

U.S. Warships Will Remain In China, Japan Is Told

Tokyo Demand That Destroyer Be Taken Out Met With Flat Refusal From Admiral; More Ships Brought In

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—The United States government has bluntly informed Japan that, instead of clearing out of Chinese harbors, its warships will stay in these ports "as long as American citizens are in need of protection or assistance."

Told by the Japanese to take the destroyer Pillsbury out of Swatow, Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, chief of the Asiatic fleet, flatly refused. He went even farther, the navy department disclosed today, and brought in another destroyer, the Pope. The gunboat Asheville will follow, from Hongkong.

Some 40 Americans are at Swatow, rich South China port which had transhipped millions of dollars worth of war materials to Chinese forces before the Japanese occupied it yesterday.

Texas Freight Scale Higher Than Others

AUSTIN, June 22 (AP)—Comparison of intrastate first class freight rates in Texas with rates in neighboring states, "purporting to show the Texas scale to be higher, was made before the state railroad commission today by Wallace Green, traffic manager for a Dallas manufacturing concern.

The testimony was offered by the Texas Industrial Traffic League in the rail board's investigation of intrastate class and differential rates, which has been in progress since Monday.

Green testified from an exhibit showing the Texas present scale, the Kansas-Oklahoma jobbers' scale which the traffic league seeks for Texas, the Arkansas and Missouri scales and the present scale in Central Texas which is under attack by the league, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Freight Rate Equality Federation in the respect these groups are asking Texas rates be scaled down to CFA levels.

Green's summary showed the Texas rate for a 50-mile haul to be 52 cents per hundred pounds; the CFA rate 40 cents. At 100 miles the difference in CFA territory's favor was given at 17 cents and at 500 miles, 38 cents. On a 90-mile haul—the maximum distance across Texas and into differential territory—the Texas intrastate rate was shown at $1.43, the CFA rate at 94 1/2 cents.

Another Dallas traffic man, J. M. Cody, testified from an exhibit showing from 1937 a per capita income for Texans of $203 on sales of farm crops, livestock and minerals, against $190 average of 14 southwestern states including Texas. But on sales of manufactured products the Texas per capita was $194 against $197 in the 14 states. Cody drew the conclusion "excessive transportation charges have been largely responsible for this difference, in denying or restricting out-of-state markets for Texas manufacturers, such as," he said, "in our own business."

TAX BROADENING PLAN REJECTED

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—The senate rejected today a proposal to make 1,500,000 "little fellows" subject to federal income taxes.

The proposal, offered by Senator La Follette (Wis.) would have cut the existing $2,500 exemption for married persons to $2,000 and the present $1,000 exemption for single individuals to $800.

Treasury experts have estimated the La Follette amendment to lower existing income tax exemptions would yield about $50,000,000 of additional revenue each year.

HOLLIS SCARBOROUGH FACES MURDER COUNT

KERMIT, June 22 (AP)—A charge of murder was on file here today naming Hollis Scarborough, 41, in connection with the pistol slaying of his father, W. F. Scarborough, wealthy Texas-New Mexico rancher and oil man.

The elder Scarborough was shot at his ranch near here Monday, and died Tuesday night. A $25,000 bond was set for Hollis Scarborough.

ARMY APPROPRIATION PASSED BY HOUSE

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—The house passed and sent to the senate today a $292,695,547 supplemental army appropriation after rejecting a republican amendment which would have reduced by 1,263 planes the proposed expansion of the army air corps to 5,500 planes.

Administration leaders, with reinforcements on hand, forced rejection of a republican amendment, tentatively approved yesterday, which would have cut 1,263 planes from the proposed expansion.

This action averted what would have been the first major setback to be suffered by President Roosevelt's defense program.

Postmasters Here For Annual Conclave

Department Officials On Program For Today

The clerks in the offices back home were having to take charge of the mail service today, as postmasters of Texas took time off for their annual conclave and trekked into Big Spring for a three-day get-together which includes many business and entertainment features.

The 1939 convention of Chapter 18 (Texas) of the National Association of Postmasters of the United States was formally under way, at the westernmost point it has ever been held. Thursday morning, after a period of informal greeting in the lobby of the Settles hotel, convention headquarters was devoted to initial formalities, with first addresses slated for the afternoon.

Registration had gone beyond the 160 mark, with several Big Spring people included in the total. Postal department officials from Washington, Fort Worth and other points were here, to occupy a prominent place on the program. Talks were scheduled during the afternoon by Owen A. Keen, chief clerk of the department, Washington, D. C.; W. R. Briggs, inspector in charge at Cincinnati; Alvin S. Page, inspector at Fort Worth, and Henry D. Young, Fort Worth postmaster. Their talks were to follow appointment of committees and delivery of the president's and secretary-treasurer's report.

Huey's Brother To Become Governor Of Louisiana

Richard Leche To Resign, Due To Ill Health

BATON ROUGE, La., June 22 (AP)—An unexpected change in Louisiana Governor Richard W. Leche, brother of the late "kingfish" Huey P. Long, put the state in a political whirl today.

Governor Richard W. Leche announced last night he would resign next week, with nearly 11 months of his term unexpired. As lieutenant governor, Long will succeed automatically.

Although Leche gave ill health—two severe arthritis attacks—as his immediate reason, observers noted the announcement followed days of almost continuous conferences and paralleled a federal investigation of WPA activities in the state.

The fiery, quick-tempered, 45-year-old lieutenant governor, whose career has included staunch support and bitter denunciation of the late Senator Long, immediately rushed to New Orleans for political conferences. He issued a statement he would carry on "the fine work done in the past ten years under my brother, Gov. O. K. Allen and Richard W. Leche."

The unexpected developments threw several ambitious former lieutenants of Huey Long and supporters of his still-intact political machine into dismay since they were preparing to run for governor next January. As incumbent, Long would hold a distinct advantage.

Two already have announced, one as an outright foe of the administration.

Rivers Carry Flood Waters To The Gulf

By the Associated Press

Flood waters of the Colorado and Red rivers swept toward the Gulf of Mexico today and little additional damage was expected unless there are more torrential rains.

The Red river flood crest passed Burk Burnett, Texas, without damaging either the highway or railroad bridges into Oklahoma there. Only minor damage to low-land farms was expected downstream from that point.

At Vernon, the swollen Pease river was falling rapidly and little damage resulted. Highway and rail transportation in that region of Northwest Texas was being restored to normal.

The crest of the Colorado flood passed Robert Lee, 60 miles south of Colorado City, where heavy damage was done Tuesday, without serious overflow. A few small houses near the river were surrounded by water.

Travel over Highway 370 at Vernon was resumed late yesterday. Skies were clear today although the weather bureau at Dallas predicted additional thundershowers in parts of East and West Texas. Electric reported train and bus schedules returning to normal after rains totaled nearly three inches since Sunday.

Colorado City cleaned up after the river got back within its banks there. Relief officials gave aid to those whose homes were damaged or destroyed.

Relief agencies aided residents of a 25-mile twist-and-turn area in Lubbock and Hockley counties in repairing damages. H. W. Jackson of Odessa community was the only fatality of Tuesday's storm.

DAM GATES OPENED

AUSTIN, June 22 (AP)—As flood waters in the upper reaches of the Colorado river rolled southward, Lower Colorado River Authority engineers today cracked gates at Buchanan dam, 60 miles north of Austin, spilling lake storage to make room for the extra gullage.

EVANGELIST FACES MORALS CHARGES

LOS ANGELES, June 22 (AP)—A jury of six men and six women prepared today to try the Rev. Joseph Jeffers, evangelist, and his wife, Zella, on moral charges.

Outlining the state's case, Deputy District Attorney S. Ernest Roll said he would summon eyewitnesses to testify they saw the pair engage in an unnatural sex act.

Holiday Spirit In The Air As Rodeo Time Approaches

Parade Friday Afternoon To Open The Big Show; Cowhand Contestants And Cowgirl Sponsors Are Arriving

With scores of postmasters already on hand from the far reaches of Texas for their annual state convention, rodeo performers rolling into town with their horse trailers, pretty cowgirl sponsors arriving from scattered West Texas and New Mexico points, Big Spring today made ready for its big moment—the opening of the sixth annual Big Spring Rodeo and Rodeo Parade Friday afternoon.

The city was taking on a holiday atmosphere as final plans were shaped for entertaining the postmasters, organizing the rodeo into a rapid-fire show, and for a parade that promises to eclipse anything of its kind ever staged here.

Entries were still coming in at noon Thursday for the parade, said Burke Summers, chairman. More than 50 entries have been received to date. Another young woman, Bobbie Walters, Spur, was added to the list of more than a score of cowgirl sponsors to be here for the first such contest ever held in connection with the rodeo.

Anticipating large crowds, the state highway patrol will concentrate eight and possibly 10 officers in Big Spring for the weekend, said L. P. McCasland, patrolman.

Rodeo grounds were in fine shape, concessions were being set up and 180 head of saddle steers, Brahman calves, outlaw horses and wild mules were rounded into shape for the first of six performances.

Good weather was indicated for the affair with a forecast of partly cloudy conditions and normal temperature.

What is planned as one of the most unique and colorful events of the parade will be the police guard mount which will precede the regular procession by an hour. Fourteen city policemen and eight state highway patrolmen will ride over a downtown route at high noon.

Royalty Gets Welcome Home

LONDON, June 22 (AP)—London's loyal millions gave a tumultuous welcome to King George and Queen Elizabeth today as they returned to the capital from a six weeks tour through Canada and to the United States.

The royal couple arrived at Waterloo station at 5:24 p. m. (10:24 a. m. CST) aboard their special train from Southampton and drove slowly in an open carriage through streets lined with wildly cheering subjects.

Their two children, 15-year-old Princess Elizabeth and 13-year-old Margaret Rose, who had joined their parents at sea a few hours earlier, were on the bridge tugging with excitement at their father's arm.

Cheers and sirens made a terrific din as the king and queen waved again and again.

Queen Mother Mary led the royal family aboard the Empress for a private half hour of greeting before the king and queen came down a richly carpeted gangplank.

Says Wallace Should Resign

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—J. E. McDonald, Texas commissioner of agriculture who has disagreed violently with administration cotton policies, joined the Wisconsin assembly today in a demand Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace resign.

At a press conference yesterday McDonald said Wallace should step out unless he could "recognize his failure and offer something better" and that the secretary had "demonstrated his inability to solve the cotton problem."

Referring to questions about "recent Wisconsin developments," Wallace told reporters, "they should be fruitful for the welfare of the country. Our enemies often times help us more than our friends do."

He said the state and agriculture departments were in accord over foreign trade policies, despite reports to the contrary. Wallace said he had no intention of giving up his post.

McDonald, an advocate of the domestic allotment plan, made public a telegram which Ralph W.

He was taken to the Big Spring hospital for treatment, and his condition was reported as serious early Friday afternoon.

Plan Designed As Boost For Business

Money Would Go To Housing, Self-Liquidating Projects

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt proposed to congress today a $3,860,000,000 program for stimulating business through self-liquidating projects and low cost housing developments.

$70 Million In Year

The president estimated at least $70,000,000 would be disbursed in federal loans during the year starting July 1. The remainder of the program, split into six types of self-liquidating projects, would continue from two to seven years.

The president said in the long run the program would not cost the taxpayers a cent so far as self-liquidating projects were concerned.

He outlined his proposals in a letter to Chairman Byrnes (D-SC) of the senate unemployment committee, and sent copies to other senate and house leaders.

Mr. Roosevelt explained there would be a limit on the self-liquidating projects of $500,000,000 over the two to seven years period which their construction would embrace and that as money came in from loans it would be put out again as needed to stimulate employment and business.

Another $800,000,000 would be added to the borrowing capacity of the United States Housing Authority under the president's plan.

Mr. Roosevelt said he could not state how much of this would be used in the next fiscal year but that the money would be applied to providing low cost homes for persons with incomes in the $1,250 to $2,000 class. These are not covered by either the present slum clearance program or the FEHA operations.

Meanwhile, Senator Mead (D-NY) said he had support of Senators Morganthau and Hopkins for "the general principle" of his bill to provide government backing for loans to small business.

He declared Hopkins probably would testify before the senate banking subcommittee considering the Mead bill "and suggest some amendments."

The Mead bill calls for insurance by the R.F.C. of up to 90 percent of bank loans to small and medium-sized business.

Mead said he had discussed the insured loans bill with Morganthau and the treasury head "did not come out flat footed for it but indicated he favored by proposals."

President Roosevelt divided his proposed self-liquidating projects into these six groups:

First, under the new federal works agency, loans would be made for self-liquidating projects as water works, sewage disposal plants, bridges and hospitals.

The calling for this program, Mr. Roosevelt said, is $300,000,000 and the government would put out $150,000,000 in the first year—starting July 1. The program would last two years.

Second, under the bureau of public roads would be construction projects for post roads, toll roads, bridges, high speed highways, and city by-passes, with a four year ceiling of $750,000,000 and an outlay of $150,000,000 in the 1940 fiscal year.

Third, railroad equipment project. The president said he believed it would be better for the government to create an authority, with equipment to the carriers, with the government retaining title to it. He proposed a $500,000,000 ceiling and the use of $100,000,000 in 1940.

Fourth, under the agriculture department, rural electrification would be expanded to reach at least 1,250,000 rural families, about 5,000,000 people, not now receiving electricity and not likely to in the near future.

Legislature Quits, But Strife May Go On

AUSTIN, June 22 (AP)—The longest Texas legislative session on record was history today but in its wake new storms were brewing.

They probably will break within the next few months regardless of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's actions. If he calls a special session, there will be much wrangling on a means of extracting more money from the pockets of the taxpayers.

If he stands firm in his decision not to do so, controversy will develop on whether he has done his part toward financing the big old age pensions he promised last summer.

Lawmakers reached the end of the 163-day regular session last night with slightly more than the required one-third of the house membership holding out against the constitutional sales tax urged by the governor. O'Daniel and the senate state affairs committee successfully opposed the statutory tax measures passed overwhelmingly by the house.

Taxation for larger pensions, augmentation of other social security programs and assistance to the depleted general fund was the principal issue throughout the session. O'Daniel contended the two house bills, neither of which embodied a general sales levy, would not get the job done. Foes of his program argued the house omnibus tax bill would provide almost as much revenue for social security as the constitutional amendment and the general fund overdraft did not require immediate attention.

The legislature passed and governor signed a pension liberalization bill, which already is in effect. The extent of which the new law will enlarge the rolls, however, is not yet known. The question of whether the federal government will continue pension participation under the new law also is an unanswered question.

Desperate efforts to bring about submission to the people of a sales-natural resource tax constitutional amendment in line with O'Daniel's views continued until the session's closing hours. An attempt even was made to revive House Joint Resolution 16, which had been killed months ago by a majority vote.

The last indirect vote on Senate Joint Resolution 12, the measure which the governor had endorsed specifically, showed 33 ayes and 90 nays whereas a two-thirds majority was needed. The largest vote proponents of the sales-natural resource tax plan were able to muster in nine house tries was 35.

Speaker R. Emmett Morse would have voted with them to make the closing hours. An attempt even was made to revive House Joint Resolu-

Summer Dishes That Leave Time For Play

Here's a summer main-course or that looks as refreshing as it is nutritious. It's called a summer delight mold.

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
AF Feature Service Writer

Summer time is play time and the wise home-planner does most of her meal making in the coolest part of the day.

She prepares plenty of foods that can be shelved or refrigerated until meal time. Here are some suggestions for beforehand dishes.

Salmon or Tuna Loaf—

A first-rate summer dish, that's filling and is good cold or reheated. Leftovers make fine sandwiches for lunch next day. To serve six, mix 1-2 cups of canned (or fresh) cooked fish with 1 cup of soft bread. Mix in 2 eggs, beaten; 2-3 cups of milk and 1 tablespoon each of minced parsley, celery and green peppers. Add 2 tablespoons of melted butter, 1-2 teaspoon of salt and 1-4 cup cooked peas and 2 tablespoons teaspoon of paprika. Bake 35 minutes in a buttered loaf pan in a moderate oven. If served hot, surround this loaf with a creamy sauce with a hard cooked egg, sliced in 1. With creamed potatoes or peas, buttered beans or asparagus, a green salad or sliced cucumber and a fruit desert, this loaf rounds out a very satisfying summer dinner.

Meat Mold—

It is sort of glorified, substantial salad. Soak 2 tablespoons of granulated gelatin in 1-3 cup of cold water for 5 minutes, then dissolve in 1-2 cups boiling water. (Made by cooking an inexpensive cut of meat until tender in water.) Cool and mix in 3 cups chopped cooked meat, 1-2 cup diced, cooked celery, 2 tablespoons minced pimientos, 1 finely chopped onions. Season with 1-2 teaspoon of salt, 1-4 teaspoon of paprika and 1 tablespoon of lemon juice. Pour into mold, chill until firm, then unmold on crisp lettuce and surround with boiled dressing or mayonnaise.

To complete the menu, have two hot vegetables, one of them cream-

Summer Delight Molds

(Serves Four or Five)
1 package cream cheese.
1 can condensed chicken soup.
1-2 teaspoons gelatin, soaked in two tablespoons water.
3 tablespoons salad dressing or mayonnaise.
Sprinkle gelatin in the 2 tablespoons of water and let stand five minutes. Put the cream cheese in a saucepan and add about one-third of the chicken soup, just as it comes from the can. Heat until cheese and soup are thoroughly mixed. Add remaining soup and dissolve soaked gelatin in the hot mixture. Cool, and then add salad dressing or mayonnaise. Pour into molds and chill in refrigerator until firm.

ed, and a fruit pastry such as cherry pie, raspberry roll, strawberry shortcake or blueberry cobbler.

Egg Vegetable Salad—

To make enough for four or five, mix 4 hard-cooked eggs with 1 cup of cooked green beans, 1-2 cup diced celery, 1-2 cup diced cucumbers, 1-2 cup grated raw carrots and 1-3 cup of cooked cauliflower. Season with 2 tablespoons each of chopped parsley, pimientos and onions and sprinkle with 1-2 teaspoon of paprika. Moisten with 1-2 cup of salad dressing and chill until serving time. Serve on lettuce and surround with sliced tomatoes.

Salads give a wide range for summer short cuts and many improve in flavor if chilled for some time. Or the ingredients can be made all ready for the final mixup at the call of dinner.

Stuffed Tomatoes—

Stuff 6 tomatoes with 1 cup of corn mixed with 1-3 cup of soft bread, 1 egg, beaten, 2 tablespoons each of minced parsley, onions and green peppers. Blend in 1-3 teaspoon of salt and 1-4 teaspoon of paprika. Bake in a shallow pan (1-4 filled with boiling water) 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Carefully transfer to a heated platter and surround the tomatoes with cheese sauce made by mixing 1-2 cup of grated cheese to 2 cups of well seasoned thick white sauce.

Says Wage Earners Elated Because Tax Amendment Killed

AUSTIN, June 22 (AP)—W. H. Gallagher, legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said in a statement today "hundreds of thousands of wage earners" were rejoicing because 56 members of the house of representatives "had the courage and stamina to protect the legislative branch of the government from usurpation of its powers by the governor."

Referring to a house group which consistently refused to approve the O'Daniel proposed plan of levying social security taxes by submission of a constitutional amendment, he added:

"There is no provision in the organic or statutory laws which authorize or permits the governor to have any voice or part in amending the constitution until after the legislature in the exercise of its untrammelled sovereign authority has authorized the submission of a proposed amendment to a vote of the people."

"The purpose of the constitution is to protect a people from their own hasty or ill-advised actions inspired by fear, resentment or demagoguery."

TELEGRAPH FIRMS MUST HALT DELIVERY OF PACKAGES

AUSTIN, June 22 (AP)—Attorney General Gerald C. Mann today advised the Western Union Telegraph company and the Postal Telegraph company they were exceeding their Texas charter powers in performing package delivery services.

Mann said the corporate power of the two services was limited to the "acceptance, transmission and delivery of telegraphic communications and the performance of such other work as is usually related and necessary to the execution of such powers."

In letters to executives of both companies the attorney general said he would be compelled to institute legal proceedings unless they "immediately desist from contracting or engaging in the ultra vires activities," adding he had no desire to act without first giving them an opportunity to conform activities to those authorized by law.

Information furnished his department, confirmed by an independent investigation, showed the companies were performing package delivery service for department stores in several cities, Mann explained.

Russia Still Cold To Pact Proposals

MOSCOW, June 22 (AP)—The Soviet Russian government again has received coldly security pact proposals painstakingly formulated by London and Paris.

A Soviet communique issued after British Ambassador William Seeds, French Ambassador Paul Emile Naggiar and William Strang, special British envoy, visited Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov today, observed that the newest British-French proposals not only fell short of the mark but were not even new.

The impression grew Strang's mission to Moscow had failed. This, however, was not necessarily taken to mean the long-standing negotiations to bring Russia into the French-British front had collapsed entirely.

The latest British-French proposals sought to meet by compromise Soviet insistence the Baltic states of Finland, Estonia and Latvia be given direct, triple guarantees of assistance against attack whether they want them or not.

PRINCESSES WILL MEET KING AND QUEEN AT SEA

LONDON, June 21 (AP)—An escort was assigned today to go with Princess Elizabeth and Margaret Rose for a reunion at sea tomorrow with their parents, King George and Queen Elizabeth, a few hours before they land at Southampton from their tour of Canada and the United States.

The little girls will leave London at 9 a. m. for Portsmouth and board the destroyer Kompendfeldt in the care of the king's private secretary, Sir Alexander Hardinge.

The king and queen will land at 2:30 p. m. (12:30 a. m. GMT) and start to London in a special train half an hour later.

Lobby Probe Postponed

AUSTIN, June 22 (AP)—A court of inquiry into lobbying activities during the recent general session of the legislature was indefinitely postponed today.

Peace Justice Sam Rogers granted a continuance after F. L. Kuykendall, attorney for some of 15 persons summoned, said they had not had time to assemble all data requested and County Attorney Paul Holt, who ordered the inquiry, agreed.

Holt said he had no idea when he would ask resumption of the investigation, ordered by him on an explanation Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel had insinuated somebody had violated lobbying rules.

Kuykendall said many of the persons summoned lived out of town and because subpoenas were served only two days ago they had not had time to assemble the necessary data.

He served notice that if the state insisted upon beginning the inquiry he would ask time to prepare a motion attacking the "sufficiency of subpoenas and jurisdiction of the court."

He added the summons did not show exactly the purpose of the court, although he read in the press it was "to investigate only those favoring S.J.R. 12." He referred to a senate joint resolution submitting a constitutional sales tax which died on the legislative calendar after the house repeatedly rejected it.

Holt said the purpose of the inquiry was to investigate "all forms of lobbying."

"No one has been charged with crime," he said.

"The inquiry was called to investigate matters out of which charges might grow."

More Changes Are Seen In Wagner Act

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Revision of labor board regulations failed today to satisfy some critics of the Wagner act, and as a result further changes appeared imminent. The board's decision to permit employers, like unions, to ask for collective bargaining elections in certain instances brought these developments:

1. Senator Ellender (D-La.) predicted further revision of the board's rules, including a proposal to assure both employers and workers at least 10 months of freedom each year from disputes between unions.
2. Two house members who declined use of their names said the house would be asked to authorize an investigation on the labor board, despite the procedural change, with a report next January on proposals for altering the Wagner act.

3. The AFL renewed its demands for changes in the act. Joseph A. Padway, its general counsel, hailed yesterday's revision as "an AFL victory," but said the federation wanted all its proposed amendments written into law.
4. CIO leaders made no formal comment, but let it be known they were opposed to the revision. Senator Ellender, an administration supporter on the senate labor committee, said among proposals he had submitted to the board was the following one which its members regarded favorably: That after a union has established its right to represent a company's employees and obtained a year's contract with the company, the board should entertain no petitions from a rival union until a short time before the contract expired.

"This would assure at least 10 months of non-intervention by the union which lost in the original election conducted to determine proper representatives for collective bargaining," Ellender said. He predicted the board also would announce shortly rules of evidence which attorneys for many business men have advocated. Besides permitting employers to petition for bargaining elections when two unions in a plant refuse to ask certification as bargaining representatives, the board agreed yesterday to:

1. Increase from five to 10 days the mandatory interim between the issuance of a board complaint and the holding of a hearing.
2. Require that bona fide unions which are a party to any contract held to violate the Wagner act must be made parties to any labor board proceedings designed to nullify that contract.

SIGHTS NEW TO SNYDER: DEBRIS LEFT BY FLOOD

Sights Snyder people never expected to see were left by the flooding Deep creek, in the west edge of town. Two of them are shown above. In the top picture debris is seen stacked high on a bridge on the highway leading toward Gall. (Two blocks farther downstream a similar bridge was washed out.) Left in the lower picture is the home of T. J. DeShazo, night watchman. While DeShazo night watched, and his wife, daughter, son and son's wife barely made their escape, Deep creek spun the house all the way across the street and parked it against the residence of Ivan Teeter as shown. O'Daniel's Legislative Program Left As A Mass Of Wreckage As Solons Conclude Record Session

AUSTIN, June 22 (AP)—Radio-creating W. Lee O'Daniel, flour salesman who rode to the Texas governorship on hillbilly music and a promise of $30-a-month pensions to all Texans over 65 years of age, today found his legislative program a mass of wreckage. Adjournment of the longest session of the legislature in state history yesterday, after an intransigent minority crushed efforts finally to pass an O'Daniel-bleamed constitutional amendment to finance bigger pensions, revealed the lawmakers ignored virtually all of their governor's desires. The heaviest blow to the O'Daniel chief executive was burial of his revenue plans to support expanded pensions. The legislature quit without voting a cent of new taxes despite previous action opening the doors to 50,000 or more additional pensioners. After the legislators abandoned O'Daniel's drastic 1.6 per cent transactions tax recommendation, the business man-governor, on his regular Sunday radio broadcasts, advocated the senate-spawned amendment which would have submitted to the people a 2 per cent sales and service tax plus a 25 per cent increase in levies on oil, gas and sulphur. Not Enough Votes Despite his caustic criticism of the plan's opponents and sentimentality interspersed argument all hammered out via radio—the proposal repeatedly failed to reach the necessary two-thirds majority in the house of representatives. On one test, however, it lacked but five votes. In his initial address to the legislature, the governor deviated from his campaign pledge and asked pensions be provided only to those over 65 who did not have an income of $30 a month, in amounts to make up the difference. The plan eventually adopted fell short of that roll-swelling suggestion but did loosen eligibility requirements, the extent of which is being discussed by pension administrators. About the only O'Daniel request the lawmakers granted was his plea for acquisition of a huge amount of acreage in mountainous West Texas bordering the Rio Grande, for state park purposes. A method of purchasing the land through public subscription was provided. His policy of economy was observed only in that departmental appropriations were slashed, although growing school enrollments boosted over-all tax money spending.

Safety Director Is Bridegroom

AUSTIN, June 22 (AP)—Miss Mary Nell Kilgo, daughter of R. S. Kilgo of Dallas, became the bride of Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the state public safety department, in ceremonies at the First Methodist church here last night. Dr. Robert E. Goodrich of San Antonio, assisted by Dr. C. M. Raby of Austin, read the service. The bride and groom left for a trip to the New York World's fair and Quebec.

Meeting Postponed

DALLAS, June 22 (AP)—Scheduled meeting of the executive committee of the Austin College board of trustees today was postponed indefinitely, Dr. Frank C. Brown, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, announced. The board will act at a later date on replacements for E. Y. Freeland, athletic director since 1935, and Dr. Manford George Gutake, head of the Bible department for the past three years. Dr. Gutake accepted a position at Columbia Theological Seminary, near Atlanta, Ga., and Freeland has joined a WPA recreational department.

SUSPECT HELD IN SLAYING OF BOY

PORT ERIE, Ont., June 22 (Canadian Press)—A man listed as Stewart Mighwender, 25, of Buffalo was held under guard at a hospital today while police investigated the slaying of a 12-year-old Buffalo boy.

Police Chief A. E. Griffin, who reported the finding of the boy's nude body in a clump of bushes a half mile west of here, said he was Henry Doto, missing from his home in Buffalo since Monday night. The boy's wrists were bound with rope and there was a cut on his arm.

Mighwender had wandered into the admitting office of the hospital Tuesday, weak from loss of blood. He told an incoherent story of having killed a man. There was a deep gash on his right arm.

US EXPERIMENT FARM STEERS SHOW A GOOD PROFIT MARGIN

Although the margin on 35 steers, used in a 196-day feeding test concluded last week at the U. S. Experiment Farm, was reduced sharply by shrinkage, by the time they were marketed, sale figures still showed "profit" to be around 80 per cent more than feed costs.

The steers furnished a 10-day top stant chief of the bureau of animal industry, department of agriculture, and W. H. Black, in charge of beef cattle investigations in the department, joined in the final investigations. J. M. Jones, Texas experiment station at College Station, was an observer since the state and the federal agencies cooperated in the tests.

Although all information is not in, results of the test thus far indicate that it is more advisable to feed a full ration of ground threshed milo with cottonseed meal, sunflower meal and salt to cattle penned as a group. Other warrant strict attention to type, not only for meat gain but also to avoid bloat and other ailments.

His poems were published by 200 newspapers in the United States and Canada.

HE WENT TOO FAR

VALDESE, N. C., June 22 (AP)—Policeman J. P. Stilwell would be the last man to ride herd too hard on the properties of dress these hot days, but he thinks a garbage collector here carried the thing too far.

Stilwell said he came upon him, making his rounds, attired only in a straw hat. The collector was charged with indecent exposure and driving while under the influence of liquor.

SHOT TO DEATH

GLADEWATER, June 22 (AP)—Norbert Phillips, 40, was found shot to death today in the warehouse of the hardware store he managed here.

About an hour before his body was found Phillips left the store saying he was going to shoot rats in the warehouse. A 22-caliber rifle was found near his body. The shooting was believed accidental.

Survivors include the widow, the former Lila Dubose of Corsicana.

Janicek Stops Lubbock Hubs In Relief Job As Barons Win

The Sports Parade

By HANK HART

Now awakened to the fact that they have a far better chance to advance in the scrap for first half honors in the WT-NM league chase, Tony Rego's Barons move out tonight to try and do what they have never accomplished before, sweep a three game series from the mighty Lubbock Hubbs.

Now four games off the pace, Rego was informed by League President Milton E. Price that five games would be added to first half play which means that the Big Springers now have 12 games remaining on the schedule. A very difficult schedule faces the locals from here on out but it is one which affords the team a great chance to bound to the top.

After finishing with Lubbock, the Barons move to Lamesa for a three game series with the second place team, then go to Pampa for another three games, return home to tangle with Lamesa in three games, last collide with the Midland Cowboys at home in a double header.

The Hubbs move from here to Amarillo, then to Midland before returning home to argue with Amarillo, complete their first half schedule in a twin bill with the Clovis Pioneers in Clovis.

The Lamesans missed an excellent chance to cut away most of the Hubbs' advantage by losing a 2-1 thriller to Pampa last night. They get a chance to redeem themselves tonight by mixing with Grover Selts' crew in a twin bill.

A hand injury suffered by Bobby Decker in a slide to third base in the sixth inning is going to hamper the Barons' fight, however. The member was badly swollen this morning, was so sore Robin could hardly lift his bat when he went to bat in the eighth round.

The New Yorker should not be criticized for missing the ground ball that let in two enemy runs in the ninth frame. It took courage to even go onto the field.

Some one should volunteer to clean Al Berd's home uniform. The little catcher, who has had to absorb all that dirt during the recent sandstorms, looks like a rag-a-muffin.

Rapidly becoming the darling of local fandom is Louis "Lefty" Janicek, the screwball wronghand who tamed the Hubbs last night. The Dallas boy, who tried out for two WT-NM league clubs before making a pitching success here, is the center of attraction from the time he steps onto the field and some of the tricks he has pulled would make Leo Durocher and his Brooklyn Dodgers green with envy.

Last night when the going got exceptionally rough in a middle inning and the Hubbs were finally threatening to get back into the ball game, having runners on first and third, Janicek called time, walked off the field for a drink of water, then returned to squelch the uprising.

His antics worry the batters, so he says. In the midst of a trying situation at Amarillo the other day, Louis took time to walk off the hill, move over to the third base foul line and start scratching out the line that marks the line, obviously trying to remove something from his shoe. When Al Berd walked out to ask his purpose, Lefty simply replied, "This must be worrying the batter."

In a game with the Gold Sox here Janicek took occasion to toss dirt at Manager Neal Rabe of the opposing team when the little pilot was protesting to the umpire about Louis' delivery.

Later he took chase of a runner who was playing off second base, almost caught him napping. The Amarilloan little realized that Janicek would pursue him, instead expected him to toss to one of his mates.

Have you noticed that Joe Saporito, the former Baron out-fighter, is battling in cleanup position for the Midland Cowboys?

Discuss S'ball Plans Tonight

Managers of the Muni softball league teams will gather with H. F. Malone, recreation director, at the city hall this evening, 7:30 o'clock, to discuss a schedule for the second half play. Final game of the first half schedule was completed Wednesday evening.

Any one wishing to enter a team into competition is invited to be in attendance.

Sutter Upset In Chi Meet

CHICAGO, June 22 (AP)—The national clay courts tennis show was on again today after rain late yesterday forced an end to play. First round doubles matches, in which Frankie Parker of Pasadena, Calif., and Gene Makio of Los Angeles rated as the favorite pair, were resumed from the point of yesterday's interruption. The same held for the singles division, which produced eight third round winners and the upset of one seeded player before the downpour.

The upset victim was eighth ranking Ernest Sutter of New Orleans who fell before Cincinnati's Billy Talbert, 6-4, 6-3.

PLANS TO ENTER FLOAT IN THE RODEO PARADE

The Lone Star Motorcycle club held its weekly meeting Tuesday evening at the Crawford hotel at which time plans were made toward entering a club float in the rodeo parade.

Several members who earlier in the week had been attending the Southwestern Motorcycle races in Waco were not present at the session.

HARVARD CREW IS FAVORED

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 22 (AP)—Early arrivals for the glamorous 77th Yale-Harvard regatta Friday found somewhat of a pall of gloom over this old whaling town today despite the Ellis' efforts to minimize two recent tough breaks.

What loomed as one of the most evenly fought four-mile races ever to take place in this colorful pageant, the oldest intercollegiate athletic event in America, suffered a couple of setbacks within the past two weeks, both due to illness.

This has served to promote Harvard's powerful sweepstake winners from a slight to a heavy favorite. While Harvard has been proceeding serenely to tune up for the traditional four-mile meeting on the Thames river, the Ellis' camp has been in an uproar.

Immediately upon arriving here, Coach Ed Leader was forced to undergo an appendectomy. He no sooner returned early this week when Charley Ruppert, Veteran No. 6, was stricken with fever and appears definitely out.

Bunch Hits In Fourth Frame To Win, 8-5

Johnny Miller came up with Lefty Wells' line drive to nip a threatened rally in the final frame as the Lone Star Chevrolet crew defeated the Anderson Devils, 8-5, in a Muni league softball game Wednesday evening at the city park.

The victory enabled the Mechanics to complete their first half season of play with an unblemished record.

The Rowmen employed five of the seven hits they collected off Lonnie Evans to score six times in the fourth frame.

Miller and Howard Hart paced the victors' batting assault with two hits each.

Grover Malone, on the mound for the Mechanics, experienced a shaky first frame when he surrendered three runs but settled thereafter to win easily.

COAST THINLY CLADS SWAMP BIG TEN BOYS

BERKELEY, Calif., June 22 (AP)—Twelve thousand fans who saw an hour and 25 minutes of track and field competition before dinner yesterday were convinced of a paucity of Pacific Coast athletes over the rest of the middle west.

They saw an all-star team of Pacific Coast conference performers run up a 94 1-3 to 36 2-3 victory over the Big Ten conference.

It was the third straight win for the coast boys. Times and distances were not out of the ordinary, with best performances turned in on the three long running races.

Bill Dale of Washington State college was clocked in 1:15.5 winning the 800-yard run, while Louis Zamperini of Southern California took the one-mile in 4:11.9 and Ralph Schwartzkopf of Michigan the two-mile in 9:12.8.

Roy Cochran of Indiana scored the Big Ten's only other victory, winning the 220-yard low hurdles in 23.3 seconds, a bare yard ahead of Southern California's Early Vickery.

GABBY TO SEND DIZ AGAINST BEES TODAY

CHICAGO, June 22 (AP)—Dizzy Dean, the Chicago Cubs' Sunday pitcher, is back on week-day assignments.

Diz goes against the Boston Bees today.

His recent diagnosis of the Cubs' ills—"two thirds of us are trying, the rest ain't"—brought the comment from Owner P. K. Wrigley that "he's probably right at that."

Starting Dean today may be Manager Gabby Hartnett's answer to the ditty one's suggestions.

Diz suggested in his recent association of commerce talk "Just let me pitch more often and everything will be okay."

Today's start marks Dean's sixth of the year and the only one he has not made on a Sunday.

RUCHONOK WINS TWELFTH GAME

By the Associated Press
Steve Ruchonok hung up his 12th victory for the league-leading Henderson Oilers last night, 5 to 0, as he limited Texarkana to five hits.

Lee Shapiro allowed six safeties. First baseman Sidlowe homered in the eighth gave Tyler a 3-2 win over Palestine.

Marshall overcame a three-run lead by scoring four unearned runs in the sixth inning to defeat Jacksonville, 4 to 3.

Longview's Ernest Terry allowed Kilgore only one hit and won his seventh game of the season, 7 to 0.

sooner or later would have been hurt.

It was plain this spring that his reflexes had slowed alarmingly. Half after ball went down the line between him and first base, balls he would in other years have snagged without a second thought.

Danger At Plate
But the real danger was at the plate, where the fast pitches were zinging past his head. A man needs to duck almost instinctively when a fireball comes straight for the scalp. Perhaps Lou sensed his danger, though he says he hadn't the faintest idea there was anything seriously wrong with his mechanism until the doctors handed him their report.

Marek Slated For Hill Job In Last Go

Locals Cut Leaders' Advantage To 4 Games

By HANK HART
A swell seven inning mound relief job by Louis Janicek and another explosion of Big Spring's heavy artillery gave the Barons an 8-6 victory over the Lubbock Hubbs here Wednesday evening before 1,500 fans. The victory tightened the WT-NM league's first division fight, leaving the Regemen and Pampa, who decided second place Lamesa, only four games from the top.

Janicek, relieving Art Gigli in a trying situation in the second frame, snuffed out the threatening Lubbock rally, then proceeded to handout the league champions with but four hits over the remainder of the route.

Featured by the spot hitting of Van Marshall and Herby Morey, who together had accounted for four Barons tallies in the initial stanza, the locals finally got to Lee Harris, star Lubbock right-hander, in the sixth frame with a run that sent the homebats to the front, then chased him from the slab in the seventh with a two run outburst.

Shoutout Until Ninth
The wronghander pitched shut-out ball until the ninth frame when a miscue by Bobby Decker accounted for two Lubbock scores. Janicek struck out Hack Miller to end that threat.

He had worked himself out of a very dangerous spot in the eighth round when the Hubbs loaded the cushions before a man could be retired but he coolly worked clear by striking out Boyd Watkins and forcing Clovis Bridwell and Bob Miller, pinch hitter, to sky to Van Marshall in the left garden.

Harris had a bad first inning, a round in which the Barons coupled three base hits with an error by Malcolm Stevens for four runs. After that, he strengthened and was actually shoving his pitches past the local gunners, that is, until the Regemen suddenly discovered it was time to go to work.

The Big Springers' first of six errors figured prominently in Lubbock's early uprisings. The visitors had put runners on first and second when Al Carr dispatched a made-to-order double play drive to Curde Loyd at the initial sack. Loyd experienced a bad case of the blind staggers on the drive, however, and was never able to pick up the apple after knocking down the drive.

With all terminals carrying weight, Johnny Taylor drove out to Marshall in left field, Zorko scoring easily from third. Hack Miller promptly singled, scoring Salty Parker from third but he was retired immediately when he attempted to steal second.

No Improvement
Gigli improved very little with experience and, after pitching "down the alley" balls to Watkins and Bridwell that were well spanked and giving up another run on a wild toss to an uncovered middle bag as he attempted to catch Watkins napping, retired in favor of Janicek. Harris' attempted sacrifice failed to move Bridwell from second in time and Janicek fielded the ball and tossed to Capps at third in time to effect the putout. But the Hubbs were not through. Zorko drove out a single to score Harris after the wronghander had committed a wild throw.

Meanwhile the Regemen had gone to work on Harris in round one. Decker beat out a hit at first base, a drive that Stevens went far to the right and batted down but could not retrieve. Loyd and Tex Walton were retired on fly balls but Pat Stacey singled, moving Decker to second and Billy Capps stroled to populate the sacks. Van Marshall connected with a weak roller to Stevens but the Lubbock second sacker failed miserably in attempting to field it and two runners scored. Two additional unearned tallies were chalked up when Herby Morey doubled down.

Two Courses To Be Employed In Tourney Playoff

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT

FORT WORTH, June 22 (AP)—Plainsmen moved in on the cattle capital today to have fun for four days in the fifteenth annual West Texas Golf association tournament—a meet that attracted some 200 players for one of the largest fields in Texas links history.

Cloudbursts, floods and twisters probably kept away more but, as it was, tournament officials were planning to run off match play over two courses.

Many of the West Texans were playing grass greens for the first time this year, a handicap that gave some of the Fort Worth par-breakers an advantage.

Out in front of the favorites was Billy Bob Coffey, a squat, blond youngster on his home course. He trimmed the par 37-38-73 course only last week in winning the annual River Crest invitation affair.

Coffey, never able to advance to the finals of the West Texas events on plains courses, faced a bold crew in Morris Norton of Wichita Falls, twice winner of the event; Jodie Bihl of Lubbock, defending champion; Iverson Martin of Fort Worth, runner-up for the state title '38; Norman Rowland of Fort Worth, runner-up to him last week, and scores of others.

Local players qualified yesterday, Coffey establishing himself as a favorite to cop medalist honors by whipping around the long lay-out—despite a high wind—in 34-36-70, three under par. Pete Donahue, former big league pitching star, was second low with a fine 73. Fewer than a score of the 140 Fort Worth players broke 80.

The visitors will qualify today. Match play opens Friday and lasts through Sunday.

STURDY BECOMES ACTIVE MONDAY

MARSHALL, June 22 (AP)—Marshall baseball officials today announced appointment of Frank Anderson, righthanded pitcher, as manager of the Marshall team of the East Texas League.

He succeeds R. R. (Gabby) Lusk, who resigned last night. Anderson will serve until Monday night, when Guy Sturdy, former manager and veteran first baseman, will be eligible to return to the game upon expiration of a 90-day playing suspension.

Lusk said he would go to work for an oil company at Odessa and play semi-pro ball.

Camilli Paces Brooklyn To Cincy Win

Red Lead Cut; Yanks Come From Behind To Trim Chisox

By JUDSON BAILEY

Associated Press Sports Writer
There are a lot of persons who think Adolph Camilli, a squat, stubborn truckhorse with delusions of being a racer, is the best first baseman in the National league and possibly in all baseball. There are others who do not—but this group suddenly has lost a lot of members.

Camilli (and eight other Brooklyn bumptkins) beat the Cincinnati Reds last night, 5-1, and the deciding blow was a home run by Camilli in the ninth. Furthermore he capped his customary fine fielding game with a spectacular one-handed stab of a liner in the same inning.

The Dodgers' other run was also a homer, by Tuck Stainback, and gave Whitlow Wyatt his seventh victory without defeat.

Camilli's circuit clout was his 13th of the season, and brought his total of runs batted in to 44, although his batting average is a modest .376. Therein lies the paradox of Camilli, in five full seasons in the National league with Chicago, Philadelphia and Brooklyn his percentage has fluctuated anywhere from last year's .351 to the previous season's .339, but his consistency as a power hitter never has wavered.

Two Failings
He has two failings. He is good for 80 to 100 or more strikeouts a season and he gives Brooklyn its weirdest base running since Babe Herman.

He has, anyway, he's a handy man to have in a ball game. All the other first division clubs advanced against Cincinnati yesterday. Curt Davis, with some steady pitching and his own big bat which accounted for a homer and two other hits, led the St. Louis Cardinals to a 14-2 victory over the Phillies.

The New York Giants plinched the Pirates, 6-4, with Carl Hubbell doing an excellent relief chore to save the game for Cliff Melton, and Earl Whitehill of the Cubs shut out the Boston Bees, 3-0, on seven hits.

The world champion Yankees cuffed Chicago's White Sox badly in the middle innings for a 9-8 victory. The clincher was a home run by Bill Dickey with one on in the seventh.

Jack Kramer got himself and the St. Louis Browns back into the win column with a 6-0 shutout of the Boston Red Sox.

The Cleveland Indians snatched a wild meke at Washington, 9-8, when Joe Krauskas showed some of the traits for which southpaws are notorious, throwing to the wrong base once and committing a balk in a pinch.

Detroit and the Philadelphia Athletics were idle.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or painful passage with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of appetite, headache and dizziness.

Fill, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Lou Gehrig's Decision To Retire From Game May Have Saved Life
By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—It's evident now that Lou Gehrig made the smartest decision of his life when he voluntarily removed himself from the Yankee lineup May 2 and broke his amazing endurance record.
If he had stayed in there and fought it out with his failing faculties, the great first baseman might by this time have been seriously injured or so far have undermined his health that recovery would have been hopeless.
As it is, there seems reason to believe the treatment prescribed by Mayo clinic specialists will arrest the infantile paralysis that has affected Lou and enable him to enjoy a moderately active life on the riches he has accumulated from baseball.
He had continued to play Gehrig

It was plain this spring that his reflexes had slowed alarmingly. Half after ball went down the line between him and first base, balls he would in other years have snagged without a second thought.
Danger At Plate
But the real danger was at the plate, where the fast pitches were zinging past his head. A man needs to duck almost instinctively when a fireball comes straight for the scalp. Perhaps Lou sensed his danger, though he says he hadn't the faintest idea there was anything seriously wrong with his mechanism until the doctors handed him their report.
"I had known I would have been out of there a long time ago, believe me," he said a few minutes after President Ed Barrow had announced the bad news. "No, the doctors couldn't tell me what caused it—whether it was over-exercise

Welcome Postmasters

Big Spring has an unusual distinction this week in that, as host to the annual convention of the Texas State Postmasters' association, it is the westernmost city yet to entertain this group.

Since the postal officials agreed a year ago to have a look at the western portion of the state, Big Spring set about to give them some "western color," and as a result the visitors will be treated to the action shows of our annual rodeo. We hope they find true western hospitality expressed to the fullest in all their activities about Big Spring, just as the will see the pageantry of the West unfolded at the rodeo arena.

We Americans have come to take the mail service as a thing to be compared to the sunrise and sunset in regularity, and it is only when slip-up in transportation, usually resulting from a catastrophe of a sort, that we fully become aware of how important the mail is in our everyday business and social life.

And the men responsible for directing the mails are important to our welfare, too. Big Spring is proud that the postmasters of Texas have come this way, and hopes they will find here a city they will remember fondly long after the convention is over.

Some Figures For Perusal

Every day the U. S. treasury issues a little table of statistics about the status of federal finances. Most papers run it on the financial page where few readers see it. In some cities the "numbers" operators even use it to calculate the day's winner.

In case you have never seen this table, here it is: Government expenses and receipts for the current fiscal year through June 10, compared with a year ago:

	This Year	Last Year
Expenses	$8,503,093,970.79	$6,982,900,428.21
Receipts	5,214,037,823.13	5,610,905,579.49
Gross Deficit	3,279,056,147.66	1,371,994,848.72
Net Deficit	3,341,971,347.66	1,313,298,798.72
Cash Balance	2,891,224,154.61	2,429,920,481.35
Working Balance	2,219,248,936.47	1,846,163,633.15
Public Debt	40,348,181,612.96	37,378,327,135.98
Gold Reserve	16,010,054,905.19	12,943,839,302.74
Customs	303,094,327.85	344,312,964.01

You've read it? Go back and look it over again. Then write your congressmen and tell them that you're more interested in economy than pork. There is still time for them to vote substantial savings in the next fiscal year's out-of-balance budget.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—It seems to me that cities are very much like people when you come to understand them. They have certain characteristics, they have moments of spiritual depression, they have days when they walk on air and days when they have to chin themselves on curb rings to keep out of the gutter.

No matter how close you live to a man you really never get to know him until you've gone hungry with him and smoked out of the same pack of cigarettes, and watched him in moments of jubilation as well as despair.

And that's the way it is with cities, especially New York. You could live here 20 years and not get to know it. You could spend any amount of time here and still find it a stranger, coldly impersonal and not much interested in what you think or what you do.

But you can get around this if you work at it. You can get to know any town by kicking around at odd hours with no special destination in mind, just browsing along its streets and poking your head into open doorways and seeing what people are doing and what they are thinking.

If you walk around New York in the early morning, for instance around 4 a. m., you learn that the fruit juice stands remain open all night. This seems incongruous. There may not be a single person in sight except the man behind the counter, a drowsy pineapple juice philosopher who always hails you with sincere greetings, probably because he is lonely.

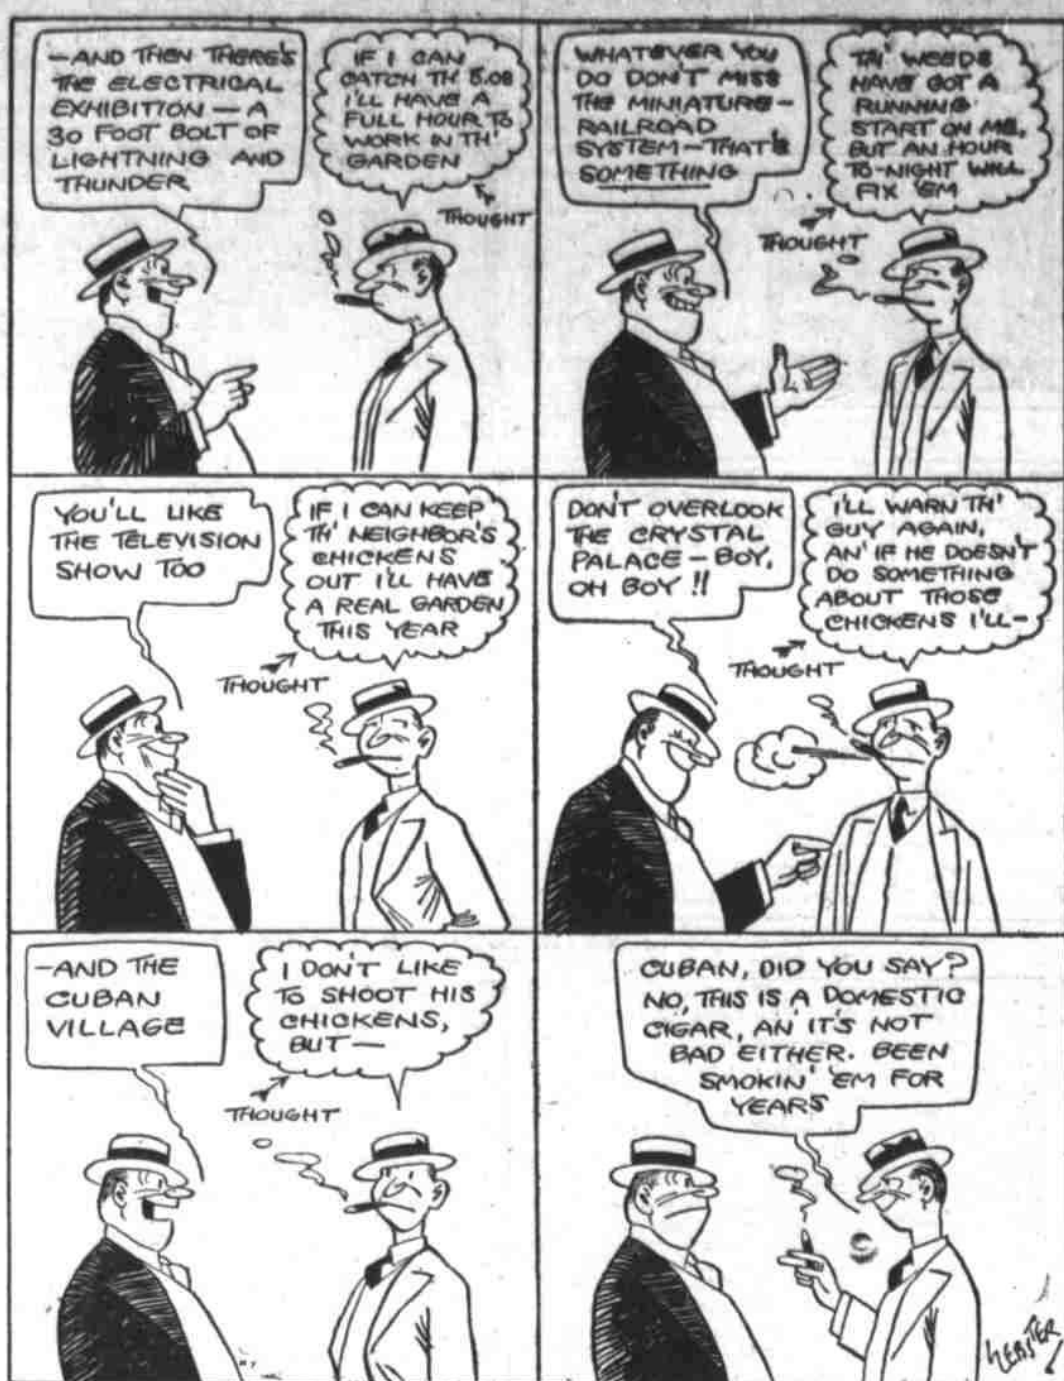

I asked one of them, a sort of Sloppy Joe proprietor, why it was that they remained open all night. There can't be much trade after midnight. Didn't the cost of operation exceed the profit?

Without batting an eye he said, "We are philanthropic. Some thirsty stranger might come plodding along, and if we can refresh him and lighten his spirits, who are we to count the cost of a few electric light bills?"

I thanked him gravely for this information and passed on. On the curb at 90th street and Rockefeller Plaza sat a man and a woman and a great Dane. The man was prematurely bald. The woman was sort of chunky, probably about 35, and she sat with her head bowed in her lap, weeping into a handkerchief. The man wasn't saying anything, just staring into space. Now and then he would reach down and touch the dog on the head. He didn't seem annoyed, or embarrassed, but he seemed awfully tired. As I passed in front of them across the street the woman said, "I'm sorry, Ted." That was all. He didn't answer, or look at her, or permit his expression to change. They were still sitting there, the man and the woman and the great Dane when I crossed the street at the next corner and passed from sight.

Well, that's just a small part of it—a millionth part, maybe. But after awhile, after months and years of adding up these fractions you begin to have an idea of what a city is like. Sometimes I think if I had long enough I may get to the point where I'd really know what New York is like.

FOUR BLIND DATES

Chapter 15

INVITATION TO THE BALL

The undivided attention of the entire company of freaks was now riveted on the shooting-gallery man and William. So was the undivided attention of the group of bystanders. The shooting-gallery man, evidently accustomed to publicity, bore up exceedingly well under these batteries of eyes. Not so William. He began to feel acutely uncomfortable. Striving for nonchalance, he passed a finger around the inside of his collar. Then, aware immediately that this gesture had failed to establish him as a gentleman who is confidently at ease, he took off his hat and wiped his face with a handkerchief.

"Tee hee," gurgled Pearl the snake-charmer, in the midst of this operation.

William reddened. His not to know that Pearl was merely giggling out of the lightness of her heart.

The shooting-gallery magnate spoke again, testily.

"Well, c'mon, c'mon," he said to Horace and Morris. "What's da matter wid you dopest?"

The fact that they were sent for seemed to dawn simultaneously on Horace and Morris East. They arose as one. As one they pushed their way through the assemblage of monstrosities. As one they covered the few feet to the edge of the platform. And Mr. William Steele, gazing at them with eyes that would have been notable even in the head of a flabbergasted goldfish, experienced a sudden sinking sensation. He gripped the platform with both hands and turned to the shooting-gallery man.

"Good gosh," he exclaimed hoarsely, what is it?"

The shooting-gallery man was a stickler for facts.

"It ain't an 'it,' he corrected. "It's two of 'em."

"Yes, I see. B-but..."

"Aw," said the shooting-gallery man, "what's da matter? Ain't ya never seen Siamese twins before?"

Came the dawn for Mr. William Steele of California. At long last he understood the mystery of those perplexing letters after the name of the East brothers in the Manhattan telephone directory. He was suddenly aware of the reason for the sinister leer and cryptic speech of the delicatessen man. And he was likewise aware that, unless he wanted to drop one thousand dollars in a fashionable section of Long Island looking like the guy who invented that useful crack anent two birds and but a single stone.

Recovering somewhat from his astonishment he now took time out and studied the Morris East. They were small men, smooth-faced and oval of eye. Separated from the other, either would have been a Grade A non-entity. They got across purely because they were joined together. Morris lay a shic t degree to the left of Horace and at a weird, oblique angle. Horace returned the compliment by striking off a short degree to the right of Morris at a similar angle. To add to the confusion they were dead ringers for each other. Further than that, through long and close association perhaps, they had formed the habit of acting simultaneously. Did Horace cough, Morris did likewise. Were Morris to

Incline his head in one direction,

Horace felt it incumbent to incline his head in the same direction. If Horace's nose twitched slightly, so did the nose of Morris.

The shooting-gallery man made small talk.

"Day was born dis way," said the shooting-gallery man, with a certain ill-concealed satisfaction.

William turned to the East brothers.

"Is that a fact?" he said pleasantly.

"Absolutely," said Mr. Horace East.

"Positively," said Mr. Morris East.

"Morris," said Horace, "be quiet."

"But I only said..."

An exasperated expression crossed the face of Horace East.

"Morris," he demanded sharply, "who is the brains of the act?"

"Why—er—oh, I suppose you are," said Morris gloomily.

"Exactly. Now will you be quiet and let me handle this?"

Mr. William Steele, the first fine flush of his embarrassment gone, had been probing the recesses of his mind for some enticing verbal bait with which to lure Horace and Morris East to Long Island and still abide by the rules of the game of North, South, East and West. Nothing, however, of a very exhilarating nature had occurred to him. But he realized that he was on the spot here.

"Listen," he said abruptly, "you fellows want to go on a swell loop?" He was aware, as he spoke, that this reference to festivities might be construed as a breach of the rules. But, for the moment, he waived the rules. William was feeling hard-pressed.

"Loop?" said the section of the East brothers known as Horace, blankly.

"Yes. You know, sort of a party."

"Fifty?" queried Horace East. "You mean you're inviting us to a party?"

"That's it," said William, delighted at how quickly Mr. East caught on.

A thoughtful expression crossed the face of Horace East. A similar expression crossed the face of Morris East. As one they appeared to think.

"You will have to explain this a little further," Horace said.

This was precisely what William dreaded to do. He was, he felt, in no position to explain anything.

The shooting-gallery man loomed at his shoulder, breathing down his neck in a frenzy of curiosity.

The little knot of cash customers had pressed steadily and tortuously closer. And on the platform the freaks, wide-eyed with suppressed excitement, were craning their necks in order to lose neither a word nor a shade of meaning.

Even Anastasia, the python, seemed to be flowing a few feet nearer him. Hemmed in on all sides by undesirable, William was experiencing sensations akin to those of a professed Christian in ancient Rome.

And yet, unless he made himself clear, he was obviously going to get nowhere fast. He gripped loins.

"Look here," he said in a low voice, "I don't blame you for being confused. But it's the simplest thing in the world. Listen!" Rapidly he sketched the events which had given rise to North, South, East and West.

The East brothers heard him out in bewildered silence. Finally Horace shook his head.

"I don't get the idea," he said helplessly.

"You don't have to," William said. "I've just told you that I can't go into very many details. But there's nothing to worry about. All you've got to do is put yourselves unreservedly in my hands."

"But what's the point of it?" "No point. Just fun."

Horace East came to a decision. "It can't be done," he said flatly. "Of course, it can't," confirmed Morris. "We..."

"Morris!" said Horace warningly.

William, right on his toes, sensed that the quarry was about to elude him. He got a grip on himself. "Hey!" he said glibly. "Let's cut the fencing. I'll give you birds fifty bucks apiece, cash money, to do this thing for me."

As a well-directed forward pass often changes the aspect of a football game, so did mention of lucre alter the complexion of the business in hand.

"Fifty dollars?" cried Horace incredulously.

"Fifty?" echoed Morris.

"Fifty," nodded Bill.

"For one night?"

"One night," said Bill.

Even a bystanding imbecile could have seen that remarkable progress had been made. Horace East rubbed his hands.

"Morris," he said, "we must consider this."

They straightway went into a huddle. William waited, fidgeting.

"Would we," inquired Horace, coming out of the huddle, "have to do anything? Would we be ex-

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—The principal cooling influence on the ardor of the house for big military appropriations is Rep. Ross A. Collins of Mississippi who considers the administration has been frightened off the deep end on its air program.

He is a member of the house subcommittee on war department appropriations and used to be chairman of it. The hazards of politics took him out of office in 1935 so he lost his seniority and the chairmanship went to Representative Snyder of Pennsylvania.

Nevertheless Collins packed enough influence in the committee to win at least a technical modification of the big air program. And throughout the hearings on the supplemental military appropriation bill he was a persistent gadfly in questioning of army officers.

He obtained an admission from General Craig, army chief of staff, that he was "not in on" designing the expanded air program, although he now approves it fully.

"RESERVE" IDEA ATTACKED

As part of its program for 5,500 airplanes, the air corps estimated that approximately 40 per cent, or 2,200 of them, would be held in reserve for emergency. A few would be used while the "active" planes were in the repair shops.

Supported by some republican strength on the committee, particularly by Representative Powers of New Jersey, Collins proposed that only a small portion of this 40 per cent reserve be built. He painted a picture of fields of idle airplanes growing obsolete month after month, spoiling in the sun and rain. How could the army come forward with demands for newer types in a year or two years from now while its fields were full of unused models of the present program?

Collins and company proposed that the 2,200 reserve planes be built only if the president considered them necessary for military defense. They got part way with the argument. The army explained that it had already ordered 560 pursuit type planes and if the whole reserve were withheld the air force would be unbalanced with too many pursuit types. A compromise was reached by which 1,007 of the reserve numbers should be built, leaving to the president the decision whether the balance of the 2,200 should be added later.

CUT "TRIAL ORDER" FUND

The same Collins group on the committee succeeded in cutting the "educational orders" appropriation from $33,000,000 to $14,000,000,000.

As amended, the bill has to survive both the house and senate, where there persists a really solid body of preparedness fervor.

Powers tried, but missed by a mile, in an effort to get General Craig to agree that the war danger had abated.

"I may be wrong, I may be misinformed, and I may be ignorant of the facts," said Powers, "but I think this 1939 war bubble is pretty well deflated." "I cannot agree with you that the 1939 bubble is deflated," said Craig. "The present state of world affairs certainly does not hold out much encouragement. The possibility that unlimited war, in which we may become involved, may be stayed off for a year or indefinitely does not warrant me as chief of staff to proceed on that assumption."

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—People and things:

Sandy Henville. Sixteen months old now, and never a normal girlhood because she's cast as a boy again. History repeats itself: Shirley Temple's follow-up on success was "Baby Takes a Bow." Sandy's is "Sandy Takes a Bow." Sandy's papa, probably on the theory that a milk rook never grows up, is still a cow-joke distributor.

Joan Crawford. Still talking about trying Broadway in the fall. Her friends hope she doesn't—Broadway-in-the-fall is a brutal place for a film star to stick her neck out. One friend's suggestion: "Joan ought to take a long vacation...Let her see what 'The Women' does for her—then take a long trip, get Hollywood and movies out of her system for a while, come back and go to town the way she used to..."

Cesar Romero. He plays a magician in "Charlie Chan at Treasure Island." Got the part after bona fide magic-man was tested, rejected—not because he wasn't the type, but because his feats didn't look genuine on the screen.

Marguerite Trice. Pretty thing from Waco, Texas, signed to a screen contract from Little theatre work. Marguerite (due for a title change) actually made her debut in films months ago—in a newswell where she modeled bathing suits. Underwater stuff, and nice, too—if that WAS Marguerite I'm thinking of...

That oil well in "Bright Victory" and that swimming pool on "Hollywood Cavalcade" (or "Falling Stars" or what-they-may-call-it). They use water, colored, for the gusher, and they use oil for the swimming pool, to give nicer reflections. This is Hollywood, where the real McCoy is just an old-time western star named Tim...

Elsa Maxwell. Party-giver extraordinary, making her film debut, has a stand-in who weighs 103. Elsa herself? "Two hundred pounds—and proud of it."

Susan Miller. She's featured in Earl Carroll's new dinner-revue. (In the revue, silly, not the dinner.) Susan was a chubby, plump little stock girl at RKO a couple of years ago; now she's a streamlined glamor gal...And going back into pictures.

Nigel Bruce. You'd never dream it, but his intimates call him Willie. Nigel's just a stage name, his own being William. He's with Rathbone again in "Sherlock Holmes"...

Norma Shearer. Caught her without an answer the other day. The question: "Are all women, Miss S., like those in 'The Women'?" Said Miss S., who was tired maybe: "I don't know. I really haven't thought about it. I really should. I ought to have answers for questions like that, shouldn't I?"...

Corra Sue Collins. An old screen veteran at 12. She's in "Harmony at Home" now, but in her time she has played childish editions of Loretta Young, Greta Garbo, Norma Shearer and Merle Oberon. Asked which of these queens she'd like to be like when she grows up, Corra Sue wasn't sure, but ventured, "It would be nice if I could have the best features of all of them." Proving that diplomacy, in Hollywood, is not a matter of age.

The year 1938 was one of the warmest on record in the United States as a whole.

Fifth, under the farm security administration, expansion of the purchase of farms for tenant farmers with a $200,000,000 limit and loans of $250,000 in 1940.

Sixth, foreign loans to promote American foreign trade were put down for $300,000,000 for two years with $300,000,000 going out in 1940. Mr. Roosevelt explained proceeds of these loans would be spent in the United States and would be used for development and reconstruction purposes in the foreign country.

Wallace

Moore, master of the Texas State Grange, sent Wallace in which he said the administration's "agricultural program has proven a colossal and tragic failure," and in which he urged Wallace to resign.

"Wallace has been secretary seven years," the Texas official said. "Congress has given him practically every law he has ever asked for and hundreds and millions of dollars with which to conduct his program.

"And after all this cooperation and money to stabilize the cotton industry we find he has led the cotton farmer and the cotton industry as a whole into a blind alley as evidenced by the fact that exports of American cotton this year are the smallest since 1884."

"I heartily agree with the Wisconsin assembly and with Mr. Moore that Secretary Wallace has thoroughly demonstrated his inability to solve the cotton problem and that unless he can recognize his failure and offer something better than his present proposal that he use the taxpayers' money for paying foreigners a subsidy or bonus to purchase of American cotton at a ridiculously low price—a price far below production cost and only one-half of the parity price which Mr. Wallace's cotton program has promised the farmer—that he should have enough interest in the welfare of the American farmer to resign."

way for the rodeo which opens Friday. Postmasters, incidentally, will take time off from convention activities Friday afternoon to be guests at the initial rodeo performance. Their convention continues through Saturday.

Galveston, although it entertained the postal chiefs last year, seemed to be a strong bidder for the 1940 conclave. There was talk of Marshall and Tyler as contenders. In keeping with custom, First Vice-President B. C. McElroy of Marshall likely will be elevated to the presidency to succeed DeGrass, when officers are named Saturday. Other officials are Burriss C. Jackson of Hillsboro, second vice-president; Dan J. Quill, San Antonio, third vice-president; Harry Meritt, McAllen, parliamentarian, and W. Bruce Luna, Dallas, secretary-treasurer. The name of Shick came before the convention informally Thursday as the man for third vice-president.

F. L. Clappitt, inspector in charge at Fort Worth; Aldrich, and C. J. Taylor, superintendent of railway mail service at Fort Worth, were listed as program speakers for Friday morning.

The convention banquet is scheduled for Friday night, when the speaker will be Smith W. Fordum of Washington, fourth assistant postmaster general. He was due to arrive here this evening. Convention decorations were attracting much interest among the crowd. The registration booth in the Settles lobby is a cleverly constructed replica of Big Spring's original postoffice, a frontier-building affair with its boardwalk, water bucket and lantern. There are windows for various postal functions. Strung in streamers about the Settles mezzanine are hundreds of envelopes, opened and with stamps cancelled, to take the place of the usual colored streamers. The decorations were in charge of Mrs. Shick and her daughter, Lillian.

stration, and the other as a can- didate with or without machine support. The latter, State Treas- urer A. P. Tugwell, came out open- ly two hours before Leche acted. Political storm clouds began gathering two weeks ago follow- ing publication by the New Or- leans States of a story that a Louisiana State university truck, loaded with window shades made at the university, had brought them to a house being built by a close friend of Governor Leche.

Leche promptly called an open hearing in Baton Rouge. The hearing later was indefinitely post- poned pending investigation of "other matters." Soon afterward the Shreveport Journal printed a syndicated article from Washing- ton, in which Leche's name again was mentioned, which resulted in prompt announcement by state WPA Administrator J. H. Crutcher that an investigation had been begun on orders from Washington.

Crutcher said at that time "if the evidence warrants, the charges will be prosecuted without delay in the United States courts." Paul Han- sen, chief of the WPA investigat- ing unit for five southern states, launched the inquiry yesterday.

Leche had been unavailable to newspapermen who vainly sought him all week. The announcement was his first public comment fol- lowing the WPA administrator's action.

required 100 if they had ever scored to 99. The successful battle waged by house enemies of the governor's measure meant no taxation consti- tutional amendment can be submit- ted until 1941. Statutory tax pro- posals would be the only ones sub- ject to consideration at a special session.

The session ended on a bitter note as an aftermath of the final communication received by the house from the governor. "To the small minority of mem- bers who failed to settle the mat- ter (social security financing) ac- cording to their own personal ideas," O'Daniel said, "and then voted refusal to permit the sov- ereign voters of this great democ- racy of Texas to decide this question, I can only refer you to the people of Texas for whatever expressions they may care to make."

The communication was handed to the committee appointed to notify the governor the house was ready for sine die adjournment. While all of the legislators' work except the final typing and check- ing of bills was completed by mid- afternoon yesterday, the session did not officially end until 6:54 p. m. Only a few members stayed for banging of gavel bringing the five and one-half month meeting to a close. Speaker Moore declared the house adjourned at 6:42 and Lieut. Gov. Coke Stevenson adjourned the senate at 6:54.

Highlights of the long session in- cluded: The legislature cut departmental appropriations 10 per cent and re- fused increases in other appropri- ations except those for rural school aid and vocational education. The appropriations measure had not yet been signed by the governor. The unemployment compensation tax was materially cut, effective Jan. 1, 1941. A statewide soil conservation

FOLLOW-THROUGH BY FELLER—"How a fire ball is made" is shown in four not-so-easy stages by Bob Feller, Iowa's gift to the Cleveland Indians' pitching staff. Note that "oomph."

NAZI SPADEWORK IN DANZIG—Spades symbolic of their rank were carried by these Youth Labor corps members marching in Zoppot, Danzig, where a typical Nazi rally with parades, flags and salutes was staged recently. He believes that Hitler will mark time on Danzig until the Nuremberg Nazi party congress in September.

MARLIN-MARK-MAKERS—Good reason to boast has Mrs. Henry Sears (left) of Greenwich, Conn., and Cat Cay, Bahamas. She caught this 730-pound blue marlin off Cat Cay in an hour and a half. With her are Mrs. Paul Sanborn, who set a women's record catching a 560-pound marlin, and Tommy Shevlin, who caught a 636-pound blue marlin in 1932.

THAT'S A LONG REACH, ALICE—Practise makes perfect, thinks Alice Marble, American tennis ace now in England preparing for the Wimbledon matches June 26 to July 8.

PLEA FOR TOLERANCE—In its battle to crush bigotry and prejudice the Council Against Intolerance in America enlisted Katharine Hepburn and McClelland Barclay (above). The actress posed for the "Spirit of Tolerance," a poster intended for nationwide distribution. Among council members are Governor Lehman, Monsignor John A. Ryan, Ickes, Foedick, Glass, Wm. SING A SONG OF SENTIMENT—His fond recollection of the old gas-buggy used by the doctor who assisted at his birth inspired Singer James Melton (left) to buy this ancient gasoline chariot. He found it in a barn in his home town, Ocala, Fla., and shipped it to Connecticut where the Melton collection of early autos is stored. Melton, who's shown at the wheel with a mechanic, remembers how he often hoisted the car out of ditches. Note the right-hand drive.

IN 1901—Gen. John J. Pershing, who'll be 59 on Sept. 12, was busy fighting Indians in the Philippines when this was taken. He was born Sept. 12, 1858, in Lima county, Mo.

CALL HIM 'BLACK JACK'—Since 1898 when he was first lieutenant of the 10th U. S. cavalry, a Negro regiment, Pershing has had a nickname, "Black Jack," given him by a West Point cadet who, liked by the general's frequent "That was the way we did it in the 10th cavalry," one day growled "Black Jack, Pershing." Pershing (left) reviewed 10th cavalry in 1904.

IN 1916—Grieving stoically over loss of wife and three daughters, who burned to death Aug. 27, 1915, Pershing led 10,000 men into Mexico to trail the bandit, Villa.

DAYS OF THE WAR—When General Pershing (left), son of a railroad section foreman, went to France in 1917 to command the A.E.F., he won his battle to have an independent American army holding its own front under its own officers, as against distribution among French and British forces. With him is Gen. Charles F. Summerall, later chief of staff.

ALWAYS A SOLDIER—A full year was 1938 for General Pershing, shown Nov. 11 honoring the nation's Unknown Soldier. Near death from heart attacks in February, he called and attended the April wedding of his only son, Warren. In August he went to France to receive work as chairman of American Battle Monuments commission.

Third base way to score Capps and Marshall.

Squeeze Play Works

The squeeze play worked effectively in the sixth to give the Barons a lead they never lost. Successive base hits by Stacey and Capps gave the Big Springers a scoring chance but a perfect throw-in by Glovia Bridwell from right field on Van Marshall's base hit cut off Stacey at the plate. Moray was intentionally passed to fill the sacks and Al Berndt laid down an easy bunt to score Capps.

Stacey gained a free pass in the seventh, stole second, then romped home on Capps' drive. Moray followed with another double to score Capps to extend the Big Spring advantage and spell the doom of Harris who eventually made way for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

Decker accounted for the final local tally in the back side of the eighth when he walked, stole second and crossed the dish on Loyd's single.

Jodie Marek will be seeking his eleventh pitching triumph of the year as he goes out against the champions in the final game of the series tonight. Mel Kramer is slated to work for the invaders.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By EDDIE RHETZ

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—The coast rumors Slip Madigan is getting ready to step out of the St. Mary's football picture... Poor Lou Gehrig—no wonder the fellow was slowing up... It was Sam Sneed's fan mail that caused him to pass up the British open for the P. G. A. Sam received hundreds of letters telling him not to let that big eight at Philly get him down... The situation at Washington is so acute, Clark Griffith has personally gone on a scouting trip... Mary Galento and Marva Louis will discuss their hubbies on the air Saturday.

Success story:

George Weiss, head of the far-flung Yankee farm system, will be 44 tomorrow... George well remembers his first dealings with the New York club... Back in 1923 he led the New Haven Colonials into town for an exhibition with the Yanks... The paid turn-out was 157... New Haven's share of the gate was $10.45.

The belief grows Joe Louis is going to declare a moratorium on set-ups and retire for a year after hopping off Galento... John D. Heriz, Chicago sportsman, may build a $2,000,000 racing plant in Bergen county, N. J., if he can induce Dr. Charles Strub, Santa Anita's managing director, to come east and guide it.

Today's guest star:

Edward Zeltner, New York Mirror: "The last time the Dodgers played in Cincinnati they lost three games and Poffenberger—which still was showing a profit."

Cub fans are squawking because vendors at Wrigley field charge 'em a penny for a book of matches advertising Wrigley's gum... Jimmy Dykes says the White Sox have called off their feud with the Yanks... Reason Jake Pfeffer isn't taking a herd of wrestlers to the coast to make a short for M-G-M, is that King Kong, who was to have been the featured burper, shaved off his whiskers at the last minute and wouldn't go.

Honest confession, etc.:

Lou Nova finally has got around to admitting he fought a dumb fight against Baer... Well, that makes it unanimous, Lou.

Bill McKechnie, Jr., and Bob Grove, Jr., may bob up on the Duke baseball team next season... Doc Prothro's boy already is down there.

Missions Keep Ahead In Race

By the Associated Press

Johnny Lucadello's perfect record at the plate last night helped the Texas League-leading San Antonio Missions to a 5-4 victory over the Fort Worth Cats.

Lucadello's fourth single, in the ninth inning, scored Joe Bilgere to break a tie.

The Dallas Rebels took undisputed possession of second place when Jelly SoRelle, strapping right-hander, held the Beaumont Exporters to six hits and a 6-2 win.

Houston's Bufts fell from a second-place tie with Dallas into third position when the Oklahoma City Indians hit a dozen safeties for a 6-2 win. Bill Prince hurried steadily for the Indians and recorded his tenth victory of the season.

Lou Stefan's relief pitching and a sixth-inning home run by Stan Schino enabled the Tulsa Oilers to defeat the Shreveport Sports, 6-5.

Rosenbloom Preps For Attore Go

LOS ANGELES, June 22 (AP)—Principals in an all-star boxing card at Gilmore stadium Monday night went through further training paces today.

Even Maxie Rosenbloom, actor and night club operator who boxes Al Attore of Philadelphia, took an extra turn around the Hollywood baseball park grandstand. In Rosenbloom's program of conditioning that amounts to five rounds of ordinary shadow boxing.

Gunnar Barlund, rugged Finn who meets Jack Roper in another heavyweight match at 10 rounds, scheduled a hard workout. He has been taking it easy since halting the winning streak of Chicago's newest prospect, Tony Musto.

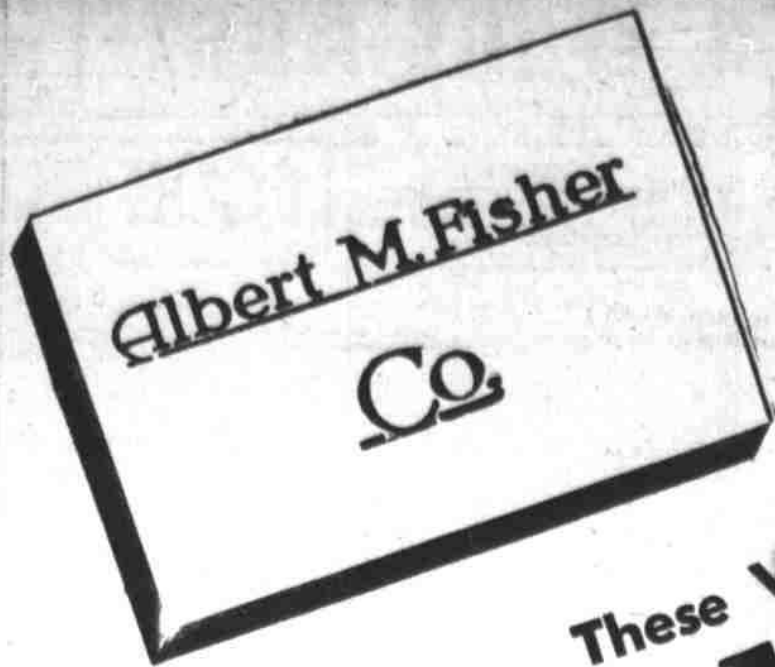

Tony Chavez, Mexican lightweight, and dusky George Crouch meet in another 10-rounder, and Eric Beelig, German middleweight, and Glen Lee of Nebraska wind up the card.

McCRORY MAN HERE

Mr. Quinn, a native Texan, is here to supervise employment of Texas labor in the McCrory stores in Texas. He said he would remain here for the weekend Friday before returning to New York City.
