NEW CRISIS IS FEARED

RHUR CONFLICT IS NEARING END GERMANS ADMIT

Stresemann and French Ambassador Have "Exchanged Thoughts"

BULLETIN IS ISSUED

French Official Despatched To Apprise Premier Poincare

By The Associated Press.

BERLIN, Sept. 11.—By way of clarifying the political situation, which had become greatly confused through conflicting reports of local and foreign origin, a semi-oficial communique issued this afternoon admits that the government is carrying on personal conversations with "all the powers" and that Chancellor Stresemann and the French ambassador have also personally, "exchanged thoughts" on the present situation.

That such informal and non-committal pourparlors are wholly in the nature of a reconoitering movement is further asserted in the bulletin, although a section of the press believes that the have sufficiently crystalized into something tangible to warrant the French envoy despatching an official of his staff to Paris for the purpose of apprising Premier Poincare of the nature of his oral discussions with the chancellor. This emisary is expected back in Berlin tomorrow.

It is said officially that formal notes had not been exchanged between the German and French governments. The official statement adds that the fundamentals of Germany's position on the Ruhr conflict have been clearly set forth in the chancellor's recent speech and that if it requires further elucidation this will be forthcoming tomorrow when the chancellor addresses the German editors at a public reception. The nature of the reply received from Paris, it is believed will determine the character of the chancellor's utterance.

For the present the German government's chief concern appears to center on the determination to put the Ruhr basin back on a productive basis, realizing that the whole complex range of problems growing out of the occupation and the future adjustment of reparations in which the industrialists are expected to play an important part.

The political situation and the government's new currency plan were not without influence on the bourse today, when the dollar rate touched 98,000,000 in late unofficial trading in marks, despite the fact that the New York quotation was more favorable to the mark.

None of the varying editorial conjectures attempts to fathom the government's direct position on the question of unconditionally calling off passive resistance, or the manner in which Herr Stressman proposes to circumvent the ugly word "capitulation."

VIVID STORIES TOLD OF QUAKE

Man Being Fitted For Suit, Room Splits In Half

By The Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 11.—Vivid stories of the destruction of Yokohama and other Japanese cities by the great earthquake are being told by refugees arriving here on steamers from Canada. Among those who escaped from Yokohama were Mr. and Mrs. J. Franklin Stevens and Mrs. M. Hance of Philadelphia, who were beginning a tour of the Orient.

"I was in a tailor shop in Yokohama being fitted for a suit when the earthquake hit the city," said Mr. Stevens. The building seemed to be caught in tremedous upheaval which cut the room in halves as though with a huge knife. One half was lifted straight up, leaving the bare earth where but an instant the Japanese tailor had stood with his tape."

Mr. Stevens hurriedly sought out the women members of his party and started for the water front. He arrived just in time to see the Oriental hotel burst into flames. While he was watching this, he said, the whole water front fell away from the hotel, leaving the interiors of the rooms exposed and disclosing the guests gathering their belongings and attempting to make their escape.

"The view was more like a huge stage setting than reality," said Stevens.

Miss Anna Dauritzn, a Danish stenographer of Yokohama, said she was on her vacation at Myanoshita when the earthquake came. She said she lost all of her belongings, became separated from her friends, and started alone to walk to Yokohama.

"In some places," she said, "there were fissures in the earth so wide I could not jump over them, but had to walk around. In one spot I saw the hands and forearms of a Japanese child protruding from the ground. I stopped and saw where a huge fissure had opened and closed, catching the child like the jaws of a huge vice and crushing out its life.

"The ground rocked and quivered like the surface of the sea, and several times I was hurled from my feet by the earth shocks. All of the time I was in constant fear of meeting the same fate that overtook the Japanese child."

YOUTH FIGURES IN SENSATIONAL MID-DAY HOLDUP

Cashier and Clerk Locked In Vault—Escape In Auto

Posse of Police and Citizens Are Scouring Entire Community

By The Associated Press.

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 11.—Members of the sheriff's department assisted by Texas authorities and armed citizens, were scouring the vicinity of Waskom, Texas, at a late hour tonight in search of a youthful bandit, who at noon robbed the bank of Mooringsport of $4,000 and after locking the cashier, Charles Morefield and Minter Bauguss, 17-year-old clerk, in the bank vault, fled in an automobile which he had taken from W. L. Hindman, local oil operator, whom he left bound hand and foot on the roadside near Trees City, La.

After robbing the bank, the man was traced by reports of persons who saw a man and an automobile answering the descriptions given by Morefield and Hindman, in Waskom, Texas, 30 miles from Mooringsport. The automobile was abandoned at Milner's garage at Waskom and the bandit, according to reports from that place, went to a hotel and after changing clothing left. Shortly after the man reached Waskom, the proprietor of the garage reported to the sheriff's office here and Sheriff Hughes and several deputies left for Waskom. They reached the place, according to information received here, about 15 minutes after the man had disappeared. Hindman, who accompanied the sheriff, identified his automobile at the garage.

Covers Cashier.

The robbery was committed during the noon hour when the streets of Mooringsport were almost empty. Only one person is reported to have seen the man drive away through the little town. Parking his car in the rear of the bank, the man entered the bank through a side window. Morefield was sitting at his desk, and Bauguss was at work at a posting machine. No one knew of the man's presence until Morefield turned to find himself covered with a pistol. The man ordered him to keep silent and give him the money in the bank. Morefield said that at first he thought someone was trying to play a prank and not until the bandit gruffly ordered him the second time, did he throw up his hands.

"Put your hands down and give me the money," the bandit said, according to Morefield.

Puts Money In Sack.

"I then opened the cash drawer which contained about $5,000 in silver, gold and currency. The man put the money in a paper sack which he carried, except the silver, which he left. After he got the money in the drawer, he asked for more. I told him that was all."

Locks Them In Vault.

"Get the rest of it or I'll kill you," he said, and I again told him that was all. He then ordered me and Bauguss to get into the vault. He shut the door and tried to throw the combination, but I put my finger in the combination mechanism. After this he locked the outer door. We heard him leave in the automobile from the rear of the bank. I then used an iron lever inside of the vault to knock on the door. A negro came in in about five minutes and heard me and brought help."

According to Hindman, he was driving to Vivian shortly before noon Tuesday when he overtook a young man walking seven miles north of Shreveport who asked him for a ride.

Asked For Ride.

"He got in and told me he was going to Mooringsport, but when we got there he said he had decided to go further." Hindman said "Six miles further on he put a gun to my ribs and told me to drive a head and warned me not to make an outcry. He made me drive toward Trees City and when he got to a secluded spot, he ordered me out, tied my hands and feet with a piece of rope and left."

The report of the bank robbery caused much excitement here and false rumors that the man had been captured caused hundreds to congregate in front of the Parish jail. The crowd remained in front of the jail for two hours before being convinced that no bandit had been captured.

Life of Alleged Slayer Depends On Comely Jersey City Portia

Miss Anna B. Hogan, attorney

HACKENSACK, N. J., Sept. 11.—A slender whisp of a girl stands between Ezal Robertson and death.

Robertson is in the Bergen county jail here charged with murder. A felon's death leers at him constantly through the cell bars.

Anna B. Hogan—the girl—is in her law office in Jersey City. And death—the death of her client—also leers at her.

But she answers the leer with a smile as she prepares the defense which she is confident will free her client when the case comes to trial.

The fresh bloom of 25 summers is in her cheek, in striking contrast to the musty old volumes which she thumbs diligently in her preparations to rout the state's attorneys.

It is probably the first time in the history of the state that a woman attorney—and one so young—has stepped into the limelight as defense council in a murder trial. But that fact doesn't worry Miss Hogan.

She will be pitted against veterans of the bar, this girl who, though she has won numerous cases, has never before borne upon her shapely but slender shoulders the responsibilities of defending a man on trial for his life.

She is confident of the outcome. So is Robertson.

Time alone will tell if this modern Portia will be as successful as Shakespeare's famous heroine.

COTTON FACING NEWEST DANGER

Farmers Threatened With Losses Through Picker Scarcity

Unless cotton pickers are found at once, the cotton crop in the vicinity of Wichita Falls is threatened with serious waste, according to farmers who are coming into the city in vain searches for laborers.

The Salvation Army bureau reported Tuesday that more than a score of farmers had come to the bureau and waited all day in hopes of securing at least a few hands to get their cotton picked.

Many stated that although recent rains had increased the potential crop, the increase was now in danger of being lost unless labor was secured immediately. Some of the farmers stated they faced serious losses through the shortage.

"The Employment Bureau of the Salvation Army could put any number of menu, women and children to work. Farmers are anxious to secure cotton pickers. At least twenty-five families could find employment near Wichita Falls in the cotton fields. In fact some farmers claim they are unable to secure pickers, although they have been looking for such laborers for several days" said Ensign L. F. Corliss, head of the local Salvation Army work, last night.

Several men and women were placed in positions yesterday. Several other places are awaiting those who want to work. Those who desire to work can find employment if they go to the Salvation Army headquarters at 10 o'clock this morning.

Crisis Holding Back Greco-Italian Peace Consummation

ATHENS, Sept. 1.—The crisis between Italy and Serbia over the Fiume question is causing grave anxiety here, where it is looked upon as a possible menace to immediate adjustment of the Greco-Italian situation. It is feared that in the event of hostilities, Italy will find some pretext to continue the occupation of the island of Corfu, the evacuation of which seems to be the uppermost factor in Greek circles.

Sneed on Stand In Murder Case; Mother Aids Him

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Sept. 11.—The trial of W. H. Sneed, charged by indictment with the murder of J. T. A. Dunson on October 2, 1922, began Monday morning in the Forty-sixth district mourt before Judge James V. Leak.

All Monday until 10 o'clock Tuesday morning was taken up with the selection of the jury. The first state witness was J. B. Gauntt, who testified as to location where the fight occurred, when the defendant is alleged to have hit deceased with a gallon jug, resulting in skull fracture and death. Dr. A. B. Garland, who attended deceased after the affair, testified he found it necessary to remove a small part of the skull.

John Knapp, the next witness called, said he went to the home of Sneed immediately after the fight. Knapp testified Sneed's wife asked him to bring a bucket of water to wash Dunson's wounds, as the latter had been taken into Sneed's house after the fight. The state temporarily rested its case after this, and the defense began to put on a number of witnesses who testified that Dunson was a quarrelsome man.

Sneed late in the afternoon took the stand in his own defense. He said the trouble with Dunson arose over a question of cotton picking. He said Dunson cursed him and attacked him with a bucket. He said Dunson finally got him cornered to where he could do nothing but hit Sneed with the jug in self-defense.

Following the defendant's testimony, his mother, Mrs. L. J. Sneed, took the stand. The mother testified that when defendant was 17 years old he got a lick on the head which necessitated his being sent to the insane asylum for four months. She said since that time he has been unable to control his temper.

The case will be resumed Wednesday morning.

By BASCOM N. TIMMONS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 11.—Co-operative marketing associations have just won a big victory in a decision by Commissioner of Internal Revenue Blair holding them exempt from paying income tax. The decision is expected to result in the formation of hundreds of new co-operative associations.

Under the decision co-operative associations, acting as sales agents for farmers, fruit growers, live stock growers, dairymen, etc., or engaged in the marketing of farm products, and turning back to the producers the proceeds of the sales of their products, less the necessary operating expenses, on the basis of the produce furnished by them, are exempt from income tax and shall not be required to file returns.

Thus co-operative dairy companies, which are engaged in collecting milk and disposing of other products thereof and distributing the proceeds, less necessary operating expenses, among the producers upon the basis of the quantity of milk or of butter fat in the milk furnished by such producers, are exempt from the tax. If the proceeds of the business are distributed in any other way than on such a proportionate basis, the association does not meet the requirements of the statute and is not exempt.

The accumulation and maintenance of a reasonable reserve for depreciation or possible losses or a reserve required by state statute or a reasonable sinking fund or surplus to provide for the erection of buildings and facilities required in business, or for the purchase and installation of machinery and equipment, or to retire indebtedness incurred for such purposes will not destroy the exemption.

A corporation organized to act as a sales agent for farmers, or to market co-operatively the products of the farm, and having a capital stock on which it pays a dividend not exceeding the legal rate of interest in the state in which it is incorporated, and in which substantially all of the outstanding capital stock is owned by capital producers, will not for such reasons be denied exemption, but any ownership of stock by others than actual producers who market their products through the association must be satisfactorily explained in the application for exemption.

In every such case the association will be required to show that the ownership of its capital stock has been restricted as far as possible to actual producers and that the association has not voluntarily sold or issued any stock to non-producers. Thus, if by statutory requirement all officers of an association must be stockholders, the ownership of a share of stock by a non-producer to qualify him as an officer, will not destroy the association's exemption. Likewise, if a stockholder for any reason ceases to be a producer and the association is unable, because of a constitutional inhibition or other reason beyond the control of the association, to purchase or retire the stock of such non-producer, the fact that, under such circumstances, a small amount of the outstanding capital stock is owned by stockholders who are no longer producers will not destroy the exemption.

Co-operative associations organized and operated as purchasing agents for farmers, fruit growers, live stock growers, dairymen, etc., for the purpose of buying supplies and equipment for their use and turning over such supplies and equipment to them at actual cost, plus necessary operating expenses, are also exempt.

School Petition

A further step by the citizens of Scotland addition in their protest against their children having to attend school in the Fannin district instead of the San Jacinto district was taken Tuesday when a meeting was called for next Thursday for the purpose of securing signers to a petition to be presented to the school board.

The Scotland addition prefers the change from the Fannin to San Jacinto school, because their children do not have to cross the railroad tracks to reach the latter school.

WICHITANS REDUCE COST OF LIVING

Wichitans are admonished to eliminate so much of the middleman's profit. Reduce the cost of living. Lower the family expense budget. One of the great items of the family expense is life and accident insurance. Put this on an actual cost basis, by joining the local mutual aid life and accident association recently organized by leading citizens of the county. In this way save many dollars to each member of the family that may be used to educate the children, buy a home, or save for old age.

The Wichita Home Insurance Company is now the largest mutual life and accident insurance company west of Fort Worth in Texas. This organization has recently made the following announcement:

"Every person accepted for insurance is classified according to his age:

Class AA—Ages 50 to 69
Class A—Ages 35 to 50
Class B—Ages 10 to 35
Class C—Ages 0 to 15
Class D—Ages 10 to 55

The last class covers accident insurance, 1,500 members are to be included in each group, thus always assuring $1,000 insurance. The insured agrees to pay $1.10 for each death and $1.00 each six months for the expense fund.

EXPECT GREAT THINGS
in the NEW CADILLAC

Even the superb quality which you have long associated with the name Cadillac is no adequate measure of the merits of the New V-63.

The simple truth is that Cadillac has advanced its own standards and achieved, in this car, heights of quality which are strictly new.

Your attention is directed, particularly, to these three elements:—

The New Cadillac V-Type 90° 8-cylinder engine — harmonized and balanced by entirely new principles of design to a degree of smoothness unapproached in automotive manufacture.

New Body Styles—destined by their graceful, symmetrical design, distinctive finish and exquisite appointments, to be the center of admiration in any company.

Cadillac 4 Wheel Brakes—a safety factor developed with the care and thoroughness characteristic of Cadillac engineering.

New delights await you also in enhanced dependability, ease of control, riding restfulness and, indeed, in every phase of car performance.

It is entirely logical that Cadillac, pioneer-leader of eight-cylinder manufacture in America, should now raise multi-cylinder practice to an even higher pitch of excellence.

This is exactly what has happened in the New V-63, and Cadillac urges you to approach this fine car with great expectations.

Post Nuptial Shower Given.

Mrs. Otto Huffman, nee Miss Lucille Thompson, recent bride was honoree at a lovely post-nuptial variety shower last Saturday given by Miss Mary Louise Green at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Guy Green in East Waurika.

The house was beautifully decorated with baskets of pink and white periwinkles and shasta daisies. The punch bowl, in a pink and white bower was presided over by Miss Jewel Pruit of Norman and Miss Rebecca Green, sister of the hostess. The following toasts were given:

"To the Groom" Miss Ruth Peters.

"To the Girl left behind" Miss Helen Huffman.

After the toasts a most enjoyable time was spent playing progressive "42" in which game Miss Lavell Harrel won high score and was remembered with a set of ice tea sippers, and Miss Ethel Ward received the consolation which was a ribbon bedecked rolling pin. Both gifts were presented to the honor guest.

Miss Helen Huffman, seated at the piano softly played Lohengrin's wedding march and into the living room marched a tiny bride in the person of little Mary Louise Pruit, dressed in the regulation wedding dress with long train, wearing a wedding veil and carrying a lovely shower bouquet of white bride's roses, which she presented to Mrs. Huffman with the request that she follow the ribbons to their end. This took Mrs. Huffman into the dining room which was decorated with streamers of pink and white, with pink and white hearts everywhere in evidence. The gifts were piled on the dining room table and there Mrs. Huffman assisted by the little bride, opened them.

Lovely refreshments of pink and white ices, individual sweetheart cakes with pink icing and white orange blossoms were served to Misses Edwina Alexander, Nora Naupin, Lavelle Harrell, Edna Burch, Hetty Belle Patterson, Helen Huffman, Beth Johnsson, Mary Tabor, Ruth Peters, Ruth Cashion, Frances Lemons, Mary Browning, Hazel Jones, Jewel Pruit, Edith Ward, Gladys Davidson, Ruth Black, Edna Stuard, Faye Biffle, Faye Pepin, Lenna Vee Watson, Olga Denney, Grace and Abbey Dunkin, Verna Davidson and Mesdames Earl McCartney, Ernest Kiser, Robert and Earl Pruit, Allen Killough, Chas. Tabor, Solon Osteen, Emmet Rucker.

Another Shower.

Monday evening from 5 to 7 Mrs. Huffman was honored with another shower which was in the nature of a cleverly planned surprise, and was given by Miss Edwina Alexander. The Alexander home was lovely with big baskets of white periwinkles and white roses, each basket tied with a big fluffy yellow maline bow.

Shortly after the arrival of the last guest a shetland pony cart loaded with all kinds of travelling bags and bearing the usual placards "Just Married" and etc., that is wont to aflorn bridal equipages, dashed up to the front door of the Alexander home. Mr. and Mrs. Huffman were impersonated by Mrs. J. S. Cole and Miss Rebecca Green.

After they had been welcomed by the other guests a guessing wedding bell contest was enjoyed, Mrs. Roma Davis of Healdton proving her cleverness and being remembered with a pyrex buiscuit pan, which she presented to the honor guest.

There was music and an informal time followed this until the room was called to order and the 'English class' called in recitation. Miss Rebecca Green dressed in the fashion of a youthful school boy and wearing the inscription "Teacher's Pet" came in bearing the gifts in a school book satchel. They were all utensils for the kitchen.

Later the guests were invited to the dining room where Mrs. Huffman cut and served a lovely bride's cake which adorned the middle of the table and which was surrounded by white roses. This cake contained the time honored symbols, a ring, a dime, a thimble and a lucky piece.

Lovely refreshments of ice cream frozen into golden slippers and white cake were served with favors of little wooden clothes pins, wrapped in white paper and tied with yellow ribbons. Among the pins was a black one, which signified the recipient would be an old maid, a silver which foretold the next wedding, and the gold one which presaged great wealth.

Those enjoying the hospitality of Miss Alexander were Misses Mary Tabor, Edna Stuard, Edna Burch, Faye Biffle, Ruth Black, Mary Browning, Mary Louise Green, Rebecca Green, Gladys Davidson, Beth Johnston, Nora Maupin, Ruth Peters, Ruth Caskion, Helen Huffman, Hetty Belle Patterson, Faye Pepin, Grace and Abbey Dunkin and Mesdames Emmet Rucker, Chas. Tabor, J. S. Cole, E. G. Bay, Gail Durham, Ernest Kiser and Roma Davis of Healdton, Oklahoma, who is the house guest of her sister, Mrs. Gail Durham.

Neighborhood Sewing Club.

Little Miss Emma Ruth Burnsides was hostess to the "Neighbohood Sewing Club" at her country home just east of town, Monday afternoon, when eight little girls met and sewed and enjoyed an hour together. The mother of the little hostess served lovely refreshments of ice cream and cake.

Cotton.

Cotton picking was interfered with the first of the week by rain, but the fleecy staple has been rolling in during the past few days, the market being from 21 cents to 24, a pound.

Two hundred and four bales had been ginned in Waurika up to Wednesday night. There are several new buyers on the streets.

High School.

The high school enrollment is 147, which is 12 more than enrolled last year. By classes it is as follows: Seniors 35; juniors 18; sophomores 35; freshmen 59.

In the grades the enrollment is lighter than it should be. At Irving it is 201; and central 90, and in the junior high 67. The total is 365 as compared to about 400 at this time last year.

No County Estimate Yet.

WAURIKA, Okla., Sept. 10.—The county excise board has been unable to pass on the county estimate as yet, for the reason that the state board of equalization has not yet certified the valuation of the banks of the county, the American Express company and a few other small corporations. The board knows that the valuation of the county has been so reduced that it will mean a heavy reduction in the estimates to bring the tax levy down to the maximum limit. The road fund will receive the heaviest cut and every office will be called upon to share the reduction.

No definite action has been taken as yet, but the salaries of the deputies will probably be cut, and a number of officials will be asked to reduce the number of their deputies.

The Hastings Herald suspended operations with the publication of its last issue. It had been published by S. W. McClure. The machinery was removed to Rush Springs.

Large crowds attended the fall opening of millinery and ready-to-wear at the Fashion Shop last Friday and Saturday customers and friends coming from the surrounding towns.

Contractor C. E. Phillips has taken out the entire front and installed a new modern plate glass one, in the building owned by W. H. Gresham which is occupied by the Martin Dry Goods company. This makes one of the most attractive store fronts in Waurika and affords the Martin Dry Goods company ample space to display their stock.

Mrs. W. R. Sparks and daughter Miss Winnie Belle came home Wednesday of last week from Quanah, Texas, where they have been spendong the past two months with relatives.

Miss Mildred Moore, who has been spending the summer in Amarillo, Texas, came to Waurika last week and will spend the school year with ford. The little miss made the thip ford. The little miss made the trip by herself and consequently feels that she is quite a seasoned traveler.

Ray Powell, who is employed with Empire Gas and Fuel Co., in their auditing department at Bartlesville, Oklahoma, spent last week in Waurika with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Vertrees are home from a month spent at Mineral Wells.

Miss Maude Merritt has returned to her home in Shawnee after spending a few weeks in Waurika with her sister Mrs. Fred Koeniger and family.

Cham Jones Jr. of Oklahoma City spent last week in Waurika with friends.

Mrs. P. Lipstate of Chicago arrived in Waurika Friday and will remain here with her husband who is proprietor of the Star Store.

Mrs. N. C. Peters and little daughter Mary Reese of San Bernadino, Calif., were in Waurika last Tuesday visiting relatives. The Peters family lived here several years ago.

Emmert Mayo who is employed by the Texas company at Chickasha, came down last Friday to spend a couple of weeks with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. F. Bush came home last Monday from Oklahoma City where they had spent a few days at the close of their vacation which had been spent in Colorado.

Geo. A. Stephens, formesly owner of the Army Store has been employed by the Crew-Levick Oil agency.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Price, who formerly operated the Royal Tailor Shop here were down from Lawton Saturday to see about removing their household goods to Lawton where they have purchased a business.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Kerr, Harrel Cotner, Mrs. T. E. Ashinhurst and Tom were last week-end visitors at Sherman, Texas.

SCHOOL DAYS.

School days again. Thousands of little feet are carrying thousands of boys and girls back to the school room after many care-free days in the open and at home. And their going is bringing back to hundreds of mothers and fathers those days back yonder when they were called away from their childish pleasures by the old school bell.

It's hard to make the children believe that those were the good old days, and there is no reason why they should be expected to view the matter in the same light their parents do. For they are children, and we unfortunate grown-ups recall our school days as a pleasant memory.

Just think back on those days and you will remember how hard it all seemed. You had to be on time, and you were disciplined by seemingly stern teachers who apparently considered nothing except what was printed between book covers. The recitations—when you don't have your lesson; those horrible examinations—remember how you used to watch the teacher's crayon crawl stealthily across the blackboard as she wrote down the examination questions? Ugh! And the times you were summoned into the sanctum of the superintendent to explain why you acted as you did in a certain case.

Now, of course, the grown-ups know that you magnified the troubles of school days, but we, as grown-ups are doing the same thing in our lives every day of the world. After all we are still school children, being held to account by the unbending teacher: Experience.

SEEING THE LIGHT.

The United Mine Workers of America are waking up.

In a series of articles which is being published by this strong union, it is declared that "Red forces, under the direct supervision of Moscow, are attempting to seize control of the organized labor movement of America, and use it as the base from which to carry on the communist movement for the overthrow of the American government."

While we are of the opinion that the United Mine Workers is looking rather far ahead in this contemplated plan of the Reds, it is encouraging to note that the Mine Workers are coming to realize that their organization must be America controlled. Enough has happened in the past to justify their fears. Doubtless the Red organization abroad does seek control of the mine workers, but the rest of the country would never permit the working out of a plan that would bring revolution in this land of ours.

The United Mine Workers, in the days of Bill Haywood, blackened the name of organized labor in America. The Reds and radicals in that organization have done more harm to organized labor than any other one thing. Now that Bill Haywood is where he belongs—in Russia—and Alexander Howat, and his kind, have been told they cannot run the organization, it appears to be shaping up until it is becoming worthy of the name of Labor.

The trouble all along has been, that the radicals, whether in control or not, have been largely in the majority and men like Howat have been able to control them through fiery speeches and pink-whiskered methods.

What the United Mine Workers need is a house-cleaning. Those aliens who remain in the organization should be taught that they are living in free America, and that the methods of Russia will not be tolerated here. The thing can be done, and it is highly pleasing to know that the heads of the mine workers realize the danger ahead and are listed on the side of the real laboring man, who expects to work for what he earns, and is ready to fight for the principles on which this nation was founded.

JAPAN.

There is no reason why Japan should not come back. Japan has been coming back for thousands of years. Japan has a national wealth estimated at thirty-five billion dollars. Japan has suffered a loss of five billion dollars by earthquake and fire and water. More than five hundreds thousand lives were snuffed out, but what are five hundred thousand lives to a people or nation where the birth rate exceeds the death rate seven hundred thousand every year?

Japan came out of the world war with a very small war debt. International financiers declare that Japan has not been impaired and that financially speaking Japan is in better shape after the greatest disaster in the history of the Far East than France or Italy or other historic nations of Europe.

There is no reason why the American people should not go to the assistance of Japan. There are a thousand reasons why the congress of the United States should authorize a large loan to the Nipponese government. Japan never repudiates an obligation. Japanese are proud of their country and they strive to preserve its national honor and national credit unsullied and untarnished.

Three-fourths of the silk purchased by American importers comes from Japan and the Japanese in recent years have been large buyers of American cotton. They purchased more than eight hundred thousand bales in the last cotton year.

Advices from Tokio indicate that the manufacturing towns or centers of the empire escaped without heavy losses. They were not in the earthquake zone. Advices also indicate that these proud and aggressive and progressive people of the Orient are reorganizing their constructive forces determined to rebuild their vanquished cities without delay and make the Japan of the future far more powerful and progressive than the Japan of the past. Japan came out of its trance of centuries 70 or 80 years ago and in the short flight of time the builders of Japan traveled faster than any tribe or race of men ever traveled before in the history of the world.

Dictator Mussolini kicked Greece into the ditch just for the sport of the thing and now a conference of ambassadors have notified the Greeks that they must accept the inevitable and smilingly say to the Italian dictator that Greece dearly loved to be kicked. This is a wonderful old world of ours. Always kick the weakest dog, the dog that is in the ditch and is unable to get out of the ditch. Human nature never changes.

If He Must Shoot Why Not Take a Crack at The Wild Ones?

THE BRIGHT SHAWL

"Something like that began to happen to me," Charles admitted; "it was necessary to bring it to an end: just as you must. Such things are not for us. Drop her, Andres, on the Paseo, where she belongs!" The other again slipped outside the bounds of their friendship. "I must ask you to make no such allusion," he retorted, stiffly. Charles laughed. "You old idiot," he said affectionately, "have her and get over it, then, as soon as possible: I won't argue with you about such affairs, that's plain." Andres laid a gripping hand on his arm, avoiding while he spoke, Charles' searching gaze.

"There is one thing you can do for me," he hurried on, "and—and I beg you not to refuse. The manton that belonged to La Clavel! I described it to Pilar, and she is mad to wear it to the danzon at the Tacon theater. Think of Pilar in that shawl, Charles."

"She can't have it," he answered shortly.

"I have to have it," the other whispered desperately; "she—she wants it for the danzon."

Charles Abbott's resentment changed to pity. "Very well," he said quietly. "After all, you are right; it is nothing but a shawl, and our love for each other must not suffer. I'll give if to you freely, Andres; she will look wonderful in it."

He was, frankly, worried about Andres; not fundamentally—Andres' loyalty was beyond any personal betrayal—but because he was aware of the essential inflammability of all tropical emotion.

Pilar de Lima might, possibly, depart for Peru earlier than she expected; boats left not infrequently for Mexico and South America. A sugar bag could easily, at the appropriate moment, be slipped over her head, and a bateau carry her out, with a sum of gold, at night to a departing ship. There would be no trouble, after she had been seen, in getting her on board!

And Charles Abbott thought of her, in her silent whiteness, corrupting one by one the officers and crew; a vague hatred would spread over the deck, forward and aft; and through the cabins.

CHAPTER XXIII.
Love or Duty.

Charles Abbott's thoughts returned continually to Andres; to the love he had for him had been born at once. It was curious—that feeling: a thing wholly immaterial, idealizing. He had speculated about it before, but without coming to the end of its possibilities, the bottom of its meaning.

There was no need to search for a reason for the love of women; that, it might be, was no more than mechanical, the allurement cast by nature about its automatic purpose. It belonged to earth, where it touched any sky was not Charles' concern, but his friendship for Andres Escobar had no relation to material ends. The bond between them, Charles told himself, was forged from pure gold.

This was running through his head on the night of the danzon. He was seated in a palo of the second, tier in the Taon theatre.

There was a knock at the closed door behind Charles and de Vacca entered and took a vacant chair at Charles' side. "You weren't attracted to my white absinthe," he said easily. On the contrary, Charles replied, he had liked Pilar very well, although she had annoyed him by foolish tales of a Spanish interest in him.

"She is of course, an agent," de Vacca admitted. "We almost have to keep her in a cage. She has killed three officers of high rank; although we do not prefer her as an assassin. We'll have to garrote her some time, and that will be a pity."

There was a flash of color below, of carmine and golden orange and Charles recognized Pilar wrapped, from her narrow shoulders to her delicate ankles, in the manton. Andres Escobar with a protruding lip and sullen eyes, was at her side.

Suddenly de Vacca utterly astounded Charles; with a warning pressure of his hand he spoke at the younger man's ear:

"I am leaving at once for Madrid, a promotion has fortunately lifted me from this black intrigue, and I have a memory.....from the sala de Armas, the echo of a sufficiently spirited compliment. Your friend, Escobar has reached the end of his journey! It will accomplish nothing to inform him; he is not to walk from the theatre."

Charles Abbott sat with a mechanical gaze on the floor covered with revolving figures. He realized instantly that Gaspar Arco de Vacca had been truthful. The evidence of that lay in the logic of his words, the ring of his voice. The officer rose, saluted, and left. Andres had come to the end of his journey! It was incredible. The shawl, on Pilar, had lost its beauty; it was malevolent, screaming in color; contrasted with it her face was marble.

How, Charles speculated desperately, was Andres to be killed? And then he saw. A tall Spaniard with a jeering countenance stopped squarely, with absolute impropriety, before Pilar and asked her to dance. Andres Escobar, for the moment, was too mazed for objection; and, as Pilar was borne away, he made a gesture of denial that was too late.

Every natural feeling impelled Charles below, to go blindly to the support of Andres. There must be some way to get him safely out of the hands of Spain!"

This, of course, would involve, endanger, himself, but he would welcome the necessity of that acceptance. Gaspar de Vacca had indicated the price he might well pay for such a course—the end, at the same time of himself; not only the death of his body but the ruin of his hopes and high plans.

Nothing, he had told himself a thousand times, should be allowed to assail them.

Indeed, he had discussed just such a contingency as this with Andres. Theoretically there had been no question of the propriety of an utter seeming selfishness: the way, across a restaurant table, had been clear.

Back again, Pilar was, as usual, silent, Andres, though, was speaking in short, tense phrases that alternated with concentrated angry pauses. She lifted her arms to him, and they began to dance.

They remained, however, characteristic of the danzon, where they were, turning slowly and reversing in a remarkably small space. They were notably graceful couple, and they varied with an intricate stepping, the general monotony of the measures.

Charles had an insane impulse to call down to Andres, to attract his attention to wave him away from the inimical forces gathering about him. Instead of this he light a cigarette, with hands the reverse of steady and contracted all his thoughts upon the fact of Cuban independence. That, he told himself, was the only thing of importance in his life, in the world!"

The Tacon theatre took on the appearance of a limitless pit into which all human life had been poured arbitrarily thrown together, and in the semblance of masquerading gayety made to whirl in a time that had in its measure the rattle of bones a drumming on skulls.

This conception sickened him, he could, he felt, no longer breathe in a closeness which he imagined as fetid; and Charles realizing that, at least, there was no need for him to remain. Indeed, it would be better in every way to avoid the impending, te immediate, catastrophe.

He secured his hat and made his way down the broad, shallow steps, passing extraordinary figures—men, black and twisted like the caravans of roots in the garb of holliday minstrels: women coffee-colored and lovely like Jobaba their faces pearly with rice powder, in yellow satin or black or raw purple their feet in high-heeled kid slippers.

His passage became, against his reasoning mind, a flight, and he curked with an unbalanced rage, in a minor frenzy, when he saw that he would have to walk through a great part of the body of the theatre before he could escape. The danIcers had, momentarily thinned out, and he went directly across the floor.

There was a flame before his eyes the illusion of a shifting screen of blood; and he found himself facing Pilar de Lima and Andres: beyond the Spanish officer, tall and lank and young, was peering at them with an aggressive spite. Charles turned aside, avoiding the tableau.

Then he heard Andres's exasperated voice ordering the girl to come with him to the promenade. Instead of that, her glimmering eyes with lights like the reflection of polished green stones, evading Andres, sought and found the officer.

"Andres!" cried Charles; "Andres, let her go, she is nothing! Quickly, before it is too late. Remember——"

There was a surging concentration so rapid that Charles saw it as a constricting menace rather than the offensive of a group of men. Pilar stoopped, her hand at her knee. Charles threw an arm about Andres, but was dragged, struggling away.

She was icy in the hell of the manton. There was a suspension of breathing of sound, through which a fragile hand with a knife searched and searched.

Then a shocking blow fell on Charles Abbott's head and the Tacon theatre rocked and collapsed in darkess.

In next instalment Charles Abbott drinks two toasts.

CHAPTER XXIV.
Two Toasts.

The sharp closing of a door brought Charles Abbott, a man advanced in middle age, abruptly to his feet. He was confused and swayed dizzily, with outstretched arms as though he were grasping vainly for the dissolving fragments of a shining mirage of youth. They left him forever, and he stood regaining his strayed sense of immediacy.

OVER CONTENTMENT

When I hear there's been a panic in the market
And securities are hurrying to smash,
I never need to worry, for I know that in the flurry
I stand no chance of losing any cash.
I never fear a rise in tax assessments,
Which moves my wealthy neighbors to distress;
If they make the tax-rate double, it would give me not a trouble,
For I haven't any houses to assess.

I am not at all annoyed by prohibition;
I haven't any private stock to raid;
I have no cause to tremble lest the officers assemble
And the cool blu of my domicile invade.
I do not even dread the cost of living,
For my system needs but very little food.
Not a wish my spirit ruffles, for fresh terrapin and truffles—
I can do with ham and onion, plainly stewed.

I have little taste for riding round in motors;
It is difficult for me to understand
How one gets the big car fever. I myself, I know, would liever
Have a flivver when I purchased second hand.
I am undisturbed by changes in the fashion;
No one marks me when I chance to walk about;
Some men get an awful loathing for the same old suit of clothing.
But I wear one till at last I wear it out.

All the frets and tribulations of the wealthy
Pass me by as if there never were such things!
Yet I have a deep resentment for the state of calm contentment
And the placid-minded easefulness it brings!
I have never any hankering for money,
Or the greed that put King Croesus to the bad;
I have no worthwhile possession, but I'll make the frank confession
That I rather often sort of wish I had!

IRRIGATION

The Colonization Questionnaire.
THE PURPOSE

On August 10th a questionnaire was sent out to something over a hundred of the land owners of record under the irrigation project in Wichita county.

Ever since construction work was started on the irrigation project in 1922 there has been more or less talk about selling the surplus lands on the project. But all of this talk has been based on what the larger land owners thought, or on what it was supposed the land owners as a class thought, about selling their lands. No definite attempt has been made up to this time to ascertain the attitude of the land owners themselves toward colonization and the problems that are inseparably connected with it.

In sending out the questionnaires it was believed that a fair cross section of the general opinion of the land owners might be secured and thus supply some definite information for the land owners themselves in regard to how other owners view matters. It was also thought that the results would prove of great interest to many others who realize how important it is to the future of this section that the problem of colonization be solved at an early date.

Tomorrow we will examine into what degree of accuracy can be expected from the questionnaire method of securing information.

WHAT TODAY MEANS

VIRGO

Today should pass with little or no difficulties in business or personal life. The evening brings much gayety but with a strong tendency to indulge oneself too fluently in pleasure and intoxicants. Serious illness will follow unless excess is replaced with moderation. There is some danger of a loss of friends.

A child born today will be impetuous and ungovernable.

If today is your birthday, your mind is one that is just as dogmatic as it is usually right, and even if it is wrong you won't admit it. So far as you are concerned the universe proceeds from your own conception of it as a place wherein to have your own unchallenged way.

You are sensitive to the opinions of your fellow beings, to a degree that must eventually make you a self-pitying unappreciated wretch. You will sacrifice a great deal of time and effort in the attempt to make others think as well of you as you think of yourself.

Even if it is a casual stranger, and must in some way impress him with your own importance.

But for this quality you should have an unenviable success in any walk of life you select, for you have a strong will and a clear and active intellect. Your mind is as versatile, as it is rapid. There is nothing you cannot understand and very little you cannot do, except controlling your temper.

You are rather romantic in your taste, and in your day dreams you attribute to yourself all the charming grace and chivalry which you lack in every day life. You are always the hero or heroine. If you carried your dream characters into actal life you would be one of the most admirable personalities imaginable.

You have a besetting mental vice of converting a deficiency into a virtue. When you are disappointed in love for instance, you instantly depreciate the person who has slighted you and suddenly see yourself still faithful to a former sweetheart. When you are beaten at games, you pretend that you let your opponent win out of sheer magnanimity of spirit. With the exception of several terrific jolts which your egotism must bring you, your life should be easy and uneventful except for the calmities of your own imagining, for in reality you are a cautious and safe person.

Successful people born on your birthday are:

Richard J. Gatling, gun inventor.
Wm. Sprague, Mfgr. and governor of Rhode Island.
Chas. Super, educator.

BANK CHARTERED ON RURAL CREDITS

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 11.—Charter for the Houston Agricultural Credit Corporation, a bank organized under the farm credits acts of congress and the Texas legislature this year, was granted by the secretary of state Monday. This is the first company chartered directly under the Texas rural credits and pooling law. Two similar corporations, one at Hempstead and one at Houston, were recently chartered under old corporation laws.

The Houston Agricultural Credit corporation has a capital stock of $10,000, and application for loans of more than $250,000 are already pending before it.

Ammon Underwood is president of the new corporation; Will Nash and J. Lewis Thompson, vice presidents; J. W. Canada, secretary and manager; W. S. Woodruff, treasurer and assistant manager. Directors include these and Hance Baker, LaPorte; J. R. Burns, Fairbanks; E. M. Cole, Alta Loma; R. H. Darst, Richmond; Ira Dunks, Huffman; W. J. Habermacher, Addicks; Sam Hodgins, Velasco; W. R. Isaacs, Alvin; Hy Rugely, Bay City; H. M. White, Stowell.

Attorney General Gets Back Textbook Muddle

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 11.—The entire question of state textbook contracts, held in federal court to be invalid, and also pending in Texas courts, was passed back to the attorney general department Monday morning by the state board of education.

Formal request was submitted by State Superintendent of Education S. M. N. Marrs, that the board rescind its former action of setting aside $1,500,000 to pay for the new textbooks adopted last December, since the contracts had been held.

He also asked, in his written communication that the school board make a supplemental apportionment of $1 per capita for the 1,272,000 pupils listed in the Texas scholastic census, thus bringing the total apportionment to the $18 figure at which it stood last year.

The board erred the communication to the attorney general for ruling on its legal phases, and announced a further meeting will be held next Monday, Sept. 17, to consider his opinion, and to pass on other matters before the board.

It had not been expected that Governor Neff would vote for the apportionment until the textbook matter is disposed of by the highest courts to which it can be appealed. He has consistently stood for validity of contracts made by the textbook commission, of which he is a member, in adopting new textbooks. He voted to leave $1,500,000 education funds in the textbook account to meet the cost of new books if litigation were disposed of and the contracts upheld. Until the matter has been decided otherwise by the court of last resort, he will uphold validity of the contracts, it is known.

Comptroller Lon A. Smith will support the effort to rescind the board of education's order on the $1,500,000 and to supplement the appropriation by distributing this sum, he stated recently.

New Prison Chapel.

HUNTSVILLE.—A campaign to raise funds to construct a new chapel at the state prison here has been inaugurated by Chaplain L. L. Dickey of the institution. The chapel was destroyed by fire in 1922 and has not been replaced. An appropriation of $5,000 for the purpose made by the legislature is said to be insufficient.

Touch Of Red

As the days begin to shorten and grow cooler the frocks of organdy, dotted swiss and other light and washable fabrics give way to the more substantial materials. Crepe has been a prime favorite for some time and seems destined to lose no whit of its popularity in the coming season.

Black, too, continues its vogue. It has held its own all summer in spite of the deluge of bright colors. With the coming of fall it will be more than ever in demand.

For the college girl who must have smart but practical frocks for coming school days, for the club woman who looks forward to another season of work for civic betterment and individual growth; for the "home body" who must look youthful and smart for friend husband and the kiddies and the occasional afternoon gatherings of friends:—for any of these this little frock would be appropriate and useful.

It is made of black crepe and ruffles of pleated satin ribbon, also black, extend from shoulder to hem in a double row on the left side. It also forms a turnback cuff for the plain coat sleeves. A rosette of the ribbon marks the waist line and breaks the line of the ruffling. A girdle of twisted rope silk encircles the waist with a long tassell hanging from the right side. A touch of red in this tassell gives a pretty and distinguishing touch and brightens the frock. It is designed for afternoon wear.

MOTHER MOON.

The moonlight is shining
So white through my window,
The moon has been walking
All night through the sky,
The way that my mother
Comes walking on tiptoe,
When I'm thinking how slowly
The dark's going by.

The Sun is the father,
The moon is the mother,
And the stars are the children
Awake in the night.

She stoops down to kiss them
And tuck in the covers,
And when she is going
She leaves them her light.

Heart and Home Problems Solved

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a woman 36 years old and have been married to my present husband for about a year. My first husband died five years ago and I was left with the necessity of finding work without any previous experience. In looking over the newspaper advertisements I came across one which said that a widower, the father of three children, wanted a woman to come into his home as housekeeper and to look after the children.

I answered the advertisment and found that the man had had a great deal of trouble with housekeepers because they were not good to the children. The position paid well because the work all fell on the housekeeper except the washing. It seemed to me that I could fill the position well and so I took it. I have always loved children, but did not have any of my own.

My employer's children were naturally badly behaved because they had not had kind treatment from the time of their mother's death. Fortunately they and I got along well together and gradually I improved their behavior. Best of all they learned to love me devotedly and of course I loved them just as much.

Last year my employer asked me to marry him. He is a wonderful man and I had loved him for some time, and so I consented without realising how his people would feel. Now my life could be completely spoiled if I would let it. His father and mother no longer come to our house, and all of his relatives think it is a disgraceful thing that he married his housekeeper. False stories are circulated to the effect that I am cruel to the children and a perfect tyrant with my husband. My husband takes my part and the more opposition he gets the more devoted he is to me.

I would give anything to win over my husband's people. Before our marriage they couldn't say enough nice things about me and I was invited to their homes occasionally. I can't see why they should turn on me so completely now. Can you suggest any way that I could win back their regard? Of course I am happy with my husband and the dear children, but I wonder how long my husband will be happy without the companionship of his family. MRS. B. B.

He was explaining.

"As quick as a man gets together a little property, he begins to look at things very differently. He begins to see that his welfare depends on keeping things stable—"

She interposed. "But of course he ought to be willing that things should improve—"

"Oh! improve,' yes! Eleanor, you don't understand about these things. It's impossible to discuss them with you. Let's drop it!"

"I'll bring in some more cakes," she said.

When she came back, their son was explaining.

"A chap has simply got to live his own life, even if he does live at home. He can't go on forever doing what somebody else thinks is best for him. He's got himself to think of—"

She said: "But he's got to be learning to think of other people too, or else—"

"Oh, mother, that isn't the way I mean it. You don't see these things from my point of view. Let's not talk about it!"

"Let me fill your cup," she said.

Now their daughter was talking. "A girl doesn't need to know how things ought to be done about a house—there are plenty of people to do them for her. Let her earn the money and hire somebody to do what she can't do—"

Her mother said: "She needn't necessarily do housework, if she is so fortunate as not to have to do so. But she should know exactly how it ought to be done—or how will she know when it is being done well—"

"Oh, mummy, how ridiculous! Did papa have to be a carpenter in order to have this house built right? That's too old fashioned for words. You don't understand—Let's drop it."

The wife and mother looked up sweetly, patiently and a bit stubbornly withal.

"Shall I tell you," she said, "how you can do some house missionary work? Treat me as if I knew enough to discuss things whether you happen to agree with me or not. Listen to me as you would do to a stranger. Pretend I was a stranger! And never again say to me 'Let's drop it! Now," she said equably, and rose from the table, "Let's drop it."

WHY DO THEY DO IT?

If there is one thing that strikes me as being in decidedly poor taste, it is to hear a married woman rave about some man in the presence of her husband.

It will always embarrass a listener—and I am sure the husband of the woman who indulges in this pastime—gets bored to tears.

He wouldn't dare knock the man his wife is so enthusiastic about for fear everyone would think him jealous—but he realizes how tiresome her subject is to the guests present.

Wives who do this should remember this: the guests who are in your home are interested in your husband, else they would not be there. And anything that tends to embarrass him or make him feel uncomfortable is resented by them.

"All the world loves lovers" and a "house divided against itself is sure to fall." I have seen women spoil an evening that would have been otherwise pleasant by expounding on some other man's good qualities.

HOW TO REDUCE VARICOSE VEINS

Rub Gently and Upward Toward the Heart, as Blood in Veins Flows That Way

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunches.

If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) at any first class drug store and apply it night and morning as directed, you will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is extensively used in hospitals and in factories as first aid to the injured. It is a harmless yet most powerful germicide, and two ounces lasts a very long time.

Indeed, so powerful is Emerald Oil that soft bunches, goitre, swollen glands and veins are reduced. It is one of the wonderful discoveries of recent years, and anyone who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded. Your druggist can supply you.—Adv.

WOMAN'S PAINS LIKE TORTURE

Kentucky Lady, in a Dangerous Condition After a Siege of Influenza, Found Cardui Very Helpful

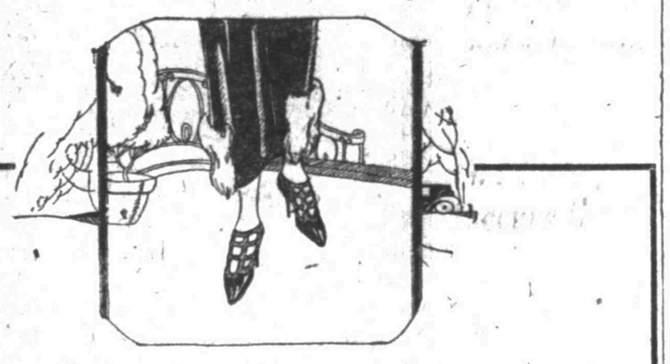

Louisville, Ky.—Influenza left Mrs. Volney A. Handy of 127 North Sixteenth street, this city, in a dangerous condition. "I suffered tortures with my sides," she says, "and across my back. It seemed the pain would start at the back of my neck and down in my back and sides—a pain that felt like I was pulling in two. I couldn't stand on my feet. My limbs just gave way. . . .

"I had taken Cardui as a tonic. I knew it was good. I told my husband I would try it again. I had used other things without relief . . . After one-half bottle of Cardui the pain got less hard, and I seemed to relax. I could straighten up. After one and a half bottles I was able to walk around and do my work. My back was stronger and the bearing-down pains left. I took altogether three bottles, and it strengthened me.

"Why, before I took Cardui I was so nervous and in such a fix I couldn't eat or sleep. Afterwards my nerves were better, I gained my strength, I began to eat and sleep and was like another person."

Womanly pains cause great suffering, and a medicine that will relieve them is indeed worth knowing about. Thousands of women have written to tell that Cardui helped them, relieving such symptoms as those described above. If you suffer in this way—

Buffs Take Opener From Spudders 11 to 10

RAGGED PLAYING AND ERRORS FEATURE SLOW GAME; 3 HOME RUNS COUNTED IN HITTING BEE

Six Errors Made By Spudders Accounts for Loss of Series Opener; Locals Drive Pence From Mound in Eighth Inning

BY DON WELDON.

The Spudders lost a ragged game to the Houston Buffs yesterday afternoon, the visitors taking the big end of a 11 to 10 score after nine innings of slow play. Both the Spudders and the Buffs hit heavily, and six errors by Spudder infielders accounted for the loss for the home crew.

Carlson allowed 12 hits in the game, but the visitors bunched them in the fourth and fifth innings, when with the help of errors they accounted for nine of their eleven runs. The last two came in the ninth.

Knight relieved Pence in the eighth inning after the Spudders had hung up two counters, and Knight was also hit heavily by the locals. Barrett hit his first ball pitched to the Spudder second baseman over the left field fence for a homer.

The first inning started with both Carlson and Pence seemingly in shape, and both sides were retired in order on ground balls. In the second, however, the Spudders got to Pence for three hits and as many runs. Cotter opened the hitting with a double to deep center and Berger went to first on four balls. Barrett counted two runs, scoring Cotter and Berger with a double to center. He scored on Jonnard's single to left.

Bescher's Error.

In the third frame Bescher muffed a foul fly, the first one he has missed this season, but Vick was later out on an infield grounder. Carlson was right and fanned Bliss and Pence to retire the side. He was pitching shut out ball and in three innings held the Buffs hitless, only one ball going outside the infield.

After the second frame Pence tightened and retired the Spudders in order in the third, on short ground balls.

In the fourth two errors, with four safe hits and a home run, gave the Buffs four runs. Baggan got a single, taking second when Stansbury hit safely to right. Berger prevented a double play which would have retired the side after Sperber flied out when he dropped a bad throw from Barrett. The play filled the bases and Bell promptly emptied them with a homer over the left field fence, giving the visitors a one run lead. McDonald hit a double. He was run down between second and third and an error by Barrett let the batter, Bliss, go to third on the play. Vick struck out.

Although Cotter and Berger walked the Spudders failed to threaten in the fourth, and in the fifth the visitors again got to Carlson for a bunch of hits and runs.

Pence hit safely, but was out at second when Baggan grounded to the infield, Baggan taking first. Baggan went to third when Stansbury doubled to center, and both scored on Sperber's single to right. Schmandt singled, sending Sperber to third and Sperber was out at the plate trying to score on Bell's grounder, Bell taking first, and Schmandt third. Both scored on McDonald's single to right. McDonald was out trying to make second.

Vick opened the sixth inning with a double and Pence was hit by a pitched ball. Baggan walked, filling the bases. Stansbury was out, first unassisted, Vick scoring on the play. Sperber was out at first.

Cotter, with a double and a walk already to his credit, hit a home run over the left field wall on his third trip to the plate. It did not start the Spudders scoring, and Barrett and Jonnard went out after Berger got on when Schmandt dropped his fly.

Berger booted Bell's grounder in the seventh letting him get to first but the side was retired on infield grounders.

Pence seemed to be getting better than ever, and fanned Carlson and Coombs to retire the Spuds in the seventh.

Buddy Tanner dropped Vick's grounder in the eighth, letting him reach first, but Carlson tightened and he stayed there.

Weiss started a hitting spree for the Bergerites in the eighth that sent Pence to the showers, and Knight went in for Houston. After Weiss singled, Tanner doubled, sending him to third and they both scored on Cotter's single. Cotter went to second on a passed ball, and scored on Berger's long double to center field. Barrett scored Berger ahead of him when he hit a crashing homer over the left field fence. Jonnard, Carlson and Bescher were out in order, with the score tied.

Timely hitting, coupled with an error by Barrett, gave the visitors the winning runs in the ninth. Schmandt singled and went to second on Bell's hit to left, scoring when McDonald hit safely to right. Bell took second, and scored when Barrett, after putting McDonald out at second, threw wild to first, ruining a double play. Vick was out, flying to center.

In the ninth a double by Coombs, followed by a single by Weiss, scored Coombs but the Spuds were unable to even the count.

Francis Hunter Wins Exciting Tennis Match

By The Associated Press.

GERMANTOWN CRICKETT CLUB, PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11.—Francis T. Hunter, former Cornell tennis captain and finalist in the world's champions tennis tournament this year, won the most sensational match of the second round of play in the national lawn tennis singles championship on the courts of the Germantown Crickett club this afternoon.

Trailing behind Rene LaCoste, the French school boy, in the first set, Hunter by a sensational rally, pulled out a victory in a five set match. The scores were 1-6, 6-0, 6-2, 1-6, 6-3.

Hunter's victory, with its elimination of the French star reduced the field of foreigners who will enter the third round tomorrow to four players. Of the 12 Americans who came through their matches today and continue in the tournament, all four members of the Davis cup team are included.

The four foreigners who won their matches today were: B. I. C. Norton, the South African; Manuel Alonzo, the dashing Spaniard; Jacques Brugnon, French Davis cup player, and F. R. Leighton Crawford of England.

TWO GAMES TODAY; OFF DAY THURSDAY

Announcement was made yesterday that instead of the regular scheduled game today, a double bill will be played between the Spudders and Houston, with an off day for Thursday. The first game this afternoon will start at 2:30.

The Houston Buffs will in that way finish their stay here today allowing both teams to rest Thursday. The Spudders will then meet the Galveston crew, playing Friday, Saturday and ending the season Sunday with a double header.

Fans Beginning To Arrive for Champion Fight

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—New York has become the fight fan's Mecca. The advance arrival today of boxing followers from various parts of the country, as well as from overseas pointed to the gathering of one of the most cosmopolitan fight crowds in history when Jack Dempsey enters the ring at the Polo grounds Friday night to defend his heavyweight crown against the assault of Luis Angel Firpo.

It was indicated that from 20,000 to 30,000 spectators from beyond the limits of the metropolis would view the title struggle.

Increased wagering on the outcome of the fight today was reported in sporting circles. One of the largest single bets reported was one of $2,800 to $2,000 that Dempsey would win by a knockout, the odds being at 7 to 5. Several wagers that Dempsey would win were made at odds of 2 1-2 to 1, a basis that has prevailed for several days. In addition, a few were reported at odds of 1 to 8 that Dempsey would win by a knockout in the first round.

Thrift Fair Tickets Are Selling Briskly

Mrs. C. H. Featherstone, 1214 Taylor street, sold more than 200 thrift tickets yesterday, which are Texas-Oklahoma fair and exposition tickets sold at reductions so as to enable the civic and church organization clubs to pay for their fair booths or to use the funds for some other worthy purpose. Mrs. Featherstone is working on the Baptist Ladie's Aid team.

Mrs. Rev. O. L. Powers, 1720 Huff street, sold more than 100 of the tickets, making the sales by calling up friends on the telephone. Mrs. Powers is also a member of the First Baptist Ladies Aid team.

Mrs. W. S. Curlee, 2506 Tenth street, signed up for 500 tickets yesterday afternoon and later reported that she had disposed of several blocks of them. She is working with the Floral Height's Methodist Church team.

No details were obtainable as to the identity of those who comprised the party. The local hospital reported that no auto accident victims had been treated there during the day.

FIVE NEW LAWS NOT OPERATIVE?

Farmers and Cattlemen Effected in Charter Rejections

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 11.—Five Texas laws passed this year to avail farmers and cattlemen of benefits under the 1923 federal intermediate rural credits law, may be held inoperative. The laws became effective August 14, and so far no charter has been granted under them, it was said at the secretary of state office. Two applications for charters of agricultural credit corporations have been rejected, and then corporations were formed, at Hempstead and at Houston, under the old corporation laws.

Application for charter of the Houston Agricultural Credit corporation is now pending. The application was filed on printed forms, apparently drawn up by the Federal Intermediate Credits bureau.

The secretary of state department is investigating the proposed charter, and its conformity to statutes passed this year by the Texas legislature. It is reported that there is some disagreement between officials of the Federal Farm Land bank at Houston and state officers, as to the manner in which purposes of the proposed Texas corporation can be named, to conform both to the state laws and to the federal intermediate credits act.

The Texas legislature at the second called session enacted four bills to permit pools under the credit law, and to permit farmers, stockmen and bankers taking advantage of the credit law. An amendment to one of the measures was passed at the third called session.

MOVIE STUFF

By JOSEPHINE FISK

OLYMPIC—James Cruze's production, "Hollywood."
EMPRESS—Dustin Farnum in "The Yosemite Trail."
STRAND—Enid Bennett, Matt Moore and Barbara LaMarr in "Strangers of the Night."
PALACE—Musical Comedy "Irene."

"Hollywood" now showing for the last time at the Olympic comes to the critical eyes of movie fans all over the country from the megaphone of James Cruze, a young director of remarkable experience and ability, a genius in his line, the man who brought "The Old Homestead," and "The Covered Wagon," to the screen, and who has now brought this natural, intensely interesting story of screen stars in their daily life before the camera in such a way that there is nothing overdrawn, and you leave the picture knowing and loving your favorites just a little bit more intimately. They seem more like real folks.

This has been a colossal task—there have been a few disgusting attempts to portray Hollywood life as it really is—"to tear away the veil of secrecy that surrounds the intimate life of screen stars"—when there isn't any veil at all, and when screen stars are just lovely folks who live very much as we do, and who eat cold boiled ham and baked beans out of the ice box occasionally just as we do and James Cruze has given us Hollywood just as it is.

The informal views of the stars are delightful and Cruze has handled the story wonderfully well, working their scenes in with cleverness. The leading cast is composed of players practically unknown, and the result is delightfully natural. Every star in the picture, because of this, seems genuine.

"Yo, Ho, Ho, and a bottle of Applejack!" The rip-roaring rollicking crew of Captain Applejack's pirate brig get into a vicious humour over their grog, and mutiny fills the ranks as their swaggering commander forgets everything in dalliance with a Portuguese girl captive.

Captain Applejack is "the mildest man that ever scuttled a ship or cut a throat," and how he weathers this storm of mutiny is told with thrills and laughs aplenty in "Strangers of the Night," that opens today at the Strand with Matt Moore, Enid Bennett and Barbara La Marr in the cast.

Ambrose Applejohn was a mild mannered, dinner-coated Englishman who has almost outlived the fearsome adventure handed down from a remote and notorious pirate ancestor named "Captain Applejack," but when adventure and romance crossed his path, Ambrose Applejohn became Captain Applejack, and outdid his buccaneer forbear in a rollicking story where "hearts are young and pirates bold, and life's a dance of love and gold."

"The Merry-go-Round," a big picture starring Norman Kerry and Mary Philbin, which has taken the Universal producers a year to film is opening for a week's run at the Olympic next Monday watch for it!"

The six pictures Gloria Swanson liked best are "Stella Maris," "Birth of a Nation," "Robinhood," "The Covered Wagon," "Minnie," and "The Pilgrim."

Doesn't musical comedy look good? The seat sale for "Irene," at the Palace tonight is going strong, better get yours. "Irene," is one of the better types of musical shows with splendid sets and costumes, lovely attractive girls with real talent and a capable director who displays it to the best advantage.

"Irene," is one of the best known and loved of the recent musical comedies and has experienced long runs in the leading show houses of the country. "Alice Blue Gown," "The Castle of Dreams," and "The Last Part of Every Party," are songs from the show that the whole world sings.

Wears Gowns Worth $50,000 In New Picture.

Gloria Swanson's ability to wear beautiful clothes gracefully is the culmination of a youthful desire for extremes in the matter of dress.

This the Paramount star admitted while being fitted for some of the new creations she wears in "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," a Sam Wood production for Paramount in which she stars and which will be on view at the Olympic theatre soon.

"When I was 16 years old, I desired beautiful garments," declared Miss Swanson. "This taste was of course undeveloped and I often ran to extremes. Some of my gowns, judged by the standards of others, must have been too extreme.

But from this early training I have learned the real value of clothes Because I soon learned to recognize clothes that were too gaudy or too flashy to be really fashionable and beautiful; I learned to avoid them I learned just to what point to go in dressing to be just right.

Today that training is of inestimable value to me in my screen work. In every picture I am called upon to wear marvelous gowns. Unless I did have the early training, I would not be able to so accurately forsee women's fashions and wear them without becoming ridiculous."

In "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," Miss Swanson wears some of the leading advance styles edicted by Paris for the coming seasons. They were specially made for this picture and are valued at nearly $50,000.

Trained Animals Feature Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows

Trained wild animals are featured this year with the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace shows which will appear here on Saturday, Sept. 15, giving an afternoon performance at 2 p. m., and the night exhibition at 8 o'clock. And despite the bigness and size of the Hagenbeck organization, the street parade of more than a mile in length will be given at 11 a. m.

Thousands of dollars have been spent this past winter in completing new acts and purchasing wild animals that heretofore have never been under the jurisdiction of a trainer.

Her Jawn Helliot, the authorized Hagenbeck trainer in the United States worked for over two months on perfecting an act, in which 11 tigers, the largest number to ever been handled by one man in the arena, will appear as a feature. In addition Helliot has succeeded in training a tiger to ride on the back of an elephant, and it required several months work to get these two natural enemies of the jungle to work simultaneously. Helliot has also been able to train lions and bears to ride horseback, and do many feats that are considered marvelous by animal and nature students.

But the trained animals and menagerie are not all that is announced in store for the lovers of the circus. New acts and features of every description have been contracted.

Over 200 performers, 150 wild animals actors, 100 domestic animals, and 50 clowns will participate in the performance, which is said to be the best ever offered by the Hagenbeck-Wallace management.

Mulligan Funeral.

Funeral services for 14-year-old Edward Mulligan who died early Monday morning at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mulligan of 1214 Monroe street will be held from the Sacred Heart church this morning at 9:30. Burial will be in Sacred Heart cemetery.

Weaver Hunt, Harold Lesley, Jack Leggitt and Lemuel Parks have been chosen as pallbearers.

607,723 MOTOR CARS IN STATE

Wichita County Stands Fourth in Number Gained During 1923

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 11.—There were 607,723 automobiles in Texas on Sept. 1, according to registration records of the state highway department, a gain of 78,538 more than were registered during the entire year of 1922.

Wichita county was fourth among counties in the number of cars gained during the first eight months of 1923, with 2,842 over last year.

Jefferson county was fifth, with 2,584 gain over last year.

Travis county now has 10,420 motor vehicles registered, a gain of 1,281 over last year, and probably the largest per capita gain in Texas.

Harris county is second in the state, with a gain of 4,794 registrations Dallas county lead with 5,609 over last year; Bexar county was in third place as to gain, with an increase of 3,280.

Bowie county gained 606 registrations, and now has 3,060 motor vehicles.

Totals registrations for this year will probably exceed 675,000, or nearly 150,000 more motor vehicles than were in Texas at the beginning of the year.

Only 14 counties in Texas show decreased registrations during the eight months, over the total for 1922, and registrations of new cars during the balance of the year is expected to overcome this in all counties.

Grand Jury Commission.

A grand jury commission to meet next Monday morning at 9 to select a grand jury of the 89th district court October term which will open the first Monday in October, was appointed by Judge P. A. Martin, Tuesday.

The members of the commission appointed by Judge Martin are H. L. McGregor of Wichita Falls, J. L. Beloit of Iowa Park and I. K. Williams of Electra.

Banks Win Suits

The First National bank of Wichita Falls and the First State bank of Iowa Park were plaintiffs in two different suits held before Judge Guy Rogers of the county court at law Tuesday, the banks winning their case in each instance.

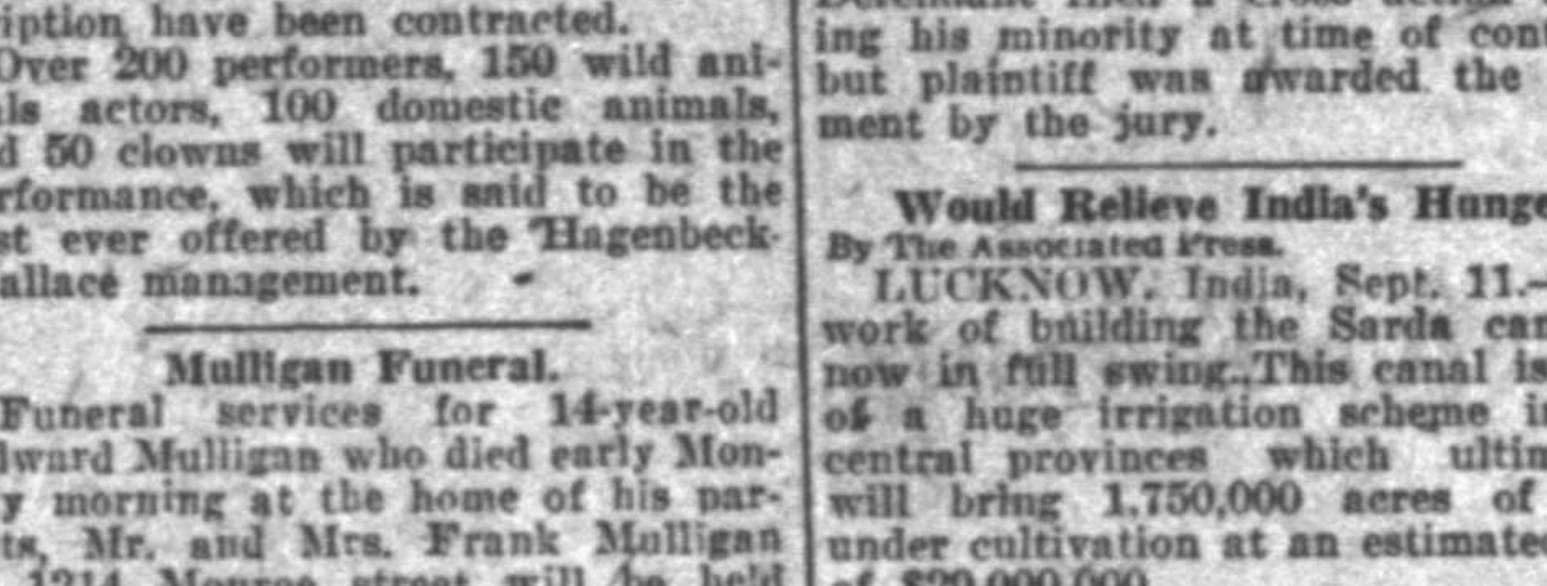

The Iowa Park bank was suing D. B. Read on a promissory note amounting to $250, alleging failure of consideration. An amount equivalent to $150 was awarded the bank.

The local bank was also suing on a promissory note, E. E. Compest being the defendant, and $282 asked. Defendant filed a cross action alleging his minority at time of contract, but plaintiff was awarded the judgment by the jury.

Would Relieve India's Hunger.
By The Associated Press.

LUCKNOW, India, Sept. 11.—The work of building the Sarda canal is now in full swing. This canal is part of a huge irrigation scheme in the central provinces which ultimately will bring 1,750,000 acres of land under cultivation at an estimated cost of $20,000,000.

More than 27,000 men are now at work on the project, and completion is expected in four years. With it will come relief, it is hoped, from the grain famines in central India.

4 MORE WELLS IN ARCHER POOL

Sunshine State Finishing Program With Big Producer

Another company has joined the joined the long list of those who have shut down operations until the market shows a change for the better.

With two wells completed, and two more on the sand, all inside or offset wells, the Sunshine State Oil & Refining company is now preparing to shut down operations in its active Archer county properties for the present.

One of the new wells is among the best wells in the field. It is Carter No. 5, which is estimated at around 750 barrels from the regular sand. This well was completed Saturday.

No. 3 on this lease is also completed and looks like a good well, it being estimated at 500 barrels.

No. 7 Carter is on top of the sand and should be completed this week.

The Sunshine company and associates also have No. 5 Carter on top of the sand and will drill it in.

These wells, when completed, will make 18 wells in which the company is interested in that field, seven belonging to the Sunshine interests and 11 being owned with other interests.

HENRIETTA TESTS MAKING PROGRESS

HENRIETTA, Tex., Sept. 11—Allen & Foster are now drilling a well on H. Body's land one mile from town and are at present down 75 feet. This well is being watched with much interest as it is the nearest test attempted at this time.

Gulf No. 2 is now drilling a well ten miles northeast of Henrietta on the body tract and are down at 1,300 feet. Gulf No. 1 was lost at a 1,000 feet which was drilled on the same tract of land about three hundred feet from No. 1.

John O'Neal, an independent oil operator of Wichita Falls is drilling a well three miles south-west of Henrietta and is down four hundred feet. This test is being made near Edwards switch. An unusually good showing of gas was found at 750 feet and the oil fraternity of North Texas is eagerly watching this well.

Myers well No. 2, benig drilled 10 miles south of Henrietta by the Nebraska Oil and Gas Co., are still fishing at 3,400 feet. This well has been showing some oil and gas the last few days.

The Dunning Drilling Co., No. 1, on the K. N. Hapwood ranch 8 miles east of Henrietta is showing at present, water trouble at 2,500 feet. The water is coming from behind the 8 inch casing, which was cemented but failed to hold. Forty feet of good oil sand was found in this well at 2,400 feet. It is expected that the water will be cut off in a few days and rapid progress will evidently then be made. This well, with the exception of Worsham No. 1 has the best prospects of any other well being drilled in Clay county.

The Moore No. 1, on the Hull land two miles southwest of Charlie in the northern part of Clay county is drilling at 1100 feet. There has been several small showings.

D'Arnee well, 2 miles west of Jolly, is now drilling at 1300 feet.

MIDDLE STATES MELON POSTPONED

At the meeting of Middle States Oil directors on Sept. 8 the following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, Middle State Oil corporation, notwithstanding its large property acquisitions during the current depression, has no notes or bonds outstanding and less than $41,000 bills payable, with approximately $2,500,000 cash and bills receivable, of hich more than $1,020,000 is cash on hand, and has accumulated and is carrying in storage a large amount of crude oil, and is prepared under the above conditions to live safely through a protracted period of dull marketing, it is not deemed advisable to weaken our condition until the oil market has become more stable nor in our judgment would it be advisable to force on the market crude oil at the present time.

Invariably in many years the fall season advances the price of oil, and it is prudent to hold and continue to accumulate crude oil for the better market, and particularly through the working arrangement that Middle States and associates have planned for marketing oil through the New Orleans gateway.

Therefore, the consideration of dividend payment is postponed except for the remaining subsidiary, Turman Oil company, that is not reserving its oil for advanced prices. Turman Oil company will pay its usual quarterly dividend in October.

SUNSHINE ADDS NEW STILL UNIT

The Sunshine State Oil & Refining company is completing a new unit for its Wichita Falls plant, which will give an increase in capacity of about 500 barrels. When the new still is completed the company expects to increase its crude runs to about 3,500 barrels.

The plant is now one of the few in the state running at capacity. It is running about 3,000 barrels daily.

CONFIDENT OF OIL IN JEFFERSON CO.

Jefferson county feels very confident that a new oil field will be opened near the Oscar post office, on the O. W. Seay ranch. The well of the Hambro Oil company in the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 33-6-5 gives promise of being a real producer.

The oil was encountered early last week but there has been trouble with water so it was decided to pull the casing and set another packer in the sand. With no bad luck the exact production will soon be known.

RATE HEARING ADVANCED

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Sept. 11.—Date for hearing on the application for revision of freight rates on lumber from east and southeast Texas to coast points which previously had been set for Sept. 18, has been advanced to Sept. 13, Chairman C. E. Gilmore of the railroad commission stated today. The application involves numerous increases and some decreases in present lumber rates.

STATE GOES AFTER UNHEALTHY JAILS

By The Associated Press

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 11.—Unsanitary and unhealthful conditions of a number of county jails recently have been discovered through inspection by the State Health Department, according to Dr. W. H. Beazley, state health officer. Immediate recommendations for remodeling and improving jails will be made to commissioners' courts, it was said.

Health Officer Beazley has just returned from an inspection of the Harrison county jail at Marshall. He reported the jail there to be in an unsanitary condition and Dr. Beazley stated that, because of the age of the jail building, it would be necessary to construct a new jail, in order to insure sanitary surroundings for the jail inmates.

Mr. Beazley will make inspections of other jails. Mr. Beazley stated that if it could be shown that the health of prisoners was impaired by unfavorable conditions, court action might be brought to compel improvements.

"Blue Sky" Permits

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 11.—The first two permits to sell stock under the Texas "blue sky" law were issued Monday by Secretary of State S. L. Staples. The companies are the Investment Finance corporation of Dallas, capital stock $500,000; and the Gene Brisco Lumber company of San Antonio, to sell $125,000 of its increased capital stock.

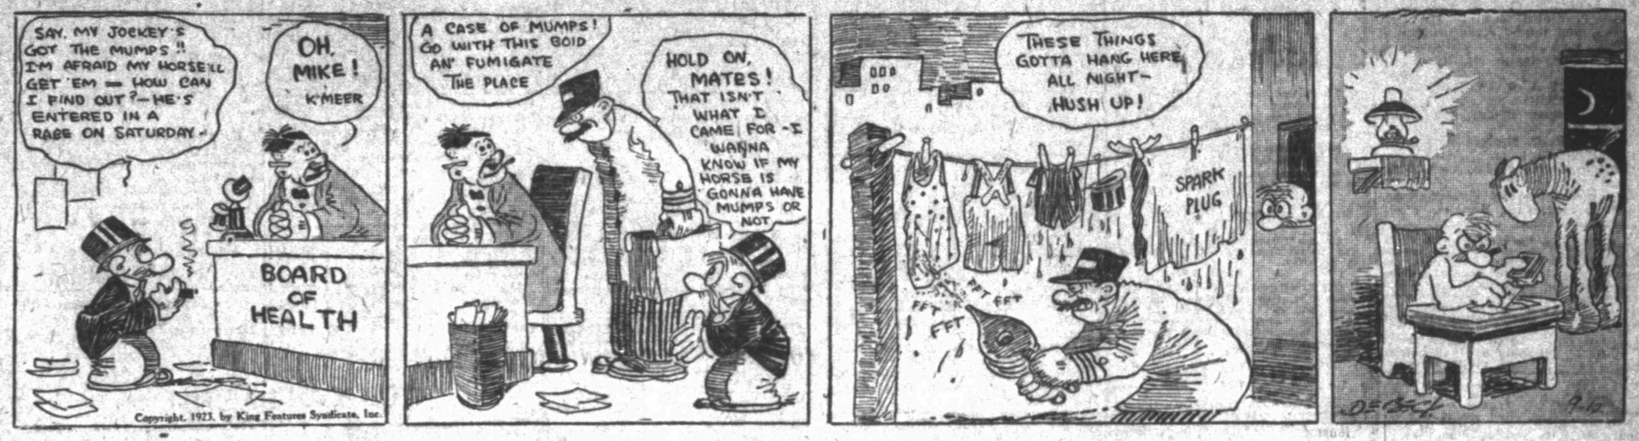

The Investment Finance corporation noted on its application that the request was made under protest, and that it questions the validity of the "blue sky" law.

COTTON MAKING SOME REACTION

But Early Declines Are Later Followed By New Rallies

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The cotton market showed rather nervous and irregular fluctuations today, but an early decline was followed by rallies and the close was steady at a net advance of 22 to 41 points. After selling off to 27.05 at the opening, October rallied to 28.08, broke again to 27.83, then advanced to 28.30 and closed at 28.17. The market opened barely steady at a decline of 11 to 18 points under continuation of the selling which had developed following the big jump in prices yesterday morning.

Reaction sentiment was encouraged by the rather easier showing of the early cables and expectations that a continuance of the present favorable weather in the south would mean a rapid increase in the new crop movement. It seemed that the decline below the 28 cent level brought in considerable buying, however, and as soon as the early offerings had been absorbed prices turned upward on covering.

There was another part of realizing around the 28 cent level for October and after advancing from 27.35 to 27.80 for December, the market eased again under liquidation and selling for a reaction. The demand for contracts on the declines seemed sufficient to start another covering movement during the early afternoon when buying was probably promoted by the talk of better prospects for an agreement between France and Germany and unconfirmed rumors of a tropical storm.

December sold up to 28.11 making net advances of 45 to 58 points on the more active months but private advices reaching here from New Orleans said there was no storm in sight and the market eased off from the best in the late trading.

Reports of light rains in West Texas were a sustaining factor late in the afternoon but generally speaking the weather news was considered favorable. Private advices received here from Texas reported buying by southern mills and there were rumors that a good many contracts in the markets here had passed into the hands of the trade on the decline of yesterday and this morning.

Port receipts today 41,600. U. S. port stocks 29,770. Exports today 2,493 making 356,250 so far this season.

By The Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 11.—While advances were scored before the close of the cotton market today, something of a reactionary feeling was in evidence and there were frequent recessions during the session, the widest of which carried prices under the close of yesterday.

It was generally considered that this tendency toward reaction was due to a less strong technical position, the natural consequence of the prolonged buying movement of late. The close was 14 to 43 points net higher on the day, considerable irregularity being shown in the late trading, the closing range of sales on October was from 27.46 to 27.51 cents a pound.

Around the opening prices were at their lowest levels, 12 to 24 points under the close of Monday, with October off to 26.96 under rather poor cables, continued dry weather over the belt and considerable selling from traders on the long side who wanted their profits. In the face of the forecast of continued dry weather over practically the entire cotton region, determined buying took hold of the market and soon had it at small net gains.

Recession and bulges followed each other in rapid succession until, soon after mid-session, prices were at their best, at 27.62 for October and at net gains of 46 to 58 points.

Fort Worth Livestock.

FORT WORTH, Sept. 11.—Activity was featured in the cattle yards today. Some good cows in carlots brought 4.00@4.15, and less than carloads ranged up to 4.50. Cutters sold around 2.00@2.65 and canners brought 1.50@1.75; bulls were purchased at a general range of 2.50 at 3.75.

Great activity was shown in the calf division, the demand being very broad, with receipts falling far below trade requirements. Odd lots cleared at 7.25 and carloads brought 7.00; most of the run was good enough to go 6.00@6.50.

Hogs sold to a broad demand at prices that were called steady to 10 cents higher. Receipts amounted to about 2,250 head. Quality made a very desirable average, a fair quota of the supply being good enough to go at a range of 9.00@9.15, with an extreme high range of 9.25 and bulk sales at 8.90@9.15. Order buyers and shippers paid 9.25 early in the session and later packers paid 9.25. Wagon hogs also sold to packer at 9.25.

Desirable pigs sold freely at 6.75@7.00 and the good brands went at 6.00@6.50.

It was late before anything much was disposed of in the sheep division. Receipts were placed at 1,500 head. Feeder lambs made up the bulk of the day's receipts, although a few decks of fairly good wethers were yarded.

Cottonseed Oil Feverish.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The cotton seed oil market was feverish and irregular earlier in the day, prices declined under liquidation and selling by cotton houses, but rallied on covering and on firmness in crude and closed at 18 points advance to 3 points net decline. Sales 12,000 barrels. Prime crude 10,000; prime summer yellow spot 11.50; September 11.48; December 10.50; March 10.50, all bid.

READJUSTMENT OF RATES CONTINUE

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 11.—The railroad commission, which has just completed an allweek hearing on revision of cotton rates, will Tuesday morning enter upon hearing of 17 other rate applications, which will occupy it for more than another week.

Proposed readjustments and revision of all gasoline and refined petroleum rates will be taken up by the commission, probably Thursday. This hearing, while affecting the entire oil industry, will occupy but little time, as both sides in the case have agreed, the commission was informed upon introduction of the record of a previous hearing on this question.

Other cases set for hearing this month are: Proposed general revision of lumber rates from Southeast Texas points to Texas ports for export, and revising the entire scale of lumber rates between Southeast Texas points, placing them on a mileage basis.

Discontinuance of daily trains between Fort Worth and Mineral Wells.

Rate on crude oil from Megargel to Wichita Falls.

Wharfage charges at Galveston.

Tare weight allowance for chains on twin-loads; carload rate on sulphuric acid; stop-in transit privileges for vegetables, fruit and melon shipments; rates on knocked-down corrugated boxes; revision of intra-city charges on movement of empty freight cars; carload rates on nursery stock; transit stop charge application of railroads on cottonseed cake; increase rates on logs between Texas Southeastern railroad points; absorption of draying charges on cotton and other commodities; proposed revision of packing requirements on green hides for express shipment; proposed revision of rates on carload shipments of oil well outfits and supplies and drilling outfits; maximum weight on carload shipments of logs and rough wooden blocks for manufacturing purposes.

The lumber case was set for hearing Thursday. Railroads' application for an entire revision of grain, hay and grain products rates in Texas, to meet applications pending before the interstate commerce commission for all the southwestern states, is set for hearing on October 1.

Beetles Making Good.

BROWNSVILLE.—Imported Beetles from Australia are proving their value as destroyers of a citrus tree scale which appeared in some orchards in this section this season, according to County Agent Alsmeyer. A colony of beetles was imported recently to combat the scale. Beetles will be sent to other parts of the valley.

GENERALLY FIRM TONE TO MARKET

Some Producers Still Using Foreign News For Bidding

By The Associated Press.

Market Features.

Total stock sales 605,200 shares.

Twenty industrials averaged 93.60, net gain .29.

High 1923, 105.38; low 86.92.

Twenty railroads averaged 83.28, net gain .53.

High 1923, 90.51; low 76.53.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Stock prices displayed a firm tone in today's market but principal activity centered in a few shares subject to special influence. Speculators for the advance continued to use the favorable foreign news as an excuse for bidding up their favorites, but there seemed to be a disposition on the part of many trades and, outside public to await more definite developments.

Demand sterling which was heavy last week in the expectation that the Japanese disaster would result in heavy British insurance company losses and unusually large drafts on London, advanced one cent to $4.54 7-8. French francs jumped 12 points to 5.70 cents and Belgian francs moved up 13 1-2 points to 4.79 cents. German marks sold around 1 1-2 cent a million.

Sugar shares were active and higher on strength of commodities. Beet sugar advanced 3 points; South Porto Rican 1 3-4 and Cuba cane preferred and Punta Alegre about a point each.

Transactions in Cosden Oil comprised nearly on-tenth of the day's business, the stock closing 3 1-4 points higher at 33 7-8.

Strength of New York Central which closed nearly 2 points higher at 102 3-4, was based on reports of large current earnings. Davison Chemical, whose erratic fluctuations have been a feature of recent markets, advanced 4 1-2 points, come of the buying representing short covering.

Postum Cereal, which was strong yesterday, dropped back 2 1-2 points today. American Cotton Oil issues lost ground in reflection of the proposed re-organization plan published today.

Call money held steady at five per cent all day. Time money was unchanged at 5 1-2 per cent, this rate being quoted for all maturity. Out-of-town banks are the principal buyers of commercial paper, the ruling rate for prime names being somewhat firmer at 5 1-2 per cent, although some 5 1-4 per cent paper is still in the market.

WHEAT SHOWS SMALL DECLINE

According to Tradition, Bear Campaign Is Carried Out

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Wheat followed tradition today, and declined in price. According to a popular belief, this was a regular calendar date for the beginning of a bear campaign. Besides Canadian hedging sales were said to be enlarging. The market closed unsettled, 1-4 to 3-4 cent net lower. December 1.04 3-8@1 1-2 and May 1.10 3-4@1 7-8. Corn finished at a range varying from 5-8 cent decline to 1-8@1-4 cent advance, 1-8 cent down, and provisions at 10 cents lower to 5 cents gain.

Corn and oats averaged lower in sympathy with wheat. The bearish aspect of the government report as to corn was also given attention.

Provisions lacked support, despite higher quotations on hogs.

SCHOOL OPENING IN IOWA PARK

IOWA PARK, Texas, Sept. 11.—The Iowa Park public school opened Monday morning with the opening exercise held in the Methodist church, where the pastors of all the churches were present and splendid talks were made by each.

W. R. Arnold made a very interesting talk on the subject "Co-operation of the Pastors With the Board and School Faculty," and pointed out that he thought this was one of the main reasons why the Iowa Park school had been raised from a school of a second class to a school of the first class and now has 20 units affiliated with the higher institutions of learning.

Other good talks were made by members of the school board and Mrs. Mamie Dale Brown. John C. Murphee congratulated the community of Iowa Park on having a man like W. F. George and wife, who made it possible for Iowa Park to have under construction the magnificent high school building, now going up.

All teachers were present and are as follows: Misses Wavey Kemp, Gertrude Prantz, Gladys Shepherd, Mable Carney, Ethel Kidwell, Rena Moore, Ruby Banks, Thelma Trussell, Pearl Burkhead. Mrs. M. L. Hines, Mrs. Paul Zink, Mrs. Bratton Reeves R. L. Bradford, Principal.

Will Lay Corner Stone.

The Masonic lodge of Iowa Park, will assemble on the school grounds in the near future for the purpose of laying the corner stone of the new W. F. George high school building. The lodge members are expecting some of the state officials of the Masonic lodge to be present and assist in this great work which the people of Iowa Park have looked to for the past three years. The entire citizenship of Iowa Park and surrounding community will be here for the occasion.

'IRENE' TONIGHT FOR FIRST TIME

Wichitans to Get First Glimpse of Popular Musical Show

Musical comedy will reign supreme at the Palace theatre tonight, for the first time here when the Vanderbilt Producing company will present the tuneful and ever altering "Irene," the dainty play with music that has created a veritable sensation not only in America but all over the world.

The book by James Montgomery, with music by Henry Tierney and lyrics by Joseph McCarthy, combine an unusual heart interest story that appeals. Mr. Montgomery was a venturesome soul to go so far afield to find a plot of surprising novelty, but with the record of a couple of successes like "Going Up" and "Nothing But The Truth," behind him, he can spread his talents over new varients of old themes and serve them up with trimmings that hit the bullseye. The story of King Cophetua and the beggar maiden is retold in the course of two acts and seven scenes.

A wealthy man becomes interested in a girl from the tenements. She then captures society and finally his heart all through the medium of pretty frocks the rich man persuades her to wear as an advertising medium for a male modiste friend just starting in business. This takes her through a complication of scenes which interest Long Island blue blood, and her eventual conquest is set in an ingenious setting of lovely surroundings.

The whole is said to be set in a whirl of good singing and sprightly dancing, as musical shows go nowadays. A voice is less essential than a pleasing ensemble and the ability to wear Paris frocks; but with this it is different.

The company which is to present "Irene" here is headed by Dale Winter, a charming young woman who has played the part since the musical comedy was first produced. Others in the cast are, Flo Irwin, Mary O'Moore, Gladys Nagel, Dorothy Lamar, Dorothy Kane, Henrietta Housen, Howard Freeman, Jere Delaney, Henry Coote, George Collins, Edward Marr and George Mantell.

WICHITANS TO SEE NEWEST CADILLAC

The United States in general, and Wichita Falls in particular, will get its first peep at the new seven-passenger "V63" Cadillac Suburban model today. This new car, which has been carefully kept out of sight until the day set, can be seen at the show rooms of the Munger Auto company, 909 Lamar.

Scott Bower of the Munger company secured one of the 15 cars delivered in Dallas, and drove it here on a dark Monday night, in order that the surprise might be complete when the new car is placed on display.

"More Cadillacs of one model have been sold than of any other high-grade car," said Mr. Bower, "and I am of the opinion that this will prove the greatest of all."

The company will remain open tonight to accommodate visitors.

Those who wish to acquire the reserved boxes for the two years at the nominal cost of $100, should immediately communicate with R. E. Shepherd, assistant secretary of the fair association: John King, 620-26 Waggoner building.

SCOUT EXECUTIVE TO BE EMPLOYED

An experienced boy scout executive will be employed in Wichita Falls as the result of a decision reached at a meeting of the executive board of the boy scout council held here last night.

Roy Price, deputy regional executive, of Houston and Fort Worth, submitted a plan for the forming of a district comprising Wichita county and neighboring counties, with Wichita Falls as headquarters. This would extend the work into the surrounding territory, and would require two executives to handle it, one being stationed here and the other caring for the outside work.

While it met with general approval, no definite action was taken on the plan, the reason being that it was the general opinion that the work here should be put on a sound basis first. In his report on local conditions, Price said there are not as many scouts here as there should be, and that there was plenty of room for the local organization to grow.

J. H. Allison was elected scout commissioner to fill a vacancy existing in that department of the work.

SPECIAL ISSUE OF C. OF C. MAGAZINE

A 32 page edition of the chamber of commerce magazine, "Community Building," twice the size of the regular size of the publication, will be issued on the completion of the Lake Kemp dam, and the coming Texas-Oklahoma fair, according to the plans made by the publicity committee of the chamber of commerce which met at the chamber of commerce Tuesday afternoon. P. A. Rogers presided at the meeting.

Singer Wins Suit

A suit against the Singer Sewing Machine company for $25,000 damages, asked by C. M. Ward, who alleged his wife's health had been impaired when a representative of the company is said to have tried to enter the Ward home and take out a sewing machine, was finished in the Eighty-ninth district court Tuesday morning, the jury voting not to sustain the damages, and finding for the defendant company.

The jury was out but 30 minutes.

C. E. CONVENTION PROVES SUCCESS

Resolution Passed Favoring Strict Law Enforcement

The delegates returning from the C. E. convention at Seymour report a great time at that place and say that many things were done there for the good of the Christian Endeavor union of the Wichita district, among which was the securing of the next district convention to be held at this place and the starting of the move to secure the 1925 Christian Endeavor union state convention to come to this city.

A copy of the resolutions which were adopted at Seymour follows:

AND WHEREAS: The pastors of Seymour and of the district have so loyally co-operated in every way to make the convention a spiritual blessing to all;

AND WHEREAS; The newspapers of Seymour and the merchants of the city have so materially aided us in giving publicity to our plans and programs;

AND WHEREAS: Mayor Britan and the Revs. A. L. Hayley, E. C. Cargill, W. D. Cook, E. F. Huppertz, Austin D. Bryan, and Mrs. O. C. Harrison have each had special parts on the program which were helpful and interesting to everyone;

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that we, as Christian Endeavorers, give thanks to Our Father in Heaven for the privileges and blessings we have received through this convention, which we trust has given us a broader vision of the service to Him;

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: that we as citizens of the U. S. not only favor strict enforcement of the entire law, but also individually resolve to obey the, even, the least important statutes and ordinances; that we go on record as favoring child labor legislation, and any other remedial measures that tend to better labor conditions; and that we express ourselves as entirely in sympathy with the United Society of Christian Endeavor and other organizations in their desire to establish effectual universal peace.

We respectfully submit these resolutions, and suggest they be filed in the minutes of this convention.

Signed: COMMITTEE.
Van H. Thompson, Chm.
Mrs. G. C. Shankle.
Miss Nellie H. Bates.

BIG AUTO DISPLAY BOOKED FOR FAIR

Drawing for exhibition spaces at the Texas-Oklahoma fair was held at the regular meeting of the Automobile Dealers' association at the Wichita club Tuesday noon, about 20 members being present.

That at least 70 different model cars would be on exhibit at the fair was estimated at the Tuesday luncheon. The association will hold a special meeting Wednesday night at the Kemp, and Chairman Frank Queisser has arranged an interesting program.

AUTO MEN DREW LOTS FOR FAIR

Auto dealers who are exhibiting at the Texas-Oklahoma Fair drew lots for their places at the fair at the regular noonday luncheon of the Automotive Dealers' association yesterday. W. F. Lampe, Pierce-Arrow dealer, was accepted as a new member of the association.

Those who attended yesterday's meeting were:

Bible Study Meet

The women's circles of the First Baptist church held their regular weekly meetings Monday, and the book of Judges was the Bible study discussion.

Circle No. 1 met with Mrs. J. C. Owens, 1521 Tenth street, and Mrs. E. W. Carter led the devotional meeting. Eight were present.

Circle No. 3 met with Mrs. W. F. Ponder, and Mrs. W. F. Robinson led the discussion, 18 being present.

Circle No. 8 met with Mrs. C. F. Johnson, 1413 Hays street, Mrs. A. R. Blakely conducting the lesson and Mrs. Hi Willis leading the devotional. This circle decided to send a box of clothing and supplies to Buckner Orphans home, Dallas.

FANCY COOKERY TO BE AT FAIR

All Kinds of Modern Baked Food in Textile Department

The culinary and cooking department of the Texas-Oklahoma fair and exposition, Oct. 1 to 7, inclusive, will be under the textile department, of which W. W. Anderson is director, and Mrs. Charles R. Hartsook, superintendent.

This department of the fair is devoting much attention to women's activities. Prizes amounting to $350 are being offered for the best displays of baking, sewing, and canning. At least 350 entries are expected.

According to Mrs. Hartsook, 2715 Ninth street, there will be tempting arrays of bread, cakes, doughnuts, pies and cookies and many other kinds of pastry exhibited.

A few years ago breads baked for exhibiting purposes at fairs were never uniform, but of varing sizes and quantity. There were round loaves, square loaves, flat loaves, tall loaves, little loaves, in fact, there were many ways of baking bread.

Such an exhibit of bread will not be seen at the local fair. The modern loaf, weighs about a pound, and is baked in a tin of standard size. Housewives are using practically the same recipes. Experts say bread made in this way is much superior to the old types.

Styles in pies, doughnuts, cakes and cookies have changed just as much in recent years as in the case of bread. Improved recipes have been worked out in every field by students of cooking, and adopted by the housewife. Judges assert there isn't a thing entered in the baking exhibit of a fair today which does not score higher than it did a few years ago.

RADIO BROADCASTS PROGRESS OF FAIR

The broadcasting station WKAF, W. S. Auto and Radio company, Scott and Tenth streets, last night broadcast the feature events of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair and Exposition to be held here October 1 to 7, inclusive.

The various events of the fair program were announced and commented upon. The progress being made at the fair grounds, the prizes to be awarded, and the interest being shown in the exposition were other notes of interest broadcast.

The WKAF station also relayed news of the earthquake in Japan. The receiving station had picked up news of the quake from Eastern and Western sending stations.

Sues After Injury.

Claiming he was injured while working last March for the Wilson Hydraulic Pulling Machine company so that he is now inexpacitated for physical labor, Lee James through his next friend, J. A. James is suing the above company for $4,300 damages in Judge Napier's 78th district court.

The plaintiff alleges his injury was received while loading a large pump on a truck, the pump slipping and falling on him.
