers have done all they can in the way of making cars efficient would not be quite true, for mechanical improvements are to continue. But the great betterment that is to come in motoring cannot be accomplished by motor car manufacturers. More well paved highways must be built and by John Public.

The saturation point of automobile ownership is elusive as a bootlegger's address. In addition to the replacement of some two million worn out cars each year, the total vehicle registration is being increased by a million and a half. There are now some 26,000,000 cars on the highways and byways and by the end of 1930 the registration will have mounted to 27,500,000.

It is difficult to visualize the importance of such large figures, but they do show that the motoring appetite is far from being appeased.

Most cars are owned in population centers—but they do not stay there. Hence the highway problem is not only statewide but nationwide.

Few states have really made an attempt to serve the motorist but those that have made any commendable headway have done so through the aid of the bond issue plan which enables the state or local community to purchase roads in installments, as homes and cars are purchased by individuals.

To meet the highway problem most successfully it is necessary to make use of assured future income. Plan of various states indicate that greater use is to be made of the bond issue plan. In the meantime motorists in those communities evidencing little road building energy will continue to be deprived of true motoring comfort—at a greater motoring cost than their neighbors.

The highest bridge in the United States is in Texas—that of the Southern Pacific across the Pecos River in Val Verde County.

Store Tells Why It Uses Newspapers

Five-column space was taken recently in the Colorado Springs, (Colo.) Gazette by Kaufman's a local department store, to tell its reasons for using newspaper space almost exclusively for advertising. The copy, which was headed "Why Do We Use the Newspaper Almost Exclusively for Our Store News?" follows:

"Have you ever wondered why you never see an advertising message from Kaufman's on a billboard in a street car, or on any outdoor medium save our corner benches? Have you ever wondered why we do not send you ballyhoo sale circulars? Why you seldom hear from us over the radio? In short, why we use the newspapers almost exclusively for our store news?"

"The reason is simple. Newspapers advertising is the most economical way for us to reach the greatest number of prospects for our merchandise. We have found that by concentrating our expenditures in the newspapers we can bring our store news to the attention of the most people at the least cost and as often as every day. To use the other mediums to any great extent would be for us largely a duplication—and it is because of this and other of our efficiency methods of reducing operating costs that we are notable for reasonable prices. We ask you to look for our messages mainly in the newspapers."

NEW HIGH VOLTAGE LINE BUILDING FROM ESTELLINE

March 10, 1930—Construction of a 28 mile transmission line between Estelline and Turkey will begin within the next three weeks and at the same time a 66 kv. substation will be erected at Estelline, it was announced by the Engineering Department of the West Texas Utilities Company.

The Estelline to Turkey transmission line, 28 miles long, will be a 66,000 volt line built on 29 ft. H frame poles and will include one mile of double overhead ground wire on each end of the line. The steady yet practical growth of Quitaque, Turkey, Gasoline, Flomont and other towns in this section has made it necessary to build this transmission line as well as other lines in this section in order to provide adequate service for this area's present and expected population.

Simultaneous with the above construction, work will begin on the building of a 66,000 volt substation at Estelline. This substation will house three 250 Kva transformers and a 66 Kv automatic reclosing oil circuit breaker. In addition, busses, supports, controls and a 66 Kv oxide film arrestor will be installed. The necessary steel fencing to comply with Safety Rules will be built around the substation. This substation will replace the present 33 Kv sub which is becoming inadequate to the increasing demands for electric current.

Rev. S. R. McClung spent last Wednesday evening here in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Doss Palmer, following his coming to Clarendon to preside at the funeral of C. R. Mitchell.

COTTON MEN FACE HEAVY LOSS IN 1930

DISASTROUS RESULTS TO FOLLOW INCREASE OF ACREAGE.

Dallas, Texas, March 8—Cotton farmers of the Southland will invite a loss of one billion dollars through overproduction in 1930, if they plant more than forty million acres of cotton staple this spring. Their loss will be a repetition of the 1926 disaster.

This prediction was made to about 300 bankers, business men and agriculturists gathered in conference at Dallas.

The forecast, with suggestions for defeating the possibility of its realization through acreage reduction, was voiced by speakers representing the Federal Farm Board, the Federal Reserve Bank and the American Cotton Co-operative Association. In contrast with the 1929 crop a reduction of at least 6,000,000 acres was urged by every speaker.

The cotton price problem was asserted to be the chief concern of every cotton farmer in the cotton producing section of the country since every dollar of new wealth invested 50 cents must come from the soil, and chiefly from cotton in Texas, where 15,000,000 acres were planted last year.

Bankers were warned not to lend money for crop production purposes to farmers who were not prepared to raise their own feed and food crops at home as a part of the plan to cut cotton acreage.

It was shown by comparative figures that a smaller crop from smaller acreage was more valuable to the farmer in actual cash return than a large crop on more acres.

The comparison was made in demonstrating statistics of the 1923 and 1926 crop price ranges, the later years production of 18-

000,000 bales selling for less than one billion dollars, involving a loss that year of $600,000,000, and by virtue of the heavy carry-over of $400,000,000 on the next year's crop.

COOPER REVIEW CORRECTS STATEMENT AS TO RAINS

A. L. Millsap, prominent in the Windy Valley section of this county, came into the News office last week with an issue of the Cooper Review of Cooper, Texas. This paper takes Mr. Millsap pretty much to task for statements that this is not as dry a country as might be presumed by those of the Eastern section of the state who have never been beyond the bounds of their particular county. The ten-inch snowfall reported was exactly that amount, and will be found to register three-quarters of an inch of moisture or a little more than that amount.

Ten inches of rainfall have been registered in Donley County, as will be found on the weather records for the city of Clarendon. Not all of this amount will be found in one day's time, but is stretched out over possibly a week or more. As many as four and five inches of rain have been seen in the city at one time, flooding the business district and musing things up pretty generally. A ten inch snow would not do the same amount of damage due to the lack of moisture in that amount of fall.

It is not our plan to take Editor Hart of the Cooper Review to task for the statements he has made. We understand perfectly that a mistake is the easiest thing in the world to make and is sometimes the hardest thing in the world to get straightened out. We are taking the statements contained in the story with a grain of salt as it were, considering the conditions under which the East Texas Editor is laboring into consideration and extending him an opportunity to come to the "Windy West" and see for himself just what there is to Donley County. He might learn the reason Mr. Millsap is so steadfast in his belief in this portion of the state if he were to visit us in the summer time and be able to sleep every night with a blanket for protection, and yet enjoy at the same time the freedom from a coat during the day-time.

Come to West Texas, Editor Hart, you'll like it here.

It is possible to grow good legume hay and good pasture on land that is too "sour" for red clover by planting alsike clover, usually in mixtures with timothy or other grasses. Alsike clover will endure overflow that would kill most crops, and has been known to grow a year in water-soaked and water-covered soil and make a heavy growth. Mixed with red clover on uplands, alsike clover insures a stand on spots where red clover will not catch.

Shall We Vote the Junior College Tax?

Letters From Local Tax Payers

Clarendon News:

You ask us to state our position on the proposed Tax of 20c on the $100. valuation to maintain our Junior College.

We shall vote for the Tax on April 5th. for the following reasons:

It will give the children of Clarendon and Donley County two years of College work, above the High School, at a nominal cost. It will continue Clarendon's standing as a College town, which as an advertising medium alone, will be worth double the amount it will cost.

It will enable practically all of our children who finish High School, two years of College work whereas 60 per cent would not be able to go away to College.

Parents who are not financially able to send their children away to College, have just the same tender love and affection for their children as those who are more favorably situated; have just as high ambition for their future success as the others; this Junior College will enable them to have their children take a College education right here at home without the expense even of tuition.

It would be an impelling influence that would bring to our town, a better citizenship, a privilege that Clarendon has enjoyed for many years, and we believe is the reason Clarendon has the reputation of being a city of culture and refinement.

Education of the proper kind makes a better citizenship, so let's support the Junior College and keep Clarendon the best town of its size in the Panhandle.

Tom F. Connally.

Editor News:

I see a wonderful opportunity in voting for the Junior College Tax. As I see it, it is an opportunity that does not come to us often. I am interested in the boys and girls and there is no better way of assisting them than to make it possible for them to secure an education.

By voting this tax we place in reach of every boy and girl of this district (or any other that may choose to join us) an opportunity to secure two years of College Training free of tuition. Lots of boys and girls can go no further than their high school work just for lack of funds to go away to college.

The boys and girls of today are going to be the men and women of tomorrow. Let's help them and prepare them to be and make better citizens than we are. A man is not a good citizen who does not want to see his nation a better nation, also his State, County, City and home a better place to live.

I think it a mighty backward city or community that hasn't caught the spirit of progress in these modern times. Education paves the way to Christianity, progress, prosperity and happiness. So if there is any body that don't want these, vote against it.
M. M. Noble.

CLARENDON JUNIOR COLLEGE A FINANCIAL ASSET

The following table indicates the minimum student expense per session of several colleges, both public and private, selected at random in Texas. These figures were reported last year by the various colleges themselves to the College Blue Book and, therefore, may be considered as accurate.

Abilene Christian College	$425
Baylor College	$400
Baylor University	$500
Howard Payne College	$440
Our Lady of the Lake	$500
Simmons University	$450
Southern Methodist University	$500
Texas Christian University	$590
University of Texas	$326
Schreiner Institute	$675
South Park Junior College	$400
Stephen F. Austin State Teachers College	$350
Sul Ross State Teachers College	$450
Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas	$425
College of Industrial Arts	$350
Texas Technological College	$350

The average minimum cost for a student to attend college as indicated by taking the cost at the above mentioned institutions as criteria, is $445. There have been enrolled this year 36 students residing in or near Clarendon. If it had been necessary for these students to attend school away from home, they would have spent $16,020 in other towns. On the same basis, out-of-town students will spend $4,450 in Clarendon this year. Students living in adjoining school districts and in other parts of Donley County will also spend quite a bit of money in Clarendon for board, tuition, etc. It should be borne in mind that these figures are the minimum expenditures necessary in the case of each institution mentioned. It is quite probable, therefore, that most students would require more for a year in college.

Taking the above LOW figures, the tax-payers of the Clarendon district have an opportunity by the investment of $4,000 per annum (the approximate income from the proposed 20 cent Junior College maintenance tax) to insure keeping about $25,000.00 worth of business at home which would of necessity go to other towns if the college should not be maintained.

Furthermore, there are at least six families residing in Clarendon who have students attending college who moved here only for the purpose of securing the advantages of the college. It is highly probable that these families and perhaps others would move to college towns if the college should be abandoned here.

(Data compiled and written by Dean W. A. Clark of the Clarendon Junior College.)

WHY HOME PEOPLE SHOULD SUPPORT OUR HOME COLLEGE

1. Junior colleges make individualism possible.
2. Keeps home influence during immaturity.
3. Junior college students made as high or higher scores than state university students of the same scholastic standing on mental tests.
4. Junior college provides training in leadership because of relatively small enrollment.
5. Our junior college students receive full credit for the work done here when they transfer to a four-year college or university if corresponding courses in these institutions are accepted in the courses pursued.
6. Helps the young student just out of high school to clarify his college or university aims.
7. Logically, this is the correct geographical position for a junior college.

There are a few of the many reasons why the voters and tax-payers of this school district should use their influence to help our college and to place it upon a sound financial basis. The tax assessment of twenty cents upon the one hundred dollars worth of property, as assessed for state and county taxes, for the whole of this school district would maintain a college where even the poorest might obtain a foundation for success. Is this small effort and cost too much for you to pay to help your fellow citizens, your community, your county, your state and your nation?
Ruth Dunn.

WHY THE PROPOSED TWENTY CENT TAX SHOULD BE VOTED

The first reason is that this small tax would enable us to maintain a free Junior College. At twenty cents on each one hundred dollars, which would be about $4,000, a sufficient sum would be gained to care for forty students at the present tuition rate. This would make it possible for every boy and girl in Clarendon Public School district to spend two more years in school. It is the desire of every boy and girl to spend at least one year in college, for there are experiences in college that cannot be duplicated elsewhere. Many more boys and girls would fulfill this desire if we had a free Junior College. We feel that since the future United States depends on us, the younger generation, that we should be given every opportunity within your means to make it a better nation. Taxes are voted to promote other assets of the city — not education the most important one?

By voting this small tax, you are making it possible to keep your boy or girl at home; thereby assuring yourself that he is being properly instructed and cared for. We are not forced to go outside our city for food to keep our bodies prepared for the issues of the day. Why should we be forced to go beyond our district to get mental food to keep our minds prepared. We are expecting your whole-hearted support of this tax in the election to be held on April 5.

Lorene Hayes.

THE TWENTY CENT TAX

There comes a call to the people of Clarendon to support the Junior College by voting a tax to maintain it. I wonder if the people realize how anxiously the students are awaiting to see the outcome of such an election.

We students feel that we are important enough and are so essential to the make up of the town that we should be provided with a Junior College. The people of the town have voted bonds and taxes for the upkeep of other civic organizations, why should they not vote a tax for the maintenance of a Junior College?

The tax is only twenty cents on the one hundred dollars. To each individual taxpayer this would be only a slight increase in their taxes. This small tax would enable every student in the Clarendon District to attend two years of College without paying tuition. This gives the student who is not financially able to go away to college the opportunity to receive two years of college work.

If a tax is voted and college is maintained, it in time will cause Clarendon to grow and be a town of culture. The growth will be stimulated by a good educational system and it will be, therefore, a permanent growth. The taxpayer will find himself amply repaid for his small school tax expenditure by the fact that he has helped maintain a Junior College, educating boys and girls who would not have received any college education if they had not had the opportunity of attending the Junior College.

So Mr. Taxpayer, the students are counting on you to vote for them in the coming election.
Lodi Green.

MRS. SALLIE CAIN DEAD AFTER YEARS AS INVALID

After many years of illness, another of the old time residents of the city passed to her final reward on last Sunday night. Mrs. Sallie Cain had lived in Clarendon for more than a quarter of a century and had seen the town grow from a small village to its present state of being. She had been bed ridden for the past several months and for the past two or three years had been an invalid in the home.

Mrs. Cain was born November 5th, 1855, and died March 17th, 1930, at the age of 74 years, 4 months and 12 days. Funeral services were held from the home on Tuesday, March 18th, the Catholic service being read by the Rev. Father Hofer of Amarillo. Interment was had in the Catholic Cemetery with her husband, Wm. Cain, who died Nov. 13, 1913.

Pall bearers are: Homer Mulkey, Frank Whitlock, H. D. Tomb, A. L. Chase, Odos Caraway, and Walter Taylor.

Mrs. Cain was operator of the old Windsor Hotel in Clarendon long before the railroad reached this city. This building was burned in 1892 and Mrs. Cain sought other means of livelihood following the fire which destroyed this place of business. Old-time railroaders will remember Mrs. Cain as her place was the most popular along the line to the time it was destroyed.

Mrs. Cain is survived by a brother and other more distant relatives. None of these were here for the final rites.

LONG TIME RESIDENT IS BURIED HERE TUESDAY

Another time, the hand of death has reached forth to take another of the oldest residents of Clarendon, this time in the person of Georgia Brown. Georgia, as she was commonly known to the many people of this city, has been a familiar figure to most of the residents of the town for a great many years. For the past several years she has lived with Mrs. Kate Hildebrand, being too feeble to work. Her age is only a matter of conjecture since there is no one in Clarendon who can recall ever having heard her tell her age. Death came to her on last Sunday night, erasing the lines of trouble and care from her face and placing a look of contentment that had never been seen on that countenance before.

Rev. Leon O. Lewis conducted the last rites for this citizen on Monday afternoon, March 17th, at 2:00 o'clock. The services were conducted in the Buntin Funeral Home, which place also had the arrangements in hand. Burial was had in the Citizens Cemetery. Pall bearers are: Homer Mulkey, Walter Taylor, Frank Whitlock, J. T. Sims, Sr., J. T. Sims, Jr., and H. W. Taylor.

A very interesting feature in connection with the life of Georgia Brown was the fact that she had put a fund in trust to care for her burial when her end should come. The fund was given to the care of J. T. Sims when she was working that she might not be buried in a pauper's grave. No one knew of this until her death was known, the holder of the fund making known the presence and expressing her desire that the money be so expended.

Mrs. O. L. Fink and daughter, Miss Florence, spent last Tuesday and Wednesday in Wellington.

TEACHER IN LESLIE SCHOOL BURIED HERE SATURDAY

The last rites for Miss Rosa Bebee Rhodes were held in the First Methodist Church last Saturday afternoon with Rev. L. A. Reavis in charge. Interment was had in the Citizens Cemetery.

Miss Rhodes was a popular member of the Leslie community as might have been seen by the great numbers of patrons and students from the school in which she taught and from the numerous friends from the McLean community where she made her home.

Miss Rhodes was born in Delta County, Texas, on May, 1890. She has made her home in this section of the state for a number of years and has been a very popular member of the Leslie school faculty for some time. She was taken suddenly ill the latter part of last week and was brought to Clarendon for medical attention on last Friday. She died in the County Hospital last Friday evening, March 14th.

Aside from her host of friends, Miss Rhodes has four brothers and one sister to mourn her passing.

PATRICK ATTENDS PARIS CITIZEN'S ANNUAL PARTY

W. H. Patrick returned here Monday from Paris, Texas, where he attended the birthday house party and dinner honoring the 77th natal day of Col. J. J. Culbertson of that city. Col. Culbertson is the managing director of the Southland Cotton Oil Co. and has been a member of the federal reserve bank board at Dallas since its organization in 1914.

Mr. Patrick in company with a number of bankers and business men of Texas, has been included in the guest list of Col. Culbertson's annual party for several years, the dinner this year being held on Saturday. Col. Culbertson is a great lover and patron of art and statuary having traveled extensively abroad and having imported many fine specimens from Europe, which now adorn his home and grounds in Paris.

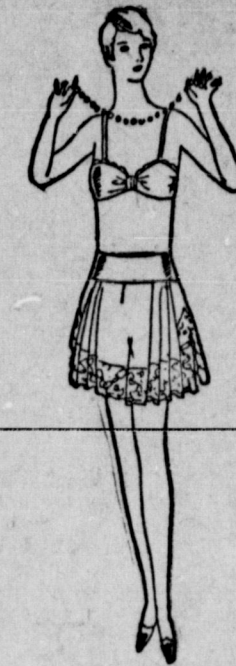

CLARENDON MEN ATTEND CERTIFICATE MEETING

Four Clarendon men were in attendance on the installation of Homer Mulkey of this city as President of the Certificate Men's Association when this group met at White Deer Wednesday of this week. The Secretary of the Association is Bennett Kerbow, also a Clarendon man. Others to attend from Clarendon are C. E. Killough and M. T. Howard. Others had planned to attend the meeting but were prevented by some happening out of their control. A royal welcome to the chair of the president had been planned by the local boys but the installation was one of form and not out of place in any manner.

BARN DANCE PLANS POINT TO RECORD ATTENDANCE

From the amount of discussion brought on by the planners of the Barn Dance set for Friday evening of this week, it is thought that the house will be filled to capacity on the evening of the event. Old-time music with all the calls and figures will be the center of attraction for the older ones of the audience, while some music of a more modern nature will be furnished to appeal to the younger ones who make the dance.
