

Salvaging A Bonfire

High School students gathered wood at Webb Air Force Base this morning in an attempt to get enough together for another bonfire here tonight prior to Thursday's football game with Sweetwater. Some Sweetwater students "raided" the city last night and set fire to lumber which had been gathered for the bonfire and pep rally. The premature blaze took place about 1 a.m. this morning.

Hunt Outlines Proposed HCJC Building Program

An ambitious building program was outlined for Howard County Junior College Tuesday by President W. A. Hunt, who told trustees that "we've got to make up our minds to either build or limit enrollment."

Dr. Hunt said that HCJC facilities already are overcrowded with enrollment this year 45 per cent above that of 1953-54. If the facilities can be provided, the college will have an enrollment of 1,000 within five years, he predicted.

The HCJC president listed four "must" building needs and three other projects which he said were needed but not as urgently as the others.

Necessary to accommodate the growing enrollment, he said, are a science building, enlargement of the library, an addition to the present administration building to house the music department, and a new administration building, together with conversion of present administration facilities to classroom space.

Also needed are two dormitories and a new cafeteria, Dr. Hunt said. The old cafeteria building could be converted for use as classrooms or for other purposes.

No firm estimate was made as to cost of the proposed expansion and Dr. Hunt merely asked board members to give some thought to the matter. The topic probably can be discussed again at a subsequent meeting, he said.

Dr. Hunt pointed out that within the next five years the present overcrowding of public schools will be extending into the colleges. He said junior colleges are expected to absorb much of the load which otherwise would fall on four-year schools, many also having overtaxed physical facilities at the present.

Dr. Hunt said the HCJC curriculum is growing, but that there is no use in attempting to provide an expanded program unless plant facilities can keep pace. He said that many high school graduates residing outside of Big Spring have in the past indicated a desire to attend HCJC, but that boarding facilities are not available at a cost they can afford; hence the need for boys' and girls' dormitories and the cafeteria.

Discussion of the possible enlargement took up most of the trustees' meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The board also discussed appointment of a successor to the late Charles M. Adams, trustee who died Sept. 30. Mr. Adams was starting a six-year term on the board. A successor may be named at the board's next meeting, members said.

The planting of shrubbery and flowers in the triangle at the entrance to the campus was approved as was the payment of bills for September and October. Dr. Hunt was authorized to secure tentative bids on new desks and other furniture for the college.

Trustees voted to give a quantity of surplus of canned goods stored at the college to the Salvation Army. Dr. Hunt reported that choir robes have been received, and that the HCJC choir will wear the uniforms at its next public appearance.

B. M. Franks Charged In Wounding Of Cy Nabors

Cecil (Cy) Nabors, former justice of the peace, was shot in the leg last night during a gun fight at Third and Benton Streets.

The man who is accused of shooting him is B. M. Franks, charged in Justice Court with assault with intent to murder. Franks was released from custody this morning after waiving examining trial and posting $1,000 bond.

Nabors was shot about 7:40 p.m. and was rushed in an Eberly-River ambulance to Malone & Hogan Hospital. Though he had lost quite a bit of blood, his condition was reported as satisfactory.

The attending physician said that the bullet entered the calf of Nabors' left leg, apparently missing the bones. It was expected that Nabors would be released from the hospital today.

Police Chief E. W. York this morning stated Franks was arrested in his apartment shortly after the shooting. York said he found a .32 caliber pistol under Franks' mattress. There were nine spent .32 caliber shells at the scene of the fight.

Nabors had a .25 automatic on him at the time he was taken to the hospital, and one shell had been fired, York stated. One spent .35 caliber shell was found at the fight scene.

Nabors told Chief York that he and his boss, George Craft, had just left the latter's paint store at Third and Benton when the shooting occurred. He stated that he refused to talk to Franks, who had just driven up in an automobile.

Craft and Nabors were going west on Third Street when the first shell was fired. Nabors told Chief York a bullet entered the back of Nabors' leg.

Chief York said that apparently nine shells were fired from an automobile parked at the corner. Nabors and Craft ducked around the edge of the house, and Nabors fired one shot toward the automobile, it was reported.

The auto driver pulled away from the curb following the one shot and Nabors went to the paint store entrance where he fell in a pool of blood. Nabors just this month resigned from the post of Justice of the Peace.

Chief York stated that it is his understanding that there had been some ill feeling between Franks and Nabors for some time.

This announcement was made in City Commission meeting last evening by City Attorney Walton Morrison.

The city and schools have filed the suit against the two hospitals for collection of alleged back taxes. The hospitals claim exemption from the taxes because they have been organized as non-profit and charitable foundations.

Big Spring Attorney George Thomas will represent the Howard County Hospital Foundation when the suit comes to court. Phillips R. Overton of Austin and James Little of Big Spring will handle Malone & Hogan's case.

CIO Plans Welfare Fund Ethics Code

NEW YORK (U. S. A.)—A code of ethics aimed at stemming abuses in handling of union welfare funds is planned by the CIO.

Arthur Goldberg, CIO general counsel, said yesterday the proposed code would probably condemn commissions to any insurance broker not connected with an issuing union welfare plan policy.

He said formal recommendations for a code governing welfare fund administration would be presented to the CIO convention in Los Angeles next month.

McMORRIES DRAWS 5-YEAR SENTENCE

WITH HOMECOMING Full Thanksgiving Calendar Planned

Big Spring locks up shop this evening for observance of Thanksgiving—and with it the first homecoming in the history of Big Spring High School.

Sandwiched into a busy schedule but standing out as a major attraction will be the Big Spring-Sweetwater football game, a Thanksgiving grid classic that dates back nearly a quarter of a century.

The day opens appropriately with the union Thanksgiving service which has been a part of the community's observance for a score or more years. Chaplain Charles J. Fix of Webb AFB is to be the speaker at 10 a.m. in the First Methodist Church.

After dismissal of the worship service, the big colorful homecoming parade is slated through the sales are going rapidly at the school tax office. Although there may be some obliged to take standing room, no one who wishes to see the game will be turned away. Those who wish to use general admission tickets for end zone seats are asked to enter by way of the northeast gate.

There will be a variety of half-time activities, including crowning of the homecoming queen and presentation of an award to an old grad, Shine Phillips.

Exes will get together at 5 p.m. for a two-hour reception in the high school cafeteria. There is a possibility that four members of the class of 1957—five years before the Big Spring Independent School District was created and seven before there were graduates from the new district—may be present. They are Mrs. Bill Carnrike, Mrs. Mike Leeper, Tom O'Keefe and Bernard Fisher.

As festivities get under way with a homecoming assembly in the high school auditorium, another early graduate, A. C. (Coozie) Hayden, member of the first graduating class of the independent district, was to present A. A. Porter was to present members of the 1921 football team, which has all of its members still living and most of them in Big Spring.

Local schools closed down at 3 p.m. and the Howard County Junior College knocked off for the holidays as did all schools in the county. Schools will resume Monday, and in the meantime most administrators and many teachers are going to Fort Worth to the annual session of the Texas State Teachers Association.

All public offices, save those for emergency service, were closed down. Virtually all business houses were to be closed Thursday except a few food and service establishments.

Others on the program will be the host minister, Dr. Jordan Grooms, who will lead the worship; the Rev. Cecil Rhodes, West Side Baptist pastor, who will give

British Clerk Admits Spying For Commies

LONDON (U. S. A.)—A Scotland Yard Inspector testified today John Clarence, 27, a British clerk, admitted he spied on U. S. Navy headquarters in London as a voluntary agent of the Soviet Union.

At the close of a hearing in Magistrate's Court Clarence was ordered held for jury trial on two charges of obtaining and recording military information "calculated to be useful to an enemy."

Dewey's Mother Dies

OWASSO, Mich. (U. S. A.)—Mrs. Ann Dewey, mother of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, was found dead in bed at her home today.

Coroner William Scarlett said death was "no doubt" due to a heart attack.

Remington, Red Spy Case Prisoner, Dies Of Beating

LEWISBURG, Pa. (U. S. A.)—William Walter Remington, former U. S. Commerce Department economist convicted of lying when he denied handing over secret government documents to a Communist spy ring, died today at the federal penitentiary here after a mysterious beating.

The 37-year-old prisoner, serving a three-year term for perjury, was attacked viciously about the face and head Monday morning. The weapon: a piece of brick wrapped in a sock.

Remington underwent emergency brain surgery yesterday in an effort to save his life. He died 11 hours after the operation.

Acting Warden Fred T. Wilkinson disclosed the death, reported the identity of the assailant "is fairly well established" and then cut questions short with the remark: "Anything further must come from the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

FBI agent Norman McCabe at Philadelphia said his office is conducting an exhaustive inquiry but declined any information until the investigation is completed.

The 21-year-old Lewisburg penitentiary covers 27 acres, and the huge walled prison lies in the heart of a 900-acre federal reservation that includes a vast farm which supplies much of the institution's food. The prison houses approximately 1,500 inmates.

Remington, married twice and the father of three children, was convicted Jan. 27, 1953, and entered jail the following April 15. It was his second trial on charges of perjury, centering around his denial that he ever belonged to the Communist party or was associated with Red-connected groups.

In the prison with Remington was Alger Hiss, another top government aide also serving a perjury conviction sentence for lying, too, about past Communist party connections.

Hiss, jailed 3½ years ago, is scheduled to be released on parole Saturday.

Remington was assaulted in his dormitory room. Wilkinson said the dazed inmate was discovered by a guard "on the second floor stairway landing below his third floor dormitory quarters."

Remington's condition worsened, the prison physician, Dr. Leon Wilkins, summoned Dr. Charles Tomlinson, of nearby Milton, and an immediate operation was ordered.

Eugene Anderson, bidding for Anderson and Holbert, Builders, had submitted the high bid of $205.

Representatives of the Big Spring Independent School District were other bidders. The school board had considered purchase of the land as a site for an athletic stadium.

The four acre consists principally of a deep canyon, suitable for construction of a bowl-type athletic plant.

EARLY PAPER THURSDAY

Because of the Thanksgiving holiday, Thursday's Herald will be issued earlier than usual, for distribution at noon.

CHAPLAIN FIX

Union Service Set For 10 A.M. On Thanksgiving

The faithful of many congregations will pause Thursday at 10 a.m. to give voice to their gratitude on Thanksgiving Day.

Chaplain Charles J. Fix of Webb AFB is to bring the message for the traditional union service sponsored by the Big Spring Pastors Association. This year's services will be held in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church.

Crowds have been increasing yearly for these services, and members of the association are anticipating several hundred participants. The offering taken at the service will go toward the support of the high school Bible course wholly financed by the association and churches represented in the association.

Chaplain Fix is to speak to the subject, "The Supreme Reason for Thanksgiving."

Others on the program will be the host minister, Dr. Jordan Grooms, who will lead the worship; the Rev. Cecil Rhodes, West Side Baptist pastor, who will give

Jurors Reach Quick Decision

SWEETWATER — James McMorries, former Martin County judge, was found guilty by a 32nd District Court jury here at 1:20 p.m. Wednesday of theft of Grady School District funds.

His punishment was recommended at five years in the state penitentiary. The jury deliberated less than 30 minutes, upon its return from lunch, in reaching a verdict.

The jury had received the case at 11:50 a.m. District Judge A. S. Mauzey completed presentation of the charge at 10 a.m. and told the jurors that if they found the defendant guilty they should assess his punishment at from two to 10 years in the penitentiary.

Judge Mauzey said in his charge the jurors should consider only the first count in the indictment, the one charging the former judge and ex-officio school superintendent with misappropriating $175.40 in funds of the Grady School District.

While the charge was being read, McMorries stared steadily at the judge, and leaned back in his chair with his head resting on his arm at the back of the chair.

Members of the McMorries family were present, but there were only about 30 other spectators. Elton Gilliland, former district attorney for the 11th Judicial District, from which the case was transferred, offered the first arguments for the prosecution.

Discussing certain points of the case, Gilliland said that the check drawn on the Grady School was marked as payment for merchandise for the school. Except for the fact that the bookkeeper, J. A. Southwestern Fixture Company pencilled a notation on the face of the check, McMorries "would have gotten by with it," Gilliland said.

The state attempted to show that McMorries had drawn the check to pay for equipment for Western Cleaners, a firm the ex-judge operates in Stanton.

He took a calculated risk, he knew what he was doing, he now can have no complaint when you gentlemen send him down to the penitentiary where he belongs," Gilliland argued to the jury.

Defense Attorney John Crutchfield, a member of the law firm of Scarborough, Yates, Scarborough and Black, which represents McMorries, made the initial argument for the defendant. He called attention to the law's requirement that the jury must determine that McMorries had intended to steal the money at the time the check was written.

Crutchfield also emphasized that if the jury determined that McMorries had taken the money under "an honest claim of right" that it should acquit him. The defense attorney said that on June 1 when the county was unable to meet its payroll, the inability was due to the fact that commissioners had not received a report from the county treasurer since Jan. 1.

Davis Scarborough, the other defense attorney, asked the jury to permit McMorries to eat Thanksgiving dinner with his wife and four children Thursday. He charged that Gilliland "has sought by innuendo and a lot of stuff that had no bearing on the case to prejudice you against this defendant."

Concluding for the prosecution,

Eldon Mahon, 32nd District Attorney asked, "Is James McMorries entitled to eat Thanksgiving dinner with his wife and four children?"

"There is a sympathetic angle in all cases. We can't allow sympathy to step in the place of justice," he said.

Mahon referred to McMorries as "one of those 'I'll-get-mine-boys'" upon whose face a "smirking smile" had appeared during the trial.

He asked for the maximum verdict of 10 years because, he said, "this is an aggravated case."

"The verdict you return in this case is the price tag you will place on dishonest public officials," Mahon told the jury as Scarborough arose to call the court's attention to the fact that Mahon's time had elapsed.

Judge A. S. Mauzey carried the trial into a night session Tuesday night. McMorries, who had been on the witness stand when the court was recessed Tuesday afternoon, was the only one heard during the night session.

And it was a weary and worn McMorries who stepped down from the witness chair. For almost an hour he had undergone a hammering from Prosecutor Elton Gilliland who was trying to establish that McMorries had practiced fraud and deceit in drawing a check for $175.40 on the Grady School funds to pay a personal debt.

It looked like a trying period, too, for Davis Scarborough of Abilene, defense counsel. "Come down, James," he said, when Gilliland announced his questioning of the former Martin County judge was at an end. It wasn't too warm in the courtroom but Scarborough was the only man inside the rail who had removed his coat.

McMorries, who was indicted in Martin County, is on trial here on a charge of theft of $175.40 of Grady School funds on a charge of venue. Also pending against him are 13 other indictments, each of them charging felony theft of public funds. The next of these cases has been set for trial Dec. 6.

The facts in the case are that McMorries purchased equipment

Ike Takes Hand In Peiping Case

WASHINGTON (U. S. A.)—President Eisenhower said today everything "humanly possible within peaceful means" is being done to obtain the release of 15 Americans sentenced to prison as spies by the Chinese Communists.

This word from the President, expressed through press secretary James C. Hagerty, went to the mother of one of the American airmen.

Hagerty told newsmen that after talking to Eisenhower he (Hagerty) telephoned Mrs. Burley L. Baumer at Lewisburg, Pa., and gave her the message from the Chief Executive.

WASHINGTON (U. S. A.)—The United States announced last night it will lodge "the strongest possible protest" against Chinese Communist prison sentences given to 15 Americans who dropped out of sight during the Korean War.

"Utterly false," the department said of spying charges which Peiping gave as the basis for prison terms ranging from four years to life.

"The U. S. government will continue to make every effort to effect the release of these men who have been unjustly 'sentenced' to further periods of imprisonment," the department said.

In a separate statement, the Defense Department said the airmen

"illustrates again the bad faith, insincerity and amorality which have characterized Red China's conduct of its international relations."

It said, "The Chinese Communists... are holding the American servicemen as political prisoners in violation of international law, the rules of war and the Korean armistice agreement."

The State Department said the U. S. consul general at Geneva, Franklin C. Gowen, "is being instructed to emphatically protest... the continued wrongful detention of these American citizens." Geneva is the United States' only official contact with Red China, which it does not recognize.

Eleven of the men involved were crew members of a U. S. B-24 shot down Jan. 12, 1953. The United States announced Aug. 19 that 15 American airmen missing in the Korean War were known to be alive. It contended they were being held by the Reds as political prisoners.

The government said these 15 were among a total of 500 Americans missing and demanded a helping accounting and their return, dead or alive.

The downed B-24 had been commanded by Col. John K. Egan, Jr., of Silver Spring, Md., said by

WATER, SEWER EXTENSIONS OKAYED

City Told Buildings Encroach On Street; Zone Is Changed

Surveys of Owens Street between Third and Fourth show that three houses and a service station have been constructed in street right-of-way. It was revealed in City Commission meeting last evening.

Commissioners directed that the property owners be notified immediately of the encroachments. They also announced approval of contracts for water and sewer lines in both the College Park Estates Addition and the Ward Hall Addition. A zoning change for construction of Furr's Food Store on Eleventh Place was okayed, as was the plat of the Anderson Addition.

Other discussions centered on paving, parking, beer selling zones, and the possibility of opening Second Street across the entire city.

The survey between Third and Fourth on Owens was taken as a result of the Fourth Street curbing which has been installed for the highway, City Manager H. W. Whitney said.

Commissioners indicated that property owners will not be asked to move the structures back on their lots immediately. However, Manager Whitney is to write registered letters to all pointing out the encroachment and explaining that moves possibly will be necessitated in the future.

The College Park Development

Company (H. S. Moss) posted with the city $3,033.50 for sewer construction and $7,299.50 for water line extension in the College Park Estates Addition just east of Birdwell Lane.

The city accepted a contract for installation of the lines but gave the company the option of first having the addition plat approved if desired. Commissioners generally agreed that the plat should be accepted prior to approval of line installation.

Ward Hall posted $6,425.05 with the city for its share of an eight-inch water main which is to be installed around the east and north sides of his addition. The city agreed last week that Hall should pay half the cost of installation bordering his addition, and the contract was approved last evening.

Recommendation of the City Planning and Zoning Commission that the south half of block 25, Cole and Strayhorn Addition, be changed to community business zone was approved. (This is the 900 block between Eleventh Place and Twelfth Street.)

City commissioners followed the zoning board's recommendation even, further stipulating that Furr Food Store must have a six-foot fence in back to cut off the view from residents on Twelfth Street. Furr's must also have controlled entrances on Eleventh Place which meet Citizens Traffic Commission Approval.

Final approval of the Anderson Addition, which borders the Hall addition on the west, was given last night. Houses are to be constructed in the addition in the near future.

Paving of Benton Street (Snyder Highway) between Third and Fourth was also discussed last night. Commissioners agreed that the paving will be necessary to form a connecting link with both arteries of Highway 86.

Manager Whitney was authorized to collect money from property owners in the block for curbing and gutters. The city will install the curbing and gutters when the money is secured, and the Highway Department will later contract for paving.

The Highway Department is also expected to submit a project for installing curbing and gutters along the eastern end of the Fourth Street, Highway artery in the recently annexed area. This will enable money to be collected for the installation, which cannot be effected until the present highway contract is approved.

Commissioners last night gave the go ahead signal for negotiations with Earle Road for Second Street right-of-way across his land on the west side of town. Right-of-way will also be secured from the Texas and Pacific Railway across a small strip it owns.

If right-of-way across these two strips is secured, the city will be able to open Second Street all the way across the city.

Some work will get under way on clearing the east end of Second Street in the near future, but it will be limited, commissioners agreed. A small amount of dirt will be moved to make a fill on adjoining land.

A loading zone was requested in front of Elrod Furniture Company, because the manager complained that his pickup was being ticketed for overparking too often. Commissioners pointed out that the pickup could not be "parked" in a loading zone anyway.

W. O. Leonard submitted a request that tickets not be placed on his personal car when he is on county business of serving citations. However, the commissioners stated the only cars which are not ticketed are government vehicles which contain exempt tags. Leonard's petitioned the commission again for extending the wet zone out the Lamesa Highway so that he can sell beer at his establishment, located in the 800 block.

The wet zone ends at the north boundary of Fifth Street, and commissioners refused to consider an extension. Leonard claims that "alcoholism" were made for Morley Grill, but City Attorney Walton Morrison advised commissioners that all but 20 feet of the grill is in a wet zone making the selling of beer in the entire establishment practical.

Plans of the United Industries Life Insurance Company—still in process of organization—to establish a home office in Big Spring were outlined before a crowd of some 65 business representatives Tuesday night.

Several speakers discussed the new company's proposals and what a home office could mean to the city. The session was held at the Settles Hotel.

Already chartered and selling stock is the United Industries Underwriting Corporation. This concern would be a holding company for the insurance company and money invested in it would be used to purchase stock in UI Life as well as in a portfolio of other old legal reserve life insurance companies.

Tom Helton, president of the Underwriting division, outlined hopes of his group to establish the insurance office here, and said final decision would rest largely upon stock acceptance in Big Spring.

The company's goal of having $50 million of life insurance in force the first year was detailed by Robt. E. Bowling of Fort Worth, consultant on the organization and proposed president of the life insurance company. Bowling has been in the insurance business for 25 years, affiliated with several major companies both as a production and administrative man. He said at the end of 10 years the company should have $150 million in its books, representing premium income of four and a half million dollars a year.

He pointed out that a company of such size would employ from 200 to 400 people, and would be a substantial factor in bringing bank deposits to the city. He could not estimate the actual number of employees needed at the start of operations, which he said was contemplated in about six months.

Legal aspects of the insurance companies was outlined by Paul Wommack, Houston attorney. He cited publicly given various insurance operations in Texas in recent months, but reminded that no legal reserve life insurance company had failed with any loss to policyholders.

An oil man from Fort Worth, J. V. Howell, spoke on the potential for life insurance companies in West Texas. As an investor in insurance securities himself, he said he felt they represented better returns than those available in any other investments. The real test of an insurance investment, he said, is adequate capitalization and honesty and integrity of the management.

Others spoke briefly and there were several questions from the floor about organizational plans.

Four automobile accidents were investigated by police officers Tuesday afternoon and this morning. No one was seriously injured, officers stated.

Jimmy A. Welch, 1111 E. 5th, was shaken up a bit this morning following a collision at 4th and San Jacinto involving his car and one driven by Charles E. Kescicker of Webb AFB. Welch's car overturned.

About 7:30 a.m. today, R. M. Thomas, 1208 College Avenue, and Leslie Robert Merrifield, 1405 Stadium, were drivers of vehicles which collided at Fifteenth and Settles.

Bryant N. Burroughs, 809 Galveston, and Ramon Gamboa Martinez, Coahoma, drove cars which were in an accident at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the 700 block of San Antonio.

The other collision occurred at 3:25 p.m. Tuesday at Second and Gregg. Drivers were Leroy Todd, 609 NE 10th, and Clem A. Dahse, 1105 Eleventh Place.

Courthouse offices were close for funeral.

Courthouse offices were to close at 2:45 p.m. today for funeral services for Mrs. R. E. Slaughter, 84, mother of Sheriff Jess Slaughter, Tom Slaughter, and Mrs. A. B. Devereaux of Big Spring and Mrs. Dave L. Peterson of Caldwell, Idaho.

Services were to be conducted at 3 p.m. at the Eberly-River Chapel with the Rev. P. D. O'Brien, First Baptist pastor, officiating. Interment was to be in the Masonic section of the City Cemetery beside the grave of Mr. Slaughter who died in 1948.

Mrs. Slaughter died at her home here Monday morning. She had lived in Howard County since 1899.

Palbearers were to be W. L. Wilson Jr. and E. L. King of Lamesa, and P. M. Cummings, Tom Good, Travis Reed, Robert Ashbury, Charlie Creighton and E. W. Love.

Cakes Reported Taken From Bakery Truck

Theft of cakes from a bakery truck was reported to police Tuesday evening by Earl Prescott, 1034 W. 10th. Prescott said that about 25 boxes of cake were taken.

Mrs. Tot Stalcup reported someone attempted to break into her car at 1109 Lloyd Avenue, officers said. There was also a break-in reported at 100 N. Benton about 4 p.m. yesterday, but nothing could be found missing.

Rotary District Governor Visits Big Spring Club

Jerry Debenport of Odessa, district governor for Rotary Clubs in West Texas, Tuesday challenged Big Spring Rotarians to develop the possibilities of the Rotary motto of "Service Above Self."

Debenport said Rotary International will attempt to make the motto a "universal law" during the organization's golden anniversary observance which starts next Feb. 23.

The district governor was in Big Spring for his annual official visit to the club. He also was present Monday evening for the annual club assembly, at which last year's program was reviewed and future activities were discussed.

The coffee shop has been closed for several months. It was damaged by fire last spring.

Elks also voted to form an Explorer Scout Post in connection with the Negro Boy Scout Troop it sponsors. Club leaders said many of the Scouts are reaching the explorer age, creating the need for the explorer post.

McMORRIES TRIAL

for the Western Cleaners, a dry cleaning and men's furnishings shop he operates in Stanton, from a Dallas firm. The purchase amounted to $175.50. When pressed for payment McMories, who also was ex officio school superintendent last May before his resignation, and who signed all Grady School District checks, used one of these checks in an amount 40 cents less than the invoice to pay the debt to the Dallas fixtures company.

A grand jury investigator found the check last summer, presented it to the grand jury and an indictment was returned.

McMories contended in his testimony here today that the Grady School owed him the sum of $202.92 for travel he had done for the school in connection with a bond issue. Members of the school board who also appeared as witnesses yesterday said McMories had never made a claim for this money, although the travel was alleged to have been done several months ago.

The defendant told the jury that on May 23, 1954, he went to Lenora to see Grover Springer, president of the school board, for the purpose of presenting his claim and collecting the money but that he was unable to find Springer.

The defendant said he had thought of that and then explained that he was in a hot campaign for re-election as county judge. He told Gilliland he was afraid if he had made the check payable to himself somebody would have found it and used it against him in that campaign.

"Then you also used that check to deceive the voters of Martin County didn't you?" Gilliland asked quickly.

McMories admitted it could be considered in that light.

"But," he insisted, "I contend that money belonged to me, they owed it to me."

"It didn't belong to you at the time," he said.

"No, it was their money on deposit, but they owed me."

On the witness stand last night McMories spoke in a low even voice. If he was angry with the damaging thrusts being made by the prosecutor he didn't reveal it. From time to time he swung around in the swivel-based witness chair so he could face the jury and directed his answers toward them. On occasion he spoke to them as "Gentlemen."

He answered both his own attorney and the prosecutor as "Mister Springer" or "Mister Gilliland." Only once did he forget himself and speak to the prosecutor as "Elton." Dressed in a neat gray suit and blue tie, his poise and usual calmness were evident. He seemed to be in control of himself and his answers.

He continued even voice McMories insisted on outlining the highway and school progress made by Martin County during his administration. Following this Gilliland was able to prove by the testimony of the defendant himself, the great increase in Martin County's indebtedness and the financial condition of the county on June 1, 1954, when the county was unable to meet its payroll.

Grief In A Turntable Pit

Initial Big Spring High School Annual (That Of 1907) Found

Preparations for the first homecoming of Big Spring High School have brought to light the first yearbook ever issued by the school.

The tiny 32-page edition issued in June of 1907 was uncovered by Mrs. Lee Rogers. It bears the inscription of the "High School Annual, Big Springs Public Schools, Vol. 1."

In commenting on homecoming activities, Supt. W. C. Blankenship remarked that copies of most of the annuals were on file, including what he thought was the first one in 1916. Mrs. Rogers thought she had seen an older book than that among the family belongings. She came up with the rare find. Her father, the late S. A. Hathcock, incidentally, was a member of the board of trustees at that time.

The annual came a lot cheaper than yearbooks now—40 cents. Moreover, the editors noted in a preface that "if you do not like our effort, remember the little you did to make this magazine a success."

The foreword recalled that "a few years ago there were five teachers, small enrollment and one wooden school building; there are now eleven teachers with a superintendent, an enrollment of 750 pupils and two new school buildings. . . . They are heated with hot air and have all the modern equipments of a progressive school. The high school building is valued at $22,000."

Big Springs (it had an a then) High School was affiliated with the University of Texas. A&M College and Southwestern University, the latter having volunteered affiliation.

At another point the yearbook raised the question of "why go to school." Several young people were being sent East to preparatory schools at a cost of $3,000 per annum when at home "pupils get the best instruction money can secure. The University of Texas has graded the Big Springs High School to equal exactly the high schools of Abilene, El Paso, Waco, Cameron and Fort Worth. She has a better standing . . . than 35 other high schools. It is absolute foolishness to send Big Springs boys and girls off before graduation; it is catering to thoughtless children who wish it to be said that they have 'been off to college.'"

Annie Schrock was editor of the annual. Other staff members included Raleigh Davis, Clyde Scott, (Miss) Ray Doyle, Reba Coffey (now Mrs. Clyde Thomas Sr.), and (Miss) Spencer Leatherwood. Seniors were Helen Sawyer, the valedictorian, Miss Shrock, the salutatorian, Estelle Glascock (the late mother of Mrs. Obie Bristow), Phyllis Peake, Bonnie Leatherwood (the late Mrs. H. Noble Read). It is reported Shine Phillips was to have been a member of the class but departed school at the request of Prof. S. E. Thompson, superintendent.

Pictured with one of the classes is the young high school principal, Clyde E. Thomas. The likeness would almost pass for that of his eldest son, Dr. Clyde E. Thomas, Big Spring.

The yearbook is dedicated to J. Potton, who for 12 years had been a member of the board and was its president. Other trustees were A. G. Hall, S. A. Hathcock, W. H. Homan, S. H. Morrison, B. H. Duncan, and L. T. Deats. All are deceased. The high school faculty consisted of Prof. Thompson (a

Woman Charged In Child's Death Sent To Hospital

EBENSBURG, Pa. (U)—Mrs. Eileen Bell, 28, who is charged with murder in connection with the rat poisoning death of her 2½-year-old daughter, Ruth Ann, was ordered taken to Torrance State Hospital today.

State police say Mrs. Bell, the mother of five children, admitted putting rat poison on a piece of bread Nov. 10, then having another child give the bread to Ruth Ann because she was hungry and cried.

Judge Jvan McKenrick and George W. Griffith ordered the woman committed to the mental institution for 90 days after two physicians examined her.

Mrs. Bell was a "low type moron who tortured her children . . ." the physicians reported.

William Bell, Mrs. Bell's 26-year-old husband, is charged with assault and battery with intent to kill and is being held under $10,000 bail.

His case is scheduled to be presented to the grand jury next month. State police said he beat his 3-year-old son Robert while the boy was hanging from a door in a duffel bag and put the boy's feet in scalding water.

Mexican Big Bend Park Is Proposed

MEXICO CITY (U)—Talks which the U. S. Embassy called "informal" are scheduled to begin here tomorrow on plans of Mexico and the United States to develop an international recreation center on the Texas-Mexican border.

The proposal calls for a Mexican counterpart of the Big Bend National Park in Texas and is an outgrowth of the recent meeting of Texas representatives and officials from four bordering Mexican states.

Particularly in the areas involved, Mexican reaction to the plan has been reported generally good. Other sections are interested because it is felt such a park would lure free-spending American tourists who might continue their trips on into the interior.

Latin Economic Conference Studies Proposals For Aid

By REGINALD L. WOOD

QUITANDINHA, Brazil (U)—Delegates to the Inter-American Economic Conference prepared today to thresh out a score of proposals aimed at Latin-American development. Most of them would involve greater U.S. aid to southern neighbors.

In lengthy speeches yesterday outlining their needs, delegates agreed they should get more help but they had not decided how to talk Uncle Sam into it.

One of the more concrete programs yesterday was outlined by Jorge Prat, Chilean treasury minister. It called for creation of an inter-American fund, drawing its capital from resources Latin-American nations have cached in foreign banks, bonds and credits.

A survey among the 250 delegates and advisers at the conference indicated that while many consider the Chilean proposal interesting, some agree with the U.S. contention that the resources of the international finance corporation proposed recently by the World Bank governors, together with funds available from the Export-Import and World banks are adequate to meet their needs.

Another Chilean proposal calls for organization of a commodity commission to provide a buffer between Latin-American producers and U.S. consumers. The commission would negotiate the sale of surpluses.

It is generally believed the United States will oppose this idea because it wants a free hand to deal directly with individual nations.

The Latin Americans generally cheered a new Washington plan—the "policy of the good partner"—outlined by U.S. Secretary George Humphrey.

Assuring the other nations of U.S. sympathy toward their needs, Humphrey said President Eisenhower's administration agreed "that substantial foreign lending will be necessary if we are to achieve our goals in this hemisphere."

"We shall do our part generously and loyally in meeting that need," he promised.

Undertaker Wins Fight For License

OKLAHOMA CITY (U)—The undertaker who handled bad man Billy Cook's funeral then lost his license over the publicity won a fight for its reinstatement yesterday.

The State Supreme Court reversed a decision of the board of embalmers and funeral directors, and the Stephens County District Court, which suspended Glenn E. Boydston's license for three years. Boydston, of Comanche, had been charged with "gross malpractice."

Although the first U. S. fountain pen patent was issued in 1830, such pens were not considered practical until the 1880s.

City School Tax Collections Good

Tax collections for the Big Spring School District are the best ever, at this stage of the season, and still more are expected to come in before the two per cent discount goes off midnight Nov. 30.

Total received this fiscal year amounts to $384,606.56, said J. O. Hagood, tax collector-assessor.

Of this amount, $37,505.92 is on the current roll, or 80.5 per cent of the total levy. This, said Hagood, is the highest percentage on collection on a current roll for this time of the year.

Distribution of the current collections shows $274,763.58 to local maintenance (operations) and $91,842.95 to interest and sinking fund. Discounts allowed aggregate $11,244.39, which exceeds the $10,841.64 allowed altogether last year.

Delinquent collections have reached $6,970.64, a good start on the total estimated back taxes collections of $10,000 for the fiscal year.

All payments received (or postmarked) before midnight Nov. 30 will be credited with a two per cent discount, said Hagood. After

TB Association Has Been Helpful And Now It Needs Help From You

More than 5,000 letters have gone into the mail asking that the recipients purchase Christmas Seals. Proceeds go chiefly to the Howard County Tuberculosis Association with the exception of a minor amount for expense of seals and mailing and a modest amount for the state association.

Thus, the big end of what you give in return for these traditional seals goes directly into work on a local level.

And, we would like to take this opportunity to tell you that in our opinion your money is being and will be invested wisely.

On the record, the local association has done an outstanding job during the past year. Under a new policy by which local chapters assume responsibility of medical care for TB victims during the three to six months before openings occur at the state sanatorium and the six months probation after discharge from the sanatorium, our unit spent $1,000 more than it took in last year. This was done in the faith that people, knowing the facts would respond and take up the slack.

The chapter made possible the mass X-ray program which resulted in 6,400 people securing free chest X-rays. It provided 4,000 tuberculin tests to ferret out any positive reactors in the local schools. It gave a microscope to the TB nurse training program. It pledged $100 per year toward maintaining a vocational rehabilitation counselor to teach TB victims means of making a living in view of their new physical condition.

Our association has been extremely active and helpful. Now it needs your help.

Railroads, After Modernization Program, Still Pointing Ahead

"Steelways," published by the American Iron and Steel Institute, asks and answers a question in its current issue, "Where Are the Railroads Going?"

Steelways has a rather elaborate answer but it all boils down to this: Places. The American railroads have modernized to within an inch of your life, but you ain't seen nothing yet. Now, with the dew scarcely dry on all those handsome new diesel-electrics (and with gas turbines maybe just around the corner) the railroads are squaring off to contemplate still another means of moving passengers and freight from here to there: nuclear power.

The atomic engine is still a long way off, the magazine concedes, but the gas-turbine locomotive—"second cousin to the jet plane"—is already a reality. The Union Pacific has 10 in service with 15 more coming up on order.

In case you hadn't noticed it, American railroads have been carrying out a modernization program ever since the war ended that eats up money at the rate of $1 billion a year. It includes everything from cross-ties to astradomes. Ready for production is a "sleeta" car with sleeper facilities at little more than coach fares. Talgo trains—low and lightweight—such as already have appeared in Europe are on the way; both the New Haven and the Rock Island expect soon to put this type train in service.

New passenger cars, including many with full-length "skylight" domes, are pouring out of the shops every month. Built-in air conditioning is becoming standard equipment. Piggyback service—highway trailers loaded on flat cars and delivered with their freight to consignees at destination—will become commonplace.

The oldtime track gangs—the gandy dancers—are being replaced with steel machines. In 1944 diesels moved three per cent of the freight and eight per cent of the passengers, today they make up 80 per cent of all railroad motive power. Only three years ago there were 4,100 radio telephone stations in railroad use; today, 14,712. The railroads are moving!

How Reds Got In Government; Go Back To A Meeting In 1942

The slogan "Who promoted Perest?" is not to be ignored. For a long time the question of who let the Communists in to our government has been asked but never answered.

In one of the Jenner Committee reports, Part 18 of the "Interlocking Subversion in Government Departments" series, appear the minutes of a Navy Department meeting held May 19, 1942. Present were: The Secretary, Mr. Frank Knox; the Assistant Secretary, Mr. Ralph A. Bard; Vice Chief of Naval Operations, Vice Adm. F. J. Horne; Rear Adm. T. S. Wilkinson; Rear Adm. S. C. Hooper; Rear Adm. Adolphus Statten; Capt. J. B. W. Waller; Lt. Comdr. F. C. B. Jordan; Lt. Comdr. F. G. Caskey; Lt. K. Baarslag.

The problem under discussion was the employment of Communists as radio operators and as members of Defense Communications Board committees. The minutes report the following:

"Admiral Hooper then stressed the danger of Communist party cells in the transportation and communications industries and in the armed services, and how the Communist party was striving with all its power to establish such cells. He said it was an obvious and primary military principle that these cells should not be allowed to exist for a minute in military or naval units; that the commercial communications systems were an important and integral part of the military and naval communications networks; and that it, therefore, became a duty of those officers in the Navy Department that were charged with the security of Naval communications to bring the gravity of the situation to the attention of the Secretary."

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox was a Republican member of Mr. Roosevelt's Cabinet. He effectively vetoed Admiral Hooper's objections to employing Communists and what he said must be applied to all departments of government. This is from the official minutes of this meeting which occurred on May 19, 1942.

"The Secretary then spoke and said that he had no brief for the activities of the Communist party, but that the President had stated that, considering the fact that the United States and Russia were allies at this time and that the Communist party and the United States efforts were now bent toward our winning the war, the United States was found to not oppose the activities of the Communist party, and specifically, to not disapprove the employment of any radio operator for the sole reason that he was a member of the Communist Party or that he was active in Communist Party affairs. The Secretary further stated that this was an order and must be obeyed without mental reservation."

Further in the minutes this is stated: "The Secretary repeated the order from the President and reiterated that it must be obeyed by all officers without mental reservation. Rear Admiral Hooper answered by saying that in the Navy an order from a superior officer was always obeyed without mental reservation and that he certainly had none. However, upon receipt of the order, which he had considered ill-advised, he had felt it his duty to so state and to bring out the facts."

In a word, the order to admit Communists into the government came directly from the President of the United States, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

This testimony does not come from a senator or an anti-Communist agitator; it is from a formal naval document duly signed and approved. Admiral Statten testified that the minutes accorded with his recollection of the meeting. The following colloquy is historically important: "Mr. Grimes, Admiral, before I ask you about that (meeting), I would like to ask you whether or not, to your knowledge, anyone saw a written memorandum from the White House?"

"Admiral Statten, Yes, sir. I did. I had it in my hand but I couldn't keep it."

There is considerable further testimony which is of historic value as pointing to how the Communists got into the government, but it is not necessary to give it here as it all corroborates the fact that it was done by order of the President of the United States.

Advance Of Science

BLACKSBURG, VA. (U.S.)—Science which is causing people to live longer, is shortening the life of brooding sows chickens.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture says it took an average of 88 days to bring chickens to brooding life in 1917. But by 1952, because of advances in breeding, nutrition and disease control, such chickens reach market age in 72 days.

Military Stalemate Doesn't Indicate Russia Or Ourselves Will Stand Still

WASHINGTON (U.S.)—The United States and Russia may be reaching that point in developing their hydrogen bombs where neither will want to get into a war which might mean the annihilation of both.

But a military stalemate between the West and Russia doesn't mean either will stand still. Neither can afford to. The undeveloped areas of the earth are huge. The people living in them can be numbered in the hundreds of millions.

Neither the West nor Russia can sit idle while the other tries to win over those millions of people with their vast land and resources.

No doubt the Communists—as they showed in Korea—will try to take over by invasion where they think the West will let them get away with it. Where the Communists can't use direct military means, other weapons are handy.

They can use internal subversion and propaganda—based on promises, appeals to nationalism, and the wretched lives and living conditions of the people in the backward areas—to win with intrigue and words what they can't take by arms.

As an example: Suppose you were a Southeast Asian living in poverty, just as your fathers before you, and poverty was all you could see in store for your children. Medical care for you was practically nonexistent. Your life expectancy, and the life expectancy of your children, was far less than that of an American or West European.

You had no education. There was small chance of it for your children. Freedom? Western men prized it but they had held you as a colonial until recently. Democracy? You had heard of it. But it had never been part of your heritage.

Then suppose the Communists—men of your own country—promised you and your children a better life, medical care, education, jobs with good pay, old age security. And the cost to you? Just supporting the Communists.

That you were surrendering to a dictatorship which might leave you in the end more wretched economically than before perhaps would not mean much to you if you never had a fair chance to understand and enjoy freedom and practice democracy.

What might seem the only important thing to you was the promise of a better life. To a wretched man a promise of less wretchedness would be better than no promise.

The Communists have a fertile field to plow in the poverty, ignorance and insecurity of the backward peoples.

The Communists, dedicated to taking over the world, can't stand still. And the West can't stand still while they try to take over, country by country, until half the world is gone.

How then can the West offset the promises of the Communists and win over the people of the backward areas, giving them a promise of direction, a new hope, a promise of a better life and, more than that, make the promise a reality?

The Eisenhower administration is apparently working to keep the backward areas from the Communists with a program to make the people there stay with the West.

Administration officials yesterday were reported considering a big new foreign economic program which may lead to the investment of billions of dollars in underdeveloped countries, notably in non-Communist Asia.

Two days ago Foreign Aid Director Harold E. Stassen told a news conference the United States has started talks with European countries about their participation in an enlarged Asia development program.

The administration project seems to be in its infancy. Before it becomes a reality there will be long debate. In the end the economic-social struggle for the world's backward places may prove more final and fatal than a shooting war.

NEW YORK (U.S.)—"You must find security within yourself," said Sarkis Tarzian. "Trying to find it outside yourself is like chasing the rainbow."

Tarzian, who came here from Turkish Armenia at the age of 6, long ago conquered his own self-doubts. His first night in this country he slept in an alley in Philadelphia. Today, at 54, he operates a television radio and manufacturing empire in Bloomington, Ind., that grosses 23 million dollars a year.

The success saga of this amazing Armenian is based on his philosophy that "there is nothing in life that can give you more pleasure than taking a new idea—and making it work."

He decided in grammar school he wanted to be an engineer, and in high school won a scholarship that put him through the University of Pennsylvania. During summers he worked at 40 cents an hour as a factory laborer to earn his spending money. "So I wouldn't be a burden on my parents."

When he was graduated in 1924, he looked around for a new field and found it in radio. In the next 20 years he became a top design engineer for first Atwater Kent, then RCA.

During most of these years his wife Mary, herself a doctor of philosophy in international law, kept prodding him:

"Why do you work for these big companies? If you can do it for them, why not for yourself?"

Finally, in 1944, Tarzian did quit and recalls now with a grin the startled reaction of his wife: "But, why all of a sudden?"

They had saved $40,000. What business should they go into? "Again I wanted to try something new," said Tarzian. "And the answer seemed to be television."

He had pioneered in the development of radio tuners, and soon he was mass producing TV tuners for other manufacturers. He expanded steadily, acquired a radio station, added a TV station and made it show a profit from the start.

Tarzian now has a payroll of 2,600 and is Bloomington's biggest single industrial employer.

Recombined Milk Set For Soldiers In Korea

SEOUL (U.S.)—American soldiers in Korea will get milk on the menu next week for the first time since the 8th Army's arrival in Korea. Five hundred thousand cans of recombined whole milk were unloaded in Pusan Tuesday.

The Army plans to provide each soldier by early next year with half a pint of milk a day, four to seven days a week.

Recombined milk is made of frozen cream and dried skim milk.

Uncle John Hutto Demonstrated The Life Of A Christian Soldier

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column, are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald. — Editor's Note.

Uncle John Hutto, who passed to his reward last week in Abilene at the age of 75, was an unusual man.

This was not because he possessed any extraordinary color or flair for showmanship, far from it. Actually, he shrank from that sort of thing. Nor was it that he was anointed with a touch of genius, for Uncle John was more or less cut in the standard pattern.

In his own way, however, he was an inspiring testimony to the power of persistence, perception and dedication.

He was born to be a teacher, and although he doubtless could have reaped far greater monetary rewards in other fields, he stuck to teaching. He was a small town teacher, at that, for until he came to Big Spring he had never served in a community of more than a few hundred or at the most a few thousand. When he moved on to Abilene to head up that city's elementary school for Latin-Americans, it was something of a new experience although it was in some respects dealing with a segment of population or a community within a community.

The year he resigned over there, 300 of his patrons urged the school board to stretch the retirement rule which it already had stretched three years in his particular case. When he left here in 1941, a number of his Latin-American friends wept at seeing "Meester Haw-toe" leave.

Well, they might, for out of a salary that was hardly enough to keep himself going after he sent home some to his family in Abilene, he managed to buy a pair of shoes here, buy a few groceries there, get a bottle of desperately needed medicine. He never mentioned it to any one for he didn't make these sacrifices to talk about them. He was a Christian soldier in action.

Many times this slight man, already then at his three score years, waded up an all too thin bed roll and some meagre fare and went hiking with his Boy Scouts. Most of them had pretty lean equipment and rations, but they seemed to take inspiration in the fact that he could walk as far as they, shiver through a night without complaining and still generate a lot of good cheer. He never asked favors for his boys because they might have lacked privileges. He taught them to compete successfully on their own merits.

His consuming hobby was history. He appreciated the wisdom of making permanent records of early day history while some of the principals in it were still around to tell the story. He was a careful and meticulous craftsman, and he fully recognized that the longer a pioneer lived the more likely he is to unconsciously and honestly inch forward his date of arrival. Because of his thorough knowledge of area as well as general history, John Hutto could usually pin down a story for its accuracy and worth. His "Howard County in the Making," our only actual historical work around here, isn't flashy but it is based solidly on the record everywhere possible. It's too bad that he didn't live to fulfill one other hope he had—that of returning to enlarge and extend this work into something truly worthwhile.

Someday when great reforms are brought about in our Latin-American sector, you will find many in the forefront will be those whose lives were touched by Mr. Hutto when he was a youngster. Someday those digging into the history of the county are going to turn the pages of his little blue book and be grateful that John R. Hutto had the devotion to dig away in his spare time to write down stories and events which otherwise likely would have been untold.

Political Playback

Bankers deal all the time with money, or at least with figures that stand for money. This is a little vignette of one group of money men looking at real cash.

Lower Colorado River Authority officers went to New York to take up its bonds, held by the RFC by selling new bonds, at much lower interest, to private investors.

First Poston Corporation and associated bond houses were the purchasers. Chemical Bank was the trustee. Officials of both financial houses plus the Texans assembled in the huge board room of Chemical Bank.

There were $23,425,000 of the new bonds stacked on the table. That meant 23,425 separate bonds.

Also on the directors' table was the check of First Boston, paying off the old bonds, and a check of LCRA for $1,050,000 to RFC, paying the premium for taking up the old bonds ahead of maturity.

Just before the transfer formalities started, ed, Grady Faubion, treasurer of the LCRA, decided he needed some more money for the trip back home. He asked a bank official to cash a $100 check. The check was sent down to the teller's window. In the middle of the exchange of the $23 million plus of checks and bonds, a clerk came in with the $100 in real cash. The proceeding stopped, and those big bankers watched intently while the four 20's and two 10's were slowly counted out. The sight of this $100 in actual money seemed more fascinating than all the bonds and checks.

During the August '54, run-off campaign, governor-conscious newsmen looked over the national array of state chief executives. One found:

In Pennsylvania it's Fine and Alabama it's Persons. . . . While Texas Shivers and South Carolina Byrnes, it's Dewey in New York and California is ruled by Knight.

What Food One Can Find In That 'Hole-In-The-Wall' Restaurant!

BRUSSELS, Belgium—Never, but never, have I tried to build up a reputation as a gourmet in New York, Paris, Geneva, Rome, Madrid, Manila, Guam or even—so help me!—on Kwailein, that some international character hasn't come up and spoiled my pitch by saying, "But have you ever eaten at the L'Epaule de Mouton in Brussels?"

At that humbling point, I have always had to sneak off into the night. But from now on, I am ready for this character. I have, at long last, at the L'Epaule de Mouton, or Shoulder of Mutton to me.

And if it is not the greatest restaurant in the world, it is certainly one of the very finest and surely one of the most interesting. Its maximum capacity is 28 persons. The present proprietor, M. Charles Chantrelle and his right-hand man, Oncle Rene, prefer not more than 18 to 20, in order to present all the ruffles and flourishes.

M. Chantrelle is the descendant of one of the great families of European chefs who have helped afflict this continent with gout for a thousand years. And as for the incomparable Oncle Rene, who presides at the sauce pans, there is scarcely a gourmet alive whose liver is unmarked by his superb efforts.

The restaurant is just off the Grand Place, a square of such remarkable 16th and 17th Century architectural beauty and grandeur that one can think only of it as Northern Europe's answer to Venice's St. Mark's Place.

Without wishing to offend either M. Chantrelle or Oncle Rene, I can only say that from the outside the famous restaurant looks like a hole in the wall. Inside, it is equally simple, a tiny room with faded velvet banquettes and walls the color of pate de foie gras, which is a splendid color for pate de foie gras but not recommended for home decor.

When in such an establishment the sensible thing for a simple chow-hound like myself is to put himself in the hands of the experts. I asked M. Chantrelle to order my meal, and he produced one fit for a king.

The meal began with fillet of sole with lobster sauce, a homeric sauce juggled by Oncle Rene in plain sight on one of the five gas burners that are the proud center of the room.

For the second and main course, M. Chantrelle selected one of the famous specialties of the restaurant, here in a sauce as rich as the original John D. Rockefeller. Have, remember: not rabbit! Rabbit is a dirty word in L'Epaule de Mouton.

Then I begged for a simple, light dessert, and both assured me that I should have it. It came and was one of the most divine foods I have ever put in my mouth: A soft, smooth, lovely mauve mixture of real vanilla ice cream and whipped cream beaten together with the juice of fresh raspberries.

Before I left L'Epaule de Mouton, M. Chantrelle told me the good news that he has signed a contract with an American firm to write a cook book telling how to prepare his and Oncle Rene's 83 creations culinaires exclusives. Speed the day!

And Oncle Rene, in parting, said Americans show lots more savvy about food since World War II. Now, instead of demanding l'hamburger, they ask for le Caneton Alphonse.

It makes, said Oncle Rene, for improved international relations—if not digestion.

State Funeral Set In Moscow For Vishinsky

MOSCOW (U)—The body of Andrei Vishinsky was flown home today as the Soviet government announced it would give a state funeral in Red Square to the late deputy foreign minister and chief Soviet delegate to the United Nations.

Informal sources said the announcement of the state funeral meant Vishinsky, who died in New York Monday after a heart attack, would be buried alongside other Communist notables in the Kremlin wall, behind the Lenin-Stalin Tomb in Red Square.

A chartered four-engine Stratocruiser left New York for Paris last night with the massive copper casket.

Accompanying the body home were Vishinsky's widow Kapitolina; the couple's daughter Zinaida; Georgi Zarubin, Soviet ambassador to the United States; and six other members of the Soviet representation in the United States.

Meanwhile, Jacob Malik, Soviet ambassador to Britain, left London by plane last night for New York to replace Vishinsky temporarily as head of the Soviet U.N. delegation. There has been no announcement of Vishinsky's permanent successor.

The government announcement of the funeral plans said that before the Red Square rites the body will lie in state in the Hall of Columns of Moscow's House of Unions, where Stalin's bier was viewed by thousands.

Bohlen Reaches U. S.

WASHINGTON (U)—Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen arrived here late yesterday from his post at Moscow and said talks he will hold with State Department officials are "regular routine—very normal procedure."

Secret voting for members of Congress was not required by federal law until 1975.

U.N. Envoys Get Set To Talk On Korean Unification Dispute

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (U)—Russia and the Western Powers took advantage of a lull in East-West debate in the United Nations today to marshal their arguments on the stormy Korean issue.

The Assembly's chief Political Committee, now occupied with the Indonesian-Dutch dispute over West New Guinea, hopes to turn late this week to the rival plans for unifying Korea. The West and the Communists last deadlocked on the issue at the Geneva political conference in June.

Because of Russia's new policy of trying to win friends in the U.N., delegates speculated that the Soviets might come up with a plan to break the stalemate over supervision of all-Korean elections.

South Korea and her U.N. allies already were reported at odds over a Western compromise plan to settle the election question which torpedoed the Korean phase of the Geneva talks.

South Korean Ambassador You Chan Yang has protested that the new proposal, reportedly advanced by Britain and Canada and agreed to by the 13 other U.N. allies, represents a drastic change in position which would take the Korean problem out of the U.N.'s hands.

These sources said it would set up a supervisory commission, similar to the one created in Indochina, consisting of South Korea, a Communist nation and a neutral. South Korean President Syngman Rhee has said flatly his people want "no foreign government or foreign nationals" involved in the election. South Korea's Foreign Minister Y. T. Pyun is due here soon to take part in the Korean debate.

Western diplomats speculated whether Andrei Vishinsky's death would mean any change in Russia's position on Korea. Ambassador Jacob Malik, who has been named to head the Soviet delegation temporarily, has never been noted for his Western leanings. But Arkady Sobolev, No. 2 man on the Soviet delegation and believed by some observers slated to eventually inherit Vishinsky's chair, has maintained better relations with Western diplomats than any other high Soviet delegate.

Many believe that, in view of the Kremlin's new conciliatory attitude, either Sobolev or Malik might lead a sympathetic ear to Western attempts to compromise the Korean issue.

U.N. circles pointed out that Russia made a number of substantial concessions at Geneva. Along with her North Korean and Red Chinese colleagues, she accepted the principle of proportional representation in the proposed North-South legislature and a six-month time limit for holding elections. She also agreed to negotiate on the powers of an all-Korean commission, as proposed by North Korea, to take charge of elections.

However, the Communists rejected the authority of the U.N. in Korea and insisted on measures which would make genuinely free elections difficult if not impossible.

Bee Is Blamed In Two Car Mishaps

LONG BEACH, Calif. (U)—A bee on a routine honey gathering mission caused two traffic crashes yesterday.

The insect whizzed into a car driven by Mrs. Florence Lassiter, who grabbed a book, made a swerve at it and missed. The book flew from her hand. As she leaned to pick it up she crashed into Walter Page's car, police said.

The impact threw Page's auto into one driven by Sam MacAdoo, who had two passengers riding with him, officers added. All five persons involved suffered cuts and bruises and the cars were badly damaged.

READ THIS CAREFULLY THEN COMPARE

The 1955 Buick has these features which we truly believe are unmatched. Read these statistics carefully, and compare them against anything on the road today. Then come in for a demonstration ride. Compare Buicks ride, performance, and sheer beauty with anything on the road. If you'll do these things we'll guarantee that your next car will be BUICK.

The Century, Super and Roadmaster have that amazing new 236 H.P. V8 motor—a motor with a 9 to 1 compression ratio—A motor that's even beyond the dreams of motor engineers a few years ago. A past Square Motor with a 4 inch bore and a miraculous 3.2 inch stroke. The only V8 motor with vertical valves to insure even oiling and smoother operation.

The Super and Roadmaster Buicks are the only medium priced cars on the road that carry Fisher's best body; the same body used on all series of Cadillac. The only car with Fisher body that gives you a 127 inch wheelbase; utilizing that wheelbase inside the car itself instead of unnecessary trunk space. Try the back seat of this car for size in comparison with any other. You'll see the difference. Note—The vertical windshield posts are found only on Buick in the Medium class field.

The Dynamic Buick Special with a cost of just slightly more than the lowest priced cars is equipped with a Big 188 H.P. 8.5 to 1 motor that has the feel of being jet propelled. Words will no where near tell the story. The new Special's trim compares smartly with last year's Super and Roadmasters.

The greatest feature of all the new Buick line, is greatest of all automatic transmissions; the all new Variable Pitch Dynaflo—a feature taken from our great Aircraft industry—Come in and let us explain, show, and demonstrate this miracle of the ages.

Add to these features Buick's more-than-beautiful styling, Buick's all new Tri-tone paint, Buick's new high-ratio steering, Buick's exclusive grill and tail light assembly, and Buick's low, low price tag.

We invite you, we urge you, WE DARE YOU to see and drive the new 1955 Buick Today. You'll make your next car BUICK.

Churchill Cites Plans Made To Force Reds To Stop Advance At End Of World War II

WOODFORD, England (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill says that even as the Germans were surrendering in World War II, he made plans to rearm them if the Russians advanced further into Western Europe.

The veteran Prime Minister, 80 on Nov. 30, spoke anew of his long-time distrust of the Soviets at a birthday rally last night. He told the crowd:

"Even before the war ended, and while Germans were surrendering by hundreds of thousands, I telegraphed Lord Montgomery directing him to be careful in collecting German arms and to stack them so that they could easily be issued again to the German soldiers with whom we should have to work if the Soviet advance into Western Europe continued."

Stalin, he declared, was "carried away by the triumphs of victory and acting as if he thought he could secure for Russia and communism the domination of the world."

Churchill said he believes he was "the first well-known person publicly to state the fact that we have to have Germany on our side against Russian Communist aggression."

31 Pupils Injured In Crash Of Bus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thirty-one school children were injured, at least five seriously, when a school bus crashed into a tree here yesterday. The driver said the accident happened when he tried to prevent three musical instruments from sliding against the steering wheel. He was treated for shock.

Driver Harold C. Fetter, 33, was quoted by police as saying the bus went out of control when he reached for the instruments and swerved off the road. The bus was filled, carrying an estimated 60 youngsters.

The bus was returning students from Marion-Franklin High School, south of here, to their homes.

IT HAPPENED

Harvest Time

WATSEKA, Ill. (AP) — Sheriff's officials are quite sure that the thieves who stole 600 bushels of soybeans worth $1,600 from Roy Lubben's farm didn't work too hard. They figured the robbers brought along their own machinery, using a portable motor driven elevator to load the soybeans from a bin into a semi-trailer truck.

Saddest Moment

BERLIN (AP) — A Muenster competitor in West Berlin's city-run lottery is a sad man today.

His entry — the first correct five-number combination submitted in two years — arrived a day after the weekly draw. His 12-cent ticket would have won him $115,000.

Music Lovers

DALLAS (AP) — A quartet of women complained about a quartet of coon dogs yesterday before Peace Justice Bill Richburg's court.

One woman told Richburg about a man who kept four hounds trained to hunt raccoons.

"One howls in a bass voice," she said. "Another howls in a tenor."

"And the two others don't howl at all—they just moan," said another woman.

Rejoined the owner: "They never disturb me."

Richburg asked him to move the dogs out of town. The owner said he would.

Expensive Money

LONDON (AP) — Britain's mint reported today it is losing money making money.

To make a farthing (one quarter of a penny) now costs a half-penny. About 600 million of the midget coins are at present in circulation. They are worth about a third of a U. S. cent.

Couple Gives Ranch Property To ACC

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — A Fort Worth couple, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Barber, have given Abilene Christian a $100,000 ranch in West Texas, the college said yesterday.

The ranch covers three sections in northwest Schleicher County between Eldorado and Mertzon. ACC officials said it will be sold and the money used to build a Bible classroom structure.

Moving 'Baptist Hour' Program Suggested

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The site of the "Baptist Hour" program should be moved from Atlanta to Fort Worth, says the Radio and TV Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention.

The commission made the recommendation last night. It will go before the convention's executive committee for final action Dec. 14 at Nashville, Tenn.
