FORTY-NINE HURT IN CRASH—Forty nine persons were injured, one of them critically, when the two interurbans shown above were in a headon collision north of Dallas Saturday morning. 49 Injured In Rail Mishap

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, April 10—At least 49 persons were hurt, one critically, when two interurbans smashed headon in Dallas county today.

Two other persons were described as in "more or less serious" condition, but the rest of the injuries were considered slight.

The two Texas Electric railway cars rammed each other at a curve just north of Dallas, near Vickery at 7:55 a.m. One was Southbound and heavily loaded, the other northbound.

Woman Hurt Critically

Mary Bonner, 36, negro, who lives on route seven near Dallas, was critically hurt. She suffered a ruptured kidney, and hospital attendants had little hope that she would recover.

Attendants said Herbert Harris, 21, Plano, and E. E. Echols, 24, Richardson, were in "more or less serious" condition. Harris suffered a compound leg fracture and shock. Echols suffered head injuries.

C. F. McAuliff, vice president of the company, said the accident was the result of operator error. He said the northbound car had been ordered to wait at the Kirkland switch about a mile north of Vickery until a car out of McKinney passed. McAuliff said the crash occurred about 200 yards past the switch.

Car Is Smashed

Z. L. Lowe, operator of the northbound car, said that when he saw the crash could not be avoided, he locked his brakes and fled toward the back of the car. "That's all that saved me, I guess," he said. He received minor injuries.

J. W. Davis, the other motorman, said:

"I looked up and saw the other car. There wasn't much time to do anything. I threw on the brakes and then stepped back out of the front vestibule into the car. That probably saved me from a great deal more than a broken shoulder."

Davis figured his car was traveling 25 or 30 miles an hour at the time of impact.

The northbound car plowed about 10 feet into the southbound interurban. Passengers were tossed about as the framework of the southbound car gave way. Chair seats were ripped loose from their

Italy's UN Bid Is Blocked By Red Veto

LAKE SUCCESS, April 10 (AP)—Russia used the veto for the 23rd time today to block a new western power attempt to get Italy into the United Nations.

Five additional Soviet vetoes were averted, when the Security Council decided it would be useless to continue voting at this time on 10 other applicants.

All these applicants had been rejected previously, five by Soviet vetoes and five by failure to get the necessary seven affirmative votes.

The council agreed to report to the General Assembly that the applications had been reconsidered but that none of the 11 delegates had changed his position since last year.

The 10 applicants are Ireland, Portugal, Trans-Jordan, Finland and Austria—all previously vetoed either once of twice—Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, Albania and Outer-Mongolia.

The council opened its morning session by approving the application of Burma by vote of 10 to 0, with Argentina abstaining. Burma's confirmation by the General Assembly as the 58th member of the UN appeared assured.

Cotton Production Problems Discussed

Area Farmers Facing Great Responsibility

By A. B. SLAGLE
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

SOUTH PLAINS cotton farmers, who last year produced in 13 counties more than most individual states, ginning more than 28 per cent of the total produced in Texas, were put on notice at a regional cotton outlook meeting here yesterday that with this record will go a great responsibility as concerns the future of the staple in relation to world markets.

The warning was sounded by Don L. Jones, superintendent of the experiment station here, principal speaker at the session in the Palace theater attended by 750 to 800 farmers and cotton industry representatives from all parts of the High Plains area of Texas.

Cost Increase Seen

He referred to staple length and grade of South Plains cotton, cited sharp improvement in both in recent years, but called for still more improvement, then coupled the admonition with a fear that the cotton producer "will probably be working under the highest production cost in the last ten years," and therefore "it is going to be up to him (the farmer) to plan well in order to keep his production costs under control."

Jones, who probably has done more research on cotton production and harvesting than any other individual in the Southwest, was one of several speakers at the session.

Others included J. D. Prewit, vice-director of the Texas Extension service and chairman of the Cotton Production committee of the State-Wide Cotton Committee of Texas, the agency sponsoring the meeting; C. B. Spencer of Dallas, agricultural director of the Texas Cottonseed Crushers association; and W. O. Fortenberry of Monroe, big scale farmer and ginner.

Outlook Favorable

Prewit presided at the meeting after introduction by Geo. A. Simmons, chairman of the arrangements committee.

All speakers agreed that the outlook for cotton this year is favorable.

Spencer set out the various agencies interested in promotion of cotton, and believes that through increasing research cotton is growing in favor, and that it "will continue to be the best cash crop in West Texas." He said there is a shortage of cotton now instead of a surplus, but believes that Plains farmers must be on the alert in continuation of insect control and mechanization improvements if the area is to hold the place it has gained.

Fortenberry believes that "we are emerging into the time when cotton is coming into its own." He warned, however, that piracy farming—the practice of taking everything from the soil and putting nothing back—will quickly change the picture. Concerning staple length, Fortenberry said that as a rule an increase in staple length brought a decrease in grade, but he urged that all possible should be done to step up staple length so long as grade is protected.

All speakers had emphasized that on world markets, grade is more important than staple length, but all agreed that staple also has a great influence on prices.

Jones cited the steady increase

Special Cotton Group Is Named

Recognizing the South Plains as "the most important cotton producing area in the United States," a special cotton improvement committee for the South Plains was announced here yesterday by Burris C. Jackson, of Hillsboro, chairman of the State-Wide Cotton Committee of Texas, who was here to attend the regional cotton meeting.

Jackson also announced, in his capacity of director and member of the executive committee of the National Cotton council, a national mechanization conference to be held here next October 14 and 15, a session that will bring to this city and area many of the nation's top technical experts in the field of farm machinery.

Special Committee Named

W. O. Fortenberry of Monroe, big scale farmer and ginner, and president of the Plains Ginners association, was named chairman of the South Plains cotton committee, and with four others named by Jackson on the committee, is to select 20 others to constitute a committee of 25 for the area.

Others on the committee are W. N. Williamson, district agent with the extension service; Don L. Jones, superintendent of the experiment station; Geo. A. Simmons, oil mill operator; and Dave W. Sherrill, Lubbock county farm agent.

Jackson said the committee, which is to be a part of, and is to work with the state-wide committee, will have several objectives, including promotion of improvement of the quality of cotton, to seek lower production costs, and to aid generally in carrying out all

Four Leading GOP Contenders Top Truman In Latest Survey

BY GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., April 10.—Latest testing of voter sentiment on the 1948 presidential campaign reveals dramatic changes in the political fortunes of the leading contenders.

In a nationwide poll completed less than a week ago the American Institute of Public Opinion asked thousands of representative voters for whom they would vote in four "trial heats," if the election were held now.

The "trial heats" pitted President Truman, Democrat, against Henry A. Wallace, Third Party, and, respectively, Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Harold E. Stassen, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg and General Douglas MacArthur, Republicans.

Results of the poll may be summarized as follows:

1. Last January a similar Institute survey showed that President Truman was then in a position to win over all Republican contenders except General Dwight Eisenhower who shortly withdrew from the race.

Today, three months later, the situation facing Democratic strate-

Eisenhower In New Refusal Of Party Bid

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 10—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told White House reporters today he "meant every word" of his January letter saying he could not accept a presidential nomination.

"I'm not talking any more," he asserted. "I find it doesn't do any good. I told my aides they could do the talking from now on."

This was in reply to a question for a direct statement from him to confirm what his Army assistants have been saying recently: That he would not be available for a presidential nomination on any ticket.

Calls On Truman

The last statement to this effect was made by Major General Floyd Parks, Army press relations chief. It failed to quiet talk in both parties booming "Ike" for the presidency.

Eisenhower has retired as Army chief of staff to assume the presidency of Columbia university in June. He wore his five-star army uniform to make a half-hour call on President Truman. He said the call was not about politics but about the nation's defense.

"The President," he continued, "wanted to talk about the general layout" and the "subject of balance" in it. On this, he added, the President, Defense Secretary Forrestal and himself are in general accord.

Meant Every Word

"The President authorized me to say this so I am not talking out of school," he said smiling.

Then, when a reporter told him that political statements by Army aides were not being believed and some of his supporters wanted a direct statement from him, the general promptly replied:

"I made up my mind to say nothing more. I wrote a letter and meant every word of it."

He referred to his January 23 letter to Leonard V. Finder, Manchester, N. H., publisher. In it he said he could not accept a nomination and his decision to "completely remove" himself from pol-

Three Men Hurt In Affrays Here

One man was knifed late Saturday and another man was shot through the shoulder in a second fight and both victims declined to press charges against their assailants, city police reported last night.

A third man, Joe Brown, negro, 35, was in Chatham hospital last night with a bullet wound just below his heart and a woman identified as his wife was being held in county jail in connection with the shooting.

He was shot, according to authorities, following an argument at his residence at 2110 East Ave. B about 8 o'clock last night.

Lubbock Man Shot

Johnnie Lee Marricle, 32, of Lubbock route 7, was wounded in the left shoulder by a .25 automatic pistol about 9 o'clock last night at a residence on Forty-Ninth west of the Slaton highway, police said. The shooting followed a quarrel, officers explained, involving another man and a woman.

Marricle was taken to West Texas hospital by the man, and the woman, where another outbreak of fighting routed the nurses from the lobby, it was reported. Police said they arrived in

$110,000 Fire Sweeps Through Odessa Lumber Company's Yards

ODESSA, April 10 (AP) — Fire caused an estimated $110,000 loss at the Acme Lumber company here late today.

The blaze destroyed the company's warehouse, lumber shed, and about half the lumber in the shed. It spread to the office and to living quarters above the office.

19-Months-Old Carlisle Girl Treated For Accident Injuries

Norma Jean Bush, 19-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bush, of Carlisle, was injured about 8:30 p. m. yesterday when she was struck by an automobile five miles west of Carlisle. She was at Lubbock Memorial hospital last night for observation and x-ray treatment.

The child was said to have been at her grandparents house north of the highway and had apparently wandered toward her home on the opposite side of the road.

She was struck by the side of the left front fender of a car driven by Johnnie N. Horn, of Crosbyton. His automobile was a 1938 Chevrolet coupe, and he was accompanied by his wife and two children, according to the highway patrol.

The hospital said at midnight that the child had regained some consciousness and that there were symptoms of a head injury.

Government Goes Ahead With Contempt Charge Against Lewis

Solon Arranges Parley On Coal Strike, Forecasts Settlement

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 10.—House Speaker Martin today predicted quick settlement of the coal strike, perhaps by Tuesday, after arranging a peace parley between John L. Lewis and a mine operators' representative.

Attorney General Clark announced, nevertheless, that the government will proceed with its contempt case against Lewis Monday, even if the strike is settled by then.

With no advance fanfare, Martin moved into the pension dispute which in 27 days has brought idleness to more than half a million miners and other workmen. Working by telephone, he persuaded Lewis, president of the United Mine workers, and Ezra Van Horn, operators' representative, to meet with him in his office at the capitol.

Case To Be Heard

There he proposed Senator Bridges (R-NH) as the third, neutral member of the board of trustees to administer the miners' welfare and retirement fund.

Lewis and Van Horn agreed to the Massachusetts lawmaker's suggestion. The whole affair took only 13 minutes.

But Attorney General Clark said the unexpected development would not change his plan to press contempt of court charges against Lewis.

"The case has been set by the court for a hearing on Monday," Clark said. "We shall be there, ready to proceed."

Settlement Predicted

Federal Judge Matthew McGuire a week ago today ordered the miners back to work. But they didn't go, and Lewis said he had nothing to do with their decision to remain away from the mines. Clark then asked that Lewis be found guilty of contempt for ignoring the back-to-work order. The hearing on the motion is set for 9 a. m. (CST) Monday before Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough.

Lewis as chairman of the pension fund trustees, called a meeting for 10 a. m. tomorrow. Van Horn and Bridges said they would be there.

Martin and Lewis both predicted that within 48 hours after that session an agreement could be worked out.

Then, Lewis said, "I think it is a reasonable assumption the men will return to work."

Operator spokesmen were not that positive.

Many Workers Idle

Van Horn was asked whether he anticipated any difficulty in reaching an understanding on the pension issue.

"We will have to take that up when we get to it," he said.

President Truman has said he will follow the Taft-Hartley labor law to the letter. The court action is part of the procedure laid down by this law, which Congress enacted over a presidential veto.

In addition to the 400,000 striking soft coal miners, approximately 171,000 were idle in allied industries, including 32,000 UMW anthracite miners who were out on sympathy strikes. Jobless totalled 70,000 on the railroads, with more big layoffs to come next week if the strike continues. The coal shortage put 57,000 persons out of work in basic steel plants and 4,000 in fabricating plants.

Coal-burning railroad service already has been cut 25 percent by government order, and another 25 percent slash will take effect next Thursday midnight if the strike goes on.

The coal-steel situation will cost the production of at least two weeks output of cars and trucks—about 215,000 units—even if the walkout should be settled by Monday, Ward's automobile reports said at Detroit.

Monkey Business In Wichita Falls Gets Plenty Of Attention

WICHITA FALLS, April 10 (AP)—There was a lot of monkey business in the business district here today.

The monkeys were real—but no more real than the dismay of people who had their shopping bags raided.

There were five monkeys. The monkeys escaped from a cage, where they were kept by an automobile dealer. But they weren't responsible for all the monkey business. Traffic was jammed in the area by hundreds of persons who watched the cutting up.

The show lasted most of the day, and the monkeys remained at large tonight—probably expecting to play to a full house again tomorrow.

Swift Action On Defense Pledged

WASHINGTON, April 10. (AP)—Swift House action on legislation to strengthen United States' military manpower was promised today by the House leadership.

"The military needs of our country must come first," Speaker Martin (R-Mass) told newsmen. "That's our prime job."

He said that once the House Armed Services committee gets its bill ready, it will receive almost immediate consideration on the House floor.

Separate Bills Preferred

Martin indicated he preferred not to have draft legislation and universal military training proposals wrapped into one measure. That's the way President Truman would like to have it.

If the Senate puts both into one bill, Martin said, the House probably will go its own way and may act first.

As a step toward getting manpower legislation handled promptly, Martin has called a meeting of the House Republican steering committee on Monday to clear the track for floor action.

Temperature Soars To New Season High

Saturday was another peak day for warm spring weather in Lubbock and the South Plains as the temperature hit 92 degrees, the weather bureau station reported at midnight. It was the warmest day since the previous high reading of 88 degrees last Tuesday.

High winds up to 28 miles per hour whipped up the dust again throughout the area and on city streets yesterday and was expected to repeat the performance again today. The weather station predicted strong westerly winds today with a velocity up to 30 miles per hour.

Fair today and slightly cooler was also forecast. The maximum temperature today was predicted at 85 degrees, and the minimum early this morning at about 50 degrees.

PRESIDENT NOT BLAMED FOR PRESENT TROUBLES

Lubbock Residents' Opinion Of FDR Has Changed Little Three Years After Former Leader's Death

MONDAY will mark the third anniversary of Franklin D. Roosevelt's death and a cross section of Lubbock sentiment indicates he has lost none of the admiration and respect of Americans gained during his long tenure in the president's office through a depression and the greatest military conflict in history.

Avalanche - Journal reporters, interviewing Lubbock and some area residents selected at random, posed four genera. questions. (1) What do you think of Mr. Roosevelt at this time. Do you think he is losing or gaining stature as time rolls by? (2) Do you consider Mr. Roosevelt to blame in the present trouble with Russia because of agreements made at Tehran and Yalta, (3) Do you feel any connection between Mr. Roosevelt and what Wallace is doing? and (4) Do you favor a law limiting a president's tenure in office?

Here is what interviewers were told:

DR. C. B. QUALIA of 2609 Twenty-fourth, head of the Department of Romance Languages at Texas Tech and a translator in the library for the American Commission to Negotiate the Peace in Paris in 1918 and 1919, after World War I—I believe Presiden' Roosevelt is gaining stature fantastically. Already he has become legendary. As to the Russian picture, I do not believe it stems so much from concessions granted by Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill, but from Russian interpretation of the Yalta pact. The Russians have grabbed under their interpretation. Mr. Roosevelt was generous, without doubt, but I believe history will reflect his generosity as influenced strictly by his desire to save the lives of American men in the armed services. Wallace? I believe Mr. Roosevelt repudiated Wallace long

400 Persons Claimed Dead In Fighting

(By The Associated Press)

A compromise government was reported formed in Colombia last night to seek an end to a 24-hour revolution. The revolt left many buildings in the capital city of Bogota gutted by fire and looters and forced a recess in the Pan-American conference.

Snipers still were operating from many buildings in Bogota Saturday and they were being sought out by troops armed with rifles and machineguns. Reports were also received of uprisings and rioting in the interior of the country.

Martial law was declared, but the U. S. State department said it had received dispatches indicating that only about 500 troops and one detachment of tanks were seen on police duty in Bogota.

Perez Holds Presidency

The revolt apparently had repercussions in Paraguay and Chile, leading to arrests.

The formation of the new government was reported in New York by Dr. Eduard Santos, vice president of Colombia. Santos said the new cabinet would be composed equally of Liberals and Conservatives, and that both parties had pledged themselves to seek an end to the fighting.

Santos, en route from Europe to Colombia, said Mariano Ospina Perez, a Conservative, would remain as president and Liberal leader Dario Echandia would head the cabinet.

400 Claimed Dead

Rafael Azula Barrera, secretary general of the presidency, said in Bogota that the government is "firmly convinced this was a premeditated plot by the Communists." He also blamed Communists for sabotaging the Pan-American conference by starting the revolution.

El Liberal, an opposition newspaper, was the only one to publish today. It said 130 persons were dead in Bogota and 400 in the entire country from the revolt. The newspaper said uprisings in

Soviets Tighten Berlin Squeeze

BERLIN, April 10 (AP)—United States authorities today resisted new Russian efforts to restrict the Western Allies' communications between Berlin and western Germany.

The new squeeze measures involved wire communications and air traffic through the Soviet zone from Berlin.

American authorities said the Russians were attempting under the guise of air safety regulations to reduce use of the Western Allies' air corridor which links the city with the west. It was disclosed that they also are seeking to force withdrawal from their zone of American and British maintenance crews which work on telephone and teleprinter lines running across the Soviet zone from Berlin to the western zones.

Reds To Approve Flights

These actions were regarded by western authorities as part of a calculated Soviet pattern intended to make the position of Britain, the United States and France untenable in this international island behind the iron curtain.

Disclosing the new Soviet-proposed air safety regulations, Maj. Gen. William E. Hall, director of the American military government's armed services division, said they were a "very obvious attempt to restrict our use of the corridor."

Hall said the proposed regulations included: Stoppage of all flights by American commercial airlines through the corridor, pro-

Jester, Calvert Say They May Give Truman Views April 20

AUSTIN, April 10. (AP) — Gov. Beauford H. Jester and Robert W. Calvert of Hillsboro, state Democratic executive committee chairman, today said they might express their views April 20 on whether Texas should support Truman if he is nominated for the presidency.

April 20 is the date of the "Texas-for-Texans" political barbecue at Fort Worth. It is being planned by the Democratic executive committee, the Young Democrats of Texas, and the Association of County Democratic Chairmen.

Definitely In July

The governor and Calvert said they "might" make their remarks if it appears to be the "proper time."

They agreed definitely to state their personal viewpoints on what they would expect of an uninstructed Texas delegation to the national convention in July.

Calvert earlier today made clear that no remarks at the Fort Worth barbecue should be take as an expression of party policy.

He said the $5-a-plate barbecue is an all-party affair and not an anti-Truman or a pro-Truman meeting.

"This and other issues will be decided at the state convention in Brownwood May 25. The only time party policy can be determined is at the state convention," he said in a prepared statement.

Waco To Compete

A pro-Truman free barbecue at Waco will compete with the Fort Worth barbecue the same day.

Calvert's decision to discuss the uninstructed delegation proposal and possibly the question of supporting Truman or bolting the party was learned at a press conference with the governor.

Calvert telephoned Jester from Hillsboro, and the governor relayed reporters' questions to the executive committee chairman.

The governor previously had expressed his intention of clarifying his position on what an uninstructed delegation might do. He said the executive committee should do the same thing. Calvert's prepared statement was considered an attempt by some of the more cautious party leaders to keep Jester quiet until the state convention.

Time Has Come

Asked what he thought of Calvert's news release, Jester replied: "I think that's a wise statement from a man who wants to be chairman of the executive committee."

A letter was issued today by the arrangements committee for the Fort Worth barbecue declaring:

"The time has come for Texas Democrats to become strong enough to make their voices heard and respected in the councils of the party—to organize within the state sufficiently to act independently when necessary to the best interests of our state."

"Isn't that an expression of party policy?" a reporter asked.

"What's new in that?" Jester retorted. "We've been trying to get the two-thirds rule back and some voice in writing a platform that will express our sentiments."

Going Along

"I don't think Calvert is for the two-third rule personally, but he is going along with his committee."

Jester received Calvert's phone call a few minutes later.

Asked what would determine whether April 20 is the "proper time" to discuss the support of Truman if he becomes the party nominee, Calvert said, "That will depend on developments between now and April 20."

He did not anticipate any change in his position during the next 10 days.

This was an apparent declaration that no compromise will be sought with the pro-Truman group which will meet in Waco.

Tech Holstein-Friesian Cows Set High Production Record

Two registered Holstein-Friesian cows in the dairy herd at Texas Technological college recently completed official production records in herd improvement registry test and scored unusally high totals, the Holstein-Friesian association of America announced Saturday.

The higher producer of the two was Tech Bessie Piebe Alcartra with a record of 478 pounds of butterfat and 14,249 pounds of milk. The record was made in 330 days on three milkings daily and at an age of seven years, one month.

The other high producer was Lamar Creamery Ormsby Jewel with 409 pounds of butterfat and 12,582 pounds of milk made in 361 days on two milkings daily and at the age of two years, six months.

Testing was supervised by Texas A. & M. college in cooperation with the association.

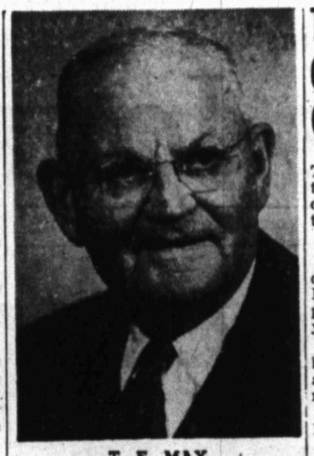

Sexton's Pay Is Doubled With $1.60 Raise After 35 Years

Back in 1913, the church council gave him another graveyard to tend and began considering a pay boost for him.

Today, 35 years later, he got the raise. It was eight shillings (about $1.60) a week—doubling his pay.

"These things take a bit of thinking out," said Shepherd, who is 78. "They mustn't be rushed."

Congress Favors Spending Cut Proposal But Opposes Controls

By AUSTIN C. WEHRWEIN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Congress today applauded the recommendation of President Truman's economic advisers for reduced government spending. But it remained cool to an appeal for selective price, wage and rationing controls.

Chairman Jesse P. Wolcott (R-Mich) of the House Banking committee, said restoration of controls is unnecessary "until we can see the impact of military spending and foreign aid on our domestic economy."

His reaction was typical of many members of both houses, especially the Republican majority. They pointed out that Congress paid no heed when Mr. Truman asked for standby controls in his message to the special session last November.

Wolcott's position was anticipated by Mr. Truman's Council of Economic Advisers in the first of its quarterly reports ever to be made public. It said Congress would want to look over foreign and domestic spending programs before considering a revival of controls.

The council, headed by Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, said Marshall plan spending and the new $3,000,000,000 to $4,000,000,000 defense program "will not swamp our economy nor require us to pass from free enterprise to regimentation."

But it cautioned that some "systematic and vigorous discipline" is called for.

Criticises Coal Strike

The council criticized sharply the current coal strike.

Its recommendations, based on the assumption of labor peace and no great increase in defense proposals, were:

1. New taxes to pay for all new defense expenses not offset by government spending cuts elsewhere. Reduction of government spending wherever possible.

2. An increas in bank reserve requirements and restriction of consumer credit to hold down public buying power.

3. Full support for the new "security loan" campaign.

4. Allocation, price, wage and rationing controls. A system of materials priorities barring use of vital materials in "unnecessary" projects.

5. Better use of the labor supply by strengthening the U. S. employment service draft deferment for defense workers; placing of defense contracts in "loose" labor areas; and effort to prevent "labor" pirating such as occurred early in the last war.

Rattlesnake Steak Dished Up For 500 At Oklahoma Meet

By JOHN RANDOLPH
Associated Press Staff Writer

ENID, Okla., April 10.—Rattlesnake hunters are convinced that proof of the pudding is in the eating.

With the usual accompaniment of "ooohs" and "ahhhs" and some "ughs" 500 reptile-rousers trooped into a dining hall to partake of a little rattlesnake steak.

It was the real thing too, with tiny curved ribs like a miniature standing roast—and the cutest little backbone you ever saw.

This treat started off the ninth annual convention of the International Association of Rattle-snake Hunters here last night. The scene shifts tomorrow to the rugged Gypsum hills near Okeene, where the hunters from 1. states will go after the rattlers in earnest.

A year ago, 5,000 hunters came back with 500 snakes — which means about a ton of squirming, buzzing, hissing meat on the tummy.

Taste Like Chicken

Last night's snake steak was dished up by Orville Von Gulker, Okeene, chief rattler.

There wasn't much of it, and only about 100 eager souls got to sample the delicacy, which is supposed to cost $20 a pound.

If you want to know what it tastes like, listen to the crowd:

"U'mmmm . . . It's like chicken."

"Unh-unh-," . . . More like rabbit."

"Sage hen, I say . . ."

"No, it's closer to fried shrimp."

"Eughh . . ."

"They shudda boned it."

"Gimme . . ."

And so on.

Actually, and you may quote The Associated Press—the meat does resemble chicken or rabbit. Only it is richer and gamer. It is white, solid and tender. That's what most snake eaters agreed on, anyway.

As for what the snake tastes when he gets his fangs into a human—well, that's another story.

Hawaii Hopes To Build Fishing Industry To Span Pacific Area

By KEN LIKES
Associated Press Staff Writer

HONOLULU, April 10 — Hawaii, which once wrested much of its living from the sea, hopes to build on the ruins of Japan's sampan fleet a fishing industry spanning the Pacific.

Wartime restrictions temporarily scuttled Hawaii's doughty little fishing fleets. Japan's defeat closed rich fishing grounds to Nippon.

Within less than three years since the war ended, Hawaii's sampans manned largely by Nisei have swept back for near-record catches. High prices tripled the value of the 1947 catch over the best prewar year.

Big Catches Westward

But this American fishing outpost has barely touched on the fringes of the watery frontier of the Pacific. The big catches and big money lie westward in grounds vacated by Japan.

Across millions of square miles of the Pacific, fish now run unmolested by net or line.

In blue Hawaiian waters today, the No. 1 contender for big business ranks is Aku. In less romantic language of a mainlander, it's tuna.

So far, one medium-size cannery in the islands has taken care of all the export trade in tuna. Hawaii landings before the war didn't begin to compare with California boats took from along the coasts of Mexico, Central and South America.

Within 40 Miles

"But we have caught practically all our tuna within 40 miles of the islands," reports Vernon Brock, director of the territorial division of fish and game.

In 1937, the Japanese probably took a third again as many tuna from Pacific fishing grounds as did the United States, Brock says. A single year's catch for the Japanese may have totaled some 460,000,000 pounds.

The Pacific tuna grounds "may well interest any Asiatic nation, including Russia," Brock adds, "and unless we exploit it actively, or allow other nations to enter this fishery, we can be placed by propagandists in the position of preventing the use of a major food resource."

"It is not a question of the presence or absence of resources. The fish undoubtedly are there.

Need Know-How

"Lack of know-how limits us now. For instance, what are the movements of tuna schools? What are the best ways to catch the fish?"

Explorers and researchers have fitted together a few pieces of the underwater puzzle. It looks as if more sleuths may go to work on the big job.

A company subsidized by the Reconstruction Finance corporation has sent two boats on an extended Pacific survey. Congress has passed—but not yet appropriated money for—a $1,500,000 research program. The Navy announced recently that mainland and Hawaiian companies are negotiating for cannery sites in the trust territory—the former Japanese mandates, including the Carolines, Marshalls and Marianas.

Like the ancient Polynesians, islanders are turning seriously toward fishing. They aren't thinking of fish for local eating, though. They are looking toward an industry which may rival the islands' sugar cane and pineapple business—and make a big splash in the world's food production.

Air Force Team To Visit Texas Tech

Traveling Air Force teams are visiting major colleges and universities throughout the United States to acquaint young men interested in aviation with educational and career opportunities and one of the teams will be at Texas Technological college Monday through Thursday, Major Harold Fulghum, local Army and Air Force recruiting officer, announced.

Lt. Col. W. J. Taylor, who has charge of the USAF program in the 10th Air Force area, has said that young men wishing to sign up for aviation cadet training or officer candidate tarining would be able to determine at once whether or not they could qualify.

He said simplified procedure recently adopted by the USAF authorizes the traveling teams to give all the qualifying tests required for the courses except the final physical examination. That procedure, he said, eliminates delay, inconvenience and expense to prospective candidates for the training.

Tech authorities have asked Lt. Col. R. P. Riordan to act as advisor to students and others interested in phases of the aviation cadet and officer candidate training program.

Only unmarried male citizens between 20 to 26½ years are eligible and applicants must have had two or more years of college or be able to pass an examination to measure its equivalent, it was announced. Young men meeting those requirements who are interested in an aviation career may see Lt. Col. Riordan in the military science building on teh campus Monday through Thursday.

R. Stansell Clement Seeks Post Of 106th District Attorney

LAMESA, April 10 (Special)—R. Stansell Clement, Lamesa lawyer and a Baptist layman in this area, has announced his candidacy for the office of district attorney of the 106th judicial district.

Clement, a veteran of 18 months service in the armed forces during World War II, moved to Lamesa from Childress in 1941. He has been city attorney here since that time except during his stay in the service.

CLEMENT

A native of Wise county, he is a graduate of Wayland college and a former student at WTSTC and Texas Tech. He is 40, married and has two children.

Experience Varied

While living in Childress he taught school, served as district clerk and county judge.

He has taken an active part in church and civic affairs since moving here. Teacher of a men's Bible class in the First Baptist church, he also holds several other church offices.

Clement is past president of the Lions club and the chamber of commerce, past Chancellor Commander of the Knights of Pythias, and is a Mason and a member of the American Legion.

Clement Second Candidate

He said in his announcement that he planned an "intensive campaign," and that he would make "no campaign promise other than to endeavor to do right and conduct the affairs of office in an honest, efficient and impartial manner."

Calloway Huffaker, Tahoka, the present incumbent, announced weeks ago that he would not seek re-election. Clement is the second candidate to enter the race to succeed him. Virgil Crawford, county attorney of Terry county, is the other candidate.

NOBODY HERE

COULTERVILLE, Ill. (U.P.) — James Patton didn't get the burglar who had been stealing his chickens but he got a few of the chickens. Patton, hearing a noise in his hen house, got his shotgun and called out, "I've got you covered." The thief escaped but when the smoke died down there were 11 dead chickens.

W. A. (Poo) Ribble, 97, To Be Honored At Big Party Today

W. A. Ribble, who lives with a daughter, Mrs. H. V. Bigham, 2115 Twenty-first, was 97 years old Thursday and today will be honored with a big party at Mackenzie State park.

For the pioneer Texan, who at an early age helped engage in encounters with Indians, it will be a gathering of approximately 45 to 50 of his descendants.

Has Other Children

Besides his Lubbock daughter, he has two other daughters, Mrs. W. H. Jarnigan, Graham; and Mrs. J. W. Caldwell, Terrell; two sons, T. E. Ribble, Los Lunas, N. M.; and H. L. Ribble, Breckenridge; 18 grandchildren, 25 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

Thin, slightly-stooped and dependent upon his cane to get around—he shies clear of any other help—the pioneer recalled events of long ago at the home of his daughter Thursday.

"Poo" Ribble, as he is affectionately known by members of his family and close friends, was born in Clarksville, Red River county, April 8, 1951. When he was two years old, his father moved the family to Honey Grove and when he was five in 1856, they moved to Jack county and settled in a log cabin.

Father Built House

"Dad moved us in a wagon pulled by four yoke of oxen and built the house by himself," Mr. Ribble said proudly. Shortly afterwards, typhoid fever claimed his father's life and his mother and eight children were left alone in the frontier country.

"The Indians were thick around us," he recalled. "Those were Caddos, Delewares, Anadarkos, Shawnees and Tonkawas. The Caddos were close neighbors and I used to watch them hunt and fish nea. our house. I even spent a day in the Caddo village. They had a Comanche squaw there prisoner from a fight they'd had the day before with the Comanches."

The Indians actions caused the Ribble brood to move to Weatherford in 1859.

W. A. (POO) RIBBLE

In 1863, here called, "My mother sent me horseback to Denton county. There were just two houses between Weatherford and Witt's Hole Mill, 18 miles above Dallas. All there was in Fort Worth was just one store and a blacksmith shop where the courthouse now is."

Mr. Ribble married and moved to Young county, which he helped organize. He lived there 40 years.

He recalled that "the best food I ever ate was the hump of the buffalo "all streaked with fat." He said he killed many buffalo.

Shopping was easy in those days, he recalled. "I used to go to the store in Weatherford once a year and buy only sugar, coffee and coal oil, he said. "We raised or hunted everything else."

His recipe for longevity: "I never owed a man a dollar but what I paid him. . . . I got a clear conscience." His daughter added that he never drank nor smoked.

He doesn't wear glasses and uses only a large magnifying glass for reading and takes an active interest in current affairs and listens daily to various radio programs.

The "Stop-at-Nothing" Vehicle the Whole Country Needed—

4-WHEEL-DRIVE UNIVERSAL 'Jeep'

THE UNIVERSAL 'JEEP' is the kind of vehicle this country has needed for forty years. It is a tough, rugged vehicle that can always be depended on to take men and supplies where they are needed.

With selective 2- and 4-wheel drive, the Universal "Jeep" gives speed on hard roads and ability to get over bad roads or travel cross-country. With all four wheels pulling, you go through mud, sand and snow that stops ordinary vehicles. The "Jeep" will climb a 60-per-cent grade and maneuver its way through dense growth.

For every kind of work—on or off the road, in any weather—the Universal "Jeep" measures up to every need. We invite you to drive the "Jeep" fifty miles and see for yourself.

Missing Daughter Of Millionaire Said Buried In Pauper's Grave

LOS ANGELES, April 10 (U.P.)—For 15 years millionaire lumberman Harry Tennant searched in vain for his missing daughter.

Once, three years ago, he almost found her. But she sank out of sight again and he gave up hope.

Today, a detective who never gave up his investigation told Tennant he knew where she was — buried in a pauper's grave.

Deserted Life Of Ease

Mrs. Janet Tennant McEvers, 36-year-old heiress to $5,000,000, died two years ago. Police said she had deserted a life of ease for the company of a skid row character called "One-Eyed Willie."

Sgt. E. F. Holmes of the missing persons bureau relentlessly tracked down the slim clues which cropped up as the years passed. When her picture appeared in a rogue's gallery in 1945, he intensified his search.

In police files he found a Janet Hutchinson Tennant charged with drunkenness and prostitution. There were a dozen aliases listed. Informants said she was the girl friend of "One-Eyed Willie."

Searched Grave Yards

One of these told police that "One-Eyed Willie" was dead and so was his girl friend. Holmes methodically searched the city's grave yards, looking always for the headstone that might bear the name: Mrs. Janet McEvers, or an alias.

Finally, he found it. On the stone was the name "Janet Oakley," an alias. He moved fast then. The fingerprints on the death certificate were positive proof.

"I had almost given up the search," L. B. Sandblast, Portland, Ore., attorney for the family, said. "I had been wondering if she were alive."

Mrs. McEvers disappeared suddenly 15 years ago while she was studying at the Redlands, Cal., Conservatory of Music. She was married and a mother at the time.

Her father now is living in Pittsburgh, Kan. He formerly was chairman of the national lumber code authority.

Her husband died in a Japanese prison camp in 1943. Her daughter is a University of Oregon student.

She is next in line for the inheritance.

Cochran County Grand Jury To Be Impaneled Monday Morning

MORTON, April 10 (Special) — A Cochran county grand jury will be impaneled Monday morning when Judge Dan Blair of the 72nd judicial district convenes a new term of court here.

There will be one capital case, in which a negro is charged with murder of another, District Attorney Lloyd Croslin and assistant District Attorney E. G. Pharr said.

Indictments that may be voted here would be tried April 26.

Judge Blair also has a civil jury reporting to him Monday.

BREAKS WORLD'S SOLO RECORD—Miss Reda Mae Gary, above, employe of the Veterans administration, climbed out of an airplane the other morning at Lubbock Municipal airport after making a solo flight with only two hours and five minutes of dual instruction time. The record was mad possible through the use of a system of response training developed by Ralph Holcome of the Vickers Aircraft at the field. (Staff Photo).

New System Of Flight Training Enables Local Woman To Break Solo Plane Mark

A new system of flight training enabled a Lubbock woman, Miss Reda Mae Gary, employe of the Veterans administration, to set a new world's record for soloing an airplane the other day. Miss Gary took a standard model Cessna 120 airplane aloft by herself after only two hours and five minutes of dual time instruction.

The new flight training system, developed by Ralph Holcombe of the Vickers Aircraft at Lubbock Municipal Airport, constitutes first analyzing a student's capacity, then applying the system in the manner most applicable to the individual needs. It involves teaching a student all the values with respect to pressures, control analyzation, durations of pressure and effects, and rapid response on the part of the student to the plane of automatic reaction. All this is done before a student enters an airplane.

Short Classes Planned

Just as soon as it can be placed on the market, short classes will be held for operators at no cost to them, enabling them to apply the system and use the response trainer in their flight training. James J. Vickers, head of Vickers Aircraft, says this method will mean an avalanche of new business for flight school operators.

Men can be soloed in from one to two hours and women from two to four hours in conventional three-control aircraft.

All C. A. A. requirements are complied with and according to the reception the Civil Aeronautics Authority gave his system while on a recent trip to Washington, Holcombe says "this system has been long awaited by the public."

"Emphasis is placed on this fact; this is not a publicity scheme," Holcombe said, "but a simple physchological approach to teach people how to fly safely and inexpensively."

Letter Of Appreciation Is Received By A Post Soldier

WITH THE EIGHTH ARMY IN SENDAY, Japan, April 10— Technician Fifth Grade Jackie E. Lancaster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Lancaster of Post, Texas, recently received a letter of appreciation from Lieutenant General Robert L. Eichelberger, commanding general, Eighth United States Army, as a member of the Gumma Military Government team on Honshu island.

The letter was in recognition of the team's fulfillment of its rice collection quota and it stated "Achievement of this goal has been possible, I know, only through the conscientious effort and deligence of all concerned. Exemplary work of this kind greatly contributes to the successful completion of our mission in the occupation of Japan."

Entering the Army on September 6, 1946, Technician Fifth Grade Lancaster completed his basic training at Fort Lewis, Washington. He sailed for overseas duty in Japan on December 23, 1946 where he was assigned to the Gumma Military Government team.

Six Travel Bureaus Aid Dallas Operator's Fight In Courts

DALLAS, April 10. (AP) — Six other travel bureau operators have pledged $12,000 to help in his court fight to do business without an Interstate Commerce commission license, Sam Lee Garland, Dallas, declared.

Garland, owner of the Rock House travel bureau here, was fined $250 in Dallas federal court for operating without an ICC license.

The U. S. Supreme court refused to hear an appeal after the fine was upheld by the U. S. circuit court of appeals in New Orleans.

Garland, his attorney, Henry Klepak, and travel bureau operators from Fort Worth, Lubbock and Amarillo met yesterday.

Operators from El Paso, Oklahoma City, Houston and other cities were due to confer here today. They are members of the National Travel Bureau association.

Lawyer Jailed After Refusing Defense

GALVESTON, April 10, (U.P.)—L. M. Kenyon, well-known Galveston attorney, was placed in county jail yesterday when he was held in contempt of court for refusing to defend a man charged in the fatal shooting of a policeman.

District Judge Charles C. Dibrell sentenced Kenyon to three days in jail and "thereafter until he agrees to accept the assignment of defending Floyd L. Cox. Cox was charged with murder in the shooting of Officer F. Elrod.

Sheriff Frank L. Biaggne ushered Kenyon into jail after the attorney refused the court appointment to defend Cox, who allegedly shot Elrod with the officer's own gun at the police station.

Kenyon was appointed by Judge Dibrell last Tuesday when Cox said he was unable to hire a lawyer. Kenyon explained he did not want to accept the assignment because of his friendly relations with members of the police department.

Chiang Warns Followers Faith Needed To Overcome Troubles

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, for 21 years the strong man of China yesterday placed before the public the most important element needed to pull his country through the terrible crisis which besets it.

That element is faith.

"Despite foreign criticism of our inflation and military defeats," he told the national assembly at Nanking, "I have faith."

On what does he base this faith?

Says Nation Solvent

Well, for one thing, despite the mad inflation which blankets China, the generalissimo declared that she is solvent. He asserted that the country has enough gold, silver, other assets and U. S. dollar credits to recall all of the Chinese currency afloat He added that now, with the $463,000,000 in aid from America, "the prospects of economic life are brighter than ever."

Then of the military situation Chiang, while admitting serious mistakes, disclosed that his armies are changing their strategy. They no longer will try to defend all positions but will concentrate for decisive blows—"big eat little," as he put it.

Chiang asserted that government strength was growing in northern China and he guaranteed to annihilate all Chinese Communists below the Yellow river, in central China, within six months. Not only that, but he would defend Manchuria as well.

Those are brave words, and we hope the Generalissimo is a good prophet. One doesn't challenge his forecast, for he knows his country and its people, but I think we must fall back on the old adage that the proof of the pudding is in the eating. We must see what effect the fresh American help will have, and how the new military strategy of "big eat little" fares.

To get at the core of this problem we must go back a week to another speech by the Generalissimo in Nanking. At that time he said that the civil war was China's most critical problem and that the Chinese Communists "must be beaten if China is to live."

Defeat of the Communists won't solve the problem. There is no hope whatever of uniting Communism with any other political creed. In some way or other the Communism must be eradicated or it surely will strangle the government—a basic truth not only for China but as regards all other countries.

Civil Service Board Hearing Reinstates Policeman To Job

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., April 10 (AP)—Ted L. Kociela, Wichita Falls policeman, has been reinstated to his job after a hearing by the city police and fire department civil service board yesterday.

Kociela was indicted by a grand jury on a charge of assault last week. He was charged with aggravated assault on an Olney, Tex., man whom the policeman was attempting to arrest at a cafe here.

The civil service commission said evidence was insufficient to warrant suspending the officer.

District Attorney Elmer Parish said the assault charge was still in effect and that Kociela would be brought to trial later.

Officials said the civil service hearing was believed to be the first in the state under the new Texas fire and police civil service code.

Cotton Club Gets Henry King's Band

Henry King, piano-playing leader, and his orchestra will play for dancing at the Cotton club at 9 o'clock Tuesday night.

The music of the orchestra has been described as basically smooth and sweet — yet sometimes deserting that pattern to give the impression of "swinging it."

One of the attractions of the orchestra is the personality and piano playing of King himself. He is a graduate of the Institute of Musical Art, where he studied the piano under supervision of Frank Damros. He later went to Europe to study and there started to play jazz on the piano.

Two pianos give emphasis to rhythm and four violins also are a part of the orchestra, with saxaphones and brass rounding out the organization.

Medleys of old familiar favorites are frequently played by the King orchestra. Tunes from "Dardinella" to "Twelfth Street Rag" may be heard on request. King believes in playing request numbers. "I believe in pleasing the folks who are interested enough to come and see and hear, me," he has stated. He emphasizes simplicity in arrangements.

His orchestra has played engagements at the Waldorf Astoria, in New York, Mary Hopkins hotel in San Francisco, Ambassador and Biltmore hotels in Los Angeles, Beverly Wilshire in Beverly Hills, Palmer House in Chicago and numerous others.

Admission will be $2 per person, tax included.

Art Of Growing Vegetables And Flowers Without Use Of Soil Will Be Explained

Are you interested in learning the art of growing vegetables and flowers without the use of soil?

You are invited to attend the open house sponsored by the Lubbock Horticulture club Monday night at 8 o'clock at the Aggie Memorial auditorium on the Tech campus to learn about hydroponics; defined as "the art and science of growing plants without soil and its application."

GIBSON

Robert H. Gibson, county agent of Garza county with headquarters at Post, will be guest speaker, Hubert Burgess, secretary, announced. The club, a men's organization with the primary purpose of providing a place where an exchange of ideas in the field of horticulture is stressed, is headed by Dr. W. W. Yocum, plant industry department, Texas Technological college.

Gibson, a graduate of Tech in the class of 1940 with a bachelor of science degree in agronomy, has become an authority in this field. His first work in hydroponics was in 1944 while he was a member of the U. S. Army Air Forces. Gibson received three months of specialized training in this line of work under Dr. Neil W. Stuart at the USDA Experiment Station, Beltville, Mo.

He was responsible for the building and operating one hydroponicium on Cocoanut island which was producing not less than 80 tons of tomatoes per acre six months after the construction started. Gibson also assisted in setting up another project at Iwo Jima.

At present he has a project in his back yard which has given satisfactory results the past two years.

Russian Move May Be Taken In Effort To Affect Italian Vote

By EDWARD E. BOMAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 10—Some spectacular Russian act to influence Italy's elections is expected by American officials after the brusque western suggestions that Russia make up her mind about Trieste.

The United States, Britain and France yesterday asked the U. S. S. R. to take a stand—without further delay—on their proposal to turn the disputed city back to Italy.

Moscow has kept silent since the plan was advanced unexpectedly March 20 and quickly accepted by Italian Premier de Gasperi's anti-Communist government.

With only eight days left before the crucial Italian election, the western powers asked the Soviets to meet in Paris early next month to work out the Trieste transfer details. It would mean revision of the Italian peace treaty which went into effect last September.

Moscow might hope to win Italian votes for Communism by accepting. But some Soviet action more positive and spectacular than falling in step with the western powers is considered far more likely by authorities here.

One such action could be a Russian offer to give up the $300,000,000 in Italian reparations granted in the peace treaty. The other powers renounced their reparations claims when the pact was drafted.

Moscow has given no advance hint if such a strike has been decided on. But in seeking to open negotiations for a trade agreement with Italy last week Russia insisted the reparations question be taken up.

State department officials said the Italian peace treaty could be revised by agreement of the Big Four allies—including Russia — and Italy.

Yugoslavia, a Soviet satellite, is bitterly opposed to giving up its share of the Trieste territory, but presumbly would follow a Moscow order to fall in line.

Without waiting for Russia's reply, Britain and the United States are going ahead with plans to turn back some administrative powers in their joint occupation zone to the local Italian population on Monday.

The State department said the action was in line with American policies in the occupation zones of Germany and elsewhere.

Housing Costs Warning Given

GALVESTON, April 10 (U.P.) — Veterans will strongly oppose any increases in housing costs, a federal official told delegates to the annual convention of the Texas Mortgage Bankers association meeting here.

Meanwhile, T. A. Robinson of Houston, president of the association, pointed out that the constantly changing money market outlook would cause the association to pass few resolutions.

Confusion To Continue

T. B. King, chief loan guaranty officers of the Veterans administration, told the convention yesterday that confusion would continue until Congress sifts through pending legislation on GI loans and housing.

"The housing which has been built is beyond what the average veteran is able to pay," King asserted. He said the average veteran's income was about $2,800 a year, and that the average veteran would have to pay $7,000 for a home.

He warned that if the "present high level of everything is maintained, real estate taxes may increase and Congress may raise interest rates as a result."

"Home builders had better sharpen their pencils if they're going to please veterans groups," King added in saying that veterans groups would oppose increased rates.

G. D. Brooks, manager of the investment department of the National Life and Accident Insurance Co. of Nashville, Tenn., said "lower building costs brought about by competition and improved construction methods constitute the only answer to the housing problem."

50 POUNDS LOST WITH BARCENTRATE

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

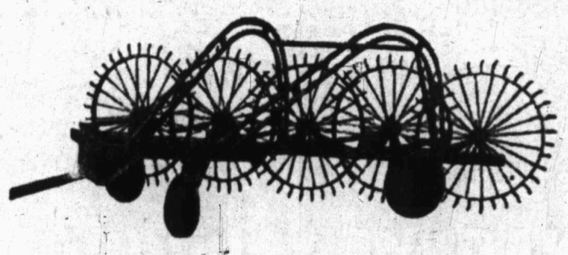

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Here is what Mrs. C. M. Earsh, 305 N. 12th St., McAllen, Texas, says about Barcentrate: "I want to tell you that I have lost 50 pounds since taking Barcentrate. I still want to lose 20 more pounds as I now weigh 167, a reduction from 217 pounds."

To lose weight the grapefruit juice way, get Barcentrate from your favorite druggist today.

Anderson Boosts Spring Wheat Export Nearer Truman's Goal

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson today boosted this country's spring exports of wheat and flour by 16,000,000 bushels and hinted at a further increase soon.

The action, taken on Anderson's own responsibility, raised hopes that total grain exports for the crop year ending June 30 might hit the 570,000,000-bushel goal set by President Truman last fall.

It followed the first official action of the infant Economic Cooperation administration, headed by Paul G. Hoffman, in ordering the purchase of $21,000,000 in supplies, mostly food, for export under the Marshall plan.

Wheat Outlook Improved

The improved wheat crop outlook reported by the Agriculture department yesterday prompted Anderson's action. The International Emergency Food committee his statement said, may now count on 466,000,000 bushels of wheat and flour as a "firm goal" for shipment to the world's hunger areas.

"Late this month, after the April 23 grain stock reports . . . we will be able to determine whether or not the 466,000,000 bushels of wheat and flour can be exceeded," Anderson said.

This, he said, would bring the year's total grain shipments, including about 90,000,000 bushels of corn and other coarse grains, "up toward the 570,000,000 bushels which was discussed last fall as a desirable objective."

Any further increase, however, would require action by the full Cabinet Food committee. Secretary of State Marshall and Secretary of Commerce Harriman are on the committee with Anderson.

Orders Purchases

Hoffman, acting last night a few hours after he took his oath of office, ordered the purchase of $21,000,000 in emergency supplies for Austria, Greece, France, Italy and the Netherlands.

Whether the goods will go as gifts or under loan remains to be worked out, Hoffman said.

"Obviously we must keep the pipelines of assistance filled if we are to alleviate conditions of hunger and cold and prevent serious economic retrogression," he added.

The question of making more wheat available for export may depend largely on how urgent needs are between now and harvest time. Some food officials favor stockpiling domestic grain surpluses for a possible future national emergency.

A crop of around 1,132,000,000 bushels of wheat was indicated by the department. This would be the third largest in history, but considerably below last year's record of 1,364,000,000.

Lubbock Man Named To Honor Guard

GHQ SPECIAL NEWS SERVICE, TOKYO—Pfc. Don E. Doshier, 2408 Seventh street, Lubbock, Texas, has recently been assigned to the Honor Guard company, it was announced by GHQ Special News Service of General MacArthur's Headquarters in Tokyo.

Pfc. Doshier's assignment is with one of the most select groups of men in the United States Army. The General Order establishing the Honor Guard to the Commander-in-Chief stipulates that members of the Company must have outstanding physique, must be persons of high intelligence with exceptional moral standards and perfect service records.

Members of the Honor Guard perform guard duty at General MacArthur's Headquarters in the Dai Ichi building, located in the heart of downtown Tokyo, and sentry duty at the official residence in the Ameican Embassy, which requires high quality and an unblemished record as a soldier and as a member of the United States Army Forces in the occupation of Japan.

Upon completion of his education at the Lubbock High school, Pfc. Doshier was employed as a service station operator for the Lowrimore Service Co. in Lubbock.

His military service began when he enlisted at Fort Bliss, Okla., in August 1947, and then was sent to Fort Ord, Calif., for Infantry basic training. On completion of training he travelled to Camp Stoneman, Calif., where he was processed for overseas duty, and from there he embarked for the Orient the latter part of January. He was soon initiated into the occupational scene and took up his present duties.

Pfc. Doshier is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Doshier, who reside at 2408 Seventh, Lubbock, Texas.

International Counterfeiter Captured After 10-Year Hunt

MEXICO CITY, April 10 (U.P.)—Enrico Sampietro, a counterfeiter wanted in Mexico, the United States, France, Cuba, Italy and England, was in custody today after a search of nearly 10 years.

Federal police captured Sampietro as he and his wife prepared breakfast in their humble home in the suburb of Ixtapalapa. Thousands of pesos worth of counterfeit Mexican currency were found in the house as well as a small hand-run printing press, stacks of note paper and plates for U. S. $20 bills and Mexican 100 peso notes.

Crispin De Aguilar, one of Mexico's top criminal investigators, led the successful hunt for Sampietro, an Italian-born cartographer.

He said he picked up the counterfeiter's trail about three months ago when he recognized Mrs. Sampietro on a downtown street.

Sampietro escaped from the federal penitentiary in 1938 while awaiting trial on an old counterfeiting charge.

Lone Star Steel Stockholders Refuse Bids As Price Zooms

LONGVIEW, April 10 (U.P.) — East Texans who had held their Lone Star Steel stock today marked up a profit of $1.50 per share in less than 48 hours.

Stock of the Daingerfield plant, gaining steadily for the past week, advanced to a new peak of $6.50 per share in Dallas.

Bidders were offering $6.75 per share, but there were no sellers, according to Eugene B. Germany, Lone Star president. The Longview News-Journal Thursday advised shareholders editorially to retain their stock.

The $1.50 advance was the same amount that shareholders pair per share for original stock.

Nation's Fanciest Stones Rolling In For Austin Meeting

By BO BYERS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, April 10—Stones are rolling into Austin from all over the country. Also from Canada.

They aren't gathering any moss. They will gather a lot of attention April 17 and 18.

These stones are not just plain, ordinary old stones. Not the kind some kid might knock out a window with. Many of these stones will knock your eye out.

They are mineral collections which will be exhibited by the State Mineral Society of Texas during its annual meeting.

Beautiful Stones Listed

Lapidarists—People who really know a fine chip off the old mineral block when they see one—will come from far points to see these brilliant sparklers.

They will see beautiful cabochons—carbuncle-shaped stones which have been cut but not faceted; 200 pounds of flourescent franklinite, willmite and zincite from New Jersey; a huge exhibit of polished coral geodes from off the coast of Key West, Fla.

Geodes are stones which have cavities lined with crystals. (That's what the dictionary said.)

The mineral show even has an atomic angle.

A Baltimore, Md., laboratory is shipping a display of minerals which are used in making atomic bombs.

Marble-shooting youngsters who brag about their "aggies" can get an eyeful of agate. Frank Woodward of Alpine plans to bring one ton of plume agate.

A Swedish specimen of blue granite will be exhibited by a Minnesota mineral company. Alberta, Canada, has sent a labradite display.

Col. Fain White King, a rock lover from way back, will come from Cairo, Ill., and Dr. Ralph E. Mueller, one of the United States' leading mineral dealers, will fly in from Kansas City, Mo.

Peter Zodac, editor of the Rocks and Minerals magazine in Peekskill, N. Y., will be guest speaker. He is known internationally as one of the world's leading mineralogists.

Exhibits have also been promised from California, Nevada, Missouri, Colorado, Oregon, New York and Arizona.

Officials of the mineral society hope the public won't take the show for granite. They want it made crystal clear the show is free.

Texas Exes Name Lubbock Man As New District Councilman

AUSTIN, April 10 (AP)—L. H. Cullum of Wichita Falls today was elected president of the University of Texas Ex-students association.

Officers were elected on the second day of the university round-up, the equivalent of homecoming celebrations on other campuses.

Other officers elected were first and second vice-presidents Byron Skelton of Temple and Forrest Markward of Fort Worth. Reelected were executive secretary Joan A. McCurdy and treasurer Dennies Macken, both of Austin.

Three new councilmen were chosen. They are J. E. Vickers of Lubbock, for a newly-created district; R. W. Akers of Beaumont, and Josh Groce of San Antonio. Reelected were Angus Wynne of Longview and Dallas; Judge John A. Rawlins of Dallas; H. C. Pipkin of Amarillo; Walter S. Pope of Abilene and Skelton.

Three times more men have coronary heart trouble than women.

'Lone Star' Postoffice Set For Dainaerfield Steel Location

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—Add "Lone Star" to the list of Texas postoffices.

Rep. Patman (D-Tex) said today postal officials have decided to establish a postoffice by that name at the Lone Star Steel company's plant near Daingerfield, Tex.

Charles H. Abernathy has been named acting postmaster, Patman said. The office is to be opened May 1.

Texas City Disaster Damage Suits Grow

HOUSTON, April 10 (AP)—Federal court officials here today said 142 suits seeking approximately $170,000,000 in damages from the federal government have been filed here or in Galveston in connection with the Texas City disaster.

Other suits filed in Waco, Sherman, Oklahoma City, Fort Worth and St. Louis send the overall total to approximately $175,000,000.

Forty-four suits filed here yesterday and today include a $40,000,000 petition filed by the Houston law firm of Fulbright, Crooker, Freeman and Bates on behalf of 300 claimants.

This petition is exceeded only by a $50,000,000 suit filed Thursday by the Monsanto Chemical company.

Neath Leachman, Dallas attorney, filed eight suits seeking a total of $17,000,000 for 400 plaintiffs.

CITY BECOMES POTENTIAL DANZIG

Reds' Trial And Error Policy May Blunder World Into War

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, April 10—Ten days of intense Soviet action apparently based on a policy of trial and error have turned Berlin into a potential 1948 Danzig.

Veteran diplomats here feel it is a policy which may blunder the world into another war no one wants, including the Soviet Union.

At any time during the past 10 days a nervous GI or Russian toting a tommygun might have fired shots as disastrous as those at Sarajevo in 1914. The shots would not have been on any government order but the results could have been the same.

Situation Quiet

As the situation now stands the shots were not fired. The situation is a stalemate. It is quieted for the time being.

Ten years ago from belligerent Berlin Adolf Hitler screamed to the world that the international city of Danzig must be returned to Germany.

A year later the first shots of World War II echoed in Danzig streets.

Today rubble-strewn Berlin is an international city. Like Danzig it is now a pawn between the great powers. It is being quarrelled over.

The Russians say four-power government of Germany is dead. They say four-power government is the only reason for the western allies being in Berlin.

The western powers maintain they have just as much right in Berlin as the Soviet Union. They argue it is just another part of their occupation area, even though it is behind the iron curtain.

State Revenue Fund Increased

AUSTIN, April 10 (AP) — The state government is now taking in seven million dollars more a month than it is spending.

Prosperity in the oil and allied businesses, with corresponding heavy tax collections, was given as the basic reason for the improving outlook for state finances by Comptroller George H. Sheppard.

Sheppard, reporting on revenues and expenditures for March, predicted that the balance in the general revenue fund would continue to rise.

Downward Trend Reversed

The general fund balance was $50,301,231. This is the fund from which most operating expenses of the state government are paid, and it is considered the best barometer of state fiscal affairs.

The last raise in the price of crude oil reached the fund in the form of taxes, and reversed a downward trend in the general fund's balance that started in September and continued until March, Sheppard's report said.

"The school funds of the state are being added to in increasing amounts from royalties, leases and bonuses. In fact the prosperous condition of Texas fiscal affairs and the optimistic outlook are primarily a result of the prosperity of the oil and allied businesses."

Dewey Continues Clean Sweep Of Oklahoma's GOP Delegates

In two district conventions he added three more delegates, running his Oklahoma figure to 15 of the state's total of 20.

In Oklahoma City, the Fifth district named one delegate-at-large, Fred E. Suits, as a new selection, and formally confirmed two other Dewey backers selected and counted earlier at a county convention.

In Tulsa, a victory of Dewey forces over oilman W. G. Skelly resulted in the election of another Dewey delegate in the First district. Since Tulsa has more than half the district vote, it cinches another Dewey delegate from the district at the April 17 convention. Skelly was beaten, 365-295, by former Tulsa Police Commissioner Russell Cobb.

Skelly was backed by Taft supporters.

None of the Dewey delegates are instructed, but all selected so far have announced their support for him publicly.

New Corral Drive-In Theater Sold To Lindsey Corporation

Sale of the new Corral Drive-In theater, recently constructed by P. C. Crown of San Antonio on the Idalou highway, to the Lindsey Theaters corporation was announced Saturday.

Consideration of the transaction was not disclosed by Crown, who last week had announced the theater was erected at a cost of $115,000. The theater has space for 500 automobiles with in-car speakers, individually controlled.

The new-drive in will open Wednesday, said Finis Stilwell, assistant manager of the Lindsey theaters, which operates seven other theaters in Lubbock.

14 Nazi SS Officers Sentenced To Hang As History's Biggest Murder Trial Ends

NUERNBERG, Germany, April 10 (AP)—Fourteen officers of the SS (Elite Guard) were sentenced today to hang for at least a million killings. The sentences wound up the biggest murder trial in history.

The men were leaders of the "Einsatz commandos." These were special extermination squads sent into Russia to do away with peoples classified by the Nazis as racially undesirable.

Two other men drew life terms. Another five were sent to prison for lesser terms ranging down to 10 years.

Judgment Sets Record

The judgment by the American court was the stiffest ever handed down in the Nuernberg war crimes trials.

The international military tribunal which tried top Nazi leaders condemned only 12 defendants to death.

Sentence was pronounced by Judge Michael A. Musmanno of Pittsburgh, presiding over a three-man court, at the end of a trial lasting seven months.

Maj. Gen. Otto Ohlendorf was one of those sentenced to death. He admitted in the trial that his Einsatz group killed 90,000 Jews.

Maj. Heinz Schubert was another of the condemned. He claims distant relationship to Franz Schubert, composer of the "Unfinished Symphony" and other well known works.

Henry Bessemer, an English metallurgist, invented a revolutionary steel-making process in 1856, and the Bessemer method opened the doors to mass production of steel.

French Girl's Hope For Life May Hang By Atomic Thread

PARIS, April 10 (AP)—French doctors appealed tonight to America for a product of atomic energy plants for treatment of a two-year-old girl who otherwise may have only four days to live.

She is Therese Morin De Carnac, daughter of a former French cavalry officer who lives at La Mas De Reys, near Arles, in southern France. She was stricken by acute leukemia last Monday and brought to Paris.

Her doctors—Professors Julien Marie and Max Gelle—say they plan to try a complete change of Therese's blood. If this dangerous treatment fails, they see no hope for her unless a new treatment which they heard had been tried in the United States can be applied here.

This treatment requires use of radioactive phosphorous which the doctors say is a product of American atomic energy plants. Negotiations to ship such drugs to France have been going on for a year, but none has arrived yet, the doctors said.

Minnesota imposes 82 different taxes on her citizens.

Almost Pure Helium Developed By U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 10 (U.P.)—Helium, whose production is a United States government monopoly, is now 99.8 per cent pure and doesn't cost a cent more.

The step-up from the previous 98.2 per cent eliminates "deadweight" impurities, will save transportation costs and permit new and better welding techniques for fabricating materials, the Interior department said.

As far as is known, there is no helium production outside the United States. None of the non-explosive, lighter-than-air gas is exported. Foreign countries use hydrogen, which is lighter than helium but inflammable.

The Bureau of Mines sells helium from its two Texas plants to the government and industry for balloons and dirigibles, to prevent fires in welding metals and to make medical anesthetics non-explosive.

Legion Chiefs Complete Tour

George S. Berry, State Department commander of the American Legion, will return Monday from an official statewide tour of Texas Legion posts with James F. O'Neal, national Legion commander, of New Hampshire.

O'Neal arrived in Houston Sunday to begin his visit. Berry and the national commander began their tour at Port Arthur and concluded it at Amarillo, visiting posts in several cities each day.

The Legion chiefs arrived in Abilene Thursday for a meeting. Friday they addressed the Abilene Rotary club and spoke at Hardin-Simmons university Friday night Mr. and Mrs. Berry were honored with a "homecoming" in Young county, their home for 25 years before moving to Lubbock. Mrs. Berry flew to Abilene Thursday to join her husband.

Saturday the group attended a luncheon at Childress and Saturday night a final meeting was held at Amarillo.

At each stop on his Texas tour, O'Neal explained the Universal Military training bill which has been written by the House Armed Services committee and outlined the accomplishments of the Legion, especially as pertaining to legislation in Congress.

Legion officials accompanying O'Neal on the tour, in addition to Berry, included G. Ward Moody, state adjutant, and Earnest Jones, aide to the national commander George Loome, past national committeeman, joined the group at West. R. J. Gleaton of Stamford, Fifth Division commander, accompanied the group as far as Childress.

Other past commanders traveling with O'Neal and Berry were Miller Ainsworth, Luling, Earnest Goens, Tyler, Drury Phillips, Huntsville, Lou Roberts, Amarillo, and W. J. Danforth, Fort Worth.

Flames Sweep Through Highly Inflammable Plant In Newark

NEWARK, N. J., April 10 (AP)—Flames swept through a naphthalene processing plant today in the heart of a waterfront oil and chemical storage area.

Tanks filled with millions of gallons of inflammable supplies, oil gasoline, sulphuric acid surrounded firemen as they worked for two hours to bring the blaze under control.

Windswept sparks ignited an empty shed 500 feet away, a railroad trestle and a Passaic river dock 1,000 feet away.

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials estimate that 50 per cent of U.S. World War II dead in foreign countries will be permanently buried in foreign cemeteries.

Tests on heartwood from trees that have stood for as long as 15 years after being killed by fire or insects have demonstrated that this wood was as sound and strong as wood from the live tree.

A DOLLAR WENT FARTHER IN WASHINGTON'S DAY

It is said that Washington once threw a silver dollar across the Potomac. Well, a dollar went further in those days. But here is good news for sick people—a price reduction that will make your medicine dollars go further. The makers of Mertox Compound have reduced the price of this excellent tonic approximately 17½.

The amazing results people have been obtaining with this great medicine has kept sales increasing in such volume that this lower price was made possible.

Mertox has been endorsed in writing by hundreds of Texas people. Here is what Mrs. Alma Cummings of Waco wrote us:

"For the past 10 years I have been troubled with severe gas pains which seemed to press against my heart and made it difficult to breathe.

"I had a pain under my heart that was almost unbearable at times. My food just would not digest and soured on my stomach. I had bad dizzy spells and when these attacks occurred, I felt all puffed up.

"I am under weight, but since taking Mertox two weeks, I have gained seven pounds. My appetite has greatly improved and I can now eat lots of things that I couldn't eat before taking this wonderful medicine.

"Since taking Mertox, I feel like a different person. It certainly is wonderful to get up in the morning and do a day's work, without that tired, wornout feeling. I was amazed at the quick action of this medicine."

The above is just one of many from people who report quick action for constipation, stomach disorders, kidney conditions, rheumatic pain, etc.

FOREIGN AID, UMT ENDORSED

Area Newspapermen Are Named To Press Association Offices

AMARILLO, April 10 (AP)—The Panhandle Press association today endorsed foreign aid funds "to hold democratic lines against the Red wave" and universal military training at the final session of its annual convention.

Forrest Weimhold of Levelland was elected president, succeeding J. C. Phillips of Borger. The conference was the largest in recent years, with more than 400 members, employes, and guests registered.

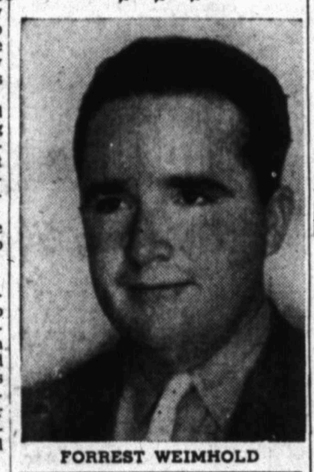

Directors decided to hold the 40th annual meeting in Amarillo April 8 and 9, 1949.

Others Also Honored

The resolution adopted unanimously pledged the association to "alert its public to the ever-increasing menace of Communism editorially, endorse foreign aid funds to hold democratic lines against the Red wave, and to support in every way the program for our military and educational leaders for the universal and technical training program."

Clyde Warwick of Canyon, who has been the association's secretary 35 years, was re-elected. Paul Allingham of Amarillo was elected vice president.

Directors chosen were Phillips; Hubert Curry, Crosbyton; Allen Hodge, Littlefield; Herschel Combs, Memphis; J. C. Howell, Wheeler; Ed Schneider, Tucumcari, N. M., and John Dexter, Guymon, Okla.

FORREST WEIMHOLD

GOPs Lead Truman

gists is almost completely reversed. Their only avowed candidate is now running behind four of the leading Republican possibilities in terms of the popular vote.

2. The four G.O.P. candidates are running a tight race, the difference in their margins over President Truman being very narrow.

3. Despite Governor Dewey's poor showing in the vital Wisconsin primaries, last week, he enjoys a slight advantage in the national poll over his fellow-Republican candidates. Harold E. Stassen, who undoubtedly gained prestige by his smashing victory in Wisconsin, ties with Senator Vandenberg for second place, closely followed by General MacArthur.

4. The lead of these four Republicans over President Truman is so substantial at the moment that the Third-Party candidacy of Mr. Wallace loses much of its tactical potency. In the case of Governor Dewey the margin over Truman completely wipes out the power of Wallace to "throw" the election to the Republican party as far as the popular vote is concerned.

The question asked in today's poll was the same in each "trial heat" except for the name of the Republican candidates. This is the question: "If the presidential elections were being held today, and Truman were running for the Presidency on the Democratic ticket against (Dewey) on the Republican ticket and against Wallace on a third party ticket, how do you think you would vote—for Truman, (Dewey) or Wallace?"

The vote:

Truman-Dewey-Wallace
Dewey	47%
Truman	39
Wallace	7
No opinion	7
Truman-Stassen-Wallace
Stassen	44%
Truman	39
Wallace	7
No opinion	10
Truman-Vandenberg-Wallace
Vandenberg	44%
Truman	39
Wallace	7
No opinion	10
Truman-MacArthur-Wallace
MacArthur	44%
Truman	41
Wallace	7
No opinion	7

Today's results mirror nation-wide sentiment following several events of considerable political significance. They reflect voter reaction to President Truman's forceful message to Congress on military preparedness, the Administration's about-face on Palestine partition, General MacArthur's announcement of his candidacy, the civil rights turmoil in the South, and renewed talk of "drafting" General Eisenhower.

An Institute poll, conducted between March 6 and March 20, gave the following results in a three-way race between President Truman, Mr. Wallace, and Senator Robert A. Taft:

Truman	43%
Taft	36
Wallace	9
No opinion	12

Future surveys will bring the trend of this race up-to-date with those of other leading Republican candidates.

President Truman once before was in an unfavorable position as far as popular support was concerned, but was able to stage a dramatic comeback. His popularity with voters reached a low-point just before the November, 1946, elections and climbed rapidly in the early months of 1947 where it leveled off. That he was able to come back once gives the basis of hope to Truman's supporters that he may be able to weather the new reversal.

Another bright spot in Democratic skies is widespread public approval for the Administration's European Recovery Plan and the popularity of the president's chief cabinet officer, Secretary of State George C. Marshall.

Should the international situation become more acute, many voters probably would not want to do any horse changing in the middle of the stream, just as in the case of President Roosevelt's bid for re-election in 1940 and 1944.

Cotton Group Named

other phases of the broad cotton program of the state committee.

Mechanization Meet Stressed

Fortenberry said yesterday the committee of five probably will not be ready to announce the 20 other members for some time, because due consideration would be given to all phases of the selections so that the committee would be fully representative of the area as a whole.

The mechanized conference was assigned to this area because of its recognized leadership in cotton production, and because the plains area is conducive to big-scale mechanization demonstration, Jackson said.

He said the conference will bring specialists from many parts of the nation, and others interested in cotton mechanization "in numbers that the city probably will not be able to take care of."

Speaking at a luncheon at the Hilton hotel following the cotton outlook meeting at the Palace theatre which adjourned at noon, Jackson stressed the annual cotton research congress to be held at Dallas July 22, 23, and 24.

This world-wide meeting, he said, will give particular emphasis on the program to the South Plains cotton area, and he urged wide attendance from this area.

Meanwhile, Rep. Miller (R-Neb) stuck with his efforts toward getting the Republicans to nominate Gen. Douglas MacArthur. Miller said MacArthur's failure to win more than eight Wisconsin delegates did not kill his chances.

Cotton Problems Discussed Here

in cotton production in this area, where in 13 major cotton producing counties, more cotton is grown than in most individual cotton growing states. Excluding Texas, Arkansas and Mississippi are the only states producing more cotton than the 13 counties.

These counties are Bailey, Lamb, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Terry, Lynn, Gaines, Dawson, Floyd, Garza and Hale.

He gave figures showing the percentage of increase of cotton produced in these counties as compared with the state as a whole. By five-year periods, these were:

Acreage Increase Explained

1915 to 1919, 5 per cent; 1920 to 1924, 4 per cent; 1925 to 1929, 7; 1930 to 1934, 13; 1935 to 1939, 13; 1940 to 1944, 18; 1947, 28. He credited the acreage freeze during the 1930's for the stabilized production during that time.

The increase, he said, was due to a combination of factors, such as 1. Increase in pump irrigation; 2. A shift from grain sorghums; 3. Increase in production efficiency through use of power driven implements; 4. Increased acreage in cultivated land in cotton.

After citing Texas as the chief cotton producing state, and this area as the leading area in the United States, Jones asserted that "naturally, the eyes of the cotton world will be focused upon us, and with our commanding production record we will have greater responsibilities."

Export Market Lacking

"The type and quality of cotton which we produce will exert influence on the whole cotton program," Jones said. "Consequently, it would be well for us to look into the historical aspects of our production, where our cotton goes, the length and grade we produce, and methods which the farmer can employ more effectively to increase his income from this commodity."

Texas faces the problem, he said, of overcoming the lack of an export market, not yet revived since the war. He warned that the carryover, reduced to almost nothing during and since the war, probably will be built up, but that "there is considerable talk that the U. S. will eventually produce only sufficient cotton for its own use, with little for export."

Average length of fiber for the Plains area, for the 1947, was 27/32 of an inch, Jones said. This has been built up during the last ten years from 24/32, but is still two points under the state average.

Staple Length Compared

In 1947, 48 per cent of the total Plains crop was shorter than ⅞, while in the state the total was 21 per cent. Of the Plains crop 33 per cent was ⅞, while in the state this was 18 per cent.

The Plains, Jones said, is more at the mercy of the weather because "we are operating under an average rainfall of 19.5 inches, ranging as low as 8.75 inches."

"We also have," he said, "one of the shortest frost free periods of any major cotton producing region. We have 212 days as compared to about 245 days in the central part of the state. This means that even though we plant cotton of long length there will be certain years the length will be shortened due to both a deficiency in rainfall and our short growing season."

He urged, however, that "it would be well worth our while to be on a continued search for varieties that would fit into our farming operations and at the same time produce cotton of a type in demand by spinners."

Jones believes that in this area cotton is planted too thick, suggesting six to nine inch spacing in the row instead of the present generally used three inches. He thinks this would not cut the yield, but could slightly increase length.

In this area where mechanical harvesting, and pulling instead of picking, is used, Jones believes that cotton grade would be helped if farmers would not allow tramping of cotton when loaded for transportation to the gin. This practice, he said, grinds up leaf particles into "pepper trash," which is not easily removed by gin machinery, whereas larger leaf particles are removed by gin cleaners.

In addition to the speakers a number of leaders of the cotton industry were in Lubbock to attend the meeting.

Heading this delegation was Burris C. Jackson, chairman of the State-Wide Cotton committee.

Others include L. T. Murray, vice president and general manager of Texas Cotton Association, Waco; Elmore A. Torn, executive vice president of Texas Chemurgic Council and in charge of the regional cotton outlook meeting for Texas; Frank C. McClendon, assistant manager of the Southwest section of the Cotton Marketing Branch, PMA, Dallas; and Ivan J. Campbell, associate Editor, Cotton Gin & Oil Mill Press, Dallas.

The regional meeting here was the last of a series held this year in Texas to give cotton producers and all allied with the industry a better insight what is ahead in 1948.

Cooperating agencies include the Texas Cotton Association, Texas Cotton Ginners Association, Texas Cottonseed Association, the Lubbock and West Texas Chambers of Commerce, and Texas Chemurgic Council.

Colombia Revolt

the cities of Tunja, Cali, and Medellin followed the Bogota revolution. It added that the coastal area was quiet.

Americans Moved

One hundred Americans in Bogota, including delegates to the Pan-American conference, were removed to safety from the U. S. embassy offices, under the protection of Colombian army troops.

Communists were accused of plots in two other countries

Paraguay police [illegible] said they scotched a Communist coup with the arrest of four Communist leaders having rifles and grenades in their possession.

The Paraguay police said the coup was linked with similar moves in other countries aimed at interfering with the Inter-American conference. Strong condemnations of Communism have come from conference delegates, and it was expected to adopt some kind of anti-Communist action.

Buildings Seized

Chilean police announced a roundup of Communists who were suspected of complicity in alleged plans for a May day coup against the government. Ten persons, including women, were reported under arrest.

Direct press communications were lacking with the Colombian capital throughout Saturday. American newspaper correspondents were filing reports on the situation over facilities of the State department in Washington. Other advices were picked up in government-controlled radio broadcasts from Colombia, and in dispatches from South American capitals able to get through a rare telephone call to the Colombian capitol.

In violence Friday night at least 35 buildings were sacked and burned and 100 persons—according to the newspaper El Tiempo—were killed.

The assassination of Liberal opposition leader Jorge Eliecer Gaitan set off the rioting. The American correspondents said an air of uncertainty prevailed in Bogota due to fear that his funeral might be the signal for new violence. No date for the funeral was announced.

Lubbock Residents' Opinion Of FDR Shows Little Change; Limit On Terms Is Urged

ago, and that the evidence is indisputable. As to perpetuation in office, despite my admiration for Mr. Roosevelt, I am strongly against a president's tenure of office more than two terms. I think the current efforts to limit such tenure to two terms is logical—as a safeguard to democracy.

MRS. ROBERT E. STEWART, housewife of 2510 Twenty-ninth. My admiration for the late president may blind me to the real significance—but I believe, like we read, that many years must pass before history can accurately assess his high place as a humanitarian, statesman and leader of men. To me, his influence increases with the years. I don't pretend to understand the political implications of Postdam and Yalta, but I'm opinionated enough to guess that Mr. Roosevelt did not sell us down the river. You can read or listen to a Henry Wallace speech and conclude that no prophet of Mr. Roosevelt utters such drivel. I don't believe in more than two terms for a president, though.

MRS. J. WRIGHT KERR, housewife of 2007 Thirtieth and former chairman of the Lubbock County Republican committee—Mr. Roosevelt was a wonderful man in many respects, but a politician if ever there was one. His faults are beginning to show, but so do his enduring qualities that must be held admirable. He probably did as well as he knew how, but he assumed too much power and authority—and one man can't assume too much individually without limiting his value. As to what happened at Yalta and Potsdam, I'm like most of the rest of us: I recall only sketchily what the agreements were. There may be a connection in the agreements and the present misunderstandings with Russia, but if the world can't agree where the blame lies I don't see how the individual can. And I don't think Henry Wallace should be charged against the late president. Mr. Wallace is just an example of what can and does happen in the freedom of a democratic nation. At that, you can say that his ranting has the effect of keeping us awake and making us want to go to the polls to assert our own ideas of what is best for our nation. Decidedly, I'm opposed to so much concentration of power in Washington and believe it's time to have more public say-so in government.

P. C. ROMAINE, Andrews county oilfield worker—Now who in h---l do you think I am, or anybody else, to ask such damnfool questions? I don't know nothing about them places (Potsdam and Yalta) or Henry Wallace, except I'd like to drop a crownblock on him. I'd rather read the sports and comic pages than these guys who try to say what is the matter with the Russians. I was in this last shoot 'em-up and found out that the answer to nations that talk outa the side of their mouths is hand grenades and a bayonet in the belly. You get the pitch? As to President Roosevelt, he's a ---- sight bigger than the little ones going around yelling against him, and him dead and gone. If this means anything to you, you can put it down that there wasn't but one thing I'd'a rather seen: Him to have to quit after two terms. Maybe he'd lived longer that way.

MRS. C. M. HITCHCOCK, 2021 Tenth Street,, businesswoman—My opinion of Roosevelt is the same as when he died. I think he did more to the detriment of the country than any other man in our time—he caused all of the labor trouble we've had and are having. The greatest detriment to the country was his wife. Tehran.

His administration was a labor government. But with his power and influence, if he had lived, our domestic trouble could possibly have been straightened out.

Roosevelt was by far the smartest man the U. S. ever had as far as foreign policies are concerned. He was a first-class diplomat, although I don't know about the details of the deals at Yalta and Tebran.

Wallace and Roosevelt are definitely not in the same class. Wallace may be on a Roosevelt tangent, but I don't think the latter would ever have gone to such extremes.

The connection between the two men is that Wallace gained power and position through Roosevelt.

I definitely favor limitation of the president's office to two terms.

GENE GARRETT, 2416 Thirteenth, nurse. — I still think Roosevelt was a very brilliant man and served the U. S. well. If he made any bad agreements with the Russians at Yalta and Tehran, it was unintentional and could not be foreseen in the light of present circumstances. Roosevelt would not have agreed at all with Wallace's ideas on the achievement of peace. He would have believed in using force to back up our foreign policies. The limitation of presidential terms should depend on the individual and his service to the country. I certainly don't favor any legislation on that issue.

CURTIS C. LEVY, 2612 Twenty-ninth street, bookkeeper at Lubbock Steel Works—I have a higher regard now for Mr. Roosevelt than when he was living. I believe he was one of our greater presidents, and I believe other people feel the same way. As for Wallace, I don't see any connection between him and Mr. Roosevelt, and if there is any, my regard for Mr. Roosevelt would drop immeasurably. I don't blame Mr. Roosevelt for the present trouble with Russia, rather, I believe that Mr. Roosevelt held the key to some things that now are going on and could have straightened them out had he lived . . . Let's say that I believe Mr. Roosevelt had some things up his sleeve that would have kept the Russians in line. Despite my high regard for the late president, I believe we should have a law limiting a president to two terms in office.

L. A. BUNDRANT of 415 Avenue E, building superintendent at city hall—Franklin D. Roosevelt hasn't lost a thing in the eyes of the general public, in my opinion. As for blaming him for the present situation between the U. S. and Russia, it isn't logical. He conceded points to the Rusians at Yalta, but with confidence in his ability to handle any ticklish situation which might come up. He died too soon, leaving the government in less competent hands. Wallace is trying to intimate that his ideas stemmed from the former policies of F.D.R., but he's way off the track. On the question of more than two terms for any president, it shouldn't be done unless we're in a national emergency such as the last war.

A. L. WOOD, Morton route 1, farmer—Roosevelt hasn't gained nor lost any prestige in this country since his death. The people who were against his policies are still against them, and the people who supported him still believe he was right. On the Russian problem, I don't think he had much to do with things as they are now. A few officials in Washington are following his policies, but most of them are changing their ideas since Roosevelt's death.

I don't believe there is any connection at all between Wallace's ideas now and Roosevelt's past beliefs. Although Roosevelt was a good president, two terms is enough for any president, I think.

MRS. VIRGIE ALLISON, 806 Ave. L, saleswoman—In my opinion, Roosevelt has gained considerably in his reputation since his death. Although I don't remember too much about the Tehran or Yalta conference, I can't see where Roosevelt could be blamed for the present tension between Russia and the United States. The Russians have violated most of the terms of the two conferences anyhow. As a great American with a firm belief in the American way of life, I don't believe that Roosevelt would have allowed such sentiments as Wallace now expresses. So he can't be connected with Wallace's present attitude. As for a third term, if a president is doing a good job and people wish to elect him for more than two terms, it's perfectly permissible in a democratic government."

Three Men Hurt

time to prevent a threatened burst of gunfire again.

The victim of the shooting was treated for the wound, released and paid a $15 fine for disturbance. He was returned to the hospital from the police station after his shoulder began bleeding again. The bullet had pierced his shoulder. He declined, however, to press charges in connection with the shooting.

The woman was being held last night on a charge of drunkenness, and the man on a charge of disturbance.

Brothers In Fight

One of three brothers apparently 'got caught over a barrel' in the negro section of Lubbock Saturday afternoon and ended a beer-drinking party in West Texas hospital with some knife wounds. No charge was made by the victim in this case of violence, either, police said.

The three men were observed staggering along East Broadway by police patrolmen who stopped to investigate. They told the police there had been no trouble. But one of the men was bleeding 'pretty badly,' the patrolmen said, so he was carted off to West Texas hospital.

The 'barrel must have been rolled', once the victim was over it, because he suffered a cut on the left forearm, a wound on the flank, and a gash on the right ankle, according to hospital reports. The victim was released after treatment.

Police said that the man, who was from Abilene declined to file a complaint against his brother.

Pickup Sought

Meanwhile, theft of a pickup was reported by J. D. Hufstedler from 1941 Texas Ave. It was described as a 1941 GMC bearing '47 Texas license M/B 6505.

Police were informed by C. O. Young of 2820 Maple that a car had backed into a gas pump, causing heavy damage, and then failed to stop. Description of the automobile and license number was given to authorities.

The highway patrol arrested J. T. Mince, of 1613 Fifteenth, in 3000-block Ave H. about 8 p.m. Saturday. He was charged with reckless driving and three other traffic offenses, and assessed fines totaling $115, according to officers.

Suspect Released

A 21-year-old man who, police were told, had "done some talking about out-running the police in a chase," was questioned Saturday about theft of a car Monday and a subsequent 75-miles-an-hour chase that ended with the stolen car wrecked and three men sprinting away in a cloud of dust.

He was released however, after he had satisfied officials he was not one of those who took the car, owned by Joe Powers of 2414 Fourteenth.

Another man, about 23, a magazine salesman, also was released after his arrest, questioning and a warning.

A woman living in 2700-block North Second telephoned police that an "insulting magazine salesman" had been to her door.

Patrolmen George Hall and Walter West quickly answered and began a search. They found the man and took him to the station.

The woman said he became insulting after she declined to subscribe to any magazines.

She said she paid a magazine agent $5 last year and never received a magazine.

Her neighbor also lost money in the same manner, she told police.

The agent was released to an agent in charge of a crew, who promised he would be responsible for any other such alleged occurrences.

Two wheels and tires were stolen from Snodgrass - Maner company, at 914 Ave. H, police were informed. Value was listed as $25.

Congratulations

Mr and Mrs. E. L. Brewer, of 118 Ave. H, on birth of a girl weighing 5 pounds 2 ounces, at 4:34 p. m. Saturday in Porter-Sistrand clinic. The father is a driver for Sunset Motor lines.

J. R. Lynch, Van Alstyne, was on the southbound car, "I saw the other car coming about 100 yards away around a curve," he said.

Mrs. Lillian Christie, of Dallas, on the same car, said: "I saw our motorman turn and start for us. He bumped into me and I was knocked down. Then the whole front of the car fell in on me. I was not unconscious."

A score of ambulances took the injured to hospitals. In some cases attendants gave first aid at the scene. The wreck created a tremendous traffic jam on the nearby highway and police worked furiously to untangle the tieup.

Most of the persons injured were suffering from shock and bruises. Others had broken bones and were cut by flying glass.

Immediately after the crash, a young woman, whose name was not learned, wandered into a nearby cafe at the Highland Park airport in a dazed condition. O. K. Olsen, whose wife operates the cafe, took the woman to a hospital.

J. S. Crutcher of McKinney, a passenger on the northbound car, said he was asleep when the crash came. His head hit the window glass temporarily dazing him. His first impression was of flying glass and people screaming. A man ahead of him was calling for help. Crutcher and another man went to the rear end of the car and kicked a door open.

U. S. Companies Will Be Given Contracts To Seek Mexico Oil

MEXICO CITY, April 10 (AP)—United States oil interests, barred from Mexico for 10 years since expropriation by the government, will resume operations in this country.

The government oil monopoly, Pemex, announced today contracts had been signed with Cities Service Co., to prospect for oil and develop new fields.

Previous reports said the government also was negotiating with Phillips Petroleum company, the Texas company, the Sun Oil company.

To Assume Costs

The government has sought to run the oil business since expropriation March 18, 1938. At that time Mexico took over all American oil properties and negotiations were begun for cash settlements.

Pemex in announcing the Cities Service contract did not give details, but private sources said the oil company would assume the cost of drilling wells.

Prior to the 1938 expropriation most of Mexico's oil was pumped by United States, British and Dutch companies.

After years of negotiation between governments, Mexico agreed to pay U. S. owners $23,995,991 plus interest. The companies estimated their gross loss at $104,363,000. The debt to U. S. owners has been paid.

The British-Dutch debt was settled for $81,250,000 with interest from the expropriation date until 1962, the date of final payment. Experts had valued these properties as high as $250,000,000.

Political Figures Needled At Gridiron Club's Annual Frolic

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—President Truman, a squad of Republican presidential possibilities and Henry Wallace's third party were needled by the Gridiron club tonight at its annual spring frolic.

The central theme of the series of skits and songs was the 1948 presidential campaign.

The club, composed of Washington newspaper men, poked fun at the collapse of Democratic solidarity and the scramble for the Republican nomination. Some 500 guests attended the dinner show.

Queen Elizabeth of Romania, who died in 1916, was the author of a number of books, written under the pen name of Carmen Sylva.

Good Crowd Attends Parade Of Quartets

The first annual Parade of Quartets, presented by the Lubbock chapter of the S.P.E.B.S.Q.S.A. last night in Senior High school auditorium, attracted a crowd of approximately 1,000 persons to hear some of the outstanding barbership quartets in the nation.

A variety of music, interspersed with comedy on the part of the singers, contributed to a very successful show, with the audience getting into the spirit of the fun with a round of community singing led by George Dale. Jim Black was master of ceremonies for the parade.

Highlight of the show was the appearance of the Keynoters, middle states district champions from Newton, Kan. Their comic rendition of the opera Rigoletto had the crowd "rolling in the aisles."

Although not on the original program, the Collegians of Wichita, Kan., ran a close second to the Keynoters. Appearing in place of the Beacon Four from Wichita, which was unable to appear, the college boys upheld the city's reputation. Robert Taylor, tenor of the group, entertained with an impromptu session of boogie woogie on the piano that would have been the answer to a jitterbug's dream.

The Lubbock chapter's entries in the parade, the Westernaires, ranked among the top quartets in last night's show. The quartet, composed of Bob Dennis, Bob Hufstedler, Jack Hall and R. S. Roberson, sang "Ragtime Cowboy Joe," "Wait Till the Sun Shines, Nellie," and "Castle On the River Nile."

A chorus of 70 voices from the Lubbock chapter of the organization and the High School A Capella choir under direction of J. H. Penn added variety and enjoyment to the program. Other quartets appearing in last night's parade of quartets were the Melody Menders of Pampa, the Boresome Foursome of Oklahoma City, Okla., the Lionaires of Wichita, Kan., the Squeaky Door Four of Pampa, and the Flying L quartet from Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Bankers To Meet In Lubbock Next Year

EL PASO, April 10. (AP)—Southwest bankers ended their three day conference here Saturday on an optimistic note for the future and election of new officers by members of the South Plains Bankers association.

The association voted to hold its next convention in Lubbock, April 21, 1949.

New officers elected to head the association for the coming year were:

President, Herman A. Dobbs, Odessa; vice-president Bruce Zorns, Brownfield; secretary-treasurer, B. T. Cardwell, Odessa.

The optimistic note for the future was sounded by Floyd Childress speaking on cooperation between small town banks and city banks. Childress said there is greater opportunity today than ever before for cooperation between banks.

T. C. Root, dean of the school of business administration, Texas Technological College, Lubbock, scored the national administration of the past 16 years for increasing government controls.

Oklahoma Pastor To Address Graduates

The baccalaureate address for the 1948 Texas Technological college graduating class at the college stadium June 6 will be given by Dr. William H. Alexander, prominent religious leader in the Southwest and pastor of First Christian church in Oklahoma City, President W. M Whyburn has announced.

Dr. Alexander has gained recognition in his native Oklahoma and in the Southwest through his Sunday radio programs, his radio hour polling more listeners than any other religious feature presented on the air. He is widely known also for his leadership among youth groups.

The baccalaureate service, starting at 6 p. m., is expected to honor the largest group of degree candidates in the college's history, with 500 students scheduled for graduation.

Arabs Bombard Jews In Savage Fighting

JERUSALEM, April 10 (AP) — Arab field guns bombarded Jewish suburbs on the outskirts of Jerusalem tonight in savage fighting for control of the highway to the Holy City from the coast.

From positions in the Judean mountains west of the city the Arab guns hurled eight 25-pound shells into the suburb of Givat Shaul (Hill of Saul).

This was only 1,000 yards from Deir Yassin, which was seized yesterday by Irgun Zvai Leumi and the Stern gang, two extremist underground groups. They said 200 Arabs were killed, half of them women and children.

The first confirmed reports said five Jews were killed and several wounded by the shelling.

A communique from Haganah, the Jewish army, said tonight 137 Arabs were killed in the last 36 hours in the battle for Kastel, the main target in today's struggle for a half dozen strongpoints along the Jerusalem end of the vital Judean mountain highway to the coastal plain.

City Official Solves Resignation Worry

TYLER, April 10 (AP)—Brownsboro City Commissioner Reuben Barton wanted to resign—but there was nobody to accept his resignation. He quit, anyway.

Brownsboro didn't hold a city election this year, so Mayor Ivy Fulgham and the other commission member started resigning. Pretty soon, only Barton was left, and he was almost stuck.

But he figured the problem out simply enough. He just addressed his resignation "To whom it may concern. . ."

Union Convicted Of Labor Act Violation

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—For the first time under the Taft-Hartley act a union was found guilty today of refusing to bargain with an employer.

The same case marks the first time that a trial examiner for the National Labor Relations board has held that a chain of retail grocery stores comes under the federal labor law.

The union is Los Angeles local No. 421 of the AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters; the employer is A. & P.

Examiner William E. Spencer found that the union violated the refusal-to-bargain provision of the law by insisting on an illegal closed shop contract in Los Angeles A. & P. stores and deadlocking negotiations.

The office of the NLRB general counsel had charged both the local union and its parent organization with three unfair labor practices.

Crew Fights Forest Fires Near Marshall

LUFKIN, April 10 (AP)—A traveling crew of 15 firefighters is in the Marshall area fighting forest fires in northeast Texas, J. O. Burnside, chief of fire protection for the Texas Forest Service said this afternoon.

Burnside said only a few fires were burning in the area of Harrison, Bowie and Red river counties but the dry forests in that section were conducive to fires. The situation may become worse, he said.

The firefighters have six specially equipped jeeps.

Planes from the Lufkin field office of the forest service flew over the northeast Texas area this week after poor visibility made it impossible for men in fire towers to spot the blazes adequately. Seven fires were seen Thursday by the planes.

The firefighters were recruited in Conroe, Woodville and Kirbyville as emergency crews and equipped with bedding and the jeeps. Thursday night was spent in Henderson but rains in that area lowered the danger of forest fires.

Yesterday was spent fighting the fires and today some fire-fighting was being done.

Burnside said the Lufkin office had no report on the number of fires burning today.

SAN ANTONIO MEN SHOT

SAN ANTONIO, April 10 (U.P.)—Two San Antonio men were shot to death today in shootings less than 15 minutes apart. Dead were Homer Spruce, 95, retired rancher of the Marathon and Alpine areas, and Fred W. Walter, 55, transit company employe. Justice F. H. Talbert returned a verdict of suicide in each of the two cases, both of which occurred in the same neighborhood.

Tax Suit Against CIO That Sued CIO May Leave Judge (And The Reader) Confused

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, April 10.—Some judge is going to be considerably confused in the near future.

And Attorney General Price Daniel may have to whistle for his $27 in taxes.

The CIO is being sued for the taxes, but it isn't the CIO that is a labor union but another CIO that previously has sued the CIO union.

Only man happy about the affair is Dallas Deputy Sheriff L. T. Tompkins who finally found someone who would accept a summons.

Here's How It Happened

The "Fight for Free Interprise, Inc." received a charter from the state for a "Congress of Industrial Organizations" Oct. 27, 1945. Then the Free Enterprise group, organized in San Antonio, sued the union, seeking to prevent the union from using the name "Congress of Industrial Organizations" or "CIO."

When the legal firing died away the boot was on the other foot. The Free Enterprise group had been enjoined from using the terms.

Now Texas Attorney General Daniel is attempting to collect a $27 tax bill from the Free Enterprise group. This tax includes $20 franchise tax for 1947, a 10 per cent penalty for not filing a report for that year, and 25 per cent penalty for not paying the tax.

Yesterday, Deputy Sheriff Tompkins shoved a summons in the hand of A. R. Hardesty, CIO regional assistant director.

Tompkins looked mighty sad when he entered the CIO office, Hardesty reported, but brightened up considerably when he'd gotten the summons off his hands.

Officers Have Trouble

Oliver says that the summons shows that Tompkins is not the only deputy who has had trouble with the legal paper.

Notations show that it knocked around San Antonio for quite a spell before it finally landed in Dallas county Sheriff Steve Guthrie's lap.

The original president of the CIO-Free Enterprise group was William Walker, according to Lester Walden of Fort Worth, who was the union's attorney in the court battles with the Free Enterprise group. Walden said today that the last time he heard of Walker, he was in Tennessee.

Walden said that he hadn't heard anything from the non-union CIO in some time. He hasn't had any answers lately to letters he's written the organization.

Oliver said the union hadn't decided just what to do about the summons.

The tax suit was filed in 126th District court in Austin and was signed by Assistant Attorney General Durword Goolsby, acting for Atty. Gen. Daniel.

Contest Entrant Is Going To Check Up

MILWAUKEE, April 10. (AP)—Benjamin Carney thinks he was gypped by a jingle out of a $15,000 home.

To prove it, he's going to read jingles—85,000 of them.

Carney claims the last line he submitted in a jingle contest was the same as the one that won the home.

Circuit Judge Charles Aarons will let him prove it. He ruled today Carney could re-check all 85,000 of the entries.

If he's right, he will get a "home or the equivalent in cash", said the contest sponsors, the Milwaukee board of realtors.

Corpse Littered Roadways, Burning Private Dwellings Mark Violence Of Bogota Revolt

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the eyewitness dispatch of the revolution in Bogota, Colombia. It was written by a Pan-American union employe. It was sent to the State department in a pooled dispatch).

By ALFONSO CORREA
(Distributed By United Press)

BOGOTA, Colombia, April 10—I decided to leave the embassy to go to the Capitolio to hunt my hat and coat, which I had left there when the revolution broke out. I passed several buildings on fire, many of them private homes.

In a narrow street leading to the plaza, I saw three bloody corpses, lying in the rainy roadway. In front of a drugstore I heard a boy moaning. He asked my help, pointing to a rag-covered leg. He lifted the rags to show a bloody leg bone. Other people around said they could do nothing for him because the public services were completely disorganized.

When I entered the plaza, a group of half a dozen soldiers shouted "Go away," and when I continued to walk toward the Capitolio they pointed guns at me and said they'd shoot. Not wanting to be killed, I walked away.

Then I tried another entrance and in walking up a side street, I saw at least six more bodies. A soldier again drove me away at gun point. Then I met a rebel. I told him I was a Brazilian and hungry. He took me to a boarding house where I had something to eat.

There were about 20 men and women there and it looked like some kind of liberal headquarters. I told them about the boy and they said they could do nothing for him although they noted his location.

They said, "We are sorry this happened, but the situation is out of control. That's war."

Life Underwriters Hear Talk On New Income Tax Provisions

Approximately 150 persons, with certified public accountants and members of the Lubbock Bar association as guests, attended the luncheon.

Jackson spoke on the new income tax laws as they affect estate taxes and life insurance. Following his talk, an open forum with questions and answers, was conducted.

John Speer, president, presided at the luncheon.

Strike Of Livestock Handlers Is Authorized At Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, April 10 (U.P.)—The strike strategy committee of the CIO United Livestock handlers local 59 today had authorization of its membership to call a strike which would tie up the Fort Worth stockyards.

Stock handlers voted unanimously last night to strike in support of their wage demands. Tom Ward, president of the local, said the union will request a meeting with stockyards officials before a date for the strike is considered.

Approximately 90 handlers would be affected at the yards. The men have continued to work during the packinghouse workers strike now in progress.

The union said its demands for a 29 cents per hour wage increase have been countered by an offer of three cents an hour from the stockyards management.

A strike could be called at any time, since wage negotiations were re-opened Feb. 12 after the union had given the necessary 60-day notice.

Softball Loop Opens Play

Baldridge bakery, the defending champion of the South Plains Softball league, will open 1948 loop play against the Thomas Jewelers at 8 o'clock Tuesday night at "Jumbo" Webster park.

Loy Hubbard, speedball hurler who was voted the most outstanding pitcher in the Texas Amateur Athletic federation state meet at San Angelo last year, is slated to start on the mound for the Bakery crew; with G. W. Warden of Wink, who pitched his team to two victories in the state meet, named to hurl for the Thomas nine.

Cloverlake Dairy, winner of the county league championship in '47 and a newcomer to the South Plains loop, will tangle with the Bluebonnet Sunbeamers in the second tilt of the opening night double-bill at 9:15.

Heading the Bluebonnet representatives will be Jackie Neel, one of the finest softball pitchers in the nation, and stalwarts Mickey and Willis James, Roy and Ray Butler, Ralph Earhart and Floyd Lawhorn.

Golden Light Coffee, the fifth member in the Plains circuit, is slated to go into action Thursday night against the Jewelers.

Tickets On Sale

Lubbock Jaycees will operate the "Jumbo" Webster field this year, officials have announced, and season tickets are now on sale for $9.60. The season ducats, which insure admission to more than 100 softball tussles this season, are available at the Jaycee office. Tickets purchased at the field will be 50 cents.

All of the league teams have strengthened their squads during the last few months and officials predict that play will be closer than it was in the exciting loop flag chase last year. Several nationally-recognized players, including Neel and Hubbard, should give the circuit the best hurling in the Southwest.

Knutson Meets Masked Marvel

A double main event will feature the regular wrestling card at Sled Allen's arena Wednesday night, with Dr. Gil Knutson of Davenport, Iowa, battling the Masked Marvel in the spotlight bout.

Knutson challenged the masked grappler following the program last week and the Marvel, a rowdy crowd-pleaser, immediately agreed to the match. The bout should provide plenty of fireworks for Lubbock mat fans.

Ray (Big Train) Clements of Corpus Christi, who has had a large following on the South Plains since he made his entrance into the wrestling circuit here several years ago, is slated to meet Jack Wentworth of Toronto, Canada, in the first two of three falls main go. Both Clements and Wentworth are about the same size and equally aggressive—a combination that always results in a fast, interesting bout.

A "science vs. brawn" match is scheduled in the preliminary setto, when Rowdy Pat O'Dowdy of Weatherford clashes with Ace Abbott of Abilene. O'Dowdy is widely-known as the roughest competitor in West Texas mat circles and will be favored to defeat the less-experienced Abbott.

Tickets will go on sale at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning at Wylie's drug.

NCAA's "Sanity Code" Aimed At Cleaning Up Collegiate Sports

KANSAS CITY, April 10. (AP)—Enforcement machinery of the NCAA'S "Sanity Code" is so set up that "light minded" member schools could find themselves playing one another in athletic contests if they fail to observe the rules.

That was the heart of a message brought the commissioners of the nation's ten major conferences by NCAA President Karl Leib last night.

"We are past the talking stage," Dr. Leib said. "We are now ready to remedy the evils we have been talking about for the past several years."

Robinson Predicts U. S. Will Win Cage Tourney At London

FORT WORTH, April 10 (AP)—Jackie Robinson, who played basketball well enough in New York to be named on the American Olympic squad, is winding up a revival meeting tomorrow.

He took time out from his preaching long enough today to say it's a cinch America will win at London.

Jackie is an ordained Baptist minister and he's here helping his old friend and college classmate, the Rev. Bo Baker, pastor of Birchman Avenue Baptist church, with a youth revival.

LONGHORNS IN RELAYS

AUSTIN, April 10 (AP)—University of Texas trackmen head for the Kansas Relays next week hoping to turn in performances as brilliant as those of several Longhorns in previous years.

Russell Will Hurl For Locals; Club Roster Changes Announced

Billy George "Cotton" Russell, 18-year old Fort Worth pitcher for the Lubbock Hubbers, will be entrusted with the task of stopping the Amarillo Gold Sox this afternoon at 3, when the two old rivals of the West Texas-New Mexico League tangle at Sam Rosenthal Field.

Manager Jackie Sullivan said that he was beset with sore-arm hurlers, but felt that Russell might be able to hold the heavy-hitting Amarillo nine in check. If he fails to make the grade, Sullivan will throw Royce Mills, his ace relief hurler, into the tilt.

Against the Hubbers the Gold Sox will toss two lefthanders, Ben Lorino starting the game and Nick Michetti relieving him midway through the game, with Right-hander Billy Martin also slated to hurl.

Tickets will go on sale at 1:30 p. m. at the ball park.

This will be the first time this season two of the most bitter rivals in the WT-NM league have come to grips and a near-capacity crowd is expected.

Bob Crues, the slugging outfielder, and Vince Liberto, second base, are the only two Gold Sox players remaining from last year's club. But Crues will be well-remembered by Lubbock fans. He hit a solid .380 for the season and was one of the most feared batters in the loop. Liberto hit an even .300.

Meanwhile, the front office of the Hubbers has been busy, with the announcement that two new players had been signed, two players had been given unconditional releases and a fifth player had reported.

Released outright yesterday were Sam Haughwout, pitcher, who did not report for spring training this year, and Ken Pierce of Cooper, a student at Texas Tech and candidate for the outfield.

Pierce appeared in two practice games here, getting two singles in five times at bat, scoring two runs and driving in two scores. He handled one chance in the field for an error, had no putouts and no assists. Hubber officials believe that, with additional seasoning, he might make the grade.

The two players acquired by the Hubbers are Marvin Alexander, a righthanded pitcher from Dallas who stands six feet two and weighs 195 pounds, and Charles Scarborough, an outfielder who stands six feet two, weighs 211 pounds and throws and bats righthanded. Manager Sullivan says that with the acquisition of Scarborough, he will have the hardest hitting outfield and the best throwing outfield in the league.

Russell Clay, an outfielder, reported Saturday afternoon and will open the game in left field for the Hubbers today. He was picked up on option from the Austin club and is one of five players who are in the process of reporting here.

Dallas Rebel Club Is Sold

DALLAS, April 10 (AP)—Richard W. Burnett, wealthy Gladewater oil man, has bought the Dallas Baseball Club at the largest price ever paid for a franchise in the Class AA Texas league.

The deal will be completed Tuesday and will make Burnett the operator of more baseball holdings than any other person in Texas.

Hubber Club Included

Specific figures were withheld but Burnett paid more than $500,000 for the Dallas properties The purchase has been in the process of negotiation for more than 10 days.

Announcement of the transaction was made jointly by Burnett and George Schepps, president of the Dallas Club who will remain for an indefinite period, but without contract at present, as business manager.

Burnett acquires full title, debt-free, to the franchise to operate a baseball team in Dallas and the territory protected by the laws of organized baseball; ownership of all players that now are the property of the Dallas club here, at Lubbock of the West Texas-New Mexico league and at Odessa of the Longhorn league under working agreements, which Burnett will continue, and the lease on Rebel stadium in Dallas, which has eight seasons to run.

The Gladewater man already owns the Texarkana club of the Big State league. His son-in-law, Ralph Weiser, is business manager at Texarkana.

The deal, transferring the Dallas franchise to Burnett, will become official on the very eve of the opening of the Texas league race. At midnight Tuesday, Burnett steps in as Dallas' new owner.

Wednesday night Burnett will see his ball club open the season against Tulsa. The Rebels will be managed by Jimmy Adair, who is under a one-year contract and will be retained as skipper.

Sale Price Not Disclosed

Prentice Wilson, attorney for Burnett, explained the transaction to newsmen, stating that only minor details remained to be worked out. He would not reveal the money involved but said it was "a very substantial sum." Schepps asserted that it would break all records for sale price in this league by a wide margin.

The entire amount is to be paid at the time the transaction is

Between The Lines . . .

By Joe Kelly

Only memories remain of Friday's baseball game here between the Cleveland Indians and the New York Giants, but the memories are apt to linger for a good many months. Lubbock was fortunate to secure these two great baseball teams for, regardless of how they finish the season in their respective leagues, many of the men who appeared here will have continued to hit the headlines.

Take Big John Mize, the slugging first baseman of the Giants, for instance. Mize is having a dismal spring season, insofar as his home run production is concerned. The New York writers were talking about it before the game. Last spring the Giants hit 36 homers in the first 30 spring games and Mize and Willard Marshall collected half of them. This spring the Giants have hit 36 homers in 25 games, bettering last year's mark, but Mize and Marshall have contributed only three circuit clouts to the total.

When he was here, Mize picked up three singles, no homers, which task he left in the capable hands of Walker Cooper, Lucky Jack Lohrke and Sid Gordon. The Giants are worried about Mize, although there is some question in their minds. He always has a spring slump, but—. And there they stop, for they are afraid that if they speculate farther, they may face the fact that possibly Mize is getting ready for his last year. That would be a blow to the Giants.

Speaking of Jack Lohrke, some persons may be wondering how he picked up his nickname of "Lucky." Lohrke was stationed in the Central Pacific and ordered on a flight. After the ship had been warmed up and was ready to takeoff, flight orders for him suddenly were cancelled. The plane took off and moments later crashed, killing all aboard.

He used up his first chance on that. The second one came last year when he was playing ball on the West Coast. You may remember that a bus crashed over a mountain cliff during a storm, killing every ball player on board. Lohrke would have been a passenger on the bus, except that he received orders to report to the Giants just before the bus left. So the nickname has been earned.

Bob Feller was in high spirits Friday. He thrilled hundreds of kids at the Sport Center, signing his magic name and speaking to almost everyone. He also brought a laugh when he said that Ted Williams could have appendicitis every day he faced Feller. And another one when he replied, in answer to a joke that the Washington Senators were the team to beat, that he wished they were the only club the Indians had to worry about.

The Indians were most cooperative about everything, personal appearances, autographs and all that goes with being a big leaguer. The Giants were less so. But Manager Mel Ott slipped a partially broken bat under the fence to a young fan during the game and upwards of a dozen balls also were flipped out during the contest by the Giants. And we couldn't help noticing Whitey Lockman in left field partially turned toward the fans, talking to them while the game was in progress.

Both Manager Lou Boudreau of the Indians and Manager Mel Ott of the Giants believe that their clubs will be in the thick of the pennant fight. Lou particularly was pleased with the signing of Russ Christopher from the Athletics and thinks that Russ might go a long way toward helping Cleveland to its first pennant. Ott is a little less cheerful, although he has a stronger hitting club. The home run still wins ball games that aren't well pitched, but the Giants need one more top hurler. Sheldon Jones probably will stick, after his showing here, but the Giants need an established star who can win 20 games.

The Giant and Indian players expressed amazement at the beautiful Rosenthal Field and also at the crowd, the best they have had at any place outside of Los Angeles. The Cleveland and New York writers also expressed surprise and both clubs already have indicated their intention of returning next year.

Raiders Scrimmage In Opening Week

Texas Tech football players ended their first week of spring practice with a scrimmage session Saturday afternoon in the Jones Stadium and the results were not entirely displeasing to the coaching staff.

It was the second scrimmage of the opening week of spring practice and, while the players didn't kill themselves under the watchful eyes of the coaching staff, they grew a bit salty. Contact was hard and the backs broke into the open for several good runs.

Coach Morgan Watches

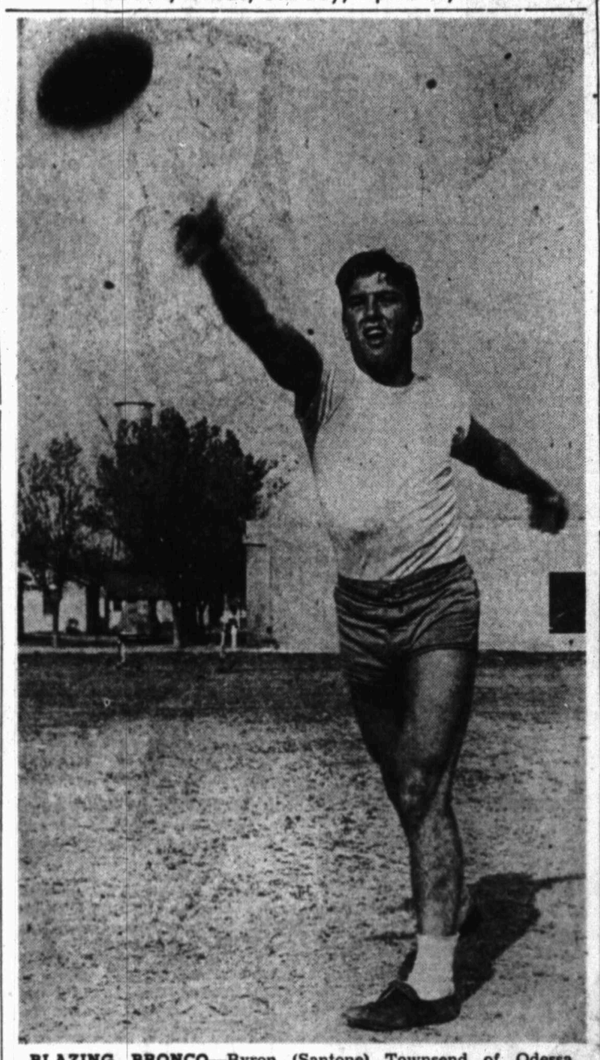

Coach Dell Morgan, usually on the taciturn side, watched closely from behind the offensive team, suggesting plays and keeping close tabs on the situation. Despite the early point in the season, several linemen and backs showed up to good advantage.

The teams, since there are upwards of 90 candidates for the 1948 Red Raider varsity, will be given even greater opportunity to display their ability this week. Additional scrimmage is on the bill and many of the less able players probably will face elimination.

Guynn Is Casualty

One casualty has been reported to date, when Wayne Guynn, a freshman guard last year and a leading candidate for a starting position this season, pulled up with a sore shoulder. It is expected to heal rapidly and should not handicap him in practice too much. Other players had minor bruises and sprains after the two-day scrimmage, but none is in bad shape.

BLAZING BRONCO—Byron (Santone) Townsend of Odessa, above, will be one of the top West Texas trackmen to compete in the first annual South Plains Relays Saturday at the Texas Tech oval. Townsend, all-state fullback with the Broncos last fall, recently set a new high school discus mark of 150 feet, one inch, at the Border Olympics and holds the high jump record of six feet, three inches, at the Southwestern Exposition. Big Byron is rated as the favorite to cop individual scoring honors in the Relays. (Photo courtesy Odessa American).

High School Stars Compete Here

South Plains Relays Attracts Top Teams

Approximately 30 of the top cinder path teams of West Texas and eastern New Mexico will battle for the championship of the first annual South Plains Relays Saturday at the Texas Tech oval, with many of the outstanding schoolboy performers of the state competing for individual honors.

Entries from 23 schools had been received by the City Recreation department, one of the sponsoring organizations for the Relays, late last night and more are expected before the deadline at noon tomorrow.

Teams entered in the track feature are Amarillo, Childress, Odessa, Abilene, Big Spring, Pampa, Lubbock, Levelland, Brownfield, White Deer, Crane, Roscoe, Tahoka, O'Donnell, Hobbs, N. M., Plainview, Pecos, Seminole, Andrews and Seagraves. Other representatives from Wichita Falls, Midland, Hobbs, Tex., and Monahans have notified officials that they plan to attend the meet, but have not turned in their entry blanks.

Stellar individuals on the rosters of the team entries include Byron (Santone) Townsend of Odessa, Carl (Red) Mayes of Pampa, Bob Hoefer of Amarillo, Bill Howton of Plainview, Jim Johnson and Richard Johnson of Lubbock, Leon Lepard of Big Spring and Billy Rogers and "Legs" Eddington of Abilene.

All teams will compete in one division, officials have announced, regardless of their classification under the Texas Interscholastic league setup. The rules of the league will apply in all phases of the Relays, however, and the events will be conducted under the standard procedure of the league.

Preliminary events are scheduled to get underway at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning, according to a tentative program revealed by officials, with the finals slated at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Team and individual awards will be made in every event.

The Relays are sponsored by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, City Recreation department, Texas Technological college and the Lubbock public schools.

Regional Athletic Meet Slated Here

Texas Technological college will be the center of the championship play-offs in the Region 1 Interscholastic League meet April 24.

Director General Ernest Wallace said that this year three champions will be recognized in each interscholastic event with winners from Districts AA, A and B competing within their respective conferences. Prior to this year's meet, the winners in each of the conferences have competed against each other.

Other changes which affect the league this year include an extended boundary and additional membership in Region 1. The Texas Tech campus will be host to teams from schools east of Lubbock through Wichita Falls; to the south through Monahans and El Paso; north through Amarillo and Dalhart and west to El Paso.

The junior high schools only from the cities will be included in the Region 1 meet here, Wallace explained. Senior high schools will compete in a similar meet in Abilene.

Three times the number of contests will be underway during the day-long competition this year with three distinct meets. It probably will be necessary to begin the tennis matches on Friday afternoon, April 23, Wallace said.

Eighteen Records Smashed By Schoolboy Performers

By EARL SCUDDAY
Avalanche-Journal Sports Writer

Lubbock and Seminole High schools coasted to the team championships of the District 2-AA and 4-A track and field meets Saturday afternoon at the Texas Tech oval, as an amazing total of 18 new records were chalked up by the stellar cinder path performers of the South Plains.

Lubbock tallied 100 points to cop Class AA honors, with Plainview gaining the runner-up spot with 28. Lamesa took third with 12 and Brownfield trailed with two points.

Class A Fight Close

The race for the Class A leadership was much closer, but the Seminole squad posted 59 points for a decisive margin over Andrews, in second place with 35¼. Denver City gained third with 13 7/12, O'Donnell fourth with 10 1/3, and Levelland and Tahoka tied for the fifth slot with 10 points each. Other entries were Sundown, with nine points, Seagraves with 3 1/3, Morton with one and Central Junior High of Lubbock, which barely scratched with ¼ point.

Lanky Bill Howton of Plainview led the assault on the AA marks with a record-shattering 15 seconds in the high hurdles and 23.3 seconds in the low hurdles, although two Lubbock Westerners—Richard Johnson and Charley Williams—turned in two of the most sensational times of the afternoon. Johnson churned the mile run in 4:48.4, despite a stiff wind and blowing sand, and Williams blazed through the 220-yard dash in 22.5 seconds.

Andrew's Jack Young grabbed the spotlight in the 4-A meet with record-making first places in the high hurdles, broad jump and 220-yard dash; but Seminole's Val Joe Walker turned in new marks in winning the century dash, 200-yard low hurdles and anchoring the sprint relay quartet.

Other top performances in the 4-A meet included Richard Stanfield's shot toss of 41 feet, 10¼ inches for Seminole, the 2:05.8 posted by Sundown's John Ethridge in the 880 run and the high jump effort of 5 feet, 10 inches, made by Carter of Tahoka.

Regional Meet April 24

Most of the teams competing in the meets concentrated on qualifying the maximum number of squadmen possible for the important regional meets, scheduled April 24 at the Texas Tech oval, and therefore did not field their strongest candidates in every event. All the boys who won one of the top three places in any event Saturday will be eligible for the regional events, officials announced.

Approximately 300 track fans braved the strong wind and blowing sand to see the district competition.

Beaumont To Engage Houston In Texas Loop Opener Wednesday

Indians, Cats In Night Game

DALLAS, April 10 (AP) — The same clubs, the same umpires and the same managers except one will be there Wednesday when the Texas league opens its fifty-third campaign—and the season is expected to follow the same trend of the past two, with record attendance.

President J. Alvin Gardner today forecast more than 2,000,000 paid admissions would be recorded when the 154-game schedule was played out. The all-time high is 1,948,181, set last year.

Tulsa At Dallas

Beaumont, as usual, gets the privilege of the first game. The Exporters will open with Houston in a 'ay tilt at home. Wednesday night Oklahoma City will be at Fort Worth, Shreveport at San Antonio and Tulsa at Dallas.

Fort Worth's blustering Cats have been made favorites in most quarters to lead the season race with San Antonio and Houston given top ratings.

San Antonio will be opening a new park—a park many claim is the finest in the minors. The other clubs will have improved lay-outs and several have been enlarged.

Fort Worth has increased to 12,500, Houston to 11,500. These two places appear to have the best chance of beating the opening day attendance record of 16,018 set by Fort Worth 18 years ago.

Johnny Keane returns as manager at Houston, Pat Ankenman to Oklahoma City, Salty Parker to Shreveport and Les Burge to Fort Worth. Jimmy Adair, at San Antonio awhile last year, will manage Dallas; Gus Mancuso transfers from Tulsa to San Antonio and Al Vincent from Dallas to Tulsa. The only new manager to the loop is Chick Autrey at Beaumont.

Opening Schedule

Houston at Beaumont (Day)—Chester Fowler, Albert Atkins and Frenchy Arceneaux.

Oklahoma City at Fort Worth (Night) — Perry Hunter, Buster Capps and Earl Sandt.

Shreveport at San Antonio (Night)—Mike Williamson, Andy Andrews and Ernest Gigliello.

Tulsa at Dallas (Night) — Bill Wilson, Milt Steengrafe and Fred Sigler.

"Fort Worth and San Antonio are rated the strongest clubs at this time," Gardner commented, "but several others, like Houston, Tulsa and Beaumont, will get help from their major league connections and soon. They all look good with what they have and what they are bound to get."

New Record Expected

Gardner reported that Fort Worth, which has enlarged its park to 12,500 capacity — the largest in the league—was confident it would hit the 400,000 home attendance mark, which would beat the record of 382,275 set last year by Houston, which won the pennant and the Dixie Series.

WESTERNERS IN ACTION—Lubbock High's diamond hopefuls, slated to open the District 1-AA championship race April 23 at Borger, are busy every weekday at Chapman field preparing for the tough loop grind. Four of the players who will spark the Westerner nine in action this year are shown above as they go through their paces under the watchful eye of Coach Fred Taylor. At upper left, veteran hurler Denny Davidson follows through on a fast ball pitch and at upper right Jackie Martin, the second half of the Westerners' potent one-two mound punch, is shown just as he lets go with one of his blazing wrong-arm slants. All-Star Grid Game In Abilene Aug. 6

FREEPORT, April 10 (AP)—Eight members of the 1947 all-state football team are on the South squad that will play in the annual all-star game at the Texas Coaching school at Abilene Aug. 6.

The squad of 24 was announced today by Herbert Hopper, coach of Freeport high school, and Standard Lambert, former Austin high school coach now at Lamar college of Beaumont. They made up the selection committee.

The South all-stars will meet a similar squad from the northern districts of the Interscholastic league. The North squad has not yet been announced. W. C. O. Harris of Plainview is chairman of the selection committee for that squad.

Teague, Red Denham, Clyde Mantooth, Guy Watts, Billy Middlebrooks, L. C. Cunningham, Leon Bredemeyer, Pete Garrison and "Stringbean" Pope. There are indications that Gene Faull, the Texas sensation last year, may join one of the league clubs.

Michigan's Crisler Denies Rumors That He Will Resign Job

ANN ARBOR, Mich., April 10. (AP)—H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, coach of the University of Michigan's undefeated 1947 football team, today squelched rumors to the contrary by announcing he would remain at Michigan as athletic director.

For more than a week rumors have persisted that Crisler was on the verge of leaving his Michigan athletic post to accept a lucrative position in industry.

"My roots are too deep in the university . . . and college athletics to leave my position," Crisler said.

Harmon Leading Links Tourney

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 10. (AP)—Claude Harmon, swarthy cheeked stylist from Mamaroneck, N. Y., took the lead in the 12th Annual Masters Golf tournament today with a third round 69 for a 209 total.

That gave him a two stroke lead over Chick Harbert, rated as the game's longest hitter, who had a 70 for 211. Harbert, who paced the practice rounds with a series of subpar efforts, was out in 36 and back in 34 today in tying for first place in this $10,000 event.

Middlecoff Has 214

Cary Middlecoff picked up a large part of the huge gallery for the second nine after starting the day with a 33, and came in with a 69 for a 214 total to move into a threatening position.

Bobby Locke, the South African ace who made his debut here last year and then went on to finish second in total money won, started today's round with 142, two under par. He shot a 36-38 for a 74 to pull even with regulation figures.

Lloyd Mangrum, the year's leading money winner and the first day leader with a 69, went out today with a halfway total of 142, tied for fifth with Herman Keiser, the 1948 winner and others.

Todd Blows Lead

Harry Todd, who went out today with a one stroke lead over the field at 139, blew up and finished with ar 80. He took 42 on the first nine, including a run of five holes on which he lost a stroke to par at each green. He wound up with 219.

EDWARDS LEADS IN RODEO

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 10 (AP)—Sunny Edwards of Big Spring led contestants in last night's calf roping event as the Annual Phoenix Championship rodeo opened. His time was 13.7 sec.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

Many interesting, exciting sports events have been held in Lubbock and on the South Plains this spring, but one of the feature attractions of this or any other year —the first annual South Plains Relays—is still to be unreeled Saturday at the Texas Tech oval.

The South Plains Relays, as it is scheduled, represents a major triumph for the track enthusiasts of this area. For several years mentors of South Plains cinder path teams have wished for the opportunity to pit their squads against the best representatives of the Panhandle and the "Sand Hills" region south of the Plains, and the Relays will give them that chance. In the past, area track fans have had to journey to Fort Worth, Austin or San Antonio to see the top-flight schoolboy performers, but now they will be able to watch the prospective state title-winners in action in their own "back yard."

Just in the event that some "doubting Thomas" is still skeptical, here's a partial list of the stellar trackmen who are slated to compete in the Relays:

(1). Byron (Santone) Townsend of Odessa, probably the greatest schoolboy athlete produced in the state in the last 10 years. Byron holds the Border Olympic discus record of 150 feet, one inch, and the Southwestern Exposition high jump mark of six feet, three inches; as well as being the most colorful performer in Texas high school ranks.

(2). Earl (Red) Mayes of Pampa, the outstanding athlete of the Panhandle during the 1947-48 school year. Mayes won the 100-yard dash event at the recent Southwestern Exposition meet at Fort Worth and placed in the 220 dash and broad jump.

(3). Leon Lepard of Big Spring, the top choice of the experts to win the state 880-yard run crown. Lepard has already raced the half-mile in 1:58 and, if he continues his steady improvement, may come extremely close to the national high school record of 1:54.4 before the season is finished.

(4). Jim Johnson of Lubbock, the 440-yard dash champion of West Texas. Jim placed fifth last year at the state meet and, although he has been hampered by unfavorable weather conditions, has turned in a 52.1 seconds this spring. He holds the 440 title of the Abilene and Big Spring Relays.

These stellar speedsters will, of course, not be alone. Thirty or more complete teams, including at least 300 individual performers, are expected to be ready for the first preliminary event. Odessa will have 20 or more trackmen backing Townsend in the bid for glory, Abilene has a strong team of 25 or 30 hopefuls and Lepard is just one of 15 good Big Spring contestants. But when the timer raises his gun for the initial event Saturday morning, the meet spotlight will be on the Townsends, the Howtons, the Johnsons and the other boys that make the headlines every Sunday morning.

Due to the fact that the sponsoring organizations are going to conduct the Relays in the very best manner, with plenty of individual medals and team awards, admission fees of 30 and 60 cents will be charged to defray a part of the expense. The organizations would like to hang out the "free" sign, but the high cost of staging a large-scale event makes such a procedure impossible. Looking at the situation from an impartial point of view, if it's not worth 60 cents to see the cream of West Texas track teams battle for the mythical championship of the area, what is?

Baseball was brought into the front of the sports picture by the Giants-Indians setto Friday afternoon at Rosenthal field and downstate at Beaumont Bob Marquis, youthful first-sacker from Lubbock, is getting quite a splurge of publicity. Bob, as most fans know, hit .346 and stole 52 bases while playing with Lufkin of the Lone Star league last summer and is now making a strong bid for a starting assignment with the Texas loop club. The new issue of the "Baseball Yearbook" carries a couple of nice plugs for Bob. Softball followers will remember Marquis as Ralph Bumpass' slugging first baseman here in '46.

Loboes And Big Spring To Play

LAMESA, April 10 (Special)—Lamesa's Loboes tangle with the Big Spring Broncs in an exhibition baseball game at Lobo field here Sunday afternoon, starting at 2:30 o'clock.

Probable pitchers for the Loboes will be Righthanders J. B. Garland and Staley Grzywacz.

Lost Earlier Game

Big Spring, member of the Longhorn league, beat the Loboes in an earlier exhibition match, 9 to 4, played at Big Spring.

Sunday's tilt will be Lamesa's first since return from a two-day road trip.

Texas Assigned Five Places On PGA List

TYLER, April 10 (AP)—The Texas section of the Professional Golfers association has been assigned five places for the National PGA Tournament at St. Louis May 19-25.

The announcement was made here today by Ralph Morgan, secretary - treasurer of the Texas section and pro at Tyler's Willow Brook Country Club.

Byron Nelson and Jimmy Demaret are on the PGA exempt list and the five places will be in addition to those golfers.

A qualifying tournament has been scheduled at the Brae Burn Country Club in Houston April 26.

The Texas section includes pros from Texas and parts of Arkansas, Louisiana and New Mexico.

It is estimated that by the year 1960 annual U. S. deaths from heart and blood diseases may be as high as 1,200,000.

MEMPHIS, TENN., April 10. (AP)—Let down with three scattered hits by Billy Briggs, the Detroit Tigers eked out a 10th inning run today to top the Memphis Chicks of the Southern association 1 to 0.

BALTIMORE, April 10. (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers — despite wildness on the mound—swept to their 24th straight exhibition victory today with an 11-6 conquest of the Baltimore Orioles of the International league, before 9,063.

HOUSTON, April 10. (AP)—Clarence Beers and Al Papai, who between them won 46 games and pitched Houston to a Texas league championship last year, led the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-1 victory over their former teammates today.

VALDOSTA, Ga., April 10. (AP)—Pitching power appeared to be the main headache for Manager Ben Chapman as the Philadelphia Phillies began their trek northward.

Ed Houser, whom the Phils acquired from Brooklyn, already has proved his value as a relief hurler. However, the Phils have to count for some real help from Walt Dubiel, Oscar Judd, Ken Heintzelman, Al Jurisich and Charley Bicknell.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 10. (AP)—Hal Newhouser, who has pitched the Detroit Tigers' season opener for the past three years, was named yesterday by Manager Steve O'Neill to twirl the Bengals' 1948 opener against Chicago, April 20.

Rice Owls Win SWC Triangular Meet; Baylor Finishes Second

HOUSTON, April 10 (AP)—Rice institute swept both divisions of a varsity-freshman triangular track and field meet here today with Baylor and Southern Methodist.

The Owls, placing first in eight of the 15 events, collected 75½ points to 41½ for Baylor and 35 for Southern Methodist.

Rice's Blue Bolts swept 11 of the 15 events for 69 points in the freshman division. Southern Methodist led by Cleburne Price, was second with 59, followed by Baylor with 22.

Mishaps marred what appeared to be the two best events of the day, close 440-yard sprint relay races between Baylor and Rice.

The Owls dropped their baton on the third exchange in the varsity race and Baylor, anchored by Frank Patterson, won with a time of 43.3 seconds.

Baylor's John Valls took high scoring honors for the varsity meet with 12½ points, including first place in the pole vault, a tie for second in the high jump, second in the high hurdles and third in the low hurdles.

Tony De' Ambrosio, Baylor, finished second with 11½ points, and Augie Erfurth, Rice, was third with 10.

PAFKO IS SHIFTED

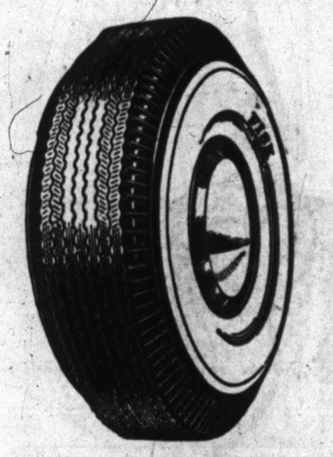

DALLAS, April 10. (AP)—Chicago Cub Skipper Charlie Grimm has become enthusiastic over Andy Pafko's shift from the outfield to third base. The transplanted center fielder has become a smooth fielder at the hot corner and with more practice should show additional improvement.

In the course of a 70-year life, it is estimated that the human heart contracts at least two and a half billion times.

Sutherland Said To Be Critically Ill

PITTSBURGH, April 10. (AP) —Dr. John B. Sutherland, famed football coach, was reported in "extremely critical condition" tonight after submitting to his second brain operation of the day.

"Dr. Sutherland's condition is grave," said one of the attending physicians. He added that Dr. Sutherland has a brain tumor, discovered in a preliminary operation late this afternoon.

The first operation came after surgeons said the coach of the national football league's Pittsburgh Steelers apparently was suffering from a "physical expanding lesion of the brain."

WILDLIFE MEET SCHEDULED

MINERAL WELLS, April 10 (AP) —More than 500 sportsmen—a record crowd—are expected here for the Third Annual Texas Wildlife Federation convention April 23 and 24.

Club Sold

completed Tuesday.

George Schepps owned 895 of the total of 1,500 shares in the Dallas Baseball Club Inc., bought lock, stock and barrel by the East Texan whose wealth is reported at several millions. Others, whose interest he acquired in the blanket purchase, were R. J. O'Donnell, vice-president; Julius Schepps, secretary-treasurer, and Dan D Rogers, Hap Morse, Hyman Donosky, Mrs. Carl Metzger, Carl Metzger, George Schepps, Jr., H. Nathanson, Jake Golman, Mrs. Julius Golman, James K. Wilson, B. H. Majors, Lank Majors, the estate of the late Ralph Thompson, Albert Susman, John Thorwald, C. Andrade III, Leonard Bradford, Robert Jones and Lawrence Mangold

They comprised the organization formed for the purchase of the local club from Sol Dreyfuss for an estimated $200,000 on Oct. 10, 1938.

Same Policy In Force

He said he would seek no major league tie-up for the Dallas club but will continue, as Schepps started this year, operating as a strict independent, buying the talent he needs and paying the price; meantime developing further his own farm system.

HUB MANAGER SAYS SALE OF REBELS MIGHT AID LOCALS

Sale of the Dallas Rebels Baseball club, instead of affecting the Lubbock Hubbers adversely, probably will aid the local baseball organization, Larry Larsen, general manager of the Hubbers, stated last night.

Larsen said that under the terms of their working agreement, Dallas had the choice to select any player from the Lubbock roster before any other team. However, Dallas would have to buy these players. On the Hubber roster at the present time are only three players owned by Dallas and optioned to the local club. They include First Baseman Virgil Richardson, Catcher Floyd Walker and Outfielder Chick Fowler.

George Schepps, remaining as business manager of the Rebels, now will be able to devote more time to the farm clubs and Larsen believes that this will aid the Hubbers. Schepps, in a telephone conservation yesterday afternoon, told the Hubber management that they could have every assurance that the picture will not be changed in any way.

Larsen also killed a rumor existent for some time that Schepps held stock in the Hubber baseball club. Larsen said that Mrs. Sam Rosenthal was the sole owner and operator of the Lubbock Hubbers, but that Schepps had been given permission to sign papers this spring due to Mr. Rosenthal's decease and the long friendship between the families personally.

More Dust Storms Said In Store For Area Unless Soil Has Cover

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

FORT WORTH, April 10—A 14-county area to the west and southwest of Lubbock is the newest source of dust which winds now are lifting into the air to choke Texas and Oklahoma skies. This area contains 1,800,000 acres of land without enough plant cover to prevent blowing.

Regional Soil Conservation Service officials dislike to call the area a "dust bowl," but for all practical purposes it is simply a smaller version of the "dust bowl" of the 1930's.

Chances For More

Louis P. Merrill, regional conservator of the Soil Conservation Service, reported that there have been at least six dust storms in the Southern High Plains sections of Texas and Oklahoma already and, he warns, the chances are good that there will be more.

Most of the blowing is from 350,000 acres in cultivation which are not suited to crop production, according to Merrill. The only safe practice for this type of land is to put it back to grass cover. Also in the blow area, he said, are many operators who failed to use conservation practices which would guard against exposure of the soils surface when growing conditions are poor.

From Exposed Cotton Land

Much of the blowing land is land which can be farmed safely if known safeguards in a soil conservation program are used. Much of the land which furnished the dust in the March 30 storm came from exposed cotton land with poor plant cover. Wherever this cotton land had been listed or deep plowed, there was no blowing, Merrill reported.

Reports received from field personnel show that in the Southern Great Plains of Texas there are approximately 1,000,000 acres of new land which have been broken out since 1940 for crop production, Merrill said. Only about 500,000 acres of this can be considered suitable for cultivation. The remainder, low in fertility and unstable in structure, thin soils in low rainfall area, can be cultivated only with the danger of destruction when crop failure leaves insufficient plant cover on the soil's surface.

"Could Be Another"

Merrill points out that there COULD be another "dust bowl" of greater proportions and more widespread destructiveness than the first one. The dust bowl of the 1930's occupied a platter-shaped area of 96,000,000 acres covering parts of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico. However, only about 6,000,000 acres of all this area furnished nearly all the dust.

Reports received by Merrill now indicate that in the High Plains are more than 15,000,000 acres now susceptible to blowing. There are loose, coarse-textured and shallow, highly granular soils, lacking cohesion, soils low in organic matter content. About 5,000,000 acres of this total are without sufficient plant cover and are in condition to blow at almost any time.

Not Suited For Cultivation

The regional conservator pointed out that during the dust blows of the 1930's 60 per cent of all the blowing came from land which was not suited to cultivation. Nearly all the rest of the dust came from land which could have been farmed safely if conservation methods of wind erosion prevention had been practiced.

Merrill pointed out that in the opinion of soil experts the combination of soil and climate conditions in the Plains form an ideal basis for permanent and profitable agriculture. However, some of the land is best suited for grass and continued cultivation of it, besides being unprofitable in the long run, may destroy it even for growing grass.

Stubble Mulch Farming Urged

Studdle mulch farming is substantially the only way to use much of the Southern Great Plains farm land successfully, Merrill pointed out. That means leaving as much crop residue on and in the soil as possible for protection against the wind. Thousands of soil conservation district cooperators throughout the Plains area are farming such land safely and profitably, Merrill said.

When there is insufficient residue on such land to halt wind erosion, the only means of preventing soil movement is by emergency tillage, the regional conservator said. However, such measures, aside from being expensive, are only temporary in effect.

Land Hasn't Been Listed

A field party in the blow area during the March duster reported to Merrill that severe damage occurred on cotton land that had not been listed.

Sorghum land on which stubble is insufficient is blowing," the report added. "Some wheat has been blown out in the deep sandy soils, but where adequate residue has been left on surface wheat land is effectively controlled. Chiseling, listing and deep plowing is proving helpful in prevention of blowing. Cover crops of wheat and rye in Cochran-Yoakum-Terry Soil Conservation District are effective. The shallow, highly granular land around lakes which has been broken out and used for row crops is being damaged severely, although there is blowing on other land."

Only Isolated Areas Hit

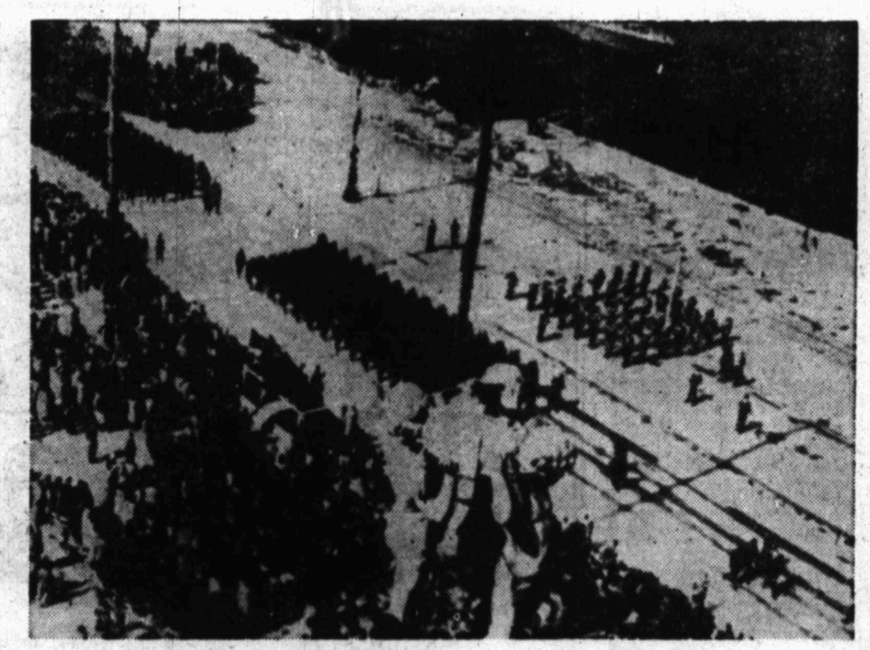

Soil Conservation Service representatives in wheat areas farther to the north reported that wheat for the most part escaped damage. Only isolated fields, on which residue or plant cover was insufficient, were harmed.

Merrill gave soil conservation districts throughout the Southern Great Plains areas in Texas and Oklahoma much of the credit for the widespread use of practices which prevent blowing and insure better production in the areas which blew disastrously in the 1930's.

Practices Recommended

He listed the following practices as those recommended for wind erosion prevention and sound farming in the High Plains areas:

1. Direct Methods
   - A. Crop residue management
     1. Harvesting so as to leave a maximum residue in the field.
     2. Regulating grazing and preventing the burning of stubble in fields.
     3. Delaying soil preparation except for weed control.
     4. Using implements that leave trash on top.
     5. Planting erosion-resistant cover crops when special protection is needed.
   - B. Tillage
     1. Border furrowing growing crops.
     2. Strip or spot furrowing growing crops.
     3. Wet tillage for bare fields.
     4. Timeliness of appropriate normal tillage on bare fields. (Chiseling, listing and deep plowing are effective emergency wind erosion control measures).
2. Indirect Management
   - A. Water Management
     1. Summer fallowing started with abundant residues.
     2. Contour farming.
     3. Terracing and contour farming.
     4. Strict weed control.
   - B. Crop Management
     1. Choosing hard and erosion resistant crops.
     2. Varying crop sequences to suit production opportunities and erosion prevention needs.
     3. Protecting erosion-inviting crops by strip farming and/or strip farming 'rotation with erosion, resistant crops.

Veteran Trying To Break Into Ex-Wife's Home Fatally Shot

HOUSTON, April 10. (U.P.) — A 26-year-old former soldier died early today of a bullet wound allegedly inflicted while he tried to break into the home of his ex-wife who divorced him on Monday.

The shooting victim was Charles J. McGlynn. He was allegedly shot by Willard C. Symonds, 64-year-old watchman, who had been retained by the ex-wife, Josephine Wagemann, 44, to guard her home. The shooting occurred at 11:30 p. m. yesterday.

McGlynn died at 12:40 a. m. today in St. Joseph's infirmary of a bullet wound in the abdomen.

Symonds said in a written statement he was no. trying to hit McGlynn. "I was just trying to scare him away," he said.

He was almost through the kitchen door when I fired," Symonds said. "I had already told him to go away."

Symonds said McGlynn kicked and tore down the porch door and was coming through the kitchen door when he fired. Symonds was charged with murder.

Roosevelt's Hyde Park Estate Brings Thousands Of Visitors

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

HYDE PARK, N. Y., April 10—The man and the fur-coated woman chatted briskly as they walked up the path toward the break in the high hemlock hedge.

Then they saw the simple white marble stone in the center of the enclosed rose garden. Their whole demeanor changed. The man removed his hat. The woman's voice dropped to a whisper. Their steps slowed and they walked into the garden with reverent mien. To the attendants their behavior was typical of thousands who have walked the same path.

Has Become Important

In two short years, the great home in which Franklin D. Roosevelt was born and lived and the vast estate in which he lies buried have been visited by almost a million men, women and children. In the time it has taken its own place in the affections of the people. In numbers of visitors the Krum Elbow estate rivals such historic sites as Independence hall and the Statue of Liberty.

The old manor house, commanding the sweep of the Hudson, and the secluded grave were quiet places during the winter months when the snow lay heavy on the evergreens. There was only a handful of visitors.

But now, as daffodils bring color to the lawns and woods violets show under the ancient trees, the automobiles and buses are rolling through the gates again in increasing numbers.

Monday, the third anniversary of the president's death, will mark the beginning of another busy season for the staff of 53 National Park service men and women who administer the U. S.-owned Krum Elbow estate and nearby Vanderbilt mansion. As usual, services at the grave will mark the anniversary and the date when the crowds start coming back.

Elliott To Be Host

This year, for the first time, Mrs. Roosevelt will not be present at the anniversary ceremonies. She will dedicate a statue of her husband in London. Elliott Roosevelt, whose home is a few miles away, will take his mother's place as host.

The 33 acres, the comfortable house, the library-museum and the burial spot combine to make an impressive monument to a man. The man himself designed his own monument, for the Roosevelt estate is presented to the American people just as its 31st President desired it should be. The spirit and personality of Franklin D. Roosevelt are as strong there as if he were alive.

Even casual visitors feel it. Doors of the H-shaped wood and fieldstone house are thrown hospitably wide and people walk in and out with utter freedom. They talk constantly of Roosevelt and Roosevelts, and the talk is personal, as of old friends.

By now, Roosevelts and their ancestral home are an old story to the parks service staff. Their worry is handling the throngs that pour in daily during the warm-weather months.

"It goes up steadily from early April," Frederick L. Rath, site historian, said. "There were 58,000 last June; 99,000 in July; 114,000 in August and 62,000 in September. There were around 60,000 in October, and on Columbus day weekend we handled the biggest crowd in our history, more than 10,000 people."

From Everywhere

The visitors come from every state of the Union and from countries all over the world. There are tourists and people from nearby communities. There are visiting dignitaries and ceremonial wreath layings and there are plain people who bring a small bunch of flowers to place beside the tomb. There is a quota of fanatic Roosevelt haters, and occasionally a crank or crackpot.

"But the large majority who come have a single, special purpose: They want to see how President Roosevelt lived and where he is buried," Rath said.

They have ample opportunity to see everything. Except for the old servant quarters and the third floor the whole house is open. Plaques on the doors give the main details of each room, point out where the King of England stayed as a guest, the room in which Roosevelt was born.

Roosevelt's own bedroom and dressing room—which face west to the river—are extremely intimate. An opened closet shows his clothes and shoes. There hangs the navy-blue cape of which he was so fond and which he was wearing when he died in Warm Springs in 1945. Falla's leash and blanket lie on a worn chair at the foot of the President's bed. Personal portraits and knicknacks are all over the place.

Butler Remains

Robert McGaughey, who was the Roosevelt butler and houseman for many years, is now a National Park service staff member, detailed to handling visitors. In a rich Irish brogue he recalls them with intimate portraits of the whole family, from Mrs. James Roosevelt down to the late President's young grandchildren.

There are seven other Roosevelt retainers still at the house, including William Plog, grounds superintendent. Plog has made it his special duty to provide a year-round supply of long stemmed roses which are always beside a large oil portrait of Roosevelt in the living room.

"Ninty-nine per cent of visitors' questions fall into the same pattern," Rath continued.

The most popular questions are: "Does Mrs. (Eleanor) Roosevelt live here?" (No).

"Where's Falla?" (At Mrs Roosevelt's cottage nearby or in New York at her apartment—or with her.)

"Where is the President's mother buried?" (At St. James Episcopal church, up the road a few miles from Krum Elbow).

"Is the President buried under the marble stone?" (No, in front of it.)

"Has the garden been designed since the President's death?" (No, the garden is many years old. The hemlock hedge that surrounds the grave on all sides is over a hundred years old.)

House Interests Men

Women visitors, Rath said, seem more interested in the house than men. Shortly after it was opened to the public, a housekeeper heard three women crying uncontrollably at the door of the President's bedroom.

"They cried so hard that she found herself sobbing, too," Rath said.

"Once in a while someone who disliked President Roosevelt comes but they don't do anything much."

Once a man turned to Rath and said simply: "I didn't like him but I just had to see where he lived."

Unlike many historical sites, the attendants have no problems with souvenir hunters or with people who like to inscribe their initials all over the place.

"You might say that this place is notable for its absence," Rath said. "People, I think, treat this place very reverently."

Election Quarrel Causes City Commission To Resign In Mass

BROWNSBORO, April 10 (U.P.) — The Brownsboro city commission resigned in mass today.

Requested some time ago to call a city election, the commission resigned to eliminate the possibility of a mandamus suit requiring it to call the election.

Citizens who sought to force calling of the election charged members of the commission with wanting to perpetuate themselves in office without submitting the issue to a vote.

DALLAS, April 10 (AP)—Dr. E. A. Hunter, editor of the Southwestern Advocate, revealed yesterday he has resigned effective June 1.

The Advocate is a Methodist weekly widely circulated in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

He said he resigned "in the expectation of being possibly returned to a pastorate."

He has edited the Advocate since 1946.

MANY LIVES COULD BE SAVED

Army Urges Population To Keep Calm If A-Bombs Start Falling

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—The Army counselled the population today to keep calm if atom bombs should start falling on American cities.

The Medical corps said in a statement that if an A-bomb should hit a city:

"It is by no means true that the entire population would be wiped out, nor is it true that nothing could be done to help the survivors."

Mass Hysteria Feared

Then, alluding to a subject over which there has been considerable quiet worrying among the military, the Medical corps quoted its Col. James P. Cooney as saying:

"Mr. and Mrs. America have been so frightened by the information they have received to date, that if a bomb were dropped on one of our cities tomorrow, mass hysteria would probably cause the unnecessary loss of many lives."

Many lives may be saved by widespread knowledge among doctors of treatment methods and by a general understanding of what happens in an atomic explosion, said the Army.

The Army conceded "there is no known method of protecting those in the immediate neighborhood of an atomic bomb when it explodes."

Radiation Also Danger

In addition to the tremendous blast of the explosion, the atomic bomb, unlike any other explosion, kills with radiation. The area in which the gamma radiation (like X-rays only more powerful) kills is roughly one mile from the exploding bomb. It produces serious injury between one and a half and two miles.

While "there is not much even a medical man can do about" victims of the radiation produced in the split-second explosion of the bomb, aid can be given to those suffering from radioactive dust, water or other material rendered poisonous by the nuclear fission explosion.

Blood transfusions help, the Army doctor said, explaining, that damage to blood-forming elements such as bone marrow is one of the most serious effects of radiation.

A major job for the doctor in an atom-bombed city would be to act as a public health officer, determining what food and water was free of radioactivity and fit for consumption or supervising decontamination of supplies, clothing and even the bodies of refugees from a bombed area.

Alabama Demos Split On Convention Stand

MOBILE, Ala., April 10 (AP)—Alabama's candidates for delegates to the National Democratic convention were split almost down the middle today on whether to walk out if any part of President Truman's civil rights program is adopted.

The name of Gov. James E. Folsom, a favorite son candidate for the party's presidential nomination, headed the anti-walkout list.

State Chairman Gessner T. McCorvey said that of 84 candidates for delegates, 28 have signed the state executive committee's walkout pledge and 24 refused to sign the statement. The others have not replied.

Folsom wrote he would fight the civil rights program and oppose the President's renomination but would not take a walk.

Instead, he said that if the convention adopts an unsatisfactory platform he proposed to call "an elected convention of Alabama Democracy" to set a future course. He referred to the President's program as a "national police state (civil rights) plank."

Carlsbad Man Is Named Head Of Bataan Veterans Group

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 10 (AP)—Lt. Col. Virgil O. McCollum of Carlsbad, N. M., today was elected unanimously to be the first national commander of the Bataan Veterans organization.

Manuel Armijo, Santa Fe, N. M., was chosen vice commander.

The men were elected by some 400 delegates at the closing session of the first BVO convention.

Directors named included: J. B. Heinen, Dallas; Charles M. Brown, El Paso; and Ed Chavez, Belen, N. M.

NEW YORK (AP) — Deaths from the childhood diseases, measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough and diptheria in the United States are only about one-sixth as frequent today as they were 10 years ago.

Training School Certificates Presented To Church Workers

A total of 148 certificates were awarded by the International Council of Religious Education to church workers who attended the ninth annual Cooperative Leadership Training school which closed Friday night.

The school, in which 10 churches cooperated, was conducted at First Christian church.

A total of 168 registered for the school, said Rev. Dearl Richardson, registrar and treasurer. Total attendance of those registered and visitors was about 200.

Some of the churches will present certificates in services today to their members who qualified for certificates.

HST GIVEN INVITATION

WASHINGTON, April 10 (U.P.)—President Truman has under consideration an invitation to go to Bartlesville, Okla., May 15 to attend the anniversary of construction of the first oil well. Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said no decision had been made yet as to whether Mr. Truman will be able to attend.

Nine Persons Arrested In Plot To Smuggle American Cigarets

HAMBURG, Germany, April 10 (AP)—Nine persons, including an American, have been arrested in a plot to smuggle 50,000,000 American cigarets for the German black market, officials announced today.

The announcement said a Belgian, two Danes, four Poles and a German are involved. The names were not announced.

Palestine Arms Urged By Solon

CINCINNATI, O., April 10 (U.P.)—President Truman today was urged to lift immediately the embargo on arms and volunteers for Palestine.

U. S. Sen. Owen Brewster, R., Me., national co-chairman of the American Christian Palestine committee, said in an interview here that "the least we can do is lift the embargo so arms can get to those defending the decision of the United Nations, and permit American volunteers to join the fight."

UN Prestige Shaken

The U. S., the Maine senator said, has dealt UN a "terrible blow" in reversing its stand on partition. He charged that State department subordinates who believe that "Britain knows best" have maneuvered the United States into an indefensible position on Palestine.

The cornerstone of the State department attitude, Sen. Brewster continued, is, "it's too bad about Palestine, but Middle East oil is important."

"But the oil of Arabia is utterly unattainable," the senator said. "In the event of any trouble, the American and British oil developments there will simply serve the Soviet.

"Sacrificing our honor in Palestine for unattainable oil is not only dishonorable but stupid."

Sen. Brewster was here to speak at the Cincinnati Palestine seminar.

QUAKE HITS JAPAN

TOKYO, April 10 (AP)—A mild earthquake jarred Teganuma, east of Tokyo today, while Mount Aso on Kyushu island spewed volcanic ashes and football-sized chunks of lava. Mount Aso erupted several times last year.

MARKET STAGES LATE RALLY
NEW YORK, April 10. (AP)—Word from Washington that the coal mine walkout might be quickly settled brought a last-minute rally in the stock market today and enabled the average to hit a new high since last October.
Steels led the late revival, which was notably selective. While early losses were converted into modest advances at the close, the minus column remained widely populated. Rails did better on balance, touching another new 19-month's top.
Buying throughout the week was predicted chiefly on inflationary implications of big rearmament spending, European relief and tax cuts.
Profit taking appeared in concluding sessions on the idea the lengthy drive called for a sizable technical correction.
Volume of 520,000 shares compared with 490,000 a week ago. For the six days the aggregate was 6,472,920 shares against 6,650,896 the week before.
The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .1 of a point at 66.1, a high since Oct. 28, and for the week showed a net advance of .8 of a point. It was the tenth straight session without a dip. The rail index was at its highest mark since Aug. 30, 1946. Of 775 issues registering, 286 rose and 367 fell.
Ahead a point or so on the day were Youngstown Sheet at 77¼. Union Carbide 109¼ and Pepsi-Cola 18. Fractional gains were retained by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Republic Steel, General Motors, Northern Pacific, Anaconda, American Woolen, Gulf Oil and Pacific Western Oil.
On the offside were Goodyear, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, J. I. Case, Deere, Western Union, General Electric, Du Pont, Union Pacific and Great Northern Railway.
Bonds were narrow except for Colombian issues which weakened in the face of the Bogota eruption.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, April 10 (AP) — Cotton futures registered moderate gains today. The market was supported by trade buying in old crop deliveries, along with scattered short covering in the balance of the list.
Offerings were supplied principally through profit-taking. One broker sold 10,000 bales of the July 1948 delivery which was believed to be for commission house account.
There was further switching from May into later deliveries, anticipating first notice day April 27.
Futures closed $1.05 to $1.60 a bale higher than the previous close.

TEXAS SOLON ASKS QUICK ACTION

Johnson Urges More Powerful Air Force To Meet Any Threat

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—A 10-point statement urging the U. S. Air Force be made "the world's greatest" was issued today by Rep. Johnson (D-Tex.)

He set forth his views in identical letters to three veterans, Paul W. Trepton, Jr., Houston; Hugh B. Gilmour, Midland, and R. J. Frick, Dallas. Johnson noted that they were among hundreds of ex-service men who had written him since his recent "preparedness" radio network address in Texas.

Force Claimed Worn

Declaring this a "time to talk and to act," he said the first order of business of Congress should be a first class air corps because:

"1. Air power is the deciding power in the world today;

"2. Our air force is second strength, equipped largely with second rate craft, and in this air age, if you are second, you are last;

"3. The Air Force we have on the last day of peace will be the air force we have on the first day of war—and our present air force is not adequate for either peace or war;

"4. A first rate air force cannot be designed and produced overnight and it is imperative that we get started now;

Need Modern Planes

"5. Our present plane supply is not adequate for training of both reserve and new personnel and we need the planes to take our reserves out of obsolete World War II craft and train them in modern jets;

"6. Air victories are not won by pilots alone; ground personnel, radar men, weather observers, and hundreds more are essential to the team, and the larger air force is needed to train men for these important jobs.

"7. Ground troops must often be airborne in modern warfare, and a larger air force is needed to provide adequate air transport facilities;

"8. We are told that one country is building aircraft at a minimum rate of 1,000 per month. We are far behind. In the world today, the roar of airplane engines is more impressive than the guarded words of diplomacy;

"9. Our strategic and agricultural targets will be the Pearl Harbors of the next war and only an adequate air force can defend us;

10. In peace or in war, an adequate air force is our best hope of security—and only an air force of at least 70 groups can be considered adequate."

Russia Accused Of Helping Arm Arabs

LONDON, April 10. (AP)—The International Committee for the Study of European Questions accused Russia tonight of arming the Palestine Arabs and sending agents to work among the Palestine Jews.

The committee is a non-party, non-governmental group of legislators, scientists, industrialists, and retired diplomats in six European countries.

In a report on its continuing study and investigation of European political affairs, the committee said:

"During the last months Russia —which has, on the other hand, been supplying arms to the Arabs through Czechoslovak agents—has been endeavoring to facilitate the exodus from Bulgarian and Romanian ports of several thousand Polish and Romanian Jews, many of whom have received special Soviet training to prepare them for active political action in support of the USSR."

"It is reported that on two ships recently intercepted in Cyprus there were among the Jewish emigrants over 1,000 people who only spoke Russian."

Five-Year Penitentiary Term Is Suspended By Judge Pardue

Suspension of a five-year penitentiary sentence was allowed Saturday morning by 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue after George W. Morgan, 33, had pleaded guilty of embezzlement.

An indictment charged that Morgan embezzled six pairs of boots valued at $197.50 from Montgomery Ward & Co., on July 15.

He waived a jury.

Whale Pancreas May Yield Vast Quantity Of Valuable Insulin

TOKYO, April 10 (AP)—A 37-year-old scientist at Shimonoseki has discovered a way to extract large quantities of insulin from the pancreas of a whale, Kyodo news agency reported today.

The researcher, Tetsuo Shibata, evolved a technique which yielded more than 65 pounds of insulin from the pancreas of one large whale, the news agency said.

Insulin, the hormone substance used to treat diabetes, is high priced and scarce. Most of it comes from the pancreatic glands of slaughtered animals. Medical scientists have said repeatedly that the slaughter house supply of these glands is inadequate.

The pancreas of a beef yields only a small fraction of an ounce of insulin. The reported yield from the whale pancreas is enormous in comparison.

Army Colonel Backs Up Story Of Bird As Big As Airplane

ALTON, Ill., April 10 (U.P.) — A former Army air base commandant, Col. U. S. Sigmund, today backed up the tale of two Belvidere, Ill., residents who reported seeing a bird "bigger than an airplane."

Sigmund, wartime commander of the Kearns, Utah, air base, said he saw what was probably the same or a similar bird last Sunday while horseback riding four miles north of Alton.

"I thought there was something wrong with my eyesight," Sigmund said. "But it was definitely a bird and not a glider or a jet plane.

Size Of Small Plane

"It was about the size of a small pursuit plane and appeared to be flying northeast at between 4,000 and 5,000 feet," Sigmund said. "Two army planes had just flown over in the same direction, and I thought at first it was a pursuit craft following them.

"But from movements of the object and its size, I figured it could only be a bird of some tremendous size."

Sigmund said he was accompanied on the horseback ride by Col. Ralph Jackson, head of the western military academy at Alton. He said the bird was sighted at about 11:30 a. m.

Sighted Earlier

"Colonel Jackson was busy talking with a farmer at the time and didn't see it," Sigmund said. "I didn't say anything about it to him because it looked too incredible. However, when I saw the United Press dispatch yesterday about the Belvidere men seeing the same thing I decided my eyes had been right."

The giant bird was first reported by Robert Price and Veryl Babb of Belvidere earlier this week. They said it had a long neck and flapped its wings.

ROME, April 10 (U.P.)—A time bomb attached to the hull sank the gun - running ship Lino in Bari harbor today with a cargo of rifles and ammunition allegedly destined for use by Communists in the Italian election campaign.

The Lino went down as mysteriously as she had been operating in Italian waters. An official report said a time bomb was attached to the prow just below the water line. Two police guards had been aboard the ship since its capture and detention at Bari, but the bomb planting escaped their notice.

Texas Day Programs, County Federation Meeting Are Set

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

SOMETIMES people spend as much time planning to arrive late at a party as others do to arrive on time.

Most bottlenecks are the result of somebody's refusal to think or decide at the time he was supposed to.

THE MAYOR'S WIFE

WHILE it could not be said that Mrs. W. H. Rodgers, wife of Lubbock's new mayor, is a public spirited type, she has many qualities that an aggressive, ambitious person well might envy. Lubbock women who knew her in her home town of Lometa say that she has good judgment and that her friends value her friendship through the years.

She is unassuming, gentle and shy and has been content to remain quietly at home. She took no active part in her husband's campaign and whatever counsel and advice he may get from her will be in the confines of their home and not through clubs and committees and any high pressure measures other may employ.

When the writer asked Mrs. Rodgers about a picture for the woman's page today, she laughed and said she would do anything for us except that and that the politician in the Rodgers family was strictly Mr. Rodgers.

Although she has not continued with her music since moving to Lubbock several years ago, while she lived in Lometa Mrs. Rodgers played for services at the First Methodist church and taught piano. Of her talent, her friends say she is a wonderful musician.

SCATTERINGS

THE great progress in production of baby foods, which has performed its miracles in keeping children healthy during their critical early years, may find a counterpart in a comparable series of foods adapted for old people, so their their years may be extended for beyond the present expectancy. . . . New Mexico has enough salt to supply the entire Western Hemisphere for thousands of years. The rocksalt beds in the southeast part of the state measure up to one-half mile and over in thickness and extend over an area of many thousand square miles. . . . According to an office in the National Foot Health council, 90 per cent of all American adults suffer with foot ailments by the time they reach fifty. . . . Marjorie Morgan lost her hospital pin when she was downton Friday at noon. It is centered with a red cross and bears WTHSN and 1947 on it. She may reached at 6636, if someone picked it up.

Bob Crosby's little 8-year-old daughter has written a song, "Don't Tell Anyone," which is so good her dad and her Uncle Bing are having it arranged and will warble it on their air shows. . . . Actor Frank Morgan, soon to celebrate his 35th wedding anniversary, advises husbands "never try to keep things secret from your wife." . . . The nation's license women drivers, estimated at 8,800,000 may take comfort from the observation of a pioneer car manufacturer that women are safer, better drivers than men. By example, he cites a test now being sponsored by Connecticut safety officials to determine why the state's 100 worst drivers are that way. Only two of the hundred "eligibles" are women. Furthermore, women are involved in less than one-seventh of traffic accidents.

PROBLEM PARENTS

SCHOOL teachers have their problem parents as well as their problem children. Any teacher will tell you if she had a choice she would much rather deal with a problem child than a problem parent, according to an article in the April issue of a national magazine.

One teacher wishes someone would tell parents some of the things they do to make the job more difficult.

A set of rules for parents to follow to avoid being problem parents is incorporated in the article. They are:

1. Don't rush to school to see about your child's work or deportment at the slightest provocation.
2. Don't send frequent notes to school.
3. Don't busy yourself too much with your clubs, career or friends to bother with school activities.
4. Don't let your children go to the movies or stay up so late at night that they are sleepy in class next day.
5. Don't shirk your responsibility to see that the children do their homework and then blame the teacher for down grading them when they fail to turn it in.
6. Don't give your children so much help at home that they can't think for themselves in school.
7. Don't encourage your children in criticizing the teacher.
8. Don't take your children's word for everything that happens at school.
9. Don't be over-protective.
10. Don't assume a vaguely patronizing air toward those who teach your children.

TFWC Planning Colorful Program For Convention

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

AUSTIN, April 10 — Dynamic speakers presenting the theme, "Facing Our Responsibilities," colorful luncheons and dinners, outstanding musical talent, tea at the newly redecorated Governor's Mansion — these are only a sample of the treats in store for the hundreds of clubwomen from all over Texas who will gather May 3-5 in Austin for the State Convention of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs.

Mrs. John J. Perry, Sweetwater, president, has arranged a convention program which will bring to Austin such internationally known figures as Mrs. J. L. Blair Buck, Richmond, Va., General Federation president, lately returned from Europe; John Ben Sheppard, Longview, National President of the Junior Chamber of Commerce; and Mrs. Sara A. Whitehurst, Baltimore, General Federation Extension Secretary, Foreign and Territorial clubs.

Mrs. Whitehurst as 1940-43 president of the General Federation endeared herself to all Texas clubwomen on her nine visits to this state. Her address, "Is Democracy Worth Saving," at the May 5 evening session will be one of the high points of the convention.

Plan Traditional Dinner

The traditional Texas-Pioneer dinner honoring clubs federated twenty years, will be held at the Austin Hotel main ballroom the evening of May 4. Other convention sessions will be held at the Headquarters building auditorium which seats 1200 people.

Governor and Mrs. Jester will entertain all delegates and visitors with a tea at the Mansion at 5 o'clock May 4.

Scheduled to take part in various phases of the program are the A Capella Choir of Southwestern university, Georgetown; a panel of foreign students at the University of Texas, who will discuss "Family Living Around the World," and a humorous panel entitled "On the Parliamentary

Howdy folks,

Spring has come with a big splash at the Decorators Studio and I mean splash—for James has had a splatter party after 5 o'clock, offering free cokes to any of the girls who stay and help him repaint the front porch. Packages of seeds have been sown in the flower beds, and Beulah has been watering the lawn faithfully.

The spring feeling has hit many couples, too, for the Studio is bursting with brides-to-be selecting silver, china, and potteries. Speaking of silver, my soap-box speech last week certainly gave the "sterling bug" to many young ladies, who visited at 1202 Ave. N during the week and choose one of the lovely silver patterns for their own. Think how happy they will be when graduation time brings them gifts of their own sterling.

A mammouth octagon coffee table in natural distressed pine arrived this week to occupy the center of the floor. It's the perfect piece for those large accessories so smart for modern-day living.

Tapp does it again! A set of the smartest leather chairs I ever saw arrived with the custom-made touch of Tapp furniture. James whisked them away to the client for whom they were ordered before I could get a second look.

Evelyn will be flying in this week-end after a vacation in California. We know she'll have lots of new ideas and things to tell us about. I know she will do a bit of snooping around while there.

Be looking for you at the Decorators Studio during the coming week.

Grandpa Nosey.

Tech Students Making Movie

More than 2,750 feet of motion picture film already has been exposed at Texas Technological college as the seeing eye of the camera has caught students in numerous campus activities.

About 5,000 more feet will be exposed and on Homecoming day next fall the final scenes will be filmed.

Those working in connection with the movie have seen 2,500 feet of film. "It is far above anything we expected," said W. O. (Dub) Boswell, student from Sweetwater who is serving as director.

Tech C of C Sponsors

The film is sponsored by Tech Chamber of Commerce. Jack Thompson, student of Lubbock, is assistant director and in charge of narration. Dick Beasley, student and member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, is head engineer.

A representative from each division is on the scenario committee to outline events filmed and select the best scenes for the finished production. The division representatives are Bill Reid, agriculture; Oleta Stewart, arts and sciences; Jack Allmon, business administration; George Wilmoth, engineering, and Martha Lewis, home economics.

Marion F. Peters of Lubbock is operating the motion picture camera.

Most Inside Shots

Most of the scenes filmed so far have been inside academic "shots," said Boswell. Scenes in laboratories, classrooms, the press building, infirmary, library and other locations have been shot. Pictures will be made at the Engineering show. Preparations for the Home Economics Open house have been filmed. Only a few outside activities have been filmed, but numerous outside pictures will be made of football and intramural sports; outside academic events such as surveying; Reserve Officers Training corps activities, and others.

Through the movie, sponsors hope to depict academic, recreational and social life of the student and show "in a positive way the good school we do have," said Boswell.

All aspects—filming, editing and distribution — are carefully coordinated with the president of the college to conform with his responsibility in public relations of the institution, it was announced.

Is Ambitious Project

The movie is one of the most ambitious student projects undertaken and is unique in that such a project usually is undertaken largely through employment of professional workers. Rather than bring in professional personnel, the sponsors of the movie have called upon students training in different fields. Otherwise the cost would have been much higher, it was pointed out.

The students already have a background in campus life enabling them to go forward with plans for the movie, said Boswell.

The narration also will be done by students, who will go by airplane to Chicago studios next fall.

"There will be a world premiere in January of 1949," said Boswell. Extensive plans are to be made later for the Lubbock premiere.

The finished movie will require about 30 minutes for showing. It is to be shown in professional meetings, before civic organizations, alumni campus, in public schools and before numerous other groups.

MOTION PICTURE MADE—Scenes connected with preparations for the 12th annual Home Economics Open House to be conducted April 22-23 at Texas Technological college will be perpetuated in motion pictures. Numerous scenes for the movie, which is the first made on the campus for showing before various groups, already have been filmed. The above photograph shows some of the students and faculty members who are preparing for the open house and, at the right, W. O. (Dub) Boswell, student who is director of the movie, before a battery of lights, and Marion F. Peters, Lubbock photographer, at the motion picture camera. Left to right, others in the picture are Nell LaRoe, student of Lubbock; Mary Seyler, student from Muenster (in the foreground); Martha Thompson, student, Lubbock; Billye Saunders, student, Big Spring (seated); Miss Margaret W. Weeks, dean of home economics; Mrs. Margaret Carter, student, Lubbock (seated), and Miss Mabel D. Erwin, head professor of clothing and textiles. The dresses, coat and suit worn by the students were made in classes and are to be shown in open house.—(Staff Photo.)

Cotton Prices, Sales Increase

DALLAS, April 10 (U.P.) — Spot cotton markets in the southwest were more active this week, the USDA Production and Marketing administration reported today.

Sales increased considerably, especially in the Houston-Galveston area, the report stated. Prices advanced about $5 a bale.

Demand by merchants and shippers was good for all qualities. The differences narrowed on low grades and farmers were offering cotton more freely.

More Moisture Needed

Land preparation made good progress, as warm open weather prevailed. In Oklahoma and the western sections of Texas land preparation was almost complete, but additional moisture was needed before planting.

Planting in South Texas was making good progress, but more rain was needed to sustain growth. Reports indicated planting in the Rio Grande valley and coastal bend area was almost complete.

The Dallas price for middling 16/16-inch Thursday was 36.45 cents, as compared with 35.55 cents last week and 34.50 cents a year ago. The Houston and Galveston prices of 36.70 cents and 36.65 cents compared wtih 35.65 cents and 35.45 cents last week. The current quoted spot price was the highest since last July.

Reported sales in the Dallas market for the week ending Thursday amounted to 31,897 bales which compared with 27,297 bales last week and 6,410 bales for the corresponding week last year. The Houston-Galveston sales of 38,532 bales was considerably higher than the reported sales of 22,923 bales last week.

Domestic mill demand was confined primarily to small quantities of specialties for prompt shipments. Only light interests were shown for forward delivery.

Local merchants and shippers were actively engaged in fulfilling previous commitments. Current low grades were moving into trade channels to fill requirements for recent sales to China.

Maybe He Could Trade Reserved Parking Space For Automobile

BALTIMORE, April 10 (AP)—Andrew C. Heimbach has no automobile, but he can console himself with the possession of something even harder to get—a reserved downtown parking space.

He rates the space by virtue of his job as clerk of the grand jury.

It soon got around among local salesmen that he has nothing bigger than a pair of rubbers to put in it, and he was deluged with so many calls that his family has given up answering the phone.

"One man pulled up in front of the courthouse with a $5,300 car and not long after that a fellow wanted me to go out and look at a station wagon," Heimbach said. "Man, I couldn't even buy a tire."

Woman Is Wounded In Struggle With Burglar Over Revolver

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 10 (U.P.)—Mrs. C. E. Gross, 48, was in a hospital with a thumb wound today after she grappled with a burglar over a .32 caliber revolver he tried to wrest from her hand.

Mrs. Gross snatched the gun from a dresser drawer when a prowler surprised her in a bedroom last night. He at first threatened her with a broom, and then grabbed for the gun in her hand.

The prowler fled after the pistol went off, inflicting a bullet wound in Mrs. Gross' thumb.

FRESH BLOOD A MUST FOR FREE ENERGY

Do you feel like you are tied to a drag everytime you try to do something? If so, don't let a low blood count hold you down when you may release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Mezzo-Soprano Will Be Symphony Artist

FRANCES DEMOND

Guest artist who will appear with the Lubbock Symphony orchestra Tuesday, April 20, in its final concert of the season, is Frances DeMond, mezzo-soprano, who is said to have one of the most beautiful voices in the world.

The fact that Miss DeMond has been unable to walk since the age of nine as a result of poliomyelitis, has not inhibited her music career. Last summer she was given the title role in the Houston Summertime Opera company's production of "Roberta" and this season she has sung with the Houston and Dallas Symphony orchestra and has been on an extensive concert tour.

Her experience in life has enabled her to give either deep emotional interpretation or wit and merriment different compositions.

The Lubbock concert which will begin at 8 p. m., in Lubbock Senior High school auditorium will include a program of symphonic and wlel loved music and a medley of show tunes from "Oklahoma." Tickets are on sale at Adair and South Plains Music stores and at the Varsity Book store. General admission is $1.80 and reserved seats are $2.40.

Rain Needed In Parts Of Texas

AUSTIN, April 10. (U.P.)—Rain is urgently needed in the southwest, Edwards plateau, trans-Pecos and South Plains counties to replenish stock water and start feed grass, the United States Department of Agriculture reported today.

In a range and livestock report on conditions as of April 1, the department said development of new range feed was less than normal during March over much of the state.

Heavy freezes cut down clover, rescue grass and some weeds. Recovery, generally, has been slower than expected, the department noted.

Supplemental feeding is continuing onu many ranches in the dry areas.

High Winds Hurt

Although grass is "generally plentiful in the upper coastal and eastern counties," high winds during the last week in March dissipated surface moisture in most parts of the state.

Condition of all ranges was reported at 74 per cent, a 2 point improvement in the last 30 days, but still 7 points below average. Cattle were on poor flesh over much of the state. The department reported that marketing of cattle during the first two months of 1948 amounted to 163,000 head, the smallest number during that period since 1933.

A further decline in the condition of sheep was attributed to a continued scarcity of green feed. Condition of the sheep was reported at 72 per cent, 11 points below average and a 2 point decline in the last 30 days.

Man Charged In Big Spring Robbery Is Declared Sane

FORT WORTH, April 10 (AP)—William Larry Martin, 29, was held in jail here today to await trial on bank robbery charges.

Martin, who is charged with robbbing the State National bank in Big Spring last December, was declared sane yesterday by U. S. public health hospital psychiatrists.

Martin had entered a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity to the charge.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Cavett Binion said a new trial date must be set for the case. It was originally set for Tuesday in U. S. district court at Abilene, but postponed to allow doctors to make a sanity examination.

Russian Prices Are Cut By New Order

MOSCOW, April 10 (AP) — Russian housewives went shopping today with a ruble that bought more because prices have been cut.

Pravda, Communist party newspaper, said:

"The steady reduction in prices is the stable policy conducted by the party and the government. New reductions are proved possible thanks to the general advance of the national economy, which saw the main division of socialist industry fulfill its plan in the first quarter, before schedule."

Price cuts followed a decree of the council of ministers yesterday reducing prices 10 to 20 per cent on a broad range of goods.

(The Moscow radio, heard in London quoted Pravda as saying that life has become better and easier in the Soviet Union. The broadcast said that in capitalist nations, "retail prices are going up and consumer goods are becoming systematically dearer.")

Plans Announced For Implement Show And Service School Here

An all-day farm implement show and service school, designed to help tractor owners and operators in maintenance of aging equipment that cannot be replaced due to manufacturing shortages, is to be held here April 21 at the fair grounds, it was announced yesterday by D. W. Sherrill, county agent.

Implement dealers of this city are cooperating in the school under joint sponsorship of the extension service.

The show is to give through speakers, films, and demonstrations, information on the care and maintenance of tractors and similar equipment, and will offer displays of equipment by the dealers, Sherrill said.

Farmers Urged To Attend

Such a course is believed by Sherrill to be especially timely because farmers are forced by shortage of new equipment to do their job on the farm with tractors and other pieces that require constant maintenance due to age and long use.

Sherrill urged particularly that farmers, farm boys, 4-H club and Future Farmers of America boys, tractor drives and others who handle such equipment, to attend the day's course.

The session is to open at 9:30 with showing of a safety film. Various phases of tractor care and maintenance will be discussed and demonstrated at stated intervals during the day. These include:

At 10:30, fuel intake and carburetion; at 11, air cleaner service, at 11:30, displays and explanations of equipment.

After a one-hour lunch period, with no lunch on the grounds unless brought by the individual or group, the afternoon session starts at 1 o'clock with showing of a film on care and maintenance of equipment; at 1:30, cooling system; at 2, sparkplug wiring and battery service; at 2:30, lubrication (engine, transmission, and general); and at 3:30 to conclude the course is inspection of exhibits.

Tech Petroleum Engineers To Attend Exposition At Tulsa

A group of graduating petroleum engineering students at Texas Technological college will attend the International Petroleum exposition at Tulsa, May 15-22, W. L. Ducker, department head, has announced.

Attendance this year by the petroleum students will mark the first organized participation by the college in the exposition. The 1948 show is a revival of the International Oil Fair which was discontinued in 1940.

The Texas Tech representatives will be at the exposition during the last two days only. An attendance of some 4,000 persons is expected this year.

The area in which the exposition will be housed was described by Ducker following a recent visit as a "beehive of activity." Manufacturers representing the entire industry, from field to market, are preparing for this biennial display.

Safety Certificates, Pins To Be Awarded In Bicycle Check

Second annual safety lane contest and bicycle checkup of the Lubbock Bicycle club, sponsored by the safety committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held Monday and Tuesday at various schools over the city, it was announced yesterday by Gene Quest, chairman of the sponsoring committee.

Those whose bicycles pass the various tests that include equipment checkup and a riding course test, are to receive a safety certificate and a pin in the form of a bicycle. The Jaycee committee has 2,000 of the pins on hand, and anticipates distributing all of them in the campaign.

Cooperating with the Jaycees are the Boy Scouts, City Recreation department, police department, State highway patrol, Boys club, and public schools.

Boy Scouts are to be in charge on the lane tests, with assignments made by troops at certain schools during the two days. They will be supervised by city policemen and members of the state highway patrol.

Monday's schedule calls for the following assignments:

Scout troops 3 and 10 at Central Junior high, O. L. Slaton Junior high, and Central ward; troop 2 at Gaudalupe; Troop 8 at K Carter; Troop 96 at McWhorter; and Troop 100 at Sanders.

Tuesday's assignments are:

Ex. Post 10 at Geo. R. Bean; Troop 103 at Chris Harwell; Troop 7 at Dupre and Senior High; Troop 9 at East Broadway school during the morning and at 36th Street for the afternoon; Troop 5 at Hunt; Troop 6 at Wilson; and Troop 19 at Dunbar.

The riding course portion of the contest is designed to determine ability of the rider to handle a wheel. This starts with an inspection ring, where bikes are checked over for condition. The course then is worked out as follows:

Course Described

Riding 100 feet on level straightaway without touching either border line; double circle, rider enters circle to right, riding clockwise in first circle, and making a figure 8 by riding second circle counter-clockwise; a series of tires seven feet apart, rider to weave in and out between them, giving proper sign with each maneuver; then as test of ability to balance, rider moves slowly for 75 feet on level ground in a three-ft. lane in not less than half a minute without touching either side line or losing balance.

The inspection ring on condition of bikes will include checks of the following:

Equipment Is Checked

Head light, tail light, brakes, condition of tires and pedals, broken spokes, chain lubrication, wheel cones tight, chain adjustment, cracked or broken frame, loose spokes, crank cones tight, handle bars tight, fork bearings tight, and proper tire inflation.

All boys and girls in the city who use bicycles are invited to take the tests which lead to membership in the bicycle club. With the membership goes the certificate and pin.

B-36 Stays In Air More Than 30 Hours

FORT WORTH, April 10 (AP) — A B-36 bomber ended more than 30 hours of test flight yesterday, but cauld have stayed up longer.

Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. and Air Force officials said the flight—longest ever made by the world's biggest land-based bomber—was not a maximum effort test.

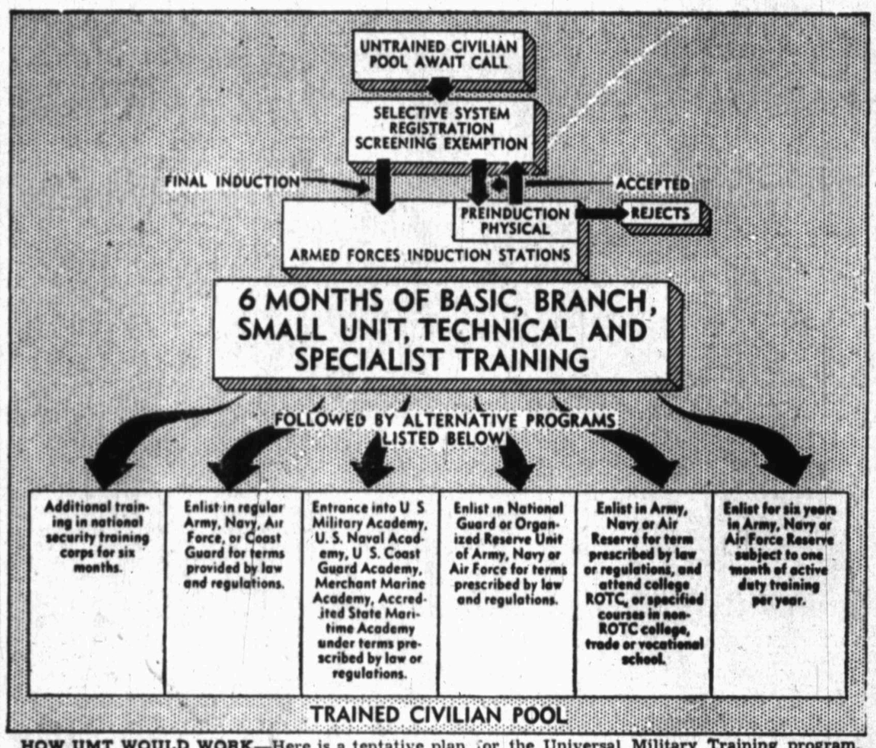

The plane shuttled between here and the west coast several times. Officials would not disclose the distance covered nor the exact time in the air.

B. A. Erickson, Convair test pilot, flew the huge bomber. Convair personnel and Air Force observers were part of the 11-man crew.

A brief announcement by Convair and the Air Force made from the office of R. G. Mayer, Convair division manager, said:

"The B-36 has landed in Fort Worth after an extensive test flight which was part of the normal testing program. Although the flight was the longest made by the aircraft to date, it definitely was not a maximum effort test. No attempt was made to set either disance, duration or any other type of record."

The earliest bells were made of metal plates riveted together, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

HOW UMT WOULD WORK—Here is a tentative plan for the Universal Military Training program, as described by the Army. The year's training for 18-year-olds (or 17, witht parents' consent) would include six months' basic training followed by an additional six months in the UMT corps or alternatives shown above.

Preventing Criminals Would Be Cheaper Than Assessing Punishment, Expert Says

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 10.—When a gun-toting youth on a rampage shoots and kills a cop here, it costs the state about $125,000 to send him through the courts to the electric chair.

"And if he gets a life term it eventually costs almost double that," says Edwin J. Lukas, executive director of the Society for the Prevention of Crime.

"But if one-tenth that amount had been spent on the same boy when he was a youngster, the crime would never have happened. The boy would still be free and the policeman alive.

Prevention Cheaper

"It is cheaper—much cheaper—to prevent crime than to punish criminals."

The Society for the Prevention of Crime operated under a different theory when it was organized in 1878. The "do good" people had the idea then they could stop crime by sending gamblers and prostitutes to jail, tearing down Tammany hall, and prosecuting corrupt cops they caught grabbing at graft.

Now the society has decided that trying to stop crime under its old program was like trying to cure stomach cancer by taking off a finger wart.

Prevent Criminal

"The way to prevent crime is to prevent the criminal", said Lukas. A 46-year-old lawyer who gave up a better-paying legal practise seven years ago to come to the society.

This pat phrase sums up a program to abolish crime which Lukas feels is neither patsy nor visionary.

"The criminal is a sick man," said Lukas, who spent 18 years himself as a criminal and civil attorney. "But his disease should have been detected and cured in early childhood. Jails and prisons don't stop crime.

Train For Parenthood

"Insecurity of any kind is perhaps the beginning point of all anti-social behavior. Crime is always a symptom of a purely personal maladjustment in the life of the offender.

"I have talked to hundreds of adult criminals, and I don't know of one who felt that when he was a child he was loved and wanted by his parents."

How can you "prevent the criminal?"

"A utopian way would be to train people for parenthood," said Lukas. "If we could do that—train them to be parents just as they are trained now to become cooks or lawyers or doctors or bus drivers—it would be the most significant step ever taken in the prevention of crime."

He listed as danger symptoms in children habitual lying, over-aggressiveness, stammering, habitual setting of fires, exhibitionism, excessive shyness or extreme behavior of any kind.

Three Units Of Blood Plasma Donated To Tech Infirmary

Three units of approximately 1,500 cc's of blood plasma has been donated free of charge to the Texas Technological college infirmary by the college unit of the Red Cross.

The plasma will be available to all students without charge, college officials stated. The plasma was part of that collected for the armed forces during the war and never used.

There is an ample supply of blood plasma on hand at the local Red Cross blood bank in Lubbock, the announcement stated, but the supply is growing low and a new drive for blood will begin with the arrival of special equipment at the new Red Cross headquarters at 1513 Avenue K. This new equipment will provide facilities for the typing and storing of blood.

The college unit will conduct a water safety and life saving school May 1-15 and anyone who is a fairly good swimmer, is in good physical condition and is interested in obtaining a senior life saving certificate is invited to enroll, the announcement stated.

Court Upholds Navy Decision

NEW YORK, April 10 (AP)—The U. S. circuit court of appeals has upheld the Navy court martial conviction of Chief Signalman Harold E. Hirshberg, accused of striking two fellow prisoners-of-war in a Japanese prison camp.

The circuit court handed down its two-to-one decision yesterday reversing a U. S district court ruling last September which voided the Navy trial and its sentence of a dishonorable discharge and 10 months imprisonment.

Had Reenlisted

At that time the district court ruled the Navy lacked jurisdiction to try Hirshberg since he had been honorably discharged after the offenses allegedly took place and then had reenlisted.

The new ruling holds that the 29-year-old petty officer's honorable discharge "does not terminate the jurisdiction of the Navy to call him to account for offenses during that enlistment."

Hirshberg, now stationed at a Navy receiving station in Brooklyn, indicated last night he would seek a rehearing.

Decision Restored

The district court's reversal had been appealed by the Navy. Navy spokesmen said yesterday's decision automatically restored the original court martial sentence but that no action would be taken until a final order is entered. The order might take several days.

Hirsberg pleaded he had tried to maintain discipline among his fellow prisoners in order to shield them from Japanese punishment.

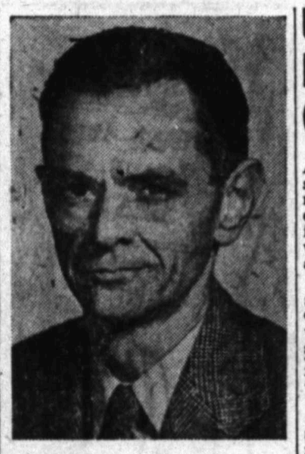

Finding Of Old Coins Causes Gold Rush To Banks Of River

HIGHLANDS, N J., April 10 (AP)—A new "gold" rush is underway here after several 18th century coins were found near the banks of the Navesink river.

Undaunted by a brisk wind and the unseasonable cold, several hundred persons clawed at the banks of the river yesterday with rakes, picks and shovels.

Halted only by darkness, most promised to resume the search today.

William Cottrell, who touched off the proceedings when he found the first coin Wednesday, said he had been told the coins were worth about $200 each. He said the evaluation was given by a friend who is a collector.

U. S. Scientist Says Reynolds Negligent On Expedition Plans

COLUMBUS, O., April 10 (U.P.)—An Ohio State university scientist, stranded in China by Chicago pen manufacturer Milton Reynolds during his recent mountain-hunting trip, was back home today with nothing but bitter words about the expedition.

Dr. Richard P. Goldthwait, associate professor of geology at Ohio State, complained that there were "unnecessary" delays in the search for a mountain in the Anne Machin range believed higher than Mt. Everest.

Mysterious Flight Made

The geologist said that Reynolds and his pilot, Bill Odom, made one mysterious flight of 13½ hours that indicated they were seeking to find the mountain without the scientists.

Bill Odom appeared reluctant to share the glory of any discovery with the scientists. The evidence points to Odom's flying to the mountain range with Reynolds," Goldthwait said.

Reynolds, however, explained that the flight was to Calcutta. He said he returned to Shanghai when he found out that all of his crew did not have proper visas.

Questions Gas Leak

The professor and other scientists were stranded in Shanghai when Odom and Reynolds made a sudden departure for Tokyo. Goldthwait arrived here Sunday by commercial airliner.

Goldthwait said that the weather seemed "perfect" for the flight on at least three days, despite reports to the contrary.

Odom was blamed by the professor for poor preparation of the plane and frequent delays "right from the start." Goldthwait said that the "complaint of a gas leak was questionable" which caused the expedition to return to the United States at the outset of the expedition.

Reynolds' abrupt flight to Tokyo and then to the United States leaving the others behind, may have been "because he had something —perhaps aerial photographs of the mountain—that he did not wish to show to the Chinese government," Goldthwait added.

T. O. (Tommie) Heald, who lives on route 7, Lubbock, Saturday made formal announcement of his candidacy for commissioner of Precinct No. 1, Lubbock county, subject to the action of voters in the Democratic primaries.

"I was born and reared on the farm in Texas and am now farming in this precinct," Heald's statement read. "I am 44 years old, raised a family of three children, two boys and one girl. Both boys served in the armed forces and saw combat duty.

"I have thought this over thoroughly and decided to make the race," he continued. "I know it will be impossible for me to see each and every voter as farming time is right here on us and we will be very busy, but I will try to see as many as possible.

"I am a member of the Builders Trade council and the REA association.

"I think I understand the needs of the roads and improved streets of this precinct. I drive over them every day and I believe they can be improved considerably. When you go to the polls to cast your vite, elect T. O. (Tommie) Heald as your servant for the next two years.

Stay Of Sentence Granted To Three

AUSTIN, April 10 (AP)—Three death sentences have been stayed for 30 days by Gov. Beauford H. Jester.

The governor's customary constitutional reprieves were granted yesterday to George Raymond Gardner, Joseph Lee Saulter and Miguel Flores.

Gardner's execution date is moved from May 14 to June 13. He is under sentence from Harris county for murder in the slaying of Arval Johnson. Court records indicated the shooting followed a triangle involving the two men and a woman.

Saulter's execution date is moved from May 10 to June 9. He is under sentence from Galveston county for murder in the knife slaying in a Galveston tavern of Thelma Leslie, with whom he had been living. The woman's throat was cut when she refused to give her beer to Saulter, court records said.

Flores' execution date is moved from April 29 to May 29. He is under sentence from Goliad county for murder in the shotgun slaying of Paul "Blue" Gibson. Court records included a confession from Flores in which he admitted shooting Gibson "because I was mad and he wanted to take my gun." Flores was returning with the gun to a cafe where he had become angry on being asked to leave, court records said.

Oil Industry Leaders Studying Nation's Needs For Next Winter

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, April 10.—Hot summer months just ahead present no problem but the oil industry is wondering just how well the nation is going to keep warm next winter.

There is a great difference of opinion.

R. S. Bohn, president of the Oil Heat institute, predicts 350,000 additional oil-burning furnaces can be installed for next winter without overtaxing oil supplies.

Murray Sounds Warning

William J. Murray, member of the Texas Railroad commission, warns that home owners installing new oil heating facilities "will be running the risk of staying cold because the oil won't be available to burn."

Bohn estimates 800,000 burner units and 1,800,000 space heaters were installed last year.

Russell D. Brown, general council for the Independent Petroleum Association of America, says, however, the postwar surge in buying oil burning heaters has subsided to a normal rate.

Holliday Offers Solution

W. T. Holliday, president of Standard Oil company of Ohio, would solve the matter by having recently installed oil burning facilities converted back to other fuels.

He believes petroleum products should be used wholly for internal combusion units and not for heat.

The oil industry's becoming a "two-fuel' industry, he says, is one of the primary factors leading to current shortages.

"The industry could have met the demand for gasoline after the war with ease," he stated, "but the rapid conversion to oil heaters was made without heating unit manufacturers looking back to see where the supply of fuel could be obtained."

Crude Production Up

Both the American Petroleum institute and the Oil and Gas Journal list increases in daily crude oil production averages for the week ending April 3, but warnings of trouble ahead came from other sources.

Secretary of Interior Julius Krug warned the Senate Small Business committee that present drains on oil wells in some areas is so high it endangers future production.

Murray, speaking before the Western Petroleum Refiners association' convention, predicted Texas proration allowables will be reduced shortly.

The Texas commissioner said evidence collected so far in commission hearings designed to establish new maximum efficiency rates for all of the state's oil fields indicates a "downward trend."

The hearings are to continue until late this month.

Production Hike Small

API's latest daily crude production report for the nation totals 5,388,700 barrels, an increase of 11,450 daily over the week ending March 27 and comparable to 4,891,600 a year earlier.

The Oil and Gas Journal estimate of 5,402,985 daily, represents an increase of only 4,495 barrels daily.

Gasoline production was estimated by API at 15,850,000 barrels daily, as compared to 15,783,000 the previous week and 14,342,000 the same week last year.

Prospects appear brighter on the international picture for the return of American oil companies to Mexico.

At least four companies are reported to be negotiating to accept a recen. Mexican government offer to prospect for oil there and develop any new fields under government lease.

The offer was made after a 10-year ban on American operations in Mexico.

Far East Fields Restored

From Singapore com.. a report that oil production in the Shell group of the Netherlands East Indies and British Borneo has been restored to approximately one half of the prewar output of 7,000,000 metric tons.

State notes: New wells drilled in California during the first three months of the year totaled 150 more than the same period last year. . . . Production tests are underway at Stanolind's number 1 Briscoe well, Grady county, Okla., which tested 66.12 barrels of oil in five hour form a sand zone tentatively set at 13,673 to 14,192 feet, with total depth at 15,184, a new Oklahoma depth record. . . . Congress has approved legislation authorizing Montana, North and South Dakota and Washington full control over leasing of state lands for oil and gas production. . . . Long expected explorations in western Tennessee is about to begin, with geophysical work already underway.

San Antonio Girl Is Elected Sweetheart

AUSTIN, April 10 (AP) — Miss Ann Tynan, small blonde psychology major from San Antonio, is the sweetheart of the University of Texas.

Around 6,000 persons jammed Gregory gymnasium to watch the 19-year-old, brown-eyed girl crowned last night.

The five foot, four inch school sweetheart, is the daughter of state Senator and Mrs. Walter Tynan.

A sophomore, Miss Tynan was picked as one of the ten most beautiful girls at Texas last year and was a finalist in the Aqua-Carnival Queen contest in 1947. She is a company sponsor for an ROTC unit and a member of Kapa Alpha Theta sorority.

Crowning of the university's sweetheart highlighted the 19th annual Ex-students Roundup revue last night.

Sweetheart nominees who will serve in the sweetheart's court are Bonnie Bland, Orange; Martha May Cartwright, Breckenridge, Marion Engelke, San Antonio, and Nell Walker, Beeville and Corpus Christi.

He is Li-Tai-Fan, a delegate to the national assembly. He was beaten while vacationing here briefly from assembly sessions in Nanking.

Her report card was found today sticking in a hedge on a farm at Bearsdale, near Decatur. The girls parents said it must have been carried 80 miles by the tornado which destroyed the Fosterburg school building on March 30.

Texas Voters More Optimistic Toward Price Drop, Poll Shows

By JOE BELDEN
Director, The Texas Poll

AUSTIN, April 10 — Texas public opinion on the cost of living has grown more optimistic during the last six months, and since the February break in the commodities market, sentiment, for governmental price control has shown a marked drop.

The Texas Poll, which samples statewide opinion continuously, reveals these facts from its latest survey:

1. For every Texan who thinks the cost of living will continue going up, there are now two who say it is going down. Six months ago opinion lined up in the opposite direction.

2. Forty-five per cent now think the government should put ceilings on food prices. In January, just before the break in the grain market, 56 per cent favored price ceilings.

3. Opinion is in transition. The drop in public approval of price control may be attributed more to a "wait—let's see" attitude following the recent market development than to changed convictions. This is shown by the fact that the group undecided about controls has almost doubled.

Some Prices Drop

In the last six months, probably the most powerful influence on cost-of-living opinion has been the decline in some grocery prices following the February market plunge. Other factors include President Truman's earlier call for stiff anti-inflation measures, with stand-by authority to fix prices and wages, and Congress' passage of a milder anti-inflation program.

Last October and again in March, The Texas Poll put this question ot a representative cross-section of the adult population:

"Six months from now, do you think the cost of living will be higher, lower, or about the same as now?"

	October	March
Higher	42%	15%
Lower	14	31
About same	37	47
Don't know	7	7
	100%	100%

The division of opinion on the above question is practically the same in all groups of the population. But opinion varies significantly from group to group on the question of price control:

"If you were a member of Congress, would you vote for or against a bill giving the President power to put a ceiling on food prices?"

	January	March
For	56%	45%
Against	37	42
Undecided	7	13
	100%	100%

Analysis of current opinion:

	For	Agnst.	Undcd.
All adults	45%	42%	13%
By sex:
Men	42	46	12
Women	48	38	14
By economic level:
Below avg.	50	35	15
Ave. & above	38	52	10
By education:
By education:
Grade and no school	47	34	19
High school	46	42	12
College	40	50	10
By occupation:
Proprietors, professional, salaried executives	34	54	12
Wage earners	47	39	14
Urban housewives	32	14	54
farmers, ranchers	36	50	14
Farm housewives	44	39	17
Retired, unemployed, and students	58	39	3

Those who look for living costs to rise within the next six months vote 60 per cent for price ceilings, 28 against, 12 undecided. Those who expect costs to go down vote 42 per cent for, 50 against, 8 undecided. Those who think prices will stay at present levels vote 41 per cent for price ceilings, 44 against, 15 undecided.

DALLAS, April 10 (AP)—John R. Haven, vice-president of the Republic National bank and a Texas banker since 1898, died here yesterday.

Born in Denison May 22, 1877, Haven began his banking career with the National bank there in 1898. He served as vice-president of the First State bank of Denison at the time it was organized.

He was a member of the executive committee of Boy Scouts of America, Circle 10.

Haven had been vice president of the Republic National bank since 1922.

New Welding Process To Be Shown Here

A demonstration of "revolutionary" welding equipment and methods, called a "welding jamboree" by the sponsoring Eutectic Welding Alloys Corp., is to be held in the Merchants building at the fair grounds here Monday night, starting at 7 o'clock.

The announcement was made by L. W. Pickford, of the New Products Distributing Company of Lubbock, distributor in this area for the Eutectic equipment.

The jamboree will include demonstration of a new type, low operating cost, surface and underwater metal cutter that employs an electric arc-vapor known by the trade name of CutTrode.

In the demonstration will be shown also a newly-developed low temperature welding rod, one of 103 different rods developed by the Eutectic corporation for the welding industry.

Pickford said the demonstrations heretofore have been confined to larger cities, and he anticipates attendance of several hundred from this area who are interested in the welding industry, its innovations and advancements.

He said the CutTrode cutter severs heavy metal like a sharp knife cuts a soft article, and that the welding equipment will weld cast iron without puddling or changing its consistency.

The loss of one eye does not cut down the field of vision by one-half, but by about one-fifth.

House Committee Works On Law To Protect Against Communism

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 10—At a time when this country is alarmed by Communism abroad, handling it here seems quite a job.

This is made plain in a report by the House Un-American activities committee.

The committee has recommended that the full Congress pass a number of laws to block Communists and Communism here.

Can the Communist party be outlawed in this country? That was the first problem the committee faced.

Free Speech Cited

It decided this couldn't be done without violating the constitutional right of free speech. And there was the future to think of.

Suppose Congress outlawed the Communist party today and the Supreme Court said this was constitutional. Then tomorrow—

Couldn't the Republicans, say, if they controlled Congress, pass a law outlawing the Democratic party or any other political party?

If they could, then they'd be able to set up the Republican party as the only one in this country. And that would mean a dictatorship. Or the Democrats could do the same.

After thinking this one over, the committee said:

"We cannot run the risk of infringing upon the freedom of all our people in order to curb the Communists who seek to destroy our form of government.

Something New

"The Communist party in its operations presents a problem which is something new under the sun. It changes its spots, its tactics, and strategy without conscience . . .

"Acting alone, the Communist party of the United States does not constitute a substantial threat to the nation but, acting as it does as the American bridgehead of the Red Army, which has directly or indirectly crushed country after country under its iron heel, the Communist party of the United States, without question, constitutes a clear and present danger to our national security."

So there was the committee's problem. The party itself can't be outlawed. And the committee decided:

If you can't act against the party, at least you ought to be able to act against people who are members of the party. Then it said:

The Communist party is part of a world conspiracy dominated by the Russian Communists.

Having linked the Communist party to a world conspiracy the committee then figured Congress can pass a law against anyone who is:

1. Knowingly taking part in a conspiracy directed by a foreign power. The committee didn't say Russia at this point but that's what it meant.

2. Urging the overthrow of this government to bring it under the control of a foreign Communist power. Again, this would be Russia.

If the government tried to enforce such a law it would have to prove three things.

That there's a world-wide Communist conspiracy; that the man charged under the law was taking part in it; that a foreign Communist power wanted to get control of the United States.

Whether that would be easy to do—on all three counts—remains to be seen. But the committee says that under such a law:

Leaders Subject

"The master conspirators of the Communist movement in the United States can, without question, be prosecuted."

So, without outlawing the party, the government under such a law could try to smash the party by prosecuting the leaders of the party.

All this, as pointed out, is only the recommendation of the House Un-American activities committee.

Nothing will happen unless Congress passes such a law, someone is arrested, and the Supreme Court decides whether such a law is constitutional.

So it would take a good while before this country could step on the Communist leaders in this country.

Children Would Get Trip To Washington

CARLINVILLE, Ill., April 10 (AP)—A Democratic candidate for Congress says if he is elected in November he will give 100 underprivileged children a free trip to Washington.

The candidate is Peter F. Mack, jr., 31, an unmarried automobile dealer making his first venture into politics. He is a Navy veteran.

Mack's father estimates the project would cost upward of $5,000. He said his son proposed to make it an annual affair so long as he holds the congressional seat for Illinois' 21st district.

In newspaper advertisements, young Mack has said he wants "to do something substantial" for the district's needy children.

"If something is not done for them soon, Communism will lure them away as is being done in many nations of Europe," he said.

"The children are to be selected without discrimination as to race, creed or political affiliation by school teachers in cooperation with the superintendents of schols in the seven counties making up the district."

Mack's candidacy is opposed in next Tuesday's Democratic primary by Harvey Beam of Riverton, a lawyer. Both seek the seat vacated last fall by Evan Howell, Springfield Republican, who resigned following his appointment to the U. S. court of claims.

Although it provides wood of many uses, bamboo is really a grass.

FIRE WIPES OUT CENTER OF TOWN—This is an air view of $500,000 pre-dawn fire which began in a lumber yard at Marysville, Calif. and leaped before a strong wind to destroy the yard, a church, plumber's store and four two-story dwellings. No one was injured. Firemen from nearby Yuba city jointd in a four-hour battle to stop the blaze. (AP Wirephoto.)

Gaines County Provides The Major News Of Oil Development Over South Plains During The Week

GAINES county provided the features of the oil development activity on the South Plains during the last seven days.

A new wildcat was staked for immediate drilling in the west-central sector and the first well in that county to show for petroleum back in 1936, has been revived, and put on production, after having been temporarily abandoned shortly after it was completed.

The new West-Central Gaines County prospector will be Union Oil company of California No. 1 T. C. Weltner. It is 1,980 feet from south and 662 feet from west lines of section 16, block A-12, psl survey.

Test Near Hobbs

That puts it eight miles southeast of Hobbs, N. M. It is slated to dig to 5,000 feet to test into the San Andres-Permian.

Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation No. 1 W. H. Kirk is the revived producer in south-central Gaines county, about 10 miles south of Seminole.

It is 330 feet from the south and west lines of section 22, block A, psy survey. The project was drilled in 1936 by The Landreth company. It showed a small amount of oil at that time—but was never put on regular production, and was temporarily abandoned and has remained in that condition until recently.

Anderson-Prichard acquired a spread of leases around the old hole, re-entered it, cleaned it out, and installed a pump.

Oil Show Reported

Operator reported that on the official potential test, run during the past week, the well pumped 27.54 barrels of 30 gravity oil from pay in the San Andres-Permian at 4,350-4,870 feet. That zone had been treated with 3,000 gallons of acid.

The Texas company, Humble Oil & Refining company and Ralph Lowe No. 1 Jenkins, in extreme southwest Gaines county, about eight miles northwest of the Fullerton field, in northwest Andrews county, and in southwest quarter of section 4, block A-25, psl survey, had reached 7,0003 feet in lime and was drilling ahead. It is slated to go to about 12,500 feet to try to find and test the Ellenburger.

Argo Oil Corporation No. 1-N Jones, scheduled 9,600 foot wildcat in northwest Gaines county, 10 miles southwest of Denver City, and in northwest quarter of section 496, block G, CCSD—RGNG survey, had reached 4,925 feet in lime, and was drilling ahead.

This venture ran a drillstem test in the San Andres-Permian zone at 4,850-4,915 feet. The tool was open one and one half hours. Recovery was 370 feet of drilling mud, cut with sulphur water. There were some slight signs of oil and gas.

Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 9-A Riley, wildcat to 7,000 feet, to test for production in the Glorieta section, on the northwest side of the regular Seminole field, and 1,980 feet from south and 1,820 feet from east lines of section 249, block G, WT survey, had reached 6,521 feet in lime, and was going ahead.

Gaines Test Completed

Honolulu Oil Corporation No. 2 White, et el, one quarter of a mile stepout from the nearest completed producers in the North Riley field of central-west Gaines county, about 13 miles west and slightly north of Seminole, and 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 404, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, has been completed for a 24-hour flowing potential of 170 barrels of oil, from pay at 6,780-6,950 feet.

That zone had been treated with a total of 3,500 gallons of acid. The flow on the completion test was through a 1/4 inch tubing choke. Gravity of the oil was 32 degrees.

Fikes and Murchison No. 17-C Elliott, Southwest Yoakum county prospector to 7,500 feet, on the west side of the Wasson 5,100 foot field, and 1,312 feet from south and 1,070 feet from east lines of section 832, block 9, John H. Gibson survey, had reached 5,978 feet in lime, and was making more hole.

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Birtie T. Brown, central Yoakum county venture, three miles southwest of Plains, and 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 446, block D, John H. Gibson survey, was still Lottomed at 5,303 feet, and was trying to loosen and recover a stuck string of tools so that a cleanout job could be continued. The cleanout is following a nitro glycerin shot. The well has shown some oil, and may make a producer when thoroughly cleaned out to bottom.

Well Drilling Ahead

Bankline Oil Company No. 1, F. L. Butler, slated 5,100 foot venture in southeast Terry county, in the northwest corner of section 12, block C-39, pls survey, had spudded and reached 1,420 feet in redbeds and was drilling ahead at the last of the week.

Proven Oil company, L. M. Glasco, et al, No. 1 George W. Herd, trustee, southeast Garza county exploration, three miles south of Justiceburg, and in northwest quarter of section 29, block 6, H&GN survey, was installing a pump to test and try to complete, as an oil well, and a new discovery from the San Andres zone of the Permian lime.

This project had treated with section at 2,445-2,510 feet, with 1,000 gallons and with 6,000 gallons of acid. After an extended period of swabbing it was making about two barrels of fluid per hour—50 per cent oil and 50 per cent acid water. The water was decreasing, and it it though there is a possibility that the project may soon be finished as a small pumper.

Ralph Lowe No. 1 Wright, central Cochran county wildcat, nine miles southwest of Whiteface, and 440 feet from south and west lines of labor 25, league 95, Mills county school lands, was on a total depth of 4,950 feet in San Andres lime, and was swabbing to test, after having treated the section at 4,860-4,950 feet with 1,000 gallons of acid.

New Test Planned

The section which was treated had shown streaks of porosity and oil stains on cores and the well likely will be finished as a producer and an extension to the Levelland field.

Cities Service Oil Company No. 1-C F. C. Maston is to be a 5,200-foot wildcat in south-central Cochran county, six miles southeast of Bledsoe. It is located 660 feet from south and west lines of labor 19, league 150, Randall county school lands.

That puts it about three miles northwest of The Atlantic Refining company No. 1 Maston, a recently completed small pumping discovery from the San Andres.

Atlantic No. 1-B F. O. Maston, one location west of the same company's No. 1 Maston, the discovery, and located 694 feet from north and west lines of labor 11, league 133, Armstrong county school lands, had treated the sections between 5,004-32 feet and 5,044-67 feet, with acid, and was swabbing to clean out and test. Those intervals had shown slight signs of possible production when drilled through.

George P. Livermore, Inc., No. 1 David Parsons, central Hockley county wildcat, four and one-half miles southwest of Levelland, and 440 feet from north and west lines of labor 25, league 30, Baylor county school lands, had treated the open hole section at 4,865-4,907 feet, with 10,000 gallons of acid.

After the load from the injection had been swabbed out the well swabbed at the average rate of two and three quarter barrels of oil per hour, cut with three per cent sediment. Operator was continuing to swab to clean out and test. It may be drilled deeper, unless it develops a large oil yield in a few days.

No Oil Is Found

DeKalb Agricultural Association, Inc., No. 1 Ted Gray, one and one-half miles north of the Yellowhouse field, in northwest Hockley county, and 440 feet from south and west lines of labor 2, league 705, State Capital Lands, had reached 4,097 feet in lime, and was drilling ahead to about 5,000 feet to test the San Andres-Permian.

Ray A. Albaugh No. 1 Mrs. Nellie Slaughter DeLoache, one mile west of Pettit, three miles north of the nearest production in the Levelland field, and 440 feet from north and east lines of labor 16, league 77, Reeves County School Lands, drilled to a total depth of 4,795 feet, in lime, and had not found any signs of petroleum production. The project was shutdown for orders, and it has been indicated that it likely will be plugged and abandoned in a few days.

Honolulu Oil Corporation No. 1 1-13 Ellwood, east-central Hockley county wildcat, three and one half miles north of Smyer and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 13, block A, R. M. Thompson survey, had reached 4,577 feet in lime, and was making more hole.

Honolulu and Signal Oil & Gas company No. 1-4 Ellwood, four miles north of Ropesville, in southeast Hockley county, and 660 feet from north and west lines of labor 24, league 5, Wilbarger County School Lands had progressed below 4,811 feet in dry lime, and was continuing. Both the above projects are to go to 7,500 feet—unless they get production above that point.

Test Is Abandoned

Sun Oil company No. 1 Herring, in southwest Castro county, five miles south of Dimmit, and 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 46, block T-4, T. A. Thompson survey, has been plugged and abandoned on a total depth of 10,500 feet, in solid granite. It did no. find any sign of oil or gas, and informed observers reveal that it did not find any true Ellenburger.

General American Oil company No. 1 Byrd, Southeast Hale county discovery from the Cisco section of the Pennsylvanian, about three miles north and a little east of Petersburg, and 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 17, block K, TTRR survey, was continuing to test, preparatory to completing and putting on production.

This important development had treated perforated section at 5,835-95 feet, with 500 gallons of mud acid, and with 1,000 gallons and 6,000 gallons of regular acid.

After an extended period of swabbing the well was producing at the rate of about 11 barrels of oil per hour, swabbing. The exploration is due to be put on production in the near future.

It is understood there is a strong possibility that four new prospectors may be started in the near future in the vicinity of No. 1 Byrd. Those explorations are due to be in each of the four directions from the new producer, and about one half mile away from it. No official information on those project have yet been released.

Humble Oil and Refining company No. 1 T. E. Lutrick, semi-wildcat in south-central Hale county, one quarter of a mile south of the discovery for commercial production in the west Petersburg field, and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 17, block D-8, EL & RR survey, had reached 4,820 feet, in anhydrite, and dolomite, and was

Lubbock County's Red Cross Chapter Puts New Space To Use As Work Is Increased

Efforts of military services to increase enlistments may mean more work for the Lubbock county chapter of the Red Cross and every inch of the new quarters at 1513 Ave. K will be needed, W. C. O'Mara, chapter chairman announced.

The Red Cross recently moved from the City hall to the new quarters located in a structure which formerly was a duplex.

Because of plans to open a blood bank in the near future, more space was needed—and the need would be emphasized if military personnel increases in the nation.

The Red Cross is asked to provide many reports on military personnel and home conditions.

Two kitchens are located in new quarters of the Red Cross. One will be used by technicians and nurses working in typing of blood and will be kept locked when the professional staff is not present. The other kitchen will be used by the canteen, which will function immediately upon opening of the blood bank and will serve light refreshments to donors of blood.

The large waiting room across the front of the building provides space for home service clients and will be used also by the blood bank receptionist and as a waiting room by blood donors and, in addition, provides space for filing cabinets, desks and workers.

Norman Thomas Prefers Not To Run As Socialist Candidate

LOS ANGELES, April 10 (AP)—Norman Thomas, veteran Socialist party leader, says he hopes he won't be drafted again as a presidential candidate.

The man who headed the Socialist ticket five times has designated Prof. Maynard Krueger of the University of Chicago as "my candidate," the selection to be made at the convention in Reading, Pa., next month.

Thomas said in a radio talk last night that despite Socialist desire for a third party movement the party can't "go along" with Henry Wallace because the Wallace movement was "engineered by Communists and near-Communists."

First Baptist Church Opens Revival Today

Joined by other churches in the Lubbock Baptist association where simultaneous services are to be held, the annual spring revival campaign of the First Baptist church here starts today, with Rev. C. Y. Dossey of Dallas to do the preaching and Joe Trussell of Houston leading the singing, it was announced yesterday by Dr. J. Ralph Grant, pastor.

DOSSEY

The meeting is to extend through April 25, with services twice daily, at 10 a. m., and 8 p. m., the announcement said.

Mr. Dossey is with the Home Mission board of the Southern Baptist convention, department of evangelism. Mr. Trussell, who lives at Houston has led revival singing here on previous occasions, and is known to many people.

As part of the general revival effort, evangelistic meetings are to be held at 3 p. m., today at most churches in the association. At the First Baptist church here Dr. Harry Stagg, of Albuquerque, executive secretary of New Mexico Baptists, is to speak.

An invitation was extended to the public to attend the services.

Gaines County Provides Major Oil News In South Plains Area

Two Producers Completed

Two new producers have been officially completed in the southeast Lamb county side of the AntonIrish field. They are;

Anton Oil company No. 2-B J. R. Leftwich, 330 feet from south and east lines of the lease in section 32, block 1, R. M. Thompson survey, made a 24 hour pumping potential of 175.59 barrels of 28.6 gravity oil, with a shakeout of six tenths of one per cent water, and a gas-oil ratio of 160-1. The pay at 5,443-6,050 feet, had been treated with 5,000 gallons of acid.

Anton No. 2-B J. R. Tucker, 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of lease in section 33, block 1, R. M. Thompson survey, was finished for a pumping daily production of 136.81 barrels of 28.7 gravity oil, with no water, and a gas-oil ratio of 175.-. The pay at 5,440-6,050 feet had been treated with 10,000 gallons of acid.

Locations for two new exploration in the southwest Hale county side of the Anton-Irish field, have been reported for immediate drilling. They are:

Stanolind Oil and Gas company No. 4-A Lee Irish, to be 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of the south half of section 18, block DT, HE & WT survey.

Stanolind No. 4-B Lee Irish will be 660 feet from west and 1,980 feet from south lines of section 14, block DT, HE&WT survey. Both the above projects are slated to go to about 6,300 feet, to test into the Clear Fork zone of the lower Permian.

Magnolia No. 1 Garrett, in the Hale county side of the Anton-Irish field, was testing on the section at 5,978-6,045 feet. which had been treated with 1,500 gallons of acid. After the producing possibilities of that zone are determined the venture will make more hole. It is due to be finished as an oil well.

Stanolind No. 1 L. A. Harral had reached 5,194 feet in lime, and was continuing.

Stanolind No. 3-B Lee Irish, had progressed below 4,770 feet in lime, and was making more hole.

Stanolind No. 1 Schooer had drilled past 4,865 feet in lime and was going on down to around 6,300 feet.

Stanolind No. 1 C. A. Rice, was on a total depth of 6,102 feet and is to be officially completed shortly as a producer. It has 55½ inch pipe set at 5,544 feet on the top of the pay.

Stanolind No. 1 Ellwood, in southeast Lamb county had reached 5,181 feet in lime, and was drilling ahead.

Stanolind No. 1 Twilley had drilled to 5,900 feet and has set 5½ inch casing at 5,480 feet, with 200 sacks of cement, and is to drill ahead in a few days.

Foreign Travel Is Encouraged As Means To Hasten Recovery

BY JAMES DANIEL
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 10 — Government bureaus are urging Americans to travel abroad this year as one way of hastening international recovery.

Despite talk about immince of war, travel agencies report that more persons in this county are making plans for foreign travel than at any time in 10 years.

Last year Americans spent $690 million on foreign travel. The international travel department of the American Automobile Ass'n. estimates 1 billion will be spent during 1948.

Travel Encouraged

The State, Commerce and Treasury departments are promoting foreign travel because they say dollars spent by our citizens aboard will lessen the need for American loans.

The American tourist may be regarded as a one-man Marshall plan. The dollars he spends for food, lodging, transportation and souvenirs are collected by the countries he visits and sent back to the United States to buy the products of American farms and factories.

Commerce Secretary Harriman expounded this argument to a Senate committee considering legislation to aid foreign travel. He recalled that American tourists spent $8 billion abroad between 1920 and 1940—equal to half the sulrplus of U. S. exports over imports from other nations.

Selling More

"Our foreign customers must have dollars with which to buy our goods," he said. "Today we are selling abroad much more than we are buying. We want our trade to continue and to expand. Development of our foreign travel is one of the soundest ways to provide other nations with the dollars they need to buy our goods and keep our trade expanding."

Foreign countries, particularly in Europe, are making extraordinary efforts to obtain American tourists this year.

Britain hopes to get 150,000 American visitors, in part because of the Olympics, and has offered additional gasoline for travel far in excess of what she allows her own people. Prices are low there on account of government controls, and U. S. travel agencies hope to have extra food available to Americans to offset some of the austerity.

France's devaluation of the franc makes that country about as cheap to tourists as before the war, and Austria is reported able to offer accommodations at depression prices. There, and in sevtral other countries, groups of hotels have been reserved for tourists.

Belgium, by all accounts is in good shape and the resorts of Switzerland and Sweden have their doors propped open for American travelers.

Travel accommodations from the United States and back are returning to prewar standards as to number and variety. Thirty-five luxury liners are in trans-Atlantic service. Together with fast freighters and converted troopships, they expect to offer about 225,000 round-trip accommodations. The airlines, domestic and foreign, should add another 85,000.

An executive of the Automobile Ass'n. travel department who returned from Euprope this week said only Germany in western Europe was not able to offer tourists comfort and reasonable prices.

Contents Were Worth More Than Building, Firemen Discover

MILLSTADT, Ill., April 10 (AP) —Farmer Joseph Hobelman s smokehouse went up in smoke and $5,000 in currency went with it.

After the fire the ashes of the money were found in a tin box which Hobelman had secreted in an old stove in the smokehouse.

Firemen wrote in their report: loss, building $500; contents $5,000.

CHUCKWAGON BREAKFAST PLANNED

Parade Friday To Open Annual Tech All-Western Days, Rodeo

The 1948 annual All-Western Days and All-College rodeo at Texas Tech will begin with the traditional parade at 5 p. m., Friday, April 16.

Rodeo At Fairgrounds

The rodeo will be held in the Fair grounds arena with the first performance scheduled for 8 p. m., Friday. Entrance fee for contestants entering the various events is $5 for each event entered. Awards will be made for the best all-around cowboy and cowgirl at a dance to be held following the rodeo Saturday night. The awards will be on a point basis with contestants receiving five points for first place, three for second and one for third place for each event in which he entered and placed.

Activities Saturday morning will begin with a chuck wagon breakfast to be held at 6:45 a. m., in Aggie grove, located on the west side of the campus behind the Agriculture building. The breakfast will be filmed by the Tech Chamber of Commerce for the movie being made of all college activities. The afternoon rodeo performance will begin at 2:30 p. m., and festivities will end with the Rodeo dance from 8:30 to 11:30 in the Texas Tech gymnasium.

Lawhorn Is Sheriff

Floyd Lawhorn, senior agriculture student from Temple and great football guard, will preside as sheriff over a large posse of deputies during the colorful two-day celebration. They will be charged with keeping law and order among the assembled "cowhands" both on the campus and at the rodeo performances.

College officials have ruled out the traditional "Bull pen," into which was thrown all those students failing to blossom out in western wear, and they will be allowed to wear what they please, according to Edd Hughes, senior agriculture major from Springfield, Colo.

Tickets for the rodeo will be on sale in the Agriculture building at the college until 3 p. m., April 14.

How To Get By On One Gallon A Day

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP) — The geological survey says a native on a coral island gets along very well on a gallon of fresh water a day but that a white man on the same island would be unhappy with less than 10.

Engineers who surveyed water supplies throughout the Marshalls, Carolines and Marianas said an entire native family will depend upon a single coconut palm for its fresh water during most of the year. The rain runs along the fronds to the midribs, down the trunk and then along crude troughs into tubs or buckets.

To get by on a gallon of water a day, a native:

1. Cooks without water, by wrapping food in broad leaves so that it stews in its own juice.

2. Drinks the milk of unripe coconuts.

3. Bathes on the reef.

4. Does practically no laundering, because he: (a) uses mats instead of bedding or table linen; (b) wears very little clothing.

Woman Who Signed Mayor's Name Keeps City Hall Force Busy

BOSTON, April 9 (AP)—A woman with a penchant for penning the signature of Mayor James M. Curley has had city hall hopping this week.

First, she posed as Curley's secretary and, on official stationery, ordered a department head to report immediately to the mayor with voluminous records.

Then, she ordered a pre-fabricated house from a New Jersey firm, signing Curley's name. Luckily the company telephoned to clear up details and learned of the hoax.

Next, she ordered hundreds of dollars worth of women's finery from a Boston department store and followed that up by firing the head of Boston city hospital.

City officials said the woman is now in a hospital.

Man Is Killed When Struck By Automobile On Texas Highway

TEXARKANA, April 10 (U.P.)—J. F. Foster, 61, of Maud, Tex., was killed late last night when he was struck by a car on highway 67, 20 miles west of here.

Texas Highway Patrolman L. C. Evans said Kenneth N. Rachel, about 19, also of Maud, was the driver of the car. Rachel told officers he did not see the man walking along the highway until he was directly in front of the car.

Rachel was released to appear before Bowie county Attorney Bun Hutchinson today for a full inquest into the accident.

Ex-Governor Of Oklahoma Dies

SHERMAN, April 10 (AP) — Federal Judge R. L. Williams, 79, former governor of Oklahoma, died here at 6 a. m. today.

He had been in a hospital here for some time. His sister, Mrs. Paul A. Walker, Washington, D. C., said he suffered from diabetes, hardening of the arteries and heart disease.

He was governor of Oklahoma from 1915 to 1919. He was appointed federal judge for the eastern district of Oklahoma in 1919. His home is Durant, Okla.

Sister At Bedside

The body was taken to the Poole Funeral home at Durant this morning. With Judge Williams was his sister, Mrs. Walker. A brother, Tom, arrived from Durant this morning and accompanied the body back to Judge Williams' home.

Judge Williams came to the Choctaw Indian country from his native Alabama in 1896. He located at Durant shortly afterward and immediately plunged into territorial Democratic politics.

He was a member of the constitutional convention which preceded Oklahoma's admission to statehood in 1907 and was credited with being the author of a large part of the state's basic law.

He became the state's first chief justice and served until 1914, when he resigned to run for governor. He was elected and served from 1915 to 1919, during the first World war period.

He was unmarried.

Ordinary Face Is Charm Of Walker

By PATRICIA CLARY
United Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, April 10. — A psychologist says that what makes Robert Walker a movie star is the fact that he's just an ordinary fellow with an ordinary face.

Olga Furness says it will keep Walker at the top long after the pretty boys have been forgotten.

Robert Walker

"It's his genuine sincerity, his ability to seem ordinary, and his seeming helplessness that make up his charm," Miss Furness stated after a day of diagnosis while Walker worked on Universal-International's "One Touch of Venus".

The psychologist has been investigating the qualities various stars possesses that make them appeal to audiences.

"Mr. Walker stirs the maternal instince in all women," she decided, "and does not arise the ire of any man. No wonder he's box-office."

Walker has no fear of freckles, wrinkles, blotches or wens. What's one imperfection more or less, he figures, on a face like his?

Homeliness Pays

He knows he's not pretty, but he also knows that his failings are his fortune. It pays him to be the kind of guy whose brow corrugates when he worries and whose eyes crinkle when he smiles.

He exercises all his wrinkles looking worried, scared, perturbed, dismayed, aghast, ecstatic and goofy as he falls into the clutches of Venus, goddess of Love, in the form of Ava Gardner.

So the crinkly wrinkles, the corrugations, freckles and wens are turned on and off, on and off, like little neon signs, throughout the picture and Walker sells Robert Walker thoroughly.

Walker, standing in front of the camera waiting for a scene to start, was rubbing his chin thoughtfully in a familiar Walker gesture.

Rubbing against his five-o'clock shadow might give him new ingrown whiskers, but he didn't care. Why should he?

Illinois now ranks as the second state in cheese production, producing 60,000,000 pounds of cheddar cheese in 1944.

Movie Stars Do Have Tough Assignments In Some Films

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, April 10—How tough is the job of being a movie star?

If you listen to some screen personalities, you'd think their work is only slightly less difficult than that of a sandhog or mule driver. Others, like Glenn Ford, admit that it's like falling off a log. Ordinarily, I would put in with Ford.

But this week I saw something that made me stop and think. It was on the "Julia Misbehaves" set and Cesar Romero was playing an acrobat. He had a guy standing on his shoulders. What's more, another guy leaped from a springboard to the top man's shoulders. There was Romero supporting two men feet-to-shoulders. And no hands!

Gets Workout

Next, six acrobats, including Romero, were to form a human chain to a balcony where Greer Garson was languishing. Mrs. Miniver herself was going to climb down the chain and send the acrobats tumbling.

Well, maybe we are hasty in our judgment of the breast-beating stars. Maybe they do work hard. After all, Gregory Peck just busted a gam in practice riding for a horse opera. Gene Kelly snapped a bone while brushing up on his hoofing. And Esther Williams thumped an ear drum by diving too deep in a swimming scene.

Face Hazards

Although stars are usually as well protected as a Ming vase, they sometimes face hazards. They may be endangered by fire, explosion, horse-riding or fight scenes. Some things can't be faked.

Aside from accidents, what about the rigors of mere acting? It's true that some gals, such as Jennifer Jones and Jane Wyman, get into a wrought-up state over their emotional roles. But most stars take things in stride. They may concentrate heavily on a part, but they don't get lost in it.

One library in Paris contains only books written by women.

Duo-Pianists To Give Concert Here Monday

Vitya Vronsky and Victor Babin, internationally known duo-pianists, will be presented under auspices of the Texas Tech Artist Course at 8 p. m., Monday in the Lubbock High school auditorium.

Vronsky and Babin are making a cross country tour under management of F. C. Coppicus and F. C. Shang of Columbia Concerts. The program will include a new Babin suite of folk tunes of many lands.

Russia was the birth place of both the artists, Miss Vronsky being born in Kiev and Babin in Moscow. Both studied piano under Arthur Schnabel in Berlin and made their debut as duo-pianists in London. Later they made recordings in England, introducing new music to the two piano repertoire. In 1937 they made their initial appearance in America.

Vronsky and Babin have appeared with the London Philharmonic, the Chicago Orchestra and the New York Philharmonic Symphony. They have made recordings for both Columbia and Victor.

Hollywood On The Loose...

Facts And Fancies About Cinemaland

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, April 10.—Exclusively Yours: M-G-M has decided, after much haggling, that two uniformed roles in a row can't hurt Clark Gable. He'll start "Command Decision" about the time "Homecoming" is released. "Decision" will get the "Grand Hotel" treatment with a cast of high-powered names.

Van Johnson and Evie Wynn head for Honolulu April 15. If they come back still speaking, I'll be a mighty surprised boy.

One way to stop a temperamental argument. Andy Russell and Marion Hutton couldn't get together on the right key to warble "Easter Parade" on Andy's airshow. Finally Andy blew up and said, "Nuts to it. Let the audience sing it." It was the inspiration the producer needed. The audience sang the song.

The censors are working overtime on Esther Williams' sarong scenes in "On an Island With You." As Ed Gardner says, "A sarong is a bandana and a prayer." But there will be no swimming scenes for Esther in "The Duchess of Idaho," her next. She'll keep them gams covered up in ski pants.

NO-CUT CONTRACT

ONE way to be sure of not being on the cutting room floor: Rex Harrison has it in his Fox contract he must appear in 75 per cent of any picture in which he works. It's the reason Fox didn't loan him to Paramount to co-star with Betty Hutton.

Jack Benny has been having a gag telegraphic feud with Danny Kaye for a long time. After reading about Kaye's tremendous success at the Palladium in London, Jack sent him a one-word cable. It read: "Hmmmmmm." And I still think Danny and Sylvia Fine will kiss and make up. He called her regularly while abroad.

The ink on Howard Duff's new contract with U. I. wasn't dry before the studio had three scripts in his hands. He's definitely marked for stardom. . . . M-G-M's "The Pirate" is a click. It's proof that a pair of scissors can be mighty useful. Until they started snipping, it wasn't doing so well at sneak previews.

Fortunio Bonanova is buying the film rights to "Five Graves to Cairo" for a Spanish version. He'll re-play that zany Italian general which brought him fame in 1948. . . . Untimely note: M-G-M's Fourth of July gift to moviegoers will be "Easter Parade."

Until 50 years ago, the economy of the Union of South Africa was based almost entirely on agriculture but since then has become largely industrial.

Lubbock Makes First Skyway Route; Solons Balk At Drafting Veterans

NOW FOR NO. 2!

A Worthwhile Asset

WELL worth the time and energy put into it was the successful effort led by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce to have the newly designated U. S. Skyway 17 routed through this city.

The network of skyways designed to cover the United States, Canada—and, eventually, all the Americas—now is in the process of formation. Now, if ever, is the time for a community to get in on the ground floor of this relatively new system of transportation.

The skyways bear exactly the same relationship to private and non-scheduled air travel that highways do to vehicular traffic. No one knows what the eventual value of skyways may be to communities they serve, but air traffic, already heavy, is increasing steadily. Prospects are the increase will continue indefinitely.

Perhaps the time may never come when a skyway will be as valuable to a community as an important highway. On the other hand, the time might come when the town or city not on one or more skyways will be off the beaten path. Any city does no more than strive for the protection of its own future when it tries to get on as many skyway routes as it can.

With Skyway 17, Lubbock has an excellent start. It is on an air route which extends diagonally across the U. S. from San Diego to Niagara Falls, N. Y., and then into Canada.

It might be to Lubbock and South Plains interests now to be on the lookout for a north-south skyway providing direct connections with the Northwest, South, Mexico and all intermediate points. Such a routing, added to Skyway 17 and our already excellent airline facilities, would further strengthen Lubbock's position as a Southwestern crossroads of the air.

Stupid Report

IT IS somewhat puzzling as to what, if anything, the President's Council of Economic Advisers hoped to accomplish by announcing late last week it has recommended severe inflation controls to Mr. Truman and then refusing to release any details concerning the proposal.

The assertion of tight-lipped Edwin C. Nourse, council chairman, that "details properly must come from the President," seemed inconsistent and ill-advised. It would be understandable if the council had refrained from making any announcement at all, letting the President decide whether he wanted to publicise the recommendations. But, since the group did reveal its advocacy of controls of nearly all kinds, it is difficult to see what harm could have been done by telling the whole story.

Council members surely are aware of the public prejudice against a return of controls. They cannot suppose the announcement of their recommendation will remove existing prejudices. They have handed Mr. Truman an already hot potato, made all the hotter because of their refusal to offer facts, information, or argument which might alter popular opposition to a return to a regimented way of living.

This seems to be a paradoxical instance where the council has said too much without saying enough. The members probably would have served the President better if they had kept their mouths shut and allowed Mr. Truman to do all of whatever talking he deemed advisable.

As matters stand, they have proposed an exceedingly unpopular step. The really difficult, if not impossible job, has been passed on to the President—that of trying to convince the American people of the necessity of nothing less than standby authority to restore controls.

"Will skirts stay down for any considerable period of time?" asks a columnist. Well, all we can say is that they never have.

"Modesty will mark next season's clothes for women," says a fashion magazine writer. If so, a number of the wearers of same will be out of character.

CIVIL RIGHTS PROGRAM BLAMED FOR CHANGE

HST's Popularity Given Sharp Setback In South

BY GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J. — President Truman's avowal of an omnibus civil rights program has adversely affected his popularity among rank and file of Southern voters.

Whether this growing dissatisfaction for the leader of the South's traditional party could possibly be translated into votes for an opposition party is doubtful. But at the very least it does show confusion among Democratic party adherents in the party's strongest geographical section.

GALLUP

The American Institute of Public Opinion conducted a survey among a cross-section of the Southern white voting population. The poll found that 68 per cent had heard or read about the presidential program for civil rights, and that of those familiar with the program 82 per cent were opposed to its adoption by Congress.

In order to test the effect that this opposition to the program has had on the average Southerner's attitude toward President Truman, field reporters for the Institute asked this question:

"Do you approve or disapprove of the way President Truman is handling his job as President?"

This question has been asked a number of times during the period Mr. Truman has occupied the White House. The following table compares the attitudes of voters in the thirteen Southern states covered in today's survey with the answers given by a similar cross-section in the same states last October:

SOUTHERN VOTERS ONLY	Oct, 1947	TODAY
Approve	59%	35%
Disapprove	18	57
No opinion	23	8

THE entire cross-section was asked what they like best and what they liked least about the Truman administration. Foreign policy led the list of the things best liked, although no part of the program was mentioned by a large proportion of voters. The civil rights was named by four out of ten Southern voters as the least-liked administration policy. The answers follow:

BEST LIKED

Generally favorable answers —"doing the best he can under circumstances." 14%

Domestic program—pro-labor, anti-inflation, stopped strikes, etc. 11%

Nothing	15%
Miscellaneous	3%
Don't know	22%

President Truman issued his civil rights program on February 2, recommending to Congress that it pass an anti-lynch law, take action against poll taxes, adopt a Federal fair employment practices act, and take other steps recommended earlier by his Commission on Civil Rights.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

ONE of the penalties of being a columnist is that so many people consider us omniscient and endowed with supernatural powers of wisdom.

Thus we are asked to solve problems that only Time and Faith can solve; to mend broken lives; to cure sickness, physical and spiritual; and to do a hundred things that, if we could do them, would make us more than just human beings.

There is hardly a day that I do not receive in my mail some such letters.

Help me, they ask, and help them I would if I only knew how.

But, for instance, what am I going to say to this reader?

Her husband was a drunkard. He went to pieces during the war. They were divorced. She moved far away from her community into a strange town. She took her adolescent daughter with her.

Now this woman is lonesome. She is unhappy. She finds it difficult to make friends, although her daughter seems to be getting along quit well.

People are nice to her, "but that's as far as it goes."

"Could you write some encouragement to others like me?" she asks. "I know so many women in situations like mine."

* * *

What can I say to that women, to other women like her?

There are lots of things I could say, but they wouldn't be sincere.

Meet people, mix, be gay, be entertaining, smile, forget, start a new life. I could say all those things. But what would they mean?

You can't be gay when you are sad. You can't overcome lonesomeness no matter how many people are with you.

You can't forget just because someone tells you to forget. Memories can be wonderfully sweet and they can be terribly brutal.

I wish I could help: I wish I could could wave a magic wand—or give my readers magic wands—with which they could wave away troubles and bring on joy and happiness.

But I can't.

I have tried it myself, and it didn't work.

Happiness cannot be forced. It comes and it goes. Sometimes it comes back—a new kind of happiness—sometimes it doesn't.

I have been lonesome. I tried to overcome my lonesomeness. It didn't work.

Then other things came along—slowly, gradually, and my lonesomeness disappeared.

Life is not all joy, nor is it all misery.

There are many wounds. Most of them heal, but usually where there was a wound a scar remains.

Not much of a doctor, am I? Maybe not, but at least I'm not a quack.

Original Painting Of Santa Fe Artist Placed In Tech Exhibit

The original oil painting, "Abstraction in Violet," by Raymond Jonson of Santa Fe, New Mexico, has been placed in the art foundation exhibit at Texas Technological college, Pres. W. M. Whyburn has announced.

The painting, an early work of the artist, was presented to the college by the Thomas Gilcrease foundation of Tulsa.

Jonson is recognized as one of the nation's foremost abstract and non-representational contemporary artists. He is an associate professor of art at the University of New Mexico.

CALLED RIDICULOUS

Young Men Wanted

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The Army's proposal to register for possible drafting all men between 18 and 45 came in for some heavy shelling when the Senate armed services committee considered a revival of selective service behind closed doors.

Senators Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, Harry Byrd of Virginia and others attacked the 45-year age ceiling ridiculous and unnecessary in peacetime.

PEARSON

"Why stir up these older men with families when there are plenty of younger men to meet our requirements?" demanded Bridges. "If we were invaded, I could understand why all-out mobilization might be necessary But we haven't been invaded. When you put selective service registration on such a sweeping basis, you frighten the people into believing that our present emergency is much more serious than it really is."

Bridges revealed that there are approximately 2,000,000 draft-available men between the ages of 19 and 26, "many of whom didn't wear uniforms in the last war."

"Why set about t draft older war veterans when there are enough others available to meet our present requirements?" asked the New Hampshire senator. He suggested a registration age ceiling of 30 or 31 years.

Byrd and several others seconded this view, while Democrat Richard Russell of Georgia protested that the government should not include war vets among those to be drafted.

As now written, the selective service legislation does not exclude war vets from the 19- to 26-year-old men who would have to register and might later be drafted. If they are between 19 and 26, veterans might be drafted along with nonveterans, according to the present bill.

"As long as there is other manpower available, and I am sure there is plenty of it, I will never vote for a bill to draft war veterans," Russell hotly served notice on his colleagues.

Chairman Chan Gurney of South Dakota, who swallows most of Secretary Forrestal's legislative demands, sat silent during the closed-door debate.

Truman And Bible

Amid the stream of White House callers who discussed national problems last week came one far removed from the grim business of defense, foreign strife, or turmoil in the coal fields.

He was 11-year-old Bobby Steenberber, winner of a Bible contest in Yuma, Arizona. When scholarly Senator Ernest W. McFarland of Arizona introduced the fifth-grade schoolboy to the President, Truman said:

"Let me compliment you, young man. I hope you will keep right on studying the Bible. I had read it through twice by the time I was your age."

Bobby replied that he had no intentions of giving up his religious studies just because he came out first in his Sunday School contest.

"Say, that's a hot part of the country you hail from," commented the President, changing the subject.

"Oh, don't believe it, Mr. President," grinned the youngster. "That's just California propaganda."

A DEBATE over the G. I. Bill of Rights caused Mississippi's feudin', fussin' Congressman John Rankin to blow up inside the House veterans affairs committee the other day.

A move to eliminate the rackets that have grown up under the G. I. Bill of Rights has been started by Ohio Republican Homer Ramey, New York Republican Robert Tripp Ross and Georgia Democrat Don Wheeler. Though heartily in favor of the G. I. Bill of Rights, they told a closed-door committee session how some states were training bartenders, ballroom hostesses and, in Nevada, even faro dealers (gamblers) under the G. I. Bill.

Ramey called attention to one school that teaches how to determine the sex of little chicks—a legitimate profession. However, Ramey complained that the course has been lengthened from seven weeks to four years since Ex-G. I.'s have been authorized to take it a government expense, he said.

Congressman Ross brought up a case in his own state of New York where a dancing school advertises for veterans to become the "darling of the stag line"—also at the taxpayers' expense. Wheeler of Georgia hit at the "cow pasture" flight schools that have mushroomed across the country.

Finally Mississippi's Rankin almost burst a boiler against the whole G. I. program. He even suggested scrapping the entire G. I. bill for an outright bonus. Educational benefits should be deducted from the bonus to discourage veterans from going to school, Rankin argued.

When Wheeler broke in with a objection, the fury of Rankin's wrath was turned full force on him and the veteran's farm-training program, which Wheeler had sponsored.

"It's disrupting the whole farm-labor picture," Rankin bellowed.

"The boys work while they learn," Wheeler snapped back.

Vets Need Air Training

Rankin next turned on the flight-training program, wound up with an attack on the $65 million to be spent on tobacco under the Marshall plan—an obvious dig at Wheeler's tobacco-producing district in Georgia.

"If we are going to spend $65 million to teach Europeans how to smoke and chew tobacco," the gentleman from Mississippi snorted, "I suppose we can afford to waste money on flight training for veterans."

"The gentleman would probably have a different attitude," replied Wheeler, "if his district produced tobacco."

Tennessee's Joe Evans then got into the fray with an amendment to exempt flight training from any revision of the G. I. bill. In the interests of national security he argued, flight training should be fostered, not discouraged. This brought an argument between Wheeler and Evans over the merits of air power, with Rankin on the sidelines aching to get back into the argument.

"Madame chairman," he fumed, addressing Chairman Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts, "I suggest that those new members are doing all the talking. I want to be heard."

NOTE—With all his arguments against the rackets that have cropped up under veterans' training, Wheeler made it clear that the program was accomplishing far more good than harm. He did not wish to hurt the program, he stressed, but only weed out the abuses.

"FIRE" IS APRIL BOOK-OF-THE-MONTH

Geo. Stewart Pens Exciting Tale

"FIRE," by George R. Stewart; (Random House).

"FIRE on the mountain, run, boys, run!" . . . that's the cast, the plot, the start and finish of this exciting novel, an April Book-of-the-Month club selection.

A bolt of lightning rips down the trunk of a tree in a western National forest, and there isn't enough rain with it to extinguish a spark lighted at the roots. For five days it eats its way up a hillside, through dead branches, dried grasses, leaves, needles, before it finally sends a column of smoke, like a warning flag, above the massed treetops.

The Wind Changes

Judith Godoy, Cerro Gordo lookout, is first to spot it phones Ranger Bartley; Slugger O'Neill and a gang start to cut a fire line across its front; the wind changes; the Dispatcher is alerted; the Supervisor gets on the job; and the big battle is on.

The storm bearing the damaging flash had been watched for a couple of days before the lightning struck. And the progress of other storms off Alaska, over Texas or Oregon, are charted with great care, for they may send high winds to fan the flames or drive them in new directions, or rain to quench them. Fire-fighters are recruited from a lumber mill, from the streets of distant California cities, and some are parachuted to the scene.

But a succession of mishaps foils them. A rabbit, but ablaze, spreads the flames; a fire line is cleared too near and too late; some raw recruits panic. A few hundred acres are lost, then many hundreds, then thousands until disaster threatens the girl in the tower, whereupon the gallant author calls a halt.

Evidently Stewart thinks the press doesn't cover forest fires adequately; after this ingenious combination of fiction and science, there will be little left for the press to do.

Feudin' And Fightin'

"THE HATFIELDS AND THE M'COYS," by Virgil Carrington Jones; (Univ. of N. Carolina).

"DEVIL Anse Hatfield and "Rand'l" McCoy lived to 85 and 90 years of age and died peacefully in bed, but nearly a score of men and women died with their shoes on in pitched battles in the murderous feud in which these two men led their gun-totin' families for half a century.

They were neighbors, living seven or eight miles apart, their cabins separated by mountainous terrain and the Tug river, the Hatfields in West Virginia and the McCoys in Kentucky. Moonshiners, fathers of 13 children apiece, they got into a scrap over the ownership of a hog and over the too successful courtship of a McCoy wench by a Hatfield rapscallion, and the shooting started.

McCoy Blood Shed First

McCoy blood was shed first, then a Hatfield hanger-on bit the dust. Next came four deaths all at once: Devil Anse's brother Ellison was beaten, shot and knifed by three of Rand's boys; Tolbert, Phamer and Randolph, jr., who in turn were roped to some pawpaw bushes and summarily executed by the vengeful Anse and fellow captors . . . and not a word of it got into the newspapers back in 1882.

It took the brutal Hatfield raid on McCoy's cabin, when his son Calvin and his daughter Allifair were murdered, to catch the attention of the outside world. Governors and sheriffs were drawn into the fray, troops were called out, and the case in one of its less bloody aspects was carried to the Supreme Court.

Jones lists some 30 or more killings in that area, including the 11 deaths during the Matewan mine evictions, but blames only about half of them on the famous feud. A map would have helped the reader, I think, and there are some confusing passages. But only a very inept author, using such blood-curdling material, could fail to interest us.

About Lobbyists

"APPOINTMENT ON THE HILL," by Dorothy Detzer; (Holt).

THERE are lobbyists and lobbyists, and Miss Detzer, who worked for two decades for the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, belongs beyond question in the right group. As a friend remarked to her, her 20 years' service might from one angle be regarded as a colossal failure, for it began shortly after World War I and was climaxed by World War II. She disagrees.

She has been called a lot of names, long like "Communist" and "Niggerlover" and short, too, and she has called names herself, as she does in a voice loud enough for all to hear in this book, the record of her lobbying activities. She threw her weight around in many of the plushiest capital, and Capitol, offices, and left its impression, in a number of instances altering the course of vital events.

Most Memorable Successes

Her most memorable successes were scored in getting Mary Woolley on the Geneva disarmament delegation; in uncovering the possibility of slave labor on a proposed American engineering job in Abyssinia; in defending justice in Liberia; in instituting the Nye arms industry probe and securing Stephen Raushenbush as investigator; in procuring with Hull's ready and Messersmith's reluctant help a U. S. visa for a German Jew.

There were failures, as when she made F. D. R. lose his temper when she couldn't persuade our government to cut the red tape that would have saved the lives of 2,000 children surrendered by Franco to Hitler.

Miss Detzer's bold championship of what she believed to be right, her refusal to yield to expediency, her attacks on dubious policies which were proposed and supported in the name, as she charges scornfully, of "realism" make comforting reading in our realistic age. If there's a major failure anywhere, it's ours rather than hers.

"Lost Boundaries"

"LOST BOUNDARIES," by W. L. White; (Harcourt, Brace).

LOST BOUNDARIES by W. L. White is the story of an American Negro family that passed the color line, not once, but twice.

Dr. Johnston and his wife, light skinned Negroes, decided to pass themselves off as white for reasons of financial and social security. They succeeded in a small New England town. Their children were brought up as normal, healthy American youngsters. But when Dr. Johnston tried to volunteer in the war the Navy investigated and rejected him. This angered him and, over the protests of his wife, he told his elder son Albert the truth. Later the others were told.

Then comes the story of the family's readjustment to the colored world. This is hard especially on Albert, who suffers a nervous breakdown. On the parents, the adjustment is a little easier, but each member of the family, in his own way, has to settle on a philosophy, a way of life, and finally does.

A TONIC for the jaded literary appetites of adventure story fans is The World of A, as interesting and terrifying a picture of the world of tomorrow as can be found on any bookshelf.

Whether it will start a new literary fad is debatable, but there is small doubt that A. E. van Vogt's imaginative story of life and intrigue in 2650 A. D. will keep the reader on the edge of his chair from start to finish.

The incidence of syphilis among the natives of South Africa has been estimated at from 30 to 40 per cent.

Bigger And Better Town Is Rising At Texas City From Blast Ruins; Fast Comeback Noted In Year

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

TEXAS CITY, April 10.—Growing pains are replacing Texas City's scars and twisted debris.

A year ago next Friday—April 16—A series of waterfront explosions brought destruction to this little Texas coastal city.

Docks were wrecked. The shipping channel and slips were filled with debris. Tightly clustered industrial plants were wrecked or seriously crippled.

Hundreds Were Killed

There were 512 persons dead or missing, 3,000 injured, 3,382 homes and 130 business structures destroyed or damaged.

But residents rallied quickly with determination to soothe their heartaches with an even greater Texas City.

There is striking evidence today of progress made during 12 brief months.

The city's population, only 5,748 in 1940, has jumped since last April from 18,000 to 27,000, and there are predictions of 40,000 within three to five years.

Plants Active Again

With a single exception, the city's industrial plants are back in operation with production figures equal to or greater than a year ago.

Practically every industrial plant has expansion programs underway or on drafting boards and city officials say prospects are good for new plants that may exceed $100,000,000 in value.

The ship channel is being dredged deeper to facilitate increased operations and a 12,000-foot barge canal that will open new waterfront areas for development is two-thirds completed.

In March 1947 the port handled 1,061,000 tons of cargo, including bulk liquid, dry cargo and sea train operations. In February of this year, 10 months after the disaster, the still wrecked waterfront handled 1,028,000 tons of bulk liquid and sea train shipments.

Larger Figures Expected

Port officials are confident tonnage figures will far exceed those prior to the disaster by the time wreckened docks and warehouses are restored.

With only a few isolated scars, the business section and residential areas today present the appearance of any ordinary city. But there is a sharp contrast at the docks and in the industrial area.

Eighty per cent of homes and business houses damaged in the disaster have been repaired and over 600 new homes or dwelling units and 217 new business structures have been constructed.

Building permits, excluding industrial plants, last year totaled $5,314,460, as compared with $1,137,397 in 1946.

Beehive Of Activity

Along the waterfront and industrial area sprawling across the southern half of the city there is a beehive of activity. With only one exception, Monsanto Chemical company, all plants are in full scale operation and swarming with employes.

Monsanto, whose vast styrene plant suffered more than $20,000,000 in damage, is expected to resume operations in early summer.

Shortly after the disaster Monsanto purchased 57 additional acres of land and began a huge expansion program in conjunction with rebuilding the old plant.

Despite already impressive tonnage figures, Texas City Railway company, operator of the city's dock and port facilities, faces the greatest problems of rebuilding.

Turned Into Shambles

The huge docks and warehouses either disintegrated or were turned into shambles by the explosions of the freighters Grandcamp and High Flyer. Debris still litters much of the area and the hull of the freighter Wilson B. Keene, sunk by the High Flyer explosion in the early morning of April 17, still juts from the waters of the main slip.

Two court suits, involving some $10,300,000, are holding up full scale reconstruction operations by the terminal company.

Handling of bulk liquid cargo was resumed a month after the disaster and seatrain operations began again in August. But it will be months before dock and warehouse facilities are available for handling general and dry cargo.

Plans Are Ready

Walter Sandberg, company president, says rebuilding plans are ready on an $8,000,000 suit against the federal government and a $2,300,000 action against two insurance companies.

The dock area still is closed to the general public.

"Our lesson learned from the blast is vigilance in handling cargo," Sandberg said. "Our main problem involves rigid safety regulations in receiving and handling cargo. Such action is underway and will continue to be taken."

"We plan to build the most modern port on the Gulf of Mexico," he added. "But there won't be any more ammonium nitrate."

It was an ammonium nitrate fertilizer compound that brought about the original explosion aboard the Grandcamp.

Mayor W. C. Steed says a proposal to create a "safety zone" between the industrial plants and the residential and business sections has been abandoned.

Minimum Of Damage

Such a safety zone, it was believed, would mean a minimum of damage to residential areas should other waterfront explosions and fires develop in the future.

"In designing a city that will be free of such explosions, everything boils down to the problem of safety precautions within the dock and plant areas," Steed commented. "If rigid safety programs are carried out there will be no need for a safety zone."

Present plans call for the city to grow to the north and west, away from the industrial and dock areas.

A large annexation program carried out shortly prior to the disaster gives ample opportunity for such expansion and also for plant development to the south of present industrial facilities.

The city's growing pains are aggravated by several pressing problems.

Housing Is Inadequate

Inadequate housing facilities force 47 per cent of industrial plant employes to live in nearby cities. This undoubtedly carries away a large portion of the city's estimated $20,000,000 annual industrial payroll.

There is critical need of apartments, small homes, and a modern hotel. At present there are only a few small boarding house type hotels.

Schools are extremely crowded and expansions already are underway. A $1,850,000 bond election for a new high school and additions to two other school buildings was approved five months after the disaster.

Street and sewage improvements bond issues designed to enable the municipal government to keep pace with the city's growth now are being considered.

Court Suits On File

One of the most pressing problems resulting from the disaster probably cannot be settled for many months. This involves over 50 federal court suits now on file in Galveston.

These suits seek over $90,000,000 from the federal government. Petitioners include individuals injured in the disaster, survivors of those killed, industrial plants and insurance companies.

The cases have been filed under the 1946 federal tort claims act, which places the government on an equal liability footing with private citizens in many instances.

It is alleged the government is to blame for the explosions because the ammonium nitrate which set off the chain of blasts was manufactured in government ordnance plants. The government also is charged with failure to take sufficient steps in warning of the explosive qualities of the chemical compound.

Attorneys in Houston and Galveston report a number of similar cases are being prepared for filing prior to the April 16-17 deadline, one year after the disaster.

Plan Quiet Observance

Texas City will observe the disaster's first anniversary quietly.

Various churches will hold memorial services, but there will be no mass service at the waterfront, downtown or at the little four-acre memorial cemetery four miles north of the scene of the explosions.

The cemetery, containing the bodies of 63 unknown dead, now is being landscaped and soon will be a beautiful memorial to the disaster victims.

At the city hall, Police Chief Foster Nelson continues to hold on file the few personal effects of the unknown dead.

There has been no progress on identification since two weeks prior to the mass funeral of June 22.

Heart Of The Plains Kennel Club To Meet At Park Today

Regular meeting of the Heart of the Plains Kennel club is to be held at the Party House in Mackenzie park this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when several dogs will make trial showings in preparation for the sanction match to be held here April 18.

The sanction match is to be held at the Texas Tech pavilion, starting at 1 o'clock, and those wishing to enter dogs in the contest were asked to get in touch with Mrs Harold Ball before midnight tonight. The show is approved by the American Kennel club.
