Incumbents earn wins in primaries

Stribling edges Castillo; Brown, Moore win easily

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Incumbent Sheriff Joe Brown and Pct. 1 Commissioner John Stribling were virtually assured another four years in office with victories in Tuesday's Democratic primary.

Incumber Pct. 3 Commissioner Troy Don Moore squashed two opponents in the Democratic primary, but faces GOP challenger Mike Miller in November.

County voters followed state trends in strongly support Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton for the Democratic presidential nomination. Local voters also gave the nod to President Bush in the Republican primary, but upstart Pat Buchanan got 30 percent of the GOP votes here Tuesday.

Brown won 9 of 10 boxes to take a 1,502-960 win over challenger Mike Morrison. Brown attributed his 61 percent-39 percent margin to his volunteer campaign workers.

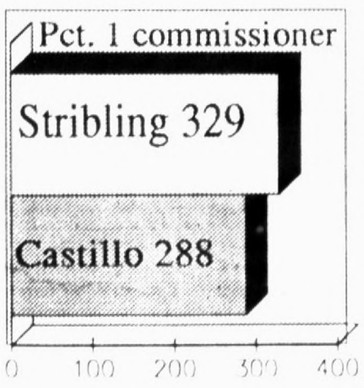

"I appreciate everyone who has campaigned for me and who believe in me," Brown said.

The campaign this year, like Ted Langgood's challenge in 1988, featured attacks by Morrison on Brown's operations. Brown kept to the high road throughout the campaign.

"It hurts when people talk about you, and it hurts when it's not totally true facts that are brought out against you," Brown said. "We've been working on drug cases, and his ads have mentioned supposedly unsolved burglaries but don't mention the ones that have been solved. But what can you do? I'm not going to come out like that against anyone.

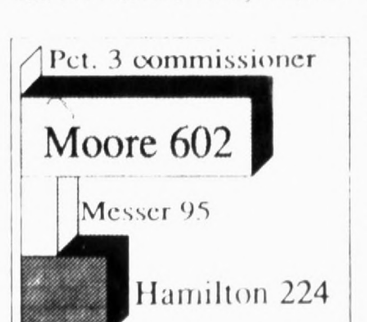

"If people have questions about my office or want to see me or my people, that's fine. Our department has always been open. I'm not the type that seeks a lot of glory. I just want to do my job, and I'm not going to waste a lot of time answering all this stuff that is a lot of bull."

Stribling won a second term on the commission by staving off challenger Tony Castillo, 329-288. Castillo won the Box 1 (Aikman School) vote, 209-195, but Stribling held a 96-70 lead int he early votes and won decisively in his home Dawn voting box, 38-9.

"I didn't think it would be that close, but I'm grateful to everyone who voted for me," said Stribling.

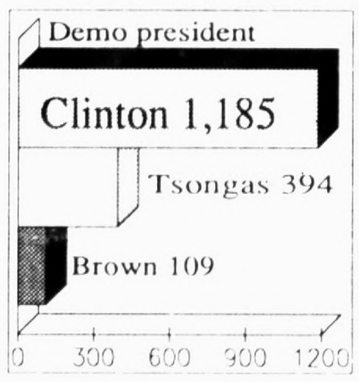

Moore won handily against challengers Paul Hamilton and Roy Dale Messer. Moore had 602 votes, while Hamilton was second with 224 and Messer gained 95 votes. Moore earned his 65 percent margin early with 184 votes in the early box, to 34 for Messer and 71 for Hamilton. Moore won by 400-61-153 in Box 3 (Hereford Junior High).

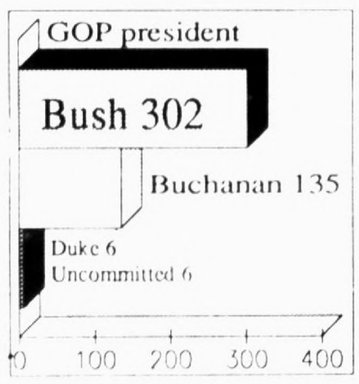

Miller was unopposed in the GOP primary.

Incumbent Tax Assessor-Collector Margaret Perez was the runaway winner among unopposed candidates, earning 2,021 votes Tuesday. She has no GOP challenger.

"I think Bill Clinton's local chairman deserves a pat on the back," said District Attorney Roland Saul on Tuesday.

Saul was half-joking. He is Clinton's chairman in Deaf Smith County. Clinton picked up a whopping 1,185 votes in the Democratic primary Tuesday. Paul Tsongas was a distant second with 394 votes, and Jerry Brown was third with 109.

In the Republican primary, President Bush had a comfortable win, 302-135, over Patrick Buchanan.

In a non-binding referendum, GOP voters endorsed a term limitation proposal, 320-64.

Election officials were summoned to Box 1 at Aikman Primary School on Tuesday to investigate charges of electioneering too close to the polling site.

Several volunteer workers were passing out sample ballots and urging voters to endorse certain candidates.

"We didn't break any rules," said Delia Griego on Tuesday night. "We were handing out sample ballots that had several candidates marked and urging people to vote for those candidates."

Griego said election workers went outside the school where the campaigners were located and told them they were too close to the balloting location.

"We were well beyond the boundary," said Griego. "Our sample ballots were clearly marked sample ballots, but they said two or three of them wound up in the box. I think maybe some people didn't like what we were doing."

County officials found nothing wrong with the campaigning.

Prime downtown location, real marble walls, owner will finance, call today

The Deaf Smith County Courthouse, despite what the sign may indicate, is not for sale. The old real estate sign had been covered by an election marker, but the paper was blown off by the wind earlier in the week. County officials said, however, that if someone did wander in with a large enough check (many million), commissioners might consider the offer.

Bush, Clinton have super Tuesday

By JOHN KING
AP Political Writer

President Bush buried Patrick Buchanan under eight Super Tuesday landslides, and Democrat Bill Clinton swept the South to surge into pivotal industrial-state showdowns that now are must-wins for Paul Tsongas.

Arkansas Gov. Clinton won eight of 11 Democratic contests, picking up a huge cache of delegates and regaining the front-runner label he had lost to a swirl of controversies in New Hampshire.

"I must say it is only tonight that I fully understand why they call this Super Tuesday," Clinton said after winning big in Florida and huge in Texas, Tennessee, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Missouri - including whopping majorities among black voters.

Bush equated his eight-state sweep to support for his legislative priorities. "We are winners again tonight," he declared.

Bush and Clinton also filled their baskets with convention delegates.

The fight in both parties now shifts to St. Patrick's Day clashes in Illinois and Michigan, where Tsongas must win to keep Clinton from sprinting away from the Democratic pack.

"You're not going to pander your way into the White House as long as I'm around" was Tsongas' defiant election-night message to Clinton. "What the Democratic Party needs and what America needs is more courageous lions and less pander bears in the zoo."

For now, Buchanan was ignoring the GOP establishment chorus urging him to step aside, saying he had "miles to go before we sleep" and predicting Michigan would prove fertile ground for his right-leaning rebellion.

Former Ku Klux Klansman David Duke proved little more than a distraction Tuesday in the South, his home region.

"As a party and a nation, let us turn our attention to our future," Bush said in a statement that was a thinly veiled nudge at Buchanan.

Already in Chicago, Clinton said his "people-first economics" offered the best hope to people "in Illinois and Michigan, where the most skilled workers in the world are now among the highest numbers of the unemployed."

Polls show Clinton with a slight lead in Illinois and a tight race in Michigan, where former California Gov. Jerry Brown is aggressively wooing union workers and could prove a wild card.

The Democratic calendar was front-loaded in hopes an early nominee would emerge, and the Southern-dominated Super Tuesday primaries were crafted by moderates who hoped that candidate would be one of their own.

Both were distinct possibilities as the race shifted today to the heartland. Tsongas, a former senator from Massachusetts, won only his home state and delegate-poor Rhode Island and Delaware.

"Paul Tsongas is a very tenacious candidate and should not be underestimated," Democratic National Committee Chairman Ronald H. Brown said in an interview. Yet, he added: "I've always been in favor of an early nominee and it seems to me that we still have a good chance of achieving that goal."

Clinton now has one-third the delegates needed for nomination and a sweep next week would all but end the race. On the other hand, a Tsongas comeback in the Midwest, where front-runners have stumbled before, would send the fight onto Connecticut, New York and possibly to Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and beyond.

"If you're Paul Tsongas, you pray for a good Tuesday next week," said Democratic pollster Geoff Garin. "If Clinton follows up with a strong showing next week, he'll have staked a pretty strong claim on the nomination."

It's a claim Bush already had staked in the GOP contest even before his Tuesday wins in Florida, Texas, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Oklahoma, Mississippi, Tennessee and Rhode Island.

If there were any surprises in the GOP race, it was that the level of anti-Bush protest vote appeared to wane a bit. Buchanan cracked 30 percent in just two states, Florida and Rhode Island, in part because a sliver of the protest vote elsewhere went to former Klansman Duke.

Guerrero eases to primary victory

AUSTIN (AP) - Democratic Railroad Commissioner Lena Guerrero and the man who wants to unseat her, Republican Barry Williamson, are ready to go head-to-head after winning their parties' nomination.

"Our real battle is in November," said Ms. Guerrero, 34, who was appointed by Gov. Ann Richards to fill a commission vacancy.

Ms. Guerrero is the first woman and first Hispanic to serve on the century-old Railroad Commission. She heads the panel, which regulates the state's oil, gas and trucking industries.

Williamson, 34, of Dallas, is a former West Texas oilman who has held federal energy posts.

"The emphasis really is experience to do the job, to create opportunity in Texas, and make Texas the leader it once was," Williamson said.

With 98 percent of the precincts reporting in the Republican primary race, Williamson had 337,580 votes, or 52 percent, and Ms. Rylander had 317,137, or 48 percent.

In the Democratic primary, with 99 percent of precincts reporting, Ms. Guerrero had 800,521 votes, or 60 percent, and challenger David Young had 541,843, or 40 percent.

Ms. Guerrero called Young, 47, "decent and honorable." Young, a Texas Department of Insurance regulator, has lost three previous bids for statewide office.

Williamson said that he had asked Ms. Rylander for her help in the general election race. Ms. Rylander, 52, is a former three-term Austin mayor who serves on the National Petroleum Council. Once a Democrat, Ms. Rylander joined the GOP in 1985.

"Carole will do anything she can to help remove Lena Guerrero," said John Weaver, a consultant to Ms. Rylander's campaign.

Ms. Guerrero has the governor in her corner.

"Lena Guerrero represents in an emotional way all of the things that I think the New Texas stands for," Richards said.

"I can think of no one who exemplifies better that hard work, that entrepreneurial spirit, that belief that Texas is going into the future" than Ms. Guerrero, said Richards.

Williamson jabbed at Ms. Guerrero, saying that "a nobody" without campaign funds was able to make a strong showing against her.

Sergeant-at-arms misused privilege of House bank

WASHINGTON (AP) - Many account holders took advantage of a generous overdraft policy at the House bank, including the sergeant-at-arms who ran the facility and one lawmaker who wrote 996 bad checks, an ethics report says.

"The longstanding practice of the House bank in honoring overdrafts on members' accounts was unwise and should have been discontinued years ago," the House ethics committee said.

The committee's majority report, obtained Tuesday by The Associated Press, said the defunct bank's no-penalty policy for overdrafts was unknown to some House members.

But "many others knew about it and took full advantage" of the policy, the report said. "It ultimately brought discredit to all members and, most seriously, to the House as an institution."

The report said the House sergeant-at-arms, Jack Russ, "misused" his office by cashing 19 overdrafts at the bank, which was under his jurisdiction until it was closed late last year. The checks were cashed between July 1988 and August 1989 for an aggregate face value of $56,100.

Russ eventually made good on the deficiency.

The report said Russ "testified that he delegated the job of implementing ... reforms" to his bank director "and that he was surprised to later learn that they were not always carried out."

Russ said through his office that he had no comment on the report at this time. He is recuperating from a gunshot wound to his cheek, received last week in what Russ described as an attack by three people near his Capitol Hill home.

Ethics committee members announced last week they had voted 10-4 to disclose publicly the names of 19 current and five former House members who, according to a formula devised by the panel, abused their banking privileges.

The committee has gathered its information using coded accounts without identification of individuals.

Some Republicans have called the majority findings too lenient.

A House GOP leader, Rep. Jerry Lewis of California, said he would introduce a resolution demanding full disclosure of all members who wrote bad checks at the bank during a 39-month period ending last Oct. 3.

The four ethics committee Republicans who dissented from the majority report also have asked for disclosure of all rubber-check writers. They are writing a minority report.

The committee said last week that 296 current and 59 former House members wrote overdrafts at least once during the 39-month period.

Referring to the 24 worst abusers, the report said the highest number of overdrafts among the group was 996 for one member, and the lowest was 81.

The report also found that 100 members wrote at least 45 overdrafts during the 39 months, but 133 had five or fewer bad checks.

New class forming for TALL

Application deadline is April 17 for the next class of the Texas Agricultural Lifetime Leadership (TALL) program, which develops leadership skills for young agriculturist.

In a related development, Dr. L.S. "Bill" Pope has announced plans to retire March 1 as coordinator of the TALL program to devote his time to coordinating TALL alumni activities. The new program coordinator is John E. Sykes, assistant to the director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, which sponsors TALL.

"We are indebted to Bill Pope for his dedication and leadership as TALL coordinator," said Dr. Zerle Carpenter, Extension Service director. "I'm confident that without his early encouragement, Texas might not have this outstanding leadership program."

TALL is a two-year leadership educational program designed for people ages 25 to 40 in agriculture-related careers. The class meets about 3 days every other month and study current issues related to agriculture. Included in the curriculum are seminars held in another state, Washington, D.C., and a foreign country.

"We expect to receive 80 to 100 applications for this next class," Sykes said. "The class size will be between 25 and 30, so selection will be very competitive."

Applicant screening and interviewing will occur during the last half of April and in May. The first class seminar is scheduled for College Station in June.

"I am excited about the opportunity to dedicate my efforts to the TALL alumni," Pope said. "There is a real need there. I have been working for nearly five years in the day-to-day management of the program, and I want to concentrate my efforts on the graduates."

"John Sykes will do an outstanding job of taking the program to the next level," Pope continued. "He has a wealth of experience and is truly dedicated to the development of agricultural leadership and TALL."

Sykes, who has assisted the TALL program for several years, is enthusiastic about the opportunity.,

"TALL is a high-quality program and is one of the most beneficial to Texas agriculture," he said. "It would not be here if it were not for the dedicated efforts of Dr. Pope. Following in his footsteps is an honor."

Herd destroys Dons

Hereford broke out the bats Tuesday in Amarillo and clubbed Palo Duro 15-5. The Herd had to come back from a 5-4 deficit after three innings, but two runs in the fourth inning gave the Herd the lead. Three runs in the fifth and six in the sixth ended the game by the 10-run rule.

"We've been coming along," Coach T.R. Sartor said. "We just strung (the hits) together." Hereford had 15 hits and was helped a little by five Don errors.

The win is Hereford's first in six tries.

The offensive stars for Hereford were Ruben Ramos, who went 4-for-5 with 7 RBIs, and Jerry Rincon, who nailed a solo home run to lead off the sixth inning. A few Whitefaces had big numbers: Fonzie Enriquez went 3-for-3 with an RBI; Jake Head was 3-for-4 with an RBI; and Tab Hathaway was 2-for-5 with two RBIs.

Hereford stole 11 bases. Rene Cano led the way with three, and Head, Enriquez and Chris Brummett each stole two.

Ramos pitched the complete game for Hereford--striking out five and walking one--and only one of the five runs were earned. All three of Hereford's errors were committed in the first three innings, when Palo Duro scored. The Dons didn't score after the third.

The Herd will play in the Dumas Tournament Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Hereford's first game will be at 2:30 p.m. Thursday.

Bullard named to 2nd team

Hereford's Jennifer Bullard made the second team of the District 1-4A girls' all-district basketball team, Hereford coach Dickie Faught announced.

BULLARD

The team was chosen several weeks ago but could not be released until all the district's teams finished their seasons. Randall won the Class 4A state championship with a 43-42 win over Georgetown Saturday in Austin. The Lady Raiders placed four players on the two all-district teams, and Coach Jim Wilcoxson was named the district's coach of the year.

Randall's Amanda Sandlin is the district's Co-MVP along with Nikki Ryan of Pampa. Melinda White of Borger, Amber Seaton of Pampa and Sandy Parker of Randall round out the first team. All but Parker are seniors.

Caprock junior Lisa Hodges heads the second team. She is joined by four seniors: Bullard, Dumas' Angela Miller and Randall's Corey Norman and Tandy Dunavin.

Bullard led the Lady Whitefaces with per game averages of 12.7 points, 1.9 assists and 4 steals. Her 107 steals for the season broke her own school record.

"She was our leader basically in every category--scoring, steals, assists--and she was also our inspirational leader," Faught said. "She definitely deserves all-district accolades."

Faught was part of the group which selected the Texas Girls Coaches Association's 4A All-State team, and he said four area players made one of the three teams.

Sandlin was the only area player on the first team. Ryan was named to the second team, as was Amy Arp of Levelland. White made the third team.

Queens fall in NAIA title game

JACKSON, Tenn. (AP) - Arkansas Tech had a young team with seven sophomores and two freshmen this season, but the Golden Suns also had the goal of winning their first NAIA Division I women's championship.

Shooting 67 percent from the field and with 29 points from Dawn Grell, Arkansas Tech made good on that plan by downing Wayland Baptist 84-68 Tuesday night for the NAIA women's title.

"Ever since that first day when we were out on the track running, we said we were going to win the national championship," said Stephanie Strack. "I don't think we would've been satisfied with anything less."

The second-seeded Golden Suns (35-1) had entered the title game hitting 58.7 percent from the floor during the tournament. Arkansas Tech also set a tournament record by hitting 31 3-pointers, including 15-of-18 from Marla Goshien.

No. 4 seed Wayland Baptist (29-6) entered the game with a 16-game winning streak and managed to hit 50 percent of its shots in the first half. But the Flying Queens still trailed 46-30 at intermission and did not mount a challenge in the second half.

"You don't ever feel comfortable with that 46-30 lead, but I thought at the half that Wayland was thinking if they could come back," said Arkansas Tech coach Joe Foley.

"We've done that several times this year. We've just rolled into every place and took over. I was just along for the ride. I would hate to defense our club right now. I don't know how you would stop them."

The Flying Queens held their biggest lead at 5-1 on a 3-pointer by Rejohn Seay with 18:51 left in the first half.

But with Arkansas Tech trailing 18-17 with 12:09 remaining, Carin Pinion sparked a 19-6 run with a jumper. Alison Setliffe scored on a 3-point play with 6:58 to go for a 36-24 lead.

Lisa Kolodziejcz led the Flying Queens with 24 points. Carol Bailey-Sessums had 15, and Kristy Noble added 12.

Mason headed to Angelo State

Derek Mason (seated at right) signed today to play football at Angelo State University. With him are his mother Rennie Mason, father Paul Mason (standing on left) and Herd coach Danny Haney.

Mason signs with Angelo St.

Hereford senior Derek Mason signed today to play football at Angelo State University, a Division II school in San Angelo.

"I was really impressed with the coaches," Mason said, listing the reasons he chose Angelo State. "They seem like they have a good program. They have one of the winningest records in the Lone Star Conference. The coaches have been there a long time. The players seem real happy to be there, and they made me feel really comfortable."

Mason, a team captain, started both ways for the Herd in the last five games of 1991. He started at tight end all season and caught 12 passes for 263 yards and 3 touchdowns.

In the last five games of the season, he started at defensive end and came up with 43 tackles, eight for losses, and three sacks. For his work on defense he was named to the first team of the District 1-4A all-district lists. He made second-team all-district at tight end after his junior season.

Freshman golfers play in Friona

A team composed of five Hereford freshmen finished sixth in a varsity golf tournament in Friona Tuesday.

The field of 13 teams was led by Tulia at 326 (best four golfers over 18 holes). Morton was second at 332, followed by Hart, 338; Farwell, 357; Floydada, 362; Hereford, 371; Lazbuddie, 376; Friona White, 376; Friona Red, 379; Bovina, 387; Nazareth, 397; Vega, 401; and Dimmitt, 435.

Individually for Hereford, Chris Hodges shot an 86, which was the 14th lowest score. Other Hereford golfers were Martin Carnahan at 90; Clint Robison at 93; Sabin Bradley at 102; and Joe Borden at 112.

Brian Welps of Tulia shot a 73 for the individual medal.

"I wanted to get some of our younger kids in some of these tournaments that are close by and get them some experience," Coach Stacey Bixler said. "I think it worked out well for them."

Bo's career may be over

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) - The challenge of starring in two sports seems trivial in comparison to the odds Bo Jackson faces as he resorts to hip-replacement surgery to save his career with the Chicago White Sox.

Jackson, hobbled for more than a year by the hip he hurt playing football for the Los Angeles Raiders, decided Tuesday to have replacement surgery.

Jackson, 29, said he planned to go home to his family before the surgery is performed later this summer. He said he realized it could mean the end of his athletic career.

"Realistically, yesterday could've been my last at-bat in the major leagues," Jackson said. "I know that."

"This is uncharted territory," Dr. Joseph Zuckerman said on Jackson's chances at returning to baseball.

Zuckerman, vice chairman of the orthopedics department at New York's Hospital for Joint Diseases Orthopedic Institute added: "He's got to get through the surgery, see how it is, and then evaluate what direction he thinks he's going in. He's in a terrible situation."

Jackson became a national hero by starring as a running back and as an outfielder. He hurt his left hip playing football for the Raiders in a playoff game on Jan. 13, 1991.

After a rehabilitation program, he came back for the final month of the 1991 baseball season and hit .225 with three homers and 14 RBIs in 71 at-bats. But the injury only got worse this spring and he couldn't run during the three exhibition games he played.

"My main objective is to get rid of the nagging pain and get rid of the limp," Jackson said. "I feel like myself, except for running. And if you can't run, you can't play."

Jackson said the medical options explained to him ranged from arthroscopic surgery to hip replacement. He said he favored the most extreme measure.

"That's probably what they have to do, but I don't know what's going on in the doctors' heads," Jackson said. "If there's going to be someone to come back and perform on the professional level after a hip replacement, it'll be me. If I do something like that, I'd want to do it with the White Sox."

White Sox owner Jerry Reinsdorf signed Jackson to an incentive-laden contract April 3, 16 days after the outfielder was released from a one-year, $2,375,000 deal with the Kansas City Royals.

Reinsdorf said doctors have told him Jackson may play again, but said "the odds are long."

Although Jackson was 4-for-7 this spring, his limp was worse than at the end of last year, despite an off-season rehabilitation program with White Sox trainer Herm Schneider. The injury caused Jackson to lose all cartilage between the hip socket and femur, leaving a one-inch gap.

"It's gone backward," White Sox general manager Ron Schueler said. "What's amazing is, he's made so many adjustments that his swing has gotten better in the past year.

"If it were anybody else, his future would be bleak. He refuses to say no. He's a positive person."

Buechele homers off Ryan

PORT CHARLOTTE, Fla. (AP) - Nolan Ryan gave himself a grade of "C" - as in "could have been better."

His spring training debut Tuesday was about as expected: Below average velocity and poor location.

"It wasn't too bad for a first outing," said Ryan, who gave up three runs on three hits, walked two and struck out two in four innings against the Pittsburgh Pirates. "I felt it was a good overall performance. My velocity was low, but that was to be expected. I did have very poor command of my pitches."

Ryan was greeted by an old friend in the second inning, former Texas Ranger Steve Buechele, who hit a solo homer off baseball's all-time strikeout leader.

"It was a fastball right down the middle," Ryan said.

Ryan was bugged by the Rangers' spring training rule in which a pitcher is automatically yanked after two straight walks.

In his next at-bat, Ryan went to 3-2 on Buechele and summoned catcher Ivan Rodriguez to the mound.

"Tell Boo to swing at the next pitch," Ryan said.

Buechle did and missed.

YMCA plans volleyball tourney

The entry fee of $40 ($25 for triples) must be turned in with the entry form by March 24. Schedules will be ready at 1 p.m. the next day.

He's Proud

MONTREAL (AP) - The Cincinnati Reds had just landed at the Montreal airport, and the players were going through customs.

One of the players, rookie Steve Foster, was being questioned by a Canadian customs agent who wanted to know if he had anything to declare.

"I sure have," Foster announced. "I'm proud to be an American."

E. Illinois, Fordham join crowd at Big Dance

CLEVELAND (AP) - Eastern Illinois coach Rick Samuels shares many things with his players, including dreams. Now the coach and the team will get to share another experience - going to the NCAA tournament.

When the Panthers beat Illinois-Chicago 83-68 Tuesday night to win the Mid-Continent Conference tournament, they also grabbed the automatic NCAA bid.

"It's every player's dream to make the tournament, but it's no different for the coaches," Samuels said of the school's and his first trip to the NCAAs.

Also clinching a spot Tuesday night in the 64-team tournament was Fordham, which won the Patriot League championship with a 70-65 victory over Bucknell.

Steve Rowe had 22 points for Eastern Illinois (17-13), while Curtis Leib made some clutch shots down the stretch and finished with 17 points.

Eastern Illinois reached the title game on the 3-point shooting of Dave Olson, but UIC held Olson to only three 3-pointers.

Olson had hit a tournament record 6-of-10 in Monday's 75-65 victory over Wisconsin-Green Bay. His long shots had seemed to provide an emotional lift when the Panthers were threatened.

Leib took that role against the Flames.

"I'm not an explosive player," said Leib, who made all seven of his field goals attempts. "I just try to score. No dunks, no threes, nothing fancy.

"I guess it was a quiet 17 points, but that's OK with me."

Eastern Illinois trailed early, but a long 3-pointer by Olson put the Panthers up 11-8, a lead they never relinquish.

Rowe had 16 points in the first half, seven during a 13-2 run which gave Eastern Illinois a 26-17 with 10 minutes remaining. Leib ignited the burst with a putback basket.

Illinois-Chicago then went to a full-court press for most of the remainder of the game, but the defense couldn't overcome the Flames own horrendous shooting.

UIC was 28-of-70 from the floor (40 percent), including just 12-of-38 in the second half.

"We're the kind of team that can not have a poor shooting night," Illinois-Chicago coach Bob Hallberg said. "We may have hurried some shots tonight, but those are the same shots I've seen drop before."

Eric West scored 13 for Eastern Illinois.

Brian Hill led the Flames with 16 points.

In Bethlehem, Pa., Fordham made the NCAA tournament field for the first time in 21 years.

"It's overwhelming," Fordham coach Nick Macarchuk said after his Rams (18-12) downed Bucknell. "It's been so long. We pointed to the banners in our gym. Since 1971 we haven't gone."

Digger Phelps was the coach that year, when the Rams went 26-3. Fordham also made the tournament in 1953 and 1954.

Bucknell didn't make it easy, but Fordham turned back the Bison every time. For Bucknell (21-9), being close may mean the season is over.

"I certainly think our kids deserve the NIT," coach Charlie Woollum said. But he wasn't optimistic. "They do too much with the computer rankings, and those things just hurt leagues like ours."

Bucknell trailed 61-53 with 5:41 to go when two baskets by Sanford Jenkins gave Fordham its largest margin. Chris Simpson, who led Bucknell with 17 points, made a three-point play to spark a rally that got it to 61-60.

But Fred Herzog sank two free throws and scored a basket and Jenkins added three points down the stretch to lift the Rams.

Fordham fans flooded the court at Lehigh University's Stabler Arena to celebrate as Bucknell's Paul Olkowski made a 65-foot desperation shot at the buzzer for the final margin.

Herzog led Fordham with 17 points, while Jenkins had 16. Patrick King paced Bucknell with 15 points.

McDaniel's shot at buzzer waved off; Lakers triumph

By The Associated Press

Sedale Threatt had the magic touch, then let Sam Perkins - and the officials - decide the game.

Threatt, the man who took over as point guard for the Los Angeles Lakers when Magic Johnson retired last fall, scored a career-high 42 points against the New York Knicks. That put the Lakers in position for their eighth consecutive victory at Madison Square Garden.

Perkins secured the win with a 3-point shot with 2.2 seconds left, giving the Lakers a 106-104 decision.

"The last time I shot like this was in college," said Threatt, a nine-year NBA veteran who had 22 of the Lakers' 27 points in the third period.

Patrick Ewing had a big game for the Knicks with 37 points.

The Knicks had no timeouts left. They hurried upcourt and Xavier McDaniel put in a 17-footer. But after the officials held a conference, it was ruled that time expired before the shot.

Elsewhere, it was Cleveland 102, Phoenix 100; Detroit 98, Seattle 92; Charlotte 105, Minnesota 96; Portland 126, Milwaukee 112; Miami 108, Boston 101; Denver 89, Orlando 82; Indiana 101, Washington 91; San Antonio 103, Atlanta 92; Houston 116, Dallas 93; the Los Angeles Clippers 120, Sacramento 109; and Golden State 129, New Jersey 122.

Rockets 116 Mavericks 93

At Houston, the Rockets sprinted away in the third period to hand the Mavericks their 18th straight road defeat.

The Rockets had six players in double figures.

Vernon Maxwell had 19 points, Kenny Smith 17 and Hakeem Olajuwon, who had two points at the half, finished with 13 and 11 rebounds.

Spurs 103, Hawks 92

At San Antonio, Terry Cummings scored 22 points and Rod Strickland added 19 as the Spurs extended the Hawks' losing streak to a season-high five games.

David Robinson added 17 for the Spurs.

Cavaliers 102, Suns 100

Mark Price escaped from a deep shooting slump with 17 fourth-quarter points, including Cleveland's last 11.

The Suns led by nine with six minutes to play, but lost their eighth straight road game.

Phoenix was ahead 91-83 when Price made a 3-pointer to start Cleveland's game-ending 19-9 run. Price finished with 24 points and 12 assists.

Dan Majerle led Phoenix with 29 points.

Heat 108, Celtics 101

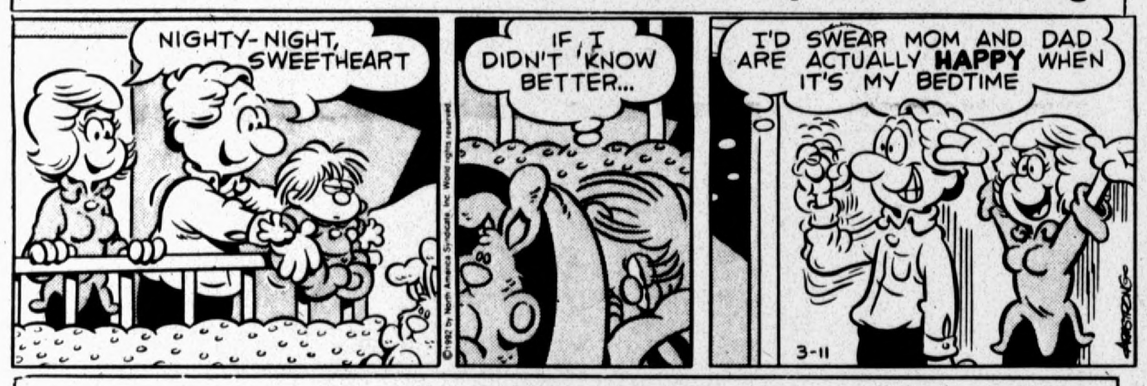

At Miami, the Heat didn't wilt despite the late-game heroics of former teammate Sherman Douglas.

Douglas, playing against Miami for the first time since it traded him Jan. 10, scored 11 points in the final 7:40 to help the Celtics reduce a nine-point deficit to 101-99 with three minutes to go. But Boston missed five straight shots and the Heat held on. Glen Rice scored 31 points.

Reggie Lewis led the Celtics with 28 points.

Dettman reviews book

Audine Dettman reviewed the book The Relic by Evelyn Anthony when members of Garden Beautiful Club met March 6 in the home of Marguerite Cole with Vada Axe serving as co-hostess.

President Jeane Dowell opened the meeting by reading the poem, "Best Things to Give." The minutes of the previous meeting were read and the treasurer's report was given.

Thank you notes were read from the groups which donations had been given by the club. They included the Rape Crises/Domestic Violence Center, Big Brothers/Big Sisters and the Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center.

President Dowell named the nominating committee to elect new officers for the coming year. They were Louise Axe, Inez Witherspoon and Dettman.

Refreshments were served to those present: Dowell, Dottie Darden, Nadine Hill, Jerrye Jackson, Dorothy Noland, Helen Spinks, Bessie Story, Witherspoon, Margaret Young and guest, Frances Hill.

The next meeting will be April 3 in the home of Nadine Hill with Spinks serving as co-hostess. Guest speaker Patricia Robinson will present the program entitled, "Creative Designs."

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Natalie Cole's musical tribute to her late father, Nat "King" Cole, continues to rack up awards.

Her album "Unforgettable" won two honors at Tuesday night's sixth annual Soul Train Music Awards, a celebration of black-oriented music.

Miss Cole was this year's top Grammy winner and won American Music and NAACP Image awards. To those she added Soul Train trophies for best rhythm and blues-soul album of the year for a female artist and best jazz album.

Newcomers Color Me Badd picked up trophies for R&B song of the year and best single by a group, band or duo for their song "I Wanna Sex You Up."

Luther Vandross won R&B-soul album of the year for male artist with his "Power of Love."

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have a white or grayish ring just inside the colored portion (iris) of my eyes. I am a female, 64 years old, and have always been in fair health. My blood cholesterol was 303, but with diet it is now 215. I was wondering if some disease causes this ring.

DEAR READER: It goes by the unflattering name of arcus senilis, because it is most often seen in people over 60 years of age. The white portion of your eye is the sclera. It is continuous with the clear cornea that is over your iris and pupil. The ring is in the cornea near the sclera and comes from deposited fats (phospholipids) and cholesterol. It is more of an interesting finding than of any medical significance. It does not mean you are prone to a heart attack or a stroke, although heredity is an important factor.

It is more apt to occur in some groups with high cholesterol levels. Since you have reduced your level, I would not think it is of any importance.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

Applications available

A summer camp designed for handicapped children is available for deaf, blind ad physically handicapped youngsters from your community at no cost to their parents.

Your local Lions club can provide you with information about attending the Texas Lions camp this summer. Visually impaired, hearing impaired and physically handicapped children between the ages of 7 and 16 are eligible for the camp. They must have an I.Q. of 70 or above and have normal bowel and kidney control. Some self-help skills in eating and dressing are also required.

The activities at the camp are well supervised by a trained staff at a ratio of one counselor to every three campers. All of the activities are adapted so every handicapped child will be able to participate. Every child will have the opportunity to go swimming, ride horses, study nature, go fishing, play tennis, participate in field sports, and go on an overnight campout. The campers enjoy the fun and recreation in a safe environment. The heath care of the camp is the staff's major concern.

The Texas Lions Camp has provided 25,000 handicapped children with an opportunity to learn from and enjoy the outdoors since it began in 1953. The Camp is a non profit organization funded by individuals interested in providing challenging programs for handicapped children.

If you need a camper application for a handicapped child who would enjoy summer camp, contact you local Lions' Club member, Gary Billingsley at 354-2751 or the Texas Lions Camp, P.O. Box 247, Kerrville, Texas 78029-0247, (512) 896-8500, Fax number (5120 896-3666.

THE BUCK STARTS HERE.

Newspaper is usually the first place people go when considering a purchase. It's their primary source of advertising information.

Newspaper helps spark the local economy by putting dollars into circulation. And that's good for everyone, not just the retailer.

Because a strong local economy means lower property taxes, more jobs, tax support for community services and a better place to live.

Newspaper is more than just a smart place to advertise.

It's an integral part of our lives.

Newspaper. It delivers.

GUERRERO

Young, who promised to take no contributions from regulated industries, had said he was making a statement by raising no money for the primary election.

"Three months ago, we committed to a strategy that we would hold back our financial resources to try to win (the primary) by 50 percent plus one more vote ... I think what is (significant) is that they spent all of their money and we've got all of ours," Ms. Guerrero said.

She has raised more than $1 million, and has about $650,000 left, said Gretchen Vaden, Ms. Guerrero's campaign manager.

Ken Luce, Williamson's campaign manager, said that he has raised about $706,000, including a $160,000 personal loan, and spent most of it.

However, Luce said, "Raising money's not going to be a problem for Barry." A number of people have estimated that $1 million to $1.5 million will be needed for the general election, Luce said.

Williamson's father-in-law is Midland oilman Bobby Holt, a GOP fundraiser.

The Railroad Commission seat was the only statewide executive office on the ballot this year.

Day camp festivities

Local Girl Scout troops recently participated in activities at Camp Kiwanis. The event kicked-off the 80th birthday celebration of Girl Scouts. Local troops will also be collecting No. 1 and 2 plastics from 8:30-11 a.m. Saturday, March 14, at the office of the Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross. For further information about the recycling project, call the Girl Scout service unit director, Melinda Henson.

Residents' granddaughter chosen student ambassador

Bonnie Colleen Sharp of Tomball, granddaughter of Theda Sharp and Herbert and Edith Higgins of Hereford, has been chosen a student ambassador to the Commonwealth of Independent States(formerly the Soviet Union).

Bonnie, 16-year-old sophomore at Tomball High School, is the daughter of Leslie and Wilma Sharp. She is one of 30 student ambassadors to be chosen from Montgomery County to travel to the Commonwealth for three weeks in June, 1992.

The program is sponsored by Initiative for Understanding, a people-to-people student program. Bonnie is an honor student, performs with the flag corps in the high school band, and is on the yearbook staff.

Bonnie is seeking sponsorships to help raise funds needed for the program. She is willing to present programs and slide shows or write articles for individuals or groups about her trip.

Readers interested in helping sponsor Bonnie may call Edith Higgins at 364-2237 for more information.

Look for fire-resistant labels on all furniture

Before buying a piece of furniture, consumers should check it for a fire-resistant level, especially if there's a smoker in the house.

The Upholstered Furniture Action Council (UFAC) has designed new methods and materials for the manufacture of furniture that is more resistant to smoldering cigarettes, said Dr. Peggy Owens, housing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Most upholstered items sold in furniture and department store are safer today because of efforts made by the furniture industry," she said. "A gold UFAC identification hang tag indicates that the furniture is more effective in preventing fires caused by burning cigarettes."

A lighted cigarette left on upholstered furniture is a common cause of home fires, Owens said. about 2 percent -- 10,300 -- of the nearly 513,5000 home fires that occurred in the United States in 1989 started in upholstery.

About 80 percent of those upholstery fires were caused by burning cigarettes left unattended or smokers who fell asleep, said Joanna Maitland, UFAC consumer education chairman in High Pint, N.C.

Manufacturers have been working for 15 years to make products more resistant to burning cigarettes, and research has paid off, she said. Latest figures, based on data from the National Fire Protection Association and the U.S. Fire Administration, show a 65 percent reduction (between 178 and 1989) in upholstered furniture fires started by burning cigarettes.

UFAC construction criteria is based on testing combinations of furniture materials to determine how they react with one another when exposed to heat, Maitland explained. Furniture is safer today because it's more fire-resistant, but that doesn't mean it won't burn.

"The gold UFAC tag warns consumers that while this furniture provides increased protection, it is still not fireproof," Maitland said. "Users are urged to practice safe smoking habits whether they own furniture of UFAC construction or products make before the industry developed this voluntary product safety program."

Consumers also need to take precautions to help prevent other types of home fire, Owens said.

Pan, a Greek god, was believed to delight in frightening travelers.
