Prospect Of Visits Eases Allied Fears

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

GENEVA (AP) — The prospect of a visit to the United States by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev eased Allied fears today of a dangerous new flareup in the Berlin crisis after the collapse of the foreign ministers conference here.

U.S., British and French officials all conceded that the conference almost certainly will end in disagreement Wednesday. The only reservation they make is that some unforseen and radical change of position by Russia could alter the outcome even on the final day. Informants said the West will not change its position.

Negotiations have come almost to a standstill. The only East-West talk scheduled today was a luncheon meeting between Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd. The Briton was to meet before and after with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

Before talk arose of an invitation soon from President Eisenhower to Khrushchev, all the Allied delegations here were concerned over what Russia would do about West Berlin when efforts to reach an agreement finally collapsed.

Now Allied diplomats, especially the British and West German, express the view that so long as high-level discussions are in prospect or under way, Khrushchev can be counted on to keep his threats against West Berlin in suspension.

Lloyd and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan see a Khrushchev - Eisenhower meeting as a step toward a Summit conference, which they still ardently desire. They apparently believe talks between the Soviet Premier and the U.S. President would open up prospects for agreement at the Summit on at least one or two issues.

A West German spokesman said: "We have full confidence in our American allies that they will see to our interests in any talks on the German problem with Khrushchev."

"We think," he added, "that such talks would decrease the possibility of a threat of unilateral action by the Soviet Union in Berlin if the Geneva conference ends in failure."

The American delegation refused officially to discuss the possibility of an Eisenhower-Khrushchev meeting. A U.S. spokesman said the whole question is a White House matter and any information would have to come from Washington.

Diplomats of other delegations claimed Eisenhower had already decided to invite Khrushchev and that the invitation would be sent and announced before the end of the Geneva conference. But American quarters generally discounted such speedy action by the President.

Exact Dates To Be Fixed

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will exchange visits this fall—thus taking into a new phase of diplomacy the East-West differences on which world peace hangs.

Khrushchev's visit here — a historic first by a top leader of Soviet communism—will be in September. Eisenhower will go to Moscow later in the year. Exact dates for the visits have not yet been fixed.

(In Warsaw, Vice President Richard M. Nixon said he understood Khrushchev would go to the United States about Sept. 15).

Almost identical announcements of the plans were made here and in Moscow—the differences apparently only those of translation. Winding up on the peace theme, the final paragraph, in the text released by Moscow, said: "Both governments express the hope that the forthcoming visits will promote the establishment of better understanding between the United States and the U.S.S.R. and will further the cause of peace."

Eisenhower called a special news conference to make the announcement here. Exchanges at this meeting with reporters developed also:

1. Before meeting with Khrushchev here, Eisenhower will go to Europe later this month to confer with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, French President Charles de Gaulle and West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

2. Exchanges on the question of Khrushchev-Eisenhower visits have been going on for some time; they were initiated well before Vice President Richard M. Nixon went to the Soviet Union.

Nixon Told Of Plan In Advance

Eisenhower said he told Nixon on the day the vice president left for the Soviet Union that negotiations in written form were in progress looking toward an exchange of visits between Khrushchev and himself.

Eisenhower said he told Nixon not to open the subject of the exchange visits, but that there was no prohibition on him discussing the matter once the subject was opened up.

In telling of his plans to go to Europe to confer with the heads of state of Great Britain, France and West Germany, Eisenhower said coordination between the Allied powers has been good.

But, he added, there are problems that ought to be talked out between heads of government.

As to whether all this may lead to a summit conference of East and West, Eisenhower said such a conference was absolutely impractical unless there were advance indications of positive results.

But, with the prospective collapse of the Geneva foreign ministers conference, it was obvious that there was opening up now a new, higher level of exchanges which the Western Allies hope may bring some alteration in Soviet positions on the great issues between the East and West.

First reaction in Congress to the forthcoming Eisenhower - Khrushchev visits was favorable, though not unanimously so.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Republican leader, said the talks if successful could "enshrine the President as the boldest and most determined peacemaker in many generations."

But Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind) protested that "it looks like we're again being taken in by the Russians."

Hope To Change Soviet Ideas

Khrushchev is expected to visit Washington for two or three days to engage in, as the announcement put it, informal talks with the President.

Plans are for the Soviet leader to put in another 10 days or so in travel about the United States.

The hope obviously is that these travels may change some of Khrushchev's ideas about the strength and character of this country and its people.

Eisenhower smilingly described his announcement that Khrushchev would visit this country in September and that he would return the visit later as one of the worst-kept secrets in a long time.

The President spoke of his move as aimed to melt a little of the ice which seems to freeze this country's relations with the Soviet Union.

Eisenhower said it was his hope the exchange of visits might lead to a better understanding between the two countries and promote the cause of peace.

Eisenhower said Khrushchev, in addition to conducting informal talks with him, would be able to see some of this country. The President said his visit to the Soviet Union also would include visits outside Moscow.

The matter of an exchange of visits had been discussed with Western Allies, Eisenhower said, adding that they had agreed to it in the hope it would produce positive rather than negative values.

He also said congressional leaders with whom he had discussed the matter had reacted favorably.

Eisenhower gave no indication as to how soon he will return Khrushchev's visit, but noted that fall does not end until Dec. 22.

He described his visit to the Soviet Union as a personal one, saying he cannot and does not intend to speak for the Western powers, but only for the United States.

The announcement eases fears of a dangerous new flareup of the Berlin crisis after the imminent collapse of the Geneva foreign ministers conference. Dispatches from Geneva said diplomats expect this parley to end in failure Wednesday.

But with the leaders of the United States and Russia slated to meet, it is considered unlikely that the Kremlin would take any move toward its aim of ousting the Western powers from West Berlin.

Thus the world is apparently spared, for some weeks at least, the prospect of any great collision over Berlin.

The Khrushchev visit will be a historic first — no other top leader of Russian communism has ever visited the United States.

It will pose a massive security problem for federal officers and

Senate Votes To Go Home

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN (AP) — The Senate adopted on voice vote today a resolution to end the third special session of the Legislature at 12 noon Wednesday.

The resolution was sent to the House. House agreement is necessary to make the go-home resolution effective.

The resolution was introduced by Sen. Dorsey B. Hardeman, San Angelo.

The action came a few minutes after House-Senate conferees on spending ended another session without announcing final agreement on an appropriations bill.

Gov. Price Daniel's administrative aide said earlier that Daniel will not submit the Hale-Aikin public school improvement program to the current called session.

This spiked current, widespread reports among lawmakers that the third called session might be prolonged by another tax fight that would grow out of such submission.

George Christian, Daniel's administrative aide, said the governor positively would not submit the school plan. The special session may consider only topics that are specifically offered by the governor.

A Legislature loaded with new millions in state money went back to work today to decide how to spend it.

The 10-member House-Senate conference committee reached tentative agreement Sunday on who would get the $2,415,000,000 available from old and new taxes and other such sources as federal aid. The conferees met again this morning. The House meets at 2 p.m., the Senate at 10:30 a.m.

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert may be able to say today exactly how much he estimates will be available to the General Revenue Fund from the tax bill passed last week after months of agonizing. Its backers figured 185 million.

But Calvert's word is needed to make it official. The revenue measure, leaning heavily on special sales taxes; feeds the General Fund from which such state services as college and hospital operating monies are derived.

Approval of an appropriations bill was the only big job left on the third special session's agenda.

It could finish its work by mid-week. The session does not automatically end until Aug. 15, however.

There was a great deal of feeling that unless Gov. Price Daniel submits new, controversial subjects of legislation, the lawmakers will finally go home soon.

Special sessions may not consider legislative topic not specifically submitted by the governor.

If Daniel should give the legislators a go-ahead on consideration of the Hale-Aikin public school improvement program, including raises for teachers and other expenses that have been figured at around 125 million dollars a year, a new tax fight would be touched off.

Early in the regular session that started last January, Daniel suggested that if the people and the Legislature want the Hale - Aikin program put into effect, a one-cent boost in gasoline taxes will do it.

Man-Carrying Type Capsule Launching Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first man-carrying type of space capsule is scheduled for launching unoccupied, next month.

It will be sent up from Cape Canaveral, Fla., by a vehicle called Big Joe, essentially a modified Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile.

The conventional Atlas, 75 feet tall, climbs to altitudes of several hundred miles and delivers its warhead at speeds of more than 15,000 miles an hour over a range of up to 6,300 miles.

Big Joe, by contrast, will rise vertically to about 120 miles, then tilts at right angles and slightly downward.

With its mighty engine still putting out full power, it will thunder down a slanted course through the earth's thickening atmosphere.

The purpose: a maximum test of the ablation or heat erosion of the outer space of the space capsule's nose.

The space capsule atop the Atlas in Big Joe is the same weight —2,100 to 2,200 pounds—and will have the same instrumentation and pressurized compartment as the man-in-space capsule but will not have the environmental equipment required to keep a man alive.

Quake Rocks Dixie Area

By The Associated Press

An earthquake shook parts of Georgia and South Carolina early today.

No injuries or serious damage were reported.

The tremor was felt from Columbia, S.C. to Brunswick, Ga., 200 miles south of the South Carolina capital.

A state policeman at Columbia, Otis Hillyer, said he had been awakened when the police building shook. He said he thought there were two tremors a few seconds apart.

Two tremors also were reported at Augusta, Ga., where a home was shaken and beds rattled. At Savannah, Ga., about 120 miles southeast of Augusta, the quake was felt only slightly in downtown office buildings but distinctly in rural sections.

A rumble that sounded like an explosion was reported at Charleston, S.C., and within a 50-mile radius of the coastal city. The Weather Bureau said a building in Charleston shook for several minutes.

Fire Ant Quarantine Is Ordered In Dallas

AUSTIN (AP)—A fire ant quarantine was ordered on Dallas County today by Agriculture Commissioner John White.

It prevents movement of soil, soil-bearing plants or other carriers from infested plots without permit. An infested area of about 1,000 acres has been discovered in Dallas County.

Nixon Meets Wladyslaw

By JOHN SCALI

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon met for more than three hours today with Communist chief Wladyslaw Gomulka and Premier Jozef Cyraniewicz. Crowds continued to cheer him at every turn.

About 5,000 enthusiastic Poles gathered to watch Nixon place a rose wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in a solemn ceremony honoring Poland's war dead. Many in the crowd cheered him with cries of "Live 100 years," a traditional cheer in Poland.

An excited Polish worker bolted through police lines and grabbed Nixon in a fierce bear hug, almost knocking him down.

Polish security agents pried Nixon loose and pushed the man roughly aside. Nixon was startled momentarily but quickly regained his composure. The vice president's aides said the man meant no harm and that he wanted to hoist Nixon on the shoulders of the crowd.

Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki author of a plan for a European atom-free zone which the United States has rejected, sat in on Nixon's meeting with top Polish leaders.

"Neexon," "Neexon," cried many spectators as the Vice President drove through the city in a black automobile flying the American flag and the red and white Polish banner.

Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press officer, reported that the calls on Poland's president Alexander Zawadski at BelvZedere Palace this morning and on Parliament Speaker Czeslaw Wycech were "very friendly in every respect."

He declined to disclose what subjects were discussed. Nixon's call on Gomulka stretched out through lunch time. The two men discussed international problems so intently they decided they might as well continue. Gomulka arranged to have luncheon served.

During the ceremony at the tomb, one of the Nixon's well-wishers handed the vice president his 5-year-old daughter to hold. Nixon held the girl in his arms, turned to the crowd around him and called out as they applauded:

"We must all work for a better life for our children."

Hot Weather To Continue

Hot, humid weather under clear skies was the weather picture for most of Texas Monday, but partly cloudy skies persisted at El Paso and Houston.

Temperatures, which ranged from 82 at Dallas to 71 at Midland at daybreak, were expected to climb in the middle and upper 90s during the day.

It would be almost a repeat of Sunday's temperatures when the maximums ranged from 91 at Galveston to 105 at Presidio.

A few light showers dotted the state Sunday and forecasts indicated that widely scattered or isolated thunderstorms would strike again Monday.

Hospital Contract Let; Bonds Sold

A contract was awarded by the county commissioners court this morning to A. P. Kasch & Sons Construction Co. of Big Spring for construction of the 53-bed addition to Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Kasch's general contract price will be $451,254 with alternates taken by the court as recommended by the county hospital board. The firm was low bidder on the project, and Kasch's contract includes everything to complete the new addition except moveable furnishings.

The Kasch firm is expected to be on the site within a few days to begin the work and to complete the job in 12 to 14 months. The two-story addition will run south from the hospital's present surgical floor and between the medical and maternity wings.

Snyder's two banks, the West Texas State Bank and Snyder National Bank, were sold $225,000 in county hospital bonds which will be due out by 1962 on their joint bid of 3.25 per cent interest. The bonds mature at the rate of $25,000 in 1960, $25,000 in 1961 and $175,000 in 1962, but the banks' bid included an option for the county to purchase the remainder of the bonds in 1961, which would save about $5,000 in interest if exercised.

Average interest rates on other bids, none of which had the option, were 3.2343 per cent by Columbian Securities Corp., 3.0944 by Rauscher, Pierce & Co., Inc., and 3.1320 by First Southwest Co.

The $225,000 in bonds are a part of the $450,000 authorized by voters last year for the hospital addition. The remainder of the $450,000 will be cancelled because the federal governament will pay $250,000 on the addition through its Hill-Burton hospital funds.

On recommendation of Russell Jones, Jr., county park superintendent, the court voted to have 16 additional lights installed at the

First Demo Congresswoman Is Dead

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP)—The first woman Democrat in Congress, Mary T. Norton, is dead at 84.

She died Sunday of a heart attack in Greenwich Hospital.

Mrs. Norton rose through New Jersey politics and was named to run for Congress in 1924 by Frank Hague, who headed the Jersey City, N.J., Democratic organization.

She was elected, and stayed in Congress for 26 years. On her 75th birthday, in 1950, she announced that she would not seek re-election. She made the announcement from the Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital, where she was recuperating from a combination of influenza and pneumonia.

Her career in government was not over, however. Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin appointed her a special consultant to the Labor Department on "womanpower," and she served until the end of the Truman administration.

In her early years in Congress she drew considerable attention by calling for the repeal of prohibition, at a time when most congressmen were avoiding the subject. She introduced the first resolution calling for repeal.

Her congressional career set a record for length of service by a woman legislator. For five years she headed the House Committee on the District of Columbia, the first woman to ever head a congressional committee.

She was also named to the House Labor Committee and in 1937 became its chairman. She held that post for 10 years.

She was a strong New Dealer, helping to guide and later defend the Roosevelt administration's wage and hours legislation. She also championed the fair employment practices act.

In 1947 she was named "Outstanding Catholic Woman of the Year."

She was married to Robert F. Norton, a businessman, in 1909. He died in 1934. Their only child died soon after birth.

Mrs. Norton came to Greenwich three years ago.

She leaves two sisters, Mrs. Joseph McDonagan of Greenwich and Mrs. Ann Hopkins of New York City.

Negro Uncertain Of Readiness To Die

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Jesse Doffies Smith, 42, Negro handyman of a Houston country club, said today he didn't know if he was ready to die in the electric chair after midnight for the hold-up slaying of a Chinese grocer at Houston.

"The spirit is willing but the flesh is weak," he told a newsman from his death cell.

Smith was given the death sentence for the July 26, 1958, slaying of T. H. Wong.

He admitted the shooting, but said the holdup had not been planned that way. He said two men had planned the robbery and he was to get $300 for pulling the job. He said that when Wong grabbed him he knew something was wrong.

Rockefeller To Decide On Political Plans By Nov. 1

By JACK BELL

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York will decide by Nov. 1, on the basis of public opinion polls whether he will seek the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

The governor, who is teetering on the brink of an announcement, has told friends that he would be a candidate only if he had conclusive evidence that Vice President Richard M. Nixon is not likely to win against the Democratic nominee.

Rockefeller takes no stock in polls which point to the election of a Democrat as president.

But he apparently is unwilling to challenge Nixon unless the vice president unaccountably slips in the polls to a point where they indicate one of several Democratic opponents could defeat him.

Some of his strategists have told the New York governor that his timing is too late. They say the reaction to Nixon's Soviet visit will be a rise in poll popularity at the time Rockefelled plans his decision. But the governor insists adamantly he will make no decision until fall.

Rockefeller clearly is the star so far of the 51st annual Governor's Conference, opening today.

Dressed in a conservative dark suit despite San Juan's muggy heat, he kept reporters laughing most of the way through a news conference in which he said he has no intention of seeking the presidency but—

He wouldn't preclude the possibility of completely changed circumstances under which he could become a candidate.

It was news to him that former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey had advised him to make a decision on the race this fall.

Neither had he heard, he said, of a prediction by Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) that accelerating events would force such a decision earlier than expected.

Yes, Rockefeller continued, he had a lot of letters urging him to run. No, he hadn't counted them, but they probably ran into the hundreds. What was his reaction to these and newspaper reports of his possible candidacy?

"I'm interested, like everybody else is," he said with another wide grin.

Nixon, he said, "seems to be a leading candidate for the prize. He thought Nixon had "handled himself with great skill under varied and difficult circumstances" in his tour of the Soviet Union and his encounters with Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The Democratic picture was clouded by the reluctance of most of that party's governors to speak out in favor of any particular candidate.

Although Connecticut Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff insisted that Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) is the leading candidate for his party's nomination, some of his colleagues were not so sure.

Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida said his state probably will get behind its Sen. George A. Smathers as a favorite son. But he predicted compromises will be reached by which all major candidates will be represented on the state's delegation, and no one person, including Smathers, will be able to control it.

Steel Negotiators Resume Session

NEW YORK (AP) — In the wake of a sharp public rebuke by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, industry and union negotiators today hold their second joint session since the nationwide steel strike began July 15.

Today's meeting had been arranged by federal mediators before Mitchell accused both sides of failing to make serious efforts to settle their contract dispute.

Mitchell noted in Washington Saturday that the negotiators had met just once—and for only two hours — last Monday.

"This is no way to bargain," said Mitchell, who is serving as President Eisenhower's fact-finder in the strike. "They cannot reach agreement unless they talk to each other."

Spokesmen for the industry and the striking United Steelworkers of America denied they were not trying to reach agreement. They did not offer to alter their positions in the deadlock.

The industry called a news conference today — two hours before the joint bargaining session — in a move to support its contention that an increase in steel labor costs would spur inflation.

Industry spokesmen said that at the luncheon they would make public "thousands of letters" supporting the anti-inflation contention. The letters were written in response to a recent industry advertisement in newspapers.

Today's joint negotiations were arranged last Week by Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. Finnegan has been meeting separately with both sides, before and since last Monday's joint talks, which he arranged.

Mitchell's criticism of the negotiators brought a comment from R. Conrad Cooper, top industry negotiator and executive vice president of the United States Steel Corp.

"We (the industry) have been cooperating with the Federal Mediation Service as requested by President Eisenhower," Cooper said "we have met with them whenever they wished and under whatever circumstances they proposed."

Little League baseball field in Towle Memorial Park.

Jones was authorized to take bids from electrical firms and award the job to the low bidder. Estimated cost is $450 to $500. The park superintendent will attempt to have the work complete prior to the State Little League Tournament, which will be held in Snyder Aug. 14-15.

Jones, Leland (Mutt) Herod, coordinator of Little Leagues here, and Buck Logan, a Little League team manager, told the court that additional lights would be helpful in bringing the Little League park up to Little League specifications.

While the Little League field here is much more adequate than most in the state, the men said, the 40 1,500-watt lights at the field were originally installed for use in softball and are very adequate for the larger ball. For baseball, however, there should be 56 to 60 lights, they said.

Jones said the lights had been checked at various points on the field with a meter and that only one spot behind the home plate came up to specifications.

J. Ray Martin, county judge, read a commendation from the Little Leagues here to Jones for his work and that of the park system in making Little League tournaments here successful.

The court also authorized Jones to regulate hours at the swimming pool in the park. Because of decreased business at certain hours, Jones said, new hours have been set at 2:30 to 6:30 p.m. weekdays, 2:30 to 6:30 p.m. and 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Saturdays and 1 to 6 p.m. Sundays.

VISITS

for state and local authorities wherever Khrushchev may go.

While no top man in the Russian hierarchy has ever visited this country, the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt did visit Russia. In February 1945 Roosevelt, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin met at Yalta in the Crimea in a conference which has been controversial to this day.

Eisenhower is known to have long held the view that under the right conditions it would be a good idea for Khrushchev — and for the top echelon of the Russian government in general — to visit this country. The idea behind that was to let the Russians see what this country has, how it lives and the stakes it has to defend if need be.

For a long time there has been speculation in some quarters that there are misconceptions among the top Russians about how fully the American people back their government leaders, and the degree of public devotion to the democratic way.

Eisenhower has believed that public opinion would have to be carefully prepared, however, for any Khrushchev visit, to avoid demonstrations or incidents.

Eisenhower also felt that the timing of any Khrushchev visit would be important, and that careful consideration would have to be given the feelings of America's allies and of "captive countries."

One part of that ground apparently is covered by the plan for Eisenhower to visit Europe and talk with Allied leaders.

The prospective unproductive end of the Geneva conference could fit closely into Eisenhower's thoughts about proper timing.

Had you come 25 years ago young fellow, your light would have been a kerosene lamp. But your Dad and a lot of other folks like him organized an electric cooperative and built their own electric system. It was the only way we could get electricity in our rural area.

Now you see going to have to help guard it. Some people would have you think the government built the system and gave it to us. That isn't true. We borrowed the money and we are paying back our loan with interest. Our cooperative is a business managed, tax paying partnership and we are happy to welcome you as a member. Because the Cooperative brought electricity to your farm you'll lead a healthier, happier life.

Grow strong young fellow. You'll want a light in the window some distant night when your son comes into the world.

Fire Extinguished In Apartment Building

Firemen put out a fire in an apartment building at 1307 Avenue T about 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The fire apparently started in an apartment unit and spread to the attic, firemen said.

Walls and ceiling of the apartment were damaged, but the fire was put out before extensive damage was caused.

The building is owned by A. B. Augustine, and the apartment was occupied by Ramon Rodriquez.

Firemen Called To Scene Of Car Fire

Firemen were called to the scene of a car fire nine miles east of Snyder about 9:15 o'clock this morning, but the fire was out when they arrived.

It was in a 1953 Chrysler sedan owned by Bob Parks, 2802 Thirty-fourth Street. Apparently the carberator flooded and the engine caught fire. Damage was slight.

Parks had been taken from the scene to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Bell ambulance a few minutes earlier, because of illness, ambulance attendants said.

New Fiscal System Needed

THE DALLAS MORNING NEWS:

Several legislators have suggested that Texas's future fiscal problem can be greatly ameliorated by a complete overhauling of the state's financial system. Prominent in this overhauling would be a decrease in the number of special funds and a build-up of the general fund with greater responsibility on the Legislature to appropriate for the various departments now supported from special funds receiving dedicated tax and other forms of state revenue. It is a frequently overlooked fact in all of the discussion of the state deficit that there would be no deficit if all funds were consolidated.

The present system by which most Texas state financing is done through special funds maintained by special dedicated sources of revenue has many merits, especially the merit of permitting state departments, such as the Highway Department, to look ahead and make plans for the future instead of holding everything in abeyance until legislative appropriations are made.

But, as among the states, Texas probably leans more to the special fund type of financing than any other. The present Legislature has been maintaining itself by appropriations out of the cigarette and other special funds. A thorough going over of the state financial situation might reveal the advisability of putting a little more dependence upon the state's general fund and a little less on the many special funds on which the state largely operates.

President Dislikes Modern Diplomacy

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's ideas on diplomacy go back to the 19th century. That explains in part his lack of eagerness for a summit conference and the great, free-rein he gave his late secretary of state, John Foster Dulles.

Some of his views, not stated publicly, can be given here on excellent authority. Others he has expressed at his news conferences. His ideas are in the numbered paragraphs below.

1. He does not like the modern development of diplomacy—summit conferences—and considers it a step backward for the heads of state to spend their time on work that belongs to specialists, like foreign ministers.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is the advocate of summit conferences. Now British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan backs the idea. Khrushchev considers foreign ministers' messenger boys and says only the heavyweights can get things done.

2. Eisenhower prefers seeing foreign ministers enjoy the exercise of the great authority given them in the 19th century. He says their governments normally try to establish limits within which they can negotiate.

Dulles, who ran American foreign affairs like a one-man show, was given a freer hand by Eisenhower than any American Secretary of State enjoyed in this century. But he insisted that Eisenhower approve every move before he made it.

3. Eisenhower considers the congress of Vienna in 1814-15, called to reorganize Europe, after the downfall of Napoleon, an example of foreign ministers' exercising the ultimate in authority, both in negotiating and in making agreements.

Some historians, judging from their appraisal of the Congress of Vienna, might think Eisenhower chose an unfortunate example of what foreign ministers can do when they have the ultimate in authority.

4. He has cited as an example of what he doesn't like about summit conferences the 1807 meeting between Napoleon and Czar Alexander I of Russia on a raft in the River Niemen near Tilsit.

That was a meeting between a bamboozler, Napoleon, and a half-baked mystic, Alexander, who at first admired each other, talked of dividing the world up between them, and then wound up fighting each other.

Khrushchev has been trying for more than a year and a half to get Eisenhower into a conference with him. At first the President was downright reluctant. Then he seemed to yield a bit.

Lately he has been saying he'd go to the summit if the foreign ministers, discussing the Berlin problem at Geneva, showed some progress. He has never said precisely what he considers progress.

There's a chance a summit meeting might make things worse instead of better. And there has been no tangible result from the first summit meeting Eisenhower had in 1955 with Khrushchev and the then Soviet Premier, Nikolai Bulganin.

These may be factors in his hesitancy about trying it again. But the memory of the meeting between Napoleon and Alexander seems to be high in his wariness about a second summit get-together. He has referred to it repeatedly.

Napoleon had so scrambled Europe — changing governments, unseating old kings, making new ones — that after his defeat and exile the crowned heads of Europe called the Congress of Vienna to undo and redo what he had done.

The congress made Europe safe for kings for years. Frontiers were rearranged without any concern for the ordinary people involved. They didn't have any say anyway. Only the kings and their foreign ministers did.

Looking back on the work of the congress, where foreign ministers had ultimate authority, British historian George Macaulay Trevelyan said that, while the congress had given Europe peace for 40 years, it made war inevitable.

Solon Got Fired; He's Proud Of It

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many a man has been fired from a job. But it's seldom you encounter someone willing to tell everybody about it.

Rep. Ken Hechler (D-WVa) is an exception.

In the biographical sketch he provided for the Congressional Directory, Hechler notes that he was a special assistant to former President Harry S. Truman from 1949 until Truman left the White House in January 1953.

Most politicians would be content to stop right there—especially in writing for the Congressional Director where the practice is to mention only rosy things. But not Hechler. He adds he "remained at the White House under President Eisenhower but was fired in April, 1953, for the following stated cause: 'Completion of the work to which you were assigned.'"

As the above statement would indicate, Democrat Hechler is not at all abashed about discussing his firing under the Republican administration.

"It was one of the most amusing experiences of my life," says Hechler, "especially since it took them so long to get around to firing me."

As Hechler relates it, he had no idea of staying on at the White House when Truman left — especially in view of the mass turnover that occurs when a president of another party takes over.

"But I liked my job, and I was working on a research project that I hadn't finished," Hechler recalls, "so I just continued going to work."

To his surprise, as Hechler puts it, no one said a thing.

"I finished my project within a few days and assumed someone would soon give me the word that I was no longer needed. I had no intention of being a Democratic Trojan horse or throwing sand in the gears. I just decided to sit it out and see how long I could last."

Almost immediately, he recalls, the White House personnel officer came around and suggested Hechler might be happier if he got a job outside the government. Hechler told him he loved working at the White House.

Several days later, Hechler said, the personnel officer told Hechler he would have to take a 1,000 cut in his annual pay.

Hechler, who was making $11,000 a year at the time, said he replied: "I would work here for nothing and will gladly sacrifice $1,000."

"A few days later," Hechler said, "the personnel officer came back and said they would have to let me go and wouldn't I prefer quitting first so as to keep my record clean.

"I told him 'no,' that I preferred having it on my record, and if they were going to fire me they had to give a reason. That must have stumped them, but they came back within a few days and gave me the reason—that I had completed my assignment.

"They didn't mention that I had completed it two months ago."

Lost Pilot Just Couldn't Give Up

PAGE, Ariz. (AP) — "All the time I kept thinking of all my personal obligations and my many friends, and I just couldn't give up."

Daniel Reisman, 44, a Salt Lake City pilot, was telling Sunday of a four-day fight for survival that began Wednesday when his light, single-engine plane was forced down on an abandoned airstrip in southeastern Utah.

Speaking from a hospital bed at Page, Reisman told an amazing story of a two-day trek with no food and little water across a blistering desert and a dangerous ride down the turbulent Colorado River.

"I was forced off course by a storm and landed on a strip at an old uranium mine after nearly running out of fuel," he said. "I knew I needed water and food, so I walked about five miles west that night. But I couldn't find any, so I came back to the plane.

"It started to drizzle Thursday. I wiped the wings of the plane with my handkerchief and then squeezed it into a cup. I managed to get about a cupful, then went to sleep under the wing.

"I later decided to walk east. I saw the Colorado River, but couldn't get down the sheer cliffs. I knew the Colorado just had to go to Glen Canyon Dam.

"I figured to walk back along the river and find a wash and get down by that. I found a little indentation in the rock that had water in it and drank all I could hold.

"Friday morning I saw a wash. When I got to the river, I made a raft of three logs and started floating. The raft turned over in rapids a couple of times, but it held together.

"I saw some planes Saturday, but they didn't see me. I thought they'd given up the search. Then I saw the boat."

Reisman was found by Earl Johnson, a river guide who was taking a group on a chartered boat trip up the Colorado. A helicopter later took the pilot off the boat and flew him to Page.

Doctors said he was suffering from exhaustion and malnutrition, but otherwise was in good condition.

Ship's Crew Gives Blood

BOSTON (AP) — A practice which will defy imitation by most folk is being pursued by a group of British tars, members of the crew of HMS Victorious. The big aircraft carrier is enroute home today after taking part in exercises with the U.S. Navy.

While she was tied up at Boston three of her crew appeared at the New England Medical Center and offered blood.

They said they made such donations at each port they visited. In proof of this, Richard J. McCollough, 35, of Newcastle, England, displayed 14 donation cards; Harry Barber, 24, of Sheffield, 10 and John Stephenson, 23, of Birmingham, 8.

Many distant ports were represented, including Hong Kong, Singapore and Malta.

2nd All-Star Game Today

By BOB [illegible]
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There was a 24-hour truce in the redhot major league pennant races today as interest switched to the season's second All-Star Game.

Casey Stengel, already beleaguered by the grave problems of his own New York Yankees, faced new troubles as pilot of the American League squad.

Intensity of the flag race in his league apparently left the old warrior with only two rested pitchers, Baltimore's Jerry Walker (8-5) and Pete Ramos (10-13) of Washington.

Manager Fred Haney of Milwaukee was set to lead off with ace right-hander Don Drysdale of Los Angeles for the Nationals.

Today's all-star affair was the second edition of 1959, and the American all-stars were seeking revenge for their 5-4 loss at Pittsburgh July 7.

The site is big Memorial Coliseum, the time for the game 4 p.m., and upwards of 50,000 are expected to brave 90-degree-plus heat for Los Angeles' first turn as host of the event.

The brass was here, including Commissioner Ford Frick and the rival league presidents, Joe Cronin of the American and Warren Giles of the National, plus other top names in the game.

But the eyes of the fans were set for the galaxy of stars, and doubtless the Coliseum's controversial left field screen, which stands 250 feet from home plate at the foul line and rises 40 feet.

Haney is well acquainted with the screen. Stengel is no total stranger to it. He saw it when his Yankees played Los Angeles in the Roy Campanella benefit earlier this year before a crowd of 93,103—largest in U.S. baseball history.

Casey, with right-hander Drysdale in mind, named no less than six left-handed batters to his starting lineup.

But what to do about pitching was something else.

Stengel was set to start fireballer Ryne Duren of New York. This would have been a dilly. But he had to use Duren for 3 2-3 innings against Kansas City Sunday.

Four other American League all-star hurlers were pressed into action Sunday. They were Hoyt Wilhelm and Billy O'Dell of Baltimore, Cal McLish of Cleveland, and Bud Daley of Kansas City. Still another, Early Wynn of Chicago, has an injured ankle.

Walker was belatedly named Sunday to replace his teammate, catcher Gus Triandos, and Ramos was subbed for teammate Camilo Pascual. Triandos and Pascual had injuries.

Walker pitched one inning in relief Saturday, and Ramos last pitched Friday night. He has lost five straight.

So Casey had his problems.

His lead-off left-hand batters, barring further changes, are Pete Runnels of Boston, Nellie Fox of the White Sox, Ted Williams of the Red Sox, Yogi Berra, and switch-hitting Mickey Mantle of the Yankees, and Roger Maris of Kansas City.

The right-handers are Frank Malzone of Boston, Luis Aparicio of Chicago, and Walker.

Haney's initial batting order read: Johnny Temple of Cincinnati, Eddie Mathews of Milwaukee, Willie Mays of San Francisco, Ernie Banks of the Cubs, Stan Musial of St. Louis, Wally Moon of the Dodgers, Del Crandall of the Braves, and Drysdale.

NEW LINE COACH FOR TIGERS—Don Robbins, above, a football star at Breckenridge high school and Texas A&M College, is the new line coach for Snyder High School. He replaces Hal Battle, who resigned last spring. (Lee Watson photograph)

Robbins Reared In Football Family

Newest addition to the coaching staff at Snyder High School is a former all-state and all-American high school football player from Breckenridge who is the son of a well-known coach.

He is Donald Robbins, 25-year-old football line coach who succeeded Hal Battle. Battle resigned last spring to become associated with a pharmaceutical sales firm after 10 years of coaching here.

Robbins moved his family here a few days ago from Port Arthur, where he had been assistant high school coach for two years, working a major part of that time as line coach. He and his wife, a former Bryan girl he met while at Texas A & M College, have a 10-months-old daughter, Rhonda Kay. They live at 1806 Thirty-eighth Street.

The new line coach is working this summer for T. E. Shelburne & Son, Inc., here, but is among the Snyder coaches this week at the coaching school in Fort Worth.

Football has been a big thing in the Robbins family since before the new Snyder coach was born. He is the son of Cooper Robbins, athletic director at Odessa who recently retired from active football coaching after 28 years in the profession. He still serves as athletic director.

Cooper Robbins was high school coach at Breckenridge when Donald Robbins and his twin brothers, Ronald, were playing football there Donald as an end and Ronald as a back. Ronald Robbins is new on the coaching staff at Tom S. Lubbock High School.

Well-known in football before graduating from high school at Breckenridge in 1951, Donald Robbins was an all-district end three years, all-state one year, and in his senior year was chosen to all three of the all-American high school teams, playing in the Green Belt and Oil Bowl games and the North-South all-star game. On the North all-star team he was coached by Jim Tatum, North Carolina coach who died several days ago.

Robbins was born in Fort Worth while his father was coaching there. Cooper Robbins began his coaching career at Humble and was later at Diamond Hill, Fort Worth Tech, Northside of Fort Worth, Breckenridge, the freshman team at A & M and then Odessa.

Donald Robbins went to A & M on a football scholarship and lettered two years as an end. He then taught physical education and was line coach of the Aggie freshman team on a graduate fellowship while completing his master's degree there. He went from there to Port Arthur two years ago.

Stubborn Rosburg Grabs PGA Crown

By JIM KLOBUCHAR

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—Bob Rosburg, a stubborn man with a hacker's style, has shed his five-year role as an oddity of big time golf for the regal garb of Professional Golfers Assn. champion.

With a startling four-under-par 66 in the wind and gloom at Minneapolis Golf Club Sunday, the 32-year-old Californian confounded the skeptics and ended his long quest for a major prestige victory.

To do it he had to break the heart of Jerry Barber, the spunky little veteran who had his first national title within grasp only to run out of gas on the final holes. Barber struggled home with a 73 for a 72-hole 278, one stroke back of Rosburg and in a tie with another weird swinger, Doug Sanders.

Rosburg thus became the second man this year to win a big tournament using the so-called baseball grip that makes most golfing teachers wince. Art Wall Jr., its other leading exponent, won the Masters.

But it has been most closely identified through the years with Rosburg, and made him a curiosity wherever he played. He acquired a reputation for scrambling and finishing second.

With $8,250 in first place money beckoning him, however, he delivered one of the great pressure rounds of the year.

Six strokes behind Barber, heading into the final round and all but discounted as a contender, he fired five birdies on the front nine for a 30 to equal the course record set just two days before by Barber. It pulled him even with Jerry.

Then, playing in the threesome ahead of Barber, he stayed shoulder-to-shoulder with the little man for four holes. Barber's birdie on the 15th thrust him back into the lead but he lost it by hitting into the trap on the 17th and lost the title by doing the same on the 18th.

Rosburg is a big man with a formidable girth who wears spectacles and a look of great weariness on the golf course.

Barber, aware all the time how Rosburg was going, thought he had the title when he tapped in a 20-foot putt for a par on the 16th after coming out of a trap.

"But on the last two holes I went out to lunch and forgot to come home," he said with pained humor afterward. He hit into a trap on the 17th and couldn't extricate himself without a bogey. Trapped again on the 18th, he punched 18 feet past the hole.

By this time the daylong overcast was dumping rain on the course and 12,000 spectators lining the 18th fairway and rimming the green.

Barber, walking the line of his putt, squatting to study it, and intensely reading the green, was a forlorn figure in the rain. He stroked the ball, but his confidence was gone and the ball was short.

Sanders, one stroke behind Barber after 18, hung on all day and just missed tying for the lead when he fluffed a 2½ foot putt on the 17th.

Mike Souchak, two strokes behind after 54, knocked himself out early by gunning wildly on the front nine in an effort to catch up. Defending champ Dow Finsterwald stepped into the breech with a 70 to finish fourth at 280, three strokes off the pace. Barber and Sanders each won $3,562.50 and Finsterwald $2,500. Ken Venturi, Souchak and Bob Goalby, who closed with a 68, wound up with $2,000 each in a tie for fifth at 281.

Junior Golf Meet Slated

A junior golf tournament has been scheduled at the Snyder Country Club beginning next Monday.

Boys 14 and under are eligible to enter the tourney, and all must qualify by next Sunday. There must be at least a twosome on the course for the nine-hole qualifying rounds before the qualifying card can be accepted.

The tournament will have nine-hole matches, which can be played any time between the starting date and the time school opens.

There will be no entry fee, and there is no charge of any kind to boys who are members of the club. Those who are not members of the club may play in the tourney by paying the green fee, which is $1.50 on weekdays.

Pitcher Don Newcombe credits Cincinnati trainer Wayne Anderson for his successful comeback this season. Andy takes care of Newk's arm.

Willie Just Hits 'Em And Gets Runs In

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"I figure that if I hit 'em, they're going to take care of themselves. And I figure I'm strong enough to hit 'em."

That's the batting philosophy of Willie (Stretch) McCovey, the 6-foot-4 rookie first baseman who's sparked a four-game winning streak that's keeping the San Francisco Giants atop the National League.

Sunday Willie collected just one hit but it traveled 390 feet and into the right field bleachers for a two-run homer as the Giants beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-3.

McCovey, a 21-year-old Negro, joined the Giants Wednesday. He was called up from the Phoenix Pacific Coast League club. The team was down, having won just three of eight outings on its home stand.

Willie broke in with two triples and two singles in four times in his first major league game.

The next night, the 200-pound rookie knocked in the winning run with a single, then followed with a pair of doubles and a single that started a winning rally.

"Sometimes a spark will light a fire," commented manager Bill Rigney after his club clung to the league lead by one-half game.

A native of Mobile, Ala., McCovey signed as a kid of 17 and has moved up the ladder of the Giants' farm system in steady strides. Last season in Phoenix he hit .319 with 14 home runs. This season, he was clubbing at a .377 clip with 23 homers when called up by the slumping parent club.

White Sox Capture Farm League Title

The American Farm League closed its season Friday night, with the White Sox remaining on top to take the championship.

The league ended the season minus one scheduled game, but if played it would not have changed any team's position in the standings.

The White Sox had a 12-5 record for the season, while the Yankees ran second with 11-7, Indians third with 9-8 and Athletics fourth with 7-11.

In Friday night games, the Indians downed the athletics 28-2 in four innings and the White Sox beat the Yankees 6-3.

'Little Men' Of White Sox Running Their Rivals Dizzy

By JACK HAND

After Luis Aparicio and Nellie Fox bunt and run you dizzy, Al Lopez waves in Turk Lown or Gerry Staley to shut the door in your face.

That is the reason the Chicago White Sox are three games out front in the American League today and pulling away fast. Except for the runner-up Cleveland Indians, the rest of the league is fading into the gloaming. Both Baltimore and Kansas City, tied for third, are 11 games back. And the Yankees? They are 12 games down in fourth place.

The little men did it again Sunday in the first game with Washington, slashing and racing to upset the punchy Senators. Trailing 2-1 in the last of the ninth, Aparicio opened with a single. Fox bunted and catcher Steve Korcheck threw the ball away. Aparicio scored and Fox dashed to third. Two intentional walks loaded the bases and Billy Goodman plunked a fly ball single into left over a drawn in outfield for a 5-2 victory.

Lown, who took over after Billy Pierce left for a pinch hitter in the eighth, won his eighth despite a shaky ninth inning. It was his fifth straight.

Again in the second game, when Bob Shaw began to stumble in the eighth, in came Staley to breeze through 1 1-3 hitless innings, saving Shaw's 10th victory, 9-3.

Washington hit the only home runs. Faye Throneberry got No. 9 in the first game and Jim Lemon No. 24 in the second. But the Senators lost their 15th and 16th in a row, only two short of their club record set in 1948.

Chicago now has won six straight and 11 of its last 12 games. Since the first All-Star break they have a 19-5 record. Their open's game victory was their 26th by one run.

Cleveland lost ground by dropping a 5-4 decision to Baltimore in 10 innings. Willie Miranda beat out a high bounder to the mound, driving in the winning run. That one little hit minimized Rocky Colavito's 31st homer and Woody Held's 20th.

Tito Francona's seventh hit of the day, a three-run homer off Billy O'Dell in the ninth gave Cleveland a 6-3 decision in the second game. Francona had four singles in the first game and a double and single before his homer. The only time the Orioles got him out was when third baseman Brooks Robinson made a diving catch of a line drive.

Gary Bell won his 11th in the second while Al Cicotte lost his first on relief in the opener. Hoyt Wilhelm was Baltimore's winner and O'Dell, who worked in both games, dropped the second. Cleveland's attendance soared over the million mark to 1,009,562 with the turnout of 34,682.

Elston Howard drove in four runs with two singles and a double in New York's 7-5 victory over Kansas City. Ryne Duren struck out seven in 3 2-3 shutout innings but Duke Maas was the winner over Bob Grim.

Jackie Jensen's three-run homer and Frank Malzone's two-run blast provided all the runs in Boston's 5-4 decision over Detroit. Charlie Maxwell hit his 23rd and his 11th Sunday home run. Ike Delock won in relief over starter Paul Foytack.

Ramanathan, Krishnan Win Tennis Titles

DENVER (AP) — India's Ramanathan Krishnan and Sandra Reynolds, 20-year-old South African, won the singles titles Sunday in the National Hard Court Tennis Championships.

With smooth, almost effortless play, Krishnan clinched it by running Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., off his feet 12-10, 6-3, 6-3.

Miss Reynolds, top seeded among foreign women entrants, won over favored Beverly Baker Fleitz, Long Beach, Calif., 6-3, 6-2.

STARDUST HOMES—Above is a view of the new Stardust Homes located in the 1800 block of Scott Street in Parkway addition No. 2, Snyder's newest housing development. The three-bedroom homes are fully insulated, have brick trim, landscaped yards, and are located near Northeast Elementary School. (Lee Watson photograph)

Stardust Homes Designed, Built For Modern Living

Would you like to buy a home of your own that you and your family could be comfortably settled in before school starts?

That is possible here in the new Stardust Homes development at Soctt Street and Twentieth Street in northeast Snyder near Northeast Elementary School.

And the expense of moving into and owning one of the new homes is only $250 for the down payment, and the monthly payments are less than you would pay each month for rent of a similar house.

Builders of the new homes have designed and built them for modern living with landscaped yards, a choice of colors of exteriors and interiors, located on paved streets, and the houses are plumbed for automatic washers.

Another feature of the new homes is that they are fully insulated to keep heating and cooling costs to a minimum, and to provide the maximum year-round comfort to the occupants, Johnny Johnson, general construction superintendent, said.

The total price of one of the new homes is $8,250 — which is much lower than the usual price of a three-bedroom house, Johnson said.

The builders dd that if a family moves in now, there will be plenty of time to get a good start on lawn and yard before cold weather sets in.

"And if you don't have the cash to make a down payment, then we will take a trade-in," he said.

A sales representative is on duty at the Stardust Homes office at 1809 Scott Street to show prospective customers through the new homes at any time.

The development is located one block east of the Waymar Apartments, and can be easily reached by driving north on Avenue E, and turning east on Twentieth Street.

Seven Killed In Collision

EMPORIA, Kan. (AP)—Seven persons were killed Sunday in a two-car collision on a curve of U.S. 50 about 10 miles east of Emporia. There were no survivors.

Killed in one car were Mrs. Opal Epting, 59, of Burlington, Kan., and her sister, Mrs. Marie Walt, 62, of Emporia.

They were on their way to a wedding shower in Burlington for Mrs. Epting's daughter, Linda, an Emporia State College student.

Dead in the other car were Thurman M. Hoover, 52, Wichita; his wife, 42, their son, Irvin, 8, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Toles, both 19, of Wichita.

Sheriff Bert Johnson said the Hoover car apparently had passed another vehicle on the long curve and was in the wrong lane when the accident occurred.

School Clothes Ready At Roger, Inc.

School will open here Aug. 28, and already mother and dad are making plans to outfit junior for school.

While they want junior to look nice when he goes to school, they also want to be careful in selecting clothing which will not only fit into the classroom but will be sturdy when he gets onto the playground.

That's why Rogers, Inc., used such care in selecting items of merchandise for its new boys department, which is almost a complete store in itself as a part of the Roger's men's shop.

The boys shop at Rogers' can outfit the boy from first grade through college age from head to toe. For sturdy clothing which will last through the rough treatment boys give them and which is easy to manage, Rogers' is the logical place to shop.

An example of what can be found at Rogers is the new wearlon jean by both Billy the Kid and Tex'N'Jean. In both is the complete new version of the jean with the "420" nylon, a specially-processed nylon which gives extra wear, and the iron will not stick to it.

The "420" nylon is blonded into the warp, or wearing surface, of the fabric to more than double the wear of the jean. To made doubly sure the jeans will stay put, the manufacturers put in the double knees.

For better fit for the boy, the jeans come in regular, slim and husky for each size. These are available in gray and brown colors, as well as blue.

Roger's also has in the jeans the dress pants in the new continental model, mercerized and completely washable, with adjustable waist. The more dressy pants are available in both brown and gray.

"These are the only jeans I have ever known which gave a one-year guarantee of satisfactory wear," Jay Rogers, general manager of the firm, said.

Junior needs underwear when he goes to school, and the nation's leading brand, the Jockey Jr., is available in the Rogers' boys shop, including the famous Jockey shorts and the T-shirts with nylon-content collar.

Shirts of numerous varieties for boys are at Rogers', including the popular Donmoor, the nice washable cotton knits which are specially treated to prevent shrinking.

In the more dressy sport shirts there are the Lancer Jr., Savada, Robert Bruce and other shirts, styled after the most discriminating men's styles.

The talk of the town now, in connection with the boys department, are the Hush Puppies, once only adult shoes but this year the most popular thing in Snyder for boys, especially in slip-ons and oxfords.

Hush Puppies, made of breathing brushed pigskin, weigh up to only 12 ounces per shoe even in adult sizes. The native pigskin is tanned with liquid fluorocarbon resin to make them water repellent, soil resistant. Their popularity is partly attributed to the fact that they need no polishing. They can be brushed clean in a jiffy. The soft leather and bouncey balloon crepe soles give solid comfort, while the steel shank support helps make them sturdy as well as comfortable.

In the small boys' sizes, the Hush Puppies come in oxfords and chuka-boots, and colors available are tumbleweed and gunsmoke.

For the larger boys there are those two styles plus the slip-on in the colors named hound dog, wild oats and gunsmoke.

The men's sizes, including those for high school boys, are in slip-ons, low oxfords, chuka boots and Wellington boots, and their colors are hound dog, loden green, scarlet feather, gunsmoke and wild oats.

SOLID COMBINATION for school wear for boys is the Billy the Kid jean and Hush puppies shoes, both leading sellers in Snyder because of their design for comfort, long wearing and easy handling. Linden Terry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Terry, 2249 Sunset, is shown the two-back-to-school items by Mack Eroy, manager of the men's shop at Rogers, Inc., where hundreds of area boys will be outfitted for the coming school year.

Plane Falls Near Home Of Pilot's Kin

OKMULGEE, Okla. (AP) — "I found that water pond, and I just drank and drank, that water tasted so good," said the lone survivor of a plane crash which killed three other persons Saturday night.

Mrs. Jewell Lois Hamby, 43, of Kennedale, told how she had spent the night near the wreckage, then crawled and staggered Sunday morning to a nearby home. It turned out to be the home of the dead pilot's parents.

Killed were pilot John L. Lane, 35, La Habra, Calif., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Lane of Okmulgee; Mrs. Emma Shanks, 73, and her sister, Mrs. Agnes Tidwell, 63, both of Kennett. Mrs. Hamby, hospitalized in serious condition, said she, her mother, and her aunt were returning from a California visit.

Mrs. Lane said Mrs. Hamby had appeared at their home about 8 a.m. The Lanes took her to the hospital. At first the injured woman mumbled the pilot was her brother. Then at the hospital she mentioned the name Lane.

"That must be my son," cried Mrs. Lane. The couple rushed back and found the wreckage, obscured by high weeds, about 300 yards from their home, four miles northeast of here.

Officers searching the area later found a weighted note saying "See you Sunday Morning." The Lanes said their son often flew over their home and dropped similar notes when he planned to stop.

Federal Aviation Authority officials, seeking cause of the crash, said Lane had filed a flight plan for Missouri. Later he altered it to include a stop in Okmulgee.

The plane was believed to be owned by the Raven Engineering Co. of Huntington Park, Calif.

White Boy Drowns Trying To Save Negro

PARKIN, Ark. (AP) — A white boy drowned Sunday while trying to rescue a floundering Negro youth.

Dead is Walter Edward Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Shelley Harris. He was swimming near five Negro youths in a water-filled ditch on a nearby plantation, police said.

Officers said two of the Negroes were trying to help Joe Duckett, 14, swim across the ditch when Duckett began to go under. The Holmes boy leaped to his aid but drowned. Another Negro, Odell Worthem, 12, tried to save both but failed.

Duckett was brought to safety.

Police Quell Election Riot

TIJUANA, Baja California, Mexico (AP) — Police and federal troops—carrying tear gas and fixed bayonets—fired over an angry crowd Sunday night following Baja California's statewide elections.

A young girl was gravely wounded by a richocheting bullet.

The crowd was composed of members of the National Action Party (PAN), which was seeking to gain control of the state government from the Party of Revolutionary Institutions (PRI).

Professor Zeferino Sanchez Hidalgo, PAN candidate for mayor of Tijuana, was arrested by federal police on a technical charge of disturbing the peace a half hour before the polls closed. News of the arrest swept through the city and Hidalgo's followers flocked to their headquarters in the downtown district.

Soldiers marched into the crowd with their bayonets at the ready. The crowd dispersed, but quickly reformed and had to be broken up again.

David Hellyer, Latin-American editor of the San Diego (Calif.) Union, reported that police and soldiers fired over the crowd at one point. He said Rosa Salcido, aged 3 or 4, was struck in the back of the skull by a bullet and taken to a hospital for surgery. He said doctors held little hope she would survive.

A Los Angeles Times correspondent, Brad Williams, reported that 100 members of the National Action Party had been arrested by midnight. He said dozens of additional arrests were expected.

PAN officials charged that ballot boxes had been seized in 20 precincts, all PAN strongholds. But police said only one ballot box was confiscated and it was in a section dominated by PRI voters.

Troops had marched into the city amid rumors that Hidalgo's followers planned a protest parade after the election. Mexican law prohibits parades or other demonstrations during the three days preceding an election and the two days following one.

Braulio Maldonado, the PRI governor, could not under law run for another term. The PRI candidate was Eligio Esquivel. He was opposed by Salvado Magallon. The Los Angeles Times said Esquivel apparently won by a landslide.

In Mexicali, the state capital, no disturbances were reported.

BACK TO WORK—Arthur Godfrey, looking well, has a big smile for photographers at San Francisco International Airport after his arrival from Leesburg, Va., where he has been recuperating from a lung cancer operation. Red Chinese Make Excuses For Leader

By ROY ESSOYAN

HONG KONG (AP)—An important magazine in Communist China has published an article conceding that people like Mao Tze-tung can make mistakes. The leader of Chinese communism is generally spoken of by his followers as infallible.

The article, appearing in the authoritative New China semimonthly mentions Mao throughout a lengthy discussion of problems and mistakes of Communist agricultural and industrial policies.

Mao is not mentioned by name in the critical passage saying a great man cannot always be correct. However, the writer used a Chinese word for great — "wei ta" — that is always reserved for Mao.

This provides strong support for speculation abroad that Mao faced a storm of criticism over his handling of China's "big lead forward" production campaign and his establishment of the barracks-type commune system last year.

Both programs ran into trouble and have undergone substantial revision. Excuses apparently are in order now.

The context of the startling statement about Mao indicates, however, that he has so far weathered the storm and still is very much in command.

Mao resigned as head of the Chinese Communist government when the problems came to light. But he kept his more powerful post as chairman of the Chinese Communist party.

Hospital Chaplain Is Dead At 69

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The Rev. H. O. Morris, 69, chaplain at Baptist Memorial Hospital the past six years, died of a heart attack Sunday.

Before becoming hospital chaplin, he served 17 years as pastor of First Baptist Church at Del Rio.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Alma Morris, who is confined to the hospital with a fractured hip.

Young Rockefeller To Marry Ex-Maid Soon

KRISTIANSAND, Norway (AP)—Steven Rockefeller and a former maid in his wealthy family's home plan a late summer wedding in a small Lutheran church in Norway.

Gov. and Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York said they are delighted at their son's engagement to Anne Marie Rasmussen, 21, pretty blonde daughter of a prosperous Kristiansand grocer.

"She is a wonderful girl," the governor said.

Announcing their engagement Sunday, the young couple did not set a wedding date. But a friend of the Rasmussen family said it would probably be Aug. 22.

It will be performed by the Rev. Olav Gautestad in the Lutheran Church at nearby Soegne. The pastor is an old friend of the Rasmussens. The Rockefellers are Baptists.

The governor has indicated he and his wife will come to Scandinavia for the wedding.

"I can't imagine that I would not participate in the wedding of any of my children," he told newsmen Saturday.

Steven, 23, and the third of his parents' five children, first met Anne Marie when she came to the United States in 1956 to learn English and worked for a time as a maid in his home. She left the Rockefeller employ in 1957 to work in a New York department store, then worked for an insurance firm in New York.

After serving an army hitch, young Rockefeller flew to Oslo July 10 and met Anne Marie. They came on to her home by motorcycle, and the romance rumors have been booming ever since.

The girl's father, Kristian Rasmussen, appeared with the couple at a news conference Sunday.

"If our daughter will be happy this way, we will not stop her," he said.

Radiant Anne Marie, wearing a charcoal grey frock with rose polka dots, showed reporters her modest-sized engagement ring—a diamond surrounded by smaller diamonds and set in platinum.

Steven said forms had been sent off Saturday for the publishing of the marriage banns, which in Norway must be done three weeks before the wedding. But this period may be reduced by the Departmnt of Justice if the applicant shows cause.

Young Rockefeller, a graduate of Princeton university, said he will return to New York in September and enter one of his family's businesses.

"This will change my life completely," Anne Marie said, "everything will become different for me, but what I have brought with me from the home of my childhood will always remain with me. I will remain the one I am."

She said she and Steven would live in an apartment in New York but that they haven't found one yet. Anne Marie added that she wants to keep house herself.

Steven said he will stay with the Rasmussens until the wedding and added he would like to get in some fishing. Putting his arm around Anne Marie, he added, "I was sure lucky catching this one."

Educational TV May Be Vital, Solon Says

DALLAS (AP) — Educational television may be as important to future education as the automobile has been to transportation, Sen. Ralph Yarborough said in his weekly telecast over Texas stations yesterday.

The junior senator from Texas discussed educational television with Sen. Warren Magnuson (D-Wash), author of an educational television bill now before Congress.

Magnuson chairman of the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, said his bill calls for grants of 48 million dollars, primarily for purchase of television equipment.

Crews Try To Choke Burning Gas Well

HOUMA, La. (AP)—Oil crews today tried to choke out a fire burning in a gas well that blew out of control, wrecking a big drill rig valued at some 1½ million dollars.

One man was killed, two are missing and presumed dead, and five were badly burned.

'Uncle Jim' Calls Shots

WHITESBURG, Ky. (AP)—Uncle Jim's folks are going to bury him on a hillside near his home at Blackey tomorrow, following in detail the instructions he wrote before his death.

Tucked beside him in the coffin will be his extracted teeth, carefully saved during his 93 years, 9 months, 27 days.

The old-fashioned coffin — Narrow at each end and wide in the middle — which he ordered several years ago will be placed in the grave and rocks piled atop it.

There will be four preachers at the service at Mount Olive Baptist Church which Uncle Jim, a carpenter, built.

Uncle Jim's correct, though less familiar, name was James Brown. He died Saturday of a heart ailment.

He wore a flowing white beard and was the patriarch of Blackey—the man who gave the tiny east Kentucky village its name — the nickname of his brother Joe.

Ten of Uncle Jim's 11 children survive. He had 54 grand children, 65 great - grandhildren and 17 great-great-grandchildren.

British Say Queen Tired

LONDON (AP) — British newspapers today published pictures of Queen Elizabeth II looking tired, with a lined face, after her return from Canada. The papers voiced renewed concern for her health.

The Queen and Prince Philip returned Sunday from a 16,000-mile trip across North America. The monarch described it as "strenuous but intensely interesting."

Beneath the big headline "Never Again!" the Daily Herald printed a huge photograph of the Queen looking dull-eyed. Lines, not seen before, furrowed her brow and marred her famed peaches and cream complexion.

"L The Queen's step "seemed sl and her smile was not the quick infectious one which usually lights her face," said the Daily Sketch.

The Daily Telegraph and the Daily Mail agreed the tour was too arduous and that future royal tours should be more frequent but of shorter duration.

Newspaper criticism first came up several weeks ago when a stomach upset in the Yukon Territory forced her to rest for two days.

The Queen and Prince Philip were met at London airport by their children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne, Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret.

"The Queen's step "seemed slow

Single Smoke Flare Pays Off

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — A single smoke flare, saved for use at just the right moment, brought rescue Sunday to two men marooned seven nights and days high on the barren face of an Alaska glacier.

The flare was sighted by a helicopter pilot participating in a week-old sea and air search over the mountains and through the valleys and inlets of rugged Glacier Bay National Monument.

Although the two were saved, the body of a third man remained with the wreckage of a helicopter in which they crashed last Sunday at the 5,800-foot level Gilman Glacier.

Dead was Robert Baldwin of Ridgefield, Conn., a geophysicist for the Newmont Exploration Co., Ltd., of New York City. Another helicopter was to remove the body today.

Bearded and weary, bruised but otherwise not seriously hurt, were Robert Sheldon and Melvin Guerrera. They survived through chilling temperatures and heavy rain with the aid of a sleeping bag and emergency food rations.

"The first thing they wanted were baths," said Dr. Joseph O. Rude, who treated the men at Juneau's St. Anne's Hospital.

"There's nothing seriously wrong," he said, "nothing a few days rest and food won't fix."

Sheldon, a geologist from Spokane, Wash., was working with camp on Brady Glacier in the National monument area. Guerrera, 28, formerly of Reno, Nev., is a pilot for Petroleum Helicopters of Lafayette, La., working on charter.

The men were sighted near the scene of the crash, about 90 miles west of Juneau, by a helicopter operated by a Canadian mining company. If flew them to a sandy beach at nearby Tarr Inlet, where a Coast Guard amphibian, piloted by Lt. Comdr. Leonard Daniel, New Orleans, La., carried them to Juneau Harbor.

Adverse winds on the flight over the glacier a week ago Sunday apparently led to the helicopter crash, the U.S. Coast Guard rescue center here said.

The victims were Ermilio Soliz, Eagle Pass policeman who was on vacation, and Hoyt Ernest, head basketball coach at Eagle Pass High School.

The two men had taken a load of braceros to Michigan. The bus in which they were riding hit a telephone pole 10 miles south of Saginaw.

Ladislas D. Zalazar, 49, of 4236 San Luis, San Antonio, Tex., was injured in the accident.

WHY DO WITHOUT A LITTLE LUXURY LIKE THIS...

Chevy's the only car of the leading low-priced three that gives you the convenience of crank-operated vent windows. No awkward latches to fumble with . . . your knuckles and fingernails will appreciate it.

LET ALONE THESE BIG CHEVY VIRTUES!

greater roominess

Automobile Manufacturers Association records carry the facts on this. In a Chevy sedan, for example, you've got more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars! And Chevy's front seat hip room spreads up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.

full coil ride

You're the expert on ride, so you'll want to try Chevy's easygoing smoothness for yourself. MOTOR TREND magazine can give you a hint of what you're in for: ". . . the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." And Full Coil springs, of course, never squeak, never need grease.

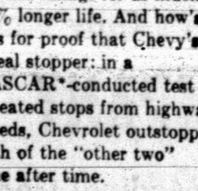
bigger savings

Here's solid proof that Chevrolet squeezes more miles out of a gallon: In the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, two Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide took the first two places in their class, averaging 22.38 miles per gallon. And that, friends, won top honors for Chevy from every full-sized car!

higher trade-in

N.A.D.A.* Guide Books prove that your Chevrolet will keep its value. Chevy used car prices last year, for example, averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the other two cars in Chevrolet's field.

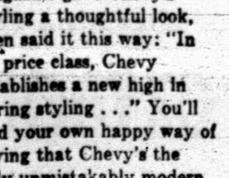
*National Automobile Dealers Association.



bigger brakes

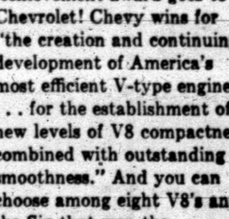
Bigger, yes, and built with bonded linings for as much as 66% longer life. And how's this for proof that Chevy's a real stopper: in a NASCAR*-conducted test of repeated stops from highway speeds, Chevrolet outstopped both of the "other two" time after time.

*National Association for Stock Car Advancement and Research



fresh styling

POPULAR SCIENCE magazine gave Chevy's styling a thoughtful look, then said it this way: "In its price class, Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling . . ." You'll find your own happy way of saying that Chevy's the only unmistakably modern car in its class.



award-winning engines

The NASCAR Outstanding Achievement award goes to Chevrolet! Chevy wins for "the creation and continuing development of America's most efficient V-type engines . . . for the establishment of new levels of V8 compactness combined with outstanding smoothness." And you can choose among eight V8's and the Six that won the Mobilgas Economy Run for its class.
