FORTY-EIGHTH WEEK

ODDS & ENDS

With football season getting underway officially tonight, we feel compelled to make a few remarks pertinent to the inclinations of certain citizens to place a few (or more) dollars on the chances of our local boys' emerging victorious.

We'd be the last to take a self-righteous stand on the matter but here's the way it looks to us. Gambling should be kept completely separate in every way from these boys. They play football for the love of the game and not for any expectations of glory or of money-in-the-pocket.

Living is a matter of working as a member of the world-wide team of humanity and there is no better way of teaching this to young people than through participation in team sports. Though most of the boys who are playing footballs this year don't realize it, they are being given lesson in how to get along in life by working with their teammates. How thoughtless, how juvenile it is of us to destroy completely the meaning of football.

We have questioned various people on their views of this situation and have received the following ideas:

1. From the superintendent: DON'T MIX MONEY UP WITH THE KIDS! Our objective is to teach boys-and not about gambling.

11. From the coach: Everyone knows I won't run a score up just to help someone win a bet. I'm going to use all the boys I can in a game to give them an opportunity to play.

111. From a high school athlete: I think gambling's worse than drinking. It ruins a game to see people running around with money sticking out their pockets and running out their ears to let other people know they want to bet. They don't enjoy a game, either.

That seems to cover it. If you bet, please do it privately and KEEP THE KIDS OUT OF IT.

And here's a little gem: "A six-year-old girl submitted the following composition on 'people' to her teacher:

"People are composed of girls and boys, also men and women. Boys are no good at all until they grow up and get married. Men who don't get married are no good either. Boys are an awful bother. They want everything they see

Lions Auction September 20

Most people go to an auction to buy, but here in Sonora people go to the annual Lions Club auction to give. The auction is the civic organization's only fundraising event each year and the proceeds are used to carry out club projects of youth work and community betterment.

This year's auction will be held at the race track Tuesday night September 20 with Col. Lemuel Jones of Junction as auctioneer.

Last year's auction brought in $4,037 and in past years the total has run as high as $6,500. As the town's only civic organization, the Lions Club serves as sponsor for such activities as Boy and Girl Scouts and other youth groups.

Merchandise and livestock are offered each year with the club footing the bill for slaughtering, dressing and icing of purchased lambs and Spanish kids. Last year's sale brought even more fun than usual with bidding being unusually active on such items as a jar of homemade fig preserves with sold for $11. Other interesting individual sales included a ready-to-eat ham at $30; a book, "Corduroy Road", at $35; a carton of smoking tobacco at $14. Highest sale was a heifer calf with brought $130 while the lowest was a malted milk which sold for $1. The traditional unknown package, auctioned off every year and always remaining unopened, brought $105.

Lions committees for the sale are working now, readying the grounds and soliciting articles for sale.

MEET YOUR TEACHER

Here's Joe Turner, one of the busiest men anywhere these days. Football is his first love and his boys are his first concern.

Joe has been in the gridiron business since his high school days when he played tackle for Kenett High in Kenett, Missouri. From high school ball he graduated to Southeast Missouri State College and playing tackle and blocking back. While keeping up his grid activities he took his Bachelor of Science degree with a double major-education and physical education-and a triple minor-art, history, and science.

After finishing college, Joe taught and coached at Kemper Junior College in Booneville, Mo. In 1944 he coached a championship team at the Marine Corps Base at San Diego, California, and handled a runner-up team in the Aleutian Island chain the following year.

In 1946 Joe returned to his alma mater as line coach for one of the 16 undefeated teams in the nation that year. His line set a national line defense record for college teams, and he remained at Southeast Missouri State as assistant coach another year.

Joe came to Texas as head coach at Overton, Texas, in 1947 and again in 1948. In 1949 he returned to Kemper for a year before coming to Sonora in 1951.

Other interests besides football? His wife and two little girls, Margaret Alice and Mickey Jo. He also enjoys wrestling, but only after football season is over.

About tonight's game? "No prediction," Turner says. "I only hope we can stay within 30 points of Ballinger."

Season Tickets Sell Thru Friday

Football season tickets will be on sale until four o'clock Friday afternoon, according to Norman S. Davis, principle of Sonora High School. After that, tickets will be sold individually and no more season tickets will be available.

Davis said that in the event of any playoff games, holders of reserved seat tickets will be allowed to hold the same seats.

At their regular luncheon meeting at the First Methodist Church basement Tuesday, Lions and seven guests were served by members of the Adult Sunday School Class of the First Methodist Church.

High School Principal Norman S. Davis announced that reserved season tickets will remain on sale until four o'clock Friday afternoon. Season tickets offer all extra games, Davis said.

J. Wray Campbell, secretary of the U.S. 290 Association, expressed the association's gratitude to Sonora merchants and interested parties for the part they played in making the opening of U.S. 290 between Sonora and Junction a success.

Lions President George E. Smith announced that the annual Lions Club-P.T.A. barbecue for new students and faculty members will be held Tuesday, September 13, at six-thirty o'clock, on the school grounds.

Walk To School With God And Safety

By Mrs. Herbert Fields

Does your child walk across streets going to school? Have you taught him the safest way to go? Or have you let him find his way alone on the "shortcut"? Does he know all the safety rules for crossing streets? Does he follow them? Or are you afraid for your child's safety and carry him three blocks in the car so that he will not have to walk across the highway?

Through our town runs High-290. We are proud to have this wonderful road. The highway has done much for the business men of our town but it is a hazard to the safety of our children. I believe if we were given a choice of the highway or our children we, being parents, would probably choose our children. But why can't we have both? We can have both but we must practice safety with it. The child should be taught that he must cross at the safest spot on the highway, also the safety rules of crossing the street. The teachers give the children the safest way to go home but if the parent does not cooperate, we have missed the point and may be putting the child in danger.

The highway is not dangerous, neither are the trucks and cars, only the drivers are dangerous.

BACK TO BANK

Clayton Hamilton and Harold Scherz returned Wednesday from Austin where they attended a banking short course under the direction of the Texas Bankers' Association.

The short course was a part of the 14th annual bankers conference held in Austin September 4 to 7.

Traffic is heavy on our highway. Coming north on 290 we have a wonderful view from the curve into town, but the trucks and cars never seem to slow down enough to enjoy it. In fact they seem to be in a hurry to get through Sonora so they can see some more of the open space of Texas farther west. Of course our children are only crossing the road from eight to eight-thirty in the morning and again from 11 to 12:30 or one. Then in the afternoon from two until three-thirty. I guess there is no cause to get really excited. God has taken care of them for five or six years now; crossing 290 to school five days a week for nine months and He may go on doing just that. But He may look the other way for one second sometime. Then are we going to say, "Well, if we only had some school signs or a safety zone on the highway, this might not have happened."

Let's do something before the

Ninth Progeny Test Underway

The ninth annual ram performance and progeny test got underway Wednesday, September 7. Ninety-six rams from 11 individual cooperators and two experimental stations arrived at the Experiment Station for Wednesday's opening.

This year's cooperators are: Miles Pierce, Alpine; Don Cooper, Ozona; Dave Locklin, Sonora; Clyde Thate, Burkett; E. G. Branch, Rankin; R. Q. Landers, Menard; W. L. Davis, Sonora; Pat Rose, Jr., Del Rio; O. Suduth, Eldorado; Mrs. H. C. Noe-Ike, Jr., Sheffield; Leo and Rod Richardson, Iraan; Bluebonnet Farms, McGregor; Experiment Station No. 14 Sonora.

All rams in this year's test are Rambouillets with the exception of a few head of cross-bred rams from Bluebonnet Farms. Rams were sheared Tuesday at the station and will be shorn at the end of the test period which will be in mid-April. For the first time springing counts were made at the beginning of the test period and will be made again at shearing time in April.

Another innovation in the program is the instituting of a one-week orientation period for the sheep. This is being done in order to allow the young rams time to accustom themselves to their new rations and surroundings and to get over bluetongue vaccinations.

Drive carefully observe Stop Signs. Nothing measures up to Wool.

Cadillac

No Doubt In His Mind This Time!

This happy gentleman has just taken title to his seventh motor car.

And while he would probably have difficulty recalling all the different makes and models he has purchased through the years, there is one thing he knows with absolute certainty: He never felt like this before when he took the keys and made for the open road.

For this is his first Cadillac! And what a glorious feeling it is to know he has chosen the "car of cars"!

Gone are the doubt... and the worry... and the wonder. This time he knows he's right!

And how quickly the evidence will assemble in support of his sentiment!

First of all, there will be the eloquent testimony of the car itself—its magnificent performance... its marvelous comfort and ride... and its incredible ease of steering and handling.

And then, as he travels the boulevard, there will be those quick glances of approval from his fellow motorists to tell him that he is not alone in his judgment.

And, finally, there will be that assembly of family and friends that awaits him at journey's end... offering final confirmation of the wisdom of his choice.

Of course, the man who takes title to a new Cadillac today enjoys the double satisfaction of having made the wisest possible choice at the wisest possible time.

Because of Cadillac's increased year-end production, for instance, he will find that he can have surprisingly prompt delivery on his new Cadillac.

And, as if this were not sufficient in itself, we are also in a position—because of our low inventory of used cars—to offer him a most generous allowance on his present automobile.

Why not come in soon—and spend an hour at the wheel—and let us acquaint you more fully with this unique opportunity?

Facts Of Death

The facts of death, like the facts of life, are everybody's business—and a serious business, too! Once people were resigned to death as the one inevitable calamity. They trudged along praying that the typhoon, the flood, or the plague would miss them. But fortunately man is always seeking to better his human condition, to conquer the unseen enemies that surround him, to understand and to control the workings of natural law. And little by little he has taken over unknown territory and made it his own, conquering disease, controlling floods, and prolonging life.

Within our own generation we have witnessed great advances made in medicine and science; we have seen death retreat step by step. While science may tinge progress. While science may wield a two-edged sword of life and death which may be turned either way, the great push of mankind has always been toward life rather than death. And so in time we can hope that the great and awful power of the A-Bomb will be turned to beneficial use for the good of all mankind.

But with our scientific front advancing rapidly day by day against the "bugs" of destruction and disease, there is another more insidious and persistent enemy which is still to be licked—death by accident. Statistics on this kind of death, particularly among the younger members of our society, are alarming. Through the new antibiotics, children now have an excellent chance of surviving pneumonia, once the No. 1 killer among all age groups. But the chief cause of death among children and teenagers is accidental death. For example: in the age group 5 to 14, accidents accounted for 24 deaths per 100,000 population; while cancer accounted for 6, pneumonia for 3, and poliomyelitis for 2. In the next age group, 15 to 24, the figures are even more startling. For each 100,000 population falling in this age group, 9 died from cancer, 9 from tuberculosis, and 58 from accidents.

The question is: What can we do about it? And certainly we must do something about it—that is our moral responsibility as human beings. The medical men are doing their share to save life; but what are we, the "bystanders," doing? What CAN we do?

We've had bigger problems before and we've licked them. We can do the same with this one. But the first thing is to WANT to do something, then the rest will come naturally. Once we have decided to fight this unseen enemy which is killing our younger population, we have fashioned our first weapon. Then we begin our strategy by marshaling together all our resources—in the home, in the community, in the state, and in the nation. We must have our engineers design new kinds of highways safeguards, we must have our inventors devise new cars and safety devices, we must have our governmental officials enforce new traffic controls—but, above all, we must indoctrinate each and every man, woman, and child with the basics of safety in today's world on wheels.

Turkey Hopes

Unpredictability of wildlife production because of its relationship to weather conditions is signified by recent last hatch reports on wild turkey, according to the Executive Secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

Earlier this year wildlife technicians reported conditions favorable for a good hatch on the state's main turkey range in the Hill Country. At least spring moisture conditions were deemed adequate but growth of cover came to late to help and the prospects did not materialize. Then good July range revived the land and there has been a substantial late hatch. The young birds will be too late for the 1955 harvest but help the outlook for seed stock next year.

A typical report on the late development came from Wildlife Biologist Bob Ramsey:

"When turkey first tried to nest back in May and June, there was little or no ground cover in the Hill Country. As a result, their first attempt to raise a brood of young failed, due largely to predation and lack of escape cover. Then late rains and an abundant growth of weeds and grass followed.

"When heretofore unsuccessful hens saw all that good ground cover, they started nesting all over again. Result: a late hatch of poults that promise to help restock much of the Hill Country with this scarce commodity. One landowner on or about August 3, 1955, saw one hen with fourteen poults less than one week old, and three hens in a grove with thirty-five week-old poults."

Ramsey did emphasize that the survival rate of late hatch turkey poults is frequently low but pointed to the re-nesting of the desperate hen turkeys as typical of wildlife's persistence in the face of so many natural hazards.

Teach Children
Safety Rules

September means back to school for millions of American youngsters. Many will be in school for the first time and problems of the day may overwhelm them. They'll be facing new problems and of major importance is their own safety.

BIGGER
BARGAINS...

... MUST BE 3-0

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Committee says the 4,100 children under 15 killed last year in the nation in motor vehicle accidents is a challenge to every citizen. Life for the generation growing up can be made a safe one if adults and youth alike assume their responsibilities, believes the committeemen.

Safety training in the home is of the utmost importance for youth are great imitators. They learn much from the examples or habits of their elders. The Safety Committee believes the youngster who has been taught safety and good house-keeping will be able to transfer this knowledge to bicycles and cars.

Adult drivers are warned to expect the unexpected where children are concerned. Safety is often forgotten in the rush to retrieve a ball. Drive slowly in areas where children play or congregate; be alert to all signs, signals, traffic officers and school patrols and specially of the youngsters themselves. One slip, says the committee, might mean the loss of life — and your peace of mind.

"The Capital Of The Stockman's Paradise"

Miss Turney, Mr. Wilkinson Wed In Formal Rites Friday Evening

In a double-ring ceremony Friday evening at the First Methodist Church, Miss Rose Alice Turney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lin Turney, became the bride of George Bihl Wilkinson. The Reverend, J. E. Eldridge, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated.

Vows were exchanged before an altar flanked by baskets of bronze mums and seven branch candelabra holding white cathedral tapers. The chancel rail was entwined with fern roping and pompons. Nuptial music was presented by Connie Mack Locklin, organist, and Miss Cynthia Hall, soloist, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white tulle and Chantilly lace-over taffeta. The fitted bodice of lace was designed with an empire effect of pleated tulle. The neckline was shoulder wide and the sleeves were brief. Panels of tulle and lace formed the bouffant skirt with a flounce of tulle sweeping to the back of a court train. Her shoulder-length veil of imported illusion was attached to a lace crown encrusted with pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of feathered carnation, lilies of the valley, and stephanotis.

Mrs. Jack Kennedy of Del Rio, matron of honor, wore a waltz-length strapless gown of emerald green taffeta, fashioned with a shirred bodice and shrug bolero.

The bridesmaids, Miss Lou Ann Adkins of Sonora and Miss Dolores White of Odessa, wore identical dresses of frosted pale green taffeta with emerald green accessories. They carried colonial bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

The junior bridesmaids, Misses Annette and Jannette Marrs of Coleman, cousins of the bride, wore dresses of pale green taffeta similar to those of the bridesmaids and carried colonial bouquets of chrysanthemums.

Betty Scott of San Antonio, cousin of the groom, was flower girl. She carried a white satin basket filled with white carnation petals.

Mr. Wilkinson served his son as best man. Groomsmen were Don Richards of Banquette, Billy Frank Turvey of Sonora, and

At the reception following the ceremony, the bride's table was laid with a cloth of imported white damask outlined with a roping of fern caught at the corners by colonial bouquets of white pompons. The center-piece was of white chrysanthemums and leather-lead fern in a crystal bowl flanked by candelabra holding white tapers. The three-tiered cake at one end of the table was balanced by the crystal punch bowl at the opposite end of the table.

Members of the houseparty were Miss Sue Ann Stokes and Mrs. H. V. Stokes, both of Uvalde, Mrs. Russell Seitz of San Angelo, Miss Vicki Savell, Mrs. Hilton Turney, Mrs. Arthur Carroll, and Mrs. Dave Locklin, all of Sonora.

Drive with care . . . EVERYWHERE!

Great Features back up Chevrolet Performance: Anti-Dive Braking—Ball-Race Steering—Outrigger Rear Springs—Body by Fisher—12-Volt Electrical System—Nine Engine-Drive Choices in all models—and, finally, the great scientific, technical and engineering resources of General Motors.

A lightning-quick power punch that makes your driving safer! That's one of the reasons for Chevrolet's winning stock car record—but it's not the only one. Not by a long shot!

Astonishing performance—the sizzling acceleration of Chevrolet's new "Turbo-Fire V8"—it takes that to win stock car races.

But it takes a lot more besides. Cornering and handling qualities really count on the NASCAR® Short Track circuit where Chevrolet's king—just as they count for safer and more pleasant highway driving. And even the high-priced cars don't slice through a tight turn as neatly—or handle as sweetly—as this beauty. The record proves it!

U.S. 290 Opened At Rites Friday

U.S. Highway 290 between Sonora and Junction was officially opened Friday when Miss Laverne Johnston of Junction cut the ribbon which "blocked traffic" at the top of the Roosevelt Hill. Miss Johnston was assisted by State Highway Commissioner Herb Petry and Former Governor Coke R. Stevenson.

As principal speaker for the occasion, Petry stated that the new highway construction between Sonora and Junction has not only provided a shorter and more comfortable stretch of road but has virtually eliminated any danger of high water over the highway due to rises on the Llano.

About $2,000 in prizes was given out to tourists halted by opening ceremonies. Among the prizes were night's lodgings, free meals at cafes along the 290 route, merchandise, gift certificates and cash.

MERRILL AND KENG BACK FROM SPRINGVILLE

Leo Merrill and E. B. Keng have returned from a weekend trip to Springville, Arizona. Merrill checked flood damage on his mother's ranch near Springville where eight-inch rains in August produced heavy erosion damage.

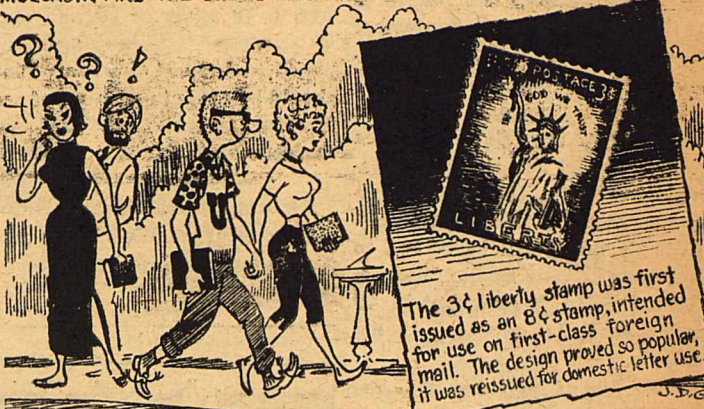

Heavy rains through most of New Mexico have produced an abundant crop of native vegetation. Blue grama is heading out knee high, and many other grasses and weeds are producing seed. Erosion damage from floods in the Roswell-Capitan area have caused spectacular gully erosion. Deep finger-type gullies are prominent on the steep hillsides and have cut channels 12 to 20 feet deep through many flats.

Mrs. H. B. Rees of Big Lake visited with her sister Mrs. Tom Driskell and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Robert Rees, Saturday. Mrs. Rees, Mrs. Driskell and Mrs. Vernon Hamilton spent Labor Day weekend in Waco visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brenton.

THEY GO RIGHT ON FEED....

Because They Were Taught To Eat Palatable Purina Omolene And Beef Chow

When calves are weaned, they're often set back because they haven't learned to eat dry feeds. Lots of ranchers lick this problem with Purina Omolene and Beef Chow. Calves really relish it. Start feeding several weeks before calves are weaned, and they never miss their mothers. They're ready to go right on feed.

Soil Conservation District News

Prepared by Local SCS Personnel
News of Edwards Plateau Soil Conservation District

Supervisors of the Edwards plateau SCD completed plans for entertaining supervisors from all over West Texas Tuesday. John Royal, Menard ranchman and president of the State Supervisors Association, has called a meeting at Sonora on September 13 for supervisors from 51 counties of West Texas.

The days program includes a field tour of the SCD Trial Area at the Herbert Fields ranch Tuesday morning, with the Supervisors meeting in the afternoon. A barbecue lunch will be served to the group at noon by the Edwards Plateau SCD. Approximately 70 supervisors are expected to attend.

A number of ranchmen are harvesting seed from an abundant crop of choice native grass seed. Eleven grass seed strippers have been purchased by Tom Davis, Frank Bond, Bobby Martin, Alvis Johnson, Rip Ward, Leo Merrill, Ed Shurley, and Ben Cusenbary. These hand strippers are very effective in harvesting sideoats grama, green sprangletop, and other grass seed. If additional strippers are desired the district will order another dozen. The cost is $4.00 each.

In addition, the Edwards Plateau SCD has a power seed stripper which is available to co-operators. This machine is mounted on two wheels and can be pulled with a pickup or tractor. The five foot rotating drum has teeth which knock ripe grass seed into a hopper as the machine is pulled. Seed can be gathered rapidly from level areas in pastures or along roads.

Height of the machine can be adjusted to strip tall grasses or curlymesquite seed. Ranchmen who have areas of several acres of any good native grasses are urged to harvest the seed. Plans should be made in advance of seed ripening, since most seed will shatter soon after maturity.

Clayton Hamilton and Harold Scherz returned Wednesday from Austin where they had attended Banking School.

Red Cross Meets National Quota

A total of $165 was received by the Sutton County Chapter of the American Red Cross in its drive for funds to aid disaster victims of recent floods in the Eastern states.

The local chapter has received a notice from national headquarters that the national quota of $10,000,000 has been met.

The Red Cross is very grateful for the splendid spirit of charity which enabled the quota to be filled and wishes to thank all those who so willingly contributed to this disaster fund.

TS&GRA Directors OK Dues Raise Table Magazine Set-up Change

At their quarterly meeting in San Angelo Saturday, September 3, directors of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association approved a new constitution and by-laws as prepared by a special committee but tabled a proposal for a change in the present magazine set-up.

Principal changes in the constitution and by-laws as proposed by a special committee headed by Clayton Puckett of Fort Stockton, were an increase in membership dues to 50 cents per bag with a minimum of $2.50, and a new method of electing directors.

Under the proposed plan, the

Your Health

There is hope on the horizon for the thousands of Texans who are suffering from heart disease, says Dr. Henry A. Holle, Commissioner of Health. Such tremendous advances have been made by medical science that some forms of heart disease, once incurable, can now be effectively remedied. Eventually a way will be found to prevent some forms of heart disease.

Heart disease is the leading cause of death in Texas. Last year, 20,211 Texans died of diseases of the heart, 31 per cent of all deaths. There are 21 known types of heart trouble, but the three major types are rheumatic heart disease, high blood pressure and coronary heart disease.

Rheumatic heart disease is the damage done to the heart valves by rheumatic fever. Rheumatic fever is a disease of children and young adults, and often follows a "strep throat" or some other streptococcus infection. Medical science has given us new and better ways of treating these infections. As a result fewer hearts are being damaged and fewer persons are dying from rheumatic fever. With modern medicine, doctors can, if given a chance, prevent rheumatic fever by curing strep infections in the early stages.

Doctors do not know all the causes of high blood pressure, or hypertension as it is sometimes called. Sometimes it is caused by kidney disease, and sometimes by hardening of the arteries, nervousness, and overactive thyroid gland, or excessive weight. If a person with high blood pressure follows his doctor's advice, he may live happily and busily to old age. To hold down his blood pressure he must watch his weight, not work too hard or play too hard, and follow closely any special instructions of his physician, as to diet and other matters. Many people think, mistakenly, that nothing can be done for coronary heart disease, the greatest heart killer from middle age onward. It is a disease of the arteries which supply blood to the heart muscle itself. These arteries may become hard and thick, allowing less blood to get to the heart muscle to nourish it. A much more serious condition, coronary thrombosis, develops when a clot forms in a thickened artery cutting off the blood flow. With proper treatment and rest, however, a person may recover completely.

According to Dr. Holle, work in the prevention of heart disease is moving ahead on many fronts. So far, medical science has been unable to prevent high blood pressure and coronary heart trouble, but has found ways of treating their aftereffects. But such treatment is allowing many persons to enjoy many years of added life.

NO RURAL CHILD LABOR DURING SCHOOL HOURS

Rural youngsters under 16 years of age are expected to be in school when the fall term opens in this community in September.

Regional Director William J. Rogers of the Department of Labor's Wage-Hour Division in Dallas says the child-labor provisions of the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act generally prohibit the employment of children under 16 years of age in agriculture, during hours when the local school is in session.

So children under 16 cannot legally be employed for agricultural work, such as cotton picking, etc., during local school hours if the farm products concerned go into interstate or foreign commerce.

Farmers are responsible under the Federal law if they hire under age children to do farm work during school hours. And the law applies equally to local resident children and to migratory children.

He said "school hours" means those hours when school actually is in session for the school district where the child under 16 is currently living.

The law, he said, sets no minimum age for employing minors on farms before or after school hours, or during school holidays or vacations.

Mr. and Mrs. John Reiley had as their guests last week their daughter and grandson, Mrs. Harry Harper and Francis of Shiner.

Mrs. Bill Gieson returned to her home in Chicago Monday after a month with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Baker.
