SENATE STILL EMBROILED IN TARIFF SCRAP

News Print Question Promotes Hot Debates

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Debate was renewed today in the senate on the statements of Chairman McCumber of the finance committee, that failure in 1909 to put print paper on the free list as urged by certain publishers was a contributing cause of republican defeat in 1912 and of Senator Watson, republican, Indiana, that the late Herman Ridder, president of the publishers' association at that time, had proposed to Speaker Cannon that if house consideration of a free pulp and print paper bill was allowed, the publishers would make Mr. Cannon president of the United States.

Robertson Starts It.

Senator Robinson, democrat, Arkansas, started the discussion by reading into the record portions of a statement by Don C. Seitz of the New York World, who was a member of the tariff committee of the publishers associations in 1909. In this statement as published in the New York Times of today, Mr. Seitz denied that threats were made to senate finance committee by the publishers' representatives as charged by Mr. McCumber and characterized as "ridiculous" the statement of Senator Watson.

"I don't believe Ridder ever said anything fo the kind," said Mr. Seitz' statement. "I was with him on both his visits to Cannon and I did not hear him say anything like that. The American Newspaper Publishers' association never did anything of the kind. We were getting what we wanted by a perfectly decent arrangement, satisfactory to everyone concerned and there was no need for threats. The entire statement is ridiculous."

Senator Robinson declared it was a "remarkable coincidence that the

BAER GOES TO MARSHALL AREA

Will Investigate Conditions

By Associated Press.

TEXARKANA, Texas, July 27.—United States Marshal Phil E. Baer arrived in Texarkana today from Paris, departing shortly afterward on a special train for Marshall to look over the strike situation. On the same train with the marshal, were two striking shop craftsmen, in custody of Deputy Marshal Frye, en route to New Orleans for a hearing before Judge Rufus E. Foster on a charge of violating the terms of a non-interference injunction issued by Judge Foster. The two men were arrested here yesterday, but the specific act that caused their detention has not been announced.

Estes, in chambers here today, issued a restraining order as out of the Tyler division of the United States court for the eastern district of Texas, to prevent interference in any way with the operation of the St. Louis Southwestern Railway company of Texas, and cited the defendants to appear in court here on August 1 to show cause why the injunction asked for by the plaintiff should not be issued. The order prohibits strikers or their sympathizers from in any way interfering with the operation of the railroad or by threats, intimidation or force to cause any employe now working to cease such labor.

Mainly About People

Borah and Strikes—
Using Common Sense—
Cost o' Living—
A Real Subsidy—

SENATOR W. A. BORAH OF Idaho is the chairman of the senate committee on education and labor. Some time ago he introduced a bill which creates a federal coal commission with extensive power to investigate the industry. Primarily it is intended to prevent recurrence of future strikes in the industry by refering all disputes to the commission. Senator Borah is one of the really able statesmen of America who always works along constructive lines. He never plays to either capital or labor. He has never feared either mammon or the mob. He repesents all the people instead of a few of the people. During his public life he has been damned by the radicals and then damned by the conservatives. Borah is a common sense sort of a statesman. He never loses his head. This is his record as a senator and this was his record in the early days in Idaho when he was a famous prosecutor who ever championed the constitution and the law. Now he is for a commission with extensive powers to investigate the coal industry and he would prevent future strikes in the industry by refering all disputes to a federal commission. Something must be done for the prevention of costly tstrikes and this too without robbing either capital or labor of their rights before the law. There is a consuming public as well as a producing public and the consuming public carries some of the load and pays all the freight. It may be that public opinion will settle wage controversies in future if the public can secure all the facts but public opinion hasn't settled the strikes which have come to the surface in the dead decades and there is no certainty that public opinion will settle strikes in the years to come—at least not before great losses have been sustained by the contending factions to the strike and the public which is ever the greatest sufferer.

ACCORDING TO THE FEDERal department of labor the general level of the cost of living during June was still 66.6 per cent above the pre-war figures of 1914. Food is leading in gradual price decline standing at 41 per cent above the pre-war level. Housing is 60.9 per cent above the 1914 figures; clothing 72.3; fuel and light 74.4 and miscellaneous articles 101.5 per cent. July figures show but little change. This in reminder that the gentlemen who are clamoring for a return of pre-war wages for workers should also clamor for a return of pre-war figures for the necessaries and necessities of life. Farm products slumped two years ago. They slumped 50 per cent in price so far as the farmer was concerned. They did not slump for the consumers unless the figures of the federal department of labor are gross inaccuracies. These

Fire Causes Heavy Damage on Burk Road Thursday

Fire destroyed a filling station, garage and merchandise store on the Burkburnett road at an early hour last night.

The blaze originated when escaping fumes from a drum of gasoline became ignited from a lantern near. A truck carrying five drums of gasoline was filling the underground tank of the filling pump when a tap removed from one of the containers allowed the heated gas to escape. A terrific explosion followed and one of the attendants was hurled several feet into the road and burned about the face and hands. He did not suffer injuries and he was taken to his home near the scene of the blaze.

Both the garage and filling station carried a large stock of parts and supplies, but the estimated loss could not be obtained.

Two other stores located across the road were threatened by falling timbers when can after can of gasoline and oil exploded, but a volunteer corps of field workers saved the structures.

LABOR FLOCKS TO KATY SHOPS IN DENISON

Vandalism Reported But Town Is Quiet

By Associated Press.

DENISON, Texas, July 27.—Additional workers who arrived here late today brought the total number of men in the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad shops to 300, officials of the road announced tonight. More workers to take the places left vacant by striking shopmen are expected, it was said.

Except for the cutting of an electric feed line into the shops, the day passed without incident. Electric service to the shops was off several hours, but the break, which was outside the military zone was repaired by daybreak. Air hose were cut on several cars following the break in the electric light service, railroad officials said.

State troops patroling the district under martial law made their first appearance in the restricted district today, the officers in charge having kept them in camp last night in order to let them recuperate following several days on the road.

Cook Fights

A negro cook brought here by the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad to cook for the workers, decided to quit tonight. When he reached the line where he left protection of martial law, the negro was taken in charge by several white men and put into an automobile. An argument resulted when the party reached the outskirts of the city and the negro severely cut one of the white men, the identity of whom is unknown. The negro escaped into Oklahoma, it is said.

Ray Yards, the railroad's freight terminal, is in darkness tonight because of another break in the electric light line. Linemen have searched three hours for the break but without avail.

FIRE DESTROYS TWO BUILDINGS

Quick Work Stops Spread of Flames

Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed two buildings, damaged four others, put 200 telephones in the west end of town out of commission for over twelve hours and for a time threatened to develop into a serious conflagration Thursday afternoon. Actual damage, aside from that suffered by the telephone company company when a cable was burned through, was less than $5,000 but only speedy work on the part of the fire department prevented a costly blaze.

Flames were first discovered shortly before 3 o'clock in a garage at the rear of the Louis Pink residence, 2412 Tenth street and by the time an alarm had been turned in a garage just across the alley and in the rear of the E. Robertson residence, 2411 Ninth street, was also aflame. Both of these structures were total losses.

Servant House Saved.

A small servant house just west of the Pink garage, caught fire but was saved from complete destruction by firemen. The same was true of two story brick building at the rear of the W. E. Fitzgerald home, 2413 Ninth, which suffered considerable damage to the roof and interior. A hole was burned in the roof of the Robertson home, while the intense heat ruined the paint and damaged the roof of the Pink residence.

Most of the loss on all the structures in the burned area was covered

CALL MORE PEACE MEETS

Executives Confab in New York

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 29. — A meeting of executives of 148 of the major railroads of the United States will be called in New York next Tuesday to consider a plan for settling the strike now in progress. DeWitt Cuyler, chairman of the association of railway executives, announced tonight after a conference with President Harding.

Mr. Cuyler added, however, that "no definite basis" for strike settlement was ready to be placed before the meeting. His conference with the president tonight, he said, had been devoted to a general survey of the situation.

No Statement Made

While Mr. Cuyler was positive in his statement that the basis for proposed settlement of the strike had not been definitely drawn up, earlier reports indicated that at least a tentative plan had resulted from the conference held during the day between President Harding and leaders of the various labor groups.

President Harding has made no specific request to the railroad executives, Mr. Cuyler said, when asked if the question of seniority rights had been brought forward at the conference with a view to influencing some railroads to reconsider their stand against returning these rights to striking shopmen.

Negroes Fired On; Troops Rushed Out

By Associated Press.

MACON, Ga., JJuly 27.—Men who rose suddenly from the weeds in a vacant lot, according to the police opened fire on some negroes returning from work in the local railroad shops tonight. Two negroes were wounded.

At midnight the entire force of sheriff's deputies was rushed to the Southern railway shops.

Police said they traced blood from the scene of the shooting to an automobile and later found two white men with comparatively slight wounds one of whom had to be taken to a hospital. No arrests were made.

A force of sheriff's adeputies was placed on guard at the Southern railway shops here shortly after the shooting.

Neff Still Silent On Myers Case

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, July 27.—Governor Neff still "had nothing to say" today on the resignation of Labor Commissioner Joseph S. Myers who wired his resignation to the governor from Denison. He will await Mr Myers' return to Austin before making an anouncement concerning it, it is understood.

MINERS BACK DOWN AGAIN

Strike Settlement Is Dead Issue

By Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 27.—Early settlement of the miners' strike in Illinois was declared to be "a dead issue" tonight following the adjournment of the miners' state executive board after a brief session in which the chief business, it was announced, was the calling of a state convention at Peoria, Aug. 3, which the board yesterday ordered with comment that it was believed that it might have led to an end of the tie-up of the mines in Illinois.

Tonight the board members and President Frank Farrington of the Illinois miners were on their way home, apparently with no plans designed to bring immediate peace.

The cancellation of the convention call was attribbuted by Mr. Farrington to premature publication of statements by some miners officials that the convention might lead to an out-and-out fight between Mr. Lewis and Mr. Farrington, which friends of the latter said he would win, should the national president start a dispute.

League Moguls Lift Barnstorming Ban

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 27.—The American league club owners, meeting here today voted to remove the ban prohibiting players from participating in post-season exhibition games, provided they secured the consent of the club president and then gained the permission of K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner.

This club, owners said, will remove the possibility of a recurrence of the situation that prevailed last year when Babe Ruth, Bob Meusel and Big Bill Piercy of the New York Yankees were fined their share of the world's series receipts for participation in exhibition games in violation of Commissioner Landis' instructions. Ruth's share of the receipts amounted to $3,500.

Spain Lowers Passport Fee

MADRID, July 29.—Spain has added herself to the list of nations which have concluded to grant American transit visas for $1. But a transit visa, as in the case of the other countries that have made similar reductions, merely entitles a visitor to a train-ride through the country's territory. If he so much as takes astroll from the railroad station platform, he has "visited" the country—price $10.

Germany, Austria, Hungary, Bulgaria, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Denmark, Holland and Rumania previously have reduced to $1 the price of transit visas. Sweden has reduced its transit visa for Americans of Swedish parentage. Italy and Portugal charge the full $10 even for a glance across the frontier.

RAIL OWNERS FIGHT RETURN OF SENIORITY

Insist Strikers Have Forfeited All Rights

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 27.—Destruction of an incentive to remain at work in case of future strikes will result if present railroad strikers are allowed to return to work with former seniority rights unimpaired, the western presidents committee on public relations of the association of railway executives said in a statement issued today. In the absence from Chicago of B. M. Jewell, head of the striking shopmen and his international presidents, there was no statement from strike headquarters.

"Not only justice," the executives statements said, "but the public interest demands that in any settlement of the strike, the seniority rights of the men who are now working shall be recognized.

"The men who have stayed at work during the strike have been given assurance of protection not only by the railroads but by the government itself," the statement said.

The statement asserted that "men who are now working have claims upon the railways and the public superior to those of the strikers."

Conditions Normal

A second statement issued by the executives tonight said that western railways with headquarters in Chicago report "transportation conditions continue to be practically normal." A large majority of roads, the statement said, continue to handle mode freight business than a year ago and all reported increases in the number of shop workmen employed.

The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific reported 287 shopmen added to its force today, the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe said a total of 288 men were put to work bringing its shop force up to 55 per cent of normal; the Illinois Central said its shop force was 80 per cent normal, the Southern Pacific reported that on its lines east of El Paso its shops force is 59 per cent of normal, in Arizona, 57 per cent and on the lines west of El Paso 50 per cent, while the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, 1,100 shopmen had been added to its force in the last three days, including 300 today.

Believe Harding Duped by "Straw" Labor Official

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 27.—That "a man of straw" a fictitious personage without official standing in labor circles—sent President Harding the message which last night drew a lengthy reply from the White House reiterating the government's position on the rail and coal strikes, was the belief expressed here today by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor.

The message to Mr. Harding predicted that "to attempt to operate the mines or the railroads by military force or attempt to draft men" would result in the approach of "the long predicted war between capital and labor."

Signed "Dean."

It was signed "J. Cleve Dean, chairman railway employes publicity association."

Mr. Gompers expressed surprise that the administration should have shown such concern over the J Cleve Dean message as to have replied to it, especially since, the labor leader asserted, the White House apparently was "all in the dark" as to the identity of the sender or his capacity in official circles of organized labor.

"The White House called me yesterday asking if I knew this man," said Mr. Gompers. "I told them I did not and had no record of him, as an official of American labor."

Irwin, former pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Lawton, on trial here before the judicial commission of the El Reno Presbytery on ecclesiastical charges, was found guilty early today on three counts and indefinitely suspended from the Presbyterian church, U. MINERS DRIVE COAL DIGGERS FROM SHAFTS

Troops Sent to Scene To Stop Further Troubles

By Associated Press.

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 27.—Twenty-five guardsmen and two officers were tonight ordered to the property of the Yellow Creek Mining company in Bell county along the Tennessee state line by Governor Edwin P. Morrow, who received reports that miners in that territory were attacked today by armed men.

The troops will arrive early tomorrow. Governor Taylor of Tennessee will be asked to send troops to the state line. The reports to the governor said a deputy sheriff had been wounded in an attack today.

MIDDLESBORO, Ky., July 27.—One miner was wounded and about a dozen others narrowly escaped serious injury at Bryson Mountain, Tenn., this morning, when a party of alleged strikers fired a fusillade of shots at them as the miners were en route to work, it was learned here late today. The entire territory is reported terrorized as the result of 200 armed miners parading through the mine region last night and today.

Battle Feared

A majority of the workers were leaving the camp, it was reported. Miners declare if state troops are sent here there will be a battle. They claim they are prepared, having a wagon load of guns and ammunition.

"If we don't get our rights now, we will never get injustice," one miner is reported to have said.

The Bryson mountain mine is controlled by Mayor J. H. Kenney. He said he had not asked for state troops, but would do so. The first outbreak of strike sympathizers occurred here three weeks ago and conditions have since been unsettled. Bryson Mountain is just across the state line in a heavily woded region and a rough country.

M'CRAY HINTS AT SETTLEMENT

Interstate Meeting Is Possible

By Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 27.—Possibility of a settlement of the coal strike through an interstate conference of miners and operators was indicated by Governor McCray today in a statement issued after a conference with representatives of the Indiana operators.

Members of the scale committee of the Indiana Bituminous Coal Operators' association will meet in conference with the governor tomorrow to make a decision concerning participation of the Indiana operators in a four-state conference composed of representatives of miners and operators from the central competitive field.

The governor said that he was led to believe that Indiana operators will agree to participate in the proposed settlement of the strike.

At the time the statement was given out, Phil Penna, secretary of the Indiana operators, and A. M. Ogle, president of the National Coal association, issued statements declaring that participation of Indiana operators in an interstate conference was impossible.

WORKING HARD FOR COAL TRUCE

Texas Election Stirs Washington

By B. N. TIMMONS
Washington Correspondent

Washington, July 27.—The August democratic primary in Texas today reached the stage of presidential politics. The question was discussed by both democratic and republican leaders. Democrats were wondering what effect the election of Mayfield, if Mayfield were elected, would have in northern states in 1924, where democrats, if they are to come back, must cut heavily into the foreign vote.

Democrats feared that the republicans would raise the cry of the "south is in the saddle," and add that the ku klux succeeded in electing a senator in the biggest democratic state of all. It seemed certain that an investigation into the eligibility of Mayfield would be raised should he succeed in defeating Ferguson and that a contest of his seat might ensue.

The Philadelphia Public Ledger editorially asserted that there was grave doubt that Mayfield would be seated in case of victory

LEONARD AND TENDLER MIX IN GREAT BATTLE; CHAMPION RALLIES AFTER POOR START

Challenger Drubs Benny Fiercely in First Five Rounds; Strong Come-Back in Later Stages of Bout Result in No Decision Being Rendered; 60,000 Fans Present at Ringside.

By Associated Press.

RINGSIDE, JERSEY CITY, N. J. —Benny Leonard, world's lightweight boxing champion successfully defended his title against Lew Tendler of Philadelphia in a 12-round no-decision contest tonight, earning in the opinion of a majority of sport writers at the ringside a narrow shade in a great struggle.

The challenger, a left hander, furnished the champion the most interesting combat Leonard has had since he turned back Willie Ritchie some years ago.

When it was over, the champion, battered more than he has been in any bout since he won the title from Freddie Welch, in 1917, said:

"These southpaws are hard to solve."

All during his training he had belittled Tendler's pugilistic record and predicted that he would finish the Philadelphian within seven rounds. Tendler too, had said that he would win by a knockout, but he had nothing to say of this tonight. He said he was satisfied with his showing and would seek an engagement with Leonard in a decision match.

Under the terms of the agreement with the principals in the contest they are to receive from 61½ to 66½ per cent of the gross receipts. Of this sum Leonard will receive approximately two-thirds, the other third going to the challenger. About 60,000 persons witnessed the fight.

by insurance, reports to firemen indicated.

The telephone cable was strung down the alley between Ninth and Tenth streets and went down a few minutes after the fire gained a good start. Every telephone in the factory district as well as those west of the fire site were out of service all Thursday night. Officials of the telephone company stated that the damage would probably be repaired by Friday morning.

Apparatus from three fire stations responded to the alarm and firemen worked for an hour before the last spark had been extinguished. Incidentally, a fire plug at Ninth and Polk streets furnished an attraction not scheduled when the top blew out under high pressure, drenching a motor pump crew that was preparing to connect up a hose lead and spraying a considerable portion of the street intersection with water. The stream was shut off, however, and the hose attached to a less boisterous plug.

TOY BALLOON ON LONG FLIGHT

The balloon was one of a score sent up by the Cincinnati man with his name and address attached to them, and the letter which he has received from Hatfield states that it was first sighted by him while he was plowing corn near his home. So far the other nineteen balloons have not been reported.

From that time it rose slowly and at 2 o'clock it went to 109 and lingered between 108 and 109 until 3 o'clock when it touched 110 then fell off slightly until at 5 o'clock it was down to 106 again.

G. O. P. FIGHTING WOOL TARIFF RATES

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Continuation of republican opposition to rates in the wool schedule, a democratic proposal for a "scientific" tariff as a substitute for the pending bill and the virtual rewriting of the silk schedule by the finance committee majority were outstanding developments today in the tariff situation in the senate.

Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin, and Nelson of Minnesota, voiced the protests of a small group on the majority side against the wool rates, but on roll calls the commmittee recommendations were approved by overwhelming majorities. Chairman McCumber asserted if it could be shown that the protective duty was too high, the committee and the senate would change it.

FRENCH DON'T WANT YANK AUTO TRUCKS

(By International News Service)

PARIS, July 29.—Thirteen thousand American motor trucks—all of them war, or at least, "occupation" veterans—are going begging on European markets. France, at any rate, doesn't want 'em, according to l'Auto.

French motor manufacturing circles believe they sense a danger in what they would regard as the "dumping" of these second-hand trucks on the French market. It would result in lowering truck prices in France and, they claim, unemployedment in the motor manufacturing industry.

According to l'Auto, the trucks have been sent to England for repair with the understanding that they are not to be sold in the United Kingdom, but are to be re-exported for Continental, largely French, sale. It is charged that American motor interests have induced the government to sell the trucks this side of the ocean.

The Public Ledger asserted that "Senator Culberson representing what is left of decency and sanity has been defeated, Mayfield leaving the old and valuable senator far behind. The rest of the country had thought better of Texas, and the news that the state has fallen so completely into the hands of the basest form yet known of ignorance, stupidity and unreasoning hate yet known, has shocked the country."

The editorial continues that "it would be a national shame and disgrace if any one representing the klan were to take his seat among heal Americans in the proudest legislative body in the world. The election of Mayfield would be an affront to the people. The state of Texas has one chance to redeem herself in the eyes of the rest of the country and that is to come to her senses before the run-off primary next month. If she does not, and Mayfield wins, Texas must surely know that he will have a hard time getting into the senate. The committee on privileges and elections will most certainly insist on knowing whether he is a member of the klan or not and how far he is affiliated with it and he will have to stand aside until it finds out. The senate cannot afford to have a klu klux member, and it can bar him if he is an executive member.

"It is the sole judge of the qualifications of its members. Even such a man as Reed Smoot had to stand aside until the senate had investigated his record as a Mormon." For the present at least, Texas sits in disgrace among her 47 sisters. In many elections one state or another has run off the track and amazed the nation by voting for something mad, but never had any state gone to such depths as these."

The Baltimore sun, one of the oldest democratic newspapers in the nation, said that it looks as if Mayfield is to free himself from the implication of upholding the klan. The The Baltimore American asserted that "Texas is between the devil and the deep sea. It would have been more cheerful if Culberson had run second in Ferguson's place. Whether or not James E. Ferguson was fairly treated in the impeachment proceedings by which he was ousted from the governorship, it hurts public confidence for the state to have to turn to a man with a black mark on his record for rescue. Mr. Ferguson expouses the principle that the individual shall live his own life without unreasonable dictation from his neighbors.

"It is a pity, we repeat, that a man who proposes to campaign in advocacy of this idea should be handicapped by a black mark on his personal record, whether or not that mark is deserved. But he is this time fighting for a good cause and it will be ill for Texas if he loses."

DANCE DEVOTEES SHARPLY REBUKED

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., July 27. —Sharp criticism of the "unthinkable disrespect" which Battle Creek girls evinced for the United States army uniform when they requested Camp Custer soldiers to wear civilian clothes at dances is contained in a statement issued by Brigadier-General George Moseley, camp commander.

are some of the things that all the people should know. If pre-war wages are to return, then why not pre-war prices for all the staples that the people must use.

NOW AN AMERICAN SENATOR has come to the front with a new idea in the line of ship subsidies. Operators of American ships complain that the LaFollette seamen's act which requires that an American standard of wages be maintained on American ships puts them at a disadvantage in competition with foreign ships on which wages are lower. In addition they object to the provision of the LaFollette act which requires them to pay off sailors in any port in which wages are demanded. Now the new scheme is for the government to pay the proposed ship subsidy to the sailors who man American ships instead of turnign it over to the operators of American ships. This would place sixty million dollars annually in the pockets of American sailors but not in the pockets of the magnates of the shipping companies. If it is just to pay a subsidy to a shipping company to equalize the difference in the wages paid American and foreign sailors, why wouldn't it be just to pay the money to the American sailors and let it go at that? It would prevent the shipping company from operating at a loss on account of the difference in wages and it would make life easy for Jack Tar on shore leave. Of course a subsidy is taken out of the pockets of the people, as all other taxes are taken out of their pockets but the new plan would reward the lean sailor and it wouldn't hurt the fat operator.

U. S. Widow Refuses Persian Crown

Mrs. Pe. Bruguiere Hewitt, beautiful widow of Peter Cooper Hewitt millionaire electrical inventor, reported wed to English Baron Robert Ellinger. Only a few days ago Persian shah, left Paris in despair after Mrs. Hewitt had refused him. She said: "Regal honors do not tempt me. I shall never marry again." Hewitt died in Paris last August.

(By Central Press.)

PARIS, July 23.—What's a shah or two among friends, especially when a handsome young baron hovers in the offing? Not much!

In fact, nothing a-tall in the life of Mrs. Brugiere Cooper Hewitt, for she turned the Persian ruler down cold, in spite of the warmth of his love-making.

Then, perhaps just for good measure, she up and married Baron Robert Ellinger, an Englishman.

And all this took place just a few short days after the shah had packed up his royal trappings, shaken the dust of gay Paree from his Persian boots and hied himself to his native Teheran.

The shah's persistent courtship of Mrs. Hewitt, whose millionaire husband died last August, has been the subject of gossip for months.

The young monarch, in the course of his suit, bombarded the comely widow with everything from Persian cats to Persian rugs and his French limousine was always at her beck and call.

Then, suddenly, he left Paris.

And Mrs. Hewitt said:

"Regal honors do not tempt me. As for the shah, he is just a nice, boyish, young fellow, too nice, in fact, to be a king. I shall never marry again."

And then, almost before the words were out of her mouth, Mrs. Hewitt marched up the aisle of St. Roch's church leaning on the arm of the young baron while the organ played a wedding march.

ABEL GETS EXPENSIVE LESSON IN LOVE

(By International News Service)

ATLANTA, Ga., July 29.—Lovemaking in the land of the "Hot Tamale" and the same thing under Uncle Sam's flag are entirely different things.

Down in Mexico if a young swain sees a lady on the streets whose acquaintance he desires to make it is all right for him to follow her home at a respectful distance. By this means he learns her address and can then seek a formal introduction.

Not so in the U. S. A., Abel Reyes found this out when he was arraigned for annoying two young women on the streets here.

They told Judge Reyes he did not attempt to speak to them, but kept following them. Reyes said he intended no harm, but was merely trying to find out where the ladies lived, so he might become acquainted with them as was customary in Mexico.

He was admonished to learn the customs of the United States and was fined $11.

RIVALS

NORFOLK, Va., July 26.—As the senatorial primary draws near it seems to be "nip-and-tuck" between Senator Claude A. Swanson and ex-Gov. Westmoreland Davis, though Davis at present is the favorite in the race. He is regarded as the more progressive. Richmond is expected to give him a good majority, and Norfolk is swinging toward him.

Davis was one of the originators and chief supporter of the plan to make Hampton Roads a world port. In some sections the farmer vote will be almost unanimous for him. Following his successful fight against the state democratic machine many former machine men have deserted the old organization and are asking seats on the Davis band wagon.

Davis' open opposition to "prohibition fanaticism" has won him many votes, even among prohibitionists. His letter to the Rev. Mr Hepburn, Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league in Virginia, was seathing. In it he said:

"I do not wish, nor have I ever desired your support for any office, for political association with you would forfeit my claim to the confidence of the public, and would be most distasteful to me."

Little Stories For Bedtime

TRIES TO DRIVE SKIMMER FROM THE OLD ORCHARD

One of the queer things about wronging another is the feeling that you do not want to see the one you have wronged anywhere about. That is one of the ways conscience pricks. Now, you wouldn't think from the way he acts that Bully the English Sparrow has any conscience. Perhaps he doesn't know he has himself. But, just the same, he has. Everybody has. Nobody is so bad that somewhere down deep inside there is this good trying to make itself felt.

Now, you know that Bully and Mrs. Bully had boldly robbed Skimmer the Swallow and Mrs. Skimmer of their home. Poor Skimmer and his little mate had bravely fought all the morning trying to get their home back. But it had been of no use, and now, almost heart broken, aching and smarting from their wounds, they sat side side on a dead branch of an apple tree where they could see their lost home.

"It's no use to try to get them, for they are stronger than we," said Skimmer sadly. "But if we watch maybe they will both leave the house, and then we can get in. If we once get in I think we can keep them out."

"My beautiful eggs! They broke my beautiful eggs!" moaned little Mrs. Skimmer. "And they've torn that nest we worked so hard to build all to pieces."

"Never mind," said Skimmer, trying to comfort her. "If we can't get our home back there are other houses we can move into and I'll work twice as hard as I did before to help you build another nest. Hello! What does that wretch want now?"

Mrs. Skinner looked up to see Bully flying in their direction. They didn't have long to wait to find out what he wanted. He flew at them savagely, a little feathered fury.

"Get out of here! Get away from the Old Orchard and stay away! I don't want to see you hanging around!" he cried.

You see, Billy had guessed what was in their minds. More than that, he knew right down in his heart that he had done them a great wrong, and though he wasn't the least bit sorry he didn't like to be reminded of it by seeing them about. That was the pricking of his conscience, though Bully would not have admitted it. So, having done them one wrong, he made up his mind that he would do them out of the Old Orchard altogether. You will find that almost always one wrong leads to another.

Now, Skimmer and Mrs. Skimmer had no difficulty in keeping out of Bully's way, for you know they are wonderful fliers, while Bully is slow and clumsy. But every time they tried to alight for a moment's rest Bully drove them into the air again. He gave them no peace. Finally, they were obliged to leave the Old Orchard altogether, though they did not go far. Then, boasting loudly Bully returned to the house he had stolen and which Mrs. Bully had not left unguarded for a moment. There they noisily talked it all over and planned to begin building their own nest at once.

"I guess they won't bother us any more," chirped Bully. "I've driven them out of the Old Orchard and I guess they've had all the fighting with me they want. There is nothing like being bold, my dear, to get the things you want in this world."

Which goes to show that Bully believes, as a great many people seem to, that might makes right. Of course it doesn't and in the end no good comes of it.

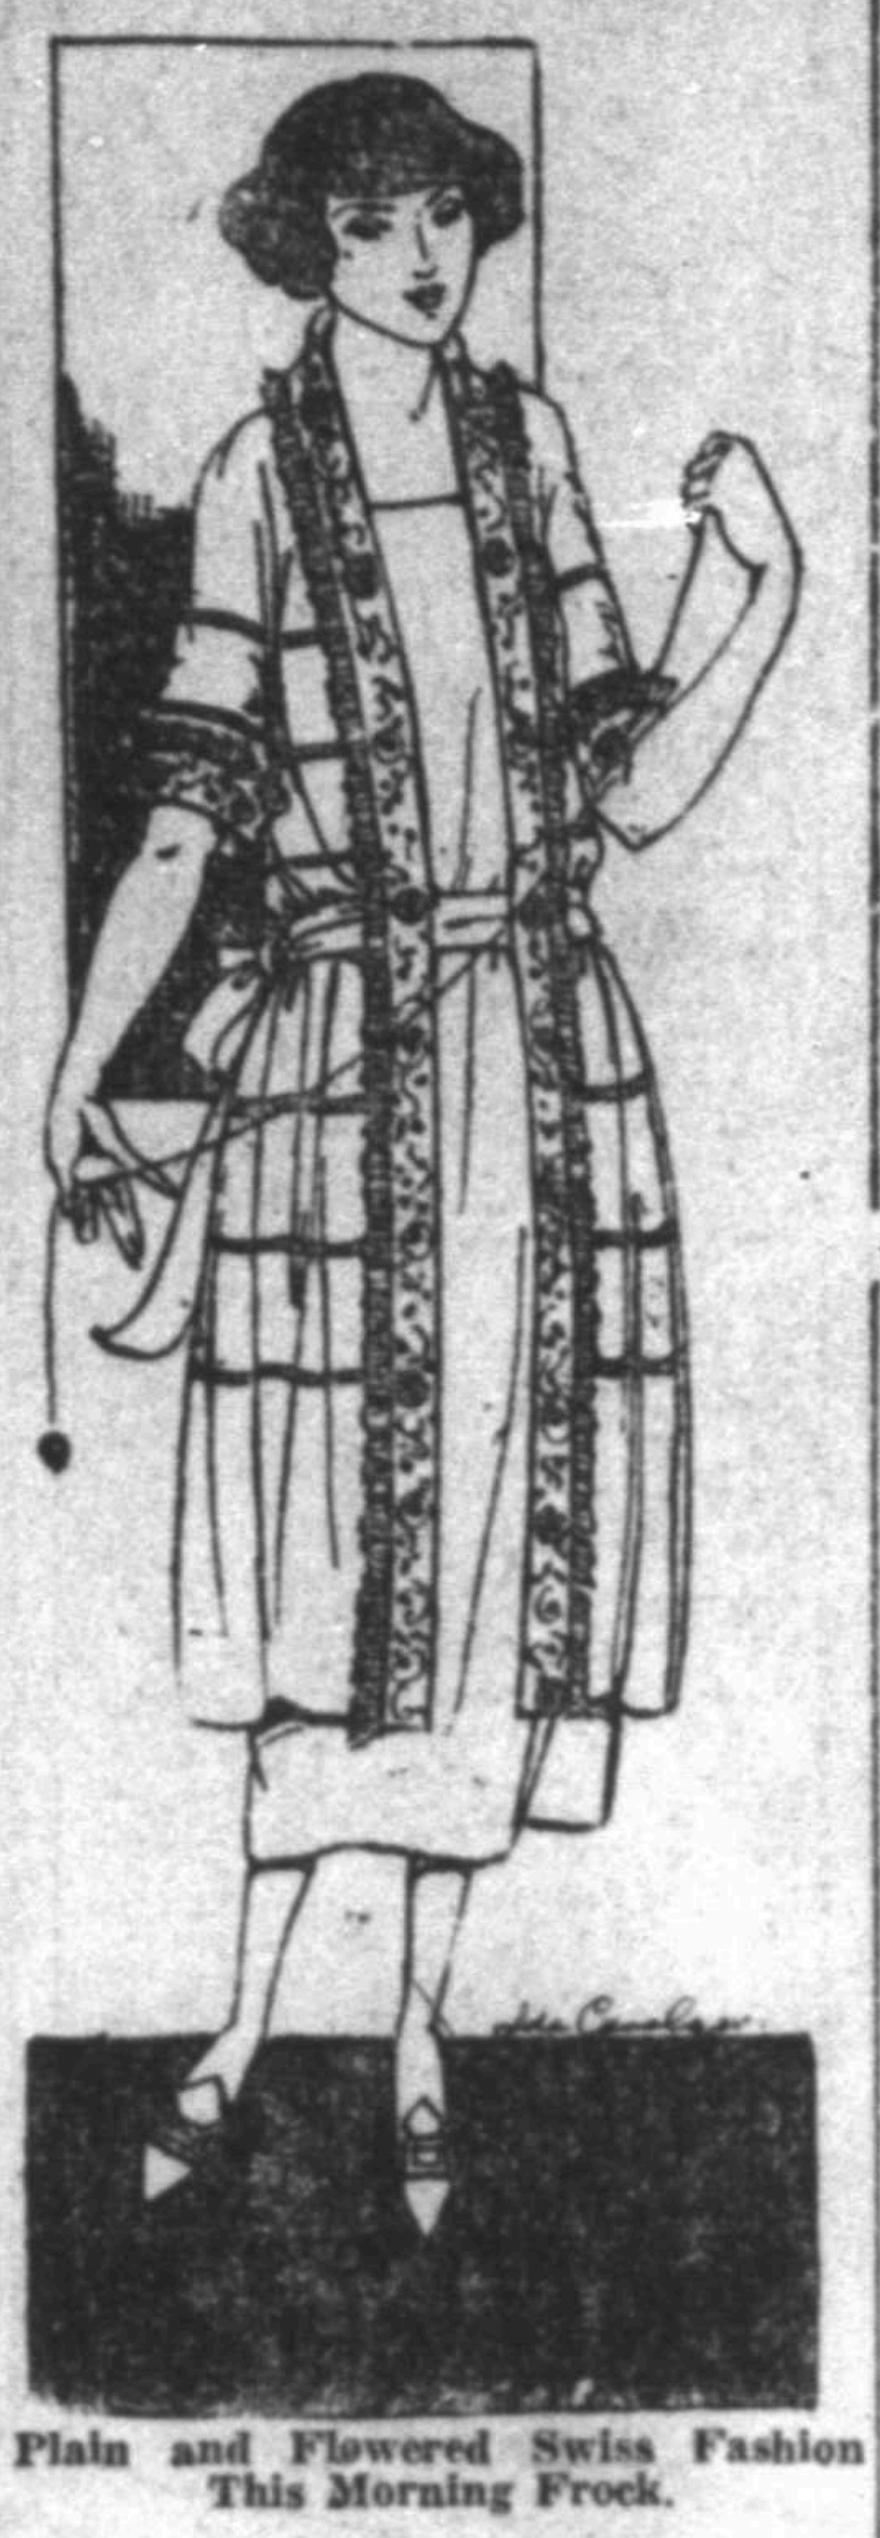
FASHIONS



Plain and Flowered Swiss Fashion This Morning Frock.

An exceptionally dainty house or morning frock combines white or plain pastel colored organdy with pompadour flowered self fabric. Rows of drawn work also give a pretty trimming touch to the frock. The figured material is used for the cuffs and long revers only, and these are edged with narrow pleated ruffles of the plain fabric. This particular fabric combination is rather unusual, as the conventional method of combining the plain and bright flowered material is to use the latter for the major portions of the garment with plain as the trimming. The frock proper is worn over a sleeveless slip of self fabric.

For fall and winter the combination of plain and gorgeously flowered fabrics in the development of negligee garments is quite pronounced, a particularly lovely model recently seen featured a plain color, accordion pleated chiffon slip ovr which was worn a half length coat of Persian flowered chiffon.

Metal cloths are also combined with rich brocades in the fashioning of the more elaborate and costly negligee garments. The popular style is a tight, sheath like slip of the plain metal cloth with a long, loose coat of the brocade worn over it.

The circular skirt vogue will play a role in the designing of negligees as well as gowns. A model recently seen had long waist and straight panel front and back sections made of brocade with circular side sections of chiffon. The breakfast coat of satin or taffeta also features a circular lower part in many new models.

BEVERLY, Mass.—The old frigate Granite State, a contemporary of the Constitution, fought her second losing battle with fire yesterday and today rested in an ocean grave.

The vessel, which was badly damaged by flames a year ago as she lay at her pier in New York, again caught fire yesterday as she was being towed to Eastport, Me., to be broken up. She sank during the night.

CHICAGO.—The threatened invasion of a nearby subdivision by a bungalow colony has caused Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick to plan erection of a sixteen-foot wall along the south and southeastern extremities of her estate. In addition she acquired 20 acres adjoining the property.

A real estate company recently divided into lots a plot near the McCormick estate, and began an advertising campaign.

REVIVAL BEGUN AT EVANGELICAL CHURCH

Rev. George L. Trabant, pastor of the Evangelical church at Fifteenth and Broad streets, has made the following report of services being held at his church: Rev. J. F. Aaron of Belton, Texas, opened a two weeks meeting at the Evangelical church, corner Fifteenth and Broad streets, Monday evening with an interesting discourse on the subject of prayer.

Services will continue through the week and all who are interested are invited to attend.

The "Mother of Medicine"

Isis, the Queen and afterwards the Goddess, was called the "Mother of Medicine." In ancient Egypt, centuries before Christ, women were skilled in medicine. They knew the great value of medicinal plants.

Hipprcrates, the "Father of Medicine," many centuries later, knew less of the merit of vegetable drugs than did the women of ancient times.

Lydia E. Pinkham, nearly fifty years ago, gave to women her Vegetabl Compound, now known everywhere as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This is a woman's medicine for woman's ailments, prepared from medicinal plants.—Adv.

MISSION OF THE MOVIES

GENERAL UPLIFTER WILL H. HAYS is president of the motion pictures producers and distributors of America. He has made his first official appearance in Los Angeles, where the movie people have a large colony. General Uplifter Hays, speaking of the industry, says it is here to fill a necessity, the necessity for entertainment; that it can and will instruct, which is a most precious power, and that lastly it can do more than any other agency to unite the peoples of the world, to bring understanding not only between man and man, but between nation and nation than which no greater thing can be done in his opinion.

If the movie can do more than any other agency to unite the peoples of the world then the safe and the sane men and women of the world should get in behind the industry and push it along. Of course, all sensible people know that the public must be entertained; that it must be instructed and educated and that there should be a better understanding between man and man and nation and nation.

Woodrow Wilson saw the necessity for all this when he drafted is plan for a league of nations. He would have made the dream of an idealist a living force.

General Uplifter Will H. Hays, as a politician but not as an American, did all in his power to defeat ratification of the Versailles treaty. Now as the general uplifter he sees the necessity for a better understanding between nations. A very level-headed and well-posted individual is Will H. Hays. He is a builder and not a leveller. Speaking of and for the motion picture industry he says he has no great program of reform. He is opposed to government censorship of the movies. He says that it is fundamentally wrong and that all intelligent people realize it. And General Uplifter Hays, in his opening address to the picture makers of Los Angeles, handed the wild critics of the industry a wallop or two.

He told them that force and trickery and even homicide were common incidents in the opening of American oil fields and in the mighty struggles for supremacy of the railroads of America. He told them that it is strongly suspected that commerce was born in piracy and that organized society itself was born in little groups which lifted its hand against all other groups.

A very sane and a very suave gentleman is General Uplifter Will H. Hays. He directed the organization and publicity campaign of the republican party from 1916 to 1920. He directed the propaganda and was the chief of the propagandists. He built up the greatest political organization that America has ever known. And his subtle literature contained the poison which made it easy for the republican standard bearers to win a victory at the polls that was almost overwhelming in its nature.

General Uplifter Will H. Hays made a most admirable postmaster general. He won the confidence and respect of the vast army of postoffice employes. Then came the stupendous offer of $125,000 a year to be the general directing head of the motion picture producers and distributors of America. These titans of moviedom made no mistake. They picked upon the right man.

He knows what to say and when to say it. He knows that public opinion is the moving and ruling force; that if public opinion is given the wrong medicine, it becomes diseased and inflamed; that if [illegible] proper medicine it becomes just the reverse.

[illegible] Uplifter Hays knows and says that the pioneers of his industry have caught their second breath; that they find themselves the responsible leaders and custodians of one of the greatest industries of the world with limitless commercial possibilities and perhaps more income than all the public utilities of the country combined.

Hence the movie is to take first place as an entertainer, first place as an educator, and first place as a harmonizer of men and of nations.

General Uplifter Will H. Hays knows the people and how best to reach them. He is going to make movieland as clean, as conscientious, as correct in its manner and mode of living and as inspirational in its ideals as any living force in the land.

Flowers for Hays, the Hoosier. He was a success as a political propagandist; he was a success as a political manager; he was a success a postmaster general and he is a greater success as general uplifter of movieland and its people.

It is a noble ambition to hope for the coming of an agency which will unite the peoples of the world, which will bring und rstanding not only between man and man but nation and nations, "Than which no greater thing can be done."

This upstanding and outstanding Hoosier man of affairs has caught the idea. There should be peace between man and man and peace between nation and nation. They should cease their warfare over dead issues and dead civilizations and ever strive to do something for the people now on earth as well as for the people who are to come after them.

OFFICIAL WASHINGTON AND OBREGON

OFFICIAL WASHINGTON says that the recognition of the Obregon government is most improbable. Having settled the public debt question, having surrendered to the claims of the American oil titans, the American department of state has made a demand for the security of valid American titles in Mexico "to property of whatever nature." Now the claim is made that American citizens who invested money in Mexican lands have since been dispossessed of a part or all of the holdings by the Mexican government by acts of expropriation. Official Washington says these American citizens must be compensated for the loss of their land. When former Bandit Villa was the chief of the looters in north Mexico, he made many valuable land concessions to American citizens. Villa did not own these lands. He did not have a shadow of a title to the lands. He was a bandit and an outlaw. And there were other bandits and outlaws just like Villa in every Mexican state before General Obregon smashed them and created a stable government.

Woodrow Wilson failed to do justice to Mexico and the Mexicans. His Mexican policy was the one black spot on his administration.

It was much the same when William Howard Taft was president. There is to be no change during the term of office of Warren G. Harding. Mexico is to continue to get the hot end of the poker. It is going to be the rule of the cunning and the strong until an American president is elected who will side with the 15,000,000 Mexicans and their right to live and govern themselves and not the powerful alien interests who have been the invisible rulers of Mexico for a quarter of a century.

CAPPER ON THE ROAD

SENATOR ARTHUR CAPPER of Kansas, chairman of the agricultural bloc, is on the road again. This time he says there is an American-Mexican monopoly of sisal, used in making binding twine. Less than a year ago Yucatan sisal was selling at 2 3-4 cents a pound, but now a minimum of 6 3-8 cents is being asked. Senator Capper says that the Sisal Sales corporation of New York and the Commission xportadora of Yucatan have a monopoly of the sisal trade and fix the prices.

There is an American selling corporation which controls the Mexican sisal production and absolutely dominates the producing side of the industry. Senator Capper is a very busy man. Sisal is a Mexican staple. It is used in making binding twine and the wheat farmers of Kansas buy cast quantities of binding twine. Senator Capper is speaking for Kansas. He isn't speaking for Yucatan. American financiers, ever on the trail of good things, landed in Yucatan.

Business is business. They had the money and they obtained control of the producing end of the industry. Now they fix the prices and while fixing the prices, their New York publicity agents daily damn President Obregon and the Mexican government. Pauper labor produces Yucatan sisal. That is, it did in the good old days. If Americans dismissed the paupers when they obtained control, they neglected to make mention of it in their reports.

MOVING FORWARD

THE city council took steps Monday night to have more paving done right away on Indiana and Burnett streets. It is probable that paving will also be ordered on Eleventh street at an early date. Money spent on paving is always spent to good purpose. Streets help make a city as much as any one other element. Most people judge a city by its churches, schools and streets. After all, those three are as good indications of a city's actual worth as can be found.

Rippling Rhymes

LIFE IS STRANGE.

When man determines to abjure punk habits which have made him poor, it seems that all the fates protest, and for his downfall do their best. My pastor often called me [illegible] for smoking pipes around the town. "A foul example for the young," he grimly said, "by you is sprung; the children see you burning grass, and imitate your curves, alas!" My doctor said, "You've smoked so long that all your works are going wrong." And so I cried, "I'll smoke no more, though smokeless days may be a bore." Before my vow had aged a day, a neighbor sought my door to say, "Your songs encourage and uplift, and so I've brought a little gift; a pipe of meerchaum, fair to see ,and when you smoke it think of me." When he departed from my gate, there came another smiling skate, who said, "O Bard, your deathless rhymes have saved my life a thousand times! When I had chilbains and repeat, I rubbed your verses on my feet; and when hair was falling out, and when I had the duplex gout, I took a madrigal of yours, and found it beat the drug store cures! You are a sun among the stars, and so I've brought you some cigars, the kind that kings and princes use—they do not smell like burning shoes." You ask me if I kept my vow; don't bother me—I'm busy now.

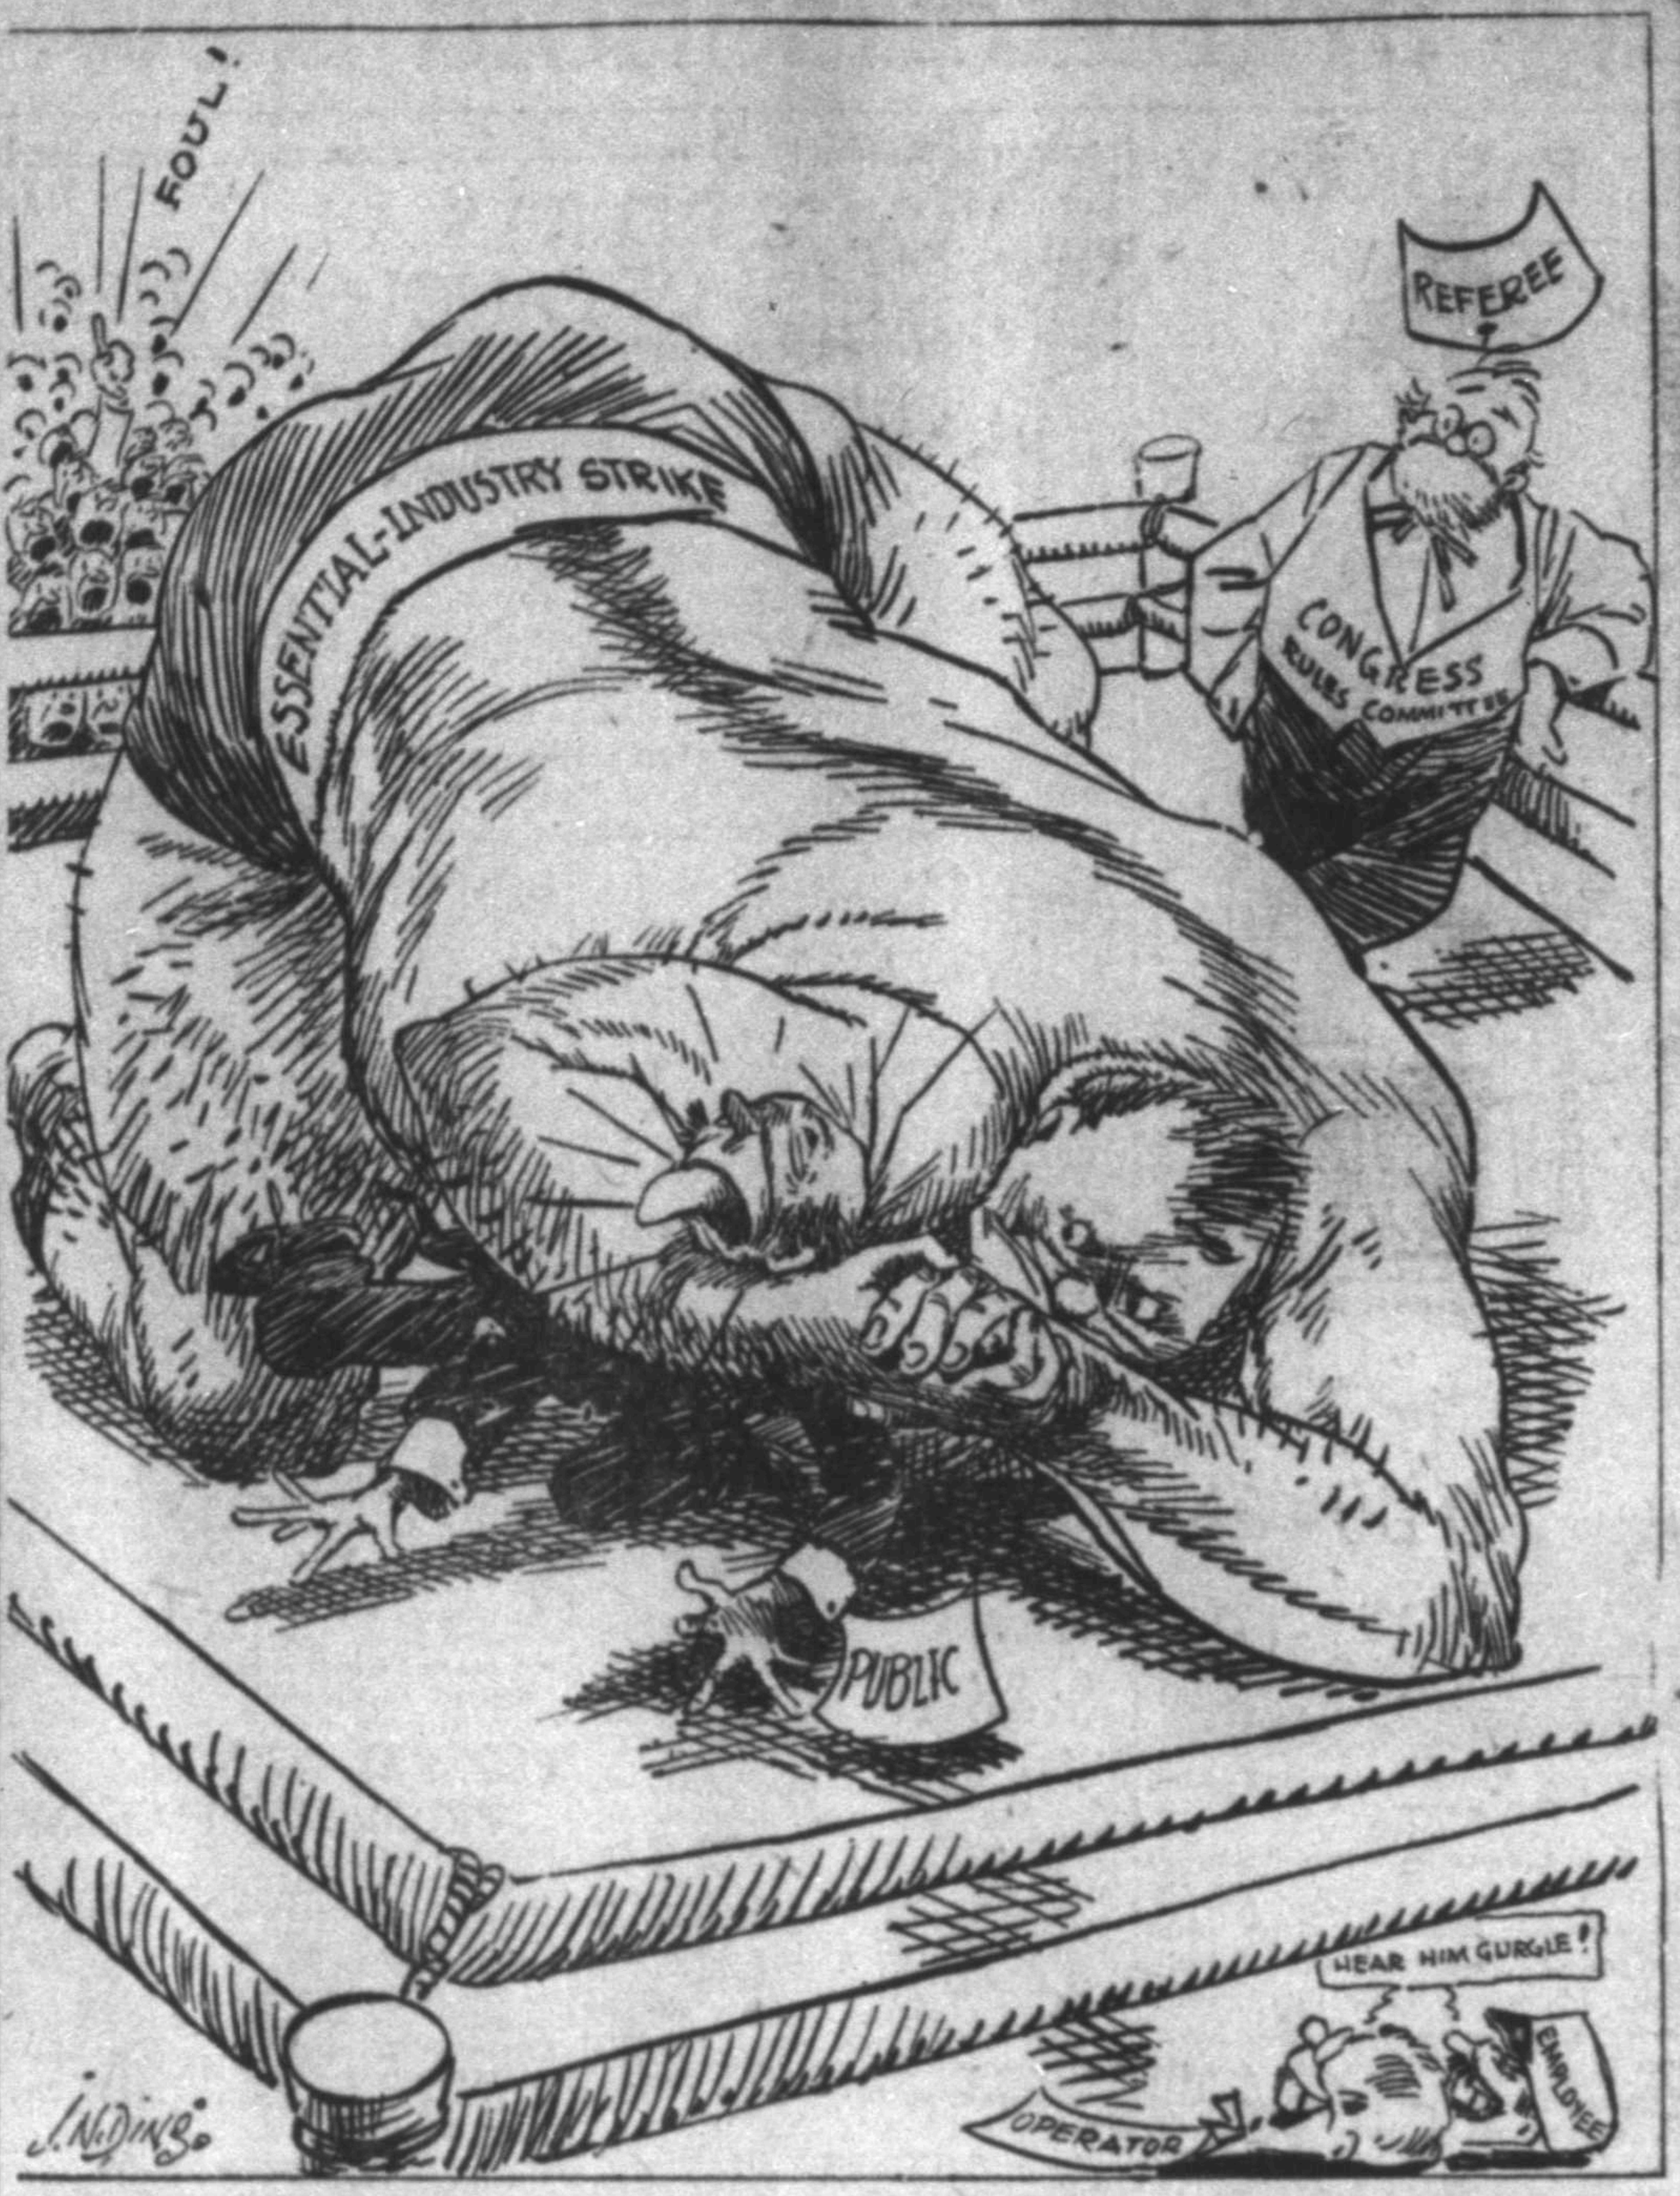
The Only Place Where the "Strangle Hold" Is Still Allowed



RED PEPPER

Lucinda Mayo was airing her winter garments and blankets on the clothes line when Mrs. Finkle called over from her backyard where she was doing the same. "Nice day for such work, Lucinda."

"Fine. This is the first timme in my life. Mrs. Finkle, that I ever started house cleaning on a Friday, but it was such a nice day I just couldn't resist the temptation." As she spoke Lucinda gravely examined a blanket. "Find any traces of moths?" she asked.

"Not yet. Do you?"

"I thought I did. I'm dreffel afraid of the pesky critters."

"Moth balls are good."

"They smell so." Lucinda wrinkled her small nose. "Somebody told me to use red pepper. I got a box of the stuff and I'm going to try it."

"You'll sneeze your head off," Mrs. Finkle who was large and rosy, laughed.

"Well, I don't know, but I'd just at lief sneeze my head off as to have my nice winter clothes et up. My head ain't much good anyway," Lucinda laughed back.

Lucinda was a tiny old woman with frizzily white hair, clear blue eyes and a girlish pink in her soft cheeks. She was an old maid by choice and lived alone in her neat white house with its ten green blinds and wide porches. Rather conspicuous by reason of its very charm was Lucinda's house. With plenty of money and a pardonable pride in her possession, she spared no expense in keeping her premises at their best. In the same way she provided for her own small person. The blankets, furs and garments that swung from the line were of the best.

Before the sun was off the backyard Lucinda took the aired things from the line and carried them to the closet off the parlor bedroom downstairs. When she had arranged them to suit her she sprinkled every fold, pocket and piece of fur generously with red pepper. Then she backed out and closed the door. "If the moths want to chew bad enough to run the risk of that fiery stuff they're welcome," she said with a little chuckle.

So much exertion had made her hungry and she decided to run over to the corner grocery and get a little something extra for supper. When she entered the place she found Mr. Bell busy talking on the telephone. He was not aware of her entrance and went on talking excitedly while she waited.

"That so?" he kept on. "You say one of 'em's hiding right here in the town now or roundabouts? Well, we'll have to look out for him, that's all. An ordinary citizen ain't got much show with an armed burglar. Guess I'll set up with my cash register tonight. If you hear any more holler——" He turned from the telephone and there was litte Lucinda clinging to the counter, her frizzly white hair fairly shaken by the breeze of her apprehension, her blue eyes staring like a doll's.

"Oh, Mr. Bell! What's going on?" she faltered.

"Why, the Tioga postoffice was robbed this morning early by three men. They traced one of the men as far as the head of Bobb's brook. They think he's headed for here, if he hasn't already got here. They think they'de planning to clean up this place tonight."

"Oh, Mr. Bell!" gasped Lucinda, "ain't it awful? I'm scared to death"

"You needn't be. It ain't houses they're looking after, just postoffices and banks. What was it you wanted, Miss Mayo?"

"I've forgotten. I declare, what I've just heard has driven everything out of my head. Well, I may as well go home without buying anything. I don't seem to have a mite of appetite left."

"If you're nervous, you better get somebody to stay with you tonight," suggested friendly Mr. Bell. "I shan't tell my wife, for if I do she won't sleep a wink. Women folks haven't got much sand as a general rule."

"I haven't. I know that," sighed Lucinda, as she went home empty-handed.

As Lucinda drank her tea and nibbled at her toast she thought with dread of the night before her. She wished she were not so timid. "I'm like Grandmother Mayo," she thought. "Many a time I've seen her fish a fly out of the syrup jug, wash him clean and set him in the sun to dry. She wouldn't harm a fly, or see one harmed. Yet she married a man like Grandfather Mayo, who had shot wolves and bears and panthers and Indians for anything I know. If only I'd taken after him how handy it would come in now." Lucinda thought of asking Mrs. Finkle to spend the night with her, but she knew that the sound, steady-nerved women would laugh at her and she could not bear being laughed at. "No. I'll brave it out alone," she said to herself.

She decided to shut the house up tight and go to her room and lock herself in. It did seem as if she could be safe there if anywhere.

But once she was in her room Lucinda began to feel that she could never undress and go to bed properly. Suppose something should happen in the night? She lay down and pulled the extra quilt up over her.

It was a hot, muggy night and Lucinda, who was used to sleeping with her window open, felt the heat. She could not sleep for a long time, but lay thinking of the bad man who might at that moment be nearer than she dreamed. Bobb's brook opened into Pike street, where Lucinda lived. Naturally he would follow that course. He might even go through Pike street if he was trying to get to the railway station. And there wasn't a dog excepting Mattie Shaver's poodle.

Weary with the labors of the day, Lucinda fell asleep. She dreamed, snored, sighed and awoke. The little clock on the dresser showed her that it was 1 o'clock. She had slept profoundly for nearly four hours! Everything was peacefully quiet and the moonlight came in at the window through the curtains. She felt impelled to get up and look out. Softly she crept to the window and kneeling down, peered through the curtains. At that instant a shadow passed across her back yard.

It was the shadow of a man where no man should be at that hour! Lucinda's heart almost stopped. She began to feel uneasy. But in spite of all there was a burning interest that made her pull the curtains farther apart so that she could get a better look. The upper side of the house was in dense shadow and it was there the man was working. He tried the parlor window and the spare bedroom window. Through that he disappeared.

And now Lucinda saw two more shadows appear, skulking behind her spireas, running from tree to tree. She clutched her throat. Then suddenly she recognized the outlines of Curt Davis, the night watchman. iWth a jerk she opened the window and leaned out.

"Curt! Curt!" she shrieked. "He's in there—that window!"

Curt looked up and saw her, motioned to his companion, and flung himself through the window at which she pointed. The other man ran around to the back of the house. It was then that Lucinda heard the first sound she had heard at all—a series of explosions, sneezes from the place below. Just underneath her room was the spare bedroom closet where she had sprinkled the red pepper. The man was in there. As the policeman came through the window he had doubtless popped into the closet and ——

There were sounds of a struggle below. A gun went off. Then a voice shouted up from below. "Come down and open the door, Miss Mayo! Curt's got him.

Lucinda got downstairs some way. She opened the front door and Curt led out his prisoner.

"We ran him pretty close," Curt said. "We thought once we had him when he hid in Townsend hencoop. He's a slick one. But that closet finished him. I guess I put a bullet through some of your clothes, Miss Mayo. I'm sorry." He led the man, sneezing, away.

By this time the neighborhood was aroused and Lucinda had plenty of company. It was Mrs. Finkle who fofund the bullet hole in Lucinda's mink cape.

The Town Tattler complimented Lucinda. "The red pepper in Miss Mayo's closet set the robber sneezing and this gave Officer Davis the advantage." Details followed. Lucinda was a heroine.

Mr. Bell sold every box of red pepper in his grocery within two days after the Tattler appeared with the story.

TERRELL WON'T CALL FARMERS' MEETING.

Special to the Record News.

AUSTIN, July 27.—Commissioner of Agriculture, George B. Terrell will not call a meeting of the State Farmers' institute this year, because of bad financial conditions of the farmers and his inability to secure free transportation or reduced rates for the meeting, he announced today. He said:

"Since we cannot secure free transportation, and cannot get reduced rates, except on the certificate plan, and knowing the attendance under such conditions would not be large enough to secure any reduction in rates, I have decided not to call the state institute this year. Spuds Grab Off Hit-and-Run, Holler-and-Laugh Game

WIN SLUGGED OUT AS MOUND ARTISTS FAIL TO STOP BUFF HITTERS WHO PILE UP LEAD

Ruth's Single in Ninth Scores the Winning Run; Bischoff Hits Everything in Sight; 7 Hurlers Yield 17 Walks; Bailey Bumped for Second Loss; Spuds Get 11 Last 5 Rounds.

By "SPIKE" COOPER

Some sage of the diamond has said "Hitting will win ball games." Spudder fans saw that adage exemplified yesterday afternoon when the home team lammed the offerings of four Buff hurlers for 18 hits and 15 runs after spotting the rice-field hands to a 10-run start in the first four rounds.

Hurler after hurler went to the hill and none showed effectiveness enough to merit consideration. The final outcome was merely a question of the quantity and quality of the base hits of the game. Per usual, Spudder bats triumphed and Bill Bailey again tasted defeat at the hands of the team now threatening to take the lead of the Texas loop.

Few who saw the game knew how it happened or when or where. All they are sure of today is that Babe Ruth smacked a single into right field with Al White on third with the winning run. They all went home, happy and satisfied.

The Buffs stepped out in front when they lambasted Perdue and Mokan for many tallies and against any other club in the league, would have sewed up a ball game right there. But the Spud sticks began to wave in profusion and as the battle waged and the final tally showed that they had counted 11 runs in the last five rounds and were in position get many more but didn't need 'em.

There were walks aplenty. Houston hurlers put 11 Spuds on the paths and Perdue and Ruth were gracious to half a dozen. The visitors turned two of their passes into runs while four of the Spudders journeyed round. Twice were runners forced in to make room for some hitter who could not find things to his liking.

Hub Perdue started the game but did not possess the form which has carried him through so many victories. Steve Mokan relieved him in the second, but his arm was still suffering from the overwork of last week and he was whaled properly. Babe Ruth followed and although giving up six runs during the six innings he worked, the terrific hitting of the Spudders put him over.

Four Buffs Bumped.

The Buffs sent Lefty Reinhart to the mound at first, but he walked himself out of the game when he gave up five free bits of transportation in an inning and a piece. Lefty Milstead was rushed in while Glazier warmed up. Milstead pitched to only one hitter, Bescher, who singled to center and sent two runners over. Glazier took up the job but couldn't stand the gaff and quit cold in the sixth after four hits, a couple of errors and a walk gave the Spuds four runs. Bill Bailey craved revenge. He sought it, but found it not for he was nicked for eight hits and six runs, as well as another game. He lied game, but it was a case of too many Spudder bats.

The Spudders fought up hill all the way. They were six runs down at the close of the fourth inning, but in the fifth began an endless parade of the paths which culminated in the most thrilling victory of the season thus far.

Each team scored in all but two innings. The Buffs missed the fifth and ninth, while the Spudders failed to get over in the first and fourth. Ten of the 35 hits went for extra bases, one of which was a wallop over the left field wall by Doyle as the first hitter in the eighth.

Bischoff Leads Hitters

George Bischoff was high man at the plate for the day, getting a pair of singles and as many doubles out of six trips up. Only once did he fail to come through with runners aboard.

But it is al White who ruined the game for Bailey. Wiess got a walk in the ninth and was sacrificed to second by Beck. White singled to center and Weiss trotted in with the necessary marker. Bischoff followed with a blow into the same territory and White chased to third. George went to second on the play to catch White. Ruth came up and nochallantly tucked the game with his own pocket with a base knock into right.

Many errors marred the game with the Spudders out in front with five. The Buffs booted three as their position for the day.

Double Bill Sunday

The Spudders are still continuing the dizzy pace which has netted them 13 out of the last 15 played. Beaumont will open here Saturday after the close of the Houston series today. A bargain bill is promised Sunday for the fans, as the Exporters have a postponed game to be played off. Will Gray announced yesterday that two games will be played Sunday, the first opening at 3 o'clock.

Play Your Own Position and Keep Up Your Attack in Tennis Doubles

When playing doubles try to kill the ball if you have a good chance to do so but be sure that you do not leave your court open to a hard return. If you see a chance to make a hard kill by running from your side of the court it is well to do so but the play is very dangerous as the play lays your whole court unprotected.

The question of covering the doubles court should not be a hard one. Each player trys to maintain the net position and take the advantage this place gives him. Always try to play the ball hard and volley and smash whenever possible. Never retreat unless you are absolutely forced to do so. The defensive game will never win a match. Stay at the net and keep your attack directed at the weakest member of the opposing team. Place your strokes to force your opponents to the rear of the court where they will be at a disadvantage.

If the ball goes to the side line the player on that side goes in and to the alley and the other man falls back and covers the middle of the court. The ball is covered in this manner by both the players and the chances are that it will be returned safely. If the next return goes to the other side the players reverse positions. After each stroke return to your original position at once.

Each man should cover all balls over his head. The only time for the partner to back him is when he has "poached", been outguessed and the ball placed over his head. Then his partner should go to his assistance. Always be ready to help your partner but never take balls that should be his. If you are missing badly never run into your partner's court as to do so will disconcert him and make him lose his shot.

When you are caught off position don't try to smash the ball but play it easily to the back of the court. To lob it will give you time to regain your position and will also send him to the back line. Your service is your strongest point. Play it hard. Never lose your service if it can possibly be avoided. Play all shots very high or very low. Never play a shoulder stroke.

Case 27—A ball going out of the court hits a post and bounds back into the opposite court. Is it a good return?

Decision—Yes

Six Pound Cantaloupes Being Raised in Wichita County

MELONS GROWN ON HALE FARM

Several Placed on Exhibition Here

Rocky Ford cantaloupes that weigh 6 pounds each. That may sound like a dream but the Olympic market bought half a dozen Thursday morning from L. D. Hale whose place is on Holliday creek and of the number two weighed 6 pounds and none of them weighed under four pounds. The average size Rocky Ford will weigh about a pound and three quarters. Mr. Hale brought many of the average size to market. The larger ones he brought more for show as dealers say the average sizes sell best.

Stock Prices Waver But Later Regain Strength

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 27. — Stock market prices were uneven in the early part of today's trading, but hardened very generally later under the influence of a demand for the rails and other standard shares.

Initial reactions were again primarily due to the weakness of Mexican seaboard issues, which made new low prices for the current movement on more aggressive selling evidently from professional source.

Covering of short contracts in transportations was attributed to more encouraging advices respecting strike conditions and figures showing that car loadings at principal terminals had substantially increased.

Steels, equipments and other favorites of the industrial division reflected a tentative resumption of "bull" operations by pools. Extreme gains in those groups ranged from 2 to over 7 points. Crucible rising buoyantly on heavy accumulations.

Utilities also made a good showing, one of the strongest issues being consolidated gas, which made a substantial response to the announcement that the stock had been restored to its former 8 per cent annual basis. Sales amounted to 700,000 shares.

COUNTY FARM AGENT ATTENDING A. & M.

Fine Peaches Are Raised by Guyer

Some of the finest specimens of Alberta peaches ever grown in this section of the state were taken to the chamber of commerce Thursday by Miss Guyer, daughter of Casper Guyer whose place is on the Thornberry road about 10 miles from Wichita Falls. The peaches were not only large but were uniform in size and of delicious flavor. They were among the many grown on Mr. Guyer's place.

George L. McGhee, assistant secretary of the Texas-Oklahoma fair, who was present when the peaches were brought in, said that he had never seen finer peaches than those raised by Mr. Guyer.

HOT WEATHER FIRMS COTTON

Prices Mount But React

By Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, July 27.—Hot and dry weather in the western belt and a much better feeling regarding the chances of settling the coal strike put the price of cotton higher today. Strength was more fitful than steady however, and early bulges were followed by reactions and in the late trading the gains were again scaled down so that the close was barely steady at net advances of but 11 to 18 points, October closing at 20.82. At one time October was up to 21.03 with the list at net advances of 32 to 33 points.

There was a fall shortly after the opening to levels one point under to 7 points higher and the last quotations of yesterday, October trading down to 27.70. a little later the market steadied on the rumor that striking coal miners were making concessions and the strongest period of the day developed soon afterwards. Prices went to their highest on the posting of official figures, showing maximum temperatures for yesterday in Texas from 100 to 108 degrees at 26 weather stations.

The cotton market closed barely steady at net advances of 11 to 18 points.

NEW YORK COTTON

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Adverse weather and crop accounts were responsible for a higher range of cotton prices today but the market seemed to meet active pressure on every advance and at the close was barely steady at a net rise of 5 to 16 points. The markets showed its greatest strength in the early afternoon when October sold up to 21.45 and December to 21.35, showing a net rise of about 27 to 30 points. This upturn followed reports of very high temperatures at many points in Texas and Oklahoma attended by private reports to the effect that the crop in those states were deteriorating rapidly because of shedding.

At the opening the market was 14 to 20 points above the previous night of very firm Liverpool cables and Wall street buying. A subsequent loss of this movement was based on predictions for rain in Texas, which however, failed to materialize, causing some of the late buying. The action of the market all day was such as to create the impression that it was pretty well evened up for the bureau report. Some of the late labor news was a little more favorable and may have affected sentiment to some extent, although it was not a prominent factor. Exports today 2,263 bales, making 6,034,644 so far this season. Port receipts 6,551 bales; U. S. port stocks 509,407 bales.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Easy money rates caused further active buying of government war flotations in today's bond market, small gains being registered by most of the active issues, Fourth Liberty 4 1-4s touched 101.86, a new high mark, but reacted later, closing at 101.70.

Export Buying of Wheat Continues Extremely Heavy

By Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 27.—Export buying which aggregated 2,500,000 bushels brought about a moderate advance in prices today for wheat. The close was firm ½c to 1 1-4c net higher, with September $1.08 1-8 to $1.08 1-4 and December $1.10 1-8 to $1.10 1-4. Corn gained 3-8 cents to 3-4c and oats 1-8 cents to 1-4@3-8c. Provisions finished unchanged at 12c up.

Considerable selling of wheat early was induced by gossip that the rail strike was near a settlement and enlarged receipts would result. Dispatches from the southwest said the movement would be limited only by the car supply, which was reported to be short in some sections. On the other hand, bulls contended that with the rail strike settled foreign demand would broaden.

Corn and oats were governed chiefly by the action of wheat. Packers buying rallied the provision market from declines due to lower quotations on hogs.

Further cuts were made in crude oil prices. Pennsylvania was cut 25c to $3.00; another cut of 25c was made in California crude oil. Mid-continent crude is unchanged at $1.50 and Gulf coast crude is $1.25.

According to the figures collected by the institute, the imports of petroleum (crude and refined oils) at the principal United States ports for the week ended July 22 totaled 2,436,584, a daily average of 348,083 barrels, compared with 2,631,000 barrels, a daily average of 375,857 barrels for the week ended July 15.

3 NEW WELLS IN TEXHOMA POOL

Texas Company Gets 175-Barrel Well

The Texhoma pool in Archer county has three new wells, just completed in the south end of the pool.

The Texas company's No. 2 [illegible] is the best of the new wells, reported as a 175-barrel producer, sand at 1600 feet.

The Texhoma Oil & Refining company's No. 24 Gose is making 100 barrels daily, and the No. 26, same lease, is making 150 barrels. These wells got the sand at 1590 and 1595 feet, respectively.

The No. 25 of the Texhoma has been cemented on the sand for more than a week and is to be drilled in within the next few days.

Gasoline Prices Stay at 23 Cents

The expected second cut in gasoline, to match the second cut in crude failed to materialize on Thursday. Local stations still had a price of 23c posted, and the condition of the local market has no effect on the retail price of gasoline.

A slight improvement in the demand for the Wichita Falls district refined products is reported, with inquiries from out-of-town buyers, with prospects of increased buying, for export, in a short time.

PADUCAH MERCHANTS USE CREDIT SYSTEM

Special to the Record News

The general credit system of the town and county was thoroughly discussed and the following motto was adopted: "He cannot owe me until he pays the other fellow."

All of the merchants are very enthusiastic over the progress that the association has been making of late. They at present are compiling a systematic credit rating on every person in Cottle county. When this system is completed, it is the intentions of the association to affiliate themselves with the state and national retail merchants associations.

DR. ALEXANDER'S AUTO BURNS.

Special to the Record News.

PADUCAH, July 27.—The car of W. H. Alexander was destroyed by fire early Monday evening as he was returning from a drive in the country. When fire was discovered about the engine of the automobile, the driver alighted and succeeded in extinguishing the flames by throwing dirt on the burning parts. Thinking that the fire was out, a match was lit to determine the condition of the engine. Gas had collected from the cause of the heat and the engine was again ignited with flames that succeeded in completely destroying the car. About one-third insurance was carried.

FROCKS

By ELOISE

Ginghams, voiles, linens and organdies may be the accepted materials for summer frocks, but there is one fabric which is a boon to every practical minded woman. It is foulard. Foulard is not only smart and practical, but it is cool as well, a feature of paramount importance during the summer months.

Blue and white foulard with coin dots makes this simple little gown for informal wear. It has a draped skirt, a plain blouse with kimono sleeves and a soft girdle of self material. The only trimming on the frock is a tab collar of tucked net edged with lace and cuff to match.

A frock like this in one's summer wardrobe gives a feeling of security which is appreciated when all one's tub frocks are in the wash and a last minute invitation to some affair arrives on wash day.

Carey Well Ready To Be Brought In

Special to the Record News

DECATUR, July 27.—From all indications, the drillers of the Carey well, six miles west of Decatur, are getting ready to bring in that well a producer in the next few days. Expert oil men and drillers from all sections have been here and all agree that everything about the well points to a producer. The Carey has been gassing strongly for over two months, and at this time the gas flow is stronger than ever, and of a bluish hue. Many prospectors have been here this week looking the well over. The Michigan Oil company well, a few miles south of Decatur, last week hit a small oil sand at about 800 feet. This find has encouraged the owners of the well and work is being rushed on the hole.

WOULD REMOVE FIRE HAZARDS

State Commissioner Warns Merchants

Only the removal of fire hazards can insure a perfect fire department for any city and according to H. J. Blackmon state fire inspector there are several fire hazards that could be removed from Wichita Falls.

Mr. Blackmon who was here yesterday investigating conditions over the city in the interest of the fire department declared that the greatest menace this city has is in insurance agents who "overwrite" insurance. This he said should be abolished and insurance agents should more carefully inspect property they insure before writing policies.

"The state department as well as the local department appreciates the support of the majority of the merchants here in assisting the fighting of fires" Mr. Blackmon said yesterday. "And they assist to a great extent by removing the fire hazards before the fires get started."

"The city department, I find," Mr. Blackmon continued, "does not have the co-operation of all the merchants, but I believe that in the near future Chief 'Dad' McClure will have the support of all the local business men in his efforts.

"I desire to impress on the business men and the entire citizenship the necessity fo removing fire hazards. No department can maintain a good record without support, and the co-operation of all concerned means a saving of approximately $40,000 or $50,000 annually."

The visitor stated he found the co-operation manifest here due to the efficiency and courtesy of "Dad" McClure, and said that the fire fighting apparatus of this city is excellent.

Work Is Resumed On Burk Highway

Construction engineers went to work yesterday at noon on the Burkburnett highway following a day and a half's rest brought about through the absence of sufficient material to run the plants.

Five cars of cement arrived on the grounds yesterday, and started off all crews, this shipment being sufficient to last the workmen two and a half days.

TRUCK HITS BOY

Clifton Mayfield, 14, of 612 Travis street was severely bruised early last night when run down by a truck while in the street near his home.

His injuries were largely confined to the right leg, but an examination showed no bones were broken in the accident.

The driver of the truck was not arrested.

WIFE DENIES KILLING RIVAL

Mrs. Clara Phillips on her return to Los Angeles in the custody of Sheriff "Big Bill" Traeger.

Mrs. Clara Phillips, charged with the murder of Mrs. Alberta Meadows, pleaded not guilty to the charge when arraigned in a Los Angeles court. At the same time the state announced that a saleslady had been found who will testify that she sold Mrs. Phillips a hammer after the latter had carefully weighed it and asked, "Is this heavy enough to kill a man?" The saleslady says she replied, "Yes, if you hit him hard enough," thinking it was a joke. Mrs. Phillips was returned from Tucson, Ariz., in the custody of Sheriff Traeger.

Mona Marie Case Still in Court

Testimony in the 78th district court before Judge Ed Napier in the case of Burk, Bruce & Calloway vs the Mona Marie Trust et al was still under way yesterday and indications were that the case will not be completed until some time today.

Cause of action, as set forth in the plaintiff's petition to the court, is based on alleged breach of contract.

Powell Claims Self-Defense

B. L. Powell, charged with aggravated assault, faced a jury of six men in the county court-at-law yesterday before Judge Guy Rogers, to answer the accusations.

Powell is accused of an assault upon a man named Leach. The defendant claims that he struck Leach with a billiard cue in self-defense.

AUTO ACCESSORIES DISCOVERED HERE

Officers of the city police department returned to the station yesterday morning with the Silverton cord casing, a 33 by 4 automobile rim, a spotlight and a Ford rim. The collection was discovered in the factory addition to Wichita Falls, but late yesterday no owner had put in an appearance at the station.

THREE AUTO TIRES STOLEN FROM CAR

Have you seen any automobile accessories that looked as if they were out of place.

C. G. Moore of 1300 Travis is hoping that some one has seen several accessories that belong to him. He's looking for them himself, but yesterday he notified the police department that thieves had stripped his touring car of three casings and additional automobile equipment.

BASHAM GETS HIS PICTURE IN PAPER

C. E. Basham, well known banker of this city, went back to his home town of Vernon Sunday to meet old friends and got his picture in the paper. The Vernon Record came out with the picture of Mr. Basham and told how glad the people of Vernon were to see their old-time friend.

CARD OF THANKS.

I take this method of thanking you, Mr. and Mrs. Voter, for the support given me in the election last Saturday, and I wish to assure you that if elected (and I will be) in the run-off, I will repay your confidence (which has given me the lead) with an administration that will do credit to Wichita county.

Mrs. Murphy joins me in thanking you for your loyal support, and asking you to again give us the lead on August 26.—W. W. (PAT) MURPHY.—(Political adv.)

Rose Files Suit to Oust Burk Marshal

One warranto procedure against the present city marshal of Burkburnett has been filed by the state of Texas through J. R. Rose, plaintiff, in the 30th district court.

The petition of Mr. Rose claims that Frank Watkins has usurped the office of city marshall, and that Rose himself was duly elected city marshal in a vote cast April 4, 1922.

Rose, as relator, sets forth in his petition to the court that Watkins has been designated marshal through an ordinance which is illegal.

THOMPSON INVITED TO NEFF CONFERENCE

R. A. Thompson, chief engineer of the Wichita Valley irrigation project has received a letter from Governor Neff inviting the well known engineer to attend a conference in Austin August 7 to discuss the matter of flood prevention. Mr. Thompson will accept the invitation.

In discussing the flood situation in many sections of the state, Mr. Thompson mentioned, in his reply to Governor Neff, that Wichita Falls has solved the problem by putting in a dam and storage system to store the flood waters for city use and to irrigate upwards of 100,000 acres of land.

Mr. Thompson thinks that eventually the entire state will work out the flood problems by storing the flood waters and using the vast volume that now goes to waste for irrigation and municipal purposes. There are many sections of Texas now in the dry belt wsere there is enough flood water going to waste from nearby streams during flood season to irrigate in Texas each year is put on the land, Mr. Thompson thinks. Texas will b eone of the richest domains within within itself that the world has ever known.

HARMONY WILL BE SARTIN'S PURPOSE

Thanking the voters for their support in his recent campaign for county judge, B. D. Sartin, county judge elect, made it known yesterday that it will be "his mission to give the people of Wichita county the best administration possible."

Mr. Sartin made no statement as to his opinin of the manner in which the county commissioners are working, but intimated that when he becomes the head of that court, he will do all in his power to work in harmony with the commissioners to the best interests of Wichita residents.

Federal Officers Get Still Makers

Three of the four men arrested Wednesday night by Officers Sheok, Miller and Johnson on charges of "working on a whiskey still" were turned over to the federal authorities Thursday morning, while a fourth one was dismissed late Wednesday evening.

No action has been taken on the cases of any of the defendants.

The quartet was arrested when officers, watching from a point of vantage, took possession af a still that was being made in a tin shop located on Indiana street. The tinner and all his workmen were immediately placed under surveillance.

Gipson Repeats Campaign Pledges

"It will be a pleasure for me to serve the people of Wichita county," E. H Gipson declared yesterday before departing on his vacation trip to the east, "and I wish to assure the citizenship of the county that it will be my sole purpose to give the best service of any representative in the legislature."

Mr. Gipson was victor in the recent primary for state legislature, place No. 1, over E. G. Swanson.

The successful candidate, who for the past three years has been a lawyer of note here, and who assisted in cleaning up the city, declared before his departure that it will be his mission to distribute "with a judicial mind the funds which are collected from the citizenship of Texas," and to urge more thoughtful consideration of laws before they are passed.

Mr. Gipson repeated his platform and called attention to the fact that "the people of Texas have enoughh laws—and there should be more brains used in their administration."

It was his assertion that what this state needs is more law enforcement and conservative administration.

MARRS COLLECTS $40 IN CITY COURT FINES

When Judge John Marrs had adjourned corporate court yesterday a total of $40 in fines and forfeitures had been assessed by the court.

One speeder arraigned before the city bar was fined $10 when he entered a plea of guilty, while a vagrant was fined $5 when he pleaded guilty.

A white man charged with disturbing the peace forfeited his bond of $25, when he failed to put in an appearance.

CLAY COUNTY ROAD NEARLY FINISHED

According to assertions made yesterday, it is believed that the Tibbetts Construction company, working on the Clay county road, will complete their job about the fifth or tenth of August.

The construction company is now working beyond the Holliday creek, and has only 35 or 36 stations to finish.

The Tibbetts company has a large supply of material and it is thought that work will not be held up because of material shortages.

Autos Wanted to Transport Guard

Because of many trains being taken off during the strike and the long wait in railroad connections to reach any distant points, Dr. Fletcher is trying to get enough automobiles to take his battery of artillery to Fort Sill for a two weeks' practice. He is requesting that those who are willing to furnish cars to help transport the soldiers communicate with him. The matter has been brought before the chamber of commerce and every effort is being made, it is said, to get enough automobiles. There are 50 men to make the trip.

NEGRO PORTERS GIVEN WARNING

Remember Sibley, Say Vigilantes

"Take heed from what has happened recently."

This warning, contained in a message received by the Record News last night through the mail, is addressed to "The Negro Porters of Wichita Falls," and refers to the mysterious disappearance of Walter Sibley, negro bell hop, who was recently convicted in corporate court of a charge of vagrancy, when it was proved that he had been found in a room with a while woman.

A threat that unless the tactics of local negroes change "it will be worse" is contained in the communication. This apparently refers to the punishment meted out to Sibley.

The message is signed: "Citizens Vigilant Committee."

Attention is called to managers of local hostelries that when they are in doubt they should "have white porters and bell boys," these, the message indicating, being far more appropriate here than negroes.

No monogram, or insignia of any nature appears on the typewritten communication, which is written on plain white stationery bearing at the top of the page, which has been torn in two, "Record News, Please Publish."

Refers to Sibley

It refers plainly to the mysterious disappearance of the Sibley porter, who was seized Wednesday while at work on an alley-way in the residential section of Wichita Falls, and who has not been seen since. "Six men, driving a large touring car and all wearing gogles," drove off with him. His fate to this hour is still unknown, and rumors concerning him were still prevalent on the streets yesterday, all of which were wild and misleading and proved unfounded upon being investigated.

The message received by the Record News last night follows:

"To the Negro Hotel Porters of Wichita Falls:

"You know what we will not stand for—take heed from what has happened recently; if it happens again it will be worse.

"Hotel keepers, in case of doubt, should have white portere and bell boys. The pernicious practice referred to above is fearfully obnoxious to all clean citizens.

OH, BOY!

Gloria Swanson has just returned from Paris where she went to collect costumes and to absorb European atmosphere, but she admits that in this country the designers can turn out things just as novel and bizarre as they can in the French capital. She is shown above in a costume she wears in "Her Gilded Cage," which, she says, outshines anything she discovered on her trip.

The Chinese and Japanese in their tables regard the milky way as a stream containing silvery fishes. African bushmen and American Indians associate it with lights guiding the paths of wandering spirits.

AVIS CAMPAIGN ALREADY BEGUN

Rancher Expects Big Majority

Indications that J. D. Avis, candidate for legislature, place No. 2, who led the ticket in the democratic primary Saturday over two opponents, J. D. Parnell and John Simmons by a big majority, will make a through campaign over Wichita county, and that his numerous friends will assist him in stumping the county became evident yesterday with the announcement that "Mr. Avis and his supporters will put forth every effort to make the second primary a landslide."

From the Avis headquarters, reports yesterday showed plans to cover from the principal to the most minute points of the county, while it is understood that several prominent Wichitans will participate in the speaking to be made in Mr. Avis' behalf.

Avis, a pioneer citizen of this county, and one who is widely known throughout the panhandle of Texas as a successful ranch operator and cattleman, held a lead of about 561 votes over his nearest opponent, Parnell, at the conclusion of the recent primary. It is reported from his headquarters that he will undoubtedly carry all of the labor votes polled for John Simmons who is eliminated from the race and it was expressed by Mr. Avis yesterday that "I will also pull several hundred votes from Parnell that he received in the last race."
