APPROXIMATELY $4,000 DAMAGES

Interior Of Pampa Home Destroyed By Vandalism

By DON TURNER
News Staff Writer

An estimated $3,000 to $4,000 damage was done by vandals to a Pampa residence Thursday, police reports stated.

The apparent vandalism to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Martin, 3009 Rosewood is one of three incidents police think may be related to his employment with a local insurance agency.

Martin also reported damage to the coil in his car Wednesday and damage to the window of the insurance agency Thursday.

Apparently all the wooden furniture in the Martin residence was damaged by the claw end of a hammer.

Entry to the residence occurred between 9 a.m. and 12:15 p.m. Thursday, apparently through an unlocked front door, the report stated.

The alleged vandal or vandals went to the garage where a gallon of mustard-colored paint, three cans of spray paint and a claw hammer were taken. A large hunting knife was taken from the kitchen.

Damage to several rooms in the house was extensive.

In the kitchen the oven door, dish washer door and refrigerator doors were all sprung — apparently having been pushed beyond capacity. The kitchen table was turned over.

In the master bedroom the sheet and mattress cover was cut open apparently with a knife. There was a deep gash in a night table and dresser and black paint had been sprayed on the drapes. Some of the mustard-colored paint had been scattered on the bed. A lamp in the bedroom had been turned over onto the floor.

In a center bedroom another mattress was cut with a knife. The television and chest of drawers had both received gashes and several items had been dumped on the floor. Paint had been dumped on the bed and floor, and silver spray paint had been sprayed on clothing in the bedroom.

In still another bedroom, the mattress had been cut and paint scattered.

Pictures had been taken off the living room walls and thrown on the floor. More of the mustard-colored paint had been dumped on the couch and floor. A coffee table, end table and television had received deep gashes.

The end of a garden hose from the rear of the house had been brought into the living room, turned on and left.

House Overrides School Aid Veto

Senators Lining Up To Add Endorsement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House has voted to override President Nixon's veto of an over-the-budget $14 billion school aid bill. Senators today were getting in line to add their endorsement.

The Senate vote will come next Wednesday. Meantime a check showed Democrats solidly supporting the move to enact the bill over the veto, and more than enough Republicans ready to join them to make a two-thirds majority and write the bill into law.

Back-home popularity of federal aid to schools — from elementary grades to graduate levels — easily outweighed Nixon's economy pleas in the House Thursday when members voted 289 to 114 to repeal the bill.

That was well over the two-to-one margin needed, with 77 Republicans joining 212 Democrats voting to override while 13 Democrats and 101 Republicans voted not to do so.

But on a second bill vetoed Tuesday by the President as too costly — an $18 billion measure carrying above-budget funds for urban renewal, water and sewage grants, and veterans' medical care — Nixon's stand was upheld by the House. The 203 to 195 roll call on that one fell far short of the two-thirds majority required by the Constitution for passage of a bill over the President's veto.

This so-called "independent offices" bill went back to the drawing board in the House Appropriations Committee where it will remain until after the House returns from a three-week recess starting today. Meantime, agencies affected will operate at old levels under stopgap spending authority.

"GREAT TOURNAMENT"

Senior Golfers Want To Come Back And Play Again

By A News Staff Writer

Pampa must have made a good impression on the Senior Golfers this week.

The board of directors of the Tri-State Senior Golf Association in their meeting last evening at the Coronado Inn, unanimously agreed to return here next year. If the board of directors of the Pampa Country Club extend an invitation.

Board members of the Senior Golfers Association singled out the tournament committee, "Red" Wedgworth, manager of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, Hart Warren, professional at the Pampa Country Club, and the people of Pampa for praise.

It was best summed up by J.R. Brown of Amarillo, the executive secretary of the association, who said, "the people and the atmosphere here made this a great tournament, we would like to come back."

"This tournament means more to the players than just winning a match, it gives them an opportunity for fellowship with friends they have had over the last ten, fifteen or even twenty years," Brown continued.

MORE MILITANT THAN EARLY DAYS

Southern Christian Leadership Conference Mood Makes Shift

ATLANTA (UPI) — The mood of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) has taken on a militancy far different from the early days of civil disobedience under the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

It has become soul power in a bright African-styled shirt. It is a demand for black identity along with equality with the white man.

The difference was forcefully evident at the final night session of the SCLC's 13th convention Thursday.

"What time is it?" shouted the Rev. Jesse Jackson, one of the young, forceful leaders in the SCLC. "Nation time."

He shouted the audience of some 600, an apparent reference to a black nation.

A candidate for the Fulton (Atlanta) County Commission, Billy McKinney, said he was running for office because the "power" was in the commission. He said he had learned in 21 years as a city policeman that white patrolmen protected whites and, "we should protect our own."

The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, president of the SCLC, demanded the United States be put on "trial" for alleged crimes against blacks.

Israel Refuses To Negotiate Until Soviet Missiles Moved

By United Press International

Israel will refuse to begin Middle East peace negotiations until new Soviet missiles that it says violate the cease-fire are removed from the Egyptian Suez Canal front, political sources in Jerusalem said today.

The sources said a majority of the Israeli cabinet, led by Prime Minister Golda Meir and Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, overruled a minority led by Foreign Minister Abba Eban Thursday and decided to take a stiffer line toward the American peace initiative.

Dayan charged that the Egyptians and Russians moved SAM2 and SAM3 missiles to within 12 miles of the Suez Canal a few hours after the cease-fire began last Friday.

Egypt said the Israeli claims of a cease-fire violation were a "contemptible attempt by Israel to evade the consequences of its acceptance of the American peace initiative."

These consequences, Egypt said, would include Israel's withdrawal from territory occupied during the 1967 Middle East War.

Jordan accused Israel of violating the cease-fire with a strafing attack by two jets Thursday on a North Jordanian village. A Jordanian spokesman said there were no casualties or damage in the attack on the village of Northern Esh-Shuna, five miles south of the Sea of Galilee.

Political sources in Jerusalem said Eban, backed by a few other cabinet ministers, had argued that the missile crisis, though serious, should not be allowed to interfere with attempts to get negotiations started. But Eban had to give in to the will of the majority, they said.

Eban said in a television interview Thursday night that Israel had not replied to a query from U.N. peace envoy Gunnar V. Jarring as to when talks should begin.

Dayan told the Knesset (parliament) that the United States, as the originator and mediator of the cease-fire agreement, should police it.

U.S. officials in Washington said the United States was still trying to determine whether there was a cease-fire violation. The officials said it might take several more days to screen several hundred miles of desert to determine if any changes had taken place since the cease-fire.

Political sources in Jerusalem said Israeli Ambassador Yitzhak Rabin submitted Israeli air force reconnaissance photographs showing the new missiles Tuesday to Joseph Sisco, U.S. assistant secretary of state for Near Eastern affairs.

Pampans Open Hearts As Well As Homes To Visiting All-Stars

For the 90 boys participating in the Regional Babe Ruth League Tournament held here this week, 74 families offered their homes as a home away from home, and themselves as "foster parents" for the youths.

"We had 29 families more than we needed, because some families had from one to four boys, and didn't want to give them up after they got acquainted with the youths. Our family participation in Pampa was tremendous. They really opened their homes to these youths, and I feel we should be proud of their hospitality," Jack Hood, tournament housing director, said.

The 90 youths were placed with 45 families, which were Messrs. and Mmes. T.C. Drinnon, Bob Swope, Joe Fischer, Jack Edwards, Milo Carlson, Orvel Brewer, Larry Andrus, Joe Pafford, D.W. Swain, Jerry Edgar, Jake Osborne, Don Klepper, Frank Ferrell, Lloyd Rash, Buddy Scott, A.E. Pennington, J.C. Hopkins, Ray Thompson, E.W. Hogan, Dr. Joe Donaldson and Dr. James Bailey.

The foster families were presented certificates of appreciation Wednesday between tournament games. Hood and Walter Phillips of Lake Charles, La., the Southwestern Regional Director, presented the awards at the Optimist Ball Park where tournament games were held. Hood is also incoming president of Pampa Optimist Club.

Jury Deliberates Fate Of Torturer

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — A jury of middle-aged men and women today begins deliberating the fate of John Norman Collins, the former student charged with torturing and killing a coed.

Washtenaw County Circuit Court Judge John W. Conlin was to instruct the seven women and seven men in the law this morning. Two of them will be eliminated by lot. For a guilty verdict, the remainder must decide unanimously they believe Collins killed Karen Sue Beineman in his uncle's basement more than a year ago.

Conlin was expected to give the jury the choice of four verdicts — guilty of first-degree murder, guilty of second-degree murder, guilty of manslaughter, or innocent.

In Michigan, conviction on a first-degree murder charge carries automatic life imprisonment, second-degree murder carries a term up to life and manslaughter carries a maximum of 15 years. The prosecution cannot appeal an innocent verdict.

Even if the hearing is not decided before loading is completed, the Army has promised it will not move the ship from the dock until the suit is determined.

Drainage Correction Sought By Citizens

By JOHN REYNOLDS
News Staff Writer

Three Pampa residents who live in the Robert E. Lee Junior High School area presented a petition concerning poor water drainage in their area to commissioners at a meeting in Judge Sherman Lenning's office Thursday.

The drainage problem in this area became acute during the last big rain storm in Pampa. One petitioner, Mrs. W.R. McLeod, 2615 Duncan, said the water got high enough to enter her garage. Howard Graham, 120 E. 28th and Jimmy Keel, 2701 Duncan, the other petitioners, reported similar incidents.

The commissioners accepted the petition, discussed it and made plans to initiate an immediate investigation of the problem. They made an appointment for Thursday afternoon with Tom Kelley, senior resident engineer for the Texas State Highway Department, to look at the troubled area to see what must be done to alleviate the water-backup problem. The most critical point, the commissioners were told, is at the junction of Duncan Street and the Perryton Parkway. Water from points as far west as Price road drains into this particular area after a big rain.

The commissioners believe the correction of this problem may possibly have to be accomplished through the joint efforts of the city, county and state.

"We are looking into this problem, and we are going to do something about it," said Vernon Watkins, commissioner of Precinct 2. "These people are only asking for what is certainly right."

The commissioners discussed the insurance - on county buildings near the rodeo grounds destroyed in the April tornado.

In March, the insurance was changed and increased to the amount of $30 thousand, which covered the main building (the county barn) and its contents, the two storage buildings and the office building and its contents. The county was able to rebuild this complex for $29,450 by consolidating the two storage buildings into one large unit.

The commissioners also discussed the payment of county bills, which included $49,629 for hospital expenses, $19,000 for all of the various funds, and $17,481 for the four precincts' expenses. The complete grand total which includes other expense items, totaled $102,851.

In other business, commissioners forwarded the Lateral Road Funds to each precinct of the county; approved the treasurer's report and the county welfare report, discussed several matters relative to those two reports; and they re-appointed election judges for another year.

Amarillo Woman Killed In Wreck

ALVARADO, Tex. (UPI) — A 25-year-old Amarillo woman was killed and five other persons injured early today in a collision between an automobile and a van truck at U.S. 67 and the northbound service road of Interstate 35.

The victim was Mrs. Ruth Stockette Draper of 1206 Sycamore, Amarillo, a passenger in a van truck driven by her 26-year-old husband, Lloyd James Draper.

They were going north on the service road, crossing U.S. 67. A car driven by Charles E. Holloway, 27, of Alvarado hit their van broadside.

The injured included Draper; L.J. Draper Jr., 2; Holloway; his 30-year-old wife, Jeanine, 30; and their son, Jeff, 12.

The Holloways were transferred to a Fort Worth hospital. Their son was in Johnson County Memorial Hospital in Cleburne, as was Draper and his son.

Nader Collects $425,000 For Invasion Of Privacy

NEW YORK (UPI) — General Motors agreed to settle an invasion of privacy suit filed by consumer advocate Ralph Nader out of court Thursday for $425,000. Nader announced he would use the money to continue investigating the auto industry as more interested in selling cars than assuring their safety, had sued GM for $12,000,000 on charges of harassment and invasion of privacy.

Nader, whose book "Unsafe at Any Speed" portrayed the auto industry as more interested in selling cars than assuring their safety, had sued GM for $12,000,000 on charges of harassment and invasion of privacy.

Marijuana Evidence Removed In Trial Of Burlesque Queen

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (UPI) — A district judge has ruled the trial of Candy Barr, the former burlesque queen charged with marijuana possession, can proceed but without the marijuana.

District Attorney George Day says he may have to drop the case.

"I'm in shellshock right now," Day said Thursday. "I'll have to reevaluate my position to see whether I have a case to go to trial with."

The district attorney said he would announce before Monday whether he will try to continue prosecuting Miss Barr.

"I'd like to sleep on it," he said. "Right now, I'd say I'm in bad shape to get a conviction."

Police raided Miss Barr's apartment March 11, 1969, and charged her with possessing 13.9 grams of marijuana.

Miss Barr's attorneys said the marijuana was obtained, illegally and they asked the court to stop the trial or at least suppress the evidence.

Judge Joe Dibrell ruled the trial must continue but agreed the marijuana was obtained on improper warrants and could not be used as evidence against Miss Barr. Day said the marijuana was the only evidence he had.

The court setting was all too familiar for the former queen of the runways who was arrested in Dallas in 1957 on the same charge and sentenced to 15 years in prison. She served three years and 91 days of her term and then was pardoned by former Gov. John B. Connally.

Miss Barr was 14 minutes late arriving at Thursday's hearing and the court forfeited her $10,000 bond. But after a brief argument the state agreed to refund the forfeited bond and let the record show Miss Barr was late and not absent.

Typewriters Taken From Warehouse

Two typewriters were reported stolen Thursday from the Continental-Enso Warehouse, 520 W. Brown.

According to police reports the offense occurred between 6:30 p.m. Wednesday and 6:30 a.m. Thursday.

Patrolman J. Ryzman, investigating officer, reported that entry was apparently gained through the front door of the building.

A glass portion of the door was broken and the door could have been unlocked by reaching inside and turning the inside door handle, the report said.

The subject or subjects apparently entered through the main office into an adjacent office from which two typewriters valued at $100 each were taken. Nothing else in the office or building appeared to be tampered with, the report stated.

Auditors Looking At Hickel's Lavish Office Furnishings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government auditors report Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel spent nearly $40,000 in public funds to furnish his office in Lavish fashion—including a $1,795 desk and $56.25-a-yard carpeting.

The Interior Department admitted it was true, but said the desk, carpet and other furnishings have since been placed in storage until the matter is settled, it said. Hickel now is using an old desk dating back to the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration.

Hickel, out of the country on a tour, said he didn't know exactly how much anything cost but pledged to "ship it right back" if it can't be kept.

The matter was disclosed Thursday by Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, who made public an investigation by the General Accounting Office (GAO), the congressional watchdog on federal spending. Gross said Hickel "flew in" designers from Seattle, Wash. and paid them $7,800 for their services.

The GAO said other expenditures included $27,000 for furniture and furnishings and $4,600 for repairs and alterations, for a total of "about $39,400."

Hickel, in Montreal prior to beginning an Arctic tour as the guest of Canadian officials, said "If we can't keep any of it, we'll ship it right back. I haven't been notified of anything from Washington."

Leads Fizzle In Search For Killer

KAUFMAN, Tex. (UPI) — Police arrested a Dallas man Thursday on suspicion of murdering Linda Phillips of Kaufman. Kaufman County sheriff's deputies questioned the man for several hours and then released him without charges.

"Our lead just fizzled out," deputy sheriff Dick Grier said. A tip came from a 46-year-old man who surrendered to Little Rock, Ark., police and said he and a 30-year-old man in Dallas may have had something to do with Miss Phillips' death.

He said he was drunk Sunday, the day Miss Phillips was stripped and stabbed 15 times and her body abandoned on a farm road near Kaufman. He said he could barely remember what happened that night.

His testimony led to the arrest of the man in Dallas. Both men had rooms at a Dallas motel last weekend.

Police arrested the Dallas man at a drive-in restaurant where he had been working a short time. He made no resistance. He was arraigned on suspicion of murder and transferred to Kaufman for questioning.

Sheriff Roy Brookway thinks Miss Phillips, who taught school in Richardson, was acquainted with the man who killed her, and that the killer is either a Kaufman County resident or is familiar with the area.

"She was not the type of girl to be stopped on the road by just anyone," Brookway said. "We feel like someone who knew her pulled up there and asked her to stop."

Brookway said there was no sign of a struggle in Miss Phillips' car and there were no tire marks to indicate she was forced off the road.

There was minor glass breakage but no structural damage or injuries were immediately reported.

HOUSTON (UPI) — Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr. said Thursday he favors a 10 per cent investment tax credit to lure industry to locate in small towns.

The suggestion was part of the Democratic senatorial candidate's seven-point, 10-year plan to alleviate the problems of small farms, ranches and small communities.

In remarks at the annual state convention of the Texas Electric Cooperatives Association, Bentsen said rural communities should not be considered "a lost cause."

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The advice you give, "seek professional help," is good, except for one hitch. One should check on any prospective therapist first.

I went to a kook whose office walls are festooned with degrees but he must have left his ethics behind in grade school. Three years and thousands of dollars later, I wound up with a divorce. The grounds? Adultery. The man? My therapist. (And I'm not even good looking.)

Therapy often causes women patients to "fall in love" with their doctors, but the competent (and ethical) psychiatrist knows how to handle this situation.

A little investigating later turned up the facts that my doctor was known for tomcatting around. He is still sitting around "helping" people, raking it in and no doubt putting out. Me? I have a ruined marriage, two fatherless children and no money. Please print this. It might save some unsuspecting woman from my fate.

BITTER

DEAR BITTER: Most therapists wouldn't touch a patient with a 10-foot pole. You just happened to get the local Lochinvar. However, you are in a better position than I am to "save some unsuspecting woman from the same fate." Report your doctor to the county medical society. He desperately needs therapy himself, and shouldn't be permitted to practice.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been married for nine years. We have four daughters, 7, 5, 4 and 2. We own our own business, own an average home, and drive an average late model car.

My wife is just about the most wonderful woman in the world. She's a great cook, an excellent housekeeper and a fine mother. She loves to work in the yard, seldom raises her voice or loses her temper and we get along beautifully. Our children are exceptionally well-behaved and we have wonderful friends. My wife loves my folks, and I love hers.

My problem, Dear Abby, is that I am about to go completely out of my mind trying to figure out how a bum like me ever got into such a wonderful situation. Should I accept the fact that I am the luckiest guy in the world, or should I just keep trying to figure this thing out?

DAVE IN EUGENE, OREGON
DEAR DAVE: Accept it. And also knock on wood and bite your tongue.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were eager to entertain at home after our marriage last year. We have invited friends for cocktails, brunch, foreign meals, buffet dinners and after-theater suppers. We were pleased with the high number of acceptances, and our guests always seemed to have a good time. As newlyweds we live in a small apartment in a new high-rise building in the "city," but in spite of the limited area of entertaining, we have opened our doors to about 150 guests — some of them four or five times.

However, sadly, we must admit, only three couples have reciprocated thus far. The rest are still repeating meaningless phrases, like "drop in sometime," or, "We must get together soon."

Of course we don't intend to "drop in." We are dropping off their names from our list of future guests. Isn't that the only answer?

DISAPPOINTED

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: Yes, I think in your "eagerness" to get into the social swim, you may have "gone off the deep end." To invite the same people four and five times without a reciprocal invitation from them appears to me as "social climbing." Stick with those who have returned your invitations. If you have only three couples who appreciate your company and hospitality, you're doing well.

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

FOR SATURDAY, AUG. 15, 1970

YOUR BIRTHDAY SATURDAY: Your sense of humor and drama will be tested and found marvelous this year. There is much challenge; many blank walls, dead ends. Your intuition and diligent effort in every case will open a special path beyond the limitation. Stress and strife help build a sound basis for the future. Saturday's natives are either clowns, actors, or use these talents in serious professions.

ARIES (March 21-Apr. 19): — This is another of those variable days, some areas going well, others lacking resources for change. Expect little from the opposite sex for the moment.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): — Creative ability promises to increase your earnings now. Convert useless property into cash. A favorite charity can find somebody to use what you cannot.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): — In Saturday's activity you may neglect your meals. There are many things to consider, make a priority list and focus on the more urgent matters.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): — In the midst of routine and family affairs you may find a new point of view, quietly but rather suddenly. Follow it up with serious study.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): — Your patience in this complicated day is important. Haste, excessive pressure would defeat your objectives; and knowing this, you prevail by personal serenity.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): — Give thought to your health. Check your reminder list — there is almost certain to be something that has been overlooked.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): — New ideas, shortcuts are very appealing. Some concern over money needlessly distracts you during an otherwise happy day.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): — Special tact with officials, or formal contacts is needed.

Your friends and neighborhood will give you enough to do. Catch up on your weekend chores and pastimes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): — Prepare to switch plans around as conditions tend to change suddenly, and everybody is quite arbitrary. Personal friends are helpful.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): — Your own affairs are in good order, but those of others require tactful attention. You can see what is most likely "wrong" but not why.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): — Friends and family get in the way just enough to delay your plans. Strangers require special courtesy. Patience with loved ones saves much distress later.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): — You must keep some secrets, at least for now. Do not make a big show of what you are doing. Giving in to demands is likewise not very constructive. Ask for more time.

Function Dictates Choice Of Windows

A window style that suits all rooms is as rare as a man for all seasons.

The trick to effective house decor — inside and out — is to select those elements which best suit the room's style and function. Achieving this with windows is easy, because quality wood units, such as ponderosa pine, are now available in a variety of beautiful styles — all precision-manufactured for smooth operation, long life and low maintenance.

For instance:

Casements are ideal for hard-to-reach areas, such as above kitchen sinks or countertops. The units swing outward at a 90-degree angle for maximum ventilation and their uninterrupted glass area allows fine visibility. Most important, they operate with the turn of an easy-to-reach handle. Wood casements blend well with either contemporary or traditional decor.

Awning and hopper windows can be used in combination with fixed-glass units to create a picture window that provides ventilation. Awnings (which open outward) or hoppers (which open inward) are often stacked atop one another to form large glass expanses. This makes an unusually attractive window treatment for dining and family rooms, and the wood can be painted or stained to match the decor of these rooms. Sliders offer a combination of easy operation, good ventilation and visibility. Used in a series, they are popular for patios and enclosed porches.

Bows and bays are easily available. The styles hark back to most graceful window units to Colonial times, and are most often used in living rooms of

BATHROOMS GO LUXURIOUS

Panel System 202 goes right over cracked tiles and peeling walls... provides the bathroom with an elegant moisture-proof finish that's a snap to keep clean and sparkling.

NEW YORK (ED)—Bathrooms have long been regarded as the stepchild-room of the home. Right about now, homemakers, decorators and even scientists are taking a critical look at one of the basic problems of family living... the inadequate bathroom.

Decorator Edmund Motyka has some interesting ideas about how to make your own bath more functional and attractive. "Bath time is for relaxing and soothing as much as for hygiene... a time for pampering oneself," he says. "We could take a tip from the Japanese, who separate bathing and toilet facilities. It's a fine idea to construct a vanitrium panel that removes the toilet facilities from sight."

"Lighting is important, too... you can't relax in a bath or shower with glaring lights. I used indirect lighting over the sink, so there's plenty of light for a woman applying make-up but no glare when it's time to sleep."

There are marvelous new materials, too, for adding warmth and beauty to drab bathrooms. Stained, broken tile or peeling colors unflattering, it's a depressing way to start the day. Choose soft, flattering colors and lights... and give yourself a little boost in the morning," he advises.

If you plan to redecorate, built-in storage space is a must. It's a real luxury to have shelves with fresh towels and a soap supply on hand. New Panel System 202 can enclose your wash basin and provide cupboards or drawers with storage space for personal effects.

Once your basic decorating is under control, there's the added fun of having the little items that make a room so attractive. Bath shops offer exciting new accessories, from the most inexpensive to the most luxurious. Shower curtains are as beautiful as living-room drapes, towel racks go elegant, and a fluffy rug, fancy soap dishes, and decorative little soap jars add elegance.

If you're like most homemakers, you're getting bathroom-conscious right about now. Get with the bathroom-decorating boom... and have yours as lavishly luxurious as your purse permits.

Edmund Motyka, A.I.D., prominent decorator, designed this luxurious bathroom. "You see yourself in the bathroom mirror the first thing in the morning when you may not be looking your best... if the lighting is harsh and the wall

Church Of Christ, Scientist

Dependable and satisfying ways of expressing beauty, joy and well-being are offered in the Lesson-Sermon on "Soul" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, Aug. 16. The readings include a verse from Psalms, "My soul, wait thou only upon God; for my expectation is from Him."

Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, a citation explains that "Soul, or Spirit, is God, unchangeable and eternal; and man coexists with and reflects Soul, God, for man is God's image."

states: "The recipe for beauty is to have less illusion and more Soul, to retreat from the belief of pain or pleasure in the body into the unchanging calm and glorious freedom of spiritual harmony."

The Pampa First Church of Christ Scientists is located at 901 N. Frost.

20 Youths Work On Week-End Mission Project

Twenty young people from the First Baptist Church, Pampa, spent last week in Eagle Nest, N.M. and Lake City, Colo. areas doing mission work. They traveled by bus first to Eagle Nest where they stayed in the cabin of Mr. and Mrs. M.D. Snider.

Projects there included repairing and painting of the original Baptist Mission Building where Rev. Coy Finley is the pastor. This mission is sponsored by the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention. They took a census of the entire town of Eagle Nest and other surrounding areas and conducted services on Wednesday night. They left for the Lake City, Colo. area Friday morning where they stayed with Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Edmondson, Sr. in their ranch cottage. In addition to conducting two worship services on Sunday, they witnessed and sang several numbers in the area.

Those going on the trip and participating in the activities were: Greg Dennis, Mark Taylor, Jerry, Lisa, and Kim Sims; Lisa, Lindy, and Todd Laycock; Roberta Brown, Candy Hinkle, Sheryl Snell, Lynn Pierce, Beverly Cantwell, Julie Johnson, Holly McMullan, and Carol Wagner. Sponsors were Mrs. Royce Laycock, Mrs. Jerald Sims, and Mr. and Mrs. David Campbell.

The trip was planned and directed by David Campbell, minister of Music and Youth, for First Baptist Church.

The church, the young people and the sponsors who made the trip wish to publicly thank the M.D. Sniders and the R.L. Edmondsons for their kindness and generosity extended by furnishing lodging for this group.

World Of Religion

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer
Christian churches in Rhodesia are risking their existence to defy a new apartheid law enacted by the white supremacy regime of Premier Ian Smith.

Their open defiance of the government on grounds of Christian principle confronts Smith with a hard choice. If he backs down in the face of adamant church opposition, he'll lose support among white Rhodesian voters committed to segregation at any cost.

On the other hand, if he responds with hard-headed suppression of the churches, seizure of their property and wholesale arrests of their leaders, he'll outrage public opinion in countries such as the United States and Britain, whose favor Rhodesia is earnestly courting.

One thing seems clear: if any backing down is done, the government will have to do it. Protestant and Roman Catholic church leaders, in an unprecedented display of unity, have set their jaws for a showdown and are prepared to accept whatever institutional or personal martyrdom it may entail. The only exception to the United Christian Front is the Dutch Reformed Church, which has managed in Rhodesia as in South Africa to reconcile apartheid with its conception of the gospel.

All other major Protestant bodies, including the Anglicans, Methodists, Presbyterians and the Salvation Army, are standing together with the Roman Catholic hierarchy in flatly refusing to comply with the new law, called the Land Tenure Act.

Law Called Unjust
Churchmen regard the law as basically unjust because it divides Rhodesia into rigorously segregated racial areas, with 234,000 whites getting the same amount of land as 4,800,000 blacks.

They also protest provisions of the law requiring churches to segregate their worship and their service institutions, such as schools and hospitals, and compelling them to register with the government as "voluntary agencies." A "voluntary agency" would be allowed to function in both black and white areas of Rhodesia only with the permission of the government, and under whatever restrictions the government saw fit to impose.

Following enactment of the law, leaders of 17 Christian denominations adopted a joint declaration stating that "we will not register as voluntary associations under the Land Tenure Act."

"We affirm that the church intends to carry on its work in areas of either race," the declaration said.

The Roman Catholic bishops, in addition to signing the joint declaration, issued a statement of their own threatening to shut down all Catholic schools, hospitals and social service institutions in Rhodesia if the new law is enforced. This is no idle threat: 820 Catholic schools serve 155,000 children, and 131 hospitals and clinics care for more than 1 million patients a year.

"The Catholic church cannot in principle and will not in practice divide itself racially for the administrative convenience of any state in the world," the bishops said. Protestant leaders are equally determined. Let it go on record," presiding Bishop Abel T. Mazorewa told a recent conference of the United Methodist Church, "that I will fight as a Christian, and by Christian methods of non-violence, this whole issue."

Religion In America

"How do you tell a seven-year-old child what God is like?" asked a father.

That's a tough question, as many conscientious parents have learned from experience.

Of course, all concepts of God are inadequate and therefore to some degree misleading.

So the problem boils down to choosing the images and analogies which are the least likely to mislead or confuse a child.

The New Testament offers two solutions. One, suggested by 1 John 4: 8, is to tell a child that "God is like your mother's love for you." You can't see it, or weigh it, or measure it, or assign it a shape or a location. But you know it's real, because you have experienced its effects.

In the same way, we cannot see God, or assign Him a particular shape or location, but we know He's real because we can see the effects of His activity as creator of the Universe, author of its natural laws, and ultimate source of all love, truth and beauty.

"Any man whose income is confiscated by taxation, the proceeds used to subsidize other men, is a slave."

—Leonard E. Read.

The Weekly Message of Inspiration...

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Shelvy H. Anglemyer
(Pastor), First Christian Church, Pampa

THE MEASURE OF A MAN

We all "attain to the unity of faith and the knowledge of the Son of God — to mature manhood, to the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ: so that we no longer be children." ... Ephesians 4:13-14.

A young man graduated from law school with high honors — an intellectual giant, equipped with knowledge to accomplish success in his chosen profession. Physically, a handsome six-foot, four specimen of a human body. He returned to his home town to practice his profession. His boyhood Pastor, still the Pastor of the church, observed this young man neglecting his church to which he had been faithful in his youth. This Pastor called him for a conference and challenged him concerning his faith. The young man answered, "I cannot worship in a church without stained glass windows, a pipe organ and a robed choir." The Pastor reminded him that was not worship, but selfishness: "Jesus could worship in an upper room, out of doors by the seaside, on the mountain, or in the midst of a great multitude."

Then his Pastor asked him when he neglected the development of his spiritual life: (for now he said he had doubts about God, about the Bible and the church). After some thought, he said, "when I was about twelve or fourteen years of age." The minister reminded him that his spiritual being was still a little boy, and that he had left him and had neglected his growth. That, if he would teach this little boy and feed him he could grow to mature manhood, and answer all of his questions and his doubt would fade and his faith would increase. After much thought, he answered, "I SEE YOUR POINT, ... my spiritual life must match my physical and mental growth. I will do it!" ... He began to measure life by the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ and grow toward mature manhood. The little neglected spiritual child became strong and equal to the physical and mental stature. His whole being was enriched. He was a successful lawyer, a leader of youth physically and spiritually. He built a fine Christian home, became a leader in the church and a great asset to the community.

We can only qualify when we pay the price and become physically strong, mentally equipped and spiritually mature. These three, joined together, make a mature man. A physical giant is only a third of a man, a mental or intellectual giant and a physical being is only two-thirds of a man. A physical and intellectual and spiritual man is a mature man—a whole man.

Revelations 11:1 ... "Then I was given a measuring rod like a staff, and I was told: 'Rise and measure the temple of God, the altar and those who worship therein.'"

For Beautiful People

Every day we read that some new People's group, front or league has been established. And we marvel at the sins being committed in the name of the people. The greatest of all perhaps being the actual loss of the very thing most individuals seek — identity.

When will they catch on that they do not have to join the "people" for identity? Emphasis on being a person and seeking self-knowledge to become the best possible person is what makes effective people.

Use The Gift Or Lose It

It is a reasonable guess that millions of Americans first became conscious of the American novelist Katherine Anne Porter following publication of her "Ship of Fools" eight years ago. The fact is that at that time she had already long been recognized by discerning readers as one of the country's most distinguished writers.

appearance of her "Collected Essays and Occasional Writings" makes it clear that, 80 or not, she continues to be a strikingly perceptive woman. In our judgment, one thing she said — on that tantalizing subject, youth — contained such wisdom for today's rising generation that it merits repetition in full: "You have only one time the great gift of balanced strength and health, and it's a great shame to waste it on drugs and drink and sexual hoodlumism. You're wasting your life and it's not going to be given back to you. Use what you have more gracefully and gratefully. What is there about life that's so terrible that you have to throw it away?"

Small Business Important

A Teacher's Despair usually is a highly personable young person who has better than an average intelligence though is a mediocre student. He values his independence but cannot visualize himself regimented into big government or into big business.

The bulletin urges young people to keep their options open. It sketches the scope of small business activity, points out that 60 per cent of all people employed in private enterprise are found in independent business, and that 95 per cent of all business is small. The other 5 per cent was small in the beginning.

Some Wary Of Pact

Having achieved a pact with the Soviet Union that could have a profound effect on the future of Europe, West German Chancellor Willy Brandt now seeks to reassure the United States, Britain and France in a summit meeting that his alliance with the West remains as firm as ever.

Prussian War which saw Germany accomplish her unit and preponderance in Europe at the expense of a defeated imperial France, it is easy to see why the French get cold shivers at the very thought of reunited Germany.

The Manion Forum

By MARILYN MANION

Campus insurrections, disorders in the streets, bombings across the nation, and attacks on U.S. ambassadors in Latin America. What do they all have in common?

The answer is revolution — specifically, the brand now being exported from Havana.

Paul D. Bethel, a former U.S. diplomat who knows Cuba well, spoke over the Manion Forum radio program and discussed this exportation. Here is part of what he had to say:

"American students who have gone to Cuba with the so-called Venceremos Brigade to cut sugar cane are certainly not cutting sugar cane as much as they are being indoctrinated, number one, and number two, carrying out the threat to turn the U.S. into the same kind of a battlefield as they have in Latin America.

"All the time the members of the brigade were in Cuba, they were herded around by 69 members of the Union of Young Communists to make sure they saw and heard everything that they were supposed to see and hear. It's important to our educators to realize that these students were taken to Cuba for a purpose, and that purpose is very clear.

"On April 8, while 687 American students were in Cuba, the so-called Tri-Continental Organization — Asia, Africa and Latin America — which is a subversive, Soviet-directed organization with headquarters in Havana, issued what they called a Mini-Manual on Urban Guerrilla Warfare. "I think this manual runs to 20,000 words, and is published in English, French, Portuguese, Spanish and in Arabic. It's divided up into about 40 different parts. They are not really chapters, because they are not long enough, but they instruct campus and city terrorists in this country and elsewhere on how to use kidnapping and the robbing of banks.

"In the future I think we can find without question that urban guerrilla warfare in the U.S. is going to become much worse than we ever thought it would be. Our foreign policy chickens have come home to roost — on the muzzles of rifles, in the hands of militants operating in our cities. I just don't see any other way out; WE ARE GOING TO HAVE TO TAKE SOME KIND OF MEANINGFUL ACTION AGAINST CUBA.

"The way things are going, it is entirely conceivable that a black power militant or an SDS militant might go so far as to kidnap, let us say, the South Vietnamese Ambassador to Washington in return for the release of the Chicago 7 or for the safe exit of H. Rap Brown or for dropping charges against Mark Rudd. This is a very serious proposition, and it's one that is coming home within our cities and on our campuses. It is something that everybody should be concerned about."

And yet, as recently as May of this year, State Department spokesman Robert McCloskey chided the Cuban exile groups who had announced the completion of successful raids against Cuba. McCloskey reminded them that "the U.S. laws forbid the use of U.S. territory as a base for any military expedition," despite the fact that nobody claimed to have used our shores as a launching pad. Are there no U.S. laws to protect the future of our OWN country, Mr. McCloskey? Unless Cuba is liberated from Castro and Communism, the U.S.A. will be the final victim.

"Let's Make It Legal!"

A Conglomerate Resists Reform

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There is much talk these days about reorganization in the Pentagon. A blue-ribbon group has issued a report suggesting radical changes. Defense Secretary Melvin Laird is known to favor a major overhaul.

The reforms, it's promised, would reduce costs, improve management and insure a more effective defense.

Anyone who has ever watched the Pentagon from within or without knows there is something wrong with the way it operates.

But this reporter has lived through a series of major reorganizations, all of which promise efficiency, savings, better management.

There was, for example, the unification plan which created the Department of Defense. More lately, there was the Robert S. McNamara revolution. But the Pentagon didn't change. Management efficiency continued low. Cost overruns grew.

This reporter, having covered the Pentagon for more than 20 years, believes these reforms have made things worse, not better. They have tended toward overcentralization.

The situation is like that in some conglomerates which have flourished during the past decade, only to fumble in the last year or two. The conglomerate would find a smaller company that looked promising, but perhaps needed more cash or other assets. The smaller company would be bought with stock. Then the conglomerate's management would move in and ease out the little firm's men, replace them with specialists under the close direction of the big company's officers. Soon the conglomerate found itself managing so many smaller companies that, like the Pentagon, it became bogged down in committees and meetings and faced with a host of major decisions on matters with which the top men were not in day-to-day contact.

Things had gone fine so long as the economy was bubbling. But the slowdown brought crises. Bad decisions began to stand out. The rule-by-too-many-committees slowed down inventiveness, made it more difficult to get new ideas adopted. Yet growth was dependent on adapting quickly to new approaches.

The Pentagon, of course, is a conglomerate. Like the unhappy enterprises mentioned above, over the years its top men have believed that things would work right if only they could centralize decisions, prevent competition (interservice rivalry), root out overlap and gain uniformity. On paper, this saves money. But, as the conglomerates have found, this centralized decision making, and the resultant discouragement of independent creative action by subordinates, drives out able managers.

Today, the Pentagon is having greater and greater difficulty attracting first-rank men to serve as secretary of the Army, Navy or Air Force. At one time these men were full cabinet officers; they had a wide range of decision authority. Yet so far have they fallen in recent years that McNamara bypassed them when he chose on matters for which they were responsible. Under the new reorganization plan, these posts would sink even lower in prestige and authority.

The Chinese Communists in their "great leap forward" found that their huge, "efficient" communies, run by experts, were not nearly so productive as "inefficient" family farms. The Russians are finding that if they are to increase efficiency, they must allow factory managers greater independence.

The best run and most successful of the major American companies have learned that first-rate men must be picked for running their subordinate firms, then given their own reins within top management's guidelines. The companies that have done this are those which have done well in adversity.

The problem the Pentagon faces is finding the best men to take the top jobs and then convincing the Defense secretary to give them as free a hand as national security and the budget allow. This is the only reform that will cut costs and produce better strategy and weapons.

Terrorist Bombing Tactics Must Be Halted Immediately

A series of bombings that have shaken some communities of this nation have been described by one government official as "an enormous new phenomenon; they didn't exist a few years ago."

Government statistics compiled for the Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee showed that in a 15-month period ending April 15, 1970, there were 4.30 bombings in the U.S., of which 975 were explosives and the remainder incendiary. Many of them were planted at police stations and other public buildings. Forty-three persons were killed in the bombings and 384 others injured.

More than half the bombings solved were attributed to campus disturbances and 3 per cent to extremists. Other groups were involved but it is the professional anarchist and revolutionary that make the crimes so alarming. One official

WHEN TROUBLE STRIKES

The mounting crime rate of recent years brings home to more ordinary, good working citizens every day the fact that the odds are zooming upwards that someone in their family may become a crime statistic. When crime hits someone's own family, it is no longer a statistic. Crime then becomes a terrifying, traumatic and possibly deadly confrontation with evil.

In times of trial, our Republic has been preserved in the past by the concerted action of dedicated and concerned citizens. In any republic, nothing less will save the people and their freedom. Republics seem to do best when the danger is clear and present and coming from some outside aggressor.

It is the insidious growth of inner weaknesses which imperil our Republic USA at this time, and we have never had to face any such situation of so many varieties of crime and immorality all striking at once. War May Be Political

By PAUL HARVEY

"Close associates of former President John Kennedy are saying that he intended in 1963 to remove all American troops from Vietnam in 1965 — after he'd got himself re-elected.

I know history insists that leaders heretofore have used war to further their own political ambitions.

Wars against a real or imagined outside threat can be used to suppress internal squabbles, unify the home front and allow a leader to send thousands of men to their deaths and still get himself hailed as a "protector."

I can't refute history. But I cannot bring myself to believe that an American President would, under any circumstances, prolong any war for even one additional day — unnecessarily. Not that President, and not this one.

Let's examine the evidence. Kenneth O'Donnell, a White House aide to J.F.K., says President Kennedy told him in 1963 that he wanted to withdraw our troops from Vietnam after the 1964 election.

Sen. Mike Mansfield and Sargent Shriver, both intimately close to Kennedy at that time, agree. President Kennedy had decided on a complete withdrawal of our forces from Vietnam but said "I can't do it until after I'm re-elected."

While President Kennedy was taking this position privately in 1963, let's see what he was saying publicly. In his news conference in March of 1963 J.F.K. said deescalation in Vietnam was "impossible." He said it would give the Communists control of all Southeast Asia and would threaten the Middle East.

That same year, two months before his death, J.F.K. reiterated his belief in this "domino theory" and added, "What I am concerned about is that Americans will get impatient, and say because they don't like events in Southeast Asia, or they don't like the government in Saigon, that we should withdraw. I think we should stay."

Now by the late President's closest friends we are led to believe that he was saying one thing in 1963 while planning something else; that he was deliberately misleading us. Certainly politicians do WASHINGTON. — Barring a very unlikely forced halt in backstage plans, the door is being quietly but firmly shut on anything being done in this Congress about the draft.

That means that legislating on the existing draft law, which expires next June 30, will be left up to the new Congress that convenes in January. It will have the job of deciding whether to continue compulsory military service or revert to an all-volunteer army — as was recommended by a presidential commission several months ago.

Ring down the curtain on the chances of any draft action in the remainder of this session is taking place in the House Armed Services Committee.

There a subcommittee on the draft, headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., is conducting an unpublished "review" of the draft act. All its deliberations have been private, and indications are they will continue that way.

Among the witnesses so far heard is draft director Curtis Tarr. Other military and civilian authorities are slated to appear.

Hebert, a veteran legislator who has been in Congress longer than any other Louisiana in history (30 years), frankly makes no bones he is against doing anything about the draft this year. He not only approves of the present law, but strongly favors its continuance.

In Hebert's emphatic opinion, creating an adequate volunteer army is unfeasible and impractical.

When Hebert's report its recommendations is conjured, he is manifestly in no hurry, and neither are the other committee members. All that will say is "as soon as possible" — which can mean anything.

Regarding the closed-door "review," as it's called, Hebert says:

"It has been very productive and informative. Our committee is very pleased with the cooperation of Dr. Tarr and other officials. We are making progress, and hope to make our recommendations to the full Armed Services Committee as soon as possible."

MORE ADVERSE FACTORS — Time and politics are strongly playing into the hands of the forces in both the House and Senate opposed to tacking the draft problem this year.

In the Senate, although Senator John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, has said hearings will be held, they have been blocked by a succession of protracted battles over the Vietnam war, the ABM and other military procurement controversies. There is no end in sight to these time-consuming clashes, and neither are there any prospects for the promised hearings.

And with the momentous fall election campaign only a month distant, the chances of Senate hearings taking place are just about nil. That means no legislation, because without hearings there will be no bill.

In the House, time and politics are working even more potently against draft legislation.

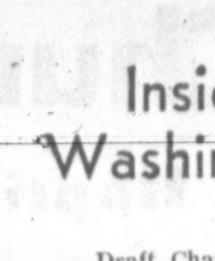

Starting the 14th of this month, the House shuts down for a summer recess until September 8. When it resumes after that three-week vacation, the interest and concern of the members will be focused far more intently on electioneering than tackling thorny and risky problems like the draft.

Among the vote-conscious legislators, the feeling is insistent and irresistible that it is time to "put over until tomorrow what can be avoided today."

No one knows that better than Hebert — and he's sure to make the most of it!

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Nine years ago Mike Douglas was playing and singing at a piano bar in the San Fernando Valley for $125 a week and tips.

Today he spills that much on the way to the bank.

As the nation's top syndicated talk-show host, Mike's salary runs heavily into six figures a year.

Presumably he is neither more nor less talented a piano player and singer than he was in 1961. But he has had the opportunity to lose his personality to loose his person-ality on views in 1965 cities for 90 minutes, five days a week.

Moreover, he has the added burden of taping his shows in Philadelphia where celebrities are considerably less common than in New York and Hollywood.

Feels Location Advantageous

Mike considers his Philadelphia headquarters a tremendous advantage.

"Our big advantage is that we aren't New York oriented," said Douglas, visiting Hollywood on his vacation. "You don't sit in front of the camera feeling New York is the only city in the world."

"On one talk show—not mine—I watched in disbelief while a guest and the host spent 17 minutes discussing a new building going up in Manhattan. 'Can you imagine how much interest that created for the viewer in St. Louis or Seattle?'"

Nicklaus And Miller Find PGA Can Turn Out A 'Red Hot' Race In Okie Sunshine

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — They're throwing another load of coal in the furnace today, so first-round co-leaders Jack Nicklaus and John Miller will have to submit to the heat test in the second round of the 52nd PGA golf championship. Favored Nicklaus and dark-horse Miller both played fairly early in the day Thursday—and shot their two-under-par 68s before the oppressive Oklahoma heat built up to its 96-degree peak of the day.

However, both Nicklaus and Miller were scheduled for midday teeoffs in the second round, which the weather man says will put them squarely in front of the blast furnace on a day when the temperature on the sun-baked, windless acres of the Southern Hills Country Club course is expected to go even higher—reaching or top-

Larry Hinson of Douglas, Ga., three-putting only once although his head was "swimming" from anti-cold medicine, shot a one-under-par 69, as did Charles Coody of Abilene, Tex., who missed a tie for the lead when he gambled on the 18th for a birdie and took a bogey, as he joined the group of six players at even par 70.

"It's too early in the tournament to play conservatively," said Coody. Those two, and the leaders, were the only ones who could break par on opening day, and prospects were for the same Friday.

Fifty-eight-year-old Sam Snead provided the major surprise of the opening round as he won 23 years ago. "I just wish I could take this old set of nerves and replace them with a new set of young nerves." Arnold Palmer was in that 70 group but he also was facing a late teeoff on Friday. Also at 70 were Homeró Blancas, Jacky Cupit, Dave Stockton, and Dick Hendrickson, a 6-foot-7 club pro from Marlton, N.J., who is the biggest man in the field.

Defending champion Ray Floyd was one of nine golfers at 71. Masters champion Billy Casper, who shot 16 straight pars and then stumbled with bogeys on the last two holes, was in a 14-man jam at 72, as was former U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino: American Golf Classic winner Frank Beard was among 11 at 73, and U.S. Open champion Tony Jacklin of England was among 16 at 74.

Can Slammin' Sam Win—'Are You Kidding?'

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—What they said at the first round of the PGA golf championship: Jack Nicklaus, co-leader at 68, on the double bogey five that cost him sole leadership: "I just tried to hit a smooth, easy 5-iron and I blocked it out. It landed in the tallest clump of grass out there and it took me two more shots to reach the green."

John Miller, co-leader at 68: "You have got to drive well to win here. If you don't hit the fairway, you bogey."

Kansas City And Colts Meet On TV Tonight

Hank Stram has been at center stage of recent weeks in the unfolding pre-season National Football League drama.

First, Stram was instrumental in convincing his world champion Kansas City Chiefs to suspend their involvement with the recent NFL players' strike long enough to play the College All-Star game.

Next, he was shook up in an auto accident en route to the site of his Chiefs' pre-season contest tonight against the Baltimore Colts.

His portly presence should be enough to inspire his charges to victory tonight in the nationally televised (NBC — 8:30 p.m. EDT) game against the Colts at Kansas City.

The Colts are seeking their 10th pre-season win in a row. They made it nine consecutive and 26 of 28 with a 33-21 victory over the Oakland Raiders in the pre-season opener for both clubs. Kansas City also won its opener 30-17, over the Detroit Lions.

The Lions shuffle off to Buffalo to meet the Bills in the only other contest tonight. The game will feature Heisman Trophy winner O. J. Simpson, the winner in 1968, and Lions Rookie Steve Owens, last year's winner.

Buffalo also lost its pre-season opener, 33-10, to the Joe Namath-less New York Jets.

Tomorrow's exhibition schedule includes Dallas at Los Angeles, Chicago meeting Green Bay in Milwaukee, New Orleans at Houston, the New York Giants at San Diego, and Pittsburgh meeting Minnesota.

Also, Atlanta meets the New York Jets at Winton-Salem, N.C., San Francisco and Cleveland clash at Tampa, Fla. and St. Louis is at Denver, and Cincinnati at Miami.

AT LUBBOCK Collegians Live With a Flair At 'Inn' Place

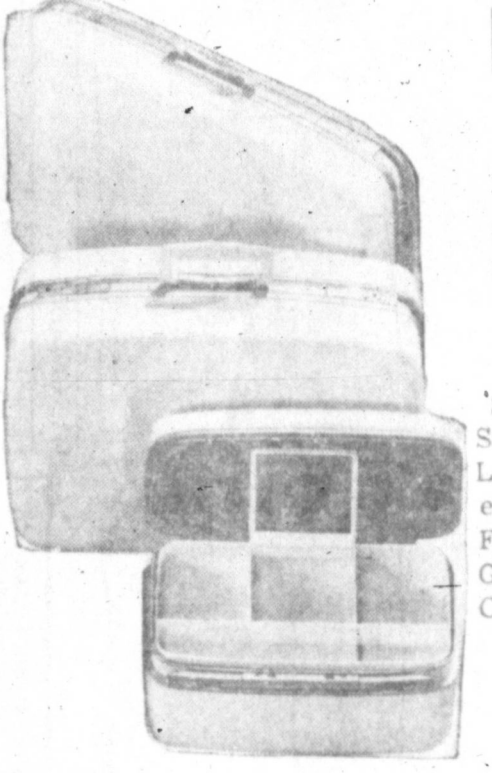

College living with a flair is the specialty at The College Inn, the newest concept in residential facilities for men and women students at Texas Tech University in Lubbock. The multi-story luxury facility has separate wings for men and for women, but dining, recreation and study areas are common ground.

Two deluxe pools, heated and in semi-enclosed patios, offer year-around opportunity for swimmers or just plain sun-lovers.

The College Inn's 500 rooms are spacious, and they're fully carpeted with connecting bath. The whole package, neatly placed just across the street from the Tech campus, is available to students at a modest $69.50 per month for room and board, private covered parking, maid service and all recreation facilities.

Cozby must have won the "argument" because he won his match while Estep went down to defeat. (Staff Photo)

ROBERT QUALLS SCORES for West Texas during the third inning of last night's ball game. WT went on to tie it up 5-5 before the inning was over, but New Orleans came back with three more and sent the boys from Tri-City back home with an 8-5 defeat. (Staff Photo)

Faces Albuquerque Tonight At 8

New Orleans Rip WT In 8-5 Contest

New Orleans came from behind in a fourth inning slugfest to down West Texas Tri-Cities 8-5 in the fourth night of the Regional Babe Ruth League Tournament Thursday night at Optimist Park.

In the top of the fourth West Texas had pulled ahead for the second time on runs by Robert Qualls, Jim Livingston and Donald Roberts.

But Louisiana rallied after pitcher Ronald Irving smashed a home run over the left field wall to tie the game 5-5. Edward Exelle, and Terry Beaver got bases on errors; and Frank Steele walked to load the bases.

All three went across the plate as Keith Miller made it to second base on an error by Tri-Cities centerfielder Steve Sparger.

The win means Louisiana will meet Albuquerque at 8 p.m. today.

West Texas had jumped ahead early in the top of the first inning when Jim Livingston, who was walked, completed his trip around the diamond on a double by Donald Roberts.

It was the only score until the bottom of the second when Louisiana's Keith Miller came

BASEBALL ACTION:

Stay In Doesn't Mean Strike Out

By United Press International

It's the same old story. Let a ballplayer stay in the lineup and he recovers his confidence. Houston Manager Harry Walker has allowed Jesus Alou to remain in the batting order the last nine days and the Dominican Republic native has responded with a torrid .452 batting average, going 19-42.

The 27-year old outfielder, one of three brothers in the major leagues, came through again Thursday night with a bases-loaded two-run single that lifted Houston to a 4-3 win over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Atlanta Braves beat the Montreal Expos, 4-1. Chicago romped past San Francisco, 6-3, the San Diego Padres hammered their way past the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-7, and the Cincinnati Reds slapped the New York Mets, 6-1. Pittsburgh and Los Angeles were idle.

In American League action, New York edged Chicago, 4-3. Kansas City ripped Boston, 11-3. Milwaukee beat Detroit, 3-2. Washington slipped past Minnesota, 1-0. Cleveland nipped Oakland, 4-3, and California squeezed past Baltimore, 3-2.

The Astros scoted in the fourth on singles by Cesar Cedeno and John Edwards and a sacrifice fly by Alou. The Phillies scored three times in the sixth on singles by Tony Taylor and Larry Bowa, a double by Don Money, a single by Deron Johnson and a sacrifice fly by Byron Browne. Milt Pappas of the Cubs

Hollywood In Review

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jonathan Winters possibly is the funniest man—comedian or not—in captivity, but not just with one-liners or bon mots.

Beneath his wit runs a deep stream of philosophical observation which can be touched off like a powder keg.

But he always keeps it funny. Sitting in his house the other day with a long No. 2 wood from Bob Hope's house, the subject of golf surfaced.

Jonathan's face and movements immediately became those of the rich, lackadaisical golfer nut babbling away on the first tee, going through the ritual.

"I Can See Them Now"

"I can see them now," he said, swinging an imaginary driver, "wearing pink hats, funny little flaps on their shoes and alpaca sweaters. They wear a uniform, but they don't have any fun."

"They're getting ready for an afternoon of temperament. It's outdoor claustrophobia.

"I rap golf every chance I get."

Winters had worked himself into a state. His expression was petulant, not unlike the golfer who shanks an easy 7-iron to the green.

"My major objection to golf courses is that they take up more space than cemeteries, if anyone wants to picket golf courses, I'll carry a placard."

"It's not a cheap little hobby. It costs a fortune to join a private club, rent a golf cart, buy the bag, clubs, balls and drinks after a game."

"They Replay Every Hole..."

"And that's another thing. Golfers replay every hole all day long and into the night."

"I love to fish, but I never talk about fishing except to another fisherman. But golfers will make you sit there and listen to how they got a birdie on that long par 5 three years ago."

Jonathan has played a half-dozen rounds of golf and never broken 100. He still has his clubs but doesn't know what to do with them.

"I'm thinking of melting down the clubs and making them into a cigarette box," he said, musing.

Winters will be seen Saturday noon this year in a new show for kiddies, "Hot Dog." One may be sure he will not participate in any episodes involving golf.

Her car jumped a curb at a naval base pier Monday and hit a patrol boat, the USS Tacoma. She was not hurt and damages were minor.

SMALL FIRE

RAMSGATE, England (UPI) — Computing center employe Jimmy Barrett lit his pipe Tuesday and sent firemen from neighboring communities racing to their trucks. A firm spokesman said Barrett's match had accidentally set off a new sensitive electronic fire alarm.

"At least we know the alarm works," the spokesman said. "But we may have to ban smoking near it."

REMEMBER, THERE IS NO ECONOMICAL SUBSTITUTE FOR QUALITY

Highlights And Sidelights From The State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — Soaring state budget requests led the Legislative Budget Board to urge all agencies to hold spending in 1972-73 to essentials.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, Board chairman, sounded the warning that a "critical financial condition" looms which demands "economy-minded" government. In a letter directed to state agencies, Board advises that they submit suggestions at an early date on where fat can be trimmed from their appropriations requests.

"Reluctant" fat trimmers should be invited back for a second hearing before the Board, Barnes said. Requests already submitted reportedly exceed the expected income for the 1972-73 biennium by more than $1 billion.

Estimates of the amount of the 1971 tax bill which will be needed to support adequate services for state agencies in the face of expanding demands still range from $350 to $700 million.

Some ranking legislators fear a revenue bill of that magnitude will be virtually impossible to pass in view of the fact that lawmakers voted $350 million in new taxes only last year.

Budget Board's recommendations on spending usually are more conservative than those finally adopted by Legislature. However, they serve as take-off points for the House Appropriations Committee and Senate Finance Committee deliberations.

AUTO INSURANCE DELAY—Texas motorists got a hint of good news: they may escape a raise in auto insurance premiums altogether this year.

Charles D. Mathews, a member of the State Board of Insurance, raised hopes of that in testimony before the interim Senate committee studying rates.

Mathews also predicted the Insurance Board will come up with a rate formula that includes company income from investments, a longstanding point of debate.

"I think the companies may be sorely disappointed in the Board," said Mathews. "We may not get around to an auto rate adjustment in 1970. There are just so many hours in a day."

Company spokesmen earlier indicated they were hoping for a 15 to 20 per cent rate hike this year. A delay in Insurance Board hearing dates made postponement of any increase until after November 1 virtually inevitable. A 9.9 per cent hike was granted last year.

Critics of a further increase told the Senate Committee that rates went up twice as high as the general cost of living in the last decade. Some recommended group coverage on auto insurance.

WELFARE OVERHAUL PROPOSED—Senate Welfare Reform Committee has recommended a sweeping overhaul of the system, including placing responsibility for Public Welfare Department administration in the hands of the governor.

At the same time, Committee endorsed a proposal that Welfare Department electronic data processing equipment be totally updated under a private contract to save manpower, time and money.

Study panel proposed abolishing the Texas State Board of Public Welfare and substituting an advisory panel to the governor. Also the name of the agency would be changed to Department of Human Resources under Committee recommendations to be submitted to the Legislature next January.

Computer experts estimated new electronic data processing equipment could save the state an addition of 2,600 people in the Welfare Department at a cost of $8.5 million a year.

In the second day of hearings, Committee was told that administrative costs alone of the Medicaid Program were $11.6 million in Texas during less than three years. Committee recommended an "experienced executive having an insurance background" be employed to coordinate Medicaid functions now scattered among several branches of the Welfare Agency.

SPECIAL OIL MEETING ORDERED—World oil crisis and Hurricane Celia prompted a special meeting of the Railroad Commission this week (Aug. 10) to re-assess August oil allowance. Commission earlier had set the market demand factor at 62.9 per cent for August, which would produce about 3,220,518 barrels of oil daily.

Since that action, Commission Chairman Ben Ramsey said, some companies have indicated a desire to buy additional Texas crude. On the other hand, said Ramsey, Hurricane Celia complicated movements of crude from South Texas and some West Texas fields to tidewater.

Commission invited crude purchasers and transportation executives to its Monday (Aug. 10) meeting "to assess effects of Hurricane Celia on the movement of crude, as well as the logistical problems of moving crude from other Texas areas to Gulf Coast and to markets elsewhere."

Closing of Tapline, a major oil line from the Middle East to the Mediterranean, plus high tanker rates for transporting oil around the southern tip of Africa to Western European and East Coast markets substantially raised the need for Texas crude, Ramsey noted.

LAND RECOVERY SOUGHT—School Land Board requested Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin to see if a lawsuit is feasible to recover state land from the Calhoun County Navigation District.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler estimated that the district bought for $1 an acre as much as 20,000 acres in state land it doesn't need for its functions as a navigation district.

Some of the land was sold to private developers, including the Key Allegro subdivision near Rockport, and is valued at $33,098-an acre now.

Land Board also agreed to recommend that the law be changed to limit the amount of state land available to navigation districts at $1 an acre. Legislature in 1969 voted a temporary stop in transactions pending a study. About 16 districts have purchased 130,000 acres of school land in bays for $1 an acre. A lot of that went to the Calhoun district.

TEXAS CHALLENGES 18-YEAR-OLD VOTE—Though Texas will begin registering 18-year-olds in October Attorney General Martin is challenging the constitutionality of the congressional act which extends the vote to youngsters.

Texas became the second state to challenge the new federal law. Oregon was first (decided by the flip of a coin in the court clerk's office).

State's complaint notes that the U.S. Constitution gives the states power to set qualifications for voting and that 45 others besides Texas now set 21 as the minimum qualifying age. Present states' limitation is reasonable exercise of constitutionally-granted power, Martin maintains.

APPOINTMENTS—Gov. Preston Smith reappointed Carlton Farris of McAllen and A.M. Hervey of San Benito to the Board of Directors of Rio Grande Valley Pollution Control Authority.

Ervin D. Butler of San Angelo is new community action specialist in Texas Office of Economic Opportunity.

Denny F. Pace, former faculty member at Kent State University, Ohio, will serve as a program coordinator of Texas Criminal Justice Council.

SHORT SNORTS
Attorney General Martin is asking district judge to remove a temporary restraining order (or modify it) preventing the Liquor Control Board enforcing tough private club rules while the case testing the regulation is on appeal.

Lease sale brought the permanent school fund nearly $2.5 million, according to Land Commissioner Sadler.

Texas turkey growers voted to assess themselves for a fund for research and promotion of turkeys.

District attorney in counties having separate county attorneys is not designated as a prosecuting attorney, according to a new attorney general opinion. Revenue from cigarette smoking increased $4 million last month over July 1969; $16.4 million as compared with $12.2 million.

Swimming, tennis and horseback riding continue to be her favorite sports. She remains determined to improve her horsemanship to a point where she can be as competent in show jumping as any professional.

There will be a birthday dance for her in the white and gold ballroom of Balmoral Castle.

The adult guests will amuse themselves by trying to guess which bachelor she will choose as her first dancing partner of the evening.

NEW YORK (UPI)—There is little basis for expecting new market lows below the late May levels, as many market observers now seem to be doing, says E. F. Hutton. Although certain areas of the market, notably the glamour issues, still are weakness-prone, other groups clearly have halted downturns and, in a few cases, established new up-trends. This is in marked contrast to previous declining phases this year, Hutton adds.

During the past 18 months, the investor who allowed his political judgments to influence his economic interpretations made a very costly mistake, according to Argus Research Corp. Now the "cacophonous" phase of the biennial political campaign is about to descend upon the American people," again, the firm says, and investors will have to take care to see that their investment appraisals are not influenced by political propaganda.

In general, most stocks that have risen since the May lows have reached points of resistance and can be expected to retrace part of their declines, says TOP Inc. The firm expects base building to continue for an eventual major advance.

SCHOOLS OF 1990's

Anne Takes Princess Job Very Seriously

LONDON (UPI)—A boy friend recently asked Princess Anne to go dancing. She declined because "I have to do my homework tonight."

The homework involved learning names and details that would confront her during the next day's public engagements. It is an important part of what Anne happily calls "my career"—being a princess.

Queen Elizabeth's only daughter will be 20 on Saturday and, much to Anne's pleasure, headline writers no longer will be able to tag her "Britain's teen-age princess." She hated that reference.

Poised And Confident
At 20, Anne is a poised and confident young woman. It has been two years since she left the fashionable Benenden School for Girls and assumed a steadily increasing share of royal family duties.

Her social maturity is reflected in her manner of dress. When she first appeared on the royal scene as a full-time princess, Anne wore vivid clothes and bright makeup that included strawberry colored lipstick. Her accessories were gimmicky much of the time, like green plastic earrings and cheap chain belts.

Now Anne dresses elegantly. She has learned to use makeup with restraint. The dazzling orange and scarlet outfits she wore as an 18-year-old have given way to softer turquoise and leaf green—colors which complement her pale, blonde features.

Many Public Engagements
Anne has had almost 100 public engagements in Britain this year and is now vacationing at Balmoral Castle in Scotland with her family. Her 1970 travels took her to Australia, New Zealand, Fiji, Tonga, Canada and the United States.

Swimming, tennis and horseback riding continue to be her favorite sports. She remains determined to improve her horsemanship to a point where she can be as competent in show jumping as any professional.

There will be a birthday dance for her in the white and gold ballroom of Balmoral Castle.

The adult guests will amuse themselves by trying to guess which bachelor she will choose as her first dancing partner of the evening.
