GREAT BRITAIN IS ENTHUSIASTIC OVER HARDING PROPOSAL

PRESIDENT HARDING SENDS NOTE ASKING DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE.

MATTER IS PRESENTED TO BRITISH CABINET

Ambassador Harvey Attends Session of House of Commons to Hear Discussion.

LONDON, July 11.—President Harding's message looking to the calling of an international conference on the limitation of armaments has been received with the utmost pleasure by Great Britain. Lloyd George, the prime minister, declared in the house of commons today.

Speaking on the subject of the American communication, the prime minister said: "I need not say that we welcome with the utmost pleasure President Harding's wise and courteous initiative."

The house cheered this statement, and the premier added:

"In saying that, I speak for the empire as a whole."

The premier said China would be treated as an independent nation in the treaty of Pacific affairs.

"The world has been looking to the United States for such a lead," Mr. Lloyd-George declared in referring to President Harding's message. "I am confident that the house will esteem it as an act of far-seeing statesmanship and will wholeheartedly wish it success. No effort will be lacking to make it so on the part of the British empire, which shares to the full the liberal and generous spirit inspiring it."

Colonel George Harvey, the American ambassador, was in the gallery to hear the statement.

Mr. Lloyd-George, first referring to the Anglo-Japanese treaty, said the Japanese government took the view that no notice of denunciation of the treaty had been given, and that this view also was held by Lord Curzon, the foreign minister. The matter was referred to the lord chancellor, who after a consultation with the law officers of the crown held that no notice had yet been given and that the treaty, therefore, remained in force until denounced. It was, however, Mr. Lloyd-George said, the desire of both parties that the agreement be brought into complete harmony with the covenant of the League of Nations.

TWO INTERNATIONAL QUESTIONS TAKEN UP BY UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The course of the United States was definitely set today toward two goals of international importance—limitation of armaments and solution of problems involving the Pacific and the Far East.

President Harding, it was revealed in a state department announcement published today, has approached with informal but definite inquiries the governments of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan to ascertain whether it would be agreeable to those nations to participate in a conference to be held in Washington to discuss disarmament limitation. He furthermore has suggested to the nations interested in the problems of the armament conference "the consideration of all matters bearing upon their solution with a view to reaching a common understanding with respect to the principles and policies in the Far East."

The state department announcement said if the proposal for a limitation of armament conference were found acceptable formal invitations for the conference would be issued.

Great popular interest was attached to the statement announced today by Mr. Lloyd-George, the British premier, which London advices have indicated would touch upon the matters initiated by Mr. Harding.

LLOYD GEORGE EXPECTED TO REPORT INVITATION

LONDON, July 11.—Announcement that President Harding had asked Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan to confer at Washington on the limitation of armaments was expected from Prime Minister Lloyd George when the house of commons opened its session today.

China would be admitted to the conference for the purpose of taking part in the consideration of Far Eastern problems, and there was a feeling here today that the discussions would bring about a definite understanding which would include virtually the whole field of international relations.

George Harvey, the American ambassador to Great Britain, is understood to have conveyed President Harding's proposal to Prime Minister Lloyd George.

U. S. COUNSELLOR CALLS AT THE FRENCH FOREIGN OFFICE

PARIS, July 11.—Sheldon Whitehouse, counsellor of the American embassy, called at the French foreign office just before noon today and talked with M. de Peretti de la Rocca, director of political affairs, on the possibility of holding a conference on disarmament.

Mr. Whitehouse delivered no document in this connection, merely engaging in a tentative conversation on the subject.

Unofficial opinions, gathered in official circles, are to the effect that France certainly will accept President Harding's invitation for a conference if one is received.

The attitude of the government, however, is said to be unchanged since it was set forth in the assembly of the League of Nations last December when Leon Bourgeois explained that France was ready and would be glad to reduce her armaments but any decision must depend upon absolute security from the east.

Inquiries in official circles disclose the impression that such security has not yet been obtained. The Upper Silesian troubles and the nationalist reaction in certain parts of Germany are cited.

French opinion is particularly exercised over the continued agitation by the German fores, under General Von Hoeffer.

Since the assassination of Major Montalieres at Beuthen last week two French officers there have been besieged in their quarters by menacing crowds, it is said.

FIVE DEAD RESULT OF BOMBING PLANE ACCIDENT SUNDAY

BOMBER CRASHES INTO AUTOMOBILES PARKED AT LANGIN FIELD.

LITTLE HOPE HELD OUT FOR RECOVERY OF OTHERS

Investigation Delayed Pending Arrival Of Officers From Dayton and Washington.

MOUNDSVILLE, W. VA., July 11.—Officials of Langin field here, where five persons were killed yesterday and a number injured when a Martin bombing plane crashed into automobiles parked on the grounds, were awaiting the arrival of officers from Dayton, Ohio, and Rolling Field, Washington, before making a statement as to the cause of the accident and fixing responsibility.

The bomber, piloted by Lieuts. C. R. McIve and T. H. Dunton, attached to the Langley, Va., field, were taking the machine from Cleveland to the Virginia field when trouble developed at Langin in the take-off, sending the machine crashing into the line of automobiles, causing the tanks to explode and spraying the burning fuel over the spectators.

Sixteen automobiles were burned, the victims being trapped in them.

The pilots escaped with burned faces and hands.

The monetary loss in the accident will reach $100,000, it is said.

A revised list of dead include:

FRED EDGE, 35, Rount Bottom, W. Va.

CARL PETTIT, 16, Moundsville.

RALPH HARTZELL, 16, Moundsville.

MRS. GEORGE LONG, 65, Moundsville.

LEO MORSKI, 9, Moundsville.

Little hope was offered for the recovery of half a dozen of the more seriously injured.

ARREST TWENTY-SIX IN CONNECTION WITH BURNING OF COAL COMPANY STORE

WILLIAMSON, W. VA., July 11.—Led by officers of the state police, a force of 85 militia men and troopers today went to Lynn and Blackberry City, 12 miles east of here, and arrested 26 men who were charged with being implicated in the burning of a coal company store at Lynn several weeks ago. The militia men and troopers confiscated a number of guns.

REQUIREMENTS OF THE PRAIRIE PIPE LINE CO. HELD NOT REASONABLE

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Requirements of the Prairie Pipe Line company, that shippers tender oil from Oklahoma and Texas fields in quantities of not less than 100,000 barrels, are held to be unreasonable in a report made to the interstate commerce commission by Examiner Keeler. The minimum, the report said, had been reduced to 10,000 barrels.

Rates of 20 cents a barrel for gathering the oil from the wells and transporting it to the trunk pipe lines in Pennsylvania were held to be not unreasonable.

The case is the first to come before the commission regarding rates and the regulation of oil traffic through pipe lines, but there have been cases involving the jurisdiction of the commission over such lines.

The only evidence offered by the complainants to support their contention that the rates were unreasonable, the report said, was data purporting to show that in 1919 the company had an income of 20.24 per cent on its plant investment.

SOUTHERN DUE TO REACH ELIASVILLE LATE NEXT WEEK

Tracks of the Wichita Falls & Southern will reach Eliasville between July 20 and July 23, and service to the new terminus will be inaugurated probably late next week, according to Frank Kell, who returned late Saturday night from an inspection trip over the line.

Laying of track south from South Bend began Monday morning. Since the tracks reached that city, ten days ago, the construction gangs have been working on the yards and sidings, which are now completed. The Southern's depot is also practically complete.

Mr. Kell expressed himself as being well pleased with the progress made so far and with conditions along the line. He went as far south as Eliasville Saturday, going by automobile from South Bend.

HEAVY RAIN SUNDAY NIGHT IN THE DENISON TERRITORY

DENISON, TEXAS, July 11.—A heavy rainfall Sunday night and today broke the drouth and brought relief to the heat sufferers in this vicinity.

TAFT IS SWORN IN AS CHIEF JUSTICE

WASHINGTON, July 11.—William Howard Taft was sworn in today as chief justice of the United States.

Truce Now Effective in Ireland But Radical Outbreaks Are Feared; Belfast Is Again Under Curfew

EXECUTIVE ASSISTANT TO THE NEW CHIEF OF STAFF

General James G. Harbord, who was recently appointed executive assistant of General Pershing, chief of staff, U. S. army.

BELFAST, July 11.—The curfew was reimposed here today as result of the disorders of Sunday. Belfast now is the only place in Ireland under the curfew regulation, despite the truce terms by which the curfew was raised generally.

DUBLIN, July 11.—The truce in Ireland, agreed on by government officials and republican leaders pending peace negotiations, went into effect at noon today.

In Dublin the complete disappearance from the streets of the military police lorries and armored cars marked the official beginning of the truce.

In Londonderry the police were summoned to their barracks to hand in their revolvers, subsequently resuming street duty unarmed.

In Belfast where disorders begun Sunday, were continuing in lesser degree this forenoon, the police were retaining their arms.

Confidence was everywhere expressed here today that the republican forces would observe the truce order. The record for the week-end, however, indicated that the order had not reached the remote districts.

According to the official reports there were 24 deaths all told from violence in Ireland over the week-end. These figures included fourteen killed in Belfast, where 85 persons were wounded and 84 houses were burned.

FEAR EXTREMISTS MAY BE DIFFICULT TO CONTROL

LONDON, July 11.—The truce between the crown forces and the Irish republican army became effective at noon today, but there were apprehensions that extremists on both sides of the bitter controversy in Erin would be hard to control. Yesterday's rioting in Belfast, during which at least fifteen persons were killed and nearly one hundred injured, aroused grave fears over incidents which might happen tomorrow, the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne.

It appeared today that conversations between Mr. de Valera and the prime minister, Mr. Lloyd George, would revolve around the granting of dominion status to Ireland upon condition that the sinn fein demand for the establishment of an Irish republic would be abandoned.

MUCH REVOLVER FIRING IS REPORTED AT BELFAST

BELFAST, July 11.—Quiet was restored in all districts of the city this morning, following yesterday's disorder and bloodshed. Inquiries at hospitals showed that persons wounded during yesterday's riot were, as a whole, progressing satisfactorily. There were sixty such patients.

The quiet was disturbed before the morning had progressed far.

A great deal of revolver firing developed in Stanhopen street and the adjoining Carrick Hill districts. At one hospital six cases of bullet wounds were treated. A bakery wagon was burned in Lancaster street and the driver was beaten.

Some firing occurred in several of yesterday's disturbed areas, but police patrols promptly checked any attempt at an orgnized outbreak.

DE VALERA WILL GO TO LONDON NEXT THURSDAY

LONDON, July 11.—Eamonn de Valera will come to London on Thursday of this week for his conference with Premier Lloyd-George to discuss the basis of a settlement of the Irish problem. Official announcement to this effect was made this afternoon.

MEMBERS OF DAIL EIREANN MEET AT MANSION HOUSE

DUBLIN, July 11.—All the available members of the Dail Eireann, or the Irish republican parliament, returned at the last election, met in private in the Mansion House here today.

U. S. VESSELS STILL IN MEXICAN WATERS; ORDERS ARE DELAYED

By Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, July 11. — United States warships which on Friday were reported to have been withdrawn from Tampico, returned to that port yesterday afternoon. Dispatches reaching Mexico City last night said the Sacramento and Cleveland again were anchored at the mouth of the Panuco river, and although no explanation was given for their return, it was presumed the vessels withdrew to the high seas for twenty-four hours, in order to avoid the technicalities of international law, and then returned to Tampico. When they first arrived off the Panuco river last week it was said their mission was to "protect North American interests."

It is considered not improbable the vessels will continue this maneuver until the situation clears.

Reports from Tampico state that the situation remains quiet. General Arnulfo Gomez, commander of federal troops in that district, arrived there Saturday night and after a hasty survey, advised the government that its reports had been exaggerated.

The confederation of workers of the state of Vera Cruz, representing 15 unions, met at Orizaba yesterday and drafted an appeal to the American federation of labor to aid in preventing serious difficulties between the United States and Mexico.

ORDERS NOT URGENT IS EXPLANATION OF DELAY

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Receipt of orders from the navy department for their departure from Tampico was acknowledged early today by the cruiser Cleveland and the gunboat Sacramento, it was said at the department. Officers explained that the orders sent to the ships were not of an urgent character and that this probably accounted for their failure to sail before this time.

PRESIDENT HARDING'S NOTE IS RECEIVED AT LONDON

LONDON, July 11.—President Harding's note regarding a conference on the limitation of armaments was received by the American embassy here yesterday and forwarded to Ambassador Harvey, who was in the country. The ambassador went to Chequers Court and saw Premier Lloyd George there.

This morning the subject is understood to have been discussed by the British cabinet.

RAZORS AND KNIVES NEEDLES AND WATCHES FEATURE IN DEBATE

WASHINGTON, July 11 — Razors, knives, needles and parts of watches succeeded today the old straw hat as exhibits before the house of representatives in the debate on the permament tariff bill.

Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, a republican member of the ways and means committee, used them as the basis for his argument that high protective duties were necessary to protect specific industries, particularly mentioning German rivalry. He declared that thus far the democratic attack on the bill had amounted to "substantially nothing" as viewed by those familiar with its details.

Mr. Tilson's argument was described by Representative Collier of Mississippi, a democratic member of the ways and means committee, as a continuation of the "comedy" which he said marked the hearings held by the committee prior to the drafting of the bill. He charged that Chairman Fordney was willing to listen to testimony only if the witness wanted a tariff wall as high as it could be built.

Mr. Collier declared that in putting steel railroads on the dutiable list, the republicans were paving the way for higher freight rates.

FOREIGN TRADE OFF 3 BILLION DOLLARS DURING FISCAL YEAR

WASHINGTON, July 11.—America's foreign trade fell off more than three billion dollars during the fiscal year ended June 30, a summary of trade issued today by the department of commerce shows. The slump was about evenly divided between exports and imports.

PRISON COMMITTEE IS FURTHER CONSIDERING A REPORT ON CONDITIONS

AUSTIN, July 11.—The members of the joint legislative penitentiary investigating committee are in Austin today preparatory to meeting this afternoon for further consideration of the affairs of their committee. This committee was authorized by a resolution adopted at the regular session to investigate charges of brutality to convicts. A report of their findings is to be made at the special session.

Artificial Snow To Keep 'Em Cool

EAST ST. LOUIS, July 11.—With the thermometer registering above 90 degrees, Rev. Francis Geyer of the First Methodist church preached to a cool congregation here last night. Behind him on the pulpit twelve 100-pound cakes of ice had been placed before a large electric fan which played cool breezes over the worshippers. Artificial snow was scattered through the aisles.

GENERAL SMUTS FIGURES IN IRISH PEACE PARLEYS

General Jan Christian Smuts, premier of South Africa, who figures prominently in the preliminary peace parleys now being conducted. He is a guest of the sinn fein lord mayor. General Smuts, it is said, is representing the British government at the parleys.

GERMAN PAPERS DO NOT TAKE KINDLY TO PEACE RESOLUTION

BERLIN, July 10—"No economic benefits offered by the United States could be sufficiently attractive to induce Germany voluntarily to affix for the second time her signature to the disgraceful peace of Versailles, with all its humiliations, privations, confession of German guilt," says the industrialist and conservatist organ, Der Tag, commenting on the Porter-Knox resolution ending the state of war between the United States and Germany, the text of which has just been made known here.

The conditions contained in the resolution, adds the newspaper, should effectively dispel the notions harbored in some German minds to the effect that the oldest democracy of western civilization through its new administration would afford Germany a ray of hope.

"The resolution does not reveal even the faintest trace of shame or indication of a spirit of reconciliation," says Der Tag. "On the contrary, it is an expression of crass egotism."

The Boersen Courier predicts that the peculiar status of the United States among the belligerents, resulting from its attitude toward the Versailles treaty, while at the same time claiming legal rights because of participation in the war, will call for complicated negotiations by the United States and the associated powers on the one hand and between the United States and Germany in connection with the final treaty.

That reasons of expediency dictated the text of the resolution, is the opinion of the agrarian Tages Zeitung, which fails to find in the "prosy and lengthy resolution a single reference to future friendly relations."

The Tages Zeitung further declares that "Germans once for all should disabuse their minds of the fiction that help is coming from abroad."

THREE HUNDRED WITNESSES ATTEND MURDER TRIAL

KAUFMAN, TEXAS, July 11.—Three hundred witnesses were here today, summoned to testify in the trial of Hugh Priddy, 25, charged with the murder of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Willard, near Ola, Texas, last January. They were beaten to death. The state announced ready for trial this morning and the defense was expected to make similar announcement later in the day.

The case is attracting unusual interest among Texas lawyers because it is stated practically all the evidence against Priddy is of a circumstantial nature.

PLANS TO STABILIZE THE SHIPPING RATES DISCUSSED

ATLANTIC CITY, July 11—Plans to stabilize shipping rates in the north Atlanic, south Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico, were discussed today at a meeting of American shipping board operators and representatives of vessels flying foreign flags.

CONGRESS FOR PEACE AND FREEDOM IS IN SESSION

OIL CONTROVERSY TIES UP STEAMERS

GALVESTON, July 11—Five tank steamers of the Mexican Petroleum company, which have been engaged in the Tampico-Galveston oil trade, were tied up today. The tieup is said to be due to the controversy between oil companies and the Mexican government over recent decrees affecting the export tax on crude oil from Mexico.

SENATOR HARRISON SCORES PRESIDENT FOR INTERFERENCE

CRITICISES HIS VISIT TO CAPITAL TO OPPOSE BONUS LEGISLATION.

CHARGES VIOLATION OF PROMISE TO THE PEOPLE

Chides Republicans For the Abuse They Heaped Upon Wilson and the Democrats.

WASHINGTON, July 11—President Harding was attacked today by Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, for visiting the capitol last week and urging deferment of the soldiers bonus bill. The president, Senator Harrison told the senate, disregarded public promises made early in his administration to avoid interfering with congress' prerogatives.

Addressing senate republicans, Senator Harrison said: "For eight long years you abused this side of the aisle, saying we were nothing but rubber stamps and responded only to the will of the president. We thank God, we responded to requests for legislation for the people. You respond to requests for the defeat of legislation for the people."

Senator Harrison recalled that the president had opposed the Knox peace resolution, and at first, the Borah disarmament proposal. It also was reported, Senator Harrison said, that he opposed the packer control bill. Then the Mississippi senator said, were instances of "executive interference."

"I've no doubt that the president is coming down here to apply the party whip to you men," Senator Harrison said. "You will go back to the soldiers and tell them you changed your mind about the bonus because the president asked you to."

AMERICAN HOTEL MEN'S ASSOCIATION CONVENES

CHICAGO, July 11—The American Hotel Men's association opened its annual convention here today with hotel and restaurant men from all sections of the country represented.

Many big problems will be discussed and decided at the convention, it is said. Chief among these are the liquor question, preparation of "sign your right name" to hotel registers legislation, establishment of a hotel school in every large American city, plans for a national tourist and travel bureau, the lowering of prices in hotels and restaurants and the inauguration of higher standards in the hotel business.

NAVY APPROPRIATION BILL COMPLETED AND GOES TO PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, July 11—The conference report on the naval appropriation bill finally was adopted today by the senate and house and the measure, which carries funds for the navy for this fiscal year, was sent to the president. Technically, the navy has been without funds since July 1.

FATE OF THE BONUS LEGISLATION TO BE DECIDED THIS WEEK

WASHINGTON, July 11—The fate of soldier bonus legislation—at least for months to come and perhaps, so far as the sixty-seventh congress is concerned—will be decided by action to be taken this week in the senate.

The bill reported by the senate finance committee embodying five elective compensation plans again will be before the senate today. Leaders are agreed that no action shall be taken until after receipt of a special message which it has been announced President Harding will send to congress early in the week. It is generally believed by congressional leaders that the president will advise postponement of action on bonus legislation until the situation with respect to the nation's finances can be cleared.

LETTER TO THE PRESIDENT EXPRESSING DISAPPOINTMENT

CHICAGO, July 11—A letter was sent to President Harding today by the Mississippi valley department of the American legion expressing disappointment on his stand on the adjusted compensation bill before congress. He was urged to hasten passage of the bill.

MESSAGE MAY BE DELIVERED BY THE PRESIDENT IN PERSON

WASHINGTON, July 11. — White house officers indicated today that President Harding probably will deliver in person his special message to congress regarding soldier bonus legislation. Under this program the senate and house would hold a joint session to receive the message, which probably will be presented within a day or two.

Mr. Harding returned to the white house today from a week-end cruise down the Potomac to Chesapeake bay and continued work on his message, which he is understood to have started during his trip.

2 WOMEN TRY TO HORSEWHIP ANOTHER, ENCOUNTER SHOTGUN

INTENDED VICTIM DEFENDS SELF BUT GOES TO HOSPITAL WITH NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

DISTURBANCE RESULTS IN CALL FOR POLICE

Case is Passed by Judge—North Wichita Scene of Two Encounters Sunday.

The north Wichita district ordinarily one of the city's most peaceful precincts, broke into the police court blotter twice within the past 24 hours, casualties were light, however.

A neighborhood affair which is said to have been brewing for some time broke out recently at the corner, broke out violently in north Wichita Saturday afternoon and culminated Sunday evening, when a woman alleged to have been the instigator of the trouble was arrested on charges of disturbing the peace.

According to reports to the officers, two belligerent housewives undertook to horsewhip a neighboring fence Saturday, but were dissuaded largely through the persuasive powers of a double barreled hot gun which the object of the beating brought into play. Hostilities were renewed Sunday and waxed warm, until the peaceably inclined of the vicinity sought relief in the law.

When the case was called for trial in police court Monday morning it was found that the intended victim of the whipping had gone to the hospital, suffering, it is said, from a nervous breakdown. Judge Ogle passed the case until she could recover sufficiently to appear, and in the meantime orders have been issued that no more such disturbances occur.

A free for all fight in which one man was reported to have been rendered unconscious when struck in the head with a brick bat was reported to the police as having taken place in the Scotland addition north of the river late Sunday night. Officers sent to the scene were unable to find any one who admitted being engaged in the brawl, although several men are reported to have volunteered as witnesses in case arrests were made.

One man was taken to the city hall for examination but was later released when he furnished a plausible excuse as to his part in the affair. A search of the vicinity by Officers Shook and Hawkins revealed no one with a bump on his head, so the case was closed. The telephone message which summoned the police to the scene stated that "all hell's broke loose over here" but if such was the case it speedily subsided upon the approach of "the law."

TWO ARE KILLED AND FOUR INJURED WHEN AUTOMOBILES COLLIDE

TOPEKA, KAN., July 11—Niles Ross, 28, an oil well shooter of Paola, Kan., and his wife are dead and four persons are in local hospitals suffering from injuries as a result of a collision of two automobiles 14 miles south of Topeka late yesterday afternoon. Ross' car contained six cases of dynamite and 1,000 rounds of nitroglycerin and a supply of ignition caps, but they did not explode.

Mrs. Ross formerly was Miss Ida Nelson of Bartlesville, Okla.

The four injured will probably recover.

FIVE ROBBERS HOLD UP CASHIER CREAM COMPANY AND ESCAPE WITH $19,000

NEW YORK, July 11—Five robbers today held up the cashier and assistant cashier of the Horton Ice Cream company outside the company's offices on East Twenty-Fourth street, and escaped with $19,000 in cash. The employes were starting for a bank with the money in a satchel.

PROMINENT MEXICAN IS KILLED IN AN ACCIDENT

CALEXICO, CAL., July 11—Francisco Terrazas, secretary of state of Lower California, was instantly killed and A. Yberra, cousin of Governor Yberra of the peninular state, was seriously injured here shortly before midnight when they were run down by a large touring car. The driver was arrested.

Yberra is in a hospital at El Paso. He is 50 years old.

Terrazas, who is 34, was a member of the old Mexican Terrazas family, which, it was said, financed in part the Madero revolution.

HEAT WAVE BROKEN SUNDAY BY BREEZE AND LIGHT SHOWER

The recent severe heat wave was broken here Sunday when a cool north breeze made its presence known and the extremely torrid temperatures of last week were missing.

Sunday night some rain fell, bringing further relief from the heat, and Monday morning cloudy skies gave some promise of further precipitation.

DAILY GUARANTEES FOR ENGINEERS AND FIREMEN INCREASED

CHICAGO, July 11.—The daily guarantee to railroad passenger engineers and firemen was increased to $6.80 for the former and $5.05 for the latter in an interpretation of the railroad labor board's 1920 wage award decision issued by the board today. The interpretation was to clear up the question of guarantees established by the railroad administration.

Glidden Man Is Innocent Victim Of Masked Party

SAN ANTONIO, July 11.—Harry Adams, a gardener for the Southern Pacific railway here, reported here today he had been the innocent victim of a band of masked men at Glidden, Texas, Friday night. He suffered severe scalp wounds and bruises as the result of his alleged mistreatment.

Adams said two armed and masked men took him from the station lunch room at Glidden after his protests had been silenced by a blow over the head with a pistol butt. He was thrown into an automobile and the party, augmented by another masked man, drove toward Weimar, he said, adding that his reiterated protests were stopped by his captors choking him. Finally the automobile stopped and Adams hurried into a pasture where he was permitted to talk. Finally, he said, one of the masked men threw a flashlight into his face and exclaimed: "We have the wrong man."

His captors then bundled him into the automobile, returned to Glidden, where he was released, Adams said.

PLAN FOR ORGANIZATION TO CONTROL DURING THE DOWNFALL OF "CAPITALISM"

RIGA LETVIA, July 10—The Moscow Izvestia announces that the international congress of marine and transport workers, which will aim at organization for control during "the downfall of capitalism," is to meet in Petrograd in August. LEGISLATORS DENY PERMISSION TO SUE

Such Action Claimed by Man Who Was Confined in Prison When Not Guilty.

AUSTIN, July 11.—The Chattanooga dispatch in today's papers that Andrew L. George has obtained a promise from Texas legislators that he would be allowed to sue the state for damages because he served six years in the penitentiary for an offense of which he was not guilty, is the first intimation that the legislators here now have heard of it.

A canvass of the members of the appropriations committee showed that none of the members knew of the case or of such a promise being made. Senator Dudley and Representative Satterwhite, chairmen of the senate and house appropriations committee, respectively, said that the article this morning was the first intimation they had had of the case.

George claims that he has been promised that a bill allowing him to sue the state had been made to him by Texas legislators.

CLAIMS PERMISSION TO SUE STATE OF TEXAS

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., July 11.—Andrew L. George, aged 55, a citizen of Allen Park, a suburb, today announced that he would leave for Austin, Texas, within a few days to bring suit against the state of Texas to recover damages resulting from his sentence to death for a murder of which he was not guilty and for which he served six years in the penitentiary.

According to the story told by George, who is confined to his bed a part of the time and almost helpless, he was arrested in Texas and charged with killing Ed Konesix, a grocer at the village of Hottentot, on Oct. 1, 1884. He was tried, convicted and sentenced to be hanged, but three days before the execution was to take place, after he had laid in prison and heard the carpenters building the scaffold on which he was to meet death, his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

After serving six years, according to George, Henry M. Sharp of Pawlsville, Texas, made a death-bed confession that he had killed Konesix while drunk. After this confession George was released, and said he attempted to obtain restitution for his sufferings, but only recently was able to interest Texas legislators in the case. He stated today that he had obtained a promise that the legislature had passed an act enabling him to bring suit.

MILLION BUSHELS GRAIN FOR WILBARGER COUNTY

VERNON, TEXAS, July 11.—It is the opinion of numbers of local experts in close touch with the wheat situation in this locality that Wilbarger county will yield one million bushels of grain this year. Based on a conservative estimate, the average yield will reach 14 bushels to the acre and the amount of land in wheat is much more than usual. Most of this grain is being marketed immediately.

Threshing is nearly over and with its cessation will come a lull in the strenuous activities of the farmers. Row crops have been cultivated on most of the farms and there will be a brief period of rest, at least. Farmers are now catching up with their work.

Rain is again needed in the countryside. Land is getting exceedingly dry, but thus far is no real detriment to the well being of crops. Corn and alfalfa are doing especially well. The peach crop in the immediate vicinity of Vernon has progressed splendidly and growers appear satisfied with prices obtained for their products. The freezes earlier in the year hurt most of the fruit outside in the county.

Business in Vernon appears to be profiting by the movement of the grain crop. Saturday night found the streets of the downtown section filled with more shoppers than have been seen here for some time. All day long, in fact, the same general stimulus was evinced in the stores along the "right of way."

SHOE SHOP DESTROYED BY FIRE AT HASKELL

HASKELL, TEXAS, July 11.—Fire was discovered Sunday night about 8:30 in the Will McDonald shoe shop on the east side in this city and before the blaze could be put under control, the contents of the building were destroyed.

The fire was prevented from spreading by the fire boys and the building which is brick was not seriously damaged.

The loss was covered by insurance.

Soldier Suicide Requests a Burial Beside Comrades

PARIS, July 11.—Laurence L. Kent, historian of the graves registeration service, who was gassed half a dozen times during the war when he was sergeant in company B, of the 42nd engineers, was found dead in bed here this morning with a bullet in his heart and a revolver beside him.

Kent left a letter asking his commanding officer to have him buried with his fallen comrades of the second division in Belleau Wood.

WANTS INVESTIGATION OF U. S. CHAMBER COMMERCE AND SEVERAL "BIG TRUSTS"

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Investigation of the operations of the federal reserve board, the chamber of commerce of the United States, "the great trusts, such as the steel, coal, credit and money trusts," was asked of a joint congressional committee investigating agricultural conditions today by C. S. Barrett, chairman of the national board of farm organization and president of the national farmers' union.

Charles A. Lyman, secretary of the national board of farm organizations, told the committee that agriculture was facing bankruptcy and ruin.

"A policy of deflation of the currency and restriction of credit was instituted by government agencies," he said. "This has resulted in a loss to farmers in the last year of seven billion dollars."

THOUSAND TEAMSTERS AND CHAUFFEURS GO ON STRIKE

ST. LOUIS, July 11.—Approximately 1,000 union teamsters and chauffeurs went on strike today in protest against a proposed wage decrease of 10 to 12 per cent. The walkout virtually paralyzed business of transfer and vehicle service companies. The present wage scale ranged from $23.50 to $36 a week.

LICENSED DECK OFFICERS ARE PREPARING ANSWER

NEW YORK, July 11.—Licensed deck officers of American steamships from virtually all ports of the Atlantic, the Pacific and Gulf of Mexico, delegates from local unions of the Neptune association, met here today to prepare an answer to the United States shipping board and the American Steamship association respecting a new wage and working contract to be effective August 1.

Discover a Bug That Attacks and Kills Boll Weevil

DENTON, TEXAS, July 11.—The appearance of a new species of insect which attacks and destroys cotton boll weevils was reported in this county today by a farmer living southeast of Denton. He said the bug follows the weevils into boll puncture and drives them out. Cotton growers report an improvement in the plant during the past week but attribute this mainly to hot dry weather rather than to the newly discovered insect.

EL PASO ENTERTAINS CONVENTION OF ELKS

EL PASO, July 11.—Elks of El Paso loge No. 137 entertained hundreds of Elks from various nothern, eastern and southern states during the week ending Saturday, July 9. Every train going to the Pacific coast for several days brought to this city a crowd of Elks on their way to Los Angeles to attend the annual Elks' convention.

El Paso Elks met every train with a chain of decorated automobiles and before the train stopped it was "Hello, Bill" to one another. The delegation pulled the visitors off the train and pushed them through the station gates into the automobiles. The cars took the Elks around El Paso's scenic drive about Mt. Franklin, down the valley, over the city and across to Juarez.

The local Elks rented the Trivoli, the deserted gambling hall in Juarez, which was turned into a garden typical of pre-Volstead days. The big building sits on a square of ground on which are big shade trees and lots of grass. Here the Elks provided a barbecue which continued several days—until all Elks passing through were entertained. At the Trivoli also is a big dance hall and an orchestra played and there were plenty of booths for the tired to be seated in. A big glass bar in the center, from which Mexican dishes and other things were served at the expense of El Paso Elks to the visiting brothers, was an added attraction.

Elks from El Paso will leave with the last crowd on the way to the coast, just to get there in time for the opening of the convention. They will wear big sombreror and serapes.

HEADS OF NORMAL SCHOOLS PROTEST WAGE REDUCTION

AUSTIN, July 11.—The heads of the various normal schools of the state are appearing before the senate and house appropriations committee in joint session today. The committee proposes to make certain changes in the salaries of teachers of these schools, it is understood, and the heads are being questioned as to the advisability of a certain instance.

City Briefs

The condition of Elizabeth, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hanks, who is very ill in the Wichita General hospital, was reported unchanged Monday; and she is very low. The little girl was operated on about ten days ago for appendicitis, during her convalescence from which peritonitis and typhoid fever developed.

J. A. Gardner of the Gulf Production company, while playing a game of baseball Saturday, fell and wrenched his knee cap out of its socket, and as a result is on crutches for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hodgins are in Fort Worth attending a meeting of the traveling salesmen connected with the Swift company, packers.

Ed Morrow, superintendent for the Texas company at Electra, spent Monday in the city.

Mrs. Eugene Liebold left Monday for Colorado where she will spend the rest of the summer.

Chief of Police Lee Huff was confined to hi home Monday, suffering with a severe cold. Chief Detective Boyd took charge of the police department during Huff's absence.

A game of "hy-tie," said to be closely related to the great African game of "craps," was rudely interrupted late Sunday night when two cops suddenly appeared in a back hallway bedroom somewhere east of the railway station and took nine negroes into custody. All were given free lodging in the city jail for the remainder of the night.

Joe H. Jones has returned from a two weeks' trip to New York and Washington.

GAINESVILLE FAMILIES TAKE PASTEUR TREATMENT FOLLOWING A DOG BITE

GAINESVILLE, TEXAS, July 11.—Mrs. J. M. Atkins, her three children, and one child each of the families of O. G. Melton, G. W. Ramsey and A. O. Wood, all of Sanger, were given the Pasteur treatment here yesterday following bites by a pet dog eight days ago. The animal's head was sent to Austin where it was said indications of rabies were discovered.

MONTAGUE COUNTY SHOWING ACTIVITY, SOME NEW TESTS

Activity in the oil game has taken a new lease on life in Montague county, according to reports from the different tests in that county, and in the last ten days many deals in land and acreage have taken place.

Four miles west of Bowie, on the C. H. Boedecker land, the Montvalley Oil company has erected a derrick and blocked out 1,500 acres where they will put down a 2,000-foot test. The officers of this company are Wichita Falls men, with G. H. Widher as president.

R. M. Hamilton and associates have also blocked up 5,000 acres on the V. W. Vaught tract and are moving in a machine to give it a 1,500-foot test. The same parties are drilling around 600 feet with a Star machine.

On the A. Walker land the North Texas Consolidated Oil company has completed its contract to 1,000 feet and is now shut down for orders.

Drilling in shale at 2,810 feet, the test of the Pure Oil company, No. 1 Holt, is nearing 3,000 feet, but as yet the test has not shown any signs of being numbered among the producers.

GOVERNOR SMALL TO CALL LEGISLATURE IN SESSION

SPRINGFIELD, ILLS., July 11.—Governor Small, breaking his silence of a week upon returning to the capital today, announced that he would call a special session of the legislature between November 15 and December 15, and strike at the "schemes and slanders of the character assassins" responsible for the grand jury investigation of the state treasury which was to begin today. Drastic tax collection laws and a law giving local option on transportation were mentioned as part of the special session program.

COMMERCIAL EXECUTIVES ARE MEETING IN AUSTIN

AUSTIN, July 11.—The Texas commercial executives association began a three days' session here today. Governor Neff was scheduled to address the association today but postponed it until Wednesday. A series of entertainments for the visiting secretaries will be given by the Austin chamber of commerce and other clubs of the city.

The Unit of Advertising Value Is Circulation

But mere number of printed copies means nothing unless they are actually delivered and read.

The Audit Bureau of Circulations—a national association of advertisers, publishers and advertising agents—was organized to give impartial examination to all publishers' statements issued by A. B. C. members.

An Audit by the A. B. C. covers not only the total number of papers printed—it looks into the way subscribers were obtained. If a paper offers extravagant inducements to swell the number of subscribers, its value as an advertising medium is lessened.

Some Publishers print a large number of papers, but allow a liberal return from newsdealers. You get that information from an A. B. C. report.

For a period of 20 years no taxes had been assessed by the little city up to 1918, but with the finding of oil in the field six miles north of town, in 1916, and the consequent upward trend of business from the old rut the city took on new life and the old settlers began to take note of the fact that the city needed to keep pace with the times. As a consequence, the site that at one time accommodated a large gin that ginned all the cotton for half of the country around gave place to a large and modern oil refinery. The farming industry gave away to the oil industry and but little cotton has been grown for the past six years.

The city park that had been neglected for 20 years was cleaned up and improvements made and is now decked with a modern water toward, and a ditching machine is making fine progress toward installing a complete and extensive water system. The contractors on the water system are to install the sewerage system as soon as the water system is completed, the bonds having been voted and sold for both water and sewerage systems in the same issue.

With the coming of all this oil production and oil well supply houses come the greater population which called for the building of new churches and school buildings, all of which are being taken care of in a very substantial way, a fine high school building having been built three years ago to take place of the small structure that had served its purpose for many years in the past.

Many of the old settlers here are now living in the larger cities, riding in limousines and sending their children to college with the proceeds from the oil leases and royalties running into three and four figures or more per month. Many of these same people before oil was struck, had about given up hopes of ever being able to pay for their lands, they and their children working from sun till sun in an effort to keep even on a mere living.

A three-story modern brick hotel was built during the rush of 1919 that would be a credit to a town of much larger size than Iowa Park. Two complete blocks of store buildings have been completed in the last three years, since the coming of the rush in the fields, mostly from the proceeds of the sales of leases and royalties, of which the five buildings built by J. Frank Loyd is the most conspicuous.

Modern Office Building.

The modern office building built by the Wichita Valley Refining company, who later sold out to the Walker Consolidated Petroleum company, would be a credit to a large city.

The Humble Oil and Refining company has extensive loading racks and storage tanks here to handle their production in the field north of town, in both crude and casing head gasoline.

The Burk Pipe Line company refinery here has been complete for some time, but has been holding off the starting of refinery on account of the price of oil and the adverse conditions in the marketing for the finished products, although it has a completed pipe line to the K-M-A field, 14 miles southwest, which field has a very high percentage of gasoline in its production.

The near completion of the Iowa Park Producing and Refining company plant, with its production in the northwest Burkburnett field, is an industry of considerable magnitude, having been promoted and financed entirely by home people who have made their money in the oil fields near here. This plant will soon be marketing the finished product, mostly to their old customers while they operated the Wichita Valley Refining company plant here.

Celebration and Picnic.

On the 15th and 16th of July the city is to celebrate the opening of the last link of the concrete road from Wichita Falls to Iowa Park with a free barbecue, trades day and auction day. A band will be on the ground and plenty of barbecue, bread, pickles and ice water will be free to all. Prizes totaling more than $100 will be given away on those days in the athletic sports and trades day prizes given by the merchants.

To trades day event is to be a feature of the third Saturday in each month, this being the first occasion.

The farmers are especially invited to list any stock or chattels they have that they may want to sell at the auction sale with D. O. Smith or W. H. King, who have consented to give their services as auctioneers for these dates. The merchants will offer everything from a bucket of honey to a set of harness at the auction sale, each merchant furnishing one item.

TAKES THEIR FIRST HOLIDAY SINCE ASSUMING OFFICE

AUSTIN, July 11.—R. R. Walthall, secretary to Governor Neff, and Mrs. Edna Stanford, assistant secretary, had their first holiday on July 4 since assuming office as aids to the chief executive of Texas. Mr. Walthall and Miss Stanford took over the detail work of the executive office on January 18, the day of Governor Neff's inauguration, and every day since, except Sundays, both have been at their desks.

The other departments of the capitol have had several holidays and all of the employes and department heads have enjoyed their

SHOP ACCOUNTANT DENIED INCREASE BY THE BOARD

DENISON, TEXAS, July 11.—The shop accountant of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad in Denison, was denied increased pay specified for clerical supervisory forces by the United States railroad labor board, which held that the position did not come under the provisions of Decision No. 2, of the board.

The M. K. & T. railroad stated that the shop accountant in Denison is authorized to employ and discipline employes and has jurisdiction over accounting matters in the mechanical department of the Katy and Wichita Falls & Northwestern lines and is not within the scope of the national agreement of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employes.

THE MAN WITH THE TWISTED LIP

PART ONE

Isa Whitney, brother of the late Elias Whitney, D. D., principal of the Theological College of St. George's, was much addicted to opium. The habit grew upon him, as I understand, from some foolish freak when he was at college; for having read DeQuincey's description of his dreams and sensations, he had drenched his tobacco with laudanum in an attempt to produce the same effects. He found, as so many more have done, that the practice is easier to attain than to get rid of, and for many years he continued to be a slave to the drug, an object of mingled horror and pity to his friends and relatives. I can see him now, with yellow, pasty face, drooping lids, and pin-point pupils, all huddled in a chair, the wreck and ruin of a noble man.

One night—it was in June '89—there came a ring to my bell, about the hour when a man gives his first yawn and glances at the clock. I sat up in my chair and my wife laid her needle-work down in her lap and made a little face of disappointment.

"A patient!" said she. "You'll have to go out."

I groaned, for I was newly come back from a weary day.

We heard the door open, a few hurried words, and then quick steps upon the linoleum. Our own door flew open, and a lady, clad in some dark-colored stuff, with a black veil, entered the room.

"You will excuse my calling so late," she began, and then suddenly losing her self-control, she ran forward, threw her arms about my wife's neck, and sobbed upon her shoulder. "Oh, I'm in such trouble!" she cried; "I do so want a little help."

"Why," said my wife, pulling up her veil, "it is Kate Whitney. How you startled me, Kate. I had not an idea who you were when you came in."

"I didn't know what to do, so I came straight to you." That was always the way. Folk who were in grief came to my wife like birds to a lighthouse.

"It was very sweet of you to come. Now, you must have some wine and water, and sit here comfortably and tell us all about it. Or should you rather that I sent James off to bed?"

"Oh, no, no! I want the doctor's advice and help, too. It's about Isa. He has not been home for two days. I am so frightened about him!"

It was not the first time that she had spoken to us of her husband's trouble, to me as a doctor, to my wife as an old friend and school companion. We soothed and comforted her by such words as we could find. Did she know where her husband was? Was it possible that we could bring him back to her?

It seemed that it was. She had the surest information that of late he had, when the fit was on him, made use of an opium den in the farthest east of the city. Hitherto his orgies had always been confined to one day, and he had come back, twitching and shattered, in the evening. But now the spell had been upon him eight-and-forty hours, and he lay there, doubtless among the dregs of the docks, breathing in the poison or sleeping off the effects. There he was to be found, she was sure of it, at the "Bar of Gold," in Upper Swandam Lane. But what was she to do? How could she, a young and timid woman, make her way into such a place, and pluck her husband out from among the ruffians who surrounded him?

There was the case, and of course there was but one way out of it. Might I not escort her to this place? And then, as a second thought, why should she come at all? I was Isa Whitney's medical adviser and as such I had influence over him. I could manage it better if I were alone. I promised her on my word that I would send him home in a cab within two hours if he were indeed at the address which she had given me. And so in ten minutes I had left my armchair and cheery sitting room behind me, and was speeding eastward in a hansom on a strange errand, as it seemed to me at the time, though the future only could show how strange it was to be.

But there was no great difficulty in the first stage of my adventure. Upper Swandam Lane is a vile alley lurking behind the high wharves which line the north side of the river to the east of London bridge. Between a slop-shop and a gin-shop, approached by a steep flight of steps leading down to a black gap like the mouth of a cave, I found the den of which I was in search. Ordering my cab to wait, I passed down the steps, worn hollow in the centre by the ceaseless tread of drunken feet, and by the light of a flickering oil lamp above the door I found the latch, and made my way into a long, low room, thick and heavy with the brown opium smoke, and terraced with wooden berths, like the forecastle of an emigrant ship.

Through the gloom one could dimly catch a glimpse of bodies lying in strange fantastic poses, bowed shoulders, bent knees, heads thrown back and chins pointing upward, with here and there a dark, lack-lustre eye turned upon the newcomer. Out of the black shadows there glimmered little red circles of light, now bright, now faint, as the burning poison waxed or waned in the bowls of the metal pipes. The most lay silent, but some muttered to themselves, and others talked together in a strange, low, monotonous voice, their conversation coming in gushes, and then suddenly trailing off into silence, each mumbling out his own thoughts, and paying little heed to the words of his neighbor. At the farther end was a small brazier of burning charcoal, beside which on a three-legged wooden stool there sat a tall, thin old man, with his jaw resting upon his two fists, and his elbows upon his knees, staring into the fire.

As I entered, a sallow Malay attendant had hurried up with a pipe for me and a supply of the drug, beckoning me to an empty berth.

"Thank you. I have not come to stay," said I. "There is a friend of mine here, Mr. Isa Whitney, and I wish to speak with him."

There was a movement and an exclamation from my right, and, peering through the gloom, I saw Whitney, pale, haggard, and unkempt, staring out at me.

"My God! It's Watson," said he. He was in a pitiable state of reaction, with every nerve in a twitter. "I say, Watson, what o'clock is it?"

"Nearly eleven."

"Of what day?"

"Of Friday, June 19th."

"Good heavens! I thought it was Wednesday. It is Wednesday. What d'you want to frighten a chap for?" He sank his face onto his arms, and began to sob in a high treble key.

"I tell you that it is Friday, man. Your wife has been waiting this two days for you. You should be ashamed of yourself."

"So I am. But you've got mixed Watson, for I have only been here a few hours, three pipes, four pipes—I forget how many. But I'll go home with you. I wouldn't frighten Kate—poor little Kate. Give me your hand! Have you a cab?"

"Yes, I have one waiting."

"Then I shall go in it. But I must owe something. Find out what I owe, Watson. I am all off color. I can do nothing for myself."

I walked down the narrow passage between the double row of sleepers, holding my breath to keep out the vile, stupefying fumes of the drug, and looking about for the manager. As I passed the tall man who sat by the brazier I felt a sudden pluck at my skirt, and a voice whispered, "Walk past me, and then look back at me." The words fell quite distinctly upon my ear. I glanced down. They could only have come from the old man at my side, and yet he sat now as absorbed as ever, very thin, very wrinkled, bent with age, an opium pipe dangling down from between his knees, as though it had dropped in sheer lassitude from his fingers. I took two steps forward and looked back. It took all my self-control to prevent me from breaking out into a cry of astonishment. He had turned his back so that none could see him but I. His form had filled out, his wrinkles were gone, the dull eyes had regained their fire, and there, sitting by the fire, and grinning at my surprise, was none other than Sherlock Holmes. He made a slight motion to me to approach him, and instantly, as he turned his face half round to the company once more subsided into a doddering, loose-lipped senility.

"Holmes!" I whispered, "what on earth are you doing in this den?"

"As low as you can," he answered; "I have excellent ears. If you would have the great kindness to get rid of that sottish friend of yours I should be exceedingly glad to have a little talk with you."

"I have a cab outside."

"Then pray send him home in it. You may safely trust him, for he appears to be too limp to get into any mischief. I should recommend you also to send a note by the cabman to your wife to say that you have thrown in your lot with me. If you will wait outside, I shall be with you in five minutes."

The Public Makes Prices!

The buying public of 26 states through 312 stores commanded a working capital last year of $50,000,000. While other retail stores suffered from constant inflation and destructive price reductions, these 312 stores progressed steadily, normally, and positively. The reason for this condition is the policy of the J. C. PENNEY COMPANY that always reckons first with the public, what it wants and how much it wants to pay. It is a good old-fashioned policy of giving full value for every cash dollar spent. It creates confidence and in return this confidence has created and re-created business. It is making a beaten track from the most obscure community straight to the wealth of the greatest markets and enables the J. C. PENNEY COMPANY to give unquestionable values for every dollar of the millions spent for their customers.

COOL DRINKS, A WATERMELON PICKLE, AND CHEESE BLITZES

Chef Wyman, whose recipes are backed by one of the most successful catering experiences in this country, gives The Times recipes for two good summer drinks, a watermelon pickle he ate at a hotel along the Upper Delaware, and a luncheon meat substitute dish which sounds good, even if it is a fried dish, in summer.

The drinks are ginger ale julep and a southern summer drink he found at an Upper Delaware tea room which he declares to be excellent and refreshing.

Ginger Ale Julep

The julep is served from a tall glass pitcher, into which the juice of six lemons has been squeezed, with two-thirds of a cup of powdered sugar added. A dozen stalks of mint, two cups of shaved ice and two bottles of iced ginger ale complete the drink.

Ginger Cup

The other drink is called "ginger cup," and made after an old southern recipe. Half a pound of seeded raisins and a cup of seedless raisins are steeped in one quart of boiling water for half an hour, strained and cooled. A teaspoon of almond extract is added, with half a cup of preserved ginger, the juice of four oranges, of two lemons, two cups powdered sugar, three tablespoons grated cocoanut, half a teaspoon ground ginger. This is mixed well and chilled in the ice box. When ready to serve a quart of ginger ale is added. It is nice served in tall glasses half filled with shaved ice.

Watermelon Pickle

The rind of a medium sized watermelon is pared and cut in thick slices. One gallon of water is boiled with one ounce of alum, and this poured over the rind and let stand for eight hours. Poured off, the rind is then covered with cold water and allowed to stand for eight hours. Three pounds of brown sugar is boiled with one quart of vinegar, strained, and an ounce of stick cinnamon, half an ounce of cloves and the rind added, and boiled until soft and clear.

Cheese Blitzes

Beat one egg with half a teaspoon salt, add one cup water and one cup sifted flour and beat smooth. Grease small frying pan slightly and pour in two tablespoons of the batter, frying only on one side; after tilting the pan so the batter will spread thin. Remove to a clean cloth, uncooked side uppermost, and cover with a filling made this way: Half a pound of cottage cheese, three tablespoonfuls butter, one egg, one tablespoonful sugar, grated peel of one lemon, a little salt and cinnamon. Fold the pancakes over and tuck the edges in well. Sprinkle with powdered cinnamon and sugar and fry in plenty of fat. Serve hot as a luncheon or meat substitute dish.

MISS DORIS BROWN HOSTESS ON FOURTEENTH BIRTHDAY

Miss Doris Brown celebrated her fourteenth birthday one evening last week with a very happy red, white and blue party on the lawn. Colored lights, flags and buntings decorated the lawn and chairs, and tables were arranged for games for nearly two-score guests.

After an hour or two at the games, a big white birthday cake, with fourteen, red, white and blue candles, was made the center of attraction, and good wishes were made for the little hostess with the blowing-out of the lights. The cake was later served with ice cream to the following: Misses Geraldine Pritchard of Fort Worth, Reva Ray Brown, Marguerite McDonald, Faye Fisher, Mary Brown, Evelyn Frances Lyle, Hazel Champion, Katherine Marcus, Hortense Boardman, Wilton Wade, Ruby Thompson of Houston, Thelma Fisher, Sophia Wolfson, Marion McDuff of St. Louis, Ida Cohen, Helen McDaniel of Abilene, Constance Walters of Dallas, Catherine Freeman of Dallas, Wilma Brown and her little guest, Lucile Elkins, Charles Gray, Willys Clark, Claude Miller, Sam Eashara, Jim Thompson of Houston, Clifton Clay, Lester Evans, Morrell McGregor, Johnnie Marvel of Oklahoma City, Mark Walker, Albert Patillo, Marvin Schultz of Denver and J. B. Roberts of Galveston.

DONORS OF PRIZES FOR BEST MATINEE CRITICISM ANNOUNCED

The W. A. Freear Furniture company will give the $10 prize which is offered by the Parent-Teacher federation to the junior or senior high student who writes the best criticism of the Wednesday matinee film, "A Tale of Two Cities." O. W. Smith, of the grocery company at 710 Indiana, is offering the second prize of $5.

The only conditions attached to the prize award are that the criticisms must be written by young people of the junior or senior high schools who see the play, and that they must be not over 350 words in length.

The essays are to be turned in at the Strand up to Wednesday, July 20th, which is the last day.

The two generous prizes offer a splendid opportunity for two young people to earn some nice holiday money.

TODAY'S HAPPINESS TEXT

"It is as impossible for the selfish, greedy, grasping thought, the thought always centered upon one's own interest, to produce a happy state of mind as it is for thistle seeds to produce wheat. But if we sow helpfulness, kindness, unselfishness, we shall reap a harvest of satisfaction, harmony and happiness. Selfishness and real happiness never go together. They are fatally antagonistic."—Orison Swett Marden.

LATEST STYLE

By LENORE

If you really want to swim in your bathing suit, you will wish the simple smart type that does not hamper your movements, does not grow heavy, and will not tire you with a complication of frills that hold the water. In the much favored wool jersey and in surf satin are the more practical and inexpensive models, straight of line, with either "V" or round neck, a mere suggestion of sleeves or sleeveless, and usually black. More expensive suits offer a choice of modes in black taffeta, satin and Canton crepe as interesting as those of the smartest street frocks.

One need not always wear black, however. There are suits in gay solid colors that will stand out like brilliant flowers on a stretch of sandy beach. Sometimes they are more subdued by mingling dark with bright shades, or one may melt into the blue-green background of the changing sea in a suit of misty gray, shown extensively in bathing attire.

As chic as a French creation is the very simple bathing frock illustrated. Note the intriguing little knickers. This design will look smart in any color, in taffeta, satin or Canton crepe, with the cording in self-material.

PATTERN No. 205.

A pattern for the above model (No. 205) can be obtained in sizes 34, 36, 38 or 40, by sending to Lenore, 8 West 40th street, New York City, your name, address, the number of this pattern and the size required, and 25 cents in postage stamps. Be sure to keep this newspaper clipping of the sketch and description of the garment to use as a working model when the pattern reaches you—which will be within two weeks' time.—The Editor.

WICHITANS SPEND SUNDAY AT M'CALLISTER RANCH; MAYOR WINS FISH CONTEST

Mayor W. D. Cline, W. E. Norton, T. B. Noble, G. C. Wood, Bill McCallister and W. M. McGregor spent Sunday at the McCallister ranch near Goodnight, Texas, most of the party returning Monday.

An effort was made while at the ranch to persuade T. B. Noble to enter the pen where Bosco, the wild ram, is confined. Mr. Noble didn't get persuaded, and thereby saved himself from the treatment accorded by Bosco, on a former occasion, to a well known local minister who entered the enclosure.

Messrs. Cline and Wood engaged in a fishing contest which Mr. Cline won by the score of 13 to 0. The catch included several fish that weighed nearly a quarter of a pound each, the remainder being small ones.

Members of the party were complaining Monday of the poor quality of rations served them on the trip, all they had for Sunday dinner was barbecued mutton, chicken, deviled eggs, corn on the cob and a few other vegetables, pie and ice cream.

KIWANIS CLUB POSTPONES MONDAY SESSION OUT OF RESPECT TO L. H. LITTLE

On account of the death of Layton H. Little, one of the most active of its members, the Kiwanis club held no session Monday. Several members of the club went to Waco to attend the funeral.

Mr. Little was a charter member of the club, and had been an earnest and enthusiastic worker in it, and his fellow members were greatly shocked by the news of his death.

The next meeting of the club will be held July 18.

"RACE TO PALACIOS" IS STAGED BY B. Y. P. U.

In a very spectacular and exciting "race to Palacios" encampment, Group 4 of the J. J. Lory B. Y. P. U. of the First Baptist church won by a wide margin of over one hundred miles over all other contenders.

Group 4 was represented in the race by the Ford. The nearest contender was the Maxwell. Other cars represented in the contest were the Chevrolet and Saxon.

The agreement was that the three losing groups were to entertain the winning group with a banquet. Arrangements have been made for a picnic at Arcadia park, Lake Wichita. All the members of the union are to meet at the church at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday and go in cars to the park.

Much benefit and pleasure was derived in the race, the membership increasing 100 per cent.

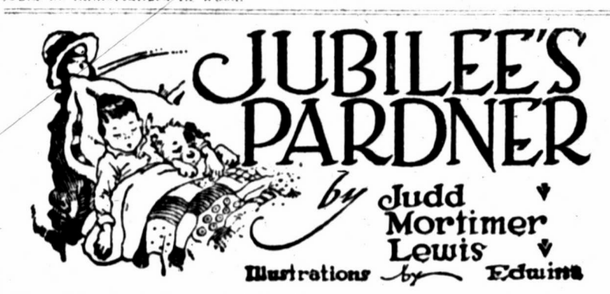
84 RESPONSES AT REVIVAL SERVICE IN FACTORY DISTRICT

The Saturday night and Sunday revival services at Factory Methodist church resulted in 84 decisions for Christ. Evangelist Hand and the local church workers were greatly gratified and encouraged. The attendance at all the services was large and at 11 o'clock Sunday morning at the church a capacity audience was present.

The services continue through Sunday, July 17. At 9:30 a. m. in the church and 4 p. m. also for children, while the evening service in the open-air tabernacle at corner of Buchanan and Q avenue begins at 8 o'clock.—W. A. Betts, Pastor.

MOST SHAPELY FORM OF GIRL TO BE ERECTED ON BOW OF SHIP

Look upon this lady, whose classic features are to ornament the bow of the new ship Cafe of Venice. Her name is Jacqueline Faust, and she won the prize offered by Captain Covington for the most shapely girl, whose form could be immortalized in wood.



The minister and his wife and Errick come home to dinner with us yesterday, and we had strawberry shortcake and cream and some ice cream from the drugstore, and Errick acted twice for everything, and fussed about Patches being kept outside until his mother asked if Patches could come in, and then Errick grabbed a piece of meat off my plate to feed Patches for a joke on me. And after dinner he got in the pantry and tipped over a pan of milk, and then he went out and went over the back fence and got in Mr. Farrel's auto and burnt something out so that Mr. Farrel come and told his father, and his father said it was wonderful what an investigating turn of mind Errick had.

Then they all went out on the porch and Errick acted me if I wanted him to show me how they fed pies to the actors in moving pitchers and I said I did, because I did not think he knew, and he went back in the pantry where there was a lemon pie and get it and told me to shut my eyes till he was ready, and when I done it he slammed me with the pie and got my eyes and ears and neck and hair full of it.

When I had got it out of my eyes he was jumping up and down laughing till he was red in the face, and I brang on all the way up from the floor and hung it on his nose, and then we clunch, and when our fathers and mothers heard the racket and come in we was half ways under the lounge, and he was swearing like a wildcat.

I think my mother and my father was glad when they seen that he had a bloody nose, and my father looked at me like he was going to bite my head off, and he growled: "Young man, you go out to the barn! I will come out there and tend to your case." Then my mother said to my father: "If you lick that child it will be over my dead body." And all my father done was to holler at me so loud

Then we clunch, and when our fathers and mothers heard the racket and come in we was half ways under the lounge, and he was swearing like a wildcat.

that I jumped and tell me to go out to the barn again.

So me and Jubilee went out and Jubilee was feeling sorry for me and so was I, and I was thinking of skinning out through the manure hole and running away from home when my father come in. He shut and locked the door, and then he took a half a dollar out of his pocket and axted me if I could holler like I was getting licked if he would give me the half, and I said I could if he would stand back out of my way.

So he did, and I rolled over and over on the floor and screamed, and screamed that I would not do it any more, and he took the holdback strap and lammed the post between the stalls, and my mother came and hammered on the door and screamed, and my father got some tears for my face out of the barn bucket, and then he opened the door, and my mother called him a beast, but the minister and the wife and Errick looked like they had had a pleasant day. The minister said that he hoped what I had got would be a lesson to me. I said it would.

My mother made me stay home all day today and take care of Angabell Lee because she was sorry for me. Darn such sympathy.

DRASTIC BLUE LAWS WILL BE URGED BY METHODISTS

NASHVILLE, July 11.—Enactment of a Sunday blue law prohibiting among other things the operation of Sunday trains and excluding Sunday newspapers from the mails, will be urged by the Methodist central Sabbath crusade committee in a petition to be presented to congress this week, it was announced by Noah W. Cooper, chairman of the committee, on leaving here today for Washington. On July 1, Mr. Cooper said, the committee which represents 12 southern conferences, will place a copy of the petition in the hands of every senator and representative in congress.

Characterizing the proposed law as the "simplest thing imaginable," Mr. Cooper in a statement issued before his departure, said it would "prohibit all secular work on Sunday by persons in interstate or in federal service except in instances of charity and necessity."

RAILROAD LABOR BOARD DISMISSES CONTROVERSY

CHICAGO, July 11.—The railroad labor board today dismissed a controversy between employes and the American Refrigerator Transit company over rules and working conditions, ruling that it was without jurisdiction over the company. The company's headquarters is in St. Louis.

The rules dispute was brought by the shop crafts and clerks' unions, but investigation by the board disclosed that the company was not a common carrier and therefore did not come within the provisions of the transportation act.

LOSES HIS WOODEN LEGS BUT HE SWAM TO SHORE

GILBERT, MINN., July 10.—While Harry Woodward, a swimmer, was drowning, Roy Rhodda, minus his two wooden legs, which became loosened when a boat occupied by five men overturned yesterday, swam 300 yards to shore.

Rhodda told friends here that two of his companions utilized the floating wooden legs to aid them to reach the shore.

Warless World by 1923 the Slogan of Christian Endeavor

NEW YORK, July 11.—The new slogan of the Christian Endeavor societies will be "A warless world by 1923." It will have the support of 18,000,000 members and former members of the movement in all parts of the world.

The aim as described in the motto, "A saloonless nation by 1920," having been attained, agreement was reached today on the slogan for world peace. It was originated by the Rev. Dr. Frances E. Clark of Boston, president and founder of the Christian Endeavor movement, and will be submitted tonight to the convention, accompanied by another one calling for "universal brotherhood."

All the forces of Christianity throughout the world, Dr. Clark said, would be called upon to join the Endeavor movement in order to prevent war.

"In choosing 1923 as the date of our next convention at Des Moines," he added, "I took the position that two years were sufficient to make plans for a warless world. We had to wait eight years after the adoption of our saloonless nation slogan, but we cannot wait that long for world peace. Further delay would be disastrous."

A resolution has been prepared calling upon congress and President Harding and the nations of the world to adopt immediately a plan for world peace. This country is urged to join any league or association that will promote permanent world peace. The league of nations is not specially endorsed.

REVIVAL IN PROGRESS AT CORNER OF FIFTH AND BLUFF

"Prepare to Meet Thy God" (Amos 4:12) was the text of the Sunday night sermon of Rev. Mr. Gaar, who is conducting revival services in the open-air tabernacle at Fifth and Bluff streets. The sermon subject was "The Certainty of God," and the speaker said in part:

"The greatest event of a man's life is meeting God. There are other great meetings, such as meeting men of national reputation. I was once introduced to President Roosevelt, and when he looked at me and spoke to me it thrilled my heart, but no earthly meeting can compare with meeting God.

"The question arises, who is God, and what of His greatness? In the first place, consider the creative greatness of God. Great statesmen, great authors and great men of genius dwindle into insignificance. Secondly, the greatness of God is a consuming God and a jealous God. Any man that builds can tear down.

"How will He meet us? He says, 'I will meet you as a bear bereft of her cubs and will devour you as a lion.' God's spirit says prepare now to meet your God."

WARNING AGAINST POLLUTION OF LAKE IS ISSUED MONDAY

Picnicking parties, campers and fishing enthusiasts who are frequenting Lake Wichita are cautioned to use extreme care about leaving any form of refuse near the water's edge. In a statement issued Monday, Dr. A. H. Douglass, head of the city health department, said that it was a difficult matter to keep the city drinking water free from pollution, due to the impurities which poured into the lake from the water shed, and that careless throwing of garbage or other refuse increased this original danger.

The health department will appreciate the reporting of individuals who do not observe these precautions.

STEAMSHIP POCAHONTAS TO RETURN TO UNITED STATES

NAPLES, July 10.—The crew of the American steamship Pocahontas, which arrived here Monday after a voyage of more than a month from New York during which there was continual friction between the officials and the men, will be returned to the United States by the steamship Argentine, which sails on Tuesday.

The captain of the Pocahontas has accused the crew of sabotage and charges of cruelty were filed by the crew against the captain. The case has been under investigation by the American consul.

LIVING CONTENTEDLY IN THEIR ADOBE HUT ON MEXICAN BORDER

EL PASO, July 11.—On the highway that runs along the Rio Grande for miles in Texas and New Mexico are persons who see fine automobiles every day pass by the hundreds; in the clear, blue sky above they often see airplanes soaring like big birds, and they know that not far away are big buildings, expensive homes and all the luxuries of a city, yet they—these people in their adobe huts on both sides of the river—are contented. Life to them with their many children scantily attired, with their several hairless dogs, skinny goats and game chickens, is sufficient.

Up and down the Rio Grande, on the Texas, New Mexico and Mexico sides, are hundreds of small houses made of native soil and straw and covered, partly at least, with brush wood and weeds and dirt, in which dwell Mexican families.

Along the highway one can see many of these adobe houses, made of 'dobe mud and straw baked in the sun and dried brushwood which has been cut from along the river bank or dragged out of the slow current of the stream. They have stood the weather, with its rains and its windstorms, for years and have sheltered a contented, not to say uncouth and ignorant, class of Mexicans—péons.

These houses are usually one room. If there is more than one room it usually is more of a lot or pen than room and generally is made of dead wood and brush piled up to make a sort of fence, square in appearance and probably without covering.

The family lives in the room with the walls made of adobe and the goats and chickens live in the adjoining pen.

On the walls, outside and within, and the roof hang large bunches of red peppers—chili, they call it. These peppers are used in preparing most all of the food the Mexican peon eats.

The yard, or the space in front of the house, is kept clean. Women clean it and sweep it with a limb of a tree to which is tied broom weeds.

Inside the one-room house, it is as neat as care can make it. The floor is dirt, but it is kept as clean as a hard surfaced ground floor could be kept. There is little furniture. There is no stove, save in a very few of these sort of places, and there usually are no chairs. In some huts, however, there are broken rockers, or a handsome straight chair. The family sits on mats. The meals are prepared on an open fire—outside in summer, inside in the winter.

The beds are against the walls, lying on the floor, and are made of straw, hay, small brush wood and covered with heavy canvas, a dark blanket or a skin.

The dishes and cooking utensils are stacked in one corner. If there be dishes, they also are very scarce and are thick, dark chinaware. Cooking utensils consist of a gallon bucket to make coffee in, or an old fashioned coffee pot, a big iron pot to cook beans in, an earthen pot and a bowl or two.

The food is simple, too. For breakfast these peons eat tortillas and drink coffee. Tortillas are unleaven mread, made of corn flour, salt and water. They make the flour themselves, by pouring corn in a heavy earthen or solid rock bowl and grinding and pounding it with a round shaped rock pounder. Often the corn is grown in crooked rows not far from the river banks.

The other two meals consist primarily of frijoles, or brown beans, and tortillas. The American often orders "chili" and is brought a mixture of bean soup and chopped meat strongly flavored with pepper. To the Mexican, chili is nothing but pepper. He has two kinds of chili—green and red, the former not very hot, the latter burning hot. He eats lots of both. If he wants what the American calls chili, he makes chili con carne, "pepper with meat," and it never contains beans, but lots of red pepper and chunks of meat.

The Mexican likes meat, but the peon has it seldom. Rice also is a luxury with the people in the adobe huts and so are tamales and enchilades. Tamales are ground meat, corn meal and hot pepper, cooked together and wrapped in a corn husk. Usually they are as big around as a man's arm, whereas the American's tamale is not much larger than a person's finger. Another holiday food is the enchilada, made by frying a tortialla and chopping up onions and cheese and pouring hot red chili sauce over it.

Eggs are another holiday dish and usually there are three or four hens and a game rooster which comprise a highly prized flock of these families.

Coffee is black and he peons seldom use cream or sugar in it. However, the goat is ever at hand and if cream is desired, goat milk it a fair substitute to them. Goats, however, seem to be kept more for custom's sake or as a companion to the chickens, dogs and children, than for their milk.

It doesn't take much for these families to live, nor does it take much labor to provide it. The land they live on and cultivate apparently belongs to anybody who wants it. The material for their houses costs nothing and the peons do their own building. The goats hustle for themselves and so do the chickens, and the hairless dogs don't eat much.

Women and men make the straw mats for the home and often make enough to sell. Occasionally the man or one of his youngsters will journey to the public market in Juarez, or to the street corners of El Paso and seel a tourist some straw mat or handmade basket or a piece of pottery or a carved wooden cane. This is one way to get money for the beans to plant or for the coffee and tobacco they cannot grow. Another way is for the man to gather firewood as it floats down the river and sell it at the market. Another way is to sell a few extra ears of corn or stalks of pepper or bunches of onions. To the less industrious there is always some other way to get along.

The smugglers of liquor and narcotics often visit these places and for their shelter they pay the peons. Sometimes one of the quiet men of the lowly adobe huts will act as guide or outpost and be well paid for it and some on this side of the river have been known to provide storage for smuggled goods.

But before smuggling became so common these residents of the river flats lived contentedly. As far as is known, they never seek charity. At Christmas time charity workers may visit them, but they are not glad to get gifts, so usually the social worker when he sees smoke coming from a chimney, sees a few stalks of corn standing in the uneven rows and red peppers hanging from the roof and walls and goats and hairless dogs and a few game chickens in the yard, he knows that his aid is not necessary for that family.

THE GASOLINE EXPORT SITUATION

Excerpt from address by W. H. Reed, traffic manager of Union Petroleum Company, at meeting of Refinery Traffic Managers in Wichita Falls recently.

The situation as pertains to exports has changed very fast in the last few days. The Union Petroleum company has for the last few days drawn principally all of its oil from the mid-continent field that it exported. We have been in the exporting field for a number of years, having established trade with China, Japan, India, points along the English channel, Belgium, France, Holland and formerly we exported anywhere from 60,000 to 90,000 tons a month.

The export business during the past year has changed to this extent. The rail rates have advanced little by little until they have shut out the mid-continent section from supplying any of this traffic. The pipe line refineries operating on the Gulf of Mexico and on the eastern seaboard have today practically a monopoly on that trade. By reference to—of the American Petroleum institute you will notice that exports of kerosene and gasoline from the United States is a great deal more than it was last year. There is no question but what the traffic is moving. The rail rates today are prohibitive. There is no chance in the world under present conditions for refineries in this section of the country to get any of that business.

Your prices at the refineries today are about the same as they were in 1915. The prices in Hamburg for oil delivered over there are about the same as they were in 1915. The prevailing price on kerosene in Hamburg today is 7½c per gallon. You people selling it out of here for 1½c, have to add—to get it to the gulf and there is a 5c rate from the gulf to Hamburg. The refineries operating on the gulf and the Atlantic seaboard are drawing the crude oil from this section on the basis of approximately 1c per gallon. They are exporting kerosene and gasoline today in large quantities. They base their prices delivered in Hamburg on the basis of the cost to the gulf on oil originating in the mid-continent field; that is the basis of the price, and they cut the price 1c which cuts you out entirely.

But as the situation stands today, they can sell oil in Hamburg at 1c a gallon cheaper than you could export it and they can get rich while you starve.

We have come to the conclusion that the only way Oklahoma and Texas refineries can be helped is to have the rail rates reduced within reason to the gulf; so we have questioned a number of carriers with this idea in view. There is no question of relation between expert rates from this territory to the gulf. They do not relate to anything. They were made as emergency rates and considered reasonable and just. Any reduction in these rates now would not affect any other rates. The carriers have been told and presented with facts that if they allow these rates to remain, they will not get the business. If they reduce the rates to within reason, they will get the business. It is the question whether or not they will reduce the rates and allow you and them to live. We have no pipe line and whatever we handle, would move by rail. The movement of gasoline and kerosene from gulf ports in the past six months, have increased over 30 per cent. We have gotten, at least one railroad to realize this situation and to restore rate of 24½. This railroad is very friendly to the oil interests and not to any one particular company but to all. They have sent out a number of telegrams within the last two or three days trying to get other railroads in line.

The demand for oils on the other side has been good for quite a long while. I might mention this thought, that the Standard, Gulf, Texas and several other big companies own their own steamships and have moved into Europe great quantities of oil over there at the present time. Prices in Europe, like here, are not fixed. But the supply over there we feel will not last any great time. The steamship tonnage has declined to such a state until you can charter a ship today for around 32 shillings 6 pence a ton which figures about $6.90. There are some sections of the country—I refer now particularly to India and northern Egypt—where the Standard has established enormous storage tanks. Recently there were several thousand tons sold to a European port at 3c a gallon—less than you can refine it in the mid-continent field and export it. We have been buying here. We were able to do that because conditions were abnormal. We had ships under charter, we got the business from you and landed in Europe due to very low ocean rates.

You gentlemen here have very serious problems to confront in regard to export. We do not see how you can get any more of it unless rail rates are reduced. We have shown this to the railroads. You have been patient and stood the condition to such an extent that they ought to bear with you and help you, at the same time helping themselves. There is a great selfish interest that do not want you to get any of this trade. They are satisfied to see rates remain just as they are and they have been going around trying to offset what we have been trying to do. We exported from this section thousands of cars and we competed with the pipe lines at the rate and we can compete with them today. We have asked the railroads to restore that condition and between us we can get this traffic back; give you a chance to do business like you used to.

I thought I would bring that to your attention because it is something unknown to the refiners here. We have asked the railroads, whatever they do to do it now. That is the reason all these telegrams have been sent out; to see if something can not be done right away. It may be all of them will fall through. I know there is a lot of pressure being brought to bear to defeat rate reduction but we have hopes that this will be unsuccessful.

PACKARD

The Packard Motor Car Company announces the following new prices:

The Twin-Six Touring Car is reduced from $6000 to $4850, a reduction of $1150. All other Twin-Six open and enclosed cars are proportionately decreased—the reduction ranging in amount up to $1700.

Following former reductions of the Single-Six which anticipated lower manufacturing costs, further reductions of Single-Six enclosed models are made ranging in amount up to $400.

Prices on all models of Packard Trucks are also reduced—the new prices being from $200 to $1050 below the former prices.

The manufacturing schedules of all three lines—the Twin-Six, the Single-Six, the Truck—have been increased materially.

Positions That Pay Well, and Are Always To Be Had

The perfecting of typesetting keyboards has brought new and unusual opportunities in the printing business, the business that gives development to great minds.

Positions of this kind always have paid well and perhaps always will, and doubtless they will always be plentiful, because the printing business expands as civilization develops. Anybody who could learn to operate a typewriter can learn to operate a typesetting machine. If you want to learn how to do the work of a monotype machinist; if you want to learn to do the work of an Intertype or Linotype machinist; if you want to learn to operate any of these machines; if you want to learn the work of the business office—if you want to get into a work that will always pay you well, and if you can spare three to four months for preparation, write for Prospectus to American Publishers' and Southern Publishers'

WE HOPE GOVERNOR NEFF DON'T MEAN IT.

We hope that Governor Neff was not speaking seriously when in discussing his law enforcement bills at Mexia Saturday he said:

"I don't think the legislature will pass a single one of these bills. During the last session of the legislature I could not even get them up for discussion. No, sir, I did not even have enough friends to get them on the floor. But when the legislature was about to adjourn I sent them over a little message and told them that when the special session met I was going to put these things before them again. I don't think the special session will pass them but I want to put those legislators on record again."

We say that we hope the governor is not speaking seriously when he said this because if he really means this he has been taking up his own and other people's time lightly and will be causing the state's money to be spent uselessly in laying his bills before the legislature. The people of Texas have no interest in a quarrel between Governor Neff and the legislature but they do have an interest in proper legislation to remedy some of the matters which Governor Neff is so opportunely and so forcibly bringing to their attention. But if Governor Neff's words really bespeak his belief they indicate an attitude that is not likely to conciliate the legislature; they show a purpose to show up the legislature rather than get some helpful legislation. The legislators may be a hopeless, willful and perverse lot but we are doubtful whether the people of the state will be patient with our governor if he turns his efforts "to getting them on record" rather than getting the best that is possible out of them.

Governor Neff is making a good governor. So far most that he has done has been good and the people are with him in all that is right. But even the governor of Texas and a good man like Pat Neff is not the center of the universe. It is easy for a leader in a great state like Texas to get an idea that all political action centers about his personality. To say it briefly, for a man to take himself too seriously. But the people of Texas will continue to be, as they have in the past, more interested in what is done than in who does it and will be more interested in getting something done than in putting somebody "on record."

So if Governor Neff has in mind a bit of political play to show up members of the legislature, we hope he thinks better of it before the legislature meets. This is really not the time for that kind of play. We expect bigger things from Pat Neff and want bigger things for Texas.

THE WHEAT CROP REVIVING INDUSTRY.

Wheat is the commodity that is helping bring prosperity to many sections of our country and which is exerting a helpful influence everywhere.

One of the first effects of wheat harvest was a diminution of unemployment over the country. The ripening grain fields called for labor and multiplied thousands of unemployed found profitable employment in the harvest fields. The movement of grain has given employment to other thousands of railroad men, and is giving railroads needed revenues and, if it has not already started, will soon start repairs of railroad rolling stocks which in turn will call for materials and more labor.

With the money from the sale of his wheat the farmer is liquidating his debts to his merchant and banker and these men are in turn applying this money to their obligations with the wholesaler and manufacturer and with the central bank. The crop is being used immediately to loosen up a tight situation and is today the biggest factor in a promised revival of trade.

A leading Texas editor is fond of repeating that civilization begins with the plow. We hope that he may say a revival of industry began with the wheat crop.

A FRANK STATEMENT NEEDED.

If there is no possibility of the government being able to pay a bonus to former service men somebody with responsibility in the republican party ought to come out and tell them so plainly and ought to indicate the earliest time when the government would be in a position to pay a bonus. It appears that our government cannot pay a bonus at this time. This is generally understood by those in authority but from some quarters hope is still being held out that the present congress can make an appropriation for a bonus. If this hope is futile it is the duty of the administration to say so without further delay.

Government Gets Another Shock.

(Kansas City Times)

It is apparent from the actions of Charles G. Dawes, who has gone to Washington to make the budget, that he does not take the departmental view of government. In some ways this will make it very hard for Mr. Dawes to get cooperation, in others it will make it easier for him to get results if he doesn't mind trampling down trim hedges, and it is to be imagined he doesn't mind.

Mr. Dawes, indeed, promises to be a sore trial to the departmentally minded gentlemen who, at a vast expense of time and labor, have got everything nicely arranged in the way they had expected to see them remain until disturbed by the wreck of matter and the crash of words. In a system like that there is, of course, no place for a man like Mr. Dawes, and no doubt when he arrives in Washington and, is reported, asked where he was to go to work, it must have been on the tongue of many who had their places nicely picked out to reply, "My dear sir, for a man like you there really is no place in government."

Nor for that matter is there any place in government as departmentally administered for a budget. Mr. Dawes, job is to create a place for it. It is to be gathered from his remarks after he had looked the situation over that congress did not go to any great trouble to provide a place for the budget. It passed a budget bill and that is about all it did do. The bill is now handed to Mr. Dawes with the government's compliments, and he can go and sit on the treasury steps with it if he wants to. The department probably would be perfectly satisfied if that should be all Mr. Dawes could think of to do with it. Congress probably would be satisfied with that, too. They do not especially need a budget in their business. It was the country that wanted it, and in yielding to the country's demand (after the usual delay of a dozen years or so), congress hoped it had heard the last of the pesky thing.

Unluckily for that hope, the budget has fallen into the hands of a rough, hasty person who has taken it to be his mission to make it work. Mr. Dawes did not go and sit down on the treasury steps. He did notice, of course, that congress had provided no machinery to put the budget in operation, but instead of throwing up his job and returning to Chicago when he made the discovery, as a less determined person might have done, Mr. Dawes has gone ahead and created his own machinery—which probably is unconstitutional. Anyway, he has done it. He seems to have drafted a couple of army officers and invited a business friend from Chicago who can afford to work for nothing to join him, and with this organization and a real gift for profanity he has started out to make the budget march.

Mr. Dawes—he does not care to be called general, we hear—has impressed the country with his ability to do it. Even congress may swing in and help him with needed legislation when it sees he really means business. Congress is that way sometimes. It will do most anything the country wants when it learns in unmistakable fashion that the country wants it. If Mr. Dawes makes the budget work and the country shows its appreciation and approval of his efforts, congress will get right in line and hurrah as loudly any anybody. It may even make us believe that was its purpose right along and that it was the country that was holding back. It is men like Mr. Dawes that frequently bring about such results. That is their value in government when they take a hand in that game, which isn't nearly as often as the situation demands.

"Qualified Endorsement" for K. K. K.

(Denton Record-Chronicle)

"Qualified endorsement" of the principles and demonstrations of the Ku Klux Klan, as given by so distinguished a minister as Dr. C. C. Selecman of Dallas, voices, we think, the attitude of a very great majority of Texas citizens. In brief it is that "provided these groups of men are good men, provided they are of good intentions and provided their activities have good effect, I am going to be one of the last to reprimand them for their efforts to check disobedience to the law, disloyalty and indecency."

So far as the incidents thus far reported in Texas show, the groups are good men, they have fairly well demonstrated their good intentions and we think it unquestioned that their activities have had good effects, both in the tendency to check violations of the law, disloyalty and indecency and in securing better enforcement of laws by the authorities entrusted with their enforcement.

"There have come times," Dr. Selecman said, "when the disrespect for the law has grown to such an extent that it is necessary for officers of the law or groups of men to resort to unusual announcements or demonstrations in order to convince the people that the law must be enforced." The Ku Klux Klan has been called into being largely in those communities where the existing authorities have demonstrated either their inability or their unwillingness to enforce the laws, the difficulty of securing conviction of persons after their arrest and indictment has been a powerful contributing factor as well. The law-breaking element has always been in the minority under Anglo-Saxon governments, but at some times and in some places they have been able to over-awe the majority or to violate with impunity the statutes set up to curb law-breakers. When either of those conditions arise in a lawabiding community, ultimately the law-respecting folks are going to do one or two things—move away into a community where the laws are respected or, becoming temporarily law-violators themselves, take the enforcement of the law into their own hands, and the history of American civilization is full of instances of vigilantes, Ku Klux Klans, regulators and other similar organizations, the original purpose of which was to uphold right and prevent wrong.

It is true that in not a few instances they have deteriorated into means of punishing private wrongs and individual grudges, but when that condition has come about, invariably they have lost their influence and been broken up by the major force of public opinion or the establishment of new organizations designed for that particular purpose.

Enforcement of the laws by regularly constituted authorities is, of course, the preferable way; indeed, over long periods, it is the only way. But when the emergency arises and the proper conditions exist, there will always be a way for the lawabiding majority not only to express itself, but to execute its wishes, and the modernized Ku Klux Klan is a present exemplification of that fact. When the cause for it is removed, it will die of inanition.

The History of Your Name

By PHILIP FRANCIS NOWLAN

MUENCH

Variations—Munch, Meach, Muchen, Munchweiler.
Racial Origin—German.
Source—Name of a city.

Among the most modern of hereditary surnames, or family names, are those of German Jews. Indeed the custom of using family names was adopted by the Jews much later than by the general populace in virtually all the countries of Europe.

In Germany, as late as the reign of Napoleon Bonaparte, the Jews had no regular system of family nomenclature, individuals being known by such names as "Isaac, the son of Abraham," etc.

There was a very natural reason for this. Throughout the preceding centuries, in Germany as well as other lands, the Jews had been subject to more or less persecution, and had been an element apart, in whatever communities in which they dwelt, and a very small element. Hence the need for a system of family names had never arisen.

But Napoleon felt it was necessary for purposes of official registry of inhabitants, and decreed that the Jews should adopt as family names the names of the places in which they resided.

Most persons who bear the name of Muench or its variations are Jewish, though the name is not necessarily Jewish. But all persons who bear it may trace their ancestry back to persons who lived in Munich, for the name is taken from that city. The explanation of the variation Munchweiler probably is that its original bearer was stopping in that city temporarily at the time of the decree, for the termination apparently comes from a German verb, meaning to tarry, or dwell, or hold residence.

WHY?—

Does Lightning Strike Trees?

(Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

If, for purpose of experiment, we were to take a small motor and generate a mild electrical current, we would find that this current passes without any apparent diminution in force through rubber or substances of a finely woven though flexible nature. The latter are called "non-conductors" of electricity, just as asbestos is a non-conductor of heat and wood is a non-conductor of light.

As a general rule, wood will not carry electricity and does not therefore attract it—but a tree projects a number of feet above the ground and the lightning (merely another form of electricity) follows the line of least resistance in reaching the earth, sometimes striking with a force sufficient to tear a huge trunk asunder. In cases of this kind the tree is the lightning-rod of the earth, pointing upwards and literally pulling the lightning down, though without having the same attraction for the electricity possessed by the metal rods on houses. For this reason, it is dangerous to stand under a large tree during a thunder storm, for the electricity in the air is seeking to reach the ground and will take instant advantage of anything which will be of assistance to it in accomplishing this purpose.

HUMANISMS

Inner Lights on Lives and Whims of Personages in the Public Eye

By WILLIAM ATHERTON DU PUY.

Herbert Hoover tells a story of his early days in Australia when mining development was exceedingly active.

Two promoters found a vein of pay rock, which was very rich indeed, but it was no wider than your two fingers. They followed it along and found a pocket so good you could get an ounce of gold out of a shovelful of ore. It was phenomenally rich, but there was surprisingly little of it.

So they dug the ore out of this pocket and one of the promoters hurried away to London with it that he might sell the mine. He showed it to purchasers and they responded with enthusiasm.

They required but one further demonstration before closing. They wanted a ton or two of the ore for a mill run. If it showed all right they would buy.

The promoter in London cabled his associate in Australia to prepare ore for a mill run. The man on the ground answered:

"All right. Send back the mine."

He was a new bureau chief in one of the departments in Washington and he was moved by all he had heard of waste and inefficiency, and particularly of people on the payroll who followed the working schedule of the lily.

So, one morning, he was hustling around from one part of the building to another to find out, first hand, whether or not there were drones in the hive.

And right there in one of the offices in a chair at a desk sat a full-sized, able-bodied, ample-girthed male individual actually twiddling his thumbs.

"Haven't you anything to do?" asked the chief, bustling up.

"For the present I don't seem to have a single thing to do," replied the thumb twiddler.

"Well, don't you think you could find something to do?" pressed the official.

"Possibly," was the non-commital response.

"I will have this looked into," and the official bristled. "What is your name, please?"

"I am Representative Blank of the appropriation committee," said the idle one, "merely waiting for a bit of information."

Senators David Walsh of Massachusetts and Kenneth McKeller of Tennessee are the old bachelors of the senate, quite determined and set in their ways.

Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., of New York is a distant cousin of Eliot Wadsworth of Massachusetts, who has recently become assistant secretary of the treasury under Mr. Mellon.

Frank H. Hitchcock, the Sphynx of politics, formerly postmaster general and secretary of the republican national committee, went into business when the democrats came into office, became associated with a group of engineers and builders, and is said to have acquired much money.

Little Benny's Note Book

By Lee Pape

Ma was going to make a omlett for suppir and she sent me out for a duzzin best eggs, and on the way home I axsidently dropped the bag wile I was trying to see how loose I could hold it, and the ferst thing I did wen I picked it up was to look in to see if enything had happened. Wich something had, being about half the eggs all broak and leeking over the other half and making them look broak too, me thinking. Its a darn good thing ma wants them for a omlett insted of for soft boiled eggs.

And I kepp on going home carrying them carefill so nothing werse would happen to them, and on the way I saw some little blue flowers growing in some grass alongside of a fents, thinking, G, Ill pick a bokay for ma and give it to her before I give her the eggs.

And I picked a bokay, picking more grass than flowers on account of not being enuff flowers to make a bokay without help, and wen I got home ma was in the kitchin waiting for the eggs, and I held out the bokay, saying Look wat I picked you, ma?

Now wat in the werld do you sippose I can do with all that derty grass? sed ma.

Well G, ma, look theres flowers in it, dont you see them, ma? I sed.

No, sed ma, and I sed, Well look, Ill show you ma. And I showed her the little blue flowers, being 4 of them and hard to see on account of all the grass, and ma sed, Very pritty, very pritty, and now ware are the eggs?

Wich I handed her the bag saying, I axsidently saved you a lot of werk, ma. Meening by bringing the eggs allreddy half broak, and ma started to take them out of the bag and quick pulled her hand out agen on account of feeling the insides all mixed with the outsides, and I sed, Wy, wats the mater, ma, you was going to brake them enyways, wasent you, ma?

None of your bizness, sed ma mad. And she gave me 2 fearse cracks and all the grass and the 4 blue flowers went all over the floor, so she gave me 2 more fearser ones, making me wish I hadent of thawt of the bokay.

JUST FOLKS

Health.

Now I reckon that health is the richest possession that ever a mortal can own,
With health in his kingdom, life's burdens are little and he can give battle alone;
He can rise to his day,
Let it bring what it may,
With only one thought in his mind,
With never a doubt
That his strength will hold out,
And never a fear left behind.

Give health to a man and the ones he loves best, and he will go fit to the task,
He'll stand to the brunt and the heat of the strife and little of mercy he'll ask;
The odds may be great,
But up-standing and straight
He'll meet them and fight to the end,
And 'neath gray skies or blue,
He will see the day through
And take what the fortunes may send.

But let him have riches in silver and gold, and let the world bow to his will,
And barren his days are of pleasure
and charm if he or a loved one is ill;
Then heavy of heart
He will play his poor part
And his gold will not cause him to smile,
For of all the world's wealth
The best treasure is health,
And without it there's nothing worth while.

BUGHOUSE FABLES

AND RIGHT THERE IS WHERE I MADE MY BIG MISTAKE

NEW GUN MAY SHOOT FIVE TONS 200 TO 300 MILES

(New York Times.)

A new gun, with a velocity ranging from one to five miles a second, which may be developed to hurl a projectile of five tons from 200 to 300 miles, was demonstrated yesterday afternoon in the tower of the Woolworth building by Dr. Miller Reese Hutchinson, former chief engineer to Thomas A. Edison. The weapon was not equipped with a silencer, but it was noiseless and smokeless, and fired without recoil.

Soon after Dr. Hutchinson had interested himself in the invention, which he predicted could find a wide range of uses in the peaceful arts, he was apprised of its tremendous destructive power by one of the most able ordnance experts in the country. This expert was so interested in the weapon that, according to Dr. Hutchinson, after he had concluded his inspection, he remarked:

"This gun will do more eventually to bring about peace than the peace conference. It will make war too terrible for nations to engage in wars."

But in spite of its potential destructiveness, the weapon was tested yesterday with the greatest confidence in its safety by Dr. Hutchinson in the presence of more than a score of witnesses in one of the rooms of his suite.

On the fifty-first floor of the world's tallest building, Dr. Hutchinson's proving grounds consisted of a box of sand such as he might have used to plant window flowers. The box was placed on the floor of his office, and on top of the sand was a plate of regular boiler steel three-quarters of an inch thick.

Sounds Like Cash Register.

Pointing the muzzle of the weapon vertically downward, perhaps in line with the heads of scores of unsuspecting tenants, Dr. Hutchinson placed the muzzle flush against the boiler plate, the same as a riveter places the nozzle of his pneumatic hammer, which the weapon resembles, against a steel beam. A slight pressure on the handle of the weapon was followed by a click that sounded something like a cash register.

Lifting the gun from its position on the steel plate, a steel slug, three inches long and one-half inch in diameter, was revealed lodged in the plate. The projectile had been stopped midway on its flight through the steel, its nose projecting on one side about the same distance that the tail end projected on the other.

The gun was designed so that its projectile may be stopped in its passage through a sheet of steel with the precision that a subway train can be stopped. The tail end of the projectile used in the demonstration was threaded and served the purpose of a bolt to which a nut was fitted as Dr. Hutchinson explained how the threaded slug could be used to bolt on another plate to the hull of a leaking ship at sea.

The adaptability of the gun for underwater riveting was recently tested at the New York navy yard in the presence of experts by Frank Orilley, the world's champion diver. He went to a depth of 35 feet in regulation diving gear, and shot a slug three-eighths of an inch thick. The diver said that there was no percussion under the water from the gun, and no recoil. He could not be convinced that the projection had been discharged until the plate was drawn to the surface with the slug piercing it. The plate was taken to a laboratory, where a pressure of eight tons was required to force the slug out of its place.

Power Without Noise.

"One curious feature of the gun," explained Dr. Hutchinson, "is that its tremendous velocity seems to force a steel object literally to retreat before the projectile as if the plate were melted. It closes up quickly before the projectile escapes and seal the perforation without the projectile. The gun uses smokeless gunpowder, operates without noise, recoil or flash, and an unheard of muzzle velocity can be acquired.

"The present velocity of 2,850 feet per second attained by the naval 14-inch guns is about the maximum for large ordnance now in use. Muzzle velocities not exceeding 4,000 feet per second are the greatest in high-power rifles."

Dr. Hutchinson pointed out that the high-power rifles attained their velocities with small projectiles, and that their barrels were long and their powder charges about three times as great as used in the gun he demonstrated.

The reason why so much greater velocity has been developed in the new principle of burning gun powder, which does not permit of waste, and in the second place makes it possible to burn every bit of powder before the projectile even starts to move. The impulse projecting the missile is thus intensified without increasing the chamber pressure, which, as in the case of most guns of this type, does not exceed twenty tons per square inch, explained Dr. Hutchinson.

The demonstration gun used by Dr. Hutchinson developed a velocity of one mile a second. He said that after he had examined the weapon he understood that this velocity could be increased at will to as much as five miles per second, because the problem was purely one of mathematics, involving a proportioning of parts of the weapon without interfering with the size of the bullet.

In regard to increasing the size of the projectile, that was a matter on which he did not undertake to pass judgment, but left verification to the ordnance expert. Dr. Hutchinson was asked to reveal the name of this expert, but said that the latter did not wish to have his name mentioned because of his connection with a large ordnance concern. He said that this man was recognized as one of the ablest students of that subject in the country, and quoted him as having said:

Bigger Than Big Bertha.

"I see no difficulty to prevent the development of this gun so that it will shoot a projectile of several tons several hundred miles. It should be possible to shoot a projectile weighing five tons at least 300 miles. I can think of no way in which you can fail to increase the effect of the gun that shelled Paris, at the same time using a projectile two and a half times larger than Big Bertha."

The gun was only eight inches long, in the shape of a cylinder. It looked like it was all barrel. Into the muzzle of the cylinder, about one inch in diameter, the slugs were fitted which Dr. Hutchison used in his demonstration. In the opposite end from the slug was a copper cap to fire the charge. The interior of the cylinder contained the secret.

The cylinder was placed in a holder built on almost the identical plan of a pneumatic happer, with a handle at one end. In piercing the boiler plate, Dr. Hutchison stooped directly over the gun and pressed the muzzle to the sheet of steel at a point not more than six inches distance from his feet. At his right elbow sat Hudson Maxim, inventor of smokeless powder. On the opposite side of the room stood one of his associates, who was invited by Dr. Hutchison to come nearer if he desired to witness the test.

"I'm quite close enough," said the invited member, while the others in the room held their breath in suspense.

When Dr. Hutchison let go it was difficult for the silencer-trained ear of Mr. Maxim to detect the report. He was asked afterward what he thought of the gun, and admitted that it was a remarkable demonstration. Mr. Maxim received from Dr. Hutchison an explanation that the report was eliminated by the confinement of the expanding gases to the chamber from which the projectile had been ejected. Some kind of ingenious escapement permitted of the discharge of the gases, which made a noise like a prolonged hiss.

Mr. Maxim admitted, however, that he did not forsee any great possibilities for the gun as a weapon of war. He did predict that it would find innumerable usages in the industrial arts.

The weapon was the invention of John Temple, a British subject, who discovered the principle in 1915, and really developed it after coming to the United States later on. He first came to this country in 1888, and returned to his native country at the beginning of the war, when he had an opportunity to study practically every type of gun used by the allies.

For years he had been at work developing pneumatic tools manufactured eventually by the Ingersoll-Rand company, among them being the Temple-Ingersoll electric rock drills and tools of various descriptions. The perfection of his remarkable gun was brought to the attention of William L. Saunders, chairman of the board of that corporation, who, during the war, was head of the naval consulting board, to which, for a time, were submitted all the inventions offered for possible use against the Germans.

Mr. Saunders was impressed with the idea worked out by Mr. Temple and referred him to Dr. Hutchison, who also was connected with the navy consulting board. Dr. Hutchison interested himself in the invention with the belief that its possibilities as a tool of construction ultimately would prove to be of more importance than its powers of destruction.

The weapon was demonstrated in the offices of Dr. Hutchison at a gathering of inventors and newspaper men, brought together by the announcement of the formation of Miller, Reese, Hutchison, Inc., recently organized under New Hampshire charter. This is an organization of inventors, engineers, scientists and others who propose to investigate and develop worth while inventions through co-operative efforts.

Among Dr. Hutchison's associates are Sir Edgar Rees Hones, M. P. of London, former chief of the priorities division of the British ministry of munitions, who is a European director; Hudson Maxim; Rear Admiral Samuel M. McIlowan, U. S. N., retired; William M. Williams, former United States commissioner of internal revenue; Alfred D. Flinn, deputy chief engineer in the construction of the Catskill water supply; F. D. Carney, consulting engineer and metallurgist; George E. Dean, patent expert; Richard B. Scandrett, Jr., attorney, and Embury McLean, treasurer of the engineer company.

Dr. Hutchison also announced that he had about completed an invention which would enable 50 to 60 per cent of the deaf mutes in institutions in this country to hear and ultimately to learn to speak. A man whose wealth was estimated by Dr. Hutchison at $150,000,000 is interested in his proposal to found an institute for this purpose.

BETWEEN 7 AND 8 BUSHELS PLUMS FROM ONE TREE

VERNON, TEXAS, July 11—One plum tree belonging to W. M. Schuette, living 11 miles southwest of town, has produced between seven and eight bushels of fruit this summer. The tree is 14 years old and is the sole survivor of others killed by a freeze. One branch, 12 inches long, Mr. Schuette says, contained 63 plums.

PANTHERS 11, MARINES 8

FORT WORTH, July 10.—The Panthers came from behind today and evened up the series with the Marines by winning, 11 to 8. An eighth inning rally netted the home club three runs and the game. A circuit smash by Galloway in the second round with the bags full gave the Marines what looked like a substantial lead, but the Panthers kept on fighting and by taking advantage of Dallas misplays, gradually overcame the difference. Five hurlers were used in the fray and the Panthers piled up a total of 17 hits. The score:

CUSTOMS RED TAPE HOLDS UP AMERICAN RACING CARS

PARIS, July 11.—The Deusenberg cars entered in the Grand Prix of the Automobile club of France, to be held at Lemans, July 25, having been detained at Havre through customs red tape until too late to participate in the early trials around the course within the time limit fixed, the Automobile club of France has decided upon a new series of trials in order to permit the American car to enter. The dates for these trials have not yet been fixed.

Ralph de Palma, Jules Goux, Chasagne and Wagner, who are to ride in the race, all have been around the course many times, De Palma averaging 120 kilometers per hour.

Western league averages show that Barney Burch has won eight and lost five games for his Omaha club. Leo Mangum, the hurler let out by Salm to St. Jos, has won 10 and lost five.

MANY YOUNG GOLFERS ARE IN THE WESTERN TOURNEY

CHICAGO, July 11.—Youthful golfers predominated in the first qualifying round today of the twenty-second championship of the western golf association at the Westmoreland Country club. Comparatively few veterans aside from Chick Evans, defending his title for the fifth time, entered the contest of driver and iron over the sixty-five hundred yard links, thickly beset with nearly 200 bunkers of varying degrees of nastiness for the unwary player.

Hot, dry weather made the course exceedingly fast.

With only one round of 18 holes to play today, the field was able to complete the first circuit before dark. Final rounds will be played Saturday.

SPORT BRIEFS

DETROIT, July 11.—John Collins, outfielder for the Boston Americans, will be out of the game several days as a result of being hit on the head by a pitched ball yesterday, his physician announced today.

DETROIT, July 11.—Pitcher Perritt, one time National league star, who was signed up by the Detroit club recently, has been given an unconditional release.

CLEVELAND, July 11.—A combination pitcher-shortstop—rare in the major leagues—was uncovered by the Philadelphia Americans yesterday when Barrett twirled two innings in the first game against the Cleveland world's champions and in the second game took his place between second and third. Barrett went on the mound when the game was lost, but held the Indians to one hit, struck out one, and passed three.

CLEVELAND, July 11.—A double shut-out — the first in the major leagues this year—was scored by Cleveland over Philadelphia.

GOTCH TO MEET ACKERMAN IN VERNON IN RETURN BOUT

VERNON, TEXAS, July 11.—Young Gotch and Al Ackerman, middleweight wrestlers who met here July 4, will grapple again in a local arena Friday, July 22. Gotch has already returned to Vernon and Ackerman is expected shortly. In the setto July 4, Gotch won two falls after Ackerman had taken the first. An injured arm was responsible in large part for the Greek's victory.

The bout, will be held under the sponsorship of the Vernon Athletic club. Gotch is now working out in the club quarters.

HUTCHISON AND KERRIGAN MEET DUNCAN AND MITCHELL

NEW YORK, July 11.—Jock Hutchison of the Glennview club, Chicago, who returned from Great Britain yesterday after winning the British open golf championship, and Tom Kerrigan of St. Wanoy were opposed to George Duncan, former British open champion, and Abe Mitchell, another British professional, in the first two rounds today of a 72-hole match.

YEGGS GET $3,000 FROM SAFE AT COMISKEY PARK

CHICAGO, July 11.—Robbers blew the safe at Comiskey park here last night. The loot of about $3,000 represented the receipts of various concessions at the game yesterday, gate receipts of about $50,000 having been sent to a bank.

Charles Comiskey denied reports that the safe contained papers pertaining to former White Sox players, now on trial in connection with the alleged throwing of the 1919 world series.

SPORT SHOTS

By Paul W. Larkin

Wichita Falls must have its baseball even if the Spudders do not play. As soon as it was learned here yesterday that the local team had been rained out again in Shreveport, arrangements were made to show the Panther-Marine's contest in the airdome.

Considering the short notice, a fairly large crowd turned out and, needless to say, the Panther rooters were few and far between. The bugs were even calling the Marines "our boys." When they were at bat such remarks as "Watch us go from here," and "now we'll get 'em," were heard on all sides. They were referred to as "us" and the Panthers as "them." But what a difference there'll be the next four days.

The Salmites, with the exception of Bescher and Rothfuss, should be in great shape to start off the new half. A two day rest should have put them on edge. The Marines won the majority of game from the Spudders during the first half, but another day has dawned.

What the Panther sport writers didn't say about Walter Salm and the split season wasn't worth saying. They said no more than they were expected to, however, as they probably feel that the Panthers received the short end of the deal. They claim that there'll be nothing to it but the Panthers in the second half. If they are so sure that the Atsmen are going to walk away with the rag, what are they hollering about?

The truth of the matter is they have a sneaking idea that there are a couple of clubs around the circuit which will make it hot for their Cats and which have more than an even chance to play the southern winners. Prominent among these clubs is the Wichita Falls aggregation.

Pop Boone can rest assured that the magnates are not trying to "bull through on the supposition that Fort Worth will win the second half" because no provision has been made to date for a play-off. Provisions will be made in due time and unless we miss our guess there's going to be a play-off.

You can't tell us that there isn't more interest in the Texas league already. Both players and fans have been worked up to fighting pitch and the season is only a couple of days old. Would suggest that a ruling be adopted whereby all guns and razors be checked at the gate before each game.

Though Tris Speaker had forged his way to the top of the American league batters last Wednesday, his reign was short-lived. The Indian pilot was quickly passed again by Harry Heilman who went on a swat spree the latter part of the week. The Detroit slugger is again blazing the trail.

The reformers had and are still having a hard time trying to convert Governor Edwards of New Jersey to their way of thinking. He told them where to head in when they tried to stop the Dempsey-Carpentier tilt and he went on record the other day as stating that boxing will be continued in New Jersey as long as it is in accordance with the law. The stand taken by him has made a great hit with the sporting public.

TENTATIVELY AWARD ELECTRA AND IOWA PARK ROAD CONTRACT

FORT WORTH CONCERN TO GET ONE AND LOCAL COMPANY THE OTHER.

NO ACTION ON METHODIST HOSPITAL PROPOSITION

Commissioners Discuss Increasing Prisoners' Food Allowance But Make No Decision.

Tentative arrangements for the paving of the stretch of country road through Iowa Park and Electra were made by the commissioners court Monday. The plans are to let the contracts separately so that work will be in progress at both points at the same time.

It was agreed, subject to the court's approval of bonds to be posted by the contractors, that the Iowa Park stretch be let to the Zimmerman Construction company of this city and the Electra stretch to the McCullum Construction company of Fort Worth.

Auditor W. W. Murphy's bond of $5,000 was accepted and ordered filed by the court.

The bill on gasoline and oil submitted by Sheriff Fred Smith was turned down when it was pointed out that a supreme court decision did not permit the court to allow the sheriff's bill on gasoline and oil, but that this cost was figured in on the mileage allowed by the law.

The question of raising the prisoners' feed allowance of 50 cents per day was discussed as was the question of raising the jail guard's salary from $3 to $4.50 per day. No definite action was taken on either proposition.

Dr. J. C. A. Guest appeared before the court with reference to the question of purchasing the equipment at the Call Field Methodist hospital for use in the General hospital. He also stated that, if possible, this institution should be kept running during the time that the General hospital was being erected. No action was taken on this question.

The matter of purchasing the right-of-way through the Mattie Parker tract of land between Iowa Park and Electra and thereby effecting a saving a saving of $6,000 was discussed by the court. It is believed that satisfactory settlement can be made without condemnation proceedings. It will permit a material shortening of the paved highway.

GRAHAM POLICEMAN CHARGED WITH AIDING CHOCTAW BEER SALE

N. T. Sanford, a police officer of Graham was arrested by United States Deputy Marshal Jim Allen Monday morning and brought before the United States commissioner, who set his bond at $750.

He is charged with aiding, abetting and assisting another party in the selling of choctaw beer contrary to the national prohibition act. The arrest followed the investigation that has been conducted by District Attorney Boyd Wilson.

MAN WANTED HERE IS HELD AT SALINA, KANSAS, WILL BE BROUGHT BACK

A telegram from the chief of police of Salina, Kansas, was received by local officials Monday morning stating that a man wanted here in connection with the robbery of the Wooten Grocery company several weeks ago had been arrested and was held for further orders.

City Detective Hunter left for Salina Monday afternoon to bring the prisoner back to this city.

The man was formerly employed as a truck driver by the grocery company and disappeared when an investigation was started into the loss of 25,000 cigarettes, a large quantity of sugar and various other food products. Information obtained by the local police led to the belief that he had gone to Salina and word was accordingly sent there to hold him.

Two other men implicated in the robbery were arrested early last week and paid small fines when found guilty. They were charged with having purchased quantities of the stolen goods.

SNAPPY FIGHT IS STAGED AT 9TH AND INDIANA WITH NO POLICE TO INTERFERE

Wichita Falls fight fans who happened to be in the vicinity of Ninth and Indiana shortly after 10:00 o'clock Monday noon were treated to one of the best exhibition bouts staged in these parts for many moons. Two men, both weighing in the neighborhood of 200 pounds, assaulted each other in a manner calculated to inspire terror in the heart of even Jack Dempsey himself, and the best part of it was that not a single cop appeared to interrupt the proceedings.

Although the fracas took place just one block from the police station, the battlers walloped each other for fully a quarter of an hour and finally quit when the larger of the two floored his opponent for the count of 10 with a terrific right swing to the jaw.

A crowd estimated at 100 persons gathered in short order and were interested spectators while the fisticuff was in progress.

When last seen the pair were walking with uncertain steps in the general direction of Tenth street, and as they disappeared around the corner two policemen appeared and wanted to know what the excitement was all about.

POSTPONE HEARING IN CONNECTION WITH DEATH OF ENGINEER

EL PASO, TEXAS, July 11.—The preliminary hearing of Charles R. Robinson, fireman for the Galveston, Harrisburg & San Antonio railway, who is being held in connection with the death of Engineer W. F. Bohlman last Friday, will be postponed until the authorities can determine just where Bohlman was killed, officials of the railroad in El Paso announced today.

Bohlman's body, with a bullet hole in the head, was found along the track after the boiler of his freight engine had exploded near Alpine. Officers of Presidio county maintain, according to the railroad officials, that the murder occured in that county, and that the hearing should be held at Marfa, the county seat. Brewster county authorities, it is said, insist the hearing should be held at Alpine.

Robinson is being held, railroad officials said, in an effort to fix responsibility for Bohlman's death in spite of the fact that employes of the railroad, friends of the men and the engineer's widow, all declare the engineer and the firemen were the best of friends.

CONCLUDE ENGINEER WAS KILLED IN BREWSTER COUNTY

EL PASO, TEXAS, July 11.—Engineer W. F. Bohlman was killed and Fireman Charles Robinson was injured in Brewster county, and the explosion of the freight train engine shortly afterward, on the Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio railway last Friday, was in Presidio county, Texas, just across the Brewster county line, it has been definitely decided by officials of these two counties, according to authentic reports received here today by C. R. Morrill, superintendent of the road, at El Paso.

Robinson will be given a hearing this afternoon at Marfa, Brewster county, officials said, in an effort to fix responsibility for the death of the engineer whose body was found after the explosion with a bullet wound in the head.

FUNERAL SERVICES TO BE HELD LATE MONDAY FOR LATE JAMES T. OSTEEN

Funeral services for James T. Osteen, pioneer resident of this city who died in Breckenridge Saturday afternoon, will be held at the family residence, 1316 Fifth street, at 3:00 o'clock Monday. The body was brought to this city from Bredenridge Sunday.

Mr. Osteen had been a resident of Wichita Falls for the past 14 years and had made many friends and acquaintances during that time. He had been engaged in the cafe business in this and other north Texas points during this stay in Texas, his latest venture being at Breckenridge where he opened a restaurant, when oil developments started in that city. Mr. Osteen's family remained in Wichita Falls.

Death came after a protracted period of ill health, brought about by stomach trouble.

Burial will be in Riverside cemetery.

FORCE OFFICIALS IN VAULT AND ROB OKLAHOMA BANK

TERLTON, OKLA., July 11.—Two masked men forced officials of the First bank of Terleton into a vault at 11 o'clock this morning at the points of pistols and walked out of the bank with $800 in cash taken from the drawers in the cashier's cage. The robbery was not discovered for some time, the imprisoned officers being unable to give the alarm. Pawnee county officers are leading a posse searching for the robbers.

Col. George Thompson of Electra is spending the day in the city, looking after business affairs. The colonel is drilling a well in Red River county, on a block of 65,000 acres, and is down about 800 feet.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kell, Miss Mary Jo Kell and Miss Mary Francis Collier left Monday afternoon for New Mexico for a visit to the ranch.

Mrs. Julian A. Lobo and children, Orville and Edna, arrived home Sunday after spending several weeks in Austin and Killeen.

The Housewife's Economy Calendar

TRAYS IN YOUR HOUSE.

An authority on household matters has said that usefulness of a tray in your house will depend etirely on the intelligence on the one who uses it. Often the housewife who does her own work intelligently can save as much as half an hour a day by the thoughtful use of trays, in clearing off the table, setting it, getting things from pantry and ice box and even in going through that daily task of putting rooms to rights. There are always things upstairs that belong downstairs. There are glasses and dishes, books and vases. If a tray is placed conveniently on a table in the hall when you are doing your upstairs work all these things may be placed on it and a single trip downstairs does the work.

But you must be one of those who would rather use your brain than your legs and arms. Frankly, a great many women find it fatiguing to do this. Housewives do not always realize this in training new maids. To the intelligent housewife it is infinitely easier to set the table by assembling everything needed for it in kitchen and pantry and taking it in at once than to go in with various objects as they occur to her. But a good many maids would much rather spend more time at the task and do it the old way.

Sometimes, of course, we get out of the habit of using our heads in housework. We go about with stupid thoughtless steps, just because we have seen other people do housework that way. And then we complain because it is such brainless work. If we put more brains into it we could do it much more quickly and with less fatigue.

The tray is certainly a time-saver in clearing away a table after the meal is over. But good form prohibits the use of a tray in waiting on table. In restaurants, to be sure, waiters bring their orders to the dining-room on trays, but these trays are deposited on stands or serving tables. In the home, however, the tray should never come further than the pantry when a meal is to be served in good form.

HARDING ASSISTS BOYS TO LAUNCH BOAT

Acting as sponsor at Raritan, N. J., of a rowboat made by a nine-year-old boy, President Harding delivered a Fourth of uly oration of a single sentence in tribute to the aspirations of American boyhood. The diminutive craft, which inspired the toast, was the Raritan, nine feet over all, conceived and built by Joseph Frelinghuysen, Jr., son of the senior senator from New Jersey, at whose home Mr. and Mrs. Harding were guests. The bank of an artificial lake was the scene of the launching and will be the home port of the Raritan as she sails a tramp course in search of misdirected golf balls. Specially constructed ways, whose upper end rested on a soap box, guided her down the bank. The president broke a bariboozled bottle of mineral water across her bow and said: "As a tribute to American boyhood, who build castles in the air, who build boats and whose achievements in the future will build this country, I christen this boat, the handiwork of Joe Frelinghuysen, the 'Pretzan.'" The photo shows the president christening the boat, with little Joe at the helm.

COTTON MARKET.

NEW YORK, July 11.—The feature in the cotton trade this morning was the strength of the Liverpool market and the increasing spot business reported there. Sales of spot cotton in the English market for the day were 12,000 bales, the largest total for months and private cables reported a decided improvement in Lancashire. The local market opened firm at an advance of 12 to 17 points in response to this showing which was only partially modified by the weakness of foreign exchange and active months sold about 17 to 20 points above last early trading. There was considerable night's closing figures during the early trading. There was considerable realizing and southern selling above the 12-cent level for October but the early offerings were readily absorbed with the market active and firm toward the middle of the morning.

The advance was promoted by reports of unfavorable rains or showers in the southwest and by mid-morning active months were 20 to 25 points above last week's closing quotations with October selling at 13.18c compared with 12.03c, the price ruling just before the publication of the bureau on July 1 and 11.22c, the low record of last month. Buying then became less active and there was scattered realizing which caused reactions of several points toward mid-day.

Trading was quiter during the middle of the afternoon but prices held fairly steady around 13.11 for October, or about 15 points net higher.

Cotton closed steady.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, July 11.—Too much rain in the western portion of the belt and a much better Liverpool market than due, together with spot sales of 12,000 bales there, put the price of cotton higher on the opening today and in the first hour of trading values gained 20 to 27 points. July rose to 12.90 and October to 12.75.

Realizing came from the long side in large volume and caused a reaction from the highest prices, the more active months showing gains of but five to seven points toward 11:00 o'clock. October fell back to 12.55. The reaction failed to gain any great momentum because of the forecast of more showery weather over a considerable portion of the western belt.

In the late trading the market steadied again, apparently in anticipation of more bullish news from the English market tomorrow, and toward the close the trading months were 17 to 25 points higher than the final prices of last week.

The cotton market closed steady at net advances of 15 to 30 points.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

CHICAGO, July 11.—Hot weather northwest sent the wheat market upward today. Some attention was also given to car shortage complaints from the southwest. Opening quotations, which ranged from ½c lower to 1½c higher, with September $1.13@1.13¼ and December $1.20¾@1.21, were followed by decided gains and then something of a reaction.

Later in the market underwent a setback owing more or less to gossip that the movement of new wheat was increasing. In addition, the Chicago elevator strike operated as a drag. The close was steady at the same as Saturday's finish to ½c higher, with September $1.13@1.13¼ and December $1.21.

Absence of rain had a bullish influence on corn. After opening ½c off to 1c higher, including September at 59¼@60c, the market scored a material advance all around.

Corn was reported as commencing to fire in parts of Illinois and Indiana. The close was firm, 1@2c net higher, with September 59¾@60c and 59¼@⅝.

Oats started 1@2c higher, September 35¾@35¾c, and then continued to display strength.

Higher hogs lifted provisions.

Sheep 7,000; killing classes slow; generally steady. Top native lambs $10.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Little alteration from recent reactionary tendencies was manifested by the stock market at the hesitant opening of today's trading. Rails, oils, equipments and specialties of the tobacco and chemical types were lower by fractions to one point. Bethlehem steel common and preferred, Canadian Pacific and American sugar were among the firmer issues. Foreign exchange continued to weaken notwithstanding the favorable inferences drawn from international developments over the week-end. The British rate opened at $3.63¾, a decline of 2½c from Saturday.

Aside from rubber shares, in which losses were extended, the market responded sharply to short covering at mid-day. Mexican Petroleum rose 5 points, Atlantic Gulf and American Sugar 2 points, and steels, motors and textiles showed gains of 1 to 2 points.

The closing was heavy. Sales approximated 400,000 shares.

THIRD STRONGEST FARM BUREAU ORGANIZATION

DALLAS, July 11.—Texas contends with Ohio for the distinction of having the third strongest state farm bureau organization in the United States, according to reports issued by the American Farm Bureau federation. In less than a year, 127 county farm bureaus have been set up by the Texas Farm Bureau federation, of which J. T. Orr is president and C. O. Moser of Dallas is secretary.

Texas has nearly half a million farmers, J. F. Hagwell, director of the membership campaign for the state, stated that he intends to complete the organization of Texas by November.

The farm bureau in this state is composed entirely of farmers and is working in the interest of farmers, Mr. Moser said. Its main ambition is to provide marketing organizations to handle the farmers' products more economically. The bureau now is engaged in setting up what is known as the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Growers' Co-Operative Marketing association with the avowed purpose of selling a million bales of cotton for members next fall.

Oklahoma has already signed up 412,000 bales of cotton. Mississippi and Arizona are planning to work with Texas with headquarters in Dallas in the sale of the cotton crop of these four states. Representatives of nine of the cotton states have practically agreed to enter the organization. The completion of this project and the successful marketing of its holdings would make Texas the greatest spot cotton market in the world, bureau officials said.

The farm bureau is also sponsoring co-operative marketing associations for hay, dairy products, nuts, watermelons and other truck farm-ra products.

Many counties in the state have a strong local organization which deals with local problems as they arise. For example, Brown county markets a great deal of poultry products.

Most of the watermelon selling agencies have been local in nature, although it is planned to have a state exchange and the Texas farm bureau has made arrangements for the disposal of the watermelons of each of its members as belong to the watermelon pools.

Many of the county farm bureaus publish official papers by which they keep their members informed. Some of them use the local weekly papers, where a special farm bureau page has been provided. The state organization has a publication known as the Farm Bureau News which goes to each member in Texas.

LEGAL NOTICE.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION.

The State of Texas to the Sheriff or Any Constable of Wichita County, Greeting: You are hereby commanded to summon William Brewer by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 78th district court of Wichita county, to be holden at the court house thereof in Wichita Falls, on the 1st Monday in September, A. D. 1921, the same being the 5th day of September, A. D. 1921, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 5th day of July, A. D. 1921, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court No. 11140-B, wherein Mrs. A. H. Brewer is plaintiff and William Brewer is defendant, and said petition alleging that on or about the 30th day of December, A. D. 1907, the plaintiff, then a widow by the name of A. H. Welch, was lawfully married to defendant; that they continued to live together until on or about Aug. 13, 1909, at which time the plaintiff and defendant permanently separated, and that since said date the plaintiff and defendant have not lived together as husband and wife. Wherefore, plaintiff prays the court that defendant be cited to appear and answer herein, and for judgment dissolving the said marriage relations, that the former name of Mrs. A. H. Welch be restored to her, for costs of suit and for such other and further relief, in law and equity, special and general, to which she may be justly entitled, etc. Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same. Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 11th day of July, A. D. 1921. A. F. Kerr, Clerk. District Court, Wichita County, Texas; by Eunice Jackson, Deputy.

NOTICE.

American Refining Company, Wichita Falls, Texas. The business of producing, refining and marketing crude oil and its products heretofore conducted by American Refining Co., a partnership, Wichita Falls, Texas, has been incorporated, effective July 1, 1921, and all of the assets of the partnership have been transferred to the corporation, American Refining Co., (a Delaware corporation), Wichita Falls, Texas.

From and after July 1, 1921, the partnership will not engage in active business; but all such business will be done by the corporation. All those concerned are hereby notified that the name "American Refining Company," when used from and after July 1, 1921, will refer to the said corporation, and not to the partnership unless it is specifically stated to the contrary. The corporation, American Refining Company, commences business with assets appraised by J. G. White Engineering Company at over $3,500,000 and with liabilities of less than $400,000. Those interested in the business as partners continue with the same proportional interest in the corporation. There has been no change in the management. Further details will be furnished to any party at interest on request. American Refining Co., a partnership, by M. J. Bashara, P. P. Langford, W. W. Silk, Trustees. American Refining Co., a corporation, by M. J. Bashara, President; H. A. Allen, Secretary. July 1, 1921.

July 1, 4, 8, 11, 15, 18, 22, 25, 29

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE.

Whereas, on the 21st day of August, 1920, W. Myers, R. Branon, Jr., Clay F. Wilson and Cleis L. Wilson made, executed and delivered to Carter McGregor, as trustee, a deed of trust covering the following described property located in the county of Wichita, state of Texas: An oil and gas lease and all of the leasehold interest and estate conveyed thereby upon the following described property: 50x160 feet out of the southeast corner of outer block 20 of the town of Burkburnett, Wichita county, Texas, being commonly known as the Musick lease; also the oil and gas lease and all leasehold interest and estate conveyed thereby upon 50x160 feet out of outer block 20 of the town of Burkburnett, Wichita county, Texas, and being known as the O-Boy lease, and being a strip 50x160 feet out of the southeast portion of said block, lying immediately west of said Musick lease above described, together with all of the equipment, tools, machinery, tanks, lines and appurtenances thereon situated. Said deed of trust having been made for the purpose of securing C. E. McCutchen in the payment of a certain promissory note, executed by the grantors in said deed of trust, for the sum of Ten Thousand Dollars, dated Aug. 21, 1920, due ninety days after date, providing for the usual 10 per cent attorney's fee; and, Whereas, said indebtedness and the extensions thereof is long past due and unpaid and no part of the principal has been paid thereon, and the interest is past due thereon, at the rate of 10 per cent per annum since the 20th day of June, 1921; and, Whereas, the said C. E. McCutchen, who is still the owner and holder of said indebtedness, has called on the said Carter McGregor, as trustee, aforesaid, to sell said property in compliance with said deed of trust, which is duly recorded in Vol. 30, p. 399, of the deed of trust records of Wichita county, Texas, and reference is here made to the record of same for the full description of said deed of trust and all of its provisions; Now, therefore, in view of the premises, I, the said Carter McGregor, as trustee, do hereby give notice that under and by virtue of the terms of said deed of trust, I will sell the above described property at public auction for cash at the door of the county court house of Wichita county, Texas, in the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, on the first Tuesday in August, 1921 being the 2nd day of August, 1921, between the hours of 10 a. m. o'clock and 4 p. m. o'clock, and will make due conveyance to such highest bidder for cash, in compliance with the provisions of said deed of trust. Witness my hand this the 11th day of July, A. D. 1921.

Carter McGregor.

THE MIDWAY OIL & GAS CO. offers for sale its entire properties for the best offer received up to July 20, 1921. Its leases consist of the Blair and Bugbee tracts, J. Dickinson league, about 7 miles southeast of Rising Star, 50% acres, less 20 acres around improvements on Bugbee tract. The lease is equipped with bunk house, cook house piped for gas, water well, etc. The personal property consists of the following: One 2½-ton Wichita truck, one Ford roadster with delivery body, both in good running order, two 250-barrel bolted tanks, engine, boiler and string of tools, fishing tools, control head, swab, setting shoes, etc.; 450 feet 15½-inch, 1,200 feet 12½-inch, 2,000 feet 10-inch, 2,400 feet 8¼-inch and 3,500 feet 6¼-inch casing, several hundred feet light line pipe, 2-inch, miscellaneous small tools and over 2,000 barrels oil in storage. Well on Blair tract has blown over derrick repeatedly, and those claiming to be qualified express the opinion it can be made a good producer, and that a well on the Bugbee tract would be much better. The present well, besides the oil production, is making enough gas to run the boiler and for use on the premises. Well is equipped with pump, sucker rods, heavy tubing, etc. If satisfactory security is offered, will sell for one-third cash, balance in 60 and 90 days. WICHITAN DROWNS SUNDAY MORNING IN LAKE NEAR QUANAH

L. H. LITTLE MEETS DEATH WHILE TRYING TO SWIM ACROSS TANK.

COMPANIONS MAKE VAIN EFFORT TO RESCUE HIM

Body Is Recovered and Sent Sunday Night to Waco, Former Home, For Burial.

Layton H. Little, proprietor of the Little Sporting Goods company of this city, was drowned at 10 o'clock Sunday morning when he attempted to swim the small lake on the Waggoner ranch, 10 miles west of Quanah. He was fully dressed at the time, and in addition was carrying a large quantity of fishing equipment.

Mr. Little left Wichita Falls Saturday afternoon in company with H. H. McFall, driving through to Quanah, where he was joined by E. W. Hampton, local representative of the McFall Brothers Motor company, and a traveling man named McKinney. The quartet then proceeded to the Waggoner ranch, it is said, where the night was spent in camp.

An extended fishing trip was planned for Sunday and all went well until Mr. Little started his fatal swim across the lake. He had reached a point some fifty yards from shore, according to reports, when his strength gave out and he called for help. McFall, Hampton and McKinney, all of whom were said to have been dressed, immediately started to his aid, but he sank before they could reach him. The body was recovered thirty minutes later, and a pulmotor, rushed to the scene from Quanah, used in a futile effort to resuscitate him.

Mr. Little had been in Wichita Falls for about four years, coming here from his old home in Waco. He became identified with the Winfrey Gun store and later opened the establishment which now bears his name. During his business career in the city he had gained an exceptionally wide circle of friends, to whom the news of his death came as a distinct shock. He had been an active member of the Kiwanis and Elks clubs and was also prominent in activities of the Gun club, of which he was secretary. Many of his friends spoke of him as the city's most ardent sportsman. He was 24 years of age.

Surviving relatives include his mother, Mrs. Hubbard Little of Waco, and two sisters of this city, Mrs. Julian McFall and Mrs. K. E. Bauch Jr., 1617 Elizabeth street, with whom he had been living. An aunt, Mrs. T. W. Ziegler, also lives in the city.

The body was brought to the Merkle and Lunn undertaking establishment after being recovered from the lake and was later sent to Waco where funeral services are to be held. A large number of relatives and friends left this city Sunday to attend the services.

GRAND JURY WILL NOT REPORT UNTIL TUESDAY MORNING

The grand jury of the 30th district court will not report until Tuesday morning, it was announced Monday. The plans were to have the secret body to make its final report Monday morning, but several matters bearing investigation arose since the body recessed Friday.

Several capital cases were to be investigated, it was learned, besides an investigation into the workings and affairs of the "kangaroo court" of the county jail.

JUDGE MILAM OF SEYMOUR EXCHANGES WITH JUDGE MARTIN FOR THIS WEEK

Judge J. H. Milam of Seymour will occupy the bench of the 89th district court during the week. Judge P. A. Martin was ordered to Seymour by Governor Neff to sit in a case in which Judge Milam was disqualified. Judge Milam and Judge Martin have exchanged benches several times during the past year.

HEINIE CAUGHT IN ACT OF SCRATCHING BRICKS OUT OF WALL

Heinie Jackson, otherwise known as Walter Henderson, threatened a week ago to keep on scratching his way out of the county jail. Sunday morning he was caught in the act of attempting to scratch his way through the brick wall and was well on his way when Sheriff Fred Smith and the night watchman walked in on him.

Jackson, who has been causing a lot of trouble and who has been dealing out misery to the jailer and the sheriff, tore down one of the bunks in the bear cage and using one of the sides as a bar pried his way out of the cage by battering and prying apart the small door through which food and water is handed. It is stated that he was assisted by two other prisoners.

Two cages in the county jail are now out of order and the other compartments are crowded.

COUNCIL TO SETTLE PAVING QUESTIONS

Controversy Over North End Indiana to Come Up at Monday Night's Session.

Final action on paving matters and probably some consideration of the gas controversy, are scheduled for Monday night's session of the city council.

Although the council has not passed finally on the Fifteenth street contract, it is considered certain that no further effort to pave that thoroughfare will be made, in view of the large number of property owners who oppose it at this time.

The controversy on the north Indiana paving is expected to occupy the council for some time; this came up at the last meeting, but was not settled then. When the county commissioners selected Indiana as the route for the county's paved road, Ohio avenue property owners got busy and took steps to pave Ohio 40 feet wide. As the county's paving on Indiana is to be only 18 feet wide, the Indiana property owners, to offset the advantage that Ohio would have, offered to pave an additional 22 feet, giving a 40-foot thoroughfare, if the city would do the grading and pay for the Sixth street intersection.

This arrangement is somewhat different from that under which most streets are paved, and the Indiana property owners now want the city to put that street on the same basis as other paving—that is, pay one fourth of the cost. Members of the council, some of them, think the property owners ought to stand by their original agreement, pointing out that with the county paving 18 feet, Indiana is getting pavement cheaper than on any other street.

The Indiana property owners have retained counsel and are contending for paving on the same basis as on Ohio, declaring they did not know when they made the offer to pave, that Ohio was getting a somewhat better contract. And there the matter stands, with the contract already let and the contractor rarin' to go.

DEEP TEST NEAR OLNEY IS ABANDONED AT 5,000 FEET

(Olney Enterprise)

After several attempted shots of nitro in the 4,300 foot sand, the Arkansas Oil and Gas company's Jeffery No. 1 seven miles southwest of Olney was abandoned as a dry hole Saturday night of last week.

Begun over two years ago, this well has held the attention of local people and of the oil fraternity ever since, and it is a great disappointment to Olney people that it is finally proven a duster.

The majority of the stock in the company was owned by a small bunch of business men in a small town in Arkansas, and in justice to them, we wish to say that they have certainly given the thing a fair and honest test, and that every part of their business has been conducted in an open and above-board manner.

The well was drilled to a depth of 5,000 feet, and the only oil showing encountered was in a lime formation at around 4,300. The well was plugged back to this lime, and shot with 80 quarts of nitro. Considerable oil showed up, probably eight or 10 barrels per day, but they figured that this would not pay operating costs at such a great depth, so the test is abandoned.

These people have 5,500 acres under lease, have a complete standard rig and lots of casing, and we are informed that they have offered to let the Union Oil company have a half interest in their lease, furnish them the rig and casing and that other parties have offered some leases in order to get another well drilled in this immediate territory. We are also informed that the Union Oil company's representation was here last week and considered this offer very favorable, and said his company would probably accept this offer.

Numerous geologists have reported very favorably on this territory, and the log of the Jeffrey well is very encouraging to future development.

The Enterprise takes its hat off to the Arkansas bunch. They are clean, straightforward business men who took a long chance and lost, but they are not hollering their heads off about it—instead they are trying to get further development for our section of the country, still believing that a good oil pool will be discovered here.

Not BECAUSE IT'S CHEAP, But BECAUSE IT'S GOOD

The toilet soap that we are offering, two half-pound cakes for a quarter is a real bargain. We wouldn't recommend it just because it's cheap, but because in addition to being unusually cheap, it's as excellent and useful a soap as you ordinarily get for several times the money.

The One Standard Mosquito Remedy —Sweet Dreams

Sweet Dreams Became the One Standard Mosquito Remedy the Morning the First Bottle Was Made.

Sweet Dreams lives up to a reputation that demands utmost efficiency. At the time ingredients were highest, and mosquitoes seemed to be hungriest, Sweet Dreams was made double strength. The double strength quality was found far more efficient—So it's double strength today.

There's one thing to remember. When a dealer offers "something just as good," the man next door has Sweet Dreams in large, original, sprinkle-top bottles.

When mosquitoes are troublesome, try the standard—Sweet Dreams.
