Georgian Gives Advice

EDITOR'S NOTE — The writer is a native of Macon, Ga., who has survived 16 years in what, he says, is "the largest swamp north of the Okefenokee."

By JULES LOH
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Hey all you fellow Georgians planning to come up here to watch Jimmy Carter, the Pride of Plains, get nominated, here are a few tips from a native son to help ease the culture shock.

You will notice immediately that these people speak with an accent.

They have difficulty with the second person plural, for example, saying "youse" instead of, properly, "y'all."

They say pecan wrong.

They call dinner lunch and supper dinner - but speak of having dinner parties at supper clubs.

There is no explanation for these provincialisms.

They call breakfast breakfast, but ordering it will be a problem for you. Forget grits, which are unheard of. They eat something called a bagel, which is as hard to describe as it is to chew. Don't send it back, it is supposed to be that hard.

A danish is not an adjective but a sweet roll.

Do not ask for regular coffee or somebody will put milk and sugar in it.

When you name your poison, do not name rye or what you will get is poison. They call blended whisky rye. It is not. Stick to bourbon.

Very few restaurants serve ordinary food such as blackeyed peas, okra, collards, butterbeans, spoon bread. They call this fare "soul food."

The subway is not as fearsome as reputed. Many New Yorkers find it peaceful enough to sleep there.

Do not be afraid, either, to ride in taxicabs. A bulletproof barrier between the front and back seat now protects passengers from the driver's philosophy and wit.

Bring your own peanuts. A handful at Yankee Stadium costs 40 cents, which ain't peanuts.

Finally, do not tease New Yorkers about their town's going broke. Some are unreconstructed about this, believing that the North shall rise again.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Sunday, June 27th, the 179th day of 1976. There are 187 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1950, President Harry Truman ordered the U.S. Air Force and Navy to help repel an invasion of the Republic of Korea by North Korea.

On this date:

In 1844, Mormon leaders Joseph and Hyrum Smith were killed by a mob in Carthage, Ill. Brigham Young became head of the church.

In 1847, New York and Boston were linked by telegraph.

In 1893, prices collapsed on the New York Stock Exchange, setting off a major depression.

In 1942, the FBI disclosed the capture of eight Nazi saboteurs who had gone ashore on New York's Long Island from a submarine.

In 1943, American bombers attacked the German-occupied city of Athens.

In 1963, President John Kennedy received an enthusiastic reception on a visit to Ireland.

Ten years ago: U.S. Navy jets attacked a large underground fuel dump in North Vietnam, sending a fireball and thick black smoke more than half a mile into the air.

Five years ago: Vice President Spiro Agnew left on a diplomatic mission that would take him around the world.

One year ago: A number of arrests were made and civil liberties were curtailed under a state of emergency in India.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, American Lt. Joseph Davidson reported to George Washington in New York that a captured English sailor had disclosed that Britain's General William Gage had arrived at Sandy Hook near New York from Halifax, Nova Scotia.

THERE FOR SUMMIT

Puerto Rico Welcomes Ford

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — President Ford arrived in Puerto Rico today for a seven-nation economic summit, taking note of political ferment on the island and warning Cuba to avoid involvement.

A 21-gun salute greeted Ford as he stepped off the presidential jet after a flight from Washington.

In remarks prepared for his arrival in Puerto Rico, Ford said the United States is proud of its relationship with the island commonwealth. He declared:

"Those who might be inclined to interfere in our freely determined relations should know that such an act will be considered as intervention in the domestic affairs of Puerto Rico and the United States; it will be an unfriendly act which will be resisted by appropriate means."

Ford did not elaborate nor did other White House officials expand on what retaliatory measures might be contemplated. They acknowledged that the President's statement was directed at Cuba.

Ford set up the Puerto Rican trip to discuss global economic issues with the leaders of Great Britain, France, West Germany, Japan, Italy and Canada at a summit that formally begins Sunday and winds up a day later.

Noting that the talks continue a dialogue begun last November at Rambouillet, near Paris, where all but the Canadians were present, Ford said:

"I am confident that these discussions will help us to continue our current economic progress, and move us ever closer to our goal of economic growth and stability throughout the world."

His arrival text gave greater emphasis, however, to political unrest in Puerto Rico which was mirrored in heavy security measures adopted for the summit at the secluded Dorado Beach Hotel 17 miles west of San Juan.

The President said that the history of the relationship with Puerto Rico has rested on the principle that the peoples of the United States and Puerto Rico have a right to "freely determine the nature of their ties with one another."

In an obvious reference to pro-independence sentiment among some islanders, Ford said the relationship currently is "a subject of free discussion and debate" which he said was "the best promise that what we together choose to do in the future will be beneficial to people of this island."

Saying that there are those — unnamed — "who seek to distort the facts" and mislead others about the relationship, the President said the United States was proud of its ties with Puerto Rico and invites the world to examine the relationship."

Ford's first scheduled meeting in Puerto Rico was to be on Sunday with governor Hernandez Colon, a member of the popular Democrat party who is opposed for re-election in November by Mayor Carlos Romero Barcelo of San Juan, a member of the New Progressive party.

CHARLES HENDERSON

Henderson New V-P At WTSB

Charles H. Henderson, 38, former county supervisor here for the Farmer's Home Administration, is returning to Snyder as a vice president of West Texas State Bank.

Henderson's appointment was announced by Martin Brooks, WTSB president. He is scheduled to begin his duties with the bank here on July 5.

Brooks said that Henderson will concentrate on banking business with the agricultural industry and that he will work closely with farmers and ranchers.

Henderson was county supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration here from April of 1968 to July of 1972 when he was transferred to Eastland as county supervisor, a position he has held since leaving Snyder.

A native of Parker County, Henderson attended the University of Texas at Arlington and Tarleton State, working on ranches and farms between college sessions. In the fall of 1959, he enrolled in the School of Agriculture at Texas Tech and received the bachelor of science degree in agriculture with a major in animal husbandry and minors in agriculture economics

DEDICATION HAS SPECIAL MEANING

Snyderites Have Assisted Ranching Heritage Center

One of the major Bicentennial events in Texas is scheduled July 2-4 in Lubbock when the Ranching Heritage Center has its dedication and formal opening.

A trail drive which will begin in San Antonio on June 27 is to terminate at the Center at 4:30 p.m. on July 2 to herald the opening. Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson will give the dedicatory address at 6 p.m.

That evening, Dale Robertson will be master of ceremonies for the formal opening and dedication of the new David M. Devitt and Mallett Ranch Building which houses the Edith Whatley McKanna Parlour and Cogdell's General Store.

The dedication of the Ranching Heritage Center will have a special meaning for many residents of the Snyder area who have given their assistance to the project since its beginning.

It was in Snyder in 1969 that Dr. Grover Murray, president of Texas Tech, announced the formation of the Ranch Headquarters Association. This organization was to be a citizen support group for a unique ranching museum, first known as Ranch Headquarters. Following Dr. Murray's announcement, visitors were invited to the Scurry County coliseum to view displays calling attention to the ranching heritage of this area.

The 1969 gathering was the first of four Ranch Day programs held in the coliseum. Individuals and organizations cooperated by loaning family treasures and arranging displays, all telling something of the area's history. Students and adults gave their talents for entertainment as well. Thousands of visitors attended the programs, and the idea of a Ranch Day was incorporated into the plans of the Ranch Headquarters museum as it progressed.

There never was any admission charge, but persons interested in preserving Texas' ranching history were invited to join the Ranch Headquarters Association, and membership is still open to anyone who enjoys history.

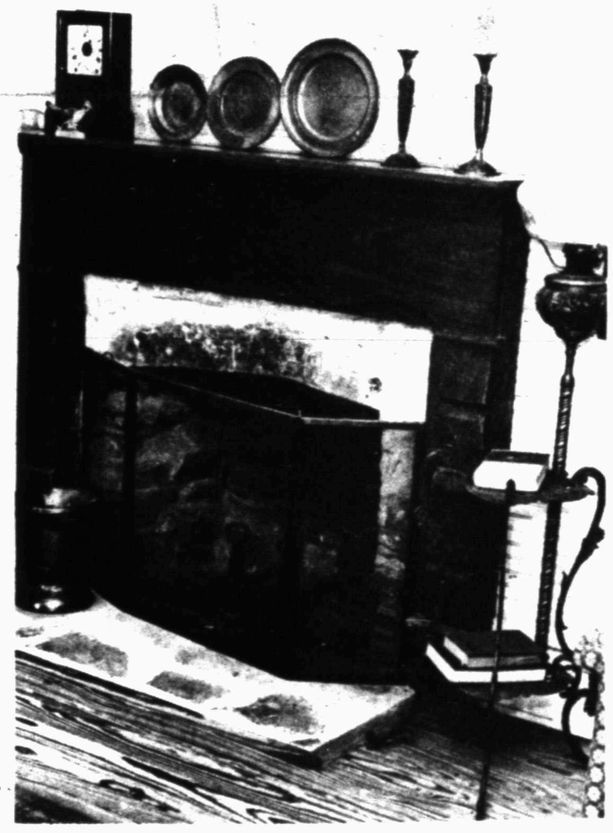

The Snyder area unit of Ranch Headquarters Association published two 75-page books in an effort to keep in permanent form some of the ranching history of the immediate Scurry County area. The last of these, Early Ranching and Water Sources in West Texas, may be purchased at the Scurry County Museum or in the Cogdell's General Store.

Among the historic buildings re-located on the 12-acre tract of the Ranching Heritage Center is the Harrell House which originated in Scurry County. The house was donated to the museum by its owners, Myrtle and Fay Harrell.

On July 3,4 and 5, the Harrell House will be filled with activities typical of early ranch life at home—lemonade being made in the kitchen, children shelling peas in the yard, and needlework, quilting and doll making the the bedrooms. Demonstrations and activities are scheduled in all structures during the opening festivities.

The Harrell House was restored and furnished by Misses Fay and Myrtle Harrell of Snyder and given to the Ranching Heritage Center of the Museum of Texas Tech in 1972. The Snyder Unit of the Ranch Headquarters Association donated funds for moving the

Boll Weevil Program Gets State Funds

Farmers and ranchers in Scurry County and portions of Borden and Fisher Counties will receive financial assistance from the state department of agriculture in their fall diapause boll weevil spray program. Morris Light, president of the Scurry County Producers Association, made the announcement.

The approval of the use of state funds came Thursday night at a meeting held between area farmers and ranchers and a representative of the Texas Department of Agriculture from Lubbock.

The first aerial boll weevil spray is tentatively scheduled for September 13. Area farmers will have to pay $6 per acre to have their fields sprayed, Light said. Many farmers, he said, had already paid $1 and the remaining $5 will have to be paid between July 15 and August 1 or when farmers have certified their cotton acreage. Preparations for the program must be completed by August 18, Light added.

RANCH DAY—Snyder's first Ranch Day in 1969 introduced residents of an area to the idea of the ranching museum to be built near the Texas Tech museum. Museum officials have commented that the support given by local residents has been a major asset to the museum throughout its growth.

Scurry Musuem Is Open Today

The Scurry County Museum has announced plans to be open from 2-5 this afternoon so visitors may see an exhibit of paintings and sculpture.

A new exhibit, "Texas and the American Revolution," is scheduled to open early in July.

Tickets Available For Train Rides

Tickets will be available starting Monday at the Snyder Chamber of Commerce for the Fourth of July train rides between Snyder and Hermleigh.

The tickets are free, but a $3 donation to help defray Fourth of July activities sponsored by the Snyder Chamber of Commerce will be required to obtain each ticket. A total of 1,800 tickets will be available, and tickets may be obtained at the Snyder Chamber of Commerce from June 28 until July 3.

Tickets will be issued on a first-come, first-served basis. Each ticket represents a one-way trip. Two tickets may be obtained for a round trip.

SOUR ON MOSCOW

Sweet Mary Says Trip Interesting

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Mary Tyler Moore is about as American as you can get, without being a full-blooded Cherokee. So, naturally, CBS sent her to Moscow.

Her assignment was to be the guest hostess on a gala telecast of the Bolshoi Ballet doing "Romeo and Juliet" for its 200th birthday program. (We don't have a monopoly on Bicentennial celebrations in 1976.)

CBS will air the program June 27. It consists of all two hours of the ballet, plus Moore's commentary before, during and after. CBS hopes that her presence will boost the ratings, which traditionally nudge zero for something like ballet. Ballet is generally as popular on TV as knot-tying lessons.

For Moore, the assignment was a fascinating one. She and her husband, Grant Tinker, spent eight days in Russia. It was hardly a luxury trip, but it was different.

"The one word that best describes the experience," she says, "is 'interesting.' It certainly wasn't fun. But it was interesting and seeing Russia does make you appreciate what you have here."

The main event on the trip was, of course, the job that had to be done at the Bolshoi. A German promoter had put the package together, getting the rights from the Soviet officials to televise the Bolshoi's 200th anniversary program.

"The program will be shown all over the world," Mary says. "They say it will have the largest audience ever, except for some Olympic events. My part will only be shown in the U.S., however."

Her big moment was at the end, when she went on stage to present a bouquet of roses to the prima ballerina, Natalja Bessmertnova.

"And all the way across that huge stage," she says, "all I could think about was that I was going to trip."

She didn't.

For the evening of the ballet, she says, she was dressed to the nines." She had on a glorious gown; she was bedecked with jewels and every hair was in place.

"And while we were working," she says, "there were some cleaning ladies waiting to mop the floor and they didn't even give me a second glance."

She says it was typically Russian that these cleaning ladies began doing their mopping at the precise moment when they had been told to start. It didn't matter to them that the American crews were filming. They had to stop the filming until the cleaning brigade had finished its work.

All tourists to Russia return with similar complaints – the food is bad, the service is worse, one must wait for hours for elevators and waiters and everything. Mary Tyler Moore has the same stories to tell.

"It gets so bad," she says, "that after a few days you become apathetic about things, just as the Muscovites are. There are long lines for everything, but you just wait. The service in restaurants is awful, but you just wait."

They took a side trip to Leningrad, to see the famous Hermitage. They were supposed to fly back to Moscow, but the plane was grounded by a severe snowstorm. It turned out to be the low spot of the trip.

"We were stuck at the Leningrad airport," she says. "There was no hotel space. We had to sit in the empty airport for hours. The restaurant was closed. We were there for hours. Finally, we managed to get on a bus into Leningrad, and managed to bully them into giving us a room."

She can't travel anywhere in the U.S. – and most of Europe – without being recognized. But nobody knows her in Russia, which was a mixed blessing. She was able to sightsee without being mobbed, but the doors didn't open magically for her, as they do here.

"The people at the hotel in Moscow," she says, "had been told that an American TV star was coming. When I checked in, they gave me the once-over, but that was the extent of it."

Now that the Russian voyage is behind her, she and Grant and some friends – producer Lee Rich and his wife, Pippa Scott – are going to Italy for a vacation. It is certain to be more luxurious than Russia.

Then she goes back to work on her series, which, she says, will be the last year for the show.

After that?

"I'll probably take a year off," she says, "to think about things. Then I'd like to do another series, but this time I hope that it has music in it, in some way."

The exact format of that future show is, of course, as yet undeveloped. She says it really doesn't matter whether she plays a divorcee or a wife or a widow or what.

"With television," she says, "the format of the show is not as important as the people who are involved – the cast, the writers, the production staff."

With The Mary Tyler Moore Show, that amalgam of talents worked perfectly, but she says during the days the show was being cast, she had her doubts.

"I have a confession to make," she says. "I love my cast now, but when Ted Knight auditioned, I said he was all wrong for the part. I was going by what had been written in the presentation for the show, and the part of Ted Baxter was written for a younger man, my contemporary, and Ted Knight didn't fit that preconception. I actually argued against him being cast."

standing National Camp rating.

A National Council team inspected the West Texas area camp June 22, 1976.

Lubbockite John Clardy headed the team. Clardy is the Boy Scouts of America director for the South Central Region.

Clardy gave special commendation for the facility's improvement in the past year. He cited plans to develop an outpost camp in the rugged Ranch interior. The recent Scout Camp and Program Development Campaign of the Buffalo Trail Council raised funds for the programs.

A 6,000 acre property in the Davis Mountain, the Buffalo Trail Camp houses Permain Basin and West Texas scouts on a year round basis. The Ranch hosts a special summer camp for four weeks.

Mercer Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Johnny Mercer, whose haunting jazz and blues lyrics thrilled millions for half a century, won four Oscars and made him the highest-paid song writer in the world, has died at age 66.

The mellow-voiced Mercer, who wrote lyrics for such hit songs as "Laura," "That Old Black Magic," "Jeepers, Creepers" and "Moon River," died Friday at his Bel Air home.

A family spokesman said his death was caused by complications from brain surgery performed last Oct. 25 to remove a benign tumor.

Mercer began his career as a performer, but gained world fame for his haunting lyrics for the 1944 movie mystery "Laura."

"I tried to be a singer and failed," Mercer once said. "Then I tried to be an actor and failed. So I just naturally fell into lyric writing."

structure, which is known as "the house that grew." The house began as a one room stone house in 1883 and grew (as was typical of many ranch homes) room by room by wing as the ranch grew and the family increased and prospered.

Mrs. Elizabeth Connell, a member of the Executive Committee of the Association, and other Snyder people have been putting the final touches on the Harrell House to ready it for the thousands of visitors expected this summer.

Other major gifts from local residents include the Edith Whatley McKanna Parlour and Cogdell's General Store.

Mrs. Edith McKanna of Rock Ledge Farm near Fluvanna will open the Edith Whatley McKanna Parlour in the orientation building on July 2. Mrs. McKanna, as chairman for the decor and furnishing of the room, says that the parlour is designed to be used for special events aand that its library area will contain distinctive memorial and contributor's books.

The parlour features antique architectural components and furnishings, including a skylight of leaded glass.

Mrs. McKanna is a member of the Executive Committee ot the Board of Overseers of the Ranch Headquarters Association and president of the Snyder Unit of the Association.

Also on July 2, Cogdell's General Store, made possible by a gift from Jonisue Cogdell Stiff (Mrs. Lawson Stiff) in memory of her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. D.M. Cogdell, Sr., of Snyder, will be formally opened by Mrs. Stiff, who has been actively engaged in acquiring fixtures and inventory for the store.

Cogdell's General Store will re-create an old time general store with authentic furnishings and decor, and any profits will assist the educational program at the Ranching Heritage Center.

True to the tradition of a general store, there will be a wide variety of items for sale, many inspired by the restored houses and furnishings at the Center.

The public is invited to attend all the events planned at the Ranching Heritage Center July 2-4. Reservations for meals should be made in advance. Persons wishing further information may write the museum at Box 4499, Lubbock, TX 79409, or call AC 806 742-1125.

For Sunday, June 27, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be sensible about your driving habits today. Being a few minutes late is far better than courting a mishap.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't try to sell others on ideas today that you're not completely sold on yourself. Your sales efforts could return to haunt you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) New projects should be started very cautiously today. Don't jump into anything without being certain all the pieces fit.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) To gain the full respect of persons you'll be involved with today, you must be frank and open. Don't camouflage your motives.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Normally you're an outgoing type who enjoys having others around, but today you have a tendency to hide your light under a bushel.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Give a wide berth to a friend today whose life is presently complicated. She could draw you into something sticky you needn't be a part of.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You're likely to be in the spotlight today whether you desire it or not. Try not to do anything that could tarnish your image.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Even though you feel very strongly about your views, you'd be wise to keep them to yourself today. Listen — and learn more.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Think twice before involving yourself with new partners in joint ventures. Be sure they're what they represent themselves to be.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This is not a good day to make major decisions hastily. If you guess wrong you could later have something nasty to unravel.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) A lot depends upon the way you handle yourself today when others make requests. Being uncooperative sets the tone for their future actions.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be on guard socially today. Don't say or do anything to give one who likes to put others down something to tell her friends about.

Foreman Trial Set Nov. 8

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — The wiretap coverup trial of Percy Foreman, last of seven original defendants in a case involving two sons of the late billionaire H.L. Hunt, has been set for Nov. 8 in Houston.

U.S. District Court Judge Halbert Woodward, who will continue to preside over the case, set the date Friday and also approved a motion by Foreman asking that the trial be moved from Dallas to his hometown of Houston.

Foreman's trial originally was scheduled to begin in April, but it was delayed because of an illness to Foreman.

Under a plea bargain agreement, wiretap charges against Herbert Hunt were dropped and Bunker Hunt was fined $1,000 after pleading no contest to a misdemeanor offense.

Four other defendants — Charles Tessmer, B.H. Timmins Jr., Ralph Shank and Edward Hudson — also pleaded no contest to misdemeanors.

Foreman's lawyer, Marvin Johnson of Phoenix, Ariz., says the famed Houston trial lawyer will not reach a plea bargain agreement with the government.

The government alleges Foreman participated in a conspiracy to cover up the involvement of the Hunt brothers in the wiretapping of several Hunt employes' phones in 1969-70.

Quoth The Raven

NEW YORK (AP) — When the ancient Norse explorers set out to sea they often carried a cage full of ravens in their long boats.

According to "Navigation" (Time-Life Books), the Vikings did this because they lacked a compass and "at periodic intervals when they felt they might be near land a bird would be released and the direction of its flight would guide the Norsemen west to discover Iceland and, in succeeding generations, to Greenland and North America."

Penn State Profs Presented Awards

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Two Pennsylvania State University faculty members have been presented the Christian R. and Mary F. Lindback Awards for Distinguished Teaching.

They are Dr. William Merrill Jr., professor of plant pathology, and Philip Klass, professor of English. The awards consist of a plaque and a check for $1,000.

Dr. Lamb

How to avoid low blood sugar

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I read The Health Letter on Low Blood Sugar: Hypoglycemia. On page four it states,"—if a persons eats or drinks a lot of sweets on an empty stomach the level of glucose rises sufficiently to cause an overproduction of insulin.

Would I be correct in assuming that consumption of a non-nutritive sweetener, such as sodium saccharin, would not cause an overproduction of insulin? What harmful effects could be anticipated if a person used sodium saccharin for sweetening one's coffee, lemonade and pop of all kinds?

DEAR READER—Your basic assumption is correct. Through a complex mechanism, as the amount of various sugars is increased suddenly in the first part of the small intestine where most food absorption takes place, the pancreas increases insulin release.

That is part of the mechanism that causes low blood sugar attacks in people who eat sweet rolls, sweetened coffee or other sweets and starches as the only components of their breakfast. Sweet liquids pass directly through the stomach. A person who has had part of his stomach removed as for surgical treatment of an ulcer dumps food immediately into the intestine because the stomach is so small it is no longer a storage pouch. These people are particularly prone to low blood sugar attacks if they are not careful about their diet.

You can avoid this form of low blood sugar attack by avoiding excessive use of concentrated sweets, particularly sweet liquids such as sweetened coffee. The emptying of the normal stomach can be slowed by eating bulky food which includes most of the vegetables, proteins as found in lean meats, poultry and fish and the inclusion of fat in the meal. Fat delays the emptying of the stomach. This is about the only situation in which I recommend increasing the fat in the diet and that has to be on an individual basis as needed.

Saccharin does not contain any carboyhydrates or sugar. It follows that it cannot raise the level of sugars in the small intestine rapidly and will not trigger an attack of low blood sugar. There is no reason why you cannot use it as a sugar substitute in beverages or foods.

Its safety has been questioned for several years, particularly after the scare about the possibility that the artificial sweetener cyclamate caused cancer (now it seems that it may not). But saccharin has escaped all the attacks on it and seems to be safe at least in reasonable amounts.

I should add that in the current zeal to eliminate anything suspected of causing cancer from our life there must be some thought to the benefits of agents such as artificial sweeteners. These help prevent obesity and in turn then help prevent high blood pressure, heart attacks and strokes. It is short sighted to lose these benefits to prevent the remote possibility of a rare case of cancer. In short we must get back to basics and understand you shouldn't throw the baby out with the bath water.

Other readers who want The Health Letter 3-9 on low blood sugar can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New Yark, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB—During a recent stay at a respected university hospital an medical center I was appalled at two breaches of health care.

The aides and LPNs were extremely careless about sanitation, doing glucose tests on the table which was my bed feeding table. Bedpans were placed there, urine dribbled there, and it was not cleaned up. Then the food tray came. It was both unappetizing and unsanitary. In addition, there was no way to wash one's hands after using a bedpan, especially when the patient was connected to intravenous feeding equipment.

There were no smoking regulations in a room with three patients. One patient smoked almost continuously until I found it difficult to sleep because the smoke permeated the bed clothes and could not be ventilated out of my cubicle in the middle (we were separated only by movable curtains). It seems to me that in view of the health hazards of smoking, as well as the discomfort to patients, that smoking should be prohibited to both patients and visitors in sickrooms. Why not restrict smoking to lounges and waiting rooms?

DEAR READER—Why not prohibit smoking in hospitals and clinics altogether? That would be even better.

I will not defend the conditions you found. Unfortunately, many hospitals are not only espensive, but uncomfortable, inefficient and downright dangerous. In fact, they are almost too dangerous for sick people to go to, but there is little choice.

The problem with hospitals is they are run and staffed by people. Some people are paragons of virtue, thoughtful, generous and kind and others don't quite measure up to those standards.

I am sorry to hear about the unsanitary conditions. Sanitation is important in prevention food poisoning. For your information I am sending you The Health Letter number 6-2, Food Poisoning of Infectious Origin. Others who wish to have this information can send 50 cents for it with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 326, San Antonio, TX 78292.

To a large extent I fault the hospital administrators who run our hospitals for the sloppy conditions too often found there. As a profession supposed to help doctors practice a better level of medicine by providing good community facilities they do well but have some serious shortcoming. Bedpans are one example.

A lot of the physical equipment of day care in a hospital is archaic to say the least. I wish every hospital administrator had to be a bed patient for a week and get the same treatment the regular patients get. They are busy people and just don't appreciate the problems but that would be an experience they would not soon forget.

Doctors are limited in what they can do about such conditions and literally must depend on the conditions as they are. Many are frestrated with the type of support care they get for their patients in hospitals.

Another aspect of health care that increases these problems is the absenc of family participation in the patient's illness.

At home the family keeps the patient clean and helps with the feeding and other problems. Hired help isn't always as considerate. Also, hospital staffs are overworked just keeping up with the emergencies. I am continually more impressed with the value of getting responsible family members back into the picture in helping with the daily care of the ill patient.

Rotary Names New Officers

Six new officers were chosen for installation at the Snyder Rotary Club's banquet Thursday night and James L. "Curly" Hays, an ex-referee for the Southwest Conference, was guest speaker.

Leslie Butler was selected to be the president of the Rotary Club for the 1976-77 year and Bill Gilliland was chosen to be the vice-president. Frank Miller was chosen to be the secretary-treasurer. New directors for the upcoming year will be Dr. John Best, Jimmie Joe Key and Lynn Webster. The new officers are expected to be installed at the Thursday noon luncheon of the Rotary Club.

The banquet was held Thursday at 7 p.m. at The Shack. Following a melody of three songs presented by Bennie Everett, James L. "Curly" Hays addressed the audience of approximately 50 persons. Hays, an ex-referee for the Southwest Conference, entertained the audience with a series of puns, anectodotes, and stories of his experiences as a football referee.

Hays related an incident that occurred several years ago at a football game he attended in Cross Plains. One of the receivers, after making a glorious catch and after running for 30 yards, tripped over his own feet and sent the audience into howls of laughter. The football announcer, seeing the unfortunate incident, called the hapless runner a victim of "self-tacklization."

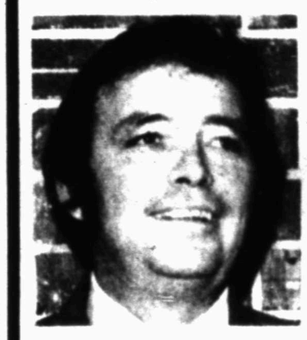

Hays went on to tell the audience that many people were the victims of their own "self-tackilization." He extolled the members of the audience to get involved in civic affairs and to quit isolating themselves from the problems of their neighbors. "No man can live like an island," Hays said to the audience.

Hays told the persons at the banquet of some of the problems facing the world, and again extolled them to become involved in civic affairs. Hays concluded his presentation by saying, "Let us join hands and see if we can do something to better the world."

There are no more bones in a giraffe's neck than in the neck of a mouse, the National Geographic Society says.

One of my first advanced lessons in play was when my father wrote me from Korea and explained the value of giving your opponent a problem. He said: "Sometimes they go wrong."

This hand is from a rubber bridge game at Notre Dame. I led the eight of diamonds against South's ironclad four-spade contract. At least it was ironclad with trumps breaking 3-2.

South went right up with dummy's ace of diamonds and cashed dummy's ace of trumps. I dropped my queen. Not that I expected anything good to come about, but just see what did happen.

South played a second trump. My partner followed again. The wheels started to go around in South's head. He finally decided to guard against four trumps in my partner's hand. He finessed his eight. I took my nine, put my partner in with a diamond and made my jack of trumps by overruffing the third diamond lead. My partner's ace of clubs was the setting trick.

Dunn Eastern Star Installs Officers

The Dunn Order of Eastern Star held installation of officers June 11. Evelyn Horn and Dewey Denson were installed as Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron of the Dunn Chapter No. 358, in a beautiful and impressive ceremony at the Masonic Hall.

The chapter room was decorated in yellow roses and candles. Gerald Crawford, Past Patron of Dunn Chapter, was the installing officer. Others assisting were Mary Lou Crawford, installing marshall; L.A. Scott, installing chaplain; Mary Cary, installing organist; Bess DeLoach, installing secretary. Officers installed were: Worthy Matron, Evelyn Horn; Worthy Patron, Dewey Denson; Associate Matron, Lydia Shipp; Associate Patron, H.F. Billingsley; Secretary, Evelyn Murphy; Treasurer, Maurine Richardson; Conductress, Vernice Laster; Associate Conductress, Stella Billingsley; Chaplin, L.A. Scott; Marshall, Gerald Crawford; Organist Mary Cary; Ada, Mary Lou Crawford; Ruth, Iva Byrd; Ester, Luline Billingsley; Martha, Norma Denson; Electra, Hettie Wilson; Wardner, Martin Murphy; and Sentinel, O. N. Laster.

Talks were given by the newly installed Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron expressing their appreciation for the honor the chapter had bestowed upon them.

Gerald Crawford the installing officer, expressed his appreciation for the priviledge of installing officers. L.A. Scott gave the benediction.

A reception honoring the new officers was held in the Dunn Community Center. Yellow candles and floral centerpieces decorated the tables.

Studying The World Of The Occult

SOMETHING'S THERE. By Dan Greenberg. Doubleday. 320 Pages. $7.95.

One of the frustrations of journalism, albeit a rare thing, is when a lot of time and money is spent on an idea for a potential story and it doesn't pan out. There's a great temptation to put something into print anyway, if for no other reason than to justify the effort.

Such seems to be the case with "Something's There." Although this is a literary effort, a valid comparison can be made to journalism because the author ventures into a serious vein — trying to discover and write about whether there's anything concrete to the world of the occult.

The impressive part of "Something's There," is the obvious effort Dan Greenberg made toward trying to discover for himself whether ghosts exist, people can levitate things, etc. He spent a lot of time trying to meet a respectable spirit — assuming there might be such a thing — and talking with and observing those who claim they count spirits among their friends. He also read a lot, according to a bibliography that listed 119 sources. Impressive indeed. But that's about it. There's nothing new here.

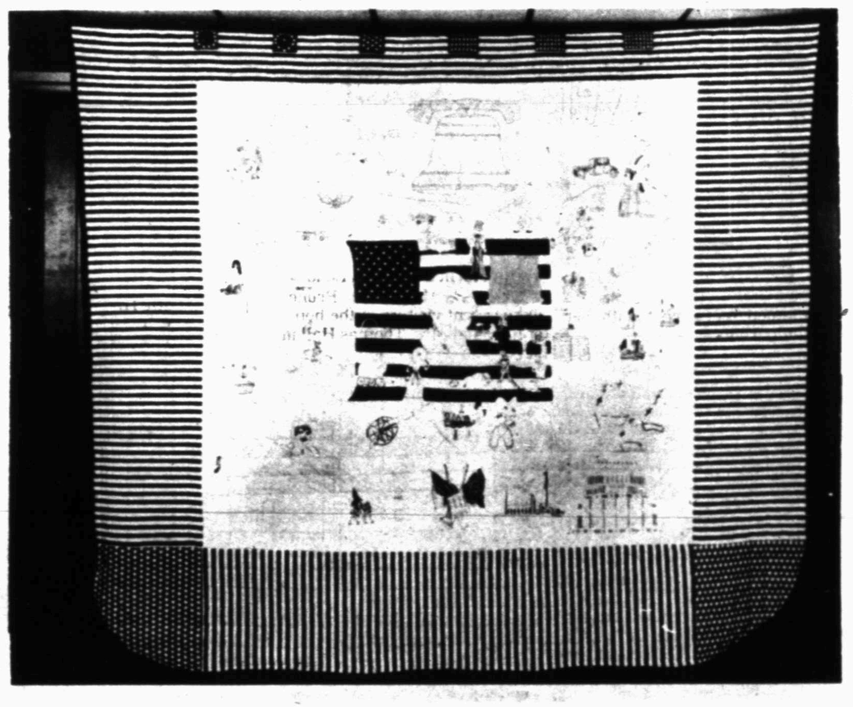

One further note: Greenburg has a knack of writing a humorous flash when you least expect it and that talent sporadically surfaces in this book.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT—Mr. and Mrs. John T. Orms, 3003 Fortieth St., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Judy Marie, to John Farrell Blake, son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Blake of Del Rio. Wedding vows will be exchanged Sept. 25 at the First Baptist Church.

WOMAN OF THE YEAR—At a recent meeting of the Scurry Charter Chapter of ABWA, Mary Faver was chosen Woman of the Year. Mary is the President of the local chapter and has worked in many different offices and committees since joining ABWA. She is bookkeeper for Dupree Motors, and the chapter has submitted her name to ABWA National Headquarters as their nominee for Woman of the Year to be selected at the National Convention to be held in October at New Orleans.

BICENTENNIAL QUILT—This lovely Bicentennial quilt was designed by Sherry Douglas and made by her mother Lula Mae LaPointe, 3502 Irving. Helping with the quilt which is on display at Whitfield's Fabric Center, were Betty Coleman, LaWanda Foreman. (Photo by Tiffany)

At a recent auction in New York, collectors paid $800 for a 20-shilling note printed by New Hampshire in 1775 and $380 for a $2 bill issued by Virginia in 1781. During the Revolutionary War, these notes were worthless.

Illich Looks At Modern Medicine

MEDICAL NEMESIS. By Ivan Illich. Pantheon. 304 Pages. $8.95.

Ivan Illich, philsopher, social critic and former priest, argues in "Medical Nemesis" that modern medicine has become a threat to health.

In spite of vast amounts of money spent on medical research and technology and on hospitalization, cures for disease have not grown proportionately, he maintains. Maximum life span has not changed, although average life span has.

Hopelessly ill patients, he contends, often are tortured with treatments which bring them agony in their inevitable last days in the hope on the part of medical professionals that one of these treatments will result in a miracle.

And while the privileged are over-doctored, over-medicated and over-hospitalized, vast numbers of the poor have no health care available at all, he points out, presenting statistical data to support his arguments.

Medicine has a monopoly over health care, and consumers — patients — have lost control over what is done to them and for them, Illich says. Costly medical bureaucracies are health-denying, he argues.

Old age, at least in American society, has become a disease requiring the attention of doctors, and demands for this service are rising — "there are more people who state their claim that their old age should be cured."

FRYPAN VEGETABLES

- 6 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 medium onion, cut in thin strips
- 1 quart coarsely shredded cabbage, packed down, see Note
- ½ pound (scant) mushrooms, sliced
- ½ medium or large green pepper, cut in thin strips
- ½ medium or large cucumber, pared and thinly sliced
- 1 ear fresh corn, kernels cut and pulp scraped, from cob
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper

Into a 12-inch skillet turn all the ingredients. Over moderately low heat mix with a spoon or chopsticks until butter melts and cabbage wilts. Cover and simmer until tender-crisp — about 5 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Note: You can use the inner coarse white part (but not the core) of a green cabbage and save the green part for slaw.

Crop To Boost Reserves

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says that this year's prospective big U.S. crops of wheat and corn will help boost world grain reserves nearly 28 per cent by mid-1977 despite a drought-shriveled harvest in Western Europe and below-goal production in the Soviet Union.

Further, the Department said Friday "big supplies and strong markets promise another good income year for farmers and a significant easing" in American consumer food prices.

USDA cautioned that farm crop prices will "continue edgy" until the 1976 harvests are more clearly defined.

Macaroni is a popular food made from hard wheat flour mixed with water.

GRAPES

There are many home owners who have grapes in the back yard and this year there is a good crop in prospect.

I have observed that there are some with insect problems. The grape leafhopper is causing some with insect problems.

Sprays containing malathion, sevin or diaginon will control the grape leafhopper.

Also diseases may affect the grape production. Black rot is a fungal disease which can cause serious loss of foliage and fruit. It is visible first as irregular to round reddish brown spots. The spots will be ⅛ to ¼ inch in diameter. It attacks the fruit from the first stages of development to harvest. This disease is found from the dry areas of Texas to Louisiana.

Control of black rot is obtained from regular sprays of benomyl, maneb, mane-zinc, copper containing fungicides (kocide) or captan. They can be mixed with the recommended insecticides for the grape leafhopper.

The effectiveness of any of the materials is dependent on starting early at the first sign of disease and continuing on a regular program of 2-3 weeks intervals.

SQUASH BUGS

Each year we seem to have to deal with the squash bug. This pest is anything but easy to control.

The squash bug is found throughout the state of Texas and is one of the most injurious pests of squash and pumpkins. It will also attack cucumbers and melons.

Adults are greyish-black in color and about one inch in length. Immature bugs are lighter in color than the adults and do not have wings. Both adults and immature squash bugs cause damage by sucking juices from the plant. Infested plants begin to wilt and turn yellow. If heavy populations persists plants can be killed. Even light infestations cause severe losses.

The bugs can be found throughout the plant, but they usually occur on the vines, near the soil. Their eggs are laid in masses, usually on the underside of the leaf. The eggs are a bronze to brown in color and there are usually a dozen or more in a cluster.

In small gardens, control can be achieved by hand picking and destroying the bugs and the eggs. Removing or destroying older plants and vines help to keep the population down.

Chemical control of the squash bug consists of sprays containing sevin or Thiodan. Thorough coverage is necessary and label directions must be followed.

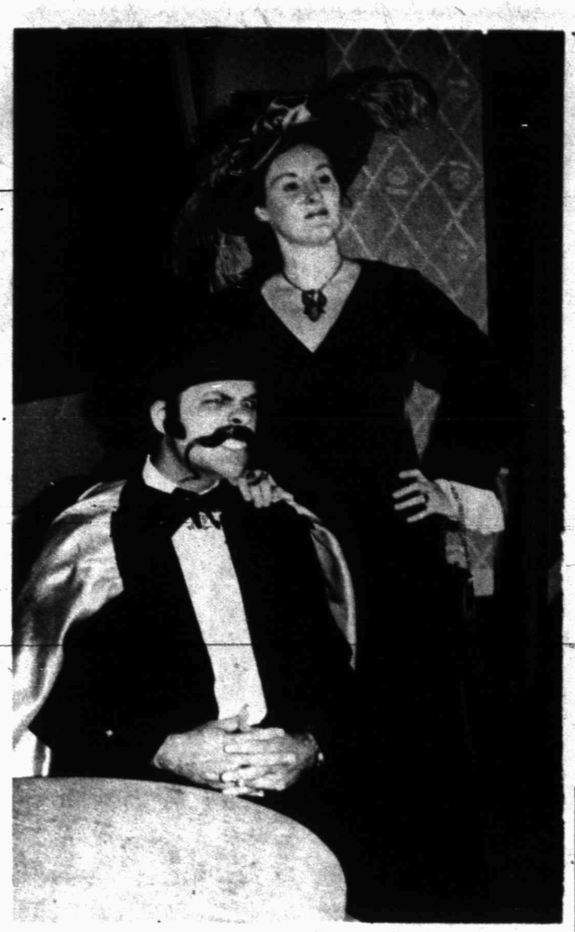

Officer Charged In Dance Shooting

ROBSTOWN, Tex. (AP) — A veteran law enforcement officer has been charged with murder in the shooting death of a Robstown man at a wedding dance last weekend.

Mauro Garza, an Annaville deputy constable and former Robstown policeman, was charged Friday in the death of Antonio Hernandez. Garza was not on duty at the time of the shooting.

An argument in the ballroom apparently led to the slaying, police said.

According to witnesses, possibly six shots were fired. However, police say they found only four empty shell casings.

OPERA HOUSE STARS—Glenn Polk and Trina Taylor are in the cast of 'Dirty Work at the Crossroads.' The melodrama production will open July 1 and will be staged in the Colorado City Playhouse. Glenn Polk will portray Munro Murgatroyd and Trina Taylor will portray Ida Rhinegold. Admissions price is $2.

Melodrama Set In Colorado City

As a part of the Colorado City Playhouse Bicentennial season, six performances of "Dirty Work at the Crossroads" will be presented starting July 1st.

The Gay 90's melodrama will be staged in the Colorado Opera House, now the home of the Colorado City Playhouse. Once a two story hotel, the theatrical group remodeled and redesigned the building to a theatre in 1971.

The current Opera House exterior and lobby are in the decor of the late 90's, but the auditoirum and stage are modern.

Cast of "Dirty Work" includes,: Susanne Morgan as Nellie Lovelace; Mark Reynolds as Adam Oakhart; Glen Polk as Munro Murgatroyd; Trina Taylor as Ida Rhinegold; Joe Vincent as Mookie Magugins; Twila Polk as Leonie Asterbilt; Montie Foster as Widow Lovelace and Mrs. Asterbilt; and Midge Ledbetter as French maid Fleurette and Little Nell.

"Dirty Work" will open Thursday, July 1, and continue Friday and Saturday, July 2 and 3. Repeat performances will follow the next weekend, July 8,9 and 10. All performances begin at 8 p.m. The admission is $2.

The box office will be open for reservations from season ticket holders, Monday, June 28, from 1-5 p.m. Reservations to the public will open on Tuesday, June 29, from 1-5 p.m. The box office is open weekdays afternoons for the duration of the play. The box office number is 915-728-3491.

SEX: A CAPITOL IDEA

Congressmen Not Sexier; Many Just Think So

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen aren't any sexier than other men: many just think they are. And because their world seems to buttress those beliefs, some are drawn to the sort of sexual encounters now titillating this gossipy city.

Image, ego, power and constant commuting that often separates congressmen from their families and keeps them in the company of staffers who cater to them — all can contribute to a desire, even a need for extracurricular activities.

At least so say psychiatrists who have studied the subject and female staffers on Capitol Hill who are confronted with it. The sex scandal surrounding Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, and others comes as no surprise to them.

"These men are put on pedestals as they never have been before," said Dr. Stanley Lesse, a New York psychiatrist who studies the effect of pressure on executives. "And they are often frustrated."

Lesse, editor of the American Journal of Psychotherapy, said that while politicians may not be Don Juans in their own home, they are kings in their office castles, especially among the women who work for them.

"These women appreciate the men and understand the pressures on them," Lesse said. "The men are extremely flattered by the young girls and don't necessarily see that they admire power, not personal attractiveness. And the men begin to feel sexually attractive."

Helen Ross, a psychoanalyst in Washington, said that while politicians certainly are not the only men to impose on their female staffers, many men go into politics because they are power seekers.

"They want to be able to control relationships," said Miss Ross, who is on the faculty of the Institute of Psychoanalysis. "And men want to have power over their women and over their instincts."

Studies from the Institute of Sex Research in Bloomington, Ind., show that about half of American men and a quarter of the women cheat on their spouses at some time during their lives.

There appear to be no government reports to document whether politicians are less faithful than other Americans, though a recent study by two psychiatry professors at the New York Medical College said 60 per cent of the clients of high-priced prostitutes are politicians.

There is also no evidence that politicians are more faithful than other Americans. And extracurricular sex in the nation's capital is certainly nothing new, and by no means limited to Congress.

Founding father Thomas Jefferson suffered political attacks during his career because of his relationship with Sally Hemmings, his slave mistress. And Grover Cleveland made it to the presidency despite his admission that he had fathered an illegitimate child.

Most of the stories about sex in Washington never get any further than whispers in Capitol corridors or chuckles over drinks at Georgtown cocktail parties. A congressional staffer complains, for example, that one of his duties is to register his boss under a different name at a Washington motel for several hours twice a week. The aide thinks the job is demeaning, but he regards it as part of his duties.

But the press is generally cautious about revealing the sexual exploits of politicians unless it can demonstrate the activities affect the way the politician is doing his job, involve illegal activity, or both.

Thus when Elizabeth Ray charged Wayne Hays kept her on his payroll simply as a mistress, it became news. As did the charges against Rep. Allen Howe, D-Utah, who was arrested by police who said he tried to buy sex from two police decoy prostitutes in Salt Lake City.

At the time, police released what was widely regarded as an official transcript of a tape-recorded conversation between the decoys and Howe. However, Salt Lake City police vice-captain Wilford M. Stoler has confirmed that the decoys were not using tape recorders and relied solely on their memories for writing down the alleged conversation between themselves and Howe.

Howe, his political reputation damaged by the charges, says that he was set up and will run for re-election.

But women on Capitol Hill say that sexual harassment is rampant and that female staffers are frequently confronted with sexual demands from their bosses. So far only two women have charged publicly that their bosses kept them on the government payroll for their sexual services.

Miss Ray claims she had no office skills and that Hays kept her on his staff only for sex. Hays, now recovering from an overdose of sleeping tablets, admits having had a "personal relationship" with Miss Ray, but he denies that it cost the taxpayers a cent.

Miss Ray, who has published a novel which she says is based her life, also claims that former Illinois Democrat representative Kenneth J. Gray forced her to have sex on his houseboat with Alaska Democratic Sen. Mike Gravel in exchange for a legislative favor. Both Gray and Gravel deny the charges.

And Colleen Gardner, a 28-year-old divorcee, claims that Texas Democrat John Young kept her on his staff to provide him with sex. Young, 59 and the father of five, says she was a competent worker but refuses to comment on her claim that they had an affair.

Privately, many women on Capitol Hill insist thatthese highly publicized situations are not unique, that politicians and their top male aides often pressure female staffers to have sex with them or get off the payroll.

A woman who has worked on Capitol Hill more than 20 years and prides herself on her toughness defends the women who came forward to accuse their bosses.

Seeking to explain the system in which she and her colleagues live, the woman said: "These girls aren't prostitutes. But in the House and Senate, every single girl is a potential prostitute to these egomaniacs."

Unlike the government civil service, she said, congressmen maintain absolute control over the hiring and their staffs and the salaries they pay.

"You have to remember, if you don't go along, these guys will blackball you," she said. "I know. I've been there. It was terrible. I was unemployed more than a year because every office I applied to called my old boss, and he badmouthed me because I had resisted his passes. Then the job would suddenly evaporate."

In the Civil Service, she said, a woman could complain and have the man transferred or be transferred herself. But on the Hill, she has no one to go to but the Ethics Committee "which wouldn't touch a congressman," or the Justice Department "which would call the congressman, he'd deny it, and you'd be fired. It's all a lovely little club."

Another congressional employe, a young Vassar graduate, says she quit her job after a well-known Southern senator repeatedly made passes at her. "Oh, didn't we tell you about that?" asked the senator's secretary when the girl complained. "It happens all the time."

On the Hill, the only job security is getting along with the boss.

Rep. Pat Schroeder, D-Colo., said she doesn't know if there is any more scandalous sex in Washington than any other places, "but there's more ego here per square inch than anywhere else."

It's no secret that there are many politicians whose long hours and frequent trips back to the home district disrupt their marriages.

"I would say that 60 to 70 per cent of politicians in Washington have bad marriages," said a former congressional staffer who recently decided not to run for public office because it might destroy his own family life. "But that's what the system imposes on them. There are lots of pressures to be back in the district on weekends.

"If the families live in Washington, the congressmen don't get to see their kids on weekends when they're out of school. If the families live in the home district, they don't see them during the week. Between Kiwanis speeches and firemen's picnics, maybe they see their wife and kids for a half hour a week. They get lonely. So where do they turn? More often than not to some loyal woman on their staffs. What starts off as a professional relationship often turns sexual."

RECEIVES TREATMENT—Roger Burrus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Burrus, receives hand exercises from Program Director Joy McGlaun of the Snyder Unit of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

NEEDS LOCAL SUPPORT
Center Aids Handicapped

BY KAY ELLINGTON

For years, area residents seeking handicap treatment were forced to drive to Abilene's West Texas Rehabilitation Center, a 90 mile trip. Yet, in 1973, assisted by a Developmental Disabilities Service Grant, six or seven Snyderites joined to create the Snyder Unit of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center.

"In the beginning, the program was strictly for children, explained Program Director Joy McGlaun. "Now we assist both children and adults."

The number of patients has increased from six or seven children to 31 children and adults, divided about evenly. Program offerings also have increased.

"We offer physical therapy, occupational therapy and speech therapy." mentioned the program director.

An Abilene speech therapist comes Mondays and works with speech and hearing problem sufferers. For actual testing, patients still must go to the Key City unit.

In physical therapy, any physical problem is treated. The program director cited celebral palsy, polio, stroke, post-fracture cases and arthritis.

"Occupational therapy overlaps with the physical." McGlaun stated. "With occupational, we try to work on the activities of daily use, the practical things."

Patients and treatment have increased since the '73 creation, but finances have not. The government grant was discontinued after the first year. The Snyder Rehab extension relies solely upon donation.

"We have had a lot of help in making the public aware of us." commended Miss McGlaun. She complimented the Sunrisers-Kiwanis, the Gay 20's, the Junior LULAC, the Amitie Study Club, the Jaycees, the Jaycettes and "especially the Trinity Methodist Church". Trinity United Methodist Church houses the facility for no charge.

Various methods raise funds. Last year, the center was included in the United Way. Often times, memorial donations are made following deaths. An arts and craft bazaar will be held this fall.

Currently, the primary fund raising endeavor is a bake sale booth to be conducted in Towle Park July 5th. Mrs. Shirley Burrus is chairperson.

The Snyder Unit of the West Texas Rehabilitation Center has come a long way since 1973. Asked if the Center had further goals, Joy answered, "Our main purpose is to serve the handicapped, and we'll continue to strive to do that."

Farmer's Share Of Dollar Drops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The farmer's share of a consumer's dollar spent on food declined last month, according to the Agriculture Department.

The share of the food dollar received by farmers in May was 40.4 cents against 40.8 cents in April and 41.6 cents in May of last year, the department said Friday. Prices farmers received for raw products that went into the food chain averaged about the same as in April, but retail prices increased due to larger middleman charges, officials said. Thus the farm share of the food dollar declined.

Enrollment Up 19.7% At WTC

Enrollment for the first summer session at Western Texas College showed an increase of 19.7 per cent over the same period last year, according to Dr. Duane Hood, Dean of Student Services and Registrar.

This is the first time WTC has offered both six-week and nine-week sessions during the summer period. Night classes on campus and classes at the Haskell and Sweetwater extension centers are on the nine-week schedule, while day classes on campus are on the six-week schedule.

Registration for the second six-week term is scheduled from 8:30-12 noon and 1-4:30 p.m. on July 7. Classes will begin July 8.

Classes scheduled for the second summer session include Accounting 232, Biology 241 (Human Anatomy and Physiology), Business 131 (Introduction to Business), Business 232 (Business Law), Economics 232 (Principles of Economics), English 131 and 132 (English Composition), English 232 (English Literature), Government 231 (U.S. Government), Government 232 (Texas State and Local Government), and History 132 (U.S. History Since 1865).

Texas DPS Estimates 42 Holiday Deaths

AUSTIN—The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety said today indications are that some 42 persons will be killed in Texas traffic accidents during the Fourth of July weekend, and called upon Texas drivers to "prove our estimate is too high."

Colonel Wilson E. Speir said his department expects "unusually heavy traffic" throughout the state, especially around recreational areas and where Bicentennial celebrations are scheduled.

He said the estimate covers a 78-hour period which starts at 6 p.m. Friday and continues until midnight Monday, July 5th.

During a comparable period last year, the department estimated that 54 persons would be killed during the holiday period. At the conclusion of the July 4th holiday last year, statewide statistics indicated 44 lives lost and rose to 49 with late reports.

In a concerted effort to keep deaths down, the DPS and local law enforcement agencies will be cooperating in an all-out effort to make the streets and highways as safe as possible. All available DPS troopers will be on duty, Speir indicated, and they will be espcially watchful for drinking drivers, speeders, and persons driving in a reckless manner.

In addition, the DPS will be working with the news media in a special public education program termed "Operation Motorcide" which focuses public attention on where and why fatal accidents are occurring during the holiday period.

SCC Singers Here Monday

WTC Steer Wrestler Rates Second In Nation

Rick Bradley, a spring graduate of Western Texas College, finished the 1975-76 rodeo season in second place for the national steer wrestling title in the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association (NIRA).

Bradley went into the College National Finals Rodeo (CNFR) in Boyeman, Montana, with 404 points. At the CNFR, he threw his first two steers in 5.4 and 4.7 seconds and went into the Saturday night (top 10) in third place. On Saturday night he threw his steer in 4.5 seconds, good enough for second place in the short go. His total time of 14.6 seconds was good enough for second place in the average at the CNFR.

From the points Bradley earned at the CNFR and points he had accumulated during the year, he rated second in the nation in steer wrestling.

Another WTC team member, Larry Turner, qualified for the CNFR in bull riding. He marked a 57 on his first bull and 67 on his second bull, not good enough to make the top 10.

Van Rigby, WTC rodeo sponsor, also attended the CNFR and commented that the Southwest Region, in which WTC competes, was well represented in the CNFR. Rodeo fans in this area can see these NIRA members in action at rodeos throughout the year.

For example, the national women's championship team came from New Mexico State University. Janet Crowson from NMSU, named the All-Around Cowgirl at the CNFR, won the breakaway roping. Chris Helker from ENMU won the national barrel racing championship and Jennifer Haynes from NMSU won the goat tying.

Ann Miller, originally from Lamesa and now a student at Southeastern Oklahoma University at Durant, won second in the breakaway roping.

Kay Proctor, also from Southeastern and originally from Odessa, won second in barrel racing, while third in that event went to Lesa Mann from Howard College.

The second place women's team was from ENSU.

The national men's championship title went to Southeastern Oklahoma.. The All-Around Cowboy title for the year was James Ward, a member of the Southeastern team and winner of the bareback championship. Ward is from Odessa.

Bradley plans to attend Southeastern in the fall.

WTC has sent representatives to the CNFR each year, Rigby said, and donations to the WTC Rodeo Booster Club have made these trips possible. The Rodeo Booster Club welcomes new members and contributions at any time, Rigby added, and donations may be sent to the college business office. Checks should be marked "Rodeo Scholarship Fund." Anyone wishing further information about rodeo activities at WTC is invited to contact Rigby.

HEALTH TIP
from DEAN

If you wear glasses, be aware that under slight impact, ordinary glass lenses can shatter into hundreds of dangerous slivers. The National Safety Council advises safety glass-90 percent of the 500,000 eye injuries each year in the U.S. could be avoided if people wore eyewear with protective lenses. These are of two types: case-hardened glass lenses and resin-plastic lenses, each costing slightly more than plain glass lenses. This is wise insurance for something as valuable as eyesight.

Mom Anxious About Teens' Crash Diet

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune N Y News Synd Inc

DEAR ABBY: I have two daughters, 16 and 19, who eat like stevedores, then force themselves to up-chuck so they can eat again without gaining any weight. They also take a lot of laxatives for the same reason.

About a year ago they were both overweight and went on a diet I thought was sensible at the time. But after they got skinny, they started with the throwing-up business and laxatives to stay thin.

I have tried to tell them they are ruining their stomachs, but they won't listen to me. They are both underweight now and think they look wonderful. They look sick to me.

I am beginning to think there is something more wrong with these girls than just the determination to be thin. Would a psychiatrist help?

WORRIED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Yes, a psychiatrist would help. The condition from which your daughters are suffering is well-known to the medical profession. I urge you to get the girls into therapy as soon as possible.

DEAR ABBY: I was glad to see that letter in your column from the husband who was completely "turned off" sex since watching the birth of his child.

It just bears out what I've always maintained: when one's husband witnesses such an event, it's the end of the romance!

No one could ever persuade me to allow my husband in the delivery room. I agree with the writer; it's a sickening and revolting affair, but unfortunately that's the way all babies come into the world, so we just have to put up with it.

Just the same, I think it's ridiculous to try to make a "beautiful and fulfilling experience" out of something that is clearly ugly.

I say, for goodness' sake, keep the husband OUT and away from the scene of birth if you want to keep romance IN your marriage.

I love my children, but I loathe the birth process.

MOTHER OF TWO (TORONTO)

DEAR MOTHER: I've never regarded the birth process as "sickening and revolting," but ugliness—like beauty—lies in the eye of the beholder. So to each his own.

DEAR ABBY: You were much too soft on smokers when you said: "Don't give the back of your hand to those who have to recognize the hazard of their habit or are unable (or unwilling) to give it up.'

Abby, the air pollution generated by smokers has too long been tolerated by nonsmokers, whether out of timidity, ignorance or lifelong training. There is now ample evidence that tobacco smoke is just as injurious to the health of exposed nonsmokers as it is to that of smokers. Furthermore, it stinks, clings to clothing, hair and upholstery, and fogs windows.

You can bet your syndication that I don't permit people to smoke in my home or car!

W.H. VAN DEN BERG

DEAR VAN: I am hearing from an increasing number of readers who say they have finally gathered the guts to tell their guests that if they must smoke, please go outside. (And I just may join their ranks.)

DEAR ABBY: While emptying my husband's pockets before sending his clothes to the dry cleaners, I came across a book of matches on which was written (in his own hand), "Is there any way I can see you tonight?"

Do you think he was unfaithful to me?

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Not necessarily. Just hoping to be.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

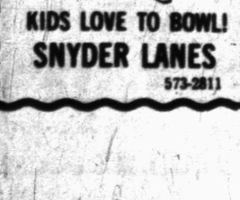

Alamo Statue Nixed By Hill

AUSTIN (AP) — The Daughters of the Republic of Texas have been told they can not put a new statue in the Alamo, if they have to dig a hole four feet deep for the base.

The decision came Friday from Atty. Gen. John Hill on a request made by Gov. Dolph Briscoe. Briscoe said "a private charitable fund has donated a substantial sum" to the DRT for the purpose of a statue depicting four heroes of the battle of the Alamo. He said the statue would be about eight feet high on a five foot granite pedestal, that would require an excavation of about four feet within the Alamo.

Hill referred the governor and the DRT to the 1905 legislative measure giving the Alamo property to the custody and care of the DRT provided "that no changes or alterations shall be made in the Alamo church proper, as it now stands, except such as are absolutely necessary for its preservation."

"In our opinion," said Hill, "the excavation to a depth of four feet would without qestion constitute a 'change' in the Alamo church. As a result, we believe that the placement of a statue in the Alamo church proper which would require such an excavation would violate the terms of the statute."

Supersonic Bomber Authorized

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-House conference committee has authorized production of the new B1 supersonic bomber. But the congressional battle over the controversial aircraft is not over.

Opponents say the issue will be raised again when the compromise $32.5-billion weapons procurement bill comes back to the House and Senate for final votes.

The fight also is likely to be renewed in Senate consideration of a $105-billion defense appropriation bill that includes $960 million for the first three planes of a 24-plane fleet expected to cost $22 billion.

The House has voted twice to support the Pentagon plan to place initial B1 production orders in November.

The Senate on May 20 adopted 44 to 37 an amendment to defer initial production spending until the newly inaugurated president can certify that he has reviewed the latest prototype flight test data and finds the B1 program to be in the national interest.

The amendment, sponsored by Sen. John C. Culver, D-Iowa, was dropped Friday in a Senate-House conference adjusting differences in the military procurement bill.

In a statement declaring his continued opposition to "this wasteful and unnecessary program," Culver said that unless the decision is reversed "American taxpayers will be dunned for nearly $22 billion."

The conference also settled on a $6.7-billion 17-ship Navy shipbuilding program, including one new Trident nuclear-powered submarine, four attack submarines, and advance procurement for a fourth nuclear-powered carrier.

Authorization of a nuclear-powered strike cruiser requested by President Ford was deferred.

Man Held Here For Houston

City Police reported taking one person into custody early Saturday morning.

After stopping a car at the intersection of Nineteenth Street and Avenue R shortly after 5 a.m. Saturday for an alleged traffic violation, officers learned that a warrant from Houston had been issued for the arrest of the driver of the vehicle.

Frederick W. Shelby, 51, was placed in county jail on a warrant charging him with auto theft. He is being held here until he can be returned to Houston.

El Paso Acquires 19 Acres Of Land

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — The City of El Paso has acquired 19 acres of land that was formerly used as a gunnery range for Ft. Bliss soldiers.

The land parcel, the former Castner range area, is one of 11 federally-owned parcels of land in 11 states to be transferred to cities, counties and states under a program called "Legacy of Parks."

Dutch Patients Are Doing Well

HOUSTON (AP) — The first seven of an estimated 300 Dutch patients who will undergo open heart surgery here in the next 12 months were reported in satisfactory condition today following their operations.

"All did well," Dr. Denton A. Cooley, internationally-known cadiovascular surgeon, told newsmen a few hours after the Friday surgery.

Cooley, who headed the Texas Heart Institute teams which performed the operations, said the seven were doing "extremely well."

The surgeon said all of the men were "sicker than most patients" who go to the institute for surgery but he added he expects them to recover and resume productive lives.

The seven were to remain in the intensive care unit of St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital in the Texas Medical Center for at least 48 hours following surgery. They are expected to be released in about 10 days and back in Holland in two weeks.

Cooley said his team performed 25 cardiovascular procedures Friday including 21 open heart cases and he sees no problem accomodating monthly contingents of 25 Dutch patients at the institute.

"We do about 100 patients a week in our hospital and an additional 25 patients a month wouldn't strain our facilities and personnel excessively," he said.

The seven men arrived in Houston from The Netherlands Wednesday. Arrangements for the airlift of heart patients has been made by the Dutch Heart Patients Association which contends The Netherland facilities are not adequate and hospitals are overcrowded.

Hank Fievet, a former Dutch heart patient from Breda who started the organization to bring his countrymen to Houston, said as many as 6,000 Dutch need heart surgery but cannot get it in The Netherlands.

Cooley said he understood the number of heart surgery candidates in Holland is much lower, perhaps about 1,200 but the institute can easily add to its 5,500 patients annually to handle the Dutch patients.

Scientists Are Confident Of Mars Landing Zone

By RICHARD SALTUS
AP Science Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — There are knobs, windswept or water-etched ridges, craters and bright lines that look like highways or earthquake-fault cracks, but is there a landing strip on Mars for Viking 1?

With little more than a week left before the spacecraft sets down on the rocky, pock-marked Martian surface, scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory fitted together a jigsaw puzzle of closeup shots of Mars' surface and said Friday they remain confident a relatively smooth 144-by-60-mile landing zone exists.

Photographs relayed by the orbiting spacecraft showed myriad rocky knobs, craters and wind-or water-swept formations cut into the planet's surface.

Dr. Harold Masursky, head of the landing site team, added that long, bright lines on the surface — which he had earlier called "freeways" — may be faults, like the cracks on earth caused by fracturing of the crust.

The landing team at JPL has been scrutinizing the photos taken by the craft during its daily orbit around the planet, using a special viewer that enables them to distinguish the planet's peaks from its valleys.

The search for a suitable landing spot relies in part on scientific guesswork, since the Viking's camera cannot yet pick out objects less than several hundred feet across.

Dr. Harold Masursky, head of the landing site team, said scientists rely on geological knowledge of the earth and its moon to project what smaller objects might be there to damage or capsize the unmanned Viking lander.

The landing craft, a three-legged bundle of scientific instruments, will be guided from earth until separation from the mother ship July 4. After that, the entire landing operation is up to a preprogrammed sequence on the lander itself.

The overall landing region, called Chryse (Greek for "Land of Gold" and rhymes with "icy"), is an area of gently rolling plains and is relatively smooth. Chryse was chosen on the basis of earlier photographs of Mars, and scientists think the area may have been covered by water in large quantities eons ago.

Wind and water swept deposits blanket Chryse, scientists believe, and the region seems a likely area to search for any signs of Martian life.

Masursky said the photos from Viking have shown four types of features in Chryse. They are fluid features such as streambeds and islands that might have been eroded by massive floods; knobs of ancient bedrock sticking up here and there through younger lava flows; etched areas where water or wind hollowed out pits, and numerous craters marking the impact of meteorites.

Farm Exports Near Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — With two months remaining in the 1975-76 fiscal year, farm exports nudged within $3.4 billion of the Agriculture Department's predicted record of $21.9 billion this season.

During the 10 months from last July 1 through April 30, farm exports were valued at $18.5 billion, the department's Economic Research Service said Friday. Last year the 10-month total was slightly more at $18.7 billion, and the full 1974-75 year's exports were $21.6 billion.

Officials said that the volume of farm commodities during the 10 months was up 17 per cent despite the slight decline in their value caused by lower prices for some major items.

The largest markets for U.S. farm products during the 10 months included: Japan, $2.7 billion; the Soviet Union $1.6 billion; Holland and West Germany $1.4 billion each; and Canada $1.1 billion, the report said.

A's Stand Firm On Strike Threat

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland A's are standing firm on their threat to strike Sunday unless owner Charles O. Finley allows three star players to return to regular action.

"We won't crumble," said Jim Todd, the A's player representative. "We're not against Bowie Kuhn or Charlie Finley. We want to play baseball with the best players available."

The Oakland players voted Friday night to go on strike Sunday unless Finley allows pitchers Rollie Fingers and Vida Blue and outfielder Joe Rudi to play.

The three stars were sold to the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox in a $3.5 million deal June 15, but Kuhn, the baseball commissioner locked the sale. Finley has told Manager Chuck Tanner not to use the three players because they no longer are property of the A's.

"We'll play Sunday," Tanner said. "We'll have players on the field although I'm not sure who they will be."

In Tucson Friday night, General Manager Dave Cartun of the Toros, the A's Pacific Coast League farm club, said that Tucson is ready to send Finley some players if Oakland strikes.

Cartun said, "Their bags are packed and our team is ready to go."

Finley has threatened to to suspend any player who chooses to strike and replace them with minor leaguers. But at the same time, Finley also has sent telegrams to the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox asking their permission to use the three players.

Finley says he can't play the trio because he no longer owns them and would be liable for any injury they might sustain.

The A's took the strike vote after conferring with Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association, who reportedly advised the A's that a strike was an option open to them. Todd said there were no negative votes, but some players abstained.

Top Acidizer Leads Men's Softball League

Playing five innings, Wadleigh put down Snyder Well Service, 10-0, in men's softball Tuesday night. The teams followed the ten run rule.

For Wadleigh, Butch Buchanan, Bob Doolittle and M. Delong cracked singles. Don Head and Stewart clubbed doubles.

For the losers, Ricky Hopper and Mike Mosely grabbed singles.

Don Head was credited with the win, and Freddie Everton was charged with the loss.

The doubleheader's second game, N.T. Lee versus Top Acidizers, was cancelled in the first inning due to rain.

Top Acidizers slipped by Ira, 7-6, Thursday night.

For the Acidizers, Sid Perry smashed a single and double, while Greg Gafford clubbed two singles. Eddie Bane, Patterson and Hilderbrand collected singles.

Ira hitting included Wiggins, R. Daves, and New slashing two singles. Gladson rapped a double, and Sterling and Tom Daves slashed singles.

Doug Myers was awarded the win, and Jim Sterling was tagged with the loss.

A tight pitching duel highlighted the second game.

Wadleigh's Guy Sullivan and Lee 66's Tommy Hester locked horns in a hurling battle. Sullivan yielded three hits, while Hester surrendered four. Wadleigh stole the contest on the one hit difference, Bob Doolittle's third inning home run. Wadleigh won 1-0.

For Wadleigh, Doolittle knocked the homer and a single, Pat Smith and Guy Sullivan blasted singles.

For Lee's 66, Frankie Grimmett clubbed a double, and Steve Grimmett and Jerry Bob Lee clouted singles.

Sullivan grabbed the win, and Hester was handed the loss.

First half team standings are:

Top Acidizers-7 wins, 2 losses; Wadleigh-7wins, 3 losses; Ira 6 wins, 3 losses; Snyder Well Service-4 wins, 5 losses; Lee's 66-4 wins, 6 losses; N.T. Lee-0 wins, 9 losses; Games to be rescheduled are: Ira vs. Snyder Well Service; Top Acidizers vs. N.T. Lee.

A two week delay will be held before second half play is resumed.

LL Indians, Cardinals Win

Propelled by a six run outburst in the fifth stanza, the Indians shot past the Cubs, 8-5, in Little League baseball last night.

For the Indians, Tracey Neves cracked two singles. Curtis Gafford clubbed a double, and Monte Gambol collected a single.

John Overton led Cub batters smashing two doubles and a single. Britt Vincent sliced a double, while David Raschke and Mark Cypert came up with singles.

Both pitchers had strong control. John Overton was tagged with the loss, but fanned 11 batters. Curtis Gafford was credited with the win and struck out 10 batters.

The Cardinals ripped off 12 hits to bomb the Braves, 23-11, in the second game.

Bryan Limmer smashed a homer run and a single to lead Card hitters. David Gee chalked up three singles, and David Guiterrez rapped a double and single. Paul Ellis cracked two sinhgles. Doug Scott smacked a double, and Steve Gressett, Paul Tate and Carlos Melgar collected singles.

For the Braves, White Parks slashed a single and a double. Dennis Young, Keith Wallace, Billy Clayton and Chris Wadleigh grabbed singles.

David Guiterrez was awarded the win, and Dennis Young was charged with the loss.

Little League action tomorrow night will be highlighted with the White Sox facing the Giants, and the Indians battling the Yankees.

Finley Won't Play Trio

Oakland owner Charles O. Finley, facing mounting pressure from Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn on one hand and a threatened strike by his A's players on the other, says he's standing firm in his decision not to use three stars he tried to sell for $3.5 million last week.

"I will not play them," Finley said adamantly Friday night following an exchange of telegrams during which Commissioner Kuhn threatened "grave consequences" should Finley not change his position and instruct A's Manager Chuck Tanner to use pitchers Vida Blue and Rollie Finers and outfielder Joe Rudi.

"I'm not concerned about the grave consequences," Finley declared. "Tell him to fire his guns."

Indians, Cards Win In FL

In a hard hitting game, the Indians clubbed the Cubs, 14-13, in Farm League baseball last night.

The Indians racked up 15 hits, while the Cubs chalked up 12.

Danny Brooks and Jimmy Brooks led batters. Danny clouted a single and two doubles, while Jimmy snatched a single, a double and a triple. Jesse Zamora and Cary Gunset had hot bats, grabbing three singles. Ken Davis and Ken Rinecones came up with singles.

For the Cubs, Darryl Boone smashed a double and two singles. Wayne Goswick, Jerry Comstock and Ricky Comstock sliced two one baggers. Bill Newton, Larry Light and Jackie Alarcorn slashed singles.

Ken Davis was awarded the win, and Tim Sconyer was charged with the loss.

Lewis Tate went five for five, and hurled a three hitter to spark the Cardinals to a 22-6 slaughter of the Braves in the second game.

Tate clubbed three singles and two doubles for the winners. Mike McWilliams knocked a double. Jerrald Bowen nabbed a single.

For the Braves, hitting consisted of three doubles. Pat Kohl, and Vance Andress collected the two baggers. Kohl hit two.

Shawn Gould was tagged with the loss.

The Farm League doubleheader tomorrow night includes the White Sox tussling with the Giants, and the Yankees tangling with the Indians.

Ali-Inoki Match Said A 'Yawn'

TOKYO (AP) — Muhammad Ali, a stingless bee floating like a perplexed butterfly, barely managed to eke out a 15-round draw Saturday with a Japanese pro wrestler who spent most of the match on his back like a quarrelsome crab.

Billed as the World Martial Arts Championship, it was neither martial nor artistic. In what could only be described as a 45-minute yawn, Ali landed precisely two blows to the head of his opponent, Antonio Inoki.

Many in the audience of 14,000 who paid from $17 dollars to $1,000 to watch this dubious exhibition of inaction thought, all things considered, that Inoki, a lantern-jawed gentleman who took the initiative in his curious way throughout, had won.

Ali insisted, however, that he had been on the offensive, a fact less than visible to those in the crowd unless he meant his behavior, which in most ways was offensive in the extreme toward his foe.

Wise cracks, abuse, expletives, derisive hula dancing, nose thumbing and occasional recourse to sticking his tongue out failed to lure the honorable Inoki within range of Ali's four-ounce gloves.

The American referee called it a draw, the Japanese boxing judge gave the nod to the wrestler and the wrestling judge thought it went to Ali.

Ali is to receive $6.1 million for his part in the proceedings and Inoki up to $4 million, most of the money coming from closed circuit television showings in he United States.

Besides the two punches Ali landed to Inoki's head, neither enough to stun nor floor him, the only other action in the 45-minute mismatch was when Inoki rushed Ali or knocked him to the mat with leg sweeps.

A newsman in a philosophical mood asked Ali what thoughts he had while he lay on the floor, on one occasion being sat on heavily.

Cards Down Giants; Bears Edge Tigers

Robyn Harlin batted three for three, fanned seven hitters and pitched the winning game as the Cardinals downed the Giants, 10-6, in girls' minor league softball last night.

For the Cards, Harlin collected three singles. Vicki Glasscock, Andrea Drake, Tammy Farmer, Kim Drake and Jacquelyn Pylant cracked singles. Cynthia Alarcorn grabbed two one baggers.

For the losers, Becky Pylant, and Becky Digby nabbed singles, while Kim McCarter clouted two singles.

Kim McCarter was charged with the loss.

In the top of the fourth, the Bears broke a 13-13 deadlock to sneak by the Tigers 14-13 in mini-minor league play last night.

For the Bears, Jackie Parham led hitters with two singles, while Crissy Natividad chalked up one single.

For the Tigers, Diana Malina, Becky Gray and Audra Blackard rapped singles.

As hitting shows, the game was a fierce contest, but the Bears simply ended with the most runs.

Girls' softball returns to action tomorrow night with the Bears taking on the Bobcats, and the Green Hornets going up against the Red Devils.

Oilers Romp Over Buffs

Keith Bryant fired a three hitter, including nine strikeouts and eight walks to lead the Oilers in a 12-3 romp over the Buffs in Teenage League baseball last night.

Billy Stephens and Richard Crayton cracked singles, and Gerald Snyder clubbed a double for the Buffs' hits.

For the Oilers, David Lee, Mike Hicks and Keith McClain collected singles. David Zacijeck and Keith Bryant grabbed two singles, while David Lee picked up a double.

Richard Crayton was charged with the loss.

Teenage League baseball tomorow night features the Dodgers clashing with the Rebels.

FOOTBALL:

June 24—A team headed by Jackie Anderson defeated the Roy Gutierrez team, 42-30. Don Jeffrey led scorers with four touchdowns.

BASKETBALL:

June 24—Few points were made but fourteen boys enjoyed trying. The top point maker was Willie Johnson.

BOXING:

Twenty-nine boys have signed up for boxing, but good boxing shows are hard to get due to the difference in age and weights. Only one bout took place this week, and was a good one. Dennis Martinez, age 8 and 69 pounds, fought to a draw with Chris Lofan, age 8 and 66 pounds.

Tennis and badminton will be added to the list this week.

CHECKS ANGLE—Checking the angle which to wear the hat, Lee looks into her dressing table mirror. The purple velvet hat, stitched and trimmed with beautiful shrimp soutache braid is 60 years old. Mrs. Ilene Newton bought it when she was a young girl. She remembers that her father, N.M. Harpole, let her charge it at Sears Dry Goods store in Snyder.

65-YEAR-OLD HAT—Lee Falls, Rt. 1 Snyder, models a 65 year old hat from the collection of Freida von Roeder Murphy. The natural straw, trimmed with 3 avacoda green, handmade flowers, was the honeymoon hat of Freida's cousin. The hat on the stand belonged to the late Kate Thrane.

SPANISH SHAWL—Lee plans to show off this beautiful Spanish shawl at the Pioneer Skills Festival on July 3rd. The shawl belonged to the late Mrs. J. Wright Mooar. Mooar bought it for his wife when they were on a trip to Spain. Mooar's granddaughter, Mrs. S.D. Hays, Jr., now owns the colorful wrap.

TAFFETA HAT—Wearing Kate Thrane's fancy rose silk taffeta hat, Lee is planning resitation on "Hats" for the old fashioned Millinery Shoppe at the July 3rd celebration at the Scurry County Coliseum. She holds a navy blue velvet cloche that is 50 years old. It belongs to Ophelia Dorward Blackard of Snyder.

A Little About One Or Two Hundred Things

By JEAN EVERETT

When I arrived at the Pat Fall's country home, Lee was beautiful in a black, lace, long frock. She quickly explained that the dress was of the 1923 or '24 era, and it was designed and sewn by her sister, Elizabeth Hays Williams, now of Booneville, Arkansas. Elizabeth made it to wear to an affair at West Texas State College, Canyon, Texas, when she was selected as a Favorite. The hem was edged in picot, and the black lace bodice had a beige insert. The skirt was cut in bias strips. It was lovely, and I assured Lee it would be very appropriate for the Millinery Shoppe at the July 3rd Pioneer Skills Festival.

Boxes upon boxes were stacked in the living room. Lee opened them excitedly, telling about each hat and expressing her appreciation for the response the ladies had given her when she asked for their old hats. I understood her dilemma as she tried to decide which ones to use for the "showing". I agreed it would be impossible to model them all.

Lee was delighted with the collection of Mrs. Wade Winston, 2700 Thirty-second Street. Longtime resident of Snyder, Mrs. Winston's husband and brother, Harrie, established the Winston Brothers registered Hereford cattle ranch. Mrs. Winston, who apparently had a hat for every occasion, has kept her hats since 1928.

A black, veiled straw, ordered from New York City looks as stunning today as it must have years ago when Faye Harrell first purchased it. Her sister's, Myrtle, natural straw by Ninc Ricci is a wide brim cloche, very much "in" even for today's woman.

Other hats on loan which Lee is to show at the Pioneer Skills Festival are from: Mrs. Cub Murphy of Ira, Mrs. Jim Sorrells and Mrs. Ed Sorrells of the Murphy Community, Mrs. Whitt Thompson, Mrs. Hugh Taylor, Mrs. Sam Hays and Mrs. A.D. Erwin of Snyder. Lee also will be showing Granny Greene's bonnet (Mrs. John Greene) and hats having belonged to Mrs. Dan Whatley, the mother of Edith McKanna, Mrs. Judge Brice, and Mrs. Stoker, Guy's mother. In addition to these, Lee plans to have hats from a 4 generation gamily, the late Mrs. J.C. Dorward, Mr.Ophelia Dorward Blackard, Mrs. Clinta Blackard Williams and her daughter, Elizabeth Jane of Booneville, Ark.

The Millinery Shoppe is sponsored by the Historical Survey Commmission and will feature Mrs. Lee and Mrs. Ina Fargason of Hermleigh. Mrs. Lee will be modeling hats and giving a recitation and tribute to the hat and each owner. Mrs. Fargason will be trimming a hat. In the years when custom made hats were the "thing", Ina worked in Dallas as a hat trimmer and later as a milliner for a Miss Mills in Colorado City.

The hat she makes will be drawn for and given away at the end of the Festival. The millinery Shoppe is to be decorated with hats from 20 to 65 years old.

Joint Heart Project Is Success

HOUSTON (AP) — Russian and American scientists term "extremely exciting and successful" a joint project which involved the implanting of artificial hearts in calves.

Dr. John E. Chimoskey, professor of physiology and surgery at Baylor College of Medicine here, said Friday the Russian's week-long visit concludes the first phase of the two country's joint artificial heart project. The same team members held a similar working session in Moscow last month.

Dr. George P. Monn, professor of surgery at Baylor, led the Baylor team which implanted an American mechanical heart in a calf Thursday.

A similar operation was performed on another calf Friday with Dr. Titsian L. Egorov, director of the Artificial Heart Laboratory in Moscow, implanting a Soviet-designed mechanical heart.

Chimoskey said nothing was technically "new" about the procedures performed by members of the U.S.-USSR Joint Artificial Heart Task Force but he stressed the scientists learned more by sharing in the operations and discussions than they could have without the cooperative program.

Both operations were performed in Baylor's Taub Laboratories for Mechanical Circulatory Support, where Chimoskey is the scientific director.

Noon said the procedures lasted about four hours and in both instances the calves recovered from anesthesia before being allowed to die.

The scientists described the operations as well as the overall program during a news conference.

There was no firm prediction on when similar mechanical devices will be ready for widespread human patient use.

The Baylor group will implant Russian models in animals over the next few months while the Soviets will study the American devices back in Moscow.

"Vernard Johnson plays a 'committed saxophone.' His witness by voice and instrument has been a blessing to our fellowship."
Robert E. Naylor
President, Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary

"The black brothers and sisters who heard Vernard play and give his testimony at our youth conference were electrified and truly saw the power of the Holy Spirit in the life and witness of this young man."
Clint Hooper,
National Director of the Black Campus Campus Ministry,
Campus Crusade for Christ International

"Vernard has an unbelievable combination of Natural Gift, Training, and the manifestation of the power of the Holy Spirit."
Reverend E.V. Hill,
Founder and President

"Vernard Johnson interprets with his saxophone religious music with spiritual depth that reaches the soul."

VERNARD JOHNSON

"SAXOPHONE FOR CHRIST"

"Vernard Johnson has unusual gifts, and he is a very impressive artist who employes the saxophone to bring his message to the hearts and minds of those who hear him. His presence at our Board of Directors meeting last January added tremendous religious fervor, and was widely acclaimed by the vast crowds that heard him."
Dr. J.H. Jackson,
A.M., B.D., D.D.,
President of The National Baptist Convention, Inc.

Born in Kansas City, Kansas, Vernard is a graduate of Kansas State Teacher's College in Emporia, Kansas. He is presently studying toward a Doctor's degree in music at Southwestern Baptist Theological Semihary in Fort Worth, Texas in church music. He will be the first black student ever to receive a Master of Church Music and a Doctor of Musical Arts degree from Southwestern, the world's largest seminary.
His gifted and dedicated talents have given him the opportunity to make appearances with such people as Billy Graham, Tom Skinner and to be on programs with such gospel artists as Andre Crouch, The Edwin Hawkins Singers, Professor James Cleveland, Shirley Caesar and many others. Many known gospel critics have hailed him as the greatest gospel saxophonist who has ever lived.

"'Ecstasy etched by a saxophone' might be the best words to use for Vernard Johnson's renditions of gospel music. This young musician handles the sax with the deft touch of a master - like a skilled artist using a brush or a skilled surgeon using a scalpel. He makes his instrument speak the vocabulary of music and emotion: it sings, shouts, cries, pleads, tugs, celebrates and proclaims the gospel of the God to whom Vernard has dedicated his saxophone."
Dr. WM. B. Tolar,
Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary
