Ellsberg, Russo Exult In Charge Dismissals

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo, exulting in their triumph over espionage, conspiracy and theft charges, said Saturday they plan to follow very different paths in their future lives — Russo continuing to fight for causes, Ellsberg seeking privacy and contemplation.

Band Wins Award

First word from Six Flags Over Georgia and the national band competition is that the Pride of Pampa Harvester band made a clean sweep first in all categories.

Reports indicated the band had gained a first place in their division at the national contests and had been selected for the top overall honors.

Parents of band members, students and boosters were planning a warm welcome for the returning winners, who are due to return about 2 p.m. Monday.

That is the word of Dr. James Malone who said he was "out of pocket" when the first call came in from the jubilant Pampa musicians but received that information.

The school superintendent told the News he expected to hear more directly and more officially before press time.

The trip to the band festival staged at the famed sister attraction to Six Flags Over Texas was the culmination of both a fund-raising effort to defray the expenses and of months of practice with the optimistic hope that the Pampa bandmen under the direction of Harris Brinson would make their mark in the competition.

AT $1.2 MILLION

Pioneer To Build New Supply Line

Pioneer Natural Gas Co. has announced the start of a $1.2 million construction project on approximately 18 miles of gathering line in Hemphill County to connect a new gas supply to the company's system.

The line will originate at the company's treating plant in Buffalo Wallow and go north across the Canadian River into the Mathers Ranch Gas Field.

The first phase of construction will be the river crossing about eight miles east of Canadian.

The estimated completion date for the total project is July 1. When the system is completed three wells will be connected delivering approximately 20 million cubic feet of gas a day into Pioneer's system.

The line will have a capacity of up to 50 million cubic feet a day, and it is anticipated that there will be a number of other wells available for connection.

Y E S Program Issues

Appeal For Employment

Pampa's Y E S (Youth Employment Service) program for the summer of 1973 was launched Saturday with the annual appeal to employers to list their needs for help in any kind of work with the Texas Employment Commission office, 823 E. Francis.

The program is co-sponsored by the Top O' Texas Kiwanis Club, Pampa High School Key Club and the state employment commission.

Bill Ragsdale, manager of the employment office, said the Y E S program will follow the same pattern as in the past year.

The office will have available the names of responsible young people who are seeking summer vacation jobs.

Ragsdale said usually there are not enough 18-year-old boys to go around, but most 14 to 17 year-olds are kept pretty busy.

There is practically nothing did in the past — a fairly private life of research, writing and reading," said the 42-year-old Ellsberg, whose actions in copying the top-secret Pentagon papers rushed him to the center of antiwar activities.

But the balding Russo, 36, said he was taking an airplane immediately to a Chicago conference to consider plans for possible impeachment of President Nixon.

Both Ellsberg and Russo have declared their intention to sue government officials, possibly including Nixon, but Ellsberg said:

"I personally have thought enough about Richard Nixon for my lifetime. I hope to never think of him again."

Russo said he would finish a book he has been writing throughout the trial — "Writing that book helped get me through the trial" — and would remain a political activist.

Both men termed dismissal of charges against them a victory, though Russo acknowledged the issues which brought them to trial were never resolved.

Chief among those issues was the question of whether the government has the right to keep secrets from American citizens. In dismissing the charges Friday, U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne harshly condemned government misconduct in the case — including Watergate and White House involvement — but he said nothing about the secrecy issue.

"It was ambiguous," said Russo. "It was not the kind of clear-cut resolution we would have wanted. We were not able to let the trial go to the jury, but I don't think this one trial, this one case, could have resolved these issues."

"So there is a lot that goes unresolved," Russo added. "The war still goes on. All of us who have opposed this war still have a job to do." He referred specifically to U.S. bombing of Cambodia.

Ellsberg and Russo, both one-time researchers on government projects, made the comments at a news conference in which their attorneys supported the two men's declared intentions to sue government officials.

Ellsberg's chief attorney, Leonard Boudin, said he will file a civil suit in Washington against the government and seek damage payments for the costs incurred during the trial.

President Studies Campaign Reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, whose administration has been rocked by the Watergate scandal, will ask Congress next week to create a bipartisan commission that could recommend major reforms in the conduct of election campaigns.

The sources said Nixon will urge approval of a joint resolution authorizing the panel and clearing the way for financing and staffing the commission.

The panel would have a broad mandate to study past campaign abuses and propose legislation or other means of preventing future Watergates.

The sources said the White House reportedly envisions a panel of 16 to 20 members, some of whom would be members of Congress named by the Democratic and Republican leadership.

Other commission members would be appointed by the President.

The sources said the proposal probably will be sent to Congress late next week after the White House completes its paperwork and lines up sponsors for the resolution in both the Senate and House.

Cushman, now commander of the Central Intelligence Agency when the CIA gave undercover assistance to convicted Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt in 1971.

The gathering line, which will contain approximately 16 miles of 10-inch pipe and 2 miles of 8-inch pipe, will be built and hydrostatically tested according to the U.S. Department of Transportation's requirements for a gas transmission line.

The Canadian River will be crossed at a point where the river bed is about a mile wide. The 10-inch coated pipe will be covered with a 3-inch concrete coating and settled into the riverbed.

To complete the construction, the course of the stream will be diverted and half the line will be built, then the stream will be returned to its original course, and the remainder of the crossing finished.

McCaithen, Inc. of Pampa has been awarded the contract for the project.

Coronado Inn Listed In New Travel Guide

The Coronado Inn has been listed in the 1973 edition of the "Mobile Travel Guide," one of the finest travel guidebooks available. This announcement was made Saturday by Bob Zaph, general manager of the inn.

Coronado Inn has been listed with a three-star rating.

Over 22,000 restaurants, hotels, motels and resorts are listed and rated on a one to five star basis in the seven volume guide, which has been compared by travel experts to the famed Guide Michelin.

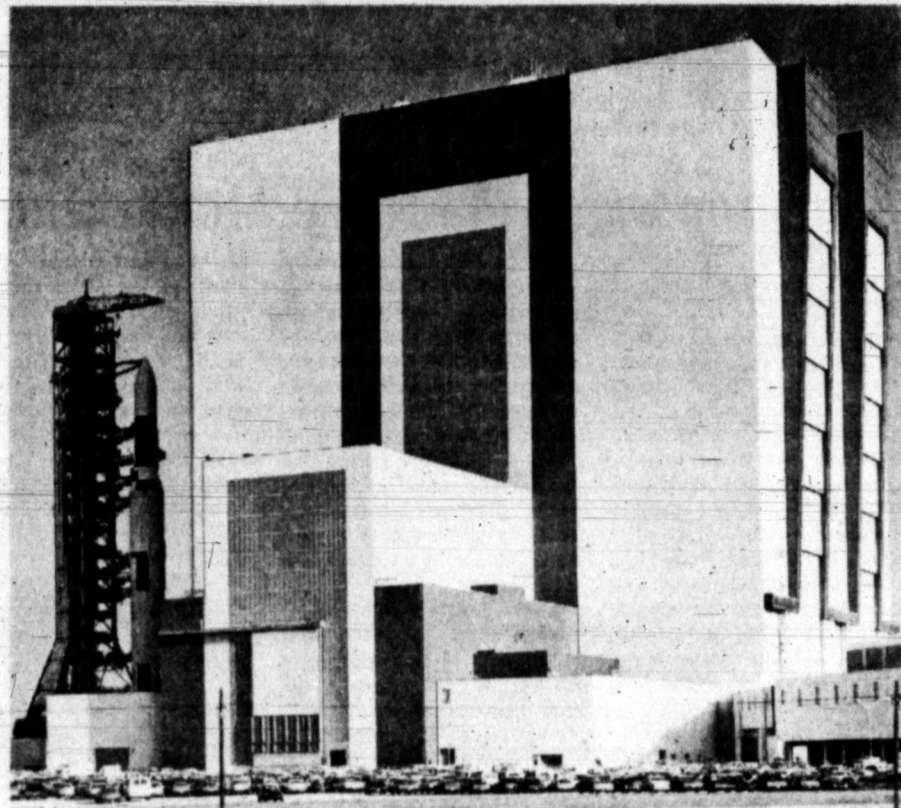

To be listed in the guide, the establishments must be personally inspected by an impartial, trained inspector who is employed by a completely independent organization. The inspector's findings are reported to an editorial board of the organization, which has instituted a set of standards for listings and ratings, Zaph said.

Each of the seven regional editions provides valuable information on local history, sightseeing, amusements, sports and recreation facilities, in addition to the star-rated food and lodging listings.

Also included are regional atlases and detailed maps of major cities, special auto-tour routes and helpful advice to travelers.

The 1973 "Mobile Travel Guide" books are available at Mobil service stations, bookstores, magazine outlets and other places where books and magazines are sold.

Nixon, Brezhnev Plan US Summit Meetings

AWAITING LAUNCH — Skylab 1's height of 101.7 feet is a bit dwarfed by the giant Vehicle Assembly Building as it is trundled out for the three-mile trip to Complex 39 and lift off. America's first space station is due to be launched at 12:30 p.m. Monday, with its astronauts following on Tuesday.

Space Station Mission Nearing Launch Time

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Fit and ready for their space adventure, the Skylab 1 astronauts were to fly to Cape Kennedy Sunday to await the start of their 28-day mission aboard America's first space station.

Astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz were to pilot their own T38 jets from Houston to Patrick Air Force Base near Cape Kennedy, arriving about noon.

The spacemen were to move into crew quarters five miles from the launch pads for the Saturn 5 rocket which will launch the Skylab space station and the Saturn 1B rocket which will hoist the astronauts.

With 16 months of intensive training behind them, the astronauts took the day off Saturday "to relax and loaf" in quarantine quarters at the Johnson Space Center near Houston, officials said.

Conrad, Weitz and Kerwin will watch the blast off Monday at 12:30 p.m. CDT of the Skylab 1. They will be awakened early Tuesday to suit up for their own launch at noon.

Preparations for launch continued to be trouble-free Saturday.

Weather forecasts for both the Monday and Tuesday launches were good. Weathermen called for a warm, partly cloudy day for the launch of Skylab and an "almost clear" day for the second blastoff.

Wives and families of the spacemen were scheduled to arrive at Cape Kennedy during the weekend. Mrs. Kerwin and Mrs. Weitz and their children were expected Saturday. Mrs. Conrad with her four sons was flying from Houston Sunday.

The launch of Skylab will project the American space program into a new era.

For the first time, astronauts will concentrate on studying how well man can live and work in space for long periods. The astronauts' health and the bodily changes brought on by living in weightlessness will be carefully monitored throughout the four-week mission.

Such medical studies are considered essential for future space exploration, such as months-long missions to other planets.

The Skylab 1 astronauts will use complex experiments aboard their 100-ton, house-sized orbiting laboratory to study the sun and the stars.

IN CAMBODIA

Reds Threaten Capital Lifeline

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Communist-led sappers overran two government outposts 15 miles west of Phnom Penh Saturday, posing a new threat to the Cambodian capital's lifeline to the sea.

The Cambodian command said two battalions of government troops, about 600 men in all, were in close-quarter fighting before they abandoned the two positions.

There was no immediate report on casualties.

The fall of one of the positions, Thant Pong, a hilltop outpost, left Highway 4 vulnerable to attack. Highway 4, the only major roadway open in Cambodia, connects Phnom Penh with the deepwater seaport of Kompong Som, through which war materials and other supplies are received.

Phnom Penh is already facing a fuel crisis. Gasoline sales in the capital's service stations were suspended two days ago.

Delayed reports said Communist-led forces also inflicted heavy losses on government units Thursday morning less than 10 miles south of Phnom Penh.

The reports said a company of government troops guarding two bridges on Phnom Penh's outer defense ring was overrun and 18 men were killed, 50 missing and six wounded.

In Saigon, the U.S. Embassy labeled as false Viet Cong charges that American B52 bombers attacked Communist-controlled territory three and four miles inside the South Vietnamese border with Cambodia.

Col. Duong Dinh Thao, a Viet Cong spokesman, told a news conference U.S. planes have been attacking Communist areas along a more than 40-mile stretch of the South Vietnamese-Cambodian border northwest of Saigon. The Viet Cong peace agreement, signed Jan. 27 in Paris, prohibits

Improved SALT Talks Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and Soviet Communist Party Chairman Leonid Brezhnev will hold the American phase of their summit meetings June 18-26, with the discussions expected to give the second round of SALT talks a major thrust forward.

The announcement of the summit, to be held predominantly in Washington, was made simultaneously in Moscow and at the White House Saturday. Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon had invited Brezhnev to the United States during the May 1972 summit session in the Soviet Union.

Immediately after Ziegler's statement, presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger told newsmen that this summit, like all of Nixon's previous high-level meetings with foreign leaders, was expected to have important and practical results.

It was obvious that Kissinger, who returned Thursday after a four-day trip to Russia, was referring to the second phase of the Strategic Arms Limitation talks now under way in Geneva.

There has been a discussion of the priorities and the general directions the negotiations might take, when the two leaders meet, Kissinger said.

"I believe when the secretary general (Brezhnev) and the President meet, the broad direction for subsequent negotiations can be established, the impetus can be accelerated."

He made this optimistic assessment in the wake of reports that it might take up to five years to negotiate a SALT II treaty, which Kissinger acknowledged Saturday is much more complicated both technically and politically than the earlier round SALT I involved.

Panhandle Woman Injured Seriously

Debbie Kimberly, 20, of Panhandle, suffered serious injuries in a two-car accident in the north section of that city about 8 p.m. Saturday.

She was brought to Highland General Hospital by Metropolitan Ambulance where she was given emergency treatment and rushed directly to Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

A second person was injured in the mishap and was taken to an Amarillo hospital by the ambulance service at Panhandle.

Identity nor the extent of injuries was not disclosed until relatives could be contacted.

PHYSICAL FITNESS NEEDED

Youth Important 'Resource', PE Director Tells Kiwanians

By TEX DEWEES

As the youth of our nation goes, so goes our nation. That was the message left with a Pampa-Kiwanis Club luncheon audience Friday by Steve Gergenti, director of physical education in Amarillo public schools.

Gergenti, a football and basketball referee at many Pampa High School athletic contests, spoke on "Lifetime Sports and Physical Fitness."

He said he always is disturbed when he hears luncheon speakers mention oil, grain, water, cattle and other products as an area's most important resources.

"Actually," Gergenti said, "our most important resources are our American boys and girls."

"If they are not properly fitted for life and indoctrinated in the American way and in God, they will not become useful citizens."

The speaker said he deplored the use of the words, "juvenile delinquency."

"It is a most abused terminology," he said.

Then Gergenti chastised news media by charging that they give more publicity and attention to 5 per cent of today's youth who are on the wrong track and neglect the good accomplishments of the other 95 per cent.

EDITOR'S NOTE — It is to be regretted the speaker included all news media in that broad statement. Files of The Pampa News will show the facts to be otherwise.

Gergenti said he thought school boards and school officials had spent too much time worrying about the length of students' hair.

"I do not think that is important," he said. "If they respect authority and are good citizens — these are the things that count and length of the hair is unimportant."

He said today's children need an accord to limit deployment of antiballistic missile systems. The second round is an attempt to restrict the offensive nuclear arms systems on which both superpowers base their policy of a balance-of-terror deterrent.

The national security adviser did not promise that a SALT II treaty would be signed at the summit here, as was the case in Moscow for the initial SALT agreement. Instead, he indicated Nixon and Brezhnev might issue a declaration of negotiating principles and priorities.

Kissinger said the summit meeting was never in doubt, having been "planned for many months, at the latest since February."

He said his advance trip to Moscow last week was in part to review the state of U.S.-Soviet relations, particularly in light of the principles agreed to at last year's summit.

These principles pledged both nations to avoid aggravating the world situation and to do everything possible to prevent a military confrontation.

Both sides agreed, Kissinger said, that these principles have been lived up to "and we should continue to discuss the whole range of Soviet-U.S. relations to see which is capable of development."

Kissinger's reference to February as the latest planning date for Brezhnev's trip was an evident acknowledgment that the timing of the summit had depended on a settlement of the Vietnam War.

Accident Kills Local Resident

Roy Hayes, 80, of 603 Tignor, apparently died instantly Friday afternoon when his car slid broadside into a tree on FM 2477 some 22 miles south of the city.

According to Department of Public Safety Officer Ken Evans who investigated the crash, it appeared that Hayes was traveling east when he went into a broad slide on a curve and left the roadway, traveling 420 feet before he crashed into the tree.

The accident occurred shortly before 1 p.m. Friday. Justice of the Peace Ernest Beck of McLean pronounced him dead at the scene.

"Friends said they believed he was going to Lake McLeod to fish as he often did."

He had been a resident of the Panhandle since 1934.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Food is your most urgent daily need. Man's hunger drive is basic to his existence, his survival. Yet the food you are eating, and the food you are not eating, may be a contributing factor to serious health problems now and in the future.

By continuing your present eating habits you may actually be contributing to your own disease problems, says the Texas State Department of Health.

The nation's diet is so "terrible" it costs us $30 billion a year in doctor bills and other health care costs, according to a report from a United States Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs.

The costs to society of undernourished mothers and their sickly infants, physically and mentally inferior children, absenteeism in the working force and school children, the great loss of life from cardiovascular disease and hypertension, the costs of dental decay, alcoholism and diseases of diabetes, obesity, digestive disturbances... all can be attributed in part to poor nutrition.

There are three major dietary problems in this country: undernutrition (not enough food), malnutrition (not enough of the right kinds of food), and overnutrition (too many calories).

Some of us know that some foods are better than others for helping children grow and keeping adults vigorous and well. Yet most of us usually eat only what we like, what we are accustomed to eat, or what we can afford -- which isn't always what we should be eating.

Some of us fall for the most brightly packaged and most highly advertised foods. We choose food that can be purchased easily, prepared quickly, or eaten on the run, rather than a sensible choice of foods that will make the total daily diet more nourishing and interesting.

Nutrition scientists can account for some 57 nutrients that are used by the human body and that are necessary for life and well-being. These include 13 vitamins, 17 minerals, 22 amino acids, fatty acids and other lipids (fats and fatlike substances), sugars, starches, and water.

All of these nutrients in proper proportion can be had by choosing wisely from the four major food groups.

The body converts these 57 nutrients into thousands of different chemical compounds that the body needs in order to create blood, bones, muscles, tissues of the central nervous system as well as hormones and enzymes to regulate the body functions and to provide energy.

This is a 24-hour a day process. For example, the central nervous system requires a constant supply of glucose (blood sugar) for normal function.

Food is used for energy, growth, maintenance and repair of all body tissues; and for the regulation of body functions including natural resistance to disease.

Nutritional deficiencies do not develop spontaneously after you miss a meal, or even a week of meals.

A deficiency is usually the cumulative effect of insufficient amounts of a nutrient over an extended period of time. The body adapts to the inadequate supply of the nutrient by depleting its stores and slowing down the reactions in which that nutrient is involved.

When metabolism is changed because of depleted enzymes, the changes affect the cells and tissues and lead to such familiar symptoms as fatigue, poor appetite, insomnia, among others. Actually, people rarely show symptoms of any one nutrient deficiency, since the nutrients function in an interrelated manner.

A proper diet can reduce susceptibility to infectious diseases.

Medical research scientists have shown that children and adults who chronically do not get enough protein and iron from their diets suffer a severe deficiency of the so-called humoral immunity, which protects against bacterial diseases. Research indicates that iron deficiency affects the production of an iron-dependent enzyme, myeloperoxidase, essential for the destruction of bacteria.

However, similar animal studies indicate reduced protein intake enhances another immune system that fights viruses, protozoa and fungi. These same animal studies indicate a low level of protein intake may also enhance another type of immunity system called "cell-mediated immunity," which, among other things, is believed to help guard the body against cancer.

However, state health authorities are quick to join these researchers in warning the public there is not enough information at present from these animal studies to warrant humans going on a low-protein diet in order to avoid cancer.

The role of the diet and its cholesterol and fat content has been well publicized as a major contributory factor to development of heart disease, the nation's number one killer.

Now some animal study research indicates too much cholesterol and saturated fats may relate to a whole variety of cancers, resulting from the metabolic breakdown products of bile acids and cholesterol. Little or nothing is known about this condition in humans.

The role of nutrition and proper diet has long been known in the control of such diseases as diabetes mellitus (a defect in the body's ability to use carbohydrates and sugars), or cystic fibrosis. The state of nutrition also affects a person's adaptation to stress, and stress may change nutrient requirements.

Colleges Told To End Sex Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 150 all-male and all-female colleges, including some of the most prestigious in the nation, must explain by early summer delays in totally eliminating sex discrimination in admissions.

A government memo and guidelines mailed recently to presidents of the institutions in 33 states say they have up to six years to comply with a new antidiscrimination law if acceptable transition plans are received before July 1.

Educational institutions which are eligible to submit a plan, but do not, will be required not to discriminate on the basis of sex in admissions as of June 24, 1973, the memo said.

Copies were sent to such schools as Notre Dame, Harvard, Yale and Vassar.

Institutions violating the guidelines, covered by Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, risk the loss of all federal aid.

The memo from Peter E. Holmes, director of the Office for Civil Rights, and John Otina, commissioner designate of the U.S. Office of Education, asks the schools to identify all obstacles that might hinder full compliance this fall.

"Nondiscrimination does not imply that your institution must of will accept students of either sex in any particular number or proportion, but it does mean removal of all obstacles, based on sex, to admission of students," the guidelines said.

Hospital Week Shows Concern

By RAY BAXTER

As National Hospital Week comes to a close, local residents are aware of three things: the city has two hospitals, a great corps of concerned people employed in the treatment of illness and injuries, and a need for more.

During this week of special appreciation for those who staff the nation's hospitals, civic organizations moved in on Highland General Hospital to work on landscape beautification as people in white bustled around them proudly displaying lapel buttons telling of their concern with the community's health.

At Worley Hospital a great number of people visited the blood typing clinic, a free service offered in the lobby of the hospital. Others, interested in the hospital, that has had a prominent place in the history of the city dating from boom days, toured the facilities and expressed surprise at the modern equipment available there.

"Admittedly, we have an old house," Worley administrator H. Don Alexander noted. "But we do have some sophisticated equipment and a track record for skilled service we are proud of."

Alexander is surrounded by highly experienced people wearing the familiar white, the same smiling faces and voicing happy refrains of encouragement to patients seen and heard in like hospitals across the land.

Dr. J.F. Elder is the chief of staff at Worley. Mrs. Amy Russell is director of nursing and Mrs. Marjorie Holland is operating room supervisor.

In addition to a highly maintained surgical suite, Worley has departments of radiology and pathology and an emergency room open 24 hours a day, seven days a week with a host of auxiliary people ready in an extreme community emergency.

Recently added to these full-service departments is another — the cardiopulmonary department (inhalation therapy) utilizing some of the most modern equipment. The staff of this department can aid physicians in diagnosis and treatment of many ills in the respiratory field.

"Remembering two winters now when at least half of the patient population of both hospitals was URI (upper respiratory infection), we are quite proud of this new equipment," Alexander said.

Alexander is a native of Little Rock, Ark., and holds degrees in both banking and hospital administration. He came to Pampa from another hospital operated by American Medical International Inc. that operates the Worley facility here.

AMI has grown from a central medical laboratory in Los Angeles in 1956 to a giant complex of 43 hospitals in the U.S., one in England and one in Switzerland.

In addition AMI operates central medical reference laboratories, inhalation therapy services offering equipment, services and personnel, a technical engineering division to build and maintain radiology equipment and a professional research service.

One patient's conclusion was: "It's better to be well but if you have to be sick... Pampa is the way to go."

respiratory infection), we are quite proud of this new equipment," Alexander said.

Alexander is a native of Little Rock, Ark., and holds degrees in both banking and hospital administration. He came to Pampa from another hospital operated by American Medical International Inc. that operates the Worley facility here.

AMI has grown from a central medical laboratory in Los Angeles in 1956 to a giant complex of 43 hospitals in the U.S., one in England and one in Switzerland.

In addition AMI operates central medical reference laboratories, inhalation therapy services offering equipment, services and personnel, a technical engineering division to build and maintain radiology equipment and a professional research service.

One patient's conclusion was: "It's better to be well but if you have to be sick... Pampa is the way to go."

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

And for a hobby, he filled his living quarters with discarded bus and streetcar transfers, which he picked up from the gutters of New York City.

Probably he had grown up as a freakish whiz kid, without the usual happy camaraderie of parents and children of his own age.

Maybe his parents pushed him unduly because of their pride in that very high I.Q.

Despite the fact his brain was full of facts, they were not made "functional" or put to practical use.

In World War II, the U.S. Navy thus asked permission to use 500 4-answer quiz items from his newspaper "Test of Horse Sense," to weed out the braintruster candidates for officer training in the Navy Air Corps.

Youth Center Wrap Up

Memberships
The Center's participation in its program is through a membership plan which is open to the general public. Now that summer is coming on this is a good time to purchase that membership. This will give you free use of the facilities for your whole family for the summer months and free swim lessons.

The memberships are divided into two categories — limited and unlimited. The limited membership is the regular Youth Center membership that we have been selling for 12 years. This plan entitles you to use of the swimming pool, dressing rooms, gym and recreation hall.

The unlimited plan gives you all of the above features, but allows you to use the new health facility. The health facility houses the exercise machines, handball and racquetball courts, weights and reducing machines.

The individual limited membership is sold to persons who are 8 years of age or older. The cost is $5 for six months or $8 per year. For a family the cost is $12 for six months or $20 a year.

The unlimited membership for an individual is $65 for six months or $118 a year. For a husband-wife combination membership the cost is only $90 for six months and $170 a year.

We do have an installment plan for a six-month membership. For full details, call the health facility at 665-4381.

Volleyball Leagues

League champs in the men's and mixed leagues were crowned this past week during final competition in the spring league. First Baptist Church No. 1 team took first in the men's while Harold Barrett Ford took mixed league honors. Final scores found First Baptist No. 1 over First Baptist No. 2.

Baffled By Food Choices?

WASHINGTON (AP) — True or false: A U.S. Grade A Large egg is better than a U.S. Grade A Medium egg.

False. A large egg is bigger than a medium egg, not better. Remember, size refers to weight of the egg; the grade refers to the quality of the egg, says the Department of Agriculture.

The egg is only one food item examined in a new "How to Buy Food" lesson guide prepared for high school and adult education teachers by department experts.

In another lesson plan titled "Baffled About Lamb?" a multiple choice question is asked: "You can judge the quality of lamb by (a) pinching it, (b) the price per pound, (c) using the USDA quality grades, or (d) none of the above."

Correct answer: (c). "Each lamb grade is a measure of a distinct quality level. When a lamb carcass is graded, a purple, shield-shaped grade mark containing the letters USDA and the grade name—such as Prime or Choice—is applied."

The complete package contains 51 pages of prepared lesson guides, questions and answers, lists of supplemental materials available from USDA and even a crossword puzzle of consumer hints, with answers.

Some of the other lessons are titled: "Baffled About Beef Roasts", "Bone Up on Steak", "Cold Facts About Freezing Meat", "Do You Know Your Dairy Products and Poultry Problem Solving".

The handbook was more than two years in development by the Agricultural Marketing Service of USDA and also involved comments and recommendations from state departments of agriculture and teachers, officials said.

"Each lesson provides a list of basic reference material, a glossary of terms, suggestions for teaching and quizzes that may be given to students as an aid to teaching," the department said. "The publication also contains a special section on how to obtain more for your money."

Some suggestions:
—Have students do some price comparing in the supermarket.
—Have a recipe exchange session. Let students share their money-saving recipes and ideas for leftovers.

—If students are not familiar with instant nonfat dry milk, you may want to demonstrate its use, either by itself or as a cake ingredient, for example.
—Familiarize students with dry beans, peas and lentils. Emphasize that these foods are excellent protein sources and good sources of iron as well.

Swim Lessons

Although the registration date for signing up children for the summer swim lessons was on May 3, we still are taking reservations. Some classes are already filled and you should check the list below to see if the right classes are available.

Also, if you already have your children enrolled, you can sign them up for the next class up the ladder if you think they will pass the first course.

Each of the classes except polywogs lasts for one hour and runs for 10 meeting dates. All of our qualified water safety instructors will be teaching the courses. Enrollment is free to Center members and $4 to non-members. You may purchase a membership when you come to enroll.

Baton Lessons

The Center will offer baton lessons for young people this summer beginning June 4. Rhonda Dennis, noted high school batonist, will conduct the classes. Classes will be offered for beginners and more advanced twirlers.

Classes will begin on June 4 at 1:30 p.m. to organize and then you will be assigned a time period. Classes will meet on Monday, Wednesday and Friday for six weeks through July 13.

All young people, both boys and girls, are invited to enroll in these classes. To participate you need only be a Center member and own or purchase a balanced baton.

Calico Capers

For adults there is square dancing, at the Center on Saturday nights from 8-11 p.m. The Calico Capers Square Dance Club meets at the Center each Saturday night, where they have a guest caller from out-of-town to lead. If you are interested in square dancing, you may come to the dance and President Millican will greet you and explain how you may join.

It Takes a Lot of Running to get a kite moving — even a balloon type — when the wind speed is zero, as David Leadbetter of Sandusky, Ohio, discovers. But at last! Well, it's at least off the ground, isn't it? What more do you want from a 6-year-old?

IN ENTERTAINMENT WORLD

Warner Bros. Noting 50th Anniversary Year

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — It all began with a bicycle shop run by four brothers in Youngstown, Ohio. Today Warner Bros. does a half-billion-dollar business yearly bringing movie, television and music entertainment to the world.

Austin Cheap Place To Live

AUSTIN (AP) — Austin is the least expensive place to live among 40 standard metropolitan statistical areas (SMSA) across the country used in a Bureau of Labor Statistics survey.

Dallas and Houston are among the five lowest, the Texas Business Review reported Saturday.

"The BLS study is heavily qualified and may not represent any particular family," the review said. "It examines budgets for a family of four: a 38-year-old husband, a wife whose age is discretely unmentioned, a boy of 13 and a girl of 8."

"The wife does not work outside the home. The family is examined under three sets of circumstances: first with a minimum budget of about $7,000, second with an intermediate budget of $10,000 to $11,000, and third with a higher budget in the $16,000-plus range."

In Anchorage, Alaska, a family must spend $20,577 to buy the same necessities and comforts that cost $14,600 in Dallas, $14,213 in Houston and $13,600 in Austin, the bureau said.

In Austin the intermediate budget totals $9,408, compared with $10,056 in Dallas and $9,894 in Houston.

Sam, Harry, Albert and Jack Warner formed Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc. Their successors have planned a year-long celebration of the event, starting with the appearance of five new films at the Cannes Film Festival this month.

One of the founding brothers remains: Jack L. Warner, who sold his interest in the company in 1966 and became an independent producer.

In his autobiography, "My First Hundred Years in Hollywood," Warner told how the family entered the film business in 1903.

"We heard there was a carnival coming up in Niles, only a few miles away, and Sam rented an empty store there on a main street. When the carnival opened, we were ready for business. Albert sold tickets, Rose, (a sister) played the piano while I sang illustrated songs, and Sam ran the projector."

"At the end of the week we counted our receipts, and we had $300."

In 1912, the brothers decided there was more money in making films. They began producing in St. Louis and California.

Shortly after forming Warner Bros. Pictures in 1923, Jack Warner discovered their first big star: a German shepherd named Rin Tin Tin.

Warner Bros. was only a minor threat to the big film companies until the historic date of Oct. 6, 1927. That was the premiere in New York of "The Jazz Singer," in which Al Jolson spoke dialogue for the first time in a major film. The film started the revolution from silents to talkies, and Warner Bros. had a head start.

Time To Step Up Talk Skills

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Spring isn't halfway through yet, but summer is already fancy stepping on the horizon.

This means it is time now to step up your conversational skill, because the hotter the weather the more people talk — since that is the only thing they have the energy left for.

So if you wish to shine conversationally this summer, now is the time to practice up on your double talk. Double talk, you will remember, is the art of saying something nice while you are thinking just the opposite, and it is the sine qua non of polite society.

Here are a few typical examples. What the speaker actually said aloud is in quotes. It is followed in each case by what he was really thinking:

"Is it hot enough for you?" — Don't give me that pained look. I know it was a dumb question. I only asked it to see if you were alive.

"Well, you can't win 'em all." — But even a born loser like you ought to win at least one sometime.

"I have the oddest feeling that we have met somewhere before." — But it must have been in a previous existence. I couldn't be this bored twice in the same lifetime.

"You can rest assured that I will take everything you said under careful consideration." — What did you say? I wasn't listening.

"There's nothing like a day with you to keep me going." — Going crazy, I mean.

"What lovely, lovely flowers, Gerald. And how thoughtful of you to send daisies, my favorite flower. You know daisies are to me unforgettable symbols of simple bravery and courage."

— This cheapskate wouldn't buy a girl a rose if she were on her deathbed.

"Of course, it's not really all that late, Henry. I'll be glad to pour you one more nightcap if you'd like to have it." — Now where did I put that bottle with the skull and crossbones on it?

"If you're willing to let bygones be bygones, so am I." — But first turn your back — so I'll have a place to bury this hatchet.

"What are you talking about when you say you hate to get old and wrinkled? I'd say that's the last thing for you to worry about." — Why worry about a few more wrinkles when you've already got a face that looks like a road map of Montana?

"Of course, you can believe me. Do I look to you like the kind of girl who deals in double talk?" — If I don't, you need your glasses checked, Buster.

Mayfield Gets 30-Year Pin

SKELLYTOWN — Herman Mayfield, a field operator for Skelly Oil Co. here, is celebrating his 30th service anniversary with the company this month. He will receive a diamond-studded lapel pin as a service award.

He joined Skelly's manufacturing department May 7, 1943 as a yardman and engineer. In 1956 he became a utilityman and he assumed his present post in 1964.

He attends the Assembly of God Church and enjoys hunting, fishing and camping. Mayfield and his wife, Gertrude, live in Skellytown and have three children, Raymond, Sharron and Edward.

Fuel Rationed

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Standard Oil of Indiana, as part of a national program by its parent company, Amoco Oil Co., began rationing gasoline and diesel fuel sales on the Kansas Turnpike Friday.
 A spokesman said passenger cars and gasoline-powered trucks are limited to 10 gallons each and larger trucks would be restricted to 25 gallons of diesel fuel at the firm's four stations on the turnpike.
 The company leases turnpike service areas at Lawrence, Topeka, Emporia and Wellington. All four will remain open 24 hours a day.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER—Fred Ammeter, right, Phillips Petroleum Co. terminal superintendent west of Kingsmill, presents Jim Pepper, Pampa High School senior, with a notice of his being awarded a company four-year scholarship totaling $2400. With Jim are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd T. Pepper, 1064 Prairie Drive.

Imports, Time Required To Ease Energy Crisis

HOUSTON (AP)—Two Interior Department officials agree that imports and time are the major factors for solving the nation's energy problems.

Stephen A. Wakefield, the new assistant secretary of energy and minerals, says imports will ease but not cure the problem.

Duke R. Ligon, the new director of the office of oil and gas, sees imports as the major tool for use in a period of transition that will serve as a time-bridge between two eras of adequacy.

Both say the nation has adequate resources but that it will take time to correct past mistakes.

Meanwhile, the appellate for our immediate discomfort is increased oil imports, says Wakefield.

"Our challenge right now is to get domestic fuels into the marketplace in order to mitigate shortages and to decrease international competition for fuels," says Ligon.

A reorganization approved by Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton early last week centers Interior's energy, power and mineral functions under Wakefield.

whose title is a new one within the department.

Wakefield says the diagnosis is the nation is not short on resources, not even oil and gas, but is short on incentive to develop them.

"And at this particular moment in our history we are also short on time," he says.

Wakefield describes the current shortages of natural gas and petroleum products as the legacy of almost two decades of inattention to the developing problems of domestic energy industries.

"Now we are starting to correct our past mistakes and neglect, but the critical element that we irrevocably lost is time," he says.

Wakefield outlines the time problem this way:
 —It takes three to five years to a big new coal mine into operation and about the same length of time to find and develop an oil or gas field in a known productive area.

—A new refinery takes from two to four years to build even after the necessary permits are obtained.

—A new marine terminal can be in operation in five years if everything goes well.

—Electric powerplants take from seven to 10 years depending on whether they are fossil fueled or nuclear.

"All of which is a way of saying that things are going to get worse before they get better, even if we start out doing all the right things tomorrow," Wakefield says.

Wakefield adds that imports already are coming overwhelmingly from the Persian Gulf, and also overwhelmingly, are high in sulphur content.

"And this is giving us more problems than we can say more over. I can tell you," he adds.

"Would you believe a million barrels a day in imports from the Persian Gulf alone this year?" he asks. "This is what we are forecasting. Our total oil imports from everywhere, are expected to reach six million barrels a day this year."

The mid-year supply and demand report just released by the Independent Petroleum Association of America forecasts 1973 imports will average in excess of 6.1 million barrels a day compared with 4.7 million a day in 1972.

Jim Pepper Awarded Scholarship

Jim Pepper of Pampa has been selected among the 66 winners of scholarships worth $2,400 from the educational fund for children of Phillips Petroleum Co. employees.

The local winner receives a scholarship to any accredited college or university of his choosing.

Jim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd T. Pepper and is a senior at Pampa High School. He is a member of the National Honor Society and is active in the Pampa High School Student Council. He is an outstanding student with a high scholastic record, having a 93 average, and ranked 15th in the class.

Scholarships are awarded to eligible students by the committee that administers the fund, in accordance with the rules and regulations of the fund. Awards are determined by the committee for those students who, in the committee's judgment, are most worthy of a scholarship on the basis of scholastic record, future promise and financial need.

Each of the 66 scholarship awards provides $600 annually during four years of college attendance, subject to the maintenance of a satisfactory record by the awardee.

The scholarship fund was established in 1939 for the purpose of aiding children of employees of Phillips and its subsidiaries in obtaining a college or university education. Qualifying students who did not receive scholarships may apply for loans for higher education from a separate educational loan fund.

Lowly Onion Gets Increase In Status

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—I have always cried when I peel onions.

These days I cry when I buy them.

That once lowly vegetable, scribbled nonchalantly on the grocery list and thrown carelessly into the shopping cart, is now a major purchase, to be budgeted for along with next winter's coat.

With its sudden rise in price the onion has also undergone a rise in status.

Talk around the afternoon bridge table is no longer confined to a discussion of the latest courtier creation picked up at that expensive boutique. A casually dropped mention that it's time to go home and fix onion soup for supper is what really wins instant respect.

So what if the customer ahead of you in the supermarket checkout line ostentatiously places a pound package of ground chuck on the counter with an extravagant shrug? You can practice one-upmanship by arranging the groceries so that the three-pound bag of onions proclaims who is really in the affluent class.

On second thought, maybe you should forget the pretentious display of solvency and strike up a friendship with a view to matrimony—the joining of both your purchase in a heavenly union of hamburger with onion.

After spending a lifetime munching on breath mints and talking with my mouth closed to make certain nobody knows I've been eating onions, I suddenly find it's an ego trip to make sure everyone within nose-shot is aware that I have the sweet smell of financial success.

Where in the past a pound of the little bulbs would last so long that they started sprouting tiny green shoots and rotting forlornly away from lack of attention, now every recipe I tackle contains onions as one of its main ingredients.

Whatever the variety of onion—yellow, white, red, purple—they're all worth their weight in gold.

A retroactive tax is legal and has been enacted in Congress on several occasions.

ENVIRONMENTAL ISSUE

Job Health And Safety Needs Causing Strikes

Editor's Note: What happens when workers strike over job health and safety? The following, final segment of a series on workplace safety from The AP Special Assignment Team, explores the most notable current instance.

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer
Americans are being asked to boycott Shell gasoline for the sake of refinery workers' health. Shell says it's a bum rap. The environmental movement doesn't think so.

Social Security Q And A

(Have you a question about social security? Address it to Howard L. Weatherly, Branch Manager, Social Security Administration, 1541 N. Hobart, Pampa, Texas 79065. You will receive an answer in this column or by mail.)

By HOWARD L. WEATHERLY
Q. I have been told that Medicare is a limited insurance program. Is this true?

A. Yes. Although both Part A and Part B of Medicare offer valuable insurance protection against hospital and medical costs, both parts involve a deductible and coinsurance which means the patient pays part of the cost (usually a small part) and Medicare pays the rest.

In addition, there are some services and supplies that are not covered by Medicare. Your local social security office can tell you more about what Medicare covers.

Q. Old folks (persons on Medicare) are admitted to hospitals several times a year and ruined by the cost of their hospital stays. Why?

A. A recent survey indicates that most persons over 65 who go to a hospital have a stay of less than 60 days and only one admission a year. Their cost in this vast majority of cases is only $72 per hospital stay.

Q. I want to keep working but want my Medicare insurance protection. Retired friends tell me their medical insurance is deducted from their checks. Can I enroll for Medicare insurance before I retire and pay my medical insurance premiums?

A. Yes, you will be billed quarterly for this insurance.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Sunday, May 13, the 133rd day of 1973. There are 232 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1607, Jamestown, the first permanent English settlement in America, was founded in Virginia.

—On this date— In 1809, a French army captain under Napoleon Bonaparte captured Vienna.

In 1846, the United States declared war against Mexico.

In 1865, the last engagement of the Civil War took place at Palo Pinto, Tex.

In 1915, the United States protested to Germany the sinking of the British liner, "Lusitania."

In 1940, Queen Wilhelmina and Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands fled to London ahead of Nazi invaders.

In 1958, anti-American demonstrators in Caracas, Venezuela, battered Vice President Richard M. Nixon's limousine with rocks.

The years ago: The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. urged blacks in Birmingham, Ala. to avoid violence in their demonstrations for racial equality.

Five years ago: The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy dedicated "Resurrection City, U.S.A." in Washington to house demonstrators taking part in a poor people's march.

One year ago: Washington sources said that U.S. mines which had been placed in the harbor at Haiphong, Vietnam were designed to deactivate themselves before a visit to Moscow by President Nixon on May 22.

Today's birthday: Former boxing champion Joe Louis is 59.

US Steel Hikes Product Prices

PITTSBURGH (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp. has announced price increases effective June 15 of $8 to $9 a ton on major sheet products widely used in the automotive and appliance industries.

The nation's largest steel company said the hikes would apply to flat-rolled products, or sheet and strip steel. Flat-rolled products account for about 40 per cent of all industry shipments.

At issue is a three-month-old strike by 4,000 Shell workers in California, Texas, Colorado, Louisiana and Washington. The walkout marks one of the relatively few times that workers have struck over the increasingly publicized subject of job safety.

The boycott has had almost no effect so far, Shell says fewer than 3,000 of its several million credit-card customers have returned their cards, and that sales are actually ahead of last year. The union concedes it hasn't hurt Shell's production much, and with a nationwide shortage of gasoline developing, Shell is selling all it can produce.

But the boycott organizers hope to saturate news media with their side of the story. Billboards have appeared in 25 cities. Thousands of bumper stickers and one million pieces of literature have been distributed. Pickets have appeared long enough to attract news coverage at scattered Shell stations.

The union wants pension improvements and a contract clause to find and correct health and safety hazards in the five refineries and four chemical plants affected by the strike.

Shell says the union's true demands are traditional: money and power. But the health and safety issue has attracted boycott endorsements from the Sierra Club, the Wilderness Society, Friends of the Earth and nine other environmental groups.

What the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers union seeks are periodic inspections by outside consultants, free physical examinations for workers, a voice in correcting any hazards and access to company figures on worker sickness and health.

Almost every other major oil company already has agreed to this arrangement, without a strike. The holdouts are Chevron, which employs 500 of the union's members, and Shell.

The argument is summed up by a Shell spokesman and union official Anthony Mazzocchi: "Employee health and safety is Shell's legal responsibility. It cannot be shared," says Shell. Mazzocchi replies, "Shell just wants to keep unilateral control over the environmental of the workplace."

How dangerous is that environment? The matter isn't clear. National Safety Council figures show that the chemical and petroleum industries have fewer disabling accidents than the average for all industries. Further, these accidents cause fewer lost days than average.

But the union says it's concerned less about accidents than about threats to health from heat, noise and the hundreds of poisonous chemicals its workers handle. Few official statistics are available about what harm refinery and chemical workers suffer from job-induced illnesses. However, union official Ray Davidson published a 198-page book in 1970 made up largely of case studies of union workers poisoned on the job.

Shell doesn't see much of a pinch from the strike, so the union hopes to bring added pressure through a consumer boycott—Shell is the second-largest gasoline merchant, with stations in 43 states.

The strike doesn't seem likely to be settled anytime soon. Shell's struck refineries and chemical plants are being run by supervisory and technical workers. Shell says output is normal, but the union doubts that.

Hobby Endorses Grants

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe's emergency grants bill for poor school districts ran into sharp questioning this week in the Senate Education Committee but received Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby's endorsement.

"It is the best we can do between now and May 28," Hobby said.

By setting up a mechanism for determining local property values at full market prices, it also plants seeds for full-scale revision of the school finance system by the 1975 legislature, Hobby said.

Briscoe's wife, Janey, walked into the Senate chamber and took a seat while the committee heard the bill.

No vote was taken on the measure, but the committee planned to reconvene this afternoon.

The bill would pump $39 million into the 113 poorest school districts in 1974-75. It also would instruct the State Tax Board to prepare plans for determining true values of all real estate in Texas, which would permit a new method for the determination of each school district's ability to support public education in lieu of the present method.

"Isn't it a kind of window dressing?" asked Sen. W. E. Snelson, D-Midland.

"A dollar doesn't know whether it is being spent for teacher salaries or bonded indebtedness. To that extent you are right," Hobby said.

Sen. H. J. Blanchard, D-Lubbock, said poor districts, such as Edgewood in San Antonio, would have more money to spend if they collected their delinquent taxes.

"If they have delinquent taxes, it is still hurting the children," said Ken Clapp, Briscoe's administrative assistant.

ON HOUSE FLOOR

Price Issues Remarks In Support Of Taiwan

Joining over 70 members of the House of Representatives from both political parties, Congressman Bob Price of Pampa, in remarks submitted on the House floor, praised the accomplishments of the people and government of the Republic of China located on the island of Taiwan.

In a strongly worded statement Price criticized the overzealousness of some to embrace through political and economic means the Chinese Communist government of Mao Tse Tung.

"Ever since President Nixon went to Peking, where they viewed him as a foreign prince who had come to pay tribute, this nation has been infected by a Mao-craze which rivals the hula-hoop fad of the 50's and the Beatmania of the 60's," Price said.

"Let us return to common sense — communist China is still just that — the world's largest police state dominated by a government whose sole mission is to destroy Chinese culture and to impose totalitarianism upon all neighboring states in Asia, and indeed throughout the world.

"President Nixon was not received as a friend — the United States in the words of the Chinese Communists is still the world's bastion of imperialism, and those who support us are labeled 'running dogs,'" the Pampa congressman added.

By contrast, Price pointed to the remarkable record of accomplishment of the people of Free China.

"They have voted with us in the United Nations; they have contributed heavily to the keeping of the peace and the mutual defense of American security and interests in Asia; and they have built the second most prosperous economy in all of Asia, on a free enterprise foundation achieving a per capita income second to Japan in all of Asia," he said.

Vicki Bates Becomes Bride Of Roy Parker

The United Methodist Church of White Deer was the setting Friday, May 11 at 7:30 p.m. for the exchange of nuptial vows by Miss Vicki Joan Bates and Roy Leon Parker.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas V. Bates of White Deer, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Parker of Wellington.

THE CEREMONY

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Marvin Roark, pastor. Mrs. L. Jerry O'Neal, organist, played traditional wedding marches and accompanied Albert Thomas as he sang, "Time For Us," and "We've Only Just Begun."

The background of white spring flowers and spiral candle trees formed the setting for the wedding. Lemon leaf garland decorated the altar rail.

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I vow," the bride wore a formal floor-length gown of Angelmist peau de soie and re-embroidered Venice lace over bridal taffeta designed with a high neckline, empire waist, long Gibson girl sleeves, and semi A-line silhouette with full back. Inserts of the matching lace enhanced the neckline, bodice, sleeves and skirt of the gown. The full back ended in a sweeping chapel length train. Her veil of imported illusion fell from a coil.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Cindy Wofford

MRS. ROY LEON PARKER
nee Miss Vicki Joan Bates

Skellytown, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Melanie Simmons, White Deer, Debbie McDowell, Crosbyton, and Carol Jean Godfrey, Memphis. They wore floor-length gowns of hot pink bridal satin with an overlay of hot pink print chiffon, fashioned with empire waistlines, round necklines and short, fitted sleeves. Their flowers were bouquets of hot pink gladiolus.

Mike Belue, Wellington, was best man, and groomsmen, Benny Stallings and Denny Carter, both reside in Wellington and Tommy Bates of White Deer. Serving as ushers were Alfred Saldano and Louis Mejia, both of Wellington and Roger Simmons of Amarillo.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in Fellowship Hall. The serving table, covered with a white cloth, held the silver candelabra holding the hot pink memory candle, and the attendants' bouquets served as the table centerpiece. Crystal appointments completed the setting. Debbie Simmon of Amarillo assisted at the punch bowl and Debbie Cooper served cake. Registering wedding guests was Martha Bates.

For the wedding trip to Amarillo, the bride wore a pink ensemble trimmed in beige featuring a pleated skirt and accented gold button trim, with beige accessories. She lifted the orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

AFFILIATIONS

The bride is a 1972 graduate of White Deer High School and attends Clarendon Junior College. The bridegroom is a graduate of Wellington High School and attends CJC. He is employed by the U.S. Postal Service.

PRE-NUPITAL EVENTS

The bride was honored with a lingerie shower in Skellytown hosted by Cindy Wofford, Melanie Simmons, Debbie Cooper, and Jody Parsley.

She was guest of honor at a shower April 14 in the First United Methodist Church parlor and another shower April 18 in the Heritage Room of Wellington State Bank.

Hounshell-Roberts Vows Are Exchanged In Lefors

Vows were exchanged at 8 p.m. Saturday, May 5, in the First Baptist Church in Lefors, by Miss Kay Lynne Hounshell of Pampa and Eddie Joe Roberts.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Hounshell of Pampa. Rev. and Mrs. A. G. Roberts of Lefors are parents of the bridegroom.

THE CEREMONY

The double-ring vows were read by the bridegroom's father, before baskets arranged with white gladioli and yellow carnations with seven-branched candelabra.

Wedding music was provided by Carol Watson of Lefors, who accompanied Rev. Rick Wadley, who sang, "Whither Thou Goest," "The Wedding Prayer," and as the couple received the benediction, "The Lord's Prayer."

THE BRIDE

The bride, given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I vow," was attired in a formal length silver and white brocade bridal gown designed with a Peter Pan collar, empire waist, long crystalline Bishop sleeves ending in wide brocade cuffs. The collar and cuffs of the bodice were edged in lace.

Her veil of illusion was attached to a pearl crown, and she carried a yellow-throated orchid with baby's breath and orange blossoms, atop a white rainbow Bible. The bride presented a red rose to her mother as she approached the altar, and a red rose to the bridegroom's mother as she left the church. She wore a penny with her birth year date and a lucky six-pence in her shoe.

For something old and borrowed she carried two white handkerchiefs in her Bible, belonging to her grandmothers, Mrs. H. R. Garrett of Graham, Tex., and Mrs. Chris Hounshell of Brownwood. Something new was her gown made by her mother; a blue garter given to her by a friend, Mrs. Peggy Donahoe of London, England.

ATTENDANTS

Deborah Joette Watson of Conroe, Tex., served as maid of honor and Mary Ann St. Ama of Andrews, Tex., was bridesmaid. Both are cousins of the bride. They wore formal-length yellow and white checked gingham dresses featuring empire waistlines with rounded necklines and short puffed sleeves. The hemlines of the gown were enhanced by wide deep ruffles, and they wore large white garden hats with yellow streamers and short white gloves.

Junior bridesmaid was Leslie Sue Goeh of Wichita Falls, cousin of the bride. Her dress was designed identically to the bridesmaids, and she wore

MRS. EDDIE JOE ROBERTS
nee Miss Kay Lynne Hounshell

yellow ribbons and white daisies in her hair and short white gloves.

All attendants carried wicker baskets filled with yellow and white daisies and baby's breath. Flower girl was Crystal Kay Roberts, daughter of the bridegroom. Her yellow and white dress was identical to the other attendants and she wore yellow ribbons and white daisies in her hair. Her flower wristlet was tiny split white carnations. She carried a wicker basket trimmed in yellow net and ribbons, and white daisies, which had been carried in a number of weddings in the bride's family.

Best man was Jerry Potter of Amarillo, and groomsmen was Chris Hounshell, brother of the bride of Pampa. Junior groomsmen was Jody Lee Roberts, son of the bridegroom.

Ushers and candlelighters were Randy Carter, nephew of the bridegroom of Levelland.

A reception followed the wedding in Fellowship Hall of the church. The bride's table was covered with a tablecloth, handmade by Mrs. Jean Garrett, aunt of the bride of Electra. It featured flowers, lovebirds, and water fountains, made of felt and sequins. The bride's attendants' baskets formed the centerpiece for the table.

The three-tiered white bridal cake with white sugar hearts and yellow roses was carried by Mrs. Jean Garrett and Mrs. Alma Miller of Graham, aunts of the bride. Yellow punch was served by Mrs. Wanda Carter of Pampa, sister of the bridegroom. The bridegroom's table was covered with a white linen cloth centered with a yellow and white candle. Chocolate cake and coffee were served by Mrs. Lillian Watson of Conroe, Mrs. June Garrett, Levelland and Mrs. Verda Garrett of Seminole, aunts of the bride. Guests were registered by Carolyn Butler and Peggy Erwin of Pampa.

Rice bags tied with yellow bows were distributed by Lisa Johnson of Pampa. Other members of the houseparty were Mrs. Thelma St. Ama of Andrews and Mrs. Glynda Weeks, cousin of the bride, Wichita Falls.

AFFILIATIONS

The bride is a 1970 graduate of Andrews High School and attended Commercial College in Midland. She is presently employed by Cree Company of Pampa.

The bridegroom was a 1963 graduate of Lefors High School. He is employed by Texaco Corp. of Pampa.

Following a wedding trip to Colorado, the couple will be at home at 409 E. 8th St., Lefors.

Special guests attending the wedding were Mrs. H. R. Garrett of Graham and Mrs. Chris Hounshell of Brownwood, grandmothers of the bride, and Mrs. Eddie Cates of Lefors, grandmother of the bridegroom.

Mrs. McDonald Receives Honors From BPW Members

"How High Have We Climbed?" was the question posed by Mrs. H. F. McDonald when she addressed the Pampa Business and Professional Women's Club at a dinner in her honor, recently, at the Pioneer Natural Gas Company's Blue Flame Room.

Mrs. McDonald's appearance was in an official capacity as District Nine Director of the Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

In her talk, Mrs. McDonald outlined essential ingredients necessary for successful leadership and commended the Pampa Club on its achievements during the 1972-73 club year.

She urged members to write to representatives in the legislature and the Constitutional Revision Commission recommending inclusion of the Equal Legal Rights Amendment with exact wording that was adopted by the voters in November, 1972.

A longtime member of the Pampa BPW Club, Mrs. McDonald has served on local, district and state levels. She has served two terms as president of the local club and is now completing her second term as district director. During 1957-58, she was recording secretary for the State Federation.

Special guests at the dinner were: Mrs. G. B. Hoover, Miss Gayle McDonald and Mrs. La Neta Hoyer.

Mrs. D. C. Ash, president, welcomed the group and presided at the business session.

Mrs. Tommy M. Stall, Earl Eaton, Troy Teel and McDonald were elected delegates to the state convention of the Texas Federation of BPW Clubs at El Paso, May 25-27.

Miss Elsie Cunningham, Scholarship and Awards Committee Chairman, announced that Ruby Moultrie was recipient of Delia Holman, alternate, for the club's scholarship. She also read a letter from the Pampa High School Counselors, Mrs. Wanda Cardwell and John M. English, expressing their appreciation for the scholarship and the club's contribution to the program.

New officers will be installed at a dinner meeting, Tuesday, May 22 at 6:30 p.m. in Furr's Cafeteria.

It was reported that 35 members and guests heard Dr. E. T. Hicks speak on the Twenty Third Psalm at the club's annual Mothers Day Breakfast, Sunday, May 6 at the Pampa Country Club.

The Constitutional Revision Commission hearing in Amarillo, April 26, was attended by Mmes. C. C. Rhoades, L. B. Cornelius and McDonald.

Hostesses assisting Mrs. Ash with the dinner were: Mmes. Ruth Sewell, Troy Teel, Wade Cain, Ethel Anderson, Lucille Turner and Louise Sewell. Mrs. Allie Morgan was in charge of the register.

New officers will be installed at a dinner meeting, Tuesday, May 22 at 6:30 p.m. in Furr's Cafeteria.

Arnold-French Vows Are Exchanged In Illinois

Vows were exchanged at 4 p.m. Saturday, May 5, in the "Old Rose Garden" in Hodges Gardens, Many, La., by George Dane Arnold of Waukegan, Ill., and Courtland Keith French.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. George T. Arnold of LaPlace, La., and Mr. and Mrs. Alvie French, 1921 Banks, Pampa, are the parents of the bridegroom.

THE CEREMONY
The Rev. Harold Dunn officiated at the double-ring ceremony and the prayer was given by Rev. Howard Arnold, uncle of the bride.

The attendants entered the garden from under a rose trellis, walked along a pebble walk to meet the bridegroom and his attendants, who had entered under a trellis at the opposite side. Roses extended out to the sides of the pebble walks. The bride and bridegroom were on a hill overlooking a lake as the vows were repeated.

Accompanied by Lesia Burkett, soloist, Derrell Marr sang, "O Perfect Love," and "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden."

THE BRIDE
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire style wedding gown designed with a high neckline and fitted sleeves. The empire bodice was fashioned of imported lace and the skirt of silk organza over soft satin peau de soie with lace inserts edged with tiny seed pearls. A large ruffle enhanced the hemline of the skirt; and smaller, full ruffles edged the wrists, sleeves, and bodice of the gown. Her matching train was attached at the waistline, and the chapel-length veil of illusion flowed from a Juliet cap. She carried a bouquet of white roses atop a bridal Bible.

ATTENDANTS
Maid of honor was Andrea Mitchell and bridesmaids were Claudine Maxey, Carolyn

Sewell, and Sandra Kilgore. Serving as flower girl was Francis Spears. They wore identical dresses of blue dotted Swiss designed with high collars and sheer puff sleeves. The full-length skirts fell from an empire waistline, and a large ruffle around the skirt and a smaller ruffle made a yolk in the front and back bodice. White insertion lace with blue ribbon was placed where the ruffles were attached. Small floral headpieces were worn and they carried baskets of spring flowers.

Alvie French was best man and groomsmen were Craig French, brother of the bridegroom, Hans Earsen, and Randy Moore. Wallace Arnold and Clyde Mattison served as ushers. Ring bearer was Ruckey McConnell and David McConathy was train bearer.

MOTHERS
The bride's mother wore a blue formal-length gown of crepe double knit, with a natural waistline, accented with white imported lace. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige crepe double knit, formal-length gown. Both wore large orchid corsages.

RECEPTION
Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held in "Modern Rose Garden." The table settings included spring bouquet arrangements in silver bowls. The bride's wedding cake was served by Joyce Arnold and Dolly Omond poured punch. Mrs. Herman McConathy served cake and Carmina Evans assisted at the coffee service from the bridegroom's table. Veronica McConathy attended the guest book.

For the wedding trip to Hot Springs, Ark., the bride traveled in a white skirt with a navy blue blouse designed with white dots, with a jacket to match the blouse and white accessories.

The couple will be at home in Waukegan, Ill. after May 13.

AFFILIATIONS
The bride is a graduate of Louisiana Tech University in Ruston, La., and is employed by Abbott Laboratories of North Chicago. The bridegroom is a graduate of Texas State Tech in Waco and is employed by Aesthetic Dental Laboratories in Waukegan.

PLANTATION GARDEN PARTY — The public is invited to take a trip back to the time of the Civil War, plantations, riverboats and southern belles, when the Linda Germany School of Dance in White Deer presents its annual recital "Down South In Dixie," Monday, May 14, at 7:30 p.m. in the White Deer High School auditorium. Pictured above are dancers Zonda Skaggs and Kerry Moore, who will perform along with special guest performers, Angela Day and Dalton Stewart of Pampa, students of Jeanne Willingham. This year's show will be sponsored by Beta Sigma Phi with proceeds going to Muscular Dystrophy and a scholarship fund.

Lefors Art Civic Members Hold Installation Dinner

The Lefors Art & Civic Club recently held their annual installation of officers in the civic center. Mrs. Harry Youngblood installed the new officers using a garden theme, having each member that was installed carry some form of garden tool.

New officers for the coming year will be: Mrs. Bob Klein, president; Mrs. Jerry Conway, first vice-president; Mrs. Jimmie Hannon, second vice-president; Mrs. Bill Mullins, third vice-president;

Mrs. Joe Watson, secretary; Mrs. David Dennis, treasurer; Mrs. Merry Stroud, parliamentarian; Mrs. Earl Tarbet, federation counselor; Mrs. Danny Wilemon, yearbook chairman; and Mrs. Norman Barber, reporter.

The club recognized Mrs. Bob Klein, being named "Club Woman of the Year."

The club entertained three new members and their husbands presented at dinner. New members are Mmes.

David Steele, Garrel Roberson and J.W. Franks.

There were approximately 40 members and guests present.

Hostesses for the evening were Mmes. Bill Mullins, Howard Archer, Carl Hall, James Gatlin and David Dennis.

The club will dismiss meetings for the summer and resume again in the fall.

The eggs of the swordfish are almost too small to see.

Luncheon Installation Held For Varietas Club

Varietas Study Club held a luncheon at Furr's Cafeteria recently to close the club year. Arrangements were in charge of the social committee, Mmes. W.A. Bohot, L.B. Penick, Sherman White, and W.E. Abernathy. Floral decorations were from the garden of Mrs. Abernathy.

Following the luncheon, Mrs.

Clyde Ellis presided at the business meeting. Mrs. J.E. Kirchman was in charge of the installation of officers, presenting a service-in-rhyme written by Mrs. Otis Nace.

Installed were Mrs. Clyde Ellis, president; Mrs. W.H. Burden, vice-president; Miss Anna Pierce, secretary; Mrs. W.A. Bohot, treasurer; Mrs. H.

Price Dosier, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Otis Nace, reporter.

Present at the meeting were Miss Anna Pierce and Mmes. W.E. Abernathy, W.A. Bohot, W.H. Burden, F.A. Cary, H. Price Dosier, Clyde Ellis, S.C. Evans, Lee Harrah, J.E. Kirchman, R.W. Lane, L.B. Penick, Aubrey Sprawls, Ralph Thomas, and Sherman White.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

SUNDAY, MAY 13

Your birthday today: Begins a long run of incidents of healthy personal change, moments of memorable emotional expression, triumph over past difficulty. Today's natives have quiet working skills in politics, social causes, sometimes are reluctant to become fully involved.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: The morning situation is best kept light as you repeat familiar Sunday amenities. Gather friends for an exchange of views.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Begin with an expression of faith. Afterward the day is full of surprises, uninvited people, switches of arrangements.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Being the subject of fun and games may not be comfortable, it may be inevitable. Nothing to do but make the best of it.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Sunday comes with the blessing of serenity. Enjoy what is happening, contribute your creative flair toward constructive goals.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: The intangibles of life are foremost. The less you tinker with material concerns, the better. Take care with travel plans.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: While fulfilling your share of weekend customs, give thought to your resources and how you may turn hobbies and unused items to cash.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: You're high in your cycle of betterment. Live up to your ideals—you'll find others favor you.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]:

It's time for quiet enjoyment, thanksgiving for blessings you usually take for granted. Let others make the big moves today.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Social goals may be formulated and progress made. Celebrate this special Sunday with open expressions of love and joy.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Put aside material concerns, see the open gate to a more spiritual way of life—use it, allow freedom for others to do likewise.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Your faith is visible to all but you. Be open to greater truth, willing to evolve. Select with care a symbol of your love.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: On this rich and varied Sunday many facets of your life come to sensitive expression.

MONDAY, MAY 14

Your birthday today: Finds you solving whatever "problems" you thought you had and proceeding toward a better life. The only rule is to learn by experience. Today's natives are mentally active, busy on a dozen lines of interest most of the time.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Even trivial matters turn into commotions today. Patience is rewarded, haste penalized. Find the faults, but do nothing drastic.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: The week begins with intangible resistance. Retrospect will give you a better view of what you are really meeting.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: You are apt to find a discrepancy today. It's good for a bizarre joke, but requires serious corrective effort.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Poking thru mementos of the past turns up items that could be profitable. Allow time for unexpected activities.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Trends indicate a difficult workday; nobody is willing to help. You have an opportunity to solve an old problem.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Very little goes as scheduled. Try an easy-going attitude. You benefit by learning the inner workings of minds and machines.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Your streak of luck changes. Let well enough alone, including letting others settle their own conflicts.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Once you get thru the cross-currents of mixed routines, you have a good opportunity at hand. Plan for early action.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Delayed reward for past achievements brightens the day. Be alert for opportunity offered by a friend.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Events of the day move quickly. Avoid making any final decisions or establishing specific limitations.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Moderation is your best route. Something you thought was finished has to be done over. Change little and future revisions will be easier.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Intuition leads the way. Find a short cut during this day of deliberate restraint. Fretting over details helps nothing.

Dodge Girl Has Beautiful Body

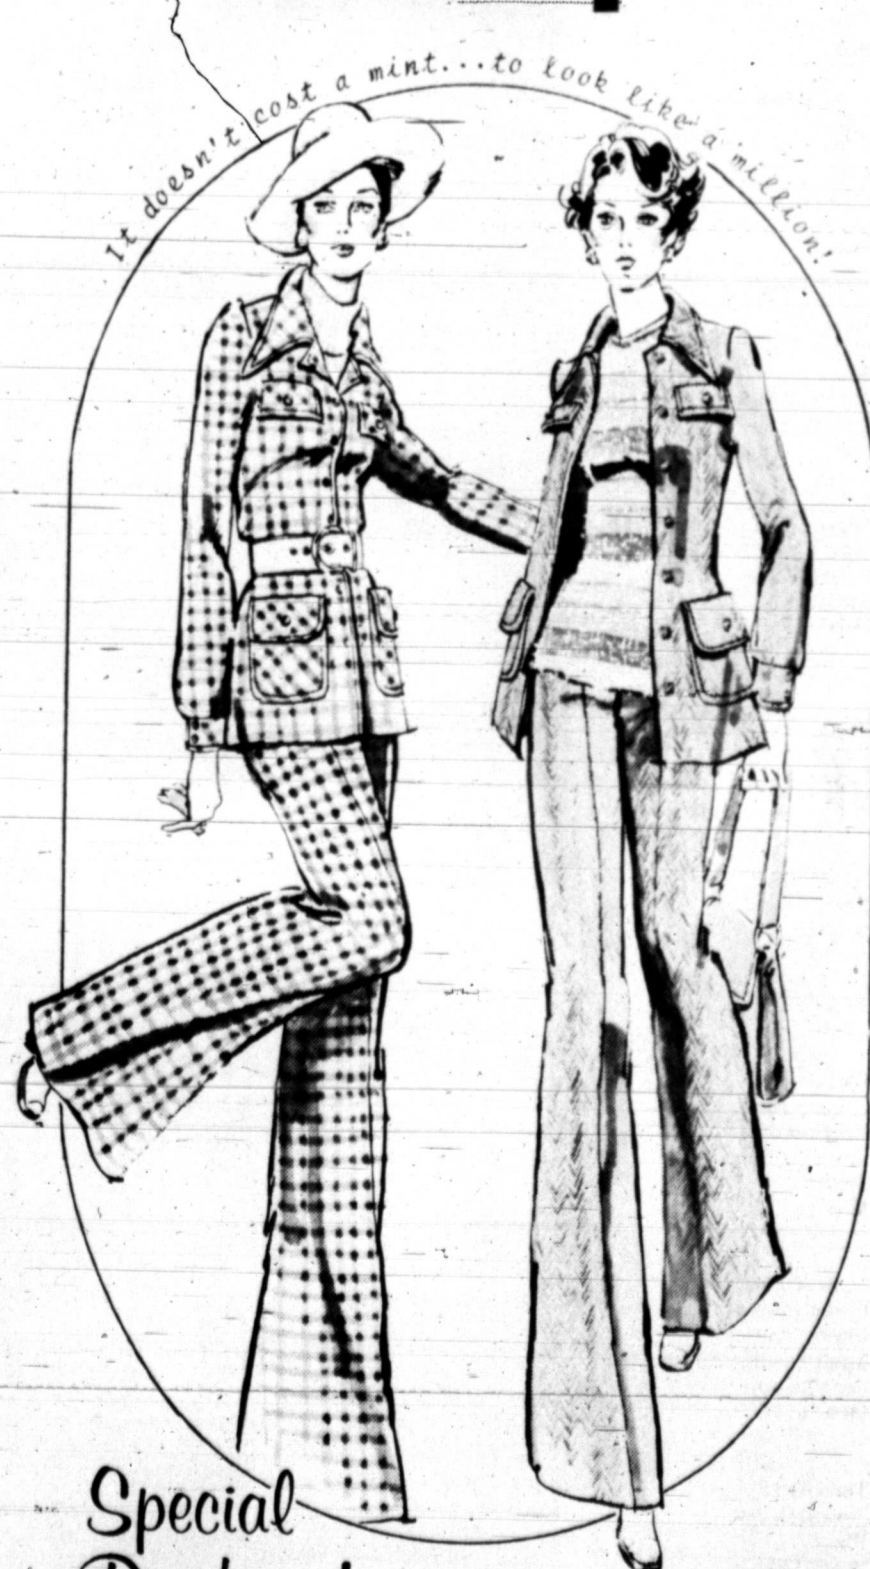

May 5: PAMPA. Judy Lindsey, the famous Dodge Girl, was in Pampa last week in connection with the formal opening of Doug Boyd's new Chrysler dealership, Pampa Chrysler - Dodge, Inc., 821 Wilks Street, Pampa.

Quotable Quotes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Here are some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"Although the impetus for the bank comes from women, it will be intuitive and sensitive to the needs of people, with special consideration to giving women loans and high-level jobs." Eileen Preiss, vice-chairman of the New York State Democratic Committee, explaining why she and 15 other feminists are organizing the First Women's Bank and Trust Co.

"I like to think I can cover any story, but let's be honest. I can do some better than others. The others are just a little more difficult." Lea Lavavi, a native New Yorker now a resident of Tel Aviv, and possibly the only blind reporter in the world.

"I want to be of service for as long as I'm needed and wanted. It's as simple as that." Helenka Pantaleoni, who recently began her 21st term, at 74, as president of the U.S. Committee for UNICEF.

"A lot of young people have been asking me if I went into folk music because of Joan Baez or Bob Dylan. But I'm the mama and they're the children, and I influenced those singers." Odette, folk singer.

"We had a lot to overcome in the beginning. People didn't think golf was a ladylike game, which is nonsense. So our motto today is: Ladies first. Golfers second." Marilyn Louise Smith, 44, the fifth-ranking all-time money winner in the Ladies Professional Golf Association.

RACHMANINOFF'S 100th CELEBRATED ON RECORDS
NEW YORK (AP) — A five-album, 15-record collection of all known piano recordings ever made by Sergei Rachmaninoff will be released in the fall by RCA Records.

Rachmaninoff was born in 1873. Vaults of the record company disclose that 13 items recorded by Rachmaninoff were never released. They will be scattered through the five sets.

Suit Personality

The suit is big news for spring. But the look is so individual when you add the shirt, sweater or halter worn underneath the jacket. White linen suits allow for colorful tops that perk up the outfit when the jacket is unbuttoned.

Mrs. Hills To Head Civic Culture Club

Mrs. Frank Grantham, presided at the recent meeting of the Civic Culture Club which met in the home of Mrs. Chester Williams.

The 1973-74 officers were installed by Mrs. Glyn D. Harrell of Groom, president; Mrs. A.D. Hills, vice-president; Mrs. D.A. Rife, membership chairman; Mrs. Irvin Cole, recording secretary; Mrs. Carl Smith, corresponding secretary; Mrs. E.L. Loses a roommate and gains his wife

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: A long-time friend has been sharing my apartment during the week while working in the city. [We're both male.] He was returning to his country home and wife on weekends. This arrangement probably contributed to their present marital status — legal separation.

To my dismay, my roommate has invited his wife to occupy his vacant room at my apartment when he is out of town on frequent business trips.

The wife seems to thrive on this new urban atmosphere. She invites her country bumpkin friends as well as her new fellow-shrink patients for group therapy sessions in the apartment.

I am losing my mind over this arrangement. How do you feel about an estranged wife filling in as a roommate during her husband's absence? ANONYMOUS

DEAR ANONYMOUS: I think your friend had a lot of gall offering his wife the use of YOUR apartment in his absence, and the wife has her nerve abusing the privilege. I also think you are a gutless wonder for permitting it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a senior in high school, 17, and pregnant. My boy friend and I love each other and we want to get married. Our problem is we can't find a minister who will marry us and we want to get married in a church.

Neither one of us belongs to a church, but we do believe in God. Abby, we have gone to three churches and the ministers there have refused to marry us because we don't belong to THEIR church. Since when does a church belong to the minister?

Please tell us where to go. We want to get married as soon as possible without causing our parents any more heartache than they'll naturally have when they find out about this. S. AND J.

DEAR S. AND J.: I am sure I can find a clergyman who will perform the ceremony, but you must let me know where you are and how I can contact you. In the meantime, I suggest you tell your parents at once. No matter what you think, they are your best friends in time of trouble.

DEAR ABBY: After 25 years of gambling, losing a small fortune, then losing my wife and family because of it, I was ready to commit suicide. Then I joined GAMBLERS ANONYMOUS. It gave me a new lease on life.

My wife gave me another chance and I am happy to say that I will never bet another dollar on anything as long as I live. That's a big statement for a man to make who has bet horses, dogs, dice, cards, sports — you name it, I had money on it. I've begged, borrowed and mortgaged my soul to get money to gamble with. I've known people who have forged checks and embezzled hundreds of thousands of dollars to pay their losses and when they're even, they gamble more.

I wish every compulsive gambler in the world would attend just one GAMBLERS ANONYMOUS meeting. It could save his life. It saved mine.

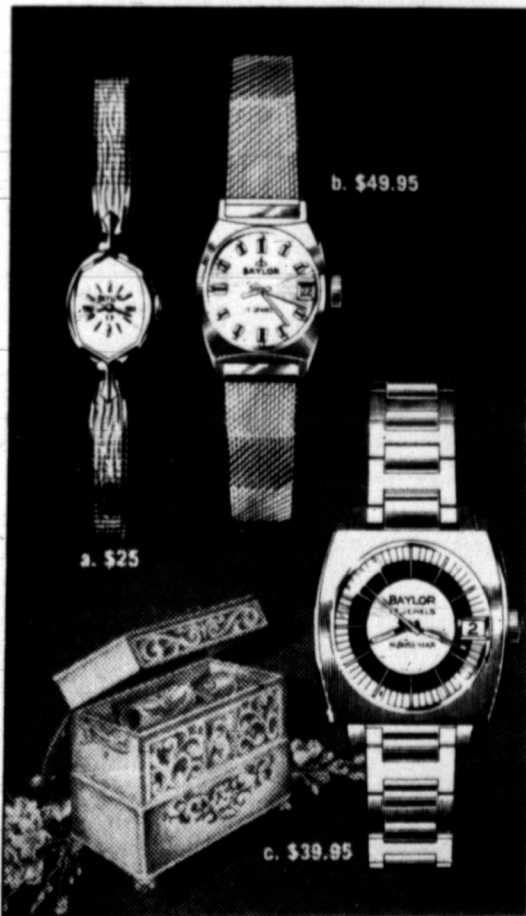

CURED IN SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR CURED: I heard about GAMBLERS ANONYMOUS 10 years ago, and altho I'm no gambler, I took a chance and attended some meetings anonymously in New York and Los Angeles to check them out. It was an inspiration to see cab drivers, stock brokers, school teachers, entertainers, businessmen, musicians, bartenders, and socialites all joined together to overcome a common enemy — the urge to gamble. For information about the G.A. meetings nearest you, write to P. O. Box 17173, Los Angeles, California 90017. You can't lose. It's free.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Mrs. Malone Receives President's Book Award

Gardeners from District 1, Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., were well represented when awards were presented at the recent TGC, Inc. Awards Banquet at the 45th Spring Convention in Dallas.

Mrs. James Malone, Pampa, District 1 Director for 1972-73, was presented the president's book award.

The Pampa Garden Club received the following awards:

honorable mention, class two, blue ribbon for club yearbook; first place, Division I, community service; honorable mention delegates report, Waco convention; second place, publicity scrapbook; honorable mention, cl. 2a, blue ribbon club history; honor roll horticulture rating; blue ribbon club rating; and first place, class A, blue ribbon club president's report.

Area Club Receives Convention Awards

The Lefors Art & Civic Club held a regular meeting recently at the Civic Center with 15 members answering roll call. The president, Mrs. Bob Klein, called the meeting to order.

During the business session the subject of the scholarship club will be awarding to a deserving senior was discussed. Mrs. Loyd McKnight will be in charge of having the questionnaire printed and distributed to the senior class. The club will then vote for the student they feel deserves this scholarship.

The budget and projects for the next year were discussed and decided upon.

Reporters for next year will be Mrs. Carl Hall and Mrs. Norman Barber.

There were five club members attending the District Convention at Canyon, Mmes. Tom Florence, Jimmie Hannon, Harry Youngblood, Weldon Holley, and Bob Klein. Each member gave a report on the convention. The Art & Civic Club received the following awards, second place award on the presidents summary; second place on a program titled "Reflection of Education - New Trends," an Americanism program which was a book review won second place; and a style show won first place. Several projects also won awards. The club won special recognition by having the most increase in membership than any club in the Top O' Texas District.

Mrs. Tom Florence won a blue ribbon in the Arts & Crafts for a crochet cape she had made.

"Hair Styling: a Reflection of Our Personal Appearance" was the program for the evening presented by Mrs. Norman Barber. She gave a lecture: had photographs, and articles on hair styling.

In her lecture she told members how a person becomes a hair dresser. She stated, "You not only learn about the structure of the hair but you learn the nerves and muscles of the body."

Refreshments for the evening were served around an Easter motif. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Harry Youngblood and Mrs. James Gatlin.

Club News

HOMEMAKERS CLUB
Homemakers Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Jim Ruth in the Cabot Camp. The meeting opened with the "Lord's Prayer" in unison. Mrs. Eula Berry won the door prize.

Mrs. Kathy Hicks and Mrs. Selma Richards of Pampa gave a demonstration on liquid embroidery painting. Refreshments of homemade ice cream and cake was served to the following: two guests, Mmes. Hicks and Richards, and Mmes. Eula Berry, Juanita Porter, Miles Pearson, Bob Heaton, Myrtle Gould, Ralph Fox Sr., Gertrude Huckins, Floyd McCoy, Don Easley and son Donald.

FREEWILL BAPTIST WOMEN
The women of the First Freewill Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Mary Andis, 2908 Rosewood.

Bobbie Green opened the meeting. The program purpose was to better acquaint members with the mission field of Panama.

While the hostess served refreshments, members worked on Easter baskets for the Senior Citizens at the East Ridge Lodge.

Those attending were Melba Lynch, Bobbie Green, Lee Gillis, Mary Andis, Cathy Andis, and Peggy Lynch.

Never store herbs and spices near the kitchen range.

Cheap air conditioning is no bargain.

Servel Gas Air Conditioning is a Bargain.

The bargain comes in smaller utility bills, lower maintenance calls and the longer life of a Servel system.

But you'll never buy one cheap.

The Servel gas has always been: "Build it like the Swiss." That's why the units are precision-made. And that's why they contain more stainless steel than any other air conditioner on the market. They're built to last and to perform dependably. This and the economy of natural gas energy saves you every month.

Quality construction is the reason you pay more for Servel initially. Because quality doesn't come cheap. Long, economical operation is the reason you'll save in the long run. Because quality pays off.

Most people can afford quality when they know all the facts. Especially when they're concerned with a cool, restful, healthy home environment - when home has a permanent meaning.

Think long and hard before you invest in central air conditioning.

Then install Servel.

Local Committees At Work On State 4-H Center Funds

A State 4-H Center for Texas' This proposed project is moving from the drawing board to reality, but in order for this to happen all interested and concerned citizens of Gray County must assist.

This word comes from County Extension Agents Foster Whaley, Richard Guggisberg, Jimmie Lou Wainwright, and Audette Vaughn.

Leadership for the 4-H center is being provided by the Texas 4-H Leadership Development Foundation, but members need the help of local people, they explain.

Put it all together with a 4-H Center, is the theme selected for the State 4-H Center campaign. Goal of the Gray County campaign is to raise $4500.

The Center will be constructed on a 78-acre site at Lake Brownwood. It will offer many new opportunities and dimensions for programs and activities and will accommodate 200 people, explains Dr. Donald Stormer, state 4-H and youth leader.

Activities to be included at the residential training facility are project workshops, county and district activities, leadership labs, 4-H leader workshops, clinics and camps, ecology and other special seminars, citizenship and international activities.

Stormer adds: To construct the facility a total of $1.5 million is needed. Local 4-H leaders, members and friends of 4-H are now working to raise funds for the Center. Thus far, 4-H members have earned $134,000 from chocolate sales, and business and industry groups have pledged another $200,000 for the project.

The Center will be used for training adults and youth for leadership roles in the 4-H program, Stormer explains.

A local Center Fund Committee has been organized with J.D. Skaggs, local farmer, serving as general chairman.

Serving with Skaggs are Earl Smith, Elmer McLaughlin, Richard Bowers, Henry Harnly, Jack Osborne, Ruben Baggerman, Jack Benton, Paul Bowers, Keith Davis, W.C.

Epperson, Paul Eakin, Billy R. Fields, Stan Friend, Bill Gething, Holly Gray, Eddie Gray, W.A. Greene, Tom Henderson, Jim Hopkins, John Mackie, Raymond Maddox, James O. McCracken, J.D. Paris, George Quible, James A. Reeves, Curtis Schaffer, John Spearman, Freddie Vanderburg, Jr., Marvin Webster, Don Morrison, and Jim Greene.

Lefors Seniors Honored

The Baptist Women of First Baptist Church of Lefors honored graduating seniors of Lefors High School with a chuck wagon luncheon recently.

The western theme was carried out in the decorations with pot bellied stoves and crock jugs holding spring flower arrangements. The guests were seated at quartet tables covered with red and white checkered cloths with a kerosene lamp in the center of each table.

The luncheon was served buffet style from a covered chuck wagon. Weldon Bates, principal, presented the invocation, and Rev. Rick Wadley gave the welcome address. Steve Timmons gave the response.

Those enjoying the gala affair were: Lou Ann Sims, Tom Ray, Bill Bates, Connie Eudey, Cheryl Sims, Vickie Cotham, Debbie Trimble, James Gatlin, Steve Timmons, Jimmy Crutcher, Dickie Wells, Lynn Shelton, Mike Marlar, Annette Morris, Hubert Lynn Sims, and Don Tinney.

Special guests were coach and Mrs. Leonard Tolbert and Weldon Bates, class sponsors, and Rev. and Mrs. Rick Wadley.

Baptist women serving the dinner were: Mmes. W.B. Moxon, Freddie Parker, Wayne Moxon, Bill Cody and Floed McMinn.

ANNOUNCES RETIREMENT — Mrs. A.W. Skewes, fourth grade teacher in Stephen F. Austin School for 15 years, has announced her retirement, effective at the close of the school term. The PTA honored her with a corsage during its meeting recently. A standing ovation from guests and students completed the honor. Mrs. Skewes estimates she has instructed 500 students during her 19 year teaching career.

SHAKESPEARE FESTIVAL TO OPEN KENNEDY SEASON

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Shakespeare and the Performing Arts," a festival of opera, ballet, plays, films, concerts, readings and art exhibitions, will open the third season of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts next fall. The project will run the entire month of September.

Century Members Share Talents

Members of the Twentieth Century Club were the guests of Mrs. Joe Gordan, at the Pampa Country Club recently. Mrs. Rex Rose, president, conducted a business meeting. The scholarship committee gave their report and the name of the recipient will be announced at the Pampa High School Awards assembly.

Mrs. Richard Stowers led club members in the pledges to the American and the Texas flags. Mrs. Joe Gordan, Mrs. Tom Wilkinson and Mrs. Bob Andis presented a program on the arts. Each member of the club brought a sample of her hobby. These ranged from poetry, dressmaking, cooking, painting, photography, to collections, soapmaking and needlepoint, proving that each of God's children is talented in some way.

Mrs. Joe Gordan talked on her hobby, painting, and showed members some of her work. She spoke about how one starts to paint a picture with emotion or mood, crystallizes it into thought, then fixes it in form.

Mrs. Bob Andis, in speaking of the arts said: "With the full realization that I endanger the possibility of any future friendships with some of you, I feel I must be brave and courageous, hoping that I find among you one kindred soul. But if you find my quest offensive, tell me, and forever I will be still-to-you, keeping my love with me — perhaps not forever, but for as long as my Lord will allow."

Mrs. Tom Wilkinson closed the program stating that each of us knew the other better for having shared our talents and as we traveled in our community we should share these talents for the greater honor and glory of God, who gave us these talents.

Refreshments were served to Mmes. Tom Wilkinson, F.M. Culberson, Bob Andis, Jerry Bond, Miss Elsie Cunningham, L. Hamilton, Ben Ogden, D. McGahey, Rex Rose, R. Sanford, B. Campbell and Joe Gordan.

Home Of George Walton Discussed At DAR Meet

At a recent meeting of the Las Pampas Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution which was held at noon in Furr's Cafeteria, Mrs. J.M. Daugherty, in giving the invocation, gave thanks for all those who have defended our country and flag.

Mrs. W.S. Dixon, regent, led in the pledge to the flag and the American's Creed. She presided over the business meeting and announced that the Chapter's Year Book for 1972-1973 had been awarded a blue ribbon at the State Conference held in March in Houston.

Mrs. L.A. Barnes gave the defense committee report. She called attention to a column entitled "Get U.S. out of the UN" by Tom Anderson which was in a recent issue of the Pampa Daily News. Anderson wrote, in part, "The United Nations plays chess while we play poker. The enemy's moves are coldly calculated all the way. We lose pot after pot because our cards are marked, the deck is stacked and the dealer is crooked."

Mrs. J.B. White, vice-regent, presented Mrs. J.V. Young, Sr. who gave the program entitled "Meadow Garden". She said that this was the home of George Walton who was one of the three signers of the Declaration of Independence for the State of Georgia. Meadow Garden is one of the few remaining homes of the signers.

"Preserving our American Heritage is one of the aims of the National Society," she told the women, "and that the Augusta Chapter of Augusta, Ga. is restoring this historic home which is located there."

Continuing, she said, "Walton was the youngest of the Georgia signers. He was prominent in Revolutionary activities. Walton was appointed delegate to the Second Continental Congress. He was elected President of the Council of Safety in 1776. Governor Bulloch commissioned George a Colonel in the army. In the 1779 siege of Savannah by the British, Walton was wounded in the leg and walked with a limp until he died. He was captured and imprisoned at Sunbury."

"After his release," Mrs. Young said, "he and his wife Dorothy moved to Augusta where they made Meadow Garden their home. He became active in state politics and was elected Governor of Georgia twice." She added that George Walton died at Meadow Garden on February 2, 1804.

Mrs. Young showed slides of the exterior and interior of this beautiful home which has been restored and is being furnished with authentic reproductions of Walton's time. Much of Dorothy Walton's China and decorative bric-a-brac has been placed in the home much as it might have been when she lived there.

Using the DAR ritual, Mrs. A.D. Hills, organizing regent, installed the following officers for the year 1973-74:

Mrs. J.B. White, regent; Mrs. P.R. Britton, vice-regent; Mrs. John McKerney, secretary; Mrs. Siler Hopkins, treasurer; Mrs. J.M. Daugherty, chaplain; Mrs. John Skelly, Jr., registrar; Mrs. J.V. Young, Sr., librarian; and Mrs. A.D. Hills, historian.

Gilding The Lily Is El Progresso Topic

Mrs. Glenn Radcliff hosted the recent meeting of the El Progresso Club on Conservation. Mrs. I.K. Gaylor, program chairman, presented Mrs. J.F. Malone for a demonstration of flower arranging to open the program entitled "Gilding The Lily." She prepared and discussed a mass arrangement and a formal arrangement.

Following this demonstration each member presented and discussed an arrangement she had made and brought to the meeting. These run the gamut of all types from a Japanese arrangement by Mrs. R.I. Bray to a tiny arrangement with Easter egg theme by Mrs. M.G. Herring. After the meeting the various arrangements were taken to shut-in friends of the club.

During the business session Mrs. Glen Dawkins, president, announced the by-laws revision committee as Mmes. Kermit Lawson, Tom Perkins, and Roy McMillen.

Mrs. Malone reported that she and Mrs. D.V. Burton had visited the Lovett Memorial Library on behalf of the club. After checking into library needs they selected an American Heritage book, "The Artist America," and purchased it as a gift to the library from El Progresso Club.

The president announced that since two of the members would be attending the state convention of TFWC and the closing club luncheon would be held on May 22nd with Mrs. J.F. Malone as hostess.

Present were: Mmes. R.I. Bray, D.V. Burton, J.F. Curtis, Glen Dawkins, O.K. Gaylor, Verl Hagaman, Kermit Lawson, J.F. Malone, Roy McMillen, Tom Perkins, Quentin Williams, Bruce Riehart, and the hostess.

Teachers Organization Observes Birthday

each of the 50 states of the United States.

In the business session, Mrs. John Vantine, president, appointed Miss Marjorie Ewing as first vice-president to complete the unexpired term of Mrs. Morris. She also appointed Mrs. Elbert Walker as chairman and Mrs. Edward Wiens as a member of the scholarship committee.

The chapter voted to contribute $1 each to the State Scholarship Fund in memory of Mrs. Morris and to send a card of greeting to Mrs. Morris, who is in a hospital in Houston recovering from heart surgery.

The group also voted to keep a memorial book in honor of its deceased members, the book to be provided by Miss Mary Ewing, to combine the chapter history and the scrapbook; and to keep this book with the other chapter paraphernalia.

The resignation of Mrs. Ruby Ruckdick Davis was accepted.

Mrs. Jack C. Williams, chairman of the Professional Affairs Committee, announced that the $100 grant-in-aid to a graduating senior girl has been awarded to Pamela Krizan of Groom, with April Schultz, Pampa, alternate.

Hostesses for the luncheon were Mmes. L.R. Copeland, J.R. Hogge, Calvin Murray, I.E. Padgett, Jayne Sadler, and Miss Mary Ewing. The luncheon table was decorated with red bows and tall red candles in gilded holders, and the birthday cake bore the society emblems in red and gold.

Twenty-nine members were present.

The next meeting will be on Sept. 8, in the Flaming Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

Glue It Yourself

You don't have to be a master carver to make some of your own jewelry. Tiny pieces of plywood are easily cut and glued together into butterflies or abstracts. For a final touch, you can color the wood, cover it with material, or keep it natural and glue colorful beads onto it.

Lakon Mariano Tells Xi Beta Chi Of Home

Xi Beta Chi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met recently in the Citizens Bank Hospitality Room with the vice-president, Mrs. James Lee, presiding.

State projects for 1973-74 were discussed, and the scholarship project for Pampa's Beta Sigma Phi.

The Chapter salad supper will be held May 21 and members will exchange gifts.

May 17, Xi Beta Chi will serve the Senior Citizens. Mrs. Benny Stout is the chairman of the committee consisting of Mmes. James Schaffer, Robert Brogdon, and Robert Benyshek. Members will help provide refreshments.

Mrs. James Schaffer introduced Mrs. Richard Stowers, president of American Field Service. She told of how the A.F.S. works.

Mrs. Stowers introduced Lakon Mariano, who is in Pampa through the American Field Service. Lakon told of his family, schools and activities he was involved with in his home land Tucson, Philippines.

He also told some interesting things about his trip to America and then on to Texas. Lakon stated that the A.F.S. is truly an Arm of Friendship from our country to other countries.

The next meeting will be May 14 at 8 p.m. in the Hospitality Room of the Citizens Bank. Officers will be installed and a ritual will be held.

Hostesses were Mmes. James Lee and David Hutto. Those present were Mmes. Robert Benyshek, Robert Brogdon, Don Carpenter, Darrell Danner, Sonny Golden, James Schaffer, Benny Stout, Bill Baten and guest Joe Boedeker.

What do you do now?
A—Bid one heart. If you respond one spade, you may lose the heart suit. This way, your partner can bid one spade if he holds four of them.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Sure enough, your partner does bid one spade. What do you do now?

Answer Monday

Send $1 for JACOBY MODERN book to: "Win at Bridge," c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

In one of the early rounds of the Vanderbilt, both teams reached four spades after identical bidding. Both Wests opened the six of diamonds and both declarers tried to cash three rounds of diamonds only to have East ruff the third lead.

One declarer discarded the seven of hearts and could not make his contract after East led a trump and West cashed the ace and led a second one.

Jack Blair of Tulsa, whose team went on to get to the finals, recovered by overruffing, leading the seven of hearts and letting it ride to East's queen.

East led a trump and West played ace and another, but Jack won in dummy and led the jack of hearts. East ducked and Jack discarded. West took his king and led a fourth diamond.

Jack ruffed in dummy and led the 10 of hearts. East held back his ace, but it did him no good since Jack discarded another club and continued hearts to wind up making his contract and gaining a valuable 13 IMPs.

The hand is interesting indeed as the best line of play would have been to win the first diamond and lead a heart at trick two, but the actual play of three rounds of diamonds would have been better had diamonds run three times.

When they failed to break nicely, Jack found a most ingenious way to recover.

PREPARE FOR ANALYSIS — Shawqi Salem Karadsheh, right, a Jordanian studying at Texas Tech University, adds distilled water to a funnel containing a soil sample. The solution produced from the water run through the soil will be analyzed to determine the amount of salinity in the soil. Karadsheh is learning modern soil reclamation techniques which he will help implement in desert agricultural projects upon his return to Jordan. His studies are sponsored by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations. Observing the experiment is Dr. Harold E. Dregne, chairman of the Department of Agronomy at Texas Tech, a specialist in the study of saline soils who is supervising Karadsheh's work at the university.

Farm Bureau Marketing Program Is Operational

WACO — The Livestock Purchasing Division of Texas Farm Bureau is ready to become operational with employment of a manager and appointment of a committee to direct this newly created arm of TFB, according to President J. T. "Red" Woodson.

Jim O'Neal, 40, of Madill, Okla., has been hired to manage the program. A native of Midland, he is a graduate of Southern Methodist University. He has been active in ranching and cattle feeding in Oklahoma. He was co-owner and operator of livestock auction markets in Ada and Madill, Okla. until October, 1969, when he was named director of market development for the Oklahoma Farm Bureau Federation.

The Texas program which will be operated by TFB's marketing affiliate, Texas Agricultural Marketing and Development Association, in 18 Panhandle and South Plains counties. It will deal primarily in stocker and feeder cattle.

O'Neal will work out of an office located somewhere in the Panhandle, Woodson said.

JIM O'NEAL
marketing director

The seven-member Livestock Purchasing Advisory Committee named will assist O'Neal, the TFB president explained.

J. D. Skaggs-Pampa, was made chairman of that panel. Other members will be J. E. Birdwell, Lubbock; J. D. Kelly Jr., Panhandle; Glen Odum, Dimmitt; Frank Campbell, Childress; Willard McCoy, Morse and A. C. Whitmore, Kress.

Woodson's announcement climaxed efforts by Farm Bureau leaders in the Panhandle and South Plains during the past 18 months to initiate such a livestock purchasing division. To make the program operative, members in the 18 counties comprising the division had to make commitments to buy a total of at least 20,000 head of cattle and raise at least $50,000 in debenture sales to underwrite the program. These goals were met two months ago according to Farm Bureau officials.

The two highest decorations awarded by the 24-year-old Union are the Order of Lenin and the Gold Star Medal.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS
Last week we reported on a "Position Paper" issued by the Texas Board of Water Development. This "Position Paper" was not made for the individual landowner in Texas — it was intended for the people we elect to make the laws by which we are governed.

We stated that this "Position Paper" prepared for the Legislature was of special significance following the announcement by the Bureau of Reclamation that import water from the Mississippi River would be too expensive.

Harry Burleigh, the Executive Director of the Texas Water Development Board and the author of the "Position Paper," reviewed the water situation as he understands it. His review is important to your future, and we are carrying excerpts from his review in today's column.

Ground Water Management
The issue — Ground water is a significant part of the total water resource of the State of Texas, supplying approximately 75 per cent of the entire consumptive use of water in the State. Some of our principal underground aquifers — the Ogallala of the High Plains and the Carrizo-Wilcox of the Winter Garden area — for example — are being pumped at rates far exceeding natural recharge, and their depletion is causing severe regional social and economic dislocations.

"There is not in Texas at this time a sufficiently comprehensive and definitive body of statutory law to provide the comprehensive operational management required for the State to make maximum beneficial use of and adequately protect its ground and surface water resources. The goal of such management would be the operation of the ground-water resource conjunctively with available surface supplies by procedures designed to achieve defined objectives.

"Depending on the particular characteristics of the aquifer involved, the objectives may be to maximize the economic return from use of water, equitably distribute costs and benefits, supply water at minimum cost, protect the usability of the aquifer, prevent or control land subsidence, extend the life of the ground-water basin, maximize the availability of flood storage in surface reservoirs, or to maintain water quality at a given level. There are several aspects to be considered in establishing objectives, including the overall economy of the area, availability of other sources, projected future demands, etc.

"Once the desired objective(s) have been determined for a given area, the procedures and criteria of operation necessary to produce that result can be determined. This requires detailed knowledge of the nature of the surface and ground water resources involved — hydraulic characteristics, sources of water, drainage area, recharge areas and rates, stream diversions, the pattern and rate of water extraction, upstream developments, pollution hazards, waste disposal alternatives, costs of surface and ground water under various alternatives, economics, water rights, and legal constraints. In short, it is necessary to establish to the extent possible all of those factors which make it possible to predict performance of water resources under varying conditions. This does not mean that it is necessary, or even desirable, to wait until all of these aspects are known in detail. Effective management can be instituted on a trial and error basis with only approximate knowledge with long-term better results.

"Such management is possible, and has been implemented elsewhere in the United States, but has not been attempted in Texas. Such a management program will be required if Texas is to make maximum effective use of available resources.

CHAMBER PRIZE ANNOUNCED

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cambridge Consort and the Da Capo Chamber Players are winners of the new Naumburg Chamber Music Award which consists of a Tully Hall recital.

The Cambridge Consort is a singers and three instrumentalists from the Camerata of the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston. They are dedicated to recreating the social music of old Europe's courts and villages.

The Da Capo Chamber Players, five young musicians specializing in performing contemporary music, was organized in 1970. The title "da capo" refers to the policy of repeating a work or performing two pieces by the same composer on one program.

Daylight and night each last about two weeks on the moon.

ROSTER WHALEY

Agriculturally Speaking

HAIL DAMAGE
Many dryland and irrigation farmers suffered severe hail damage. Many are planning to graze out with heavy concentration of cattle. Others plan to salvage what they can. Still others are now working to work their ground and plant back to milo.

Under irrigation, a total loss means $75 per acre. In visiting with a farmer and looking at a total loss last week, the farmer remarked, "Sure wish one of the boycotting housewives could see this."

4-H BREAKFAST

Last week we had a check-in breakfast for our State 4-H Center drive. Many farmers are signing release slips that will permit the elevator to deduct a few bushels of wheat from the farmer's 1973 harvest. Many others are making outright contributions. We have received a $100 check from as far off as Austin, Tex. from a Gray County landowner and wheat farmer. This particular person doesn't have an eligible 4-H member but felt the State 4-H Center would be of tremendous help to keeping Gray County Youth as well as youth over the state on a constructive path.

Another check for $150 came from some well respected people in the Laketon vicinity. We estimate we have now raised about one-third of the quota for Gray County which is $4,500. If you would like to help out in this very worthy project, please call me and I'll be happy to come pick your check up. Checks should be made payable to "Gray County State 4-H Center."

If you have a cull cow, we would be glad to pick them up at your place and transport to the Amarillo Livestock Auction.

At the time of this writing (May 9), farmers were in the field working like mad to get their land prepared for milo. If the drier weather will hold out, they will be in good shape within two weeks.

Nixon Trade Bill 'Hyped' By Ag Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is stepping up a publicity campaign to help gain support among farmers for new trade legislation sought by the White House.

The bill, called the Trade Reform Act of 1973, includes broad authority for the President in negotiating international trade agreements and to bestow "most favored nation" or MFN on countries not now included in that status.

Agriculture Secretary Earl I. Butz, recent developments indicate, has been saddled by the White House with responsibility for getting support for the bill from various farm and commodity organizations.

The USDA, in carefully prepared language devoid of outright political lobbying, is currently sending out approximately 2,500 sets of background pamphlets on the trade situation to daily newspapers, broadcast farm editors, general farm organizations, commodity groups, state departments of agriculture and others who might be interested or helpful.

Titled "U.S. International Trade Press Kit," the information included a series of papers on the future of U.S. farm trade; a speech made by Butz recently in Paris before a meeting of foreign farm ministers; and a copy of President Nixon's April 10 trade message to Congress.

Basically, under the proposal, Congress would have 90 days to veto a negotiated trade agreement. If Congress did not act, the agreement could be put into effect.

What disturbs some farm groups is the possibility that under the proposal the administration could agree to dispense with nontariff restrictions on imports in return for gaining larger access to foreign markets.

Farm Year 1973: Boom or Butz?

By RAY BAXTER
Farm Editor

Just one week ago, Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz predicted U.S. farm exports of $10-million this year with farm income exceeding $19-million.

Almost simultaneously with this optimistic prognostication, Texas A&M's Dr. John Hopkins predicted the greatest economic challenge in the time just ahead for Texas, agriculture citing widespread concern over food prices, less farm price support and a possible cut in federal funds for ag research and extension programs.

The office of Texas Agriculture Commissioner John White follows with this statistic: hired farm labor is down 53 per cent in Texas while the number of Texas farms has declined 15 per cent in the last decade.

Here in Gray County where farmers, wage-earners and merchants alike hope agri-business might replace petroleum production in the area's flagging economy, many are wondering if Secretary Butz is spreading the sunshine about or is only holding a garish spotlight to a few isolated statistics. Or is asking us to lie on our backs and take in a big patch of blue sky?

Since our state ranks third in the nation in farm income, a look at the Texas record should either emphasize Butz' optimism or refute his figures.

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service says the state's 1972 farm income was close to the $4-billion mark, $1,442,000,000 in crops and $2,361,000,000 in livestock.

Butz said 1972 national farm income was about $19.2-billion giving Texas producers about 20 per cent of the total.

He said shifts in cropping patterns are taking place and this is truly reflected in Texas agriculture for 1972.

Grapefruit marketing was down 20 per cent but oranges were up 50 per cent. When hail destroyed cotton, acreage for soybeans was doubled and — in one year — marketing was up some 35 per cent.

The state agriculture scene produced some impressive paradoxes. Fewer acres were devoted to grain sorghums in 1972 but good weather produced a $4-million crop. Bad weather cut the per acre yield of rice to 373 pounds but better prices brought in $146-million.

Secretary Butz said this good year cut farm abandonment in the U.S. by 50 per cent. That dovetails pretty well with Texas figures on declining farm operation.

He said the prices farmers received rose faster than those of things they bought. ... and Dr. Hopkins takes sharp issue with this.

At this point, it might be well to establish Dr. Hopkins' credentials. Most know that Butz has presidential cabinet status. A Stiles Professor of Agricultural Finance, he became head of the Texas A&M University Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology, April 1, succeeding Dr. Tyrus R. Timm.

Now, Dr. Hopkins contends that farmers and ranchers are called on to produce more and more food and fiber but to hold down the prices they ask for their products, yet they are caught in a flood of rising prices for everything they must buy to produce their product.

He has pointed out that farm debt is at a record high; that farm debt GROWTH last year nearly equaled TOTAL farm indebtedness in 1946.

Dr. Hopkins' concern is not the AMOUNT of debt but its FORM. He maintains that far too much of it is short term obligation.

Dr. Hopkins offers two reasons for this and two suggestions to agriculture producers and their backers.

Causes: (1) capital investment per worker in agriculture has risen to twice what it is in many other industries and (2) the rate of savings by farm families has declined. As farm people started to live better, they plowed everything back into farming rather than saving some.

Solutions: (1) advise farmers against poor investments all too prevalent in agriculture holding large volumes of capital with low turnover and cash flow and (2) be more realistic about maturity periods for loans. Dr. Hopkins illustrated this by saying 36 months to pay off new implement costs is not realistic; five years is.

It is trite but ... only time will tell — and the span of time itself can be fraught with many surprises that Butz, Hopkins and the American farmer cannot predict.

Margaret Court Plays Bobby Riggs In Tennis

RAMONA, Calif. (AP) — Bobby Riggs says if he beats Margaret Court in their $10,000 challenge tennis match here Sunday, he'll probably take the show on the road.

"I had a call from Bill Talbert in New York," the 55-year-old former world men's champion said today, "and he told me that if a place like the San Diego Country Estates can hold a match for $10,000, Forest Hills should be able to hold one for $20,000."

"We talked about a return match at Forest Hills. Billie Jean King will want a shot. The whole world is interested. I may go all over the world, playing the top women players."

Riggs is the chairman of the U.S. Open championships. Riggs and the 30-year-old Mrs. Court, the No. 1 player in women's tennis, will meet in a best-of-three set match at the San Vicente Country Club here for a winner-take-all purse.

Each will receive $7,500 to $10,000 from the Columbia

Broadcasting System, televising the match nationally starting at 3:30 p.m. EDT.

Both Riggs and Mrs. Court checked into this burgeoning real estate development in the rich San Vicente Valley Friday and practiced on the green asphalt court where the match will take place.

Margaret, winner of 30 national titles in her illustrious career and leading money winner on the Virginia Slims tour, was accompanied by her yachtman husband Barry of Perth and her 14-month-old son Danny, who wore a button which said, "Bobby Riggs, BLEAH!"

"They tell me 30,000 women are wearing this button in Canada," Margaret said. Riggs was not without his supporters—a large delegation from Newport Beach equipped with buttons which say, "Riggs Raiders."

United States Gains 2-1 Lead Over Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Tom Gorman and Erik Van Dillen combined for a 7-5, 12-14, 6-3, 6-4 doubles victory Saturday that gave the United States a 2-1 lead over Mexico in the best-of-5 series final of the North American Zone Davis Cup tennis competition.

Gorman, of Seattle, and Van Dillen, of San Mateo, Calif., defeated Raul Ramirez and Vicente Zarazua on clay at Rafael Osuna Stadium.

The United States, the defending Cup champion, can advance to a meeting with South American champion Chile by winning one of two singles matches Sunday.

Gorman gained some vindication from the doubles victory. He had been upset Friday by the 20-year-old Ramirez in the opening singles match. Harold Solomon of Silver Spring, Md., then evened the series by beating Mexican star Joaquin Loyo-Mayo.

TEE-OFF TIDBITS

By Hart Warren

Since the rain finally stopped this week and the sun won out, the season is already seeing some individual records.

Thursday's "Ladies Day" had a turnout of 43 lady golfers and some of the scores were fantastic. Priscilla Simpson had a 2 on number six on the way to a fine 89.

Jan Elston shot a good 41. Ruthie Hall had a 39 — a tremendous — and Alma Lamberson shot a 40-42 — for the low round of the week.

Dona Jo Evans scored her first-ever birdie, a 3 on number 8. Ladies ladder winners were Diane Monogue, Pat Peeples, Floy Arthur and Ava Warren. Interest continues to be high among the ladies — trying to get to the top of the ladder.

Dates are announced today for the annual Partnership tournament. It will be conducted June 23-24, so get your partner and start practicing.

A few of the fellows had fine rounds this past week too. Coyle Winborne shot a 71 in last Sunday's 40 mph gale. Ed Myatt brought Creel Grady to his knees with an eagle 2 on number 8.

Eddie Duennel shot the week's low round with a 69 Thursday. Dr. Joe Donaldson had a super 74 Friday after taking a six on number 8. It wasn't too windy so we let him post the score.

Dr. Vic Trammell left several of his pigeons with tears in their eyes after an eagle on number 3. The course sure must be playing easy with all these eagles.

Tip for the week: This early in the year daily practice helps groove a swing for the rest of the season. See you in the rough.

190 MPH Aerial Crash Kills Pollard At Indy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Art Pollard, known in the auto racing fraternity as the "glamorous Grandpa," was killed Saturday when his race car became airborne and crashed in flames at nearly 190 miles an hour at Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The accident occurred during a 90-minute warmup session prior to the start of qualifying runs for the May 28 Indianapolis 500-mile race.

Ironically, it came just a year after Jim Malloy crashed — under exactly the same conditions — farther down the track. Malloy died four days later. Pollard's crash came at 9:47 a.m. and he died only 63 minutes later.

Two days after Malloy's wreck, Pollard himself was involved in a spectacular spill and was hospitalized with a broken leg. He already had qualified for the 1972 race. Wally Dallenbach drove for him.

Pollard, an easy-going giant of a man who frequently was called "Roberto" because of his dark skin and shock of black hair, became the 34th driver to lose his life at the Speedway since it opened in 1911.

A veteran of 18 years of competition, Pollard lost control of his new 1973 Cobra Special, a converted Eagle owned by Robert L. Fletcher of Phoenix, Ariz., as he exited the Speedway's first turn.

The machine jack-knifed in a half spin, crashed into the concrete barrier, then looped in flames down the track to the grassy area bordering the racing surface.

From that point, observers said, the car skirted the pavement for more than 1,000 feet before becoming airborne as it reached the asphalt again in the second turn. It stopped upright 1,450 feet from its first impact with the retaining wall.

Pollard, one of the oldest drivers in racing, a garage-area favorite of drivers and mechanics alike and an accomplished public speaker, had been clocked at more than 191 m.p.h. on the lap before his crash.

Earlier in the week he had recorded a lap at 193.923 m.p.h. to place himself in a favorable position for an up-front berth in the 33-car starting field.

Pollard, who celebrated his 46th birthday at the speedway May 5, is survived by his wife, Pat, a son, Michael, 25, a daughter, Judy, 22, and one grandchild.

He had been a perennial threat in five starts at Indy, but always seemed to be plagued by mechanical troubles. His best finish at the Speedway was eighth in 1967, his rookie year at the old brickyard.

Lopes walked to open the LA sixth and Bill Buckner and Manny Mota followed with infield hits to load the bases off Giants' starter Jim Willoughby. Willie Davis hit a sacrifice fly and Joe Ferguson singled to drive in the runs.

The Giants' Ed Goodson hit a sacrifice fly off Los Angeles reliever Pete Richert with the bases loaded in the seventh, tying it.

The Giants had scored two runs in the second, one of them on Willie McCovey's ninth home run of the season. The Dodgers got two in the third to tie the score.

Plans were finalized Friday for the 39th annual Tri-State Senior Golf Tournament to be held on the Pampa Country Club golf course July 23-27.

J.R. Brown of Amarillo, Tri-State Senior Golf Association secretary, met with PCC and Chamber of Commerce Sports Committee representatives in a noon meeting.

Several changes concerning the tournament from previous years were made at the meeting. The primary change concerned registration.

That will be held only on Sunday July 22, and Monday July 23, instead of Sunday, Monday and Tuesday as has been customary in past years.

This is the fourth year that Pampa has hosted the tournament. President of the association is Al Warner of Wichita, Kans. Last year's winner was Web Wilder of San Antonio.

The tournament will be open to members of the Tri-State Senior Golf Association. Membership is limited to men 55 years of age and over.

Aussie Bruce Crampton Gains 3-Shot Advantage

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Australian Bruce Crampton built a huge early advantage, blew half of it on the last five holes, but still retained a solid three-stroke margin Saturday after three rounds of the $150,000 Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament.

Crampton, gunning for a fourth title this season, played the front side in a course-record matching 31, then bogeyed three of the last five holes for an erratic 69.

That put the season's leading money winner six under par at 204 after three trips over the demanding, 7,142-yard Colonial Country Club course.

Crampton, a winner at Houston last week and the leader all the way in this one, goes into the last round of the chase for a $30,000 first prize with three-stroke advantage over Lee Elder and Tom Weiskopf.

Elder, with a 69, and Weiskopf, who matched par 70, in weather that alternated between sun and shower, were tied at 207.

The only others in the surviving field of 76 with sub-par totals were defending champion Jerry Heard, Lou Graham and Mason Rudolph, tied at 209.

Heard and Graham matched 71s while Rudolph charged into contention with the day's best round, a 67.

British Open champion Lee Trevino shot himself out of it with a 76. At 220, Trevino is a distant 16 strokes behind Crampton.

Crampton, who scored consecutive victories at Phoenix and Tucson before regaining the leading money-winning spot last week, appeared to be ready to run away with it on the front nine, played almost entirely in a drizzling rain.

He's taken command with a brilliant 66 Thursday, retained a two-stroke advantage with a 69 in Friday's second round and romped over the first nine Saturday in 31, four under par and matching the course record established in 1947 by Ben Hogan.

That gave the sturdy veteran with the picture swing a whopping six-stroke lead and it looked as if he was going to run away from the field.

But suddenly, it all turned around. Like the little girl with the curl in the middle of her forehead, he went from very, very good to horrid.

He bogeyed the 11th hole when he drove into the right rough and was short in two. But he got the stroke back with a 12-foot birdie putt on the next hole.

On the 14th, he put his tee shot in a fairway bunker and bogeyed.

On the 16th, he three-putted for a bogey, his first three-putt in 129 holes.

He had to scramble out of a trap to save par on the 17th, hit a tree on the 18th and put his next in a bunker.

"By that time I just wanted to make five and get it over with," Crampton said.

That's what he did, taking his fourth bogey of the back nine and third in five holes.

"No, there really wasn't anything that happened," he said of the sharp turn-around between his front and back nines. "I just wasn't getting it up and down saving pars like I'd been doing."

Harvesters Progressing

After the first week of Harvester football spring training, coach Buddy Williams said, "We're very pleased and think that we've accomplished a lot. We feel that we're progressing a lot faster than we thought we would."

Through the first week Williams said that the offense had looked considerably better than the defense.

The coaching staff is working this spring on instituting a different offense, the I-slot, and that has been its primary concern the first week.

Williams said that the passing game had looked real good until yesterday's controlled scrimmage when the receivers had trouble hanging onto the ball.

He added, "We need to have a good passing game because we're not going to overpower people next fall. We're just not going to be that big."

The brightest spots have been in the offensive backfield, the defensive secondary and the receiving corps. That is where the Harvesters have most of their returning starters.

"We're real green in the offensive and defensive lines and at linebacker," Williams concluded. "The kids are giving a good effort but we have a long ways to go."

The Harvesters spring game is slated for May 24 at 6 p.m. Another controlled scrimmage is set for next Saturday morning.

Indiana Wins 3rd ABA Title, 88-81

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Indiana won its third American Basketball Association title Saturday with an 88-81 victory over the Kentucky Colonels.

The Pacers used a tough defense to subdue the Colonels, who fell victim to the home court advantage in this series.

The Colonels, completely outplayed most of the game, came apart in the third period when they scored only 11 points, lowest ever in a playoff series.

Kentucky Coach Joe Mullaney, in his second season with the Colonels, made repeated changes in his lineup in an attempt to stall the Pacers' drive, but nothing worked.

In the closing minutes of the nationally-televised game a fan raced out on the floor and was hauled away by police. Seconds later another fan was ejected from Freedom Hall.

As the fourth period opened, Walt Simon hit a turn-around jump shot to cut the Indiana margin to 66-54. Big Artis Gilmore connected on a long shot from outside the circle to make it 66-56 for the Pacers, but Gus Johnson hit from the side, put the margin at 12 points and Indiana was never threatened thereafter.

George McGinnis of Indiana scored 27 points, was selected the most valuable player of the playoffs, and won a new automobile.

Smith To Meet Ashe

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Ken Rosewall, who twice beat Rod Laver for the World Championship of Tennis title, whipped his fellow countryman, 6-3, 6-2, Saturday for the $10,000 third place prize.

The 38-year-old Rosewall had only 10 hours rest from a grueling five-set loss to Arthur Ashe Friday night, but quickly took control over Laver, who appeared to be playing only half-heartedly following his defeat in the semifinals at the hands of Stan Smith.

Rosewall predicted that Smith will defeat Ashe in Sunday's nationally televised finals for the WCT $50,000 first prize.

"Arthur has a good record against Stan, but right now Stan is playing better than he's ever played," said Rosewall. "Stan may be at a bit of a psychological disadvantage with Arthur, but I definitely favor Smith."

ALL YOU GOT TO DO IS ASK Murray Olderman

The tipoff:

Dave Gowers, the most valuable player in the National Basketball Association, actually voted for Nate Thurmond of the Warriors as the guy who meant most for his team.

Q—If boxing bores Muhammad Ali, as I've read, what does interest him, besides Elijah the Prophet?—Jeremy Faulkner, Cincinnati, O.

A—Gadgets. Expensive ones. He's a car and phone freak. He has, among other vehicles, two Rolls Royces, a Lamborghini, and his pet, a $45,000 custom Bluebird bus. His phone bill, he says, sometimes runs to $700 a month. He has a battery hip pocket phone and an attaché case phone, anything that Don Ameche's successors have ever produced for Alexander Graham Bell. He has also invested $130,000 into his log camp in the Poconos. That's why, broken jaw and all, he can't afford to be bored.

Q—How much does pro football depend on television money?—Jack Pick, Denver, Colo.

A—The question should be, how much does television depend on pro football. Figures are getting staggering. Right now CBS pays $20 million, NBC $15 million and ABC $8.6 million to get in on the act. Add $1.5 million each for two Conference Playoffs and the Pro Bowl, plus $2.75 million for the Super Bowl and that comes to a round figure of $50 million. But CBS makes $5 million, NBC makes $3 million and ABC makes a whopping $7 million—which means a 30 per cent return on investment. Negotiations are already under way for new contracts (the old one runs out after this year), and the big concentration is on the lucrative Monday night package, sure to get a big boost. (ABC grosses $20 million in sponsor sales at $80,000 a minute.)

Q—I want to take up skiing, but I've heard it's dangerous—and expensive, too. Since I'm 41, is it really advisable?—Tom Belton, Rockford, Ill.

A—The biggest threat, at your age, may be apres-ski. Snug stretches can cause all kinds of flutters. Skiing, approached prudently, is no more dangerous than peeling a hard-boiled egg. Get good equipment, enroll in a good ski school and be in fair physical shape. Know your own limitations before you challenge the slopes. Yes, skiing is expensive (lift tickets alone run from $7 to $10 daily). What isn't? If you want to get a summer head start, go to Chile.

Q—How can I buy season tickets to the 49er games? I'm tired of being shut out year after year.—Pete Liebes, Redwood City, Calif.

A—Well, to start with, read the obituary lists in your daily newspaper and find out which season ticket holder didn't will his location to an heir. Actually, all you can do is write the club and ask to be put on a waiting list. Or else move to Buffalo, N.Y., where you can generally pick up a ticket for a December game.

Q—Is a time limit for shooting coming to college basketball?—Don Berg, Snohomish, Wash.

A—Very likely. It was used in the Big Eight this year. John Wooden, the influential UCLA coach, is all for it. "I thought we'd have it," says John, "when I was a member of the rules committee in the middle 1960s. Yes, could say why would I want to change, as well as we're doing. But I felt, long before we won a national championship, that the time limit would be great for basketball." It likely be 30 seconds, which is the international rule.

Q—Can I get anything out of going to a summer sports-camp besides a sunburn?—Jimmy Gebb, Los Angeles.

A—Autographs, for one thing, if you decide on camps run by such people as Joe Namath, Rick Barry, et al. Make sure the stars aren't just figureheads, that they'll really show. I lean to the established camps, such as run by Bob Cousy in New Hampshire. At the least, the fresh air'll do you good.

The biggest gripe of pro golfers on tour remains the length of time it takes to play a round. And the worst culprits are the young kids who grew up watching Jack Nicklaus stand over a putt.

Got a tough question about sports and the people who play them? All you got to do is ask Murray Olderman. Write him at (name and address of this newspaper). The most interesting questions will be answered in this column. Olderman regrets that he cannot write personal answers to all questions.

Rico Carty Is Having Worst Slump Of Career

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP)—Rico Carty, the self-styled Dominican Republic "Beeg Boy," admittedly is in the worst slump of his baseball career.

His 317 lifetime batting average is one of the highest among active Major League players, but he currently is floundering along at .179 with one home run and 9 RBIs.

His early season batting drop along with those of another new addition Mike Epstein and a few holdovers, has left the Texas Rangers with a winning percentage similar to the one that made them the worst team in the Major last year.

The major problem last season was in the hitting department and Carty was and is being counted on heavily to give the Rangers a new look on offense.

"But Rico's just not hitting like I know he is capable," says manager Whitey Herzog. "He cannot provide leadership unless he swings the bat."

Orlando Cepeda, who has found a new baseball career as the Boston Red Sox designated hitter, gave tribute to Carty recently calling him baseball's greatest hitter despite his slump.

"Look out when Rico starts hitting," said Cepeda.

"Maybe he (Cepeda) is too kind, but I know I can hit," said Carty. "I proved that before and I know I can hit."

Carty is very defensive about any mention of the injuries that have plagued his career almost

Coaches Name 24 Athletes To Teams

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The Texas High School Coaches Association named 24 players Friday for the annual High School Coaches basketball game.

The event will be in the Dallas Convention Center Aug. 1. Bo Snowden of Highland Park High School will coach the North squad and Reggie David of Midway High School, Waco, will coach the South.

Two players from each interscholastic League class are selected with two named at large for each team.

The teams:
North: Tate Armstrong, Spring Woods, Houston; Grant Dukes, Levelland; Gene Flippen, Evant; Jimmy Harvey, Morton; Larry Don Johnson, Mem-

Russians Win Last Game Easily, 109-87

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—The Russian Nationals wrapped up an eight-game basketball tour of the United States by outclassing the Lexington AAU squad—the national titleholders—109-87 Friday night.

A crowd of about 4,100 cheered Russian razzle-dazzle led by 6-foot-6 forward Aleksandr Shalnikov and blond, mustachioed, 6-9 Ivan Dvornii.

Tough, wiry Shalnikov drove with abandon, sinking shots from both corners on the way to his game-high 24 points. The massive 242-pound Dvornii fired in 22.

Six other members of the Russian squad hit between six and 12 points apiece.

"We've played teams that seemed about as good," said Lexington veteran Jim LeMaster. "But most teams hit spurts. These guys don't do that."

"They play on the same nice even keel all the time, and they never let up."

Tiny 5-9 George Bryant hit 23 points for Lexington with University of Kentucky stars Kevin Grevey and Jim Andrews adding 22 and 21.

Yanks Blank Baltimore, 8-0

NEW YORK (AP)—George Medich scattered nine hits and Bobby Murcer and Celerino Sanchez each clouted two-run homers as the New York Yankees trimmed the Baltimore Orioles 8-0 in a nationally televised baseball game Saturday.

Medich, 3-1, defeated Baltimore southpaw Mike Cuellar, who lost his fifth game in six decisions this season.

The Yankees staked their right hand to a 3-0 lead in the third inning on a sacrifice fly by Matty Alou and Murcer's homer, No. 5 on the year.

Roy White doubled, went to third on an error and scored on a wild pitch to spark a two-run Yankee fifth. The second run of the inning scored on Ron Blomberg's sacrifice fly.

A run-scoring single by Murcer and Sanchez' two-run homer capped New York's scoring in a three-run seventh.

Mets, Seaver Whip Bucs, 6-0

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Tom Seaver checked Pittsburgh on two hits and turned in his first shutout of the season as the New York Mets whipped the Pirates 6-0 Saturday.

Seaver had a 1-0 lead when the Mets broke the game open with two runs in the eighth and three more in the ninth.

Wayne Garrett had scored in the first inning after he singled, went to third on Felix Millan's single and came home on Cleon Jones' double-play ball.

weather 365 days a year in the Dominican Republic.

Carty also does not share the view of many that the designated hitter rule is a boom to his career.

"It's like coming up as a pinch-hitter four times a game. I don't feel like I am mentally in the game. Maybe it will help me later, because I might last longer, but now I don't like it. I guess I haven't made up my mind to be a pinch-hitter."

Carty said he is happy with the enthusiasm of Texas crowds, but expressed disappointment in their size.

The 6-5 Grevey had a tonsillectomy three weeks ago and had practiced only five days. "Grevey showed a helluva lot of guts," said Pat Doyle, co-coach of the Lexington team.

It was the 6-11 Andrews who took on Dvornii, blocking two shots by the Russian and sparking the AAU to several early seven-point leads.

The visitors pulled ahead 51-40 by halftime, though, and never looked back.

"The Russians were so devastating on the boards that there simply wasn't any inside game," Grevey observed. "Their strength and physical builds were something else."

The Russians opened their tour by beating a group of Utah players at Salt Lake City. In a six-game series against a U.S. all-star team coached by Bob Cousy, the Russians won two games and lost four.

Houston Cougars Will Return Ten On Defense

HOUSTON (AP)—What the University of Houston's defensive football team needed most in 1972 was fermentation.

Coach Bill Yeoman lost only one starter from his youthful defense last season and with spring training completed, he believes the aging process has been helpful.

"We were able to get in a lot more reps (repetitions of drills) this spring with less conversation," said Yeoman, who must replace five offensive starters.

"We had to find out how much a year's maturity meant to these kids, particularly on defense."

"Now they're getting to know what to do and their movements are surer. If we can get that much more improvement over the summer, we'll have a defense that can play decently."

Yeoman fielded his youngest team ever last year and the Cougars took their lumps, but for a 6-4 record and spent Christmas at home instead of getting a bowl bid.

But there is definitely more optimism this year and it is principally because some of the new has worn off.

"I'd say Marshall Johnson is a perfect example of the change in this team," Yeoman said. "Last year he dropped more passes than he caught. This year he didn't drop a pass."

There's also been a change in D. C. Nobles, UH's first black quarterback, who suffered growing up pains along with the rest of the youngsters.

D. C. has a much better grasp of the responsibilities of defenses," Yeoman said. "Last year, I don't think there was any certainty who was the No. 1 quarterback until mid-season. When that firmed up, that relaxed a lot of the pressure on him."

Houston's only graduation loss on defense was cornerback Randy Peacock. That leaves an experienced front four of senior Bill Stohler and former basketballers Mack Mitchell at ends and Steve George and Gerald Hill at tackles; Deryl McGallion, Bubba Broussard and Harold Evans at linebackers; Robert Giblin and Roger Mayes or Todd Williamson at cornerbacks and Jeff Bouche and Howard Ebow at safeties.

Yeoman's patchwork comes in on offense. The right side of the line, guard David Bourquin and tackle Luke Stungis is gone. So are wide receivers Robert Ford and Dell Stanley and 1972 leading ground gainer, running back Puddin' Jones.

Yeoman's re-plumbed offense

NATIONAL

The first game of the season in the National League was a 15-3 win by Dixie Parts over Holmes. Monty Walker was the winning pitcher.

Monty and Bobby Taylor had home runs for Dixie Parts. Freddie Lewis had a round-tripper for Holmes.

In Monday's last game Moose Lodge beat Celanese 10-1. Stiles was the winning pitcher. Daugherty and Kevin Hall hit homers for Moose Lodge.

Duncan Insurance slammed Cabot 19-7 in Tuesday's opener with Bud Holmes on the mound. Bud had a home run and a single in the game.

Other top hitters for Duncan were Addington (4 for 5) and Mickey Bynum (3 for 5). Mike Evans hit a home run for Cabot.

In Tuesday's second game Fatherree Insurance beat VFW 8-4. McGinnis was on the mound for Fatherree.

Thursday's first game saw Holmes get by Moose Lodge 6-4. Greg Koch got the win. K Hall homered for Moose Lodge.

Julian Clark garnered 10 strike outs in leading Celanese over Dixie Parts in a squeaker, 5-4, in Thursday's second tilt.

Duncan Insurance beat Fatherree 11-4 in Friday's opener with Chris Dixon getting credit for the victory. In the night-cap VFW edged Cabot 5-4. Boyd got the win and Mark Jennings homered for Cabot.

Kessinger Leads 3-1 Cub Win

CHICAGO (AP)—Shortstop Don Kessinger drove in two runs with a fourth-inning single to propel the Chicago Cubs to a 3-1 National League victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Saturday.

The Cubs' winning rally started with a one-out walk to Jose Cardenal. Ken Rudolph doubled followed to third and Kessinger followed with his single, only his third hit in his last 22 times at bat, to score both runners and give Chicago a 2-1 lead. The Cubs added their

Arkansas Is Enthusiastic But Very Inexperienced

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles paid dearly for the Razorbacks' enthusiasm this spring.

After almost every practice, the players would gather around Broyles, pounding on the coach and yelling as if the kickoff was only seconds away in Austin, Tex.

Enthusiasm, however, may not be sufficient. The Razorbacks have some talent, but are short on experience—the fifth-year seniors who have been there and know what it takes to win; the pressure tested athletes who are needed for the Sept. 15 opener against Southern California and for what follows.

"I think they've progressed further than most teams would have because of their enthusiasm, but with all our experience it was only natural for them to come so far," Broyles said. "Every year for the past 12 years, we've been favored to win all but one game or two. This year, I believe we will be the underdogs in at least seven games."

On the 22-player defensive chart at the end of spring, there were 13 sophomores, seven juniors and two seniors—linebacker Danny Rhodes and safety Mark Hollingsworth. Five of the top 11 on the depth chart are sophomores. Discounting the split receiver, there are six sophomores: four juniors and two seniors in the offensive line. Three of the upperclassmen are squadmen.

"Our offensive line is so green that I'd be in error no matter what evaluation I give," Broyles said. "I doubt that anyone on my staff could make one. We've got one part-time player returning in our interior line; everybody else is new. For that reason, it's going to hurry this football team to be ready for the first ball game."

Broyles says the defense will be unsettled going into the fall. "We are still shifting people at defensive end, and in the defensive line we've got one group which has played some and they are way ahead of everyone else," he said.

Ivan Jordan and Doug Yoder, both freshmen, finished the 1972 season as starters at defensive end, but Yoder has been switched to offense. Chuck Sims and Jon Riddlehoeover, both juniors, are ahead at the tackle spots because of their experience.

The defensive secondary should be improved with athletes like Floyd Hogan, Tommy Harris, Hollingsworth, Rollen Smith and Mark Miller.

Miller started the spring at quarterback, but was moved to defense when Scott Bull and Mike Kirkland came to the front.

Bull will be a junior and Kirkland a sophomore. Bull stepped in as a sophomore and guided the Razorbacks to a 24-14 season-ending victory over Texas Tech last year.

The White team, with Bull at quarterback, broke with tradition by winning both of the spring games.

"I'm pleased with the leadership at quarterback, which is the starting place for any team," Broyles said. "It's a most unusual situation in that our quarterbacks haven't had much practice time, only this spring, really. But they've shown ability and leadership."

Broyles says the fullbacks, Wayne Miles and Marsh White, have had good springs and that both are threats with the football.

Miles led all ball carriers in the first Red-White game with 80 yards on 13 carries. He added 114 yards on 18 carries in the second game.

"Scott Bull is a very fine competitor," Broyles said. "He has the knack of getting the ball across the goal. You'd be surprised and how effective he is at quarterback. On third down, he is gonna do it himself."

Kirkland is the better passer with the ability to throw soft or hard.

Apparently the Razorbacks are going back to the day of the running quarterback. They worked exclusively on the wishbone offense during the spring although there is a good chance they will wind up in the slot—I come September.

"The slot—I am more secure than the wishbone," Broyles said. "The risks are just not as great in the options."

No matter what the offense, Dickey Morton is sure to get the ball his share of the time. Morton rushed for more than 1,000 yards last year and was an All-Southwest Conference selection.

Broyles says the fullbacks, Wayne Miles and Marsh White, have had good springs and that both are threats with the football.

World War I ended 400 years of Turkish domination and set up the Middle East for the carving. The victors received their spoils and the British pledge of a 'national homeland' for Jews was still a dream.

His Majesty's Government views with favour the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people, and will use their best endeavours to facilitate the achievement of this object.

—Lord Balfour to Lord Rothschild

The British foreign minister, Balfour, in November of 1917 issued a public communication which established the British point of view toward Zionism and Palestine. The Balfour Declaration was not an unsolicited generosity on Britain's part, but the result of strenuous efforts by Dr. Chaim Weizmann and Lord Rothschild, who were somewhat more than prominent British Jews.

Rothschild, a member of the famous banking family, and Weizmann, a chemist who developed synthetic cordite, could be persuasive, particularly at a time when Britain was at war and had need of both money and explosives.

Dr. Weizmann, however, was under no illusions regarding the force of a piece of paper. He said that "a state cannot be created by decree but only by the forces of the people and in the course of generations. Even if all the governments of the world gave us a country, it would be a gift of words. But if the Jewish people will go and build Palestine, the Jewish state will become a reality and a fact."

Chaim Weizmann did his part. He served as president of the World Zionist Organization, the Jewish Agency for Palestine and, finally, the State of Israel, a post he held until his death in 1952.

And the Jews did build. Slowly. More land was purchased and more Jewish settlements, peopled with refugees from Asian and European pogroms, again began to blossom. Jews from around the world came with a dream. Many died of disease and starvation. Light Jews, Black Jews, European Jews, Oriental Jews from North Africa, Black Jews from Ethiopia, American Jews. They streamed into Palestine armed with the hope of leaders like Weizmann and Herzl.

Yet, as Weizmann had predicted, a mere declaration could not establish a nation. Besides, the British through the McMahon correspondence also offered guarantees of land to the Arabs.

After World War I, the Middle East was subdivided by the conquering nations through a series of treaties anchored in oil wells. The British accepted Palestine, Iraq and Trans-Jordan under League of Nations mandates; the French settled for Syria and Lebanon. Eventually, there might be that "national home for the Jewish people."

The Zionist emigration to Palestine did much to unsettle Palestinian Arabs, who could readily believe charges that the Jews had designs on their homes and holy places. Moreover, the egalitarian democratic approach to government disturbed the traditional master-serf arrangement between wealthy Arab land-owners and the Arab fellahin (peasants). And a continuum of violence, arson, bombings, ambushes and assassinations was launched.

The British, who were not prepared to stand by the sense of the Balfour Declaration (besides, they had an empire to preserve), did little to prevent the terror in their Mandate. So it was left to the Palestinian Jews to protect themselves.

The Water Safety Instructor course was completed May 4 with Norman Sanders instructing the class and Jack Chisum assisting.

Those who received their certificates were Larry Tracy from Wheeler, Andy Stephens and Donna Holland. Mrs. Jerry Carter, Mrs. Oran Carter, Virginia Etheredge, all from Pampa, took their Water Safety Review.

The Disaster Nursing Workshop was held in Pampa Wednesday with Mrs. Odell Woody from Lubbock instructing the class.

Those present were Martha Biglow, RN, Fritch; Patricia Anders, LVN, Borger; Elaine Presnell, Executive Secretary, Borger; Ann Osborne, Sismet; Wilma Deel, Borger; Margaret Riley, Executive Secretary, Perryton; Zita LaMasters, RN, Dumas; Libby Shotwell, Nell Carter, Francis Pope, RN, Judy Grimsley, RN, and Mary Cisneros, LVN, all from Pampa.

Mrs. James Trusty kept the office for the meeting.

The first Red Cross Board meeting will be May 15 at 7 a.m. in the Red Cross office and the breakfast will be complimentary. All new board members and those remaining on the board, with the chairman and officers, are urged to be present. The program will be orientation of board members.

Two car loads of young people with Mrs. Libby Shotwell went to the Children's Home at Panhandle Saturday evening, May 5. Games and supper was served to the children.

Those making the trip were Karen Killough, Kathy Kille, Glenna Norris, Karen Parrish, Brenda Parrish, Susan Parrish and Dorothy Watson.

Bill Lynch, Field Representative and disaster worker from Fort Worth, spent six days in Canadian and White Deer working with families affected by the disasters.

It may be of interest to all to know the National Red Cross spent $960 in rehabilitation, buying furniture, and putting these people back into homes when they lost everything they had in the flood waters of Red River Creek near Canadian.

Lynch also bought furniture, clothing, glasses and materials for one of the families in the White Deer tornado with an expenditure of $800.

Red Cross helps families who have no other resources to get back on their feet after a natural disaster. This is a grant made to the people, not a loan. We do emergency work and also rehabilitation work.

We have a new Red Cross Volunteer, Miss Nancy Gates, who will work Sunday afternoons on 1st, 3rd, 5th Sundays. We are happy to have Nancy work with us.

Red Cross Volunteers who are interested in working with the Handicapped Children School sponsored by the Presbyterian Church should call Mrs. F.W. Sloan, north of the city, at 668-2043 and register when you can help with this program.

An adult class in swimming on the Beginner, Advanced Beginner and Intermediate level will begin Monday, May 14, thru May 24. Classes will be from 9:30 - 10:30 a.m. Any interested adults can register when they arrive.

We urge all adults that have available time to come out and get these lessons before the summer begins.

Mrs. Sam White, Mrs. Betty Casebier, Mrs. Lee Baggerman, Jan Robertson and Mrs. Ruth Carter will be on hand to instruct these classes. Let's come out and learn to swim.

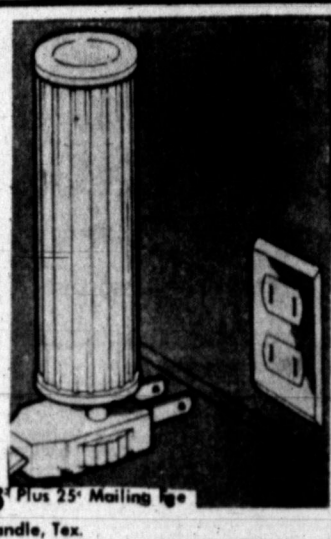

Poor Haiti

One of the most densely populated nations in the Americas, Haiti is also the poorest — a per capita income of less than $70 a year condemns most of the population to lives of poverty.

ELECTRONIC TV ANTENNA

This electronic miracle turns your ordinary house wiring system into a SUPER POWER TV ANTENNA. Brings in every channel sharp and clear without an expensive roof antenna or unsightly "rabbit ears." Attaches in seconds. Plugs into nearest wall outlet. No more ghosts, fuzzy images or jumping pictures... now you can have truly outstanding TV reception. Great for FM radios, too. Determined Man Heads Super Spy Organization

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the spring of 1945 allied demolition experts parachuted behind enemy lines in Norway and destroyed a rail line used by the Nazis to rush troops to the bitter fighting that marked the end of World War II.

The team was headed by William E. Colby, a 25-year-old, slightly built Princeton graduate with a record of daring clandestine missions in enemy-held territory.

Thursday, President Nixon selected Colby to head the nation's super spy organization, the Central Intelligence Agency.

Now 52, Colby brings to the job a reputation as a hard-minded expert who expects of his colleagues the same exact and determined pursuit of objectives that he demands of himself.

Persons who worked with him during his extensive Vietnam experience describe Colby as relatively cold and very quiet with an unassuming appearance that belies an unswerving firmness and unflinching nerves.

In addition to his determination, Colby is said by associates to have unlimited courage and unimpeachable integrity. This could be important at a time when the CIA and several of its agents, past and present, have been implicated in the Watergate and related scandals.

Vietnam is the keystone to Colby's experience and where he did his most important work.

He went there first in 1959 as the first secretary of the American embassy, serving until 1963.

He returned in 1968 in various high capacities in the Civil Operations and Revolutionary Development Support agency—CORDS. This was a semiclandestine operation to aid the Saigon government in the guerrilla war against the Viet Cong.

In their usual, evasive way, CIA officials refuse to discuss any role Colby may have played for the agency while serving in Vietnam, or in his earlier State Department experience in U.S. embassies in Stockholm and Rome.

Gas Company Cuts Back On Electric Fuel

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Coastal States Gas Producing Co., which had difficulty supplying customers during the winter, now has imposed its first warm weather natural gas curtailment of the year.

The cutback applies to San Antonio, Austin and the Lower Colorado River Authority.

The curtailment continued through the weekend and may extend into the week if the temperatures continue to approach the 90s.
