CITY MANAGER DEFENDS 'ZEALOUS' POLICE

Tom Love Announces For Governor As 'Life-Long Democrat'

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

The year 1929 will have the lowest tuberculosis death rate ever recorded in the United States, says a statement from the Metropolitan Life Insurance company which is based upon the company's own record.

"It is not enough to say that tuberculosis is destined to be displaced as one of the leading causes of death," says the insurance company's statistical bulletin. "It is, indeed, going to rank among the relatively minor causes of death; and the end of the next decade should see it well on its way to a death rate of 40 per 100,000." It is now around 90.

Probably the most effective agency in reducing the tuberculosis death rate has been the National Tuberculosis association of which there is an active branch in Wichita county.

This is what a campaign of education and prevention has done in reducing the death rate from what 25 years ago was the greatest cause of death among the American people.

The work of the National Tuberculosis association and the Wichita County Tuberculosis association is financed through the sale of Christmas seals. Perhaps you received a package of these seals through the mails before Christmas, and have failed to send in your check for the same. Know this, that your contribution will be used in a fight that is slowly but surely winning against a scourge that is slowly giving way to medical science and to the forces of education.

Wichita county reduced its bonded indebtedness by $279,000 in 1929 and begins the new year with $388,962.90 in the treasury. The net indebtedness of the city is now around $1,775,000. Not many counties, we believe, can report a better showing. It is now some time since Wichita county voted any kind of a bond issue and in the meantime many hundreds of thousands of dollars of bonds have been paid and cancelled. We like to report such progress in the reduction of the county's bonded indebtedness.

One hundred and twenty million people in the United States pay a daily grocery bill of approximately 50 million dollars. This is at the rate of a fraction more than 40 cent per person. One grocery store is in operation for each 315 people. These estimates are made by H. W. Ryan of the Monroe Calculating Machine company. Chain groceries, it is estimated, are doing one-third of the total volume of the grocery business.

Our old friend Tom Pickett calls over the telephone to say hello. Mr. and Mrs. Pickett drove up from King county where Tom is employed on the 6666 ranch and is a county commissioner to visit their daughter, Mrs. George Dobson and family. They made the trip in a new Ford.

Tom was constable 14 years in precinct 1 here and probably caught more horse thieves than any other constable in Texas. He used to say that all bad men came to Wichita Falls sooner or later, and their coming found Tom on the lookout for them. It was said of him that he could tell a horse thief on sight. The old days are gone and horse thieves are almost scarce as dinosaur eggs, but Tom says he would still rather have a good saddle pony than a Packard car.

Skirts are to be shorter again in the spring, says Bettina Bedewell in Liberty magazine. "In the new spring fashions," she writes, "only the knees are submerged in the flow of daytime skirt hem, while pretty legs and ankles are just as frankly visible as they ever were."

Reduced fares have brought the airlines operating in this section a heavy traffic. On several occasions more passengers have been at the airport than the ships could carry when "double headers" were run. This shows, for one thing, that the people have grown more air minded and are not afraid to travel by airplane. If the low air rates are continued there will be further loss of passenger travel by the railroads.

The bus lines have taken a big part of the short distance travel from the railroads and now the airplanes are taking a lot of long distance travel. The air lines with their low fares are also competing with both the railroads and the bus lines for the short distance travel.

The new development is making still more difficult the operation of many passenger trains by the railroads. Another reminder that ours is a world of change. What is profitable today may be a loss tomorrow. The man or the business that has not the flexibility to meet changed conditons is finding it a hard struggle for existence.

The Austin American-Statesman has been conducting a poll of the members of the Democratic state executive committee to ascertain their views on admitting the bolters into the Democratic primary. It finds that there is almost unanimous opinion in favor of welcoming the bolters back into the party, but there is division of opinion as to whether bolter candidates ought to be allowed on the ticket.

Chairman Wilcox promises to issue a statement soon and is being urged to call a meeting of the committee in the near future to decide the question.

Talker would like to see the meeting of the committee deferred for several weeks. Its members will be influenced by public opinion, as is right. Public opinion has been a little slow in expressing itself on the subject. Right now there is considerable discussion, and within 30 days opinion ought to be fairly well crystallized. The committee could then act with the judgment of the people behind it. But it's a good move to begin sounding out the committeemen and start them to making investigation themselves.

Gain in Inherited Wealth Is Taxable

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—Millions of dollars and many individuals were affected today by a supreme court holding the difference in value of securities at the time of death and the value at the time of sale of such inherited property constituted taxable income. The test case was brought by E. Franklin Brewster from western New York.

Men Lead Advice On Marriage

All of 'Em Unhappy, Says Pessimistic Male In Letter

Men of Wichita Falls and Northwest Texas know more about what it takes to make a happy marriage than do women.

At least it would seem so from the number of letters received in The Record News contest on "What Makes a Happy Marriage." In the flood of letters which came in Monday in answer to the contest, almost twice as many were written by men as by women.

Letters in the contest have varied widely, including one Monday from a pessimistic gentleman who wrote that "all marriages are unhappy. It is merely a question of how to make the best of conditions."

The Record News is giving $36 in prizes for the best 200-word letters answering the question, "What Makes a Happy Marriage?" The contest is sponsored in connection with Beatrice Burton's new novel, "Lovejoy," which begins Wednesday in The Record News. Letters will be forwarded to Miss Burton following the awarding of prizes. Two sets of awards will be given, one for the best answer from a man's viewpoint and one from a woman's viewpoint. First prizes are for $10, second prizes for $5 and third prizes for $3. The contest will close at 6 p. m. Thursday, Jan. 9. Letters should be addressed to Contest Editor, care The Record News.

LINDSEY WOULD AVERT DIVORCE

Denver Jurist Blames Courts for Conditions

Special to The Record News.

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 6.—In an analysis of the divorce problem, made public here today in connection with the question raised in Beatrice Burton's new novel, "Lovejoy," Judge Ben B. Lindsey began his discussion with the assertion that "divorce is a safety valve for our present hypocrisy, superstition, and ignorance."

The jurist, whose theories of marriage and divorce have created nation-wide discussion, went on to explain that divorce itself is not a bad thing, but that divorce courts should be so altered as to make possible only those divorces which ought to be.

"The divorce courts today are unscientific and absolutely inefficient," Judge Lindsey declared. "They are full of subterfuge, collusion, fraud, and perjury. My suggestion is for a house of human welfare in every state, a free service provided by the state, where troubled marital affairs can be sifted and every possible reconciliation achieved. In many cases people could be persuaded to change their minds instead of their mates."

The author of "Companionate Marriage" and "The Revolt of Modern Youth," expressed his disapproval of alimony and of breach of promise suits except in very exceptional instances. He argued anew for sex education. He did not claim his program to be a panacea for the divorce evil, but asserted that it would stop many adjustable differences and would at the same time encourage more marriages.

SENATOR FILES HIS NAME FOR JULY PRIMARY

Leading Texas Hoovercrat Brings Up Party Pledge As First Issue

SUPPORTED TICKET

Dallas Farmer Declares Oath of Fealty Not Morally Binding

DALLAS, Jan. 6. (AP)—Thomas B. Love, state senator and an outstanding Hoover Democrat leader in the last presidential contest which saw Texas go into the Republican column for the first time since carpet-bagger days, today filed his application with D. W. Wilcox, chairman of the Democratic state executive committee, to have his name placed on the July primary ballot as a candidate for the nomination for governor.

Senator Love flatly stated in his letter to Wilcox that he voted for "the Hoover electoral ticket" in the last election and once previously voted for a Republican, but asserted that at the same time he was "a Democrat, affiliated with the Democratic party as I have all my life."

Pledge "Not Binding"

In participating in the presidential primary conventions of 1929 and in the county and state conventions and taking the required pledge, Senator Love said, he expressly declared "neither in law nor in morals could any such pledge bind a voter to violate his conscience in casting his ballot at the general election."

His letter, mailed to Wilcox at Georgetown, follows:

"In accordance with the provisions of article 3111, revised civil statutes of Texas of 1925, I respectfully make application to have my name placed on the official ballot for the general primary election of the Democratic party to be held on the fourth Saturday in July, 1930, as a candidate for governor of Texas. I am sending this application by registered mail, as provided in said article.

Life-Long Democrat

"My occupation is that of a lawyer and a farmer. I reside in Dallas county, Texas. My postoffice address is rural free delivery route No. two, Lancaster, Texas, and I am 59 years of age.

Ex-Slave, 104 and Native African, Visits Court

George Smith Tells of Sixty-Five Years of 'Runnin'

George Smith, born 104 years ago in Africa and a slave in Kentucky for almost 30 years, paid his respects to the county commissioners court here Monday afternoon. George enjoyed his 104th birthday Saturday and he visited the court to thank the commissioners for the first of his small monthly checks which came just in time for a birthday present.

The old darky, spry as a boy of 80 or so, smiled a toothless smile at the commissioners, rubbing a gnarled old hand over the thin bristle of white whiskers which grows to meet the sparse white hair about his ears.

Slave traders took him with his parents and nine brothers and sisters from Africa when he was a very small child, George told the court. He doesn't remember just how old he was, but he knows that the whole family was sold in Lexington, Ky., never to be separated or resold.

All of them belonged to Marse Jim Stokes, owner of several plantations just outside Lexington, through all the years before the civil war, George says, boasting that there wasn't one of them the marster would sell.

He remembers the war, of course, but tactfully told the court that he didn't know just what side young marster fought with.

"I was already old when the war were over," the old negro went on, "but I started wandering and I've just kep' on runnin' and runnin' ever since. Old marster just turned us loose. I never seen nothing of no 40 acres."

The former slave had no complaint to make of the days before his freedom. Marster Stokes was good to them all, was lenient in his rules and never harsh in his treatment, George says.

He made good use of his freedom, however, the aged man went on, continuing his "runnin'" through all the years since 1865. He stopped long enough to marry in San Antonio when he was about 70, George admitted.

"But I didn't like her and I quit her. Ran off" the old man said with a reminiscent grimace.

George doesn't care for automobiles. He's been in a few, he said, but he doesn't really approve of them. Airships, he admits, are wonderful, but his most definite and final "no" came in answer to an invitation to ride in one.

"I thought the world was coming to an end when I first saw one. I shor' did. And I ain't so sure yet that I weren't right" George explained.

"Well, they're alright" he grumbled. "Yes, they're alright. I'll say this for them, anyway, they can beat me talking."

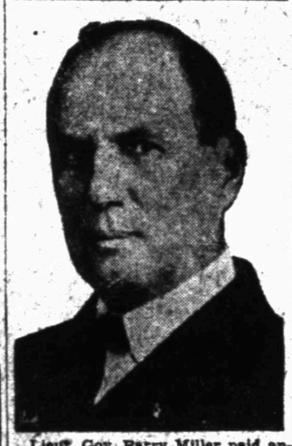

The old man's friends say he is enjoying a real second sight, that his hearing and vision and his use of his body have improved from a condition of feebleness a few years ago. George doesn't quite agree with them.

"I'll be blind as a bat next year" he announced cheerfully. For the present though, until the calamity befalls him, he continues to do his own cooking and sewing, living alone in a tiny cottage here.

The aged negro, versed in the old-time courtesy, struggled to his feet and attempted a formal speech of appreciation for the monthly check which the commissioners have agreed to send to him.

"Lord bless you and I know he's going to bless me anyway" he ended, turning to walk away in the care of friends.

Here Again

Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller paid another visit to Wichita Falls Monday when he attended Odd Fellows meeting.

FREE BRIDGE BATTLE LOOMS

Proponents Face Long Fight Says Barry Miller

Texas and Oklahoma will experience more difficulties in bringing to a settlement the question of free bridges across Red river than in solving the present disagreements over license tags, in the opinion of Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller, who was in Wichita Falls for a short visit Monday in connection with his duties as grand master of the Texas I. O. O. F.

"They're having a particularly hot time of it right now in Hardeman county," he said.

"Wichita county has been fortunate in securing its free bridge at a time when other river crossings are subject of controversy and when a settlement between residents of the two states is sure to be difficult."

With reference to his reported candidacy for the governorship of Texas at the next election, Lieutenant Governor Miller "had nothing to say."

"I am here on business which has no connection with my position in state affairs of government and I do not wish to give time or thought to political connections while I am attending to that business."

DALLAS MEETING EVOLVES PLAN

TEXAS ROBBERY SUSPECT SLAIN

Two Arrested, Three Escape Near Coleman

COLEMAN, Texas, Jan. 6. (AP)—Seeking the robbers of the Lohn State bank, Coleman county officers today killed one man and arrested two others, while three escaped into the dense brush on the edge of the Jennings oil field near here.

They came upon the six men in a shack at the edge of the field late today. The car in which the robbers escaped from Lohn was in front of the roughly built house. In it was found most of the $1,587 taken today in the holdup.

Officers entered the house and ordered the men to throw up their hands. They marched the six out and started toward their cars when one of them made a break for liberty.

He was shot to death by bullets from the gun of Deputy Sheriff Bob Summerall. In the confusion three of the remaining five escaped.

The other two men, who protested their innocence, did not attempt to gain their liberty. Taken to the Coleman county jail, they said their car was stolen by the other four men yesterday afternoon, and that they had gone to the shack to recover it. They were held for questioning.

The dead man, taken to a Coleman undertaking establishment, was identified by Cashier W. F. Roberts Jr. of the Lohn State bank as one of two men who met him when he opened the bank this morning, forced him to open the vault, scooped up the money and locked him in the vault.

Fresh Crime Wave In Wake of Police Cut

Since then there have been two murders, 67 holdups, 12 shootings and four stabbings. Dismissal of the policemen, said Russell, was responsible for the most part for the sudden crime wave.

JURY PROBES TREATMENT OF CITY PRISONERS

"Much Ado About Nothing," Fairtrace's Comment on Claims

CHARGES' EXPLAINED

Holdup Victim Identified Negro Women, Says Manager

"Much ado about nothing."

Such was the comment of George D. Fairtrace, city manager, Monday afternoon concerning charges of mistreatment at the hands of city police brought before the grand jury of the 30th district court on behalf of two negro women.

Information alleging that the two women had been denied their constitutional rights was placed in the hands of officials, and Judge P. A. Martin Monday morning ordered grand jurors to investigate the charges and other claims against officers with a view to determining the facts in the cases.

"There are numerous things far more serious than that for the grand jury to work on," Mr. Fairtrace said.

"The two negro women connected with this case were positively identified by a man who claimed he had been hijacked. They were arrested on descriptions furnished police when the man came to headquarters and their appearance followed out the description. The man went so far as to describe the voice of one of the women.

Police Within Rights, He Says

"The women were placed in a cell merely for the purpose of questioning the next morning. If I am right, a suspected person can legally be held by police for 24 hours without privilege of bond. It is claimed that they were incarcerated when the circumstances did not justify the actions. What more would it take to justify the actions of the officers in that case?

"As to their being undressed and maltreated, as was claimed, they were merely asked to remove their outer garments in order to ascertain whether they had money or weapons on them, and that in the presence of several other women prisoners. If they were maltreated, it was because they resisted and force would be necessary in any such case.

"I have made a thorough investigation of the case and I cannot suspend or discharge the officers connected with it. They were merely doing their duty and to take any such action would be to break down the morale of the entire department. An officer of the law must have certain powers. Otherwise, he cannot carry out his duty or his orders in making an arrest. Other officers would have but small incentive to arrest criminals or suspects if in doing so they thought they faced suspension or discharge.

"I think the entire affair is making a mountain out of a mole hill and placing unfair notoriety on a sincere attempt to carry out expected duties."

Judge P. A. Martin of the 30th

Two Army Fliers Killed in Crash Of Two Planes Over Galveston Post

GALVESTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—Lieut. Clarence C. Mitchell, 25, and Sergeant Julius T. Bihami, 32, of the third attack group, Fort Crockett, were killed early this afternoon when their plane collided with another half mile west of the Fort Crocket landing field.

Lieut. William C. Mills, pilot of the other plane and Sergeant Lindsay Braxton, passenger, saved their lives by jumping with their parachutes. Lieutenant Mitchell and Sergeant Bihami crashed to the ground with their ship. An investigation is being conducted by attack group authorities.

Lieutenant Mitchell was graduated from the advanced flying school at Kelly field, Oct. 12, 1928, and reported to Fort Crockett two days later for active duty as a reserve officer.

Sergeant Bihami was born in Budapest but enlisted from New York City where a sister resides. He had been in the service 10 years and at Fort Crockett one year.

Lieutenant Mills is also a reserve on active duty with the group.

TOM LOVE OUT FOR GOVERNOR

Dallas Senator Announces His Candidacy

have all my life. At the last general election I voted for every candidate on the Democratic ticket from United States senator to constable inclusive and I voted for the Hoover electoral ticket. I participated in the presidential primary conventions of 1929 and in the county and state conventions and took the required pledge, expressly declaring that neither in law nor in morals could any such pledge bind a voter to violate his conscience in casting his ballot at the general election. This declaration was based upon the well known principle of law that any pledge of future political action must be void insofar as it may require a violation of the conscience of the one making the pledge, and upon the holding of our appellate courts that any agreement limiting the freedom of a voter to cast his vote in accordance with the dictates of his conscience is void.

Agrees With Opinion

"I also declared, at all times, that the opinion of the attorney general of Texas, rendered to the chairman of the Democratic executive committee of Dallas county was correct in holding that the action of the Democratic state executive committee in prescribing a pledge as a condition of participating in the presidential primaries of 1928 was a nullity because wholly unauthorized by the laws of Texas.

"I also participated in the general primary election held on the fourth Saturday in July, 1928, and supported and voted for all the nominees of that primary election at the general election.

"Throughout my life, since becoming a voter, I have supported every nominee of the Democratic party for every office at every election except that, along with hundreds of thousands of Texas Democrats, I supported George C. Butte, the Republican nominee for governor in 1924, and, along with a majority of the voters of Texas, the leading Democratic state of the union, I voted for the Hoover electors in 1928.

"In compliance with the provisions of art. 3116, revised civil statutes, I enclose check for $100 payable to your order."

In making public the fact he had written to Mr. Wilcox, Senator Love added nothing to the text of his letter. He refrained from referring to former Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, whose nomination at Houston preceded Senator Love's change of support to President Hoover, both in the epistle and in verbal statements.

BOLTER QUESTION SPLITS COMMITTEE

AUSTIN, Jan. 6. (AP)—The question of barring as candidates in the Democratic primary, those persons who failed to support the party nominees from president to constable in the general election of 1928, has divided the state Democratic executive committee.

This is apparent from expressions obtained by the Associated Press from committee members. While several of the 31 committeemen prefer to keep their silence and vote their convictions when the committee votes on issue, enough have positive opinions to make apparent a "split" within the ranks of those who remained loyal to all nominees.

The filing by Senator Tom Love of Dallas of his application for a place on the primary ballot will doubtless bring the agitation to a head and cause some action on part of the committee within the next few weeks.

Some opposing the barring of the bolters are taking the position that it is a matter of expediency to refrain from taking such severe punitive measures.

"A martyr is a dangerous adversary," is the way Earl M. Greer, of Wills Point, member of the executive committee, expressed himself.

Wichita Falls I. O. O. F. Honors Texas Grand Master in Ceremony Here

Honoring Barry Miller, lieutenant governor of Texas and grand master of Odd Fellows in Texas, the Wichita Falls lodge of the order gave a banquet at the Wichita club Monday evening at which more than 50 Odd Fellows were present.

The program of entertainment for the lieutenant governor began at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon when he arrived on the train and was met by a reception committee who escorted him to the offices of J. B. Marlow. There a large group of Odd Fellows gathered to meet the visitor and discuss with him affairs of the order in Texas. Free Bridge Battle Looms

The conference, called by Atty. Gen. R. L. Bobbitt of Texas, had for its purpose the working out of a plan whereby free bridges may be put in operation across the Red river with remuneration of the owners of toll bridges in operation.

Discussion was limited to the Colbert bride, near Denison.

Cone Johnson, member of the Texas Highway Commission, announced an agreement under which a proposal would be made to the Oklahoma State Highway Commission to permit the operation of the bridge by the Red River Bridge company at the current toll rates of 75c for an automobile during the time a new state-owned bridge and its approaches are being built, a time estimated around two years.

The state then would pay the company a sum equal to the replacement value of the bridge. If the proposal is acceptable to the Oklahoma commission, which body was the only party to the controversy not represented, then the two commissions jointly will proceed to negotiate with the owners of the bridge.

BILL INTRODUCED TO AID PROJECTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—Authority for Texas and Oklahoma to construct and operate free highway bridges across the Red river at or near highway No. 75, between the towns of Denison, Texas, and Durant, Okla., and on United States highway No. 77, between the towns of Gainesville, Texas and Marietta, Okla., would be provided under bills introduced today by Representative Cartright, Democrat, Oklahoma.

City Manager Defends Police

district court in charging the new grand jury for the January term of the 30th district court Monday, related two incidents in which, he declared, officers were "overzealous" and the persons deprived of their rights "if the cases occurred as they were reported to me."

Several persons had claimed that they were arrested but deprived of the right to be taken before a magistrate, to make bond in bailable cases and to communicate with attorneys, relatives or friends, he said. Police figured in one of the cases, but the judge did not specify the department in the other, which concerned a petty violation charged against persons from another county who were forced to pay a fine rather than submit to the delay of fighting the case.

Judge Martin recommended that indictments not be returned unless, in the opinion of the grand jurors, there is likelihood of conviction. Judge Allan Montgomery also charged the jury briefly on matters required by law. District Attorney Sam B. Spence announced that about 30 cases would be submitted by his department and that about 100 witnesses had been subpoenaed.

MAN ARRESTED BY POLICE ASKS $1,000 DAMAGES

Describing the arresting officers as the "melodrama, dime novel type of would-be heroes" who "followed the common error of the streets in assuming themselves 'the law'," J. M. Abel Monday morning filed suit for $1,000 false imprisonment damages against Ellis Summers, Chris W. Jensen and A. L. Stubblefield, plainclothes men of the city police department.

The plaintiff alleges that he was arrested without proper cause on Dec. 26 and on Dec. 31. He claims that on the first occasion, the officers shot out a tire, punctured his gasoline tank and a wheel of his car, "poked a gun in his ribs" and took him to the police station.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

HURT TO STAND, WEAK, NERVOUS

"Cardui Seemed to Build Me Up And I Was Rid of Pain," Says Virginia Lady.

Roanoke, Va.—"Some years ago, I was in a very run-down condition," writes Mrs. T. B. Akers, of 833 Nelson street, S. E., this city. "I suffered a great deal with pains in my sides and back. Standing on my feet hurt me so much, that I would get very weak and nervous.

"I knew that if I didn't get something to help me, I would have to go to bed and stay there, which is hard to do for a woman who has small children. So I kept dragging about, until one day, when feeling unusually bad and discouraged, I happened to pick up a little book with a Cardui advertisement. I decided I would try it.

"Cardui seemed to build me up at once, as I was able to do my work with ease, and was rid of the pain by the time I had taken six bottles.

"I have taken Cardui since then, whenever I felt that I needed a tonic, and it always helped me. I recommend it to my friends."

Get a bottle, today, and try it.

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Fashion revels in the soft, enchanting curves of the modern figure. Don't sacrifice that graceful contour by permitting your eyes to be bigger than your stomach. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Eat healthfully but not immoderately. When tempted to treat yourself too well, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, light a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain the modern, alluringly-rounded figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

"It's toasted"

*Be Moderate! . . . Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

150 KIWANIANS ATTEND BALL

New Officers Installed at Annual Meeting

Dr. R. H. Peterson was formally installed as new president of the Kiwanis club Monday night at the annual inaugural ball at the Wichita club when more than 150 Kiwanians and their ladies were in attendance. The principal speaker was Dr. W. Marshall Craig, pastor of the Gaston Avenue Baptist church of Dallas and a prominent member of Kiwanis.

The program opened with entertainment numbers in which Miss Niski Britain danced, accompanied by Mrs. F. R. Collard; Mrs. J. I. Harvey sang two solos accompanied by Mrs. Lester Jones; Misses Nell and Mary Jo Ellis gave a Dutch dance accompanied by Mrs. W. J. Adams, and Miss Maurine Adams gave a tap dance accompanied by Mrs. Adams.

As a token of appreciation from the entire organization, Julian Bobo presented to the retiring president and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Homer F. Sanderford, a beautiful table lamp. Mr. Sanderford responded and presented the president's pin to Dr. Peterson as new president of the club. A response was given by Dr. Peterson, who followed with a discussion of plans for the coming year and an introduction of the new officers.

The new officers are Jouette Bonner, first vice president; Eli Morgan, second vice president; R. V. Fite, treasurer; Don T. Haynes, secretary; Phillip N. Cordell, district trustee, and J. L. Jackson Jr., Roy Grimes, Shady Hale, Paul Pearson, Dr. O. W. Wilson, H. D. Wolff and William E. Young, directors.

J. L. Jackson Jr. presented the past president's pin to Mr. Sanderford and announced a comedy presentation, a take-off on the new group of officers in mock business session. Maurice Cheek took the part of Dr. Peterson, Dr. J. M. Whitworth that of Mr. Bonner, Jack Jeffus that of Mr. Morgan and Wilburn Page that of Mr. Cordell. The farce was loudly received.

The last number on the program was the address of Dr. Craig, who outlined the standards and principles of the club. His enthusiasm was as much a contribution to the effectiveness of the talk as were his words when he outlined his wishes for the club in the new year.

Laredo Sees Better Times

LAREDO, Texas, Jan. 6. (INS)—Citizens on both sides of the international border here today were cheered by the promises of officials that trade between Mexico and the United States may be resumed through the port of Laredo within three days.

Business took on a decidedly more cheerful tone in Laredo, and Mayor Albert Martin spent a busy day certifying manifests for exports into Mexico as merchants here prepared to release shipments held up since Dec. 18, when the Mexican consulate was closed.

Many Mexican citizens who customarily do their daily shopping on the American side were disappointed today when they were informed there would be a still further delay before they could bring household purchases into Mexico tax free. They sought to resume trade upon rumors that the ban had already been lifted.

District Attorney John A. Valls, whose attempt to arrest former President Plutarco Elias Calles was followed by the closing of the consulate, and whose resignation was sought, spent a busy day, prosecuting 19 cases in court and answering congratulatory telegrams from all sections of the United States.

CITY RETIRES WATER BONDS

$103,000 Purchase Voted By Council

Retirement of a $103,000 block of waterworks bonds, payable in 1960, but optional after Feb. 10 of this year, was ordered in a resolution passed by members of the city council in its regular session at the city auditorium Monday evening. The order will take up bonds 1 to 63, and 69 to 106 out of an $800,000 issue voted in 1920. Funds for the purpose are in the city treasury.

The council listened to the complaints of C. O. Quarnstrom, who protested the dumping of trash on Baylor street between Ross and Ninth streets, and City Manager George D. Fairtrace agreed to investigate the matter Tuesday.

Mr. Fairtrace told petitioners representing the Magnolia Petroleum company that the city had already ordered a left turn sign for Tenth street and Scott avenue and announced that another had been assigned the corner at Seventh and Scott.

Council voted to allow the installation of a curb filling station at 408 Ohio if it does not conflict with fire ordinances, and granted a permit for the opening of a domino parlor at 200 Mill street. The members took no action on a notice from J. H. Allison of an appeal from their decision denying a permit for a filling station at Tenth and Taylor streets.

'New Year's Party' Draws Record Crowd

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Jan. 6.—The streets of Electra tonight echoed with the bustle of the largest crowd this city has seen in months—5,000 people, it was estimated—which attended what was called the city's "New Year's party." The "party" brought to a close the "Trade in Electra" campaign sponsored by the chamber of commerce. The campaign began last October.

The crowd was not entertained at a definite meeting place, nor was there a program. The night was devoted to an inspection of the stores, which remained open until 9 o'clock, and in get-together meetings of folk residing in this neighborhood. People were present from all surrounding communities.

Robert P. Hall, manager of the chamber of commerce, expressed satisfaction with the "party" and declared the Electra trade campaign had been a decided success.

Daily Editorial

Though lions and griffins may charge on your crest
If truth be confessed, nobody's impressed—
Mere quarterings can't lift you ov - the rest.
The l.. that dim grandsires rode off to war
And rampaged and tore in a wild zeal for gore,
Doesn't count any more;
The days of the snob and le sang pur is o'er.
In these times, even kings are poor, puppety things—
Ermined jumping jacks, jerking on parliament strings.
Your family tree may reach high up in G,
But we're waiting to find out what your branch will be.
It's you, not your father, we're putting on trial;
It's your exploits, not lineage, that reaches the file;
It's the record you've made that we count worth the while.
A noble old oak may drop acorns all day.
But that doesn't say
They'll all sprout the same way—
A lot will be spoiled by a touch of decay.
You may start in the peerage or start in the steerage,
As the son of a duke or a grimy coal-heaver:
'Twill amount to the same if you're not a believer
In self, and are ready to work like a beaver.
The world scoffs at men who can't help to improve it;
It respects only brains with the power to move it.
Don't flaunt coats-of-arms or take pride in beginnings,
Your birth won't advantage or hinder your winnings.

Bridge Company Sued for Shooting

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 6. (UP)—R. E. Dodd, oil field worker, today filed a $50,800 suit against George D Keys, owner of the Ada-Konowa Bridge company, and J. H. Massay toll collector.

Dodd alleged Massay shot him in the arm with a revolver when he failed to stop to pay a toll to cross the bridge situated on the boundary between Seminole and Pontotoc county.

The suit stated Dodd intended to slow down to tell the collector passengers in the auto following would pay his toll but his brakes were defective. The alleged affray was on Dec. 8.

"Another dandy thing about the ole Louisiana lottery, it was as easy to play ever' month as it is to eventually own a bedroom set or an auto today, an' suicides was unknown," said Joe Kite, this mornin' speakin' of Wall street. After a careful survey, Miss Fawn Lippincut household editor o' the Weekly Silphorn, reports that there's more brides who know how to cook than ther are grooms who'er able to buy anything to cook.

This is the time of year when a man wonders whether he ought to buy new license plates for his car or leave it in the street and forget about it.

A co-ed declares the modern girl is afraid of nothing. Unless it be that she is afraid to be afraid of something.

Making an "Ideal Home"

A RECENT building convention in Copenhagen displayed a conglomeration of ingenious devices that bore the collective label, "The Ideal Home."

There was an automatic rubber door mat, to begin with, that brushed the mud off of the shoes of any man who stepped on it.

Then there were rubber air mattresses on the beds. The dining room table had a glass top, to make tablecloths unnecessary. Doors and windows could be opened and closed, with no effort, simply by pressing buttons. A pneumatic tube was installed to whisk letters away to the postoffice.

The whole house fairly bristled with things of this kind. The press dispatches did not say whether or not there was an automatic gadget to put the cat out for the night, but apparently every other household chore was taken care of.

We seem to have made up our minds definitely that the machine is to be our salvation, in little things as well as big things. Yet why should that word "ideal" be tacked on to a proposition of this kind? Is the process of making a home as simple as that, then? Did domestic happiness wait, through all the ages, for the invention of the electric eggbeater?

It is obvious, of course, that this label, "ideal," is only a bit of sales talk, not meant to be taken seriously. But some people will take it seriously, just the same. The luxuries of a former day are the necessities of the present. Today's family is not contented if it lacks an auto; tomorrow's bride may flounce home to mother if her husband fails to provide an automatic window opener and furnace regulator.

The whole trouble, when you stop to think about it, lies in the way that word "ideal" is used. It connotes a change in our attitude; a change whereby we elevate incidentals, meant to iron out the minor rough places in life's pathway, into items of major importance, ends in themselves, things greater than the spirit that lies behind them.

Making a home—an "ideal home," if you please—is at once the simplest and the most comple task any man faces. The statistics of any divorce court will prove that a great many people make a hopeless botch of it, and the half-scandalous activities of any quick-stepping country club married set will indicate that many more people don't meet with the success they once expected.

Yet the job is not so stupendous. A few simple, old-fashioned words, such as love, tact, kindness and forebearance, sum up the essentials.

Plainly, the man and woman who tackle this job don't really need the help of the manufacturer and the inventor. If they are not, in their own hearts, up to the task, the factories can't help them.

Two Great Leaders

MEMORIES of the two great leaders in the struggle which involved this nation 65 years ago will be revived during the coming few weeks in conpection with celebration of their birthdays. On Jan. 19 respect and reverence for Robert E. Lee will be expressed in many assemblies throughout the country, but particularly in the South. A few days later practically the same groups will honor the name of Abraham Lincoln.

On lee's anniversary some addresses, here and there, will reflect a degree of unforgiveness toward Lincoln, and the speeches which three weeks later eulogize the great president may evidence scattered cases of blindness to the magnificence of Lee's character. Such speakers, in approaching the birthday observance for these inspiring leaders, might well turn their attention to an incident which occurred two weeks ago at Marysville, Mo.

H. P. Childress, 92, was buried at Marysville, and the final gesture of the accompanying ceremonies was the sounding of taps by Nat Sisson, only a few years younger than his deceased friend. Both were buglers in the war between the states, Childress wearing the colors of the South, and Sisson those of the North. Sisson sounded the command, "Cease firing," at Appomatox, and Childress is said to have sounded the last bugle call for Lee's army on the same occasion. Immediately upon the cessation of hostilities, the two boyhood friends who had been separated for four years, joined hands and went to the Missouri town, where they have continued their friendship for more than 60 years.

The battered bugle with which Sisson sounded the end of war at Appomatox sang its last message over the grave of Childress the other day, for its owner laid it away with the passing of his friend. The incident affords an excellent illustration of the spirit which is now welding the states together more firmly than ever before in the nation's history.

Science the Last Hope

DR. ROBERT A. MILLICAN, world famous physicist of the California Institute of Technology, visions a world saved from war and its inhabitants from starvation through science. Indeed, he says science is the hope of the world. This is his conclusion:

"Looked at in the large; I do not think that there can be the slightest question that the only hope this world has of maintaining in the future a suitable balance between population and food supply is found in science; that, in the last analysis, is mankind's greatest problem."

Dr. Millican is one of the foremost scientists of the world. He is not an atheist. He belives in a great creator.

If all things as a suitable balance between population and food supply is, in his opinion mankind's greatest problem, why should the pigmies fritter away valuable time and the treasures of the world in battling over trifles?

Novelettes

Speaking via the WABC ether last Sabbath evening we unfolded a character study of the late Rudy Valentino, realizing that our listeners, if any, would probably consist mainly of women. We told of the time when we met Valentino for the first introduction up at Texas Guinan's asylum and how Rudy reacted to the charges of a Chicago editorialist, who slammed him hard because he featured a "slave bracelet" on his wrist.

Rudy, in response to our query, pounded the night club table in defense of that wrist ornament. "All gentlemen in Europe," he said, "wear them, and most of the Yankee soldiers wore them during the war. At the time, however, they were called 'identification tags.' But I don't care what anybody says. I wear it because it packs a lot of sentiment. It was given to me by my first wife, Jean Acker, and I hope it is on my wrist even when I'm dead!"

Then we told the radio audience that after he died a few days later, we elbowed our way through the huge crowds that collected in Campbell's funeral church and observed that that "slave bracelet" still decorated Rudy's lifeless wrist, and that we wondered at the time if Jean Acker had observed it, too.

After the radio program there were some telephone messages from listeners, but the one message that got the first response stated: "Please call Wickersham Number soandso and ask for Jean Acker."

We called the number, wondering, while the connection was being made, if we had offended Valentino's first wife and if she were going to give us a piece of her mind. Instead, her soft and hesitant voice said: "I am Jean Acker. Thank you for calling me. I wanted to tell you that I was deeply touched over what you said about Rudy—at least everyone hasn't forgotten him."

"I'm glad you were pleased," we said. "You see, I kinda liked that guy."

The sad woman, it appeared, swallowed hard, and then, almost on the verge of tears, answered: "I did, too. I did, too."

And then she hung up.

Dave's Noo? Room, as it could be called, is an all-night rendezvous for the Broadway stay-up-lates which include actors, alleged actors, gamblers, chorus girls, good girls, bad girls, second rate playwrights, third rate novelists and so-called Men About Town. One of the latter entered with a dozen lassies from the various musical show ensembles the other sunup and all were seated in the anteroom.

The lone male escort was putting on plenty of dog, making an impression on his lady friends. Not only was he paying their checks, but he was telling them that he was one of the best thieves in the town. "Watch," he said as he took his departure, "I'm going over to the cashier's desk and steal a box of candy for one of you."

The chap returned and from under his coat took a box of taffy. "Hide this in your lap," he counselled as he turned it over to one of the gels. The others grew excited. "Oh," they cried, "can't you get one for me, too?" And so he made a number of trips to the cashier's counter, returning each time with a box of fancy candy.

Of course it was all part of a plot to make the girls think he was a Somebody—even if it were a Thief. What the lad did, however, was arrange things with the owner of the place and the cashier, paying a lump sum for the "stolen goods."

But those conscience-sticken girls perspired freely. And as they left the restaurant all of them, shoplifters at heart, took their departures timidly hiding their respective boxes of cholocates under their dresses, and when one gal accidentally dropped her box of candy near the door, she immediately swooned from fright.

And little wonder—considering that she once was a member of a Wayward Girls' Home and right now is on parole.

They are still talking about it along Broadway and Park Row. She is a young dance critic for a morning rag and he is a well-known architect, who wooed her for many months. She always turned down his proposals on the ground that she was still in her teens and was too young to be sealed. But a fortnight ago she suddenly changed her mind and everything was settled. She made him promise, however, that he wouldn't tell a soul.

Not being able to resist telling a very few dear friends, the romance ended painfully for him. Christmas eve the lass received a holiday card from one of "these kind" friends addressed a trifle prematurely to "Mrs. ——." She called the engagement off in a rage and now the heart-broken chap will quietly shelve New York for Yurrup as soon as possible.

The tragedy of the thing lies in the fact that what both of them took for a tactless and stupid joke was really done on purpose.

Marriage for Two—By Arthur Somers Roche

Aunt Martha Takes a Hand

"If I believed there was any basis I'd not say anything, Joyce. I want to know how such a tale got started. I want to fix responsibility."

"And I don't want it fixed. It doesn't matter. But—I went to Dargon's country place. He wanted to read me a play. I was to have a Leading role. Imagine! An unknown actress to play the lead. But—I didn't know any better. I thought such things happened. And—well, Dargon didn't want to read me a play. He wanted me to play a part in real life. So I came home. That's all."

"And Dargon talked? Boasted about what he hadn't achieved?"

Joyce shook her head. "I don't think he's quite that low. But—I lived in a tenement on West 58th street. A man there—a sort of hanger-on about the theater, Named Rogan. He—had been stage doorman, office boy—handy man—all sorts of things for Dargon. It was he who got me the introduction to Dargon. And he—he thought that, of course, Dargon had succeeded, and—well, he brought other men—himself—I fled from the place—must I go on?"

He shook his head. "I don't want to hear anything of it. I—don't need to tell you, Joyce, that I know you and—if I could just punch Dargon's head?"

He spoke like a small boy asking for an extra piece of pie, and Joyce smiled as she shook her head. Opportunity was knocking upon Larry's door that very minute, but he was deaf. He changed the distasteful subject.

"Wonder what's got into Burton?" he murmured.

"Unbelievable Jealousy"

"I reminded you that he was an elderly man with a young fiancee," said Joyce.

He cast a quick glance at her. "Do you mean to say you think——"

"He threatened, that night at the reserve, that unless Helen learned definitely that—that you didn't care for her—he'd ruin you."

Larry's jaw dropped.

"You don't mean to say——"

"I do," said Joyce.

"But you didn't tell me?"

She sighed. "Larry, it all seemed so preposterous——"

"Was that why you made me—I mean—you asked me to tell Helen that—that I loved you?"

"It was not the vulgar vanity it seemed," she replied.

"It's incredible," he muttered.

"Nothing's incredible when an old man loves a young girl," she retorted. "But—after that—with Helen—Mr. Burton telephoned. Simply to say 'thank you,' but I knew what he meant. Oh, Larry, how can people be so dreadful? Me—he'd pried—I don't know how—knew that we—don't live together——"

"I'll forget Dargon and take care of Burton," said Larry, grimly. Then his brows drew nearer together. "But if he telephoned you—I mean, Joyce, it's an unbelievable jealousy. To depress a stock——"

"Helen cared for you," suggested Joyce.

He stared. "What do you mean?" "He's out of his mind about her. He'd have to be, to take her, to let her take him, down to Biarritz, where you were. . . . I wonder if she——"

"You mean that he's attacked Rubber to please her?"

"It does sound ridiculous, doesn't it?" admitted Joyce. "And it's rather low of me to intimate that she might be capable of such a thing. But—Larry, she hates me. And—she can't care much for you—now."

He whistled softly. "I hope to God you're wrong, my dear. Another day like today, and I'm ruined."

"But why? You own your stock——"

"But I pledged my own stock to buy 50,000 more shares. I borrowed a million, in other words. My office manager met me on the pier. My brokers want more margin, more security, Joyce. A drop of 15 more points would completely wipe me out."

"I have $2,000,000," she reminded him.

"Which is yours," he said.

"And what is mine is yours, isn't it?" she asked.

He shook his head. "I couldn't take it back, Joyce."

"Why not?"

"Let's not argue it, my dear," he said. "I can't and that settles it."

"I Hate to Be Beaten"

She withdrew from the argument. And immediately thereafter he left the house, bound, she surmised, for his brokers. They dined alone that evening, and Larry was distrait. Later, over coffee, he managed to smile.

"Sort of wanted to prove how wrong you were to sell the Rubber," he confessed. "Stubborn. Serves me right."

"What do your brokers say?" she asked.

"Say that Burton can depress the stock to 50. It'll go below 100 tomorrow. They advise me to get out the first thing in the morning. It'll cost me over a million, they think, and—Joyce, I hate to be beaten—by him."

She knew what he meant, and, strangely, her knowledge brought her no rancor. That her husband should hate to be beaten by a man who had beaten him in a love affair aroused no jealousy in her. She was one of those rare women who cannot be jealous of what no longer exists. For, oddly, most of the jealousies of married couples are over persons who have ceased to matter.

They retired early, each to the room that had been occupied before their trip to Europe, and shortly after Hogan had refused admitance to the fourth enterprising reporter.

"It doesn't make any difference, though," said Larry, grimly. "The tabloids will have more to print than if their reporters had actually interviewed us."

He was right. Aint Martha telephoned shortly after Larry had departed for his office the following morning, and she was filled with the tabloids.

"Why, a man can't get himself decently married without a lot of interfering busybodies—and speculating as to how I'll receive you, now that you've returned to America. . . . They even telephoned me, but I refused to answer. My child, will you lunch with me? Good. The Colony at a quarter to 2."

In the reception room of the restaurant Aunt Martha was waiting, and, little as Joyce knew of the people amid whom Larry's way was fixed, she had read the newspapers and realized that, informal though the luncheon was, Larry's aunt had made it a matter of prime importance. Mrs. Vanderfield, Mrs. Pulgrim, Mrs. Masterman, the acid spinster, Miss Griffen—these and three others represented what the society reporters would tomorrow call the smartest group in the restaurant. And they were all, even the acid spinster, gracious, willing to be pleased and graciously willing to please.

"You're a success, my child," said Aunt Martha after the guests had departed. "Imagine at this season of the year getting a group like that together for any one less than the Prince of Wales' fiancee. I assure you, my child, that this will do more to stop idle gossip——"

"Why bother to stop it?" asked Joyce.

Aunt Martha frowned. "For Larry's sake, my child. Caesar's wife, you know. That's all. Tell me, where is that young man today?"

"Office—or brokers," replied Joyce.

"What's he doing with brokers? Never knew him to speculate."

Burton Checkmated

Joyce, bidden therto by an impulse founded upon Aunt Martha's sure sympathy, told the tale of Burton's threats. Aunt Martha listened earnestly. At the conclusion of the story, she stopped short on the avenue.

"Come in here," she said suddenly.

"Here," was a brokerage office, and Joyce, who had no knowledge of such matters, was surprised at the eager deference shown Mrs. Walton.

"How did Rubber close?" asked Aunt Martha.

The deferential, spruce young man who had set out chairs for them answered without hesitation. "Eighty-three and a fourth," he said.

Aunt Martha made a sound that in another woman, a woman less austerely reared, would have been called a smacking of the lips.

She turned to Joyce. "Larry's brokers said that Burton could send it down fifty, eh?"

Joyce nodded. Aunt Martha grinned capaciously.

"Well, that shows how much brokers know." She addressed the young clerk. "Keep your mouth shut, I suppose. I knew perfectly well you can't—but, well, Hodges and Brickley won't keep my account if this leaks out. I want you to buy me a thousand shares of Rubber at eighty-three and a thousand more every point down. At seventy, I want you to buy me 2,000 a point, and if it gets to sixty I want 5,000 a point.

She turned to Joyce. "Frank Burton, eh? Get gay with my nephew, will he? Parvenu! Upstart. He'd better read up on the financial history of the early 1900's. He may discover that Thomas Walton used to do as his wife advised when it came to the market."

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

First Week Out on the New Year's Resolution Flight

(In the Byrd Expedition manner)

Well, here we are somewhere above the first week in January and all trying to hold our altitude, although it is no easy matter, I can tell you. Every time I feel like abandoning the trip I just turn to Gus Willpower—good old Willpower!—and he gives me new courage. I don't know what I would do without him. We took off on this flight, as you know New Year's Eve, determined to stay up at least six months, but we had no idea what hardships it would involve.

PHILLIPS

Before we had been up 24 hours we encountered terrific obstacles. Directly ahead we saw enormous Mount Tobacco and just beyond them the formidable Cocktail range mentioned by others who tried to do what we are doing. We are all pretty well shaken. Dannie Conscience and Freddie Determination—I call him "Grim" Determination—are busy taking observations. What would I do without them?

◇ ◇ ◇

Unable to scale Mount Tobacco and dangerous Cocktail Range, we turned east and just when we figured we had clear sailing what should loom up ahead but Thriftless Glacier—old Thriftless—which has been the grave of so many New Year resolutions fliers! I called to Charlie Courage, but it was unnecessary, as he had seen the danger and was tossing out ballast. What a man! Over went four sacks of our very best intentions and two barrels of promises we had made to mother and the girls.

We were then up 15,000 feet and going good, although it was pretty misty and it seemed to me the motor kept humming "What's the use? What's the use?" Suddenly right in our path we saw another enormous mountain range. It was the famous Gluttony range. Mount Intemperance loomed just behind it and looking down we saw we were over the great ice-pack known as Backsliders Land. We had to act quickly. I looked around for Willpower, but he had swooned. Dear old Willpower! He means well, but he doesn't seem to have the stamina.

I called quickly to Determination—good old "Grim"—but he was nowhere to be seen. Climbing back, I saw he was missing. He had jumped out of the plane. I was now without two of my most valuable assistants. Should I attempt to go on or turn for home and make a landing, admitting the flight to be a failure? It was a terrible moment. I resolved to ask Charlie Courage, wonderful old Charlie! He would know. "What'll I do?" I called. "I don't know what you are going to do, but my mind's made up," he answered, leaping overboard, too, and taking my last 12 bales of resolutions with him.

The Test

"Is this real Scotch?" asked Cavendish Quirp, the careful scoff-law.

"Lissen," confided the bootlegger who had been reading of the activities off New London, "I got it right out of a coroner's inquest."

Do You Remember—

Back when a Ford model was good for several years without any changes in models?

At the meeting of football solons held in New York recently no changes were voted in football rules for 1930. In other words, the game will continue to be played so the public can misunderstand it perfectly.

Why Do Doctors Prescribe Cod Liver Oil?

Not for its fishy taste.
Not for its repulsive smell.

PHYSICIANS PRESCRIBE COD LIVER OIL JUST FOR ONE REASON

Because it contains Vitamins A and D and these two Vitamins build up the power to resist disease when one is in a weakened condition.

If it weren't for these two precious and magical Vitamins your doctor wouldn't tell you to get Cod Liver Oil when you are losing weight.

It is to get these two health promoting, strength increasing, energy creating Vitamins into your system that Cod Liver Oil is prescribed in wasting diseases, in bronchitis and chest colds—in anemia and convalescence—in feeble old age and when children are puny and frail.

And now here is good news for those who use Cod Liver Oil for any ailment, disease or abnormal condition—you won't have to take repulsive liquid Cod Liver Oil any more—no, never again.

For now a learned chemist has extracted these priceless Vitamins from the pure Vitamin tested Norwegian Cod Liver Oil and put them in pleasant to take sugar coated tablets.

The useless greasy oil is thrown away.

Two of these tablets equal in Vitamin potency one teaspoonful of Vitamin tested Cod Liver Oil—the recognized dose.

If you take two of these health restoring tablets after each meal and two at bedtime, you will be getting about all the Vitamins A and D that your system requires.

If you want quicker action, take 3 or 4 for each dose for the first 10 days.

These new tablets, brimful of Vitamins are called McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets and you can get a box at any drugstore in America.

For every ailment, sickness, run-down or underweight condition for which cod liver oil is prescribed or recommended McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets are equally as good.

Circle number five served a delicious luncheon in the basement of the church during which time Dr. O. L. Powers, and J. W. Mason and W. E. Woung gave splendid talks on the new year's work and on enlistment.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

When the new moon hung a silver crescent in the sky, we made a wish upon it for the New Year. Not that wishes ever come true, but it is a habit we formed long ago.

◆ ◆ ◆

That frustrated desires do not keep one from wishing again, is one of the surest proofs that the old adage "hope blooms eternal in the human breast," is a true one.

◆ ◆ ◆

In a year when candidates meet one on every side, what a blessing "hope" will prove. We fancy that even men will be observing little superstitions. One will dred breaking a mirror and go out of his way to keep from passing beneath a ladder. And how the fatal black cat in the road will be shunned.

◆ ◆ ◆

Then, man defeated, will run again.

◆ ◆ ◆

Just as we, with our wishes failing to come true, will wish again when we see the new moon in a favorable position.

◆ ◆ ◆

We remember the old song "Don't cry, little girl, don't cry; they have broken your dolls I know," with the feeling that all through life, dolls are being broken. But the doll may have been a simple thing and it is good that people can pick up the broken pieces of their dreams and patch them together into something that will make them better men and women.

◆ ◆ ◆

It's a lucky person who can hold on to and make a dream come true; the El Paso Italian who recently spanked his father, saying, "You don't ever need whip me; I was good boy," may have had that dream of reprisal all through life; not that we hold any brief for its worthiness.

◆ ◆ ◆

Sometime a little thing will shatter an ideal or an illusion. Personally, we had an ideal that gave us a great swell of feeling over one or two of the compositions of Beethoven.

◆ ◆ ◆

But since we have seen a picture of his death mask, we will never be able to separate it from his music.

◆ ◆ ◆

And, by the way, speaking of death masks and such, what has become of the miraculously healing grave that caused such excitement a short time ago? If faith and that dust kept up its good work, we had thought we might cure our bad teeth without cost.

◆ ◆ ◆

It is against the law to practice without a license. It may be the miraculous healing was stopped on that account.

◆ ◆ ◆

We understand it is against the law to read the future—to tell fortunes in any way in Wichita Falls. But my, how many ways there are to get around a law.

◆ ◆ ◆

The law, though, must walk most circumspectly for the next few months. We will have our eyes upon the candidates. How we would hate to be a candidate! We are entirely too timid.

Under the general direction of J. Wilkie Talbert, assisted by J. W. DRUGS EXCITE THE KIDNEYS, DRINK WATER

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.—Adv.

Group "Momentum" in Sports

"I have invented this title to describe something which is illustrated by the following example,' writes J. R. Finlay, whose son Phil, is one of the best golfers in the country.

"In the first 20 years of football contests between Yale and Harvard the records stands, 1875-1894, inclusive, annual games omitted, 3, leaving 17 games played, out of which

"Yale won	14
"Harvard won	2
"Tie game	1

"Harvard started by winning the first game, after that Yale won, at first by close scores, but afterward more and more decisively for about 10 years, then with close margins again.

"In the following 15 years, 1895-1909, inclusive, in two years there were no games, leaving 13 played, of which

"Yale won	8
"Harvard won	3
"Tie games	2

"In this period the ascendency still patently belonged to Yale, although in the earlier part of it Harvard, with two wins and two ties, made things look pretty even for several years, and slipped in another victory by a thin margin toward the end of the era, in 1908.

"In the following 20 years, 1910-1929, inclusive, two games were omitted during the war, leaving 18 played, of which

"Yale won	5
"Harvard won	10
"Tie games	3

"In the beginning of this period Percy Houghton got his coaching system running at Harvard and gained several victories in succession, interspersed with some ties, so that Yale had to wait quite a while for a win, thus gaining for Harvard a suggestion of the ascendency that Walter Camp had established for Yale in the '70s and '80s. Still all that Harvard can claim in the matter is that during the last 20 years she has enjoyed a slight edge over Yale. There was a time, not long ago, when Yale won, I believe, four games in a row, reviving the fear among Harvard men that she might regain her old-time superiority. If we take the last two periods together, making 35 years in all, we find a deadlock:

"Yale won	13
"Harvard won	13
"Tie games	5
"Games omitted	4

Serious Rivalries

"Everybody knows that student bodies take these rivalries very seriously. When I was at Harvard 40 years ago we took the long series of defeats from Yale, not only in football but in other sports also, with great anguish. I remember writing articles in 'The Crimson' explaining them, with the concession that 'Yale had better men'—a state of affairs that would right itself in time. At this distance I would put the thing differently. It is perfectly true that the stream of students that flows into a college carries with it a proportion of outstanding athletes that is by no means uniform, less and less so the more outstanding the individuals, just as not every class contains a future president of the United States. Still Yale and Harvard have been generally well matched in intelligence and personnel, drawing both students and faculty from the same type of people, even from the same schools. I think it highly probable that if the men who played football at Yale had gone to Harvard, and those who played at Harvard to Yale, but leaving the 'system' at each college the same as it was during the '70s and '80s, the results would have been about the same as history declares. The organization of groups on a given basis for any purpose is not easily changed, and if one group is more efficient than another it is likely to remain that way for a long time; the organization that is ahead learns as fast as one that is behind and thus stays ahead, and this 'momentum' persists frequently after the man who created it or contributed most of it has disappeared. In such a case it requires usually something of a genius to set an inferior organization to learning fast enough to catch up to and pass the superior one.

"While this principle of group momentum displays itself in sports, it is far more pronounced, of course, in other things. For instance, Detroit excels in producing automobiles and Los Angeles motion pictures. Who can think of any good reason why Chicago should not make automobiles as well as Detroit, or San Francisco make pictures as well as Los Angeles—that is, in the general nature of things. But now that things are established as they are, who thinks it at all likely that they will ever do so?"

Interesting Statistics

The statistics Mr. Finlay presents showing that Yale and Harvard have broken even in the last 35 years are among the most interesting we have seen.

It had also escaped general notice that in the last 20 years Harvard had the jump on Yale by 2 to 1 in the matter of winning games. With Horween's star list of sophomores back for next fall—Wood, Mays, Devens and White being four of the cast, and with others, such as Ben Ticknor, on hand—the Blue doesn't face any soft situation next fall, despite the presence of Booth, who will give Harvard a lot more to worry about if he is in shape, a factor which a lighter man always has to gamble with. One of the jobs Yale must face is finding a field general who can cope with Wood in directing an attack, and this won't be any too easy, as good field generals are always scarcer than rosebuds in the arctic circle. Both Yale and Harvard will have better than average material next fall, and this again should bring about another great game. It might be mentioned in this connection that Yale will run into early trouble next October, with an unusually strong Georgia team to look after.

ROUND ROBIN ROUTE SHELVED

Coaches Set Feb. 14-15 as Dates for Burk Battle

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Jan. 6.—The Wichita County Interscholastic leage basket ball championship will be decided in an elimination tournament at Burkburnett Feb. 14-15, rather than by the routine of a round robin schedule, it was decided at a meeting of coaches of county here today.

The coaches decided that the round robin schedule was not preferable at the present time, it being late in the season. They recommended, however, that this system be used in the 1931 season.

The officials met this afternoon in the offices of Butler Westerfield, superintendent of Burkburnett schools. The meeting was presided over by N. P. Craig, director of athletics for Wichita county.

The winner of the elimination tournament here next month will enter the district championship competition, which porbably will be held Feb. 21-22 at Wichita Falls, it was said.

Present at the meeting today were Coaches Bishop of Iowa Park, Tampka of Electra, Self of Fairview, Johnson of Burkburnett, McClendon of Clara, Wofford of Valley View, and White of Cashion.

Pittsburgh Runner To Race at Brooklyn

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (UP)—Pete Bowen of the University of Pittsburgh, intercollegiate 440-yard champion, has accepted an invitation to compete in the 440-yard special race which will be a featured event of the Brooklyn college indoor games here Jan. 18.

Bernard McCafferty of Holy Cross, winner of the event last year; Eddie Roll and Oliver Proudlock of the Newark A. C., and Arnold Noyes and Ed. Blake of the Boston A. A. are among those invited to appear in the same event.

Mickey Walker's Wife Asks 'Absolute' Divorce

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 6. (UP)—Mickey Walker, world champion middleweight in the prize ring but just another husband at home, was sued for absolute divorce today.

Mrs. Margaret Walker, the wife, asked "adequate" alimony and custody of their boy, Michael.

There have been many published difficulties in the Walker family. Mrs. Walker alleged some months ago that Mickey took his fighting too seriously, and used to practice on her in his leisure hours at home.

Carey Cage Champs Invade Court Of Childress Bobcats Tonight

Special to The Record News.

CHILDRESS, Texas, Jan. 6.—The Carey Cardinals, Childress county champions of 1929, will invade the lair of the Bobcats Tuesday night where they will attempt to duplicate the defeat they handed the Felines on the Carey court one week ago. The Cats, on the other hand, are confident they can take the feathers off the Cardinals on the home court.

Ronnald Ravis, star on the Carey five last year, and equally as brilliant as forward for the Cats this season, will be a marked man by his former mates. Davis was the only Bobcat man to deal the Cardinals any misery a week ago, and his former mates will match him tomorrow night. The melee should furnish an insight into the result of the county race this year.

Shires May Be Barred From Lot

CHICAGO, Jan. 6. (AP)—Unless Charles Arthur "The Great" Shires clears his name of charges that he engaged in one fixed professional boxing match and had attempted another, he may find himself barred forever from organized baseball.

The White Sox management, silent throughout the great one's invasion of the cauliflower ranks, today made it clear it would not talk about a 1930 contract with the punch slinging first baseman until he had gained a clean bill from the Michigan and Illinois state athletic commissions, which are investigating the charges.

"Shires must clean up those charges before the White Sox will be ready to discuss a contract with him," said Secretary Harry Grabiner of the south side club. "To, he has to settle up his suspension which resulted from his last fist fight with former Manager Russell Blackburne last season. I have no date with Shires and have not seen him. When the time comes, we will be ready to handle the situation."

Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, refused to discuss Shires beyond the intimation that he would have something to say if the charges against Shires were upheld by either the Michigan or Illinois state athletic commissions. However, it is known that he is none too well pleased over the affair.

Meanwhile, Shires was ready to tell his side of the story before the commissions. He is slated to appear before the Illinois commission tomorrow in an attempt to prove that his first professional match with Dangerous Dan Daly of Cleveland was on the square.

He Fights Today

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 6. (AP)—Boreas, who blew into St. Paul on a half gale today, blushingly retired before a greater blast as Charles Arthur (The Great) Shires arrived for his game of fistcuffs with Tony (Everlasting) Faeth here tomorrow.

It may have been a coincidence, of course, but the wind actually subsided a half hour after Shires had arrived from the East and began a brief outline of what he would do to Mr. Faeth in the ring.

M. U. Basketeer Technic To Be Filmed for Future

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 6. (AP)—The University of Missouri basket ball squad is to be cast into an educational movie.

The film will not be shown to the public, and it will not be a talking picture. It will be shot after this year's squad has rounded into form for demonstrations of technic to be handed down to future Tigers.

The picture, to be 30 or 40 minutes long, will show major points of offensive and defensive tactics in individual and team play. Coach George Edwards intends to use it for instructing coaching classes.

"Still" photographs already play a large part in the coaching of the Missouri wrestling squad by Charles Fisher, erstwhile claimant of the world welterweight title.

Purdue Netter at Top Six of Last Nine Years

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 6. (AP)—Six times during the last nine years a Purdue basket ball player has led the Western conference in scoring.

Last year "Stretch" Murphy, tall center, was high point man for the Big Ten.

In 1921, Don White, floor guard, topped the conference netters, and the following year Blair Gullion, center, led the pack. Purdue missed in 1923 but George Spradling, forward, was in front in 1924. He slipped in 1925 but was high man again in 1926.

Wilbur Cummins, center, put the Boilermakers' colors on top in 1927. Murphy was second in 1928.

Indiana State Senator Asks Basket Ball Probe

MUNCIE, Ind., Jan. 6. (AP)—A legislative investigation of the popular Hoosier sport—high school basket ball—will be asked by James Friedley, state senator.

He contends the high school athletic association secretary, A. L. Trester of Anderson, has too much power, and that control of the organization is being exercised to the advantage of some schools and the disadvantage of others.

Friedley's determination was reached after the association ruled that a youthful star could not play with Muncie. It found "undue influence" had been used to bring the player's family to Muncie.

French Seek $280,000 For Next Olympic Team

PARIS, Jan. 6. (AP)—The bagatelle of 7,000,000 francs—about $280,000—is asked by the French Olympic committee from the government as a subsidy to ensure the appearance of an "Olympic team worthy of France" at Los Angeles in 1932.

The outlay for each athlete taken to California is reckoned as $2,000. The Olympic committee then immediately announced that it intended taking a team of 40.

"That accounts for only $80,000," the minister of finances, Henri Cheron, asked naively. "What about the other $200,000?"

M. Cheron, a world figure in affairs financial, seems to be rather a stranger to things Olympic. He has never heard of rubbers, trainers, and officials.

The Treatment for Colds

The best time to knock a cold out is when it first makes its appearance, because once it becomes established, it will generally last from eight to 10 days or longer.

Unless a cold turns into some more serious disorder, it is self-limiting. After it has run its course, it ceases to be. Many people, knowing this, do not give a cold any treatment except to give it time. It should be remembered, however, that when a cold occurs, the body is trying to throw out waste products through the mucous membranes and it is better to assist the processes by opening up all of the body's channels of elimination.

One should drink large quantities of water in order to thoroughly flush out the system of acid wastes. The bowels should be thoroughly cleansed by one or two enemas daily. Activity of the pores of the skin should be increased by several sponge baths daily and it is a good plan to induce copious perspirations by a sweating treatment. After the enema, the patient should take a hot bath and get into bed, using only woolen bed coverings. Hot water bottles should be placed at the foot of the bed if necessary, and the patient should be thoroughly tucked in so that no air enters under the covering around the shoulders. While the patient is perspiring, it is a good plan for him to drink an infusion made by pouring boiling water over a grapefruit which has been cut into small pieces. After the mixture has been allowed to stand for awhile, the patient should drink the juice, using from four to eight ounces at a time, about every half hour. Do not use other food until the cold has abated.

The patient should be permitted to sweat as long as necessary until there is no abnormal temperature. The sweating should not be interrupted for any reason during the first 10 hours. When the temperature becomes normal, the patient should be given clean clothing but kept well covered for several hours longer.

It is better not to take any exercise during the first day of this treatment, but after that it is well to gradually increase the exercises each day in order to gain strength. It is also well to remember that one of the principal causes of colds is fatigue and that therefore sleep is a most valuable remedy.

If you employ this regime at the beginning of a cold, you can usually overcome the cold almost immediately. Should the cold become established, you can at least avoid the possible complications by using this sweating-fasting method.

After you have cured yourself of this cold, try to improve your circulation and eat plenty of alkaline-forming foods. Cheer up and stay that way. Avoid anything which will lower your resistance, and you should be able to protect yourself against having to undergo the discomfort of future colds.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Dry Mouth

Question—L. B. writes: "I have at frequent intervals extreme dryness of mouth and throat, in which periods I find difficulty in swallowing foods. What is the cause of this ailment? And what remedy should I use to prevent such recurrences?"

Answer—The dryness of your mouth and throat must be caused by some inflammatory condition of the alimentary canal. Such disorders as gastritis, enteritis, or colitis set up a feverish internal condition which is often noticed in a reflex way by dryness of the mouth and throat. The cure would be to regulate your diet so as to get rid of the internal irrtation. Treatments of the mouth would be of no help.

Overeating

Question—F. D. writes: "I would like to know what is good to keep a person from getting sleepy in the evenings, after they have had a good night's sleep the night before."

Answer—The one definite cause of feeling sleepy early in the evening is from overeating. No matter how little you may eat at the evening meal, it is always too much if you feel sleepy afterwards. Perhaps when you return from work you are so tired that you should go to bed for a little rest before dinner. One who is over-tired needs rest and not food at that time.

Hard and Soft Water

Question—G. F. asks: "Is hard water as good for drinking as soft water? Is there any difference in the effect on the system?"

Answer—The only pure water is distilled water, but there is no harm in drinking water which contains minerals, as long as it is free from decaying vegetation or micro-organisms.

RAIN NEEDED OVER SECTION

Soil in Poor Shape for Winter-Spring Crops

Pleasure which most residents of Wichita Falls and community draw from the spring-like weather now prevalent in this section is fraught with darker broodings on the part of those who are industrially or financially interested in agriculture and stock raising, according to opinions expressed Monday.

Soil in this part of the country is unusually devoid of moisture, it was said, and will offer the winter and early spring crops little encouragement unless heavier precipitation is received soon. Not only farmers, but those who plan the production of vast stores of feed for dairy herds during 1930, are vitally interested in better crop conditions. Dairy leaders predict the greatest milk production year in the history of the city, stating that the foundation for constructive growth of dairying has just now been completed, and pointing to the existence of at least a dozen registered dairy herds in the community now. Much ground will be devoted during the coming 10 months to the growing of feed in all parts of the county.

Poultry prices showed slight advances Monday, with the price of hens moving up one cent per pound. Wheat also advanced three cents Monday, now listing at $1.03 per bushel.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (AP)—After holiday steadiness during the greater part of today's session cotton weakened in the late trading under liquidation coupled with local, New Orleans and southern selling. March contracts sold off from 17.16 to 17.02 compared with 17.11 at the close of Saturday and closed at the lowest, with the general market closing barely steady at a net decline of 8 to 11 points.

The market opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 2 points. Offerings were readily absorbed and prices worked up later in the morning. January advanced to 16.99 or 2 points net higher while May sold up to 17.39 and October to 17.60, making net gains of about 3 to 6 points on the more active positions. The light demand was supplied with these figures, and the market eased during the afternoon under realizing or liquidation while a little more southern selling developed during the last hour.

Closing quotations were the lowest of the day with January at 16.86; May at 17.25, and October at 17.51.

The early advance was accompanied by reports that cotton was offered less freely in the South and that the basis was steady or a shade higher in some instances, but after the initial demand from the trade had been supplied, the market appeared to be without much support.

Cables from Liverpool said continental and Bombay liquidation there had been absorbed by covering.

Port receipts today, 23,338. U. S. port stocks, 2,607,298. Exports, 30,323, making 4,415,455 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 6. (AP)—Cotton today was quiet with the exception of a spurt in late trading caused by January liquidation which resulted in a decline to new lows.

Opening 1 point up the market responded weakly to improved Liverpool cables which came in 2 to 4 points better than due. Early reports of good trade buying caused a rally, the reporting showing that as high as 6,000 bales sold to exporters after Saturday hours. The market rallied 6 to 7 points but remained quiet and near the highs until well into the afternoon. In the late decline new lows were made 15 points under the highs on the active months.

March after opening at 17.00, off 4 points, advanced to 17.07 and closed at 16.93, or 10 points net lower for the day. The general market closed steady at net declines of 7 to 11 points.

After the weak opening May hit 17.27, down 3 to 5 points. Before the demand for export spot was contracted for a rally brought May to 17.33, or up 7 points from the lows and 4 points above the previous close.

In the last hour's activity due to some selling by recent buyers probably because of disappointment at the lack of fresh demand and to January liquidation the new lows were registered. March went to 16.93 and May 17.18, or 15 points under the highs. The close was at or near the lowest at net declines of 10 to 11 points on the more active months.

New Buying of Stocks Results From Easing in Call Money; Tone Firmer

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Jan. 6. (US)—Easing in call money brought in some new buying today that offset further professional offerings and gave the list a firmer tone in another dull market. The drop in the rate evidenced return of Jan. 1 investment funds and influenced expectation that the rediscount rate would be lowered within the next few weeks. Indications of decided improvement in copper buying brought steady demand into stocks of the class, which scored good gains on a relatively small turnover. Anaconda advanced 3½ points, Kennecott 1⅞, Cerro De Pasco 1⅝ and American Smelting 1¼. Johns-Manville finished 5⅞ points higher at 127½, Liquid Carbonic gained 2½ to 58½ and Sears-Roebuck 1⅜ to 86. Steel Common rallied in closing dealings to finish fractionally higher at 169¼. Call money eased to 4½ per cent for a renewal of 5 per cent, while outside funds were reported as low as 4 per cent. Total turnover was slightly over 2,000,000 shares.

The motor show, so far, has attracted a little less attention in Wall street than it did in previous years. Those who have visited the exhibition, however, declare it is the best in history. Practically every company of importance has something new to offer and most have new models that are the subject of admiration of every visitor. Actual effect of the show as to sales will not be apparent for the next few weeks as potential buyers seldom place orders immediately but wait to make tests, etc. As usual the opening of the show has been marked by some increase in activity in the motor shares. There is evidence of group work in Chrysler, Nash and Hudson and with the first sign of public encouragement the shorts may find less stock around than they expect as such pool work would be increased.

Advices from Washington indicated early congressional action on railroad merger question and federal reserve investigation; that is, if there were time for anything besides prohibition. There is hope for change in the railroad transportation act this session although in railroad circles there is little confidence that such hope will be fulfilled. While on the subject of mergers, it is felt, the legislative body may branch off into consolidations in other fields and for this reason it is expected that some public utility combinations, that have been pending for some months, may be hurried through.

There was further bearish reports regarding Montgomery Ward that brought renewed professional offerings. Earnings estimates were revised downward and disturbing reports of dividend outlook brought additional selling. Recent action of Freeport, Texas, was explained by reports of improved earnings and prospects for further gains. Those regarded as insiders in Timken Roller Bearing issued advices as to the prospects for larger demand from the railroads in the near future. There were further rumors of plans for grouping Pullman and General American Tank. Special analysis of the latter stock prepared by one firm emphasized that earnings were running over $7.70 a share.

Most of the talk of the "battle between the bulls and bears" is without foundation. There is a very big short interest outstanding in Motors, Coppers, Utilities and some specialties. Professionals are not half as active as they were a few weeks ago while those leaders who usually take an aggressive bullish position are doing nothing. They show no inclination of taking an important position in any stock until there is more incentive for public trading. Reports from the floor indicate that the majority of traders are "whipsawed" whenever they try anything.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Jan. 6. (AP)—Grain prices on the cash grain market showed little change in today's trade. Wheat was in good demand. Oats and barley were slow sale.

Exporters bid $1.33¼ for No. 1 hard export delivered Texas gulf ports.

Other bids and offers, basis delivered freight paid at T. C. P.:

Wheat—No. 1 hard milling $1.33¼@1.34½; No. 1 hard 13 per cent protein $1.34¼@1.35½; 14 per cent $1.38¼@1.39½.

Corn—No. 2 mixed 99c@$1.00; No. 2 white or yellow $1.03@1.03½.

Oats—No. 3 red oats 58@60c; No. 3 white delivered Texas group one points 55@55½c.

Barley—No. 2 barley, nominal at 74@75c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds $1.55@1.56; No. 2 kaffir $1.37@1.38.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 6. (AP)—Correct belief that the United States wheat visible supply total would show a liberal reduction did a good deal to lift wheat values today. The curtailment of 2,589,000 bushels, however, was less than many traders looked for, and price gains failed to hold well. News about Russian wheat export sales received less notice today than of late, fresh developments indicating that Russia will ship small quantities only.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, ⅛@⅛c a bushel higher than Saturday's finish. Corn closed ⅛@¼c off to ⅛c up, oats unchanged to ⅛c down, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 5 cents.

Helping to lift the wheat market was the fact that North America wheat export business today was estimated at more than 1,000,000 bushels with Portugal, Belgium and Holland.

Predictions of a cold wave threatening possible damage to the United States winter wheat crop received favorable notice today among friends of higher prices.

Corn and oats prices wer easy as compared with wheat. Talk has heard that cold weather would tend to enlarge the movement of the corn crop to terminate markets.

Provisions were inclined to sag owing to downturns in the value of hogs.

ECTOR WELL LOOKING GOOD

Irion County Enjoys Renewed Activity

Special to The Record News.

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Jan. 6.—Penn-Humble No. 1 York, south offset to Ector county's first oil producer of note, ran tubing today after producing 469 barrels in 24 hours ending at 7 a. m., bringing total recovery since the well began flowing at 8 p. m. Saturday to 727 barrels.

Pay is from 3755-65 feet and total depth 3771, corrected measurements.

Irion More Active

Prospects of an early outlet for at least one shallow producer and pumping of a daily average of 35 barrels of net oil for several days by another, Carl Cromwell's No. 1 Nutt, has renewed interest in oil development in Irion county. Cromwell No. 1 Nutt went on the pump at 1472 feet after being shut down for several weeks. It topped the main pay in October from 1398-1400 feet, drilled deeper and plugged back. Location is 150 feet from the the north and west lines of the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter of subdivision 6, Gonzales county school land.

Brown & Fox were reported to have started the laying of a small pipe line from their No. 1 Tankersley to the Santa Fe railroad, three-quarters of a mile away, where a loading rack will be built. Their well initially rated 50 barrels daily on the pump from 1333-35½ feet until shut in for storage.

Two and one-half miles southeast of Cromwell No. 1 Nutt, Robert Glenn of San Angelo and Cincinnati, Ohio, associates will spud a test by Feb. 1 on Fayette Tankersley's land, 150 feet out of the northwest corner of the southwest quarter of section 4, S. L. Darning survey. It will be drilled to 1500 feet unless production is obtained at a lesser depth. Three hundred and twenty acres are under lease.

Banner to Drill

Banner Oil company will start its No. 2 Nutt following the return of S. A. Gaskill, general manager, from Mineral Wells, about Jan. 15. Location is 50 feet from the north and east lines of the west half of subdivision 5, Gonzales county school land.

Results of a third shot, with 50 quarts last Monday, in Kingwood Oil company's No. 1 J. D. Sugg estate had not been determined, the hole bridging 800 feet off bottom and not having been cleaned out entirely. The well was allowed to flow, open, in hopes that 300,000 cubic feet of gas encountered with a showing of oil from 7656-57 feet would assist in cleaning out. The third shot was from 7645-82 feet. Two lighter shots earlier brought no improvement in the showing. If production is not developed, the well will be plugged back to 3400 feet and a showing topped at 3368 feet and estimated good for 7 barrels of oil daily will be tested.

Night School For Silverton Farmers

Special to The Record News.

SILVERTON, Texas, Jan. 6.—The farmers' night school will be opened here Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, the initial session of a series of 12, held twice a week, in which definite instruction of diseases of livestock and poultry will be given by W. M. Gourley, vocational agriculture teacher.

There is an estimated average loss each year of about $15,000 to livestock and poultry owners in this county. Neither a county agent nor a veterinarian is available, and the farmers have become interested in getting together, pooling their information, and learning how to combat the diseases which commonly arise among their herds and flocks. The lessons will deal with the four phases of diseases and parasites: Causes, symptons, prevention and treatment.

Jimmy Doolittle Risks His Neck To Test Army's New Aviation Gadgets

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6. (US)—When a first-class aviation expert thinks that he has invented something which will add to the safety or efficiency of airplanes, providing it works as well in the air as it does on paper, he asks the army:

"May I please borrow Jimmy Doolittle?"

Then Lieut. James Doolittle crawls into his flying clothes, takes the thing up in the air, and sees if it will work. That his neck is frequently in considerable peril if the thing doesn't work, doesn't trouble him in the least.

Lieutenant Doolittle is in Los Angeles for a few days with Col. Peter J. Brady of New York, chairman of Mayor Walker's aviation committee. They are hopping hither and thither around the country looking at airports and gathering data.

It was only a little while ago that Lieutenant Doolittle got into the pilot's cockpit of a plane and let them cover him in so completely that he couldn't see anything but his instrument board—couldn't see the sky nor the ground nor even the wings of his plane.

Then he took off, flew around for 15 minutes—still as blind as a bat—and came back for a perfect landing.

That was how the Guggenheim experts proved that their blind flying instruments really would work.

"Blind flying is still in the experimental stage, but the experiment has been successful," said Lieutenant Doolittle today. "Now it must be developed for general use by some other agency—the army, the flying schools, the transport companies, or so on."

Another of Doolittle's recent neck risking experiments was to take a plane up and see how much punishment it would stand before it came to pieces.

Officially, he was doing accelerometer tests. According to the figures, his ship's wings, flying wires and so on should be able to stand a certain amount of stress. He went up and hurled his plane around the sky, put on a regular dog-fight all by himself, and when he came down, one wing was hanging on by a whisker, just ready to come off.

"Then," said Doolittle mildly, "we knew that the figures were right, and that it really wouldn't have been advisable to put more strain on the wings than the experts had calculated."

ARCHER TEST

Rayzor & Akin No. 1 L. W. Wilson located 810 feet south and 150 feet west of the northeast corner of B. B. B. & Co. survey, abstract 39, in Archer county, is drilling at 1100 feet.

JACK CLARK AND OTHERS

J. Clark and associates No. 2 Garvey located 1160 feet north and 804 feet east of southwest corner of Jefferson county school lands in Archer county is spudded in and drilling at 900 feet.

BAYLOR COMPLETION

The United Producers company No. 1 W. H. Portwood located in the northwest quarter of section 1281, T. E. & L. survey, southeast Baylor county, is swabbing at the rate of 50 barrels from the sand at 1407 feet.

CLAY COUNTY

Dawson and Bunn No. 1 Sam Roberts located 750 feet north and 1050 feet west of the southeast corner of block 74, Parker county school land in Clay county, core-drilled to a good looking oil sand at approximately 1885 feet and has shut down.

NEAR PETROLIA

Joe Art and associates No. 1 Jones is 400 feet north, and 675 feet east of the southwest corner of M. E. P. & P. survey, abstract 350, in Clay county.

WILBARGER LOCATION

E. H. Pigg and associates have staked out location for No. 1 Parsley to be drilled 150 feet north and west of the southeast corner of the northwest quarter of section 8, block 9, H. & T. C. R. R. survey in Wilbarger county.

Accidents Fewer When Danger Is Greatest

Special to The Record News.

MANGUM, Okla., Jan. 6.—A check of winter accidents in Mangum shows that the more disagreeable the weather and the more dangerous the highways, the fewer are the motor accidents. It is easily understood. Even the motorist who is addicted to "taking chances" drives more carefully when hazards face him on all sides. But the same thing does not hold good in the homes, for there are more mishaps inside the house during winter than in the warm months. More people are hurt in falls, and, of course, more suffer from burns and accidents from slippery porches and steps and sidewalks. Caution alone will cut down the number.

NEW OKLAHOMA WELL

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 6. (UP)—The No. 3 Robert Jennings well of the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil company and Foster Petroleum blew in late today in the south city field. It had an estimated flow of 12,000 barrels of oil and 40,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

Three building permits totaling $30,200 were issued Jan. 1.

New Presbyterian Church Dedicated at Mangum

Special to The Record News.

MANGUM, Okla., Jan. 6.—Dedication of the new $35,000 Presbyterian church was held Sunday morning as a fitting climax to the clearing of the indebtedness on the edifice and the conclusion of the administration of Rev. E. D. Curtis, who has accepted a pastorate in Durham, N. C. Ralph Helper, treasurer of the church, publicly burned the note and mortgage on the new temple.

NEW APPROPRIATIONS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (UP)—Supplemental estimates calling for appropriations of more than $60,000,000 were sent to the house today by President Hoover. The appropriations will be included in the annual deficiency appropriation bill which provides for the current expenses of government departments.

RAIL AGENT KILLS TWO MEN

Negroes Fall Before Gun of Texarkana Man

TEXARKANA, Ark., Jan. 6 (UP)—W. N. Weaver, special agent for the Kansas City Southern railroad, killed two negroes early today, wounded a third when they tried to escape after he had arrested them for attempted burglary.

Weaver arrested Clarence Hart, Odus Eason and Ira Stewart. While he was taking them to jail, Hart drew a pistol but was shot before he could use it. The others ran, but Weaver wounded them. Eason died later.

HELD ON THEFT CHARGE

Charges of theft under $50 were filed Monday afternoon against Charlie Mead in connection with the loss of three boxes of silk hose from the Mangel store here. The complaint was filed by L. V. Abernathy, assistant county attorney. Mead is being held in the county jail.

Saved Him Lots of Money

"Since Taking Orgatone All My Ten Years' Suffering Are Gone," Says Plainview Farmer

"I feel so fine and well now I can hardly realize how miserable I was before taking Orgatone," said Earl Stambaugh, of route No. 3, Plainview, Texas. Mr. Stambaugh has been a farmer for the past 20 years around this section of Texas, and is very well known.

"Yes, sir, I firmly believe that Orgatone saved me a lot of money that I would have spent in doctor bills," he continued. "For the last 20 years I've been bothered with stomach trouble. My kidneys were so badly disordered that I had sharp pains running through my sides and back all the time. I had little or no appetite and my digestion was so poor I had to be very careful about what I ate, and I had a heavy distressed feeling after nearly every meal, and often dizzy spells and headaches, too. I always felt so dull and tired and exhausted it was an effort for me to do my work at all. Gas formed on my stomach after every meal, and my food soured and the pains that bothered me were just like knives cutting me. I was getting in such a condition I couldn't hardly do a thing. I was very weak and run down and never got a good night's sleep.

"While talking with the Orgatone representative about my trouble one day, he advised me to try a bottle of Orgatone. I have taken only one bottle and honestly I feel better than I have in the past 15 or 20 years. My kidneys don't bother me and those terrible pains are gone, and I'm not bothered any more with gas, sour food and that heavy distressing feeling. I feel fine all the time. Orgatone has surely restored my health and I'm more than glad to recommend it."

Delegation of 150 Sought for Trip To Breckenridge Over New Paving

Plans for the first trade trip of 1930 to be made by members of the Junior chamber of commerce on Jan. 21 to Breckenridge in celebration of the completion of paved highways between Wichita Falls and that city were launched Monday, according to A. D. Lightsey, chairman of the trade extension committee.

Work has already begun, Mr. Lightsey said, toward enlisting at least 150 men for the trade excursion. Members of the party will be attired in new white show coats on the backs of which will be lettered prominently in black the recently adopted city slogan, "It's Right in Wichita Falls," it was said. purchase of such equipment having been approved last week by the directors of the organization.

Committees will begin work Tuesday among manufacturers and jobbers of the city with a view to having the good-will caravan amply supplied with favors, souvenirs, pamphlets and greetings for distribution in the cities to be visited.

Schedules for the trips to and from Breckenridge will be arranged soon, according to Mr. Lightsey. The trip will be started at 9:30 a. m. on Tuesday, Jan. 21, and will include stops in Archer City, Olney, Newcastle, Graham, South Bend and Breckenridge. A program will be given in Breckenridge in the evening, and the return trip to this city made the same night.

The chamber of commerce band of 30 pieces, directed by Paul Seeds, will accompany the Junior chamber of commerce delegation to Breckenridge. Members of the committee which Mr. Lightsey heads are R. HARRY LAUDER HERE TONIGHT

Company of Entertainers Accompanies Scot

Scotch dialect songs with the inimitable Lauder style of rendition will not comprise the entire menu of entertainment at the Memorial auditorium Tuesday night, it is apparent from a glance at the program announced for the occasion.

The Harry Lauder concert orchestra, directed by Charles Prince, and Sir Harry Lauder himself will open and close the program, in the order named, and comprise the big attractions for the evening. But between the finale and Sir Harry's concluding group of tunes about laddies and lassies on the heather, a group of entertainers accompanying the popular Scotchman will present other numbers which introduce wide variety of subject matter and mood. Among the artistic lights included in the supporting cast will be Kahrum, eminent pianist from the land of ancient Omar Khayyam.

While reservation of seats for the Lauder concert eclipse the record of any recent entertainment at the auditorium, according to H. C. Cheshire, under whose auspices the appearance here is made, seating accommodations provided by the building still offered hundreds of good seats Monday night. Sale of seats will continue at the Renfro drug store, Eighth and Scott, until 6 p. m. Tuesday.

The program, which will open at 8:15 o'clock, follows:

Overture, "Lauderesque Lauder" ..... Concert orchestra
..... Charles Prince, director
Don Julian, caricaturist.
The Calagaris Duo, European entertainers.
Claire Loring, colorature soprano.
Brothers Arnaut, "Two Loving Birds."
"Scottish Memories" ..... Concert orchestra
Kahrum, pianist.
Songs by Harry Lauder.

Federal Charge Halts Habeas Corpus Hearing

Habeas corpus proceedings, brought in behalf of Lowell S. Harper, were interrupted in the 30th district courtroom Monday afternoon by the serving of a federal warrant charging the petitioning prisoner with the theft of an automobile in Tennessee. The charges were filed by city officers who arrested Harper, complained of as Lowell S. Baker, alias Lowell S. Harper, Sunday.

The habeas corpus petition, which alleged that Harper was being held without authority, was immediately dismissed. A preliminary hearing is set before J. A. Lantz, United States commissioner here, for Tuesday morning, at which time bond will be set. Bob Crain, attorney for Harper, said the petition was brought in an effort to secure bond.

Church Approves Plans For $35,000 Building

Building and finance committees of the First Southern Presbyterian church were empowered by the congregation of that church Sunday to proceed with plans for erecting a brick structure at the corner of Avenue H and Florence Stone boulevard at a cost of from $35,000 to $40,000.

James Biggs, chairman; J. H. Stansbrough, C. McFadyen, F. M. Rugeley and C. M. Kitchell comprise the building committee appointed by the church; while J. E. H. Railey, chairman, Fred L. Storey, and Thomas R. Leslie are members of the finance committee.

Colder weather coming!

Here's complete protection for your car in only 2 minutes

No special overhauling or service charges!
Just SURE protection with Denatured Alcohol

THE weather man's warning you, car owners! Colder weather's on the way, he says . . . and you know what a freeze-up does to a motor.

You're going to guard against it, of course . . . but how? Here's the simplest way . . . the surest . . . the safest . . . and by far the cheapest!

Just take two minutes between now and the time you put your car away. Drive to the nearest garage or filling station that displays the orange and green sign. Tell the man you want Denatured Alcohol. Watch him consult a chart, put in the exact amount your car needs, and test the solution for you . . .

Then . . . 96 seconds after you drive in . . . away you go . . . fully protected.

No special overhauling is necessary when you rely on this trustworthy anti-freeze! It can't seep through tiny holes or hose connections. It won't rot hose, clog radiators, or corrode metal parts.

Besides, Denatured Alcohol is by far the most economical anti-freeze. Even in the severest climate, you usually won't spend more than one-half as much for a whole season's supply as you would for one filling of substitutes.

Denatured Alcohol is backed by more than 20 years of successful and satisfactory use. It is approved by all car manufacturers and universally endorsed by all makers of automobile radiators.

Yes, winter's coming! Protect your car . . . but with safety for that costly motor! Rely on Denatured Alcohol, the dependable anti-freeze.

Look for the orange and green sign.

The Industrial Alcohol Institute, Inc., Graybar Building, New York City.

JUST A SAMPLE OF WHAT'S COMING! This picture was snapped during a real snow storm and it gives you a good idea of the weather that's due soon. No wonder the weather man has issued a warning . . . better get that radiator filled up with some Denatured Alcohol and play safe. Denatured Alcohol is the only anti-freeze that both automobile and radiator manufacturers universally approve. It has been in successful use for more than 20 years

O. K. SAY GARAGE MEN! Here's how the Alco-Tester works. Just squeeze the bulb and it tells you if there's enough Denatured Alcohol in your radiator. Have it done if there's a doubt in your mind. Any garage man will gladly do it.

SIX INDISPUTABLE FACTS

You've heard a lot about anti-freeze. Here are the real facts in the case . . . the indisputable reasons why more motorists use Denatured Alcohol than all other anti-freezes combined.

1. An entire season's supply of Denatured Alcohol usually costs less than half as much as one filling of some preparations.
2. Denatured Alcohol is harmless to radiators, engines and electrical systems. It will not corrode metal parts or attack rubber hose and does not cause leaks.
3. No special service is required to make your car ready for winter. Just put Denatured Alcohol in your radiator as it is.
4. Every car manufacturer approves Denatured Alcohol, and the firm that made your radiator is also emphatic in its endorsement.
5. If your protective solution is lost through accident or carelessness, the cost of replacement with Denatured Alcohol is usually one-sixth that of replacement with some preparations.
6. You can get Denatured Alcohol anywhere, anytime. Service when you need it, wherever you are.
