Fate Of Farm Relief Bill Placed In Hands Of Senate

House Approves Measure Friday Without Debate

No Roll Call Vote Required As Legislation of Joint Conference Committee Is Passed Friday

Expect Opposition

Bill With Elimination Of Debentures Awaits Only Senate Approval Before Going To The President

By RAYMOND Z. HENLE

Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The immediate fate of farm relief legislation was placed squarely in the hands of the Senate today after the House approved, without a roll call vote and practically without debate, the joint conference committee's farm bill from which the export debenture plan was eliminated.

All that now stands between sending the measure to President Hoover for his approval is a favorable vote in the Senate, but advocates of debentures were prepared to offer stiff opposition to the acceptance of the bill on the ground that the House had overstepped its authority by eliminating the export debenture proposal.

Confident Of Support

Leaders of the administration forces were confident, however, that they had enough support to approve the conference measure, claiming three or four senators who voted for the debenture plan when it was introduced into the Senate farm bill, and a 47 to 44 vote.

Reaching the Senate a few hours after it had been approved by the House, the bill was made the order of business upon motion of Senator William of Oregon, who has piloted many controversial agricultural measures through the Senate. He obtained consent for the Senate to start consideration of the bill tomorrow.

Bill for Support of State Departments Only One Not Disposed of Before Week-end Adjournment

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 7.—The House disposed of all the major appropriation bills save the one providing support of the state departments when it completed its first week of work today.

The Senate has passed the judiciary and the elementary bills and has well into the departmental measures when it finished up the week.

The Senate and House finance and appropriation committees went to the garden district, piloted by representative A. P. Johnson of Harrisburg. The party will be in the hands of the people of that section until Sunday.

No material changes were made in the House appropriation bills, but the expenditure of $15,906,434 for the elementary bill $10,112,126. The Senate today reduced its $12,186,460 departmental bill $13,240. It cut items totaling $31,000 and added $35,702.

Senate Approves Norris Measure

WASHINGTON, June 7.—(AP)—For the fifth time in recent years, the Senate today approved a resolution of Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, proposing a constitutional amendment to provide for one continuous session of Congress each year beginning on January 2.

The resolution, which now goes to the House where assent heretofore has not been given, also seeks to have the terms of the president begin January 15, rather than March 4.

Would Abolish Short Session. The principal condition the amendment seeks to bring about is to abolish short sessions of Congress after general elections and to bring the beginning of a president's term, and those of congressmen, closer to the date of their election in the hope of causing a more prompt legislative expression of the people's wishes as expressed at the polls.

Capt. Samuel Siegel of Haverford township police divulged the contents of a note left by Linn. Siegel said this note read:

The so-called prohibitionists probably will get great pride out of this. They'll say it was booze, but that is not so. They'll say I was insane but I am not. I want to pass out of this life as unknown as I came into it.

Point To Suicide. Captain Siegel said that indications pointed to suicide but this

Physicians Report Babe Ruth Not To Be Seriously Ill

After Maze of Conflicting Reports Swat King Is Expected Back In Yankee Lineup Within Week

By BRIAN BELL, Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 7.—(AP)—From a maze of conflicting reports as to the condition of Babe Ruth emerged tonight a statement to the Yankee club from Dr. Edward A. King that the home run hitter has "muscular heart trouble," but is not seriously ill.

The mighty man of baseball has been out of the lineup since last Saturday with a congested lung and a cold. Early today published reports that the greater slinger had suffered heart attacks which would keep him out of the game a month and perhaps forever started a flood of telephone calls to the Yankee offices. Local and long distance queries came as to the latest reports from the Babe's bedside and later in the day the questions were to check on a report that the big fellow had died.

Expected Back In Week. Edward G. Barrow, secretary of the Yankees, announced that the physician expected Ruth to return to the Yankee stadium in "about a week or ten days." Previously Mrs. Ruth had reported her husband sleeping but "very ill."

Mr. Barrow declared he felt no apprehension and was quite sure the star of the team would be completely recovered in a few more days.

"The Babe declares he is all right now and he would be in there today if the doctor would allow him to play," said Barrow.

This is Ruth's first extended illness since 1925 when he fell sick at Asheville, N. C., during the exhibition schedule of the Yankees and reached New York unconscious April 9. He was suffering from influenza and indigestion and was not able to play until June 1.

10-Year Problem Of Reparations Thought Solved

Second Dawes Committee Ends Work Friday By Signing Report Which Recommends Liquidation

Experts Form Plan

Question Is Changed From Political Controversy To Business Deal; Plan Depends On Governments

(By Associated Press)

PARIS, June 7.—The second Dawes committee ended its work today by signing the report which recommends methods for liquidating the problem of German reparations—a problem which has bothered the warring nations of the old world for ten years.

The report itself makes much of the efforts by financial experts from seven nations to change the question from a political controversy into a business deal. Whether this will be accomplished will depend on acceptance or rejection of the committee findings by the governments involved. The rest of the summer probably will be used in concluding these exchanges.

Hand Claps End Meet. The end of the session saw recorded on progographic film the hearty grasping of hands between Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, chief of the German delegation, and Emile Morcau, leader of the French experts, with Owen D. Young, American chairman of the committee, looking on with a smile of the deepest satisfaction. The scene was registered in the court of the George V. Hotel shortly after six o'clock this evening.

Members of the committee remarked that it typified the whole story.

Tornado Near Plainview Claims 2 Lives, Causes Great Property Damage

Three Towns Swept By Wind, Hail Storms

Hot—And How City Swelters In Hottest Day

Costs were banded by many, collars were unbent, fans buzzed, summer fashions introduced, soda fountains thrived and there was discussion of the weather—temperature in Lubbock Friday, 94 degrees.

Although registering the highest mark of the year, the mercury did not climb to a new record for June, according to Don L. Jones, superintendent of the State experiment station, three miles east of Lubbock.

The temperature went beyond the 100 mark in the early part of June last year, said Mr. Jones.

It was unofficially reported in the city that thermometers registered 98 degrees in the shade at mid-afternoon. This margin above the official report is logical in view of the heat and the quality of brick and concrete in the city.

PLAINVIEW, June 7.—Two lives, injuries to nearly a score of persons and great property damage was the tabulation today of the results of wind storms accompanied by hail and rain, which swept this section late yesterday.

Three towns, Runningwater, an inland Hale county village; Flagg, in Castro county, and Olton, a Lamb county town, felt the full blast of the winds.

At Flagg R. A. Cassidy was killed when a storm blew away his home. Mrs. Cassidy was injured. Three other houses were destroyed, and several persons hurt.

J. A. Snipes was killed at Runningwater, and six members of his family were injured. Six houses were destroyed and automobiles were tossed about the prairie around village as a tornado swept down.

In and near Olton a dozen houses were demolished and a number of persons were injured. One of these latter suffered a fractured skull and broken ribs. Seventy-four windmills, a theater, a garage and two signs also were damaged.

Crops over the affected area were damaged by hail and rain.

Victim Relative Of Lubbock Man

J. A. Snipes, one of the victims of the cyclone which struck Runningwater, Hale county town, is a brother-in-law of R. D. Williams, of Lubbock. Mr. Williams left here Friday to be at the bedside of Mrs. Snipes, widow of the tornado victim, and her three children, all of whom are recovering from minor injuries at a Plainview hospital.

No Permanent Designation Will Be Made By State Highway Department Until Investigation Is Made

(By Associated Press)

THE State Highway Department has rescinded its action on the designation about two years ago of Highway 53 to lead of this city on Avenue H and alongside the Santa Fe railroad to Idalou, Joe Caldwell, of Lubbock, division highway engineer, was advised Friday by the department.

Annulment of the routing will hold in abeyance a prepared petition by the Lubbock County Good Roads association asking the county commissioners call to call a $1,000,000 road bond election for the newly created road district No. 2, Charles F. O'Neil, chairman of the association, announced late yesterday. "The petition will not be presented until the department has made a definite designation of the route," said Mr. O'Neil.

Highway Program Outlined. The petition, which was scheduled to be presented before the commissioners next Monday, outlined a program for hard-surfacing highways in the newly created district which excluded District No. 1, with the following features:

Originally routed east-west Broadway of this city, discussion as to designation of Highway 53 has long been a dilatory factor in jeopardizing road development in Lubbock county. Opposition lines closely drawn about two years ago were thought to have subsided with the recent proposals for a county-wide improvement program, and announcement of the highway department's recent decision came as a

One woman is a member of President Hoover's recently appointed commission for the study of prohibition enforcement. She is Miss Ada Comstock, president of Radcliffe College and described as one of the foremost students of sociology in the United States.

NEED MORE It is hard to say whether the presence of one woman on this committee is so surprising as that there are no more. Considering that recent statistics prove that women spend 90 percent of money spent in the country, and considering that the prohibition question either from the viewpoint of enforcement or of enforcement, effects national spending money as it effects other realm of human activity, it seems to me that the committee needs more than one woman to balance the ten men on the commission. The men may know their own minds, but they do not know the human reaction to prohibition, or its effects on women.

"THE TALKIES" A Texas senator's attempt to amend the state bar bill to the effect that the license any barber who talks too much shall be revoked, reminds us of that talkative barber who confined to make barber shops into beauty shops, and here, wondering just where it is, I know about six simmering red hot women's fights brought about by the hairdresser common to all of them who talked too much.

WHAT IS IT? There seems to be something about the intimacy of beautifying the human person that brings on gossip, and much of it still I do love hearing my share, and if I hear it I suppose we must figure that we play leading roles in the story the next gal gets.

Perhaps it's something about complete relaxation in the inclined beauty shop chair that makes us say so infinitely much more than we should.

THEIR REAL LIFE Walter Finks, 19-year-old high school boy at Portland, Ore., shot and killed 17-year-old Herbert Beem in a quarrel over a high school girl, and then tried to kill himself.

And mystery still surrounds the death of Walter Treadway Huntington, Harvard student, found dead with a woman's lock-edge handkerchief and her footprints by his dead form. A diary in a Cassanova was found among his possessions.

IT'S EVADED Day after day these youthful tragedies are duplicated as youth is caught in the magistrum of sex which it does not understand and for which it is not at all prepared. When one attempts to do so he is figuratively or literally ridden out of town on a rail.

Little Frocks Bloom In Season

Mrs. Elliott Holt

By BETTY SCHUYLER
NEW YORK, June 7.—The "little season," as everyone dubs the stretch from Easter to Newport and Southampton days, seems positively grown-up, so many and varied are the happenings listed.

Of course, outdoor events grow in importance from now on. Add dog shows and benefit fairs to the races and croquet as a new and coming summer sport in addition to tennis, golf, swimming, yachting and so on and the time flies with more to do than one wants.

News from Newport sounds a warning to all competitors for a week-end in the city. Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock has a running start because she has, to date, spent practically every day outside, dividing her time between speeding in a new boat, and riding along new bridal paths in her capacity as member of the Chambers of Commerce's bridal path committee.

Health Is In The Mode Practically every one here, however, has some kind of tan. There is nothing nicer, really, than a glowing healthy look. Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock, Jr. made such an attractive picture strolling around the paddock with her famous polo-playing husband, wearing one of the soft tanned coats in beige, topped by a smart hat of the coat's fabric that showed her tan to advantage.

Other day the wore rose color in her cardigan suit with frilly white blouse. One-piece frocks bloom all over Park Avenue about luncheon time these warm days. It is amazing how coats are shed and colorful frocks dress members of the like flowers springing up after the snow leave. Desautelle sticks to black with touches of ecru or color, but New York this spring is distinctly colorful. Chiclo Kelvert, however, proves the chic of black when she wears a great little black flat crepe with that indescribably soft, dressmaker look to its tailoring. It has a squarish neck, pleated inserts in its skirt and a suede belt, matching suede pumps. A luscious big orchid decorated one shoulder, caught by a jeweled pin. She wears a simple little crown, instead of beads, a pleasant change.

Skirts are changing their styles, quite subtly. I noticed that arian Wickes at Pierre's the other day wore a beige satin back crepe that had an original overkirt that was a sunny, shining pepum length on one hip and swung down to become a low flare on the other.

Tannish tones with a dash of orange are quite the popular shades. And by all means include one leaf design in the printed wardrobe. Mrs. Elliott Holt wears a hand-blocked print in the chic tones of brown and tan, with a novel collar that ties itself all up smartly. Her hat for this frock, by the way, is a lovely, intricately cut fine straw, with its brim made of bound sections that make petals up the side of the crown. Just another sample of the intricate dressmaker influence that is at work everywhere.

Shirtwaist frocks are reminiscent of the one-time stunning shirtwaist suits that used to tuck the tail of the blouse inside a long gored skirt. Mrs. Robert McAdoo is the champion of one of the newest and smartest of such frocks. An indefinite tan and white print it is, with tabs of white crossgrain, edged in brown, for the tie and similar tabs of the frock's material simulating fringe on the skirt. A moor, elaborate amount of work subordinated to a total effect of simplicity. The collar of white is quite plain. Bows and more bows adorn things. When one achieves something new in bows, it is new, really. Mrs. Sherburn Becker, Jr. did just that, having her little ballbunnet hat banded one side in white, the other blue and the blue and white tying separate little bows up the front of the crown that suggested birds on the wing. Her two-eyelid ties had jaunty ribbon bows, too.

Mrs. George Rose Jr., sticks a feather in her hat of brown tulle and gets an original look to it. Rose guests come on space at quite a smart tone for costume jewelry. Personally, I think it takes certain types to wear it, either a decidedly brunet one or a fair blonde. It does nothing for the average in-between. Mrs. Anderson Danner, one who is embraced by the delicate coloring, I noticed she wore a lovely carved brooch and a choker collar of rose quartz.

Principals In Thrilling Amarillo Court Drama

Here are the principal figures in the approaching murder trial of Judge R. H. Hamilton at Amarillo, the story behind which reads like a movie scenario. No. 1 is Tom Walton, 21-year-old college boy, whose secret marriage to Theresa led to his killing by her father, Judge R. H. Hamilton (3) who will be prosecuted on a charge of murder by District Attorney Thomerson (4) before District Judge Henry S. Bishop (5) and defended by Attorneys C. B. Reeder (6) and Robert Underwood (7), who will endeavor to save him from the gallows. The sketch shows how young Walton was shot and killed by Judge Hamilton in the latter's office when he went to inform the girl's father of their marriage.

AMARILLO, Tex. June 7.—A real life tragedy with a story as much as dramatic as a moving picture scenario will get its review at the hands of 12 Texas citizens here beginning June 13 when ex-Judge R. H. Hamilton, prominent in legal and religious circles in Texas for 30 years goes on trial for the murder of Tom Walton.

Tom Walton was a 21-year-old college student—Judge Hamilton's son-in-law. His marriage to Hamilton's 17-year-old daughter Theresa was the offense for which Hamilton killed him. It will be up to the jury to decide whether all things considered, that was sufficient reason. Not in years has this part of Texas been so stirred by a criminal case.

Young Walton was popular in Amarillo where he lived with his father, a traveling salesman, and his mother, a church worker and the proprietress of a hotel. A large fund has been raised here by public subscription to assist in the prosecution of Judge Hamilton, and two outside law firms have been employed to help District Attorney Ed. W. Thomerson.

Defendant Is Prominent
Hamilton, in turn, is very widely known. He was once president of Howard Payne Baptist College, and has served as a member of the appeals commission of the Texas Supreme Court. Like his victim's mother, he has long been an active church worker.

The story of the tragedy revealing a conflict of loves and ambitions almost theatrical in their effect, is strangely like the story of the missing picture "Coquette," in which Mary Pickford is now appearing. Only the climax in the plot is different.

Walton met Theresa Hamilton at the University of Texas, at Austin, where both were students.

The romance dated from last Thanksgiving when both fell in love. Theresa has said since that her father knew of the romance in January, and told her that he would not object to their marriage if they waited until they had finished college.

Marriage Angers Father
The two did not wait, however. In February they were married. Judge Hamilton found out about it and was extremely wroth. Walton thereupon fled and was wanted.

In May the boy left the university and went home to ask his mother what he should do.

"Hamilton had picked out a million dollar son-in-law, and when Theresa married me he was mad," he said.

Mrs. Walton was confident that everything could be smoothed out. "Go and talk to Judge Hamilton," she advised her son. "He is a reasonable man—he'll be sensible."

With the Full Flavor of Fresh Fruits

When Shakespeare said "Now is the winter of our discontent," he probably had in mind the absence of summer's fine fresh fruits. And had the "bard" known the delights of such fruits blended with the delicious richness and purity of Bell Ice Cream, he would have written a sonnet on this subject alone.

How to Achieve Beauty

BY NINA HELGNA RUBINSTEIN

To be smart you must groom and groom! If this sounds like something that stablemen do to horses—never mind. It is. But it is also something that smart and lovely women do to keep their personal appearance always perfect.

It means taking care of every last detail of a finished edge where a loose end dangles when they're not supposed to dangle. No ragged edges that it is right looking. No ragged edge is not supposed to be. No suggestion of dust stains or grime anywhere.

"Horrors! Not a heel run over or a shoe uncleaned or a fingernail left unpurified! Everything just as you would have it if you had all the time in the world to dress and a full-length mirror under bright sunlight to help you to criticize yourself.

The care of your hair is one foremost consideration in good grooming. A sleek, smooth shining head of healthy hair well dressed is or should be every woman's aim for smartness.

Keeping hair healthy and lovely, amenable to a becoming hairstyle is one thing. It means proper shampooing and brushing. But keeping it well-groomed and smart means this and something more. It means frequent trimming—if you wear your hair short—and a fashionable becoming style of coiffure whether you wear it long or short.

The smartest types of coiffure today are simple, the hair following the outline of the head closely, revealing its nature contour. This matter of outline is most important in hair dressing, just as it is in clothes—the silhouette again—and you must study it.

Face yourself in the mirror and study your full-face contour; then your profile. Now drape your hair to fit this contour closely or to improve upon it. If your head is too flat in back push your hair out slightly there. If your hair is long wear your chignon or knot in the most becoming place—low on your neck for the evening if your profile suggests it, or higher, just at the base of your head, if your nose needs a curve here to balance it.

Perhaps your face needs the softening effect of waved hair. If it does, keep your hair smoothly waved always. But let the waves be wide and flat, not narrow and frizzy looking.

Can't Beat This For Study Of Horses In Action

A fast action picture of horse racing is shown above all eight feet being off the ground and two horses acting almost as a unit. They were two entries in the English Derby at Epsom Downs. The one closest to the camera is Gay Day, owned by Sir V. Sassoon and the mounting of Steve Donoghue, England's most celebrated jockey. The colt running with him is Bridge of Cahir, the second choice favorite for the Derby, is shown in the single picture.

Records Fall In Preliminaries To National Collegiate Track and Field Meet In Chicago; 332 Athletes Compete

Claude Bracey and Cy Leland Win Heats On 100-Yard Dash; Set World's Record In Discus

By CHAS. W. DUNKLEY, Associated Press Sports Writer. CHICAGO, June 7. (AP)—A world's record was eclipsed for the 100-yard dash when the meet was smashed as 332 athletes from 79 universities and colleges in 28 States finished their assault in the preliminaries of the National collegiate track and field championships on Stagg Field today.

Pete Rasmus of Ohio State University set a new world's record for the discus throw when he tossed the missile 150 feet 7 1/2 inches in leading the qualifiers for the finals tomorrow. This performance beat the former record of 155 feet 1 3/4 inches by Bud House of the University of Southern California in 1926.

Tommy the 100 yard dash on 100 seconds is becoming so common-place for Eddie Tolon, the university of Michigan negro sprinter, that there was merely an arching of eyebrows among the frozen few spectators when both Tolon and George Simpson, the Ohio discus speedster, won their preliminary heats in record time.

Bracey and Leland Flash Claude Bracey, the Discus King from Rice Institute of Houston, Texas, and Cy Leland of the Texas Christian University turned in .095 in capturing their preliminary heats.

Harlow Rother of Stanford, set a new national collegiate meet record of 50 feet 3 inches in qualifying in his specialty, the shot put. The big Californian surpassed the former record made by John Kuek of the Kansas State Teachers College by 2 1/4 inches.

Judging from the performances in the trials today the university of Southern California and the university of Washington appear to be tomorrow's dangerous threats, with Illinois and Ohio State leading up in the background. Southern California qualified 8 men in five of ten events in which preliminaries were held. Washington 7, Illinois, six and Ohio State five.

George Eaton, of Lubbock, deputy scout executive of the South Plains Area Council, supervised the court.

Slow Exhibition Won By 9-8 Count; Hill Limits Tradersmen to Five Hits In Five Innings

A slow, TERRY baseball contest was won by the Auto-Barbers of the City League Friday afternoon with the Carpenter-Painters trailing by one run when the last man was out in the fifth. The final score was 9 to 8.

It required one hour and thirty-five minutes to play off the five innings and the last frame was played in semi-darkness.

Volney Hill, Tech spitball artist, might have turned the Tradersmen back handily had he his usual control, but his fast-breaking delivery was going in all directions and the opposition took advantage of the wild throws to round the bases. Five hits was the limit the Carpenter-Painters were able to gather in the five stanzas.

Auto-Barbers hit Red Dillard rather freely in the abbreviated contest, getting 9 hits for a total of 14 bases. The winners took an early lead in the first two innings but the Tradersmen came back with four runs in the third to knot the count at 7 all. Both teams added one in the fourth and the count was again deadlocked.

Taylor scored the winning run for the Auto-Barbers in the fifth after he had led off with a single to left. Hill struck out two men in the last half of the fifth to retire the side without a counter.

The Carpenter-Painters and St. Paul Fe nine will clash at Merrill Park Sunday afternoon in an exhibition game.

followers of the green sport. The Lubbock delegation, headed by Captain Ross McWhorter, is composed of 12 men and they will arrive in Stamford early so as to become accustomed to the course and thoroughly familiar with every characteristic of it. Those in the party leaving the city this morning included Ross McWhorter, Clinton Bussey, Spencer Wells, J. O. Smith, Henry McLeary, Bud Roberts, Bob Peck, Don Mitchell, Frank Willford, V. O. Jennings, E. T. Daniels, and J. U. Biggers.

Ready For Grind An intensive training schedule has been maintained in the ranks of the Lubbock team for the past two weeks and Captain McWhorter was highly enthusiastic over the prospects for his mates. Each of the men is in the best of physical condition and should be able to hold their own with the best the tourney has to offer.

The West Texas open each year has proved a ranking one with others in the state and the greatest stars Texas has to offer will swing their clubs over the Stamford course. Thirty-six holes each day must be played by those who reach the final rounds and the qualifying rounds on Monday will reduce the field to three flights of 32 men each. From all indications at least three members of the Lubbock team are expected to place in the first flight.

Redbirds Limited To Eight Bingles By Carl Rubbell

Chicago and Pittsburgh Stay In Race by Defeating Brooklyn and Boston; Reds Trim Phillips

ST. LOUIS, June 7. (AP)—Carl Hubbell held the Cardinals to eight scattered hits here today and the Giants made a clean sweep of the three game series, winning easily by 8 to 1.

The victory gave the Giants a record of six victories and only one defeat in their current tour of the West.

O'Goofy says he'll never forget the bad start he got in the boxing game. It was in 1910 at Reno, and taking the unanimous opinion of the experts, he bet six bits on Jeff to beat Johnson.

Picking a winner in this embroglio is almost as easy as choosing a taxicab driver who won't invite the first truck driver he meets to go where Dante did.

If you must have the opinion of this department, however, here it is: Herr Schmeling, to lose.

There is no partiality expressed in picking Usundun to win. Your writer and Mr. O'Goofy cordially dislike both gents.

Schmeling beat Risco. But you never could prove the Einstein theory by Johnny Risco. Risco has sparred against what are indulgently called the good ones, and against some awful men he has been more than awful.

Herr Schmeling was knocked out once by a gent named Oypay Dan-iel and this was so far back, either And, if that's an indication of his ability to take it, he doesn't receive his socks very well.

However, both fighters will take it—right out of the box office after the brawl.

RATHER JUST SIT AROUND?
A Feeling Often Mistaken for Laziness When Really Due to Constipation.

Bedford's Black-Draught is really a mighty good medicine. "I have," says Mr. A. Buck, of his place. "We use it about all the time. I take it for indigestion and headache. "If I get constipated and bilious, and like sitting around instead of working. I haven't any ambition to get up and get busy, but after I take a few doses of Black-Draught, and it acts, I feel all right. Black-Draught hasn't failed me yet. "My daughter wasn't well. Had no formations that seemed to bother her. She would have trouble in getting her breath. She was slow and peaked. Now she takes Black-Draught and it seems to help her. She takes it after meals. This seems to dispel the gas and she is much better than she was. Her skin cleared up considerably. "We wouldn't be without Black-Draught. It is a good medicine." Thousands of others say the same. The genuine Bedford's Black-Draught is easily obtainable from neighborhood druggists, in 25¢ packages. Give it a good trial.

Summer School At Canyon Draws 484

(Special To The Avalanche) CANYON, June 7.—Four hundred and eighty-four college students were enrolled during the first day of registration at the West Texas State Teachers college, and the throng in the corridor today promises so large an enrollment that faculty members are already planning additional sections of such popular courses as English and education that will doubtless be flooded. It is expected that the total attendance record will reach a higher point than it has yet done since the college opened.

Classes will meet Friday and the regular work for the first six weeks term will begin in earnest. There will be many more new students enrolled for the second term, which opens July 15.

A large percent of the summer students are experienced teachers who have been in the field during the past year and will return to their places in September immediately after the close of the summer session.

U. S. Government recommends PINK Salmon because of its higher protein content and lower cost as compared with practically any other animal food—also for its valuable phosphorous and iodine, the preventive of goitre.

PINK Salmon is the most delicious and wholesome food for every occasion. Fresh from the can for salads and sandwiches, baked or cooked for dinners or suppers—be sure to have plenty of cans on the shelf for emergencies. It's the fresh and wholesome pink meat that appeals to everybody.

All the goodness of the deep sea fish is retained by scientific vacuum packing and high pressure steam cooking the same day that the Salmon leaves the frigid waters of the north Pacific. Serve PINK Salmon every week.

Always keep a supply of PINK Salmon on hand for quick meals and special events.

NOTICE-It is the intention of The Avalanche to meet reflection upon the character of anyone knowingly, and a through error in reporting these questions within a reasonable time, and will gladly correct any erroneous statement made.

The Avalanche is an independent Democratic newspaper, supporting in its editorial columns the principles which it believes to be right, regardless of party politics; presenting the news fairly and impartially at all times.

ONE MINUTE PULPIT Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom; and with all thy getting get understanding.—Proverbs 4:7.

Common sense in an uncommon degree is what the world calls wisdom.—Coleridge.

A TIMELY SUGGESTION NOT SO long ago a series of house robberies were reported in Lubbock, but to date no arrests have been made.

A couple of days ago another home was entered, a filling station was looted, a car was stolen, then stripped of its accessories and left by the side of the road.

No arrests have been made in these cases and if they have any clues as to the identity of the marauders officials of neither city or county have seen fit to report them.

The Avalanche is of the opinion that too much importance is being laid to observation of traffic ordinances, on breaking up petty gambling games, finding negroes for vagrancy and arresting youngsters for insignificant misdemeanors and that not enough stress is being laid upon the prevention and cure of these more serious offenses against the statutes.

All the laws of the city and state should be upheld. There's no gain-saying that. But when too much attention is paid to the breaking of minor laws and apparently not enough to those of a more serious nature, there's bound to be an increase in the latter.

The collection of fines for traffic law violations, intoxication, gambling and offenses of the like kept law enforcement departments on a self-supporting basis but the practice does not guarantee society, as a whole, the protection which it has the right to expect from more serious violations of our statutes.

For this reason officers may be strict and stern in the matter of speeding, matching nickles, and imposing too freely of the cup that cheers, yet still not be dishing up the brand of protection which the public demands.

The Avalanche would like to see a little more attention paid to the things that really count in this matter of law enforcement in Lubbock. It would like to see anti-intoxication, traffic, gaming and vagrancy law upholding be more of a sideline in the future than it has been in the past. After all, you know, the man who looks your home is a much more dangerous enemy to society than the fellow who spends a few hours over rollicking dominoes or who makes a U-turn at the intersection of Texas avenue and Broadway, and it is between you and the more serious enemies of society that officers are proposed to stand.

RESPECT FOR LAW President Hoover in a recent discussion of law enforcement, was moved to say "A surprising number of our people otherwise of responsibility in the community have drifted into the extraordinary notion that laws are made for those who choose to obey them."

His words inspired this editorial comment in a weekly magazine "If the law is wisely drawn to coincide with generally approved ideas and customs, the majority choose to obey it. Those opposed, if few enough, can be whipped into line, or put in prison, or hung, or treated in any fashion which public sentiment suggests. If the offense is appalling and the government is frail, the dishonest, vigilance committees are formed and the people themselves give sanction to their ideas of right. But if the law is approved, it dies."

The president erred in his intimation that this "extraordinary notion" is of recent origin. The Revolutionary fathers in their fight for freedom were actuated by that "extraordinary notion." It has been maintained wherever and whenever there have been creative, automobile speed and gambling laws caused large numbers to drift into the "extraordinary notion" long before prohibitions came into being, and Mr. Hoover, if he had disobeisance of the Volstead act in mind, wrongly blamed that law for the situation he discerns.

NO GRATITUDE Mrs. Pearl Feden Oldfield, who succeeded in convincing her husband, William A. Oldfield, the former Democratic whip, is the latest to choose not to run for re-election. She has found active public life an antidote for her grief over the death of her husband and reiterates her pre-election statement that women belong in the home.

Few women are fitted for public life, and many who yearn for a taste of it learn that this desire is soon surfeited. But in this they are different from most men in degree only. There are times in the lives of even the calloused veteran with many years of public life behind him when he wishes he were out of it.

It is a hard life and a thankless job. While there is a certain glamor and glory about "serving the people," there is little appreciation and gratitude for the people's servant. The most conscientious and capable public official is often the most condemned and soonest removed from office. It is commonly supposed that only the spell-binding mountebank can long control the majority vote.

Are the men and women in public life today paying for the sins of their predecessors or have they earned the many criticisms and general distrust in their own right? If the latter is untrue, the public owes its servants an apology and a change of treatment.

Poison gas may end war, according to one hopeful observer. By asphyxiating mankind? It begins to look as though the Graf Zeppelin will have to take the star-dust of a dozen or more trans-Atlantic planes.

EX-POLICE CHIEF, ONE-TIME SHERIFF HAVE A MONOPOLY WHEN IT COMES TO ENFORCING THE LAW—IN PRACTICE

BY CHARLES F. STEWART Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Sen. Harry B. Hawes, of Missouri, once was president of the St. Louis police board. Sen. Carl Hayden, of Arizona, formerly sheriff of Maricopa county.

About 90 per cent of America's legislators can theorize learnedly out of state and federal statute books, concerning law enforcement—while law breakers run rampant throughout the land.

When it comes to a few definite suggestions concerning actual enforcement, Senators Hawes and Hayden have a monopoly on all the practical experience at the capitol.

To Senators Hawes and Hayden, alone among the 551 members of both houses of congress, this country's widely-advertised crime wave means something besides a problem for the courts to solve.

Laws are sacred to congress' lawyer-members. How anybody can be so irrelevant as to break them is more than they can imagine.

What do they know about the lawbreaking psychology? Their concept of a criminal is a thoroughly bad character—not a redeeming quality in his whole make-up—who fortunately has been caught—and has not to be tried—and the question is how to convict him and keep him locked up—for life, if possible.

They discuss the crime issue in terms of legal omelets. Senators Hawes and Hayden visualize criminals as loose—Senator Hawes thinks of them as snooping down dark alleys or jimmying basement windows—Senator Hayden as abroad on the prairie, maybe rustling cattle—anyway, as determined not to be caught if they can help it—more or less dangerous—folk who must be dealt with physically.

Also Senators Hawes and Hayden are aware that a criminal may be, personally, a very likable fellow—not all bad by any means.

In short, Senators Hawes and Hayden are charitable. Nevertheless, their views relative to crime translate into terms of nightsticks and firearms.

Frankly, the trouble with President Hoover's anti-crime commission is that nearly its whole personnel is ignorant of the law-breaking mentality—that is, small-scale law breakers. As a celebrated corporation lawyer, Attorney Gen. Geo. W. Wickham doubtless understands the big ones—in the multimillionaire class.

However, it is likely that Mr. Wickham ever has battled around extensively in the company of racketeers—studying their ways.

Or that Dean Roscoe Pound of Harvard law school has done so?

Or that President Ada L. Comstock of Radcliffe college for women numbers any desperate outlaws among her acquaintances?

Frank J. Loesch, of Mr. Hoover's anti-crime organization, may be an exception. As vice-president of Chicago's crime commission. As vice-president in speaking relations with some crooks.

Indeed, we know for a fact that Mr. Loesch hunted up Scarface Al Capone and appealed to Al's better nature—to "be good."

Ordinarily Senator Hawes is not given to levity—a serious statesman dignified and unsmiling. Yet he laughs right out loud when I mentioned this Loesch-Capone incident to him.

Sensors Hawes and Hayden look their respective former roles as if they had been made for them according to specifications.

Senator Hawes could sit any time for the ideal portrait of a high police official in a big city. He is a stocky, strongly-built man with a determined face and a quiet manner, but an unmistakable hint back of it that it would be bad business to trifle with him.

Senator Hayden is an equally convincing sketch of a western sheriff. Tall, lean, ruddy, sunburned, affable informal—shifting an unlighted cigar from corner to corner of his mouth, as he chats amiably—all he needs is a holster on either hip to complete the picture almost to the point of caricature.

Senator Hawes—from the St. Louis police board. Senator Hayden—once sheriff of Arizona.

Senator Hawes knows all there is to be known about urban crime and urban criminals—the law enforcement proposition as it exists in our great centers of population.

Senator Hayden is the rural enforcers' official—familiar with all the difficulties of keeping order in a vast, thinly-settled district.

There are only two of them but they cover a broad range of territory.

BEST MEDICAL CARE IS STILL OUT OF AVERAGE MAN'S REACH

BY DR. MORRIS FISHERIN Editor Journal of The American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

The growth of the clinics, the development of the hospitals, the infant welfare stations, the demonstrations by foundations, the commercialized prep practice, the work of university groups, the special institutes devoted to periodical physical examinations, to life extension to venereal and other diseases—all these represent attempts or experiments to find the answer to the great problem of the cost of medical care.

These things are making people think. The public is realizing that there is a difference—a vast difference—between the best medical care and the average.

The physicians know that difference better than anybody else. The sentimentally minded sociologists insist that the middle class man as well as the poor and the rich are entitled to the best medical care. But the best medical care is a time-consuming, intricate, expensive procedure, far beyond the reach of the average man.

The problem of the future is the provision of the best medical care to all of the people at a price they can afford.

It should be emphasized that the bill of the physician represents but one small portion of that cost. The total cost represents actually the advancement in medical science and in medical care, including the use of the laboratory, the X-ray, hospitals, nurses and many other factors. Certainly the medical profession does not roll in wealth. The incomes of the average physician would be diminished by any first-class plumber.

The public must realize that regardless of the eventual nature of medical practice, physicians will be required for the work. Individualization increases the cost of medical service. A greater organization of medical practice for service to a greater number at a smaller cost will come in the future. To the solution of this problem the medical profession is bending its greatest efforts.

And May They Live Happily Ever After!

RICH GIRL & POOR GIRL

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

THIS HAS HAPPENED MILDRED LAWRENCE falls in love with STEPHEN ARMITAGE who is hired away from her by PAMELA JUDSON when she tells him she is trying to marry her brother HAROLD, for his money. Harold fears HUCK CONNOR, who is blackmailing him over a forged check. Huck is in a desperate situation and seeks the aid of Mr. JUDSON, who takes her to headquarters to tell her story. Judson tells her that she is a fortune teller and that she should go to the city to see a fortune teller. She goes to the city and meets a fortune teller who tells her that she is a fortune teller and that she should go to the city to see a fortune teller.

She saw her husband join Pamela and Stephen and came to the door of the dining room. An amused smile played on her lips as she watched Pamela lose her battle to keep Stephen there. For battle it was, but this time her father won.

Then he turned to his wife. "Will you leave us alone for a while, my dear? I've something very important to say to Pamela."

Mr. Judson came up and kissed her softly on both cheeks. "I hope you aren't going to let her keep thatapphire necklace," she whispered.

"The positively a bizarre thing for a young girl to have played on the shoulder. You shall have one too, my dear," he answered from the fullness of his wisdom.

Mr. Judson smiled and trailed away.

"Will, Pamela said with a very disagreeable intonation and seated herself in a hall on a satin damask chair. Pamela.

Pamela answered with an impudent look on her face. "You had no business to send Stephen away like a thousand things to say to him."

"Pamela I won't have you speaking to me in such a manner." "Then don't be a parent," Pamela flung back at him.

"I see," Mr. Judson returned. "You resent authority but you're ready enough to accept what a parent can give you in the way of sapphire necklaces and nice looking penniless young men."

Pamela sat up, interested at once. "What do you mean by that?" she asked unsmiling.

"I mean that I shall buy the necklace for you."

Pamela stared at him wide-eyed and worried.

"If you apologize for your impudence," Mr. Judson added.

SIDE GLANCES

Hurry and get back; I don't want to be caught parking.

very stiffly. "Oh yes you do," Pamela said hastily. "And how would you like it if I suggested that she had married you for your money?" "Absurd." "Is it? Then don't buy her any jewelry for a while and find out. I hope you'll be lucky, but anyway I have as much right to take my happiness where I find it as you have. We both think we're loved for ourselves. Why should I give up because there's a chance that I'm wrong? You took the chance. I want to take it, too."

Mr. Judson did not answer immediately. Pamela came close to him again and let him see the tears in her eyes.

"Let me have my way, daddy," she pleaded. "Stephen wants to marry me. We'll go away for our honeymoon and I'll be such a wonderful wife he'll be crazy about me."

She slipped her soft hands over his. He looked searchingly at her eager young face and told himself that any man she wanted must love her.

"I hope you're right about Armitage," he said in surrender and drew her to his breast.

He was trembling with emotion. His own life, seen suddenly through the eyes of his child, was not admirable to him. He had set her an example and she had shown him that he had no right to forbid her to drink where he himself had drunk.

"You're the dearest person in the world," Pamela told him joyfully. "Wait until Stephen and I present you a little row of grandchildren and see how happy well all be."

Mr. Judson smiled. "I'll wait," he remarked with a comfortable sigh.

And now will you please telephone Stephen's room and ask him to come back here? Pamela coaxed. "We must make our plans. You don't object to our being married soon, do you?" "How soon is soon?" "Right away. Maybe tomorrow." Mr. Judson ceased to jest. "That's impossible, Pam. Armitage must be cleared before you can be married."

"Can't you fix that?" "I'm doing all in my power. My lawyer learned from Armitage that it was a detective named Short, from the insurance company, who found the planted evidence in his room. There was no time to communicate with Short today, but tomorrow we'll see if he can't locate the men Armitage suspects of being implicated in the theft of the car."

"But can't they find Huck?" "He seems to have disappeared. The police have no trace of him, not even a photograph; nothing but his description to send out."

"What would happen if Stephen and I were to be married and go on a trip?" "I'd lose the bonds I've put up for his reappearance."

"You don't care about that, do you?" "Now see here, Pam." Mr. Judson was serious. "There'd be a warrant out for his arrest. Don't you go putting any foolish notions into his head."

"But if they couldn't catch him we could stay away until Huck Connor is found, and that would be safer for Stephen, wouldn't it? I'm sure there's something going on that you haven't told me about."

Mr. Judson considered. Perhaps it would be best for Stephen to tell Pamela what had happened that afternoon.

"You wouldn't have asked him to stay here except for some good reason," Pamela went on. "After all, it's not you who is in love with him."

"No, I don't want to love him that induced me to keep him here," her father agreed. "Frankly he is most unwelcome and I shall have a talk with him before I accept him as my son-in-law."

Fight On Fruit Pests Launched

(Special To The Avalanche) STAMFORD, June 7.—The danger of products from in Texas being infested by the Mediterranean fruit fly, the Mexican fruit fly and other pests is at present occupying the spot light of attention of the three regional chambers of Texas.

The South Texas Chamber of Commerce is taking the initiative because it serves the region most likely to be immediately affected, but the West Texas Chamber of Commerce pledges its cooperation in full force, according to Manager Homer D. Wade of the western organization.

Wade said protests would be filed with the Federal Horticultural Board, the State Health Department, the Commissioner of Agriculture and others, against the fast passenger train service whereby a north bound train will reach Nueva Laredo at 4:00 a. m. There will be no inspection of any kind at the border, but that inspection will occur at 7:00 a. m. on the moving train at a point between Cotulla and San Antonio.

Dean Charles E. Friley of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College delivered the commencement address at the Simmons auditorium. Dean Friley is the son of the first president of Simmons, Rev. W. C. Friley, who was chief executive from 1891 to 1924.

Five M. A. graduates, ten seniors in piano and 129 B. A. graduates made up the list of this year's candidates. Five states, Texas, Oklahoma, California, New Mexico and Arkansas are represented.

NEW YORK, June 6 (AP)—Thirty-three men, including a French count, were arrested today as operators of a syndicate alleged to have brought millions of dollars worth of liquor into this country. Maxence De Polignac, the count, was considered the biggest catch of the lot. Agents of the prohibition enforcement department said they had been trying to get him for years.

But he may try to get to Armistage outside and we'll have a better chance of apprehending him or some one who knows where he is hiding if we keep a strict watch on Armistage, we believe."

"I don't see what Huck would want to do to him now." "We think he doesn't want him to marry you. Pam, and that he will go to any length to prevent it. You've got to be very careful." Pamela was frightened. "Please call up Stephen," she said nervously. Her father stepped to the telephone and asked for Stephen's room. To Be Continued

Week's Cotton Prices Assume Steadier Tone

Outlook for Crop Is Reflected As Uneasy By Market

Sales Range About 19-cent Level for New Crop Deliveries; Farm Relief Action Is Indicated

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, June 7.—A steadier tone has been evident in cotton during the past week with prices selling up to about or somewhat over the 19-cent level for new crop deliveries. This would seem to have reflected rather more uneasiness over the coming crop outlook, combined with encouraging prospects for early action on the matter of farm relief and agreement for settlement of reparations.

More favorable weather conditions have been reported in the eastern and parts of the central belt but there were heavy rains in Texas and Oklahoma at the beginning of the week, and according to some authorities, the condition of the crop on the average declined somewhat during the first week in the month.

Infestation Reports Heard
There have also been more numerous reports of boll weevil infestation in both eastern and western belt sections, and the fear has been expressed in some quarters that unless these insects are controlled by exceptionally dry, warm weather, the damage from them may be very serious this season. Many still believe that with a few days of dry, warm weather which is now believed to be badly needed over the entire belt, the crop would make a very rapid recovery, however, and, while unfavorable features in the weather and crop news have brought in buying on the set-back, they have failed to stimulate any general or aggressive demand on the advances.

Reparations Action Favorable

Settlement of the reparations problem is expected to react favorably upon European trade, but, according to local houses with foreign connections, there has been no improvement in the demand from Liverpool or the continent during the past week. Cotton spinners in Lancashire, according to cable advice received here from Liverpool late in the week, demand a wage reduction equal to twelve per cent of current earnings and it is apprehended that if this demand is pressed operatives will strike.

There has been continued talk of domestic mill curtailment during the end-season, but notwithstanding unfavorable features in the textile news, some authorities reiterate estimates placing the probable carry-over of American cotton at about 2,250,000 bales, which is regarded as emphasizing the world's dependence upon the coming crop for its next season's supply.

New Advance Lost In Wheat Market

CHICAGO, June 7.—(AP)—Faced by heavy selling to realize profits and by indications of a bumper harvest in Kansas, wheat prices today lost all of a new advance. Earlier, the market had risen to above any recent top level with big buying stimulated by attention to farm relief developments and because of suggestions from important sources that with government support wheat would go as high as $1.75 or $2 a bushel.

Closing quotations were unsettled at the same as yesterday a finish to 1-4c lower. Corn closed at 1-2 to 7-8c net advance, oats unchanged to 1-4c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12c.

Authoritative estimates received near the end of the day indicated that Kansas is about to harvest a yield of wheat 40,000,000 bushels more than has been looked for. The total output of Kansas wheat will be 173,500,000 bushels, according to these estimates, which will be hardly 4,000,000 bushels less than last year. Inasmuch as Kansas is the largest producer of wheat in the United States, the figures were deemed especially significant.

Advances in corn today were relatively well maintained, unfavorable weather over the corn belt being a factor. Oats followed corn. Provisions averaged higher, sympathizing with the action of grain values and of the hog market.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT

Howard County Crops Are In Fine Condition

(Special To The Avalanche)
BIG SPRING, June 7.—Howard county area has the brightest crop and livestock prospects at the same time in many years, two inches more rain has fallen over the Big Spring territory during the month of May than for the same month in eighteen years. Seventy-five percent of the improved agricultural land is planted and considerable acreage is up and growing off nicely with a plentiful supply of surface and sub-soil moisture. This area will need but few light showers to make good crops. Pastures are in excellent condition and livestock looking good. The Big Spring area will produce the largest fruit crops in ten years unless hail damages the present outlook.

Cotton Irregular Friday Following Opening Declines

NEW YORK, June 7.—(AP)—Cotton today was irregular, rallying from opening declines in renewal of the recent buying movement before easing in the late trading on the favorable view of the detailed after selling up from 18.73 to 18.95, declined to 18.73 and closed at 18.76 with the general market closing steady at net declines of 4 to 6 points.

The advance to 18.79 for July and 19.12 for December attracted considerable realizing and the day's weather reports were considered favorable over the greater part of the belt. This caused some local selling, and the lowest levels of the day were reached in the late trading when July sold at 18.57 and December at 18.90.

The close was 2 to 3 points up from the lowest covering. Part of the early buying was attributed to bullish crop advices from the South west which commented on the unfavorable effects of recent rains reported, reported a heavy emergency of boll weevil in Texas for the period from March 1 to May 31.

Port receipts today were 5,995 bales, U. S. port stocks 1,011,075. Exports 10,873 making 7,760,197 so far this season. The day's business here included further switching from near to late months but there was little or no change in the differences between July and October.

Cotton Develops Easy Trend After Early Fluctuation

NEW ORLEANS, June 7.—(AP)—After fluctuating aimlessly during the early part of the session cotton developed an easier trend later today on liquidation by recent buyers. Although there was considerable demand before mid-session it tapered off and during the afternoon active positions fell off under the liquidation. October selling to 18.68 compared with 18.87, the day's high. The option closed at 18.70, or 9 points net lower. The general market closed steady at net losses of 6 to 10 points.

The laws of the day were made in late trading when July sold at 18.72, October 18.68 and December 18.81, or 19 points under the high. Final prices were 2 points up from the lowest with active morning showing net declines of 6 to 10 points.

A private report estimating the increase in acreage at 4.40 per cent was issued during the day but had no effect on trading. Receipts 8,192, for week 26,768; for year 9,256,481; last year 8,324,553. Exports 6,865; last year 6,935; 983. Stocks 1,015,274, last year 1,045,160. Stock on shipboard 85,484; last year 124,388. Spot sales 3,586; last year 3,726.

GETS TOO MUCH RAIN

Black Rust Threatens Crops Near Canyon

(Special To The Avalanche)
CANYON, June 7.—Randall county was again soaked in rain last night when from 3-10 to one inch rain fell, according to the official rain gauge of the weather bureau. Only 3-10 inch was reported in Canyon but farmers in the west part of the county around UMBERGER report a full inch.
Considerable apprehension is felt by the farmers over the appearance of black rust in the Hayside vicinity, caused by excessive moisture. There have been several heavy rains in the county during the last month.

Pike's Peak Peanut Pushing Perilous Pastime

This looks like a soft snap, pushing a peanut a mile a day for 22 days up Pike's Peak, but Bill Williams, who is doing just that, says it's the most perilous kind of a pastime. Barring the dangers of a sudden ambush of circus elephants or attacks from hungry baseball fans, Bill says it's the ladies who disturb his game most. Bill, fortified with gloves, knee pads, and with a prong on his nose with which he gently prods the goober on its lagging way, said he almost lost his peanut the other day when a bevy of sun-kissed California girls came to watch him at his stunt. He looked up and the fractious peanut started back down hill, to be recaptured only after a struggle. Bill, however, perseveres and hopes to reach the top on scheduled time, if he can keep the squirrels away.
