

United War Chest Of Texas Drive Is Coming Up

HOUSTON, July 14.—The United War Chest of Texas has completed plans for the first state-wide unified drive ever conducted in Texas. George A. Butler, Houston attorney heading the organization, announced this week.

Plans to raise approximately $5,000,000 as the share of Texas in the National War fund are now being worked out following the perfecting of the state organization in Dallas, July 7. At the Dallas meeting Butler was named president and campaign of the State War chest. Gov. Coke Stevenson was named honorary chairman. Other officers include Roy Farrar, Houston banker, treasurer and Wayland D. Towner, formerly of the San Antonio Community chest, secretary and general manager. Twenty-one vice presidents representing every section of Texas are yet to be named by the board of directors.

"Each community and each Texas county will determine its own role in the National War Fund program," Butler announced. "In every instance, the campaign will be carried out by the local leadership," he said. "The program is one of aid to our own boys on all the fronts of war, to our allies in every corner of the globe, and to the home front."

President Roosevelt's War Relief Control board has approved the following agencies for participation in the National War fund which plans to raise $125,000,000 in its national campaign this fall: The USO (United Service Organizations), United Saver's service, War Prisoners aid, Belgian War Relief society, British War Relief society, French Relief fund, Greer War Relief association, Norwegian relief, Polish War relief, Queen Wilhelmina fund, Russian War relief, United China relief, United Czechoslovak Relief fund, United Yugoslav Relief fund, Refugee Relief trustees and the United States committee for the Care of European children.

Rites For C. A.

Cumbie Held Here Sunday

Funeral rites were held Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist church for Charlie Adolphus Cumbie, 59-year-old farmer who resided five miles south of Floydada. Mr. Cumbie died at a Lubbock hospital after a long illness.

Rev. Ben D. Johnson, rev. Jarrett Martin of Lubbock assisted by Rev. L. A. Doyle, pastor of the local church, were in charge of the last rites held at 3:30 o'clock.

Mr. Cumbie is survived by his wife two daughters Mrs. Lockie Hood, and Mrs. R. T. Jones, both of Floydada; five sons, Joe B., of Athens; Truman, Wichita Falls; Pfc. Lloyd Cumbie, Fort Ord, California; Pfc. Clayton D. (Drew) of North Africa; and Weldon of the parental home. Mr. and Mrs. Cumbie came to Floydada from Athens, Texas in November, 1929 with their family, and (See C. A. CUMBIE, back page)

MANY JOBS OPENING UP AT DUMAS PLANT AGAIN SAYS GIOVANNI FINLEY

The government plant at Dumas, work on which was closed down for several weeks, is under construction again, and there are numerous jobs there for most any type of worker, he says, and at good pay.

Blondie's telephone is number 88 and he can help get workers jobs if they will call him when they arrive. It looks as though he will be at Dumas some time yet, he says.

JULY TRANSFER MONTH FOR SCHOLASTICS

July is the month for scholastics in Texas to be transferred. County Superintendent Clarence Guffee reminds the people of Floyd county.

There is no such thing as an automatic transfer, the rule being: children who have finished the highest grade in the school taught in their home district need to make application for a transfer to another district, which teaches higher grades than that taught at home. Or if for any other reason it is desired to transfer a pupil from one district to another the formality of an application is necessary.

Transfer applications should be made at the county superintendent's office.

Rev. Collins Gen. Assembly Moderator

Rev. A. A. Collins, former pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church of Floydada, but now a resident of Lubbock, was among the West Texas ministers who attended the general assembly of the church at Paducah, Kentucky, recently.

At that time a signal honor in the church organization came to him when he was chosen moderator of the assembly, in which capacity he served throughout the sessions.

This outfit, which flies in any direction with equal facility and can, in addition, hover motionless in the air will go into quantity production soon, it is claimed. It lights on land, water, snow, thin ice, rooftop or parking lot.

Despite Bungling, Wrangling, And Waste, Mahon Says 'All Adds Up To Final Victory'

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 10.—

Congressman George Mahon left Washington this week for Texas where he expects to visit and confer with the people in each of the 25 counties of the 19th District during the Congressional recess. In commenting on the general situation prior to leaving Washington, Mahon said: "It must be frankly admitted that on the home front the situation is not altogether wholesome. There has been too much bungling and waste and too much bitterness even among high officials of the government. On the other hand there is no cause to despair; our country is fundamentally united and there will be no home front collapse."

Mahon added: "We must also be frank with ourselves in regard to the war. We have a long road ahead and we have no reason to feel that all is over but the shouting. But there can be no doubt that we are on our way to victory. Our cause is just; we have an unshakable determination to win; we have the best fighting force in the world, both from the standpoint of men and equipment, and this force is growing stronger by the hour. We are greatly outstripping the enemy in the production of planes and weapons and our margin of superiority is rapidly increasing. We are licking the submarine and this makes possible a closer approach to an all-out offensive. Nine million Americans are in uniform and our military leadership is superb. This all adds up to final victory."

LARGE EAGLE LANDS AT HUCKABEE HOME IN SOUTH FLOYDADA

An eagle with a wing spread of six feet was captured yesterday by Mrs. C. C. Huckabee at her home at 902 South Main street. The bird was not the bald eagle but was a species of the brown head.

The eagle's capture, followed on the wake of an electrical storm. It probably was stunned by lightning or perhaps, scared and fleeing from the bombing field at the John Lewis ranch east of Floydada.

At any rate the eagle flew into the fence at the Huckabee home. Mrs. Huckabee's first impulse was to kill it with a hoe but she was impressed with its beauty and called on a nearby neighbor, Doris Jones who shot it with a target.

Heads Drive.—The first state-wide unified war appeals ever conducted in Texas will be headed by George A. Butler, Houston attorney, above. Plans to raise about five million dollars in the state are in the making.

Camp & Hospital Donations Slow In Floyd County

Response to the Llano Escadado Camp and Hospital campaign for furnishing comfort for the air base has been very discouraging so far according to County Chairman Mrs. E. L. Angus. To date, she states, not a donation of furnishings has been received by herself or County Chapter Chairman Clarence Guffee.

A recently appointed committee from civic clubs of the city is scheduled to meet this week for a study of how to accumulate the articles and deliver them to the bases needed.

Mrs. Angus is at Lubbock today where she is attending an executive meeting of the organization. She is anxious that Floyd county be listed with the seven other counties of the district in making plans for donation in furniture, games, cash, or magazines.

DIES IN PRISON CAMP

Word was received this week by M. B. Johnston that his nephew, Joe Johnston, Jr., died in a Japanese prison camp in the Philippines.

Out To Cover More Points Drivers' License Days Change In Area As Examiners Spread

Thursdays from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. following the first and fifth Mondays of each month are the new days scheduled for the visits of the examiner-patrolman of the State Safety commission to Floydada to issue drivers licenses. Similar changes in visits to county seats in adjacent counties also are being made, it was announced this week by Ray C. Wells, of Plainview, examiner-patrolman for this area.

The examiner-patrolman will not be here to issue drivers licenses at all during the month of August, but will resume his schedule beginning in September. Wells said. Under the new schedule he will be in Floydada on September 2 and 9, October 7, November 4, and December 2 and 9.

On his September trips Wells will have renewals for car operators' license and will leave forms at the sheriff's office as formerly.

The examiner-patrol force is feeling the strain of the war the same as other domestic activities and the new dates are being made to spread the force out thinner over a wider territory. Heretofore the patrolman's visits have been on Thursdays following the first, third and fifth Mondays.

Pre-Flight Class Has Three Men From Floydada

SAN ANTONIO AVIATION CADET CENTER, Texas, July 9.—The latest class of cadets entering pre-flight pilot training at the San Antonio Aviation Cadet Center included 691 from Texas.

At this post, the largest of its kind in the world, they will receive training to prepare them for entry into primary flying schools, from which their course of instruction leads to basic and advanced flying schools and the silver wings of army pilots.

The new class includes three from Floydada: William E. Brown, Jr., 801 South Main Street; James W. Jones, 422 West Kentucky and Jesse L. Michael, Route 4.

Ralph Johnston Reaches Home From Solomons

First Lieutenant Ralph Johnston, after 14 months in the Solomons as a member of the Army Air corps is at home.

Be-medaled and cited for gallantry in action, he reached the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Johnston here Saturday, surprising them and his sister, Mrs. Seaton Howard who expected his visit some weeks hence.

On 16-day leave, Lt. Johnston is getting around among kinsmen, spending a few days this week with his brother Rex and wife at Temple.

Medals awarded the flying ace are the Silver star, the Distinguished Flying cross and the Air medal. He distinguished himself as a member of a Flying Fortress crew last October when they discovered the 14-ship Japanese armada before the battle of Santa Cruz.

After his leave Johnston is scheduled to report to Fort Biggs at El Paso to serve as an instructor.

L. D. SIMPSON IMPROVING FROM RECENT OPERATION AT TUSCULOOSA, ALA.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Simpson were advised by telephone call Tuesday night by their daughter-in-law, that their son L. D. (Buster) Simpson was improving nicely from a recent appendicitis operation.

A message earlier in the week told of his illness and operation Tuesday of last week. He was able to be carried home last week end, his mother stated.

FORMER FLOYDADA TEACHER NOW MEMBER JACS VISITS FRIENDS HERE WEDNESDAY

Auxiliary Hazel Hughes of the WAC Infantry school at Fort Benning, Georgia, visited friends here a short while Wednesday enroute to Petersburg where she will visit her mother, Mrs. Robert Mayo.

She is a former teacher in the Andrews Ward school, where she taught six years. She left Floydada in 1930.

HAROLD THORNTON MOVED TO MEMPHIS, TENNESSEE, FOR RADIO SCHOOLING

L. V. ASSITERS ARRIVE WEDNESDAY FROM CHICAGO

Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Assiter and baby daughter Sandra Gail arrived Wednesday from Chicago, Illinois, where they have been the past year. Mr. Assiter was with the Austin company engineers and builders while there.

He is scheduled to report August 2 to Cornell University Naval school for officer's training. Mrs. Barker plans to remain here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Barker, during her husband's absence. Mr. Assiter is a son of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Assiter.

Honor Student at Texas Tech college, Jim Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Simpson was valedictorian and youngest student to be graduated from Floydada High school. He finished here with the class of 1942, at the age of 15 years and has been on the honor roll at college the past two semesters. The second semester he is credited with five A's and one B. He is majoring in English.

Fire Chief

Carl Rodgers, above, is new chief of Floydada Fire department, having been chosen by the membership last week. A veteran member Rodgers has served the past year as secretary.

Some Red Faces In Prospect, Say OPA Men

LUBBOCK, July 14.—There are going to be some awfully red faces and some motorists who are going to get used to the idea of walking, Howard Gholson, district director of the Office of Price Administration, advised today. Throughout the Lubbock district covering 71 counties ranging from the top of the Panhandle to Brewster on the Mexican border, legal investigators have been busy checking license numbers and A, B and C windshield stickers.

There have been some very interesting findings, the OPA chief revealed. For instance, if a man from Breckenridge is seen at a Lubbock night club or a Lubbock man at a fishing resort on the Pecos, they may have some tail-explaining to do to their local War Price and Rationing boards on how they are using their gasoline coupons. The "B" and "C" coupons are special allotments for business or emergency purposes and not to be used in wearing out tires on pleasure trips, Gholson said.

Local ration boards are authorized to call in a motorist found to be violating regulations and take away his ration or refuse renewal of coupons when he next applies, the OPA director pointed out. Many boards in the district have found that motorists who were tempted to speed have slowed down to the legal limit when they learned they were in danger of losing rationing, he added.

Maximum Price On Cattle Cake

"There is a maximum price on sale of soybean, cottonseed and peanut oil meals and oil cake in carload lots," Howard Gholson, OPA district director, said today in warning stockmen to not make contracts over this price.

The maximum price set by Commodity Credit Corporation is $40 per ton for sale of the commodities in car load lots by jobber, wholesaler and retailer, f. o. b. the mills. If the products are ordered shipped then transportation costs may be added, the OPA director said. To this maximum price, OPA regulations allow an additional 50 cents on sale by jobber, $2.50 by wholesaler and $5.50 by retailer all per ton. The transportation costs may be added in these cases, also, the OPA pointed out. In the event that jobber, wholesaler, or retailer buys any of these commodities unsacked and resells same sacked, he may add the actual cost of sacking not to exceed $3.50 per ton.

DR. ANDREWS HOME

Dr. V. Andrews accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Bess Cantwell, returned home yesterday from Dallas where he has been since Monday of last week for treatment in a Dallas hospital.

He is reported by his daughter to be improving satisfactorily.

Cotton Quotas Are Suspended ACA Notified

The Floyd County ACA committee was notified by wire Monday that marketing quotas on 1943 cotton are suspended and that none are indicated for 1944. The penalty on cotton produced prior to 1943 and sold before August 1, 1943 will be collected. No marketing cards will be issued.

This change will not affect the ACP or Cotton Loan programs. To be eligible for payments and loans the cotton acreage must not exceed 110% of the allotment.

The removal of cotton marketing quotas was brought about by the acute need for protein feeds, said Ray McEntire, administrative officer of the board.

Supplemental Farm Lumber

The War Food administration has granted authority to the local County USDA War board for distribution of 85,000 board feet of soft wood lumber for farm and ranch use in Floyd county.

Lumber secured under this special authority can not be used for dwellings. It can be used only for farm construction of the following types: (1) Maintenance and repair of agricultural buildings or equipment. (2) New construction essential to the Food Production program. (3) The reconstruction of essential agricultural buildings destroyed by fire.

Anyone interested in securing any of this lumber should make application to the Floyd County USDA War board, located in the AAA office, Floydada, Texas.

Friday Was Fire

Department's Busiest Day

Business was good for Floydada Fire department Friday. Lots of activity but little damage is the score.

Newly elected Captain of Company No. 2 Conner Oden furnished the first run for the day, when an attic fire caught on about 7 o'clock in the morning on West Virginia street.

In about three hours the next call came. It was to the G. B. Jenkins residence in the 600 block on South Wall where a short in an electric circuit put on a brief show.

The third call for the day was to extinguish a blaze in a pick-up standing in front of the L. C. McDonald & Son implement house.

Fire Destroys Home

Two fires, the first of which broke out between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning and the second about 5 o'clock, left the home of Edgar Jones in Price addition a shell. Both residence and furnishings, unofficially estimated at $5,000 to $7,000 in value were ruined.

Origin of the fire is unknown Fire Marshal E. S. Price said early this morning. Edgar Jones, the owner, has been in California the past two weeks on a vacation visit.

T. B. Handley, 79

Died Monday At Lockney

T. B. Handley, 79, died Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the home of his son, D. L. Handley of Lockney. Funeral services were held Tuesday in Childress and interment was made by the side of his wife who preceded him in death 11 years ago the same day.

Survivors include four sons and four daughters. They are H. B. Handley and D. L. Handley of Lockney; S. J. Handley, Floydada; J. O. Handley, Carmel, California; Mrs. W. B. Mitchell, Childress; Mrs. Geo. Heath, Iowa; Mrs. W. P. Elliott, Littlefield; Mrs. Chester Crawford and Mrs. Letha Smith of California.

Mr. Handley came to Floyd county from Childress in 1934 and made his home with his son, D. L. Handley. He has farmed since he was a young man.

Grand Jury Set To Work On Monday

A grand jury for the second half of the year 1943 of 11th District court for Floyd county was empaneled and set to work Monday by Presiding Judge Alton B. Chapman.

The grand jury will be called into session at intervals throughout their term of six months, when and if they are needed for the investigation of crime or crimes. It is the first grand jury to be chosen for a half-year term under the new court procedure in Texas. J. W. Jennings is foreman of the grand jury, other members of which are: L. L. Jones, B. P. Harper, Earl W. Edwards, A. D. Monk, W. M. Knight, G. L. Snodgrass, George Pinkner, W. E. Miller, Harry Hartman, A. T. Emert and P. F. Bertrand.

EDITORIALS

It may be something getting around to it, but unnecessary driving is going to come to the point where it will begin to cause gossip, scandal, embarrassment and punitive measures, possibly revocation of coupon books. When you mash down on the starter remember to think. If you can readily justify the mileage you are preparing to put on your speedometer in the light of your neighbors' needs as compared with yours, and with the fact that folks are walking by the thousands in the eastern part of the country, and in the light of the needs of the army and navy, well and good. Otherwise, why not just walk or stay where you are? From our point of view, this does not mean that a business trip is not a business trip, but if it is, it is, and if it is not, it is not. You know. But remember, long tongues at work now can hurt you many years hence. The evil that men do lives after them. Whether it will be evil for you to do the driving you are tempted to do or for your neighbors to talk about you is the question.

The Governor of Texas and the "regional" OPA tire and gasoline man have had some star chamber sessions recently. They are telling each other some things. The governor is telling the regional man (Texas is getting to be a province in the mind of Washington, not a sovereign state with boundaries) where some tires are that OPA says do not exist and that farmers and ranchers need pretty bad to carry on their business and which tires cannot be used by the military except as reclaimed material. What the regional man is using as argument on the governor we do not know. Folks will be glad somebody is smoking out John Doe, Richard Roe, Max McCullough, or whatsoever his name may be, who cuts across state lines so readily to make the situation fit OPA's argument instead of making this governmental agency serve the needs of the people who are making an effort to carry on the war on the home front.

The war-time problems of the big and little newspaper are not altogether alike. In the first place the big newspapers are the ones that really use the wood pulp out of which munitions are made. The small newspapers, the weeklies and small dailies use a negligible amount of print relatively. However, in the aggregate their supply is limited by war authorities, whereas in the case of the big boys they set a limit on their purchases which is a percent of what they used at some previously agreed upon date. Accordingly, you will note the area's large newspapers are advocating one subscriber loaning his paper to his neighbor instead of sending in a new subscription. Also, the number of copies to dealers is curtailed, free sampling and things of that kind are out. Furthermore, curtailment of features and of advertising, if need be, is to be resorted to.

The problem of newsprint is different in this war to what it was in the other one. In that war the government took over the railroads and operated them. Partially as a result of demand for shipping space and partially as the result of a government bureau attempting to run the railroads out of Washington, shipping space was mighty limited. Furthermore, there were not so many pulp mills and the supply was still further curtailed on that account. This time the reason for curtailment, if we understand it, is that the munitions makers have learned to use wood pulp itself, not so much the space it occupies.

Gather up your Coca Cola bottles and get them back to your grocer, station manager or whomsoever it is you buy from. Indications point to the probability that sugar will be released soon from restrictions and drinks will be plentiful if—the bottler can get bottles to put them in. That's the story we hear, and there are enough coke bottles on back porches, in cellars, coal houses, basements and kitchens to run Mr. Cola and all his competitors many a day. That is where he is going to have to get his bottles henceforth until restrictions are raised. The War Production board says flatly no more new bottles until things change about. The empties your dealer can exchange for full ones will have considerable to do with how many of the latter he can get and how many he can get to you.

Wild life in Floyd county, noticeably useful birds, is gaining ground. Wet weather of the past two or three years has been more beneficial than harmful to quail and doves as an illustration. Given the cover of clumps and bushes the quail will fend for itself and its brood against the elements. We are reminded of this fact by the calls of the Bob White in the early cool of the mornings and by the occasional quail nest you find now away out on the prairie. Nothing neater than the nest of a quail. Not elaborate, the little lady and her mate certainly make it substantial and neat and just the right size for the right number of eggs and built in position to take advantage of protection from hail and rain and predatory animals, both four-and-two-legged.

The Hesperian has opposed the poll tax law a good many years. We have felt that our state should abolish the same and still feel the same way. Possession of $1.75 or even five cents, should not be the test of a person's right to vote. The great unwashed can't make a worse record than the intelligentsia have down through the ages. But we surely do not want a federal anti-poll tax law. We want a state law, or rather we want the state law abolished that assesses a charge against the right to cast a ballot. But pressure has been increasing for a number of years for a federal law to prohibit poll taxes, and that may be what we have coming up not many years hence. Hardly anything more generally harmful to the nation could be done by congress but there are those who have their minds made up and only a few stalwarts in the halls of congress stand between the wish and the fact right now.

Land prices are going up and the upward trend is the concern of the land banks and the experts who study land, its changing values (in the minds of the public) and the effects of these changes on the welfare of the people. In some sections land is up 50 per cent, in others much less, probably 10 per cent is the minimum. Fortunately, those who owe on their land are carefully nursing their funds to get it clear while the picking is good, and those who are investing are, for the most part, putting cash on the barrel head. Profound as the effect of land values is upon the welfare of the nation, this is one thing about which nothing is done. Perhaps, in fact, trying to do something about it might apply a "cure" that would be worse than the "disease."

One of the things that help make living in west Texas more interesting than in other parts of the world is the shotgun type of rains that fall quite often. Saturday's shower here that was a big downpour a few miles east and a regular waterspout on the rim of the plains and on below, is an illustration. While one man bogs through mud his neighbor a mile or so distant, sometimes just across the fence plows up dry dust as he cultivates his crop; or, in season, continues with his combine harvesting. While some Floyd county farmers this week scout the skies in the hope of a fair to good rain for their row crops others are hoping, almost praying, for sunshine and dry weather. It doesn't just happen that way once in awhile. It's more often that way than not and a reporter trying to get the facts about a rain will get almost as many answers as the number of men he questions.

Any excuse you can give for not upping your payroll savings will please Hitler and Hirohito.

VAST DIFFERENCE BETWEEN PLEASURE DRIVING AND ESSENTIAL MILEAGE

Hesperian, Floydada, Texas.
As we approach the hot summer months there are many who have vacation fever and think there is no harm in taking off and spending a few days at some summer resort thinking they will not be missed at home and are nervous while away thinking they will meet a O. P. A. Inspector but forget they may have a neighbor or friend at home who may have a son across the water who is making a great sacrifice for us at home. They feel like it is their duty to report any unnecessary driving and our regulations call for an investigation of reported violations whether the report is by a local citizen. The local officers or an inspector for the O. P. A.

Have The Wrong Impression
There are many who have the wrong impression as to how they can use their A book. If you have a B or C sticker on your windshield, you have only ninety miles a month pleasure driving in your A book as one hundred and fifty miles of your A book goes as occupational miles with a B sticker and preferred miles if your C book calls for over twenty nine coupons. So any time you are over forty-five miles from Floydada having a B or C ration and unless your application calls for a greater distance you are violating the gasoline regulations.

There are many who call on us for a ration to make a business trip but the regulations say if a train or bus runs to your destination there is no business so important as to call for a special ration to make this trip by car. Also we are not permitted by regulation to issue a ration to attend funerals. This regulation we have violated many times especially when our nearest of kin pass away, but we have promised O. P. A. we would hold these specials down as far as friends, cousins or nephews are concerned.

We in Texas still have plenty of gasoline and if only gasoline was involved there would be no rationing but our tires are in a critical condition and the amount of extra gasoline we of the gasoline panel issue make it that much harder on the tire board who do not have enough to go around and we have had a special request from O. P. A. to cut the issuance of gasoline so our much-worn tires can go a little longer.

Many Doing Their Duty

We have many who are doing their duty toward saving their car tires and we still have a few who have never cut driving a mile; and from the amount of gasoline they ask for you would think they had rather see fifty of our boys die in North Africa than for them to be deprived of any of their driving and when you get one of these customers he thinks every one should stop and wait on him when he comes rushing in; and I know they have long forgotten we of the local board are common citizens working night and day without pay trying to look

Floyd County 14 Years Ago

(Issue of July 18, 1929)
Judge and Mrs. L. G. Mathews and little daughter, returned home the first of the week from Coleman, where they spent a few days visiting and attending to business matters.

Mrs. Robert McGuire, society editor of The Hesperian, together with her sister, Miss Lucille Mitchell, also on the reportorial staff of this newspaper, left the latter part of last week on a vacation trip which is expected to carry them into the mountains of New Mexico and Colorado and on northwest to Yellowstone National Park before their return sometime the latter part of the week. They were accompanied on the trip by their mother, Mrs. R. B. Mitchell and brother, Clarence of Plainview.

O. L. Stansell, who first began the production of dairy cattle five years ago, and has since built up a herd that has become recognized as one of the foremost of this section of the state, has recently entered the retail dairy business, following the purchase of the equipment of B. M. Eubanks, dairymen.

Issue of July 22, 1915
The actual running time from Dallas to Floydada is 16 hours and 40 minutes. Allowing for an hour stop at each meal and nights rest on the road the time is 29 hours. These hours were compiled from the running record of W. R. Cope in his Cadillac. He in company with Tom B. Triplett and Glad Snodgrass left Dallas Friday evening at 8 o'clock stopping over at Mineral Wells for the night. Leaving Mineral Wells at 8 the next morning, they reached home that night at 1 o'clock.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

By Nellie Witt Spikes

A FARM WOMAN THINKS—

This morning is fresh and lovely. Things around the farm have gone smoothly on; beans from the garden roast has browned, potatoes ready for browning in hot grease and homemade bread cooling in the pantries. Such things should be inducement for my mind to be working like a clock, but somehow it is not the way it is acting. It travels back to days past, to the present, to the future, giving me nothing in particular to write about. I feel lazy, pull off my shoes to ease my feet, get a drink of water, idly watch a car coming down the road, a lip on my shoes. Well some one is here—

I look in my diary of date June 12, 1942. Find this: Sewed most all day. Weather clear and still. Rain seems to be gone for awhile. Mosquitoes are bad. But I find this the next day: Went to Floydada to wash and get gas and oil. Stuck in draw near home as we came back. Had to get tractor to pull us out. Rained while we were in town. Then I find it rained big rains for the rest of week. Seemed like it rained every day that summer.

It is with sadness we read of young Russell Claude Ramseur formerly of Ralls, Texas, but now buried on foreign soil as he gave his all to his country. Looking back I see a covered wagon stopping at the white school house at Emma. My brother and I were riding around, and rode up to see the new corners, to see if they were only passing through, stopping to camp for a night or aiming to make their home with us. We found a young couple unloading bedding and cooking supplies for an outdoor supper. We saw a boy of our age, Charlie, he told us. He said their name was Ramseur and that they intended making their home in Emma, which they did, adding a vital part to the little community. Mr. Ramseur's hat was always white with the meal he ground on the days the wind turned his grist mill. Mrs. Ramseur brought pleasure and happiness to the women and girls as she sewed gay flowers on summer hats and pinned bright feathers and ribbons after the needs of our county the best we know how.

When rationing started last December the public needed plenty of gasoline because they were hauling feed, picking cotton and taking the kids to school. The second period more gasoline was needed because the ground was being prepared. More gas the most of them got. The third period came along, lots of gasoline was needed because of wheat harvest which lasted about two weeks but in most cases we allowed more gasoline and now when the fourth quarter comes along we of the rationing board wonder if still more gasoline will be asked for. So we of the rationing boards of Floyd county ask only one thing. Be fair with yourself, be fair with your rationing board and ask yourself one question, are you doing only the driving that is essential for your needs?

on felt hats with sparkling rhinestone pins for the winter's fashionable hats. It was a treat to sit by her as she worked, she was so sweet and made one feel at his best. The children were sent to school and I remember well just where Charlie and Dodd sat, Charlie working away on his lessons while Dodd often found more interesting things to do. Mary and her sister were in the other room, dainty, shy little girls, looking after their brothers. Will and Dave. A honest happy family, living at peace with the world, helping establish a land of justice and righteousness. Now a grandson has died to help keep for all the world the things his family had helped establish, given his life that you and I might have the liberty of a free people. To the ones who knew and loved him so well I will say with the poet:

"I would that I could be
A wound-dresser of souls—
Reaching the aching heart,
The tortured mind, my hands
Calming them as the night
Calms tired bodies
When she drops the mantle of sleep
Over the world.
As each cold, glittering star
So might I stand in mine,
But with the warmth of a smile
On my face,
And in my eyes
An image of the soul divine."

I go up in the attic to get something in an old battered tin trunk. The trunk itself has a history, having been owned by an old Northern soldier who passed it on to my husband. I open the lid and begin to hunt for the paper I want. My hands pick up a package of letters and I begin to read. My mind didn't my husband and I write silly letters when we were young. Wouldn't believe they were written by us but the names at the bottom give us away. Wonder what is in that old box. Some old dried flowers, brown and crumbling. Was my husband ever so romantic? Keeping some flowers I sent? I read the words on the marriage certificate again. Till death do us part. Reverently I open a box with yellow and brown tresses of soft baby hair, take out a curl cut from my boy's head, no longer a baby. Here are some long baby dresses, yellow with age, and long ago losing their form of a cuddly baby boy. A funny-made faded blue shirt, the same boy wore two blue checked cross stitched dresses worn by the twins.

More tear spots are added to the ones made through the years on the little dresses and shirt. They were my little children such a short happy time. Here are department cards from the primer on through high school and college. How proud we were of most of them. This is such a funny theme Wilson wrote about a young couple at a fair. Liked to have cut my hand on that old long razor, no longer kept sharp and shining. It always took Jeff so long to whet that razor, especially if we were trying to go to a picnic or some place. I read a few verses in my blue plush autograph album. "Dear Nellie, when you get old, and cannot see, put on your specks and think of me." And the one by my teacher, "Dear Nellie, be sweet and let who will be clever." She must have felt well by warning me. Here is the red cap my son wore the first year at college, in fact the first year of Texas Tech. What a thrill he got out of wearing it and marching in that first shirt-tail parade. "Another package of letters, the ones Wilson wrote when he went to Galveston to go to medical school. Dear Mother and dad, I love you, Wilson. My eyes fill as I look over my shoulder and see my son's office furniture wrapped and dust covered. Stored here when he volunteered for service. There is the x-ray, here the chair he sat in by the side of his patient. Wrapped in the folds of that heavy quilt is his framed diploma, now he is in England. Other packages of letters take their place in the trunk. "Dear mother and dad I arrived safe. I love you. Almost blinded by tears, I feel that soft silk of my wedding blouse, its yoke made of rows of ribbon and lace stitched together by my eager hands eager for the happy future that stretched ahead in a home of my own. Theriage ceremony. I shut down the lid of the trunk on my treasures, not the cold yellow gold of the mine, not sparkling gems of the rich collector, things useless and worthless to any thief, but to me a treasure-store of memories, both wonderful, sweet and infinitely sad. By the aid, I see the sunshine and shadows crossing the prairie home, feel the tender warmth of baby lips, hear childish voices, smell again the honeysuckle fresh and undisturbed as packed into a box for mailing. In the depths of the trunk are my youth and the years that have passed.

BURLINGTON BOMBS—These bombs, bought by citizens of Burlington, Iowa, just before they were loaded in a United States Army Air Forces B-17 Flying Fortress somewhere in North Africa for a journey of destruction over Leghorn Harbor, in western Italy. Money for these bombs was contributed by 800 members of Burlington, Iowa, American Legion Post No. 52. When they reached North Africa, First Lieutenant William A. Whitmore, commanding officer of an Army Air Force ordnance company, and a resident of Burlington, took a personal interest in the contribution from his home town. The bombs were used on a successful raid against the Italian mainland on May 28, 1943. Lt. Whitmore, (left), and Sergeant Neal L. Zellars, also a Burlington man, watch Arabs loading the bombs just before the raid.

Peak Period For Making Silage Next 90 Days

COLLEGE STATION, July 15.—The next 90 days will be the peak silagemaking period in Texas. To make good quality silage such feeds as corn, grain sorghums and sweet sorghums should at least be in the stiff dough stage, says E. R. Eudaly, dairyman for the A. and M. College Extension Service. It is better to have the grain getting hard provided the majority of the leaves still are green. When leaves are burned up they contain no vitamin A. Likewise, if the leaves are green and the grain is in the milk stage there is no vitamin A content. The feed should be packed into the silo so as to exclude excess air. If it is chopped with a cutter the pieces should be in half inch lengths or less and distributed in the silo with pieces of stalk and leaves well mixed. If an ensilage cutter not available, the trench may be filled by "shingling" in the feed in bundles. This is done by putting down a layer of bundles lengthwise of the trench. The second layer should be lapped half way on the third, the third half way on the second, and so on.

Watch Out For Drainage
Whether chopped silage or bundles are used, the trench should be filled one foot above the level of the ground for each four feet of depth in order to prevent the contents from settling below the level of the ground. Covering the trench, first put on a five or six inch layer of dirt and wet it thoroughly. A second layer of equal depth should be placed over this, but should not be wet. Trench silos should be constructed to provide drainage.

Eudaly says that if the leaves of the feed being put into a silo are green and the stalks contain enough sap or juice to run out when twisted, water need not be added. If it is drier than this and enough water to make the silage feel damp when a handful is squeezed.

In filling a trench silo the packing can be done with a tractor or horses.

Mr. Earl Crow, Miss Dorothy Nell Swinson and Jean Swinson returned Monday from Greenville where they visited relatives the past week.

Conservation District News

Floyd County District supervisors have indicated their approval of the district's technicians assisting in a supervisory capacity, any farmer or group of farmers or ranchers who might be interested in the collection of native grass seed, such as buffalo, grama, bluestem, sand dropseed, western wheat, etc. Some of these grasses can be collected with a grain combine by making some minor adjustments. Individuals in other Districts have reported the collection by hand of as high as $20 worth of seed per day. There is every indication of a good market for these seed during the coming season. Time for collection is generally during July and August. Those interested are requested to get in touch with any of the Supervisors or the District office in Floydada.

A certain Mr. X, who lives in the Starkey community, and who for some unknown reason says he does not like to see his name in print (we wonder), says his terraces have more than paid for themselves in increased production of crops since they were put up in 1941. In addition, they have held the rains without a break and prevented the flooding of his pasture, greatly increasing its grazing capacity. J.—(we beg pardon, X—, name on application) says he is planning to build more terraces this fall.

The District supervisors wish to direct the attention of farmers to benefits to be derived from farming methods which leave crop residues on the land. Some highly interesting figures on the results of such work are shown by experiments conducted by the Nebraska Experiment Station and covered in U. S. D. A. Miscellaneous Publication No. 494, copies of which may be seen at the District office.

Two plots of crops were left covered with straw. Following heavy rains the straw covered ground remained open and from two to four times as much moisture was absorbed with yields of wheat as follows: Bare ground 10.5 bushels and on the straw covered land 22.3 bushels. The supervisors also point out that many of the District's farmers are losing much valuable plant food in the form of potash which is seasonally piled "mountain high" at some of the gins which would gladly have removed. There are many cases on record where cotton and other crops have been materially increased by such applications. A load of cotton to the gin and a load of burs on the land each time should get the job done.

THE WEST INDIES TRADE

THE COLONIES HAD COUNTED ON INCREASING NUMBERS OF IMMIGRANTS TO PURCHASE SUPPLIES OF FISH, DRIED MEAT AND LUMBER. THE ENGLISH CIVIL WAR OF 1641 TEMPORARILY HALTED IMMIGRATION AND THUS PRECIPITATED AN ECONOMIC CRISIS HERE. NEW MARKETS WERE NEEDED.

FIVE YEARS EARLIER (1636) GOVERNOR WINTHROP'S SON JOHN AND THOMAS MAYHEW OF BOSTON HAD SENT A TINY SLOOP TO TRADE WITH BERMUDA. IT WAS A SMALL VENTURE BUT PROVED TO NEW ENGLANDERS THAT THERE WAS A MARKET IN THE WEST INDIES.

AS THE TRADE DEVELOPED, COLONIAL SHIPS BROUGHT BACK SUGAR AND MOLASSES IN SUCH QUANTITIES THAT THE COUNTRY'S SHIPPERS BEGAN EXPORTING THE TROPICAL PRODUCTS TO AMSTERDAM, COPENHAGEN AND OTHER EUROPEAN PORTS.

THUS, THE COLONIES NOT ONLY GOT RID OF THEIR HOME-GROWN SURPLUS BUT SUDDENLY FOUND THEMSELVES DOMINATING ONE OF THE MOST PROFITABLE TRADE ROUTES IN THE WORLD. THE FAMOUS WEST INDIES TRADE WAS BORN.

SIMILARLY AMERICANS WERE THREATENED WITH ECONOMIC DISASTERS WHEN WORLD WAR II BROKE OUT BUT SHIP PARTS ROUTES TO CONCENTRATE ON NEW MARKETS AND LEFT STRANDED WITHIN A FEW MONTHS.

Presbyterial Rally Held Here All-Day Tuesday

The Amarillo Presbyterial rally was held in an all day meeting Tuesday at the local Cumberland Presbyterian church. The president, Mrs. A. A. Collins of Lubbock had charge of the meeting. It was a district meeting comprised of several churches.

A splendid program was rendered in which a report of the convention held in Paducah, Kentucky was given by Mrs. Collins. A round table discussion on "Future Work Report" was also a highlight of the program. All of the officers were present except one.

Lunch was served at noon to a large group of delegates.

Half Minute Interviews

R. C. Bennett: "Any door or window of my house I look out of, I can see half a dozen things that need to be done. I'm going back down under the hill where I can't see them and they won't worry me so much."

Walter Travis: "Yes, I remember Jerome McCauley. He ran around some with Ira Marshall. He wasn't a colonel then, but he was older and bigger than I was and he came down to Cone and went with my girl."

MOTHER OF MRS. HARPER INJURED IN UNUSUAL ACCIDENT SATURDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Harper and family were called to Cleburne Monday by the illness of Mrs. Harper's mother, Mrs. R. L. Stovall who was in a Cleburne hospital following injuries sustained in an accident.

The accident occurred Saturday night when Mrs. Stovall was harnessed by a cow. Sixteen stitches were required to close a wound in her abdomen, according to the report received by Mrs. Harper.

Mrs. Stovall is 68 years of age.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for the many kindnesses shown us during the recent illness and death of our two little girls.

May God bless each and every one of you.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Duncan, Jr., and children.

J. M. WRIGHT IMPROVING

J. M. Wright is thought to be improving slowly from a light stroke suffered a week ago while at his home one mile east of Floydada.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lon M. Davis Sunday were Mrs. Davis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bradford, her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Black and their son and daughter, Bob and Carolyn Black all of Canyon, and her aunt, Mrs. S. B. McClary of Etowah, Tennessee.

Miss Josie Eudy who is employed with the Fort Worth plant of Consolidated Vultee Aircraft company as drill press operator, was here for a week end visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Eudy and brother Billy.

Harry Weber is expected home some time this week end from a two weeks visit in Chicago, Illinois, with his mother, Mrs. R. C. Weber. His wife and son, who have been visiting relatives in Chicago for the past month will accompany him home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Covington returned last week from a rest trip to Pikes Peak.

'Dead Eye Dick' Greatest Horse Shoe Pitcher

(Ed. Note: If you ever pitched horse shoes this tale written by Sally Ann Kiehl of Wichita Falls, member of the Junior Historians of Texas, will warm your heart.)

DEAD EYE DICK speakin' o' champens reminds me of the greatest horseshoe pitcher ever produced in the State of Texas. I knew him when he wuz jest a little lad, so ya can rest assured—I'll give ya a West Texas guarantee, in fact—that ever word of this is true.

"He was born some 'er in Wichita county, jest where I can't recollect, but that ain't important. Anyhow, his pa was a blacksmith; so after Dick was born, that's who the story is about, he jest sorta grew up with a horseshoe in his hand. Why he even cut his baby teeth on an old wore-out horseshoe.

"Well, Dick grew, and by the time he wuz jest about knee-high to a grasshopper, he wuz known all over the country by his famous horseshoe pitchin'.

Disagreed With His Pa

"His pa allus wanted him to be a blacksmith, but young Dick he'd other ideas. He liked the horseshoe, but he didn't like the horses. Ya can't throw a horse, Dick would say. He and his pa never agreed on it, so early in life Dick left home, and he ranged around all over the state jest a-earnin' his keep by doin' all sorts of odd jobs. All the time, though, he wuz a-practicin' pitchin' horseshoes and a-makin' the country fairs and reunions.

"He soon became expert at most any trick in horseshoe pitchin'. He could pitch a ringer by turnin' around back'ards, bendin' over, and throwin' the horseshoe between his legs. He could throw a ringer by turnin' around and slingin' it over his shoulder. In fact, there jest weren't hardly nothin' Dick couldn't do.

"He soon got the nickname 'Dead Eye Dick' because of his skill and accuracy in pitchin' ringers. "But soon in his travellin' around he met up with a married a gal named Suzy Bene. Some said it was 'cause of true love, but most of 'em seemed to think it was Dick's sense of showmanship, because of the publicity he received when he used her in his horseshoe pitchin' act. Ya see, he used his wife in his act 'cause her legs wuz so skinny that instead of usin' stakes, he would just ring her ankle. His prize stunt then was throwin' one horseshoe with each hand—both at the same time—and makin' them two horseshoes lay plumb gentle like around Suzy Bene's ankle in perfect heart shape. You couldn't miss it. Well, he did get plenty of publicity from that stunt. It was such touchin' beautiful sentiment.

"O' course Dick had rivals in his path to fame, but they were usually settled with by a threat of a duel.

His One And Only Duel

"Dick only fought one duel in his whole career. Here is how it came about: One time a tother fellow wuz jest talkin' hisself a little bit too close to the championship title in horseshoe pitchin'. Dick didn't like this; the fellow wuz a furrier from out of the state—from Kansas. I think—and so after he had made several insultin' remarks about Dick, Dick he challenged the furrier to fight a duel. Dick told this fellow to pick out any weapon he chose, and he would pick him. The fellow o' course chose a gun, but Dick, lo! and behold, hed only a horseshoe in his hand when the fatal hour of the duel approached. The duel was carried out in the usual manner, and when the two men were signalled to fire, Dick threw his horseshoe stoppin' the bullet and causin' it to glance off, and before the tother man could duck, the horseshoe landed around his neck and choked him to death before he could get it off. After that no more rivals came into the picture, and no more duels were fought.

"When Dick was about thirty-five years old he had become the undisputed champion in all Texas. O' course you know how many horseshoe pitchers Texas had. And o' course the Texas champion wuz automatic National Grand Champen. Well, he had learnt a lot of new tricks, and when the big state fair took place that year, old 'Dead Eye' certainly surprised the onlookers. He showed 'em somethin' they had never seen before.

"Why he made ringers standing on his head. He made 'em with his eyes blindfolded, and he even had his hands tied behind his back and threw a ringer with his feet.

"After that, horseshoe throwin' got more popular than ever before, but no one could ever equal 'Dead Eye's' skill.

"He won so many gold and silver horseshoes that it took four wagons to carry them around, and then the wagons got so full that they broke down.

His Untimely Demise "Dead Eye's' career was short and sweet because he died or rather was the victim of a rather unfortunate accident when he was right in the prime of life—only forty years old.

"He was a pitchin' at one of the biggest tournaments that the world has ever known. He'd just completed his last and most marvelous trick that he had ever done before and wuz ever to do again. The trick wuz that he hed ridden off about a mile down the road on a prancin' black stallion, a-wavin' a golden horseshoe over his head, and then a little later the amazed crowd heard a singin'-whinnin'-buzzin' in the air, and before their astonished eyes his horseshoe landed right square dab on the stake. 'Dead Eye' had made a ringer from a mile away. After the accomplishment of that seemingly impossible trick, 'Dead Eye' jest stood around to watch the amateurs pitch. One of 'em threw wild. The horseshoe hit an iron post and bounced off and hit Dick square between the eyes.

Here is a famous father and step-son paratroop team prepared for flight. Paratroopers are made up entirely of volunteers who receive $50 a month over the pay of enlisted men.

"While he wuz a-dyin', he said that the only thing he regretted wuz that he didn't have time to show 'em the thirty mile-cross country trick.

"'Dead Eye' has long since been buried, but he lives right on in the memory of us Texans. At the head of his grave stands an enormous horseshoe, erected by the Texas State Horseshoe Pitchers Association. And though there have been thousands of good horseshoe pitchers and hundreds of great ones in Texas, the inscription carved deep in the marble says: 'Nobody was ever able to outpitch old 'Dead Eye' Dick and nobody ever will'.

FATHER STILL UNAWARE OF DEATH OF HIS TWO SMALL DAUGHTERS

Although no confirmation has been received that the cable message of his daughters' deaths was delivered, a letter from Sgt. Silas E. Duncan, Jr., was received Wednesday by Mrs. Duncan. The letter was not dated but presumably was written about the time of the children's deaths, and was the first letter she had received since before her children died.

Sgt. Duncan told his wife of a recent promotion to Tech. Sgt. fourth grade. In service in the army signal corps, he stated he liked to work with the section and he praised the company officers. He said he was located about 100 yards from the general's headquarters. Silas E. Duncan, father of Sgt. Duncan also had a letter from his son this week that was dated June 24. The letter follows:

Dear Dad: Sorry I haven't written more often but the work it taking most of my time. We are doing our best here to do a good job and come home as soon as possible.

"My work here is very interesting and I believe I can do commercial work in the states after the war. I received my second promotion yesterday. I am now Sgt. technician 4th grade, and I am very proud of my position in the company.

"How is your health now? Better, I hope. Mother said in her last letter you were better and I hope you continue to improve. I'm doing fine over here. So far, I have not been sick. I saw the general today and he sure is a fine soldier. I believe he will see us through this with flying colors. Love, Sil.

Sgt. Duncan's deceased daughters are Sonja Jeanne, aged 6 and Ruth Elaine aged 8.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Barber returned home Monday morning after attending summer school for the past six weeks. Mr. Barber attended A. & M. and Mrs. Barber attended college at Denton. Their son, Don, who visited in Weatherford accompanied them home.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hammond of Laguna Beach, California spent Sunday and Monday with Mrs. Claude Hammond. Mr. Hammond is in the Medical corps of the Marines.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wilson who have made their home in Gatesville the past two and one half months have returned to Floydada. Mr. Wilson was employed in defense work at Gatesville.

Arla Vee Bishop and Doris Cornnellus spent Sunday in Wichita Falls visiting Herschel Hinson and Donald Cornnellus, who are stationed at Sheppard Field.

Mrs. G. W. Brown and son, Alan returned to their home in Portland, Oregon last week after a three weeks visit here with her father, W. Stephens and Mrs. Stephens.

Pvt. Theodore Lawson and wife, who are stationed at Pampa, left Friday morning after visiting in the home of his uncle, Floyd Ballard.

Mrs. H. E. Logan of Houston, Mrs. Boone Hall of Plainview and Mrs. Robert Jones and daughter of Lubbock were guests Monday of Mr. and Mrs. W. Eld Brown.

Deadline Close For Renewal Of 'A' Books

The deadline for renewal of A card holders is almost here and many hundreds of applicants yet to be renewed, local Gas Rationing board officials warn this week. Renewals must be made before July 21. M. H. Martin said. Blanks are available at local filling stations and must be accompanied by the tire inspection record when brought to the rationing board for renewal.

NEPHEW OF MCCAULEY'S FIGHTS TO 'GET THIS THING OVER' HE SAYS

Staff Sgt. Gerald W. Brookman, assistant engineer and top turret gunner on the Flying Fortress "Old Granddad," was so opposed to militarism that he quit a military college to get away from it, but when he heard the news of the attack on Pearl Harbor, he told his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Brookman of Wichita Falls.

"The quicker we get into this, the quicker we'll get it over with," Nine days later he enlisted in the Army Air forces. By May 6 of this year he had flown 25 missions over enemy territory and had been awarded the Air Medal and two Oak Leaf clusters, with two additional clusters earned.

He and his crew mates, who included 2 Texans, Staff Sgts. James L. Stafford, Cisco, tail gunner, and B. B. Copp, Justin, waist gunner, were credited with the destruction of nine Axis fighter planes. One of their fiercest battles occurred 20,000 feet over the English Channel on March 1, when Flying Fortresses raided the harbor of Rotterdam and the nearby suburb of Schiedam.

Brookman is nephew of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. McCauley and a cousin of Mrs. Calvin Steen of this city.

Canning Service Urged To Save Garden Crops

The free cannery, in operation at the building east of the Cline & Rainer station on East California street, is getting in operation this week as new equipment is being installed.

Although not operating at full capacity, the cannery is open five days a week from 9 a. m. until 6 p. m., closing on Saturdays.

Mrs. W. C. Sims is supervisor of the work. The canning facilities are offered free to the women of Floydada and Floyd county, however each person must do the work himself. It is necessary to have the vegetables ready to blanch when brought in. Mrs. Sims pointed out however plenty of water is available for washing the product.

Adult Training Program H. G. Barber, vocational agriculture teacher in the Floydada school is local supervisor of the canning program, a national War Production Training program for adults. Equipment is furnished by the government which is anxious to be of service to as many families as possible. The project is handled throughout the nation through the schools.

Mr. Barber and Mrs. Sims are anxious that more women bring their food to the cannery. The large building offers a cool comfortable workroom with plenty of floor and table space to work in comfort.

Truman Fuqua Has Interesting Visit In New York

(Editor's Note: The following letter was written to Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Fuqua by their son Pvt. Truman (Demp) Fuqua, who is in the finance department of the army air corps. He has been in service since October of last year. He tells of a recent trip he and his wife made in New York City.)

Port Dix Air Base, June 27, 1943.

Dearest Folks:

Hello and how are all you good people? I'm o. k., but a little tired having just gotten off K. P., but will be ready to go after a good night's rest. That is one of the few good things around here; it's nice and cool in these woods for sleeping.

Do you notice any Bronx accent. I wouldn't be surprised if you did, for Jo and I were really up among the pure Blue Believed Yankees. It was the grandest and most enjoyable trip I ever hope to make. Could imagine seeing some of Van's tracks here and there. Hope he is there now—sure wish I could be.

We left Trenton Wednesday morning at 9:40 and arrived in N. Y. at 11. Got a hotel room, cleaned up and started out. First, we took a boat out to the Statue of Liberty, climbed up to the top and viewed the surroundings, which was a very beautiful sight. Then back up town to the Empire State building. That is one of the most breath-taking sights man has ever created. From the top it made one feel like he was in fairy land, looking at all the things below. Made you feel like it was only a dream. You see, it is 102 stories to the top. You can imagine how things looked below. A lot of the buildings had roof gardens with grass, flowers, shrubs and trees just as big as you see in any creek bottom.

By this time it was getting late so I went in the Soldiers Recreation club and got a free ticket to Radio City's Music hall for the nights performance. We saw a picture show and a stage show, both very good and the Music hall is too beautiful for words to describe. It was full and holds around 25 thousand people. This lasted until midnight. We were up early the next morning for a bus ride up to Ft. Tyrone Park, a very beautiful place, located at the upper end of Manhattan. We got off here and went through the Cloisters, a museum of Medieval art dating back as far as the 12th Century. There were carvings of Christ hanging on the Cross, old furniture carpets, and most anything you could imagine.

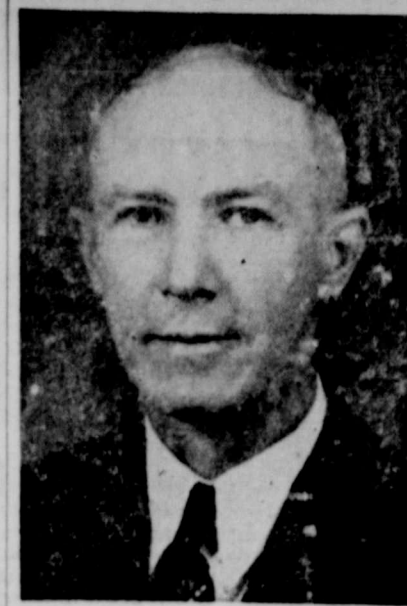

After a couple of hours there, we boarded the bus again and came back down-town via the Riverside drive, which is along the banks of the Hudson river. Saw the Washington bridge, Grant's tomb, Soldiers and Sailors Memorial monument and several other monuments etc.

Most of the afternoon we spent in Rockefeller Center, where we made the tour of N. B. C. Saw them putting on programs and rehearsing including Jimmy Durante's rehearsal of Camel Caravan. The guide turned in on them but the language wasn't exactly all nice, so he shut them off. We also went in the television branch. There three girls and myself were chosen out of the group to go before the sending set and put on a skit for the folks.

Attends Ice Follies Thursday night we went to Sonja Heine's Ice follies, which was the most beautiful sight we saw. It was a three hour show and those people on the ice could do more things than I could on solid ground. This was over at 12 and we boarded the train at 12:40 for Trenton; two of the most worn out people in the world. Poor Jo especially, she was almost sick, but I called last night and she was about to get over it. It was really tough to come back to these woods, after three days freedom. I would suggest to anyone to go to N. Y. if it ever possible for it is something to see. I wouldn't take anything for the trip. If we could go to Washington now I would be pretty well satisfied with the sights in this part of the world. Reckon I will even be satisfied to settle down after bummung around so much.

This is going to be a pretty tough week. Have three hikes coming up. The last one is 17 miles and bivouac coming back Sunday. I got my last typhus and cholera shots yesterday, so maybe I won't have any more sore arms for a spell. Have lost 13 pounds since coming here—only weigh 145 now. Guess I'll gain it back when we quit taking so many hikes.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Solomon of Memphis spent the week end here visiting in the homes of relatives, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Solomon and his sister Miss Lillie Solomon.

SOMETHING TO CACKLE ABOUT

Hens in the United States are breaking production records again. From the output for the first months of 1943, an American henhouse appears about as busy as a shipyard. January egg production totaled 3,769,000,000 eggs, which was 11 1/2 percent over production for January, 1942, according to the Department of Agriculture. In February it jumped to 4,577,000,000 eggs, 19 percent greater than a year earlier. The egg goal set for 1943 calls for an 8 percent increase over the 1943 production, which was a record in itself.

June Weast Wed To Sgt. E. T. Evans

In a double ring ceremony solemnized July 4, Miss June Weast, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Weast of South Plains, became the bride of Tech. Sergeant E. T. Evans son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Evans of Paducah. Vows were exchanged at 4 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents, with Rev. Phil H. Gates officiating.

Nuptial music included "Melody of Love" and "I Love You Truly" sung by Misses Ruby and Opal Weast, and "The Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" and "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life," played at the piano by Mrs. Lake D. Wilkerson.

The couple exchanged vows as they stood before an improvised altar placed before a long mirror and between two mantles. On either side of the two mantles were white candles which burned in tall candelabra.

Miss Lucille Weast attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a light blue crepe suit with white accessories and three gardenias. W. H. White of Amarillo served as best man.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length dress of white sheer mesh accented with navy shoes. She wore a white hat with short veil. For "something old" she wore a cameo locket belonging to her mother and an antique turquoise ring set in pearls. Her arm bouquet was of pink roses and baby's breath.

Reception Is Held
A reception was held at the Weast home, where a three-tiered wedding cake and punch were served to the wedding guests. The table was decorated with pink and white sweet peas and lighted by candles. Mrs. Paul Stanford presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Joe McWilliams was in charge of the guest book.

After the reception, the couple left for Terre Haute, Indiana, where they will make their home. Mrs. Evans traveled in a black crepe suit with black and white accessories and corsage of pink roses.

The bride is a graduate of West Texas State college and attended the university of Colorado where she did work on her master's degree. For the past three years she has taught in the Phillips High school.

Sergeant Evans also is a graduate of West Texas State college. Before entering military service he taught in the Phillips High school. He is now stationed at Terre Haute where he is studying the electrical engineering course which will prepare him as instructor in that field.

Table Setting Aided By Flowers

Red roses and a splash of white daisies make a delightful centerpiece with dark blue and white china. Dorothy Draper, brilliant head of the Good Housekeeping Studio, suggests the above blue banded linen and table mats and napkins. The table is designed for every home and the flowers may be picked up at the nearest florist or wired home by the head of the house for the enjoyment of the whole family when he returns.

Mrs. M. L. Probasco returned home last week end from Coffeyville, Kansas where she has been the past six weeks with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Norris and little daughter Paula Arline. The daughter was born June 5. Mr. and Mrs. Norris and daughter accompanied Mrs. Probasco to Floydada, for an indefinite stay. Mr. Norris plans to enter service in the U. S. Army as a sheet metal worker at an early date. Miss Frances Jo Terrell, who has completed summer school at Sul Ross college at Alpine, Texas, returned home Thursday to spend the remainder of the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. Terrell.

Under the Clark-McNary and Norris-Doxey Acts, more than 75 million tree seedlings and transplants were distributed at cost of production to farmers in 42 States last year according to the U. S. Forest Service. More than 32 million went to Southern farmers alone.

The National Forests in eleven Southern States sold almost two million dollars worth of timber and forest products during the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1943, according to the U. S. Forest Service. Virtually all these products were used in producing war materials.

In addition to its countless other war uses, wood is used to make laminated, molded plywood used in the great cargo gliders now being towed across the Atlantic to carry war materials to our fighting fronts.

A cord of dry oak or hickory has the heating value of a ton of soft coal, according to the U. S. Forest Service. Green wood has only half the heat-producing value of dry wood.

Hairy vetch is rapidly gaining in popularity in Floyd county as a soil building crop and as a source of income through the sale of the seed. Vetch is a popular legume that is well adapted to local conditions.

Hairy Vetch should be seeded in September or early October. It may be seeded with a regular wheat drill at a seeding rate of 20 pounds per acre, according to Ed Whitfill of Aiken community, who planted 50 acres to vetch September 1st, 1942.

To be assured of fall and winter grazing vetch should be seeded in early July, in the opinion of R. E. Deahl also of Aiken community. Mr. Deahl has had years of experience with legumes in the state of Idaho.

According to present information Floyd county may be the leading seed source for hairy vetch. Four farmers will harvest approximately 27,000 pounds of seed this year.

Farmers growing hairy vetch include Ed Whitfill, C. J. Taylor, Tom Rankin, F. L. Brown, R. E. Deahl, and Claude Harris.

Sweet Clover seems to be the answer to the potato grower's production problems as this is the second year to prove its value on the R. E. Deahl farm in Aiken community.

Mr. Deahl has estimated a 50% better crop of spuds on sweet clover land as compared to alfalfa or hairy vetch in a preceding legume. Sweet clover improves the physical texture of the soil and improves the quality of the potato, according to Mr. Deahl.

Mr. Deahl gathered all of the spuds under a random sample hill and found the 13 to weigh a total of 5 1/2 pounds. He has estimated the crop at 200 sacks per acre.

Alfalfa hay brought under price control in more western states, according to a release in the War Letter for Agriculture received by the county agricultural agent. The order covers two counties in Texas and is reprinted for the interest of alfalfa growers.

"OPA has brought alfalfa hay under price control in Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Idaho, New Mexico and in El Paso and Hudspeth counties in Texas, generally at levels established for this hay last February in California, Oregon and Washington. The maximum price, is $20 a ton, loose on the farm, ready to load, except that where a certificate signed by a State or Federal hay inspector is supplied the following maximum prices can be charged: Alfalfa hay—Grade No. 1, $22.50; Grade No. 2, $20. Alfalfa green or leafy hay—Grade No. 2, $21. Alfalfa extra leafy hay—Grade No. 1, $25.50; Grade No. 2, $22."

"County shippers are allowed a mark-up of $2 a ton on sales to dealers and of $3 a ton on sales to retailers or feeders or other ultimate purchasers. Dealers are allowed a mark-up of $1.50 a ton. Retailers are allowed a maximum of $3 a ton on sales from off a railroad car in less than carload lots. Where the retailer has unloaded and stored the hay, he is allowed a $5 a ton mark-up in sales of two tons or less; $4.50 a ton on sales of more than two tons but not more than three; $3.50 a ton on sales of more than three but not more than five tons; $3 a ton on sales of more than five tons.

Gasoline Ration Coupons Should Be Endorsed

Motorists and all other gasoline users were reminded today by W. Edd Brown, Chairman of the Floyd County War Price and Rationing board that all the coupons in their gasoline ration books must be endorsed immediately.

Coupons in new books issued after July 22, should be endorsed as soon as they are received from the War Price and Rationing Board, Mr. Brown said. In addition, users should write endorsements, immediately on any coupons now in their possession or received before July 22.

In the past it has not been necessary to write notations on coupons until they were actually used to buy gas.

Immediately endorsements are required under a new OPA amendment both as a convenience to the public and as a help to OPA investigators in checking misuse of ration coupons falling into the hands of persons not entitled to them, the Board Chairman pointed out.

"Under the new plan the motorist by spending a few minutes endorsing his coupons all at once will have delay and trouble when he goes to a filling station to buy gasoline," said Mr. Brown.

"The new requirements also means greater protection to the motorist whose book is lost or stolen, since the finder or thief will not be able to pass off the coupons as his own by writing in his own license number," the chairman added. "By cooperating in making these endorsements promptly the rightful holders of a gasoline ration will be rendering invaluable assistance to OPA in its job of detecting and preventing a black market in gasoline and gasoline coupons."

Weather and Crops

Although farmers in the same parts of west Floyd county are still in need of moisture most other parts of the county have had ample rain and are needing dry weather.

At Floydada this week the rain gauge showed 1.67 inches in three showers, 52-hundredths Thursday night, 83-hundredths Saturday morning at 5 o'clock.

North of town five miles farmers have not been able to get into their fields for two weeks. Wheat land is needing plowing and young feed is growing by leaps and bounds along with weeds that need checking.

Temperatures This Week
Low temperature for the week was recorded by West Texas Gas company at 61 degrees Saturday morning. The high for the week was 94 degrees recorded Thursday morning.

Potato digging in commercial fields has not become general as yet, but the crop is ready to gather as soon as the growers can get to it.
